Coast Liberal Says Libs Program Has Been Stolen

FORT WILLIAM, Jan. 15 (CP)—The sincerity of Prime Minister R. B. Bennett in inaugurating a proposed reform program was challenged by Hon. Ian MacKenzie, Liberal member for Vancouver, in an address here tonight.

Speaking to an audience that crowded the municipal auditorium the former minister of immigration in the Mackenzie King cabinet, termed the premier's addresses as "semi-socialistic, full of verbiage and verbosity."

"Premier Bennett," he declared, "is masquerading across the stage of Canada, posing as a prophet and benefactor and whining on the eve of a general election after four years of miserable failure at the helm of affairs."

During the past four years the Liberal opposition has advanced some of the very reforms now proposed by the premier, Mr. MacKenzie said. These were consistently ignored. The premier, he added, will never be able to institute reforms until the control of credit has been taken from private corporations and placed in the hands of the government.

Mr. MacKenzie is returning to Ottawa for the opening of parliament.

FLEMINGTON, N.J., Jan. 14 (AP)—A pretty blonde pajama model accused Bruno Hauptmann of shadowing Dr. John F. Condon the "Jafsie" of the Lindbergh baby ransom hoax, as the carpenter's prosecutors tonight took elaborate precautions to shield the identity of three surprise witnesses from Europe.

The model, chic and stately Hildegrade Olga Alexander, enlivened a trial session otherwise devoted to additional expert testimony accusing Hauptmann as the man who wrote the 14 ransom notes.

A friend of Dr. Condon for 12 years, she took the stand at Hauptmann's trial for the murder of the Coast Rinks in; Week of Play and Banquet on the Program

Facing the prospects of near zero weather, something unique in the interior when there is a 'spiel in the offing, and ice par excellence, representative rinks of five interior curling clubs and three rinks from Vancouver, open British Columbia's classic curling event of the year today, the annual British Columbia Curling association bonspiel. Here to spend the week the visitors have materially swelled the city's population.

Fine weather and a well organized program bid fair for a successful program, in the city that gave birth to the annual event now in its 40th year.

Nine rinks will represent Nelson in the play for the 10 trophies and splendid array of coffee percolators, vases and other prizes. They are skipped by W. M. Vance, Jack Bell, S. P. Bostock, Roy Sharpe, A. Jeffs, C. E. Mansfield, W. Biner, E. E. L. Dewdney and A. G. Ritchie.

Stealing a great deal of the glory of other events, the British Consol cup playdowns for the provincial title, will occupy a big place on the curling stage during the week. Playing for a British Columbia title the first time in the history of the game in this province, the competition has created considerable interest, especially at the coast. Joe Dundas, with a packed rink, all skips in their own right, arrived last night on the coast train to bid for the honors. It is coincident but fitting that the lake city which instigated the British Columbia 'spiel, should have the honor of staging the first title series.

Winners of the British Consol cup will represent the province in the Dominion playoffs for the Macdonald Brier cup at Winnipeg next year.

The first cup to be played for is the All Comers and in this event Nelson rinks will compete against visitors. The other events are as follows, Grand Challenge, primary; Cammell-Laird, secondary to Grand Challenge; Rossland cup, primary; Trail cup, secondary; Nelson cup, primary; Kimberley cup, secondary; Consolation cup, and Grand Aggregate.

This program wil take the curlers into Saturday, or Saturday night, as the opening was postponed a day when advance conditions pointed to warm weather.

On Thursday night visiting curlers will be tendered a banquet in the Hume silver ball room at 6 p.m. At 3:30 p.m., prior to the banquet, the annual meeting will also be held at the Hume.

F. S. Peters of Rossland, last year's president, is patron of the 'spiel this year, and Ven. Archdeacon Fred H. Graham is its chaplain.

Vancouver rinks arrived in Nelson on the delayed coast train and this morning East Kootenay curlers will arrive on the Crow train. Trail and Rossland curlers came in on last night's train or will be in by car this morning.

SHE DIED AN OLD MAID AT THE AGE OF 130

ZVORIK, Yugoslavia, Jan. 14—(AP)—Ajka Pemba Omerovich, who spurned romance at the age of 130, died an old maid. Her neighbors vouched for her age, asserting it was established by parish records. They also related that in the last three years of her life she was ardently courted by a young Russian, who wanted to marry her and exhibit her on a world tour as "the world's oldest woman."

But Ajka scorned his suit. She died after collapsing while carrying buckets of water from the River Drina.

SOVIET PLANES WORRY JAPAN

HARBIN, Manchoukuo, Jan. 15 Tuesday) (AP).—Japanese military reports today said that two Soviet airplanes flew over Hisiaousuifen, 16 miles west of Pogranichnaya, Siberia, Monday afternoon, apparently reconnoitering. Earlier, the dispatches said, a pair of Soviet planes made a similar flight over Mishan.

It was understood Japanese officers viewed the incidents seriously and would probably protest to Moscow.

HERMIT OF THE HUMBER IS DEAD

TORONTO, Jan. 14 (CP)—Clarence C. Harris, better known as "the hermit of the Humber," is dead.

He lived as a recluse for years on the river banks near the Baby Point district. Several times, he predicted the end of the world. He died at the home of his daughter last night.

Born in Nova Scotia, he came to Toronto when about 24. Among his adventures was a trip to Egypt to measure the pyramids and thus check the data on which he based his prophecies.

KOOTENAY MEMBER MAY RUN IN EAST

But H. H. Stevens Denies Report He Will Seek Seat in Lincoln County

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., Jan. 15 (CP).—The St. Catharines Standard publishes a story today to the effect Hon. H. H. Stevens, former minister of trade and commerce, would be nominated by the Lincoln county Conservatives for the forthcoming Dominion election. Hon. J. D. Champlin, who now represents the constituency has announced his retirement, leaving the vacancy.

Leading Conservatives in London not only stated Mr. Stevens would be tendered the nomination but that he would in all likelihood accept it as a straight Conservative candidature, supporting the program of Prime Minister R. B. Bennett.

NEWS TO HIM

MONTREAL, Jan. 14 (CP)—"The first I have heard of it," said Hon. H. H. Stevens, former minister of trade and commerce, when advised today of published reports he was to be offered the nomination in Lincoln county by Conservatives at the forthcoming Dominion election.

Lindbergh Case Expert Is Called in Ship Hearing

OTTAWA, Jan. 14 (CP).—The "Gypsum Queen" hearing before the exchequer court today devoted its entire time to expert evidence on the question of the genuineness or spuriousness of the purported certificate of ownership by Captain Freeman Hatfield of the vessel. Acting for Hatfield, Senator H. J. Logan filed the document with the Canadian reparation commissioner in 1930.

It is on this issue that Albert S. Osborn, chief handwriting expert for the prosecution in the trial of Bruno Richard Hauptmann for the murder of the Lindbergh baby, is coming to Ottawa. With two other handwriting experts, he will be a witness for the senator.

VIVIAN MacMILLAN IN APPEAL CASE SAYS JUDGE TOOK A "NARROW VIEW"

Counsel Goes Back to the Time of William the Fourth for Facts

By GEORGE FINLAY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer).

EDMONTON, Jan. 14 (CP).—Sudden illness of Mr. Justice A. A. McGillivray, junior judge of the appellate division of the supreme court of Alberta, caused adjournment of the afternoon session of the MacMillan-Brownlee appeal today.

After a delay of 15 minutes, Chief Justice Horace Harvey announced from the bench it would be necessary to adjourn the afternoon session. Mr. McGillivray, he said, had taken ill during luncheon.

IS IMPROVED

The condition of the justice was reported improved tonight, and it was expected he would be on the bench when court convenes at 10:30 Tuesday morning.

The first session of the appeal of Miss Vivian MacMillan and her father, A. D. MacMillan, former mayor of Edson, against the judgment of Mr. Justice W. C. Ives denying them damages of $15,000 against J. E. Brownlee, former premier, opened with Neil Maclean, K.C., speaking to the motion of appeal.

Counsel for the MacMillans contended Mr. Justice Ives erred in law, and, in rejecting the civil court jury's verdict, had accepted a "narrow view" of the Alberta Seduction act. The trial judge had found there had been no loss of service and therefore no case for damages.

Stork Sweepstakes May Cause Huge Legal Battle; Mothers Vie for Sum of $500,000

TORONTO, Jan. 14 (CP)—A document of death, the will of the individualistic millionaire lawyer, Charles Vance Millar, probated eight years ago, today remains an incentive for an accelerated burgeoning of life in some Toronto homes.

For Mr. Millar, with his tragic sense of humor, left $500,000 and any accumulated interest or profits from it, to the Toronto mother who gave birth to the largest number of children during the 10 years following his death.

His demise in October, 1926, lifted the barrier on the stork sweepstakes which might be described as a basically human race.

In less than two years the finish line will be crossed, but it seems likely the stakes will be preserved in a court of law, because Mr. Millar's whimsical will promises to culminate in one of the most touching and complex legal wrangles of all times.

On December 12 Mrs. Mathew Kenny, 31 years old, gave birth to her 11th child since 1926. Mrs. Kenny cherishes the belief she is the leader so far in this marathon of maternity. Equally certain that she is in first place is Mrs. Grace Bagnato, court interpreter. A week after Mrs. Kenny's child was born, she presented the world with her 22nd offspring, of which nine have been born since 1926.

SOME COMPLAINTS

The last nine of Mrs. Bagnato's children are all living, and her complaint against Mrs. Kenny's claim to No. 1 position is that Mrs. Kenny registered some of her babies too late to count, and that "premature," still-born infants are not eligible. Eight of Mrs. Kenny's children were still-born, or died soon after birth.

A third contender who cannot be disregarded is Mrs. Steffano Dar-

"Who the —— Owns the Place," Asks Mortgage Holder, Who Offers Turn Land Over and Get Pay for While

KITCHENER, Ont., Jan 14 (CP).—The following business letter regarding a mortgage arrived recently at Waterloo from a southern Saskatchewan farmer:

"Received your notice calling for payment of $6,238.92. Some figures. This amount has grown from $4000 in 1928, our last crop, to $6,238.92 this year. This is certainly some racket. I wish I could make money as fast. Your offer of giving $2 for every dollar paid on interest arrears is a step in the right direction but of no avail as we have had no crop this year to pay anything, so you can put a few more figures on for next year, they look nice anyway. You will soon have it up to $10,000 on paper and on paper it will remain unless you make a real readjustment of balance and give me a definite amount to pay, not one that grows by leaps and bounds like a baby elephant.

"I will now list a few figures. As you know the original loan, when assumed by me, was $6,000.00." He proceeded to show by figures what payments had been made, the amount totalling $6,355.96.

"They say figures don't lie. Well there they are on an original debt of $6000. I have paid $6,355.96 and, according to notice, I still owe you more than I originally did. I may be dumb, but what I would like to know is, who the hell owns the place. Only the good Lord knows and He won't tell, so if this is a game, I'll take the mortgage and you can have the land and you can pay me for a while. If you quote me a definite amount within reason which I will have to pay with no further interest I will endeavor to get rid of it as soon as possible, but I am through shooting at a mark that continually moves and never can be reached. If this is not satisfactory, the headache is all yours. Try and make me pay."

The mortgage has been held locally since 1917.

LONDON, Jan. 14 (CP-Havas)—The Hudson's Bay company sale of silver fox skins just ended here set a record for auctions organized by the company, reaching a total of $125,000, it was announced today.

Would Put Manufacturing of Furniture on Quota Basis With Price Limit, Wage Level

OTTAWA, Jan. 14 (CP)—One of the veteran furniture manufacturers of Canada, John R. Shaw of Woodstock, Ont., recommended to the royal commission on mass buying today a plan to lift the industry back to its feet. Its basis would be a manufacturers' association with power to fix production quotas, price limits and wage levels.

All day long the commission heard the serious plight of the industry, of wages of $3 and $4 a week, for skilled men, recurring losses, impaired capital—an industry drifting toward its death. The industry centers in western Ontario and is the economic lifeblood of many small cities and towns.

From his 45 years in the industry, the veteran Shaw outlined his plan. "I would compel every manufacturer to be a member of the furniture manufacturers' association. I would not allow any traveller to sell furniture without a licence from the association. I would compel every manufacturer to have a cost accounting system and I would limit his profits to 15 per cent over cost. In addition, I would put in a minimum wage scale and limit the hours to be worked."

GOLF TOURNEY FOR NIAGARA?

TORONTO, Jan. 14 (CP).—B. L. Anderson, widely-known tournament manager, announced tonight that an open golf tournament would be held at Niagara Falls, Ont., next summer, with prize money of about $4000.

Mr. Anderson said plans were under consideration for a three-day tournament to be played over the course of the Lookout Point Country club, at Fonthill, Ont., a short distance from the falls.

It would be conducted on much the same lines as the Canadian open with 18 holes medal play on each of the first two days and 36 holes on the final day. Sixty leaders at the end of the first two days would be eligible to play the final day. The date, he added, has not been set definitely.

FIVE BALLOTS TO BE MARKED

Advisory Plebiscite Makes Fifth; 10 Boxes Needed

For the first time in a number of years Nelson voters will have five ballots handed to them, when they present themselves to vote in Thursday's election.

Frequently three ballots are all that are required, for the police commissionership is seldom contested, and sometimes also the school board vacancies are filled by acclamation. Occasionally two ballots—for mayor, and for aldermen or one other class—suffice.

From time to time the money bylaw voters have had five ballots, when one or more money bylaws have been before them, but about the only occasion when the ordinary voter could have five ballots would be when an unexpired term was to be filled and there was more than one aspirant for it—an unusual condition—or when, as this year, an advisory plebiscite is being taken.

MORE BOXES

With ballots for mayor, aldermen, school trustees, police commissioner—all of which offices are being contested—and a plebiscite on the question of buying and improving land in Fairview for an additional public playground, 10 ballot-boxes are required, as the poll for many years past has been held in two sections.

This election will see the old tin boxes that have been hauled out of retirement to supplement the tall wooden boxes when more than the usual number have been required, officially retired, and some more wooden ones will be delivered in a day or two, so that each of the two polling officers will have five of the tall type ranked in front of his table.

PUCK BATTLES END GANG ROWS

New York Kids Play on the Streets on Roller Skates

NEW YORK, Jan. 14 (CP)—A new use for hockey games has been discovered by the youngsters of New York's east and west sides. Instead of settling gang feuds with fists and bricks the youngsters don roller skates and sally forth on blockaded streets to wage warfare for goals instead of black eyes.

Lester Patrick, coach of the New York Rangers, Col. John S. Hammond, president of the National hockey league blueshirts, policemen and a few hundred interested spectators, watched the games marking the halfway mark of the season's new deal for fist fighting youngsters here Sunday.

Police kindly detoured traffic from the street when the teams—senior, intermediate, junior and juvenile—swung into action.

Between contests both Patrick and Hammond addressed the boys. The former said the greatest tribute a hockey player could have was the ability to take it gracefully, whether it be in victory or defeat.

"When the one Great Scorer comes to write against your name, He'll write not that you won or lost—but how you played the game," quoth Lester.

Police say that since formation of the roller-skate hockey leagues the boys play hockey instead of indulging in old time gang fights.

CITIES CAN WORK OUT THEIR OWN SALVATION SAYS PATTULLO

McGeer Plan to Form Commission Refund Debts Taboo

VANCOUVER WILL PAY ITS INTEREST

Half-yearly Figure on Debentures in London Okayed

VICTORIA, Jan. 14 (CP)—Proposal of Mayor G. G. McGeer of Vancouver to establish a British Columbia commission to refund the combined provincial and municipal debt in one bond issue at low interest rates will not be considered by the provincial government, Premier T. D. Pattullo stated today.

Mr. Pattullo declared the government would proceed with its own refunding plans and the municipalities must work out their own salvation. He said that, after the Dominion-provincial readjustment of financial affairs has been consummated, the province would consider a readjustment of its relations with the municipalities.

WILL PAY INTEREST

VANCOUVER, Jan. 14 (CP) — Half-yearly payment of $360,000, representing interest at four per cent on approximately $16,000,000 of City of Vancouver debentures payable in London, England, on Feb. 1 will be met in full, Mayor G. G. McGeer stated today in a cable to the city's fiscal agents in London.

The mayor and council have proposed that interest on Vancouver's bonded debt be cut 50 per cent.

Mr. McGeer expressed confidence the city will ultimately have not only co-operation but sympathetic assistance from the provincial government in dealing with the city's financial problems when he commented on Premier T. D. Pattullo's reported statement he would not consider Mr. McGeer's proposal for a provincial-municipal debt refunding commission.

"NO" NOT PROBLEM SOLVER

"I am hopeful, despite what Mr. Pattullo has said, that in the end we will have, not only co-operation, but the sympathetic assistance of Mr. Pattullo and his government, because I am sure that the time will come when he will realize that saying 'No' will not solve our problems," Mr. McGeer said.

"Mr. Pattullo assumes that the provincial government has more than it can take care of in looking after the province's difficulties and that, until the provincial situation is straightened out, the municipal situation must be ignored.

"I am of the opinion that our municipal and provincial situation must be recognized as a joint problem and that we must work out the problem of Vancouver's financial difficulties by securing the co-operation of the provincial and national governments."

If all goes well, she will be one in advance of Mrs. Bagnato, for the only stipulation of the vital statistics office at the city hall is that an infant must have survived 28 weeks' viability, or development in embryo, to be registered.

Further, it has been whispered that there is in the city a woman who has given birth to nine illegitimate children (three sets of triplets) since 1926. All are registered, it is said.

Mr. Millar, who was a bachelor and who laughed at convention, did not make illegitimacy a bar to competition.

BEN SHAW, LOST TRAPPER, A MOST COLORFUL PIONEER

Many Experiences of Mountaineer Little Known

ROSSLAND, B.C., Jan. 14.—Nothing has developed since the return recently of Paddy Kilroy and Frank Letoria, of Sheep Creek, neighbors of Ben Shaw, well known pioneer trapper, who some time ago left for Sheep Lake, north of Rossland to begin his winter trapping, and who is still missing, says the Miner. Mr. Kilroy and Mr. Letoria were the last to conduct a search.

There are many incidents in the life of this rugged mountaineer, whose friends were legion, that few men are acquainted with. Ben Shaw was not that type who was fond of "spinning yarns" or "blowing his horn" about thrilling experiences which he underwent in the early days when pioneering was clearing a way for those who now enjoy the fruits of the hardships of such men as he.

WAS PIONEER OF PIONEERS

Writing in the Victoria Colonist, B. A. McKelvie, news editor of the Colonist and well known newspaperman and novelist, who enjoyed the warm hospitality a few years ago of Mr. and Mrs. Shaw, a hospitality for which they were noted, writes most interestingly of the past life of Mr. Shaw, as he heard it during his brief stay at the Shaw home. Mr. McKelvie says:

"Ben Shaw was a pioneer of pioneers in Southeastern British Columbia. Woodsman, miner, rancher and trapper, he knew the district in which he is believed to be lost better than any other man. For many years he and Mrs. Shaw have lived on a place beside Big Sheep creek, nineteen miles from Rossland, that they carved out of the forest. They constructed a comfortable log house unaided, moving the heavy logs into place, dovetailing them at the ends, split the shingles for the roof, and in a saw pit whip-sawed the tamarack boards for the ceiling and partitions and the white pine for the floors.

Ben Shaw was one of the original locators at Grand Prairie, where the city of Grand Forks now stands; refused to stake a claim with the Hall boys when the Silver King was located before Nelson was started; and was shot down by a gunman when he was on his way to join the original stakers of Rossland's golden hill.

He was returning to his ranch at Grand Prairie after delivering cattle to the Silver King camp when where the city of Trail is situated, he met the original staker of Rossland, Joe Morris, with a partner.

"Ben, we've struck it rich!" they told him. "We're going out for supplies, and you can come back with us and stake."

Shaw told them to go back to their claims, and that he would go for the supplies, promising to meet them at Trail Creek on the Dewdney Trail in four days with the required provisions.

SHOT BY GUNMAN

He went to Grand Prairie to secure the outfit. There he met a friend named Dailey to whom he confided his purpose, and advised him to go in with him.

"I'll go," Dailey said, "but there is a man named Jenkins on the reservation south of the line, who owes me some money for some colts. Ride down there with me and we'll collect the money and use it to buy more grub."

Accordingly, they went in search of Jenkins. When they met, Ben Shaw stepped aside to permit the others to discuss their business privately. A dispute started and as Dailey turned to leave, Jenkins whipped out a revolver and shot Shaw's friend through the back.

Ben jumped towards the assassin, who turned the gun on Shaw. Five times he fired, and five times the bullets tore through Shaw's flesh. One bullet shattered his right arm, two lodged in his body, and two splintered his left arm.

"I thought I was done for," Ben Shaw explained years after, "but Babe LaFleur rushed out of her father's house and stopped my bleeding and nursed me back to health.

So it was that Ben Shaw lost his great chance of wealth, but found a helpmate for life.

REMARKABLE GIFT

Mrs. Shaw, who is waiting in the log farmhouse beside the frozen waters of Big Sheep creek, is a remarkable woman. Many eminent persons have travelled long distances to interview her, for she is credited with having a strange power—the ability to stop the flow of blood. This peculiar gift, she believes, has descended to her from her mother's people, the Songhees. Her father, Michel LaFluer was the first blacksmith at Fort Victoria, and for a time in the very early days of Nanaimo acted in a similar capacity at that establishment when the coal mines were being started. La Fluer married the sister of the greatest medicine man that the Songhees ever boasted. Mrs. Shaw, who believes implicitly in her power thinks that she inherited the gift from her mother's people. Her husband, after being mowed down by Jenkins' bullets maintained that it was only through the gift of stopping bleeding possessed by his wife that he had survived.

GREENWOOD PIONEER

When he recovered and Babe LaFleur consented to become Mrs. Shaw they returned to the Canadian side of the line. They went to Boundary Creek, where the discoveries of that region were bringing Phoenix and Greenwood into being. They resided in that colorful region for a time, until Ben, in prospecting, came across Big Sheep valley and located a homestead there. They moved to Big Sheep creek nearly forty years ago and have lived there ever since.

The valley is noted for its bear. Twice in his trapping expeditions Ben encountered bear at such close quarters that he escaped only through his ability to maintain steady nerves and shoot quickly. One such occasion was on a steep mountainside where he entered a cave occupied by a large bear. The other time was when a she bear charged him.

CAREFUL HUNTER

Ben Shaw never wantonly killed game. He figured each fall the amount of money he required, and estimated the number of skins that he would need to meet his budget. Then he trapped and hunted until he had obtained his objective.

He was long overdue when Mrs. Shaw informed other Big Sheep creek valley ranchers of her fears but search parties failed to locate Mr. Shaw and, it is now thought certain he was either suddenly stricken on his trap line or met with an accident and the several feet of snow which has fallen in that area where he was trapping may not permit the recovery of his body, if he is dead, until late in the coming spring.

TO BUY X-RAY FOR HOSPITAL

To Be Portable Type; to Reequip Ladies' Ward

Authority to purchase a portable x-ray machine, and to make a number of improvements in the women's public ward, as soon as funds are available, was given at a recent meeting of the Kootenay Lake General hospital board.

A portage x-ray machine has been an article of equipment sought by the medical staff for some time to do away with the necessity of moving injured patients to the x-ray room, and the recommendation, fostered by Dr. F. M. Auld, was brought before the board by the house committee. In reconditioning the women's ward, new linoleum will be laid and yard screens installed for each bed.

President Charles F. McHardy and Charles H. Hamilton, together with Miss K. Ethel Gray, superintedent of the hospital, were named to approach the 1935 council regarding the payment for materials used in the laboratory for city cases.

LEGION ENTERTAINS MEN FROM RELIEF CAMP AT INVERMERE

40 Sit Down to Turkey Dinner; Smoker and Concert Follow

INVERMERE, B.C., Jan. 14.—Lake Windermere branch of the Canadian Legion gave a dinner at the Invermere hotel when their guests were the honorary officers and comrades from the relief camp at Canal Flat.

About 40 sat down to a fine turkey dinner, which left nothing to be desired in the way of "eats."

After dinner the president of the local branch, Commander J. Copley Powles, R.N., welcomed the guests in a short and pithy speech, after which an informal smoker and concert was enjoyed, the guests taking their part heartily, in what proved to be a unique program.

William Weir and Mr. Peatfield acted as accompanists at the piano. Step-dancing by Jim Long of the local branch assisted by one of the guests from Canal Flat was excellent. A song "The Admiral's Broom" and witty tales of the navy by the president, Commander Powles, made a hit. The evening closed with the singing by all of "Auld Lang Syne."

The guests, among whom were several "Vets" from Alberta who are in the relief camp, voted hearty thanks to their hosts adding that it was the first time they had been entertained by an branch of the Legion and it cheered them up a lot, to think that so many of them who came from another province and in fact from many places could have such a jolly and interesting evening.

It was also mentioned that at the relief camp at Canal Flat, there is a reading room but it is sadly lacking in books, newspapers and magazines, and such things would be gratefully received.

MORGAN SAYS HE'LL NOT TAKE AN AXE TO THE CITY COUNCIL

But Tells Fairview Electors He'll Be the Mayor and Will Protect Citizens' Money; Aspirants Speak

That he had intention if elected mayor, of taking an axe to the city council chamber and using it right and left, was the statement made by ex-Mayor J. P. Morgan, at a meeting held in the Church of the Redeemer parish hall Monday night. There was nothing so wrong in Nelson's civic affairs as to require any drastic measures. But when he was mayor before, he asserted, he was the mayor—there was never any doubt about that. It might be necessary for him to have expert advice, and he had it, but when it came to the duties that the law placed on the mayor, he, and no one else, made the decisions, and so it would be again.

With near-zero weather, the audience was small, but heard snappy addresses from Chairman John Notman extolling ex-Mayor Morgan, from Aldermanic Candidates O. C. Massey, T. H. Waters, Horace Morgan, Roy Sharp, and John Draper, and from ex-Mayor Morgan, who spoke last. It was stated that the three aldermanic aspirants who were not present had sent regrets at being unable to accept the invitations sent them.

NOTMAN LAUDS MORGAN

In his address as chairman, Mr. Notman stressed the duty of citizens to examine with the utmost care the qualifications of those aspiring to represent them in the community administration, the administration that came nearer to the home than any other and in this connection he portrayed ex-Mayor Morgan as a man of good quality and capability in business affairs, with a large experience and an acute knowledge in sizing up humanity, but also a man who when the occasion required could firmly say "No." In addition to these qualities of business ability, character, and vision, he stated J. P. Morgan had a nice home life, shown strong sympathy for those needing help, and had been a consistent supporter of social organizations, the churches, for instance, never hesitating to go to him for aid. He asserted that while in office as Mayor Mr. Morgan personally collected more money for the relief of the needy than any other man in that office had ever done, and anything he undertook he carried out in a thorough way. Mr. Notman declared it was the duty of the thinking people of Nelson to think this question through, in which case they would see that the benefit of the community demanded J. P. Morgan as the next mayor.

Each aldermanic speaker was allowed 10 minutes. Most of them spoke only a few sentences, which, however, made their position clear.

MASSEY FOR PLAYGROUND

George C. Massey, who served a two-year term as police commissioner, said it was only when many friends had asked him to stand that he decided to take a second shot for an aldermanic seat. If elected, he would use his best judgment on all matters, without reference to person, station, or locality, including Fairview. While a novice in civic affairs, he could claim a certain amount of common sense, and had the will power to make and carry out his own judgments. Suggesting that the new council should check up on current works undertakings to see if they were giving value for the expenditures, Mr. Massey criticized the Vernon street lighting as unwarranted when paid for by the city, appraised the work on the Minnis corner as excessive in cost and a complete failure as to its objective of diverting the traffic, and noted that there was another expenditure of doubtful value being made in connection with Rosemont. On the other hand he gave credit for the good financial showing and the betterments accomplished out of revenue, including the new power line, and declared that the street railway, though operating at a loss, must be retained until someone showed some better way of getting the children to school. He declared himself in favor of securing the Fairview playground, improving it, if required, by relief work.

WATERS ON AUDITORIUM

T. H. Waters, making his first essay into civic politics, made the proposition of a community building his theme. He explained how he helped defeat the auditorium bylaw some years ago, because he felt that none of the plans, drawn by outsiders, fitted the needs of the case. If elected, Mr. Waters said, his idea was to draw into sketches he had made, various facilities that different groups of citizens might indicate were needed, then ascertain in each case the reasonable revenue to expect, and work out the relation in each case between outlay and revenue. He went into the community building question on about the same lines as when he addressed the Gyro club last week and the Rotarians Monday, and showed how each facility, if provided in a separate building of its own, would have an excessive first cost in relation to its earning power, beside the excessive cost of operation. As an instance, he suggested that the auditorium to hold 2000 people could be most economically provided by a structure one of whose features would be an auditorium with capacity for 900 people, with a badminton hall adjacent to it, with a movable partition between, which, with temporary seating, would give the required 2000 seats on the infrequent occasions when a crowd of that size had to be accommodated. Separate skating and curling rinks, with individual artificial ice plants and staffs, were also out of the question, though the artificial ice position was economical and practicable if they were combined, requiring only power, of which Nelson had abundance, and water.

Nelson, Mr. Waters declared, had arrived at the point where it must spend some money to provide the facilities badly needed by the community if it was to give the service and leadership its central position demanded. A small increase in taxes would be returned many times indirectly.

HORACE MORGAN AND WATER

Horace Morgan said none of the speakers had yet touched the subject absolutely vital to Nelson, that of the Five-mile water supply, which the city had obtained at a cost of $98,000, and the pipe-line of which was now dilapidated. If it was not repaired soon, the city would soon find itself without a water supply. If he were elected, he said, he would take up the question of a proper reservoir, with ample water for everybody without resorting to summer restrictions. As to the Fairview playground, Mr. Morgan, a Fairview resident, said the bylaw now before the electors now gave the opportunity for dealing with that proposed facility.

AUDITORIUM CALLS SHARP

Roy Sharp asserted he was a candidate for one reason and one reason only, and that was his conviction that the city must have an auditorium. Apart from that issue, which he wished to further, he stated he would make one promise and one only, and that was that if elected he would deal with every question before him in the way that he believed the interests of the community demanded.

DRAPER BOOSTS MORGAN

John Draper, making his "third and last try," as he called it, for aldermanic honors, paid ex-Mayor Morgan a high tribute, declaring that for several years he had worked with him on Christmas cheer and relief, and in no instance when he brought a case to Mr. Morgan's attention did the latter fail to have it attended to that very day, something he could not say with respect to other heads of the city. "No matter what others may think about the wisdom of my action, I am going to frankly ask you to vote for Mr. Morgan, for I believe he has been the best mayor Nelson has had in several years," this candidate avowed. Mr. Draper said he was in the field because neither Alderman Scanlan nor Alderman Fleming was seeking reelection—they were men he would not oppose. He said the first thing to be done was to put things in order at the city hall. The city also needed playgrounds and sports. Admitting the need of an auditorium sooner or later, Mr. Draper said if the city could spend $30,000 for a transmission line it could have restored the workers' cut. He also considered that the city needed both a city engineer and an electrical engineer.

EX-MAYOR SPEAKS

Ex-Mayor Morgan, thanking the chairman and others for their compliments and remarking that the usual fate of public men was to get requests but not thanks, said he was a candidate because he liked to work. Secondly, he had lived here 23 years and brought up his family, and liked Nelson, and had all his money invested in Nelson. When some people asked why he was running again, his reply was that he wasn't satisfied with the way his tax money was being spent. There were lots of things he could talk about, he said, but he believed the best way was to say little about them, but correct them when he became mayor, as he had done before.

Referring to the $60,000 revenue from the electric light department and the $40,000 from water, Mr. Morgan declared there were lots of things the city was in a position to do if it wanted. One of these was the Fairview playground, which could be secured for $2000. The time to attend to this matter was now, and not to wait till there were four or five houses on it. The city would not miss this sum, when it could spend $6000 on the Minnis corner, and much the same on this Hoover lane that not six rigs a day were using. Also the wrong route to Rosemont was chosen to derrick. In this connection, as was the case with the fancy lighting on Vernon, the man who started it was not offering again. The people on Baker street paid for their special lighting; why not Vernon the same, he asked. The people on Douglas road, he pointed out, hadn't even a light.

PLENTY OF POWER

Describing the street railway as a pet of his, ex-Mayor Morgan said it must be retained until there was some other way of taking the kids to school. As one alone of the city's three turbines at Bonnington carried the rest of the load, the city had the power. Recalling that he had been criticized for giving the Fairview skaters some lights, he declared his action was justified when there were 40 lights at Lakeside park which was under three feet of snow.

While he was in favor both of the Fairview playground and of the auditorium proposal, ex-Mayor Morgan said if he was elected the say on these matters would be with the people irrespective of his views, and his public action would be in accordance with the votes.

APPROVES NEW SCALE

Expressing gratification that the action of the provincial government had resulted in the relief men being paid 40 cents an hour, Mr. Morgan said he had been intending to do that, but the government had anticipated him. It could have been done six months earlier, but "you haven't had a very strong administration," he commented, in explanation.

Asking for the votes of the electors Thursday, he said if elected he would be mayor, and would look after the people's money as after his own.

Questions were invited and Dan Underwood asked why, if the city were so well off, the relief men had been paid 25 cents.

Ex-Mayor Morgan replied that that was the scale set by the province, and if more had been paid by the city, at a time when the cities alone were giving relief, there would have been a rush here to receive it. As it was, the day before the city opened its relief kitchen, 60 men called at his store to ask for meals. The 25 cents was relief, and not a wage, the speaker asserted.

AUDITORIUM PLANS GIVEN BY T. WATERS

Rotary Backs the Nanaimo Stand on Heroin

A clear, but concise, outline of what would be needed in an auditorium were built in Nelson, the description being elucidated by plans of an auditorium, was given to the Nelson Rotary club by T. H. Waters Monday afternoon at the Hume hotel silver room.

Previous to the address, on the recommendations of Drs. L. E. Borden, W. Laishley and J. Gansner, the club voted to endorse the recommendation of the Nanaimo Rotary club in its urge to prevent the sale of heroin.

Dr. Borden stated the Nanaimo club's move was one of the most important steps taken in this line in many years. The heroin drug was one of the most fatal and it was held that six doses of heroin made the partaker an addict. In United States, he added, he believed that the manufacture, importation and sale of heroin was barred. That such steps had not been taken sooner in Canada was odd.

TELLS OF ITS POWER

To show the power of heroin over persons who had wilfully or inadvertently taken it, Dr. Borden quoted incidents which he knew, and which he believed were strong reasons for taking extreme action to prevent its use.

The decision of the club was unanimous in favor of the doctors' recommendations.

In explaining a possible working scheme for an auditorium, Mr. Waters stated he had given the problem much thought, but that anything he might suggest would not necessarily be exactly what might be wanted. He had gone through many auditoriums in past few years had also gone carefully into the problems of artificial ice plants.

There were three or four sites, but the one which he would take as an example would be the Vernon street site.

Approached from the level of the Recreation grounds there would be a sheet of skating ice comparing in size to the present sheet of ice at the arena. The lower gallery would be approached from this level and provision would be made for an upper gallery which would be approached from the Vernon street level. The rest rooms, office and rooms for the hockey players would be below the seating accommodation, as in the Stadium at Regina. They would be on the same level as the ice, incidentally. The seating capacity would be about double the present skating rink.

CURLING ICE ALONGSIDE

Four sheets of curling ice would be at one side of the skating rink and would be adjacent to the skating ice in order that the latter could be used for bonspiel purposes.

A grandstand, should be grounds be long enough, could be erected at the end of the main building, or could also be placed over the curling rink.

The ice plant would consist of two machines in order that the skating rink could be used without the curling ice being in use and vice-versa. The other ice equipment such as compressor, condenser, receiver tank, cooler, and other things would be common to both curling and skating sheets.

The walk at the sides of the building would allow for exits at points where walks would come at the same height or level as the walks at the top of seats. There would be ample space for parking at the Recreation grounds.

The top floor would come a few feet above the level of Vernon street, this allowing for ample windows on all sides of the skating rink.

AUDITORIUM SPACE

The floor above Vernon street would be divided in center and one side would be space for the auditorium entrance, with office, stairs, toilets and other things at the south end. Exits would also be at the side. A gymnasium for basketball would be at the north end and behind the stage a gallery would be provided that would seat between 200 and 300 for the ordinary games in this hall. The partition on the inner side of this hall would be movable to accommodate large gatherings, and auxiliary seating could be used to seat another 300 or 400.

BADMINTON COURTS

On the opposite side of the building from the auditorium and basketball hall, would be the hall for badminton and other similar games. There would be room for six badminton courts with space for seats at one side for which the auxiliary seating for the basketball hall and auditorium would be used. Ample height for badminton would be provided each court, by virtue of the fact that each court would be placed between the roof trusses. The gymnasium would also be laid out with three badminton courts, giving nine courts in all for tournament purposes. At the south end of the badminton hall would be locker rooms, kitchen, committee rooms and other rooms of similar nature, which would allow the badminton hall to be used for other purposes.

The partition between the badminton hall and auditorium would also be of the movable type to accommodate extra seating for the auditorium for extra large meetings and concerts.

W. B. Bamford, in charge of the entertainment for the day, spoke briefly on the pros and cons of the auditorium.

Mr. Bamford was also congratulated on his recent election to the presidency of the board of trade.

In Cranbrook there are 26 taking the lectures, and at Lethbridge there are 34.

3 ALDERMEN BID ADIEU

Council at Last Meeting Hears Reports

The 1934 Nelson council occupied most of the time at its final meeting Monday night with reports of the various departments for the past year, and a vote of appreciation to the staff of the city for its hearty cooperation in assisting so wholeheartedly in making 1934 a success was passed. The mayor and all the aldermen were present.

Near the conclusion of the meeting Alderman H. B. Lindsay stated it would be a fitting time to bid farewell to the retiring members, Aldermen Ross Fleming, T. J. Scanlan and W. B. Bamford. Though not always seeing eye to eye with them he had found them fine men to work with and he believed a statement of appreciation was due them.

Mayor S. H. Smythe stated he wanted to thank all the council for the faithful work of the past year, and also for the previous year. While they had not always agreed, perhaps it was for the best, the reports at least, showing that the business of the city had not suffered. Fine cooperation of all concerned had made such reports possible and every credit was due to them for it.

Alderman T. W. Slader declared it was too bad the three retiring aldermen had not seen fit to run again and Alderman J. E. McKenzie added all tried to do their part and had his voice in agreement. They had worked well together.

RELIEF DUTIES HARD

Alderman W. B. Bamford expressed his thanks, as did Alderman Scanlan. The latter stated he enjoyed an occasional fight and that he had found pleasure in serving on the council. The one thing which he had disliked was the relief duties. On the relief committee he had been forced to take a stand on many occasions, as an alderman, that was contrary to his own sentiments. However, he was glad to have taken part in framing some part in the future of the city.

Alderman Fleming stated he was sorry to leave but he did not feel he could give the time to the position that it merited. He had served the city nine years in various capacities and had derived much pleasure from it. The little part that he had played he would not have missed. He hoped he was not through entirely and that at some future date, he might return again. He regretted leaving this year in view of the fact that a question was coming up that was vitally interested in, namely, the matter of an auditorium.

The report of City Engineer R. E. Potter was ordered received and filed, and the opinion was expressed that it was both comprehensive and thorough, in short, an excellent report. The report of the gas department, also considered a fine one, was ordered received and filed.

HELPS NEEDY

A report was received from adjutant Harold Chapman, giving a short resume of the relief work done by the Salvation Army. He stated that 3400 articles of clothing had been given out, 508 meals, 450 men accommodated for beds and much meat and large quantities of vegetables given to the needy. The letter was ordered received and filed and a letter of appreciation will be sent to Adjutant Chapman.

Bylaw No. 909, dealing with the proposed purchase of a playground site in Fairview, and a program of development, was reconsidered, finally passed and adopted.

HUME JUVENILES BEAT FAIRVIEW

The lighter and apparently younger Fairview juveniles went down to a 6-1 defeat at the hands of the fast-skating and hard-checking Hume hotel juvenile team in the opening game of the season played at the rink on Sunday afternoon.

The Fairview players never seemed able to get going until the last five minutes, when they had the better of the game. During that time Fred Graves scored the loser's only counter after a fast solo rush the length of the ice. McEwan and Bailkowski scored two goals each, Romano and Ahrens scored the other goals for the winners.

Bowell received a two-minute penalty and Bailkowski and McCreight were sent to the penalty box for a one-minute rest. All the winners' team played a fast game. George Bishop, the fourth member of the Bishop family of goal-tenders, stopped the Hume players repeatedly from running up a much bigger score. While out-played in their opening game, the young Fairview players showed plenty of promise of developing into a good team if they stick together and practice.

"Red" Carr refereed the game.

The teams were:

Hume Hotel: Sam Passacreta, Gerry Bowell, Abbrey Constance, Bert McEwan, Freddy Romano, Teddy (Scrub) Bailkowski, Frankie Passacreta, and Art Ahrens.

Fairview A.C.: George Bishop, Archie French, Frank Jones, Bobby Andrews, Howie Hunt, Fred Graves, Stan Morris, Benny McCreight, Albert Lindsey and Tommy Carlisle.

ROSSLAND BLANKED BY TRAIL IN WEST KOOTENAY CONTEST

Score Is 3-0 With Two Counters in Final Period

TRAIL, B.C., Jan. 14—In subzero weather a jammed rink of hockey fans stamped feet and rubbed ears as they watched a game of the West Kootenay Hockey league played on the keenest ice this season when the Trail Smoke Eaters shut out the Rossland Miners 3-0 at Rossland Monday night.

Spencer, who has tagged along with the Miners for the greater part of the season, took the injured Wade's place at right wing with Dame and Davidson and played a splendid game. Shadow Milne was right on as usual and played a fine game in goal. Trail's onslaught of shots, however, was too great and although Milne saved 41 shots the odds were against him.

TRICKY HOCKEY

The first period presented fast and tricky hockey with both teams fighting hard, but the stanza ended scoreless. Snowden and Thompson went to the fence almost succeeding each other but the Miners failed to tally when several opportunities presented themselves. Fraine also received a penalty in this period which gave Trail a chance to use its power play which was of no avail.

The second period although more balanced than the first saw the initial goal of the game when, after the visitors pressed hard, Snowden broke away and soloed down left wing to shoot at Milne from close in. The goalie thrust out one of his leg pads and saved, but Snowden picked up his own rebound to bulge the net at 18:40. There were penalties aplenty dished out in this stanza, Walmsley, Dame, Snowden and Johnston each drawing one minute and Fraine two. With teams weakened on each of their penalized occasions, the opposition failed to hit the mark, but not from the want of trying.

AT A STANDSTILL

The third period opened with both squads intercepting each other's passes and for a few minutes they just stood on marked positions and flipped the puck to each other. Walmsley was first to break away and Dupuis made a wonderful save when the former shot. Then Cronie returned to give Milne a scare. Trail set up a strong defensive and waited for the breaks to carry the puck toward the Rossland sanctuary, which resulted in two goals near the end of the game. Brennan went up left wing with Cronie and Morris in their respective positions, Brennan shot the puck bouncing around behind the Rossland goal and Morris picked it up to return it to Brennan who maintained his position at left wing and flipped in the rubber for the second counter at 18:23. Rossland set up a strong attack and Dupuis showed his ability as a goaltender in the trying moments. In another break, Andreashuk, Forrest and Buckna went down together Andreashuk scoring on Forrest's pass in 18:18.

Lineups:

Rossland—Milne; Walmsley, Jim Hanson, Fraine; Jackson Hanson, Reinikka, Marshall; Dame, Davidson, Spencer.

Trail—Dupuis; Thompson, Johnston, Snowden; Brennan, Cronie, Morris; Buckna, Forrest, Andreashuk.

E. Jewell refereed and Carl Kendall was judge of play.

DERAILMENT AND SLIDE HOLD UP C. P. PASSENGER

The first snow slide in the division occurred on the Canadian Pacific Railway company's line near Coryell Monday, causing a freight derailment and holding up the Kettle Valley passenger until an early hour Tuesday morning. An auxiliary crew went out from Nelson to clear the line. One car left the rails in the derailment, presumably when contacting with the slide.

GYROS HEAR OF HEALTH PLANS

Health Insurance Talk Is Given by Dr. F. M. Auld

A resume of the history of state health insurance and an outline of the need for such a service in the province, was described by Dr. F. M. Auld for the Nelson Gyro club at the club luncheon in the Hume silver ball room Monday night. A feature of the meeting was the initiation of J. O. Lennie, a new member, by Dr. R. B. Shaw. J. G. Bennett was chairman of the program committee and explained his action in branching out for civic honors as a candidate for police commissioner.

Dr. Auld expressed his pleasure at the interest taken in the state health question by the Gyro members when they had invited him to speak. He said that the subject was a big one and could only be dealt with generally and that he proposed only to give a brief outline of its history and what it had to offer.

In general it was a device to provide medical service to the population at large, and to spread the cost of that service over the whole body of citizens, instead of leaving it to the individual. Often illness was disastrous in that the cost involved was a series handicap to indigent or small wage earners. In spreading the costs the unfortunate was saved from the disaster of long illness.

STARTED IN GERMANY

The scheme had been adopted in Germany in 1883. From Germany the speaker traced its development through Europe and to America. The idea had reached a far more advanced stage in British Columbia and Alberta than in any other province of Canada and in the two western governments.

The work of the royal commission of which Dr. L. E. Borden was a member, in connection with state health insurance, was described. The commission had given three year's study to the question, dealing with every phase, including the financial side, and had reached the conclusion that some form of the service was necessary and practical.

Hon. G. M. Weir, provincial secretary, was a champion of state health insurance, and Dr. Auld said that he was confident that he would back it at the next sitting of the legislature in a few weeks.

The great burden that hospitals and the medical staff was obliged to carry during times of financial stress, through the giving of free service to indigents, was stressed by the speaker. It was notorious the world over that hospitals were in financial difficulties.

Under the present arrangement patients could not possibly receive the care they should. In many cases patients needing the care of graduate nurses, were unable to secure this service through no fault of their own. State health insurance would bridge the gap between the graduates who could not secure work, and the patient who was urgently in need of a graduate's care, and could not pay for that service.

CARRIED GREAT LOAD

In recent years the doctors had carried a great load, and when an attempt was made to have the state shoulder the responsibility of indigent cases, the question had been referred to the municipality and by the municipality back to the state. Not only were the doctors receiving 50 per cent less in British Columbia, but they were also paying for dressing and other materials out of their own pockets.

These were some of the reasons why state health insurance was necessary. The vast accumulated knowledge of physicians should be at the disposal of every patient regardless of his position, the doctor declared.

The financial end was also touched upon and Dr. Auld stated that in considering the expense it should be borne in mind that the health bill would be almost doubled when hospital and medical care was provided free. Many who previously held back when in need of care, due to their financial circumstances, would take advantage of the services available.

President P. H. Sheffield termed the division of medical costs special justice, when thanking Dr. Auld for his address. The population had been mobile to the unfortunate situations of other, too long, he declared.

W. B. Lutes wrote thanking the club for expressions of sympathy in the death of Mrs. Lutes. J. G. Bennett was named to line up a hockey team to play the Firemen. Next meeting will be a joint gathering with Rotarians and Kinsmen. J. R. Coe was a guest of the club.

Mrs. H. Fairbank Is President;; Mrs. C. D. Ogilvie Vive President

HARROP, B.C., Jan. 14—Annual meeting of Harrop Women's institute was held at Mrs. E. Harrop's home, 13 members being present. Thirteen members were enrolled for 1935.

Annual statements were submitted and approved. Receipts for the year amounted to $173.61, disbursments $152.32, leaving a balance to carry into the new year of $21.29.

Following are some interesting events which occurred during the year: social evening for husbands or gentlemen friends of members, three whist drives, childrens' picnic, hallowe'en party and Christmas tree, as well as a tea for the president before leaving to spend the winter in Victoria.

Once when the general fund was feeling the depression the Harrop Social club with the assistance from members of Toc H Nelson, provided a social evening, the club later turning over to the institute the sum of $15 which was forwarded to the Queen Alexandra Solarium.

Miss Kathleen Gordon, Nelson's public health nurse, addressed the members and mothers of young children, at the June meeting, Miss Gordon had for her subject "Problems in mental and physical development of the pre-school child", it was an interesting and instructive address.

Mrs. G. A. Hunter, also of Nelson, accepted an invitation to the November meeting and gave helpful advice on home economics, mainly pertaining to fair exhibits. The guests were invited by individual members.

Among the donations made were $5 each to the following institutions: West Arm Agricultural Fair association, Queen Alexander Solarium, Christmas Cheer fund, and Salvation Army, Nelson.

Membership was 21, and average attendance at meetings, 15.

ROSSLAND PLANS WELFARE WORK

Junior Choir Gives Splendid Concert in St. Andrew's Church

ROSSLAND, B.C., Jan. 14.—Inclement weather and a multitude of other happenings throughout the city, caused a slim attendance at the meeting called to discuss welfare work in the city, Friday, but some rough plans were laid and a meeting will be called for next Friday for the purpose of reorganizing and getting work under way for the winter.

Not only do weather conditions threaten to become more severe, but there are a number of persons medically unfit for work who are receiving small pensions, who have previously been aided from a source which will not be available this year, and it will be necessary for all who can, to contribute according to their means.

The Junior choir of St. Andrew's United church under the leadership of Miss Mabel Wilkie, gave Rossland music lovers a real treat Friday evening when they presented their annual concert in the church's auditorium. The following choruses were given in good voice and perfect time, "Song of the Music Maker", "Early One Morning", "Golden Slumbers", "Come down to Kew", "Cloud Pictures", "No, Thank You", "Alexander", "Where e'er You Walk".

Adding much to the enjoyment of the evening were vocal solos by Miss Mabel Wilkie and Louis Freeman, a piano solo by Miss Dorothy Wright, and a reading by Miss Beatrice Jeffers, all numbers being heartily encored.

At the conclusion of the program, Rev. C. H. Daly expressed the appreciation of the audience, and Miss Jean Morrison presented Miss Wilkie with a beautiful bouquet of chrysanthemums and carnations, and Miss Winnie Morris presented the accompanist Mrs. S. Simcock with a pretty gift. The personel of the choir was: Misses Mabel Wilkie, Mary E. Rogers, Alice Nichols, Marian Dally, Pearl Rowe, Mildred Hale, Lilian Buick, Florence Hartford, Betty Ross, Isla Terhune, Catherine Metzgar, Martha Johnson, Curtis Triggs, Bertha Dupperon, Doreen Jamieson, Winnie Roberts, Dorothy Wright, Jean Morrison, Elsie Hale, Dora Cunningham Helen Mitchell and Jessie Sommerville.

LEATHER FOOTWEAR

Production of leather footwear in November amounted to 1,216,000 pairs, a four per cent reduction from a year ago. During the eleven months ending November the production was 17,322,000 pairs compared with 18,378,000 in 1933.

According to the Canadian Customs returns 18,709,770 bushels of wheat valued at $14,744,938 were exported from Canada during the month of November, 1934.

Dainty underthings for little girls' dolls may be made from discarded white and tinted silk stockings, using the finished tops for hems. Fancy tops of children's socks may be cut into little socks and stockings for dolls and may also be shaped into caps and slipover sweaters. A tiny suitcase, such as is often found at the toy counters, or a box papered and painted to resemble a trunk, filled with these articles will bring hours of happiness to its little owner.

IS HISTORY REPEATING ITSELF?

The radio addresses of Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett in which he has announced a wide program of social legislation and reform have set the people of Canada thinking as never before.

One wonders if history is going to repeat itself. A hundred years ago Europe was shaken by the Napoleonic Wars. That titanic struggle came to a close in 1815. There followed, as followed the end of the Great War, a period of unusual prosperity and mad speculation. Then eleven years later in 1826 came a financial collapse. There was a panic, banks closed, business houses tumbled and thousands were thrown out of work. It is a curios parallel, but it was eleven years after the Armistice was signed in 1918, in the fall of 1929 that the 20th century financial catastrophe came. There was a period very similar except that the world was greater and more closely related and the depression that much more extensive.

England was never so near a revolution as in the thirties. The working classes were living under conditions nothing short of desperate. It is difficult for us to realize the situation in the new factories and mines. Children working from daylight to dusk; women laboring in mines like animals; workingmen paid starvation wages. There were destructive riots in many parts of England and the troops were mobilized.

The famous Greville diary gives a terrible picture of conditions. Writing in his diary on Feb. 17, 1832 he says:

"The awful thing is the vast extent of misery and distress which prevails, and the evidence of the rotten foundation in which the whole fabric of this gorgeous society rests, for I call that rotten which exhibits thousands upon thousands of human beings reduced to the lowest stage of moral and physical degradation, with no more of the necessaries of life than serve to keep body and soul together, whole classes of artisans without the means of subsistence. Can such a state of things permanently go on? Can any reform ameliorate it? Is it possible for any country to be considered in a healthy condition when there is no such thing as a general diffusion of the comforts of life (varying of course, with every variety of circumstance which can affect the prosperity of individuals or of classes), but when the extremes prevail of the most unbounded luxury and enjoyment and the most dreadful privation and suffering."

New factory laws, prison reform, electoral reform and social legislation followed. Most of these measures were sponsored by Tory Democrats, such as Canning, Peel, Lord Shaftsbury and Disraeli. Then came the golden Victorian era of prosperity and progress.

Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett is following in the footsteps of the great Conservative reforms of the past. Is the social legislation which he is sponsoring to be followed by a new epoch of prosperity? Is history going to repeat itself?

SOVIET SLAPSTICK

Soviet Russia has produced its first slap-stick comedy film. Moscow dispatches say this is not unrelated to the abolition of bread cards and the reorganization of the Ogpu. It is part and parcel of the Soviet authorities' efforts to sweeten the grim struggle of "building socialism" with the charm, beauty, gaiety, and emenities of life—that is, to lighten the strain of living."

It is of a piece with the introduction of cultural subjects, the encouragement of ballroom dancing, the establishment of surprisingly attractive canteens where the Soviet youth can relax over tea and cakes, and a dozen other picturesque trends.

The new film is essentially devoid of political significance. Fashioned according to the good old Mack Sennett rules, it even has a bathing beauty, an innovation in a country in which fleshly charms are entirely unexploited theatrically.

The title of the new film is "The Youth of Maxim." With liberal accompaniment of music it tells how a hometown boy makes good. He's a handsome young herdsman who is invited to a party by a woman who thinks he is a famous painter. The herdsman, in endeavoring to entertain the company, plays his flute which brings in his whole herd of cattle, sheep and swine.

Russians are laughter-loving people, and if their sense of humor is a bit boisterous for western taste, it is at least preferable to the artificial austerity which attempted to carry the Communist ideology into places and situations where ideology of any kind was out of place.

A sense of humor is first and foremost a sense of proportion. The fact that humor has at last been officially recognized in Russia is an encouraging sign that the Egyptian darkness of fanatical Communism is lifting. Communists have apparently decided that they can afford to be human, at least in moments of relaxation.

NOISELESS AIRPLANES

If the noiseless, vibrationless, electrically-driven airplane invented by a Toronto man realizes the hopes based upon its early success, it will revolutionize the whole course of aircraft progress. The elimination of noise, vibration and the danger of fire would be a great boon to aerial operators and travelers, while the extremely low cost of operation would expand this form of transportation to an immeasurable extent. Incidentally, it would increase the potentialities of the airplane as a destructive agency in war, and as such would be still another argument against the stupidity of armed conflict for the settlement of international disputes.

THE FIGHT IS ON

Well, nomination day is over. Some candidates are already in harness while the worries are just beginning for others. I want to remind the fellows that down in Oxford, Ont., a candidate by name of Almost was in the field. The result was as indicated.

A YOUTH MOVEMENT

Had I known there was going to be so much howling for flaming youth to enter the campaign I might have stood myself. But we young fellows have to respect our elders, so we are told.

PROVIDING EMPLOYMENT

Well it is a good sign for Nelson that there are so many candidates. Someone must be interested in the election. If it accomplishes nothing, it at least gives a carpenter a day's work building new ballot boxes.

HARD TO BELIEVE

Truth may be stranger than fiction, believes the Philadelphia Record, which goes on to say:

"But things have come to a pretty pass when one cannot even believe a liar—above all, the winner of the 1934 world's lying championship.

"In the Burlington, Wis., Liars' club tournament, which ended New Year's day, the prize went for a story of a grandfather's clock which ticked so long that the shadow of the pendulum wore a hole in the back of the clock.

"Preposterous? Incredible?

"Not at all. The New York Herald-Tribune has received word from the curator of a famous collection of clocks—telling of just such a clock, the shadow of whose pendulum wore a hole in the back. Made in 1890 by Joseph Knibb, a famous clockmaker, the timepiece proves even more baffling than the tall story told in Wisconsin—for its cabinet, in which the pendulum swings, doesn't admit light.

"How did it happen? It was a shadow cast by an x-ray.

"At least, that's what the curator says. And since we can't believe the champion liar, we'll have to believe him."

WINTERING EVERGREENS

By DEAN HALLIDAY
Central Press Garden Expert

Winter losses in evergreens are most commonly due to what is termed "freezing dry". Drying winds draw the moisture out of the leaves, and the roots, being frozen, are unable to replace that which is lost. Evergreens die more quickly when the roots are "frozen dry" than when there is plenty of moisture in the soil. When possible, the soaking of the soil with the hose just before the last heavy freeze in autumn will be found beneficial, where there is a heavy mulch.

The red spider is the cause of the grayish appearance of evergreens in summer. Spraying the underside of the leaves with water or dusting with sulphur will control the pest.

The white scales on pine needles are caused by pine-leaf scale. It should be controlled by spraying with nicotine sulphate solutions, prepared in accordance with the manufacturers' directions.

The best time for putting evergreens in the ground is late August or early September, although they may also be set out in the early spring, before growth starts. The soil should be thoroughly prepared by deep digging and manure.

IN OUR BOAT

Stars trembling o'er us and sunset before us,
Mountains in shadow and forests asleep;
Down the dim river we float on forever,
Speak not, ah, breathe not—there's peace on the deep.

Come not, pale sorrow, flee till tomorrow;
Rest softly falling o'er eyelids that weep;
While down the river we float on forever,
Speak not, ah, breathe not—there's peace on the deep.

As the waves cover the depths we glide over,
So let the past in forgetfulness sleep,
While down the river we float on forever,
Speak not, ah, breathe not—there's peace on the deep.

Heaven shine above us, bless all that love us;
All whom we love in thy tenderness keep!
While down the river we float on forever,
Speak not, ah, breathe not—there's peace on the deep.

He Asks Ladies to Forget Sentiment in City Election

The Editor, Nelson Daily News:

Sir,—"Oldtimer" is to be congratulated on his thoughtful letter: that Nelson citizens are "completely indifferent to civic affairs" is only too true, and candidates take full advantage of this indifference, disdaining either platform or policies, entering the field devoid of constructive ideas, repeating parrot-like that outworn shibboleth "strong financial position." The poorest of businessmen if given a monopoly with no obligation to build or provide up-to-date equipment yet still charging all the traffic would bear, could hardly fail to be in a "strong financial position".

Comparisons may be odious, but are sometimes salutary:—Cranbrook, a city no larger than Nelson, has a modern sewage plant, excellent water supply, a fine new fire hall, etc., all of which costs money yet the city taxes are kept within reasonable bounds. Admitting that Cranbrook has had for years the guiding hand of the best mayor in B.C., still Nelson has had advantages thrust upon her, the Bonnington work and proximity to the Trail pay roll for instance.

Two years ago we had a campaign of sentiment, it is to be hoped that this year we will use a little horse sense!

After two years of masterly inactivity, Nelson cannot afford another term of vacillation and inertia just when conditions have changed and prospects are so much brighter.

One could wish that some strong, he-man would remind the lady voters that a certain place (with a climate much warmer, so report has it, than that of Nelson) is said to be "paved with good intentions" and every one of the paving committee is "a nice well-meaning old fellow."

Favorably situated in the midst of rich mineral country with every prospect of increased mining activity, a fine climate, and a million-dollar lake, it would be a real calamity to let mistaken sentiment impede progress and the ever-growing tide of prosperity.

He Says Repairs Needed on Water System of Nelson

To the Editor:

Sir—As election time is drawing near, I would be glad of a small space in your paper, to call the attention of the ratepayers of the city of Nelson to the dilapidated condition of our $96,000 Five-mile water line.

Repairs are urgently needed and a proper reservoir should be built, so as to assure the people living in the upper part of the city and at Rosemont an ample supply of water during the summer.

It must be remembered that our water system is the second largest revenue producer we have and, in my opinion, more interest should be taken in it than has been evidenced during the last few years, so that the citizens may have an adequate service when most needed, and for which we pay.

HORACE MORGAN

NEED OF A SPORT CENTER IS SHOWN

The Editor, Nelson Daily News:

Sir,—A few days ago a letter appeared in the Nelson Daily News in which the writer, who signed himself "Oldtimer" wanted to know where the younger element was in regard to candidates for the local civic elections. The writer goes on to state, that young men are needed to give Nelson a progressive government.

No matter whether the candidates are young or old, there is no denying the fact that Nelson needs a progressive mayor and progressive aldermen, more than ever before.

A couple of days ago, I casually remarked to a couple of future citizens of Nelson, who are now attending high school, and asked them what they were looking so sad about. Quite to my surprise they came out with the assertion that they were fed up with Nelson, as there was nothing for the kids to do or see in the winter time. I asked them just what they meant, and they stated that Nelson is more backward in regard to facilities for fall and winter sports than any other place in Canada. There is not available floors either to play or witness basketball, no ice for skating or playing or going to hockey games, and this was only part of their complaints. I thought that this might be only the opinion of these isolated cases, but found instead that it was the general impression among the youngsters of Nelson, that they were not getting a square deal from the ruling powers on the city council.

Of course this talk of Nelson's backwardness is not alone confined to the youngsters, but when children start to say they are ashamed of their own city's backwardness, something surely should be done to rectify the matter and make them proud of their city, which has through some reason or other become known as the Queen City of the interior.

Just what has Nelson done to obtain the honor of this title, has often been asked. Under present circumstances, what has Nelson to offer visitors? We have a first-class movie theater, but what else? An opera house that was condemned years ago. Absolutely no basketball facilities. In regard to ice hockey and curling, we get some games, but due to ice conditions that generally prevail, people from out of town have long since decided it is better to stay at home. Small district towns have their annual fairs, but Nelson's monster fairs are becoming "only a memory".

The Queen City of the Kootenays should be the outstanding place, and provide facilities to give our visitors attractions that they are unable to see elsewhere, as well as give its own citizens an opportunity to bring their children up with sports and attractions that can and will keep them happy and contented, and make them proud of their city.

Many taxpayers and citizens of Nelson now see the urgent need of a civic auditorium, and it might not be a bad idea for each of the candidates for mayor and aldermen, to make a statement, stating whether they are in favor of such a place or not.

In the Vancouver elections, each candidate has a platform, and voters are able to get some idea of what they are voting for, (even though pledges are often forgotten), but in Nelson it seems to be a leap in the dark. It's quite all right to pick good men, but a policy for the welfare of Nelson is, I think, far more important.

Mines are opening up all over the district, miners are in most cases fond of sports in fact I have heard many to remark, that it's no use spending their off days in Nelson, as there's nothing to do or see. And some have started going to Trail, for the first time, as they have then an excellent chance of witnessing a first-class hockey game or basketball struggle.

Let's vision what an auditorium would mean to Nelson. First of all, first-class hockey games. I very doubt that Nelson would have dropped out of the league this winter, even with the loss of star players, had they been sure that good ice would be available for all home games. We are led to understand that all the players who have appeared in the Nelson Maple Leafs uniform this winter, as well as players declared ineligible, are signed up to play for Nelson next winter. If the hockey officials are willing to go to such work in order to give Nelson a first class team, surely the citizens should do what they can to give the team some suitable place to play. And judging from work already done by hockey officials, Nelson will at last get on the hockey map if we get the long needed auditorium.

I have been in conversation with men connected with the Pacific Coast and Western Canada Professional Hockey leagues, and they state that if an artificial ice rink was situated in Nelson, it is not beyond the realms of possibility to have the Professional clubs play games in Nelson when travelling to and from the prairies. These games would not be exhibition games, but regular league games.

It seems to have become a regular occurrence for two National league clubs to travel to the coast every spring, and I think we could take it for granted that Nelson would be the interior stop if we had the facilities for such games.

In Trail I have met many fans who state that if they were sure that good ice was available, they and many of their friends would often make the trip to Nelson, in fact they seem to prefer coming to Nelson for games to going to their own rink.

Curling would of course attract many visitors, as well as give local enthusiasts a chance to take their stones out of the moth balls.

Oldtimers tell us of the thrilling carnivals of the old days. These have become a memory that could easily come to pass again with the proposed civic auditorium. Skating could also be indulged in to the fullest extent, and probably most important of all, for the first time Nelson would have the opportunity to develop their own hockey stars.

Most of us have come to know of the doings of the famous Kitsilano Boys band that has actually become world-famous. Last year they played at the World's Fair at Chicago, and also toured Europe. This year they have already signed contracts for another tour to Europe that is very near aproaching six figures (in the dollar class) already. They made a number of stops across the continent or their last tour, and will no doubt do likewise again. Had Nelson a civic auditorium visitors would flock from all over to hear this famous band play. And this is only one example of what outstanding musical attractions could be brought to Nelson for the benefit of ourselves and the Kootenays as a whole.

Basketball could easily be brought back into prominence, and outstanding attractions brought in if playing space was available. Even though fans have had to walk up to the junior high school or senior high school, basketball games have drawn very well in the past.

Indoor lacrosse took Canada by storm last year, because fans are free in the evenings, so why can't it do the same to us?

Badminton although not in the plight of basketball, would be better off if the clubs were more consolidated, which would be possible with courts specially built for the game, as I understand none of the local floors, with probably one exception, have the standard ceiling height.

When we think back, we recollect that Nelson used to be considered a convention city. But it would not be hard to count the conventions that have come to Nelson for quite a number of years, and the reason probably boils down to lack of proper convention hall.

The civic auditorium would also revive the Nelson Fair, and if we are going to look at the matter of cash value to Nelson I think the revenue of the building taken with the money that visitors would spend in Nelson, would make the proposed civic auditorium one of the best investments that Nelson has ever made. And we must remember the citizens of Nelson owe something to the children. They are the future citizens of Nelson, so let's make them proud of their city and proud to carry on the traditions, when their time comes to replace the oldtimers.

ANOTHER OLDTIMER.

DISCONSOLATE

To sit and pine depress'd by trivial ill,
With numerous friends in opulence allied;
No wish deprived that riches can fulfill,
Is to be peeved! Disconsolate's denied;
Or grieve for loss of passing kindred dear
When grave is man's inevitable estate,
Or mourn for youth when three score years appear
Cannot be classified disconsolate.

"But midst the rich contiguous display,
(Life's drama of accumulated wealth)
To view the proud, grandiloquent array
While destitution speeds the failing health.
When gnawing pangs of poverty impart
A craving for the right of honest toil,
Devoid of this! how feels the poor at heart?

When principles of honor we despoil,
Could we the depths of tribulation guage
Of mortal souls endowed with misery,
A life of strife, e'en future doth presage
Continuous years of dread morbidity;
Or view the home depression hath dethron'd
Of simple needs that e'en the poor require,
While by the proud such kinship is disown'd
The lowly train sinks deeper in the mire.
Oh hear! the voice of famished children cry
For food, the ravenes of hunger to abate.
As parents work unable to supply;
O this! this is to feel DISCONSOLATE."

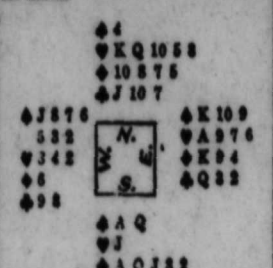
CONTRACT BRIDGE

By E. V. SHEPARD
"Teacher of Teachers"

FROM PARRY SOUND

Here is an interesting hand sent in by Mr. Richard Boultbee, living far north.



Bidding went: South, one Diamond; North, one Heart; South three Clubs, when he needed to bid only two Clubs to force, under suit-over-suit procedure; North, five Diamonds, ending the auction.

The opening lead was the Six of Spades, bringing out East's King and Declarer's Ace. Dummy ruffed the good Queen of Spades, and returned the Jack of Clubs. When that held, the Ten of Diamonds was led and covered, giving the Declarer a small slam, finally having to lose a Heart trick.

I do not think that South played the hand as carefully as he might have done. Had West held the missing King of trumps and Queen of Clubs, he could have been defeated a trick. Game must be the first consideration. After that seems assured is time enough to think of picking up an added trick or two.

Let South win the first two tricks with his Ace and Queen of Spades. Have dummy discard a Club on the last Spade trick. Seven missing Hearts most probably are held 4-3. Four missing trumps most probably are split 3-1, while five missing Clubs are most likely divided 3-2.

Having stripped Declarer and dummy of Spades, lead South's lone Heart. If that is passed by East there will result a grand slam. Lead Declarer's two top Clubs. Ruff the third round of Clubs. Pick up East's King of trumps. South's hand is all good.

Suppose East wins the first lead of Hearts. What shall he lead? A Spade lead will allow one hand to ruff and the other to discard. A return of Hearts will put dummy in and allow South to discard a low Club. A Diamond lead will enable the Declarer to win all remaining tricks. A Club lead should be won by South, for the sake of safety. A second round of Clubs will run dummy out. Dummy will ruff the third Club led. Had West the missing King of Diamonds the Declarer could still fulfil his contract. Of course East might have only two Clubs and ruff, but what will he be able to lead back which will bother South?

No method of playing a hand can be considered fool-proof in most cases, but I think that winning two Spade tricks, and having dummy discard a Club is the safest of all methods of playing the hand.

CHICAGO LIKED EMPIRE PROGRAM

(From the Chicago Tribune)

King George talked to his subjects Christmas day and his subjects in many lands talked and sang in greeting to the widely separated Dominions and colonies of the British Empire and to the King himself.

It was a well done and highly dramatic Christmas roll call of England's children, picturing to the devout loyalist, over 300 years of British expansion into all parts of the globe, and interesting even to the skeptic who observes the monarchy as a bit of antiquity, an anachronism in modern life.

All who heard this radio panorama of the empire would admire the exceeding skill with which the royal show was produced. It gathered momentum and impressiveness as it progressed for a full hour and a half, reaching into all the seven seas and all the continents of man.

The bells of Bethlehem were one with the bells of London. An Australian rancher described the scene as he saw it on his own soil, with the sounds of his cattle about him. The songs of Welsh choristers sounded in behind the voice of a Welsh spokesman who spoke of the courage with which the Welsh were meeting their difficulties.

A fisherman in the Canadian maritime provinces talked of the hard and simple life patiently accepted by the catchers of cod. He was answered by a fisherman down below the antipodes, whose nets were still wet and whose catch was herring. A commander in mountain defiles looking toward Persia spoke, after military trumpets, of Christmas in that far outpost.

A veteran in Chelsea hospital, London, introduced by his commandant, sent greeting back to this frontier where he once had served.

A bathing party on an Australian beach in the summer, sang its greetings and the response came from a skating party of Winnipeg children in the Canadian winter.

A shepherd in the Cotswold hills, with a background of English carols, described the ancient Christmas customs in a self-contained village. The bagpipes of Scotland followed. There was even produced an Irish cottager to make the circle of the islands complete. Voices came from South Africa and Rhodesia with the cries of black warriors and the greetings of black laborers.

FRESH AIR NECESSARY FOR GOOD DIGESTION

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

It is unfortunate that human beings must live indoors so much because many of the ailments of which the human race complains are due to living the indoor life.

As you know there is less moisture, less oxygen, less movement of air indoors than outdoors, and thus colds in the head, sinus, bronchial, and chest conditions are the natural result.

Lately it has been felt that the nose, throat, bronchial tubes and lungs are not the only parts of the body that are affected by the lack of oxygen in the indoors. The heart has been found to beat more rapidly when there is not sufficient oxygen, so that "tiredness" of the heart muscle may occur. As you know airmen or those climbing high mountains have to take small tanks of oxygen with them on their height expeditions owing to lack of sufficient oxygen so high up.

However it is now believed that much of the stomach and intestinal disturbances can be traced to this lack of sufficient oxygen.

Dr. E. J. Van Liere, Morgantown, W. Va., in the American Journal of Digestive Diseases and Nutrition, records the results of some experimental work on dogs. He found that in diseases where there was a lack of oxygen in the blood it was important that only food that was easily digested and would leave the stomach quickly should be used.

Animals that, for the time being, were deprived of the full or usual amount of oxygen in the air showed a delay of several hours in the emptying time of the stomachs. You can understand that if there is a delay of several hours in the emptying time of the stomach another meal is likely to be eaten while some of the food of the previous meal is still in the stomach. This causes indigestion and gas distention.

Now we can't live outdoors but we can ventilate the home by means of windows, doors, or mechanical methods. While nearly everybody ventilates the bedroom during sleep, allowing fresh air to come in after meals is just as important as we see how necessary to digestion is the oxygen in the air.

The stuffy full feeling that occurs after eating may in many cases be due to a lack of fresh air.

Oh, hard the pulses of the night,
The crickets hidden in the field,
That beat out music of delight
Till summoned dawn stands half revealed!

Oh, mark above the bearded corn
And the green wheat and bending rye,
Tuned to the earth, and calling morn,
The stars vibrating in the sky!

And know, divided soul of me,
Here in the meadow, sweet in speech,
This perfect night could never be
Were we not mated each to each.

HOW MONARCHS BEAT ENGLISH TEAM IS TOLD

Winnipeg Upsets Big Richmond Squad by 6-2

The following article, appearing in the Richmond and Twickenham Times, and of interest to hockey fans, was forwarded to The Nelson Daily News by C. E. Gardiner of Nelson:

"The dream of the Richmond Hawks has been shattered.

"Winnipeg Monarchs, amateur ice hockey champions of Canada and the world, who opened their English campaign at the Sportsdrome, Richmond Bridge before a crowd of nearly four thousand, tore to shreds the defence of the river kestrels, scoring six goals to Richmond's two. Thus they destroyed, at one blow, the cherished ambition of the Hawks, who, for weeks past, have been in strict training for this one event.

"Although for two periods they were outplayed by superior speed and masterly stick work of the Monarchs, Richmond can take consolation from the fact that no other side in England is likely to surprise these giants from Winnipeg. They are fast and tough, and have perfected their teamwork to an uncanny degree. As is only to be expected from a team which has grown up together, they time their passes to a split second and check back like lightning.

WHERE RICHMOND FAILED

"I am making no excuses for the Hawks. They were outclassed and outplayed. But I do think that 4-2 would have been a fairer reflex of this hectic struggle. One of Winnipeg's goals was definitely scored from an offside position.

"Incidentally, why were there not two referees to such an important game?

"Where Richmond failed was in their checking back and pass-making. They seemed to be knocked off their normal game by the robust tactics of the Monarchs, and seldom penetrated a cast-iron defence. Most of their shots were from long distance, and how futile this is in class ice hockey is known to every fan.

"Anything more unlike the team that smashed Wembley Canadians the Thursday before could not be imagined. At the Empire Pool the forwards checked back all the time, while their passing was immaculate. There, they were keyed up to concert pitch. Here, they were sadly lacking their wonted fire—until that storming rally in the last period.

BEATON'S GOAL BURST

"In this session the Hawks roused the crowd to a fine frenzy with a series of breath-taking attacks. Inspired by their captain, Joe Beaton, they got the world's best defence rattled, and revealed their best form.

"Five goals down, they swooped on Winnipeg's last line and scored two goals in successive minutes. Beaton was the hero of this goal burst. Each time it was his stick that sent the puck into the net with a shot like a whiplash. If ever a man tried to pull a game out of the fire it was this level-headed Canadian.

"During these furious minutes the Monarchs were in a tangle, but the damage had been done and the rally, although dramatic, came too late.

"'If only the Hawks had played like this all three periods,' I heard a supporter groan, and there can be no doubt that had Richmond piled into the visitors in such fashion for the whole game the Monarchs would have been pushed all the way.

MAJOR MACKENZIE HURT

"Yellowlees gave Monarchs the lead in the first period, when he followed up a shot which rebounded from Harnedy. Then, in the second period, Yelowlees, Albert LeMay, and Creighton all crashed the puck past the gallant Harnedy, and it was "all up."

"I must commend the pluck of Major W. H. Mackenzie, the Hawks' team manager, and left back, who was struck over the eye and had to have several stitches put in the wound. He resumed ater. In the last session Yellowlees and LeMay scored again. N. Rivers was sent off.

"It was significant that Richmond's second line, with Sursock as the star, sparkled more brightly than the first. Both McArthur and Robertson were off form. Leacock was outstanding in defence.

TEST MATCH TEAMS

"Beaton has been selected to captain the team of resident Canadians which will meet England in the first of three test matches to be held at the Sportsdrome. In fact, the whole of the Hawks' front line has been chosen.

"England will have Ernest Leacock in defence and Ivor Nesbitt in attack, making five members from Richmond—a signal honor.

Teams will be:

Canada—M. Gerth (Streatham), Lou Bates and J. Forsyth (Lions), T. Robertson, J. Beaton (captain), and H. McArthur (Hawks), A. Forsyth (Lions), G. Shaw (Streatham) and R. Walton (Lions).

England—S. Jackson (Lions), C. Erhart (Streatham) captain, and E. Leacock (Hawks), G. Dailley (Lions), H. M. Johnson (Manchester), D. Davey (Streatham), E. Jackson (Lions), I. Nesbitt (Hawks) and H. B. Cooke (Queen's).

"The Richmond rink has been placed at the disposal of the English team for a try-out when the Hawks will give them a thorough test. This is the first time a test match has been held in this country. My money is on the Canadians on account of their greater mobility and teamwork, but there are such brilliant individualists in the English side, and they have such a stout defence, that Beaton and company will have all their work cut out to score.

"It should be a rousing game. —A.H."

Well, We'll See!

CONACHER AT SCORING TOP

Is Point Up on the Busher; Schriner Forges Ahead

MONTREAL, Jan. 14 (CP). — Leadership of the scoring race in the National Hockey league continues to be a friendly duel between Harvey (Busher) Jackson and Charlie (Chuck) Conacher of Toronto Maple Leafs. This week Conacher jumped ahead of Jackson in the individual point standing and leads his team-mate by a single point, according to the weekly figures given out tonight at the offices of the league.

Chuck Conacher picked up seven points in a scoring splurge in the past week to boost his total to 16 goals and 14 assists for a total of 30 points, one better than Jackson, who has 19 goals and 10 assists.

Eight points behind the Busher is a surprising young Calgary gentleman, Sweeney Schriner of New York Americans. The most sensational rookie scorer of the year, Sweeney has amassed nine goals and 12 assists for a total of 21.

In the United States section, Detroit Red Wings first line capture scoring laurels. Cooney Welland and Herb Lewis are tied for the leadership with 22 points apiece with Larry Aurie, third member of the unit, right behind them with 21 points.

ENGLISH WOMEN DOUBLES CHAMPS

Beat Australians for the Australian Tennis Title

MELBOURNE, Australia, Jan. 14 (AP).—Evelyn Dearman and Nancy Lyle, of England, today won the playoff and the Australian women's doubles tennis title from Mrs. Harry Hopman and Miss Bickerton, of Australia, 6-3, 6-4.

The match was halted by rain Saturday with the score one set each. It was decided, however, to start all over again instead of playing just the odd set.

The victory gave England an even break in the four titles decided, Dorothy Round, the English Wimbledon champion, also taking the women's singles title. Jack Crawford regained his singles championship from Fed Perry, world's ranking player, and Crawford and Vivian McGrath defeated Perry and George Patrick Hughes for the doubles crown.

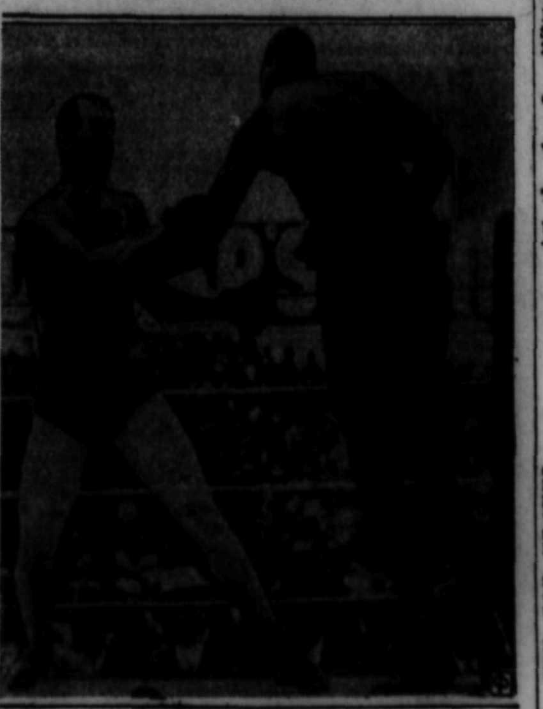
Scrap-Book OF FAMOUS FIGHTS AND FIGHTERS

BY BILL BRAUCHER

JACK JOHNSON WINS WORLD TITLE



Jack Johnson drives left to Tommy Burns' heart in their battle at Sydney, Australia, Dec. 26, 1908.

Tommy Burns was a great boxer, a terrific hitter, an aggressive fighting man, game to the core. It was his courage, in fact, which cost him the heavyweight championship of the world in a battle with Jack Johnson in Sydney, Australia, on Christmas Day, 1908.

Burns was the smallest man ever to hold the title. He was five feet seven inches tall and at the time he fought Johnson weighed but 162 pounds.

It was Burns' own suggestion to his friend, Hugh McIntosh, Australian promoter, that Jack Johnson was the man he would like to fight that brought about the match. Black menace? Burns would make him quit, the doughty little Canadian told McIntosh. Forty pounds' difference in weights? Burns would make up for that with fight!

But Burns fought out his heart in a lost cause. From the very first round, when Johnson floored Burns with a terrific inside hook as the men came out of a clinch, it was the negro's fight. Johnson blocked, peppered Burns' face with lefts and countered with jarring rights as the fiery little Canadian rushed headlong into his colored foe time after time.

In the fourteenth round, after Burns had taken pitiless punishment, police stopped the fight to save him further suffering. There was nothing for McIntosh to do but award the decision and the title to Johnson.

As consolation Burns' received $45,000, a huge purse for a fighter a quarter of a century ago. Johnson got only $5,000 for the bout.

Bill Pratt Was With Buckaroos

Bill Pratt, of the Kimberley Dynamiters, is a brother of Coach Jack Pratt, and in many ways he is like his older brother, for he too likes to bump players. Jack was the badman of a couple of leagues and Bill may develop into that yet.

Bill went to Kimberley last year from the New Westminster Cubs and so far he has found it hard breaking into the Dynamiters squad.

He was born at Stettler, Alta., Dec. 20, 1914 (almost a Christmas present) and started his hockey at the little coal town of Drumheller. Then he played in Vancouver a year. Following that he went to Portland and played under Bob Rowe, present coach of the Buckaroos, for two years. Then he went to the New Westminster Cubs a year, finally drifting to Kimberley.

Bill has promise of becoming Kimberley's defense hope. He likes hitting players hard and often, the harder and oftener, the better. Although just 20 he is five feet, inches tall and weighs 180 pounds.

"Big League" BOWLING

In bowling duck pins, like in bowling the big pins, keep your legs straight and firm, and do your bending from the hips. When sizing up the pins behind the foul line, bend forward a little, with your feet close together and your body faced in a little to the left. As you approach the foul line, footwork is very important. Whatever you do, your feet must coordinate with your arm swing. Whether you walk briskly, or run slowly to the foul line, you must never be off balance. If you are, you cannot control the direction of the ball as it leaves your hand. Many duck-pin bowlers claim that a "back-up" ball is superior to a hook ball as a pin getter, in direct contradiction to the big pin bowlers. I would like to hear from duck-pin bowlers on this question.

THE OLD SCOUT SAYS

"The excesses of our youth are drafts upon our old age, payable with interest about thirty years after date.

LONDON (CP)—A selection committee chose Jack Houldsworth of Blackburn Rovers for an amateur international soccer trial two months after the player had turned professional.

HOCKEY CHATTER

In volunteering to go to Fernie to meet a district team there in a benefit game for B. (Mush) Millburn, injured Fernie player, the Kimberley Dynamiters have shown real sportsmanship. They are going to great expense to help a hockey player, who, perhaps, has no more strings on them than being a kindred soul in his love for the great game of hockey. It is a fine gesture. Millburn lost the sight of an eye in a recent game.

The local rink was visited by several hundred fans Sunday afternoon to watch the games that were played there, further evidence that Sunday games are popular and that city hockey is a drawing card. Considering all the hockey the boys have been getting, they put up a good brand. And if they had regular practise hours during the winter, such as could be given to them if Nelson had an artificial ice plant at the rink, Nelson could begin turning out hockey players. Trail is filling in gaps in the Smoke Eaters team with juniors and Nelson could do the same. Buckna, Morris, Forrest and Hood are boys who moved up from junior hockey, and they are all playing a fine game at present. There are several more ready to move up, too.

Of Nelson's British Columbia championship junior team of 1928-29, not one of them is playing senior hockey now. They were considered good prospects at the time but they could not move ahead as fast as the more favored Trail team and they fell by the wayside. There are always a few in any team will drop out after the junior age but one will seldom see a whole team of players hit such a level stretch as this one did. And it was nothing more than lack of opportunity that did it. If ice had been available they would have kept going.

* * *

Kimberley now has a Radio association whose main purpose is broadcasting the Kimberley hockey games. H. S. Waites is the president and A. E. (Ted) Guy the vice-president, while Archie Glen handles the combined office of secretary and treasure. According to reports from there the membership of the association is expanding rapidly for the Kimberley people appreciate the efforts of the organization.

* * *

When the New Westminster Adanacs were in Kimberley playing a rep team there in basketball they heard that "Jock" Walmsley, Rossland Miner hockey player, and former team mate of "Truck" McDonald and Ken Wright, was in the hospital receiving treatment to injuries, they went up to see him.

* * *

More than one fan has noticed that Walmsley hockey shorts are not all that they could be. The bottom of these same shorts resemble a badly tattered flag so there must be some sentiment attached to them. Possibly his girl gave them to him, or perhaps he had them when he was playing rugby at U.B.C. Still if Lou Gehrig can be superstitious about his luck in playing so many baseball games, and Murry Murdoch about his luck in participating in so many hockey games, surely Walmsley is entitled to a small measure of superstition with regard to his "pants." Let's hope they last the winter.

Australia Wants Canadian Lacrosse Team to Make Trip

MELBOURNE, Australia, Jan. 14 (CP)—The Australian lacrosse council has decided to approach the British Columbia Lacrosse association to ascertain whether a Canadian lacrosse team could visit Australia for an exhibition tour in the near future.

Famed Hoopster Is Now in Trail

TRAIL, B.C., Jan. 14.—Possibilities of Trail obtaining another valuable hoopster are revealed in the presence in town of "Tiny" Armstrong, former Varsity senior A basketball player and member of Vancouver Province, Dominion basketball champions. He may play with the Elks in the City league.

BRITAIN WOULD PROTECT TENNIS STARS IN FILMS

LONDON, Jan. 14 (AP).—The British Lawn Tennis association today voted to support a motion before the international federation which would delete the international rule prohibiting amateur tennis players from accepting money for making action films. The motion was made by the Czechoslovakian association.

If the rule is deleted Frederick J. Perry, England's Davis cup ace, would make an action series such as that made by Bill Tilden without losing his amateur status.

BIRTHDAY GREETINGS

By The Canadian Press

To Luke Sewell, veteran catcher of the Washington Senators in the American Baseball league. Born in Titus, Alabama, 34 years ago today, he graduated in baseball from the University of Alabama team. He got into professional ball with Cleveland in 1921 and was traded to Washington at the start of the 1933 season.

"Echoes o' the Stanes"

There was great rejoicing in the "old town" last night as Kootenay and coast curlers gathered to do battle at the Nelson rink in the 40th annual B.C. 'spiel this morning, chuckled to see the mercury shoved into the dust, or the snow.

* * *

Falling into line with other B.C. points, but moderately so, temperatures played around the zero mark at Nelson Monday night.

* * *

While Nelson curlers have been blocked at every turn to suit the wiles of a fickle weather, nine rinks have been rounded up to "sweep and shove" for the lake city. Ten rinks would have been in the fray but at the last minute "Jimmie" Gordon, precision hurler for "Bobbie" Andrew, was forced to pack up his valise and flee to the coast on business.

Skips who will pilot Nelson representatives in the dash for the silver-ware are W. M. Vance, Jack Bell, S. P. Bostock, Roy Sharpe, A. Jeffs, C. E. Mansfield, W. Biner, R. E. L. Dewdney and A. G. Ritchie.

Nelson, home club, will set off the fireworks this morning, meeting the rest of the world, or rather the rest of the rinks entered, in the All-Comers competition. With the cold weather, the locals will be out to win the downy blankets offered for first prize.

The primary events open with the Grand Challenge.

Armed with the snappy tartans and sweaters that turned other rinks green with envy last year, the Somerville rink landed in Nelson Monday night bent on doing big things. Skip W. P. Somerville has a "bonnie" crew in C. Strachan, third, A. Crichton, second and W. Doubt, lead.

● A dash of powder may work wonders for a woman . . . but it won't get a man by without shaving. That's where Bill is making his big mistake. He thinks that people don't notice that he's trying to "camouflage" the fact that he needs a shave.

Today there's no reason for men with tender skin to neglect frequent shaving. Today's Gillette "Blue Blade" is especially processed to make shaving easy and pleasant. Even twice a day shaving when necessary is entirely comfortable. Try the Gillette "Blue Blade" today.

Little Sister

by MARGARET WIDDEMER

READ THIS FIRST:

After reading a letter from her kless young sister, Bet, anncing her proposed elopement h a carpenter, Leila Madison hes to New York from her burban home where she lives h her Aunt Minnie. The sisters orphaned and members of an Westchester family. Arriving side her sister's apartment, ila, who virtually is engaged to on Johnston-Hedges, her arisratic neighbor, runs into Jerry dmond. He, too, as a roommate Yale of the brother of Bet's nce, is striving to halt the elopent. Jerry says the prospective degroom is Addison Hunting-, a romantic radical, masquerng as Stark Freeman. Leila and ry find Bet and her roommate, na, waiting for Addy. He ares a moment later. Jerry tells dy the police want to question about an acquaintance of his med Jareckis so they disguise dy in girls' clothes. The police ive and promise to return when y cannot find Stark Freeman remaining on guard outside apartment. Jerry explains why is trying to save Addy from the lice.

(Now Go On With the Story)

CHAPTER 10

inally Leila's curiosity—mixed suspicion that the notes might something to do with their ent mess—got too much for her. What are you writing in that k?" she demanded.

e smiled at her; a bright and ning smile.

Did you ever know a reporter wasn't doing the great Ameri- novel?" he demanded.

He rose to his feet helping Leila. the policemen appeared.

"Oh, here you are, Redmond," said policeman who was the older quaintance. "You got patience, I'll that for you. Well, if the Freen guy is here, Buck will find him. ows him by sight. Little, skinny, ndy guy, didn't you say, Buck?"

Bet bristled, and would have inlied an officer of the law if Jerry n't put a hand over her mouth.

"All right, officer" said Jerry poely. "Gaze at us. One black-haired l, one taller chestnut girl, one ting artistic girl, one sandy girl, full-size reported with whiskers deceive you."

The policeman grinned reluctantly.

"All right, bo. Names, and you can get out."

Jerry became courteous and business-like. Leila noticed with reluctant approval that he knew when to fool and when to be serious.

"You know who I am—Redmond, free-lance and special correspondent for the Evening Globe, when I'm not at home. The lady who is at work is Miss Berry. These other girls are Elizabeth and Leila Madison, and their friend, Grace Perkins. They drove in today to see Miss Berry. They live in Fernwood Manor. You probably saw their car downstairs."

"And the one that paints is fond of the Freeman guy," said the policeman ponderously.

Jerry edged up closer and began to whisper.

"Exactly. That's where I come in. I want an exclusive story. 'Chum of Westchester society girl falls for racketeer. Schoolmate of girl head of well-known Heathcote kennels. Persuades her back to the social round! Scottie Heathcote Heart's Queen, to take her to family estate. Chum refuses. Love and art are all that matter!' I want it for next Sunday."

"Well, you got a nerve, you newspaper boys. I thought you just wanted a line in a colyum." (Bet shuddered as this horrible idea was offered. She had met the tabloids before.) "Well, it might help catch the little Freeman guy at that. I don't think he was the one that really had much to do with the funny money," said the policeman tolerantly "Seemed one of these honest little muts 's I remember. Jarecki's the bird we really want, only 'we got to jug Freeman first an' get the dope."

The lady in Bet's blue suit opened her mouth and stepped forward indignantly. Jerry's iron hand clamped down on her narrow shouder. The policeman scarcely noticed; he loved society. "Which is Miss Madison's sister that has the kennels?" he asked reverently.

"This one," Jerry indicated Leila. "Miss Leila Madison of Westchester and Park avenue," he lied brightly. "The other lady is her friend, Miss Perkins; remember her; she took the prize for the best costume at the Beaux-Art ball."

He held Miss Perkins firmly down.

"Awright. You can go. And believe me, it's not treat to us to go messing round riding herd on pink nuts," said the policeman confidentially, as to an equal. He moved away, his boots sounding enormously on the bare floor in the hot dusk.

Jerry took a long breath and removed his hand from his friend's shoulder. Leila felt very limp inside, as if a tidal wave had just gone round the other way. Bet began to weep loudly.

"Oh, do stop that" Leila said wearily.

The rest, like the end of most exciting struggles, was tame. Jerry, escorting the middle-sized, rather awkward lady who was Addison, passed out with the girls and Jane.

"All right, buddy. Pass along. Mail me a copy of the paper, kid. The name's Flynn, Seventh precinct."

"Sure, you'll see it in the paper," Jerry assured him benignly. They went. "Goodby, Miss Berry. You're a good sport. I hope it comes out right," he dared to throw over his shoulder.

"Thanks a lot," said Edna Berry, and shifted her mirrors and painted on.

"I would like," said Addison from under his scarf, in as proud and injured a voice as Bet's own, as they gained the street "to find a place where I can roll my shirt sleeves down."

"Patience, sweetheart," said Jerry cheerily. "Leila, gimme the keys."

She was past asserting herself; she felt like the overworked woman of the old suffrage story she had heard Mrs. Johnston-Hedges quote: "If there is anything the menfolk will do, let 'em do it!"

Only 530,000 Shares Traded; Prices Lower

By FRANK MACMILLEN
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 14 (AP)—Traders for the most part sat on the sidelines today, whistling for the proverbal wind while stocks drifted becalmed in the quietest market in more than two months.

Transfers aggregated only 530,000 shares.

A few issues were able to gain a point or a little more, such as Allied Chemical at 134½, U.S. Steel preferred at 87½, Westinghouse Airbrake at 25½ and Coca-Cola at 176¼.

A feature of the bond list was a break of 16 points in Royal Dutch 4s at 119 on a court of the Hague ruling the company need not pay interest on the bonds in gold dollars.

Among the more active Canadian stocks Lake Shore showed the widest change, dropping more than a point.

Pruning the Prune Is Important Work

Pruning operations serve a definite purpose, and are expected to yield certain desired results, says J. E. Britton, Dominion experimental station, Summerland, B.C. Pruning is a part of the cultural practice and all cultural factors are more or less complementary to each other. There is no hard and fast rule to follow, but two conditions must be considered: the health and thriftiness of the tree, and its characteristic habit of growth.

The Italian prune is by far the most important variety grown in British Columbia. This article refers particularly to that variety but also applies to many other varieties of prunes and plums. Experimental results and observations regarding the behavior of prune trees at the Dominion experimental station at Summerland have pointed out most desirable methods in the culture of this fruit.

Italian prune trees naturally grow to a compact form and comparatively small size. When fruit production is well established, framework branches make slow growth but develop many small fruiting branches and twigs. These twigs are sensitive to shade and may be killed out if a dense outer growth precludes sunlight. Therefore, it is necessary to allow sufficient light to the fruit wood, and to encourage extended growth in the main branches.

Trees that have been regularly "long-pruned" up to 7 years of age, have produced 67 per cent more fruit than have "short-pruned" trees. The long pruning consists of a selection of branches to form the framework without any cutting back. Where advisable to depress growth of a branch to make it subordinate to the limb, it should be cut back to a lateral if possible. Sufficient thinning out of branches is important. Too many main branches in a tree is the same as too many trees in an acre, or too many onions in a row. The long-pruned trees were larger at 7 years of age and had more years of bearing to their credit.

Older trees require somewhat more drastic treatment. Heavy production slows down new wood growth and results in small fruits. This may be corrected by heading back into two or three-year wood in order to produce more extensive terminal growth. This treatment should be supplemented by thorough spur-pruning (removing about a quarter to half of the older spurs). The crop is thus thinned by pruning and new fruiting wood growth is encouraged.

Pruning alone will not revive old trees, nor does it maintain vigor and fruit production in young trees. Judicious pruning, adapted to the needs of the tree, however, when combined with adequate fertilizer and soil treatment will bring about most desirable results.

BONDS ORDERLY

NEW YORK, Jan. 14 (AP)—The bond market was more orderly today following the unusually active sessions of last week and price movements were generally narrow. Corporate issues were irregular and U.S. governments mostly lower.

The foreign section was unsettled by an extreme decline of 16 points in Royal Dutch 4s which yielded to 119

STEVENS URGES AN INDUSTRY AND COMMERCE BODY

MONTREAL, Jan. 14 (CP). — A drastic amendment of company laws and practices, with the establishment of a Dominion commission of industry and commerce to administer all laws relating to these matters, was urged before the Canadian club here today by Hon. H. H. Stevens, former minister of trade and commerce and former chairman of the house of commons committee investigating mass buying and price spreads.

Mr. Stevens declared the amendment could be put through without infringing on the British North America act, but through the weight of public opinion.

TORONTO PRICES ARE IRREGULAR

Volume Spotty; Trade in Gold Group Small; Bralorne Up

TORONTO, Jan. 14 (CP)—Industrial stocks listed on the Toronto exchange opened the third week of January with a generally firm note on fair volume.

NOVA SCOTIANS EXPORT BRAINS

HALIFAX, (CP). — Nova scotia's chief export is men "who attain position of eminence further west," according to Prof. John Harry Jones, the British economist who headed the Royal Commission that investigated the province's economic status last summer.

But Prof. Jones, writing in an English periodical, advises Nova Scotians not to worry. "Those countries which export brains," he says, "never suffer from lack of brains; they are human wells that never run dry."

As for the ordinary, everyday Nova Scotians, the economist writes, they are the province's "greatest asset." The visitor, he declares, is always assured of a warm welcome, while he may "enjoy the beauty of Nova Scotia and feel, not merely comfortable, but extremely happy among the people of the province."

Prof. Jones declared he was enchanted by the rugged grandeur of Nova Scotia's scenery, her "endless" forests, "glorious seascapes, picturesque and historic spots, and the "quiet beauty" one finds at almost every turn.

He found the most "interesting" town in Antigonish, which "with its Catholic university and its other educational institutions was a miniature Cambridge."

In all, he believed, "Nova Scotia seems destined to become one of the great centers of tourist traffic. It is a country of great beauty, and still unspoiled."

GRAINS SLUMP AT CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Jan. 14 (AP). — Gripped by persistent fear the United States supreme court decision concerning gold clause abrogation may overrule congress, grain prices today were patterned after Jack and Jill.

Wheat closed nervous, 1⅛ to 1⅜ lower, May 98 to 98⅛; corn ¾ to 1⅛ down, May 88⅝ to 88½ and oats ⅛ to ⅝ off.

Liquidation was attributed mainly to eastern sources.

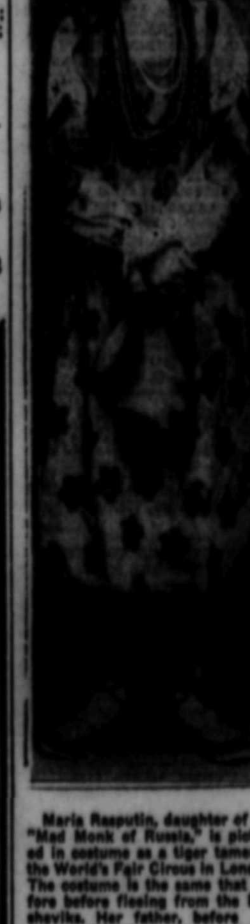
Rasputin's Daughter



Maria Rasputin, daughter of the "Mad Monk of Russia," is pictured in costume as a tiger tamer at the World's Fair Circus in London. The costume is the same that she fore before fleeing from the Bolsheviks. Her father, before his death, wielded an uncanny influence over the czar and his family.

WHEAT IS OFF AT WINNIPEG

Support Lacking and Prices Slide Lower

WINNIPEG, Jan. 14 (CP).—In a market almost barren of support, wheat prices on the Winnipeg grain exchange dropped 1⅜ to 1¼ cents today, May and July futures closing at 82 cents.

Liquidation of wheat followed a 1⅝-cent decline at Chicago, where prices were unsettled as traders awaited a United States supreme court decision on "gold-clause" litigation.

At the closing levels, futures had fallen to within 2 to 1¾ cents of their "pegged" prices, established No. 1 wheat May at 82 and July at 81¼.

Cash wheat was slow but sale of 25,000 bushels of barley for export enlivened cash corse grains. Coarse grain futures dipped in sympathy with wheat in an active market.

TORONTO BRIGHT

TORONTO, Jan. 14 (CP)—Volume was spotty and price trends irregular on the mining section of Toronto exchange today.

Trade in the gold group was small. Bralorne, Dome, McIntyre and Wright Hargreaves advanced 20 to 50 cents each and Teck Hughes 3.

Pickle Crowe dropped 9 cents and God's Lake 11.

St. Anthony was under selling pressure for a 6-cent loss to 27. It touched 25 during the day. Base metals and silvers lacked interest.

Canadian Dollar at ⅛ Premium

NEW YORK, Jan. 14 (CP). — Leading currencies declined sharply in terms of the United States dollar in the foreign exchange markets today. All hit new lows for the year.

Sterling closed at $4.89, down 1⅛ cents. The Canadian dollar's closing premium rate was ⅛ per cent against 5-16 Saturday. The French franc at 6.59⅝ cents, showed a loss of .01 of a cent.

MONTREAL DULL

MONTREAL, Jan. 14 (CP)—A marked attitude of hesitancy made its appearance on the Montreal stock exchange today, placing a damper on dealings and holding price changes to narrow limits.

Alberta Grain preferred declined a point to 27. Dominion Coal preferred 1½ to 117½ and Steel of Canada common lost ½ at 45.

Industrial Alcohol A was up ⅛ at 8⅝ and the B shares firmed ⅜ at 7¼. B.C. Power A rose ¼, the B ⅛ and Southern Canada Power ⅜.

RUSSIAN LUMBER ALARMS B.C.

VICTORIA, Jan. 14 (CP).—Considerable alarm was expressed today over reports that Russia would ship an extra 100,000,000 feet of lumber to the English market this year.

In view of the fact that British Columbia has paid particular attention in the last few years to building up the English market, and, as a matter of fact, reached a new high mark in exports there last year, the situation was regarded as a serious one.

U. S. DOLLAR UP

MONTREAL, Jan. 14 (CP).—The pound sterling showed a loss in today's dealings on Montreal foreign exchanges while the United States dollar firmed fractionally.

The pound declined 1⅛ cents to 4.87 11-16. The American dollar traded at 7-32 of 1 per cent discount, up 3-32 of 1 per cent from Saturday, and the franc continued at 6.56 cents.

M'GEER CAUSE OF WORRY FOR LONDON BONDS

London Hints Some Action May Be Taken on Price

DEALERS WIDEN THEIR MARGINS

Fear McGeer May Be One to Upset the Apple Cart

LONDON, Jan. 14 (CP cable).—A hint that some action may be taken by the committee of the London stock exchange in connection with current prices for Canadian federal, provincial and municipal bonds is contained today in the Financial News.

The proposals of Mayor G. G. McGeer of Vancouver that holders of city bonds accept a 50 per cent cut in interest rates with his reported further intention to lead a movement for a general reduction in interest rates on provincial and municipal bonds in the Dominion has aroused a certain amount of disturbed feeling in the London market.

Dealers here have widened their margins considerably and quotations for certain bonds of these types are difficult to obtain. The Financial News asserts the stock exchange's committee might take some action "as it is felt the existing quotations may be misconstrued."

Drawing attention to the "abnormal gap" between Canadian federal and provincial and municipal credit is closely linked with national credit. It adds that the ministry of health (which also includes supersion of local government) posesses wide powers which may be used should occasion arise.

The Financial News further suggests that some imaginative-minded people may see in the present position of Canadian provincial and municipal credit some of the elements which led to the reorganization of Newfoundland's finances. It adds that although the government of British Columbia has refused legislation to give effect to the Vancouver proposal, the matter can hardly end as it now stands.

Bar Gold Up a Cent

MONTREAL, Jan. 14 (CP).—Bar gold in London up one cent at $34.69 an ounce in Canadian funds; 141s 11d in British funds. The fixed $35 Washington price amounted to $34.90 in Canadian.

MONTREAL, Jan. 14 (CP).—Silver futures closed steady on the Canadian commodity exchange today.

With London slightly stronger prices here were 20 points higher than Saturday to 10 points down. Three March contracts and two May were transferred, March touching a high of 54.90 before selling down to 54.75 and May selling at 54.40.

COAST TEAM DROPS SECOND MATCH TO KIMBERLEY, 7-1

Small Crowd Braves 24-Below Zero Weather

KIMBERLEY, B.C., Jan. 14 — Twenty-four below zero weather in this town tonight failed to keep a fair-sized crowd from watching Kimberley Dynamiters give Vancouver Cubs another drubbing as they beat the coast team 7-1. The Cubs showed improvement over Saturday night's game and a fast pace was maintained throughout. The Cubs used Hope in goal and although allowing seven shots to get by he turned back 46. Ken Campbell, goalie change for Kimberley, stopped 21 shots.

The Dynamiters took a long lead in the first period when they led 5-0, Vancouver's lone goal coming in the second, and the other two Kimberley goals in the third.

Play opened fairly fast in the first period. Kimberley's initial tally came at 3:57 when Redding took Kozak's pass and beat Hope. Brown bumped McQuade and the Dynamiters dropped back to defensive play until the brilliant defence player returned. Play was even for a while. Campbell made a beautiful save from Helem. Kemp and Art Mackie combined for the second goal, the former taking the pass to score at 8:53. Forsey, Moore and Redding stayed down the ice holding the Cubs at their own blue line. Henderson went off for bumping Redding. Forsey was playing a smart game. Botterill found the back of the net but the shot was offside. Shortly after Redding scored on a pass from Forsey at 13:30. Play was kept inside the Vancouver blue line and Botterill at 14:30 scored unassisted and just before the bell Kemp packed one in at 14:17.

HELEM SCORES

The second period was a more even affair, with both teams trying hard for goals. Scott and McQuade of the Cubs spent a minute each in the box but Kimberley was held back. Vancouver's goal came at 19:38 when Helem beat Campbell after a fast solo rush. Hope turned back Kimberley efforts time after time and the goalie was given a big hand.

McQuade and Helem stepped out as the third stanza opened and they were clicking in impressive style. McRae tripped McGillivray for a minute penalty. Brown went off when he bumped Scott and the coast boys, checked hard, but their scoring attempts failed when they became overanxious and the bell called many offsides. Following a pileup in the Vancouver net, Art Mackie and Schuman tangled and were sent to the cooler for two minutes each. McGillivray got right through on a solo dash, but Hope beat him. Scott returned, but his speedy solo work was broken by Campbell. Kemp missed a pass in front of a wide open Vancouver net. Brown and Botterill went in and a pileup ensued. Moore was penalized for slashing Schuman.

At 18:30 Redding and Brown went down, the former tallying, and Redding again took Forsey's pass at 18:45 to score the final goal of the game.

"Dub" Mackie refereed.

Teams were:

Vancouver Cubs—Hope; Henderson, Gamlin; McQuade, Helem, Scott, McRae and Schuman.

Kimberley — Campbell; Kozak, Brown, McGillivray; Redding, Forsey, Moore; Botterill, A. Mackie, Kemp; Livingstone.

Shots on goal:

Hope—9-22-15—46.

Kimberley—7-5-9—21.

Announcement

To the Citizens of Nelson

It seems the usual procedure for a candidate for mayoralty honors to make alluring promises to the electors, losing sight of the fact that a mayor is not a dictator but the Chief Executive officer of the City.

My desire however, is to co-operate with the Council and City Officials and giving you an up-to-the-minute administration. Any proposal for the extension of the Public utilities or Work program, which will render better service for the accommodation and convenience of the Citizens will have my cordial support.

I appeal for your support on my record as your Mayor for four years and as a business man and citizen. I will not hold any meetings but if elected will do my utmost for the welfare of the City.

KIDNAP CASE

Lindbergh baby to say she saw "Jafsie" in a Bronx telegraph office in March of 1932, nearly a month before Dr. Condon paid the $50,000 ransom, and that another man was watching him "very significantly."

IT WAS HAUPTMANN

"I say the man was Bruno Hauptmann," she declared firmly.

A faint flush stole over the carpenter's pallid face. His wife, the plump Anna, turned white.

New Jersey authorities, meanwhile, took careful steps to guard the names of the three persons who will arrive in New York tomorrow aboard the liner Ile de France, in the company of Detective Arthur Johnson of the New York police.

(German reports have indicated that one of the three might be Hanna Fisch, sister of the late Isador Fisch, from whom Hauptmann says he got the ransom bills with which he was caught).

BRIGHT INTERLUDE

Miss Alexander, who arched her fashionable eyebrows petulantly at the barbed queries of Edward J. Reilly, chief of Hauptmann's defence, proved a bright interlude in the testimony of two handwriting experts who again called Hauptmann the ransom note writer.

These 14 notes, the first one left on the windowsill of baby Lindbergh's nursery when he was stolen and slain on March 1, 1932, cost Col. Charles A. Lindbergh $50,000. "Jafsie" says he paid the money to Hauptmann in St. Raymond's cemetery, a month and day after the kidnapping.

Today the word of Albert S. Osborn, the internationally known expert who last Friday accused Hauptmann as the ransom writer, was bolstered by that of Elbridge W. Stein, another authority on disputed documents.

Stein's cross-examination ended when court adjourned for the day.

WORK OF SAME MAN

Both said they believed the ransome notes and Hauptmann's conceded writing were the work of the same man.

Osborn, white-haired and unruffled, went further than that.

He said the likeness between Bruno's hand and that of the ransom notes is "irresistible, unanswerable and overwhelming."

The florid Reilly failed to shake Miss Alexander's identification of Hauptmann as the man she saw in the Fordham, New York Central, station, and again on the street two or three evenings later.

She said Dr. Condon seemed to be having an argument in the front of the telegraph office.

SAW HIM TWICE

The other man, Miss Alexander went on, was "diagonally in back" of Dr. Condon.

Q. What attracted your attention to the gentleman who you say was watching Dr. Condon? A. The fact that he was very obviously watching him, very significantly.

"Two or three evenings later" she saw the watcher again, she said, walking at Fordham road and Webster avenue.

Q. Who was the man you saw in that station watching Dr. Condon on this night in March and whom you saw a few nights afterwards walking down Fordham road? A. I say the man was Bruno Richard Hauptmann.

SAW HIM IN JAIL

She did not know who Hauptmann was in March, 1932. She later saw him at the jail in Flemington.

Osborn faces further cross-examination later on the hand-writing of Fisch, which he said he had examined.

Fisch, who died in Germany of tuberculosis, is a focal point of the defence case. Reilly says he will show it was Fisch who wrote the ransom notes; Fisch who collected the $50,000 while the Lindbergh baby lay in a shallow grave.

Stein, the second handwriting witness today, testified:

"My opinion is that the writer who wrote the Bruno Richard Hauptmann writings—that is, the request and conceded writings—also wrote the ransom notes."

The day was marked by the withdrawal of two defence handwriting experts, Samuel C. Lahone and Arthur P. Meyers who quit because they wanted to be paid, and the defence cannot pay them.

Earlier, both state and defence rejected the story of a Bronx carpenter who said he made a ladder for Bruno and two other men before the Landbergh baby was kidnapped law of seduction, citing the statutes from the time of William IV, through the reign of Queen Victoria and King Edward to the present day.

It was not necessary that there be proof of "acts of service," said counsel for the applicants. The right of a parent and master was sufficient. This was the law in Victorian times.

"It is perfectly good law today," commented Mr. Maclean.

The civil court action of Miss MacMillan, a young stenographer formerly an employee of the attorney-general's department here, was heard late in June. She, with her father as co-plaintiff, charged Mr. Brownlee, then premier with "enticement and sedu tion." The jury returned a verdict, finding seduction maintained, and awarded the girl $10,000 and her father $5000.

Mr. Justice Ives refused to record the jury's verdict, and in a judgment issued early in July dismissed the action for damages, and assessed court costs of approximately $2000 against the MacMillans.

THIL VICTOR

PARIS, Jan. 14 (CP cable via Reuters).—Marcel Thil of France successfully defended his European light heavyweight boxing title here tonight, defeating Jack McAvoy of Britain. Thil took a 15-round decision over the British challenger.

CUBS PLAY IN CITY TONIGHT

George Irvine's Vancouver Cubs will appear here tonight in an exhibition game against the Nelson Maple Leafs at 8:15. The Cubs are on the return trip, having completed a double header with Kimberley where they were beaten in both games. Considering the tiresome train ride the Cubs did well to hold Kimberley 8 to 3 in the first game and they made a much better showing in the second tilt, despite the score.

The locals are in fine shape for the game and all hands are ready to go. McKay, Haight, Atwell, McLeod, Whittles, Patterson, Stack, Culley Duckworth, O'Genski and Annable will comprise the lineup. And the ice will be in wonderful shape. There is now enough body to it to take on a white appearance and it is much easier to follow the puck.

This will be the Cubs' first game here and they are stated to be the pick of the coast players.

U.S. TREATY

tween the United States and Brazil, under negotiation for several months, practically was concluded.

NOT ALL-INCLUSIVE

All indications are that the Canadian-United States pact will not be an all-inclusive agreement covering all items in the commerce between the two nations but will be limited as much as possible to non-competitive products, or to products in which competition is at a minimum.

Liquor, now under a heavy duty, is understood to be one of the items on which concessions could be made with mutual benefit.

LEADING ITEMS

Leading items in United States exports to Canada are machinery, automobiles, iron and steel, coal, cotton goods, petroleum and gasoline, chemicals, and raw cotton, while the chief imports from Canada are newsprint, timber, wood pulp, nickel, copper, precious metals, cattle, chemicals, fish, asbestos, furs and wheat.

One of the chief obstacles—from the United States point of view—has been the Ottawa agreements of 1932 under which Canada granted Great Britain a specified margin of preferences on 215 out of 907 items in the Canadian tariff.

It is understood, however, that those preferences are not considered an unsurmountable barrier by officials of either country.

State department officials are confronted with the necessity of avoiding any concessions which would prove detrimental to the middle western states whose agricultural products are competitive with Canadian products.

NEGRO

fiendish slayings and furnished the basis for his cannibalism charge.

"Portion of human flesh, flesh," said Attorney Green, "salted and cured, and with what appeared to be teeth marks, have been found at Coyner's home."

Announcement of the discovery was made following a gruelling questioning of the negro in his cell in the mob-proof Hinds county jail where he was rushed after his arrest in Cleveland Saturday. Bolivar county authorities filed formal removal order permitting exhumation of the Turners bodies to compare missing portions with the flesh assertedly found in Coyner's home.

CANNIBALISM HINTED

Green hinted that cannibalism might be advanced as a possible motive for the gruesome slayings.

The bodies of Turner and his wife, an expectant mother, were found horribly mutilated in their small Bolivar county home the night of December 8.

A gun, an axe, and a knife were used by the slayer. The bodies were slashed, dismembered and strewn about the bedroom. Several portions of the bodies, officers said, were missing.

One of the slain couple's children was struck over the head and apparently left for dead. Another, sleeping in a crib, was unharmed.

Green said Coyner had been questioned concerning the unsolved mystery surrounding the discovery of the heads of four women in a trunk at Ferndale, Mich., eight years ago. The negro maintained a sullen silence.

MORE ABOUT

SAAR ROW

Saar voted for Germany. The final result is no longer in doubt."

Rumors trickling from the tabulating room in Wartburg hall in Saarbrucken said the victory of the German Nazi Front exceeded all predictions. The source placed the vote in favor of Germany at from 88 to 90 per cent.

REFUGEES LEAVE

SAARBRUCKEN, Saar Basin Territory, Jan. 14.—Refugees, fearful of Nazi vengeance, prepared tonight to evacuate the Saar in the face of an overwhelming German plebiscite victory.

An estimated 400 Jews already have left their homes, some taking residence at Luxembourg, and 150 others planning movement to Palestine.

(From Metz, France, came the report that a general Saar mine strike threatened as a result of the dismissal of a miner by the French administration).

A conclusive vote for Germany in the historic Saar plebiscite—possibly 80 or 90 per cent of the 500,000 total—was apparent to most spectators scanning tabulations with spy glasses from the balcony of Wartburg hall tonight.

During 2½ hours of tabulation in plain view of the world press and representatives of all factions, a "sampling" of ballot piles of 47 tables spread out below, seen through opera glasses, yielded an estimate that Germany was averaging 85 per cent, status quo about 14 per cent, and votes favoring union with France about one per cent.

40,000 REFUGEES

That the result of the vote was not held in doubt was indicated in advances from the French frontier that cities in that region had begun stocking up provisions for an influx of Saar refugees—opponents of the Hitler regime—as soon as the results of the plebiscite are officially announced at eight a.m. tomorrow (one a.m. C.S.T.)

These refugees are expected to number some 40,000, according to French estimates, and their absorption expected to add measurably to that nation's unemployment difficulties.

League of Nations officials said they feared everyone in the Saar would take tomorrow off to release pent up emotions. The Nazi trade unions issued orders that a holiday be observed tomorrow, and the schools will close. Settlements throughout the Saar were decked in flags in preparation for a monster celebration.

STOCKHOLM (CP) — Bridge building activity in Sweden is livelier than for many years. In Stockholm alone there have been completed or are under construction three large bridges. Outside the capital the number of new works has been large.
