ENGINEER KILLED AND FIREMAN HURT IN DERAILMENT UPON THE SLOCAN BRANCH

KILLER NABBED IN PARLOR CAR BESIDE BRIDE

Martin Durkin, Chicago Gunman, Wanted for Three Deaths

DETECTIVES END A THREE MONTHS' JOB

Wrestler Leaps on Him; Smiling Crook Admits Escapades

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Jan. 20. — Trailed three months by department of justice agents, one of whose number he had slain, Martin J. Durkin, aged 26 notorious Chicago criminal, was captured here today. The much sought slayer, described in police circulars as "very dangerous" and "quick to draw," fell into a trap prepared by department agents, city detectives and railroad employees, and was overpowered in the drawing room of a "Frisco-Katy" train upon arrival at Webster Groves, a suburb, from San Antonio, Texas.

A revolver, an automatic pistol and a belt of cartridges were lying on a card table in the drawing room.

"I would have shot it out with you if you had given me a chance," Durkin told his captors. "You got me too quick."

Bride Just Suspicions

With Durkin was an attractive woman, his bride since December 4. They were married in East St. Louis. She said she was formerly Miss Irma Sullivan, aged 21, of Cornall, Ill., and had no idea her husband was wanted by the police. She did not become suspicious, she said, until he abandoned the automobile at San Antonio.

Durkin, who gave his name as James Durkie of St. Louis, in applying for the marriage licence, has been variously called the "sheik robber" and "prince charming." He continued to smile after his arrest, and nonchalantly admitted his desperate escapades. It was noticed he had shaved his tiny moustache since leaving Chicago.

Three Deaths

He is charged with the murder of Edward C. Shanahan, department of justice operative, who was shot to death at Chicago last October 11, when he attempted to arrest Durkin for an automobile theft. He also is charged with murder of Police Sergeant Harry Gray, who was fatally wounded October 29, when he trapped Durkin in a Chicago house, only to have Durkin shoot his way out. Lloyd Austin, a civilian, was killed in the exchange of bullets.

The capture of Durkin was accomplished neatly. Detective Dowd knocked on the door of the drawing room. It swung open and Durkin stood before them.

At Drawing Room Door

Detective Ising, a wrestler, sprang at the fugitive and clamped a wrist lock on his right arm. Dowd seized him around the waist, and both began to drag him from the room.

"Durkin, we've got you," Dowd said. "We've got you at last."

"You've made a mistake. I'm Valentine," the gunman protested, trying to pull away.

"Valentine?" Dowd replied, shoving him into a seat. "I'd know you in a million, Durkin."

The prisoner then admitted his identity.

NOT GUILTY OF PARTNER'S DEATH

Chilco Lake Trapper Freed by a Prince George Jury

PRINCE GEORGE, Jan. 20. — The trial of Fred Cyr on a charge of murdering his partner, Alex. Ducharme, well known old-time trapper at Chilco Lake, last November, was held in assize court here today, and resulted in the acquittal of the accused.

First intimation that Ducharme had been killed was when Cyr arrived at Williams Lake and gave himself up to the provincial police there. He made a statement in writing admitting he had shot Ducharme, but claiming he had done so in self-defence.

This statement, and that of two or three men, including Dr Agnew and the police officers who investigated the case, was the only evidence submitted to the jury.

SAYS HE FIRED ONLY TO STOP HIS ASSAILANT

Overwhelmed With Emotion, Chidgey Tells How He Killed

CALGARY, Jan. 20. — "The car stopped and a man came running at me. I knew it was Taylor, and realized that I had been led into a trap. He made a pass at me, and I jumped back—he came on again, and I fired—I didn't mean to kill him. I aimed at his legs, just to stop him. When I fired I heard my wife shout 'Don't hit him, shoot me!'"

Gasping for breath, and almost overwhelmed with emotion, L. W. Chidgey, local blacksmith, took the witness stand in his own defence at the night session of his trial on a charge of murdering R. E. S. Taylor, and told the jury of the things which led up to the shooting and the actual killing of Taylor.

Chokes With Emotion

Smiling at times, and seemingly perfectly at ease, Chidgey's direct examination consumed one hour and a half, but when he reached the point where he was called upon to describe the actual shooting, Chidgey's whole demeanor underwent a complete change. He seemed to be almost choked with emotion, and in gasping sentences he described to the court the shooting of Taylor.

"Did you intend to kill Taylor?" asked McKinley Cameron, defence counsel, after Chidgey had described the shooting.

"No, sir," he said, "I did not. I didn't want to kill anybody. I didn't want blood on my hands. I fired at his legs and I thought that that would stop him. When Taylor fell I heard a noise from the car, and thinking that someone else was coming at me, I turned and ran."

BANKER'S BODY TO COME HOME

William Davidson Collapsed on Pasadena Golf Course

PASADENA, Cal., Jan. 20.—Funeral arrangements for William S. Davidson, retired capitalist and banker of Sherbrooke, Que., are being held in abeyance pending arrival of his brother, Robert G. Davidson of Portland, Ore., who is due Thursday or Friday. The body probably will be returned immediately to Sherbrooke after brief services here.

Davidson died Monday while playing golf at the Midwick Country club. He collapsed suddenly as he approached the sixteenth hole. Carried to the club house by his three partners, he was pronounced dead upon arrival of a doctor. Heart disease was ascribed as the cause of death.

Davidson came here three months ago for a vacation with Mrs. Davidson, who is now at the Maryland hotel. Mr. Davidson was formerly a member of the firm of J. A. Wattle company of London. He retired from active business about five years ago. He was 53 years old.

Pas Physician Takes His Life

DAUPHIN, Man., Jan. 20.—Dr. J. D. Jones, formerly of the Pas, Man., was found dead in bed at the local hotel today. He committed suicide.

Dr. Jones, who was 37 years old, suffered from war disabilities, being in ill-health since returning from overseas.

PIRATES, AGENTS BATTLE FOR THE LIQUOR BOOTY

Agents Lie in Wait Until Runners Have All on Deck

THEN THEY SWOOP UPON THE VESSEL

As They Remove the Prize, River Pirates Return to Battle

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Like pirates of old who fought for their booty, a gang of river pirates and rum runners battled with 10 customs agents today to regain cordials and champagnes valued at $10,000. Fists flew and shots were fired during the 15-minute struggle.

Watch Suspected Ship

The gang was routed without getting the liquor.

Lying in wait on a pier in the Erie basin, in the Red Hoook section of Brooklyn, the customs men watched for the expected removal of the liquor from the Belgium steamer Caucasian.

Shortly after midnight two automobiles and a truck arrived at the pier, and several men boarded the ship. Nearly an hour later a man walked down the gang plank carrying a heavy bag. The customs men swooped from their hiding places and rushed for the deck. Aboard they found the champagne and cordials, one brand, which was labled "The Fountain of Youth," said to retail at $30 a pint.

The customs men gathered the contrabrand, and had taken it to the pier when they were attacked by men who seemed to come from every direction. On the dark pier the fight raged for 15 minutes, with pistol shots ringing out above the melee.

Losing in the fight, the attacking gang fled, some in motor launches, and others in the automobiles waiting at the pier front. Apparently none of them had been hit by bullets.

The customs men had black eyes, torn clothing—and the champagne and cordials.

ITALIAN BODIES IN SWITZERLAND DEFY DICTATOR

Refuse to Dissolve Under Mussolini's Order; Swiss Rule

LONDON, Jan. 20.—The Geneva correspondent of the Daily Express reports that Premier Mussolini of Italy is being openly defied by the Italian chambers of commerce in Zurich, Lugano and Geneva, Switzerland, the majority of whose directors are republicans.

The Geneva chamber, which is the headquarters of the three bodies, has refused to receive Commander Ferrati, sent there by Mussolini with a royal decree ordering the dissolutions.

Mussolini's step is denounced by the chambers as illegal, since they were established under the Swiss civil code, and it is expected, the correspondent says, that the Swiss government will take action in the matter.

The theory is advanced by the Italian Republicans that the premier seeks to close the chambers with the object of reopening them with Fascist instead of Republican officials.

ETHEL LEGINSKA MISSING AGAIN

Temperamental Pianiste Leads Police Search; Isn't Found Yet

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Jan. 20. — Ethel Leginska, temperamental English pianist, failed to appear for a scheduled concert here tonight under circumstances much the same as those under which she absented herself from a similar engagement at Carnegie hall, in New York last spring.

She showed her first symptoms of a recurring Gotham temperament when she arrived here late this afternoon.

"I don't want to ride in your old yellow cabs."

"I won't play the piano tonight. I want my symphony orchestra," she said. "I want to go to the McCurdy hotel. I won't go any place but the McCurdy."

Local police and detectives, unaccustomed to trailing pianists with expensive temperaments, searched everywhere they could think of, including the Ohio river, the hospitals, the libraries and the homes of prominent citizens, but Ethel was at least an octave ahead of them.

CHURCH BACKS TRUSTEES WHO FIRED PASTOR

He was Associating With the Attacks on McMaster University

TORONTO, Jan. 20.—By a vote of 160 to 112 a meeting of the membership of Ossington Avenue Baptist church tonight sustained the stand of the board of trustees who dismissed Rev. G. W. Allen on the previous Wednesday because of his announcement that he would appear on the platform with Dr. T. T. Shields to support the protest movement against McMaster university in general, and against Professor Marshall in particular, because of their supposed modernist tendencies.

Two members of the board of trustees resigned tonight as a protest against the vote, and a motion was passed which will be sent to Thomas Urquhart, notifying him that he is no longer the legal adviser of the church.

The places of the trustees who resigned were immediately filled by new appointments.

NO CONSPIRACY IN RAIL ACTION

Minority Stockholders Fail in Suit for Accounting of $200,000,000

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—The tangled affairs of the old Denver & Rio Grande, Western Pacific, and Missouri Pacific railroads, which resulted in the bankruptcy of the first two roads, was not a conspiracy aimed at the minority stockholders of the Denver & Rio Grande.

That in substance was the meaning of the decision of Supreme Court Justice Mullen today, dismissing the action of the minority stockholders, who sought an accounting of $200,000,000 from the former directors of the road.

The 6000 stockholders represented as plaintiffs in the suit figure that as the amount of loss they suffered through the financial wrecking of the Denver.

Students Break Up Vienna Performance and Beat Up Jews

VIENNA, Jan. 20.—The production of John Galsworthy's play, "Loyalties," at the Rumanian National theater at Grosswardein Transylvania, was the cause of serious rioting.

Nationalist students, taking violent exception to the attitude of British aristocrats toward Jews as exemplified by the characters in the play, fell upon and beat the Jews in the audience, and forced abandonment of the performance, and the withdrawal of the play.

Motor Magnate Boosts Market From Sick Bed

NEW YORK, Jan. 20. — From his sick bed in a local hospital, William C. Durant, motor manufacturer, turned the stock market upward this afternoon by distributing buying orders for thousands of shares of Baldwin Locomotive and other companies in which he is interested.

Mr. Durant, who was injured in a railroad accident in Florida about 10 days ago, has kept in relatively close touch with the market from the hospital.

During the course of the present bull market Mr. Durant is reputed to have amassed a fortune of millions of dollars.

FARMERS WON'T ASK POOL ENTER ELEVATOR GAME

Wood Induces Big Alberta Convention to Vote it Down

WOULD SURELY WRECK THINGS

Farm Dictator Is Reelected for His Eleventh Year

CALGARY, Jan. 20.—The United Farmers of Alberta voted today against acquisition of elevator facilities by the Alberta wheat pool at the present time.

The question came before the convention in the form of a resolution, asking the convention to demand that the wheat pool board take immediate action toward acquiring elevator facilities.

Coupled in interest with the vote of the convention was a lengthy statement on the matter made by the president of the United Farmers of Alberta, H. W. Wood. He spoke, however, in his capacity as chairman of the board of directors of the Alberta wheat pool.

Mr. Wood was definite in his opposition to the acquisition of elevator facilities at the present time.

"You are going to drive the pools out of business if you drive them into premature elevator development," he said.

Somebody Planning to Wreck it

He declared it appeared to him as though there was a movement on foot to wreck the pool through an attempt to force it into acquiring elevator facilities. It would be possible, he said ,to force the pool to spend $15,000,000 or $20,000,000 for elevators. Then while the pool was loaded up with debt to make a real fight against it while it was financially embarrassed.

"It looks as though this movement might be getting some assistance from some of the farmers at the convention," he added.

The vote against the resolution followed his statement.

Earlier in the day Mr. Wood had been reelected for his eleventh term

MOVIES RESTORE CHILD TO ITS FOSTER MOTHER

Judge Uses Film Machine to Show Which of 'Mothers' Loved

DETROIT, Mich., Jan. 20. — Moving pictures today delivered a 4-year-old child to its foster-mother, when Judge Vincent Brennan in circuit court awarded custody of little Mabel Irene to Mrs. Irene Goosen. In doing so he denied the petition of the child's natural mother, Mrs. Julia Przybyla.

They Don't See Camera

The child had been under Mrs Goosen's charge since a week after its birth. In an effort to arrive at a just decision on the petition of the natural mother for the return of her child, Judge Brennan had the two women and the child stand before him last Saturday, when he announced that the child was to be sent to an institution. Concealed moving picture machines showed the reaction of the two women to this decision.

Judge Brennan and several psychologists yesterday viewed the film. He said today that he was giving custody of the child to Mrs Goosen because the film showed a much more logical emotional reaction on her part and also because of the willingness of the real mother to permit the child to be sent to an institution."

VERNON, Jan. 20.—The British Columbia Gruit Growers' association, in convention here, last night went on record favoring an increase of 20 per cent ad valorem on early importations of all kinds of fruits and vegetables that are grown in Canada.

Tariff matters generally were considered, and the conclusion reached that the fruit growers of the province could not consistently ask for tariff reductions on implements, and at the same time make requests for an increase in protection on the products of the orchard.

NINE BURIED IN GRAVEL, CEMENT

Two Wriggle Out Alive, Seven Still Under; Negro Killed

CHICAGO, Jan. 20. — One workman was killed and seven others are believed to be buried tonight under tons of sand, gravel and cement in the basement of a north side building under construction. A huge hopper over the basement, into which motor trucks dumped sand and gravel, collapsed, burying the workmen alive.

Firemen and policemen, a few minutes after the accident, started digging for the men believed buried. Two workmen, buried near the top of the pile, wriggled out with minor injuries and joined in the excavating.

The dead man was a negro and his body was cut in two by an iron girder. Workers hope to find the bodies before daybreak.

ENGINE LEAVES RAILS ON CURVE; BEHEADS DRIVER

Fireman Duffy Has Scalds; Baggage Crew Tipped but Unhurt

PASSENGER COACHES REMAIN ON TRACK

No Explanation for Early Morning Accident at Crescent Valley

George Storrar, aged 52 years, engineer of the Canadian Pacific railway, was instantly killed, and James Duffy, fireman, was slightly scalded and received back bruises, when the engine and baggage car of the outgoing Slocan branch train were derailed five miles north of South Slocan at 6:20 o'clock yesterday morning. Storrar was leaning on the sill of the right side window of the engine when it derailed, and his body was pinned beneath the engine, his head and left arm being cut off. Duffy escaped with minor injuries.

Baggage Car Tips, Too

The point at which the engine and baggage car were derailed was a sharp curve to the left, and there being no broken rail, the reason for the derailment is not known. The baggage car turned over partly on one side when it struck the side of the bank, and still lies at an angle to the track. Baggagemen Dan McLean and C. Kelman and Express Messenger Leo McKinnon, although uninjured, received quite a shock.

Both passenger coaches behind to the baggage car stayed on the tracks, but the passengers were severely shaken up, though no one reported any injuries.

Rush Auxiliary Train

Word of the accident was phoned to the Nelson dispatcher from South Slocan, and an auxiliary train, to which was attached the private car of W. O. Miller, division superintendent, in which were Mr. Miller, J. McFadyen, master mechanic, and Dr. J. H. Bennett, left Nelson at about 8 o'clock with a crew of about 25 men.

By the time the auxiliary train arrived at South Slocan on its return trip with the passengers, the incoming Rossland train was almost due, and the passengers took that train into Nelson, which arrived here at about 10 o'clock. Dr. Bennett brought the injured fireman in on the Rossland train, and he was taken to his own home.

Passengers warmly praised Mrs. Winstanly of Crescent Valley, who carried tea and refreshments for over a mile to them, in the darkness, after the accident became known.

Lift Engine Off Body

At the site of the derailment, using the crane, the auxiliary crew worked continuously for several hours before the body of Storrar was extricated from under the engine. At 8:10 o'clock last night, the auxiliary train, bearing the body of the engineer, and pulling the two coaches and private car, arrived at the Nelson depot. The body was taken to the Robertson undertaking parlors. Tonight the I. O. O. F. and Rebekahs, and the brotherhood will hold services at the parlors, and then escort the body to the Crow boat, to be shipped to Cranbrook, subject to today's inquest.

Mr. Storrar, for many years an engineer on the Cranbrook division, only two days ago was transferred to this division, his wife accompanying him here. She was on her way back to Cranbrook yesterday morning when she received a message on the boat while at Procter, and returned to Nelson at once.

Leaves Three Kiddies

The late engineer also leaves three children, two sons George, 11; and Robert, seven; and one daughter, Jean, aged two.

The coroner, Dr. H. H. MacKenzie, accompanied by Constable Hugh W. King of the provincial police, went out to the scene of the accident by car yesterday forenoon, and investigated the accident, returned to the city again at 8 o'clock last evening.

Dr. MacKenzie announced that an inquest would be held at the court [illegible] at 10 o'clock this morning.

While the engine is clear of the track, the baggage car still obstructs the line.

The train was going out on the inter schedule, taking through passengers for Revelstoke, and local passengers for Slocan points.

Passengers coming south from points up to Revelstoke, who would have come through by this train, on its home trip, last night, will arrive in Nelson this morning by the Kaslo boat.

Halifax Will Spend Money to Get Trade

HALIFAX, Jan. 20.—At the annual meeting of the Halifax board of trade, the incoming council was instructed by resolution to raise a fund to be expended over a period of three years in an endeavor to attract business to the port.

It was pointed out that a similar fund collected by the St. John board of trade has been productive of most satisfactory results.

COPENHAGEN, Jan. 20.—Madame Caroline Bjoernson, the "grand old woman of Norway," who has just celebrated her ninetieth birthday, a teetotaler for many years, has announced that she is going to have a drink of strong liquor now and then, "just to show her disapproval of prohibition."

"I hate interference and prohibition of any kind, and though I have never touched spirits I have made up my mind to have my schnapps from time to time, since it has been prohibited in Norway," she wrote to her son, Bjorn Bjoernson, actor-manager of the Norwegian National theater.

Madame Bjoernson is the widow of Norway's greatest national poet, Bjoernsterne Bjoernson. She is hale and hearty, and for years has taken an active interest in public affairs.

PAINS ALL OVER BODY

Two More Cases of Feminine Illness Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Barrington, N. S.—"I had terrible feelings, headaches, back and side aches and pains all over my body. I would have to go to bed every month and nothing would do me good. My husband and my father did my work for me as I have two children and we have quite a big place. I read in the paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and then got a little book about it through the mail, and my husband sent to Eaton's and got me a bottle, and then we got more from the store. I am feeling fine now and do all my work and am able to go out around more. I tell my friends it is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that makes me feel so well."—Mrs. VICTOR RICHARDSON, Barrington, Nova Scotia.

MOTHERS AND THEIR CHILDREN

BABY'S BIB

One Mother says:

I make the baby's bib of white oilcloth, cut straight across the bottom. When he starts to eat, I turn it up at the bottom about three inches and fasten it loosely with manuscript clips, forming an open pocket. Whatever he drops does not go to the floor or on his rompers, but is caught in the bib and can be easily opened and washed when he has finished. A small button at each end of the string prevents him from pulling it into a knot.

PRODUCE MEET FOR NEW WORDS

OTTAWA, Jan. 20.—A. W. Bayman, Ottawa, was elected president of the Canadian Produce association at the closing session of the convention today. Other officers are: First vice-president, C. M. Henderson Montreal, and second vice-president C. P. Rhodes, Edmonton; A. P. McLean, Regina, was elected to the board of directors.

The convention recommended abolition of the present terminology in the grading of eggs, urging that the terms extras, standards and mediums, replace the old names of extras, firsts and seconds.

G. H. Barr, Toronto, in an address declared that grading of cheese and butter had done more than any other thing toward improving those industries. Grading of cream would come into effect early this season.

DEBATE ON THE ADDRESS TAKES ON NEW ANGLES

Only Manitoba Liberal Is for Revising Rail Capitalization

SIR GEORGE PERLEY FOR NEW ACCOUNTS

Doucet of Maritimes Asks for Equalization of Treatment

OTTAWA, Jan. 20.—Supporters of the government and of the Conservative opposition furnished the speakers during today's brief sitting of the house of commons.

Debate on the address was continued by J. P. Howden of St. Boniface, the only Liberal return from Manitoba. He emphasized the importance of the transportation problem. If the primary products of the Dominion could be moved to the central markets, one of the real difficulties confronting Canadians would have been removed. Immediate construction of the Hudson Bay railway was essential to the west, he said.

From the Conservative benches, Sir George Perley, member for Argenteuil, declared his belief in a protective tariff, advised economy in the administration of the country's affairs, and emphasized the importance of keeping Canadians in Canada.

He was folowed by F. G. Sanderson, Liberal, South Perth, who supported the idea of a tariff advisory board. Such a board would bring the tariff down to a "sane, common sense basis," Mr. Sanderson said.

A. J. Doucet, Conservative, Kent, N.B., continued the debate until 6 o'clock, when the house adjourned until tomorrow afternoon.

Would Write Down Capital

Mr. Howden, in his speech, asserted the national railways were over-capitalized. Steps should be taken to write off the over-capitalization and give the road a chance to make some return, he said.

"We in Canada are going to have the Hudson Bay railway," emphatically declared Mr. Howden. The immediate completion of this railway was essential to the west.

Sir George Perley, Conservative, Argenteuil, criticised the minister of agriculture for his defence of the Petersen contract. He read from the president's report of the London Maritime Trading company, in which it was stated that had the contract been put into effect, it would have meant considerable profit through the association of Sir William Petersen with the company. Conservatives had always felt that the contract would never bring relief to shippers, said Sir George.

Everybody knew where the Conservative party stood on tariff, he said, but no one was sure where the government stood. Tariff on farm products should be as high as that of the United States. There could be no possible argument in favor of the three cents per dozen tariff against American eggs while the United States had an eight-cent tariff against Canadian.

Perley on Emigration

Speaking on immigration, Sir George said he had found that in the past three years settlers' effects valued at $18,000,000 had been admitted to Canada, while $26,00,000 worth of settlers' effects had been exported. During the last four years, 460,000 immigrants had come to Canada, while 466,000 persons had left Canada for the United States, and of these only 15,000 had returned. There were two reasons for this emigration, first, because conditions did not afford proper opportunities, and second, because the United States welcomed Canadians on account of their ability.

"Let us try to adopt some way by which we can keep our people here," he said.

Sir George urged that the system of accounting should be so changed that Canada's financial affairs could be presented in a form which ordinary people would understand. He believed that under the present system the debt statement did not present a straightforward picture of the Dominion's finance, especially as regards railway indebtedness.

The utmost vigilance should be practiced by the government, he said, to prevent unnecessary public expenditure. For one thing, he said, expenditure was not justified on such public works as the Prince Rupert elevator, which he described as unnecessary.

Premier's Search for Seat

If Premier King could go to Prince Albert in search of a seat in parliament, Sir George did not see why he did not go to Bagot in December. Providence had provided him with a seat in Bagot, and yet he had passed it up. It had been sugested that Mr. King was afraid to run in Bagot.

Sir George had always found Premier King very courteous, but, he added, "I have not much confidence in him, and I do not think this house has either."

The premier had failed to carry out most of the things he undertook to do.

An Ontario Liberal

M. G. Sanderson, Liberal, South Perth, followed, making his first speech in parliament. In Ontario, especially in the western part, the issue in the last election was mainly on the tariff. The tariff had been the "political football" of the two old parties. Agriculture was the basic industry of the country, and he thought that the cities and towns had been stampeded by the tariff, and voted for what they called "higher protection."

"The country also," interjected J. D. Chaplin, Conservative, Lincoln.

"Not all the country," replied Mr. Sanderson. Out of six townships in South Perth he had received a majority in five of them.

If, stated Mr. Sanderson, the export of Canadian natural products were increased, and farmers prospered, the manufacturers and others would automatically benefit.

A. J. Doucet, Conservative, Kent, after brief preliminary compliments to the speaker upon his election, in French, reviewed the effect of the general election in the maritime provinces.

Maritime Rights

Premier King had evaded the issue when he said that he did not know what maritime rights were, asserted Mr. Doucet. Mr. Meighen had admitted that he knew what maritime rights were, and had expressed his determination to cope with them if he was returned to power.

One of the first things to be considered was the transportation of Canadian coal to the Canadian market. The duty of any government was to strive to bring about an equalization of conditions in every part of the Dominion, and to give fair play to the people of the maritimes, or to any other section of the country.

Mr. Doucet did not believe the result of the last election indicated a want of faith by Quebec in the tariff policy of the Conservative party. Other considerations had been exaggerated until they obscured the tariff issue, and he believed that if the average elector of Quebec could be sounded out on the tariff question, it would be found he was in favor of Mr. Meighen's tariff policy.

Mr. Doucet had not finished when the house adjourned at the close of the day.

as president of the United Farmer of Alberta, and had declared that an export duty on wheat was a very visible menace to the farmer and had asked the delegates to fight this "infernal thing to death."

The convention discussed a resolution from the board which would have changed the date of the convention from the winter to the summer, and decided to refer the question back to the locals for discussions.

There was a large support for a resolution asking the board to "give serious consideration" to a telegraph invitation from the Edmonton board of trade asking that the 1927 convention be held in that city.

Cooperative marketing, and reports and resolutions on that subject, was the main business before the convention.

There had been considerable debate both for and against the purpose of the resolution when Mr. Wood began. He said he hesitated about speaking on the matter but that he believed that cooperative marketing of farm products was the most important development of the day for the farmer.

Can't Afford Mistake

"I am convinced of one thing," he went on, "that we have not got time to make the mistake which is going to set us back.

"We are operating a wheat pool in the three western provinces, and we will handle more than $200,000,000 of the farmers' money this year. Nothing like it has ever been accomplished.

"There is one danger today threatening this wheat pool. I have heard men in this convention who say that unless the wheat board take immediate action in the construction of elevators to handle this wheat, they will not join the pool any more. I want to tell you if that is the attitude, and if there are enough people to involve the life or death of this pool, this pool has not one chance in 50 of surviving.

The Grading Myth

"Some of them give their reasons why it should be done immediately. For instance, as one said, we are not getting the right grade of our wheat. Another reason is that the elevator companies are offering higher grades on nonpool wheat, and that it is costing us too much to handle our wheat through the elevators.

"With regard to getting the right grade on your wheat, you have got exactly the same protection right now under the present system in regard to your grades that you will have if the pool builds elevators.

"I thought for some time that people were acting very foolish in connection with the elevator development, but I am beginning to hear a little, and there may be method in their madness. If they can get us to spend $5,000,000 or $10,000,000 for elevators and operate them, and then build terminal elevators to handle the wheat, and then make the real fight against the pool while we are financially embarrassed, I am not sure whether they are not very much wiser than we have given them credit for.

"We are dealing with things the magnitude of which is almost beyond our conception. Are we big enough to take the responsibility that we have assumed in this work? If we do, we will have made a record that will go down in history just as long as there is history to write and men to read it. We can destroy this work, this effort, a hundred times easier than we can continue and build it."

Elevators Were Fair

Mr. Wood held that no pool had had fairer treatment from the elevator companies in the handling of wheat "than we have had in Alberta."

New Brunswick poultry exchange which was formed less than a year ago, has been handling during the last few weeks quantities of winter eggs equal to that handled by the Prince Edward Island exchange.

Demands Briand Appear Personally; Has Substitute Proposals

PARIS, Jan. 20.—The battle between Premier Briand's government and the cartel of the left reached another critical point today, when the finance committee of the chamber of deputies declared that it would have nothing more to do with Finance Minister Doumer.

This radical step was due to the sharp manner in which M. Doumer criticised the financial proposals put forward by the cartel and the methods of operation of the financial committee.

A resolution demanding that Premier Briand come before it in person had been adopted by the committee.

The premier has accepted this invitation, and pending his appearance, the committee today continued its discussion of the bills it proposes to offer as substitutes for the government plans. Premier Briand is understood to be in full accord with his finance minister.

RANEY TO HEAD PROHIBITION VAN

Calls on Rural Ontario to Rise and Save the Situation

TORONTO, Jan. 20.—Pointing with apprehension to Premier Ferguson's announcement that, instead of by direct votes of the people, the prohibition question would henceforth be handled solely by the government, W. E. Raney, provincial Progressive house leader, opened the prohibition-Progressive preelection campaign here this afternoon with an appeal to the people of rural Ontario to enter the fight and save the situation for the dry forces.

The gathering, which had been announced as "of interest to progressive-minded people," was held to commence the organization of North York for the provincial election, said to be coming in the early summer, and prior to the speaking the North York Progressive political association was formed.

May Stand in North York

Rumor had it locally after the meeting that since his present constituency, Wellington Center, had disappeared in the redistribution, Mr. Raney was slated to carry the Progressive banner in North York.

This the Progressive leader would neither affirm nor deny when interviewed. Asked for a statement, he simply said that he had heard nothing of the rumors.

At today's meeting it was decided to hold a convention for this riding in the town hall on February 4.

AMBASSADOR SAYS FRANCE WILL PAY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Henry Berenger, the new French ambassador, told President Coolidge today that France is resolved to settle the debts contracted for her defence, as promptly and as fully as her present and future possibilities will allow.

Presenting his letters to the president, the ambassador said: "France knows that the economic world cannot be brought back.

"We are convinced that the traditional friendship of the United States of America will make easier for France a progressive and orderly liquidation of the obligations bequeathed to her by the last war."

JURY ACQUITS HIM OF THEFT CHARGE

Freighter Muir Found Not Guilty of Taking Money in His Care

PRINCE GEORGE, Jan. 20.—Hugh Muir, employed by the Hudson's Bay company for some years as a freighter, last night was acquitted by the assize court jury on a charge of stealing $3000 from the company.

The money was intended as an advance to the company's agent at Fort Graham. Muir was making a trip in from Prince George with supplies, and a package alleged to have contained the money was entrusted to his care. The money for the Fort Graham agent was included in a package addressed to the company agent at MacLeod lake, to whom an advance of $2000 was also forwarded.

Muir delivered the money to the agent at MacLeod lake, but the $3000 advance never reached the agent at Fort Graham. The money passed through several hands, and was in transit about three days before it was delivered to Muir at Summit lake.

Pollution of Mississippi Affects Water Source

ST. PAUL, Jan. 20.—Bacteriologists are now diagnosing the serious illness of "The Father of Waters," who is suffering from a severe attack of "pollution," contracted from Twin Cities' sewers.

In its incipiency the trouble could have been remedied by a comparatively small sum, but now, engineers estimate, it will cost the Twin Cities approximately $25,000,000 for a cure.

Back in 1914 the Minneapolis city council discussed the pollution of the Upper Mississippi river, but no action was taken until the Minnesota States board of health recently warned the Twin Cities that something must be done. The sister cities voted $5000 jointly to test the Upper Mississippi at regular intervals to determine the extent and seriousness of the pollution.

Engineers have advised the construction of intercepting sewers flowing into a single huge disposal or settling tank for both cities. A plant of sufficient size would cost approximately $25,000,000 they estimate.

Municipalities along the Mississippi as far south as La Cross, Wis., have complained of the condition of the river.

SHERAN STATES CITY CHILDREN STEAL AND CUSS

He Wants Police Force to Look Into These Matters

SAYS CURFEW LAW IS NOT ENFORCED

Police Commission Has a Lively Meeting; Makes Recommendations

The new police commission held its first meeting in the city hall yesterday afternoon with Mayor J. A. McDonald, Commissioner J. J. French, P. J. Sheran, the new commissioner, who was elected by acclamation, Chief of Police Thomas H. Long, and W. E. Wasson, city clerk, present. The meeting was held chiefly mainly to adopt recommendations to go before the new city council at its first meeting tonight.

Mr. Wasson, as clerk, read the annual report of the chief of police, which was recently published, and lengthy discussions on items took place before recommendations were made.

Police Holiday Waits Over

The first matter brought up was whether the officers of the police force were to get one day out of each week for a holiday.

Commissioner French stated it took the whole three police officers to patrol the city efficiently, and with one man on his holiday, the other two certainly could not protect the city against crime.

It was decided to let this come up again at a later meeting.

Two recomendations were passed and will come up for discussion at the council meeting tonight. They are: (1) That the city secure a "suitable" typewriter for the city police office, as the one now on hand had outlived its use; (2) That shoes be ordered for the city police force.

A lengthy discussion was held about the curfew law.

Commissioner Sheran stated the curfew law was not properly enforced, as there were children ranging from ages 12 to 16 running around the streets at night and causing disturbances.

Again, he said, the children played out in the middle of the main streets, and some day one of them might meet with a serious accident.

"There is a Recreation ground in this city for sports," said Mr. Sheran. "Why does the city allow the children to play in the streets, when they have the Recreation grounds, which the city has paid highly for, for the children's sports?"

Parents' Fault Says Chief

"The curfew law has been the burning question with the police commission every year," said Chief of Police Long, "and so small is the fine for its infraction, for the parents, that it is a hard law to enforce. The law provides that the constable on duty take home the child out on the streets after the curfew has sounded. If the constable on duty in Nelson was to do that, he would be taking children many hundreds of them, home all night long, and would leave the city unprotected, for he has the patrol from the Fairview shipyards to the Canadian Pacific depot."

"The parents are not taking an interest in their children in this city," stated Chief Long. "The curfew bell is not only sounded to notify the children to go home, but it is also to notify the parents that their children under the age of 15 years must be home, and not on the streets. We are doing all we can to enforce this law, and it is up to the people to help us by seeing that their children are kept home at night."

Mayor McDonald thought the children of Nelson behaved better than in probably any other city in this province of Nelson's size.

Tires Might Hit Someone

"The tricks that the children of this city play are most scandalous," stated Commissioner Sheran, "for instance," he said, "they rolled automobile tires down hills without directing them, and some day someone would be injured if this were not stopped. In one part of the city," he said, "the children stole everything they could lay their hands on, and used vulgar language in the presence of both men and women.

Mr. Sheran said that often while he was digging in his garden children would come and call him insulting names, and still nothing was done by the police.

"How are we to put a stop to this?" asked Chief of Police Long.

"The police are hired to look into these matters, and I told you before that this was going on," said Mr. Sheran.

"But when I asked you their names, you did not know who they were, and although I visited that section of the town I never once saw such acts going on," replied the chief, "and we have not enough police on the force to keep one particular patrol there, and yet protect the rest of the city."

Chief of Police Long, Mayor McDonald and Commissioner French all declared that they had not yet seen any of these "scandalous" affairs in the city.

The meeting was adjourned at the call of the chair.

Foreigners Return Slowly to Quake-Torn City of Yokohama

TOKYO, Jan. 20.—The destruction of Yokohama by the 1923 earthquake drove many foreigners from that port. There were but a few hundred left after the catastrophe. The progress of construction work, however, caused many to return, and at the end of October it was estimated there were more than 3500 foreigners living in Yokohoma. This is less than one-half of the number who resided there at the time of the earthquake.

BIG SOUDAN DAM TO BE OPENED TODAY

It Cost $53,000,000 to Construct; Means Cotton Supply

CAIRO, Egypt, Jan. 20.—The Makwar dam on the Blue Nile far down in the Soudan, will be opened tomorrow by Lord Lloyd, British high commissioner to Egypt, and will bring under irrigation 300,000 acres of the Geizira plain, devoted to cotton raising. It cost about $53,000,000.

Egyptian officials estimate that in the area 40,000,000 pounds of cotton can be raised annually, thus providing a new cotton industry for the Lancashire mills, which draw most of their cotton supplies at present from the United States.

PRETTY WEDDING IS CELEBRATED AT GRAND FORKS

Miss Elizabeth Gordon Becomes Bride of James Curran of Nelson

GRAND FORKS, B. C., Jan. 20.—The home of Mr. and Mrs. Francis D. Gordon, west Grand Forks, was the scene of a pretty but quiet wedding this afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock, when Elizabeth Wright, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Gordon, was united in marriage to James Bertrand, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Curran, Fairview, Nelson, B. C. The ceremony was performed amid the intimate friends of the contracting parties by Rev. James Youngson of the Continuing Presbyterian church, Grand Forks.

The bride, attired in a powder blue satin backed dress, trimmed with metallic embroidery, was given in marriage by her father. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and maidenhair fern. Miss Isabelle Innes, who was bridesmaid, was prettily attired in a pansy purple creation trimmed with gold. She carried a sheaf of pink and white carnations and ferns. The groom was supported by Frank Gordon, only brother of the bride.

Following the ceremony, the assembled guests sat down to a dainty wedding breakfast. The table was beautifully arranged and decorated with pink and white carnations and green trailers. It was centered by a large wedding cake.

The happy couple left on the evening train, amid showers of rice, confetti and well-wishes of the party, the bride traveling in a navy satin brocade dress with hat to match. She wore a henna coat. They will reside in Nelson, where the groom is employed on the editorial department of The Daily News.

HANG PROFESSOR OUT OF WINDOW

Eighty Skookum Tillicums Have a Good Time With Group Two

About 80 members of the Skookum Tillikum club had a merry time in the basement of the St. Paul's United church last night, when Group 2 entertained the members with songs, skits, and refreshments.

The program commenced with a song by the De Folligan Trio which was well received, and followed by a well rendered solo by Miss Erma Brown, entitled, "The Gypsy Trail."

The skit entitled "A Case of Suspicion" created much amusement for the audience. It was in the form of a group of collegians who were about to put on a big feed in one of the college boy's room, the professor being suspicious of the collegians. On the eve of the big supper, he got more suspicious over what his pupils were about to do and when they had just nicely started the supper, the professor walked into the room. Being very "modern" college boys, they took the professor and tied him in a basket, hung the basket out of a window 50 feet from the ground, and kept him there until he promised not to "squeal" to the college board about the meal in the rooms.

Converted Professor

When the professor promised not to tell on them, the collegians invited him to join them in the feed, and he did so. After the feed they persuaded the professor to join them in singing the "S.T" song.

Those who took part in this skit were Florence Hoare, Eileen Dill, Jene Kinahan, Bessie McKenzie, Erma Brown, M. McClement, Stewart DesBrisay, Cecil Heise, Vincent Hughes and Jack Dando.

Another lively skit was also put on following the first skit, and like the other, it provided plenty of fun.

Refreshments were then served, after which all but members of Group 2 adjourned, and Group 2 held a meeting.

ELKS TICKLE RISIBLES OF A FULL HOUSE

'So's Your Old Man' Keeps Opera House Audience Guessing

It was a smiling crowd, full of jests and "wise cracks" that wended its way home from the opera house last night after viewing the Elks' production, "So's Your Old Man."

It was an all comedy bill from start to finish. The first part consisted of an old-time minstrel show, wherein the black face boys introduced several snappy songs and dances, with much clever humor thrown in, and drew encores for their harmony effects.

Bewitching Chorus

In the second and more lengthy part of the program the audience watched a very pleasing musical comedy, by the strange sounding title "So's Your Old Man." In its several scenes were shown the adventures of a show company in a quick trip around the world. Very amusing indeed were some of the strange situations, and the spectators were kept in wonderment as to the meaning of the play's name until the end of the very last scene. The action of the plot was frequently interspersed with song and musical numbers, both old favorites and latest hits. The headliners on the cast were supported by a most bewitching chorus of pretty damsels, who were not only pleasing songsters, but also won much applause by their graceful dancing.

Inconvenience was caused to the players and stage manager in the second and third acts when something happened to the lights on the stage, and they were obliged to change scenery by using flashlights, which caused some delay.

The first act consisted of a bunch of young colored folks who kept the large audience in an uproar by their funny songs and witty stories. F. W. Hartwig in this scene danced the Charleston, and accomplished the difficult task marvelously well and did not fail to bring a round of laughter from the onlookers.

Wed to Save Fortune

L. Webb was the outstanding character in the rest of the play, impersonating a Jew who was always where he was not wanted, and saying things backward, which amused the audience greatly. His uncle was supposed to have died, and in his will stated that if Jacob Levi, as his name was, got married within 40 days, he would get his entire fortune of $1,000,000, but otherwise would get nothing. So Jacob commenced straightway to hunt a wife, and finally when only about 20 minutes of the 40 days were left he found one.

At the end of the play the wife turned out to be a man.

"The Prisoner" Encored

One of the best features of the play was a song by Arthur Stringer, entitled "The Prisoner." The setting was a prison cell, in which he was seated, and everything was in darkness except for a spotlight, which was to represent the moon, shining on his face through a crack in the wall. So impressed were the audience that they clamored until he had to sing the song over again.

W. Coleman with his mandolin and tanjo sang several songs between the acts while scenery was being arranged and also sang several which were part of the acts.

Miss L. Heasman sang the beautiful song "Sweet Hawaiian Moonlight," and so pleased were the crowd that they applauded for an encore, but as the play was fairly long there was not time enough.

The third act represented a harem in Arabia, to which Jacob Levi came to buy a "wife" when his time was almost up. Misses J. and M. Caldwell, who were two women of the harem, gracefully performed a dance, which was followed by "My Home in Kentucky," a song by W. Coleman, and the finale, which consisted of songs by all the players.

Aulay McInnis, who arranged the play and trained the various ones taking part, was the stage director, and also took different parts in the play, one of which was the Jew's wife. Charles Driscoll was the accompanist on the piano.

Fire losses in Fredericton during 1925 are estimated at $53,655.

Newlyweds Drawn About in Cutter

A large crowd of friends gathered at the depot and waited for Mr. and Mrs. James B. Curran, newlyweds, the groom James Curran, of The Daily News, and the bride, formerly Miss Elizabeth Gordon of Grand Forks, to disembark from the Kettle Valley train, which they had boarded at Grand Forks after the wedding ceremony yesterday. As they stepped off the train they received volleys of confetti and congratulations.

Placed in a horseless cutter, the couple were drawn up town by about 10 human steeds. As they proceeded along Baker street, with cars honking their horns loudly as they passed, people came out of the stores to see what the excitement was. The couple were pulled in zig zag fashion up to Josephine street, back to Ward street, and then down to the Hume.

'This Is So Sudden'—to Mr. Forke

Progressives, Mr. Forke said, found themselves in a rather trying position, as power had been put into their hand which was none of their seeking. But they were honestly endeavoring to use that power to the good of the country.—Yesterday's Ottawa wire.

Everyone will concede that Mr. Forke is both personally an estimable gentleman and apparently sincere.

But when he says the power that the indecisive election result put in their hands was not sought by them, he is asking the people to believe black is white.

It is true the Progressive party did not ask the country to entrust it with the government. It is fair to deduce this much, from the fact that, unlike the case in 1920, it did not make a country-wide appeal.

But that the Progressives hoped to have the power of dictating—asked for it—is the only possible inference from their campaign.

Furthermore, there cannot be much doubt but that the Progressive party in the country is tickled to death at the situation, and the Progressives in the house are equally enjoying their power, the house Progressives having the fly in the ointment, however, that in their teetering there is danger they may cause a general election to be brought on.

To argue that the Progressives did not seek a situation that has given them the deciding voice in the present house, is casuistry carried to the extreme limit.

The Progressives wanted power without responsibility. The closer the race between the responsible parties, the better chance they had of getting their program through. Their sectional appeal was based on that argument.

Fate did not give them all they wanted. It gave the other parties more, and the Progressives fewer, seats than would have been the ideal distribution from the point of view of the Progressive party. Had the Progressives carried 20 more seats, and the Conservatives and Liberals 10 fewer each, it would have more comported with their desires, and it would have given them a still more commanding position than they have in Canada's present hour of need.

But Fate was kind to the Progressives nevertheless. It gave them a house party larger than the difference between the Conservative and Liberal parties in the house, which was the exact thing they desired.

The Conservative party sought power frankly. The people gave it the popular vote, and seats just short of the number to enable it to carry on independently.

Similarly the Liberal party frankly sought power. It had less luck, losing many seats and the popular vote, and half the cabinet, being reduced to numbers far below the figure required for exercising power.

But the Progressives, with all the luck, though reduced in numbers, landed in the middle of their objective—power. Now they claim it was "none of their seeking."

Isn't that refreshing?

Mrs. M. D. writes us—I am more than pleased that I can send the directions for the following scarf (which were recently requested by another reader) as I am making such a scarf myself: Cast on 152 stitches. Turn. Slip first stitch, add first stitch in second stitch, then knit 12 stitches. Now knit two together twice, then knit 12 stitches; add one stitch in next stitch, twice, then knit 12 stitches and two together twice. Do that to end of row, but add one stitch in second last stitch at end of row. This pattern makes five points.

For Young Knitter—Here is the infant's sacque you wanted: Buy three balls of threefold Saxony yarn (any desired color). Use a pair of knitting needles size 3½. Begin back by casting on 70 stitches. Knit plain for eight inches. Cast on 35 stitches each side for sleeve (140 stitches on needle). Shoulder: Knit 58 stitches, place on a stitch holder, bind off 24 stitches for back of neck. On remaining 58 stitches for back of neck. On remaining 58 stitches start front. Knit four rows (two ridges) then increase one stitch at front, every second row 10 times (77 stitches). Bind off 35 stitches, knit eight inches. Bind off. Make second side to correspond. Sew up sleeve and six inches of side seam.

Request from M. S.—Could any of our readers send me the directions for making a pair of little panties to slip on over a baby's diaper instead of rubber drawers? The ones I have seen are like the rubber kind in shape.

For Mrs. W. H.—You say you cannot buy the device you mention in any of your local stores. Then write to one of the big New York department stores and ask for prices. I would have answered your letter personally instead of in this way, had you remembered to give me the name of your town in your address. You enclosed a stamp, gave name and street address—but omitted the name of your town or city. People write me from so many places, and it is always safest to enclose an envelope stamped and fully addressed.

Tomorrow—The Happy Housekeeper.

PROPORTIONAL REPRESENTATION FAILS IN FRANCE ALSO

PARIS .— France has tried proportional representation. Today, outside of the communists on the extreme left, the royalists on the extreme right, and a few other extremists, it does not seem to have a friend in France.

Paris always suffered from an inherent weakness in its constitutional system which tended to create groups in parliament and thus instabilize and weaken its governments. But proportional representation, under which the last election was conducted, has accentuated this condition. Today no party has a majority. No group of parties has been able to form a stable majority. Since April of last year, France has had four different governments, the average life of each so far having been about five weeks.

Briand's administration, which is in power at the date at which I am writing, is holding office only on sufferance. It has just carried its financial proposals, not because it has a genuine majority in the house, or because the majority favors Briand's proposals, but because a big bond issue is due in two or three days for payment and something has to be done about it. Only through the abstention from voting of numerous opponents did Briand get a majority of six votes on the most important clause of the finance bill.

The French realize that such a condition cannot continue. Until the country can get a parliament with a cohesive majority, bound to definite principles, and strong enough to put its measures into effect, there can be no return of confidences, no solution of the pressing financial and commercial problems which are every day growing more acute. In three months the franc has depreciated a further 25 per cent. Only the hope of stemming the tide by Briand's temporary measures until a bill can be put through abolishing proportional representation, which would be followed by a general election and, it is hoped, the election of a cohesive majority which would provide a stable government, has stopped the franc from tumbling further.

Yesterday, I read 23 Paris newspapers, 19 of which referred to proportional representation. Only one favored giving it another trial, and this one was rather half-hearted. All the rest were against it and demanded its earliest possible abolition, with the return to an electoral system which would enable the country to return to what was described as its constitutional system of effective and responsible government by the majority. One of the papers which had formerly supported proportional representation described the trial of the scheme as "a colossal error which has cost France dearly." F. F. P.

A New 'Old' Treatment

Some of our older physicians must smile as they see the changes that come along in the treatment of various ailments. A line of treatment that was in use ten years ago becomes almost unknown for a few years, to come back once more and have even a larger place in the minds of the physicians.

Now that these forms of treatments were or are not helpful in the particular ailment, but because some other form of treatment comes along and is quite properly tried out by the physician. During the flu epidemic in 1918, many physicians reverted to that old method of "bleeding" the patient, to make the work of the heart a little easier. Its success here brought out the fact that some physicians were using this method in a great variety of ailments. As far back as we can go in medical history bleeding was a popular form of treatment, and remained popular until just a few years ago, when the use of standardized drugs took the place of the sometimes uncertain method of bleeding.

So we find that bleeding is coming into more general use again at this time, as physicians realize that by taking out a quantity of blood they lessen the work of the heart. In cases of pneumonia, asthma and bronchitis, wherever the right side of the heart is having a hard job to pump blood into the congested lungs to be purified, a little less blood in the vessels certainly helps. In cases of poisoning of the system from teeth, tonsils, intestines or poison from any source, a few ounces of blood removed from the vessels just takes that much poison out of the entire system. Anywhere from a half pint to a quart of blood is removed, usually from a vein in the arm.

It has been used to relieve distressing symptoms in convulsions, high blood pressure, inflammatory conditions of the heart itself and severe kidney ailments.

It is only because patients are not used to it that it seems like a "serious" operation, and yet it seems a reasonable method of treatment when you really think about it.

CRANBROOK COUNCIL WILL LAY OUT WORK

With All Bylaws Passed, Much Money Is to Be Spent

CRANBROOK, Jan. 20.—Three hundred voters went to the polls Thursday and cast their votes on the three bylays, all of them being passed by a large majority. The first one, for $15,000, is to be used for the purchase of road machinery, consisting of a rock crusher, a heavy road roller and other road implements. The second bylaw was for $22,000, and this is to be used for macadamizing 15 or 20 blocks of the main streets of the city. Baker street, Louis street and Edwards street are to receive this treatment.

The third bylaw, of $8000, will be used to reconstruct some of the sidewalks.

The first meeting of the new council will take place tomorrow evening. This is to be a preliminary meeting to fix the night of the regular meeting, and to plan out some of the work.

HOW SEA GULLS SAVED THE DAY

Swaps Tales With Cousin; 'Stole' Brazil Nuts in Youth

Ontario, Cal., Jan. 8, 1926.

To the Editor of The Daily News:

Very much to my surprise I found myself on Monday last in Salt Lake City, I found on enquiry, that I had a choice of roads to Los Angeles, I could go by way of Portland and down the western side of the United States, or I could go by the Union Pacific by a more easterly route, passing from the state of Washington into Oregon, Idaho, Utah, Nevada and into California near a town called San Bernardino, and so come to Los Angeles.

I gladly chose this latter route for two reasons: First, I understood that I had the privilege of going by this eastern route and return to Spokane by the western route when I go home in the spring. I bought a round-trip ticket good until next September, but I now find that this ticket compels me to go back by the same route I came by. This is a disappointment to me, but I may manage to arrange to go by the western route if I can catch the general manager of the Southern Pacific when his liver is in good order and he is in a good humor. If I cannot do this, I must go back by the Union Pacific, the way I came.

Hunts Up Cousin

My chief reason for choosing the eastern route by the Southern Pacific was that it gave me an opportunity of seeing and spending a day or so in Salt Lake City, where I have some second cousins, who are Mormons. I had never seen any of the cousins, and I thought it would be interesting to meet them, and get acquainted with these relations of mine. Accordingly, when on Monday, Jan. 4, we reached Salt Lake City, I exercised my privilege, and stepped off the train to stay for a couple of days.

I got a directory in a hotel, and hunted for the name of Moyle, and soon found there was quite a bunch of them. Then I started up town to find one called James H. Moyle. After a tramp of a mile or so, I knocked at the door of one to ask for Mr. Moyle, and by a streak of good luck, I had happened to strike on the home of the Mr. Moyle, who was the one who was most interested in his family connections. He is possessed by a strong desire to hunt up his pedigree or genealogy.

The Brazil Nuts

Mr. Moyle was at his office, but his daughter drove me down, and I was received most cordially by my second cousin. He pumped me all morning for information about our family. Fortunately I was able to tell him many things he did not know, and correct him in some things where he had gone wrong. For instance, I was able to tell him that away back in 1856, when the first of the Moyles went to Salt Lake, I was on the dock at Plymouth, in England, to give them my boyish sendoff; I need hardly say that I was younger then than I am now but o'd enough to have a clear recollection of the family, especially of the two boys of about my own age.

I told him one anecdote that made him smile. A ship at the dock had landed several bags of Brazil nuts, and we three boys, boy like, had poked a hole in one of the bags, and stolen a lot of the nuts, on which we feasted—of course this was very naughty, but it was very nice, and just what live boys might be expected to do.

For the two days I was constantly asked about one thing and another. Fortunately for the Moyles, my recollection of these things was clearer than my recollection of a multitude of events of a later date.

The Tabernacle

By advice of Mr. Moyle, I went over to the Mormon tabernacle about 11 o'clock, and with others I was conducted around the premises. We were taken around the temple, but no unhallowed gentile feet were admitted within its sacred precincts. Only the true Mormon can enter there.

We were also shown the sea gull monument in the grounds. This monument commemorated an event in early Mormon history. There was a plague of grasshoppers, but just when the danger was imminent, there came flights of sea gulls, who ate the hoppers and saved the day, and this is remembered by Mormons as a special interposition of Providence.

Then we were taken into the tabernacle, not the temple, remember. That sacred fane could not be profaned by the pressure of gentile feet. The tabernacle, then, is another building inside the grounds. It is 300 feet long, and the highest point of the domed roof is 70 feet above the floor. This roof is supported from above, there are no pillars to the floor, because nails were hard to get in those early days, when the nearest railway was a thousand miles away, the jointed timbers of the roof were fastened by wooden dowels or pegs. The inner cement surface of this immense roof is clear of all visible support from the floor.

The accoustics of this building are wonderful. A man whispered with his back to us, and though he was nearly a hundred feet away from us, we distinctly heard what he whispered.

Daily Organ Recital

Every day at noon there is an organ recital, free to all who wish to be present. The organ is one of the finest in the world. It is 30 feet high and 60 feet wide, and I do not know how many stops. I never heard anything so like the human voice as when one of the stops was opened. It was just like the baritone voice of a good singing man. The organ was gone over some years ago, but they are again to spend $20,000 in putting this wonderful organ in perfect tune and condition.

Any person attending the tabernacle, or going round the building will receive the most polite reception from all and any of those who are connected with the place. Notices tell all and sundry that smoking on the temple grounds is forbidden, and another says "hats off when going into the tabernacle." Everything is very neat and clean, quiet and orderly.

Both days my cousin took me for an auto ride, and showed me the sights of the city.

All Streets at Right Angles

Salt Lake is a wonderful city. All the streets are straight, and at right angles to cross streets, so it is easy to find one's way around. These streets are 132 feet wide, and are paved all across. Now, 132 feet leaves plenty of room for temporary parking, with lots of room for moving vehicles, but the upkeep of such wide streets is a considerable item in the taxes of the city. Salt Lake is a very clean city, and seems to have an abundance of water of a good quality.

Of course, my cousin pointed out to me the home of Brigham Young, with the adjoining houses where he kept his plural wives. I was told these wives got along with the minimum of friction, but I remarked to my cousin that my experience was that it took a pretty large house to hold two women.

The evening of the second day I was taken out to my cousin's farm. Here he has some very well-bred Holsteins, but what interested me most was that we put up a large flock of quail. They are protected as well as posible, but many find their way into the pot on the sly. Pheasants and sage hens are also plentiful, I was told, though I saw none.

That night I was taken to dinner with some of the family of a second wife, but plural marriages are not indulged in now, for two reasons. First, it is against the law, and next, the cost of living is such that the bringing up of children of one wife affords ample outlet for all the money a man can gather.

After two very interesting days, I left the third morning for Ontario in California. So that is where I am now domiciled, and from which I have written this letter.

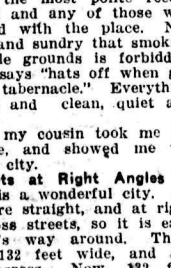
Never Let a Cold Get a Start



Vapors Check a Cold Overnight

There are many ways to treat a cold but only one DIRECT way—with vapors that can be inhaled.

Vapors penetrate immediately into every corner of the air passages and lungs, soothing and healing with every breath.

Vicks is so remarkably successful in treating cold troubles because it acts like a "vapor lamp in salve form."

When rubbed over throat and chest the body heat releases vapors of Menthol, Camphor, Eucalyptus, Thyme and Turpentine. At the same time Vicks is absorbed through and stimulates the skin like a poultice or plaster.

This double, direct action often checks the worst cold overnight.

Jerusalem's Water Supply Depends Upon the Rainfall

Losers Were Shut Out in Fifty-nine Cases in American League

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—There were 59 games in the American league last year in which the losing team was set down without a score. Three of the season's shutouts went into extra innings and one was a six-inning contest halted because of darkness.

The White Sox pitching staff led in this respect, holding their opponents scoreless 12 times. Eddie Collins' crew was blanked only four times, not counting the game forfeited to Cleveland where the field could not be cleared of the crowd.

New York proved the easiest outfit to shut out. They were blanked an even dozen times. Yet it was a Yankee pitcher, Herb Pennock—who pitched the year's most notable shutout game, a 15-inning battle in which he bested the Athletics, 1-0.

The Red Sox failed to score nine times, and the champion Senators, the Tigers and the Indians fell victims on six occasions. The Athletics and the Browns kept off the score boards in eight games.

The White Sox chalked up the heaviest total against a shutout team. In a game on September 19, the Chicago team scored 17 runs against the scoreless Senators.

August was the shutout month league records reveal. There were 19 such games. August 7 was the banner day for shutout pitchers, when three games resulted in no scores for the losing teams.

Closes Wooden Cantilever Bridge Nearly Century Old

LANCASTER, Jan. 20.—The state highway commission has closed the longest single span wooden cantilever bridge, a romantic landmark across the Kentucky river.

A steel or concrete structure soon will make a memory of one of the few remaining covered bridges. Located just beyond Camp Nelson on the Lookout Mountain Airline highway, it was built in 1838. Only lately when heavy busses began to cross the 240-foot span were there pronounced vibrations.

There is one wooden bridge left in the state. The Licking river bridge of 1837 resounded to hoofbeats of Morgan's men when they took Cynthiana in the '60s.

MARATHON, Tex., Jan. 20.—In this little southwest Texas town domestic rubber is manufactured from the guayule plant, which grows wild all over this section. A factory, under the spur of high rubber prices, has reached an output of a ton a day.

The guayule is a shrub, three to five feet high, and resembles sage brush. Beneath its outer bark is a sap, known as latex, from which the rubber is made.

The shrub is put up in bales, like hay and the sap is pressed out in a machine called a pebble mill. About 30,000 gallons of water, supplied by wells, is required to produce a ton of rubber. The plant is gathered, root and all, and brings about $40 a ton at the factory here.

The finished product comes from the presses in sheets about 3 inches thick, 30 inches long, and 15 inches wide.

Total fish catch of the Lunenburg fleet was 250,000 quintals last year, as compared with 170,000 in 1924.

PRICES TURN UP AT CLOSE

But Early Weakness Is Result of Heavy Selling on Publicity

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Prices turned abruptly upward toward the close of the day's stock market, after an early period of weakness resulting from heavy liquidation inspired by the decision to give publicity to brokers' loans.

Closing quotations disclosed considerable irregularity, but United States Steel common, General Electric, Dupont, American Can and a number of other popular industrials showed net gains of 1½ to 3 points.

Call money opened at 4 per cent, the lowest renewal figure in 10 days, and held steady at that figure.

Other outstanding strong spots in the industrial list included Foundation Company, Hudson Motors, National Biscuit, Pullman, Sears Roebuck, U. S. Rubber, Coco Cola, Famous Players, United States Cast Iron Pipe and Ward Baking, all of which showed net gains of 2 to 4 points. The rail group, Frisco common, closed nearly 3 points higher, at 99⅝. Southern Railway common moved up 2¾ and Atlantic Coast Line showed a net gain of over 12 points, at 250. The feature of the time money market was a shading in the rate on the shorter maturities from 4⅞ to 4¾ per cent.

Commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Total sales—2,097,200 shares.

Business Facts

THE SPECULATOR ACTS AS AN EQUALIZER BETWEEN SUPPLY & DEMAND

Is speculation a necessity or an evil? Why?

* * *

The men who grow cotton, corn and wheat have to plan for a future market.

They have no way of telling whether there will be an oversupply or an undersupply, or what price their commodities will bring six or eight months later.

Here is where the speculator steps in. He is willing to take a chance on the future demand and supply and offer a price both to those who would buy and those who would sell. He stands to gain if his deductions are correct. In the meantime he assumes the risk.

Both the producer and the consumer now know how prices will stand on products that will not be sold for some months. If the price is low, the consumer can lay in a good stock. If it is high the producer can increase his production.

The speculator thus acts as an equalizer between supply and demand and serves a useful purpose.

SMELTERS HAVE A WIDE MARGIN

2nd With Advance in Toronto; All Bank Stocks Now Double Par

TORONTO, Jan. 20. — Trading was well scattered over the list on today's stock market. Both Smelters and Brazilian had small advances after their declines earlier in the week. Smelters touched a low point at 183 and the close was at 186¼. Brazilian held steady between 82 and 82⅝ and the close was ¼ up on the day, at 82¾.

An advance of 1½ points in Standard Bank brought all the bank shares listed on the local exchange to double par or better.

Other advances in this group included Nova Scotia, up 1; Toronto, up ½; and there were ½ point declines in Royal and Montreal.

International Nickel shares were called for trading in the listed section of the market. A few transactions were made at 12 and 42¾, and the close was at the latter price.

Toronto Mining Trend Is Mixed

TORONTO, Jan. 20.—A good proportion of the trading on the Mining Exchange this morning centered around the silvers, which showed a strong tone.

Canadian Lotrain advanced 10, at 91; Keeley, 9 at 1.50; and Everett ½, at 9½; all these showing a turnover of well over 30,000 shares. Nipissing advanced 25, at 6.90; Lake Shore in the golds climbed 23, at 1100. Vipond was also strong, but Chaput Hughes and Consolidated West Dome were easier.

Boivin Tells Intentions of the Government for the Future

MONTREAL, Jan. 20.—The government will consider itself beaten only by an adverse decision of the people in a general election was the intimation given by Hon. G. H. Boivin, minister of customs, addressing a political gathering here tonight. The minister was discussing the attitude of the Progressives toward the government, and said:

"If they are Liberal, you may be sure that we will continue to administer the affairs of this country for many years to come; but if they persist in running too fast, we shall not ask for their help any more, and it will be the duty of Premier King to ask for a dissolution of parliament."

Peace, Unity, Harmony

Hon. Mr. Boivin stated that the crucial test had been the vote on the nonconfidence amendment of Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, and he declared that the crisis, the "biggest since Confederation," was passed, and parliament was as normal as before the election. It was the duty of the Liberals to finish the Hudson's Bay railway, he stated, so that peace, unity and harmony may reign in the country. Mr. Meighen had promised completion if he was elected, and Mr. King did so providing he had the approval of the house of commons.

The minister expressed himself as uninformed yet with regard to Conservative policies, but stated that those of the Liberal party were always the same—for the good of Canada as a whole.

"We have never been and never shall be free traders," said the minister.

Ask Fraser Canyon Park Be Given to Province for Time

VANCOUVER, Jan. 20.—Recommendation that national parks branch of the department of the interior hand over to the provincial government the administration of the proposed Fraser Canyon national park, has been made by the directors of the Automobile Club of British Columbia.

The club is desirous of having the area preserved as a park, but owing to the fact that the highway has been built by the provincial government, and that the Dominion government has no desire to assume responsibility for its maintenance, it is felt the province should have administration of the park, at least temporarily.

ASK ALLEN CUP SERIES AT COAST

VICTORIA, Jan. 20.—Percy Watson, president of the British Columbia Ice Hockey association, has started a movement to have the finals of the Allan cup series played at the Pacific coast this spring.

Last night he wired to President Quilty, of the O. A. H. A., and William Northey of Montreal, Allan cup trustees, to stage the finals on the coast this year.

Langford Said His Fist Would Do as Referee

By A. DEMAREE
(Former Phil, N.Y. Giants)

Sam Langford, rotund black torpedo of the prize ring, is still active in the sport of padded mittens, in spite of some forty odd years of more or less continuous fistic combat, and is employed as a trainer in the Arcade gymnasium of Chicago, occasionally stepping out even yet for a "league bout."

Langford, born in Weymouth, N.S., about 1884, between 1902 and 1917, engaged in 151 prize fights, scoring 43 knockouts, winning 43, drawing 25, losing 15 and 31 being no decisions. He knocked out Harry Wills, leading present day negro boxer, in 1914, and again in 1916, and fought three no decision bouts with him in 1917, after losing to the Black Panther in 20 rounds in 1916. He also had draws with Wills in 1914 and 1915. He lost to Jack Johnson in 15 rounds in

During his early barnstorming days, 1906.

Langford tells me he was matched up one time when there was no referee on hand. This didn't bother Sam. "Nevah mind," he counseled with the true unconcern of his race, "This ole right fist will be the referee."

TRAIL HOCKEY BOYS WORKING OUT, HOME ICE

First Ice This Season; May Speed Up Hockey Games; Three a Week

TRAIL, Jan. 20.—With a mild winter here seriously hampering play of the scheduled West Kootenay Hockey league series, arrangements are being made to speed up the series by staging three league matches each week, beginning next week, according to F. S. Willis, manager of the Trail team.

Weather permitting, three games will be played next week, two games in Trail and one in Nelson. At Trail on Tuesday and Saturday, and at Nelson on Thursday.

For the first time this season there was hard ice smooth enough for skating in the hockey enclosure at the rink, tonight. The team was not slow to take advantage of it. All but one man on the lineup was there for a good strenuous hour's work out. Scraping and spraying was then in order. Icemaker John Young expects to have a couple of ground heave bumps smoothed out for tomorrow night's practice.

SHEIKS WIDEN GAP IN FRONT OF ROSEBUDS

Beat Aspirants for League Leadership by Score of 5-3

PORTLAND, Jan. 20.—The league-leading Saskatoon Sheiks opened up a wider gap between themselves and Portland Rosebuds, next in line, by defeating the locals 5 to 3 in a closely contested game here tonight. Leading one goal up at the end of the second period, the Sheiks cut loose in the third and added two counters, while the locals added one.

Portland Starts Well

The Rosebuds started on the offence from the opening face off, and until Hay had scored the first counter for Portland, play was almost wholly in Saskatoon territory. Not satisfied with the one goal, Portland came back in 29 seconds for another. On the play McCormick shot and Hainsworth deflected the puck with his stick. Thinking it had gone behind the net, Hainsworth turned his back and skated to the opposite of the goal. The puck had frozen directly before the net, and it was easy for McCormick to follow through and score.

The Sheiks came right back, and taking the rubber on the face off, smashed their way through the Portland defence, Bill Cook scoring on a pass from Scott.

Bill Cook evened the score before the second period was very far advanced. He took the puck on a pass from Denenny in the center section, and single handed he worked it past the Buds' defence. Coming out of the mixup on the sectional line, he skated in front of the goal and sent a pretty shot past McCusker.

The same two forwards figured in the next goal, which came before the Portlanders realized the first had been made.

The Sheiks started a strong offensive, and kept the Buds at bay for the rest of the period.

Summary

First period — 1, Portland, Hay, 2:22; 2, Portland, McCormick, :29; 3, Saskatoon, Bill Cook, :51.

Second period—4, Saskatoon, Bill Cook, 6:20; 5, Saskatoon, Denenny, :54.

TWAIN'S PRINT SHOP RETAINED

Shop Becomes Souvenir Library; Twain's Office Is Untouched as Yet

KEOKUK, Iowa., Jan. 20. — A rare piece of Americana—a copy of the Keokuk city directory of 1856, part of which was hand set by Mark Twain and in which he listed himself as an "antiquarian"—recently was found and subsequently lost in a curious manner.

The Iowa State Insurance company acquired and incorporated in its office building an adjoining structure in which Orion Clemens, brother of the humorist, conducted a printing establishment in Keokuk in the late '50s. In making alterations a copy of the directory was found beneath the floor of the room in which the youthful Samuel Clemens worked.

The find was made by a workman, who, not knowing of the book's sentimental and bibliophilic value, examined it casually, and then tossed it aside in a pile of rubbish. Later, news of the discovery became known, but by that time the book had disappeared. The only other known copy of the directory is in the Keokuk public library.

Although the building that housed the old Clemens printing shop virtually has been rebuilt, the room in which Mark Twain worked has been left untouched. It has been set aside as a museum and library for the display of his souvenirs, one of the most interesting being the old printing case. Other objects include an oil painting of the writer at 21, a later portrait, first editions and autographed copies of Twain's books.

The Mark Twain tradition thrives lustily in this Mississippi river town, where he made his first after-dinner speech and received pay for his first newspaper writing. In addition to the printing shop, the old Twain homestead still stands.

While still in his teens, Mark left Hannibal, Mo., where he had been working on Orion's newspaper, for a tour of the east, rejoining the family at Muscatine, Iowa. There Orion had started a newspaper after his Hannibal enterprise had failed. Samuel presently left Muscatine for St. Louis, where the printing trade offered better prospects. Orion moved to Keokuk, later to be visited by Samuel, who was prevailed upon to remain for a promised $5 a week.

Clemens was just approaching his majority, and with the urge of youth, he wanted to see the world. He thought a fortune was to be made in Brazil, so he prepared to depart. Dashing down to St. Louis to bid goodbye to his mother, he rushed back here with an idea that apparently had much to do with his later career.

The idea was to write travel letters of his journey for the Keokuk Daily Post. George Kees, editor, offered him $5 each for the articles. Samuel, much pleased, made a fresh start and got as far as Cincinnati, which became the terminus of the projected South American trip.

Clemens contributed three letaers to the Post, couched in the exaggerated dialect considered humorous in that day, speaking in one of them of a plan to write a book on his journey. Ten years or so later he did make a journey around the world, and from this came "The Innocents Abroad," and a secure fame.

HAS TRAIL BOWLER INDIVIDUAL RECORD

Simonson Rolls 267 Pins and Is King Pin of Alleys

TRAIL, Jan. 20.—A. "Si" Simonson is now the king pin of the Trail bowlers and the hero of the pin boys at Memorial hall alleys. He has established the season's individual high score of 267, which is 20 pins higher than the previous record of 247, rolled by W. Freeman. This achievement is as pleasing to him as to other members of the club, who are wondering if it is not also this season's record for Kootenay.

MacMILLAN CUTS DOWN BOYS' LEAD

VANCOUVER, Jan. 20.—Outscoring Sid Boys to the extent of practically 150 points during the third day's play of the 7000-point English billiard match here, Jack MacMillan, Canadian champion, had reduced his opponent's lead to 403 when the halfway stage was reached tonight, the closing scores being: Boys (in play) 3561, MacMillan 3098. Boys missed several fine chances to go into a big lead, and MacMillan took advantage of this at both sessions. High breaks for Boys were 114, 108, 93, 74, 63, 57, 55, 50, for MacMillan 123, 116, 88, 87, 62 and 52.

CARP FISHING SCENES

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

Wayne (Big) Munn, weighing 259 pounds, and the most massive athlete in the United States, has made two attempts as a boxer, and was knocked out each time.

To add zest to rabbit hunting, a group of sportsmen of Ashland, Wis., have substituted bows and arrows for shotguns. On the first hunt three rabbits and a chipmunk were bagged.

It has been proposed that the National League of Professional Football clubs adopt a rule preventing any team in the circuit from using a college player until eight months after he has played his last college game.

Universities in Canada are sending five athletic teams to the United States to compete against midshipmen at the Naval academy at Annapolis next month. There will be boxers, wrestlers, fencers, gymnasts and swimmers.

Frank H. Wickhorst, aged 21, of Aurora, Ill., will lead the navy gridders during the 1926 campaign. Prior to coming to Annapolis, he played on the freshmen team of the University of Illinois, a team mate of Red Grange.

Of the 42 lists of "All-American" football players for the season just ended, A. J. Oberlander of Dartmouth Tully, of the same team, was named for 30 "first teams," and five "second teams."

The Futurity of 1928 is expected to be the richest horse race in the world. Carrying a gross value of more than $100,000, it will be run on the new seven-furlong course at Belmont park, New York. More than 1809 nominations are expected for the race. Originated in 1886, the Futurity is for 2-year-old colts and fillies, who dams were named when they were bred.

Dr. W. E. Cove, of Chicago, who is distinguished as having played 153 holes of golf in one day, will attempt to play 200 holes during the same period of time in Florida.

Jole Ray, the veteran runner, is quitting amateur track competitions and seeking a job of coaching. He has had 16 years of amateur running.

OUTLINES RURAL CREDIT SCHEME TO FARM BODY

Alberta Minister Says it Is Being Studied by the Cabinet

CALGARY, Jan. 20.—R. G. Reid, provincial treasurer of the Alberta government, appeared before the convention of the United Farmers of Alberta tonight, and outlined a rural credit scheme which he said was being studied by the government.

The main points in his outline were:

Dominion and Province

The Dominion and provincial governments and the borrower would be linked up to support the scheme. Each would contribute 5 per cent of the amount of money to be borrowed to provide the reserve needed for the sale of the bonds. A federal farm loan board would be authorized to borrow money on a large extent. A provincial board would be established in each of the provinces participating. Loans would be carefully scrutinized. Money should be obtainable at 5 per cent. One per cent would be charged for administration, and 1 per cent for amortization. The result would be that the farmer would get his loan at 7 per cent interest. This would pay the interest and liquidate the debt in 34 years.

Self-Supporting in End

Mr. Reid foresaw a time when under the scheme it would not be necessary for the governments to support it. This would come about through the sale of paid up capital shares.

He insisted that any successful rural credit scheme must be cooperative to the fullest extent, with the governments and the borrowers each supporting each other. Bonds would be readily salable, he thought, because they were based solidly on the value of the land.

Following his outline, the convention passed a resolution "urging the adoption of a system of rural credits," and asking their representatives at Edmonton and Ottawa to give their strongest support.

CONFER ABOUT ELEVATOR DEAL

Saskatchewan Cooperative and Wheat Pool in Negotiation

REGINA, Jan. 20.—After meeting as separate units all day yesterday the boards of directors of the Saskatchewan Cooperative Elevator company, and the Saskatchewan wheat pool, were in joint conference this afternoon at the elevator company's offices.

The conference is the outcome of the annual meeting of the shareholders of the Saskatchewan Cooperative Elevator company in Regina, the middle of last month, when the directors were instructed to negotiate with the wheat pool to secure the best possible terms which the pool is prepared to give in the event of the latter's offer to purchase the elevator company's country elevator system, and to lease or purchase its terminal elevators, being accepted.

GIGANTIC POWER MERGER REVEALED

New England Corporation Has Property Worth Half-Billion

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Complete details of the gigantic super power system created through the affiliation of public utility interests in New York and New England, having a combined property valuation in excess of $500,000,000, were revealed for the first time today in the announcement of the final organization of the Northeastern Power corporation.

The new corporation, which has the backing of leading public utility and electric generating interests in the United States, will have interconnecting transmission lines stretching across New York and Massachusetts, from Buffalo to Boston, and reaching into Connecticut, Rhode Island and Vermont.

The territory served consumed over 6,000,000,000 kilowat hours of electrical energy during 1925.

New South Wales to Try Direct Legislation in its Stead

SYDNEY, Australia, Jan. 20.—(Canadian Press Cable, via Reuters.)—The unusual spectacle of a legislative body voting itself out of existence was witnessed today when the legislative council of New South Wales, passed first reading of a bill providing for its abolition.

Introducing the bill, Hon. Henry Willis, minister without portfolio, said a nominee to the chamber on the present basis would become a standing joke.

The government would substitute for the council a system of initiative, referendum and recall.

He refused to accept an amendment pjroviding for a referendum on the present question.

LEACOCK GIVES PEN, FORTUNE TO CANCER FRAY

Death of Wife So Moves the Famous Canadian Writer

TORONTO, Jan. 20. — The problem of cancer will be attacked with greater force as the result of the death from this disease of Mrs. Stephen Leacock, wife of the professor of economics and literature at McGill university, the Toronto Telegram today says.

Professor Blair Bell of the University of Liverpool administered to Mrs. Leacock the lead solution treatment which he discovered, and Professor Leacock and his wife followed Professor Bell to Liverpool to have the treatment continued, but Mrs. Leacock died in England shortly after her arrival.

Moved by her death, Professor Leacock has undertaken to forward with his fortune and his pen a strenuous campaign in the research field in quest of the secret of the cure or prevention of the disease, the newspaper continues.

Use British Society

"The British Society for the Control of Cancer, which has branches in all the dominions," the Telegram says, "will probably be the agency through which Professor Leacock will direct his efforts. Professor Adams, formerly of McGill university, and a fellow-professor of Proessor Leacock, is now at the head of the pathology department in Liverpool university, and is thus associated with Dr. Bell." This society is also represented at McGill, and in connection with the University of Toronto.

Native Samoans Will Retain the Feast of Death

PAGO PAGO, Samoa, Jan. 20. — The death feast, an institution which has been handed down to each succeeding generation of native Samoans from the earliest times, will not be abandoned at present, the assembly of titled chieftains has decided. In this decision his excellency Henry F. Bryan, captain of the U.S. navy and present governor of American Samoa, has acquiesced.

In its inroads, western civilization has abolished many of the picturesque social or tribal customs of the islands but the primitive method of showing respect for the dead will not be outlawed until the Samoan people themselves are ready for the change.

A resolution to do away with the ceremony was defeated in the American Samoa Annual Fono. The Fono is an assembly of titled chiefs who meet each year to confer with the officials of the administration, and is presided over by the naval governor in person.

The Samoans believe that the proper way to honor the dead is to gorge themselves with food, then yell, chant or sing their hymns of sorrow until they fall asleep from exhaustion. The food is furnished by the family or clan of the deceased. All people are at liberty to partake of the feast. Food usually consists of pigs roasted whole, taro, breadfruit, baked bananas, fish bread and perhaps keg beef bought from the trader's store.

A Main Objection

The main objection lies in the fact that a family which has been unfortunate to lose one of its members may be unduly impoverished in upholding the custom. This is especially so in the case of high chiefs, whose family connections combine several villages. The cost of the great amount of food sometimes so impoverishes the entire community that it does not recover financial comfort for months.

Governor Bryan in closing the discussion of the resolution of abolition said:

"The majority of the Samoan people are against the resolution, therefore it cannot be made a law. It is a Samoan custom, and it is for the Samoans to change their customs in accordance with their own desires."

Governor Bryan summarized the policy of the administration for 1926 as "Lesser taxation, improving of the school system, a progressive road-building program, better health facilities for the Samoan people and encouragement for a larger output of copra."

The chiefs expressed confidence in the naval administration and promised the loyal support of the Samoan people to any measure taken by the governor for the betterment of Samoa.

THEOSOPHIST WILL TOUR DOMINION

LONDON, Jan. 20.—That J. Krishnamurti, hailed as the modern Messiah by Dr. Annie Besant, international president of the Theosophical society, will inaugurate a Canadian tour here, is intimated in a letter received today by a London man who is closely in touch with the bishops of the Liberal Catholic church, over which the Rt. Rev. Charles Webster Leadbetter presides.

On behalf of Police Sergeant Lacombe of Montreal, a nephew, an appeal is issued through the newspapers of the continent to locate Lardo Lacombe, who left Epiphanie, Que., for St. Paul, Minn., 45 years ago, and from whom nothing has been heard for 20 years.

EXTEND RELIEF UNTIL CANTEEN FUND AVAILABLE

Provinces Slow in Acting, So Department Gives New Orders

OTTAWA, Jan. 20.—The situation regarding unemployment relief to pensioners was summarized as follows, in a statement issued today:

"In previous years all pensioners, whatever the rating of their war disability, were receiving uhemployment relief from the department of soldiers' civil reestablishment, whether their war disability was or was not responsible for their failure to obtain employment.

Banked on Canteen Fund

"In view of the early distribution of the canteen funds monies as provided by the statute of last session, it had been found advisable to confine the unemployment relief to those pensioners having a rating of 20 per cent and over, or to those cases where the disability is less, when the war disability precluded the pensioner from engaging in employment.

"It is, however, found that on account of the delay on the part of the different provincial governments in appointing boards of trustees, the monies of the canteen funds have not as yet been distributed to the different provinces. The situation has brought to the knowledge of the department of soldiers civil reestablishment the existence of several cases of hardship among low-rating pensioners, and new instructions have been sent today to the different units, providing that the regulations in force last winter shall continue to prevail during the winter."

What Is Connection

General A. E. Ross, Conservative, Kingston, enquired what connection there was between the canteen fund and unemployment.

Mr. Lapointe replied that he thought it had been assumed that part of this money would be applied tward unemployment. He would, however, take the matter up with the department of soldiers' civil reestablishment.

NEW WESTMINSTER, Jan. 20.—An unusually busy year and the successful carrying out of enterprises of great value to stock breeders were reported by President F. B. Ward of the British Columbia Stock Breeders' association, at the opening of the convention here today. Approximately $20,000, he said, had been spent during the year in the work of the association, this including exhibiting at the Royal Winter Stock show in Toronto, about 65 head of British Columbia dairy stock, for the first time in history. The undertaking had been a heavy one, but it proved a splendid success, the cattle sent from this province, in spite of heavy handicaps of various kinds, having made a showing that was gratifying.

The bull sale at Kamloops also was referred to by the president, and in this connection he pointed out that permanent work on the arena at that place had been carried out at a cost of $2500. This meant that the annual preparation for this sale would be greatly simplified.

It was decided that the bull sale this year would be held on March 24, 25 and 26.

Among the many present at the convention are F. B. Ward, Douglas Lake; George Sangster, Victoria; Mat Hassen, Armstrong; George C. Hay, Kamloops; D. W. Strachan, Tranquille; R. W. Helmer, Nicola; Joseph Bulman, Adelphi, and A. Whardy, Armstrong.

Thinks American Politics Not as Bad as Many Other Lands

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Former Ambassador Masana Hanihara of Japan, in a series of articles contributed to the Japanese press, said that national politics of the United States "are full of self-purifying power."

Mr. Hanihara makes a frank exposition of defects he coserved in the American political system while in service here, but concluded that "America's politics are not as corrupt as those of other nations."

The articles were prepared for the "usual information" they might contain in relation to Japan's own problem of providing for universal manhood suffrage. He limited himself to discussion of American affairs from the viewpoint of "the democracy in that nation, the difficulties and shortcomings connected with democracy's practical operation and the possible measures for their relief and improvement.

"An earnest and painstaking study of the United States and her citizens is a requirement for future Japan," sums up the former ambassador.

The period of time elapsing between election and inauguration of a new congress is "the worst defect in America's political organization, calling for urgent rectification," he asserted, while second he placed the fact that "general elections are too tedious in the United States."

"National elections make such a constant round," he said, "that members of congress cannot be earnest and whole hearted in the discharge of their duties. With state and city elections added, voters become indifferent.

"This accounts for the influence of professional statesmen."

Two bequests, totalling $21,000, have been announced by the authorities at Mt. Allison university at Sackville.

SAYS DRAGINDA SAID SHE WAS WELL POISONER

But Russian Girl's Story Is Rejected by Judge at Coast

VANCOUVER, Jan. 20.—Poisoned wells, spies and war-time intrigue figured in a story repeated in supreme court here today, when a slander suit brought against John Draginda, Ukranian lumber yard worker, by Bella Petrowich, his 24-year-old countrywoman was heard.

Plotted Against Her Army

Miss Petrowich alleged that Draginda had spread reports detrimental to her character. He had told various persons, she said, that she had assisted an Austrian soldier in carrying out a well poisoning plot against the advancing Russian army in Ukrania in the early days of the world war. The Austrian, according to the story which Miss Petrowich said Draginda had falsely attributed to her, had been captured by the Russians, and eventually was executed after he had refused to drink from one of the poisoned wells.

Draginda, she alleged, had said that she then fled the country and joined her sister in Vancouver.

Not Substantiated

Without calling on the defence, Mr. Justice MacDonald dismissed the action, ruling that none of the plaintiff's witnesses had substantiated the charges against Draginda of slandering Miss Petrowich.

POLITICAL GUNS BOOM IN BRITAIN

Lloyd George, Churchill Are Principal Announcers for Parties

LONDON, Jan. 20.—With the approach of the reassembling of parliament February 2, the political guns are becoming active. Former Premier Lloyd George and Winston Churchill, chancellor of the exchequer, were principal speakers today.

Lloyd George at Carnarvon, Wales, put the quietus on recent reports of a possible union of the Liberal and Labor parties, his idea being that both parties were in the wilderness for another three or four years, and that there was plenty of time to consider what would happen, when the reign of the present Baldwin administration came to an end.

Mr. Churchill, speaking at Leeds, devoted himself to the urgency of economy in the administration if further taxation was to be avoided. If the plans of the government for economy were accepted, all would be well, he said, no extra taxation was needed.

He announced that a bill would be presented in parliament seeking alterations and modification of certain legislative decisions that compelled expenditure. These economies covered the whole field; no department escaped; everyone had to make a sacrifice.

CARDINAL MERCIER STOUTLY RESISTS

Doctors Surprised at His Strength; He Expects Visitors

BRUSSELS, Jan. 20.—Though his recovery is deemed well-nigh hopeless, Cardinal Mercier continues to display unusual resistance to the ravages of disease, surprising even the attending physicians by the manner in which he has withstood pain, lack of nourishment, and recurring heart attacks.

The cardinal looks forward to a visit tomorrow from Lord Halifax, president of the English Church union, with whom he has been associated in the attempt to bring about a union of the churches. Another visitor whom he awaits with deepest interest is Crown Prince Leopold, who is returning to Brussels tomorrow after an extended absence.

LLOYD GEORGE NOT MAKING ALLIANCE

Time for Liberals to Do That When Secure More Seats

LONDON, Jan. 20.—(By Canadian Press Cable.)—Rumors that he intended to launch a movement for a Liberal-Labor alliance, were denied by David Lloyd George in a speech at Carnarvon, Wales, today.

He said that it would be unwise for Liberals to negotiate an alliance with any party, but the party should concentrate its energies on reaching the goal of securing a large Liberal representation in the next parliament. When that was achieved, it would be time to consider cooperation with men who were prepared to support its program, whether it involved a coalition government or not.

HOUSE COMMITTEES MAY START EARLY

May Be Appointed Before the Debate on Throne Speech Over

OTTAWA, Jan. 20.—(Canadian Press)—Committees of the house of commons usually appointed only after the debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne has been disposed of, may be struck early this year, and the committee work of the house may be under way before the debate is finished. The probability of a long adjournment immediately after the division of the address makes this desirable in order that any business requiring early committee consideration may be disposed of.

One of the first committees to get under way probably will be that on privileges and elections. This committee will have to consider one or two phases of the report of the chief electoral officer, especially that dealing with the election in North Huron, Ont.

Oliver Figures Rail Judgment Means More Off

VICTORIA, Jan. 20.—British Columbia is entitled to a reduction of two or three cents per hundred pounds on grain moving west from Edmonton and Calgary to the coast, under the judgment sustained by the railway board yesterday, Premier Oliver declared today.

A rate of 21 cents a hundred is charged on grain moving from Edmonton and Calgary to the coast now, the premier explained. This movement, he said, should be given a rate of 19 cents at most to put it on the same basis as the eastward movement.
