ST. LOUIS CARDINALS WIN WORLD TITLE

CONSOLIDATED IS ENLARGING MANY PLANTS

ING PLANT TO HAVE ADDITION OF EIGHTY TONS

ad Refinery 40-Ton Gain Nearly Ready; Double Custom Mill

OYIE MILL WILL GET A CRUSHER

mberley Extra Capacity at Concentrator Finishing; More Power

Expansion of the "plant" of the nsolidated Mining & Smelting Comy of Canada never halts, except mentarily, and the new expansions nounced in the summer, of a ton addition to the lead capacity Tadanac and of a third power nt on the Kootenay by the West otenay Power & Light company, efly to serve Tadanac are being lowed by an addition of 80 tons pacity to the zinc plant at Tadac and by installation of a crush- plant in the mill at Moyie.

Extend Two Tank Rooms

At Tadanac, the excavation for new zinc addition, which will ng the zinc refinery up to a pacity of 280 tons per day, has en rushed, and is just finished, h forms in place for the pouring concrete. The addition consists the extensions of two large tank ms, one old, and one recent- built. It will take several months complete construction and "bring the added tank capacity.

n about two weeks the 50-ton lition to the lead refinery, started summer, will be completed, ging the lead capacity up to tons per day.

Add Custom Sampler

he custom mill, which has been dling 300 tons of custom ore m the Slocan and other silver- d districts daily, is being inased to a capacity of 600 tons. special crushing and sampling nt for the custom ore is also be- built, apart from the main samg plant, of a simple type.

ncreases to the lead and zinc sides Trail smelter always involved ther expansion in the silver re- ry, and such is taking place now.

Treat East Kootenay Dumps

n the East Kootenay the new k is installation of a crush- plant in connection with the recently built at Moyie to work r the old St. Eugene tailings. For winter months it is not feasible work on the tailings, and the shing plant will be used on the yie and Kimberley dumps. The shing plant will be of 100 tons pacity, and will have the effect p, of making the Moyie mill availe for custom use if desired.

The big increase in capacity of Kimberley concentrator, of 1000 s, which has been under conuction for a year or so, is near- completion, and with that stage, concentrator will be able to ndle 4000 tons of ore from the llivan mine daily.

ncidental to these new demands power in East Kootenay, new ller capacity and new generating pacity is also being arranged at mberley.

Orders Taxi for Hospital; Shoots Self on the Way

WINNIPEG, Oct. 10.—Werner Preisig, 22, a recent arrival from Port Arthur, Ont., is in the general hospital tonight in a precarious condition from a bullet wound in the head, said to have been self-inflicted.

Preisig hailed a taxi and asked to be driven to the hospital. When a short distance from that institution the driver heard a shot, and on investigation found Preisig lying in the back seat with a revolver beside him.

LARGE LINERS IN COLLISION NEAR GLASGOW

Heavy Gale Sweeps Aurania and Caledonia Together at Greenock; Damage Light

GLASGOW, Scotland, Oct. 10.—Swept by a 70-mile gale and angry seas, the British steamer Aurania yesterday was in collision with the outward-bound Caledonia at Greenock. Both liners were damaged above the water line but were able to proceed. The Aurania was calling at Greenock for Scottish passengers bound for Canada when the collision took place. The 500 passengers on the Caledonia were bidding farewell to their friends on the pier. The Caledonia took an alarming list but there was no panic, and the vessels separated.

A rapid examination showed that both ships were not damaged below the water line. The Aurania's port bow was dented and 40 feet of the upper deck of the Caledonia was ripped away. The damage, however, was not judged serious enough to detain the liners.

OVER HUNDRED ENTOMBED IN AFRICAN MINE

Explosion in Natal Coal Mine Believed to Have Killed 154 Miners

DUNDEE NATAL, South Africa., Oct. 10.—A terrible explosion thought to have been due to a short circuit, occurred Friday night in shaft number 2 of the Durban Navigation Collieries at Dannhausen, entombing four Europeans and 150 natives.

The flames which followed the explosion were visible for miles and the rescue work was greatly impeded by gas fumes. The men were obliged to wear gas helmets and only 11 bodies have been brought out—all of them natives. There is small hope of recovering the bodies of the remainder of the entombed men.

According to one report the force of the explosion was so great that a cage containing several men was blown clean into the air, the occupants being killed.

Lord Desborough's Son Dies Following an Auto Accident

LONDON, Oct. 10.—Lord Desborough, created a peer in 1905, and a famous athlete and sportsman in his younger days, is without an heir to his title as the result of the sudden death of his only surviving son, Hon. George I. Grenfell. George, aged 27 years, and a Grenadier Guardsman, died after a week's unconsciousness, following a motor car accident when his car ran into a stone wall.

Death has now claimed all three of Lord Desborough's sons. The two others died within a few months of each in 1905. He and his wife have two daughters.

Coup d'Etat Rumor in Schleswig Causes Stir Over Denmark

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 10.—Denmark was stirred today by rumors of an intended coup d' etat in Schleswig, where there has been an active home rule movement among the discontented farmers. They complain of unjust and ruinous taxation imposed by the Danish socialist government in the face of depressed conditions.

Two of the leaders of the government, both former officials of the army, were arrested on the charge of inciting officers to mutiny.

FERRY CAPTAIN SAYS AIMEE WAS ON FERRY, JUNE

Identifies Evangelist as Woman Who Crossed River to Arizona From California

BUILDER AND FRIEND OF AIMEE MAY BE CALLED

Letters Threaten Judge if He Imprisons Evangelist; Extra Precaution Taken

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 10.—Arthur Watts, a Colorado river ferryman, has identified Aimee Semple McPherson, evangelist, as a woman who crossed the river from California into Arizona early last June, the district attorney's office announced today.

The alleged ferry trip was made at the Blythe-Ehrenburg crossing.

The case against the evangelist includes a charge that she spent about 10 days in a cottage at Carmel, with Kenneth G. Ormiston, radio operator at Angelus temple. Mrs. McPherson contends she was kidnaped.

Predictions that Harry D. Hallenbeck, Yuma, Ariz., rancher, and a friend of Mrs. McPherson, would be introduced as a prosecution witness also served to quicken interest in the case today.

Hallenbeck, who supervised the building of Mrs. McPherson's Angelus Temple Bible school, will be questioned, it was said, about one phase in the mystery, which has to do with reports that she spent part of the time she was missing near Yuma.

Threatening Letters

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 10.—Following receipt Saturday by Judge Samuel R. Blake, who is conducting the Aimee Semple McPherson hearing, of about a score of intimidating and threatening letters, District Attorney Asa Keyes announced that extra precautions would be taken for Judge Blake's safety. Additional guards will be placed about the hall of justice and in Judge Blake's courtroom when the hearing is resumed Monday, Keyes said.

Many of the letters were termed "crank" letters by Judge Blake, these resorting to "prayerful supplications for justice to Sister McPherson." Others, however, were couched in bitter terms and hinted at serious things unless Judge Blake released the evangelist.

All the letters were turned over to investigators.

Three Lumber Mills Burn in Frisco; the Loss About Million

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 10.—Four lumber mills on Branan street were destroyed by fire here tonight at an estimated loss of more than $1,000,000. The plants destroyed were those of the Veyhle & Collins, the Doan, the Herring and the Higgins lumber companies.

FIND MAN AND HORSE SHOT IN NICOLA VALLEY

Authorities Believe Rancher Met Death Accidentally; Probe Starts

MERRITT, B.C., Oct. 10.—Missing since August 17, the body of Elmer McEvoy, trapper and rancher of Nicola valley, was found in a large hole between Minnie Lake and Tommy lake, a few miles from the Abbott ranch and his own cabin Saturday.

Beside his dead body lay his gun and his horse, dead. Both man and horse had been shot.

Coroner Gillis left with provincial police immediately to ascertain if the shooting was accidental as the gun may have been discharged when horse and man plunged into the hole. An inquest will be held Monday.

McEvoy left his lonely cabin riding bareback to secure a saddle being repaired at Nicola. He never reached there and repeated efforts by organized search parties failed to locate him until today.

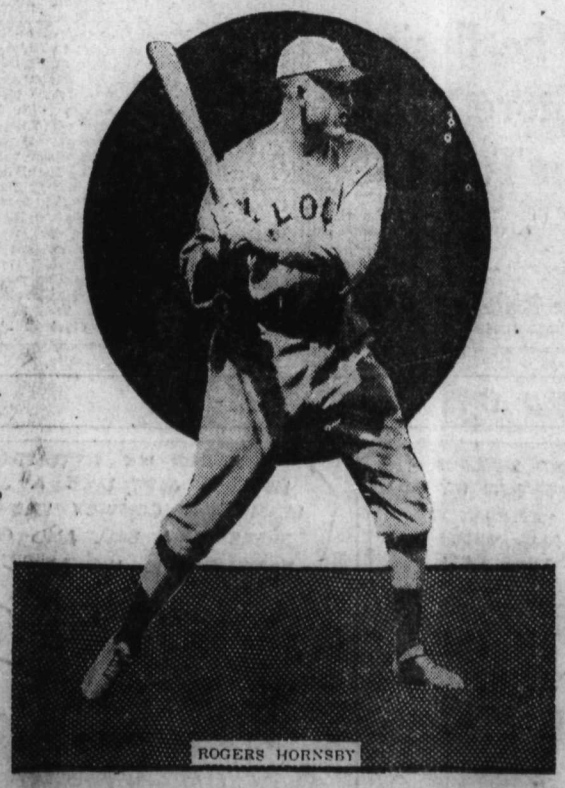
CEMETERY DEAL DECLARED OFF

Board of Health Cancels Sale of Ground in Point Grey, Hon. Mr. Pattullo Says

VICTORIA, Oct. 10.—The provincial board of health have passed an order refusing the use of Valhalla cemetery site in Point Grey for burial purposes, Hon. T. D. Pattullo, minister of lands, stated yesterday. "In view of the order of the board of health, it is not possible to use the site for cemetry purposes, and as a consequence the department of lands is advising the purchaser that the department will consider an application for the cancellation of the agreement of sale, and will refund the money which was paid in on account of the purchase price," he said.

NANAIMO, B. C., Oct. 10.—Jenji Yagi, Japanese employee of the Timberland logging camp, was instantly killed while at work Friday, when caught between two logs.

YOUTH IS VICTOR



ROGERS HORNSBY

Youth was again served yesterday, when Rogers Hornsby, playing manager for the St. Louis Cardinals, triumphed over Miller Huggins, manager of the New York Yanks, in the world series games. Aided by the good arm of "Old Alex" Alexander, Hornsby, after being one game down, pulled two wins in a row on a New York field to win the series. He gives all the credit to his youthful players. He left immediately after the series for Texas to attend the funeral of his mother, who died just prior to the series starting.

DOES PREMIER OLIVER INTEND RETIRE? ASKED

Loss of Federal Seats Leads Provincial Liberals to Activity; Convention Planned

WILL COME AFTER THE PARLIAMENT SESSION

Vancouver Province in News Story Says Oliver Lost McGeer an Ottawa Seat

VICTORIA, Oct. 10.—When asked tonight if he had any statement relative to a published report that he would soon resign as premier, Hon. John Oliver intimated that there was nothing to it. "What statement do you expect me to make?" he said.

VANCOUVER, Oct. 10.—"Does Hon. John Oliver intend to retire from politics?" asks the Vancouver Sunday Province in a front page news story today.

"From several sources," continued the newspaper," including at least one authority definitely friendly to the premier himself, came the statement to the Province office last week that the retirement of 'Honest John' Oliver is pending. It was represented, with many circumstantial details lending color to the story, that the matter had been discussed at a recent executive meeting of the Liberal organization here and that there would be still more plain speaking at a gathering of the same committee to be held within a few weeks, preparatory to the calling of a convention before the pending session of the provincial house.

"From a highly responsible source in Liberal circles, it is learned, however, that there is no intention whatever of pressing the subject of any possible changes amongst the directors of the party in this province until after the coming session. But it is a fact that preliminary plans are now being discussed for the holding of a convention, probably in Victoria, possibly in Vancouver, immediately at the close of the legislature before the members have dispersed to their homes.

Representative Gathering

The idea is to have a gathering thoroughly representative of the whole province and every man and woman delegate will have a chance to air the view held by every district represented there. The house will meet late in December to adjourn over the Christmas holidays and presumably the convention will take place about the first of March.

"The loss of two federal seats in constituencies where provincial cabinet ministers had vigorously campaigned, and the increased majorities given elsewhere throughout the province to Conservative candidates in the recent Dominion election, has caused more than a passing stir in Liberal circles. There is a disposition in some quarters within the Liberal party to declare that the unpopularity of the provincial administration in some of its dealings is responsible for the poor showing of the Liberals in the federal arena and one prominent Liberal was quoted last week as arguing that if the premier had stayed out of Vancouver North during the campaign, G. G. McGeer might have been elected—or at any rate, that the speeches of Hon. Mr. Oliver did not improve the situation for the candidate."

FIVE DIE WHEN CAR AND TRAIN COLLIDE

TOLEDO, Ohio, Oct. 10.—Five persons were instantly killed when a New York Central train struck an automobile at a grade crossing near Crissey, Ohio, 14 miles west of here, tonight.

The dead: Eli Orni, 48; Mrs. Eli Orni, 40; Ellen Orni, 15, a daughter; Mon Orni, 3 months old, a son, and Lavin Orni, 4 years old, a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orni. All the dead lived in Silica, Ohio.

SIX-MONTHS-OLD BABE IS DROWNED

PERTH, Ont., Oct. 10.—The six-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Badore, of the nearby town of Maberley, was drowned when the Badore automobile careened off the highway and toppled into the canal near here late Saturday night.

Car Overturns Twice, Killing Ontario Lady

OTTAWA, Oct. 10.—Mrs. Isabella Canon, aged 70, of Almonte, Ont., met an almost instant death this afternoon when a small touring car driven by her husband, overturned twice on a steep hill on the Kingsmere road, just above Chelsea, Que. The accident occurred when the brakes failed to grip as the car was approaching a sharp curve on a grade.

Cards Played Better Ball, States Huggins, Manager of the Yanks

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Manager Huggins, of the Yankees, after St. Louis won the world's series today, was cheerful in defeat. "There is nothing to say except that the Cardinals played wonderful defence ball today—better than we did—and on the basis of their play they deserved to win. We were beaten by a great ball club and I told Rogers Hornsby so when I congratulated him as soon as the game was over. Of course we did not need today's performance to know that Alexander is a great pitcher. I have said so twice before in this series and I say so again."

Huggins was asked if he had anything to say about the cracks appearing in his team's defensive play. "I have not one word to say about errors my boys made," he said. "Those who would rather think about the errors than anything else should give a thought to the errors they did not make."

CONSERVATIVES IN CAUCUS AT OTTAWA TODAY

Sir George Perley Likely Choice as Temporary Party Leader; Sutherland May Be Chairman

OTTAWA, Oct. 10.—Conservatives from far and near are assembling in Ottawa tonight. Tomorrow they go into executive session to discuss the question of party leadership. Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen has already announced his intention of submitting his resignation to the caucus. Efforts will be made to induce him to reconsider his decision. A large number are known to be anxious to retain him in the leadership. Those who are close to Mr. Meighen say that there is little likelihood that he will change his mind.

The business tomorrow will be chiefly to choose a leader and a temporary leader to head the opposition in the next session will be probably be chosen. Sir George Perley is oftenest spoken of for this task, but Sir George is said to be not very anxious to take it on. However, he may consent to do so if the majority of his friends wish it. Hon. R. B. Bennett is also favored as temporary leader, as also is Sir Henry Drayton.

No Permanent Leader

Tomorrow's caucus will be composed of Conservatives who stood for office in the last elections, those who were elected and those who were defeated, and Conservative senators. It is more likely that this will be left to a national convention to be held next year.

Such reorganization of the party as is necessary pending that convention will be done tomorrow and a house leader elected.

The caucus will have to elect a chairman. Donald Sutherland, former M.P., for South Oxford, may be reappointed to the post he has held for several sessions, or W. A. Boys, chief Conservative whip may preside. R. S. White, M.P.-elect for Mount Royal, also is suggested for the chairmanship. The caucus probably will last all day and may run into a second day. A representative gathering of candidates is assured from every part of the Dominion. The western delegation is large. The Quebec delegation came in tonight and the Toronto delegation is expected tomorrow morning.

JOHN BULL'S BOARD GATHERS, LONDON

Hub of Empire Center for Imperial Conference After Three Years

LONDON, Oct. 10.—All seas lead to England now for the Imperial conference, that great cabinet of the British Empire which will meet in the historic cabinet room at No. 10 Downing street, on October 19. Prime ministers, Maharajahs, delegates from the overseas dominions and representatives of the crown colonies are converging on London, the hub which unites the spokes of the British Empire.

It has been three years since John Bull called a meeting or "his board of directors" and many questions have arisen. There are the usual problems of Imperial growth—trade, immigration, defence and communications—but these will be dominated by a question which goes to the very roots of interempire relations.

The big question is the treaty making status of the dominions in foreign affairs. For the first time in history England has been explicitly separated from her dominions by the Locarno pact.

It has been bruited about that since Premier Hertzog's arrival, his views have been somewhat modified as to South Africa's problems.

ALEXANDER IS HERO OF LAST TWO CONTESTS

Yanks Drop Sunday's Game Three to Two; Errors Cost New York the Series

PENNOCK FAILS TO SAVE THE YANKEES

Ruth Hits Fourth Homer; Meusel and Koenig Contribute Costly Errors

By ALLAN J. GOULD

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—The gaunt, weather-beaten figure of Grover Cleveland Alexander came back in all its ancient pitching mastery today to check the Yankees for the third time and clinch the first world baseball championship that St. Louis has known in 40 years.

Through the haze of this crucial test the seventh and deciding game of the 1926 diamond classic the Yankee defence cracked to yield the Cardinals their winning margin of 3 to 2, but it was Alexander the Great who saved the day with as dramatic and exciting a finish as any championship conflict has ever witnessed.

The bases were full, two were out and only one Yank run was needed to tie the game in the seventh inning when Alexander came to the rescue of the tottering Cardinal right-hander, Jesse Haines, whose finger was split from throwing his knuckle ball and whose control was ebbing fast. It was a situation calculated to test the stoutest heart and the most seasoned skill, with $50,000 and a world championship hanging in the balance, but Alexander was equal to it.

Facing Tony Lazzeri, a rookie almost young enough to be his son, the great veteran hitched his trousers, called on the power of a right arm that has carried him through 16 major league campaigns, and struck out his man to retire the side as the crowd broke into a frenzied uproar.

Safely past this crisis, the most dramatic moment of the game, Alexander easily subdued the Yanks in the closing two innings.

"Big Train" Is There

Twice before Alexander had stopped the American league champions, going the full route to gain victories that pulled the fighting Cardinals each time back to even terms. It was only yesterday that his masterful box work led the National leaguers to the triumph that forces the series to the limit, yet he was ready again today, as strong and effective as ever, to cap the climax of his heroic role.

Not since the famous right arm of Walter Johnson pulled the Washington Senators to the first world championship in 1924 has there been anything so colorful as this finish of Alexander's. Two years ago, however, the "Big Train" came back victoriously after being twice defeated, while this time the stalwart Nebraskan stepped into the breach with two victories already his.

Alexander did not get official credit today for a victory that will be putting him among the honor roll men who have won three world series games. Haines gets the credit but the glory belongs to Alexander.

Thwarted as they were by Alexan-

Piles Disappear

No Cutting or Salves Needed

External treatments seldom cure Piles.

Nor do surgical operations.

The cause is inside—bad circulation.

The blood is stagnant, the veins flabby.

The bowel walls are weak, the parts almost dead.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send a fresh current through stagnant pools. Internal treatment is the one safe method. 'Ointments and cutting won't do it.

J. S. Leonhardt, M.D., a specialist, set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and tried it in 1000 cases before he was satisfied. Now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists everywhere under guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at Canada Drug & Book Co., who will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer.

der's great stand, it was nevertheless a heartbreaking defeat for the Yankees, who battled to overcome a margin they had yielded in the fourth inning, when the Cardinals, aided by two errors by Koenig and Meusel, scored all their three runs. It was heartbreaking for Waite Hoyt, young right-hander, who had twirled brilliantly, even when his support sagged, and it was heartbreaking for Babe Ruth, whose fourth home run of the series, again shattering all world records, had put the Yanks in the lead and upset the confidence of Haines, hero of a shutout victory over the American leaguers in St. Louis.

Great Come-Back

But it was thrilling, just the same, for the Cardinals, themselves victims of unfortunate breaks in previous games, yet possessed of the fighting spirit and pluck to come back when their cause seemed lost and capture, on foreign soil, the last two games.

Forty years is a long time between titles, but this conquering clan came through under fire to establish its right to the peak. Back in 1886, when St. Louis, then in the old American association, was in the throes of its first and last pennant-winning streak, it triumphed over the Detroit Nationals.

But those days have almost been forgotten in the long and barren stretch in between. The triumphs of ancient times carried no such glory and gold as goes with victory in the modern classic of the diamond. Today's triumph marks the end of a long trail of hope with the dreams of two score years come true.

Smallest Crowd of All

Yet it was not by any overwhelming margin the Cards captured the game's biggest prize in a drab, rain-soaked setting that found only 38,000 fans, the smallest crowd of any of the four games in New York, looking chilled, and bundled in coats.

But for the errors of Koenig and Meusel the Cards would not have scored in the fourth, and Ruth and Hoyt might tonight be occupying niches in the hall of fame that opened its portals instead to the heroic figure of Alexander.

The Yankees fought desperately to overcome the advantage they had handed to their foes. They drew up within a run of the Cards in the sixth, when Hoyt was withdrawn, as reserve forces were tossed into battle. But they were balked then by Haines, and again in the seventh by Alexandr, as the Cards put up a stonewall defence behind the gallant work of their boxmen.

Thevenow Is Hero

Tommy Thevenow, gallant little shortstop, shared the laurels of the Cardinals' final triumph with Alexander, for it was his fielding that repeatedly checked the Yank attack and his bat that supplied the decisive blow in the fourth inning. The way for him was paved in this frame by Yankee errors, the first Cardinal run registering when Meusel muffed O'Farrell's long fly in his haste to make the throw to the plate, but it was a clean hit from Thevenow's bat that scored Bell and Hafey with the runs that turned out to be decisive.

Hornsby had been retired in this inning when Bottomley started the fireworks with a single. Koenig let Bell's hot smash slip through his hands for the first Yankee error, and then the bases were filled when Hafey's Texas leaguer dropped into left, misjudged by Meusel and Koenig. Even in the face of these bad "breaks," Hoyt might have escaped unscathed, but Meusel dropped O'Farrell's drive while Bottomley scored, and Thevenow's hit completed the attack. Haines and Holm were retired easily, but the damage had been done and Hoyt's brilliant work offset.

Pennock to the Rescue

In only one other inning, the eighth, did the Card attack threaten, and then it was checked by Herb Pennock, star Yankee southpaw, hero of two previous victories, who was called on to finish the game after Hoyt had been drawn for a pinch hitter in the sixth. Thus Pennock and Alexander, the twin mound aces of the contending clans, battled each other to the close, but the game already had been won and lost when they entered the fray and the Yankee star had no such dramatic opportunity as Alexander.

The crack in the defence of the Yanks hurt most, but their failure to seize most of their opportunities on the attack also played a big part in the downfall. They threatened in all seven of the innings that Haines was on the mound and had the bases full when Alexander stepped into the picture, but in only two were they able to push over a run.

Ruth's Homer in Sixth

Ruth's home run, a high fly that cleared the right field bleachers, produced the first tally with two out while Dugan's single followed by Severeid's long double, accounted for the Yankee runs in the sixth. Otherwise the decisive punch was lacking.

Ruth, his hitting touch restored for the first time since his record-breaking clouts in the fourth game, was ready and anxious to bat the Yankees into the championship, but he had scant chance to do it.

Alexander, no less cool because he knew that one mighty wallop from Ruth would tie the score, started out to pitch to the slugger. He curved one strike over, then a ball, then a low one that the Babe swung at, only to foul off. Thus far safe, however, Alexander perhaps figured that discretion was the better part of valor, for he pitched wide three times to walk the Bambino, who ended the game a moment later in a vain attempt to steal second with Meusel at bat.

Wasted Opportunities

The rest of the Yank story is one of wasted opportunities. In the first, Ruth walked and Meusel singled with two out, but Hornsby got Gehrig at first after juggling his hard smash. Dugan singled in the second with one down, but died trying to steal, a victim of O'Farrell's deadly arm and Severeid's subsequent hit was wasted.

Gehrig walked to start the fourth and got as far as second on an infield out, but his mates could not bring him in, Thevenow, checking the rally with a leaping one-handed catch of Severeid's line smash. Again in the fifth Combs singled and Ruth walked, but Meusel was retired easily in the pinch on a grounder to Haines.

After one run had been manufactured in the sixth off hits by Dugan and Severeid, the seventh saw Combs lead off the attack on Haines with a sharp single that caromed off Thevenow's glove. Koenig sacrificed the Kentuckian to second and Ruth was passed intentionally again. The Babe was forced by Meusel at second, but Combs got to third and the bases were filled when Gehrig walked. Haines, his finger split and sore, was slipping fast and Hornsby chose the psychological moment to shift his moundsman. Victory or defeat rested on Alexander's sturdy shoulders as he strode in through the haze from the outfield to take his place in the box, strike out Lazzeri with consummate skill and blast the last Yankee hopes. The crowd paid its tribute to old Alexander as he came in but the roar of greeting was as nothing to that period when he checked the rally and went to the benches with his mates pounding him. New York saw its hopes fade then, but it paid tribute to the invading conquerors just the same, cheering the victors as boisterously as it ever has a home town triumph.

Has 36th Birthday

Putting aside all disconcerting thoughts of her court ordeal, Aimee Semple McPherson Saturday relaxed in a jubilant celebration of her 36th birthday anniversary. The Angelus temple pastor faced the day with the declaration that never has she been so "absolutely assured of complete vindication."

The strain of two weeks spent in almost daily court attendance was forgotten as the preliminary hearing for the evangelist, her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, and Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman Sielaff, on charges of criminal conspiracy, stood adjourned until Monday.

The evangelist's birthday anniversary was ushered in by a "midnight surprise party" tendered her by members of her Bible schools. The festivities began with a serenade by the temple's "silver band," and ended with the pastor serving generous slices from a huge birthday cake.

CONSTABLE GUNN SHOT IN ACCIDENT

Bullet Enters Foot When Constable Is Target Shooting Near Fernie

FERNIE, Oct. 10.—Constable A. Gunn, stationed here at East Kootenay headquarters "K" division, Royal Canadian Mounted police, on Saturday afternoon met with a painful accident while engaged in target practice. He was using the regular 45 caliber service revolver and in some unaccounted manner while holding it downward it accidentally discharged, the bullet penetrating the left foot and inflicting a nasty wound.

The accident occurred near Morrissey about nine miles west of here. He was brought in to the hospital by the automobile of William Gates, collector of customs. Constable Gunn's condition today is reported as favorable and the wound not considered extremely serious although he will be unable to resume his duties for some time.

LARGE FIELD IN CESAREWITCH FOR WEDNESDA

Thirty-Odd Handicap Hors Will Race in 88th Renewa of Hard Race

LONDON, Oct. 10.—Next Wedn day, October 13, over the Cesa witch course of 2 1-4 miles at Ne market, a large field of the b English and French "stayers" v race in the 88th renewal of the C arewitch stakes, the greatest autu handicap of the English turf. Sp ulation on the race and its shor sequel, the Cambridgeshire, has b running high for weeks past.

The invasion of French thorou breds, always dangerous in t great "double", is as strong as ev in the race next week. Both t highest and second highest handic have been allotted to continen racers: Asteroide 11, and Trica The former, noted as a very f stayer, is to carry 130 pounds. T card's burden of 128 is equal to t of Glommen, the English colt own by Sol Joel, and at present the fav ite. Forseti, winner last year, shoulder 125 pounds; and Vermil Pencil, 122. Two more French hor Tric Trac 2 and The Wolf, are h up in the table, with 121 each.

Many Horses Eligible

Altogether 97 horses are eligi and at least one third of this num will face the barrier on Wednesd Large fields are the rule in t famous race, and the record is starters in 1852. Last year 33 r and the year before, 34.

Besides those candidates meriti consideration on the handicappe rating, are several others who e regarded as serious contenders Cesarewitch honors. These are bri ly, Cimiez, H. H. Aga Khan's co in at 100 pounds; Motely, second l year; Confirmation, third last yea Lancegaye, second in the Derb Tournesol, Hirennis and Kyra, experienced handicap horses.

An indication of the openness the race this year is the fact th Glommen is the favorite at no bet than 14 to one against, in the advan betting lists.

Try, Try Again, winner of the New bury Autumn Cup a few days ag had been allotted the extremely l impost of 85 pounds, and this w not be much affected by his victo in the big Newbury event. Save nake is another lightweight wi Cesarewitch aspirations. He w unplaced in the running last yea but third in 1924.

The Cesarewitch Stakes has be run without interruption since 183 when it was established and nam after the then heir to the Russi throne. The course, named after t race, is a severe test of stamina, a on this account does not attract many of the three-year-olds, t younger horses concentrating on t Cambridgeshire, which is only ha the distance.

The monetary value of the ra far outweighed by its historic signi cance, is in the neighborhood of $1 000, made up of stakes of 25 s ereigns each and 1000 sovereigns a ded.

Middle Park Plate

Another great race will be stag at the Second October meeting, a with the Cesarewitch, will attract Newmarket, visitors from all ov the country. This is the Middle Pa Plate, one of the season's greate races for two-year-olds. Fra Curzon's Call Boy; Lord Derb Sickle; Sir J. Robinson's Bold Arch and Mrs. Whitburn's Birthright a pear the chief contenders. This ra besides the Criterion Stakes later, u ually provides the winter favor for the Epson Derby. A severe lo is the sale of The Satrap, great tw year-old, to American interests, the condition that he is not to ra in England in the future. His a sence, however, makes the two-yea olds appear evenly matched.

TRAIL JUNIORS HONORED GUESTS

Mr. and Mrs. Minton Stage Party for Trail Junior Soccer Stars and the Girls

TRAIL, Oct. 10. — There were high jinks at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Minton on Saturday night. Thirteen husky youths, comprising the Trail contenders for the West Kootenay junior soccer championship, were royally entertained, and not alone by their hosts. Ten fair supporters, every one a peach, were guests on equal footing, and did some entertaining, too.

This pleasant affair, promised to the boys by their managers, Mr. and Mrs. Minton, if they won the championship, was actually given because they made such a splendid showing though losing the championship to Nelson.

They were very well fed and were then faced off in a whist drive in which Bill Page and Mabel Hall captured the first prizes, and Rene Balfour, Koot Sammons and Bill Kennedy scrimmaged for the booby prize. There followed games such as youngters and even older people delight in, and later a dance until midnight. Nothing suffered but the furniture.

The teams were:

Trail Juniors—Dave Balfour, Bill Baillie, Koot Sammons, Bill Page, Jim Barnes, Chic Bradbury, Bill Young, Jim Burrows, Bill Kennedy, Bill Fish, Harry Leckie, Dave Shaw and Jack Minton.

Fair supporters — Rene Balfour, Mary Cummins, Mabel Hall, Zelma Larima, Rosamind Buchan, Margaret Hoefer, Isabel Leckie, Grace Leckie, Peggy Morris and Doreen Minton.

Referees—Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Minton.

Trail Now Needs But Twelve Autoists to Get Desired Bureau

TRAIL, Oct. 10.—One dozen more new members of the Trail-Rossland branch of the Automobile Club of British Columbia will bring the tourist and information bureau to Trail, according to J. R. Gardom, who is enthused over the success of the co-operation of old and new members.

Six secured on Saturday brought the total to 188, and 155 new members have joined.

Saturday's boosters were B. Tognotti, G. Tognotti, A. Creelman, O. Riggs, H. L. Smith, R. Lepsoe, C. Matthews.

CINDERELLA CLUB FUNCTIONS AT TRAIL

TRAIL, Oct. 10.—Cinderella club, a new social organization, was brought into being at an enjoyable invitation dance in K. P. hall here Saturday.

It will function mainly as a dance club to hold dances on alternate Saturdays for its members only, having no money-making ambitions for the club the members will collectively defray all expenses.

Officers elected were: H. C. Caldicott, president; R. F. Cross, secretary-treasurer; Miss Audrey Baxendale, convener of refreshment committee.

FALL STYLES

Some of the smart costumes worn on the track at a recent eastern race meet are shown. Right, the sport fur coat and the velvet skirt with tam of the same material is typical of the season, as is the monkey trimmed coat of the young lady's companion. Note the large white shoulder corsage. An English importation is the seat cane used by Mrs. Barbara Miller, who is seen at the right. Mrs. Miller, who is a daughter of Capt. the Hon. J. Lowther and a niece of the Earl of Lonsdale, won the cane at the recent Olympia. She is a horsewoman of note.

'GRAY TERROR'

The Astonishing Adventures of the Gray Phantom

By HERMAN LANDON

(Copyright by Street & Smith Corp. Serialized by Ledger Syndicate.)

Synopsis of Preceding Installments

THE GRAY PHANTOM, hero of many miraculous near-criminal adventures, is lured from his quiet retreat near New York by

THE DUKE, his old enemy, whom he had been instrumental in sending to prison. Reaching his agents through underground wires, the Duke has schemed to present a perfect case of guilt against

HELEN HARDWICK, sweetheart of the Gray Phantom, and she is wanted by

LIEUT. CULLIGORE, of the police, for the murder of

PAUL WARD, a wealthy rogue. The Phantom is also being tracked down in connection with the murder of MRS. SLADER, the Ward housekeeper, who was found knifed in the back the next day.

Before the police can arrest Helen, members of the Duke's gang spirit her away to a deserted place outside the city, and send

FAY WINTON, a vampire type of woman, to deliver the Duke's ultimatum to the Gray Phantom. The plan is to keep Helen a hidden prisoner, not to be released until the Gray Phantom has used his extraordinary ability to rescue the Duke from the penitentiary. Ten days are given the Phantom to perform this act before Helen is put to death.

Desperately, the Phantom tries to find a way out. Through

AMBROSE MARR, eccentric acquaintance, with whom he had shared past adventures, he learns that the only one of the Duke's gang who knows Helen's whereabouts is

MR. EHANON ("no name" spelled backward), the Duke's right-hand man, who may be recognized by his fondness for playing weird violin music. Craftily, Marr tells the Phantom that this mysterious personage is Fay Winton. Before he can act on this knowledge, the police surround the house and Marr hides the Phantom in an underground chamber. From the hidden room he is kidnaped by members of the Duke's gang and taken to the deserted house where Helen is held. Here

RED MAGEE, a brutal criminal, tortures Helen until her screams force the Gray Phantom to accede to the Duke's demands.

Doped and brought back to the city unconscious, his first act is to seek out Fay Winton and force her to tell the location of Helen's hiding place.

But, after the severest sort of test, the Phantom is convinced that she is not Mr. Emanon, after all.

Hoping to find some solution to the situation, the Phantom explores the hidden room from which he was kidnaped. Hearing some one in the passage, he follows the footsteps until he enters a gorgeously furnished room. There, on the center table, lies a violin.

In a little while he stopped, wondering why the other's light, shuffling footfalls had suddenly ceased. He listened intently, vaguely suspicious of a trap, but soon he discovered that the man ahead had merely altered his course and was now proceeding in a perpendicular, instead of a horizontal direction.

High overhead he could hear a light patter of feet, and, fumbling forward a few steps more, he found that the passage terminated in a narrow spiral stairway.

A tingling sensation, auguring a startling discovery, took hold of him, as he started the ascent. The stairs made innumerable turns, evidently extending high above the level of the passage, and soon he could no longer hear the other person's footsteps. Higher and higher he climbed, and presently he brought up against an obstruction. He pressed cautiously, the obstruction yielded, and instantly he heard a voice. It was a man's voice, speaking in a thin, monotonous drawl, but as yet he could distinguish no words. Again he pressed, widening the opening, which seemed to consist of a door turning on a central pivot, and stepped through.

The room he entered, with its oddly assorted decorations and furnishings, made him think he was in the den of a sybarite. It was dimly lighted by a small reading lamp held aloft by a Greek satyr in bronze. Heavy shadows lay in the corners and along the walls, subduing the erratic taste in which the room was furnished. At the opposite side a door stood partly ajar, and it was from this direction the voice came. At his feet lay a leopard skin, its jaws set in a snarl, its eyes looking up at him with a dead and glassy stare. At the other side was a settee smothered in grotesquely embroidered pillows, and here and there along the walls were studies in crayon and oil.

He noted these things within the space of a moment, with a sidelong glance out of the corner of an eye, but it was an object lying on the table that held his gaze longest. It was a simple, inanimate thing, yet it seemed to dominate the room with a living, sinister force.

The thing he saw was a violin.

Voices

Moments passed; at length the Phantom reluctantly withdrew his fascinated gaze from the instrument lying on the table, and now he looked again in the direction where he had first heard the voice. Another voice was speaking now, and he recognized it instantly. It was Fay Winton's.

"Sure of that, Swell?" she asked; and instantly the Phantom called up a mental picture of a dapper and dainty underworld character known as "Sammie the Swell." He had encountered the man only once, during one of his earlier clashes with the Duke's gang, but his mind had retained a vivid impression of a somewhat effeminate, but exceedingly shrewd and capable, individual.

"Sure as sure can be," said Sammie, in his thin-edged drawl. "I found the room easy enough. It was the second floor rear. The bed looked as though it had been slept in, but there was nobody in it, so I beat it back."

"You were careful to make no noise?"

"Say, said Swell plaintively, "don't you know I'm a charter member of the society for the prevention of unnecessary noise."

"You saw no light in Marr's bedroom?"

"There wasn't a glim anywhere in the kip."

A pause followed. The Phantom understood now that Sammie was the person who had passed him in the dark. Evidently he had been sent to Marr's house on some errand connected with himself, and now he was making a report to Miss Winton. It was a strange hour for a consultation of that sort, but then the Duke's agents generally discussed their affairs while other people slept.

"Well, it probably doesn't mean anything," said Miss Winton at length. "The Phantom probably felt restless and went out to take the air. Possibly he is looking up some of his old friends and asking them to help him get the Duke out of prison. Another reminder was scarcely necessary. He has had a lesson he will never forget. I had a highly melodramatic scene with him tonight; somehow he got it into his head that I was Mr. Emanon and could tell him where to find Miss Hardwick." She gave a rippling little laugh, but it had a nervous undertone. "From now on the Phantom will proceed with more discretion. I haven't the slightest doubt that within a day or two the Duke will be with us again."

"You really think the Phantom will swallow the pill?"

"I am certain of it, Swell. He has tried everything else, and now in desperation he will submit to the Duke's orders, with as good a grace as he can."

"But will he be able to turn the trick?" Sammie's voice sounded faintly incredulous.

"Why not? Has the Gray Phantom ever failed at anything?"

Swell was impressively silent.

"And he will not fail this time," Miss Winton went on with conviction. "He has a stronger incentive than he ever had before. Don't ever let yourself fall in love, Swell. Love makes fools of men, even the cleverest. Just look at the Gray Phantom! He actually believes he can save Miss Hardwick's life by getting the Duke out of prison."

She laughed airily, while Swell snickered derisively. The Phantom's fingers closed convulsively around the edge of the table where he stood.

"I guess he thinks the Duke has turned soft inside," ventured Sammie.

"I am not sure he is quite so simple as that," rejoined Miss Winton doubtfully. "The Phantom isn't altogether a fool, even though he is suffering from an acute case of infatuation. He must realize that the Duke will go on hating him till the end of his days. Doubtless he suspects that the Duke will not be bound by a promise given his bitterest enemy. Something tells me, Swell, that the Phantom is playing a deep game. He hopes that once the Duke is in his hands he can compel him to surrender the little charmer."

The Phantom smiled sardonically. Miss Winton's deduction was not at all bad. It gave him a deeper respect for the intelligence of the fascinating adventuress.

"Well," drawled Sammie, "if that's his layout, I guess we can queer it."

"We can and must, Swell. That's one of my reasons that a close watch be kept over the neighborhood of the prison for the next few days. I want you to detail a few carefully selected men to keep the locality under surveillance, and if possible get an inkling of the Phantom's plans. The moment the coup is accomplished. The Phantom and the Duke are to be followed at a discreet distance until they come to a place where they can be conveniently separated. You understand, Swell?"

The Phantom had a mental picture of Sammie scratching his angular head, thinly covered with plastered tawny hair.

"It's a ticklish job," was his comment, "but it can be done."

"Pick your men carefully. You will be held responsible for them. The Phantom's strategy will probably be to act very quietly and take us all by surprise. He will proceed by subtle means rather than violence, and in all probability the prison officials will not discover that the Duke is missing until he has been gone several hours. That's the Phantom's way. He has a knack of accomplishing much with little noise. He must not be allowed to slip away from us with the Duke, as he will doubtless attempt to do. Neither must he be given an opportunity to do the Duke any harm."

"I'll see to it," promised Swell. "What's to be done with the Phantom after we've pulled the Duke away from him?"

"The Duke will determine that. You will take your orders from him."

EVANGELIST IS HEARD AT TRAIL

Issues Clarion Call at Knox United Pulpit; Music Is Pleasing

TRAIL, Oct. 10.—Waving aside all denominational controversies as irrelevant, and rebutting the most common arguments against church attendance, Rev. Dr. F. A. Robinson, evangelist, of Toronto, issued a clarion call to active Christianity as the pattern of ideal existence, in his address in Knox United church tonight.

It it were possible to prove that Christ had never lived, he declared, he would make a god of the image created by the writers of the New Testament gospel, for it was the one to which he most wished to approximate his own life. It represented the highest type of manhood conceived.

Christian Influence

Take from Canada every vestige of Christian influence, and most of what is fine and noble, churches, hospitals and benevolent institutions and many of our laws would therewith disappear, he declared.

Much of his address was devoted to word pictures of his own experiences among all sorts of men and women. In the morning he spoke appropriately to the communion service. Full congregations attended.

The musical part of the service was vivid and vital, with Miss C. B. Grunert of Chicago producing new visions in the music of old favorites, and Miss G. G. Robinson contributing solos. The evangelical campaign will continue for the next two weeks.

TRAIL MAY TAKE SPOKANE OFFER

TRAIL, Oct. 10.—There is a prospect that a Trail soccer team will take up the tentative offer of the Spokane Soccer association appearing in Friday's issue of The Daily News for an exhibition game in Spokane on November 7.

Trail Amateurs, according to Manager Sandy Aiken, are itching for the chance to go. Their finances are sound and were considerably helped by Saturday's dance. Whether they will go, however, is yet to be decided. The whole matter will be threshed out at the football club executive meeting tonight.

FIRST AID CLASSES IN LINE AT TRAIL

Officers Elected; Plan Classes for Women and for Young Boys

TRAIL, Oct. 10.—First aid instruction for classes of women, and of girls, in addition to those for men, is planned this year by Trail center of St. John's Ambulance association, which met in annual session Friday night, R. Gordon, president, presided.

It was announced a special organization meeting would be held this week for women interested, and that a class of boys will shortly be made up. At least one team of Trail Boy Scouts are looking toward getting this instruction.

It was confidently expected there would be very large classes of men again this year. Over 60 took training last year, of whom 48 sat for examinations and 42 won proficiency awards.

The officers elected were: S. G. Blaylock, honorary president; B. A. Stimmel and Dr. J. B. Thom, honorary vice-presidents; F. A. Newell, acting treasurer; R. Gordon, H. W. Hawkins, I. Patton, R. Shields, J. Glynn, and C. Roberts executive committee. E. Cook and W. Davies were again appointed instructors.

OWEN JOHNSON'S GREAT STORY "Children of Divorce"

RUPERT HUGHES' LATEST NOVEL "We Live But Once"

IN a democracy the mass of the people are given to imitation of the few. The few in America are the idle rich, who, in their search for new sensations, flamboyantly place themselves not only above the law but outside the moral code that society has evolved for its own discipline and salvation.

What once were secrets held inviolate are today openly discussed; habits of life once surreptitiously indulged are today boasted of; customs that have their roots in the safety of society are boldly being displaced by a code that justifies "anything you can get away with."

Whence came this amazing change in our manners and customs, no one knows. One declares it to be the direct result of the unbalancing of society by the Great War; another traces its origin to the possession of more wealth, almost overnight, on the part of vastly more people than ever before.

And no one is better placed to produce actual evidence of the change than Judge Ben B. Lindsey, of the internationally famous Family Court of Denver.

A tolerant man, an understanding man, but, more than all else, a brave man, he is presenting that evidence—and his conclusions—under the startling title, "The Moral Revolt," in the frankest series of articles that have ever appeared in a magazine.

Case after case from his own Court, related in all their illuminating details, are offered by him in support of his belief that a new code of morals, particularly in relation to sex, is being evolved under our eyes today.

And in further support of Judge Lindsey's belief, Mrs. Philip Lydig, all of whose life has been spent in the world of fashionable society here and abroad, comes forward with an article entitled, "The Tragedy of Gilded Youth," in which she too cites case after case of youthful destruction as a result of young people growing up in the atmosphere that surrounds their rich and idle elders.

Nor is that all. For in the fascinating form of the novel, Mr. Owen Johnson and Mr. Rupert Hughes, themselves familiar with all strata of society, present dramatic pictures of just what is proceeding on the inside of that society. Their novels, "Children of Divorce" and "We Live But Once," are written with no less frankness and first-hand knowledge than the articles by Judge Lindsey and Mrs. Lydig.

In addition to these contributions of the deepest human interest, the same magazine offers, in its November issue, the best and latest work of the most popular novelists and short-story writers—among others, Struthers Burt, Robert Benchley, Arthur Mason, James Hopper, Virginia Dale, Margaret Culkin Banning, and Samuel Scoville, Jr.

American Critics of Government Control Not Hampered by Facts

Seeking to silence the advocates in the United States of the "Quebec System," the public morals board of the Methodist church of that country Thursday issued against government control as known in Canada a broadside that is false in almost every statement.

Now, if the same proclamation that asserted government control here to be a failure also asserted prohibition in the United States to be a failure —in support of which contention there is abundant evidence—the proclaimers could be regarded as at least impartial and disinterested. The same conclusion would apply if they saw both systems as good, and were examining as to which had the greater merit.

But the same authority that finds government control in the portions of Canada in which it has been tried, a dismal and debasing failure, finds prohibition in the United States a success.

The only conclusion possible is that facts have no particular significance with the board in question, or else that it has made a singularly incomplete survey of the two countries.

Does British Columbia Look Like This Picture?

Reviewing conditions in Quebec, British Columbia, Manitoba and other provinces where there is government control, the board holds that there exist "all of the evils of illegal traffic in the United States plus the evils of government-protected traffic as vicious in principle and practice as was the saloon system in the United States."

British Columbia is among those mentioned there.

Will any British Columbian recognize as British Columbia a territory pictured as having (1) all the evils of universal bootlegging, universal moonshining, universal illicit manufacture of poisonous concoctions based on wood alcohol, and universal consumption of any preparations containing alcohol, and (2) other evils of its own, vicious and demoralizing, and approximating those of the saloon system in the United States in its worst days?

The one "evil of illegal traffic as it exists in the United States" that exists in British Columbia is bootlegging, feeble in type, sporadic, and making but a relatively small show.

This charge against Canada seems to be made out of whole cloth.

Perhaps it rests on the same kind of basis as the Ladies' Home Journal article by a special writer sent to the scene, who reported that in one of the government liquor stores children who had to stand on tiptoe to reach the counter were served. Inasmuch as children cannot step across the threshold of a government liquor store, the Ladies' Home Journal had to pay a tidy sum in damages for its special writer's imaginative account, of which presumably the outline had been schemed before he had reached Canada.

Is Corruption Running Riot in Canada?

Declaring that "corruption has run riot since the government control system has been in operation," the board points to the recent customs scandal in Canada.

"This scandal is nothing less than the child of the unholy relation between a government-protected liquor traffic in Canada and a lawless, criminal traffic in the United States," it asserts.

On the matter of an unholy relation, by implication, of Canada to the fact of great quantities of liquor being illegally consumed in the United States, if not a drop of liquor crossed Canada's boundary into the United States, that country would still be lavishly supplied, as it is now, from the sea.

Also, manufacture of liquor is not confined to, or even centered in, government control provinces.

Within the last three weeks Mr. Green, one of the heads of the enforcement service, in an article in the Saturday Evening Post acquitted Canada and Mexico of being at fault in the matter of entry of liquor into the United States by land. He admitted the closing of the boundary against liquor was up to the United States itself.

As to the corruption alleged to have run riot in Canada under the liquor control system, where is such corruption in British Columbia?

Any corruption that appertains even geographically to British Columbia in connection with liquor has no reference to the operation of the government control system, but springs from the existence of prohibition in the United States, and the system Americans have built up, of rum running by water.

Question of Prosperity

"Prohibition, at its worst in the United States half-chance prohibition, has yielded billions in profits to the plain people. Business has been booming, and development has been rapid.

"In Canada, in recent years, development has been slow and painful, business has lagged, wages are comparatively low, and the Dominion is being drained of skilled labor by the lure of high wages and prosperity across the boundary."

It is undeniably true that business is better in the United States than in Canada, but few Canadian voters will be prepared to assign the difference to the different ways in which liquor is handled on either side of the line.

If it held good that government control was hindering development of Canada—as seems to be implied—then the parts that would be least prosperous would be the provinces that were afflicted by it.

But which provinces have been having hard times?

Ontario, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick—which are, as it happens, prohibition provinces.

There may be the best of reasons why the United States should retain prohibition, and eschew government control, but none of them have been stated by the authors of the statement here discussed.

Corn Muffins—Sift together, into a mixing bowl, ½-cup of yellow corn meal, one cup of bread flour, four teaspoons of baking powder, ½-teaspoon of salt and 1½ teaspoons of sugar. Now in a smaller bowl beat the yolks of two eggs, and to them add ¾-cup of sweet cold milk and one tablespoon of cold water. Turn this liquid mixture into the dry mixture, beat well, then fold in the two egg whites stiffly whipped, and add, last, two tablespoons of butter melted. Beat again for several minutes before turning the batter into 14 buttered "wells" of muffin pans. Slip the pans into a very hot oven (500 degrees F.) and bake about 10 minutes; then reduce oven heat to medium (between 400 and 450 dgrees F.) and continue to bake another 10 minutes or till high, browned and receded from the pan edges.

Cheese Pies—Line small tart pans or small individual pie pans with ordinary pie pastry. Between four or five of them (before baking the pastry) divide the following mixture:

Cheese Filling: Into a bowl put two cups of cottage cheese or the same measure of cream cheese. To it add six tablspoons of granulated sugar, ½-cup of sweet medium cream or rich top milk, one tablespoon of melted butter, the grated rind and juice of one lemon, three eggs well beaten, and one-third cup each of dried currants and finely shaved citron. Beat the mixture well before turning it into the pastry-lined pans. Bake in a moderate oven (400 degrees F.) for 15 to 20 minutes. Serve hot.

Planked Steak—(Sunday's dinner menu will call for this): Pan broil either a boned porterhouse steak or a short rump steak which is cut 1½ inch thick. To pan broil it, place it in a hot frying pan, turn almost immediately, in a few minutes turn again, and keep turning constantly till the meat is seared and partly browned on both sides (seven minutes if liked rare, likewise 12). Now place the meat on a buttered wood plank, sprinkle with salt and pepper, spread with bits of butter, surround by mashed potatoes, brushed over with raw egg, and slip the plank into a hot oven for meat and vegetable to brown. Serve on the plank.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

Honey for the Heart

I spoke once before about sugar and fatigue. Some physicians experimented with sugar and its effect upon fatigue during the annual Boston Marathon race. They found that those runners showing the greatest degree of fatigue had a larger amount of sugar in the blood drawn from the tissues, than those who finished in better physical condition. Sandow, the strong man, used to eat taffy just before his vaudeville act. At the rest periods in athletic games, it is not unusual for the athletes to receive some taffy or milk chocolate.

And now it remains for a Scotch physician to point out the value of honey in any condition where there is fatigue or exhaustion of the muscles.

Dr. G. N. W. Thomas, of Edinburgh, noticed that any emotional disturbance was followed by an increase of sugar in the blood. This meant that as mentioned above, tissues lost this good foodstuff.

It has been shown that muscle in action can consume three and a half times as much sugar as muscle at rest.

Having in mind the great amount of work the heart has to do in health, and the tremendous amount of work it has to do in illness, and remembering further that the heart is only muscle after all, Dr. Thomas began administering honey to his heart cases. He found that honey "had a marked effect in reviving heart action, and in keeping the patient alive."

One of the ailments that greatly taxes the heart is pneumonia. As you know, the lungs are in a congested or swollen condition, and the heart has to pump the blood into them. Also much of the tissue that should purify that blood is not really working. Dr. Thomas found that the administration of three or four tablespoonsful of honey per day, during the illness, preserved an "exceptionally good pulse." Another writer commenting upon this, tells us that it is the vitamins, both fat and soluble, and water soluble vitamins found in honey, that is responsible for the above helpful effects. That honey is easily digested is another factor in favor of its use for invalids and children. And then we remember that some patients dislike "medicine", it is worth knowing that honey can be a body builder, and a real heart stimulant.

Told in Rime

KING TUT'S COUCH
(Perspective)

Ye hardy hikers and climbers of the hills,
Seeking pleasure 'mid Nature's wonders and scenery:
Whist ye a giant figure, or unique attraction,
Lying near our doors in the West Kootenay;
This marvel whereof we now tell you
Lies just hidden from the beaten track,
Tho' a winding trail leads thereabouts,
At least part way there and back,
To the westward then of Slocan Lake,
And perchance of the Valhalla Range,
Rests this fragment of Nature's wonder works;
And believe us, it's striking strange,
As we catch the first and distant glimpse
Of this rocky, rugged and naked crest,
We stand and gaze in wonderment
On a marvellous object, we do attest;
And while nonplussed for the moment,
At this thought-impelling figure we vouch,
Its striking design or contour leads us
To hail it, "Worthy fragment of Creation"—"King Tut's Couch."

Born of world-creating forces doubtless,
A strange figure resting there behold,
Strewn maybe with dust of the ages,
Rugged and naked, still young, yet old,
Putting to flight the works of mankind,
And even before King Tut saw the light,
There rested this formed piece of creation
'Mid silence eternal, an impressive sight;
Here's a couch of giant proportions, then,
As we've come to judge it beyond a doubt,
As its well-defined contour or figure stands out,
Distinct and clean cut, e'en as a silhouette:
A flattened bed with well-raised head,
And a vivid V cut in end or foot,
Naked, undressed appear its sheer cut sides,
Chiselled by unseen hands—Regal Couch of King Tut.
Near the head and to the left side
We discern a form like figure or chair,
Suggestive of a keeper being on duty there—
At least, we draw the inference as being but fair—
While on this September morn, frosty tinge in air,
Draped about in white shroud, form no longer bare:
The filmy wings of a spirit—ghost-like.
Seen hovering 'round about it there,
"While this enduring masterpiece speaks to soul of man.
How frail are all thy works, how brief the human span."
And while "excavations" King Tut's pomp and glory proclaim,
Yet this fragment of creation has scarce begun to wane:
And when the writer of these lines lies a forgotten name,
Others perchance bear witness to it's giant frame and fame.

Now we are bent on exploring this noble crest or couch,
And maybe while resting there, take thought and vouch
To finish writing this rouga rhyme anent "King Tut's Couch."
This but a faint perspective: what then of the Reality?:
As we hope to stretch ourselves upon that monarch bed,
Drinking in the beyond and near, vista and scenery,
To the point of intoxication, be it truly said.
As it beckons, beguiles and bewitches us,
Disturbing our content; impatience hides a grouch,
Till we do touch and tread that giant crest or bed:
Erstwhile we bid adieu to "King Tut's Couch."

FIVE KILLED WHEN CAR AND TRAIN CRASH

SYRACUSE, Oct. 10.—Five persons were killed today when a New York Central passenger crashed into a light sedan in which they were riding near the New York state fair grounds. The car was reduced to splinters and three of the bodies were carried fully 500 feet. The dead are all from Syracuse.

Railroad officials stated tonight they were unable to understand how an automobile could drive onto the crossing with the view in both directions practically unobscured.

Russell Miller, aged 22, was killed when an elevator in the Times building, Reading, Pa., fell.

H. B. Burnett, killed his son, Bradley, aged 11, because the remained out all night in Herrin, Ill.

Give Your Children a Hot Breakfast!

Mother! Don't neglect your children's breakfast. It is the important meal of the day. Coming after the longest fast of the twenty-four hours, it must supply energy quickly. Health authorities recommend hot oats and milk because it is a balanced food, easily digested, that provides energy that "stands by" all morning.

Give your children hot Quaker Oats and milk. Then see how much better they look, how much better they feel.

These appetizing oats furnish the essential food elements for energy and growth. Your children go to school warm and satisfied, ready for the morning's work.

Cranbrook High School Is Crowded; Invite the Parents to Investigate

CRANBROOK, Oct. 10. — At the meeting of the school board on Friday it was suggested that a visitors' day be held at the high school shortly, so that parents may understand the crowded conditions there. There is an enrollment of about 180 pupils, in seven classes. The building being used was a former Catholic separate school, and consisted of three rooms and a hall upstairs which has now been made into four class rooms. While nothing definite has been arranged it is quite possible that at the coming civic elections the ratepayers may be asked to vote money to either put an addition on to the existing frame structure or for an entirely new eight-roomed building which would presumably be built on the block south of the city which the board has been holding for some years.

MRS. ELLIOTT VISITS CRANBROOK LODGE

CRANBROOK, Oct. 10.—Mrs. Grace Elliott, president of the Rebekah assembly of British Columbia, arrived on Saturday evening and was entertained at a special meeting of Maple Leaf Rebekah lodge at the auditorium. Mrs. Elliott's addresses to the Rebekahs and their friends were very much to the point, and at an open meeting following the lodge session proper a general social time was enjoyed, including an excellent supper. Mrs. Elliott is expected to visit Kimberley lodge on Monday evening.

CRANBROOK NOTES

CRANBROOK, Oct. 10.—J. S. Black of the C.P.R. superintendent's office returned on Sunday from a three-weeks' holiday spent in San Francisco, Los Angeles and other points south, spending also a few days in Vancouver.

Mrs. G. J. Spreuill has returned to Cranbrook with her family after a holiday of several months in England and Scotland. Mr. Spreuill met them in Medicine Hat.

Dorrell McKain, 19, high school student, died from injuries received in an automobile accident, in Urbana, Ohio.

SLOCAN HOSPITAL NAMES GOVERNORS

Will Supervise Running of Slocan Community Hospital; Financial Statement Is Good

NEW DENVER, Oct. 10. — On Tuesday in the Bosun hall, the first annual meeting of subscribers to the Slocan Community hospital was held. At a previous meeting a provisional directorate was formed, together with trustees, to undertake the collection of subscriptions toward the purchase of the old Slocan hospital, and if receipts were satisfactory to go ahead with the purchase of the hospital and equipment complete, also to draft suitable bylaws and attend to all necessary arrangements pertaining to this matter and report at a later date to a meeting of subscribers. The provisional directorate consisted of J. Irwin, C. J. Campbell, J. C. Harris, L. W. Sells, A. S. MacAulay of Silverton, J. Telr of Rosebery, Mrs. T. Avison and Mrs. Jeffrey. The trustees appointed were J. Irwin, A. S. MacAulay and A. Jacobson. At the annual meeting presided over by J. Irwin as chairman and L. W. Sells, secretary, the reports and work of the provisional directorate were presented. The bylaws were discussed and finally adopted.

New Directorate

The following directorate was appointed by the meeting to take over the business of the hospital until the next annual meeting, to be held in March, 1927: J. Irwin, A. Jacobson, G. Trickett and Mrs. Clever for New Denver, A. S. MacAulay, E. F. Hunter and Mrs. Kelly for Silverton and J. Telr for Rosebery. A. McInnes and J. B. Smith were appointed auditors. The society has been incorporated under the Societies act and will be known as the Slocan Community Hospital society. The financial statement showed subscription receipts of $2866 with an additional grant of $2500 from the government. As soon as the hospital building is in the hands of the society necessary repairs will be made prior to its being opened for the reception of patients.

CRESTON WILL ENFORCE THE FIRE MARSHALS ACT

CRESTON, Oct. 10. — At a special session the village commissioners have decided to enforce the British Columbia Fire Marshals act in regard to proclaiming a date on or before which all stovepipes, furnaces, chimneys, as well as premises generally, must be put in fireproof shape and Matt York, the local assistant fire marshal, is notifying all householders that the law must be obeyed or a police court summons will be issued. The new electric fire alarm siren purchased by the village has now been installed and a switch for turning in alarms is placed in the hallway at the municipal building, in which the firehall is located, and where Andrey Wilson, who is in charge of the hose reels, makes night quarters.

HARVEST FESTIVAL HELD AT PASSMORE

PASSMORE, Oct. 10. — Harvest festival service was held here Wednesday, Rev. A. B. D. Stoddart of New Denver conducting the service. The decoration of flowers, fruit, sheaves and vegetables was most effective. Miss D. McClean rendered the harvest hymns.

Rev. Mr. Allen of the United church is visiting here, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. Jamieson.

Word has been received here of the death of Angus McDonald, better known as "Vong Angus," of heart failure in Cobalt, Ont. Deceased was an old-timer in the district here in the early days, and revisited this district some seven years ago.

DIES IN ENGLAND

CRESTON, B.C., Oct. 19. — W. A. McMurtrie on Friday received word by cable of the death in Cheshire, Eng., of his father, who passed away the day previous at quite an advanced age. This is the second bereavement Mr. and Mrs. McMurtrie have had in hardly more than a year, their only son, John Leslie McMurtrie, having passed away in August, 1925.

FARMERS' INSTITUTES TO GATHER IN CRANBROOK

CRANBROOK, Oct. 10. — A meeting of the local farmers' institute was held on Saturday evening mainly for the purpose of completing the arrangements for the district institute meetings which take place here on Wednesday and Thursday next. These meetings are held annually and are attended by representatives of all the farmers' institutes in the East Kootenay. Arrangements for the convention are in the hands of A. L. Hay, district agriculturist, and his assistant, Miss F. Noble. Included in the progoram is a welcome to the delegates by Mayor Roberts and a banquet on Wednesday evening to the visitors.

ALBERTA DENIES LIQUOR CHARGES

'Deplorable Conditions' Broadcast by Temperance Workers in States Contradicted

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—The recent assertion of the board of temperance, prohibition and public morals of the Methodist church that government control of liquor in Canada is working unsatisfactorily was challenged tonight by W. H. Stayton, head of the association against the prohibition amendment.

A telegraphic statement from Wallace Howe, secretary of the moderation league of Alberta, was made public by Mr. Stayton in support of his contention. The telegram said: "Today's local papers carry a report of a survey of conditions regarding working of government liquor control acts in Canada made by Ernest A. Grant, for the board of temperance, public morals and prohibition of the Methodist church. So far as Alberta is concerned, I say positively the 'deplorable conditions' pictured do not exist. The act is working well, nor is there any 'moonshine problem.' Police court records prove this. Moreover out of seven local option votes taken during the past six months, six went wet by good majorities and one dry by two votes. If you wish I will mail a full report. Am anxious to clear Alberta of this vile calumny."

INCH OF SNOW FALLS AGAIN IN CALGARY

GREATER MILLION VOTES

REGINA, Oct. 10.—Nearly of a quarter million votes were cast in Saskatchewan in the recent federal election.

With the issuance on Saturday of the official figures for the Last Mountain constituency final figures for all ridings in Saskatchewan have now been issued.

The exact number of votes recorded totalled 244,883, as compared with 196,419 in the October election of last year, or an increase of 48,484.

FASHIONABLE SLIMNESS AND HEALTH

Girlish slimness and perfect health go together if slimness is gained naturally—by proper foods and simple exercises. If the diet is right a girl or woman will have a clear skin, vivacious, bubbling health, be slim, supple and youthful at any age.

Dr. Jackson, dietetic editor, "Archives of Therapeutics," New York, a physicians' journal, advisor to "Defensive-Diet League," a physicians' association, though by heredity tending to be "fleshy," is at 67 slim, supple, vigorous, youthful; far more athletic than most youths, he can outwalk, outrun, outswim, outplay and outwork 90% of all youths. He lives entirely upon natural foods, chiefly nuts, fruits, vegetables, Roman Meal, milk. Properly used, this diet will keep you well fed, slim, clear-skinned, vivacious, healthy, regardless of age or sex. For free instructions how to use diet for health, send for his free leaflet, "How to Keep Well," to Robert G. Jackson, M.D., 348 Vine Ave., Toronto, 9, Ont.

GERMAN BUSINESS MEN MEET BRITISH

At London They Discuss Industries and Bank Business; Decide on Further Work

LONDON, Oct. 10.—British and German industrial and financial leaders have met in conference over the week-end at the residence of Colonel Ashley, minister of transportation near Romsey. Coal, iron, textiles, shipping, electricity, mining and the banking industries of both countries were represented and the conversations, which were carried on in an atmosphere of confidence and good-will, ranged over a variety of topics in the field of business.

It was decided to form a standing joint committee composed of an equal number of representatives of the two countries to continue the investigations into the subjects, and further meetings are contemplated. The British chairman of the joint committee is Sir Robert S. Horne, former chancellor of the exchequer and the German chairman, Dr. Duisberg, privy councillor.

South Africa's War Memorial Is Unveiled at Amiens in France

AMIENS, France, Oct. 10. — The imposing memorial to South Africa's war dead was unveiled in Delville Wood today by Mrs. Botha, widow of the famous Boer general and statesman, in the presence of Prince Arthur of Connaught, former governor-general of South Africa; Hon. J. B. Hertzog, premier of South Africa; Field Marshal Earl Haig and Lord Buxton and Lord Gladstone. Ex-service men and relatives of the fallen soldiers also witnessed the ceremony.

"On the rights and wrongs of the war, we do not feel called upon to decide," Premier Hertzog said. "Hearing a far-off call from a world in distress imploring for national freedom and world peace, our countrymen marched to the battle field, forever determining their born conviction in righteousness and service.

"If militarism still stalks over the face of Europe the blame is surely not theirs. On the statesmen of Europe and in the first place on the victorious statesmen now rests justification by wisdom and action for the confidence imposed in them by the world to realize the high and noble purpose of the war."

French Vets Oppose Ratification of Debt Agreements

PARIS, Oct. 10. — The representatives of 400,000 French war veterans informed Premier Poincare today that these ex-service men would stubbornly oppose ratification of the Washington and London debt agreements in their present form even though such action might bring about the downfall of the government.

M. Poincare assured them that France would undertake payment only within her capacity to pay, and to a degree that would not disrupt exchange. He said that he had expressed the government's ideals on the subject in his Bar le Duc and St. Germain speeches a fortnight ago.

The delegation was headed by President Rossignol of the National Union of Combatants.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—First daily air service between Berlin and London will start Friday.

NO GRIEVANCE TO CONFERENCE FROM CANADA

So States Premier King as He Sails From Quebec; Hon. Mr. Lapointe Goes Along

PREMIER PAYS HONOR TO MINISTER OF JUSTICE

Traces Rising Tide of Liberalism; Wishes Empire to Grow

QUEBEC, Oct. 10.—Canada takes no grievance to the Imperial conference, said Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King to the crowd gathered to bid him goodbye when he sailed Saturday night for England. Canada was to be represented as a full self-governing nation within the Empire, Mr. King told the Liberals of the district who gave a luncheon in honor of himself and Hon. Ernest Lapointe, minister of justice, who accompanied Mr. King overseas.

"The morrow of a victory and the eve of a departure" the prime minister named the occasion. Liberals from all parts of Quebec were in the ancient capital for the day and the premier was occupied every moment from the time of his arrival from Ottawa the middle of the morning until the Megantic sailed at 9:30 p.m. with informal conferences and two speeches. Shortly before the ship left Premier King addressed a crowd of citizens from a special platform on the wharf. Ships' flags were flying everywhere and a military band greeted the party at the wharf.

Ministers Accompany Him

The prime minister was accompanied to Quebec by Hon. J. A. Robb, who will be acting premier in his absence; Hon. Charles Dunning, Senator Dandurand as well as members of the official party.

Thanks were extend to the people and to the press for the generous way in which the new government had been received. Irrespective of party, the attitude of the press had been of good-will toward the new administration.

Place for Celebration

At the luncheon presided over by Hon. P. J. Paradis, Mr. King spoke of the city of Quebec as the ancient citadel of Liberalism and the fitting place for the celebration of a great victory.

"In going to the Imperial conference, I feel my responsibility lessened by having Mr. Lapointe at my side," he said. Anything done at the conference on behalf of Canada would be an expression of their common point of view.

"I believe in the British Empire as the greatest agency for peace and good will the world has ever known. I want to see the Empire grow in strength and might, but it will grow when built on the corner stone of self-government.

"Self-governing nations within the British Commonwealth of nations—I do not believe anyone will question that status in London.

Mr. King returned to the Liberal victory. It was the culmination of a great effort which started in 1919 to bring together all the forces of unity in this country, he said.

Traces Rise of Liberals

The rise of the Liberal party since the war, was outlined by Mr. King. It had been inevitable that differences within the ranks chould arise in war time but with the convention of 1919, the forces of unity and toleration were launched. The year 1921 saw how difficult it was to bring all the forces of the party together, yet the parliament would be known as the parliament of large majorities.

Ogden Celebrates His Eighty-second Birthday, Montreal

MONTREAL, Oct. 10.—Isaac Gouverneur Ogden, dean of the Canadian Pacific employees, celebrated his eighty-second birthday at his home in Montreal on Sunday. He is one of the most important officers of the company, being in charge of all the important work of handling its finances and accounts. For the past 44 years Mr. Ogden has been the outstanding figure in the financial department of the Canadian Pacific, his title today being vice-president in charge of finance. In order to express the esteems of which Mr. Ogden is held by the officials of the Canadian Pacific railway, a huge basket of roses was delivered to him Sunday morning.

Born in New York, in 1844, Mr. Ogden was educated in the local schools and commenced his business experiences in the civil war days in the local banking firm of Fisk & Hatch. His railway career was begun as paymaster of accountant in 1871 with the Chicago and Pacific railway. Ten years later he joined the Canadian Pacific as auditor of western division with headquarters at Winnipeg until 1883. In 1883 he was promoted to a senior position in Montreal and from 1887 to 1901 served as comptroller. For the past 25 years Mr. Ogden has occupied the position of vice-president.

Hunger-Crazed Huskies Attack Young Girl; Is Saved by Bystanders

EDMONTON, Oct. 10.—"Hunger-crazed huskies which lie around the northern posts with their improvident Indian masters during the summer are a source of danger to the unprotected children there and some regulations will soon be put in force for the control of the beasts," said J. A. McDouglas, of the MacKenzie district, who arrived in Edmonton from the north.

A little girl was attacked at the post by a band of the brutes some time ago, he added, but the child was saved by bystanders, who were attracted to the spot and drove off the maddened animals.

Such events are not uncommon in the north and instances have been known of children being killed by the huskies, many of which are part wolf. Their masters, the Indians, make no provision for the feeding of the dogs during the summer.

Four airplanes have been added to the police department of Kansas City as aids to the detection and suppression of crime.

FOR GIRLS WHO WORK

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Is a Great Friend—It Stops Pain and Restores Health

Toronto, Ontario.—"I work in a factory and I would have to get away from my work every time I was sick. The dragging-down pains and cramps were very bad, but my back was terrible. It hurt so that I couldn't lie down with it. I heard some of the girls talking about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and they told me to try it. I have taken about a dozen bottles of it and it has done me a lot of good. I never have any pains or sore back now, and have not been off from work a day since I have taken it. I recommend the Vegetable Compound when I have the opportunity."—Miss ROLLO, 21 Hewie Avenue, Toronto, Ontario.

"The Advice of a Friend"

Hanover, Ontario.—"I was terribly pained and a few odd times I almost fainted. I used to do housework until a few months ago and sometimes I had to leave my work and go to bed. I am now a mender in the knitting-mill. I suffered five or six years from painful periods before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound by the advice of a friend. I got relief almost immediately, and I tell my friends what a good medicine it is. You may use this testimonial if you like, if it will help others."—Miss J. PEARSON, Victoria Street, Hanover, Ontario.

LEXANDER PUTS ARDS ON EVEN ERMS AGAIN

teran Twirler Too Good for Yanks and St. Louis Wins 10-2, Saturday

ARDS GO ON HITTING SPREE AT NEW YORK

ster Bell the Big Gun in Card Attack; Ruth Has Poor Day at Bat

(By ALAN J. GOULD)

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—The Cardals, fighting like falcons instead red birds, clawed their way back o the thick of the world's series ttle Saturday while their old tching master, Grover Cleveland exander, subdued the Yankees for second time.

Rallying behind the effective box rk of their ancient right-hander, e National league champions ushed their rivals in the sixth me by a score of 10 to 2 with attack of such savage fury that ither Bob Shawkey nor Urban ocker, stars of the Yankee twirlg troupe, could check it.

48,000 at Game

It was a chill wind that swept the ankee stadium, today, keeping the tendance down to 48,000, but it ew the Cardinals some good. They inched the game in the first inning smashing in three runs off Shawy before the red-flanneled arm of e Yankee veteran had had time to ttle down. Except for a few inervals thereafter the Cardinal cloutg kept up a steady bombardment, oming to a climax in the seventh hen Shawkey was shelled from the ill and his successor, Shocker, likeise shattered when four runs clatred over the plate.

Lester Bell, stalwart third baseman, was the big gun in the barrage id down by the Cardinal attack. His single in the first inning brought ver two runs, including what proved be the winning tally, while in the eventh he walloped a terrific home un into the left field stands that cored Bottomley ahead of him. Bell ad one other hit, a single in he ninth, but his two big blows were fficient to enable him to tie the orld's series record for driving in uns.

Equals Scoring Record

By bringing four across altogether e equaled the single game mark irst set by Elmer Smith in 1920, hen he hit a home run with the ases full against Brooklyn, and tied y Babe Ruth last Wednesday when he Yanks' star lashed out three ome runs, one of them with a mate n base.

All told, the Cardinals registered safe blows, six of them for exa bases, off the combined delivies of Shawkey, Shocker and Young iles Thomas, who twirled the last o innings. O'Farrell and Alexander, he Cardinal battery, alone failed to gure in the hit column.

Alexander's Second Victory

Yet there was a dramatic touch to he Cardinal rally and the second ictory of Alexander, raw-boned, 39ear-old veteran, who has come back n the twilight of his career to turn wo of his greatest performances Old Aleck stands tied with Herb ennock, southpaw star of the Yanees, in winning two games, but to im goes the glory of twice having ulled the Cardinals back to even erms when their fortunes seemed at ow ebb.

The Yankees got the first man to ase in six of their nine innings and ad scoring opportunities in at least ive, but in only two of them, the ourth and seventh, were they able o push a run across. Bob Meusel's ong triple to left and infield out by ehrig, produced the first tally, while Dugan's single, a wild throw by Bell n Severeid's rap and a one-base hit y Combs accounted for the other un.

Ruth Was Impotent

Ruth was the most impotent of all when it came to solving the deceptive urves or gauging the speed of Alexnder's offerings. Old Aleck was at is best when pitching to the bambino. He walked the Yankee star once, in the sixth, but in the three other attempts the Babe could not get the ball out of the infield. Twice Ruth came to bat with two on base and two out, but each time he was retired easily.

Holm Also Stars

It was a day for heroic work by the Cardinals as a whole and not the least of them was the center field sub, Roscoe (Waldie) Holm, who replaced the injured Taylor Douthit. Holm, who figured in three scoring tallies altogether, besides starring in the field, began the Cardinal cannonade in the first inning with a single to right. He was forced by Southworth, but Hornsby walked and Bottomley doubled, scoring Southworth, while Bell crashed a drive past Dugan that brought over Hornsby and Bottomley.

Shawkey tightened after this, striking out Hafey and O'Farrell to end the first inning and breezing through the next three without allowing a hit. Thevenow's single, Alexander's sacrifice and Holm's blow over second base produced another run in the fifth, and Shawkey's downfall finally came in the seventh.

A muffed throw by Tony Lazzeri, and a misjudged fly by Meusel proved damaging in this inning, but not nearly so damaging as the Cardinal bats. Thevenow opened the attack with a single to left and all hands were safe when Lazzeri dropped Severeid's throw to first on Alexander's sacrifice bunt. Holm forced Thevenow, but Southworth doubled, the blow being lost by Meusel in the sun, and Alexander tallied.

Shocker Replaces Shawkey

This was the signal for Shawkey's retirement, but Hornsby greeted Shocker with a single over second that brought Holm and Southworth over the plate. Bottomley forced Hornsby on a rap to Koenig, and Bell followed with his lusty homer deep into the left field grandstand extension, scoring Bottomley ahead of him. Hafey kept up the barrage with a double, but O'Farrell, the ninth man at bat, fanned and the firing ceased.

Thomas, twirling the last two innings, escaped with only one run, scored in the ninth when Southworth tripled to deep center on a hit that Combs juggled and scored on Hornsby's infield out.

St. Louis Goes Wild When Cards Win Title; Celebration On All Night

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 10. — The celebration in St. Louis over the victory of the Cardinals in winning the world series threatened to last all night.

As soon as the game was over St. Louis deserted its radio sets to celebrate and soon the downtown streets, usually virtually deserted on Sunday, were jammed with automobiles filled with noise-making fans.

Whistles, cow bells, automobile horns and all other conceivable noise - making devices were brought into play. Dishpans, washtubs and stovepipes were tied to the rear of cars and caused a terrific din as they bounced over the pavement.

Old men and old women joined in the celebration. Jubilant fans jumped up and down, danced in the streets and hugged each other.

Gloucester Races Will Be Run Over Course; Today Start

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Oct. 10. — After a lapse of three years, this historic port tomorrow will witness a renewal of competition for the championship of the fishing fleet. Tonight two swift vessels, the pick of old Gloucester's famous schooners, were groomed and ready for the test which will begin off Eastern Point. Three days of racing over a 40-mile course will decide whether the Henry Ford of the Columbia deserves the title of Gloucester's champion.

THEVENOW BEST SHORTSTOP IN GAME: HORNSBY

'He Won the Game,' Says Card Manager, Referring to Youthful Infielder

'OLD ALEX' COMES IN FOR THE BIG HAND

Hornsby Leaves for Texas to Attend Funeral of His Mother; Landis Congratulates

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—The club house of the winning St. Louis Cardinals after today's deciding game, was converted into a reception room. The players themselves held the first reception in honor of Grover Alexander, who took up the pitching burden where Jesse Haines left off in the seventh inning and made the game safe for Missouri beyond peradventure.

"I've got to pitch again, I have not retired," said Alexander, protesting at the hearty slaps of his team mates.

"Let me say a piece for the paper," pleaded Manager Hornsby, "I want to tell everybody that Tommy Thevenow is the best shortstop in baseball. There are no "ifs" on the matter. Thevenow has them all beat. He won the ball game, of course Aleck saved the game, but everybody knows what I think of Aleck's pitching."

Leaves for Funeral

Manager Hornsby left immediately after the game for Austin, Texas, to bury his mother, who died September 29, leaving a request that Rogers stay with his team and give his efforts to winning the world series for St. Louis. The young Cardinal manager carried out her last wishes to the letter.

Baseball Commissioner Landis was one of the first to congratulate Hornsby. "It was a great series; you have a great club and I congratulate you also on your playing personally," the directing genius of major baseball told the manager of the world's champions.

He was then off to tell the Yankees that they were glorious in defeat.

Alexander had fought his way through his admiring team-mates and was permitting the trainer to rub liniment on his right arm, called to toss on two cold days in succession.

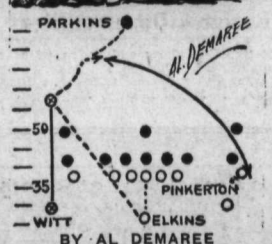
"Wasting Time"

That's nothing but wasting time, rubbing that arm," laughed John J. McGraw, manager of the New York Giants and much more a veteran than Alexander. "This fellow can go out and pitch an exhibition game tomorrow and without any liniment either."

Alexander said he felt no fatigue in the two and one third innings he pitched, following nine hard periods yesterday. "I tried to make Ruth hit a bad ball in the ninth" he said, "And I thought I would when I got two strikes on him, but he would not go after the next three."

The slugging Ruth was a bit disconsolate after the game but soon regained his cheerful view of things in general and baseball games in particular. "They made one more run than we did and the team that makes the most runs wins, so we had to lose," he said. "Of course I would like to have 'busted' another one but I did not have a very good chance."

Interference In This Case Was Too Much So



BY AL DEMAREE
(Former Pitcher New York Giants)

"The Southeastern Savages from Durant, Oaklahoma," says Percy Godfry, football authority, "opened the season for Iowa in October, 1924. The Indians during the game threw a long pass from Elkins, of Haskell Indian fame, to Pewee Witt, six feet, five inches in height, considered the tallest quarterback in captivity.

"Witt caught the pass and was running for a touchdown with only the safety man, the noted Parkins between him and the Iowa goal. Pinkerton, star end for the Savages, coming from the other side of the field to run interference for Witt left his feet at Parkins. In doing so he cut down both Parkins and the runner, and before Witt could get up, another Iowa man tackled him.

"This play occurred because the runner not seeing his own man coming up, had cut back to avoid Parkins."

TRAIL-ROSSLAND, KASLO GOLFERS COME IN FORCE

Thirty-one Play in Intercity Golf Tourney at Nelson

NELSON PLAYERS WELCOME THEM

Friendly Matches, With No Records Kept, Are Played

Thirty-one golfers, members of the Trail-Rossland and Kaslo golf clubs, played in Nelson, Saturday and yesterday, in one of the most successful intercity tournaments held in the district. There were 19 visitors from Trail, 12 men and 7 ladies, and 12 visitors from Kaslo, 6 members of each sex. Play was on the links of the Nelson Golf and Country club.

The matches were played Saturday afternoon and yesterday, yesterday's rain not beginning until the tourney was nearly completed.

Owing to the greater number of Nelson players, some Nelson players joined the ranks of the visitors. The match committee of the Nelson club arranged the matches, but no record was kept of the results.

There were 15 matches, two-ball foursomes, on Saturday. This meant that 60 people played, so that the course was crowded at all times.

Saturday Matches

The following matches were played Saturday:

Dr. and Mrs. D. J. Barclay, Kaslo, played John Cartmel and Mrs. A. Leith.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Latham, Kaslo, played L. S. Mackersy and Mrs. C. D. Blackwood.

Mr. Bingers and Mrs. J. Anderson, Kaslo, played E. C. Wragge and Mrs. B. Townshend.

J. Fahey, Zincton, and J. Anderson, Kaslo, played G. W. Davis and R. L. McBride.

F. Rouleau, Kaslo, and C. W. Appleyard, Nelson, played T. R. Wilson and G. N. Douglas.

F. Lee, Trail, and Miss Cockle, Kaslo, played F. C. Whitehouse and Mrs. G. W. Davis.

F. S. Willis and Mrs. E. Stiles, Trail, played Judge J. A. Forin and Miss A. G. Perkins.

E. Stiles and Mrs. George Murray, Trail, played B. Townshend and Mrs. E. C. Wragge.

J. Atwell and Miss E. Newman,

SUZANNE WINS IN PRO MATCH

Beats Mary K. Browne; Richards Leads Snodgrass; 9000 Pay $24,000 to See Game

NEW YORK, Oct. 10. — Suzanne Lenglen easily triumphed over her United States professional rival, Mary K. Browne, 6-2, 6-1, at Madison Square Garden tonight in a second series exhibition tennis match.

Vincent Richards was leading Harvey Snodgrass of Los Angeles 6-4, 4-1, when the latter was forced to default because of illness.

Professional lawn tennis had its inauguration last night with Suzanne revelling a brilliant display of the racket wizardry. Appearing before a gallery of 9000, which paid $24,000 to see her in action, the queen of the courts dashed gaily through two sparkling sets against Mary K. Browne of Santa Monica, Cal. The score was 6-1, 6-1.

After her triumph in singles last night, Mlle. Lenglen came back to score in the mixed doubles. Paired with Vincent Richards, she defeated Miss Browne and Howard Kinsey of California in a one-set brush, 6-2.

WALLACH WANTS THREE SOCCER LEAGUES HERE

Booster of Junior Soccer Here for Junior, Juvenile Leagues

JUNIOR EQUALS INTERMEDIATE

Juvenile League Would Be the Smaller Lads in Association

A. Wallach has "another bee in his bonnet," or perhaps it is the same bee that has troubled him for years with an addition to the family. He wants to form another football league.

"Superintendent," as he is known to his particular proteges, the Wolves, is a rabid soccer fan. He is more than a fan—he is manager, trainer and general father to the Wolves, the champion junior league team. He is secretary of the Nelson Junior Football league, and he is connected with senior football, although this is a touchy point with him, in some remote and forgotten way through the McLearies.

Wolves Outgrow Rating

But his particular trouble just now is where is he going to find real competition for the Wolves next year.

They have entirely grown out of junior soccer "as is." Most of them are too young for senior football, though they have made splendid showings in the few games they have played to round out senior teams at various times.

So Mr. Wallach has conceived the idea of forming "junior" and "juvenile" leagues next spring. At present there are only two grades of soccer in the Kootenays, senior and junior.

If Mr. Wallach's plans go through there will be three grades in Nelson, senior, junior and juvenile, as there are in bigger cities in Canada, and in all soccer towns in the British Isles.

Raise Junior Limit

The smaller lads in the present junior league will form the juvenile league. The bigger boys and some who have dropped soccer because they were too old for the present junior league and too young for senior ranks, will form teams for the junior league, in which league the Wolves will be entered. In this league the age limit will be 21, so that it will correspond to intermediate ranking in other major sports.

PRINCE ALBERT RUNNER BEATS SASKATOON MAN

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., Oct. 10.—D. A. Anderson, local runner, yesterday wrested the Prince Albert Daily Herald six-mile road race trophy from F. Halliwell of Saskatoon, who has held it for two years, beating him by 4 seconds over the course. Anderson's time was 33 minutes 47 1-5 seconds.

M'GILL DEFEATS TORONTO TEAM

MONTREAL, Oct. 10.—One of the biggest upsets in intercollegiate rugby football since the game was resumed after the war was registered here Saturday, when McGill defeated the University of Toronto, 7 to 3.

The feature of McGill's reunion week, the tussle was a renewal of the many dogged battles fought by these two college rivals. Spotted by sparkling play and courageous football by Warren Snyder, and Curly Taylor and Jack Little of McGill the games gripped a crowd of 9000 fans. Taylor blocked an attempted return kick. McLennan secured at Varsity's one-yard line and after a stonewall defence by Varsity, McGill clinched the game counting a touchdown on Base's recovery of an inside ball.

Other Results

At Kingston—Camp Borden defeated Queens Seniors 6 to 3 in an exhibition game.

At Hamilton—The Ottawa Senators snatched an 8 to 6 victory from the Hamilton Tigers in a gruelling battle that opened the big four interprovincial union schedule. It was a nip and tuck affair all the way. Charlie Connell, Ottawa half back, furnished the brilliant play of the close tussel with a 35-run for a touchdown.

At Toronto—University of Toronto seconds relegated the Hamilton Tiger Cubs to the cellar position in the Ontario rugby union when displaying an excellent brand of the fall pastime, the Blue and White crushed the visitors by an 18-6 count. Varsity had a good edge on the back field.

At Toronto—Blocking a kick on Argonaut's 25 yard line in the final quarter, Brooks of Montreal, raced through a tangle of double blue clad players to cross the goal line with the deciding score when Montreal A.A.A. defeated Argos of Toronto in the opening game here by 13 to 8.

BAXENDALE IS PRESENTED WITH CUP AT DINNER

'Visiting Golfers Entertained With Dinner and Dance

Following the Saturday matches in the intercity golf tournament here, the visitors were entertained by the Nelson Golf and Country club at the club house in Rosemont with a dinner and informal dance.

A. Leith, president of the Nelson club, officially welcomed the visitors. He presented a cup to W. R. Baxendale of Trail, a member of the Nelson club, who won the championship of the first flight of the club championship tourney a week ago.

Over 75 followers of the Scotch game sat down to the dinner, which was served by the ladies' auxiliary of the Nelson club.

SPURS CRUSH BIRMINGHAM, WANDERERS WIN

Sunderland Beaten but Retain Lead; Leeds Beats Rovers; Jennings Stars

LONDON, Oct. 10.—The feature game in the first division of the English soccer league yesterday had its venue at White Hart lane, where the home eleven, Tottenham Hotspurs, crushed Birmingham by a margin of six goals to one. The result was disastrous for Birmingham, who were in hot pursuit of the league leaders and who already had enjoyed leadership of the first string this season. It had the effect of sending the midlanders pretty far down the table and pushing ahead of them several first-class aggregations who will be hard to displace. It was a curious game that 35,000 fans saw. In the first half the visitors had it all over the Spurs, their forward play puzzling the home defence, and only the brilliant goal keeping of Smith saved the Spurs from facing a big deficit at the turn of the game. After the ends were changed, however, Tottenham had it all their own way with Roe, Blair, Dimmock and Seedall finding the net.

Jennings Stars

All of Leeds United's four goals against Blackburn Rovers were scored by Jennings, who thus repeated his performance of the previous week.

The attendances at yesterday's game were 500,000, with the largest crowds being drawn to White Hart lane and Leicester, where the home team defeated the league-leading Sunderland team. The victory did not alter the respective positions of the teams as far as their league status went.

Bolton Wanderers emerged with their fourth victory in a row when they blanked Manchester United by four goals at Bolton, and the win brought them into close contention with the leaders for league honors.

One of the surprises of the day was the scoreless draw at Everton, where the home team held the champions for the formers' third drawn game in succession.

BEARS ACTIVE ON WALL STREET

Attack on Theory of Slump in Cotton Hurting General Business

NEW YORK, Oct. 10. — Stock prices plunged downward again Saturday as bear traders launched another selling attack on the theory that demoralization of the cotton market would react unfavorably on the general business situation. Concentrating their fire first on the shares of the southern railroads and industrial companies, they eventually succeeded in depressing the prices of pivotal issues and turning the course of the entire market downward. Net losses in the active stocks ranged from 2 to 2½ points.

The cotton market was steadied after the violent declines which preceded and followed the government's prediction of the largest crop on record. News that the president had appointed a special committee to aid this industry in marketing the crop was favorably received, and prices closed 12 to 16 points higher in contrast to recent displays of weakness.

The severity of the selling movement, which quickly superseded initial attempts to bid up prices, carried U.S. Steel down 3⅝ points to 142⅜ in the face of official predictions that unfilled tonnage would show an increase for September. These were borne out by the figures made public after the close of the market, revealing a gain of 51,174 tons, the second recorded this year. At the day's low point of 142⅜, U. S. Steel was more than 12 points under the high figure touched a week ago today. General Motors closed 3¼ points lower, at 153¼ compared with last Saturday's high of 173½ and Dupont slumped 8½ points, to 326.

Liquidation of southern rail and industrial shares was attributed in some quarters to a desire of financial interests in that region to devote their resources, if needed, to the support of the cotton industry. Prominent rails were hammered down 1 to 3½ points despite reports that railroads were on the verge of placing large orders for rolling stock to handle their increased traffic, shares of the equipment companies also yielded to selling pressure.

Wheat prices advanced fractionally on the day, but closed the week with slight losses.

NO EGGS SHOWN SATURDAY UPON LOCAL MARKET

Butter Down Five Cents; New Items in Vegetables Is Endive

Except for eggs that had been ordered beforehand, there were no eggs for sale at the market here Saturday. The extreme scarcity of eggs is due to the fact that the moulting season is at its height and pullets have not yet started to lay.

Butter dropped 5c, going from 45c to 40c.

Endives were new in the vegetable line. Onions were cheaper, going from 5c a bunch to seven pounds for 25c.

Potatoes were sold at 2¼c a pound, nine pounds for 25c, and at $2.25 per pounds.

The attendance was good, and all lines of produce sold well.

With the colder weather there was a falling off in the outside stalls, there being only about five, Saturday, where there are usually about 15.

Following are prices quoted.

Alaskan Towns Are Burned Out; Many People Homeless

JUNEAU, Alaska, Oct. 10.—Seventy-five white persons and 150 Indians are homeless after a fire which today swept the towns of Douglas and Treadwell, on Douglas island, two miles from Juneau.

The residences of 24 white and 42 Indian families were destroyed, the fire starting in an Indian village near Douglas, and wiping it out. Carried before a heavy wind, the flames jumped into the town of Douglas and destroyed 13 residences of white persons, two business blocks, the Catholic church.

From Douglas the fire spread a half-mile to Treadwell, where it wiped out a store, an office building and 11 residences occupied by white families.

TWO KILLED IN AN ARMED HUNT

Vengeful Husband Seeking Divoirced Wife Shoots Policeman; Is Shot Himself

BERKELEY, Cal., Oct. 10.—Two men were killed and another, a policeman, was wounded, as a result of a vengeful husband's armed hunt for his divorced wife today in Richmond. Rolland A. Heard, 33, was slain by a policeman after he had shot and killed Herbert Vestal, the cousin of his former wife, Mrs. Mary Heard. Heard was killed when he was trapped in his car while he fled along the crowded Tunnel road here in an exchange of shots with his slayer. The policeman, George W. Bengley, was shot in the head but his cap deflected the bullet and the officer received only a slight scalp wound. Vestal was slain when he denied Heard entrance into the Vestal home, where Mrs. Heard was hiding.

CARS MEET ON BALFOUR ROAD; ONE TIPS OVER

Car Climbs Bank, Then Goes on Side, Hitting the Other Car

ARNOLD STOUT AND FAMILY SHAKEN UP

Meeting at a Sharp Curve Reason for the Accident

Heading in toward the bank, when meeting another car at a sharp curve near Balfour early yesterday afternoon, a car driven by Kenneth Hay partly ascended the bank, tipped over on its side, falling against the other car, and gave its five passengers a severe shaking up.

In the car that tipped over were Mr. Hay at the wheel, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Stout and their two kiddies. The only one of the five to be marked up was the baby, who got a bump on the forehead.

Takes to the Bank

The Nelson car, which belonged to John Lane, was bound for Kaslo, while the other car, which was coming toward Nelson, was driven by Barry J. Hoskin of Balfour, who had his father with him. On seeing the Balfour car come around the corner at quite a clip, Mr. Hay abandoned the right side of the road and cut across to the inner side. These tactics resulted in the car tipping over as described, while Mr. Hoskin's came to an abrupt halt at just the spot to receive the impact on the side.

A broken top was the extent of the damage to the Nelson car.

Outings Called Off

Both outings were called off after the overturned car was righted, and the respective parties headed for home.

The accident occurred at 1:15 o'clock.

Constable R. H. Hassard of the provincial police went out to investigate the accident, but the cars were on their way before his arrival.

REDEEMER HAS CANTATA AT ITS HARVEST HOME

Beautiful Music Rendered; Church Decorated in Harvest Style

With beautiful music and songs, the congregation of the Church of the Redeemer last night celebrated harvest thanksgiving in a musical cantata, "A Joyous Thanksgiving," by Caleb Simper.

The church was wonderfully decorated with flowers, leaves, fruit, vegetables and many other harvest gleanings. Chrysanthemums and carnations were on the altar, while on the pulpit there were designs of grapes, apples, white berries and varicolored leaves.

In the windows, overhead, and in every conceivable place in the main body of the church, there were chrysanthemums, michaelmas daisies, autumn-colored leaves, grains, grasses, fruit and vegetables.

Cantata in Fifteen Parts

There were over 15 sections of the cantata, which included many choruses, duets, quartets, trios and solos.

The opening chorus was "O Come, Let Us Sing," following which a duet was given by Mrs. J. T. Andrews and Miss Mary Morgan. H. Eperson sang a bass solo. A bass and tenor duet was given by Robert Andrew and Percy Young. Miss Morgan, Miss Margaret Douglas and Percy Young contributed a trio. Mrs. J. T. Andrews rendered a soprano solo. Miss Mary Morgan, Mrs. J. T. Andrews, Robert Andrew and Percy Young sang as a quartet.

TRAIL HOOPSTERS HAVE SIX TEAMS

TRAIL, Oct. 10.—Trail basketball club organized on Saturday night and instructed its members on hand to line up players of the six men's teams, in prospect during the week, in order that a schedule may be drawn and the fall series started by October 25.

Officers elected, were: R. Anderson honorary president; C. Bulmer, president; T. H. Wilson, vice-president; and F. Forward, secretary treasurer.

Six Teams

It was expected a six-team league will materialize, with two teams from the hill, representing the concentrator and the smelter, two teams representing Rossland, a high school team and a down town team.

There being no representative of ladies' teams present, nothing could be done for that half of the basketball following other than to request that such a representative be appointed and the names of the teams definitely submitted for the drawing up of the schedule.

CHINESE REACH AGREEMENT TO END FIGHTING

Northern Army Will Surrender Wuchang for Payment of Large Sum

PEKING, Oct. 10.—An unconfirmed report says the northern army defending Wuchang, has agreed to surrender the city upon the payment of two hundred thousand Mexican dollars, and guarantees of safety to their persons and property.

Held Up

HANKOW, Oct. 9. — Delayed.—A typical Chinese agreement of capitulation, whereby the advancing Cantonese army bargained to take over into its own army, northern enemy forces who boasted rifles, was held up here today because of lack of agreement over the disposition of artillery.

A battle with no casualties followed. When negotiations followed, the Cantonese insisted that artillery in Wu Chang must not be moved by the retreating forces. The northerns agreed to this condition but refused to march in the direction if Ching Shan, through the north gate of Wu Chang, because that road is still closed with southern troops occupying trenches in the vicinity. The northern soldiers feared an ambush. Negotiators are attempting to adjust the situation to avert any general outbreak.

Decision to abandon the city of Wuchang was made by the northern soldiers early in the day under the following agreement with the southern troops.

Some Rejected

Northern troops who are willing to join the Kuomintang forces, will be incorporated in General Lin Tso Lung's army. Each soldier having one rifle will be accepted, but those without arms will be rejected. After being incorporated with the southern forces, troops must obey their new officers, and the wages in arrears will be paid by the Hupeh provincial government, the Wuchang chamber of commerce guaranteeing payments.

The evacuating troops will proceed to Ching Shan, seven miles down the Yangtse river, whereupon the southern forces will enter Wuchang and assume responsibility for maintaining peace.

Pitiable tales of the plight of inhabitants of Wuchang, under seige of the southern troops for many days were told when the relief ship brought out refugees lately to Hankow.

Relief ships were rushed to the area when the conditions of the inhabitants became known.

It was related that women and children were trampled down when the gates were first opened.

A tour of Wuchang by the correspondent who accompanied the relief ship, found the city quiet and all shops barricaded. A few families were hudled in doorways. Every one asked for news. The inhabitants suffered hardships and hunger during the seige. Boddies littered the streets.
