REPARATIONS AND THE DISARMAMENT DEBATES IN AIR

Second Reparations Meeting in Paris Seems Wrecked; Committee Named

SOVIET DISARMAMENT VIEW DEADLOCKED

Difficulty Arises Over Form of Questions on Which Delegates Asked Make Opinions

PARIS, April 18.—The second reparation committee has failed in its purpose to re-delimit German reparations for the damage of the Great War.

The conference, which for 10 weeks has been engaged in an effort to set a figure mutually acceptable to the allied nations and to the German republic, tonight seemed definitely wrecked.

A sub-committee will be appointed tomorrow to prepare a report to the several governments stating the "why" of the failure.

Dr. Hjalmer Schacht, chief of the German delegation, made continuation of the conference hopeless when he stated definitely that payment of even one half of the total sums demanded, must be conditional on abolition of the Danzig corridor, revision of the frontier of Upper Silesia, and immediate return of the Saar valley to Germany.

NO PROGRESS

GENEVA, April 18.— After spending the morning in talks behind the scenes, and the afternoon in conference, the preparatory disarmament commission of the League of Nations was still unable at adjournment this evening to pronounce on the drastic disarmament scheme put forward by the Russian government. The commission met with the issue obviously confused by the Russian government. The commission met with the issue obviously confused and talked itself into what one delegate described as a deadlock.

Finally the commission referred the scheme to its bureau-popularly known as the steering committee—for an opinion on whether the questions submitted by the Soviet delegates came within the commission's competence. The three Soviet principles under discussion were:

(1) Whether the commission would express itself on the necessity of reduction in armaments;

(2) Whether it favored reduction on the principle of proportion, and;

3) Whether it was ready to approve a mathematical coefficient as the principle of reduction.

BUREAU PERSONEL

The bureau consists of the chairman and vice-chairman of the commission and the secretary-general of the league. They will report when the commission re-assembles.

The difficulty arises over the form of the questions on which the commission is asked to give its opinion on the Soviet scheme. Since the commission adjourned yesterday the Soviet delegates had modified the questions, as above.

This afternoon Twefik Rouchdy, Turkish delegate, opened the ball by declaring the questions were drafted in such a manner that in view of Turkey's own proposals the Turkish delegates would abstain from voting.

Maxim Litvinoff of Russia, defending the Soviet questions, declared the limitation of armaments was not disarmament. There should be a real and tangible reduction in armaments to alleviate the tense atmosphere on the international situation he argued. Litvinoff held that the vote ought to register whether the governments represented wanted disarmament or not.

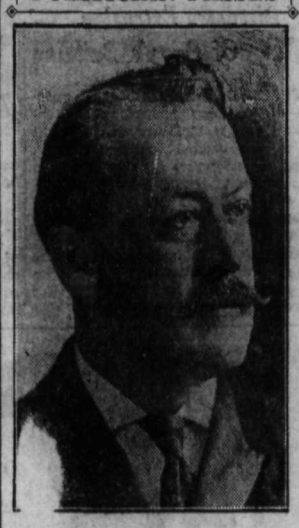
POLITICIAN PASSES



Hon. Dr. J. W. Edwards, Conservative member for Frontenac-Addington, who died at the capital yesterday. He will be buried in Kingston.

HON. DR. EDWARDS DIES SUDDENLY AT THE CAPITAL

Popular Ontario House Member Seized Second Time in Week; Burial Kingston

OTTAWA, Ont., April 18.—Canada lost an able politician and the Conservative party, one of its staunchest pillars, in the sudden death today of Hon. Dr. John Westley Edwards. The member of parliament for the Frontenac-Addington riding of Ontario succumbed to a recurring attack of angina pectoris at 6:20 a.m., a few minutes after he had been admitted to the civic hospital. He was in his 63rd year.

Tributes to the greatness of Dr. Edward's political qualities and to his personal popularity, were sounded by Premier Mackenzie King and Hon. R. B. Bennett in the commons this afternoon while at the funeral service held just before noon, political foes and friends alike gathered to pay homage. Interment is to be made at Kingston, Ont. Arrangements are going forward tonight to provide a special train to carry a large number of parliamentarians to Kingston Sunday to attend the funeral.

Consolidation of British Empire Is Labor Views

LONDON, April 18.—Canada's action in appointing ministers to foreign capitals and the action of the British government in appointing a high commissioner in Ottawa had worked out well, Rt. Hon. L. C. Amery, secretary of the state for the dominions told the house of commons today in the course of a debate on the estimates for the dominions and colonial office, the overseas settlement committee and the Empire Marketing board.

Canada was involved in the debate in another way as well. In reply to a suggestion by Hon. J. H. Thomas, secretary for the dominions in the Labor government, Mr. Amery said the dominions' representatives would not consent to have opposition parties represented at the Imperial conferences. He himself was in favor of the idea. He then quoted Premier Mackenzie King's views that the conference "was a conference of governments and not an imperial council."

The feature of Mr. Thomas' speech was his declaration that the Labor party now stood, as it did in 1924, for the consolidation and progress of the empire and not for its disintegration as some of its critics alleged.

In connection with unemployment, he suggested the establishment of a representative committee on which Canada should be represented to go into the question in a comprehensive way and seek a permanent solution.

FERNIE COUNCIL FAVORS AIRPORT; CONSIDERS SITE

Offer Pay Major McLaren's Expenses to Fernie to Get His Advice

TO ASK COOPERATION OF BOARD OF TRADE

Would Utilize Fernie Port in Training; Would Establish Air Club

FERNIE, B. C., April 18.—A letter had been written by the city clerk to W. R. Wilson, president of Crow's Nest Pass coal company, relative to getting the old football ground for an airport. A reply was read at city council meeting tonight from General Manager Hartley P. Wilson saying that this ground was needed for recreation purposes and suggesting, instead, some ground north of the golf course between the picnic ground and McDougall's mill. The coal company would lease this for 10 years subject to it's need for industrial expansion.

Alderman Minton spoke enthusiastically in outlining the future need of an air port for Fernie. Mr. Minton wished to get the city council interested in a municipal airdrome to take care of transcontinental flying and also to promote civic flying amongst the citizens of Fernie with a view to eventually forming a club for the purpose of training young men and women to fly. This could also be made a customs air port it being the logical point on account of its close proximity to the border, and its present status as a port of entry.

Ten Machines Operating

Regarding the airmail to the Pacific via the Crow's Nest pass Mr Minton stated now that the government had appropriated monies for the purpose of airmail, there would be 10 machines operating out of Winnipeg serving the prairies. There is to be no service over the Rockies this year because of entire lack of terminals. The Crow's Nest pass would be by far the most logical place for such terminals. Should an airdrome be established in Fernie there is no doubt that the Calgary Aero club would encourage their pupils to utilize this terminal continuously in their cross country practice flights which is a very valuable part of any commercial pilots' training, said Alderman Minton, who gained a great deal of experience in the air service overseas.

The council was wholly in support of the movement and will do everything to make Fernie a customs air port. It was thought wise to get the co-operation of the board of trade.

The city clerk was instructed to write Major Donald McLaren of the Western Canada Airways, Vancouver, offering on behalf of the council to pay his expenses for the trip if he would come to Fernie to go into the matter of establishing an airport there. Major McLaren would give advice as to the location of the port and also address the board of trade and the city council.

VENIOT CENTER OF MORE ATTACK FROM OPPONENTS

Course Followed By Minister in Postal Dismissals Holds Up Estimates

OTTAWA, April 18.—The course followed by Hon. P. J. Veniot, postmaster-general in connection with the dismissal from the civil service of a number of postmasters, brought severe censure from members of the opposition in the house of commons today. On two previous occasions the postmaster-general attempted to obtain approval of estimates covering appropriations for the post office outside service. Twice now he has met with opposition in the form of amendments emanating from the Conservative party. The vote under consideration was that which provides for expenditures in the outside service. The total amount to be voted is $34,926,639. Of this sum, $17,259,464 is for salaries and allowances, $16,305,000 for mail service including air mail service, $1,176,175 for miscellaneous expenditures and $150,000 for mail service in the Yukon territory. The total amount of last years' estimates for these services was $33,502,109.

Today the house having gone into supply without the question being put, the minister was met with a barrage of questions relating to dismissals and appointments of postmasters during his regime. At times the exchanges between the ministers and prominent members of the Conservative party were hot. The minister was charged with "playing favorites". The words "slippery evasion" were applied to some of his explanations.

On the other hand, the minister defended his course of action, in cases cited, on the ground that there had been irregularities, incompetence, or dishonesty with respect to those dismissed.

Suggests Government House in Manitoba Be Done Away With

WINNIPEG, April 18.—Simulating an expression of surprise, John T. Haig, Conservative, Winnipeg, in the legislature tonight, advocated the abolishment of the government house, and declared that the functions of the lieutenant-governor should be discharged by the chief justice of the province.

LONDON DENIES INQUIRY INTO NAVAL SECRETS

Scotland Yard States Inquiring Is Into Communist Activities Only

LONDON, April 18.—Scotland Yard today denied reports published in the United States that the police inquiry now proceeding is concerning the sale of British naval secrets to Japan and their revelation to the United States. They informed the Associated Press that neither of the two men, one a sergeant and the other an inspector who are involved in London's latest inquiry, can possibly have had possession of naval secrets or Singapore base information not available to the public. The present official inquiry, it was stated, concerned the "special branch" of men assigned to watch communist activities in England. Leakages of information were believed to have occurred regarding the police plans to deal with the communist agitators.

TRACE DREADED GERM IN EAST

Has Caused Four Deaths and Illness of Six Others; People Alarmed

MELBOURNE, Ont., April 18.—Determined if possible to find the origin of the deadly streptococcus germ, which claimed four lives in Ekfrid township and caused a wave of panic and fear to sweep the entire district township health officials today began thorough tests of milk and water supply of the municipality.

Expressing confidence that the spread of the dread disease has been checked, with encouraging reports during the past 24 hours revealing no new cases, the authorities, township and provincial, hope in the course of their investigations, to locate definitely the source of the scourge.

During the day a large number of people besieged the doctors' offices to be innoculated. They were given injections of anti-diphtheria serum and horse serum. There continues, however, to be a prevalence of sore throats not in any degree alarming but sufficient for the medical men to continue warning the residents to seek quick medical attention at the least sign of illness. Tranquility has been restored in the various districts where fear had gripped the population at the sudden deaths of four persons and the illness of six more.

Majority of Nelson Citizens Wish to be Shown Says Rees

Hizzoner the Mayor,
City of Nelson, B. C.

Your Worship: Doubtless the recent discussion regarding the proposed airport has been very entertaining and instructive—also enlightening, and has been closely followed by the silent legion (the taxpayers) who will be called upon to foot the bill for the aeronautical playground.

Such wide variations in the quoted figures cause one furiously to think, and one inclines in the belief that the higher estimate would come closer to the mark than the modest figure first named.

One thinks that as you come from Missouri in that you will have to be shown, the majority of Nelson citizens are also, for this purpose, from that famous state of tentative unbeliefs.

If there is really money to burn in the civic exchequer, I suggest that it be spent in the city on some of the depressing sidewalks. If our city engineer so desires, I will gladly escort him to several stretches of sidewalks in the upper part of the city, that show imminent signs of dissolution and unwary pedestrians may find themselves up in the air quite unintentionally without any visit to the airplane runways.

If, however, under the spell of an unbridled enthusiasm we find ourselves committed to the airport, I would like to render an early application for the "concession" of operating a "hot dog" stand at the port entrance or exit. The recent tail spin of "Pond de Reille" without any immediate prospect of a compensating "zoom" tenders any retirement to Victoria—the mecca of all money-made westerners—a remote impossibility, and the "concession" might acomplish the worthy purpose if the business proves to be good. Passengers on the planes eastward-ho and westward-ho-ho, would be glad to stretch their legs and partake of the succulent and edible canine kennelled 'twix unbuttered bread. The idea came to me in the middle watches of the night which are at times quite inspirational to us all. I trust you will keep this application in mind on the principle of the first come first served (this will be the motto of the dog-stand) but in view of the fact that the volume of traffic cannot be tabulated, though we can keep a bright "look-out", I would propose to pay for the "concession" by a small royalty on each doggie sold, with or without mustard. Some day we shall all be sky-riding, some in flivvers of the air, others in aero limousines, all of them bought on the installment plan or on the "trade in," but what shall we "trade-in" to begin with? Personally, I await the day when the latest model of flivver will enable one to hover indefinitely in the air over one's garden lot, and to land finally and feathery on the roof of my-still-to-be-shingley woodshed. And so, your honor, and all that sort of thing, I await your early reply, and if I can do anything to help you out in the water situation, let me know.

Yours truly rurally,
GERALD S. REES.

President of Planet Mine Visits Trail

TRAIL, B.C., April 18.—P. L. Bancroft, president of the Planet Mines and Reduction company, Merritt, in company with J. (Jimmy) Anderson, is at present in Trail.

The reason of the visit is to obtain data on the values of the first shipment of concentrates from the newly inaugurated flotation mill at the mine site.

This 100-ton mill which was officially opened on March 24, is probably the most modern mill of its kind on the continent.

It is particularly adapted to the kind of ore available at the Planet mines on Mineral mountain, in the Nicola valley, and with little expenditure can be doubled in capacity, with few alterations.

ORE ABUNDANT

The ore which is apparently in abundance, is phenomenal in that it carrys paying values in lead, zinc, gold and silver, with some tracings of copper in certain veins.

Over 100 prominent business and mining men, representing many British Columbia industries, attended the official opening and were unanimous in their opinion of the property.

Mr. Bancroft, who is Greek Consul in Vancouver, stated although he was not a mining man, he first became interested in the holding, about four years following a series of excellent reports by the late Dr. G. Dawson, one of Canada's most renowned geologists.

The company was capitalized for $1,000,000 and about three-quarters of this was subscribed and devoted to the development of the mine and construction of the plant.

THREE VEINS

Three distinct veins have been located on the surface and one has been followed for a considerable depth. There are numerous cross cut veins which tend to devulge the fact the mountain is literally "full of minerals."

The first shipment of concentrates, which arrived at the Trail smelter last night, will be smelted shortly and results will be available.

DEVELOPING THE PUBLIC DEMAND FOR ZINC

British Columbia Shingle men as a result of a well directed and well supported campaign of advertising enormously increased the sale of shingles.

By a similar campaign, the copper and brass producers increased very largely the public demand for their products.

There are many examples of similar successes in cooperative advertising, one of which, of a somewhat different nature to shingles and metals, is that of the life insurance companies.

Now it is proposed by Theodore Marvin of Wilmington, Del., that the zinc producers should engage in a campaign to raise the annual consumption of zinc slabs from 600,000 tons to 1,000,000 tons by 1935. If the campaign is well handled and properly supported by the producers it would be certain to succeed.

KEEP UP THE GOOD WORK OF ARBOR DAY

Some good work was done on Arbor Day.

The result was a marked improvement in the appearance of the surroundings of many homes.

But the work should not end with Arbor Day. Let us keep Nelson clean and tidy all the year round.

With a new ferry in operation, and on a 24-hour service, the West Arm crossing situation will be relieved to some extent The ferry will fill in until the bridge has been constructed.

Borings for the bridge have been completed, so that plans may now be prepared in detail.

Once the plans are prepared an estimate of cost may be made, and the Dominion government which has control over navigable waters can be asked for its approval.

At next session of the legislature we should see an appropriation for the commencement of construction work.

HOW TO CAN ASPARAGUS

The United States Department of Agriculture's Farmers' Bulletin No. 1471, on "Canning Fruits an Vegetables at Home" (a pamplet which is free to anybody who writes to Washing ton, D.C., requesting it) has this to say concerning nonacid vegetables (asparagus, string beans, lima beans, baby beets, corn, greens, including spinach, okra, black-eyed peas, green peas, and sweet potatoes):

"The water-bath canning method has been widely used in the canning of nonacid vegetables as well as fruits and tomatoes. Apparently there is considerable variation in the time required for processing under different conditions of latitude, altitude, and climate, and for that reason the U. S. Department of Agriculture does not present directions or a general timetable for canning nonacid vegetables by waterbath method" (that is, with the washboiler canner or any waterbath canner). "Because of spoilage difficulties and the risk of poisoning from occasional contamination with botulinus bacteria when nonacid vegetables are canned by water-bath method, the department recommends the canning of such vegetables with the steam-pressure canner."

So, in telling how to can asparagus, I will assume that the housewife will use a steam-pressure canner. Pick over fresh, tender stalks, discarding any imperfect ones, sort according to size, and wash well. Tie in bundles, stand these in a high saucepan with boiling water over the tough lower parts only, cover tightly, and boil four of five minutes. Then pack very hot in containers, cover with the water in which the bundles were boiled, and add one teaspoon of salt to each quart jar. Process immediately at ten pounds pressure, or 240 degrees F., for quart glass jars, for 40 minutes, and pint-size jars for 35 minutes.

Of course the jars are completely sealed (new rubbers put on) before being put on the rack of the pressure canner. The level of water in the canner is just below the rack which holds the jars. Let pet cock remain open till steam escapes from it in a steady stream for three minutes, then close to that only a trace of steam can escape. Allow pressure to rise till gauge registers the pressure called for above counting time from the moment this temperature is reached. When canning in glass jars let canner cool till steam gauge registers zero before opening pet cock.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton M.D.

LIVER DIET HELPING TO CURE PIMPLES

As that distressing ailment, pimples, or acne as it is called, usually comes to the young folks, boys and girls, just as they are approaching manhood and womanhood, it causes much embarrassment.

The very fact that it comes at this time when certain glands in the body are called on to begin work, or do extra work, is of itself an explanation of the cause of the trouble.

For this reason some glandular products have been with some success but it must be admitted that they do not give the results one might expect.

The trouble of course is that the foods handled by the system are not properly taken care of, and the oil material in the glands of the skin becomes thickened, gets infected, and a pimple results.

In a certain number of cases the use of yeast has been of help in that it has helped the system to take care of the foods.

The avoidance of certain foods has helped other cases. These foods are pork, lobsters, oysters, fresh or hot bread, oatmeal, and acid fruits. Someone has remembered recently that one of the glands, the main gland in fact that takes poisons out of the blood, is the liver. Dr. R. L. Sutton, Kansas, city, Mo., reports on his experience with liver and liver extract in the treatment of pimples, and of boils also. The liver extract was used only in particularly obstinate cases. The most satisfactory results were secured in those cases where the pimples were slow in coming and going, common in patients "whose skins were pale, moist, and flabby."

The amount of extract given daily was equal to a quarter of a pound of liver, taken daily for twelve days.

This was followed by a rest period of one or two weeks, and then if necessary another twelve days treatment was given.

At no time did the taking of the liver or the extract give rise to any unusual symptoms.

This is certainly good news to all sufferers from pimples or boils, because liver has been one of the foods thought to be a cause of skin irritations.

However, you will remember that a writer some years ago referred to the liver as the "washwoman" of the system as it took or washed out some of the harmful substances in the blood.

I am passing Dr. Sutton's experience along, with the hope that it may be of help to young folks suffering with this miserable ailment.

Kamloops Trout Fry Wanted For Lakes, Fernie

FERNIE, B. C. April 18.—Allotments totalling 80,000 Kamloops trout fry have been requistitioned for lakes adjacent to Fernie. Considerable success was had with these fish last year in McBain Lake by penning them off at one end of the lake where some of the main springs come in, giving the fry ideal conditions in which to mature. This was done by stretching a fine wire mesh across the narrow part of the inlet. The same method will be employed again this year at McBain.

Ten thousand fry will be asked for to plant in Loon lake near Waldo if it is passed on as suitable by C. H. Robinson, fishery overseer. Application has been made for cut-throat trout for Phillips lake and for Snowshoe lake.

The allotments requisitioned were: McBain lake, 100,00; Loon lake, Rooseville, 25,000; Manistee lake, 25,000; Silver Springs, 10,000; Mud lake, (Rock,) 10,000.

GLENBANK CHURCH DEPLORES LIQUOR TRAFFIC, NAKUSP

Indorses Board of Trade Resolution; Says Drunkenness Common

GLENBANK-NAKUSP, B. C., April 18—Following a recent sermon by Rev. H. B. Balderson in the Glenbank United church the subject of which was "Shall we hand \ the attorney general and the resident constable responsibility for our characters and our conduct," the congregation passed a resolution deploring the liquor conditions in Nakusp. The resolution, which was moved by George Brown and seconded by R. H. LaRue, was forwarded to Hon. R. H. Pooley, attorney-general. It was as follows

INDORSE BOARD OF TRADE

"That this meeting of the congregation of the Glenbank United church, after assembling for public worship, indorse the action of the Nakusp board of trade in calling attention of the attorney-general to the willful disregard to the illicit sale of intoxicants. So open and flagrant has this become that drunkeness on our streets is a common occurrence, scarcely a child attending public school does not know the name and address of many bootleggers.

"We fear for our children who are being reared in an atmosphere of contempt for law and order. We welcome the statement of the attorney-general that he will se that the laws of the province are enforced and we implore him to take such action as will relieve our district of so disgraceful a condition."

ISSUES TUMBLE FROM HIGH TOPS

Operators for Advance Busy on Wall Street; Credit Conditions Improved

NEW YORK, April 18.—Operations for the advances were expanded to the largest proportions in more than a fortnight on the stock exchange today, as credit conditions showed further improvement and excellent first quarter earnings reports of some of the independent steel makers gave indications of what the reports of the two largest producers will show when published next week.

Total sales amounted to 3,768,650 shares.

Call money renewed at 8 per cent and was shaded to 7½.

Federal reserve weekly brokerage loan compilations, released after the close of the market, was disappointing, showing a nominal drop of only $2,000,000, leaving the volume of loans virtually where it was a week ago, despite the sharp curtailment in stock market activity.

Crex Carpet, fell from its recent high of $57 to $40. Also, United Air Craft, after jumping to a new high of $111, fell back to $103½. Adams Express after jumping about 30 points to a record price at $731, fell to $710. American Railway Express, after jumping 13 points to a new high at $180, lost half of its gain. American Express dropped nine points. Bethlehem Steel reached its best price in years at $115⅞ and Republic nearly duplicateed its top at $100⅛.

Oils still were heavily bought, Skelly and Pan-American issues reaching new maximum prices. Some of the Standards, however, sagged, California yielding a point.

Coppers moved in a narrow limit.

Baldwin Loco., Curtiss Aero, Continental Baking "A", Montgomery Ward, Graham Paige and Wright Aero, fell back about two to five points.

Closing quotations on wheat were nervous, 1¾ to 2⅛ lower; corn finished seven-eighths to three-fourths down, oats five-eighths to 1¼ off and provisions varying from 10 cents decline to a rise of 22 cents.

YANKS DEFEAT BOSTON 7-3 IN THE OPENER

Ruth and Gherig Clout Circuit Drives; Browns; Indians Are Winners

GEHRIG, RUTH, HIT HOMERS

NEW YORK, April 18.—A daring and successful effort of the New York Yankees and Boston Red Sox to open the belated major league baseball season in New York today was dwarfed by a demonstration by Babe Ruth, the world champion bridegroom and home run hitter, immediately after hostilities closed on the field.

Hundreds of fans surrounded the big Babe and he literally had to be rescued from his friends. The Yankees won their first game of the season by a score of 7 to 3, but to a portion of the crowd of about 35,000, this was only an incident. Ruth was vital and he was caught before he could reach the Yankee dugout.

Posibly the slugger's friends were trying to extend two-fold congratulations on his marriage yesterday and inauguration of another home run campaign by a circuit clout on his first time at bat today.

Lou Gehrig, the other member of the Yankees' home run due, drove a homer into the right field bleachers.

BLAKE GOES WELL

CHICAGO, April 18.—Sherriff Blake oiled up his handcuffs and his vicious mates snapped them shut and the Cubs handed the Pirates another unmerciful 11 to 1 beating today.

Blake, ordinarily a slow starter, was invincible. He allowed but four scattered hits, while his mates crashed out two home runs, three doubles and eight singles off the southpaw deliveries of Jess Petty and Larry French. One of these clouts was crashed by Grimm in the fourth inning with the bases jammed.

In the ninth Virgil Davis, Philadelphia catcher, helped the Giants to six runs by making two wild tosses. The tail enders of 1928 themselves came back with five. THE WEDNESDAY CAN BE CHAMPS IF WIN CONTEST

Have Firm Hold on First Division; Fight is Between Tailenders Tomorrow

LONDON, April 18.—Sheffield Wednesday, pace setters in the first division of the English league, may win the championship of their section on Saturday. They are now five clear points ahead of Leicester City and Aston Villa with three more matches to play. If the Wednesday win the other two teams draw or lose, the championship goes to Sheffield. On the other hand either Leicester City and Aston Villa can still come out on top, though obviously the odds are against them.

The Villa lost a golden chance to get closer to the Wednesday yesterday when they were beaten by Bolton Wanderers. The engagements of the leaders Saturday are: Newcastle United vs The Wednesday; Aston Villa vs Huddersfield Town; Leicester City vs. Everton, the first named teams playing at home.

At the bottom of the first division table, Portsmouth and Burnley are battling, apparently successfully, to keep away from the demotion berths. Bottom teams now are Bury and Cardiff City. Burnley picked up two valuable points and Portsmouth one point in mid-week matches. By the irony of the draw Cardiff City and Portsmouth will meet Saturday and this will settle the question of relegation for the Welshmen if they lost.

In the second division Middlesbrough and Grimsby Town look sure of election to the first division, while Portvale and Clapton Orient can hardly escape demotion. Middlesbrough entertain Nottingham Forest and Grimsby visit Notts County on Saturday.

The southern section of the third division, Northampton, leaders, meet Queen's Park Rangers, third team. Northampton cannot afford to lose as they hold their advantage by only one point over Luton Town, Queen's Park Rangers and Charlton Athletics. Charlton play Bristol and should win while Luton Town must engage with the fine Plymouth Argyle team at Plymouth.

Bradford City have a chance to get back into the leadership in the Northern section as their leading rivals, Stockport County, have a day off. Bradford are at home to Darlington, who should be easy pickings.

SCOTTISH PLAY

The draw has treated the tail enders in the Scottish first division rather shabbily as they have been given the stoutest opposition. Raith Rovers are sure of demotion. Third Lanark, second from the cellar, play Queen's Park. Dundee, the next up the ladder, meet Motherwell, and Ayr United are at home to St. Johnstone.

The question of relegation thus can go over until the last match of the season, April 27, but Third Lanark looks like being the victors as they have played more matches than Dundee and Ayr. In the second division Dundee United are sure of promotion and Arbroath practically so.

Thistles No More, They Are Wolves Now; Reorganized

Junior Soccer Champs of Last Season Adopt Name of Former Champs

Thistles, winners of the junior football league last season, reorganized last night and announced that they would play this season under the blue and white colors of the Wolves Athletic club.

The strong aggregation is to be captained by Sandy Martin with Charlie McLean as his assistant and A. Wallach acting as manager.

This team, which carried off the junior honors last year, expects to turn in a duplicate performance this year and with the competition that is in the offing there will be some good football played during the next few months.

Wolves, for six years city league junior champions and last year winners of the senior cup-tie series, this year joined forces with the McLearies under that name.

Salo Leads Van in Day's Jaunt, Jyle's Bunion Escapade

INDIANAPOLIS, April 18.—John Salo, of Passiac, N. J., was again in the van of today's lap, in C. C. Pyle's transcontinental foot race. He covered the distance of 35 miles from Knightown into Indianapolis in 4:27:15 Peter Gavruzzi, of Southampton, England, was second in 4:39:20. Gavruzzi continues to hold his lead in elapsed time. Salo stands third.

Ruth and Gehrig Crash Into Lead in Batting Fray

The bustling twins of the world's champions, Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig broke into the big six for the first time in their delayed opening game yesterday and promptly assumed places near the top. The Babe cracked out his first homer of the year in his initial appearance. Lou delayed his four base hitting until the sixth inning, but added a single in three tried to head the big six.

Goose Goslin kept up his .500 pace through his second game to tie with Ruth, hitting safely in four attempts. Twice. Rogers Hornsby got one hit and two runs in a pair of official times at bat, holding the next place. Paul Waner and Jim Bottomley failed to hit.

GENARO WINS ON FOUL IN PARIS

PARIS, April 18.—Frankie Genaro, of New York, won on a foul in the fifth round of his 15-round match with Spider Pladner, of France, claimant of the world's flyweight title, here tonight. It was an unsatisfactory ending to an unsatisfactory bout and Genaro got from it little revenge from his one-round knockout defeat at Pladner's hands March 2. The Frenchman was leading by a wide margin when he struck the New Yorker low with two punches. Genaro had taken the first round but Pladner appeared to have the edge in all the others. Pladner, however, appeared in poor condition.

MINING CHATTER FROM THE EAST

Oftentimes one hears about big interests accumulating the better-class stocks. Towagamac's annual report mentions that the company's holdings in bonds have decreased while the interest in shares has increased. Certain sums of money have been switched from bond investments to dividend-paying stocks. Presumably the expectation will be in market appreciation.

On Greene Stabelle, another J. E. Hammell project, a fault which cut the ore off has been passed through for considerable distance on the 600-foot level. The ore has been picked up again, stronger and better grade than ever.

At Greene Stabelle, it is stated, the ore was originally four-foot wide and has now been encountered over 10-foot width the other side of the fault. It lays between two porphyry dykes. The importance lays in the fact that it was $13 ore over four-foot width and the big improvement in grade and the width the other side of the fault adds to the picture.

Newbec is still in high-grade ore the width of the drift on the 125-foot level, according to broker's wires from Rouyn.

Teck-Hughes' market flurry may be accounted for by news from Kirkland Lake about something unusual transpiring in the new shaft now down around 800 feet. Original plans called for sinking the shaft straight through at least 1000 feet before cutting a station. Between the 600 and 800-foot horizon there is such an important showing that it is deemed advisable to do some lateral work at once.

Canadian Kirkland has completed its No. 1 drill hole, but no assays are as yet announced. South of the Kirkland Lake producers the effort is being closely watched. If consistent values by diamond drill are proved up, it is intended to determine a program of shaft sinking and development underground. The drills have been working some 200 feet west of where the ore was found on surface.

Kirkland Gold Belt's shaft is down around 150 feet in depth with 250 feet the objective, where lateral work is to be done, cut the main vein found on surface.

Brokers' wires tell about Lake Fortune plans being made to diamond drill following results of electrical survey work on the ten claims adjoining the Aldermac Mines group.

Central Manitoba recently shipped drill cores out from drilling done on the 500-foot level, and the assays are awaited with much interest.

Barry Hollinger opened up a 140-foot ore shoot on the 1250-foot level, and one section of it ran 14-foot width. This ore is now ready to be broken down, states an official, and the cross-cuts on the 1375 and 1500-foot level are expected to yield important information as to depth conditions, particularly as quantity and quality has improved.

FERNIE, B.C., April 18.—The city clerk was instructed by the city council tonight when the question came up for discussion, to write the government asking it to send in an expert to look over the septic tank.

GREAT LAKES BOAT NAMED FOR FERNIE

S. S. Fernie Will Run Between Montreal and Fort Williams; Modern Type

FERNIE, B. C., April 18. — A letter has been received by the city council here from Douglas Mackay of one of the Great Lakes steamship companies to say that one of their new steamers had been named after the city of Fernie. The letter read as follows: "The S. S. Fernie was launched at the Midland Ship Building company yards on Februrary 29. This ship which gears the name of your town will no doubt be of interest to your community. When she is finally outfitted and ready for service about May 1, I will be glad to send you a photo of her.

"The Fernie is a northwest freighter type, 250 feet long with beam of 42 feet nine inches and a depth of 26 feet 6 inches, gross tonnage 2380 tons and loaded speed of 12 miles an hour. She will incorporate all the latest appliances for loading and unloading and will operate between Montreal and Fort William in the general package and freight service."

Mr. Mackay's letter was accompanied by a large photo of the bow of the ship which plainly showed the lettering S. S. Fernie.

Elko Hotelman Fined $50 Keeping Liquor; Didn't Know the Law

ELKO, B. C., April 18.—Pleading guilty to a charge of keeping liquor in a hotel in other than a private guest room, Cosmo Crisafio, proprietor of the Hotel Elko, was fined $50 and costs by Justice of the Peace S. McL. Norton in Elko police court Tuesday evening. The accused pleaded ignorance of the law as it was his first offence and there was no presumption that the liquor had been bought for resale, a minimum fine was imposed.

The case was a sequel to a search of the hotel premises made by the provincial police on Friday, when a bottle of liquor was discovered in a drawer of a room admittedly occupied by the accused.

Crisafio pleaded guilty, but explained that the liquor in question had been bought last fall, had been frozen, and had been left in the drawer and forgotten. He further pleaded in extenuation that he used the liquor himself medicinally, and was unaware that he was breaking the law in being in possession of it.

The court pointed out to Crisafio that ignorance of the law was no excuse, and that as a hotelkeeper he was supposed to make himself conversant with the provisions of the liquor act.

PREVENTING MIXING GRAIN BIG PROBLEM

OTTAWA, April 18.—Mixing of grain could be prevented if all straight grades were sent to public terminals and binned separately but the practical difficulty of supervising the binning would be almost insurmountable, this was the opinion of James Fraser, chief grain inspector, whose evidence was continued today before the agriculture and colonization committee of the house of commons. Tomorrow Mr. Fraser is to present to the committee all the troubles of enforcement which might have to be faced if mixing were prohibited altogether.

Cranbrook Fisherman Have No Luck Opening Day of Salmon Fishing

CRANBROOK, B. C., April 18.—Although salmon fishing was open on Monday morning, there was, owing to the prolonged cold it is thought, very little luck obtained by Cranbrook's "Isaac Waltons." Premier lake was the scene of a gathering of well-equipped fishermen, not one of whom experienced the excitement of a strike. F. Dezall, F. Butley, D. Halcrow, D. Grey, H. Garmon, M. Johns, G. Ratcliffe, B. Smith and J. Murray consoled each other as best they could.

The only known results were those obtained by W. Whiting at Horseshoe lake.

The Man Hater

By Lorna Libby

The story so far:

JACK HEMINGWAY is ostensibly murdered in a night club in Louisville. With him at the time is

JEAN HARPER pert, pretty and an excitement eater. She is the daughter of an influential politician. Right after Hemingway's shooting, the lights go out. When they reappear the corpse is mysteriously gone. Under cover of the attendant excitement

SPIKE ANDRUS a clever newspaper man in love with Jean effects her rescue so that no one knows she was Hemingway's companion. The next day

LOLA MONTEZ New York woman of the world, and old friend of Jean's, arrives in town, Spike has reason to suspect her of complicity with the gang responsible for the murder. Jean, realizing Spike's love admits that she loves him too and they plan to get married. Wanting to get evidence against Lola, Spike trails her to a joint and finds with her

LEFTY WEIN a suspicious character, Lola wanting to turn Jean against Spike tells her that he has been seen under incriminating circumstances with another woman. She also hints that Spike only wants to marry her for her influence. In spite of Spike's denial of the woman episode she presists in beliving Lola and when he unfortunately happens to mention a way she can do him a business favor she flares up and tells him her love has turned to hate. Lola and Jean arrive in New York where they plan to spend the summer at Lola's apartment. Lefty Wein is nervous—he can't understand why Lola should be so interested in Jean. Lola explains to Lefty that Louis Bartels, underworld crime king, double-crossed her once and to get even she has imported Jean, knowing they will fall for each other, which will probably in complications leading to his downfall. A week later Lola arranges a party at a night club which she knows Bartels frequents When he enteres Jean is thrilled. Bartels flirts with Jean and arouses jealousy in his companion, Babette Dalton, who sarcastically inquires if "the baby is going home early."

CHAPTER XVII.

Jean reddened at the catty thrust but knew she had drawn first blood—the hot blood of a suave woman's jealousy. Jealousy was fear—she knew that Babette feared her so she exulted while she nonchantly applied lip-stick. Lola smiled at Babette.

"Hello," she said, evenly. "Do you know Jean Harper—a little friend of mine from Kentucky. Jean, speaking of infants, this is Babette Dalton, a regular flask baby, they've tried everything but they can't seem to wean her from the gin bottle. Consider her as a horrible example."

Babette ignored the reference and went over to where Jean was adding the finishing touches to a carmine cupid's bow. Jean watched her in the mirror.

"Well," began Babette, after a moment's cool pause, "I didn't know little girls were allowed to play with those things. Why she looks just like a baby with rouged lips!"

"That's what makes me so popular," countered Jean, "write me a letter sometime and I'll let you in on the secret."

"And the dress!' went on Babette. "A regular flaming youth model with the brakes off. I should think you'd be afraid of spontaneous combustion. I think the fire department has laws against dresses like that. You're just a high flying little scarlet tanager, aren't you kid!"

Jean and Lola slipped into their wraps, gathered their bags and started to leave while Babette followed. At the door Lola turned to her.

"Good night, dear," she said, "we're going home and punch the hay for a while. See you soon, I suppose. Give my love to Louis—come on Jean."

"Good night, girls," answered Babette. "It's way part time for the baby to go to bed."

At the door, they found Lefty waiting patiently with a now revived Bobo who was profuse in clumsy apologies. Lola waved them aside while they walked through a grilled entrance and waited under the canopy for a cab.

"Listen, Lefty," Lola turned to Wein as a cab drove up, "it won't be necessary for you and Bobo to take us home, we can go by ourselves and save you the trouble." Lefty acquiesced while he assisted them into the waiting taxi, paid their fare and gave the address to the driver.

"Thanks a lot, boys," Lola shouted just before the door was shut. "We had a wonderful time, didn't we Jean?" Jean waved her hand and smiled at both of them as the cab started.

"Saps!" commented Lola sinking back on the seat, "Two reasons why young girls don't leave home. Have a good time?"

"Sure," answered Jean. "It was loads of fun—but it was different, kind of, from what I expected. I thought everybody would be throwing confetti and streamers the way they do in the movies or at a Greek weeding. Then, I thought everybody would be getting drunk and singing songs the way they do home at a roadhouse or at Louisville Lou's."

Jean stopped short, suddenly remembering the murder and her association with it. She bit her lips and wished she hadn't said anything about Lou's.

"What kind of a place is that," asked Lola, with what Jean thought was a peculiar intonation.

"Oh, it's just a sort of a night club. They call it that, anyway. All the local high sports take their girl friends there and think they're having a great time."

"Oh."

"This is the real big time stuff, though," rushed on Jean. "A night club that have cost about nine million dollars to decorate, an orchestra that makes anything else you've ever heard sound like a jew's harp, a famous leader you read about in books, and smart people whose pictures you see in Vanity Fair and Vogue."

"If you mean Louis Bartels, I don't think he ever had his picture in Vanity Fair or Vogue but he's smooth, he's smooth."

"You know what I mean," rushed on Jean exhuberantly. "Everything clicks, everything's just right. Honestly I had a marvelous time but I don't suppose I'll really appreciate it until tomorrow. When, you're all tired out after a big night, nothing seems as wonderful as it always does the next day, after you've had some sleep, does it?"

"I guess you're right," answered Lola in a tired voice, "but when you never have a marvelous time at all—you sort of lose tract of the fact. I'd like to trade places with you—everything must seem so new."

"Of course, it does," agreed Jean, "everything is."

"Well," countered Lola urgingly. "Now you've told me what a good time you've had, you might as well get definite. Don't try and fool your girl friend because I can help you a lot and I can't cramp your style at all. In other words what do you think of Louis Bartels?"

Jean hesitated a minute, glancing, out of the window as the cab rounded the curve of Columbus Circle and started up Broadway.

"I think he's the most fascinating man I ever met," she answered, slowly and definitely.

"He certainly gave you a big rush," said Lola enthusiastically. "Frankly, I never saw him give so much time to any girl he's just met. And Babette! Hot prairie dog! What a rise you got out of her and we didn't stay for the fireworks—when she went back to him. Louis won't stand much squawking, through—not if I know him. He'll just politely tell her to pick up her marbles and go home."

"I'm not wishing her any hard luck, of course," Jean smiled, "but I hope he does. Do you know much about her?"

"Something—and let me slip you a word of advice—no matter what happens, don't be too confident. I know you're not, just remember what I said. Louis is a hard hombre to dope out. A lot of people tried and they all got fooled. Babette knows her stuff and she knows it well and she'll break her neck and maybe yours trying to keep Louis from breaking what she thinks is a ninety-nine year lease she's got on him."

"I'm no prospective leaseholder," said Jean, "but I sure would like to have that man crazy about me for a while."

It was all so exciting! Jean hugged herself with a delicious ecstacy of possibly holding down the third corner of a love triangle. Intrigue!

"So far you seem to be sitting pretty," went on Lola, "but Babette hasn't started to fight yet. She's just as smooth as he is. She's lived abroad for a long time and she knows her way around. The only flaw in her system was on painful exhibition tonight. Jealousy. But when she gets wise that she's playing right into your hand, she'll try something else. Remember, too, that you're just a baby with rouged lips, a simple pretty country kid with an eager stare. She's afraid of that angle because you've got what she hasn't. Don't forget that, and try to be hardboiled and sophisticated. He can get all of that he wants from Babette.

"It's our move now. You probably think Louis is interested enough to call you up or try and see you again. Any other man would, but not him. Indifference is his big game. He hates to take the initative so here's how we'll work it. In a couple of days, I'll invite him up to tea. Babette will probably tag along but you don't have to worry about that—you got him away from her once and you can do it again.

Tomorrow: Louis proves susceptible.

FERNIE POLICE COMMISSIONERS DISPUTE LETTER

Liquor Control Board Holds That Six Hotels Illegally Selling Liquor

FERNIE, B.C., April 18.—A letter received by Chief of Police Anderson from D. McGugan, supervisor of law enforcement for the liquor control board, was laid before a meeting of the Fernie police commission this afternoon.

The letter stated that it had been reported to the board that liquor was being illegally sold at six hotels in Fernie. In this connection the following resolution was passed by the police commission: "That verbal report made by Chief Anderson in connection with a letter received by him from supervisor of law enforcement stating that the supervisor had reports from Fernie to the effect that certain hotels are selling liquor illegally. The chief gave as his opinion and it is the opinion of this board, that the information received by the supervisor has been considerably overstated and that every effort is being made to control the liquor situation in Fernie, and that this board is satisfied that the chief has done everything in his power to enforce the Liquor act in Fernie."

The chief expressed himself as absolutely satisfied that at least two of the six hotels named in the above letter were not infringing the liquor act. The mayor remarked that it was strange the provincial department would send a letter like the foregoing to the city when conditions just outside the municipality were worse than in the city.

YOUR HAIR

A woman's crowning beauty is her hair. Prompt and proper methods will prevent premature greyness. Evans Williams Tunisian Henna is ideally adapted for this purpose.

For hair that is very grey, SPECIAL Tunisian Henna which is made in all shades from Blonde to Black, should be used.

Every six weeks your hair grows about one inch. If the new growth differs from the old in tone and color, it is possibly caused by frequent cutting, tight hats or ill-health. Should you neglect to give proper attention to dull, lifeless roots, your hair will gradually become drab and lustreless. To prevent this, use, every six weeks, Graduated Henna for dark hair, or Henna and Camomile for fair hair.

OLD FERRY TAKEN OFF RUN; HARROP FERRY IS IN USE

Change is Made Here in Short Time; New Ferry to be On Saturday Night

Nelson's old ferry, which had given service for several years across the West Arm of Kootenay lake to and from the north shore, but which during recent years, with traffic steadily increasing became gradually inadequate, was, at precisely 9 o'clock yesterday morning taken off the run, never to return. For a little less than three hours vehicular traffic across the lake was suspended and passenger service maintained by a small boat until the Harrop ferry, which had been repaired and overhauled here, could be placed on the run to maintain service until Saturday night when it is hoped to put the new and larger craft on the run.

BETTER THAN NONE

The Harrop boat, although its capacity is only three cars to a trip, is expected to be able to handle the traffic until the weekend. Many car owners will probably be inconvenienced but it was thought that the service would be better than none at all. The boat could not be expected to handle the Sunday traffic and the new boat, construction of which had proceeded all winter, will be on the run by that time.

Several fixtures in the pilot house of the old ferry are being transferred to the new one, necessitating both being off the run at the same time, which is the reason that the new ferry could not be placed on immediately the old one was taken off.

The new craft has a capacity of 12 cars, two more to a trip than the old one. The new ferry will handle the 12 cars with more ease than the old one handled 10. It will make better speed from shore to shore, although it is not expected the schedule will be changed gradually, except possibly on weekends.

COMMISSIONERS AT FERNIE ARE AGAIN PUZZLED

Douglas Suggests Rescind Resolution on Raffles; Dokkies Complain

FERNIE, B. C., April 18.—A letter was read at the police commission meeting this afternoon from Robert Billborough on behalf of the Dokkies society expressing dissatisfaction with the circumstance that the Dokkies society had been prohibited by the police commission from running a carnival while other societies had been allowed to hold drawings at least as much in contravention to the law as their proposed one. They thought they had been unfairly dealt with and wished to know why others could accrue privileges denied them.

The mayor pointed out that the societies referred to in Mr. Billsborough's communication had been promised these privileges exercised by them before the passing by the police commission of the now famous resolution prohibiting such privileges, and further that when these privileges had been extended they had been used to raise money for purel ycharitable purposes whereas the Dokkies proposed to give 40 per cent of their proceeds to Fernie hospital and devote the reset to benevolent purposes and the maintenance of a subordinate lodge. It was this latter clause that was found objectionable by the mayor on the ground that it was not purely a charitable act, and if allowed might become a precedent for abuse of privileges

The mayor's aim was to allow as much freedom and pleasure as possible, also not to curtail charities, but to prevent nothing being carried to such an extreme as to become an abuse. Commissioner Perry thought the Dokkies ought to be encouraged to go ahead and flirt with death regardless of what the commission had said. Commissioner Douglas, when asked for his opinion thought that the only fair way was to have one policy for everybody and the only way out of the dilemma was to rescind the resolution. This did not meet with the approval of the other two commissioners. The matter was stood over.
