SHANGHAI MAY FALL WITHOUT SINGLE BLOW

WAR IS BEING FOUGHT BEHIND RIVAL COLUMNS

British After Studying Situation in China Come to This Conclusion

BRITAIN RETAINS HER STRICT NEUTRAL POST

Chang Tso-Lin Will Withdraw Before Invaders Is Thought; Shantung Leader in Bad

LONDON, March 8.—The victorious Cantonese Nationalists, who have swept through southern China to the gates of Shanghai without really fighting a single major battle, now are likely to occupy Shanghai soon and drive the northerners clear to Manchuria without serious opposition, is the conclusion drawn by British observers from today's dispatches from the far east.

Gen. Chang Tso-Lin is regarded here as the only northern war lord with a fighting machine likely to stand against the southerners, and it is thought that even he may withdraw to his headquarters at Mukden rather than oppose the Nationalist advance. Military observers say the present Chinese war is following the traditional strategy of negotiations behind the lines among the generals themselves rather than pitched battles.

Great Britain's attitude toward the ever-changing Chinese war map is one of detached neutrality. Foreign Secretary Chamberlain's position regarding China has been summarized by government officials in the following jingle:

"Sir Austen is an admirable man;
In China he doesn't give a hang
Whether Chang beats Chang
Or Chang beats Chang."

Shantung Leader in Bad

SHANGHAI, March 8.—Gen. Chang Tsung Chang, Shantung leader, who rushed to the defence of Shanghai a few days ago when the army of 'Marshal' Sung Chang Fang started crumbling before the assault of the Cantonese, now is threatened with being isolated here. The southerners, continuing their progress north, have occupied Wuhu, about 200 miles west of Shanghai. They are reported advancing around both sides of Lake Taihu, trying to reach the Nanking-Shanghai railway and cut off the Chang Tsung Chang lines of communication.

Attempted Divide Robbery Loot With Policeman; Is Guilty

VANCOUVER, March 9.—According to evidence in the case heard by Magistrate H. C. Shaw today, James Daniels, charged with the theft of $20 from Andrew Anderson, in the Peking chop suey house on March 4, made a vain attempt to divide the proceeds of the robbery with Sergeant W. J. Tuning, who arrested him. Daniels was convicted, and remanded to March 10 for sentence.

Jap Tremor Lasted for Several Hours; Shown on Victoria Graph

VICTORIA, March 8.—A good record was secured of the recent earthquake which took place in Japan at 6 p.m., March 7, by the seismograph at the meteorological observatory on Gonzales Hill. The needle tracing on the graph of the machine, showed that the tremor was of several hours' duration and was one-third of the intensity of the Japanese disaster of September, 1923.

REFUGEES ARE STRUGGLING TO REACH SAFETY

Jap Houses Reduced to Ruins and Ashes; Like, "Living Hell"

TOKYO, March 8.—With their houses reduced to ruins or ashes by last night's earthquake, thousands of refugees, most of them in the district of Tango, today struggled to reach safety and to care for the injured.

Dispatches from Tango described the pitiful conition of the refugees, homeless, hungry and cold. In some places the snow was from one to five feet deep, and hundreds of men, women and children possessing but a few blankets found meager shelter behind great snowdrifts.

The suffering of women and children was consider, although the efforts of troops, police and young men's associations were alleviating the misery. Efforts to bring aid to the devastated region were retarded because of railway traffic, only motors and wagons being available.

The roads and paths were badly cracked everywhere.

A newspaper airplane observer described the smoking ruins of villages, numeroues bodies lying about and priests reading the final rites. One observer said that conditions were pitiful beyond description.

A reporter for the Asahi Shimbun, who went to the scene in an airplane, said the cries of women and children were heard everywhere. He described the scene as 'like a living hell."

LIQUOR SALESMAN NEVER QUESTIONED

Expense Accounts Passed Without Question States Witness Before Liquor Inquiry

VANCOUVER, March 8.—J. F. Wilcox, traveling sales promoter for the Vancouver Breweries, B. C. Distilleries and Joseph Kennedy, limited, the three companies in which the Reifels were interested, was never questioned with regard to his expense accounts when he submitted vouchers, Robert Howatson, bookkeper for the Vancouver Breweries, said on the stand at today's sitting of the inquiry into alleged irregularities among employees of the liquor control board and the attorney-general's department.

Howatson was on the stand about numerous vouchers for various amounts paid to Wilcox but in every instance said he never raised any question as long as the vouchers were O'K.'d. Checks were always made out for the amounts asked by Wilcox, said Howatson, no question being asked him as to what the expenditures were for.

BILL CALLING FOR CHANGE IN CUSTOMS GOES

No Amendments When Bill to Reorganize the Body Is Passed by House

WILL BE DEPARTMENT NATIONAL REVENUE

Department Will Be Divided Into Three Branches With Commissioners

OTTAWA, March 8.—Without amendment, the bill to reorganize the customs and excise department passed committee stage in the house today, and stands for third reading. The bill changes the names of the department to that of the department of national revenue. It divides the department into three branches—customs, excise and income tax, each of the three branches is to be placed in the hands of a commissioner who will have practically the power of a deputy minister.

Hon. J. D. Chaplin, Conservative, Lincoln suggested eliminating the word "National" from the name of the department. He thought that department of revenue would be better. The first clause carried without amendment.

On clause two, which provides for the appointment of three officers to be designated "commissioner of customs, commissioner of excise and commissioner of income tax," Hon. H. H. Stevens asked if the commission which had been engaged in going through the department had submitted a report yet.

Will Be Tabled

Mr. Euler said that a report had been received and that it would be tabled. He stated that it was the intention to transfer a good deal of the work which formerly devolved upon minister of customs to the commissioners whom it was proposed to appoint.

Mr. Stevens agreed that it would be a wise step to transfer some of the work which the minister was required to do to thecommissioners.

Mr. Stevens also took the ground that the powers of the three commissioners should be set forth in the statute, and that the minister should not have the right to vary them.

Mr. Euler stated that in the bill the minister of governor-in-council was given the right to assign the duties of these commissioners. It had considered unwise to relieve the minister of responsibility.

Mr. Stevens stressed that there should be a definite decision by the department.

Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Conservative house leader, supported the suggestion for the elimination of the word "national" in the new name of the department.

National in Scope

Mr. Euler replied that he had no strong conviction on the point. It had been felt, however, that the word "national" might well be used because of the fact that the revenues collected by the department were national in their scope.

W. G. McQuarrie, Conservative, New Westminster, asked if there was going to be a revision of salaries in the civil service.

The civil service salary revision is now under consideration and will be dealt with in due course," Hon. Fernand Rinfret, secretary of state, informed Mr. McQuarrie.

D. M. Kennedy, United Farmers of Alberta, Peace River, supported Mr. Stevens. Evidence before the parliamentary committee on customs last season had shown that the minister was constantly bothered by people who were supposed to have influence with him. Routine departmental business should be dealt with by the commissioners.

Mr. Stevens suggested letting the bill stand if the minister would agree to amend the Customs act so as to make departmental officers responsible for seizure decision.

Mr. Euler said he would not like to commit himself on the points. Later in the session a bill amending the Customs act would be introduced and if it was not satisfactory, Mr. Stevens then would have an opportunity to raise the point again.

Ship Owned by Canadian Company; Judge Says Firm Responsible

VANCOUVER, March 8.—Arrest of the steamship Belchers at the suit of 41 Vancouver firms, claiming $45,640 damages to cargo brought here from Sydney, N.S., was set aside in admiralty court today, by Mr. Justice A. Martin, because the ship was owned by a Canadian company which should have been cited defendant. He ruled that the action lay against the owner and not the vessel. It had been said that the Belcher's steamship company of Montreal, was bankrupt and the shareholders and bondholders resided in the United States.

New South Wales Premier Is Endeavoring to Fix Basic Wage for Workers

SYDNEY, N.S.W., March 8. — Spurred to endeavor by restive trade unions, Hon. J. T. Lang, premier of New South Wales, is rushing a bill through the house instructing the industrial commissioner forthwith to fix a basic wage, on the basis of a man and wife, with two children under 14 years. The government considers the wage should be at least £4, 11s, 6d, an increase of 7-6 on the present rate. This latest move made follows the action of the upper house shelving the family endowment bill.

First reading was given in the house of commons to a bill introduced by Hon. Ferdinand Rinfret, secretary of state, to repel the War Charities act, now obsolete, which required societies interested in war charities to report to the government twice annually.

EUROPE STARTS SHOW TEETH AT SOVIET, RUMOR

Geneva Rumor Comes Following Italian Ratification of Bessarabian Treaty

CHAMBERLAIN DENIES BRITAIN TAKING HAND

Says Is Not Organizing League Against Russia; Evidently Pleased, Italian Stand

GENEVA, March 8.—Europe, under the leadership of Great Britain is beginning to show her teeth to Soviet Russia is the impression that was prevalent in Geneva tonight after it had been announced that the Italian government had ratified the treaty which formally recognizes the annexation of Bessarabia by Rumania.

After reports had been circulated that Great Britain had inspired Italian ratification, Sir Austen Chamberlain issued a denial that Britain was seeking to form a coalition against Russia, which has long been in controversy with Rumania over Bessarabia.

He followed this denial by a two hours' provate conversation with Dr. Stresemann of Germany. As political students here think that Premier Mussolini's ratification of the Bessarabian treaty was not devoid of British inspiration, they also are of the opinion that Britain is trying to bring Germany into the camp of those nations who present a common front to Russia.

Sir Austen's words to the press:

"I have never tried to organize a league against Russia," were interpreted as indicating that if Britain had never tried to bring about such a condition she nevertheless was not displeased at the Italian action.

In his talk with the press Sir Austen charged that Russia had been pursuing a policy openly hostile to Great Britain which has continued to maintain diplomatic relations rather than introduce an element of instability.

ADMITS BEER WAS FOR ELECTION USE

Former Head Vancouver Liberals Sues Liquor Inspectors Who Arrested Him

VANCOUVER, March 8.—James Conley, formerly president of the Vancouver city Liberal association and for many years prominent in political circles, is plaintiff in supreme court in a suit against George Millar and Ernest Middleton, inspector and deputy inspector, respectively, for the British Columbia Liquor Control board, claiming unstated damages for alleged false and malicious arrest and prosecution.

Conley was arrested in Vancouver on January 7, 1925, charged with selling liquor at Hope, where he owned a hotel. The case was heard at New Westminster and the charge against Conley was dismissed.

Amusement was created in court by a statement by Conley on cross-examination by Dougall Donaghy, that $196 worth of beer and whisky had been purchased by Conley for election purposes. The liquor was bought at the time of the last provincial election in June, 1924, and Conley, who at that time was president of the Vancouver Liberals, said it was obtained to give away at Hope.

ONE THOUSAND ALONE KILLED IN ONE TOWN

Injured Number Over 5000 Persons; Homes Burned to Ground

REPORTS DELAYED OWING TRANSPORTATION TIE-UP

Planes Go to Rescue; Shake Lasted but Three Minutes; Fire Causes Havoc

TOKYO, March 8.—At least 2000 persons lost their lives in the three-minute earthquake which rocked central Japan last evening, 1,000 alone being killed in the town of Mineyama.

Numerous villages in the Mineyama district were destroyed, while fire which came close on the heels of the quake accounted for a great number of casualties which it is expected will reach several thousand in burned and injured.

Home office advices reported that following casualties:

Mineyama, 1000 killed; 1000 houses destroyed.

Iwatiaka, 100 killed; 500 houses destroyed.

Ishikawa, 20 killed; 31 injured; 492 houses injured.

Ichiba, 20 killed; 358 houses burned.

The official advices also indicated that numerous other villages had been lain waste and that at least 500 persons had been killed at various places in the same district.

The Kyoto prefectural governor also reported that 60 persons had been killed and 80 houses destroyed and that the casualties in them were not known because communication had been cut off.

Plans Investigate

Army airplanes were sent out from Kyoto to investigate the extent of the devastated area.

Various reports of the casualties and damage caused by the quake were still most speculative because of the interruption of communication and it may be days before accurate figures can be obtained by the government.

The shock, which at first was horizontal, became perpendicular before it subsided and apparently extended over a wider district than the quakes which are of frequent occurrence in Japan. Houses collapsed, tiles fell and fires broke out almost immediately, these three causes accounting for virtually all of the casualties.

A majority of the inhabitants of Tokyo felt the shock, but it was no worse than others which have been of no importance. Consequently for some time there was a tendency to minimize the importance of the quake and it was not until this morning that the full realization came of how serious the tremors had been.

WINNIPEGGER IS CHARGED FORGERY

Is in Connection With Beer Plebescite; Says Brewers Behind Scheme

WINNIPEG, March 9.—James Grant, a plasterer of St. Vital, Man., a suburb, was arrested this morning on instructions of Hon. R. W. Craig, attorney-general, charged with forgery in connection with the beer petitions recently tabled in the provincial legislature.

WINNIPEG, March 8.—As a result of charges of forgery and perjury made in the legislature tonight in connection with the sale of beer bill petition, James Grant, a local plasterer, may be called before the bar of the house. Action of the kind was suggested by Maj. F. G. Taylor, Conservative leader, and J. T. Haig, and Hon. R. W. Craig, attorney-general, said the matter would have his attention at once.

Following charges of a general nature by William Ivens, Labor, in the course of which Mr. Ivens refrained from mentioning names, N. V. Bacyhnsky, government member for Fisher, specifically named Mr. Grant as having made up lists of alleged signatures to the petition, 90 per cent of which were forged.

Mr. Ivens charged that the brewers were the sponsors of the petition and that they would stop at nothing to achieve their ends.

Claiming that the brewers should no longer be tolerated, Mr. Ivens urged that the government take steps to acquire the breweries and undertake the manufacture and distribution of beer not on a profit but on a cost basis

He wound up his speech by moving that the sale of beer bill be not read a second time, but that a committee be appointed to investigate the petition with power to summon witnesses.

OPPOSITION IS STRENUOUS AS ESTIMATES UP

Main Estimates for Next Fiscal Year Bring Talk of Party Patronage

PUBLIC BUILDINGS FOR SOME PLACES PROTESTED

Premier King Says Governernment Speaks Through Minister Regard Works

OTTAWA, March 8.—Strenuous opposition developed in the house of commons tonight when main estimates for the next fiscal year were considered. The bone of contention was a vote of $12,000 for a public building in Kensington, P.E.I. The item was under consideration but a few moments when Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Conservative house leader, moved that it be reduced to $1. At time when economy should be practiced such an amount should not be spent on a "little hamlet of from 500 to 600 people," Mr. Guthrie insisted. His amendment was defeated and the item was later carried.

Hon. J. C. Elliott, minister of public works, said the Kensington item had passed in the supplementary estimates left over from last year. The expenditure, he thought, was a proper one.

W. C. Ernest, Conservative, Queens-Lunenberg, referred to the dropping of an amount of $10,000 for a public building at Mahone bay. He asked the minister whether this amount would be in the supplementary estimates.

No Statements

Mr. Elliott replied that he could not make any statement regarding the supplementary estimates.

Mr. William Duff, Antigonish-Guysboro, interrupted to say that the people of Mahone bay asked him to see that this amount was not placed in the estimates. Mr. Ernest challenged him to name the people, but Mr. Duff did not reply.

D. M. Kennedy, United Farmers of Alberta, Peace River, followed and demanded to know whether the house was to "understand that the estimates are selected by the way people vote." He hoped that government would not maintain this attitude toward the public works. It would be the "worst kind of patronage," he declared.

Mr. Elliott, in replying to Mr. Kennedy said that if he would go through the estimates "he will realize that the government has shown fair regard for requirements."

Mr. Gardiner protested. He wanted a reply as to whether the member for one riding "controls the patronage for another constituency."

Premier King replied: "The government controls the patronage and with respect to public works the government speaks with the minister of public works."

WILL EXAMINE BANK BOOKS OF LIQUOR VENDORS

Commission Judge Orders the Books Collected; Will See if Moneys Paid

VANCOUVER, March 8.—Bank books of the government liquor vendors in Vancouver, were collected this afternoon by J. Pitcairn Hogg, government counsel at the inquiry presided over by Mr. Justice Murphy, into alleged irregularities among employees of the liquor control board, for the purpose of tracing in them, if possible, payments which may have been received from liquor firms.

L. A. Titelborn, vendor at the Pender street store, Vancouver, was on the stand when the commission adjourned. When Mr. Hogg asked him to produce his bank book, he promptly agreed but his counsel protested.

"Having failed signally to prove any payments to these men, my friend now proposes to go through their bank books for the purpose of seeing if he can find out something there," he stated. "That is a most unfair and improper proceeding."

Mr. Justice Murphy said that if the witness had nothing to fear he should not object and apparently did not object. The purpose of the commission was to inquire in any direction.

MOTHERS AND THEIR CHILDREN

CARE OF BOOKS

One Mother says:

Teach children when they are young to love books and to look at them as friends, and they will always take good care of them. Some of the things to be taught are: Hands must be clean when handling books, pages must not be marked or turned down, bindings must not be broken by laying books face down when open, and borrowed books must be returned promptly. Even a very small child may be led to appreciate brightly colored covers and the illustrations and decorations inside. Older children will notice the paper, print and bindings if they are told something of the fascinating art of bookmaking.

The Children Will Catch Cold

Mothers should never neglect the first sign of a cold or cough where their children are concerned, for if they do some serious lung trouble is liable to follow.

Mrs. R. T. Hubby, 1022 Barrington St., Halifax, N.S. writes:—"The children are continually getting colds, but I have no trouble with them, for just as soon as they begin to cough I give them a dose of which breaks up the cold within a day or so. I get great results out of it and would not be without it for anything. I can highly recommend it to any one."

TRAIL BOARD IS NOT PERTURBED OVER THE BILL

Discussion Is Negligible; After More Data Window Lighting

TRAIL, B.C., March 8.—Trail board of trade tonight refused to be perturbed over the bill to amend the Provincial Taxation act, to certain sections of which opposition members at Victoria, the miners' association of the interior, the prospectors, the Mountain Lumber manufacturers, the Kaslo board of trade, the Nelson board of trade and the chamber of mines and the Associated Boards of Trade are registering such violent objections.

Thought the matter was brought specifically to its attention by the Nelson board of trade, in a letter outlining the action taken by the Nelson board, the Trail board contented itself with the reflection that the bill is to be hoisted for a year. Discussion of the measure in regard to its obvious and latent possibilities was negligible. The Nelson board's letter was filed.

Those attending were R. Waldie, vice-president, presiding; N. E. Jefferson, R. Williamson, C. Dodimead, J. P. Schofield, R. Gordon, F. S. Pritchard, P. LeRose, R. McDaniels, L. Tonellie P. R. McDonald A. J. Martin L. F. Tyson and Jesse Kemp.

Secretary Kemp was instructed to obtain more explicit information on the conditions under which the power company will grant a reduction in the cost of electric lighting of store and business office windows in the business section.

Trail Had Everything Their Way, Including the Penalties

VANCOUVER, March 8.—Commenting on Trail's victory over the Towers, the Evening Sun sports editor says:

"The boys played nice hockey for one period. Then they got to knocking each other about, and Referee Genge started to bear down, sometimes for what looked like infractions, at others because he had the habit.

"In the second and third frames he paraded boys to the sinners' roost almost continuously. Trail played two-thirds of the game practically a man short.

"As soon as one would return, Genge sent another off. Occasionally he chased a Tower—he didn't seem to be favoring any side—but he did permit Grimmett to hook and hook and hook, until Trail lads grew peevish and started warping themselves into the cooler. Wilkson, too, slashed at every stranger he met. Possibly Trail boys are just as feverish, but they hide it better. They may have deserved all they got from Genge, but it didn't appear that way to us.

"Yet the game was never dirty; Genge seemed to be in somewhat captious mood."

ALTER SVOBODA BLOCK TO MAKE CORNER DRIVE

Firm Asks Permission to Cross Sidewalk; Waters Gets Bonus

An application of the Wilson Vulcanizing Works to cross the sidewalk with a driveway to its plant, which will be the Svoboda building at the corner of Baker and Hall streets, which will be altered by cutting off the front corner for a distance of about 16 feet back, has been referred by the city council, to the public works committee and the fire chief.

With a driveway across the corner, the firm proposes to install a gasoline pump in the boundaries of the property and to have the vulcanizing outfit in the building.

Finished Building Early

Such good time was made by T. H. Waters & Co. in its contract for the isolation hospital that it finished 4½ days earlier than the contract time. The contract contained a bonus and penalty clause, the bonus for being ahead of time, and the penalty for running over the time set. Architect Alex Carrie has reported on the matter, finding the firm's claim substantiated, and the city will issue a check for an additional $45 in favor of the firm.

Will Hold Liquor Probe Open Until All Witnesses Up

VANCOUVER, March 7.—The fact that Henry Reifel sr., head of the Vancouver Breweries and the B. C. Distillery, is in Japan will not excuse him from having to tell all he knows about large sums paid by liquor interests to mysterious parties, and alleged to have been used to influence both the elections and the public beer votes.

Justice Murphy, conducting an investigation, declared today that the probe would be kept open until Reifel and Wilcox, missing salesman of the companies, whose business it was to entertain on behalf of the liquor interests, have been grilled.

OPERATING COST OF THE HOSPITAL IS ON INCREASE

In 1926 Was $59,000; Frigidaire Plant Installed at $2000 Cost

FREE PATIENTS COST ALSO ON UP GRADE

Motion President for Eighth Term; Laundry Not Proving Success

In annual meeting in the board of trade rooms yesterday afternoon, the Kootenay Lake General Hospital society learned it had cost $59,043.54 to operate the hospital during 1926, an increase of $6052.69 over 1925. These figures included depreciation. The financial statement also showed the society had liabilities of $139,391.31 in 1926, as against $143,426.99 in 1925. Assets balanced the liabilities.

Install Fridigaire Plant

George F. Motion, presenting his seventh consecutive annual report as president, stated that a frigidaire plant was installed in the hospital in 1926, at a cost of $2000, which "not only proved a great convenience, but has made a considerable saving to the hospital."

Plans for a new nurses' home were submitted to the government, a laundry was built, and the city almost completed an isolation hospital. These improvements would mean more expense and added responsibilities in the management of the hospital, but he felt satisfied that "from the assistance given to us by the government and the city council and by the public at large, we will continue to meet our obligations in the future as we have done in the past."

Increased Cost Free Patients

Mr. Motion, commenting on the increase in the cost of treatment for free patients, said it had "increased alarmingly, being $2000 more than any other year of the hospital's existence, and notwithstanding all appeals made by this board to the proper authorities, no action has been taken to remedy this condition, and if the present state of affairs is allowed to continue it will affect the financing of our institution very seriously."

Aldermen A. A. Perrier and A. S. Horswill and L. K. Larsen, W. J. Meagher and W. A. Curran were reelected directors for a term of two years, and William Rutherford was added to the directorate in place of J. A. Irving, who retired. These directors will act with those elected a year ago, who have another year to serve, and who are George Johnstone, W. R. McLean, Charles F. McHardy and Carl A. Larson. Other members of the board are John Cartmel, government agent, as government representative, and a representative of the city council.

Notice of motion was given that at the next annual meeting George Johnstone, late secretary of the society, who retired last year after more than 30 years' service with the society, would be proposed as a life member of the directorate.

Hospital Aid Active

A report of the ladies' hospital aid society showed that this society had receipts during 1926 of $1364.77, of which $1195.03 was spent on linen, bedding, clothing and gifts for the hospital. When current expenses were paid the society had a balance on hand of $6.64.

A sum of $362.70, which had been set aside some time ago to be used for a hospital laundry, was handed over to the hospital directors when it was decided to go ahead with the project, and $50 was added out of the general fund.

After the annual meeting concluded, the board of directors as newly constituted held its first meeting, and reelected G. F. Motion as president and William Irvine as vice-president, each for his eighth consecutive term. L. K. Larsen was reelected treasurer. These three officers and A. A. Perrier and C. F. McHardy constituted the year's finance committee.

The directors received a letter from A. W. Lymbery of Gray Creek, containing a complaint. The executive committee was instructed to make an inquiry and to communicate with Mr. Lymbery.

Laundry Not Satisfactory

On Mr. McHardy's suggestion, a telegram will be sent to the company from which the hospital's laundry equipment was purchased demanding in Nelson the presence of one of the company's men to attend to the machinery, which it was stated was not working satisfactorily.

Construction Work on Flin Flon Mine Makes Great Deal Progress

WINNIPEG, March 8.—Construction work at the Flin Flon mine, in the Central Manitoba mineral belt, is progressing favorably, officials of the company report. About 100 men are employed in the operations at present and it is expected that the new concentration plant being erected on the property will be operating this month.

The early freeze-up last fall held up transportation of some of the machinery, but the delay has now been made up. The entire plant was conveyed to the mine 160 miles by summer road and 87 miles under winter conditions. A wireless plant has been erected and today the mine is in daily communication with the outside world.

FLAG WAVING

OTTAWA, Ont., March 8. — The Citizen says editorally:

Mr. Woodsworth objected to "flag waving" and Miss MacPhail to any "crazy military parades" in connection with the celebration of the diamond jubilee of Confederation. If the commemoration were to be confined to two of three days' festivities devoted to waving flags and military spectacles, such objections would be sound. While flag waving and parades may be part of the celebration, chief emphasis will doubtless be placed on Canada's historic growth and the foundation of her institutions.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 8. — Awakened when the burglar alarm in her room was set going, apparently by a short circuit, Mrs. Arthur Millar of Hull found the restaurant and barber shop below her apartment in flames and her escape to the street by way of the stairs cut off. Grabbing a few clothes, she climbed through a rear window to the roof of a summer kitchen and from there escaped to the ground.

Why you need LIFEBUOY--the purifying Toilet Soap

Think of the adventures of a coin—or a piece of paper money in a single day. Think how unclean a thing can become by passing from hand to hand.

And money is only one of the objects you often touch that are touched by other hands—objects that carry invisible but dangerous germs.

Millions have turned to Lifebuoy Soap as a prevention against infection and as an all-sufficient, delightful Toilet Soap.

The orange red cake in the orange red carton is a familiar sight in countless homes where the truth is recognized of the old axiom that "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

Applecart Now on a Steady Base

The marketing bill has passed the legislature, and has received the assent of the lieutenant-governor. If not now law, only some formality, such as proclamation, can be wanting.

With this measure setting up new regulations, which prevent individuals and minorities perpetuating by irresponsible dumping the system of gluts and price demoralization and making of no avail the self-restraint and orderly shipments and market cultivation of the majority, there will be for the first time in force in the province, during the next crop season, orderly marketing.

That this will be for the benefit of the grower, including those whose liberty to upset the applecart will disappear, is practically a certainty.

All is fair sailing now for the new principle, so far as the province's legislative machinery is concerned, and the task will now be faced by the majority, of bringing to bear on the coming crop season's problems the best ability and wisdom that the industry can command.

Will the Premier Carry Out His Threat of Nullification?

It is true Premier Oliver and the young Ian MacKenzie made certain threats, probably just empty rhetoric.

The premier had the audacity to boast that if the legislature passed the marketing measure and it was placed on the statutebook, he would see that it never came into effect.

Mr. MacKenzie, who conceives that Vancouver's interest lies in the ill-fortune of the farmers, declared he would fight the measure, if made law, to the death in the courts.

No particular attention need be paid to Mr. MacKenzie. If the law should be challenged in the courts, at least there is a presumption that it would be sustained, seeing that the chief law officer of the province, the attorney-general, has believed it constitutional and been one of its chief advocates.

On the other hand, the headstrong premier may have "something up his sleeve." Doubtless he had some definite idea in his mind when he endeavored to bulldoze the legislature by his threat of nullification.

Sober second thought may counsel him not to carry out his kind intentions.

One thing is fairly certain: If Premier Oliver uses the power of his office to make of no effect this act, which the legislature by an overwhelming majority has granted, his high-handed action will not escape notice by the electors.

WARMTH FOR WINTER COLORS FOR SPRING

Between seasons necessitates a warm street costume that can nevertheless live up to the requirements of spring. That spring feeling which occasionally creeps into the air makes the winter colors look drab, though winter warmth is still a necessity.

For such days Paris designs warm coats of light colors to be worn over matching dresses of silk or kasha. One such ensemble has a cheviot coat of soft almond green trimmed with beige fox. Its simple, straight line and graceful length, reaching within two inches of the skirt's hem make it a practical as well as lovely wrap for early spring. A blouse of matching crepe de chene goes with a skirt of cheviot. A second skirt of the same crepe de chene makes the costume doubly useful.

MUCH NOISE ADDED TO TRAVELING COATS

Traveling coats become noisier and noisier in Paris. The brighter the smarter, is the edict, and the choice of plaids, checks and zig-zag designs is endless. The wrap for journeys—whether by motor, airplane or train—is in a class alone. It is suitable only for the purpose intended. The rule is a bright traveling coat with a plain costume beneath. Or, if the coat, perhaps, of brown leather or waterproofed gaberdine be of plain color, then the costume should be colorful or even gay.

GIRL IS WINNER

WINNIPEG, Man., March 8.—Once more the dog racing laurels of Winnipeg crown a girlish brow, says the 'Tribune.' For three years Pearl Spencer led the boys home in the annual dog derby over the Fort St. course, and her departure for Vancouver made the lads breath a sigh of relief as they counted on one of their number regaining the coveted honor.

But they reckoned without little Violet Wood, of East Kildonan. One of three girls who were opposed by 64 boys, she guided her three-year-old collie, "Beaver," to victory in two heats.

To make a light plain sponge cake, separate four eggs and beat the yolks till light. To these yolks add one cup of granulated sugar gradually, beating all the time.

Next stir into the sugar-egg mixture the juice and grated rind of one medium-sized lemon—which amount of flavoring is my own idea, since the average cooks puts only the rind and juice of one-half lemon into a four-egg recipe. But, to my mind, a sponge cake which does not taste very strongly of lemon is insipid. If you once try this strong lemon flavor I am sure you will always use my method thereafter.

After adding the lemon flavoring to the sugar and egg-yolk mixture, add a pinch of salt. Then beat again for several minutes. The secret of light sponge cake is much beating. This is one of the cakes which are best made in a cake mixer unless, like me, you have a "good beating arm."

Next beat the four egg whites very stiff with an egg beater of the wheel type. Sift one cup of ordinary bread flour (pastry may be used instead if desired) with one teaspoon of baking powder.

The customary way to mix a sponge cake of this type is to add the stiffly whipped egg whites alternately with the flour-baking powder mixture to the sugar-lemon-egg-yolk mixture. But I have found that I am always sure of perfect results if I add all the flour-baking powder mixture to the first mixture before folding in the stiffly whipped whites. Thus I can slip the pan directly into the oven before the fluffy whites have a chance to fall.

The pan I use for this recipe measures 8¾ inches across the top, 6½ inches across the bottom, and has slightly flaring sides not quite two inches high. It has a pipe in the middle and, when done, the cake rises a little higher than the edges of the pan.

Start the baking of this cake in a low oven, but after 15 minutes try to have your oven temperature around 300 degrees (moderate) and let bake one full hour at this same heat.

KASHA MASQUERADES UNDER MANY ALIASES

Kasha continues to take on aliases. It masquerades in the fabric vocabulary of the moment under many names. Some of them are Kashecia, Pellekasha, Kasha Granikella, Kashaduvetine, Piques Liblikasha, Kashavella, Kashaeryn, Kashador, Fleurs de Kasha and Kasha Tchnainic de Niris. Fortunately the amateur need know only a few of these intricate pseudonyms to find what she wants for her kasha costumes. But the professional buyer has to cope with the lot of them.

Abbreviated costumes and jazz tunes and dances will continue to grace the musical shows for some seasons to come, if the producers are accurate forecasters.

Omens of declining taste for the nude are developing into more tangible expressions, but the managers assure the curious public that in shopping for clothes with which to dress the chorus girls they avoided ankle-length skirts. The additional weight of fabric will be measured in ounces and lingerie will be much in evidence.

Florenz Ziegfeld having set about to restore some of the neglected garments to his "Follies," Earl Carroll promises to eliminate nudity from his "Vanities." Furthermore, the lobby photographs of girls posing in the altogether will give way modestly to more conventional pictorial effects.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

Following Your Own Advice

The story is told that the Society of Hygiene of Paris met for a number of years in a certain room. They decided to meet in another room, and when their previou meeting place was examined, it was found that four layers of carpet were on the floor. As a carpet got old and soiled a new one was placed over it, with no pretence of removing the old one and cleaning up the floor before the new carpet was put down.

And at a state medical group meeting there was a dicussion on periodic physical examination of apparently healthy persons. It was asked how many physicians present had been examined within the past year. Three in 70 raised their hands. And these gentlemen were at this meeting with the idea of furthering the suggestion of periodic physical examinations with the public generally.

It is the old story, of course. A physician working hard all the time, encountering sudden illnesses and sudden deaths amongst apparently healthy people, forgets all about himself and his needs.

Some one has pointed out that hardly a month passes but what some physician, dear to his friends and apparently in the prime of his life, suddenly drops from the ranks."

It is this expression "apparently healthy" that lulls us all into a state of false security. A little infection may pass over in a few days or weeks, leave you utired for a while, but you forget about it with the stress of work. Perhaps that little infection has done some damage to the heart, to the kidneys, to the blood vessels, that can only be detected by a careful physical examination. The knowledge of this defect need not frighten you, but really enables you to learn how to live in security. It is really the most valuable knowledge you can possess.

As the Wisconsin Medical Journal put it: "An hour a year for a physical examination may add life to your years, and years to your life." Make it a point to get this hour's overhauling from your family doctor, once a year.

Suddenly Regains Hearing After He Was Deaf Years

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., March 8.—Partially deaf since childhood, and greatly handicapped in his work, H. Fleetwood, secretary-treasurer of the public school board of this city, has regained his hearing.

Mr. Fleetwood is unable to account for the "miracle" as he characterized it. As a matter of fact, he admitted, he is not seriously trying to discover the cause, for he is too elated in having recovered his auditory powers and is trying to "catch up" with those things of which he has been deprived in the past as a result of his disability.

He can now listen to ordinary conversation, without asking the speaker to shout into an ear phone. It all came about very suddenly, according to Mr. Fleetwood. He was walking along with his wife, when suddenly he felt an accute irritation in his ears. These sensations came spasmodically and finally the member cleared up and he heard everything going on about him. Medical men are unable to explain the sudden change.

TORONTO, Ont., March 7.—Miss Emily House, who resides at 88 Shirley street, Toronto, has the distinction of 60 years of service as a public school teacher in Ontario, and has now reached the age of 90. The nonagenarian teacher has had a remarkably interesting career.

PLAGUE OF PUPS IN FORT WILLIAM

Dog Derby Craze Blamed; Then There Is no Dog Catcher There

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., March 8.—A plague of "pups" has struck Fort William, hundreds of stray and homeless "bow-wows" are over-running the city and as there is no official dog-catcher and no pound, the situation is becoming alarming.

Only 600 dogs are licenced here, but the dog population has increased so rapidly that they number thousands, it is estimated.

Citizens believe that the dog-derby craze is responsible. In Fort William, the youthful "mushers" are not content with one dog. They drive teams of four, five and six animals, and as they go scampering down the streets, the welking rings with unholy howls.

What the citizens really object to though is that the youngsters when the evening sport is over, turn their pups loose and then the canines make for back lanes, upset garbage cans, raid butcher and grocer stores and make the night hideous with puppy warfare.

Breeding is not the strong point about the local dogs. They are of every hue and description. Bulls, daschounds, collies, terriers and even sporting dogs, are used by the boy "mushers" and even respectable dogs, with good homes, are deserting their cozy kennels to join the packs.

Gang of five holdup men, involved in robberies exceeding $500,000, are in hands of Chicago police.

KIMBERLEY TO HAVE OWN BIG DOMINION DAY

Will Not Unite With Cranbrook in Diamond Jubilee Fun; Plans Underway

KIMBERLEY, B.C., March 7.—Kimberley decided that in spite of the fact that Cranbrook is this year to have a Dominion day celebration, the usual big program will be carried out there, this being the day which has in past years been under the direction of the Amateur Athletic association and the main source of their revenue in carrying out their program for the year.

In the program for the Kimberley celebration this year, emphasis will be given to the diamond jubilee of confederation, and the children will be given a big part in whatever program is arranged. It was deemed best to follow this course, at a meeting held on Monday night, rather than endeavoring to unite with Cranbrook.

CRAWFORD BAY NOTES

CRAWFORD BAY, B.C., March 8.—G. L. Landon, poultry instructor, Nelson, and A. L. Hay, district agriculturist, Cranbrook, gave very interesting and instructive lectures on poultry, cattle and hogs on Wednesday evening. Roy McGregor was chairman.

Mrs. F. Peterson, who has been visiting relatives in Sleepy Eye, Minn., for the past five months, has returned home.

The old-timers' party was held at the hotel on Friday evening, and a good old time was spent. Music was supplied by Mrs. G. S. Gooch, Mrs. E. Francis, L. Bourne, H. Richardson. Dainty refreshments were served. Committee in charge was Mrs. Fournier, Mrs. L. Bourne, Mr. and Mrs. Richardson.

CRANBROOK BOARD TALKS PROTECTION

Need of Volunteer Fire Brigade Is Great; Progress Reported on Library Project

CRANBROOK, B.C., March 7. — At the usual Kimberley board of trade meeting held Monday night there was a good attendance. Some new members were received. Progress was reported in regard to the project to form a library for the town. Communication was had with the provincial library board in this regard. The members also had the annual statement for the year presented. Fire protection for the town, one of the chief concerns of the board, was again up for discussion, and it was decided to seek reorganization of the volunteer fire brigade in order to keep it up to the highest possible standard of efficiency. The secretary will confer with Fire Chief Kavanagh in this respect. It is also likely that in response to a request made, some representative of the fire brigade will make a point of being in attendance at the picture theater in the interests of the management and the town in general.

Odd Fellows at Sandon Pay Honor to Its Members

SANDON, B.C., March 8.—Members of Silver City lodge, No. 29, I.O.O.F., held a supper Friday evening at the close of their regular meeting in honor of H. J. Cooper, who left Monday to take up a mechanical position in New Westminster and for C. Stadile, newly elected member.

At the conclusion of the lunch, all present spoke a few words of regret in the losing of Mr. Cooper. A. P. Bird acted as chairman.

Telespore Groulx was given six months at Eastview, Ont., for burning his own home. The fire chief assisted him.

CITY TO BUILD WAREHOUSE BY ITS OWN FORCE

New Rock Crusher Will Be Bought for the Cottonwood Creek Plant

LARGER GRANT IS ASKED FOR BAND

Dressing and Seeding Suggested for Terminus of Car Line

Neither of the tenders submitted in connection with the projected city warehouse have been accepted by the city, and the council has returned them, making the decision to put up the structure by day labor. Foreman John McPhail will have personal charge of the carpenter work, and will have associated with him a competent masonry foreman. The tenders turned down by the city council were of $2395 by T. H. Waters & Co., for the city work, and $3340 by Notman & Anderson for the masonry.

The excavation has been under way for some time by the city works department.

Sand Street Car Terminus

A suggestion has been made by Alderman A. S. Horswill for putting a dressing of good earth on the gravel area around the street railway terminus by Lakeside park, and seeding it to grass. Alderman A. A. Perrier of the park committee is taking the matter under consideration.

Mayor J. A. McDonald has secured the consent of the council to the purchase of a Mitchell rock crusher, No. 4, to install in the city's crushing plant on Cottonwood creek, in place of the old crusher, whose days are over. It will cost approximately $2500.

Dump Body for Truck

The city one-ton truck is to have its usefulness increased by the addition of a dump body, the purchase of which has been ordered.

At the suggestion of Alderman Ross Fleming, certain street railway crossings which are now hard for autos to negotiate, owing to planking having been removed, are to be put in shape as soon as the snow is sufficiently gone.

Ask Aid for Band

C. F. McHardy, honorary president, and J. S. Carter, honorary vice-president, of the city band, have approached the council to give the band a much larger donation than in former years. Last year the band gave 17 public band concerts, and also played free for three functions by community bodies. A donation of $1500 is suggested.

TUXIS BOYS ARE HOSTS AT CRESTON

Father and Son Banquet Is a Huge Success; Boys Take Part Church Service

CRESTON, B.C., March 7.—It took two tables to seat the guests who assembled on Monday night for the father and son banquet and social put on by the Hustlers Tuxis Square of Trinity United church, under the direction of the Tuxis supervisor, W. J. Truscott, with the boys both cooks and dispensers of a very fine assortment of seasonable good things to eat.

In the speech making, there were two main toasts: "Our visitors," introduced by D. T. Scrimgeour and Clarence Staples, and responded to by F. Knott. The other, "Our dads," was proposed by Kenneth Davis and replied to by John Blinco. After the supper and oratory the room was cleared and the "dads" entertained with boxing contests and various other amusements, the evening culminating with a one-act play in which the good work done by the Tuxis boys was very strikingly set forth.

On Sunday night the service at Trinity was in charge of the Tuxis, some 15 of whom made up the choir. Fred Burnett was in charge of the evening, and short addresses on Tuxis work were given by the presiding officer as well as Percy Robinson, while the supervisor, Mr. Truscott, presented a well-prepared and practical paper on "The boy of today, the man of tomorrow." The invocation was by the pastor, Rev. J. Herdman, and the scripture lesson was ready by Jim Handley.

Penny bank in the Soo was looted while the school board was in session.

Freshman year at Queen's were bonded in the student court to keep the peace.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR

Derry Thomas, an attractive business girl, while shopping, permits Tony Landor, a young man whom she has not met, to pay for a dress fabric which she cannot afford. He leaves her without learning her name. Mr Ostrander, dealer in antiques, her employer, goes abroad, leaving his business in her charge on her promise not to marry for three years. Derry wins many admirers, among them Beverley Greenway, Preston Smith, a New York alderman, Dick Otley, a wealthy dilettante, Martin Cole, a playwright, and Professor Walter Blakely, an expert in psychoanalysis, a cousin of Greenway's. Willowdean French, leading lady in Cole's plays, turns out to be a girlhood friend of Derry's. Greenway offers to divorce his wife if Derry will marry him. Willowdean becomes interested in Blakely. They all meet frequently at the Recherche, a fashionable night club. Derry sees Landor there but he gives no sign of ever having met her. Martin Cole becomes jealous of Blakely and Derry urges Willowdean to go slow. Landor calls at Derry's office on a matter of business and takes her to a ball game. She goes sailing alone with Otley. They are caught in a fog and forced to spend the night on the boat. The next morning Derry is seen by a swimmer off one of the shore clubs. Willowdean brings one of Blakely's hypnotic globes and leaves it in Derry's room. Martin Cole gives a party and Willowdean implores Derry to make Blakely come. The swimmer, who recognized Derry on the boat, appears and Derry gets Tony Landor to take her to a secluded corner on the roof. He impulsively kisses her, than apologizes. Hidden from sight, they overhear Willowdean confess her love to Blakely. Derry discovers that Tony is a bachelor. Otley, who has been masquerading under a false name, is unmasked by the sudden appearance of his wife, Claire Elway. Mrs. Elway tells Derry that her husband is in love with her, Derry. Greenway becomes jealous of Tony and threatens to go to India. She persuades him to wait and accompany her on a trip to Montreal in three weeks. Mrs. Preston Smith accuses Derry of vamping her husband. Willowdean tries to make Derry call off the trip with Greenway and Derry wonders where Willowdean's love for Blakeley will carry her. Tired out, she tries to sleep in vain. The morning sun illumines Blakeley's hypnotic globe and Derry, gazing at it, drifts into a strange dream. Derry's sister thinks she is dead and calls up Preston Smith. He gets Tony Landor and Willowdean and Blakely arrive and discover that Derry has hypnotized herself. Derry comes to and asks what she has said or done.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXVII.

Derry hurled herself into her clothes and put in a toilful afternoon at the office. But through her busiest concentration shot random glints of mental effort which always fell short of accomplished memory. The constant frustration became an itch in her brain, a demand, a torment.

More and more the conviction grew upon her that something of vital interest, vital significance, had taken place while her inner self wandered in a blind, golden radiance beyond the boundaries of consciousness.

What test or trial had Blackie put her through? There flashed upon her the suspicion that she had been under the spell for a longer time than she knew, days and nights, perhaps, in which she had lived and moved and had her other being under the control of unreckonable outer influances.

No, that theory was untenable; fevered resort to the date line of the evening paper assured her that only the one morning had elapsed. What had happened in those missing hours?

Between Willowdean and Blakely, when Derry essayed later to question them, had passed one of these uninterpretable looks which constitute a bond of secrecy. Both were strong-purposed individuals; from neither could she hope to gain much by plea or insistence until the time came for them to speak. Yet both were, according to their standards, honorable-dealing people. Had anything befallen her harmful or portending harm, they would certainly have advised her.

It was all a jumbled mystery, to which she held but one possible key, Sister Letitia; she possessed that mechanically retentive memory sometimes associated with mental dimness. But how much had she heard? And how far could her mind be stimulated to give out what it had taken in? Derry could only try.

After dinner, that evening, she went out to help Letitia with the dishes. Her sister was likely to be more responsive wher her hands were at work.

"You take the china," began Derry casually, "I feel fidgety."

"Aren't you well, dear?"

"Well enough, but my nerves are queer. I didn't sleep well last night."

Letitia pressed her fingers to her temples. This was the sign of effort to recall and effort defeated its own ends with her. "Last night * * this morning * * * something * * * I can't think."

"Don't bother, dear." Derry tried another tack. "It was very nice of Professor Blakely to come."

"Yes. But Mr. Preston Smith came first."

Prenny! What might he have been doing here? Derry delivered herself of an elaborate yawn. "Old Prenny's always to be depended on."

"Yes, indeed! When I told him that you were dead, he came at once."

Indeed! Small wonder! Something of a shock for good old Prenny.

Derry pondered her next experiment, deciding eventually to risk it. "But I'm not dead, you know, Sister."

"No?" Letitia was doubtful. "You seem not to be, but how can one really tell? Inside you may be as dead as I am."

Hastily abandoning that line Derry asked, "Did you tell anyone else?"

"The other man must have known. He came with Mr. Preston Smith."

"Another man? Not Professor Blakely?"

"Oh, no. Professor Blakely came later."

"Did you know the other man? It wasn't Mr. Greenway?"

"I don't think so. It was someone I don't remember seeing before. Still, I might * * * People are so much alike."

"Couldn't you describe him to me?"

"Short and quick and fine-looking, I think. No, that was Professor Blakely. Very big, and fair * * * or was that the doctor? I'm sorry, dear; I can't remember. Perhaps it was the doctor."

"Never mind. It doesn't matter. Not in the least. Were you in my room with them?"

"Only for a few moments. Mr. Smith had a new cross-word he wished to consult me on. We went into the kitchen to spread it on the table; it was quite a large one. He left me there, and I had to close the door soon because they raised their voices so when they grew excited. I think they forgot that one needs quiet to work out the words successfully," she added gently.

Striving to control her own voice against her mounting excitement Derry inquired presently, "Did you get the puzzle?"

"All but three words. It's strange, Derry, dear," her face lighted faintly, "the voices gave me one of the very words I wanted, a long, hard one. It was 'chicanery,' the number 7 horizontal."

"How odd! Wasn't that lucky! Did somebody accuse someone else of chicanery?"

"A man said that he wouldn't have any part in such chicanery. He didn't say it very loudly, but it was so sharp and clear that every word seemed to cut through the other voices. They had all been talking at once."

"Chicanery," repeated the girl in the manner of one prompting a forgotten lesson with gentle patience. "Wasn't there something else?"

"Yes. If I could remember. It had a curse in it. He said he'd be damned if—if—something about taking by a trick what he couldn't get fairly and above board."

Blinder and blinder! "Whom was he talking to?"

"Willowdean French answered him. She said 'That isn't principle; that's caution. I'm not even sure it isn't cowardice, Tony."

"Tony! Tony Landor!" It burst from Derry before she could control her astonishment. Then, for further astonishment, she realized that, all along, there had been in the background of indefinable memory shadows, the figure of Anthony Landor.

"Tony is the only name I know. You were saying it over and over when I found you."

"Yes, of course," soothed Derry in matter-of-fact acceptance. "Can you remember anything else?"

"Only Deenie—how well I remember her as a pale, frail, hungry-eyed little girl at our house!—saying 'No. Now. At once. If it's delayed, she's going to do something desperate and foolish and irrevocable."

All literature of this kind, to which British mails are closed, is usually committed to the furnace on arrival here, and it is anticipated that no more of it will be given free circulation in Canada."

ELEPHANT HIDE NEED PATCHING? SEE ZOO

LONDON, March 8.—The London zoo has developed a brand new business—elephant hide patches—which is flourishing.

The best costumers are muscums having stuffed elephants and which desire additional pieces of skin now and then for repairing the old exhibits. It is astonishing, say the taxidermists, how rapidly elephant hide wears out, even though it stands high and dry and is used only for ornamental purposes.

The hide of Indarani, an elephant which died at the zoo, is being cut up in squares to supply standing orders for patches.

Dampened ashes will clean steel knives.

Bus Loads of Fun Go Out of Game

By AL DEMAREE
Former Pitcher, New York Giants

A lot of color as well as comedy left the old game when the ball clubs stopped dressing at the hotel and riding to and from the ball park in the old-fashioned buses. The up-to-date dressing rooms of the big modern ball parks took away a great deal of the romantic atmosphere of the game.

In the old days all the comedians of the club who were past masters in the gentle art of quick repartee rose on top of the bus, where they could see and be seen, and give full vent to their vocal talents, while the quiet, retiring athletes rode inside.

En route to the park nobody on the street was exempt from the wise-cracking baseball comedians.

If the bus passed a boarding house the remarks were about "eggs" and "prunes," and a doctor's sign was the signal for shouts about "How many did you kill today, doc?"

John McGraw was a wonder at this. One of his favorite stunts was to shout out the names he would see on the awnings and windows of stores they passed. Nine times out of 10 the proprietor would come running out to see who was calling him and then was greeted by the "razzberry."

WHEELER COMES FROM BEHIND TO WIN GAME, TITLE

Wilson, Douglas and Notman Must Play Off for Second Place

CUE TOURNEY IS WINDING UP

A Few Games Must Be Played Before Last Prizes Settled

Making a run of 24 when his opponent had but five points to make to defeat him, F. E. Wheeler broke through, to win his final game and the championship in the Semaphore billiard tournament, yesterday afternoon. A big crowd watched him click his way to victory.

Wheeler was handicapped 100 points over Harry Dronsfield, his opponent. The winner played brilliant billiards from the start, making several runs of over 20 points, and one of over 30. But despite his efforts, he was 24 points short of his necessary mark when Dronsfield made a short run, to stop five points short of his mark. A pretty run, mostly in-offs, gave Wheeler the championship and the Al Gelinas Challenge cup.

The tournament is now practically concluded, though a triple tie for second place, between George Douglas, T. R. Wilson and James Notman is to be played off, and there are two or three of the scheduled games still to be played. The schedule will be completed, for even losers are given consideration in the prizes, the cue artist who has the best average on his losing games being recognized.

JOE ROCHE BEATS DEL FONTAINE

Fans Figure Canadian Earned Draw and Protest; Comedy Included in the Battle

SAN FRANCISCO, March 8.—Joe Roche, San Francisco middleweight, won a close 10-round decision over Del Fontaine, Winnipeg boxer in the main event at the Monarch club here tonight.

The San Franciscan finished with a spurt, piling up a slight lead on his opponent. Many fans, however, thought the Canadian had earned a draw and showered the ring with programs and papers. The fight was a free swinging affair, and offered a touch of comedy as both of the fighters slipped and fell down half a dozen times during the 10 rounds. In the sixth round, Fontaine fell clear outside the ring, while his opponent had slipped as the Canadian fell, was hanging on the ropes.

Duluth Runs In Nine Goals to One When They Meet St. Paul

MOSTIL OF SOX ATTEMPTS TAKE HIS OWN LIFE

Chicago Center Fielder Cuts Throat, Ankles and Stabs Self Over Heart

PHYSICIANS SAY HE CANNOT SURVIVE

Despondency Over Ill-Health Declared Cause; Found in Room

SHREVEPORT, La., March 8.—Johnny Mostil, Chicago White Sox center fielder, was found with his throat cut in a hotel here late today. He was in a critical condition. The door to Mostil's room was locked. He was semi-conscious and in a pool of blood when found in the bathroom. A razor blade and a large pocket knife were found by his side.

There was no practice on the field today, and Mostil, with the other players, remained in and about the hotel.

Pat Prunty, an ardent Chicago baseball fan, and close friend of Mostil, said Mostil had been feeling badly in the orning. Prunty had left Mostil's room about 4 o'clock this afternoon and upon returning about 6:30 found the door locked. He obtained a pass key and upon entering found Mostil in the bathroom.

Mostil was taken to hospital, where physicians pronounced his condition serious.

Despondency over continued ill-health is believed to have been the motive of Mostil's act.

Stabbed Too

Physicians at the hospital learned that Mostil had stabbed himself just over the heart with a knife blade. This is the wound that will probably cause death. They said, when his clothing was cut from him, it was discovered that he had slashed his ankles. One cut was almost to the bone.

Manager Ray Schalk, Vice-President Lou Comiskey and Secretary Barbour of the White Sox and many players stayed at his bedside tonight.

Mother Collapses

CHICAGO, March 8.—Mrs. Casper Mostil of Whiting, Ind., widowed mother of Johnny Mostil, Chicago White Sox center fielder, tonight declared she knew of no reason why her son should attempt to take his life, nor of any enemies who might attempt his life. Mrs. Mostil became hysterical and collapsed when she learned of her son's condition.

WERE TAILENDERS

The Queb curlers found the going a little rough in the battle for Dominion honors and the Macdonald Brier tankard at the Granite club, Toronto. They won only twa games and lost five, but they certainly curled well. They were at a decided disadvantage, as in Quebec most of the curling is played with irons and not granites. HABEAS CORPUS PROCEEDING IS NOW USELESS

Wrong Way to Secure Release Captain Stone and Crew, Federalship

SAN FRANCISCO, March 8.—Three habeas corpus petitions asking immediate release of Capt. Stuart S. Stone, master of the suspected rum runner Federalship, and of F. V. Donahue, first mate, and Edward Solem, member of the crew, were denied late today by the United States district court here.

The court's ruling was brief and set forth that since the defendants were in custody by court order, habeas corpus proceedings were not he proper method of attacking the indictment.

Members of the Federalship's crew were brought ashore by the marshal, while the habeas corpus fight was in progress. The men were in high spirits and sang "Hail, hail, the Gang's All Here," as they were transported from their seized vessel to shore in a coast guard cutter. Since the Federalship was towed here last week the crew have been prisoners on board. Unable to furnish $20,000 bail each, the amount set by the federal court, the men were remanded to jail.

BIG TRACTION ORDER PLACED BY C.N.R. LINE

Firm Orders 64 Locomotives, 15 Snow Plows and 200 Refrigerator Cars

WINNIPEG, March 8.—Orders for 64 locomotives, 15 snowplows and 200 refrigerator cars have just been placed by Canadian National railways, according to officials of the company. The Montreal Locomotive Works, Montreal, and the Canadian Locomotive Works, Kingston, Ont., have each received orders for 20 locomotives of the 4-8-4 type, designed for heavy passenger and manifest freight services in the Dominion, and the American Locomotive company and the Lima Locomotive Works will build the locomotives for service on the Grand Trunk western lines in the United States.

In general design, it is pointed out, the 4-8-4 engine is similar to the "6000" class, which is known as the largest and the most powerful locomotive of its class used anywhere within the British Empire. The new locomotives, however, will possess increased boiler pressure and will have 20 per cent increase in tractive power. The large boiler has been designed for burning any grade of coal. The total weight of the new engines in working order will be 320 tons, as compared with 290 tons of the "6000." The relationship between the present class and the new locomotives will be preserved in the numerals, the type being known as the "6100."

The snowplows and refrigerator cars will be constructed by the Eastern Car company, Trenton, N. S.

SOME CANADIAN PAINTINGS

Canadian art mourns the passing of Suzor Cote, who died in Montreal. No artist in this country, it is said, has interpreted the French-Canadian habitant so vividly. His sculpture, also noteworthy, was sought by noted art galleries, and he is represented in several world-famous collections. The above illustrations show types of habitant studies, drawn in and around Arthabaska in the period 1906-1916. He did some of his work at Sir Wilfrid Laurier's old home.

Some Operators Raw-Hide Ore From Workings; Drive Tunnel on Sovereign

SANDON, B.C., March 8. — C. R. McLanders and John Vallance are rawhiding a car of ore from the Minnie Ha Ha mine to the Ruth Hope loading platform preparatory for shipment. Noble Five mines, under Paul Lincoln, shipped two cars of mill feed to Trail last week.

Ruth Hope mines shipped a car of clean ore on Saturday.

Charlie and Ernie Vandergraft of New Denver were up at their lease on the Black Colt last week.

George Allan and son, Harold, report good showing of mill feed on the Elkhorn.

An intermediate tunnel is now being driven on the Sovereign mine.

The Silversmith mines are continuing to stow away mill feed preparatory to reopening of their mill.

Completion of the long tunnel at the Carnation, operated by the Victoria Syndicate, is expected shortly.

H. Davis and N. E. McColl of the American Boy Mining company, Spokane, Wash., spent five days last week inspecting their interests here.

NEW YORK, March 8. — Gordon Leigth, widely known British banker, is to become a partner in the international banking firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., according to a report in Wall street today. Officials of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. declined to comment.

A partnership in Kuhn, Loeb & Co., which ranks next to the house of J. P. Morgan & Co., is regarded as one of Wall street's choicest plums.

It is understood that Mr. Leigth is to represent the firm in London, where it has extensive interests.

POOL SHIPPED MOST GRAIN VANCOUVER

VANCOUVER, March 8. — The Alberta Wheat pool has shipped to Vancouver to date more than half the grain that has been sent through the port, H. W. Wood, president of the wheat pool, and president of the United Farmers of Alberta, told the members of the Vancouver board of trade at their annual meeting here tonight.

Mr. Wood stressed the importance of cooperating in every way in the west to aid western interests, and described the wheat situation in detail, as it affects the Pacific coast of Canada. He stated that it was hoped the pool system could be extended to other agricultural products in Alberta.

OPERA HOUSE
'The Whole Town's Talking'

Nearly everyone in town is talking about the Opera House and what is going to take place there when VERNA FELTON and her clever company appear in the hilarious Comedy, FRIDAY AND SATURDAY of this week, "THE WHOLE TOWN'S TALKING," with which they are now on their way back to the Coast, after a successful tour east with "So This Is London," which so delighted local playgoers who saw it last October when presented by the same company.

"THE WHOLE TOWN'S TALKING" is one of the big hits of the present London season, and it was the star of the London production who was recently married to Lord Ashley, son and heir of THE EARL OF SHAFTESBURY. It is a bright, fast action play which keeps an audience guessing just what is going to happen next—and in this particular case, guessing all wrong—and the mix-ups and resultant ludicrous situations follow each other so quickly that they bring gasps of surprise and merriment in almost unbroken continuity.

It's a SURE FIRE laughing hit.

DIAMOND DRILL ON BIG LEDGE DEPTH WINTER

Brindle Tells How Fires Burn All Winter on Pipe Pine; Deep Snow

THROUGH WINTER WORK NOT HALTED

Drillers Work in Three Shifts at Elevation of 5500 Feet

A tale of mining under difficulties was told by A. St. Clair Brindle, engineer in charge of exploration work on the Big Ledge, silver-lead property on Pingston creek, Upper Arrow lake, last night at the Hume, in describing the winter's work on the property.

"We have been diamond drilling at an elevation of 5500 feet all winter," Mr. Brindle said. "Last week the crew of 15 to 20 men employed was laid off until the spring thaw gets under way, on account of water shortage."

Water Coils Heat Air Pipe

For the diamond drilling, Mr. Brindle said, it was necessary to lay "two-thirds of a mile of air pipe in snow ranging from seven to 10 feet in depth. Two water coils were placed on the pipe line, and fires were kept alight under these coils night and day, with the result that it was never necessary to halt work."

Boyles Brothers of Vancouver, who were doing the drilling, kept crews working in three shifts, so that work was continuous from the start at the beginning of the winter until the layoff a week ago.

Los Angeles Capital

Los Angeles capital, Mr. Brindle stated, has control of the Big Ledge group, which comprises over 30 claims, and covers a big territory. It is intended to continue exploration work in about six weeks.

Mr. Brindle is in Nelson letting contracts for further work on the group.

POLICE MEET IS FOR PURPOSE OF REDUCING CRIME

Crime Commissions to Be Present at Big Convention at Nelson

SEATTLE, Wash., March 8.—Realizing the necessity for law enforcement heads and forces keeping up with the newest modes in crime, and then going a step beyond, leading authorities on crime prevention in the United States and Canada will meet in Nelson, B.C., June 16-18, inclusive. This year, the sixth annual session of the Northwest Association of Sheriffs and Police, the convention will attract not only police heads, sheriffs, county, state and federal officials from the United States and Canada, but the constables of Canada, a minor but highly important body in the Dominion.

In going the up-to-the-minute criminal one better, Luke S. May of Seattle, president of the association, has announced that the convention this year will cement relations with the national crime commission, and undoubtedly take steps to promulgate the formation of state crime commissions. Through the personnel of these commissions, it is hoped to collect and keep up to date minute valuable data on crime, its prevention and ways of increasing the efficiency, speed and curbing power of the law. Sitting in convention sessions there will also be one or more members of the Hearst crime commission.

President Harding Honorary Member

Last year's convention was held in Spokane, and the 1924 meeting at Seattle. In 1923, the late President Warren G. Harding addressed the association at Vancouver, B.C., one week before his death, and was given honorary membership. Five hundred police chiefs, sheriffs, attorney-generals, crown prosecutors, judges, United States arshals, railway special agents, mayors and governors are expected at the Nelson meeting, in addition to the Canadian constables and invited guests from all parts of the North American continent.

CANADIAN EXPERT WRITES BRIDGE BOOK

The teaching of Auction Bridge has developed into a well paid profession. Its leading exponents have won a continent-wide reputation through text books on the game, through lessons published in the magazines and through syndicated features in the newspapers.

There was a day when Foster was considered the leading authority on the conventions which are an essential feature of the game. In recent years he has been displaced by Milton T. Work, who is probably the most generally accepted authority on this side of the Atlantic. No player who adheres to work conventions and theories can go far wrong in any Bridge company, whether the stake be a twentieth or a cent.

"Auction Bridge from A. to Z" by Ella G. Pimm, is the first text book of note on Bridge to be published by a Canadian.

It is an excellent piece of work. It is concise, exceptionally clear in its demonstrations, and contains all that anyone need to learn from a book on the game.

No book will make a good Bridge player out of one without card sense, but no one, no matter with what natural endowments, can make the most of Bridge without keeping in touch with developments in the game as they are outlined by the leading writers.

Auction Bridge conventions and methods are not static. They constantly develop. Take, for example, the 4-card suit bid, and its immense possibilities unrecognized.

"Auction Bridge from A to Z" will be of interest and of value to all classes of Bridge players. It is gratifying to see such an excellent work from a Canadian author, whose field for sales is restricted as composed with that of the American writers.

There is no reason why a Pimm book on Bridge should not be published annually, so that the followers of this authority may keep constantly up to date.

The publisher is the Musson Book Company of Toronto.

Drunk on Observatory Street; He Didn't Know What Was Doing There

Pleading guilty to a charge of being drunk on Observatory street Monday night, Michael Roberts of Rossland was sentenced yesterday morning by Police Magistrate William Brown to pay a fine of $25, or to spend 14 days in jail.

When the magistrate asked him what he was doing on Observatory street, Roberts answered: 'I don't know."

The great majority of Kootenay motorists store their cars during the winter months, and take out nine-months licences the first of April.

Turkey Talked to Trinity Fellowship; Lantern Pictures

Turkey, its religious customs and the life of its people was the subject of an interesting talk by W. T. Oliver at a meeting, in the Trinity church parlors last night, of the Trinity Young People's fellowship. Mr. Oliver illustrated his adress with lantern slides.

An orchestra, composed of Archie Renwick, violin; Ted McIntyre, drums, and Harold Brown, piano, enlivened the program with popular selections.

STATES CONFIDENT ON NAVAL MEETING

Probable Naval Limitations Discussion Will Be at Geneva, Summer

WASHINGTON, March 8. — The convening in Geneva in June or July of a British-American-Japenese naval limitations conference to discuss maximum tonnage ratios in cruisers, destroyers and submaries is confidently expected by the Washington government.

Definite proposals for a three-power attempt to fin a suitable formula have been made by the United States to London and Tokyo. While they are informal and possibly no more than verbal in character as yet, replies now awaited will result in a formal invitation if the plan is accepted, as is clearly foreshadowed in preliminary conversations.

The fact that only a limitation project, not a proposal for reduction of tonnage is under consideration, is believed to have been stressed in the informal exchanges here and in London and Tokyo, which followed rejection by France and Italy of the original American plan for a five-power conference at Geneva.

If Great Britain accepts, as London advices indicate, the greatest stumbling block in the road of the three-power discussion will be removed.

France and Italy probably will be invited to send observers.

WOODSHED FOUND TO BE ON FIRE

William Taylor Drops Match in Litter; but Little Damage Is Done

A match dropped in the litter in his woodshed, by William Taylor, 514 Carbonate street, while he was getting some fuel Monday night, is supposed to have been responsible for the building being found afire at 11:05 o'clock.

Dan Manhart, a neighbor, discovered smoke pouring from the shed, and summoned the fire department, which put the quietus on the trouble before damage to speak of occurred.

While, of course, not certain on the matter, Mr. Taylor attributes the fire to a match not quite out, as he lighted matches to see by, when getting the fuel.
