SPRING MEET TO BE AIDED BY TRAIL MEN

Apportion $500 Toward Huge Meet in Early Year for School Children

IS PART OF BALANCE AFTER LABOR DAY FUN

Some for Expenses at Nelson Meet; Committee to Decide on Other Plans

TRAIL, Oct. 11.—Finding themselves with the tidy balance of $675 cash in hand after all expenses of the recent Labor day celebration had been paid, the celebration committee tonight unanimously decided to devote this balance entirely to the entertainment and promotion of sport among Trail youngsters of school age and below.

Alderman J. A. McKinnon, chairman of the Labor day celebration committee, submitted the financial statement, which showed that the total amount collected from smelter employees, other citizens and business men, totaled $2314. Expenditures on the celebration totaled $1635.40, leaving a cash bank balance of $678.60.

The itemized statement showed expenditures as follows: Sports, $619.10; refreshments, $541.15; first aid, $59; music, $207.10; decorations, $65.95; printing, $63.30, and incidentals, $79.80.

Suggests Celebration

Mr. McKinnon urged that, as in former years, the officers and members of the committee should vote the bank balance toward holding a celebration for the children on May 24, 1927, and invite the officers of the Trail Track and Harrier club to cooperate with the committee in arranging an intercity school track and field meet here on that occasion. He warmly commended all those who assisted financially and in personal service in making the celebration such a splendid success.

Of this sum, $500 was apportioned for financing the May 24 celebration which for years has been the big day for all Trail youngsters. Seventy-five dollars was set aside to finance Trail school athletes taking part in Nelson intercity schools field and track meet. The remaining $100, an approximate figure since there may be one or two small bills yet unpaid, was set aside to be used in such a way as a special committee shall decide. The committee appointed was Alderman J. A. McKinnon, chairman; C. J. Minton, secretary; Alex Balfour, treasurer; H. Holden, representing the smelter employees' finance committee, and Walter Murray, representing the downtown finance committee.

Suggest Winter Sports

To this committee were submitted several suggestions. One was that the $100 should be used to stimulate competition in outdoor winter sports among children, such as skating, speed races. George Murray, making this suggestion, stated the park board planned to have two outdoor ice rinks this winter if the weather man was kind.

At first the award of $500 to the May 24 celebration was opposed as too high. When it was pointed out that the $200 so used this year was inadequate to financing the celebration on the scale of former years, with the rapidly growing juvenile population, Mr. Holden, Mr. Docksteader, Mr. Murdock and others spoke in favor of the appropriation. Alex Balfour reminded the gathering that it was hoped to initiate a triangular Kootenay-Boundary schools field and track organization this week, and if possible, to bring the first meet to Trail in conjunction with the May 24 celebration of 1927. Following the Trail Amateur Athletic association annual meet here on Friday, a meeting of representatives of Nelson, Rossland, Grand Forks and other distant points would be held.

One Big Meet

The idea of Trail men was to have a big annual meet, swinging to successive points in the organization year by year, and eliminating a succession of small meets. If organization resulted and the first meet were brought to Trail May 24, part of the $500 would be devoted toward financing it.

There were congratulations on all sides for the success of the Labor day celebration under adverse conditions, for the unprecedented financial support given to it, and for the cooperation and work of all concerned in the undertaking.

Those attending the meeting were Alderman J. A. McKinnon, chairman; Alex Balfour, C. J. Minton, J. A. McKenzie, George Murray, F. S. Willis, Rev. N. D. B. Larmonth, Alderman A. G. Harvey, John Ice Young, J. C. Murdoch, W. Davis, H. Holden, J. Docksteader, D. Downie, E. Day, D. Eustis and T. Lewis.

OWNER OF BULL LOSES OUT IN APPEAL COURT

Judge Forin's Award Upheld; Schneider Must Pay Mrs. Jacobs

In the court of appeal at the coast yesterday, the judgement of Judge J. A. Forin, of Nelson, which awarded Mrs. Mary Jacobson $476 damages from William Schneider, to compensate her for injuries received when attacked by a bull owned by the latter, was sustained. The parties are both of Deer Park.

The five appeal judges were unanimous in their decision

Word of the appeal being dismissed was received yesterday by E. G. Matthew, counsel for Mrs. Jacobson, from R. L. Maitland, who acted on her behalf at the coast.

Claimed She Petted It

In the county trial held here in the spring, the defence contended the bull was gentle, and that Mrs. Jacobson had courted trouble by putting her arm around its neck and inviting it to "go a walk."

Her story was that it charged her from a short distance, knocked her down, and kneeded her with its knees, attacking her on her own ranch. Her condition after the attack was established by various witnesses.

ROTARIANS TOLD OF COMMUNITY WORK OF SCOUTS

Foggo Discusses Boys' Work Before the Rotary Club

CHARACTER THE CORNER STONE

Work of Mafeking Boys During Siege Gave Idea to Baden-Powell

Speaking at the Rotary club at its meeting in the Hume yesterday, J. Foggo, a Nelson scoutmaster, told briefly of boy scout activities in Nelson, outlined the work of the organization and described briefly how the movement endeavored to train the boy in the right path.

"The problem of the boy confronts us at every turn of the road," asserted Mr. Foggo. "We do not understand what a boy is."

The Boys' Contradictions

The boy, he stated, was the possessor of a very level head, a big heart, impossible to drive, hard to lead, but fairly easily guided. He possessed unbounded loyalty to those he loved, and had a fiendish faculty for "getting the goat of those whom he does not care a snap for."

Although he might grumble when asked to bring up the coal, should the occasion arise he would risk his life for his friend.

"The boy is a big interrogation mark, he wants to know why," he remarked. "The same doubts and problems that confronted you and me confront the boy of today, but you and I were afraid to voice our doubts—the boy of today is not."

Two Million Scouts Now

There were many organizations working on behalf of the boy today, said Mr. Foggo, but there was one which stood head and shoulders above all others—that was the boy scout movement. "Its activities are world-wide, it knows no color line, it embraces all religions, it has a membership of 2,000,000 boys, it is in 50 different countries."

Sir Robert Baden-Powell, when an officer in the British army, realized that the training a soldier received did not help him to act individually when he was in a tight corner, and he instituted in his own regiment a course of instruction to overcome this deficiency, Mr. Foggo stated.

During the seige of Mafeking he organized the boys of the town into a utility troop. The results exceeded all expectations. On his return to England at the close of the war he set about devising some scheme of training boys along the lines which had proved so successful at Mafeking.

In 1908 the first scout troop was organized, and in 1910 the movement had grown to such an extent that Baden-Powell resigned from the army to devote his life to the movement.

Mr. Foggo recited the scout promise and law. "The corner stone of the movement is character," he said. "The word of a scout is accepted just as if he had taken a most solemn oath." He also told of the practical side of scout training, describing the tenderfoot, second class, first class and proficiency badges.

"But until we are willing to come down off our pedestal of self-efficiency and be boys ourselves, our plans will go astray," he asserted.

Nelson Scouts

"I often think the scouts are too modest," he said. "In fact, I think many citizens of Nelson liken our scouts to a cuckoo which has been hatched in another bird's nest, and does nothing but squawk and open its beak for the fattest worm that is going. If that is your opinion of the scouts of Nelson, then let me tell you that you never made a greater mistake in your lives."

Mr. Foggo told briefly of a few community works of the boy scouts were doing. These included many minor but time-taking services, such as visiting the sick and reading to them, gathering clothing and supplies for the needy, sometimes also contributing from scout funds for the object. Then there was the Christmas cheer fund for the boys and girls in the hospital and the isolation hospital, a public church service conducted by the scouts, a play given to raise funds toward the annual camp expenses, and other activities.

"Do not, for a minute, think that because we do these things we are sissies, for we are not," he stated. "The scouts of Nelson hold three medals for life saving, and for two years in succession they have won the junior ambulance championship of British Columbia."

It was a movement, stated Mr. Foggo, which the League of Nations, placed on record as being the greatest factor toward world peace in the world today.

Fined Hundred Dollars for Driving to Common Danger at the Capital

VICTORIA, Oct. 11.—One of the heaviest fines on record in British Columbia for a breach of the motor traffic regulations was handed down this morning by Acting Magistrate James Forman, in the city police court, when Frank Mann pleaded guilty of a charge of driving to the common danger and was fined $100 or one month in prison. Mann crashed into another automobile, containing several women, one of whom was seriously injured.

FRISCO GUNMEN MURDER FOUR WHO RESIST

Youthful Gunmen Throw Terror Into Residents; Several Wounded Too

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 11.—In a continuance of a reign of violence started by two youthful gunmen, 38 hours ago, two men were killed and two others shot when they resisted robbery tonight.

The slayings followed a series of holdups and robberies Saturday night and Sunday in which two men already had been killed and several others shot down or beaten. Tonight the bandits struck first at San Bruno avenue and Mariposa street. Their victim, Frank Petrovich, attempted to resist the robbery. He was shot through the mouth and died before reaching the hospital.

A few minutes later, Kard Johnson, an attendant at a gasoline station, paid with his life for his effort to prevent the cash till from being rifled. Two unidentified companions of Johnson were wounded.

After both attacks the slayers escaped in an automobile.

Gave $80 Then Killed

Several hours prior to tonight's crimes, Marco Segene, the operator of a soft drink parlor, died of wounds received during the killing pair's first outbreak of banditry. He was robbed of $80 and then shot through the abdomen when he could produce no more. The fourth murder attributed to the gunmen was that of Mario Pagano, who also ran a soft drink establishment. In addition, Clarence Schievo and Constantino Guillen were shot and seriously wounded during the holdup of a pool room early Sunday morning.

REDUCED BEER PRICES SOUGHT

Reduced Licences and Longer Hours Also Requested by Vancouver Parlor Operators

VICTORIA, Oct. 11.—Reduced beer licences, reduced beer prices, longer hours and the sale of bottled beer are the chief demands of Vancouver beer parlor operators, who will meet Attorney-General Manson and Commissioner Hugh Davidson early this week.

The proposal of the beer men, made public today, indicates they are asking for the most drastic kind of changes in the present liquor system.

At the moment the official view appears to be rather critical of the beer licence system as it is working out in Vancouver and other places. It is believed the beer question will be a leading theme of discussion in the legislature at its next session. There is a growing fear in the highest official circles that British Columbia's experiment with private beer sale is not a success.

Two Die in Wild Celebration for St. Louis' Victory

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 11.—The toll of deaths from St. Louis' riotous celebration Sunday and last night of the Cardinals' world series' victory was increased today to two, when Emil Tueck, 15, died from a fractured skull.

The youth was struck by an automobile while throwing paper streamers over telephone wires in the street. The first victim was William Troll, 17, who was killed when he was knocked to the street from the running board of an automobile.

FAMOUS LAWYER SHOT DOWN BY CHICAGO GANG

O'Brien, Former Assistant State Attorney, Probably Fatally Wounded on Street

TWO NOTORIOUS GANG MEMBERS ARE KILLED

Two Wounded; Machine Guns Pour Lead Into Ambushed Victims Near Cathedral

CHICAGO, Oct 11.—W. W. O'Brien, former assistant state attorney, and famous criminal lawyer, was shot and probably fatally wounded, two notorious gangsters were killed and two other men were wounded late today when Chicago's gangland feud which has flared intermittently for two years past, blazed afresh.

The victims were ambushed on the near north side almost in front of Holy Name Cathedral where the eucharistic congress was opened last June and only a short distance from the flower shop of Dionne O'Banion, where this notorious gunman and gangster was ambushed and slain three years ago.

Operating a machine gun from the second-story window of an apartment building, one party of the gang sprayed their victims with lead while a second party riding in an automobile opened fire with rifles and machine guns.

Machine Gun Found

When the slaughter was ended two men lay in the blood spattered street, one dead and the other dying, another crawled to the curb and collapsed and two others limped away and were found in a doctor's office. The facade of the cathedral, which is the see of Cardinal Mundelein, was raked with bullets. A machine gun was found in a nearby alley.

The dead are Earl Weiss, notorious gangster, and gunman, who was associated with O'Bannion, and Paddy Murray, gangster and brother of William Murray, who was with Big Tim Murphy, sentenced to Leavenworth prison for participation in a big mail robbery here a few years ago.

O'Brien was shot five times in the abdomen. He was a former state attorney and one of Chicago's best-known criminal lawyers.

Was Defence Lawyer

After dissolving his partnership with Stewart, O'Brien set up a firm of his own and at present was engaged in the defence of Joe Saltis and Frank Konicll, well-known gang leaders, now on trial for the murder of John Foley, rival gangster.

Besides O'Brien, the others wounded are Sam Pine, alias Peller, and Benny Jacobs. Jacobs was said to be an investigator for O'Brien and Pine was represented to have been associated with one of the various gang factions.

Blazed Into Auto

O'Brien had left the criminal court building, only four blocks from where the shooting occurred, just a short time previously. According to witnesses, an automobile believed to have contained O'Brien and the others killed or wounded, was proceeding north on State street when it was overhauled and forced to the curb by a second car bristling with rifles and sawed off shotguns.

As soon as the gangsters' car drew abreast the guns began to blaze, while from an upstairs window of a building directly opposite the sputter-

Succeeds Meighen

HON. HUGH GUTHRIE

Who was yestery appointed temporary leader of the Conservative party, replacing Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, resigned. A national convention of the party called for next spring will name a permanent leader.

The new leader of the opposition in the commons was born at Guelph 60 years ago. His father, Donald Guthrie, K.C., represented South Wellington in the federal house for six years. Hugh Guthrie was elected in the same riding in 1900. He is one of the four senior members of the house. He has represented South Wellington continuously since then, first as a Liberal under Sir Wilfrid Laurier, then as a Unionist under Sir Robert Borden, and more recently as a Conservative under Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen.

He was appointed solicitor-general in 1917 and became minister of militia in 1920. He held this portfolio until 1921, when the Meighen ministry was defeated at the polls.

Mr. Guthrie represented Canada at the international financial conference at Brussels, in 1920. In the same year he represented Canada on the Imperial war graves commission. He is a Presbyterian, and has resided in Guelph or Ottawa all his life.

'NO FOUNDATION FOR STORIES' OF HIS RETIRMENT

So States Premier Oliver; Might Quit if Health Failed, He Says

VICTORIA, Oct. 11. — Premier Oliver has no intention of retiring. This was made clear by the premier himself today when he was asked about newspaper reports about his impending resignation.

In a brief statement the premier said he did not contemplate retiring for any reason, and that there was no foundation for the report that he would quit politics after the next session of the legislature.

"At my time of life," he stated, "I cannot but realize that if my health should fail it might compel my retirement from the position I hold. During the early part of this year, I suffered considerably from neuritis. I am, however, pleased to say that this has almost entirely disappeared, my present health is very good, and I have not in contemplation the probability of retirement from any other cause. So that I may say, as far as I am concerned, there is no foundation for the stories."

Meighen in Moved Language Thanks His Ardent and Devoted Supporters in Statement Concerning Resignation

OTTAWA, Oct. 11.—The following statement concerning the resignation of Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen was given out at Conservative headquarters today:

"Mr. Meighen's statement was simple and brief.

"He referred to the circumstances under which he assumed leadership and reviewed the three contests which had intervened. The Conservative party, he said, was historical, and must ever remain the great national party of Canada, and as such its strength must be drawn from every province and every section of our people. There must be unity behind its leader if such universal strength and power for service was to be attained. It was his duty, Mr. Meighen emphasized, to contribute everything in his power to bring about that harmony and unity of action necessary to success.

"After the contest in 1921, he submitted his resignation, at the same time he placed his services at the disposal of the party. On this occasion it was his conviction that the best interests of all concerned could be promoted by his retirement.

"It was, he said, his desire to bring about to the utmost, circumstances conducive to the advantage of his successor, and he urged the conference to take no step which would weaken the hands of him who was, from this on, to have the great responsibility of leadership. Everything that could be done within his power to advance the interests of the party would be done.

"Mr. Meighen referred in moved language to the ardent and devoted support he had always had in the commons, and expressed his gratitude to the friends of the party in every province, who had done so much to ensure its success. He thanked with especial earnestness those who immediately after the late elections generously offered him their seats if he would continue in the post of leader."

HON. H. GUTHRIE IS CONSERVATIVE PARTY LEADER

Appointed Temporary Leader, Filling Position Vacated by Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen

IS CHOICE OF FOUR MEMBERS NOMINATED

Try to Keep Meighen; Two Resolutions in Eulogy of Meighen Are Passed

OTTAWA, Oct. 11. — Hon. Hugh Guthrie, K.C., M.P.-elect for South Wellington, Ont., was today elected leader of the opposition in the house of commons for the forthcoming session. A caucus of Conservative senators and members-elect chose him as their house leader pending the national party convention which will be called next year to elect a permanent leader in succession to Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen.

Mr. Meighen's resignation was considered by a caucus assembled here today of Conservative senators and Conservative candidates in the last election, both the elected and defeated. First Armand Lavergne, K.C., who ran in Montmagny in the Conservative interests declared that Mr. Meighen was the most acceptable leader in his province. In this he was supported by delegates from other provinces. Finally Mr. Meighen asked that his resignation be accepted as final. The gathering adopted resolutions of regret and left it to a committee of elected members to decide on details for the national convention.

Willing to "Fill Gap"

Senators and members then held a meeting and elected Mr. Guthrie temporary leader. In a brief statement afterward, Mr. Guthrie said that he had been asked to "fill the gap," and had consented to do so. He realized, he said, that there were several people who might have made a more satisfactory leader. He had not anticipated the call, but was willing to undertake the task since his confreres wished him to.

The caucus adopted two resolutions in eulogy of Mr. Meighen.

Four Nominations

OTTAWA, Oct. 11.—Conservative members-elect of the house of commons tonight appointed Hon. Hugh Guthrie their house leader in the coming session. Mr. Guthrie becomes leader of the opposition until a permanent leader is chosen. A national Conservative convention is to be held next spring to chose a permanent leader for the party.

A committee of elected Conservative representing every province will decide at some future date when and where the convention will be held next year.

In addition to Mr. Guthrie, the following were proposed to the meeting as house leader: Hon. H. H. Stevens, Hon. R. B. Bennett, Hon. Dr. R. J. Manion, C. W. Bell, West Hamilton, Hon. Sir George Perley, Hon. Dr. S. F. Tolmie and C. H. Cahan, (St. Lawrence-St. George).

'INVENTOR' LODGED IN VANCOUVER JAIL

Failed to Pay $14 Board Bill Last February; No Money in His Pocket

VANCOUVER, Oct. 11.—J. W. Saunders, aged 40, who last week announced himself as the "inventor" of a railway safety device for which he already had received $300,000 for the Canadian rights, was lodged in a cell at police headquarters today on a charge of obtaining lodging by false pretenses.

He was arrested on a warrant issued in February of this year by William Lee, who charges him with obtaining lodging to the value of $14. When arrested Saunders had no money on his person.

It is said Saunders admitted staying two days at a rooming house of which Lee was proprietor, but declared he paid him.

Temptation Too Great, Says Judge; Sentences Banker Three Months

KITCHENER, Ont., Oct. 8. — Too great temptation was placed before Harold MacNeil, 20, who stole $32,000 from the Galt branch of the Bank of Montreal, where he was ledger-keeper. This was the opinion of Judge E. J. Kearn, who sentenced MacNeil to three months in the county jail when he pleaded guilty. The small salary paid to MacNeil and the neglect of a senior official in failing to lock the safe of the vault were mentioned by the judge.

RUSSELL SCOTT MAY GET NEW HEARING YET

Flaw Discovered in Last Case When Was Declared Sane; 'I'm Glad,' He Says

CHICAGO, Oct. 11.—Saved once from execution by a governor's reprieve and again by an order from a sanity hearing which averted his death by more than a year, Russell Scott, convicted slayer of Joseph Maurer, drug clerk, found his hope of life rekindled today, four days before the third date set for his hanging. The clerk of the supremt court at Springfield, Ill., issued a writ of error today which if upheld by the court tomorrow would re-open Scott's case for appeal or for a new sanity hearing. The writ was based on the sanity hearing by which Scott was found sane last summer. Previously he was found insane and sent to an asylum, but after a year was found at the new hearing to have regained his reason. The writ was asked by Scott's attorney because the judge, who heard the last sanity proceeding refused a change of venue after listening to court alienists who called Scott sane.

Open New Fight

The court's affirmation of the writ would open the way to a new fight to save the life of Scott. Reversal of it would apparently seal Scott's last hope of escaping execution.

The convicted man, a few years ago, head of a $10,000,000 Canadian corporation projecting a bridge from Windsor, Ont., to Detroit, was arrested in 1924 and convicted of the slaying of Maurer in a holdup. He won a new trial, pleaded guilty and was to have been hanged July 17, 1925, but a hoax telegram, purporting to come from Russel's brother, a participant in the robbery, induced the governor to grant a week's reprieve. A few hours before the second date for the hanging Scott won a sanity hearing and was adjudged insane.

When Scott was brought from his cell in the county jail today to hear the news of the new writ, he believed he was being started to the death cell. "I'm glad," he exclaimed when he learned of the writ. A book I have written will be out this week and I hope it will bring money enough for financing my defence.

SAME MAN BROKE INTO WESTERN GROCERS' SAFE

Chief Long Goes to Fernie and Identifies Bennie, Alias Johnson

LETHBRIDGE WANTS HIM FOR OFFENCES

Has Served Jail Term; Secured $1500 in Latest Haul at Fernie Garage

FERNIE, B. C., Oct. 11.—Upon the arrival here tonight of Chief Thomas H. Long of the city police, Nelson, B. C., the man held in custody here under the name of Charles Johnson, charged with burglarizing the Fernie Motor Car company and stealing therefrom over $500 in cash, together with a number of checks and vouchers, in all to the value of $1500, has been positively identified as Charles Benekariatis, alias Charles Bennie.

He is wanted by the Nelson police on a charge of shopbreaking and theft of $800 in Victory bonds, cash, deeds and share certificates.

The Nelson crime occured in April, 1925, and was known as the safe robbery of the Western Grocers, wholesalers, there.

Chief Anderson of this city, through active work in furnishing detailed description of this man to the authorities of all nearby cities, has speedily identified him as one with a long record of criminal practices.

Served Terms

Johnson, under the name Benekariatis, alias Bennie, has served two terms in Saskatchewan penitentiary in 1921 and 1923 for breaking and entering. He was also convicted at Lethbridge, and is said now to be wanted there for another similar crime.

Before Police Magistrate Henderson here today, under the name of Johnson, the preliminary hearing opened in connection with the Fernie Motor Car company robbery, but was adjourned. So far no charge has been laid in connection with the other garage theft which occurred on the same night as the Motor company.

Chief Anderson is conducting the prosecution, while the accused has refused to be represented by counsel. It is said his parents reside at Bienfait, Sask.

Turdney, a roomer at the hotel, tried to save the boy, but before the father could be separated from his alleged victim, the boy's head was almost severed from his body and Todd's own throat was slashed. The boy died shortly after. Doctors say there is a slight chance for Todd's recovery.

Swallows Cartridges Instead of Capsules Said to Contain Drugs

MONTREAL, Oct. 11.—Edward Williams, 26, given no particular address, is in the Montreal general hospital here with two cartridges in his stomach, swallowed in mistake for capsules containing drugs, police state. Constables who took him into custody, say he was seen to leave two capsules on a window ledge, then go away. The police, as a ruse, replaced the capsules with cartridges wrapped in tin foil. Williams returned, but on seeing the police, swallowed the bullets. When apprehended he denied he had swallowed anything, but when advised of the replacement, agreed the hospital was the best place for him.

10 corns removed

after three Radox footbaths

The great value of Radox for removing corns bodily is not only that Radox enables the corn to be lifted out root and all, but also that the treatment is absolutely painless; no cutting, no caustics, no bulging plasters, no risk whatever of blood poisoning—just a footbath in hot antiseptic oxygenated water, and the corn may be lifted out. Read this letter:

"I had five corns (not callouses) on each foot, and after using Radox Bath Salts as directed for three nights in succession, I was able to walk in perfect comfort. I managed to get the last of my corns right out after the third bath in Radox. Have still got some of the first packet. Can honestly say I had spent dollars on different 'patents,' but nothing but Radox had the desired effect."

When you put your feet into a footbath containing Radox, the salts soften the hard outer layers of the corn and the dead skin (of the corn) combines with the Radox Bath Salts to form a protein salt of the actual corn itself. This dissolves in the water and so loosens the corn that it can be lifted out bodily.

On your way home tonight, buy a package at the druggist's.

SHANGHAIED ON OWN SHIP; MADE TO RUN ARMS

Seamen Forced to Assist Nicaraguan Rebels After Shipping on Trawler

REBELS TAKEN ON IN MEXICO-BOSSED SHIP

Forced to Leave When Trawler Strands; Go Without Food or Pay for Days

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—A tale of having been shanghaied, held prisoner aboard their own ship and forced under penalty of death to transport arms and ammunition for Nicaraguan rebels was told by 13 seamen who arrived here aboard the Panama-Pacific railway liner Cristobal today.

The seamen said they sailed from Brooklyn last June 30 on the trawler Foam for San Diego and first suspected all was not right about the trip when at Puerto, Mexico, on shore leave to find groups of dark skinned men loading packing cases in the Foam's hold.

They questioned the captain, according to second assistant engineer, John Holland, and were persuaded to remain with the ship until it reached Blue Fields, Nic., where he promised them they would be paid off and given passage to New York, according to their story.

Rather than be stranded in Puerto, Mexico, they accepted. Shortly before sailing, they said, about 20 "passengers" came aboard, and these shortly after the ship had cleared the port doffed their civilian clothing and appeared in the uniforms of Nicaraguan rebels.

In General's Uniforms

Two were in the uniforms of generals, the seamen said, and swaggered about the deck brandishing pistols in the faces of the Foam's crew. On the morning of August 15 the Foam anchored three miles off Progresso, Mexico, near the coast of Nicaragua, they said, and machine guns were mounted and the United States flag taken down. Then began a series of activities in gun running. The ship was ordered run alongside the dock at Bragman's Bluff, they said, while the town was being attacked by rebels from land and sea. Bullets whizzed over their heads, they asserted and then the town finally was captured by the rebels.

Ship Is Wrecked

Their ship was ordered to Rio Grande and then to Blue Fields Bluff, where heavy fighting was in progress. After a few hours' sailing the Foam drew off and when ordered to return ran aground on the false Blue Fields rocks, said the seamen.

No longer of use to the rebels, the seamen said the vessel was abandoned and the crew left, practically without food to shift for themselves. For three weeks, they asserted, they lived on coffee, a little rice and cocoanuts which they picked up on the beach nearby.

Finally the United States cruiser Rochester was sighted and eight of the crew rowed in a life boat eight miles to where she was riding at anchor. The men told their story to the ship's commander and asked to be sent home. None of the 13 seamen had received any pay for their services, they said.

Stomach Trouble Gone, Bakes 40 Pies

"I was a nervous wreck with stomach trouble. Had dizzy spells and could scarcely walk. I began taking Adlerika, and now I run a restaurant and bake 40 pies a day. When my friends ask how I do it, I tell them about Adlerika."—Mrs. L. Amrol.

Adlerika differs from most medicines because it acts upon BOTH upper and lower bowel. It gives the system a REAL cleansing, and clears out old poisons which usually cause sour, gassy stomach, nervousness, sleeplessness, headache. Just ONE spoonful stops GAS, and relieves that full, bloated feeling so that you can eat better and sleep better. Even if bowels move daily, Adlerika brings out much additional poison which you never guessed was in your system and which may have long caused trouble. No matter what you have tried for stomach and bowels, Adlerika will surprise you. At leading druggists.

One Mother Says:

When giving your child medicine of any kind, first give him a teaspoonful of crushed ice, then the medicine, followed by another teaspoon or more of crushed ice.

The ice renders the tongue cold and the medicine tastes less bitter after taking the ice. This little ceremony in itself has a psychological effect on the child, distracting his attention from the thought of the "awful" medicine.

evangelist's. Mrs. Wiseman said she spent between seven and nine nights in the McPherson home, sleeping in the evangelist's own bed.

Mrs. McPherson had discussed an affidavit to be made by the "little lady" known as "Miss X." Mrs. Sielaff said, and in a notebook she took suggestions for the affidavit.

"Miss X." arrived from Philadelphia, Mrs. Sielaff said, and was driven to Salinas, Cal., where Mrs. Kennedy had arranged to have the affidavit drawn up in the office of Judge Bardin. Roland Rich Woolley, attorney for the evangelist, was present in Judge Bardin's office on August 15 when "Miss X. was brought in and the affidavit drawn up by Judge Bardin, Woolley and Mrs. Sielaff, the witness said.

Swore to Affidavit

Mrs. Sielaff said she swore to an affidavit., one copy of which was sent by airplane mail to "Mr. Martin" in Chicago. The affidavit stated that her sister was the woman at Carmel under the name of Mrs. McIntyre, and that she (Mrs. Wiseman-Sielaff) was attempting to "right a great wrong."

Mrs. Sielaff then identified the "Miss X." affidavit. It stated that the signer was "McIntyre's companion at Carmel and that she wore her hair long at the time."

Court adjourned with Mrs. Wiseman-Sielaff's story uncompleted. She had not detailed the steps leading up to her statement made on August 19 to District Attorney Keyes in which she declared her younger sister was the Carmel cottage occupant, nor her subsequent arrest and confession that her statement was untrue and had been framed at the direction of Mrs. McPherson and her mother.

Hubbub in Paris as Queen Packs for Her Trip Across Atlantic

PARIS, Oct. 11.—Queen Marie of Rumania and her entourage, today rushed through their last minute preparations for their departure for North America tomorrow.

On the eve of the queen's departure for the new world, her suite at the Hotel Ritz, was what more ordinary tourists are given to describing as a mad-house. Dr. Grisdale would be expected to take part in the discussions, it was stated.

Peter-Piperisms Proudly Predominate Preceding Puzzles

LONDON, Oct. 11.—Now that the crossword puzzle, which swept across England from America leaving a trail of thumbed dictionaries in its wake, has spent its force, England has turned to peter-piperisms for solace.

Peter-piperisms are alliterative sentences containing at least eight and not more than 12 words, each word of which begins with the same letter.

"Since short skirts still seem stylish, silk stockings should not sag," is the contribution of one expert. Another hope: "May many more manly miners migrate, marry methodical maids, make much money."

Other tongue twisters are: "Mr. Manager, money might make Maud marry my miserable Max—Max's mother." "Stephen shyly stroking Sylvia's shining shingle, seemingly surmises smiling Sylvia's single."

'GRAY TERROR'

The Astonishing Adventures of the Gray Phantom

By HERMAN LANDON

(Copyright by Street & Smith Corp. Serialized by Ledger Syndicate.)

Synopsis of Preceding Installments

THE GRAY PHANTOM, hero of many miraculous near-criminal adventures, is lured from his quiet retreat near New York by

THE DUKE, his old enemy, whom he had been instrumental in sending to prison. Reaching his agents through underground wires, the Duke has schemed to present a perfect case of guilt against

HELEN HARDWICK, sweetheart of the Gray Phantom, and she is wanted by

LIEUT. CULLIGORE, of the police, for the murder of

PAUL WARD, a wealthy rogue. The Phantom is also being tracked down in connection with the murder of MRS. SLADER, the Ward housekeeper, who was found knifed in the back the next day.

Before the police can arrest Helen, members of the Duke's gang spirit her away to a deserted place outside the city, and send

FAY WINTON, a vampire type of woman, to deliver the Duke's ultimatum to the Gray Phantom. The plan is to keep Helen a hidden prisoner, not to be released until the Gray Phantom has used his extraordinary ability to rescue the Duke from the penitentiary. Ten days are given the Phantom to perform this act before Helen is put to death.

Desperately, the Phantom tries to find a way out. Through

AMBROSE MARR, eccentric acquaintance, with whom he had shared past adventures, he learns that the only one of the Duke's gang who knows Helen's whereabouts is

MR. EHANON ("no name" spelled backward), the Duke's right-hand man, who may be recognized by his fondness for playing weird violin music. Craftily, Marr tells the Phantom that this mysterious personage is Fay Winton. Before he can act on this knowledge, the police surround the house and Marr hides the Phantom in an underground chamber. From the hidden room he is kidnaped by members of the Duke's gang and taken to the deserted house where Helen is held. Here

RED MAGEE, a brutal criminal, tortures Helen until her screams force the Gray Phantom to accede to the Duke's demands.

Doped and brought back to the city unconscious, his first act is to seek out Fay Winton and force her to tell the location of Helen's hiding place.

But, after the severest sort of test, the Phantom is convinced that she is not Mr. Emanon, after all.

Hoping to find some solution to the situation, the Phantom explores the hidden room from which he was kidnaped. Hearing some one in the passage, he follows the footsteps until he enters a gorgeously furnished room. There, on the center table, lies a violin.

"Like old times," drawled Swell in a tone of pleasant anticipation. "Between you and me, I'll be glad when the Duke is back on the job. Mr. Emanon, whoever he is, is all right, but it gives a guy a woozy feeling to take orders from somebody he never sees."

"No doubt, Swell, but Mr. Emanon has his reasons for remaining anonymous. You will have to swallow your woozy feelings and take one more order from him through me. It is his wish that you put the Igloo in readiness for the Duke's arrival."

"More and more like old times! So the Duke is going to hang out at the same old place?"

"For a while at least. He'll be safe there while the search is going on. Better go there this afternoon, Swell, and try to make the place look just as it did before the Duke was sent up. It will make him feel at home."

"I get you. Anything else?"

Miss Winton did not answer immediately. By some strange paradox of mental reactions, the things he had heard affected the Phantom like a revivifying shock. His suspicions had been confirmed; he was no longer floundering in the dark. Certainty, terrible though it was, was less tormenting than suspense. The conversation in the next room had made the situation vividly, brutally clear. He knew positively now that the Duke meant to violate his promise, thereby releasing the Phantom from all obligations imposed by his sense of honor. So positive were the conspirators that he would liberate the Duke, that already they were talking of putting the Igloo in readiness. He had heard of the Igloo, the secret retreat of the Duke, but neither he nor the police had ever obtained the faintest inkling of where it was located.

His mind was clear at last. Now that he knew the worst, the feverish rage that had burned in his veins was abating. He could breathe more freely again; the choking sensation of doubt and fear was gone. Already the outlines of a plan were shaping themselves in his mind. The outlook was black enough, but he had one advantage. The man and woman talking in the next room had not the faintest suspicion that he was listening to every word. Only a stroke of luck had guided the Phantom through the passage, and they had no reason to fear an eavesdropper.

"Just one thing more," Miss Winton was saying, and now he perceived an indefinable change in her tone. "Tell me, Swell, do you know where Miss Hardwick is being kept?"

Swell spoke as if the question had given him a gentle jolt. "No, and I don't care particularly to know. There's such a thing as being too wise."

"Right, Swell. I don't want to know, either. I just wondered. Yesterday afternoon you received a report from Cram which you transmitted to me."

"Sure I did, but Cram knows how to relay his messages so they can't be traced."

"I know, Swell. You may hear from Cram in the morning again. Tell him from me that Miss Hardwick is not to be treated with unnecessary harshness until further orders."

A muffled exclamation sounded in the next room. "But Mr. Emanon——"

"You heard me, Swell," interrupted Miss Winton evenly. "It will be well for you when the Duke returns, if in this particular instance you obey me instead of Mr. Emanon."

"All right," said Swell hastily, "what you say goes. I'll tip Cram off to what you said."

"Don't forget." Her tone softened a little. "I don't suppose you understand my feelings in the matter, Swell, and it isn't necessary that you should. Death is sometimes inevitable, while torture is crude and unnecessary. I abominate crudities; they are a blotch on existence. Owing to circumstances that have come up, Miss Hardwick must be put out of the way, but she mustn't be subjected to needless suffering."

Again the Phantom's fingers clutched convulsively at the edge of the table. He marveled at the complex nature of this woman who talked coolly of murder, but drew the line at torture. He could understand the state of mind that would make such a distinction, but he had not looked for it in Miss Winton.

"Gosh!" muttered Sammie the Swell. "So little cutie is going to be bumped off. I thought Mr. Emanon——"

"What you thought makes no difference, Swell. The plans have been changed. In the beginning it was the Duke's intention to have Miss Hardwick turned over to the police as soon as he was free. That Ward murder was a rather malodorous affair, and Miss Hardwick is hopelessly compromised. The Duke could imagine no worse punishment for the Phantom than to have her involved in a scandal of that sort. He was right, but recent developments have necessitated a change of program. Know what has happened to Topeka Jimmie?"

"No," said Swell in a mildly startled tone. "I ain't seen Jimmie since Tuesday night."

"There is a reason. Topeka Jimmie is dead."

Swell gave a husky exclamation.

"I shall tell you how it happened," continued Miss Winton. "It may be a lesson to you, though I trust you will never need it. It appears Topeka Jimmie had been disgruntled for some time, imagining he was being unfairly discriminated against and not getting his share of the proceeds. He concealed his feelings and waited for an opportunity to get revenge. Jimmie happened to be one of the few who knew where Miss Hardwick was kept, and that gave him a chance to vent his petty spite, and, as he expected, put away a tidy little sum against a damp and dreary day. The other night he went to the place where Miss Hardwick is confined, expecting to take her away. He was caught in time and—well, as I told you, Topeka Jimmie is dead."

"Served him right," muttered Sammie fervently. "But I don't see how he expected to line his pokes by pulling a stunt like that."

"Oh, Jimmie was clever—a bit too clever for his own good. He thought he would try the time-honored pastime of playing both ends against the middle. His idea was to get even with the Duke's organization by taking Miss Hardwick away, and then settle an old grudge against the Phantom by forcing him to pay a high ransom for her release. There is a rumor to the effect that the Phantom is very wealthy, but I think it is grossly exaggerated. The Phantom was always a prodigal, throwing away with one hand what he took with the other. He's made a few lucky speculations since he turned over a new leaf, and his gardens are giving him a modest income, but he is not a rich man. Jimmie was mistaken."

"I never thought Jimmie would pull a raw one like that," commented Swell.

"And I am telling you this in case you should be tempted to do likewise." explained Miss Winton softly. "Jimmie's interference was an unfortunate thing for Miss Hardwick. One of our men caught them conversing through a thin board partition, and Jimmie told her Mr. Emanon's real name. You see how awkward that makes it for us, Swell. Mr. Emanon is extremely valuable to the Duke, but his value will be gone the moment he loses his anonymity. Under the circumstances there is only one thing to do."

"Well, there are better worlds than this," declared Swell in tones of mock solemnity.

The Phantom, smiling grimly, turned away. He had learned enough, and he fancied the colloquy in the next room was drawing to a close. He must disappear before discovery came, not because he feared an encounter, but because to be found now might be fatal. He glanced at the violin on the table, and a sardonic twinkle appeared in his eyes. The cards in his desperate game with the Duke had been shuffled in the last 20 minutes. The odds had piled up against him, but he would still win, although he would use different strategy.

He looked for the exit in the wall, remembering that a slight pressure had opened it for him, and now his eyes fell on a tall full-length portrait occupying a position at the exact point where he had entered the room. The man in the painting was almost as tall as himself, with a slight stoop to his shoulders, a neatly trimmed beard covering the lower portion of his face, while the deep-set eyes, with an expression of mingled arrogance and greed, glared at him.

He pushed one side of the frame, and the picture pivoted noiselessly on its axis. He reflected, as he started down the dark stairs, that there was an oddly symbolic touch in the circumstance that the door of escape consisted of a picture of the Duke.

Economies that result in lower Prices

Every day one meets with object lessons in the economies of volume buying.

Cigars by the box cost much less than if bought one by one.

Discounts of a cent or so for purchasing in pairs and dozens, is the housewife's well-known measure of economy.

Imagine, then, the savings possible to General Motors of Canada, buying in hundreds of tons, thousands of gallons, millions of feet!

Steel, nickel, copper and brass; wire, glass, lumber and paints; leather and various fabrics; all these General Motors of Canada buys in vast quantities from the home market . . . Canada.

Naturally the finest products of Canadian mines and forests, the toughest hides from Canadian herds, the choicest weaves of Canadian looms, the best materials from Canadian factories and laboratories, are available to this great Canadian institution.

Naturally, this results in lower costs and lower prices—for those economies are effected in every phase of building General Motors of Canada cars, from the enameling of fenders and the manufacture of radiators, to the construction and upholstery of the Canadian-built Fisher bodies that are used on Canadian-built General Motors cars.

Couple with this obvious result of tremendous buying power, the manufacturing, selling and distributing economies of huge volume—

—add the supporting revenue of enormous exports to the Empire across the seas.

—and the clear conclusion explains why, in the face of good wages to the superior craftsmen who build its cars, General Motors of Canada can continue to give motor car values, unsurpassed if equalled, elsewhere in all the world.

The Attorney-General in the City Hall

Fernie's city council is asking the provincial government what the cost would be of having the city policed by the provincial police, the object being twofold—in order that the council might be well informed, and, in the event of the cost of provincial policing being substantially lower than civic policing, in order to save the citizens money.

Nelson's city council asked some time ago for similar information, and it is now under preparation presumably, with the aid of cost figures for many years past furnished by the city.

Of course, "policing," in the ordinary sense, is only a part of the job of a civic police department.

Just how satisfactory it will be to have police departments run from Victoria—run, let us assume, with the utmost efficiency—only experience can teach, and quite a few municipalities are now getting such experience.

How will a liaison be maintained between the city administration generally and the provincial police?

Will a mayor or a city council be able to do more than express wishes? Will there be formality about obtaining the doing of any little thing outside the prescribed list? Will officers controlled ultimately by Victoria be a flexible force, really as fully serviceable to interior cities as their present directly controlled men?

To establish the attorney-general at the city hall would be an enormous departure.

Under such a system, probably more crooks would be caught in the province. Probably every official, formal duty would be well done.

But many valuable duties performed by the police are not official and formal. They are matters that arise from day to day, within the cognizance of the mayor. How far would these be done, or how far could they be done, by a force not in any way accountable to local authority?

Would the obvious disadvantages of placing the attorney-general in the city hall be counterbalanced by others sufficiently to make the experiment advisable?

An Able President Asked to Resign

Like many another university president before him, President Suzallo of Washington university, whose advent to the Pacific coast was hailed only a few years ago as an acquisition, has been asked to resign.

The reason given for the action is that in the opinion of the regents, the duty of a president is to administer policies, not to formulate them. In holding that a president should have something to do with formulating policy, President Suzallo seems to have stumbled on the same rock as one Woodrow Wilson.

It appears to be the view of many persons in the neighboring state that a state university should be responsive to the hand that feeds it—the state treasury. From the day he took office, Governor Hartley, who has been a pretty good all-round smasher, has been "tying into" President Suzallo, without getting him to say "Uncle" on demand. In his effort to bring President Suzallo to heel, the governor has had the support of the Spokane Spokesman-Review. Finally, the governor relieved of their duties the regents supporting the famous Suzallo, and appointed new ones, from which event has dated the certainty that the sword would fall.

Will this procured retirement permanently injure the career of the militant university leader? Or will it merely transfer him into the field of politics, as did the enforced retirement of Woodrow Wilson from the presidency of Princeton?

Out of a job, Woodrow Wilson was offered the Democratic nomination for governor of New Jersey, and he easily redeemed that state.

Before he was reelected, as he duly was, he was demanded for political tours by all sections of the United States, and brought a freshness to the statement of Democratic doctrine that caught the country, which would probably have elected him even without a Republican split.

As it was, he wound up with eight years as chief executive of the United States.

If Governor Hartley should run into ex-President Suzallo in the political field, it would be a very interesting sequel to the event just announced, and, in a way, poetic justice.

Mrs. V. V.—Have you crochet directions for infants' sandals?

Answer—Infants' Sandals—Use two balls of Saxony (three-fold) and a size two bone or celluloid crochet hook. Toe—Chain seven, turn five S. C. in five chs., two S. C. in sixth, five S. C. in other side of five chs., chain one and turn. Now increase one st. at each end, joining each around with a slip st., till you have 38 sts. in round, eleven ridges. Then omit five sts. for instep and work back and forth for 12 rows.

Next row work 12 S. C., decrease by working two sts. at one, one S. C. in next st., another decrease, and finish with 14 S. C. Continue to decrease in this way till nine sts. are left on each side, then sew up back. Crochet one S. C. in each st. around sandal and one round of D. C. Cuff—Next round, starting at center back, work one st. in each double crochet to side of instep two S. C. in corner st., five S. C. across instep, two S. C. in other corner and one S. C. in each st. to back. Repeat this round five times and finish with one round of crochet silk as follows: * One S. C. in one S. C., then one S. C. in next stitch but worked through round below. Repeat from *. Run ribbon through D. C. round.

Bride—If you were dreaming of building a small home, what finish would you choose for the bathroom walls?

Answer—Tile is fine for walls as well as for floors. Or sanitas for walls and linoleum for floor. Or paint is a good wall finish with hardwood floors spar-varnished. All three finishes are washable and sanitary. Watch this column for my Saturday (October 16) article on Planning the Bathroom, as it may interest you.

New-at-Housekeeping — What make of vacuum cleaner do you advise me to buy?

Answer—I cannot give trade names in this column, as that is advertising. Anyway, it would be so difficult to say that any one is especially superior to the others! There are so many fine vacuum cleaners on the market today. Have a number of them demonstrated for you. Some have the motor-driven brush, some have suction with friction-driven brush, and others have pure suction. To get best results from the pure suction machine, one should run it rather more quickly than the others. Personally, I like a fairly lightweight cleaner which I can carry upstairs easily.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

Effects of Lack of Sunshine

Almost daily you are reading about the remarkable results obtained by the ultra violet rays obtained by artificial light, and their effect upon the growth and workings of the body.

I spoke once before about the effect of these rays on the growth of chickens, and how they increased the egg-laying power of the hens.

A French research man has been experimenting with these rays on young rabbits. There were five rabbits in the litter and they were born and kept further in a dark cellar. The two strongest were made "controls," as it is called, that is they were not subjected to these ultra violet rays. The other or weaker three young rabbits were treated for about five weeks with three treatments or exposures per week. The five animals received the same food in equal amounts.

The rabbits that were given the ultra violet ray treatment grew in a normal manner despite the fact that they were kept in the dark cellar. The other two rabbits, which were the strongest at birth, did not gain in weight, in fact their weight became less, and they were unquestionally weak and sick.

These scientists believe that these rays manufactured ozone, which is really air in its purest form, and that this counteracted the darkness and lack of ventilation in the cellar.

Further, as most of the workings of the body are now thought to be due to electrical reactions, the ultra violet rays actually increased the amount of electricity in the body.

And still further, the little glands in the body that control nutrition and growth were likewise stimulated, so that the animals overcame the handicaps of the dark cellar.

And the lesson?

Just the same old one, that sunshine is what makes everything grow, and therefore your children and you also, should get your share daily. The day hasn't come when we should sit in darkness or in ill-ventilated rooms and try to make up for this by the use of the ultra violet rays. These rays are for those who are sick or shut in.

You and I need not only the sunshine itself but the change, the variety that goes with the outdoors. The mind needs this as much as the body.

W. F. Rohr of Woodward Technical high school, Toledo, will be professor of mechanical drawing at Defiance College.

BRIAND HAS COOK 30 YEARS

PARIS, Oct. 11.—Premier Briand has retained his cook over a period of 30 years. On each of his 12 sojourns in various ministries, M. Briand took the faithful cook along with him. She enjoys a high reputation among the diplomats and statesmen who attend banquets given at the Quai d'Orsay and has become such an important person that she was recently interviewed.

"Monsieur Briand may be in the right place at the foreign affairs," she volunteered, "but I would hate to have him go to the finances."

"Why," asked the interviewer.

"He never checks up my own accounts," she replied.

EMPIRE TRADE PROMOTION IS VITAL; BRUCE

Australian Premier in London; Mutual Cooperation Should Solve Matter

LONDON, Oct. 11.—Premier Stanley M. Bruce of the Australian commonwealth, arrived in London today to attend the Imperial conference which opens on October 19, and directly after his arrival he met a body of newspaper men.

Premier Bruce attended the previous Imperial conference three years ago.

Possibly public opinion has now been educated to the extent that the delegates to the conference this year will be able to accomplish something on a larger scale.

The commonwealth premier had a written statement ready for the press. He stressed the following:

Can Be Solved

"So far as tariffs are concerned," he said, "I say the promotion of Empire trade is vital, and I believe we can solve the problem by mutual cooperation, without a fiscal controversy. People get roused so much over the fiscal question. What, in the name of heaven, could I do to turn Britain protectionist, even if I wanted to? However, there is no objection to thrashing the matter out at the conference."

The question of the dominions' relations with outside powers, Premier Bruce admitted, was a somewhat difficult one. He thought it would be better perhaps, if the issue were never raised, but there would be no possible objections to the conference discussing and defining the position to which, by evolution, the dominions had arrived. However, he was totally opposed to the idea that there ought to be some drastic alteration by a written constitution for the Empire.

Ask Premier King

Premier Bruce submitted to a series of questions as follows, in the form of question and answer:

"What about the dominions having representation at Washington?"

"We have not appointed a minister there yet. You had better ask Mr. MacKenzie King about that."

"Do you favor resident ministers of the dominions in London?"

"I do not think it would work."

"Will Australia be a signatory to the Locarno treaty?"

"That will have to be discussed at the conference."

"Have you any views with regard to the position of governor-general?"

"Yes, quite a lot, but I'm not going to tell you now; it would take too long."

PIONEERS RECALL THE CROP FAILURE

Old Fort Garry Pioneers of 50 Years Ago Tell of Hardships; Reunion Banquet

WINNIPEG, Oct. 11.—Fifty years ago the few agriculturalists of the old Fort Garry community, now Winnipeg, were engaged in preparing the first shipment of wheat from western Canada to Ontario, following a crop failure in that province.

The shipment was made on October 12, 1876, and tonight at a banquet attended by pioneers of the province, both from the agricultural and business sections, the men who handled the first grain shipment told of the experiences of the old days, the hardships and trials of the pioneer "farmer of the plains."

Serious Crop Failure

There was a serious failure of the spring crop in the province of Ontario in 1876. Seed wheat was urgently needed, and R. C. Steele, founder of the firm of Steele, Brigg Seed company of Toronto, was selected to make the long, ardousu journey to the Red River valley in order to obtain a supply. He sought 5000 bushels, but was only able to obtain 800. He came via St. Paul to Fisher's Landing, the end of the railway at that time, and made the balance of the trip by steamer and "lumber wagon." The wheat was shipped to Fisher's Landing by steamer and thence by rail to Duluth, to Sarnia by steamer and again by rail to Toronto.

Guests of honor at tonight's banquet include R. R. Keith, Winnipeg, who helped prepare the grain for shipment, and H. S. Paterson, long a resident of Winnipeg but formerly of Toronto, who distributed the wheat to Ontario farmers.

Local musicians provided the music, these being Mrs. E. Applewhaite and Jack Thompson, piano; W. Maguire, cornet; and H. Middleton, bagpipes.

WOMEN'S AUXILIARY PLANS TEA AND SALE

WILLOW POINT, Oct. 11.—The regular monthly meeting of the local branch of the women's auxiliary was held at the women's institute building last week, Mrs. B. Townshend, president, in the chair. SELL M'INTOSH EASTERN STATES SAYS CONSTABLE

Don't Push Finest Apple Upon the Unappreciative Prairie

WANTS RECIPROCAL TRADE ARRANGEMENTS

United States Market Wealthy and Discriminating, He Says

To the Editor of The Daily News:

Sir—It is a doleful report which you publish in your issue of last week from the Associated sales manager on the existing apple marketing situation. The fruit business is ever changing but it is some relief to note that amongst all his troubles Mr. McNair has no grievance that the protection the fruit industry enjoys is not high enough, or that the famous anti-dump is not functioning properly.

Sees Home Market Gone

A solution for the virtual disappearance of a home market is not easy to find. The field for the further protection of the industry is not yet exhausted; luxury taxes on imported fruits, embargoes even are yet untried, or we might even take these bumps, and wait till Canada populates and consumption increases. The fact appears to be that hundreds of cars of McIntosh apples are in the hands of the regular shippers when they should be in the mouths of the consumers, or on their way there.

It is timely to ask, therefore, just how long we—not necessarily Mr. McNair—are to continue to place the finest dessert apple produced in the British Empire, into the most unreliable, least discerning and as often as not the most impoverished market on the North American continent.

Creston Fruit in New York

In 1920 the policy of Charles L. Lowe, *then sales manager of the Co*operative Growers, placed Macs in the eastern United States markets successfully. The following year was disastrous comparatively. Since then no sales manager has dared do more than nibble at the outlet. Had the United States large discriminating markets been consistently followed and fostered. I venture to say the grower would not now be bewailing the prairie conditions.

With the production of McIntosh apples nearing 50 per cent of the whole, with none of the variety produced in the States to compare and compete except for a few hundred cars west of the Great Lakes, it surely promises more for the British Columbia fruit grower to grow that apple which he can grow well, and place in such markets under reciprocal arrangements, than to take the bumps of economic conditions in home markets which are now ever recurring and perhaps intensifying.

GUY CONSTABLE.

HILARITY IS KEYNOTE OF GYRO MEETING

Matthew Arranges Program of Laughs; Speakers Amusing

In its meeting at last night's luncheon, the Nelson Gyro club enjoyed long and oft-repeated laughs in its meeting in the Recreation club last night.

E. G. Matthew was in charge of the program. The first part of the entertainment consisted of each member present getting up and telling the club just why the man on his right was his friend. Many and varied were the "excuses" and reasons offered.

Clyde Emory spoke briefly on the growth of the Gyro organization, stating it had grown from a single club to many, covering Canada and the United States.

Speakers Can't Proceed

But the most popular speaker of the evening was Fred Ewing. In his opening remarks on the "Origin of the Gyro Club" he started his audience in gales of laughter. His eloquence was checked, however, by the roars of hilarity, and in the end he was forced to sit down unheard.

Joe Holland was called on to speak on "Evidences of Friendly Service," but his first instance so amused the Gyros that he was unable to proceed.

History of Club

Harry Ferguson told of the "History of the Local Club." He stated it was started at a meeting in the old Eli's cafe, when a crowd of young fellows, called together by Ned Hanley, elected one man, W. M. Myers, who then selected a friend. The friend in his turn selected another friend until 25 had been selected. Then the club came into being, and there were now about 40 members.

Mr. Hanley, who is also district governor, spoke on district clubs. He stated this district, called District No. 8, was second to none in Gyro international. Every member of every club in the district was a 100 per cent man, and although the district was at present the smallest in Gyro international, in time it would be the largest.

Matter Referred to Executive; Will Have Speaker Apple Week

Reporting to the Rotary club yesterday, A. A. Perrier and Howard Bush, appointed last week to ascertain how the club could aid the coming Nelson track meet, stated those in charge merely wished the support of Rotarians by their attendance.

It was pointed out that last year the club gave a cup for the boys' grand aggregate. The matter was left in the hands of the directors to deal with.

Accept Offers of Speaker

Announcement of a "National Apple Week," commencing October 30, was made in a letter from the Canadian horticultural council. An offer to have a speaker address the Nelson club on the apple question in Canada during that week was accepted.

Hugh McLaren of the Vancouver Rotary club brought the greetings of the coast club.

LAND TAX SALE DATE SET BACK

Delinquent Lands Will Be Sold by Sturgeon Upon November 10

Tax Collector W. J. Sturgeon, for the Nelson assessment district, has been advised from Victoria that the tax sale of lands in the district on which provincial taxes are delinquent has been set back from the original date, October 13 to November 10.

The date for the tax sale of delinquent mineral claims remains unchanged at November 1.

Although not advised on that point, Mr. Sturgeon thinks the changed date for the land tax sale probably is being made to apply all over the province.

Greater Development at Sullivan May Lead to Another Consolidated Plant

EAST KOOTENAY SIGNS POINT TO EXPANSION

Peak Not Reached Yet; Power Line in Connection With New Development

CRANBROOK, B. C., Oct. 11.—The news of the impending expansions to the Consolidated company's plant at Trail does not come as a surprise to those who are following the progress of the company's operations in this district closely. During the past few months there have been tremendous jumps in production from Kootenay and Slocan mines, which has meant a corresponding increase in custom ore at the Trail smelter. This, along with other causes, brought about a perceptible slackening up at the Sullivan mine, and it became obvious that extensions would be made at Trail to take care of the output of the Sullivan. Similarly, completion of the new addition to the concentrator here, which will add another 1000 tons a day to its capacity, has been held up because of the inability of the machine shops at Trail to fabricate some of the required machinery.

More Expansion

The additional power line to Kimberley from Cranbrook is obviously connected with the proposed policy of further expansion and the establishment of the ball mill at Moyie is regarded as welcome news in this district, assisting still more in the rehabilitation of that old town.

Opinion is expressed that still further growth in the company's sphere of operations is pending, and Marysville, three miles from Kimberley, is looked upon as a favorable site for a new program of development.

Whether there will be a miniature Trail spring up there to take the local concentrates is not known, but signs are not wanting that, gigantic as the company's operations are at present and the scale at which they are maintained, the peak has even yet not been reached.

Heric Funeral at Cranbrook Largely Attended by Friend

CRANBROOK, B. C., Oct. 11.—The funeral of Peter Paul Heric of Yahk and Erickson, which took place on Sunday afternoon from the Catholic church, was very largely attended by friends of the family. He was well known in the East Kootenay. He was a native of Berlin, Ont., and was 59 years of age. In addition to the widow, he is survived by a grownup family of five—three sons, Fred, Lee and Jack, and two daughters, Mrs. B. Markle, Bull River, and Mrs. D. Patenall, Yahk. In addition there are three brothers and five sisters surviving.

VANCOUVER MAN IS ACQUITTED BIGAMY

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

The Young Mother.

The ills of infants and children should be so well known to the youngest of mothers that a reminder or a repetition of the symptoms of illness seems unnecessary, yet there are some mothers who overlook a feverish condition, a little colic, or a disposition to be irritable. If not corrected they may lead to serious sickness. And to correct them, to bring Baby back to its happy self, is so easy by the use of Castoria—a medicine prepared just for infants and children. It will regulate the bowels (not force them), aid digestion and so bring quiet and rest.

Fletcher's Castoria has been doing this for over 30 years; regulating the stomach and bowels of infants and children. It has replaced the nauseating Castor Oil, so-called Soothing Syrups, poisonous Paregoric and other vicious concoctions in the homes of true and honest mothers—mothers who love their children.

Those mothers will give their babies foods and medicines especially prepared for infants and children.

COLUMBIA WINS FIRST RACE BY MINUTE MARGIN

Captain Pine Beats Henry Ford by Minute and Four Seconds on 40-Mile Course

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Oct. 11.—In one of the greatest races sailed in many years, Captain Ben Pine today brought the schooner Columbia home over a 40-mile course just one minute and four seconds ahead of Captain Clayton Morrissey's Henry Ford. Tonight in the series of three contests for the fishing fleet championship, two silver cups and a purse of $3000, the Columbia held a decided edge and Gloucester knew it had two fleet vessels and two cunning sailing masters.

It was a battle of skippers and today was Ben Pine's day. But the result was in doubt to the minute the leader crossed the finish line. Gloucester remained in doubt tonight as to their sailing qualities so closely contested was the race.

Won Near Last

The race was won in the last six miles, after the vessels had contested four legs of the course with varying advantage but on fairly even terms. Pine, well to lee-ward and ahead, tacked to port and crossed the bow of the Ford. He found he could not fetch the mark, tacked back in front of Morrissey, blanketing him completely and then in his own good time, filled and was off on the short tack once more, straight for the stake boat and on a straight course for the short five-mile reach home. The Ford could not cut down the lead.

NURMI AND TWO OTHERS COMING

Finnish, German and Swedish Champs Will Stage Exhibitions Over Continent

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Negotiations have been completed to bring to the United States this winter Paavo Nurmi, the famous Finnish runner and his two foremost rivals, Dr. Otto Peltzer of Germany and Edwin Wide, the Swedish schoolmaster, for a series of indoor meets.

It will be a return invasion for Nurmi, who swept nearly all before him on a conquering tour of America in the winter of 1924-25, but this time he will have as opponents two men who not only have given him his closest races, but also have beaten him recently.

The runners will appear under amateur colors and under the auspices of a group of prominent athletic clubs.

George Von Elm Was Own Golf Teacher From the Age of Nine

George Von Elm, aged 25, the new American amateur golf champion, started as a caddy at 9 at the Salt Lake City Country club. As a schoolboy he laid out a miniature golf course in his back yard and spent many hours there when free from his studies. He imitated noted golfers aobut whom he read or had seen play. In 1916, when he was 15, he entered the Utah state championship tournament and upset all precedents by handily winning the title. Since then he captured the Utah golf laurel four times.

HARRY WILLS TO FIGHT AT LAST

Meets Jack Sharkey in 15 Rounds at Ebbets Field Today; Idle a Year

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Harry Wills, whose gloved fists rapped in vain on the heavyweight title door during the seven-year reign of Jack Dempsey, fares forth on the challenging trail once more tomorrow.

The big negro faces young and confident Jack Sharkey of Boston, in a 15-round contest at Ebbets Field.

Now 36 years of age, the husky dark-skinned stevedore has not been in the ring for almost a year. His last match in October, 1925, resulted in a technical knockout over Floyd Johnson, Des Moines. Five months prior to that bout he knocked out Charley Weinert of Newark at the Polo Grounds.

Sharkey, a boxer of the defensive type, has come to the front rapidly in the last year, winning decisions over Eddie Huffman of California, George Godfrey, the giant negro, Jim Maloney of Boston and King Solomon of Panama.

CARD PLAYERS SMUGGLED HOME

Fool Crowds Assembled at St. Louis Station to Welcome Them

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 11.—Travel-worn but triumphant, Manager Rogers Hornsby led 15 members of his world's champion Cardinals back to home grounds late today to a welcoming crowd of about a thousand boisterous fans.

Most of the players, however, managed to slip away from the admiring welcomers and were escorted to their homes or hotels by motorcycle policeman where they hoped to get a little rest before a formal celebration staged tonight at Sportsman Park in their honor. "Alexander the Great" and Bottomley were about the only members of the club that were recognized as they were smuggled out of the Union station midway and to waiting automobiles by members of the reception committee.

BOROTRA IS THE TY COBB OF THE BASQUES

Jean Borotra is the Ty Cobb of the Basque country. There are only 2,000,000 Basques all told, but nearly all of them can give the complete history of the international tennis idol who springs from the land at the foot of the Pyrenees.

Basques were not much interested in tennis until Borotra became so important in the sports world. They are pelota fans. But Borotra and many other crack tennis players had their first lessons on the pelota courts of the land where France and Spain meet.

Is Borrowed Game

Practically all Spain and much of France and Italy borrowed pelota from the Basques. The Basque villagers play the game with the bare hand and have not adopted the gloves and baskets which professional players use. It is similar to handball.

Pelota is a great game for gambling. After the casino gaming rooms were closed at San Sebastian by order of Primo de Rivera, the professional pelota games became the medium through which the public was able to satisfy its love of games of chance.

The ordinary game of pelota is played on a concrete court, at one end of which there is a wall 30 feet high and 55 feet wide. The ball is slightly smaller than a baseball and is made much the same way. Ordinarily there are three players to a side, but in village games the number is often greater, one side being allowed more players to offset the skill of its opponents. Whichever side fails to keep it going loses the point. The count is the same as tennis.

MANAGER DRAWS SUSPENSION FOR ROSSLAND ROW

Can Out First Six Games Next Year; Three Other Players Off Three Games

AMATEUR UNION TAKES HAND IN FINAL CONDUCT

Coast Champs Played Watters Contrary to Officials; Attacked Umpire Too

VANCOUVER, Oct. 11.—The Young Liberal baseball club was fined $200, manager Hec Cann was suspended for the first six games of next season, and three players, Charlie Miron, "Lefty" Simmons and Jack Bacon, were expelled for three games each, owing to conduct in the senior final game at Rossland, on September 12.

The executive of the British Columbia amateur baseball association imposed these penalties on the Vancouver team on the report received from Rossland.

The fine of $200 was inflicted on the club for failure to follow out orders of the association to play their games in order to help defray the heavy expense of the series. The Rossland club has put in a bill to the body for more than $200 for expenses incurred as the result of the game not being played.

Cann Disobeyed

Manager Cann, who had been appointed representative of the B. C. body at Rossland, was suspended because he did not obey his instructions and the players were penalized for an alleged attack on the umpire. The team also played Watters in the series after being told that he was nat eligible.

Tom Davis, representative of the Vancouver senior league, of which the Liberals are champions, moved the motion. At an earlier meeting of the playoff committee, a motion was put on the books to impose a fine of $250 and expel the entire club, but this was modified when more particulars were available and only the players directly involved were dealt with.

were balloted on and Mr. Guthrie was elected amid cheers. Brief speeches were made by several prominent Conservatives from different parts of the Dominion pledging cooperation with Mr. Guthrie in the work of the session and the meeting broke up.

The main meeting, earlier in the day was held up for several hours while discussion centered around the possibility of keeping Mr. Meighen in the leadership. It was proposed that his resignation be not accepted, but be held over until the national convention. This found favor wit ha large bloc in the caucus and it was apparently on the urgent request of Mr. Meighen himself that his resignation was considered final.

The crystallized sentiment of the meeting, a resolution committee was appointed. During the lunch hour the committee drew up several motions which were finally carried. The first deplored the withdrawal of Mr. Meighen and expressed admiration for his "inedfatiguable energy, his unmatchable ability and his great force of character in promoting the interests of our party and the country."

The second accepted "with sincere and profound regret," Mr. Meighen's resignation. The third approved the election of a temporary leader and the calling of a national convention at the earliest possible date following next session.

Tribute to Meighen

The resolution accepting Mr. Meighen's resignation adds the following tribute:

"For upwardS of six years Mr. Meighen has discharged the onerous duties and great responsibilities of leader with high courage and consummate ability. His skill in debate, his unsurpassed knowledge of parliamentary practice and procedure, not less thtn his sterling qualities and human sympathy, have commanded the esteem and admiration of his fellow Canadians and the affectionate regard of those who have known him as a colleague and friend. The record of his achievements as a statesman is written not only upon the statute books, but is to be found in the history of the international relations of the Empire. While for the present the country is deprived of his wise and sagacious counsel and his wide vision, we are confident that when the extent and character of his public services are fully understood it will be acknowledged that they have been helpful to Canadian development and progress, and that his untiring efforts have been to strengthen those ties of interest and sentiment which would bind more firmly the provinces of the confederation and maintain the position of Canada as a self-governing commonwealth within the British Empire.

"We assure Mr. Meighen that to whatever task he may hereafter devote his great talents, he will carry with him the affectionate goodwill and best wishes not only of our party supporters but also of all well thinking Canadians in every section of the Dominion. We extend to him and to Mr. Meighen our earnest hope that they may enjoy many years of continued usefulness and happiness."

COAL STRIKE IS HURTING GRAIN

Export Movement Slow From Canada; Ships Used for Wheat Are Carrying Coal

REGINA, Oct. 11. — The prolonged stoppage in the British mining industry is having a serious effect upon the export trade in Canadian grain and butter, according to officials of the Saskatchewan wheat pool.

"Unless there is some relief in the situation before freeze-up there may be serious congestion in the movement of the wheat crop," declared an official of the pool today.

"Ocean freight rates have jumped about 50 per cent, while similar increases have occurred in rates prevailing for tonnage on the Great Lakes," he added.

"A shortage of tonnage available for the shipping of grain has caused the increase, the shortage being brought about by the transfer of vessels normally used for the shipping of grain from Canada to Great Britain to work carrying coal from United States ports to supply the British industries with coal for the production of power to run their machinery.

"Tonnage for the shipment of grain both on the east and west coasts is consequently scarce and freight rates have jumped."

BERLIN, Oct. 11.—"The former Kaiser is the only man in the world who seriously cherishes the hope that some day he will triumphantly reenter Germany, and reestablish himself on the throne, from which he ruled for 30 years." A high official of the Prussian government made this remark today to the Associated Press in connection with the Hohenzollern indemnity and property settlement agreement, signed by the state and the former emperor's administrators, and now before the diet.

The reading of the compromise bill relating to the settlement, raised a great uproar in the Prussian diet today, the communists assuming a threatening attitude and denouncing the terms of the settlement, which provides for payment to the Hohenzollern family of $3,600,000, the allotment of 167,000 acres of the former estates and the castle at Hamburg for the ex-kaiser and his wife, Princess Hermine.

"The head of the house of Hohenzollern insisted on the insertion of the Hamburg paragraph in the agreement," added the official, "to gratify his personal vanity." This was consented to merely for the purpose of securing the ex-kaiser's consent to the agreement.

Wilhem is nearly 68 years of age. Though age is not a barrier to his ambitions, it is known that the monarchist leaders do not regard him as their chief.

TORONTO, Oct. 11.—A thief who is said to be eligible for the title of "meanest man in the world" stole the "hope chest" of a Toronto bride some time last night.

ing machine gun was heard. The gun fire of the gangsters was directed on their victims for fully half a minute, whereupon the gangster car sped away and those operating the machine gun fled from the apartment building.

In the street Murray lay dead and Weiss dying, while O'Brien was able to crawl to the curb, where he collapsed while Pine and Jacobs limped away to find a doctor.

At the hospital O'Brien before lapsing into unconsciousness declared that he had just alighted from a street car when he was shot by unknown persons. He said he was not with the gangsters who were killed but the police maintained all were together.

The machine gun found after the slaying was said to be similar to that used six months ago in the slaying of William McSwiggen, assistant states counsel, known as the "hanging prosecutor."

The killing of McSwiggen and the operations of gang interests were subjects for investigation by five grand juries which also investigated election frauds in last April's primaries. About 200 indictments were returned in the election cases and in one or two minor gang killings murder indictments were returned but the McSwiggen killing has remained unsolved.

Retreated to Basement

Doctors said O'Brien had a fighting chance to recover. He rallied sufficiently to make a statement to police.

"I got off a street car and as I did so, heard a rat-a-tat-tat and felt a sting in my arm," he said. "I ran down into a basement close by and bumped into another man I did not know. We heard some more shooting but after a while everything got quiet. A woman came down and told the other man to come up and that a doctor was waiting. I don't know where the shots came from; they seemed to come from everywhere."

O'Brien carried $1500 in cash and in Weiss' clothing was found money and checks amounting to more than $1000. The landlady of the rooming house where the machine gun was operated, said that two men, who had a rear room, had asked to be moved to a front room today. It was from this room that the machine gun was used.

A complete list of the jurors in the Saltis-Konicil murder trial was found in Weiss' clothing, lending credence to the police theory that the possible result of evidence introduced in the trial prompted the shootings. One of the first to arrive at the scene of the shooting was Father Francis Ryan, of Holy Name Cathedral, who hurried from the church to administer last rites to the dying.

More Expected

Both Pine and Jacobs told the police they were merely innocent bystanders who got caught in the jaws of the murderous trap laid for Weiss.

"This is not the end," Morgan Collins, chief of police, said. "More outrages may be expected any time. It will continue until one gang faction or the other is wiped out. Weiss was at outs with 'Scarface' Al Capone. A Capone joint in Cicero was fired on recently by machine gunners. This was a reprisal for that."

U. S. STEEL HITS ON LOW LEVEL

ouches 140½; Aggressive Selling on Wall Street Is the Feature

NEW YORK, Oct. 11. — Another aggressive selling movement shook the ock market today and prices crumled away in all sections of the list. fforts to stem the wave of liquidaon by extending support to the usual arket leaders were partially successful for a time but the drive for lowr prices was vigorously renewed toard the close and net declines of 1 to 4½ points predominated.

In the face of an increase in unilled tonnage reported by the U. S. teel Corporation, selling orders gainst the steel shares accumulated heavy volume over the week-end. .S. Steel was hammered down to 40½, the lowest level in 10 weeks, nd after a temporary rally it closed ¾ net lower, at 141. Slosh Sheffield roke 4½ and Bethlehem and Otis sues were heavy.

Unloading of General Motors on a rge scale sent that stock plunging own to 148¼, more than 25 below s recent peak. The close was at 8¾, a net decline of 4½ for the ay. Additional automobile price cuts illed speculative interests. The ertic character of trading was reflect in the temporary recoveries of 4 to points from the day's lows, which ok place under the impetus of short overing Coco Cola, Woolworth, Case hreshing Machine and Commercial olvents B.

Railroad shares withstood the sellg movement relatively better than ther stocks, but closed irregularly wer.

Call money held at 5 per cent all ay and time money rates were unanged.

Total sales—1,927,700 shares.

CANADIAN CROP WILL BE GOOD DESPITE RAIN

Manitoba Brightens; Rain and Snow, Saskatchewan, Alberta; B. C. Fruit Moves

WINNIPEG, Man., Oct. 11. — That optimism is again prevalent with respect to the crop, and in the crop in main will be a profitable one were the keynotes of report issued this morning by the agricultural department of the Canadian Pacific Railway company. The weather during most of the past week was favorable and much threshing was done. On Friday and again this morning rain and snow fell in parts of Manitoba and Saskatchewan. This means a suspension of threshing operations for at least two days.

Yields in many localities are reported as phenomenal.

Warm In Manitoba

Warm weather and wind in Manitoba created excellent drying conditions. Local rain over the Portage division and on the Bredenbury subdivision caused some delay. Yields in Manitoba have been fully up to expectation and from 45 to 50 per cent of the threshing of both wheat and coarse grain is complete. Grades have suffered reduction due to bleaching and sprouting.

Rain fell on portions of central and northwestern Saskatchewan.

Further showers and snow was reported today from Secretan to Swift Current, and from Eyebrow to Kerrobert and on McMorran subdivision. Snow was reported from the Odore West the Alberta boundary. Threshing continues in the other districts of Saskatchewan. In the central and southern districts from 80 to 85 per cent of the grain is threshed, and from 50 to 55 per cent in the north. Yields are turning out well and grades are generally better than expected.

In Alberta cutting and threshing continued until Friday, when rain halted operations. Threshing will be resumed in all parts of Alberta today with the exception of Suffield and the west end of Brooks subdivisions.

Half Threshing Done

Cutting is completed with the exception of the Crow's Nest and Red Deer subdivisions, where from 10 to 25 per cent of the grain remains standing. Threshing is about 50 per cent completed. Reports of wheat growing in stook are exaggerated and outturns are expected to show less damage than rumors indicate. Sugar beets are being harvested and are showing a greater tonnage than last year. Live stock market is active and quite a number of cattle have been shipped.

On the Edmonton, Dunvegan & British Columbia railway weather conditions have been showery, but on the whole sufficient favorable to permit carrying on with threshing operations. The crop is exceptional in this district and most of the grain going into the elevators is grading No. 1.

Onions and Tomatoes Hurt

In British Columbia the apple crop in the Okanagan is being harvested under more favorable conditions. The movement of fruit through the praries has been slow owing to weather conditions there. Packing houses are filled to capacity. The onion crop was damaged from 30 to 50 per cent by frost on September 26 and 27. This does not mean that all this quantity will not be shipped, but that there will be very few standard grade onions fit to sell from this territory. This frost completely wiped out the balance of the tomato crop, but the fruit trees were not hurt.

American Crop Yield Up to Average of the Past Ten Years

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11. — Prospective crop production showed very little change during the past month, according to the October crop forecast today by the agricultural department.

Growing conditions during September for the whole appear to have been favorable. Further improvement was shown, and instead of the short crops that seemed probable during the drought of early summer, it now appears that crop yields will approximately equal the average of the last 10 years.

Corn Crop Drops

Corn lost about 18,000,000 bushels in prospective production in September with the crop now indicated at 2,679,988,000 bushels. This is 8 per cent smaller than last year.

Spring wheat improved slightly and a crop of 213,336,000 bushels is indicated. With a winter wheat crop of 626,482,000 bushels already harvested the total wheat crop now is placed at 839,818,000 bushels. Wheat production this year will exceed the five-year average by 38,000,000 bushels.

CLUB FAIRS COMING

WINNIPEG, Man., Oct. 11. — Commencing this week and continuing till the end of October, the boys and girls' club fair will be held throughout the province, it was announced today by Thomas S. Acheson, general agricultural agent of the Canadian Pacific railway. The winning teams will compete in Winnipeg during the first week in November.

NEW GOSSIP CENTER

LONDON, Oct. 11.—Gossip is to have a recognized center in London. The new theater is being transformed into an amusement center, similar to the Potinfere, in Paris. Both the stage and auditorium are being altered to make the place more intimate and the management announces that the entertainment will be altered each week, so as to include the gossip of London, England, and the whole world in fact.

Hundreds of pigeons, flocking in friendly intercourse with loiterers on the steps of the New York fifth avenue library, make it look like a Venetian plaza.

POSSIBLE ZINC SHORTAGE SEEN

American Zinc Institute Head Reviews Mining Activity of Metal Over World

VANCOUVER, Oct. 11. — British Columbia's zinc production annually is in excess of 100,000,000 pounds of a value of approximately $8,000,000. In view of that tremendous yield the possibility of zinc shortage on the world markets is of great interest to this province. Practically all of the zinc in Canada is produced in British Columbia with quantity being turned out year by year gradually increasing.

A. J. M. Sharpe, honorary foreign secretary of the American Zinc Institute, estimates world stocks of zinc, September 1, at 33,200 metric tons of 2204.6 pounds each, compared with 37,200 tons August 1, a decrease of 4000 tons in August. World stocks, July 1, he estimated at 40,600 tons; June 1, 49,200; May 1, 43,100; 36,400 April 1; and 33,500 March 1.

Mr. Sharpe, in viewing the world situation as it pertains to zinc, sees a shortage of zinc in Europe, in face of an abundance of ore, provided that the English coal strike is settled this month, as he expects. A possible reason for apprehension that he warns against is an increase in American output which must reflect itself in uneasiness in European prices, even if American prices should stay above European parity.

Believes British Strike About Over

In discussing the situation in detail, Mr. Sharpe says:

"September has opened very quietly from a market point of view, and it is doubtful whether there will be any real liveliness until the prolonged coal strike in Great Britain is over, and the miners return to work. Undoubtedly, the back of the strike is broken, and with the near approach of winter it becomes imperative for the union leaders to make the best terms possible for a settlement. The crisis is now on its last legs, and it will surprise everyone if the dispute is not settled during the current month.

"Meanwhile, the British zinc industry remains entirely closed. The 20 tons reported to have been produced in August were obtained from experimental work. It will be at least a month after the coal miners return to work before the zinc smelters can obtain full operation.

Australian Stocks

"Fair stocks of Australian concentrates exist, and to prevent any undue accumulation and locking up of money the bulk of the arrivals has been turned over to the Belgian smelters. Thus the ore supply has been superabundant, a factor which has influenced a hardening in the returning charge and the practical cessation of imports of ore from the Tri-State field.

"The Belgian zinc industry has attained its pre-war scale of production, and the main concern in that country today is its ability in the years to come to compete successfully with the ever-increasing output of high-grade metal produced by the electrolytic and electro-thermic methods of treatment. High-grade 99.9 per cent is becoming increasingly popular, as its premium over the selling price of common zinc lessens. The premium has steadily come down from £3 a ton a few months ago to £1 17s 6d, and as it becomes necessary to place larger quantities, so will the spread between the two grades contract, in my opinion. Belgian zinc interests are not unnaturally somewhat apprehensive of this cheaper method of producing metal, which they are unable to employ in their own country. For this reason, we may be assured that the Belgians will leave no stone unturned in improving their distillation practice at the same time trying out the new metallurgical processes.

Consumption in Europe Good

"Consumption in Europe is well maintained and highly encouraging, having regard to the disturbed political and economic situation. The galvanizing trade keeps busy and the rollers are still so heavily occupied that no fresh business can be accepted for delivery nearer than three months ahead.

"Increased number of retorts operating in the United States at the end of July has caused a certain amount of perturbation on this side, lest it is the forerunner of another increase in American production of slab zinc.

"One point I would desire to emphasize is that if the United States smelters do inflate their output again and have to press sales at the sacrifice of market prices, there will be a repercussion on this side of the Atlantic. While it is true that the St. Louis quotation is above London parity, there must always be a certain amount of sympathy between the two markets, and any decided trend in America would be promptly reflected in England."
