Over Inch of Rain Falls in Nelson Over the Week-End

Total of 1.19 inches of rain fell over the week-end. Of this .83, more than three-quarters of an inch fell yesterday.

Most of Sunday's precipitation was between midnight and 3 a.m., during a severe electrical and wind-storm.

The wind, attaining a velocity of 30 to 45 miles an hour, flayed blossoming fruit trees and caused considerable damage in orchards.

Great flashes of lightning illuminated this area during the storm. As far as was known late last night, the lightning caused no damage. The excessive rain which accompanied it minimized the danger from fire.

TRAIN STRIKES AN AUTO; FERNIE CHINESE HURT

Crossing Accident Is Serious; Man in Hospital; Car Wreck

FERNIE, B.C., May 27.—A bad accident occurred on the Canadian Pacific railway near Elko this afternoon about 4 o'clock, in consequence of which a Chinaman is lying in Fernie hospital with a broken left clavicle, a severe injury to the head and his body badly bruised and shaken up. The man was driving a truck to Fernie on the old Fernie-Elko road and had reached the railroad crossing which is near that woody stretch of road known as Stanley park. He evidently didn't notice the on-coming eastbound freight, for just when his car was on top of the crossing the engine struck it broadside on. The freight stopped and took the man in to Fernie, where the ambulance awaited him and conveyed him to hospital. The automobile is a bad wreck. Constable Sharp of Elko went to view the scene of the accident.

Aerial Survey Westward Will Come This Year

OTTAWA, May 27.—The department of national defence will this year undertake an aerial survey from Toronto westwards in order to investigate the possibility of further expanding the air mail service to the prairie provinces and eventually the Pacific coast. This was announced in the house of commons Saturday by Hon. P. J. Veniot, postmaster-general, when the post office estimates were under review. Mr. Veniot explained the operation of the present air mail services in eastern Canada and declared that if Canada was to follow the movement for air service that was spreading over the whole continent of America, this country would eventually have to be linked up from coast to coast.

VANCOUVER, May 27.—Murray D. Harris, city fireman, who, with his brother was arrested Thursday, charged with shopbreaking, has been identified as one of two men seen leaving Steeves Dairy offices on the morning of May 13, after an attempt made to smash open the safe. Police believe the arrests will clear up many recent safe robberies.

American Naval Seaplane Makes Two New Records

PHILADELPHIA, May, 27.—Apparently forced down by a heavy mist, which had hampered its flight for two hours, the XPN-12, a new type of naval seaplane, landed on the flying field of the Philadelphia navy yard, the possessor of two new world's records. The plane had been in the air 17 hours, 55 minutes, 13.6 seconds, and flown a distance of 1242 miles.

It broke the record for continuous flight with a "useful load" of 1000 kilograms, by six hours, 47 minutes, 45.6 seconds and the record for range by 248 miles.

DURNAN DIES

TORONTO, May 27.—Edward Durnan, aged 55, who for 10 years held the rowing championship of Canada and the United States, died late tonight in hospital here.

Rescue Parties Start in Search of Missing Italian Airship Italia

Nobile's Ship on Arctic Cruise Last Heard From on Thursday; Weather Bad for Polar Flight; Fear Lost

A radio station identified by the American Radio relay league as one operated by a member of the staff of the Far Eastern University at Vladivostok today broadcasted calls asking for help for the dirigible, Italia, long overdue on a return journey from the arctic wastes.

The message was picked up by radio operators at San Francisco and Portland under the call "RAO 3" identified by the relay league as a station operated by M. Golvstchikoff of the laboratory of the Far Eastern University of Vladivostok.

RESCUE EXPEDITION

A rescue expedition was en route today from King's Bay, Spitzbergen to the arctic wastes to search for General Umberto Nobile and his polar dirigible, Italia, unheard from since Thursday on its attempted round trip flight to the north pole.

The general's base ship, Citta Di Milano, put out from King's Bay, Spitzbergen, Sunday, heading for Amsterdam island just north of Spitzbergen, to search for the explorer. Plans were announced for the Norwegian sealer, Hobby, carrying Lieutenant Leutzow Holm, Norwegian air ace, to leave Oslo for King's Bay Monday to conduct a search by airplane.

Although Pacific coast radio stations reported they had picked up calls for help purporting to come from a Siberian station, anxiety over the fate of General Nobile and his craft increased as no direct word was received from his airship or radio stations closest to the area in which he was last heard from.

"IN DISASTER"

Several amateur operators and the Radio Corporation of America reported hearing the Pacific coast calls which reported the Italia "in disaster", but all agreed that the position of the dirigible was not given and that the message was repeated time after time in French, Italian and English and was almost undecipherable.

These vague reports, however, found no confirmation in either Norway or

PEND OREILLE IS ON RAMPAGE

Farm Lands Threatened Flood Waters; Cusick Dike Leak Is Repaired

NEWPORT, Wash., May 27.—Leaks in a dike flood gate at Cusick, discovered last night, which threatened destruction to crops on a large area, were successfully repaired today when the Milwaukee railroad dumped 15 cars of gravel on the dike, which its line crosses. It is believed that the dike is safe and trains are using it.

The Pend Oreille river reached the 21.4 foot stage Friday, a rise of fourtenths of a foot in the last 24 hours, but still lacks 2.3 feet of last year's mark.

About 6000 acres of farm lands in the Calispel valley will be threatened if the rise continues.

Forest officials report from Thompson Falls that the flow Friday was 1800 second feet greater than at peak last year, which indicates the highest water here since 1894.

Pioneer Calgary Business Man Meets Untimely End

CALGARY, May 27.—A. C. Russell, pioneer business man, died at 6 o'clock Saturday morning in hospital as a result of a gunshot wound received during the night when he attempted to dislodge a cat from a fence.

In some unexpected way the charge entered his left arm and members of his family found him on the ground, bleeding profusely.

Canadian Boys Capture King's Challenge Cup

LONDON, May 27.—Canada won the King's special challenge trophy for 1927 in the miniature rifle shooting competition for boys of the Empire. The Canadian team, consisting of 2003 boys, made an average of 79.2 out of a possible 100.

PLANE CRASHES

ORLY, France, May 27.—An airplane, participating in an aviation carnival for charity today, rolled into the front line of a crowd of spectators. One person was killed, two others died later and three others were seriously hurt. The accident was caused by a misjudged landing space.

Ottawa Report Says Thornton Does Not Want P. G. E. Road

OTTAWA, May 27.—While a statement had been made that negotiations are proceding for the sale of the P. G. E. to the C. N. R., the outlook for a deal is learned to be far from encouraging. While strong pressure has been exerted on the government, negotiations in reality consist of a request to Sir Henry Thornton, to report on the matter, and it is understood the C. N. R. head has no desire to acquire the P. G. E.

McGeer Refuses to Run in Vancouver South Riding

VANCOUVER, May 27.—G. G. McGeer was requested to allow his name to go before a nominating committee in South Vancouver as a candidate in the forthcoming provincial election by a delegation of Liberals from that district Saturday.

The former candidate for Vancouver North and Vancouver Center in recent federal elections stated, however, that he will not accept the nomination, as he has no intention of entering provincial politics.

Bridge and Iron Workers' Strike Spreads Westward

VANCOUVER, May 27.—Members of Local 97, bridge and structural iron workers, have quit work on the railroad bridge near Bowser, Vancouver Island, a contract of the Canadian Bridge company, and it was reported that the men working on the Alberta wheat pool elevator, Vancouver, where the Dominion Bridge company has the contract, may stop work on Monday.

The stoppage of work near Bowser, marks the spread to the Pacific coast of the strike of bridge and iron workers in Montreal and Toronto.

ASQUITH LEAVES SMALL ESTATE

LONDON, May 27.—England received something of a shock on learning that the late Lord Oxford and Asquith, one-time premier who devoted his life to politics, left an estate of only about £9000 ($45,000) and that he was relieved of financial worry during his last days by the beneficence of friends.

Reservoir Is Partially Drained to Save the Mains; Break in Line

District Roads Closed by Overflowing Creeks; Bridges Out

HALL AND PORCUPINE BRIDGES DESTROYED

C. P. R. and G. N. Railways Have Troubles; Slocan Area Damaged

Flood conditions have disrupted auto traffic to the south, endangered the Great Northern railway, tied up the Sandon branch of the Kaslo-Nakusp railway, and caused general trouble on travel routes throughout the district.

Several bridges have been washed out in the Sandon area, where Carpenter creek is at an unusual height. It is not expected repairs will be completed until tomorrow.

PORCUPINE BRIDGES

Logs carried down by Five-Mile creek jammed up against the Canadian Pacific railway bridge at Troup Junction yesterday, causing the water to overflow. About 50 feet of track was washed out to a depth of eight feet.

TRAIL WATCHES COLUMBIA RISE; BRIDGES GONE

Merchants Remove Goods; Castlegar Ferry May Have to Quit

TRAIL, B. C., May 27.—Heavy rain during Saturday night and Sunday caused still further rise in the river and residents along the water front showed uneasiness. All day long Trailites lined the river banks to gaze at the water which is now above the high water mark of July last year.

Motorists returning from Castlegar tonight reported the Pass creek bridge, a few miles south of Castlegar, had been washed out by overflow of the creek in that vicinity

MAY HALT FERRY

It also reported that the Columbia river at Castlegar was so high today that a rise of two or three more feet will halt the ferry schedule. It is stated the clamp on the two cables guiding the ferry had to be set back 10 feet today, as far as is possible. Should the water rise three feet at that section the grounding pole of the cable will be under the water and the ferry will be unable to make a landing as the water is now almost to the road, it is understood.

Unofficial reports from Salmo tonight were that the Salmon river had overflowed and the streets of that city are covered iwth water up to and on the Nelson-Spokane highway.

TRAIL, B.C., May 27.—Columbia river here is now at the stage of high water reached only by July 1 last year and serious fears are now entertained that some property damage may be done if the rapid rise continues.

In the 24 hours ending a 7 o'clock Saturday morning, a 14-inch rise was recorded at the Consolidated's pumping station on Stoney creek, where the level was 27 feet two inches. Records show a rise of seven feet, two inches in five days.

On Thursday night a small section of retaining wall on the river was washed away from the Elks' hall playground. It has been extended to a gap of 20 feet.

HOUSES IN WATER

Saturday morning it was found that the river had washed over the uncompleted fill fronting the city stables. Teams standing dry shod last night, were standing in 18 inches of water this morning.

A further gain of one foot which is confidently anticipated, will put water into basements of one or two residences on the river bank below the Bowery and Verigin subdivision.

Managers of two of the largest stores in the city are viewing the rise with uneasiness. Though the distance from the river, it is thought the large and deep basements under their stores will be flooded with subsoil water. Preparations are being made to remove large stocks to above ground level.

Water Collecting Along Five-Mile Line Causes Slide

MUD, EARTH, ROCKS FLOOD McKIM RANCH

G. N. Tracks Covered; Slide Occurs at 6:30 p.m. Sunday

Cascading over a high bluff, a river of mud and boulders forced by a torrent of water plunged down on to the Great Northern railway tracks and then surged its way through W. J. McKim's orchard at 6:30 last night.

The slide was only diverted at Mr. McKim's extensive chicken houses by a crew of volunteers whose work with pick and shovel and any sort of tool they could grasp just saved a brooder house containing 4000 young chicks.

The slide petered out on the flat piece of ground on which are situated the McKim buildings. Except for the house, which is on slightly higher ground, the buildings are surrounded by a sea of mud from six inches to over a foot in depth.

TANK OVERFLOWS

The slide was caused by water overflowing from a break-pressure bank on the city's Five-Mile creek supply line. Gravel carried down from the intake when a screen broke there yesterday morning choked the screen in the break-pressure tank.

Water then overflowed the tank. Instead of running off on a slope into Anderson creek, as the builders of the pipe line thought it would when they built the break-pressure tank at that particular place, the water collected on soft ground and churned this up until it was forced forward over the high bluff overlooking the McKim ranch.

CARRIES BOWLDERS

As soon as City Engineer Boyd C. Affleck was notified of conditions, he took a crew of men to the break-pressure tank. A few minutes' work soon remedied the trouble and water which flowed in the wake of the slide afterward was mostly draining from the marsh caused by the overflow.

The slide was about 100 feet wide on the railway track.

Going through Mr. McKim's orchard the slide divided itself on each side of a row of trees, then swung over to carry on between two rows of trees.

Huge bowlders carried by the slide were strewn over its course. None of the fruit trees were uprooted, but many of them were bruised by the bowlders and many were damaged in lesser degree. The water draining from the source of the slide cut a deep gash through the orchard. A number of fences were torn down.

West Arm Rises Sixteen Inches Over Week-End

Swelled by heavy week-end rain, the level of the water in the West Arm rose nine inches yesterday, setting a record for one day's rise this year. This brought the lake level up to 17.7 feet. This level is already higher than the lake's highest point last year.

Total rise over the week-end was 16¾ inches, accounted for by seven and one-quarter inches on Saturday and nine inches yesterday.

Wholesale houses on the waterfront are already making preparations to move stock out of low basements. It is said the water is beginning to seep into the basements.

Construction of a temporary dam at the intake of the city's Five-Mile creek water supply was necessary to save the intake yesterday morning when, following a slide on Five-Mile creek above the intake, the water rose to a filled the city reservoir to dangerous height.

The volume of water near overflowing, and it was necessary to open hydrants at low levels to relieve the pressure.

Water poured into the reservoir too fast to be carried away by the overflow pipe. Quantities of gravel carried along would probably have blocked the sewers had it been permitted to run off in the usual manner, so city workmen under City Engineer Boyd C. Affleck diverted the water on to the road.

FLOODS GARDENS

This diverted water, rushing down Cedar, Hendryx and Latimer streets, washed off the gravel surface. Water cascaded over newly-planted gardens, in some cases destroying this season's work. Basements of two or three houses were also flooded. Damage to the roads was not extensive.

City Engineer Affleck stated last night that permanent changes in the construction of the intake, to prevent a recurrence, could not be undertaken until low water.

Low water pressure in the city last night was due to intake pipes being partly closed. This was done to prevent mains in the city from bursting under excessive pressure.

LIGHT RAINFALL IS ENJOYED ON PRAIRIE

SASKATOON, Sask., May 27.—An hour and a half of light rainfall was experienced in Saskatoon tonight. It started off like a steady all night rain, but stopped at 10 o'clock although the sky remained overcast.

Rain has been the crying need of district farmers. One man has reported a large acreage of his wheat destroyed by the hot weather and wind. Other reports of reseeding were also received.

RESCUE PARTIES START SEARCH LOST AIRSHIP

Spitzbergen. Several hours after she steamed out on her rescue mission, the Citta Di Milano reported that she was still without word from the dirigible.

Oslo reported that "no news since Thursday"—seven hours after the Italia reported she was returning after a flight over the pole—was still the best that could be said of the missing expedition.

WEATHER WAS BAD

Captain Mariano, pilot of the Italia, was far from contented with weather prospects when he talked with the correspondents of the Associated Press just before the start for the north pole.

Captain Mariano had discussed the weather for hours with Dr. Finn Malmgren, meteorologist of the expedition, and with other scientists here. None of these men were satisfied that the weather prospects were favorable for the venture.

Meanwhile, Rome's morning newspapers expressed supreme confidence that the Italia soon would be located and exhorted their readers to remain calm. News that the Norwegian government and several famous explorers had started rescue preparations was received with great rejoicing in the Italian capital.

There were 18 men on the Italia when she left King's Bay for the north pole. Several dogs, including Titina, the little terrier mascot which flew with the Norge across the pole in 1926, were also aboard.

The personnel consisted of:

General Umberto Nobile, chief in command; Captain A. Mariano, pilot; Captain Filipo Zappi, Lieut. A. Viglieri, Lieutenant Arduino, Professor Pontremoli, Dr. Finn Malmgren, Prof. F. Dehounek, meteorologists; Dr. Ugo Lago, journalist; Giuseppe Biogi, radio operator; Natale Ceccioni, motor chief; Cowani, engineer; Attileo, Caratti, Vincenezo Pommella and Armando Argioletti, and Calisto Cioca, motor men; Renato Allesandrine and Luigi Bealocchi, envelope attendants.

Seven of these were with Amundsen in the 1926 dirigible venture.

KING'S BAY, SPITZBERGEN, May 27—The Citta Di Milano, base ship for General Umberto Nobile's polar expedition left here at 9:30 a.m. to search for the missing Italia. She headed for Amsterdam Island, just off the north coast of this island.

The vessel intended to ascertain the best course for passing the ice barriers. It would have taken her but a few hours to reach the vicinity of Amsterdam Island, but as she had not returned at 5:30 p.m. it was thought that she may have proceeded toward Norwegian Island.

NO NEWS

It was believed that she would have to take a course further to the westward as the ice was moving in that direction. Some of the direction personnel who were left here, thought she might be out for the best part of a week. Aside from a vague unconfirmed message that there was no news of the missing dirigible here today.

The weather continued extremely cold, despite some sunshine. There was a cold wind with fog over the mountain to the north. Lack of news of the Italia has stopped much of the activity here. A grim silence has fallen over the little group of Italians. Nevertheless the Italians remain convinced o fthe ability of their big dirigible to remain in the air and eventually reach safety.

PLANE TO AID

OSLO, NORWAY, May 27.— Lieut. Luetzow Holm, Norwegian air ace, will leave tomorrow morning from Tromsoe where he will embark with his plane on the sealer Hobby and start for King's Bay to search for the missing dirigible Italia. Lieut. Holm intends first to explore the north and northeast coasts of Spitzbergen. Plans for the second part of the relief expedition which will be the joint leadership of Raol Amundsen and Captain Otto Sverdrup, have not been definitely settled.

Lieut. Holm will use a naval monoplane and will be accompanied by a mechanic. The Hobby will be used as his base ship.

The steamer Braganza was also ordered to leave Tromsoe for King's Bay.

Either German or Italian planes will be used by the second part of the relief expedition.

SAN FRANCISO, May 27.—Call for help for General Umberto Nobile's dirigible Italia in peril somewhere in the arctic wastes were picked out of the air by Pacific Radio operators early today.

Position of the Italia was not given. The message came time after time, first in Italian, then in French, and again in English, garbled and almost indecipherable because of the distance of sending apparatus. Surmise that the Italia, more than five days out of Spitzbergen on its voyage for the North Pole was broadcasting its appeal from some point north of Siberia was advanced by the radio call RAO 3, of the prefix AS, assigned by the international radio union for use of Siberian stations. The message repeated with infinite trilingual patience from 5:15 to 7:40 a.m. Pacific coast time, was:

"SOS AS RAO 3" Dirigible Italia with General Nobile in disaster. It was equipped to radio on wave length of 4:45 meters. Please help immediately.

RE-BROADCAST

HARTFORD, CONN., May 27.—A. A. Herbert, treasurer of the American Radio Relay league, said tonight the station at Vladivostok, whose messages with the call letters "AS RAO 3" asking help for the Nobile dirigible were picked up by Pacific coast stations today, probably received the Italia call and using its greater power made an SOS broadcast.

Tonight station IMIK regular headquarters station of the relay league was seeking to get in touch with the Italia through ships at sea.

AUTO BUREAUX WILL BE OPENED IN THE INTERIOR

Elkins Leaves for Interior; Will Post Weekly Road Condition Reports

VANCOUVER, May 27.—To reopen the province-wide network of information bureaus operated by the Automobile Club of British Columbia during the touring season, and which have been closed during the winter months, Fred J. Elkins, provincial manager, left tonight for a tour of the interior.

The provincial manager will visit Kamloops, Kelowna and Penticton during his present trip. Operation of fully equipped touring bureaus is contemplated in all of these towns.

In addition to these officers, there will also be bureaus in Trail, Cranbrook and Nelson, as during the summer of 1927. Organization of these branches is now proceeding under the direction of Jack R. Gardom, district representative.

"Through the location of our touring bureaus and with the cooperation of district engineers, the Automobile club will be able to furnish the most up-to-date touring information," said Mr. Elkins before he left. "Weekly road reports will be compiled and these will be forwarded to the affiliated touring bureaus of the American Automobile association in the United States."

TOLMIE LEAVES FEDERAL HOUSE

Tendered Banquet by the Press Club, Ottawa; Will Lead B. C. Conservatives

OTTAWA, May 26.—Canada should analyize and classify its opportunities Hon. Dr. Tolmie declared in addressing members of the Ottawa Press club Saturday.

"We should conserve our market opportunities for the Canadian producer and learn to use Canadian products in preference to all others. Having attended to these things, then it will be safe to deal with immigration in a comprehensive way. If our own people are doing well within the country, then this condition will be the strongest attraction for the people of other lands."

Dr. Tolmie, who was minister of agriculture in the Borden and Meighen governments, is leaving the house of commons, where he represents Victoria, to concentrate on his duties as provincial leader of the British Columbia Conservatives. He devoted considerable time to the problems and opportunities of British Columbia and advocated a survey of available opportunities in the west coast province, saying: "I think a thorough survey should be made of our province with regard to our opportunities. These should be classified and given the widest publicity."

Among those attending were Hon. R. R. Bennett and a number of Liberal members. Hon. Dr. Tolmie stated he had greatly enjoyed the federal field, but considered it his duty to lead Conservatives in British Columbia.

McGeer Urges Attorney-General 'Take Cognizance'

VANCOUVER, May 27.—The Vancouver Sun Saturday printed a Victoria dispatch stating that G. G. McGeer, on behalf of Police Commissioner T. W. Fletcher, has written the attorney-general asking him to "take cognizance" of the evidence before the police inquiry commission as it affects Inspector John Jackson. The letter draws attention to the evidence of the two officers, McDonald and Foran, in which they swore that although they "had the goods" against a brother of Celoni, as the keeper of a disorderly house, they were ordered to leave the case alone and discontinue prosecution. This, Mr. McGeer suggests, would make Inspector Jackson an accessory after the fact.

Mr. McGeer also cites the Wing Ching drug case and claims the evidence is equaly clear in this to make the offenders liable to deportation. "I have discussed the matter with A. H. MacNeill, K.C., counsel to the commission, and he agrees with me that in both instances Jackson is guilty of a violation of section 71 of the criminal code," says the letter. This section deals with being "accessory after the fact."

DISTRICT ROADS CLOSED; BRIDGES ARE WASHED OUT

Repairs were effected early in the afternoon.

Several bridges on the Nelson-Spokane highway in the neighborhood of Porcupine creek were washed out early yesterday morning. Dams and cribbing supporting the road and a lot of road built this spring were washed out.

The road foreman had crews out but found nothing could be done until the water recedes. It was expected District Engineer William Ramsay will visit the district today.

News of trouble in this area was sent in to Nelson by special messenger, as telephone lines are out. These lines were the only ones out of service last night.

G. N. ENDANGERED

Small washouts along the Great Northern railway, particularly in the Hall Siding area, were causing trouble. One washout at Hall has been repaired and cribbing built to let water pass under the tracks into the Salmon river.

Just south of Porto Rico several lesser washouts occurred.

Three crews are at work on the railroad. They are keeping water from the tracks with bags of sand and dirt. Early yesterday morning water was running over the tracks in several places.

The Hall creek bridge went out early yesterday morning. The creek is away out of its course and is crossing the road in a terrific torrent. About 40 yards of road were washed out. A crew sent out in the morning could do nothing.

Repairs to approaches of the bridge at Porto Rico, which were washed out when logs jammed against the bridge on Friday, causing the creek to overflow, were expected to be completed today.

The Salmon river was a raging torrent and was going over its banks in several places. Every creek between Nelson and Ymir was at height. Except where creeks were overflowing, the road was in good shape.

Section crews were guarding the Canadian Pacific railway between Grand Forks and Archibald against flood conditions, which were considered particularly dangerous in the neighborhood of Grand Forks.

Cairns creek, near Willow Point, on the Nelson-Kaslo highway, overflowed yesterday but the small washout was quickly repaired.

Cribbing at Crescent Valley is the Slocan valley has been endangered by the height of the Slocan river. Traffic was being diverted over a road through the Bourgeois dairy ranch

UNDER WATER

Sections of road were under water at Appledale and Perry's Siding. To avoid this traffic was being directed over the new bridge at Winlaw, to take the road on the east side of the river.

Lemon creek, six miles south of Slocan City, was threatening to wash out a fill, but a crew quickly had things in hand. It was not expected this creek would cause a great deal of damage.

High water was washing holes in the long fill at Pass creek, on the Nelson-Trail highway, and autoists have been warned to take every precaution when crossing this fill and the long bridge just west of the Castlegar ferry. A watchman has been stationed here to warn autoists of the danger.

At Camp Busk, near Kokanee, the log bridge was carried downstream to the meadows on the lakeshore on Friday. If the lake level rose six inches higher the bush road to the camp would be under water, a letter from C. W. Busk to The Daily News stated. He warned those going to the camp by foot to use the old trail leaving the highway near the Kokanee creek bridge.

POSTMASTERS WILL GET AN INCREASE

Rural District Postmasters' Increase Coming Says Veniot

OTTAWA, May 27.—The intention on the part of the government to increase the salary of rural postmasters was expressed by Hon. P. J. Veniot, postmaster-general in the commons Saturday when estimates for the post office department were under discussion. Mr. Veniot said that the minimum salary at present is $60 until the revenue reaches $120 per annum. As the revenue increases up to $1000, the salary 50 per cent of the increased revenue. Retroactive from May 1, of this year the minimum salary will be $100 instead of $60. The proportion of increase to $1000 of revenue will be 70 per cent instead of 50; up to $10,000, 30 per cent and up to $20,000, 20 per cent. This increase would affect 9000 rural postmasters throughout the Dominion, said Mr. Veniot. The postmaster-general explained that when the postage was reduced from 3c to 2c, a sum of $600,000 had to be provided in order to take care of salaries which based as they were on postal revenues would have been correspondingly decreased. This year the salary is being maintained and an increase given which will amount in all to between $250,000 and $300,000.

Mr. Veniot referred to an association of mail contractors. For two years, he declared, those connected with this association, had been carrying on propaganda to the effect that they had sufficient influence with the post office department to obtain increased allowances for mail carriers.

Mail carriers were also asked to contribute between $2 to $5 a head to the association, Mr. Veniot continued.

The gentleman who represented himself as secretary to this association had no authority whatever to speak on behalf of the post office department.

TRAIL MEMORIAL TENNIS CLUB IS AT BONNINGTON

Rain Stops the West Kootenay League Tourney After Four Matches

TRAIL, B.C., May 27.—Leaving Trail in a party of 13 proved unlucky for members of Memorial Society tennis club, when they went to Bonnington to compete in an opening game of the West Kootenay tennis league today. To start things one car ran off the side of the road. Then came a steady downpour of rain at Bonnington which forced officials to call the matches off. Finally another car had its turn and ran out of gas in "no-man's-land."

The party consisted of Mrs. Davies, Miss Lorna Anthony, Miss Doris Anthony, Miss Mallott, P. Demidoff, A. Demidoff, W. Williams, H. Winter, D. Thain, E. Jandrell, C. Leslie, W. Manson and C. Busby. THREE DROWNINGS REPORTED, MANITOBA

WINNIPEG, MAN., May 27.—After clinging to an upturned canoe for six and a half hours, following the capsizing of the craft and the drowning of two companions, R. A. Black of Winnipeg, was rescued by another member of his party who had reached shore safely and brought aid from a nearby settlement.

When the canoe capsized in the Birch river, about 130 miles northeast of Winnipeg, George De Groot, 21, and Irvine Levi, 20, were drowned. William McIllwaith seized hold of a large eiderdown packsack when the four men were tossed into the water and with the aid of this made his way to shore. Then he tramped 15 miles through swamp land to a settlement, secured a motor boat and returned to rescue Black. Although in an exhausted state, Black quickly responded to first aid treatment, and will recover.

A third drowning fatality was reported from Birtle, Man., over the week end when James Massey, 14, lost his life while swimming in a slough. The body was recovered.

ROY MACLAREN, VANCOUVER MAN, IS DROWNED

Was Attempting Run the Bow River Rapids in Canoe Near Calgary

CALGARY, May 27.—Tragedy was enacted on the rapids below the second dam across the Bow river at Kananaskis, near the eastern gate of the Rocky Mountains National park, Saturday afternoon. Lieutenant-Commander Roy MacLaren of Vancouver, who was attempting to run the swollen waters of the river to Calgary in a canoe, accompanied by Robert Reynolds of the Y.M.C.A. staff of this city, is believed to have been drowned when their craft capsized in the rapids. At 7:30 p.m. Sunday no trace of him or his body had been reported to either Royal Canadian Mounted, provincial or city police.

Reynolds, thrown from the canoe the instant the accident happened, made a valiant fight for his life, succeeding after being in the water for three-quarters of an hour. He had seen MacLaren sitting on the bottom of the upturned canoe when he first came to the surface, but drawn under by the undertow once more, he did not see him again.

EXPERT CANOEMAN

MacLaren had been in the city for several months. An expert and experienced canoeman, he conceived the idea of making the hazardous trip from Canmore to the Louise bridge Calgary. Arrangements had been made whereby Alexander Calhoun, Calgary librarian, was to accompany him. Mr. Calhoun found it impossible to make the trip and MacLaren approached Reynolds of the Y.M.C.A., until that time a complete stranger to him.

Starting from Canmore about noon in a canoe, all went well as far as the Kananaskis dam. Portaging around the dam, they set out on the river once more. Drawn into the rapids, now more formidable because of the spring rush of water, they met almost immediate disaster. The 16-foot canoe failed to rise from a great hollow in the water and turned over. Reynolds figures that he was thrown six or eight feet by the impact.

When Reynolds came to the surface he caught a glimpse of the canoe with MacLaren on it. But the canoe and his companion were too far away for him to reach it, and he set out for the shore. Battling his way from midstream, he constantly had to fight the undertow of the rapids.

VANCOUVER, May 27.—Lieutenant J. W. Roy MacLaren, reported drowned in the Bow river Saturday afternoon, had resided in Vancouver since 1911 and was well known. He was a brother of Major D. R. MacLaren, head of the Pacific Airways, limited. An electrical engineer by profession, he went to Alberta about four months ago for his firm, Bartholomew, Montgomery & Co., electrical engineers. His wife was to have joined him in June. Deceased, who was 31 years of age, served overseas in the royal navy auxiliary reserve during the war.

Reta Helfglatt, three years old, of Windsor, missed by her parents, was found in Roseland, six miles out, having walked all the way.

France Turns From the Communists

Perhaps the most striking feature of the recent French elections, outside of the strong endorsement of the coalition party of national union headed by Premier Poincare, was the defeat of the communists.

In the region of the Seine, which centers on Paris, the communists in 1924 elected 16 members and in a later byelection they gained two more seats, making a total of 18.

This year the communists in this area elected only eight members, and not one of these was elected on the first count. In other words, not one of them was chosen by a majority vote. They only slipped in at "second election", when the choice was between them and other minority candidates.

In the department of Seine and Oise, which adjoins the department of the Seine, three communists were elected in 1924. This year not one gained a seat.

Not only have the French turned deliberately against communism, even in the centers of large industrial population, but they have also turned definitely against Socialistic experiments in finance, after some disastrous experiences.

Advertising Brings in Taxes

This year the department of national revenue at Ottawa employed newspaper advertising as a means of speeding up payments of income tax.

During April large advertisements were inserted in newspapers all over the Dominion, calling attention to the fact that income tax returns were due by the end of the month, giving particulars as to who were liable for taxation, and reminding all concerned that there were penalties for default.

The department reports that income tax payments last month totalled $5,163,844. Collections for April a year ago were $3,235,701. The increase was $1,928,143, well over 50 per cent. Growing general prosperity may account for some of the gain. But there are not 50 per cent more taxpayers in the country than there were a year since.

The aggregate of incomes liable to taxation has not increased by any such percentage. Nor are Canadians any more fond of paying taxes than they were 12 months ago.

The result was due in the main to the advertising.

No Demand for a Change

Allegation that there is a widespread demand for the appointment of a Canadian as governor-general is backed up, says the Toronto Telegram, by references to the Irish Free State, South Africa and the Manchester Guardian.

Canada is not prepared to submit its domestic affairs to the arbitrament of any or all of the aforementioned parties. It is satisfied to retain in the person of the governor-general an outward and visible sign of Canada's place in the British Empire.

If the name "governor-general" grates on the sensitive ear of those of separatist leanings, as indicating one who comes from the old country to "govern" Canada, the simplest remedy is to change the name while retaining the symbol.

There can be few who are under the delusion that the governor-general's share in government is anything more than very formal.

The office is symbolic of Canada's position as part of the Empire.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

Perspiration

As you know the purpose of perspiration or sweat is to remove excessive heat from the body. The hot blood is brought by the circulation to the skin, and heat is removed by means of the perspiration which under ordinary circumstances is absorbed by the air, and there is no visible moisture on the skin.

When work is done there is so much perspiration that it is not absorbed into the air so quickly.

You have likely noticed that different individuals vary in the degree of perspiration of the skin from the same effort, or due to same temperature.

Three men doing the same amount of work will show three different degrees of perspiration.

A Japanese research man, Kuno, divides people into three classes (1) those who have little ability to perspire so that they barely accumulate heat in their bodies. (2) those who sweat in accordance with the needs of the regulation of the body heat, and (3) those who are always liable to sweat.

Notwithstanding the excessive amount of perspiration in this third type, it has no effect upon the heat regulation of the body. There is more perspiration than is necessary thrown off.

Those in the second group are normal as the perspiration comes away in a sufficient amount to rid the body of excess heat.

Now what use is this knowledge to you?

The first type, those who do not perspire sufficiently should try to live in a temporate climate, and should not engage in heavy manual labor. If you can go into a hot room or factory, or on a very hot day do not perspire, you would do well to observe this scientists advice. If you are of the third class, one who perspires more than is necessary, it may be due to nervousness, or to lack of good physical condition.

Systematic exercise may put you into the second or normal group. And if you are of the second or normal type, you may find yourself sometimes perspiring more freely than you should. This may be due to some ailment that is approaching, or to a run down condition.

It would be wise therefore for you to find out by your own or your doctor's investigation, just what is causing this extra amount of perspiration.

There are certain stains which warm weather brings, such as grass stains, ice cream stains, fruit stains—and how difficult are peach stains to remove. —and often grease for the automobile. This is how to deal with them all:

Grass Stains: Wet the spot, sprinkle it with equal parts of salt and dry Tartaric acid and lay in the sun. Or wet with molasses of glycerine, let stand and hour untouched, and then wash out in clear lukewarm water followed by soap and hot water. Or saturate the gross-stained portion of the garment with kerosene and wash as usual. White wash goods may be sponged with clear ammonia to remove this stain. Silks and woolens, white or colored, should be sponged with either alcohol or chloroform.

Ice Cream Stains: Soak wash goods in strong borax water and wash with white naptha soap and cold water followed by warm water. Sponge non-washable fabrics with gasoline (not near heat nor flame) or with chloroform.

Automobile or Axlegrease: Bub the stained portion with lard and let stand an hour or longer, untouched, to soften. Then wash tub fabrics with white sop and cold water followed by warm water, but non-washable fabrics should be sponged with turpentine of choloform (after the application of lard), first scraping off as much of the grease as possible. Rub gently till dry, having a pad of clean rags under the spot, and hang the garment in the open air till all odor has disappeared.

Ordinary Fruit Stains: When on wash fabrics, pour boiling water through the fabric (provided, of course, that the garment has not been laundered since it became stained). Old stains should be rubed with glycerine and allowed to stand untouched for one hour before washing (or you may use lard in place of the glycerine). If very obstinate, bleach with Javelle water and transfer to a strong ammonia solution as soon as the stain disappears. Fruit stains on colored goods, especially on woolens, should be sponged with alcohol containing a few drops of ammonia.

Peach Stains should be wet with cold water, covered with cream of tartar and laid in the sun, or else soaked in milk, sprinkled with salt and laid in the sun, reweting when necessary.

Would "Sell" City and Surroundings to the Visiting Tourists

To the Editor of The Daily News,

Sir—A short while ago, editorial comment was passed in your columns regarding the importance of our city realizing and capitalizing its assets for the tourist traffic, and of doing all possible to enable our summer guests, of whom we hope to have a goodly number this season, to find readily the attractions we have to offer; to locate easily our numerous beauty spots, and to arrange with facility details of an entertaining program while in our midst.

One sincerely hopes that the matter will receive due attention, and that we will be able to "sell" our city and its beautiful surroundings to the stranger within the gate.

As you are aware, in most American cities, it is an easy matter to plan a day's outing, or several days, for our American cousins have reduced this "selling" to a fine art, and they "don't spare the horses" either. Printed booklets are distributed wholesale, and every form of amusement tabulated for ready reference.

The pecuniary recompense is doubtless entirely adequate.

I foresee the day when we shall need in Nelson a real ballyhoo chariot or rubberneck wagon to convey our tourists around the city.

You are familiar with the sightseeing busses that leave the American hotels several times daily, and with the inimitable patrols of the loquacious conductor who megaphones a continuous stream of information—enlightening or otherwise—as you are trundled up and down the main thoroughfares.

It is amusing how they reduce everything to a numerical basis, mostly monetary. The conductor announces that the library has 10,000 books, and cost $10,000,000 or it may be the other way round—I forgot; that there are 80 miles of car tracks, and 150 miles of cement paving. Fancy that! that the lofty buildings "on your left, ladeez an' gemmun" is the tallest in the state, in the union, or in the world as the case may be (they build bigness for bigness' sake) and that it cost $15,000,000 or was it $50,000,000? I likewise forgot. That, last year "this fair city, people, spent $1,000,000 on its waterworks" that its "popperlation" 10 years ago was 1,000,000, and today is 1,560,000. The lord alone knows what it will be in 1938. "Lor', Bill, 'aint I thirsty!"—"This bewtyful residence we are now approaching has seven kitchens—Mr. and Mrs. Kitchen and the five children—All ri' Bill, drive on" One is stymied with the loquacity and the nimbleness of the guide's tongue; one checks up his figures hastily, and finds them quite O.K. The conductor always emphasizes the fact that the city has the climate made to order—the finest in the world, but you accertain for yourself that the traffic cop is a king in his own right, and that no reeds shake at Runnymede when he asserts his sovereign will. In our ascription of praise for these entertaining gentlemen, one is inclined to qualify it by wondering if their emphatic assertions and gratuitous advertising is not after all an expression of subconscious inferiority—anyhow, the guides appear to gain a measure of comfort thereby, and they are not too painful to hear.

Yes, some day we shall need a rubberneck petrol chariot of wrath in Nelson to show our guests the lovely homes of our big peanut and popcorn men, and our other institutions, public and private, in which we take an honest pride.

We will show them our country club where our country cousins in capacious plus-fours and pull-over sweaters and a couple of clubs yell "fore" and take afternoon tea, and also our jam factory where what you eat by the spoonful is made by the ton—apparently at at net loss. We will take a trip to Chinatown" by night (ah! this will be thrilling, under the tutelage of our police sergeant and a boxer bodyguard, and if our guests break too many laws we will show them the interior decorations of our jail, and give them the opportunity of titivating the velvety laws of the sunken garden of the court house We will show them our clubs, our cabarets and our caboodles, and even endeavor to pose a local bootlegger in the limelight to create a homely atmosphere—a couple of hot dog stands would not be amiss, with smoking hot sizzlers—a mysterious edible kennelled in an unbuttered roll. We will show them our past, present and prospective members of parliament, and our Ark, now gradually reverting to the state of the old Original. Also our Baker street gold mines—and I hope some of the profits!! We must not forget our brick-red hospital, not confusing it with the Nurses' grey-faced home, where they bathe the patients in pure iodoform three times per diem; where a single lingering micrococcus is doomed to speedy dissolution, and where pink permanganate and prophylactic soap strive for supremacy.

We must show them the Rotary terminal of the car line, and can probably bluff 'em to climb into Gyro park. We can point out our overburdened ferry crawling from shore to shore and warn them not to cross the Nelson bridge till they come to it; the water still flows over its site! They must inspect the factory chimneys of our veneer factory in full smoke—logs permitting, and also examine, but not too closely, our species of unbobbed "Douks" and other sons of freedom.

Our forestry department, if not too busy with their adding machines, counting the trees, might stage a class "A" forest fire. We could show our visitors our fine school buildings and apologize for lack of time in improving their uncouth surroundings. Finally, we could exhibit in a glass case a rare specimen of "homo sapiens"—the man who has paid the final instalment on his new car i.e. if we can find such a one.

With these few suggestions, and ample apologies for diverting your attention from more serious matters, I bid you a fond farewell, and march forth, as the subtitles have it, into the dawn of a new tomorrow.

CRANBROOK, B.C., May 27.—Favored with splendid weather, Miss Navel Bowley was crowned Queen of the May here on Empire day. After the ceremony she was presented with several bouquets of flowers by President Young of the Cranbrook branch of the Canadian Legion.

Following the crowning ceremony, May-pole dancing featured and boy scouts, the boys' band and the Indian Mission school groups formed around.

Then came the ball games, at the sports grounds. In the first game Kimberley defeated the Lumberton nine, 13-3. It was a well contested game until the final inning when Kimberley added five runs on four Lumberton errors.

In the second senior game the Kimberley nine walked all over Fernie to trim the coal miners 15-4. Kimberley took the lead early and held its opponents to only one run until the final inning.

Cranbrook Central school boys defeated the Indian Mission school boys 6-2 in an interesting junior baseball game.

In the morning the children enjoyed races and made ready use of the nickels and dimes won in the various events.

In the afternoon Nakusp and Burton baseball teams again met on the field of battle. Nakusp won 5-4.

'They Call It Love'

By LOUIS JOSEPH VANCE

A quick tempo story of the modern girl's quest for romance in a big city.

CHAPTER XII.

Words like a slap of ice water to one still warm with the warmth of his arms. * * *

Fay's senses remembered Don's arms, and the memory annihilated all consciousness of time and place, she rested again in their close hold, rested in dim contentment, not half-recovered yet from the first kisses they had taken after hours of abstinence enforced, thinking, insofar as she was able to think at all, how delicious it was to be alone up in an enchanted car and away, far away from the material world that was, if it only knew it, so ridiculously immaterial.

"You witch! You make me ashamed of myself, Fay—I feel like a criminal."

"What are you talking about, Don? Ashamed of yourself! a criminal!"

His smile flashed in the shine of a passing light.

She had not

She had as yet never a misgiving so great as a grain of mustard seed.

"For letting you talk me into this party tonight, for letting myself think for an instant it was fair or right to make sure of you by such a test."

"Make sure of me, Don!"

"That you were as genuine, as fine and true as I believed—as I swear I never doubted you were, my dearest."

She shrank back into her corner, faintly chilled by a question that still was featureless.

"I haven't the least idea what you're talking about."

"I'm talking about something we may as well have out now and have done with, this craze of yours for Lona."

"But, dearest—"

"Sticking to your friends is all very fine and all that, and sticking up for them through thick and thin is splendid, too. But first of all you want to be sure they are your friends."

"But surely you haven't any excuse for suggesting that Lona—"

"I'm not suggesting, dear, I'm telling you; Lona isn't anybody's friend but Lona's. She's one of those, their name is legion, whose only real passion is for getting, who haven't any use for anybody who doesn't give them something for nothing."

"That's the silliest thing I ever heard of, Don, and certainly the stupidest thing you ever said." This new attack on poor Lona was not only unexpected, it had been launched on an unforeseen angle. "What under the sun do you imagine I give Lona?"

"Admiration. No end of it. Food for her vanity—which is insatiable. She can't get along without it. Deprive Lona of her rations of admiration for three days running and she'll begin taking facials."

"I wish you wouldn't say such things about a girl I'm so fond of."

"That's precisely why I've got to say them. I've got to make you see what you're doing to yourself before this affair goes any further. After all, Fay, you haven't known Lona all your life, long enough by a good sight to justify this grim determination of yours to stand shoulder to shoulder with the young woman and look the world in the eye and tell it to go plumb to hell." Fay gave a gasp more of bewilderment than of indignation, and Don purposefully pursued: "After all, you owe something to yourself—and to me Don't you think so?"

"I won't answer that till you tell me what you mean"—the first note of insincerity she had ever sounded between them!—"what you're trying so hard not to say right out about Lona"

"Mean to tell me tonight hasn't opened your eyes to the unpleasant truth? Or do you insist on my making it plain to you in words of one syllable?"

"But you're mistaken, Don dear, you're—".

"Oh no, I'm not!" For the first time, too, Don took a tone to her that was rude with derision. "And your saying that only proves you do know what I'm driving at."

"I suppose I do," a small, cool voice assented. "I guess I ought to, after the row I had with Beau about her only a week ago."

"Bully for Beau! I've been thinking that, as Lander's secretary, he ought to know pretty well what Lander's tastes run to in the line of amusements, and have the common decency to point out the risk she's running to his own sister."

"And what risk do you imagine I'm running?"

"Of getting classed with Lona, of course. Once that happens, you'll never be able to convince people they were wrong about you."

"But, you're mistaken, Don—you and Beau both are all wrong about Lona. Let me explain—"

"It can't be done, dearest. Your loyalty doesn't call for any explaining, it's a part of you and a fine part, one of the many adorable qualities that make you what you are, the girl I love with all my heart, the only woman I've ever wanted to marry. But it's no good your trying to explain what's so, that Lona's an honest woman."

"But she it, Don—truly she is—"

"Wait a minute; I don't want you to go on defending her like this till you've heard something I've got to tell you. Duke and I had a longish chin this morning, and he told me some things I'd have been glad to know sooner. I told him about you; that we were going to announce our engagement as soon as I could win mother over, and he told me what he knew about your most intimate friend, Lona. He happens to know some people who know Lander. They all swear by him, but they're all wise to his weakness for young women. Lona is his latest. In one ugly word, Fay, she's his—"

"She isn't!" Fay sat up, momentarily once more the devoted instrument of the traditional Lascelles temper. This new proof of the world's injustice, of man's inhumanity to woman, infuriated her. "I know all about Lona, she's told me everything about herself and Mr. Lander—"

"I hope not."

"Listen to me, please, till I finish. They're in love, but that's all—I mean, not the way you mean—"

"Oh, come now!"

"They're going to be married as soon as Mr. Lander gets his freedom. And now you know the truth, the real truth." Fay's anger passed off as sharply as it had blown up, but not without a parting buffet: "Sorry if you had it disappointing!"

She was sorry for that, too, as soon as it was too late to unsay it, for to concede anything at this juncture would be to own herself in the wrong altogether. And she wasn't, she passionately knew she wasn't.

But Don for some time said nothing, and a silence fell between them like a wide gulf forming, a silence in which the purr of the motor, the hiss of tires spurning frostbound asphaltum, the heaving of the gale, went all unheard.

"I won't ask if you believe that," she heard a voice say at last that she had never heard before—"only if you think I ought to believe you believe it."

"Of course I believe it—!"

"I'm sorry, Fay; I don't believe you."

"That * * *" She felt as if she were being slowly suffocated. "That's another way of saying you think I am lying—and to you—"

"I think," the young man slowly said, "you are much too sensible to be taken in by Lona the way you ask me to believe you have been. I also think you're too intelligent so to underrate my intelligence I think, in short, you've gone too far, Fay, in your wrong-headed determination to defend a girl whose position is indefensible."

She was strangely able to say as composedly as to a casual acquaintance: " 'Too far, Don' "—while a knife was turning in her bosom!

"Precisely. What makes love. I mean real love, more beautiful than anything in life is the absolute honesty it demands of two people who, in the normal order of things, haven't been brought up to be absolutely honest with anybody. The woman who can't or won't be honest with me doesn't love me. But I love you too dearly, for all that not to tell you, Fay, nothing has ever hurt me as you did just now, when you asked me to believe what you knew was—false."

UNIVERSITY PLAY MAKES GREAT HIT FERNIE SHOWING

"Polly With a Past" Is Hilarious Comedy; Hope Leeming Scores

FERNIE, May 23.—University players made a great hit last night with their comedy, "Polly With a Past", which was played to a well filled house.

They kept the audience in laughter almost continuously. All the parts were well taken.

Hope Leeming, who played in the title role, appeared first as a minister's daughter earning her living as a demure and class-conscious maid, secretly cherishing a high ambition. At the opening of the second act she was transformed into the most sensuous and seductive of French vampires. So well did "Polly" take the part of the demimondaine, that she deceived even the most hardened old roue. Polly slipped versatilely back and forth from the part of the graceful, vivacious appealing adventuress, trading on her feminine charms, to the American girl torn by a love which could never be requited.

MISS FOWLER GOOD

Frances Fowler took the part of the modern American girl of the type who so full of executive ability and the upleft spirit that she had no time for a mere lover.

Sydney Risk as "Stiles" was a great favorite with the audience throughout.

Probably the most interesting of all the players to the Fernie audience was John Billings, who spent a good deal of his boyhood in the city.

ARE ENTERTAINED

After the play Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Wallace entertained in honor of the players at a delightfully informal dance. Other guests included students and prospective students of the university, and friends of Douglas Wallace, who is an undergraduate of the university.

The players were also to have been the guests of Miss Zora McNab of U. B. C. at her beautiful summer home at Mc Bain lake, but it was found that in spite of many improvements in this age, there were still only twenty-four hours in the day. This had to be foregone.

OLD LANDMARK GOES

With an absence of pomp and ceremony, the last portion of one of Canada's early railway landmarks, the old Toronto Union station, was demolished recently. After a cable attached to the huge girders had broken, a workman climbed to the peak and attached two new steel cables to the 2-foot beams. These were connected to the couplers of a locomotive which started to go steadily ahead. The cables became taut. The engine tugged hard, her wheels skidding, then the west wall crumbled, bringing the girders and remaining wall with it. When the dust cleared away only two bleak corners remained.

Canadian Tennis Stars Lose Doubles to Japs

RIGHT AND HAM DEFEATED AFTER TOUGH BATTLE

adians Lead Then Become Overanxious and Lose Last Three Sets

'S NEED BUT ONE WIN TO CINCH SERIES

t Bitterly Fought Doubles tch Ever Fought Between Two Teams

ONTREAL, May 27.—Teizo and Ta-Abe of the Japanese Davis cup n, after dropping the first two sets their doubles match against Jack ght and Dr. Art Ham of Canada, ed a fighting comeback at the nt Royal Tennis club on Satur- and captured a desperately con- d struggle at 5-7, 2-6, 6-3, 6-4, 10-8 victory gave the visitors a lead 2-1 in the match against Canada, the semi-final of the American e and makes it only necessary for n to divide the two singles matches day to score a win on the round. ada must take both singles matches win the series.

pan holds the advantage in the ent series only following one of most bitterly fought doubles ches over played between these two ns.

right and Ham, keyed up to the t, assumed the offensive and held r own against their fleet and ty opponents until the score stood at 7-7. Here the Canadians made their most determined effort and for the first time broke through Toba's service to lead at 8-7. With Wright serving in the next game, the spectators sensed a victory and shouted madly. But Toba and Abe took the next game and followed this up by capturing the next two to snatch victory.

WIN FIRST TWO SETS

Wright and Ham had started off by taking the first two sets with comparative ease. The two Canadians fought grimly and gave away nothing, while Toba was erratic and Abe slow in getting started. In the third set, Wright and Ham began to lose some of their accuracy while their opponents employed a varied lobbing and driving attack which seemed to discincern the Canadians. Japan ran up a lead of 5-1, and after dropping the next two, captured the set at 6-3.

After the rest interval, Wright and Ham returned to the attack with renewed vigor. They advanced to the net on three separate occasions but found difficulty in punishing the accurate lobs which Toba and Abe continued to deliver. At the same time the Japanese tried a little net work themselves, where Abe proved himself most efficient. Japan led at 3-1 but Canada soon evened the score. The next three games all went to deuce but each time the server managed to win, leaving Japan in the lead, 5-4. Then they broke through Wright's service to take the set. Then followed the fifth and final set with the two teams fighting hard for every point. It was only the superior steadiness of the Japanese and over-anxiety on the part of the Canadians that decided the match.

All honors must be accorded the visitors on their victory, but equal credit is due to Wright and Ham for the display which they gave. Wright and Ham showed great promise as a doubles team and thoroughly justified their selection for the Canadian team.

DARR OF SPOKANE TO WORK OUT HERE TONIGHT, LEGION

George Harlow's Fistic Opponent Arrives on Great Northern Today

Orville Darr, flashy heavyweight boxer of Spokane, who is to battle George Harlow of Nelson in an international exhibition heavyweight bout in the Opera house on Wednesday, is to arrive in Nelson by Great Northern tonight to complete his training. Nelson fans will have an opportunity to see some of Darr's stuff when he works out at the Canadian Legion gymnasium shortly after his arrival.

George Harlow, Nelson's principle in the international bout, will workout for the last time this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Tremont. After today he will rest up until the battle Wednesday night.

George has been showing up well under "Chubby" Vanhouser's training. Vanhouser is a welterweight from Spokane who knows the boxing game from a to z. It is expected George will also workout this afternoon with Paddy Burke, welterweight of Vancouver, who arrived in Nelson yesterday. Smith, another flashy welterweight from Kellogg, Idaho, who has been stepping George through many fast rounds of sparring, leaves this morning for his home.

Both George and Darr are evenly matched in weight, the Spokane battler weighing in around 190 pounds, while George tips the beams around 188.

Harlow will be pitting his speed and sleep-producing left and right mitts against Darr's experience, speed and socking abilities.

Harlow has had about two years experience. In his first battle on an amateur card he won the decision over Ted McVivar of Nelson and later won the amateur championship of the Kootenay and a gold medal when he beat "Slim" Meredith of Trail in the finals of the tournament at Trail.

Turning professional, George knocked out Jim Gorman of Drumheller, Alta., who was rated well, in less than two rounds on February 18, this year. In his second really big battle, Harlow put Frank Cox of Bonnington away in two minutes and 25 seconds of the first round on March 24.

It is generally conceded by those who know both George and Darr, that George will not be able to furnish the Spokane flash as quickly as he did his first two opponents this year. That the bout will go the limit and will be a splendid exhibition of boxing, is the opinion of the close followers of the boxing racket.

Several good preliminaries are scheduled that will give the fans a good evening's entertainment.

Coming on the day of the big international soccer game between Nelson and Spokane, for which a special excursion has been arranged to Nelson by the relations committee of the Spokane chamber of commerce, it is expected that there will be a large number of Spokane supporters for the American heavy.

Washouts Prevent Fairview-Ymir Baseball Game

Fairview ball team, scheduled to play Ymir tossers at Ymir yesterday afternoon, did not play the game. The Fairview team after some trouble in making the Ymir trip, failed to find a team to oppose them.

Ymir players were called to work against the inroads being made on district highways by high water in the many streams in that vicinity. The game will likely be played next Sunday.

SENATORS BEAT ATHLETICS BY FOUR-ONE SCORE

Chicago Triumphs Over Detroit; St. Louis Has Best of Cleveland

NEW YORK, May 27.—Hadley gave seven bases on balls today but he allowed only two hits and the Senators broke a long losing streak, defeating the Philadelphia Athletics at Washington, 4-1.

Ted Lyons of the White Sox bested Vangilder in a tight pitching duel at Chicago and Chicago beat Detroit, 3-2. Lyons held the Tigers to four hits, one of which was a homer by Fothergill in the fifth inning with none on base. Alex Metzler led the Sox attack with two hits, one of them a triple and driving in two runs.

St. Louis defeated Cleveland 10-8 today, in the series opener at St. Louis.

GIANTS DEFEAT PHILLIES TWICE; REDS BEAT CARDS

Boston and Brooklyn Divide Double-Header; Blake Gets Fifth Victory

NEW YORK, May 27.—The Giants nosed out the Phillies in both games today by 5-4 and 2-1. The first engagement went 11 innings with the Giants coming from behind in their final chance at bot to pull out the victory. Barnes outpitched Pruett in the second clash.

Boston and Brooklyn divided a double header at Brooklyn, the Braves taking the first game, 4-1 and the Robins the second, 8-3. The even break gave Brooklyn three victories in four games against Hornsby's club. Home runs by Hendrick and Bisonette were prominent in the second game.

The Cardinals suffered their second shutout of the season at the hands of the Cincinnati Reds, 2-0 at St. Louis today. Sheriff Blake returned to the Cub's pitching staff today after a 10-days layoff because of an injury and blanked Pittsburgh, 3-0 before 40,000 Chicago fans. It was Blake's fifth straight win of the season.

ROSSLAND GIRLS MAY COME HERE AGAIN FRIDAY

Drawn Basketball Game Makes Another Contest Necessary

As a result of the draw game played between the Nelson High School All-Stars and Rossland girl sharpshooters at Rossland Friday, another game is to be played. Miss Dorothy Hall, captain of the Nelson girls, stated last night efforts were being made to have the game played here this Friday, so as to get it over with as the season was so far advanced.

Although it was declared a draw, there was a heated argument as to who won the game Friday. First Nelson was declared the winner by one point and then Rossland was declared to have won by two points. Mr. Palmer of Rossland, who was official scorekeeper, declared the game was a draw, 11-all. His decision was accepted by Referee Ken Rees of Nelson.

The fast pace set made a continuation of the game to break the tie, unfavorable to both teams and a playoff game was decided upon.

A heavily waxed floor, which proved treacherous to both teams, took heavy toll on the staying power of the players. The Nelson girls seemed to be more affected by the slippery floor than the home players.

The game was fairly rough, 10 personal fouls being committed by the Nelson girls and nine by the Rossland players. Each team converted three of the free shots awarded them.

THISTLES CLASH WITH FAIRVIEW

Game Was Originally Scheduled for June 11; Fairview in Cellar

Thistles and Fairview soccer teams clash this afternoon at the Recreation grounds in the fourth game of the junior soccer schedule. The game was originally scheduled for June 11, but it has been placed forward.

Thistles and Orioles are tied for leading place in the junior league with three points each for a game won and one drawn. Fairview holds the cellar position, having lost both games it has played. Fairview dropped the first game of the league to the Thistles, 1-0 when the Thistles scored on a penalty shot just before time.

Townsend Scores Decisive Win Over Tacoman

VANCOUVER, May 26.—Billy Townsend of Vancouver scored a decisive win over Johnny Hawkes of Tacoma in a 10-round bout here Friday night. The local boy took every round. The Tacoma boy suffered two fractured ribs.

KIMBERLEY WINS CUP FROM MICHEL

Score 2-1 in Soccer; Winning Goal in Nick of Time

CRANBROOK, B.C., May 25.—Kimberley soccer team walked off the field champions and possessor of the cup when it defeated Michel, 2-1 in the game which brought the celebration of Empire day to a close here.

The first half was well contested. Michel scored from a penalty after 25 minutes but Falls equalized for Kimberley within two minutes with a beautiful shot, to make the score 1-1 at half time.

DOUBTFUL GOAL

For the first part of the second half play was even but Kimberley began to press in the last 20 minutes. With a few minutes to go Kimberley scored its winning goal.

For Kimberley the defense players showed up well. The half back line tackled well but gave the opposing backs too many free kicks, booting the ball ahead instead of placing. The forward line was a little weak.

Mitchel and Gaskie, halves for Michel, were the best half backs on the field. The backs were almost perfect. Jenkins shining. The forward line was weak and seldom seemed dangerous, missing several chances to score.

THE TEAMS

The teams were:

Kimberley—Hotchkiss, goal; Corrigan and Littey, backs; Scott, Knee and McFarlane, halves; De Luce, Smith, Falls, Green, and Pearson, forwards.

Michel—Saunders, goal; Jenkins, and Brown, backs; Gashle, McGovern and Mitchell, halves; McKenzie, Travers, Corlett, Gashie and McFarlane, forwards.

WINNIPEGER WINS CALGARY RACING

Prospect Leads Field of Nine in the Citizen's Handicap Event

CALGARY, May 27.—The cerise colors of Jack Lee, Winnipeg sportsman, flashed to the front in the Citizen's handicap, the outstanding feature of Saturday's program at Victoria park.

The victory was achieved by Prospect, a four-year-old bay gelding, which led the field of nine. Prospect and Fine Manners ran as the Lee entry. The race provided thrills and excitement for the large crowd, as Hong King made a great effort for success but had to be content with the place, while Shasta Sheik was third.

The big sensation of the well-balanced program was uncovered by Margaret Elnora when she won the fourth race and paid the choice price of $104.10 across the board. The Daughter of Harrigan and Parnell Girl went to the post a 40 to 1 shot and was given an excellent ride by Jockey Pelletier, beating out Queen Anna Marie after a brilliant stretch run. The few fortunate speculators who collected on this mare received $75.65 for every $2 straight ticket.

RESULTS

First race, $500, three-year-olds and up, about five furlongs—Billy D., won; Miss Chatteron, second; Joyzelle, third. Time, :58 3-5.

Second race, $500, three-year-olds and up, six and one-half furlongs—Heather Vale, won; Frank Sumpter, second; Marion Elizabeth, third. Time, 1:23 4-5.

Third race, $500, three-year-olds and up, about five furlongs—Radiant light, won; Pay Me, second; Jack Jr., third. Time, :58 3-5.

Fourth race, $500, three-year-olds and up, about five furlongs—Margaret Elnora, won; Queen Anna Marie, second; Kentle, third. Time, :58 3-5.

PAYNE WINNER OF MR. PYLE'S BUNION DERBY

Oklahoma Youth Wins $25,000; Salo Second; Granville Is Fifth

NEW YORK, May 27. (AP)—Andrew Payne, farm boy from Claremore, Okla., Saturday won the transcontinental foot race of 3442.3 miles staged by C. C. Pyle, from Los Angeles to New York. The finish came after a 20-mile marathon in Madison Square Garden, John Salo, Passaic, N. J. shipworker, won today's lap of 32.3 miles. He was second for the entire course.

Payne's time for the final lap was 4:28:01 and he completed the long trek from California in a total elapsed time of 513:04:34. He led John Salo to the finish by a margin of 15 hours 35 minutes and 39 seconds.

Richard Thomas of Cornwall, England finished the final lap in 3:52:59 for fourth place for the day. His elapsed time was 906:48:21, for 39th place over the entire route.

Philip Granville, Hamilton, Ont., was fifth in 4:09:01, clinching third place and $500 for his total efforts. His elapsed time was 613:42:30.

SEATTLE NEGRO EIGHTH

Ed Gardner, Seattle negro, landed sixth place for the lap and eighth in the field in 4:01:13. He won a prize of $1000 with elapsed time of 659:56:47.

Although the element of competition for first prize of $25,000 had disappeared from the race because of Payne's huge lead, the runners and walkers pounded the cement floor of the Garden vigorously. Less than 1000 of New York's curious accepted Pyle's invitation, at $1.65 per seat, to sit in at the death of the fantastic event, now 84 days old.

In the center of the well-nigh empty arena a brass band blared tunes while every sort of jog, skip, run and walk was displayed by the runners for the edification of the scanty customers. For good measure, the sideshow that accompanied the derby turned to with their talents, an dthe "poison snake lady" wrestled snakes, the trained police dog, performed and the mummy of the "notorious Oklahoma outlaw" was displayed prominently.

WILL PRESENT PRIZES JUNE 2

There was no board track awaiting the runners in the garden and they were forced to complete the event running in soft shoes on the cement base that holds the hockey ice during the winter season. But with the goal in sight after 3400 miles of mountains, deserts, mud and city pavements, there appeared no sign of the revolt that had been brewing within the ranks for several days.

Several "bolsheviks," as Pyle terms them, have raised the cry among the runners that "there ain't gonna be no dough" for the prizes when the jaunt is over. Pyle replied tonight with a reiteration that the $48,500 due the runners would be paid them in the Garden a week from tonight when the first of a series of races, a 24-hour team marathon will start.

The small throng that appeared lost in the spacious arena grew quite excited when a spectator offered $100 for a mile sprint. The throw-back to the six-day bike races brought the marathon to a temporary halt, while the runners lined up and then pounded away in quest of the most money they have seen since leaving California.

Allen Currier of Rogue River, Ore., won the prize. He was paid on the spot in cash.

Hang Style! for Golf Yields to Results Only

By AL DEMAREE
(Former Pitcher New York Giants)

Major Charles O. Hezlet, the gigantic and genial Irishman who won the celebrated St. George's gold vase in 1926 at Sandwich, and a member of the British Walker Cup team, should be a constant inspiration to the average golfer, who imagines that he must possess a certain pleasing flourish and style to his game to ever shoot first class golf.

Too much faith can be placed in style which is not form at all. Form is the player's method of hitting the ball and style is the way his method appears to the gallery. You can have a pleasing style and rotten form, or vice-versa.

Some golf "stylists" like Johnny Farrell possess both pleasing style and form, but Major Hezlet demonstrates that a golfer may have a so-called unorthodox style and still get results.

BOARDS TO FIGHT EASTERN MOVE TO KILL LEAD DUTY

With Present ¾ Cent Duty British Lead on Even Terms Now With Kootenay

STARKEY SEES SMALL PRODUCERS INJURED

Anti-Dumping Action Also to Be Dealt With by Rossland Gathering

Reports from the east, of a move in circles consuming lead, to demand placing of lead on the free list, are creating apprehension in Kootenay mining circles, as it is British Columbia lead that this move is directed against, that being almost exclusively obtained from the Kootenay-Boundary territory. Commissioner F. A. Starkey of the Associated Boards of Trade of Eastern British Columbia, has been digging into this matter for the last couple of days, and is preparing material to be laid before the annual convention at Rossland, June 20 and 21.

ONLY EVEN TERMS NOW

"Under the present meager and inadequate duty of ¾ cent a pound, British lead arrives in the Montreal market on practically even terms with British Columbia lead," said Mr. Starkey yesterday, "for our home product pays approximately ¾ cent a pound freight. Take away this vestige of a duty, and the competing lead from the old country is given an advantage over a basic Canadian product of ¾ cent a pound in the principal Canadian market.

"Then there is the case of the United States, against which the Canadian tariff is a cent a pound, while American tariff against foreign lead, including Canadian, is double our figure.

DUTY MATERIAL AID

"With lead and zinc prices declining the way they have for the past few years, ability of these Kootenay-produced metals to hold their own in the Canadian market by reason of the slight duties has been a material aid to the small producers in keeping going. I haven't the slightest doubt that giving of an advantage to foreign lead in the Canadian market would tend to check the new mining activity in the Kootenay, for the Kootenay product would be penalized."

Mr. Starkey said he was astonished that, at a time when mining was starting to come into its own as a basic Canadian industry, eastern industries making use of lead, and eastern politicians, should be looking for a chance to give the home market to lead of outside origin.

ALSO ANTI-DUMPING ACTION

Another tariff matter, that is vital to the Kootenay district, that will be brought before the associated boards' convention, is that of nullification of the anti-dumping clause, as a result of which Kootenay fruit, in a year that promises an extraordinary continental crop, will be exposed to the competition of slaughter prices from across the line, in the prairie market, which is the principal market for British Columbia fruit.

Material on this also is being assembled, on behalf of the local fruit industry, for placing before the convention in proper form.

SEND RESOLUTIONS

All boards of trade within the association and other organizations performing local service in their own districts are urged by Mr. Starkey to immediately forward their resolutions to him, as they have to be circulated to the constituent boards in time for individual action thereon, before coming before the convention. Resolutions coming new before the convention without having been so circulated have to be subsequently circulated for approval or rejection.

Says Britain Right in Refraining From Any Action in China

VANCOUVER, May 27.—The British government is pursuing sound policy in refraining from interference with the warring factions attempting to settle the destiny of strife-torn China, and if Japan decides to play the role of policeman to the Chinese, neither Great Britain nor any other world power should intervene provided "the open door" is maintained, is the belief of Sir Cecil Clementi, K.C.M.G., governor of Hongkong, who arrived here today from the orient on his way to England.

Not only would Japan, Great Britain and the outside world generally benefit from Japanese action to enforce peace and order in China, but the Chinese also would find it advantageous, Sir Cecil said.

Sir Cecil doubted that the present drive of the Chinese Nationalists would reach Peking, and he was of the opinion that normal national life would never be developed in China until the establishment of various regional governments, instead of a central authority.

VETERAN EXPRESS MESSENGER HEARS FINAL SUMMONS

John Stuart MacKenzie Dies on Eve of Completing His Seventieth Year

WAS RAILWAY AGENT IN TROUT LAKE DAYS

Joined Express Service on Moving to Nelson; Five Daughters Survive Him

Following six months of failing health, John Stuart MacKenzie, familiar figure in express circles in this district, died at Kootenay Lake General hospital at noon yesterday, within a few days of his seventieth birthday, which would have occurred on June 12.

Born in Inverness, Scotland, Mr. MacKenzie first brought his young family to Ontario, then in a couple of years moving to Morris, Man., where he settled. After 15 years or so, he moved from the prairie to the Kootenay, entering the employ of the Canadian Pacific railway at Cranbrook.

WHEN LARDEAU WAS BUSTLING

Then came eight or nine years at Trout Lake, in the Lardeau's halcyon days, during which he was C. P. R. agent. It was after moving to Nelson, in 1915, that Mr. MacKenzie transferred to the express service, becoming a messenger of the Dominion Express company, now the Canadian Pacific Express. For a number of years he was express messenger on the Kaslo run. His most recent run was in the Similkameen.

The late Mr. McKenzie is survived by five daughters: Misses Helen and Christina MacKenzie, Nelson; Mrs. Richard Collins, Morris, Man.; Mrs. Guy Banks, Kamloops; and Mrs. M. J. Lanktree, Camp Lister.

He was a member of St. Paul's church here.

It is understood the funeral will be held on Wednesday.

Sixteen men have been engaged during the last week or 10 days planting trees on "the Mountain" at Trenton where 25,000 trees have been set out.

U. S. Davis Stars Defeat Chinese in Zone Series

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 27.—George Lott, Chicago, defeated Gordon Lum, China, in the fifth and concluding match of the semi-final Davis cup round between the United States and China here this afternoon. The American won in straight sets, 6-3, 6-2, 6-0.

Lott had difficulty with his shots in the first set, but soon steadied down and had Lum at his mercy.

The victory gave the United States five matches to none in the series.

In the fourth match John Hennessey, Indianapolis, defeated Paul Kong, 6-1, 6-0, 6-1. Fine placements by Hennessey and errors by Kong contributed to the American's victory.

The United States representatives will play the winner of the Japanese-Canadian series now in progress.

The presentation was made by Mrs. N. Murphy, regent, Mrs. Alex Leith and Mrs. W. S. King. A large number of I. O. D. E. members were present.

The flag was brought in by the regent and was handed to Archdeacon Graham. Throughout the ceremony the congregation remained standing.

Following the consecration services the flag was returned to Mrs. Murphy who then presented it to Leaders Mary Jarvis, P. Whitehouse and Merle Archibald.

The flag was laid upon the altar until the conclusion of the ceremony.

During the last hymn the girl guides marched down the aisle, preceded by Archdeacon Graham and followed by the I. O. D. E. members.

THREE AUTOS GO OVER THE BANK OVER WEEK-END

McInnes in Hospital; Stangherling and Passengers Narrow Escape

Three auto accidents over the week-end included two of the most serious ones of the year to date in this area.

Allan McInnes was taken to Kootenay Lake General hospital Saturday night after his car went over the bank near the crossroads on Granite road. He was suffering with a severe gash on his head. Mr. McInnes was passing another car when he went over. Three passengers with him were unhurt. The car was extensively damaged.

E. Stangherlin and three passengers had a narrow escape about 1:30 Saturday morning, when their car rolled down the bank near Blueberry and came to rest with its rear end in the Columbia river, 300 feet below the highway, with the engine still runing. One of the passengers suffered a broken rib, but beyond a shaking up none of them were seriously injured. Mr. Stangherlin stated that when his car hit a rock in the road, it lurched sideways over the bank.

An attempt was made to salvage the car Saturday, but it was found impossible on account of the steep bank.

A third auto went over the bank near the Mason ranch at Taghum, when it ventured too close to the road edge while passing O. W. Humphry's car. No one was injured.

NEARSIGHTED
There is a very pronounced tendency to be progressive, to increase with age. This has been especially noticed in school life, where studies of eye conditions have been made. It was found that the number of nearsighted increased from year to year, that the degree increased, and that the number of nearsighted pupils increased with the increase in school demands.
Nearsighted is corrected by placing a concave lens of the required strength in front of the eyes. By such correction nearsighted children are no longer handicapped by poor sight and are furthermore provided with the surest means of diminishing the likelihood of increase in their ocular error.
