BROWNING SAYS SEPARATION IS TEMPORARY ONE

Or Maybe 'Peaches'' Bill of $6000 for Frocks Has Something to Do With It

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Edward W. Browning's romance that budded in April has shed at least some of its leaves in October.

Despite the protestations of the 51-year-old wealthy real estate operator and promoter that he still loves his schoolgirl bride of 16, she has left him and gone to New Jersey with her mother. Less than six months ago they were married amid a fanfare of publicity, which had started some time before when Browning became known as the "Cinderella man" through his adoption of a young girl and the attempted adoption of another.

"Lots of Things"

The man who had talked of building his bride a "palace" on Long Island, and who had told glowingly of his plans to have a quiet home where he could sit by the fireside, now is staying at one in a New York hotel. "Peaches," as Browning calls his bride, has not made clear just why she left him, but her mother, Mrs. Katherine Heenan, has said: "There were lots of things that never happened, and the palace on Long Island was just one of them."

Browning, through his secretary, insisted today that the separation was only temporary and that there has been no quarrel. He protected his love for her, and said: "There never has been a time since we were married that I would not give my life for her."

It was learned to day that last Friday "Peaches" went on a shopping tour and bought $6000 worth of frocks, wraps, hats, silk stockings and gloves. Browning received the bills on Saturday.

Rumanian Queen Is Now in Paris; She Forgot Her Pills

PARIS Oct. 5.—Queen Marie of Rumania arrived here this morning from Bucharest, and before the shops had closed at nightfall she had begun to accumulate a new wardrobe for her forthcoming American tour. Her daughter, Princess Ileana, was her constant companion during their first few hours in the French capital. Young Prince Nicholas, her son, went out on his own to have a look around Paris.

Finding that she had forgotten her favorite anti-seasick pills, the queen last night sent a message to her palace at Bucharest to have them sent on to Paris by airplane.

VANCOUVER, Oct. 5.—Edward Hamilton Moore, for 20 years identified with the lumber industry of British Columbia, died here early today at his residence. He was 70 years old, and some years ago retired from active participation in business. Mr. Moore came to Vancouver in 1906 and engaged in the lumber business.

Florida Reports Just Scheme to Fleece Workers

MONTREAL, Oct. 5. — What is believed to be an extensively organized scheme to fleece hundreds of Canadian workmen by opportunists taking advantage of the recent Florida hurricane was uncovered here today.

United States consular and immigration officials have been flooded with inquiries regarding false reports that the United States government is about to import 200,000 workmen to repair the Florida damage.

DEATH TOLL IN OKLAHOMA NOW PLACED AT SIX

Illinois Floods Increase While Other States Report a Decrease

HUNDRED SQUARE BLOCKS IN BEARDSTOWN FLOODED

Two Little Girls Swept to Death From Bridge; Hundreds Are Homeless

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—Flood waters which rose today in Illinois while they receded in adjacent states, centered their wrath tonight at Beardstown, Ill., which watched its last path to the outside world slowly vanish under the rising tide of Illinois river.

With more than a hundred square blocks submerged by waters and more than 100 families homeless as the result of the bursting levees along the Illinois river and Lost Creek, the city was in the dilemma of two advancing overflows, with water four feet deep in some main streets and residents living and doing business on the upper floors of its structures.

One hundred and fifty men patrolled the Hillview levee at Whitehall with sand bags to plug recurring breaks and the Illinois river at Peoria, rising a foot in a day, had driven residents from the waterfront and threatened the dyke.

A doctor called to the bedside of P. J. Ward, near Rockport, rowed 10 miles to find the patient dead of apoplexy and conveyed the body by boat to an undertaker.

Toll Is Six

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Oct. 5.—The drowning of two little girls named Brown in the flood waters of the Caney river near Ramona late today brought the Oklahoma flood death toll to six.

The children were swept away when a wagon in which they were riding was engulfed as the driver attempted to cross a bridge. The driver escaped, but was unable to save the girls. Sam Carter, a farm hand, also was drowned near Ramona today.

Ralph R. Hoades, a cowboy, lost his life in the overflow waters of the Arkansas river when his horse became entangled in barbed wire and threw him. Two deaths were reported prior to today.

Labor Organizations of Europe Lining Up Italian Workers to Get Back Rights

OTTAWA, Oct. 5.—That Mussolini, the Italian dictator, eventually will be driven from office by the reaction from his intolerance and persecutions of trade union organizations, is the opinion of A. R. Mosher, president of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railroad Employees, who returned to Ottawa today from attending the conference of the International Transport Workers' federation at Paris, France. Mr. Mosher stated that the labor organizations of Europe are organizing support for the Italian workers, and are determined to restore the rights of workers to organize in that country.

MERIDA, Yucatan, Mexico, Oct. 5.—The steamer Monterey sent a radio message last night to the Ward line offices here that it was proceeding to give medical aid to the British tank steamer San Lorenzo, on board which there had been an explosion.

The Monterey's information was that the explosion had occurred when the San Lorenzo was 90 miles from Progresso, and that medical assistance was urgently needed; otherwise it had no details.

BLAST KILLS MINE WORKER AT SULLIVAN

Was Dislodging Rubbish With Dynamite; Blast Brings It and Worker Down

CRANBROOK, B.C., Oct. 5.—On Monday afternoon a fatality took place at the Sullivan mine, when Charles Pontoni, employed as a mucker, lost his life. The accident took place in one of the slopes and from what can be learned an effort was being made to dislodge some debris which had become hung up. Pontoni was way above the muck and when a blast was fired to bring it down he was also brought down. M. J. Halpin, coroner, held an inquest that evening and on Tuesday morning the jury returned a verdict that deceased met his death by accident, no blame attached to the company. Deceased was about 40 years of age. The funeral will take place from the Catholic church Wednesday.

Mayor of This Town Is Running Marriage Bureau

WALLASEY, Eng., Oct. 5.—The mayor of this town in Cheshire which is filled with marriageable maidens, has struck upon a novel plan to get some of them married. Recently the mayor issued a statement in which he told of the surplus of beautiful girls. There followed an avalanche of letters to the mayor from young men asking for introductions.

After studying the situation for a few days the mayor decided that he would become an agent on a wholesale basis. He announces that he will give a dance in the town hall where applicants for introduction to the girls will have a free-for-all opportunity to seek out life partners. He promises to act as best man for the first couple to enter the bonds of wedlock through his scheme.

Explorer Says Wrangell Rightly Belongs to the Russian Government

TORONTO, Oct. 5.—Captain Bernier, hero of many exploits in the arctic and who is in Toronto today, said in regard to the recent action of the Russians in seizing Wrangell Island: "We have no right there in the first place. Personally I have never approved of the action. Ever since I was a boy I remember the island colored in yellow on the map, the color of Siberia."

The explorer is looking forward to a new venture next year out of Hudson's bay.

SIX BODIES UP FROM SHATTERED TENNESSEE MINE

Twenty-two Miners Still in the Workings and All Believed Dead

RAYS OF HOPE GO AS BODIES COME UP

Condition of Dead Men Dispels All Hope That Any Survived the Blast

ROCKWOOD, Tenn., Oct. 5.—The slow but vigilant work of searching for the dead in the Roan Iron company's coal mine here, the scene of an explosion yesterday in which at least 28 men are believed to have lost their lives, continued tonight with six bodies recovered.

Rescue crews working in shifts and stopping only a few hours at a time, for food and rest, pressed on with the task of clearing a passage to the place, three miles from the mouth of the mine, where more than 30 miners were caught in a gas and dust explosion.

Twenty-two men are still unaccounted for.

The last ray of hope that any of the miners survived the past 36 hours vanished today as the first bodies to be brought to the surface in daylight were slowly hauled out of the mine and hastily moved to a morgue, while a rain-drenched crowd of men, women and children watched the procedure. The bodies of Clarence Stevens and Phillip Gallion were the last recovered. The condition of their bodies dispelled all hope that any life existed in the explosion area.

PASSENGER LADEN SHIP FIGHTS FIRE

Makes Port With 397 Passengers Aboard; Fire Tugs Pump Water Into Holds

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—After an all-day battle against a raging fire in the hold, the National Greek line steamship Byron was taken safely to its Brooklyn pier this afternoon with its 397 passengers still aboard.

The fire was discovered early this morning while the ship was off Ambrose Lightship and SOS calls brought city fire boats and coast guard boats to her side.

Then began a frantic dash up the bay with the fire boats pouring water on the burning ship from above, while the crew fought the blaze below. Shortly after 11 o'clock the smoke-shrouded ship was anchored about a half mile off the Brooklyn shore and the blaze finally was extinguished a few hours later.

Fail to Find Cause of Crash of Huge French Airplane

PENSHURST, England, Oct. 5.—C. P. Cable.—The inquest here today, threw no real light on the cause of the destruction of the French air union airplane by fire a few miles from its destination from Paris to Croydon on Saturday, when five English passengers and the French pilot and mechanic lost their lives. The only suggestion as to the possible cause of the burning of the plane was the lubricating oil, not petrol, created the fire.

SASKATCHEWAN HOUSE TO OPEN

Second Week in January Is Date Set; Late Because of Harvest Conditions

REGINA, Oct. 5.—The coming session of the Saskatchewan legislature will be opened the first or second week in January, 1927, it was announced today by Premier Gardiner.

It has been customary in past years to convene in late November or early December for a few weeks, adjourn for the Christmas and New Year vacation and reassemble early in the new year. This practice has been abandoned this year because of the lateness of the harvest, the premier said. Most of the members, he said, would be kept busy on their farms until close to Christmas under existing conditions.

While no official information was given as the legislative program that might be expected when the house convenes, it is generally believed that the members will be asked to give consideration to the passage of legislation providing some form of superannuation for the Saskatchewan civil service.

CARD TWIRLER SLAMS HOMER WITH TWO ON

Lets American League Champs Down With Five Hits; Yanks Are Outplayed

KOENIG'S WILD PEG CAUSE OF DISASTER

Reuther, Hurling for Yanks, Jerked in Less Than Five Minutes; Rain Stops Game

By ALLAN J. GOULD

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 5.—The rugged figure of Jesse Joseph Haines was cast in heroic mold today to celebrate the homecoming of the Cardinals with a dramatic victory over the Yankees in the greatest diamond spectacle St. Louis has ever witnessed.

Standing out in relief against a background of conflict and the feverish cheers of a record-breaking crowd, Haines not only blanked the American league champions with five scattered hits, but hammered a home run that capped the climax of the Cardinals' decisive batting attack in the fourth inning.

A vast throng of close on 38,000 spectators, the largest and most enthusiastic crowd that ever jammed Sportsman's park, saw Haines subdue the Yanks with a 4 to 0 triumph in the third game of the intersectional battle. It was a stirring victory, the climax of a 24-hour outburst of unprecedented home town spirit and put the Cardinals in the lead two games to one in the struggle for premier baseball honors.

Victory by any margin would have been thrilling to this big outpouring today, but it was satisfied even beyond its keenest expectations by the brilliance of Haines pitching, the mighty power of his bat and the all around dash with which the Cardinals demonstrated their superiority over their New York rivals.

Yanks Are Outplayed

While Haines was turning in a master piece, the Cardinals outplayed the Yanks in every department of the game. They had the punch when hits meant runs and they fielded with a sparkling snap, that cut off the few threats made by the invaders.

"Dutch" Ruether tried to check the onward surge of the Cardinals with his crossfire, but he lasted less than five innings, yielding the mound to Shawkey, after being shelled for seven hits and four runs.

It was an occasion built for victory by Rogers Hornsby and his Redbirds.

The big crowd, though dwarfed by the throngs that witnessed the first two games in New York, yielded to no rivals in spirit. It came to cheer a Cardinal triumph after an all-night celebration of the home team's return from the east and it was not disappointed in the climax.

If anything the National league champions outdid themselves. They had every incentive to win and they did it with such decisiveness that there is not a St. Louis fan tonight, who is not making preparations for winning the series.

Two More to Win

Two victories more will clinch the title for the Cardinals and the form they have displayed in the last two games, contrasting sharply with the almost listless performance of their opponents, has greatly strengthened their prospects for final triumph. In three games the American league champions, supposedly one of the

DR. CHASE'S SYRUP OF LINSEED AND TURPENTINE

FIRST NEW HUGE ENGINE STARTS OVER C.P.R. LINE

First of 12 Largest Canadian-Built Engines Put on Western Lines

ENGINE, TENDER WEIGH HALF-MILLION POUNDS

Drive Wheels 75 Inches in Diameter; Draws 15 Cars of 90 Tons Apiece

WINNIPEG, Man., Oct. 5.— As befits a great and powerful locomotive, No. 2338, whose last name is G-3-D, the latest addition to passenger engines on Canadian Pacific western lines, with even breathing and no undue clanging of bell or raucous screech of steam, pulled into Winnipeg this morning, the first of 12 to be put into service between Fort William and the Pacific coast this fall.

Power and reliability were in every line, and the grace expected of high-bred steeds. For No. 2338 and her sister, No. 2339, are of the fastest type of engines ever built in Canada. A hauling capacity of 15 modern steel cars, each weighing 90 tons, she boasts several new and important features, one of them being increase of boiler pressure, from 200 pounds to the square inch, to 250 pounds.

Stronger Nickel Plate

This has been accomplished without materially increasing the weight of the locomotive by using a stronger nickel steel boiler plate, which is the first nickel steel boiler shell plate used in locomotive boiler construction on the American continent.

Superheaters have been applied with a compound header and throttle which allows of the use of superheated steam for the auxiliary equipment, such as air compressors, feed water, pumps, headlight turbine and whistle, while feed water heaters have also been applied.

Exhaust Steam as Heater

This appliance looking like a huge rolled blanket of steel above the face of the engine raises the temperature of the water in the tank by using exhaust steam as a heater, thereby raising the efficiency of the engine 15 per cent by reducing the coal consumption and water evaporation. The driving wheel has a diameter of 75 inches, and the weight of the engine and tender is close on half a million pounds. The boiler has a capacity of 8000 imperial gallons, and the tender carries 12 tons of fuel.

DISMISSAL WAS POLITICAL MOVE SAYS O'CONNOR

Former Joint Counsel With Calder for Customs Commission Claims Was Always Fair

OTTAWA, Oct. 5.—In a statement handed out this afternoon, W. F. O'Connor, formerly joint counsel with R. L. Calder, K.C., for the royal commission investigating the customs department, said that his dismissal is based on political grounds.

"During the customs inquiry at Halifax I took the stand that in law all decisions of the department of customs releasing Canadian rum runners because they had been seized outside the three-mile limit was wrong, although taken anywhere outside the limit they were released.

"I connected up this argument with certain sections of the Customs act which would enable arrest, condemnation and convictions. The situation to which I referred had been wholly overlooked by all concerned with the parliamentary committee of last session. Chief Justice Lemieux was interested. He asked me to prepare fully to argue my contention along with other matters of law arising from the hearings before him at a later date to be fixed.

Argued With Justice

"Then we adjourned business until after the elections. On September 28, the chief justice wired mt suggesting a written argument. On the same day, I wired him agreeing, but suggested that an oral argument to be taken down, would be more valuable. On September 29, he wired me asking what would be a fitting date and place. On the same day I wired him suggesting Ottawa on any day of the ensuing week to be named by him.

"On September 30 before receipt of an answer from the chief justice, I was notified by the department of justice that my services had been dispensed with. On the same day I wired the chief justice as follows:

Acted in Nonpolitical Manner

"'Have now received notice from department of justice that my services as counsel for commission dispensed with from this date. No reason assigned, but action necessarily premised upon theory that proceedings of commission are of partizan character. I, like you, had considered them to be nonpolitical and I have acted throughout, both before the commission and outside of it in conformity with that theory. I hope that the courtesy of consulting you before disposing of your counsel has not been overlooked. Under these circumstances no answer necessary to my last telegram.'

"Now somebody else will have to make the argument. I have talked over my views with Hon. Mr. Rowell and I think that he, too, has been impressed by them. However, I have been dismissed on political grounds. I was counsel of the tribunal and not of the former government. In a professional matter I have no politics."

STRANGE DAIMOND FOUND IN INDIA

Many famous jewels have been dug in India, but the latest discovery promises to eclipse them all. It is called a "chameleon" diamond, though experts are not yet positive that this strange jewel ought to be classed as a diamond at all. The stone weighs nearly six carats. Its color is bluish-white, and shows a pinkish tint in the daylight, changing to blue when exposed to the moon's rays. During the day, even when placed in a dark room, it gives no light, but at night shines brightly.

Connoisseurs say that the stone denies the rules for ordinary valuation. All sorts of weird tales are being circulated as to its origin. One tale concerns an ancient stone called the "Chandrakanta," or "Light of the Moon." This stone was supposed to ooze out nectar, and legend says that many wars were waged for its possession.

CAN'T KEEP THEM AWAKE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—Flowers—at least Magnolia—cannot be kept awake by means of artificial light, investigators of the department of agriculture have found in motion picture tests.

Using an automatic time lapse camera to record the growing stages of the flower, the investigators were treated to an unexpected sight when the Magnolia, set in a room flooded with electric, closed its petals when natural darkness arrived, to open again only with the arrival of daylight.

HARVESTER ORDERS ARE STILL VACANT

800 Needed by Alberta Farmers; Bad Weather Drives Many From Fields

CALGARY, Ont., 5.—Eight hundred orders for harvesters are unfilled at the local employment office, according to the report of M. Carnill, superintendent of employment bureau. Others coming in fast from the country points with the good weather holding out to enable the farmers complete their harvest.

Many harvesters are drifting from Saskatchewan and they are being rushed to the fields. Farmers are badly in need of help and there is a considerable shortage of farm men as the bad weather a month ago drove hundreds of them out of the country.

BAD COLD? TAKE 'CASCARETS' FOR BOWELS TONIGHT

No headache, constipation, bad taste or sour stomach by morning

Get a 10-cent box. Sick headache, biliousness, coated tongue, head and nose clogged with a cold—always trace this torpid liver; delayed, fermenting food in the bowels, or sour, gassy stomach. Poisonous matter clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system, is reabsorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes indigestion and that dull, throbbing, splitting headache.

Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist means your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels regular for months.

'GRAY TERROR'

The Astonishing Adventures of the Gray Phantom

By HERMAN LANDON

(Copyright by Street & Smith Corp. Serialized by Ledger Syndicate.)

Synopsis of Preceding Installments

HELEN HARDWICK, sweetheart of the Gray Phantom and partner with him in numerous adventures, is lured by a fake phone call to the home of PAUL WARD, on 50th street, New York City, the night he is murdered. Through a series of carefully arranged bits of circumstantial evidence, it is clear to LIEUTENANT CULLIGORE, of the police, that she is guilty, and he is about to arrest her when she is spirited away under his nose and taken to a deserted house somewhere outside the city. Although her rescuer appears to be sent by the GRAY PHANTOM, hero of many miraculous escapades, Helen is soon disillusioned when she is locked in an upstairs room and threatened with violence by RED MAGEE, a brutal criminal. All this is part of a cleverly arranged scheme, planned by THE DUKE, a supercriminal of the basest type, who has been imprisoned through the Gray Phantom's efforts. Through MISS FAY WINTON, one of the Duke's emissaries, the Phantom learns that Helen is being held prisoner, her release being conditional upon his rescuing the Duke from prison within 10 days. Desperately seeking some solution to the situation, the Gray Phantom visits the Ward house to interview MRS. SLADE, the old housekeeper. Finding the front door open, he enters just in time to catch the words "Red Magee" from the lips of the housekeeper, who dies in his arms mortally wounded from a knife thrust. In the meantime, Helen is warned by TOPEKA JIMMIE, held prisoner in the room next to hers, of a mysterious MR. EMANON (which is "no name" spelled backward), who is the Duke's right-hand man, and who thinks out his plots while playing weird violin music. Before the Gray Phantom can escape from the Ward house he is confronted by Lieut. Culligore and escapes only after using a clever ventriloquist's trick. Hunted by the police, the Phantom decides to take refuge with AMBROSE MARR, eccentric acquaintance with whom he had shared past adventures. Hearing weird violin music within, he is astonished to find Miss Winton occupying the house. She directs him to Marr's new home, several doors away, and vehemently denies that there is a violin in the house. Marr tells the Gray Phantom that the only member of the Duke's gang who knows Helen's hiding place is Mr. Emanon. Before the Phantom can act on this knowledge, the house is surrounded by police and Marr hides his visitor in an underground chamber. In some way the Duke's gang discover his hiding place, kidnap him and bring him to the deserted house where Helen is imprisoned. In order to impress upon him that the Duke means business, they torture the girl until her screams force the Phantom to accede to his enemy's demands.

The Gray Phantom Aroused

Fay Winton sat rigid, held by a magnetic quality in the Gray Phantom's eyes that seemed to terrify as well as fascinate her.

"How absurd! Don't look at me like that, please. You—You almost frighten me."

The Phantom felt a savage, exultant satisfaction. What frightened her, he knew, was not himself, but that barbarous, ruthless being that had bten awakened in him that morning during a moment of heart-tearing anguish.

"Pallor is becoming to you," he observed critically. "You should cultivate it as a personal asset. But you needn't be frightened—not unless you refuse to tell me what I want to know."

She edged farther back in the chair, watching in grim fascination the lambent gleams that played like angry flashes of lightning in his eyes.

"And if I refuse—what then? Would you kill me?"

He gazed narrowly into her face, his breath coming hot and fast as he studied its sinister beauty; and then in imagination he saw another face —one whitened and distorted by extreme terror.

"Yes," he said in a level tone. "I would kill you, if it suited my purpose, without the slightest twinge of conscience."

"You would kill a woman?"

He laughed harshly, jeeringly. "To me you are not a woman, merely a cog in the most devilish machine ever constructed. What about the Duke your accomplice? Isn't he conducting a hyena warfare against one of your sex?"

The argument stunned her for a moment. "But I thought the Gray Phantom never stooped to murder."

"Oh, that was yesterday. Today the Gray Phantom is dead. He died this morning in the most hellish agonies a man ever went through. You and your associates killed him. Look at me! Tell me if I am the same man you saw last night."

Quaveringly she regarded him, a deeper pallor flooding her face. His breath came in quick, short gasps, his eyes glowed with an unnatural brightness, his whole body was swaying and shaking with terrific passions.

"No, you're not," she said brokenly, essaying a ghastly little smile. "There's murder in your eyes. Yes," bracing herself with a supreme effort, "I actually believe you would kill me. I think there is a pistol in your pocket. It was not considered necessary to take it away from you while you were unconscious. You might use that. It is a quick and easy death."

She was gathering courage as she spoke, and now she drew herself up with a haughty air.

He reached behnd him and took the paper cutter from the table. The dull gold of the handle gleamed in the electric light as he passed it in front of her eyes. She shuddered, but only for a moment.

"Oh, you prefer the knife. It makes less noise, I suppose." The wan smile came back to her lips. "But you can't frighten me, Phantom. I have never been afraid of death, and I am not afraid now."

"I know. Women of your type never are. The idea of death shocks you, but it doesn't put fear in you. I told you I would kill you if it suited my purpose, but it doesn't. It's too crude. I know a better way. There is something that to you is far more terrible than death."

She opened her eyes a little wider, gazed wonderingly into his white, distorted face, and a fresh shudder passed through her.

"What's that?" she asked in a scarcely audible voice.

He looked down at the knife in his hand. A fury that threatened to break its bounds was hammering furiously at his temples. Only one thought was clear in the squalling confusion in his mind. He must force this woman to tell him where he would find Helen. His whole life seemed to have dwindled down to that one issue. Nothing else mattered in the least; life, death and eternity were bound up inextricably in a purpose that had become a maddening obsession. But he must not let his reason be submerged in the churning cataract of his emotions. If he could but forget the screams that had echoed through his mind ever since his awakening! If he could only blot out the terror-strained face created by his imagination!

With an effort that brought a groan from his lips, he steadied himself to the task. A voice seemed to cry gleefully in his ears that the Gray Phantom was dead, that his code had died with him and that the woman now seated before him had helped to destroy both. For once in his life he was not hampered by ethical niceties. His enemies would feel the iron hand of the Frankenstein *monster they had roused to ac*tion.

"Yes, there's one thing you are afraid of," he said quickly, fixing his flaming eyes on her face. "I know your type. You live only for one thing. When that is gone, life holds nothing more for you."

"What is it?" she asked feebly.

"Your beauty—your ability to charm and fascinate, to break hearts and make fools of men."

She shuddered again, cast a trembling glance at the knife in his hand, then tried to edge farther away from him.

"You mean——" she began, the words ending in a groan.

He held the knife a little higher, testing its edge against his palm, while he spoke very softly.

"It won't hurt much. Just a swift stroke, and it's done. The pain will be nothing compared to the torture you have made a certain other person suffer. It will be over in a moment, but your wonderful beauty will be gone.

"Every morning your mirror will show a disfiguring scar across your cheek. Men, your former admirers, will shun you. Other women, who once envied you, will whisper scornfully behind your back. Your ugliness——"

A dull, quavering cry interrupted him. She threw out her her hands appealingly, then covered her eyes with them, as if to shut out a hateful vision.

"No—no—no!" she cried. "Not that!"

He glowed inwardly. Yesterday such terror in a woman would have moved him, but tonight he felt only a savage exultation.

"Then tell," he said tensely, playfully running his thumb along the edge of the blade.

"I can't!" She flung her hands with an impulsive gesture. "I can't —because I don't know."

"You lie," he declared brutally. "You lied last night when you denied that some one was playing a violin in your house, and you are lying now."

Her shivers ceased for a moment. She looked up at him with mute fear in her large eyes. Several times her lips opened, but no words came.

"Speak!" he commanded, placing the cold blade against her quivering cheek.

She cried out a little as her body responded with a shudder to the touch of the steel. "Yes," she admitted, "I lied last night. It—it was necessary. But I'm telling you the truth now. I swear it. I don't know where Miss Hardwick is. If you burned me at a slow fire I couldn't tell you. The Duke anticipated just such a situation as this. That's why he never reveals his whole plan to more than a few. I don't believe that more than four or five persons in his organization know where Miss Hardwick is concealed."

"That may be true, but you are one of the four or five."

"No! You're mistaken!" she flung out the words as if they were scorching her tongue.

The Phantom, stooping over her, pressed the blade more firmly against her flesh. "I want the truth," he muttered hoarsely. "Don't force me to do a thing I may be ashamed of tomorrow and would have been ashamed of yesterday. Tonight I'm capable of anything. Hurry, you fool!"

The blade grazed her cheek, drawing a sharp cry from her lips. She looked up into his wild-streaked eyes, but she found no compassion there, only a savage determination.

"I swear I don't know," she repeated brokenly. "I would tell if I could." Her slender shoulders shook in a fresh paroxysm. "I would do anything rather than have that happen."

"It will happen in exactly half a minute unless you tell me the truth," he retorted, glancing at his watch. "I know that you know." He gazed sharply into her fear-crazed eyes. "You are Mr. Emanon."

"Mr.—Emanon?" She gave a short, hysterical laugh, and the expression that suddenly came into her eyes gave him a curious, faltering sensation. "You are wrong—absolutely wrong."

Real carnival scenes will be witnessed, weather permitting, at the masquerade, for which an area of Bay avenue, bounded by Eldorado and Helena streets, will be reserved and closed to traffic.

It will be gaily decorated with flags, bunting and streamer, to be put up at noon today by the city fire department. It will be drenched with lights from two flood lights placed at either end, and will be more colorfully lighted by the store lighting which today was promised by city merchants through J. The pipers will alternate with Wilson's dance orchestra, which will play for square dances and for occasional single partner dances.

Prior to the dancing, Mayor Herbert Clark, from the orchestra platform, will welcome the various civic and public bodies coming to Trail, Mayor J. A. McDonald of Nelson and Mayor Alex. Smith of Rossland, according to the program, will offer the congratulations and felicitations of their respective cities.

Grand March

At 9 o'clock Alderman J. A. McKinnon will lead a grand march of all the dancers up one side and down the other of the dance area, while the judges, whose names have been kept secret, will judge the costumes for the prizes offered by the city. There will be prizes for most original costumes, the best character costumes, and the best comic costumes. The prizes will be vouchers redeemable at any store in Trail for the stated amount. After the judging, dancing will continue uninterrupted until midnight, when the newly paved street from Victoria to Columbia Bridge will be officially declared open to traffic.

Arrangements were being made tonight to have the city fire department clean the dance area with streams of water. At noon city employees will ply besoms to make it speckless, and thereafter apply a dressing of bran to make the going smooth. Barricades will be erected at Helena and Spokane and Eldorado streets at noon, and all traffic prohibited in the enclosed area.

STATES ROTARY IDEA GRIPPING THE EUROPEANS

District Governor Beatty Pays a Visit to This City

J. H. Beatty of Victoria, Rotary district governor, arrived in Nelson last night to make his official visit today to the Nelson Rotary club. He visited the Cranbrook and Fernie clubs yesterday, and will go on to Kamloops tonight on the return trip from visiting various clubs throughout the district.

Europe Accepts Rotary

Mr. Beatty stated last night that there were 230 clubs in Great Britain and Ireland. Though slow to take it up, the idea of Rotary had gripped Europeans, he said, and the growth of Rotary in Europe was aiding a great deal in accomplishing the sixth object of Rotary, which is "the advancement of understanding and goodwill and international peace throughout the world by the fellowship of business and professional men united in Rotary."

Mr. Beatty stated Rotary clubs of the United States and Canada had chartered six Cunard liners to take representatives of Rotary clubs in these two countries to the international conference at Ostend, Belgium, next May.

Governor's Task

There were about 2400 members in this district, Mr. Beatty said. It was his work as district governor to visit each club at least once a year and to confer with its directors and executive members on problems confronting them. It would take seven weeks of steady traveling to cover his district.

The work of Rotary was to encourage club members to take an active interest in boards of trade, lodges, churches, and existing boys' work agencies, and general work in the community interest, he concluded.

Agassiz Hens Afford Real Thrills

Now in its final stretch, the sixth annual laying contest at Agassiz is going to provide real thrills in its closing weeks. With five weeks to go, the Mufford pen has cut down the lead of the Appleby pen to 40 points, having taken up part of the slack each week for some weeks past. At its present rate of progress, the Mufford team can just pull even with the present leader by the end of the contest.

But anything can happen, as between the two leading pens, in the last weeks, for the biddies are entitled to some rest in the laying year, and nearly half of them are resting just now. At least, the production in the whole field was 50 per cent the 47th week, indicating somewhat less than half of the birds in the moult.

Appleby's birds are particularly in a slump. The last week reported, the pen of 10 birds laid 25 eggs, and was tied with two other pens for fourth lowest out of the 46 pens. Another Appleby bird going into the moult as compared with Mufford's would settle the matter. On the other hand, another Mufford bird going into the moult as compared with Appleby's would assure Appleby winning easily.

Meantime the points system of judging eggs is every day justifying itself. Appleby's pen is leading because it has been laying heavy eggs. Four other pens are ahead of it in mere number of eggs laid. Mufford has a chance to overhaul Appleby because the Mufford eggs are heavier still. On number, Mufford could not overhaul Appleby, as 120 eggs separate the pens.

Under the practice before this year, the University of British Columbia pen would have been conceded the certain winner months ago. Five weeks from the end it is credited with 2794 eggs, just one short of 300 more than Appleby. The next highest pen could not have challenged it. On the other hand, its points today, on the weight system, are 2662, compared with Appleby's 2984.6, over 300 points below the leader. In points, it stands eighth.

This year's contest is certainly educative.

Are You Going to Trail Tonight?

The proposal made Monday night, and widely supported since, for a friendly invasion of Trail tonight by Nelson auto parties, to help the sister city celebrate its ownership of the first concrete street pavement in the interior, is a good one.

It will be a purely voluntary testimonial of friendship and good will, with no particular mission to accomplish anything, except to be in attendance at Trail's party.

Trail citizens visit Nelson early and often, both for business and for entertainment.

Tonight's open-air carnival, under the patronage of the civic corporation of Trail, offers Nelson citizens an opportunity to show appreciation in turn, and Mayor McDonald and Nelson's city fathers are showing leadership in arranging to be on hand with Nelson's civic congratulations.

Rosenberg Disqualified by Illinois Commission

Charley Phil Rosenberg, world's bantamweight champion, has been disqualified for life by the Illinois boxing commission, and his title awarded to Bud Taylor, the Terre Haute contender. Taylor and Rosenberg were to have boxed 10 rounds with the title at stake, but, according to the commission, Rosenberg violated their rules by "persistently refusing to post his forfeit of $12,500 due eight days before the fight.

FRANCE PLANS NEW IDEA TO FIGHT FOREST FIRES

NICE, France, Oct. 5.—A new plan to combat forest fires in southern France is to be started next year. Thousands of the practically burnable accario decurens species of the mimosa tree will be planted in the forests to act as fire breaks.

The plan consists of stretching lines of closely-set trees throughout the forests, with intersecting lines dividing all forest lands into comparatively small squares. Forestry experts contend that when the work is completed the danger from fire will be extremely slight.

Bride and Groom Arrested on Jewel Robbery Charges

BUFFALO, N.Y., Oct. 5.—The $4000 jewel robbery at the lake shore home of Mrs. Moses Shire on Saturday night was cleared up tonight, with the arrest of Thomas Schoell of Erie and his 17-year-old bride.

Schoell was captured in his automobile in a downtown business street and Mrs. Schoell was arrested when attempting to pawn some of the stolen gems.

On the way to a police station, Schoell drew a revolver out of his sleeve and attempted to shoot the detective that arrested him. The officer grappled with him and both fell from the car, the machine continuing driverless down the street until it crashed into an obstruction.

Not only each year, but almost every season, brings some new ideas concerning house furnishings. Here are some of the latest:

Silk Rubber Curtains for the Kitchen—I have recently seen these in two brides' houses. They were straight, narrow side curtains 15 inches wide, falling from the top of the window to the sill. An inch-wide hem had been made at the bottom by the sewing machine, and a narrow turn-under finished the sides of each curtain. Small brass rings were caught here and there along the top of the silk rubber, to be slipped on to a brass rod. The color was grass green. A strip of light green linoleum, "pinked" at the edges and about eight inches deep, ran across the top of the window as a balance, covering the brass rod at the top of the curtains. This silk rubber material comes 33 inches wide, and at most department stores costs about $4.50 a yard. One-half of this width—that is, 16½ inches—makes a curtain to go at one side of the window. The linoleum costs about $3.25 (at some stores) per square yard. This makes the curtains expensive—but what a comfort they would be!

Tapestry Cover for a Console Table—In the past we have satisfied with small doilies of all shapes for our console tables. Now interior decorators suggest that we shape our doilies to follow the lines of the table top, but one inch smaller. To make one of these new covers at home, simply buy a remnant of tapestry, cut it half-moon shape like your table top—only have it small enough so that one inch of the polished surface will show all around the cover—and finish edges with gilt braid, lining the little cover with soft flannel.

Colored Voile Bed Cover — These are becoming very popular. Buy old-rose voile 36 inches wide (assuming that your bed is a yard-wide single or twin bed). Use two yards of this material to cover top-surface of bed. Sew a three-inch wide strip to either side of this piece. Add to the three-inch strip sew a 16-inch ruffle which will reach to the floor on either side of the bed. Cover all seams and edges (that is, the edges at head and foot of bed, and at bottom of ruffle) with a strip of inch-wide voile shirred on. Make a pillow cover exactly the same except have it only 27 inches long instead of two yards long.

UNIVERSITY HEAD ASKED TO RESIGN

Suzzallo of University of Washington Succeeded by Dean David Thomson

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 5.—University of Washington regents yesterday demanded the resignation of President Henry Suzzallo, and appointed Dean David Thomson, of the College of Liberal Arts and Faculties, to succeeded him. The regents issued the following statement:

"The regents being convinced that politics should have far less prominence in the president's office, and, therefore, in its best interests, while fully appreciating the services and standing of Dr. Suzzallo as an educator and administrator, feel called upon to ask for his resignation."

Dean Thomson, who succeeds Dr. Suzzallo, was born in Orillia, Ont., February 21, 1871, and attended the University of Toronto.

Differences between State Governor Hartley and Dr. Suzzallo are said to be the cause of the regents' action.

Reducing Risk in Operations

One of the standard jokes aimed at the medical profession was where the surgeon made the statement that "the operation itself was a success, but, unfortunately, the patient died." I don't want to spoil that joke because it still sounds all right, but the fact remains that an operation is often a matter of life and death and must be performed, even if the patient is in a poor condition physically with severe heart disease.

A New York anaesthetist tells us that before operating on cases where there is the complication of a heart ailment, measures are now taken to prevent shock before and during operation, and to use "supportive" measures before, during and after the operation.

As you know, in years past, men and women with surgical conditions such as cancer, went on to a lingering death therefrom, rather than face the chance of immediate death from the shock of an operation. Now the surgeon and the anaesthetist will tackle such cases because of the success attained by "judicious management of the patient before, during and after the operation."

Where the patient has a poor heart and the operation is likely to take considerable time, a transfusion of good blood is done before the operation, even although the patient is well nourished and appears to have plenty of good blood. This extra amount of blood keeps the vessels distended and prevents shock.

Another "supportive" measure is to inject something to keep the patient quiet as he awakes from the anaesthetic. Accordingly, a dose of morphine or other sedative is injected a few minutes before the operation is completed. As you know, when a patient is returning to consciousness he often swings his arms and moves his legs, and this exercise at this time might put a severe strain on the heart if it were not for the quieting dose mentioned above. He thus sleeps for a number of hours after the operation and awakes quietly.

Now, most of my readers have not heart disease nor are they likely to undergo surgical operations, but in the home or among your friends there may be someone who, owing to heart disease, is undergoing a living death rather than face an operation.

The element of risk, even in these severe cases, is now being greatly reduced owing to those measures suggested by this New York anaesthetist.

AMERICAN FIRM FINISHES WORK

Canadian Architects and Workers Will Do Balance of Work on C.N.R. Hotel

MONTREAL, Oct. 5.—In view of comment which has appeared in the press of Canada regarding the addition to the Chateau Laurier at Ottawa and the proposed new hotel at Vancouver, it was definitely stated at Canadian National railway headquarters in Montreal that having given their opinion and general ideas, the firm of Warren and Wetmore has no further connection with these projects.

"When these two projects were considered," the statement says, "the advice of this outstanding firm of architects in New York was sought by the operating department of the Canadian National railway with respect simply to the general character of the structure, as this firm is recognized to have had an exceptionally wide experience in such work. Their services are now concluded and it is the intention of the Canadian National railway as it always has been—to employ Canadian architects in the usual way for the preparation of plans and supervision of the work."

Creston Social Notes

CRESTON, Oct. 5. — Mrs. C. Kelly and family have arrived from Ladner to join Mr. Kelly, who is Creston's new high school principal. They have leased a furnished house from Mrs. Cotterill on Victoria avenue.

Judge Forin of Nelson was here on official business on Saturday, and was accompanied by Mrs. Forin and Miss Forin. They enjoyed a motor visit through the Creston and Erickson districts.

Mr. and Mrs. James Attwood, who have occupied the Attwood ranch east of town for the last eight years, left on Saturday for Cranbrook, where they have purchased a home and will reside in future. Mrs. Attwood's health has been poor of late, and it is this factor that has decided them to lease the ranch.

John Bird, postmaster at Camp Lister, arrived home today from Cranbrook where he has been a hospital patient for the past three weeks.

Mrs. D. Macdonald and children of Cranbrook returned home at the end of the week, after a 10-day visit with Mrs. Macdonald's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Cartwright.

Fernie Prices on Staple Goods Are on Downward Trend

FERNIE, Oct. 5.—The retail prices of staple commodities in Fernie, as compiled for the department of labor for the month of September, show a slight downward trend, but in the aggregate remained unchanged over previous month.

Out of 128 items listed, five were reduced in price and one advanced. The increase of five cents per dozen occurred in fresh No. 1 grade cooking eggs, while fresh beef receded from two ot three cents per pound. In the vegetables, dry onions were priced at 1½ cents per pound, lower, dropping from four cents to 2½ cents.

TRAPPERS TAKE OUT LICENSES FOR THIS YEAR

Twelve Applications Made at Creston; First Open Season for Three Years

CRESTON, Oct. 5. — Up till Saturday a dozen trappers' licences had been issued at the office of the provincial police at Creston, and now that there is an open season on all fur-bearing animals, it looks as if this winter will see more trap lines in operation in this district than ever before.

For 1926-27 entirely new regulations have been promulgated, the most important of which is that all trap lines are to be registered, and once registration is effected, police protection will be given if necessary to see that there is no trespassing. To make this possible, only provincial police will be allowed to issue licences, and before any are given it will be necessary for the applicant to make a tracing of the area he wishes to operate over from a map in the police offices.

Muskrats Sought

Of the dozen who have applied for permits so far, it is satisfactory that there have been no two of them wanting the same territory. For the most part the men are preparing to operate along the creeks, as the take of muskrat is expected to be large.

In fact, the catch of all animals native to the district should be good, as there has been no trapping permitted for the past three years. In the early 20s Creston was quite a shipping point for mink, marten, weasel and rat, one year-end statement of the local board of trade showing an outgo of these valued at about $12,000—the take of rat by the Indians figuring prominently in this.

Arne Andestad and Oscar Ofner are the first to get out making preparations, getting back on Saturday from Harrop, where they have completed the erection of a cabin. With the exception of rat and beaver the season opens on November 15 and closes April 30, but the two species mentioned can only be trapped from March 15 to the end of April.

WYNNDEL CHURCH HAS BIRTHDAY

Edifice That Cost $1200 Almost Paid For in Year's Time; Special Music Heard

CRESTON, Oct. 5 — Sunday was anniversary day at the United church at Wynndel, with the choir of Trinity church, Creston, helping with the musical services, in which Misses Violet Morrow and Edith Cook contributed a duet, and W. J. Truscott a solo, and an appropriate address given by the pastor, Rev. J. Herdman. The Wynndel church is just one year old, the edifice costing almost $1200, and on Sunday it was given out it was entirely clear of debt with the exception of $25. The congregation were fortunate in having an organ presented them by an United church admirer in Vancouver.

Christ church, Creston, announces its harvest thanksgiving services for Sunday. The rector, Rev. S. Newby, will take the morning services, but at 7:30 p.m. Rev. F. V. Harrison of Cranbrook, rural dean of East Kootenay, will be here and Rev. Mr. Newby in charge at Cranbrook.

Cranbrook Boy Is Laid at Rest; Was Only Four Years Old

CRANBROOK, Oct. 5. — The funeral took place on Sunday afternoon of Gordon W. Steward, the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Steward. The little fellow passed away after a short illness from acute bronchial asthma. He was only ill for a few days, and was taken to the hospital for emergency measures on Friday last. He was about 4 years of age, and is survived by six sisters and two brothers. Rev. F. V. Harrison conducted the funeral services, interment being made in the local cemetery. Many flowers were in evidence.

Victim of Motor Accident Buried in Natal Cemetery

FERNIE, Oct. 5. — The funeral of Thomas Baybutt, who was killed in a motor accident near Crow's Nest of Thursday last, was held at Natal on Sunday afternoon. The funeral was under the auspices of Elk River lodge No. 35, A.F. & A.M., of which he was a member. About 40 members motored from here to Natal to take part in the burial ceremonies, where the worshipful master, C. B. Anderson, and Rev. H. U. Oswald, chaplain, officiated.

General decrease is predicted in this year's European wheat crop.

THE SPIRIT OF NEIGHBORLINESS

After All, We Want to Be 'Good Neighbors'

IS THE spirit of neighborliness contagious? Well, we think it is. Since we began this little series of messages to you about it, we've had numerous letters on the subject.

For example, we'll quote from one we received the other day. It was from Neighbor ———, a country gentleman. He's in daily touch with our friends of the farms—talks with 'em over the fence. "Neighborliness," he wrote, "means more to our city than our undoubted industrial, commercial and transportation advantages. Promotion of a friendlier feeling can't help but redound to the credit of the business men of the city and the farms. Your method must necessarily be far-reaching in scope and influence."

Neighborhood propaganda spreads fast and effectively.

Occurred to us to mention this in this our last heart-to-heart talk but one, to you, our neighbors. Frankly, in our opinion, that brief note said a pageful.

THANK YOU!

Huggins Blames the Yank Hitting

IFTEEN HITS THREE GAMES POOR, HE SAYS

lames Defeat on That Fact; Claims Tide Will Turn Today Sure

UTH SAYS CARDS HAVE POOR TEAM

oyt Yank Choice Today; Rhem, Sherdel or Reinhart . May Do Card Work

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 6.—Blame for the feat of the Yankees in the third me in the series today was hung the old, old story by Manager iller Huggins—the fact that the anks were not hitting. Huggins be- ves the tide will turn tomorrow, at the Yanks will come crashing rough in a storm of base hits that ill even up the series.

The Yanks were an angry, white- oped group of baseball players hen they reached their dressing oms. Babe Ruth mumbled to him- elf when searching under the nches for his shoes. Then the Babe urted out: "I can't see the Cards a ball club, no matter if they did k us today. There are at least vo better clubs in the National ague—Pittsburgh and Cincinnati. he Cards have been lucky, that's il, by getting a lot of flukey hits. omorrow is another day. When we art hitting it will be a different ory."

Huggins praised the Cardinals and ne masterful pitching of Jesse laines.

"It's the old story; but I've got to ay it—we're not hitting," Huggins eclared. "We've only made 15 hits n three games. Hits make a lot f difference in many ways. They spire the players and keep us in ne fight. We have not been our- elves in hitting for a long time ut we are going to get started to- morrow. We have faced three of he best pitchers on the St. Louis taff. We are bound to hit better om now on. The Card staff cannot old up the standard of pitching et by Alexander, Sherdel and laines."

Huggins merely regarded Koenig's ild throw as one of the breaks of he game declaring that the ball as slippery and that Koenig ap- arently got a poor grip on it.

The Yankee leader intends to tart Waite Hoyt against the Cardi- als tomorrow while Flint Rhem robably will be Manager Horns- y's pitching selection.

Hornsby and his players were in igh spirits, glowing with smiles as hey stripped off their rain-soaked niforms in their club house. They warmed around big Jesse Haines, heir victorious pitcher, slapping him n the back in showing their ap- reciation of his achievement in macking out the homer in the ourth that scored Thevernow ahead him. Haines, stripped to the waist, unched up his shoulders to ward ff every resounding slap.

The 33-year-old pilot of the Car- inals praised the fighting spirit f his team. He was highly pleased ith the fact that the Cardinals ave been connecting with the ball.

"It looks like we'll win the series ow for sure," Hornsby said. "If e lose tomorrow, we will fight ll the harder, but I don't think we ill lose. I intend to pitch Rhem. e's ready. But I may switch my ans and send Sherdel back at hem. Or I may decide on Rein- art. The Yanks apparently do not ike left-hand pitching. If we can eep them from hitting, that's all hat will be necessary to make us hampions, for I'm confident there's othing that can stop the batting of he Cardinals."

DEMPSEY CHARGES KEARNS FORGERY

Dempsey Says Kearns Forged Name, Then Asked Forgiveness; Was Given

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 5.—Jack Kearns was charged with forgery by his former protege, Jack Dempsey, in chancery court today, after the former had identified a contract as having been signed by Dempsey.

The former champion appeared before Vice-Chancellor Ingersoll to defend a rule to show cause why a receiver should not be appointed. The application for the rule had been made by Kearns previous to the Tunney-Dempsey championship battle in Philadelphia.

In August, 1923, said Dempsey, Kearns visited him at Saratoga Springs telling him that he (Kearns) had forged Dempsey's name to a con ract and that he had been caught by the New York state boxing commission and feared criminal prosecution. Feeling sorry for Kearns, Dempsey testified, he affixed his signature to a contract, though, he testified it was only in a spirit of friendship and it was understood the contract was worthless and not binding.

Introduces Letter

Kearns introduced a letter written to Dempsey in March of this year, in which he had charged Dempsey of having violated his contract.

"You stated you would not have won the championship if you had not fighting qualities of wh champions are made," the letter read in part. "True, but you know I made you champion because through my efforts you got the chance to fight.

"I have waited as patiently as possible for you to come to your senses and realize the ungratefulness of your actions, not to mention the disastrous financial results."

Decision was reserved for three weeks to permit counsel to file briefs.

KIMBERLEY TEAM CHALLENGES THE NELSON SENIORS

East Kootenay Champs Confident of Victory in Trail Today

Confident of victory in their game with Trail today for the Blaylock cup and the championship of the Kootenays, the Kimberley soccer team passed through Nelson last night.

The team captain, George Scott, issued a direct challenge to Nelson senior soccerites, stating the Kimberley boys would like to play here Thursday against the pick of Nelson.

Outstanding Players

However the game goes in Trail this afternoon, it is certain the Smelter City boys have a hard game before them. The Kimberley team is an up and coming crowd. There are in the line-up such outstanding players as George Scott, captain, and Freddy Deluce, who played with Hillhurst, Calgary team in 1921, when this team battled its way from a Calgary city league to the championship of Canada.

Bob Little, left back, and Hotchkiss, the goalie, were members of the Crows Nest Pass and Western Alberta team which played in Lethbridge against the touring British Corinthians three years ago.

But those men are only part of the organization that makes up the Kimberley team. In a recent game against Michel for the championship of Alberta, they were beaten by a single goal in a game which went into half an hour of overtime.

Trail Ready for 'Em

Trail, however, has a number of real stars in its team, and all the men have been training hard, so that a good game is assured.

Champions Take Care of Discards

BY AL DEMAREE
(Former Pitcher New York Giants)

Fans have often seen veteran ball players traded or released from championship teams in midseason and lamented the fact that these stars of bygone days would not share in the prize money of a world series.

But as a rule, veterans, who have been released from a pennant-winning club, are well taken care of by the players.

And it is right that they should. Their years of painstaking effort should be rewarded whether or not they happen to be a member of the club the last month or so.

"Red" Ames, the old Giant pitcher, was traded with Josh Devore and Heinie Groh to Cincinnati for Art Fromme during the 1913 season and Red, on account of being a veteran on the Giants, received one-half a world series share, although not a member of the club.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—Today's training developments resulted in the reinstallation of Sol Joel's 4-year-old colt Glommen as favorite for the Cesarewitch, to be run at Newmarket on October 13. Reports from "special commissioners" brought Glommen to the front at odds of 6 to 1 against. Second is Fox Law, at 7 to 1, and next comes Perfect Son, at 8 to 1.

The betting on the Cambridgeshire, three weeks away, was 100 to 7 against Plack and 100 to 6 against Delius and Oojah.

HALIFAX, N.S., Oct. 5.—The Halifax fishing schooner Haligonian will not go to Gloucester for the races starting next Monday. This was finally announced late this afternoon when it was discovered that it would be impossible to get the vessel ready in time to make the trip. It was discovered that the schooner could not be repaired in time for the race.

Tunney Lot Better Fighter Than Gets Credit for, Says Dempsey; He Knows His Way Around the Ring

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The experience of being heavyweight champion for seven years, with all the trials and tribulations it brought him, was worth the price to Jack Dempsey. Admitting that "it's still a pretty sweet world to me," the dethroned fistic king today indicated that he may return to the ring to regain his lost laurels. "I've lost the title, but maybe I can get it back. I can try, anyway," he explained.

Apparently fully recovered from his battle with Gene Tunney, the former titleholder said he had been happy to find that "someone" cared for Jack Dempsey and not just the champion. He referred to his wife, the former Estelle Taylor.

"I made a lot of money—a couple of millions, I guess," he continued. "The title was mine for seven years, and I'm not crying now. It was taken from me fairly and squarely by a lot better fighter than he gets credit for being.

"Tunney was not Firpo. He knows his way around in that ring."

CARD TWIRLER SLAMS HOMER WITH TWO ON

hardest hitting in the game, have produced only 15 hits and four runs.

For a time today, the intermittent showers of the rain threatened to mar the setting for the triumph of Hornsby's men. The game was delayed for 32 minutes at the start of the fourth inning by a sudden shower, but heroic efforts to put the field back into playable condition, muddy though it was. It was a fortunate break, for the Cardinals came back after the interval to check a budding Yank rally and then score the runs that clinched the game.

There was another contributing outbreak in this decisive inning for the slippery condition of the ball was at least partly to blame for the wild throw by Koenig, Yank shortstop, who had a double play in sight that would have choked off the Cardinals without a run.

Wild Throw Does It

Lester Bell opened the fourth with a single and went to second on Hafey's sacrifice. O'Farrell walked and then Thevernow rapped a hard grounder to Lazzeri, who scooped it up and tossed to Koenig for a forced out of O'Farrell. The Yank shortstop threw wildly past Gehrig, however, and Bell raced home with the first run. This set the stage for Haines and the husky pitcher provoked a tumultuous outburst by lofting one of Ruether's curves high into the right field stands.

It was a towering blow worthy of a Ruth or a Southworth and Haines trotted around the bases to the accompaniment of a bedlam of cheering, the ringing of bells and honking of horns. To all intents and purposes, this settled the game as it turned out, but the Cardinals added another run for good measure in the fourth, Southworth scoring on his single, another one-base blow by Hornsby and an infield out by Bottomley which marked the retirement of Ruether.

With this margin to work on, Haines toiled the rest of the game with invincible skill. In no inning were the Yanks able to get more than one safe hit and in none of them did a base runner get beyond the keystone bag.

Snappy Plays

Twice snappy double plays checked the Yanks, once in the sixth after Combs had led off with a single, and again in the ninth when Gehrig singled with one out.

Joe Dugan started the third with a single and was sacrificed to second by Severid but got no further. In the fourth just before the downpour came, Ruth was on the middle bag by virtue of his one-base hit to center and Muesel's infield out.

Gehrig in the seventh and Paschal, pinch hitter, who walked in the eighth, also got as far as second, but they were likewise stranded as the Yank bats were silenced.

The Cards concentrated their attacking in the fourth and fifth frames although they had constantly threatened Ruether up to the time he was shelled from the hill. After the fifth, however, Shawkey toiled effectively for two innings while Miles Thomas, making his series debut, checked the Cards in the eighth with the aid of a double play started by Koenig.

DEAN IN QUEBEC IS ELECTED BISHOP

CALGARY, Oct. 5.—Dean L. Ralph Sherman of Quebec, was elected Anglican bishop of the Calgary diocese at a synod meeting on Tuesday morning to succeed the Rt. Rev. Pinkham. There were 12 other candidates.

The clerical secretary of the synod, Canon Gale has wired to Dean Sherman for his acceptance.

If this is favorable it will be the duty of the clerical secretary and the lay secretary to notify Archbishop Matheson, of the Rupertsland diocese, of the election.

GOVERNOR OF ROTARY HEARD BY FERNIE CLUB

Beatty of Victoria Tells of Rotary Accomplishments; Dislikes 'Canned Education'

FERNIE, Oct. 5.—The members of the Rotary club of Fernie on Monday evening were the hosts of the district governor, Jim Beatty of Victoria. On this occasion there were also present J. Fred Scott, president; Tom Flett, Frank Marsh, Tommy Roberts, O. Jacobson and Jake Fink of the Cranbrook club. Dr. Ewart Gee, president of the Fernie club, conducted the meeting.

Governor Beatty sketched his trip so far around District No. 1, which has the unique distinction of being the only district in Rotary that is of definite international composition. It includes all the British Columbia clubs and those of Oregon and Washington, in the United States. He paid particular tribute to the Spokane club for its wonderful hospital for crippled children, but the community welfare interest was also displayed in varying satisfactory ways by all the larger clubs through the district, while the smaller clubs, although working under decided handicaps, were effectively carrying out good work along these lines.

Rotary was described by the governor as a "peculiar philosophy deeper than the mind," and makes a man forget himself and his selfish desires for the benefit of the community at large. Of late, he said, from different sources, critics of Rotary had sprung up, but it was too great and beneficial a principle to be thwarted in this manner, and having taken definite root so far in 35 countries of the world, it was truly universal and could and would withstand all such attempts to destroy it.

Governor Beatty said he felt confident that Rotary would undoubtedly be a dominant factor in the world for the propagation of "world peace" and evidence of this situation was the fact that it had been invited by the councils of the League of Nations to direct its efforts in cooperation for the furtherance of that object.

"Canned Education"

The speaker issued a mild note of warning with regard to what he termed "the canned system of education" in vogue in Canada and the United States, which he said was in the nature of putting each and every child through the same machine, which resulted virtually in "mass production" along educational lines. He expressed the belief that through such similar system of education having been conducted in Germany had been one of the causes which precipitated that country to bring about the great war. The English system was different, and ultimately more suitable for all concerned.

JAMES CROWE, OLD TIMER IS DEAD

Cranbrook and Fort Steel Resident Dies at Age of Eighty Years

CRANBROOK, Oct. 5. — The death took place at the St. Eugene hospital this afternoon of James Crowe of Cranbrook and Fort Steele. He was a resident of this district of many years' standing, and was upward of 80 years of age. He and his wife have resided for some time past at Fort Steele. R. Crowe of the city fire department here is one of the sons; another resides at Skookumchuck, and there are two married daughters and at least one other grownup son surviving, it is stated. Mr. and Mrs. Crowe lost a son in the war. The funeral arrangements have not yet been learned.

Fire destroyed a general store and residence at Ingersol with a loss of about $9000.

BIRTH CONTROL IS NOT SINFUL

So Declares Archbishop of Canterbury; Denies Approval of Practice, Though

LONDON, Oct. 5.—Very characteristically the Archbishop of Canterbury counsels the people to be cautious with regrad to the subject of birth control. In a letter published today, while stigmatizing Marie Stopes, president of the Society for constructive birth control, and racial progress, and her group of followers as "dangerous and harmful element in our social life" the archbishop declares that a statement attributing to him as having approved of birth control is misleading.

The archbishop says: "It is true that I have declined to denounce as sinful any methods of birth control. The subject is one that needs scrupulous care in its treatment if we are at once to be loyal to sound principles and recognize the legitimacy, even the need of exceptional action under exceptional conditions."

Dean Inge, of St. Paul's cathedral, who is perhaps the greatest Anglican publicist of the present day, makes no secret of his own theory that the overpopulation of the world renders birth control practically imperative.

STOCKS FALL ON NEW YORK MARKET

General Motors, U. S. Steel and Rails Hard Hit; Selling Movement Heavy

NEW YORK, Oct. 5. — Heavy liquidation of stocks for both accounts caused another sharp break in today's stock market, which emerged on the down side from the narrow trading area within which it had been floundering. There was nothing in the business situation to account for the selling movement.

General Motors dropped from 168 to 163¾, and then rallied to 164⅞, off 1 point net.

U. S. Steel common closed nearly 3 points lower, at 145⅝. Mack Trucks fell over 6 points to a new low for the year, but Moon Motors appeared to have discounted the cut from $3 to $150 in the annual dividend.

Rails were also hard hit. Nickel Plate common dropped 5, Norfolk & Western 4½, New York Central 3½ and most of the others a point or two.

Call money renewed at 5 and then dropped to 4½ per cent.

Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Ambassador States Spain's Financial Status Not Alarming

LONDON, Oct. 5. — The Spanish ambassador, Marquis Alfonso Merry Del Vally Zuleta, in a statement to the press today declared attempts were being made in certain financial circles to circulate false and alarming reports concerning conditions in Spain for purposes of speculation, principally in Spanish exchange.

The ambassador warned the public, particularly those engaged in business, to disregard such reports.

MONEY SCHEME IS HELPFUL FRANCE

Flotation of Industrial, Reparation and Rail Bonds in U. S. Is Pleasing

PARIS, Oct. 5. — Flotation of German railroad, industrial and reparation bonds in the United States has become a settled policy of the continental allied countries entitled to reparation.

The French government now is earnestly in favor of the scheme because of the ready cash in dollars the flotation of the bonds would make available for use in Premier Poincare's plans.

France, Italy and Belgium, who have been especially interested in the project, have had the matter up at Washington, it was learned today. They seek to persuade the United States government to allow United States banks to interest themselves in the project. It is understood that the French used the argument that floating these bonds will make it easier for France to stabilize the franc, and hence make the payment of war debts less burdensome.

Premier Poincare it was said, has given assurance to Washington that ratification of the Mellon-Bernier settlement of French war debts to the United States will be pushed in the hope of getting favorable action on it before the end of November.

Business Facts

Inheritance taxes may ruin an estate.

The man who is building a moderate estate for the future benefit of his family may feel that it will be little affected by inheritance taxes. However, such is not the case for even a small fortune may be ruined by these taxes.

In addition to the Dominion taxes on estates almost all of the various provinces levy such taxes. Moreover, even though an heir lives in one province, he may have to pay taxes on his securities in several other provinces, as well as in that of his residence, because the companies issuing the securities are incorporated or own property there. The effect of this may be that he pays taxes in four or five different places on the same securities. It is readily seen that the amount of an estate may be greatly reduced in this way.

In order to guard against such dissipation of his fortune, the investor should consult an investment house or banker, and so adjust his holdings that he will have to pay only the normal amount of inheritance taxes.

Municipal Advertising Brings In Industries

St. Louis for the last six years has been carrying on an advertising campaign to "sell the town to the rest of the country."

This year the city appropriated $35,000 for the purpose.

The results are conclusive proofs of the value of advertising, says the St. Louis Star. Of the 196 new industries that have been brought here during the last six years, 63 can be traced directly to municipal advertising.

SEEK INCREASED DUTY ON SYRUP

Vancouver Sugar Firm Applies to Tariff Advisory Board for Readjustment

OTTAWA, Oct. 5. — An application for an increase in the duty on imported corn and cane syrup was made today to the advisory board on tariff and taxation by the British Columbia Sugar Refining company.

J. F. W. Johnson president of the company, stated that the increase should be such as to put the duty on a parity with that paid by Canadian syrup manufacturers for their raw materials.

"I am quite right in saying that under a tariff such as I propose, American syrups coming into Canada could still undersell, because corn syrup is cheaper than cane syrup," he said.

Tire Prices Cut Twenty Per Cent in the Old Land

LONDON, Oct. 5.—(N. Y. Tribune special cable) — Motoring for the masses took a further stride forward in this country yesterday when three leading tire companies announced a 20 per cent reduction in the prices of their product.

As a result of the cuts, which are the third within a year, tire prices are back to the 1924 level, which was the lowest since the war. The cuts are attributed by a tire company official to the reduction in the price of raw materials. Rubber is cheaper owing to the relaxation of restrictions in connection with the Stevenson plan.

THIRD OWNER IN SURPRISE LOOKS OVER PROPERTY

Herbert, Chicago Attorney, Likes Looks of Lardeau Mine

ORE BEING SACKED FROM HUGE LEDGE

Government Has Surveyed a Wagon Road to the Property

W. E. Herbert, Chicago attorney, who became interested last winter in the Surprise mining property on Glacier creek, in the Lardeau, to the extent of a third interest purchased from Maj. R. K. Waite of Nelson, has returned from a visit to the mine which he made at the end of the week.

Howser Lake Exquisite

Besides getting a first-hand knowledge of the mine, which very favorably impressed him, Mr. Herbert greatly enjoyed the trip into the wilderness, and the exquisite beauty of the setting on Howser lake made him imagine he was seeing the water on which Scott's "Lady of the Lake" was founded.

The enormous ledge of the Surprise, with its two shafts, and with drifts in various directions that have not yet completely shown the width of the ore body, with sacked ore accumulating for shipment at the landing, and the work being done by a crew of four men, were among the facts noted with satisfaction by the Chicago man. At present the mine is served by a trail, but a wagon road has been surveyed by the government, for 3¾ miles, which when constructed will permit the use of trucks for carriage of ore and supplies.

Near Transportation

The mine is about five miles distant from either of two possible shipping points—Howser siding, on the Lardeau branch, and Argenta, at the head of Kootenay lake.

Mr. Herbert plans to spend several days here, during which he will go into all matters connected with the mine, including its future development.

He is a Mason, and in his few days in the district has attended Masonic sessions at both Nelson and Kaslo.

WAS JUDGE IN ON 'MADAM X' HOAX AFFAIR?

Letter Produced From Judge Hardy to Mrs. Sielaff, Perpetrator of the Hoax

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 5.—A new letter, purporting to be from Superior Judge Carlos S. Hardy, a friend and sympathizer of Aimee Semple McPherson, to Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman Sielaff, confessed perpetrator of the "Miss X." hoax in the McPherson case, was produced today by an attorney as Mrs. McPherson's preliminary hearing was resumed. The letter was written on stationery from the Hotel Vancouver at Vancouver, B.C., on August 27, apparently while Judge Hardy was on a vacation in Canada.

It was sent to Mrs. Wiseman Sielaff at the Y. W. C. A. in San Francisco and then forwarded to her at the county jail here.

The communication is:

"Dear Mrs. Wiseman:

KIMBERLEY IS INDIGNANT AT FIRE REPORTS

Claim Criticism as to Department and Equipment Is Unjust; Board Takes Up Matter

BOARD OF TRADE WILL GO AFTER IMPROVEMENTS

Claim Town Neglected by Provincial and Dominion Governments; Plan for Mining Men

KIMBERLEY, B. C. — It was reported to the Kimberley board of trade meeting on Monday evening from various sources that the Vancouver business men who visited this place recently were still cherishing pleasant memories of their stay in Kimberley. Visitors to the coast bring back this word, and it is felt that some good work was done for Kimberley on that occasion.

The board has recently received a report as to fire conditions in Kimberley, drawn up for the British Columbia underwriters, and exception is being taken to the strictures this document contains. It describes conditions as to building, waterworks, etc., in the town, and criticizes the volunteer fire department as being inadequate.

The board is of the opinion that the efficient work the fire fighters have done here at several fires recently entirely disprove the tenor of the underwriters' report, and the fact that the company has also placed its hose and other equipment at the disposal of the town in emergencies has apparently been overlooked. The board of trade has decided to take the matter up further with the underwriters.

The need of Kimberley having more recognition from the provincial government was advanced by J. W. Brault, barrister, who advocated steps to get established here a mining recorder's office, county court, etc., instancing the fact that smaller places in the district have these facilities which would be a considerable saving to Kimberley. This matter is to be pressed upon the provincial government. Dr. King is also to be approached in regard to the plans for the Dominion government building promised for Kimberley, and also the desired improvements to the McGinty trail and the proposed cutoff to the Windermere road, which is being advocated. These matters will be laid before Dr. King, personally, when he visits the district shortly.

Preparations are also being made by the board for the visit next week to Kimberley of the party of mining engineers who are meeting in Spokane and proceeding on to Cranbrook and Kimberley. The company is entertaining the visitors, and the board will cooperate in the entertainment of the 100 or so visitors expected to the fullest extent.

SIR HENRY GRAY WARS WITH THE MEDICAL BODY

Letters Deal With Charges of Unethical Conduct by Dr. Martin

MONTREAL, Oct. 5. — Sir Henry Gray, formerly chief surgeon of the Royal Victoria hospital here and now in private practice, has made public a communication he has sent to the Canadian Medical association journal in regard to the action of the C.M.A. in finding unfounded his charges of unethical conduct against Dr. C. F. Martin, dean of the medical faculty of McGill university.

The communication says, in part:

"When I acceded to your request for permission to submit my statement attributing unethical conduct on his part, to Dr. C. F. Martin, I presumed that investigation would be conducted in accordance with ordinary British methods. But I find myself accused of making a false statement, and have been condemned without having been consulted further in any way.

"I beg that the council of the C.M.A. will be so courteous as to furnish me with the evidence on which the decision of the ethical committee was based.

"If publicity is given to the decision of the ethical committee and the council, I may be compelled to take action to remove the slur which this curt condemnation throws upon a clean professional reputation which no one attempted to blemish until I came to Montreal."

No Personal Evidence

Dr. Routley's reply of August 20 said, in part:

"During the session in Victoria the committee on ethics spent several hours going through the complete files of correspondence which had passed between this office and all other parties relating to your charges. The committee did not examine or hear any personal evidence. The contents of the formal charges, with your permission, was made known to Dr. Martin. He, in turn, filed with the association attest statements relating to the charge. Dr. Martin's statements were not forwarded to you as the association's solicitor stated that such action would not be warranted."

On September 2, Sir Henry wrote further as follows:

"From it (Dr. Routley's letter) I judge that the Canadian Medical association does not intend to disclose why my record regarding Dr. C. F. Martin is stated to be false or on what grounds I have been censured. I challenge the C.M.A. to have all the facts which are connected with my accusation of Dr. Martin investigated by an impartial body of medical men. I suggest that this tribunal should consist of two surgeons practicing in the British Isles—not Scottish—and of two surgeons of the United States, whose professional status and reputation for integrity cannot be questioned.

Also Publication

"I beg that, when the journal of the Canadian Medical association publishes the reports of its ethical committee it will also publish my letter to you and this present one.

"In view of the decision of the ethical committee and the council I do not think it will serve any useful purpose to discuss the case further than to say that the first information regarding the conduct complained of was conveyed to me by a prominent medical man in Montreal. The doctor said he was impelled to do so by his 'sense of ordinary British fair play,' but in spite of assurances given at the time that he would stand by his statement, if required, he advised the secretary of the association that he had 'no report to make.'"

REPAIR WORK IS BEING DONE ON THE YMIR ROAD

Gang Is Working Between Ymir and Hall; Plan Salmo Cutoff

WIDENING THE TRAIL ROAD AT BIRCHBANK

Pour Concrete for a Bridge Pier in Slocan River

Under the direction of William Ramsay, district public works engineer, a road gang is repairing the Nelson-Spokane highway between Hall and Ymir. They are grading the road in some places and widening it in others.

Hope for Salmo Cutoff

Mr. Ramsay says he expects next year to get the money to build a cutoff this side of Salmo. This, if it comes about, will eliminate a lot of bad road in a particularly rocky area near Salmo, as well as considerably shortening the distance.

A gang under Foreman P. J. Gallagher is also working on the Trail-Nelson highway near Birchbank. Their work consists of widening the road, cutting down curves and generally improving the road in that district. Mr. Ramsay expects that when the gang lies off for the winter there will be but two miles of road leading into Tadanac in immediate need of repair.

Foundations for Bridge

With the excavation work finished, and pile bents driven far beneath the river bed, the filling in of the concrete foundation for the middle pier of the bridge that is to grace the Slocan river at Shoreacres has begun.

Rock excavations for the other two piers have been started on. Mr. Ramsay expects the bridge will be finished this year.

SUMMERS PAYS FINE OF FIFTY; BEER IN HOTEL

Proprietor of Club Hotel Says Was Treating Friends

E. J. Summers, proprietor of the Club hotel, paid a fine of $50 in police court yesterday when he pleaded guilty, before Police Magistrate William Brown, to a charge of keeping liquor in a room other than a private guest room.

Sergt. Alex Stewart arrested him at 11 o'clock Monday night, on finding him in the act of serving beer to two men.

Mr. Summers claimed he was "treating" the men, who were friends of his.

COBHAM KNIGHTED

HECLA HEADS PAYING VISIT TO THE SLOCAN

Manager McCarthy Thinks the Silver Slump but Temporary

That things are looking exceptionally well in the Coeur d'Alene district of Idaho, was the statement last night of James F. McCarthy, manager of the Hecla Mining company, who is putting in a few days holiday here, Charles H. Foreman, mining engineer of the Hecla, the famous old producer, being with him.

The Hecla men will make a trip into the Slocan tomorrow, in company with another who is to arrive today and who will look at the Lucky Jim property at Zincton.

The Silver Slump

Speaking of the slump in the price of silver, Mr. McCarthy said its duration was only a matter of guess work, but that in any event it was a disconcerting element to the districts interested in silver mining.

"If the slump is due to the adoption by India of the gold basis," commented Mr. McCarthy, "I hardly see how this discount can be permanent. India's millions are accustomed to hoard silver coins. In a country of the mental inertia of India, it is not to be anticiptaed that the inhabitants can be weaned from the silver hoarding habit under a generation at the least. Further, what are the people to hoard? While the country may be on a gold basis, there is not enough gold to furnish coins for general hoarding."

TRAIL INVITES NELSON PEOPLE AS ITS GUESTS

City Council Receives Hearty Invitation on Behalf of City

MANY CITIZENS AIM TO GO OVER

Tonight's Open-Air Masquerade Will Open Paved Streets

On learning yesterday that Nelson's city fathers and city officials, with also many citizens at large, were planning to visit Trail tonight by motor to attend that city's cement pavement masquerade dance tonight, with all the factors assured that make for a festivity, the Trail city fathers wired to Mayor J. A. McDonald is follows:

"Council extends hearty welcome to the city council and representatives of all public bodies to celebrate opening of our concrete-paved streets Wednesday evening, October 6. Be our guests while in the city.

"Mayor and council of the city of Trail"

Many Will Go Over

The idea of helping Trail to celebrate its preeminence in cement pavement ownership in the interior, as an act of fraternity, is "catching on" widely in Nelson, and while there is no organized effort to assemble a large number of cars, many citizens are volunteering to take part in the proposed excursion.

Among the younger element, participation in the masquerade itself will be the rule, while the sedate city fathers and business men will probably be content with the role of on-lookers, all alike, however, being the guests of Trail for whatever fun is going.
