Half-Million in Bonds Returned; Blackmail Fails

OSHAWA, Ont., Oct. 28.—Bonds worth $650,110, stolen recently from the safe of Hogg & Little, at Port Erie, Ont., were returned to the owners through the mails today. They were only $65 missing from the bundle, taken by the burglars.

The owners recently received an anonymous offer of the return of the bonds for consideration of $400. The blackmailers were met with firearms, but escaped in a running gun fight.

BRITAIN QUITE INCOHERENT ON ELECTION EVE

Most Predictions See the Government Beaten; No Apathy Now

RUSSIAN LETTER THE ONLY ISSUE

Domestic Affairs Fade; Third of Results in Tonight

LONDON, Oct. 28.—(By Canadian Press Cable)—The results of the voting in 224 constituencies will be known tomorrow night, or early Thursday, and the great majority of the remainder will be known later on Thursday.

The results of the voting in connection with the universities will be the last known. The vote in the London and Cambridge universities will be made on November 1, the English combined universities and Oxford university, November 3, and the Scottish universities November 13.

The election results in the Scottish constituencies of Argyleshire and the Western Isles will be known on Friday, and in Inverness probably Saturday.

The returns from Fermanagh and Tyrone will be known Friday.

Third Parliament in Two Years

LONDON, Oct. 28.—The people of Great Britain will provide themselves tomorrow with their third parliament within two years. What kind of a parliament it will be after the votes of the nation are counted no prominent politician or political observer has been audacious enough to predict publicly. That the Labor government will go the way of all governments seems, however, to be the opinion held almost everywhere, but some of the Laborites still appear confident that their party will be given a mandate to remain in office.

Whether the Conservatives re*coup their losses of a year ago, and* return to the house of commons with a majority over all other parties, and thereby put themselves into office without the assistance of the others, is a question no one has any means of determining until the returns come in.

Russian Bombshell Upsets

The whole pre-election political situation has been made utterly uncertain by the eleventh-hour bursting of the Russian "bombshell," with an effect that cannot be gauged at all. Until this "Red letter" gave the campaign orators a real live wire topic to talk about, the election wore an apathetic air, and it was the rather general expectation that the three parties would be returned to Westminster in the same relative positions they held numerically when the last parliament's life ended—the Conservatives first, Labor second, and the Liberals third—with the Conservatives lacking a clear majority.

But now nobody can say with any confidence what the result will be. In any event, what happens will not be due to apathy, unless the voters are entirely unaffected by screaming headlines and unperturbed by political speakers.

Straw Votes Show Liberals Losing

Straw votes have been taken throughout the country, and most of them indicate a slight increase in the strength of both Conservatives and Labor, with the Liberals losing. That the Liberal strength in parliament is on the decline seems also to be the opinion of both Tory and Socialist chieftains.

"The Liberals are perishing," Lord Birkenhead told one of his audiences this afternoon. Birkenhead is a Unionist.

Philip Snowden, chancellor of the exchequer, almost at the same hour, told his hearers that there would never be a Liberal government, and tonight Ramsay MacDonald said the only alternative to a Labor government was a Conservative government.

On the other hand, Mr. Asquith and Lloyd George, leaders of the Liberals, have given no sign of lack of confidence, in their speeches in their ridings.

GAS TANK UNDER DAY COACH EXPLODES WEST OF FARRON SPREADING DEATH AND INJURY

INJURED ARE PLACED IN SLEEPER AND STARTED FOR CASTLEGAR; SPECIAL LEAVES NELSON WITH DOCTORS AND NURSES IN CHARGE OF SUPERINTENDENT MILLER; NO NAMES

Four are dead, possibly five, and an unknown number are injured, as the result of the explosion of the gas tank beneath the day coach on last night's out-going Kettle Valley train, which occurred shortly after 1 o'clock this morning, two miles west of Farron, killing two or three persons, and injuring all the other passengers in the coach. The coach burned.

The injured were transferred to the sleeper, and were started back for Castlegar under the charge of a brakeman, two dying on the way to that junction point.

No damage was done to the remainder of the train, consisting of engine and tender, cafe car, mail car, and baggage car, and passengers were transferred to those cars and the abbreviated train proceeded on its way to Grand Forks.

A special was made up here, with extra passenger coaches, Superintendent W. O. Miller being in personal charge, with Drs. J. H. Bennett and F. S. Eaton, and three nurses from Kootenay Lake General hospital, to pick up the sleeper with the injured at Castlegar.

At the hour of going to press, the C. P. R. officials had not received the names of thos in the car, and did not expect to know them until the relief train got to them.

The relief train left Nelson about 3:50 o'clock.

Superintendent Miller stated he had never heard of such an accident in the C. P. R.'s history. The tank that exploded was the large cylinder to be seen under day coaches, which contains illuminating gas for the lamps in the coach. The gas is obtained in Vancouver, in sealed containers. The tank was underneath the car, attached to it by rods, and not within the structure, and it is hard to conceive how the explosion could have had the effect it did.

The staff of the Kootenay Lake General hospital is on duty to minister to the injured the moment they are received

COAST GUARD SERVICE SOLD BOOTLEGGERS

Officer Admits Wine Sold; Seven of Rum Crew Arraigned

BOSTON, Oct. 28.—Sale of confiscated wine by a coastguard officer, after a recent raid on the rum fleet off Cape Anne, was admitted in a statement today by Lieutenant Commander S. S. Yeandle, aide to the chief of the coastguard service, who has been here observing the activities of the prohibition enforcement fleet. Lieutenant-Commander Yeandle said the wine was sold to obtain evidence against the purchasers.

Charges that a prize crew placed by the coastguard cutter Tampa on board the British schooner Marjorie B. Bachman, one of the seized rum runners, sold 150 cases of champagne overside to bootleggers, and robbed the schooner's crew of their money, were made before United States Commissioner Storey last night, when seven men captured in the Tampa's raid on the rum fleet were arraigned.

Yeandle admitted today that two cases of champagne were sold.

The cases of the alleged rum runners were presented to the federal grand jury today. The men are charged with violation of provisions of the Tariff act 1922.

In his statement, Commander Yeandle declared that the rum running interests, failing in attempts to place spies in the coastguard service, were attacking the character of coastguard officers in order to undermine public confidence in the service.

PUT LIQUOR GUARDS ON BRIDGE TO HULL

Thirsty Ottawans, Citizen Intimates, Will Have to Imbibe Quencher

OTTAWA, Oct. 28.—The Citizen today intimates that part of the Ontaro *government's scheme for stamp*ing out bootlegging in view of the favorable prohibition vote last Thursday, will involve the placing of guards on the inter-provincial bridges between here and Hull, Que., who would operate similar to customs officers at border points.

The Citizen's information said that the guards would use thier discretion in the matter of searching vehicles and persons.

License Inspector Howard Graham, who has full charge of the enforcement of the Ontario Temperance act, has received no instructions from Toronto yet.

Ottawa's thirsty ones still find solace in the fact that there is no law to prevent them going over the river and drinking a pint.

YANKEE NAVY TO BE SLIGHTLY WET

Secretary Wilbur Decides to Permit Thirsty Gobs to Sip Soda Water

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—(By Canadian Press)—The United States navy, which, under orders from Mr. Daniels, former secretary of the navy, has been "bone dry," is about to become slightly damp.

An announcement at the navy department today said that the present head of the navy, Secretary Wilbur, after "receiving assurances from government experts that the health of the navy would not be jeopardized, had decided to modify the Daniels order to permit thirsty "gobs" to partake of "soda water."

Secretary Daniels included bottled sbda water in his pre-war prohibition against drinks on naval vessels.

Boxer Dies in Second Round; Heart Dilated

YONKERS, N.Y., Oct. 28.—An autopsy performed today indicated that acute dilation of the heart had caused the death last night of Ralph Thomas, a New York middleweight boxer, who expired in the second round of a bout with Albert Cochea, middleweight champion of South America.

Cochea, arrested on a techinal charge of homicide, was released on $1000 bail to await the formal inquest, for which no date has been set.

Hunters Ask for Manslaughter for Killers in Woods

VANCOUVER, Oct. 28.—British Columbia hunters, at a meeting, adopted a resolution urging "that in future any person shooting another be held for manslaughter, and, if carelessness be proved, his licence be canceled for life, in addition to sentence by the court, and further, in view of many accidents caused by boys, that minors must be accompanied by parents or guardians on hunting trips."

Dutch Professor Gets Nobel Medicine Prize for Movies of Heart

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 28.—The 1924 Nobel prize in medicine, which has just been awarded Professor William Einthoven of Leyden university, was conferred upon him for invention of the "cardiogram" mechanism, whereby it is possible to make a motion X-ray records of the movements of the human heart.

M'DONALD, WORN OUT, COLLAPSES; RESUMES FIGHT

Seems Now to Doubt Communist Letter; Known First in Club

ABERAVON, Oct. 28.—The premier, after resting in the afternoon, following a collapse earlier in the day, continued his tour of his constituency in the evening.

Speaking at Port Cawl, he said he had received today from reliable authority some further information regarding the Zinovieff letter, to the effect that four days before the foreign office knew of the existence of the letter, it was discussed in a certain London club, and that those who discussed it were greatly jubilant "that the thing would come off."

Mr. MacDonald continued:

"As I have said, I have come to no conclusion at all. I am entertaining suspicions."

Women Sing "Rule Britannia"

At the village of Gross the prime minister, to a point blank question as to whether the letter was a forgery, replied guardedly as before, that he had come to no conclusion, but had his suspicions.

Some women at this stage interrupted the speaker by sngng "Rule Britannia."

At Taibach, Mr. MacDonald asked why his opponents, who thought the letter threatened Great Britain's existence, did not immediately warn the foreign office, instead of concealing their information.

"They never heeded the question of national interest," he declared, "but their first thought was to spring it upon the public October 27, so as to queer Labor's pitch on October 29."

ASQUITH'S SEAT IS IN JEOPARDY

Labor Candidate With Gaiters and Spats Will Consolidate Vote

LONDON, Oct. 28.—Mr. Asquith's seat, Paisley, is regarded even by Liberals as in jeopardy in the present election. He has represented Paisley in the house of commons since 1920, and was reelected last year in a four-cornered contest in which there were two Labor candidates as well as a Conservative candidate.

Labor is not now divided as it was in 1923, and the Labor nominee, Rosslyn Mitchell, is expected to poll the full strength of the Labor vote. Mitchell dresses better than the average Labor candidate, and wears spats and gaiters.

Full Returns on British Election

The Daily News has specially arranged for detailed returns of today's British election. Tomorrow's issue will contain returns from all constituencies in which the vote is counted today. Those counted the day after election will be reported in Friday's issue.

CRESTON ASKS SLOW SPEED ON POWER LICENSE

Trade Board Asks King to See Reclamation Not Imperilled

PREMIER PROMISES PERSONAL ATTENTION

Nothing Will Be Permitted Till Dominion's Interest Is Studied

CRESTON, B.C., Oct. 28.—"Satisfactory in every detail," is the way C. B. Garland, president of Creston board of trade, and Guy Constable, chairman of the board's reclamation committee, describe the interview they had with Premier King in his private car, whilst the train was making the run down the Crow's Nest line between Kootenay Landing and Creston yesterday, the delegation being introduced by L. W. Humphrey, M.P. for West Kootenay, who came down on the morning boat from Nelson for the express purpose of introducing the board members to the premier.

Ask Consideration for Reclamation

Messrs. Garland and Constable pressed for federal consideration of the reclamation project, which aims to provide for cultivation some 70,000 acres of the finest agricultural land in the Kootenay valley in British Columbia, and Idaho, at least one-half of the area being in this province, by seeing to it that no undue haste is made by the province in giving the West Kootenay Power & Light company a licence to put in storage works below Nelson that will raise the low-water level of Kootenay lake at least six feet, and possibly forever prevent the proposed drainage of the area, as well as affecting lands al*ready reclaimed on the Idaho side,* and probably precipitate international complications that the Dominion is not seeking.

Urge International Conference

The board of trade delegates urged that before any licence is permitted to be issued an international conference should be held to determine what is the true interest of both Canada and the United States in connection with the project, the delegates stressing the paramount importance of agriculture.

Premier King discussed the matter at length, and with a familiarity with the various angles, both international and domestic, that showed a thorough grasp of the various interests and problems raised by the project.

In particular he agreed that it should be decided whether or not work proposed to be done by the power company could not be made use of in working out the eventual total reclamation of this large potential agricultural area.

He showed deep interest in photographs of crops grown on the land in the United States which has al*ready been reclaimed, and which has* produced 120 bushels of oats, 90 bushels of wheat and four tons of timothy hay per acre.

In Premier's Department

He pointed out, however, that the international aspect of the project must necessarily bring it within the purview of the department of external affairs, of which he is the head, and that each and every step toward reclamation, or, in fact, toward altering or changing in any way the present natural condition of the Kootenay waterways, is a matter that can be dealt with only by the Dominion government and in conjunction with the agreement of the United States authorities.

He readily agreed that the first consideration was to ascertain the true interests of the Dominion of Canada, and that a conference to ascertain this was a necessary preliminary for this determination, and suggested that thereafter it might well come under the province of the waterways commission.

In conclusion, the prime minister assured the delegation that upon his return to Ottawa he would immediately give the matter his personal attention and take such steps as will bring immediate action in calling the conference, and that in the meantime, by reason of the international and Dominion interests involved, nothing that will in any way affect or change existing conditions of the waterway can be done.

LONDON, Oct. 28.—(By Canadian Press Cable)—"I am going to keep my promise to the dominions," declared Stanley Baldwin, in a speech at York last night, "but that will be no infringement on free trade."

MATTHEWS IS GUILTY OF A TRUST BREACH

Also for Accepting a Secret Commission to Do It

ACQUITTED ON FOUR CONSPIRACY COUNTS

Loses Superannuation as Well; Friends Shake His Hand

TORONTO, Oct. 28.—Found guilty of having committed a breach of trust, contrary to the Criminal code, and of having accepted inducement to do so, contrary to the Secret Commissions act, Charles A. Matthews Jr., former deputy provincial treasurer of Ontario, was in the criminal assizes court tonight sentenced by Mr. Justice Mowat to two years in the penitentiary.

The jury found the accused "not guilty" on all the four conspiracy counts in the indictments, namely, conspiracy to steal certain securities or monies from the Home bank; conspiracy to defraud the province; conspiracy to defraud the Home bank, and conspiracy to accept, as a public official, gifts or rewards for showing favor and failing to show disfavor.

Crowds Press to Greet Him

As Matthews was escorted by sheriff's officers from the court room, which was crowded despite the hour, he was tendered a mark of friendship and respect seldom, if ever witnessed in a court of justice to a man who has just been convicted and sentenced for the committal of a crime. His passage for the time being was brought to a halt by the many persons in the court room, who sought to shake his hand.

The face of the convicted man at once was lit up by smiles at this remarkable display of confidence in him by so many citizens who thus so conclusively proved that they were not mere "fair weather" friends.

Following a lengthy appeal for clemency by defence counsel, H. H. Gordon, on behalf of Matthews, Mr. Justice Mowat, addressing the prisoner, enumerated the charges, and said:

"In view of what has been said to me by your counsel, and in view of the fact that under the statutes you will forfeit all claim for pension for your long period of service, the sentence of the court is that you be sent to the penitentiary for two years."

Shared in Commissions

Evidence was submitted at the trial to support the charge that commissions on the sale of Ontario inscribed stock to the provincial government had been shared with Matthews.

The first suggestion of wrong doing was heard in the inquiry conducted by the public accounts committee last winter, and following the mention of his name in the matter, Matthews fled from the city before a warrant had been issued, and some months later was found operating a lunch wagon in a California town. His identity was discovered by his partner in the lunch business, who claimed a provincial reward for having delivered Matthews up to the authorities.

Matthews was deported by the United States authorities, and was accompanied from California by a Canadian officer.

Vaudeville Actor in Calgary Stabs Mate Four Times

CALGARY, Oct. 28.—John Standard, an actor on the Pantages vaudeville circuit, is in the hospital here with four knife wounds in his body, and his stage partner, John Triplett, is being held on a charge of stabbing, following a fight in their dressing room tonight.

Both men, who are members of a trio staging a hat throwing act, quarrelled about blunders they were alleged to have made, and Triplett is alleged to have stabbed Standard with a knife.

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, Oct. 28.—The Honduran revolution is declared to have received his death blow in a battle at Chinchayote, in which government forces completely routed the rebels.

BRITAIN QUITE INCOHERENT ON ELECTION EVE

red since the Russian issue has changed from a calm commonplace question about a treaty to a fiery squabble over a revolutionary letter. Some of them appear unable to handle it dispassionately or impartially even in the news columns, while so far as headlines and editorials go, the majority appear to be intended to stir up righteous indignation in the voters' breast.

Meanwhile the premier seems to have his doubts about the authenticity of the Zinovieff document. A heckler asked him tonight whether the Red plot letter was a forgery, and he replied:

"I have come to no conclusion at all. I am entertaining suspicions."

The secretary of war, Stephen Walsh, declared to his audience that the Russian bombshell was a fraud from beginning to end, adding, "as will be admitted in a day or two."

Domestic Issues Disappear

As the hour approaches for polling the last vistages of any domestic issue in the campaign steadily diminished. There is little talk of housing, little about protection and free trade; almost none about unemployment, although nearly a million and a quarter men are registered as without work.

This time there is no Irish issue, but there is a red hot Russian one.

George Bernard Shaw, in a speech at Luton last night, asked the crowd if they had ever noticed how extraordinarily clever the old governing classes in this country were in always "preventing an English election from being fought on an English question."

Shaw Hints Old Parties Did It

The Socialist oracle expressed the opinion that the real policy of the old ruling classes was to leave things exactly as they were, and he explained:

"If you want to leave things as they are, you must get people excited about something else."

Tomorrow night it is likely that more people than ever before will show vast excitement over the election returns. There is, of course, a larger electorate than ever, due to women suffrage, and there will be some excitement, too, in the little village farm houses, cut off from telephone and telegraph communication, but not cut off from the radio, and the returns will be broadcast until 1 o'clock the following morning.

Cranbrook Nurse Is Recipient of Shower

CRANBROOK, B.C., Oct. 28.—Miss H. Kennedy, a popular nurse in the district, was the guest of honor last week at a nicely planned shower which was given by Mrs. Norgrove and Mrs. Otto Gray at the home of the latter on Lumsden avenue. The house was prettily decorated in pink and white carnations. Little Agnes Gray and Sybil Norgrove, dressed in white, made the presentation of a large basket of beautiful gifts. There were about 20 friends of Miss Kennedy present. During the afternoon Mrs. Norgrove sang.

NATIONAL WON'T BE WORSE OFF, THORNTON SAYS

Thirty Million Net Earnings Not in Sight, He Admits Regretfully

PRESCOTT, Ont., Oct. 28.—The prediction that, in spite of a decrease on gross revenue, the present year would be closed by the National system in practically the same position as was the case a year ago, was made by Sir Henry Thorton, president of the C.N.R., in an address here today. Sir Henry added that his hope that the year would produce net earnings of $30,000,000 had been blasted by the depression of the business, but that the system would certainly do as well as last year.

Sir Henry urged the appointment of a federal minister of immigration, in order that the work in this connection being carried on by the railway systems and other organizations may be coordinated.

"We have to stop talking immigration, and do something, if we are going to get anywhere," he declared.

Sir Henry characterized as "simply rot and nonsense" the argument that labor was opposed to immigration, and said that he had been told by Miss Margaret Bondfield, M.P., who recently visited Canada, that she had found Canadian labor in general anything but hostile to immigration, provided the immigrant was of the right type.

Over Four Million Bushels Pass Port

VANCOUVER, Oct. 28.—Four and one half million bushels of wheat have moved through the port since the season opened, and the prospects are that perhaps another half million will be loaded by the end of the month. Shipping has been comparatively slow and the October bookings have not nearly been exhausted. They will lapse over into November it is understood.

Early in November No. 2 elevator will be operating and matters will be better. There has been congestion of shipping in October.

PATTULLO SAYS OFFER WAS FAIR TO HEBRIDEANS

Fisherman Would Have Six Hundred, a Tent and a Paying Job

VICTORIA, Oct. 28.—Dealing with the question of the settlement of Hebridean fishermen in British Columbia, Hon. T. D. Pattullo, minster of lands, makes this statement:

"Rev. Father MacDonnell is quoted in a press dispatch as stating that British Columbia would have to be more generous than the present offer of $300 per family.

"I may say that Father MacDonnell called on me when he was here, and I discussed the Hebridean settlement question with him. At no time during the discussion did he make and reference whatever to the amount of $300 being too small.

"It will be recalled that we made an offer to the British government to put up $300 per family, if the British government would put up a similar amount, which they agreed to do. Father MacDonnell, according to dispatches, thinks the amount should be much larger.

"My viewpoint is that if a real fisherman (and it is only fisher folk to whom we have made this offer) can not make good on arrival here with $600 in his pocket, and a tent to cover his head, it would be a good deal better for him to stay in the Hebrides. Personally, I think it a big mistake to load a man down with debt before he gets on his feet. These men can find immediate employment fishing on arrival here, and I see no reason, with the assistance offered, why they should not make good."

Opium Traffickers Are Found Guilty After Ten Minutes

VANCOUVER, Oct. 28.—Ten minutes deliberation enabled an assize court jury to return a verdict of guilty this morning, to charges against Peter Brannan and John Driver, of distributing opium.

Mr. Justice Murphy remanded the prisoners for sentence. Brannan had 18 years' service as a police officer, principally in Winnipeg, and latterly in Vancouver, for the Canadian Pacific Railway campany.

VANCOUVER, Oct. 28—"The murderer kills only the body of the victim, the trafficker in drugs kills not only the body, but the soul," declared Mr. Justice Murphy to the jury in the case of Peter Brannan and John Driver, found guilty of distributing and possessing drugs.

"We have had a murder trial at this assize," he said, "but in some ways this charge is more serious than murder. The murderer's victim may meet a quick and painless death, but the victims of the handler of drugs, the people to whom the drug traffickers hand their wares, may linger on, and drag out a miserable existence, a living death for years."

Sentence was deferred.

CHAPTER XXXIII.

THE MISSING LETTERS

The garden walk had a desolate, wintry look, with the gate swinging like that and the leaves darting about timorous and uncertain, like little, bleak old ladies.

Nora Lee stood irresolute, her eyes wandering from the walk to the chimney. A long, black vein ran through the yellow stone. She had not noticed this before, and going up, touched it with her finger. Strange—the house was getting old—

She had run four blocks from the car. But now, reaching the house, waited in a hostile pause to quiet her clamoring breath. Fugitive, distorted images chased through her mind. As she came up the street that old Carp woman beckoned her. She whispered: "Agnes has lost her baby. I thought your mother'd like to know." Nora Lee stared at her mutely. Why should Margaret care about Agnes Carp or her baby?

She went through the back yard. The kitchen door was unlatched. Suddenly she was remembering Virginia day. Why had Virginia come to her with that peculiar insistence? It was just as she finished packing her suit case. Virginia's soft mouth, with its full, red underlip, had a look of desperate pleading. She said: "I'll go with you, Nora Lee, if you're worried about your mother." Nora Lee said, sharply: "I'm not worried at all! Why should I be?"

And Virginia almost sobbed: "Then you won't let me go with you? You don't want me."

Why had she acted so? Oh, for no reason at all! Because, as Nora Lee came down the steps, Virginia was stepping into a machine with Humphrey Arnold. They had a box, as though they were going to a picnic. Virginia waved her hand. Why is there always something sad about the waving of a little, white hand?

She glanced swiftly to the living room windows. At least Margaret might have been there! She might have known how frightened that telephone call would make a person!

She flew into the room, giving a faint, soft laugh and calling "Mother!"

She shrank back to the chill extremity of fear. No one answered. Margaret's desk in the corner was opened. Papers were scattered about as though uneasy hands had darted frantically among them.

A sharp, piercing little cry fled through the room. Nora Lee started and was then aware that she had sent out that frightened messenger. She turned, weak with alarm and went plodding up the steps.

In Margaret's bureau all the drawers were pulled out, their contents tossed in heaps on the floor. Margaret lay on the bed, her beautiful hair falling over her face, her hands dangling.

Nora Lee stood in the middle of the room and murmured: "Mother—Oh, mother—"

She crept to the bed and touched Margaret's hands. When the fingers fluttered on hers, she dropped to her knees. She cried and cried.

A sound, exquisite though it came all filled with tears, and a touch light as a breath across her hair: "Dear one—dear one—never mind—" It was as though a spirit spoke.

But Nora Lee laughed. Death dropped out of her heart and hope flew in.

She stooped and pressed wet eyes against the pale, lovely face and murmured soft, adoring things in Margaret's ear.

Margaret opened distracted eyes: "Why are you here, Nora Lee?"

"Why did I go? Why did I ever g—oh, mother—"

It was a long time before the color came to the marble skin; before the blue line of pain was wiped from the chiseled mouth. Then Margaret put away Nora Lee's protecting arms. She scolded lovingly: "Foolish girl, why did you come? I was resting—only resting. Why, you aren't crying, are you? Now don't. This is nothing. I've often had a turn—"

The girl turned quickly, covering her face with her hands. She made a despairing motion to the disordered room. It seemed that Margaret had dumped out all these possessions to sort them, as though she were making ready for a long parting and wished that all might be in order.

She said with a harsh, shivering sob: "Why, mother? Oh, all this! Oh, mother, if you went, I couldn't bear it—I never could . . . That would be just more than I would stand—"

"Whart are you saying? Turn around and look at me, you silly thing. Am I to die so young? Now, am I?"

"What were you doing? Why did you phone?"

"Oh, nothing. I was sorting things. Well— I was looking for a trifle—a trifle—sorting things—"

But in the end Margaret admitted. She had mislaid a packet of letters. There were seven, tied with a green cord. She had thought they were in this bureau drawer. She wished to glance through them, being alone. And, you know, on a wintry day, with the wind making one think of forgetten things, letters are often pleasant to reread.

But these had eluded her. They were not in the bureau nor in the desk. Perhaps Nora Lee had seen them.

A tortured thing was looking out from Margaret's eyes. "Did you see them, Nora Lee?"

"No, I didn't see them."

Margaret sank back with a little moan. "It doesn't matter—doesn't matter."

But Nora Lee felt her heart shake. She remembered that Saturday afternoon, when the black figure went with such a stealthy rush down the side door of the living room—Andrew's wife coming for the Liberty bonds.

So she had not gone away empty handed. She had taken Margaret's letters, those gentle, sacred things that through the long, denying years had kept the faith and beauty in her mother's soul. She said drearily: "Oh, don't worry, mother. They'll turn up. We'll be sure to find them."

The letters were not found. The thought of them dragged through Nora Lee's days like an aching wound. She awakened in the night from dreams of Lily Cornish. She saw the shrewish mouth hardening; saw the bony fingers twitching at the long, gray papers with Andrew's sharp, beautiful script.

She thought of visiting Fairdale and demanding the letters. She considered giving up the bonds if this packet were returned.

She half believed Margaret suspected their fate. Margaret may have remembered that Saturday and the dark apparition rusning from their door.

And she was mourning their loss. They were of the dearest things she had. Often coming from school Nora Lee would find Margaret sitting in a big chair looking into the garden staring at the aracia tree where Andrew stood the day he left—the day he went away to die. A note of sad expectancy would tremble on her mother"s lips.

Nora Lee would stand in the shadow knowing herself at grips with all terror; with bereavement more complete than earth had yet known. She would struggle with hope, and coming up, peer in the beloved face, pull a chair to her mother's feet, resting her head as a child might in that gentle lap.

Oh, the comfort of Margaret's hand running through her hair. But when Margaret began to talk she would clinch her fists. That voice was talking against time; was pouring out a life's agony of love—but it was a gay, confident voice.

"And you will do great things, my gypsy girl! Remember, I'm expecting that. Fine, strong things, that I may know your life has not been hurt by mine—"

"It hasn't it hasn't."

"You will go to college. Tell me, Nora Lee—"

"Of course—of course. Why do you ask such things?"

"It is so sweet to talk. Remember all the years I've longed for this and you were too little to understand. Now I want to tell you all the dreams I've had and you will bring them true—"

She turned her face upward and caught her mother in her arms. She whispered faintly: "You are better! Mother—you look so well!"

The holy smile moved like a light on Margaret's lips: "Better—I am so well—of course—"

WILL COMPLETE BRIDGE OVER COTTONWOOD

Aldermen Have Discussion Regarding the Estimates; Vernon Street Finished

The completion of the bridge across Cottonwood creek, on Railway street, as recommended by the public works committee, caused some stir at Monday night's council meeting. When this matter arose, Alderman Fleming stated that he had been under the impression that the works committee, when asking that the foundations be put in, had figured on no further work this year on account of possibilities of going over the estimates.

He did not think it fair that one department should go over its estimates and then take a portion of another department's money to carry through the year's work. He was of the opinion that all departments should keep within their estimates, unless some unforeseen thing cropped up.

When the motion was put that the bridge be completed, it was carried by a single vote. Aldermen Horswill, McKenzie and Austin voted for the motion, and Aldermen Fleming and Morgan against it.

Lectures Aldermen

Before the final vote was taken Mayor Choquette found it necessary to lecture the aldermen on the necessity of declaring themselves when a vote was to be taken. Several times throughout the meeting he had found it necessary to put a question several times before getting a full vote. The council approved of the following work being done:

The construction of a gravel walk on Gordon street to serve the residences of James Reid and other householders. The walk will run from the end of the car line up Gordon street.

The construction of a gravel walk on Kootenay avenue to the residence of Charles Maltby.

The renewal of a crossing on Third street at Kootenay avenue.

The completion of a bridge on Railway street over Cottonwood creek.

Engineer Gives Report

Work done by the city on Victoria street in the past few months cost $3540.30, according to figures submitted to the city council last night by City Engineer, J. A. Ferguson. Of the above amount $432.50 was borne by the property owners who benefitted through the improvements.

Work on Victoria street included the construction of 1800 feet of curb (this embodied the north side between Josephine and Ward streets of an extraordinary height); 300 feet of retaining wall built on Ward street to Stanley street; 710 feet of macadam constructed from Ward street to Kootenay street.

There is included in this cost the lowering of the gas mains necessitated by construction, and the rebuilding of steps and grading of boulevards as agreed to in arrangements with the property owners.

The redecking of a bridge over Cottonwood creek on Latimer street was completed at a cost of $29.25. This included labor only, the material being supplied by the provincial government.

The opening of the alley between Robson street and Gore street and Kootenay street and Falls street was completed at a cost of $98.75.

The engineer recommended that the water supply for the Trafalgar school be obtained from Robson street.

YALE CAMPAIGN AT FEVER HEAT

Liberals Claim Premier Brought Victory; Opponents Back Meighen

PENTICTON, Oct. 28.—Yale constituency never has witnessed an election so keenly contested as the present campaign. Both sides express confidence in the result. Conservatives and Liberals are all supplied with speakers, and meetings will be continued nightly until November 6, when the vote will be cast. No community is too small to be overlooked as both parties are fighting for the last vote.

Supporters of D. W. Sutherland, Liberal, are elated with the cordial welcome Premier MacKenzie King has received throughout the valley, and make the claim that he has turned the tide of battle in their favor.

On the other hand, Conservative leaders are confident that Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen's presence from Wednesday until the close of the campaign will counteract the influence of Mr. King's visit.

Ferguson Is Not Concerned Over Wet Party Wing

TORONTO, Oct. 28.—Questioned today, regarding rumors that a "wet" wing of the Conservative party might be formed as a result of the situation created by the large vote in many cities of the province in favor of government control of the sale of liquor, Premier Ferguson declared:

"I have no control over what individual members of the legislature may do or say."

He is to take charge of the provincial police district at Vernon. After his departure it is announced that the Cranbrook division will be put under the charge of the chief constable at Fernie. Constable Saunders will remain in local charge here.

President Terzian Procures Eastern Capital; Gain Depth for Mill

E. Terzian, president of the Golden Age Mining company, limited, has arrived from the eastern States, where he has made arrangements for sufficient capital to proceed with the development of the Golden Age mine.

This gold mine is situated near the Great Northern track, about nine miles south of Nelson.

The Terzian brothers plan to begin operations at once, and to drive the lower tunnel another 500 feet into the vein. This will give the company sufficient depth to justify the erection of a mill in the early spring.

Mr. Terzian stated that the mill put up then would be a good-sized one.

La Follette Counsel Puts Slush Fund at Sixteen Million Now

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Frank P. Walsh, counsel for Senator Robert M. La Follette, before the senate campaign fund investigation committee, speaking at an Independent party rally in Cooper union hall here Sunday night, declared the Republican party is raising a "slush fund of at least $16,000,000 to elect Coolidge and Dawes."

"The estimate first made of this slush fund by Senator La Follette was $4,000,000 or $5,000,000," Mr. Walsh said. "With the surface scarcely scratched by the committee, it has become apparent that $10,000,000 or $12,000,000 will not cover the total.

"In the campaign of 1920 the same corrupting influences, which brought the adherent scandal upon the Republican administration, collected the enormous sum of $8,100,000."

Everybody's Friend

Life Insurance nas taken on a new importance. Everybody needs it, most people want it,—it is everybody's friend. As a result, people are asking themselves today:

"Am I insurable?"

"How can I get sufficient life insurance?"

and the answer is found in the ever-increasing number of policies now being applied for.

There is a foundation for this success: The general public is rapidly coming to realize the solid basis upon which life insurance rests; that the business is subject to a rigid system of Government inspection; and that while Life Insurance is a form of organized sharing of each other's burdens, it is managed on a sound business basis.

Creating an Appetite for More Fruit

An example of what may be accomplished in increasing the sale of fruit by means of advertising is given in the report of the first year of the "Eat More Fruit" campaign by the Fruit Trades federation in Great Britain.

British Columbia apple producers have been doing some advertising, through the Associated Growers, though the campaign has been restricted and, curiously enough, has not touched the big fruit-growing centers, though fruit consumption could be increased in Kootenay and Okanagan tremendously if the necessary advertising were carried out.

In the report of the British advertising campaign it is stated that this is the largest cooperative fruit advertising campaign ever launched in Great Britain, and during the past season the peculiar virtues of oranges, apples, lemons, pears and grapes have been brought home to more than 12,500,000 people daily and nearly a 100,000,000 weekly by press advertising.

The success of the campaign is testified by letters from fruit brokers, shippers, wholesalers and retailers throughout the country, and by the fact that it has just been renewed on an even more extensive scale.

By means of advertising it is hoped to make "Great Britain, which today consumes less fruit than Iceland, the greatest fruit-eating nation in the world."

Returns Good for Evil

According to the chief of the American chemical warfare service, the results of the experiments carried on by the medical corps in the treatment of certain diseases with chlorine and chlorine gas are strikingly beneficial and have been achieved with a certainty beyond scientific dispute.

Chlorine was known as a form of muriatic acid as far back as 1771. In its gaseous form it was pungent and suffocating, and this led to its use in the world war.

The chlorine gas bombs quickly disposed of everybody in range—unless the attacked forces were well provided with proper masks.

Now it appears that coughs, colds, bronchial ailments, whooping cough and even asthma yield conclusively to treatments with this gas, intelligently applied.

Warfare with gas—even with all the horrors with which writers and novelists graphically surrounded it—is much better than with artillery.

During the world war gas accounted for more than one-third of the casualties, but was blamed for less than one-twelfth of the fatalities.

Likewise, there are no shredded bodies or rent limbs after a gas raid.

The use of chlorine gas as a relief agent in peace may make amends for some of the horrors of war.

THE CONSTANT MOON

The weather depends on the moon, it is said,
And I've found the saying quite true;
For at present it rains when the moon's at the full,
And it rains when the moon's at the new.

When the moon's at the quarter then down comes the rain;
At the half 'tis no better, I ween;
When the moon's at the three-quarters it's at it again,
And it rains mostly always between.

Easily Made Fondant—Put the white of an egg in a bowl and add enough powdered sugar to make stiff; add a few drops of either vanilla extract or lemon juice, then cut off small pieces of this fondant, roll them in more powdered or confectioners' sugar, shape them with your fingers and press a half walnut meat on top of each. Use a little uncooked egg-yolk to color these candies yellow if desired. Or use a little melted chocolate or cocoa-powder to color them brown. Red vegetable covering matter may also be used.

Cream Candy—Boil together two and one-half cups of granulated sugar and one-half cup of water; when this is clear, add one-half cup of sweet cream so slowly that the candy will not stop boiling, and let it continue to boil till a little is brittle when dropped into cold water (or, if you are using a candy fahrenheit thermometer, stop cooking when 290 degrees are registered). Now pour out onto a buttered platter, put one teaspoon of vanilla extract on top of it and one cup of any kind of nutmeats finely chopped, let cool, then pull it till white and firm. Cut into pieces. Standing for a week in an airtight container makes it very creamy. This is fine candy for a child's "candy pull" party. It is not hard to make, and the children will enjoy pulling it.

Fruit Fudge—Put into a large saucepan two cups of granulated sugar, two heaping tablespoons of butter, and one cup of cream, and let the mixture simmer for 20 minutes, stirring constantly. Then add to it one square of bitter chocolate, melted, and let boil up again. Remove from fire and beat till creamy. Now add to it one teaspoon of vanilla, one-half cup of chopped nut meats, and one tablespoon each of chopped candied pineapple, chopped preserved cherries (or chopped dates, raisins, or dried currents may be substituted if desired). Pour into buttered pans, mark in squares when half cold, and let stand in cool place till firm.—Contributed by Mrs. D. S.

Modern English Is Bequest From the Fen Country

To the Editor of The Daily News:

Sir—In my recent communication to you on The Wash and the Fens of Lincolnshire, I somehow quite forgot to mention the chief claim which that region has to our remembrance. It is this:

Freeman, the historian of the Norman Conquest of England, has said: "Written English—Standard English is certainly neither the Northumbrian speech of Yorkshire nor the Saxon of Winchester. It is the intermediate Anglian speech of Eastern Mercia * * * Modern English is the language of the Gyrwas (the Post-Roman inhabitants of the Fens). It was a Lincolnshire man, a Bourne man, who gave the English language its present shape."

This Bourne man was Robert Manning or Robert of Brunne, who, whilst a student at the University of Cambridge, wrote, about the year 1303, a long poem entitled "Handlyng Synne," a treatise on the seven deadly sins, e.g., pride, anger, envy, sloth, covetousness, gluttony and lechery.

Freeman's opinion is now generally accepted amongst authorities on the history of the English language.

Says Slocan District Is World's Greatest Silver-Lead Section

To the Editor of The Daily News:

Sir—I would like once again to bring to the notice of the mining fraternity the big possibilities of the Kaslo district as a whole. This means not only Kaslo itself but all surrounding districts, south fork, main line to Sandon, Lardeau and up to Trout Lake; in fact, this big Slocan belt, which, without any prejudice, must be, as far as is known, the richest and best silver-lead belt in the world—that is, taking all other advantages into consideration, such as timber, good water, transportation, building material, water power, climate, etc.

Also, up to date, we have not had the chance or capital to prove out the big bodies of ore that will be shown up eventually by deep development.

Look back and see what made Spokane; also thousands of others made money out of this Slocan belt, and at the same time others have lost money.

That part of it is caused by these contemptible shysters that use the mining business as a means to fleece the public to the benefit of themselves, and giving misleading statements regarding their possibilities of ore, promise of dividends, location, and everything else. Not only that, but only about one-third of the investor's money reaches what it is intended for, and, naturally, people fight shy of any legitimate proposition that comes before them as they class them all the same after hearing of the experiences of others that have been defrauded by these same would-be mining promoters. This has been the means of turning capital into other sources that never could, if successful, make the same amount of money for the investor.

What we want in British Columbia is, if possible, to stop this sort of thing and get some legislation put through that will protect the investor, and see that it is carried out. The man that will do this will help to get a big revenue for the British Columbia government and the thanks of the public at large, as mining, if legitimate and handled to the best interests of the investor, is on a par with any other investment if averaged up; in fact, it has the best of it.

In mining, if you make it, nobody loses; in all other things away from natural resources, somebody loses.

Hoping this may help to put mining on a footing as an honest investment as well as a good gamble, and that I have not taken up too much space in your paper.

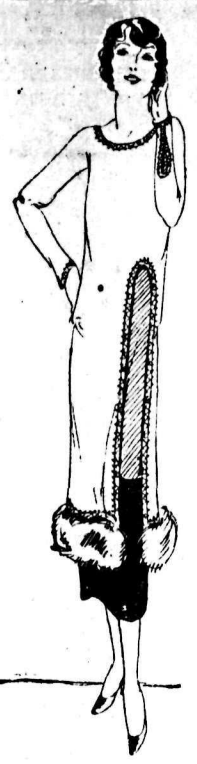
Styles

BY LENORE



Velvets have proved an important factor in the expression of winter fashions, a fact no doubt influenced by the vogue for more formal atmosphere in clothes. No other material for example, could as adequately express the richness of the gown presented in the above sketch. It is made of marron brown chiffon velvet, a shade that is very much liked this season.

The slightly flared tunic is most original in design, as it is cut out at the side to a width of about five inches, revealing the bois de rose crepe de chine top of the brown velvet bordered slip. At the neck, at the hem, and around the edges of the cleft in the tunic, the same shade of rose is repeated in a narrow border of embroidery. Likewise on the sleeve, which is also cut to reveal an underlay of the rose crepe. And, of course, the fur is an essential item in the smartness of the gown.

Changing Food With the Years

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright act.)

One of the humorous anecdotes told sometimes is that about the colored man who was asked to take a job at the circus.

One of his duties was to put his head in the lion's mouth. He strongly objected and turned down the job.

The manager said: "Why, the lion won't hurt you. He was brought up on milk."

The colored man's reply was: "So was I brung up on milk, but I eats meat now."

I was wondering whether you ever give a thought to the fact, that when you are a youngster milk is your staple articles of food; later you eat meat and all kinds of other foods, and then in later life you go back to the simple foods of childhood again.

I say that you go back, but do you?

As a matter of fact it is only common sense when you think about it. As a child, your digestive organs, your glands, all of you, in fact, is still in a state of gradual growth. Therefore the simplest forms of food are indicated.

At maturity—past 20—you can eat anything or everything, because your system has reached its full development. You work hard, or play hard, and everything goes along all right.

As you reach middle age, working or playing, if you are wise you will cut down somewhat on the amount of food, but you will still eat anything or everything.

But what about later in life?

This is where the mistake is made so often.

Our life insurance companies tell us that it is not the stout old people who live the longest.

That "spare" people, or those not overweight at least, make their best risks in old age.

Why?

Because most of these folks are not big eaters, nor do they eat the kinds of food that they ate when they were young or middle aged. They have gone back to a smaller amount of food daily, and to the simpler forms of food, such as milk, bread, and the vegetables, and you can see the reason.

Their glands, their organs, all parts of them are now in a state of growing weakness, are different than they were in young or middle life. And so these weakened organs and tissues want but the simplest forms of food.

Tunney Knocks Out Foley in the First

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 28.—Gene Tunney, American light heavyweight champion, knocked out Harry Foley of Hotsprings, Ark., in the first round of a scheduled eight-round bout here last night. Before the bout it was announced that Tunney's championship was at stake.

Ten Years Ago

As a result of the efforts of R. F. Green, member for Kootenay, Canadian lead will be used in the manufacture of bullets for use by the Canadian soldiers at the front. This means that every leaden missile fired by the contingents from the Dominion will be a product of a British Columbia mine, and that an overwhelming percentage will be from the rich silver-lead properties of the Kootenays.

Sidelights on a Great Industry

A BAR TO INDUSTRIAL PROGRESS

A complete consensus of the business men of British Columbia, outside the lumber industry, see in the Timber Royalties Act of 1914 a very serious obstacle indeed to the industrial progress of the Province.

Important trade organizations all over B.C. have gone on record as demanding the removal of the impediments in the Act to the free expansion of our trade and commerce.

It is agreed that when conditions seem favorable, as they now do, for a trade revival, it is peculiarly unfortunate that the presence on our statute book of this out-of-date piece of experimental legislation should threaten to paralyze the chief purchasing power of the Province.

Apart from being an all-round hindrance to improved business conditions the present Timber Royalties Act has many inherent defects that justify its amendment.

1. It is a pre-war instrument which is not applicable to a post-war economic situation. In common with many other 1914 measures, it has no justification for existence in the vastly different conditions of today.

2. It is founded on an absolutely unsound economic basis. Royalty is essentially a levy on a raw material. The present Act taxes wages, equipment and every factor entering into the cost of producing and distributing the manufactured product. There is no precedent for a measure of this nature.

The B.C. Lumber Industry is due for a revival with resultant good business all round. But the Royalty Act of 1914 effectively bars the way.

Long-Distance Calls Are Much Cheaper When Made At Night

Under the new scale of night rates for long-distance conversations the charge between 8:30 p.m. and 7 a.m. is the lowest in the history of this Company. The new rates are on a basis of approximately twice, and in some cases three times, the day period, at two-thirds the day rate.

One long-distance conversation will often do more in expediting business than the exchange of a number of letters. Speed is one of the principal advantages of long-distance, and the effect of personal contact by wire is also valuable. While long-distance has for years proven its worth as a servant of business, it has its place in the social sphere as well, for a chat by wire between distant friends is most enjoyable, and arrangements regarding visits and other matters are speedily made through the long-distance service.

The rate clerk would be glad to answer any inquiries.

YAHK AREA IS HUMMING WITH BUSY WORKERS

Canadian Pacific Tie and Timber Department Has Many Camps

YAHK, B.C., Oct. 28.—The country in and around Yahk is somewhat undulating. The Canadian Pacific railway tie and timber department at present has a large number of men employed at its various camps south of Yahk and toward the international boundary. A railway line and also a flume is being utilized in conveying the logs and ties to the mill from the camp operations, which cover a large area.

However, an immense stand of timber is still available and tributary to plant at Yahk for future consumption along the western lines of the Canadian Pacific railway.

Andy Edgar, old-time camp foreman and contractor, has taken up work at camp No. 19.

George Jennings is with the public works department as assistant bridge builder. At present a bridge is being built across the Moyie near Yahk to replace the old structure on the highway between the village proper and milltown.

Tony Capitanno, cook at camp No. 20, has left his position, and is superseded by Mr. Derosia.

Dave Coffee, formerly of the Wasa district, is making good progress at his contract of getting out ties and logs for the tie and timber department at camp No. 15.

Jimmie Hawley, subcontractor at camp No. 19, paid Cranbrook a business visit.

Jack Flynn has been assigned to the position of freight teamster from camp No. 19.

Peter Jensen, Mr. Cerrin and Mr. Sevigns, of the old camp No. 4 location, have their respective contracts and are making good progress at getting out ties and logs on areas which were not completed last season.

Camp Twenty-two a Commer

Norman Beech, formerly timekeeper at camps No. 42 and No. 44 on the Tanglefoot operations, Bull River, has been transferred to a similar berth at camp No. 22, at which Fred Mitchell is at the helm as foreman. Camp No. 22 has been recently built, and will occupy a prominent place among the list of producers of ties and logs in the Yahk area.

Fletcher McDonald, chief clerk at camp No. 19, spent a few days in Cranbrook.

Harry Derank has resigned as cook at the New hotel, Yahk, Mr. McDonald recently held a boarding contract on the Bull river before coming to Yahk.

L. Magrath and Lockie Miller, formerly of Wasa, are making progress at getting out logs for Wilfred Weatherhead at camp No. 19.

A dance was held at the Yahk auditorium which was well attended and enjoyable.

Lockie Miller of the contracting firm of Miller & Magrath of camp No. 19, is convalescing from a recent attack of influenza, which seems to have found many victims throughout the district.

John Lake, recently from the upper waters of Bull river, is one of the staff at camp No. 19.

Martin Nilson, employed at camp No. 19, met with a painful accident while cutting timber. In some unknown manner the ax diverted and entered his kneecap, inflicting an ugly wound and necessitating his removal to Yahk for medical attention.

Mr. O'Donnell, formerly of Bull River operations, is now at camp No. 19.

Landscape Expert Visits Kimberley Cranbrook Schools

CRANBROOK, B.C., Oct. 28.—J. W. Gibson of Victoria, director of elementary agricultural education in the the schools, was a visitor here and at Kimberley at the week-end. Part of Mr. Gibson's work lies in the direction of laying out school grounds to the best advantage, and with this in view he visited Kimberley, where a large new addition was added this year.

In Cranbrook there has not been the ground to spare surrounding the schools apparently to do very much in the way of laying them out, nor has any educational course in agriculture beyond that contained in the usual nature study classes been given.

It is understood that the Rotary club was intending to interview Mr Gibson relative to laying out the park recently acquired by the city and in which the Rotary club has interested itself as a community matter.

Mothers!

Give the children WRIGLEY'S after every meal

A prominent physician says:

"It is surprising how free from decay the teeth can be kept by using gum after each meal."

You know how hard it is to get the children to clean their teeth. By giving them WRIGLEY'S you not only reward them for cleaning their teeth, but the reward is actually the means of performing this important service!

CANADIANS FOR MOST PART UP AGAINST ODDS

Greenwood, the Constitutionalist, Now Has a Liberal Opponent

HAYCOCK LOOKS CERTAIN LOSER

Colonel MacDonnell of Vancouver Has an Uphill Fight

LONDON, Oct. 28.—(Canadian Press Cable.)—With one exception, those candidates whose fortunes for personal reasons, are being followed with more than ordinary interest in different parts of Canada can scarcely be said to be waging prominent battles in the present political warfare.

Greenwood a Storm Center

Sir Hamar Greenwood, however, in East Walthamstow, is making an attack, the result of which will be awaited with particular attention in the Dominion. Sir Stanley Johnson, who for some years has been the Conservative member of that constituency, and was reelected last December, has retired, and Sir Hamar has been accepted in his stead by the Conservatives as a constitutional candidate, or, in other words, an anti-Socialist candidate.

J. G. Dale, Labor nominee in East Walthamstow, whose big poll last year made many calculations on the probable result of the vote look foolish, is again a candidate, and a third opponent of Sir Hamar is Percy Heffer, a Liberal, who is taking the place of A. M. Mathews, Liberal, who made a surprisingly good run last year. Sir Hamar, therefore, is faced with a formidable combined adverse majority, and it is too much to expect that all the Liberal votes will be transformed into Constitutionalist votes.

A. W. Haycock, who was visiting his old home in Ontario when the election date was fixed, and hurried back to attempt to retain the West Salford seat which he won for Labor last year, is almost certain of defeat. He has a straight fight with Commander W. W. Astbury, Conservative, who lost the last election by only 116 votes in a three-cornered contest in which the Liberal candidate polled over 6000 votes.

Could Have Pulled "Revolution"

Some capital has been made against Haycock through his absence in Canada while parliament was still in session, but he replies that his attendance in the house was one of the best recorded of any of the members.

As to talk of Labor men being revolutionaries, Mr. Haycock says:

"If we (the Labor men) had given the word for a revolution, nothing would have saved the country. The Tories know we prevented revolution."

Lieut.-Col. H. Hamilton Gault, formerly of Montreal, organizer and commander of the Princess Patricias early in the war, is again the Conservative candidate in the Taunton division of Somersetshire, where he was defeated in a straight fight last year by J. H. Simpson, Liberal, by a majority of 1200.

In the stiff fight he is now in, Colonel Gault has J. H. Simpson against him and also Rev. G. Woods, Labor nominee. Colonel Gault claims to have captured the old radical stronghold of Wellington, and to have been well received in a tour of the villages of Taunton.

British Columbian Has Hard Task

Lieut.-Col. Angus MacDonnell, Vancouver, B.C., in his fight as the Conservative in Dartford, Kent, has to wipe out a Labor majority of over 2900 in order to win the seat.

Sir Douglas Hogg was refused a hearing at a meeting of Colonel MacDonnell's last night, notwithstanding that a Labor man mounted the platform and appealed for fair play. Colonel MacDonnell faces the music cheerfully.

Captain Holt, son of Sir Herbert Holt, president of the Royal Bank of Canada, the Conservative in West Ham, will be supported by Liberals, but even so, in order to win, he has to overcome a Labor win that was made in a three-cornered contest last year. However, it is a straight fight now between him and the Labor candidate.

Col. W. Grant Morden, Conservative, is regarded as pretty safe for reelection in the Brentford and Chiswick division of Middlesex.

Dempsey Ninety Thousand on Income; Coolidge Is Near Seven Thousand

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—New York newspapers Saturday continued printing lists of income tax returns, singling out the most prominent personages in the metropolitan district and throughout the nation.

Meanwhile the financial district continues to be deeply stirred. Bankers and corporation heads expressed resentment of the publicity, declaring that business secrets were being divulged to their rivals.

In a list containing the names of many of those who paid taxes of $250,000 or more, the World made public income taxes of five women as follows:

BORDER PATROL BREAKS UP RING

Arrests Give Blow to Organization for Smuggling Dutch Across Line

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 28.—Arrest of three men near Lynden, Wash., and Albain, Wash., by a special patrol along the Canadian boundary, Luther T. Weeden, United States immigration commissioner, said here yesterday, broke up a ring smuggling Hollanders into the United States.

Warren J. Currie, the agents charged, was smuggling Wilbrau Hoestraf, a Hollander, across the Canadian boundary, when arrested near Lynden.

Nicholas Vandeer Dreft, deported from Vancouver, B.C., to Blaine because of illegal entry into Canada, and declared by Currie to be the leader of a smuggling ring, was arrested.

Altogether 145 Hollanders arrived from Holland recently in Vancouver, B.C., to settle in Canada.

Twelve Whitecappers Who Tarred a Woman Draw Prison Terms

FREDERICK, Md., Oct. 28.—Twelve residents of Myersville, upon whom sentence was passed by Chief Judge Hammond Urner, following pleas of guilty on convictions on charges resulting from the tarring and feathering of Mrs. Dorothy Grandon, last July, are held in the Frederick county jail, pending their removal to the house of correction.

Mrs. Mary Shank, who admitted applying the tar and feathers to Mrs. Grandon's body, was sentenced to nine months' imprisonment. Mrs. Shank charged that the "whitecapping" was the result of too intimate relations between her husband and Mrs. Grandon.

RED OCTOBER KIDNAPS THE NOICE PARTY

Starts for Russia With Wells and "Planted" Eskimos

NOME, Alaska, Oct. 28.—A colony intended to establish British title to Wrangell island, in the Arctic ocean, north of Siberia, was carried off by the Russian army transport Red October, which raised the Russian flag there August 20, it was learned here.

This news came here from Whalen, by which name Alaskans call that part of Siberia extending inland and northward and southward from Bering strait.

The Red October, called by Russians the Krasny Oktiber, bucked the ice 32 days to reach Wrangell island.

The colony carried away by the Red October is to be landed at Indian Point, which is in Whalen, or at Vladivostock 1000 miles to the south, according to the advices from Whalen.

Noice Followed Crawford

This colony, consisting of 13 Eskimos, with Harry Wells of Nome over them, was taken to Wrangell island by Harold Noice of Seattle, who found that an expedition led there in 1921 by Alan Crawford of Toronto had perished with the exception of an Eskimo seamstress, Ada Blackjack.

Previous reports had spoken of the Red October's finding 12 Eskimos on the island, but today's advices said 13, which was the number taken there by Noice.

With the colony Soviet officials aboard the Red October confiscated its take of furs, according to the Whalen messages. This take consisted of 40 fox and 40 polar bear skins.

The Red October made her way south of Bering strait October 5. She ran out of coal, and for fuel broke up the gasoline schooner Belinda, one of four American vessels seized by Russian officials in Whalen two years ago. The vessel proceeded from there for Providence bay, south of Whalen, where it was hoped to obtain coal.

FEDERATION VOTE HEAVY FOR STRIKE

Miners' Officials Hope the Operators Will Make New Proposals

EDMONTON, Oct. 28.—Voting on the strike ballot of the Edmonton and District Miners' federation was completed last night, and officials of the union announced that it was heavily in favor of rejecting the proposals of the operators. More than 1000 men employed in about 10 mines in the field will be affected.

Tomorrow night the federation will set its strike date at a general meeting of miners.

Union officials are hopeful that the operators will make new proposals which may eliminate the necessity of a strike. The agreement which has brought about the present situation would have made a cut of 13 per cent in wages payable to men working contract rates, and the same amount less than suggested in the award of the conciliation board.

Prohibitionists Less Intelligent, Suggests British Liquor Organ

LONDON, Oct. 27.—(Canadian Press Cable.)—The Morning Advertiser, the official daily organ of the licenced trade in Great Britain, in discussing the Ontario plebiscite of Thursday last on the liquor question, cynically infers that the vote, which showed a majority in favor of the Ontario Temperance act, did not disclose a high test of intelligence.

"The dry vote was in fact a rural vote," it states, "and since, in a country like Canada, the cities are likely to be in advance of the rural districts in education, intelligence and knowledge of the world, the probability is that prohibition has been fixed upon the people of Ontario for another spell by the less intellectual classes of the population."

The Tag That Pins Them Down

SNYDER'S Sani-Bilt guarantee pins down the manufacturers of Sani-Bilt Living-Room Furniture to certain definite statements, for which we are responsible and from which we cannot get away.

One of these statements is that Snyder's Sani-Bilt Furniture is mothproof. When we say mothproof, we mean mothproof. We don't mean mothproof for a season. We mean that absolutely every particle of attraction for moths has been removed from Sani-Bilt Furniture. There is no other process that gives you absolute immunity from moths and no other upholstered furniture manufacturers in Canada have the right to use this process.

And we are furthermore pinned down. We guarantee sound and strong construction, and fresh, new, sanitary fillings (not renovated).

They Can't Get Away From It

Snyder's Sani-Bilt guarantee also pins down the manufacturers of all other furniture claimed as "mothproof". Is their furniture mothproof, or is it not mothproof? It is no use them saying it is the same as Sani-Bilt. There is no other process like the Sani-Bilt process. There is no use them saying it is "practically" mothproof or "mothproof for a certain length of time". Is it absolutely mothproof? Will the effect of their powders and sprays last as long as the furniture? Is it poisonous? Does it dry into dust which a vacuum cleaner sucks away? Or does it evaporate into the air like gasoline and its solutions? The Sani-Bilt process is non-poisonous, does not evaporate, is non-odorous, leaves no stain, cannot be weakened by any cleaning process.

Make Sure it is Sani-Bilt

When furniture dealers show you upholstered furniture, it is only fair to pin them down, also. Is it Sani-Bilt? Demand to see the guarantee. Read this guarantee and make sure it is the Sani-Bilt guarantee, and not an imitation or a mere evasion. The Sani-Bilt guarantee tag on every Sani-Bilt piece pins imitators and their selling agents down to absolute facts, just as it pins us down.

Look, also, for the Sani-Bilt trade mark label under the Marshall Spring Cushions.

Leading dealers will show you Sani-Bilt Furniture to suit your taste, whatever the price you want to pay. If you have any difficulty, write us.

Last night a large number of the boy athletes went through a strenuous workout. A. E. Allison, who is coaching the boys, spent some time with them in starts. Then the athletes went through several races of varying lengths. The jumps and pole valuts were also gone through.

Trail athletes will arrive on Friday evening by special train, and according to reports they are bringing a large number of supporters with them.

With a large number of Trail'ites present it is anticipated that Nelson supporters will turn out in large numbers.

CONTESTANTS WERE TRAIL'S HAPPY GUESTS

Intercity Indoor Meet Followed by a Pleasant Function

TRIBUTES PAID TO NELSON'S COACH

Felicities Are Exchanged; Trophies Won Are Presented

TRAIL, B.C., Oct. 28.—Contestants, trainers and officials of the Trail Track & Harrier club's annual indoor track meet, held last Friday, concluded their successful night with a banquet in the Elks' hall, after which trophies were presented to the winners of the many events.

President J. A. McKinnon, who occupied the chair, called on Mayor H Clarke, who warmly welcomed the visiters to Trail and commended the sporting clubs on their efforts to promote good sports.

Blaylock Presents Prizes

G. S. Blaylock, who was called to present the medals, ardently commented on the spirit of goed will and lack of wrangling of any kind.

L. F. Tyson presented the cup for the girl's best aggregate to Betty Kerr, and trophies were also presented by Miss M. Balfour, Charles Dodimead, P. R. McDonald, F. S. Willis, George Murray and H. Caldicott, president of the Trail Amateur Athletic association.

Murray Speaks

Mr. Murray said in Trail there were 15 men who had constantly, night after night, devoted their time to the training of our contestants. Consequently Trail had a much better opportunity training its competitors and also of dividing the tremendous amount of work in connection with the actual running of the meet, whereas Mr. Allison of Nelson was practically alone in his endeavors. Yet, in spite of this, said Mr. Murray, last year Mr. Allison had succeeded in carrying off the most points in the Nelson meet, and Trail wanted to put on record appreciation of his efforts because, were it not for him, Trail felt there would be no Nelson entries and that the Nelson children would be deprived of the benefits of their competitions and worse, from Trail's point of view, Trail boys and girls would not have the opportunity of meeting their rivals from Nelson, gaining the advantages that accrue both direct and indirect from these meets.

Allison Replies

Mr. Allison, in repiying to Mr. Murray, stated that while he was a little disappointed at the showing of his team he felt that they had done their utmost; and, when they did that, he was satisfied, and he heartily congratulated the Trail team on its victory and on the fact that in Betty Kerr and Sam Eustis they possessed two of the finest young athletes he had ever seen. He hoped, however, that history would repeat itself, for last year, after Nelson had lost to Trail, it was able to turn the tables in Nelson, and he could promise the Trail team even stiffer competition than it had had.

Mr. Payne, who was responsible for bringing the Rossland contestants to the meet, was the recipient of congratulations, and expressed his pleasure at their showing considering the few he had to choose from in Rossland schools.

Netted Five Hundred

The Trail meet netted approximately $500, it was stated by Mr. Murray. This would well have been augmented by another $100 if the weather had been more suitable.

Those in charge of the track meet were: Judges, T. W. Bingay, A. Balfour and L. F. Tyson for field events and F. S. Willis, R. Walker and H. Caldicott for track events; starter, P. Hallett; referee, P. R McIntyre; scorers, George Murray and M. McLellan; timers, W. B. Kinnear and Charles Dodimead; clerks of course, R. G. Anderson, W. Gibson, G. McKay, C. Minton and E. Fowler; announcer, S. Stewart.

LITTLE LESSONS IN

Basketball

IF YOUR OPPONENT IS "ROUGHING" YOU·

DO NOT FIGHT BACK. APPEAL TO YOUR CAPTAIN, WHO SHOULD APPEAL TO AN OFFICIAL.

DON'T CONFUSE HARD PLAYING WITH "ROUGHING."

What tactics can a player adopt toward an opponent who is "roughing him up?"

Answered By
NELS NORGREN
Coach of basketball, University of Chicago. Famous for the speed and fighting determination of his teams.

* * *

When a player has an opponent who is "roughing him up," he should inform his captain of the situation and the captain should appeal to the official, claiming his teammate's rights under the rules. The player should be sportsmanlike enough not to confuse "roughing" and hard playing. If he is being "roughed," i. e. held back, pushed, blocked or tripped, he must not retaliate in kind, but make the appeal as stated above. If it is a case of hard playing he must exercise, all the more, his powers of brain, speed and training and "out smart" his opponent.

COMPROMISE IS IN THE AIR IN BRUSSELS MEET

Turkey Frees Arrested Greeks; British-Turk Report Today

BRUSSELS, Oct. 28.—A note of compromise and conciliation is clearly evident in Brussels tonight both on the Mosul conflict and the Greeco-Turkish dispute over the arrest of Greek residents in Constantinople. M. Branting of Sweden, as official reporter of the League of Nations on the Mosul affair, conferred with both Fethi Bey and Lord Parmoor, and will make his recommendation for settlement of the frontier dispute to the council tomorrow afternoon.

Hopes that the Greeco-Turkish controversy, like the Mosul problem, may be settled amicably, were strengthened by a statement issued by M. Politis, representing Greece, tonight, that Turkey has freed from prison all Greeks thus far arrested in Constantinople and that no further arrests will be made pending a decision by the council or the mixed commission of control. M. Politis said:

"This certainly is another item to add to the credit side of the League of Nations' ledger. Nevertheless, to prevent dangerous complications, we must ask a clear ruling that all Greeks living in Constantinople prior to 1918 shall be allowed to remain, for this clearly was the meaning of the Lausanne treaty."

The council decided to appoint a jury of six architects to direct an international competition for plans for a new assembly hall in Geneva.

WOMEN DO NOT EXPECT SWEEP IN ELECTION

Eight Late Members Have Good Chance; Others Mostly Nominal

LONDON, Oct. 28.—(By Canadian Press Cable)—If the women candidates are elected tomorrow in any considerable numbers it is safe to say that nobody will be more surprised than the women's organizations themselves, as anything like a sweep by the 41 women in the field is not looked for.

Of the eight women members in the last parliament, the Duchess of Atholl, Conservative, Kinross and western division of Perth, and Kinross, will probably defeat the Labor candidate, H. McDiarmid, in a straight fight.

Miss Susan Lawrence, Labor, Northeast Ham, is opposed by Conservative and Liberal candidates, as was the case last year, and she may hope to scrape through again.

Lady Astor, Conservative, seems to be fairly certain of reelection in the Sutton division of Plymouth. She is again opposed by Capt. G. W. Brennan, Liberal, who was in the fight in Sutton last year.

Mrs. Wintringham Has Hard Fight

Mrs. Margaret Wintringham, Liberal, who meets Colonel Heneage, Conservative, is again engaged in a straight fight, as was the case in 1923, and her chances are considered doubtful.

Lady Terrington, Liberal, who is faced by General Knox, Conservative, and P. Young, Labor, also has a rocky road to travel to win.

The remaining former lady members of the house of commons appear to have fair chances of being reelected. These are: Mrs. Hilton Philipson, Conservative, Berwick-Upon-Tweed; Miss Margaret Bonfield, Labor, parliamentary secretary to the minister of labor, Northampton, and Miss Dorothea Jewson, Labor, Norwich.

Most of the newcomers among the women seeking seats in parliament are tackling well night impossible propositions. It is scarcely concealed nor denied that several of them have been put up merely to arouse interest in the parties they espouse in the localities concerned.

Lack Funds

Lack of funds among the women candidates, with one obvious exception, is hardly denied. Many societies that are advocating equal political rights between the sexes have appealed only with moderate success for workers and speakers on behalf of the women candidates, irrespective of party.

As stated just after the official nominations, there are 41 women candidates, 12 Conservative, 6 Liberals and 22 Labor, and 1 independent.

STOCKS DISPLAY IMPROVED TONE

Buying, However, Is of a Cautious Character; Sugars Weak

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Stock prices displayed an improved tone in today's market despite the recurrent weakness in some of the sugar and motor shares. Buying, however, was of a cautious character.

United States Steel common closed ⅞ higher at 108¼. Total earnings of $30,718,415 for the third quarter, made public after market closed, were somewhat smaller than expected and failed by a small margin to cover the full dividend requirements for that period although the net surplus for the first nine months is in excess of $25,000,000. A regular dividend of $1.25 and an extra of 50c on the common were declared for the fourth successive time.

There was a revival of speculative interest in the rails. Lehigh Valley, Atchison, Union Pacific and Canadian Pacific advanced 1 to 1½ of a point.

Sears Roebuck common crossed 116 to the highest price in four years on the announcement that the directors would retire the preferred stock, which also advanced 4½ points to a new top at 125½. Woolworth climbed more than 2 points to 109¾. American Smelting & Refining sold above 80 for the first time since 1919.

Weakness of American Sugar Refining, which established a new minimum at 36¼, was attributed to the omission of the common dividend on several sugar refiners.

Call money renewed at 2½ per cent and then advanced to 3 per cent. The American Acceptance council advanced the rate on call loans secured by acceptances from 2 per cent to 2¼ per cent.

Total sales, 709,700 shares.

Money AT WORK

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments.

If a retailer owns his own store, has he an advantage over one who must rent a site?

Some storeowners say: "I rent my own store and have no rent to pay." It is true that such a merchant does not have to hand over $100 each month to a landlord, but a rental expense must be levied against his business just the same. If he were not occupying the store, he could rent it and derive an income from it. In figuring up his profits he should not forget to deduct the amount he would have received as rent if some other man were occupying his store.

Accountants often carry accounts on the books which charge expenses against the business equivalent to rent. Some items of expense incurred by owning a store are taxes, depreciation, repairs, insurance and interest on capital invested in the building and land.

TWO BULL MOOSE CHARGE IN TURN

Yukon Hunter Has Two Narrow Escapes in a Few Seconds

DAWSON, Y.T., Oct. 28.—The rare occurrence of an unmolested moose attacking a man was the experience for Chris Olson, hunter and trapper of Indian River.

A bull moose charged him furiously from the concealment of green timber. Olson took a flying shot, hitting the moose in the head, but the next instant the moose hurled him to the ground, goring him in the thigh, hand and head. At the moment when Olson thought he would have succumbed, the moose keeled over, and Olson scrambled to his feet.

As he picked up his gun a second bull moose charged him, but he managed to drop the animal in the last 10 feet.

The supposition is that the two animals had challenged each other to battle, and Olson happened to pass between them as they drew together.

MIDWEST MINERS LAY DOWN TOOLS

Object to Position of Deadweight Pan as Reducing Weight

CALGARY, Alta., Oct. 28.—A special to the Albertan tonight from Drumheller says:

"The miners at the Midwest Coal company mine, Drumheller, laid down their tools at 8 o'clock this morning, declaring a strike, until the company readjusts the dead-weight pan and returns it to last year's position. This year the company has raised the bottom of the dead-weight sheet about eight inches and put a tie underneath it, instead of allowing the dead-weight sheet to lie level, the same as last year. The men claim the altered position is that the coal, jumping off it on to the screen, has a tendency to smash up the lump coal, with results in a consequent reduction in the weight of a car."

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—James B. Forgan, for more than a quarter of a century one of the leading bankers of the middle western states, and formerly connected with the Bank of British North America and the Bank of Nova Scotia, at Montreal and Halifax, died here tonight after an illness of a few days.

MEIGHEN SAYS CAMPAIGN WAS VILE IN QUEBEC

"Meighen's Hands Red With Your Sons' Blood;" Yankee Repeaters

CALGARY, Oct. 28.—Speaking at a Conservative executive meeting here this afternoon, Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, leader of the opposition, termed the Liberal campaigns in Rimouski and St. Antoine, Que., the "basest, vilest racial appeal ever known."

He said a minister of the crown had appealed to the women of Rimouski, asking if they were "going to vote for this man Meighen, whose hands are red with the blood of your sons."

Hon. R. B. Bennett, K.C., one-time minister of justice, in a supporting address, said that in Rimouski one woman had voted 46 times and one man from the New England states had voted 106 times, and then the results had been blazoned across the country.

The remainder of their addresses were devoted mostly to a criticism of the King government.

"Windy" Shot Fires Dust in Colliery; Three Are Killed

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Oct. 28.—Three shot-firers were instantly killed while working in the Black Hawk mine, near here, last night. A dust explosion followed the "windy" shot and set fire to the mine.

The mine is still burning, impeding the work of rescue parties. The mine is owned by the Miami Coal company and employs 150 men.

Canadian Mine Manager Shot by Mexican Bandits

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—C. D. Hodsen, a Canadian, manager of the Arroya mine of the Mazapil Copper company of Zacatecas, was killed last night by bandits, who entered his home and shot him to death, according to a dispatch from Mexico City to the New York Evening World.

The dispatch adds that the United States ambassador has made "the customary representations on behalf of Great Britain."

The commission mentions the names of 19 local firms. The date for the opening of the inquiry will be announced later.

RUSSIA PLEASED AT NEW RECOGNITION

Soviet Agrees to Send Delegates to Paris to Settle Problems at Issue

MOSCOW, Oct. 28.—M. Tchitcherin, commissioner for foreign affairs, today received from Premier Herriot a note conveying France's full and unconditional recognition de jure of the Soviet government. An immediate exchange of ambassadors is suggested.

Russian Reply Received

PARIS, Oct. 28.—Russia accepts with satisfaction the official recognition of France, accorded her by the Herriot government today.

The Russian reply to the French notification was received at a late hour tonight. The Soviet government agrees to send delegates to Paris to effect a friendly settlement of the problems at issue between the two countries.

Premier Herriot's telegram announcing France's recognition of the Soviet expressed the belief that the resumption of diplomatic relations between France and Russia would be the preface of a general agreement.

BUY ANNUITIES FOR MINISTERS

Eastern Baptists Adopt New Plan Which Removes the Gratuity

LONDON, Ont., Oct. 28.—The 36th annual convention of Baptist churches of Ontario and Quebec today adopted a new system of superannuation for Baptist ministers in the form of a retiring annuity fund through the purchase of annuity contracts of the government of Canada.

The plan was introduced in the report of the superannuation board to "remove the gratuity feature and substitute a contract governing the moral and legal rights of retiring ministers."

The plan calls for a retiring annuity of every minister over 65 years of age which will be about half his average salary during his term in the ministry, and is based on "contract and equality treatment."

CADDIE INVENTED HAGEN KIDNAPPING

Confesses He Ran Away; Attorney Announces Suit for Defamation

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Robert Burns Boughan, the Chicago caddie whose story that he had been kidnaped by Walter Hagen, professional golfer, resulted in the issuance of a Chicago warrant for Hagen's arrest, admitted today that he had told the story to his parents in an endeavor to cover the fact that he had run away from home, according to word received by W. G. Marvin, the golfer's attorney, over the telephone from Kansas City.

Mr. Marvin announced tonight that he will have his associates in Chicago enter suit tomorrow against the Boughan family for defamation of Hagen's character.

CONSTABLES SHOOT BORDER FUGITIVE

Kill Man Escaping From Custody; Coroner's Jury Exonerates Them

WINNIPEG, Oct. 28.—After deliberating 10 minutes a coroner's jury tonight exonerated Constables J. H. Gilbert and F. G. Lepper of the R.C.M.P., for the shooting of John Pearson, a Swedish laborer, who was killed this morning during a running gun battle with the police at Emerson, Man.

The man had escaped from the custody of the immigration authorities after having been arrested for illegal entry into Canada. The verdict said:

"He was shot and killed while 'resisting lawful arrest'."

The constables, who surrendered to the provincial police immediately after the shooting, were released tonight.

Pearson is said to have relatives living in Minneapolis.

WOMAN FROM CELLS CLAIMS SHE PAID CHIEF

Paid Belanger Regularly for Protection; Sent Champagne

MONTREAL, Oct. 28.—Immediate suspension of Chief of Police Belanger, on the ground that he had given his evidence in "bad faith," was the demand made upon Mr. Justice Coderre today by J. P. Lanctot, counsel for petitioners for the inquiry into Montreal police affairs, when the investigation was resumed this evening.

At one stage of the inquiry the evidence was of such a nature that Mr. Justice Coderre, investigating commissioner, requested the press representative to refrain from reporting a part of the testimony.

The presiding judge declared that he would reflect on the application over night.

Two Years to Get Action

Attempts that were ineffectual for two years to have the police act in the matter of closing up a disorderly house, operated by Rose David—the petitioners, and at present serv-the petitioners, and at present serving in jail—were related by Rev. Father Perrier, cure of St. Infant Jesus. He had been told by the members of the Moral league of his church that this was a "police house," and could not be closed, because it was under police protection.

In her evidence, Rose David testified of having gone to the chief's office on numerous occasions and paying him $10 bills; also of having sent champagne to his house at his request.

The woman declared the chief had warned her of impending raids in her establishment.

Borrowed From Subordinate

Further examined with regard to his borrowings from members of the police force, Chief Belanger today said he had borrowed $100 from Constable Conrad Lagault since he had become chief of police.

He had received presents from a Mr. Gagnon, shoe manufacturer, and a man named Medleau, a restaurant owner, but denied ever having received a pair of sleeve links from Tony Frank, the executed murderer.

DAVIS, LaFOLLETTE INVADE NEW YORK

Former Addresses Negroes; Latter Attacks Wall Street Colossus

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—The presidential campaign continued on its furious course today, voters from the rock-ribbed coasts of Maine to the sunny slopes of California receiving suggestions from candidates and their friends to vote for Calvin Coolidge, for John W. Davis or for Senator La Follette.

Confident of the outcome of the election, President Coolidge has no further plans for active participation in the campaign.

Equality of opportunity for all, regardless of race or creed or color, was advocated tonight by Mr. Davis, Democratic candidate for president, in an address delivered in New York's Harlem before a capacity crowd of negroes gathered in Liberty hall.

Appealing to the voters of New York to support his candidacy for the presidency, Senator La Follette devoted an address tonight in Brooklyn almost entirely to an attack on "Wall street," which he declared controls the economic and political life of the nation.

SAYS LABOR HAS RUSSIA ON BRAIN

Sir Auckland Geddes Says Peace Comes Before Learning Freedom

LONDON, Oct. 28. — Sir Auckland Geddes, former ambassador at Washington, plunged into the political campaign in a speech in the south of London tonight.

He confined himself largely to foreign affairs, and declared that the Labor government had built up a bad record. While carrying out their part to help Germany they had failed to play a part which would help the British working man.

He attacked the Russian loan, which, he said, the British would "have the pleasure of paying back later on." He declared that the Labor government had Russia on the brain, and added:

"I am altogether in favor of trade with Russia, but I do not want to go to Russia to learn what freedom is. We require a government which will first and foremost look after peace, as it is only in peace that British trade can proceed."

LADY ASTOR DEFIES RAIN AND RUSSIANS

Denounces Socialism Consistently; Finishes Campaign as Rain Falls

PLYMOUTH, Eng., Oct. 28.—The campaign here wound up today in torrents of oratory and a heavy downpour of rain. Lady Astor, from first to last, has opposed the Russian loan and denounced Socialism.

The excitement of the campaign has been intense, but despite the strong opposition Lady Astor has had from various quarters, she is expected by her partisans to win by thousands of votes. Her message to the electors on the eve of the polling was:

"Reform without revolution; peace without peril; change, but not chaos. Only constitutional progress will give us work, prosperity and better conditions."

Tonight Lady Astor delivered an address to thousands of persons in the open air outside the headquarters of the Conservative party. She spoke notwithstanding a torrential rainfall. After outlining her policy she said to her audience: "Now that you know what I stand for, tomorrow you will know what I sit for."

VICTORIA, Oct. 28.—North Okanagan will not secure the $100,000 irrigation grant which it is seeking from the provincial government, it was intimated officially today, after a delegation of fruit growers had interviewed the premier.

The fruit men asked the government to expend $43,000 on irrigation improvments this year and the balance of the $100,000 later as the work progressed.

Hon. T. D. Pattullo is not favorably disposed toward the spending of the money desired by the fruit men at this time.

The delegation which met Premier Oliver declared that the expenditure of money had been promised by Dr. K. C. MacDonald, former member.

WITH WEEK TO GO GRAHAME MAY WIN

Farrington Leads by Six Eggs, but Grahame Crawls Up

With only one week to go, with Farrington brothers' pen leading with 2332 eggs, and 14 for the week, and Grahame's hens creeping up on him with a total of 2326 eggs, and 24, or 10 more, laid during the week, the egg contest being carried on at Agassiz is proving excitingly close. Should one or more of the Farrington hens stop moulting and begin to lay again in this the last week of the contest, that pen may still win. But if Grahame's hens maintain their weekly standard or raise it, they have a very good chance of coming first.

Rump & Sendall come next with 2312 eggs, and M. H. Ruttledge, who led for so long, follow with 2304.
