C.P. Main Line Crash Took 16 Lives; Jury Sits, Revelstoke

REVELSTOKE, B.C., March 5 (CP)—A verdict of accidental death with no blame attached to any one with a rider urging utmost caution in poor visibility and use of a safety attachment for towing hooks was returned today by a coroner's jury inquiring into the deaths of 16 men on the Canadian Pacific railway line near here last Monday.

The men were killed instantly or died shortly after a runaway locomotive tender thundered down a

SENATE PEEVED AT THE COMMONS

The Senators Adjourn Because Business in Commons Delayed

OTTAWA, March 5 (CP).—The senate today adjourned until March 23, the second long recess since parliament opened. The elder statesmen did not take kindly to the prospect and before the sitting closed Senator Raoul Dandurand, government leader, delivered vigorous observations on the manner in which the house of commons conducted its business. He was joined by Senator James Calder and Senator C. C. Ballantyne.

They contrasted the commoners' desire to get themselves into Hansard, their flair for repeating things that had already been said 20 times in the same debate with the quasi-judicial and non-partizan atmosphere of the upper house. But what the senior legislators balked at most was the feeling they were being placed in a false position in the eyes of the country, compelled to adjourn for lack of business.

Probe Bombing of British Red Cross Unit in Ethiopia

LONDON, March 5 (CP-Havas)—Sir Sidney Barton, minister to Addis Ababa, was asked today to make a full report to the foreign office concerning the bombing by an Italian airplane of a British Red Cross unit in Ethiopia.

Unconfirmed reports said seven persons, including three British subjects, were killed in the bombing, which occurred yesterday at Quoram.

Widow to Get $200 Per Month

VANCOUVER, March 5 (CP)—Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald in supreme court today granted Mrs. Mary Hurliman $200 a month from the $16,000 estate of her late husband, Jacob Henry Hurliman, instead of a life interest as bequeathed in his will.

Mrs. Hurliman, who 75 years of age, had applied for alteration of the will on the grounds that she had helped her husband by keeping roomers and boarders and had also contributed $6300 to the family exchequer.

$40,000 Damage in Coast Fire

VANCOUVER, March 5 (CP)—Fire of undetermined origin which started in the asphalt making plant of the Canada Roof Products Ltd., 10th avenue and Arbutus street, shortly after noon today caused damage estimated at $40,000 to plant buildings and machinery.

Thirty employees of the company were at lunch when the fire started. Several of them received burns on their hands as they assisted firemen in fighting the blaze.

CLAIMS HAND CUT

MANCHESTER, England, March 5 (AP)—Dr. Buck Ruxton, charged with the murder of his wife and nursemaid, attempted today to prove that blood stains in his home came from a cut in his hand.

Numerous Roads in Nelson and Creston Districts Are Closed to Heavy Traffic

PROTECTION OF HARD SURFACE IS THE OBJECT

Frost Emergence Is Putting Improved Parts in Peril

UNITS HELD TO TWO-TON LIMIT

Enforcement Won't Be Applied Nelway While Hard

To protect the hard surfacing done last season in the Nelson-Creston riding, which is highly vulnerable in the period of frost emergence, and to prevent the roads generally from being broken up while soft, by heavy vehicles, Assistant District Engineer O. G. Gallaher is putting on an embargo today against use of the roads of the riding by vehicles weighing with their loads over two tons.

This embargo, which automatically will shut all heavy trucks and busses off the roads, and will confine traffic to light vehicles, which can travel over the soft roads without doing them excessive damage, will remain until Mr. Gallaher considers it safe to let traffic move freely again.

Discussing this action Thursday afternoon, the engineer admitted, however, he would not actually enforce the order on the Nelson-Nelway highway until the frost should start to come out on it. The other highways are already in the break-up period, though not all at the same stage of it. The Thrums section is particularly bad, in fact almost impassable, Mr. Gallaher said.

CHANGE TO SMALL BUSSES

It is understood that the Central Canadian Greyhound Lines will operate small busses on their runs until the various routes are relieved from the embargo.

The roads governed by the order are the Southern Scenic Highway from Castlegar through to Goatfell, the Balfour-Queens Bay connection, the Harrop-Procter section, the South Slocan-Slocan Park section, and the Nelson-Nelway highway and the Salmo-Fruitvale section.

While the road system south of Nelson is well protected with snow or ice, with the frost still deep in the ground, enforcement of the embargo will be waived temporarily in that area, to be applied rigidly, however, the moment the ground becomes soft through the frost working out.

Struggles 18 Hours Through Deep Snow With a Broken Leg

BANFF, Alta., March 5 (CP).—With his leg broken in two places when he was kicked by a horse, Cecil Brown of Banff struggled through deep snow for 18 hours to reach his log-cutting camp, 20 miles from here. He tied the leg in splints.

Brown tried to start the horses to camp to give an alarm but after he had managed to unhitch them they failed to head for their winter stable.

After he had hobbled along for many miles he managed to catch one of the horses and was able to ride the rest of the way to camp.

Brought to Banff for medical attention, Brown's condition was reported good today.

Dr. W. F. Bade Dies

BERKELEY, Calif., March 5 (AP)—Dr. W. F. Bade, 65, discoverer of the lost city of Mizpah in Palestine, died last night. As director of the Palestine Institute, Dr. Bade directed the work that determined the location of the ruins. He returned here last August.

KING EDWARD HAS COIN TRICK—BUT WATCHES MONEY

GLASGOW, March 5 (AP).—After the King left Glasgow tonight for London on the regular night train, Lord Provost John Stewart, chuckling, said, "He's a very human man—so human that in the afternoon, at tea in my private room, he showed how to balance a penny.

"I tried to emulate him, and when I had failed he said, 'Please give me back my penny. You know I am a Scotsman.'"

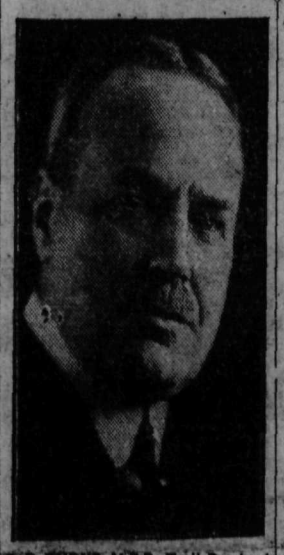
Would Move Bridge at Trail; Says Uphill Must Miss McGeer



R. R. BURNS, M.P.P., Trail-Rossland

VICTORIA, March 5 (CP) — People of the coast have little knowledge of the southern interior part of British Columbia, R. R. Burns, Lib., Rossland-Trail, told the legislature today, and their lack of assistance in obtaining good roads for that district is causing loss of much valuable tourist traffic.

Mr. Burns stressed the necessity of a paved highway stretching from Alberta through the southern portion of the province to the United States boundary.

Mr. Burns informed the house of the recent death of Dr. W. O. Rose, former member for Nelson, and paid a glowing tribute to Dr. Rose for his work when representing that district.

SILVER PURCHASE PLAN

The Trail member also informed the house of the announcement from Washington today that the United States would take all silver produced in Canada. The quoted price today was over 44 cents an ounce. Fifty-cent silver and four cent lead, he pointed out, would keep the famous Sullivan

ABSENTEE VOTES COST $250,000

OTTAWA, March 5 (CP).—The cost of 3801 absentee votes in the last general election amounted to approximately $250,000, Harry Butcher, former member of the house for Last Mountain, told the house committee studying the Franchise and Elections acts here today.

Figures furnished him by the officials concerned with absentee votes showed 5334 such votes had been cast of which 1523 were rejected.

Alleged Bank Robbers Appear

VANCOUVER, March 5 (CP)—Preliminary hearing of James Lawler and David Anderson on charges of holding up the Commercial drive branch of the Royal Bank of Canada on December 23, opened today and was adjourned to tomorrow after several witnesses were heard.

Mrs. Helen Booth, waitress, testified that she had known Lawler for a number of years and that on the night of the holdup he had given her a present of a ring. Several days later, she said, she met him and noticed that he had dyed his hair red.

He told her, witness testified, that he was wanted in connection with the bank holdup and was going to leave Vancouver. She said she did not see him again until he was brought back from Chicago where he and Anderson were arrested.

BRITISH ARMY TO BE MACHINE IN THE FUTURE

Army Estimates Much Higher; Infantry to Be Reorganized

TANKS TO PLAY IMPORTANT ROLE

Cavalry Regiments to Become Motorized at Home, Abroad

LONDON, March 5 (CP cable).—British army estimates for 1936 issued today total £49,281,000, or $246,000,000, which is £5,731,000 higher than last year. This sum includes £1,555,000 for expenditures arising in consequence of the Italo-Ethiopian hostilities.

But the present estimates—like the higher naval estimates issued yesterday—do not include any expenditures under the white paper plan for increased defences. Nor do they provide for the extra cost that may be incurred this year for maintaining troops away from their stations.

Condition of Earl Beatty Cause for "Some Anxiety"

Naval Hero Has Been in Ill Health Some Time; Was 85 in January

EARL BEATTY

LONDON, March 5 (CP cable).—A bulletin issued tonight said the condition of Admiral Beatty "causes some anxiety."

Earl Beatty has been in poor health for some months. His condition gave rise to some anxiety last month until his physicians announced he was improving.

He reached the age limit of 65 in January and retired from the active list as an admiral of the fleet.

One of Great Britain's naval heroes of the great war, Earl Beatty rose from a sickbed last November to attend the funeral of Earl Jellicoe and again in January participated in the funeral procession of King George, although suffering from a cold.

Italy Will Say "Yes" to League

ROME, March 5 (CP-Havas)—Diplomatic circles tonight foresaw a qualified "yes" as Italy's most likely reply to the peace proposals put forward by the League of Nations committee of 13.

Meanwhile Premier Mussolini was knocking at many doors in an effort to chart Italy's course in the complicated international scene. He conferred today at the Palazzo Venetia with Vice-Chancellor Ernst von Starhemberg of Austria.

PEACE RIVER FOLK IN NEED

Says Reliefers Fear Dictatorships of Foremen

VICTORIA, March 5 (CP)—Undertakers of British Columbia are working a racket, H. E. Winch, C.C.F., Vancouver East, told the legislature today. Caskets are sold at three times their cost and morticians are playing upon the tears and sympathy of the bereaved. The government should investigate the undertaking business from all angles. He charged two directors of one concern in Vancouver draw a salary of $600 each a month.

The undertakers, he said, sell people a funeral not a casket. They look up their customer's financial standing and even go so far as to check on the amount of insurance left by deceased so they may be guided in their charges.

King Hailed as "Good Old Teddy"

Thousands Workers on Giant Liner Cheer King Edward

GLASGOW, Scotland, March 5 (AP).—King Edward was cheered as "good old Teddy" by 2000 workmen on the giant new liner, Queen Mary, today.

The nickname for Edward was shouted as he completed a 2¾-hour inspection tour of the partially completed ship.

The king remarked, "This is a ship built for utility," and expressed his desire to visit it again before the maiden voyage in May.

Thousands of persons thronged the streets to see Edward on his first visit to Scotland as King.

The King expressed a desire that his visit should be private, with no unusual public display, and special arrangements were made for His Majesty to meet the lord provost and Glasgow corporation officials at a place which was kept secret.

After his inspection of the 73,000-ton super-liner King Edward intended to tour one of the worst slum districts of Glasgow.

His inspection of the Queen Mary involved a long walk through the 12 decks of the ships, with several thousand workmen continuing to hammer, saw and pound in their task of getting the vessel ready for trial runs March 24.

No Reprieve for Bruno Hauptmann

TRENTON, N.J., March 5 (AP)—Bruno Richard Hauptmann must die four weeks hence for the Lindbergh baby killing unless new evidence is discovered, Governor Harold G. Hoffman said today.

GIRL WITNESS TELLS OWN STORY BUT WILL NOT VENTURE FURTHER

DORECHESTER, N.B., March 5 (CP)—Threat of jail failed today to break down the reticence of a 15-year-old girl who sullenly ignored questions of a prosecuting counsel seeking to penetrate the backwoods mystery enveloping the death of three persons and the kidnapping of a six-months-old infant.

Called as witness at the murder trial of her brother Arthur, the girl, Frances Bannister, told only what she wished about the tragedy that claimed the lives of Philip Lake, his housekeeper and one of their children. Then she remained silent.

LONDON, March 5 (CP Cable)—While opposition forces drew up plans today for attacking the government's defence expansion proposals, the government itself decided to demand a vote of confidence when the proposals are discussed in the house of commons Monday.

The Labor party and the trade union council agreed to make a common fight against the proposals embodied in the white paper made public last Tuesday.

The Liberal opposition discussed the defence plans at length tonight and decided to hand in a motion regretting the omission of any move to consult with others

FIVE-YEAR-OLD MEETS THE KING

"Are You Really the New King," He Asks, Gets Head Patted

GLASGOW, March 5 (AP).—King Edward climaxed a visit to the new liner Queen Mary today with a tour of inspection of an over-crowded slum district during which he was asked by a five-year-old boy, "Are you really the new King?"

His Majesty patting the little questioner, Charles Storrie, on the head, replied: "Yes, little man, I am."

The King visited six flats in the center of the city and inquired especially as to the question of overcrowding. He knocked on the door of each and asked: "May I come in?"

One tenant told the King she and six other adults and one child occupied two rooms, while another, Mrs. Queen, said she, her blind husband and their four children had the same amount of space.

WOULD PROTECT B. C. FOREST

VICTORIA, March 5 (CP)—The proposals to protect British Columbia's forest wealth from disappearing without too great restrictions on the industry which contributes millions of dollars in payrolls each year, were made to the forestry committee of the British Columbia legislature today by E. Manning, chief forester.

Great protection against fire was an essential, the chief forester said. More control should be exercised over the burning of slash. And there should be some regulation to protect seed trees for regeneration purposes.

Mr. Manning pointed out that there appeared little hope at present of British Columbia lumbering escaping from the position of having to log as cheaply as possible to meet competition in the world markets, which involved long freight hauls.

U. S. A. Treasury Hopes to Purchase Entire Output of Silver Produced in Canada at a Price to Be Fixed

14,000,000 Ounces Available; Canada Is Leading Producer

WASHINGTON, March 5 (AP).—Secretary of the United States treasury, Henry Morgenthau said today his agreement to buy newly-mined Canadian silver through the Bank of Canada was expected to absorb the Dominion's entire output.

The production was estimated by United States treasury officials at about 16,000,000 ounces per year.

Morgenthau said the treasury would fix the price to be paid for the metal rather than to be governed by the prevailing New York price. The treasury figure is about one-fourth cent an ounce higher than that quoted in New York.

The secretary said it was "perfectly possible" that similar arrangements might be negotiated with American silver producing countries.

This government now has an arrangement with Mexico to purchase that republic's entire output of the newly-mined metal.

The buying is done in pursuance of the Silver Purchase act requirement that treasury stocks of the metal be built up to one-third those of gold or until the price reaches $1.29 an ounce—the coinage value.

14,000,000 AVAILABLE

OTTAWA, March 5 (CP).—Dominion government mining officials said today they expected about 14,000,000 ounces of newly mined Canadian silver would be available for sale to the United States treasury this year through the Bank of Canada.

Henry Morgenthau, secretary of the United States treasury, was reported from Washington as saying his agreement to buy newly-mined Canadian silver was expected to absorb the entire Canadian output, which he estimated at 16,000,000.

Under the London silver agreement, which terminates next year, the Canadian government agreed to buy 1,671,802 ounces of silver annually from Canadian mines.

powers believing in the principle of collective security and of any move to halt a world race in armaments.

The government motion which will be submitted as a vote of confidence says "the house approves the defence proposals of the government which are outlined in the white paper." Steps are being taken to ensure as large a majority for the government as possible.

MEMBERS GET NOTICE

The improtance of the occasion was marked—in accordance with tradition—by the issue of a notice to government supporters, urging them to be present Tuesday night, when a vote is expected. It made clear that every effort will be made to see that the majority for the proposals will represent as nearly as possible the full strength of the government side in the commons.

Speakers on Monday will include Prime Minister Baldwin, Clement Attlee, leader of the Labor opposition; Sir Archibald Sinclair, leader of the Liberal opposition; Dr. Hugh Dalton, Labor and J. H. Thomas, colonial secretary. On Tuesday speeches will be made by Arthur Greenwood, Labor; Sir John Simon, home secretary, David Lloyd George, former prime minister; Winston Churchill, Conservative; Herbert Morrison, Labor and Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer.

In the house of commons, Labor objected to the fact that parliament and the country is apparently being asked to approve the sweeping measures without knowing the cost, but Prime Minister Baldwin promised to consider this matter.

Unofficial guesses range from $1,500,000,000 to $2,000,000,000, spread over a period of three years. Chancellor of the Exchequer Neville Chamberlain did disclose that so far he has not decided how the money should be raised.

NO CONFERENCE

Mr. Baldwin turned down a Labor suggestion that an imperial conference be called to study the program and especially the question of "more material contributions" by the rest of the Empire to defence. He pointed out that full touch was maintained through the committee of imperial defence. When parliament debates the rearmament plan next week Labor will present a motion of censure, calling for a policy of international understanding and general disarmament and economic cooperation.

Like the naval estimates, today's increased army estimates do not include any provision for the increased defences promised in the white paper. The estimates generally were featured by the progress towards mechanization of forces and protection against attacks from the air.

The text of the Labor motion to be offered Monday follows:

"As the safety of this country and the peace of the world cannot be secured by reliance on armaments but only by resolute pursuit of a policy of international understanding, adherence to the covenant of the League of Nations, general disarmament, the progressive improvement of international Labor standards and economic cooperation, so as to remove the causes of war, this house cannot agree to a policy which in fact seeks security in national armaments alone and intensifies the ruinous race between nations inevitably leading to war.

"It views with alarm the proposals for reorganization of industry on a war basis which will enormously expand the vested interests in arms manufacture and create a serious menace to organized labor and trade union standards; and has no confidence in his majesty's ministers whose unworthy and ambiguous foreign policy has largely contributed to the present state of world unrest."

CUT THIS OUT

EXCELLENT RECIPE FOR CATARRH, CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

If you know of some one who is troubled with Catarrhal Deafness, head noises or ordinary catarrh cut out this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. Scientists for a long time past have recognised that catarrh is a constitutional disease and necessarily requires constitutional treatment.

Sprays, inhalers and nose douches are liable to irritate the delicate air passages and force the disease into the middle ear which frequently means total deafness, or else the disease may be driven down the air passages towards the lungs which is equally as dangerous. The following formula which is used extensively is a constitutional treatment and should prove especially efficacious to sufferers.

Secure from your druggist 1 ounce of Parmint (Double strength). Take this home and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoon four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and hearing improve as the inflammation in the eustachian tubes is reduced. Parmint used in this way acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system and has a tonic action that helps to obtain the desired results. The preparation is easy to make, costs little and is pleasant to take. Every person who has catarrh or head noises or is hard of hearing should give this treatment a trial. ***

mine at Kimberley going full time for an indefinite period, while 60-cent silver and seven-cent lead would result in a revival of all old properties, not only in the Slocan but in the Skeena district, with a resultant absorption of thousands of unemployed.

Last year British Columbia produced 8,704,000 ounces of silver, mostly from the Trail and Premier properties, Mr. Burns said, or over one-half the entire production of Canada.

RELOCATE CASCADE ROAD

Reverting to roads, the speaker claimed more had been done in his district under Hon. F. M. MacPherson, minister of public works, than in the past 20 years. He advocated moving of the present bridge across the Columbia at Trail to a point half a mile upstream, widening, surfacing and relocating the main highway from Rossland to Cascade and improvement of the outlet to the United States through Paterson.

Hon. George S. Pearson, minister of mines, had done a lot to help the small mines in his riding, the Trail member said, citing assistance rendered to operators of the Velvet mine. Enforcement of the Minimum and Hours of Work act had done untold good, he continued and even the Doukhobors have learned a few of the advantages of living in a democratic country under improved conditions.

Mr. Burns expressed appreciation of the work of the forestry parties sent out in clearing old and making new fire trails in his riding.

WHY GO TO ALBERTA?

Touching on education, he called attention of the minister of education to the great number of young men in his district who were attending the University of Alberta and asked the government to look into reasons therefor.

He complained that persons suffering from communicable diseases were employed in beer parlors and restaurants in British Columbia and was informed there was no provincial law to prevent it. Such a condition should be remedied.

Mr. Burns referred jocularly to the absence of G. G. McGeer from the house and said he was sure the C.C.F. missed the guiding hand and mind of the great McGeer, as will Tom Uphill, Labor, Fernie, who no longer will receive little notes. Clive Planta (Ind., Peace River) walked over to the side he never left, said Mr. Burns, and he wondered if the Conservatives were pleased.

PUTNAM TRIBUTED

He paid tribute to Frank Putnam, Lib., Nelson-Creston, for his interest in hospitals and other public institutions of the Kootenay. The same also was true of Mr. Uphill.

The Trail member concluded by urging Hon. Mr. Pearson to take up the question of the Trail smelter cutting shipments to its smelter from old properties being worked on lease to 25 tons monthly. He had a good word to say for the Consolidated Mining people but hoped the minister would be able to get the company to change its regulations in that respect.

JAMAICA SCORES 54 RUNS FOR ONE

KINGSTON, Jamaica, March 5 (CP cable)—Beginning their reply to Yorkshire's 465 first-innings' runs Jamaica scored 54 runs after tea today without the loss of a wicket in the second day of a five-day cricket match.

Batting cautiously, the touring English county champions held their wickets almost two days continuously in the opening of their second major match against the picked colonial team.

The tourists won the first major match here by six wickets.

Ethiopia Is Ready to Negotiate for Ending of the War

ADDIS ABABA, March 5 (AP)—Ethiopia accepted without reservations today the appeal of the League of Nations for immediate negotiations to end the African war.

Emperor Haile Selassie's acceptance was cabled to Geneva two days after the plea for peace had been dispatched to Rome and Addis Ababa by a council concilation committee.

Schroeder Loses

NEW YORK, March 5 (AP)—The serene procession of favored players in the United States indoor tennis championship was halted today by the upset elimination of Karle Schroeder, champion of Sweden, and Gilbert Hall, second seeded American, in quarter-final encounters.

Frank Bowden of New York achieved the downfall of Schroeder by 6-4, 6-3, 6-4, and Leonard Hartman, former Columbia university basketball captain, sent Hall, a "first 10" luminary of South Orange, N. J., to the showers by scores of 6-4, 8-6, 8-6.

He charged that conditions in Peace River were worse than anywhere in the province yet Clive Planta, Ind., member for that riding, never mentioned them in his contribution to the debate.

CRITICIZES ROAD CONDITIONS

Mr. Winch criticized roads in Omineca, Skeena and Peace country and charged that 95 per cent of the school buildings in the latter area were unfit for human habitation. Ninety per cent of the people hadn't had an apple in three years, despite the surplus left in the Okanagan and some of them don't know what an orange or a banana is.

People on relief in Peace River were fearful of the "dicatorship" at Pouce Coupe. They were unable to obtain medicine, were afraid to complain to a government official and he had personally received 150 complaints of conditions. Relief rates were smaller than in other parts of the province and he asked why.

PEARSON PROMISES PROBE

It was, he continued, almost impossible for a single man in Peace River district to obtain relief. He had only words of praise for Hon. Mr. Pearson and blamed the dissatisfaction in that part of the province on road foremen who played party politics and discriminated against people of another political stripe or whom they disliked.

Hon. Mr. Pearson arose at this juncture and promised he would send in his most expert investigator when spring opened. He was warned by Mr. Winch that the investigator must not let identity be known as those on relief were in fear of government officials.

Premier Pattullo then arose and assured the C.C.F. member that this government would not tolerate a situation which brought about such conditions.

Hon. Dr. Weir also pointed out that four public health nurses and a full time doctor had been sent to the Peace country and over 1000 had received dental treatment and adults may receive every assistance in the way of medicines and treatment.

MORE ABOUT BRITISH ARMY

together total £15,611,000. The royal air force estimates are still to come, and the air force increases are expected to be heavier still.

TRIUMPH OF MACHINE

Alfred Duff Cooper, secretary for war, in an accompanying memorandum tells what the army is doing and what it plans to do. It is a story of the steady triumph of the machine over the dashing cavalry of the old-time days, of new weapons called into being against the devastating menace of the skies.

It has been decided to create a mobile mechanized division combining with them a tank brigade, and to reorganize the infantry into brigades of three rifle battalions and one machine gun battalion.

MOTOR REGIMENTS

In cavalry of the line two regiments, one at home and one in Egypt, are being converted into cavalry motor regiments. One home regiment will be on an experimental basis as a cavalry light tank regiment.

In the royal artillery, the remaining two brigades at home will be converted to mechanized field brigades. It is hoped to mechanize field artillery of one division. Two anti-aircraft brigades of the royal artillery will be formed for completion of a second air defence brigade.

In the royal engineers, the first half of a second anti-aircraft searchlight group will be formed for a second air defence brigade. The mechanization of one remaining horse field company at home and two in Egypt will be completed.

Mrs. R. E. Nordlett, 286 Wilson St., Kingston, writes: "My two girls suffered terribly from bronchitis. Until I tried Buckley's, no remedy gave relief. After the first dose both rested well. Within 24 hours the bronchial tubes were clear." Mr. W. Hardie, 49 Ardagh St., Toronto, says: "I suffered greatly from asthma, and tried many preparations without relief. Finally tried Buckley's and now feel like a new man."

Michel Tipple on Overtime Only to Meet an Emergency

MICHEL, B.C.—Due to a slight error an erroneous impression was given by a recent news report which stated that the tipple of the Michel mines had been working overtime up to the time that an extra shift was put on. What really happened was that occasionally the tipple had been forced to work overtime, in an emergency, when extremely cold weather caused breaks on the tipple.

"Alice in Wonderland" Operetta of United Church Mussion Bands, Cranbrook, Plays Three Evenings

Crowded Houses Each Time Greet the Most Pretentious Offering Yet; Parts and the Choruses Are Excellent

By RUTH McKOWAN

CRANBROOK, B.C.—The annual operetta staged by members of the Cranbrook United church Mission bands was held in the church hall on three evenings of this week, with a special performance for children Monday.

This year's performance, "Alice in Wonderland," played to crowded houses and was the most pretentious of any offering yet attempted. The stage setting, the dozens of dazzling costumes and the excellence of the renditions of parts and choruses, speak eloquently of the time and work put into the production by Mrs. R. W. Hardy and her assistants, Mrs. Manners and Mrs. Millar, as pianist.

The action of the first act took place in the garden in front of the home of the duchess, where the dwarfs danced around Alice who was asleep. Specialty songs in this act were the prologue number sung by Ruth Veeberg and Ruth Hardy: "How Doth the Little Crocodile," sung by Faith Webster as Alice; "You Are Old, Father William," sung by Irma Fisher and Helen Pavey; "Speak Roughly to Your Little Boy," by Marilyn Patmore.

Act one closed with the procession for the queen and the chorus "Alice in Wonderland."

Act two contained the Mad Tea Party. "Twinkle, Twinkle, Little Hat" was sung by Bobby Lane as the Mad Hatter. "'Tis the Voice of the Lobster" was sung by Helen Voisey and Annie McGillivray as the Gryphon and the Turtle. "Won't You Walk a Little Faster" was sung by the Mock Turtle and members of the court.

Act three took place in the court kitchen. "The Queen of Hearts, She Made Some Tarts," was sung by Ruth Veeberg and ladies of the court.

Betweeen the acts numbers by the Sunday school orchestra were rendered, the artists being Mrs. Miller, piano, Barbara Fink, Edward Flower and Gordon Finley, violins; Miss Wanda Fink, cello, M. T. Harris, bass viol.

Miss Faith Webster acted with the stage assurance of an experienced actor, the part of Alice. This was much the heaviest part in the operetta and Faith acted well the moments of delight, which rapidly changed to anger and fear, and then back again.

Miss Isobele Sneath portrayed convincingly the gruff, hard-hearted Queen of Hearts, while the part of the King of Hearts was well played by Miss Beatrice Moore.

The Mock Turtle, wearing large turtle shells with brown leather hat and gloves to complete the costume, was Miss Ann McGillivray, who wept continually while on the stage, only stopping to relate the tale, "'Tis the Voice of the Lobster." Miss Helen Voisey as the Gryphon, was dressed in a costume made of silver feathers with a large yellow beak.

Miss Ida Mann took the part of the Caterpillar. She was completely clothed in green with large silver eyes at the top of her head. The Frog footman was Miss Jean Lee, clotned as a green frog, who hopped about the stage, often pausing to rest on the large toad stool.

The part of the duchess was taken by Miss Marilyn Patmore, who had no trouble convincing Alice that they were all mad in this wonderland. Miss Ethel Mann was the duchess' cook.

Father William, Miss Helen Pavey, and Young Man, Miss Irma Fisher, sang and danced, receiving much applause.

The Herald for the queen's procession was Bobby Rausch, while the executioners, who followed the herald, were Murray Mason and Ernest Moore. They were dressed in black and gold suits and carried axes over their shoulders. As the Knave of Hearts, Miss Ruth Hardy acted well the part of the downtrodden knight. Gordon Harris dressed in a fuzzy white costume, with large pink and white ears, took the part of the white Rabbit who was continually leaving his gloves.

At the Mad Hatter's tea party the part of the Hatter was taken by Bobbie Lane, the March Hare was Ralph Senior and the Doormouse was Howard Maidment.

The dwarfs, who were dressed in green and yellow suits, were Jack Wittaker, Jack Allan, Mary Larsen, Herbert Osen, Bobbie Blumenauer, Roddy Allan, George Lane, Margaret John, Dorothy Brown, Billy Tidy, Audrey Wheeler, Dorothy Maxwell and Maurice Gibbons.

The Card Gardeners, each one almost completely covered by the card he wore, were Donald Brown, Elmer Moore, Sammy Fyles, Shirley Anne Webster, Beverley Jean Ellis, Kathleen Brien, Marjorie Wooley, Helen Mann, Mary Starritt, Lity Lee, Vera Larsen, Stuart Laurie, Phoebe Dyer, Sonny Sutherland, Archie Leonard, Anne Sutherland, Lois Hardy, Ronny Cathcart, Beverley Rausch and Douglas Nelson.

The lords and ladies of the court were Marjory Coz, Shirley Fyles, Nita Veeberg, Rosaline Dyer, Irene Barrett, Jean Countryman, Helen Pavey, Annie Wither, Isobel Currie, Margaret St. Eloi, Ruth Veeberg, Lois Wilson and Velma Haddad.

The ingredients: Shirley Nelson, Thelma Sutherland, Marjory Kaye, Norma Osen, Ethel Moore and Eleanor McLaren.

HOME BURNS AT NATAL

NATAL, B.C.—Hardly recovered from the big fire that took a toll of over $10,000 last Friday, Natal was the scene of another fire that destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Kordukowski early Saturday morning. The fire broke out while the family was asleep. Occupants escaped just in time, and the house burned to the ground. All was lost except a trunk.

The Kordukowski's house was just at the outskirts of Natal about a mile west of the town, up the Elk valley. This house was the former Elk Valley-honey farm.

No insurance was carried on the house, it was said. Due to the distance out of town it was not possible to give an alarm to the Natal people for aid. The fire was not known to many until late the next day.

MENUS RECIPES and HINTS

Good Housekeeping

By Mrs. Mary Morton

Menu Hint

Cheese Wafers
Grapefruit Juice Cocktails
Broiled Steak Baked Potatoes
Tomato-Cucumber Salad
Cookie Tarts Tea or Coffee
Pineapple Juice Supreme

Serve the grapefruit juice and wafers, the latter toasted slightly, in the living room before the dinner is served, if you have guests. The pineapple juice supreme is for the evening, to be passed around while the bridge game is in progress, or during whatever is the evening's entertainment.

Today's Recipes

pint pineapple juice, one pint dry pint pinapple juice ,one pint dry ginger ale, juice of one lemon or two limes or four ounces prenadine. Serve with cracked ice in tall glasses. Serves four.

Cookie Tarts—Line the backs of muffin tins or tart pans with your favorite sugar cookie. Prick to prevent blistering. Bake in a hot oven, 375 to 400 degrees, until a golden brown. Remove carefully from the molds and cool. Fill with pam or fresh fruit, cover with an egg meringue and brown the meringue either under the broiler or in a slow oven, 300 degrees.

FACTS AND FANCIES

Saves Crumbs

Says a housewife: "I made a cake the other day which was too rich, and which refused to come out of the pan easily, necessitating my digging and prying around the sides of the pan which made it chip off in little particles around the edge. Rather than waste this entire lot of crumbs, I put these into a bowl and dried them by turning each day with a fork, loosening them from the bottom and from each other. When they were thoroughly dry I rolled them on waxed paper with a rolling pin and sifted through a fine sieve and then mixed with cinnamon and these are ideal for use on the top of baking powder kuchen, or a cheese cake or anywhere that cinnamon crumbs can be used."

Veal Cutlet Dinner

Veal cutlets, breaded, are a nice main dish to serve. Accompany them with broiled tomatoes, creamed potatoes, lettuce salad and fresh pineapple for dessert and you will have a dinner to serve just the family or guests.

Tomato Juice Cocktail

Four cups tomato juice, one tablespoon chopped onion, one teaspoon salt, one teaspoon sugar, one-fourth teaspoon celery salt, one teaspoon meat sauce, three tablespoons lemon juice. Mix ingredients. Chill and serve in small glasses.

GIVES TALK AT KINGSGATE

KINGSGATE, B.C.—The Ladies Study club met Friday at the house of Mrs. Fred Appel. Miss Wickstrom and Mrs. Appel were joint hostesses.

Mrs. Hugh Hannah was speaker of the evening, taking for her subject, "Vocational Guidance".

The ladies answered roll call by giving their maiden names, and producing a picture of themselves as babies. These were numbered and shuffled and much amusement was caused by trying to guess which was who and who was which. Some of the pictures even went back to the "tintype" age.

Mrs. W. Pierce was a guest of the club.

Mr .and Mrs. T. Balf entertained at bridge and luncheon Wednesday and Thursday. There were five tables of guests Wednesday and four Thursday.

Wednesday prize winners were Mrs. H. Hannah and Fred Appel, high, with Mrs. Guy Walters carrying away the consolation prize. Thursday's winners were Mrs. Thome and Don Stewart with Miss Wickstrom and Max Welton on the low end.

Frank Allen delivered the last of his cedar pole contract through this port Saturday. This contract has meant quite a little business in the district.

King Edward's speech Sunday was heard clearly here, quite a number listening in to the first pronouncement of the new Monarch.

Tonight will be reunion night at the Nelson branch, Canadian Legion. The event, starting at 7 p.m., is open to the public and the program promises something new and original in Nelson. The social committee of the legion, which will foster monthly socials has plans formed to commemorate anniversaries of memorable battles of the great war and minor campaigns such as the Boxer rebellion and troubles on the Indian frontier. The series, says Capt. A. E. Dalgas, chairman, will by no means commemorate only army activities, but will include the naval and air force engagements, setting aside certain nights for the Women's Ex-service club, the Girl Guides, the Boy Scouts and Toc-H.

Tonight's program will commemorate the first entry of the First Canadian division into the firing line at Ploegsteert and Fleurbaix. Included in the program will be a half hour concert, two hours of whist, luncheon and dancing.

Profit from the event will be distributed evenly between the Canadian Legion relief fund, the Boy Scouts and the Girl Guides.

TRAIL, B.C., March 5. — After holding the position of secretary of Trail-Tadanac school board for 17 years, W. E. B. Monypenny last night submitted his resignation, to become effective as soon as possible. His resignation was accepted and H. D. Thain, who has acted as secretary for Mr. Monypenny during the past year, was appointed to succeed him.

"Another one of the old gang going," sighed Chairman H. J. Palmer, "and I am very sorry to see him go. During his long term of office he has helped us out of many a hole. Night after night he sat there, at the head of the table, without saying a word until he saw us get into difficulties. Then he helped us out. With no reflection on Mr. Thain, we will certainly miss him."

Mr. Monypenny stated in his resignation that the "ever-increasing detail of city work" forced him to relinquish the post.

Duncan McVannel Buried, Slocan

Colorful Character in the Distrcit 40 Years

Duncan S. McVannel, a pioneer of the Slocan and one of the district's most colorful characters, who died at New Denver Tuesday night, was buried from the United church at Slocan City Thursday afternoon. Another Slocan pioneer, who died within an hour of him, Mrs. Mary A. Hicks, was buried the same afternoon. A large number of residents of the district as well as a number from Nelson, attended the services conducted by Rev. J. H. Young.

Hymns sung were "Rock of Ages" and "Jesus Lover of My Soul." Pallbearers were William Clough, Walter Clough, C. Barber, J. M. Rae, A. Y. Rae and Denis StDenis of Nelson.

Born possibly at Hillsburg, Ont., 86 years ago June 6, where the Clan McVannell is well known, Mr. McVannell came west to Moose Jaw in 1885 and later to Banff, following his trade, carpentry.

In 1896 or 1897 when the Slocan began to boom, Duncan McVannel landed in the silver camp. He went into partnership with H. L. Fyfe and many of the early buildings in that district were built by the firm McVannel and Fyfe. Among them was the first school and many of the earlier residences.

POSTMASTER

About 25 years ago he was appointed postmaster and was in charge of the Slocan City post office for about 10 years. Later he retired.

Mr. McVannel was a noted rifle shot and at one time was captain of the Civilian Rifle association in the Slocan. Even at an advanced age he was an excellent marksman.

He was also an ardent Liberal and missed but few conventions held in the district.

On July 4, 1935, Clan McVannel held its seventh annual picnic at Hillsburgh, Ont., when the following officers were present, Mrs. Jean Watson, Rodney, Ont., honorary president; Dr. Alexander Thomson, Detroit, Mich., president; Mrs. Jane Leitch, Flint, Mich.; Samuel McVannel, Shelbourne, Ont., Alexander Barr, Windsor, Ont.; M. Peter Thomson, Hillsburgh, Ont., Mrs. Phillip Schleihauf, Rodney, Ont., and Peter McCallum, Dutton, Ont., vice-presidents; Miss Lucille G. McCary, Lapeer, Mich., secretary; Miss Bessie Thomson, Hillsburgh, Ont., treasurer; Mrs. George Doney, Shelburne, Ont., entertainment; Mrs. Philip Schleihauf, Rodney, Ont., program; Peter McMurchy, Port Huron, Mich., sports.

The names were taken from an invitation card.

Mr. McVannel was single and had no relatives in the Slocan.

Chief of Police John Laurie was instructed to look into the matter, which will be discussed further at a later meeting.

Aces Defeat Academy 15-3

With both teams showing a lack of practice to miss many set-up shots, the Aces, girls' basketball club, came to life in the second half to score 10 points and take a 15-3 win over the St. Joseph Academy club on Thursday evening in one of the lowest scoring games ever played here.

Had the winners been able to make even a quarter of theri shots count, they could have run up a larger score Margaret Thompson, Elvera Matheson and Carmella DelPuppo missed numerous close-in shots. Arla Saare with six points was high scorer for her team, and with Mary Abbott, was the only player to show anything like form. Margaret Thompson made three points, and Elvera Matheson, Mary Abbott and Carmella Del Puppo each made two.

While not having anything near the number of shots as their opponents, the St. Joseph club had a lot of tough luck as several shots dropped back fro... the rim. Rosa Stewart played a good game for the losers and scored all of her team's points. Agnes Stewart and Dot Jarbeau also played well. Francis Nicholson, Louise Colletti and Elvera McAdam completed St. Joseph's team.

George Wallach and Joe Wallach refereed the game.

B.C. Telephone Beats Rowers

Scoring 16 points against three for their opponents in the first eight minutes of the second half the B. C. Telephone senior men's basketball club piled up a 32-12 lead, and although they were unable to add to their score during the balance of the game, they held the Rowing club to eight points and won their eighth straight game of the season by a 32-20 score on Thursday evening.

The half time score read 16-9 and just before the end of the first half Lyman Carter appeared headed for breaking the jinx that has followed him all season, only to have steps called when he sent the ball through the hoop, but just after the start of the second half Carter, finally gave old man jinx the boot when he started his team off with two fast field baskets.

Every player on the Telephone club scored at least one point with Kulai leading his club with 10 points, all of them in the first half. Stan Horswill was the leading scorer for the Rowing club with seven points.

Bud Greenwood and Bill Vance were both missing from the Rowing club lineup. Len Bicknell, Muraro and Graves played their best game of the season DesBrisay and Whitfield worked hard for the losers. The teams and scorers were.

B. C. Telephone—George Kulai (10), Fred Graves (6), Gene Muraro (6), Lyman Carter (4), Len Bicknell (2), Jim Cherrington (2), Bob Paterson (1), Norman McLeod (1).

Rowing club—Stan Horswill (7), Max DesBrisay (4), Jack Whitfield (4), Ed Wheeler (3) Slim Horswill (2), and Verne Vance.

McKIM AGAIN REMANDED

W. J. McKim who is being charged with driving his motor vehicle without the proper licence plates, was further remanded in city police court Thursday morning by Magistrate William Brown. He will appear on Saturday.

Hornets Take Ninth Straight

Holding their opponents to a single point in the second half, the Hornets suddenly went on a scoring spree to break a first half 6-6 tie and hang up their ninth victory of the season when they defeated Red Wings 14-7 in a low scoring game played at the junior high school Thursday night.

The Red Wings were first to break the tie in the second half when Stewart converted a free throw and the Hornets were unable to add to their score until after nearly nine minutes play. Then Gallicano, Ian Dingwall and Jeffries ran in eight points in rapid succession. Gallicano got two breaks to add to his two points on free throws in the first half. Mills and McLean scored the other two baskets in the first half.

Jack Stewart with five points and Leslie Trainer with two, were the Red Wing scorers.

Teams were:

Hornets — Howie Jeffries, Don Beattie, Joe Gallicano, Bud McLean, John Dingwall, Bill Townsend, Ian Dingwall, Foster Mills.

Red Wings—Jack Stewart, Morgan Jones, Elmer Gelinas, Leslie Trainer, Frank Rauckuc, Frank Korolak.

With Husband Ran the Hicks House; Was 84

Mrs. Mary A. (Grandma) Hicks, pioneer Slocan resident who died at New Denver Tuesday night, was laid to rest in Slocan City Thursday afternoon following services from the United church. Rev. J. H. Young of New Denver officiated and a large gathering of district residents was present. District Forrester R. E. Allan and Mrs. Allan, Mr. and Mrs. D. StDenis, and T. W. Brewer were present from Nelson.

Hymns sung were "Blessed Be the Tie That Binds," and "Abide With Me."

Pall bearers were William Clough, Walter Clough, Rod McMillan, J. M. Rae, C. Barber and R. G. Warner.

Mrs. Hicks' funeral was conducted following services for another pioneer who died the same day, Duncan S. McVannel.

Mrs. Hicks was 84 years of age and arrived in Slocan City from Ladners Landing, B. C., in May 1896 with her husband. They established and operated the Hicks House for many years. When Mr. Hicks died Mrs. Hicks lived with her only son, William.

She was a member of the Rebekah lodge and the members had charge of funeral arrangements.

Besides her son William she leaves several grandchildren, Wilber, Ted and Trueman Hicks and Mrs. D. Boy of Grand Forks.

BIRCH AND GRANT MOVE AHEAD AS STOREY, UNDERHILL BEATEN

Phelan and Sibbald in the Finals; Miss Taylor Winner

WINNIPEG, March 5 (CP).—Frail shotmakers eliminated, flaming youth typified by "Dick" Birch and Douglas Grant moved into semi-final stages with the 1935 "old guard" at the Dominion badminton championships tournament here tonight.

East and west held equal representation in the hunt for 1936 titles as the four-day meet reached concluding rounds in five events. There pitfalls yawned for champions in semi-final play tomorrow, however, and upsets might easily enthrone new champions in four events.

Only the competent Margaret Taylor, mighty feminine atom from Kelowna, whose brilliant placements and lightning-like shots have featured her play in every round of the women's singles' event, could reasonably be sure of a spot in the final bracket Saturday.

Grant, whose terrific hitting and superb net play easily brushed aside early-round opposition, will meet the acid test tomorrow in his clash with Rod Phelan of Toronto, national singles champion.

Winner of this match will meet either R. E. (Dick) Birch of Vancouver or cagey Jack Sibbald of Woodstock, lower-draw semi-finalists.

GRANT EXTENDED

In one of the day's featured matches Grant was extended to overcome the tricky Jack Underhill of Vancouver, former champion. The 23-year-old Halifax ace, now resident at Winnipeg, was carried through three stirring sets before he amassed the point-total necessary to pass into the next round.

The match, however, proved the black-haired shuttle general has lost nothing of the cunning that carried him through to Dominion titles in 1933-34. The bespectacled coast star manoeuvred him from net to backcourt with cunning placements but the Winnipeg shot-master, making shoe-string recoveries stood up cleverly under a terrific bombardment and emerged to win 8-15, 15-5, 15-11.

In a lower bracket, Birch achieved distinction by his dazzling display against Jack Storey, Toronto star. This match also went three sets and ranked with the duel between Grant and Underhill for sustained interest. The tall Pacific coast star established himself a favorite with Grant to reach the finals by winning 11-5, 17-14, 18-14.

TERRIFIC CLIP

The match was played at a terrific clip. The Ontario pace-maker took the first set. Birch took the second but ran into a third-set offensive that produced brilliant exchanges, Twice Storey had the Vancouver star at match point and only Birch's punishing base-line drives carried him through to victory.

Phelan and Sibbald won their way into the finals with straight set victories. The former turned in a finished game to oust G. K. Reynolds of Montreal, 15-6, 15-3, while the latter eliminated the clever Beverly Mitchell of Ottawa after two heats, 18-17, 15-4.

EASY KELOWNA WIN

It was the diminutive women's champion, however, who impressed the crowded galleries. Never hurried, she hammered out an easy victory over Mrs. H. M. Hughes of Winnipeg in her trip to the gameroom. She took the first set 11-6, and then walked away with the second 11-0 with placements that at times bordered on the miraculous.

British Columbians had a second innings in this event when the brilliant Mrs. Anna Kier-Patrick of Vancouver, a former champion and runner-up to Miss Taylor in the 1933 Pacific coast tourney, ousted the hard-hitting Miss E. Kennedy of Montreal in straight sets, 11-8, 11-2.

In the lower half of the bracket Mrs. Patrick will meet Mrs. W. R. Walton Jr., fast-travelling finalist with Miss Taylor at Ottawa last year. The Ontario stylist eliminated Miss Margaret Robertson of Ottawa on her way to the semi-finals.

Howard Wood won in 1930, Bob Gourley in 1931 and Jimmy Congalton in 1932. In 1934 the winner was Leo Johnson of Winnipeg.

A five on the ninth end decided the Alberta-British Columbia battle, giving the Edmonton four its margin of victory, and a five on the fifth gave Quebec a big start on the way to a 14-12 win over Nova Scotia. The Quebec curlers had to stage a rally on the last end, however, to get the verdict. They scored three on the twelfth.

Ontario defeated Saskatchewan 11-5 and northern Ontario set back Prince Edward Island 13-9 in the other final-round matches. Northern Ontario and Ontario finished tied for fifth place with five wins against four losses.

Saskatchewan won four and lost five; Quebec won two and lost seven; Nova Scotia defeated only Prince Edward Island and the Islanders failed to win a game.

B.C. WINS TWICE

Manitoba had little difficulty in marching through morning and afternoon rounds, trouncing Prince Edward Island 25-5 and skimming along to a 15-7 win over Saskatchewan.

Alberta defeated Quebec, 15-7, and Ontario, 12-7.

British Columbia squeezed out a 10-7 morning win over Ontario and then turned back northern Ontario 12-7 in the next round. The morning affair was close with a scattering of single ends on the board. A three-ender for Bill Whalen's Vancouver rink in the eighth of the afternoon round followed by a two spoiled the chances of the Haileybury rink piloted by Emmett Smith.

The northerners, however, won their morning round against Saskatchewan in easy fashion, 14-5. Nova Scotia broke into the win column at the expense of Prince Edward Island, 15-8.

Council Approves Kaslo Estimates

KASLO, B. C.—Kaslo city council met Monday with Mayor W. V. Papworth presiding and Aldermen John Paterson, Mrs. E. M. Sandilands, A. L. Grayling and C. F. Archer and City Clerk H. T. Hartin in attendance.

School estimates submitted by the school board totalled $9404 and were approved by the council which also approved payment of $50 to W. J. Murphy for land, parallel to Kaslo creek on which to build a road from Fifth street to the city power plant. The city clerk was authorized to instruct Street Commissioner A. L. MacPhee to proceed at once with the building of this road and the necessary relocation of boundary fencing.

The city tax levy bylaw No.272 was read a third time and passed, the rate for 1936 being 40 mills.

Loan bylaw, No. 273, was also read a third time and passed, thus empowering the city to borrow $6000 to carry on the work of the city until tax returns are in.

Recognizing excellent work of City Electrician F. S. Chandler and Street Commissioner A. L. MacPhee during the recent imprecendented and prolonged period of cold weather, the city clerk was instructed to write letters of appreciation to them. Mr. Chandler and Mr. MacPhee and their assistants were tireless in their efforts to keep the water and power service in continuous operation and on several occasions put in 24 hours a day to accomplish this. It was through no fault of theirs, it was pointed out that the city was without lights for three days or that water mains burst, as they made every possible effort to avert this state of affairs.

The delegates visited the Protestant Home in New Westminster, and Mrs. McLeary stated that they were all much surprised at the beauty of the place.

At the session it was decided that the next grand lodge meeting will be at Victoria.

DR. ROSE'S PASSING

A representative citizen of Nelson has passed out of the city's life in the passing of Dr. W. O. Rose. He was representative of every era in Nelson's evolution except the days of tents, for he was here before the turn of the century, and he was an active figure in every one of these eras.

If we think of him in the pioneer days, a brilliant young medical man come to the frontier, we can say a pioneer has crossed the divide.

Or if we think of the turbulent days of Nelson's building as a municipality entity, and of his hand on the helm as mayor, we can say a city father has been gathered to his fathers.

A dozen years pass, and beside being the leader of his profession in the territory, he is sitting in the legislature, the choice of the electors in two different years when the province has gone sweepingly against his party. Later he is the logical choice of his party for Dominion honors, but this time fortune withholds her smile, and a political career for which Dr. Rose had a peculiar capacity is diverted. He might have been a provincial minister, perhaps a premier—there have been lesser men in that high office—if fate had dealt his party a better hand. So we can say an elder statesman has received the last summons.

One of the leaders in his community and its territory in development enterprise, though a professional man and not primarily engaged in business, his support was available for every meritorious enterprise and for every worthy public object, and his material support was a factor in development of this city and district for many a year, spanning all eras. He was wise in counsel, a patron as well as an exemplar of education, and a doer of good by stealth, and his encouragement sent many a young man to seek higher things. We may say of his passing, in still other words, a pillar of the community has fallen.

The memory of Dr. Rose will long be green in the city and district to which he gave distinguished service.

CANADA LEADS THE WAY

Most Canadians are under the impression that we are lagging behind the world in air development. In some respects we are. However, an authoritative article in The London Observer, by Brigadier-General Groves, shows that in the amount of goods and mail carried by airplane, Canada in 1934 the last year figures are officially available—led the world. In 1934 Canadian planes flew 5,169,550 miles, carried 103,531 passengers and transported freight and mail to the total of 6726 tons. United States easily led the world in miles flown and passengers carried, but Canada was first in tonnage.

The following figures refer to the regular air services, domestic and foreign, of the seven countries which are responsible for the bulk of commercial flying:

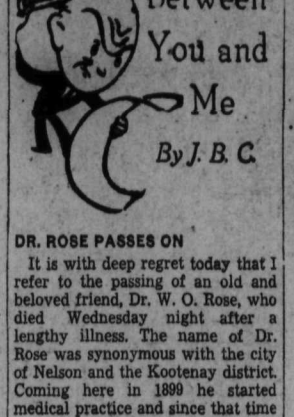
Countries	Years	Miles Flown	Pass'gers Carried	Goods & Mails Car'd (tons)
U. S. A.	1934	48,786,551	561,370	5006
	1933	54,642,545	568,940	4584
Germany	1934	8,862,766	165,846	3927
	1933	6,551,728	123,036	2939
France	1934	6,041,236	50,019	1538
	1933	5,986,011	52,179	1706
Canada	1934	5,169,550	103,531	6726
	1933	3,145,935	49,126	2128
Gr. Britain	1934	4,560,000	135,100	1423
	1933	2,638,092	79,070	909
Italy	1934	2,735,930	40,930	941
	1933	2,960,132	43,126	1039
Netherlands	1934	2,711,647	57,339	986
	1933	2,071,433	32,054	1047

These figures show the enormous strides made by Canada in 1934 over 1933 and we are of the opinion that last year will reveal even greater progress. The explanation of Canada's progress is to be found in our employment of air transport for the development of the vast Northern Hinterland. Many of the mining camps of the Far North depend entirely on air transportation of all kinds. It is doubtful if any country makes its air service of such practical value as Canada. This year's estimates provide for nearly a million and a half extra for air service. It has not yet been explained what it is to be used for, but the Government has already built a series of airdromes across Canada, so that everything is set for a Trans-Canada air route to link up with any Atlantic service.

General Groves is authority for the statement that the project of an Anglo-American service, linking London with New York, via the Azores and Bermuda will be carried into effect in the autumn of 1937. Several of the large fleet of flying boats ordered by Imperial Airways will be available before then.

"THE FOUNDATION OF STABILITY"

Increasing Italian weakness, coupled with the inability of the invading armies to make any progress, is a point to be kept in the foreground in assessing the current peace proposals. It would probably be a lot easier for the League of Nations to drive Italy into anarchy now than it would be for the agency to restore order once the Fascist regime collapsed. Abstract justice to Ethiopia is an important element in the situation. But it is equally important to seek to avoid a smash in Italy which would shake the very foundations of European stability — Washington Post.



DR. ROSE PASSES ON

It is with deep regret today that I refer to the passing of an old and beloved friend, Dr. W. O. Rose, who died Wednesday night after a lengthy illness. The name of Dr. Rose was synonymous with the city of Nelson and the Kootenay district. Coming here in 1899 he started medical practice and since that time has ushered many a little Nelsonite into the world. Many of them are now fathers and mothers themselves. Dr. Rose has a way of his own. He never became unduly excited, or if he did, he did not show it. He always had a good joke on hand and had that way of making a patient feel at ease immediately he met him. One of Dr. Rose's favorite expressions was "Well, my man don't look so worried, It is a fine baby girl. In all my years of practice we have never yet lost a father."

Dr. Rose fitted in particularly well with the newspaper fraternity of Nelson. For Dr. Rose knew practically everyone and his life history. If some prominent person died and a reporter was stuck Dr. Rose was always sought. And the reporter always got a story that was complete and authentic. We in this office have often remarked that we wonder what 'we will do when Dr. Rose dies." So today I join many others in expressions of sorrow at his passing.

JUST AN INCIDENT

And did you ever hear that story about Dr. Rose and his many patients in the early days? One day a man hurriedly entered the doctor's office. Hastily he asked what his bill amounted to. Dr. Rose looked up, greeted the man in friendly fashion, took a small book from his pocket, scanned a couple pages and then remarked: "Your bill is $7.50." The patient paid the amount, got a receipt and departed. Turning to his assistant Dr. Rose asked: "Just who was that chap who was just in to pay his bill, I can't recall his name?"

The genial medico did not like to let on he did not know his patient. He had no account in his note book and further more it turned out that the patient had some years before had his appendix removed by Dr. Rose. But that was the way of Dr. Rose.

ADVICE TO A GIRL

Never love unless you can
Bear with all the faults of man!
Men sometimes will jealous be,
Though but little cause they see,
And hang the head, as discontent,
And speak what straight they will repent.

Men, that but one Saint adore,
Make a show of love to more;
Beauty must be scorned in none,
Though but truly served in one:
For what is courtship but disguise?
True hearts may have dissembling eyes.

Men, when their affairs require,
Must awhile themselves retire;
Sometimes hunt, and sometimes hawk,
And not ever sit and talk—
If these and such-like you can bear,
Then like, and love, and never fear!

WHEN KINGS DIED IN THE OLD DAYS

From the London Spectator

It has fallen to the Spectator in the course of its history to record the deaths of five British sovereigns. A study of the verdicts passed in its columns on the two earliest of them, King George IV and his successor, is an instructive revelation of the strangely low repute in which the throne was in those days held, or of the candor by which Press criticism was in those days marked, or—more probably — of both. What, it may be asked with some curiosity, would the elegist find to say of George IV? He found this, among other things:

"A very nice attention to the rigidities of moral observance can hardly be asked from one who, to the vigor of youth and an eminently handsome person, unites a complete command of fortune, and whose will every man who surrounds him is more anxious to flatter than to regulate. The King at a very early period of his life gave evidence of his fondness for female society; a failing of all others the most excusable, but it not unfrequently brings down on its possessor a degree of censure that the colder and darker vices of a disposition inherently evil do not provoke."

There follows a list of the principal successive objects of His Majesty's amours, and the quarrel between him and Queen Caroline is summed up heavily against the Queen.

Rather strangely William IV evokes distinctly stronger criticism, prefaced with the remark that the strictures

"are the dispassionate convictions of a calm retrospect having no regard to aught but the plain truth."

The plain truth thus commended is that

"on the throne, as in private life, William IV appears to have been a good-hearted man with frank impulses and kindly feelings; willing to do right but not unfrequently doing wrong from want of knowledge and strength of mind. He had little information and strong prejudices. Though sufficiently conceited, and self-willed, he was easily imposed upon and led by the designing."

Or, if you will:

"His late Majesty, though at times a jovial and, for a king, an honest man, was a weak, ignorant, commonplace sort of person . . . Notwithstanding his feebleness of purpose and littleness of mind, his ignorance and his prejudices, William IV was to the last a popular sovereign, but his very popularity was acquired at the price of something like public contempt."

When it is considered that these appreciations appeared in each case within some four days of the late King's death the changes that a century has brought in journalistic method are sufficiently demonstrated. The change indeed was effected in much less time than that. When Queen Victoria died in 1901 no word was spoken of her in these columns but in praise, though of her son as he ascended the throne a certain subtle critimism is implied, in the suggestion that

"as to the past we believe that the nation will not and ought not to think. Their attention must be fixed on the King that is and will be and not on the Prince of Wales. The King will be judged and ought to be judged solely by his life and actions as King."

"THE BEAVER"

Under this caption with its supplementary title, "A Magazine of the North," many readers will recognize the interesting journal published quarterly by the Hudson's Bay company. From a purely company organ, of interest mainly to employees, it has developed into a publication which commands the attention of thousands of outside subscribers.

A glance through any recent issue is sufficient to explain its success in this wider field. From the attractive front cover to the last page it is a well-finished, carefully edited production, assembled with imagination, balance and attention to detail. Not the least attractive feature is the wealth of illustration.

"Outfit 266, Number 3," just off the press, keeps well up to this standard. It includes a variety of articles on current and historical subjects written and illustrated in a manner to please discriminating readers. Among these may be cited "The New World's Oldest Industry," a colorful description of the cod fishing industry on Newfoundland's Grand Banks; "The Rupert River Brigade," the story of freighting furs by canoe in the James Bay district; "The Killing of the Buffalo," which takes one back to the stirring pioneer history of the West; and "High Northern Weather," in which an experienced northern dweller points out that Stefansson's phrase "The Friendly Arctic," needs qualification.

There are other similar articles and two full-page camera portraits of Indians which deserve special mention. In every way The Beaver may be unhesitatingly recommended to Canadians who desire more intimate knowledge of their country and its history.

THE LITTLE ELF

I met a little Elf-man, once,
Down where the lillies blow.
I asked him why he was so small,
And why he didn't grow.

He slightly frowned, and with his eye
He looked me through and through.
"I'm quite as big for me," said he,
"As you are big for you."

NOT IN THE NEWS

By WORTH CHENEY

Scotland Yard, nickname for London's police force, often regarded as the greatest police agency in the world, comes by its reputation justly. Its glory is not entirely in fiction, but in the solution of actual crime cases that have seemed almost entirely insoluble. To illustrate, we print a couple of amazing cases taken from the records.

A man in fair circumstances was bludgeoned to death in the living room of his home. Scotland Yard detectives found very little on which to work in investigating the case. There were no relatives within a hundred miles, the man had no enemies and no vices except one—cigarette smoking.

As you might imagine, such a vice ordinarily would not offer much foundation as a possible angle to a murder. But the detectives were not content to pass it up. They examined the butts of numerous cigarettes in the room, and found that they were all of the same brand. Revelation of that fact might have caused many investigators to halt the probe, but one young detective checked further. He discovered that the cigarettes had been smoked by two people!

By the condition of the butts on the lip end he was able to determine that one man had been a "dry" smoker, and the other a "wet" smoker. The police learned that the murdered man was the "dry" smoker, and so they set out in search of a "wet" smoker among his friends. Within two days he was found and later confessed the crime.

In another case a woman was murdered in her bed. There were no clues apparent. She had been separated from her husband, who told police he had not even seen the slain woman for more than a year.

Everything in the room was perfectly in order; there was nothing that would suggest a clue to Scotland Yard agents. Then one detective made a careful examination of the pillow on the bed under a micro-scope. He found three very short hairs with gray bases and brown ends.

It was a very important discovery, for the estranged husband was found to have gray hair which he had dyed brown. Further inquiries revealed that he had been to the barber and had his hair cut on that day.

One day a man in an apartment building heard a voice in an adjoining apartment denouncing, in loud tones, a prominent member of the British cabinet. An hour later the cabinet minister was found slain.

There were no clues to the murder except one—the voice of the man who was heard denouncing the victim. It was a rather flimsy clue but it was traced and after weeks of investigation the man who had uttered the scathing attack on the man confessed the crime.

VERSE

THE LITTLE THINGS

'Tis many and many a year ago
Since we crossed the waste o' waters.
We have learned your speech, and have learned your ways,
We are bedded and settled down.
We have planted gardens, and built our homes,
We have raised our sons and daughters
Till they stand true kin to those ye have bred
In the market place or in town.

(But we—God help us—We cannot forget
The little things that don't matter,
The glint o' the sun on the yellow broom
Or the blue of a distant hill,
We suddenly hear in the quiet o' the night
Or in broad day's noisesome clatter
The song o' a burn that we used to hear
That lives in the heart o' us still.)

'Tis many and many a year ago
Since we felt our feet on the heather,
And we took the road—not that to the Isles
But the road that does lead away.
So we've plowed the land, and garnered the grain
In sunshine and stormy weather,
And planted our hearts along with the seed
And knew we were here to stay.

(But we—God help us—We cannot forget
And at night time there comes calling
The cry o' the whaup amongst the hills
And the tang o' the north sea wind.
There's a bend o' a road that once we knew,
And the skirl o' the sea maws brawling
And a waft o' perfumed dew-drenched air
From a garden we left behind).

We are loyal and true to the Maple Leaf,
And we teach our children the lisson
That this is their land, their own native land,
And so love it and so revere.
And we mean it too—and one would think
That year after year would lessen
The tie that binds us with memory's cords
To the land we held so dear.

(But we—God help us—We cannot forget
And we care not to be forgetting,
A planting we know with violets starred,
A stream where the trout lie deep.
And sometimes we wake in the dark o' the night
With a tug at our heart-strings fretting
For the little things o' long ago,
That have come to us in sleep.
That have come to us in sleep.)

CHURCH CAN EXPECT AID OF PARENTS

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.

Head Department Parent Education Cleveland College, Western Reserve University

We columnists sometimes forget that a good many million children in our country attend Sunday school and that millions more attend parochial schools.

Some while ago I wrote in this column what I as parent expected my child to gain from the church school. That article brought to me many letters from religious educators, one large church magazine asked permission to reprint it (it was granted), and some Sunday school leaders mimeographed it for discussion with their staffs. Recently, while leading a conference with religious educators, I was asked what the church school teacher should expect of parents.

The church school teacher should expect parents to give their children first training in the alphabet of good citizenship—regard for the rights and feelings of others.

Should expect parents to rise early enough on Sunday mornings to give their children a good breakfast and get them off to Sunday school happy—and every Sunday morning reasonably possible, and on time. When parents look upon tardiness as a moral problem they will not have their children late, except in rare instances.

Should expect the parents to come to Sunday school and church with their children. Children find Sunday school more interesting when their parents prove their sincere interest and make the children feel that the Sunday school is quite worthwhile.

INTEREST STIMULATED AT HOME

Should expect the parents to stimulate at home the child's interest in what is taught at Sunday school, and to carry on religious training there. All else equal, that Sunday school is most efficient which has the largest proportion of parents who practice their religion—live it—in their homes.

The foregoing principles apply also to parents of parochial schools. Most parents who send their children to these schools do so at considerable sacrifice to themselves or some other person of their faith. In spite of this fact, many of these parents could increase the efficiency of their chosen school by closer cooperation with the teachers.

It is encouraging to see parent-teacher organizations develop in connection with parochial schools and Sunday schools. All schools for religious education would be very much more efficient if they would devote more time to parent education.

The kind of church school you should have your child attend, or that you should have him attend any such school at all, is not my major interest. What I am driving at is to show your child might get more value from the particular school, if any, that you do choose for him.

MAN AND PLANT IN NEED OF SUNSHIN

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

If you grow a plant in a flower pot in the cellar, you may provide it with water and all the chemicals which it needs, but it will not be a green plant. It will be white and unhealthy looking (except in epicures); in fact, it will be anemic. The coloring matter of plants, which develops on exposure to sunlight, is known as chlorophyll. A comparison might be made between the chlorophyll of the plant and the hemoglobin of the blood in the animal body. Hemoglobin gives most of the color to the plant. Hemoglobin seizes on the oxygen breathed into the lungs, and as the blood goes through the body it delivers this oxygen to the tissues so that they may transform food into energy. The chlorophyll of the plant, energized by sunlight, rips the carbon atoms away from the oxygen in the air and soon transforms the carbon into the starches and sugars.

"Results of this kind seem to illustrate the most remote period in the evolutionary development of organisms and point to a common origin of the plant and animal world. Leaf and blood pigments are shown to be related chemically, but widely different as to function." (Palladin. "Plant Physiology").

The pigmentation of nature is mostly made by a few metals. The chief are iron, copper and sulphur. It is not surprising to learn t bilirubin, which is one of the c oring matters of human bile, be derived either from the chlo phyll of plants or from the hem globin of the blood of animals. a matter of fact, in the human b bilirubin is derived entirely fr blood pigments because bile is result of the destruction of blood

Bilirubin contains no iron beca the body utilizes its iron over ever again. As the old blood c are destroyed, having served th usefulness, the iron is re-absorb and used for the formation of n blood in the bone marrow, but the course of time some loss of i occurs, which has to be replaced.

Our best source for this in plant kingdom is from the gre leafy vegetables and the wh grain cereals. The iron which t contain, drawn from the soil, synthesized in their chemical str ture by the action of sunlight. the primary source of energy our planet, the sun, then, we o the regeneration of our blood should not be surprised if scie discovers some day that the ex sure of the body to sunlight he in the renewal of our blood-for ing activities.

So we should become sun w shippers like our ancient fo fathers.

U. S. Olympic Team Beaten by Wembley by Four-Nil Score

WEMBLEY, England, March 5 (CP)—The United States Olympic hockey team dropped a 4-0 decision to the Wembley All-Stars tonight. Brilliant goaltending by F. Anantea checked the Americans time and again.

BOSTON BRUINS AND CHICAGO HAWKS TIE; KARAKAS HAS AN EASY SESSION

CHICAGO, March 5 (AP)—Boston Bruins and Chicago Black Hawks battled through 70 minutes of hockey tonight to a two-all tie in their National league match.

The Bruins picked up one point to go into a tie with New York Rangers for third place in the American division. The Hawks remained in second place.

Boston, although outplayed by a big margin after the first period, twice held the lead. Red Beattie scored unassisted in the first period, with Mush March tying it up later in the period.

Early in the third, Bill Cowley soloed for Boston's second goal. Eddie Ouellette punched the puck past Tiny Thompson for the last score of the match.

Karakas, who had only 10 stops all evening, to 36 for Thompson, remained tied with the Boston goalie in the battle for the Georges Vezina memorial trophy, each with 49 goals scored against him.

DETROIT RED WINGS SNAP THROUGH 4-1 VICTORY OVER THE AMERICANS

NEW YORK, March 5 (AP)—Detroit Red Wings, favorites to finish the National Hockey league season at the head of the American group, defeated New York Americans 4-1 in a speedy but colorless game tonight.

The Red Wings smacked home a goal midway in the first period when Herbie Lewis scored. They weakened long enough to let the A's knot the count less than two minutes later on Art Chapman's goal.

Larry Aurie was credited with a Detroit goal in the second period when the puck, fired by Lewis, hit his skate and glanced in the American cage. The Wings hung up two more markers in the final frame by forcing the Americans to bring the play to them then crashing through the attacking waves at opportune moments. Aurie and Barry shot the goals.

Whiffs From the Spring Training Baseball Camps

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 5 (AP)—Pick-ups from the spring baseball training camps:

Joe Vosmik, Cleveland outfielder, refuses to talk about it, but he probably is the first ball player to "hope" his way out of the American league batting championship. When Vern Kennedy was pitching his no-hit game against the Indians last summer, Joe came up in the ninth hoping he wouldn't spoil Kennedy's dream with a hit. He didn't. But how could he know that it cost him the batting title? He lost it to Buddy Myer of Washington by one hit.

Firpo Marberry, comeback best with the Giants, says umpiring is a lonely life. Firpo umpired 104 games in the American league last season and after watching some pitchers in action from an ump's viewpoint, Firpo decided he had enough stuff to make a comeback.

As a starter, he had 14 teeth yanked out.

Baseball writers figure Mickey Cochrane will wind up as the richest player in the game—if he isn't already.

Hal Trosky, Cleveland's home run artist, says Lefty Grove will have another great year in '36. "He's getting better, smarter and harder to hit every year," says Hal.

Postpone Probe of Fight Managers

NEW YORK, March 5 (AP)—A meeting of the New York state athletic commission, called to investigate disquieting reports in connection with the heavyweight bout between Primo Carnera and Isidore Gastanaga in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night, was today postponed until tomorrow afternoon.

The meeting had been summoned after reports were circulated that Louis Soresi and R. J. Rizzi, managers respectively of Carnera and Gastanaga, were former business associates.

Canada has long claimed the palm as birthplace of hockey players, but there is one puck-chaser under the big tent who never turned out with a Canadian team. It's "Doc" Romnes, centre ice star of the crack Romnes-McFayden-Thompson line of Chicago Black Hawks, who claims White Bear, Minnesota, as his birthplace, and the Chihawks as his only team affiliation to date. At that he nearly travelled north last year, when Toronto Maple Leafs tried to engineer a deal sending Andy Blair to Chicago for the forward.

Tommy Gorman says Romnes is the league's biggest eater despite the fact that he is a comparative light-weight. Tommy should know since he coached the Hawks to a Stanley Cup with Romnes on the roster. Back home in Togo, Minn., Romnes senior is the big works in town. He is, or has been, postmaster, general store owner, gasoline station proprietor, mayor and chief of police. But "Doc", whose first name is Elwin, chose hockey as a business, quitting a St. Paul medical school to join the ranks.

Until he turned out with the St. Paul entry in pro hockey this crack pivot man never had a pair of real hockey gloves. He learned deadly accuracy in his shooting by knocking the tops off jars in the basement of the home mansion. Around the circuit most of the managers will tell you he learned his lesson well.

Dynamiters to Play Nelson

Here Either Saturday or Monday Night

R. E. Crerar, manager of the Nelson Maple Leaf Hockey club, stated Thursday night that arrangements had been completed with the Kimberley Dynamiters to have them play here either Saturday or Monday night. Should they lose at Trail tonight, necessitating a fifth game in the Kootenay playoff finals, they would be compelled to play the game at Trail Saturday night, in which case they would play the Leafs Monday.

Providing they win, however, they will play the Leafs here Saturday nihgt. As it is an exhibition game, Nelson will have out its regular lineup including Bicknell, Smith and Goble, who were ineligible for Allan cup playoffs.

Nelson officials were fortunate in obtaining the Dynamiters as opponents for the Kimberley boys are big favorites with the locals. Fans here have been clamoring for a game now for some time.

Later the Leafs will go to Kimberley.

LONDON, March 5 (AP)—England defeated the United States 6-3 in the first table tennis match ever played betweeen the two countries. Ruth Hughes Aarons of New York won the only singles match for the Americans, who scored two doubles victories.

HOCKEY C-H-A-T-T-E-R

by W.W.W.

Some person ought to put this guy Forsey wise to himself. The very idea of scoring two goals when his team was short a man! One goal, as in Andreashuk's case might have been forgivable as a lapse to day dreaming, but certainly not two. It must have been a harrowing experience to Burnett, who was sitting in the penalty box and no doubt he was complaining bitterly to himself, "Just look what he does the moment my back is turned! It makes me feel I'm not needed out there!"

* * *

Once more Kimberley takes the lead in the Kootenay playoff and should they win tonight it will be curtains for the Smoke Eaters. Trail however, can extend it to the fifth game by winning. Nelson Leafs want a game here Saturday night if Kimberley finishes the series tonight.

* * *

The game was a tense one Wednesday night and there was no fooling around. There were fans there who put a piece of gum in their mouths as play started and never put a tooth mark in it until the first rest period. Shots on goal were remarkably few and yet each one had "purpose" written all over it. The long range snipers had been left at home in each case and both teams had their sawed-off shotgun units in action. It made a better game, for, with players tearing right in on the goalies and then being robbed, thrill after thrill was provided. Both net minders were "on."

The crowd was a big one, and seats in the reserve section were sold out the day before the game.

The Hugo Mackie-Redding-Moore line was clicking with a vengeance, getting three of the goals, the entire line figuring in two. Mackie put the finishing touch on in each case.

Cronie and Carr managed to combine in two of Trail's goals.

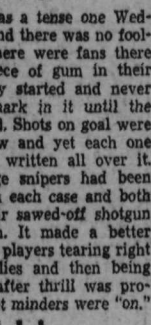
After taking two whippings from the Fairview Falcons to the tune of 6-8 and 0-3, Wolves changed the music Wednesday night and took a 5-2 victory to enter the second round of the Nelson Commercial league playoffs and will now meet Savoy in a two-game, total-goals-to-count series. The winners of that will then meet Fairview intermediates in the finals, a best-out-of-three series. Aurellio got two goals and an assist for the winners and Teddy Romano got a goal and an assist. Anderson, leading goal scoring ace of the commercial league, got both counters for the Falcons.

* * *

Clean play and efficiency are notably demonstrated in the case of Elwin Romnes, play-making center of the Chicago Black Hawks who is making a great fight for scoring honors in the American section of the N. H. L.



"Doc" Romnes

When Romnes recently forged to the front among the point-makers of the division, he had acquired only three penalties, and the last summary still shows him with only six minutes served in the cooler.

He has the distinction of being the only truly-American forward in the entire major league. Several players now performing in the big loop saw the light of day in the United States but learnt their hockey in Canada. Romnes never played for a Canadian team. Born at White Bear, Minn., on New Year's day, 1909, Romnes learned his hockey in his native state, and his first professional engagement was with St. Paul team of the American Association in 1928, from which club he went directly to Hawks in 1930.

Back home in Togo, Minn., Romnes senior is the big works in town. He is, or has been, postmaster, general store owner, gasoline station proprietor, mayor and chief of police. But "Doc," whose first name is Elwin, chose hockey as a business, quitting St. Paul medical school to join the ranks.

Until he turned out with St. Paul entry in the Association, this crack pivot man never had a real pair of hockey gloves. He learned deadly accuracy in his shooting by knocking the tops off jars in the basement of the home mansion. Around the circuit most of the managers will tell you he learned his lesson well.

Recently Frank Patrick, Boston Bruins' manager, named Romnes as the best center in the N. H. L. at that date.

Romnes, as American as Virginia ham, joined the Black Hawks in 1930 and was hailed as a comer by none other than Dick Irvin. However, Irvin was released and the new manager, Emil Iverson, farmed him out to Pittsburgh. When Tommy Gorman took over the Hawks he was impressed with Romnes' playing but claimed he lacked aggressiveness. Romnes fashioned his game after that of Frank Boucher of the New York Rangers who plays the puck and gets results without penalties. A more fighting game, the player felt, would be detrimental to his efficiency.

Under the Hawks' present manager, Clem Loughlin, "Doc" has been given a free hand to play his own game, one result being the bouquet handed him by Patrick. Much of the credit for Paul Thompson being one of the league's leading scorers is Romnes, for his accurate and timely passing has resulted in many flashes of the red light.

Should Romnes continue his brilliant two-way game, there is every reason to believe he will be the first all-star ranking hockey player to be developed in the United States.

"Doc" is one of the cleanest players in hockey. On January 12, he drew his first penalty of the season and was provoked into it by Johnny Gagnon, who checked him into the goal net. "Doc" in his desire to get disentagled from the webbing of the cage, bumped Gagnon and was penalized. He drew another two minutes' penalty in New York January 21. It was Romnes' second penalty. Boucher received a two-minute banishment the same night. It was his first.

Babe Ruth Just Can't Take It

Picks Up Golf Clubs and Heads South as Training Starts

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 5 (AP)—Baseball's forgotten man—the once mighty George Herman Ruth—could stand it no longer.

With two clubs of former teammates training within a mashie shot of his bungalow here, the Babe hurriedly packed his golf clubs today and left for Miami where, he hopes, the memories will not be quite so keen.

Ruth has become a somewhat portly, puzzled and disappointed citizen who leads a simple life and dreams about his glamorous baseball days.

"It's not so bad until the teams begin coming south," he told a friend. "I go to the golf links every morning. Sometimes I go driving in the afternoon. Then I come home, have my dinner, take a couple of snorts and go to bed. But it's pretty tough when you can sit on your front porch and hear bats cracking all around you."

DONS HAVE TOUGH ASSIGNMENT WHEN BATTLE RANGERS SATURDAY

Eight Teams Meet in Scottish Cup Play on Saturday

GLASGOW, March 5 (CP Cable)—Eight teams, victorious so far in their march to Scottish football cup honors, were ready today for fourth-round play Saturday. Six represent the first division and the other two carry the second-league standard.

With the field narrowed down, forecasters are at work on the Hampden park finalists and even to the average follower, the winner of the Aberdeen-Rangers game is conceded a place in the closing battle for the trophy.

Most likely it will be an entry for the catalogue of great games at Pittodrie after the feature clash tomorrow. Both are top-flight squads and have aspirations for league and cup laurels. The Dons have the edge, playing at home, but Rangers can start on an even basis with any club in Scotland whether at home or away.

After St. Johnstone shattered Celtic's hopes with a 2-1 win, the Saints were given a prominent place among cup-tie hopefuls. Aberdeen was then pitted against the "hot" Muitton Park team in the third round and they fought to a 1-1 tie. In the replay the Dons crowded the Saints out with a 1-0 decision.

CLYDE VS. MOTHERWELL

The other all-first-division game is slated between Clyde and Motherwell at Shawfield Park. According to the positions of the clubs in the league standings, the logical conclusion is an "X" besie Motherwell. But in a cup-tie the "underdog" usually shows unexpected strength.

Morton and Falkirk, minor leaguers, have home games. At Cappeilow Park, Third Lanark provides the opposition and Dunfermline visits Falkirk. Third Lanark looks good for a place in the semi-finals, but Falkirk has been playing a first-division brand of football this year and Dunfermline will have to go all out to beat this outfit.

In league play Celtic has a great chance to lengthen its two-point lead over Rangers and Aberdeen. The Celts meet Airdrieonians at Broomfield Park. Hibernians and Ayr United came through with startling wins at home last Saturday but this week-end they travel. The Hibs meet Dundee and Ayr has a tough game against Partick Thistle.

In the second division St. Mirren, runner-up to Falkirk, has a home game against King's Park.

With All My Heart

BY SARA CHRISTY

COPYRIGHT, 1935, BY JOHN H. HOPKINS & SON—RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

READ THIS FIRST:

Thora Dahl, who has left her home in Minnesota and journeyed east, obtains a position as housekeeper for an eccentric gentleman named Selwyn Marsh who lives in suburban New York. Thora meets Sherman Gordon, a friend of Marsh and his daughter, Wilma, who is away. Marsh is writing a history book and Thora helps type his notes for him. Wilma Marsh arrives and displays much curiosity over the attractive housekeeper, Sherman Gordon comes to dinner.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 17

Selwyn Marsh was the first to acknowledge the summons to the dining room, by getting to his feet and remarking brusquely:

"We're ready. You've already met Mr. Gordon, Miss Dahl."

"Surely", that gentleman said heartily. He stepped forward as if to offer his hand, then paused suddenly when he was aware of a questioning gaze from his hostess' dark eyes. "I dropped in here the other afternoon by way of that window," he explained to Wilma. "Miss Dahl heard me and thought I had designs on the family plate. I finally convinced her, I think, that I wasn't a burglar. I'm glad I have someone here now to vouch for me." He smiled at Thora.

"You're taking a good deal for granted," Wilma remarked. "But let's go out," She led the way to the dining room, with Thora dropping back to the rear of the little procession.

When the group reached the table Selwyn Marsh walked directly to his chair at the head of the board and pulled it out. But Wilma stood motionless, looking directly at Thora.

The housekeeper's blue eyes darkened suddenly and some of the color left her cheeks. Without a tremor in her quiet voice, she accepted the other girl's challenge.

"Will you sit there, Miss Marsh?" She indicated the place at Selwyn's right, "And you, Mr. Gordon, on the other side, please."

Sherman stepped quickly to Wilma's chair and seated her. Then, his mouth quirking in the amused smile that Thora remembered, he performed the same office for her before he passed to his own place. If the little scene had any significance for Marsh, he gave no sign of it as he unfolded his napkin and watched Jane serve the soup.

Thora Dahl was favored at last by hearing lively conversation at the Marsh dinner table. And, to her great gratification, she was not called upon to contribute. There was no need of it and her silence passed unnoticed. Wilma took the talk into her own hands, chatting animatedly with Gordon, including her father at intervals. The conversation concerned occasions, people and places that were wholly unknown to the young woman at the foot of the table.

It afforded her ample opportunity to regain her composure and she performed her duties with a quiet dignity.

Gordon was the first to take cognizance of the fact that Thora was being tacitly ignored in the conversation and, when the dessert was served, he turned in his chair and addressed her directly:

"How do you like the summers down in this part of the country, Miss Dahl?"

"Very much indeed."

"I imagine they are rather warmer than you are accustomed to. I know that Minnesota winters are more rigorous than ours."

Thora admitted that they were, inwardly uncomfortable at this turn in the talk. She tried to effect a change by asking Mr. Marsh if she might ring for more coffee for him. But Gordon was not to be diverted.

He had seen something of Minnesota, had gone as far as Duluth by boat. Then to the coast by rail. The wheat country was a great sight, "It makes our farms look like garden patches," he told his host.

"What part of the state do you come from, Miss Dahl?"

She replied by giving him the name of the postoffice, but offered no further information. She was acutely conscious that Wilma was watching her. And it was Wilma who suggested leaving the table at the earliest possible moment. Gordon turned back when he reached the door.

"I say, Miss Dahl, what is all this I hear about you and Ginger? They usually pick me to take chances with my neck when he has to be put through his paces. You must be something of a horsewoman if you stayed with that boy."

"He's a very nice horse," Thora admitted, wishing that Gordon would join Wilma who was waiting.

"There aren't many around here who agree with you. By the way I've a nice little mare that's about right for your weight. And you don't have to watch her all the time. I'll send her over some day, if you'd like to try her out."

"Thank you very much."

"Come along, Sherm," Wilma interposed. "Don't bother Miss Dahl with your everlasting horse talk. It's all he knows," she added sweetly, addressing Thora directly for the first time.

The two of them went out.

Thora was still standing deep in thought when she heard steps in the hall and glanced apprehensively at the door. She hoped it was not Mr. Gordon.

It proved instead to be Marsh.

"I say, Miss Dahl, I've intended to ask you before. . . . Do you play bridge?"

"No . . . I don't." It was not exactly true, but Thora was keenly alive to possible dangers.

"Strange. I was under the impression that you could do almost anything. Thought, maybe, we could get up a little game tonight."

"I'm sorry," Thora tried to make her smile pleasantly dismissive and Marsh accepted the verdict without further comment.

She was glad that she had thought quickly enough to avoid what must have proved an uncomfortable evening. It was likely that she would have drawn her employer for a partner, and harsh and outspoken as he always was, he would have been sure to criticize her none-too-skillful play. Nor did she care to submit herself to any further exhibition of Wilma's studied indifference of her presence.

This would be a good opportunity to enjoy the seclusion of her rooms. Rather than brood over the present situation, she would write a long letter to her mother. She had not reported her present address or told her about the new position. She was less sure than ever how long it might last, but her mother would want to know.

Wilma did not appear at breakfast the next morning, somewhat to Thora's relief. Selwyn Marsh, on the other hand, was unusually talkative. He had mastered the operation of the typewriter and was resentful over the fact that he had not purchased one before. If Miss Dahl had a chance, she'd better look in on him during the morning and he would show her how well he was doing. There really was very little to typing.

EDMONTON, March 5 (CP)—Alberta will be well represented when the coronation ceremonies are held in London next year, with thousands of this province's finest weasels there in the form of ermine wraps.

Already as a result of the prospective demand for white weasel skins, which go under the trade name of ermine, a 10 per cent rise in price was in evidence at a sale of weasel pelts in Edmonton Wednesday.

Average price was $1.10 for the larger skins, and from 60 to 70 cents for smaller ones. In London the price of these pelts has risen from 25 to 35 er cent.

CHICAGO UNEVEN

CHICAGO, March 5 (AP)—An uneven trend developed in wheat prices today, with May showing weakness but July and September advancing.

Sudden falling-off in domestic milling demand for wheat, together with a pronounced let-up in Canadian export business, led to downturns of May, whereas the new crop deliveries were strengthened chiefly because for the second successive day western Kansas received no moisture despite forecasts of rain.

Wheat closed irregular, ⅛ cent lower to ½ higher compared with yesterday's finish, May 1.00 to 1.00⅛, July 89¾ to 89⅞; corn unchanged to ⅛ off, May 61⅛; oats unchanged to ⅜ down, and provisions varying from 17 cents setback to 5 cents advance.

Industrials Lose

TORONTO, March 5 (CP)—Opening heavy, the Toronto industrial share section staged a creeping advance in the afternoon only to turn soft again near the close and trim the gains.

Walkers common was off to 32. Nickel, Industrial Alcohol A, Distillers Seagrams, Imperial Oil and International Petroleum fell back ⅛ to ¼ each. Brazilian, C.P.R., Ford A and McColl common held gains of minor fractions and Consolidated Smelters dropped a point.

Brewing corporation issues closed higher by ¼ point each. Brewers & Distillers sold up to 1.20 in the morning but dropped the gain.

LONGBEACH MEN PLAN RING CARD

LONGBEACH WEST CAMP, B.C. —At a meeting of the Longbeach club here final arrangements were made for holding another dance at Harrop on March 17. Even with the sub-zero weather, the last dance was a success, and this one, which will include several snappy and comical skits, along with four bouts of boxing and wrestling, should prove even a greater success.

A slightly different line-up has been arranged for the sports. Jimmy Scanlin, who is laid up with a sprained ankle, leaves Alex Jacobs without an opponent, so he has been paired with Bob Imrie in the main wrestling feature.

Bill Dunbar has been lined up with Tommy Turner in an endeavor to give the camp champ some opposition in the boxing.

Two new faces will appear in the persons of John Muzyka and Peter Karpa in a European style wrestling match.

The other bout will be the curtain-riser, Cantley and Campbell.

A rings tournament was held in camp last week, with Doug Cantley winning first prize and Jimmy Davies second.

For the last two Sunday nights the club has held an amateur theatrical night in the schoolroom, with several good prizes for different features. Both were decided successes, and more are planned for the future.

The first night, John Muzyka, Peter Karpa and Bill Bozahara, in a vocal selection, easily won first prize, singing in their native Yugo-Slavian tongue. Second prize went to Dick Hayter and Phil Feron, for a small but interesting skit.

Last Sunday Phil Feron and Bill Maksymac won first prize in a small show, and Oliver Boucher second for a vocal solo. A quartette, comprised of Bill Dunbar, Tommy Turner, Doug Cantley and Stan Beeching, with George Dempster starring as director, won third prize.

Bill Kelly was master of ceremonies on both nights.

Winnipeg Narrow

WINNIPEG, March 5 (CP) — Wheat futures held to a narrow range in a listless session of the Winnipeg grain exchange Thursday, with prices at the close standing ¼ cent higher to ⅛ cent lower.

A lull in export demand following Wednesday's excellent clearance was credited with much of the sluggishness. May wheat closed at 83¾, July at 84⅝, and October at 84¾.

Opening the fractional gains, offerings were on the light side and little support other than scattered mill purchases consisted principally of local spreading in which May future was bought against sales of July wheat.

Cash wheat and coarse grains were quiet.

Bar Gold Unchanged

MONTREAL, March 5 (CP)—Bar gold in London unchanged at $35.17 an ounce in Canadian funds; 141s 1d in British funds. The fixed $35 Washington price amounted to $35 with the dollar at par.

mile-long 2 per cent grade at Downie, 25 miles east of here, and crashed into them as they warmed themselves about a stalled locomotive. Five others are in hospital recovering from injuries suffered in the crash.

A WILD RIDE

The locomotive and tender had been derailed last Sunday by a slide and the men had put them back on the track. An auxiliary crane was brought to the scene and hooked the tender on, then started hauling it up grade.

A mile distant from the rerailed locomotive the crew of the extra engine heard a new slide and stopped. The tender became unhooked from the crane and started its wild ride toward the men below.

In rendering its verdict the jury said:

THE VERDICT

"We find the trainmen, fearing a slide ahead and owing to the poor visibility prevailing at the time, applied the emergency air brake thereby causing the release of the auxiliary hook from the cable sling on the tender and allowing said tender to run free down the grade and crash into the Canadian Pacific railway employees who were engaged in clearing the right-of-way.

"This jury cannot but help mention the heroic way in which every man did his duty under difficult circumstances."

A separate verdict was brought in connection with the death of Andrew Shepherd, car repairer.

The jury found that Shepherd jumped to his death from the tender after it broke loose from the crane.

Shepherd had ridden up the grade on the rear of the tender. His body, with the neck broken, was found on the ice-covered surface of the Illecillewaet river which parallels the railway at that point.

MORE ABOUT SILVER BUYING

Canada's total production of silver in 1934 was approximately 16,415,282 ounces. Figures for 1935 are not complete but mining officials said they anticipated little change from the 1934 figure.

In addition to Canadian government purchases, which must be deducted from the total available for sale to the United States, it was pointed out a considerable amount of silver is shipped out of the Dominion as concentrate after being recovered as a supplementary product in mines producing other metals.

WILL HELP B.C.

TORONTO, March 5 (CP).—Hon. Paul Leduc, Ontario minister of mines, said today he doubted whether the United States' agreement to buy newly-mined Canadian silver would have a great effect on the province's silver production.

"Everything depends on the price," he said. "If the price goes up it will encourage people to reopen mines."

The minister said British Columbia was Canada's leading silver producer and at present there was only one Ontario mine operating for silver alone. It was the Miller-O'Brien property at Gowganda.

Estimated 1935 production of silver in Ontario is 4,850,000 ounces valued at $3,200,000.

Patty Berg Wins

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 5 (AP). — Blonde, statuesque Jean Bauer of Providence, R.I., flared brilliantly for a time today to crowd Patty Berg in the second round of the Florida east coast women's golf tournament, then faltered and fell victim to the redhead's methodical play.

Patty's 5 and 3 victory pushed her into the semi-finals with three of the United States' ranking golfers—Maureen Orcutt Crews of Miami, winner here last year; Mrs. Opal S. Hill of Kansas City, former western champion; and Marion Miley, Lexington, Ky., trans-Mississippi titleholder.
