ROOSEVELT SILENT ON REPORT HE MAY INCREASE PRICE OF SILVER

PRICE MAY BE PUT AT $1.19 AN OUNCE, DECLARES PITTMAN

Proposal Would Direct United States Mints to Accept Silver Bullion From Producers and Return Minted Coins to Them

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 (CP).—No word was issued today from the white house concerning the statement issued by Senator Key Pittman of Nevada, that President Roosevelt was considering a plan whereby the price of silver would be increased automatically to $1.19 an ounce.

If the plan was adopted, Mr. Pittman said, it would result in the biggest boom the west has seen in years.

He explained the proposal called for the president to issue an executive order directing United States mints to accept silver bullion from domestic producers and return minted coins to them, less about 10 cents an ounce for minting charges.

This would net the producer $1.19 an ounce, compared to the present price of 36⅝ cents.

VICTORIA, Sept. 11 (CP).—The scheme to peg silver at $1.19 per ounce, as advanced by Senator Key Pittman of Nevada, is of intense interest to British Columbia, which is producing more than 7,000,000 ounces per year despite the present price of between 36 and 37 cents. In 1929 British Columbia produced 9,918,000 ounces at a price around 52 cents an ounce, and in 1930 produced 11,389,171 with the price at 38 cents.

The Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company, Ltd., is the largest producer of silver, with an output last year of 4,500,000 ounces. Premier Gold Mining Co., Ltd., was second with 1,500,000 ounces.

Silver at 50 cents would result in the re-opening of small mines all over British Columbia. The Portland canal district in the north and the Kootenays in the southeast would be the greatest gainers, scores of silver-lead properties in these districts having been shut down for several years.

Growers Campaign Advances Further

VERNON, B. C., Sept. 11 (CP).—"The cent a pound or on the ground" campaign inaugurated at Kelowna on Wednesday, and forwarded at Penticton on Saturday was advanced a tremendous stride at a meeting attended by 400 growers and business men here tonight. The Kelowna resolution was submitted and approved here after it was stated that it would be followed up by the introduction of an agreement reached in the afternoon between Okanagan stabilization board shippers and members of the growers committee from Kelowna. This resolution presented a practical way of making effective the plan originally approved.

There was talk of effective action again those who attempt to balk the will of the growers and to market their fruit without agreeing to the terms approved.

President W. E. Haskins, fruit grower, and, president of the British Columbia Fruit Growers association said, "If it is necessary to use force I pledge you I will be the first one to use it."

Convicted as Spy

Corporal Ralph Osman, United States army and a native of Brooklyn, who was convicted by court-martial at Cristobal, C.Z., with espionage in connection with the secret military defences of the Panama canal. He was sentenced to two years at hard labor and fined $10,000.

HUNDREDS LINE RIVER FOR GOLD

Are Drawn to Okuwa by Reports of Findings, British Guiana

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana, Sept. 11 (AP)—Hundreds of gold seekers have encamped along the banks of the Okuwa river, drawn to the rugged "honey camp" area of British Guiana's hinterland by reports of extensive gold discoveries.

First news of the strike reaching the coast started a miniature stampede. Miners—old timers and amateurs alike—hastily packed their kits and boarded motor trucks and river boats in the dash for the working.

The last stragglers still were leaving when the first miner returned from the camp with a pocketful of dust and nuggets panned from the river silt. It was valued at $3000 by the registry office of the department of mines.

Fish Dies After Cataracts Are Removed From Eye

VANCOUVER, Sept. 11 (CP)—A. H. Peppar's pet fish is dead and its passing has cast a shadow of gloom over the Sunnyside fish hatchery he owns.

The fish, a rainbow trout, had attained a wide reputation. Peppar said it would come to the edge of the tank when he whistled and eat out of his hand. When music was played within earshot, it was wont to cavort about in the water.

Cataracts in one eye spelled its doom. Efforts to operate necessitated its removal from the water. The cataracts were finally removed but shortly after the pet was found dead in the tank. It was surmised taking the trout from the water had caused death.

Hundreds of Head of Livestock Die From Fouled Feed?

MOOSE JAW, Sept. 11 (CP).—Saskatchewan livestock commission today is investigating reports emanating from south-western Saskatchewan hundreds of horses and cattle are dead, dying or sick, as result of eating green feed, fouled by grasshoppers.

This condition is reported to prevail in an area several square miles in extent, south and west of here.

Mrs. Paul Smith and G. G. McGeer to Run on Liberal Tickets

VANCOUVER, Sept. 11 (CP).—Mrs. Paul Smith, chairman of the Vancouver school board, and G. G. McGeer, K.C., were nominated tonight by the Liberals of Vancouver Burrard riding as candidates in the provincial election, being chosen by acclamation.

Two other names were submitted, Thomas Braidwood and Dr. Dan McLellan, but both declined to stand.

20 PICKETS GUARD BRIDGE NEAR KELOWNA

Growers Allow Only Fruit Intended for Signed Packers to Pass

SEVERAL ROADS ALSO PICKETED

Take Own Initiative; Unsigned Shippers Are in Difficulty

KELOWNA, B.C., Sept. 11 (CP).—A real strike has opened in Kelowna. Twenty pickets were reported today to be stationed on the K. L. O. bridge, over which fruit from a large area in the Kelowna district comes to the packing-houses. Fruit is being allowed to pass only if it is intended for the packing houses that have signed up in the stabilization board. A number of the roads leading to Kelowna from orchard areas are also being picketed.

The growers are doing this on their own initiative. A new language is coming into use in this peaceful valley. Strikes, boycotts and picketing were vaguely hinted at the end of last week. On Sunday they were openly mentioned, and today they were put into effect.

FOUR REFUSE

In Kelowna four shippers will refuse to sign the stabilization board agreement. The growers are determinted that this four shall come into line, making the board nearly 100 per cent strong. A dead set is being made on those shippers today. If they refuse to join the stabilization movement it is planned to darken their plants. Pickets will hold the entrance to the unloading

WILL CONSIDER STRIKE BALLOT SEPTEMBER 20

General Chairmen of the Running Trades Will Meet Then

TEST CASES SLATED FOR NOVA SCOTIA

Gordon Announces Appointment of Cousineau as Board Chairman

MONTREAL, Sept. 11 (CP)—On September 20 the general chairmen of the railway running trades will gather here to consider the result of the strike ballot which is now being taken among the organization's coast membership, it was learned here today. Actions, however, may not be taken immediately.

It has already been intimated the running trades are prepared to wait until the other sections of railroad labor have further advanced their negotiations with the railway companies over the disputed additional 10 per cent cut in wages before taking any action on the strike ballot, whether favorable or unfavorable to the proposed strike.

The newly formed Cooperative association, representative of all sections of railway labor, will also meet at about the same time as the running trades and it is understood the bodies will jointly decide what action is to be taken on the basis of the strike ballot result.

TEST CASES

Meanwhile, the fight against the most recent railway wage cut which brought to 20 per cent the reduction in the basic wage, was advanced to a further stage by the announcement from the running trades that test cases to determine the legal validity of the second cut would be launched in Nova Scotia. And in Ottawa, Hon. Wesley Gordon, minister of labor, announced the appointment of Judge Lewis Cousineau, of the Montreal superior court, as chairman of the conciliation board to hear the case between the Canadian National railways and Canadian Brotherhood of Railroad Employees. The two other members of the board are F. Curzon Dobell, Montreal, and Rev. Russell McGillivray, Ottawa.

HAVANA, Sept. 11 (AP)—President Grau San Martin tonight told Col. Horacio Ferrer that the army and navy officers in practical rebellion at the Hotel National must come to terms with the new government within 24 or 36 hours.

Ferrer, secretary of the war and the navy in the regime of Carlos Manuel de Cespedes—ousted by a radical junta of five which gave way to Grau San Martin, has acted as representative for the officers several times.

He formally presented a demand to the junta that it step down to make way for the return of de Cespedes last week. The junta refused to do so.

SEVEN THIRD CLASS CITIES PRESENT A JOINT BRIEF TO HARPER ROYAL COMMISSION

Show Loss of Liquor Revenue Plus New Social Service Imposts Hits Trail 8.5 Mills, Nelson 5.62; Others Worse

MEANS CURTAILMENT OF SERVICE; LANDS REVERT FOR NON-PAYMENT

Brief Urges Municipalities Be Given Beer Licences and Share of Liquor Profits, Gasoline, Amusement and Income Taxes

In a joint brief submitted Monday to the provincial royal commission on municipal finance, the Kootenay cities of Trail, Nelson, Rossland, Kaslo, Cranbrook, Grand Forks, and Fernie, made out what Judge A. M. Harper, chairman of the commission characterized as "an impressive case," for either relief from some of their new burdens, or for assistance fom provincial revenues in bearing them.

That the withdrawal of the grants from liquor profits and the imposition of social service burdens to an onerous extent had made the position of the Kootenay municipalities most difficult, and was forcing them to retrench in necessary public service, was set forth in the brief, and it was pointed out that Trail's handicap from these conditions was equivalent to 8.5 mills on all taxable property, while Nelson's disability was placed at 5.62 mills.

A very large increase in school costs in the last couple of decades without proportionate gain in grants was also given as a factor in making conditions difficult.

It was suggested that the municipalities were entitled to have all the revenue from beer licences within their borders and to share in the liquor profits; and to share in the gasoline tax, the amusement tax, and the income tax.

The province, it was suggested, might also benefit its revenues by legislative and administrative retrenchment, and by an increment tax on sales of real property, or alternatively, a straight tax on property sales, though the latter was admitted to be less desirable, as it would not distinguish between the man who sold at a profit and one who sold at a loss.

REDUCED FREIGHT RATE ON APPLES GOES INTO EFFECT

VANCOUVER, Sept. 11 (CP).—Reduced freight rates on apple shipments from the Okanagan valley district of British Columbia to eastern points recently announced by the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific railways became effective today.

On shipments to eastern Canada the reduction is 25 cents per 100 pounds, and to stations in Ontario west of Fort William and Armstrong and the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the rate is 18 cents per 100 pounds below the scale formerly prevailing.

The new rates in effect until May 31 next year are expected to greatly assist apple growers in marketing their fruit.

Believe Alleged Forgers Cashed Check in Nelson

Albert Woods and W. H. Stark, arrested at Wenatchee, Wash., on forgery charges, are believed to be two of a party of four men who passed through Nelson September 6 and passed a spurious check at the L. D. Cafe for $50, according to Chief of Police Alex Stewart. The check drawn on a bank at the coast was certified, but on being sent to the coast, was returned.

The four men appeared about half past eight at night and had a meal. One of the men stated, when they were through, he did not have enough money to pay for the meals, but asked the employee at the till if he could cash a $50 check. The check was cashed and the holder signed his name as S. S. McKeen.

YUKON PIONEER DIES

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C., Sept. 11 (CP).—Word was received here today of the death at Ocean Falls of Charles Haocker, 83, veteran of the Confederate army in the United States civil war and an early pioneer in the Yukon.

GASOLINE UP CENT NELSON

Attributed to the Roosevelt National Recovery act and the higher cost of manufacturing resulting through the advance in wages, gasoline prices have been raised through a greater part of Canada.

At Nelson Monday gasoline prices were boosted another cent. Standard brands of gasoline are now 39 cents a gallon and the higher grades 41 cents. Two weeks ago a two-cent rise occurred at Toronto.

SIGNS OF BETTER TIMES

Sees Signs of Improvement

WINNIPEG, Sept. 11 (CP).—Signs of improvement are apparent and recent developments would seem to indicate there is some prospect for a business recovery, J. A. Acheson, of Winnipeg, national present of the Canadian Credit Men's Trust association, told members of the association in annual meeting here tonight.

"There are some tangible evidences of betterment," said Mr. Acheson. Past predictions that the turning point was at hand had been based purely upon hope or a form of negative optimism, he said. Today there was a difference, though there are barriers yet to be surmounted if recovery is to be sound or of long duration.

Joint Railway Revenues Higher

MONTREAL, Sept. 11 (CP)—Gross revenues of the all-inclusive Canadian National railways for the week ended September 7, were $2,949,343 compared with $2,877,874 for the corresponding period of 1932, an increase of $271,467.

Sir Leo Money Is Fined for Kissing Young Girl

EPSOM, Eng., Sept. 11 (AP)—Sir Leo Chiozza Money, fellow of the Royal Statistical society, fellow of the Royal Geographical society, eminent economist and former member of parliament, was fined £2 10s ($11.75 Canadian funds) today for annoying a young lady by kissing her.

Sir Leo said he would appeal, and departed from the police court. Outside a crowd received him with hoots and boos. Police protected him.

The complainant, Miss Ivy Ruxton, testified the kissing occurred a month ago in a compartment of a Southern railway car. She asserted the 63-year-old Sir Leo said: "I'm old enough to be your papa," and she replied: "If you are a gentleman you will leave me alone."

The economist, the prosecution informed the court, seized the girl in his arms, kissing her repeatedly, and she was forced to leave the train at the next station.

He kissed her "quite a lot," she testified, and "it was done quite harshly."

Sir Leo denied doing anything out of the way, averring he merely kissed Miss Ruxton's hand sympathetically after she had told him some of her troubles. Under cross-examination he admitted that 20 minutes after he had seen her for the first time in his life he was kissing her hands.

The defendant, who is married, has held numerous government positions, has written on various economic problems, and is the author of "The Immortal Purpose, and Other Poems" and "Sonnets of Life."

A charge of improper conduct in Hyde park against Sir Leo Chiozza Money and Miss Irene Savage was dismissed in the Marlsborough street police court of London in May, 1928, the judge in addition assessing the costs against the police.

Later the house of commons investigated the case after charges were made that third degree methods had been employed in the treatment of Miss Savage.

UNION ADVOCATES PROCEED TO DRAFT THEIR PLATFORM

Will Be Issued Later in Week; Leader Question Left Open

VANCOUVER, Sept. 11 (CP)—Union government advocates, having agreed to unite and leave the question of permanent leadership open, proceeded today with the drafting of a platform which will be issued later in the week. This document is being prepared at conferences between leaders of the movement in Vancouver.

Prominent among those taking part in the drafting of the patform are W. J. Bowser, K.C., R. W. Bruhn, W. A. MacKenzie, Dugald Donaghy, G. A. Walkem and William Dick. Before the document is issued, it is understood, it will be submitted to all candidates who are supporting the new union government.

It will set the general aims on which all are agreed, particularly the matter of a union of forces.

The union group finds itself with a number of candidates nominated. It is believed practically every constituency will be contested with full slates in Vancouver and Victoria. Conventions will probably be called shortly in constituencies where no candidates have been named.

Among those mentioned as likely to carry the colors of the union group are:

Mr. Bowser in Vancouver and Victoria; Mr. Bruhn in Salmon Arm; Dugald Donaghy in Vancouver; Reginald Hayward in Victoria; Dr. G. A. B. Hall, in Nanaimo; W. A. McKenzie, former minister of mines; William Dick and G. A. Walkem in Vancouver; Jack Loutet in North Vancouver; Reeve R. M. Grauer in Delta; Col. W. W. Foster in the islands; E. C. Carson in Lillooet; T. A. Love in Grand Forks, Greenwood; Capt. James Fitzsimmons in Kaslo-Slocan; C. F. Davie in Cowichan-Newcastle; James Elrick in Esquimalt; Reeve William Crouch in Saanich; A. G. Cameron in Trail-Rossland; D. A. Stoddard in Cariboo; Dr. R. W. Alward in Fort George; Capt. John McGregor, V.C., in Mackenzie, R. H. Helmer in Yale; and Samuel Crocker in Omineca.

B.C. RETURNING OFFICERS WILL BE ISSUED ELECTION WRITS THIS WEEK

VICTORIA, Sept. 11—Writs of election will be issued to returning officers in all ridings of British Columbia this week. Thirty-nine returning officers, who will supervise the election of 47 members, will be appointed by the cabinet at its meeting Tuesday. Names of the returning officers were recommended by N. S. Lougheed, the government's political organizer since the local Conservative associations which ordinarily would make these recommendations are taking no part in the election.

Prospective candidates in Vancouver and Victoria were warned by election officials today that they must state in their nomination what party or interests they are supporting. Under a curious clause in the election act, the ballots in the two largest cities must carry beside each candidate's name the name of his party, or he may call himself an Independent. The rule does not apply in any other riding. It was adopted to avoid confusion in the two chief voting centers where candidates are most numerous.

The work of arranging the polls directed by P. D. Walker, deputy provincial secretary, is well under way now.

Today's Odd News Breaks

Dog Howls Unless Light Shines on Grave

CHUDLEIGH, Ont., Sept. 11 (CP)—Every night a light burns here on the grave of Mike Dwyer's dog, killed by a train five years ago. The reason for the light is to appease a son of the dead dog which will howl throughout the night unless the light is set out.

Game Overseer Gooderham, who visited here last week and observed the actions of the dog with the light off and on the grave, confirms the story. The grave has been adorned with flowers each summer and the light has been set out faithfully every night since shortly after the death of the parent dog. This practice will be continued as long as the son lives.

Leap of 250 Feet For Fun Is Fatal

NEW YORK, Sept. 11 (CP)—The Hudson river was searched today for Dan Capone, who died in a stunt leap from the George Washington bridge.

Capone, a beer parlor owner in Mt. Vernon, N.Y., by profession and a daredevil by choice, stripped off his clothes yesterday on the great span, 250 feet above the water. He tossed the clothes gaily down toward a friend waiting in a boat and, clad in a bathing suit, jumped.

His body shot down, head foremost. Then it somersaulted and he struck the water flat on his back. Observers believe his spine was broken.

He had previously made leaps from Brooklyn bridge and London bridge —just for fun.

Kills Bull With a Razor

LISBON, Portugal, Sept. 11 (AP)—Ten bulls broke loose today in the annual summer festival, injuring 20 persons, three of them probably fatally.

The bulls smashed articles in china shops, fancy stalls and cafes, and wrecked the band stand. A barber killed one bull with a razor and the others were rounded up.

Rescues His Wife and Infant Daughter From Submerged Car

EDMONTON, Sept. 11 (CP)—Diving fully clothed into the Sturgeon river, near Namao, W. E. Smith, Edmonton insurance man, rescued his wife, Elsie, and 20-months-old daughter, Grace, trapped in the Smith car when it plunged over a 15-foot embankment into six and a half feet of water. Mother and daughter were unconscious when they were brought to the surface and were revived by artificial respiration.

The machine plunged backward into the water when Mrs. Smith, in the absence of her husband, attempted to move the car under the shade of trees. Shouts from her 7-year-old son, Robert, attracted Mr. Smith who was 100 yards away at the time.

When Mr. Smith reached the spot where the car had plunged into the water he was able to fix the location by bubbles coming to the surface. Under the water he opened a door, got his daughter to the shore, and then went back for his wife. He grasped her by the hair and pulled her to the surface.

TOLMIE ADDS LIBERAL TO HIS CABINET

William Savage Sworn in as Minister of Public Works

VICTORIA, Sept. 11 (CP).—Premier Tolmie added a Liberal to his unionist cabinet this evening in the person of William Savage, Vancouver barrister, and former head of the British Columbia Prohibition association, who was sworn in as minister of public works before Hon. J. W. Fordham Johnson at 6 o'clock. Hon. R. H. Pooley, K.C., remains in the cabinet as attorney general, relinquishing the works portfolio provisionally held by himself. The premier repeated an appeal for a union of political efforts in the best interest of the province and said the question of leadership could remain open for the decision after the election, into which he will lead the government forces in person.

Premier Tolmie issued a long statement this evening, quoting a story in a Vancouver paper on September 9 to the effect that W. J. Bowser, K.C., former Conservative premier had stepped down as leader of the Non-Partizan party and left the leadership to be decided after November 2 in the event Independents held control of the next house.

"I am pleased," he added, "to find that according to the above quotation Mr. Bowser and the Independents have arrived at the position I took over a year ago."

The premier then cited his previous statements advocating union government and added:

"On several occasions since then I have reiterated my position in this respect and I do this once more. ***"

"In order to bring my plan to having a government composed of a union of these men who think as I do,  I intend to conduct the affairs of the province through the forthcoming election.

"Immediately that election is over I will invite all the elected members who are in favor of setting aside party politics, to meet together in order to select a leader. If that leader should be other than myself and has a reasonable possibility of being able to form a government, I shall recommend him to the lieutenant governor as the next premier of British Columbia."

Last of Balloonists Are Found in Ontario

SUDBURY, Ont., Sept. 11 (CP).—Ward T. Van Orman, one of the foremost balloonists in United States was safe in the northern Ontario backwoods tonight because he knew the answer when the going was tough. Van Orman and his co-pilot of the Goodyear XI, Frank Trotter, will head back to civilization tomorrow.

Lost for a week in the wooded country north of here, clothes in tatters from the thick bush and shoes scarcely holding to their feet, Van Orman and Trotter reached the British Canyon power line, 50 miles north of here, yesterday. There was no way to tap the wire and bring help but the experienced Van Orman knew another way—he cut the wire.

Today Jim Barrett, repairman, went out to fix the breakdown on the line and he found the missing crew of the Goodyear XI—just as Van Orman figured he would. Barrett was just in time. The balloonists on their feet since their bag crashed down on a giant pine tree on Sept. 3, had little food and little strength.

Last entrants in the International Gordon Bennett race that started from Chicago Sept. 2 to be found, Van Orman and Trotter rested in a woodcutter's camp tonight. Both suffered a touch of ptomaine poisoning and were ill during several days of their march through the brushy hinterland.

"NOT CONSTIPATED FOR SEVEN WEEKS"

Writes Mrs. Johnson After Using Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Sufferers from constipation will be interested in this unsolicited letter:

"Your ALL-BRAN surely relieves constipation. I am so glad over the good it has done me that I feel I must write and tell you of it.

"For lunch I take a banana, a large one. Six tablespoons of ALL-BRAN in a sauce dish, and dip banana at each bite until all is consumed. I haven't been constipated now for seven weeks."—Mrs. Louise Johnson. (Address furnished upon request.)

Constipation often causes headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sleeplessness. This condition is usually due to lack of "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to further promote regular habits. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN has both, as well as iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. Within the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears out the wastes.

Try ALL-BRAN in place of patent medicines—often harmful. Two tablespoonfuls daily will overcome most types of constipation. Chronic cases, with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Use as a cereal, or in cooking. Recipes on the red-and-green package. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

OTTAWA, Sept. 11 (CP).—A crop report issued today by the Dominion bureau of statistics told how devastating had been the effect of the drought and armies of grasshoppers on Canada's wheat crop. The report estimated this year's crop for the entire Dominion at 282,771,000 bushels.

Last year the crop was 428,514,000 and the year before 321,325,000 bushels. The high record was in 1928 when, with fewer acres under wheat than this year, a harvest of 566,726,000 bushels was garnered. Not since 1924 had the crop fallen below 300,000,000. The total that season was 262,097,000. Even that year, acre for acre, the yield was better than that estimated for 1933. The average yield in 1924 was 11.9 bushels to the acre. This year's estimate is 10.9 in 1928 the yield was 23.5 bushels per acre.

Hospitalization Plan Turned Down

Trail Hospital Asks Different Terms for City Employees

TRAIL, B.C., Sept. 11—Regarding hospitalization of members of the city staff the council received a letter Monday night from J. R. McLennan, secretary-treasurer of the Trail-Tadanac hospital board.

The feeling of the board was that it would not be desirable to enter into a fixed contract similar to that covering smelter employees. The type of contract would have to be of central funds, which at the present time, covers the hospitalization of company employee dependents.

The board recommended organization of a central fund but would be unable to accord the same scale of charges as are at present in force with C. M. & S. company employees' dependents, as certain reductions were made in that particular case for which the hospital is reimbursed by the company.

The letter was laid on the table for further consideration.

CANZONERI MEETS ROSS TONIGHT

By EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 11 (AP)—Barney Ross, sturdy, swift little Jewish fellow from the battle lands of Chicago, swings into action tomorrow night with the superstitious citizens of the boxing world pointing warning fingers at him.

Barney will tackle Tony Canzoneri, the brilliant Italian boy, a bit shopworn now after eight years of warfare, but made more dangerous than ever by the rancor that has gripped him since June 23 when he lost the championship to Ross in a 10-round bout he thought he had won easily in Chicago. It's Ross' first test over the 15-round route.

Expectations are a crowd of 30,000 will pay better than $100,000 at the gate to see the duel.

Hyperion Favorite in St. Leger Stakes

LANDON, Sept. 11 (CP cable)—Turf enthusiasts today had installed Hyperion, Lord Derby's young colt who won the derby earlier in the summer, as firm favorite to win the historic St. Leger stakes at Doncaster on Wednesday. The race completes the trio of great races of the English racing season for three-year-olds.

In the latest call-over the chestnut colt by Gainsborough out of Selene was quoted at 7 to 4 and comparatively little support was accorded the other 18 probable starters.

Lord Durham's Scarlet Tiger has displaced Marcel Boussac's Thor as second favorite. Scarlet Tiger today was at 8 to 1 while the dangerous French rival was at 100 to 12. King Salmon, Lord Carnarvon's bay colt who ran second to Hyperion in the derby, was fourth choice at 100 to 9.

The ship was believed to be the Brandon, which already has made one trip over the far-northern grain route this season.

MORE ABOUT SILVER

told a chamber of commerce luncheon audience here today that the silver agreement adopted by the London economic conference paved the way for the United States to take the initiative for remonetization of silver.

The chairman of the senate foreign relations committee and delegate to the London conference stopped here en route to Washington, where he will press his proposals that the president authorize the acceptance of newly-mined silver by United States mints and its return to owners in the form of coins, less a charge for minting.

If the president lacks this power, Senator Pittman predicted that legislation for remonetization of silver will be adopted during the first 30 days of the session of congress convening next January.

World recognition of the principle that silver "is to be considered from the monetary standpoint as money," as gained through the adoption of the silver resolution at the London economic conference, "should remove the obstacles, should remove the fear of world dumping of silver in the United States, which have prevented the United States from taking the initiative of remonetization of silver," Pittman said.

Hold Poulain on Charge of Murder

Charged With "Unlawfully Slaying Douglass Syme"

NANAIMO, Sept. 11—Louis Poulain of Ladysmith, charged with the murder of Douglas Syme, native son of Ladysmith, on September 7 is in jail here.

When the charge of "unlawfully slaying Douglas Syme" was read to him at the time of his arrest, he is alleged to have replied to Constable Byatt and Sergeant Russell of Nanaimo, "What—unlawfully," and surrendered quietly.

Syme's death, according to a statement given to police by the accused, followed a party held at Poulain's home, at which the late Douglas Syme, Ivy Holan, A. Lavendusky, Roy Walker and Mr. and Mrs. Poulain were present, and at which two quarts of wine were consumed.

The crowd had met previously in the Pretoria hotel beer parlor on First avenue, where they had a few rounds of beer.

They made a second trip to the beer parlor from Poulain's house after the wine was gone, Syme accompanying them as far as French street, and then turned back.

BREAK INTO ROOM

Soon afterward Poulain's young son rushed into the beer parlor and told his father that Syme was trying to break into the room of his sisters, aged 12 and 13.

Poulain said he then left the beer parlor and hurried toward his home. He met Syme outside his house and asked him what he was trying to pull off, or something to that effect, and ordered him off the property.

Syme had replied, "alright, I'm not looking for trouble."

Syme, according to Poulain, started to walk away, and after going 20 yards, accused saw him stagger and fall.

Mrs. Poulain, then appeared with the boy, who had taken the message to the beer parlor.

She found Syme lying on the road.

PERMIT EVANS TO CONDUCT OWN DEFENCE

Is Charged With Advocating Overthrow of Government

VERNON, B.C., Sept. 11 (CP).—Arthur H. Evans was given permission to conduct his own defence by Mr. Justice W. A. Macdonald when his trial opened today on a charge of advocating overthrow of government by force last fall at Penticton.

Police Corporal W. J. Thompson, crown witness, testified that Evans had addressed a number of Princeton miners and according to Thompson's notes, Evans advocated overthrow of capitalistic government and replacing it with a proletariat form.

At another meeting Evans was quoted to have said, "We got to have communism and we are going to have it here," and "instead of teaching our children to sing 'God Save the King' they should sing 'God Save Our Class'."

That Evans stated at a Princeton meeting he was not a member of the Communist party was testified by Corporal Thompson, but on Evan's cross examination he could not explain why this charge had been placed against him in a subsequent arrest.

Feeling was intense at times between Corporal Thompson and Evans during the latter's cross-examination. At one time his lordship cautioned the accused to restrain himself.

Members and sympathizers of the Canadian Labor Defence league and other organizations wearing red and white badges were among the crowd present. Evans' friends have been congregating in Vernon for several days.

VERNON, B.C., Sept. 11 (CP).—At this afternoon's hearing in assize court here during the trial of Arthur Evans, charged under the criminal code of advocating overthrow of government by force, the accused declared that he was a candidate for the legislature in the coming provincial election and this proved that he believed in the use of the ballot box and not force to change the form of government.

G. D. Duncan, provincial sergeant, said he had attended three meetings held by Evans at Princeton last fall when statements on which the charge against the accused are based, are alleged to have been made. Duncan testified that Evans was emphatic in his statements that only by fighting could the laboring man bring about reform, but he could not swear that Evans in his hearing advocated using force against property or individuals.

The trial is continuing.

DID NOT ADVOCATE FORCE

William H. Thompson, corporal of British Columbia police at Princeton, declared Evans came to Princeton principally to make trouble, that he advocated the overthrow of capitalism and the setting up of a Communistic state, which, he said, was the only salvation for workers. On being questioned closely by the accused, Corporal Thompson admitted that Evans did not advocate at any of his meetings that force be used to keep non-striking workers from the Princeton mines, to obtain government relief, or against property or individuals.

F. G. Hatherill, constable British Columbia police at Princeton, said Evans stated at one meeting that if no relief was forthcoming then the workers would have "to take over the blinking state" and run it themselves. He denied clubbing men in a street disturbance at Princeton December 3.

TRAIL MAN ASKS FOR TAX REFUND

TRAIL, B.C., Sept. 11—Demand of Louis Platt through a letter received from Donald McDonald, solicitors, for a refund of $21, which amount had been collected by the city for pole and road tax over a period of three years, was not accepted by the council Monday night with good feeling. Platt asked for the refund as he lives outside the city limits and was entitled to it. It was brought out, however, that Platt was given about three months relief work purely out of sympathy as he was not a resident of the city. The matter was referred to City Solicitor R. J. Clegg.

RESUME FIVE GAME SERIES

With the count standing at a win for each team, the Maulers and Fairview Athletic club will resume their five game series for the local intermediate title on Wednesday afternoon. The Maulers after losing the first game of the series, made a great comeback in the second game by staging a last inning rally to come from behind and tie up the series.

Steve Smith, who has not appeared in the first two games, will play for the Fairview nine. Mark Crahan will also play the balance of the series for the Maulers.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE IS SUBJECT OF JAMES G. ROWELL IN CITY

Is "Religion of Scientific Trust in God," He States

James G. Rowell, C. S., of Kansas City, Mo., delivered a lecture Monday evening in the Christian Science church, Nelson, on "Christian Science: a Religion of Scientific Trust in God." Mr. Rowell is a member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass. In the course of his lecture he said:

SPIRITUAL UNDERSTANDING NECESSARY

Trust even in God, to be scientific, must be honest. Mrs. Eddy says that honesty is the basis of spiritual power. If one is puzzled to know why certain problems have not been solved, let him examine himself. A friend who had labored in Christian Science to help a dear old lady finally brought to light that, although she had turned to God for healing, she still clung in thought to a certain remedy that she might use in case Christian Science failed to heal her. Mrs. Eddy warns us against a faith divided between "catnip and Christ" (Miscellaneous Writings, p. 52). Only radical reliance on Truth brings healing. When it was pointed out to the woman that her allegiance was divided and that healing depended upon trusting God completely, she was healed, for she took her stand for one infinite, divine power, undivided and supreme. Mrs. Eddy says: "Divine Mind rightly demands man's entire obedience, affection, and strength. No reservation is made for any lesser loyalty" (Science and Health, p. 183).

Many times we think that we are honest when stress of circumstances would quickly prove us otherwise. The story of Tom will illustrate this point. Tom was lowly born, grew up on the street, and drifted into drinking, gambling, and much sin, from which he was rescued by some good friends and induced to come to church. He became greatly interested in the minister and began, not scientifically, but blindly, to trust God in prayer. One day he came to the minister much disturbed and confused, and confessed that he had lost faith in prayer. He said that he had been praying a long time for something and that his prayers still remained unanswered. At length it came out. Tom had been praying for ten thousand dollars. He had allowed plenty of time and yet he had not received the money. Tom related how he had planned to spend this large sum. He wanted to paint the church—it needed it. He wanted to add materially to the minister's salary—the minister also needed it. He mentioned many other helpful ways in which he would like to spend the money, last but not least of which was to buy a modest home for his faithful wife. All of these proposed ways of spending the money, when he got it, seemed legitimate and right to Tom and yet his prayer had not been answered. The minister encouraged him to persist. Meeting him perhaps a week later—on Derby day (for this happened in Kentucky)—the minister saw that Tom was very much excited. In such a hurry was he that they had hardly time to exchange words as Tom climbed aboard the street car bound for the fair grounds. The minister said, "Tom, what would you do if you had that ten thousand dollars this morning?" Without a moment's hesitation the answer came, "I'd buy that pacer of George Smith's, the finest little mare in all Kentucky." After the laugh had subsided in the church where the minister was relating this story, he added thoughtfully, "The Lord must have known all the time, that's why He hadn't answered Tom's prayer."—Mrs. L. F. Richardson introduced the lecturer.

In the light of Christian Science, Tom's prayer is seen to be lacking in honesty. Doubtless Tom thought he wanted to do all those gracious selfless things. When pressed by temptation, however, his inmost desire was revealed. He really wanted "the finest little mare in all Kentucky." "Honesty," Mrs. Eddy tells us, is spiritual power" (Science and Health, p. 453). With what hidden mental reservations do we pray? Do our prayers lack honesty? Is that the reason why some of them are not answered? Are we praying for well bodies instead of deeply desiring to be healed of malice and hate and of many ugly traits of character? Do we want well bodies that we may enjoy the pleasures of the senses a little longer? Do we pray for prosperity that we may buy furs and diamonds and automobiles—and perhaps "the finest little mare in all Kentucky"?

It may be helpful right here to examine Tom's prayer a little more closely, for Christian Science teaches that righteous prayer is always answered. Tom's prayer was found lacking in honesty. What else, if anything, was wrong with it? In the first place, Tom probably thought of God as a grand but nebulous being in a far-away place called heaven—one who heard or not, just as He pleased, the prayers which suppliant mortals addressed to Him. Tom had no concept of God as divine Principle, "with whom is no variableness, neither shadow of turning," as the Bible teaches. He did not know that God could not do otherwise than answer righteous prayer—that whether prayer is answered or not depends upon the quality of the prayer. He did not realize that God had already bestowed all good upon men, else he would not have implored God for what was already his through the law of reflection. If Tom had been a Christian Scientist, he would never have petitioned God for ten thousand dollars. He would have known better—not that God's abundance of right ideas may not be appreciable to men in terms of what they call money. But Tom would have known that Christian Science teaches that righteous prayers are not for things, specifically outlined, as if one had to tell the all-knowing how to bless His children. Christian Scientists pray, if they expect their prayers to be answered, not for things, but for wisdom and light with which to be able to grasp and to use some of the unlimited riches with which their creator has endowed man. Having examined Tom's prayer just this far, one sees that there are many reasons why Tom did not receive the ten thousand dollars besides the one which is so obvious, that he wouldn't have spent it wisely had he received it.

A loving, faithful Christian Science practitioner was once complimented by a caller on the splendid financial demonstration she and her husband had made. The practitioner expressed great surprise. "Financial demonstration!" she repeated, "why, I have never thought of such a thing as our trying to make a financial demonstration for ourselves, and if my husband has, he has never spoken of it to me. We have both been busy trying to be as helpful to as many people as our love for humanity drew to us and divine Love has taken good care of us—that is all." A great many people are spending time and mental energy in an effort to make what they call a financial demonstration, who would be more profitably employed in less selfish, more loving thinking and service for their fellow men. God has already bestowed all upon His children, and this all of good is ever available through His law of reflection. Suggestions of lack should not be ignored, of course, but should be destroyed on the basis of God's allness. To "forget self in laboring for mankind" (Miscellaneous Writings, p. 155) is a sure way to prove God's abundance.

"MARY FAITH"

By BEATRICE BURTON

CHAPTER TWENTY-EIGHT

About a week later Claire popped in one afternoon on her way home from downtown. "Popped in" was the only way to describe the way she came rushing into the flat with her bracelets jingling and the white-tipped tails of her silver fox scarf swaying.

"I can't stay two minutes," she said breathlessly. "I just wanted to bring the baby in a little present. It's a cup and I have his name engraved on it. There's been enough arguments about naming him so his Aunt Claire just settled it by having 'Kim' put on the cup."

There has been a great deal of discussion about the baby's name. Mary Faith and Mrs. Farrell wanted him named Kimberley, of course. Every boy ought to have his father's name, they maintained. But Kim was for something plain and short and solid, like John or Bill.

"There ought to be a law against hanging names like Kimberley and Livingston and Percival on boys," he had told them. "When I was a kid I used to have to fight in the schoolyard about once a week with somebody or other who'd make fun of my name."

Mary Faith took the cup out of its white pasteboard box as soon as Claire had gone. It was made of hammered silver and it had two little round handles. On one side of it was engraved: "For little Kim from his Aunt Claire."

"I wonder where his Uncle Jack comes in," Mrs. Farrell said dryly, as she looked at it. "I suppose he just pays the bill, eh?"

That night at dinner she told Kim about the cup.

"Your friend, Mrs Maldon, brought the baby a present today," she said, making a face as if the beef broth she was drinking was very bitter. "She brought him a cup—and he's not able to hold his own bottle yet! Why didn't she bring him a carriage cover or something useful, I'd like to know.—My, but I do dislike that woman!"

"I saw a cup the other day that I'd have liked to buy for the baby, myself," said Kim. "It had two handles, to make it easy to hold, and the silver that it was made of was hammered so that it wouldn't show any dents even if the baby did throw it on the floor.—Babies do throw everything on the floor, don't they, when they're peeved?"

Neither Mary Faith nor his mother answered him. They were staring at each other across the table.

Kim looked from one to the other of them.

"What's the matter with you two?" he asked.

Mairy Faith got up and opened the top drawer of the sideboard. From it she took the white box. She set it down before him on the the table and opened it. Within it was the little two-handled cup of hammered silver.

She lifted it out without saying a word and set it on the tablecloth.

He began to laugh. "Well, I'll be doggoned," he said. "You've got me wit hthe goods this time, haven't you?—Let me tell you both what happened; I was walking down Spring Street the other day and whom should I run into but Claire. She was on her way to the Pig'n' Whistle to get a bite of lunch and so was I. So we went there together, and afterward we were looking into Armbruster's window and we saw this little cup. She must have gone in after I left her and bought it."

He picked it up and put it back into the box.

"I suppose I ought to have said something about it," his voice ran on, "but I forgot all about it. After all it wasn't anything to remember, was it?—Having lunch with the wife of one of your friends? We thought Jack might join us there. He eats lunch there himself almost every day."

He raised his eyes and looked across the table at Mary Faith.

"You aren't sore, are you?"

"Why of course not, Kim. Why would I be angry?—You have a perfect right to have lunch with Claire if you want to."

And then they began to talk about something else and the matter of the cup was forgotten.

But the next morning Mrs. Farrell brought it up again while she watched Mary Faith washing out the baby's little flannels in the bathroom bowl.

"I wouldn't trust that Mrs. Maldon any farther than I could throw an elephant by the tail," she remarked from her seat on the rim of the bathtub. "I wouldn't be surprised to find out that she had asked Kimberley to take her to lunch. You take a woman like that, who has a lot of time on her hands, and nine times out of ten she's just the kind that goes around having love affairs with her husband's friends or with any other good-looking man that she takes a fancy to."

Mary Faith shook her dark glossy head as she wrung the baby's little nightgowns out of the fluffy soap suds.

"I'm not worrying about Claire Maldon, Mother Farrell," she answered, "or about any other woman these days. Why Kim's home before six almost every night and he's as settled and as sober as a judge lately. I don't believe he has anything but business on his mind."

On the first of April the firm gave him a salary raise of ten dollars a week.

"Seventy smackers now for you two to throw around every week of your lives!" he told his mother and Mary Faith when he came home with the news. "That ought to buy the baby shoes every now and then, eh what?" He twinkled with satisfaction and pride.

"Or some new clothes for me and Mary Faith," said his mother. "We're like a couple of scarecrows."

"Yes, but we hardly ever go out—and when we do we go in the car and nobody sees us. It's Kim who needs new clothes right now. His spring overcoat is faded and worn around the cuffs and pockets—and appearance is everything to a man. He must look successful or he never gets anywhere in his work," Mary Faith put in. "So I think Kim ought to get himself a new overcoat before the rest of us even think of new clothes."

But the next week Mrs. Farrell went downtown on a shopping trip and came home with a new hat of king's blue felt that brought out all the hollows and shadows of her face.

"I took five dollars out of the housekeeping money and bought myself this hat," she confessed to Mary Faith when she came home. "I had to go up to see Dr. Thatcher and I hated to go in that gray hat of mine. I've worn that hat every time I've gone up there for the last three years."

She went downtown once every three or four weeks, and Mary Faith had noticed that when she came home she always spoke of having seen Dr. Thatcher. And yet, so far as she knew, he never sent her a bill. Moreover she had no illness that she ever spoke of.

"Don't you think it's high time that Dr. Thatcher sent us a bill. Mother Farrell?" she asked now. "The baby is almost four months old. Next time you go down to his office perhaps you ought to say something to him about it."

Her mother-in-law shook her head in its gay new hat.

"No, He'll send it when he gets ready to," she replied. "He's an old friend of ours as well as our doctor, Mary Faith. And sometimes he doesn't send us a bill for a whole year. We must owe him money for years back. Every now and again I send him a little on account."

JOURNALISTIC WINDOW-DRESSING

Mr. Roosevelt's Mr. Moley has become a journalist. As a statesman, the professor was an excellent writer. As a diplomat, he showed an astounding genious for generally messing things up. So now he turns to writing for the papers, following in the distinguished footsteps of Lloyd George, Coolidge, Winston Churchill, Al Smith, Ramsay MacDonald, Texas Guinan, Clemenceau, Babe Ruth, Margot Asquith and Bill Tilden. There was a time when journalism used to be a training school for politics. Now it's the other way around. But whereas the journalists who became politicians at least were honest craftsmen, these politicians turned journalist are just journalistic window-dressing. And in the argot of the trade they're not so hot at that.

And it isn't patriotism, or because they have something to say, or for the love of the game that these ladies and gentlemen take their pens in hand or hire "ghosts" to work for them. Lloyd George, Churchill and Coolidge made fortunes out of journalism. A former AP man did Collidge's work, although he could not be held responsible for the triteness of the Coolidge ideas. Lloyd George still hires a "ghost writer." And we greatly doubt if Al Smith writes anything much for the New Outlook. Of them all, Churchill is about the only one who really composes his own material. His style is too distinctive and consistent to be the product of a "ghost." Of Moley the Ottawa Journal says:

"But the public, which loves big names in journalism, as it loves 'stars' in the talkies, reads Lloyd George and Al Smith, will read Moley. His stuff, if we may judge of it by what he has been writing for an American syndicate, won't be distinguished. Yet just because he has been what he has been, the Astors will pay him a fancy salary for matter that will be immeasuralby inferior to what could be turned out by scores of good newspaper men walking the streets of New York.

"It is the way of life. Whether through sheer luck, or chance or fate, or because of some extraordinary force within him, Moley is apart from the crowd. Descended from a French-man, Hipolyte Moley, who married an irishwoman, he emerged from the obscurity of a Wisconsin schoolhouse to attract the attention of Al Smith, to write books and lecture on law without being a lawyer, to graduate from teaching a girl's class at Columbia to become the adviser of the ruler of one of the greatest nations on earth."

Public interest in a "big name" will secure a good circulation for at least the early issues of the new periodical. It won't make any money, but then the Astors millions are behind it.

BRITAIN LEADS THE WAY

People returning from England all report that there is a remarkable improvement in conditions in Great Britain. The Old Land, without any noise or ballyhoo, is gradually moving out of the depression. Business in nearly all lines is on the up-grade, and England is recovering her old financial and commercial world leadership. A Canadian Press dispatch bears this out with an announcement that 650,000 unemployed have found work during the past year.

In Canada, also, every business index shows that there is an improvement in conditions. The upward movement may be slow, but it is certain. As Great Britain shows the way out of the depression, and has more money to spend, it will be reflected in Canada, because today the motherland is the great market for our agricultural products.

Canada is wise to tie her fortunes to Britain. She led the way out of past depressions; she is leading the procession again. It is to Britain Canada should look.

A commercial traveler—may have been Frank Baker—put up for the night at a small country inn. In the breakfast room the following morning he was asked by the landlord how he had enjoyed the cornet playing in the bedroom next door during the night.

"Enjoy it?" cried the bag-man. "I should think not, indeed! Why I spent half the night pounding on the wall to make that cornet lunatic stop!"

"I am afraid there has been a misunderstanding," said the landlord, stiffly. "The cornet player told me that the person in the next room applauded him so heartily that he played every piece he knew five times over."

"I think too much horseflesh, baas."

"Where did he get the horseflesh then?"

"From the cart horses, baas."

"What! Are they dead, too?"

"Yes, baas; they died after carrying water the night of the fire."

"The fire! What fire?"

Your house, baas."

"My house! When was it burned?"

"The night of the funeral, baas."

Whose funeral?"

"Your mother's baas; she died from the shock when your father died."

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS

AT RETURN

It seemed too hard
To be apart,
We, who so long,
Went, heart to heart!
I saved so much
To tell to you
When your long trip
Should all be through:
The robin's nest,
Just lately made;
The eggs the new
Brown hen had laid;
The lightning flash
That frightened me,
The friends who called
One day for tea.

All this, and more,
I had to tell;
But you are here
And all is well.
You know you make
Rose sweet, skies blue
For me; what words
Need welcome you?

—By ALINE MICHAELIS

Auction and Contract Bridge

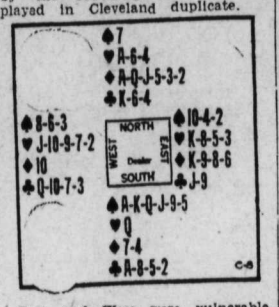
By the World's Leading Authority, MILTON C. WORK

EFFECTIVE DEFENSE

When defending against slam contracts it sometimes is necessary to resort to unusual expedients to defeat the Declarer. This is illustrated by the following hand recently played in Cleveland duplicate.



East and West were vulnerable, and at almost every table North and South reached a contract of six Spades with South the Declarer. The most popular route to the slam (East and West always passing) was South one Spade, North three Diamonds (a little dangerous without Spade support), South three Spades, North three No Trumps, South six Spades. South's small slam was justified by North's forcing jump-shift which showed a minimum of three and a half high-card tricks. A solid six-card suit and a side Ace facing that amount of strength is almost sure to produce twelve tricks.

In the play West led the Jack of Hearts which North won with the Ace. Three rounds of trumps were led, exhausting the adverse trumps, and after that Declarer led a Diamond from South and finessed dummy's Jack.

Up to this point the play was the same at every table. Every East but one took the Diamond with the King and led either a Heart or a Club. The Declarer won in the South hand, led a second Diamond, winning with dummy's Queen and then cashed dummy's Ace on which South discarded a Club. A fourth round of Diamonds followed which was ruffed by closed hand. Now the story was almost told: North was put in with the King of Clubs to cash one of his remaining Diamonds which gave South a second Club discard and, consequently, enabled Declarer to make his small slam.

At one table East, realizing the effect of the establishment of dummy's long suit, played a small Diamond on North's Jack. North then led a Heart, South ruffed and a second Diamond was led. When West refused, dummy won with the Ace and after that, East having a double control of the Diamond suit, it was impossible for North with only one entry to establish and cash it. Consequently, the Declarer lost two Club tricks and was compelled to accept a set.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

DENTISTS TO BE MEDICAL SPECIALISTS

The fact that most ailments come by way of the mouth and nose is of course known to everybody.

But that the teeth, because of the loss of them, because of their irregularity preventing a real chewing surface, and the infection in their roots, cause many and grave ailments, is not generally known.

However both the dental and medical professions know this, and practically all disagreements as to the right thing to do in any case are now at an end as the dentist and doctor think only of the patient's welfare.

The trouble has been that physicians have not known as much about teeth and their defects as they should have known, and dentists have not known the whole history of the case, when that case has come in for dental treatment.

Some idea of how dentists and physicians are now getting together may be gathered from the statement of Dr. M. C. Winternitz, Dean of the Yale University School of Medicine.

"It is absolutely necessary for human well being that medicine should foster the training of specialists who will all be on an equal footing and who will have regard for the patient as a physical, mental, and social organism—and it must not be forgotten that the teeth are a part of the physical organism, your body. Dentistry must have the same relation as any other specialty of medicine as a whole. That is, be on the same standing as the nose and throat specialist, the eye specialist, the heart or other specialist."

At Yale university this view is being carried into effect by bringing into the school of medicine a few of the best available graduates of school of dentistry and giving them material assistance to take the degree of doctor of medicine while continuing to practise dentistry."

It is likely to be a number of years before dentists, by taking extra studies at the medical college and clinics at the hospitals, will become really specialists in one branch of medicine that is the mouth.

However the big thing is that the patient who heretofore wanted to follow his dentist's advice because he had confidence in him, and likewise his physician's advice for the same reason will hereafter get the best advice of both because there will be but the one profession, and dentists will be specialists in the profession of medicine.

CULBERTSON IN ENGLAND

H. L. Percy, U. P. Correspondent

LONDON—The difference between British and American contract bridge is the difference between chalk and cheese. Culbertson's methods and bridge played naturally.

This is the opinion of experts after the recent raid of Ely Culbertson's team on the British preserves, in which the British met with heavy losses, both financially and in points.

In the far-off days before Culbertson, contract bridge in Britain was played naturally, not to say naively. It was thought a hand would play well in hearts, so it was said. If the partner thought the same, he put the bidding up one, two, or more, according to the extent he fancied his hand.

Then came sundry experts, who said this method was wrong. A contract of two, they said, should betoken a stronger hand than a contract of three. Partner should bid his own suit, even if he did not dislike the opener's suit—it gives a better picture of his hand. About this time, too, conventional, or artificial, bids that did not at all mean what they said, sprang up.

British bridge players were confused, wondering what to do next, when suddenly the Culbertson hurricane struck the American bridge world, levelled all before it, and built up contract on new methods—the Approach Forcing. Low bidding became the fashion, so as to allow partners to exchange as much information as possible.

This system was making some headway in Britain, when Colonel Walter Buller, who stood fast by "natural" or "common-sense" bidding, invited Culbertson to visit London and cross swords with him. Culbertson came, saw and conquered, and the British bridge world capitulated to Approach Forcing, bought Culbertson's "Bridge Blue Book," and played according to its commandments. But there were resisters—notably the Portland and the Devonshire clubs. These became strongholds of "natural" bidders, who regarded the "Blue book" as a new edition of "Alice-through-the-Looking-Glass."

Captain Lindsay Mundy, the bridge correspondent of the Daily Telegraph, and a member of the Devonshire, felt that a couple of clubfulls of passive reactionaries was of no particular benefit to British bridge. So he came out into the open with a declaration of war on Approach bidding.

He contended hot only that "natural" bidding was natural to the British mind, but that it was essentially the right way to play contract. All it needed was to be systematized and standardized. Captain Mundy set himself to the task, and the outcome was his Direct System.

Recently the Direct System was played against Approach Forcing when Captain Mundy's team met Culbertson's four for a money prize. The Americans won easily by an overwhelming number of points.

People who were self sufficient in prosperous times now feel the need of strength and courage beyond that the world affords. Miss Kinghorn gave a very interesting account of her work in the towns along the Crow's Nest Pass.

Special credit was given Miss Mary Rogers for her work among the C. G. I. # John Whitehead Dead in Rossland

Former Nelsonite Pensioned by the C. M. & S. Co.

ROSSLAND, B.C., Sept. 11.—John W. Whitehead, aged 71, passed away at his home on Kootenay avenue, about 8 o'clock Sunday night. Mr. Whitehead, who had been in failing health for some time, remarked to his wife that he was not feeling very well, rose and walked around the room, and fell to the floor, expiring immediately.

He was born at Woodstock, N.B., and was engaged in the hardware business, subsequently coming to British Columbia, where he was employed by the C.P.R. at Nelson. From there he came to Trail, where he was employed by the Consolidated Mining & Smelting company and has been living in Rossland for several years. He was pensioned by the company in the spring of 1933. He was well known throughout the district as a keen sportsman, and was considered one of the finest fly fishermen here. He is survived by a widow.

King Canute Grant Offered on Market

By THOMAS T. CHAMPION
N Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON—In the offer for sale of the manor house of Pusey, in Berkshire, there comes into the market an estate which has not changed ownership since the Norman conquest. The vendor is the present head of the Pusey family. More particularly at the present moment is the sale of general interest, for the manor house was the birthplace of Edmund Bouverie Pusey, the companion of John Keble and John Henry (afterward cardinal) Newman in the founding of the Oxford Movement, the centenary of which has just been celebrated.

To this day the manor is held by "cornage," perhaps the most ancient of all forms of English land tenure. A hunting-horn is still owned by the head of the Pusey family, which according to tradition was given to William Pusey, founder of the family, by King Canute. This monarch, of course, is remembered by all British school children because of his rebuke to his flatterers when they urged him to bid the waves go back.

William Pusey is reputed to have taken the side of Canute in his wars with Edmund Ironside the Saxon, and received a grant of land as far as he could make the horn heard. For many centuries this hunting-horn was itself the title-deed to the property, until written title deeds came into use.

It was exhibited at the Leipzig fair and checks the accuracy of measuremoments to a few seconds of the arc.

ROSSLAND HAS HOSPITAL AID

Mrs. Willson Heads New Body; Plan Raise Money

ROSSLAND, B. C., Sept. 11—Mrs. W. D. Willson is president of the Rossland Hospital aid association formed at a public meeting held in the City hall Friday. The other officers elected being Mme. H. de L. Reaney, vice-president, Mrs. Howard Ferguson, secretary, and Dr. E. Topliff, treasurer.

Mayor W. A. Turner explained that all other towns of any consequence had such an organization, and he thought one was needed in the Golden City to make the people realize what an asset they had in the local hospital, where not only nursing care was given but the sympathetic touch as well. He advocated that the organization hold two money making efforts during each year.

Dr. E. E. Topliff lent assent to the Mayor's remarks and told of the amount of money which the hospital had recently spent on the X-ray machine and equipment for the X-ray room, making that part of the work second to none in the interior. It was no longer necessary for a patient needing X-ray photography of any sort to have to be sent from Rossland. He suggested the organization might meet quarterly, and executive meetings be held at the call of the chair. Suggestions for improving the system of management at the hospital might be submitted by the public to such an association and by them passed on to the doctors and the sisters in charge of the work.

Tentative plans were laid for a dance in October and a further meeting will be held in September to complete arrangements. The membership fee was fixed at 25 cents per year, and an endeavor will be made to enroll every woman in the city.

The following ladies were named as an executive committee: Mrs. George F. Best, Mrs. W. McKenzie, Mrs. W. E. Costello, Mrs. Arthur E. Trafford, Mrs. I. V. Wood, Mrs. James Hardy, Mrs. O'Reilly, Mrs. James Gregory, Mrs. Fred S. Peters, Mrs. J. J. Wilson, Mrs. Archibald Coombes, Mrs. William A. Turner, Mrs. F. Leeson, and Thomas Beaulieu. Thomas Craven and Mayor W. A. Turner were also added.

London Traders Must Have Money

LONDON, (CP) —You can't speculate on a shoestring in the London stock exchange, and London financial authorities believe this is probably the chief factor in the greater stability of prices, as compared to New York.

The boosting of marginal requirements in New York—to 50 per cent in the case of small accounts— it is pointed out, should also have a steadying effect in that market but in London the little fellow finds it almost impossible to get any credit with which to speculate.

In the first place, transactions in London are settled twice a month, instead of daily as in New York, and with two weeks in which traders can buy and sell before settlement need be made, greater conservatism is called for, inasmuch as it would seriously be easier to get overextended under such an arrangement than one in which settlement is always due the next day.

London has no such thing as marginal trading, as New York knows it, although a trader can arrange to be carried over from one settlement day to the next by his broker, if he has proper credit standing, and does not want to pay up for the shares he has purchased.

For a client of established standing and excellent credit, this is a very simple operation. His broker will probably ask for no percentage margin at all. When settlement day comes, the broker will ask him to pay the difference between the current price of the stock and price at which the purchase was made, if it has gone down, and will charge him interest on money which the broker must borrow to take up the shares and hold until such time as the client may wish to sell.

Brokers who make a practice of carrying customers over settlement dates naturally require a fair amount of capital, for banks will not lend the full price of the securities against them as collateral. The big London banks, however, are inclined to make relatively more liberal loans against securities than New York banks, owing to the narrrower fluctuations in prices here.

Spoons by Millions Bought in Nova Scotia

LONDON—15 million wooden ice-cream spoons was a single order placed by Messrs. J. Lyons and Company, limited, for the summer season.

Deliveries of the spoons took place at regular intervals between May and September. The final consignment of five million spoons has just arrived from John Lewis Industries, of Ship Harbour, Nova Scotia.

A few hours after he jokingly called "We'll just hang on until it fails," a Bermondsey man who was engaged on demolition work, was crushed to death beneath the wall of a house as it collapsed.

Telford Fails to Meet Castlegarites

CASTLEGAR, B. C., Sept. 11 — Dr. Lyle Telford, C. C. F. speaker billed to address a meeting here, failed to put in an appearance on Wednesday, last, to the disappointment of some 30 voters who had gathered to listen to him.

The C. C. F. club had their first fall dance on Friday.

A wonderful display of the northern lights was visible here on Friday night.

Good soaking rains have come to the relief of the fast drying creeks and have made it possible for the C. C. C. to proceed with the clearing of the new picnic grounds near the hall.

Early fall apples are now moving and fall fruits generally are being harvested.

In the hope of producing watermelons that will resist wilt, West Virginia experimenters have been crossing two high-flavored varieties susceptible to wilt with Russian watermelons that are not edible, but resist the wilt.

WHEAT PRICES SOAR SKYWARD

Most Active Speculative Buying in Weeks at Chicago

By JOHN P. BOUGHAN
Associated Press Market Editor

CHICAGO, Sept. 11 (AP)—In the most active speculative buying witnessed for weeks, all grains kited toward the Zenith today, wheat up a maximum of 4⅛ cents a bushel.

Rumors of France going off the gold standard accompanied the upward flight of prices. Chiefly, however, traders found purchasing incentive in remarks credited to Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace suggesting there might be a strong dose of inflation within the next three months.

Profit-taking led to something of a reaction in late dealings, and wheat closed unsettled, 2⅞ to 3¼ cents above Saturday's finish, corn 1⅜ to 1⅝ up, oats 1⅜ to 1¾ advanced, and provisions varying from 15 cents decline to a rise of 10 cents.

POUND STRONG

MONTREAL, Sept. 11 (CP)—Influenced by outside markets, the pound sterling advanced on Montreal foreign exchanges today. Other currencies, however, were lower.

The pound opened 5-16 cent higher at $4.76 and then gradually moved up to $4.77¼ where it closed with a gain of 1½ cents. The United States dollar was weak and after opening at a premium of 4 per cent, dipped to 4 15-16 per cent but finished the day at 5 per cent, off ⅛ of 1 per cent. The French franc was down .05 of a cent at 5.74 cents.

Secondary Issues Move Up Briskly

NEW YORK, Sept. 11 (AP)—Secondary issues moved up rather briskly in the bond market today, apparently reflecting the upturn in stocks. The average for 60 domestic corporate loans advanced three-tenths of a point. This is the first gain in the composite since August 17.

Lower-priced rails rallied 1 to 2 or more points including some liens of Allegheny Corp., Baltimore & Ohio, Central Pacific, Chesapeake Corp., St. Paul, Chicago & Northwestern.

Gainers in the utility and industrial groups included American & Foreign Power 5s, up 3⅜; Goodyear 5s, up 1¼; Goodrich 6s, up 1⅜.

SMART ADVANCES AT MONTREAL

Smelters Spurts 5½ Points

MONTREAL, Sept. 11 (CP)—Under the stimulus of renewed interest in the alcohols, Montreal stock exchange listings shook off last week's lethargy during today's session and recorded a smart advance. Sales volume increased substantially with approximately 18,000 shares changing hands, the largest turnover in nearly two weeks.

Utilities improved moderately while base metal issues were higher and miscellaneous industrials gained substantially.

The renewed interest in the liquor group was based on anticipation of further repeal victories this week. Canadian Industrial Alcohol, the active leader with 6300 shares being traded in, rose 3⅛ points at 20¾. The "B" issue closely followed the example of the "A" stock and pushed up 2½ points at 18½. On the curb the advances were even wider with Hiram Walker gaining 5⅝ points and Distillers-Seagrams 3¾ points.

Consolidated Smelters spurted 5½ points and Steel of Canada and Celanese preferred were both up a point.

Foreign Exchange Markets Steady

NEW YORK, Sept. 11 (CP)—Despite wild gyrations in foreign exchange at Paris and numerous predictions over the weekend that the United States would have to resort to some kind of currency inflation, foreign exchange markets here remained fairly steady today.

British currencies were slightly higher in terms of United States dollars, while the French franc was down a fraction. The pound moved within a two-cent range and closed at $4.52½ for a net gain of 1¾ cents.

The Canadian dollar was very steady throughout the session and closed ⅛ higher at 95¼ cents, representing a premium on United States funds of 5 per cent.

The French franc closed at 5.46½ cents, down .01¾ of a cent.

EARLY BUOYANCY LOST IN GOLDS

TORONTO, Sept. 11 (CP)—Leading a morning rally on the Standard mining market, high-priced gold shares lagged in the afternoon while the rest of the market continued to firm, led by buoyancy in Wall street.

A lower quotation on bar gold in the London market took the starch out of the rally in gold issues. McIntyre finished only 5 cents higher, Dome 50 cents, Hollinger 15 cents and Bralorne 75 cents while Pioneer lost 10 and Wright-Hargreaves 15.

Buying continued heavy in San Antonio and the price advanced to 1.25. Macassa gained 1, Ashley 5, Ventures 2 and McWatters 5.

International Nickel advanced 45 cents to 21.25 but Noranda merely held its ground at 35.50. Falconbridge gained 14 and Pend Oreille 9.

Bralorne Jumps to New All-Time High

Stocks and Commodities Advance in More Active Trading

By JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 11 (AP)—Stocks and commodities advanced in more active trading today, thus departing from the slow down-swing that had characterized last week's markets.

Fresh inspiration for the rise was given by a revival of inflationary sentiment. Stocks closed with gains of 1 to around 5 points, while cotton was up a dollar or slightly more per bale. Sales totalled 1,910,020 shares.

Allied Chemical, Case, Johns-Manville and Delaware & Hudson improved approximately 5 points. Chrysler, enjoying strong sponsorship, gained 5¾ net and reached new high ground for the year. General Motors' advance was nearly 2.

Among the "wets," which came back to active favor presumably on expectations that this week's balloting would add to the list of repeal states, National Distillers sprinted 10 points, U.S. Industrial Alcohol 6 and American Commercial Alcohol about 7.

BUTTER FIRMER

MONTREAL, Sept. 11 (CP)—Prices were generally unchanged from last week's close on the Montreal dairy and produce market today, although butter was slightly firmer. No. 1 grade butter in carlots or less sold at 19 cents a pound compared with 18¾ to 19 cents Saturday. Receipts totalled 414 boxes.

Cheese brought 10⅞ to 11⅛ cents a pound for Ontario colored with 10¾ the quotation for Ontario white. Quebec colored sold for 10½ to 10⅝ cents a pound and Quebec white for 10¾ to 11⅛ cents. A total of 3594 boxes of cheese was offered for sale.

Graded shipments in carlots or less of Ontario eggs were quoted over a range of 22 to 23 cents a dozen for extras, 17 to 18 cents for firsts and 13½ to 14 cents for seconds.

DISTILLERY ISSUES LEAD IN UPSWING

TORONTO, Sept. 11 (CP)—Listings on the Toronto stock exchange today chalked up the best gains scored in more than two weeks. Distillery shares were the leaders in volume and price advance.

Walkers common advanced 4¾, closing at 50¾, Industrial Alcohol 2¾ to 20½, Distillers Seagram 4 to 30¾ and Brewers and Distillers 20 cents to 2.65.

Metal stocks, Nickel and Smelters joined in the advance, the former adding 55 cents to close at 21.35 and Smelters gained 4 to 135. Brazilian advanced ⅜, Ford of Canada ¾ and C.P.R. ⅛.

Late Buying Lifts Wheat Out of Rut

WINNIPEG, Sept. 11 (CP)—A last hour buying splurge, engendered by an extremely strong Chicago market, lifted wheat prices out of the rut on the Winnipeg grain exchange today and brought about moderate trading in the December and May futures above the minimum levels. December failed to hold its advance, however, and prices closed unchanged to ⅜ cent higher.

Closing quotations showed October at 70⅛, December at 71⅝ and May at 76¾ cents. Chicago's upturn was attributed to inflation talk and appeared to be the only market factor of the day. Export business over the weekend and today was small and Liverpool prices were easier.

SOMERVILLE AND 18-YEAR-OLD JACK MUNGER LEAD BRILLIANT FIELD IN U.S. AMATEUR GOLF

Tied in First Place With 70, One Under Par; Dunlap Third

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Writer).

KENWOOD COUNTRY CLUB, Cincinnati, Sept. 11 (AU).—The steaming battle for the amateur golf championship of the United States began today with a record-smashing outbreak of low scoring, paced by C. Ross( Sandy) Somerville, doughty Canadian holder of the title, and an 18-year-old standard bearer of the younger generation, Jack Munger, Jr., of Dallas, Texas.

Somerville and Minger, each negotiating Kenwood's 6780 yards in 70, one under par, were deadlocked for a one-stroke lead over a field of 152 starters in the first 18-hole round of the 36-hole, two-day qualifying struggle.

DUNLAP THIRD

Only one other player, George T. Dunlap, Jr., of Newport, who occupied third place with a sparkling 71, was able to touch par for the opening round.

Only 32 can qualify for the match play, starting Wednesday with two 18-hole rounds morning and afternoon, but no less than 45 players had scores of 75 or better today. Nothing like it has ever been witnessed in the 37-year history of the national amateur tournament.

Outside of the charmed circle of 75s but still within difficult firing distance of the ultimate qualifying field were Canada's other title seekers.

Smooth-stroking Jack Nash, who like Somerville comes from London, Ont., slipped on the out-nine today and finished with 41-39-80. Nicol Thompson, Jr., of Toronto, was not in his usual putting form and needed 38-38—77.

It has never taken less than 152 before to qualify for match play in the United States amateur. This was the mark set last year but it seemed likely that at least 151 and possibly 150 would be required to have even a chance to play off for the last qualifying positions.

FRISCHER HAS 72

Johnny Fischer, home town Cincinnati boy, was right on the heels of the pace-setters today with 72.

Tied for fourth place were no less than seven players, including such favorites as Fischer, Johnny Goodman of Omaha, the United States open champion who fell before Somerville in last year's amateur final, Gus Moreland, the Walker cup star from Dallas, and a quartette of newcomers to such altitude—Pat Sayer of Minneapolis, Willie Turnesa, youthful member of the noted Turnefa clan of Elmsford, N.Y., William R. Long, Jr., of Austin, Texas, a bank clerk making his debut in national competition, and Don Edwards of San Jose, Cal.

ADA M'KENZIE WINS MEDAL

Cards an 82 in Canadian Women's Open Golf Championship

WINNIPEG, Sept. 11 (CP).—With a brilliant qualifying score of 82 which brought her the medal at the Canadian women's open golf tournament over this tricky layout today, Ada MacKenzie, smooth stylist of match play from Toronto and holder of the Canadian closed title, tonight stood out as the foremost threat to the open crown Margery Kirkham of Montreal will defend in first-round championship play tomorrow. Miss Kirkham with 88 tied with Isobel Pepall, Ontario junior champion, for second place in the medal standing.

Dangerous too is Mrs. R. K. Bearsto, enthusiastic Manitoba veteran and provincial champion, who carded an 89 to take third place. High up in the list of eastern Canadians who took their place among the 32 qualifiers is Maryon Murphy, Royal Ottawa Golf club, who returned a score of 92.

After an inauspicious start the weather man smiled on the women golfers and perfect conditions are expected for the remainder of the meet which concludes with the 36-hole final on Saturday. But a steady breeze seemed to make the 75-par course more difficult for the links-women and only about a dozen managed to break 100.

McLarnin Wants to Meet Brouillard

VANCOUVER, Sept. 11 (CP)—Jimmy McLarnin, Canada's welterweight boxing champion of the world, with no competition in his own class, plans to invade the middleweight ranks and has his eye on a match with another Canadian, Lou Brouillard, recognized in New York state as the middleweight king.

For years universally recognized as "uncrowned king of the welters," Jimmy officially made himself the titleholder this summer with a sensational one-round knockout over champion Young Corbett. Since that time the Irish-Canadian from Vancouver has found no opponent in the present crop of welters whom he hasn't beaten or who would draw important money.

SPOILED TIMING

McLarnin and Brouillard, French-Canadian from Quebec, met a year and a half ago when Brouillard was a welter. On a rain-soaked, loosely stretched canvas that hobbled his speed and spoiled his timing, Jimmy took a 10-round beating from Lou. Since then Brouillard graduated to the middleweight ranks to win the title in that division.

Five or six pounds heavier than when he entered the ring against Corbett Jimmy is confident he can add several more pounds and meet the middleweight titleholder without giving away too much weight. Few of the half-dozen battlers who have defeated Jimmy have been able to withstand his onslaught in a return match.

"That was the toughest bout I've ever had." Jimmy said of his battle with Brouillard. "I couldn't fight the way I usually do. When I stepped in to hit I couldn't get away from his counters and absorbed more punishment than in a dozen ordinary bouts."

New Grand Cubs Win, New Denver

Crossing the plate for four runs in the first of the tenth inning, and holding their opponents to one run in their half of the inning, the New Grand Hotel cubs, local juvenile champions, won an exciting 10-inning game from the New Denver intermediates, 12-9 in New Denver Sunday afternoon.

The local team held a good lead throughout the early innings, and led 8-3 at the start of the eighth inning. In the eighth inning the New Denver batters came to life and scored two runs. They added three more in the ninth to tie up the game.

The New Grand cubs scored four runs in the first inning and held the New Denver club scoreless. After shutting out the visitors in the second New Denver scored two runs. The Nelson nine scored another run in the third, and added one more in the fifth, the New Denverites scoring once in the fourth. Neither team scored again until the seventh when the New Denver team crossed the plate for two runs. With the score tied at the end of the ninth inning, Austin Brennan relieved Steve Scott on the mound for the New Grand club, Scott suffering from a sore arm. After his team took a four run lead in their half of the tenth, Brennan with the assistance of some snappy fielding, held the New Denver club to one run.

Scott on the mound for the New Grand team fanned eight batters and walked 3. Law, pitching for New Denver, struckout 10, and issued four, free transportation to first base. Santo Del Puppo in center field for the New Grand team played a great game in the field, being credited with four putouts. Brennan slammed out a three-bagger and a two base hit. Scott hit a two-bagger.

"Big League" BASEBALL

Makes Ball "Pop"

(By AL DEMAREE)

One of the chief requisites that the young catcher should cultivate is the seemingly ridiculous art of making the ball "pop" as it hits his glove. Psychology is a big factor in baseball and confidence means everything to a pitcher. This confidence is very often estbilshed solely by the catcher's ability to receive a fast ball in his glove in such a ball park. No one thing so completely hurts a pitcher's confidence in himself, as a catcher who let the ball slip into his glove noiselessly. I have seen good pitchers who actually develop sore arms from trying to make the ball "pop" in the catcher's glove.

A good catcher can make a slow ball report like a gun, if he receives it correctly and this also very often has an effect of the batters of the opposing team.

Local carrots are $1.00 and beets $1.25 per sack.

VANCOUVER—The fruit and vegetable market is not overstocked although the supply in both lines is plentiful. Gravenstein apples from the Okanakagan are now $1.25 to $1.50 per box. Bulk cookers are fetching around 2 cents to 3 cents per pound. Cantaloupes are slightly cheaper at $1.75 to $2.00 per crate with a good supply. Bartlett pears are selling at $3.25 per box and in bulk at 3½ cents per pound. Rochester peaches from the Okanagan have just commenced to arrive and are quoted at $1.75 per box. Greengage and Damson plums are on the market at $1.35 and $1.00 respectively. There are very few changes in the vegetable list. Field tomatoes are now from 90 cents to $1.00 per lug. Eggs continue to rise a few cents. No change in poultry prices. Two carloads of poultry (heavies) have arrived from Alberta this week. The demand for pork and veal is better on account of the cooler weather but prices remain unchanged.

CALGARY—Bright sunshine is here after four days of cool drizzly weather. Business is fair. The cantaloupe deal is still going strong. Everbearing strawberries are arriving mostly in poor condition. Other berry receipts are light. The potato market is stronger with Southern Alberta shippers quoting Gems at $23 per ton. The market is well supplied with all commodities.

Reasearch on the control of sweet potato diseases has been reponsible for reducing losses to about one-third those reported a few years ago.

TRAIL TAKES BOWLING CUP

J. Draper Hands Over the Brewery Cup; Two Games Close

Nelson lawn bowlers fell to their Trail opponents 84-67 at the smelter city Saturday in the final game of the Kootenay Breweries cup competition. The win gave Trail the series 276-239 and the bowlers of that city will hold the Brewery cup, which was presented to them by J. Draper of the Nelson club following the games, for another year.

Rinks skipped by J. Draper and J. Thompson put up an exciting battle, the Nelson men winning on the 21st end 16-15. The G. A. Meeres-H. Johnson match was also decided on the last end, the Nelson rinks skipped by A. Laurie and R. Weir. Laurie's bowlers won from P. Coulter's 26-15 and the Weir quartet beat J. Armstrong's rink 24-16.

Rinks, Trail mentioned first in each case, were:

H. Johnson, W. Campbell, E. Provost and T. Hardman.

G. A. Meeres, N. B. Bradley, A. G. Lane and C. I. Archibald.

R. Weir, D. Davis, J. Ferguson and A. Balfour.

J. Armstrong, A. Wigg, J. Ball, and J. Simons.

J. Thompson, J. Buchanan, G. Watson and G. Weir.

J. Draper, F. E. Wheeler, J. H. Argyle and D. Eccles.

A. Laurie, J. Deans, C. Lauriente and W. Nelson.

P. Coulter, E. Penwill, S. Bates and W. Calbick.

GYROS PLAN FOR FALL FAIR WORK

With two months' vacation behind them, Gyro members held their first meeting of the season Monday night and spent a session arranging for their part in the attractions of the fall fair. Committees were chosen and every member in the club allotted work to do on their fair day.

Program chairmen were also announced and will act as follows:

September 18—H. Ferguson; October 9—Dr. G. A. C. Walley; October 16—H. McLean; October 23—R. E. Horton and October 30—H. Harrop.

Mayonnaise was named from the town of Mahon in the Balearic Islands.

BARTLETT PEAR CROP MOVING

Bartlet pears, Kootenay grown, are now moving in fair volume through the Associated Growers for consumption locally. Some 100 boxes are arriving daily.

Peaches are also being handled in large quantities, the Arrow Lakes shipping about 300 crates weekly and the Okanagan about 900 crates. So far peach prices have been slightly above last year's but pear prices are down.

In about 10 days the gravenstein crop will be ready but unless the growers can obtain better prices than are offered now, the apples will probably remain on the trees. Macs and Cox Oranges followed the Gravenstein crop in about two week's time.

GERMANS SEEK GUN INVENTION

LONDON — Disarmament conferences talk themselves out in the stately halls of Geneva. Meanwhile the League of Nations might be interested in what is happening in the nurseries of England if two inventions are any criterion of the popular trend of youthful thought and endeavor.

A 13-year-old boy before the children's court at Croydon was described by a medical specialist as mentally deficient within the meaning of the Education act but not certifiable. And a German firm has offered £500 for a gun he has invented!

Meanwhile a Brighton boy has perfected a model silent machine-gun. It is made of scrap material and fires 600 lead pellets a minute by compressed air. He loads the magazine and pumps air—with an ordinary bicycle pump—into two tins soldered together.

He is experimenting on a larger model and plans to replace the clock-work motor, now used, with a silent petrol engine.

MORE ABOUT PICKETS

platforms and refuse admission to any truck with fruit that has not been assured the minimum price of 40 cents a box.

The enthusiasm of the growers in the cent-a-pound movement has almost reached an evangelical fervor and is still growing.

Every known grower in Penticton has now signed the minimum price pledge, including E. J. Chambers, president of the Associated Growers, who is himself the owner of a ranch. News to that effect came from Reeve Oliver of Penticton, who was on the "mopping up committee" that was delegated to secure the signatures of growers who were not at the Saturday mass meeting.

LABOR COMES TO AID

Organized labor in Kelowna has voluntarily come to the aid of the growers in their crusade. An effort is being made to induce orchard workers not to pick the fruit where the grower has not been assured his cent a pound net and also to get truckers to regard such apples as scab fruit and decline to handle it.

The outlying Glenmore and Rutland areas, including the Belgo ranchers, are being canvassed today for signatures prior to the mass meeting of growers here Tuesday afternoon.

The non-picking and non-delivering policy is already widely in effect, and some of the shippers not in the stabilization board are reported to be unable to get fruit to fill their contracts.

MUST SIGN

"It is not enough now that those recalcitrant shippers merely promise to pay the 40 cents a box to the growers," said a grower enthusiast today. "They must sign up in the stabilization board, which in a cartel plan will regulate volume of apples shipped, and in a pooling plan will equalize financial returns. We are signing on the dotted line; so must they," he added. It is explained that out of the 40 cents net the grower is demanding he must pay 10 cents a box for picking and handling so that in reality he has only 30 cents to himself

"We have a new code today," stated a leader in the movement. "In the past," he added, "shippers took the fruit and packed it at a cost of around 50 cents a box. They could always get 50 cents f.o.b. Vernon for that box of apples and if they could get no more they let it go, being satisfied that they had got their equity out of it. That was about all they were interested in. Now instead of starting out with fruit at zero, they start out with a price of at least 40 cents a box, adding on additional charges on the way, till it is sold. That is our new code," he concluded.

The body was unclothed and the head as well as the arms and legs were missing.

AID EXHIBITORS AT FRUIT SHOW

Government Willing Assist in Transportation Charges

From October 27 to November 4 the Imperial Fruit show and Canner's exhibition will be held on Park Row in Bristol, England. Entries close on September 15 next, according to information received by E. C. Hunt, district agriculturist, Nelson.

Mr. Hunt is in receipt of a communication from W. H. Robertson, provincial horticulturist at Victoria, stating that efforts are being made to secure funds to assist possible district exhibitors in both honey and fruit classes. Exhibitors who have not made entries have yet time to do so and transportation arrangements for exhibits can be arranged though Mr. Hunt. It is the hope of the department, if several exhibitors in the district decide to send entries that all will be forwarded at the same time.

Pythianism Doing Excellent Work

Maintain 24 Homes; Promote Music Says E. A. Hill

ROSSLAND, B. C., Sept. 11—"The Knights of Pythias throughout the Supreme Domain maintain 24 Pythian homes," stated E. A. Hill of Cranbrook, addressing the members of Rossland Lodge No. 21, Knight of Pythias, and Maple Leaf Temple No. 4, Pythian Sisters, Friday evening. In these homes, children early orphaned, are educated and fitted for useful lives. The order steps in and tries to take the place of the parent. In British Columbia the order is doing much to promote musical talent—the Vancouver musical festival which is sponsored by the order, is counted the biggest thing of its sort on the American continent, and the festival in Cranbrook is improving every year. The order stands for friendship, charity and benevolence, and its members are doing much to make their communities better places to live in.

An enjoyable program was given, including speeches by R. H. White of Trail D. G. C. of the Kootenays, Mr. Horka of Northport, J. Hawley of the Spokane drill team, J. Balfour, G. O. G. of Trail, Thomas Nixon, C. C. of Trail, selections by the orchestra, and a reading by Mrs. Howard Ferguson. The drill work of the Rossland patrol team won high praise from the visitors, and the work of the local lodge in sponsoring the Children's day sports was favorably commented upon.

MORE ABOUT COMMISSION

son, cooperated in presenting the case for the Kootenay third class cities, which had been prepared after the Trail conference of Thursday went over the ground and laid down the lines to be followed. Walter Jackson spoke for the village municipality of Creston.

With Judge Harper were his fellow commissioners, H. Anscomb of Victoria and A. D. Paterson of Ladner, W. E. G. Johnson of Vancouver, the official reporter, being also the secretary. Robert Baird, inspector of municipalities, Victoria, was a benevolent onlooker.

Those in attendance included Mayor H. E. Douglas, Fernie; Mayor T. M. Roberts, Cranbrook; Commissioner Walter Jackson, Creston; Mayor W. V. Papworth, Kaslo; Solicitor R. J. Clegg, Rossland; Mayor Bruno Lerose, Alderman E. L. Grouttage and City Clerk W. E. B. Monypenny, Trail; Mayor S. H. Smythe, Aldermen J. B. Gray, R. W. Dawson, T. J. Scanlan, and Ross Fleming, City Clerk W. E. Wasson and Solicitor James O'Shea, K.C., for the city of Nelson, and Vice-president H. M. Whimster and James C. Forbes for Kootenay Lake General hospital. James Fitzsimmons, ex-M.P.P. for Kaslo-Slocan; C. B. Garland, E. P. Dawson, and C. H. Hamilton, were present as onlookers.

In opening the hearing, which was in the court room, Judge Harper welcomed the several mayors and municipal representatives, saying the commission was at their service, to receive representations in any form desired, which later might be supplemented by memos if anything was overlooked.

CLEGG OPENS CASE

Mr. Clegg opened the case for the municipalities, reporting verbally on the Trail conference, at which the cities of Kaslo, Rossland, Nelson and Trail were represented and at which the city solicitors were appointed to draft a brief on behalf of the Kootenay cities, those not directly represented giving their concurrence.

He briefly reviewed the place of liquor revenue in the municipal economy from the early days, until by the legislation of 1933 it was taken out completely. He showed how under the Liquor Licence act of 1910 the cities enjoyed substantial revenue from liquor licences, and that when the province went under prohibition the cities received the benefit of the licences for sale of near-beer.

Then came the Government Control act, with definite promises on behalf of the province that the revenues taken would be returned to the municipalities in the form of grants. He traced the various changes in the liquor legislation, and the successive cuts in the proportions granted the municipalities, up to the final withdrawal of these grants on recent legislation.

ENTITLED TO PART BACK

Paralleling these changes in time, the governments of the day added successively to the burdens of the municipalities by requiring them to contribute toward the province's social services, until these now included contributions to mental hospital, Tranquille sanitarium, reform school, hospitals, and mothers pensions.

The final result of the changed conditions, unless they were ameliorated, Mr. Clegg contended, would be that the land would begin to revert to the municipalities, with resulting and increasing loss of revenue.

"We say we should receive from the government a part of what the government takes from the municipalities," he said, summarizing the municipalities case in a few words.

Mr. Clegg's brief review was practically an introduction to the brief, which Mr. O'Shea presented.

LIMITED REVENUE SOURCES

Mr. O'Shea dealt first with revenue sources open to municipalities, classifying them as derived from taxation, which included taxes—on land and on 75 per cent of assessed value of improvements—trade licences, poll tax, and road tax; and as other sources, which embraced police court fines, provincial grants for schools, share of the motor licence revenue, and profit from public utilities if any after meeting of operating and carrying charges. Only the taxation revenue was controllable by the municipalities, and of that, the trade licences, and poll and road taxes were limited by statute.

While provincial powers of taxing were practically unlimited, except as to indirect taxation, and except as to direct taxation of real property in municipalities, Mr. O'Shea stated the municipal taxing powers were practically the same as 25 years ago, except that the field had been slightly broadened in the matter of trade licences, and that the poll tax had been added in recent years. Against this slight broadening, he mentioned the great reduction in trade licence revenue through abolishing of the power of issue liquor licences.

LIQUOR REVENUE HISTORIC

Tracing the successive cuts in liquor revenue of the municipalities, Mr. O'Shea showed how until the prohibition act came into force in 1917 the municipalities had the power to issue liquor licences and receive the licence fees, that enactment, however, abolishing that source of revenue but permitting the issue of beer licences. Under the government or liquor control act, which came into force in 1921, the government, which had taken over the whole liquor machinery, was obligated to set aside half of the net profits over and above reserve requirements, to be apportioned to the municipalities on a population basis, each municipality to pay half of its allotment in aid to local hospitals. A year later an amendment provided that the government should pay 15 per cent of the liquor profits after reserve direct to hospitals, and should apportion 35 per cent to municipalities on a population basis, the municipalities in turn to use two-sevenths of this grant for school purposes. Beer halls came in under legislation of 1924, but under provincial licence, and the grant to municipalities was changed to 35 per cent of the profits remaining after reserve funds and mothers pension deductions, apportionment to be on the basis of school attendance.

In 1929 it was provided that all the liquor profits after reserve should go into the consolidated fund, out of which 23 per cent of the payment should go to the municipalities in proportion to school attendance, a reduction of grant being followed in 1930 by limitation of the amount so paid to the municipalities to a maximum of $1,000,000 in any year.

NOW COMPLETELY GONE

Finally in 1933, Mr. O'Shea pointed out, all provisions for payment of any portion of profits or revenues from liquor sales or licences to municipalities were wholly repealed, and the municipalities now received nothing from this source.

To illustrate the effect of this drastic withdrawal of revenue from the Kootenay municipalities, Mr. O'Shea gave past revenue figures of Trail and Nelson, at representative intervals. Trail received from its liquor licences $2285 in 1910, and $4600 in 1913, and in the year 1930 to 1932 a yearly average of $11,922. Nelson took in $8200 in 1910 and $8500 in 1914, and its last three-year average grant under the liquor control act was $12,715.94. Trail's loss of this grant was equal to 3.7 mills on the dollar on all assessable property on the 1933 assessment roll, including improvements, while Nelson's was equivalent to 3.32 mills on its current roll. The Kootenay municipalities, Mr. O'Shea argued, had no means of raising revenue to replace this grant except by increasing their real estate taxes, which were already at the limit.

He noted that a large portion of the cost of policing arose from the liquor traffic, and also that a large proportion of the province's revenue from liquor arose within the municipalities.

Asked by Judge Harper what portion of the police cost he would ascribe to liquor, Mr. O'Shea referred the question to City Clerk W. E. Wasson, who said while Nelson in any case would hardly do away with its police force, he imagined that about 75 per cent of the work of the force arose directly or indirectly from liquor.

"It is the same in Vancouver, a large part of the trouble being from bootleg joints," commented his honor.

While the pari-mutuel profits were not derived in any part from the Kootenay municipalities, or the municipalities in general, Mr. O'Shea said, yet the grants made represented substantial assistance extended to the municipalities, and now withdrawn. Trail in 1932 received $2476.63 from this source, and Nelson $1959.59.

HEAVY SCHOOL TAX

Mr. O'Shea next turned to the obligations to be met by Kootenay municipalities, one of the largest factors in municipal expenditure being school costs.

Illustrating with Nelson, Mr. O'Shea said in 1910 this city's school tax was 5 mils on land only, but in 1920 it was 14.5 mills on both land and 50 per cent on improvements, in 1930 this figure was up to a peak of 21.7 mills, and in 1932 it was 19.75 mills. Meanwhile the assessable value of land in Nelson had not increased anywhere in proportion to these rates, though the school population had about doubled, the juvenile element being a larger proportion of the population than 25 years ago.

Commissioner Anscomb asked to what degree the value of the school buildings had increased, and Mr. Wasson undertook to forward this information.

Mr. O'Shea expressed his personal opinion that the increase in school expenditure was in part accounted for by the rage for amusement. He admitted school grants had increased over those of the old days, but not at all commensurately with the growth in expense.

Dealing next with increase of obligations cast upon the municipalities during the last 25 years, Mr. O'Shea dealt first with the large number of social services toward the maintenance of which the municipalities must contribute.

SOCIAL SERVICE IMPOSTS

Under the Public Institutions act, 1932, 50 cents per day is paid to public hospital for insane for each patient from a municipality, an entirely new charge; $1.25 per day is paid for each patient in Tranquille sanitarium, an increase of 55 cents over the former rate; and 80 cents per day is paid for each inmate in an industrial school, this also being new. Respecting the charge for insane patients, Mr. O'Shea said it was the experience of Kootenay municipalities that a patient did not have to originate from their territories for them to be saddled with this charge. He also asked the commissioners to note that a municipality had to pay 80 cents for a young person in the industrial school while the province fixed 40 cents a day as the relief for a single person and $17.50 a month for a man and wife.

In 1925 municipalities were first required to pay a per diem charge to hospitals for all patients from within their borders, the amount now being 70 cents.

Last year's Mothers Pensions act required a municipality to pay half of every mothers pension granted to its residents of more than one years' standing. The harshness of this exaction was ameliorated slightly since, he admitted, by an amendment giving the municipality the right of being consulted to the right of an applicant to receive such a pension.

Maintenance of children, in spite of the Children of Unmarried Parents act and the Infants act, often came back on the municipality. Mr. O'Shea said, for it was comparatively seldom that a reputed father who so wished did not succeed eventually in evading a court order for maintenance. The municipality had to pay $4 a week for each such child from its borders, which again contrasted with the relief scale for a man and wife.

The worst of these social charges, Mr. O'Shea said, was that they were cumulative. Children would be paid for until 16 years of age, and meanwhile others would come on a municipality's charge, and each year a municipality's social service outlay would be larger.

PAST YEAR'S PAYMENTS

Illustrating again with Nelson and Trail, he showed that Nelson was charged for these services for the 12 months ending last April, $8,890.60, made up of $1560.50 for mental hospital, $440 for Tranquille sanitarium, $4751.80 for hospitals, $1074.46 for mothers pensions, and $1062.60 under the Infant's act, while Trail's total was $15,431.85, made up of $1140 for mental hospital, $1627.85 for Tranquille, $10,000 for hospital, and $2664 for mothers pensions. These totals represented a tax of 2.3 mills to Nelson of 4.8 mills to Trail.

Adding these millages to those representing the loss of revenue under the Liquor Control act, Mr. O'Shea found that Trail was adversely affected to the equivalent of 8.5 mills, and Nelson to the equivalent of 5.62 mills, with the millage for social services in each case bound to grow.

With a tax level that could not be raised any higher, the decrease in revenue and the increase in obligations meant only one thing, Mr. O'Shea, said—curtailment of necessary municipal services—for by the time fixed charges were met, and necessary maintenance of public utilities, and social service charges, there was only one direction in which retrenchment could be affected.

A further resut, he suggested, would be reversion of lands for unpaid taxes, and an increasing burden on those left.

POSSIBLE NEW SOURCES

Possible and appropriate sources of municipal revenue were hinted at by Mr. O'Shea in the last part of his submission. Much provincial revenue arose in municipalities that was attributable largely to municipal service.

First of these was liquor licences and liquor profits. Beer licences were in respect to a business carried on in the municipality. The municipality furnished all the municipal services, and saw that the act was enforced. He held that the licence fees should go to the municipality, together with a portion of the liquor profits.

Of the 7 cents per gallon gasoline tax, taken by the province for road purposes, the greater part of the revenue arose in the municipalities, and it was likewise derived from business carried on in the municipalities. Motor traffic within the municipalities exceeded that outside them, Mr. O'Shea said, yet the municipalities were obliged to maintain their roads without any benefit from this tax. He felt they should have a portion of it.

Similarly he said the amusement tax arose chiefly from business in the municipalities and was paid chiefly by the residents of municipalities. It bore a close relation to the public services rendered by the municipalities, for the more they made themselves habitable places, the better producers they were of amusement tax. The municipalities, he held, were entitled to a portion of this tax.

The income tax, including the 1 per cent temporary one, was largely derived from residents of municipalities, and he figured the municipalities were entitled to some of it.

Mr. O'Shea, when speaking of the burdens of municipalities, asked the commissioners to note that no plea was being based on the relief situation, which all hoped would soon pass away.

In asking for new sources of revenue, however, he referred to the province requiring the municipalities to meet one-third of relief costs within their borders, and suggested that the one-third principle might be adopted in distributing provincial revenue arising within the municipalities, though he thought that actually population should be the basis.

"It should work both ways," commented Judge Harper.

A further point mentioned by Mr. O'Shea was that in every municipality was provincial property that paid no municipal taxes, but enjoyed all municipal service. This was a reason for returning some revenue to the municipality.

Respecting legislation affecting municipal finance, Mr. O'Shea held that it should never be brought into effect until the year following enactment, as the councils were obliged to make their budgets at the beginning of the year. This year legislation of 1933 vitally affecting municipal financing came into effect in April.

UNTAPPED SOURCES

He offered three suggestions as to directions in which the province might seek new revenue, the first being reduction and curtailment of legislative and administrative expenses.

"It might not be within our jurisdiction to recommend that," commented Judge Harper with a smile.

Mr. O'Shea's second suggestion was an unearned increment tax on the sale of lands, and interest in land such as mining and timber property, and he held it should produce considerable revenue.

"Will a man get a rebate if he buys for $1000 and sells for $500?" asked Commissioner Anscomb.

The answer was in the negative.

An alternative for the unearned increment tax was a straight tax on the sale of property. Mr. O'Shea said, but it would be not so just, as it would hit the man who sold at a loss, and of recent years he had been very numerous.

Judge Harper thanked Mr. O'Shea for his very clear presentation of the Kootenay municipalities case, characterizing it as "very impressive."

Mr. Clegg informed the commissioners that City Clerk J. A. McLeod of Rossland regretted having been unable to assist in preparing the brief, owing to illness, but would be glad to furnish comparable figures from Rossland later. He stated that the millages for Rossland and other mining centers would be still more emphatic than those in the brief, and mentioned the cost to which Rossland was put in maintenance of services in the 1930-acre area incorporated in boom days.

Judge Harper suggested Mr. McLeod could forward his figures.

CRESTON SITUATION

Taking the floor briefly, Commissioner Walter Jackson showed the severe effects the loss of the liquor profits and the pari-mutuel profits had on the financing of Creston village. In 1932, he stated, the liquor profits grant was $1995.50, the grant from motor licences around $760, and the pari-mutuel grant nearly $200, the total being $2984.93.

Of revenues raised locally, Mr. Jackson said, the village commission found that the road tax was all it had to go on, and the burden of maintaining public service fell on 232 tax-payers.

He said Creston's finances were not built up well enough to stand the loss of grants, and he feared that if the mill rate had to be raised, the people would lose confidence in their young municipality. The village dropped $850 behind in 1932, and about $150 more this year.

On an assessment of $431,443 in 1932 the total levy was $2714.08, the rate being 12 mills for ordinary purposes and 14 mills for schools.

Mayor Douglas said Fernie would prepare a statement of its reductions and payments, which would probably show a larger proportion of injury than those in the brief.

Advocacy for Central Bank is General

TORONTO, Sept. 11.—Statements by four economists, protests from investment bankers against the chartered banks dealing in securities, and finally presentation of briefs on behalf of Toronto banks, were crowded into the royal commission on banking's final day in Toronto. Its work here concluded, Lord Macmillan and his colleagues left this evening for Ottawa. The commission will not resume public sittings there until Thursday morning. On that day, according to present plans, general managers of Canadian banks will appear to make statements on behalf of their institutions.

Today advocacy of a central bank for Canada was general. Three members of the faculty of Queen's university discussed the need for such an institution, and its relation to the future monetary policy of Canada. Previously Profess T. E. Gregory, of London, England, university, had advocated the creation of such an institution.

Commercial potato growers whose stock is infested with diseases or contains mixed varieties would find it decidedly advantageous to secure certified seed. It is not the chief purpose of the department of agriculture to encourage potato growers to use certified seed with a view to having their crops inspected for certification purposes, because every potato grower has not the necessary patience and time, or suitable location and equipment, for growing certified seed. The object of the department rather is to have growers use the best seed obtainable for their commercial crop, and help to keep down to a minimum destructive plant diseases, with their resultant serious effect on yields. The use of certified potato seed on many farms would double the yields now being obtained.
