BAILS TOTAL TO $150,000

olloway Granted $100,000 Bail on Arrival, Calgary

gary Board of Trade Lays a New Charge

LLOWAY, MILLS TO APPEAR TODAY

ree Provinces Join in a General Investigation

WINNIPEG, Jan. 14.—Three vinces today had joined in eneral investigation of brok- ge and financial house con- ions. The government of On- io announced that a survey ecting companies in the city Ottawa would commence to- rrow. Audit of two com- nies' books is progressing in nitoba. In Alberta, charges being preferred against ominent Canadian brokers. In each of the three prov- ces, the government moves being taken under author- of the Provincial Security auds Prevention act. Saskat- ewan, where an act parallel that of Ontario, Manitoba d Alberta is in force, is con- dering the situation, but has ceived no complaints. Enact- nt of similar legislation is ing planned by British Co- mbia.

arvey Mills, vice-president of the nada-wide brokerage firm of Sollo- y-Mills, limited, was released on of $50,000 today after appearance provincial police court at Calgary. Wednesday he will face a charge conspiring to do civil wrong to rs persons" together with Isaac C. Soloway, president of the here. Solloway is expected to h Calgary tonight or tomorrow hing.

e common law charge against Solloway-Mills heads was initiated the department of the attorney- al, but a new figure entered the rta field today, Calgary stock ex- nge brought a charge of false pre- es against S. W. Gilfoy, head of firm of that name. After a brief liminary hearing, Mr. Gilfoy was anded until Friday and released on of $5000.

MOVE YET

J. Frawley, of the Alberta de- ment of the attorney-general, did indicate whether or not warrants ld be sworn out against other ary brokers. It is known that Mr. wley conferred with stock exchange cials prior to the arrest of Mr. oy. Mr. Frawley stated that no ther charges would be laid against two Solloway-Mills executives un- Wednesday; meanwhile, he said, nsel for the crown is devoting attention to proposed additional rges against Mr. Solloway and Mr. s.

e Winnipeg branch offices of Sol- ay-Mills, limited, and Stobie, For- , Matthews, limited, had opened r books to auditors appointed by attorney-generals department. No rges have been brought against er organization. It is stated by R. Cottingham, chairman of the nicipal and provincial utility board Manitoba, that the check-up on companies' records is being made ascertain whether brokerage meth- are being conducted according to ute.

RTAIN COMPLAINTS"

Certain complaints" directed to the tario department of the attorney- eral occasioned the financial sur- which is to commence tomorrow. e probe involves several matters cting companies and brokers in the of Ottawa and district, and it expected to continue for two or ee days. Col. W. W. Dennison, ncial registrar, and Norman Harris, ancial adviser, to the department the attorney-general, will conduct inquiry.

n connection with the province- ded activity in connection with kerage methods, it is recalled that minion-incorporated companies are subject to control of the prov- es. Several years ago, request by the vinces for the right was refused the grounds that they themselves not have in force necessary legis- ion to cover the situation. If the eral provinces adopt the Security uds Prevention act, it is con- ered probable that a concerted ef- to seek control over Dominion- rporated bodies will again be made. oth Hon. R. H. Pooley and Hon. J. Lymburn, attorney-general for Brit- Columbia and Alberta, forecast ly enactment by all Canada's prov- es of legislation of the security uds prevention type.

VANCOUVER, Jan. 14.—The city is ing a $20,000 order for iron water e in the United States despite the t that ther a Canadian firm's tender s the lowest.

The Canadian firm cannot make elivery before May.

olloway Arrives in Cal- gary at 1:10 in Morning

HEARS CHARGE READ AT ONCE

Harold Hendrickson and L. L. Mason Are Also Charged

CALGARY, Jan. 15, (Wednesday).—Isaac W. Soloway, president of the firm of Solloway-Mills limited, arrived in the city at 1:10 this morning to find arrangements completed for his speedy release on bail from the state of technical arrest under which he had been for some days. These arrangements included a special sitting by Police Magistrate Walter S. Davidson in the very early hours of the morning to complete the necessary formalities. Within a few minutes after Mr. Solloway and his companions had left the Canadian Pacific station he walked away from the court leaving behind the necessary sureties for his re-appearance at 10 this morning.

When Mr. Solloway left the train accompanied by Colonel W. C. Bryan, commissioner of Alberta police, he was met by Sergeant R. H. Purdy of the same force, William G. Steadman and Robert Wilkinson. The whole party was whisked away speedily to the Alberta provincial police building, by car. On arrival there they were conducted to the presence of the magistrate sitting in Inspector Bavin's office.

The charge was formally read to Mr. Solloway and S. J. Helman, K. C., his legal representative immediately made application for bail. The crown was unrepresented except for the police officers, the necessary bonds having been drafted previously by A. L. Smith, K. C.

BAIL OF $100,000

Magistrate Davidson agreed to grant bail in $100,000 to be provided by the personal bond of the accused in the sum of $50,000 and two sureties each in their the sum of $25,000. Mr. Steadman and Mr. Wilkinson went surety for Mr. Soloway as they had previously done for Mr. Mills.

The charge was exactly the same as that which had been made against Mr. Mills earlier in the day. It was as follows:

"That Isaac W. Solloway of Toronto, Ont., did between the first day of May, 1928 and the 31st day of December, 1929, at Calgary, by divers subtle means and devices and by deceit, falsehood and other fraudulent means conspire with Harvey Mills, Harold Hendrickson and L. L. Masson and divers other persons to injure and civil wrong do to the members of the public, frequenting the establishment of Solloway-Mills company, limited, in the city of Calgary for the purpose of purchasing stocks, contrary to the peace of our Sovereign lord the King, his crown and dignity."

Mr. Soloway had nothing to say when questioned by reporters and left for his hotel.

CHILDREN MARCH OUT IN ORDER AS SCHOOL IS BURNED

CORVALLIS, Montana, Jan 14. — Every child in the high school marched out in good order into a temperature of 15 degdees below zero here today while the school burned. School officials said the loss was $40,000, with $20,000 insurance.

ON WAY EAST

WINNIPEG, JAN. 14.—Developments during the past year indicate that 1930 will be one of enlarged progress, said C. G. Ommany, manager of the department of development of the Canadian Pacific railway, who, in company with J. A. Dresser, consulting development geologist, arrived in Winnipeg Tuesday morning from the west.

CLAIM BRIBES WERE OFFERED BY BRONFMAN

Cyril Knowles Testifies That Thousands of Dollars Offered

TRIAL PROCEEDS SLOWLY, REGINA

Custom Officer Still Being Cross-Examined at End of Day

REGINA, Jan. 14 — Thousands of dollars were offered in bribes to Cyril Knowles, federal customs officer, according to Knowles' own evidence at the preliminary hearing of the second charge against Harry Bronfman, wealthy distiller of Montreal, here today.

Knowles placed the alleged Bronfman bribe offer at $2,500, for dereliction of duty in one instance, and as much on the first of every month if the customs officer would keep out of the Gainsborough district in which Bronfman is said to have operated as a liquor exporter in 1920.

The offer was repeated on subsequent occasions, according to Knowles' evidence.

ONLY ONE CALLED

Knowles was the only witness called during the first day's proceedings. The customs officer went on the stand during the morning and cross-examination had not been completed when court rose at 5 o'clock.

Harry Bronfman, held on $60,000 bail for the chrarges laid last month, is accused of offering a bribe to Cyril Knowles on November 8, 1920. At that time Knowles was customs preventive officer, operating out of Winnipeg along the border of Southern Manitoba and Saskatchewan. The hearing in this case is before H. D. Pickett, police magistrate.

FIGHTING EBERY INCH

The case is proceeding slowly, crown and defence fighting every inch of the way for the upper hand. Much time was given today to legal argument on the manner in which the Bronfman charge was laid and the status of the informant, Christopher Carleton, a Regina man.

A. J. Andrews, K. C., of Winnipeg chief counsel for Bronfman, contended that only certain persons were empowered under the Canada customs act to lay informations for prosecution. He demanded that the crown be ordered to produce evidence to show that Carleton was so empowered and that failure to bring into court Carleton, informant in the case.

C. E. Gregory, K.C., chief counsel for the crown, objected and the magistrate reversed his ruling at the noon adjournment. Later in the day he ordered Mr. Gregory to produce information concerning Carleton's standing.

No Announcement Following Cabinet Meeting, Ottawa

OTTAWA, Jan. 14—Premier Mackenzie King had no announcements to make at the conclusion of cabinet this evening. The prime minister was asked if consideration had been given to the question of whether or not action would be taken by the Dominion government on recommendations of Commissioner Gordon Waldron in the amalgamated builder's council investigation, he replied that this matter had not been discussed. There will not be a meeting of cabinet tomorrow.

SHOOTS WIFE, SELF, SPOKANE

SPOKANE, Wash., Jan. 14.—Harry Long, 40, shot his wife, Myrtle, 35, and wounded himself here today because of jealousy, he told police. Both were believed fatally wounded.

IS CHOSEN AS MEMBER OF A COMMISSION

Ottawa, Jan. 14—Sir Robert Falconer, president of the University of Toronto has been chosen by the government of the United States and the Republic of Paraguay, as a member of the international commission which settles all disputes between the two countries.

The announcement was made today at the United States legation. The international commission is set up under the treaty for the advance of peace which was signed by the United States and Paraguay in 1914.

The commission is comprised of five members, one from each of the two countries, two members from two other countries chosen by both governments and a fifth selected by agreement between the two countries.

BENNETT MEETS PROVINCIAL AND FEDERAL MEMBERS

No Statement Following Conference of Conservatives at Victoria

VICTORIA, Jan. 14—Hon. R. B. Bennett arrived late this afternoon to open his second western Canada speaking tour here tomorrow night. As he disembarked from the boat from the mainland, the Conservative leader was greeted by Premier S. F. Tolmie and members of the provincial cabinet.

A conference between Dominion and British Columbia Conservatives in the parliament buildings immediately followed. With the exception of L. J. Ladner, Vancouver South, who is in Ottawa, all Dominion members for the province attended with Mr. Bennett. Senators R. F. Green, S. J. Crowe and G. H. Barnard were likewise present. All members of the provincial cabinet were in attendance with Premier Tolmie, in addition to Thomas Kirk, M. P. P., who was appointed president of the British Columbia Conservative association at the recent meeting at Kamloops. There was no statement forthcoming at the conclusion of the sitting this evening. It is understood, however, that matters of party organization were under discussion. With General A. D. McRae, chief Conservative whip and Mr. Kirk now actively engaged in provincial organization in attendance, the subject, t is intimated, was carefully canvassed.

The conference will be continued tomorrow morning.

ASKS RELEASE FROM PRISON TO SEE FATHER

Legal Difficulties Stand in Way of Temporary Release; Father Dying

HAMILTON, Ont., Jan. 14—An appeal to Dominion authorities was made today in an effort to secure the temporary release of Leslie King, serving a five-year sentence in Portsmouth, Penitentiary so he may visit his father, William King, 52, who is near death in hospital here.

When King asked to see his son, Chief Constable Coulter wired to Warden Ponsford seeking his release. The warden replied he was powerless to grant a release for the purpose stated. Another son today petitioned Col. C. S. Rennie, M.P. for East Hamilton, to act and the latter wired Gen. W. S. Hughes, chief superintendent of prisons, at Ottawa, and should receive his decision today.

It is understood no power but an order from the governor-general-in-council can allow the temporary release of King, who was sentenced last year for chicken theft.

OTTAWA, Jan. 14—Legal difficulties stand in the way of the temporary release from Portsmouth penitentiary of Leslie King, who wishes to visit his father, dangerously ill at Hamilton, Ont. Brigadier-General W. St. P. Hughes, superintendent of penitentiaries, said tonight he was in receipt of appeals for King's release, but declined to indicate what decision might be expected.

From legal authorities at Ottawa, tonight, in the justice department, came the statement, however, that no prisoner has ever been released from a Canadian penitentiary for such a purpose, the law being that a release before termination of sentence can only be affected by pardon or parole.

SENTENCED TO SEVEN YEARS FOR ROBBERY WHILE ARMED, EAST

WINNIPEG, Jan. 14—Pleading guilty to attempted robbery while armed and theft of goods from the Canadian Pacific Railway company, Joseph Evanoff was sentenced to seven years in penitentiary in court here today. Mitchell Kozlik, who admitted stealing goods from the C.P.R., received a sentence of four years. Evanoff admitted shooting a shoemaker during an attempt to rob the man's shop.

SIX KILLED IN AN EXPLOSION

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Jan. 14.—An explosion claimed six lives in the Peerless-Casaba coal company's mine near Stravem, 40 miles southwest of here late last night. One miner trapped by the blast was seriously injured.

Urges Appointment of Royal Commission to Investigate Brokers

TORONTO, Jan. 14.—Appointment of a Royal Commission empowered to conduct a sweeping investigation into the operations of stock brokerage firms in the province, was urged tonight by W. E. N. Sinclair, K. C., leader of the Ontario Liberal party.

Mr. Sinclair issued this statement from Oshawa, Ontario, in a long distance telephone interview with the Canadian Press

"Action should be taken immediately," Mr. Sinclair said, "to relieve the uneasiness created in the public mind as a result of recent developments in the field of stock shares trading. Any investigation should be of the most thorough and impartial character to satisfy the house and in my opinion a Royal Commission appointed by the lieutenant-governor in-council, should be set up to prove existing conditions."

Mr. Sinclair criticized the provincial government for its "laxity" in dealing with the situation, which he said, "has produced action in the western provinces, but apparently left the Ontario administration uninterested."

"I brought up this very matter during the last session of the legislature, but my attempts produced only laughs from the government benches," Mr. Sinclair said. "Now they may discover that their sense of humor, to say the least, a bit distorted."

WEST INDIES ENTHUSIASTIC FOR CANADA

ST. JOHN, N. B., Jan. 14.—By developing contact with the West Indies Canada has made an exceedingly valuable contribution to the Empire, in the opinion of His Excellency the govenor-general, Viscount Willingdon, who with Lady Willingdon and members of their party landed in Saint John today from the Canadian National steamship Lady Drake, after six weeks in the tropics.

"It was one of the most encouraging trips I have ever taken," said Lord Willingdon. "The enthusiasm for Canada was so great that I would go so far as to say that the West Indies, in thinking of their future, look to Canada."

FERGUSON THINKS ONTARIO AGAINST BEER BY GLASS

William Varley Presents Argument to Cabinet Asking Sale by Glass

TORONTO, Jan. 14—Ontario is not even close to having beer by the glass, because public opinion does not justify it, Premier Ferguson told William Varley, secretary of the building trades council of Toronto, who presented the argument of trades and labor congress of Canada to the Ontario cabinet this afternoon, asking sale of beer by the glass.

"I think there is a tremendous amount of opinion against it," said Premier Ferguson. "Not for the reason that the public object to having it by the glass but the effect it will have on law, and law enforcement, and standards generally among the people of the province. I don't think opinion is in favor of it. I may be wrong"

LENGTHY PLEA

Premier Ferguson's pronouncement on the situation came during a lengthy plea made by Mr. Varley. "There is a general consensus of opinion that there should be change," said Mr. Varley. "Many temperance advocates have come to the conclusion after having the O. T. A. and the liquor control act that you cannot legislate sobriety. I have heard it said that under public ownership we would become victims of the state. I think you will agree that we have become victims of the state and it almost impossible to do anything without a permit.

"We can brew the best beer made right here in the province," said Mr. Varley. "We distill bad liquor, let us have the beer with a low tax."

FAMOUS SHIPBUILDER IS DEAD AT VICTORIA

VICTORIA, Jan. 14.—One of the most widely known architects of his day, who had to his credit the building of three of the Spanish cruisers sunk at the battle of Santiago in 1898 and who was founder of the steel ship building industry in Japan, is dead here in the person of James Stewart Clark, following a prolonged illness. He was a native of Troon, Ayrshire, Scotland, and was 80 years of age.

ASK FOR BEER AND WINE BY GLASS IN ONTARIO PROVINCE

TORONTO, Jan. 14—Beer and wine by the glass, reductions of taxes on beer, eight-hour day legislation, unemployment insurance and application of the minimum wage law to both sexes, were among the requests submitted to the Ontario government today by a delegation from the Ontario executive of the Dominion Trades and Labour congress.

WOMAN LOSES LIFE IN FIRE, ONTARIO

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., Jan. 14—According to reports received in Port Arthur this afternoon from Nakina, on the main line of the Canadian National Railways north of here, a Finnish woman, aged twenty-five, named Mrs. Lilja Vitta was burned to death or suffocated when fire broke out in her one-room home. Rescuers were unable to give prompt aid because she fell across the doorway, blocking the door, when they tried to get in. The woman had been resident in this country only a few months.

ASKS PREMIER TO RECONSIDER HIS DECISION

Follows Decision That Unemployment Matter for Province

WINNIPEG, Jan. 14.—Reconsideration of the decision that unemployment is not a federal matter was urged on Premier Mackenzie King in a telegram yesterday from Premier John Bracken, it was disclosed today. The telegram followed a letter from Mr. King holding that unemployment is a matter for municipal and provincial consideration and suggesting that Dominion consideration would be given should the several provinces advise that they and their respective municipalities are not in a position to cope with the situation.

Consensus of opinion in Manitoba is that unemployment is largely a federal problem and requires federal government participation before a cure of a comprehensive nature can be effected, Mr. Bracken's telegram stated. Judging from opinions expressed at the conference called on December 2 by the city of Winnipeg, and attended by western provinces, and cities, Mr. Bracken continued, this opinion is general throughout the west.

"If immigrants with less than five years' residence and returned soldiers were taken care of by your departments," stated Mr. Bracken's message, "it would considerably alleviate the situation. Argument that 1921 participation was to meet the aftermath of war is met by statements that if the situation was due to war, the federal government should have borne entire expense."

OTTAWA, Jan. 14—Enquiry at the office of Premier W. L. Mackenzie King tonight elicited no comment regarding a telegram from Premier John Bracken asking reconsideration of the Dominion government's attitude toward unemployment.

It is considered probable Premier Bracken's message will be considered by cabinet before a reply is despatched. The message says the situation would be considerably elevated if the "immigrants with less than five years residence and returned soldiers were taken care of" by government departments.

QUEBEC WILL NOT FOLLOW THE OTHERS

Announcement Made That No Investigation of Brokers Planned

QUEBEC, Jan. 14.—The Quebec government has no intention of investigating the operations of brokers in this province at the present time, despite the actions and announced plans of other provinces, according to a declaration today by Hon. L. S. Taschereau, prime minister and attorney-general.

"We know nothing, to date, of what has happened or is happening in the west, except through the newspapers," he said. "I may say that we are keeping in close watch on events there and in other provinces, however, and should we find that the ramifications of companies under investigation have extended into the province of Quebec then we shall certainly take such action as may be necessary. At the present time, however, there are no complaints and we have nothing in view."

Awarded $2000 for Being Held, Vancouver Jail

VANCOUVER, Jan. 14—Because he was detained in the city jail for nine days as material witness in the slaying of W. Howard, for which D. Kirkwood, private detective, is now serving nine years, W. Havor has been paid $2000 by the city in settlement of damage action. The city solicitor reported there was no justification for detention.

The city council in settling the case, suggested that the police commission find out what police officer was responsible.

TRACE SECOND BILL, VANCOUVER ROBBERY

VANCOUVER, Jan. 14.—Second bill from the loot taken by two men who recently held up a local branch of the Royal bank has been traced. It was issued by a local firm as wages after being secured from a bank.

BARNES GIVES OUTLINE HIS CIVIC POLICY

Answers McDonald Platform as Set Forth in Thursday Paper

HALL COMFORTABLY FILLED; MANY TALK

Aldermen Morgan, MacKenzie, Candidates Redpath, Gray, Notman Heard

Before a crowd of ratepayers, men and women, who comfortably filled Barnes' committee room last night, Mayor R. D. Barnes oulined the work accomplished by councils under his head during the past two years. He outlined his program for 1930, if elected, and appealed for support at the poll on Thursday.

J. A. McDonald, ex-mayor, opponent of Mayor Barnes in the civic battle, who was invited to attend the meeting and make a speech, did not put in an appearance. In the absence of his opponent Mayor Barnes refrained from discussing the ex-mayor's previous administrations.

Besides Mayor Barnes speakers heard were Alderman H. H. MacKenzie, Alderman J. P. Morgan, School Trustee John Notman, E. R. Redpath, candidate for alderman and J. B. Gray, also a candidate for alderman. The chair was taken by Alex Leith.

APPEALS FOR MAYOR

Alderman H. H. MacKenzie opened a short address by terming Mayor Barnes the greatest "Scotch Jew" he had ever known. Having had two years experience on the city council with Mayor Barnes, he knew he was absolutely an "A-1" man for the job again. He had saved in his terms of office many thousands of dollars for Nelson. He gave two instances where, on the city power plant job, Mayor Barnes had been responsible for the saving of $10,000 on the main job and $5000 on supplies for the plant.

Alderman MacKenzie referred to petty criticism which always cropped up at election time. This, he stated, was only on the surface. A lot had been said about the streets and their condition in following the heavy snowfall around Christmas, a He instanced cases in larger centers where preperations were made for big snowfalls but where conditions were much worse than had been experienced here. Then there was the power failure on Christmas eve. It was an unfortunate occurrence and "we should thank our lucky stars" that the line had not gone out years ago owing to "baywire" construction. The substation during the past year was being rebuilt. This in the opinion of the alderman should have been done years ago. City streets were being built and maintained by revenue from Nelson's public utilities, the electrical plant, gas plant and water works. Alderman MacKenzie believed a reserve should be established for the protection of these utilities that are building the streets.

WAGES EQUALIZED

Alderman MacKenzie urged the equalization of electrical rates in Nelson. He termed the street railway as the "greatest white elephant" in the city. His idea would be to scrap the line, build well-paved streets around the city and grant a bus charter. Thus the city would make a little money instead of getting $18,000 per year from the street railway and paying out $20,000. Under present electrical rates the small consumer was the sufferer while the bigger one saved money on power. He stated in urging equalization of rates that equal costs would sell more power, more electrical appliances and would be a benefit for all. Alderman MacKenzie closed with an appeal for support to Mayor Barnes and "absolutely capable business man, well able to handle our civic afairs."

MAYOR SPEAKS

Mayor R. D. Barnes, in a well delivered, businesslike speech, dealt fully with the record of councils headed by himself for the past two years. It was three weeks ago that he was approached by between 70 and 80 citizens requesting that he stand for re-election He had come out. He was in the fight now and "I am no quitter," he stated.

Referring to the activities of the 1928 council Mayor Barnes opened with the call for the delivery of power to the Kootenay Florence mine, according to an agreement reached by previous councils. Prior to this it was known that the power plant, transmission lines and sub-station were in bad shape. Mr. Taylor, the provincial inspector of electrical energy had so informed previous councils of the condition of these plants. Mayor Barnes' 1928 council wanted more advice. An extra load on the already overloaded plant was a question needing expert advice. Accordingly three experts were called in. One was an electrical engineer, a second a civil engineer and the third a consulting enginer. They studied conditions thoroughly, and stated the Mayor, their report was that in view of the extra load necessary for the Kootenay Florence line, a new unit was necessary. They also urged a program of reconditioning and replacement. Instal the unit first, then rebuild the substation, recondition the distributing system, and lastly tackle the pole line was the program outlined by the experts. They estimated the cost at about $225,000. A bylaw was placed before the ratepayers and passed by them. It was for $240,000. Owing to the shrinkage on the bonds an extra few thousand had been added over the estimate. This too, stated the mayor, was added to give a few thousand dollars to be spent on transmission lines. Wish Appointment of a Jew to Senate; Others Propose Eskimo's Wife

OTTAWA, Jan. 14—The Evening Citizen today says:

"A deputation of prominent Jewish residents from various parts of the Dominion will wait on Premier Mackenzie King on Friday and urge upon him the necessity of appointing a Jew to the senate, thinking the time had arrived, in view of the increasing Jewish population in Canada, to have Jewish representation in the senate. A meeting was held in Montreal Sunday of representative Jewish men from many organizations in Canada and it was decided to see the premier this week.

"The names of three men were mentioned at the meeting, and of the three the most prominently talked of was A. J. Freiman, of Ottawa. The other two are Max Clavin, of Toronto, and S. W. Jacobs, K.C., M.P., of Montreal."

VANCOUVER, Jan. 14—A picturesque figure has entered the list of possibilities for the first appointment of a woman to the senate of Canada. She is Mrs. Etna Klengenberg Bolt, daughter of Captain Charles Klegenberg, retired arctic trader, who makes his home here. Her mother is described as an "Eskimo princess." Mrs. Bolt's husband is a full blooded Eskimo.

Colonel J. K. Cornwall, pioneer trader, explorer and prospector of the north has brought forward Mrs. Bolt's name.

N.W.T. REPRESENTATIVE

Sponsors of Mrs. Bolt propose her appointment, because, they state, the Northwest Territories are now being taxed by the Dominion government without having representation in parliament, and because the northland has a woman whose service to the arctic community is equal to that of any woman in Canada, a woman of refinement, education and demonstrated ability.

Educated as a medical missionary, Mrs. Bolt, it is said, began the work which resulted in the stopping of female child sacrifice among the Eskimos.

MRS. MARY BALFOUR IS BURIED, TRAIL

TRAIL, B. C., Jan. 14.—Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Balfour, aged 50 years, whose death occurred suddenly yesterday following a heart attack, will be held from Knox United church Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Balfur, who was well known in Trail, resided here from 1916, when she came with her family from Vancouver. She lived in Canada for 26 years. She was an active worker in church circles, and was connected with the Ladies' Aid of Knox church for several years.

Born in Fifeshire, Scotland, Mrs. Balfour is mourned by her aged father, who is still a resident there.

WILLOW POINT HAS BIG YEAR

Numerous Activities of Institute Outlined by Directors

WILLOW POINT, Jan. 14.—According to the directors' report of the Willow Point Institute for the year 1929 the institute had a membership of 30, the largest for some time.

Taking the matter of public health and child welfare first, Mrs. Airey, convener, led a discussion on the provincial school health report, comparing the health of the children of this district with that in surrounding districts.

Dr. H. H. MacKenzie, of Nelson, gave a most interesting and instructive address on infectious diseases and the modern treatment of the same with particular reference to scarlet fever and infantile paralysis. This had been asked on account of the epidemic of scarlet fever in Willow Point during the summer months.

Regret was expressed that it has been impossible to reestablish the public health nursing service.

The only demonstration under head of home ecnoomics was that of paintex and liquid embroidery by Mrs. H. H. Pitts of Nelson.

Under the heading of immigration there was a double debate—one on the central European immigration menace, led by Mrs. J. Tawse and one on the Doukhobor question led by Mrs. C. Shannon.

Col. A Neufville Taylor gave a very interesting address on Toc H.

The annual flower show was held but not quite so successful as in other years. The concert, given in connection, was greatly enjoyed. This year the February meeting falling on St. Valentine's Day, the members were asked to contribute original valentines.

The annual fancy dress dance was its usual success.

The July meeting took the form of a beach picnic at which the institute had the pleasure of having the superintendent, Mrs. V. S. MacLachlan, a visitor.

The children's Christmas party was largely attended. 53 children receiving gifts.

Donations have been sent to the Nelson Institute rest room, the solarium and the crippled children's hospital.

Members have donated shelves, books and china to the Institute Home, which continues to be a source of revenue rented for July and August and for meetngs of various organizations.

The sale and exchange, though not so extensive as in former years, still adds a small sum to the funds.

Mrs. A. D. Emory, delegate to the district conference, sent in a very excellent report of the addresses given and the doings of other institutes.

The financial report showed receipts of the year as $194.58; expenditures $165.72; leaving a balance of $28.86.

ASTRONOMER AT VICTORIA HONORED

VICTORIA, Jan. 14.—For the first time the coveted gold medal of the Royal Astronomical Society has been awarded to a Canadian, Dr. J. H. Plaskett, director of the Dominion Astrophysical observatory, Victoria. Dr. Plaskett received the news of the honor, the highest in the gift of the Royal Astronomical Society, in a message which reached by cable from London today.

Dr. Plaskett was also invited to give the George Darwin lecture in April or May.

Several times since his appointment in 1917 to the directorship of the observatory here, the scientific world has had its attention drawn to the splendid work which Dr. Plaskett has been accomplishing in astronomical research.

THINKS NELSON A PRETTY CITY

M. Y. Avizoff, president and manager of the Tulameen Coal Mines, Limited at Princeton spent a few days in Nelson on a pleasure jaunt and business trip to the interior. Mr. Avizoff stated that he had just inspected the coal mines and things were doing very well. He also expressed his opinion that Nelson was a very pretty city.

When approached on the unemployment situation at the coast he stated that there were about 2000 unemployed there. The great number did not belong to Vancouver but had collected there from all over the continent and all parts of Europe. He also stated that they were the class who did not want work.

FATHER OF COL. FRED LISTER IS DEAD, ENGLAND

Was Retired Farmer; Clipping Tells of His Life and Survivors

Col. Fred Lister, M.P.P. for Creston riding, who was in Nelson yesterday, has receivevd word lately of the death of his father, Frederic Lister, near Skegness, England.

The following is a clipping from an English newspaper, giving an account of Mr. Lister's life and his survivors:

After an illness extending over a period of about eight weeks, the death took place at his residence "Briarwood" Ida Road, Skegness, of Frederick Lis er, a retired farmer. He was in his 74th year.

Mr. Lister came to Skegness three years ago after spending a full and usefull life on farms in many parts of Lincolnshire. He was one of the farming families which hailed from Boston district, and among the districts in which he had occupied lands and farms are: Wigtoft, Boston West, Mavis Enderby, Langton-by-Spilsby, East Keal, Martin near Horncastle, Thornton, Leake Fen, Woodhall Spa and Carrington.

The gentleman was a popular figure at Boston and Horncastle markets each week, and during his residence at Skegness he visited the local markets very regularly. He was an exceptionally good breeder of sheep, and many flocks from his Martin farm have been disposed of in Horncastle market. He also bred a fine class of Lincolnshire short horn cattle.

Mr. Lister who leaves a widow, had been married 51 years and there are two sons and a daughter of marriage. His eldest son, Col. Fred Lister, is a member of parliament at Victoria, B.C., representing a Soldiers' Colony named Camp Lister. The old colony derives its name from its M.P.P. The other son, J. W. Lister, now of Candlesby Hall farm, near Burgh, has followed in his father's footsteps to a great extent. He has farmed extensively in the locality, for some years occupying the Manor Farm at East Keal. The deceased gentleman's daughter is Mrs. G. V. Bell, of Minting near Horncastle, wife of the well known horseman, who has gained many notable success in riding and jumping classes at local shows.

Mr. Lister will be greatly missed by all those who had the privilege of making his acquaintance. He became very familiar to the local workmen and townspeople during recent road making operations and other improvements, which claimed his closest attention and interest, and many were the hours he spent watching the work progressing. Mr. Lister did not enter into social life, but the farming community as a whole will be much the poorer by his passing.—Lincolnshire Standard.

GOOD SEED IS A REQUIREMENT OF GOOD CROPS

So States Eperimental Farm Man; Advises Use of Registered Seed

Good seed is the first requirement of good crops, and because of this, no effort should be spared in procuring the best, according to R. A. Derick, central experimental farm, Ottawa.

Due largely to the efforts of the Canadian Seed Growers' Association, good reliable seed is perhaps more readily available at the present time, than has been the case at any time in the past. This Association, made up entirely of growers has had as its objective, for a period of 25 years, the building up of reliable seed stocks of standard varieties, and the production of this seed in quantities sufficient to meet the popular demand.

REGISTERED SEED

Seed that comes up to the requirements of Canadian Seed Growers' Association, and bearing a Government seal is known as Registered seed. Such seed is pure as ot variety to the extent of 99.9 per cent, and furthermore, is practically free from weed seeds and seeds of other kinds of grain.

Registered seed is offered for sale by the growers themselves, and by reliable seedsmen in Canada. The Canadian Seed Growers' Assocaton issues a catalogue each year, giving the names and addresses of growers of registered seed throughout Canada, and the approximate quantity for sale. This catalogue can be obtained through the office of the association in the Jackson Building, Ottawa. It is therefore possible to obtain the names of Registered seed growers in any particular district in the country. This is a valuable service because of the importance of using seed grown locally, and adapted to local conditions.

CLEANING CENTRES

The establishment of both large and small seed cleaning centres in some sections of the country, centralizes the cleaning and marketing of large quantities of Registered seed, and supplies another medium through which high quality seed can be obtained.

When the purchaser is not prepared to pay the comparatively small difference in price between Registered seed and ordinary seed, it is sometimes possible to locate seed that traces back to Registered seed. When this is done, however, there is entirely no guarantee regarding the purity and quality in general of this stock, but it is often the case that this seed may be better than ordinary seed.

NO FEAR IN PURCHASING

By purchasing registered seed in Canada, one need have no fear as to its reliability, both as regards trueness to variety and quality in general. It is never safe to invest money in seed upon which a crop is dependent, without a certain guarantee that the variety is recognized as being adapted to the locality and that the seeds are viable and comparatively free from impurities.

High quality seed of the Registered grades can therefore be purchased either from the growers or from reliable seedsmen in Canada, who usually carry large stocks of this seed representing the standard varieties recognized by the Canadian Seed Growers' Association.

ROSSLAND K. P. LODGE INSTALLS

Pythian Sisters Install Also in Joint Ceremonies at Golden City

ROSSLAND, B. C., Jan. 14.—In spite of the extremely cold weather, a capacity crowd gathered in Knights of Pythias hall Saturday evening to witness the joint installation of officers for Maple Leaf Temple No. 4, Pythian Sisters, and Rossland Lodge No. 21, Knights of Pythias. Grand Chief Sophia Wilson, assisted by Grand Senor Sophia Triggs and Grand Manager Emily Cox, installed the officers for the sisters. The knights were installed by Grand Chancellor Alex Page, assisted by Grand Prelate F. G. Armishaw, and Grand Master at Arms, Thomas Stephens.

At the close of the ceremonies, some instrumental music was furnished by Clem and Cecil Turner, while a comic song by Clem Turner, "I'm Glad I'm Single", brought down the house. Banquet tables were then spread, and later on an hour with community singing and dancing enjoyed.

The officers installed were as follows:

Maple Leaf Temple No. 4.—Bessie B. Ferguson, Past Chief; Ethela I. Bray, most excellent chief; Pearl Palmer, grand senior; Fanny Nixon, grand junior; Maude Tweed, manager; Dorothy Gill, mistress of records and correspondence; Annie E. White, mistress of finance; Marjorie Trenibath, Protector; Catherine Patterson, guard.

Rossland Lodge No. 21, K. of P.—T. W. Kilby, past chancellor; John G. Taylor, Chancellor commander; Frank G. Bray, vice chancellor; Joseph Gill, prelate; Leslie G. Hadfield, master of work; Kenneth M. Young, keeper of records and seals; John Cox, master of finance; Thomas W. Kilby, master of exchequer; Raymond G. Scholarships for History Donated By Rotarians, Trail

Idea Is to Encourage the Study of Canadian History in Schools

TRAIL, B. C., Jan. 14.—The inauguration of scholarships and prizes for Trail-Tadanac public and high schools to encourage among the pupils a more intensive study of Canada from every angle was decided upon by the Rotary club of Trail at its meeting today.

The subject was introduced at the meeting by Dr. C. S. Williams, chairman of the club's Canadian advisory committee, who stated that his committee had given considerable thought to the matter, had discussed it with the principals of the schools and members of the school board, and was now prepared to suggest something concrete which, over a period of years, should prove of inestimable value in encouraging young Canadians to know more about their country, its history, resources, people, problems and so on.

INITIAL VOTE

An initial vote of $175 was made. It was decided that $100 of this amount would be devoted toward a scholarship for graduating pupils of the high school to assist them in further pursuit of their studies, either at the university or normal school. It will be stipulated that a pupil, to qualify for the scholarship, must have a term average of 75 per cent in Canadian history. After the midsummer examination candidates will be required to write a thesis on a topic of world interest, and dealing particularly with Canada's part in that world movement. The scholarship will be awarded to the pupil making the best showing on the term's work, the midsummer examination and on the thesis.

PRIZES

The balance of the $75 will be used for prizes to pupils of the public schools making the best showing in Canadian history, geography and kindred topics.

In addition, a library survey will be made of the public schools and the libraries will be augmented with the best availabl literature on Canadian topics.

It is intended that this move is only the beginning of a program which will be expanded and perfected in the years to come.

Games and music were enjoyed, and refreshments were served. Those in charge were: Rev. B. L. Oaten, devotional service; Mrs. E. Temple, musical program; Albert Shields, games; and Ernest Nelson, refreshments.

A committee was appointed to nominate officers for the ensuing year.

FOR YOU AND YOURS

THE MUTUAL LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA

1870 1930

60 YEARS

SIXTY years ago The Mutual Life Assurance Company of Canada was born. With it came the birth of a new idea in Canada — a Life Insurance Company conceived and promoted on a purely Mutual basis, with no private capital, and with every single policy holder an active participant in the Company.

It is a far cry to those historic days of Confederation. That small band of five hundred original policy holders has grown to become a Company, nation wide in its influence and performance. This year The Mutual Life Assurance Company of Canada celebrates its Diamond Jubilee, an outstanding milestone in a truly remarkable history of continued growth and achievement. A history like this proves the soundness of the principle of mutuality.

The Mutual Life of Canada still remains as Canada's first and only Mutual Insurance Company sharing its benefits and profits with an increasing host of satisfied policy holders. To-day, more than ever, it stands at the service of all, offering the most protection at the lowest cost.

Our Agent will be glad to explain, without any obligation, the numerous advantages of Mutual Life Insurance

PROVINCE-WIDE CHECK TO START ONTARIO, TODAY

Will Only Be of Non-Members of Stock Exchanges, Is Announced

TORONTO, an. 14.—Colonel Walter W. Denison, provincial registrar of brokers, assisted by Norman Harris will commence tomorrow at Ottawa a province-wide check-up of non-member brokerage houses. The survey is being conducted solely in connection with non-member houses, and is no the result of any complaints, Col. Denison said.

The work of the registrar and hi aid in Ottawa will require two days They will inspect some 15 or 20 of fices, all maintained by firms which do not hold membership in any stock exchanges.

Col. Denison said Ottawa was chosen for the start of the survey because o the volume of business handled there particularly by salesmen.

"When I finish at Ottawa, I have other places on my list that I will visit during the winter," he said adding that the check-up was not inspired by the recent arrests of I. W. C. Solloway and Harvey Mills, heads of Solloway-Mills & company, limited coast to coast brokerage organization. "My trip was panned before these developments," Col. Denison said.

TRAIL GUIDES PLAN MOTHER, DAUGHTER BANQUET, FUTURE

TRAIL, B. C., Jan. 14.—At an early meeting of the Girl Guide association, plans will be discussed for a mother and daughter banquet following the lines of the father and son banquet held by the boy scouts annually. A few years ago the father and son movement was started in Trail, and has since grown amazingly in popularity. A better feeling has been noted among the young and older males of the family, and fathers have a keener understanding of what their sons do outside of the home.

It is with the same idea that the Girl Guid association is planning a similar event. Too few mothers understnd the significance of a movement such as that of the girl guides and there is resultant lack of interest. it is held.

SALARY BEARS ON SENTENCE

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 14. — Federal Judge Louderback tempered justice with mercy when James O. LeVeque, employee in the Chico branch of the Bank of Italy, told him, upon pleading guilty today to a charge of embezzling $1011 in bank funds, that his salary was only $100 a month.

Instead of sending LeVeque to prison Judge Louderback gave him a six months' sentence in the County Jail, the term to begin from October 31 last, the date on which the bank employee was arrested.

Trail Rotary Club Would Have Better Playgrounds There

Some $2000 to Be Delegated to This Cause Early in Spring

TRAIL, B. C., Jan. 14.—A committee composed of S. S. McDiarmid, Fred Edmunds, George J. Kinnis and Dominic Priori was today appointed by Donald MacDonald, president of the Rotary club of Trail, to collaborate with the city council, the parks board the school board, lodges, and any other bodies interested in the movement for more and better playgrounds for the children of Trail, in an effort to arrive at a cooperative playground policy which would result in the spending of money available for the purpose to greatest advantage.

It was announced that the Rotary club had raised $1581.59 at its winter ice carnival to be devoted to children's playgrounds, which, with $500 donated by the club members, made over $2000 available. It was felt that this should be spent in collaboration with other public bodies so that a unified and systematic program might be evolved.

TO WORK TOGETHER

It is intended that the interested parties will be brought together in the next month so that with the advent of spring an early start may be made on any program decided upon. A sum of $100 was voted to Trail Lordge, B. P. O. E., to be devoted by that organization to its playground which is under construction on Riverside avenue, near the bridge.

The Rotary club indorsed a resolution submitted by the Automobile club of B. C., which asked the Dominion government to take immediate cognizance of the necessity of a trans-Canada motor highway.

F. A. Lee made reply to his recent welcome into the membership of the club.

THIEVES CAUSE BABY TO CRY

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 14.—A baby's cry may mean a lot of things, deputy sheriffs opined following the report of James R. Walker, 1018 South Ditman street, that his house had been burglarized Tuesday night. In this particular instance it apparently meant burglars.

Walker reported to the Sherriff's office that the infant, belonging to visting friends, was aslep in an adjoinng bedroom when it began to cry suddenly and was taken into another room to be quieted. It was not until some time later that it was learned that the bedroom had been ransacked and two purses containin a total of $13 stolen, according to the report.

JINX PURSUES NEW MAYOR

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Jan. 14.—When John B. Hudson, Mayor of Lafayette, entered on his term of office he had a run of bad luck to make his inaugural memorable. As he was taking the oath, his grandmother, who reared him, died unexpectedly.

An hour later his daughter Jane was taken ill with chicken pox, and the new health officer's first job was to quarantine the Mayor's home. That night while he was presiding at a council meeting his automobile was stolen.

BARNES GIVES OUTLINE HIS CIVIC POLICY

were called. All were for $240,000. The council then began to dicker. The Canadian General Electric company and their construction associates, Stewart Cameron company, were called in to meet the council. An agreement was reached to do the work for $230,000.

BALFOUR LINE

Meanwhile attenton was turned to the Balfour line which was to deliver the power to the Kootenay Florence mine. Previous councils knew of the condition of the line and that it would not carry the load. They had taken no action. Mayor Barnes' 1928 council went out to right this. It cost from $2300 to $2400 and there were no funds available. By sacrificing work in other departments this work was done.

Despite this an excellent program of public work was accomplished. Three miles of streets and two miles of alleys were gravelled; 22,000 yards of macadam were laid; an aggressive campaign of concrete sidewalk construction was carried out; new streets were opened; additional plank walks were laid.

THE GAS WORKS

Then cropped up the situation at the gas works. A new bench was urgently needed owing to increased demand for gas. The 1927 council had known of this but had done nothing. This was an expenditure of another $25,000 that had not been expected.

In the fall trouble developed in the sewers. A sum of $20,000 was spent on a storm sewer for Silica street to carry off flood waters and save the sewers from damage by gravel. During the year water services and sewer services were also extended.

1929 PROGRAM

Getting into the 1929 program Mayor Barnes stated that the big accomplishment had been the completion of the new unit in the power plant. It was in operation, the two units had been overhauled and concrete work completed. It was the first step along the lines laid down by the electrical experts. Again came a visit from the inspector of electrical energy. He recommended reconditioning of the substation. The substation was known as a hazard. It had been known as such by numerous previous councils. Work in 1929 was centered on the substation until today it was nearly completed and would be in operation probably by February first.

DENIES STATEMENT

In connection with the substation Mayor Barnes brought up a report that had come to him yesterday. An alderman of the present council, he stated, had said in the presence of one of Mayor Barnes' supporters, that M. Montgomery, city electrical engineer for the past 16 months, was a partner in a big electrical firm at the coast and that he was still interested in this firm. The alderman had also stated that in connection with the substation no tenders had been called for, and that the firm of Bartholomew & Montgomery had been given the contract.

"These statements" emphatically declared the mayor, "are absolutely false."

City Electrical Engineer Montgomery when engaged by the city, explained the mayor, was a member of a coast electrical firm and was greatly interested. When he became associated with the city he became inactive in the firm. It was on December 26, 1928, that C. B. Garland of O'Shea & Garland, local lawyners, transferred the stock held by Mr. Montgomery to his partner Mr. Bartholomew.

THE TENDERS

The mayor then read out the tenders submitted for the substation work. Canadian General Electric had tendered $19,920, f.o.b. Nelson; Westinghouse tendered $19,120, f.o.b. Hamilton; Bartholomew & Montgomery, in which firm Mr. Montgomery has no interest tendered $17,530, f.o.b. Nelson.

"We saved $2000 by taking the coast tender. That is business," declared the mayor.

CLEAR BALFOUR LINE

Another undertaking of interst in 1929 was the clearing of the Balfour power line. This was done and the refuse burned at a cost of $3000.

"Today," stated the mayor, "a question had been asked. Had there been any transfer of $3000 from the power plant bylaw to the general fund?"

It was three weks ago, continued the mayor that the city clerk had informed the council that there was $3000 surplus from the power plant bylaw. At this meeting two aldermen were absent. A discussion arose but the matter was left over. Mayor Barnes at ths time interpreted the bylaw reading that the money was wanted for an extension to the power plant, purchase of a unit work on same and transmission lines. The mayor was backed in this interpretation by Alderman H. H. MacKenzie. In the meantime the engineer was consulted as were the other aldermen. All were satisfied that the money was legitimately labelled for transmission lines and as such the sum was transferred to the general fund. One alderman was missing when this transfer took place. He was likely dissatisfied, stated the mayor.

CLEANEST IN HISTORY

Coming back to the Bonnington power line and the Christmas week troubles Mayor Barnes declared that the clearing along this line was greater than it had ever been since the line was built. Upon the engagement of Electrical Engineer Montgomery, he had stated he was afraid of the power line. Thus a sum of money was spent in the fall of 1928 in the clearing further back of the right-of-way. The first recent shutdown had been caused by long slim trees, heavily weighted with snow, falling over the lines. However, today the line was clearer than it had ever been in its history.

PUBLIC WORKS

In 1929 an extensive program of public works had been carried out. Two miles of concrete paving had been laid. Two miles of concrete sidewalks were completed, bringing the total mileage to four and one-fifth for the two years. Now 35 per cent. of sidewalks were concrete and permanent, making a saving in maintenance.

SAVED $3000

A storm sewer, for protection, had been constructed on Observatory street. Estimated cost had been $20,000 but the work had been done at a saving of $3000. At present a storm sewer was under way on Chatham street in Fairview to care for flood waters from Hume creek. The flooding had cost the city in the past quite a sum for damages to property.

McDONALD PLATFORM

Mayor Barnes then dealth with the platform of his opponent, J. A. McDonald, ex-mayor. He stated that as Mr. McDonald who had an invitation to be present had not attended the meeting, he did not wish to discuss his past history as mayor. He would prefer to do this in his presence.

In Thursday's Daily News Mr. McDonald ran an advertisement under the heading of "some reasons why you should vote for McDonald for your 1930 mayor."

His first paragraph stated that "he was not making an appeal for your votes by appologizing for my work in the past."

"Ladies and Gentlemen," stated Mayor Barnes, "I have lived for 45 years, and from the experience I have had and the business men I have met, I am under the impression there is no perfect man made."

Mr. McDonald's second plank said, "I will see that your power plant and power line is looked into at once."

"Mr. McDonald," said Mayor Barnes "was your mayor for four years. He was advised of the condition of the utility yet nothing was done until the 1928 council, of which I was head, took office in 1928."

Mr. McDonald's third plank was "to see that future work on your streets is concrete and no money wasted on patchwork."

"Patchwork done in the past two years," said Mr. Barnes, "was necessary to repair the work done by previous councils."

Mayor Barnes added that a few years ago, during Mr. McDonald's administration, the ratepayers had voted for a concrete road. One afternoon before a council meeting it was learned that Mr. McDonald was set on having a bitulithic road instead of concrete. Mayor Barnes was at that time president of the Nelson Automobile club and was approached by the members to attempt to stop the change in material. He presonally took up a petition and presented it to the council. The road was built, but of concrete, not bitulithic as had been Mr. McDonald's wish.

Mr. McDonald's fourth plank was "to get team work in the council and from your city employees."

"Our administration has not used its best efforts," stated Mayor Barnes, "we have demanded it and get it."

The fifth plank on the McDonald platform dealt with the streets in winter and the securing of proper equipment for removing the snow from "your streets so that the unfortunate conditions that have prevailed for the last month will not happen again."

"Mr. McDonald," continued the mayor, "held office for four years and he has never made any effort to buy equipment. Thus the snowfall must have been abnormal."

Mr. McDonald's last plank sated: "my past service as your mayor is my justification for your support."

"If that is the only justification

ORGANIZATIONS SHOULD AID THE LOCAL HOSPITAL

Kootenay Lake General hospital is in need of linen. A shortage has occcurred that can and should be remedied. Patients in the hospital, a district institution, are not able at present to get the regulation changes of linen. The linen shortage is becoming gradually worse. The Kootenay Lake General hospital has a good name throughout Canada. Its nursing officers have had the best of training. Its nurses are hand-picked. Local doctors give every assistance possible to make the institution one of the leading hospitals in the west. Its directors are working diligently for the institution. The hospital, if the people so closely associated with it are willing to work so hard for it, deserves the support of all citizens and organizations not only in Nelson, but in the district contiguous to Nelson.

In most places where hospitals are located, the linen for hospital use is supplied by outside organizations. Most hospitals have ladies' aids or other similar organizations which work to keep up the linen supply. Nelson has been unfortunate in losing its hospital ladies' aid. However, there are numerous organizations that could come to the aid of an institution doing so good a work in the community. The Daily News is happy to see the Rotarians and the Gyros taking action in appointing committees to work toward replenishing the linen supply. There are many women's organizations throughout Neson and immediate district, and it would be a good thing if they could see their way clear to get behind this movement to give the Kootenay Lake General hospital an adequate supply of linen and other supplies necessary to give patients changes when they should be given.

INDIA'S PROBLEM

It is often forgotten that India is not all under British rule. There are 62,000,000 people in India who are resident in independent states governed by rajahs, maharajahs, and other potentates who subscribe to a certain amount of British supervision, but they nevertheless have their own armies and their own revenues. They want nothing to do with Ghandi and his agitation, realizing that if Britain withdrew entirely from India, it would be the signal for a general uprising, internal mutinies, holy wars, and wars of plunder and rapine that would ruin India for evermore.

India is, perhaps, the most difficult country in the world to govern, and the fact that it has been at peace, except for a few minor outbreaks, for more than half a century, is a tribute to the efficiency of British administration. Withdraw that administration or substitute any other Occidental form of supervision, and the mind of man could not conceive what would happen.

A man with a peculiar mania for cutting off girls' hair while riding on the top of omnibuses in London, John Hamilton, an electrician, who already had been convicted eight times for offences of this nature, was recently found guilty at the Old Bailey once more and was sentenced to prison for 11 months.

Winter Brings Its Fun for All

The photographs here show some scenes following recent record falls of snow heralding a joyous regime of winter sports. Although rain and mild weather of late has somewhat depleted the store of the necessary there is still enough snow to make things interesting, as these scenes show: (1) Mary Bell just ready to push-off, and show the spectators how the young idea do it. Her dad is standing beside her. (2) Two young people take a Sunday morning constitutional. (3) This young miss is here seen all set for a ride. (4) Taking the chutes on a toboggan, and (5) baby takes the air with her big sister on the bob-slide.

"What do you consider an ideal type of menu for a bridge party?" asks a reader friend.

This would be easier to answer if the inquirer had specified what type of bridge party she wished to give. For, here are various sorts of menus from which to choose: 1, The light tea between the games in the afternoon 2, The high tea, served formally on the dining table (lace cloth, candlesticks buffet arrangement of plates, silver, etcetera) at the end of the afternoon of play. 3. The informal "card table refreshments" served at the end of an afternoon play on the card tables in the living room—this sort of menu being a little more elaborate than the "light tea," yet less formal than the high tea." 4. The Bridge Luncheon, served before an afternoon of play. 5. The new bridge Breakfast, which in reality is only an luncheon, yet which must consist of breakfast dishes made more elaborate, this too being served before the afternoon at cards. 6. The Bridge Dinner served before the evening of cards. And, 7th, the Bridge Supper Midnight Supper, served after an evening of play.

At the light tea, the only beverage served is tea—with sandwiches, cakes and candy. But at the high tea, usually tea is served at one end of the dining table, and coffee (or punch) is served at the other end, with plates of sandwiches or buttered rolls, individual salads, and a desert (all cold dishes except beverages).

The "card table refreshments" usually consist of a salad, either buttered rolls or sandwiches, coffee, and some "sweet"—either cake, or a frozen dessert, or a fancy pastry or dessert. In fact this sort of menu is extremely flexible.

The bridge luncheon is like any other luncheon, except that foods, as far as possible, are divided into individual portions—that is, ramekins or individual casseroles are used when possible, as this saves time in serving—for, an afternoon at cards lies ahead. The bridge dinner, too, differs from other dinners for this same reason: who would care to spend time carving a roast or a chicken, when the evening of bridge is ahead? For instance, individual chicken pies are suitable for a bridge dinner, and patties for a bridge luncheon. For the bridge breakfast, a fancy omelet makes a good main dish—that is, an ordinary omelet with diced cooked bacon or other savory ingredient, folded into it.

Fairies are often held responsible for the alleged unluckiness of green for it is their favorite color, and they resent and punish any unsurpation of it by mortals, and it is also pointed out that green was at one time loked askance at by the church, because its association with pixies, hamadryads, and paganism generally proclaimed it a natural rather than a supernatural hue.

What Do You Think?

ASKS IF FOREST CAPITAL BEING PROTECTED HERE

To the Editor, The Daily News,
Dear Sir:

Again begging your pardon for the interruption, but I have been reading with interest several articles on the lumber productions and the forestry situation in British Columbia. Particularly those of Premier Tolmie on "The Value of British Columbia's Saw Timber Production", which appeared in your issue of January 1, 1930. Also the appeal of Hon. Charles Stewart for public support in forest protection, which appeared in your issue of January 10, 1930.

May I ask this question? Are the taxpayers and the lumber producers adequately protecting the forest capital of British Columbia? Are they taking adequate measures to insure the continuous production of their greatest revenue producer?

Taking the estimated production of 1929 as $90,000,000, and an interest rate of only three per cent, we find that we have a forest capital of $3,000,000,000. This is a very conservative estimate, the interest rate being low. Fairchild says it should be at least four per cent and the forest capital is only reckoned for the merchantable areas.

Supposing British Columbia was spending $1,000,000 annually on forest protection and improvements, this would only be three-hundredths (.03) per cent of her forest working capital. If she spent five millions annually, her approximate forest revenue, she would only be spending fifteen one-hundredths (.15 per cent) of her forest capital.

Fire is our greatest factor affecting the risk of investment in forest capital. If we were properly equipped to handle the maximum situation, the logger and lumberman could get fire insurance on his forest capital. New Hampshire and the Pacific coast loggers have tried forest fire insurance. It failed only through inadequate protection, and prevention measures. Most European countries have successful forest fire insurance.

Is the city of Nelson equipped only for the minimum fire risk? No, I think not. Chief Malloney has five men and two well equipped trucks ready for instant response to a fire alarm. Does the city of Nelson wait until the rubbish pile gets afire before they order it cleared away. No, they have adequate force to make inspections, see that they are carried out, and to handle instantly any out break, from the smallest to the maximum.

Are the tax-payers and the operators giving their forest capital or their forest branch a fair chance with limited funds? Can the present fine skeleton organization of the B. C. Forest Service handle even the minimum forest fire season efficiently? British Columbia has abundant natural resources of three kinds: 1st. Inexhaustible, water, land and air; 2nd. Exhaustible and non-restorable, minerals, oils, and gases; and 3rd. Exhaustible and restorable, forests and land fertility. Why not think about forest perpetuation before it is too late, and it's getting along to where it is nearly time to turn the hour glass over.

British Columbia is recognized in all forested countries, as having the most concise and efficient laws, which will enable her to perpetuate her greatest natural source of future wealth. Her forests. She is pointed to as an example the world over. British Columbia has the skeleton organization for the most efficient of forest services. Are the tax-payers backing up this organization. The forests are producing at least one-third of British Columbia revenue. What are we doing to inaure the continuous of this source?

Prevention of forest fires is not impossible, and equipment to handle those that do start is not impossible. The tax-payers should set up a goal towards which to work, this goal should be nothing less than;

One lookout to every fifty thousand acres.

One patrolman or smokechaser to every ten thousand acres .(1 mile trail to every square mile of timber.)

A three hour control for all green timber areas.

A one house control for all logger over and slash areas.

Two men available to send to each fire.

Men should be on all fires before they reach ten acres. The maximum area burned each year should not be allowed to be greater than one-quarter of one per cent. of the area protected. A least ten cents an acre should be spent annually in prevention rather than fifty in suppression.

The average net income for a forest on a sustained yield basis in south eastern British Columbia, taking $4.85 per thousand as a fair stumpage price, protection at 10c per acre, and interest compounded at 3 per cent, we find an average value of $109.12 per acre.protection cost $60.70 (10c at three per cent. compound) giving us a net income of $8.88 per acre or an average of nine cents per year. This figuring on 100 year ratation which is possible on a sustained yield basis.

Fire protection is the first essential of a sustained yield basis. Why not give the present fine forest branch organization sufficient funds to get us on a sustained yield, and give us eventually a greater revenue into our provincial pocket book.

Yes, and wouldn't you, Mr. Prospector, like to see more trails? Would not it help you out in the development of our mineral resources? May be you could get the patrolmen job, build that trail on the forest service during the summer and have your grub stake on which to do your assessment work.

Sincerely Yours,
J. HUME.

FIGHTING RHEUMATISM

There is so much rheumatism all over the world that an International League against rheumatism has been formed. Everything that might be causing rheumatism, everything that might be aggravating it, and everything that has been found helpful in preventing and curing it is being brought forward so that sufferers everywhere may get the benefit of all this research work.

Accordingly this League against rheumatism is trying to get everything on a basis so that workers will work from different angles but always with some definite object in view.

The damage rheumatism does to heart, joints, and muscles has been very well studied because the damage can bee seen. However the factors that enter into the causation of rheumatism is now receiving the most attention.

Years ago it was thought that rheumatism was inhirited, as it seems to occur more frequently in some families than in others. That there was something about their constitution that seemed to make them more likely to have attacks of rheumatism. This was thus called the 'rheumatic' constitution.

Then food was blamed, particularly meats. This was found to be an error and latterly starchy foods have been blamed.

Then the manner of living was blamed, rheumatism being thought to be caused by lack of exercise.

Later the atmosphere was considered the principal factor, and it was pointed out that England had so many cases because of the damp or moist climate.

Now these various things may be can be traced to infection of some kind, usually of teeth, tonsils, or gall bladder.

In the prepatatory schools in England a couple of years ago it was found that 95 per cent of the youngsters with rheumatism had bad tonsils.

The thought then in rheumatism is to try and locate the [illegible] that starts the fire.

This means of course that too much food, overwork, dampness or exposure, parents with a tendency to rheumatism, are what might be called the fuel ready to be burned. The match or spark is the infection from some source in the body.

MRS. BROWN SPEAKS MEETING W. C. T. U.

Has Contention That Government Control Detrimental to Province

At the regular meeting of the W C. T. U., held yesterday, Mrs. Dougal Brown gave an address dealing with the liquor question in the province. It was her contention that government control, no matter what the revenue derived therefrom, was not a builder of citizenship.

During the business session of the meeting preparations were made for the observance of Francis Willard day on February 17.

Mrs. W. M. Lutes, president of the W. C. T. U., presided at the meeting.

MRS. D. DONAGHY DIES AT COAST

Taken seriously ill on Christmas day, Mrs. Florence Murial Donaghy, wife of Dugald Donaghy, K. C., died at the family residence, 404 Somerset street, North Vancouver, Saturday, January 11.

Mrs. Donaghy visited Nelson about three years ago with her husband, and was well known to many here.

Mrs. Donaghy was a native of London, Ont., and resided in British Columbia for 43 years. She was in her fifty-third year and lived in North Vancouver 11 years.

The funeral was held on Monday services taking place at St. Andrew's United church, Rev. J. T. Switzer officiating.

Interment was in the family plot at North Vancouver cemetery.

Gains Are Many on Toronto and Vancouver Markets

MINING ACTIVITY AT TORONTO NEAR THAT OF A BOOM

Sudbury Basin Closes With Net Gain of 37 Cents; Ventures Up

NORANDA HAS A 60-CENT GAIN

Gains Also Recorded in the Oils; Near Actual Values of Stock

TORONTO, Jan. 14.—(By Hugh W. Robertson Ltd., leased wire). Trading today was again along spectacular lines on the Toronto standard stock and mining exchange and although some profits were taken near the end of the session, interest still remained keen. Various rumors are circulating around as to the reason for this sudden brisk trading but despite the many reasons given the fact remains that today's prices on the various issues showing upward movement are nearer actual values than those which have been obtaining during recent sessions.

MINING ACTIVITY HEAVY

In the mining section activity was exceptionally heavy. International Nickel, the Lindsley Group, Wright Hargreaves, Abana, Amulet, Pend Oreille, Teck Hughes and Howey Gold being very active. In fact, the activity in these stocks was nearly the equivalent to that of boom days. International Nickel traded within a small margin and closed unchanged from yesterday's close. Of the Lindsleys, Sudbury Basin was the heaviest trader from an opening at $3.35 to close of $3.75, net gain of 37 cents. Falconbridge Nickel gained 45 cents to close of $4.05. Sherritt Gordon gained five cents and Ventures 20 cents. Noranda at last sale recorded net gain of 60 cents.

Wright Hargreaves, rapidly nearing the dividend paying stage, appreciated 27 cents. Abana suffering under profit taking, receded three cents. Amulet gained three cents and Pend Oreille in heavy trading, 50 cents. Teck Hughes and Howey demonstrated the rapidity with which the gold issues are being accumulated and both closed with net gains apparent. oHwey up 11 cents and Teck up 10. Gains were also recorded in Big Missouri, Dome, Hollinger, Hudson's Bay, Kirkland Lake, Lake Shore, Manitoba Basin, McIntyre, Mining Corporation, Nipissing, San Antonio, Sisco, Sylvanite, Vipond, and Base Metals.

In the oils section Dalhousie, Calmont and A. P. Consolidated, traded heavily with East Crest, Home Oils, Mayland, also showing more than usual activity. Gains in this section were registered at close of the session in A. P. Consolidated up 24 cents, Associated up 15, Baltac up five, C. & E. up 30, Dalhousie up 30, East Crest up nine, Home Oil up $1.00, Mayland up 25 cents, Southwest Petroleum up five and Calmont up eight cents, although trading was light in the other oil issues, firmness was noted.

BULLISH FORCES CONTINUE HOLD NEW YORK LIST

Day's Sales Are Higher; Coppers Show Only Narrow Changes

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Bullish forces continued in control of the price movement in today's stock market but again lacked sufficient punch to lift the market out of the narrow trading area, within which it has been floundering since the turn of the year.

Prices of scores of issues were marked up two to six points in the early trading, but a renewal of short selling and profit-taking cut down the gains at the close. The day's sales of 1,883,440 shares were nearly 450,000 shares above those of yesterday, the dullest full session since July, 1928. The railroad shares failed to follow through on the rally which started yesterday, although moderate gains were recorded by Delaware and Hudson, Nickel Plate, Great Northern preferred, Atchison and a sprinkling of other issues.

Public utilities moved irregularly higher. American Telephone, American Power and Light, United Corporation and Consolidated Gas all closed a point or more higher. Western Union fell back 3½ points.

Motor shares continued rather sluggish, although the declines in the leaders were held to fractions. Oils also failed to make much headway.

Active coppers showed only narrow fractional changes. Equipments were quiet although Pullman extended its recent gain 1⅞ points.

ATTEMPT SHOW WHY RAISE IN TARIFF NEEDED

Arguments Presented by Dairy Council on Australian Problem

OTTAWA, Jan. 14—Arguments on behalf of the national dairy council of Canada showing why, in the opinion of that body, the trade treaty between Canada and Australia should undergo some adjustment in order that the dairy interests of this country might not be sacrificed for the sake, as one member phrased it, of selling papers and automobiles, were presented to the advisory board on tariff and taxation today. F. E. M. Robertson, president of the council, presented a brief, outlining a request which would have the effect of bringing the rates under the Australian treaty to the same basis as the British preferential tariff on imports of butter and cheese. He was supported by Father Leon Lebel, S. J., representing the Quebec council of agriculture, Robert Ness, of the Beauharnois live stock breeders' association; Dan McKeberg, of the Alberta Dairy and Creamery council, T. A. Gillespie, Peterboro, representing the Ontario, creamery mens association, and T. C. Colohoun, of Maple Creek, Saskatchewan Dairymens association. Opposing the dairymen's request were A. E. Darby secretary of the Canadian Council of Agriculture, R. J. Deachman, of the Consumers' League of Canada, B. McMiven, of the United Farmers of Ontario, and T. F. Gilroy, of the United Farmers of Ontario, cooperative society.

CHINESE NAVY'S CHIEF KIDNAPPED

FOOCHOW (China) Jan. 14.—Yang Shu-chang, commnader of the Chinese navy, and five members of the Fukien provincial government were kidnapped at an official dinner by a gang of bandits.

The bandits entered the dining-room and held up the guests with revolvers. Yang was seized and bound. He is believed to be still in this city, but the other five have been taken up the Minkiang to the bandit stronghold.

OIL BRIEFS

CALGARY, Jan. 14.—(By Hugh W. Robertson Ltd., leased wire). Mercury Oil has announced that No. 2 well will be completed to the lime with cable tools, work to start as soon as a new derrick can be built to replace that destroyed by fire last week. By using cable tools it will be possible to take whatever production there is available from the Dalhousie Sands. Reports from the field state that the gas flow has been subsiding and it now estimated at 2,000,000 feet a day. No 3 expects to be making new hole by Wednesday after an unsuccessful test for production from the Dalhousie Sands. Both wells will be completed in the lime with either cable or diamond drill.

Lowery Petroleum, just south of Associated No. 1, reached the lime at 5112 feet on Monday night, according to word from the well. Drilling will be continued for another 10 feet when casing will be run and cemented. Two weeks will probably elapse before the drill starts cutting in the producing horizon.

Calmont No. 10, located on the Dallas Lease, just west of Home Wells, was spudded in with cable tools on Saturday, according to a report last night. Calmont No. 2, 4, 6, 7, and 8 are located on the same 40-acre block.

Construction of a new derrick for Merland No. 1 will be started as soon as the weather moderates, according to Pat Adams, who drilled the well to production in the Dalhousie Sands. As soon as possible the well will be deepened to the lime from which formation big production is expected by geologists.

* * *

Lundy Petroleum, to be drilled by Pat Adams, will be making hole in about a week. The well was spudded in several days ago with gas pressure and boilers are now being rigged. This well is located about one and a quarter miles north of Merland.

* * *

Sterling Pacific was drilling at 5598 feet and 445 in the lime on Monday. No change in drilling conditions was reported.

* * *

Commonwealth Petroleums has announced that the second well, close to No. 1, will be started with cable tools shortly. Arrangements are being completed to start a well on Blood reserve shortly also. The company's Milk river well is reported to be running casing to what is believed to be the Madison-Devonian Lake contact, No. 1, Turner Valley, is still rigging a separator to test production from the Dalhousie Sands.

* * *

Mill City was drilling at 4282 feet on Monday and expecting to set 8¼-inch casing in the lime without stopping to test the Dalhousie Sands.

Turner Basin was drilling at 3680 feet yesterday with 10-inch casing at 3610 feet.

Western Alberta, in Highwood Structure, was drilling at 2970 feet on Monday. So good has been the recent oil showing uncovered by the rotary drill the oil is now noticeable in the sump and neighboring ditches.

* * *

A. P. Consolidated, No. 2, on Monday was preparing to drill to the lime after a test of the Dalhousie Sands for production. While the showings were good, officials of the company have decided that it would not be profitable to test the sands further.

Southwest Pete was drilling from 5997 feet and 54½ feet in the lime last night.

Okalta No. 2 was drilling from 4510 feet yesterday and expecting the lime at 4650 feet. No. 3 was down 326 feet and underreaming.

Freeman Lundy, in Central Turner Valley between Okalta and McLeod wells, reached the lime at 4891 feet on Saturday, according to an officer of the company. The crew was running 6¼ inch casing ot bottom at 4898 feet on Monday night. Drilling into the producing horizon with cable tools probably will be resumed in about two weeks.

SAYS CALIFORNIA MANUFACTURERS OF WINE SHIP HERE

Claims Are Licenced to Do So by Government of the United States

VANCOUVER, Jan. 14 — California wine manufacturers are seeking to flood the Canadian market with wine manufactured in the United States since the Volstead act went into effect, and hundreds of gallons of wine containing more than 20 per cent alcohol, aged in the wood for three or four years are being offered to the Canadian liquor trade, according to Gordon W. Ross, secretary of the British Columbia Moderation league.

Mr. Ross points out that this is in no sense a bootlegging operation as the agents of the California wineries represent they are able to secure United States treasury permits for the transaction. The same procedure has been applied to the shipment of United States treasury permits, Mr. Ross declared.

"There seems to be a certain inconsistency in the proposal of the United States to put large numbers of armed soldiers on the Canadian border to prevent a trickle of Canadian liquor when the United States permits the manufacture of huge quantities of wine for export to Canada," Mr. Ross pointed out.

He also stressed the absurdity of the United States demand that Canada stop liquor clearances across the line when United States manufacturers of liquor are allowed to compete in world markets.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Elimination from the Congressional Record of the frequently interjected word "applause" was urged in the House by Representative Underhill, Republican, Massachusetts.

His suggestion was greeted by applause.

Underhill is chairman of the accounts committee, which handles legislative funds of the House.

MONTREAL LIST STRENGTHENED

Montreal Power Advances to Feature Day's Session; Four Points Up

MONTREAL, Jan. 14.—An increased turnover tended to strengthen the market on the Montreal stock exchange today and the prices of the trading leaders were generally higher.

The day's feature was the advance in Montreal Power, which rose five points from yesterday's close of 131 but closed at 135, four points up and one point below the high.

The power issues were strong throughout. Shawinigan closed 1¼ higher at 80, after touching 80½. Quebec Power advanced 1½ at 67 and Power Corporation one at 75. The papers were steady.

International Nickel, the trading favorite, closed ½ up at 35⅞. Brazilian was slightly off at the close.

National Steel Car was a strong spot, closing at 62½ on an increased demand. The activity of Bell Telephone was greater than usual lately and it gained four points to 155.

Total sales were 40,240 shares.

Well-Known Mining Engineers Open an Office in Nelson

R. H. Stewart, P. W. Racey and Dr. Victor Dolmage Located Here

Confidence in the immediate future of mining in the Kootenays is shown by the establishment in Nelson of an office by R. H. (Pat) Stewart, P. W. (Bob) Racey and Dr. Victor Dolmage.

Mr. Stewart, former general manager of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company of Canada, has been active in mining circles throughout Canada and the United States during the last 30 years or more, and is especially well known in British Columbia.

Mr. Racey, who also spent much time in the employ of the Consolidated, has been associated with mining in the west for many years, during which he was in charge of mining operations for the Belmont Surf Inlet Mines, Ltd., at Surf Inlet, B. C., and later was manager of the Tonopah Belmont Development company at Tonopah, Nevada, etc.

DR. DOLMAGE KNOWN

Dr. Dolmage is equally well known here, due to his close association with British Columbia while with the Dominion geological survey's branch in this province, of which he was in charge from 1923 until his resignation last spring to commence practice as a consulting geologist.

The association will deal with all phases of mining and metallurgy, including geological and mine examination and the development and examination of mines.

The new office will be located at 516 Ward street, and will be in the direct charge of Mr. Racey, who will shortly move his place of residence to Nelson from the south.

HOME OIL IS A HIGH LIGHT

Has Overnight Gain of 75 Cents and Closes at Price of $3.90

VANCOUVER, Jan. 14—(By Hugh W. Robertson, Ltd., leased wire)—Although some profits were taken at mid session on the Vancouver stock exchange today gains were listed in practically every oil issue at close. Brisk trading held until the close of the session. The board at close showed more activitvity than has been evident for many months. Interest in the board as a whole is again running high.

Home was one of the high lights of the day's trading from an opening at $9.25, overnight gain of 75 cents, to close of $9.30. This stock was one of the issues to suffer under liquidation at mid session but with renewal of buying interest, price again moved to higher levels. A. P. Consolidated also traded in practically the same manner as Home, opening higher, receding under profit taking grand ???? ing with net gain of 12 cents.

ARE SURPRISES

Dalhousie and McLeod were two of the surprises of the day, both these stocks showed exceptional activity, much beyond that usually shown, and closed considerably higher than Monday's closing quotations. Dalhousie up 41 cents and McLeod up $1.20. C. and E. shared in the general upward movement and closed with net gain of 20 cents. Gains were also returned in Associated, Commonwealth, Freehold, Illinois Alberta, Mayland, Mercury, Mill City, Southwest Pete, Sterling Pacific, United, Vanalta and Eastcrest.

The Metaline issues featured trading in the mining issue and Reeves-McDonald at close showed gain of 35 cents. Pend Oreille, 85 cents, and Grandview, was fractionally higher at 13¼ cents. Big Missouri, George Copper, Noble Five, the other mining issues traded lightly near recent levels.

BONSPIEL IS NOW UNDERWAY AT BLAIRMORE

Twenty-Five Rinks Report for Play With Thermometer at Zero

ALL CROW CENTERS ARE REPRESENTED

Alberta Rinks Beat British Columbia in the Interprovincial Play

BLAIRMORE, Alta., Jan. 14.—The Crow's Nest bonspiel opened at Blairmore at 10 o'clock Monday morning. Twenty-five rinks reported for play. The thermometer registered about zero, and the ice was in first class condition. Three sheets of ice in the curling rink with an addition of five sheets in the skating rink adjoining are being used.
The following rinks are attending the 'spiel: Cameron of Cranbrook, Kastner, Herchmer and Stewart of Fernie; Moores, Boulton, McBurney, Lidieu of Coleman; Congdon, McDougall, Rhymes, Upton, Morgan, Chappell and Wilson of Blairmore; Fisher, Kerr and Turner of Belleview; Kirkham and Greenwoy of Lethbridge; Ringrose of Clarisholm; Monkman of Nanton, and Kelly and Allison of Pincher Creek.
Fernie usually sends five or six rinks to its district bonspiel. This year the civic elections which take place next Thursday have interefered with many who intended going to the 'spiel. The call of the besom and the stanes, however, were too much for two of the candidates. Robert Kerr who is out for alderman, and Alfred Cumming who is running for school trustee, have left the election fight for the more interesting competitions of the 'spiel.
INTERPROVINCIAL PLAY
The 'spiel opened with the interprovincial competitions in which four rinks from British Columbia played four rinks from Alberta. In this competition the Albertan's were successful, making 37 points to the British Columbians 30.
The following were the rinks playing:
Interprovincial results, with British Columbia skips mentioned first, were: Stewart 5, Kelly 13; Kastner 8, Kerr 11; Herchman 11, Morgan 6; Cameron 8, oBulton 7. Total—British Columbia 30, Alberta 37.
The play continued throughout the day until midnight.

Cannibalism Now Taking Toll, China

SHANGHAI, Jan. 14.—Harrowing stories of wholesale cannibalism, were aided today to the tales of horror recounted of famine and cold that are reported to have taken 2,000,000 lives in China within eight months. Another 2,000,000 persons are said to be doomed to die by starvation.
Typhus, grim sister of famine, is charged with the death of unnumbered thousands and 3,000,000 Mohammedan fanatics are accused of massacreing all adult males of numerous villages of Kansu province.
George Andrews, a missionary born in Kansu province and just returned from nine months of relief work there, said that famine, disease and exposure in Kansu, Shensi and Shansi provinces had caused one of the most terrible situations ever experienced in China in which plagues of disease and famine are common and life is cheap.

BOY KING GETS ARMS TRAINING

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Jan. 14.—King Michael, 8 years of age, is learning to shoot. An army officer has been assigned to instruct him, and before the winter is over he will join in a shooting party on the estate surrounding a new palace just presented to him at Poiana Itzkanilor in Bukowina.
His Majesty will accompany the first party as a spectator and later on will participate in the shooting.

GOLF ON THE ROCKS

A slice or hook on Oak Bay course, Victoria, may land the golfers in serious trouble but that's the only disadvantage of winter golf in the Island Capital. Sea-girt Oak Bay course may be in use again for the Canadian Pacific's Empress midwinter golf tournament Feb. 17-22. The tourney is scheduled for beautiful Colwood but the smaller Oak Bay course also may be in action to accomodate the big field of amateurs expected to enter.

Hack Wants Three Bagger or More

By AL DEMAREE
(Former Pitcher New York Giants-
Joe McCarthy, manager of the Chicago Cubs, gets quite a kick out of a story he tells about "Hack" Wilson, the pudgy little home run hitter, and goat of the late world series.
Wilson, who prides himself on being a long hitter, was moping around the Cub clubhouse one day last summer. He apparently was in most dejected spirits.
"What's the matter, Mack, What are you so blue about?" asked McCarthy.
"Aw, I always feel bum when I ain't hitting."
"What do you meap, you're not hitting?" replied McCarthy. Didn't you get two today, one yesterday and three two days ago?"
"Aw, that ain't hitting," continued the dejected Hack. "What the hell good is singles?"
Which just about sums up the average hitter's opinion. Joe Dugan used to have an awful time when he was with the Yankees. Though a good hitter e was not a long hitter.
"After Lazerri, Ruth, Gehrig and Mleusel hit their triples and home runs," said Joe, I would come along wi my measly little single and felt like I was striking out."

RANGERS GET FIRST VICTORY OVER DETROIT

Take Game by 3-0 Score to Save Third Place From the Cougars

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—The New York Rangers saved third place in American group of the National Hockey League from the attacks of the Detroit Cougars tonight by shutting out the Detroit team, three to nothing in a dull game. It was the first Ranger victory of the year over the Cougars.
The clever Ranger forward line of Bill and Bun Cook and Frank Boucher had one of its nights when both shots and passes were working right and put in three goals before the contest was half over.

Grove Struck Out 170 Batsmen in American League

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—While Robert Mose Grove, signular pitching ace of the champion Philadelphia Athletics was generally conceded to be the class of American League moundsmen in 1929, Jonathon Thompson Zachary, veteran Yankee southpaw dished up just enough of his side arm slants, to win the mathematical championship. He topped all pitchers in the circuit with a low earned run average of 2.47 for each nine inning game.
However, he toiled but 120 innings whereas Grove pitched 275 innings. The Philadelphia star was strike-out king of the circuit too, for the second successive year, whiffing 170 batsmen.

Athletics Share With Browns in Defense Baseball

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—The world's champion Philadelphia Athletics and the St. Louis Browns had the tightest defenses of all American League clubs in 1929, official fielding averages disclosed today.
The Athletics accepted 5684 chances and the Browns 5971, each compiling a grand season's average of .975 or three points higher than the leading mark recorded by Washington in 1928 and two points less than the all-time major league record established by the New York Yankees in 1923.

Brighton and Hove Win in Replayed Game

LONDON, Jan. 14—In a replayed game from the third round of the English football association cup competition today Brighton and Hove defeated Grimsby Town by one goal to nothing. In the fourth round Brighton and Hove will play at Portsmouth. Today's match took place at Grimsby.
Nelson defeated Rochdale by one goal to nothing in a northern section, third division English legue soccer match.

SOMERS FINED $50 FOR HIS PART, FIGHT

Bill Cook, New York Rangers, His Opponent, Is Also Nicked

MONTREAL, Jan. 14—Fines of $50 apiece in addition to the match penalties were handed out today by President Frank Calder of the National Hockey league to Bill Cook, New York Rangers and Art Somers, Chicago Black Hawks, for fighting in the game on Sunday night at Chicago.
Neither of the offending players will be on his team's line up tonight, but will be in line for the next games.
Somers is a former Pacific Coast Hockey league player, drafted this year from Frank Patrick's Vancouver Lions, last year champions of the league. He was captain of the Lions.

LONDON LOSES 2-0 IN DETROIT GAME

DETROIT, Jan. 14.—Dolly Dolson, former Cougar goalie, came home to Olympia arena tonight in London regalia and received a hot reception. The Olympics treated him to a shower of rubber. He stopped all but two, but those two were sufficient to send back the fast climbing invaders by a count of two to nothing.
It was one of the hardest fought games of the season on Detroit ice.

The Dangerous Road

By Nancy Barr Mavity

CHAPTER 43

After that telephone call, sleep was out of the question. And yet, oddly enough, thought Joyce, after the first shock it had a steadying effect on her agitated spirit. It was something definite to meet and she would meet it. She took a scalding hot bath and was dressed for the office by the time Jeannie awoke. She did not even feel tired—only oddly detached, as if her body did not quite belong to her and left her mind swinging free in a clarity of its own.

She paused for a moment outside the front display windows of the store before going around to the employee's entrance. She had stopped before she realized what it was that was halting her footsteps. Then, with a start her brain awoke to the message which her eyes had already received. The window was strange, and yet startlingly familiar. Poised like delicate, brilliant butterflies, above a floor covering of dull green, were six children's dresses. A lettered placard on a standard in the center held the legend: "Announcing the introduction of the Jeannie Frocks—Third Floor Annex".

They were there — her dresses! Joyce's heart took a fluttering leap into her throat. They were real! Even when she had drawn all her available money out of the bank for Mr. Rosenblatt, Joyce had never quite believed in them before. They had been an idea, a dream—and now they were there in the window. Her heart was pounding so that she could hardly breathe. How ridiculous of your insides to take a hand in things like this.

Without waiting to take her hat and coat to the locker, she ran up the stairs, scorning the elevator, to Miss Carew's office.

"Did you know that they were mine?" she panted between gasping breaths.

"My dear, what are you talking about?" The gray-haired buyer's eyes looked sharply up at her over the lens of her glasses. "Have you lost something—or have you just gone crazy?"

"The dresses—the Jeannie frocks", Joyce explained a little more calmly though her hand still pressed against her heaving chest. "I designed them, you know. I had Mr. Rosenblatts factory make them up. I thought—if you knew—if you took them maybe just to help me out, why," she ended with a note of dignity, "that would be a mistaken kindness, Miss Carew."

"The Jeannie frocks—?" Miss Carew felt as if her wits were being blown about like sheets of paper in a high wind.

"Yes; perhaps you've forgotten—they're on display in the window next the front entrance,' Joyce said faintly. After all, the dresses were not so important to anyone except herself.

"Of course I haven't forgotten a display like that," Miss Carew said crisply. "If I were that big a fool I wouldn't be holding my present job. But you do jump at one so—and you weren't what you'd call explicit you know. Of course I didn't know you made them. And the thing I'd like to know is, why didn't I? Why didn't you come to me, yourself with them?'

"I couldn't do that. You've been so kind to me. You might, in spite of yourself, have been inclined to think better of them than they deserved, just because you'd want to help me out!"

"The prestige of having your dresses featured by Shreveport and Howe would be just as good, however they got there," Miss Carew said dryly.

"But it wouldn't last, you know. It wouldn't be real," Joyce persisted. "I just can't help being glad you didn't know."

"You're far more sensible than you can possibly realize. Most beginners overlook the advantage of pull. But it doesn't last, and they can never be sure of where they really stand. I'm glad, too, that I didn't know—because now you'll have to believe me when I say I think you've got a very good line there. I believe it will go just about as far as you are able to push it".

"As far as—then I've got to be able to push it—I've got to! And you have helped me beyond words, given me confidence. I—I think you're very lovely, Miss Carew."

It had been a good many years since anyone had called Blanche Carew lovely, and quite as many since young arms had been flung around her neck and young lips pressed against her cheek. She was called a tartar by her subordinates, through whose excuses she saw unerringly, and "hard-boiled" by the manufacturers, who found it inadvisable to attempt to "put anything over" on her. Her salary was $20,000 a year. And yet it had been a very long time, indeed, since any business success had made her want to fling her arms around someone's neck. Success did not matter much unless you had something to succeed for, something to give it a meaning beyond itself. Middle-aged thoughts! What did this girl want her success for? Did she know, with her youth and ambition?

But she did not say these things. She patted Joyce's arm so awkwardly that her nose glasses were jerked down the by cord and hung danging.

"You needn't think a buyer could live by helping out lame ducks." Her lips were tight drawn in a sardonic smile, but her voice was husky and the usually snapping eyes were fusfused with unexpected tears as she fumbled for the cord and replaced the glasses on her nose. "Only your duck isn't lame. But I hope those won't be the only wings for you, my dear. I rather thought that you and Mr. Grainge—"

"Oh, please—" Joyce's hand was thrust out blindly, warding off the words. Miss Carew hoped for a pretty pink and white romance! Well, let her keep her illusions. "I must go—but I do thank you," she said, and slipped hastily out of the door.

She ran down the stairs, fleeing from Miss Carew's last words. She forced her mind back to the question of the dresses, pushing her thoughts into place, climbing painfully back to rationality. She must take a chance—she must make her chance! As if sharing it would clinch that decision, she stepped to one of the telephone booths. Suppose Mr. Rosenblatt were not there yet—but he must be there! He had, in fact, been at the lots for more than an hour, but Joyce had yet to learn that there are business circles which begin their revolutions before 9 o'clock in the morning.

"Yes, what is it? I hate der telephone!" Unmistakably, that was he. "Oh, it is Miss Avery! I think you may draw the portrait, Miss Avery. I think you have saved the life of Max Rosenblatt."

"You mean the orders have gone well?"

"That is what I mean. All we can make, we sell. If we could have had more, it would be the better. The salesman, he promise more than we can execute. There is not here the money, nor the machines. We must clip the wings of those orders, so that they hop, not fly. But to hop is something."

Joyce's heart had stopped thudding. She felt utterly calm, and cold even under her coat. There was a little rip in her glove, she noticed, on the hand that held the receiver. She must borrow a needle and thread and mend it.

"If you had the capital, so that you could use more machines and workers, you could fill the orders. Is that it?"

"That is always it," Mr. Rosenblatt's voice fell to its mournful diapason.

Not even the telephone wire could flatten the brazen bells of Max Rosenblatt's mightly laughter.

"You think, if anybody told me he could get me the money he could have my partnership, yes? But you would have mistake. I have loved my business—first in a little shed then here in this loft—I have loved my business for forty years. And Isadore Stirn, who was my partner, him, too, I have loved. Only one that I can love will I have in the business that I love. If not, it must even die, be buried in the grave or my friend. If you are my partner, will you think only of the money, the orders? Or will you forget that the old man has the funny English and the dirty finger nails (Oh, yes, I know they are dirty!) and the back of the sitting-down camel? Are you sure that you want to be the partner of old Max Rosenblatt?"

"Mr. Rosenblatt, there isn't a single thing about you that I would forget for anything. I think you're an absolute dear! I don't even know whether I can get the money to back us or not, but if I can, I'll be proud if you'll accept me as a partner—and a friend. Only, do you mind telling why you thought it was funny?"

"Why I laugh? Perhaps I laugh—because I want to cry. I wish I were more sure of God—that I might say, 'God bless you'."

"I think you might risk it," Joyce said softly, as she replaced the receiver on its hook.

Nelson Senior Hockey Team Loses Valuable Forward From Lineup

When Jack Annable left yesterday morning for San Francisco the Nelson senior hockey team lost one of its fastest forwards. Through the first two games played by Nelson this season against Rossland and Trail Jack has shown the opposing boys how to skate and check and his absence from the game during the remainder of the season will be sorely felt.

It was intimated last night that he will return from this trip early in the spring.

DIVORCE BILLS THREATEN GALE IN PARLIAMENT

Premier King Cannot Promise Solution This Term, But Will Work on Question

OTTAWA, Jan. 14.—Divorce, which proved such a contentious question during the last session of parliament, threatens to be a storm centre once again unless some solution which will appeal to all factions in the house of commons is discovered. Last session was staged a rebellion against the usual method of handling divorce bill in the house of commons. Led by J. S. Woodsworth, Labor member for Winnipeg north centre, opponents of the process whereby divorce bills which had been approved by the senate went through the commons as a matter of form, voiced strenuous objection. Members objected to approving legislation which they knew nothing about. Mr. Woodsworth protested strongly against any effort to pass several bills en bloc, and, for a time insisted that the member s sponsoring the measures furnish the house with explanations. A partial blockade developed and a more serious one threatened.

The intervention of Premier Mackenzie King, during the month of April last, doubtless helped in the temporary solution of the problem. It was on April 22, when debate on the propriety of parliament granting divorces and the need of divorce courts in Ontario was in full swing, that the prime minister spoke briefly. He pointed out that parliament had, during that very session, decided against the establishment of a divorce court for the province of Ontario. For the time being, therefore, it appeared necessary to deal with divorce applications, as in the past, by private bill. But the government would continue to give very serious consideration to the matter.

"I could not promise that we will find a solution during this session of parliament," added Mr. King, "but I would express the hope that by another session, by conference in the interval with members of the house and by other methods, we may find it possible to effect some arrangement which will enable those seeking divorce to secure such redress as should be given them by a means which will commend itself more completely to parliament and avoid a recurrence of a situation such as we have at the moment."

ONE BLOND HAIR IS NOT ENOUGH

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 14.—Merely finding a blond hair and a woman's comb in her husband's automobile was not enough evidence to obtain a divorce for Mrs. Dorothy Robinson from Hubbell Robinson, in the opinion of Superior Judge Mahon, who denied [illegible] her decree.

Mrs. Robinson said that one morning when she opened the door of her husband's car she found a woman's [illegible] she examined a long blond hair. When she asked her husband about it he is asserted to have told her it was none of her business.

The wife further declared that while she was at home her husband went out with a show girl named Jacqueline.

CENSUS TAKER SEES HE'S STUNG

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—An appeal to all owners of bees to assist the [illegible] census taker in taking a country-wide [illegible] is being made by the bee-culture division of the Department of Agriculture.

City bees as well as country bees, and bees that live in the country but whose owners live in the city are to be counted in this 1930 decennial census.

City-owned bees will be listed as "live stock not on farms and ranges", by consent of the Bureau of the Census.

DAUGHTER SUED FOR PROPERTY

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 14.—Mrs. Retta Hawkins, 79 years of age, appeared in [illegible] to contest her suit to recover property valued at $10,000 which, she asserts, she gave to her daughter, Mrs. Jessie Hirsch, on condition that Mrs. Hirsch would support her.

According to Mrs. Hawkin's petition her daughter has given her only $25 since December, 1927. The case will be continued.

POISON DRINKER REGRETS HIS ACT

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 14.—After taking poison, Herbert I. Howell, 30 years of age of 835 South [illegible] st drove his car to the hospital where prompt treatment was given. According to the hospital record Howell said he had become despondent because his wife left him, and that he drank poison, instantly regretting his act. He is expected to recover.

ROTARIANS HEAR LATEST PROJECT OF CLUB, GARLAND

Canadian Clubs Will Sponsor Important Movement

At the weekly luncheon of the Nelson Rotary club held Monday C. B. Garland, as chairman of the Canadian program work committee, dealt shortly with this phase of Rotary as advised by the Canadian advisory council of Rotary International.

At present Canadian Rotary clubs are sponsoring a movement whereby they may, through a process of unobtrusive education, persuade 1000 citizens of the country who have not taken out their naturalization papers, to do so within a year period.

Many persons, he pointed out, now living in Canada have not become naturalized citizens merely through thoughtlessness. These persons should necessarily be invited to take out their naturalization papers.

In the case of immigrants, they are, for the most part, courageous and aggressive folks who eventually make excellent citizens. These people too, should be educated along the lines of citizenship.

Canadian rotary clubs, Mr. Garland explained, practically unanimously favors the idea of a campaign to get at least 1000 worthy citizens of the country to take out their naturalization papers inside a year period.

BOXED EARS OF A BOXER

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 14.—Harry Fignelle of [illegible] met his match at the border in the person of State Traffic Officer Leslie [illegible] Court. Justice Arthur L. Munro accordingly fined the loser $50 and added a parting admonition.

[illegible] for intoxication as he crossed from below the border.

"Say, listen, Bo", he told the wiry young officer, "you're just a copper, see? Well, I'm a boxer. I'm from the best West Coast stable of plain and fancy ring men that's to be found. I could have been a cop like you, see? But I preferred to be what I am today."

He preferred Ford one of his business cards, and started to pass on. Ford detained him. Things happened. One result of what happened was that when Fignelle appeared in court his clothing was muddled. It rained down at the border, he explained to the judge.

GIVES REASONS FOR WINNIPEG BROKERS' CHECK

WINNIPEG, Jan. 14—"Stobie-Forlong-Matthew, limited, and Solloway-Mills and company have not been singled out for any other reason than that they are the largest mining brokers in the city," stated W. R. Cottingham, chairman of the Manitoba municipal and public utility board, here.

Provincial government auditors, working under orders of the attorney general's department by request of Mr. Cottingham commenced the auditing of two financial houses here today.

"The board is not raising any question of the solvency of the firms," added Mr. Cottingham, "and at present has no object beyond the beginning an investigation into stock brokerage practice. Their being taken together has no significance." Mr. Cottingham referred to the audits as merely a check-up in method of trading.

APIARIST TELLS WHAT HONEY IS

Is an Energy Producing Food, Considered to Be Best of All Sweets

Honey is an energy producing food and in addition is considered to be the best of all sweets, according to C. B. Gooderham, Dominion apiarist. It comes direct from nature unchanged and untreated by human agency. Honey is the nectar of flowers gathered and modified by honey-bees and stored in their hives as food. It contains approximately 75 per cent sugar; 18 to 20 per cent water, small quantities of mineral salts and other substances which impart flavour and aroma.

Honey ranges from water white to almost black in color and has as many flavors as there are flowers, usually the lighter its color the more delicate its flavour. Practically all Canadian honey granulates sooner or later, this phen- [illegible] content and its degree of ripeness.

SIGN OF PURITY

Granulation does not impair the quality of flavor of honey nor is it, as many suppose, an indication of adulteration, rather it is a sign of purity. Granulated honey can readily be returned to its liquid form by standing the container in hot water. It should not, however, be heated to more than 140 degrees Fahrenheit, or its flavor and aroma will be destroyed and the color darkened.

If extracted honey is to be stored for any length of time, it should be kept in a cool dry room but comb honey should be kept warm and dry.

Honey is valuable as a food because practically all its sugar is in inverted [illegible] the body and places no tax on the digestive system as do most other sugars. In addition to the sugars it contains certain other elements that are essential to the human body. As a sweet it is unsurpassed. It is the only sweet that comes unchanged from nature, and was at one time, the world's only sweet.

CHRIST CHURCH REPORTS GOOD YEAR, CRESTON

Different Organizations Up to Mark; Cash Balances on Hand

Creston, B. C. Jan. 14—But one disappointment was experienced in connection with the reports presented at the annual meeting of Christ church congregation, which was held in the Parish Hall on Friday night, with the rector, Rev. A. Garlick, presiding, and a representative turnout of members and adherents to help transact the round of business.

With the exception of Erickson, where it had been found impossible to keep the Sunday school open, all points in the parish, as well as all the organizations, reported satisfactory years

At Creston the Ladies Guild report, submitted by Mrs. F. H. Jackson, revealed the fact that all obligations undertaken by the guild had been met, and that 1930 will see the final payment on the 10-year loan carried by the new rectory. For this year, too, the ladies contemplate financing putting electric light in the church and parish hall.

WOMAN'S AUXILIARY

For the Woman's Auxiliary, Mrs. Matt. York submitted a statement showing all the objectives met and a small balance to the good. For the Sunday school Mrs. R. Thurston reported attendances well up to the average but regretted a shortage of teachers.

J. W. Hamilton, treasurer had a small cash balance to report on church management for the year, which had been one of extra financing in some departments. For the time the church was open attendances had been well maintained and the number taking communion was well up to the average.

The Erickson Ladies' Guild had a better year financially than in 1928. Camp Lister was more enthusiastic in attending monthly worship, and Mrs. Bird and Mrs. Millner are conducting sewing classes in connection with the Sunday school effort, as well as paying some attention to teaching singing.

CHURCH FOR WYNNDEL

In addition to contributing generously to the schemes of the Church Wynndel has a surplus in reserve which is for the building of a church at that point when development warrants. At present the Anglican arising the United Church erected at Wynndel some four years ago. Yahk [illegible] had a good year also, but in view of some uncertainty as to commercial activities at that point in 1930, a larger surplus than usual is being retained.

In the election of officers R. A. Palfreyman was named people's warden; James Cook rector's warden C. B. Twigg, vestry clerk; J. W. Hamilton, treasurer. The vestrymen are Teddy Hassins, John Hall, W. H. Kemp, H. Young, F. H. Jackson, A. A. J. Collis, Jeff Collis. Representatives to synod, Col. Mallandaine, J. W. Hamilton, J. Cook and C. B. Twigg. There were hearty votes of thanks to the retiring officers,, organist, Sunday school teachers, and ladies' organization generally. At the close of the business session the wives of the church vestrymen provided lunch.

Now that electricity is available it is most likely a special effort will be made to secure funds with which to wire the rectory as well as the church and parish Hall. Financial obligations to be met this year are increased over 1929 due the fact that Creston's portion of what is commonly termed the block assessment has been raised somewhat.

PREVENTS PURSUIT BY STEALING PANTS

ATLANTIC CITY N. J., Jan. 13—Nine bandits armed with sawed-off shotguns and revolvers, held up Patrick Trotta's pool room and restaurant in Landisville, four miles from Vineland, and robbed about forty patrons whom they lined up against the wall and stripped of their trousers.

The bandits escaped in an automobile after piling the trousers in automobiles with about $4,000 cash and the wallets, watches and other valuables taken from their victims. State police at Hammondion and Malaga said they were without information of the hold-up.

Needless Pain!

The man who wouldn't drive his motorcar half a mile when it's out of order, will often drive his brain all day with a head that's throbbing.

Such punishment isn't very good for one's nerves! It's unwise, and it's unnecessary. For a tablet or two of Aspirin will relieve a headache every time. So, remember this accepted antidote for pain, and spare yourself a lot of needless suffering. Read the proven directions and you'll discover many valuable uses for these tablets. For headaches; to check colds. To ease a sore throat and reduce the infection. For relieving neuralgic, neuritic, rheumatic pain.

People used to wonder if Aspirin might be harmful. The doctors answered that question years ago.

It is not. Some folks still wonder if it really does relieve pain. That's settled! For millions of men and women have found it does. To cure the cause of any pain you must consult your doctor; but you may always turn to Aspirin for immediate relief.

PROGRESSION

PROBABLY no other factor has so contributed to progress and to the well-being of the people as has Electricity, and each year Canada is taking greater advantage of the accomplishments of Electrical Science.

As a result, the activities of the Northern Electric Company have been extended from coast to coast. In its great plants are manufactured the telephone with its many accessories; the massive cables and the hair-like wires used to transmit the current; the fire-alarm systems which protect our lives and properties; talking motion picture equipment for our entertainment; and other electrical utilities.

Through its complete chain of branch warehouses, this Company also makes available well-known brands of electrical appliances to lighten the work of the housewife.

necessary I am satisfied that Dick Barnes will be mayor for 1930." was the mayor's answer amid applause.

35½ INCHES SNOW

Delving further into the question of snow fall and the conditions of the streets, Mayor Barnes stated that the snowfall according to measurements by John Bell, had amounted to 35½ inches in less than a week. The question of moving the snow had been brought up in council by Alderman Mackenzie. It was a big jjob without equipment. A thaw set in and the council decided to wait so that they could move less snow. Street crossings were terrible Christmas eve. Efforts were made to get a government plow. One was available but the driver could not be found. The public works did all in their power to keep the crossings free. Teams and trucks were put to work but frost set in. The mayor stated it was too bad he was not a superman so that he could see Nelson was to have 35 inches of snowfall." I fell down on that ocasion. I must apologize for the weather," he said.

1930 PLATFORM

Mayor Barnes then shifted to his platform for 1930 f elected. The first item dealt with was the distribution line of the city electrical department. The city must guarantee itself against power shutdowns. He suggested a bylaw to cover an amount necessary to rectify the distribution system. The new electrical superintendent, Mr. Fleet, who will shortly take over the work here, had been over the lines, stated the mayor, and was of the opinion that the Bonnington power line, if the poles are snubbed, could be made suitable for one year more. This would allow for further clearing this year.

Owing to the heavy investment of radio fans in Nelson, a sum fo $75.000 having been invested, it was necessary that the distribution system in the city be overhauled and the leakage stopped.

Early righting of the water system was the mayor's second plank. The council had been shown that the Five Mile supply was not entirely satisfactory. During the past year the city engineer had been securing data on various supplies. This was checked by the government engineer. Further investigationo would be carried out for immediate relief.

Remedy of conditions at the city cemetery was another plank. This spot, stated the mayor should be one of the prttiest in town. He urged means of a sufficient water supply to keep the cemetery in first class shape.

A fair building for Nelson was another question in the mayor's platform. He was of the opinion Nelson should have a building, but suggested a public meeting to discuss the project.

Construction of street paving from the revenue was another plank.

Mayor Barnes quoted figures to show that city finances under his administration were sound.

RATES EQUALIZATION

Turning to equalization of electrical power rates Mayor Barnes termed it a subject for a lot of thought. The power plant was owned by the property owners of Nelson. In the case of non-property owners the only way the city had of raising taxation was through the public utilities. The ratepayers stated the rate was strong, but if it were lowered it would mean that the city would have to dig up the money some where else. If the city could sell the product of its public utilities at a good price, indirectly, it was saving the ratepayers money. There was about $1000 per week profit in the power plant. If the rates were lowered the non-property owner would be the gainer not the ratepayer.

In conclusion Mayor Barnes appealed for support, declaring his policy would be a continuation of the one outlined.

NOTHING IN THE PAPER

Alderman J. P. Morgan, who had been invited to the platform on his entry to the meeting, was called upon by the chairman. He made a plea for support on his five year record as an alderman. He discussed the power question and believed there had been some jockeying with the $3000 bylaw money referred to by Mayor Barnes. It was not stolen though, he stated, and it made little difference where it was used.

He asked why it was necessary that all this talk of the council doings should come up at this time. The meetings were covered by The Daily News reporters. One was at every meeting.

"But when the paper comes out there is nothing in it," declared Alderman Morgan.

It brought a laugh all round.

"I mean," stated Mr. Morgan corrected himself, "there is no council news in it."

There were lots of discussions at the council meetings. All questions discussed by the speakers were discussed by the council, but there was never anything about them in the paper, he said. "Why don't they put something in it?" he demanded.

Forgetting the paper Mr. Morgan went on to the fair building proposition. It was a good proposition but not one for the city to delve into. He believed in the city aiding the fair board, but did not favor a plan whereby the ratepayers should build it.

NO BLAME TO COUNCIL

He was in favor of keeping the electrical system up to the mark. No blame could be attached to the mayor or aldermen for the breaks that had occurred. No blame could be attached to the council for the abnormal snowfall. There was no money available, that was all.

The Daily News had not told the ratepayers these facts. Yet the reporter was at the meeting.

He would see that money was not spent wastefully if elected, and pledged support to whoever was elected as mayor. He appealed for support that would elect him "on Wednesday".

Mayor Barnes at this point rose and stated that the city's financial showing was fair and that receipts from power rates were greater in December than any other month. Receipts usually ran at about $10,000 in December they were $13,000.

REDPATH HEARD

E. R. Redpath, candidate for alderman, declared in his opinion the Barnes' regime had been a progressive one. He pledged support to whichever candidate was elected mayor. He was a beliver in permanent streets and sidewalks and was glad construction was going on out of the revenue. There was apparently some work required in the power lines. Radio fans, with their heavy investment, needed protection. The question of clearing snow was gone into by Mr. Redpath who urged preparedness, as is the practise of the railroad firms, and all big cooperations. He dealt with the question of turkeys for civic employees at Christmas. It was a gift that was coming to the city employees at the yuletide, he believed.

Mr. Redpath in closing appealed for support at the polls "on Thursday." "You can elect Mr. Morgan on Wednesday if you like, but I would like to be elected on Thursday", he concluded amid applause.

EFFICIENT GOVERNMENT

"I believe Mayor Barnes has given the city efficient government in the past two years," declared J. B. Gray, candidate for alderman. There had been power trouble and street trouble but this was not within the power of the council, he stated. He asked for support at the polls and pledged p or. if elected to whoever might be he mayor.

"If you elect me it will be all right. If you do not it will be all right," declared Mr. Gray in conclusion, amid laughter.

NOTMAN APPEALS FOR SCHOOL BYLAW

John Notman, chairman of the Nelson schoolboard, seeking reelection, when called upon by the chairman took the platform. He did not appeal for votes. His appeal was for the support of the money bylaw for an addition to the junior high school. While the aldermen had financial assets to look after the school board had in addition material assets to watch and care for. He urged the citizens to back the school board.

Those on the platform were: Mayor R. D. Barnes, Alderman H. H. McKenzie, Alderman W. M. Walker, Alderman R. B. Peebles and two aldermanic candidates E. R. Redpath and J. B. Gray. Alderman J. P. Morgan, standing for reelection, took a seat upon the platform when invited.

TO THE ELECTORS of the City of Nelson

At the request of a large number of citizens, I am again offering myself as Candidate for Mayor of your City.

I appeal to you for your vote on my record as your Mayor for four years. If elected I will make it my business to see, that everyone gets a fair deal, and an equally impartial hearing in all matters which may arise.

I have lived with you for thirty-seven years. You are the judges as to whether I have tried to make your City a better place to live in. In my own business I have endeavored to build up an industry to provide employment for our people.

Nelson's interests have always been first with me. Was your business managed to your satisfaction under my administration, and are your streets and other departments now in an equally satisfactory condition? I am making no promises I cannot carry out, but I will do my duty faithfully and without favor, and am willing to shoulder my share of the responsibility for the administration of Civic Affairs.

With a view to improvement, I will investigate your Power Plant Line. I will also recommend to your Council that the money to be spent on our streets, wherever possible, will be for permanent concrete and not for further patch work.

The matter rests in your hands. I have no intention of canvassing anyone for their vote. I am not seeking Campaign funds. I shall hold no public meetings. It's up to you. You have given me your confidence in the past, and I feel sure I shall receive the same vote that you have honored me with in the past.

Yours very truly,

League Adopts Three Measures on World Peace

GENEVA, Jan. 14.—Three measures of importance designed to encourage the cause of world peace and international good-will were adopted by the council of the League of Nations today. They were:

1—Appointing a special commission to meet February 20, to bring the league disarmament covenant into line with the Paris pact outlawing war.

2—Summoning of an international diplomatic conference to consider a tariff truce, meeting February 17.

3—Adopting British proposals for a special commission to determine the merits of Jewish and Arab claims in the Palestine controversy.

Action on the covenant afforded an opportunity for the British and other delegates to affirm their faith in the league's usefulness. The league covenant recognizes armaments for maintenance of security and at a level permitting league members to apply force to states which offend by initiating aggressive warfare. The Paris pact, on the other hand, completely outlaws war, signatories renouncing war as an instrument of national policy.
