W. J. MEAGHER IS SERIOUSLY ILL

Perform Emergency Operation on His Throat at Home

W. J. Meagher, one of Nelson's pioneer merchants, was critically ill at his home late Wednesday night. Mr. Meagher has been suffering with laryngitis for a period of about three weeks. In the past few days he has grown gradually worse and Wednesday evening an emergency operation was performed in an effort to save his life. So ill was Mr. Meagher that it was impossible to remove him to the hospital. Doctors D. W. McKay, R. B. Shaw and Wilfrid Laishley were in attendance and a tube was inserted in an effort to halt the gradual closing of the larynx.

Informer Will Not Be Able to Collect

But Crown May Confiscate Lottery Winnings; Amend the Criminal Code

OTTAWA, June 20 (CP).—The provision of the criminal code which makes it possible for an informer to sue and obtain the proceeds of a lottery will disappear if the amendment introduced today by Hon. Hugh Guthrie, minister of justice, passes the house of commons.

The bill received first reading today without discussion. Instead of the informer being able to obtain the proceeds, the measure provides that they shall be forfeited to the crown.

The amendment does not apply to small raffles and church bazaars in which the amount involved is less than $50.

DOUKHOBORS TO BE BARRED FROM VOTE

New Franchise Bill Carries Clause Declaring That Provincial Disqualification Works in the Dominion Voting

OTTAWA, June 20.—The federal government is emphatic in the decision that Doukhobors in British Columbia shall not be permitted to vote at federal elections.

The new franchise bill provides that in any province where voters are disqualified, the same disqualification will apply in so far as federal elections are concerned. British Columbia is the only province which has adopted this stand, the provincial act specifying that persons born in Canada whether male or female, and their descendants who claim exemption from military service under orders-in-council of 1873 and 1896 are disqualified to vote.

In West Kootenay there are some 4500 Doukhobors and in the adjoining district of Yale about 1000. Although Doukhobors born in Canada are British subjects and thereby entitled to vote, they showed no disposition to do so until the last federal election. The federal government recognizes that this sect disregards provincial laws and that they refused to submit to the taking of the 1931 census.

The new act will cover the situation by disqualifying at a federal election those who are disqualified under a provincial act.

DISSOLVE THE HOUSE, IS CRY

Not Until Interest of Land Requires It, Says Bennett

OTTAWA, June 20 (CP)—When the interests of the country require a general election the house will be dissolved, Prime Minister R. B. Bennett told Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King, opposition leader, in the house of commons today.

Mr. King has suggested that, in view of yesterday's results in Ontario and Saskatchewan and, having regard to the fact that the election campaigns had been participated in by "the members of the government, including the prime minister," there should be a dissolution of the house immediately on the conclusion of the present session.

The government, said the prime minister, would advise his excellency respecting a dissolution of the house when, in the opinion of the government, the interest of the country required it.

GOLD CLAUSE IS OUT IN BOND CASE

ST. LOUIS, June 20 (AP)—A federal district judge today placed the stamp of constitutionality upon congressional action abrogating in the "gold clause" of obligations payable in the United States, estimated at $90,000,000,000 to $125,000,000,000.

In upholding the legality of the congressional action, Judge Charles B. Farris ruled that bonds of the Missouri Pacific railroad, despite the promise they continue to pay in "gold coin of the United States" of the weight and fineness of the time of their issue, should be paid only at their face value in the money of the United States now current.

The ruling was the first by a federal court since "public resolution No. 1" was enacted in June, 1933.

It is expected the case, which has been the subject of wide interest in financial circles, will be appealed to the United States supreme court for final decision.

Canada's Goods Find Big Market in United States

WASHINGTON, June 20 (CP) — The United States imported Canadian goods worth $16,270,970 during the month of April, compared with $1,078,289 in the same month of 1933, department of commerce figures revealed today.

In the same period Canada purchased U. S. goods valued at $26,254,376, almost double the total for April, 1933, when the total was $13,308,919.

ANDERSON PLANS TO RESIGN ON JUNE 28

REGINA, June 20 (CP)—Resignation of the Anderson government is expected to be placed in the hands of Lieut.-Governor H. E. Munroe on June 28, two days after the writs of election are returned to the clerk of the executive council.

Defeat at the polls in Tuesday's election, Premier J. T. M. Anderson, it was indicated today, was anxious to turn over the reins of government to Premier-elect James G. Gardiner as quickly as possible.

SHE CHEWED UP MARKED MONEY

Is Police Charge in Narcotic Case in Spokane

SPOKANE, Wash., June 20 (AP)—Deputy Sheriff Hugh Duggan said that Dr. Myrtle Rice, physician, swallowed a marked $5 bill today when trapped after an alleged sale of narcotics.

With U. S. Agent L. L. Goodrich, Duggan crowded the physician's car to the curb after the alleged transaction with a woman hired by the sheriff's office, Duggan said. Dr. Rice snatched the money from his hands while he was passing it to Goodrich, Duggan said, and swallowed it despite Goodrich's hands around her neck.

Charged with selling narcotics illegally, Dr. Rice posted $750 cash bail.

Crosses Atlantic Alone in 24 Days

British Naval Man Sails the Ocean in 24-Foot Yawl Without Company

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., June 20 (CP cable).—A lone adventurer from Great Britain sailed his tiny yacht into harbor after crossing the Atlantic today and then tumbled gratefully into bed for his first real sleep in 24 days.

Commander R. B. Graham, R.N., was skipper and crew of the 24-foot yawl on the perilous crossing from Bantry, Ireland. He left there 24 days ago, and though heavy weather beset his little boat at times, made a remarkably fast crossing. To hear Commander Graham speak, sailing across the Atlantic single-handed might be an every-day happening. "Yes," he said, "we had some varied weather, but the boat behaved splendidly."

B. C. FISHERIES UP BY $2,000,000

OTTAWA, June 20 (CP)— The value of output of the British Columbia fisheries in 1933 amounted to $13,001,471, an increase of more than $2,000,000 compared with the value of $9,909,116 in the preceding year, says a report issued today by the Dominion bureau of statistics.

These figures refer to the value of the fish as marketed, whether sold for consumption fresh or canned, cured or otherwise prepared.

ROOSEVELT WILL CONTINUE "BRAINS"

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 20 (AP)—President Roosevelt struck back today both at critics of the United States congress and of the "brain trust" and told his newly adopted alumni of Yale university that the use of "brains in government" will be continued.

"After all," said the president, "we live in a democracy. I like it. We are going to continue as a democracy."

The graduates of Yale, who had heard some light reference to congress in the course of the commencement exercises at which Mr. Roosevelt was given an honorary degree of law, applauded the statement.

540 PULP MILL MEN WORKLESS OWING TO STRIKE

BELLINGHAM, Wash., June 20 (AP).—Five hundred and forty men, most of them employed in the pulp plants here and at Anacortes of the Puget Sound Pulp and Paper company, will be thrown out of work this week when the plants close due to the coast-wide longshoremen's strike, company officials said today.

Can 'Work Out' Taxes for the Government Only

VICTORIA, June 20 (CP).—Premier Pattullo explained today that the policy of permitting farmers in default on their land for three year's taxes to work out the equivalent of one year's impost, would apply solely to those on lands held from the province itself. Municipalities containing farm areas were in a different position, and will be expected to provide their own solution of the problem.

CALF WITH TWO HEADS PUZZLED AT MEALTIME

Doesn't Know Which Mouth to Use for Hay and Which for Milk; When It Bawls a Duet Effect Results; Six Weeks Old and in Perfect Health

SPOKANE, Wash., June 20 (AP).—Living is a complex thing for Nels Nelson's new calf. It can never decide, for one thing, which mouth to use for eating hay and which to use for milk.

In the case of hay, however, when there is enough of it, the calf uses both mouths; for there are two, both perfectly formed and seemingly normal.

The calf has, in fact, two complete heads, fitted with normal nostrils, eyes, tongues and other equipment. When it bawls a duet effect results, because both sets of vocal chords take up the duty.

Now six weeks old, the animal weighs 80 pounds and apparently is in perfect health.

BRIGHTON, England, June 20.—(CP-Havas).—The dismembered body of the woman whose torso was found in a trunk at the railroad station here was boiled in oil then cured in smoke, like a herring, it was learned here tonight. Authorities from Scotland yard renewed their search in the Brighton district, persuaded that the crime was a local one.

When the gruesome find was first discovered and unwrapped and the legs belonging to the torso were found soon afterward in a suitcase in Kings Cross station, London, investigators were astonished to ob-

LIMIT NUMBER OF REPORTERS IN THE BROWNLEE CASE

Newspaper men in Alberta are perturbed by an order from Mr. Justice Ives, acting chief justice of the trial division in Edmonton, which states that no more than six reporters will be admitted to the McMillan-Brownlee case, hearing of which starts Monday. Alberta's premier is charged with seduction. The case has attracted wide attention throughout Canada and Alberta and Saskatchewan papers are taking every means possible to have the acting chief justice change his views. The Canadian Press, however, will have a staff writer at the action and his account will be carried in The Nelson Daily News.

DEATH BY SHOCK AS LEG BROKEN

Injured Logger Dies Within Hour; Heart Found to Be Weak

VICTORIA, June 20 (CP).—The unusual death of a logger injured during operations at Rock Bay has been reported to provincial police headquarters here in an account from the Campbell river settlement.

The man was Eric Hoggara, an employee of the Merill Ring & Wilson Logging company, who received a fracture of the main bone of his left leg when a falling tree twisted and pushed another tree against it. He was taken to hospital at Rock Bay where the doctor examined the fracture and reported there were no injuries.

Soon after he had been in hospital however, his breathing became heavy and within an hour he died. Death was found due to a hemorrhage of the brain, of which there was no trace when he was brought in. A coroner's jury rendered a verdict of accidental death.

A post mortem examination showed death had been caused by gradual failure of a weak, dilated heart, which had been effected by shock.

$126,000 in Silver Stranded at Coast

VANCOUVER, June 20 (CP). — Silver bullion valued at $126,000 at the current price in Canada arrived here today aboard the liner Empress of Japan from the orient and may be "stranded" owing to the longshoremen's strike in United States Pacific coast ports.

The silver was to have been landed at Victoria and forwarded from there to Seattle by water. The strike precluded such an arrangement, however, and the shipment was brought here.

Authorities were attempting to arrange that the bullion be picked by a United States ship now inbound and ship it to Panama, thence by another ship to New York, it was understood.

Hindenburg Backs Von Papen's Stand

By ELMER PETERSON
Associated Press Foreign Staff

BERLIN, June 20 (AP)—The position of the Vice-chancellor, Franz von Papen in his outspoken criticism of certain Nazi policies, was greatly strengthened in the view of the German people today by the support of Venerable President Von Hindenburg.

The president sent a brief telegram of commendation to Von Papen on the speech he delivered last Sunday and it became known that Von Hindenburg was given an advance copy of the address to study at his country estate while Chancellor Hitler was not similarly favored.

CHILLIWACK, B.C., June 20 (CP)—U. B. Cusack was in a serious condition in the hospital here today from severe injuries suffered when the team of horses he was driving near his home on the Prairie Central road ran away and dragged him about 300 yards.

The entire top of Cusack's head was scraped off and he suffered injuries to his arms, shoulders and legs. He was found by Jack Keith, returning at the time from the hospital where he had visited his employee, Charlie Blow, who had previously suffered a broken leg when his horses ran away.

Blame High Speed for Youth's Death

COURTNEY, B.C., June 20 (CP).—A coroner's jury investigating the death of Philip George Osler, 17, of Comox, has decided that the automobile accident in which the boy was killed was due to the high rate of speed of a car driven by Osler and the contributory action of P. P. Harrison in overtaking and passing, on a curve and a narrow road, an automobile driven by Miss S. A. Brown of Cumberland.

The jury recommended that a four-inch bright band be painted in the center of all hard-surfaced roads.

BEER HAS BIG LEAD IN SASK.

But Dry Polls Are Yet to Come; May Be Long Delay

REGINA, June 20 (CP)—It may be a week before the final result on Saskatchewan's beer plebiscite is known. Tonight, there was a majority of more than 20,000 in favor of sale of beer by the glass in licenced premises, but there were many polls to hear from, especially in the "dry" north area.

It was learned tonight that many returning officers had not counted the plebiscite ballots during the election rush last night, but had placed them in the locked boxes for shipment to Regina. Until the provincial election officer makes his report on June 26 the locked ballots may hold the secret of the plebiscite.

Investigating auditors said they found many breaches of Quebec minimum wage laws and the evidence probably will be passed on for prosecutions.

The committee today ventured up another alley—wages paid in factories supplying goods to department stores. The Quebec shoe manufacturers were selected from advertisements run by different stores but, throughout today's evidence, went unnamed.

Man Charged With Murder Declares It Was Girl Who Fired Shot That Killed Her Dad

PEACE RIVER, Alta., June 20 (CP).—John Ferguson, charged with the slaying of Louis Jobin, big prairie farmer, today testified he did not kill the man, but that it was Jobin's daughter, Marcella, who calmly aimed a rifle at her father's back, turned her head, and pulled the trigger.

Ferguson admitted he planned to kill "either the old lady or the old man" because they would not give their daughter, Marcella, consent to marry him. He declared that a rifle he was carrying fell and discharged, the bullet entering Jobin's chin.

Then, Ferguson said, he went into the Jobin home and called Marcella out. She asked, according to his story, "Why didn't you finish him?" The father, lying wounded, heard the remarks and turned toward them. The girl then announced, his story continued, "No, let me finish him," grasped the rifle, loaded it and walked towards her father.

When three feet away, he declared, the girl stopped, aimed at him from the front, then walked around to his back, aimed the weapon, turned her head and fired.

Three other witnesses testified during the day that Marcella told them she had fired the second shot.

It was the second shot, according to medical evidence, which caused the man's death.

The case is continuing.

GARDINER MAY CALL SPECIAL HOUSE SESSION TO REPEAL EDUCATION ACT

No Change in the Canadian Programs Says Commission

NEW YORK, June 20 (CP)—The National Broadcasting company said today it "has taken no action to change its Canadian programs."

Commission for Handling of School Affairs Against the Liberal Grain

LEMBERG, Sask., June 20 (CP)—In the quiet of this little country town 75 miles northeast of Regina, rested tonight perhaps the most vindicated man in the Dominion. James G. Gardiner, the premier-elect, having led his Liberal forces back into power in the most sweeping victory in the province's history, had broken free from the excitement and turmoil of Regina and taken an airplane ride to reflect on his fortune in the comforts of his farm.

But sweet though his reflection was—he had stripped the Conservative party of all its seats—the Ontario-born educationist and former premier was willing to discuss with the Canadian Press a few of his plans and reactions.

MAY BE SPECIAL SESSION

The legislature will be assembled, he declared, "as soon as we can conveniently get to it." But there is a possibility of a special session shortly to repeal the School Legislation act passed by the defeated Anderson government.

REPORT GIVEN OF CONVENTION

Alderman Fleming Gives Gist of Kelowna Talk

The Kootenay Music Festival completed the 1934 festival with a profit of $63.89, it was revealed at an adjourned meeting of the Nelson Festival association.

Alderman Ross Fleming, past president of the Kootenay Musical Festival association, who was a delegate to the Interior festival convention held recently at Kelowna, gave a comprehensive report of the convention, and recounted fairly fully the discussions that took place there on the various matters brought before the meetings. He was also named delegate to the Calgary convention in July.

No resolutions had been passed at the convention, declared Alderman Fleming in his report. Much discussion had taken place on various points and a variety of opinions expressed, but the various festival associations had been left to make their own regulations.

The convention had revealed emphatically that each association had problems peculiar to itself and that no two were exactly alike in respect to their difficulties. Nor were the resolutions expressed unanimously received.

MARKING DISAPPROVED OF

The question of giving out the marking was fully gone into, and it was revealed that the Kootenay Musical Festival association was the only one which gave out the adjudication marks on both the adjudication forms and the certificates. Giving out the marks, one objection asserted, led to boasting among the children and so was detrimental, and further that it led children to think more of the marks than of the accomplishment. Some were for announcing the winners only in order to minimize the winning.

Another matter that was voiced was that no restrictions be placed on winners in age classes with the exception possibly where an entrant had won three times. This it was stated tended to reduce entries when every effort was being made to increase entries.

CLASS COMPETITION

Another suggestion was that each class in school be taught by the home teacher under the supervision of a music teacher. The aim sought here was to have interclass competition predominate rather than interschool competition. The contest of music teachers was deplored. It was pointed out, observed Alderman Fleming, that the selection of choirs from large classes tended to discourage those unable to make the class, whereas music was intended for the benefit of each and every scholar.

Master classes were approved and will be investigated further when the adjudicator is selected.

Staggering the election of directors was another plan suggested, in order to ensure a number being on the board who were familiar with the association's activity.

THEFT INSURANCE

Theft insurance on the cups and shield was a practice adopted by one of the festivals, another paid for the engraving of the cups and shileds, while still another supplied the shields.

Where the attendance at the elocution programs had been poor, it had been suggested that the elocution and music be mixed in an endeavor to increase the attendance.

At present, observed Mr. Fleming, the Vancouver festival was trying to revive the government grant. The Cranbrook festival and the Nanaimo festival had encountered some difficulty in financing this year, the former completing its festival with a loss of $75 and the latter with a loss of $50.

Canadian adjudicators had been favored at the convention in order that expenses could be kept down. The fee for adjudicators had been set at $200 and the highest possible limit $300. Mrs. Huntley Green had been the choice for instrumental adjudicator and Campbell McInnis for vocal and elocution, with Dalton Baker and Bernard Naylor as alternates for vocal and elocution. Dr. A. E. Whitehead was the choice for single adjudicator. The possibility of obtaining school examiners will be investigated and letters will be written to the Associated Board of Royal School of Music, London, and Trinity College of Music, London, concluded Alderman Fleming.

KING BORIS REVIEWING TROOPS

KING BORIS.

QUEEN GIOVANNA and PRINCESS MARIE LOUISE

King Boris, who is believed to have inspired the coup d'etat that placed Bulgaria under a Fascist military dictatorship, is one of the few fighting monarchs left in Europe. Since he succeeded his father, King Ferdinand, in 1918, he has been kept busy quelling internal strife. Attempts on his life have been frequent, and, although he has declared he would rather be a working man than a king, he steadfastly refused to be driven off the throne. He is a prime favorite with the Bulgarian army and, more important, with Premier Mussolini of Italy. King Boris' marriage to Princess Giovanna of Italy in 1930 is said to have sealed a secret political understanding with Rome. Bulgaria's king and queen have on child, Princess Marie Louise.

FIVE MILLION SHIN-PLASTERS STILL IN USE

About 5,000,000 Canadian shinplasters or paper 25-cent pieces, are still in circulation. Americans buy them as souvenirs but the mail order trade in the Maritimes and the West take the bulk, according to Walter Sellar, comptroller of the treasury. It was somewhat surprising to note, he said, that few people know the Dominion issued a five dollar note. There are about 1,000,000 in circulation and most of this number are belived to be in the province of Quebec.

KIDDIES' TREAT IS NOT FAR OFF

Races, Nickels and Free Ice Cream Planned

The one event in the year that is essentially a kiddies' treat is again rolling around, the Canadian Legion Bugle Band's Dominion day program. This year with Dominion day falling upon Sunday the program has been postponed a day and already the young folk are conjuring up visions of free ice cream cones, nickels and a big street parade.

This year members of the Bugle band, who have so generously provided for the city's young people in the past, will be on hand to dispense cones, and nickels for the winners of the races that will be held in the Recreation grounds.

HOPES TO PROVE HIS AFTER-LIFE

LONDON (CP) — Sir Oliver Lodge's hope of proving—after his death—the existence of an afterlife was revealed by Miss Helen Alvey, his private secretary, in a recent interview.

"How will he do it?" she repeated. "I cannot say. I don't think he knows how; he will have to use what means he has. He is confident he will be able to tell the message that he has sealed up and deposited very privately. He alone knows what is in that message. It was deposited two or three years ago."

DRIVES HIMSELF TO WORK AT 82

And Still Plays a Little Golf

How many of us, when we are 82, will be the equal in health and activity of this vigorous old Scottish engineer? In a letter he says:—

"I arrived here from Scotland on the 7th April, 1870. I am over 82 years old. I drive my Ford car 40 miles over hills and dales to a factory, and can still play a little golf. I have taken the little dose of Kruschen Salts in my cup of coffee every morning for some years, and I believe it is keeping me in good health and enabling me to keep on working at the factories as engineer."—L.A.

Whether you are still in your 'teens or past your prime, it is neither too early nor too late to start on the "little daily dose." Just a tiny, tasteless pinch of Kruschen Salts in your morning cup of tea or coffee! They ensure internal cleanliness, and keep the blood-stream pure. New and refreshed blood is sent coursing to every fibre of your being. Rheumatism, headaches, indigestion and backache all pass you by. ***

CAN REDUCE TUBERCULOSIS TO ONLY MINOR DEATH CAUSE, DOCTORS TOLD

Segregation and Early Treatment Are Important Factors

CALGARY, June 20 (CP)—Hope that tuberculosis can be eventually rendered only a minor cause of mortality was expressed to the delegates at the opening session of the 65th convention of the Canadian Medical association today by Dr. R. F. Ferguson of the Saskatchewan Anti-Tuberculosis league.

"By early diagnosis, the segregation of active cases and the examination and early treatment of those contacts infected by these spreaders, tuberculosis can be controlled and the disease gradully reduced to a minor cause of death in any commmunity," he said.

The age maximum breakdown from this disease in western Canada is between 18 and 24 years.

In Saskatchewan at the present time although Indians constitute less than 2 per cent of the population they account for roughly 25 per cent of the deaths from consumption.

POTENTIAL SUICIDE

Speaking on "unusual bleeding in middle and later life" which he called the "most outstanding of female pelvic diseases," Dr. Frederick W. Marlow, Toronto, issued a strong warning of the necessity for careful physical examination.

"It need only be said," he declared, "that any woman who does not seek to learn the cause and obtain professional advice is, notwithstanding her religious or other beliefs, a potential suicide, and that any physician, general or special, who belittles the importance of her complaint when he is consulted, or fails to make a thorough examination or advise her to consult someone who will, is a potential murderer."

The convention is continuing until Friday. The annual dinner will be held tonight.

QUINTUPLETS FORBIDDEN BY THE NRA, U.S.

An unusually "blessed event" in a humble farm home, made the family known far and wide. And lead the Chicago Tribune paragrapher to say:

"A Canadian woman gives birth to five babies. Tut, tut. Overproduction and how! NRA wouldn't allow that to happen in the United States. And rightly so; suppose every woman was permitted to give birth to five children at a time. Great Jumping Jupiter! Now don't you see why it's a good idea to have a brain trust down in Washington that plans everything out? Yessir! We don't allow things like that in this country."

SULLIVAN IN FOOTBALL WIN

Kimberley Team Is Getting Ready to Take on Nelson or Trail

KIMBERLEY, June 20—A real game of football was seen at Lindsay park when Coal Creek lost to the Sullivan team 4-1. They played for 30 minutes before a score was made. It was a clean, fast game throughout, the play swinging back and forth in a fairly even way.

Both teams were well satisfied with T. Caufield of Fernie as referee. A hearty vote of thanks was given the ladies for the fine eats served the visiting team. Sullivan Mine team is getting into shape for Trail or Nelson, after the playoff between those two.

The four groups of the Women's association of the United church are each taking turns at decorating the church, June is the month of the Chapman Camp group and Iris, foxglove and oriental poppies are to the fore. Columbines have done their share but they are about gone and peonies are just coming in.

On Sunday morning Rev. R. Cribb told of a speech made by George Eastman in the ballroom of the Banff hotel, during the Oxford Group house party.

Complaints were made of the dusty state of the streets uptown and it was asked that they be hosed down without delay. An electric storm that descended soon after did the business with violence. The rain was the heaviest in years, turning the streets into brooks. The storm did some damage, striking the rear of the Kootenay Hardware, also a radiator in the Fisher block and radics were thrown "out of gear" in many parts of the town. Lower Blarchmont was well beaten with hail. Kimberley will be more cautious in its demand for reforms in the future.

The Women's association of All Saint's church held an afternoon tea and sale of home cooking and candy at Mrs. E. McLellan's home, townsite. The president, Mrs. E. James with Mrs. McGovern and Mrs. Chesham, was in charge and a group of young girls waited on the tables. The affair netted $24.

Rev. M. C. T. Percival, vicar of All Saints' church, gave his farewell sermon in Kimberley Sunday evening. He has taken the church at Creston. The Sunday school too is likely to be closed. At least, there are no plans at present for keeping it open.

Mrs. Harrison and son Ronnie, who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Morrison at Chapman Camp, have returned to their home at Fairmont. They were accompanied by Mrs. Morrison.

Milton Mellor, five years, was taken to McDougal hospital for glanular trouble. He is improving and will be able to return home soon.

TRANSFER GIVES A TENNIS CHAMP

HALIFAX (CP). — Transfer of Commander J. C. I. Edwards from Ottawa to Halifax as executive officer at the Royal Canadian Naval barracks here brings Nova Scotia's tennis champion back to his native province.

The commander, who won the Nova Scotia title in 1932 and 1933, defeating such Canadian stars as Laird Watt and George LeClerc of Montreal, was eliminated from the Davis cup trials this year by LeClerc.

The commander will probably defend his singles title at the provincial tournament to be held in Bridgewater some time late in the month of August.

When Edwards resided here about eight or nine years ago he was considered to be one of the best English rugby players in Nova Scotia. He played in the city league for the Navy.

TROUT RELEASED AT LOCH LOMOND

SAINT JOHN, N.B., (CP).—Sport fishermen in this district have pleasant anticipations. Approximately 23,000 additional trout, released from a rearing pond where they spent the winer, are swimming in the Loch Lomond chain of lakes near Saint John. The pond was constructed last year under co-operation of the New Brunswick Fish and Game Protective Association, the Loch Lomond Protective Association and the Dominion department of fisheries.

Officials who witnessed the releasing of the small trout included Dr. A. G. Huntaman, editor and consulting director for the Biological Board of Canada, and Dr. A. H. Leim, director of the board's station at St. Andrews. Dr. Alexander Bajkov, Russian biologist who is studying fish culture in Canada also was present.

KITCHENER TO HAVE BIG DAY

Sports Program Arranged for Dominion Day at Airport Camp

KITCHENER, June 20—The local ranchers are now busy harvesting their strawberry crops, and report an exceptionally heavy yield. H. Huson has several men employed from the relief camp.

T. McCauley, blacksmith at the airport camp, has left to take up employment at Creston.

Fishing is now good in the various streams about the district, and several nice catches have been reported.

The Creston junior baseball team invaded town and took the local ball club 5 to 0.

The Moyie Softball club made another journey to this village and played the Sirdar team. The game was well worth watching, and as is usual with the Moyie team they went home the victors by an 8 to 5 score. The Sirdar team have several juniors and midgets on their team and they played exceptionally good ball.

A good crowd of sport followers accompanied the local girls to Moyie where they exhibited their brand of softball against a Cranbrook aggregation. The Cranbrook crowd won in a seven-inning game 8 to 6. The field was then taken by the men's team of Moyie against the Cranbrook Hoopsters the latter winning 9 to 8. A dance was held.

Dominion day sports are to be staged at the airport camp on July 2. A good program is arranged and liberal prizes offered. A dance is to follow. It is understood racing for the kiddies and novelty events besides ball games is on the schedule. Events start at 9:30 a.m. with a softball game.

What One Girl Wore

By BETTY BROWNLEE

A simple and attractive summer sports frock fashioned of French blue angelskin crepe. There are bone buttons, and a narrow stitched belt. Similar stitching on collar and cuffs serve as the only trimming.

The girl who loves sports clothes can indulge herself to her heart's content as the summer season rolls along. There are charming sports costumes that will take her through every hour of the frivolous summer day.

Simple one-piece silk or cotton frocks are lovely for morning wear and may be used for either active or spectator sports wear. Linen ensembles with matching or contrasting jackets are just the thing for warm afternoons.

We particularly like the simple French blue angelskin frock sketched today. It is especially nice since it will be equally becoming to the young girl or her older sister. Very simply cut, its bodice is dressed up with bone buttons and rows of stitching that decorate the Peter Pan collar and tight cuffs on the short sleeves. There is a narrow stitched belt of the same fabric, and the skirt is slim and straight.

The same style of frock is available in almost every fabric—including the whole cotton family.

Knitted costumes for sports are having a vogue again this summer There are the always popular two-piece boucle frocks that are so chic and so comfortable for the golfer.

Tennis fans have a choice this season—shorts are smart, but the girl who finds them unbecoming will find many comfortable frocks with deep sunbacks that will be just as comfortable and equally smart for the strenuous sport.

Girl in the Family

By BEATRICE BURTON

CHAPTER XXI

Early in the afternoon Susan saw him pounding a small wooden sign on to a post at the end of the driveway. As soon as he came in she slipped out at the side door and ran across the dead wet grass of the front lawn to look at it. Painted in black letters on a white ground were the words, " Garage For Rent." Under them he had written in pencil, "Enquire Within."

The door of the old carriage house in the backyard stood open and within it, just visible from the street, were Grandfather Broderick's dog cart, high on its two wheels, and the victoria in which Susan's grandmother had done her visiting and shoping in the leasurely days of thirty years before. In the shadows behind them were things that the family had discarded from time to time. A cottage organ with pleated crimson silk behind the wooden fretwork of its front. A roll of cracked linoleum. Two brass bedsteads. A three-cornered couch that had been part of Lutie's "cozy corner" back in the days when she was young and every fashionable maiden in the United States had a "cozy corner" in the parlor.

There was enough room in the carriage house for one automobile, but there was no way of heating it. The doors hung loose on their rusty hinges and there was no lock on them. "Some garage!" thought Susan on her way back to the house.

Lutie was waiting for her in the dimness of the rear hall. "Isn't it the silliest thing? Trying to rent that old rookery as a garage?" she asked in a whisper. "I've told him that sign will have to come down before Wallace gets back to town. His mother will be coming to call, I suppose, too, and we certainly don't want a thing like that out in front."

For a second Susan was tempted to tell her that it did not make any difference how brave or dismal a front they put up now for either Wallace or his mother—that she had made up her mind to break her engagement, and so they might just as well rent the carriage house and let it earn for them a little of the money they needed so badly.

But this wasn't the time to break the news. Wallace would have to be told about it first, and his ring and watch be returned to him.

Then, when it was too late for the family to argue with her about her decision, she would tell them about it. Then, and only then. It wouldn't be safe to tell them until she had completely freed herself from Wallace. They had talked her out of going to college. They had talked her out of business school and the security of a job. They might be able to talk her out of breaking her engagement if they knew she was planning to do it. They couldn't really, of course, and yet—

That afternoon at four o'clock Susan, walking down South Main Street toward the Public Library, felt herself a part of the bustling life of the wide gray thoroughfare with its crowded sidewalks, its honking automobiles and clanging street cars.

Always before now it has seemed to her that she was only an onlooker, watching other people as they went about the fascinating business of their lives—mothers and daughters hurrying along with the rapt intent look that women wear when they go shopping, girls meeting their sweethearts on street corners, blind to everyone around them.

Today she was one of them—on her way to meet Allen. She smiled at her reflection in shop windows as she went along, thankful for her tall slenderness and her color and the soft regularity of her features.

If there is ever a time that a woman knows just how good to look at she is, it is when she is in love, for she sees herself with her lover's eyes at that time; and today Susan saw with pleasure that the black caracul coat, rusty as it was, was becoming to the fairnes of her skin, and that her little old black hat was turned up at just the right angle above the clear gray of her eyes and the shining sweep of her hair. . . Clothes didn't matter so much after all, she decided.

Allen saw her when she was half a block away from the library and came toward her. But she waved him back and held up the four library books that she was carrying for him to see.

"I have to return these and pick out four new ones," she explained as they met, "before I do anything else." Arm in arm they went up the steps into the big quiet building where Susan had spent so many hours picking out detective stories for Aunt Edna and love stories for Lutie—the kind of books that supplied what each of them had missed. For Aunt Edna, the excitement; to Lutie, the romance and the passion of life.

It was almost dark when they left the library at half past four. In the next block two motion-picture theatres sparkled with red and white lights. The street lamps were shining out above the heads of the crowds, and a man with a wooden tray of violets hanging by straps from his shoulders stood at the bottom of the labrary steps.

"Only feefty cents a bunch, lady." He held out a bunch of them as Susan and Allen passed him.

"Let's buy a bunch for your coat, and then we'll find a place where we can talk," declared Allen, and, before Susan could stop him, he had dropped a silver coin into the tray and was lifting out a little round bunch of the wet dark flowers.

Susan fastened them into the front of her coat and they went on down the street. "Let's go in here and have some tea or coffee—or whatever girls like to drink at this time of day," Allen said suddenly as they reached the corner where the St. Vincent hotel lifted its ornate gray stone bulk above the street. The lobby was large and bright and full of noise and movement. A page went through it calling, "Mr. Aylesworth—Mr. Carpenter—Mr. Ayrlesworth—Mr. Carpenter—." A stout blond woman in a mink coat, that was exactly the color of the toy dog she carried under one arm, swept in through the revolving doors followed by a boy who fairly staggered under the bags and hat boxes.

GREENBACKS GOOD FOR THREE CENTS

MONTREAL (CP)—One of the first "greenbacks"—a treasury note for three cents issued in Washington in 1863—was discovered here in the possession of Desmond Dupuis of this city. The note aroused much interest in banking circles when the owner took its to the bank to see if it was of any value.

The "three-cent-bill" is about two and a half by one and a half inches in size and is printed in black and white on one side and in green and white on the other. The face of the note states it was issued by "Act of March 3, 1863" and receivable for all United States stamps, and was "furnished only by the assistant treasurer and designated depositaries of the United States."

The bill is marked "United States Fractional Currency— Treasury department."

TITLED FENCER FOR OLYMPICS

WINNIPEG (CP)— A Hungarian baron, now a naturalized Canadian, may carry the Maple Leaf into the 1936 Olympic games at Berlin according to experts who have watched him perform as a "fencer."

Scion of a famous European house, Baron Wolf von Smertzing has never forgotten his old love—the blade, and although the foil principle of fencing was different to his Hungarian sabre method, he quickly developed under the guidance of George Braund, outstanding fencer in western Canada.

Partial deafness barred him from joining the Hungarian army so he turned to Canada seven years ago. He secured employment on the Hudson Bay railway and soon became adapted to his new environment. Before leaving the north country he spent some time at trapping.

Arriving in Winnipeg in 1930, Baron von Smertzing entered the University of Manitoba where he received his B.A. degree. He attended lectures in the evenings and worked at odd jobs during the days. While attending university, however; the 32-year-old student found time to practice fencing at the Blades' club which he organized.

Big Bend Road Is in Passable Shape

REVELSTOKE, B.C., June 20.—For the first time in two years the Big Bend highway is in condition for travel for 21 miles north of Revelstoke and within a couple of weeks, with the completion of work on a bridge at that point, the road will be passable to Downie Creek, 45 miles north of here.

The provincial department of public works under Assistant Engineer G. N. Stowe, has made good progress with bridge work, while the department of militia and defence under the superintendency of N. M. Lowe, has been proceeding with road repairs and making arrangement for further construction.

While the road has been officially closed for traffic there is no intention to interfere with legitimate travel and mining men who are desirous of visiting their properties will have no difficulty in making the trip. Close to 600 men are located in militia and defence camps along the highway this summer and indications are that actual progress will be made on new construction before the season ends.

EGGS OF THE KAMLOOPS ARE NOW ARRIVING

250,000 for Nelson; 295,000 Cranbrook; 400,000 Lardo

LARDO EGGS MAY BE HATCHED HERE

Supervisior Harrison Looks Over the Lardo Plant

Nearly 900,000 Kamloops trout eggs, in the eyed stage, from the Penask lake hatchery, in the Nicola are now moving to Kootenay hatcheries and eyeing stations.

The Nelson hatchery received 250,000 of these eggs a few days ago, a consignment of 295,000 for the Cranbrook Rod and Gun club's hatchery arrived Wednesday night, and went out by Thursday morning's train for Cranbrook, and the 400,000 for the Lardo eyeing station will come in about a week's time.

LARDO IN QUESTION

C. W. Harrison, supervisor of fish culture for the British Columbia district, of the Dominion fisheries department, spent Tuesday at Lardo, accompanied by H. C. Crawford, superintendent of West Kootenay hatcheries, inspecting the eyeing station. The station is without an independent water supply, having to rely on the Canadian Pacific pipe.

In last year's high water the C. P. R. dam on a local creek went out, and a new system was put in. Under present conditions there is a question as to whether thre is a margin of safety as to sufficient and continuous supply for the troughs.

If it is decided not to open the Lardo plant, the 400,000 eggs designated for there will come to the Nelson hatchery. If this occurs, it will not make any differenc to eth distribution of fry, as the fry from the Lardo consignment of eggs will all be liberated in that area, for the benefit of Kootenay Lake.

DISTRIBUTE OTHERS WIDELY

The Kamloops trout fry from the regular shipment for Nelson will be distributed as usual to lake in the West Kootenay and Boudary, and from the Cranbrook shipment to lawes in East Kootenay.

This is the second year that the Penask lake hatchery has been the source of supply for keeping up the stock of the lordly Kamloops trout in these waters, while the Gerrard hatchery, the former source of supply, has been shut down.

Supervisor Harrison left Wednesday morning for Cranbrook.

Decline Nearly Third of a Foot

Nearly a third of a foot was the xtent of the drop in the lake level here in the 24 hours ending at noon Wednesday, the actual decline being three-tenths of a foot, from 13.65 to 13.35 feet above low water. The decline, which lessened during the last hot spell, has been accelerating steadily for some time.

SATURDAY NIGHT BATHS PREFERRED

HALIFAX (CP)—Saturday night is still bath night in Halifax, the city hall statisticians have found. The weekly graph shows that water used takes a slump during the week, but on Saturdays a jump of hundreds of thousands of gallons is recorded. It is believed that drinking water is only a small fraction of the 7,500,000 gallons used daily, for more water is used in winter than in summer and it is known that the amount of water people drink during hot summer days is far in excess of the winter consumption. Saturday night baths and water used for domestic purposes are believed to cause almost all the reservoir shrinkage.

MONTREAL GUIDES TO WRITE EXAMS

Police to Enforce By-law Providing Competent Tourist Aid

MONTREAL, (CP)—The head of the Montreal police force, Ferdinand Dufresne, has decided to take measures to enforce the municipal bylaw which provides that only competent guides can solicit the patronage of tourists. This was reported to a meeting of the Association of Historical Guides of Montreal.

Mr. Dufresne has promised the association he will place special detectives at the principal entrances to the city to keep an eye on the activities of "sharks" and unqualified guides. He also requested members of the association to cooperate with the police in reporting all cases of infringement of regulations.

The association has also decided to issue a booklet containing date of a historical nature as well as information on the services offered by the guides. Hotels and transportation companies will be asked to give preference to the qualified historical guides.

Guides will be required to write examinations and diplomas will be awarded them.

NEWFOUNDLAND IMPROVES

According to a writer in The Financial Post, Newfoundland has shown a great improvement since responsible government was shelved and a commission was appointed to administer the Ancient Colony. Newfoundland has now turned the corner. A year and a half ago Newfoundland found itself facing a financial crisis. Debt interest was falling due and the cupboard was bare. Both Canada and Great Britain came to the rescue, but as the months passed conditions grew worse and it was soon recognized that nothing short of the most courageous treatment would effect a cure.

The result was the appointment of a Royal Commission. It comprised three members, one from Great Britain, a second from Canada and a third from Newfoundland. Their report, tabled last fall in the British House, was a searching document. It recommended the appointment of a commission to govern the Dominion, taking the place of the present government and legislature. A commission of seven was named under the governorship of Sir Murray Anderson. In the meantime, Britain assumed responsibility for the debt. The Financial Post writer says that although this commission only took office in February, already it has restored confidence and brought fresh heart to the Islanders. He describes the main accomplishment as follows:

"Major achievements of the new government to date have been two-fold. Not only has it restored confidence throughout the colony, but equally important it is laying the foundation for a fuller, more balanced national economy in the future. As might be expected, much that is being done, much that is planned, is subject to local criticism throughout the island—particularly at St. John's. Little permanent improvement in the existing order of things could be expected without some antagonism. The vital things, as one leading citizen expressed it, is that the new Commissioners are 'honest, sincere and single-minded.'"

TWENTY PAST SEVENTEEN

A great deal of discussion is taking place in Great Britain over the proposal to change the time on railways from the 12-hour to the 24-hour system. Many on this side of the Atlantic are wondering why all this excitement should prevail. Canadian railway men can use the 24-hour time-table without the ordinary citizen feeling or knowing anything about it.

Apparently English people imagine that something will have to be done in a radical way with their clocks and that the dial will have to be split up into 24 divisions, instead of 12, which would not only crowd the figures very close together and make the use of the popular Roman numerals impossible, but would require a lot of internal adjustments to the inside workings of every watch and clock so as to make the small hour-hand revolve only once, instead of twice, in 24 hours.

Experience here has shown that nothing of the kind is necessary. The Canadian clocks and watches have their hands revolving in just the same old way and, if any one is anxious to keep up with the 24-hour time, he can get a watch or a lock on which the figures of the second twelve hours are inscribed in Arabic numerals above those of the first, so that he will see at a glance that when it is three o'clock in the afternoon, old style, it will be 15 o'clock new style.

As a matter of fact, outside of railway circles, and to a large extent even inside those ,not one in Canada worries about the second lot of figures and they all continue to keep track of the lapse of the hours in the same old way, by the use of a.m. and p. m. Even during the war, when it might have been supposed to be extremely necessary to know exactly what hour of day or night was meant, they kept up the old style and resorted to ack emma and pip emma in order to permit clear and distinct definition of the hour to carry along the field telephones.

Unless Britons take the matter too seriously and try to amend their clocks and alter their style of speech, the change on the railways would hardly affect them at all. They would be as oblivious to it as we are in Canada. Rarely is it needful here to make mental calculations and translate such expressions as "leaving at 22-48," into the speech of the common herd. Even the most hardened and experienced railway man will not be heard asking his wife to meet him down town at 20 past 17.

A COSTLY LESSON

An Oshawa busines learned a costly lesson the other day. He bought ten bags of potatoes from an unknown peddler for what appeared to be a very low price, and stored them in his cellar. But when he went to use them, they were found to be hopelessly frozen, and the whole ten bags had to be thrown out. And not knowing the identity of the unknown peddler, he had no recourse. He had to take his loss and do nothing about it.—Oshawa Times.

JUSTIFIED

It is our own feeling that the Stevens committee if it has done nothing else, has more than justified its existence by the information it has been able to lay before the public covering operations of some of the big tobacco companies—Border Cities Star.

Between You and Me

It is an old saying that one needs lots of grit to get along in the world. Well Ontario and Saskatchewan should do well after the Liber landslide in each province. There will be plenty of grit in each locality.

We Conservatives will have to do something pretty soon to retain our identity.

• • •

What worries me is how all those defeated cabinet ministers will find a job now. Things are pretty tough just now and they have lost their drag.

Probably the most enthusiastic followers of the results in the two provinces were Jack St. Denis and J. W. Smillie. And were their faces wreathed in smiles! And aside from the licking their stalwarts gave the Conservatives they expressed pleasure at the walloping the C.C.F. candidates received.

But "Doc" Walley tells me the C.C.F. didn't get a licking. They have a start in both provinces.

Everyone wonders what Premier Bennett will do now. Some say he'll call a Dominion election at once, others that he will linger on and wait and watch. Phil Sheffield believes that if Mr. Bennett would take a stand on the banking question making the Canad bank a publicly controlled institution that he would be returned tomorrow. Phil told me that he used to sneak away from school to hear Mr. Bennett speak in Calgary. That's not a very good recommendation to school students especially from a school inspector. But then Mr. Bennett has a wonderful flow of language.

The Ontario campaign and result will go down in history. They threw tomatoes and eggs at Premier Henry and then they threw his party out of power. But after all tomato juice is becoming more popular every day—and we just have to have our eggs. What I am interested in is what the Toronto Globe will say to the Toronto Telegram.

According to our news columns the other day petty thieving is going on at Lakeside park. Bathers are already losing their clothing while dipping in the West Arm's cooling water. This reminds me of a traveller last year. He returned to get dressed and found his shirt had been stolen. So keeping his bathing suit on he went to the caretaker and made a complaint. On his return his trousers had disappeared. They left him his garters.

MARKETING ACT ONLY START

The enforcement of the Marketing Act is merely a start. The implement is provided but if it is not used persistently and intelligently, dividends will not be returned to the growers. The Act opens up many avenues that can be developed to the benefit of primary producers but the latter need to plan and to labor even more diligently than they have hitherto, if they are to reap due rewards.—Country Life in B. "GREEN AND WILLOW"

(By Gerald S. Rees)

This is not an official record of a recent cricket match at which the writer for a very short time was an interested specator. The city editor of this family journal likely considers me an unsatisfactory substitute as a news-chronicler, being too indefinite and prolix in my recordings. We should worry!

The essence of good news-reporting is a matter-of-factness concise narration of what actually happens, who or what causes it to occur with the ensuing results. While, in this instance, the mechanics of the game of cricket are being more or less competently conducted on the field of play (a bewildered batsman has had his bails lifted for a "duck" by a fast trundled ball), I find my thoughts wandering as usual, and memories stirring. . .

HOMEWARD BOUND

Long years ago, this errant observer,by a circuitous route arrived in early summer-time at a southern seaport of England on a holiday jaunt. Traveling Londonwards through the heart of some of the fairest shires of the Southlands, he retains even now the clearest remembrance of the many playing fields, bathed in mellow sunlight and within sight of the railway line that were dotted with the figures of white flanneled cricketers. The nearer to the metropolis, the more numerous they became till the returning wanderer from the wild and woolly west began to think that everyone in southern England was on a cricket field, and there would be no one to welcome him home! However, the railway porters in their dozens were on hand at Waterloo station, to say nothing of the members of his family, who were rather accustomed to greeting their roving kith and kin from the wide open spaces at railway terminal or steamer landing stage.

THE WELL-SPLICED WILLOW

England is dotted with these emerald green patches set in the calm of her countryside, where cricket has been played for centuries and will be for centuries to come. The white figures that move rather leizurely upon them are Englishmen at play at their national pasttime, which overshadows even the enormous interest in tennis, golf and other outdoor sports. Through the long summer evenings, ere the slanting rays of the sun have crept too low across the landscape's floor and brought on the tender twilight, there is heard the staccato music of bat against ball, as the score mounts, slowly or speedily, till the concluding over is bowled and stumps are tucked under the umpire's arm. Cricket in the green and kindly land of England and everywhere else where it is played is an emblem of sunshine and democratic comradeship, of individual distinction without selfishness, a generous winning and a cheerful losing. It has stood by the manhood of Britain and left its mark in them for "Playing the game" all over the world in politics and the Services, in diplomacy and in life generally.

Cricket is the very best of games to watch in the lazy warmth of sunshine, its moments of leizure alternating with drama and swift excitement, the blending of the human interests in collective rivalry and individual prowess.

HALF CENTURIES—AND ON

Stonewallers and lusty hitters at balls of every length until the temporary partnership is dissolved with a spread-eagling of the wicket by the hard red leather ball—and a sudden call. No doubt about the "How's that", and a stentorian "H'Out" by a stalwart William, the umpire groundsman in a long white coat, his rotundity festooned with the players' surplus garments; he cherishes the bowling pitch with an affection that almost passeth understanding.

And at eventide, the villagers gather at "The Rose and Crown" for their mild and bitters and replay the afternoon's game with bucolic yet pungent criticisms—they have definite ideas about the modern development of body-line bowling and other trends of the national game, which retains its popularity despite the challenge of all the more compact outdoor diversions.

MEMORIES ASTIR

As my eyes follow the movements of the players ("Well played, Sir") on the natural amphitheatre of Nelson's utilitarian recreation park in its beautiful surroundings of lake and mountain scenery, with a blue sky overhead, the blue of chalcedony, from which old Sol beams brightly and superheats the cockles of the heart, I see once again a boyhood scene. . .

"PLAY UP, SCHOOL"!

A late afternoon, with the shadows lengthening under the stately old trees, and the rolling downlands beyond touched with gold . . The School's playing field, and the grey stone bulk of the School itself in the background. . . The air filled with little sounds, the tinkling of sheep bells, the clatter of horses' hooves along the old Roman Road (this was before the age of the motor car) running across the velvety turf of the South Downs, over the hills and far away. . . The click of cricket ball and cricket bat, the cawing of the rooks in the giant elms, with their shadows falling darkly on the green turf, the melodious striking of the hours from the ivied square tower of the church, parts of which had stood when Norman and Saxon met at Senlac—the tide of faith and worship might have suffered ebb and flow, but "A thousand years . . . are as a watch in the night". . . the inconsequential chatter of schoolboys and the fizzing of bottles of ginger beer . .

In cricket there is an infinite variety. Every player has the opportunity to develop his own individual technique. When a man goes into bat, he does it by himself and stands or falls on his own performance. The same thing happens with bowling and even with fielding. Cricket may be tainted with snobbery, but it is surprisingly free from money scandals, which is more than can be said for some other national pasttimes. It exercises a humane and civilizing influence over Britain's national life.

The players on the village green today follow the game of their ancestors for many generations back In the form that it would be recognized to us now, cricket can be dated from about A. D. 1750, though some kind of cricket was played as far back as 600 years. A single stump at each end marked the pitch later, two stumps were used, then three. The early cumbersonme bat likewise underwent a transformation till it became the finely sprung and balanced instrument of our own time.

Cricket history will be made this year as never before. Our cousins from the Antipodes (Co-ee, Coo-ee!) are firmly determined to wrest the mythical "Ashes" from the Mother Country, and the eyes of all sportsmen will be focussed on the coming Test Matches. As I write, the initial Test Match between England and Australia is being fought to a finish, and will be decided before these lines find their way into print. The coming months way well mark a renaissance in the glorious history of the game, for there is a tide in the affairs of cricket, as of men and this is obviously a boom yea for the game, judging from new despatches from across the Nort Atlantic. And so, having demonstrated to the editor of this paper the inability of this sports scrivener to comply with the technique of news-reporting, I leave you to discover an authentic record of what actually happens at any local cricket match in some other column, probably on the sports' page. Perchance, when our local cricketers take the field this season in friendly contest with other teams, there hovers somewhere about them the great bearded shape of "W. G. Grace".

"AN ALL-ROUNDER"

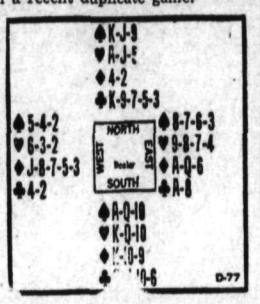
Of huge physique with a flowing beard, old "W. G." in his time was the breaker of bowlers' hearts, the terror of umpires, and the joy of an English crowd. He was great-hearted and simple, an almost legendary figure, who made English cricket and dominated it for over 40 years. A master of both bat and ball, he revolutionized all satistical standards of the game with his mamoth scores on the green and flawless greensward that stretches so invitingly under the blue skies—when it is not raining—of summer-time England.

AUCTION AND CONTRACT BRIDGE

By the World's Leading Authority
MILTON C. WORK

FINESSING AGAINST NOTHING

As a rule, it is the height of absurdity for a player sitting on the left of the dummy to finesse a suit led by his partner when the card which the finesse might capture is not in the dummy hand. In this situation, the card must be in the hand of the partner or held by the left hand adversary, and, as a rule, the finesse is not productive. However, there is one situation which is an exception to the above, and it is illustrated by the following hand played in a recent duplicate game:

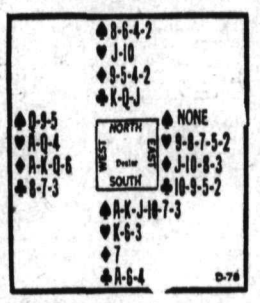


Regardless of the system of bidding used, South and North reached a contract of three No Trumps with South the Declarer.

At every table, West's opening lead was the Five of Diamonds and when the dummy was exposed, most of the East players played the Ace and led the Queen to trick 2. When that happened, South held up the King and won the third round of Diamonds with it. After that, a Club was led, East won with the Ace, but was Diamondless and, consequently the Declarer made his contract plus an extra trick.

Only a few Easts realized at trick 1 that with strong bidding by South and the high cards exposed by North and held by East, there was little chance that West had an entry outside of the Diamond suit. East could tell from West's lead of the Five and from the cards exposed in the dummy that South must have at least three Diamonds. Therefore, nothing was to be gained by the play of the Ace on the first trick, and it would permit the Declarer to hold up if, as was to be expected, he had the King. Consequently, these reasoning players finessed the Queen against nothing on the first trick. The Declarer, under the natural impression that the lead had been made from Ace-Jack, did not dare to hold up the King because it would be sacrificed if this was the case. Consequently, South won the first Diamond trick, hoping that the Diamonds were divided 4-4, and then led a Club; East's Ace took the trick, after which he led the Ace and a small Diamond. As a result the adversaries annexed four Diamonds and one Club, defeating the contract.

TOMORROW'S HAND



Should South fulfil a game contract in Spades?

TALLNESS WITHOUT WIDTH OFTEN MEANS SMALL LUNGS

A recent news item tells about a band, made up of the policemen of a large city. Among the instruments necessary for a complete band are those that require that the player blow into them—cornet horn, and others.

As you know policemen are much above the average height—5 feet 7 inches—most of them being 5 feet 10 inches to well over 6 feet.

The leader of the band records that despite the great height of policemen he had considerable difficulty securing men to play the instruments requiring good lung power.

Now this doesn't mean that big men have not the lung capacity or lung power of men of average height What it does mean however is that tallness without width of shoulders and chest is usually found in the individual with a short narrow body on a pair of long legs.

Because his body is narrow there is simply not enough room for a large pair of lungs and his lung capacity will not be large.

A new born baby will be found to have a nice round chest with the depth about equal to the width.

If the child grows in the normal way, gets outdoors and plays, and continues to play or to exercise right up to and including the teen age, by the time he is about 18 years of age the chest has widened more than it has deepened, with the result that if the depth is about eight inches, the width will be about 10 inches. By the time he is 21 or 22 years of age if the depth is eight inches the width will be about 11 inches.

The proper or ideal ratio then for an adult man is: when the depth is 7 the width should be 10; if the depth is 7½ inches, the width should be about 10¾ inches. In an adult woman the ideal relation is, when the depth is 8 inches, the width should be 10 inches.

Now you are going to have the shape of body your parents gave you, depending upon the extent to which you resemble one or both parents. Thus you may have a short body on long legs, or a long body on short legs, or you may have a body of average length on average length of legs.

If your body or that of your youngster is narrow and short whether or not the legs are long, it would be good sense to try to develop width of chest by play, singing, or breathing exercises; but the greatest of these is play or exercise as it causes the lungs to "need" or require air.

The chest with a tendency to tuberculosis is usually a narrow or immature chest—a chest that hasn't widened enough with the passing years.

Border Line Hit Was "Texas Leaguer"

By AL DEMAREE

A short time ago in an article I gave Lloyd Gregory's idea of the origin of the term "Texas leaguer," applied to pop-ups that beat the infielders and outfielders and drop to the ground for base hits. Lloyd forwards me another interesting version of the term from a former ball player, Syl. McCauley, now living at Dubuque, Ia.

"When I was playing ball with Texarkana," writes Mr. McCauley, "I was shown many times the old baseball park located at the end of State Line avenue. The boundary between Texas and Arkansas ran down the main drag and right across the ball field, cutting across about 10 feet behind second base. Now, a ball that was hit just too deep for the shortstop or second baseman to field almost invariably landed inside Texas (the entire infield was in Arkansas and the outfield in Texas) hence the term 'Texas leaguer.'"

If any readers have another version, I would be glad to hear it as the origin of this term has always been shrouded in a certain amount of mystery.

Baseball's Big Six

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Four hits in four times at bat sent "Arky" Vaughan, the Pirates slugging shortshop, back into baseball's big six yesterday as heavy hitting on all front sent averages soaring. The perfect day at the plate boosted Vaughan's batting average to .363, a tie for third place with Bill Terry in the National league's trio and only two points below the circuit leaders, Sam Leslie and Joe (Ducky) Medwick. In the American league Heinie Manush clubbed out four hits in six times at bat to add six points to his average while Gehringer gained three with as many hits in six trips to the plate.

SPORT PUFFS

CASE FOR SOFTBALL—

Softball is enjoying immense popularity practically throughout all of Canada. Everybody is playing it—old men, young men, women of all ages, girls and boys.

When some sport goes over like that, there must be some good reason for it, and it isn't hard to find the reason in this case.

Softball offers many of the thrills to the player that baseball does, and yet is not so strenuous, does not require so much skill, and, which is the greatest reason, does not require anywhere near the expenditure to outfit a team.

As a result, softball is a boon to those who, because of age or lack of skill, are unable to play baseball. It solves the girls' problem of finding a summer team sport when basketball season is over. It gives older women and men a chance to indulge in the thrill of sport competition. Kids who are unable to secure baseball equipment can round up a softball and a cheap bat and stage a game.

In other words, it is a game that everybody can, and now is, playing.

—AND AGAINST

But what about those who enjoy watching an athletic duel more than participating in one themselves? They are many. Will they get as much kick out of watching a softball game as they have out of baseball?

Probably more are playing softball in Nelson at the present time than are participating in all other sports combined. Would a Sunday game, then, draw a greater crowd of fans than turn out for baseball and hockey?

No. Softball is a player's game, not a spectator's. Unless the spectator is highly interested in one team or the other—that is unless the prize for victory is an important championship, softball fails to provide the thrills that a spectator demands.

Softball is a type of sport similar to tennis, lawn bowling, and alley bowling. The big thrill is in playing it, not watching it.

NO SEED PLANTED

Softball never will become the major sport that baseball is. Those who learn to play it secure little other benefit than the immediate pleasure of playing.

In the past a certain number of lads reached the age each year at which they started playing baseball on the sandlots. From that group many became the senior players 10 years later, or even earlier.

This year in Nelson the youngsters reaching that age have not started to play baseball. Instead they are playing softball. In other words, for the first time in years, no seed for future baseball teams is being planted here this season.

If that happens say, for the next five seasons—if softball continues to be the only diamond sport available to youngsters around 10 to 12 years old—the day will arrive when the only baseball players in Nelson will be men of 35 and 40 years old, who leaned before softball became popular.

NOT GOOD TRAINING

It isn't as thought softball were good training for baseball. More authoritative investigators than your scribe have found that the boy who plays only softball during the earlier years, finds it more difficult, in his 'teens, to learn baseball than if he had played neither softball nor baseball before.

Handling the large softball without gloves, requires a different knack than handling the small baseball with a glove, while a boy may become a "heavy" hitter in softball and be helpless at bat in baseball.

Softball deserves to be popular, but it should not be mistaken for a substitute for baseball. Both sport should thrive in Nelson.

But the only way to save baseball, is to provide the youngsters with the same opportunity to play it as is provided them to play softball. That means provide them with the equipment, foster their interest in the hard-ball game, and give them places to play.

PHILIP CHAT IS OVERHEARD

Thought to Be Cause of Rumpus Over Stop Owls

TRAIL, B.C., June 19.—The renewed tumultous outbreak concerning the stop owls on the Columbia river bridge at the city council Monday night seems to have come about as the result of words spoken by Patrick Philip, deputy minister of public works, in a conversation with a Trail citizen in front of a local cafe.

Mr. Philip asked the man if the city would object if he wrote and asked if the government could put slow signs in place of the stop signs on the bridge, as he was of the opinion that they were holding up traffic.

At the meeting of the council the puzzle for the city fathers was how the public knew of Mr. Philip's proposal before the council was notified. It is probable that someone overheard the conversation and that is just how it got out.

It is understood that a letter is forthcoming from Mr. Philip around about July 1 and its contents may be learned at the next council meeting on July 2 or 3.

TRAIL, June 20.—"We, the jury, find from the evidence given, that Alfred Ogg came to his death on Saturday, June 16, 1934, at about 10:30 p.m. at Floyd's corner on the Schofield highway, between Trail and Rossland as a result of a collision of the car Alfred Ogg was driving towards Rossland and a car driven by W. S. Aitken towards Trail, B.C.

"We, the jury, find that the death of Alfred Ogg was accidental and exonerate W. S. Aitken of any blame connected therewith.

"We, the jury, recommend that a line be painted in the center of the Schofield highway between Rossland and Trail to define the two traffic lines, and, we also recommend, that a police officer patrol the said highway."

Such was the verdict rendered by the jury following the inquest into the death of the deceased in the city hall Wednesday afternoon.

Star witness of the accident was Roy P. Cooper of Rossland, who was commended by Coroner Dr. J. B. Thom on the splendid way in which he presented the information.

TELLS OF INCIDENT

Cooper, a smelterman, told the jury that it is customary for him to ride to work on a motorcycle from Rossland to the smelter and on Saturday night he had left Rossland at about 10:30 p.m. and reaching the water hole noticed a green car ahead of him. He retarded his speed to let the car turn at the water hole curve and passed it. On reaching the next turn in the road where the accident occurred, he said that he had barely got around the turn when a car passed him. He was well over on the concrete strip at the edge of the pavement and the car was very close to him, closer to the left hand side of the road than was shown in the photographs taken by "Doc" Postill on Sunday morning following the accident. Corporal Johnston of the provincial police, Trail, had marked the wheel marks of the car going over the bank and the other car which it hit, with chalk, so that they were clearly defined in the photos. Cooper said that the car that passed him was going at a fast speed, probably between 45 and 50 miles per hour and that as he knew of this car which he had just overtaken, coming down, he expected an accident. In a few seconds he heard a crash and saw the green car turned around on the side of the road. He saw men getting out of the green car and asked for a flashlight. They had none so he tried to turn the headlight of the motorcycle on the car down the bank, but the bank was too steep to be of any avail. Cooper stated that he stopped the next car coming down the road and instructed the occupants to call a doctor and the police.

CHILDREN CRYING

Going down the bank he saw the three kiddies (Fred 10, Doris 6, and Percy 4) sitting on a rock and that they were crying but there didn't seem much seriously wrong with them.

Cooper stated that the little girl said to him:

"'Mister, don't bother about me, is my mother alive? I'm awfully glad Mama is alive. I hope when I wake up in the morning that this is all a dream.'"

The motorcyclist then stated that he saw Mr. Ogg lying under the car. He couldn't discern any breathing, felt his pulse, there was none; listened for his heart-beat, but there was none. Looked at his eyes, so told someone nearby that he figured that there wasn't much that could be done for him. He next went to the lady (Mrs. Ogg) and washed out cuts in her face with water, then covered her with a piece of the top of the car and his coat, then went up to the road to make sure the ambulance was coming.

DID HIS BEST

It is clearly shown from Mr. Cooper's evidence that he had done the best he could to assist the injured at this accident and is worthy of commendation.

H. F. Tiedgle stated that on the evening of Saturday, June 16, he was returning from Nelson to Trail and his car was the first on the Castlegar ferry. He knew the drivers of the three cars behind. He told the jury that as he was first getting off the ferry he figured on stepping on it to keep ahead of the others so as not to have to swallow a lot of dust.

After the ferry had been about 100 yards out, he recalled, it had gone back for a few more cars. Mr. Teidgie stated that he travelled between 45 and 50 miles per hour and kicked up a great cloud of dust. When he was parallel to the railway track at Blueberry a car went by him at a terrific speed and he asked his wife who that crazy driver was, and she replied Mr. Ogg. That was between 7:30 and 8:00 p.m., he said.

IN SECOND GEAR

W. S. Aitken, driver of the other car involved in the accident, told of leaving Rossland at about 10:20 p.m. and coming down the hill in second gear. He stated that he and the party with him had been to a football game in Rossland. On the way down until he met with the accident he said seven or eight cars passed him but he overtook none. When he saw the headlights of the approaching auto with which he collided, Mr. Aitken stated he gave it as much of the road as he could without going over the bank. He felt the bang at the back of his car and after his had swung around after the impact he saw the car that had hit his going over the bank. He said he must have been going between 45 and 50 miles an hour. The engine was roaring, he stated.

Aitken could no idea how the other car went 71 feet after the collision before going over the bank. Questioned by Sergeant C. G. Barber of the provincial police, Aitken said that he had had a few beers that day but only one small drink of hard stuff. M. Thompson of the Union beer parlor and W. Molisky of the Kootenay beer parlor each told the jury that they had served Mr. and Mrs. Ogg beer Saturday evening prior to the accident and each said he noticed Mr. Ogg had had several drinks.

McLim told of meeting Mr. Ogg at the Meakin beer parlor and having one beer with him and that they left Trail shortly after nine.

On being questioned by Sergeant Barber, McLim could not recall what the speedometer of the car read before the accident or whether or not the car was on the right side of the road. He said he was talking with Mr. Ogg and had not noticed these particulars. He also could not state how the car left the road after the collision. All he remembered was that he received a knock on the head when the impact occurred and next he remembered rolling down the bank. He could recall nothing after that.

LUNG PUNCTURE

As to how the Ogg car, going up hill, went 71 feet before going over the bank and the Aitken car coming down hill only going 21 feet before stopping, could not be told by any of the witnesses. Dr. J. H. Palmer who had been called to the scene of the accident told of attending the injured and performing the autopsy. He said he had found in the post mortem a number of abrasions on the body, a large one on the left of the abdomen and smaller abrasions on the left and right leg and on the lobe of the left ear. The abrasions were mostly on the front of the body, he stated. The left chest was full of cuts and the sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth and tenth ribs were fractured about two inches from the backbone. Fragments of the ribs next to the backbone were driven into the left lung causing severe hemorrhage. He gave as the cause of the death, hemorrhage due to rupture of the left lung.

Corporal J. F. Johnston of the provincial police gave evidence of attending the accident and how the injured were taken care of. Gerald Ham, still in the Rossland hospital, and Mrs. Ogg in the Trail-Talanac hospital, who although improving considerably, were unable to be called on as witnesses. However, the jury considered the evidence given sufficient to arrive at a verdict.

Large Fish Seen From Court-House

Some large fish, possibly a Kamlooops trout or a char, was seen breaking water repeatedly in the area between W. W. Powell company's board fence and the old C.P.R. freight trestle, late Wednesday afternoon, the big splashes beng clearly visible from the windows of the public works department on the second floor of the court house.

On one occasion, possibly when it was chasing some smaller fish, it made a long line of splashes in rapid succession, in an easterly direction not far outside the Powell fence.

Fined for Passing Halted Street Car

Pleading guilty in city police court Wednesday to a charge of driving past a street car while it was stationary for the purpose of discharging and taking on passengers, Alan Smith paid a fine of $12.50 imposed by Magistrate William Brown.

The charge was based on an occurence of Sunday, when Mr. Smith passed a stationary street car on Baker street, about to turn up Stanley street.

SALARIES OF HUDSON'S BAY COMPANY EXECUTIVES MODERATE SAYS AUDITOR

Company Has Better Rate of Mark-Ups; Was in Red Ink Three Years

OTTAWA, June 20—Dividends of 20, 30, 40 and 50 per cent were paid by the Hudson's Bay Co., between 1910 and 1930, the parliamentary mass buying committee learned from one of its auditors, Thomas Weir.

The 50 per cent dividend was in 1913. In 1930 17.5 per cent was paid.

Since 1930 no dividends have been paid to its shareholders; most of whom live in Britain. The company has no funded debt.

The company paid dividends from its fur trading and department stores as well as from land received from the Dominion when the company surrendered its claim to what are now the prairie provinces. Two million of the 7,000,000 acres thus received are still unsold.

BUSINESS OF STORES

Relative importance of the department stores was indicated by this tabulation of sales of each store for the year ending Jan. 31, 1934.

Winnipeg	$7,600,000
Vancouver	6,000,000
Calgary	2,600,000
Victoria	1,900,000
Edmonton	1,900,000
Saskatoon	1,100,000
Kamloops	277,000
Nelson	238,000
Vernon	219,000
Yorkton	171,000

Some idea of the growth of the company may be judged from the fact its assets increased from £1,606,115 in 1900 to £12,555,100 in 1929 and £10,470,900 in 1933. This increase was attributed largely to department store expansion.

THREE YEARS OF RED

The company as a whole had a net surplus of $977,400 in 1925; $982,000 in 1926; $3,398,783 in 1927; $3,171,381 in 1928, and $1,879,928 in 1929. Then came three years of red ink, $2,935,400 in 1930; $4,261,400 in 1931 and $1,061,500 in 1932. The company returned to a profit last year, $403,400.

The store division of the company has been a constant money-maker. Before depreciation was charged, the stores have made money every year but once since 1925, red in being used in 1931.

"I have seen the list of executive salaries and they are quite moderate," the auditor told the committee.

STORE SALES

In all stores, sales increased from $4,592,000 in 1911 to a peak of $35,810,000 in 1930. There has been a steady decrease in the last four years, until a total of $22,114,000 was reached in 1933.

The gross profit to cost of sales after adding buying office charges and costs of alterations was 36.98 per cent in 1929; 35.77 in 1930; 35.06 in 1932 and 36.33 in 1933.

CAPITALIZATION

These percentages," said the auditor, "seem to indicate that the reduction in profits in the years ending Jan. 31, 1930, 1931 and 1932 were partly accounted for at least by a reducing scale of maintained mark-ups as well as the reduction in volume of sales, and that in the years ending Jan. 31, 1933 and 1934, a somewhat better ratio of mark-ups has been obtained, which probably accounts to some extent at least for the improved operating results in those two years."

In 1863 the capital stock was £2,000,000 in £20 ordinary shares. This was reduced by repayments over a period from 1870 to 1904 to $1,000,000 in £10 shares.

The capitalization of the company at Jan. 31 last, said the accountant, was: Five per cent cumulative preference shares of £5 each amounting to £2,000,000 all authorized, subscribed and full paid; and £3,000,000 ordinary stock at a par value of £1 each. Of this ordinary stock, £2,492,224 were subscribed and fully paid.

Dividends of five per cent on the preferred stock were paid regularly up to July 2, 1930, with none paid since. The last dividend was also paid that year on the common shares.

SHEEP CREEK NOW HUMMING

Work the Bonanza; to Build Mill at Yankee Girl

The Sheep creek camp, which has been a focal point of mining interest this spring, is now a hive of activity, according to B. T. O'Grady, resident mining engineer, who has just returned from a survey of that district. The output has been stepped up, larger crews employed and, with the possibilities of the construction of four or five mills in the district this summer, there is more ground for optimism than ever before.

Among the properties not already mentioned on previous occasions is the Bonanza on Wolfe creek where a nice start is being made. The property owned by Joe Reid and M. C. Donaldson of Salmo, is under lease and bond to S. McClay, president of the Vancouver harbor commission.

A mill site has been surveyed at the Yankee Girl, most prolific custom shipper to the Trail smelter. The Gold Belt, another Sheep creek property, has ore ready for shipment.

PEG FUTURES IN TAILSPIN

WINNIPEG, June 20 (CP).—With barely a trace of foreign demand in evidence and the Chicago wheat market lagging, futures prices turned downwards on the Winnipeg grain exchange today for net losses of 1⅛ to 1¾ cents.

Closing figures on July wheat were 76⅛, October finished at 78⅝ and December at 79¾ cents. Trade volume was small and operations were of an uninteresting character. Offerings were not especially heavy but with only the narrowest buying power in the pit it was a simple matter to depress prices.

N.Y. MARKET DRIFTS DOWN

By FREDERICK GARDNER
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, June 20 (AP)—Speculative initiative was still lacking on the bull side of stocks today and the market drifted downward in slow trading.

A break of nearly three cents a bushel in wheat and weakness in utility stocks discouraged support of the share market.

Liquidation was small, however, and volume in the stock exchange shrank to 548,535 shares.

National Distillers dropped nearly 2 points below 24. Two recent weak spots, Freeport Texas and Westinghouse Air Brake, rallied to close fractionally higher, partly on short covering.

JAR TOPS IN FOR CANNING

Strike Ties Up Dried Fruits; Eggs Up Two Cents

A $2365 consignment of fruit jar fittings, tops and rings, has been received by the local wholesalers for the summer canning demands. The cost represents the actual cost of articles, duty, tax, and other charges, but not shipping charges. This year jar fittings will be considerable lower in price as no exchange is charged. It will mean approximately 43 to the gross difference.

With San Francisco, Seattle and other western shipping points tied up in a strike, the city is now undergoing practically a famine in the dried fruit lines, apricots, prunes, etc. Corn beef is another commodity tied up but some brands were stocked before the strike and there is sufficient to supply the present demands. Tinned goods are mostly secured in eastern Canada and at the coast now and the tie up is working no hardship in this line.

Eggs, still fairly scarce, were marked up two cents during the past week. Bran and shots advanced $2 last week.

WORKS PROGRAM HELPS MARKET

TORONTO, June 20 (CP)—Strength of construction issues on the Montreal stock exchange today reflected announcement of the government's public works program.

Cement common gained 1⅛ at 8¾ and the preferred 3 points at 45. Foundation company advanced 2 points at 16 and Dominion Bridge 2¼ at 33¼.

Unsettlement in Wall street brought Consolidated Smelters down 3 points to 150. Nickel declined 65 at 26.05. Brazilian, Canadian Industrial Alcohol A, C.P.R., Gurd, Hollinger, Power corporation and St. Lawrence corporation eased fractions.

ANGLICANS PLAN FOR SYNOD WORK

MONTREAL, (CP) — Preparations are being made for the 13th triennial meeting of the Anglican General synod which will take place here Sept. 12 to 21. Many of the 26 bishops of the Upper House as well as about 130 clerical members of the Lower House of the general synod are expected here for the meeting.

The first service will be in Christ Church Cathedral where the sermon will be preached by the Rt. Rev. W. T. Manning, Bishop of New York. In the evening Bishop Ralph Sherman of Calgary will address the meeting.

The last general synod was held in Toronto. Arising out of legislation passed at the Toronto meeting one of the most important matters to come before the synod this year will be confirmation of the canon law regarding the general pension schemes. This has to do with a central pension fund which will be common to all dioceses of the church through the Dominion when accepted by all the synods.

Presiding over the Upper House, which is composed of bishops only, will be Archbishop C. D. Worrell of Halifax, primate of the Anglican church in Canada. In the Lower House the sessions will open with Archdeacon F. C. C. Heathcote of Vancouver, in the chair.

LONDON (CP)— It takes the whole time of 247 policemen to "shepherd" London's children to and from school, according to Lord Trenchard, commissioner of police, who says it should be considered whether some other form of protection cannot be devised.

START ON MILL, KOOTENAY BELLE

A. H. Green Company Has Contract for Work

Work of a preliminary nature has started at the Kootenay Belle mine for the construction of a 50-ton mill. The A. H. Green company of Nelson has the contract and J. G. McNiven of Kimberley, who designed the mill, will superintend its construction.

Work commenced Tuesday on the excavation for the base and the actual erection of the building will be carried on during the next two months depending upon the arrival of the machinery. Some time ago the A. H. Green company completed new bunk houses at the property to accommodate a larger crew which will be taken on when actual building work starts. At present about 32 are employed at the mine.

2 YACHTS ARE OUT OF TRIM

Disabled in the Test Race Off Newport; Rainbow Sails

ABOARD THE U.S.C.G. CUTTER ARGO, OFF NEWPORT, R.I., June 20 (AP).—A race which was intended to be the first real brush between the three contenders for the honor of defending the America's cup met with a series of reversals at the start today. Charles Francis Adams' Yankee was disabled in an accident to her mainsail and Frederick A. Prince's Weetamoee lost her spinnaker.

The two yachts and Harold S. Vanderbilt's candidate, Rainbow, drew to the starting line after the race committee announced that today's race would be three-cornered between the three actual contenders. The committee, in the previous trials, had matched two of the contenders and the remaining contender with the non-contending Vanitie, a former cup boat.

A 16-knot, northwest breeze prevailed, and, as the yachts were making ready, the headboard pulled out of the Yankee's mainsail, disabling her.

Rainbow and Weetamoe made away however, but immediately after the start, Weetamoe lost the use of her spinnaker when the breeze ripped the sail loose.

Weetamoe led Rainbow by one minute at the first 8½ mile leeward mark, a quarter of the distance.

The relative positions of the two yachts were little changed at the 17-mile mark, half the distance, and Weetamoe was leading Rainbow by 54 seconds.

GREYHOUNDS ADD CASTLEGAR SCALPS

Take Their Hosts Into Camp to Tune of 48-19

The Greyhounds, who have been upsetting the equilibruim of ladies' softball teams on excursions into the district in disconcerting regularity, rode into the Castlegar camp recently and added more scalps to their belts, in a game which they took 48-19.

The Nelson ladies started the gameout in a big way and, with Beatrice Lutkovitch and Nellie Leslie hitting for the circuit, piled up 16 runs. They rested on their laurels in the second again went on the rampage for 6, 8, 1, 3 and finally nine runs. Although circling the diamond pretty much at will, they were not as efficient in the field and allowed the guests to score in all but one inning, 4, 3, 2, 4, 4 and 2 respectively.

Gladys Jarrett and Lena Limacher did mound duty for the Greyhounds and Hope McGauley for the Castlegar nine.

Dora Davidson collected four of her team's runs, Beatrice Lutkovitch scored seven runs, Gladys Jarrett seven, Nellie Leslie six, Madge Postlewhaite six, and Iris Johanson six.

MORE ABOUT GARDINER

matically come into effect August 1, would place educational matters in the hands of a commission, and "take education out of politics"—as Premier Anderson contended. But it was diametrically opposed to the Liberal policy, said Mr. Gardiner, and he was looking into the legal aspects of the legislation to see if a special session would be necessary to preclude its going into effect.

RESULT IS BLOW TO BENNETT

The election result was seen by Mr. Gardiner as "a clear indication of the opposition of the people of this province to the trade policy of the Bennett government at Ottawa." The move to Liberalism in Ontario served to add further weight to the contention and though the premier-elect would not suggest what the federal government should do, he clearly intimated he believed it only a question of time before the Conservative government of R. B. Bennett would be replaced by a Liberal regime.

HAS WIDE EXPERIENCE

The campaign had been clear and the policy of the Liberal party to enforce economy in administration, effect reconstruction and to improve the trade relations of the Dominion with other countries had been clearly approved.

Mr. Gardiner was born at Farquhar, Ont., educated in the province and after teaching school there and in the west was elected to the Saskatchewan legislature in 1914. He retained his seat in each successive election and in 1922 entered the Dunning ministry as minister of highways, labor and industries. When Hon. Charles A. Dunning left the premiership to join the federal cabinet in 1926 Mr. Gardiner took the office. His administration was succeeded after the 1929 election by the Conservative Cooperative government.

tive will hold a heat in the legislature. The Conservatives, who, under Premier J. T. M. Anderson, formed the biggest bloc in the Cooperative government that reigned from September, 1929, until defeat yesterday, were entirely eliminated in the balloting.

FARMER-LABOR OPPOSITION

The five Farmer-Labor party members elected, although their leader, M. J. Coldwell, Regina school teacher, was beaten, will form the official opposition. It will be the second official opposition to be formed by Cooperative Commonwealth Federation forces, the party making its first advance in British Columbia nine months ago.

Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Liberal leader, was the only one of the three party leaders to win a seat in the balloting, and tonight he was preparing to form a new government. Mr. Gardiner was premier prior to the Conservative Cooperative victory in 1929 and his resumption of power shortly will again give the province the Liberal administration which it had from 1905, when the province was formed, until the defeat in 1929.

NO ANNOUNCEMENT EXPECTED

The problem of forming a government was the first task undertaken by Mr. Gardiner but announcement of his cabinet is not expected for several days yet. Neither is he expected to definitely announce whether a fall session of the legislature will be held but convening of the house was anticipated for the purpose of dealing with agricultural problems.

One of the outstanding victories of the election was scored in Regina where P. M. Anderson, K.C. long a leader of the party but never before a member of the legislature, topped the poll. Mr. Anderson, it was indicated in party circles today, might join the Gardiner cabinet but there was no indication what post he might take.

T. C. Davis, Prince Albert, a former attorney-general, was expected to be given his old post and Dr. J. M. Uhrich, Rosthern, was expected to be again selected for the portfolio of health. Other cabinet prospects were W. J. Patterson, R. S. M. Parker, George Spence, J. W. Estey, Gordon Taggart, and Charles Dunn, as speaker.

The average for 172 men was $9.39.

Of the 172 men, 126 were married with 401 dependents.

Eighty-two men received less than $8 a week.

There were two accidents in one week—one operator lost a finger—from the owner of the factory leaning over the shoulders of his workers, shouting at them to speed up their work.

50% GET LESS THAN MINIMUM

Fifty per cent of the men and boys in the plant last October received less than the minimum wage set for inexperienced women. (The Quebec law, like Ontario's, does not touch men).

One investigator asked a man how he existed on his wages. The reply was that four families lived in one house. The man himself ate one piece of bread for his lunch.

"But how can these people live?" asked Sam Factor (Lib.-Toronto). "If I were the executive of a department store I certainly would enquire about such terrible wages."

The auditor told of conditions in another plant were 96 per cent of the employees were paid below the legal minimum. In one department of 55 girls, only two made the minimum wage and boys received $2.50 and $3 for a week of 52 hours. In this factory, 63 per cent of the men were paid 10 cents an hour or less.

$1.50 FOR 10 HOURS

There was an audible gasp in the committee room when the auditor told of work being done in homes by adults and children. About $1.50 would be paid for jobs requiring 10 hours of adult work although it was impossible to say what percentage was done by children.

Another plant, dating back to 1898, discharged women workers who could not earn legal minimums but, on the other hand, paid extremely low wages to men. In the two weeks ending April 28, 1934, the company had 29 men and boys earning less than 40 cents an hour and whose weekly average was $2.85. One-half the men in the plant earned less than $6, the minimum for inexperienced women. The average for all men, excluding foremen, was $6.71 a week and for women $7.37.

No Trials to Be Held in Alberta

CALGARY, June 20 (CP)—Because of lack of sufficient entries British Empire track and field trials will not be held in Alberta, June 23 as planned, according to an announcement from J. W. Jenkinson, chairman of the committee of the Alberta branch of the Amateur Athletic union of Canada.

The 12 athletes who filled in entry form may have tests arranged for them to determine whether they may compete in the Canadian trials at Hamilton next month by applying to B. W. Bellamy, of Wetaskiwan, secretary of the Alberta branch A. A. U. of C.

Kormoey Island, where the other passengers and crew were taken off.

Some of those rescued said two lifeboats capsized, one by breakage of her lowering gear and the other by coming to near the vessel's screw.

The SS. Kronprinsesse Maerthea also reached Stavanger with the first of those rescued from the Dresden, including some of the ship's officers.

The Dresden was abandoned by officers and crew tonight and probably will sink. The passengers and most of the crew will be taken to Germany tomorrow from Stavanger aboard the liner Stuttgart.

PANIC GRIPS PASSENGERS

Panic gripped the passengers when the 14,000-ton vessel struck violently, ripping a huge hole in her hull, and listed alarmingly to port.

Over to starboard and back to port she listed and 100 terror stricken guests of the cruise jumped overboard without waiting for lifeboats to be launched. The captain of the vessel, after flashing an S.O.S. call, was able to beach the vessel on Karmoey island.

CAPTAIN LAST TO LEAVE

As panic reigned aboard the big vessel which only a few minutes before the crash had been a scene of vacation merriment, the captain calmly ordered out the lifeboats and superintended backing the Dresden off under her own power and proceeding cautiously to Karmoey.

True to the traditions of the sea, the captain was one of two men last to leave the stricken steamer as she perched precariously on her island berth. The other one was the wireless operator who had stayed at his post dispatching dramatic calls for assistance.

A thick mist hung over the fjord as the Dresden plowed toward her destination. Reports indicated the rock upon which she struck was submerged, although this had not been verified by ship's officers.

The crew were ordered to leave the ship when she was obviously in imminent danger of sinking.

Der Yet Fong, of Nelson, has offered a reward of $100 to any person finding and delivering to the authorities, the body of Der Ming, Chinese cook, who disappeared from the C.P.R. bridge gang car at Poplar, June 9. Der Ming is thought to have drowned in the Lardeau river. Der Ming was also known as Yip Kwong Ming, and Der Quong Ming.

BOIL KAYOES JACK DEMPSEY

Also Rests Nerves After "Run Around" Over Baer Win

NEW YORK, June 20 (AP)—A boil on his finger and too many friends today sent Jack Dempsey to Polyclinic hospital for treatment of the swollen digit and a rest for his weary nerves.

Since Dempsey's protege, Max Baer, dethroned Primo Carnera as the world's heavyweight champion, its been a dizzy round of parties and handshaking for the famous Manassa Mauler and the merry whirl finally wore him down.

"I came here for a rest as well as treatment for this bad paw," Dempsey told the Associated Press. He held up for inspection the puffed up right hand, which he had been soaking in a huge basin of antiseptic solution on a table beside his chair.

"You know, ever since Baer knocked out Carnera I haven't been able to get any sleep or rest because of friends and acquaintances coming up to my apartment, and my doctor wanted to localize this infection before it spread."

Dempsey had the comfort of his wife, the former Hannah Williams of "cheerful little earful" fame, who soon is to become a mother.

Dempsey had to undergo hospital treatment for a similar complaint three years ago.

Amoebic Dysentery Not a New Disease

Has Appeared in Canada and Is Traced to Water, Milk and Ice

CALGARY, June 20 (CP).—Source of the amoebic dysentery cases in Montreal district seems likely to lie in contamination of water, ice and milk, Dr. J. C. Meakins, of Montreal, told delegates to to the 65th annual convention of the Canadian Medical association here today.

Dr. Meakins, who is physician in chief, department of medicine and director of the university clinic of the Royal Victoria hospital, Montreal, read a paper based on the results of work done at the hospital since 1932. Of 294 patients examined 42 cases were found. Neither age nor sex affected the incidence, sufferers ranging from six months to 69 years of age and almost equally divided between males and females.

36 CASES IN CANADA

In at least 36 cases, Dr. Meakins reported, the disease must have been contracted in Canada. He declared there is no epidemic in Canada or in Montreal and there is no cause for concern. There have been proved cases of the disease during the past 40 years.

Speaking on resistance to experimental tumor, Sir Frederick G. Banting, of the University of Toronto, and well known as the discoverer of insulin, said the fundamental principles of tumor growths are the same in animals as in man, and it is hoped through animal experimentation to find a specific treatment for human cancer.

Because cancer of the breast may reach an advanced stage without causing pain, most women fail to consult their physicians in the early stage, Dr. Max Cutler, distinguished cancer authority of Chicago said in reading a paper on the subject. Cancer in general and cancer of the breast in particular are not sudden events but as a rule results of a series of changes which may have begun many years before. Radiation treatment of the disease, he warned, is even today in a state of evolution, and until the evidence is more adequate, radical surgical removal of the breast combined with radiation must remain the procedure of choice in all cancers of the breast.

Dr. R. C. Wallace, president of the university of Alberta, delivered the address at the annual dinner tonight. The convention concludes Friday.

RODEO 'GETTING IT IN THE NECK'

Tex Austin, in England, Declares He's Being "Persecuted"

LONDON, June 20 (AP)—Troubles continued to pile up today for Tex Austin, promoter of "the world's gentlest rodeo."

Already accused of terrifying a steer in violation of laws against cruelty to animals, Austin today was notified of a new action against him because he staged a charity performance of his genteel rodeo last Sunday.

The new action was instituted by the Lord's Day Observance society, which seeks to collect $500 from Austin and $1000 from the National Sporting club.

The suits were instituted by H. H. Martin, secretary of the Lord's Day society, who took a day off from devotional duties Sunday to see Austin's show.

"If I obtain judgment I should not think of touching a penny of the money collected, but should hand over all amounts without any deduction whatever to hospitals which refuse to accept contributions from Sunday amusements," Martin said. His purpose, he added, is to indicate the religious character of the Lord's day. The case will be heard by the King's bench division.

Austin, much discouraged today, indicated he is about through with his effort to popularize rodeos in Great Britain.

"We are being persecuted, and I don't know what the folks back home will think about it," he said. "We are resigned to taking a big financial loss due to obstacles thrown in our path, but we are going to fight for our rights in the courts.

The Sunday performance attracted only a few hundred spectators.

MORE ABOUT HEPBURN PLAN

arrives tomorrow to build up a Liberal cabinet to take over the reins of government, back in the grasp of the party after a lapse of 29 years.

As the 37-year-old Liberal leader, "tired but happy," rested at his home near St. Thomas today after a strenuous campaign climaxed with a smashing victory, discussion of the overwhelming downfall of Conservative representatives turned to eager speculation as to the next steps.

IN OFFICE IN THREE WEEKS

It appeared that the new regime, first Liberal administration since 1905, would not be in office until three weeks from now, or about July 10. Premier George S. Henry and his ministers, most of them defeated, will clean up their desks before tendering their resignations to the lieutenant-governor. Mr. Hepburn will complete his cabinet slate and formulate the initial program before taking over.

Date of the advent of beer by the glass; possibility of an early session of the legislature to deal with unemployment and relief, as promised by Mr. Hepburn; the fate of heads of 23 boards and commissions which are to be revised, and like questions, occupied the minds of the electorate after their record-breaking turnout.

MAY BE RECOUNTED

Aftermath of the Liberal avalanche which swept Conservatives out of every seat west and north of Toronto and took six of tory Toronto's 13 ridings, were suggestions of recounts in a few seats where the vote was close, and a few unofficial pleas to Conservative headquarters for consideration of a convention to choose a new leader and revise the platform.

Mr. Hepburn has made a tentative start on his cabinet but made it plain today that he will not select the slate properly until he reaches Toronto some time on Thursday. He has named H. C. Nixon of Brant, Duncan Marshall of Peel and A. W. Roebuck of Toronto Bellwoods as definitely slated for the cabinet—probably Nixon for provincial secretary, Roebuck for the attorney-generalship, and Marshall definitely for the ministry of agriculture, a post he held in Alberta some years ago.

SINCLAIR FOR SPEAKER

W. E. N. Sinclair, who was replaced in the party leadership by Mr. Hepburn in 1930, and this year replaced in the house leadership by Dr. George McQuibban, was prominently mentioned as the next speaker of the legislature.

Dr. McQuibban was suggested as chairman of the Ontario hydro-electric commission in succession to Hon. J. P. Moore, one of the Conservative ministers defeated.

All the necessary machinery to put beer on sale by the glass has been drawn up by the Conservative government's liquor commission appointees; what modifications may be made in licence fees and such details remained to be decided. If the Liberals are not sworn in until the second week of July the beer sale will of course be held up at least until then. The Liberals have already said they would put it into effect.

BRUCE TALKS WITH THOMAS

LONDON, June 20 (CP cable).—Preliminary to conversations which must be held in the immediate future, Stanley Bruce, Australian high commissioner in London, today had an interview with J. H. Thomas, secretary for dominions, discussing the procedure to be taken in connection with the expiry of the meat clauses of the Ottawa trade pacts at the end of the month. It was not stated whether any decisions as to procedure had been arrived at.

No Naval Plans Are Unfolded

LONDON, June 20 (AP) — After two fruitless sessions, British and United States delegates to the preparatory naval discussions here today assigned technical experts to work on detailed proposals for the 1935 conference.

The british again today failed to present any plan for the 1935 naval conference, although Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald gave the United States delegates a long outline of his nation's problems, stressing Great Britain's "enormous responsibility."

Orient Holds Better Feeling for Canada

VANCOUVER, June 20 (CP)—Better feeling toward Canada and Canadian products is reported by Col. T. A. Hiam, former assistant to the president, Canadian National railways, who arrived in Vancouver today on the liner Empress of Japan, after what he termed a "scouting" trip to the orient.

Colonel Hiam will resume residence in Vancouver where he was located in his railways position.

Verdun Cooper and Paul Brooks to Make Bid

Two Nelson athletes will make a bid this Friday to qualify for the junior olympics and to give Nelson representation in the annual provincial meet which is to be held at the coast on July 5. They are Paul Brooks and Verdun Cooper.

Brooks will run the quarter and half mile and Cooper the 100 and 220 yards. The qualifying races will be held Friday night and E. Collinson has been asked to act as time keeper.

This year the junior olympics will be held under the auspices of the British Columbia Track and Field association instead of the Vancouver Province.

LITTLE SPENT IN CANCER RESEARCH

Is Only Hope for Control of Dread Disease Medical Men Are Told

CALGARY, June 20 (CP).—Less than half a million dollars—approximately the receipts of a world prize fight or a big league baseball game—is spent annually in the entire world on the cancer problem, yet in research lies the only hope of real progress and control of the disease, in the opinion of Dr. Max Cutler, eminent cancer specialist of Chicago, expressed in an interview here today. Dr. Cutler is here for the annual convention of the Canadian Medical association.

The lavity as a whole has not come to an appreciation of the magnitude of the problem which can be solved only by early recognition, resting first with the patient and second with the physician, Dr. Cutler said.

Speaking of his work at the Michael Reese hospital in Chicago the distinguished surgeon said they were fortunate in having the largest supply of radium of any general hospital in the world. But since distance was such a great factor in treatment, it was imperative that many small centers be established. He had been much impressed with the way in which the Canadian government had established units He thought it typical of the thoroughness of the British.

"We are very happy to see such men as Sir Frederick Banting interested in cancer research," Dr. Cutler remarked. "We need help such as his."

serve that no blood stains were to be seen on the paper in which the parts were wrapped. This was later found to be the result of boiling the body in oil, and only grease marks were found on the paper.

COOKED, SMOKED

After its cooking, investigators revealed, the torso and the legs were smoked. They thought it probable this part of the crime, at least, was carried out in one of the fish curing plants along the seacoast, near here.

An appeal to the public for assistance stated that it is of utmost importance the identity of the woman be established within the next 24 hours, but there was no attempt tonight that material progress had been made.

The body of a still born baby which had been in Brighton since February, was discovered in a search of all unclaimed luggage, but police saw no connection between the two crimes.

An autopsy indicated that the woman was about 30 years old, instead of 40 as at first believed, and that she would have become a mother within five months.

LITTLE THEATER PLANNED IN TRAIL

OTTAWA, June 20 (CP)—The special concession to Lloyd's proposed in the British and Canadian insurance bill was eliminated in the house of commons today when the bill was in committee. The provision was the subject of strong protest by Canadian insurance companies when the bill was before the banking and commerce committee of the senate.

The section eliminated would have enabled Lloyd's to obtain a Dominion charter without making a deposit. The bill as amended, was given third reading.

Visitors Admire Nelson Women

It has often been said of Nelson by visitors that its women and girls are as smartly and well dressed as any in Canada. Walk along Baker street this afternoon and you'll agree that the statement is true.

The reasons are the good taste of the women and girls of Nelson and the high class clothing carried in Nelson retail stores.

There are many factors in Nelson's success as a community. The pride the people take in their appearance is one of them.
