From the government house tonight comes the announcement that the state dinner and reception which traditionally accompanies the opening of parliament ceremonies, will be held on the evening of Friday, December 10. Owing to the early part of the session being of such short duration, their excellencies will hold the drawingroom early in January.

Crews Plan Combing Interior Workings; Went In Monday

CAMBRIDGE, Ohio, Nov. 10.—The flooded fastness of the Cleveland mine of the Cambridge Collieries company near here tonight, still held the secret of the dissappearance of "old Pete" Swediski, veteran miner.

Early Monday, Swediski, who is 70, entered the mine in search of his tools. No trace has been found of him, although gangs of 100 and 150 miners working in shifts night and day have searched almost every portion of the mine.

State Mine Inspector Jas. G. Forgie has joined in the search. Seventy-five miners entered the workings late this afternoon equipped with iron hooks, loaded with lead to drag the pools of accumulated water which in some places have reached a depth of 15 to 20 feet.

TWISTER TOOK SIXTEEN LIVES; TOWN STRICKEN

Nearly Every Family Feels Sting of Death or Have Injured Member

LA PLATA, Md., Nov. 10.—This little town emerged slowly today from the numbness of grief which stunned it yesterday, when without warning a freakish wind, rain and hail storm demolished its schoolhouse, killing 14 and injuring at least 23 others.

The death list, including a negro man and woman, mounted tonight to 16 with the death of Estelle Bean, 9. Scarcely a family among the 500 residents of the town was left untouched in the toll of casualties, and no coherent story of the disaster had yet emerged from the dazed accounts of survivors. Most of the severely injured remained in Washington hospitals.

After cutting its deadly gash through the outskirts of La Plata, the storm proceeded into the nearby town of Cedarville, where about a dozen houses were wrecked.

So States Sir Henry Thornton, Speaking at Northern Harbor

PRINCE RUPERT, B. C., Nov. 10.—Addressing the board of trade here tonight, Sir Henry Thornton, chairman and president of the C. N. He ventured the opinion that something in the neighborhood of 8,000,000 or 10,000,000 bushels of grain would pass through the elevator this year and that this quantity would be increased as suitable shipping was attracted to the port.

Garibaldi Is Connected With Spanish Plot

PARIS, Nov. 10.—Ricciotti Garibaldi, grandson of the Italian patriot, and Col. Francisco Macia, former Spanish deputy, tomorrow will confront each other as a result of investigations by the French police into the recently discovered Catalan conspiracy.

The French police today said they had documentary evidence connecting Garibaldi with the plot to wrest Catalania from Spain, but Colonel Macia has denied this. The French authorities hope that considerable light may be thrown on the Catalan conspiracy and on recent Fascist and anti-Fascist activities along the Franco-Italian frontier through the meeting of the two men. Colonel Macia, it is charged, was the leader of the Catalan conspirators, in whose ranks some Italians were found.

"You have been convicted of beating your wife," said the magistrate. "You should get the lash. You would be lashed, but for an error in the wording of the information against you."

LEOPOLD AND ASTRID UNITED IN BRUSSELS

Roman Catholic Ceremony Completes Union Swedish and Belgian Royalty

BIGGEST DEMONSTRATION SINCE ARMISTICE DAY

Ceremony Simple and Happy Couple Tendered Great Reception

BRUSSELS, Nov. 10.—Princess Astrid of Sweden and Crown Prince Leopold of Belgium were united in marriage by a Roman Catholic ceremony in the cathedral of St. Gudule this morning. Tonight they left on their honeymoon for a destination which has been kept secret.

The heir to the Belgian throne and "daughter of the Vikings" whose love had found a way to overcome difficulties of political, religious and other characters were the center of the greatest demonstration in Brussels since Armistice day, eight years ago, tomorrow.

All Belgium has given its heart to the young princess, whose destiny but a few months ago, appeared far removed from her entrance into one of the reigning houses of Europe. Today's ceremony in the cathedral followed the civil wedding performed in the Swedish capital last Thursday.

Not Elaborate

The religious rites used in cases of marriage between a Roman Catholic and a Protestant, were not as elaborate as would have been the case, had both been Catholic.

Leopold and Astrid left the royal palace, which will be their future home, shortly before 11 o'clock and rode through the vast crowds to the cathedral in company with the royal train that included King Albert and the princess' uncle, King Gustav of Sweden. As the young couple approached the cathedral, a great shout arose from the crowds which nearly drowned the roar of the cannon firing a 21-gun salute.

The prince and princess were received at the cathedral by high church dignitaries headed by Archbishop Van Roey of Malines. He greeted the prospective king and queen of the Belgians in the name of the Catholic church.

Great Reception

No solemn mass was sung for the nuptial ceremony which of the utmost simplicity. The entourage which drove in open carriages to and from the cathedral, was made up of representatives of every family in Europe as well as the diplomatic body in Brussels. Ambassadors from all countries were garbed in gorgeous uniforms.

During the afternoon the newly wedded couple were the center of an elaborate reception which lasted from 3 o'clock until 5 o'clock. The young princess still smiled bravely by her sigh of relief was very nearly audible as the reception came to an end.

Plane Pilot and His Passenger Near Frozen When Forced to Land

McGRATH, Alaska, Nov. 10.—Joe Crosson, pilot, and Charles Salami, and Carl Carlson, miners, were nearly frozen to death today when an airplane in which they were flying, fell into the Kuskowim river here with a cargo of gold dust, estimated at 300 pounds, and valued at about $90,000. The temperature was below zero and the river was running bank full of ice. The men were saved, after waiting more than an hour on the wings of the plane, which lay in a perilous position while rescurers attempted to launch a boat.

REMEMBRANCE

The silence of the Armistice
Fell 'round our watching host;
We raved with joy, and for a trice
We half forgot our lost:
Those valiant ones who, facing Hell,
Were marked by Death and, smiling, fell.

These dead still smile, while we still mourn;
They have attained reward;
Their bodies foul and bullet-torn,
They marched to meet their Lord.
Their sacrifice burns very bright:
Can we, still living, see its light?

As to their memory we lay
Our little humble wreath,
Let us kneel down awhile and pray
A guerdon for their death:
"Let honor rule and hatred cease,
So shall our heroes rest in peace."

LUMBERMEN LOSE SECOND ROUND IN WAGE BATTLE

Supreme Court Judge Upholds Conviction of Lower Court at Vancouver

VANCOUVER, Nov. 10.—British Columbia lumbermen lost the second round of their fight against enforcement by the minimum wage in that industry at 40 cents an hour, when Chief Justice Gordon Hunter this morning in supreme court, upheld the conviction and fine of $10 of Robertson & Hackett Sawmills, limited, in police court on Tuesday in the case brought by the lumbering industry to test the validity of the Minimum Wage act.

Counsel for the defence contended that, before making any order enforcing the law, a systematic inquiry should be conducted into all industry. Chief Justice Hunter disagreed with this and dismissed the appeal, stating that the board had power to enact the order.

It is probable the case will now go before the appeal court.

After gaining entrance, one of the young men stabbed the victim with a knife. Her screams, and those of her sister, aroused the neighborhood, but the men made their escape.

Police connect the attack with the robbery of a neighboring house. The dwelling of Adelphis Desormeaux was entered in the same manner and he was robbed of $25 which was in his trousers pockets.

Senators Plead Not Guilty in Charges of Oil Defrauding

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Albert B. Fall, rancher, one-time senator and but recently secretary of the interior, came before the bar of justice today and with his old friend, Edward L. Doheny, California oil man, pleaded not guilty to a charge of having conspired to defraud the government in connection with Elk Hills, California, naval oil reserve leases.

The proceedings which lasted but a few minutes, were the initial steps in the criminal prosecution of a case, which had its inception in the sensational disclosures before the senate committee which in 1924 inquired into execution of naval oil leases by Fall, as secretary of the interior, to Doheny and Harry F. Sinclair.

Counsel for defence and government announced today they were prepared to begin the trial November 22, the date previously set.

DUKE SEEKS AN ANNULMENT OF EARLY MARRIAGE

Marlborough Asks Pope to Nullify Vanderbilt Marriage of 1895

WISHES TO EMBRACE ROMAN CATHOLIC FAITH

Married to Present Wife in 1921 by Presbyterian Minister

LONDON, Nov. 10.—The Westminster Gazette understands that the Duke of Marlborough has asked the pope to nullify his 1895 marriage with Consuelo Vanderbilt, which ended in a divorce, after 25 years, and the birth of two children, so that he can embrace the Roman Catholic faith. The Duke's present wife, the former Gladys Marie Deacon, is the daughter of Edward Parker Deacon of Boston. He married her in Paris in 1921, a Presbyterian minister officiating and reading the Church of England service, from which the word "obey" was omitted.

Was Elaborate

LONDON, Nov. 10.—The marriage of Charles Richard John Spencer-Churchill, ninth Duke of Marlborough and Consuelo Vanderbilt, daughter of the late Wm. K. Vanderbilt, of New York, was the preeminent social event in the annals of international unions. The wedding took place in St. Thomas' church, New York, November 6, 1895, and was one of the most elaborate functions ever held in this country. It is said to have cost the Vanderbilt family the then fabulous sum of $1,000,000.

It was regarded as a match. The duke was high in the peerage of England, and Consuelo Vanderbilt was beautiful and wealthy. For 12 years there were no outward signs or disagreement and then a breach occurred.

Efforts of reconciliation failed, and eventually the duchess began an action for divorce on the technical grounds of desertion and misconduct. The duke did not defend the suit, and she received her decree.

The couple had two sons, the Marquis of Blandford, and Lord Ivor Spencer-Churchill.

Consuelo then was married to M. Jacques Balsan, of France, and the duke took Miss Gladys Deacon of Boston as his bride.

HUGE NEW POLAR EXPEDITION PLAN

Dirigible Would House Crew of 50; Make Numerous Landings in North

BERLIN, Nov. 10.—Plans for a new polar expedition by airship on strictly scientific lines were set forth by Dr. Friedt of Nansen, president of the International Society for the Exploration of Arctic Regions, at the opening of that body's congress here today.

The airship will be manned by a crew of 50, the men to work in three shifts. Dr. Nansen declared that the flights of Byrd and Amundsen over the north pole were great pioneer deeds, but from the viewpoint of arctic exploration, merely preliminary to detailed scientific investigations, necessitating numerous landings, each of some hours' durations.

Captain Walter Burns, the society's founder, declared that half a million dollars would be necessary for the fitting of the expedition, not counting the cost of the dirigible. Dr. Eskner had promised to supply the society with a zeppelin free of charge for two polar expeditions.

MOTHERS AND THEIR CHILDREN

TO KEEP COVERS ON THE BABY

One Mother says—

Certainty of keeping a restless baby covered at night may be accomplished by cutting a hole in a coverlet or blanket large enough to go over his head and about 18 inches from the top. Underneath this cover with his head put on his little pillow, baby can't get uncovered, for hands and shoulders are securely kept underneath the blanket. Additional covers may be added, according to the temperature.

Easy to Gain With Yeast and Iron

New Combination of Yeast with Vegetable Iron Quick Way to Build Up Weight

This new combination of yeast vitamines with vegetable iron, renews the action of sluggish blood cells, drives out dangerous body poisons, increases energy and endurance and supplies the system with the vitamines that build up weight.

For years yeast has been known as a rich vitamine food, but not until we perfected "ironized yeast"—which comes in concentrated tablet form, was it possible to take yeast and iron in the right proportions to build up weight.

Vegetable "iron" when combined with yeast is quite easy to digest, therefore better for the system. And "yeast" when ironized becomes just twice as beneficial as ordinary fresh or cake yeast.

Ironized Yeast tablets are composed of concentrated food elements, therefore, they are pleasant to take and free from drug-like effects. If you are under weight, do not enjoy good health, lacking in energy and force, "ironized yeast" tablets will pick you right up, and if they fail, you get your money back.

Sold by all druggists, at $1.00 for a large 60-tablet package. Ironized Yeast Co., Fort Erie, Ontario.

Was Helpless with Eczema. Now well

Mr. D. R. Spencer, Bashaw, Alta., says, "I had skin trouble for years. Language cannot describe my suffering. At times I could not close my hands. Three-fourths of the time I was laid up. Tried medicines and specialists. Got no relief till I tried Ovelmo. Now I'm satisfied my trouble has gone for good; hands are smooth as a baby's. I use any kind of soap. I am ever so thankful." Over 35,000 others say Ovelmo internal and external treatment rid them of Excema and similar skin trouble. Ask your druggist for full Ovelmo treatment. Try it, see how quickly itching stops and every sign of blemish disappears. Results or money back.

Rheumatic Pains Go

Swollen Joints Vanish

Thousands of sufferers have freed themselves from the bondage of rheumatism; rid themselves of the torturing pain; reduced the swollen joints; thrown away canes and crutches, and from helpless beings became able to work and be of use to themselves and their families.

They took Rheuma: the modern enemy of rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica, arthritis, and chronic neuralgia.

Don't be skeptical about Rheuma. You will know in a few hours after beginning the treatment that the poisonous waste matter is leaving your system through the natural channels. You will feel better in a day; you will know you are going to be helped in less than a week.

There is no guess work about Rheuma bringing you back to health. That's why Canada Drug & Book Co., and druggists everywhere, sell it with guarantee of money back if it does not give quick relief.

ALL-CANADIAN DINNER, LONDON

Premier King and Viscount Byng Address Former Members of Canadian Forces

LONDON, Nov. 10.—Premier Mackenzie King attended for a short while tonight the reunion dinner in London. Owing to a previous engagement however, the premier was unable to stay throughout the evening.

The dinner which is held annually on or about Armistice night was presided over by Major General Garnet Hughes. Among those attending were Viscount Byng of Vimy, Major General J. H. MacBrien, chief of the Canadian general staff, Gen. Sir Geo. Milne, chief of the Imperial general staff, Gen. Sir Ian Hamilton and Sir Hamar Greenwood.

Viscount Byng was accorded a vociferous reception when he rose to speak. "I have spent five years of wonderful experience and happiness in the Dominion," the viscount said. "I have always preached the same doctrine and I preach it to you as one who has a passionate affection for you and your comrades. I have preached the word unity.

"On the ninth day of April, 1917, I saw Canadian unity. I saw men from those fine old battalions of British Columbia shaking hands with men from Nova Scotia on the top of Vimy Ridge, unconquered and unconquerable, telling each other that every man was as good as another. That ideal of our corps was a fine ideal worth cherishing."

The men were seen by the fireman of the train, standing between the tracks, but the locomotive could not be stopped in time to avert the accident.

YOUNG WOMEN SUFFER MOST

These Two Found Relief by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Ayer's Cliff, Quebec. — "I have been teaching for three years, and at the end of the year I always feel tired and have no appetite. I was awful sick each month, too, having pains in my back until sometimes I was obliged to stop working. A friend recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to me and I heard many women telling how good it was so I thought it would help me. And it did. Now I take six bottles every year and recommend it to others." — DONALDA FANTEUX, Ayer's Cliff, Quebec.

"Unable to Work"

Canning, Nova Scotia.—"I had irregular periods and great suffering at those times, the pains causing vomiting and fainting. I was teaching school and often for some hours I would be unable to attend to my work. Through an advertisement in the papers I knew of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it has been of great benefit to me, the troubles being completely relieved." —LAURA J. EATON, Canning, King's County, Nova Scotia.

TWO PICK THE TITLE TO TRAIL MUSICAL REVUE

Pitner of Nelson and Johnson of Trail Chose 'Trail of '26'

TRAIL, Nov. 10.—"Trail of '26." That is the title under which the 1926 revue of Trail legionaires will be produced. It is the title selected as the winner among hundreds of apt captions, submitted to the committee in its public competition, which closed at 6 o'clock last night.

Nelson and Trail jointly share in the honor of naming the gorgeous production which is now in the dress rehearsal stage. The winning title was submitted by two competitors, J. P. Pitner, Nelson and A. C. Johnson, Trail. The committee therefore decided to divide the $10 prize between these two men. They mailed a $5 check to each today.

Said E. W. Hall, musical director, and one of the judging committee. "It was no easy matter to select a title from the huge pile of suggestions that poured in from all parts of the Kootenay in response of the Legion's advertisement. There were many from Cranbrook and other Crow's Nest Points. Practically all points about Kootenay Lake had competitors. Many came from the west and scores came from Nelson and Trail. There were even some from Idaho."

In judging each of the four members of the committee wrote his choice on a slip of paper. On comparing them it was found "Trail of '26" appeared on three slips, evidencing the fact that this particularly apt title was the choice of the committee by three to one.

TRAIL CONTINUES ITS POPPY SALE

So Far Daughters of Empire Have Made $180 in Sale; Last Day Today

TRAIL, Nov. 10. — Convinced that there are many Trail people who would look brighter with a poppy in their coat lapel, and would incidently wish to assist disabled ex-service men, the I.O.D.E. plans to continue its sale of Armistice day poppies tomorrow. While the two-dale sale has returned $180, there are still many popples left, and the ladies will not be satisfied until everyone in Trail has got his or her poppy.

Today a committee of poppy girls and their conveners had a fairly heavy sale. Mrs. E. M. Stiles, regent; Mrs. D. Kolmar, Mrs. C. W. Guillaume and Mrs. R. H. Devitt were in charge of the following girls assisting Gina Vannucchi, Margot Blaylock, Harriet Stimmel, Betty Warden, Doris Hoefer, Ninon Guillaume, Beth Kolmar, Yvonne Guillaume, Jean McDermid and Helen Warden.

The funds over the cost of the poppies are to be turned over to the Trail legion of the B.E.S.L. to be used in its local relief work.

'JUDY'S MAN'

Washington's Social Whirl and Official Life Are the Background of This Fascinating Love Story

By HELEN BERGER

Copyright, 1926, by the Penn Publishing Co.

THE STORY THUS FAR

Judy Betts is a rich little poor girl, rich in dreams which light-n a happy-go-lucky existence with er Bohemian parents, Dabs, her ather, a writer, and Honey, her retty mother, a painter. Most of ll she loves the beautiful Darien lace, most charming in Washing-on, the very rich owners of which ead the capital's social whirl. ack, their only child, a poor little ich boy, is raised as a young rince, guided and guarded all the ime. But once he escapes through he big iron gates and meets wist-ul, dreaming Judy.

I'm Sorry

Judy carried the mud-figure home efully, wrapped in her handker-ief. Honey smiled at it, but she s not as encouraging as Dabs.

"Lots of children make those," pointed out unenthusiastically to bs at mention of Baller. But bbornly enough Dabs would not go of the idea. And he carried little mud figure over to Bal-s studio.

When he came home he reported efly, "She starts lessons on dnesday."

And on Wednesday she did start h Baller in his stuffy studio. Of artists she hated Baller least, l the lessons opened a new world her. In her way Judy was ppy. By and by she forgot to te the Darien place as she had ted it at first, after her hurt. She gan walking by there again in r spare moments, staring in.

By and by came autumn. The at trees burned with red and lden leaves. Stir and hurry came o the streets. Washington was king up for the winter. Every rning there was a tingling and excitement in the air. Servants re busily opening the great houses. gs hung out and doors stood de.

It was late afternoon and there s the first, faint chill of coming st in the air. She felt very small d lonely, approaching the great im house. Why did she love it ?

Suddenly her heart gave a leap. e gates were ajar! And the little y was in the garden!

He was cruel! He had hurt her! e hated him! But if he should ant to play with her——! She ould say, "I'm clean now! Cleaner an you are! And I don't want to ay with you!" She might even say, ou're a dirty little boy!" But he asn't! Even now in his darker othes he was clean, shining like etal. Judy paused, catching her eath. She did so want to play ith him!

There was a little girl in the gar-n with him. She was a fat little rl with long yellow curls and big ue eyes and she was wrapped up furs until she looked like a bear. Judy stopped and stared at the vo in the garden. They didn't em to be having a very good time. hey just stood around and walked the bushes and now and then cked up a stone from the gravel iveway.

Suppose she should go in there d play with them? No one would ll her a dirty little rat now! Would ey like her to play with them. erhaps they would like that!

"Hullo!" she said, looking straight the little boy. Would he be angry ith her? Would he remember that e had called him a "sissy"?

He looked up. His glance was cold, different. He had forgotten her!

"What do you want?" he asked her olitely.

"I'd like to play with you," said udy bravely.

The eyes of the little girl with the olden curls were turned upon her. hey were cold, hard eyes like blue arbles. She pressed closer to the oy.

"Who is she, Jack?" she asked, udily.

Judy's cheeks burned.

"I don't know. Let's let her play ith us, though."

"My nurse doesn't let me play ith street-children."

"I can make figures in mud," Judy id loudly.

The boy was interested. He put own a small whip he carried. "Can ou? Let's see," he said.

Judy dropped down promptly on e edge of the graveled walk where e grass was thin.

"Watch!" she said. She was at home now, nappy. These mud-figures were her one trick.

She dug her little brown hands deep in the earth and brought up a handful of mud.

"Watch!" she said again, happily. The boy came over close to her, but the little girl stood as she had when Judy first came into the garden. She was wary, alert. Her eyes watched Judy coldly.

Swiftly, carelessly Judy molded the small figure. Unconsciously she was at work upon a figure of the boy. A dab here, a push there. Suddenly on the palm of her hands she held up the finished work. It was rough, uncouth, but it was a figure of the boy.

In an instant he realized it. "Oh, look!" he cried eagerly. He turned toward the little girl with the hard eyes. "Look!" he cried. "She's made me!"

The little girl looked but her eyes didn't brighten. "I don't like her!" she said. Suddenly she laughed, maliciously. "Look at her funny clothes! And her hair! Cut short just like a boy's hair!"

The blow had been swift and sure. Judy stumbled to her feet. Her face flushed. But she still clung to the little mud figure she had made.

"I don't like long taffy curls!" she snarled.

The boy touched Judy's arm. "Will you give me that mud doll?" he asked her. Judy held it out to him. But she did not take her eyes from the girl with the yellow curls.

We Don't Want to Sacrifice Canada to Benefit the Americans

The suggestion has been made that the Nelson board of trade should ask the Dominion government to allow Canadians to import up to $100 worth of goods free of duty from the United States.

It is said that the American law permits Americans to import duty free goods to this amount to the United States. Whether the American law permits this or not has no bearing on the situation in Canada.

Canada has a protective tariff. The Canadian people, no matter whether merchants, manufacturers, fruit growers, lumber men or the ordinary "man on the street' are protected by this tariff. Everyone, whether employee or employer, either directly or indirectly is benefited by the protective policy of this Dominion.

If we allowed ourselves as individuals to import free of duty goods up to the amount of $100 we might as well abolish the tariff, insofar as are concerned those who are sufficiently wealthy to make trips to the United States.

Canada has a tariff. Let us stay with it. Let us avoid even the appearance of discriminating against those who would be injured by such a proposal as that of admitting $100 worth of goods free of duties, no matter how attractive it may appear at first glance.

Canada's hasn't so much business, so much industry, so much population that it can afford to spend its money building up American cities.

An Organizer and Ice Sports

Does Nelson want its kiddies to have the benefit of vigorous winter play? Do we want them to have the discipline of competitive team play? Do we want them to career over the ice, with flying tassels, muscles straining, lungs pumping in pure ozone, joyous yells and laughter making the air ring?

Take the one matter of ice sports.

One of Canada's assets is a winter that has ice. Should there be a Canadian boy or girl unacquainted with the exhilaration of flying over the ice?

A sport organizer, whose duties would be four-fifths for the little people, would look over Nelson from the point of view of ice facilities.

He would perhaps start with the project that was launched last year and only failed because of the unusual mildness—the provision of two open-air rinks for the kiddies on the Recreation grounds, made by the simple expedient of banking the snow and flooding the enclosed spaces.

The kiddies up the hill would need facilities nearer home than the Recreation grounds. He might conceive that the clay courts of the Skookum-Tillicums would be an ideal site for an open-air rink, or possibly some other area that might suggest itself, and propose a plan for its inexpensive utilization.

So far as Fairview goes, the hardest job would be making a selection of site, one instantly suggesting itself being Lakeside park.

Discovering the needs, and then supplying them; searching out the openings, and then filling them—would be one of the most important parts of the sport organizer's task.

With the facilities provided, a little direction would do the rest.

There would be hundreds of kiddies skating under safe conditions.

Hockey games and no doubt leagues would naturally follw, with the youngsters of both sexes learning the lessons of team play and the spirit of cooperative effort.

Is the Pig Slipping?

Is the pig to join the horse as a quaint back number?

The American Chemical society announces that synthetic sausage skin has reached perfection. This means that so far as the skin is concerned the sausage world is for the future independent of the pig.

It now only remains to bring synthetic sausage meat to perfection.

That that has already been done is the standard quip of the modern human race. But doubtless a system of seasoning could be devised to make other meats pass muster for pork in the sausage skin if there was a hog shortage.

On the other hand, the pig's fame does not rest alone on sausage. His hams, shoulders, bacon, headcheese, lard, hide and even bristles are useful.

Thus, synthetic sausage skin will not interfere permanently with his popularity.

What the Press Is Saying

CONSERVATIVES' OPPORTUNITY

Conservatives will gather in Kamloops, November 23, to elect a leader of the party in British Columbia. This will be an occasion of great moment to the Conservative party and an opportunity for party men to act sanely in the selection of a leader. If common sense is employed in making the selection and a man of outstanding ability chosen, free from any past entanglements through which the Conservatives have lost ground, the Tories should come to the front easily, otherwise they might as well remain dormant. Now or never is their opportunity to come back to life and give, through the Conservative policy, a real businesslike administration to British Columbia, admittedly Conservative. —Rossland Miner.

The following knitting and crochet directions have been asked for by my readers:

Small-size Bed Socks—These measure 5½ inches long, but stretch considerably. They are for a big child or a small woman. They are made from a ball of Shetland floss, any desired color, with a No. 5 bone or celluloid crochet hook. Begin by chaining nine stitches, then put one half-double crochet in seven of these chain stitches (making first stitch in the second chain stitch). On the eighth chain stitch make two half-double crochet stitches and work down other side of chain—making seven half-double crochet. Work round and round, working the half-double crochet in between the half-double crochet of previous row instead of on top, putting two half-double crochet stitches between the two half-double crochet stitches of last row for increase at top of toe—16 rows all together.

Seventeenth row: Work round, leaving four stitches on each side of the center increase, chain two, turn. Work back and forth on the remaining stitches for five rows, chaining two for turn, each time.

Twenty-second row: Work six rows on the first nine stitches, join to other side of the work at end of the five rows, which ends the 21st row with slip stitch down side and across bottom of heel.

Top: Make three rows of half-double crochet around top; on fourth row make an edge of three chain and one single crochet in each stitch. Make a cord and run it in the second row of stitches. Finish cord with small balls.

Bed socks may also be made of luster yarn or Germantown which has been ripped from some old garment. Many women tie odds and ends of yarn together to make "rainbow bed socks"—an excellent economy.

Tomorrow—Corning Beef.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

Dead Fingers and Toes

Perhaps you are one of those individual whose fingers or toes, one or more, appear dead, that is, turn white and lose their sense of feeling.

The appearance is much like wax, the numbness passes off into a tingling sensation, and in a little while the appearance and feeling are normal again.

Now, it just so happens that some serious ailments of nerves and blood-vessels will cause this appearance, and they call for treatment from physician and surgeon, but the majority of these cases are not of this type, and you may be worrying unnecessarily.

Where the blanching just comes from time to time not present all the time, the real cause is not definitely known at present. Some physicians are of the opinion that it is the glands of internal secretion, thyroid and other glands that are responsible, whilst others believe that something temporarily interferes with the blood stream going to the part.

Chilling in cold water, or by cold weather, lack of food, overwork, or overplay, "depressed emotional states," are all blamed for this condition.

When it occurs in the fingers it has sometimes been traced to pressure from an extra rib in the neck, and sometimes to pressure from the bag of water under the muscle at the point of the shoulder.

And the treatment?

Protection from coldness and dampness is always wise, but the underlying cause should be sought.

The application of heat, that is a constant heat like baking of the part in a gas or electric cabinet will often decrease the number of these attacks. Massage is often of great service.

Hot towels, frequently changed, is also of help.

Wet compresses surrounding the entire leg or arm, and covered with a thick dry flannel or woolen stocking, frequently renewed, is recommended by a leading United States physician.

The general tone of the body should be built up, by rest, good food and cheerful surroundings.

Therefore, if you are one of these folks, don't get alarmed and think you have hardening of the arteries and so forth, but after examination by your physician and no organic trouble found, get busy with the simple treatment outlined above.

7 out of 10 doctors said laxatives are harmful

IN a recent coast-to-coast investigation we asked doctors the plain question: "Do you consider cathartics and laxatives harmful?"

64.24% answered unqualifiedly "Yes." 8% more said "Yes, if taken repeatedly." Laxatives make the bowels weak by doing their work for them. If expulsion of waste matter is forced by pills or other drugs, the bowel muscles soon become powerless to do their work without help. In other words, laxatives bring on the laxative habit.

Doctors Advise Nujol

Nine doctors out of every ten told us they were advising the Nujol type of treatment for their patients in place of laxatives—and for these reasons: 1. Nujol is not habit-forming; 2. A more natural method; 3. A lubricant is better than a laxative; 4. Does not gripe; 5. Is not irritating; and 6. Nujol gives lasting relief.

Unlike Laxatives

Laxatives and cathartics act by irritating the intestinal tract. They cause the bowels to frantically expel the contents of the intestines and thus rid the system of the drugs that pills and potions contain.

Nujol acts entirely differently. It contains no drugs, no medicine. Its action is mechanical. It merely softens the dried waste matter in the intestines and lubricates the passage so that the muscles of the bowels can expel the waste matter regularly, naturally and thoroughly.

Nature-given Remedy

Nujol appeals to the medical man because it is a simple, scientific and safe remedy for constipation, no matter how severe the case may be. It is gentle in its action and pleasant to take. Children love it!

Get a bottle of Nujol from your druggist today. Doctors advise it for constipation, whether chronic or temporary. Avoid substitutes.

Bishop Doull to Conduct Mission in Fernie Parish

FERNIE, B.C., Nov. 10. — A mission will be held in the parish of Christ Church, Fernie, commencing on Sunday, November 21, and continuing until Sunday, November 28. His lordship, A. J. Doull, bishop of Kootenay, will be the missioner. In a communication to H. U. Oswald, rector of Christ church here, the bishop has given the following statement for publication in that the members of the parish, and also any others, to whom a cordidal invitation is extended to attend, may have advance knowledge of the real purpose of the mission.

His lordship states: "A mission is a special effort to turn men and women to God. There are three planes of man's life—the physical, the mental, the spiritual. The complete man must be living upon all three planes. Most people live only upon the physical plane a certain number upon the mental and physical only a few upon all three. The mission will be an effort to impress upon all that the spiritual part of man must not be neglected, that man cannot live by bread alone, that God cannot be left out of a man's life without disaster.

"The thinking men of today realize this truth and nothing is more characteristic of the particular period of history in which we are living than the swing of the pendulum from practical agnosticism to a realization of man's absolute need of God. But whilst this is true of some thinking men and women, it is not as yet true of the rank and file, who are seeking in other ways that satisfaction which can only be found in God. One of the greatest Christian thinkers who ever lived wrote more than 1500 years ago, 'Thou has made us for thyself O God, and the heart knoweth no rest until it find rest in thee.'

"Fifteen hundred years have demonstrated the profound truth of these words, and the chief purpose of the mission will be to bring to those who long for it that rest which God alone can give."

HUNTER FINED: EXPORTS DEER MINUS PERMIT

Was Arrested in Idaho for Breaking Closed Season Law

COMES BACK TO GET PERMIT; IS ARRESTED

Pays $10, Refused Permit; What Will Idaho Do Now Is Question

FERNIE, Nov. 10.—A somewhat unusual contravention of the Game act has been reported from Yahk detachment to Sergeant Greenwood of district headquarters British Columbia provincial police here. The incident occurred a short time ago when one Floyd B. Leever of Port Hill, Idaho, obtained a non-resident general firearms and anglers' licence to hunt in British Columbia. This licence was secured by Leever from the Creston provincial police detachment, and a couple of weeks later Leever applied to the provincial constable at Yahk to export two deer which he had shot.

His request also embodied the feature that he desired this export permit dated back a week previous. This aroused the constable's curiosity, and subsequent questioning of Leever disclosed that he had, after killing the two deer, left them on the British Columbia side of the line, returned to East Port, Idaho, and then driven back with his automobile to the international boundry near where they were cached, walked into Canada, secured his bag and loaded it into his car.

Deer Taken

Whilst traveling homeward through Idaho he was apprehended by a state of Idaho game guardian and charged with having shot deer in that state out of season.

His truthful plea to the American officer was not acceptable without production of a Canadian export permit. In endeavoring to obtain this document in the manner already stated, he literally was "out of the frying pan into the fire," because the Canadian provincial police officer was obliged to prosecute under the British Columbia Game act for having exported deer without first having obtained a permit to do so. Leever pleaded guilty to this charge and was assessed $10 and costs by Magistrate Lithgoe of Yahk, B.C. and he then at once departed to the land of his domicile.

The final chapter of this story is still a matter of conjecture, that is to say, whether Leever with the signed conviction showing he had committed a breach of the Canadian law was sufficient to satisfy the American authorities that he was guiltless under their statute, or was he again penalized on the strength of damaging circumstantial evidence of having shot deer out of season over there, and perchance lost through confiscation the trophies of the hunt as well.

FOUND GUILTY

Choquette Talks to Fernie Rotary Club Membership

FERNIE, Nov. 10. — The regular luncheon of the Fernie Rotary club was held Tuesday the Thanksgiving holiday having caused it to be postponed from the usual Monday gathering. On this occasion L. H. Choquette of the Nelson club was a visitor, and he made a short address, extending the greetings of his home club, and also explaining some of the methods adopted by that club in promoting community welfare within its scope. The chair was occupied by Alf. Cummings, who reported the success of the recent Hallowe'en festival given here.

Tom Prentice, who was assigned as chairman of the committee to consider the proposal of the local club putting on a minstrel show, made an interim report relating some of the obstacles with which such promotion would have to contend. Next Monday evening the club will meet, and thus more time will be at its disposal to consider its winter program of undertakings. The monthly attendance for Fernie club averaged almost 90 per cent.

Nimrods Swim for It When Raft Goes Down Near Wardner

CRANBROOK, Nov. 10. — An exciting hunting episode is related from Wardner a few days ago in which some lives might easily have been lost. A party of nimrods having decided to go after deer on the island in the Kootenay river below Wardner, made a raft to carry them and their outfits across.

When partly over the intervening water the raft proved unseaworthy and the occupants were pitched into the water, having to swim to shore, losing their guns and belongings.

All were able to make their way safely to the bank but one of the party, Andy Powell, is to be commended for returning two or three times into the stream to help those ashore who were in need of assistance, and who, but for his help, might not have been able to make it.

Daughters of Scotia Order Formed by the Kimberley Clanswomen

KIMBERLEY, Nov. 10.—Still another society is to be added to the roster of fraternal societies with branches in Kimberley, the Daughters and Maids of England being the latest to come into being here. It has been organized largely through the instrumentality of Mrs. T. Marsden, and will start out with a membership of 25 or 30. A grand lodge officer from Nelson is expected to arrive some time toward the end of the month with a degree team, and the lodge will be properly constituted at that time.

have discarded old hygienic methods for this new way—true protection—discards like tissue

WHEN the world started expecting more of women, the old-time "sanitary pad" had to go.

Doctors urge a new way. Millions employ it. You wear sheerest frocks without a second thought, any time, anywhere. You meet every day unhandicapped.

It is called "KOTEX" . . . five times as absorbent as the ordinary cotton pad!

Thoroughly deodorizes . . . thus ending ALL fear of offending.

Discards as easily as a piece of tissue. No laundry. No embarrassment.

You ask for it without hesitancy simply by saying "KOTEX," at any drug or department store. Costs only a few cents. Proves old ways an unnecessary risk.

ARMISTICE DAY, 1926

By GERALD S. REES

Debtor and Creditor Are We

A November dawn; the dawn of another anniversary of an epochal event in the world's history and in the story of our race and Empire. Once again a vivid remembrance of an unforgettable November day when the final "Cease fire" sounded from end to end of our far-flung battle line. How long since? Eight years! Surely more! Yet, at times, it seems as yesterday. Our postwar world differs greatly from its prewar state; we have begun to understand that the comfortable old world in which we dwelt so unsuspectingly until the outbreak of war had in reality outlived its usefulness by several decades. The holocaust of war and its aftermath have taught us many truths, and we have unlearned many false philosophies.

Highway of Poignant Memories

We take now but little cognizance of whatever may have happened prior to the fateful fourth of August 12 years gone—a date seared in hearts and burnt into memories that only death, never life, can destroy. We may say or think what we will, but we are too nigh the tragic drama of those hectic war years to have yet gained a true perspective. The bearings of the ancient world have been lost too surely that we may ever find them again; the old landmarks have been obliterated; our lives transmuted by a great and terrible experience.

We are, as it were, still stunned by the noise of the big guns, and our eyes blinded by the flash of the searchlights, and in much bewilderment from the shock of terrific happenings on land and sea and in the air. The extreme disillusionments yet remain to haunt our dreams.

Easy enough to recall the hysterical outburst of joy that followed in the wake of the victory bells—a requiem, too, tolling so much life and beauty out of the world. It is not difficult to recollect the high lights and dark shadows of the four years warfare, with a clarion incessant call of high adventure to the Empire's manhood, and in lesser degree, to all those who labored in great faith and loyalty to keep the home fires burning. As one listens to the vibrant haunting strains of the "Last Post," the widening gulf of the years is easily bridged; one crosses to the Dim Mystic Highway of poignant memories and exalted feelings; one stands side by side with the men with whom one stood shoulder to shoulder in those far off unhappy days of long ago

"In our mindfulness of old bombardments, when the sky
With blundering din blinked cavernous."

One hears their voices, grave and gay, and communes with the spirits of the valient dead—"And high above the fight, the lonely bugle grieves."

A Lordly Fellowship

We are under a continuous obligation to the illustrious dead, and to the great memories of the past; we cannot live and grow without such memories. There comes to mind at this time a satisfying inscription engraved on the gigantic pedestal that carries the stone sculptured howitzer in London city—a memorial to all the gunners of the war "Here was a Fellowship; Here was a Lordly Fellowship; Here was a Lordly Fellowship of Death."

Today, our Empire is linked with an indissoluble bond of pride and sorrow; no other anniversary equals the strength of its universal appeal. Today, over yonder in those grey islands under the North Star, the heartshaking ceremony of an Armisticetide will be enacted at the hour that gave all nations pause from a great agony.

The Phantom Host

"One by one from the grey stone tower
"Ring the deep strokes marking the hour
The boom of a distant gun. Boom . . . Hush; . . . softly veiling the mellow sunlight creeps in a shadow, pearly white, cast by the ranks of a Phantom Host . . . Boom . . . The signalling gun once again. The breaking of the Great Silence and an ending of the Great Reunion . . . the fading of the mist . . . Carry on!

Armistice day must ever be different from other days; in many ways, it cannot be successfully associated with the Thanksgiving festival; its significance, for our generation at least, is too personal. Remembrance day for our One Million Dead on their eternal furlough. White bones crowd the cliffs of Gallipoli; cemeteries of British dead cover the plains of Flanders and Picardy, Salonica and the basin of the Euphrates. "The flower of a race remained on a lone foughten field."

Remember, too, the tomb of the seven seas, and the home resting places of our soldier dead in Great Britain, and in her greater realms beyond the seas. The tender lichen growth of Time assuages sorrow and hides the scars; our bereavement is transfigured and takes on the quality of pride, not vainglorious, but austere and serene. If, eight years after the day of final reckoning we have our regrets, they spring not from the One Million Dead we salute this day, but rather from our own insufficiency.

"Each Passed His Calvary"

Honor for them and silence; silence and Memory. From camp and college, land and loom, from field and forest, desk and bench, they marched away to the lilting music of bugle and drum. Wardens of the outer marches, they kept our shores inviolate; they held on alien soil the sagging battered line of trench and salient against the longest odds.

In the service of the guns, on land, at sea and in the blue, they secured our homes against the gaunt grim horrors of a ruthless invasion, and stood in heroic endurance like the rock on which our Flag is stayed.

Finally, a great victory was won from the chaos of a naked stark reality.

"In Empire's cause, they nobly served and died.
"And round their names a fadeless glory gleams."

Across dividing narrow channel, in slow but sure erection above the cobble stones of an eastern gateway in ancient Flemish city, a memorial arch assumes its ultimate form between the seventeenth century ramparts; an expression of the everlasting truth that is in beauty. Beneath the massive lion on its pediment, gazing toward the city of Ypres are engraved the words:

"To the armies of the British Empire, who stood here from 1914—1918, and to those of her dead who have no known grave."

This be our silent toast at the appointed hour, as we recall a brave and splendid throng, of whom the men marched and counter-marched through the old Menin gate were fitting exemplars.

"There where they sleep, the muted echo falls of joy they may not share."

Of prodigious girth and weight is this lasting shrine for the heart of our empire, but no measure of man's sacrifice can dimension the accumulate heart ache that marks its special significance.

"Lest We Forget"

Too much talk of the war even now think you? Perhaps.

But who shall stay us from an occasional retrospect of memorable days—days of high hopes and fading dreams; of boredom following fear with monotonous and unending regularity. Years of drudgery and unparalleled fatigue, of unbelievable strain and indescribable filth, with the stench of rotting human flesh and blood forming a miasmic nightmare—and the continuous booming roar of the guns like heavy surf beating on a rock-bound coast. Men died, not as war artists so sinfully and successfully painted men as dying but in all the vulgar agony of a badly butchered animal. Dirty white hopeless dawns— and the enfilading snipers. Frozen black nights of terror—and men, acrouch on squelching duckboards in the crises of ante-zero hours, who diced with death and took the chance of losing their courage and of being shot at dawn in the worst torment of all because too weak to bear as much as they had tried to bear for the sake of all.

Strip away forever the canting shibboleths of war and its suppositious glamor that yet persists in many minds, leading mankind into blind alleys of a false sentimentalism, and pathetic efforts to civilize murder amid mud, muddle and incompetence.

Once again we feel the actual wetness of the flarelit rain, and tread the cobbled pave of the old Ypres-Poperinghe highway; we see the double crassier and twin pylons of Loos, and the ruined brickwork of a village that once was——beyond the broken bridge of Masnieres..... And wooden unpainted crosses amid the poppies, at rickety angles over shallow graves, grim against the sun setting in glory beyond the purple hills. ....Yellow slips of paper slipped in letter boxes of stricken homes. ...the homecoming of a host of the maimed, the sick and the maddened.

From Mons to Mons

Then the final tightening of the belt, with the back to the wall; the fight to the finish, and at long last ...Victory.

And as, in these comparative days of slipper'd ease, we remember those who have now passed beyond all sunrisings and sunsettings, we cannot forget the faith in which they died. "They gave their all, no man may do more".

Perhaps as we return from the past to the present, we may bring with our bitter-sweet memories a little flame of tolerance and of sympathy—A fellowship of justice and kindness—of helpfulness too, in the remembrance of a common pride and a common grief, which shall lighten the darkness of misunderstanding in which much of the world is stumbling now.

* * * * *

Under the spell of a magic verse—one of the finest born of the agony of war—time and space are no more, and the span of human life is compassed.

"We are the dead, short days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow
Loved and were loved, and now we lie
In Flanders' fields."

Back, back to our dead to gain a clearer vision of the morrow. Silence and Memory!

SPORTITIS

By JINKS

Of what benefit is the Charleston dance to athletes? That is the question being asked on many sides and from some exhibitions of this puzzling pastime it would seem that the Charleston would be good training for almost any athlete.

In France the subject of its use to athletes has been gone into widely. Nine prominent athletes were asked to give their views on the good or bad characteristics of the twistings of the Charleston in relation to their athletic activities. Some were for it and some thought it a joke.

Mourlon, the sprinter, Baraton, the middle distance runner, and Lewden, the high jumper, all favored the Charleston. Lewden above all was of the opinion that it "was a great training for jumpers, providing one kept away from the surroundings, cigarettes and champagne. Many soccer and rugby players were of the same mind.

Jean Borotra and Rene Lacoste, famous French tennis stars are positively "not for" the Charleston. "I adore the Charleston, but I would not prescribe it during any tennis championship series," he said. Lacoste, when accosted said, "What is the Charleston."

But whether the Charleston is growing in athletics or not, it is gaining popularity among the younger generation. Take right in Nelson on any afternoon after school hours, school children of all ages can be seen getting over a few steps. Others are explaining new glides and slides. Here's a suggestion. Why not have a Charleston contest for school children? It is, according to athletes, a benefit to all. Maybe some day it will be on the books as a requirement for the physical training period in our schools.

PRINCETON AND HARVARD BREAK IN ATHLETICS

Long-Drawn-Out Battle Between College Athletes Finally to a Head

PRINCETON, N.J., Nov. 10.—All athletic relations between Princeton and Harvard were broken off today, Dr. Charles W. Kennedy, chairman of the board of athletic control, announced.

Princeton was willing to finish such events that were on the present schedule, but he deemed it inadvisable.

The action was taken this afternoon at a meeting of the board at which was present President John Grier Hibben, in the capacity of ex-officio member. Dr. Hibben announced the serverance, with his approval.

Dr. Kennedy intimated that the climax was capped by the receipt, this morning, of a copy of the resolutions adopted by the Harvard board.

The last paragraph of a letter to William J. Bingham, chairman of the board of athletic control of Harvard ,read as follows:

"I may also add that Princeton, so far as she is concerned, would never accept the implications of the athletic policy, recently adopted by the Harvard committee on regulation of athletic sports, as set forth in their resolutions of October 14, which I received this morning."

Long Standing Trouble

Dr. Kennedy declined to make known the provision of these resolutions.

Trouble between the university began brewing last spring when Harvard suggested cutting Princeton from the football schedule in favor of Michigan.

Ill feeling, existing since then, was brought to a head Saturday, when throngs, which attended the Harvard-Princeton game in Cambridge, were greeted with a special issue of the Lampoon, Harvard undergraduate publication. The edition was devoted to jeers and insults at Princeton.

Is Surprised

BOSTON, Nov. 10.—Announcement from Princeton that all athletic relations between Princeton and Harvard have been broken by Princeton, came as a complete surprise to William J. Bingham, director of athletics at Harvard.

BASKETEERS OF FAIRVIEW WIN TWO CONTESTS

Intermediates Trim Uptown; High School Nosed Out by Juniors

Fairview Athletic club basketball teams triumphed twice on the Central school gym floor last night. The Fairview intermediates trimmed an uptown team of the same ranking, 30-14. A junior contest, however, was so close that the Fairview juniors only defeated the high school by the odd point, the score being 24-23.

The intermediate game was fast and clean, no penalties being awarded, but the Fairview boys were evidently in better shape than their opponents.

The teams were:

Fairview—StDenis, Chapman, Ionian, J. Ringrose and Boyes.

Uptown—Smillie, Mansfield, A. Jeffs, Brogan, Phillips and Rees.

High School Leads First

In an extremely fast and clean game, the Fairview juniors gained the odd point against the high school boys.

Fairview scored one more field goal than the high school team, thus getting two points margin, but the high school was awarded the only penalty of the game, this reducing the difference to one point. The high school led until the second half of the game started. Fairview revealed an unexpected burst of speed, however, and ran up the score to win the game.

The teams were:

Fairview — StDenis, Chapman, Rothery, Chrisop and W. Lauritz.

High School—Hanna, R. McLeod, Farenholtz, Vance and Genest.

Cross Double Crossed and Doubled Up

By AL DEMAREE
(Former Pitcher New York Giants)

Ed Smith, famous fight writer, tells story showing what ludicrous things may happen when a couple of quitters get together.

"A notorious quitter whom we will call Cross was on the bill, against a boustabout fighter named Brown," says Ed.

"Just before the fight Brown began to whine that he couldn't whip a man like Cross, etc., etc. Finally he was induced with sundry promises to go in. 'Take a punch about the third round and go out,' his manager told him, and thinking he had a sure thing he made several wagers on the other boxer.

"In the first round, Cross, finding he could hit Brown, made a dashing fight of it. Brown wanted to quit there. 'Just two more rounds and it will look better,' his manager pleaded.

"In the third round Cross began to get anxious as Brown showed no signs of quitting. Brown's manager, getting worried, whispered to Brown to go out early. But he didn't reckon with the quitting bird in the other corner.

"They came together with a crash and to the amazement and disgust of his manager, Brown sank a right to Cross' jaw and over he went and stayed down.

"It was a case of which would quit first and Cross beat Brown to it."

HALL-MILLS LOVE AFFAIR LENGTHY

Maid Tells Court of Seeing Her on His Knee Four Years Before Murders

SOMERVILLE, N.J., Nov. 10.—Patriotism or holiday desire of a Somerset county jury today decreed a recess in the Hall-Mills case until Friday. There will be no session of the court tomorrow, the jury voting the Armistice holiday and winning commendation from the court.

The hearing today again covered a wide territory and extended period. It ranged from testimony of doctors, who saw the bodies before the burial and afterward, that of a maid in the Hall home, who testified to conditions there at the time the Rev. Edward W. Hall was slain with Mrs. Eleanor Mills, choir singer in the church, of which Mr. Hall was rector.

Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, widow of the slain rector, and her brothers, Henry and Willie Stevens, charged with the murder of Mrs. Mills, sat calmly throughout the crowded day. A razor was unexpectedly projected into the court room picture by Special Prosecutor Simpson. It was understood that this weapon mutilated the throat of Mrs. Mills.

Maid Testifies

Miss Barbara Tough, who was a maid in the home of the Rev. and Mrs. E. W. Hall, declared the transcript of her testimony, at the first hearing in 1922, was in error. In her testimony, at the first grand jury hearing, read to her on the stand today, she was quoted as saying Mrs. Hall "was shaking" when asked by the maid if she had heard anything from her missing husband."

Miss Tough said today that she said that Mrs. Hall was "shaking up the cushions." She also told of seeing Mrs. Mills sitting on the knees of the rector in the guild room of the church four years before the double slaying.

CANADIAN AIRCRAFT PROVEN INVALUABLE

Spot Forest Fires, Aid Fisheries; Urge for Cities to Construct Landing Fields, Hangars

WINNIPEG, Nov. 10.—Aiding the fish patrol and helping the customs department to check smuggling at Vancouver; spotting fires in the valuable forests on the eastern slopes of the Rockies and in northern Manitoba, where 210 out of 215 fires were stopped at their source last year; perfecting a Canadian military air force reserve in the huge training place at Camp Borden, modernizing the Royal Canadian Air force and its equipment by experiment and research at Ottawa, and mapping the famous maritime Canadian tourists' country at Dartmouth, N. S., station—these are the main phases of the work of the Royal Canadian Air force as sketched by Group Capt. J. Stanley Scott, in an address to the Canadian club here today. Captain Scott indicated that the force was developing its own aircraft.

The question of air mail in Canada was being considered.

In conclusion, Captain Scott recommended that western cities in their planning provide for a central airdrome. He stated United States flyers would visit Canada in great and increasing numbers if assured of satisfactory landing and housing for their craft.

SALVATION ARMY TO BE REORGANIZED

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Reorganization of the work of the Salvation Army in the United States, which included the creation of a new territory of administration with headquarters at Atlanta and many changes in the personnel, was announced today.

The reorganization does not affect the status of Evangeline Booth, for six years commander in the United States, who will continue in charge of the work in this country.

Is Her Triumph

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—The New York World says Evangeline Booth, commander of the Salvation Army in this country for 22 years, has triumphed over the attempts of her brother, Gen. W. B. Booth, to remove her, in announcing today that the organization will be reorganized "to permit more intensive control."

Commander Booth said she regretted her action had been interpreted as a victory over her brother, but admitted General Booth had abandoned his attempts to transfer her from her post.

Survey of Alberta to Ascertain Damage to Crops Is Started

CALGARY, Nov. 10.—Survey of the entire province has been undertaken by the Dominion Seed branch to ascertain the amount of damage the crop has suffered and the quantity of seed that will be available for spring sowing. A preliminary report will be issued soon. Although there are prominent grain men in Calgary who view the threatened shortage of seed oats seriously, it is generally admitted no definite measure of the quantities available can be made until the crops begin to move more freely. It is admitted that many tests of oats for germination have given poor results, but it is hoped that these samples do not represent the average condition of the crop. The position in many districts is believed to be bad owing to crop ramage by rains and frost.

STEEL AND MOTORS CLOSE DOWN SOME

Steel Orders Fall Short; Rubbers Are Strong Features, Wall Street

NEW YORK Nov. 10. — Reactionary tendencies in today's stock market reflected speculative disappointment over the relatively small increase in the October unfilled orders of the U. S. Steel Corporation and the failure of the directors of the Rock Island Railway to declare a dividend on the common stock at today's meeting. Profit-taking was rather general and energetic bear selling took place in spots with the result that many issues closed 1 to 2½ lower on the day.

The steel corporation which was expected to show a gain of 150,000 to 200,000 tons in orders, actually reported an increase of only 90,100 tons. Steel common closed 1⅛ lower, at 146½, after having sold between 148¼ and 146¾. Rock Island sold down as low as 65⅞, but intimations by directors that dividend action would be taken in December sent the stock up to 66¾, where it was off only ⅜ on the day.

Motors Down

General Motors' dividend action on which is due rather after the close tomorrow showed a net loss of 1⅝, at 149½, after selling erratically between 147⅞ and 151⅛.

Rubbers were strong despite reports from Akron of an early cut in tire prices. U. S. Rubber showed an extreme gain of over 3 points by touching 64½, closing near the top.

Call money renewed at 4¼ and held steady at that figure all day, with plenty of funds available.

Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Sales—1,365,700.

Italy Recalls All Twenty-five-Lire Notes Before June

The Italian government has declared by proclamation of September 9 last, that notes issued by them or the 25 lire will cease to have legal course on December 31 1926, and will be declared worthless on June 30, 1927.

It is understood that this step has been taken to reduce the amount of currency outstanding in Italy and notes of this denomination have been selected for this purpose as they have never been particularly popular.

Windsor Man Faces Manslaughter Charge; Hurt in Fist Fight

WINDSOR, Ont. Nov. 10.—James Haggith of Windsor was arrested today by Windsor detectives on a warrant issued at Sandwich, accusing him of manslaughter in connection with the death of Theret Cecil Lambier, aged 40, of Mersea Township, who died, following a fist fight in a Sandwich house, on the night of August 11.

Lambier, whose body was exhumed on order of the attorney-general, was taken ill soon after Haggith was alleged to have struck him, during a tussle over a girl. He died two days later.

At the coroner's inquest, held in Windsor, the jury could not arrive at a verdict, and no charge against Haggith was preferred until two days ago. Haggith will be formerly arraigned on Friday.

The Kruschen "dimeful" every day Will help you keep the 'flu away.

A-tish-oo!

Don't be afraid to sneeze.

Sneezing is one of nature's ways of getting rid of germs that find their way into the recesses of your nose, mouth, and throat. There they generate poisons which they distribute (by means of the body's common carrier, the blood) to other parts of your anatomy. It then depends upon the condition of your blood whether or not the poison finds out your weak spot, and an attack of 'flu, a twinge of gout, or a sharp touch of rheumatism, lumbago, or sciatica be the painful and disabling consequence.

Your First Line of Defence

If your blood be pure and virile there is not a germ in all bacteriology that has the power to harm you.

The Kruschen habit is your first line of defence against disease germs, because it enables nature to maintain a rich supply of pure and virile blood. The body's organs of elimination all work better and more regularly under the daily reminder of the Kruschen habit, and with these organs working well and regularly the purity and virility of the blood are ensured.

Kruschen Salts is a natural aperient and diuretic tonic — not a medicine but an "aid to Nature" in eliminating from the system waste material which poison and debilitates the blood.

Take as much Kruschen Salts as will lie on a 10-cent piece every morning in your breakfast cup of coffee or tea. This is your first safeguard against epidemics, etc., such as influenza — and the indispensable condition precedent to their successful treatment.

Tasteless in Coffee or Tea

Put as much in your breakfast cup as will lie on a 10 cent piece. It's the little daily dimeful that does it.

Kruschen Salts

Good Health for Half a Cent a Day

The dose of a dimeful taken every morning is found in practice just the right amount of a most invigorating daily tonic. The medicinal dose for persons suffering from pains of rheumatism, gout, lumbago or sciatica, or habitual constipation, with inactive liver, etc., is half to one teaspoonful in a tumbler of hot water before breakfast. Every druggist sells Kruschen. A 75c bottle lasts three months. This works out at half-a-cent a day for health and happiness. Get a bottle at your druggist's to-day and start to-morrow. It's the little daily dimeful that does it!

CITIZENS!

ON THIS, the anniversary of Armistice Day, it is my earnest desire that every citizen will cooperate in paying tribute to the glorious dead who paid the supreme sacrifice during the late war, by observing two minutes' silence, cessation of work or business at 11 o'clock this morning.

At three minutes to 11 this morning the siren at the corner of Baker and Ward streets will sound, and the conclusion of its blast will mark the beginning of this two-minute period.

Kicked Out of Cafe So He Kicks Out the Cafe's Plate-Glass Door

Patrick O'Brien, lumberman, kicked out the glass in the door of the Golden Gate cafe yesterday about 2 o'clock.

He was reported to have been drinking overproof rum. When he became rowdy he was ejected from the cafe. He returned three times, but was thrown out each time. The last time he aimed a drop kick at the door, putting his foot through the glass. He was subdued after a struggle and Chief of Police Thomas H. Long arrested him.

CONSERVATIVES OF NELSON WILL SUPPORT LADNER

If He Drops Out, Delegation to Support Any Against Bowser

At a meeting of the Nelson Conservative association, held at the board of trade rooms last night, arrangements were made for a delegation of 10, the allotment for the riding, to be sent to the provincial convention at Kamloops which opens November 23, which has been called for the election of a new leader, to succeed R. H. Pooley, who is retiring.

The delegation was definitely instructed to vote for Leon J. Ladner, M.P. for South Vancouver, for leader, and in the event of Mr. Ladner dropping out of the race, to vote for any candidate opposing W. J. Bowser.

Suggestion as to Name

A resolution will be sponsored before the convention by Nelson, for dropping the name of "Liberal-Conservative" provincially and adopting the straight term "Conservative" as the party description.

Confidence was expressed by various speakers that the next provincial election would see the dismissal of the Oliver government.

President W. A. Curran was in the chair.

Urges Publishers Keep Devotion to Welfare of Public

FRENCH-LICK, Ind., Nov. 10.—Urging publishers of North America's newspapers to keep their devotion to the welfare of the community and nation above desire for selfish profits, John Stewart Bryan of Richmond, Va., president of the American Newspaper Publishers' association, today opened that body's second annual autumn meeting here.

"Publishers are measured by leadership, not lineage; by courage, not circulation," President Bryan declared.

Premier Will Take Part in Armistice Ceremonies, England

LONDON, Nov. 10.—Canada's representatives at the Imperial conference will join tomorrow in the Empire's tribute on Armistice day. When King George, the Prince of Wales and the Duke of York lay wreaths at the foot of the Cenotoph, Premier Mackenzie King and other Dominion premiers will stand with the members of the British cabinet.

Premier King will deposit a wreath composed largely of Maple leaves brought from the Dominion. Today nothing beyond comparitively routine work was done. The economic committee considered how best to increase the use of Empire films.

The workmen's compensation committee concluded its investigation along two lines. These were:

1.—How a reciprocal arrangement can be made whereby an award made in one part of the Empire may be transfered and administered in another part of the Empire where a beneficiary lives.

2.—The attitude adopted in various parts of the Empire toward the treatment of aliens under workmen's compensation laws.

The Canadian delegation was largely represented this afternoon at the reception by King George at Buckingham Palace. His Majesty chatted with several members of the Canadian party.

Forthcoming Events

When arranging for any affair of a public or semi-public nature in Nelson, it is advisable to ascertain that no competing event has been arranged for the date contemplated. Two events of a similar nature on one evening may spoil the attendance at both. It is also very desirable, when a date has been decided upon, to let the public know of it, so that no other competing affair may be arranged for the same evening.

To meet this situation, The Daily News is commencing a "Forthcoming Events" column which will appear below "Nelson News of the Day."

This column will be confined to notices of affairs a week or more distant. Events arranged for earlier dates will be advertised under the "Nelson News of the Day" heading.

The charge for the first insertion will be 25 cents for one line and 15 cents for each additional line. Most announcements in this column can be confined to one line. Additional insertions will be charged at 15 cents a line.
