DRAYTON PULLS KING RAIL POLICY TO PIECES

REDUCTION IN GRAIN RATES THREE CENTS

New Tariff Based on Exact Mileage Except Where Competition

COMPARATIVE LIST NOW PUBLISHED

Western Provinces Will Buck Montreal Board's Application on Rates

WINNIPEG, Sept. 16.—Following is a comparative list of the old and new rates from the principal centers of the prairies to Vancouver.

City	Old Rate	New Rate
Saskatoon	28½	27
Regina	28½	26
Moose Jaw	28	25
Swift Current	26	24
Edmonton	22½	21
Lethbridge	23½	23
Medicine Hat	24½	23
Calgary	22½	21

A maximum rate reduction of three cents on shipments of export grain to the Pacific seaboard is provided for in the revised railway tariff which became effective yesterday, pursuant to the recent order of the board of railway commissioners.

The new tariff, computed on shipments of 100 pounds, is based on exact mileage between the points within the area of equalization, except in certain cases where competitive tariff prevails.

Conference at Edmonton

EDMONTON, Sept. 16.—If by any chance the board of railway commissioners as a result of the application of the Montreal board of trade to be heard Sept. 28, agrees to rescind the order effective yesterday, equalizing the rate on westbound export grain and flour with that eastbound, immediate application will be made to privy council for the hearing of an appeal against this decision in order that the farmers of the west may not, without every possible effort to prevent it, lose the benefit of the equalized rate on this season's crop.

This decision was reached this morning at a conference between Attorney-General Brownlee of Alberta, S. B. Woods, K.C., Alberta's counsel in the freight rates case, and Attorney-General Cross, of Saskatchewan, held at Mr. Wood's office.

MONTREAL, Sept. 16.—Asked to comment upon a telegram addressed to the chairman of the board of railway commissioners by G. G. McGeer, K.C., counsel for British Columbia, the following statement was made today by J. E. Dalrymple, traffic vice-president of the Canadian National railways:

"The Canadian National railways have published rates on grain and flour to Pacific ports for export, strictly in accordance with the provisions of order 36,769, issued by the board of railway commissioners on Sept. 2, which is the order referred to by Mr. McGeer.

Mr. McGeer's telegram to the chairman, Mr. McKeown, read:

"Grain rates announced here indicate maximum reduction one-half cent per hundred pounds. No reduction of Goose Lake line, but half cent increase at most points. If this is true, the railways have made a complete mockery of your last order."

TOKYO, Sept. 17.—The government announced that it was beginning shipment of gold reserves to the United States, the first consignment of four million yen leaving September 20. Other shipments will be made at intervals thereafter.

MEIGHEN TALKS TO FARMERS IN OPEN-AIR MEET

Ridicules King Treaty With France as Most Disastrous to Canada

STELLARTON, N.S., Sept. 16.—In addressing two open air meetings here today, designed particularly for the farming and mining communities, respectively, Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen leader of the opposition, spoke sarcastically of the treaty entered into by the King government with France.

In order that the miners of Nova Scotia may get their champagne, their cognac, their velvets and silks a little cheaper the government entered into this treaty, he said.

"It is the most disastrous treaty that Canada ever entered into. The French treaty had cost Canada two million dollars last year and this had to be made up out of the taxes of the Canadian people."

Chance for Bargain

When the Fordney tariff came into effect in the United States he, (Mr. Meighen) would have raised the Canadian tariffs on farm products to meet it, Mr. Meighen said. "Then Canada would have been able to bargain with Australia while, at the same time, retaining her own markets for her producers."

Mr. Meighen went on to illustrate his contention that a protective tariff was beneficial by other countries. The recovery of France was an illustration he said.

"Mr. King has had 14 different policies on immigration but no immigrants," Mr. Meighen said. He charged that on transportation, immigration and senate reform, Mr. King had no real policy.

British Communist Refused Admission to United States

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—Shapurji Saklatvala, Communist member of the British house of commons, has been refused admission to the United States to attend the inter-parliamentary union here next month as a British delegate.

Secretary Kellogg announced tonight that instructions had been cabled to London to revoke the passport visa already granted Saklatvala. He explained that this action was taken under the immigration law because of inflammatory and revolutionary speeches made by Saklatvala in parliament and elsewhere which have come to the attention of the state department only in the last few days.

"I do not believe," Secretary Kellogg said, "we should admit foreigners to this country to preach anarchy or a revolution to overthrow the government."

Mr. and Mrs. John Davidson, both over 70 years of age, were the victims. They were thrown to the road when the truck hit their vehicle in the rear. Mrs. Davidson is suffering from severe bruises and shock. Mr. Davidson has been unconscious over 30 hours.

Bennett, Conservative, former minister of justice in the Meighen cabinet. It is extremely unlikely that a Liberal candidate will be placed in the field. Mr. Shaw in a statement to the Canadian Press, says that the "assault of eastern interests on the rights of the west in the form of an appeal against the recent order to reduce rates on export grain going west" is one of

CHARGE UNIVERSITY HARBORING VICES

'Fraternity House Morality' Painted in Lurid Picture by Chicago Man

URBANIA, Ills., Sept. 16.—A challenge to University of Illinois officials to show that they are not harboring what he styled "subsidized vice" was thrown down in the State Federation of Labor convention here this morning by Edwin R. Wright, of Chicago, former state president.

Mr. Wright painted a lurid picture of "fraternity house morality."

"Better burn universities to the ground," he said, "than pay them money if our sons and daughters attend them to learn immorality."

To Defend Charges

On this motion the convention unanimously extended an invitation to the university to send spokesmen to defend the charges against it.

"My attention to university morality," Mr. Wright said, "was provoked by recent magazine and book literature, some of it by college officials. And I have found evidence to support the reports. In some places I have been told of a fraternity house which was completely covered with a canvas shield, while inside a drunken orgy took place, which event savages would not have tolerated."

Of Chicago, an heiress who broke several engagements to Allister McCormick, finally leaving him waiting at the church on their wedding day, is now reported to be engaged to Dr. Bojidor Pouritch, the Serbian consul at Chicago.

POWDER BLOWS UP; TWO DEAD, OTHERS HURT

Explosion Occurs Two Miles Inside Mine on Electric Car

WHEELING, W. Va., Sept. 17. — Two men were killed and two severely burned at midnight when 15 five-pound cans of powder on an electric mine car exploded two miles inside the No. 2 mile of the Elm Grove Coal company here. The mine is located at Triadelphia.

The dead are:

Rock Sande, Triadelphia, motorman.

William Kimball, Cambridge, Ohio, a trapper.

Ross Baker, Triadelphia, laborer, and Sydney Prichard, Elm Court, a subboss, were burned.

Officials at the No. 2 mine of the Elm Grove Mining company said early this morning that a small explosion had occurred in the workings shortly before midnight, and that only a half dozen supply men were in the mine at the time. The officials said they did not know the fate of these men. They added that the explosion was not of sufficient importance to call for a United States bureau of mine rescue car.

Heavy Snow Still Blocks Progress of Prince of Wales

MENDOSA, Argentina, Sept. 16.—All through the night snow fell in the Andes. There were high winds and additional snowslides descended to still further block the Trans-Andean railway over which the Prince of Wales hopes to pass in his return to this republic from Chile. The prince, whose train was blocked well up the mountain on its way to Argentina yesterday, was compelled to return to Los Andes, where he remained during the night, but the railway officials are still hopeful that, preceded by a pilot engine and a plow, he would be able to make the trip tomorrow, or at the latest, Friday.

SEAMEN STRIKE BECOMES WORSE SOUTH AFRICA

Dutch Steamers Forced to Carry 'Royal Mail' for Post Offices

PASSENGERS ON STALLED SHIPS

Idle Seamen Total 2000; Jails Turned Into Hotels for Passengers

CAPETOWN, South Africa, Sept. 16.—The unofficial strike of British seamen is becoming worse in the ports of South Africa, and the public is beginning its effects more acutely. The British post office has even had to resort to Dutch steamers to carry the "Royal Mail."

Passengers cooped up aboard some of the ships stalled by the strike are boiling their own potatoes and roasting their own beef in the absence of chefs and table stewards.

Altogether about 2000 striking seamen are idle in South Africa. In the environs of Table Mountain, near Capetown, large numbers of them are daily playing football and cricket, and the country has been asked by Labor leaders to contribute to funds to buy sports paraphenalia for these voluntary vacationists. So many sailors have left their bunks aboard the ships that some of them are finding difficulty in obtaining accommodations ashore.

Sailors Flock Ashore

At Durban, when the British steamer Port Curna sailed yesterday, the seamen on the other ships in port all flocked to shore afraid that they might be taken out to sea unawares. The public halls and even the jail at Durban were turned into hotels for them.

The Port Curno returned to Durban today, her firemen having refused to continue fulfilling their duties after she had steamed out 100 miles.

On the docks and in the warehouses the situation is steadily becoming worse. Stocks of fruit are rotting, and eggs are not being improved by the long wait. Chambers of commerce are passing resolutions asking the government to do something to compel men to carry out their agreements.

The captain of the British tanker Atholfoam, has committed suicide and it is reported that the worry over the strike situation furnishing a motive.

Ginned-Up Gold Fish Reveal the Gin to Officers

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 16. — The little gold fish which she had cared for and fed as "good as I feed my husband" betrayed the confidence of Mrs. Ciscilla Hutopuls this morning, and she was forced to leave the pets behind as she and her husband departed from their apartment with a squad of prohibition agents.

Entering the Hutopuls apartment with a search warrant, sworn out by an under cover agent, the officers found everything to be quite proper about the household, although a faint odor of liquor permeated the atmosphere.

As the agents were about to leave the place one of them spied the gold fish bowl with its inmates cutting al kinds of capers.

"I call them Xenophen, Agamemnon and Penelope," said Mrs. Hutopius. "Aren't they cute?"

"Little wild, aren't they?" ventured Agent Henry Stewart.

The three pets seemed to have had too much. Agents said an investigation showed that the bowl contained about two parts of gin to one part of water.

Steamer Arctic Is Returning From Its Northern Trip

OTTAWA, Sept. 16.—The Canadian expedition to the Arctic regions this year has been unable to reach its objective—Bacho peninsula—and under command of Captain Bernier, the steamer Arctic is now returning. It is expected in Quebec about Oct. 1.

Girls, Wanta Go on the Farm? Just Write to City of Toronto

TORONTO, Sept. 16.—A farmer of Cheviot, Sask., is evidently under the impression that Toronto runs a matrimonial bureau. A letter arrived at the city hall today addressed to such a department, but the city not having yet ventured into that line of activity, it was referred to the waste paper basket.

The letter was as follows:

"Would like if you would send a list of girls desiring correspondence. I am a western farmer, age 26 years, height 5 feet 8, blue eyes, fair hair. I am farming a half-section of land, which I own."

IRISH VOTE ON SENATORS TODAY

Temperance and Divorce Two Issues; 76 Candidates, 19 Vacancies

DUBLIN, Sept. 16. — Temperance and divorce and the status of the medical profession are leading issues of the elections for the senate of the Irish Free State, which will be held tomorrow with 76 candidates contesting for the 19 places to be filled.

The liquor trade has put forward two candidates in protest against further temperance legislation, and has issued a list of candidates who are deemed deserving of the support of the trade.

The bishop of Cork has made a statement reminding electors of the candidates' attitude on the divorce question and urges the electors to vote in accordance with Catholic principles.

Medical Registry

There are several candidates representing the medical profession who advocate the maintenance of the present arrangement, in which Irish directors are governed by the general medical council on which Ireland has representatives. The Free State government desires to establish an Irish medical registry and a council of government for doctors.

About 1,300,000 electors are eligible to vote, and it is estimated it will take two months to tabulate and ascertain the final results, as the voting is by proportional representation with a single transferable vote.

The senators are elected to hold office for 12 years at a monthly salary of £30 with traveling expenses.

States Plans to Import Welsh Cold End of Month

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Arrangements will be made to import 50,000 tons of Welsh coal per month if the antracite strike continues to the end of September, Sahlers A. Worthelm, a prominent coal dealer, announced today prior to sailing for England. Adequate supplies of steam coal and bituminous are on hand for the normal domestic commercial needs of the country, he said, "so there is no danger of freezing." Mr. Worthelm said he did not expect the strike to continue much longer but that prices inevitably would be raised unless some importations were received.

COL. LENNOX TO OPPOSE PREMIER IN NORTH YORK

Sir Henry Drayton Denounces Rail Policy of Mackenzie King

RAIL DUPLICATION EXPENSIVE, CRIMINAL

Criticizes New Board; Gough of Home Bank 'Political Hack'

NEWMARKET, Ont., Sept. 16.—Denunciation of the government's transportation policy formed the keynote of Sir Henry Drayton's speech here this afternoon at the nominating convention of the North York Conservative association when Lieutenant Colonel Lennox, former member legislative assembly, was chosen to bear the party standard against Premier W. L. Mackenzie King on October 29.

Eight other tentative nominees stepped down in order to make the nomination of Colonel Lennox unanimous. In his speech of acceptance, he declared it was his intention to "redeem the riding." His old constituents could be assured, he said, that whatever he might do for them if elected, it would at least be no less than Mr. King had done.

Sir Henry Drayton in his address denouncing what he alluded to as the "wild orgy of extravagance" undertaken and persisted in by the King government quoted statistics from the report of the Canadian National railways for 1924 and declared the figures alone constituted a scalping indictment of the government unless destruction of the national industries was regarded as a virtue.

"The railways should never have been taken over at all," he said, "save that the course was inevitable at the time. And since they are ours, we must see that they are managed in the interests of the people of Canada."

Dazzled by Figures

He accused the "precious directorate" of being dazzled by the glare of big figures, especially when it found the money could easily be "wrung from a complacent government, from a people torn and racked by taxation."

Sir Henry concluded with a declaration that the Conservative party was out "for a 100 per cent payroll for Canadians, for the Canadian worker and home," and was sure that on that stand the party would win not only in North York, but throughout the Dominion.

Sir Henry devoted his speech to the railway situation which he said, constituted the country's greatest problem.

Former Liberal administrations built the national trans-continental and guaranteed the bonds of the Grand Trunk Pacific and brought into being a third trans-continental, the Canadian Northern.

Expensive and Criminal

"The railway duplication was expensive, criminal and stupid in the extreme," Sir Henry declared, "certain sections of the country found themselves with three lines and only enough business for one and other sections were left largely unprovided.

"The country went on a wild spree of railway exploitation of railway construction made without the slightest regard whether the lines were necessary or not, whether they could pay or not, and without the slightest regard to the resultant burdens of the country. The country today is paying for it.

"This exploitation is referred to by Liberals as the golden era of prosperity and expansion. Well, gold

DOCTOR ADVISED AN OPERATION

Read Alberta Woman's Experience With Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Provost, Alberta.—"Perhaps you will remember sending me one of your books a year ago. I was in a bad condition and would suffer awful pains at times and could not do anything. The doctor said I could not have children unless I went under an operation. I read testimonials of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the papers and a friend recommended me to take it. After taking three bottles I became much better and now I have a bonny baby girl four months old. I do my housework and help a little with the chores. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to my friends and am willing for you to use this testimonial letter."—Mrs. A. A. ADAMS, Box 54, Provost, Alberta.

Pains in Left Side

Lachine, Quebec.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because I suffered with pains in my left side and back and with weakness and other troubles women so often have. I was this way about six months. I saw the Vegetable Compound advertised in the 'Montreal Standard' and I have taken four bottles of it. I was a very sick woman and I feel so much better I would not be without it. I also use Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I recommend the medicines to my friends and am willing for you to use my letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. M. W. ROSE, 580 Notre Dame St., Lachine, Quebec.

The treatment completely broke the habit.

flowed all right, but it was not our own. The millions of railway bonds indorsed by the government were sold all right. The liabilities for it all was never considered. Perhaps the most extraordinary thing, however, is to find the King government doing the same thing today as that government, by indorsing the bonds of the country's railways in the fiscal years ending March 31, 1924 and 1925, for railway purposes other than the payment of former obligations to the extent of $118,000,000, without recognizing the ability and showing it in the debt."

Refers to Thornton Report

Sir Henry then referred to a report made by Sir Henry Thornton on the Canadian National railways, in April, 1923, a few months after the latter had been appointed president of the Canadian National railways, quoting from this report, Sir Henry pointed out that Sir Henry Thornton had stated that "apart from certain well-known cases of duplication, the lines are well located and in exceptional position to successfully perform transportation demands of the country."

"'Well, what has the government done with this great public trust so unfortunately for the country placed in their weak and wobbly hands? What have they done to ensure proper administration and economy?

"Putting it another way, what more could they have done and kept out of jail toward breaking our credit and disgusting our ratepayers with the whole enterprise?

An Inexperienced Board

"By breaking up as they did the old organization, they appoint a new board,—not a single new appointee of which, except Sir Henry Thornton, himself knows anything about railways. They discharge old directors well versed in finance, knowing the value of the dollar, the country's financial position and its business requirements. The country's greatest assets must be placed in the hands of the Goughs, Dawsons and Talbots. Although Mr. Gough's knowledge of high finance was illustrated by his having deposited in the Home bank, one million dollars of the railway's funds just prior to the bank's last annual meeting, to be withdrawn some three days after it had served its purpose, his financial ability and his knowledge of the affairs of that bank, vice-president as he was, was so little that his conviction for making false returns to the department of finance was set aside.

"But it is to political hacks of this kind that the King government think proper to entrust the greatest railway in the world. The result is just what reasonably must have been expected. The wildest extravagance and suicidal competition with the Canadian Pacific. Equipment deluxe. $44,000,000 spent in two short years for equipment alone, radio services, golf courses, extravagant and unnecessary purchases of real estate. Political branch lines; the leasing of unremunerative lines and advertising here, there and anywhere.

Horses Bolted, Throwing Him From Binder; Foot Caught in 'Trip'

REGINA, Sask., Sept. 16. — With clothing partly burned away and the body bruised severely, Walter Mahoney, 22 years of age, was found dead in a field of flax early last evening on the farm of Andrew Wolff, three miles north of Liberty.

KING APPEALS TO WOMEN ON TARIFF ISSUE

Asks if They Are Willing Under Meighen to Pay More

MEIGHEN'S RAIL POLICY IS 'DOLE'

Predicts Large Number of Liberals for Ontario in Maritime Speech

ST. PETERS, N.S., Sept. 16. — Continuing his maritime campaign by addressing an open air meeting by the seashore here today, Premier King emphasized as he had at Amherst, that in the development of export trade lay the way of the maritimes. "What you need," he said, "is to have a lowering of ocean freight rates on your products. We had to have courage to attack the problem. We have not solved it yet, but want to keep at it." The premier also pressed the point with reference to reductions made by the government in the import duties on articles used by fishermen. "How can the maritime provinces become prosperous?" he asked. "We say by getting wider markets near your door." The maritimes were better situated than any part of Canada to participate in overseas trade, he added.

Appeals to Women

On the tariff he urged that higher protection would mean higher prices, and here he made a special appeal to women. We are they, he asked, prepared to support Mr. Meighen, and thus increase the price of things used in the home. He claimed that under Liberal rule trade had already been developed.

Mr. Meighen, the premier proceeded, would increase the duties on agriculture along with manufactures, and discussing Mr. Meighen's proposal to assist railways in transporting goods of the maritimes and the prairies and Quebec and Ontario, Premier King referred to it as a "dole" which the proud spirited people of the maritimes would not want.

Predicts Ontario Liberal

The prime minister predicted that the retirement of the United Farmers of Ontario from the federal campaign would mean the election of a larger number of Liberals from the Ontario rural ridings. He was also confident that the government would capture a number of seats in the west.

The meeting opened with congratulations to G. W. Kyte, chief Liberal whip, who this afternoon received the nomination for Richmond and Cape Breton West, in which St. Peters is included.

CHAPTER XXXX

A Weaving of Webs

Carsdale looked around him with the stealthy care of a man who fears that even the most unlikely things may shelter an eavesdropper.

"Sophie!" he whispered.

Mrs. Walsingham shook her head. "Fast asleep," she said "It's all right—there's no danger. What is it, Jack! I know something's happened. Not so much because you're here, but because of—your look. Tell me!"

Carsdale took off his hat and, putting it down, wiped his forehead. Now that he was here, away from his own place, matters looked worse.

"It's—bad," he went on, in the same low tones. "You remember what Sandy Kinahan told you?"

He was watching her keenly, and he saw her suddenly put her hands behind her and grasp the edge of the table against which she had backed when they entered the room, and he knew from the whitening of the knuckles that she was gripping it hard. And then she whitened to the lips.

"Take it easy, now," said Carsdale. "You've got to know. What Sandy Kinahan told you wasn't true."

She tried to swallow once or twice, and then to speak; and, Carsdale went over to the sideboard, quickly mixed her a drink, and forced it on her.

"You mean—he isn't dead!" she whispered.

"He's not dead," answered Carsdale, with a cynical laugh. "It was all a plant of Kinahan's and somebody else's for some reason. No, Master Sydney is very much alive!"

She stood staring at him with dilated eyes and parting lips.

"He's here?" she said.

"He's here," replied Carsdale.

"In—London?" she whispered.

Carsdale made a grimace.

"To tell you the truth, my girl," he said, "he's at my rooms, and he's either enjoying himself with my whisky—though he's too fond of keeping his wits to touch much of that—or he's safe between the sheets. That's where Syd Werrick is!"

She threw up her head with a gesture of despair and dropped into the nearest seat.

"My God!" she muttered. "What's to be done?"

"Heaven knows!" answered Carsdale. "I don't."

"Where on earth did you find him?" she asked.

"Find him! We met—met in the strand. He hailed me, cool as a cucumber," said Carsdale. "And he'd just come from seeing—you."

"Seeing—me!" she exclaimed.

"He happened to catch sight of you and the boy going into the Odalium, and so he bought a pit ticket and feasted his eyes on you and the necklace," answered Carsdale grimly. "And, naturally, when you left the theater he watched you over the road to the Cecil. You know Master Syd's tricks."

Mrs. Walsingham had taken a filmy handkerchief from her bosom and was twisting and untwisting it in her jeweled fingers—it was suddenly torn violently in two as if by mere will-power. And Carsdale laughed.

"It's no good, Sylvie," he said. "The thing is, to keep calm and cool. Sydney's a rock that you're up against—I, too, perhaps. According to the law of this blessed land, he's your husband, and he's done nothing that you can rid yourself of him for. That's flat. Now that he's back, the best thing is to make the best of a bad job, and see what we can do. One thing's certain—if your lord and master is to be kept quiet, we shall have to take him into partnership."

"Partnership!" she exclaimed.

Carsdale sat down and tapped her knee.

"You must see," he said, quietly, "you must see that the serious affair with the boy is off—off, as far away as Cape Horn! You can't commit bigamy. All that we can do now is to make as much as we can out of him. And—unpleasant as it is—Sydney Werrick will have to come in at it."

She sat staring at him in silence for a full minute; then, with a low, harsh laugh she rose, and, going over to the sideboard, mixed herself another drink.

"Play light," said Carsdale, warningly.

"Give me a cigaret," she said, coming back to her seat. "Thank you. Now, then—what do you propose?"

Carsdale again looked cautiously and suspiciously around the room.

"You're sure that girl is really asleep—and safe?" he whispered.

Mrs. Walsingham madq an impatient gesture.

"Certain!" she answered. "Never mind her. Get to business."

Carsdale fingered his moustache for a minute or two, staring fixedly at an exact point of the ceiling.

"Well," he said at last. "Well, if we've got down to plain and brutal fact, I think we both know what we intended about the young 'un when that letter to Barclay Leverton fell into our hands. Things ran well for us, Sylvie—especially when Sandy Kinahan brought that news which wasn't true. As they ran, you were going to get your share through marriage—and an excellent way it would have been, and would have saved an awful lot of trouble. But now that Sydney's turned up, that's all off—it's impossible, it's quite—"

"Couldn't Sydney be bought out and packed off for good?" she suggested.

Carsdale shook his head with unmistakable dissent.

"That's still more impossible," he replied. "You'd never know when he'd come back. No—it's off—off! And so—well, we must reap our harvest in another way. Fortunately we've so engineered things that it won't be very difficult to reap. And, if you want to know the truth, I shan't be sorry to make a new development. Things are not good."

She looked at him quickly.

"You mean—you want to get out?" she asked.

"Something very like it," he admitted. "The young 'un's coming was a god send, and, if we only play our cards properly, we can start in fresh fields and new pastures to big advantage. But don't forget this—Syd Werrick will have to be in at it."

WORK ON THE STEMWINDER, NORTH STAR

Diamond Drills Are Exploring Kimberley Properties, State Visiting Engineers

Around 60 men are doing development work, and three diamond drills are in use, at the North Star and Stemwinder properties at Kimberley, according to O. C. Thompson, mining engineer, connected with the Porcupine gold fields, the Canadian company of the Consolidated Gold Fields of South Africa, who is at present visiting Nelson.

Mr. Thompson, together with C. C. Starr, A. P. Crawford and A. D. Frith, all of Kimberley at present, but connected with the same South African company, has just returned from visiting Kimberley and other properties in the district.

While in British Columbia they have visited properties at Prince Rupert, Prince George, Quesnel and along the P.G.E. Recently they have made trips through the Lardeau country, and the Salmon valley.

Mr. Thompson said last night that the North Star and Stemwinder properties were lead-zinc properties, similar to the great Sullivan of Kimberley. While development is going on no ore is being shipped.

CONKLIN SHOW AT NELSON FAIR

Greatly Augmented Midway Will Be One of Features

A distinct novelty will be experienced next week when the Conklin & Garrett, all-Canadian shows play the Nelson fall fair, inasmuch as it will be a wholly all-Canadian organization which has been awarded the contract to furnish the midway features.

The show this year will have four big new riding devices namely—the whip, a sensational, snappy ride, the delight of those who are just into their long pants and feel like taking in something with a little pep to it. The giant ferris wheel, for the ones who like that high and lofty feeling, and a new European invention that has taken the continent by storm called the Devils Dip and, of course, the time honored merry-go-round which no fair would be complete without. Then there will be circus side shows galore, in fact there will be so many of these attractions that are way above the ordinary that fair visitors will feel like doing the same shows twice. To enumerate all the shows would take too long but chief among the good things promised are Speedy Williams on the wall of death with dare devil feats that defy the laws of gravitation on a perpendicular wall with motor cycles, Fremminni's temple of mystery is a show that will keep all talking long after the fair is over. A show that will be sure to please the young as well as the old is a mammoth jungleland with every known species of wild animals from all the corners of the earth.

From all advance reports about the show those who miss the fair this year are going to miss one of the greatest amusement treats the fair board has ever brought to Nelson.

Labor Urges Reform and Reconstruction at Labor Congress

LONDON, Sept. 16.—The experience gained by the Labor party in the administration of the government during the Ramsay MacDonald regime is reflected in the cautious wording of the official resolutions on the agenda of the annual Labor congress to be held at Liverpool commencing September 29.

The resolutions according to announcement, together form a "coordinated policy of national reconstruction and reform, seeking by parliamentary means and progressive stages to develop the material and mental resources of the nation," in the interests of the workers.

Warm conflicts are foreshadowed by the numerous and drastic amendments by various affiliated organizations, rising to a crescendo of denunciation of imperialism on the part of the executive.

NELSON SUMMER WAS DRIEST IN SIX-YEAR TERM

Figures Stop There; but the Average for Decade Also Beaten

This last summer was the driest for six years, according to figures supplied by J. S. Goulding, local meteorologist. During the three summer months of June, July and August, 1925, the total rainfall was 2.09 inches. The wettest summer in the last six years occurred in 1923, when the rainfall was 9.74 inches. Figures given by Mr. Goulding show the rainfall from 1920 to 1925, in the three summer months, to have been:

1920—June, 1.82; July, 1.08; August, .57; total—3.47.

1921—June, 2.42; July, .24; August, .53; total—3.19.

1922—June, .8; July, .02; August, 1.57; total—2.39.

1923—June, 4.66; July, 3.96; August, 1.12; total—9.74.

1924—June, 2.41; July, .22; August, 3.16; total—5.79.

1925—June, 1.56; July, .83; August, .7; total—2.09.

The average rainfall for the summer of three months for the last 10 years or more is 5.76 inches of rainfall, made up of an average rainfall of 2.55 inches in June, 1.7 inches in July, and 1.51 in August for that time. Therefore the summer of 1925 had 3.67 inches less than the average rainfall. The rainfall for August this year was .7, or 1.26 of an inch less than the average for August for 10 years or more.

August Bright

Mr. Goulding's weather report for August shows that the total number of hours of sunshine was 240 hours, 12 minutes, while in 1924 there were 243 hours 16 minutes, and in 1923 there were 292 hours.

In giving the number of clear, fair and overcast days for the month, Mr. Goulding explained that the method of determining the classification was to divide the sky into tenths, taking a sky nine parts clear and one part cloudy as clear, two tenths and eight tenths clear sky as fair weather, and nine and ten tenths clouds as overcast weather. His August measurements showed 10 days clear, 15 fair and 6 overcast.

He also explained that observations for the velocity of the wind were taken twice a day, at 8 in the morning and at 5 in the afternoon, or 62 times a month.

Fourteen East Winds

Observations for August, 1925, showed there had been seven winds from the north, 14 from the east, seven from the southeast, six from the south, five from the west, and 23 calm days. The greatest wind velocity occurred on August 21, when it blew at the rate of 35 miles an hour from the southeast.

The highest maximum for the month was 91 degrees on August 21. The lowest minimum was 36.3 on August 29. Mean temperature for the month was 62 degrees, seven degrees above the average for the month of August for 10 years or more.

The highest barometer reading for the month was made August 10, and was 30.23. The lowest was 29.36 on August 21.

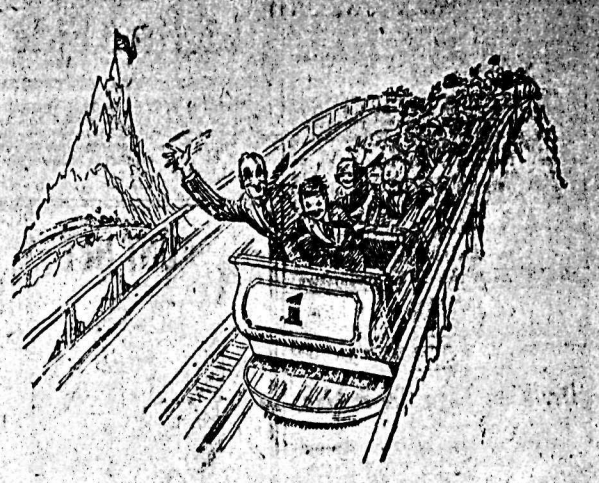
Grandpa leads in ways of Toyland
"Kruschen" brings back days of boyland...



"Big Times at the Park"

"Old enough to know better!" That's the constant cry of the Dismal Jimmies.

"Young enough to know best!" That's the invariable retort of Grandpa Kruschen, the youngest old man alive in the world to-day. And the best authorities are on Grandpa's side, for where will you find a better outlook upon life than in the unfailing soaring spirits of youth?

Add these high spirits to the worldly experience that only long years can confer, and the world is your oyster. And—

The way to achieve that end—to keep your heart and spirits ever young — is to come to the aid of Nature when your health fails—with "the little daily dimeful."

Every morning you tip into your breakfast cup of coffee or tea as much of the magic Kruschen powder as will cover a ten cent piece—a tiny, tasteless pinch. Because Kruschen is an ideal combination of the six vital salts that Nature demands for your proper well-being, this little daily dose gently but surely expels all the clogging waste-matter that sluggish or overtaxed eliminating organs have permitted to accumulate. Freed from these poisonous impurities, most of your troubles disappear—depression, headaches, nerves, sleeplessness, constipation, and all the other little ills that take the edge off life. And the tonic effect of it—the tingling vitality in every fibre that we call "that Kruschen feeling"—makes a new being of you.

Go now to any druggist. Buy a 75c bottle — 160 doses — and start growing younger to-morrow.

Tasteless in Coffee or Tea

Put as much in your breakfast cup as will lie on a 10 cent piece. It's the little daily dimeful that does it.

Kruschen Salts

Good Health for Half a Cent a Day

A 75c bottle of Kruschen Salts contains 160 doses—nearly enough for six months—which means bounding health for less than half a cent a day. Dr. King Tags the Babies

Make no mistake, the railway babies were left on our doorstep. I want you to clearly understand that a Conservative government took over those roads.—Dr. King, addressing his nomination convention.

Dr. King, we are to gather, was instructing his delegates on the line to follow in canvass in this campaign, and his advice was to claim that the railway babies were Conservative ones.

Is there any possibility that Dr. King, not less human, and therefore not less liable to err, than other doctors, has got his tags mixed?

How about the Grand Trunk Pacific baby? Did not this baby have millions of dollars' worth of land grants, fruitful townsites, and recurring loans of many millions, the later loans not any part of the original program presented to parliament by Sir Wilfrid Laurier in person?

Did not the Laurier government construct, for this baby, the enormous link across largely unproductive territory, called the National Transcontinental, between Winnipeg and the east, and was not the cost so excessive that the baby refused to accept ownership?

Paternity of the Grand Trunk Pacific baby, whose inception, on the lines projected and later realized, was vigorously opposed, even to resignation, by Hon. A. G. Blair, Sir Wilfrid's own minister of railways, seems fairly up to the Liberals.

Seven or eight premiers gave their blessing to the Canadian Northern baby, and backed their blessings up with subsidies, privileges, loans and guarantees. Two of these premiers were Conservative. And among the Liberal governments that smoothed the way for the Canadian Northern was the Dominion government of the day, headed by Sir Wilfrid Laurier. At least, the Canadian Northern baby was of mixed parentage, predominantly Liberal at that.

Now the object of this discussion is to straighten out Dr. King's tags, not to condemn Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Sir Wilfrid should not be criticized for promoting and partly building a railway for which the whole west was clamoring. It was an era of railway expansion, and Canada, with some other parts of the world, it can now be seen, was somewhat "railway crazy."

On the other hand, Sir Wilfrid Laurier's government had a most definite responsibility for the excessive costs piled up by—yes, by Hon. G. P. Graham, now guiding the deficits of the Canadian National!—upon the National Transcontinental, now a part of "Canada's railway problem."

Thus the forebears of the King government seem to have earned the right to be debited with:

Paternity of Grand Trunk Pacific baby;

Part responsibility for Canadian Northern baby;

Paternity of National Transcontinental excessive debt baby.

Fie for shame on you, Dr. King, to mix these babies' tags so.

What Dr. King Omits—a Mere $118,000,000

"I want you to clearly understand that a Conservative government took over those roads."

Just what does Dr. King want British Columbians to take out of that sentence?

Does he want to say that those roads should not have been taken over? Did Dr. King, in the troublous period of the war, favor allowing three railway systems of practically national scope to go into the hands of receivers, inevitably to be closed down? This would have been interpreted throughout the world as national collapse.

And it would have been national collapse. The abandonment of the population settled along those railways could not, of course, have been contemplated for a moment.

It fell to the government of the day to deal with and avert these three separate impending catastrophes. Sir Robert Borden was head of the government.

In arranging to save the Canadian Northern, for instance, Sir Robert started out by scaling down the capitalization $100,000,000. And he did other and similar things later.

Similar rules were applied by him to the salvage of the Grand Trunk Pacific and the Grand Trunk.

Now, in simple terms, what is the situation of the Canadian National railways today, after the "reorganization" that Dr. King glories in, has been in effect for three or more years?

Well, Dr. King speaks of an "operating surplus" of $17,000,000.

He fails to mention that last year, between deficits and new outlays, $118,000,000 was added to the debt of the Canadian National railways, $65,000,000 of this being for new construction and equipment. This $118,000,000 addition to the debt is net, after swallowing up that "operating surplus."

A somewhat similar principle is applied by Dr. King, and other spokesmen of the government, in calculating the country's financial position. The obligations assumed in connection with the Canadian National are considered to have nothing to do with the country's financial standing. This last year, for instance the government made a cash advance to the Canadian National of $18,000,000, and gave it a guarantee of $81,000,000, enabling it to borrow that sum with the responsibility for repayment upon the government. By keeping in a separate account this $99,000,000 of brand new obligation, and not entering it as among current expenditures, though a loan or a guarantee in any other connection would be so entered, the government enables its exemplars and supporters, Dr. King among the former, to talk of an $11,000,000 government surplus over expenditure.

The government cannot be induced to say, though the two accounts together give it away:

"Yes, we spent $88,000,000 more than we took in."

Efficient Housekeeping

LAURA A. KIRKMAN

The Boswell-Sanca Women's institute recently pointed out to The Daily News that Miss Laura A. Kirkman has not always featured local fruit as much as they might have done. This criticism resulted in various ladies well-known for their competence in devising menus being asked to arrange a few for publication in "Efficient Housekeeping." The menu below belongs to this series:

CROCHETING A GIRL'S SCARF AND HAT

(From Mrs. W. M. Walker)

TOMORROW'S MENU

Breakfast
Left-Over Baked Apples
Cereal
Codfish Cakes
Popovers Coffee

Luncheon
Spanish Omelet
Whole Wheat Bread
Jam Celery Cocoa

Dinner
Steamed Clams
Escalloped Potatoes
Carrots Peas
Steamed Raisin Pudding
Hard Sauce Coffee

Now is the time to begin that plaid scarf and close hat which your high school daughter will want, later on, for skating. Buy 10 balls of brown angora wool and six balls of buff angora. Use a number four bone crochet hook.

Scarf—Using the buff color, chain 48 and on this chain work two rows of 47 single crochet each, fastening in the brown at beginning of first row and always carrying it along inside of the buff yarn stitches. Rows should be nine and one-half inches wide. Row three: Turn, ch. one, * with buff work two s. c., carrying brown yarn along inside and working off loops of second s. c. with the brown yarn. With brown make seven s. c., carrying buff yarn along inside and finishing last s. c. with brown. There should be five buff sections in row, with two s.c. with buff at end. Repeat third row six times, making seven block rows in all. Repeat from beginning of first row of work till scarf is 58 inches long, ending with two buff rows. Make seven rows all brown, carrying the buff along inside, and fasten off. Go back to starting ch of scarf and along other side of it make seven rows with buff to correspond with other end.

Hat—With buff, chain 75 and work as instructed for scarf, having eight blocks in width, till two buff rows after fourth series of blocks have been worked. Fasten off. Finished piece should be 16 inches long. This is for center part of hat. Make side pieces as follows: With brown chain two; in chain first made work seven s. c. Work round and round, increasing as necessary to keep work round and flat, till crochet is four inches in diameter. Fasten off. Make a second piece in same way.

Now measure off two and one-half inches around edge of one of the side pieces, and along remainer of same edge, sew one edge of center to part of hat, gathering in fullness evenly. Sew other side piece to other edge in same way. For turnover use brown: holding inside of hat toward you, work round and round with s. c. till turnover is one and one-half inch deep. With buff yarn make a button loop at center of each side of turnover and cover buttons with s. c., sewing them over center of side pieces to correspond with buttom loops. Brush the entire set with a stiff-bristled brush.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

Changing Your Posture

During the war some of our mining men, prospectors and woodsmen were able to teach the war department some things about carrying loads. By the use of a yoke across the forehead and embracing the shoulders, they were able to carry from 50 to 100 per cent more weight than by some of the other or older methods. When the weight was removed for a time, a little bending of the neck was in order.

This matter of "tiredness or fatigue" of which I speak from time to time, now occupies an important place in the thoughts of the efficiency experts. These men have discovered that more accidents occur near the close of the day than at any other time, due to tiredness of brain and body. They have found too that on Saturday morning there are more accidents than usual, due to the tiredness from the week's work and also to the fact that the worker may be thinking of the close of the week, the rest or holiday ahead of him, and so forth.

One of these experts has discovered an interesting thing. He found that in the lifting of weights steadily for a certain period, that even although he gave the worker some rests, less work was actually done than when he went along for the same period without a rest. That is so long as the worker was motionless during the rests. But if he changed his posture by bending his shoulders or moving his arms, and by so doing influenced his circulation, the total work done was decidedly greater. In fact his ability to work was made more effective by his change of posture or position of his body, than by actually taking longer rest periods.

This is exactly in line with what some workers have discovered for themselves. The man standing at the bench finds that walking around one rest period helps him, and then sitting down the next rest period likewise helps him. And the one sitting at the desk or machine stands up, stretches his back and arms, and likewise helps his entire circulation, particularly in the tired or fatigued parts of the body.

A dog or other animal will stretch himself after lying down for some time. When he has been running or has been his feet for a time when he lies down he seems to relax every muscle in his body. Animals naturally assume postures that relieve strain and fatigue.

These findings of the efficiency experts are worth taking unto ourselves as we go about our daily tasks. We will do more work, feel less tired, and feel better physically.

What the Press Is Saying

Four Years Misused

The four years during which the Liberals have held office should have been years of reconstruction. They should have been years of employment for all, of a gathering influx of immigration and of growing economic contentment as the stability of post-war conditions became assured. During those years, however, Canada has had a definite unemployment problem each winter, hundreds of thousands of her citizens have been forced to emigrate to the United States in search of work, and, because of tariff reductions, business conditions have been upset and the facilities for employment within the Dominion reduced. The government has lacked vision in its general policies and has shown a hopeless appreciation of economic realities in its handling of the fiscal question. Taxation remains practically as heavy a burden on the people as during the concluding year of the Great war, and there has been no let up or hindrance to the spendthrift proclivities of the party whose motto has been so clearly shown to be that, "to the victors belong the spoils."—Victoria Colonist.

Beneficence or Rotary Club

It was recently discovered that the Medicine Hat General hospital was in need of an elevator. An estimate of the cost showed that about four thousand dollars would be necessary for the work. There was some perplexity as to how the money would be raised, as the hospital of the neighboring city, like our own and all other public hospitals, is not in business primarily to make money. The Rotary club of Medicine Hat, as Rotary clubs everywhere have a fashion of doing, came to the rescue with intelligent benevolence.—Lethbridge Herald.

EAT ONION SOUP AND DIE

PARIS—Naples is supposed to be so wondrously beautiful that having seen it, there is nothing more in beauty to be sought for. If, as to cities, one is able to say "See Naples and die," so, of foods, one is apparently expected in France to say "until you have eaten onion soup you have not lived."

There are lots of places where you can buy onion soup, but there is only one place where you take it is a steady diet, if you can. That is "Les Halles," or the public markets of fruit and vegetables, to which are brought from the country districts the main Paris supply of fruits and vegetables. There they are sold to wholesalers, to stores and to the countless men and women who vend them from handcarts which are lined up by the scores on one or more streets in every district of the city.

The proper time to visit "Les Halles" is at about daybreak. Then the market activity is at its height. It is much like Covent Garden in London. Baskets and boxes of vegetables and fruits are piled up in the market building and on the sidewalks outside. Men and women by the thousand, it seems, are buying and selling, packing and unpacking, unloading from wagons and trucks, and reloading into the vehicles of purchasers.

Onion soup is supposed to be the staple diet of the workers at the market, and of the men and women who bring in or take away the vegetables. Certainly, it seems to be the one dish to be found in every one of the tiny cafes with which the streets surrounding the market are dotted.

Like Bob Stevens' Clam Chowder

The only thing I can compare the soup to is the one-famous clam chowder which Bob Stevens in the days of the "flu" epidemic used to dish out at the old L.D. lunch counter in Nelson. It seems to have everything in it, but floating above the mass of vegetables and rather oily soup, is a thick coating of cheese.

The cheese is doubtless nutritious, but it comes off the top of the soup, much like noodles, long strings of it reach from your soup plate to your mouth. And it is a heavy, glutinous sort of a cheese which defies the teeth, more like chewing gum than an edible substance. But the soup, like all French soups, was excellent, even if the cheese did appear to have reached a condition which suggested the source of a new supply of rubber to solve the world shortage which is causing the price of tires to soar.

TRAIL DANCES WON BY COAST FAIR DANCERS

Caledonian Day at Trail Fair Closes Excellent Show; Athletics Winners

TRAIL, Sept. 16.—Whirls of the kilt and the skirl of the pipes of the Trail kilty band on the principal street of the city early this afternoon heralded this as "Caledonian day," and all the Scotchmen and others turned out to celebrate. A long list of sports took place at the athletic grounds, the most popular, probably, being the keen competition in highland dances.

Competitors were present from Vancouver, Kamloops, Fernie and Trail. Miss E. Armstrong of Vancouver won the grand aggregate in dancing, with Miss K. Moore, also of Vancouver, running a close second.

Leo Burke of Spokane won the Trail News cup emblematic of the grand aggregate in field sports. He also won the Nelson News prize, the gold watch and chain, by taking the 100-yard dash.

Gauld Dancers Good

In the evening the fair building was filled with a tremendous crowd that was more than pleased with the entertainment given under the auspices of the Caledonian society. As on the previous evening Miss Jean Gauld and her company of Calgary were the headliners. Others taking part were Miss Thompson, Miss M. Pickthall, A. Downey and the winners of the dancing competition in the afternoon.

Later in the evening a dance was held in the K. of P. hall to wind up the close of Caledonian sports and the end of the Trail fair.

This was followed by a few musical numbers and refreshments, and then came the presentation of a prayer-book each to Mr. and Mrs. Lyne, the rector, Rev. H. Varley, making the presentation.

In addition to the prayerbook Mrs. Lyne was remembered by the ladies' guild, the president, Mrs. H. L. Crosthwait, as a token of appreciation, presenting an electric reading lamp. Mr. Lyne responded in happy fashion, and Mrs. Lyne also spoke briefly.

CRESTON INSTITUTE HEARS OF ANNUAL

Delegate Reports on Conference; Plan Social Evenings

CRESTON, Sept. 15.—There was a fair turnout of members of Creston and District Women's Institute which met in September session on Monday afternoon with the president, Mrs. M. J. Boyd, in charge. The feature of the meeting was a report from the secretary, Mrs. James Cherrington who was delegate to the provincial women's institute convention at Victoria in July.

The committee on community needs was asked to cooperate with a board of trade committee that is endeavoring to work out a plan for permanently beautifying Creston cemetery. Mrs. James Cook, Mrs. M. R. Joyce and the president were selected to arrange for a fitting celebration on the occasion of the institute's tenth birthday anniversary which occurs next month.

Have an "At Home"

It was agreed that the institute will have an "at home" of some sort during Armistice week. Miss Edith Crawford brightened up proceedings with a couple of piano solos, and the refreshments were handled by Mrs. Henderson, Mrs. H. S. McCreath and Mrs. M. R. Joyce.

Members of the Creston institute are in considerable demand as judges at Kootenay fairs this year. This week Mrs. Boyd is placing the awards on cooking, canned goods and needlework at Boswell, and Mrs. George Cartwright is doing like duty at Trail fair.

BOSWELL FAIR EXHIBITS ARE COMMENTED ON

Col. Fred Lister, M.P.P., Opens Show; Many District Visitors

BOSWELL, Sept. 16.—"A wonderful show for a small place" was the verdict of many of the visitors to the Boswell annual fair, held yesterday in the Memorial hall here. Col. Fred Lister, M.P.P. for Creston riding, opened the fair and people from Jaffray, Green Creek, Crawford Bay and other local points were present. In the afternoon Capt. R. Ellis entertained at his home, and Mrs. Copeland was hostess to many of the women visitors.

Colonel Lister spoke in terms of high praise of the work done in connection with the fair by Boswell women, saying that he understood that because of fire fighting in the summer, and having an exceptionally heavy apple crop to handle now, the men had been able to do very little in the way of preparations and exhibits.

Exhibits Good

While the exhibits were not quite as numerous as in other years, some of them were noticeably good, including those of apples, home cooking and canning.

Among visitors to the fair were W. J. King and Mrs. King, J. R. Hunter, S. E. Mills, H. M. Vincent, Mrs. Vincent and Miss Vincent, I. B. Gray, A. McL. Fletcher, Nelson; Col. Fred Lister of Creston, R. W. Deane of Deanshaven, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. McConnell of Harrop, F. E. Smith, E. E. Smith, the Misses Joyce and Noel Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Clarke, Mr. and Mrs. McBurge and Mrs. E. Oliver of Gray Creek.

PROCTER SCHOOL AVERAGE HIGH

Forty-nine Pupils Enrolled; Study Arts for Fair Exhibits

PROCTER, Sept. 16.—Procter superior school opened last week with a full complement of pupils—23 in the senior and 26 in the junior room. Of the former, 12 are taking the high school course in Grade IX. or X.

Principal H. F. Reynolds and Miss Elizabeth MacKinnon are entering on their third year of service.

The success of the pupils in the June examinations was very gratifying. In the entrance examination the six successful pupils obtained an average of 71.8 per cent, their average age being 13½ years, or a half-year younger than the normal age for this grade.

Grade IX candidates made a good showing, obtaining high averages in both and mathematics.

In drawing, taught voluntarily by Mrs. H. M. G. Reynolds, five pupils in both grades obtained 80 per cent or more. These classes are now busy in their spare time with art studies for exhibition at Nelson fair.

Campbell Host at Merry Queens Bay Dance and Party

QUEEN'S BAY, Sept. 16.—One of the most delightful dances held in Queen's Bay for some time was staged in the assembly hall on Saturday. There was a good attendance, and although ladies were in the minority the dances went with a swing. Music was supplied by Mesdames Whitaker, Wilbur, Mahood and T. E. Mahood. I. C. Campbell acting as M.C. Refreshments were served.

This dance was staged by I. C. Campbell of Willow Point, who rented the hall for the occasion, and he was admirably assisted by Mrs. Wilbur as hostess. Mr. Campbell has a crew of men working on a portion of the Queen's Bay-Ainsworth road. Toward the end of the dance a delegation of Norsemen returning to camp from Procter, trooped into the hall and caused quite a diversion.

BULLS CONTROL AT WALL STREET

Motor Shares Soar; Chrysler Goes to New Top; Call Money Down

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Speculators for the advance regained control of the price movements on stocks market today, rallying the general list by staging another series of bullish demonstrations in the motor shares. A further softening of call money rates, reports of increased railroad buying of steel products and heavy over-subscription of the German loan all influenced the buying movement.

Chrysler resumed the leadership of the motor group by soaring nearly 9 points to a new record top at 158¾. With the exception of American Can, which closed slightly more than 3 points higher, at 244¼, after having touched 247, the standard industrials moved within relatively narrow limits.

In the railroad group Penna crossed 49 to a new high record for the year, but most of the other rails showed only minor changes.

Call money renewed at 4 per cent and then dropped to 3½, the lowest rate in two months.

Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Total sales—1,732,500 shares.

COUGARS BEAT THE ST. JOSEPH'S TEAM

The Cougars, junior footballers, yesterday afternoon defeated the St. Josephs in one of the hardest games os the season, by a score of 1-0. St. Josephs goal tender showed some classical goal-tending and saved the St. Josephs from a heavy defeat. Johnny Wallace put in the lone tally for the Cougars.

B. P. Rogers refereed the game.

The southwestern conference, composed of Texas colleges and universities, claims to have sent more ball players to the big leagues in the past five years than any other college conference.

Players Turn Brokers as Big Show Looms

By AL DEMAREE

Occasionally in a driving finish of a pennant race some of the players become discouraged, especially if they have had at one time a good lead and see it being cut down day by day by the club immediately behind them. Some of the stouter-hearted players who were willing to take a chance off the field as well as on profited by this lack of confidence. If they believed in the ultimate success of their club they would offer anywhere from $500 to $1500 for the world series shares of the players who wanted to play safe. If the club won there was an awful squawk from the player who had sold a share worth anywhere from $2500 to $4500 for $1000.

It occasionally worked the opposite way too. I remember a player buying two city series shares in 1914 between the Giants and the Yankees for $500 apiece figuring good crowds. It turned out that the players' split of the gate was only $350 apiece and he had to go down in his pocket for the difference of $300 while everybody was giving him the razz.

States Golfers Stand Equal With Canadian Players

OTTAWA, Sept. 16.—The twentieth annual Canadian ladies' open golf championship has narrowed down to a straight international contest between the United States and Canada, and of the eight players who won their sound round matches today, four from each country. In the third tomorrow, two Canadians clash in one match and two Americans meet in the other while in the other two, both in the lower half of the draw, the United States-Canada contest will be carried on. When the play started today there were nine Canadians and seven Americans in the running and the United States won three of the five international matches of the second round.

There was only one upset to the play, the victory of Mrs. Maude Ross of the Royal Ottawa club over Miss Madge Miller of Grand Rapids, 2 to 1, being contrary to expectations, but the other seven matches produced the expected winners.

Mrs. F. C. Letts of Lake Forest, was given a great argument by Miss Helen Paget Ottawa, the Canadian closed champion, before winning from her one up.

Miss Dora Virtue of Whitlock, went down to defeat before Mrs. F. J. Mulqueen, Toronto, 4 and 3, through her erratic play.

Mrs. W. G. Fraser had little difficulty in winning from Mrs. William F. Chapin of Buffalo, 6 and 4.

Miss Eileen Kinsella, Montreal, one of the most promising young players in the championship, gave Miss Ada MacKenzie a great argument before being defeated 4 and 3. Mrs. Dorthy Hurd, American champion, easily eliminated Mrs. M. L. Spaulding of Buffalo, 7 and 6.

Mrs. Edward Baker Jr., Boston, led the most of the way in her match with Miss Kate Robertson, Montreal, winning 3 and 2.

Mrs. Stewart Hanley, Detroit, Michigan state champion, was given a hard battle by Miss Margaret Laird, Toronto, before winning 4 and 2.

Canadian Clubs Hear Talk on Flying of Flags

FORT ARTHUR, Ont., Sept. 15. — The thirteenth conference of the Association of Canadian clubs, was brought to a close today, following the election of officiers and the naming of Ottawa as the next place of meeting.

Ottawa was chosen as the convention center for 1926.

Following the customary practice of appointing the president and treasurer from residents of the place of meeting, C. G. Cowan, was chosen for the presidency, and C. A. Gray, treasurer. Mrs. H. P. Ridge, of Victoria, was elected as vice-president. Mrs. John A. Cooper, Toronto, gave an address on the proposed celebration of the diamond jubilee of confederation.

Mrs. Cooper made a number of suggestions, one of which was the flying the British flag on all school buildings whether public, separate or private. She deprecated the commercializing of the British flag and urged greater respect for the emblem.

Dr. C. C. Mulloch, a past president International Rotary, was one of the morning speakers following Mrs. Cooper. He made reference to the flying of the flag and told the delegates he did not think it necessary for Canadians to have a flag constantly before them to remind them of their great heritage.

Samuel Moore, of Newtonville, Mass., has the distinction of firing 1500 successive bulls-eyes in 7 hours and 37 minutes on a 50-foot range. He is a member of the boy scouts.

Wins Golf Title With Her Pigtail Tucked Down Back

STOKEPOGES, Eng., Sept. 16. — Playing with her pigtail tucked down the back of her sweater, Miss Enid Wilson, of Chesterfield, 15-year-old, and the youngest entrant in the tournament, today won the British girl's golf championship. She defeated Catherine Nicholls, of Kidderminster, in the final round, five up and 3 to play. The champion of 1924, Mlle. Simone Thion de la Chaume, did not defend her title.

Although the youngest competitor, Miss Wilson, was physically the largest and most powerful girl in the tourney. Her opponent in the finals, Miss Nicholls, was the smallest and still the oldest girl entered, being 19.

Miss Wilson plays golf with tremendous seriousness.

BOROTRA TAKES HARD BEATING FROM WILLIAMS

Straight Six-Two Sets Handed Out; Tilden Wins With Ease

FOREST HILLS, N.Y., Sept. 16.—Jean Borotra, hero of France's gallant Davis cup fight this year faded from the competitive picture for this season when he met crushing defeat today at the hands of R. Norris Williams, veteran captain of the United States Davis cup forces.

Williams, staging a come-back which lifts him to a contending position in the United States national singles championship, outgeneralled and outplayed Borotra to score the outstanding triumph of the day by the decisive margin of 6-2, 6-2, 6-2.

Although it was a bad day for the foreign contingent as a whole in the round of the national tournament, the last two Japanese representatives, S. Onda and T. Harada were put out along with James O. Anderson, Australian captain who fell a victim to Wallace Johnson's chop strokes. On the whole, Rene Lacoste, France's Wimbledon champion, was forced to five sensation sets before he downed Brian Norton, the former South African, now a resident of St. Louis, by a score or 6-4, 2-6, 8-6, 3-6, 8-6, in the most thrilling encounter of the afternoon.

Tilden Easy Win

Tilden, playing as he pleased, disposed of the Japanese Onda, in sweeping fashion, by scores of 6-3, 6-3, 6-2.

The trouncing administered to Borotra by Williams was the most startling upset of the day but it was not as hard fought as the tussle in which Johnson put Anderson out by scores of 6-1, 1-6, 6-6, 6-4.

Anderson played erratically except in the second set but he found Johnson's steadiness baffling. The Philadelphia veteran had the tall-Anzac running from side to side after cleverly placed chopped drives. In each of the last two sets Anderson faltered under this tireless attack after gaining leads of 4-2 on games in each chapter.

Manuel Alonzo, the Spaniard advanced at the expense of Alfred H. Chapin Jr., of Springfield in straight sets, 6-0, 8-6, 6-3.

RAIN CAUSES CRICKET DELAY

LONDON, Sept. 16.—Rain caused the abandonment of the concluding fixture of the cricket session between Yorkshire, the champion county, and the Rest of England, played at the Oval. The Rest scored 41 and 254 for four wickets, declared, their opponents replying with 313 and 112 for three wickets. Rain stopped play at this point.

FRENCH CHAMP WINS

PARIS, Sept. 16.—Luciene Vinez, lightweight champion of Europe, tonight defeated Piet Van Vliet, of Holland challenger for the title in a 15-round bout. Vinez won on points.

FORKE FAVORS NATION OWNING ITS RAILWAYS

Reduction of Capitalization and Adjustment of Services Urged

DENIES JOINING LIBERAL PARTY

Absorption by the Liberals Would Postpone National Reforms, He Says

WINNIPEG, Sept. 16.—Rumors of a Progressive-Liberal election pact in western Canada definitely were negatived this afternoon by Hon. Robert Forke, federal Progressive leader. He declared before members of the provincial Progressive executive and Manitoba's Progressive ex-members that "absorption of the Progressives by the Liberal party, whether in or out of office and under whatever guise effected, would postpone for a generation attainment of necessary reforms, the reshaping of national policies and the infusion into Canada public life of that moral courage and idealism which slavish partisanship has well-nigh destroyed."

Under the alleged failure of the Progressive movement to fulfil its mission within the life of a single parliament should not be the occasion for retreat or the excuse for abandonment, Mr. Forke declared, Progressivism was not less virile today than it was in 1921. Triumph of its ideals was ultimately certain, he maintained, urging those present to enter the election fight with confidence "unhampered by vain regrets for the past or by unfounded fears for the futures.

Favors Natural Ownership

Aligning himself with the premier Mr. Forke declared it right and proper that the people should be heard on such weighty national issues as transportation, immigration, taxation and senate reform. He pronounced emphatically in favor of giving national ownership of railways a fair and full chance; urged reduction of railway capitalization to a reasonable figure; and adjustment devised to eliminate duplication of services as between the two great systems. He favored a strong immigration policy asserting that to this end it was preferable to make agriculture and primary industries profitable and prosperous, rather than by spending public money in propaganda abroad, or by subsidizing immigration and shipping agencies.

Removal of Duties

"A contented settler is the natural and best immigration agent," Mr. Forke declared.

Removal of protective duties upon all necessities of life and instruments of production were declared indispensible to the country, a development. The tariff, said Mr. Forke, was inequitable as a method of taxation. In this connection he maintained the Progressive policy was a national policy, striking at fundamental errors in the past administration of public affairs.

Mr. Forke, declared for senate reform. The senate he stated must be made elective and thus subservient to the will of the people and in order to bring it into line with democratic ideals.

Sailor Ran Flag to Half-Mast; Later Drowned as Swimming

SYDNEY, N.S., Sept. 16.—Sailors adhering to the old superstitions of the sea are impressed by the drowning here recently of Bernard Sugg, a 19-year-old Irishman, who a few hours before his death raised the ship's flag to half-mast.

"Who is dead on board?" the mate of the Black Diamond steamer Blackbeath, asked when Sugg inadvertently raised the flag only half way. The young apprentice laughed and ran the flag to the peak of the staff.

Later he went swimming, became tangled in grass and was drowned. An Arab member of the crew who dived for him also became entangled and was saved with difficulty by other sailors who threw a line to him.

BRITISH STUDENTS TO FLY

LONDON, Sept. 16.—Two university air squadrons at Oxford and Cambridge for the training of a certain number of undergraduates, were predicted by Air Minister Sir Samuel Hoars in a speech recently. There are a number of young men there who are intensely interested in aviation and who wish to learn about the technical and scientific side of flying, he said, and there is no reason why a successful scheme should not be established and even extended to other universities.

Canon George Godfrey, vicar of Reedborne, Lincs., aged 84, recently celebrated his diamond wedding.

DEDICATE THE MEMORIAL FOR PRES. HARDING

Hon. Dr. King Represents Government at Kiwanis Dedication at Coast

VANCOUVER, Sept. 16.—While a gathering of 10,000 persons stood in reverent silence, the international memorial to the late president of the United States, Warren G. Harding, was dedicated this afternon in Stanley park, by John H. Moss, of Milwaukee, president of the Kiwanis international.

A solemn ceremony marked the dedication and unveiling of the massive granite monument—a token of good will and international peace from the Kiwanians of the United States and Canada to perpetuate the memory of a "fellow member."

Notable Addresses

Address by distinguished statemen of the United States and Canada were delivered, noting the great work of the former president, and of the cordial relations between the two countries, while Dr. George T. Harding jr., brother of the late president, attended, on behalf of the family.

Hon. Dr. J. H. King, federal minister of public works, represented the government of Canada, and Hon. Frank B. Willis, United States senator from Ohio, the United States.

Fashion Expert Predicts Men's Dress of Dazzling Hues

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Sept. 16. — A prediction that in the future men will bedeck themselves in raiment more brilliant than women was made here by Romain de Tirtoff Erte, late of Paris, who is designing sets and costumes for Hollywood moving picture studios.

Once the step is taken, the designer believes, men will wear vividly colored garments gracefully, and the "loud" suit or shirt will hardly be noticed in the street, while after dinner the conservative black evening clothes will change to vie with the elaborate gowns of the women.

As authority for the prediction, Erte declared: "The male birds are plumed much more gaily than the female. Male animals are more beautifullly coated—the Indian squaw is drably clothed compared with the brightness of her mate's feathers and blankets. And back in the prehistoric ages the male dress was more elaborate than that of the female."

HAVANA POLICE TRAIL FLIRTS

HAVANA, Sept. 16. — (Associated Press.)—Cuban gallants can no longer whisper salutations to the beauties who attract their eyes on the streets of Havana.

Secretary of Interior Rogerio Zayas Bazan has issued orders to the police to arrest men annoying women on the streets. Plain clothes men were assigned to the task of clearing the streets of these men, who, the police say, are a small, but troublesome minority.

TAXES LOWERED IN HUNGARY

BERLIN, Sept. 16.—As a result of the favorable state of the country's finances, the tax on commercial sales in Hungary has been reduced from three per cent to two per cent. The income tax, which is also to be materially reduced, has been completely abolished for newspapers. The Industrie and Handelszetung reports from Budapest that this year's Hungarian budget shows a surplus of 27,000,000 gold crowns.

The Duke of Connaught delivered an address at the annual distribution of prizes at Cheltenham college.

Prince Will Visit His Ranch About Year From Now

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., Sept. 16. — The Prince of Wales, whose cattle and sheep have held the spotlight at the fair here, is planning a visit to the E.P. ranch in the Alberta foothills in the fall of next year.

Professor Carlyle, manager of the E.P. ranch, informed the press that it was the present hope of the royal rancher to visit the Dominion in August next, remaining at the ranch for two months. The prince has a warm spot in his heart for his shorthorn ranch in the restful foothills. His "little grey home in the west" is pulling him harder and harder, and next August will probably see his royal highness back among "the boys" on the range.

Three times within the past several weeks the cat has brought to the house live snakes, which were killed by members of the family. The first was of the comman garden variety, while the other two were black snakes.

The Bolivar Leghorn farm, with a total of 2287, and a weekly total of 54 eggs, is another one creeping up on the leaders.

Milk Talk No. 3

Dr. Francis E. Fronczak, Health Commissioner, Department of Health, Buffalo, N. Y., wrote to the Newport, R. I., Health Department as follows:

"We regard the pasteurization of milk so important to safeguard the public that an ordinance was adopted to make such a procedure mandatory. While certified milk is permitted to be sold raw, nevertheless, from our experience, we are satisfied that not even this quality may be considered free at all times from dangerous contamination. This city several years ago experienced several epidemics of scarlet fever, diphtheria and typhoid fever, traced to raw milk supplies. Since pasteurization of milk supplies in this city has been generally practiced, no such outbreaks of disease traceable to the milk supply have occurred."

In speaking of Certified Milk, this is a milk that retails for from 25 to 30 cents per quart, and is produced under very strict regulations and methods, and a medical commission is appointed to see that this milk comes up to the required specifications. Even this grade of milk is not considered safe until it is pasteurized.
