GERMANY ADMITS ARMS PLANTS GOING FULL BLAST BUT WILL TALK REDUCTION

Doukhobor Paraders Urge Release of Peter Verigin

300 Stopped From Marching to Nelson But Send Letter Giving Ultimatum; Grand Forks Demonstration Saturday

Peaceful demonstrations in the form of parades, reported to involve 550 Community and independent Doukhobors—300 from the Kootenay river settlements and 250 from the Grand Forks valley settlements—occurred Saturday and Monday, their objective being to secure the release from jail in Manitoba, of Peter Verigin, president of the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood, Ltd.

The Doukhobor leader, after losing his appeal to the Manitoba court of appeals from a two-month sentence imposed on him for an assault on Anmeter, an interpreter, surrendered to the Manitoba authorities last Wednesday, and was placed in the Headingly jail, near Winnipeg.

300 START FOR NELSON

In the case of the Kootenay river settlements, a meeting held at Tarry's Sunday decided to demand the release of Peter by March 20, threatening rupture of relations should the authorities not accede, and Monday a march on Nelson was attempted by approximately 300 adult Doukhobors, the majority being women, to hand the Tarry's resolution to The Nelson Daily News and request its publication.

Inspector John Macdonald, commanding "B" division of the British Columbia police, however, halted the throng at Pop Inn, this side of South Slocan, and advised that a march to Nelson would not be permitted. On being informed the object was to call on Manager F. F. Payne of The Nelson Daily News,

RAIL WORKERS NOT IN 8-HOUR DAY FOR YEAR

Bill Allows Time for Arranging New Agreement

OTTAWA, March 18 (CP)—The eight-hour day bill, advanced through committee stage in the house of commons today, will not apply for one year to union employees of Canadian railways. The bill stands for third reading.

Sponsored by Minister of Labor Wesley Gordon, a clause was added to the bill stipulating that the railways and their union employees will be given until March 31, 1936, to negotiate new agreements. In the meantime, the present agreements, based on mileage and not hours, will stand. The clause was drafted at a conference where labor unions and railways were represented.

The bill will not come into general force until three months after it passes the senate, but railway companies, the largest employers of labor in the country, will be given an extra period of grace because of the difficulty of negotiating agreements with the various running trades.

The bill went through committee stage today without opposition but it will be two or three days before it receives final reading.

Hint Dropped at Meeting of Council That Tax Cut Looms

Annual Budget Not Ready But Finance Chief Sharp Indicates Tax Reduction; City to Collect the Back Accounts

It looked for a time at Monday night's city council meeting that the budget for 1935-36 would be presented by Alderman Roy Sharp, chairman of the finance committee, but towards the end of the meeting he made the announcement that it could not be brought in at present as several angles had to be cleared up.

He did, however, hint that when the budget comes down shortly it will include a reduction in taxes for citizens of Nelson. He declared that the finance committee had been working on the mill rate and that in all probability a reduction in taxes would be announced. The council, while passing no comment, gave indication of pleasure at this assuring news.

COLLECT BACK ACCOUNTS

Alderman Sharp also brought up the matter of collecting back accounts on electric light and water rates. He declared that there was $8000 outstanding on the city's books in these two departments and he asked for full support of the council in a drive to collect the arrears. Of the $8000 figure $5000 is owing in electric light bills and $3000 in water bills. Mr. Sharp believed the bills should be collected and the council unanimously passed a resolution ordering the city clerk to "collect arrears of rates owing to the municipality or see that a satisfactory arrangement is made for payments of back accounts."

LIBEL ACTION FILED IN U.S. RELIEF FIGHT

Davey Files Criminal Action Against Hopkins

COLUMBUS, O., March 18 (AP).—Governor Martin L. Davey filed a criminal libel action today against Federal Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins and prepared to go before the legislature with his side of the controversy over relief administration in Ohio.

Hopkins answered with an announcement that affidavits on which he has based charges of "corruption" in the Ohio relief administration have been sent both to the state attorney-general and to prosecuting attorneys of two Ohio counties.

After swearing out the criminal libel warrant against Hopkins in municipal court at Newark, O., the governor sent word to the legislature that he wished to appear to discuss the relief situation "so that Ohio and the nation may know the truth."

No comment was forthcoming from Hopkins at Washington regarding the libel action. Meanwhile, C. C. Stillman, federal relief administration regional officer, took over administration of Ohio federal relief. He was designated after Hopkins, in a letter to Davey Saturday, asserted he had "incontrovertible evidence" of political corruption in the Ohio relief administration.

"Now World Knows Where We Stand" Says Goebbels, Replying to British Note

He Suggests the World Knew All the Time What Was Going on; Is "Amazed" at the Astonishment Abroad

(Copyright, 1935, by the Associated Press)

BERLIN, March 18—With German arms plants working virtually "on a war footing" according to the government's own admission, Reichsfuehrer Hitler replied to Britain's protest today that he still is willing to talk peace with Sir John Simon.

Immediately after answering London's note that Hitler's rearmament is "calculated seriously to increase the uneasiness of Europe," Propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels told the world.

"Germany already possesses a powerful, well-equipped army with excellent artillery and huge reserves of trained men."

He said material was being supplied from German arms factories "in an ever-increasing volume."

The propaganda minister in a press communique said Germany was "amazed at the astonishment manifested abroad at the re-creation of a Germany army."

"One would have believed," he said, "that the news would have been received with visible relief and satisfaction, now that the world knows where we stand. Not that it was not aware before, but it has the certainty now."

15 BILLS UP AT VICTORIA

Given Third Reading; Wage Act Is Argued

VICTORIA, March 18 (CP). — Fifteen bills were given third reading at today's session of the legislature, one measure was reported complete with amendments and others reported progress.

In addition, Hon. Wells Gray, minister of municipal affairs, introduced the Prince Rupert refunding measure.

Morning sessions of the house begin tomorrow and it is hoped to prorogue Friday, or Saturday morning at the latest.

The Fraser river bridge and Vancouver finances are yet to come up for discussion, however, and these two measures will take considerable time before being passed.

Bills given third reading today included:

Adoption of Children act; Male Minimum Wage act; Canadian North Eastern Railway Company act; Ladner Bridge Company Ltd. act; Placer-Mining act; City of Armstrong Incorporation act; Training of Apprentices act; Civil Service Superannuation act; Coal and Petroleum act; Deserted Wives Maintenance act; Divorce and Matrimonial Causes act; Woodmen's Lien for Wages act; Land Registry act; and the gasoline and fuel oil taxes.

Progress was reported on the Hours of Work act and the B.C. University act was reported complete with amendments.

When the Apprentices act came up for passage, R. R. Burns (Lib.-Rossland-Trail) stated that some boys began their apprenticeship at the age of 14, but Hon. G. S. Pearson, minister of labor, registered strong objection to lowering the age from 16, saying it was the intention to get away from child labor. A boy starting to learn a trade at 16 would complete his apprenticeship when he reached the age of 21. There were, said Mr. Pearson, enough men out of work now without creating more competition.

The Civil Service Superannuation act was productive of much argument before being given third reading.

E. E. Winch (C.C.F.-Burnaby) wanted farm laborers and domestics included in the Male Minimum Wage act as amended, but Mr. Pearson stated there was great difficulty in arriving at a fair wage for them. He was anxious to include both classes in the legislation and would devote much attention to the subject during the year. Mr. Winch accepted this assurance and withdrew his amendment.

The question of a minimum wage for men working split shifts was injected into the discussion and Mr. Pearson informed the opposition he had that matter under consideration also.

He noted a complaint from E. E. Winch to the effect that janitors and engineers in Vancouver apartment houses were working 16 hours a day.

Duke Faces Charge False Pretenses

LONDON, March 18 (CP cable)—The 30-year-old Duke of Manchester was charged on a warrant in Westminster police court today with obtaining £60 (about $300) by false pretenses early in 1933 from two men now deceased.

After evidence concerning the arrest was taken he was remanded on bail on the duke's own recognizance and surety of £250.

The duke's younger son, Lord Edward Montagu, one-time Alberta rancher, is now returning from France after a second unsuccessful attempt to enlist in the French foreign legion.

BRITAIN TO GUARD AGAINST AIR RAIDS

LONDON, March 18 (AP). — Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald told the house of commons today that Great Britain was one of the most vulnerable nations in Europe to air attack and would soon begin the consideration of precautionary measures to guard against death from the skies.

Asked when he "proposed to give information" to the public concerning protection against air bombing attacks, the prime minister replied: "It is proposed very shortly to begin consultations with local authorities all over the country."

TWO ESTATES PAY $424,000 DEATH TAXES TO B. C.

VICTORIA, March 18 (CP) — Death taxes paid by the estates of two Victorians, probated before Mr. Justice H. B. Robertson of the supreme court, account for more than the $424,000 estimated current surplus of the British Columbia government, it was revealed today when returns covering the completion of payment of the death duties came through.

The two estates are those of:

Stephen Jones, probated at $1,000,000 death taxes paid to the B.C. government, $183,000.

J. A. Sayward, probated at $1,500,000 death taxes paid to the B.C. government, $300,000.

Payment of the total of $483,000 covering the two estates was made through the legal firm of Elliott, MacLean and Shandley, which handled in the courts the probate of both estates.

HOUDE OFF TO OTTAWA

MONTREAL, March 18 (CP). — Mayor Camillien Houde left here for Ottawa today to seek an audience with the Dominion government next week for the congress of Canadian mayors which will assemble here to discuss the problem of direct relief costs. It has been indicated that the mayors of Canadian municipalities will ask the Dominion government and the various provincial governments to assume the entire burden of direct relief.

G. G. McGeer, mayor of Vancouver, will fly across the continent to attend the meeting. It was announced today.

Sheep Breeders Approve Grading

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C., March 18 (CP).—British Columbia sheep breeders have gone on record as approving meat grading in their industry and the Dominion department of agriculture will be asked to include the inspection of sheep products in the duties of the marketing board.

The action was taken at the 19th annual meeting of the B.C. Wool Growers' association which concluded here over the week-end.

William Harrison of Pritchard, B.C., was re-elected president of the organization for his 15th consecutive year.

Leonard Hoover of Kamloops was re-elected vice-president with Peter Carconier second vice-president and Miss M. E. Lauder, secretary.

LOGS FALL ON HIM

QUESNEL, B.C., March 18 (CP). —Rescued from beneath a load of logs by neighbors who found him after his dog had attracted attention, Kenneth Carlisle, manager of the B. & Q. Lumber company near here, is in hospital today recovering from a broken arm.

TOWER NOT TO BE DISMISSED

LONDON, March 18 (CP cable)—The board of admiralty after reviewing the evidence tonight, recorded drastic changes in the verdicts handed out by the naval court-martial held at Portsmouth following the collision between the big battle cruisers Hood and Renown.

The higher body failed to agree that no blame attached to either Rear-Admiral Sidney Bailey, commander of the battle cruiser squadron, or Capt. F. T. B. Towers, commander of the Hood; while they reduce the sentence on the remaining accused officer, Capt. H. R. Sawbridge of the Renown.

Captain Sawbridge had been convicted of negligence and sentenced to dismissal from his command retirement on half pay. The admiralty board orders the sentence reduced to a severe reprimand, which will permit him to resume his command on the Renown.

The commander of the battle cruiser squadron and the Hood's captain, who was Rear-Admiral Bailey's flag-captain, were both somewhat to blame for the collision which occurred off the Spanish coast in January, said the board of admiralty.

The board found Rear-Admiral Bailey adopted an unusual procedure in directing the Hood and Renown to steer definite courses in closing in on each other during maneouvres. Since he had given that order, which brought about the collision, responsibility for the maneouvres rested on him, and it was incumbent on him at the proper moment to make a signal to reform the squadron.

Securities May Be Probed

TORONTO, March 18 (CP).—Possibility that all securities listed in Ontario would be required to receive aproval from his department before going on sale was voiced today by J. M. Godfrey, Ontario securities commissioner. Since he took office last summer he declared 200 salesmen of irregular stock had been obliged to leave Toronto and 40 brokerage houses had closed. His department had handled "hundreds of investigations" and in five and one-half months had recovered for investors $192,709.

BRITAIN WOULD BE SLOW GETTING ARMY OUT

LONDON, March 18 (AP).—Great Britain could not throw an army into the field as quickly as at the beginning of the Great War, Captain Douglas Hacking, financial secretary to the war office, said tonight as the house of commons drove ahead with increased army estimates calling for a force of 132,000 men.

Capt. Hacking, who had been asked how many divisions could be sent abroad, replied:

"I can only say that it is not to the public interest to give such information. Obviously, we cannot go into details of mobilization but, at the present moment, at any rate, it would take longer to have these divisions mobilized than in 1914."

AGNES MACPHAIL CHARGES DAWSON

OTTAWA, March 18 (CP).—Agnes Macphail (Prog., Southeast Grey) charged in the house of commons today that Inspector Dawson of the penitentiary division "used abusive and profane language in regard to myself" when talking to a prisoner in Kingston penitentiary.

Miss Macphail said the interview was held in the prison lecture room April 5, 1934, with prisoner 3033. The prisoner since had been released and was willing to testify, she said.

COAL QUOTA URGED

EDMONTON, March 18 (CP).—Adoption of a compulsory coal quota system under which the eastern market would absorb part of the Alberta production was advocated in the Alberta legislature today by A. Smeaton, Labor member for Lethbridge.

MAY 18 WILL BE GOODWILL DAY

VICTORIA, March 18 (CP). — Goodwill day will be celebrated on May 18 when a message to children all over the world will be broadcast from Wales, according to advices received by the British Columbia government from W. A. McAdam, acting agent-general for British Columbia in London.

This is the thirteenth year that Goodwill day has been celebrated in this fashion and the number of acknowledgments sent in by children has grown steadily, according to Mr. McAdam.

Woman Committed for Counterfeit

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C., March 18. (CP).—Rose Hunald, 37, was committed for trial on a charge of possessing counterfeit money, by Police Magistrate R. L. Edmonds here today.

The woman was arrested by Royal Canadian Mounted police near Cloverdale three weeks ago.

Will These European Statesmen Really Meet to Talk Peace?

All the world was stirred over the week-end by Germany's overthrow of the Treaty of Versailles and the order to conscript an army four times the size allowed under the treaty that terminated the Great War. Conscription will also be ordered in the navy and the air forces. This move came following Britain's "White paper" calling for a greater defence force for Great Britain. Stanley Baldwin, acting premier, stated last week that Britain's frontier was on the Rhine. Above is shown Chancellor Hitler in a characteristic pose. The sketch shows a portion of Europe with the British soldier pointing to the "frontier" of the Rhine. Below is Sir John Simon, British foreign minister, whose trip to talk peace with Hitler may now be postponed. The building is the presidential palace in Germany.

PROTEST CLOSING OF ANYOX PLANT

VANCOUVER, March 18 (CP).—The Vancouver board of trade tonight addressed recommendations to the British Columbia and Dominion governments that everything possible be done to prevent the closing down of the Granby Consolidated Mining & Smelting company's plant at Anyox, B.C.

Granby officials have intimated that unless conditions improve it will be necessary to close the Anyox plant indefinitely.

Such action, the board of trade brief states, would result in the loss of several million dollars to various industries in the province and would mean that some 2000 persons would be thrown on relief.

At Anyox 1000 men would be thrown out of employment and some 2000 persons left without means of support.

Industries in the province would stand to lose about $1700 in orders for supplies, equipment and machinery, the brief adds, and the estimated payroll loss would be around $1,500,000.

Bessboroughs on Way to the West

OTTAWA, March 18 (CP).—The governor-general and Countess of Bessborough left Ottawa tonight on a farefell tour of western Canada that will take them first to Saskatoon.

They were accompanied by their daughter, Lady Moyra Ponsonby, Mark Baring, his excellency's nephew; A. F. Lascelles, his secretary, and Lieut.-Col. H. Willis O'Connor and Sir Michael Clyme-Seymour, aides-de-camp.

Bennett Better

OTTAWA, March 18 (CP).—An official bulletin read in the house of commons today, from the physician attending Prime Minister R. B. Bennett, revealed that the patient had suffered two recurrences of his cardiac disturbance during last week, on Monday and Wednesday, but since then had shown steady improvement. Reports from the sickroom tonight were to the effect that Mr. Bennett's condition was unchanged.

"SHOWDOWN" ON GERMANY IS NEAR

GENEVA, March 18 (AP).—Opinion in the League of Nations is swinging around to the view a showdown on the sincerity of Germany's peace intentions is now a possibility.

This is founded on a paragraph in Germany's official statement Saturday that "having regained her honor by authority of rights Germany can now contribute to the pacification of the world in collaboration with other nations."

Geneva continues to believe the official protest of Germany's denunciation of the military clauses of the Versailles treaty is possible either at a meeting of the league council or even at a league assembly.

LLOYDS REDUCES ODDS AGAINST A WAR

LONDON, March 18 (AP)—Lloyds, Ltd., underwriters, were quoting only 10 to 1 today against a new conflagration involving Great Britain within 12 months. Three months ago, said the Daily Express, Lloyds offered 25 to 1 on the same conditions.

Odds on a war between Germany and France took a 12 point plunge with seven to one offered now, as compared to 19 to 1 last January.

FERRY OFF ITS COURSE?

VANCOUVER, March 18 (CP).—Capt. William G. Palmer of the SS. Princess Alice today told a board of inquiry that he believed West Vancouver ferry No. 5 was not on her proper course when the Canadian Pacific vessel struck the ferry and sank her in first narrows last month.

The two vessels collided during a dense fog on the morning of Feb. 4. Mrs. W. E. Burpee of Vancouver was drowned when she was imprisoned in the ferry when it sank.

Asked at the conclusion of today's hearing if he wished to give his opinion of the cause of the casualty, Capt. Palmer said:

"I think that the Calamity Point bell wasn't ringing and that Capt. Darius Smith (ferry captain) was keeping away from his starboard shore."

War Commander of the Defences of London Dies

LONDON, March 18 (CP cable)—Major-General Sir Richard Rusk, war-time commander of London defences, died today at the age of 84 years.

He entered the army at the age of 20 and at the start of the great war was recalled to service as chief engineer of the central force. In 1913 he was made G.O.C. the London defences. For some years he was chairman of the council of the Royal Aeronautical society.

BRITAIN IS NOW MUCH RELIEVED

Expect Much From Meeting With Hitler

The Situation in Europe Seen at a Glance

(By the Canadian Press)

Monday's salient developments in the European arms situation were as follows:

The cabinet held a special session of two hours in London, during which a grave view was taken of Germany's sudden announcement of a new army with universal conscription.

A note couched in terms of formal protest was drafted and some hours later presented by the British ambassador in Berlin to the German foreign minister, Konstantin von Neurath. The note reminded Germany of her previous agreement to take over the security proposals in the Anglo-French communique of February 3.

London later received assurances from Berlin that were satisfactory enough to cause announcement that the British visit to Berlin next week would be carried out as originally planned.

The French and Italian governments, keeping closely in touch with the British government, dropped the idea of a formal joint protest, for the time being at any rate.

In Germany, steps to put conscription into effect were taken without delay. Orders were also issued for a huge mock aerial attack on Berlin tomorrow night.

British sources denied a report emanating from Paris that the Berlin government had intimated it might build up its navy to a tonnage of 400,000. Fears that Germany would throw the naval clauses of the peace treaty into the discard along with the military and air clauses, previously had been expressed in London.

Four-Point Program to Aid B. C. Mining Suggested

IDNEY NORMAN URGES THAT GOLD TAX BE ABOLISHED AND SECURITIES ACT BE CHANGED

Would Have Publicity Campaign by the Government

RESENTS IDEAS TO MINES BODY

Thinks Would Bring $50,000,000 in New Capital

VICTORIA, B.C., March 18 (CP)—A four-point program to aid the ining industry of British Columbia as recommended to the mining ommittee of the legislature today y Sidney Norman of Vancouver. Mr. Norman would remove the Dominion tax on gold, have the overnment embark upon an inensive publicity campaign showng the potential mineral resources f the province, revamp the secrities frauds prevention act so hat promoters would know what hey can and can not do and reieve the registrar of so much iscretionary power.

Strengthening of the criminal staes where necessary was also adocated by Mr. Norman, in discusng mining promotions.

The securities act should be placd under supervision of a special epresentative experienced in comny promotions, he believed.

Mr. Norman told the committee at the inflow of United States oney into Canadian mining ventres ceased with the placing of a x on gold by the federal authoriies. He believed that if this tax re removed and the B.C. government placed a bonus of one dollar an ounce on gold, it would bring from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000 of outside capital into the province.

Blue sky laws had proved harmful to mining development across the border, Mr. Norman went on, and only last week the Washington state legislature had amended its laws, taking away exemptions from the metalliferous mines but exempting sale of original treasury shares, making the new legislation effective only on resale of stock to brokers or private individuals.

BETTER ADMINISTRATION

The Securities Act in B.C. was as well administered as could be under the circumstances but more effective administration could be obtained by revamping it. Ninety per cent of promotions were made possible through brokers and stock exchanges and care should be taken to avoid retardation of development by oppressive laws.

Dugald McPherson, chairman of the committee, thought the tax on gold was fair enough, seeing that its value had been boosted 70 per cent, but Mr. Norman stated the tax and rumored changes in B.C. mining laws was frightening United States capital away.

Max Grossman, solicitor for the Vancouver stock exchange, agreed with Mr. Norman, that the securities act was hampering the industry. He said it should not be abolished, but tightened.

Ninety per cent of evil practices in mining could be abolished by two or three well placed prosecutions, Mr. Grossman said.

As for the Vancouver stock exchange, there was no organization in the province under such complete control both by the government and by the exchange management and every effort was made to curb the evils of the industry.

DAILY SUPERVISION

Members of the exchange were the only people in the brokerage business who had large investments, a sum of $10,000 floating capital being available by members at all times and a seat on the exchange costing around $15,000. There was daily supervision and clearing house regulations.

From 50 to 75 complaints were received weekly by clients of members but 90 per cent were not substantiated, he said. The exchange had nothing to do with dishonest promoters, some of who had obtained amounts of stock never justified.

News items by promoters about there properties were a source of worry to honest brokers, Mr. Grossman said and should be curbed through government regulations. A few prosecutions of promoters would have a most beneficial effect on the industry, he believed.

Mining engineers should also be checked up on their reports, he said, citing a case where much money was lost in a property never justifying the glowing report made by an engineer.

Harmful publicity stops mine financing quicker than anything else, Mr. Grossman said.

The Vancouver exchange had rejected as many applications for listing as it had on the board. Some of these companies were in the hands of promoters who held long term options at low prices. This was the worst kind of promotion and the Securities Act should have power to control such evils at the source, he concluded.

ROADS IN GOOD SHAPE AT TRAIL

Fruitvale Cutoff Yet to Be Opened; Season Early

TRAIL, B.C., March 18.—Roads in the surrounding district of Trail and Rossland are in excellent condition for this time of year, according to Rossland-Trail riding public works department officials.

The Paterson road from Rossland to the international border is better on this side of the line than on the other, though it is not in first class shape. Down the Pend d'Oreille valley the road has been graded and traffic on this route is having no difficulty.

The Fruitvale cutoff, with the exception of a few bad spots is in good shape though beyond Fruitvale the road has not been opened yet this spring.

The department is making tentative plans for the spending of the district road grant which is $1000 larger this year than last.

ABE GOLDMAN IS GIVEN SIX MONTHS

Abe Goldman of South Slocan was sentenced to serve six months in the provincial jail at Nelson Saturday by Stipendiary Magistrate John Cartmel, when he was convicted on a charge of unlawfully keeping liquor for sale. It was his second offence. The prosecution followed a raid on Goldman's pool room at South Slocan by Corp. David Halcrow and Constable R. H. McIntosh of the provincial police, March 15.

JAMES SHIELL IS DEAD

James Shiell, who died recently at Needles, was a brother of George Shiell, who resided at Willow Point some years ago, and also to Robert Shiell, who was a Nelson resident 36 years ago.

NAKUSP, B.C., March 18—The district of Needles lost one of its oldest residents when death called James Shiell, February 26, at the home of his brother, Robert Shiell, says the Arrow Lakes News.

Mr. Shiell was born at Galt, Ont., in April, 1858. He came west at the age of 21, to the Fraser river, where he spent some years in the lumber business.

Later, with his brother, Robert and George, he came to the Slocan district, prospecting in many of the well known mining camps. In 1900 they took up ranching at Needles, on the Arrow lakes, coming in over the Monashee mountain from Vernon. During his long residence here, he made many friends.

He is survived by one sister, Mrs. Turnbull of Galt, and two brothers, Robert and George of Needles, also eight neices and four nephews.

The funeral took place March 1, conducted by Rev. Mr. Addyman of Nakusp.

Goatfell East Notes

GOATFELL, EAST, B.C., March 18—Jim Mundell, occupying the position of "lamp cleaner" here, left for Cranbrook Thursday. His objective is the Rocky Moutain House region.

John Seaboro, camp barber, and general utility hand, left for Yahk and East Kootenay points Friday.

Cyril Radford, official timekeeper here, motored to Yahk Thursday on business.

Tom Hickey, public works department truck driver, spent a few days at his home in Canyon, while having repairs done on his truck at Creston.

One by one some of the camp members are leaving here, mainly for prairie points where jobs are waiting for some. A good many are biding their time until about the first of April before taking any chances.

A. Church is convalescent after an attack of flu and spring-fever.

Major C. W. Jones was among those who motored to Kingsgate and Eastport Wednesday.

Charlie Chenier, veteran camp member, although nearing his seventieth birthday, has established a record for one of his years. Wednesday after supper, he hiked from here to Glenlily farm area, a distance of eight miles, returning back to camp about 9 o'clock, covering 16 miles in all. He felt "like a colt" next morning, he stated.

Jean Gorrigan, first aid dispenser here, returned Wednesday from Yahk, where he had been overnight celebrating his birthday.

John McKinly, who has been ill is recovering and will soon resume his duties at the anvil.

GYROS HEAR SHOW CHORUS

Endorse Resolution on Local Radio Reception

Gyro members were entertained at their club luncheon in the Hume silver ball room Monday night by the "Frown" chorus which will be featured in their coming show, "Campus Co-ed," and by Alfred Parker, member of the older boys parliament. The program was in the hands of A. C. Emory.

Mr. Emory stated that during the last eight years he had been in charge of boys' work, five boys from his group had represented the Kootenays at the boys parliament at Vancouver. Alfred Parker, last representative, who was the club's guest, outlined the Tuxis and Trail Rangers' work, and the last parliament activities. Both were congratulated for their work with the boys, Parker having recently taken over a group of his own.

ASK BETTER RADIO RECEPTION

Ross Fleming, representing a committee appointed to take up the question of radio reception in the city, was presented at the meeting and presented a resolution which the club endorsed. The resolution asks that the Canadian radio commission make a survey of the situation in Nelson and district with a view of providing Canadian programs for the radio owners. It left the question of an additional station, or means how the service might be improved, up to the commission. P. H. Sheffield and others voiced the opinion that radio owners should receive some consideration for the licence fees they paid for the radio reception.

Jack Morris announced that on Sunday the entire cast of "Campus Co-ed" had been put through the various parts for the first time. It was a fine show with plenty of peppy songs and dances, and the cast had been well chosen, he said.

Visitors of the club included H. H. Pegler of Victoria, Frank Miggins of Vancouver, Ross Fleming, Harold Brown and Alfred Parker.

James Lawrie and N. J. Lowes were welcomed into the club and will be initiated next meeting night.

Jack Morris, R. D. Barnes and A. Baird were named convention committee members with power to add to their numbers. Club members would have plenty of work during the coming year with the district 8 convention slated for Nelson, it was pointed out.

Standing committees for 1935 were announced by Vic Owen as follows, chairmen being mentioned first in each case:

Entertainment—G. Dill, G. Bennett, D. Cummings, A. Carter and Dr. H. H. MacKenzie.

Membership—J. D. Notman, G. Fleury, J. O. Lennie and S. Haydon.

Welfare—E. L. Buchanan, G. C. Arneson and F. Ewing.

Parks—Charles Morris, W. M. Myers, George Benwell Jr., Dr. R. B. Shaw and P. H. Sheffield.

SCHMELING AND BAER IN LONDON?

BERLIN, March 18 (AP)—Walter Rothenburg, German promoter of the Max Schmeling-Steve Hamas heavyweight fight, announced today that Heavyweight Champion Max Baer would defend his title against Schmeling on August 17, probably in London.

Rothenburg said Baer is scheduled to fight the winner of the heavyweight elimination tournament now in progress in the United States in June and then, provided he successfully defends his title, will meet Schmeling in a title bout.

SACRAMENTO, Calif., March 18 (AP)—Max Baer is ready to defend his title against Max Schmeling in London Aug. 17 providing the $500,000 promised Baer by Walter Rothenburg, German promoter, is placed in a United States bank before the first bell.

This was asserted by Abell Hoffman, Baer's manager, here tonight, following Rothenburg's statement in Berlin that the Baer-Schmeling fight was definitely on for London.

COPPER MEN IN AGREEMENT

NEW YORK, March 18 (AP)—An agreement on all the major points of copper curtailment and marketing plans was reported today to have been reached by representatives of producers meeting here. No official announcement from the conferences was forthcoming.

However, quarters usually well informed on developments in the industry reported that accord on the main lines of a marketing pact had been achieved, following a similar agreement in principle on output restriction several days ago.

Copper circles believed the arrangement agreed on, while calling for the handling of sales through a single agency with offices here and aboard, did not provide for the pooling of prices. The desirability of a pooling of prices has been the principal point of controversy, it is said.

And Here Are the New Bank of Canada Bills

And this, just in case you may not see much of it for a while, is the new Canadian currency issued by the Bank of Canada. The new bill is 6" x 2⅞" as compared with the old bill which is 7⅛" x 3⅛".

BILL LAUNCHED TO ESTABLISH AN ECONOMIC COUNCIL FOR DOMINION

OTTAWA, March 18 (CP)—Acting Premier Sir George Perley today launched in the house of commons a bill to establish a national economic council.

Sir George moved the resolution, preliminary to introduction of the bill and explained its object was to utilize to better advantage, the skill, knowledge and experience of experts in the civil service and to create a body to assist in formulating government policies.

The council, he said, would be under the direction of the prime minister.

It was well known, he explained, that ministers of the crown and especially the prime minister, had too much detail work under the present Canadian system. Sir Robert Borden recognized this before the war and appointed a distinguished British civil service expert, Sir George Murray, to investigate and report. He had suggested a change to reduce the burdens of the ministers but the war had caused the plan to drop out of sight.

Governments in recent years had to take more and more note of business conditions and this placed increasing burdens on the ministers. The economic council could relieve them of some of this work. Any question whatever could be referred to the council, said Sir George. As an example of a suitable question he mentioned the growth of the cities and the declining farm population. This problem could be studied with a view to evolving a plan to make more people self-supporting on the land.

JUNIOR CHAMBER OPPOSES BRIDGE

VANCOUVER, March 18 (CP)—The junior chamber of civic affairs announced today it had completed a brief setting out its opposition to the proposed Fraser river toll bridge at New Westminster and had mailed copies to members of the legislature.

The statement reiterates that the chamber is definitely non-political and that its opposition to the bridge project does not imply opposition to the government.

Instead of the proposed structure at an estimated cost of around $4,000,000 the brief favors rebuilding of the present structure along modern lines so as to elevate the roadway entirely above the girders and permit a three-lane traffice way.

Bridge piers are not old at 20 years the statement adds. Consequently a reconstruction of the bridge along the lines proposed, involving only a slight increase of foundation loads, would provide practically a new bridge, not necessarily less permanent than the proposed entirely new bridge, and at a fraction of the cost.

The brief also questions if a company with a subscribed capital of $400 can be considered a responsible company to undertake construction of the proposed new bridge.

TRAIL MAN UP ON CHARGE OF GIVING LIQUOR TO MINORS

TRAIL, B.C., March 18.—Alphonse August Berthe was sentenced to a fine of $300 and costs or three months in the Nelson jail with hard labor when he was arraigned before Deputy Police Magistrate Donald MacDonald Monday afternoon, on a charge of supplying liquor to minors.

Island Mountain Produces $38,000

VANCOUVER, March 18 (CP).—Island Mountain Mines, Ltd., in the Cariboo district, today reported production for February at 1090 ounces of gold, valued at present gold prices at approximately $38,500.

January production was 1213 ounces valued at $31,500, due to a lower price for the metal. December and November production was also valued at $31,000 each month.

LONDON (CP) — Capt. Adrian Jones, 80 years old, the oldest practising sculptor in the world, has been awarded the gold medal of the Royal Society of British Sculptors.

NEATH, Wales (CP)—Four hundred of 600 former employees of a tinplate works, idle for one year, have been reabsorbed on the reopening of the plant.

South Slocan W. I. to Help Hall Fund

SOUTH SLOCAN, B.C., March 18—A meeting of the Bonnington and South Slocan Women's Institute was held in the hall March 6 with a record attendance of members and visitors. Mrs. P. O. Bird presided.

A motion was carried to donate $10 to the Hall society.

Mrs. O. W. Humphry and Mrs. Wilson Whiteley were appointed auditors.

Mrs. Andrew Willey was elected as a director on the motion of the secretary, Mrs. M. Downie, who agreed to forfeit her vote as director in favor of Mrs. Willey.

A resolution from the Robson Women's Institute as follows was unanimously endorsed: "That the standardization of education and text books for the four provinces, British Columbia, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta and the less frequent changing of text books, be taken up."

Mrs. John Murray, convenor of public health and child welfare reported she had attended 25 sick cases.

Mrs. Walkley convenor of social work reported sending flowers and fruit to invalids. Many letters of appreciation were recorded from the recipients.

Mrs. Willey, convenor of immigration gave a report showing the racial origin of immigration to Canada in 1934.

Mrs. Bird, president, expressed her thanks to all who had helped with the success of the recent entertainment, especially to Mr. Frank Scott, who had directed the play, to the girl guides, Mabel Baker, Meg Bradshaw, Sigrid Andersen and Lily Edwards for selling candy and to the Boy Scouts, Douglas Elston, Bob Elston, David Motley, Ralph Johnson, Graeme Tindale and Colin McDonald for clearing the hall for the dance; and to Mrs. A. Willey and Mrs. E. J. McGregor who had taken charge of refreshments.

The social fund was augmented by the sale of aprons donated by a member.

A demonstration of "icing cakes" was given by Mrs. J. D. Yeatman.

Mrs. L. B. Cox and Mrs. Bowkett served tea.

A lantern lecture was given in the hall March 7, by Miss Elis Ganner depicting scenes in India and the South Sea islands. The Boy Scouts helped with the arrangement of the hall. Proceeds were donated to the Brownies of which Miss Ganner is the Brown Owl.

Hostesses at the Badminton club of No. 3 plant on the social club days of the past two weeks were Mrs. Frank Scott and Mrs. Alex McDonald who entertained at the tea hour. Mrs. Harry James was also a tea hostess March 7 with Mrs. E. J. Bowkett and Miss Elis Ganner serving refreshments in the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hardin were Nelson visitors March 8.

Rise of the Lake Level Continues

Continuing to rise the twentieth part of a foot each 24 hours, the West Arm at Nelson stood at 1.4 feet above the low water mark late Monday afternoon. Sunday's reading was 1.35 feet. There has now been a steady rise for four or five days.

NELSON-TRAIL ROAD OPENED

Trail-Castlegar Section Said to Be Good

TRAIL, B.C., March 18.—With resumption of the Castlegar ferry service, road traffic to Nelson is again open, but car drivers are anxious to know the road condition before venturing on the trip. It is anticipated that bus service between the two cities will be resumed Thursday or Friday.

Reports state that from Trail to Castlegar the road is in good condition with the exception of the Kinnaird flats stretch.

Beyond Castlegar reports have it that the danger of getting stuck in the mud lurks.

WALLACE AND BLAND ALL SET

VANCOUVER, March 18 (CP).—Tommy Bland of Toronto and Gordon Wallace of Vancouver tonight wound up training for their 12-round fight for the Canadian welterweight title here Wednesday night.

Following announcement that the Canadian Boxing federation had put its official "okay" on the fight as a title bout, Promoter Jack Allen came out with a diamond studded gold belt for the victor. To retain permanent possession of the belt the winner must defend it successfully three times in bouts sanctioned by the Vancouver boxing commission and the Canadian federation.

Bland went through six rounds of furious milling with a trio of sparring partners tonight and took a half hour of gym work before calling it a day. Tomorrow he will taper off with light gym exercises. Wallace is following a similar program.

VERDUN QUEBEC WINNERS

MONTREAL, March 18 (CP).—Although defeated 2-1 tonight Verdun Maple Leafs, champions of the Junior Hockey association, became junior champions of the province of Quebec by a two-game total-goal score of 5-4 over Cranes, last year's provincial champions and this year titleholder of the Mount Royal league.

All goals were scored in the second period, Webber and Bowles for Cranes and Pennee for Verdun. Verdun qualified to meet the winners of the Ottawa-Sudbury series in Memorial cup playdowns.

Pooling Feature for Marketing in Canada, Says Weir

OTTAWA, March 18 (CP).—The pooling of products will continue to be an important provision in many schemes under the Marketing act, Hon. Robert Weir, minister of agriculture, said today. "Neither the marketing board nor myself have ever considered forsaking the principle of pooling products," he said.

Recently reports had been circulated, Mr. Weir explained, stating that, in view of defeat of the poultry schemes in the prairie provinces, the principle of pooling would not be considered in any future schemes authorized under the act. This was incorrect, he said. Many schemes in operation provided for pooling products and the same was true of a number of schemes yet to be submitted to producers.

Solemnly Swears

MRS. ADGOA NORMANDIN

Mrs. Normandin, 1347 Lagauchetiere Street, Montreal, tells in a sworn statement how her constipation and indigestion were completely relieved by Fruit-a-tives. She explains that she is now entirely well and full of life and energy. So you can be certain of the truth of her statement, Mrs. Normandin made it under oath before a Notary. She states:—"I was sleepy and dizzy after meals. I suffered badly from indigestion. Everything I ate formed a lump in the stomach and gas which caused heartburn. I found that by taking Fruit-a-tives my indigestion disappeared. I am lively and energetic all day now."

Copy of Mrs. Normandin's complete sworn statement will be sent on request. Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

CRESTON MAN LAID TO REST

Joseph Drexler Was Valley Resident 20 Years

CRESTON, B.C., March. 18—The funeral took place Thursday from Holy Cross church of Joseph Drexler, a resident in this district for 30 years, who died at his home east of town Tuesday.

He was more than 80 years of age, and is survived by a widow and one daughter, Miss Annie, at home. The services were in charge of Father Choinel, and many friends paid their respects.

Miss F. Knott visited her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Barnhardt, at Glenlily.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Strong are now occupying the new residence on their ranch east of Creston.

Miss Joan Kemp, whose marriage is planned to take place in Easter week, was guest of honor at a kitchen shower at Erickson at the home of Mrs. John Hall Wednesday. Many friends were out and the bride-elect received a fine assortment of kitchen utensils.

LATE SEASON

The season is much later than a year ago. At this time in 1934, daffodils were being shipped from the Stark flower farm according to T. Leaman, who is in charge. It will be 10 days or two weeks before the blooms will be moving this season.

Registration of orchardists for the purpose of the coming poll of the B. C. tree fruit board has been completed by W. G. Littlejohn, the board's valley representative. In the area from Boswell, and including all Creston valley, there are about 250 who can vote.

Word has just been received of the death, in Scotland, of Will, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Currie, formerly of Fernie, who have been residents here for two years. A couple of years ago Will was taken with a lingering illness and went to Scotland to reside. About three months ago his parents were called to his bedside and were with him at the time of his death.

Blossom Temple Pythian Sisters entertained at bridge at the Knights of Pythias hall Friday, with quite a good turnout. High score prizes went to Mrs. J. M. Craigie and Eric Craigie. Consolation honors were awarded Mrs. Holland and H. Cowling. Supper was served.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Johnson, who have been on the Lyon ranch for some months, have left for Calgary to reside.

Harry Heinz has completed clearing and stumping three acres of the A. R. Bernard ranch at Camp Lister, which will be planted to alfalfa this spring.

Col. Fred Lister was in town from Camp Lister, en route to Nelson.

FALL FAIR POSSIBLE

At a meetin of the directors of the Agricultural association Wednesday some enthusiasm was manifest for a fall fair in 1935, after a lapse of two years. The opinion of former exhibitors will be sought by means of a post card which will be sent each one asking them to advise the secretary if they are of the opinion if fall exhibition is advisable. If there is no fall fair the Women's Institute will have a school fair.

James Webster of Cranbrook was renewing Creston acquaintances Friday.

Miss Jessie White of Kitchener was a guest of Mrs. A. McKelvey during the week.

An early start is looked for on Creston's brand new $30,000 post-office building, which amount was passed in the estimates disposed of at Ottawa at the end of February. During the week the village had a visit from Mr. Dawson, federal architect, who made an inspection of several sites, but it is reliably reported that the final choice will be between a site in the immediate vicinity of the present office—at Canyon street and Victoria avenue—and one further east along Canyon street. A site not less than 100 feet square has been the aim of the department.

Both sites are being recommended and the final decision will be made by the department, and either location will be quite satisfactory to the general public. It is understood the new building will be of brick and will be two story.

Miss Germaine Foisy of Kitchener spent a few days here a guest of Mrs. A. McKelvey.

Miss Nell Payne is a guest of Miss Agnes Crane at Wynndel.

Harold Speers of Lethbridge, Alta., is holidaying with his parents Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Speers.

Miss Irene Johnson, Calgary, is holidaying with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Johnson.

Cecil Moore is back from a few day's visit at Nelson.

Full bloom crocus were reported gathered in a village garden at the middle of the week. Due the excessive snow blanket the past winter these flowers are later than usual. Robins are quite common, and the meadow-larks are also here.

Mrs. Murray has left for two weeks' holiday with friends at Calgary, Yongstown and other Alberta points.

Women's Missionary societies of the Anglican, Presbyterian and United churches combined at a joint session at the Presbyterian church Friday for the "Word Day of Prayer." The exercises were in charge of Mrs. J. W. Dow, president of St. Stephen's W.M.S., and there was a talk on the history of the movement by Mrs. Percival, president of Christ church W.A. Mrs. W. J. Avery of Trinity United W.M.S., also had a part in the exercises, which were well attended.

Another of a series of home bridge parties for Women's Hospital auxiliary benefit was held at the home of Mrs. R. Stevens Thursday, high score prize was taken by Mrs. Benninger.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Goodwin returned Friday from a three months' holiday in southern California, making their headquarters at Long Beach.

Mr. McDonald and Mr. Tindale of the mechanical and engineering staffs of West Kootenay Power & Light Co., Ltd., South Slocan, were here making an inspection of the rock removal work at the plant at Goat River canyon, where a huge rock obstruction is being taken out to expedite the flow of water from below the power house. Foreman Smith is working a crew of 12 men and a dragline at the operations and expects to have the job complete by the end of the month. Above the dam there is a back up of slush ice for more than 200 yards, with no relief in sight until the water warms up and removal is effected by thawing.

Dyking operations by Creston Reclamation Co., Ltd., are on the home stretch, and with average weather will be completed by the end of March. About a mile of dyke is yet to be built at the Wyndel end and on this stretch two draglines and two scrapers are working three shifts. A crew is busy putting in the cement pipe and foundation for the pumps that will be used at the north end to dispose of the surplus water which will be quite considerable this spring due the heavy snowfall over the dyked lands. High water on the Kootenay River is not to be looked for according to reports from Bonners Ferry, Idaho, in which area about 25,000 acres is dyked, unless the spring is cold and hot weather comes in late and with a rush.

Pharmacy girls basketball squad were at Canyon City Friday for an exhibition game with the Canyon high school girls in which the druggists' were victorious. It was one of three games that featured a tournament at Canyon community hall the proceeds of which will help buy uniforms for the senior girls' and boys' basketball teams at that point. Following the games there was a couple of hours' dancing and entertainment. A large crowd attended.

Much sympathy is felt for Mr. and Mrs. John Miller, Jr., Alice Siding, who have just lost their home and all its contents in a fire that broke out while they were visiting the former's parents, in that section. The blaze was not noticed until it had gained considerable headway and the loss is complete including furniture, clothing and even a small sum of money.

Leave of absence has been granted Father L. Choinel, missionary priest in East Kootenay, who will leave next month on a visit to his old home in France. Father Choinel came to Moyie in 1904.

Edward Brudler, Ludwig Sommerfeld, Hans Sommerfeld and Albert Deus, all of Camp Lister, passed through en route to Nelson where they are seeking naturalization papers.

Page McPhee has returned from Trail where he was working for a few weeks.

WILLOW POINT WOMEN'S INSTITUTE APPROVES OF NELSON SPORT CENTER

WILLOW POINT, B.C., March 18.—A meeting of Willow Point Women's institute was held in the institute house, Thursday, Mrs. S. H. Applewhaite, president, was in the chair, and 12 members attended.

Business matters took up most of the afternoon. Four sacks of clothing were sent to the prairie needy and $5 to the Sumas Flood fund.

A letter from Harrop institute asked the Willow Point institute to stage an exhibit at the Trail fair. It was agreed to do so.

The Robson institute sent a resolution to be discussed and voted on. The following resolution on the same idea was drafted by the W. P. institute and will be forwarded to Victoria:

"Whereas the difference in the curriculum in the four provinces, B. C., Saskatchewan, Alberta and Manitoba, causes considerable hardship to the children who move from one province to another; and

"Whereas the present price of text books is too high for the majority of the parents; and

"Whereas the frequent changing of text books causes unnecessary expense;

"Be it resolved that the Willow Point Women's institute respectfully requests the department of education of British Columbia to take steps to standardize the curriculum in all four provinces to reduce the cost and frequent changing of text books."

The members agreed, unanimously that an auditorium would be of great benefit to Nelson, providing greater facilities in the realm of sport.

It was decided to send an invitation to the superintendent of institutes, Mrs. V. S. Machachlan, to visit the institute in the near future.

Mrs. N. Denny and Mrs. L. de Cocq were the tea hostesses.

Mrs. Churches Is Back at Waneta

WANETA, B.C., March 18.—Mrs. A. E. Churches has returned to her home from Trail.

Otto Lindstrom journied to Salmo Wednesday.

Miss Mary Seaman was among week-end guests at the home of Miss Viola Sahlstrom.

Charles La Torie has returned to his home on the Pend d'Oreille after spending a few weeks in Trail.

Bill Churches visited with friends of the upper settlement Wednesday.

Walter Sahlstrom visited Jack Henderson, Sunday.

W. MacGlaughlin visited friends on the Pend d'Oreille Sunday.

Carl Farnstrom visited W. Sahlstrom Saturday.

A. G. Hoord journied to Nelson Wednesday.

Tom Good visited friends on the Pend d'Oreille.

George Maitland visited friends Sunday.

Bob Haskel visited friends on the river Sunday.

F. Hibbert visited Mr. and Mrs. Murray.

One of the placer miners barely escaped with his life when he fell off of his raft into the Pend d'Oreille river this week. fortunately he was able to swim to the raft which had caught on a rock. The river is very swift in some places, having treacherous under currents. If the accident down the river, the man and raft would surely have gone over the ent had happened a little farther falls.

NATHAN BRINDIS

Meet the employer who refused to allow any employee to take wage cutl He is Nathan Brindis, principal owner of a shoe company at Lawrence, Mass. When 600 men and women from his factory gathered in a Lawrence hall to vote on a voluntary wage cut, Brindis took the platform. He was cheered like a conquering hero when he said he didn't wish them to take a cut and told them he probably could raise wages by July.

Former Priestly Renegade Is Honored in All Africa

Left Church to Take Native Wife and Became Trusted Adviser; Still Christian

By PIERRE VAN PAASSEN
Central Press Canadian Writer

TIMBUCTOO, March 18—Yakouba! Father Dupuis. The man who has become a legend in his own lifetime. Known all over the world through the stories and articles and books that have been written about him, the most trusted adviser the French government and the church have in the heart of Africa, a man who speaks and writes a dozen native languages and who founded a university and married a black woman told me that he would not exchange Timbuctoo for the glories of Paris, Rome and New York combined. He has lived here since 1895, came here as a priest, left the church because he wanted to marry a native, took part in a hundred expeditions as chaplain to the troops, witnessed massacres of which the world has never heard, built churches and now has a grown up family of seven children.

CAUSED FURORE

When he quit the church, which had sent him out as an ordained priest and missionary, he turned to fishing for a living. He was then considered a crazy lunatic and certainly caused an immense scandal among the whites of Nigeria, who saw in his act a serious blow to the precious prestige of the white man. Yakouba had turned her back on civilization and was going to live the simple life, back to nature, without frills and without clothes, too, for he had only one shirt on those days. From the highest to the lowest, ecclesiastical, civil, medical and military authorities all over north Africa, they all made attempts to persuade Yakouba to abandon his mad project. His answer to these pleadings by monsiegnors and governors cannot be printed here, for he is a rough-spoken fellow even now that the years have mellowed him.

"Free, I wanted to be," said Yakouba, "but when I married I became a slave indeed." He said that with a twinkle in his eye and while stroking his formidable beard, for he does not mean it at all. He knows that he owes everything to Salama, who has bossed him and cajoled and threatened him until she has turned the shirtless vagabond of 40 years ago, the renegade priest, into the most respected member of the French civilian administration whom bishops and grandee call their friend and whose house is never passed by when a prominent visitor comes to Africa.

Yakouba's experience in "going native" is the only successful one on record, so far as I know. Many white man have tried it in the past. They have turned out to be sorry failures at it, degenerating into beachcombers and becoming objects of disdain on the part of the natives, but most of all to themselves, ending their days generally in misery, loneliness and harrowing poverty, completely gone to pieces.

KNOWS AFRICA

Yakouba alone has succeeded, but it is Salama who has pulled him through and out of the mire into which he was rapidly sinking 50 years ago, and who has helped him, often against his own will, for he has a cantankerous character, to overcome the difficulties in his path. Today he is considered the greatest living authority on the languages and customs of West Africa, although he has never contributed a learned monograph on the subject to any society or library. But if you want to know about Africa and its remaining mysteries, you must go to Yakouba. Yakouba knows. Every globe-trotting journalist of importance has sat on Yakouba's roof in Timbuctoo or had a drop of chartreuse with him in his library while listening to his words of homely wisdom and common sense.

"The man who has de-civilized himself," the great metropolitan papers of Paris used to say of him. It would be better to say: A man who has found himself; who has gone his way regardless of prejudice and snickers. But that is only because Yakouba has come through with flying colors. He might have been like scores of others who have gone down in the maelstrom of African life.

"Why did you pick Timbuctoo to live?"

"Because I liked it, pardieu," he replied. "Because I like the people and their ways. They are children and unspoiled, but warm hearted children and warm blooded children."

The sober truth is Yakouba liked the women, which is pardonable, for there are some likeable specimens to be seen walking around here. The difference between Yakouba and other men is that he refused to love them on the sly and he did one thing that will always rebound to his credit; he raised a native African woman and her children to a new status, therewith setting an example of morality which stands tower high above the usual practice of a temporary concubinage, with its resulting crowd of illegitimate children, heartbreak and the final cowardly scene of the man sneaking away to go home and leaving behind human beings whose life and love have been trifled with and who have been rendered deeply unhappy. Yakouba did not run away. He stayed.

IS STILL CHRISTIAN

The church has since long forgiven Yakouba the irregularities of his youth. But the church he has built and which was to be followed by a great central cathedral of Africa, has crumbled to dust. There is no church in Timbuctoo now. Yet Yakouba is not a Mohammedan. He was accepted into the native tribes with due formality and he is regarded as one of their own people, but on the subject of religion a strict stipulation was made that he would not need to accept Islam but could remain a Christian. He is a Christian, a practical one, but he professes no creed.

Yakouba is an old man now, 75, covered with honor and fame, which extends over two continents. It cannot be said that he is quite happy. In some moments of thoughtful reminiscence, when he drops the jovial bantering tone which he likes to affect and which is but a mask to hide a deeper feeling, in those moments he regrets the whole remarkable experience and sighs: "I should never have left the church. . . But then it was one thing or the other; either leave Timbuctoo or the church. . . I could not break with these people. . . The way these women love, as I could not leave. . ."

That's a boy of 75 speaking!

MRS. H. H. MACKENZIE HEADS NEWLY ORGANIZED WOMEN'S CANADIAN CLUB IN NELSON

HIPPERSONS AND KIDWELLS WHIST DRIVE WINNERS

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hipperson and Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Kidwell, occupying table U.S.A. and holding 46 flags, carried off whist honors at the Pythian Sisters whist and dance in the Knights of Pythias hall Monday night. Fifteen tables were in play.

Committee members were Mrs. F. Goucher, Mrs M. Sheller, Mrs. G. Renwick, Mrs. S. J. Newell and Mrs. N. Richardson.

29 Charter Members; Hear Address on Movement

At an organization meeting of the Women's Canadian club at the Hume hotel Monday evening at which P. B. Fowler of Victoria was present and aided in the organization, Mrs. H. H. MacKenzie was named president and Miss K. Ethel Gray, vice-president of the newly-formed club.

Organization followed an address given by Mr. Fowler in which he sketched the history of the club, told of its aims and purposes and gave some of the interesting features of the movement.

About 30 attended the meeting, including: Mrs. R. L. Oliver, Mrs. L. L. Boomer, Miss K. Gordon, Mrs. J. H. Wheeler, Mrs. A. N. Winlaw, Mrs. D. Nagle, Mrs M. Thompson, Mrs. W. G. Mills, Mrs. Cunningham, Miss K. Ethel Gray, Mrs. D. D. Townsend, Mrs. R. D. Barnes, Mrs. N. Murphy, Mrs. Harry Burns, Mrs. J. B. Gray, Mrs. R. A. Peebles, Miss Graham, Mrs. N. Ferguson, Mrs. A. Carrie, Mrs. E. N. A. Cooper, Mrs. H. W. Seaman, Mrs. F. C. Sharpe, Mrs. Roy Manahan, Mrs. M. V. Allan, Mrs. J. P. Gussin, Miss G. Ewing, Miss Bessie Mackenzie, Miss E. McGauley and Mrs. A. E. Mann. They are all charter members.

EXECUTIVE OF CLUB

Other officers elected besides the president and vice-president, were, Miss B. McGauley, secretary treasurer; Mrs. F. C. Sharpe, Mrs. Oliver, Miss Gordon and Mrs. N. Murphy, executive.

It was believed that an evening meeting would be the most popular time, and it was also thought that a low fee would be more conducive to a large club.

In speaking to the meeting, Mr. Fowler stated that the Canadian club was organized in 1892 and had gradually increased until it now boasted 100 clubs with a membership of 30,000. The Association of Canadian clubs was in Ottawa, Judge Dysart of Winnipeg being the president and Mrs. P. D. Scurrah of Victoria the vice-president. There was also a regional council in British Columbia, his honor the lieutenant-governor being the honorary president, D. N. Hossie the president and P. B. Fowler the vice-president.

THREE-FOLD AIM

The aim of the club was threefold; first to build culturally and spiritually; to mould an informed citizenship; and to build a national background. The club, he stated, was interested in local affairs, only insofar as those local affairs were of national importance. The movement was non-sectarial, non-political, non-parochial, but wholly national.

The regional council sent out six speakers each year to the various clubs, the speakers making a circuit, and four speakers were also furnished by the national association. Each club contributed 50 cents per member in order to defray the cost of sending the speakers around.

Further, pointed out Mr. Fowler, the speakers were chosen with great care, and were not only exceptionally good speakers, but had a wealth of information to give to the Canadian public. Their topics, varying greatly, covered both national and interantional items of importance and would prove highly instructive.

In the long run, concluded Mr. Fowler, the aim of the movement was to build a new Canadian citizenship. It was not a service movement.

SPEAK WELL OF IT

Miss Gray, Mrs. Sharpe and Miss Mackenzie, who have had experience with the movement, spoke highly of it and declared that Nelson should have a club.

As is the custom elsewhere, the executive will be required to pass on new members, and it is believed that a large club can be active here almost immediately.

Owing to the fact that several matters must be arranged about meetings and the constitution, no definite date was set for meetings, but it is expected the date will have to be a pliable one.

VENEER WORKS BEGINS SEASON

Special Channel Gets Logs to Jackladder; Record Date

After preparatory work that extended through the week-end, the British Columbia Veneer Works, Limited, started the veneer factory into operation Monday morning for the season, this being far the earliest opening date since the big knife first started to peel thin layers of wood from cottonwood logs with which to make veneer panels.

By cutting a channel and lowering the track to the jackladder, Manager George Dvorjetz can float logs to the jackladder carriage despite the fact that the lake level is still materially below what has been required in the past for operation.

The exceptionally early start is necessitated by the fact that the stocks are very low, owing to the good sales year that the company enjoyed in 1934.

WHAT NELSON'S COUNCIL DID IN BRIEF

PASS PAYROLLS

Passed the public works payroll of $553 and electric light paycool of $556.80.

* * *

PETITION FOR STEPS

Considered and referred to the public works committee a petition for steps from Hall Mines road to Robson street. D. T. Heddle appeared on behalf of the petitioners and declared that the present path used by pedestrians was dangerous. City Engineer Potter declared steps would cost between $300 and $500 and would be extremely dangerous as about 60 feet would be necessary. Alderman Slader declared a lot of people used the path which trespasses on private property. Alderman T. N. Waters believed the steps would be dangerous. Ald. J. E. McKenzie declared the steps would be a great convenience to school children.

On motion of Alderman T. W. Slader and Roy Sharp the matter was referred to the public works committee.

* * *

GRANT TAG-DAY

Granted the women's auxiliary of the Kootenay Lake General hospital permission to hold a tag day on May 11th or there about.

* * *

DISCUSS FERRY CROSSING

Asked the city clerk to write the Canadian Pacific railway and the provincial government regarding bad condition of the railway crossing on the road to the ferry landing. The council had received a complaint from the board of trade with the suggestion that the crossing be hard surfaced. The city is not responsible for the road to the ferry as it became provincial and railway responsibilities as the city had agreed at the time the ferry was installed to open a roadway for which the two parties were to be responsible.

Stop Rheumatism At its Source

Rheumatism is caused by uric acid in the blood. Uric, a blood impurity, should be extracted by the kidneys. If kidneys fail, and uric remains, it changes to uric acid which in minute crystals lodges in joints or between muscles causing excruciating pains. Avoid rheumatism by keeping your kidneys in good condition. Flush them every three weeks with Dodd's Kidney Pills—for over three generations the favorite kidney tonic and remedy. Non-habit forming.

Gas Consumption in City Increases

January and February Figures Considerably Above Those Months in 1934

Gas consumption in the city of Nelson for the months of January and February, 1935, was up considerably compared to a year ago, a report presented to the city council Monday night showed.

Following are the figures of consumption shown on the city's gas ledger, in cubic feet.

	1935	1934
January	941,800	897,300
February	659,800	577,400
Gas rates charged:
January	$1,406.29	$1348.90
February	1,210.50	1,129.33
Cash receipts:
January	$1,032.03	$1,216.41
February	1,089.73	1,081.36

Arrears at the first of January, 1935, $5,696.93. Charges January to February $3,366.57, or a total of $9,063.50. Credits totalled $2,869.21 leaving a balance due at the end of February of $6,197.29.

Thursday May End Heavy Traffic Ban

With the Nelson-Castlegar highway drying up rapidly, it is now thought by public works officials that the ban on heavy traffic may be removed Thursday. The road foreman at South Slocan phoned in Monday afternoon that that section was drying out nicely. As fast as the ground has got dry enough, grading has been done, and last week the highway was graded from Corra Linn to the west end of the long tangent at Thrums.

The grader is working on the West Arm, and has finished the eight-mile stretch nearest Nelson.

INTERESTS FOR OLD AGE, TOPIC

P. B. Fowler Speaker at Rotary

P. B. Fowler, of the Victoria Rotary club, was the guest speaker at the Nelson Rotary club meeting Monday at the Hume hotel silver room, the subject chosen being "What to do after one retired."

A large check was received from the Trail Rotary club in connection with the treatment which is being given to a Kaslo girl. The Trail club volunteered to pay half the cost, a gesture which the local club have regarded as an extremely fine offer. The check will be acknowledged with thanks.

City Engineer R. E. Potter spoke briefly regarding the invitation to the next Rotary International convention at Mexico City, stating that any person contemplating going, would be well advised to let the local committee know in good time as accommodation had to be arranged for.

To date 17 bridges have brought in about $135.

Frank Pennoyer of Trail wrote to the club asking that the men's choir festival shield be sent to Trail.

Horace Whittaker was a guest.

Besides having the privilege of speaking to the club, observed Mr. Fowler, he was also happy in being in Nelson, for he believed Nelson and Victoria to be the two best places to live.

At the present time, said Mr. Fowler educationalists were busy over the problem of what could be done to teach children to enjoy their leisure time and make it most profitable to them. The question of unemployment was not foremost in their minds, but rather the leisure time that the machine age was bringing.

There was also the problem of old age, pointed out Mr. Fowler. What preparation were men making for their old age? They would need something to occupy their interest and attention in those declining years. Golf, gardening or leading little poodle dogs around for exercise, were not enough.

Following retirement he had found he needed something to occupy his mind and he had found the solution in four things, the Columbia Coast mission, Canadian clubs, and child immigration. He had taken up Rotary because he found it provided the fellowship that he needed. He had also become deeply absorbed in the work of the Columbia Coast mission. The mission was started about 35 years ago, he stated, by a clergyman, who in his work along the coast, had reached the conclusion that people in the out-of-the-way points, needed something more than religion. What they needed was medical attention first, and then religion.

CIRCUIT EVERY TWO WEEKS

The steamer Columbia, which was used now in making the trip up the coast, carried a doctor, nurse and a clergyman, and it made a round trip in about two weeks. The course which it covered was roughly S-shaped with a base at either end of the S and one in the middle. The boat carried a moving picture machine and pictures were shown in the cabin, about 100 being able to see them at one time.

If at any time a call came for help from any point outside the course the boat will go immediately to their assistance. In cases where moments counted and it was possible to operate on board, the operation would be done at once, or if the case were not so urgent the patient would be taken to one of the bases and attended to there.

At Christmas time it took special things to the people. It also distributed books, magazines, clothes and other articles to them. The relief work in the various places was also done by the mission.

The mission was supported by various means. The Vancouver community chest gave an amount annually, churches contributed, lumber camps, when they were operating, gave a certain sum monthly for each man they had in camp, and the government also provided a sum in recognition for the relief work that the mission was doing for them.

Mr. Fowler also touched on the child immigration, telling how the movement originated and how it has progressed.

ASK RADIO SUPPORT

Ross Fleming, representing a committee appointed recently by a public meeting of radio owners, waited on the club and asked its support for a resolution urging, that as the Canadian programs could not be got on the radios, that Canadian Radio commission grant permission to start a small station here, or make a special survey of this district to correct technical faults existing at present.

This was referred to the next meeting.

Frank Meagher was in charge of the program.

British Israel Is Topic of Col. Wright

Lieut-Col. J. G. Wright spoke to a fair-sized audience Monday night at the Baptist church on the British Israel federation. Like the address given Sunday afternoon at the Redeemer, it proved interesting. Col. Wright bringing out his argument clearly and precisely.

LONDON (CP).—The total weight in air mail carried from Great Britain last year was 122 tons, against 85 tons in 1933.

NELSON BANDS ASK FOR AID

Seniors Want Grant and Expenses for Festival

Nelson city council Monday night heard two delegations who sought aid for musical organizations, the Nelson City band and the Boys' band. The matters went to the finance committee for consideration.

J. Draper and S. R. Bowell appeared on behalf of the Boys' band. Mr. Draper declared the boys now numbering 20 with a waiting list of nine were a credit to the city and would be a greater credit as time went on. They had been organized for 12 months and were making excellent headway under direction of S. J. Newell. The boys needed more instruments and prices had been received on second band basses, altos and trombones. He suggested a sum of $350 to $400 for instruments. The matter on motion of Aldermen R. Sharp and T. W. Slader was referred to the finance committee.

S. J. Newell, bandmaster, appealed for assistance for "the oldest musical organization in the city of Nelson," organized in 1903 by F. L. Irwin. The band needed funds in order to make the trip to the Trail musical festival. The band also needed a sum of $100 to change instruments to a low pitch. In addition he asked for a grant of $500 for concerts, etc. The band had proven in the past its value as an attraction. The matter, on motion of Aldermen H. B. Lindsay and J. E. McKenzie, was referred to the finance committee with power to act.

MRS. GEORGE WOOD PAID LAST RITES

Mrs. George F. Wood, of Fairview, was given last rites from the Somers Funeral Home Monday afternoon, Rev. W. J. Silverwood officiating, interment being at the local cemetery. A large number of friends were present to pay their last respects.

GIVE APPROVAL TO OFFICE FOR CHIEF

TRAIL, B.C., March 18. — Although construction of the private office for Chief of Police John Laurie has been underway for the past few days, its building was not finally approved until Monday night's council meeting. A motion was made at the preceding meeting that room No. 3 on the main floor of the city hall be renovated for the chief and Alderman J. R. Anderson wanted to know that since another place had been decided on, why it was not first brought before the council. Alderman J. H. Woodburn considered it poor business to have the job proceed without the council's final adoption. The responsibility of giving orders to have the work go ahead was taken by Alderman Hugh Bell, who stated that room No. 3 was found to be unsatisfactory. The new office is being erected at the head of the stairs leading to the cells, and will have a door opening into the police office.

HUME SOFTBALL TEAM PRACTISES

The Hume hotel men's softball nine held their initial workout of the season on Monday afternoon when eight players were out.

Another practice will probably be held today.

COUNCIL BACK OF RADIO MOVE

Endorse Proposal for a Station in Nelson

The drive for better radio reception in Nelson has the endorsation of the Nelson city council. The mayor and aldermen got behind the movement started by the Nelson Amateur radio body when Ross Fleming, late alderman, presented a resolution that was okayed by the city fathers Monday night.

Mr. Fleming's presence at the meeting was the cause of a little humor. Seeing him seated in the seats available for the public Mayor J. F. Morgan, in calling him forward to present his case, made the error in calling him "Alderman" Fleming. All smiled and Mr. Fleming thanked the mayor for "making him feel at home."

Mr. Fleming declared that Nelson radio fans were not getting satisfactory reception in regard to Canadian programs. What was wanted was a remedy and it was the intention of the Nelson organization to put the matter before the radio commission for any remedy they should see fit. The Nelson body had proposed a 25-watt station for Nelson and district but urged the commission to use its best judgment.

Trail, which has a radio station, had taken the matter up, stated Mr. Fleming, and an engineer had looked into the Nelson situation as late as November last. It is believed the commission is ready to step the power of the Trail station to 1000 watts. If this did not overcome reception difficulties it was proposed to place a substation in Nelson. Nelson radio people felt that a substation would mean a different wave-length and were of the belief a local station would serve the purpose better. Aldermen H. B. Lindsay and A. G. Ritchie moved endorsation of the radio resolution.

Before retiring Mr. Fleming expressed pleasure at seeing Mayor Morgan again at the head of the council table and "wished the mayor all the success, which he certainly deserves."

MacPherson Tells of Cranbrook Work

In reply to a question in the house by Herbert Ainscomb, Hon. P. M. MacPherson, minister of public works, stated that there was work done on the Cranbrook-Kimberley road during 1934. Three miles of new construction and reconstruction $2330 being for relief work and $5434 ordinary improvement. Also 19.7 miles of general maintenance work was done with a cost of $1200, and relief work amounting to $2320. Nearly five miles of bituminous surfacing was completed and half a mile of oiling was done, the oiling costing $307.37.

NELSON COUNCIL SPEEDS BYLAW UPON AUDITORIUM; CALL SPECIAL MEETING

Lacrosse Players Call Off Meeting

TRAIL, B.C., March 18.—A meeting for those interested in box lacrosse was called off Monday night as a number of the enthusiasts were unable to attend. Another meeting will be called some time next week.

By-law Will Be Ready for the Ratepayers to Cast Votes on April Third

While little discussion occurred at Monday night's city council meeting regarding the proposed auditorium for the city of Nelson, the matter was discussed for considerable time in committee when the by-law governing it was under consideration. The bylaw, calling for the borrowing of the sum to cover cost of the building, was read twice by title and a third time in full in committee. Following the third reading the council decided to speed the preparatory work for submission of the bylaw to the ratepayers and called a special meeting for Thursday night next, for its final passage. By this procedure the council will be able to do the necessary advertising and bring the bylaw vote before the ratepayers on April third, next, which is a Wednesday.

The bylaw providing for purchase of certain lots in Fairview, which have been earmarked for a recreational grounds, was read and finally passed by the council.

George Harlow Has Smashing Welcome

George Harlow, Nelson boxer, returned Monday night from the Barkerville country where he has spent some time, and received a smashing welcome. Coming into the city his car was contacted broadside with a car driven by Gus Dhalsten and was badly damaged but fortunately neither he nor the four other occupants of his car were injured. Mr. Harlow had some rare samples of goat ore to show his friends. The yellow metal stuck out all over the white quartz.

Flashes From the Wires

YARMOUTH—A police guard was thrown around the Central post office here after an unsigned, unaddressed note containing a threat to bomb the building was found in the mail box.

LONDON (AP)—The Daily Express said the Moscow radio station reported the Soviet government believes Germany is concluding a military pact with Japan. General Sadao Araki, former Japanese minister of war, the station was quoted as saying, is going to Berlin soon to discuss terms of the treaty.

CALGARY, (CP)—Southern Alberta ranchmen are looking for a $1,000,000 return on cattle exports to the United States this year and if the present movement continues their hopes will be realized. Since January 15, the United States market has taken 6000 head of prime cattle from southern ranches, and have paid a premium over Canadian prices after a deduction of duty, freight and handling charges.

LONDON, (CP Cable)—The judicial committee of the privy council began hearing a petition for leave to appeal against a Canadian criminal court judgment, which raises the question whether the Dominion was empowered to amend the criminal code forbidding appeals to the privy council in such cases.

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Representative John Meppel of Artadia, Calif., and his son, were indicted by a special grand jury for an alleged sale of a West Point military academy appointment for $1000.

MIAMI, Fla., (AP)—What is believed to be a new record for daily double pay-offs was recorded at Tropical Park when Harry Topsey, of Jersey City, received $7305.40 for coupling the winners of the first and third race.

VICTORIA, (CP)—Late at night the Liberal caucus was "still blasting away hard on the Vancouver thing," as one senior member expressed it to a mainland delegation awaiting him. The caucus sat until a late hour, for an extraordinarily frank discussion of many topics.

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Backed by their congressional members, representatives of the west coast lumber industry voiced approval of the general principles of reciprocity trade agreements but urged, that in considering the proposed agreement with Canada the United States retain its present protection.

LECTURER ON ISRAEL WAS IN THE 54TH

Col. Wright Senior Major at Vimy Ridge

HAD COMMAND OF BRIGADE SCHOOL

Finished War Taking Troops; Lister Settlement

Lieut.-Col. J. G. Wright, now delivering a series of lectures in Nelson on the British Israel movement, has been in Nelson a couple of times before—in 1909, and again after the war—but his principal contact with the Kootenay has been through its fighters overseas, when he was senior major of the 54th Kootenay battalion.

In January, 1916, while the 54th was training in England, Col. Wright, a Toronto man, raised the 102th battalion in Toronto, and in October took it to England. Dispersal of his battalion in drafts reenforcing the battalions at the front in the following winter left him without a command, and he reverted to the rank of major in order to get to the front, where he joined the 54th as senior major just after the death of Lieut.-Col. H. G. Kemball in the gas attack of March 1.

REVERTED TO MAJOR

Major Wright, as he then was by reversion, was with the 54th at the capture of Vimy Ridge, and in the investment of Lens. In July, 1917, he was commandant of the brigade school established by Brig.-Gen. Victor W. Odlum at Mesnil Busch, when the entire fighting personnel of the brigade went through the school for special training in bombing, bayonet work, and so forth. All four "A" companies of the four battalions had a week, then all the "B" companies, and the "C" and "D" in turn. Gen. Odlum put up a prize of a week in Paris for the best platoon in the brigade, and finally the judges, who were Sir Arthur Currie, Major-Gen. David Watson, commanding the Fourth Division, and Brig.-Gen. Borstal, gave a 75th platoon the edge over the runner-up, which was from the 54th. All expenses of the Paris jamboree were paid by Gen. Odlum out of his own pocket.

Shortly before the sudden and unanticipated move from in front of Lens to Flanders for the drive on Passchendaele, Major Wright went to England on leave. He never got back to the 54th, for he was transferred to the conducting service, and with his old rank as colonel, was engaged till the end of the war in taking Canadian troops across the ocean.

BROUGHT ASIA PARTY

After the Armistice, when the first demobilizations were taking place, he brought 1800 men home to British Columbia on the Empress of Asia, by the Panama Canal route leaving Liverpool January 2, 1919. On the trip it was part of his duty to advise the men of the proposal of Premier Oliver to open a soldier settlement in the Creston valley—the Camp Lister settlement it became—and to assist those who wanted to take advantage of the scheme, to make their applications.

At the Canadian Legion Monday afternoon Col. Wright met Capt. Preston, who was in charge of the 54th transport at the time he himself was senior major.

Relief Statistics Indicate Pickup

February Figures for the City Show Decrease; Mayor Expresses Pleasure

"Our relief statistics for February are a good showing. There will be a bright light soon."

Such were the comments of Mayor J. F. Morgan Monday night when City Clerk W. E. Wasson presented a report on city relief that showed a material decrease of $1800 for February. Amount paid for food and shelter and the worked amount paid for relief totalled $5286.80. Of this amount $3093.13 was eligible for the government grant.

Figures for February showed 134 heads of families on relief with 326 dependents. Amount paid for food, shelter, etc., reached $1104.70 and amount worked and paid for was $2,130.80. Man days worked totalled 671 and man days relief were 4081.

Believes Local Men Could Fix Airport

TRAIL, B.C., March 18.—As a result of a communication of the aviation branch, department of national defence, giving the standard agreements with airports, a committee was appointed to outline the proposed program of the city and reply, at a meeting of the Trail city council Monday night.

Several questions concerning proposed work on the airport was submitted. Although the land is owned by the C. M. & S. company, the city holds the airport licence. The federal government's proposals was to put in federal relief workers to do the improvements, but City Engineer S. S. McDiarmid believed that the few city relief men with implements that the company would loan would complete the desired work in about two weeks' time.

Grading and removing of stumps at one end of the field, is the work to be done.

SONS HOSTS TO LAWN BOWLERS

Members of the Sons of England lodge were hosts to the lawn bowlers at a pleasant social evening in the Memorial hall Monday night, following a lodge meeting. A friendly battle of carpet bowls was enjoyed, refreshments coming midway between the games.

SOOPS BEAT BEAVERS 2-1

SASKATOON, March 18 (CP)—Edmonton Superiors, far western champions, tonight gave North Battleford Beavers a lesson in defensive hockey and, holding the Saskatchewan team to one goal while taking advantage of two real "breaks," stepped out in front in the western semi-finals of the Allan cup playdowns. The second game will be played here Wednesday night with the third encounter, if necessary, Friday night.

Territorially Superiors were badly outplayed and Beavers should have had an even break but they failed to display any finish around the net and missed many opportunities.

Grove, the Brown brothers and Anderson shone for Edmonton, with Duchak, Burke and Gilhooly the pick of the North Battleford team.

TRAIL COUNCIL BRIEFS

TRAIL, B.C., March 18—Alderman C. Lauriente, chairman of the finance committee, reported that the committee had gone through the accounts during the day and found them all satisfactory, a report of which was submitted at the meeting of the city council Monday night. The mayor felt it was a good plan to pass the bills around the council table for inspection as it saved time.

Alderman Lauriente reported that the finance committee was still working on the marble machine investigation.

The application of the Columbia Motors to erect a sign at the corner of Victoria street and Pine avenue was rejected on recommendation of Alderman H. Bell, chairman of the board of works.

Alderman J. H. Woodburn reported that the fire, water and light committee had come through an easy winter in regard to the water system. No frozen pipes were experienced.

That there were only two cases of mumps and no other diseases during the past two weeks was reported to Dr. F. S. Eaton, city medical health officer.

A resolution from the Revelstoke board of trade advocating financial recovery by production work on lands and opposing unemployment insurance, was endorsed.

An insurance policy on contents of the city hall, and an accident policy covering volunteer firemen of the city department, were ordered reviewed.

The request of a grant toward social service work by the Trail Social Welfare association, received in a letter from Secretary E. M. Stiles, was laid on the table until the budget is brought down.

The cash bid of R. Defoe, Castlegar, of $250 for a team, harness and other horse-drawn equipment for which tenders were recently called, was accepted. Three other tenders for only part of the advertised goods were considered.

A resolution to sell a tax sale lot at the upset value of $56 to William Wilson, was passed.

Information on incinerators were received from two companies.

It was suggested that peddlars be given an identification card when taking out their licences.

The George Henry McGregor land sale bylaw received its final adopted and the William Wilson land sale bylaw received three readings.

The recommendation of Mayor E. L. Groutage that the annual grant to the Trail hospital board be $10,000 commencing March 1 was accepted. This amount is $2000 greater than the previous annual grant. The mayor was chairman of a committee which recently conferred with the hospital.

CONFAB PLANNED OVER GROUNDS

Council and School Board Committees Will Talk Over Drainage Plans

Condition of Nelson school grounds came in for further consideration at Monday night's city council meeting when Mayor J. F. Morgan asked what progress had been made in the matter. He understood the board had obtained cinders and was wondering what the city was doing.

It was pointed out that no suitable agreement for drainage had been worked out yet and the matter was referred to the city engineer and the public works committee to meet the property committee of the school board for final settlement and their action.

BOARD TRADE ASKS AID FOR SELLING CITY

Council Approached for Publicity Work Grant

FREE PAMPHLETS AIM THIS YEAR

Haye Assurance of Work on the Ymir Highway

Nelson board of trade publicity committee, which produced the book "Kootenays and the city of Nelson" late last year, appeared before the Nelson city council Monday night seeking a further publicity grant for pamphlets and newspaper advertising. The matter went to the finance committee for consideration.

A. E. Mann, vice-president of the board of trade, introduced the subject and declared that the board felt the work in regard to publicity in the past year had been very successful. The board, he declared, had definite assurance that the Ymir road would be attended to this year. This was in addition to the regular district appropriation. The board also knew that it had the definite support of the minister of public works that the works engineer's office would be returned to Nelson from Cranbrook where it was moved some months ago. The subject he was discussing was publicity. Last year the city had made a grant and the board was proud of the way the money was expended and the results obtained from the publicity.

BOOK PAID FOR

A. Baird, chairman of the board's publicity committee, declared the city had given the board a grant of $750. An excellent book on the district had been published and this had brought in $2330. The books were paid for and there were still 2000 on hand which would bring in considerable additional revenue. He felt that the publication of the book had given the committee a good start on its publicity program and that the work should be kept up. He asked consideration for a grant of $750 for additional advertising such as road maps and pamphlets which would be distributed free. Largely through the publicity campaign the board had come to life and at present there were 138 members. He believed some credit was coming to the city officials for making the book a possibility. In addition to pamphlets the board contemplated advertising in prairie newspapers. H. W. Robertson was also in attendance but did not speak.

Alderman J. E. McKenzie in moving that the matter be referred to the finance committee paid a compliment to the board for the wonderful book they had turned out.

DRUMHELLER GIRL JOINS BALL TEAM

Will Play for Toronto Star Club; Also Dorothy Waterer

Jean (Red) Hopkins, star chucker of last year's Drumheller ladies softball club, was signed to play with Toronto Star Weekly club during the coming season. As Miss Hopkins has had considerable experience in Alberta softball circles, she is expected to be a valuable asset in helping the newly formed club, and also the Nelson rep team in its search for Kootenay honors. Dorothy (Tigworth) Waterer is also reported to be turning out with this team.

City Will Carry Out Old Agreement

Will Do Improvements to Lots of Miss Coates Exchanged on Douglas Road

Miss C. A. Coates, who exchanged some property with the city so that Douglas road could be built above Fairview in a direct line, will get immediate action upon an agreement entered into by the city but which was never fully carried out in the past two years.

At Monday night's city council meeting a letter was read from Brown & Davison, Nelson lawyers, drawing attention to the agreement entered into between the city and the lady concerning the lots exchanged. The city had promised certain improvements that had never been carried out.

Mayor J. F. Morgan declared he knew something about the affair and that the city had not lived up to its promises. No attempt had been made to improve her property on Johnson street and Douglas road. The matter was referred to the public works committee with power to act.

Coughing Wrecks Your System

Every time you cough dozens of muscles receive a terrific shock causing pain and distress. Besides, a neglected cough or cold may lead to serious results. Half-way measures are only temporary. Six Trucks Haul Rossland Ore

ROSSLAND, B.C., March 18 — James Robertson, manager of A. H. Green company, Ltd., just returned from a business trip to the coast, stated his company had purchased two new trucks for hauling Rossland ore to the smelter at Tadanac, says the Miner.

The trucks are both heavy duty, and will, with the present number being used, take care of considerable ore each day. One of the trucks is a three and a half-ton and the other a two-ton. This firm will now have six trucks hauling ore from the hill to the company ramp at the C.P.R. station and to the smelter at Tadanac.

A steady increase in ore shipments is expected after the snow has gone, and with the six trucks, no delay in getting the ore out to the smelter will be experienced.

Our King and Queen on their Silver Jubilee

Four Generations of British Royalty

Here is a rare picture, four generations, and all rulers or rulers-to-be of the greatest empire in history.

Queen Victoria, greatest of all British Queens in the opinion of many historians, is holding the infant Prince Edward, who was later to become Prince of Wales, perhaps the most popular Prince in the history of British royalty. Behind Queen Victoria stands Edward, later King Edward VII, and George later Prince of Wales and King George V. Prince George, when this picture was taken in 1894, was the Duke of York.

But with all this recounting of births, marriages and deaths, the story of Prince George has been somewhat neglected.

Before the loss of his brother, the youthful Prince had become an expert seaman. From midshipman he had been promoted to sub-lieutenant, to lieutenant, and finally given command of torpedo boat No. 79, during naval manoeuvres. This was in 1899.

An interesting story is told of his first command:

It was during the manoeuvres of 1899. The weather was exceptionally rough and the young commander took his vessel to the rescue of another torpedo boat which had broken down, and was in peril among the rocks on the north coast of Ireland. He was compelled to make two separate efforts before he was able to get a towing hawser across the endangered vessel.

There is another incident which throws light on the zeal manifested by the Prince in his naval work at this time. While No. 79 was still lying at Portsmouth before proceeding to the manoeuvres, the late Sir John Commerell, then port admiral, sent for the Prince, and told him that he had received a message from King Edward, then Prince of Wales, who was attending the Goodwood races, asking leave for the Prince to come up for a day, and see the cup race. Although Admiral Commerell offered to make the necessary arrangements with the admiral in charge of the manoeuvre fleet, Prince George declined with thanks.

"No, sir," he said. "What is to become of my torpedo boat? I have orders to take the boat to sea today, and go I must and will," and a little later No. 79 was to be seen buffeting her way out into the channel in the teeth of an easterly gale. A newspaper correspondent who visited No. 79 whilst Prince George was in command wrote: "Prince George is very energetic in getting his boat in the most perfect order, and may generally be seen on board in white flannel trousers, blue cloth tunic and uniform cap, busily engaged about his work. He is quite unaffected and very popular."

J. J. O'Neill and party returned home Thursday from Calgary where they had gone to see the hockey game.

Charlie Critchfield and Art Southwell arrived in town Friday morning from Calgary where they had been to see the hockey game.

Mrs. J. Markstrom, Mrs. F. Carlson and Mrs. Beninatti left Wednesday for Spokane to visit for a few days.

A former Kimberley resident was honored when Peter Price received the Barlow Memorial prize for a paper on geology. Mr. Price is now at Noranda.

Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Bentley entertained at bridge Thursday evening in honor of Florence Morrison and John MacGillivray. Ladies' first was won by Mrs. Charlie Morrison and consolation by Florence. Men's first was won by H. C. Pearson and consolation by Charles Morrison. The party finished by listening to the broadcast of the hockey game from Edmonton.

Miss Florence Morrison resigned from the staff of the Mark Creek store last week. She plans to be married this month to J. MacGillivray. Mrs. McDonald of Chapman Camp gave a shower in her honor Friday with 18 neighbors and friends present. The color scheme for this kitchen shower was pink and white. The evening was spent at cards. Mrs. R. Douglas winning first prize, Mrs. MacWhirter second and Mrs. T. Crossley consolation. Young Myra Jean MacDonald wheeled in a decorated "buggy" laden with useful gifts, and very shyly said "These are all for you, Flo". Miss Morrison thanked them all in a brief and charming speech. Supper was served and a social hour spent.

Mrs. John Morrison entertained Thursday and Friday from 3 o'clock to 6 p.m. in honor of her daughter Florence, who is to be married next Wednesday. All guests at former showers were invited to see the display of gifts. More than 80 guests were present.

MISS McNICHOLAS SHOWERED

Miss Thelma and Ilene Thomas held a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. Thomas Saturday evening. This was the third shower in honor of Miss Dorothy McNicholas, who plans to be married in April to John Dicken. The evening was spent at whist, four tables being in play. Mrs. Hourihan won first prize and Ola Bentley second.

Pauline Thomas and Marion Gold brought in a blue ribbon decorated basket filled with useful and pretty gifts for the bride-to-be. Miss McNicholas has gone to visit Mrs. Robinson in Edmonton and plans to be married from her home in a few weeks time.

She is a member of the teaching staff in the United Church Sunday school and popular among the young people of Kimberley.

New Denver W.I. Hears of Pensions

C. F. Nelson Also Tells of Wills and Boys' Industrial School

NEW DENVER, B.C., March 18— A meeting of the Women's Institute was held in the Legion rooms Wednesday. Mrs. William Cliffe presided.

In answer to the roll call each member gave a housecleaning hint.

C. F. Nelson gave an interesting talk on mother's pensions, wills and industrial schools for boys.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. O. V. and Mrs. H. Aylwin.

Members present were Mrs. William Cliffe, Mrs. D. Shannon, Mrs. Charles Thring, Mrs. G. Burkitt, Mrs. A. Sanderson, Mrs. J. H. Young, Mrs. A. Carter, Mrs. H. Aylwin, Mrs. M. Du Mont, Miss E. Du Mont, Mrs. R. Crellin, Mrs. C. Vandergrift, Mrs. A. Frances, Mrs. R. Hamilton, Mrs. C. Kennett, Mrs. B. Shannon and Mrs. W. Cropp.

Visitors present were Mrs. O. Johnson, Mrs. E. Kirkwood, Miss O. Olson, C. F. Nelson and Mr. Du Mont.

C.G.I.T. MEET

A meeting of the New Denver C.G.I.T. group was held at the home of Mrs. J. H. Young Tuesday.

After business the girls practiced songs for their service the last Sunday in March.

Members present were the Misses Dorothy Sells, Effie Shannon, Helena Farron, Marjorie Frances, Olive Tattrie, Margaret Young, Edna Shannon and Hilda Crellin.

R. Landerville left for Camborne Friday.

Jack Stewart was a visitor in town from Cody Wednesday.

Lindy Carter, who was visiting in Nelson, returned home Friday.

A carload of ore was shipped from the Bosun mine Monday.

Mr. Towgood of Sandon was among visitors to town Wednesday.

BALFOUR W.I. HAS A SALE

BALFOUR, B.C., March 18.—Balfour and Queen's Bay Women's institute held a meeting Tuesday, March 12 with 11 members and one visitor present.

After the business session a "white elephant" and bake sale was held to raise funds.

Much amusement was caused by a "mystery parcel" arranged by Miss Irwin and won by Mrs. Kennedy, which on being opened disclosed a very cleverly made "white elephant."

Mrs. Kennedy was also the winner of the "Guess the weight contest." The prize was a lovely cake donated by Mrs. Hudson.

As it was the institute's 6th birthday, the hostesses, Mrs. Cooper and Mrs. Hudson, served tea, including a birthday cake decorated with candles.

Among those who attended the Harrop dance from Balfour were Miss K. Cameron, Miss M. Ling, Miss I. McKay and Mrs. J. Sherman.

Miss I. McKay has returned to her home in Balfour.

Miss K. Cameron spent the week-end in Nelson.

Quite a number of people from Balfour attended a parent-teacher association whist drive at Procter.

Mrs. J. Peachey has left for Vancouver where she will spend the next month or so.

Mrs. D. M. Morgan has returned to her home in Balfour.

Mrs J. Sherman entertained Wednesday on her birthday. Twenty-six guests were present. Games were played and refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Noakes spent Thursday in Nelson.

PROCTER LADIES HAVE IRISH TEA

PROCTER, B.C., March 18—Under auspices of the United church Ladies aid, a most successful St. Patrick's tea and sale of fancy work and home cooking was held Saturday at the home of the president, Miss J. C. MacLean.

A short musical program was held, those contributing being Miss Olive MacLean with vocal solos, "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling" and "When Daisies Pied"; pianoforte solos by Mrs. A. C. Pound; and a vocal trio by the Misses Isa MacKinnon, Barbara Ritchie and Olive MacLean, "Come Back to Erin" and "Believe Me if All Those Endearing Young Charms."

Mrs. D. McIntosh was cashier, holder of the lucky tea ticket being Mrs. A. Lean. The fancy work and home cooking were in charge of Mrs. H. Cliff. Assisting with tea were Mrs. Cliff who poured, Mrs. J. Hurst, Mrs. N. McLeod, Mrs. J. McLeod, Mrs. D. McIntosh, Mrs. A. C. Pound, Mrs. M. MacKinnon, Miss J. C. MacLean, Miss Isa MacKinnon, Miss Eileen Pound, Mrs. J. Sewell, Miss Barbara Ritchie, and Miss Olive MacLean.

Mrs. A. S. Ritchie and son Paul were Nelson visitors Saturday.

Miss Mary and Annie Adams of Gray Creek visited Procter Saturday.

The Procter C.G.I.T. met at the manse Friday with Mrs. A. C. Pound as hostess. Those present were Miss Isa MacKinnon, Miss Olive MacLean, Miss Lois Hurst, Miss Barbara Ritchie, Miss Mary Merrifield, Miss Mary Schwarok, Miss Phyllis Exton, Miss Alice Crosby, Miss Emmie Crosby and Miss Eileen Pound. The second of a series of talks on "First Aid" was given by Mrs. A. S. Ritchie.

Mrs. P. Bennett was pleasantly surprised when a number of her friends gathered at her home, the occasion being her birthday. The evening was spent in games and crokinole. Those present were Mrs. J. Bichan, Mrs. D. McIntosh, Mrs. R. Walton, Mrs. A. Lean, Mrs. J. McLeod, Mrs. J. Hurst, Mrs. R. A. Heighton, Mrs. A. Ogden, Miss Lily Heighton, Miss J. C. MacLean, Rev. and Mrs. A. C. JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (CP)—Of this city's total population of 500,000, native and white, it has been estimated there are now about 225,000 whites.

LONG PANTS FOR CHINESE GIRLS ARE NOW TABOO

NANKING, China, March 18 (CP) —Now that the Chinese government has taken to meddling with such things at the shape and cut of clothing worn by men and women, and to ban bobbed hair, some strange complications are arising.

The schooling girls of the city of Nanking, for instance, have made an appeal to the provincial educational authorities, saying that at least during cold weather they be permitted to wear the long, warm trousers which Chinese women have worn for centuries.

The educational authorities, it seems, have ruled that school girls must wear uniforms which have short skirts, but this fashion has resulted in cold legs—and the petition. But the authorities have ruled against the return of long pants, nevertheless.

FERNIE I.O.O.F. HONOR ST. PATRICK

FERNIE, B.C., March 18.—Judge Nesbit in naturalization court this week granted citizenship to the following—George Kresta, Alex Sinetar and Ferdinand Vegessi of Fernie, John Strbak, John Simicak and John Louis Siska of Corbin, and Luigi DePaoli and Osvaldo Kassin of Michel.

Fernie Odd Fellows entertained the Rebekahs and the wives, husbands and friends of the members of both lodges at St. Patrick's social Friday evening. Following an hour and a half of whist, a supper featuring Irish stew was served on tables appropriately decorated. Dancing took up the rest of the evening. Winners at cards were Mrs. J. Tully and Miss Gwen Owen, ladies; and J. V. Rowers and W. Worthington, men.

General regret is felt in Fernie at the destruction of the house at the corner of Pellatt avenue and Jaffray street known to all residents of the city as the Duncan home. It was here that James and Mrs. Duncan, now of Michel, lived for many years and raised their family. When the house became vacant some years ago it was purchased by A. E. White, late city clerk and since that time of course has been associated with him and his family. When Mr. White arranged to enter business in Victoria he decided to tear down the house and only bare studded walls now remain. In a few more days the site of this beautiful home will have reverted to a vacant corner lot. The Whites, it is understood, will leave Fernie during the coming week.

"JOE" BATE IS LAID AT REST

Many Attend Funeral, and Flowers Numerous

Funeral services were held Saturday for William Joseph Bate, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Bate, by Rev. H. W. Gusciott, from the Somers Funeral Home. A large number of chums and relatives were in attendance and many beautiful floral tributes received. Hymns sung were "Jesus Lover of My Soul," and "Nearer My God to Thee."

Pallbearers were Howard Moore, Cecil Coffey, Ted Forbes, Edgar Lutkwich, and William Robinson.

BOSWELL C.C.F. WANTS SPEAKER

BOSWELL, B.C., March 18. — Three visitors were present at a C.C.F. club meeting Wednesday evening.

Fred Henderson's "The Case for Socialism" is being studied by the members and several points gave rise to discussion.

The club will write to H. E. Winch, M.L.A., congratulating him on the stand he has taken with regard to the Hanson Garage affair in Cranbrook.

An effort will also be made to secure a visit from any C.C.F. speaker who may be touring the district.

Rev. Clyde Harvey was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. D. Graham Brown during his visit to Boswell last week-end.

Miss Winnie Bebbington was a recent visitor to Nelson.

INTEREST

It has often been observed that social reformers of the demagogic sort nearly always follow the same plan and policy in recommending their cure-alls to the public. Their books and speeches, like all Gaul, are divided into three parts. There is Denunciation of some existing institution as working evil and that continually; there is Demonstration of how the institution can be made to work to the satisfaction of all concerned; there is golden Promise of the happy future that awaits the world when the reform has been inaugurated.

To "put over" the first successfully the orator must needs exhaust the whole vocabulary of scorn, hatred, and vituperation in cursing those inhuman monsters who basely and selfishly oppose every project for the betterment of mankind. Having thus prepared the mind of his audience by a strong, or at any rate a violent emotional appeal, the speaker proceeds to unfold his plan for radical and comprehensive reform. He is now on highly-contentious ground where sound reason is supposed to prevail. Accordingly he is apt to hasten on to the third part and to throw himself with renewed energy into the task of drawing and painting in delightful colors the beauties of the new world that is only waiting to be inaugurated.

Some of these voluble reformers, the streams of whose impassioned oratory have been flowing in torrents through the market place, upon election platforms, in legislative assemblies, and over the radio, and who imagine that they are offering the public something new in economic theory, would perhaps be astonished to find that all and more than all their stock arguments and denunciations and witticisms are an old story that has been told and retold at irregular intervals throughout the ages.

Interest, for exmple, is a subject much discussed at the moment. Of course the agitators prefer to call it usury because the latter term has acquired an unpleasant connotation. If the spellbinders find the points of their weapons becoming worn down by excessive use they might study some of the "witty invectives" against interest quoted by Bacon in his essay upon the subject. Here are a few of them: It is a pity the devil should have God's part, which is the tithe; that the usurer is the greatest Sabbath-breaker, because his plough goeth every Sunday; that it is against nature for money to beget money, and more of the same kind. To all this Bacon makes reply that there must be borrowing and lending; that men will not lend save upon interest; and therefore interest must be permitted. It is better he says, to mitigate usury by declaration than to suffer it to rage by convenience.

After enumerating and setting forth fairly what he denominates the "discommodities" of usury, Bacon points out on the other hand that the greatest part of trade is driven by merchants upon borrowing at interest that "mortgaging or pawning will little mend the matter, for either men will not take pawns without use, or if they do they will look precisely for the forfeiture." Finally, he says that "it is a vanity to conceive that there would be borrowing without profit; it is impossible to conceive the number of inconveniences that will ensue if borrowing be cramped; therefore to speak of abolishing usury is idle; all states have ever had it in one kind or rate or other: so as that opinion must be sent to Utopia."

There have been, indeed, from time immemorial, "witty invectives" not only against interest, which is the motive and reward of saving, but even against saving itself. Most people have been taught and believe that thrift is a personal and a social duty as well. Some of the prophets of the new day tell us that thrift is an evil practice to be discouraged and abolished if possible, and certainly to be severely penalized by appropriate legislative action.

MISS EARHART'S PLAN

Amelia Earhart has some refreshing ideas about women and war. In an interview in the New York World-Telegram she says that one way to stop war is to conscript the women.

"Women should be treated no differently from men. They should be drafted, made to do the dirty work and real fighting instead of dressing up and parading down the street."

This is certainly a novel idea. But she goes further.

"Women in the armies would make nations lining up on the battlefield even more ludicrous than they are now."

Her remedy seems to be to laugh the god of war out of existence. She sees something magnificently ridiculous in two groups of men blowing each other to pieces at the behest of wire-pullers safely at home over trumped-up grievances that have little basis in fact.

War, however, is too sad and sorry a business to be dismissed so lightly. It is tragic and stupid, and induces solemnity and vain wringing of hands. Yet all the misery it causes has had little appreciable effect upon war. It still swaggeringly threatens the world, and the more despairful we become about it the greater is its danger.

The probability is that Miss Earhart's plan is too simple. Peoples will not be brought to their senses that way.

A CONTRIBUTION

Some one sent me this piece, but I think I have used it before. However, it isn't bad at that.

"What's Burs?" interrupted the other.

You may insert the following problem in your paper.

Problem:

A vertical wall stands on a horizontal plane. A cubical box with 10 foot edges rests on the ground on one flat face and has another flat fact against the wall. A ladder 100 feet long has one end resting on the ground and the other touching the wall. The ladder passes over the box and touches it outer edge at some point along the ladder. How far up the wall does the ladder make contact??

A GOOD INTERPRETATION

An American missionary teacher gave each child in his class of Japanese a copy book maxim to memorize for the next day's lesson. That day they were sent to the blackboard and asked to write their maxims.

Painstakingly selecting a piece of chalk, one little oriental carefully wrote "Invisible idiot." The teacher had to admit, smilingly, that the idea was there but the words were not quite right. He had given him the maxim: "Out of sight, out of mind."

WHAT THE PRESS IS SAYING

SPOILED SQUIRREL

An upstate gentleman has sent us a nature note. After the first snow of the season, he says, a grey squirrel began to come to his window for food. The gentleman got in some nuts and fed them to him. One day, though, he was out of nuts, and in his extremity offered peanut butter. The squirrel gagged on it at first, but after the second try learned to eat it slowly. Now he won't eat nuts at all. Sheer case of decadence.—New Yorker.

SIGN CURE

It would be interesting to know if motoring behavior on the part of drivers might not be considerably improved if the offender, in addition to a fine, were required to carry a sign on his car for a week, stating that he had been found guilty of negligent driving. Very few negligent drivers would like to advertise their own incompetence in such fashion.—Calgary Herald.

A Thought for Today

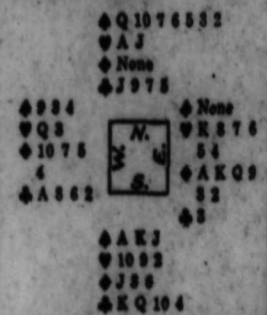
CONTRACT BRIDGE

By E. V. SHEPARD

"Teacher of Teachers"

REBID OR DOUBLE

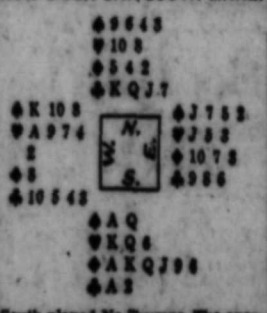
Even among trained holders one of the most difficult things to determine is the point at which doubling opponents will be more profitable than rebidding. It is exasperating to collect a minimum penalty when your side is able to go game or slam. It is equally annoying to have opponents fulfill a doubled contract for game or slam when you can save considerable by slightly overbidding. Note what happened with the following holdings:



Neither side had scored. Biddi..g went: South, one Club; North, one Spade; East, three Hearts; South, three Spades; North, four Spades; East five Diamonds; North would have been wise to drop bidding at that point, but he went five Spades; East, six Diamonds; North doubled, because his partner had opened the auction and because North held a single defensive Heart trick. He forgot all about the great length of his own suit, also the fact that East must be very long in both red suits, in which it was probable enough that South could not win a trick. It was a bad double. As long as North had really pushed East into bidding a small slam it would have been better for North to bid six Spades at which he would have gone down only a trick, losing a single Heart trick and one Club trick.

East ruffed the opening lead of the King of Spades. Two rounds of winning Diamonds followed. A low Heart was led, Dummy's Queen was captured by North's Ace. East ruffed a return Spade. The King of Hearts won the next trick Dummy ruffed a Heart, leaving three established Hearts in the declaring hand. The last trump was led from dummy. The queen picked up the last opposing trump, leaving East with four safe tricks in his own hand and the Ace of Clubs to win the last trick in dummy. There was not the least difficulty to fulfilling the small slam doubled.

HOW MUCH CAN SOUTH MAKE?



South played No Trumps. The opening lead was the Four of Hearts. Before tomorrow see how many tricks South can win against the best possible subsequent defence.

CANADIANS PAY ONLY $1.15 A YEAR EACH FOR DEFENCE

By WILFRED EGGLETON

Canadians pay $1.15 each a year for national defence—less than half what they pay for postage stamps. Yet Canada has over 3000 miles of undefended land boundary, and about as large a stretch of sea coast as any country in the world.

The United Kingdom, with four times the population, spends over 30 times as much on defences. And she's not a country which has gone wild over armaments.

France, for instance, spent nearly 12,000,000,000 francs last year on armaments and defences. Worked out on the per capita basis, every Frenchman is taxed $18 as against $1.15 for every Canadian. Sixteen times as much, in other words.

UNITED STATES' COST

The United States will spend $782,484,000 on their army, navy and air force this year. This works out to about $6.80 for every man, woman and child in the nation.

There are reports, which refuse to die, that there is "something doing" about Empire defences. The visits of Admirals Tyrwhitt and Keyes, the tour of Sir Maurice Hankey, the visits to Europe of R. B. Bennett and Mackenzie King, the appointment of a new Canadian minister of national defences, are coupled with rumors that the forthcoming election will have an "Imperial defence" angle. Official denials are forthcoming on all these counts. But there is no doubt the world stress on armaments is beginning to focus Canadian attention once more on its existing defences.

DEPENDING ON BRITAIN

Most every Canadian knows that our land, air and sea forces are almost insignificantly small. We have been content to have them so. We do not anticipate any aggression; and as an integral part of the British Commonwealth we have always assumed that if we were attacked, the powerful land, sea and air forces of the United Kingdom would come to our rescue.

In setting forth here the exact particulars of our various forces, I am not giving away valuable secrets to such potential enemies as Canada may conceivably have. They all know a good deal more about them than I do. Their intelligence forces look after that.

On land, Canada has a "useful nucleus." But it is too small to be anything more.

Canada's permanent active militia consists of about 3000 officers and men.

The non-permanent active militia consists of about 7000 officers and 45,000 other ranks.

Our "standing army", to use the European phrase, is thus 3000, and the "reserves" which could be rapidly called out an additional 52,000.

SEA DEFENCES NEGLIGIBLE

The experience in the last war was that a powerful army could be trained from civilians, but that it takes time. Everyone remembers how many months elapsed before even the first expeditionary force was able to go into action, in 1914-15.

Our sea defences are little better than a joke.

Canada has four destroyers. Add the tonnage of them altogether and it would about equal that of one of the better tramp steamers. They are first-class boats in their way, but obviously they have their limitations.

Canada has no submarines, nor other craft. We used to have two or three 140-ton mine sweepers, but apparently the economy wave has been too much for them.

Our permanent navy forces consist of 88 officers and 781 ratings—about enough to man one of the larger modern warships.

In addition there is a naval reserve of 184 and a volunteer reserve of 70 officers and 935 ratings.

Our air forces in some respects are our best, partly because Canada is a country where the development of the airplane has obvious civilian advantages. But even here the actual fighting strength is small.

The total number of sea and land planes, including transports, photographic and all other, now listed, is 156. Only a small portion of these are modern fighting airplanes. Some of the others could be converted into such, but not many.

The air force boasts 103 officers and about 600 men.

All branches of defence have been subjected to the "economy axe." In 1930 we were spending nearly twice as much on these services as we are now.

MAKE LITTLE AMMUNITION

Canada's production of ammunition and war supplies is also on a very low level. The Dominion arsenal at Quebec produces munitions for the government, but it is confined to the production of supplies needed for training. No stores suitable for war are being accumulated. For instance, in the latest report, about 2000 4.5 howitzer shells loaded with high explosive and 3000 rounds of shrapnel constituted the whole year's production. Enough to last only a few minutes under conditions of modern warfare. The number of .303 cartridges made in the year would give every member of the non-permanent forces a couple of belts full, and that is all.

Canada has no armored tanks, nor is she, contrary to rumors, making a lot of them. She has a few Carden-Loyd carriers, which hold two machine gunners. That is all, I was assured by the authorities.

Also she has some mechanized artillery, the usual horses being replaced by caterpillar tractors.

Poison gas? Of course that is barred by international agreement. Spies? Well, of course, every army has its "intelligence services." But you can tell by the total spent by the department in a year there isn't much loophole for every expenditure along those lines.

The fact is, you can't expect very much for $1.15 a year. The minister of national defence is probably getting as much defence for his money as could be expected.

MY LITTLE LOVE

Good keep you safe, my little love,
All through the night.
Rest close in His encircling arms
Until the light.
My heart is with you as I kneel to pray,
"Good night! God keep you in His care alway."

Thick shadows creep like silent ghosts
About my bed.
I lose myself in tender dreams
While overhead
The moon comes stealing through the window bars.
A silver sickle gleaming 'mid the stars.

For I, though I am far away,
Feel safe and strong.
To trust you thus, dear love, and yet,
The night is long.
I say with sobbing breath the old fond prayer,
"Good night! God keep you everywhere!"

DON'T FEAR TO WALK IN BARE FEET

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

I notice that in the bedroom scenes in motion pictures, whenever the hero or heroine is called from bed to answer the telephone, he or she, invariably pauses at the side of the bed to don a pair of slippers. This in spite of the invariably elegant appointments of the room, including a carpet or rug which appears to be of the thickest and softest nap.

All I can say is they are missing a great deal. If there is any more fun than walking around barefoot on a nice thick carpet, it must come in the higher brackets of pleasure. And nothing is better for the feet—the best of foot exercises. Also it allows the feet to breathe. Aren't they covered up enough in the 24 hours?

For the same reason, bathing the feet is not only for purposes of cleanliness. It improves circulation, relaxes the muscles, allows the strain to relax, and generally rests them. The careful and vigorous drying that should follow acts as a massage and as a stimulant to the skin.

Foot exercises which prevent broken balance and strengthen the feet to restore it, are as follows:

EXERCISE 1. Toe Gripping Exercise. This exercise develops the musculature that supports the transverse (at base of toes) arch of the foot.

Position: Sitting, with several [illegible] on the floor.

Action: Grasp the marble or pebble with the toes and pick it up, placing it a foot or so from its original position. Now replace the marbles to their original position with the other foot.

EXERCISE 2. Foot Adduction Exercise (Walking). This exercise stretches the muscles on the lateral side of the foot, and strengthens the muscles on the medial side of the foot, which tends to hold the arches in the proper position. This is an excellent exercise to overcome "weak foot."

Position: Standing ready to take a step. The foot is rolled to the outer side and the toes are forcibly flexed.

Action: Take from 25 to 50 steps with the foot in this position. This position holds both the longitudinal arch and the transverse arch in their proper posture.

STRETCHING HEEL MUSCLES

EXERCISE 3. Heel Stretching Exercise (Standing). This exercise stretches the heel tendon and strengthens the muscle groups that holds the arches in balance.

Position: Standing, facing and three or four feet from the wall. Toes are turned in and forcibly flexed, and the body weight is rolled to the outer side of the foot.

Action: Lean on the wall with the arms straight, back rigid and head erect. Slowly flex the arms, keeping the back straight and the knees and hips extended and the heels firmly on the floor, until the head touches the wall, or as near as is possible, rolling the feet to the outer side. Hold this position for a few seconds, then slowly straighten the arms, assuming the original position. Repeat this movement from 10 to 20 times.

If you are doing this exercise properly you will feel the pull in the muscles on the back of the calf and thigh of the leg.

HE WANTS BOUNTY ON COYOTES

The Editor, Nelson Daily News:

Sir,—Re Mr. Ross' letter, against any bounty on coyotes. Personally I cannot understand anyone wanting to preserve these skulking, miserable brutes, which at the present time, are becoming a real menace in this district, especially to us farmers, with flocks of sheep.

Only this week we found two deer, and several grouse, that had been devoured by these "vermin", and during this winter we found numerous deer partly devoured.

I strongly urge that the bounty on coyotes be restored, as they are certainly increasing rapidly. And complaints of the coyote menace have been registered by stock owners in nearly all districts of B.C. this past season.

A SCHOOLBOY ON SCHOOL

The Editor, Nelson Daily News:

Sir—May I report the substance of a conversation I had the other day with a boy I met on his way home from school. I pay about $200 per year in school taxes and I wanted to find out what value my neighbors' children were getting for my enforced contribution to their welfare

"Well, Johnny," I said, "were you a good boy at school today?"

"No Siree," he said gleefully, "got a licking."

"What did teacher tell you today?" I asked.

"Didn't tell us nothing. Just gave us a whole lot of 'rithmetic."

"What did teacher give you for home-work?" I continued. "Some nice story to read?"

"Nice story nothing. Just about two hours' 'rithmetic."

"What does the inspector do when he comes around?"

"Inspector?" For a moment he seemed puzzled. Then a light seemed to dawn upon him. "Oh, you mean that guy that tiptoes round the room and scares you stiff by staring over your shoulder at your work?"

"Yes, I mean him."

"Oh, him. He gave us Heck about some writing he found on the walls outside."

"Did he talk much to you?"

"No, he doesn't talk much. Just gives us tests in 'rithmetic."

"Does he say much to teacher?"

"No; teacher seems scared of him. Don't think she likes him. That's why he doesn't talk much to her."

"Do you like school?" I asked.

"Gosh no," he replied with emphasis.

"But you like teacher?"

"Might like her if she wasn't so cross. I think marking our 'rithmetic scribblers tires her and makes her cross."

"Do you like the inspector?"

"Oh that guy," the boy replied in complete bewilderment. "There ain't nothing to like or dislike about him. He just don't cut no figger in my young life."

The boy was still further astonished when I calle dhim a bright boy and gave him a nickel to buy chewing gum. I hope he invests in chewing gum and chews it vigorously to relieve the monotony of a dull school. I respect that boy very much because he has enough healthy human nature to hate such a school. From the bottom of my heart I pity the poor teacher who might win the love and esteem of her pupils if her nerves were not frayed and on thin edge by the constant worry of maintaining order and discipline and the ceaseless labor of correcting homework and seat work in 'rithmetic. As to the inspector, to paraphrase the words of the boy,—"He doesn't count for nothing in school life."

But this all happened across the border. I have business interests in the U.S.A. that necessitate an occasional trip to that land of light, liberty and Rooseveltism. Of course the above could not be a description of procedure in any school near Nelson, nor could it describe one of our own capable, popular, energetic and scholarly inspectors

BAIRD QUITS PRO HOCKEY

Charges Syracuse "Gave" Game to Cleveland

BUFFALO, N.Y., March 18 (AP)—Frank B. Baird, Jr. young millionaire owner of the Buffalo hockey club, announced tonight he was through with professional hockey. Baird's announcement followed receipt of a reply to his telegram to Charles S. King, president of the International Hockey league, demanding that Syracuse and Cleveland be expelled from the circuit as a result of their 13-7 scoring spree Sunday night.

King's message read:

"Much grieved on receipt of your telegram. Will have both managers in my office tomorrow morning but, as nothing can be proved, nothing further can be done about the matter."

Baird also took occasion to deny that Buffalo would join the Canadian-American league next season. He said he would have nothing more to do with pro hockey in any form but would concentrate on promotion of the amateur game next winter.

SYRACUSE, N.Y., March 18 (AP)—Flat denial of charges made by Hickey Rosch of Buffalo Bisons that Syracuse stars allowed Cleveland Falcons to score enough points in their game here Sunday night to freeze the Buffalonians out of the International Hockey league playoffs, was made tonight by Eddie Powers, Syracuse coach.

Powers made the denial as he sheered his stars aboard a train for Detroit where they are scheduled to meet the Olympics in the first game of the playoffs.

CLEVELAND, March 18 (AP)—Harry Holmes, manager of Cleveland Falcons, informed of a demand by Frank B. Baird, Jr., president of the Buffalo club, that Cleveland and Syracuse be ousted from professional hockey, said tonight: "I'd rather lose than have a game come under suspicion."

Baird protested the Syracuse-Cleveland game played last night, charging that Syracuse permitted the Falcons to score and thus eliminate Buffalo from the championship series of the International league.

"Before the game," Holmes said, "Mike Brophy (Cleveland captain) and Bud Cook (center) came to me and suggested that we go out to score all the goals we could.

"I disagreed and said, 'We'll go out to win or tie, and if we can't do that then we'll go in for scoring only.'"

Holmes denied entirely Baird's allegations that Syracuse "gave" the game to Cleveland.

Marylebone Is Beaten

KINGSTON, Jamaica, March 18 (CP cable).—Great Britain's Marylebone Cricket club, crippled by the loss of its captain, was defeated by an innings and 161 runs today by a team of West Indian stars in the wind-up test match of its three-month Caribbean tour.

BATTAGLIA WINS

PHILADELPHIA, March 18 (AP)—Smashing Frankie Battaglia of Winnipeg hammered out a 10-round decision over Mickey Bottone, Newark, N. J., youngster in the semi-windup bout of a boxing show tonight after being on the verge of a knockout victory in the first minute of the bout. Battaglia weighed 160 and Bottone 162.

HOCKEY CHATTER

The first game of the Edmonton Superiors and Kimberley Dynamiters at Edmonton was reported to be rough, and this is what one Edmonton writer has to say, in part, of the game: "In the first minute of play, third stanza Grove was in close and roughed Hornquist and the Kimberley goalkeeper tapped him over the head a couple of times with his stick, opening a gash that bled freely. . . .

"Looking into a deficit, the Dynamiters put on plenty of power for some considerable time but were met by a stubborn defence. Kozak and Lemmie down with a hard check and shortly afterward Grove went through and laid Goalie Hornquist low. Neither Kozak nor Grove were penalized. Play was roughing at times and stout bodychecks were being exchanged at both ends of the rink. Kozak put the works to Lemmie with his stick and drew a penalty but the Scoops couldn't take advantage of the man power.

"With about five minutes to go Jim Brown and Reddick swung sticks at each other and Reddick was flattened with a gash across the forehead. Brown was banished for a couple of minutes and Reddick was through for the night on account of his injury."

It is information all right, but when Canadiens checked out of Toronto recently en route to St. Louis to keep one of their N.H.L. engagements with Eagles their baggage was misdirected and the Habitants had to perform in borrowed togs.

The story of the lost equipment brought about considerable discussion in league circles and Bill Driscoll, veteran trainer of Montreal Maroons, who in summer time is also a baseball man with Montreal Royals of the International league, divulged the interesting secret that he generally carried an alarm clock in one of his trunks. Where there is a switch in train connections the clock is set to go at the time that a change is to come.

The sound of the alarm ringing wrote baggage car attendants to the club's luggage and it's dumped off at the proper place. O'Brien says he doesn't know whether the stunt has actually been of benefit, but adds the convincing information that in years of hockey and baseball travelling all over the continent, he has never lost a trunk.

* * *

Managers and officials of the St. Louis Eagles are complaining about the expenses for travelling. The Eagles have practically spent the season travelling about the circuit and the train rides are becoming far from a joke. It is no wonder Scotty Bowman and Syd Howe were delighted when they were sold to the Detroit Wings. "Now we'll get some sleep," they chorled in chorus when they were told. But, judging from the poor showing the Eagles made in their new home, and the even poorer crowds that attended, they will be in a new surrounding next year, or even back at Ottawa.

Did you know—Lorne Chabot is the only four-man goalie in the N.H.L.? He has played for Rangers, Toronto, Canadiens and Black Hawks—Buddy Jarvis, left winger of the Buffalo Hockey club in the International league, and a former Fort William boy, was voted the most popular member of the Bisons this year by the fans—Freak goals happen anywhere. In the recent game between the Hawks and Amerks, Doc Romnes scored for the Hawks in 23 seconds and Carr tied it up on the next faceoff—Lester Patrick, coach of the New York Rangers, replied in answer to a suggestion that he was trying to avoid the Toronto Leafs in the playoffs, that the Leafs play a wide open game and that is the kind of team the Rangers have the best chance against, as they too went in for the free-scoring game—It is rumored that Eddie Gerard will coach the New York Amerks next year—Young Eddie Finnigan is the exact replica of brother Frank, short and solidly built—Red Horner is just recovering from a charley horse he accumulated at the last "Boston tea party"—In the last five years Aurel Joliat of Canadiens has been named the National league all-stars once, but he has been on the alternate team three time—New York Rangers and New York Amerks believe the Maroons is the team to beat in the playoff, even if the Leafs and the Bruins are getting all the publicity.

'Sweeney' Schriner, Former Calgary Bronk, Voted Best Rookie in Big Pro League

Of 27 Newswriters, 26 Rank Him First; Bert Connolly From Moncton, Second

By ELMER DULMAGE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, March 18 (CP)—David (Sweeney) Schriner of Calgary, taken dubiously into the creaking New York American machine last fall when Joe Simpson was inclined to welcome all-comers under the age of 30 or so, quickly established himself the National Hockey league's best rookie of the season. Sports writers confirmed Schriner's rating today.

Voting in connection with the annual Canadian Press all-star poll, the writers had no hesitation placing him at the head of a freshman group that included some of the best rookies the N. H. L. has looked on in some years—Bert Connolly, Lynn Patrick and Charlie Mason of the Rangers, Pep Kelly of Toronto, Stan Cruchfield and Jack McGill of Canadiens, just to mention a few.

He succeeds Russ Blinco of Montreal, named the best rookie of the 1933-34 season, and Carl Voss, then a Detroit Red Wings and now of St. Louis, who won the poll the previous year. Schriner's first-year record reads better than those of either Voss or Blinco, both center players.

Of 27 newspaper critics who took part in the vote, 26 called the smooth-haired left winger of the lowly Americans the outstanding rookie. The other named Bill Miller, former Moncton Hawk who broke in after mid-season with Montreal Maroons and was an immediate success.

Conolly, also a graduate of the Moncton Allan cup champs, placed second in the poll. He received nine second-choice votes and four third-choice. Crutchfield, ace of the McGill university team last season, was third. His name was written four times as second choice and twice as third-choice.

Lester Patrick's son, a conspicuous success on his father's team; Toronto's Pep Kelly, straight from the St. Michael's college junior team of 1934; Bill Cowley of Ottawa and Pete Kelly of Charlottetown, who made good with St. Louis Eagles, were others prominently mentioned.

All these made the jump straight from amateur company, but Schriner went to the Americans equipped with one year's experience in the International league. He last played as an amateur with Calgary Bronks in 1933.

In the fall of 1933 he came east to tryout with the Star-Spangled team at Oshawa, Ont., accompanied by Fred Hergerts who was reputed to be the better of the two. Manager Simpson signed them both and shipped them down to Syracuse for experience. Schriner finished ninth in the list of top scorers with 17 goals and 11 assists.

That was a sign the Americans owned a valuable player, but it was no indication he was going to step into the N.H.L. and accumulate 40 points in his first season. His record is 18 goals and 22 assists. He is fourth among Canadian section scoring leaders.

Not since Charlie Conacher signalled his big pong entry by begging 30 goals in the 1929-30 season has a rookie created such a splash.

Connolly and Patrick each have scored nine goals and 11 assists and Pep Kelly's average shows 10 goals and seven assists.

"OF COURSE HE'S GOOD"

CALGARY, March 18 (CP)—Rosie Reimer figures that Reg Dutton owes him a hat. A year ago last fall, before "Sweeney" Schriner entered professional hockey ranks, Rosie bet Dutton Schriner could stickhandle past any two defencemen in the National hockey league and the stake was to be a hat.

Now Reimer, who coached Schriner in his amateur days on the Calgary Bronks, is awaiting Dutton's return, and no uncertain terms he let it be known he would try to make Dutton deliver.

Asked what he though of Schriner's showing this year, Rosie said: "Why, of course he's good. He's the best rookie that ever went into the N.H.L."

Hockey Standings

National Hockey league individual scoring statistics will this week be issued on Wednesday following completion of the schedule. Standings of the teams after week-end games are as follows:

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE

ROSS, AMBERS MEET, JUNE

NEW YORK, March 18 (AP).—A lightweight championship tussle, with Barney Ross defending his crown against the sensational Lou Ambers, will be the curtain raiser for the New York outdoor fight season, early in June.

Ross informed the New York state athletic commission today that he will accept Ambers' challenge and Mike Jacobs, promoter for the newly-formed Twentieth Century Sporting club, immediately applied for permission to stage the battle at one of the ball parks on June 5.

OSHAWA JUNIOR CHAMPS

TORONTO, March 18 (CP).—Oshawa's big red team outlasted a game band of Kitchener-Waterloo youngsters here tonight to win 8-2 and capture the junior "A" Ontario Hockey association crown for the first time. The first game in Kitchener was won by Oshawa 4-1 and the second tilt of the best-of-three series in Oshawa went to Kitchener 5-4.

Oshawa will now meet Sudbury Wolf Cubs in the Memorial cup playdowns with the first game here Wednesday.

ALL HOCKEY DATES SET

Chicago and Maroons Meet March 23 and 26

MONTREAL, March 18 (CP).—The two-game, total-goal series between Chicago Black Hawks and Montreal Maroons in the Stanley cup eliminations will be played here Saturday, March 23, and at Chicago Tuesday, March 26, President Frank Calder of the National Hockey league announced tonight.

Chicago, holders of the Stanley cup, and Maroons, finished second in their respective divisions in the league's final standing, Chicago in the United States section and Maroons in the international.

The announcement completed playoff dates: Toronto Maple Leafs and Boston Bruins, first place finishers in the international and United States sections, begin their three-of-five series at Boston Saturday, March 23, play at the Massachusetts city Tuesday, March 26, and move to Toronto for the third game Thursday, March 28. The fourth and fifth games, if necessary, will be at Toronto Saturday, March 30 and Tuesday, April 2. Winner of this series will enter the Stanley cup final.

Third place occupants in their respective sections, Montreal Canadiens and New York Rangers will open their two-game, total-goal series at New York on Sunday, March 24, and conclude it at Montreal on Tuesday, March 26.

The semi-finalists will emerge from the Maroon-Chicago and Ranger-Canadiens series and from these semi-finalists will survive a team to meet the Toronto-Boston winners for the cup.

Glentoran Wins

BELFAST, March 18 (CP cable)—Glentoran defeated Glenavon 3-1 in a Belfast cup soccer game played here today.

Wakefield Beaten

LONDON, March 18 (CP cable)—In a Rugby league game played today Leigh defeated Wakefield 12-8.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 18 (AP)—E. A. "Al" Thornish, 66, who a half-century ago was considered the "world's fastest human," died today.

BIRTHDAY GREETINGS

By the Canadian Press

To F. J. Mahar, noted hockey star at the beginning of the century, born in Halifax 59 years ago today. He played with Halifax Crescents in the City league for many years. When the Stanley cup was competed for by amateurs, Mahar's team one year entered the final round of play for that now historic pro hockey trophy.

SUDBURY WINS

HAMILTON, Ont., March 18 (CP)—Sudbury Wolves, driven into overtime by the fighting Brockville Magedomas, bagged two goals in the extra period here tonight and won the two-game round in Ontario's senior hockey playdowns series by 9-7. They will play Toronto All-Stars, senior "A" O.H.A. champions, in the next round.

Sudbury won the first game at Toronto Friday night by 4-3, but Magedomas held the upper hand for three periods tonight, leading by 4-3 after three periods. The round was tied at 7-7 and they went into overtime.

NEW YORK, March 18 (AP)—Young Danny O'Mahoney of Ireland chalked up another victory in his North American campaign tonight, defeating the veteran Jim Browning of Verona, Mo., in 29:31. O'Mahoney used his "Irish whip" to flatten Browning. The Irishman weighed 219, Browning 220.

FINALS START ON WEDNESDAY

PORTLAND, Ore., March 18 (AP)—At Seattle Wednesday night the hockey teams of Vancouver and Seattle will meet in the first game of the final playoff for the championship of the Northwest Hockey league, Dr. Gordon B. Lelieb of Portland, president of the league, announced today.

The second game of the best three-out-of-five series will be played at Vancouver Friday. The teams will return to Seattle Sunday, March 24. If a fourth game is necessary it will be played on Vancouver ice Monday, March 25, and if a fifth must be played it will be at Seattle Wednesday, March 27.

Winnipeg in Junior West Finals

WINNIPEG, March 18 (CP)—Winnipeg Monarchs, junior hockey champions of Manitoba, advanced another round in the Memorial cup playdowns here tonight by defeating Port Arthur Juniors, Thunder Bay titleholders, 6-2. Monarchs defeated Forts 3-0, Saturday and tonight's victory earned for them the right to meet Saskatoon Wesleys in the western Canada final series opening in Winnipeg March 26.

ROBERT (RED) ROLFE

Dartmouth's gift to the major leagues, Robert Abial (Red) Rolfe, begins his sophomore year as a Yankee with chances for a first line third base position all in his favor. Ability to stand up under the ordeal of being shifted from shortstop to bench to third as a yearling marks him as a stayer.

Rolfe came up from the Yankee farm at Newark last year to face a definite handicap. The training camp was full of infielders, and Manager Joe McCarthy liked them all, though each had definite weaknesses. It was necessary to experiment at different positions with each candidate, and this process doesn't help a ball player's average.

KEEPS BATTING EYE

Shifted from short to third, Rolfe appeared finally to have found his job. Though he appeared in only 89 games, his batting eye remained sharp enough to sustain a .307 average. Considering weeks he spent on the bench, his play was remarkable.

The redhead, native of Penacook, N.H., will be 27 years old next October 17. He prepped at Phillips-Exeter before entering Dartmouth where he was a Phi Sigma Kappa. At Dartmouth Big Jeff Tesreau, former pitcher for the Giants, coached him.

Signing with the Yankees in 1931, Rolfe was optioned to Albany and spent the next two years at Newark, where a committee of sports writers voted him the most valuable player in the International league in 1933.

matches, there is a possibility that through these matches, Canada may, in the future, be included in the Walker cup matches, now played between the United States and Great Britain.

Those who know "Sandy" Somerville best expect great things from him during this trip to England; his failure to do anything spectacular last year doesn't discourage them, because they know that the dour, unsmiling Scot is made of "championship stuff."

"Ice becomes hot news for golfers!"

Such is the flaring headline on a piece of literature that flaunts itself on the desk at the moment. Beguiled by the expression and rapidly becoming golf-conscious as the harbingers of spring make their presence known in every section of the country, we read the pamphlet through several times.

It seems that we are to be greeted this season with a golf ball that contains a dry-ice center. The ball its sponsor says, will fly as swift as a swallow and as straight as an arrow. In short, it is just what you and all the rest of us have been waiting for. The prayers of the century shooters have been answered.

Last year, if you will bear with me for a while, the lads who patrol the fairways and the adjacent rough were permitted to lower their altogether-too-high scores with their choice of a "seeded" ball or one with a honey center. If you didn't care for new-fangled ideas there was always the old-fashioned pellet that somehow or other carried you along before the genius of modern science came to the rescue of the Royal and Ancient fraternity.

ELUSIVE OBJECT

The theory behind the dry-ice center is that the little pellet of ice develops carbon dioxide. This expands so rapidly that it pumps up the liquid center of the ball and increases the tension. It expands evenly and is said to give absolute sphericity. The latter, in case you are in doubt, is the item that all the boys are shooting at.

The history of golf ball development is one of continuous experimentation and never-ending research. The perfect golf ball has yet to be produced and every new thought brings the manufacturers a little closer to the mark. Still it might be a good thing if some of the advertising boys eased off a little in their reaching for effect . . . the only place for bunk is in the bunkers.

AIMING FOR PERFECTION

After reading the story of a little bit of the Arctic to be dropped into your favorite golf ball we hastened to a good friend who is one of the leading men in the business and for an hour or so inwardly digested some remarks about golf balls—then and now.

The history of the golf ball business is a romance in itself. There is enough material in the development of the sphere that becomes hither and yon over hill and dale to make a lengthy yarn. Some day we'll get busy and write a 2000 word story on it. Right now you can have a brief resume of it. If you aren't interested, turn to the next column.

For the past five or six years ball manufacturers have been swinging to and fro on the respective merits of liquid and paste centers with the latter getting plenty of the call. The big thing is to get something that is antifrictional and that will enable the ball to regain its sphericity as soon as possible after being well and truly thumped by somebody's trusty club.

FLATTENING OUT BOGEY

It was found after experiments that a ball would fly further and straighter if it regained its shape directly after being hit. Golf balls flatten out when they meet the club head. The big trick is to get rid of that flattening out business as soon as possible.

Thirty years ago the golfers were busily engaged pounding the old gutty ball around. As we know it now the gutty was a pretty poor relation in comparison to its present-day sister.

Originally moulded and rounded by hand, the gutty then advanced to being formed into some sort of shape by crude metal moulds. The gutta then used for balls was often dirty gray—full of foreign particles—none to easy to find.

It is said that A. E. Penfold, whose name is a byword as far as golf ball construction is concerned, was the man to first bring out a white gutta percha.

GET OUT THE AXE

The next major step was in the matter of markings. The original gutty was as smooth as Bob Jones' putting stroke is reputed to be. The story has it that some smart fellows noticed the ball behaved better when hacked up a little with usage. Some arden soul then hammered out a home-made marking and found it gave the new ball considerable restraint.

The bramble style of marking then appeared. This consisted of a close series of tiny rounded knobs all over the surface. They might have called it the "pimple" ball with good effect. The bramble rapidly became universal. But trouble soon showed itself with the bramble. It was found that good behavior was short-lived—the longer you played the ball—the poorer its flight.

HERE'S A TIP

Golf ball experimentation has narrowed the field of marking down to two ranges—the "dimple" and the "mesh". It has been proven that both set better than any other and have different qualities. The former is the longer of the two under hard, dry conditions. It has a low, flat carry with a long roll. The "mesh" climbs higher, has a longer carry, but a shorter roll.

The ability is why in Canada and the United States the long rolling "dimple" is generally preferred because the courses tend to dry out and become hard. England, with its damper climate and softer fairways, prefers the "mesh" for its longer carry.

Better carry a few around with you and sneak a couple out against your deadly rival next time it starts to rain!

SPORT FLASHES by HARRY "RED" FOSTER

MASTER OF THE MIDIRON

C. Ross (Sandy) Somerville of London, Ontario, on whom Canada is pinning her hopes of capturing the British amateur title, has been the outstanding Canadian amateur golfer for the past eight years. Eight years is a long time to wear a golf crown, yet this quiet, unassuming Londoner does it with utmost grace and modesty. The champion's career dates back to 1926, when as a mere lad in his early twenties he annexed the Dominion amateur championship. In 1929 he again outplayed all competitors for the same honors. Then two years in succession, 1930 and 1931, he demonstrated that "champions can come back" by again capturing the highest honors in the gift of the Canadian Amateur Golf association. In 1932 he decided to invade the United States field, and after a short session of play, the startled readers of United States newspaper sports pages learned with amazement that the "Silent Sandy" from London, Ont., had been in their midst. He annexed the United States amateur golf championship from Johnny Goodman of Baltimore. This was the second time that a foreigner had accomplished this feat, the first time being H. H. Hilton of the Royal Liverpool club of England, who won it in 1911. This brilliant young Canadian will captain 10 of the outstanding amateurs selected from all parts of the Dominion, who will go to England late this month in an effort to annex the British amateur title.

The team will represent the Royal Canadian Golf association, and while there, they will play several

"BIG LEAGUE" BOWLING

By AL DEMAREE
Former Pitcher N.Y. Giants

The more perfectly we find that 1-3 pocket, the more strikes we are going to get. It used to be said that a good spare bowler was a high average bowler, but today's averages are so much higher than those of a few years ago that strikes and lots of them are absolutely essential.

You often hear the expression, "Why don't you roll your second ball first?" That is a splendid bit of advice. If bowlers generally concentrated as much on their first ball as they do on their second we would have more strikes. So many times a bowler rolls his first ball in a hurry, knowing, of course, I'll be has a second one coming if necessary.

But suppose, now, you really concentrate and roll your first ball as if you had to pick up the 1-3-5 spare with your ball. No bowler likes to have to shoot for the 1-3-5 spare with his second ball, but if he picks it up with his first ball he will begin to really place his ball consistently in the 1-3 pocket, and the result will be more strikes and easier spares to shoot for when he fails to get strikes.

Al Demaree has prepared an illustrated leaflet called "Bowling Delivery" which he will gladly send to any reader requesting it. Address Al Demaree in care of this paper and be sure to enclose a self-addressed envelope.

GYPSY GIRL

THE STORY OF AN IMPASSIONED ROMANCE

"PEARSON"

READ THIS FIRST:

Consuelo, a beautiful gypsy girl, longs to dance with all the world at her feet. In love with her are the Dummy, a deaf mute, and Marcu, both members of her tribe. She has only hate for her mother, Anica, but is extremely fond of her father, Girtza. The father reprimands Anica for her treatment of Consuelo. When Anica finds Consuelo dressed in her own wedding skirt, she beats her with a whip. Marcu rescues the girl and her father then turns the whip on Anica. Consuelo's father slaps her when he catches her trying to hold back money she has made dancing at the county fair. Both the sheriff and Veda, trainer of the gypsies' bear, attempt to steal a kiss from Consuelo after she finishes dancing again but the repulses them both. (NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 6

"You were a long time," Marcu said.

Consuelo took no notice of him. She unloosened the tambourine from her girdle and flung it to the ground. Then she sat cross-legged before the low burning campfire and stretched her arms.

"I'm tired now." She pulled the scarf from her hair and loosened the strands with her fingers. Reaching in her pocket she drew forth a five-cent candy bar. It was limp from the heat of her body. She unpeeled the silver wrapping and bit into the sweet stuff. She noticed him then. "Want a bite?" As he refused, she continued eating until it was gone. She licked her lips and after a moment looked up at him.

"What have you got for me?"

"Something nice."

She shrugged her shoulders.

"Well, give it to me now that I am here."

"We'll talk a minute first." He was standing, arms crossed, looking down at her. "Girtza has promised that we marry. When will you be ready?"

"Never, ugly fellow. I hate you as I would hate a low crawling snake."

"Low crawling snakes are dangerous. They carry deadly poison with them."

"Now you are talking of great crawling snakes. I am talking of the little water snakes that hiss at your feet but cannot harm you. You are like that, annoying—but not dangerous."

"We will not talk longer of snakes. When will you marry me?" It was evident Marcu was holding his temper in check.

"Never!" She yawned. "I didn't come back here to talk with you. You said you had something for me but I guess it was another one of your big promises." She got to her feet. "I go back to the fair. There are plenty of men there to tell me how beautiful I am and who will give me things without my having to talk all night first."

"Go back to the fair. I have something—but I am wasting my time. I'll give it to Anica."

"Why give her anything? She is fool enough to adore your dark skin without your paying for it."

"Shut your mouth, little slut! She's your mother—"

"—and your sweetheart!"

"You lie! You lie! There's only one sweetheart I want!" For a moment he held her at arm's length and looked down into her eyes. His hands trembled and he thrust her from him. "Are you made of stone? Can't you see I love you?"

"Fine way you have of showing it!" She spat down at his feet. "I'm going back to the carnival."

Marcu gritted his teeth.

"When you are my woman I will beat you for all of these words. Sit down!" His hand went to the opening of his blouse.

Instantly the girl was at attention.

"Have you really something pretty for me?"

"Something better than you deserve, my pig." He drew forth a wadded bit of paper and unwrapped it.

"It's a ring!" cried Consuelo.

Marcu turned it in his fingers.

"A diamond!" gasped the girl. "A diamond as big as my thumb! It's—it's beautiful!"

The stone caught the reflection of the fire and glittered with unbelievable beauty.

"It's for you," Marcu said.

"Now you are my darling one." Her tan fingers reached for the ring, but it was withdrawn from her grasp.

"For you", Marcu repeated, "If—"

The girl did not take her eyes from the ring. She had never seen anything so lovely.

"If what?" she asked, scarce heeding the words. The diamond held her like a magnet, its fire drawing fire. Her fingers touched the stone lightly and a thrill raced through her body. "Oh heavens, I have never seen such a beauty! And it is mine!" Again she reached for it. "Give it to me!" she cried.

Marcu held the jewel tighter.

"You may have it, if—" The perfume of her body rose to his nostrils; the satin smoothness of her throat was very close to him. The veins rose and swelled on his forehead. "Say you're mine, little sweetheart, and you can have the ring."

"Yes, yes," breathed the girl. What was he saying? What was she saying? She didn't know. She didn't care. The ring! The beauty of the diamond was all that mattered—all that could ever matter. It was hers now. But, no! The dark fingers did not release it. His words penetrated to her mind in a maze of meaningless jumble.

"Gypsy women lie!" He pushed the ring on his little finger. It scraped the skin from his knuckle and drew blood. Then like a starving man his lips found the bare loveliness of her throat. His arms crushed her to him.

* * *

"Consuelo, breakfast!"

A sleepy voice answered from inside the van, "I don't want any breakfast, papa."

"Now it's the first time that pig has missed food," remarked Anica.

"Consuelo, come eat your breakfast!"

"I tell you, I don't want any!"

Marcu glanced up from the tin plate.

"Why don't you let her sleep, old one? It will be more than an hour before we're under way."

"When you are married to her you will have the right to say that. Now, I'm chief Here!"

Significant glances went around the circle. A fight maybe?

The two men stared at each other and Marcu was the first to give way. Then Girtza crossed to the van and parted the ragged curtains.

"Consuelo, come out here!"

The girl, lying on a pile of old blankets, rose to her elbow.

"Let me sleep, papa, I'm tired," she pleaded.

"Get up this minute, you lazy good-for nothing." And he went back to his breakfast.

Consuelo yawned, stretched, uncurled her body and got to her feet. She knew coaxing would get her nowhere with Girtza in a mood like this. She pushed back the tangled hair from her face and straightened the mussed wedding skirt. An ironical smile crossed her lips. A wedding skirt! Now maybe sometime she would marry Marcu. She held up her hand and looked long and lovingly at the diamond. How beautiful it was—ah, how very beautiful it was! She pressed her lips to it and a sob of joy choked in her throat.

"Yes, today I shall tell Marcu I will marry him. I have been the mad one to hate him so. His arms are a thousand times stronger than any other chav's and besides no other one has ever given me anything as beautiful as this diamond." She held it out and turned it in the light and saw new beauty. "In it are pearls and rubies and sapphires and emeralds. The diamond is the mother jewel. The other stones lie under her heart ready to be born and—"

"Consuelo!"

"Oh now damnation, I say!"

She jumped down from the van and stood for a moment looking deeply at the scene around the campfire and it seemed that she had never seen it before. She saw Marcu, his back toward her. How tall and strong he was, how wide his shoulders, how noble his head with its black curling hair.

Again a sob rose to her throat. He was her man now. Hers! She would go to him, throw herself at his feet and tell the tribe that no longer was she a wild gypsy girl but a woman subdued and in love.

As she stood there Marcu glanced around and saw her and because he was not, at this moment, as big and brave as he looked, he turned and, moving away from the circle, mumbled that he would round up the horses. His arms were burning with passion for her. She was his now—no denying that. But because of what had happened last night he was a bit afraid of her and so instead of remaining and taking a chance of her anger or scorn, he ran away.

STEELS SLUMP AT NEW YORK

Foreign Political Tangle Felt on Wall Street

By FRANK MacMILLEN
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, March 18 (AP)—Stock market forces had their headaches today trying to cope with the foreign political and monetary developments and soggy commodity markets at home.

During most of the session stocks were offered at concessions from the previous close ranging from fractions to around 2 points for active issues, but no very vigorous selling developed and by the close many equities had recovered around half their extreme declines.

Political tension across the water, arising from German rearming, unsettled sentiment.

Declines in steel production sent U. S. Steel and Bethlehem common to new lows for 1934-35, each off a point or so at their worst, but both closed only fractionally lower.

American Telephone sold at the lowest levels since 1933, the final price was 99¼, off 2 points on the day, and it ended below par for the first time since May, 1933.

Except for a drop of a point in some mines, losses in the Canadian list were held to fractions.

Turnover was 583,712 shares.

MONTREAL POWER LEADS IN DROP

MONTREAL, March 18 (CP)—Last week's support was withdrawn on the Montreal stock exchange today and listings declined in the face of strong selling.

Montreal Power was a weak leader with a loss of a point at 30 while Shawinigan eased ½ at 16¼. On the other hand Canadian Hydro-Electric preferred rose a point at 49. In the interlisted group, Brazilian lost half a point at 8½ and Holinger 15 cents at 16.65 while Nickel was down 5 at 23. C. P. R. eased ¼ at 9⅝. Alcohols were weaker, losses ranging up to half were shown by Massey Harris, McColl Frontenac and others. Dominion Textile advanced a point at 80 and Dominion Bridge ¼ at 24¼.

Sales 10,268 shares and $7100 in bonds.

Government Would Help Vancouver

Five-point Plan Would Put Financial Puzzle Up to Government

VICTORIA, March 18 (CP).—Five clauses of a relief measure under which the city of Vancouver would be granted financial aid by the British Columbia legislature have been completed by the private bills committee.

The "special powers" clause under which the government would be given all the authority of the legislature to deal with refunding of Vancouver's debts and payment of interest on these debts remains a contentious point. The clause is regarded in some quarters as throwing, in effect, the entire financial problem of Vancouver on the government.

The measure would authorize consolidation of tax arrears to be paid over a period of six years, issuance of $1,500,000 of "baby bonds" without assent of ratepayers to finance city works; transfer of $640,000 unexpended bylaw balances for use in the sinking funds or on current account; validation of past suspension of sinking fund payments; and suspension of sinking fund payments in 1935 and 1936.

GOLD ISSUES ARE WEAKER

Bralorne Drops 30; Base Metals Are Stronger

VANCOUVER, March 18 (CP)—Losses were suffered by most issues on the Vancouver stock exchange today, especially in the gold group. Trading was quiet with sales totalling 286,837 shares.

Bralorne dropped 30 and Pioneer Gold was down 25. Vidette lost 5 at 33 and Gold Belt, Premier Gold, Wayside, Reno and Dentonia were all off a cent. Kootenay Belle gained 3 at 51, Viking firmed ¼ at 5¾ and Congress at 27½ and United Empire at 6 each gained ½ cent.

The base metal silver stocks were firmer. B.C. Nickel gained a cent at 42, Noble Five was up 1¼ at 7¾, Beaver Silver and Norter Idaho each firmed ½ cent and Golconda was up ½ at 28.

Royalite lost 50 at 19.00 and Amalgamated Oil and Crow's Nest each lost 3 at 17 and 19 respectively. Ranchmen's was up 4 at 1.00. Calgary & Edmonton gained 3 and Pacalta firmed ¼ cent at 7¾.

Prices Steadier for Commodities

MONTREAL, March 18 (CP)—Prices steadied on the Canadian commodity exchange today with silver futures showing a four-point decline to a 40-point advance. Fourteen contracts changed hands, five in May, five in July and four in November.

May closed at 59.50 bid after selling at 59.75 and July moved between a low of 60.35 and a high of 60.75 before closing at 60.00 bid. November traded at 61.50, closing at 61.25 bid.

BAR GOLD UP 13 CENTS

PICKLE CROW CLOSES OFF

Mine Issues In East Show Weakness

TORONTO, March 18 (CP).—The outlook appeared still a bit gloomy to the mining section of the Toronto exchange today and the selling over the board was more urgent than the buying. Lower New York prices for the interlisted leaders had a depressing influence.

McWatters closed at 1.73 for a net loss of 6 cents. Little Long Lac advanced 10 cents at 5.95, God's Lake closed at 1.38.

Outstanding soft spots were San Antonio, Prospectors Airways and Buffalo-Ankerite, all down 12 to 20 cents, while losses of 2 to 7 were chalked up for Pickle Crow, Ventures, Ymir and Bradian.

Wright Hargreaves sold down 35 cents, Dome $1 and Bralorne 5 cents. Penny issues found the going a bit heavy. The silvers closed down 2 to 5 cents and in the base metals Noranda worked back 50 cents and Falconbridge lost 5.

VIKING DRILLING IN THE ORE BODY

VANCOUVER, March 18—According to Superinendent Haakonsen of the Viking mine, a crew of men has been put to work cutting out a station and drilling on the ore. Samples of ore for shipment show assays of $65 in gold at $34. Ore is being trucked to railhead, a distance of six miles. The Viking camp is fully equipped with diesel power, power drilling machines, drill sharpeners and good quarters for the mine crew. In all 1400 feet of tunnelling and cross cuts have been completed.

INDUSTRIALS GET A MILD SETBACK

TORONTO, March 18 (CP).—Industrial shares of the Toronto exchange influenced mainly by the sell-off on the New York board suffered a mild setback today. Volume held around the recent average.

Interlisteds led the decline. Walkers common eased ¼ and Distillers Seagrams and Industrial Alcohol ⅛.

Brazilian and C.P.R. slipped ⅛. Foods dropped with the general list. Loblaw A was sold quite actively for a ¼-point loss and Dominion Stores weakened ⅛.

The prevailing note in the banks was soft while no adjustments occurred in the steels and in the construction group

Belgian Bonds Take Big Slide

NEW YORK, March 18 (AP).—Developments in the European armaments and monetary situation gave the foreign section of the bond market a heavy appearance today but other divisions held up well.

Four issues of Belgian bonds declined from 2⅛ to 5⅞ points in a heavy turnover following announcement that the belga had been placed under government control.

Dawes 7s yielded 1⅛ points to 39¼.

There were a few soft spots in domestic corporate issues.

GRAIN VALUES HIT NEW LOWS

Heavy Liquidation in Coarse Grains at Winnipeg

WINNIPEG, March 18 (CP) — Liquidation of course grains futures, in progress all of last week, broke out anew on the Winnipeg grain exchange today and sent values down to new season's low levels.

Wheat was left in the background with trading interest centered in the coarse grains pit. Wheat futures closed ¼ to ½ cent lower, May at 82⅞ and July 82⅜ cents.

Forced selling in the wake of equally sharp declines at Chicago broke over the market at the opening and net declines of 1¾ to 5 cents a bushel were sustained in oats, barley, flax and rye.

May oats closed at 36½, off 1¾ cents; May barley 42⅛, off 2¼; May flax 5 cents lower at 134⅜; and May rye down 1¾ at 46⅝ cents.

Wheat, meanwhile, had slipped nearly a cent but recovered. A 100,000-bushel increase in Canada's wheat shipments last week was a strengthening factor.

Cash grains continued dormant.

WHEAT AND CORN FALL OVER FOUR

CHICAGO, March 18 (AP)—Demoralized much of the time by uneasiness over European political and financial conditions, all around lower prices formed the rule in the grain market today.

Stop loss selling brought about fresh bottom price records for the season. Wheat and corn fell to about 4½ cents under last week's top quotation with oats off 6⅝ cents and rye 9⅝ cents.

Moderate rallies, however, ensued and wheat closed unsettled ⅜ to 1¼ below Saturday's finish, May 91 to 91⅛, corn ⅜ to 1 cent down, May 76⅜ to 76½, oats at ⅜ to 1⅛ decline.

ZEIGLER DESIGNS FLOTATION MILL FOR THE BAYONNE MINE

Plant of 50 or 60 Tons to Be Operating by July; Duke Harris Takes Out a Crew to Start Work at Mine

A quartz mill of flotation type, of 50 to 60 tons capacity, will be built this spring for the Bayonne gold mine, and W. Zeigler, the mill expert of Wallace, Idaho, who has designed many Kootenay mills of recent years, is working out its design, W. S. (Duke) Harris, who is in charge of the property for the Bayonne Mining company, now controlled by the A. C. Frost interests of Seattle, announced over the week-end.

Mr. Harris left for Tye Sunday, with a crew of 10 men, whom he will put at work at the mine preparing for operation.

The mill tests which led to the flotation type of plant being selected were made early in the winter by a number of agencies, on a shipment of ore brought out by Mr. Harris for the purpose, the first ore ever to be shipped by the Bayonne. It is understood the agreement with Hon. James W. Gerrard, the owner of the property, requires a mill to be in operation by July 1. The plant will be erected on a site 300 feet from the portal of No. 3 tunnel.

TO RUSH WORK

Mr. Harris' program is to get as much use as possible out of the snow road before the break-up, and for that purpose he will start hauling supplies, such as mine steel, powder, and groceries, by tractor and sleigh at once.

All the material for the milling plant, from lumber to machinery, will also be hauled up this way, and construction of the mill will start as soon as the design is completed.

In the meantime miners will be put at work cleaning out No. 2 and No. 3 tunnels, preparing to a development program, the first item in which will probably be a raise from No. 3 to No. 2.

When the snow goes the new road will be made a standard motor road.

Ore dumps which have been decades in accumulating will provide the first feed to go through the mill, but it is thought possible ore may be developed both in extension of the present workings, and also lower down, to justify a larger mill further down the hill, and to lead to a large scale operation.

BULK OF $52,622,000 IN ESTIMATES TABLED COVER THE DEFICIT OF C.N.

OTTAWA, March 18 (CP)—Supplementary estimates totalling $52,622,000 were tabled in the house of commons today by Finance Minister E. N. Rhodes, the bulk of the amount being to cover the deficit of the Canadian National railways.

A sum of $3,337,000 covered the deficit of the Canadian National Steamships, loan to the Canadian National (West Indies) Steamships and expenditures under the Maritime Freight Rates act.

The total sum required to pay the Canadian National railways deficit for 1934 was $48,407,500.

There were two supplementaries, one for a total of $49,285,000 for the fiscal year ending March 31 and the other amounting to $3,337,000 for the 1935-36 fiscal year and covering only the Canadian National Steamships and maritime freight rates requirements.

LOAN TO HARBOR BOARD

Other large items included $256,500 as a loan to the Chicoutimi harbor commission for the construction of harbor improvements. This is additional to the amount provided in the Chicoutimi Harbor Loan act of 1931.

The royal commission on price spreads and mass buying is to receive $75,000.

A further vote of $15,000 is listed for the chief electoral office to meet salaries and contingencies.

A grant of $500 to the Chief Constables' Association of Canada and $3000 to provide for grants to veterans of the northwest mounted police who served in the northwest rebellion.

FREIGHT RATES ACT

Additional sums required under the Maritime Freight Rates act for the fiscal year ended March 31 totalled $389,393 of which $338,239 goes to the Canadian National system. The estimated requirement under the Maritime Freight Rates act for 1935-36 was $2,780,000 of which $1,880,000 was for the Canadian National system, the remainder being divided among all other carriers participating in the traffic.

Clerical assistance, contingencies, expenses of committees and the office of the sergeant-at-arms required a total additional sum of $43,987 for the current fiscal year. The Annuities act, administered in the department of labor, gets $50,000 more and $20,000 more goes for additional expenses under the war veterans allowances division of the department of pensions.

For the mail subsidy and steamships subventions $2000 more was required on account of the service between Pictou, Mulgrave and Cheticamp in Nova Scotia. For miscellaneous and unforeseen expenses in the ocean and river services $6100 extra was required.

The $3,337,000 contained in the supplementaries for 1935-36 was distributed as follows: Canadian National Steamships deficit $361,000, a decrease of $629,000 from last year; loan to Canadian National (West Indies) Steamships (capital) $196,000, a decrease of $36,000, and Maritime Freight Rates act, $2,780,000, an increase of $640,000. The total was a decrease of $215,000 from the previous year.

POUND SLUMPS AT NEW YORK

NEW YORK, March 18 (CP).—European political developments prompted a fresh decline in sterling in the foreign exchange markets today.

The pound closed at $4.76¼ for a loss of 3⅝ cents. The French franc finished .02¾ of a cent higher at 6.61¾ cents.

The Canadian dollar was moderately lower, closing at 1⅛ per cent discount against ⅞ per cent Saturday.

Discuss Medical Fees and Indigents

Nelson Council Will Go Into Matter of Payment for Medical Treatment

That the Nelson city council believed that doctors should receive some remuneration for treatment of relief cases or cases of people in poor financial circumstances, was the opinion expressed at the Monday night meeting. The council, after hearing Dr. F. M. Auld and Dr. J. P. Gussin, representing the medical association in Nelson, relate extra services at no remuneration, decided to consider the matter in committee and call in the medical men at a later date for further consideration of the matter.

"The idea seems alright," said Mayor J. P. Morgan, "we will have to go into the matter and call you in again."

Dr. Auld pointed out that the burden of medical care to indigents was steadily increasing. The matter was not a local condition only, and had been taken up at Ottawa. The request had been considered but termed a provincial matter, not one for Dominion action. In turn the provinces had placed the matter as a burden of the municipalities. Several municipalities had agreed the matter was purely a matter for the state. Last August Nelson doctors had made a proposition to the council that the city pay fees equal to one-third the regular British Columbia fees for indigent cases. This had been effected in North Vancouver and Vernon, but these cities were now in the hands of a commissioner so their cases were different to that of Nelson. It was the matter of the council agreeing to a principle and then a definite proposition could be made, said Dr. Auld.

In answer to Alderman Roy Sharp, Dr. Auld said it would be impossible to fix a figure regarding the amount of services given to indigents, but it was a large sum. The matter had to the present been accepted as the duties of the day by the medical men.

KIMBERLEY IS BEATEN 47-26 AT KAMLOOPS

Girls' Hoop Team Is Knocked Out of Playdowns

KAMLOOPS, March 18 (CP).—A smooth-working Kamloops senior "B" girls team stopped the Kimberley Aces, Kootenay women champions, 47-26 tonight in a sudden death game for the right to meet Spencers of Vancouver.

Tired after their long journey completed by train when their automobile broke down, Kimberley appeared to be lost on the large Kamloops floor. Speedy Jessie McCallum sifted through the Kimberley defence for 11 field baskets and one converted free shot before Coach Stevenson withdrew her from the game. Led by Nesbitt, who sank two repeater-like baskets, Kimberley rallied in the final quarter to outscore the Kamloops girls.

The Kamloops girls left at midnight for Vancouver where they will meet Spencers in the provincial finals.

MORE ABOUT GERMANY

THINKS SHOULD "FACE IT"

Goebbels cited Stanley Baldwin of Great Britain, Premier Pierre-Etienne Flandin of France and other authorities as dwelling on the unknown terror among European peoples emanating from ignorance as to what Germany was doing in the way of re-armning.

"Now that the world is told," said Goebbels, "it professes to be astonished and indignant. Would it not have been more courageous, consequent and logical if it faced the new situation?"

He said the German people have not greeted der fuehrer's proclamation with warlike exaltation or cries of revenge, but with calm faith in their own strength.

Authoritative sources said conscription of soldiers would begin at once. The new army will be modelled on the old Imperial war machine.

Citizens of the German capital who happen to be afoot between 10 o'clock and midnight tomorrow night will grope their way homeward along dimmed streets with planes cruising overhead in a test of the city's vulnerability to air attack.

This "playing at war," one of Nazi Germany's pet hobbies, is aimed chiefly at drilling the population in defensive measures in cases of emergency.

BRITAIN RELIEVED

By HAROLD P. BRAMAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, March 18 (AP)—Britain's note to Reichsfuehrer Hitler declaring his army conscription law increases the uneasiness of Europe, brought an immediate answer from Germany today which vastly relieved the atmosphere in London. Germany replied that she was willing to talk European peace with Sir John Simon, British foreign minister, as scheduled.

British note, given to the German foreign minister through the British ambassador at Berlin, had asked whether Hitler still wanted to hold the conversations once postponed because of Hitler's "white paper cold."

The foreign secretary and Capt Anthony Eden are leaving Sunday for the German capital. The German reply assured that the conversations will be carried on within the scope of the Anglo-French proposals, on the original basis.

Officials expressed satisfaction and relief that Germany was willing to proceed in spite of her unilateral step assuming equality by organizing an army.

The discussions in Berlin will include general settlement of European problems — a mutual air pact, an eastern Locarno treaty, general arms regulation, Germany's return to the League and a pact mutually guaranteeing the independence of Austria.

TO DEVOTE IN HOUSE

The government gained tonight to the demand of George Lansbury, leader of the Labor opposition, for a debate in the house of commons on the position arising out of the German situation. It was announced in the house that the debate would be held Thursday, in place of the debate on the India bill which was scheduled for that date.

The British note protested that Germany's unilateral action had taken in advance whatever advantages might have been obtained through future discussion. It was felt, however, that Germany is still willing to enter into some agreement regarding her armaments, as testified by the nature of her reply today.

Sir John Simon interrupted parliamentarily debate on army estimates to announce the receipt of Germany's favorable reply. Cheers greeted his words.

"The German government," he said, "has told our ambassador it still wished our visit to take place and agreed that the conversations will be held within the scope and for the purpose previously agreed upon."

Captain Eden will continue to Moscow after he and Sir John talk with Hitler next Monday and Tuesday as originally scheduled. He will also go to Warsaw.

BRITISH NOTE

The British note, delivered to the embassy in Berlin, said, "His Majesty's government feel bound to convey to the German government their protest against the announcement made by the latter March 16 of a decision to adopt conscription and to increase the peace basis of the German army to 36 divisions.

"Following upon the announcement of a German air force, such a declaration is a further example of unilateral action which, apart from the issue of principle, is calculated seriously to increase the uneasiness of Europe.

Sir John in his announcement to the house said the government also was considering consultation with the United States and with signatories of the Versailles treaty, and reference of the question to the league of nations. He was replying to a question by George Lansbury, leader of the Labor opposition.

A curious throng crowded Downing street as the cabinet met to consider the new situation. The sightseers, many of them with cameras, were kept in order by police.

The cabinet had before it the viewpoints of the French and Italian governments. Communication was maintained with the other powers during the day's developments. British policy, it was pointed out, still is based on the league of nations and on collective security.

TWO SERIOUS ASPECTS

Two aspects of the German move were considered particularly serious. The size of the German army — estimated at 500,000 in some quarters—was taken as an indication that Germany aims now, not as equality, but at actual superiority. The unilateral action of the reich, it was also contended, threatened the basis, freely accepted by Germany formerly, for proposed peace talks.

Asked by Geoffrey Mander, Liberal, in the house of commons, whether the government had approached France on the possibility of a bi-partite air pact if the collective pact failed to materialize, Captain Eden said they had not.

Copies of the British note to Germany were communicated to the French and Italian ambassadors for transmission to their governments.

IF AND WHEN

VANCOUVER, March 18 (CP)—Germany is ready and willing to destroy her last piece of armament if and when other nations do likewise, Dr. H. Seelheim, German consul-general for western Canada, said in addressing the Canadian club here today.

Dr. Seelheim, Capt. Gunther Lutjens and officers of the German cruiser Karlsruhe, now in port, were guests of the club.

"The world needs peace and Germany needs peace," Dr. Seelheim continued, and went on to state that the majority of the fatherland's government leaders today were veterans of the great war who hoped to guide the country clear of the mistakes which precipitated the last conflict.

Describing improvement in conditions within the past three years, Dr. Seelheim said that in 1932 there was poverty, hunger, despair and no hope for the younger generation. Today there was widespread industrial activity and things were much better.

Captain Lutjens thanked the people of Vancouver for their "hospitality and comradeship," and expressed the hope that friendly relations would continue between Germany and Canada.

PARIS, March 18 (CP-Havas)—The French chamber of deputies will be asked tomorrow to answer Germany's repudiation of the military clauses of the treaty of Versailles by acting immediately to extend the French conscription term.

Rene Dommange, Independent right-wing deputy, announced tonight he will ask the chamber to extend the term of men now serving by six months, instead of waiting for the next class to be called before applying the extension. On this basis, men whose military service expires in April would have to serve until October.

France will formally protest Germany's rearmament in a note to Berlin next Wednesday, reliable quarters said here tonight.

Mrs. Douche Leaves Estate of $4333.90

An estate amounting to $4333.90 was left by Mrs. Florence Jane Douche, respecting which letters probate were ordered Monday to issue to William Henry Douche, executor and sole beneficiary. The order was made by Judge W. A. Nisbet, sitting in supreme court chambers, on the application of C. B. Garland, who acted for the petitioner, Mr. Douche, the husband.

Pillow Is Won at the Brownies' Tea

At the highly successful tea held Saturday by the Brownies of the 27th I.O.D.E. pack, Mrs. T. S. Shorthouse won a pillow. Miss Amelia rendered a vocal solo, and Mrs. W. Holmgren was among the active helpers.

$120,000 in Coast Construction

VANCOUVER, March 18 (CP).—Construction work in Vancouver, on Vancouver Island and at Powell River, scheduled to get under way shortly, will total approximately $120,000.

The largest single contribution to the program will be at Powell River where the Powell River Pulp and Paper company is planning to erect three wood tanks at a cost of $75,000. The tanks, 56 feet high and 34 feet in diameter, will be made of selected grade of British Columbia fir. They will be reinforced by 78 tons of steel bandings and will be used for storage of pulp and for blending purposes.

E. W. Bickle of Cumberland has announced the start of construction on a new theatre at Courtney to cost $15,000. Designed to seat 500 people, it will replace the present theatre which will be converted into store space. The new building is expected to be completed by July 1.

Judge Will Hold Court Rossland

Judge W. A. Nisbet leaves Tuesday morning for Rossland, for the monthly county court for that registry, which embraces Trail also.

LES CANADIENS WINS

OTTAWA, March 18 (CP).—Les Canadiens, Ottawa and district senior amateur hockey champions, tonight defeated Westboro, Ottawa and district intermediate title-holders 12-7 and advanced one step further in their quest for Allan cup honors. It was the first of a two-game series, total goals to count, with the other game to be played next Wednesday night.

Vincent Fink is spending the week on business in Vancouver.

A St. Patrick tea was held by the Ladies aid of Knox church in the Sunday school hall Saturday afternoon, the tables being decorated with green and white, with small plants of shamrocks for sale. During the afternoon Miss Margaret McCrindle played Irish airs. Presiding at the tea tables were Miss Parks, Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Douglas and Mrs. Liddicoat. They were assisted by Miss Barbara Pyfion, Miss Yvonne Williams, Mrs. McCallum and Mrs. Reekie. Those in charge of the cookery table were Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. McCrindle, Mrs. Balmont and Mrs. Sneddon, and the candy table was in charge of Mrs. Steele, and Miss A. McKay. Receipts were $55.

The Cranbrook band held its St. Patrick's concert in the auditorium Sunday night, with a large crowd in attendance. The band conducted by W. A. Burton played many famous Irish melodies. An added feature to the program was the first appearance of the Cranbrook Male choir, under the baton of J. S. Manson.

The program was as follows: A march "The 3 D. Gs"; J. Brophy played by the band; grand selection, "Ould Oireland," (Hare); overture "Lustspiel" (Keler Bela, Op. 73); Galop "Blue Streak" (T. S. Allen); selection "Bohemian Girl" (Balfe); march, "American Guard" (A. Bergh); selection, "Irish Bouquet"; an arrangement of favorite Irish melodies done in modern manner, arranged by W. A. Burton, were played by the band; the Cranbrook Male chorus sang "Comrades in Arms" (A. Adams); "Blow Away the Morning Dew" (arr. H. S. Roberton); "Men of Harlech" (arr. M. Andrews); the Brass quartette, consisting of H. Ratledge and S. DeLuca trumpets, S. LaFleur and W. Pavey trombones, played "Sweet and Low" (arr. by W. A. Burton).

The funds from the concert will be used to pay the amount yet outstanding on the new uniforms.

DOUKHOBORS' LETTER

"Government Agent,
Nelson, B.C. March 18, 1935.

"Dear Sir—The following resolution has been accepted at the mass meeting held at Tarry's, B.C., on March 17, 1935. We, the 'Named Doukhobors' of Canada appealing to you with a declaration; requesting to have Mr. P. P. Verigin immediately released from the prison. You are excellently aware that he appears as a full member and brother of our fraternity; besides he was elected and appears as a president of the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood.

"The death of Peter W. Verigin (Lordly) has evoked in us a deep alarm, as an insult from the civilized system and its governors. This event has brought us to the particular decision; cessation of a further participation in the development of its growth. For the same reason we have taken our children from your schools. We are sending them today and have been doing in the past, and only for one fact; Mr. P. P. Verigin while still in Russia has suggested us to do so.

"Now we see that Mr. P. P. Verigin has been persecuted continually; and hardly without any reasons being imprisoned: where he is subject to merciless and undeserved punishment.

"In conclusion we are demanding categorically to have him released before March 30, 1935. Otherwise we shall be forced to break all the established relations.

"We are the undersigned appointed from the 'Named Doukhobors' of Canada."

The letter was signed by the six delegates, John Strelioff signing by his mark.

Government Agent John Cartmel up to last night had not received a copy of the letter.

It is not known that the authors of the letter took any steps to get it to the Manitoba authorities, who alone have anything to do with Verigin's crime and punishment.

GRAND FORKS PARADE

Provincial police report that the Grand Forks Doukhobors, to the number of 250 men and women, marched to Grand Forks Saturday and spent a couple of hours there parading with a banner that demanded the release of Verigin. No civic or government official met them. Mayor T. A. Love being away and two provincial police officers were the sole representatives of the majesty of the law that they contacted. They returned to their settlements in due course.
