VOL. 23 NELSON, B. C., THURSDAY MORNING, APRIL 9, 1925 No. 303

INTERIOR CHAMBER OF MINES IS FORMED

HERRIOT IS GIVEN TWO MAJORITY; NEARLY RESIGNS

French Cabinet Actually Decides to Resign but Reconsiders

MAJORITY GROUP SECURES CHANGE

Ministry Will Now See Financial Legislation Through

PARIS, April 9.—Badly shaken by an onslaught of the opposition in the senate on a minor issue yesterday, the Herriot ministry virtually decided to resign, but, yielding to the remonstrances of the leaders of the group making up the majority, and after lengthy discussion at a cabinet meeting, which lasted until an early hour this morning, the government came to the conclusion that the circumstances of the vote in the senate did not call for its resignation. In this vote the government received only a majority of two.

In addition to deciding not to give up office, the ministers came to the conclusion that it w s their duty to defend the government's financial bill before parliament to the very end.

Finance Communique

At the adjournment of the cabinet council a communique was issued by the minister of the int. ior, M. Chautemps. It made no reference to the subject of the resignation of the ministry, but dealt with perfunctory matters which had come up for discussion.

It stated that M. De Monzie, the finance minister, had made known to his colleagues the conditions in which the examination of the financial bill was being pursued before the chamber. The cabinet deliberated on the bill, and on the necessity of bringing it into line with the declarations made by the government on the rights of war cripples and inhabitants who had suffered property damage in the war.

The remainder of the communique dealt with the Franco-German commercial negotiations, the early completion of which, it said, might be expected, and the situation of the wheat market.

The financial bill will come up before the chamber Friday evening.

THREATENING NOTE TO EXTORT MONEY

Loeb-Leopold School Is Stage of Threats on Girl's Life

CHICAGO, April 8.—A threatening letter of the Loeb-Leopold type received by Walter A. Graff, wealthy lumberman, resident of the community where Richard Loeb and Nathan Leopold, rich men's sons, conceived and executed their kidnaping and murder plot for a "thrill," would be turned over to post office inspectors, Mr. Graff said today.

"If you value the life of your daughter Ruth," the letter said, "you will place $1000 in Washington park."

Then followed the description of a tree and a rock where the money should be placed.

A dummy package was placed in accordance with the instructions, and a police watch was sent, but no one appeared to get the package.

The letter also included Mr. Graff's son, Walter, aged 13, in its threats, leading to a police theory that fellow students of Walter and Ruth, who is 15, probably were the authors. Ruth attends the same school where Robert Franks, kidnaped and slain by Leopold and Loeb, both of whom now are serving life prison sentences, also attended.

Stock Breeders Ask Cheaper Rates Upon Light-Weight Feeders

CALGARY, April 8. — The Western Stock Breeders' association at its 29th annual convention held here today heartily commended the action of the federal government for the action it has taken looking toward a reduction in the price of ocean space for cattle, and requested that special provision be made to take care of lightweight feeder cattle, which they claimed should carry a cheaper rate.

It was decided to bring to the attention of the banks the necessity of reduced interest on live stock loans.

Haldane's Mother a Hundred Today

LONDON, April 8.—(Canadian Press Cable) — Lord Haldane has left London for Cloan, Perth, to visit his mother, who will be 100 years old tomorrow. Her health is as good and her memory as keen as ever.

She says she is glad to testify that on the whole the many changes she has seen in her lifetime have been for the better.

Firemen's Wives Must Quit Their Payrolls or Their Hubbies Go

HAMILTON, April 8.—Wives of Hamilton firemen must cease to be wage earners, or their husbands will lose their jobs.

This rule will be laid down by Chief James at a meeting of the fire and jail committee tonight.

The Women's Educational association has called the attention of the civic authorities to the fact that wives of 10 firemen are employed in offences and factories in the city, and has demanded action.

TRUST COMPANY CREDITORS WILL GET A DIVIDEND

A Final Eight Per Cent on Defunct Dominion Trust Company

VANCOUVER, April 8.—What probably will be the last substantial dividend for the Dominion Trust company creditors and depositors was authorized today by Mr. Justice Murphy, who approved payment by H. K. Burnett, liquidator, of an 8 per cent dividend from $207,305.

Includes Alvensleben Coin

This sum has been collected by Mr. Burnett since November, 1920, when the preceding and first dividend of 10 per cent was distributed. The fund includes approximately $160,000 recovers (before the Anglo-German mixed arbitral tribunal, London) from Werner von Alvensleben on drafts accepted by him before the war from his brother, Alvo von Alvensleben, then in Vancouver.

The dividend will be paid to nearly 8000 creditors, including 5900 depositors.

The company has been in liquidation since 1914.

It will take Mr. Burnett two months at least before the dividend checks can be distributed.

Another Trifling One

The collections remaining of realizable assets are comparatively small, and Mr. Burnett does not anticipate the receipts will justify more than a 1 per or 2 per cent dividend.

Dominion Trust company creditors, including depositors, will therefore be paid in full about 20 per cent, or one-fifth of their claims against the defunct estate.

BIGGEST FLOTATION IS NOW UNDER WAY

One Sixty Million of Dodge Brothers Paper Is Offered

NEW YORK, April 8.—The largest single piece of industrial financing in American banking history—the sale of $160,000,000 worth of securities for Dodge Brothers, incorporated, the third largest manufacturer of automobiles in the world—will be launched tomorrow.

Dillon, Read & Co., bankers, who recently purchased the big automobile business from the heirs of its founders, John and Horace Dodge, announced tonight that the first step in the huge financing program would be inaugurated with the public offering of $85,000,000 preference and class "A" common stock, to be followed early next week by the sale of $75,000,000 debenture bonds. Within a few days, as soon as title to the property has been transferred, a single check for approximately $146,000,000, representing the net purchase price, will be drawn by the bankers, to the account of the trustees of the Dodge estate.

This, it is believed will be the largest check which has ever passed in a commercial transaction.

Lougheed Expects a Summer Election

CALGARY, April 9. — Sir James Lougheed, Conservative leader in the senate, who returned to Calgary today for a short vacation, stated to the Canadian Press in an interview that the general impression at Ottawa is that a general election will take place very soon, probably late in June or early in July.

"But did not Mr. Motherwell say there was no election likely?"

"No," replied the senator, "he said there were no signs of an election. Signs of such things are not given out. 'A wicked and adulterous generation seeketh a sign, but no sign shall be given it,'" laughingly quoted Sir James.

Locator of Bonanza That Brought Fortune Can't Get First Price

VANCOUVER, April 8.—An effort by John Lyne to obtain $600 for a Cedar Creek mine he discovered, and which was sold for $280,000 since, failed in court today when Mr. Justice D. A. MacDonald ruled the action was premature.

Evidence showed Lyne sold the property to six prospectors on condition that each gave him $100 if it was sold.

The mine later was disposed of for $280,000, but they have not paid him.

Rotterdam Dock Workers Strike for Higher Wage

ROTTERDAM, April 8. — Dock mechanical workers who are affiliated with the Transport Workers' federation in Holland today decided to proclaim a strike. They claim increased wages of two florins weekly, and a definite arrangement concerning their holiday.

Three branches of mechanical activity at the docks are idle. Other workers are expected to strike this afternoon.

(Note.—The value of a florin is approximately 40 cents.)

SOUTH AFRICAN PREFERENCE TO BE RECIPROCAL

Quid Pro Quo or Britain Gets None; Dominions Same

PROTECTION WILL BE TARIFF BASIS

Budget of Union Places the South African Interests First

CAPETOWN, South Africa, April 8. —Minister of Finance Havenga today introduced his budget in the house of assembly. In doing so he announced an adjustment of the British preferential tariff on a quid pro quo basis. The revised rebate shown by the budget amounts to £300,000, as compared with £860,000.

For the first time in history the budget was in the Dutch language.

It was of special interest because of its bearing on the question of preferential trade relations with Great Britain. It confirmed previous reports that the government of Premier Hertzog was not disposed to reciprocate the preferential ideas of the British Conservative government.

Free Raw Materials

The minister of finance announced the government's intention to propose a revised tariff intended, first, adequately to protect union industries; second, to admit duty free or at the lowest possible rates, raw materials; and third, to adjust preferential tariff rates given unconditionally in favor of goods grown, produced or manufactured in the United Kingdom and "reciprocally" to Dominions, colonies and British possessions.

The government, said the minister, intended to place them as far as possible on a reciprocal basis, and to withdraw rebates entirely from articles on which Britain predominantly held the market, or where a proprietory name or trade mark was the determining factor in the sale of an article.

He emphasized that while the rebate was withdrawn in some cases, it was retained in others, and even was increased in certain cases from 3 to 10 per cent.

Favored Nation Facts

The minister said there was a provision for maximum and minimum rates for certain commodities, made in order to enable the government to negotiate with countries outside the British commonwealth for most favored nation terms for South African produce and manufacturers. This course, he declared, was very necessary if the government was to secure additional markets for the country's rapidly expanding production.

The budget also provides for a system of suspended duties, applicable to certain industries in a nascent stage which do not warrant protective duties.

The budget restores penny postage in the union.

Dominion Not Taking Action in Cape Breton

OTTAWA, April 8.—"In the face of continued and ever-increasing distress in Cape Breton, does the government intend to sit here idly while thousands are suffering?" asked Miss Agnes McPhail, Progressive, Southeast Grey in the house this afternoon.

Hon. J. A. Robb, acting minister of finance and senior member of the cabinet in the house when the question was asked replied:

"The government has had no further word from Cape Breton, and I can give my honorable friend no other answer than that given by the premier. We shall await a report from that province."

No "incidents" have marked the just launched campaign to enforce the school law among the Doukhobors here, thus far.

NAUTCH GIRL AGAINST MOVE

Mumtaz Begum Fights Effort to Take Case From Bombay

BOMBAY, April 8.—Mumtaz Begum Mustapha, the nautch girl, once the favorite of the Maharajah of Indore, today petitioned the viceroy not to sanction the transfer from Bombay to Madras of the trial of the persons charged with endeavoring to kidnap and remove her back to Indore.

Counsel for the nine accused men requested the change of venue.

The attorney for Mumtaz declared his client was in no condition in the present delicate state of her health to make the long trip to Madras.

Fears for Her Safety

Moreover, he asserted that Mumtaz feared for her personal safety outside Bombay.

He argued, also, in answer to the plea of the defendants that a Bombay jury would be biased in favor of the prosecution, that the case had aroused the same amount of interest throughout India, and therefore no useful purpose would be served in transferring the trial elsewhere.

JAZZ GIRL WOULD CHOKE ATTORNEY

Youthful Matricide Gives Clear Answers During Sanity Tests

SAN FRANCISCO, April 8.—Closing arguments in the sanity hearing of Dorothy Ellingson, 17-year-old matricide, were completed this afternoon, during which the girl twice interrupted her attorney, and once threatened to choke him for telling lies.

The former "jazz girl," whose trial for the murder of her mother was suspended last week, pending the determination of her sanity, gave calm, clear answers to all the questions put to her by District Attorney Harmon D. Skilling.

Liverpool Chamber Against Government Shipping Control

LIVERPOOL, April 8.—(Canadian Press Cable)—The Canadian government appeared under the impression that chambers of commerce would welcome government control of shipping freights, declared J. S. Allan, Conservative, Derby West, president of the Liverpool chamber of commerce, and prominent marine insurance expert, in speaking at a meeting of the chamber here today.

"If it really has that idea, it ought to be disabused," Mr. Allan said. He did not think any well-balanced chamber of commerce in the country was going to invite any government control interference in trade matters.

"Governments had far better work out their own salvation," Mr. Allan said.

RAILWAY TAKES EIGHT HUNDRED ON ITS PAYROLL

Cotterell Says Many of These on Kootenay Landing Fill

HE REPORTS A BUSY KOOTENAY

Nelson, Slocan, Trout Lake, Fernie Mining Booming; Trail Expands

VANCOUVER, April 8.—About 800 men have been added to the payrool of the Canadian Pacific railway throughout British Columbia during the past week, it was announced this morning by C. A. Cotterell, assistant-general superintendent for this province, on his return from a week's inspection trip over the district. Mr. Cotterell, who was accompanied by F. W. Alexander, district engineer, completed arrangements for the opening up of spring work throughout the province, and stated the taking on of this large number of men has bonsiderably improved the unemployment situation in British Columbia. A large number of these men are being employed on the filling of the last portion of the Kootenay Landing trestle.

At Fairview Shipyard

The refitting of the British Columbia lake boats and barges at Nelson is creating employment at that point, as are the various other activities connected with the company's extensive program of improvements now under way throughout the province.

General business conditions throughout British Columbia are good, Mr. Cotterell said further, and although the demand for lumber is not very active just at present, inquiries are coming in every day, and early improvement is looked for.

Splendid improvement is shown in the coal and coke business in the Fernie district. Considerable coke and coal now moving into the United States indicates the recovery of markets lost during the recent prolonged strike.

Dormant Properties Developing

With the influx of new capital, properties which have remained dormant for years in the Nelson and Slocan districts are being bonded and developed. In the Trout Lake country a large number of claims have been restaked with a view to developing to the shipping stage.

The new power plant of the West Kootenay Power & Light company at Bonnington falls is almost completed, Mr. Cotterell said, and will supply sufficient power to take care of the operations in connection with the additions being made to the Trail smelter, which are also nearing completion, and will provide for a substantial increase in the output of metals.

The restoration of boat service between Arrowhead and West Robson will take place after April 17, the date on which the dredging operations in the narrows between Upper and Lower Arrow lakes, now being carried out by the department of public works, will be completed.

Judgment was reserved.

AN ARAB MOB STONES HOTEL WHERE BALFOUR

Police Disperse Mob Which Then Contents Itself With Oratory

DAMASCUS, Palestine, April 8.—A mob gathered today outside the Hotel Victoria, where the Earl of Balfour is staying, and stoned the building. Police forces were hastily summoned, and prevented further mischief.

Lord Balfour, who is touring through Palestine, and whose visit has caused resentment on the part of some of the Arabs, arrived at Damascus only today.

The demonstration began outside the Hotel D'Orient, but the demonstration dispersed, finding that Balfour was not there.

Manager Switches Off Lights

Learning that he was staying at the adjacent Hotel Victoria, they assembled with angry shouts. The manager of the hotel rushed to Lord Balfour's room, closed the shutters, and switched off the lights.

Showers of stones were hurled.

Police drove the crowds into the square opposite, where fiery speeches were delivered.

Several arrests were made. Quiet was restored by 10 o'clock, but the police remained on guard outside the hotel.

Lord Balfour was much upset by the incident. He said he had no idea of possible trouble, and would not have come to Damascus if he had been warned.

MONTREAL MASSES URGE PROTECTION

Want Higher Slack Coal Duty; Allege There Is Starvation

OTTAWA, April 8. — (Canadian Press)—A delegation claiming to represent "the masses" of Montreal appeared before Hon. James A. Robb, acting minister of finance, and Hon. James Murdock, minister of labor, this afternoon and protested that the increase in the tariff on slack coal was not enough. It also objected to the smuggling of goods into this country and impressed on the ministers the need for a commission to investigate and revise the tariff.

The delegation presented a petition said to bear 82,000 signatures, which complained that business was bad and that starvation existed in Montreal.

Mr. Robb informed the delegation that the government proposed to establish a tariff commission, and that in order to make sure of having an unbiased board, experts were being selected from the departments to act on it Legislation was being introduced to curb the smuggling evil, the minister said.

MANY POINTS REPRESENTED AT GATHERING

Blackwood Chosen President; Close to Hundred in Attendance

MINES CHAMBER DISTRICT - WIDE

Rossland, Spokane, Cranbrook and Nelson Speakers Give Their Views

A chamber of mines for eastern British Columbia was formed last night at a representative convention of the interior territory held in the Eagle hall. Close on to 100 persons, representing Cranbrook, Rossland, Salmo, Spokane and Nelson were in attendance, before the meeting closed 63 members had joined the new organization. The chamber was formed for the promotion of the mining industry in the interior and is a district-wide organization.

Prior to the organization meeting a short discussion, with speeches from various persons, was held, in which the objects of the body were outlined.

Blackwood President

Officers elected were: Honary president, Hon. William Sloan; president, C. D. Blackwood, Nelson; vice-presidents, Al Morrison, Greenwood; Randolph Bruce, Windermere; J. P. MacFadden, New Denver; E. W. Widdowson, Nelson; secretary, Fred A. Starkey, Nelson; treasurer, E. G. Matthew, Nelson; executive committee, N. A. Wallinger, M.P.P., Cranbrook; Arthur Lakes, Salmo; W. M. Archibald, Rossland; W. H. Burgess, Kaslo; O. T. Bibb, Revelstoke; W. M. Myers, W. R. Hunter, E. C. Wragge and J. W. Mulholland, Nelson

A motion proposed by J. E. Annable that the chairman of the mining committees of the various boards of trade of eastern British Columbia, be included on the executive committee, was passed.

Local Man Started Body

The meeting was brought to order by E. G. Matthew, temporary secretary of the organization, who told of the proposed organization which had been started through the efforts of two local men, J. W. Mulholland and W. R. Hunter.

C. D. Blackwood was elected chairman, and in a short address urged moral and financial support to the organization which, he stated, would materially help in the increased production of mineral in the interior.

W. R. Hunter, who was practically the originator of the mine chamber, reported briefly on the work done by the temporary organization, and of the grant received from the government, which would be used for the maintenance of the association.

Cranbrook Behind Move

N. A. Wallinger, M.P.P., of Cranbrook, representative of the mine's committee of the Cranbrook board of trade, said he was present to find out the objects of the organization. It was his opinion that the chamber could be greatly assisted by the help of the mining committees of the various boards of trade in the interior. The move, he stated, was not one for conflict, or a challenge to Vancouver. The interior had the strongest, largest and finest mineral industry of the province, and could paddle its own canoe. Mineral products, if not in the past, must in the future be the basis of prosperity. Whatever was done at the meeting would receive the support of the Cranbrook board of trade.

J. S. Carter of Nelson declared there was a great work for a chamber of mines in the interior. Such an organization was necessary, and would do much good, especially in the Lardeau country. Its formation, he predicted, would have a beneficial effect upon business.

E. W. Widdowson of Nelson stated Nelson did not wish to hog the organization. Nelson wished help from

A Famous Man

The originator of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for the blood, as well as the "Favorite Prescription" for women, was Dr. Ray V. Pierce, a practicing physician in Western Pennsylvania right after the Civil War. He early moved to Buffalo, N. Y., and established The Invalids' Hotel, then he put up his home remedies in the World's Dispensary, where they were carefully prepared from roots, barks and herbs, and placed them with druggists all over the United States and Canada.

For over half a century Dr. Pierce's Discovery, for the blood, has been sold in larger quantities by druggists than any other medicine. It is a tonic in its effect on the stomach and digestive apparatus; an alterative in its action on the blood, liver and skin. It increases the appetite, stimulates the digestion, enriches the blood, clears the skin of eruptions and blemishes, and makes both men and women feel as they did when they were young and care-free.

Ask your nearest druggist for Doctor Pierce's family medicines, in tablet or liquid form, or send 10 cents for a trial package of tablets to Doctor Pierce's Laboratory in Bridgeburg, Ont.

MISERABLE AND ALWAYS IN PAIN

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a Dependable Help to Mothers

Port Greville, N. S.—"I took your medicine for a terrible pain in my side and for weakness and headaches. I seemed to bloat all over, too, and my feet and hands were the worst. I am the mother of four children and I am nursing my baby—the first one of four I could nurse. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before the baby's birth, so you can see how much it helped me. I cannot praise it too highly for what it has done for me. I took all kinds of medicine, but the Vegetable Compound is the only one that has helped me for any length of time. I recommend it to any one with troubles like mine and you may use my letter for a testimonial."—Mrs. ROBERT McCULLEY, Port Greville, Nova Scotia.

Before and after childbirth the mother will find Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a blessing.

Many, many letters are received giving the same sort of experience as is given in this letter. Not only is the mother benefited, but these good results pass on to the child.

No harmful drugs are used in the preparation of this medicine—just roots and herbs—and it can be taken in safety by the nursing mother.

98 out of every 100 women reported benefit from its use in a recent canvass among women users of this medicine.

MOTHERS AND THEIR CHILDREN

"I'M SORRY"

One Mother Says:

I have observed mothers go through harrowing scenes with their unruly offspring to make them say "I'm sorry," and when at last the child would gulp out the required words, one knew them to be far from the truth. Gradually a little one will come out of a contrary fit and be sorry, and it seems to me much better and wiser to accept the sweet penitence of manner than to exact those difficult words "I'm sorry" before the rebellious mood has passed off.

School Board Empowers Management Board to Enforce Act

The board of management was empowered to enforce the School act, particularly the clause referring to compulsory attendance, at last night's meeting of H. McArthur, principal of the central school, who instanced a case which he had reported to the board some time ago, in which the boy of 12 concerned was still away from school. He said the teachers did not report such cases to the board until every possible measure to ensure attendance had been tried, and he thought the time had come when the board must be willing to bring a case to court if necessary.

DOUBLE KILLING IN WINNIPEG IN JEALOUSY CASE

Hungarian Slays Woman and Self; She Was His Intended

WOUNDS HER CHILD BY SHOT IN KNEE

Foreign Quarter Nearly in Riot; Apartment House Stage

WINNIPEG, April 8.—Two dead, and a 12-year-old girl in the hospital with a bullet wound in her leg was the toll today of a sordid shooting in a block in the foreign district of this city.

Police investigating the affair in which Mrs. Rose Henderson, aged 41, and Adolphe Berger, aged 50, a mechanic, were the victims, disclosed an involved love affair dating back 10 years, at the end of which Berger is thought to have had his mind unhinged by his unrequited love for the woman. Berger and the woman are said to have lived together at various times during the past eight years, following the death of Mrs. Henderson's husband, a negro, who committed suicide by jumping from a bridge into the Red River.

Received Civic Relief

Until recently Mrs. Henderson, the mother of five children, had been receiving civic relief for the support of her family. Berger ran an auto radiator repair shop on Lombard street.

Friends of Berger state he had at various times during the past few years attempted to get Mrs. Henderson to consent to marriage with him. She had refused to marry until her family had reached a self-supporting age. The children range from nine to 18 years of age.

Today the couple inspected an apartment on the second floor of the building at the corner of Lombard and Fountain street.

Shooting in Hall

There were no eye witnesses to the tragedy that followed, but police, piercing together the evidence, have come to the conclusion that following the inspection of the apartment, the trio, Berger, Mrs. Henderson and the latter's daughter, Nellie, entered the hallway where Berger shot the woman in the throat, and then fired a bullet at the girl, hitting her in the knee, and turned his revolver on himself, placing the muzzle in his mouth and pulling the trigger.

The girl staggered to the street, and asked a passerby to "go in and see my mother. I think she is dead."

The police were called, and they found the man dead on the stair landing, and the woman sitting on the top stair, bleeding profusely from a hole in her throat, and another wound in her thigh. She died on the way to the hospital. The shooting occurred at 3:15 p. m. The daughter is in no danger. An inquest will be held.

Closed Out His Affairs

Police believe the shooting was premeditated, as Berger had recently sold his equity in some city real estate, and had written directions for the disposal of his property. Police found the directions on a piece of note paper in his pocket.

Mrs. Henderson, whose maiden name was Langley, is said to have lived at McNutt, Sask., before coming to Winnipeg. She was of English descent. Berger was a Hungarian.

The Right Name on the Right Product

WITH many products the trade name is selected because of its supposedly advertising value. In other words it doesn't typify anything significant in the product itself or its history. How different with "Dunlop!"

That name was selected for a tire without regard to any other fact than this:—Its owner—J. B. Dunlop—invented the pneumatic tire, and what is more suitable than a product being named after the man who made the product possible?

Dunlop by itself would have meant no more than Smith, Brown or Jones. "Dunlop" branded on a tire means:—

The Pioneer Product.

Thirty years' record of success.

Usherer in of the Pneumatic Tire itself, and the Straight Side Principle of design.

Inventor of "Traction Tread"—the first real anti skid.

STRICT QUARANTINE FOR SCARLET FEVER

Dr. Arthur, Health Officer, Reports Twelve Cases in City

That quarantining was being strictly observed in Nelson in scarlet fever cases was stated by Dr. E. C. Arthur, medical health officer, at Tuesday night's council meeting, in answer to a question from Alderman A. J. Austin. The subject came up when Dr. Arthur's report was read.

Alderman Austin said he had heard that three people were going to work every day from a house supposed to be quarantined, in Fairview.

Dr. Arthur explained that the house in question was a very large one, the only part of it was quarantined, and that it was with his permission that people living in other parts were going out every day.

That there had been 12 cases of scarlet fever and one suspected case during the two weeks ending Saturday, April 4, was reported by Dr. Arthur.

During that period he had vaccinated 21 children. There had been two cases of pneumonia and one of suspected paratyphoid in that time.

DOUKHOBOR WOMEN APPEAL FOR LENIENCY

Ask That Commission Be Appointed to Investigate

Brilliant, B. C.,
April 8, 1925.

To the Editor of The Daily News:

GOD BLESS US

An Appeal from the Women and Children of the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood, Doukhobors in Canada:

In the name of Jesus Christ, we appeal to all the people who believe in Jesus Christ, who suffered on Golgotha, to come to our rescue and save our chattels from ruin by the Government of British Columbia. The reason they are trying to ruin us is because we do not let our children go to school.

We are not letting our children go to school because it is against faith teaching of our Saviour, Jesus Christ.

Doukhobors have suffered for the faith of Christ even in Russia many years. When the Russian Government set the Doukhobors free, the Government of Canada extended the helping hand to the Doukhobors and invited them to come to their land under their protection. The Canadian Government very well knew that the Doukhobors do not recognize the laws of men, including school laws, they only recognize God's law, which teaches to live in peace and to earn livelihood by their own toil. They have enlightenment from Jesus Christ. The Government of Canada thought very well to have such peaceful people in their land.

Kindly take notice, dear readers, that the Canadian Government accepted the Doukhobors on conditions of freedom in all particulars, but at present time the government are blaming the public that all public—the citizens of this country—are pressing the government to make the Doukhobors by force to send their children to school, even this should bring the Doukhobor Community property to ruination, which property is at present time in a critical condition.

We are appealing to the public—citizens of this country—and chiefly to the women, to open their motherly hearts and take pity on us in the name of Christ do not ruin us, let not this spot of disgrace fall on your, so-called, civilized land, the land of freedom. You can appoint people's commission to look into the matter between the government and the Doukhobors, and that the commission should satisfy themselves about the life of Doukhobors are leading. We can assure you that the commission will find the Doukhobors most peaceful, sober inhabitants in this land, and regarding education, the Doukhobors have the highest education — the enlightenment from Jesus Christ and progressive culture in all the lines of agriculture and horticulture.

The Doukhobors have no intention to injure the government or the people of this country. We are only coming to you with a petition from the depths of our souls, let us educate our children in the school of God's nature and to carry the standard of our Saviour Jesus Christ—Toil and Peaceful Life.

We will learn our children to read and write in our homes.

Beforehand we are bringing to you our sincere thanks for your attention and wisdom for protection you will give us.

Let the Heavenly Father remay you with his kindness for the great help you will give us in this hard time.

At the present time we Doukhobors are suffering greatly from the deep wound caused by tragical death of our beloved leader, Peter Lordly, who suffered for 15 years from the Russian Government in the cold Siberia for faith of the Doukhobors and for the teaching of Jesus Christ, and here in this civilized land this great universal spiritual fighter laid down his life for the truth.

Heavenly Kingdom to him.

Glory to our God.

'ROAD TO LOVE'

By ELENORE MEHERIN

CHAPTER XL

"Don't shoot!" The man sprang back, his arms dangling.

Water rushed from the head gate into the ditch. The quiet woman in the gingham apron kept the pistol leveled.

"Move away, Mr. Rucker!"

"But you haven't any right, Mrs. Bell—no right!"

"I know that. Move off! Now!"

The man backed, mumbling to himself, shaking his fists. The two girls laughed, but the woman's face quivered in a grim desperation.

Denny, tingling with excitement, gripped Stephen's arm. As the woman crossed the path, he spoke:

"Guess you don't need any help?"

"Not today." She raised her arm, swept it over the drab, lifeless acres to the right, then back to the truck garden, where berries climbed over trellises: "They've left us that—only that."

She smiled: "And you see how I keep it!"

Impersonal, final like a figure of fate she stood; yet there lay uncovered before them the raw heart of a living drama. The woman with her girls at the ditches; water gushing; the angry ditch tender stamping down the road.

"Trouble over the water?" Stephen asked.

"That's what they did to my strawberries." She pointed to dried vines hanging over lattices. "Look there—and there. There was my corn; there, my alfalfa. Now this!"

She was a tall, vigorous woman, with her black hair laid pancakelike on the top of her head. Her voice had a deep, enduring note, as though it were charged with the memory of many battles.

"Trouble? My time for the water is noon. When noon comes, there is never any water. That's what they've done. But they aren't going to win here. I'll take the water when the water comes."

It was the story they had heard up and down the foothills—the freezing out of the dirt farmers to make way for the big corporations developing water power. In every county were these abandoned farms; these tillers pushed gradually from acre to acre till the pathetic truck garden is reached and the last stand made in a lost fight.

This woman was one of them. The small cabin with the open door, set in the midst of starved lands and only a loganberry patch left to fight for. . . .

"You want a drink? Come in." She walked briskly round the cabin to the kitchen door. "My girl can take care of the water."

The kitchen was dark, a big stove in the corner; a table set with three cups and saucers; a row of shelves with half a dozen blue plates and a big blue pitcher. In the middle of the floor was a cradle made from a big fruit box and the frame of a battered rocking chair. A baby lay sleeping.

The woman turned back the cover, glanced at it, her face softening. She poured milk into the mugs, offered them to her guests.

Then she took the pistol from her pocket, set it on the window sill.

"I suppose you've given the ditch keeper scare enough. You won't need it again." Denny felt uncomfortable, like one who steps unaware to a stage where a gaunt tragedy unfolds.

"They have other weapons that I can't meet. You've seen. We're all but starved out now. . . ."

She began to talk, and as the baby whimpered she rocked the fruit box with her foot:

"They've cleaned everyone else out. But we can't go. We've got to stay. Every cent we own is buried in this land. If I can fight it out to the end of this season! But then, the Brightons tried it. What did they get?"

This neighbor had forsaken his farm, allowed the company to take over his rights; another one had fought, and in a row his son had been killed; and there were the Brightons to the north, clinging to their wasted lands, the mother and all her children working in the cannery, and in the end they walked out destitute.

Denny felt ashamed that he had stood before mighty dams and thought callously: "Well—if the small farmer must go—he must. The world must have light and water. It's all for the good of the greatest number."

He wanted to apologize to this woman; to take back his thoughts. So he began talking eagerly. She could put in her claim. There was plenty of water in the state. She was entitled to her chance. She could insist on it.

The woman smiled. "I've been doing that for 20 years." Suddenly her eyes reddened, but they held no tears: "If we lose the berries, we're finished."

As they walked back to the road, one of the girls at the ditches waved, and the other, passing near, offered them a handful of berries.

"Too bad," Denny said. "I hope you win."

She had black eyes and happy red cheeks. "We're sure to! Rucker's a coward!"

The two of them walked silently.

"Say, that's a darn shame!" Denny blurted.

"The greatest good—you know."

"Humph! Water enough in this state for all——"

Water cradled in pale sapphire lakes; water winding like a thousand silver hairs down from the mountain; water tumbling in cascades—plenty, an overflow to nourish all these needy lands. Yet there it was—caught, prisoned behind immense dams, storing its limitless power, and all these people who had sowed the earth with their blood must stand by and see the parched, desperate lands dying for lack of it.

"Not necessary. All crooked, isn't it? There could be development without this."

"Yes—but it's like all other classes. It would take a bigger race of people to put it over and they'd all have to get the good hunch at the same time. As it is—no one cares except the fellow whose bread is snatched. When the others wake up and find their loaf is gone, too—it's too late."

Denny had been dreaming of taking his part as one of the great engineers walling up the waters of California that far cities might thrive in the abundance of light and water. He had stood thrilled, silent before these stupendous constructions, thinking: "Some day I will build such a dam."

Now he remembered the tall woman with the leveled pistol—and later this same woman sitting in a dark kitchen rocking a fruit box with her foot. She was not like Aunt Josie—yet she coupled the two of them in her thoughts. Both pushed into corners—their kind, enduring faces slapped.

One day toward the end of the summer they came upon a small valley like a golden chalice between the ridges. There was a low, rambling cabin, the ground about it tilled—green things pushing up.

In the doorway, her arms clasped behind her neck, her head tilted back, was a tall, superb woman—a young Norse goddess.

"A dam across there," someone said, "would wall up enough water for a legion."

An engineer traveling from a neighboring site answered:

"Yes—we start work on it in a few months."

"What about the people living there?" Denny asked.

"Oh—they haven't any right to the place."

"Looks as if they've worked the lands a bit."

"Well—they'll be leaving."

"Forced out, I suppose?"

"Call it that, though it's not so. Progress is more important than a man and his wife. If you were to stop until all the tracts were cleared so that no one would ever be run down—why, you'd stop forever."

"Dirty business," he said to Stephen.

"You take it too much to heart."

"I wonder if they kept the berry patch."

"Pretty girl that, with the black eyes, wasn't she?"

On their return at the end of the trip, they came again near Oakdale.

"Let's wander over and see if Rucker got his or if they won."

From the distance they saw the little cabin—the wasted lands. Reluctance slackened their steps, for the place had a desolate, forsaken air. The door of the cabin was closed. Dried vines hung over the trellises.

Without speaking, they walked to the kitchen. Boards were nailed across the windows.

"Guess Rucker won."

No voice—no step; dead leaves in the truck garden. Just outside the step was the fruit-box cradle. In it a worn-out baby shoe.

ALMOST HALF-MILE IN HALF-MINUTE

Fire Department Demonstrates for Assistant Fire Marshal

That Nelson's fire department could get the fire truck under way and reach an alarm box almost half a mile from the fire hall on Ward street in 58 seconds was demonstrated on Tuesday. The demonstration was made during the visit of W. A. Oswald of Vancouver, deputy fire marshall for the province, and the alarm was rung in from box 2-1 at the corner of Baker and Josephine streets, at 12:55 p.m.

In speaking of the good time made by the fire truck Chief M. H. Maloney said that the engine had waited until both numbers of the alarm had been rung out by the fire bell, as would be done in case of actual fire, and that therefore the actual time of the run was a little better than 58 seconds.

When the number, 2-1, was heard, numbers of people collected on Baker and Josephine, fearing a fire in a business block had started.

Daffodils and Cherry Blooms

Cherry blossoms fully out were seen yesterday in the garden of Mrs. G. Hartin, Vernon street, these being the earliest reported in Nelson or its vicinity.

Another unusually early blooming is that of the daffodils in the garden of E. F. Gigot, on Latimer street.

GIVE CRESTON CREAM STATION IF MORE COWS

Curlew People Negotiate; Townsend to Check Up Herds

CRESTON, April 8.—Creston had a visit Monday from Ira Carter, manager of the Curlew Creamery company, who was accompanied by D. D. Townsend, manager of the Nelson branch, who were looking into the situation in the immediate vicinity of the village as to possible cream supply, and the possibility of having more dairy cows handled locally.

Both gentlemen were struck with the possibilities of dairying effort, and announce that within the next week or 10 days Mr. Townsend will return to Creston, to visit all the ranchers in the valley, to discuss the situation first hand with the individual land operators, and to ascertain just what cows are now prospective creamery patrons, and to just what extent the farmers would be willing to enlarge their herds.

For the present it would look as if a cream receiving station with a competent dairyman in charge might be established at Creston, and thus enable the man who runs two or three cows to handle his shipping cream as advantageously as the bigger shipper, and when the cream supply warrants, the Curlew men assure they would be most anxious to start a creamery at some advantageous location in the valley.

COUNT KAROLYI TELLS WOES ON MAKING CANADA

Hungary So Backward, Baldwin Bolshevik; War Brewing

MONTREAL, April 8.—Premier Stanley Baldwin of Great Britain would be considered a Bolshevik in Hungary, were he to attempt to preach in Hungary the Anglo-Saxon doctrines being followed throughout the British Empire, so unconservative and opposed to progressive policies were the heads of the present Hungarian government, declared Count Karolyi, former premier of Hungary, who arrived here from New York today.

The count was admitted to the United States to visit his sick wife on condition that he did not discuss the Hungarian political situation.

He expressed himself as "very pessimistic" concerning Europe's future, which in no small way depended on the trend of events, political and otherwise in Hungary. The present Hungarian government had "no sense of fair play" and was a menace not only to that country but to the peace of Europe, which would be plunged into a series of wars before many years, if it continued in power.

Refugees in Terrible State

He deplored the number of persons who should be driven from their own countries because of Hungarian politics. These refugees, he said, were mostly in a terrible state. France was full of them.

Asked, if he had ever considered changing his nationality, he denied that he ever wanted to be anything but a Hungarian. "But, I cannot live in a country where they do not recognize my extraordinary position," he added.

PARIS, April 8.—Secretary of Finance M. de Monzie denied as utterly unfounded the current reports that the Bank of France is about to raise the discount rate, and that Georges Robineau, governor of the bank, has resigned.

Most Old Folks Require a Heart and Nerve Tonic

After middle age little sicknesses and ailments seem harder to shake off than formerly as the heart action becomes weak and uncertain and the nerves are not as steady as they were in the younger days.

Now is the time when all aged people who wish to maintain their health and vigor and retain their energy unimpaired should use

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills

Mrs. M. O'Connor, Whitestone, Ont., writes:—"I have been troubled, most of my life, with shortness of breath, palpitation of the heart, and fainting spells. I was advised, by a friend, to try Milburn's H. & N. Pills, which I did, and at once found relief, and I have never had a really bad spell since. I am 80 years of age and I always keep them in the house, and feel that with their help I will see many years yet. I always recommend them to anyone who is suffering from heart trouble."

Kootenay Creameries

Word comes from Creston that officials of the Curlew Creamery company paid a visit there a day or two ago to look into the possibilities of the cream business at that point. A dairy cow census will be taken, and an endeavor will be made to get assurances of to what extent the ranchers of the Creston valley will be willing to enlarge their dairy herds. Shipments of cream at first would be presumably to the Nelson branch, but the establishment of a branch for the valley when local production should warrant it is understood to be the eventual aim.

Nakusp is still working on the scheme for a cooperative creamery for the Upper Arrow lake district, where the dairy industry is capable of large expansion.

It is only a few years ago—four or five—since cream checks dawned on the horizon of the farmers in the Nelson district, including the Slocan valley and the Lower Arrow lake. The first year's operations of the creamery here were small, but the rate of growth was enormous, and in a year or so there was a thriving industry added to the ranches in this area.

Going back a dozen years, even the ice cream was imported from Spokane, and the local dairies made their way but slowly. It was thought the small ranch tracts could not care for cows, and a serious movement to establish goats for the small rancher was launched.

The cream business now means thousands of dollars to the ranchers, and there are other thousands of dollars latent, waiting to be called into use when other ranchers see their way to adding dairying to their activities.

A dozen years ago jam manufacture had not been started in this territory. The past year two plants—at Nelson and Brilliant—turned out between them product valued at a quarter of a million dollars.

There may be other "mixed farming" branches yet to be developed that will help the Kootenay fruit rancher to establish himself on a sound and prosperous basis, but without looking elsewhere at the moment the dairy seems to be a first-rate bet.

The Real Carlyle

David Alec Wilson, a Scot of the Scots, has added greatly to his fame as an author by writing what is termed by capable critics the best biography of his great countryman, Thomas Carlyle, ever given to the world. It is called "Carlyle to the French Revolution." One lays down Froude's book with a feeling of its inadequacy to the subject, for it contains but a feeble portrait of this man of towering intellect and wonderful versatility; but Wilson has given us the real Carlyle.

He traces Carlyle's friendships with Mill, Jeffrey, Sterling and others, revealing at times by his treatment of the author of "Sartor Resartus" a Carlylean boldness and crotchetiness which he may have acquired by his close study of the life of a man whom he greatly admires and with whose lore he is saturated. Carlyle's mind, through all its strange twists and turns, develops before us. His reading is seen to have been enormous, probably greater than that of any of his contemporaries, and the knowledge he acquired made him a literary universe in himself.

Strange that a man so widely read and quoted in our day should have been so slighted in his own time. He was sincere, and in the era of Plugson of Undershot and of gig respectability there was no market for sincerity. Magazine editors tabooed him. It was with difficulty that he got things published. The vogue of "Sartor Resartus" began in America under the patronage of Emerson. When Fraser's Magazine began printing it there was a furore of protests from its subscribers. Carlyle applied for position after position in the British universities, but his applications were unheeded. He thought of becoming some sort of public official, but, receiving no encouragement, worked on at his writing, lashing shams without mercy until, by the very vehemence of its radicalism, he made the whole British Empire wake up and begin to read him.

He derided the pretensions of the idle aristocracy and even set a lance against American democracy. But what a man he was! What fire, what tenacity of purpose! His manuscript of "The French Revolution" was destroyed by accident by a servant of Mill, to whom he had lent it, but he would take from its borrower only money enough to keep himself alive while he rewrote it. And with what awful travail was that rewriting done! In these days he would have had a carbon copy, but there were no typewriters or carbon papers in his time.

Doubtless Carlyle made mistakes, but he stood out as a man of sincerity, unbullied by authority, wholly lacking in fear of the consequences of his literary catapultings and terrific thunderings. He did not go to them himself, and latter-day lexicons contain many of his strongly expressive vocables.

My Escalloped Oysters — (Note: this recipe happens to answer the request of Mrs. E. V. N. just received). Wash one quart of oysters. Butter a medium-size baking dish and put in a layer of dry bread crumbs, add a layer of the oysters, sprinkle with a little salt, a little minced celery, and a little parsley if yau have it, then dot with bits of butter. Repeat these alternate layers till the dish it full. To one quart of oysters I use five cups of milk over the contents of the dish, and add a top layer of buttered crumbs. Bake 35 mintes in a hot oven. Serve hot. Contributed by Old Housekeeper.

How I Whiten Linen — I have two methods, both good. I think there is nothing more shiftless than allowing one's household linen to become yellowed. Perhaps other women might like this information:

Method Number One — Soak the linen in buttermilk for 48 hours, then rinse in clear, cold water, rinse again in water which is lukewarm, and dry in the sun on the grass.

Method Number Two—This is for very badly yellowed linen—discolored either from age or disuse. Put it in a solution consisting of one pound of baking soda to one gallon of boiling rain water, let soak off the stove 12 hours, then put it over the fire in the same water and boil for one hour. Have ready the following solution: Chloride of lime solution (this may be used on cottons or linens, but it yellows silks and woolens). Stir two teaspoons of chloride of lime into a pint of water in an earthenware dish and allow it to settle, then pour off the clear portion; add a few drops of vinegar. Immerse the linen in this (after it has soaked as above directed in the soda and rain water solution) and let it remain in this lime solution till it is white enough. Then rinse in water which contains a generous amount of household ammonia (this alkali neutralizes the acid, thus protecting the fabric from decay), rinse in clear water, and dry in the sun. That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

Sleeplessness

A young woman complained bitterly to a friend about her inability to sleep. She would go to bed in good time but simply couldn't get off to sleep, of it she did get to sleep it was for but short periods of time. Consequently she felt worn out all the time.

Her friend asked her what she was doing about it.

"Oh, I'm not taking any medicine yet, but I'm afraid I'll have to start soon. I really couldn't get through the day if I didn't drink a lot of tea. I drink 20 cups a day just to keep me going."

Now, this young woman was intelligent, and didn't want to start taking drugs for her sleeplessness, but she was taking enough theine or caffeine to keep her awake nearly the entire 24 hours.

I have talked about sleeplessness a number of times, and suggested that if one could absolutely get the mind into a blank condition so that there would be no thinking, one should drop off to sleep.

The relaxing of the entire body, and taking long deep breaths as if you were tired out completely, is also of help in getting off to sleep. The ideal sleep is that due to tiredness of the entire body, that is, the muscles and the brain.

That sleep depends upon the proper distribution of the blood is believed by many observers. They state that it is hard to go to sleep when the feet, or the skin itself is cold. In proof of this, they point out that the old-fashioned hot brick or stone or the electric pad to the feet usually induced sleep. The habit of giving hot milk or soup to sleepless patients is used in many hospitals, the idea being to draw the blood away from the brain to the digestive organs.

However, my thought is not what to do to induce sleep, but that you and your family doctor should endeavor to find out the cause of sleeplessness.

There may be some habit of life, such as too much tea or coffee, the keeping of the mind on one central thing instead of having varied interests, perhaps sleeping or resting too much throughout the day. Any one of a number of things may cause it, and if the cause be located relief will come.

What the Press Is Saying

Worth While

There is abundant room for reform of the Canadian tax system at present. It outrages a number of cardinal fiscal principles. If the board of advisers to the finance minister can improve it, their appointment will be justified.—Saskatoon Star.

Why We Stick

Why should we stay here? The reason is that in spite of its drawbacks and temporary difficulties, Canada, and the Canadian west in particular, offers as good opportunities of a full and healthy life as any other part of the world, and if we face the difficulties instead of running away from them, we shall before long see the harvest of opportunities ripen for one reaping.—Red Deer News.

STOCKS MOVE IN NARROW LIMITS

Motors Are Bulled but Railway Shares Break Heavily

NEW YORK, April 8.—Stock prices drifted within narrow and irregular limits in today's market. Trading was in considerably reduced volume owing to the approach of the Easter holidays.

Resumption of bullish operations in Maxwell Motors "A" and Willys Overland preferred, both of which advanced more than 3 points to new high records for the year, was the only enlivening feature. Packard crossed 23 to a new high, but slipped back later to 22¾, a small fractional gain on the day. United States Steel common closed fractionally higher at 115. Republic Steel showed a net loss of 1⅝ at 44½. Bethlehem closed fractionally lower at 40½.

Chicago & Northwestern preferred broke 3 points to a new 1925 low at 107, while the common, which was weak yesterday, closed 1⅝ higher, at 51*. Jersey Central broke 10 points, to 280 on one sale, and net losses of 1 to 3½ were recorded by Omaha common and preferred, Chesapeake & Ohio and Norfolk & Western.

Nash Motors broke 23 points, to 315, rallying to 320 at the close. General Electric showed independent strength being lifted 6 points, to 285½.

Call money held steady at 4 per cent all day. Time money stiffened slightly, 60 to 90-day maturities being quoted at 4 to 4½ per cent instead of a flat 4 per cent basis. Commercial paper, unchanged.

Total sales—942,700 shares.

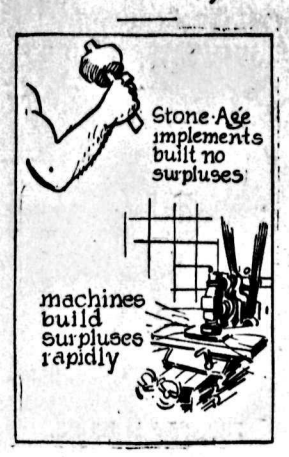
Primitive Law—'Work to Death'; Now 'Save, Live'



Primitive men had to work as long as they wished to continue living. Because of the power of accumulation and investment, all this has been changed.

* * *

Due to poor facilities the primitive man could produce little, if any, more than was necessary to live from week to week. When methods gradually improved, it was possible to create a surplus over and above the actual needs of life.

These methods have advanced so far that today a man who haves a little week by week and stores up enough of a surplus can support himself comfortably without effort when his best productive period has passed.

A savings account, followed by the gradual accumulation of good securities, is an easy matter for the average man of systematically planned — and this will give him a permanent, steady income when he is ready to stop work.

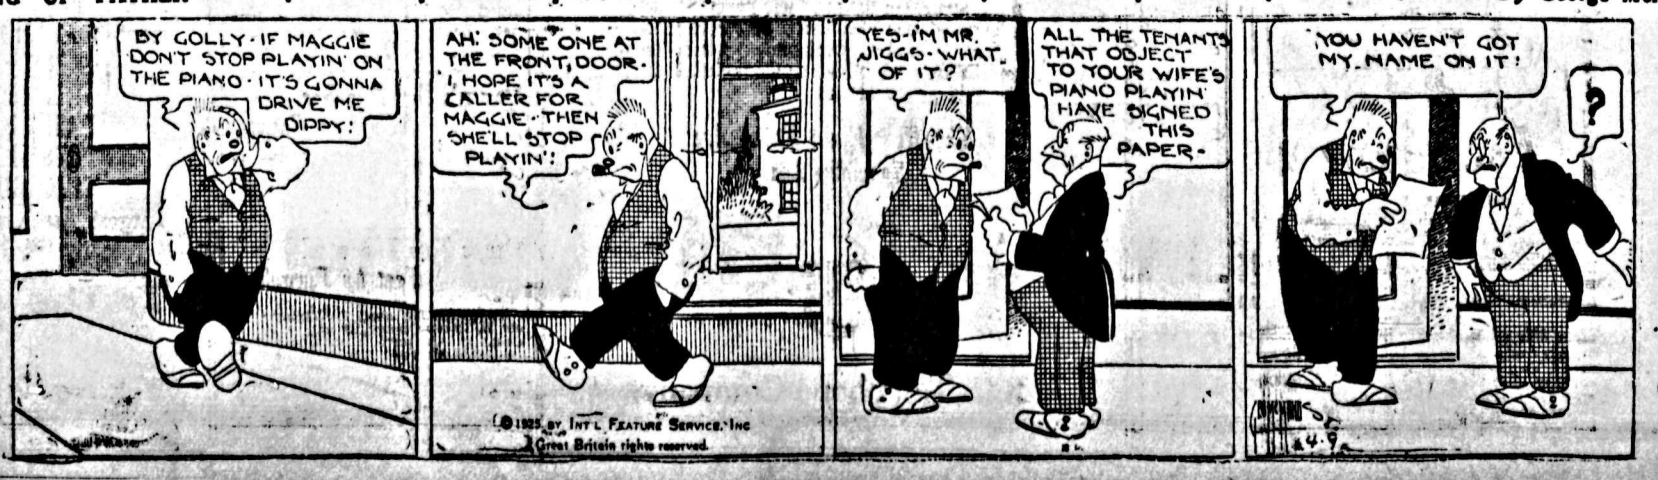
BRINGING UP FATHER —:— By George McManus



365

"Cheap?" says Grandpa. "It's a gift!"

"I've figured it out. Kruschen at a half a cent a dose is from 4 to 16 times cheaper than any of those fizzy drinks that protest so noisily.

"And then think what you get for your half-cent. Not just a single salt. Kruschen is a perfect blend of those six natural salts which are vital to your bodily well-being. Every day you must have these salts, or things go wrong inside you.

"The analysis is on the bottle. There are sodium and magnesium to clear away the waste matter that clogs your system and poisons your blood. Besides, they increase the flow of the fluids that stimulate the organs of elimination. To feed your tissues, there's the tonic potassium."

You will do well to listen to Grandpa. So long as you get the right proportion of these salts each day, your blood is pure and virile, your system is kept clean, your tissues have their proper allowance of oxygen. But once the supply fails, when your system is overtaxed through lack of fresh air and exercise, errors of diet, and a sendentary occupation, then you become a prey to all the little ills that make life just not worth while.

As much as will cover a ten cent piece every morning, tasteless in your breakfast cup of coffee or tea, makes good every deficiency. It sends clear, vigorous blood pounding gloriously through every vein, priming you with a tingling vitality that you have never known before — that "Kruschen feeling" of which you've heard so much.

A 75c bottle contains 160 morning "pinches." Get a bottle at once and start to-morrow. You'll feel many years younger before you're many days older.

Tasteless in Coffee or Tea

Put as much in your breakfast cup as will lie on a 10 cent piece. It's the little daily dimeful that does it.

Kruschen Salts

Good Health for Half a Cent a Day

A 75c bottle of Kruschen Salts contains 160 doses—nearly enough for six months—which means bounding health for less than half a cent a day. The dose prescribed for daily use for adults is "as much as will lie on a 10 cent piece," taken in your breakfast cup of coffee or tea. Every druggist sells Kruschen. Get a 75c bottle to-day.

MANY ENTRIES IN PRODUCE STAKES

Nominations Close for Race Three Years Hence; the Prince Enters

TORONTO, April 8.—The Stanley Produce Stakes, $10,000 added, a sweepstakes for 3-year-old foals of 1925, which will be run in 1928, has attracted a very lengthy list, 265 nominations having been received up to the time of closing of the entries on March 16, it was revealed tonight, in the announcement made by W. P. Fraser, secretary of the Ontario Jockey club.

The Prince of Wales, heads the list of nominators, three entries having been made in his name. Tea Party, Happy May and Flood are the prince's mares whose foals have been nominated, the respective sires being Irishman, Essexford and Will Somers.

Slightly more than one-third of the mares entered are Canadian-owned, with J. K. L. Ross, Montreal, sportsman, supplying the largest entry from the Dominion with 17 out of 91. The United States nominations number 174.

The Stanley Produce stakes is run over a mile and a quarter, and will be run in 1928, probably at the autumn meeting of the Ontario Jockey club at Woodbine Park.

VANCOUVER, April 8. — Jatrinda Gobar, Hindu wrestler, tonight won his match with Jesse Westergaard of Des Moines, Iowa, taking two falls out of three. The Iowan won the first fall in 39 minutes, with a hold scissors and crotch.

Gobar took the second fall in three minutes with an arm and wrist lock, and the third in two minutes with a half nelson.

INJURED KNEE DOOMS HAUSER

PHILADELPHIA, April 8.—Joe Hauser, hard hitting first baseman of the Philadelphia Athletics, is probably lost to Connie Mack for the season as a result of his knee injury received in yesterday's game with the Philadelphia Nationals. An operation today confirmed the fear that the knee cap was fractured.

The doctors would not venture an opinion how long Hauser would be out of the game, but it was believed he is through for the year.

Ty's Hands-Apart Grip Gives Him Perfect Control

By AL DEMAREE
(Former Pitcher, New York Giants).

Tyrus Raymond Cobb, one of the greatest hitters of all time, has a "hands apart" grip which gives him good command of the bat. His forearms have perfect control over the swing of the bat. This control spreads involuntarily to all his body so that he is ready to meet and time the ball whether it is fast, slow or a curve. He is seldom bothered by change of pace on the part of the pitcher, which will usually baffle the hitter who grips his bat at the extreme end with hands close together.

Cobb is the perfect type of all-around hitter, being able to bunt, drag the ball, hit to either field, or break up a game with a long triple or home run.

WOLVES DEFEAT MACS AT FOOTER

Score Three to One in Good Exhibition Game; Teams Play Procter

By a score of 3 to 1 the Mountain Wolves junior football team defeated the McLearies senior aggregation last night. It was a fast game from the start. From the whistle the juniors played excellent combination, and had it not been for the excellent back division of the seniors the boys would have scored several times.

Two goals were scored by Arcure, the Wolves center, before half-time was called. Arcure played a brilliant game, and it is rumored that he will be on the McLeary lineup before the senior league series begins.

In the last half the teams each scored a goal, and the game ended with a 3 to 1 score.

Both teams will play in Procter on Good Friday. The teams will line up at Procter in the following array:

McLearies—Dawes, Brown, J. Ward, Fraser, Pitts, Hutchison, Archibald, Talbot, A. Jeffs, Hector and Gordon MacKenzie.

Wolves—Gillette Bush, R. McLeod, J. McLeod, Wallach, McInnis, Rothery, C. Jeffs Arcure, Welsh, J. Huddleston.

B. P. Rogers will referee both games.

"Sunny Jim" Fitzsimmons, famous horse trainer, will have one of the largest stables in America this season. He is preparing to train 40 thoroughbreds.

Paavo Nurmi, the great Finish runner, is allowed $7 a day expenses by the Amateur Athletic union while competing in America.

CALGARY HORSE WINS THE JUMP

CALGARY, April 8.—Sailing over the bar at six feet six inches, Barra Lad, the great bay horse owned by Welsh Brothers of Calgary, defeated Bay Eagle of Edmonton in a special high jump at the opening of the Calgary horse show tonight, before 3000 wildly excited persons, the greatest crowd that has ever attended a horse show since 1914.

More than 90 colleges and 300 schools already have entered teams or individual athletes for the Pennsylvania relay carnival on April 24 and 25, in Philadelphia, Pa.

American athletes are this year captaining three teams at Oxford university, in England—lacrosse, fencing and boxing.

CENTRAL AND HUME GIVEN SPORTS DAY

School Board Confirms May Twenty-second; Orders Games Equipment

Great interest in the question of school sports generally was displayed at last night's meeting of the school board when a date for a public schools field day was set, a resolution passed to buy equipment for games, and the subject of grounds for the same considered.

T. G. Carter, assistant principal of the Central, with A. McArthur, principal, and H. Stringer, with G. E. Sparkes, principal of the Hume, made a deputation to ask the board to consent to May 22 as a field day. The board decided to make this day, a Friday, a school holiday for this purpose.

It also voted $90 to the teachers' committee in charge of the arrangements for prizes or expenses.

Buy Baseball Outfits for School

After a long discussion a resolution moved by Trustee D. StDenis, that two vaulting poles and two baseball outfits, one each for each school, be purchased at once, was passed.

Trustee W. R. Campion brought up the question of getting permission from the government to use the grounds of Trafalgar school for school games, saying that in spite of their condition numbers of games of football and baseball were being played there now by pupils from the schools. Mr. McArthur and Mr. Carter both spoke in favor of this suggestion.

The band also asked permission to play two Sundays and rest one, as far as the summer months' concerts in the park were concerned. No action was taken on this request.

the outside. Nelson did not want everything and required the help of the east Kootenay, Rossland, the Slocan and Revelstoke districts.

Kootenays Has Opportunities

Thomas W. Murray of Spokane was of the opinion that the organization had been started at the psychological moment. The Kootenays had the resources, and it was just advertising that was wanted. Old British Columbia offered more ready opportunities than any of the districts to the south. In the Kootenays there was the evidence on the surface; and it was not necessary to go thousands of feet underground for results.

He brought with him wishes for cooperation and coordination from the people of Spokane. The younger people, he said, were not so interested in prospecting as were the prospectors in the earlier days. He suggested mineralogy classes in the schools for the furtherance of the industry. He predicted an excursion from Spokane this summer, of people interested in mining in the Kootenays.

Should Suggest Legislation

W. K. Esling, the Rossland representative at the meeting compared the difference in the Slocan country 25 years ago, and today. The contrast would, he stated, create a realization of the importance of a chamber of mines for the interior.

One important function of the organization would be to suggest legislation which would help the industry. There were two factions in the mining game, the prospector and the capitalist. If the prospector was encouraged to go into the hills, it was the best way to bring attention to the mineral resources.

It was foolish to place upon the statute books legislation for the purpose of attracting public favor, without any benefit to the public. He referred to the Mineral Development act, which divided the province into six districts with a resident engineer in each. The work of the engineer was to survey properties and report to the government. The act also provided for diamond drilling of any property brought to the attention of the government by the engineers. The cost of the diamond drilling plus a bonus interest at 6 per cent, was charged to the owner. If it was not paid the property was confiscated.

Development Act of Little Use

The Mine's Development act, stated Mr. Esling, provided for the establishment of traveling smelters, concentrators and reduction plants. This act was to come into effect when an appropriation was made. Although it had been before the legislature for 10 years, no appropriation as yet forthcoming.

A useful function of the chamber of mines would be to criticise or emphasize legislation for the benefit of the prospector. The government could assist the prospectors by renting to them small compressors. The cost of operating the mining department at Victoria was $250,000 a year, and, stated Mr. Esling, when he had read of the chamber's request for a grant, he had thought it a mighty small proportion of $250,000.

Data On All Properties

W. M. Myers was of the opinion that a mine's chamber, supported by the citizens, could do much for the promoting of the industry. The spirit of cooperation between the business men was necessary. He suggested the body should maintain a secretary, an ore exhibit, and a library containing data on all mining properties in the interior.

I. R. Poole said the mine's body was an opportunity for a medium to broadcast the possibilities of the interior as a mining territory. He thought the chamber would be assured the support of the citizens of the district.

Harold Lakes stressed the need of a chamber of mines, which, he stated, would materially assist the industry. He suggested a building for the body, with a secretary, ore samples, and data on properties and mining machinery adapted to various properties.

Leon Starmont, editor of the Spokane Mining Truth, said, if there had not been a mining parade on in Spokane at the same time as the mining meet here, there would have been a representation of some 12 men from Spokane. He brought to the meeting the best wishes of the Spokane chamber of commerce.

The meeting was presided over by C. D. Blackwood, and following the organization, the gathering was resolved into a smoker. The program was in charge of E. G. Matthew and was supported by the Gyro club.

OTTAWA, April 8. — The government's subsidy to the Canada-South Africa steamship line will be cut this year from $125,000 to $100,000, it was stated in the house of commons today in answer to a question. Traffic carried by this line to South Africa during the last four calendar years amounted to $20,007,463 from Canadian ports, and $3,795,398 from United States ports.

How To Use Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots

There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles, as Othine—double strength—is guaranteed to remove these homely spots.

Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength—from any drug or department store and apply a little of it night and morning and you should soon see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is seldom that more than ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful complexion.

Be sure to ask for the double strength Othine as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove your freckles.
