OOLEY AND TWIGG T THE INQUIRY

ooley Says No Reason to Sup- pose Members Influenced by Contributions

VICTORIA, March 23.—He had not slightest reason for supposing t the campaign fund contributions 1924 had influenced the vote of y member of the British Columbia islature, R. H. Pooley, leader of Conservative opposition in the use, told the royal commission day.

H. D. Twigg, junior member for ctoria, said the first time he had ard the suggestion of improper in- ence was when it was made be- e the Odlum select committee. Mr. igg confessed no knowledge re- ding beer transactions, and said he knew regarding campaign funds s general rumors regarding whisky. suggested the commission inquire o the appointment of agents han- ng whisky, and met the comment t the distillers, and not the govern- nt, appointed the agents and paid commission, with the remark that should be possible to save this mmission for the province.

LONDON, March 23.—Downing street is inclined to view the Italo-Jugo Slav dispute as closed, it is expected here that the final step will be the sending of military experts to the Albanian frontier to investigate the actual situation there, where many sensational reports of troop concentrations by Italy and Jugo Slavia have issued.

BRITISH SHIP MAKES HARBOR, HOLD IS AFIRE

Fire Broke Out in Bunkers Several Days Ago; Now in the Columbia

ASTORIA, Ore., March 23. — The British steamer Belchers arrived off the Columbia river bar at 6 o'clock tonight with fire in her bunkers and hold. Tugs left to meet her, and expected to bring her into port here tonight about 9 o'clock.

The steamer, which sailed from Nanaimo, B.C., March 15, for the orient with a cargo of steel rails and lumber, started back for the Columbia river several days ago after fire broke out in the bunkers. The captain did not report her plight until Tuesday evening, when the situation became serious. Preparations have been made to begin fighting the fire as soon as the vessel arrives.

SAANICH LIBS ARE IN ROW

Not Satisfied With Results of Nominating Convention; Row in Camp

VICTORIA, March 23.—Saanich, which provided some of the high lights of the Kamloops Conservative convention, is busy producing more political trouble, but this time in the Liberal camp.

Liberals are not satisfied with results of the nominating convention held in Saanich last year and are circulating a petition in favor of another convention. The last convention nominated Norman Whittaker as Liberal candidate for the riding in the provincial legislature. He was successful against ex-Reeve Robert MacNicol. Later MacNicol charged that "machine work" had been responsible for his defeat and indicated that he would run for the legislature anyway as an Independent Liberal at the next election. Now his friends are moving for a new convention.

BRITISH MEMBERS TALK MIGRATION

See Great Possibilities in Canada; for Migration Within Empire

LONDON, March 23.—A motion by Capt. R. A. Eden, Conservative, Warwick and Leamington, that new proposals to increase facilities for settlement overseas should be initiated in cooperation with the dominions, which was eventually adopted without division, began a private members' discussion of migration and settlement within the Empire in the house of commons tonight. Captain Eden contended that the schools should educate children in regard to the dominions.

L. R. Lumley, Conservative, Hull, seconding Captain Eden's motion, said the prospects for development in Canada were very bright.

Dr. I. D. Shields, Labor, Edinburgh East, although he declared himself an internationalist, said he would prefer to see Canada peopled by the British race. He suscered that central Europeans were welcomed there because they had a lower standard of living.

Lieut.-Col. L. C. Amery, under secretary of state for dominian affairs, made it clear that Britain was not concerned with Empire development, in order to rid herself of responsibility to a single citizen of Britain.

SENTENCED TO TWO MONTHS, ASSAULT

SASKATOON, March 23.—After hearing medical evidence at the peculiar physical condition of the accused, Magistrate Brown today sentenced John Boychuk to two months in jail for an assault on Raymond Niswanger, resident of a local hotel, the night of March 14. The doctor diagnosed the ailment which brought Boychuk's perplexing collapse into coma following the the assault as a semi-cataleptic state due to hysteria, brought on by excitement, the latter circumstances proving that the attack followed the assault on Niswanger. Boychuk struck Niswanger with a brick.

URGES CHINESE NOT TO PILLAGE; HAS CONFERENCE

Gen Pai Says Captured City Will Be Center for New Nationalism

WILL ABOLISH UNEQUAL TREATIES; QUIET REIGNS

Mob Demonstration Before British Barrier; General Strike Has Ended

SHANGHAI, March 24. — The general strike in Shanghai, which had affected about 200,000 workers, was called off today.

SHANGHAI, March 23. — The Chinese people have awakened and the great commercial center of Shanghai will become not only a strong base for Chinese Nationalism, but for a world revolution, says a manifesto issued to the Chinese people today by Gen. Pai Tsung Hsi, Cantonese commander.

"The people must distinguish, however," the manifesto continues, "between attacking Imperialism and foreigners. They must not insult the foreigners and destroy their property."

Declaring that for 80 years the Imperialists under the protection of unequal treaties have been reducing China to a state of vassalage, the manifesto warns that the Chinese must understand that the Nationalists do not intend to create a general anti-foreign movement, but seek to abolish "all institutions and systems of Imperialist character."

"Abolition of unequal treaties, alteration of the status of the Shanghai international settlement, withdrawal of extra-territorial privileges for foreigners, disposal of the missionary schools and recovery of control of the post offices and customs," are some parts of the Cantonese program mentioned in the manifesto.

General Pai disavowed the operations of the guerilla bands which were largely responsible for the 36-hour reign of terror in the native quarter, and said that he was doing his utmost to suppress them. He promised to maintain order and to protect foreigners, and added that he urged the general labor union to call off the general strike.

General Pai declared that although he was opposed to the "unequal treaties," the abrogation of these was a matter for competent Nationalist authorities, and added that the status of the international settlements was also outside his province.

Those who conferred with the Cantonese general were the consul-generals of Great Britain, France and Japan.

Quiet in Shanghai

Comparative quiet reigned in the Chinese areas of Shanghai today, unlike the turbulence of the past two days, while rain, which is always an effective damper on Chinese passions, also helped slack the fires of the incendiary situation.

There was renewed sniping in the northern Chinese districts and some fighting between Cantonese and the Shantungese retreating from Soochow. The only other incident worthy of note was a mob demonstration before the British barriers on the northeast boundary of the international settlement. Despite the chilling downpour of rain all day long, the Chapei native district, so recently the scene of frightful carnage, staged a demonstration of welcome to the Nationalists and 50,000 persons participated. Smaller demonstrations were held in other Chinese sections.

The general strike situation which has resulted in the going out of about 200,000 workers remained unchanged.

Many shops reopened, decreasing the idle to that extent.

Search Ruins

An eyewitness who visited Chapei reported that more than 2000 houses were destroyed by fire during the riots there Monday and Tuesday. Charred bodies were seen in the ruins, while weeping men and women stumbled through them searching for the bodies of relatives and for their belongings. They had little success in finding the latter, for looters had carried off what the flames spared.

Reports of a great explosion in the native section last night were confirmed, the explosion occurring in an ammunition dump and causing the destruction of several Shinese houses in the vicinity.

Nationalist troops and native volunteers, the eyewitness said, were attempting to restore and to clean up the stricken areas with some success.

It was officially stated today that reports that the British cruiser Vindictive had been fired on and had returned the fire were untrue.

Heavily Loaded Auto Backs Downhill and Spills; People Hurt

VANCOUVER, March 23.—A heavy touring car loaded with seven Indians stalled on a hill at New Westminster and the brakes failed to hold it. The car ran backward down the hill, throwing all occupants out when it hit a bridge at the bottom. All injured, but only one, Jean Shaw, seriously.

Senator Proposes Amendments for Old Age Pensions Bill

OTTAWA, March 23.—When the old age pensions bill came before the senate for second reading today, Senator Beubien gave notice of an amendment which he proposed to move which would have the measure referred to the banking and commerce committee of the upper house, with a view to replacing it by a contributory system of old age pension. Under Senator Beubien's proposal the beneficiary and the government would each contribute 50 per cent for the first 20 years, after which time the system would be entirely contributory. It was also proposed that a corporation of insurance companies should be formed to take care of the administration under government supervision.

NO RELIEF FOR DEPOSITORS IN FARMERS BANK

House Turns Down Hon. Mr. Edwards' Motion; Three Libs Support It

OTTAWA, March 23.—By a vote of 105 to 56, the house of commons just before adjournment today rejected a motion by Hon. J. W. Edwards, Conservative, Frontenac-Addington, that the government should grant the same measure of relief to those who suffered loss through the failure of the Farmers bank "as had been granted to those who lost through the failure of the Home bank."

The Edwards motion was supported by all Conservatives present and by three Liberals—T. M. Cayley, Oxford South; Hugh Allan, Oxford North; M. F. Hepburn, Elgin West. Other Liberal, supported by Liberal-Progressives, Progressives, U. F. A., Labor and Independents present, voted against.

Should Have Inquired

Dr. Edwards traced the circumstances which resulted in the certificate being given bringing the Farmers bank into being and its subsequent failure. He outlined the efforts made to have those who suffered loss reimbursed from the federal treasury, both during the administration of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and that of Sir Robert Borden. The Liberal government, he said, had agreed that the sufferers should be reimbursed if there was a moral claim against the government, but refused to grant an investigation. The Borden government had brought in a bill but it had been defeated in the senate.

An inquiry into the activities of the Farmers bank should have been made by the then minister of finance (Mr. Fielding) at the time the certificate was issued, continued Dr. Edwards.

Surely it was only justice to afford relief now to those farmers of moderate means who through no fault of their own had lost all their money as depositors in the Farmers bank.

Hon. J. A. Robb, minister of finance, thought that Dr. Edwards had been unfair in placing the blame in connection with the Farmers bank disaster on Rt. Hon. W. S. Fielding, who is now ill at his home in Ottawa.

Mr. Robb said parliament twice had decided that the depositors were not entitled to relief. The first time was in 1914, and the second was in 1924 by means of an amendment to the Home bank bill.

SENATORS TALK SENATE REFORM

Dandurand Tells of Difficulty in Nova Scotia in Senate Abolition Work

OTTAWA, March 23.—Senate reform and the question of pledges exacted from recenty appointed senators to support such a change were discussed briefly in the red chamber today.

Senator Tanner introduced the subject by referring to the reported criticism of senators by members of the house of commons, to the effect that no matter how successful men had been in business, the minute they became senators they were irresponsible.

He was convinced that none of the recently appointed senators had given pledges or assurances that would imperil their rights or privileges in the senate.

Senator Dandurand, government leader, replied that he had only the other day made a statement on the question of pledges exacted from recently appointed senators. He referred to the difficulty Nova Scotia had found in abolisning the legislative council, and said there were equally great obstacles in the way of amending the senate constitution. Senator Dandurand believed that there were some amendments possible which would not need to be submitted to the provinces such as fixing an age limit for senators.

NANKING FALLS TO NATIONALS; NO BLOODSHED

Populace Generally Rejoices as Defenders March Out and Seigers Enter

NANKING IS IMPORTANT RAILWAY, CENTER, CHINA

Evacuation of Women and Children Continues; Cantonese Surrounding Shanghai

SHANGHAI, March 24.—The Nationalists have captured Nanking and Chunkiang.

Nanking fell without fighting, only minor disorders within the city occurring. The city of Chunkiang also fell bloodlessly.

Disorders on the Nanking boundary marked the arrival of the Cantonese; otherwise, all was quiet. The populace generally rejoiced over the departure of the Shantungese and welcomed the Nationalists.

Refugees Many

The United States gunboat Isabel has arrived at Nanking and Rear Admiral Hough, who is in charge of the situation, as far as United States interests are concerned.

The evacuation of women and children is continuing. Some of them are still waiting aboard the Preston and Noa for steamer accomodations.

The city of Nanking, which is on the Yangtse river about 130 miles from the coast and is an important railroad center, has been the objective of a drive north of Shanghai by the Cantonese for many weeks. Its principle importance is as the terminus of a railway line to Shanghai and to Tiensin, and for that reason was highly prized by the northerners.

Its capture also means that the southerners have now established themselves almost completely in the important Yangtse valley.

The city of Chungkiang, which is on the right bank of the Yangtse river at the junction of the Grand canal, about 45 miles from Nanking down the river, is a treaty port and has extensive imports.

The capture of Chunkiang also indicates that the Cantonese are advancing down the river in an encircling movement on Shanghai, which they took from the south several days ago.

CONSERVATIVES OF VANCOUVER DENY ANY AID

Saw Nothing of Contributions to Campaign Funds

VICTORIA, March 23.—This morning Thomas H. Kirk, a member of the Vancouver Conservative association executive and of the provincial executive, said he was a candidate in the 1924 provincial election and had nothing to do with the campaign funds of his party on that occasion.

That he had never received any contributions from the liquor or brewery interests and never sought one, was the testimony of J. R. Hamilton, chairman of the finance committee of the Vancouver Conservative association during 1924.

Brenton S. Brown, provincial secretary of the Liberal association, said that although something might have been contributed by the brewers to the 1924 Liberal campaign funds, it had not come under his jurisdiction.

COLD STORAGE NEEDED IN B.C.

Lack of Facilities Causes B.C. Fruits to Lose On Markets

VICTORIA, March 23.—Necessity for "some measure of control to effect orderly marketing in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta of British Columbia fruits and vegetables in competition with products of Washington, is shown by a report of the markets commissioner at Calgary, according to a statement issued today by the department of agriculture.

"Lack of cold storage and general storage facilities in British Columbia," says the statement, "is stated by the commissioner to be one of the primary defects of the marketing system for British Columbia fruit.

"These markets are supplied from cold storage plants in Washington when British Columbia fruits are not available. Plums, prunes and other soft fruits are instanced in this connection."

Bambino Ruth Slams Out Two First Homers of Present Season

NEW YORK, March 23.—The outstanding word from the baseball zone of the south today was that the Laird of Slam had swatted out his first two homers of the season in a game at St. Petersburg. Ruth's Li-circuit feature led the Yankees to a 16-7 victory over the Boston Braves.

FORMER NELSON MEN CARRY BERT WALLEY TO REST

Late Nelson Business Man Is Buried at Vancouver by Former Nelson Pastors

VANCOUVER, March 23.—Many former residents of Nelson attended the funeral of Albert T. Walley, well known in the Kootenays, who passed away Sunday. Rev. J. H. Wright and Rev. R. J. McIntyre officiated. Interment was in Ocean View park here.

A profusion of floral tributes, received from friends in Nelson and in Vancouver, covered the casket. The pallbearers, all former residents of Nelson, were J. Armstrong, G. Nunn, F. Boles, J. W. Curran, R. Hay and A. Higginbotham.

BRITISH WRECK PIRATE ABODE

Two Cruisers and Aircarrier Take Part in Play in Chinese Waters

HONGKONG, March 23.—The days of Captain Kidd were reenacted with a modern setting today when the British aircraft carrier Hermes and two cruisers carried out an expedition against the pirates in the notorious Bias bay region.

The operation was entirely successful and the buccaneers' den was demolished without bloodshed. The warships returned tonight.

This action by the British naval authorities followed the looting by pirates of the Indo-China Navigation company steamer Hopsang Monday night. Officers of the steamer said upon arriving at Hongkong that the pirates had overpowered and robbed the vessel, going ashore at Bias bay, a few miles up the coast from Hongkong. An unconfirmed dispatch through London said a European passenger on the vessel was wounded by the pirates.

KITCHENER HOTEL SCENE OF BLAZES

Guests Pulled From Beds at 3 o'Clock in Morning; No One Hurt

CRESTON, B.C., March 23. — A loss of about $500 was caused by fire which broke out in the Kitchener hotel, Kitchener, about 3 o'clock this morning, according to word reaching Creston.

The fortunate awakening of a neighbor by the glare of the flames on his window, who turned in an alarm, and the prompt action of hotel guests and neighbors, who formed a bucket brigade, probably averted serious loss.

It is thought the blaze originated in the hotel basement near the electric lighting plant. The hotel was well filled with guests, due to unemployment in the woods near Kitchener.

James McGovern was in charge of the hotel, the owners, Mr. and Mrs. B. Johnson, being on a visit to Spokane.

Hunted Murderer Is Found Dead Near Scene of Shooting

LADYSMITH, B.C., March 23. — British Columbia provincial police today found the body of O. E. McMann, who is said to have shot and killed George Michie in the vicinity of the Victoria Lumber company camp, near here, last November 20, not far from the scene of the alleged murder, when McMann had apparently blown out his brains.

NELSON CARRIES BOND GUARANTEE BY FOUR TO ONE

Majority of 357 Is Recorded for the Veneer Works Bylaw

DIRECTORS TO TALK ON MACHINERY TODAY

Vote Cast Is Largest in Nelson's History for a Money Bylaw

VENEER BYLAW VOTE

For guarantee of bonds	481
Against	124
Majority	357

By a vote of practically four to one, property-owners of Nelson yesterday authorized guarantee of proposed bonds of the British Columbia Veneer Works, limited, up to $50,000, the total vote of 606 being the largest ever cast on a Nelson money bylaw. The previous record was held by the Five-Mile water bylaw, of 1925, which brought 593 property-owners to the polls.

Passage of the bylaw was generally considered as certain, but the striking margin it obtained surprised all but the most optimistic. It required only three-fifths of the total vote cast, but obtained practically four-fifths.

Bonds issued under the bylaw will have a life of 15 years, and will bear interest at the rate of 5 per cent, and the city's guarantee will apply dollar for dollar with cash obtained by the company for its stock subscriptions.

The company is obligated to put up a plant of a certain capacity for the manufacture of veneer and plywood, and to have it operating by a fixed date. The wood used will be chiefly cottonwood, obtained from the adjacent district.

President Rose Gratified

Seen after the announcement of the vote, Dr. W. G. Rose, president of the company, declared the result to be very gratifying.

"It means that the citizens want an industry, and it means they will get one," he said. "Plans for the building are already drawn, and I expect the directors will meet tomorrow afternoon to discuss ordering the machinery, and to decide on the sites we have under consideration. We plan to get things going immediately.

Horswill Good Guesser

Among those who expected the bylaw to carry by a record majority was Alderman A. S. Horswill, who, with Alderman J. E. McKenzie and others, was present at the count. As soon as Returning Officer W. E. Wasson sealed the ballot box after the last vote was deposited at 8 o'clock and it was announced that 606 persons had voted, Alderman Horswill set down on paper his guess as to the result. He guessed the bylaw had carried by 480 to 126. The actual vote proved to be 481 to 124, and one rejected ballot, making his guess one of the closest on record.

Missionary Declares Conditions Unbearable in Parts of China

TORONTO, March 23.—Attacked by Chinese, beaten and virtually robbed of six months' wages for a household of Chinese servants was the experience by Rev. E. F. P. Scholes, after 25 years in the foreign field for the English Wesleyan mission. Mr. Scholes is in Toronto at present with his wife. He left Hanyang on January 19.

In an interview, he stated that conditions had become impossible. "There is a very strong feeling in our part of the country against everything foreign and against Christianity."

"Even the native Christians there are very bitter," he said.

States Senator Says Reciprocity Plan Doomed to Failure

WASHINGTON, March 23.—The United States will not make any reciprocity agreement with Canada along the lines suggested by Premier King, according to Senator Watson of Indiana, Republican leader.

The senator, who is a prominent member of the senate finance committee, said Canada in any such agreement would want to exchange foodstuffs for eastern manufactured goods, and this was out of the question. He asserted that the farmers of the United States would never stand for it, their feelings having been stirred by failure to get farm relief legislation.

Blackheads Go Quick By This Simple Method

Blackheads—big ones or little ones—soft ones or hard ones—on any part of the body go quickly by a simple method that just dissolves them. To do this get about two ounces of peroxine powder from your druggist—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly for a few seconds—and wash off. You'll wonder where the blackheads have gone. Pinching and squeezing blackheads only open the pores of the skin and leave them large and unsightly—while the simple application of peroxine powder and the water dissolve them right out, leaving the skin soft and the pores in their natural condition.

MOTHERS AND THEIR CHILDREN

"FOR SALLY'S BEST BONNET"

One Mother says:

My daughter was thoughtless about putting her best velvet hat under cover and out of the dust. I contrived a pretty scheme which made her want to care for her hat. I covered a box with gay, flowered wallpaper, and on the cover I pasted a picture of a pretty little girl in a quaint, big bonnet. Across the top I printed in black letters these words: "For Sally's Best Bonnet."

"Worth its weight in gold" Says Ottawa Matron

Mme. Beatrice Charlebois Could Not Hold Pen to Write; Nerves Completely Shattered, Health Ruined; Now Alert, Vigorous and Strong, She Gives Praise to Tanlac

The two-year ordeal which she passed through before Tanlac came to her permanent relief, was recently described by Mme. Beatrice Charlebois, of 22 Rose St., Ottawa.

"What I endured in that time could not be told," she said. "I was so weak I could hardly walk. My appetite was poor and my stomach gave no end of trouble. Gas and pains would bring on fainting spells.

"My nerves were so completely shattered that I jumped in fright every time the doorbell rang. My hand trembled so that it could not hold the pen to write my name. Night after night I've gone without sleep, too nervous to lie still for even a few moments. Even my housework became too much for me.

"I tried all kinds of remedies in those two years, but can honestly say Tanlac gave me my first real relief. It built me up so that I've gained 11 lbs., eat and sleep fine and have nerves as calm and steady as ever. Tanlac is worth its weight in gold."

Build up your own health on Tanlac, nature's own tonic made from roots, herbs and barks. Your druggist has it. Over 52 million bottles sold.

Elaborate Alibi System Tumbles in Court Room, New York

MAN WAS KILLED AS HE WAS "IN THE WAY"

Victim Is Buried; Little Daughter Throws Rose Into His Grave

NEW YORK, March 23.—Henry Judd Gray and Mrs. Ruth Snyder were jointly indicted today for the murder of Albert Snyder, a husband "who stood in their way."

The verdict of the grand jury climaxed a day which saw the tumbling of an elaborate alibi system arranged by Gray

Haddon Gray, the man who posted a letter for Judd in Syracuse on the night of the murder, who rumpled his bed in a Syracuse hotel, and otherwise established his "alibi," was released from custody late today. Haddon said he had done these things because Judd told him he had an engagement in New York with a "girl friend," and he did not wish his wife, (Mrs. Isabel Gray) or his firm to become apprised of his absence from Syracuse

Is Interviewed

Newspaper men today were permitted to interview Mrs. Snyder midst booming flashlights and scrambling cameramen.

"Did you commit the crime to get your husband's insurance?"

"My God, where do you get that?"

Only once she broke down. "I want to see my little girl," she said.

The 9-year-old daughter, Lorraine with her grandmother, was meantime at Snyder's funeral As the coffin was lowered into the grave, Lorraine drew away from her elderly guardian and threw a rose into the grave She then burst into tears.

The question of Lorraine's inheritance of her father's insurance, amounting to $52,000, was unsettled today. Under the state law the child would inherit the money. The suspension of payment until after the trial was announced by the company tonight.

FORD-SAPIRO COURT CASE DRAGGING ON

Sapiro Appears on Scene and Aids Attorney; Judge Warns Newspaper Men Present

DETROIT, Mich., March 23.—Further litigation of the field of evidence, the listing in the record of more alleged libels and the appearance of the plaintiff and an attorney were the net results of today's session of Aaron Sapiro's $1,000,000 libel suit against Henry Ford.

The day was marked by several displays of temper by the attorneys after 10 days of nerve-racking courtroom work, nearly every minute of which has found attorneys for both sides on their feet fighting for the advantage.

All in all, it was another draggy session with William Henry Gallagher, Sapiro's chief of counsel, referring to the soon-to-be-amended declaration alleging 141 separate and distinct libels and then reading from back numbers of the Dearborn Independent the parts of articles to which exceptions are taken.

Sapiro at Work

In the arduous task of reading, Gallagher was spelled four times by Sapiro. That was the extent of the plaintiff's active participation in today's session.

After the noon recess, Judge Raymond learned that a barred letter had been published in newspapers, and warned the more than a score of correspondents present not to refer hereafter to evidence offered and ruled out. He pointed out that the jury was not being isolated and had access to newspapers. He warned the jurors not to read accounts of courtroom incidents which occurred when they were absent from the court.

WOOD SUES TO RECOVER MONEY

Early Days of Premier Mine and Pat Daly Recalled in Vancouver Court

VANCOUVER, BC, March 23. — An echo of early days of the celebrated Premier mine, greatest gold producer in the history of British Columbia, was heard at the court house, when R W Wood, formerly of Fernie, one of the four men who brought the property into production issued a writ against R. K. Neill, Spokane mining engineer, one of his partners.

Wood alleges that under an agreement with his partners, he paid Pat Daley, who formerly had a stake in the property, $15,000 in 1921, and that he also paid E. Hambleton $1500 for his services in settling the Daley claim. It was agreed, he claims, that each of the partners, including Neill, should pay one-fourth of this. Action which Wood begins against Neill is to recover one-fourth of these two sums, with interest since 1921 total $5267.

Confidence Gained and Held

Years ago when Pacific Milk began every condition for making a perfect evaporated milk was present. A market might be gained but only a perfect milk, its purity and quality preserved, could hope to hold it. With grateful feelings we see, in looking over the history of its splendid patronage, the confidence it gained so early in its career has been held and annually enlarged. And for this perhaps more than anything credit must be given to the quality which constantly has been maintained.

TRAIL WELCOME TO HOCKEYISTS IS A GAY ONE

Allan Cup Semi-Finalists With the Savage Cup Arrive Home From Coast

BAND AND CROWD OVER THOUSAND STRONG OUT

Mayor Clark Gives Welcoming talk; Plan Bigger Celebration of Victory Later

TRAIL, B.C., March 23. — Trail turned out en masse tonight to welcome home Trail's hockey team, Allan cup semi-finalists and winners of the Savage Challenge cup, emblematic of the senior amateur championship of British Columbia.

Congregating at the depot, fully 1000 men and women, city officials, West Kootenay Hockey league officials, Trail Hockey club officials, players and fans, cheered to the echo, waved hats and handkerchiefs, and crowded forward to shake hands and welcome their returning hockey heroes as the train pulled in.

"The boys" were—P. Jackson, E. Anderson, C. Reddick, J. Hanson, C. Kendall, captain, C. Wheatley, F. Lauriente, G. Gustason, R. Garland and Ray Jones, executive member; Ernie Arthur, trainer, and R. B. Dimock, manager.

Mayor Welcomes Them

Brought to a waiting automobile on Cedar avenue by the Trail Elks band, the crowd still excitedly cheering, gathered about "the boys," while Mayor H. Clark mounted the hood, exhibited the beautiful and coveted silver cup, and officially welcomed the team home.

"We are proud of you, every one of you," he said. "You played good hockey. You showed yourselves good sports. We sent you to the coast to bring home the bacon and you have brought it. We only regret that we coul not be there as Trail people to root for you. Knowing that after your long absence you wish to get to your homes and friends, we have not prepared any celebration to honor you tonight. But we shall no honor you in the near future."

Cheers for "Mussolini"

Calling up R. B. Dimock beside him he called for cheers for "our Mussolini."

"Our Mussolini," for the team, heartily appreciated the magnificent reception accorded them on their return. They had done their best at the coast. They had had hard battle. They had gone as far in the Allan cup series as they really expected to get. He again thanked the crowd for their unexpectedly warm reception, while scenes of wild excitement followed, with the singing of "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows," led by the band, intermittent cheering, and insistent calls for "Jackson, Jackson. We want Jackson."

And similar imperative calls for Hanson and other players.

Accompanied by the mayor and all the city dads, the team visited the dance given by the Trail Legion in the K. P. hall, to which they had been invited. There again Mayor Clark congratulated the boys on their magnificent showing and voiced the pride of Trail in them. With the two-foot high cup flourished aloft, he whimsically hoped that it was not the cup he had promised to fill.

NO CHERRY BLOSSOMS IN THIS JAP CITY

In addition to earthquakes Japan has experienced this winter in certa in sections an unprecedented snowfall. According to advices received in Canada, snow has been so heavy in the district of Fukui in Northern Jap an, that railway traffic, other transportation facilities and power transmission have been completely interrupted. Heavy snowfalls which began in January, have continued, and as far as the eye can reach, every object is snowbound. Fukui is a silk weaving center and serious interruption has occurred in the mills due to frequent interruptions of electric current. The accompanying pictures from Fukui are in striking contrast to the pictures of the cherry blossoms or of earthquakes which are more frequently used to describe the Japanese landscape.

Is on Furlough After Eleven Years' Continuous Mission Work, Africa

TORONTO, Ont., March 23.—Mrs. James Hunter, who has been engaged in missionary work for 11 years in the heart of Africa in the Portuguese colony, where she has become versed in the tongue of the native tribe among whom she ministers, and is now attending a course at the Canadian school of mission in this city, expects, on the completion of her furlough, to return to Africa under the mission board of the United Church of Canada. Mr. and Mrs. Hunter went to Africa under the American mission board from Massachusetts, and Mr. Hunter was drowned in the foreign field.

Mrs. Hunter says she enjoys very much working among the girls, who were extremely attractive. Practically all the girls married and at an early age. Only those who were mentally deficient did not marry as a fear existed of those who did not have their full measure of intelligence. Mrs. Hunter said that she was looking forward to her return to the mission field.

REINDEER INCREASE, HUGE

NOME, Alaska, March 23.—Reindeer, originally introduced into Northern Alaska to ward off starvation of the Eskimo, today presents a problem which is commanding serious attention of government officials and private citizens alike.

The herd of 1200, imported into the territory in the 10 years prior to 1902, has multiplied so rapidly that it is estimated that more than half a million are roaming the northern tundra. On the present basis of increase, within 10 years it is expected the number will approximate 5,000,000, the maximum that can be grazed successfully say government experts.

JOSEPH SALTER DIES SUDDENLY, HIS SON WIRES

He Left Nelson Saturday to Join Children in the States

RESIDENT HERE TWENTY YEARS

A Past Master of the Masons; Broke Up Home After Losing Wife

"Father died suddenly yesterday."

A wire in these words, received yesterday by Chief of Police Thomas H. Long, from Frank Salter of Vancouver, Wash., was the first intimation of anything amiss with Joseph Kerr Salter, aged 75, who left Nelson Saturday for Portland, Ore., after a residence in Nelson of 20 years or more.

Mr. Salter lost his wife about November 30 last, in consequence of which he broke up his home here, to join his children in the United States. An auction of the household effects was held only yesterday.

Was Famous as Athlete

The family's early home was in Wallace, N.S., and they migrated to the United States about 30 years ago. When they came to Nelson, Mr. Salter had employment as an accountant for many years, and was a fine, upstanding and powerful man, with fame as an athlete. Later he became caretaker of the land registry office, and was pensioned four or five years ago. Crippled from rheumatism, of late years he bore no resemblance to the powerful man he once was, but was a familiar figure, as he came and went in connection with his work at the city scales on the C.P.R. flat, of which he was in charge.

He was a lifelong Mason, and it is said he belonged to the order for half a century, being a past master when he arrived here. He was recently an officer of the Nelson lodge, A.F. & A.M. The family were connected with Trinity church.

Mr. Salter is survived by his daughter, Mrs. C. J. McGuigan of San Francisco, whose husband was for many years in the land registry office here; and by his younger son, Frank, at Vancouver, Wash. An older son, William, died here about four years ago.

CHARGED MURDER COMMON LAW WIFE

Skull All That Was Found in Ruins of Burned House in Ontario

OTTAWA, March 23.—The trial of Albert De Bruge, of the township of Elizabethtown, Leeds county, charged with the murder of Jane Lameront, with whom he had been living for some 20 years as man and wife, started in the supreme court of Ontario today, before Mr. Justice Smith. De Bruge lived four and a half miles from Brockville, and on the night of January 7 he left to go on a trip with a neighbor. His two children, a son and daughter, children of Jane, also left, and the mother was in the house alone when it burned down early the next morning. A skull was all that Dr F. H. Carron could find in the ruins that would indicate the remains of a human being.

The crown claims that Albert De Bruge not only never married Jane but that a few years ago her sister, Lizzie, came to live with them and in 1923 Albert married Lizzie. The evidence of Mrs. H. Stewart of Elizabethtown, mother of the accused, today was that she had always thought that Albert was married to Jane.

The crown's contention is that accused burned the house either to get the insurance and Jane was the accidental victim, or that he set the fire chiefly to do away with his common law wife.

The case is continuing.

TWENTY WOMEN IN FIELD

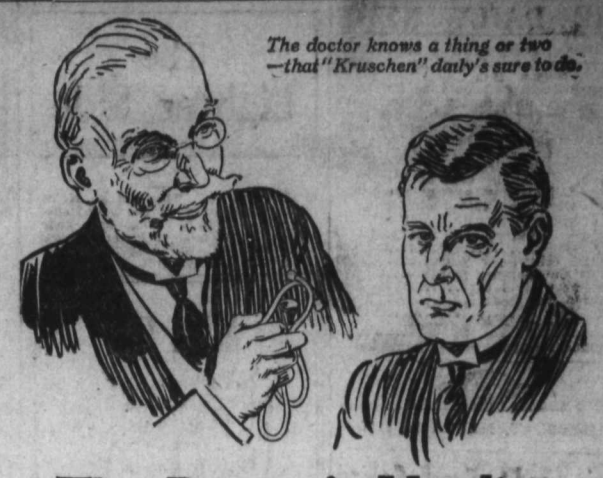
LONDON, March 23. — Already 27 women candidates have been officially selected for various constituencies at the next general election, 20 at least of whom belong to the Labor party. Included among the latter are Lady Cynthia Mosley, who has been adopted for Stoke, and Lady Clare Annesley, who will stand for West Bristol.

Declares National Sentiment Needed in Fruit Buying

TORONTO, Ont., March 23.—"Bride Broder," in the Mail: Representatives of Canada's fruit and vegetable growers have been asking the Dominion government for a seasonal tariff on importations from the United States. When Canadian strawberries come in in June the imported article has had a fortnight's start, and the first fine careless rapture with which we greet this ambrosial gift has gone. The growers want legislation to prevent this.

"We need something more. We need an aroused national sentiment among the women who do the buying. We want them to ask for and obtain, Canadian-grown fruit and vegetables. We said the women have the situation "very largely" in their own hands. One of the drawbacks is the producer. He has not yet learned the value of quality, and, in many cases, he still feels that it is rather a clever thing to "do" the city consumer—we are speaking of produce that comes to the door from the farm, or produce offered for sale on the market."

The doctor knows a thing or two —that "Kruschen" daily's sure to do.



The Doctor's Verdict

Patient: Well, doctor?
Doctor: It seems a shame to disappoint you, but the verdict's going to be sentence of—life.
Patient: You mean there's nothing much wrong?
Doctor: Nothing—and everything.
Patient: But what about all the symptoms — look here, doctor, you're not suggesting that I'm suffering from over-exercise of the imagination?
Doctor: Not for an instant. The symptoms are unmistakable. What you're suffering from is auto-intoxication.
Patient: Auto-intoxication? That sounds—
Doctor: Oh, it's not nearly so riotous as it sounds. It means self-poisoning and it's the result of not getting properly and thoroughly rid of the waste products of the body.
Patient: But that doesn't account for the pains in my face and head.
Doctor: My dear sir, it would account for anything and everything, from the neuralgia and depression you've got to the worst things you've happily escaped if you tackle it in time. It's the basic evil of civilisation, for civilisation makes it all but inevitable.
Patient: Then how can I avoid it? Must I diet?
Doctor: Diet? If a tenth of the time that people spend bothering about what they should eat were devoted to the problem of clearing out their insides, there'd be nothing between me and the poorhouse. No, all you need is something to clear your body of its impurities without lowering the tone of your system. So my prescription is Kruschen Salts.
Patient: I used to take the little daily dose, months ago, but I got to feel so fit there didn't seem to be much point in keeping it up.
Doctor: So you stopped it and promptly lost "that Kruschen feeling." Now you go away and get it back, and I can safely wash my hands of you.

Kruschen Salts

Good Health for Half a Cent a Day

The ingredients of Kruschen Salts are necessary for healthy life. Your body must of necessity extract these ingredients from somewhere, or you could not live. If you led an ideally healthy life in the open air, with plenty of exercise and no worries, your body would extract these six vital salts from your food. But the artificial life you lead prevents this. Hence the need for the "little daily dose" of Kruschen, which, unlike any other saline preparation, is a scientific combination of the six salts your body needs for its proper health. "As much as will cover a 10 cent piece" every morning, tasteless in your breakfast cup of coffee or tea, expels all clogging waste matter, purifies and invigorates your blood, and sets you all a-tingle with "that Kruschen feeling." Every druggist sells Kruschen.

A 75c bottle contains 160 doses — nearly enough for six months. Get a bottle to-day and begin a new life to-morrow. It's the "little daily dime-ful" that does it.

Tasteless in Tea or Coffee.

City's Credit Placed Behind New Industry

The vote of Nelson property-owners yesterday on the by-law to guarantee bonds of the British Columbia Veneer Works, Limited, up to $50,000, was overwhelmingly favorable, and unmistakable in its meaning.

Making great concessions to insure in the immediate future a new Nelson industry—for undoubtedly many of those who voted for the guarantee disliked the principle involved—the people of Nelson have placed the city's credit behind the company, and made its bond immediately salable. Under these circumstances, completion of the company's financing will of course be easy.

It will now be the duty of the directors of the company to bend every energy and use all the ability they possess to carry forward the enterprise on the soundest lines, and to personally deserve the trust that has been imposed on them. That, they will undoubtedly endeavor to do.

The Cult of the Water

The Launch club is going to hold a regatta at Nelson this summer

Probably the Kaslo Boat club will hold one at Kaslo, and perhaps Gray Creek will also repeat with its usual summer feature.

Oldtimers not so very old in residence can remember when Nelson and Kaslo boasted many regattas in the course of the season. At one period Nelson had a regatta weekly throughout the season.

In those days, when Kootenay communities were isolated, in the sense that there was no highway system, the people of Nelson and the West Arm were almost amphibious—everybody went out on the water.

Not in such honor as in the old days, the lake is still one of the attractions of life in the communities on its shores, and to visitors The water cult is one of the wholesome of hobbies or diversions.

Among the summer fixtures in Nelson, for instance, might be included not only regattas, covering launches, rowboats, shells and canoes but also a field day for the season's swimming classes at Lakeside park.

Washington Allocates Large Sum for Improving Nelson-Spokane Highway

In the construction season now about to open, and the one following, Washington state road money to the extent of $239,000 will be expending in improving the Washington portion of the Nelson-Spokane highway.

It is to be hoped that a substantial sum will be laid out on the British Columbia portion to put this important highway, now showing a tendency to deteriorate, in good condition for motor traffic, so that it may realize one of the two chief objects for which it was brought into existence—daily use for through traffic.

Italian Flyer May Extend Trip Over North American Area

MONTREAL, March 23.—Possibility of an extension of many thousands of miles of the North American continent, part of the flight of the Italian aviator, Commander De Pinedo, is held out in advices received from Italy. Under the new plan, if adopted, the aviator, instead of flying direct from New Orleans to Chicago and New York, would go via Galveston, San Diago, Seattle, Chicago, the province of Quebec in Canada and New York.

Recently I wrote upon the rights of the child in the home. Today I want to speak of the rights of the various grown-up members of the family.

We all know homes in which every member of the family goes his or her own way—where husband and father are generally at the club, the wife and mother are constantly at card parties, and each child is following his or her individual interests. This is all carrying independence too far.

On the other hand, we all have known families which are dominated by a single member—sometimes an overbearing husband and father, sometimes a nagging and fussy housekeeper. And this is an example of too little independence in the home circle.

However, there is a middle course, a moderate course, between these two extremes. In this medium-course home, we find interests in common, and yet each member of the family is allowed by the other members to "go his own way" to a certain extent. If daughter wants to raise a breed of angora cats to make a little money, she meets with no opposition; if father thinks he can build his own radio, he is free to go ahead without ridicule or dire predictions; if young brother cherishes the ambition to be a tight-rope walker, the attic is his to experiment in, without lamentations from his family; and if mother takes a sudden fancy that she would like to make money by putting fancy cakes in a woman's exchange, there is no objection to her trying out the experiment. This is home freedom. The members of such a family are bound together by an understanding for each other and a sympathy for each other's interests. It is an ideal home, which is dear to all its members.

So often we hear of children who have married and left their home nest, taking a different attitude toward going back to their childhood home for reunions—Christmas, Thanksgiving, and other holidays. And, when we investigate, we find that such a home was not the ideal place which I have just described in the paragraph above. For homes in which individuality reigns supreme, are ever dear to the hearts of those who have been fortunate enough to live in them.

Tomorrow — The Undernourished School Child.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

The Needs of Living Tissues

Dr. Alexis Carrel removed some of the tissues from one of the lower species of the fish, and has kept these tissues alive for a number of years. These tissues multiply so rapidly that it is necessary to remove large portions from time to time, as they would otherwise overflow the vessel in which they are growing.

Now this doesn't mean giving life to tissues, but it is an interesting study of life itself, because these tissues are really alive. However, the big point for you and me, as Sir William Arbuthnot Lane points out, is that Dr. Carrel has found it necessary not only to supply the juice of living tissues as food for these growing tissues, but also he has to wash his preparations daily to remove the products of digestion by the cells. "If drainage of these products was not done often enough, the cells began to weaken in size and vitality."

Your doctor will tell you that in illness it is not the getting in of fresh air that is most important, but getting rid of the waste matters in the used air of the lungs. The lungs draw out much waste matter from the blood and this must be thrown from the body by breathing out. Similarly perspiration must not be imprisoned. Anything that stimulates perspiration, especially exercise (which means increased circulation) helps to rid the body of wastes.

Similarly also with wastes from the kidneys.

And what is most important, the wastes from the intestine.

It is the wastes from digestion, the decomposition of food wastes, which if left in the intestine too long, set up a poisoning of the system. You see, the blood circulating everywhere, when it reaches the walls of large intestine draws to itself some of this poisonous waste, and the blood carrying these poisons, goes to every cell in the body.

The stimulation of the intestine, so that its muscular walls pass the waste materials along, is accomplished by food, and by exercise.

Foods that have coarse material or roughage in them like oranges, and other fruits, cereals and vegetables, are available and effective. Bending exercises which squeeze the liver and the gall bladder, send the *bile down th intestine, where it stim*ulates the intestine to work.

The bending likewise acts directly on the muscles of intestine, and stimulates action.

Remember then, like the tissues Dr. Carrel is keeping alive, your tissues need food, and what is just as important, need drainage also.

Paul Nannarino was finally captured at 3 o'clock on Friday afternoon by Constables Young and Wilson and brought in last night to this city, where he will have to answer a charge of a tempted murder, which may be amended to a graver crime if his victim, James Nannarino, succumbs to his injuries.

Breakfast

best meal of the day

Physicians urge satisfying breakfasts because in the forenoon most people are called upon to do two-thirds of their most important work.

To enable body and brain to reach their highest capacities in the shortest time, digestion must be easy and quick.

The delicious taste of Quaker Oats invites digestion. Gratefully warm, it is welcomed by the stomach. It assimilates quickly and its bulk and tender bran assist in the assimilation of other food. They aid in a function which doctors say is the first essential to good health.

And Quaker Oats sustains throughout the day's most vital working hours. No other cereal has such perfect balance of food elements. It contains 16% of the tissue builder, protein; 65% of the energy producer, carbohydrates; and the all-important vitamines and mineral salts.

If you are not using Quaker Oats at breakfast, start now. You will take up your morning work more eagerly and will feel more vigorous and alert throughout the day.

Two Kinds

You can get Quaker Oats in two forms—the large, plump whole flake or the half flake, rolled thin, and partly cooked. Both are of the same Quaker Quality, famous in 58 countries.

If you wish to make porridge while you boil the coffee, or make the toast, use Quick Quaker. It cooks in 3 minutes.

ITALY CLAIMS GREAT VICTORY FOR MUSSOLINI

Albanian Incident Fourth Great Balkan Victory in Four Months

ITALIANS SAY DUCE PUTS IT OVER FRANCE

Holds Back When Jugo Slavia Fires Revolt, Then Prevents Catastrophe

ROME, March 23.—The Italian interpretation of the controversy with Jugo-Slavia over Albania is that Premier Mussolini has triumphed in a highly romantic but intensively dangerous diplomatic duel between Rome and Paris, in which the prize was predominance of influence in the Balkans. The duce, it is asserted, in sources close to officialdom, has by his handling of the Albanian incident won his fourth Balkan victory in as many months.

The Italians observe that Premier Mussolini has accomplished an unusual series of contests with French political hegemony in the Balkans without a single gesture toward rattling the saber and maintain that he now has a right to be considered among the world's great statesmen.

This is the story of the Albanian incident as it is explained here.

On Tottering Post

Ahmed Zogu, president of Albania, whose position, like that of all Balkan leaders, is always shaky, had been rapidly losing favor since he signed the Italian pact by which his enemies assert he "sold his country for gold."

Jugo-Slavia, observing the growing spirit of revolt in Albania and bitterly discontented with the Tirana pact, decided to add fuel to the flames. Premier Mussolini, biding his time for the moment of "opportune surprise" because he knew his reputation or militarism would ruin the value of any aggressive protest, allowed the Jugo-Slavs to overstep the caution mark set by the French, thus succeeding in isolating them even from friendly Paris, which was unable to back up their indiscretions.

Then the premier stepped in, succeeding in discrediting the Parisian intrigue, showing his pacific intentions, foiling the Serbian plans and justifying the granting of Italian military aid—already sanctioned by the Tirana pact—to Zogu in holding down the revolt now brewing.

This column is being conducted by Mrs. M. J. Vigneux. All news of a social nature, including receptions, private entertainments, personal items, marriages, etc., will appear in this column. Telephone Mrs. Vigneux at her home.

Wednesday morning at 6 o'clock the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Lambert, Elwyn avenue, Fairview, was a scene of interest when their eldest daughter, Gladys Mae, became the bride of Earl Eugene Swanson, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Swanson, formerly of Vancouver and now residents of Kimberley. Miss Genevieve McMahon acted as bridesmaid, and George Lambert as best man. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. C. Mawhinney. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was a pretty figure in a navy georgette trimmed in flesh-colored contrasting material. She wore a two-toned rose model hat, with shoes and stockings to correspond, and carried a corsage bouquet which completed her toilette. Her bridesmaid was dainty in a creation of rosewood crepe-de-chine, with hat to match, and a corsage bouquet. Miss Lottie Annable sang "At Dawning," during the signing of the register, and was accompanied by Miss Eva Armstrong, who also played the wedding march. Following the ceremony, a reception was held, at which only intimate relatives and a small number of the younger set, more intimate friends of popular pair, were present. Many beautiful gifts were received by the happy couple, who left on the 7 o'clock train, where they were escorted, amidst a shower of confetti and good wishes, Mrs. Swanson traveling in a gorgeous top coat of navy cloth, and the gift of the groom, a beautifully marked stone marten stole. After a few weeks spent in Spokane, Seattle, Portland, Victoria and Vancouver, they will make their home in Kamloops, where Mr. Swanson is C.P.R. Telegraphs agent. The Lambert home was bright with its elaborate floral decoration of spring blooms and greenery. Mrs. Lambert was assisted by Mrs. Wib Blanchard and Mrs. Arthur Bush, who presided at the tea table, where a huge wedding cake made an attractive center. Pink carnations and lighted tapers to correspond, also added greatly to the effect. Acting as serviteurs were Miss Helen Murphy, Miss Eva Armstrong, Miss Ida Fleury, Miss Jean Lambert, Mrs. John J. A. Irving and Miss Jean Gilker. Invited guests included Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Swanson, Rev. and Mrs. W. C. Mawhinney, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Nujol method is modern treatment for Constipation . . . said physicians

THE daily use of laxatives for constipation is over. Eight doctors out of ten now recognize that the Nujol type of treatment is better from every point of view than laxatives and cathartics.

Recently we asked leading physicians throughout the country how they treated constipation. 81.3% answered that they advise the Nujol type of treatment. Seven out of ten stated that the continuous use of laxatives is dangerous. On every hand we got answers like this—"Laxatives bring on the laxative habit and do not remove the cause."

Doctors Advise Nujol

Eight doctors out of every ten told us they were advising the Nujol type of treatment for their patients in place of laxatives—and for these reasons:

1. Nujol is not habit-forming.
2. A more natural method.
3. A lubricant is better than a laxative.
4. Does not gripe.
5. Is not irritating.
6. Nujol gives lasting relief.

Unlike Laxatives

Laxatives and cathartics act by irritating the intestinal tract. They cause the bowels to frantically expel the contents of the intestines and thus rid the system of the drugs that pills and potions contain.

Nujol acts entirely differently. It contains no drugs, no medicine. Its action is mechanical. It merely softens the dried waste matter in the intestines and lubricates the passage so that the muscles of the bowels can expel the waste matter regularly, naturally and thoroughly.

Nature-given Remedy

Nujol appeals to the medical man because it is a simple, scientific and safe remedy for constipation, no matter how severe the case may be. It is gentle in its action and pleasant to take. Children love it!

Get a bottle of Nujol from your druggist today. Doctors advise it for constipation, whether chronic or temporary. Avoid substitutes.

TYPHOID CASES IN MONTREAL ARE INCREASED

Close to 1000 Now; Auxiliary Hospitals Are Being Opened in City

MONTREAL, March 23.—The typhoid epidemic which has been raging in Montreal for the past three weeks took on a serious turn during the last 24 hours, ending at noon today, when the number of cases jumped to 158, the largest in 10 days. After appearing to be well under control the epidemic had flared up again. The total number of people reported ill from the fever in Montreal tonight was 905, 47 additional cases being reported this afternoon.

All the regular hospitals now report that no more space is available for typhoid patients, and the authorities, who have already reopened an old hospital for the care of the sick, today made arrangements for equipping an emergency quarantine building.

The call for nurses has been met very promptly, the Grey Nuns supplying a number under the superintendence of Rev. Mother McKenna of the order. Hospital supplies have been ordered in adequate quantities.

Warns People

While Dr. S. Boucher, director of health, has issued a notice to citizens that there is no reason for undue alarm, he has solemnly warned them that every family must take precautions against infection.

The authorities believe that effective vaccination with anti-typhoid serum has much to do with keeping the form of the fever down to a mildness which will not call for long treatment.

The Montreal Star today publishes the following editorial under the caption, "Wanted—A Bacteriologist":

"It seems incomprehensible that with the epidemic taking heavy toll in suffering and serious loss to many families the city council neglect or refuse to appoint a bacteriologist. Never have the services of such an official been so urgently needed as at present. The most elaborate equipment has been purchased at great cost to the ratepayers, but for some reason or other the city refuses to name a successor to the scientist who last occupied this post."

SEEK MAN TO CONTROL NEW MARKET PLAN

Department of Agriculture Favors Outsider for Job; for Okanagan Crop

VICTORIA, March 23.—In preparation for an early inauguration of the British Columbia new fruit marketing law, the department of agriculture is looking all over Canada for a man to appoint as chairman of the control committee, which will handle the Okanagan fruit and vegetable crop this year.

While no selection has been made, it is known that the department and the fruit industry favor choice of a man from outside the Okanagan altogether, and preferably from outside of the province, so that he may be free of any suggestion of partiality, as between organized cooperators and organized independents.

Ontario's Liquor Control Bill Is Making Progress

TORONTO, March 23. — As the result of prolonging today's sitting until after midnight, the legislature made substantial progress in its task of passing the government control bill through the committee stage. Despite the fact that Progressive and Liberal opposition forces at all times were exhaustive in their discussion of the provisions of the measure, and pressed their views to the point of polling the committee, some 98 of the 144 clauses were passed before adjournment.

The bill during the day underwent amendment, which had the effect of clarifying rather than altering it. The amendment in question declared that the bill should in no way affect an area in which the temperance act was in force, or was to be brought into force.

UNITED FARMERS ATTACK BUDGET

Pass Vote Non-Confidence in Robb Budget; Discuss Returning Officers

MOOSE JAW, Sask., March 23.—A vote of nonconfidence in the Robb budget and indorsation of proposed changes in the grain grading system of the Dominion was the outstanding act of the United Farmers of Canada, Saskatchewan section, this afternoon. Only a half-dozen resolutions out of 90 contained in the agenda have been disposed of since the convention opened yesterday and there is already talk of curbing discussion or withdrawing some of the minor resolutions.

The Robb budget as brought down during the present session of the house was condemned by a unanimous vote of the convention. Reduction of the income tax and lack of tariff reductions were the objections.

The delegates approved a recommendation that the appointment of returning officers be taken out of politics. Legislation will be sought to place such appointments within the jurisdiction of the civil service commission.

Usurper of Sultanship of Zanzibar Dies in British East Africa

MOMBASA, Kenya Colony, British East Africa, March 23.—The picturesque career of Seyyid Khaled, who literally was shot from the throne of Zanzibar by the British in 1906, is ended. He died today at his home here, to which he had been permitted to return in 1922 after exile. Seyyid, in 1906, usurped the sultanship of Zanzibar. His reign, although it lasted a few hours, was most stubborn and, to compel his submission, British warships bombarded the palace. Seyyid fled to German East Africa, where he was captured in 1917 by British troops. He was sent in exile to the Island of St. Helena, where he remained until 1922 when he was allowed to return to Mombasa.

A Solid Train Load of MARVELUBE

The Largest Single Shipment of Motor Oil ever made in Canada

LAST week, the largest single shipment of motor oil ever made in Canada—a solid train-load of twenty-six cars of Marvelube Motor Oils — pulled out of our Sarnia Refinery for delivery to Imperial service stations and dealers in Western Canada.

This train was made up of eighteen carloads of Marvelube in bulk and eight carloads of Marvelube in barrels, drums and cans, ordered for Spring delivery to supply this year's initial demands of the motorists of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia.

One year ago Marvelube was unknown to the motorists of Canada! Today the demand for this "finest of all motor oils" is such that a record-breaking oil shipment is necessary to fill the orders of dealers serving the needs of only one section of the Dominion.

This huge demand for Marvelube has been created by the satisfactory lubricating results given by the oil in practical use during 1926.

From the Atlantic to the Pacific across Canada, 200,000 motorists are now using Marvelube regularly and exclusively.

No other oil ever won, by sheer merit, such a huge number of satisfied users in so short a time. No other oil could, because Marvelube, used regularly in the proper grade, always proves itself superior on every basis of comparison to any other motor oil sold in Canada.

This year, start your car off on the correct grade of Marvelube Motor Oil. You will get improved operation with more power and smoother, cooler running, and as the months pass you will realize the operating economies which Marvelube so unmistakably brings by the better lubricating results it gives.

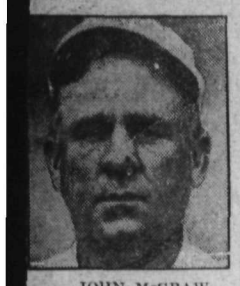
M'GRAW QUITE CONFIDENT THAT GIANTS WILL WIN NATIONAL LEAGUE FLAG

Hornsby-Jackson Keystone Combination, Well Flanked by Lindstrom and Terry, Will Be Potent Part of Club's Attack and Defence

By STONEY McLINN

SARASOTA, Fla., March 23.

AMONG the men who think the New York Giants will win the National league pennant and thus commemorate the 25th anniversary of the managership of John Joseph McGraw, master mind of baseball, none is more confident of success than John Joseph McGraw himself. He broadcasts this in every action.



JOHN McGRAW

STONEY McLINN

McGraw doesn't come right out and publicly claim the 1927 championship flag. But there is a hustle and bustle, a spirit of joy and satisfaction in the very air at Sarasota that makes it unnecessary for the smiling, affable Master-Minding McGraw to voice the confidence he is placing in his Giants.

Visits to the New York Nationals' training camps in previous years—at least a dozen of them—did not find John Joseph McGraw in the same blissful state of contentment and optimism that I found the most impressive thing at Sarasota this spring.

When he added the king of National league apple crashers, Rogers Hornsby, to his rocking and socking infield, and did business on the baseball exchange that landed him George Harper and Ed Roush, outfielders with a punch, and Burleigh Grimes, veteran spitballist, McGraw figuratively folded his arms, as Napoleon would have done it, and shouted, "The flag is ours, men!"

No matter what you or I may think about it, the big boss of the Giants is sure that he strengthened the team where it needed strength. Now he is readying himself for an enjoyable campaign of bench master-minding, with Captain Hornsby, a "thinker," to do some "smarting" on the field of play.

* * *

And before proceeding further with this story, let me type in the prediction that the Giants of 1927 will be "1-2-3," with the emphasis on FIRST.

* * *

HORNSBY ROUNDS OUT GIANTS' INFIELD

Rogers Hornsby, named field captain of the Giants, rounds out the sweetest infield quartet it has been my pleasure to watch at work in many a long day. Their defensive play is as smooth as the maneuvers of a West Point cadet company on dress parade.

Hornsby, relieved of managerial and other worries that considerably reduced his batting and fielding efficiency in St. Louis last season, is out to bat .400 and pair with Travis Jackson to form THE keystone firm of the majors.

The former King Redbird is in tip-top physical condition. He is broadcasting that he will play the full schedule of 154 games unless he is upset by an accident. And how he will labor to whip his former mates representing St. Louis!

Jackson, by the way, is also "sound as a new dollar," and if there will be one National league shortstop who is his superior this year, that one will be Glenn Wright of the Pirates.

Billy Terry, on the No. 1 bag, pepped up by the fact that now he is the regular first-sacker without opposition, and out to play the game of his life; and Freddy Lindstrom, the boy wonder on third, a star from the first day he supplanted Heine Groh at the hot corner, complete an infield that thrills a spectator who may be rooting vigorously for the team opposing the Giants.

McGraw's remodelled infield is rated to have at least a .315 offensive punch, with Terry batting .319 in 1925, when he played first pretty regularly, and the others having these averages last campaign: Hornsby, .317; Jackson, .327, and Lindstrom, .302.

* * *

Of course, the Giants will not be safe unless they have reservists for the four regular infielders in case there are injuries or illness.

There were at least 10 candidates for infield posts at the Sarasota camp, and which of those remaining at the training base will be measured for the 1927 model New York flannels is a question.

Doc Eddie Farrell, former University of Pennsylvania captain, is virtually certain to remain on the payroll. Jack Bentley is listed to pitch, but will be available to sub for Terry at first. That's as far as one cares to go in naming utility infielders.

Last winter they were saying the Giants would be weak in the outfield when it was reported that Ross Young was seriously ill and Irish Meusel was unconditionally released. The Giant manager took care of that matter.

Bevo LeBourveau, back in the big show after leading the American association hitters last season with a .377 average, is a different player from the gardener who was with the Phils half a dozen campaigns back. He found a supply of ginger out west, and dipped into it plenty.

George Harper, another former Phil, batted .314 last year, and National league pitchers tell me he is one of the toughest men in the game to stop up there at the plate and swinging.

Ed Roush, Cincinnati's star for several seasons, has missed a lot of spring training—which probably was his object in objecting to the terms of the contract sent him by the Giants. Maybe Ed is slipping as a fielder. But he can slap baseballs—he had a .323 mark last year.

* * *

That first-string outfield of LeBourveau, Harper and Roush would make any big league manager reasonably jubilant. Boy, what a punch is there!

* * *

OUTFIELD CANDIDATES NUMBER EVEN DOZEN

Heine Mueller, former St. Louis outfielder; Melvin Ott, the 18-year-old lad who is the apple of McGraw's eye; Al Tyson, former Louisville slugger, who was handicapped by an injury last season, his first with the Giants; Al Moore of Jersey City and Andy Reese of Memphis were athletes who looked good in the tryouts for garden assignments at the Sarasota camp.

In fact, at one time there were no fewer than one dozen outfielders on the training playground. One of them was Paster Fields, Penn captain and football star. McGraw will have an outfield—make no mistake on that score.

Also, it was noised about last winter that the Giants would be sadly in need of catchers. Folks were surprised when McGraw sent Butch Henline, the Phils' maskman, to Brooklyn in exchange for Burleigh Grimes.

John Joseph had an ace in the hole, it appears—a 22-year-old giant, six feet high and weighing 195 pounds. He was with Wheeling last year and reported to the Giants to catch some games in the fall.

"That boy is the coming star catcher of the majors," the Giant boss declared. "Don't think I would have permitted Henline to get away from me had I not been positive I had the backstop I needed in Cummings."

* * *

Al Devormer, former Yank, and Hamby, a big boy from Norfolk, will do some catching. But it is Cummings who stands first on the list—and since McGraw will sign for all the pitches from the bench, the rookie may devote himself to the mechanics of the job, at which he looks quite proficient.

* * *

PITCHING STAFF HAS EXPERIENCE

The New York pitching staff is well able to carry that team along, or be carried by the team—suit yourself about that. Virgil Barnes, Fred Fitzsimmons, Kent Greenfield and Hugh McQuillan are right-handers with enough stuff and experience to win a flock of games. They are young enough to stand hard work.

Burleigh Grimes probably will turn in a reasonable number of victories for the Giants—his former manager, Uncle Robbie, says "A change of scenery will help him." Jack Bentley is mastering a slow ball and a slower one reducing his corkscrew windup.

Bentley, with Dutch Henry, former Brooklyn curver, will take care of the southpaw chucking. Louis Alamada, a wee Mexican with speed and curves, is a promising left-hander.

There are about half a dozen recruits, all of them with good records in the minors or on college diamonds.

Pitching is an asset any pennant-contending team must have—steady, courageous curving. The experts who know their baseball onions think McGraw has all the pitching he will need.

* * *

No sensible man would sit down to a typewriter in March and predict that any team would have a pennant won in October. I shall try to be sane, but sure do like the looks of those Giants.

VANCOUVER, March 23.—The purchase by John P. Kendall & Co. of Toronto and a group of eastern bankers of the Extenuate gold mine at the head of the Portland canal, British Columbia, was announced here today. The purchase is said to represent an investment in excess of $500,000. The newly formed directorate of the mine will include Gen. E. A. Ross, M.P., of Kingston, Ont., and Edward Hearne of Toronto, it is stated.

Dopesters Have Trouble Picking a Winner; Pettinger Will Be Out

EIGHT THOUSAND FANS EXPECTED TO JAM RINK

Both Teams Are Guests of Honor at Functions in Vancouver

VANCOUVER, March 23.—When Toronto Varsity Grads and Fort William line up at the Arena here Friday night to battle in the first game of the Allan cup hockey final, they will be greeted by probably the biggest house that ever attended an amateur hockey game on local ice. Keen interest by the fans in the encounter is manifested, and it is anticipated that about 8000 persons will attend.

Both teams had another workout toay, an those who saw the teams in practice are tonight trying to figure out Friday's winners. Both teams showed excellent form today, and there is little to choose between them, the experts declare.

Pettinger Is Out

With the exception of Pettinger, Fort William forward, who suffered a broken wrist bone Monday night against Trail, the two teams will enter the conflict at full strength. Pettinger is the only casualty and his place will be filled by Harry Fraser, defence man, but who, it is said, "is no mean sister on the forward line."

Tomorrow afternoon Varsity Grads will be the guests of the board of harbor commissioners on a tour of Burrard inlet. On Saturday night the city council will act as hosts to members of both teams and to the Canadian Amateur Hockey association officials at a banquet.

It is expected that Lord Willingdon, governor-general, will attend the the second game of the series on Monday.

High Collar Hides Art's 'Goose Neck'

By AL DEMAREE

Former Pitcher, New York Giants

Just what type of remark among the hundreds of "wise cracks," witty and otherwise, hurled at ball players from the stands, amuse or incite them to thoughts of mayhem and murder?

In these days of big stands and big crowds, the average derisive remark and sarcastic personal abuse is swallowed up in the confused murmur of the thousands and never carries far enough to reach the players' ears.

However, occasionally a fan sitting near the players' bench with a particularly loud voice, repeating the same line of abuse over and over again, will get a player's goat. Instead of being an abstract insult, it becomes a personal one.

Art Fletcher, now a coach with the New York Yankees, was a target for one of these pests when he was playing with the Giants.

A particular loud-mouthed fan kept shouting, "Hey, Goose Neck," at Fletch, over and over again. Art stood it for awhile till it ceased to be a joke, and finally tried to reach his tormentor and beat him up.

After it was all over, Fletcher apparently forgot, but, strange to say, he wore a high collar on his shirt 10 years after every other player in the league had discarded them.

PRIORY PARK, OUTSIDER WINS LINCOLNSHIRE

"Butcher's Nag" Beats 29 Horses; Orbindos Second, Asterus, Melon Third

LINCOLN, England, March 23. Priory Park, an outsider, once known as "The Butcher's Nag," won the first big race of the flat racing season in England today, beating 29 horses.

B. Coulsdon's Orbindos won second by a head, and a length and a half behind Orbindos two horses ran a dead heat for third place. They were the French-owned favorite, Astorus, and Melon.

The winner paid 20 to 1 in the betting. The odds on Orbindos were 100 to 6, Asterus 3 to 1, and Melon 33 to 1. The weather was rainy, but there was a good crowd. The race was a mile for £1000 added.

Prory Park was raised more as a pet than as a race horse by Charles Howard, a butcher of Chichester. Priory Park's sire was Rocksavage, and Mr. Howard had bought his mother, Chatham II for £170.

Mr. Howard trained the colt himself and Priory Park created a furore as a 2-year-old by winning the Molecomb stakes at Goodwood, when it was declared that most of the men and women and some of the children of Chichester were betting on him. But his subsequent performances up to today were mostly disappointing.

Fox Is Jockey

Priory Park was ridden by F. Fox and carried 105 pounds. Orbindos carried only 92 pounds and was ridden by Burns. Asterus carried 124 pounds with Elliott up, while Melon carried 108 pounds and had Lane up.

The winner's time was 1:42 2-5, over a fairly heavy track, with rain falling.

Berkeley Bridge and Galloper King were the first to show in front, leading Priory Park for two furlongs. At the quarter mark Priory Park took the lead and at the three-quarters led from Asterus and Orbindos. The latter weakened shortly afterward but gamely came again and gave Priory Park a thrilling battle, the winner just lasting long enough to keep his head in front. Melon got on even terms with Asterus in the last stride. Grand Flight was fifth and the crack German horse, Weissdorn, top weight, was sixth.

Young Pat Donoghue, son of the famous jockey, who was also in the race, rode King of Clubs, last year's winner, but failed to finish anywhere among the leaders. Steve was on Friar Wile. The runners were the same as the list of probable starters except for the defection of Tide, who was to have been ridden by L. Reid.

The race dates back to 1853 and has become traditional for its romance and uncertainty. It is worth about $10,000 with all extras.

THE UNDERSTANDING HEART

By PETER B. KYNE

"You're safe, Bob, you poor boy," said Monica.

THE ACTION SO FAR

Garland, a young ranger, is transferred to the San Dimas National Forest reserve. Chief Ranger Casey welcomes him and tells him to beware of the charms of Monica Dale, who acts as lookout on Bogus Peak. Garland is notified by telephone the next morning that Robert Lee Mason, an escaped convict, is being hunted with bloodhounds. Monica is a friend of Mason's, so Casey does not phone her. The girl, peering through the fog, hears suspicious noises in the underbrush. She raises her rifle and waits.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER III

"Not a bear," Monica decided presently, for her horse had disillusioned her again. Following his first slight momentary apprehension, a mild curiosity had impelled her to walk gingerly across the meadow toward the sound. Monica waited. Presently another twig snapped, there was a crash of crushed, bending shrubbery, the thud of a falling body. The horse snorted and retreated a few yards.

"A man," Monica decided. "I wonder if he has designs on my horse." She carefully withdrew the cartridge from the breech and slipped a cartridge with a steel-jacketed bullet into its place. "No use to dum-dum him," she reflected.

A gasping, sobbing exhalation came from the edge of the timber—a sound indicative of exhaustion and despair. "Hum-m-m!" the girl soliloquized. "Some fool stranger in these parts has lost himself in the tall timber, and the fog has complicated matters for him. He's been wandering around until he is weak and exhausted. Didn't have sense enough to sit down and wait for the fog to lift and then start a fire with green wood, so the smoke would mount over the tree tops."

A man emerged from the timber and stood staring at the horse—and that this man was weak and far spent was evident, for he stood weaving from side to side before extending his hand to the animal and saying, "Whoa, boy! Steady, little horse! I'm not going to hurt you." He staggered slowly toward the animal, snapping his fingers, his voice soothing the horse with endearments.

Monica watched him with interest when, upon reaching the gentle animal, he reached cautiously up and grasped the mane with one hand while with the other he patted the neck, his hand creeping steadily forward until his fingers closed over the headstall. Then, from his pocket, he produced a short section of heavy twine, fashioned a rude pair of reins and led the horse to an adjacent tree stump, to the summit of which he climbed laboriously, swung the horse in alongside the stump and flopped weakly over on him.

For perhaps ten seconds he lay across the animal's back, his legs kicking feebly; then with a supreme effort he straddled the animal and turned him directly up the hill toward the gate in the wire fence that enclosed the meadow.

Monica met him at the gate and opened it without being observed by the stranger, for his head was sunk low on his breast and his eyes were closed. He was letting the horse have his head. The man's face was covered with a week-old stubble of blonde whisker; it was foul with grime and blood and perspiration, and he appeared to keep his seat with difficulty.

"Well, my friend," Monica addressed him casually, "I must say it's kind of you to bring my horse home four hours before he was ready to come."

The rider opened his weary, bloodshot eyes and jerked erect. He was looking down a rifle barrel held unwaveringly at his head.

"Oh, it's you—Monica," he murmured in a hoarse, constricted voice. "Thank God! I was helping myself to your horse—wanted to get as far as Uncle Charley Canfield's place—and then I would have—turned him loose. He would have come back to you. Mountain horses always do, Monica."

"Who are you?" the girl demanded.

"I'm Bob Mason—and I'm on the run. Got away from the road gang over in Del Norte county three days ago. It's wrong of me—broke the honor system—couldn't help it—the trees and the hills over yonder put the notion in my fool head—and the Siskiyous kept calling clear across the state. I knew if I could make it to my own hills I'd be safe with my friends."

"You're safe, Bob, you poor boy," the girl answered, and lowered her rifle. "You're up on Bogus and my cabin is only two hundred yards away."

Bob Mason lifted his weary head in a listening attitude. "Listen!" he commanded.

From afar in the valley below the unmistakable belling of hounds came out of the fog.

"Bloodhounds!" the man gasped. "They're trailing me with dogs. There isn't an Indian trailer in the state who could have followed me without them. Oh, Monica, don't give me up until I've seen the baby!"

"Don't worry. They'll never get you, Bob."

"But the hounds—they'll trail me to where I mounted the horse——"

"Maybe," said Monica Dale, enigmatically, and took the horse by the halter. Up the hill to her cabin she led him and before the open door she paused. "Slide off into my arms, Bob. I can manage you," she urged. "Can't leave a trail, you know. There!"

She grasped him by the legs and with his body over her strong young shoulder she carried him into the cabin and laid him on her bed in a rear room. From a two-gallon demijohn she poured a full glass of whisky and held it to his trembling lips.

"That's some of Uncle Charley's famous old brand of moonshine," she told him. "The wicked old man laid that down the year before prohibition went into effect. Drink it, Bob. It'll buck you up. Now lie down, while I start the fire and heat you some soup. It'll only take a jiffy."

"Those dogs!" he protested. "They're coming fast."

"I'll attend to them. They're five miles away. Don't worry."

She had a fire going in a little wood stove in two minutes, and presently the hunted man was gratefully imbibing the soup she had heated and wolfing down slice after slice of bread. When he had finished, the girl removed his worn boots, washed his face and spread a double woollen blanket over him.

"Nothing wrong with you that a few square meals and twenty-four hours of sleep will not cure," she assured him gaily. "Now for those dogs! And whatever you do, Bob, don't snore."

She went out, closing and locking the bedroom door behind her, led her horse to the barn, saddled and bridled him and, with her rifle in the scabbard swung along under the sweat leather, she headed down through the meadow in the direction of the sheriff's posse. The hounds were belling at more frequent intervals now—infallible evidence that the trail was getting warmer.

A mile below her cabin Monica halted and dismounted. The sounds of pursuit were coming closer at a rate that, to the mountain-bred girl, wise in her lore of the silent places and a past master in the woodman's science of deduction, made the conditions of the pursuit as apparent to her as if the fog did not obscure them. Suddenly the belling of the hounds swelled furiously and continuously.

Monica nodded wisely. "That sheriff has come to the conclusion Bob isn't more than a mile ahead of him," she soliloquized. "Pretty wise sheriff, but he doesn't figure on Monica Dale. He's cast his dogs off the leash—he's not following them afoot any more. The posse has taken to horse. I can hear them galloping and calling to each other—they're spreading out. Well, the hounds will be far ahead of them coming up the slope of Bogus, no matter how hard they ride. Idiots! They're expecting the hounds will tree Bob and hold him until they get up. Guess they know he isn't armed. Steady, little horse! We're going to do some shooting in about three minutes."

She led out to an opening in the forest in order to command a view at least three hundred yards wide leading up the slope of Bogus. Suddenly two bloodhounds came into view, running swiftly, noses to earth. Monica waited until they were sweeping by a hundred yards away, broadside on to her—and then a fusilade of rifle shots sent crashing echoes reverberating across the valley. The belling of the bloodhounds changed on the instant to agonized yelps; then silence settled again over the San Dimas, and Monica, mounting Pedro, rode calmly down to meet the posse.

It is estimated that the rival armies in the Chinese civil war operating in the Shanghai sector exceeds 1,000,000 men. Above is seen a detachment of perfectly drilled soldiers of the northern forces who are striving to defend the international city from the converging Cantonese. At the top left is Liang Shih Yi, prime minister of the northern government, which has its seat at Pekin. He is an experienced statesman having been prime minister before and he concedes that with the fall of Shanghai the whole of the northern territory is in peril of falling into the hands of the Cantonese.

St. Mary's college, in Oakland, Cal., is distinguished as one of the greatest schooling places in the country for future big league baseball stars. Some of the lustrous names which decorate the college list of big league graduates are Harry Hooper, Duffy Lewis, Walter Mails, Louis Guisto and the recently-conspicuous Dutch Leonard.

IRREGULARITY AT NEW YORK

Deleware, Lackawana and Western Score Gains of Seven Points; Baldwin Drops

NEW YORK, March 23. — Selling squalls again swept through today's market, giving it an unsettled appearance, but strong buying support made its appearance in the final hour, leaving closing quotations irregular.

Delaware, Lackawanna & Western scored extreme gains of 7 points by touching 173, the highest price in over five years. Atchison, Chesapeake & Ohio, Gulf Mobile and Northern and Southern Pacific all recorded moderate gains.

Baldwin broke from an early high of 180¾ to 174, but it snapped back to 177¾, where it was only off ¼ on the day. General Motors was hammered down from 174⅝ to 171, but it rallied to within a point of the high. Hudson closed 2⅝ lower, at 67⅜, after selling more than a point below that figure. Chrysler, Dodge, Packard and other motors also experienced flurries of selling.

Call money held steady at 4½ per cent, and commercial paper rates unchanged.

Sales—2,207,100 shares.

Of the seven great scenic parks under Dominion control in the Rockies and Selkirks, three are in Alberta and four in British Columbia. Waterton lakes, Rocky Mountains, and Jasper National parks are in Alberta, and Yoho, Glacier, Kootenay, and Mount Revelstoke parks are in British Columbia.

Coleman glacier, at the head of Smoky river, northeast of Mount Robson, Jasper National park, Alberta, is situated in a part of the Rockies renowned for its scenic beauty. The glacier is named after Dr. A. P. Coleman, F.R.S., professor of geology in the University of Toronto, who traversed this region in 1907 and 1908.

Canada has now 10,000 square miles of the most magnificent territory in the Dominion set apart as national recreation areas. Few countries in the world have made such generous provision for outdoor recreation and pleasure.

SOME TRAVELING

The department of marine and fisheries has marked a considerable number of Atlantic salmon, by attaching silver tags to their dorsal fins, for the purpose of tracing the movements of these fish. A salmon that was marked and liberated off Burns point, Port aMitland, Yarmouth county, Nova Scotia, on June 11, was killed in the Moisie river, Quebec, in the early part of the next month. If this fish took the most direct route it traveled in the vicinity of 800 miles, but if it followed the larger indentations of the shore line it traveled over 1200 miles.

AMBER VARIETY

Practically all the mica produced in Canada is phlogopite, that is the amber variety. Deposits of muscovite, or white mica, are also found but the likes carrying this latter variety are usually small. All the mica produced is obtained from two comparatively small areas, one in Ontario, the other in Quebec. The centers of both districts are located at not more than 75 miles from Ottawa.

DEMAND GROWS

Apples may be grown over a great part of Canada, so great in fact that if it were all planted the crop would be sufficient to supply the markets of the world. In point of flavor, high coloring, and long keeping qualities, the Dominion produces the best grades and the demand for Canadian apples is steadily growing as they become better known.

MANY TREES

There are approximately 150 species of trees in Canada of which 31 are conifers or softwoods, and the remainder hardwoods. Of the total number only 23 species of softwoods and 32 species of hardwoods can be considered as commercially important. The conifers form over 80 per cent of the standing timber, and yield 95 per cent of the lumber and pulpwood produced. The hardwoods are chiefly used for fuel, but they also furnish considerable lumber for flooring, interior finish, furniture, cooperage, turnery, and other wood-working industries.

COPPER ORES

The production of copper in Canada from Canadian ores in recent years has varied between 50,000 and 60,000 tons annually, mostly in the form of blister copper and copper matte, part of which is being refined in Canada. Due to the steady demand for the metal and the slight increase in the unit price, the production in 1926 amounted to nearly 70,000 tons. British Columbia and Ontario are the principal producers, although a small amount is shipped from the province of Quebec.

Tests made at the forest nursery stations of the forestry branch of the department of the interior show that hardy conifers such as spruce, lodgepole pine, jack pine, Scotch pine, and larch are particularly suited for prairie planting and thrive under adverse conditions. These trees are now widely planted throughout the prairie provinces.

ONE DISMISSAL ONE CONVICTION LINDOW CASES

Magistrate Finds He Has to Accept Circumstantial Evidence

After the cases in which C. W. Lindow, Salmo storekeeper, was the defendant, had occupied the entire day in provincial police court yesterday, Magistrate John Cartmel dismissed the charge against him, of neglecting to keep a chronological record of his dealings in raw furs, but convicted him on the circumstantial evidence of illegally having beaver skins in his possession out of season.

Evidence Circumstantial

The circumstantial evidence consisted in beaver skins having been found concealed in sections of furnace pipe in Archie Gray's garage, and in Constable W. R. Hendley identifying a track in the snow from Mr. Lindow's house to the garage. Mr. Gray testified to having asked Mr. Lindow what made him think of putting the skins in the Gray garage, stating that the defendant replied, "Who the hell would think of looking there?" Mr. Lindow's 12-year-old son, Herman, was questioned on the pipes, which it developed were taken from the school after being discarded.

W. G. Matthew, Mr. Lindow's counsel, characterized the crown's evidence as flimsy, secondary, and circumstantial at best, claimed that not a jot of evidence had been given to connect Mr. Lindow with the possession of the skins, and moved for a nonsuit.

Magistrate Wants Defence

Magistrate Cartmel, however, expressed a desire to hear every angle of the case before giving his decision, and, complying with his desire, Mr. Matthew put Mr. Lindow on the stand. The defendant admitted the track in the snow was his, but said it was made when he was on his way to his own garage, which was next to Mr. Gray's. He denied making the implied admission to Mr. Gray respecting putting the skins in Mr. Gray's garage.

The magistrate, admitting the case was a difficult one, and that the evidence was circumstantial, said the chain of coincidences was too strong to permit of his dismissing the case, and he found a conviction, imposing a fine of $150 on Mr. Lindow, with the alternative of 30 days in jail.

Slips of Paper Supplement Books

Advising the defendant to use a different system of recording his fur transactions in future, the magistrate quickly dismissed the charge of neglecting to keep a chronological record of his fur dealings as required by law.

Witnesses included Staff-Sergeant Ernest Gammon, who testified that when he examined Lindow's record book he found the dates of the transactions were not entered, Constable Henley, who stated he had collected to date $51.40 in royalties from Mr. Lindow, and the defendant himself, who testified he kept complete records of his transactions on slips of paper.

The magistrate held that the slips of paper, in conjunction with the record book produced, constituted a chronological record.

SPRAYING WORK SHOULD BE IN FULL SWING NOW

Pruning Work Is Well Advanced; Hunt Advises Spray Calendar

FIRST SPRAYS SHOULD BE PUT ON THE BUDS

Spraying for Insects Should Begin as Soon as They Appear

Pruning is in force all over the district, according to E. C. Hunt, district horticulturist, and spraying operations should now be general.

Mr. Hunt advises use of the government spray calendar, and according to this, spraying operations should be getting under way immediately.

For the control of blister mite, a spray consisting of a solution of 2¾ gallons of lime-sulphur to 40 gallons of water, testing 32.5 by the Beaume scale, should be used, the calendar states. This should be applied before the buds being to swell, from November to March 15.

Fruit tree leaf-roller and scale insects may be controlled by an oil spray or by a spray of a solution of arsenate of lead, two pounds of arsenate being dissolved in 40 gallons of water. This spray should also be applied when the tree is in bud.

Pear Thrips' Spray

The first spray for pear thrips when the buds are bursting and thrips are seen in numbers on the buds. The solution used should consist of 10 pounds of whale oil soap and 1½ pints of black leaf 40 dissolved in 160 gallons of water.

Where fire blight has attacked a tree, all holdover cankers should be removed and burned during the dormant season. This work should be completed before March 1. During the active season the blight should be cut out and burned as soon as it appears on the tree.

Most insect pests can be controlled by spraying as soon as they appear on the tree, according to the spray calendar. Different sprays should be used for different insects.

Second Spray on Clusters

When the buds become clusters, second applications of sprays should be applied. For fruit tree leaf-roller, oblique-banded leaf-ruler, bud-worm, Burce's measuring worm, tent caterpillars and canker worms may be controlled by a spray solution of two pounds of arsenate of lead to 40 gallons of water. Green and rosy aphis spray, which should be applied when necessary, consists of a solution of three-quarters of a pint of black leaf 40 in 100 gallons of water.

A record for arrest, trial, conviction and expiation was achieved in the Halifax police court, when Reginald Adams was taken off his vessel just before sailing time, rushed to the station, charged with assault, convicted, fined $6 and placed aboard his vessel again in less than half an hour.
