SLOAN GETS $40,000 DAMAGES FROM McRAE

ELECTION ROW TWO YEARS OLD FINALLY OVER

inister of Mines Wins Libel Action in Nanaimo; Jury Out an Hour

SE AROSE FROM 'SEARCHLIGHT' STORY

an Claimed $50,000 Dam-es; Award Largest in His-tory of Province Courts

ANAIMO, B.C., Sept. 28.—A spe- jury in assize court this eve- g awarded Hon. William Sloan, inister of mines for British Colum- plaintiff in a libel action against jor-Gen. A. D. McRae, damages he extent of $40,000.

lon. Mr. Sloan sought $50,000 nages from the former leader of Provincial party on the ground t he had been libelled in an arti- that appeared in the "Search- ht," an election pamphlet pub- ed during the campaign in Jan- y, 1924, under the heading "A ition for a Royal Commission." effect the article complained of, ted that in 1915 and 1916, when affairs of the Pacific Great East- railway had become seriously in- ved, a sum of $50,000 was paid the company to the plaintiff for tection and favorable treatment m the Liberal party.

he jury returned its verdict after hour's deliberation, finding in ect that the publication com- ined was libellous and that plain- was entitled to damages amount- to $40,000. Mr. Justice Murphy ided.

he award is said to be the larg- ever made in any similar case in history of British Columbia rts.

tewart Gave to Party Funds

hen the trial was resumed today, eral McRae testified, in answer uestions by A. H. MacNeil, K.C., ndant's counsel, that Gen. J. W. wart, of the firm of Foley, Welch Stewart, builders of the railroad, told him in the fall of 1917, t he, General Stewart, had con- uted $350,000 to Conservative party ds and $300,000 to Liberal party ds, and that his firm was very h worried about the treatment it uld receive.

t that time there had been a pre- inary enquiry. General Stewart d his firm was obliged to finish P.G.E. road, and to do so would rhinous to all concerned.

Coroner's Jury Finds Unable Place Murder Charge Smith, England

WHITESTABLE, Eng., Sept. 28.—A coroner's jury rendered its verdict today in the inquiry into the death of John Thomas Derham who was killed August 12 in a quarrel with Alphonse F. A. Smith at Smith's villa, Stella Maris, at this place.

Smith, who is a grandson of the late Hugh Ryan of Canadian railroad building fame, was charged with murder but the jury found today that insufficient evidence had been presented to show who fired the shot and whether it was by accident or design.

CABINET MEETS FOR FIVE HOURS; SILENCE REIGNS

Premier King and Party Plan to Leave for Conference October 8 or 9

OTTAWA, Sept. 28.—A five-hour session of the cabinet council today failed to produce any definite news concerning the several questions before the government. Premier King told a group of newspaper men that so far as he knew, the two additional judges who are to make up the customs inquiry commission were not appointed.

It is now probable that Mr. King and his party will leave for the Imperial conference from Quebec on the eighth or ninth of October. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, minister of justice, will accompany Mr. King, but it is not known yet who else will be with the party.

On Saturday of this week practically the entire cabinet will be in Quebec City to welcome Lord Willingdon to Canada. His excellency will be sworn in at the ancient capital by Chief Justice Anglin of the supreme court.

MEIGHEN MAY LIVE AT COAST

Dispatch Says Late Premier Will Conduct His Profession in Vancouver Upon Retiring

TORONTO, Sept. 29.—A staff special dispatch from Ottawa to the Globe says:

"Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen may become a resident of Vancouver, according to reliable information, and resume in the Pacific coast city the practice of his profession. He has received important offers to join corporations both in Montreal and Toronto, but it is understood he is more disposed to go to the coast.

"Sir George Perley is now the most likely person for temporary leadership of the Conservatives during the coming session."

British Steamers Plying Unhindered in Chinese Waters

LONDON, Sept. 28.—Premier Baldwin today told the house of commons that British steamers are plying unhindered between Canton and Hongkong, and that there has been no interference with British trade at Kankow, despite recent agitation.

The prime minister said that reinforcements are now being sent to China to render the naval forces in the far east sufficient to protect British subjects and interests. Military intervention is not warranted, Premier Baldwin said, and no army reinforcements have been dispatched.

PLAN FIRST BOAT RACE WITH COLLEGES

MONTREAL, Sept. 28.—The first intercollegiate boat race in the history of Canada will be run on the Lachine course when the crews of the University of Toronto meet the McGill squad next Saturday. The race will be one of senior eights and it is hoped to develop into an annual classic.

Canadian Settlers Continue to Come Back From States

OTTAWA, Sept. 28.—Active movement of farm settlers from the United States to Canada continues, according to the department of immigration. Eighteen officers are maintained in the United States, and all report increases for the month of August, with the agency at Fargo, N. D., heading the list with 272 farmers, who with wives and children make a total population of 922. They brought with them to Canada cash and effects valued at $445,365.

LADY OF HOUSE WORE GLASSES AND BIG HAT

Witnesses Unable to Swear She Was Aimee Semple Mc-Pherson, Though

GREEN BATHING SUIT WAS HUNG ON LINE

Owner Was Introduced to a Mrs. McIntyre; Aimee Removes Hat in Court

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 28.—H. C. Benedict, owner of the cottage at Carmel, where the state contends Aimee Semple McPherson, evangelist, remained with Kenneth G. Ormiston, former Angelus temple radio operator, for 10 days after she disappeared, May 18, testified here today that the woman who occupied the house was very similar in appearance to Mrs. McPherson.

He refused, however, to attempt identification of the evangelist in court, declaring he could not be sure because of the goggles and large brimmed hat worn by the woman at Carmel.

The cottage owner declared that while planting flowers about the house, he saw a vivid green bathing suit hanging on the clothes line.

Mrs. McPherson was reported to have been wearing a green bathing suit when she disappeared from the beach at Ocean park, May 18.

Unable to Identify Her

Benedict followed other witnesses who likewise failed to identify the evangelist as the woman companion of the man who gave his name as George McIntyre. William Mack, a laundry man, who delivered laundry to the Benedict cottage, said he could not remember having any woman about the cottage when McIntyre lived there.

The evangelist removed her hat in the court room exposing her hair, but the witnesses could not identify her.

Benedict told of McIntyre renting the cottage for three months at $150 per month on which a deposit was paid. He said McIntyre wanted the house May 18. He said he and his wife moved out of the cottage late on May 18.

Returning the next morning about 10 o'clock, he said he noticed the garage was locked and the house was occupied.

Introduced a Lady

He returned to the cottage about 11 o'clock the next day to plant some flowers. After a few minutes, McIntyre came out and remarked he wanted Benedict to meet his wife. When the woman came out she and McIntyre walked over and stood beside Benedict. An introduction followed after which there was two or three minutes conversation. He said he could not see her hair nor her eyes on account of her hat and goggles.

Asked whether he would be able to recognize the woman again if he saw her, he said he did not think he could. Keyes asked him how Mrs. McPherson compared with the woman physically.

"Very familiar," Benedict replied.

Youth Shot Twice While Hunting; Dies From Loss of Blood

MERRITT, B.C., Sept. 28.—Thomas Cressy, aged 18, shot twice by accident while hunting with a companion near here Sunday morning, died at his home Monday night through loss of blood. Neither the wound on his wrist nor his ankle were serious, but he lost much blood lying unattended for two hours in the woods while his companion hastened for medical assistance.

Belgian Banker Confers With the French President

PARIS, SEPT. 28.—Emil Francquire, noted Belgian banker and minister of the treasury in the Belgian cabinet, arrived here at noon today and had a half hour talk with Premier Poincare soon after.

The sale of German railway bonds pledged for reparations was the principal topic discussed.

No definite decisions were reached.

OTTAWA WONDERS WHO WILL GET SENATE POSTS

OTTAWA, Sept. 28.—The three senate vacancies have made the meetings of the cabinet council a matter of daily interest. It is said here that all three appointments are to be made in the near future and certainly before the December session of parliament.

Two of the vacant places were made by the deaths of Senators David and Tibodeau of Quebec. P. Paradis, Hon. P. Du Tremblay, Sir Lomer Gouin, and Donald Raymond have all been suggested.

Ormiston in Letter Says He Can Clear Up Aimee Case and 'Miss X'

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 28.—Kenneth G. Ormiston, missing radio man and one of the seven persons charged with conspiracy to obstruct justice in the Aimee Semple McPherson case, plans another move in an effort to clear the evangelist in the Carmel cottage phase of the case, said a letter from him received today by Roland Woolley, attorney for Mrs. McPherson.

The letter was forwarded through Edward Martin, and was signed by typewriter. Ormiston said he would reveal the identity of the mysterious "Miss X," who occupied the Carmel cottage with him for 10 days, beginning May 19.

CARS OF COKE ARE DERAILED CHINA CREEK

Freight Is Running Slow When Cars Get Off Rails

AUXILIARY GOES OUT TO CLEAR THE LINE

Rossland-Robson Train Is Cancelled for Night; Damage Small

While running slow on the down grade of the China creek hill yesterday afternoon, at a speed of about 10 miles an hour, freight train No. 83, from Nelson for Tadanac, derailed seven cars of coal and coke consigned to the Trail smelter, at a point eight and one-half miles south of Castlegar, at 4 o'clock, blocking the line. The auxiliary left Nelson at 5:30 to clear the track for traffic. In consequence of the blocking of the line, last night's train between Rossland and West Robson was cancelled.

Damage Not Excessive

It was expected last night the line would be cleared during the night with comparative ease. The property damage is not large, and no one was hurt.

Engineer L. W. Humphrey was in the cab of the freight that derailed, and Conductor James Bird was in charge of the train. The auxiliary was taken out by Conductor H. L. Genest.

An inquiry is being made into the cause of the derailment.

TWO KILLED IN AUTO AND TRAIN CROSSING CRASH

Seven Injured; Auto Thrown 100 Feet; Two Train Cars Sent Down Embankment

BATHURST, N.B., Sept. 28. — Two men were killed, and seven persons injured, when a Canadian National freight train struck an automobile at McIntyre grade crossing, causing the wreck of the automobile and the derailment of two work cars which rolled down a 25-foot embankment into a ditch near here today.

Those killed were: Frank Young of Bathurst, driver of the automobile that was struck and smashed at the grade crossing, and W. Harry Fraser, brakeman on the work car. A workman, named Stewart, of Fredericton, and Fred Estabrooks, also of Fredericton, were seriously injured in the derailment of the work car.

The train threw the automobile about 100 feet. Persons who saw the mishap rushed to the aid of the victims, who died in a few minutes.

The work car and another laden with tools were being pushed ahead of the engine en route to Bathurst station. The front car contained seven workmen. These cars rolled down an embankment into a ditch. The body of W. Harry Fraser, who was riding on the roof of the forward car, was found several hours later in the ditch under the car. The engine remained on the rails, but the tender also quit the tracks, but remained upright.

FORKE ON WAY HOME

OTTAWA, Sept. 28.—Hon. Robert Forke, minister of immigration, left Ottawa for his home at Pipestone, Man., tonight. He will be absent from the capital for 10 days.

NO NEWS YET OF IMPRISONED MINING CREWS

Tunneling and Digging Continues but 43 Men Still Trapped Underground

DIAMOND DRILL IS CUTTING THROUGH ROCK

May Be 10 Days Getting to Men; Men Can Live if Have Fresh Water, Says Doctor

IRONWOOD, Mich., Sept. 28.—Many additional hours of ceaseless toil in the underground passageways of the Pabst mine will be necessary before the fate of the 43 miners imprisoned there since Friday is learned.

Officials of the Oliver Iron Mining company, directing the rescue work, refused tonight to estimate the probable time when the men will be reached and one engineer said it might take a week or 10 days.

Whether the men are rescued alive depends, they said, on earth conditions encountered in boring toward the eighth level of the mine 727 feet below the surface where the men are imprisoned.

Wives and children of the entombed miners found a note of hope in Dr. Madajestky, doctor and surgeon of the Oliver company, who said he believed the men could "live at least two weeks with fresh water and air." He claimed there was no danger for that period from lack of food.

Slow Work

Work of opening the mine shaft into which the eighth level emerges, proceeds slowly.

One crew worked up the shaft from the 21 level—a half mile below the surface—and another sought to penetrate the miners' prison from the adjoining Aurora mine. A diamond drill bored a small two and one-half inch hole through which it is hoped to pass concentrated food tablets.

The drill must bore 400 feet to reach the men and engineers said it would take 24 hours to penetrate 100 feet.

Seek Recovery of Money From Ryckman, Toronto

TORONTO, Sept. 28.—Suit to recover $75,000 from Hon. Edmond B. Ryckman, K.C., M.P.-elect for East Toronto, less any amount that might be awarded as solicitor's fees, was listed for trial today in nonjury assizes.

The action arises out of a commission of $75,000 alleged to have been paid to Mr. Ryckman, of the firm of solicitors of which he is a member, for the sale in November, 1919, of the assets of the former Dodge Company of Canada, limited, for $1,200,000. This company, C. F. Wheaton, owner of the majority of the stock in it, and the Dodge Manufacturing company, who purchased the assets, are suing.

All Passenger Records Smashed by Empress Ship

VANCOUVER, Sept. 28.—Once again all records have been smashed as far as passenger service to the orient is concerned, for the Empress of Canada, flagship of the Canadian Pacific Railway fleet in the Pacific, will sail from here on Thursday noon with a capacity passenger list of almost 1100 on board, consisting of 265 first class, 145 second class, 68 third class and 610 steerage. Cargo parcels are also on the heavy side, with a full complement of refrigerator consignments composed of vegetables, meat and butter. There is, too, another large supply of cotton for Japanese mills.

Among the most prominent passengers are Lewis L. Strauss, the well-known New York financier; Allen Cameron, general manager in the orient for the Canadian Pacific Steamships; Dr. H. M. Tory, head of the University of Alberta, and Mrs. Tory, in addition to Dr. F. D. Adams, retired professor of McGill university.

The outward voyage of the Canadia will also be made memorial by reason of the fact that General Booth, chief of the Salvation Army, will be a passenger on the ship.

Negotiations Under Way for Purchase of Two Newspapers

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—The World says negotiations for the sale of the Sun and Telegram for approximately $5,000,000 by the Frank O. Munsey estate to a group of men now publishing the papers are about to close. The group of purchasers is said to include editors and executives of the two papers.

Woman Swears Out Charge of Bigamy Against Her Hubby

VANCOUVER, Sept. 28.—John Druce, aged 66, who is charged with bigamy, appeared in police court and was remanded until October 4. Bail was set at $2000.

Alma Druce, Langley Prairie, B.C., swore out the warrant causing the arrest. She is said to declare herself as the third wife of the man, having married him in Seattle.

She charges that Druce bigamously married his second wife, formerly Julia Blackwell, here in July last.

EMERGENCIES IN COAL STRIKE TO BE CARRIED ON

British House Votes for Power Regulations; House Votes to Adjourn, Too

LONDON, Sept. 28.—The house of commons voted today to continue the coal strike emergency powers regulations for another month. The vote was 196 to 99.

The house also voted to adjourn at the end of tonight's session until November 9, whereupon Vernon Hartshorn, Laborite and former member of the national executive of the miners' federation, took the floor and began anew the discussion of the coal situation.

No new avenues which might lead to a settlement of the long-standing strike were opened, however, and the house adjourned.

TURN IDLE MINERS LOOSE IN CANADA

Would Be Canada's Opportunity, Says Bishop of London; Prosperity With Population

WINNIPEG, Sept. 28.—Settlement of Britain's population of 150,000 idle miners in the mineral areas of British Columbia and northern Ontario was a suggestion advanced by Rt. Rev. A. F. Winnington-Ingram, lord bishop of London, in addressing the men's and women's Canadian clubs here.

The opportunities in Canada, he said, were "priceless."

"You have not begun to exploit your riches," he declared. Canadian industries were shrinking because the population was too small.

"If you had enough people your industries would beat the United States," he added. "And when your population reaches 100,000,000 Canada will be lending money to the United States.

"There are 1,500,000 over in Great Britain—thousands of them boys—who have not got a stroke of work to do. You need these young fellows," he said.

Resignation of Gen. Kondylisis Now in Hands of President

ATHENS, Sept. 28.—The resignation of General Kondylis, who assumed the premiership after driving out the Pangalos government, is in the hands of President Kondouriotis but has not yet been accepted.

The premier placed his resignation at the disposal of the president as one way out of the difficulty arising through the refusal of the anti-Venizelist parties to take part in the preliminary elections unless the government resigns.

LIVES LOST IN LATEST BLOW BY HEAVY STORM

Many Ships in Harbor Are Sunk; Damage Estimated Over Two Million

TELEGRAPH, ELECTRIC SERVICES ARE ALL DOWN

Streets Inundated; Houses Demolished and Carried From Foundations; 24-Hour Rain

GALVESTON, Texas, 28.—A hurricane swept Vera Cruz, Mexico, today, causing some loss of life and property damage estimated at 5,000,000 pesoes (about $2,500,000) said advices received here tonight.

A number of houses are reported to have been demolished. Others were carried from their foundations.

Telegraph service between Mexico City and Vera Cruz was disrupted, the advices said.

Worst Since 1888

VERA CRUZ, Sept. 28.—Vera Cruz has been swept by a hurricane, the most devastating since 1888.

Several ships were sunk in the bay and the Ward liner San Juan has partially wrecked.

With the great gale came heavy seas, which flooded the piers and drove out those living in that neighborhood, in fear of an inundation.

The hurricane blew for several hours but about midday the wind began to fall and the storm swept overland.

The streets of Vera Cruz are littered with fallen trees but thus far not many casualties are reported. There is no word as yet of damage in the interior.

Morning Storm

The height of the storm was reached between 9 and 10 o'clock this morning. During this time the wind velocity reached 125 miles an hour. The towns of Paso Del Macho, Soldeda and Cordova were also hit and damaged. Crops were destroyed. In Cordova the hurricane unroofed many houses and did considerable other damage.

In Vera Cruz harbor several tugs were sunk and warehouses and a customs office inundated. Much cargo destined for the United States was destroyed.

Traffic in Vera Cruz had to be suspended owing to the high water. Only small vehicles were permitted to pass through the streets. The authorities ordered the electric power services closed down owing to the tearing up of the wires. It was feared that if the electric services were permitted to continue there would be fatalities among the public. Several small industries were paralyzed by the stoppage of power. Telegraphic communication with Mexico City and other points were severed.

Tons of Water

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 28.—A hurricane swept over Vera Cruz this morning, leaving a trail of destruction. Many wooden homes were destroyed, small vessels in the harbor were sunk and the heavy sea which accompanied the gale sent tons of water into the city's streets, flooding them to a depth of from one to five feet.

Special dispatches from Jalapa, capital of the state of Vera Cruz, say that a torrential rain fell for more than 24 hours. The river Santiago overflowed its banks. Two persons were drowned and a considerable section of Jalapa was flooded. There was much damage to property. Passengers arriving from Vera Cruz by train this evening said when they left Vera Cruz the hurricane was uprooting trees and unroofing wooden houses in the suburbs. A heavy rain was falling.

Still Another One

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—Lacking official reports the weather bureau is including to regard the Vera Cruz hurricane as the culmination of a threatening disturbance observed several days ago in the western Caribbean.

Another hurricane of peculiar characteristics which passed over the Azores yesterday and last night, was reported to the bureau today. Like the disastrous Florida hurricane it originated in the Cape Verde islands, but took an unusual course northward instead of following usual route toward the United States.

Moves Inland

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—The weather bureau tonight issued the following:

"Advisory, 9:30 p.m.—No reports received from vicinity from tropical disturbance that is apparently centered several hundred miles north, northeast of Puerto Rico. A report from the steamer Morasa about 100 miles northwest of Vera Cruz and press dispatches from Mexico City indicate a tropical storm of intensity was central this morning near Vera Cruz. It has probably moved inland over Mexico."

Bishop of London Appeals for Welfare of Children of World

WINNIPEG, Sept. 28.—"There is not a title I would rather have in the whole world than that of 'the children's friend,' given to me by boys and girls themselves," said the Bishop of London tonight when addressing a meeting here which was attended by more than 4000 men and women. In keeping with the title he prizes so much, the bishop made his final public meeting in Canada before leaving for the United States tomorrow, the occasion for an appeal to Canada to pay serious attention to the physical, mental and spiritual welfare of the children. He outlined what he described as the prodigious work which the Church of England in the old country is doing on behalf of young people, and appealed for the enthusiastic cooperation of the Canadian people with the mission work that the church in the motherland is doing in the Canadian field.

TELLS TALE OF SHOOTING FROM AMBUSH QUESNEL

Rumanian Held by Police for Questioning; Went to Authorities Himself

CLAIMS NEIGHBOR WAS SHOT BY AN UNKNOWN

In Fear He Hid in Cabin; Sneaked Out at Night to Tell Police of Crime

QUESNEL, Sept. 28.—In connection with the disappearance of Morice Orioli, aged 65, from his ranch about 10 miles north of here, British Columbia police have arrested Aaron Kosti, aged 40, a Rumanian homesteader, whose strange story of Orioli being shot from ambush has not been supported by any of the facts revealed by investigation. Kosti was being held today for questioning.

First intimation of the tragedy was made here yesterday when Kosti came to police headquarters and reported that shortly before noon on Sunday he had seen Orioli, his nearest neighbor, with whom he had not been on very good terms, approaching his cabin, carrying a rifle. When Orioli was about 40 feet from the doorway, said Kosti, a shot rang out and he fell to the ground, where his body lay all day in a gradually increasing pool of blood. Kosti stated that he did not venture out of his cabin until after dusk, fearing that he, too, would be shot.

Long Time Coming

Kosti did not offer any explanation as to why the 10-mile trip into town, which took about three hours, had occupied the whole night. The authorities set out with him for his cabin. Orioli's body was nowhere to be found, but there was a pool of blood on the ground before the cabin. In the dwelling, which was locked and from Kosti claimed his rifle had been stolen over night, blood stained clothing was found beneath the mattress on the bed and a pair of the Rumanian's boots were also marked with blood.

Sees Automobiles Replacing Railways Within Ten Years

EDMONTON, Sept. 28.—"Within 10 years there will not be more than 10 lines of electric railways in Canada which will be able to operate and show a profit," was the radical prediction made by S. L. Squire, deputy minister of highways for Ontario in an address before the Canadian Good Roads association convention here today.

The speaker went on to show how automobiles and motor trucks are gradually supplanting railway and radical lines in meeting the country's transportation needs. In this connection there should be, he thought, a very thorough survey of districts in which new railway lines are projected, with a view to determining whether automobiles and auto trucks could not serve the people just as well. An adequate fee for trucks operating on the public highways also was urged.

More than $700,000,000 is invested in automobiles in Canada today, at the present time, Mr. Squire pointed out, while $650,000,000 has spent on the construction of motor highways. The greatest possible service the Canadian Good Roads association could render, he said, was in advocating and endeavoring to bring into being better roads throughout the country.

MOTHERS AND THEIR CHILDREN

IT LOOKS LIKE NEW

ONE MOTHER SAYS

My daughter's serge middies and the boys' serge trousers always got shiny long before they wore out. Recently a mother told me that sponging the cloth with hot vinegar would remove the shine. Now the children can wear their old serge clothes, and yet look as trim as though they had new ones.

JAILED, BUT PLAYS PART OF HERO

Saves Guard From Attack by Convict; Drug Carrier Gets Light Term

VANCOUVER, Sept. 28.—Clifford Ellis, convicted of having opium in his possession, played the part of a hero on Monday when Jailer Robert Tisdale was attacked and wounded by a maniac in the jail corridor, according to a statement made in court today by Oscar Orr, city prosecutor.

The convicted man came before the magistrate for sentence and the prosecutor asked that the court be as lenient as possible, for when Jailer Tisdale was attacked by the demented man, Ellis came to his aid.

Magistrate Shaw stated a minimum penalty of six months would be awarded Ellis.

MAN KILLED; TWO HELD AS WITNESSES

WINNIPEG, Sept. 28.—Melville Boyd, aged 70, Winnipeg, is dead, and L. J. Banford and J. S. Ridley, Manitou, Man., are in jail, held as material witnesses, following an automobile crash on the Jefferson highway, near here, late tonight.

Mr. Boyd was returning to Winnipeg with a companion when a tire on their car blew out. After making a change of tires, Mr. Boyd was placing the defective tire on the tire rack when he and the standing car were struck by another car, said to have been traveling at a considerable rate of speed. The second car turned over, but none of the four occupants were injured.

Banford is said to have been driving the second car.

Boyd's companion, James Hill, was reported to have been seriously injured.

PLAN ROAD WORK FOR THE INTERIOR

Cabinet Already Planning for Next Year's Work; Kamloops After Some Roads

VICTORIA, Sept. 28.—Officials of the public works department are busy already shaping plans for next year's road building program throughout British Columbia.

The public works department is arranging to complete improvements to the road system of the interior next year. A deputation from Kamloops discussed the plan with the cabinet yesterday and was assured that the department would carry out work needed.

The deputation pressed strongly for the relocation and improvement of the main highway from Salmon Arm west to Ashcroft on the Cariboo road. This program has the approval of Dr. Sutherland and will be carried out in 1927.

J. R. Cooley, M.L.A., Kamloops, pressed strongly also for the extension of the north Thompson highway to Jasper to connect with the Edmonton-Jasper road when it is built by the Alberta government. Dr. Sutherland pointed out, however, that it is the policy of the department to continue building the missing links in the provincial highways first.

'GRAY TERROR'

The Astonishing Adventures of the Gray Phantom

By HERMAN LANDON

(Copyright by Street & Smith Corp. Serialized by Ledger Syndicate.)

Synopsis of Preceding Installments

HELEN HARDWICK, sweetheart of the Gray Phantom and partner with him in numerous adventures, is lured by a fake phone call to the home of PAUL WARD, on 50th street, New York City, the night he is murdered. Through a series of carefully arranged bits of circumstantial evidence, it is clear to LIEUTENANT CULLIGORE, of the police, that she is guilty, and he is about to arrest her when she is spirited away under his nose and taken to a deserted house somewhere outside the city. Although her rescuer appears to be sent by the GRAY PHANTOM, hero of many miraculous escapades, Helen is soon disillusioned when she is locked in an upstairs room and threatened with violence by RED MAGEE, a brutal criminal. All this is part of a cleverly arranged scheme, planned by THE DUKE, a supercriminal of the basest type, who has been imprisoned through the Gray Phantom's efforts. Through MISS FAY WINTON, one of the Duke's emissaries, the Phantom learns that Helen is being held prisoner, her release being conditional upon his rescuing the Duke from prison within 10 days. Desperately seeking some solution to the situation, the Gray Phantom visits the Ward house to interview MRS. SLADE, the old housekeeper. Finding the front door open, he enters just in time to catch the words "Red Magee" from the lips of the housekeeper, who dies in his arms mortally wounded from a knife thrust. In the meantime, Helen is warned by TOPEKA JIMMIE, held prisoner in the room next to hers, of a mysterious MR. EMANON (which is "no name" spelled backward), who is the Duke's right-hand man, and who thinks out his plots while playing weird violin music. Before the Gray Phantom can escape from the Ward house he is confronted by Lieut. Culligore and escapes only after using a clever ventriloquist's trick. Hunted by the police, the Phantom decides to take refuge with AMBROSE MARR, eccentric acquaintance with whom he had shared past adventures. Hearing weird violin music within, he is astonished to find Miss Winton occupying the house. She directs him to Marr's new home, several doors away, and vehemently denies that there is a violin in the house. Marr tells the Gray Phantom that the only member of the Duke's gang who knows Helen's hiding place is Mr. Emanon.

"But who is this Mr. Emanon?" exclaimed the Gray Phantom.

"There are a lot of people who would like to know," replied Marr. "In the Duke's crowd there aren't more than half a dozen that ever came face to face with him, and not more than three or four know his real name. They tremble in their boots whenever Mr. Emanon is mentioned, for they know what's happened to a few of the gang who failed to obey orders. They aren't even sure whether Mr. Emanon is a man or a woman, though they generally refer to the person in question as 'he.' Mr. Emanon is a slick one. He bosses the gang mostly through fear and he knows there is nothing the average man or woman fears more than the things that can't be seen or heard."

"It's excellent psychology, but where can I find Mr. Emanon?"

Marr fixed him with cold, appraising eyes. "Keep your shirt on," he counseled. "We have all night to talk it over. Don't forget that this Mr. Emanon is about as smooth a bird as the Duke himself. When you meet him face to face—if you ever do—you'll get the surprise of your life. He'll swear with a straight face that he has no connection with the gang, and that he never heard of Miss Hardwick. You'll need all the gray stuff in your head if you are going to make any headway with him, and you'll be lucky if you escape from him alive. You've handled some tough customers in your days, but Mr. Emanon tops them all."

The Phantom shrugged. "If I ever find him I'll know how to manage him. Who is he, Marr?"

"Very anxious to know, aren't you?" There was a crafty gleam in Marr's hard, blue eyes. "I'll tell you on two conditions."

"Name them."

"The first one is easy. I want your word of honor that you will never mention the fact that I was the one who told you Mr. Emanon's real name."

"I promise."

"The second condition is not so easy, but the information I'm going to give you is worth all I ask you to do. I guess you know that I never give favors gratis. I figure that if a favor is worth accepting, it's worth paying for. Are you willing to pay?"

"Anything within reason."

"I'm not asking any money. All I want is a simple favor in return. I want you to do something for me. I could do it myself, but I'll feel safer in the long run if you attended to it for me. It has to be done carefully and with thoroughness, and, even if it's a bit out of your usual line, I don't know of anybody that's better fitted for the job than you."

"What is it?"

Marr leaned back in his chair and sent a smoke ring spinning ceilingward. For once his features showed animation, but the Phantom was at a loss to find a word that suited the expression he saw on them.

"Get your information out of Mr. Emanon any way you can," said Marr slowly. "That's your affair. But when you're through with him——"

He paused, leaned a little farther back in the chair and gazed thoughtfully at the ceiling, as if his mind were searching for a suitable phrase. As he watched him, the Phantom suddenly knew what the expression on his face meant. It was hate, treacherous, calculating hate, such as he had never before witnessed.

"When you are through with him," Marr repeated, speaking in a soft drawl, "I want you to finish him for good. Understand?"

The Phantom started. He understood that Marr hated Mr. Emanon with all the pentup intensity of a man who seldom gives way to his emotions.

"You want me to murder him?" he asked in subdued tones.

Marr gave a low chuckle. "Murder is a nasty word. I know you don't like it. It expresses my idea, though. What do you say?"

The Phantom reflected a moment. "Your price is too high."

"Too high to pay for Miss Hardwick's life?"

The Phantom winced at the taunt. "You said a moment ago," Marr went on, "that murder might be the lesser of two evils."

"But this is different. What you ask me to do is premeditated murder."

Marr shrugged. "What difference does it make to Mr. Emanon, once he's dead, whether his murder was premeditated or not?"

The Phantom pondered, but the frown deepening in his face showed that his thoughts were flitting over unfamiliar ground.

"I never learned the art of splitting hairs," he declared. "I can't make subtle distinctions. All I know is that I won't do what you ask. I can't enter into a prearranged proposition like this over Miss Hardwick's life. She would dispise me if I did. I won't do it. That's final, Marr."

"Suit yourself." Marr made a gesture of complete indifference. "I hope Miss Hardwick will appreciate your lofty principles when the Duke's hired thugs get her by the throat."

The Phantom paled. A sudden paroxysm shook him, and then he steadied himself by a desperate exertion of will power. The cold, steely glitter came back into his eyes. A thin, frigid smile parted his lips. His hand darted swiftly to his pocket, and in a moment an automatic flashed in the electric light.

"I know I'm a most contradictory person," he admitted coolly. "I can't commit murder to order, but I'm going to drill you in precisely 30 seconds unless you tell me Mr. Emanon's real name. Neat little toy this, eh, Marr? Borrowed it from my friend, Culligore, this morning. I took pains to make sure it was loaded."

He placed his watch on the table. Without a flicker of emotion, Marr gazed steadily into the muzzle of the weapon.

"You win," he said quietly. "I don't understand you, but you look fierce enough to shoot, and I'm not taking chances with my life. Maybe we'll both win." He gave a grimly exultant laugh. "The person who calls herself Mr. Emanon will be more dead than alive by the time you've made her tell what you want to know."

A hard, puzzled gleam appeared in the Phantom's eyes.

Marr smiled complacently. "Didn't I tell you that most of the members of the gang aren't sure whether Mr. Emanon wears trousers or skirts? I discovered the secret by accident one day when—but it's a long story, and you haven't got the patience to listen. Mr. Emanon's real name is Fay Winton."

TRAIL AMATEURS BANQUETED AND PRESENTED CUP

Winners of Trail Soccer League Happy; Esling Makes Presentation of Cash

TRAIL, Sept. 28.—Trail Amateurs, winners of the city soccer league series, tonight celebrated victory with a sumptuous banquet in Orange hall, where for several hours they toasted their supporters and were toasted in turn, while entertainers among them led their spirits high with songs and general gaiety.

Alderman J. A. McKinnon presided. After all had done justice to steak and kidney pie and a dozen other varieties of delicacies, he spoke briefly and humorously, commending the team on its victory and sportsmanship.

J. H. Schofield, M.P.P., and honored guest, also spoke along similar lines, warmly upholding the Amateurs as good winners and good losers.

Present Cup

C. J. Minton, president of the T. A. A. A., under which the football club operates, unofficially presented the T. A. A. A. first aid cup trophy to the club captain, W. Laurie, with encomiums on the club's fine performance.

The cup will be presented officially and given into the Amateurs' custody for one year at the annual banquet of the Trail football club, to be held shortly.

It was announced that an intended guest, W. K. Esling, M.P., whose invitation was taken to his Rossland home personally by a delegation of Amateurs, regretfully found it impossible to attend because of illness. When it was further announced that Mr. Esling had forwarded a check for $25 to help defray the expenses of the banquet, the whole gathering immediately cheered, as much for the spirit as for the gift.

Rounds of cheers were given, too, for the generous gifts of local supporters. Their assistance enabled the Amateurs to be banqueted without expense to the tea.

J. R. Wadsworth, with an oversized smile and balloon generosity, hit the Amateurs on all four with a proposition to support the T. A. A. A. cup next season, with 11 medals for the winning team. Each player began to anticipate which end of his watch guard he would hang his on.

Manager Alex (Sandy) Aiken, for once satisfied with the referee, smiled almost happily on his team, their trainer, W. Laurie Sr., and their committee men, J. R. Wadsworth, A. Downie and George Aiken. And actually winked at the ladies in the kitchen hustling with the dishes. He was tremendously busy running from the kitchen to the tables prying the caps off his element.

The real Amateurs who covered themselves with glory and did themselves so well tonight were R. Laurie, J. Marks, J. Stewart, T. Dunlop, J. McEwan, H. Barr, T. Clapham, W. Laurie T. Laurie, J. McVie, W. Ross, J. Morrison, C. Melrose, D. Taylor, W. Lightbody, A. Forgie, W. Aitken, W. Milne, D. McVie.

The ladies nobly supporting the banquet were Mrs. W. Milne, Mrs. George Aitken, Misses Lizzie Janet and Polly Aitken and Miss Jean Bains.

TEN BOWLING TEAMS LINED UP FOR TRAIL

Three Cups Up; Teams Picked on Average Basis; Tournament Starts Soon

TRAIL, Sept. 28.—Ten teams have been made up and a 10-game series schedule is being plotted for the Memorial hall bowling club tournament which will commence within a few days.

Tonight the executive checked averages, and paired off the highest skip with the lowest first man, and the highest second with the lowest third and the highest fourth, continuing down the line of skips in that order to draw teams of equal strength.

The series will take the club into mid-December. Each team will play one game each week with their match nights varying in rotation. On Mondays there will be a doubleheader, two teams to commence rolling at 7 and two more at 9. On Tuesdays and Fridays there will be single matches, the two teams to commence at 7 o'clock. Wednesdays and Saturdays the alleys will be free from tournament games for the accomodation of other members and for events extraordinary. Wess Weir, who has a penchant for higher mathematics, is to rustle out the schedule tomorrow. An official scorer is to be appointed.

Three Cups Up

Three cups will be put up. The high average scorer and the high three-game scorer will get possession for a year of those cups. The third cup will be put up by the club for the team winning the tourney. It will become the property of the team.

Following are the teams and averages:

Barnava, skip, 171; McIntyre, 143; Martinella, 142; Rutledge, 118, Leslie, 117.

Hallett, skip, 169; Murdock, 144; Bradbury, 139; Lang, 118; Kelderman, 110.

Wolfe, skip, 168; Napier, 144; Kelso, 138; Harvey, 118; P. R. McDonald, 109.

Freeman, skip, 167; Provost, 144; Lauriente, 138; Hugh Doklin, 118; Duffy, 108.

Hansom, skip, 167; Mero, 145; J. Thompson, 137; Stimmell, 129; H. Clark, 107.

Postill, skip, 166; Rommerdahl, 145; Couch, 136; Howard, 130, J. Ewing, 107.

Vannatta, skip, 165; E. Kelderman, 147; Morrish, 134; Thomson, 130; Dr. J. B. Thom, 106.

W. Forrest, skip, 160; J. Johnson, 148; R. Williamson, 134; McLeod, 131; Sammons, 105.

Weir, skip, 157; Pasquale, 150; Simson, 134; Stiles, 131; Smith, 105.

Milligan, skip, 155; Crawley, 152; Young, 124; Ross, 133; Dodimead, 101.

Those attending the meeting were D. A. Stimmell, president; W. R. Williamson, secretary; J. Thompson, A. Crawley, W. Freeman.

REBEKAH HEAD VISITS TRAIL

Mrs. Grave Eliot Strikes Optimistic Note in Address; Is Honored by Order

TRAIL, Sept. 28.—Grace Eliot, president of the Rebekah assembly of British Columbia, officially visited Adinah Rebekah lodge No. 8 here tonight. A guard of honor of 25 members selected from the patriarchs of Look Out Encampment No. 9 escorted her and her suite during the proceedings.

In her address, Mrs. Eliot sounded an optimistic note with regard to fellowship and in special regard to the branch in British Columbia.

Following degree work, a banquet was served in Odd Fellows' hall, during which Mrs. D. Hector presented Mrs. Eliot with a token of esteem from the lodge. Several hours of dancing followed.

Tonight Roy Perry, grandmaster of the I. O. O. F., will officially visit Enterprise lodge No. 23.

ESLING MARGIN IS TEN SHORT OF A THOUSAND

Returning Officer Houston Opens Boxes and Declares Poll

FIRST FIGURES WRONG FROM SEVEN POINTS

All Changes Favor Gale and Keep Majority Under Four Figures

Kootenay West Declaration

W. K. Esling, Conservative	6247
R. H. Gale, Liberal	5257
Rejected ballots	52
Total vote cast	11,556
Esling majority	990

After spending practically the whole day opening ballot boxes and checking returns, Harry Houston, returning officer for Kootenay West, late yesterday afternoon made his official summing up, and declared the result of the poll to be the election of W. K. Esling of Rossland, Conservative candidate, by a majority of 990 votes, over R. H. Gale of Vancouver, the Liberal standardbearer.

The first of the 126 ballot boxes was opened just after 10 a.m., when the first member of the public turned up, the Dominion Elections act providing that the public must be officially present. The boxes disclosed as usual the individuality of deputy returning officers, several of whom put their own interpretations on their instructions, though the great majority complied exactly with requirements.

Changes in Returns

Out of 91 places having polls, only seven had returns that differed in any respect from their returns as reported to and printed in The Daily News. As it happened, all seven corrections were in favor of Mr. Gale.

South Slocan was reported as carried by Mr. Esling, 38 to 34. It turned out that the figures were reversed, the margin being with Mr. Gale. This made a difference of eight.

Mr. Gale gained four votes at Kitchener, which went against him 62 to 24, and one vote at Canyon City, which went against him 70 to 19. In Trail Mr. Esling lost a vote, and Mr. Gale gained one, the correct return being 944 to 932, a margin of 12 for the Liberal. It developed that Mr. Esling had too many votes at Castlegar, which he actually carried 54 to 52, while he was one too high at Whitewater, which went against him 5 to 11.

It also turned out that an error had crept into the Nelson figures on election night, and had remained uncorrected, giving Mr. Esling four too many, and Mr. Gale one too few. The correct Nelson figures are 1145 to 1033, Mr. Esling carrying this urban local riding by 112.

Three Times Running

These changes made the final figures 6247 votes for Mr. Esling and 5257 for Mr. Gale, leaving Mr. Esling a margin of 990 votes—just 10 short of four figures, and a gain of 49 over his 1925 majority over L. W. Humphrey, Farmer-Labor, which was 941. This makes the third time running that Kootenay West has given its favorite candidate a plurality or majority in the 900's, Mr. Humphrey's plurality over Dr. W. O. Rose, Conservative, in 1921, being an even 900.

All told, 52 ballots were rejected, less than one for each pair of polls. Adding the rejected ballots to the valid ones, 11,556 persons voted in the Kootenay West contest, of whom 11,504 voted effectively.

Completing Writ

Returning Officer Houston is completing the Kootenay West writ with the name of Mr. Esling, and returning it to the chief electoral officer, Col. O. M. Biggar, at Ottawa.

Veterans Contest for Offices in the Trail Organization

TRAIL, Sept. 28.—When the Trail branch of the British Empire Service League ballots next week to elect its 1926-27 officers, there will be contests for at least four offices, president, second vice-president, secretary-treasurer and sergeant-at-arms, all of which have two aspirants and may yet have more. Further nominations will be permitted prior to the election of October 4.

With most of the members employed at the smelter, it is probable one-third of them will be automatically disfranchised. The election is to be held at 7:30. No provision has yet been made for men working on afternoon shift to vote.

The situation is well-known. Some members hold it is too late to alter it this election. They assert it will be remedied for the 1927-28 election.

BILL VERIGIN IS LAID AT REST

Nephew of Late Peter Verigin Passes; Leaves Wife, Two Children

SHOREACRES, Sept. 28.—The funeral of Wasyl (Bill) Verigin, who died in Nelson, took place at the Doukhobor cemetery here on Monday, September 20.

Mr. Verigin was a nephew of the late Peter Verigin, and up to three years ago resided with his family at the old Riblet ranch, where he was manager in charge for 15 years. Mr. Verigin, who moved from Brilliant in the spring to make his home in Nelson, leaves a widow and three daughters, one of who is Mrs. John Masloff.

Awarded Contract to Build New Garage for Natal Proprietor

FERNIE, Sept. 28. — The contract for the reconstruction of Beech Bros.' garage at Natal, has been awarded to Robert Kerr of this city. The new structure is required to replace the one destroyed in the big fire at Natal a few months ago and will be semi-fireproof construction and modern in every respect. The contract price is stated to be in the neighborhood of $20,000.

HE PAYS THREE HUNDRED FINE FOR RUM SALE

Slocan City Resident Admits Sale to Provincial Police

Pleading guilty to having offended against the Liquor act by selling rum at Slocan City last Friday, as charged in an information sworn to by L. R. P. Dickson, Vancouver provincial constable, William Greenwood of that place was fined $300 yesterday forenoon by Magistrate John Cartmel.

Mr. Greenwood, through P. E. Poulin, his interpreter, wanted to make a statement that would tend toward mitigation, but Mr. Cartmel held it would serve no purpose, as it was a question whether he would inflict more than the minimum penalty.

The evidence, if it had been offered, would have showed that the accused was awakened late Friday night by men claiming to be chilled—the provincial police officers in the case—and sold them the rum.

Bought Heavily on Permit

Staff-Sergt. Ernest Gammon, who prosecuted, was granted the cancellation of Mr. Greenwood's permit for the current year. The magistrate commented that the permit revealed a large outlay for liquor, and constituted "a bad record." Two bottles of liquor seized were also confiscated. No costs were imposed.

Mr. Greenwood paid the fine, to which the alternative would have been three months' hard labor in the provincial jail.

Must Have an Auditorium if We Want Conventions

Nelson is an ideal location for a big convention.

But it can't get many big conventions until it has an auditorium to accommodate them.

If we don't make preparations to accommodate conventions, the big ones are going to be held elsewhere, which would be mighty bad business for Nelson.

British Columbia 2 Pages, Alberta 47

Speaking of the census, isn't it time there was a revision of the scope of the census as applied to British Columbia?

In volume I of the 1921 census, dealing with population, table 8, comprising "population by districts and subdistricts," devotes a few lines less than two pages to British Columbia.

The same table, as affecting Alberta, comprises 47 pages.

West Kootenay is dismissed in 11 lines of numbers.

The average Alberta federal constituency is given about seven pages, almost a page of Bow River, say, for every line given West Kootenay.

In the West Kootenay enumeration in table 8, the populations are given of the provincial ridings of Kaslo, Revelstoke, Slocan and Ymir, the Indian reserves as a unit, and the cities of Nelson, Rossland, Trail, Kaslo and Revelstoke. This is absolutely the entire detail given of the enumeration for West Kootenay. No population figures for this great area are given beyond these.

But any Alberta constituency, in addition to the detailed enumeration of hundreds of townships, has detailed enumeration also for all centers of any size. Battle River, to take one instance, has the detail of five towns, the smallest being Lloydminster, with 286 people, and of 15 villages, the smallest being Czar, with 71.

Or take any Saskatchewan constituency. Maple Creek has nearly seven pages of township figures, many townships having a population expressed by one integer, and its section winds up with six towns, with a population down to 427 for the lowest, and 23 villages, of which six have fewer than 100 people.

Prairie Points With Three Inhabitants Recorded

Eleven lines for West Kootenay, less than two pages for all British Columbia—and villages of 25 people and townships of six people recorded throughout the three prairie provinces!

If every enumeration district on the prairie can be reported, why must British Columbia have to be content with the mass results?

If township 7, range 20, west meridian, Manitoba, can be reported as having three people, why cannot the facts be given regarding such Kootenay centers as Creston, Nakusp, New Denver, Silverton, Sandon, Riondel, Willow Point and scores of others?

What kind of an impression will people of other lands, who check up the Canadian census figures, gain of British Columbia, a province with only 27 points in it of sufficient importance to have their populations recorded?

It is time the province demanded revision of this system, and an equality with the prairie provinces.

Ogden Mills Will Oppose Governor Smith, New York

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Representative Ogden Mills was today nominated by the Republican convention to oppose Governor Alfred E. Smith for the governorship of New York state. Governor Smith was nominated by the Democrats by acclamation today.

The Republicans are meeting here and the Democrats at Syracuse.

The Republicans have gone on record as favoring not only prohibition enforcement, but a referendum on state determination of the alcohol content of beverages.

The Democrats today adopted a platform favoring modification of the Volstead act and United States adherence to the world court.

GOOD ROADS MEN HEAR SPEACHES

Hundred Delegates at Thirteenth Annual Meeting of Body; Prominent Speakers

EDMONTON, Sept. 28.—Over 100 delegates, representing the governments, highway commissioners and good roads organization in the nine provinces of the Dominion, registered today at attending the 13th annual convention of the Good Roads association.

Addresses of welcome were given by Lieutenant-Governor Egbert, Premier Brownlee, Mayor Blatchford and other representatives of the city, these being followed in turn by messages of greeting and appreciation by outstanding delegates from other sections of the Dominion.

Discussing what Alberta has done in the matter of good roads improvement, Lieutenant-Govenor Egbert pointed out that it expected some 500 miles of graveled roads will be completed by the end of 1926.

Nova Scotia is called upon to spend 50 per cent of the provincial revenue on roads, Hon. P. C. Black, minister of highways for that province, told the delegates. With 15,000 miles of highways, some $21,000 has been spent on bridges, roads and culverts.

J. J. Johnston, president of the Good Roads league of British Columbia, spoke of the completion of the Cariboo highway from Boston Bar to New Westminster, B. C., as an important link between the Pacific coast and the interior of British Columbia.

"What do you mean when you call for 'Cottage Pudding' in your menus?" asks a letter friend. "Just a plain white cake? And what kind of sauce?"

Cottage pudding is the most versatile of desserts. It may mean a slice of plain white cake with a liquid lemon sauce; it may mean a stale piece of sponge cake with a hot vanilla sauce; it may mean left over chocolate cake with an egg or custard sauce—in fact, it may mean any variety of cake one happens to have on hand, served with any desired sort of sauce. My two favorite cottage puddings are both served with the liquid lemon sauce I have repeated so often in this column. But as I have never before published the two cake recipes, I will give them now:

Two-Egg Sponge Cake—Beat two egg yolks light and add to them one-half cup of cold, sweet milk and one cup of granulated sugar. Now sift one cup of pastry flour with one teaspoon of baking powder, and combine this dry mixture with the liquid mixture. Stir till well blended, beat several minutes, then fold in the stiffly whipped white of two eggs and scrape at once into a square, buttered pan measuring eight by eight inches on the bottom. Slip quickly into a hot oven (from 450 to 500 degrees Fahrenheit) and bake at the same temperature for 15 to 20 minutes. Never cut sponge cake. Breaking also crushes it. The best way is to divide it into small pieces with two silver forks pulled in oposite directions, prongs touching at start of pull.

Egg Gingerbread—Melt one-half cup of butter in two-thirds of a cup of boiling water (off the range). Now turn the mixture into a mixing bowl, add one cup of molasses, one well beaten egg and two and three-fourths cups of bread flour sifted with one and one-half teaspoons of soda, one-half teaspoon of salt, one teaspoon each of gsound cinnamon and ground ginger, and one-fourth teaspoon of ground cloves. Scrape the batter into a buttered square pan measuring eight by eight inches, and bake in a hot oven (between 450 and 550 degrees Fahrenheit) for 35 minutes.

Tomorrow—Infant's Afghan.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

Cutting Down on Your Wear and Tear

Out at the University of California Dr. Alvarez had the opportunity of examining students from every standpoint, the food requirements, and the length of time it took food to get completely out of the body.

A very interesting point was proven some months ago when he took the reading of the blood pressure just before a written university examination. The readings showed a remarkable increase in the blood pressure due, of course, to the nervous excitement, or dread of the examination, the readings being sometimes nearly 30 points above the average.

A research man in Finland has tried the same experiment on some university students. He finds that the students there were similarly affected, the blood pressure going up 30 points in some cases.

He found that even a slight emotional stress was sufficient to send up the pressure a few points.

Further, the effect of this stress and increase in blood pressure was also indicated in the urine. This showed clearly the wearing effect of emotion, and increased blood pressure.

Now we can't escape emotions. In fact life wouldn't be worth much without them, but the control of them is worth some thought on our part.

If your blood pressure goes up considerably during emotion of any kind, and you are warned repeatedly about its bad effects upon you, you are apt to worry so much about it, that your worry can be the most damaging emotion you can undergo.

In fact it is not the amount of hard mental work you do that causes trouble, it is the way that work looks or looms up to you that really counts.

If you are of the emotional type, then just a little rest, relaxation, once or twice a day, will make a great difference to your general health.

I am not advocating that you "sleep on your job," but if you feel the stress and strain telling on you a bit, then try to get away from it for just a few minutes a couple of times a day.

It will keep your blood pressure at nearly the normal point, and thus the wear and tear on your system will be less.

Willingdons Nearing Canadian Shores; Have Sunny Weather at Sea

EMPRESS OF SCOTLAND, at Sea (Radio), Sept. 28.—Sunny weather and smooth seas are accompanying the passage of the Empress of Scotland, flagship of the Canadian Pacific fleet, to Quebec, carrying His Excellency Viscount Willingdon, new governor-general of Canada, and Lady Willingdon.

The ship is expected to arrive at the ancient capital this coming week-end.

Their excellencies were much interested in moving pictures, shown aboard the ship, illustrating phases of life in the Dominion and including subjects so varied as Hart house, Toronto, students' residence at the university; trail riders of the Canadian Rockies, and Doukhobors in British Columbia. Last night both Viscount and Lady Willingdon took part in a dance held in the ballroom of the Empress of Scotland.

'Absolute Abonimation,' Declares Bishop, Talking on Debt Collections Plan

WINNIPEG, Sept. 28.—A heated debate over an agreement with the Canadian government regarding the bringing of immigrants to Canada was precipitated at the annual meeting of the council of social service of the Church of England in Canada.

The bishop of Montreal told the council that an "absolute abomination" had been committed in "making the Church of God a collector of debts for any government."

The debate arose over the following clause in an agreement with the Dominion government.

"The council undertakes to collect and refund to the Dominion government all sums loaned to immigrants under provisions of clause four."

The bishop of Ontario said he could not see anything wrong in the church assuming responsibility for debts recommended by itself.

It was finally decided to let the clause in the agreement stand until the agreement lapsed.

The council adopted a motion for reorganization of the executive to include representation from all the provinces of Canada.

The bishop of Ontario was appointed vice-chairman of the executive. G. B. Woods, Toronto, treasurer, was re-elected.

All other representatives were retained.

Good Battle Plane of Necessity Is Unsafe, Say Officials

DAYTON, O., Sept. 28—A good battle plane is necessarily an unsafe plane, and it is the element of danger that offers the pilot of such a ship his greatest protection in aerial battle.

Officers of the army air corps and officials of McCook field here believe that. The primary requisites in fighting planes are speed and maneuverability. These little ships must be able to twist and turn sharply and suddenly, to follow the enemy's zigzagging, or to avoid his sudden rush from behind a cloudbank. They must be highly maneuverable.

This means that the controls must be sensative to an extreme degree. When a pursuit pilot in battle elevates his ailerons or other control he wants immediate response. It is this sensitiveness and extreme flexibility, McCook field officers say, that makes the pursuit plane unsafe and treacherous in the hands of an inexperienced pilot. More than one death may be attributed to the fact that the pilot's experience had been wholly on "slow" ships, and had not developed the delicacy of the "finger pressure" planes.

Advertising Saves Expense

It's a Short-Time Investment for Big Dividends, Speaker Says

Newspaper advertising is the labor-saving machine of sales for the merchant, was the opinion expressed at the meeting of the Cincinnati Advertisers' Club by David Gibson, merchandising specialist.

"Some will be inclined to say that newspaper advertising is an added item of expense," said Mr. Gibson, "but it is not. Advertising is a short-time investment for a big dividend from increasing turnover, transforming gross into net and quicker cash returns to gain discounts on bills of goods. It is not an expense any more than a labor-saving machine to increase production is an expense. There are those who think that advertising adds to the cost of the goods, but they are wrong. It simply speeds up operations and gets quicker and surer results."

Advertising increases retail turnover and makes it easier to sell goods

Creston Man Makes Improvements on His Greenhouse

CRESTON, Sept. 28. — James Cook is rushing along a 30-foot addition to his greenhouse, in order to have it working in time to supply this winter's demand for vegetables, cut flowers and plants. This is the second enlargement he has made in the past three years, and gives him 75 by 25 feet under glass. A modern steam heating plant is being put in.

Liquor Fines Boost Creston's Court Revenues Some

CRESTON, Sept. 28. — September police court revenues at Creston will establish a high mark for any single month in the past three years, with fines imposed to date totaling a little over $700. Two cases of infraction of the Liquor act, tried before Magistrate Mallandaine on Monday, brought in $600. In fact, the total intake for the month is practically all from liquor trials.

CRESTON FAIR OPENS DOORS BY TOMORROW

Today Is Get-Together Day; Expect Larger Display Than Ever; Esling Officiating

CRESTON, Sept. 28. — Although the weather for all September has not been exactly the kind to put orchardists and others in fall fair humor, with the clearing of atmospheric conditions at the end of the week prospects now appear to be right for a representative display at Creston's 1926 fall fair, which will have its get-ready day tomorrow, and will be opened to the public, officially, on Thursday, with W. K. Esling, member-elect for West Kootenay, expected to making the opening address.

Exhibitors of live stock this year will appreciate the enterprise of the directors, who have just had erected commodious buildings for the housing of the horses and cattle.

With the 1926 fruit season almost two weeks earlier than usual, the show of the later varieties of apples should break all previous records, though some of the earlier sorts, as well as the stone fruits, may be missing. There has been an unusually large entry list from outside exhibitors in the needlework section, which is likely to be one of the best yet seen at Creston, while substantial prizes in the cooking department is sure to attract a big entry list there. This year, for the first time, the directors are trying out the popular ranch display. All four school districts that competed a year ago are lined up to take home the Jackson shield, which was captured in 1925 by Wynndel school for the best school display of fruit, cereals and flowers.

FERNIE COURT HEARS APPEALS BY TWO MEN

First Under Liquor Act and Latter Under Criminal Code; Case Adjourned

FERNIE, Sept. 28. — Two appeals are being heard at Fernie, one from a sentence under the government liquor act and another under the criminal code for causing a disturbance. The first appeal was lodged by Tony Servello and the latter by Mr. Laschutti. In this latter case the magistrate had fined the accused $20 and costs, and also sentenced him to imprisonment for two months. His honor, on rehearing, decided that the facts did not warrant imposition of the jail sentence, but increased the fine to $30 and costs, which was paid forthwith by the accused.

Bottled Beer Seized

The evidence for the crown in the Servello case disclosed that the city police in May last had visited the dwelling premises of accused, made a search for liquor and seized a bottle containing a liquid, concerning which testimony was given that it was intoxicating liquor within the meaning of the Liquor act. A certificate from a provincial analyst showed it contained 31.26 per cent alcoholic content by weight. A quantity of bottled beer was also taken by the police. The bottle in which the liquor was contained bore no liquor control board seal, and on this account the charge was originally laid against Servello. He was fined in the lower court $300 by the magistrate for having in his possession unsealed liquor.

Servello, in testifying in his own defence before Judge Thompson, said that about two weeks prior to the raid by the police he had purchased a bottle of Caledonia Scotch whisky from the government vendor on his permit, but that two or three days before the raid the original bottle had been accidentally broken and the remaining contents had been salvaged by him and placed in the container in which it was found by the police. The trial was adjourned until next week upon application of the crown, after the defence rested its case, in order to adduce further evidence as to the quality of the said liquor, through a witness who resides at a distant point. A. I. Fisher, K.C., appeared for the crown; Sherwood Herchmer for the defence.

MEN APPEAL IN FERNIE COURT AGAINST FINES

Were Fined $25 Under Forestry Act Regulations; Were Prospecting at the Time

FERNIE, Sept. 28. — Sittings of the county court will be resumed here on Tuesday, Sept. 28, when the case Rex ex rel Oland vs. Robert Ewen and James Ewen will be heard. This is an appeal by the two accused from convictions by E. T. Cope, stipendiary magistrate, under the Forestry act regulations, viz., "they having set out a camp fire near Bean creek, some seven miles northwest of this city, between May 1 and October 1, they did not totally extinguish said fire before leaving their campsite."

The offence is alleged to have been committed in June last and at that time the accused were employed by the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company of Canada as one of the many parties of prospectors engaged in locating and testing the deposits of phosphates in this district. They were each fined $25 and costs by the magistrate, from which convictions the forthcoming appeal by way of trial de novo or new trial is being taken. It is expected the rehearing of the case will require several days, as both sides are said to have a large number of witnesses to testify. Alan Graham of the firm Nisbet & Graham, barristers, Cranbrook, is appearing for the appellants, while A. I. Fisher, K. C., of this city, will be counsel for the respondents.

Constable C. F. Oland of the provincial force, resident of Kaslo, but who for the current year has been assigned to the enforcement of the regulations under the Forestry act, has arrived in the city in connection with the above case.

Two persons were shot dead and two wounded at Lockport, N.Y., in a shooting affray arising from liquor.

CRESTON CURLERS PLAN FOR SEASON

Suggest Building Lean-To on Agricultural Building to Give Enlarged Space

CRESTON, Sept. 28.—Dr. Henderson, president, was in the chair at a special meeting of Creston Curling club on Monday night at which the matter of enlarging last year's curling rink was under discussion. The executive submitted a proposition of securing permission from the agricultural association to erect a lean-to on the main fair building, to be 30 feet wide and extend 50 feet further back than the present structure, thus giving the club two sheets of ice of standard curling length.

The game was introduced here last winter, when but one sheet of ice was available, due to half of the fall fair building being given over to skating. For this winter it is hoped to have the curlers in quarters of their own, and the whole of the present building made available to the skaters.

After discussion as to the possibility of financing the undertaking, it was decided to have the executive interview the directors of the fall fair at their meeting early next week, and if permission is secured to erect a lean-to a canvass will be immediately instituted to secure the needed money. If the enlargement is made, the curlers can double their membership, with only the additional expense of buying few pairs more of club stones.

Creston Decides Not to Take Over Library, Put Down Sidewalks

CRESTON, Sept. 28. — At the meeting of the village commissioners on Monday night Chairman H. S. McCreath of the streets and roads committee was authorized to at once proceed with the putting down of new sidewalk on the main street, and on Sirdar avenue, starting at the corner of Fourth street. With another year of new walk building on a par with the work done in 1925 and 1926, the village will be well supplied with good walks. The commissioners have decided not to take over the housing and management of the public library as requested by the library directors.

SWEPT BY MONSTER HURRICANE

Above is an excellent panoramic view of the downtown district of Miami, winter playground of America, where a hurricane of the greatest intensity swept the waters of the Atlantic over the city and adjoining country, causing about $150,000,000 damage and taking upward of 800 lives, 400 alone in Miami and Miami Beach. In the background is shown Miami Beach, the winter home of America's most wealthy residents, upon which millions upon millions of dollars have been poured in the last few years, and which now lies desolated and destroyed. The causeway connecting Miami with Miami Beach is also to be seen, where thousands of Beach residents were cut off from the mainland with the rapidly rising waters.

Destroyers in the Tuning Business

(Portion of an Address before the Convention of the National Association of Piano Manufacturers.)

By H. H. Abercrombie

A clever salesman will sell a piano that has seen its last days to a customer for a beginner to learn on, which is a crime. The beginner should have the best that money can buy. The musician can produce music of some sort on most any kind of a piano, but the child or beginner must have the ear trained as well as the fingers. Correct tone and regulation are the most essential things in a piano.

Another destroyer in the tuning business is the dealer that will hire any Tom, Dick or Harry that is cheap enough. Very often this class of tuner is given piece work on deadhead or free tuning. The price is perhaps so small that it is a case of get the money, and the only things that suffer are the pianos and the owners. This same class of dealers will boost the destroyer as being the finest that money can hire, will never entertain a complaint of poor work until the day comes when he sees a cheaper one coming his way, and then the customers pick another prize, and, after the piano has been tuned by several different tuners who have no interest in anything excepting the dollars, it's then the dealer submerges and fires a shot into the manufacturer. This is one of the causes that make the independent tuner.

Another type is the faker that claims that his great-grandfather was a piano maker and that he graduated from a mail order college; that it cost the large sum of $45 to learn the business; but, as he took a summer course at a reduction, he is willing that his customers get the benefit of same.

EFFICIENCY

It takes years of careful training, then more years of hard work satisfactorily performed, before the words "experience" and "ability" take on their full meaning.

Coming strongly endorsed by the best authority in Canada—piano manufacturers who are positively particular where they put their signature, as follows:

Heintzman & Co.
Morris & Karn Co.
Gourlay Piano Co.
Newcombe Piano Co.
Fletcher Bros.
Gerhard Heintzman House, Vancouver
Mason & Risch Co., Vancouver
Prof. D. A. Tripp, Vancouver
David Ross, teacher of vocal, Vancouver

And others of highest authority.

The above fine letters and 16 years of success in this field mean the finest possible results on your piano in tuning and action regulating, cleaning and positively properly pitched.

I will have pleasure in calling on all some time during October.

Soliciting your kind consideration, I remain,

Your very truly,

BRIDGES SWEPT AWAY BY HEAVY RAINS, SOUTH

Trains Held Up in Arizona; Damage Much Greater Than at First Estimated

PHOENIX, Ariz., Sept. 28.—Reports from scores of southern Arizona and northern New Mexico points today indicated that the damage wrought by heavy rains over the week-end was considerably greater than at first indicated.

Scores of bridges were swept away and traffic is seriously curtailed on railroads and highways. Five Southern Pacific trains carrying 6000 passengers were detained in Tuscon today, eastbound trains were started out of Tuscon, routed through Phoenix and over the Santa Fe lines to El Paso.

Two more Southern Pacific bridges collapsed today, one at Benson and the other at Fairbanks, Ariz.

Train service on the Southern Pacific of Mexico between Nogales and Guayamas is at a standstill, following the destruction by torrential streams of several bridges.

Reverse Decision on Teapot Dome Oil Lease; Lease Fraud

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 28. — The United States circuit court of appeals today reversed and remanded the decision of the district court at Cheyenne, Wyo., upholding the Teapot Dome oil lease obtained by Harry F. Sinclair and associates from the government while Albert B. Fall was secretary of the interior.

The decision declared the Sinclair lease to have been fraudulent.

The lower court is instructed to ask the Mammoth Oil company for an accounting of all oil and petroleum products taken from the government naval oil reserve during its tenure.

Half-Holiday Problem Worries Vancouver City

VANCOUVER, Sept. 28.—Because Vancouver changed its original half-holiday from Saturday to Wednesday, the city has a problem of proving infractions to the closing bylaw, so much that so far the city has been unable to establish in police court that Wednesday is legally a half-holiday.

The city is asking the city solicitor if it is possible to avert having to prove all actions of legislature in connection with the change in court every time the prosecution is decided upon.

MRS. STUBS WINS LADIES GOLF, KASLO

Another Win and the Armstead Cup Becomes Her Own Personal Property

KASLO, Sept. 28. — The Kaslo gold tournament was again won by Mrs. J. H. Stubbs. Following is the play:

First Round

Miss E. Giegerich beat Mrs. J. Skillicorn, Mrs. J. Anderson beat Mrs. E. Latham, Mrs. D. Barclay beat Miss Hamilton, Mrs. J. H. Stubbs beat Mrs. F. Chandler.

Second Round

Miss E. Giegerich beat Mrs. J. Anderson, Mrs. J. H. Stubbs beat Mrs. D. Barclay.

Finals, Third Round

Mrs. J. H. Stubbs beat Miss E. Giegerich 5 up and 3 to play.

The tournament was for the beautiful silver cup donated by Col. H. Armstead. Mrs. Stubbs won last year, and another win will give her the cup for "keeps." The games were played in perfect sunshiny weather. The men's tournament began Friday, but the games are not yet completed.

TWO CHARGES OF BOOTLEGGING TO BE HEARD TODAY

McEwan of Salmo, Bremner of Ymir, Both Have Counsel

Two charges of selling intoxicants will be tried before Stipendiary Magistrate John Cartmel today, making four to be dealt with in two days, as a result of the activities of Vancouver provincial police officers in the Nelson district the last two weeks.

At 10 o'clock the trial of Duncan McEwan of Salmo will be begun, on a charge of selling whisky on September 15. E. P. Dawson, of Brown & Dawson, is Mr. McEwan's counsel.

Later a case against James Bremner of Ymir will be heard, the charge in this case being of selling beer September 14.

Both cases were adjourned from yesterday.

Gets Particulars

In the case of Mr. Bremner, his counsel, A. Donaghy, made a motion for more particulars, and was informed by Staff-Sergeant Ernest Gammon, who prosecuted, that as far as he was aware the charge was that the accused sold the beer himself, and not by an employee, and that the alleged sale took place about 10 o'clock at night.

SEARCH FOR NURSE IN HILLS GIVEN UP

Parties Find Camp Fire but Lost Traces of Trail in Snow; Believed Dead, Exhaustion

VANCOUVER, Sept. 28.—Another victim has been abandoned to the mountain trails. Parties organized to seek Miss Mary Warburton, a Vancouver nurse, missing since August 29, when she left Hope to walk to Princton, have abandoned the search, convinced that the woman took the wrong trail, became lost in the dense wilderness and, exhausted, perished of hunger and exposure. She was 17 years of age and came from England three years ago. Party two weeks ago found remains of a camp fire lighted by the woman and tracks that lead into the wilderness. Shortly afterward a snowfall made all further search impossible.

VIC FOLEY ENTERS FEATHER FINALS

Meets Myreault Tonight in Montreal; Winner Will Battle Kid Roy

MONTREAL, Sept. 28.—Vic Foley of Vancouver and Sylvio Myreault of Montreal will battle here tomorrow night in the final of the elimination tournament for the right to challenge Leo (Kid) Roy for the featherweight championship of Canada. Indications are that the bout will be a hard-fought one, as both boxers have shown some good work in the preliminaries.

Wagering on the result is about even, as both men have a good following in this city.

Another bout that is creating considerable interest is that between George Fifield of Toronto and King Brady of Syracuse for the welterweight title. Two other bouts will also be fought.

Bride-to-Be Is Honored by Her Friends in Kaslo

KASLO, Sept. 28. — On Thursday Mrs. E. H. Latham entertained in honor of Miss Margaret Giegerich, whose wedding takes place shortly. The party was held at the King George hotel, dancing, mah jongg and cards being the pastimes. The rooms were prettily decorated with autumn flowers and the lucky blue bird of brides. Dainty refreshments were served at about midnight. A "memory book" was signed by each of the guests and was presented to the bride-to-be. The guests were Miss Margaret Giegerich, the mayor and Mrs. Burgess, Dr. and Mrs. Barclay, Dr. and Mrs. J. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. W. Dunn, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Trainor, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. H. Giegerich, Misses A. Cockle, E. Cadden, I. Perkins, W. Rouleau, V. Perkins, D. Perkins, J. Ross, A. McAndrew, E. Mercer, E. Giegerich, R. McWilliams, F. Latham, K. HORT RIGHT IN THE FIRST WON THE FIGHT

States Tunney, Who Practiced the Blow for a Whole Year

ENIES THAT DEMPSEY HAS LOST HIS PUNCH

'Was Sick After the Fight, Not Before,' Says Dempsey; No Plans for Future

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—A short ght in the first round won the orld's heavyweight title for Gene unney last Thursday night, Using orts writers to illustrate, the new ng of fistina showed how he did today.

"A boxing authority, than whom ere is no greater," he said, "came Stroudsburg and told me that empsey would unquestionably ange his tactics in this bout. He sured me that the champion would ot charge at me as he had done at her opponents, but would hesitate or 20 seconds. He advised me to sh him and attempt to get in a ecisive blow.

"I told my friend something that had never told anyone during my raining, that his advice coincided ith my plan of fighting. It orked out that way. In the sec- nd rush I found the opening I ought and got home the short ght, which in my opinion really on me the fight. I had practised is blow for more than a year.

"Always to the very end of the ght, I had to watch that deadly eft; I never forgot an instant that was loaded with T.N.T. If you o not think it is dynamite, if you hink Dempsey has lost his punch, et him hit you as he hit me and hen tell me when you wake up, f you do, that Dempsey has lost his unch."

Jack Dempsey came to town today rom Atlanta City and nailed the umor that he was ill on the night of he fight.

"I was sick after the fight, but ot before. I don't want sympathy nd I have no alibi," he said.

The ex-champion announced that e had no plans for the future.

RUTH ENTERS SEVENTH WORLD SERIES POST

If Takes Field Saturday He Hangs Up Record for Players; Tied for Homer Record

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Babe Ruth will break his first world series record by going to the park and taking his place in the opening game. If the big fellow retains a grip on his health and is able to play, he will enter his seventh world's series. No other player has played more than six.

Tied with Ruth up to this year at six participations in the baseball classic were J. Franklin Baker, Everett Scott, Eddie Collins and Wally Schang. Baker is farming and not interested in playing world's series baseball. Scott, Collins and Schang can not better their records at the moment for the White Sox and Browns are not winning pennants this year.

The leading exponent of baseball biff played three world's series under the colors of the Boston Red Sox and wielded his mace in as many series for the Yankees.

Other records may be expected to fall if the Babe is on his game. He will have to score more than eight runs to better one mark—for he is tied with Tommy Leach for the most runs scored in one series at eight.

Is Tied, Too

Ruth is tied with Goose Goslin and Joe Harris of Washington for the most home runs in one series, three, and with Hooper of the Red Sox and Kauff of the Giants for two home runs in one game. Ruth smashed out his circuit blows in successive innings, October 11, 1923.

The Babe is tied with a number of fellow athletes, past and present, for the number of extra base hits in a series, with five, but holds undisputed first place for the most extra bases on long hits, 18, compiled in 1918, 1921, 1922 and 1923 by four home runs, two triples and two doubles. He also has established a tie with Hooper and Kauff for the most extra bases on long hits in one game, six.

He was in a receptive mood for a record in 1923 when he was given eight bases on balls during the series.

The versatile Ruth also has his name engraved in the department devoted to pitching records. He pitched 29 scoreless innings for the Red Sox in 1916 and 1918, going 13 innings the first year and 16 the second.

Ruth has a total of four world's series home runs against six for Goslin of the Washington Senators, who hit three in 1924 and three more in 1925. Ruth will have to get three in the series to establish a new record.

NEITHER TEAM HAS PRACTICE OWING TO RAIN

Pennock or Reuther Will Oppose Alexander of Cards in the Opener

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Rain and cold weather kept the world's baseball championship contenders, the Yankees and Cardinals, idle today, but the rival field marshals, Miller Huggins and Rogers Hornsby, improved the interval by an intense study the tactics and strategy.

The chief result of this "mastermind ing" is the prospect that the opening game of the world's series on Saturday will develop a battle of left handers.

Pennock has been the most consistent of the Yankee slinging staff this season. Close observers favor his election, but only because of his ability as a "money pitcher" and also because he requires at least three days' rest between games. By twirling the opener he would be ready to come back quicker than if he is held for a later assignment.

Huggins indicated today he was virtually certain to pick a left-hander which would confine his choice to Pennock or Dutch Ruether, among the regulars. The midget manager, however, also is grooming Shocker, spitball ace, and a right-hander, for early service.

Alexander Picked

Grover Cleveland Alexander, the veteran who helped the Cardinals in their winning drive after being "sold down the river," by the Cubs, will get the first game assignment, Hornsby indicated, if Sherdel is not selected. Alexander is in the same position as Shocker—he is virtually certain on Sunday if he does not start on Saturday.

Bengough is out of the series altogether, thus putting the catching burden upon Pat Collins and Hank Severid, whose luck is being shifted, has carried him into two straight championship series.

Huggins has decided to start Earl Coombs at his regular post in center field instead of Paschal, who alternated with Coombs during a good share of the season.

PACIFIC COAST LEAGUE

Oakland, 5; San Francisco, 8.
Sacramento, 13; Los Angeles, 9.
Only two games.

Major S. M. Montesinas, commandant of the 18th United States Infantry, stationed at Fort Schuyler, one of the original defences of New York City, scored the highest individual mark in the recent triangular shoot between the Regular Army, National Guard and Organized Reserves, and established what is now believed to be an all-army record for firing the pistol. His score was .9883 per cent.

Hornsby's Mother Is Dying but Hopes to Live Till Series Over

AUSTEN, Texas, Sept. 28.—Hope that she may live until after the world series baseball games is sustaining Mrs. M. D. Hornsby, aged mother of Rogers Hornsby, manager of the pennant-winning St. Louis Cardinals, who will lead his club against the New York Yankees for the world title.

Mrs. Hornsby is seriously ill here, following a relapse. She has predicted her son's club will win.

FOUR RIVALS MISS COLLETT FAIL QUALIFY

Miss Ada Mackenzie, Canadian Entrant, Among Fallen in Women's National Event

HAVERFORD, Pa., Sept. 28.—Four outstanding rivals for the women's golf crown of Glenna Collett were eliminated today in a series of sensational first round upsets which spared the champion herself only after an exciting uphill battle.

While the titleholder was being carried to the home green of the Merion course through a drenching downpour to win over Mrs. O. S. Hill of Kansas City, two up, Maureen Orcutt, metropolitan champion, Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd, victor in the national event of 1924, Virginia Van Wie of Chicago, who defeated Mrs. Collett earlier in the season, and Miss Ada MacKenzie of Toronto were beaten.

A belated rally on the last nine holes failed to save Miss MacKenzie, who lost to Mrs. G. H. Stetson, Philadelphia, 2 and 1.

YANKS' PARK IS LARGEST BALL PLANT IN USE

65,000 Persons Can Be Seated in Park; on Ten-Acre Plot

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—The Yankee stadium, where the New York Americans make their home, is the largest baseball plant in the country. It saw its first world's series games in 1923, the year it was built, when the Yanks and Giants hooked up in the October classic that returned the American league champions the winners.

Oft described as "The House that Ruth Built," its vast triple-decked stands and spacious bleachers will hold about 65,000 persons. The largest paid attendance in the 1923 series was 62,817, but no standees were allowed, and as there is standing room for several thousand the actual capacity has never been officially made known. In a double-header this month with the Athletics the Yanks were said to have entertained a few hundred over 65,000 cash customers.

The stadium is built on a 10-acre plot just north of the Harlem river in the Bronx and is understood to have cost close to $3,000,000. The ground stand is a triple decked steel affair with concrete floors.

The playing field contains 160,000 square feet. The left field foul line is 280 feet 7 inches to the box fence which runs at a wide angle to the foul line giving the left fielder ample room. Comparatively few home runs are made into the left field stands. The right field foul line strikes the bleacher fence 294 feet 9 inches from the home plate. It is into the wide reacites of the right field bleachers and over this fence that Babe Ruth pops most of his home runs. From the home plate to deepest center field the tape shows 490 feet.

A drainage system was built under the playing field so that a torrential rain soon filters through the soil, leaving the surface in good shape for playing.

Colonel Jacob Ruppert, the club owner, always has declined to consider installing temporary stands on the playing field.

WILLS MATCHED WITH SHARKEY

Dusky Battler Says He Will Not Fight Under Tex Rickard; Battle October 12

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Harry Wills is not going to fight for Tex Rickard. The big dark long-time contender for heavyweight honors made this announcement through Promoter Humbert Fugazy this afternoon, and Promoter Fugazy announced at the same time that Wills is going to meet Jack Sharkey of Boston in a 15-round match at Ebbets Field on October 12.

The Boston heavyweight, who recently knocked out George Godfrey, thus advanced from the ranks of the second flight. For several years he has been boxing consistently and finds himself up against one of the high liners at the age of 28. Wills is 34, and has 10 more knockouts than years to his credit.

Falling three stories and escaping uninjured, was the experience of 5-year-old Hellen O'Malley, in Chicago.

TORONTO LEAFS TAKE FIRST OF LITTLE SERIES

St. Louis Colonels on Blank End of 2-0 Score in Little World Series

TORONTO, Sept. 28.—Toronto took the first game of the "little world's series" from the Louisville Colonels, champions of the American association, today by 2 to 0, Jess Doyle getting the verdict over Ben Tincup in a pitchers' duel. Tincup only allowed three hits, one a double by Miller, while Doyle was touched up for five, three of them scratchy. Both teams fielded perfectly, with Layne and Miller featuring the Leafs' defensive work and Betsel and Webb being of great assistance to Tincup.

After being held hitless for three innings, the Leafs broke out in the fourth, hits by Gilhooley and Mullen being followed by sacrifices by Lawry and Carlyle for the first run. In the next inning Miller opened with a double, went to third on Heath's sacrifice hit and scored the final run of the game while Doyle was being retired.

The Colonels had a big chance in the first, when Guyon, Anderson and Devermore hit safely, filling the bases with two out, but Doyle disposed of Cotter. The Colonels got their other two hits in the fifth, after two were out, but Mullen threw out Guyon after a great pickup. In the sixth Anderson walked, but the American association champions did not threaten.

Four Penalties Handed Out in One Play

BY AL DEMAREE
(Former Pitcher New York Giants)

"A most unusual play occurred in the Coe-Drake game at Des Moines, Iowa, in 1923," says Moray L. Ely, director of athletics at Coe College.

"Coe had carried the ball by the line smashes to Drake's 10-yard line; when Coe's center passed low to the fullback, who fumbled, and the ball was kicked to one side in front of Sloan, Drake's right-end, who picked up the ball and started toward Drake's goal line. Strong, Coe's full back, started after him fully 25 yards behind with no chance in the world of overtaking him. However, he kept after him until just as the Drake end crossed the goal line the Drake full-back clipped Strong from behind. Strong got up and took a swing at him.

"The officials took the touchdown away from Drake, put Coe's full-back out of the game and penalized Coe half the distance from the goal line from the spot the foul occurred and then penalized Drake 15 yards for clipping. This all happened on one play and there has been much discussion as to whether proper decisions were rendered. I believe they were "O. K."

Although He's Irish, Gene Prefers Tunney Rhyming With Sunny

Gene Tunney pronounces his name with the "u" as in "up," not "Tooney," as thousands of boxing fans call him.

"My mother, who is Irish and still flavors her talk with the old Irish brogue, pronounces it as if it were 'Tooney,' but I prefer the other pronunciation," the challenger said.

Horse Racing in England Works Against French

Horse racing is the only "business" or "sport" where the pound sterling is still on a pre-war basis. But it is in England and only works one way——against the French owner.

Of late years great French stables have entered many horses in stakes and fixtures on the English tracks. The stakes are rather small, but paid in sterling. Open betting with reliable bookies is settled likewise. The lucky French changes them at the current rate.

But in some of the handicaps, the weight the horse must carry is figured according to its winnings during the season.

Gene Leigh, American trainer of Epinard fame, recently took one of M. Pierre Wertheimer's horses to Newmarket.

After looking up the records, the handicapper told Gene; "Your entry has won 160,000 francs." Then after a little scribbling, he added: "4000 sterling, 8 stones 10 (122 lbs.) he'll carry."

"Not on your life," shouted Gene, "your figuring is all wrong." Then delving into his pockets, Gene drew a large roll of French bills and throwing them on the handicappers' table, said: "Here is 25,000 francs, fork over a thousand pounds."

The handicapper merely smiled, but the weight remained at 122 lbs. Gene scratched the horse.

Pythians Raise Large Sum of Money at Dance Held in New Denver

NEW DENVER, Sept. 28. — On Friday evening the Pythian Sisters were responsible for a successful and enjoyable dance given in the K. of P. hall. A large number were present, *and, judging by the numbers of en*cores asked for, the dancers and musician were in perfect harmony.

The orchestra was composed of Mrs. A. S. McAulay and A. S. McAulay and J. Jewitt.

At 11:30 an excellent lunch was served, after which dancing continued until the wee small hours. The receipts amounted to $94.

NURMI SAYS HE MAY BE MARRIED

Paavo Nurmi, premier distance runner, is thinking of getting married, he told a correspondent of the Berliner Tageblatt. "But," he added, "not until I'm through with the track, and that won't be until I've reached tip-top form. I expect to do much better than I have."

Nurmi is 29 years old. Reminded that he had a reputation as a woman hater, he replied.

"Not in the least. I may be a little shy. I'm just a plain man who hasn't had much opportunity of enjoying the society of women. But don't say I hate them."

His bride, he indicated, must be athletic minded because he expects to keep in training all his life. He has no preferences as to nationality and thinks much of American women.

LORD BALFOUR POPULARIZED THE GOLF GAME

Made It Popular in England; Was Early in Game Presented With 'Caddies'

Lord Balfour, take it from Lord Newton, is the person who made golf popular in England.

Lord Newton, as they say in American slang, has the low-down on all the parliamentary golfers. More than 30 years ago he twice won the Parliamentary handicap and he has been playing ever since.

"It was Lord Balfour," Newton says, "who first made golf popular in England. He used to play it regularly when he was one of the most outstanding figures in the house of commons and the great popularity and respect which he enjoyed undoubtedly contributed largely to the spread of the game.

"If he had started to play earlier in life he would probably have developed into an exceptionally good amateur, for he had an aptitude for all ball games."

In connection with Lord Balfour's early efforts, a paragraph printed 35 years ago by a noted weekly newspaper is recalled.

"Mr. Balfour's favorite game is golf, and to show their appreciation of his efforts to popularize the game in this country, a number of his friends recently presented him with a set of silver-mounted caddies," the writer evidently imagining that caddies were the implements with which golf is played.

Lord Newton has seen many changes in the game during the last three decades.

"In the old days golf was played by very few people and the essential qualification was believed to be middle age. Scarcely any young people condescended to it; they looked on it as an insipid amusement for their elders. Golf was not played so strenuously and consistently as it is now."

Western Christian Civilization Crumbles, Declares Philosopher

BERLIN, Sept. 28.—Rabindranath Tagore, 66-year-old Indian poet and philospher, who is here on a tour of Europe, is convinced that western Christian civilization is crumbling. After being received by kings, presidents and dictators of Europe on what he said might be his last tour Tagore scoffed at the cry of a "yellow peril." There is a peril he said, only in the sense that western civilization may commit suicide, while the oriental would survive.

"You westerners, who possess all material wealth are starving yourselves intellectually," he said. "We who have nothing believe we have sensed the mysterious of the infinite. You think you can struggle along with courts of arbitration but you tolerate peace only because you realize war is bad business. There can be no lasting peace unless you strive to work for the good of all mankind."

GENERAL MOTORS MAKES A GAIN

Closes Within Point of 161⅞; Allied Chemical Causes Disappointment

NEW YORK, Sept. 27. — Speculative forces again struggled for control of the price movement in today's stock market with neither side able to gain any decided advantage. Operators working for higher prices succeeded in marking up a number on industrials and rails, but the rallies did not hold in many cases, whereas bear traders were able to uncover a few weak spots but failed to unsettle the geheral list.

Failure of the Allied Chemical directors to make a special dividend distribution at today's meeting caused disappointment in some quarters, the stock selling down to 139 and then rallying to 140¼, where it was off 1⅜ on the day. American Smelting which is believed to harbor a large short interest as a result of the recent decline in silver prices, was bid up to 140⅞, but slid back later to 139, up 1 point net, with buying influenced by reports that the directors would either increase the regular dividend or declare an extra next week.

Motors Bid Up

General Motors, which is expected to make an unusually favorable showing in the third quarter, was bid up to 161⅞, closing within a point of the top. Other motors were mixed, Moon dropping over 2 points to a new low at 16⅝ on rumors of unfavorable dividend action. U. S. Steel crossed 150 in large volume, but met large offerings around that figure and slipped back to 149, where it was up fractionally on the day. Baldwin, which was run up nearly 5 points yesterday, dropped back 1⅝ on profit-taking.

Rails held fairly steady, although Chesapeake & Ohio, Nickel Plate common and some of the other recent strong spots yielded moderately on realising.

Time money was on a flat 5 per cent basis as against 4⅞ to 5 earlier in the week.

Total sales—1,432,000 shares.

CALDWELL SAYS ARMSTEAD ABLE TO CARRY ON

Utica Has No Intention Buying Out Armstead, Says Caldwell, Spokane

SPOKANE, Sept. 28. — "The Utica mines has no thought of buying out Col. H. H. Armstead but hopes to see him carry out his contract," says C. F. Caldwell, a stockholder, in a letter to The Spokesman-Review from the Halliday hotel yesterday. "He is fully able to do so, and needs no one's help. What he has accomplished in the Snow Motors he can do for the Utica."

In a circular letter to the stockholders Colonel Armstead announced having asked for a change in the terms of his purchase. If this request failed he was ready to step out and accept $50,000 in smelter returns for his investment of $100,000 in the property, if the mine was placed in competent hands.

The Utica is near Kaslo, in the Slocan division of British Columbia. It yielded much silver-lead ore to the company and lessees at intervals in a long period. Colonel Armstead bought a large stock interest several years ago and acquired the property two or three years ago. He extended the deep tunnel but has not reached the lower horizon of shoots that yielded rich ore on levels above. He developed and equipped the Talache mine on Pend Oreille lake and put it on a producing basis and has developed other properties in this country and Mexico during a long career as a mining engineer and mine operator.

DAYBREAK WILL BUILD TRAMWAY

So States McQueen of Kaslo at Spokane; Tells of Power Development

SPOKANE, Sept. 28. — British Columbia mining conditions are healthy, according to A. McQueen, mining recorder of Kaslo, B.C., who is passing two weeks here.

"The West Kootenay Light & Power company is beginning the construction of its new $2,000,000 plant at South Slocan, B.C.," said Mr. McQueen yesterday. "Roads and a railway will be built to the power site, which has been cleared to receive these projects. Construction will occupy two years and possibly more but the plant will develop about 30,000 horsepower, most of which will be used at the Trail smelter."

Mr. McQueen also reported that J. C. Roberts, heading a group of Portland, Ore., capitalists, will build an aerial tramway at Daybreak on Kaslo creek, to be completed in about a month, at a cost of $50,000.

Business Facts

THE ROULETTE WHEEL OFFERS AS MUCH CHANCE TO WIN AS STOCK BOUGHT WITHOUT JUDGMENT..

There is a difference between a speculator and a gambler in stocks.

A speculator is a person who makes a study of business conditions and of the earning power of the companies in whose stocks he proposes to trade, and then buys because he believes prices will advance, or sells because he believes prices will fall. He does so on a margin large enough to protect him against any ordinary price changes. His foresight is used as keenly and his judgment is as conservative as the merchant who decides whether or not to place a large order for goods for future sale.

A gambler is one who takes a shot and trusts to chance. He buys or sells without a study of business conditions or of the financial condition of the company in whose stock he trades. He experiences no foresight and judgment, and has no more chance to win than he would have were he to bet his money blindly on a horse race or a roulette wheel.

Even if you can afford to speculate in stocks, don't be a gambler.

M'KINNON LEADS WAY AT TORONTO

Reaches New High Price; Brompton and Atlantic Sugar Continue High Marks

TORONTO, Sept. 28.—McKinnon Industries common continued to lead the way in activity in today's brisker market on the Toronto stock exchange.

This issue reached a new high price of 30¾. The last trade was made at 30, and the stock was offered at that price at the close with no bids in the market.

Brompton reached a high for the day at 38⅛ and finished strong at 37⅞.

The show of strength in Atlantic Sugar common at the beginning of the week was fully maintained today. The stock equalled its high Monday of 26½ and finished strong at 26⅜, with final quotations at 26 to 26½.

Canadian Industrial Alcohol held steady between 22¾ and 23.

Winnipeg Electric common shares closed at 56¾, a decline of 1¼.

CRANBROOK JOINS CHAMBER OF MINES

Sante Will Represent City on Executive, Says Report From Vancouver; Other Plans

VANCOUVER, Sept. 28. — The mining committee of the Cranbrook board of trade has become affiliated with the British Columbia Chamber of Mines and W. G. Sante will represent it on the executive of the chamber.

The decision of the Cranbrook board to join the chamber of mines is the result of a meeting which Alderman F. E. Woodside, president of the chamber, held at Cranbrook during the recent Vancouver board of trade trip in the interior. Last year Alderman Woodside organized branches of the chamber at Alice Arm, Stewart and Smithers. This year he interviewed prominent mining men at Nelson, and it is expected that the mining fraternity of that city will become interested in the work of the chamber.

Last week the chamber formed a new and important affiliation, joining the Canadian Chamaber of Commerce at London. This came about as a result of the visit to Vancouver of G. H. Ward, secretary of that body. The chamber of mines has forwarded its fee to London and is now an active member of the organization there, an association that it is thought will put it in touch with many mining investors in the old land.

UNITED STATES LEAD OUTPUT HAS GAINS

NEW YORK, Sept. 28. — Lead output in the United States in August totaled 49,625 short tons, as compared with 47,796 short tons in July. Production in North America last month was 80,023 tons, against 79,068 in July, while the world output reached 124,054 tons, against 123,140 in July. For the eight months to August 31 the output was as follows: United States 392,309 short tons, North America 631,539, and the world 959,157. In 1925 the world production reached 1,272,056 short tons.

Stronger Feeling Develops on Sugar Market, Montreal

MONTREAL, Sept. 28. — Owing to the strength that prevailed in the United States sugar situation of late, a stronger feeling developed in the local market for refined sugar today and prices were advanced 10c per 100 pounds. This is the first change that has been announced since November 14, 1925. Extra granulated sugar is now selling at 6.40 in bags.

Canada's Butter Export Decreases but Cheese Gains

In the year ending June, Canada's export of butter decreased close upon 2,500,000 pounds compared with the previous year, but 1½c per pound increase in price for some extent counterbalanced the deficit. The total export of cheese increased by over 12,000,000 pounds and by almost 3c a pound in price.

THRESHING GENERAL IN WEST BY FRIDAY

WINNIPEG, Sept. 28. — Threshing will be general all over the west by Friday if the present clear, cool weather now prevailing in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta continues, reports the Canadian Pacific railway this morning. Threshing has been resumed at a number of points in Manitoba and in Saskatchewan as well, but with the exception of the Moose Jaw division, where activities will be in full swing this afternoon, Thursday of Friday will see the entire resumption of labor interrupted by recent bad bad weather.

From Alberta, Medicine Hat division reports threshing resumed along Maple Creek, Empress and Burstall subdivisions, and also at points along Grooks, Gleichen, Suffield and Bassano subdivisions. Full operations will be resumed in the Calgary and Lethbridge divisions by Friday.

STOCK DECLINES ON MINE MARKET

Sales Fairly Heavy; Nipissing and Mining Corporation Lose Heaviest

TORONTO, Sept. 28. — Stocks generally declined on the Standard mining exchange this morning. Sales reached a fairly heavy total, but in the uniform drop no large loss was shown. The decline of 25c in Nipissing, at $5.75, and of 15c in Mining Corpn., at 331, were the heaviest recessions.

Gold Hill softened 3, at 45; Barry Hollinger 1½, at 62½; and Dome 5, at $11.10 in the golds; while Teck Hughes firmed 1, at 447; Lake Side Lorrain dropped 6, at 158; and Castle Trethewey 5, at 129, in the silvers. Noranda eased 10, at $18.15.

CHICAGO ASKS HIGHER PRICES FOR THE WHEAT

CHICAGO, Sept. 28.—Higher prices here for wheat resulted today from an unexpected advance in quotations in Liverpool. Wheat in Chicago had an unsettled close, ¼c to ⅝c up, with corn unchanged to ⅝c down; oats showing ⅛c to ½c gain; and provisions from 7c decline to 5c advance.

States Enjoy Advantages in Shipping Grain

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28. — Grain growers of the United States have enjoyed shipping advantages over those of Canada, according to the United States shipping board. Announcing today that the surplus of United States grain had been largely cleared while the Canadian crop is still awaiting shipment in Canadian ports due to lack of tonnage, the board asserted that ships supplied by the corporation for the movement of grain from gulf ports were now engaged in the seasonal shipment of cotton.

The board today refused an application for assignment of a vessel to carry lumber from a gulf port to Brazil as only 3 of the 50 "spot" ships are idle. These three are in the Pacific, but may be brought to the Atlantic to meet other demands which are ascribed to continuance of the British coal strike.

States Export Gold to Canada and to Germany; Some Imports

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—The statement of gold exports and imports during August, classified by countries of destination or origin, was published by the department of commerce. It shows that the United States exported gold last month to eight separate nations and imported it from 26. Of the total exports of $29,743,113 the greater part went to Germany, which took $20,195,031, and to Canada, to which the consignments were $8,046,041. Of the $11,978,690 total gold imports of the month, Australia contributed $8,732,000, the next largest importations being from Canada and Mexico.

Of the month's silver exports, aggregating $8,036,232, the largest shipments were $4,905,398 to China and $1,826,231 to British India. The $5,987,820 import of silver was mostly made up of $3,310,444 drawn from Mexico and $1,190,981 from Peru, with $805,461 sent from Canada.

RAILWAY ORDERED SOLD IN NOVEMBER

Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Line Must Bring In $122,500,000; Securities Safe

CHICAGO, Sept. 28. — The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad was ordered sold on November 22, at Butte, Mont., by Judge James J. Wilkerson, in United States district court today. The minimum price to be considered at the sale is $122,500,000.

Judge Wilkerson said the rights of all the security holders will be protected, and held that the trustees of the majority of bondholders have acted in the interest of all. He maintained that the Jameson committee's charges in the petition for intervention have not been sustained, and have been denied in specific affidavits by trustees of the railroad.

The Jameson committee represented $18,000,000 in bondholders, who opposed the reorganization plan of the majority holders.

ERIE MAN FOUND GUILTY HAVING LIQUOR ON SALE

Frederic Anderson Is Fined $300 or Sentenced Three Months

VANCOUVER OFFICERS THE MAIN WITNESSES

Identity of Two 'Strangers' Associated Is Not Disclosed

At the close of practically an all-day trial, Frederic Anderson of Erie, a "handy man" about Olaf Haglund's hotel, was yesterday convicted by Stipendiary Magistrate John Cartmel, of keeping liquor for sale. This decision the magistrate reached from the evidence of four full, partly full, and empty bottles of various kinds of intoxicants, from the alleged fact that one of his rooms was apparently fitted up as a beer parlor, from the failure of the accused to be able to remember certain events, and from the testimony adduced by the crown that on an occasion prior to the raid that disclosed the liquor he had been ready to sell liquor to applicants but declined on finding that there were strangers among them.

Magistrate Cartmel imposed a fine of $300, or three months in jail.

The case was bitterly fought, E. P. Dawson, of Brown & Dawson, conducting the defence, while Staff-Sergt. Ernest Gammon conducted the prosecution.

A feature of the case was the appearance as chief crown witnesses, of two Vancouver officers of the provincial police, Constables L. R. P. Dickson and Mark Harrington, who have been working on Liquor act enforcement.

Party of Four Asked Drinks

The two officers testified that, in company with two strangers, whose names they did not remember, they applied for admittance at Anderson's cottage at 2 a.m. on September 15, the party seeking to buy drinks. One of the strangers was the man who asked Anderson at the door to sell them drinks, and the two officers testified that he agreed to sell them one drink provided they would go away right after. When he looked over the party after he had lighted up the house, Anderson pointed out that the plain clothes men were strangers to him, and, stating he had only enough liquor for one person, refused to sell them at all. Constable Harrington testified he asked for a drink, but Anderson maintained his stand, and presently they all left.

The officers admitted the strangers did not know they were police officers.

In cross-examination Mr. Dawson asked the officers to state who their "stranger" companions were, and the circumstances under which they had become associated.

Must Protect Police Secrets

Magistrate Cartmel said it was clear to him if the officers revealed the circumstances under which they had joined the strangers, it would impair the efficiency of the provincial police work here, for, while there might be 40 ways in which the association had come about, to reveal one of them would be to give information to the boot-legging fraternity. He said not only would he not order the officers to reveal this, but would stop them if they attempted to answer the question.

Mr. Dawson contended this prejudiced the case of his client, who was faced with alleged statements and acts of the strangers, and was deprived of the opportunity to cross-examine them, and perhaps prove them to be fictitious.

Four Officers Raided

Evidence on the quantity of liquor found in Anderson's house in a subsequent raid on the night of September 21, was given by the two Vancouver officers and Staff-Sergt. Gammon. The fourth member of the raiding party was Constable R. H. Hassard of the Nelson detachment.

In addition to the presence of whiskey, wine and gin bottles, some full and some partly full, 18 full beer bottles were found, and 22 empty ones, with also empty liquor bottles.

Anderson's liquor permit, also seized under the search warrant, showed only slightly over $100 worth of intoxicants purchased since early February. Mr. Dawson took this as evidence that no excess liquor had been purchased by Anderson beyond his own needs.

Against this, the crown asserted the probability that he obtained liquor from other sources than the government liquor store, and pointed out that nine full or partly full bottles of liquor seized represented an investment of $45, irrespective of beer.

Anderson Denies Police Statements

On the stand, Anderson denied absolutely that he agreed to sell to the party of four that woke him up, claiming he only urged them to go away, and stating that he turned into the house to go to bed and the party followed him in, importuning him to sell them drinks, which he said he said he did not have.

He gave an account of his liquor purchases, which were of a modest order, and all for his own use, for either personal consumption, or for entertaining his friends. He denied the evidence of the Vancouver officers that he had a table with empty beer bottles and a salt shaker on it and three chairs around it. The beer bottles, full and empty, he claimed to have had over a year.

Gammon Gets Beer in Face

The question of the age of the beer led to Staff-Sergeant Gammon getting decorated with froth. Shaking a bottle, he claimed it produced bubbles, and on being handed an opener, he flipped off the cap, and held it up to sniff it. The effervescing beer shot up and decorated him with a moustache and Vandyke beard of froth, spilling over on the floor. He pointed out that no Nelson beer would act that way at the age of a year.

Mr. Dawson made a searching analysis of the evidence, and an eloquent plea for the accused, who, he claimed, was taken at a disadvantage. Having no witnesses of the early morning visit, he was unable to meet the evidence given the court, part of it allegedly from two strangers, whose identity was not even disclosed to him, and whom he could not question.

Dawson Analysis Evidence

He pointed out that the quantity of liquor found was not such as to suggest it was being kept for sale.

Evidence given by liquor operatives, he held, ought to be viewed with especial care. The only mention of a sale, he contended, was on the part of the men who were seeking to get a case against him.

Staff-Sergt. Gammon said the accused admitted four men to his cabin at 2 in the morning and agreed to sell them a drink, and only went back on his undertaking when he saw some of them were strangers to him. He said the accused admitted buying everything up to the 18 full bottles of beer, which he claimed to have had on hand for a year and a half.

Goulding Proves to Be Good Weather Prophet; Moist Today

J. S. Goulding is a good weather prophet. Sunday night he said there would probably, he was careful to stress the word "probably," he rain on Tuesday. In the tiny hours of yesterday morning it began, and then rain fell intermittently through the day, until at 5 o'clock last night a total of .29-inch had fallen. At 5 o'clock the rain sluiced down for a time.

With the rain came a higher minimum temperature. It was 44, the highest minimum since September 15, two weeks ago today. Maximum was only six degrees higher. It was 50.

Mr. Goulding stated last night there would be showers today, but not as much rain as yesterday.
