FRANCE CLASSES CANADIAN GOODS WITH AMERICAN

Hence Canada's Products Subject to Same Duties as United States Goods

PARIS, Nov. 18.—Owing to the most favored nation treaty with France, Canadian goods will be subject to the same duty as United States goods where, the United States duties are below those now affecting the Dominion. The new unretroactive tariff is effective next Monday.

About 505 American articles will receive the minimum tariff paid by like German goods and the balance will be governed by the rates effective prior to September 6.

There is every probability that the duty on wheat will be increased to 35 francs per quintal (3.67 bushels) agricultural implements are not effected by the new United States modification although both Canadian and United States binders are brought under an 800 franc duty in contrast with 550 paid by the Germans owing to the duty being levied on the gross instead of the net weight.

There is no change in the duty on motor spare parts or farm machines, prepared furs or salmon.

Some remarks are heard that it would be advisable to make a new Franco-Canadian treaty, but other counsel suggests it would be advisable to leave well enough alone.

OTTAWA RETICENT

OTTAWA, Nov. 18.—Government officials were reticent tonight over the changes made by the French government in the active tariff between Canada and France. Under the trade treaty between Canada and France, ratified by the Canadian and French parliaments in 1923, Canada was provided with as favorable treatment as the United States with regard to the products which came under the French general tariff. Canada granted to France the Canadian intermediate tariff and favored nation treatment generally.

COLD WEATHER SAVES QUEBEC MORE FLOODS

Rising Rivers Halted by Freezing Temperatures in the East

THREE RIVERS WAS SEVERELY THREATENED

Rivers and Streams High; New York Districts Also Thankful

MONTREAL, Nov. 18.—Freezing temperatures today saved the eastern townships and other sections of Quebec from serious flood damage. That the cold weather arrived opportunely was proven by reports from many sections detailing damage to roads, flooding of village street and rising river levels.

The flood menace was most marked in the vicinity of Three Rivers, where 78 hours of continuous rainfall broke all existing records. At Zepherin, near Three Rivers, 10 bridges were swept away, blocking highway traffic. St. Justin and Ste. Ursula in the same district, reported landslides and blocked roads. At St. Justin three bridges were carried away by swollen brooks. At Ste. Ursula the sides of Fontarabie Hill collapsed and a heap of clay and sand 45 feet high block roads.

ALL DANGER AVERTED

Reports from Sherbrooke tonight indicated that the cold wave had averted all danger of a renewal of floods in the eastern townships. Rivers and small streams were reported high, but no increase was looked for. All highways were said to be open with the exception of the Sherbrooke-Levis road.

NEW YORK EASIER

ALBANY, N.Y., Nov. 18.—Clearing skies and rapidly falling temperatures checked today and menace of flood waters in northern New York after torrential rains of 36 hours' duration.

Many of the streams flowing into the St. Lawrence river from the slopes of the Adironbacks were greatly swollen in consequence of the downpour, but most of them kept within their banks. In some instances, however, villages along the banks of the streams were invaded by water, highway bridges were washed away and train service on a portion of the New York Central railroad's St. Lawrence division was temporarily held up.

Throughout the territory the rain did nearly as much damage as the rising streams.

California Town Is Shaken by Quake of Few Seconds Duration

SANTA MARIA, Cal., Nov. 18.—An earthquake was felt here at 7:32 tonight. Several windows were cracked and a few chimneys, weakened by the temblor of two weeks ago, toppled and fell.

Observers said the quake had a north and south movement, ending in a sharp jar and continued for several seconds.

The telephone reports from Lompoc were to the effect that the quake there was more severe than that of November 4, and also was more distinct in the territory surrounding San Luis Obispo.

Public Urges Clemency for Capt. Pamphlet

Portland and Astoria Citizens Appeal to Coolidge

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 18.—More than a score of Portland and Astoria citizens today united in an appeal to President Coolidge for executive clemency for Captain Robert Pamphlet, skipper of the Canadian rum-runner Pescahaw, who was sentenced to two year in prison and fined $1000 in connection with the seizure of the vessel in February, 1925. He is to surrender November 28 to start serving his sentence.

Rescue of members of the crew of the wrecked schooner Coabia, off the Washington coast by the Canadian vessel just before capture of the Pescahaw by the coast guard cutter Algonquin, is the basis for the appeal.

The log of the rum craft recited that it was 18 miles off shore when a boat of the Coabia was sighted. The tiny boat was picked up and the Pescahaw was searching for a second liftboat when the seizure occurred.

M'INTOSH AND HINKLER SAFE SOUTH POLAND

Are Uninjured, Says Brief Report From Warsaw Authorities

BELIEF IS THAT FLYERS LOST WAY

Aviators Refuse to Talk; Send Wire to London; May Fly Back

WARSAW, Nov. 19.—The Polish Telegraph agency says that the aviators, Captain MacIntosh and Bert Hinkler, after landing in southern Poland, went to Lwow, formerly called Lemberg, where they are stopping, and they did not take off for England as previously reported.

The agency says one of its men talked with the flyers over the telephone at 2 o'clock, but they refused any information, saying they had telegraphed a report to London.

LONDON RELIEVED

LONDON, Nov. 18.—Relieved by a report from Warsaw that Captain R. H. MacIntosh and Bert Hinkler landed in southern Poland yesterday and started toward London today, friends of the flyers, nevertheless, still wondered what misfortune defeated the attempt at a non-stop flight to India, and just what course their plane, the Princess Xenia, followed in its long flight.

The first conjecture is that the aviators encountered adverse weather conditions, lost their direction, and circled blindly for many hours. Another guess is that they turned back after a forced descent further to the south.

Arrival of the men in London, however, was expected tonight to disclose an adventurous tale of their flight.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Nov. 18.—Approximately 1500 persons were added to the long list of disaster victims looking to the Red Cross for aid, as a result of yesterday's tornado in Washington and neighboring communities in Virginia and Maryland. This announcement was made tonight by the relief organization, which added that 60,000 persons were now being cared for as a result of five recent disasters—17,000 victims of the Mississippi flood, 30,000 St. Louis tornado sufferers, 8000 homeless and sick from the New England flood, and 2000 who felt the effects of the Pittsburgh tank explosion. The Washington tornado, it is said, brought the total to around the 60,000 mark.

Not only is the Red Cross still providing general relief to 17,000 sufferers of the Mississippi flood, but it is serving 60,000 meals a day in the affected area.

URGE ADOPTION OF JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL SYSTEM

Notman, Emory and May Report on Pentiction List and Explain System

DISCUSS HOW MIGHT ADAPTED NELSON

Happiness and Freedom Penticton Pupils, and Willingness to Work Impressing

Description of the Penticton junior high school system and a discussion of how this system might be adapted to Nelson schools occupied the attention of the Nelson school board last night. Chairman John Notman presided.

Mr. Notman and Trustees James May and A. C. Emory, who inspected the Penticton school, gave their impressions and Inspector P. H. Sheffield, who acted as guide on the trip, assisted with the description.

Congestion of Nelson schools for some time past, said Mr. Notman, has been the subject of many school board discussions. The composite school of Point Grey, which Mr. Notman saw on a recent visit to the coast, would not be practicable here, but the Penticton system would.

DEVELOPS ADAPTABILITIES

The junior high school system, the chairman said, aimed at pointing out the peculiar adaptabilities of each pupil. He saw this system in active use at Penticton, and was greatly impressed. It not only helped in directing the energies of pupils, but saved the expense of giving them an academic education of which they could make no practical use.

Mr. May was specially impressed with the freedom of the pupils. The system was "not stereotyped." Pupils seemed to take intense interest in their work, and were much more in harmony with their teachers.

He saw boys doing manual training, sheet metal work and drafting; he saw girls making a vegetable salad, the quality of which spoke well for the mothers of a future generation.

In their auditorium work, which they opened by singing "O Canada," he noticed they had been trained musically—"they were not shouting their heads off.". He also saw two girls present a sketch from Shakespeare, in a manner worthy of professionals.

Their physical work consisted mostly of supervised games. This was part of the curriculum.

HAPPINESS IMPRESSES

Mr. Emory was especially impressed with the happiness of the pupils. They were actually anxious to go to school.

Discipline was managed by a students' council, consisting of representatives of each class, who met with the teachers regularly for discussion. They showed a real friendliness toward their teachers and took more interest in their work.

Included in the studies were community problems and current events.

The curriculum included study periods, supervised by teachers, in which more work was accomplished than pupils would probably do in two hours of homework.

Bookkeeping, junior business and typewriting were tryout courses.

STANDING ON CREDITS

No examinations were given. Standing of students was decided by credits, and in a system of self-rating, students often rated themselves lower than the teacher would.

All three urged adoption of the system in Nelson at the earliest possible moment.

Inspector Sheffield agreed to write for publication a survey of the system, showing its advantages over the present system here.

The inspector told how the system might be adapted in Nelson, and told of the cooperation between the staffs of the senior and junior high schools in Penticton which made the system practicable.

A resolution thanking A. S. Matheson, principal of the Penticton school, for his courtesy in showing the Nelson men how the system worked in Penticton, was passed.

HOUSED IN ATTIC

F. C. Whitehouse, in a letter to the board, deplored the "improper conditions" prevailing at Central school. His little girl in Grade III., was with a class housed in the attic of the school. He asked what was being done to relieve this.

NEW YORK, N.Y., Nov. 18.—Next to the great war, the automobile has done more to make the United States a nation of thinkers than any other invention or agency, Thomas A. Edison says, in an interview published here today.

"The automobile," the inventor said, "has made it easier, quicker and cheaper to go places, but its great value is that it has inspired millions to go. It has awakened hundreds of thousands from sluggishness, set their brains to work and revealed to them how meaningless their lives were becoming.

"If there is one inexcusable evil in the world it is the evil of stupidity," he declared.

LARDEAU BRANCH SERVICE TALKED AT CONFERENCE

Board of Trade and District Men Give Facts to Inspector

Great industrial development that is bound to come in the near future in the Lardeau country, and the absolute inadequacy of present transportation service to further this development were points stressed by residents of the Lardeau and Nelson who met A. Le Sage of Calgary, inspector of the board of railway commissioners, in a meeting at the board of trade rooms yesterday morning. The distressing inconveniences forced by the present system were also portrayed. President C. F. McHardy of the board of trade presided.

Mr. Le Sage left yesterday afternoon on the Lardeau boat, to see conditions on the Lardeau branch, on which the people of that district are asking an increased service.

LACK FREIGHT CARS

J. Armstrong, representing Harry Newcomen of Lardo, timberman, urged at least two trains a week, instead of the present one-day service. Under present conditions the Canadian Pacific railway could not make available to operators sufficient cars to handle freight. Something after the style of a gas-electric car would greatly assist passengers, but it would not relieve the freighting condition.

Mrs. Chris Marsden of Meadow Creek stated ranchers now could ship meat and vegetables only on Saturday. They had a large market in Kaslo, Nelson and Trail, but it was available only on one day a week. In regard to passenger traffic, she asserted withdrawal of the privilege of using the gasoline speeder over the Lardo-Gerrard line was almost an insurmountable obstacle. She charged the railway with discriminating against some passengers, while others were still permitted to use the speeder.

F. J. Donovan of Gerrard protested against the lack of passenger service, stating it was impossible to get financiers to go inta the Lardeau to examine mining properties because of the time they were obliged to waste while waiting for train and boat service.

FRIGHTENS FINANCIERS

Charles Woodrow of Nelson, prospector and owner of several claims in the Lardeau, declared he took San Francisco mining men in to look at prospects, but the lack of transportation frightened them away. The "biggest unworked lead properties I know of are in the Lardeau, Mr. Woodrow declared, and added that development on some of them has reached the stage where they may be expected to ship in the very near future. At one time, he said, the Lardeau had a daily boat and train service. This gave place to a tri-weekly service, then to a bi-weekly service, and now to a weekly train and bi-weekly boat.

P. J. Sheran of Nelson, owner of several Lardeau prospects, declared timbermen were held up in their operations for lack of cars. It was impossible to interest big financiers in mining properties under present conditions. In 1917, when a mining man looking at his property fell ill, it was necessary to place him on a flat car and push the car from 9 o'clock one morning to 2 o'clock the next to get him to Lardeau.

VENEER WORKS CLOSES

J. E. Annable of Nelson stated the British Columbia Veneer Works here, recently opened, was now shut down for lack of logs, and would remain closed for three weeks. L. Hanna was now in the Lardeau trying to get out logs for the plant. Four cars a week would be required. The company owned 4,000,000 to 5,000,000 feet of timber in the Lardeau, and would use about 1,500,000 feet each year. In the spring this could be floated to Nelson, but for the rest of the year it would have to be handled by train, at least in the Lardeau area. Had it known what conditions would be the company might have been prepared, he said.

R. G. Joy of Nelson, secretary of the Prospectors' Protective association, deplored the lack of passenger facilities from the prospectors' view point. While it was difficult to get financiers in to the Lardeau, it was even harder to interest them in properties with the freighting service in the condition it is. Mr. Joy declared some move should be made to permit shipment of freight on the Tuesday boat, which would take no freight from Lardeau, but would from Argenta, which was just across the lake. If a Lardeau shipper wanted freight to go out on the Tuesday boat, he had to row it across the lake to Argenta.

HAZARD TO WORKERS

J. W. Mulholland, representing the chamber of mines of eastern British Columbia, declared: "It's suicide, it's murder, to take men in to work in mines," for if they were hurt there were great difficulties to overcome in getting medical aid. Large sums of money were being spent to develop mines in the Lardeau, and its old greatness as a mining country was being revived; adequate transportation was vital to the life of the district.

Mr. McHardy, and Fred A. Starkey, commissioner of the Associated Boa of Trade of Eastern British Columb gave pictures of the potential develo ment of the Lardeau. They visioned country of great industries, teem with life, the producing center of great producing district.

TRAIL, B.C., Nov. 18.—St. Andrew's Anglican church, effectively decorated with pink and white chrysanthemums, was the setting of a pretty wedding on Thursday, November 17, at 4:30 p.m., when Annie, only daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hoyle of Queen's Bay, was united in marriage to Mervyn Prichard Williams, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Prichard Williams of "Cymryd," Conway, North Wales. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. N. D. B. Larmonth. The bride, who entered the church with her elder brother, J. Hamer Hoyle, looked charming in an imported gown of ivory satin in sleeveless style with full skirt of uneven hemline, and ornamented with tiny motifs of diamente and violet sequin. Her veil of embroidered brussels net was arranged in cap style with a chaplet of silver lace and orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of white carnations, violets and maidenhair fern. Miss Dorothy Pingland, as bridesmaid, wore a dainty frock of salmon pink taffeta fashioned of bouffant style, with tiered skirt of ruffled silk net, and sprays of flowers at the waist and on the shoulder. Her hat was of black panne velvet faced with salmon georgette and her shower bouquet of pink rosebuds and carnations. W. A. Hoyle, younger brother of the bride, supported the bridegroom, while H. Paley Wilson and Kenneth Seaborne acted as ushers. During the signing of the register Miss Connie Whittaker sang very sweetly "At Dawning." The wedding marches were played by Mrs. R. G. S. Anthony. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Anderson, Portland street, with Mrs. W. A. Coghlin, Mrs. C. A. Broderick and Mrs. J. D. Anderson as hostesses. The rooms were tastefully decorated with bronze chrysanthemums. The bride's table was centered with the three-tiered wedding cake and flanked with bronze tapers in low silver sconces. Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Williams left by train for Nelson, Portland and San Francisco, the bride traveling in a becoming model gown of pearl grey crepe satin with trimmings in rose, powder blue and gold. Over this she wore a wraparound coat of powder blue French gaberdine with grey squirrel collar. A grey hat completed her costume. On their return they will take up residence in their new home on Riverside avenue.

On Monday evening in the parish hall the St. Andrew's Young People's club met at their annual semi-monthly club met at their semi-monthly meeting, which took the form of a dinner at which the members of the girls' branch of the W.A. were hostesses to the members of the Young People's society. A delicious dinner was served, places being laid for 40. The tables were centered with silver vases of rose chrysanthemums, while silver candlesticks with blue tapers made a most effective lighting system. Miss Jean McCallum was general convenor for the dinner and was assisted by Mrs. H. Ollis, Miss Barbara Caldicott, Miss Dorothy Dockerill, Miss Loas Wall, Miss B. Robinson, Miss Mary Caldicott. Those assisting in serving were Miss Alice Hopkins, Miss Ninon Guillaume, Miss Yvonne Guillaume, Miss Betty Newell, Miss Francis Maudsley, Miss Ella Maudsley. After dinner Rev. N. D. B. Larmonth called a meeting to discuss the forming of a branch of the Anglican's Young People's society. He read an account of the work performed and the pleasure derived from an organization of this kind and then called upon Mr. Hughes, who has been a prominent member of that organization in other cities, to give a few words as to the order of procedure used in the various other organizations of the A.Y.P.A. Those present seemed to be very enthusiastic to form a branch of that organization in the parish of St. Andrew's at Trail, so an election of officers was held. This organization has four different aims in view, which are work, worship, fellowship and education, for each of which a committee was elected. A splendid attendance was present at this meeting. The remainder of the evening was spent in bridge and dancing. The officers elected were: President, Mr. Hughes; vice-president, Miss Jean McCallum; secretary, Miss Audrey Baxendale; treasurer, B. Thurber. The committees elected are as follows: Fellowship—Miss Doris Mitchell, Wib Manson, George Hamson; entertainmentor social—Miss Doris Anthony, Miss Edith Thompson, Dennis Thain, Gordon Hull; educational—Miss B. Robinson, Fred Rotton, Edgar Wadsworth. Those present were: Misses Doris Anthony, Lorna Anthony, Maude McGuire, Mary Mallot, Connie Davies, Margaret Wilkie, Doris Newell, B. Robinson, Audrey Baxendale, Loas Wall, Dorothy Dockerill, Barbara Caldicott, Nora Cairns, Audrey Brady, Jean McCallum, Ella Thompson, Edith Thompson, Mary Caldicott; Mesdames K. Berry, H. Ollis, N. D. B. Larmonth; Messrs. George Hamson, Gerald Cunningham, Gordon Hull, Carl Whittemore, Wib Manson, Dennis Thain, J. Hughes, Edgar Wadsworth, Bert Thurber, L. Lang, H. Ollis, Teek, Fred Rotton, Rev. CALEDONIANS CONCERT IS A GREAT SUCCESS

Trail Amateur Musicians Please in Round of Song, Dance and Music

SKETCH IS FEATURE OF THE BIG PROGRAM

Mrs. Forrest's Characterizations Please; Storrie, Laurie and Thompson Good

TRAIL, B.C., Nov. 18.—Making their first bow on any stage, a company of amateur entertainers of the Caledonian society made a splendid success of their concert program given in the K.P. hall tonight. The whole entertainment was directed by W. Ramsay.

The curtain went up on a chorus of jolly fisher lasses and lads singing "Who'll Buy My Calla Herrin's?" They were the Misses J. Ferguson, J. Anderson, J. Leckie, G. Leckie, R. Buchan, R. Balfour and J. Thompson, J. Graham, M. Storrie, T. Laurie, A. Crichton, J. Ferguson and W. Ramsay.

INSTRUMENTAL QUARTET

Four of the men gave delightful instrumental quartets, "Reapers' Chorus," and a deserved encore, "Scotia." They were: A. M. Dicken, first cornet; S. Martin, second cornet; W. Ramsay, alto; and J. Saddler, euphonium.

J. Thompson with "Dannie Boy" and William Ramsay with "Scotland Yet" entertained with vocal solos.

Six little sailoresses danced a sailors' hornpipe to Jock McLennan's music. They were J. Somerville, C. Hall, C. McLeod, L. Calby, E. Lauriente and C. Harris.

The whole company, gathered about an inn parlor, sang the chorus "Boatmen of the Forth."

Miss Jessie Anderson, singing a love song, had a chorus of 10 singers and dancers in Highland costume. They were the Misses J. Somerville, C. Harrison, C. Hall, K. McLeod, M. Somerville, J. Buchan, M. Donoughy, C. Lauriente, R. Lewis and L. Kelby.

Brynmor Smith was accompanist.

SKETCH IS FEATURE

A sketch entitled "The Dress Rehearsal," was the feature of the second part of the program. It was a delightfully humorous affair with characterizations carried off with great gusto by Mrs. D. Forrest, in the role of Mrs. McWhannel, a middle-aged wife of an amateur actor whose rehearsals in solo is the motive of the sketch. M. Storrie, the husband, is an amateur actor who, in the course of his rehearsals, submits to tortures in the doctoring of his wife, who believes he is sick. T. Laurie, a doctor with a carpenter's kit, add many touches of humor. J. Thompson, as Jock Rollo, was an aid in deceiving the wife.

Caledonians and their friends, numbering 200, concluded the evening with a delightful dance.

ASSAULT CASE IN TRAIL DISMISSED

TRAIL, B.C., Nov. 18.—Following contradictory stories of a fracas told by the accused and his acusers, Magistrate Noble Binns today dismissed the case against Ben Henschell, who was charged with a common assault on Mrs. Queenie Ettinger and Mrs. Molly Ettinger of Rossland avenue.

Trouble had arisen when Henschell, on the night of November 8, prevented the two women using his automobile without his permission and had taken an engine key belonging to them. According to the women, Henschell, besides ordering them out of the car, had knocked them both down, rendering each unconscious for a time. Henschell, however, denied hitting the women. He declared Mrs. Molly Ettinger had come around the front of the car to slap him several times, while her sister Queenie, having a baby in her arms, had used her feet to kick him. Later they threw rocks at him, driving him to his uncle's house for cover. They also damaged his auto with rocks.

According to the city police there is another angle to the case, which would tend to indicate that the youths had provocation.

RAIN HELPS TO CLEAR THE SNOW

Higher Temperatures, 34 and 40, Help; .28 Inch Rain Two Days

Rain and higher temperatures are doing a lot toward clearing the downtown streets of the recent heavy snowfall, the sidewalks being practically all bare now. There is still plenty of snow on the road, but a little more rain and continued higher temperatures would soon make short work of it.

In the 24 hours ending at 5 p.m., Thursday, a rainfall of exactly a quarter of an inch was recorded, while yesterday for the same period, .03 inch fell, bringing the total for the month to date to 3.42 inches, including 2.33 inches as represented by 23.3 inches of snow.

Yesterday's temperatures were 34 and 40.

NEW LIQUOR ACT READY TO WORK

Manitoba Government Gives It Stamp of Approval; Will Push Measure

WINNIPEG, Nov. 18.—Embodying what government leaders describe as "the best features of the prevailing liquor acts of the other provinces of the Dominion," the new Manitoba Liquor act has been given the seal of of approval by the government. The proposed legislation will be submitted to the provincial legislature shortly after the house is convened on December 1.

While nothing official has been given out concerning the proposed legislation, the salient features of the proposed act have been disclosed.

It is learned that separate beer parlors in licenced parlors will be established for women. Sale of beer and hard liquor by the bottle on the cash-and-carry system is provided for, beer by the bottle will not be sold at licenced parlors, the present method of purchasing liquor supplies through the government liquor commission will be maintained.

The measure when enacted will be applicable to the province as a whole, but local option provisions will enable municipalities to change the law locally by referendum. Constituencies that voted either wet or dry in the last provincial plebiscite will be governed equally by the local option provisions.

There will be no special licensing authorities outside of the Manitoba liquor control commission. Licensing privileges will be extended to hotels, veterans' and chartered clubs and licences will be called upon to provide special beer parlors. The selling hours will be from 9 o'clock in the morning until 11 o'clock at night.

Efforts will be made to push the measure through its third reading before the Christmas recess.

Scotch Contortions Are Dance Feature; Clan McLeary Host

Scotch contortions and other things featured the concluding part of the Clan McLeary whist drive and dance in the I.O.O.F. hall last night. Leslie Craufurd, master of ceremonies, called them quadrilles and such names, but the big crowd enjoyed them just the same.

Winners at cards were Mrs. M. Jones, ladies' first; Mrs. R. Wallace, consolation; William Simpson, men's first; J. Robb, consolation.

Rev. Dr. H. S. Dougall, pastor of Simcoe St. United church, Oshawa, is retiring from the active ministry.

Women's Institutes Start History Ball Rolling

Decision of the Kootenay Women's Institutes to seriously undertake the compilation of local histories, with the two-fold object of recording early Kootenay history before it is too late, and of providing our schools with authentic local history, is commendable.

The era of frontier times in the Kootenay is fast receding, the steamboat era, the sourdough days, the shinplaster days, the tent and log cabin days, the railway building, the mule-trains are not easy for this generation to visualize. Year by year there are fewer old-timers, year by year, fewer living records.

It ought to be the object of many in different parts of the Kootenay to get these things all matters of explicit record. A Kootenay Historical society could systematize effort, and direct attention to fields not occupied by local historians.

This winter ought to see definite action taken by all willing to associate themselves with such an object.

In the meantime, the excellent move made by the Women's Institutes starts the ball rolling, and it is certain that, whoever else may fail, the women will do an important work.

Dempsey and the Small Boy

"I hope Dempsey will win."

"Is that Dempsey?"

"Gee, didn't Dempsey hit him that time."

"Look, Dempsey's getting mad, now."

"He'll knock Tooney down soon now!"

"Was that Dempsey that won?"

One of the tragedies of the picture was that Dempsey, Alack, didn't win.

Dempsey had the small boy vote. Seemingly 90 per cent of them pulled for him. One heard all about the 15-seconds count over "Tooney," and the time he was "down for the count of nine." "Humph, Dempsey was only down for a count of one!"

Small boys couldn't always clearly distinguish the eminent fighters apart. But to them every good blow was by Dempsey. The leading was done by Dempsey. Dempsey also did all the clever feinting, the clever ducking, everything but the running away. It was a perfect mystery how the judges gave it to "that fellow Tooney!"

Dempsey's vogue with the small boy of course, reflects opinions largely from older sources, though the kiddie is sometimes a surprisingly independent thinker and picks his own heroes.

In adversity—and he certainly is in deep adversity, with a better man to face—Dempsey is more popular than he ever was in the height of his glory. In the majority of his battles as champion, he was the unpopular man in the ring. Now, by an astonishing reversal of public opinion, he is the object of a hero worship which the clean, clever man who wore khaki seems so far not to have evoked.

A Survey of the Skies

"Look to the Skies for Dawn," says Henry Ford, in advertising his all-metal planes, which he says have carried freight on scheduled flights 700,000 miles to date.

A recent survey of 100 American flying concerns, he says, have shown there were only two fatalities in 5,000,000 miles of flight.

That distance, if we come to figure it out, is approximately 650 times around the globe.

These stunt and individual flights are one thing.

Sane commercial flying, where stability, safety, and permanent service are the considerations, is something entirely different.

It is reasonable to imagine that the commercial air era is just beginning.

A young reader of this column has sent me the following letter to be published to help other engaged girls: "No engaged girl need worry about getting her hope chest filled in time, if she will do what my fiance and I did," she writes. "We got the hope chest habit—and by that I mean that we agreed to give up some of the ordinary pleasures such as movies and halts at soda water fountains, and put the same money into linens. When we would ordinarily have given each other gifts on a birthday or a holiday, instead we each contributed something for our future home. Indeed, my fiance became so enthusiastic about it all, that he gave me one piece of table silver each week, out of his salary. Now that we are married, we are not sorry that we sacrificed a little to equip our pretty home. When he use one of our plated teaspoons, we say to each other: 'This might have been an afternoon at the beach on a couple of pounds of candy.' Of course, I used my own business salary as freely as he did, for the hope chest.

"The way I started was this: I bought a large, ordinary clothes basket and placed it on my closet shelf. Each week, when my fiance and I bought some little thing, I tossed it into this basket and then joyfully struck the name of it off the list I had typewritten of 'Things Needed.' For instance, if we could only buy one dish towel at a time, or one pillow case, we got that. It was surprising how fast the things accumulated; Here is a complete list of all the linens we got:

"One dozen sheets, 81 inches by 91. One dozen pillow cases, 42 inches by 38½. Four pillow cases, embroidered (for company), measuring the same. Three white spreads. Two pairs of pure wool blankets, costing $15 a pair—expensive, yet of a quality which will last a lifetime and are warm enough to make it unnecessary to use more than one pair in zero weather. Two pure wool filled and silk covered puffs or ccmfortables (these usually cost about $25 in most stores, but we were lucky enough to find a slightly shopworn matching pair for much less!) Two tablecloths with napkins to match. Two luncheon sets. Several glass toweling breakfast sets. Covers for bureaus, buffet, etcetera. One dozen Turkish towels, one dozen face towels, a bath mat, two mattress pads and mattress covers, plenty of dish towels, dust cloths, and materials for two old rose silk over spreads for the two beds, which will keep the white spreads and pillow cases clean and also will match room color scheme—I am making these spreads now."

Common Sense in Eating

While it is really a splendid thing that so many folks are thinking about the choice of food today more than ever before, this food fad business can be very much overdone and only harm result.

In these days when it is possible to get enough food and practically every variety of food, it is certainly time to call a halt on the overeating that afflicts a large number of people.

We were given digestive organs which are really enough to let us live on just one meal a day, that is if we "filled up" the stomach at the one meal.

Beacuse in early times man, in hunting for food, often had to eat a big meal when he could get one, because it was possible that it might be some time before he found his next meal.

As this is not necessary now, many folks still think they have to get their "full" capacity at each meal.

Naturally advice that shows them the error of this is wholesome.

However, for healthy normal folks to be always wondering whether or not they have the exact number of calories and a sufficient quantity of vitamins in every meal they eat, is anxiety about food, can work more harm in the system than were they to a big mistake, because the worry, the simply go on eating a moderate amount of a mixed diet every day, as they have always done, and yet retained good health.

One physician tritely remarked recently that a number of healthy folks would soon be unhealthy if they began to think of food as something dangerous, that to be healthy they should "put very little into the stomach and take care to get it out again as quickly as possible.

That with the advice to eat lightly, and to be sure and have two or three intestinal movements daily, there was really a danger that the system would really not get the actual nourishment it requires."

That as there is a Heart society, and a Society to Combat Tuberculosis, there should be a Society of Common Sense, that would teach folks that moderation, temperance in eating, is really all that is necessary, that an all round mixed diet of fruits, vegetables, bread, eggs, with a fair portion of meat for the hard physical worker, and a small portion daily for others, about sums up the requirement for healthy people.

This business of giving a thin weak neurasthenic woman, the same diet as a heavy rotund overweight individual, doesn't fit in with his idea of common sense.

Foster's Weekly Weather Bulletin

WASHINGTON, D.C., Nov. 19.—Storm wave that is expected to cross continent during week centering on November 20, will be of only moderate intensity of storm force, but will be expected to move well down into southern states, probably reaching the Gulf; this storm wave will be expected to close a week of unusually stormy weather, generally over the northern continent and will be followed by the most extreme cold wave of month and of the season to date. A storm wave of moderate intensity will cross continent during week centering on November 25, following central transcontinental storm path; this storm wave will occur during a period of below normal temperatures and a general trend toward lower average temperatures. During storm periods centering on November 20 and 25, weather features will be more than usually severe on northern Pacific slope and cold wave during storm period of November threatens to move farther south than usual, probably reaching southern boundary of section 8 in west of Rockies country before moving eastward. A temporary decrease in precipitation is expected to occur in central and north Atlantic coast sections during last half of month; this includes present flood area.

Almost two months ago, forecasts in these bulletins, stated that areas, where heaviest precipitations would fall during present period, would be western Europe, north Atlantic coast of America, and north Pacific coast of America. Reports show that England and parts of western Europe, are passing through one of the wettest fall seasons in history; precipitation in north Atlantic coast sections is fresh in every mind, as disastrous floods are still raging in that area; I did not anticipate nor forecast these floods; precipitation on north Pacific slope has been above normal; parts of central cotton belt and southwest, where spring and early summer floods occurred, are now complaining of rainfall shortage. Precipitation is the most influential cropweather feature; the most accurate feature of my weather forecasts is also precipitation; no open mind can deny the value of such precipitation forecasts as those mentioned in first part of this paragraph. Readers should bear in mind that these forecasts are intended for general averages, extremes and conditions that would influence the welfare of growing crops, harvesting and general agriculture; weather features that would influence the general business of a given area. It is not expected that daily extremes, small, local storms, etc., will be accurately forecasted through these bulletins; such forecasts are left to the government weather bureaus who, with hundreds of employees every modern instrument and the expenditure of millions of dollars each year, should certainly be able to issue more accurate forecasts 36 hours in advance than my forecasts made two years in advance with my very limited means. The government bureau gives more than money's worth for every dollar spent on that bureau, yet I cannot help but think that, were it placed upon a self supporting basis, as Foster's weather bureau has been for more than 40 years past, they would have an extremely hard time selling sufficient of their wares to pay expenses.

A Dress that Sings "Bring Me a Rose"

IMOGENE, as she stands holding a flower in her hand does not realize, unless she is a very self-conscious little girl—and she looks far too well bred to be that—just how much she resembles a flower herself. The little frock, based on a foliage motif, is very rose-like, with its triple leafage at waist and cuffs. It seems much too lovely for school and would be in crepe de chine or a silk or satin crepe. But what class room would not be cheered by the presence of many frocks as simple and charming as this one? Made in light weight jersey with trimming bands of crepe de chine, velvet or satin to match, or in any light weight wool with a lighter or darker shade of the same material it could withstand the general wear and make tasks more pleasing. Its wide box pleats across the front are very smart. (Copyright, 1927, by Butterick)

Kaslo Prospectors Cannot See Where Mr. Drayton Got Facts for Mining Attack

To the Editor of The Daily News:

Sir—I have read Mr. Mulholland's letter with much interest in your issue of the 7th, also read Mr. Drayton's address to the people around Cranbrook, and felt the same way as Mr. Mulholland. In fact, I was thinking of writing to Mr. Drayton and asking him where he got his information from, as I feel sure he did not get it from his visits to the different mines and prospects in and around the Slocan, or otherwise he would have given a different address altogether, as we cannot get past facts.

I don't think it can be disputed that as far as the Slocan goes, and district within a radius of 100 miles, there is no place like it in the world as far as minerals go, that is, taking everything into consideration—climate, water power, timber, material, material for making cement, lime, in fact, everything that is needed for making big industries.

I am afraid Mr. Drayton has got misled, and the only way he can find that out is to make a number of trips and see for himself, as all work done around this district has certainly proved that so far the leads go down, and, our trouble is, will they go down so far as to make it too expensive mining in the future, or, as Mr. Mulholland says, will we have to go back to the prospector to find new ore bodies that can be taken out by gravity? If we had a quarter of the money that has been expended in the States in proving out their leads, put into the Slocan, Mr. Drayton would have had no need to give his address as regards the possibilities of the Slocan in general.

Alleged Burglar Has Female Attire Under His Own Clothing

VANCOUVER, Nov. 18.—Arrested on a charge of having broken into a New Westminster residence, Wilfred Lamley, Vancouver, was found to be wearing a complete outfit of women's clothing under his male attire, including corsets. TELLS SUNDAY SCHOOL GROWTH PRESBYTERIANS

Dr. Kaniawin Gives Figures Showing Great Recovery Since Disruption

Rev. W. M. Kanniwin, D.D., Toronto, secretary of the board of Sabbath schools and young people's societies of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, addressed an interested audience in the parlors of the First Presbyterian church on the activities of the church as he has seen the progress in his coast to coast visit.

Since the disruption in June, 1925, he found reported 164,000 members in the Presbyterian church, composed of 83,000 families, an increase of 7000 over the previous year. There had been raised $170,000 by the Women's Missionary society, and $408,000 for the budget, beside what had been given to Bible societies, making a total of $700,000 in one year for missionary activities of the church.

The need for building churches crippled the work vastly, while the work was also hindered by congregations having to use unsuitable places for worship; thus the minority groups were building.

In Prince Edward Island, said Dr. Kanniwin, with a population of 95,000, there were 17 Presbyterian congregations organized, as well as 30 preaching places.

Saskatchewan, where the Presbyterian church was disrupted more than any other province probably, had only 11 congregations left, and only one church left, which building was moved into Saskatoon. There were now seven Presbyterian Sunday schools in Saskatoon, with an eighth in view.

ONTARIO HARDLY KNOWS OF IT

In Ontario, with Hamilton leading, having 75 per cent of its churches remaining Presbyterian; Barrie, not far behind; and Toronto having 35 per cent, there was scarcely knowledge that there had been a union.

The Sunday schools were found to have an enrollment of 116,817 pupils, an increase of 110,880 over the previous year. There were 11,500 teachers and officers. From these schools was raised $163,943 for all purposes, with $32,700 given to missions.

Dr. Kanniwin urged that every Sunday school have a definite missionary object.

What Is Being Done About the Infantile Paralysis Parent Asks of Authorities

To the Editor of The Daily News:

Sir—What are we doing in regard to the infantile paralysis situation? This question must be answered very unsatisfactorily in the minds of the parents of Nelson children. That the situation is serious, and much more serious today, than at any previous time during the school term, must be recognized by everyone.

The question is, Are we justified in sending our children to common meeting grounds, in schools and public places, when at this moment one or a dozen children who have been contacts directly or indirectly with definite cases now in town, may be sickening for the disease, and in a condition to pass it on to others?

Once a case is diagnosed and put into isolation, it ceases to be a danger to others, but while it is at school or mixing with the public, though not ill enough to be under observation, it may be spreading this dread disease to your child or mine.

It is to be regretted that the closing of the schools may mean the failure of pupils in the spring examinations, but is the success, or failure, of every pupil in British Columbia, to be weighed against the sacrifice of one life or the permanent deformity of one little body? I feel sure that every parent would say, "no!"

Naturally the children themselves are anxious to attend school; youth is not cautious, and we love their brave spirit, but we must protect them. Every where one goes one hears others saying that they feel the "ban" should be inforced, and still nothing is done about it! In the meantime we have "six cases in as many days." We will have to think deeply and act quickly or we may have a situation here that will trouble our consciences for many years to come.

A. PARENT.

Nelson, B.C., November 18, 1927.

[Note—The six cases referred to by A Parent were those of Paul Roberge, Eunice Moore, Eugenie Maglio and Douglas Carter of Nelson; Lucille James, of Longbeach, and Loujean Robinson of Benton Siding. Little Lucille died.—Ed.]

SOCIETY

This column is conducted by Mrs. M. J. Vigneux. All news of a social nature, including receptions, private entertainments, personal items, marriages, etc., will appear in this column. Telephone Mrs. Vigneux at her home on Silica street.

The old superstition concerning the unluckiness of Friday was most certainly dispelled when exceptional success attended the tea and sale of home-baking in the afternoon, and the very popular dance in the evening, held in Memorial hall by the Church Helpers of St. Saviour's church. Mrs. Fred H. Graham's circle was in charge of the tea arrangements, of which Mrs. E. R. Redpath was convener. Tea was served in the lower hall, where the tea table, presided over by Mrs. C. R. Hamilton and Mrs. Hugh W. Robertson during the first hour, and by Mrs. George A. Hunter and Mrs. A. B. Bennett, the second hour, was adorned by beautiful chrysanthemums, the gift of Mrs. E. Grizzelle. Mrs. W. J. Astley and Mrs. F. R. Pritchard ushered the guests to the smaller tea tables, decorated with effectively arranged chrysanthemums, the gift of Mrs. George A., Hunter. Serviteurs were Mrs. A. J. Cornish, Mrs. A. J. Dunnett, Mrs. William Fotheringham, Mrs. H. B. Gore, Mrs. George Horstead, Mrs. T. E. Maddock, Mrs. P. G. Morey, Mrs. William Rockliffe, Mrs. A. B. Sharpe, Mrs. H. R. Townsend, Mrs. E. Steel, Mrs. F. C. Smith and Mrs. Gerald S. Rees. The well-patronized home-baking table was in charge of Mrs. S. J. Towgood's circle and was under the supervision of Mrs. S. J. Towgood, Mrs. D. O. Thomas and Mrs. Gordon Hallett. Mrs. Harold Lakes' circle was responsible for the truly excellent program given in the upper hall twice during the afternoon, for the effective decorations in that hall, and for the lucky number dance which a large number attended in the evening. In the afternoon the following numbers delighted the many guests: a vocal solo, "The Lilac Tree" by Miss Esther Donaghy; vocal solos, "Down Here" and "The Snow-man," by Miss Mary Jarvis; Mrs. C. W. Tyler's vocal solos, "Smiles" and "The Big Brown Bear"; Miss Esther Nordman's pianoforte solos, "Romance" and "The Witches' Dance"; and two novelty dance and song acts, "Miss Annabelle Lee" and "What Do We Do on a Dew-Dew Dewy Day," by Miss Dorothea Graham, Miss Ruth Craufurd, Miss Irene Edmondson and Miss Nipper Benson. This number was repeated at the dance in the evening and evoked enthusiastic applause. Chinese lanterns and parasols decorated the hall for the dance, one particularly enormous umbrella being suspended over the orchestra. At midnight the drawing for some 28 lucky number prizes created much excitement.

Mrs. Robert Armstrong and her daughter, Miss Dorothy Armstrong, were hostesses at a delightful reception yesterday afternoon at their home on Railway street. Infant Care

Mothers, you can't start too early to establish a child's serene and tranquil disposition. Even an infant can have a happy, fretless state of uninterrupted health. What will help do this? A simple, purely vegetable product as old as you are: plain Castoria.

A few drops of Castoria will settle baby's uneasiness in a jiffy. Will dispel colic or ward off constipation; and prevent as surely check diarrhea.

When real sickness, call a physician. But many physicians urge only Castoria for these little childish disorders that need nothing more. You need never be afraid to give pure Castoria. It is safe and perfectly harmless, for it contains no paregoric, no opiates, no dope of any kind. At least, this is true of the genuine Fletcher's Castoria*—and that is the kind doctors tell you always to buy.

Fletcher's Castoria is fine for any child. All children love to take it. Delicious tasting, and as good as it tastes. Just look for the Fletcher signature on the package and you will know you have the genuine and pure Castoria.

*SPECIAL NOTE: With every bottle of genuine Fletcher's Castoria is wrapped a book on "Care and Feeding of Babies" worth its weight in gold to every mother or prospective mother.

When Pain Comes

Two hours after eating

That many people call indigestion often means excess acid in the stomach. The stomach nerves have an over-stimulated, and food sours. A corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes acids instantly. And the best all known to medical science is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has retained the standard with physicians in over 50 years since its invention.

One spoonful of this harmless, tasteless alkali in water will neutralize instantly many times as much acid, and the symptoms disappear at once. You will never use crude methods when once you learn the efficiency of this. Go get a small bottle to try.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. Each bottle contains full directions—any drugstore.

JOY

By BARBARA WEBB

A STORY OF LOVE, TRIAL, TEMPTATIONS AND TRIUMPHS

SYNOPSIS

This is the story of Joyce Daring, and how she worked out her fate when she lost her home by the separation of her parents. Her problem is complicated by "Butch" Seltzer a gangster, who is mad about her, and who jealously fights her lover, Henry Deacon, for her. In the fight, Agnes Daring, Joyce's mother, is hurt. Fearful of death, Mrs. Daring tells Joyce how she had become a tool of a bootleg ring and was in the power of Seltzer, a leader in the ring. Joyce hopes to effect a reconciliation between her parents when her father, John Daring, gives of his blood to save his wife's life, but the family is split wider by the mysterious disappearance of Mrs. Daring. Joyce dedicates five thousand dollars her mother had left her to finding her, and loses much precious time with young Deacon, who leaves to finish his work at college. The field is left clear to David Tompkins, a childhood admirer, and to Carter Deland, a man about town and an older friend of young Deacon's. It was Deland young Deacon feared, and not the other boy, as he left for college.

CHAPTER XXI.

SHOPPING

Carter Deland lost no time in presenting himself to Joyce again.

He stopped her as she was leaving the board the next afternoon.

"Hello, there, Miss Daring. This has been a long summer for me, without a sight of you." He made his customary bow.

"That's nice of you," said Joy dimpling.

"And what are you doing with yourself this bright afternoon?"

"I'm going a-shopping, sir," she said. Joyce answered with a little curtsey.

"May I go with you, my pretty maid?" He came a little closer to her. "I mean that you know. You're going out to look for a dress that you can wear in the afternoon and maybe to the movies in the evening. It must be simple enough so you can wear it to work, and smart enough so you can feel dressed up in it. You're going to spend about twenty-five dollars for it. Am I right?"

Joyce gasped. "You are," she said, "but how did you guess?"

"Oh, I often help my friends buy their clothes. They tell me I have very good taste. And their husbands find shopping with their wives tedious."

While Joyce stood hesitating Mrs. Fitz-Simmons, accompanied by Miss Truesdale, came up.

"Dear Mrs. Fitz-Simons," said Carter, "help me please. Miss Daring here is going out to buy a new frock and I want her to let me go along to tell her whether her choice is becoming or not. Persuade her that I often do such errands."

"How lovely of you, Carter," cried Mrs. Fitz-Simons. "Really, Miss Daring, Carter has wonderful taste. It's a real opportunity for him to go with you. He is quite an authority on dyes and colors and the art of dress. She should wear blues and soft greens well, don't you think?"

"She should wear black. Her hair has a glint of red, her colpring is clear pink and white, rather than the dusky cream of the true brunette, and her eyes are a blue grey, rather than the mottled shade which results from a mixture of grey and brown," Carter answered enumerating Joy's characteristics much as he might have valued a portrait.

"Very interesting," Miss Truesdale murmured.

"Do get a black dress, Miss Daring," said Mrs. Fitz-Simons. "I should love to see you in black if Carter says it is the color for you."

"Well, we might be getting on," said Carter, giving Joy's elbow a gentle push. "Good afternoon, ladies. I'll see you again today, I hope."

And Joyce, hardly knowing how it happened, was out on Euclid avenue with Carter Deland at her side. They turned toward the shopping center.

Carter guided her into the doorway of a department store.

Joyce suddenly felt very small and wished she had a thousand dollars to spend.

The clerks apparently knew Carter, for the department head hurried up to speak to him.

"We want something in the way of a combination afternoon and street dress," he said. "Something very moderately priced, say $25."

The clerk looked disappointed. But she obligingly brought out several frocks of serge, one of satin, some fine twills. Carter indicated two of them with his cane. "Try those on," he said to Joyce.

Joyce, feeling very meek, went into the fitting room. One that she liked very much was a tan twill, bound in flat sand colored ribbon. She thought she looked very pretty, and paraded out to show Carter, quite sure of being complimented. But he did not even smile at her.

She went back to the fitting room. Carter called the department head over to him and talked to her for a few minutes. She disappeared to the region of the stock room and Carter waited for Joyce to emerge in another frock.

Joyce could hardly wait for the time to go home the next day. Her lovely new dress would be there, waiting for her. She could scarcely believe that it was as pretty as she had thought it the day before. And how magical it seemed to have her $25 still in her pocketbook.

"Dear Miss Daring, I am pining for a view of your new frock with you in it. Could I stop for you at four-thirty and take you for a drive with dinner afterward? I shall arrive very promptly for you. C. D."

"I won't go. Such high handed manners. Doesn't even ask for an answer. Just takes it for granted that I'll go," Joyce said to herself.

She took it from its tissue wrapping and held it up to her shoulders. Then she slipped out of her office dress and put the new one on. It was just as she had remembered it. Lovely, youthful, fascinating. It fairly called to her to go adventuring.

She looked into the mirror. "But it makes me need new shoes, a new hat, and pretty underwear, silk hosiery and vests and new gloves. I suppose I might spend the twenty-five dollars that I still have for these things." The time when a bill would be rendered for this magic dress seemed far away indeed. While she was considering all the new things she would need to match the dress the door bell rang.

"Gentleman to see you, Miss Daring," said Mrs. Jenkins sourly. She did not take the girls leaving very graciously.

Bewitched by the new dress Joyce ran downstairs. "In just a minute, Mr. Deland," she said. "I'll get my hat."

Back in her room she adjusted the precious watch, hung the amethyst around her neck, thought with a pang that she hadn't written to Deke since he had left, and caught up the vanity case. To her own eyes she looked very smart. She danced down the steps and almost in Carter Deland's arms.

"Do you like it?" she asked.

"I like you in it," he said. To himself he added, "she needs a hat, some slippers and just the right shade of blond stockings. Then she will be irresistible, even to me."

They drove out into the late fall sunshine and cruised through the boulevards and parks until seven. Then Carter took her to a small select restaurant and asked her what she would like to eat.

Joyce looked at the long menu in French. There were so many things she would like to taste, hors doeuvres, bombe glace, filet mignon.

Now Carter was murmuring strange names to the waiter who bowed and moved silently away.

"Well, is my little Joyce hungry? If she's as hungry as she is pretty she will eat everything in sight. Ah, there are some other friends of ours." He bowed to Miss Truesdale, who, with Mrs. Fitz-Simmons and Judge Perkins and an unknown fourth man, were seating themselves at a nearby table.

Miss Truesdale scanned Joyce closely. Mrs. Fitz-Simmons smiled and waved her hand. Judge Perkins inclined his head with his usual gravity. The fourth man asked, "Who's the pretty thing Carter has in tow now?"

The dinner was delicious. Carter exerted himself to be entertaining. When the meal was over he drove Joyce home, making no suggestion that they spend the evening together. Joyce felt disappointed.

Gladys was lying down in the room when Joyce went in. "Had a headache and came home," she explained "Good night, Joyce. What have you got on?"

She sat up in bed and looked at Joyce in her finery. "Come here." She felt of the fine soft charmeen. "What'd you pay for it?"

"Twenty-five dollars," Joyce wondered why it suddenly seemed so very small a sum to mention.

"Oh, hell," said Gladys. "I wasn't born yesterday. Deke buy it for you? What'd it cost?"

"I bought it myself, I tell you," said Joyce. "And it cost twenty-five dollars just like I said. Mr. Deland picked it out."

"I thought so," said Gladys nodding her head. "Joyce, you poor baby, don't you know that dress cost at least a hundred dollars? Maybe a hundred and fifty? If you've got any sense you'll send it back to him tomorrow."

TOMORROW—When a girl goes shopping with an older man, and finds she has a dress worth six times what she paid for it, what should she do with the dress? Send it back, or keep it? Read tomorrow's absorbing instalment of "JOY," the love story of an American girl.

British Investment Stocks Show Little Change During Week

LONDON, Nov. 18.—Leading British and Dominion investment stocks have shown little change from recent quotations. Among the British industrial stocks, Talkink Machines, which have been very popular recently, have become quieter in a stock exchange sense.

Home rails stocks remain lifeless on the market, as a result of the gross traffic of the railways not being of an encouraging nature.

Safe Now When Others Come Close!

The Secret of Keeping a Perspiring Body Sweet

Do you know why thousands of people who never have to take a laxative, do eat a candy cascaret now and then.

They have found that cascara sweetens the whole system—brings an immaculacy of person that means everything. It prevents bodily chemistry from ever making one unconsciously offensive to others. And what a perfect regulator of the bowels!

Salts affect the lining of the bowels. Mineral oils leave a coating that the blood must carry off through the pores. How much better to cascarize the system, and cause the bowels to expel everything by normal muscular contraction! To say nothing of the cleaner, sweeter condition that lasts for days—a wholesome condition that makes the use of deodorants quite unnecessary in January or July! Men and women whose years have brought on sluggishness often find that a cascaret only once a week is all the tonic they need.

Cascara is splendid for children, too, and they love the taste of this candy laxative which every drug store has for 10c and 25c.

"ONE DANCE used to undo all my precautions for personal daintiness. All waste in my system seemed to come out through the pores. Today, I don't worry; I keep clean all through, with just occasional use of—

QUEENS ALL READY FOR BIG BATTLE

Snow and Freezing Overcomes Steady Rain; Field in Bad Shape

KINGSTON, Ont., Nov. 18.—A sudden drop in temperature today, resulting in freezing weather was welcomed by Queens team, and the half inch of snow that fell was a change from continued rain. About 10 o'clock the sun came out and for tomorrow's game with Hamilton Tigers it will not be as bad as expected. Today the field was in bad shape, but unless rain comes again, several tons of sawdust should help to make the footing more surer. Queens were out at 6:30 a.m. for their usual run and "setting up" exercises. This afternoon the team had another hard practice at the Stadium with a signal practice winding up the week's work.

YALE PICKED TO BEAT HARVARD

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—The traditional rivalry between Yale and Harvard tomorrow at Cambridge, with the Elis confident of a victory that will keep them at the top of the heap, overshadows the rest of the gridiron activity along the Atlantic seaboard.

The team that conquered Dartmouth and the Army is a top-heavy favorite to defeat the erratic crimson eleven. Nevertheless, in a game where so much ancient rivalry is involved, Harvard is conceded at least a fighting chance of scoring an upset that would tumble the Elis down the scale.

Both the blue and crimson have been handicapped by injuries to stars, but Yale appears to have the stronger reserves in the line, as well as the backfield.

Kitchener Defeats London to Take the Lead in Canadian Race

KITCHENER, Ont., Nov. 18.—Defeating London, present champions of the Canadian professional hockey league, by 2 to 1 here tonight, the Kitchener Millionaires gained the leadership of the league. The game was a fast and hectic exhibition of hockey with the winning goal coming after 6 minutes and 25 seconds of overtime play.

The 1500 fans who attended were treated to a fine display.

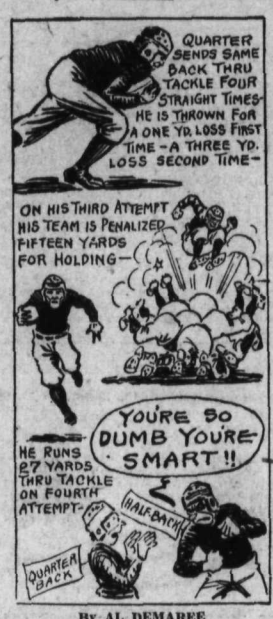
WET FIELD FOR VANCOUVER GAME

Rough Riders Meet Varsity in Second Encounter for the Rugger Title

VANCOUVER, Nov. 18.—The playing field at Athletic park will again be soft and wet when the Regina Rough Riders and University of British Columbia take the field tomorrow afternoon in the second game of the western Canada rugby championship. Rain late today, and predicted showers for tomorrow will make playing conditions similar to the first game on Wednesday. Both teams are reported fit. Varsity will line up determined to make a great effort to even up the series, and with the experience gained in the first encounter, the students expect to give the prairie champions the game of their lives. On the other hand, the Rough Riders are confident that they will emerge victors from the struggle to tuck away the western title.

Regina's line will be strengthened considerably with Urness in his regular position at right inside, and Creighton and Boyle at left inside and middle, respectively.

Strategy Is Wrong Play at Right Time



By AL DEMAREE
(Former Pitcher New York Giants)

Strategy may be said to be doing the wrong thing at the right time. Here is a little story that proves the efficacy of this kind of strategy.

In the game between the University of Chicago and Indiana University this fall the Maroon quarterback called for Vin Libby, star halfback, to take the ball through tackle. Libby plunged at tackle and gained a yard.

On the next play, the Maroon quarter sent Libby at the same tackle, and he was stopped, the Maroons at the same time drawing a penalty of 15 yards for holding.

On third down, it seemed that any pla in the category would be good except Libby at tackle, but that was exactly the play the Maroon quarter called, and Libby broke through for 27 yards and first down!

RAVINAS DEFEAT THE HORNETS; POOR CROWD

TORONTO, Nov. 18.—Ravinas made an impressive home debut in the Canadian pro hockey league here tonight when they defeated Windsor Hornets 4-2. A small crowd attended.

TAMPA, Fla., Nov. 18.—Jack Renault, Canadian heavyweight, won a judge's decision over Leo Gates, Mohawk Indian, in a 10-round bout here tonight. The winner barely missed scoring a knockout over Gates in the ninth round.

Gives Crowd "Sensational Suicide" as He Promised

BURLINGTON, Ont., Nov. 18.—"A case of temporary insanity" was the way Chief of Police Smith described the death of W. W. Boyd, who plunged from a telegraph pole here on Sunday after calmly announcing to a gathering of onlookers that he would commit suicide. Boyd had suffered from a nervous ailment for two years and left Hamilton General hospital on Thursday night. On Sunday Boyd, who was 51 years of age, climbed to the top of the pole and with a rope around his waist and a lightning rod in his hand, addressed the crowd and detailed the manner in which he would suicide. "I am going to give you the most sensational suicide you ever had," he said. Before he concluded speaking, however, the lightning rod touched a high tension wire and the current leaped through it, burning him and throwing him to the ground. He was married and died in the hospital a few hours later.

FOUR MEN GO TO DEATHS IN PRISON CHAIR

All Protest Innocence; Trenton Exeecutions Take Half an Hour

TRENTON, N.J., Nov. 18. — In the space of exactly half an hour four men were put to death tonight in the electric chair in state prison for the murder of George F. Condit, paymaster for the Reid Ice Cream company, in Newark, July 19, 1926. Each died with vehement declarations of innocence.

The men were: Joseph "Big Joe" Juliano, Christopher Barone, Joseph "Little Joe" Juliano and Louis "Kid Ruff" Capozzi, all of New York, and they died in the order named.

The executions began at 7:54 and ended at 8:24, with one of the largest crowds ever forced into the death chamber, and little semblance of order. "Big Joe," a cousin of "Little Joe," entered first, staring about him dazedly and speaking incoherently until guards ordered him to "Sit down, Joe." "I'm as innocent as God!" he shouted. "Let's go, boys. The police framed me, and I die innocent."

ONLY NERVOUS MAN

Juliano, the second to go to the electric chair, was the only one of the four who appeared nervous, and was incoherent in his protestations of innocence. Prison attaches said the other men ate of their last meals, while his remained untouched.

Capozzi walked in steadily, and, facing the death jury, said firmly: "Captain Brex (former chief of the Newark detective bureau) is the cause of this killing of me. Please protect my mother, she is innocent."

"Little Joe" walked in with a half smile on his lips. His head was high as he talked.

"I want the men, who ever committed this crime," he declared, "to come forward off their dying beds and clear by name, the name of my folks, and my wife's name. I wouldn't die with a lie on my lips. I'm as innocent as God."

The only man of the four to leave a widow, "Little Joe" handed the priest a trinket, with the request that it be given to her.

It was the first time in the history of the administration of criminal law in New Jersey that four men were put to death for the slaying of one, and the second time that such a number were executed on one night.

The men were convicted of the slaying of Condit in a holdup at the Reid ice cream plant in Mount Prospent avenue, mainly on the testimony of Robert Boudreau, a fifth member of the gang, who drove their automobile.

Boudreau was recently sentenced to 15 years in prison.

BLACKNESS WINNER OF THE DERBY CUP

DERBY, England, Nov. 18.—Gerald H. Deane's 3-year-old colt Blackness won the Derby cup handicap today by a neck from Reid Walker's 5-year-old Ivershin.

SULTAN IS BURIED; SUCCESSOR NAMED

Seventeen-Year-Old is Moslem Head; Deep Mourning Is Changed to Cheers

FEZ, Morocco, Nov. 18. — Three hours after Mulai Yuseff, late sultan of Morocco was laid in the mosque of Sidi Abdullah today for his final rest, his third son, Mulai Mohammed Ben Annalah, aged 17, was proclaimed his successor by Moslem leaders and tribesmen assembled for the purpose.

Moors, Arabs and all the rest of the Moslem world are now engaged in giving a practical demonstration of an old-time cry of which they probably never heard: "The king is dead; long live the king." For joy was unconfined in Fez tonight.

The citizens of this western capital of Islam were dancing in the streets this evening.

Official weepers who this morning escorted the palanquin bearing the body of the late sultan, with tears and groans, in the evening became official cheerers, leading cotillions in the streets and squares of Fez.

Yuseff's third son, a highly intelligent youngster, is said to be acceptable to the French protectorate. The new sultan will make his official entry into Rabat, seat of the sultanate and the French residency, probably Monday or Tuesday.

THE PAS MAKES READY FOR RACE

Dog Derby With Many Entrants Will Be Run During March

THE PAS, Man., Nov. 18.—Preparations for the 1928 The Pas dog derby, a 120-mile event which attracts international attention, now are under way, and "mushers" of the north country, many of whom have gained victories in the United States and Canada, are preparing their "huskies" for the annual training grind which precedes the running of the northland classic.

The derby, held in conjunction with The Pas winter carnival, will be held on March 13 to 15, inclusive, 40 miles a day being traveled by the racers over the course on the Saskatchewan river.

An endurance race of 100 miles — 50 miles a day — for "commercial dog teams"—the huskies who pull the supplies for the hunters and prospectors—will be a feature of the 1928 carnival.

Five teams from northern Manitoba will compete in eastern dog classics this winter, having entered for the derby in New Hampshire, Quebec and Montreal. The entrants are Emil St. Goddard, Leo St. Goddard, "Shorty" Russick, Earl Brydges and Harry Olensky, all of whom have wonderfully fast teams.

MONTREAL, Nov. 18.—A delegation will wait on Hon. W. R. Motherwell, minister of agriculture, at Ottawa, to urge on him the need of appointing at once more federal inspectors to prevent the sale of adulterated butter in stores in Montreal.

WARNS AGAINST BANKERS' SHARES

Vice-President of Ford of Canada Disassociates Company From Scheme

Warning that the Ford Motor Company of Canada, limited, is in no way associated with and does not countenance a campaign by a United States house to sell "bankers shares" secured a capital stock of Ford of Canada, has been issued by W. R. Campbell, vice-president and treasurer of the Ford Motor Company of Canada, in response to numerous requests from Canadian investors for information.

The literature circulated by this stock-selling company, Mr. Campbell said, may lead unwary investors to suppose that they are buying the capital stock of Ford of Canada. Actually they are offered "bankers shares" one hundred of which are presumed to be issued against each share of Ford stock deposited by the issuers with a trust company. As these shares are sold at $10 each and the present market for Ford stock is in the neighborhood of $585, the "bankers shares" are being sold at considerably more than the corresponding stock market value of Ford shares.

Asked if the Ford Motor Company of Canada can do nothing to stop this stock selling stated that two years ago, when another organization began similar activities his company was successful in securing a temporary restraining order from the New York State attorney-general. The result was that the company immediately suspended and was quickly replaced by another. Concerns of this nature can be so quickly organized and require so little capital that it would be impossible to keep pace with them through the issuance of restraining orders.

Data relating to Ford of Canada's growth and activities is used in a prospectus sent out by the American stock selling organization. This information, Mr. Campbell stated is used entirely without authority and the Ford Motor Company of Canada emphatically recommends against the purchase of these fractional shares.

BOARD WON'T BE REPRESENTED AT WATER HEARINGS

Creston Reclamation Won't Affect City; Power Dam Won't Hurt Idaho

WEATHER STATION OF TELEGRAPH STATUS

Board Will Make Proposition Concerning University Lectures

That Nelson had no material interest for or against the application of the Creston Reclamation company, which is to be heard here by the international waterways commission, November 29, was the view expressed by the board of trade council at its fortnightly luncheon Thursday, and which resulted in a decision not to be formally represented at the hearing.

On the application of the West Kootenay Power & Light company, in connection with the proposed Granite dam, President C. F. McHardy said Nelson's interest was to see the project carried out.

W. J. E. Biker, a company engineer, informed the council he was over the West Kootenay Flats area in September, with the Idaho state engineer, taking levels, and that their levels showed the work at Granite could not prejudice any of the reclamation undertakings.

ENCOURAGING CANADIAN COAL

A resolution from the Drumheller board of trade, proposing special freight rates on basic products, in this case assumed to be coal, was in practically identical terms with one from the Edmonton board, which the Nelson board at its monthly luncheon last week referred to its natural resources committee for attention. It was decided to advise Drumheller that the Edmonton resolution was being studied with a view to appropriate action.

President McHardy reported that Colonel F. Napier Denison, assistant director of the observatory at Victoria, advised the board that Nelson was to be made a telegraph reporting station, for meteorological purposes. Mr. McHardy said the colonel forwarded his letter, and one from the district forester here, to the director, with the result that the change was made.

UNIVERSITY LECTURES

Dr. E. C. Arthur, chairman of the committee named to go into the matter of university lectures here this winter, reported that the committee, after consulting two members of the library board, one of whom was favorably impressed and one disgusted, went over the list of subjects and lecturers the university gave as available, with the result that he, for one, wanted nothing to do with it. He suggested that the board write the university extension committee to see if Nelson could get a lecturer for any one of three periods, instead of being obliged to take a series.

He was authorized to carry on, and to have the letter written as he had indicated.

A letter from the Kamloops board of trade, suggesting an expedient that approximated health insurance, was filed, it being pointed out that commerical insurance of health was open to anyone now.

MAY LENGTHEN SCHOOL DAY TO CATCH UP WORK

Permission Granted to Extend 15 to 30 Minutes; Holidays Are Shortened

Nelson school days may be lengthened by 15 to 30 minutes should the teaching staffs consider it in the interests of pupils, who lost a great deal of time through closing of the schools to avoid infection of pupils with infantile paralysis. Permission to do this was contained in a letter received by the board last night from S. J. Willis, superintendent of education.

A bulletin from superintendent's office stated Christmas holidays this year would be from December 22 to January 3, the usual two weeks being shortened on account of the loss of time during the paralysis epidemic.

PREMIERS' MEET WILL RESULT IN CANADIAN UNITY

MacLean Says Conference Has Shown That Canadians Are Thinking Nationally

VICTORIA, Nov. 18. — The recent gathering of provincial representatives in Ottawa will produce rich results for every part of Canada, Premier MacLean told the Canadian club at its luncheon here today. The results of the conference, he said, would be felt in an increasing understanding among Canadians, in a stronger national spirit, in a readjustment of provincial decisions and irritations. The conference had shown, he declared, that Canada was thinking nationally as never before, that all the provinces were willing to make concessions in order to help one another. From these positive offers of cooperation, the Canadian government and the Canadian parliament, he predicted, would work out solutions for all problems facing the Dominion.

From the standpoint of British Columbia, the premier said, one of the chief features of the conference was its clear revelations of western Canada's attitude toward the country as a whole. Ideas prevalent in the east that the west was selfish and radical had disappeared entirely when western representatives explained their stand on national issues. Western Canadians had shown that they were as good Canadians and as good Britishers as anyone in the east.

Altogether, in moulding a Canadian spirit and promoting the development of a great country, the conference had been one of the most momentous gatherings in the history of the Dominion, the premier affirmed.

Pools Take Issues Up to New Highs; Packard and Hupp Up

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—The line of least resistance in today's stock market, was again upward. Many issues gained one to three points.

Pools, succeeded in taking up more than a score individual issues to new highs for the year or longer.

Packard and Hupp Motors both touched new 1927 highs. Mack Trucks was run up 3½ points to 108½. General Motors, selling (ex-dividend) 2¾, was run up to 131¾, a gain of 1¾. United States Cast Iron Pipe was one of the most spectacular of the individual performers soaring 12 points to 220¾. Commercial Solvents rallied 7 points today. Heavy buying in Pan-American issues followed the announcement of a Mexican court decision, in favor of its subsidiary Mexican Petroleum. Except for the establishment of new highs by Norfolk and New Haven preferred and the weakness of Reading, there was little interest in the rail group.

Call money ruled steady at 3½ per cent all day. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

RURAL DEANERY MEETS, CRESTON

Papers Presented Cause Discussion; Will Meet Next Year at Fernie

CRESTON, B.C., Nov. 18. — The fall meeting of the Anglican rural deanery of Cranbrook was concluded here at noon today, following quite a busy two days' session for the clergy of the deanery, who assembled for the opening session on Wednesday night at Christ church rectory, with the rural dean, Rev. H. U. Oswald of Fernie, presiding throughout.

Wednesday night's gathering was a practical one, at which the block assessment schedule for the deanery was considered at great length.

On Thursday morning the rural dean was celebrant at holy communion, and after breakfast the morning session was spent hearing a splendidly prepared paper on "The Rule of Life," submitted by the rector of Kimberley, Rev. W. J. Crick, whose paper was freely discussed.

In the afternoon, Rev. S. Newby, rector of Creston, read a paper on "The Lausanne Conference," which also showed careful preparation, and provoked a lively discussion.

PARISHIONERS OUT

Thursday evening the parishioners of Creston and district were invited to a whist in the parish hall, where they had opportunity to meet the visiting clergy and to enjoy the open-handed hospitality of the committee of ladies who had charge of affairs.

On Friday morning Rev. A. Garlick, rector of Michel, was celebrant at the communion service, and the moring was a very practical one, having presented to it a paper on "Parochial Problems," by former rural dean Rev. F. V. Harrison of Cranbrook.

Letters of regret at their inability to attend were received from Rev. Mr. Holmes of Invermere and Rev. W. E. Thatcher of Golden. The spring meeting of the deanery will be at Fernie.

Before adjournment a hearty vote of thanks was carried in appreciation of the work of the ladies who catered for the deanery, and all those who had assisted in any way in making the meeting such a success.

HAVE YOU YOUR HEADACHE TODAY?

Fortunate ones will smile at this title, while others—less fortunate—will sadly admit of the daily headaches they have.

We do not relieve all headaches, for all are not eye headaches, but we have been relieving so many that we want those who have to put up with the daily headache to know about it, and to bring in their headache, that they might get the relief that means so much to them—their health and their eyes.
