POSSE HAS FAILED TO LOCATE ALLEGED BANDIT WHO ESCAPED AT FORKS

Gibbs Still at Large, Although Hunt Continues; Never Seen Since Visited Farm to Have Handcuffs Removed; Inspector Dunwoody Goes to Summerland

T. L. Gibbs, believed to be one of the two men who robbed the State bank at Ione Saturday morning, was still being sought by a posse in the Grand Forks area at a late hour last night. Gibbs, who was arrested by Chief Docksteader of Grand Forks on the Kettle Valley train early Tuesday morning at Cascade, escaped by making a spectacular jump as the train backed into the lower station at Grand Forks.

Throughout Tuesday the posse searched the hills for Gibbs. It was thought he had been cornered during the night, but when day came the posse found its work still unfinished.

Gibbs has been seen but once since he made his escape—when he called at the Prudhomme ranch early Tuesday morning and asked that his handcuffs should be removed.

Provincial police, United States police and immigration officers and Grand Forks police are engaged in the search.

DUNWOODY TO PENTICTON

Inspector W. R. Dunwoody of the provincial police district headquarters, Nelson, left for Grand Forks to take part in the chase, but continued yesterday to Penticton, where S. D. Roberts, thought to have been Gibbs' partner in the holdup, is held.

Roberts was arrested by provincial police at West Summerland yesterday on telegraphed authority of Inspector Dunwoody. Roberts had $500 in American currency when he was arrested. A splinter of bullet, believed to have been inflicted when a car ran through a fusilade at Northport, was removed from Roberts' head.

Chief Docksteader, when he arrested Gibbs at Cascade, had not been notified that Roberts was on the train. Both men had upper berths, taken as far as Lorna. Their tickets were for Vancouver.

CAPTAIN FITZROY BECOMES SPEAKER HOUSE COMMONS

Succeeds Rt. Hon. J. H. Whitley, Retired; Leaders Address Welcome

LONDON, June 20.—Captain the Rt. Hon. A. E. Fitzroy, deputy chairman of committee, Conservative member of the house of commons for Daventry for 24 years, was this afternoon unanimously elected speaker of the house to succeed the retiring Rt. Hon. J. H. Whitley.

Sir Robert Sanders, Conservative member, proposed Captain Fitzroy.

Captain Fitzroy, says Sir Robert, came of one of those families which had performed useful service to the state in various capacities for generations. Captain Fitzroy, Sir Robert said was the first member of the army proposed for election to the chair.

This remark was greeted by interruptions from the Labor members which were countered by cheers when Sir Robert said "Outside the house it will convey the impression, which is perhaps somewhat necessary, that in adopting Captain Fitzroy we are showing that we have not forgotten the gratitude we owe to the regular soldiers of this country." Sir Robert thought it would gratify many members to think that by passing the motion of adoption they were giving employment to an ex-ervice man wounded in war.

WOUNDED AT YPRES

(Captain Fitzroy was wounded in the first battle of Ypres).

Charles Bowerman, veteran Labor member, in seconding the election of Captain Fitzroy paid tribute to the nominees attributes.

The speaker-elect standing on the steps leading to the chair, then addressed the house and express his gratitude at the honor. He took his seat and the sergeant-at-arms placed the mace on the top of the table, it having lain underneath all this time. Congratulations were then tendered by the leaders of the three parties.

Premier Baldwin recalled that 50 years ago, he and Captain Fitzroy were very small boys sitting on very hard benches, learning very hard lessons. Ramsay MacDonald and Lloyd George also extolled the new speaker's qualities and the ceremony concluded by all members rising and giving the new speaker an ovation.

The house then adjourned pending royal approval of the appointment tomorrow.

New Telephone Line Between Nelson and Grand Forks Cut In

F. F. Payne, manager of The Daily News, enjoyed a 5 minute conversation with Mayor T. A. Love of Grand Forks concerning the pursued lone bandit, the weather and the splendid efficiency of the new phone line.

The new line marks a tremendous improvement over the former line to Grand Forks which ran down through the United States. Yesterday, Grand Forks and Nelson might have been separated by no more distance than a city lot.

Harris Boosts for Canadian Naval Defence

SAINT JOHN, N.B., June 20.—There is one of three policies open to Canada, first, to provide a Canadian navy which would in time of need protect at least our own seaborne trade, second, pay a money contribution to Britain and let her provide the sea power, third, drift—don't do anything—let others do it and live in false security, like parasites. This was one of the many declarations made by Sam Harris, of Toronto, Dominion president of the Navy league of Canada, in an address at the annual dinner of the organization here tonight.

Personally, Mr. Harris said, he believed in a Canadian navy, and to provide money for this purpose he suggested a two per cent tax on all sea-borne commerce, a charge upon those directly benefitted.

Referring to immigration, Mr. Harris said this was the greatest problem facing Canada today. As part of the British Empire, the Dominion should give preference to people of the British Isles. A delegate from the Navy league had gone to England in January and found thousands of families there willing to come to Canada, providing there is just half a chance of becoming established.

The league is assisting in the work of bringing families that are properly qualified, he said.

He says that the Japanese government intends to import wool of the same quality from Alberta.

Fires Six Times Into Opposition Benches; One Killed, Five Wounded

BELGRADE, Jugo Slavia, June 20.—Infuriated by frequent interruption and the refusal of the opposition to withdraw insulting words, Punica Ratchitch, radical deputy, drew a revolver during a session of the National assembly today and fired all six rounds into the group of opposition members.

Paul Raditch, nephew of Stefan Raditch, the peasant leader, was killed; Stefan Raditch himself was seriously wounded. The Croat deputy, Dr. Basaritcheck was so gravely wounded that he is reported to have died on his way to hospital. Dr. Pernar and two other deputies, Grandja and Jelasitch, also received bullet wounds of a dangerous nature.

This was the culmination of fierce controversies and hand to hand fights which have recently taken place in the Jugo Slav parliament. The crisis is considered the most terrible since the memorable assassination of King Alexander and Queen Draga, just 25 years ago this month. It has thrown the whole of Jugo Slavia into a ferment of excitement.

CALLED THEM SWINE

Parliament had scarcely opened this morning when the opposition led by Stefan Raditch, began its obstructional tactics against the government's legislation in the forefront of which is ratification of the Nettune convention with Italy.

At the height of the angry debate, Stefan Raditch, turning to the government benches and shaking his finger shouted: "You are not men; you are swine."

There were roars of "withdraw", and Deputy Punica Ratchitch, who is one of the most vehement defenders of the government policy, rushed at the speaker brandishing a revolver. The house was thrown into a wild tumult Paul Raditch, who leaped to his uncle's asistance fell dead from a bullett as he attempted to throw himself across the body of his uncle, who was already wounded. Members of the Raditch party attempted to seize the murderer but before they could do so, Ratchitch had emptied his revolver into the group. The slayer then rushed from the building, but it was reported tonight that he had surrendered to the authorities.

Conservatives Make Hit With Choice of Candidates, Vancouver

VANCOUVER, June 20.—"An outstanding feature of the local convention," states the Province, "was that in a free convention, and out of a wide field of candidates, the Conservatives of Vancouver have chosen six men, who as they hope and believe, will be representatives of the city in the seventeenth parliament of British Columbia.

"We are not going to mix prophecy with out comment, but we can say that it is good slate, and that it gives the party an excellent chance to change the political representation of Vancouver in the legislature. If a test of the party's fitness for office is a willingness and ability to put forward men of character and standing in the comunity, it must be conceded that the business done by the Conservative convention was a good night's work for the party."

Winnipeg Carpenters, Eight Hundred Strong, Strike; Tie Up Building

WINNIPEG, June 20.—Construction was held up in Winnipeg today when was held upin Winnipeg today when 800 carpenters went on strike, demanding a 15-cent an hour increase in wages, which would bring their hourly rate to $1.15.

Provisions Are Dropped on Ice From Big Plane

Amundsen, on Other Hand, Has Not Been Heard From Since Set Out On 600-Mile Flight in Seaplane; Double Efforts to Locate Great Explorer

RADIO AIDS MATERIALLY IN THE FINDING OF NOBILE AND PART OF HIS CREW ON ICE

No Trace of Three Men Who Set Out for Land or of Those Men Carried Away by the Lightened Dirigible Bag; Grub Sent to Earth by Means of Parachutes

KING'S BAY, Spitzbergen, June 20.—Barren arctic vastness tonight had divulged the retreat of six men who dared it, but its white-clad reaches had swallowed two more—one of them a seer, in its lore—and hidden them from view.

General Nobile and five of his crew were found on their ice cake home today and given food and supplies, but the veteran Raold Amundsen and Rene Guilbaud, who left Tromsoe, Norway, Monday for Spitzbergen, has been lost for two days with nothing to indicate where they may be. Ten others are lost, three men who started afoot toward land after the Italia crashed and the seven who remained with the dirigible and were borne away to the east when the gas bag, lightened by nine of its crew, rose again.

SAVOIA DOES TRICK

Though trips through the air in search of Nobile have been under way for several days by the Norwegians, Captain Riiser-Larsen and Lieutenant Holm, it remained for a fellow Italian, Major Maddalena, in the seaplane Savoia-55, finally to find General Nobile.

Three times the stranded men had seen the planes of their would-be rescuers flying in the sky above them and three times they had seen them pass by. The fourth time, as the result of carefully prearranged wireless signalling, Maddalena, who yesterday had himself been unable to see the marooned men though they saw him, reached them and dropped 650 pounds of food and supplies by parachute before returning to his base at King's Bay.

The lack of news of Amundsen and Guilbaud is another thing. The two in their French seaplane left Tromsoe Monday, implying as a destination King's Bay, although some of their friends regarded Advent Bay—which is to the south of King's Bay—as their goal. For a few hours after leaving Tromsoe their radio signals were heard, but shortly before they might conceivably have spanned the 600 miles to the Svalbard archipelago, the signals were replaced by silence.

HOPE FAILS

There were rumors in Norway that the seaplane of the two had been landed in open water near Nobile, but Nobile's messages to his base ship, the Citta Di Milano, failed to indicate anything such and the rumors died almost as quickly as they were born.

For a while no anxiety was felt for the pair. There is none alive more versed in the ways of the arctic than Amundsen, and Rene Guilbaud is known as amongst the most capable of French pilots. In explanation of the silence, it was said the wireless of the plane might have failed and they were isolated in Advent Bay or other possible places where the plane may have landed, that they might be well and safe and proceeding with their efforts and no one else knows anything of it.

But today the most sanguine of the hopeful felt differently. Somehow from somewhere something should have been heard from Amundsen and Guilbaud. Hope has been replaced by frank anxiety.

There had been no definite rescue prospects put under way today here. But there conjectures cover a wide area and if Amundsen and Guilbaud do not make themselves known tonight, a hunt to find them necessarily greater in proportion than that for Nobile may be in order.

WERE COMPANIONS

Some here saw a touch of irony in the situation that should have found Nobile and lost Amundsen. The two of them, with Lincoln Ellsworth, flew in the Norge from King's Bay to Point Barrow across the pole just a year ago.

Although they were regarded as partners in the enterprise, it soon became known that all had not been peaceful between them, and there ensued a newspaper-magazine quarrel following the trip, in which both sides made their side of the affair known.

Despite the fued between the two, however, which soon lapsed into silence on Amundsen's part when the Norwegian learned at a dinner largely in his honor that Nobile was lost in the ice and overdue at Spitzbergen, he was one of the first to volunteer for the rescue work.

McPHERSON WILL RUN AGAIN IN THE BOUNDARY

Gains Unanimous Nomination Greenwood-Grand Forks Libs at Midway

MIDWAY, B.C., June 20.—D. McPherson, member in the lately dissolved house for Grand Forks-Greenwood, was nominated here last night to carry the Liberal standard against Dr. C. M. Kingston, Conservative candidate.

Mr. McPherson's nomination was a foregone conclusion. He had no ooposition, and the nominating convention was "wide open."

Hon. Ian Mackenzie of Vancouver attended the nomination, and shared the platform with Mr. McPherson. Both, in their addresses, expressed themselves as confident the Liberal party would be returned.

DARE-DEVIL WISHES TO REPEAT FEAT

James E. Hardy, the Canadian who in 1896 crossed the Niagara river on a wire cable and cooked his breakfast right over the whirlpool, wants to do it again—if the authorities will let him. He is now 53 years of age and proposes that the feat take place in August. Hardy, who lives in Toronto, says he has been assured the consent of the Ontario government for the dare-devil attempt.

ROTARIANS IN MIDST BUSINESS AT MINNEAPOLIS

"Rotarians at Work" Main Topic at International Gathering

MINNEAPOLIS, June 20.—The actual working sessions of the Rotary International convention got under way today, Wednesday, after the formal welcomes, and general organization of the assemblies for discussion of Rotary's problems and opportunities had laid the foundations for participation by each one of the thousands of delegates from all over the world.

"Rotarians at work" in all the various activities in which a Rotarian can make his influence count for good was the main topic of the speakers' program of the day. In the afternoon the convention was divided into assemblies for discussion of boys' work, help for crippled children, community service activities in general and club services and classifications.

The principal social event of the convention tonight was the annual ball, in honor of President and Mrs. Arthur H. Sapp, of Huntington, Ind., and all the other international officers and their wives. Hundreds of Minneapolis society women assisted in making the evening a success, and the vast floor of the municipal auditorium was filled with dancers, while two orchestras alternated in providing music.

"The fundamental thing that distinguishes Rotary from other organizations made up of business and professional men is its unique plan of membership," said Thomas B. Bridges of Oakland, Cal., chairman of the Rotary classifications and membership committee. "Business classification was devised and developed by Rotary, and in this is its strength.

"Rotary accomplishments," said Mr. Bridges, "are measured solely by the number of distinct lines of business which it can reach through its members. By recognizing the worthiness of all business and professional activities necessary to society and by making no distinction, Rotary assures absolute democracy and equality.

"Proper classification of all businesses, trades and professions makes Rotary, and through Rotary we can carry the message of understanding, good will and international peace to all laymen, to all professionl, to all creeds, and to all classes throughout the world."

Knowing Rotary and what it means, what it aims to do in business and community life throughout the world, was the message delivered by Doctor Edulado Moore, of Santiago, Chile, one of the best known men in his country as a specialist in both social and commercial problems.

Knowing the other fellow and how to present to him the ideals and ethics for which Rotary stands, was the subject of Dr. Stanley Foster, president of the Rotary club of Christchurch, New Zealand.

The daily round of entertainment for the Rotary-Anns included today a series of visits to women's clubs, art galleries and other centers of interest about the city. Tomorrow the visiting ladies will be guests at the leading country clubs at a musicale and tea.

Women's Institute at Harrop Honors Member With Surprise Shower

HARROP, B.C., June 20.—The Women's institute held their June meeting on Thursday afternoon. The president, Mrs. C. D. Ogilvie, was in the chair.

It was decided to extend invitations to the Crawford Bay Women's institute and the Longbeach Ladies' guild to a luncheon and tea on Labor day, September 3.

A letter was read from Dr. C. Wace, medical superintendent of Queen Alexandra solarium, conveying the appreciation of the staff for the scrap books and black cats made from stockings, which were sent for the amusement of their small patients. Another letter from the solarium acknowledged the annual pledge of $5 which had also been sent.

The convener of the Nelson rest room committee reported a reply from the secretary of Nelson Women's institute, expressing thanks for the donation of $6 from this institute.

SURPRISE SHOWER

Following the business a surprise shower was given to one of the members, Miss R. Hindley, whose home was destroyed by fire a few weeks ago. The committee for this meeting, Mrs. R. Rowley and Miss S. McIntosh, arranged the gifts in a wagon gaily dressed in the institute colors, and brought it into the room. Mrs. Ogilvie then presented them to Miss Hindley, who responded feelingly, expressing her surprise and appreciation.

Mrs. H. Fairbank and Mrs. W. A. Howard each contributed a solo.

A number of invited guests attended from Procter, Sunshine Bay and Harrop.

The tea hostesses were Mrs. Flynn and Mrs. E. D. Serres, assisted by Mrs. Rowley and Miss McIntosh.

CRANBROOK LADY GIVES ADDRESS TO HARROP LIBS

Mrs. Evah McKowan Describes Standard Politics Since the Women Got Vote

HARROP, B.C., June 20.—On Friday evening a large number of people attended a meeting in the hall to hear F. Putnam of Creston, the Liberal candidate for this riding.

Mr. Putnam was introduced by H. Fairbank. The candidate stated his pleasure at the opportunity of meeting so many, and since he was not booked for a speech that evening, made way for an address by Mrs. Evah McKowan of Cranbrook.

Mrs. McKowan proved a very entertaining speaker. She based her remarks chiefly on the higher standard of politics prevailing in this province since women received the vote in 1916. She gave this as one of the reasons why Liberal candidates and supporters predict a return of the Liberal administration.

A splendid supper was provided by a number of Harrop ladies. Dancing followed, a Nelson orchestra supplying the music.

A whist drive was enjoyed, the prize winners being Mrs. G. M. Stevenson and W. J. McConnell. The consolation prizes went to Mrs. R. Rowley and H. Knauf. Mrs. W. A. Howard tied with Mrs. Rowley, but lost on cutting the cards.

Says—Now Stiff Joints Must Go

New Discovery Limbers 'Em Up and Even the Creaking Ceases

Yes: it's true—the world progresses All you have to do nowadays to limber up that stiff, rusty knee joint is to squeeze a half inch of miracle working substance from a tube.

Then rub it on the offending part for about a quarter of a minute or until it soaks through the skin and disappears on its errand of mercy.

Then read the evening newspaper and go to bed.

The chances are that your misbehaving knee joint will lose its "creak" while you are dreaming about the high fences you used to leap when you were a youngster.

"And in the morning," says one who has tried the new discovery, "You'll feel so happy that you'll want to jump into your sportiest clothes and walk briskly down the street just to show the neighbors that you are not as old as they think you are."

Joint-Ease: They call this wonder working substance, for the reason that when ordinary remedies fail to limber up the stiff, inflamed rheumatic joint or reduce the swelling, Joint-Ease succeeds.

It's a good name for a good, clean, stainless prescription that in just a few months has proven to a multitude of people that lame, swollen, distorted joints can speedily have the kinks taken out of them and work as smoothly as ever.

But Joint-Ease is for bothersome joints, whether in knee, ankle, hip, shoulder, spine or finger, and for this purpose its sale is immense.

All druggists have a big supply of it and druggists everywhere report a big demand.

FIRM SEEKING HALF CENT DUTY ON COPPER RODS

Federal Bounty of 1923 Expires This Year; Case Before Tariff Board

OTTAWA, June 20.—Application for a duty of half a cent per pound on copper rods was made before the tariff advisory board today. J. J. Creelman, K. C., Montreal, presented the case for the Eugene F. Phillips Electrical Works, Ltd., Montreal, and Brockville. In his brief, Colonel Creelman recalled that the federal bounty established in 1923 to encourage the refining of electrolytic copper in Canada would expire this year.

The Phillips company took the entire output of the Trail smelter paying a freight of $13.20, a ton. It was the only company in Canada operating a plant for rolling copper rods, but was in competition in the manufacture of copper cables with four other establishments in the country. All of these were able to import their requirements for copper rods free.

From the opening of the Brockville mill in November 1922, until December 31, 1927, the Phillips company had purchased from the Consolidated smelters the latter's total output of copper bars, amounting to 16,669 tons valued at $4,426,300, but to complete its requirements of this commodity the campony had been obliged to purchase from the United states during the same period 27,115 tons, valued at $7,659,622. Colonel Creelman declared there was discrimination against Canadian copper bars bought in the United States due to an arbitrary price fixed by the Copper Export association.

"The average charge for rolling copper into rods in the United States," continued the brief, "for domestic consumption is from $13 to $14 a ton."

For rods exported to Canada, the charge was from $12 to $14.

Adopt Program Cancelled Owing Paralysis Epidemic a Year Ago

TRAIL, B. C., June 20.—Trail Caledonian Society tonight outlined a preliminary program for its annual Caledonian sports program to be staged at Butler park on August 15. Further plans are now being outlined to make the event a bigger and better affair.

TRAIL BASEBALL TO RESUME SOON

Camels Withdraw; Second Half Schedule to Be Revised

TRAIL, B. C., June 20.—Trail city baseball league will continue within the next week or two, it was announced by Sam Stewart, president of the Trail Baseball club, here tonight. The second half of the league recently came to an end when one of the teams withdrew from the league because it was unable to field enough players.

"If we don't keep up interest in the ball game in Trail this year baseball will be a thing of the past in the West Kootenay, and by next season there might not be a senior team in the district at all," said President Stewart.

Immediately after the game on Sunday, Spokane Palace Stores club vs. Trail Reps, the executive will get down to business and lay plans for resuming.

At the present time the Shieks and Merchants are tide for league leadership, and the Boiler Makers are in the cellar position.

WELL WISHERS SEND WIRES TO TRADE BOARDS

Buchanan, Former President, Cotterell and Others Wire Well Wishes

ROSSLAND, B. C., June 20.—Messages of best wishes for successful deliberations, received by the Associated Boards of Trade of Eastern British Columbia, in session here Tuesday, came from literally all directions.

One of the most appreciated was the following wire from New Westminster, from G. O. Buchanan, president of the organization for a period of years, nearly 20 years ago:

"Annual reports of your association are a record of the development during the last 28 years, of southeastern British Columbia. More than that, they show your association was an active driving force in every enterprise, that you ventilated every grievance discussed every need formulated, every request, and to an amazing degree succeeded in everything you undertook. Your territory now attracts the attention of the world's enterprise. Capital, technical skill, and managerial ability are at your command. In the city where we organized the association, may you take a fresh start, recognizing that the field before you is wider and more inviting than it was at the beginning."

C. A. Cotterell, general superintendent of the Canadian Pacific railway for British Columbia, wired from Princetown to Commissioner Fred A. Starkey:

"Regret exceedingly owing to mishap on Kettle Valley lines that it will be impossible for me to accept your very kind invitation to attend the 28th annual convention of the Associated Boards of Trade of Eastern British Columbia tomorrow and Wednesday, as there is no other route by which through connections can be made in time. I am asked to express to the Associated Boards of Trade and to yourself personally, the sincere regrets of Mr. Blake Wilson, Mr. F. W. Peters, and Mr. E. A. James, who were accompanying me. We all join in extending our very best wishes for a successful and enjoyable convention with the kindest regards to all present."

H. R. DesBrisay, C.P.R. general passenger agent at Vancouver, also wired regrets.

Another message especially appreciated was a wire, already published, from Montreal from the executive of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce.

Letters were received from a great many public men, including Hon. R. B. Bennett, Hon. J. C. Elliott, Dominion public works minister, and D. C. Coleman, vice-president of C.P.R. western lines.

'SCOTTY' INKSTER WILL HELP TO GET HARLOW IN SHAPE

Revelstoke Welterweight Arrives Here Today; Prelims Are Announced

"Scotty" Inkster of Revelstoke, who battles Nick Contini of Trail for the district welterweight championship at Trail on July 9, will arrive in Nelson today to workout with George Harlow, Nelson heavy, who is slated to tangle with Big Bill Nearing of Kellogg, Idaho, champion heavyweight boxer of the Couer d'Alene district, on July 2. Harlow also has Dean Pearce, a welterweight from Kellogg, working out with him at the Canadian Legion every evening at 7:30.

Local boxing fans who have followed Harlow's short professional career, which started when he made short work of Jim Gorman of Drumheller, Alta., in February this year, are loud in their praise as they watch George step around at the Legion. He looks to be in the pink of condition now, although the battle is nearly two weeks off. Three bouts in four months have not given him much time to get out of shape.

NEERING READY

Neering is reported to be in the pink of condition, ready to step into the ring on Dominion day and give Harlow the strongest opposition he has yet been up against. Nearing earned a decisive victory over Orville Darr of Spokane in May. Harlow held Darr to a 10-round draw here on May 30.

R. E. Kirby, who with associates is promoting the bout, last night announced the preliminary bouts that will lead up to the main event. They all promise lots of action.

PRELIMINARIES

Stan Allibone of Trail will stack up against either Fred Becker of South Slocan or Finlay Campbell of Nelson in the semi-final. Becker was hurt in an auto accident last Saturday and it is not known yet whether he will be able to battle on July 2.

Fred Edwards of South Slocan and Jimmy Weir of Trail, both of whom appeared on the last card here, making the fans sit up and take notice, will furnish action galore for three rounds.

Tim Paris, "the fighting fool," who made a hit on the first card this year when Harlow knocked out Gorman, and again when Harlow made short work of Frank Cox, will step three rounds with Jack Edwards of South Slocan. Edwards showed he could "take 'em and give 'em" when he appeared on the second and third cards here. These two battlers are expected to go the limit in action and are reported to be eager to get at one another.

RANGERS TROUNCE UNITEDS SOCCER ELEVEN AT TRAIL

Take 5-0 Victory; Uniteds Have Difficulty With New Players

TRAIL, B.C., June 20.—After rather a lean time in recent league games, the Rangers went out and beat the Uniteds 5-0 in this afternoon's league soccer match.

Uniteds, who have had considerable hard luck in keeping players, went on with a somewhat disorganized, although by no means a weak team.

Murray, Ranger's center, had a good day. He accounted for four of his team's goals. But great credit was due to the ceaseless efforts of Lipp, center half, for his efficient tackling, quick returns and forward feeding. Much of Murray's success was built on it.

Murray opened early. Following through a positioned pass from Lipp, he beat the backs to it and scored. When he essayed the trick a second time, Barnes saved but could do no more than fist it out. Reid rushed it through.

INSIDES GOOD

Two more goals went in off Murray's foot in the second half, and one from Denham. The latter's goal was a nicely taken rising shot at a sharp angle from the wing, a difficult shot to save. Fish and Marshall, inside men, were rare workers and had good understanding with their wings. Smith and Hemmings were quite good enough for the Uniteds' wingmen. The Rangers' solid full backs were not overworked.

The big weakness of the Uniteds lay in their full backs, once their greatest strength. Cook and Morrison played their first match together and were naturally somewhat ragged. Murray, center half, was badly handicapped by an early leg injury, which reduced his effectiveness and gave Creighton and Shearer extra weight to carry. Unfamiliar playing mates on the forward line robbed the Uniteds of cohesion and force in attack. Broadhurst, playing inside, turned in a creditable performance.

The teams were:

Uniteds—Barnes, goal; Cooke and Morrison, backs; Creighton, A. Laurie and Shearer, halves; Stiles, Broadhurst Bowkett, Lundie and Baines, forwards.

Rangers—Oliver, goal; Stewart and Cooper, backs; Hemmings, Lipp and Smith, halves; Denham, Fish, Murray, Marshall and Reid, forwards.

Referee—W. Pollock.

DIET YOUNGSTERS IS DISCUSSED BY DOCTOR ROSSLAND

Red Cross Branch Sponsors Address by Dr. Topliff on Dieting

ROSSLAND, B.C., June 20.—Speaking before a well-attended meeting in the Rossland armories, Dr. E. E. Topliff, recently returned from Vienna, gave a most instructive talk on the proper feeding of children aged from one to five years. The gathering was under the auspices of the Rossland red cross, functioning actively for the first time since the busy days of the war, when it was one of the most wide-awake organizations of its kind in the province.

President H. deL. Reaney opened the meeting by stating that there were three reasons for the Red Cross continuing its work in the time of peace—the improvement of health, the prevention of disease and the mitigation of human suffering. There was also the work of the Junior red cross, which devoted itself to the care of crippled children. Last year 906 of these had been cared for,13 being in B. C., where the Junior red cross has a membership of 1500. Classes in home nursing was another important feature of the work of the organization, as also the establishment of out-post hospitals for pioneers.

DIETS DEFECTIVE

Dr. Topliff explained that while the child, under one year was usually intelligently cared for, and the children of school age were under the supervision of the school doctor and nurse, those over one and under five years of age were seldon so fortunate. Fifty per cent of childhood ailments were due to a defective diet, and a good proportion due to insufficient fresh air and sunshine.

At the beginning of the second year some solid food should be given to encourage mastication, vegetables well cooked, should be added to the diet, and at 18 months a coddled egg. Just a spoonful or so should be given at first so as to allow the child to gradually get used to the taste. Cereals should be cooked to the consistency of gruel, and thinned with milk. No sugar should be given till child is 12 years old. Uncooked fruits should be scraped. Too much milk was not good for a child after it was able to take solid food. Milk should not take the place of water as a beverage.

VEGETABLE FOOD

Vegetables were necessary because of their content of iron. The following might be given to young children: Peas, string beans, carrots, spinach and asparagus tips. The ones which should not be given under any circumstances were: Cabbage, cauliflower, lettuce and sweet potatoes. Meat should be roasted or broiled, never boiled. Bacon might be given if cooked dry and brittle. Eggs were an essential part of the diet. Desserts might be given after the second year, but not if appetite was poor. Bread should be toasted until hard.

A suggested menu for children of this age was as follows:

7 a.m.—Cereal ,egg, dry toast.

Noon—Minced meat, potato, one vegetable, dessert of fruit or sponge cake.

6 p.m.—Dry toast, milk and perhaps a little broth.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Dr. Topliff at the conclusion of his talk.

Lead Protection of $1.50 a Ton of Ore or Concentrates Would Come Off Net Profits

S. G. Blaylock's explanation to the Associated Boards of Trade showed very clearly how serious would be the effect of the removal of the duty on lead coming into Canada, which is being advocated in some quarters in the east.

The duty averages, taking into account the proportion of Canadian-produced lead which is sold in Canada, about $3 per ton of metal, or $1.50 per ton of ore or concentrates containing 50 per cent lead.

This $1.50 a ton which British Columbia lead producers would lose if the duty were removed would come out of NET profits of a mine.

That is to say, if a mine were making $3 a ton net profit, after payment of all expenses, removal of the duty would cut this profit in half. A mine under present conditions able to make $15,000 a year net profit would make only $7500 or a mine able to pay an investor eight per cent out of ore yielding a net profit of $3 per ton would if the duty were removed pay only four per cent.

Eight per cent would attract investors; four per cent would not.

Non - Perishable Products Have Less Anti-Dumping Protection Than Fruit

While mineowners are threatened with the removal of the duty on lead, British Columbia fruitgrowers are actually up against the removal of the protection they had hitherto enjoyed, against the destruction of their home market by the dumping of American fruit.

As J. J. Campbell explained to the Associated Boards of Trade, the American grower keeps up prices in his home market for his high grade produce by dumping at less than cost of production his low grade produce on the Canadian market. In some years it has happened that the American grower, finding his domestic production of high grade fruit in excess of the demand, has kept up prices at home by also dumping high grade fruit in Canada at less than the cost of production.

The American grower's idea is simple. If the market will absorb four million boxes at $2 this price would be slaughtered if another quarter million boxes were thrown on the market. So he dumps the surplus on the Canadian market, and, even if the number of boxes is small, it is enough to smash prices on this side.

The anti-dumping act is in accordance with a long-established principle of administration. Even free trade Great Britain will not permit dumping, and has not permitted it since long before the war.

Canada today does not permit it insofar as non-perishable products are concerned, because the order-in-council which takes the power of establishing fair prices out of the hands of the minister does not in practice greatly affect non-perishable goods. We therefore have the absurd situation that the eastern manufacturer of say, non-perishable tin cans is protected while the Canadian grower of perishable fruit and vegetables has his livelihood taken away by deliberately connived at dumping designed to please the prairie politicians and their followers.

The Three-Motored Monoplane Proves Its Worth

Some Days ago the wide expanses of the Pacific ocean from California to Australia were spanned by air in a plane piloted by Captain Kingsford-Smith of Australia.

On Monday the wide expanse of the Atlantic was crossed from Newfoundland to Wales by a plane carrying Miss Amelia Earhart. Both flights were entirely successful and without any mishaps.

Hazards of long flights have evidently been overcome by the introduction of the tri-motored monoplane. The Southern Cross and the Friendship each carried three motors which have proven beyond a doubt that flights of this nature require the utmost in machinery. Flights have also proven that the monoplane is far ahead of the biplane when navigation of the most delicate nature is needed.

While long distance hops over long water stretches have been termed foolhardy, they have at least proven the reliability of the monoplane type of machine with three motors.

Commander Richard Byrd in his Atlantic and Arctic flights also used this type of aircraft.

I wonder how many of my reader friends are using the new colored kitchen utensils? With red, yellow—or any colored pots and pans, one cannot help but feel cheerful and a little more eager to work!

But color in the kitchen need not stop at pots and pans. Why not use bright colored organdie curtains there, or some other equally sheer material which is easy to launder? Why not cover table tops, and other wood surfaces, with colored oilcloth?

Indeed, even large pieces of kitchen equipment come today in gay colors. We have all seen fancy, colored stoves, ice boxes, sinks, broom closets, etcetra. If we cannot afford these pretty things, we can at least buy some lacquer and use this on our flour and sugar containers, our garbage can, shelving, wood handles of bread knives, brushes and brooms. We might as well have a gay breadbox and cakebox as sombre ones.

I recently saw a most delightful small kitchen in which the color scheme was gray, yellow and green. The walls were yellow. On the floor lay a gray and green patterened linoleum. The curtains were yellow swiss caught back with bands of green. The icebox and stove were in gray and black, and the cooking pots and pans in yellow and gray enamelware or agetware. The kitchen stool—on which the young housewife sat at her sink when preparing vegetables for cooking, or on which she sat at her ironing board—was painted in yellow and green trimmings. A smart not of black touched up these pieces here and there in a small leaf design originated by the housekeeper-painter. For this little bride had achieved the pretty kitchen color scheme with her own mind and hands.

North kitchens, especially, which get no sunshine, need gay colors. In fact any north room in the house requires a decided yellow or buff note to substitute for the missing sunshine. Blue, yellow and gray would be equally as charming as the yellow-green-gray combination. That is the beautiful part about decorating our kitchens—we need adhere to not set rules of decoration—we can indulge our personal fancy all we please. For it is not the guest room of the house, but our very own workshop, seen by few except our own family.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

Man Versus Insects

Thinking men have been telling us for some years now that insects, small organisms, will so increase in number and strength that man will be destroyed from the face of the earth.

And when we think of what organisms can do to man, animal, fish, vegetable, and fruit, we cannot but realize that there may be some truth in the statment.

However, it would seem that the Creator by giving man an enquiring mind has made it possible for him to keep ahead of these organisms. I have spoken before about the bacteriophages discovered by Dr.d'Herelle, which are small organisms having the power of fastening themselves on harmful organisms and destroying.

Down in Brazil there are many cases of Dysentery due to the organisms of dysentery, and the use of these bacteriophages causes the rapid disappearance of dysentery when an epidemic arises.

In Indo-China d'Herelle succeeded in stopping the epidemic disease affecting buffaloes, which had carried off 20 to 30 thousand annually.

He was sent to Egypt and India by the British government to study cholera. He found entire villages in India completely free from cholera though an epidemic raged around them, owing to the fact that there bacteriophages were found in the drinking water of these villages.

D'Herelle succeeded in removing the disease in these other villages and preventing further attacks upon the inhabitants, by transfering to the wells of the country, cultures of the bacteriophages from the wells of these villiage where there was no dysentery.

By giving a small quantity by mouth, the bacteriophages reached the intestine when it found an abundant food supply, and a cure was affected with surprising rapidity.

The death rate counting even the most severe cases was 8 per cent in the patients treated with the bacteriophages, and 62 per cent in those not treated.

As you know there has been considerable controversy concerning d'Herelle's work but these figures just about tell the story. Thus you see that man's brain, man's knoledge, man's inquiring mind, man's desire to relieve suffering among his fellows, man's desire to conquer the ailments of life, should make him victor in his struggle to remain

FORMER RESIDENT NELSON ON STAGE IN SAN FRANCISCO

Miss Marion Clayton, Niece of Mrs. Pitts, in Leading Role in South

"Young actress sets Juliet as goal" was the headline used by the San Francisco Chronicle in its account of Miss Marion Clayton, playing the leading role in John Hasting Turner's "Lillies of the Field," with the Moroni Olson players at the Columbia theatre, San Francisco.

Miss Clayton, who formerly resided in Nelson, is a niece of Mrs. H. H. Pitts. Her mother, Mrs. Rose Clayton, is at present living in Seattle.

"What do you look forward to on the stage," was asked this young protege.

SHAKESPEAREAN ROLES

"Of course," replied Miss Clayton seriously, "what I really look forward to is a chance to play Shakespearean roles. I know that it takes considerable training, but there doesn't seem to be any reason for waiting until middle age before trying. Nearly every female role is played by some actress who is no longer young. Is it not possible for some one small to play Juliet or Viola?"

Miss Clayton is taking every opportunity that presents itself to gain her objective, and considers herself fortunate in being with the Olson company.

MISS DESCHAMPS IS MARRIED AT SPOKANE CHURCH

Former Rossland Miss Becomes Bride Kurt J. Schade; Pretty Ceremony

SPOKANE, Wash., June 20.—Before an altar banked with palms and against which tall baskets filled with pink peonies, gladiolus and shaded tones of blue delphinium reflected the color note of the bridal party, the marriage of Miss Ruth Marie DesChamps and Kurt J. Schade was solemnized Tuesday morning at 7 o'clock at Our Lady of Lourdes cathedral.

In keeping with the simplicity with which the nuptials were surrounded no formal invitations had been issued for the ceremony, but in tribute to the popularity of the bride and bridegroom, the cathedral was filled with friends.

The Rev. Father A. Verhagen, pastor of Our Lady of Lourdes, officiated at the ceremony and was celebrant at the mass which followed it. An impressive program of nuptial music, which was offered by Mrs. Hildegrade Guth Presley, organist, also included Gounod's "Ave Maria," sung by Mrs. Alice Schuknecht.

For the processional, the wedding march from "Lohengrin" announced the approach of the bridal party. Entering on the arm of her uncle, S. G. Chapman, of Trail, B. C., who gave her in marriage, Miss DesChamps was an attractive picture in her robe de style gown of shell pink satin, with which she wore pink satin slippers and a large pink hat of silk horsehair braid. She carried a bouquet of butterfly roses, sweet peas and forget-me-not.

The bride had but one attendant, her sister, Miss Josephine (Dodo) DesChamps, as bridesmaid, who wore a frock of blue organdy embroidered in pink, and which was fashioned in duplication of the bride's gown. Miss DesChamps wore a large hat of black braid and carried pink carnations and delphinium.

Leo W. Harris was best man for Mr. Schade.

Following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast, attended by the immediate relatives and members of the two families, was served in the east banquet room of the Davenport hotel. Mr. and Mrs. Schade left yesterday by motor for a wedding trip to the coast, and upon their return in about two weeks will make their home in Spokane.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mrs. J. S. DesChamps, Knickerbocker apartments, is a graduate of Holy Names academy and is the president of the Holy Names Alumni association. She has been one of the prominent members of the Dasidrian club and is a past secretary of the club. Her father, the late J. S. DesChamps, was one of the pioneer lumbermen of British Columbia.

Mr. Schade, a son of Mrs. B. Schade, E909 Boone, is a member of a pioneer Spokane family. His father was the owner and president of the Schade Brewing company many years ago.

For the wedding Mrs. DesChamps wore a gown of rose beige lace over a satin slip of beige, with a flowered urban that was fashioned in shades of purple.

Mrs. Schade's gown was of electric blue georgette and lace, completed with a large black hat.

Miss Jeanette DesChamps, also a sister of the bride, wore a robe de style gown of white crepe trimmed in green, with a large picture hat.

Miss Grayce Schade's gown was of blue organdie over yellow, Miss Erna Schade's was yellow over white, and Miss Gladys Schade wore pink over black. Their gowns were similarly fashioned and all wore large picture hats. They are sisters of the bridegroom.

Among the out-of-town guests at the wedding and breakfast were Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Chapman and Miss Maxine Chapman of Trail, B. C.; Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Montgomery of Kimberley, B. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Forgier of Kimberley, and Miss Melbourne, also of Kimberley, B. C.

TATTRIE, SANDON IS FINED HAVING UNDERSIZED FISH

Robinson Declares Will Force Recognition Laws in the Slocan

Neil Tattrie of Sandon was fined $10 by Justice of the Peace W. J. Parham at Sandon on Monday when he pleaded guilty to a charge of having trout under the legal length of eight inches in his possession. The fish were confiscated.

Mr. Tattrie's son, who also had undersized fish in his possession, was warned and permitted to go.

C. H. Robinson, fisheries inspector, declared here yesterday that he would force recognition of fishing laws in the Slocan.

"Bear and Fish lakes are the only Slocan waters with any quantity of fish in them," he said. Other streams are barren because of pollution from mines. If there is to be anything in the Slocan the fish must be given every opportunity. We will protect them to the limit," he concluded.

The Gilded Rose

By MAY CHRISTIE

ROSILYN PAGE, twenty-year-old daughter of an avaricious inn-keeper, becomes dissatisfied with her life of drudgery. Her restlessness is enhanced by a secret admiration and "hero-worship for

LANDIS RIDGEWAY, good-looking, idle son of a once-wealthy family, who has been a frequent guest at the inn on the marshes of Long Island. Ridgeway's name had been coupled with that of LYDIA HARBROOK, a beautiful but cold and calculating woman in Landis' set and it is of her that Rosilyn is think with secret envy when Ridgeway unexpectedly comes upon her out on the marshes where she has gone for a breath of air after another day of hard and unappreciated work. The cynical Ridgeway is aused at Rosilyn's serious outlook on life.

During their talk Landis tells Rosilyn of a deep and sincere love that he has had to put aside. Her ready sympathy stirs him and he spontaneously kisses her, thus arousing unintentionally all the latent emotion in the girl's heart. They return to the inn to find that Rosilyn's father has had a stroke which the loctor declares, if he recovers, will leave him both paralyzed and insane. Terrified, Rosilyn, goes to her room where she overhears a telephone conversation between Landis Ridgeway and Lydia Harbrook.

CHAPTER V

A Lovely Lady

At the sound of imperious knocking, she went down the stairs and flung the front door open. Silhouetted against the darkness stood, a slender figure in a riding-habit, gloved and booted. Were it not for the sunny ripples of hair curling beneath the correct severity of the hard-rimmed hat, the newcomer might have passed for a handsome boy.

"Good evening," said a dulcet voice. "It's appallingly late to make a social call, but I must see Mr. Ridgeway." And into the warmth of the lighted room she stepped, and Rosilyn saw that the lovely apparition was that very Lydia Harbrook whose voice over the telephone had actual potency to drive young Landis out into the night, despairing, to wrestle with his demons.

"Mr. Ridgeway is not in," her dry lips uttered.

The lovely lady flung her gloves upon the table, sank into the nearest chair, and, with a little laugh as clear and hard as crystal, cried:

"Nonsense He was here less than half an hour ago. I suppose he's given you your instructions, but you can just tell him from me that I shall not move from here until I've seen him—even if I must remain all night!"

Her self-assurance was a revelation to the country girl. So, too, was her beauty, and her sang-froid.

"Mr. Ridgeway really did go out. He may return at any time," she stammered.

"Then I'll wait." The newcomer flung off her hat, and fluffed out her glorious hair before a mirror on the wall. Then, as though observing Rosilyn for the first time, she remarked with nonchalance: "Aren't you the little Page girl?" Then: "Heavens! child, what a fright you look!" She wheeled round to stare at the other's tear-swollen features. "What on earth is the matter?"

"My father is very ill. He is not expected to recover," said Rosilyn. She felt like some rank weed beside this lovely orchid of a woman.

"I'm sorry. I wouldn't have come if I had known. But now I'm here, I may as well remain. I suppose"—carelessly—"you have a good doctor? By the way"—a sudden suspicion in the forget-me-not blue eyes—"it isn't anything infectious, is it? Landis never gave a hint—"

"Apoplexy," said the other tersely. Like the heel of Achilles, this self-assured young creature had her weak spot, and had shown it.

Lydia Harbrook may have read that thought, for she said quickly:

"I'm not afraid of illness in a general way. But I hear there's smallpox going about, and one can't be too careful. It's devastating to one's looks, you know. And a woman's beauty is her stock in trade."

Was it idle fancy, or did this plain chit's lips curl half contemptuously at the speech? The suspicion goaded Lydia.

"You needn't wait. There's nothing I require." She lit a cigarette, crossing one smartly-booted leg over the other, and—through half-closed lids—favored the innkeeper's daughter with an insolently critical stare. "You'd better run along to your sick father."

Rosilyn hesitated, a litte flame of anger in her heart. But the sound of footsteps warned her that Landis was returning, and she could not bear that he should see the contrast between her disfigured visage and the exquisitily patrician features of her rival.

Rival? She knew the very word was a presumption!

Rosilyn hurried upstairs, tapping very softly at her father's door. The doctor opened to her.

"No change at all. Now try to get a little sleep. If he grows worse, I promise I shall call you." She was shut out.

Sound of low voices drifted from below. Landis was speaking. The temptation to listen to that loved voiced was strong enough to counterbalance the pain of what she probably would hear . . . She hesitated, then crouched down by the wooden balustrade.

"Why do you come here, at this hour of the night, alone?" Landis was saying to the lovely intruder. "If people got wind of it, have you no conception how they would talk? Have you no idea of the risks you run?"

"Risks? Pooh!" Rosilyn could just glimpse the girl's white fingers flick the ash from her cigarette with a careless gesture. "A fig for the conventions! Since when, pray, have you joined the ranks of Mrs. Grundy?"

He stood considering her intently, his face white and hard.

"I told you I refused to see you. You have no right to seek me out."

Her tinkling little laugh resounded, cool as ice.

"Mahommet and the mountain! You wouldn't come to me, and so I came to you. Quite simple!" Another flick of the cigarette, yet the watcher upstairs saw that the small hand shook a little. Was it possible the woman really loved him, after all?

Landis' eyes were filled with bitterness.

"Not being sufficiently vain or sufficiently stupid to believe that my company in itself is the attraction. I suppose you have come here to see how I react under the thumbscrew?" He contrived a slow, sarcastic smile. "Your ancestors must have lived in Spain five hundred years ago, my dear. If I remember right, you always had a turn for morbid psychology. I'm sorry that I don't propose to gratify it."

"S-sh! Someone may hear you." A faint flush stained the velvet whiteness of her cheek. Lydia glanced upwards. "That plain chit of a Page girl was here only a few moments ago. She may be listening."

His lips curled.

"The 'plain chit,' as you call her, has more serious duties than listening to our futile talk. Her father is not expected to live through the night. Did she make that clear?"

The woman in the armchair nodded, but said nothing.

He looked at her with brooding eyes.

"I wonder, Lydia, if you have a heart at all! Even bad women have the milk of human kindness somewhere in their makeup. But you—" —he drew a sharp breath, like a little stab of pain —"you have a piece of ice—a pretty, sparkling piece of ice—in place of a human heart."

She rose, dropping him a mock curtesy.

"If it pleases you to think so, I am sure I'm flattered."

He drew back a pace, as though he could not bear her nearness.

"It's true. It took me three years to discover it—three bitter years, full of the torture of hope deferred. But it's all over and done with, now. Is that a comfort?"

She crushed the glowing end of her cigarette into an ashtray. Then her great eyes searched him lean, brown face.

"Landis, what do you mean? Explain yourself."

Tomorrow—Lydia's Errand.

MAPLE LEAFS ARE FOUR-ONE VICTORS OVER THE WOLVES

Trail Team Puts Up Unbeatable Defense and Splendid Forward Line

WOLVES CARRY GAME TO TRAIL IN SECOND HALF

Trail Gets Two Goals Each Half; Nelson's Only Goal on Penalty

Wolves went down to a 4-1 defeat at the hands of the visiting Trail Maple Leafs in a strongly contested intercity exhibition benefit soccer match for Hans Farenholtz, injured player, at the Recreation grounds yesterday afternoon.

The Leafs' combination, especially that of Chandler and Illott on the left wing, and Bond and Rothery on the right, was beautiful to watch. The way the boys got around, wheeled the ball and passed at just the right moment, called forth many an appreciative cheer from the sidelines.

GILLETT,
WELSH GOOD

The Wolves' combination was good but the Trail boys always checked effectively. Walter Gillette on the outside left and Welsh on the inside played a strenuous game and were continually in the battle.

From the first kickoff the Wolves went down to the Leafs' goal and Baillie had to go down on his knees to barely save Campion's shot. The game began to see-saw until finally Chandler got the ball and with some pretty combination rushed the Wolves' goal. The backs, Renwick and McLeod, checked the rush before the goal was menaced.

NEAR GOAL

On a combination rush the Wolves' forward line went down and Baillie was again called on to save. It was a great save and a narrow escape. Gillette shot a hot one in and Baillie got it in his hands above his head, jumping. For a second it looked as though it would go right through his hands, but the next second the ball was clear and the Leafs were tearing down the field like lightning with the Nelson boys close on their heels.

LEAFS SCORE TWICE

Bond and Rothery got around the backs and Bond shot. Gillette cleared by punching the ball in the air. Campion headed the ball up again as it came down again. As the ball came down again right in front of the goal, Chandler with his back to the goal, headed it into the net for the Leafs' first goal.

From the center off the Leafs again went down and Harry Rothery shot from the right. Gillette had plenty of time but he misjudged the flight of the ball, and thinking it was going over the bar he did not make an effort to save it. It sailed under and into the corner of the net for the Trail boys' second goal.

WOLVES
ATTACKING

A few seconds later the Leafs nearly scored again. They were attacking hard. The Wolves' backs and half backs were playing a splendid defensive game. Then the tide of the battle turned and the Wolves began to attack. They went up the field and kept up a siege for several minutes. Baillie made a beautiful save and cleared the ball safely when Welsh drove in a hot one from left wing.

Trail made a spurt and Gillette was called on to save again. He proved equal to it but a moment later the Leafs forced a corner. The ball was placed nicely but was cleared and the Nelson boys went up the field to start a determined attack on the visitors' goal. They were still menacing the goal when the half time whistle blew.

CHANDLER
BUMPS HEAD

From the whistle the Wolves went in determined to score. They attacked the Leafs' goal fiercely and in the rush Chandler, Trail wing man, bumped heads with one of the Nelson boys. The Nelson head proved hardest and Chandler's ear began to bleed. As soon as it was found the injury was slight, the game proceeded. For perhaps five minutes or more the Wolves kept up an attack on the Leafs' goal but could not get through the strong defence line to an advantageous position to shoot. They had to shoot from well out and as a result the shots were either saved by Baillie who was always on the job, or went high or wide.

Leafs started a rush but were pulled up at the half back line and the Wolves went up again. Baillie saved. The Wolves were forced back to center but again came on with Gillette taking the ball down like lightning. He was covered, however, and before he could shoot he was behind the goal line, giving the Leafs a goal kick.

LEAFS SCORE ON PENALTY

Leafs went up and were close in on the goal when McLeod fouled Illott in the penalty area. Chandler took the kick and lodged the ball in the goal but was forced to take the kick again as one of the Nelson boys had crossed the line. On his second shot Chandler beat Gillette for the Leafs' third goal.

From the center off the ball again fell back into the Wolves' territory but a beautiful piece of combination which involved Gillette, Welsh and Arcure, took the ball right down the field to the Leafs' full back line. They came in again but again they were stopped. Again they pressed in but still the backs, Sammons and Leckie, were on the job. Finally the ball got through but Baillie was there and he cleared.

GILLETTE
SHOOTS WIDE

Still the Wolves pressed in. Gillette got the ball on the left wing and with nobody but the goalie to beat shot wide. For a few minutes longer the Wolves pressed hard but the Leafs' defence was too strong for them.

The Leafs went down the field on a rush and forced a corner. Bond took the kick and placed it neatly in front of the goal. Gillette came out to meet it and the ball went past him for what looked like another goal. But Renwick, who had played a stellar game throughout cleared.

Wolves went down on a determined rush and Baillie was forced to run out to save. Referee Gallpen awarded a penalty kick to the Wolves and Welsh shot the ball in for their only counter.

GILLETTE HURT

From the center the Wolves pressed again. Gillette took the ball down the left wing. As he neared the goal area to pass in to center, he collided with a Trail man. He went down on his face and stayed there. It was more than the count before he recovered. Still suffering from the shock of the collision he took a corner shot. He shot behind the goal.

Wolves kept up the attack and the Leafs kept up the defence. Gillette shat high with no one to beat but the goalie and then the Leafs went up to test the Wolves' backs. They were equal to it and the ball again went down to the Leafs' goal area. Wolves forced a corner. Wallace placed the shot nicely but it was cleared.

LEAFS' FOURTH GOAL

The Leafs began to press and for several minutes menaced the Nelson goal. Chandler shot and Gillette saved above his head, but was unable to hold the ball. It went out on the field again and Chandler booted it through for the Leafs' fourth and final goal about five minutes from the end.

The Wolves fighting to the last whistle, began another determined attack but could not get past the Leafs' backs. They were trying hard when the final whistle put an end to the hectic battle.

The teams were:

Maple Leafs—Baillie, goal; Sammons and H. Leckie, halves; Burrows, Balfour and Young, halves; Bond, Rothery Brennan, Chandler and Illott, forwards.

Wolves—H. Gillette, goal; Renwick and McLeod, backs; Jeffs, Wallach and McInnes, halves; Wallace, Campion, Arcure, Welsh and W. Gillette, forwards.

Referee—M. N. Gallpen.

Shure, Mickey Me Bye Wins if Ace's Wild

BY AL DEMAREE
(Former Pitcher New York Giants)

Ace Hudkins, the Nebraska Wildcat, and Mickey Walker, the Toy Bulldog, are tossed into the ring tonight at Comiskey Park, Chicago, by Jim Mullen to fight it out for the world's middleweight boxing championship that Walker now holds.

After the last Hudkins-Baker fight in New York there was the question of whether Ace's heels were becoming round from the amount of punishment he had taken. The Wildcat laughs at the suggestion that he is in danger of becoming "slug nutty," however.

The Hudkins family, which includes seven brothers, two of whom manage his affairs, ar with the Ace.

For Walker to win, I figure he must knock out Hudkins inside of four rounds. Always a slow starter, if Hudkins can weather the early rounds he should come on with a rush in the closing ones.

SENATORS TO MIX WITH LIVE WIRES

If Live Wires Win They Are the Trafalgar League Champions

If the Senators win they will have to beat the Married Men on Tuesday to win the league. If they win tonight and lose Tuesday, all four teams in the league will be tied for the championship.

The teams will be:

Live Wires—J. Hunden, p; A. Waters, c; D. Bush, 1b; P. Hunden, 2b; J. Wood, 3b; D. McQuaig, ss; H. Stirzaker, lf; W. Bush, cf; J. Kuntz, rf.

BIG BILL TILDEN WINS AT LONDON

Beats Irish Captain; 16-Year-Old U. S. Star Eliminates Canuck Titleholder

LONDON, June 20.—Stellar playing by the members of the United States Davis cup team featured today's play in the London tennis championships at the Queens club. Wilbur F. Coen, 16-year-old United States star, provided the great sensation of the tournament by eliminating the titleholder Colonel H. G. Mayes, veteran Canadian player in a fourth round match. The match went to three sets, the scores being 7-5, 1-6, 6-4.

Coen's victory over Mayes puts him in the quarter finals along with Tilden and two Argentine players, Ronald Boyd and Moreau.

HUDDERSFIELD OBJECTS TO AUSTRALIAN TARIFF

LONDON, June 20.—Huddersfield, the Yorkshire seat of the heavy woolen industry, is protesting against the recent revision of the Australian tariff in regard to woolen worsted cloths.

In the monthly journal of the Chamber of Commerce it is pointed out that the duties passed by the House of Representatives came into force the following day, and received final assent three days later. In these circumstances, little or no time was given for making representations on the subject, but the Huddersfield and Bradford Chambers cabled to Premier Bruce, of Australia, urging the Government not to assent to the proposals.

"The exporters in Great Britain are naturally hostile to tariffs," the Journal adds, "but when tariffs are brought into operation by the Dominion without warning, and no allowance is made even for goods afloat or orders given prior to the new duties coming into operation, it is bound to leave a very unfavorable opinion regarding the sentiment of the Australian Commonwealth.

"British manufacturers use Australian wool, and they do not appreciate the imposition of a duty upon wool products imported by that Dominion, which ranks with the highest in the world. Time, however, will show whether Australia, with its small population, can afford unduly to protect its secondary industries."

Chicago Will Be Repaid Huge Sum by Mayor Thompson

CHICAGO, June 20.—More than $1,500,000 in "expert fees," much of which were found to have been diverted into the campaign coffers of Mayor William Thompson, was ordered repaid to the city treasury today by a decision of Judge Hugh Friend in circuit court.

Holding Mayor Thompson and six political associates and real estate men accountable for the illegal payments, made during the Thompson regime in 1920 and 1921, Judge Friend rebuked the defendants for entering the conspiracy which he found was formed for the dual purpose of "financing the political activities of the Thompson organization and for the private benefit of the members of the conspiracy."

The court directed Mayor Thompson, Michael J. Flaherty, president of the board of local improvements; George F. Harding, then city controller and now county treasurer; Percival B. Coffin, public administrator; and three real estate men to make restitution of $1,732,297 less $138,912 already remitted by the two other defendants who were discharged.

PUSH WORK ON THE BAY LINE

OTTAWA, June 20.—Work continues to be pushed on the Hudson Bay railway, with considerable grading in progress. Whether the road will be finished by the end of 1929 as anticipated cannot yet be said, but all efforts are being made during the season to finish those parts that can be worked on. The northward course of the road occurs at mileage 356, a few miles northeast of Kettle rapids. From there, the railway will run almost due north to Fort Churchill, avoiding contact with Port Nelson altogether. Churchill is at mileage 512, which would indicate that 156 miles of steel still remains to be laid.

An airplane base will be established within a few weeks as soon as the ice conditions in the vicinity of Fort Churchill has become such as to enable the department of defence planes, now at Cormorant lake, north of The Pas, to make the trip to the port.

Noranda Shows Strength; Nickel, C. P. R. and Brazilian Advance

TORONTO, June 20.—More strength was displayed on the Toronto stock exchange today, especially in early trading, but outside of a few issues the activity was not very great. International Nickel rose from 90½ to 93, the close being up 3½ to 92⅞. Brazilian advanced one of 53¾, C. P. R. made a gain of one point to 199. International Utilities "A" had a gain of one to close at 46. Noranda showed renewed strength and was up 75c at $35.75. Other gains included Abitibi 2⅛ to 59¼, Home Oil five cents to 2.80 and Super Petroleum ½ to 34½.

Other losses included Canadian Brewing 1½ to 32½; Page Hersey ¾ to 92¾, Twin City one to 46, Standard Bank nine to 239, B. C. Fish certificates 1½ to 16½ and Foothills Oil 20 to 4.80.

MINES TRADING IS AT LOW EBB

Moderate Turnover in Noranda With Slight Rally; Pend Oreille Weakest Issue

TORONTO, June 20.—Trading on the Standard mining exchange was at an extremely low ebb today, the total volume of sales amounting to only 713,573 shares which constituted a new low record for the year to date. Noranda had a very moderate turnover but showed a tendency to rally, closing at $35.80, a gain of 70c. Pend-Oreille was the weakest issue of the day. The high point was $12.90 established soon after the opening but a reaction carried the price to $12.05 with the close at $12.40, down 55c.

Hudson Bay Mining dropped 15c to $16.65 but Sherritt-Gordon improved to the extent of five cents at $5.95. San Antonio was active and two cents higher at 37½c. Mandy Mines was up a cent to $2.76. Central Manitoba eased 3c to $1.24.

Sudbury Basin increased 11c to $9.87. International Nickel finished at $92.50 up $3. Lake Shore declined 45c to $23.

ARTIST UNDER GUARD IN BANK OF ENGLAND

LONDON, June 20.—With gold ingots worth hundreds of thousands of pounds for his stool and easel, working under the constant surveillance of two detectives, Colinn Gill, decorative and portrait painter, formerly an official war artist, is painting pictures of the old bullion vaults of the Bank of England before they disappear in the rebuilding of the Bank. Virtually a prisoner, surrounded by gold bars and coins, worth £1,700,000, Mr. Gill paints behind locked doors to the order of the Bank Governor scenes of the interior to be hung on the walls of the new building.

"Although I am kept under the eyes of detectives, it is no reflection on my honesty," said the artist to a reporter. "Even the Governor would have a detective in attendance. I am not searched when the day's work is done. I should be sorry to attempt to lift one brick of gold.

"Many of the ingots were salvaged from the Laurentic. They are highly polished, and are handled by porters, who still wear black tam o' shanters pulled down over one ear—a relic of the days when gold bars were carried on the shoulder and the head and neck had to be protected from chaffing."

PEND OREILLE AND OIL ISSUES WEAK

Kootenay Florence in Demand at Coast; Gains Are Mixed

VANCOUVER, B.C., June 20.—Further weakness in Pend Oreille and the oil issues was reflected throughout the list on the Vancouver stock exchange today. The trade volume was only fair, Kootenay Florence and Grandview being the two stocks in greatest demand.

Opening at $12.25, fifty cents lower, Pend Oreille sold to $12.00 with the close at $12.10, a net loss of 65c. Dalhousie and Home Oils were each 15c lower at $2.55 and $2.45 respectively on a light trade.

Grandview, on a trade of 11,500 shares, eased off 3c to 31c and Kootenay Florence on a turnover of 10,500 shares, closed a fraction lower at 27c.

Big Missouri was off 2c to 46c, as was also Porter Idaho at 55c. Premier improved 1c to $2.23.

Mixed gains and losses were scattered throughout the balance of the list.

LADY ASTOR HOSTES EVE OF ROYAL COURT

Prior to Presenting Her Daughter at Court Shows Guests Gowns They Will Wear

LONDON, June 20.—Lady Astor, M. P., is always original and probably no other hostess in London would have thought of giving a reception on the very night she was presenting her daughter at Court. It was a great success, too, for Lady Astor inveigled her husband and several friends to help entertain her guests, some of whom were political celebrities while others were members of the National Association of Probation Officers, which had just ended its annual conference in London.

Before leaving for the Court Lady Astor, looking radiant in the loveliest chiffon and velvet dress of love-in-the-mist blue, and wearing diamonds, "processed" through the rooms, followed by her daughter, the Hon. Phyllis Astor, in the palest of golden yellow taffetas frocks with a lovely train, and Miss Deidre Hart-Davies, another debutante, all on silver tissue.

This was appreciated as a most delightful act. "It's the next best thing to going to Court," a Probation Officer remarked.

TRAINING OF YOUNG CRIMINAL OFFENDERS

TORONTO, June 20—Adoption of the Borstal system which is in use in England in connection with young criminal offenders, in place of the reformatory system used in Ontario, was advocated by Allen Harvey, district governor of the Optimists' club of Alberta, in an address here. It provides a training for young people who have received sentences of from one to three years at an institution conducted similarly to a "boarding school." Different classes are made up, concentrating on vocational education, with their own school colors, teachers and headmasters. The headmaster is trained in the handling of this class of boys, one who can act as an adviser and counseller, and who, in addition to obtaining the boys' confidence, will act as an inspiration for them. At the end of the two-year detention, they are "graduated" and remain on parole for one year. Work is obtained for them and they have an individual mentor, to whom they report weekly.

Auto Speeders Are Checked Over Marked District in East

MONTREAL, June 20.—Westmount's campaign against automobile speeders has been fruitful of results. Two weeks ago notice was served on motorists generally by the city of Westmount through the medium of the newspapers and motorists' organizations that Westmount police were being assigned to different thoroughfares for the purpose of "clocking" cars; that is, timing them in their passage from one point to another, thus showing up those traveling at excess speed. In this two weeks a total of 125 motorists have been summonsed. Not one was traveling at less than 30 miles an hour, while others were caught going at 45 miles an hour. The speeders were fined from $20 to $35 each.

INTERNATIONAL ROAD THEME AT ROSSLAND 'DO'

American Visitors, Interested Cities and Associated Boards in Full Fraternity

CLOSING BANQUET AT ROSSLAND IS NOTABLE

Work of Associated Boards and Of Great Institutions of District Lauded

ROSSLAND, B. C., June 20.—Out of Rossland's splendid banquet here last night to the Associated Boards of Trade of Eastern British Columbia, to accompanying delegations from Nelson and Trail, and to Lieutenant-Governor W. Lon Johnson of Washington and his party of nine business leaders from Colville and Stevens county, arose an enlarged vision of a splendid international highway connecting, on the side, Nelson, Trail and Rossland, with Paterson at the boundary, and on the other side Meyers Falls, Marcus and Bossburg, with Paterson.

ROAD POSITION REVIEWED

Lieutenant-Governor Johnson rehearsed recent road history in the state of Washington, from the "gentlemen's agreement" reached by state legislators to build to a program for years until the state highway system should embrace a system of first class highways touching at every county seat, to the conviction reached in 1926 that connection should be given at Paterson by an additional highway, to be financed by an extra appropriation, a proposal endorsed at a meeting at Trail when a party of legislators came up from Washington to discuss it. Cost of the work, first estimated at $150,000, had risen to $300,000, but it was intended to go through with it.

Lorne A. Campbell, chairman of the resolutions committee at yesterday's convention, who spoke subsequently, assured the lieutenant-governor and his party that Trail and Rossland were still firmly behind their pledge to require of the government of Victoria a road on this side equal to what was being built on the other, and pointed out that the Associated Boards had at the convention just concluded, asked for road improvement that make the Paterson-Rossland, Rossland-Trail, and Trail-Nelson sections of the standard to which Washington was building. Considering that this district produced one-tenth of the revenue of the province, Mr. Campbell said he could not think of any section of the province that had a better right to ask for this road, with the certainty of getting it.

WASHINGTON PARTY

The visit of the Washington delegation was one of the happiest features of the convention, and was one of the surprises arranged by Rossland, with characteristic hospitality. Beside the lieutenant-governor, it consisted of P. C. Boyd, president of Colville chamber of commerce; A. H. Sperry, president, and H. R. Williams, manager of Stevens County Power & Light company; S. E. Barnes, of the First National Bank, Colville; R. A. Willett, of Willett Garage company, Colville; W. W. Campbell, Colville postmaster; and three Colville merchants, C. C. Casey, H. O. Baer, and T. N. Ledgerwood.

Many of the speakers made happy references to the presence of the Washington delegation, and the banquet had an international character.

W. G. Ternan, president of Rossland board of trade, was toastmaster, opening the program with the toast to "The King," honored with the national anthem.

Mayor W. A. Turner then extended a welcome to all the visitors and Lieutenant-Governor Johnson was introduced by Toastmaster Ternan, and in turn introduced the merabers of the Washington delegation.

TOAST ASSOCIATED BOARDS

D. MacDonald, of Trail, happily proposed the toast to the Associated Boards of Trade, dwelling on the insight into its great activities for the district that he had obtained in his four years association with it.

President Noble Binns, first of four to reply, said he had hoped to be relieved of office after eight years in the chair, but would stay by the ship. He referred to the recognition given to the organization by the governments and great corporations, which realized that anything it presented to them had been presented as the result of mature deliberation, and merited the best consideration.

Dr. L. E. Bordon of Nelson said sectionalism was the bane of Canada, and even this province was not free from it. It was the duty of all to fight against sectionalism, in the interests of the true Canadianism that all wished to see developed.

R. W. Hinton of Nelson emphasized the breadth of view taken by the Associated Boards through a period of years and at many stages of the Kootenay's growth. Mr. Hinton was one of the many speakers to recall Rossland's earlier days, and to speak of the "Rossland spirit."

STARKEY ON ANTI-DUMPING

Commissioner Fred A. Starkey, Nelson, speaking of the convention just past, regarded the action taken toward protecting the province's fruit industry as vital beyond characterization. He welcomed the Washington visitors, and reminded Lieutenant-Governor Johnson that the action taken was on the lines that Americans themselves applied toward all American products. In Mr. Sperry, the commissioner recognized an all Greenwood business man with whom he had been tillicums and to whom he had sold many a bill of supplies. He mentioned an old time Rossland celebration of the Queen's birthday, which extended through June, picked up Dominion Day and the Fourth of July en route, and finally wound up in August.

Proposing a toast to the mining and smelting industry, J. A. McDonald, M. P. P., Nelson, declared he could propose no other toast with such pride. Ever since he first climbed Rossland hill as a prospector 31 years ago, he had watched Rossland's development, and that of the mining industry at large, with fraternal feelings. Declaring that local industries were needed in the Kootenay to give local payrolls, he referred to his own manufacture of jam, which 18 years ago resulted in the shipment of one car, but last year of 40 cars, it being his hope this year to make his output 60 cars.

The toastmaster conveyed the regrets of J. J. Warren, president of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company of Canada, at inability to be present and share in replying to this toast.

BLAYLOCK SPEAKS OF ROSSLAND

S. G. Blaylock, general manager of the Consolidated, made one of the striking addresses of the evening, which he more or less wound around Rossland in affectionate terms. The company, he said, had done everything possible to bring Rossland back, and had stayed with Rossland far longer than was to the interest of its pocketbook. He referred to the record of Rossland, in placing British Columbia on the mining map. He could think of no other mining camp that had done so much for the community that grew up around it as Rossland. Further, all over the world today important mines were being developed with credit and distinction by mining engineers developed in the camp of Rossland.

W. M. Archibald, Consolidated manager of mines, pleading that he would not care to speak on a mining topic without preparation, went into the origin of the board of trade movement in Canada, and said it was lineally descended from the "societies" formed in Nova Scotia under the inspiration of "Agricola's" letters in the Arcadian Recorder, written after the close of the war of 1812, in an effort to revive Nova Scotia's prosperity which was at a low ebb after the profitable privateering in which the population extensively engaged ceased when peace was signed.

"Our American Friends" were toasted on the proposal of W. K. Esling, M. P., who spoke of the intimate associations of Spokane and eastern Washington generally with Kootenay mining, both in the early days, when F. August Heinze built the original Trail smelter on a guarantee of a certain tonnage and treatment rate, and until the present. The Allen hotel dining room was historic, he said, for in the early rays banquets were given on every possible occasion, and "enough champagne had been opened in it to float a battleship." A banquet was given when a man went away, when he came back, when he was married, and when he was divorced, and it usually lasted "till the day after tomorrow." He referred to various famous characters.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR SPEAKS

Lieutenant-Governor Johnson was given a royal welcome, and spoke eloquently of the "entwined flags" over his head, which were a symbol of the 114 years of peace across an unprotected border, which was a lesson to the world on what international relations should be. He declared the greatest hospitality he had ever received was in British Columbia, when a delegation from the Washington legislature visited Victoria to take up certain matters with the government of the province, and said that Washington hoped to be able to return that hospitality next winter in its new capitol at Olympia. This was his third most pleasurable Kootenay banquet, the earlier ones being at Trail and Nelson, the last named in honor of Major A. B. Ritchie.

He referred in appreciative terms to the part Kootenay mining had played in building up the wealth of Spokane, and expressed the hope that the Consolidated or other mining interests here would go into Ferry and Stevens counties and similarly make wealth for this district.

W. B. Bamford proposed the toast to transportation and power, promising an eloquent address from Lorne Campbell, general manager of the West Kootenay Power & Light company, on the latter topic and from "my son," J. S. Carter, on the former.

POWER AND TRANSPORTATION

Mr. Campbell made one of the addresses of the evening, putting power as the basic element in the district's industrial development, and forecasting the day when 500,000 h.p. within 18 miles of Rossland would be utilized. The company's power, he said, was the most cheaply produced on the continent, and ownership of the company by the Consolidated put the latter in the position that it could weather declines in metals that would force other smelters to shut down.

Mr. Carter, C. P. R. district passenger agent, held that the Canadian Pacific was basic in the district's prosperity. The passenger department, he said, was what produced the money—the freight department was merely a pest, like the codling moth, to be barely tolerated. He referred to the Consolidated and the West Kootenay Power as "departments of the C.P.R." He was speaking, he said, on instructions of Mr. Cotterell, head of the system in British Columbia, who had wired him from Princeton, "Joe, represent me," when the washout on the Kettle Valley line had held him up, with his party of good fellows bound for the convention.

SISTER BOARDS PLEDGE COOPERATION

"Sister Boards of Trade" were proposed by John Galt, Rossland, who spoke of the cooperation they had always given Rossland.

Alex. Leith, president of the Nelson board, pledged anew Nelson's cooperation in every move for the advancement of any part of the district.

Mayor T. A. Love of Grand Forks said Grand Forks, though hit by the shutdown of the Granby, by the later disappointment in fruit, and last by the dumping action, saw new hope in the large operations on the north fork by a powerful American company, which might bring a prosperity comparable to that of former times. Subject to confirmation by his board, he extended an invitation on behalf of Grand Forks to the association for next year.

Major E. Mallandaine, president of the Creston board, extolled Creston valley as the greatest fruit district in the province, and assured his hearers of a welcome at Creston any time.

Rev. K. McIntyre proposed a toast to the press, as an important factor in the Kootenay's development.

C. O. Rodgers of Creston spoke of the vital importance to each community of its local paper, advancing local interests.

W. A. Elletson, of Rossland, pointed out that the weekly paper carried its message 52 times a year. He pledged the support of the Rossland Miner to the projects advocated by the Associated Boards.

H. H. Currie, of Nelson, declared his pride in the collective press of the Kootenay, daily and weekly, and emphasized it as a development agency, and as a servant in putting the views of the district before the world.

TOAST TO ROSSLAND

A hearty toast to the board of trade and citizens of Rossland was drunk, on the motion of President Binns, Toastmaster Ternan happily replying.

A further toast, to the ladies and young men of Rossland, the latter acting as waiters, was carried, on motion of Commissioner Starkey.

As a conclusion, the national anthems of Canada and the United States were sung.

During the evening local artists gave several vocal and instrumental selections.
