B. C. HOPES WEED OUT UNEMPLOYED IN RELIEF CAMPS

5000 Single Men Are Non-Residents of Province

VICTORIA, June 9.—By a process of weeding out, the provincial government expects to reduce the population of its road camps for unemployed by many hundreds during the next few weeks, it was announced at the legislative buildings today. Approximately 5000 single men are in camp now, and many of them are not British Columbia residents. It is hoped to eliminate residents of other provinces who should be able to find work on the prairies during the grain season, the government believes.

In addition the government is employing some 6000 British Columbia residents who live in their own homes and work on the roads by the day.

Nearly 12,000 men are thus being maintained by the government, at a cost averaging $30 a month, including an allowance of $750 a month for men in camps, a total relief bill of some $360,000 a month. Of this the federal government bears half the total, apart from cost of gasoline and such incidentals used in road work. Unemployment at the moment is thus costing the provincial government nearly $200,000 a month, and it is believed the amount during the summer at least can be reduced substantially. As against this cost the province is securing a large amount of road improvement which it could not afford otherwise, and existing highways are being well maintained at the lowest expense on record.

As part of the economy program, the White Rock camp will be closed immediately, and many of its inmates moved to the transcanada highway through the Fraser valley. As construction of the proposed Ladner bridge has been delayed, the government will reduce work on roads approaching the bridge site.

Party of Flying Boats Reach Prince Albert

PRINCE RUPERT, B. C., June 9—(CP).—Headed by J. H. Eastman, a party of five Detroit mining men arrived here in their flying boats at 4:10 p. m. this afternoon after a two-hour flight from Hazelton.

The flyers, each piloting his own plane, are en route to northern British Columbia and Alaska points to investigate gold properties. They arrived at Hazelton yesterday after a flight from Edmonton in easy stages, having left the prairie city Sunday last.

IS WANTED IN THE LINDBERGH MURDER CASE

New Jersey Officials Are Granted Permission to Question Him

DETROIT, June 9. — A wide search for Harry Fleisher, dapper Detroit gangster wanted for questioning in the Lindbergh baby kidnapping case, came to a close today when Fleisher, pale and nervous, walked into police headquarters and gave himself up.

He refused to talk, answering all questions with a shrug of the shoulders, but his attorney, Edward H. Kennedy Jr., declared emphatically Fleisher "had absolutely nothing to do with the Lindbergh case."

"Those people who identified Fleisher's picture in the Lindbergh case apparently identified doubles, if anyone at all," the attorney said. "Fleisher realized he was in a tough situation, particularly after he was so prominently mentioned in the Lindbergh case, and he concealed himself until he was in a position to prove his innocence in all these matters."

New Jersey officials were notified of the gangster's surrender, and from Lieut. Walter Coughlin of the New Jersey state police came a request for permission to question Fleisher. Detroit officials said the permission had been granted. Lieut. Coughlin said future action would depend on the results of the examination.

Fleisher was placed in a cell to await arraignment tomorrow on a year-old warrant charging him with complicity in a gang killing here last year.

The gang killing for which Fleisher has been sought resulted in the deaths of three men in the Collingwood Avenue apartments here. Three men were convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment. Fleisher was named as the fourth member of the gang.

Police Prowler Cars Are Given Equipment Combat Armed Bandits

VANCOUVER, B. C., June 9 (CP).—To combat armed bandits, Vancouver's police prowler cars are to be equipped with bullet-proof glass, high-powered guns, sirens, signal lights and windshied equipment designed to enable police to fire at fleeing automobiles. All this equipment will be in addition to radio receiving sets to be placed in 30 cars, which will be in constant communication with headquarters.

Authority was given by the police commission this afternoon for Chief C. E. Edgett to obtain the necessary material to equip the cars to battle criminals.

The chief declared that trained shots are assigned to prowler cars, and the force is rapidly being equipped to meet gunmen with the most modern police methods within financial powers of the commission.

PENTICTON FOLK ESCAPE AS CAR GOES OFF ROAD

Rossland Roard Scene of Accident; People Get Cuts, Bruises

TRAIL, B. C., June 9.—Jumping from their car as it headed down a 60-foot bank on the Trail-Rossland road, near Munroe's place, Mr. and Mrs. Swanson and their five children escaped with minor cuts and bruises today.

Travelling from Penticton to Saskatoon with their possessions in a trailer, the Swanson family was coming down the Trail-Rossland road this morning. The connection between the car and the trailer snapped on a corner, it is said, and the trailer, containing all the Swansons' worldly goods, turned over. The car went over the bank, but not before the occupants jumped out.

The passengers were brought in to Trail, where their cuts and bruises were treated.

Damage to the car and trailer was not known.

Intense Interest Is Aroused Over the Australia Election

Premier B. S. B. Stevens Is Being Opposed by J. T. Lang

SYDNEY, Australia, June 9 (CP cable)—With the exception of the commonwealth general election last December no political contest in Australia's history has aroused such intense interest as the state elections which take place in New South Wales on Saturday.

Premier B. S. B. Stevens, leader of the coalition government, largely supported by the United Australia party, is being opposed by J. T. Lank, of the old Labor party who was premier from November, 1930, until his resignation was demanded by the state governor a month ago.

Mr. Lang's fall from office was the result of his continued attempts to blockade the operation of the commonwealth's Financial Agreement Enforcement act, the measure giving the commonwealth power to seize certain state revenues on account of having disbursed payments overseas on the several occasions when the state defaulted interest payments on its debts.

Prime Minister Joseph A. Lyons, whose United Australia party overthrew the Labor party in the commonwealth arena six months ago, is taking an active hand in the campaign on behalf of Premier Stevens. He declared at one meeting today, "We have nailed Lang down by the Enforcement act and if by chance he is returned, we will nail him down again," which provoked cheers from thousands agthered at the town hall to hear him.

TWO MINERS ARE KILLED, KIMBERLEY

Swept by Ore Into Shute; Jury Verdict Is Accidental Death

NO BLAME ATTACHED

Both Were Married Men and Leave Wives and Children

KIMBERLEY, B. C., June 9—George Brown and John Dixon, miners employed by the Consolidated Mining & Smelting company in the Sullivan mine here, were instantly killed this morning at about 9:30 o'clock while working in a stope of the mine. They were employed in barring down a bench and brought down more ore than they calculated which swept them into the chute. They were dead when reached by fellow workers.

An inquest was held here this afternoon and the coroner's jury brought in a verdict that the men met death through an unavoidable accident. The jurors attached no blame to anyone.

Both were married and Brown is survived by a wife and child in Rossland while Dixon is survived by a wife and two children in Kimberley.

Isaacs Marketing Committee Agreed on Several Points

Report Will Be Presented in Two Sections When Finally Prepared

VERNON, B. C., June 9—Godfrey Isaacs committee, which is making a study of marketing, has reached preliminary agreement on several points. It is proposed, when it is finally prepared, the report will be presented in two sections. The first section is to deal with changes which it is anticipated may be effected immediately after ratification has been secured from the growers and shippers. The other section is more ambitious and will deal with the ultimate form which it is anticipated the new system may take after success of the local adaptation of the project has been demonstrated

It is proposed that the uniform agreement which is an integral feature of the scheme shall be a three party one between growers, shippers and the British Columbia F. G. A. To be successful it must have the 100 per cent support of the growers and of the shippers and it must be a document that will raise no outside opposition. It must be fair in order to win support at home and to receive a thorough tryout. Under the terms which are being considered it is proposed to designate a certain specified sum to be determined as packing house charges and to pay selling agencies a commission.

Premier Bennett Protested to Hon. J. W. Jones for Use Made of Wires Concerning Relief

Copy of Telegram Tabled in Commons Last Day, Session

TOLD TO ACT ON BUSINESS BASIS

Pattullo States Jones Cannot Escape Issue by Refusing to Talk

VICTORIA, June 9—Hon. J. W. Jones, minister of finance, cannot briefly dismiss discussion on Premier Bennett's telegram concerning relief funds with the comment that he refuses to be dragged into a discussion on the subject, T. D. Pattullo stated today.

Mr. Pattullo said:

"With reference to telegram which Prime Minister Bennett sent to Mr. Jones regarding misapplication of monies sent by the Dominion government in connection with the unemployment problem, Mr. Jones says that he refuses to be drawn into comment, as all differences between the two governments have been adjusted. Mr. Jones will find that he cannot dismiss this question so lightly. Matters have yet to be adjusted between the people and the government.

During the life of this government not only have public documents been withheld from scrutiny, but there has been continual evasion and deliberate misstatement on questions of fact.

EMPTY-HANDED

"The premier says that anyone that suggests an election this year ought to have his head examined. It seems clear that this reflection of the premier was superinduced by the fact that he came back from the east empty-handed. In any event there is no need to go to the expense of examining the governmental cranium—everybody knows except the government.

"In my judgment, the public would be wise to force this government to an election rather than to sit quiescently and wait for the effluction of time, which will compel the government to submit itself to the electorate. The longer the delay the worse the situation will be.

"The government has clearly demonstrated that it lacks both background and perspective.

"There is a job ahead, and the

ADDITIONAL BEER PARLORS SOUGHT IN NELSON CITY

VICTORIA, June 9 (CP). — An agitation has been growing in Nelson for additional beer parlors, and petitioners point to the fact that Vernon, with a much smaller population, has four such places, while Nelson is only permitted three. Commissioner W. F. Kennedy is studying the situation, and an announcement may be made in the near future.

MANITOBA AND QUEBEC FIRES ARE CHECKED

Rain Aids Situation in Eastern Province; New Outbreak? Manitoba

WINNIPEG, June 9.—Airplanes of the Manitoba fire patrol report three forest fires burning in the isolated woodlands north of Norway House, on Lake Winnipeg, but all three have been covered by fire-fighting crews.

An outbreak at Gordon lake yesterday threatened transmission lines of the Central Manitoba Mines, but a force of fire-fighters succeeded in quelling it and the lines were saved. None of the fires in Manitoba are serious at present.

AMOS, Que., June 9 (CP).—With a steady downfall of rain today throughout the forest fire zone, the mining community which has just passed through a period of tense anxiety saw some control of the situation. So far there have been no reports of deaths in the flames which destroyed a large section of the parched bushlands.

Tents and supplies are being rushed into the devastated area, and the hundreds of refugees who won out in their race with a great bank of flames are being well looked after.

Tales of experiences in the danger zone continued to be told today. According to recent arrivals, great credit was accorded to Jim Norris, manager of the Treadwell Yukon mine, for his valiant and successful efforts to turn the tide of the roaring blaze. Under his direction, hose lines were laid at strategic points. At one time the flames were not placed under subjection until they were literally licking the shaft house.

On the Bouriamaque river, to add to the difficulties of those trying to escape by the stream, a dam broke from the shore during a high wind, releasing hundreds of logs, which were a new menace to the fatigued refugees.

Damage done to mining property belonging to the Hollinger, Nipissing and other companies has not yet been estimated.

Von Papen Announces Determination, Revise German Constitution

BERLIN, June 9 (AP).—The determination of the new government of Crancellor Franz von Papen to revise the German constitution was announced to the reichstrat today by the minister of the interior, Wilhelm von Gyl.

The minister insisted that such revision would not in any sense restore the monarchy, but his pronouncement did not say just what trend the revision would take.

BEAUHARNOIS MUST HAVE MORE MONEY

Shareholders Told Funds Needed for Successful Procedure

FINANCING HARD DUE TO MARKET

Bondholders Must Make Necessary Move to Obtain Government Aid

MONTREAL, June 9 (CP).—If the Beauharnois power undertaking is to be carried to a successful conclusion and contracts for power delivery met within stipulated periods, further substantial amounts of money must be raised, the vice-president, Arthur F. White, told the second annual general meeting of shareholders of Beauharnois Power Corporation, here today.

The condition of the financial market has made new financing extremely difficult, and since the exhaustion of the initial bond issue proceeds, the corporation has relied on bank loans, the securing of which had been facilitated by the Dominion government, Mr. White said. These loans, he stated, total about $16,000,000; for the balance of 1932 approximately $6,500,000 will be required, and requirements for the period 1933-37 will total about $9,500,000, a grand total of $32,500,000.

Members of the board, continued Mr. White, recognize that any plan of reorganization is dependent on further governmental assistance, and the government has intimated that it desires the collateral trust bondholders to take the necessary steps to form a representative committee before it can act to facilitate additional financing. Bondholders meet here tomorrow for this purpose.

TARDIEU FORMS A PARTY TO OPPOSE HERRIOT POLICIES

Will Call the Organization the "Centre Republican"

PARIS, June 9 (AP).—Former premier Andre Tardieu and 30 of his followers today formed a new party to fight the policies of Premier Edouard Herriot, the Liberal (Radical Socialist) leader.

The organization will be known as the "Centre Republican"—Tardieu heretofore has been a Left Republican—and was regarded as particularly interested in foreign affairs.

The group officially announced itself for "social, commercial and agricultural action."

Among the more important members are Paul Reynaud, Louis Rollin, Maurice Petsche, Jean Fabry and Desire Ferry.

Most of the prominent members in M. Tardieu's new group were his ministers or consistent supporters in former cabinets.

Unemployed Make Demonstration in Two British Cities

LONDON, June 9 (CP cable).—Demonstrations were held by unemployed in two British cities today, and in one police were forced to charge 2000 persons with drawn batons before they succeeded in restoring order.

At Bristol a near-riot occurred after a mass meeting. Police sought to herd the crowd down one of the main shopping streets when several persons threw stones through shop windows. Several were reported to have been hurt in the subsequent charge by police.

At Glasgow, Scotland, exciting scenes were witnessed when a procession of 2500 women, headed by women councillors of the city, got mixed up with another parade of 3000 men.

B.C. LUMBERMEN SEEK VALUE FOR DUTY ON IMPORT

VANCOUVER, B. C., June 9.—A value for duty on all lumber coming into Canada from foreign countries is being sought by the Canadian Lumbermen's association, according to advices received here by T. H. Wilkinson, secretary of the B. C. Lumber Manufacturers' association.

Large quantities of lumber are imported annually from the United States in eastern Canada, particularly the southern pine variety.

British Columbia lumbermen discussed the matter on Tuesday of this week at a general meeting, but took no action on the matter. They will meet again next Tuesday to further consider it.

MONTREAL, June 9—Walter Bannerman Ramsay, vice-president of A. Ramsay and Son company, paint and varnish manufacturers, died today, aged 51.

FARM INSTITUTES IN CONVENTION ASKS NEW DOUKHOBOR MEASURE

In Memorial to Dominion and Three Interested Provincial Governments Charge Members Held in Virtual Slavery

DECLARES SONS OF FREEDOM TURNED OUT SO AS TO BE CHARGE ON THE PUBLIC

Scrutiny of International Relations Is Demanded; Governments Congratulated on Steps Taken Thus Far

ROBSON, B.C., June 9.—An investigation of the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood, the great Doukhobor cooperative society which administers property and interests worth millions, and whose head, Peter Verigin II, is in the penitentiary at Prince Albert awaiting the result of appeal from a conviction for perjury, was asked here today by the West Kootenay Central Farmers institute, in annual convention. The feature the Kootenay "farmers parliament" wishes investigated is the apparent arbitrary abrogation of the rights of the ejected Sons of Freedom, who, according to this theory, have for this reason become a charge upon the public, as for the next three years over 900 Sons of Freedom nudists are to be maintained, the adults by the Dominion in penitentiary areas, and the children by the province in industrial schools.

The Doukhobor discussions dominated the sessions, as they did at the two previous annual conventions, starting in the morning with the report of the special committee appointed two years ago, and reappointed a year ago, and continuing in the afternoon, finally concluding with a formal resolution addressed to the four interested governments, those of the Dominion, and of the provinces of British Columbia, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

COMMITTEE ASKS DISCHARGE

On behalf of the committee, which consisted of W. White of Passmore, R. W. Chalmers of Thrums, and T. A. Love, editor of the Grand Forks Gazette, Mr. Love having been enlisted from outside the institutes on account of his special knowledge, Mr. White reported that after lengthy investigations the committee in the winter had decided to take a six months layoff, on Mr. Love's proposal. Since then, "owing to the Doukhobors having dared to attack the great corporation, the C.P.R." they were getting effective action from the Dominion and provincial governments, burnings had ceased, and there was no more obstructing of the railway. "We think we have removed thee cause," Mr. White commented, and in this connection he mentioned Verigin's name, pointing out that the Doukhobor leader at his trial swore that in three years in Canada he had made $750,000, his method being to tax individuals from $30 to $300 per annum, and then kicking out those who could not pay, Mr. White said he knew personally of instances of this. He asserted that if the "Community" was a joint stock company, its accounts should be scrutinized, and this money distributed to those who were entitled to it after the "investments" made

LIVING STATE OF BONUS ARMY IS FRIGHTFUL

Health Officer Makes Assertion After Inspection of Camp

WASHINGTON, June 9— While leaders presented petitions at the White House and capitol urging immediate bonus payment, Dr. William C. Fowler, District of Columbia health officer, today pronounced the veteran army's living conditions "frightful."

A committee representing the former service men called at the White House and placed their communication to the president in the hands of one of his secretaries.

Earlier it had delivered the petition to Vice-president Charles Curtis. The message was read to the senate and incorporated in the congressional records.

Dr. Fowler said the open air encampment at Anacostia flats was the worst menace to the city's health since he took office. A marine corps medical detail, after inspecting the camp pronounced the quality of donated food "poor" and general camp conditions "fair."

Meanwhile local police, cooperating with government agencies involved, made plans to send detachments of the veterans to obsolete army posts in the vicinity of the capital to reduce the congestion at Anacostia.

VILLAGE SPRINGS UP

At the main camp a village had sprung up where a week ago there was a vacant field. Crude huts, their roofs thatched with dried grass, straw or tree branches, supplemented the sheds erected as temporary shelter for a few hundreds.

Odors of burning wood from the field kitchens, stale onions, half-buried garbage and hastily constructed sanitary stations hung close to the ground as though beaten down by the oppressive heat. Flies swarmed. The marine medical depot reported numbers suffering with the "cootie" pest—made famous in army days.

Chile Junta Starts a National Saving Plan Under State Control

SANTIAGO, Chile, June 9.—The Socialist junta of Carlos Davila today took over the Central bank and started working out a plan to put national savings under control of the state.

Then the government ordered all deposits in foreign currency in the various banks to be turned over to the authorities. The banks were instructed to give depositors pesos at the "legal rate" in exchange for their deposits.

The junta dismissed the board of the Central bank and started selecting its own directors to run the institution, which was set up in 1926.

ST. JOSEPH PUPILS GIVE WONDERFUL DRAMATIC PLAY

Three-Act Drama "Zurika—the Captive Princess" Wins Plaudits

Presenting the three-act musical drama, "Zurika—the Captive Princess' with beautiful costumes, appropriate stage settings, and a splendid variety of chorus numbers, and giving a wonderful stage drama, the students of St. Joseph's were well received before a large audience in the Catholic parish hall Thursday night. From the first chorus, "Dainty Maidens" by the primary pupils of St. Joseph's academy, until the scene of the re-union of the royal family, the drama was highly appreciated. During the intermissions, the audience was entertained by piano and violin sections.

CHORUS GOOD

Following the first appearance of the primary girls in the opening chorus, they later reappeared in part of a well enacted chorus drill with the intermediate girls, entitled, "Rainy Daisies," after which came a chorus by the intermediate boys in "The Mumps." All three of these choruses won high appreciation from their listeners and the latter chorus, especially, brought the house down in roars of laughter. Taking their parts perfectly, these children showed remarkable training and ability.

DRAMA

The opening scene finds the King of Kola's court in the midst of a festive celebration, honoring the prince's birthday, but to the amazement of his father, the king, and the others, the prince shows very little interest and when quizzed he replies that he had a dream. His father, however, endeavors to cheer the prince but is unsuccessful. When finally, they are alone, the king tells his son of his growing age, and his wish that he retire in favor of the prince whom he wishes to marry before taking the throne. The prince objects, telling his father that in his dream he saw a vision of his kidnapped foster sister, a beautiful maiden garbed in the dress of a Gypsy, dancing merrily about a Gypsy camp fire and begged his father to give him one year in which to search for her and should he fail to find her—he would return to the palace and marry the maid which his father might wish him to. The king finally submits and in the first scene of the second act, we find the prince disguised as a woodcutter strolling leisurely through the forest calling for Zurika, suddenly he stumbles upon a small Gypsy camp, where two minutes before had stood Elspeth, the Gypsy who had mothered Zurika through to womanhood and who on hearing the call of the stranger had retired to the cover of a nearby tent. Seeing no sign of life, the prince made himself comfortable to await the return of the inhabitants of the camp. While he sat by the fire, Elspeth emerges from the tent and offers to tell his fortune if he would cross her hand with silver but when the prince said that a common woodcutter had no silver, the Gypsy no longer pretended to be fooled by the guise and taking his palm in hers, she told him of his birth and of his mission. The prince agreed that if she shall take him to Zurika, all will be forgiven but later he asks that Elspeth hold her secret and allow him to win Zurika as a common woodcutter. The prince is successful and after they are both in love with each other, Elspeth reveals to Zurika that she is a princess and asks that she return to the castle but she refuses to leave the disguised party. Finally they plan to gain entry to the palace in the roll of fortune tellers who seek to entertain the court. After some time Zurika reveals her identity and the king over-joyed, tells her that the prince is away searching for her and told her that on his return they should wed. However, Zurika protests that she has alrady given her heart to the woodcutter and sooner than lose him she would give up her rights as a princess. All this time the prince was with the party and his disguise so thoroughly that even his father had not recognized him. However, when his father asked that the woodcutter be put out and when Zurika had so faithfully stayed by his side, he had become convinced of Zurika's love for him and he finally disposed of his guise to the supreme joy of his father and in the closing scene at the king's court, we find a happy family reunion with the prince and the princess being the chief figures. The play as a whole and the characters throughout the program acted their parts perfectly and with the stage setting carefully selected and arranged, gave a wonderful performance which was truly appreciated.

A. Bouchard who carried the leading part as the king perfectly, and who was ably supported by Bert Venables as the prince, although only in the play a short time displayed wonderful stage talent at Thursday night's performance. Margaret Rahal and Jean Burns as Zurika and Elspeth, respectively, gave a splendid performance.

The personnel of the program—King, A. Bouchard; prince, Bert Venables; jingles, court jester, Jeannette Leriger; Dr. Globule, B. Monteleone; Zurika, Margaret Rahal; Elspeth, Jean Burns.

SHAMROCKS OF BLEWETT ARE AFTER GAMES

Feeling sure there must be a baseball team in Nelson that can at least give them a run for their money, the Blewett Shamrocks have hurled a challenge to all-comers.

The Shamrocks, formerly known as the Blewett Forty-Niners, have played some half dozen games this season, winning them all. They defeated the Nelson Falcons, who were leading the city junior league, both at their home grounds at Forty-nine creek and in Nelson.

No team except the senior team is barred. The Shamrocks state they are willing to play either in Nelson or at Forty-Nine creek, preferring a home and home series.

W. Nemrava of Blewett is captain of the Shamrocks. The club is made up of four Nemrava brothers, four Jerome brothers, George Newcombe and one or two others. Arrangements for games can be made through Cy Jackman of Nelson.

MORE ABOUT DOUKHOBOR

by individuals had been deducted. The loss by Doukhobor outrages he contended, could not be less than $1,000,000.

RECOMMENDS BACKING GOVERNMENTS

Under the circumstances, however, that the governments were taking decisive action against the law-breakers, Mr. White said, the committee felt that any further action by the institute, except in the line of supporting the governments, would detract from the object which the institute had in view, and he therefore asked for the discharge of the committee, and recommended a resolution of congratulation to Premier Bennett, Premier Tolmie, and Premier Anderson of Saskatchewan, the last in connection with Verigin. He also suggested that it would be fitting to thank the C.P.R. for having put the governments in motion.

C. V. Meggitt of Grand Forks corrected Mr. White on the matter of the $750,000, saying it was retained by Verigin, but was paid to the Sun Life, in connection with its mortgage. Peter himself, he said, drew $75 a month. He described the system by which Verigin assessed different villages, the money being raised by turning logs, cordwood, and other products into cash to satisfy the bank for advances, though the members themselves had nothing.

COST QUESTION RAISED

The question went over to the order of resolution that the committee's session and it seemed probable that the committee's recommendations would be adopted, when Major Turner Lee of Bonnington gave another turn to the proceedings by bringing up the question of the cost to the taxpayer of the recent convictions, declaring that the trouble was precipitated by the ejections carried out by the Commurry by violence, with the result that the country had to take care of the Community's victims, and their children, while the Community, which was obligated to take care of these people, was at no expense, these people had committed crime for the purpose of being taken care of. To guard against any more being turned out to become public charges, he proposed asking for an official inquiry, and submitted a lengthy resolution he had drawn up on the subject.

DAILY NEWS BLAMED

W. Pratt of Robson said the convention was forgetting that the biggest number of these people had nothing to do with the Community being Independents, many of them being from the prairie. He declared The Nelson Daily News had led them to think that if they broke the law against nudity they would be given an island, and given Peter to rule over them.

W. K. Esling, MP. for Kootenay West, and Lieut-Col. Fred Lister, M.P.P. who were present, were called on by President O. B. Ballard to give any information they had.

Mr. Esling said the province would be responsible for the convicted Doukhobors during the month during the month which they could appeal, but after the three year sentences went into effect their care was at the expense of the Dominion. The fact that the Dominion was asking the province to suggest a site for the penitentiary area did not mean that the province was obligated for cost in the matter.

Col. Lister confirmed this information, adding that the children would be cared for at provincial expense.

Answering Mr. Pratt, P. W. Green of Winlaw said while the Independents might profess to have no connection with the Community, they were certainly bound or influenced in some way, as they paid the assessments imposed on them.

Mr. White suggested that Major Lee's resolution ought to be referred to a committee and this plan was carried out, President Ballard appointing Major Lee, and Messrs. White, Green and Meggit to deliberate on it. They withrew for a lengthy period, and subsequently reported a new resolution, which was adopted, as follows:

MEMORIAL TO GOVERNMENT

"To the Dominion government and the provincial government of Alberta, Saskatchewan and British Columbia:

"The memorial of the West Kootenay District Central Farmers institute assembled on the 9th June, 1932, in annual convention, submits:

"That this convention highly commends the strong action of the above mentioned governments in dealing with the Doukhobor problem, but further submits that

"Whereas the Doukhobors were admitted into this country on the understanding that the Community should have certain privileges and exemption from complying with the laws of the Dominion, and particularly were permitted to carry on this Community on a system which is economically the old system of slavery's, and

"Whereas under that system all members are compelled to contribute to the funds of the Community by arbitrary exactions; and

"Whereas instead of ruling the Community as by their original agreement of entry they were bound to, these heads of the Community from time to time have ejected and neglected to support some of their members for reasons of their own, so that these people have become a charge upon the public; and

"Whereas the funds of the Community including the funds amassed by Peter Verigin, Jr., have been partly contributed by the contribution of such neglected members;

"Therefore these ejected members should not in justice become a charge upon the public, but should be maintained entirely at the expense of the Community, and it is further recommended that the operations of the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood under the Joint Stock Companies be investigated as to the source and disposal of their funds."

The resolution was unanimously adopted on motion of Major Lee and Mr. Green.

General Assembly Is Against Incorporation of Church or Board

LONDON, June 9 (By J. F. Sanderson, C P staff writer)—The 58th general assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada completed its work here today, to reconvene next June in Peterborough, Ont. A resolution expressing dissatisfaction with government control in sale of liquor and a decision against incorporating the church or its board of trustees at the present time featured the closing session.

Only a smattering of delegates dotted the auditorium of St. James' church today, many having left for their homes before the close of the assembly. In the nine-day sitting many phases of the church activity were considered. A financial budget of $500,000 was approved for 1933 and a field or organizing agent named to lead in a drive for funds.

INSUFFICIENT PRESENT

Divided opinion greeted the resolution opposing the liquor control system and Rev. S. Banks Nelson, Hamilton, Ont., urged there were insufficient delegates present to render a decision. The assembly turned down an amendment moved by him to exhort ministers "to set the example of the New Testament and Christian virtue of temperance," and urging the practice of total abstinence.

Judge James MacKay, Port Arthur, withdrew a motion urging the age limit for liquor permit holders be raised.

Decision against incorporating the church or its board of trustees hinged about the protest of the United church over the use of the name "Presbyterian Church in Canada." This protest was referred to the legal committee early in the sitting but it made no report.

Rev. Robert Johnston, of Ottawa, foreshadowed an effort to have legislation introduced in the house of commons to reserve the name for the continuing Presbyterian church.

He had been advised the present was not propitious "but I want to go to parliament to straighten this out."

"We will go to the privy council to fight for our name and existence," asserted Judge MacKay.

sooner it is adequately tackled, the better for the public welfare."

COPY OF TELEGRAM

In response to a motion by Thomas Reid, M P., for New Westminster, asking for a return of correspondence of unemployment relief, a copy of the following telegram from Premier R. B. Bennett to Hon. J. W. Jones, minister of finance for British Columbia, was tabled in the house of commons on the last day of the session:

Ottawa, Jan. 29, 1932.
Hon. J. W. Jones,
Minister of finance,
Victoria, British Columbia.

Do you think it serves any useful purpose to send telegrams to us merely for the purpose of being able to show them to municipalities and others and thereby endeavor to establish that responsibility for existing conditions in your province is attributable to federal and not provincial administration?

We have forwarded you $2,300,000 of which $500,000 was an open advance, the remaining $1,800,000 being secured by treasury bills for provincial and municipal expenditures on authorized relief works.

Apparently you have used these funds in whole or in part for provincial purposes at the expense of amounts due municipalities.

We have no contract with municipalities and can only look to provinces to discharge their obligations and must obviously direct them to you for payment.

Total accounts received here, including those returned for revision, do not aggregate $1,400,000. Assuming that one-half the total sums advanced are properly chargeable against the Dominion you have been paid for the province and municipalities the full amount to which you are entitled.

Ladner, who represented your government, must understand situation. Suggest you show him this message and take appropriate steps to deal with matter on a business basis, as other provinces do.

(Signed) R. B. Bennett,
prime minister.

Soltynski's Story Remains Unshaken, Arson Prosecution

States He Was Promised Immunity if He Implicated Mason

SUDBURY, Ont., June 9 (CP)—The three leading crown witnesses in the trial of W. E. Mason, charged with arson, had been heard when court adjourned tonight and the crown hoped to rest its case early tomorrow. It is expected the case will go to the jury Saturday morning at the latest.

Cross-examination failed to shake the main points in the stories of John Soltynski, former bus washer who pleaded guilty to setting the fire which caused $16,000 damage on September 6, and is serving a four-year prison term, and Kero Koleff, former manager of the Sudbury Transit company, who notified the insurance company in January that the Transit garage fire was of incendiary origin and who claims to have been the "go-between" between Mr. Mason and Soltynski.

IMPLICATE MR. MASON

The statement was made by Soltynski, however, that since his imphisonment Mrs. Kero Koleff has been sending money to his (Soltynski's) wife and child in Poland and that he was promised immunity by the lawyer for the insurance companies if he signed a statement implicating Mr. Mason in the fire.

Soltynski's story is that on September 5, 1931, Mr. Mason came to the Transit company garage and offered him $500 to set fire to the place.

"I said I wouldn't, that I would get into trouble. But he told me lots of people did it," Soltynski testified. The former bus washer said he then scattered three pails of gasoline over the floor and the buses and set a match to it. There was no explosion, he said, and he left by the front door.

"Since you were arrested, has any money been sent to your wife," asked A. G. Slaght, defence counsel.

"I received a letter from my wife that my child was sick and I asked Mrs. Koleff to send money to her," Soltynski said. He did not know, however, how many times Mrs. Koleff had sent money.

JAIL INMATES TESTIFY

Intimation of one of the lines of defence was given when Mr. Slaght called three men, two of whom had been in the same corridor in the district jail with Soltynski.

The two jail companions will testify that Soltynski told them the fire had been set by Kero Koleff but that he is afraid to change his evidence now for fear of a longer jail term for perjury, Mr. Slaght told the jury, while the third man will testify that several days previous to the fire he met Soltynski and the bus washer told him he was going to make a lot of money soon.

BALL NINE HAS FINAL WORKOUT FOR SUNDAY GO

Nelson Team to Be Hosts to Rosslanders; Work Hard

In preparation for their game here with Rossland this Sunday, the Nelson senior ball team held its final workouts at the ball park Thursday night. The boys are working hard to strengthen their hold on first place in the Kootenay Baseball league. Rossland, after taking a severe beating at the hands of the local squad at Rossland last Sunday, have made several changes in their lineup, and, from all reports, will show the Nelson fans some first-class ball here this week-end.

Manager Brennan has made a few alterations in the Nelson infield and has spent considerable time drilling the boys at their new positions. Tommy Harrison, who in former games looked after the center pasture, will be covering second base in Sunday's game. This change has made a great change in the infield, the second sack being about the only weak spot in the team. Allison and Kraft will again divide the pitching honors, with Richardson taking them behind the plate. "Chic" Gillett will be on first, with Johnny Wallace covering the hot sack at third. Henry Bey will be playing between second and third at shortstop. The outfield will be patrolled by Tony Arcure, Hugh Horswill, "Lefty" Schumaker and Gordon Roynon.

PRACTISE BASE-RUNNING

Much time was spent teaching the basemen the art of catching runners who have ambitions of stealing their way around. Rossland players will find it tough going trying to steal a sack this week-end.

"Scotty" Notman will call the balls and strikes, and will probably be assisted by a base umpire from the Golden City.

Christian set out after his third open championship when he scored a dazzling 35-hole total of 141, five under par, to lead his closest rival, Willie Price, Olympia pro, by three strokes in the first day of the two-day 72-hole marathon. Neil posted a 70 card on the morning 18 and came back with a 71 this afternoon over the par 73 course.

Eldred Zimmerman, of Portland, defending his crown, finished with 151, while his brother, Emery, wound up ahead of him, in third place, with 147.

Olin Dutra, Los Angeles, and Frank Rodis, Seattle, professionals, tied for fourth place with 148 each.

Johnny Shields, of Seattle, Washington state amateur champion, was the low Simon-pure player, with 151, equalling the score of Mortie Dutra, Long Beach, Gordon Richards, Tacoma, and Eldred Zimmerman.

Liberal Chances Are Good if the Election Held, States F. M. MacPherson, M. L. A. as He Recounts Government Achievements

Member for Cranbrook Speaks at Large Liberal Meeting

FORESTRY ACT MAY PROVE DISASTROUS

Describes the Redistribution of Seats As a Farce

CRANBROOK, B. C., June 9—The Masonic hall was filled on Wednesday when the Liberals of Cranbrook and surrounding small towns assembled to hear F. M. MacPherson, M. L. A., tell of the doings of the recent session of the house. H. A. McKowan, president of the Cranbrook Liberal association, was in the chair. A. B. Smith, chairman of the voters' list committee was called on for a report of his department. Mr. Smith stated that his committee had held 78 meetings dealing with the voters' list and that 100 new names and transfers had been added.

F. M. MacPHERSON

A reading by H. Hogg was greatly enjoyed by the audience and J. S. Manson, in his usual excellent voice, sang two solos, with Mrs. MacPherson as accompanist.

Mr. MacPherson, in reviewing some of the promises which had been made by him and other Liberal candidates four years ago he said that these had been made thinking that the Liberals would be returned to power. Many of the things promised had not happened owing to the fact that the party had not had the reins. The recent session had been a long and depressing ones, with no legislation of value. The passing of 13 tax bills had taken up the majority of the time spent. There had been days when the house would sit for only an hour or even less, waiting for the government to get the various tax bills in shape to present. In the case of some of the bills it took days to get them to where their own members did not object to them.

The speaker said that the opposition had been accused of petty bickering and of holding up the progress of passing legislation. He said that if the opposition had remained silent while some of the measures were discussed they might have been accused of being as bad as the government, which was something they had certainly wished to avoid.

WILL WANT BEST MEN

One result of the depression, and of this regime's handling of affairs, he said, would be that the people, at the next election, would demand that the best men be put at the head of provincial affairs. The present government had aimed at a business administration. They had put millionaires at the head of a majority of the governmental departments. No one now claimed that this had been the best thing for British Columbia. These men had not been able to see the problems presented, with the eyes of the common people—the vast majority of the voters. There had been no Labor legislation brought down.

The formalities of the opening of the house were described and the forming of committees. Mr. MacPherson having been on the committee for the purpose of naming committees. A vacany deeply felt by members of all politics was that created by the death of J. Bucham of Golden. Tributes were paid the late Liberal speaker by Premier Tolmie and by the leader of the opposition.

A resume of the bills brought before the house by the government was given, many of these, such as the Placer Mines act, British preference in moving pictures, that making Remembrance day a national holiday, the Motor Vehicle act making insurance compulsory with car owners after one accident, being supported by the opposition.

The amendment to the School act, lowering the school attendance years from 12 to 10 years and making it compulsory for parents to pay after the 10th year in school, was a purely Tory piece of legislation, the speaker said. The opposition had not supported the measure.

The Amusement Tax act was dealt with, saying that all forms of amusement were now taxed and that the only exemptions were charitable and patriotic events.

PROVE DISASTROUS

The Forestry act doing away with inspection and fire fighting on the part of the government, was described as something that might prove disastrous to East Kootenay. And while the government was making economies in unwise measures of this kind, he said, they were appointing friends of the government to high salaried positions such as a game commissioner receiving a salary of $5000 a year. This office, among others, is slated for immediate abolition on the return of the Liberal party. Also, to offset the appointment of friends of the government to high salaried positions, they are dismissing, sometimes without notice, men on small salaries who have held positions of responsibility with the government for as much as 25 years.

Speaking of the finances of the administration, the opposition leader had criticized severely the action of the Conservative government in borrowing short term loans when money could be had at less than five per cent and long term loans now that they were having to pay over six. The matter of the public debt, which was to have been lowered by the government, was touched on. This debt, which was, according to their own figures $104,000,000 when they came into power, had increased to $142,000,000, an increase of almost 50 per cent, or at the rate of about a million a month.

REDISTRIBUTION A FARCE

The redistribution of seats was described as a farce, the changes being made for the benefit of the Conservative party. Two Liberal constituencies in the island had been combined and East Kootenay had lost one member. Vancouver was given another member.

The withdrawing of money from the provincial university was criticized as was also the shifting of the burden of mothers' pensions to the municipalities. The gas tax in itself was fair enough, but the opposition had vigorously protested the fact that the money thus collected had not been earmarked for the improvement of provincial highways.

The speaker said that an election was probable in the near future but that whether it occurred in September, as some thought, or next year, the chances of the Liberals looked good. Premier Tolmie had returned from Ottawa with little promise of aid from that quarter and it was now probable that he would have to go to the country without the sale of the P. G. E. as bait. Taking into consideration the amount of ammunition the present administration has given the Liberals, the party, the speaker stated, has only to put in the field competent and confidence inspiring candidates to successfully carry the day.

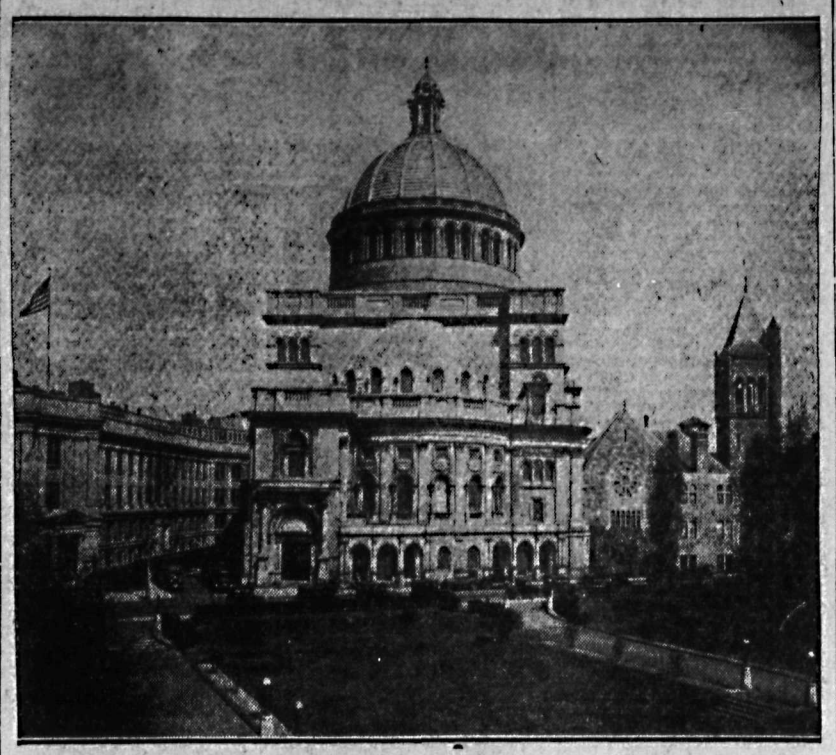
Fate Still Pursues as Four of Family Are Killed by Train

PUYALLUP, Wash., June 9.—A seemingly relentless fate which has been pursuing the family for five years again struck today when a truck in which were riding Mrs. Christina Richards, 64, and her three children, Robert, 20, Tilden, 40, and Gertrude, 17, was demolished by a N hern Pacific rain and the four fatally injured.

Two years ago the husband and father, Nriah, was killed by an automobi at McMillan, near here, and in October, 1927, three other children, Margaret, Herman and Delbert, were killed when their auto was struck by a train near Orting.

Eyewitnesses today asserted that Engineman Ray Jacobs of Tacoma gave the usual crossing signals with both bell and whistle. It was thought possible that the driver of the truck, supposed to have been Robert, became confused.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MOVEMENT MAKES GREAT ADVANCE, 6000 ATTEND ANNUAL MEETING



Exterior View of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ Scientist

BOSTON, June 9—The steady progress of the Christian Science movement during a year marked by a general slowing down in human activities was emphasized here today in reports presented at the annual meeting of the mother church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist. Members from many parts of the world—more than 6000 in all—listened to reports of the various departments of the organization, which told of steady attainment in its numerous activities.

Thirty-eight Christian Science societies have qualified for the title of church, and 92 branch church organizations have been added. During the year the first branch of the mother church were recognized in Greece, Belgium, and Czechoslovakia. The mother church has now 2592 branch churches and societies; also 42 colleges or university organizations formed and conducted in accordance with the manual of the mother church.

From the Christian Science board of lectureship came the announcement of the opening of new fields for the presentation of lectures on Christian Science and greater public attendance. The estimated number of persons attending these lectures was 3,427,711. For the first time lectures were given before audiences in Athens, Rome, Java, Batavia, Bandoeng, Bombay and Calcutta. A lecture was given at Shanghai despite disturbed conditions there.

The admission of new members has kept pace with expansion and progress, was the report of Ezra W. Palmer, clerk of the mother church.

Relief work was an important part of the activities of this department. This work, Mr. Palmer's statement indicated, "has brought cheering results." He described it as much "more than the mere relieving of material needs and the healing of bodily ills. The work began in January of last year in the drought areas of the southern Mississippi valley was continued until September. Relief has been given in Germany, Estonia, Finland, Poland, Canada and the United States. A contribution was made to flood relief work in China."

BOARD OF TRADE URGES CUT IN TAX PENALTIES

Suggests Penalty of Eight Per Cent Instead of 10 for Delinquents

COMMITTEE WILL MEET THE COUNCIL

Rebate for Prompt Payment of Taxes Urged by J. E. Annable

C. B. Garland, president of the Nelson board of trade, was given authority at the board's luncheon Thursday to appoint a committee to interview the Nelson city council with regard to the penalty imposed upon property owners in Nelson for non-payment of taxes on July 31. At present the council under civic legislation charges delinquent tax payers, after July 31, a 10 per cent per annum penalty. The board in its resolution suggested that the special committee discuss the matter and suggest that the penalty be eight per cent instead of 10. The committee will report back to the board.

It was pointed out that in the "small depression" being had in Nelson at present it was unfair to penalize some taxpayers who for economic reasons were unable to pay their taxes on July 31.

L. H. Choquette introduced the resolution but J. A. McDonald urged the board to be cautious as the act had been put on the statutes at the request of the British Columbia Municipalities. R. W. Hinton objected to the delegation going to the council without instructions.

GORE SAYS IT UNFAIR

H. B. Gore declared the penalty was unfair and that the government was using power which citizens could not prevent. He believed that the penalty would be fair were the government to fulfill its own obligations to tax payers. He declared the condition to be "autocratic extortion," or as Dr. E. C. Arthur interjected, "an usury." He suggested the matter be brought up at the meeting of Municipalities in Nelson. He suggested an inducement such as a rebate if taxes were paid before a certain date.

L. H. Choquette believed the government had a law not allowing discounts and suggested that the city charge bank interest of six per cent per annum.

Mayor J. P. Morgan declared that tax payers had freedom from taxes, of actually seven months as taxes were due in January and not collected until the end of July. The 10 per cent law was not government law but civic law. It had been made because municipalities had neglected to collect taxes and many small cities had become government wards. Some municipalities, he pointed out, demanded 15 per cent penalty while some asked only eight per cent.

W. R. Grubb suggested a penalty rate of eight per cent. J. E. Annable suggested that some were able to pay taxes at the first of the year. Why should they not be allowed a rebate of six per cent. the rate charged the city by the banks? Mayor Morgan declared that this year the city had not borrowed money to carry over the period before taxes were collected. The matter was referred to the president, who will name a committee to go into the matter with the council.

BOARD OF TRADE TAKES SUMMER HOLIDAY SESSION

Nelson board of trade on Thursday held its final meeting for the summer months, and when it adjourned it did so until the regular meeting in September next. The council of the board was instructed to carry on the necessary work and to call a special meeting of the board should contingencies arise whereby a special meeting was necessary.

NELSON BOARD SEEKS DATA ON POLICE MATTERS

Do Not Endorse Resolution of Associated Boards for Amalgamation

REFUSE TO ACT ON TELEPHONE QUESTION

Majority of Associated Boards Resolutions at Fernie Approved

Resolutions adopted by the Associated Boards of Trade of Eastern British Columbia at their recent convention in Fernie were brought before the Nelson board of trade on Thursday by C. B. Garland, president, who was an official delegate.

The Nelson board endorsed the majority of the resolutions passed by the Associated Boards but turned down one regarding consolidation of the provincial police force with the Royal Canadian Mounted force "until further information can be obtained." The Trail resolution calling for reduced telephone rates was left over for further debate, some members believing the question had nothing to do with the board of trade. The Nelson board approved of the resolution urging the placing of highways in British Columbia under a commission free from politics, approved the Creston resolution urging adherence to "a system of economic cooperation within the empire"; turned down the Cranbrook resolution urging consolidation of the provincial police and the Royal Canadian Mounted police force under the wing of the Mounties in British Columbia.

R. W. Hinton strongly opposed this resolution declaring it was a matter that should not be acted upon until full and detailed information could be brought to hand. This would, in his opinion, take three or four months work. The board fell in line with Mr. Hinton's suggestion.

The board was unanimous in favoring Cranbrook resolution calling for reduction in the membership of the British Columbia house of parliament; approved of the Trail resolution urging the governments to practice economy and remove special taxation as soon as possible; left over for further debate the Trail resolution calling for a reduction in charges to telephone users in British Columbia; endorsed the Slocan resolution asking for protection of owners of uncrown granted mineral claims who are at present unable to do assessment work on their claims through no fault of their own; endorsed a resolution endorsing any reasonable scheme to encourage those capable to go on the land; endorsed the resolution asking for stabilization of silver.

A resolution regarding reduced fares for students was referred, by the board, to Ven. Archdeacon F. H. Graham.

The board approved of a motion that transportation expenses of Nelson accredited delegates to the Associated Boards meeting be assumed by the Nelson board.

Acids in Stomach Cause Indigestion

Create Sourness, Gas and Pain. How to Treat.

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. The delicate stomach lining in irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestants are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist some Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient for of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no fear of indigestion.

SKYSCRAPER
By FAITH BALDWIN

"What's the joke, at this time of the morning?" inquired the blond Miss Marple sourly, turning from her files.

The room was flanked with files. It was a strictly utilitarian room. There were no splendid draperies, no massive furniture, no murals, no thick carpet in this room; nor were there any quiet anterooms where tactful men and women interviewed swathed, draped and sometimes weeping widows or bewildered orphans. Yet in this room where Lynn worked were filed the futures of widows and orphans: row upon row of green metal files.

In a corner two girls were checking stock quotations. Miss Marple, at a file, was looking up the estate of one Jonathan Smith. Someone else was filing carbons. Lynn, her outdoor things disposed of, sat down at her own desk by the window on the far side of one wall, and looked over the work which was set aside for the day. In her desk lay the not-so-private lives of many unsuspecting men, neatly docketed upon little blue cards.

Here on a card, one David Whitmore's name, plainly typed. Here, his probable income, his clubs, his family relations, his business connections. Today, Lynn would give this card upon which Mr. Whitmore's financial life and prospects were displayed in cold print to an eager young salesman. And that salesman would, presently call upon Mr. Whitmore and endeavor to interest him in the many facilities of the Trust Department, so completely at Mr. Whitmore's service.

Lynn jotted down a name on a pad, reached for a copy of Bradstreet and opened the Social Register. Her day had begun.

A little before noon she made her way into the officers' room and to Miss Dennet's desk. Lynn always entered this room and approached this desk with a sense of subdued excitement. The room was enormous; it was pillared. Heavy velvet carpeting lay upon the floor. The flat-topped desks, mahogany, were less businesslike in appearance than Lynns' own. There were perhaps twelve of them in the room, amply spaced. Down the middle of the room ran an equally well-spaced aisle of smaller desks, trade-marked by typewriters; the desks of the secretaries to the trust officers.

The room was subdued. People moved quietly, made little noise. Miss Dennet's secretary, sitting by Miss Dennet's desk, nodded at Lynn, smiled and slipped away. Lynn laid a card on the desk.

"We slipped up on this," she reported guiltily.

Sarah Denret was forty-eight and looked thirty-six. She had large, severe features and gentle eyes. She wore a well-cut dress, black, white collar, white cuffs. She smiled at Lynn and her large mouth had curves of unexpected merriment and amiability.

"That can't be helped," she said. "I expected it." She pushed aside some of Lynn's own blue cards, the salesmen's reports firmly clipped to them, and asked: "Nearly lunch time, isn't it?"

Lynn nodded.

"I'll meet you outside," Sarah told her, "and we'll go to the Gavarin."

Lynn smiled and looked past Miss Dennet's desk, the desk of that assistant trust officer in charge of New Business, to the open door of the anteroom leading into the vice president's private office. She saw a pair of broad shoulders and the back of a brown head. She hadn't been quite truthful when she told Tom Shepard that she had not graduated to the Gavarin. She went there perhaps once a week with Miss Dennet.

Fifteen minutes later she and her chief were facing each other across a small table in a corner of the rather consciously elegant restaurant. The older woman commented after they had ordered:

"Haven't been to see me in weeks, Ly. . Been busy?"

"Not very. A movie now and then. Except—Ken Wilkins — from home you know. He was in town last week. He gave me a whirl."

"Is that Amy Wilkins' boy?" asked Sarah, interested.

"The same. He wouldn't thank you for calling him a boy. You should see him in New York. He wrote the place!" laughed Lynn.

"Amy was like that," commented Sarah vaguely, over chicken cutlet, but Lynn, who had been brought up next door to the Wilkins family, understood perfectly.

"What do you hear from your mother?" Sarah asked. "She hasn't written to me in ages."

"Oh, she's all right. A little rheumatism now and then, and trouble getting a cleaning woman. She always has that," Lynn declared, "for no one she gets ever satisfies father. He howls at the sight of them."

She smiled, thinking of her father's untidy, medicinally odorous office on the first floor of their frame house. She remembered when that house had stood in the country, rather than in the town proper. She remembered hearing the wheels of the rig drive out night after night on errands of mercy. She remembered the rig. She remembered the encroaching growth of the small, energetic town.

"Your father works himself to death," Sarah announced, attacking her salad. "He and your mother should get away for a rest."

"They're talking about going to Florida this winter. Father hates to turn over his practice, though. The new young doctor is clever, he says, but father thinks people depend on him. And he's right," Lynn added proudly.

"Of course he's right," agreed Sarah, out of her long, loyal friendship with the Hardings. She was Lynn's godmother. And it was she who had poured soothing sirup on the troubled family waters when young Lynn, after less than a year at her state university, had decided she had been enough expense to the family and must therefore come to New York to make her own fortune. It was Sarah who had met Lynn at the train, who had found this job for her and who had urged her to stay with her in the small apartment she shared with another woman.

COATS GIVE GLIMPSE OF FROCKS UNDERNEATH

Swagger coats prance into the fashion scene this month with all the assurance in the world.

Sure chic swings from wide shoulders, and they prefer the three-quarters of seven- eights length, showing your pet frocks beneath them.

If you're one of those going to Moscow this summer, or Paris, Spain or points East, North or South, you should investigate these new coats.

Novelty Effects Distinguish New Tweeds

The tweeds are grand that make them. They are finely woven, in novelty effects, most effective and handsome to see.

For any kind of a trip, from a short airplane spin to a round-the-world cruise, you could use and would enjoy the blue and white novelty Forstmann tweed on the left. Its checked effect is stunning and it is used with plain navy jersey in a novel and pleasing manner.

It fastens only at the neck, and there with its blue jersey scarf, which can, if you like, be tied under your chin.

The sleeves extend from drop shoulders and they start with fine tucks which give them a lot of width after the tucks flare out to nothing. They flare even more at the wrist. The swagger coat in the new length and excellent with any type of suit or dress you want to wear for travel.

Here's Ensemble That's Smart and Serviceable

For a charming, chic and serviceable ensemble, this three-piece outfit of light blue and white, finely striped tweed is swell. The skirt is fitted and flared, by a series of diagonally cut sections. The upper buttons right up to the neck, with no lingerie touches that need laundering and nothing to change this way or that.

Over this the matching coat flares in the new, trig manner and it can be worn with lapels flaring out, as they are in the picture, or fastened snugly under the chin.

Don't Leap Into the Dark

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
An Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

"Completely disillusioned at 37" is the way this comparatively young woman speaks of herself. She thinks of leaving a comfortable home for no better reason than this, that she "gets no kick" out of life. In short, she is bored. There appears to be nothing in the way of charges against her husband.

When I think of the accounts of real poverty, trouble, irreconsilable heart affairs, that come to me day by day, I am impatient with trumped-up troubles. This correspondent, in spite of every presumption of sympathy, appears to be one of these people. She has perhaps a too easy berth, a too indulgent husband.

If some real trouble came into the placid existence that makes up her home life, she might be heroic. As it is, she makes herself unhappy, if not miserable, longing for something out of her reach.

Face to face, I'd like to ask her, "What do you want? Come now, give it a name!" Nine chances in 10 she would be unready—unable to say more than appears in her letter. She is disillusioned. She apparently wants illusions.

Illusions, to have some real quality should come from within. There ought to be something more tangible than the bare word. And so I will offer one flat, practical suggestion. If you have no children of your own, adopt a child, perferably a young one.

You'll get "kick" a-plenty keeping your eye on an active child. There will be all kinds of things to be done for it; a 24 hours a day responsibility; to say nothing about the joy of watching this young citizen develop, and taking part in that development.

Then there is that husband of yours. What about his illusions? Have any of these been materialized in marriage? Do you ask yourself any questions about him? Have you two had any discussions on the subject?

Without a doubt, a child in which you are both interested would make a lot of difference. Think of that suggestion, from the standpoint of your husband's happiness.

You speak of being bored. Is your husband bored? If so, do something about it now, before it's too late.

Save your home from the peril that threatens it. Don't pursue illusions to the point of making a leap in the dark. That experiment may cost you many useless regrets.

Your Children
BY Olive Roberts Barton

PUNISHMENT HAS STRANGE RESULTS

Mrs. Smith came into the nursery proudly carrying two blue oilcloth cushions. The nursery had just been done over in fine style — newly painted floor with a checkerboard on it in great blocks, new pale blue woodwork and shell pink wallpaper with Mother Goose figures all over it.

Jackie was to play as he had never played before — in an orderly room in an orderly manner. Shelves on one side to hold his new constructive toys, small exercisers in well disguised forms, a tiny table on which to do his cutting out and coloring. Yes, Jack was to grow up into a fine orderly man with a fine orderly mind and a well developed body. The stage was all set.

"Come up here, darling," she called, "and try these new cushions. Now you can keep yourself all nice and clean." But before Jackie had time to scramble up the stairs her eye beheld a shocking sight.

SUCH ACTIVITY

The wall beyond the table was marked generously with bright green oil crayon. Puss-in-Boots looked at the world through a verdant circle. Humpty Dumpty had small pox, and Baa-Baa Black Sheep had javelins of green stuck cruelly through his wooly hide For a solid square yard every small neighbor had been touched up in a manner startling to behold.

Jackie came rushing in to be caught up, turned over on his bed and spanked. When that was over he was jerked over to the pasture and shaken so that couldn't hear at first just what he was being punished for.

But after his mother's hysterics were over and his sobbing stopped he discovered that his attempt to help in fixing up his pretty room had been received with contempt. It was a funny world! Some things you did you got cooed over for and patted and kissed, and other things that you worked on harder than ever only brought down the sky on your head.

There was more wall paper and before night the murals were restored to their pristine beauty.

MUSTN'T TOUCH!

This is what happened to Jackie. He knew he must never touch any more wall paper with crayon, but now he itched terribly to draw on somebody's wall, not to help decorate, but for another very queer reason he couldn't explain. It just seemed that he must draw.

He stood it for two days, then the chance offered itself. He was over at Grandma's and the man was painting the house white. Jackie saw the green door. He didn't care for green much now. He got a whisk broom out of the hall and when the painter was eating his lunch behind the lilacs, he smeared the door with white. It dripped on the stone step and hall rug, but nobody was around to stop him. He had learned secretiveness.

The psychology of punishment is strange. There are right kinds and wrong. A child punished when a good motive lies behind his action will develop various things—none of them desirable—which he will carry in some form or other as long as he lives.

The Beauty Box
By Helen Follett

Ever hear of pillow wrinkles? They are lines extending from eye corners down over the cheek. You get them too when you sleep with your hand under your cheek, pushing the flesh forward toward the nose. Large pillows send the head forward invite double chins to live where one should reside. Sleeping on the back with a small pillows rolled under the neck and the head thrown back is one way of toning and repairing a sagging neck. Muscles are stretched, that's what they need. The habit of carrying the chin low is a bad one; forms jaw lines. And what gal wants them?

Don't forget that heat helps to fluff off dead skin scales and through application of hot moist compresses, it is possible to lighten and lessen freckles. To make the treatment speedier of results apply a bleaching pack made of five tablespoonfuls of olive oil, the juice of half a lemon and sufficient almond meal to form a paste the consistency of whipped cream. Cover with gauze—you snip out a hole for your nose so you won't smother—and slap on the steaming hot towels, changing now and then.

Instead of the old time henna red, the supplicant for dyed hair selects a chestnut shade, if that happens to harmonize with eyes and complexion. Hair tinting and dyeing is a business that has attained a high degree of perfection, some beauty experts doing nothing else. Even heads that have been color-wrecked through improper treatment are restored to prinstine beauty.

Nail white in stick form is a new offering. It comes in the form of a pensil, sharpened neatly. You push it under the nail eaves, it removes stains and makes a neater job than when a preparation in paste form is used. Nother thing: cosmetic chemists are putting up creams, cleaners, all kinds of beauty props in tiny packages so they can be tucked into the purse.

To reduce the size of thighs, lie on the back, lift up the little feet, pretend to pedal a bicycle. No lazy work, mind you! Pull hard on the muscles and pedal like everything. Hard working muscles never let fat cells linger 'round.

Beware of using henna on white hair. It is likely to place upon the feminine halo a bright carrot shade which is neither natural-looking nor becoming. On matters of hair dyeing and bleaching, it is advisable to seek professional information. Pays in the long run.

UNUSUAL PRESERVES

Quince, Apple, Cranberry Conserve —Cut up on peck of Jonathan apples, also cut up five large quinces, and add one quart or cranberries. Cover with water, and cook till apples and quinces are tender then let drip overnight through a jelly pad. Measure this strained juice, and for each cup of it add a cup of granulated sugar. Boil 20 minutes and turn quickly in hot, sterilized jelly glasses. When cold and firm, cover with melted paraffine wax.

Spiced Gooseberries—Clean and stem four boxes of gooseberries, removing both ends. Tie in a muslin bag one ounce each of whole cloves, allspice and cinnamon; and add this with two pounds of sugar and one cup of mild cider vinegar. Cook slowly for two hours, then seal at once in hot, sterilized jars. (When done, it is like jam, in consistency).

Heavenly Hash—Through the food chopper put one box of blue plums, two packages of large seedless raisins, four lemons (not rind), four oranges (rind and all), and stir in four pounds of sugar. Cook one hour, or till it forms a thick sirup, then seal at once in hot jars.

Quince Honey—Boil three cups of sugar with two cups of water till it forms a thick sirup, then put one pared quince through the food chopper and add the fruit to this thick hot sirup. et cook till fruit is done, then bottle.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. In Germany

Dispatches from Germany give two reasons for the decision of President Von Hindenburg to demand the resignation of Chancellor Bruening, and to offer the Chancellorship to Franz von Papen.

The majority of the Reichstag is Liberal in character. Von Papen represents the extremely Conservative Centrist party, and the new Von Papen party is made up chiefly of the old nobility, and in this sense resembles the German cabinets of pre-war days.

One reason given by the dispatches for the change is that the president had decided that the elections in the diets of the German states had shown that the central Government had lost the confidence of the people. This is the official reason given in the presidential proclamation. The other reason, which is merely hinted at in the dispatches, is that Von Hindenburg was forced by the pressure of the military party to make a change of face a coup d'etat which would probably have succeeded.

General elections in Germany have been called for July 31, and it is likely as a consequence of the change which has taken place that the deliberations at Lausanne, at which the chief subject will be reparations and war debts, will be delayed as a result.

It seems quite clear that Germany cannot attend this conference and take any positive part in conjunction with the other nations affected until after the general elections have decided which party in Germany is to hold the reins.

There is not much that is enlightening in the declaration of the new cabinet. About two-thirds of the declaration are devoted to a gloomy picture of Germany's plight. Its political program is set out as follows:

"At last to obtain for the fatherland, in peaceful cooperation with other nations, full equality, political freedom and the possibility of economic recovery.

"Only a Germany that enjoys equal rights is free and economically healthy and will be able to contribute toward the recovery of the world.

"Naturally, all efforts for the well-being of peoples can be successful only if it is possible at the same time to remove the economic sources of disturbance in the realm of money and capital, intercourse and exchange of goods, which now is causing the world's unrest.

"The Reich's Government is ready to cooperate in all efforts that serve this end."

The declaration continues to the effect that any successful representation abroad of German national interests must be founded on "sound political quality," and that the new Government, independent of parties, will lead a fight for "the spiritual and economic recovery of the nation."

Undoubtedly the campaign in the German elections will give a great deal of emphasis to the German position of refusal to pay war reparations, and to the German demand for revision of the Treaty of Versailles, particularly with reference to reparations and to territorial readjustments affecting East Prussia and the Polish corridor, where the Wilsonian policy of self-determination created such a political, economic and geographic mess.

Economic Quackery

It is natural that in times like these, when everyone is seeking a remedy for a condition of depression, that in the desire to obtain a remedy all sorts of unsound proposal should be made. There is often quackery in economics, and in these days the economic quacks are having the time of their lives.

The Canadian Monetary Reform League, with headquarters in Ottawa, has been organized with the purpose of reforming the monetary systems of the world. Boiled down, its proposal is that any reform in our monetary system must

"(a) remove the control of credit from banking systems and restore it to its rightful owners, the community, and

"(b) exercise this control through Government, for the greatest benefit of the community."

The League makes the declaration that existing debts both external and internal can only be paid on a fair and proper basis through an increase in the amount of money in circulation, and advocates that this additional issue of credit should be an issue "on behalf of the community by the Government itself," and should not be given "the form of an additional banker's loan credit."

This proposal simply means that we should attempt to set up political control of money for the purpose of creating a condition of inflation. When we note what our politicians have done in connection with trying to control the world wheat market situation, and we see that they have allowed to be done to the Canadian National Railway, it is enough to strike horror into the most optimistic heart to think of giving the politicians complete control of the price of money. And, of course, a Government could no more be successful in regulating the price or purchasing power of money than it can be successful in defying the laws of supply and demand by fixing the price of wheat or metal or any other commodity.

It is a simple matter for wealthy people in the Irish Free State to go and live in England, and many will do so now because of the increased tax and surtax imposed by the de Valera government. One well known racehorse trainer has decided to abandon his stable in Ireland. Mr. Cosgrave, in criticizing the Free State budget, says there are only two men in the country with incomes of £100,000 a year. If both leave the Free State the loss to the Exchequer would be considerably more than the sum derived from the increases in surtax.

In order that San Francisco's police shall be able to speak "fearlessly, clearly and correctly when occasion demands," a class in oratory has been formed for them. Members of the traffic squad, it is presumed, will be excused from compulsory attendance.

Illinois prison guards at Stateville, answering a still alarm, found it was just that. The explosion that revealed its presence in a cell also wrecked the small moonshine plant that had been supplying favored prisoners with alcohol.

"Between You and Me"

By "J.B.C."

Was asked the other day by Charles Kearns, game warden, if I had been fishng lately—I smiled sweetly and replied firmly "of course not"—It would not do to tell a game warden a fellow had been fishing—For it costs a dollar for licence fees this summer—But I was telling the truth I had not been fishing—And I had no licence.

Did you ever stop to think how much it costs to go on a fishing jaunt these days? I do not mean actual cost of the trip but cost in taxes—First of all a fellow buys an auto licence—Then he has to buy a new driver's licence—If he is going fishing he needs a fishing licence—If he intends to camp out he must get a fire permit or licence—Before he starts his car he pays a tax on his gasoline—If he wishes to take a dozen beer or a bottle of Scotch he must have a liquor permit or licence—Before he can get anywhere himself he needs a birth certificate—And if married he must have a marriage licence—If he wishes to do a little prospecting on the trip he must have a prospectors' licence or free miner's certificate—Of course some motorists have a radio in their car which means a radio licence—And after one gets on such a trip he is lucky to have licence to be alive—And the fish have no licence, whatsoever, to get away—Should the chap have a successful day on the lake and decide to step the light fantastic at Hap Hogan's at Balfour—He has to pay another licence—Amusement tax which entitles him to wear out a certain percentage of his shoe leather on the dance floor provided for by said Mr. Hogan—And the funny part of it all is the fact that a fellow out for a day's outing always enjoys himself—It certainly is expensive to even go fishing—And the government never, after getting cash for all these licences that can be collected, guarantees a fisherman any luck—If you want any more information on this licence stuff, just get in touch with T. A. Brewer of the forest branch. He's all hopped up over the thing.

Speaking of names we have a Brewer in the forest branch and the Brew is in the provincial jail. He's a guard there. They are both "still" on the job.

And so the game warden then asked me if I had heard the story about the trapper and his dog who were lost in the north. This trapper had a large dog, about the size of "Jack" Cam who lives around the jail. The procedure before each trip into the wilds was for the trapper to load himself up with 40 pounds of grub and supplies—And to load 40 pounds onto the dog's back—Then they would hit the trail—They made numerous trips—But one day they got caught in zero weather and a heavy snow storm. They became lost in the bush and wandered aimlessly through the blizzard—Finally the grub gave out—They were starving—The dog looked at it's master wondering what to do, and figuring he would make several good meals—The master looked at the dog and figured about the same—But one loved the other and vice versa—At last in desperation the trapper ate the soup and gave the He roughly grabbed his dog—Drew his knife—And—And—And—He cut through the air—The knife descended and buried itself into the dog's tail—Off came the monstrous tail—The master grabbed it up—Cut it in pieces and stewed it—The trapped ate the soup and gave the dog the bones—The blizzard ended—They found their bearings and made civilization—Both lived happily ever after—Game Warden Kearns swears that is a true story—But these government officials tell such large tales—But did you ever size up "Jack" Cam's tail? He's an oversized dog. I hope he can't read because "Jack" is touchy.

J. Paul Pitner, picture show manager extraordinary who recently returned to our midst in Nelson, was formerly in Vancouver and New Westminster. Paul used to be a good Gyro while in Nelson and presumably was a ditto while in the Salmon center at the coast. In New Westminster the Gyros put out a publication called the Gyroyal. Presumably named after the Royal city. In Nelson they called their publication the Gyrometer. I was editor of the local sheet for a time and the main object was to take a good crack at someone once in a while and as often as possible. In the last issue of the Gyroyal they have a 12 point heading (That's printers' measure). It reads:

O.K. Paul Pitner in Nelson."

Then it goes on.

Front: "Did you hear that they have released 'he Doukhobors?"

Back: "No, is that right?"

Front: "Yes. They couldn't find a thing on them."

Well, Paul, that's O.K. with me. But talking about Doukhobors, think of the saving in clotheslines these people will have if the government would let them alone. But one fanatic told me that he "nude" his own business.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON

THE TRUE PHYSICIAN TREATS THE MIND AS WELL AS THE BODY

Your doctor will tell you that a large percentage of the patients who consult him have no organic trouble, but only think they have. As they think they have something wrong with them it is necessary that the doctor remove this "think" from them if he is to keep them as patients. Simply telling them that there is nothing wrong and that they should "forget it" would mean that they would go to some other doctor or to some healer.

Dr. C. A. Martin, Montreal, says that every patient who consults his doctor is really to some extent a mental patient, and this should always be remembered by the physician.

Dr. Stewart R. Roberts, Altanta, Ga., says that in the future the medical man will probably examine the personality of the patient with more scientific care than he now devotes to examining the urine, the blood, or the heart.

While there is no question but that one's actions or one's reactions toward certain conditions may be affected by lack of sleep, by infection, by a sluggish liver and other physical conditions, nevertheless many individuals have developed a "personality" that reacts in certain definite ways.

The three great types that do not respond or react well to their circumstances or surroundings are: (1) to leave their circumstances or surroundings entirely by committing suicide or by disappearing; (2) to develop symptoms of physical illness in order to escape from duties or responsibilities; or (3) to turn their minds inward on themselves and begin brooding or to imagining themselves amid other surroundings. Thus the size of an event does not depend upon its character but upon the individual's reaction to it. Thus you may remember four lines of the poem,

"A trouble's an ounce or a trouble's a ton
A trouble is just what you make it
It isn't the fact that you're hurt that counts
It's only "how did you take it."

Dr. Roverts says that it is possible to manipulate the personality, but in doing so the physician must have and use a large fund of sympathy and common sense.

"Any physician can treat the physical body but the great (sensitive) ones treat the soul also, remembering that anything that cures the patient is scientific.

The International Boundary

The International Boundary commission is a body which has been created by treaty between Canada and the United States for the purpose of surveying, mapping, and marking the international boundary between the two countries, and for subsequently maintaining that boundary in a state of effective demarcation. The commission consists of two commissioners and their staffs. One commissioner is appointed by His Britannic Majesty upon the recommendation of the government of Canada and the other day by the president of the United States. In Canada the International Boundary commission is a branch of the department of the interior.

The entire international boundary between Canada and the United States was originally defined in treaties between Great Britain and the United States, dated 1783, 1818, and 1846, while the boundary between Canada and Alaska was originally defined in a convention with Russia in 1825. As soon after the signing of the treaties as efforts were made to carry them into effect by attempting to locate the seen difficulties arose, and to settle these differences and to provide for the proper determination, survey, and marking of the boundary, 13 additional treaties, conventions and exchanges of diplomatic notes were found necessary.

The boundary as defined in the various treaties is 5500 miles in length, of which 3100 miles is land boundary and 2400 miles water boundary. A total of 5483 monuments mark the land portion of the boundary while 2530 reference marks, from which the water boundary can be conveniently located, have been erected. In addition the land boundary is also marked by a vista cut through the woods in all forest covered areas.

Everywhere along the international boundary the surveys made of it have been connected to the control surveys of the geodetic survey of Canada, department of the interior, and those of the United States coast and geodetic survey. The only exception to this is the Yukon-Alaska boundary, in the vicinity of which there are as yet no geodetic surveys.

At present the larger part of the work of the international boundary commission is to carry into effect the obligations of the treaty of 1925 by determining the location of any point of the boundary line which may become necessary in the settlement of any question that may arise between the two governments and by doing annually such work as is necessary to permanently maintain the entire boundary in a state of effective demarcation.

Auction and Contract Bridge

By the World's Leading Authority, MILTON C. WORK

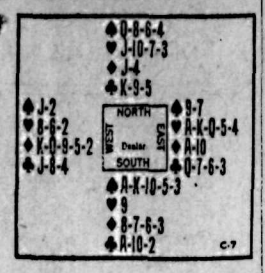
A TOURNAMENT HAND



The above hand was played in one of the pair contests of the American Bridge league in Philadelphia last December. At ost tables the bidding was: South one Spade, West a rather nerry two Diamonds, North two Spades, West pass, North four Spades.

West led the Eight of Hearts to trick 1; East won with the Queen and shifted to the Ace of Diamonds hoping that East would over-ruff North or, in the vent of his failure to do so, that a trump would be made good in East's hand. North ruffed with the Queen so as to shut out the Jack or Nine of trumps if East had either card.

The feature play occured at this stage when the Queen of Spades had won. Declarer already had lost three tricks and could not afford to lose another; therefore, he must get a Club discard on one of North's Hearts. North led the Jack of Hearts to trick 5, East covered with the King and South trumped. After that the Ace and King of trumps were led and fortunately for the Declarer the adverse trumps fell so there was no danger of losing a trump trick. To trick 8 South led his last Diamond which dummy ruffed, and to trick 9 dummy led the Ten of Hearts. If East should not cover this card, South would discard a Club; so East had no option in the matter and South ruffed and put dummy in with the King of Clubs to lead his now established Seven of Hearts on which South discarded a Club.

Declarer made a very pretty, also a somewhat lucky, play when he shut out East's chance to over-ruff a Diamond and then captured all four of the adverse trumps with South's Ace and King in two leads. He made his contract and game by winning one Heart, two Clubs and seven tricks with Spades.

Creative Music No Career for a Livelihood

Young musicians who go to New York expecting to find fame and fortune are doomed to grievous disappointment. This is on the authority of Walter Damrosch orchestra director, and Dr. John Erskine, author. They were addressing a musical guidance forum.

After describing the "catastrophic conditions" surrounding the musicians of New York this winter, Mr. Damrosch urged students to "go home and be pioneers in your home town."

"If you teach music to your neighbors, start a high school orchestra and encourage music in its every phase in the community, starting with the woman, who will be your principal support at first, you will create a culture such as this country never saw before," he said.

"There are no economic opportunities in creative music," said Professor Erskine. "A creative artist may make money, but if he does it will be an accident. The great problem in all creative art is that the artist has no right to ask society for support for something that society doesn't want.

A WAGNER WOULD STARVE IN U. S. A.

"If we had a great musical genius in this country today, one who could write opera comparable to Wagner, he would have no economic career whatever. There are not enough opera houses here. The income from his work would not pay his rent. In Germany, on the other hand, where opera is common, a successful opera is equivalent to a run on Broadway. The same is true of the creator of symphonic compositions or chamber music."

W. J. Henderson, veteran music critic, said there were 30 young singers of great talent at the Metropolitan who got a chance to sing two lines once in three weeks.

The choice now confronting the world is between socialism and catastrophe.—Norman Thomas, Socialist nominee for the presidency.

It is perfectly right that if a country has no money to pay its debts it has no right to spend the taxpayers' money on an armaments race between people who have all outlawed war. —Senator Henry de Jouvenel of France

Christianity is all split up and cannot speak with united voice about anything.—The Rev. Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, pastor, Riverside Baptist church, New York.

Statesmen alone cannot solve the problems which arise in international affairs. The nations must become accustomed to look to the organized system of the expert report, which gives a just and impartial lead to governments and public opinion . . . should be regularly accepted just as a judicial decisions are accepted as a matter of course.—General Jan Smuts South African leader.

Cream Puffs Filled With Chicken Salad

Half cup butter, 1 cup hot water, 1 1-2 cups pastry flour, 5 eggs. Add fat to water, and when mixture boils, add flour all at once, stirring very rapidly until muxture leaves sides of pan. Take from fire, cool slightly and add unbeaten eggs one at a time, beating each one into mixture; drop in desired quantities on a greased tin, remembering they will double in size in cooking. Bake 25 to 30 minutes in a good oven until light, brown, puffy and fat bubbles in creases have disappeared. To fill shells with salad, cut off top with a sharp knife, fill and replace.

Shrimp Salad

Take half a box of gelatine, put in a cup of cold water and let stand 10 minutes, then add two cups boiling water, 1-2 cup mild vinegar, 1-2 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon salt. When jelly begins to thicken add one can of shrimps cut fine, 1 cup finely cut celery and 1 tin pimentos cut up fine. Let stand until jellied. Serve on lettuce leaves with salad dressing, sprinkling a few finely chopped walnuts on top.

Argyle Salad

Apricots drained, 2 cups; marshmallows, 12; pecan or walnut meats, 1-2 cup; whipped cream, 1 cup; egg yolks, 4; vinegar, suggar, salt, dry mustard, butter, red pepper and lettuce.

Place drained apricots on lettuce, put yolks in double boiler, add vinegar, sugar salt, mustard, red pepper and butter. Cook 5 minutes, stirring them. Cool, then add whipped cream and beat thoroughly; then add nuts and marshmallows in fine pieces, placing a spoonful of dressing on each salad.

Cake Baskets

Take small individual sponge cakes and scoop out centers. Fill center with ice cream, heaped up well. Then over the top sprinkle coarse cake crumbs, made by crumbling the cake taken to make a dish for the ice cream. These are served on individual plates.

Cherry Souffles

Put 4 ounces sifted flour into a saucepan and stir in slowly 3 cups milk. Stir and cook over the fire, and stir until nearly cold. Warm 3 ounces butter until soft, but not oily, and beat to a cream; then beat 1-2 cup sugar, 6 well-beaten eggs, 2 tablespoons powdered sugar. Stir in 1 1-2 lbs., black stoned cherries. Butter a souffle dish or mold, sprinkle lightly with bread crumbs. Pour mixture into mold, cover with buttered paper and bake in a moderate oven until set (25 to 30 minutes.) Serve immediately on a hot dish.

Rice Apples

When there is a cup or more of cold cooked rice left over, a pretty and palatable dish can be made by paring and removing the cores of enough apples to cover a pie plate, allowing space between each one. Fill the cavity with cream, sugar and bright colored jelly. Delicately sweeten the rice and pour around, but do not cover the tops of the apples. Bake until apples are tender and serve hot.

Pineapple Bavarian Cream

Half box gelatin or 2 tablespoons granulated gelatin, ½ cup cold water, 1 can grated pineapple, ½ cup sugar, 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Whip 3 cups cream.

Soak gelatin in cold water, heat pineapple, add sugar, lemon juice and soaked gelatin. Chill in pan of ice water, stirring constantly. When it begins to thicken, fold in whipped cream, mold and chill.

Luncheon Eggs

Two eggs hard boiled, 2 raw 1-4 cup grated cheese, 1-2 teaspoon cayenne pepper, 1 teaspoon curry, 1-4 cup bread crumbs. Put in greased baking dish, cover sliced cooked eggs with beaten raw ones. Add other ingredients with bread crumbs last. Bake till brown.

SWEETENING MILK

If you are afraid milk is beginning to turn sour add a tiny pinch of soda and it will keep it sweet a little longer.

Raspberry Water Ice

Cook 2 cups sugar in 1 quart water half an hour, add the juice of 2 lemons, and when cool turn into the freezer. When half-frozen, stir in 2 cups fine, ripe raspberries.

SCIENCE FINDS NEW MERITS IN ALL-BRAN

Has "Bulk" and Vitamin B for Constipation, and Iron for Blood

In the past ten years millions have found Kellogg's ALL-BRAN the safe "cereal way" to overcome common constipation—with the headaches, backaches, loss of appetite and energy, that so often result.

Behind this success is the proved effectiveness of ALL-BRAN. Laboratory tests show ALL-BRAN brings two things needed to overcome common constipation: "Bulk" to exercise the intestines. Vitamin B to tone the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN also contains twice as much blood-building iron, by weight, as beef liver.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like the bulk in lettuce. Inside the body it forms a soft mass. Gently it clears the intestines of wastes.

How much more pleasant it is to use this delicious cereal than to abuse your system with pills and drugs—so often habit-forming.

Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily with milk or cream—sufficient to overcome most types of constipation—in serious cases, with every meal. If you have intestinal trouble not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Special cooking processes make ALL-BRAN finer, softer, more palatable. It is not habit-forming. Appetizing recipes on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

GARAZENS PLAY S BRILLIANT TO EAD GOLFERS

Finishes With 69 in British Open; Few Have Chance to Surpass

SANDWICH, England, June 9 (AP).—Gene Sarazen, stocky New York professional, continued his brilliant play in the second chapter of the British open golf title chase today, and finished with an imposing 69 over the Prince's course.

Equalling the record set by two young Britons, Don Curtis and Eric McRuvie, in the qualifying round, Sarazen's two-day total was 139, three strokes ahead of Percy Alliss of Great Britain, his closest contender. Alliss carded 71 today, equaling his mark of yesterday, for a 142 total, an impressive score at any time.

After his fine 70 of yesterday, the New York Italian was nine under par for the two rounds today.

ONLY 10

CONCEDED CHANCE

Only 10 professionals out of the final field of 60 were given much chance to overhaul Sarazen. But in his number were such British stars as W. H. Davies, Charles Whitcombe and the giant Archie Compston, all in a tie for third place with 144, five strokes behind the leader.

Another stroke back was Tommy Armour, Scottish-American defender of the title, with 145, and tied with him was another pair of Britons, Fred Robson and Arthur Havers. In the 146-stroke class were A. J. Lacey and Henry Cotton, with MacDonald Smith, another Scottish-American, one at 147.

The 36-hole grind tomorrow may provide for any sort of upset over the difficult Prince's course. With the galaxy of British stars always threatening, Sarazen must continue his brilliant play to win the coveted title.

PERFECT SHOT MAKING

Playing today with Hon. Michael Scott, Sarazen drew admiration from the gallery at the perfection of his shot making.

Gene clipped birdies at the second and fifth holes to reach the turn in 35, one under par. He was a stroke over par at the ninth. Coming back, he picked up birdies at the 12th, 14th, 16th and 17th holes for a 34. Only a nine-foot putt on the 18th that failed to drop for another birdie cost him a 68.

He tossed his hat in the air and beamed at the gallery as he got the 69, while the Hon. Michael Scott, who himself had shot par, quietly tore up his card.

AS TOUGH LUCK

Percy Alliss, despite his remarkable round, had tough luck when he missed chances at some of the greens. His first error came at the fifth, where he missed a six-foot putt which would have given him a two. He dropped a birdie three at the seventh after a fine drive that brought him close to the hole. He got a fine four at the 17th, but lost his chance of overtaking Sarazen today by taking five on the last.

Compston put forth a great effort which landed him in third place with Whitcombe and Davies. He started badly by taking three putts on the first green, but soon settled down and holed a 15-foot putt at the short third for two. A five-yard putt gave him a birdie at the sixth and he turned in 34. On the return journey he was three under even fours at the 14th, but took five at the 17th to finish at 70.

ARMOUR MAKES 70

Armour whipped the long and difficult layout along channel shores for a splendid 70 in a desperate effort to get back in the thick of the fight, but his aggregate of 145, entirely respectable in the face of anything but Sarazen's remarkable play, still left him six strokes behind.

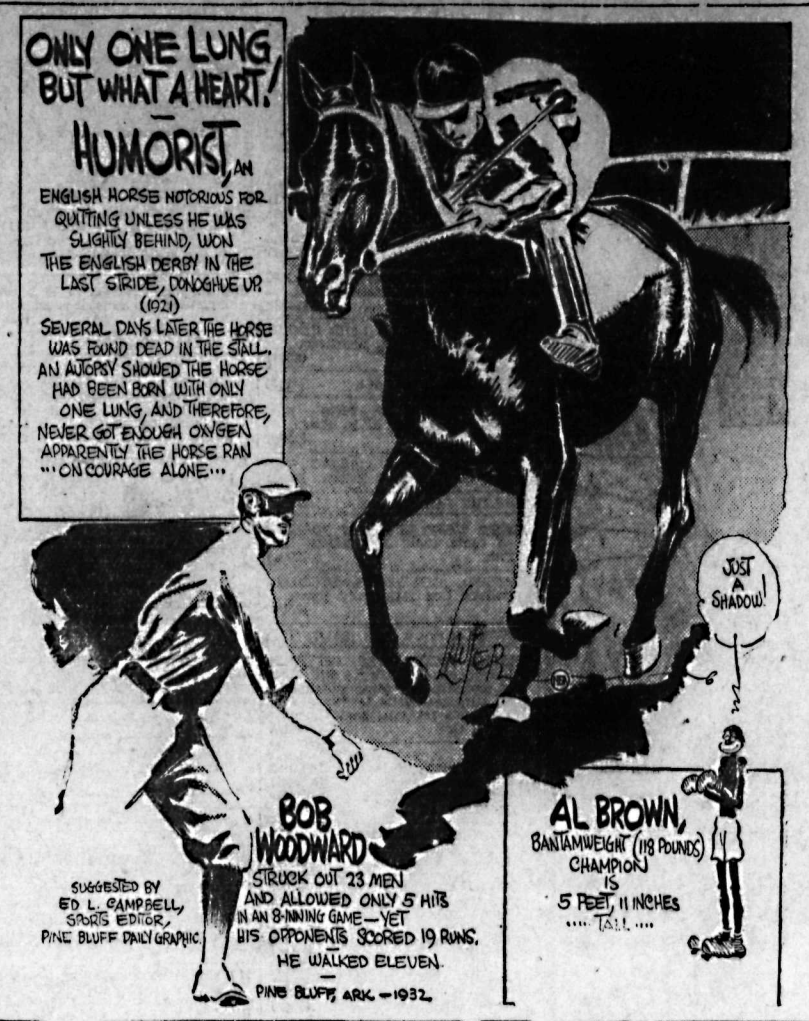
A. R. Bradbeer, winner of the qualifying round, added 75 to his 73 of yesterday for a 151 total.

NARROWLY MISSED FAME

Phil Page, southpaw sent to Seattle by the Detroit Tigers, narrowly missed pitching a nohit game recently against Oakland in the Coast League. The only hit off him in nine innings was a slow roller to shortstop which he batted out.

MEYER HAS NEW JOB

Benny Meyer, who used to play in the outfield for the New York Giants and Brooklyn and who coached the Detroit Tigers in 1929 and 1930, is on the payroll of the Montreal club in the International League as a coach.



"Strangler" Lewis Throws Shikat in New York Match

Earns Right to Meet Londos; Many Bouts on Ring Card

NEW YORK, June 9 (By Edward J. Neil, A P sports writer)—Calmly almost apathetically, a herd of wrestlers, headed by "Strangler" Ed Lewis, the ancient caveman of Kentuckey, and "Ruthless" Richard Shikat, of Germany, opened Madison Square Garden's new outdoor bowl on Long Island tonight.

That portion of the crowd of about 35,000 that came to see the wrestling watchd Lewis, old and fat, throw Shikat, young and powerful, in one hour, six minutes, seven seconds with a head lock, while those who attended mostly to view the huge amphitheater where Max Schmeling and Jack Sharkey will fight for the heavyweight title June 21, had a nice time parading through vacant seats and visiting with friends.

Lewis, who gained the right to challenge Jim Londos for the heavyweight title in the Madison Square division, weighed 236 pounds, a great deal of it about his waistline, while Shikat, a mighty young man but never very popular with the local faithful, scaled 218.

BRITISH TENNIS TEAM DIVIDES U.S. PLAYERS

EASTBOURNE, England, June 9—(AP).—A British tennis team broke even today in the first two matches of an international series with the United States team.

Bunny Austin, ranking British player, took the measure of Gregory Mangin in straight sets, 6-1, 6-3, 9-7, while J. S. Oliff was defeated in four sets, 3-6, 6-4, 6-4, 6-1, by Sidney B. Wood Jr., who won the English championships last year.

Although a member of Britain's Davis cup team, Austin remained behind for the team matches when Fred Perry, George Hughes, H. G. N. Lee and H. B. David left to play Poland in a Davis cup series.

KIMBERLEY, B. C., June 9.—On this coming Saturday at the arena, local fight fans will see one of the best cards staged here for a long time in the return bout between Patsy Mullen of Vancouver and Murdo Morrison of this city. They are both in good shape after working out steadily since their fight here on May 21, which is reputed to be one of the best cards ever staged in the East Kootenay. These boys weigh 155 pounds each and will go eight rounds in the main event of next Saturday's fight card.

In a special event, Mickey Stewart of Marysville and Frank MacKay of Fernie will go four rounds.

BEAVER BALL TEAM AT GRAND FORKS TIES WITH SENIORS

GRAND FORKS, B. C., June 9.—The newly organized Beaver baseball team played the Grand Forks seniors in an exhibition game here Tuesday evening to a tie.

The game, although being full of thrills, was not lacking in errors. Several had plays at first base and in the field preventing an air-tight exhibition on the part of the regular team; while lack of practise and team work worked hardships for the opposition. O. Keefe and Bailey hurled for the seniors while Jim Miller pitched good ball for the Beavers.

Teams were as follows:

Seniors—Savage (c), O'Keefe and Bailey (p), H. Cooper (1b), Eureby (2b), Bailey and Ronald (ss), Hutton (3b), R. Cooper (l.f.), P. Scott (c.f.), Ronald and O'Keefe (r.f.).

Beavers—Manson (c), Miller (p), A. Bickerton (1b), J. Lyden (2b), E. Bickerton (s.s.), Skuratoff (3b), A. Smith (l.f.), H. Bailey (c.f.), T. Sontano (r.f.).

Umpire—J. Santano.

In the Grand Forks city league the teams participating are Columbia Saw Mill and High School. Columbia has defeated Saw Mill once and High School twice. Saw Mill lost to Columbia and defeated High School. High School has lost three games, two to Columbia and one to Saw Mill. Columbia and Saw Mill tangle Wednesday evening.

PHILADELPHIA, June 9—French's relief pitching, coupled with timely hitting by the Pirates and the failure of the Phils to drive in runs with men on bases, enabled Pittsburgh to defeat the Phillies 4 to 3 today.

The Phils outhit the Pirates 12 to 7. Swetonic started for the Pirates but retired for a pinch hitter in the eighth when the Bucs scored two runs and took the lead.

Brame, who relieved Swetonic, allowed both Klein and Hurst to hit safely, but French replaced him and prevented the Phils from scoring. V. Davis hit a homer in the fifth inning.

NEW YORK, June 9—Due principally to the home run hitting feats of Melvin Ott, the New York Giants today won their fifth game in seven starts since Bill Terry became manager, turning back the Cincinnati Reds, 3 to 2.

For the second time in three games against the Reds, Ott provided the winning runs by hitting two homers in a game and the pair of four baggers brought his total for the season up to 11. Mel hit his first homer in the second inning just after George Grantham had parked one of Jim Mooney's offerings into the grandstand. Then after the Reds had gained a 2-2 tie in the fifth, Ott again hit for the circuit in the sixth and won the game.

DETROIT 5, NEW YORK 4

DETROIT, June 9—Vic Sorrell, ace of the Tigers' pitching staff, today broke the spell the New York Yankees have held over the western clubs of the American league, and with considerable aid from the hitting department, he sent Detroit back into third place with a 5 to 4 victory over the Yanks.

It was the first game the Yanks have lost in 12 starts against the western teams, and the triumph put the Tigers a half game ahead of the defeated Philadelphia Athletics, who were third, and a few points above the Cleveland Indians, who are virtually tied with Detroit.

Sorrell received official credit for the victory but he failed to complete the game. Leading by two runs when the ninth inning opened, he walked the first two batsmen. Elon Hogsett was called in to relieve him and finally retired the side after filling the bases with a pass to Turh and allowing Myril Hoag to score on Gehrig's fly.

DAVIS CUP PLAY

JAPAN MAKES CLEAN SWEEP ON OPENER OVER DENMARK

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, June 9 (AP).—Jiro Satoh, Japanese tennis ace, today defeated Anker Jackbsen, youthful Danish star, in the first match of the Japan-Denmark Davis cup series for the right to enter the final round of the European zone. The score was 6-1, 6-2, 6-4.

Japan took the second singles match for a clean sweep of the opening day's play as T. Kuwahara set Einar Ulrich down in straight sets, 6-4, 6-2, 6-0.

U. S. TAKES COMMANDING LEAD ON BRAZIL

NEW YORK, June 9 (By Gyle Talbot, Associated Press sports writer).—The United States Davis cup squad got away to a commanding lead in its series with Brazil today by sweeping the opening singles matches with the loss of only one set and practically assured its participation in the inter-zone finals at Paris, later in the month.

Frank Shields, United States third ranking player, subdued Ricardo Pernambuco, a hard-fighting Brazilian, 6-1, 3-6, 6-3, 8-6, in the opening match of the series. Wilmer Allison followed his lead by overwhelming Nelzon Cruz, champion of the visiting squad, 6-3, 6-2, 6-3.

Shields was given a run for his money before he finally vanquished Pernambuco, who surprised everyone by the excellence of his play, but Allison had little difficulty downing his opponent.

Today's two victories made it possible for the United States to clinch the series in tomorrow's doubles match, provided Allison and his partner, John Van Ryn, are winners over the Brazilian combination.

Big League
BASEBALL

Cover Up the Ball

BY AL DEMAREE

A young pitcher should always remember to keep the ball hidden as much as possible from both batters and coaches.

With men on base he should be doubly careful to keep his gloved hand in contact with ball as long as his wind-up permits.

This advice may not seem so valuable in amateur games, but as he works his way up into faster company, a habit thus formed will be of great assistance to him.

In both the major and the big minor leagues, coaches make a specialty of studying a pitcher's manner of holding the ball and his delivery.

Some pitchers hold their fast ball "across the seams" and their curve ball "with the seams" or vice versa and an eagle-eyed coacher can by a "word sign" to the batter, tip him off just what to expect.

Keep the ball hidden as much as possible hold your curve and fast ball alike, throw them with the same motion you will save your self lots of grief later on.

Al Demaree has prepared an illustrated leaflet on "Base Running" which he will gladly send to any reader requesting it. Address Al Demarree in care of this paper and be sure to enclose a self-addressed stamped envelope.

Hooks and Slides

By William Broucher

When Will Harridge, who never played a game of professional baseball in his life, was elected president on the American League after the death of Ernest S. Barnard, he gave a statement to the press that went something like this:

"It is not necessary for me to say that I will do everything possible to keep up the traditions of the former two presidents. I do not propose nor loo for any radical changes although I shall always be open to suggestions from any one.

That brings us right down to Rule 6 of the American League regulations for 1932. The rule is:

"Players are not permitted to approach the stands and converse with spectators before or during the progress of the ball game. Umpires will be instructed to report to league headquarters the name of any player violating this rule. A fine of $5 will be imposed. If the offense is repeated, the fine will be doubled."

When Mr. Harridge voiced his desire to make no radical change in the game, he may have meant he wasn't going to make the batsmen run to third upon getting a base-hit instead of to first. But Rule 6 already has made a radical change in the very nature of the game, and the attitude of the players and the people who support them.

THE PERSONAL BOND

There has been in baseball a bond of sympathy between fans and players as in no other game. The fans criticize and the fans worship. The players themselves have many friends in the stands, to whom an occasional "Hello Charley," or some similar greeting is the joy of life.

Every time such a player as Babe Ruth appears on the field, countless fans crowd around him for autographs or to hear a spoken word.

Yet Rule 6 would make of the players wordless and colorless robots in whom the fans would find no personal interest.

TEXAS IS DIFFERENT

In contrast to the American League ruling, J. Alvin Gardner, president of the Texas League, has ordered bulletins posted in the clubhouses urging that the players fraternize with the fans.

"Every player in the Texas League is urged to sell himself to the fans," says the bulletin. "The more friends you make personally, the more interested followers your club will have, the more attractive the pastime, the more stable your own profession."

BABE IN THE STANDS

When Babe Herman was with Brooklyn, a certain fan in St. Louis continually razzed him with the term, "You big bum, you ain't going nowhere." It finally got under Babe's skin. He spotted the spectator and went up into the stands, red with rage.

"What's the idea?" the Babe asked, preparing to swing his best Sunday puch at his tormentor.

"Well, if you want to know," the fan replied, "I pay my good dough to come to this ball park and razz you. That's why I come to ball games."

The Babe saw the light, unfolded his fist, grinned, and the two got together that night over a mug of let's say near-beer. Mr. Harridge probably would have fined him six months' pay and sent him to the guardhouse for a corresponding period.

ALL WORK, NO PLAY

Mr. Harridge is a working man. On the wall of his office is a sign which natvel states, "It's Fun to Work." Under Ban Johnson for years, Mr. Harridge never enjoyed so much as a vacation. He is not the type of man you would call "a good mixer" by a long way.

I wonder if the idea that baseball is a game, and therefore should be classed not as work but as play hasn't been lost to Mr. Harridge somewhere in the shuffle.

Certainly Rule 6 suggests that it is the earnest aim of the American League to make foundry hands out of its athletic employees.

How about a little fun in a ball park once in a while?

British, U.S., Wightman Cup Tennis Teams Are Ready for Annual Meet

WEMBLEDON, Eng., June 9 (AP)—The British and United States Wightman cup tennis team completed preparations today for the start tomorrow of the annual series.

The failure to name Betty Uuthall, former ranking British woman player, for the singles play caused some surprise. It was explained Miss Nuthall has not been playing well recently in singles, but that her play with Mrs. Eileen Bennett Whittingstall in doubles was very good.

Mrs. Helen Wills Moody led the United States team in practice today.

Dorothy Round will start play tomorrow against Helen Jacobs of the United States, after which Mrs. Bennett will play Mrs. Moody. A doubles encounter Mrs. L. R. C. Nichell and Miss Round against Mrs. Anna Harper and Miss Jacobs will complete the day's play.

WILLOW POINT RANCHERS VISIT NELSON BOARD

Campbell, Doyle, McDonald Guests at Luncheon; Urge Friendship

A delegation of Willow Point men was guest at the Nelson board of trade at its monthly luncheon on Thursday. The visitors were J. J. Campbell, D. L. Doyle and J. D. McDonald.

Through courtesy of Mr. Campbell the board will on Thursday next convey to his fruit ranch the party of British tourists which will arrive in Nelson on Wednesday, Mr. Campbell, speaking for the West Arm delegation, which was welcomed by C. B. Garland, board president, invited members of the board to visit his ranch at any time. He urged the Nelson people to get to know more about the people and the ranches up and down the lake because "you are, in the next election, going to have the selection of a man to represent us in Victoria." He was referring to the amalgamation of the two ridings of Creston and Nelson under the redistribution bill recently brought down at Victoria.

Kiddies in Crowds Use Gyro Pool Each Day After School

With the hot weather the kiddies, as well as boys and girls of teen age, have opened the season at the Gyro pool, and after school each afternoon this week the pool has been crowded, both it children in bathing suits, and with kiddies playing with water toys.

The fountain is playing, and the pool is in full swing, though the caretaker will not go on duty till July 1.

CORBIN, B. C., June 9.—The creeks in this district are swollen and angry after the continuous downpour of the past two weeks. With a quantity of snow still in the mountains, both the railroad, and public highway bridge are being carefully watched for any signs of weakness. A quantity of gravel has been put in one troublesome mud hole on the motor highway, making the road again passable. Thirty-eight cars were stuck on the evening of Saturday, June 4 in this one spot, many having to resort to horse power before being able to continue on their way.

NEW YORK LIST CHANGES, SMALL

Stocks Are Subject to Wide Price Movements; Early Dip

NEW YORK, June 9 (By John L. Cooley, A P financial writer)—Stocks were subject to wide price movements today, but closed with changes that, on the whole, were small.

A dip at the opening was followed by a small recovery, influenced by appearance of support for two or three pivotal issues, a short squeeze in Auburn Auto and the much stronger tone of Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit issues. However, after net gains in a number of leaders had been extended to 1 to 4 points fresh selling breezed over the list and the improvement was frittered away, a few prominent issues sagging to new lows. Another recovery just before the close, which looked like short covering, so evenly distributed gains and losses that the final price average was unchanged.

Late selling converged chiefly on U. S. Steel and American Telephone. The former up nearly a point, dipped 1⅞ net to 24, closing at 24⅜ which reduced its loss to 1½. Telephone quickly converted a 2¼ point gain into a decline of 1⅞ at 80½, then rallied to 81¼, off ⅞.

Winnipeg Wheat Recovers; Closes Almost Unchanged

Makes Faltering Start; Export Trade Aids in Recovery

WINNIPEG, June 9—Encouraged by substantial export trade wheat prices recovered from a faltering start to close practically unchanged. Nervous at the outset due to weakness in outset markets, the market found itself handicapped by losses of more than a cent before trading properly got under way. Export trade, estimated at close to the 1,000,000 bushel mark, aided in the recovery.

Wheat closed ⅛ cent lower to unchanged, July and October each were ⅛ lower at 54¾ and 57⅜ respectively, October finished unchanged to ⅛ lower at 58⅜.

Liverpool merchants, Broomhall states, have lost confidence in prices owing to the favorable new Canadian crop prospects with the demand for actual wheat negligible. Other exporting countries are now showing concern about the sharp break in Canada and are afraid that they will be felt with excessive carryovers if the buying goes into Manitoba's entirely.

STRAWS BRING $4 PER CRATE AT THE COAST

Lettuce and Carrots Popular at Vancouver, Market

VICTORIA, B. C., June 9.—Supplies of local strawberries are increasing. These are of good quality, and are selling at, wholesale price, $4 per crate. Asparagus is very scarce. Head lettuce is quoted at $2.60 per 3-dozen crate. Local carrots are quoted at 85c to 90c per dozen bunches, and cabbage, which is now of very good quality, at 5c per lb. New potatoes, local, are quoted at 5½c per lb. No change in tomato prices. Apples are cleaning up fast.

The following wire was received from the markets representative from Winnipeg: "Temperature in Winnipeg 100 in shade. Two cars of strawberries imported here today. Expect this will be last before B. C.'s come in. Complaints general on coast head lettuce. These come from Montreal, Toronto and Regina. Radio service advertising B. C. strawberries going on at all distributing centers."

VANCOUVER—Local head lettuce is down to $2.25 per crate. As the season progresses the quality of local head lettuce is rapidly improving, some crates of six dozen heads weighing 70 lbs., which is nearly up to the best stuff imported. Local new carrots are just coming on the market, and the price is in line with that of imported stuff.

Importations of fruit and vegetables into Victoria and Vancouver week ending June 2: Washington strawberries, 809 crates; cabbage, 11 crates; green peas, 345 hampers. 301 crates of cherries from California. 352 half crates of celery from Florida and 681 crates of carrots from Texas.

Excerpt from report of B. C. Live Stock Exchange, Ltd., June 4, 1932:

CATTLE—Cattle prices remained steady all week, with receipts light. Only the well-finished butchers were in demand. Plain killers were hard to move.

HOGS—Trading in hogs has been more active all week, with values decidedly firmer. Values are up 35c per 100 over last week and prospects are for continued steady market for the immediate future.

SHEEP—The lamb market was active all week, with a big turnover on Wednesday afternoon's market. Fraser valley best spring lambs brought $10.05, while the best yearlings moved at $8.35.

CALGARY—B. C. local strawberries are increasing. Kennewick has been shipping local strawberries to this market. Shippers of gooseberries would be well advised to curtail shipments, as these are piling up on jobbers' floors, with sales very slow. Shipments of head lettuce from B. C. are very unsatisfactory to everybody. The quality of B. C. cauliflower is improving.

B. C. MINERAL OUTPUT IS LOW FOR YEAR, BUT METAL PRICES CAUSE OF VALUE OF OUTPUT

PLACER GOLD IS UP CONSIDERABLE

Total Tonnage for B. C. Mines Is 5,549,103; Is a Decrease

Hon. W. A. McKenzie, minister of mines, has announced the issuance of his annual report for 1931. This report covers exhaustively the year's activities of the mineral industry of the province.

In common with all industries the dollar value of the mineral production showed a heavy decline in 1931 as compared with 1930. The final figures show a value of $34,883,181 as against $55,391,993 in the previous year. On the quantity basis however, Hon. Mr McKenzie points out that the industry operated at 80 per cent of the 1930 rate. The decline of $20,508,812 in value was mainly cause by much lower metal prices and lowered cutputs of metals.

In recent years the major portion of the mineral production of the province has been in silver, copper, lead and zinc, and the demoralized condition of the markets for these metals during 1931 caused a decline in the value of the output of these four metals of over $18,000,000. Other branches of the mineral industry therefore only declined comparatively slightly. Placer-gold showed a substantial increase and a gain was also made in miscellaneous metals and minerals, but the major branches of the industry all showed decreased outputs. Considering the state of world business and the unprecedently low prices of metals in 1931, it is not surprising that metallic production declined as it did. It is satisfactory towever, that the major operations were continued and only remarkably efficient operation prevented a complete shutdown.

Product	Quantity 1931	Quantity 1930	Value 1931	Value 1930
Gold, lode, oz.	146,039	160,778	3,018,894	3,323,576
Gold, placer, oz.	17,176	8,955	291,992	152,235
Silver, oz.	7,524,320	11,289,171	2,247,514	4,307,270
Copper, lb.	63,194,299	90,421,545	5,289,363	11,738,525
Lead, lb.	248,783,508	319,199,752	6,742,282	12,535,931
Zinc, lb.	205,071,247	250,287,306	5,237,520	9,010,093
Coal, tons (2240 lb.)	1,707,590	1,887,130	7,684,155	9,435,650
Structural Materials	——	——	3,553,300	4,092,568
Misc. Metals and Minerals	——	——	818,161	796,145
Totals			34,883,181	55,391,993

The tonnage of metalliferous ore mined in the province was 5,549,103 as compared with 6,803,846 tons in 1930, a decrease of 18.45 per cent. The average gross value of the ore mined was $4.06 a ton, as compared with $6.04 a ton in 1930. This shows the effect of much lower metal prices and emphasizes the low operating costs being achieved by the large low-grade mines of the province.

PLACER MINING

The brightest feature of British Columbia mining at the present time, comments Mr. McKenzie, is the active search for gold. Placer gold production made a substantial increase in 1931, with an output nearly double that of 1930, and a still larger figure is expected in 1932. Lode-gold production showed a slight decline in 1931, due to lessened output of by-product gold, but the plans and developments under way at straight gold mines, assure a great output for 1932.

The probability of improvement in silver price, Mr. McKenzie points out, holds hope for British Columbia mines, as the known silver ore-reserves are considerable. Improvement in general world conditions will be necessary before base-metal mining will again show an upward trend.

The ability, enthusiasm, and high technical achievements of the entire personnel of the mining industry, reflects great credit on them, and Mr McKenzie paid a tribute to the way in which employment had been maintained in these trying times.

FIGURES EXPLAINED

Lode-gold production, valued at $3,018,894, shows a slight decline from the figure in 1930 notwithstanding much increased activity in this form of mining. The lessened output was mainly due to the shutting down of the Copper Mountain mine, a lowered output from Premier owing to a slightly lower-grade ore, and the closing of the Nickel Plate mine, a former consistent gold-producer. These decreases were offset in part by a much larger output from the Pioneer and increases from the Union and Reno mines.

Placer-mining had a very busy and successful year. Production amounted to $191,992, a considerable increase over the $152,235 recorded in 1930. Furthermore, the work carried out in 1931 indicates that placer-gold production will increase in future years. This form of mining is beginning to attract widespread attention as the undoubted possibilities and large rewards in sight are better realized. "Sniping" by individuals with pan, rocker and small sluice provided a living for many men who otherwise would have been a charge on the community.

The silver output was 7,524,320 oz. valued at $2,247,514, being much below the record figure of 11,289,171 oz. produced in 1930. Most of the small silver-lead-zinc mines of the province were closed in 1930. Sullivan, Premier and Prosperity, however, all made large outputs that year, enabling a high record production to be made. Prosperity was closed early in 1931 and Sullivan and Premier were forced to curtail to some extent, these factors thereby largely causing the marked decline in the 1931 production.

Lead and zinc output from the province for some years has been mainly from the Sullivan mine of the Consolidated company and in 1931 it was almost entirely from this mine. Due to the desire of this company to assist in world stabilization of these metals, output has been gradually lessened throughout the year. The output of lead was 248,783,508 lb. a decrease of 22 per cent as compared with 1930. A zinc production of 205,071,247 lb. is a decline of 17.9 per cent from the figures for the preceeding year.

The copper output for 1931 was 63,194,299 pounds as compared with 90,421,545 pounds in 1930. Copper Mountain mine of the Granby company did not produce this year, and in addition curtailment was in force at the Britannia, these factors largely accounting for the decreased output. Hidden Creek mine of the Granby company made a larger output than in 1930, but the total operation of this company shows a large decrease due to the non-operation of the Copper Mountain mine.

The coal output for the year was 1,707,590 long tons, as compared with 1,887,130 tons in 1930, a decline of 9.5 per cent. The rate of decline in coal output which has been in progress since 1928 is slowing up, and it would seem that British Columbia colleries are not continuing to lose business to imported fuels as fast as formerly.

The production of structural materials for the year was $3,553,300, a decline of $639,268 as compared with 1930. This is a comparatively small decrease and shows that building and construction work was fairly well maintained during the year In 1930 several large projects were under way which caused the output of structural materials for that year to be a high all time record. The 1931 output equalled the five-year average which is a satisfactory showing.

An output of miscellaneous metals and minerals valued at $818,161 was made in 1931, compared with $796,145 in the preceeding year. The increase was due to a substantial output of bismuth and a greater production of sulphur in sulphuric acid, largely offset by declines in other products.

The annual report is compiled by the provincial mineralgist and includes complete mineral satistics, detail reports by the resident engineers on heir respective districts, and reports b the chief inspector and district inspectors on mine inspection throughout the province.

VANCOUVER STOCKS HAVE DULL SESSION

Only Nine Issues Show Activity; Generally Issues Are Steady

VANCOUVER, June 9 (CP)—There was little of interest in a dull session on the Vancouver stock exchange today. Only nine issues, six of the listed and three unlisted, showed activity during the day. Generally issues were steady, closing at unchanged prices, with one issue advancing fractionally while another declined a like amount. Reno Gold and Crow's Nest led in point of activity, the former accounting for 3500 shares while 15,000 shares of the oil issue changed hands.

Total sales volume was 29,100 shares.

Bridge River Consolidated with only one transaction recorded, firmed up a quarter to 4¾ cents. Some liquidating in late trading eased Reno to 43 cents, off a half. Pioneer after a weak opening at 3.65 off 5 from the previous close, firmed up in the afternoon trading to close at 3.70, unchanged. Beaver Silver at 3¾ and National Silver at 1½ were unchanged.

Crow's Nest opened at 2⅞, eased on heavy offerings to 2¾ around noon, but sold at its opening price during the late session. The closing bid was 2¾, unchanged from the previous session. Merland at 6, Big Missouri at 5 and McLeod at 35 were also unchanged.

Chicago Grain Is Lower for Eighth Consecutive Time

Sweeps to New Record Lows as Offers Far Exceed Demand

CHICAGO, June 9 (By John P. Boughan, A P market editor)—Prostrate under offers far exceeding demands, wheat reached new record low prices today in a down sweep that has lasted eight consecutive days.

Selling of wheat was participated in by traders usually identified with allies of the federal farm board. Absence of overseas demand for wheat from the United States was emphasized by Canadian export sales of 1,000,000 bushels.

Unexpected bullish figures in the government crop report from Washington regarding wheat came too late to be a market influence today.

Wheat closed nervous, ¼ to ¾ under yesterday's finish, corn at ¼ decline to ⅛ advance, oats ½ to ¾ down, and provisions unchanged to 5 cents up.

CHAMP WANTS FARM

Winner U. S. Amateur Heavy Title Won't Be Pro

STOCKTON, Calif., June 9.—He is the new national heavy-weight boxing champion of the A. A. U. but he wants to be a farm adviser.

That's Fred Feary, 20-year-old Stockton high school youth, who surprised amateur fistdom recently by wading through four tough opponents to capture the national championship in Madison Square Garden.

Spurning all offers to turn pro and cash in on his terrific punching power, Feary says he intends to finish his high school studies in June and to enroll next fall at California Agricultural college at Davis to continue his studies closer to the good earth. He says he will not consider pro offers until he has completed his college education.

The new amateur champion has been boxing less than three years, and it is only since last January that he has been very active in the ring.

In his first public bouts he won the San Francisco Native Sons tournament in August, 1929. Later he appeared in a series of amateur encounters under the auspices of the Stockton Ambiers Athletic club, of which he is a member. In 1931 he was inactive for six months following an operation for appendicitis, but he resumed fighting early this year and won the P. A. A. junior, P. A. A. senior and national A. A. U. Now he is aiming for the American Olympic games final tryouts in San Francisco in July.

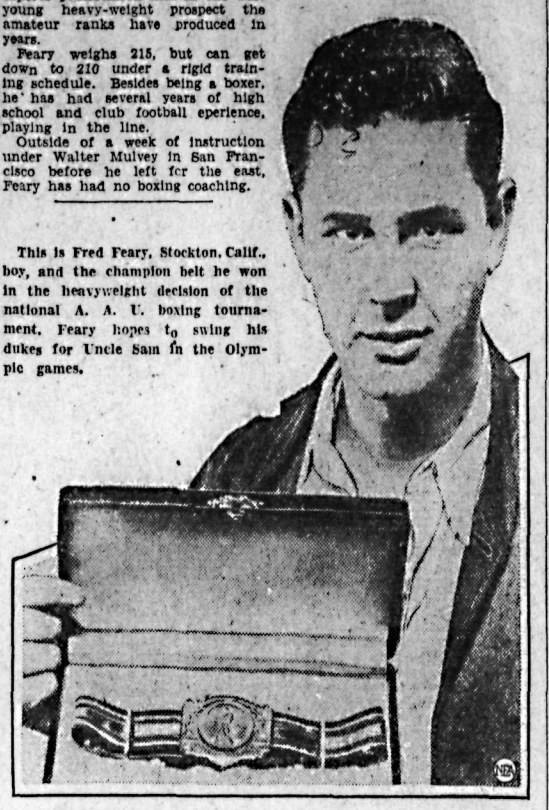
Feary has had 41 bouts during his career. He has won 35 by knockouts. He has been knocked off his feet several times, but in every bout in which he has been floored he has come back to win.

Gifted with a smashing right hand, he has developed a good left during the last year. His improvement has been steady.

Following his success in New York, where he won three bouts by knockouts and had his man on the floor for an eight count when the bell saved him in the final engagement, experts pronounced him as the best young heavy-weight prospect the amateur ranks have produced in years.

Feary weighs 215, but can get down to 210 under a rigid training schedule. Besides being a boxer, he has had several years of high school and club football eperience, playing in the line.

Outside of a week of instruction under Walter Mulvey in San Francisco before he left for the east, Feary has had no boxing coaching.



This is Fred Feary, Stockton, Calif., boy, and the champion belt he won in the heavyweight decision of the national A. A. U. boxing tournament. Feary hopes to swing his dukes for Uncle Sam in the Olympic games.

C. H. Hamilton, vice-president of the Nelson board of trade, reported at the board's luncheon Thursday, that difficulties in regard to transportation, mail and express services on the Lardeau branch of the Canadian Pacific railway were receiving attention from the railway company. He had made a trip into the Lardeau as guest of J. Arrangements satisfactory to Commander J. S. Hincks of Howser had been made, he reported.

Commander Hincks had appeared before the council of the board and complained of lack of service especially in the matter of mail. Mr. Hamilton declared that adjustments in postal arrangements would be made as soon as cooperation could be obtained from the postal authorities.

ALL EVIDENCE ON GAS CONSERVATION CASE, SUBMITTED

CALGARY, June 9 (CP).—Submission of evidence in the civil action of Spooner Oils, Limited, against the Turner Valley gas conservation board questioning validity of the gas conservation regulations passed at the last session of the Alberta legislature, concluded here late today before Mr. Justice A. F. Ewing in trial division of supreme court.

Argument of counsel will be heard tomorrow, with A. L. Smith, K.C., or W. S. Gray, K.C., speaking for the defendants, the Turner Valley gas conservation board, and J. McKinley Cameron, K.C., or H. S. Patterson, K.C., speaking for Spooner Oils, Limited, the plaintiffs.

Clash of evidence concerning the life of Turner Valley and its gas and naphtha reserves marked the closing of evidence by experts. After Stanley Slipper, geologist of the Canadian Western Natural Gas, Light, Heat and Power company had testified that there would be plenty of gas left in the valley after all naphthat had been produced, Dr. J. A. Allan, geologist on the staff of the University of Alberta, Edmonton, declared the life of the valley, if present gas flows were maintained, might abruptly end in about two years.

Lower Apple Freight Rate to Be Heard by Rail Committee, June 15

VERNON, B. C., June 9—Opplication by the railways for abolition of the fifth class rate of bulk apples to be heard by the railway commission at a session which opens here on Wednesday, June 15 has had the effect of uniting all sections of growers opinions in support of the petition to be presented by the committee nominated by the British Columbia Fruit Growers association. This petition, is for a reduction of the freight rates on apples in boxes. There are many opinions on the value of the retention of the movement of apples in bulk from the bitterest opposition to the warmest commendation but there is not any division on the value of the industry of a reduction of the freight rate on boxed apples. Penticton is favorable to any action taken here. Kelowna board of trade and Retail Merchants association, will present briefs and are greatly interested.
