JAPANESE MURDER THE DEFENSELESS WOMEN, CHILDREN

Defenseless Chinese Victims of Japanese Atrocities Declares Editor of Shanghai Paper; Sabers, Guns Used

SHANGHAI, Feb. 22 (AP) — Charges that Japanese soldiers were killing defenceless Chinese peasants behind the lines at Kiangwan were printed today in the American-owned Shanghai Evening Post-Mercury.

The accusations were in an article under the signature of T. O. Thackrey, managing-editor of the paper, who said that he went to the Kiangwan International Race club without being seen by the Japanese and there looked on while Japanese officers killed Chinese men, women and children.

"I stood there in the grandstand with one of my reporters," M. Thackrey wrote, "and watched what happened to these Chinese prisoners in the hands of the Japanese.

"A Japanese officer turned one of a group of Chinese in peasant garb to face the sun. His shining sabre flashed up to the hilt in its human sheath. A second figure took its place and once again the sabre found its pulsing scabbard.

WOMEN AND CHILDREN

"Perhaps, as the official Japanese military communiques say, the corpses once had been snipers or even perhaps spies. I make no challenge, I just detail what I have seen.

"There were women and children among the corpses. Women shot through their padded coats, run through with sabres, children whose bodies were riddled with bullets. Men garbed as peasants were heaped grotesquely about, their wounds soaking the ground."

He told that he had seen a farmer boy flung face down on the ground and shot to death by Japanese officers.

ASKS BRITAIN TO ACT

Labor Opposition Leader Pounds the Government

LONDON, Feb. 22 (AP)—Demand by Rt. Hon. George Lansbury, leader of the Labor opposition in the house of commons, for "some drastic action" to end the fighting between China and Japan drew tonight from Sir John Simon, secretary of state for foreign affairs, a declaration that the British policy is to rely on the League of Nations.

The opposition leader had suggested economic pressure or the withdrawal of ambassadors.

"The civilized world can not stand still and see these things happening and carried through to the bitter end without some protest," he said.

The foreign secretary replied that the British policy was to use the utmost efforts in conjunction with other powers, whether members of the league or not, to support "the moral authority" of the league, of which both China and Japan are members.

Deploring the failure of the league to prevent then outbreak of fighting at Shanghai, he declared a deep conviction of the British government and of himself that only by "boldly affirming the principles of the league" could the best means of restoring peace be found.

He gave "most absolute contradiction" of reports that there was some secret pact or understanding among certain great powers to encourage and tacitly support Japan.

JAPAN CALLS TROOPS

Reinforcements Needed; Commander Dies in Air Fight

TOKYO, Feb. 23. (AP) — General Araki, minister of war, announced today that new troop reinforcements would be sent to Shanghai.

COMMANDER KILLED

TOKYO, Feb. 23. (AP)—A navy office communique said today that Japanese airplanes shot down a Chinese combat plane over Sooshow yesterday. Lieut. Otani, Japanese patrol commander, was fatally wounded in the battle.

The Japanes patrol of three scouting planes was reconnoitering the Chinese air base at Soochow, about 54 miles west of Shanghai, when the single Chinese plane attacked them. The Japanese fighters shot him down in flames in a two-minute conflict.

The Japanes all returned safely, but the patrol commander died of a bullet wound in his head.

ADOLF HITLER TO BE PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE, PARTY

BERLIN, Feb. 22. (AP) — Adolf Hitler, leader of Germany's Fascist Nazis, will be the presidential candidate of his National Socialist party in the coming election, a party meeting was told tonight by his lieutenant, Joseph Goebels.

His aide's announcement, made to a gathering of the fiery Fascist's followers in the sports palace, set the political party alignments for the campaign in a clear-cut array.

President Paul Von Hindenburg, as a result, is faced with three opposition candidates in his campaign for reelection.

The certain runners in the race against the veteran of the war who is the incumbent, are Hitler, Ernest Thaelmann, Communist nominee, and Theodore Duesterburg, the Nationalist candidate, who is vice-president of the "Sheel Helmet" organization of war veterans.

Doctors Use Maggots to Counteract Poison

TORONTO, Feb. 22.—Two poultices of 1000 live maggots cured George Robson, amateur wrestler, of an infected leg, it was revealed today by Dr. C. M. Mooney and Dr. C. S. Wright, staff surgeons of Toronto hospital. Suffering from blood poisoning, Robson underwent an operation and a gallon of pus was removed from the leg.

Later doctors applied the maggots, and the treatment proved successful. In 10 days he was pronounced cured. The doctors recalled that during the war soldiers suffering from wounds containing maggots seldom died from blood poisoning, the maggots eating away all the dead tissue.

MONTHLY COURT OF REVISION MAY GOVERN B. C. VOTE LISTS

WOULD REVIEW LISTS TO BRING ACT TO DATE

Hinchliffe Brings in Bill; Would Keep Absentee System

WOULD SIMPLIFY THE REGISTRATION

Bill Comes From Recommendations After Many Years Study

VICTORIA, Feb. 22. — Provisions for current review of provincial voters lists by way of a court of revision to sit on the third Monday of each month, instead of once a year as now; retention of the absentee system of voting, but stricter rules governing its use and removal of many obsolete phases of the existing law, are contained in a bill to amend the provincial elections act, introduced for first reading in the legislature today by Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe.

Instead of an annual court of revision the amendment would set up a system of month to month review, where court would sit once a month and receive all applications dealing with registration.

New names could be added after 30 days posting of notice, and objections entertained after 20 days notice. The voters list under this system would be continuously under supervision and inoperative names removed.

The provisions in the bill comprise recommendations made to the government by P. D. N. Walker, deputy provincial secretary, and B.C. registrars after practical observation of the existing system over many years, it will tend, it was explained to a general simplification of the process of registration both for the voter, and for the voting commissioners.

Under the existing law a corpse must actually be written "by registered mail," to acquaint him of the fact that his name is to be removed from list by reason of death. This, it is proposed will be changed to automatic removal at the monthly revision on reasonable and adequate proof of death in each case.

The absentee ballot remains unchanged, save that the affidavit accompanying it must be properly signed, or the ballot would be void The bill received first reading.

Fianna Fail Has Majority Counting Two Independents

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, Feb. 22. (CP cable)—Presuming support from two Independent Laborites, Eamonn de Valera's Fianna Fail (Republican party) and its allies tonight had the necessary 77 seats to give them a majority in the Dail Eireann as tabulation of results in the 145 ridings which voted in last Tuesday's Free State elections came to an end.

The standing of the parties was:
Fianna Fail, 68.
Labor, 7.
Independent Labor, 2.
Government, 53.
Independents and Farmers, 15.
Total, 145.

Without the support of either Labor or Independent Labor, the Fianna Fail's 68 seats exactly balanced those of President William T. Cosgrave's government party and its Independent and Farmer supporters.

Seven seats were still missing tonight in Sligo-Leitrim, where voting was postponed until March 3 owing to the fatal shooting of a government candidate and a detective a week ago Sunday.

PREMIER INUKAI RETURNED, POWER

TOKYO, Feb. 22, (AP)—The old grey fox of Japanese politics, Suyoshi Inukai, rode tonight on an avalanche of victory as final returns from Saturday's election vindicated his "prosperity" campaign and gave him 301 seats in the house of representatives.

The continuation of Premier Inukai's Seiyuka party in power was a usual procedure in Japanese elections, but his margin of majority, 136 seats, was unexpected, despite the Seiyukai boast they would capture 300 seats.

In the final returns tonight the Minseito opposition had 149 seats, the Protetarians 3, and other parties 11, giving the 76-year-old prime minister 120 more seats than he held in the old diet, which was dissolved January 21.

UPHILL MAKES PLEA FOR AID, FERNIE RIDING

Debate on Address Is Closed in Record Time at Victoria

VICTORIA, Feb. 22—British Columbia's legislature set a new record today when it closed debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne after two hours and seven minutes of elapsed time one hour and 10 minutes of which was occupied by mover and seconder of the address. Usually the debate takes between one and two weeks, but by common consent this year the privilege of speaking was waived and only one member, Tom Uphill, (Labor) Fernie, contributed to the actual debate.

The member for Fernie said his constituency had been hard hit by unemployment, and would require further help than what it had already received. The sum of $160,000 had been allocated for works in Fernie, the city raising $60,000 by bylaw and $100,000 being agreed by the Dominion and provincial governments combined it was intimated.

Mr. Uphill said he had forecast last year that unemployment would not suddenly cease, and renewed the same prediction in respect to 1932 the expenditure of $80,000,000 in Canada on relief measures had not touched the root of the trouble he believed and more permanent and lasting remedy would have to be devised.

The house passed on to new business at 4:05 p.m. and was adjourned by Premier Tolmie at 4:33 after a half a dozen new bills had been advanced a stage.

By Merging of Banks Germany Attempts to Restore Sound Basis

BERLIN, Feb. 22, (By Louis P. Lochner, Associated Press staff correspondent)—The German nation attempted by an enormous bank merger today to place Germany's private deposit banking system on a sound basis and to restore confidence, shaken since the sensational crash last July of the Darmstaedterbund National bank.

By an emergency decree signed by President Von Hindenburg, the Reich was empowered to acquire stock in private banks or to subsidize them. The decree permits government participation up to 250,000,000 marks (about $59,250,000), and to extend up to 400,000,000 marks ($94,800,000) in credits.

In addition to the great Darmstaedter (Danat) bank, the merger involves the Dresdner bank, and several smaller institutions.

25 SLIDES ON SLOCAN LAKE STOP TRAFFIC

Greyhound Bus Stalled at Cape Horn in Midst of Them

WANETA SLIDE REQUIRES PLOW

Is 500 Feet Long, 20 Deep; Train for Nelson 5 1-2 Hours Late

Snowslides liberated by the warm temperatures of the last two or three days, got into action Monday, and 25 of them poured down in a stretch of a few miles of the Slocan lake highway in the vicinity of Cape Horn, which is six miles north of Slocan City, while a monster one at Waneta blocked the Great Northern line between Marcus, Wash., and Nelson for several hours.

POUR OVER CLIFFS

The Greyhound bus from Nelson for Nakusp was stalled at Cape Horn in the cliff area, in the very midst of the slides, John Learmonth, district manager for the Central Canadian Greyhound Lines, stated late last night. The bus reached Cape Horn at 10:30 a.m., to find a slidge blocking the road. While an attempt was being made to shovel a passage through, another slide came down behind it. Other slides were soon in action, and the passengers walked back to Slocan City, returning to Nelson at night by the Canadian Pacific train.

R. E. Bruhn, son of Hon. R. W. Bruhn, and Frank Rushton of Nakusp, who drove down to Nelson Sunday, started back for Nakusp at 4:30 Monday afternoon in ignorance of the slides, the first of which they encountered about three miles past Slocan City. They returned to Nelson late at night, reporting that the slides contained some gravel and small boulders.

HUGE WANETA SLIDE

A slide 500 feet wide and 20 feet maximum depth on the railway track covered the Great Northern line at Waneta, when the train from Nelson was on the American side. A snowplow or "dozer" came up from Marcus and cleared the line with some hours effort.

The train finally reached South Nelson 5½ hours late.

No slides were reported on Canadian Nacific lines in this district as a result of the thaw, up to a late hour Monday night.

GET ACTION TODAY

William Ramsay, district public works engineer, stated Monday night that he had had no direct word of the Slocan lake slides, but that he expected to be advised by General Road Foreman Walter Johnstone of New Denver in the morning that he was working to clear the highway.

CITIES FACING OVER FIVE PER CENT ON LOANS

Such Is Ottawa Order on Advances Through Provincial Channels

VICTORIA, Feb. 22.—B.C. municipalities will be charged five and three-eighths per cent on money advanced to them from Ottawa, through provincial channels it became clear today. B.C. treasury received an advance of $500,000 from Ottawa, at the week-end earmarked for the province's share of relief works and for the municipal share of similar undertakings. No payment, however, was made on behalf of the federal share of the costs involved, said B.C. officials to be $535,000 additional.

In covering advices from Ottawa it was officially intimated, the $500,000 was described as a loan on account of the province's and municipalities' share of the cost or relief works, and not as a contribution of federal proportion of the cost outstanding. The payment adds to $2,360,000 already received by B.C. making $2,800,000 towards relief works.

The party, composed exclusively of adult Doukhobors, included one woman.

Outside of carrying the banner, the fanatics attempted no particular demonstration.

ADVANCING OF JAPANESE IS MET WITH BAYONETS AND BULLETS ALONG LINE

Fling Full Strength on Chinese Position; Heavy Casualties Suffered; Chinese Airdrome Destroyed; Keep Up Smashing Fire

HEAVIEST FIGHTING WHERE JAPANESE TRY TO BREAK KIANGWAN LINE DEFENCE

Japanese Advance Under Cover of Darkness and Barrages; Leave Dead Behind as Forced to Retreat; Use Race Track for Base

SHANGHAI, Feb. 23. (Copyright, 1932, by AP)—Japanese soldiers lunged against Chinese bayonets and bullets dealing death over the entire Kiangwan-Chapei front today in a far-flung attempt to complete a surrounding movement and starve out the handful of defenders still stationed in the blasted ruins of Kiangwan village. The Chinese air force suffered a heavy loss when eight Japanese airplanes destroyed the airdrome at Hungjao, five miles west of Shanghai, with a rain of 25 bombs. All hangars and planes within were consumed by fire that broke out with the bombs' explosion.

Rebuffed in every onslaught they have made on the center of the Chinese line at Kiangwan, the Japanese flung their full strength at the Chinese positions on both sides of the village. They launched vicious attacks—on to the northwest and the other to the south—just as dawn broke.

Soon the battle had developed into a major engagement over the entire line north of Shanghai.

The Japanese admitted they were suffering severe casualties, after having lost at least 20 killed and 60 wounded during the night's fighting.

The battle raged from Chapei northward to Kiangwan and northwestward through the village of Ma Hang Chen, two miles beyond Kiangwan.

ARTILLERY BARRAGE

From the Japanese lines a barrage of artillery cut the way for the infantry advance, while airplanes showered explosives on the entrenched Chinese. The Japanese soldiers crept forward behind smoke screens, drawn across their route to protect them against the vigilant eyes of the Chinese gunners.

The Japanese were clearly on the offensive, seeking to clear the Chinese away from the positions in front, but made slow headway against the smashing Chinese fire.

They pushed forward foot by foot, dodging from grave mound to grave mound in the face of the constant spurt of Chinese bullets.

HOLD JAPANESE WITH SEARING FIRE

The Chinese defenders held off the oncoming Japanese infantry with a searing rifle and machine gun fire, backed up by a bombardment from trench mortars and an occasional burst of artillery.

Although the action was general, the heaviest fighting occurred in the northwest sector of the Kiangwan line, where the Japanese concentrated their bows to break the Chinese defences.

Their efforts, however, met the severest Chinese opposition. Much of the fighting was hand to hand. The Japanese attempting to rush the Chinese trenches were cut down by the defenders' bayonets.

SILENCE OF NORTH STILL HOLDS FATE OF FUR SALVAGERS

Friends in Seattle Plan to Raise Funds for Air Search

VANCOUVER, B. C., Feb. 22. (CP) —The silence of the northern wilderness tonight continued to hold the secret of the fate of William Graham and Mrs. Edna Christofferson, missing for a week in the uninhabited country between Nahlin and Atlin in northern British Columbia, and stormy weather was holding up a rescue flight planned by Pilot S. E. McMillan from Atlin.

Over the week-end a blizzard swept the district in which the missing pair are lost, and today storms continued and visibility was bad, preventing an aerial flight. The temperature was 27 degrees below zero.

The meeting was held in the office of Major Howard C. French, state aeronautics inspector. Eight friends of Mrs. Christofferson, including Chief of Police L. V. Jenkins of Portland, attended.

The group agreed to investigate the cost of making an air search and to raise the money needed through popular subscription. The possibility of sending a plane from Portland to prosecute the search is being considered.

Two Killed on Way to Funeral as Train With Body Hits Them

MACRORIE, Sask., Feb. 22.—One of its coaches carrying the body of the neighbor from Winnipeg whose funeral they were on the way to attend, a C.N.R. train crashed into a cutter containing five persons at a crossing half a mile north of here shortly after noon today and took the lives of two of them.

Paul Negrych, 15-year-old son of William Negrych, was killed instantly, while his uncle, John A. Bodrug, died an hour after. Two others who were riding in the cutter, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Finsand, Ke in a Saskatoon hospital in a serious condition, while the fifth member of the party, William Negrich, father of the dead boy, escaped with slight injuries.

His vision believed blinded, Mr. Negrych, who was driving the team, failed to see the approaching train and drove into its path. The five, who were riding in a closed-in, home-made sleigh, were travelling east at the time they were hit, while the train was going west.

CUTTER SWUNG UNDER WHEELS

Catching the horses directly in its path, the train dragged the animals for about 160 yards and the cutter was swung into the driving wheels of the engine, where it was totally demolished.

Corporal Baskin of the R.C.M.P., who was on the train at the time, took charge of the investigation, and the injured persons were taken to MacRorie.

Dr. Drummond, coroner of Conquest, was notified, and ordered the bodies removed to the town hall pending the opening of an inquest and the ordering of a jury, expected to take place Thursday morning.

Bodrug, who was 36 years old, is survived by his widow and six small children, the oldest of whom is 14. There are two other children in the Negrych family.

The five were on their way to attend the funeral of Oli Skudi, who died at Winnipeg, and whose body was being brought to MacRorie for burial.

AVERAGE NURSE IS 31 YEARS OF AGE IN CANADA

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 22. (CP) — The Weir Nursing Survey shows that the average private duty nurse is 31 years of age and has had 5.8 years' experience in nursing practice. Ninety per cent are unmarried. Over 20 per cent of these nurses have taken special courses—averaging slightly over 6 months—since graduation. She has had 2.9 years of high school training a statement, however, which is subject to a number of qualifications. During the last 42 weeks she spent 29.9 weeks in actual nursing and 3.3 weeks on voluntary vacation. She was ill 4.5 weeks and was unemployed 14.3 weeks. Her total income, including the equivalent for board and lodging while on duty was $1032. Only 40 per cent of the private duty nurses saved during the past year 1929-30—the average saving being $256—while 8 per cent went behind on an average of $240

"On the whole, the economic condition of the average private duty nurse in Canada is, from the view point both of her present and future financial independence, anything but promising. In the interests both of the public and the nursing profession. It is obious that a radical reorganization of private duty nursing is desirable. An efficient system of control and supervision of nursing services in Canada indeed constitutes one of the greatest social problems of the day and offers a challenge to the highest talents of enlightened professional leadership.

"Practically all of the institutional nurses are registered, 94 per cent are unmarried. Their ages ranged from 21 to 65 years, with a median of 31.4 years. She had an average of 3.2 years of high school and nearly 18 per cent had had normal school training in teaching, for an average of 8.5 months. About 21 per cent had actually taught in a public or private school.

ROTARY FUTURE ON WORLD LINE ASSERTS TYLER

Local Objects Now Paramount Will Be Absorbed by the State

DAWSON TRACES RECORD OF CLUB

Says It Has Achieved Much in 10 Years; Anniversary Program

That the work for crippled children on which the Nelson Rotary club specializes, would be taken over by the province in a few years, and that the work for under-privileged boys and girls would be absorbed in the educational system also within a short time, was suggested to the Rotary club Monday by C. W. Tyler, who, as one of the speakers on the anniversary program in celebration of the club's first 10 years of usefulness, dealt with international Rotary.

Only the sixth object of Rotary, the object of advancing international peace and understanding and good will and by building substantial friendships, offered a line on which the institution of Rotary could progress proportionately in future, Mr. Tyler urged.

In dealing with his share of the anniversary subject, Mr. Tyler portrayed the founding of Rotary by Paul P. Harris, a young Chicago lawyer, related that the Seattle club, in district No. 1, which contains Nelson, was the fourth to be formed and that the Winnipeg club marked Rotary's advent in the international field, and dealt with the giant strides made by the institution till it was established in 57 countries, and had enlarged its basis and its objects to the present scope.

EXISTENCE JUSTIFIED

E. P. Dawson, who preceded Mr. Tyler, was the other anniversary speaker, dealing with the Nelson Rotary club, which he held had justified its existence most amply. This was true even if its object was fellowship alone, he argued, though in such a case it would not be distinguished from any other organization.

But that was only a beginning, he said, and community work of many kinds could be credited to it during its 10 years. He referred to such community work as support of the hospital, of the work of benevolence at Christmas, of the work for the Boy Scouts in the form of aid to the Kokanee camp, of support for the musical festival, and of support of other organizations, institutions, and causes of a community character, including bringing musical and educational attractions here. All these were overshadowed, however, he said, by the crippled children's work, on which over $2700 had been expended in the 10 years, and as a result of which the word "Rotary" had a very positive meaning to a number of Kootenay boys and girls.

A still further work of the club, and not its least important, was its arousing of the individual members to their individual community responsibilities, with the result that its members accepted duties and arduous work in many community organization, from governmental positions, service on the city council and school board, and on the board of trade and hospital board, down to community duties of a miscellaneous character of great aggregate volume.

Mr. Dawson suggested the Nelson Rotary club in its first decade had successfully laid its foundations, and expressed the hope that in its next decade it would still further enlarge its usefulness.

Action by the executive was authorized, to secure the admission of a former Nelson girl, now resident in Vancouver, into the Rotary tuberculosis clinic at the coast, if possible.

President Howard Bush thanked the speakers of the day for their excellent presentation of the anniversary subject.

MORE ABOUT CHINESE

Kiangwan revealed many Japanese dead, not yet picked up.

DESOLATE AREA

The scene along the northern sector, behind the Japanese lines, was one of utter desolation. Every building had been burned to the ground. Smoking embers dotted the countryside.

The terrain was blasted unmercifully by airplane bombs and artillery shells. Numerous grave mounds which rise here and there over every Chinese countryside had been blown open.

Scattered throughout the area were large numbers of both Chinese and Japanese dead.

Toward the rear of the Japanese positions soldiers were seen about the smoking ruins of some Chinese houses attempting to cook food over the embers.

The scene of the desolation was a vivid example of war's destruction.

CHINESE POSITIONS HELD

While the heaviest fighting went on to the northwest of Kiangwan, the entire line continued active. Troops south of Kiangwan kept up a steady fire. The Japanese artillery sought to blast a way through the Chinese positions, which still held.

With the clearing of the atmosphere, the Japanese aerial attack became more intense. The air fleet was increased from six to 11 bombing planes, helping direct the artillery fire.

Down Chapei way things appeared to be quieter after a splash of shelling at daylight. But the fires that sprang up from the exploding shells continued to ravage that old battlefield of the present warfare, where there was anything left to burn.

CHARGE THROUGH DARKNESS

A Japanese lieutenant, who last night participated in the rush of infantry attempting to take the Chinese trenches northwest of Kiangwan, related today how the Japanese had charged, but were forced to retreat in the face of staunch Chinese opposition. He said his company charged through the darkness, but suffered heavy casualties, as the Chinese waited with their bayonets pointed over the parapets against the oncoming Japanese.

LEAVE MOST OF COMPANY

His captain fell in the charge, the Japanese said, and part of his command fell back. They left most of the company dead or dying in front of the Chinese trenches.

Field headquarters of Lieut.-Gen. Kenkichi Uyeda, Japanese commander, were hurriedly established in a small frame building and a couple of tents. There was an atmosphere of confusion about the headquarters. Officers, tired and unshaven, continued to work through long hours of duty. General Uyeda, seemingly tireless, carried on.

A number of horses were tied to a hitch rack before the general's door, while Red Cross units, field guns and other miscellaneous equipment stood uncovered round about.

RAID AIRDROME

The Japanese carried out their raid on the Chinese airdrome in fear that Chinese flyers were preparing to take to the air for a battle with the enemy planes.

The Chinese removed all their planes a few days ago, but some apparently had flown back, and the indication of activity brought down the Japanese annihilation.

The airdrome was internationally known, owing to numerous foreign flyers having landed there on various flights to the Orient. It was there that the Americans, William Brock and Edward F. Schlee; the British aviatrix, Mrs. Victor Bruce; the German Baron Ehrenfried Gunther von Huenfeld of transatlantic flight fame and others landed on visits to Shanghai.

The Japanese used tanks, armored cars, infantry, airplanes and field artillery in their furious offensive today. The base for this operation was in the Kiangwan race track and golf course, where weatherbeaten signs, put there to keep hunters away, warned in English and Chinese: "No shooting allowed."

FORMER BISHOP OF ONTARIO IS RECTOR IN KENT

Rt. Rev. E. J. Bidwell Writes to Manchester Guardian on Difficulties

LONDON, Feb. 22. (By Thomas T. Champion Canadian Press Staff Writer)—(CP)— The Rt. Rev. E. J. Bidwell, formerly Bishop of Ontario, is now rector of Sellindge, a rural parish in Kent. He replies in The Manchester Guardian to another correspondent of that paper who had spoken of "country rectors who held "a free house and £1500 a year", Rev. Dr. Bidwell asks if it is realized what this means too often to clergymen without private income.

His own vicarage is worth a little more than that sum, but there is a large rambling house with 10 bedrooms, with neither light nor water, large out-houses with stabling for three horses and about four acres of ground. Doing all the unskilled work himself in the garden it still costs about £200 a year for skilled labor. A small cheap car is a necessity when one is six miles from the station, which means that even one resident domestic cannot be afforded. All this, adds Dr. Bidwell, is in addition to the ordinary duties of one's position. No time is left for reading or writing.

CONVENIENCES BAD

"It is not having to do our own chores that we object to, "continues Rev. Dr. Bidwell. "One got used to that overseas. Only there they were reduced to a minimun by every kind of modern convenience and labor-saving device. It is the utter stupidity of expecting a poor man to live in such a house as I have in which quite unnecessary demands described wh'ch is so exasperating are made upon his time and income. No serious attempt seems to have been made as yet to solve this problem, for permission to sell, as far as most country parsonages are concerned, is a policy pour rire. Nobody wants such houses nowadays.

Hitherto, all efforts seem to have been directed to increasing the stipends of the clergy, to enable them to meet changed conditions. As far as the country clergy are concerned this seems to me to be beginning at the wrong end. An income of, say £1750, and freed from the crushing exactions involved in the present system, would in most cases be quite sufficient for a simple life, lived in a house proportioned to it."

WOMAN FLYER DOES 23,000 MILES IN AIR

Light Plane Used in Journey Across Africa and Return

LONDON, Feb. 22. (CP) — The longest and in many respects the most ambitious, light airplane tour in the history of aviation ended at Stapleton airdrome, Midwest, recently, when Mrs. Westenra and her pilot, Captain R. S. McIntosh, landed after a journey of 23,000 miles which began on November 6 and extended over the greater part of the African continent.

Mrs. Westenra is the owner of a small monoplane, and the idea of attempting the flight originated in her wish to visit her brother-in-law, Sir Abe Bailey, in South Africa, and to see other friends in East and West Africa. Consideration of ways and means showed at once that reliance on surface transport to these three corners of Africa would involve lengthy and arduous travel, and Mrs. Westenra finally adopted the airplane as the only attractive, and reasonable vehicle for the trip.

USUAL ROUTE

Going south she followed the usual route, now the highway of the British airliners between Egypt and South Africa. But on the return journey the travellers left the established route at Broken Hill and struck northwest for the Belgian Congo and Nigeria. There they flew for hundreds of miles over the vast forests of equatorial Africa, where good landing grounds scarcely exist. Many of the emergency airdromes, cleared by the titanic efforts of the Belgian authorities some time ago are no longer maintained, and in a few short months have been overgrown. At one of these places the airscrew of Mrs. Westenra's small machine mowed a way through the elephant grass during a take-off.

Mrs. Westenra spent Christmas at Leopoldville, and then headed north for Nigeria and the Sahara Desert. There, in the terrifying wastes of sand, the flyers experienced the most anxious moments of the trip, mirage and sandstorm making extremely difficult the task of following the single motor-car track across the desert, which McIntosh decided was the only safe way of navigation. One night they were forced to wait along side the track, resting inside the machine, which was weighted down against the onslaughts of the wind by fastening to the wing tips petrol cans filled with sand. No ropes were carried with the spare equipment, and Mrs. Westenra improvised fastenings by tearing a skirt into strips and joining them together.

A flight over wildest Africa, particularly at this time of year, is inevitably marked by heavy storms and violent changes of wind direction which hamper navigation. But McIntosh, a veteran pilot, who suffered the nickname of "Bat Weather" McIntosh during his long period of service on the cross-channel air lines, was seldom at fault. Aided by a turn-and-bank indicator which gave instant warning of inadvertent changes of direction or of flying attitude, he steered from start to finish a good course. All through the flight engine and airplane behaved perfectly.

IS SOCIALISM CURE FOR ILLS?

Professor Says People Should Know Socialism Before Preaching It

MONTREAL, Que., Feb. 22.—(CP)—Socialism needs to be studied, needs to be clearly defined in each person's mind before it is advocated as a cure for all economic ills, according to Prof. F. Clarke of McGill university, who addressed the Y. M. C. A. forum yesterday.

During times of distress many people have been hurt and many have become abusive of the capitalist system because it permitted them to be hurt, he told his hearers. But he doubted whether people had really changed their minds about the organization of government, and suggested that if popularity were suddenly to return tomorrow all criticism of the capitalist system would melt away.

The speaker pointed out that there was a tendency today to value a man according to the reward he got for his services. "So long as we believe that," he declared, "it is a mere moonshine to talk of Socialism at all."

Those who desire to rent some large, comfortable rooms divisible by partitions into two or more apartments, would do well to consult with Maria A. Gomez, on the Calle de Calvario, about 350 yards east of the city market. These rooms are in a new earthquake-proof building, and situated in a neighborhood esteemed for its healthfulness and respectability. Applicants must be responsible person, of good education, and refined behavior. For such there is every prospect of comfortable quarters with no apprehensions of future seismic shocks. Reasonable charges to suitable tenants.

ADVERTISED

All the king's horses . . . and all the king's men can't make a success out of a bad product. No amount of advertising will create a market for it. The more it's advertised, the more its defects become known.

But a good product well advertised grows as swiftly and naturally as a healthy plant. People try it and like it. They tell others. They like it. Soon that product is found everywhere . . . and its name, spread abroad by advertising, is on every tongue.

When you see something widely and consistently advertised, you can be pretty sure it's well worth having. If it weren't . . . if it didn't represent an honest and worthy value . . . the maker couldn't afford to advertise it.

Look over the advertisements in this paper. Some of these names you know. Others perhaps are newcomers, potential friends bringing some new comfort or convenience. But all are entitled to your trust . . . all are here because they have something real to contribute to your advantage . . . your service . . . your happiness.

NORTHERN SWEDEN USES ELECTRICAL DIVINING RODS FINDS GREAT GOLD STORES

New Era of Prosperity Now Hoped for—Long Search Rewarded, Industry Is Under Way

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Feb. 22.—Although the rest of the world has heard almost nothing about it there is a gold rush in northen Sweden that overshadows the California or Klondike stampedes in its expected rewards.

But up in the mountains, snow-covered district of Skellefteå, where rich deposits of gold, as well as silver, copper and zinc, are known to exist, there are none of the thrilling scenes of scrambling greed so long associated with discoveries.

This is a strictly scientific gold rush, orginally prospected and now being conducted by big business interest. An ordinary prospector with his antiquated equipment wouldn't stand a chance against the Skellefteå geologists, who use electrical divining apparatus capable of locating ore far below the surface.

Sweden's gold rush, however is by no means devoid of romance in a broader aspect. For one thing, in these times of gold scarcity, the new field is expected in some degree to affect the whole world of finance.

NEIGHBOR NATIONS INTERESTED

This country which would like very much to better its commercial balance, may be entering a new era of self-produced prosperity. Other European countries, which like Sweden tumbled off the gold standard, are speculating on the effect of a new supply of raw wealth.

Sweden started after this gold in a perfectly deliberate and methodical way. The World War brought her the realization of an acute shortage of metals, so her engineers went out to look for some. They suspected that the geological formations of the Skellefteå district indicated large quantities of copper. In 1918 they began prospecting to discover the extent of blocks of ore known to have been carried along by inland ice during the glacial period.

The task was formidable, not only because the ore was deeply buried but because the earth was impregnated by an abundance of arsenic. But they went ahead patiently, basing their faith on a scientific "divining rod." Only after six years of work was the first big mine found and since then some 150 square miles have been investigated, the drill-holes alone totalling 15 miles in depth.

They found their copper and gold along with it. The Boliden mine, believed the richest of 40 mines so far discovered, soon will be producing $8,000,000 worth of gold annually according to authorities. At that figure it is the third richest gold mine in the world, and the most important outside of South Africa.

POISONS THREATEN WORKERS

The chief problem of the Boliden mine is in the smelting because of large quantities of suphur and arsenic in the ore. The smelting plant now is situated on an island in the Baltic Sea so that the danger of gases, escaping from a chimney 475 feet high, can do no harm. New methods are being devised for separting the arsenic and suphur from the other products.

The Boliden mines produces 70,000 tons of arsenic a year, which is nearly double the world's consumption at present. It also is stated that the mining of ore at Boliden will soon reach 600,000 tons a year, producing 12 tons of gold, or two per cent. of the world's total output.

Of the other mines, which have not yet been developed to any extent, the Mentraesk now appears to be the richest, but its possibilities are uncertain because it lies under a lake and prospecting is rendered extremely difficult.

Several prominent men such as Ivo Krueger the "Match King," are interested in the enterprise, which also has the backing of the big Swedish bank, the Scandinavian Kreditaktiebolaget.

CLOTHING AGENT GETS A TERM FOR FALSE PRETENCES

Patrick Gleason Sentenced by Judge Nisbet to Three Months

Drawing attention to the fact that the accused admitted obtaining $20 from William A. Pound of Fruitvale last April on an order for a suit of clothes which Pound hadn't got yet, Judge W. A. Nisbet in county court Monday held that Patrick Cosmas Gleason, agent for Goodwear Clothes, registered, of Montreal, had had ample time to obtain letters or any other evidence he had to show he had not converted the money to his own account, and that he had offered nothing to controvert the crown's evidence supporting the charge of obtaining money under false pretences.

He expressed the view that Gleason had had no intention of forwarding the money obtained from Pound, found Gleason guilty, and sentenced him to three months imprisonment in the provincial jail here.

Gleason asked that the month he had already spent in jail should count on the sentence, but his honor said the sentence would start from date.

The accused did not take the stand or produce any witnesses in support of his contention that he forwarded the money.

FIRM DENIED ORDER

E. C. Wragge, crown prosecutor, for the speedy trial, had two witnesses, Mr. Pound, who said that after repeatedly writing Gleason without answer he wrote the clothing firm in Montreal whose receipt Gleason had given him, and was informed that the firm had no record of receiving either order or money from Gleason; and Sergt. G. J. Duncan of the provincial police at Penticton, who said Gleason after arrest made contradictory statements to him, saying first that he had queried the firm on the failure to send the suit and been informed that it had run out of that sample of cloth, and the following day that he had not heard from the firm in answer and accordingly assumed it had sent the suit.

JUDGE MATTHEW HAS NO APPEALS PROVINCIAL ROLL

For First Time in History; Roll Shows $775,000 Increase

For the first time in the history of this part of the Kootenay district, it is said, no appeals were filed against the provincial assessment in the Nelson assesement district, which comprises unorganized territory of the great bulk of the West Kootenay south of the main line, and the provincial court of revision, held at the court house Friday, had no work to do, beyond certain corrections in the 1931 roll found to be necessary.

The assessment roll, as it happened, showed the largest property increase in recent years, a gain of approximately $775,000. The bulk of the gain was on account of the new power plant of the West Kootenay Power & Light company, at Corra Linn, Provincial Assessor J. A. Stewart states. The total assessment is in the neighborhood of $5,000,000.

E. G. Matthew was judge of the court of revision.

Chinese Sympathizers Offer Assistance to Volunteer Aviators

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 22.—(CP)—The Journal publishes the following today:

"Offers of financial assurance from Chinese sympathizers in Canada and the United States lead us to believe that we will be able to proceed to Shanghai without drawing on the Nanking treasury, a spokesman for the Royal Canadian Air force officers who have volunteered for service in the Sino-Japanese conflict told the journal today.

"If these offers crystalize all we require is permission from the Chinese government to proceed to the front

"Though refusing to state where the offers originated, the representative of the flyers stated they were carrying on negotiations through agents of the Chinese government in San Francisco."

GREENWOOD, B. C., Feb. 22—The offer of the government for the men in the unemployment camp at Boundary Falls where there are about 70 unemployed to go to work at the rate of $7.50 per month and board and lodgings has been refused and no men are working.

ROBBERS GET $552

VANCOUVER, B. C., Feb. 22.—(CP)—Three men broke into Con Jones' Brunswick poolroom, East Hastings street, early this morning, bound and gagged the Chinese watchman and escaped with $552 from the safe through which they punctured a hole with a crowbar.

PRECEDENT IS SET, REFUSAL TO ALLOW BILL INTRODUCTION

Combine to Prevent Member's Amendment to Criminal Section

OTTAWA, Feb. 22 (CP)—The house of commons set a precedent today when it refused permission to a member to introduce a bill. Government supporters combined to outvote, 72 to 49, Liberals and other groups on a motion to permit J. S. Woodworth, Labor, Winnipeg north-center, to introduce a bill to amend the Criminal Code. It was said to be the first time a member had been denied the right to propose legislation on the floor of the house.

The Winnipeg Laborite sought to amend the famous "section 98" of the code, dealing with unlawful assemblies. The house since 1926 has passed a similar bill on five different occasions but each time it met defeat in the senate.

Frayed tempers were in evidence throughout the incident. It was punctuated with interjections flung across the floor, points of order and acrimonious remarks. At one stage Premier R. B. Bennett opposed granting Mr. Woodsworth the opportunity to explain his bill. This brought protest from Robert Gardiner, U. F. A. leader, Ernest Lapointe, who was leading the Liberals at the time, and cries of "Mussolini" from private members of the opposition side.

When Mr. Speaker George Black put the formal motion, "Shall leave be granted?" for the introduction of the Woodsworth bill, Premier Bennett gave an emphatic "No!" The reply was echoed by the government supporters and before the Laborite had an opportunity to explain his bill, division bells were ringing.

PARADE OF 5000 HUNGER MARCHERS IS QUITE ORDERLY

Vancouver Police Stand by, Ready for Trouble; Men Disperse Quietly

VANCOUVER, B. C., Feb. 22, (CP)—Five thousand "hunger marchers", representing unemployed from Vancouver, New Westminster, North Shore and points in the Fraser valley and the interior, gathered at Powell street grounds and paraded to Cambie street grounds here this afternoon.

At the head of the parade was carried a British flag, while behind it came emblems of the Soviet union and broad banners carrying slogans of the unemployed.

After a number of speeches, a delegation of 20 went to the city hall and presented a request for more relief. The council gave the delegation hearing.

Proceedings throughout were orderly, and little notice was taken of police officers stationed along the route of the march and at the meeting grounds. Police reserves were transferred from headquarters to the drill hall behind tthe Cambie street grounds, but were released from duty when the meeting dispersed in orderly groups.

VICTORIA, B. C., Feb. 22.—(CP)—Claiming that as money was secured for war, it should be possible tind money in peace times to take care of destitute families, the provincial command of the Canadian Legion government on behalf of unemployed ex-service men of the North has wired the British Columbia Shore.

CAMROSE - ROTHERMERE PAPER DISPUTE ENDED FOR TIME AS MERGER IS MADE AT BRISTOL

LONDON, Feb. 22.—(By Thomas T. Champion, Canadian Press Staff Writer)—(CP)—A series of newspaper mergers just announced to take place in Newcastle, Bristol, and Derby brings to an end for a time at least, the intensive competition started several years ago between Lord Camrose and Lord Rothermere. Allied Northern Newspapers Ltd., controlled by Lord Camrose, is to take over the Newcastle Evening World from Northcliffe Newspapers, controlled by Lord Rothermere. Similarly Northcliffe Newspapers will incorporate The Bristol Evening Times and Echo in the Bristol Evening World, and the Derby Daily Express in the Derby Daily Telegraph. These changes, it is stated, "are rendered inevitable by the high and increasing cost of production, particularly wages, which remain far above pre-war level."

Three years ago Lord Rothermere inaugurated an ambitious scheme to establish entirely new evening papers in several large centres outside London. No expense was spared on the first two ventures in Newcastle and Bristol, the salaries offered even for comparatively humble workers in the news and editorial departments being of an extremely liberal character.

Sheffield was to have been the third city for the establishment of a new evening paper. The building was actually erected, and then the rival newspaper magnates entered upon a truce. The building in Sheffield was put upon the market, and Lord Rothermere left this field to Lord Camrose. The Berry group, of which Lord Camrose is the head, now control all the daily newspapers published in Sheffield. They have long had a controlling interest in the Sheffield Telegraph, and recently acquired the Sheffield Independent from the Starmer Company.

The mergers now announced in Newcastle, Bristol, and Derby will naturally entail a serious loss of employment to workers in the newspaper field.

FINAL SITTING REVISION COURT NOT NECESSARY

Only Appeal From Decisions of Court Withdrawn; Roll Stands

No appeals having been taken from any of the decisions of the court of revision on the city assessment roll handed down at either of its two hearings, the adjourned session of the court set for Monday night went by default, and the assessment roll stands as confirmed at the last session, which was one week ago.

At one stage a notice of an appeal was given by the Imperial Oil company, from the court's refusal to change the assessment on its 50-foot building site on the southwest corner of Vernon and Hall streets, but it was withdrawn almost immediately.

The court comprised the full city council, with Mayor J. P. Morgan as chairman, and City Assessor W. E. Wasson as clerk.

Click of Knitting Needles Grows in Popularity

To "Knit Your Own" is Now Popular Pastime—Directions for Sweater-blouse Given

The click of knitting needles that haven't been heard since the days when mufflers and socks were put into overseas boxes are again on the air.

"It is "Occupational Therapy" that's what it is. I have to stay in and rest and so I'm knitting," a woman said the other day. It is not only the stay-at-home that are knitting. The needles and the ball are taken to tea and bridge, so that "dummy" can get a row done. The thing is how to have a finished product with sufficient chic to make it wearable.

There is a smart little short-sleeved blouse that has all the earmarks of the latest design in a blouse with raglan sleeves and a cross over boddice tie at the side. For it is required four balls of double knitting yarn and two balls of four-ply yarn, one set of Number Four needles, one set of Number Eight needles and one crochet hook, Number "O."

From shoulders to waist the blouse measures 16 inches, and through the bust thirty-five inches when stretched slightly. The length of sleeve at underarm is seven inches. The tension about 7 stitches to 2 inches in width and ten rows in depth.

Cast on 52 stitches of the double yarn for lower edge of back. For the first row, use 4-ply yarn, purl 1 stitch knit 1 stitch, alternately, ending row with knit stitch. For the second row, with the double yarn and beginning at same end of needle as the 4-ply yarn row was begun, knit 1 stitch, alternately, ending row with purl 1. Third row turn with 4-ply yarn, knit 1, purl1, alternately, ending row with purl1, Fourth row, with the double yarn and beginning at other end of needle (where the double yarn is hanging) knit 1, purl1, alternatively, ending row with purl 1. Repeat these 4 rows until there are 50 rows, break off yarn, and slip the stitches onto a spare needle.

To make the lower part of front, use the double yarn, cast on 86 stitches for half of front and belt, and work 10 rows following directions for pattern on back. With double yarn, bind off loosely the first 56 stitches (belt), work even in pattern on remaining 28 stitches on needle. With double yarn and another needle, cast on 132 stitches for left of front and belt; work 10 rows, binding off the last 104 stitches of tenth row. Work 14 rows on remaining 28 stitches; break off yarn and slip the 28 stitches from first side of front onto the same needle, beginning at side of front, work 27 rows on these 56 stitches, ending with a 4-ply row. With double yarn work over the first 26 stitches, bind off the next 4 stitches (front or neck) work the last 26 stitches; break off

For the lower part of the sleeves, use the double yarn, cast on 36 stitches on separate needle, and work in pattern, increasing a stitch at both ends until there are 42 stitches in row. Work even until there are 30 rows from beginning of sleeve.

The upper part of the blouse is made as follows: There are now four separate pieces, join them as follows: Slip the last 26 stitches of front to the same needles as one of the sleeve with 4-ply yarn, knit in pattern 25 of the transferred front stitches, knit the last front stitch together with the first stitch of sleeve, work to within 1 stitch of end sleeve, knit the last sleeve stitch together with the first stitch of back; with a second needle, work across back, knitting the last stitch of back together with the first stitch of second sleeve; with a third needle, work across sleeve knitting the last sleeve stitch together with the first stitch of front; work the remaining 26 front stitches onto the same needle. Turn, with the double yarn, work in pattern around blouse to other side of front to within 3 stitches of end of front and also the first stitch of sleeve, knit 2 together, knit to within 3 stitches of end of sleeve, knit together, knit the last stitch of sleeve and then the first stitch of back, knit 2 together, knit last stitch of back and also the first stitch of second sleeve, knit 2 together, knit to within 3 stitches of end of sleeve knit 2 together, knit 2 stitches (the last stitch of sleeve and the first stitch of front), knit 2 together, knit to end of needle (front opening). With double yarn, work 1 row, even. With 4-ply, knit together the first 2 stitches from neck, work to within 1 stitch of first decreease knit 2 together, knit the next 2 stitches, knit 2 together, work to within 1 stitch of next decrease, knit 2 together, knit 2, work to front edge, knitting the last 2 stitches together. Repeat the last 4 rows thus decreasing on each side of neck in every other of the 4-ply yarn, and in every row the 3 places which form the raglan sleeves, until only 1 stitch is left on fronts. With double knitting, bind off all stitches rather firmly.

To make the edging, use 4-ply yarn and crochet hook, work 4 rounds of single crochet around neck and sleeves.

Why Miss Lillian Loughton's
Chocolate Cup Cakes
are famous

"I use Magic Baking Powder," says Miss Lillian Loughton, Dietitian and Cookery Expert of the Canadian Magazine. "My successful baking results are due in large part to its freshness, uniformity, and consistent high quality.

"My own recipes are planned for Magic, and I recommend it for all recipes calling for baking powder."

Miss Loughton's high praise confirms the judgment of other Canadian dietitians and cookery experts. The majority of them use Magic exclusively, because it gives consistently better baking results.

Magic is first choice of Canadian housewives, too. It outsells all other baking powders combined.

Foreigners Being Deported by Dominion

This family is typical of the foreign element in Port Colborne, where continued unemployment has forced heads of the citizens' relief committee to launch deportation proceedings against a large number of single and married unemployed persons. Residents of Canada for six years, this Hungarian family is penniless and entirely dependent on the town for the necessities of life. Three of the children were born in Canada and are entitled to citizenship here if the adults are deported. In the community kitchen, upward of 200 single men are given substantial meals twice a day. Many of these men are transients. Others have not been employed since they entered Canada.

"No. Even if you find he's all right, I don't want him to know about my amnesia or whatever it is," she persisted. "There's something deep down—oh, I can't explain it. Perhaps it's instinct. Perhaps it's memory stirring a little. Whatevere it is, I don't want him to know."

Eric, of course, understood and shared her feeling, but he hesitated to give a blanket promise.

"Something may happen," he pointed out "News may come—"

"Then tell me about it before you give him any details. Consult me. You owe me that. Will you promise?"

"Of course I will." She was right, he was sure; and he himself was anxious to keep the truth from Henderson as long as he dared. Moreover, right or wrong, the important thing was to have her mind as free from anxiety as possible

"It's too fine to stay in," he suggested. "Suppose I get a roadster and we go off for the day?"

She hesitated, but her quick glance at the outer radiance showed him that she was tempted.

"It does sound nice," she admitted. "Then let's go. Can you be ready in half an hour?"

"In half a minute. I've got on everything I own, you know."

"We'll split the difference. I'll try to be at the front entrance with a car in 15 minutes."

He was exacting about the roadster when it was offered for his inspection at the hotel garage. He insisted on having it cleaned and he also ordered an overworked tire changed. But it was not much more than 20 minutes before he helped Eve into the car at the Garland's entrance. Her mood was serene but severely practical.

"I oughtn't to let you spend money on me this way," she murmured as she took her place beside him. The matter of money was increasingly on her mind. He gave the wheel a carefree whirl and started the roadster uptown.

The roadster was approaching the turn that led to White Plains. She glanced down at her black pumps and her face sobered.

"I had a shock this morning when I looked at myself in the glass and got the full effect of my dyed hair in a bright light," she abruptly announced.

Hamilton added, for the dyed hair was not a topic to dwell on. "How about lunching very soon at some picturesque place along here? You ate hardly any breakfast."

"I'll be ready for my luncheon." She was not only ready for it, but she ate it, to his immense relief. They had a table on a hotel veranda commanding a superb view of river and hills and meadows, and after the meal they lingered to enjoy the vista while Hamilton smoked a cigar.

When they resumed their ride she deliberately led him, for the first time, to talk about himself. He was glad to have her know something of his family and traditions, of his school and college life, his interests and his friendships. Perhaps she had wearried of their marriage game, but this did not hurt him. She was an inspiring listener. He knew he had never talked better.

"How would you feel," she abruptly demanded, "if a black curtain suddenly fell between you and all that? If you had absolutely no knowledge of yourself as you were before you came here?"

"I'd feel just the way you feel," he admitted; "only I couldn't take the experience so pluckily. You've been an inspiration, as Carrick says."

"It was disgusting of me to bring up the subject," she broke out. "THAT wasn't plucky—to spoil even a minute of our beautiful day."

The last words would have made up for anything. They restored Hamilton to a mental state in which the universe belonged to him and his companion; and this condition of beatitude lasted through a rather silent dinner and an evening in which she left him at eight on the plea of being tired.

"But it has been a good day," she told him, and added with her enchanting smile, "I have felt actually human."

He had sent off his instructions to the Chicago agency the previous night before he slept, and from the time he wired them he subconsciously began to watch for the report. Incidentally he dropped a note to Henderson, postponing their next talk for few days.

No doubt Henderson was equally busy with investigations covering Hamilton's life and present standing. Certainly Henderson revealed no more urge toward another meeting than Hamilton did.

He had also wired to Chicago, extending his own vacation, and he killed time for Eve and himself during the rest of the week by arranging several motor jaunts, a matinee or two, and some bus and steamer sight-seeing expeditions. There was no doubt that Eve played up wonderfully. She asked no questions and betrayed only occasional moments of depression.

The third day Eve made an unexpected suggestion.

"Do you think it would be all right if we dropped into Jake's tonight for an hour?" she asked.

"We'll do anything you like," he said at once, but she saw that the prospect of the expedition was intensely distasteful to him. She was not surprised. From the first he had shown an unwillingness to discuss her experience at Jake's or even to admit that it had occurred.

"I'd like to go," she amplified, ignoring his manner. "They were all amazingly good to me; I've told you that. And I left them under a dark cloud. In fact, they say Jake never forgives any one who 'quits him cold,' as they put it. So I really ought to show up, merely as an apology."

"Of course," he restlessly agreed. "But . . . you could write, you know."

"I've done that." She gave him an odd look. "You don't want me to go back there, do you?"

"No, frankly I don't. But we'll go, just the same, if you're really keen for it. However, I'll ask you to indulge me in one detail. Introduce me as your husband. I don't want those people to think you're drifting around alone."

"As you like," she agreed. "But there's no danger in the visit. The man Henderson isn't likely to be there again, and even if he were—"

"There's no danger at all That's not what I'm thinking about."

He spoke so curtly that she looked at him with mock alarm.

((To Be Continued.)

"I had a shock this morning when I got the full effect of my dyed hair in the bright light," she abruptly announced.

The Beauty Box

by Helen Follett

Cursed with the dumpling shape, the fat darling gets into the habit of swaying when she walks. Mustn't do. The years may change that gentle rhythm into a waddle, that which is not considered au fait in the cult of beauty. Even the heavyweight can move with grace, energy and distinction, though it's not as easy as when the anatomical frame is of normal proportions. What the plump babies dread most of all is to appear clumsy, so it's up to them to get busy with the reducing which can be accomplished by cutting down on sweets, fats and starches and following a routine of daily exercises.

No doubt about it, a slight touch of color on the cheeks will do something to a woman's soul—if she has one. Those middle-aged beauty questers who say they can't use factory flushes may not have found precisely the correct color. In beauty shops and at cosmetic departments in stores, you can consult a color chart. There's every shade on it from Chinese red to raspberry. Some of the shops escort you into a private cell where you may experiment to your heart's content.

For the long-short bob, or the short-long one, that is permitted to flutter loose and fancy free, it is essential that there be curly ends. You can commandeer the old kid curlers to act for the purpose of ringleting your tresses, though there are metal devices that clamp together and don't look quite so terrible when the woman next door runs in to borrow some butter.

Wool dresses, popular now and chic too, have a way of starting up moisture in the armpits. When that happens, fly to the corner drug store and purchase a reliable deodorant. No sense in being afraid of them or to worry about stopping the flow of perspiration. There are millions of pores on the body to carry on. If a few are put out of business there's no harm done.

It isn't safe to add ammonia to the shampoo water. It is a strong chemical that burns the hair, changes the color to a coppery red, and puts frail joints in the hair shafts which cause them to break.

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES

Miss L. L.: "Can you suggest a few good foods suitable to serve with roast duck?"

Answer: With roast duck serve fresh apple sauce, candied sweet potatoes, creamed onions, or cauliflower (or any light-colored vegetables) and sherbet for dessert.

Young Girl: "Some time ago you published recipes for Cheeseless Cheese cake. Will you please repeat one of them? Is it sweet enough to serve as a dessert?"

Answer: Yes, cheese cake is frequently served for dessert after a light meal, such as lunch or supper. To make it without cheese mix 12 crushed zwelbachs with one teaspoon of butter, one teaspoon of ground cinnamon and a pinch of salt. Sprinkle this in a buttered pan which is at least two inches deep. Over it pour the following mixture: Two cans of condensed milk combined with three lemons (grated rind and juice), six eggs with yolks and whites beaten separately (the whites till stiff, folded in just before you turn the mixture into the crumb-lined pan. Bake 20 to 30 minutes in a medium oven, when it should be done through and delicately browned. Do not remove from the tin until it is perfectly cold. Although this makes a large cake, it is nice to have on hand, in the refrigerator, to serve a second time.

Mrs. U: "Have you a recipe for Chees Bread? The kind I get at a bakery seems to have had the cheese melted and added to the yeast-sponge, but of course its recipe is a trade secret."

Answer: I haven't such a recipe, but possibly some reader friend may have and will send it to me, for publication?

Springlike Clothes Appear New Coats Like Dresses

There is one thing certain about the clothes—new clothes, that is, not leftovers—that begin bobing up about town once the holidays have been gotten out of the way—they take no account of what the weather may intend to do but go unabashedly springlike.

It may be hard lines on the little woman who has held off buying a winter coat, but she is going to have a hard time passing up the brighter although less warm models for even the most befurred things a rack away among the marked downs. The silver lining to this cloud, however, may be a detachable fur lining in the coat one most desires.

The new coats seem pretty much like dresses in their moided look, with their trick sleeves, their scarfs and their yoke collar treatments. Nor will you find them dripping fur all over the place. A pair of fur cuffs, a vest of fur to tide you over until warmer weather shows up, are about all the peltry you can count on, and even that little may take a bit of searching out. They depend much more on intricate manipulations of material, and here is where the new diagonals stalk into the picture.

You will hear a lot about them later on, so you might as well make their acquaintances now. The wide-ribbed ones with a lace or nubbed space between the lines are the newest. They come in two tones or three, usually sticking to different shades of the same color. Browns and greens and blues are topnotchers for northern wear—the blue another new one, answering to the name of Bleu Espagnol. It is a bit darker than Royal, although more vibrant.

One thing that should put these diagonal woollens across if merely being good to look upon is not enough is the way they slice inches off the width of wider-than-is-necessary ladies and flatter the slender ones.

Treated properly they manage to be pretty decorative ,with no help whatsoever from outside trimmings. For the wide-shouldered effect—a positive obsession with all new clothes—the stripes are used one way in a revival of the raglan idea, a hip-yoke follows suit, while the body of the coat above the waistline and the flared section below the hips go off in the opposite direction.

Coats that look like suits are another new conceit to fool the unknowing. This silhouette is achieved by the addition of a colorful top that flaps away on its own like a peplum from beneath a narrow belt, where it is stitched to the skirt of the coat. One such coat pairs bright red homespun with blue diagonal woollen. Another uses a brown and beige plaid crepy wool for its top section, plain brown for skirt and sleeves, which are banded with the plaid.

Committee Members May Have to Pay for Accommodation

VANCOUVER, B. C., Feb. 22.—Members of the civic relief committee may be faced with the necessity of personally paying for beds and meals for 247 persons who participated in this afternoon's "hunger march".

"If the city council declines to ratify this action," said Alderman Harvey, "it may mean that the aldermen will have to pay for it out of their own pockets. I am against the motion."

SMALLPOX CASES REACH 12 AT THE COAST; 10 DEATHS

Most Virulent Type of Disease Breaks Out in Vancouver

VANCOUVER, B. C., Feb. 22.—Two new cases of smallpox were reported over the week-end, bringing the total in Vancouver to 79. There have been 10 deaths.

Haemorrhagic smallpox, most virulent type of disease which broke out in Vancouver, took the life of a 30-year old woman three hours after she was admitted to St. Paul's hospital.

The death occurred Friday night but the fact that smallpox was responsible was not definitely determined until Sunday after an autopsy had been performed by Dr. A. W. Hunter at the request of civic health authorities.

Rumors that the woman had died as the result of vaccination were prevalent in the city during Saturday. The postmortme examination however, proved this to be unfounded.

Scouting—Here There and Everywhere

By E. R. H.

Afghanistan—On the occasion of ex-King Amanullah's visit to London a few days ago, he specially asked to see a display by London Scouts. This was arranged and the king showed a keen interest in all that was displayed. Although the king no longer reigns over Afghanistan, scouting has taken seed there and an association has been formed under the auspices of the Afghan government.

America—The twenty-first anniversary of the Boy Scouts' association in America was celebrated last week.

Hungary—The 1933 world jamboree shows signs of being a great affair and preparations are going ahead. The jamboree will be held at Godollo, near Budapest, next summer. Courses of instruction in foreign languages have commenced for Scouts acting as guides during the jamboree.

Australia—A very successful training course was held for Scouts at Pennant Hills, New South Wales. This was attended by over 80 keen Scout officers and much was accomplished in training them for their job as leaders and instructors. The "Scouts Own" was very well attended and a ramble through the bush afforded members the opportunity of studying many Australian birds under the guidance of an expert.

Malta—The new governor and Chief Scout, Sir David Campbell, is taking a keen personal interest in Scouting in Malta. His excellency has already inspected some of the Scouts and has expressed a wish to see all the Scouters. News of Scouting in Malta is indeed more encouraging than it has been for some time.

Roumania—In July next the Scouts of Roumania will hold their second national jamboree at Dumbravia Sibiu in the Carpathian mountains. They are inviting comingents of Scouts from other countries and in order to assist them the Roumanian railway authorities will give a reduction of 50 per cent to all such parties.

Norway—The Norwegian Scouts will hold a national camp on the seacoast at Mandal in July this year. They have invited a party of 20 British Scouts to join them.

Canada—The Victoria Boy Scouts have just completed the production of their "extravaganza" entitled "The Magic Carpet." The play opens in a Scout camp on Vancouver island. The Scouts are grouped round the camp fire singing and acting. The camp chief and his assistant, lead the singing and the camp chief then suggests that he tell the boys some stories. The stories follow and are produced as phantasies in scenic and colorful production.

England—In last week's Scout news reference was made to the late Sir Ernest Shackleton. Once again we are reminded of this friend of Scouting by the unveiling in London of a bronze statue to his memory. It is ten years ago this month since Sir Ernest died and was buried by his men in South Georgia, the "gateway to the Antarctic."

SCOUT DIES AFTER GIVING BLOOD

LONDON.—A London Rover Scout's remarkable keenness in offering the transfusion of his own blood to save the lives of others is revealed by the death at Lewisham hospital after 10 months' illness of Kennett Wilfrid Hardstone, of Burnt Ashhill, Lee, S. E. 12.

Stephen Arthur Hardstone, his father, stated after his death that, "Whenever Kennett received a call for a volunteer for blood transfusion, he left his work, and, without remuneration, went to one or other of the big London hospitals and offered his services.

"In one year he gave his blood eight times, saving no fewer than seven lives.

"Seven of the patients were women. Practically all these transfusions took place when he was under 21, and I had no knowledge of them until afterward.

"My son caught a chill, which developed from influenza to tuberculosis, and he never properly recovered."

The London Blood Transfusion Service keeps a list of healthy young people who are prepared to give some of their blood when required. It is necessary from every point of view that these donors should be in sound physical condition, and if this is so the loss of blood is harmless.

HENRY GAGE IS PAID LAST RITES

Is Buried at Vancouver; Mrs. Gage of Nelson Unable to Make Trip

Funeral services for Henry Gage of White Rock were held in Vancouver Monday afternoon under the auspices of the Odd Fellows lodge, and interment was made in the Mountain View cemetery there. Mr. Gage passed away following an attack of influenza after he had been sick about a week.

His daughter, Mrs. J. D. Foggo, of Nelson, his son, William Gage, of Los Angeles, and his son-in-law, J. T. Lawrie, of Nelson, were present at the funeral services. His wife, Mrs. Gage of Nelson, who has been ailing for some time and who is at present under the care of her daughter, Mrs. J. T. Lawrie, was unable to make the trip to Vancouver.

Bi-Centennial Birthday of George Washington Celebrated at Session

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22 (By Kenn Clark, Canadian Press staff correspondent)—Before a joint session of the house of representatives and senate of the United States, President Herbert Hoover in celebration of the bi-centennial of George Washington's birthday this afternoon made an address of tribute to "the father of his country."

The president said upon foundation "of divine inspiration laid by our fathers and led by Washington, our nation has builded up during a century and a half a new system of life, a system unique to the American people."

TWO KILLED IN CRUSH AT FUNERAL OF FORMER KING

DRESDEN, Germany, Feb. 22. (AP) —Two women were killed today and more than 100 persons fainted in the crush at the funeral of former King Friedrich August of Saxony, who died last week at his castle at Sybyllenort.

Good looks aren't always luck

Sparkling eyes and a smooth complexion depend on good health.

The beautiful woman guards against constipation. She knows this condition can cause headaches, sallow skin, dull eyes, pimples, premature aging.

Protect yourself from constipation by eating a delicious cereal. Tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and Vitamin B to tone the intestinal tract. In addition, ALL-BRAN furnishes blood-building iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is similar to that of lettuce. Within the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes. How much safer than pills and drugs—so often habit-forming.

Two tablespoonfuls daily—in serious cases, with every meal—will correct most types of constipation. If your trouble is not relieved in this way, see your doctor.

Serve as a cereal, with milk or cream, or use in cooking. At all grocers. In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

Stealing a Ferry

A dispatch from Victoria states that the attorney-general has given notice of an amendment to the Ferries act, making it illegal for anyone but an authorized person to operate a government-owned and licenced ferry.

An amusing incident is the cause of this amendment. Some time ago, a person residing near Revelstoke wished to cross on a government ferry in that District. The ferry-man was not on duty, so, feeling that he could not wait for the ferry-man, he got on board, and operated it himself. He was then charged with having stolen a ferry. Of course, the case was more or less laughed out of court.

The Right Course

T. D. Pattullo, the leader of Opposition in the Provincial Legislature, has followed the correct course in announcing that his party does not intend to prolong the debate on the address in reply to the speech from the Throne.

In recent years, nothing like as much time has been wasted by either party in the Legislature on the address as used to be wasted five or six years ago. It used to be the practice for virtually every member of the House to make a speech on the address, and when a member has something of value to bring before the Legislature it is good constitutional practice to do so at this stage. But most of the speeches contributed nothing whatever to the better administration of public affairs. The great majority of the speeches were purely political, and cost the province a lot of money. Every day the Legislature sits adds to the expence. Particularly at a time like this is it necessary not only to reduce the cost of the session as far as possible, but it is also a time when the people are looking to the Legislators to devote their energies to the solution of the problems which the Government of the Province has to solve.

These problems are many and difficult.

It is to be hoped that the attitude which the Opposition has adopted in relation to the Address will be continued throughout the session, and that government supporters will carry out the same policy. Debates should be concentrated on the real business that is before the legislature.

The public will be content to wait until the general election for stump speeches and campaign oratory.

These Schemes Do Increase Costs

In his report advocating the establishment of state health insurance and a system of state nursing, Dr. G. M. Weir of the University of British Columbia in effect supports the report of the provincial royal commission on health insurance, but goes considerably farther.

In tune with the Provincial Health Insurance commission, the Weir report presents the astonishing argument that the introduction of state health insurance and of state nursing would have a tendency to off-set "the growing dissatisfaction throughout Canada with the high cost of health service."

After the experiences in Great Britain and in Canada of the financial effect of the establishment of social services of this type, it seems almost incredible that any responsible person would suggest that state operation of health insurance or of nursing would bring about a reduction in costs. All experience of the actual operation of such schemes proves that the net result is a very heavy increase in expenditure. In the schemes under review, it is proposed that the government should bear part of the cost, the employers part of the cost, and the employees the greater proportion of the cost.

It cannot successfully be argued that the total cost would be less than at present, nor can it be argued successfully that the establishment of such services would not increase government expenditures. All this is self-evident.

If advocates of state health insurance and state nursing systems and son on, would confine their advocacy to the extension of paternalism on the ground that such plans would result perhaps in better care of the sick, the basis for arguement on both sides would be entirely different. But they make the mistake of trying to convince the public that what they call socialization of nursing service and socialization of medical service would not increase costs. They should face the issue frankly, admit that costs would be heavily increased, and then say that such increase in costs would be justified by results.

The whole point of course at the present time is that neither British Columbia nor the Dominion of Canada can afford to increase the burden of taxation.

Dr. Albert Einstein, a Pasadena report says, forgot his pipe for half an hour while he listened to a private recital by a boy violinist. And then again the distinguished mathematician may have been setting a good example by refraining from smoking in the presence of the juvenile prodigy.

French motion-picture producers, facing bankruptcy, are to be aided by American and German interests, which will cut royalties on all film-recording equipment to a minimum. This in an effort to establish the French movie industry on a sound basis.

Writing to a friend, Robert Burns outlined the qualities of a "good wife," demanding four parts of "good nature" out of a total of 10 points. The canny Scotch poet, it is evident, knew what it takes to live with a professional maker of verse.

Sir George Paish says the world's economic smash has just been delayed. Probably the great flood would have caused much less destruction if Sir George had been on the job just before it came.

Proposal of rioters in Newfoundland to throw the premier from a third-storey window will not add to government eagerness to further the building of skyscrapers in St. John's.

"Between You and Me"

Swish, swish, swish, swish!
Just hear the mushy row.
Swish, swish, swish, swish!
As down the street we plow.
What care we for winter woes—
The thaw sets in. Away she goes.
We're safe at least another week.
But do not try to cross the street.
Swish, swish, swish, etc., etc.

From all appearances the thaw has set in. But don't take off your winter undies yet. Old Jack Frost will try another comeback.

Noticed our worthy mayor with heavy brush in hand cleaning out a street gutter yesterday—Dr. J. H. Bennett and Danny Barret were each smoking long cigars—And kidding each other along—And I overheard a story of Danny when he first started railroading—At that time it appears that Danny, on the engine, was not certain of signals from behind. They were switching at Procter. A signal came on Danny's side—"Move ahead," Danny told the engineer—Another signal—"violent stop," cried Danny—Then silence—"What are they signalling now?" asked the engineer—"Darned if I know," said Danny peering at a lamp swinging violently at the rear—"But it looks to me as though the brakemen are fighting"—And all the time the brakeman was calling for a shunt—I noticed John Bell senior crossing the street and avoiding deep water holes—Watched Dr. D. W. McKay back his car out of a snow rut—Overheard John Marquis and E. Kirby discussing mining—Noticed Charlie Stark boarding the rattler for the coast—Saw Howard Bush and Jimmie McCandlish both delivering large packages of tobacco—

Here's a letter I got in the mail:
Dear J. B. C.:
Sunday I was out at the ranch and there were two nurses out there. One of them claimed she could milk cows. So we dressed her up in a new pair of overalls, shirt, red and white sox and gum boots. Out to the barn we went. Well, she milked one cow and started on a second. She finished the second and then quit. She said she would sooner go nursing (not cows).
Yours truly, "S"

Was interested greatly in a marble game in progress on the dry store entrance of a Baker street firm yesterday. About seven boys were participating. One young lad had a board in which was cut several holes just large enough to let a marble pass through. Over each hole was a number such as 2, 4, 8, 10, 6 and 5. The board was placed at one end of the entrance and the boys stood back about four feet. The idea was to roll a marble through the hole. The boy who missed lost his marble. If a marble made a hole the owner was paid in marbles corresponding to the number of the hole. It took about five minutes for the owner of the board to clean up on his friends. "Anyone got any more marbles?" he asked. There being no reply he picked up his board and sauntered off.

Fishing in Kootenay Lake—Its Ills and Cures

(By H. HINCKS)

I have read several letters in your paper regarding the improvement of the fishing in Kootenay lake and would like to add my suggestions. Very little is really known about the habits and life history of the trout, for I believe he really is a trout not a salmon, and this species is known at different stages in his life as trout, Rainbow trout, salmon or Black salmon, according to his size or condition. Then there is the Dolly Varden or, as he is sometimes wrongly called, the Char, which spawns in the creeks and is capable of looking after himself. The small mouthed Bass was, I believe, washed into the lake by mistake. These are the only sporting fish worth considering and of these the trout is the fish that needs our attention and protection.

The Red fish, grayling, chub, whitefish, suckers and squawfish are really only useful in so far as they supply food to the trout, and of these the one really useful fish for trout food is the redfish. I have never found out who suggested putting whitefish into Kootenay lake or what his (other) idea was (if any). They are, I believe, only caught in nets at depth and are of doubtful usefulness as a possible food for the big trout.

I am sure that the essentials for the improvement of the fishing are: (1) An ample food supply; (2) restocking with sizeable fish; (3) destruction of all fish using food which should be for the trout, or who are found to eat the spawn of the trout.

Artificial feeding is of course out of the question in a large sheet of water, but I have seen the benefit resulting from the taking out of grayling in an English trout stream and I am confident that the sucker is the arch enemy of the Kootenay trout.

All interested in fishing must have noticed how the suckers have increased in this lake in the last 20 years.

DESTROY THE EGGS

Many must have been horrified to see the thousands following the salmon on the spawning beds at Howser and Gerrard and still more horrified if they watched them systematically burrowing for the eggs deposited by the trout. Instead of being destroyed the sucker is left undisturbed. In fact he is almost protected for no one wants to catch him. I have heard it said that the sucker fry are food for the trout. But I believe very few are really taken for they like to live in the muddy parts of the lake until they are big enough to follow the trout to his spawning beds. This egg eating habit of the sucker makes him moderately easy to kill if he were netted on the spawning beds and he would when caught in great numbers find his proper use if he was turned into fish manure.

The Squaw fish is an enemy of the trout. He takes large quantities of food from the trout. I do not think the trout eat squaw fish fry because they are unpalatable. He drives away trout from your fly and sometimes takes your fly himself, is loathsome to look at and to handle for he is armed with a guillotine in his throat and uses this weapon on any trout fry he comes across.

He, like the sucker, should be destroyed.

These two are the great enemies of the trout and should, in my opinion, be declared as vermin. The cooperation of all Rod and Gun clubs as well as fishermen should be asked, for their destruction.

The Small Mouthed bass is pugnacious and uses his dorsal fin with effect on trout. He also eats their food but he does afford some sport when he is hooked and is good to eat.

The others are not in sufficient numbers in the lake to be of much account.

ABOUT RESTOCKING

Restocking—I should very much doubt whether the introduction of eyed ova of the Kootenay trout into the lake itself does any appreciable good in the increasing of the number of large fish in the lake but it probably helps to prevent depletion. To my way of thinking there are very few suitable places to introduce eyed ova in the lake itself. The ova are a prey to every surface feeding bird. Even robins are said to eat them. They have little or no protection when they are turned in and ducks seem to congregate at points where they have been introduced. No doubt their instinct guides them to the spot and it is possible that the natural instinct of self-preservation in the ova has been to some extent destroyed by artificial hatching and feeding.

In a lake such as Kootenay lake, where there are so many enemies for the small fish and where the smaller the fish turned in, the less his chance of becoming a 20-pounder, I believe the only way to really improve the fishing and make it the asset it should be, not only to the inhabitants but to the province, would be to turn in three-inch to five-inch fish. Even if the number of fish turned in was less the benefit to the fishermen would be greater and the number of survivors would be more. The expense would be great if fish were kept at the hatchery until they were of this size but I suggest that with the co-operation of Rod and Gun clubs and anyone who had suitable ponds and was willing to take fish and look after them until they were of this size and then have them turned into the lake, that in a few years the effect of restocking with larger fish would be apparent if the vermin were also destroyed.

I believe that the vermin are the chief cause of the lack of big fish, they are increasing and eating not only the food which is wanted to build up the big fish but also destroying numbers of young trout and Dolly Varden, which, in themselves, are the most palatable and nutritious form of food for the big trout.

LIMIT TWO RODS

In so large an area of water the launch does no harm as a means of fishing, for the launch as a rule misses fish through the pace at which it travels and the steady straight course, whereas the row boat does not cover the same amount of ground but it is not so likely to miss or scare a feeding fish.

From a fishing standpoint I would sooner see each boat of whatever kind limited to only two rods. But if the rules say one man one rod why wait till somebody draws your attention to the regulations?

As to catching char with a triangle hook in pools as they go up the creeks to spawn, I always wish the rules forbade placing the weight or lead anywhere except on the line side of the bait. It gives the fish such a much better chance of getting away.

In conclusion I would like to say that my theory of the lack of large fish being caught in a year like last is that trout do not like feeding in water charged with either silt or mud, for one thing it restricts the distance from which they can see the bait. Silt and mud enter Kootenay lake at both ends and spread from the north and from the south, leaving clear water or comparatively clear water in between.

The trout like to feed along the line of currents in the area of comparatively clear water, according to the volume of silt and according as the muddy water comes further south or further north, so you will have the area of clear water varying, one year it will be betwen Kaslo and Queens Bay, another year between Kaslo and Boswell and as the area of clear water is greater the number of trout in the area may be approximately the same but the fish are fewer to the square mile. So the fish caught are fewer. One part of the lake is then better fishing than the other. This was borne out by my fishing experience of last year, which in my case was a fortunate year.

I also believe that trout from Howser lake, wherever he spawns, returns to Howser lake when he has spawned and that the spawn when sizeable fish will generally return to Howser lake themselves, this characteristic has been observed in other parts of the world.

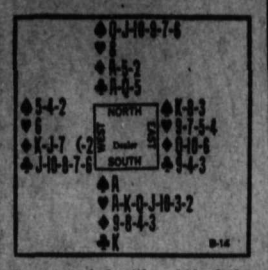
Auction and Contract Bridge

By the World's Leading Authority, MILTON C. WORK

A DIFFICULT AND LUCKY GRAND SLAM

I recently witnessed a rather sensational Contract hand at a prominent social club. Possibly I should mention that it was played in an after-dinner game. The cards were distributed as follows:



South started with a bid of three Hearts; he had an eight-trick hand plus whatever values the singleton King of Clubs and four cards in the Diamond suit might have, so there was nothing unconventional about that declaration. West passed, and North answered with three Spades. After East's pass South, not worrying about North's non-support of Hearts, bid four Hearts; and then North in view of his singleton Heart, bid four No Trumps. South now reasoned that if North could bid Spades and then No Trump there was apt to be a slam in the hand; and not wishing to miss it, or his Heart honors either, South bid six Hearts. After that North figured that if South could bid six Hearts, knowing as little of North's strength as he did, that the hand might "go grand." So North ventured a seven-Heart bid.

West led the Jack of Clubs; and Declarer could see that the obvious play was to win that trick with the King of Clubs, draw the adverse trumps, lead the Ace of Spades, and then put dummy in with the Ace of Diamonds to give South two Diamond discards on the Ace and Queen of Clubs. This would produce a small slam but, even with additional leads of trumps for an attempted squeeze, it would not makes a grand slam unless the adverse King of Spades was a singleton; so the Declarer made up for the wildness of his side's bidding by developing the only play that had a real chance of carrying him to his goal.

He won the first trick with the Ace of Clubs, playing his singleton King under it; and then while dummy still had a Diamond entry, led the Quen of Clubs on which he discarded his singleton Ace of Spades. Next North led the Queen of Spades and East, by playing small, did his best to conceal the fact that he held the King. But South discarded a Diamond and on North's next Spade lead East had to play the King. South ruffed, the trumps were drawn, and North was put in with the Ace of Diamonds to make the grand slam by cashing his Spades.

DESPERATE OR DANGEROUS METHODS OF REDUCING WEIGHT

When you see an overweight individual apparently doing his or her best to reduce weight by cutting down on the food intake and yet finding no decrease in weight, you can understand why desperate measures are sometimes taken.

It is these "desperate" measures that are responsible for many deaths and a great many cases of invalidism.

One of these measures is the 18 days diet.

What overweight individual has not become so disheartened with the ordinary reduction cures but is willing to "take a chance" on this diet that will give slimness in 18 days? It gives the reduction in some cases and the individuals state that they feel all right. In other cases it has often caused collapse and severe illness, and frequently death.

As mentioned before, the underlying principle of the 18 day diet is correct, that is to retain meats and eggs, but to cut down on starches. The only trouble was that the amount of reduction was too much. If the reduction of the food intake had been less and carried over a period of three to six months there would have been fewer cases of collapse, and likely no deaths.

Another "desperate" measure in reducing is the taking of thyroid extract.

The only condition in which thyroid extract can be safely used is where the thyroid gland of the individual is not active enough, thus allowing fat to accumulate instead of being burned up in the body as would be done were the thyroid active. Naturally a little extra thyroid juice or extract taken into the system should help to get rid of the surplus fat. And thyroid extract will do this, in particular type of overweight which represents only about one case in a hundred of overweight individuals.

Why is this thyroid extract dangerous in the other ninety-nine cases?

Because it shocks the system and may actually cause such changes in the blood that red corpuscles which carry strength and nourishment to all parts of the body seem to be crowded out by the white corpuscles or disease fighter causing the blood to be very pale in appearance.

Naturally there is a great faintness of the body, prolonged fatigue, pallor and breathlessness.

Unfortunately there isn't much can be done for these cases.

Don't try these desperate methods of weight reduction.

TRAIL BEATS KIMBERLEY 2-1 TO TAKE GAME LEAD IN WEST KOOTENAY HOCKEY PLAYOFFS

Trail Presses Two Periods Then Kimberley Shines

TRAIL, B. C., Feb. 22—Trail crept into the lead for the West Kootenay hockey championship and the right to retain the Nelson Daily News cup tonight when they defeated Kimberley Dynamiters 2-1 in a hectic game. Trail has won two and Kimberley one game in the five-game playoff series. A win Tuesday night for Trail will give them the title. A win for Kimberley ties the series and necessitates the fifth game.

Tonight's play was Trail's for the first two periods but in the final stanza Kimberley opened a barrage that kept Dupuis in hot water. Trail had scored a goal in each of the first two stanzas and Kimberley got its one counter in the last.

TRAIL PRESSES

Trail started to play hockey right at the start and kept it up. Kimberley was playing equally good hockey but Trail was able to hold the visitors to long shots. Kimberley broke through only twice while Trail was into the red and blue net half a dozen times. The champions scored just half way through the period at 10:32 when Wheatley took a long shoot from left wing and three Trail men converged on the net. Hanson got it in behind and passed out to Harry Brown who batted it into the net. Trail was right back again after the face off but could not repeat the play. Both teams played on long shots and rebounds. Trail men began to suffer from penalties and each time a man was off the ice the visitors pressed more nearly home. They were only able to get into really dangerous territory once, however, Toward the end Brennan, Kendall and Samec went through. Samec bulging the net but Suds Smith's ball beat him to it. Jordan, Wheatley and Brennan "2" got penalties in this session.

Piling on the speed in the second Trail outplayed Kimberley all the way through and only Hutton's miraculous saves on three separate occasions prevented tallies.

Trail made it 2-0 at 12:53 on a brainy piece of work when Brown gave Wheatley the puck and Curley went in for the score. It was nice hockey, Kimberley got in only one effective attack. Art and Dub Mackie went through together and Dub passed to Art unchecked, but Art shot wide. Otherwise the visitors were held on the shady side. Brennan stickhandled right through and was within an ace of scoring when Hutton fell across his stick and the puck slid away. Reddick and Kosak "2" drew penalties.

KIMBERLEY STRONG

Art Mackie started the third period with a penalty for tripping Wheatley as Trail men broke through. Reddick and Brown went through together, Reddick shot directly to Hutton's pads as they closed in. McQuade went in for a shot but he was wide. From then on play speeded up with Kimberley throwing four and five men into the attack while they camped on Trail's blue line and shot at Dupuis from all angles. Dub Mackie weaved his way through and passed to Art for a goal at 10:52. Twice Trail broke in and twice Hutton saved. Trail had to shoot up the ice to get Kimberley out of the danger zone. Dupuis threw himself on the puck as Kemp flashed in for a rebound, that came from right in front of the net. He did it again but missed again. Dupuis was performing gymnastics as Kimberley threw every man into the attack. Dub Mackie flipped one in just before the game closed but he was offside and it was no goal. Kosak and Reddick drew two one-minute penalties.

The teams:

Kimberley—Hutton; Kosak; Botterill; Dub Mackie; Art Mackie; Dicken; Kemp; Hugo Mackie and McQuaid, Livingstone.

Trail—Dupuis; Reddick and Jordan; Hanson, Brown and Wheatley; Brennan, Kendall, Samec, Murdock.

Summary:

First period (1) Trail, Brown from Hanson, 10:52.

Penalties: Jordan, Wheatley, Brennan (2).

Second period: (2) Trail, Wheatley from Brown 12:53.

Penalties—Reddick, Kosak (2).

Third period; (3) Kimberley, Art Mackie from Dub Mackie, 10:52.

Penalties: Kosak, Reddick (2).

Time keepers: E. Neff, Nelson; J P. Schofield, Trail.

Penalties: Earl Mellor, Kimberley; Charles Dodimead, Trail.

Goal umpires: Andy Orr, Kimberley; Fred Scott, Trail.

Referee: Suds Smith, Kimberley.

CLAIMS NEW AMATEUR SKI JUMP RECORD

SALT LAKE CITY, Feb. 22 (AP)—Glen Armstrong, brilliant Estes Park, Colo., ski rider, claimed a new national amateur record with a leap today of 224 feet from Ecker hill in the mountains east of here, during the second day's program of the two-day winter sports carnival.

The jumping was sponsored by the U. S. Western Amateur Ski association. The former record in that association was 212 feet.

Ivan Hudspeth, also of Estes Park, was second with a jump of 186 feet. His point total was 55.5 compared with 75.3 for Armstrong.

In the professional jumping Ralph Engen, holder of the world record of 267 feet, led with a leap of 252 feet, but lost on points to Halvor Hvalstad of Big Pines, Calif., whose longest jump was 246 feet. Hvalstad piled up 402½ points to 402 for Engen. Nels Nelson of Revelstoke, British Columbia, former record holder who came here to battle for the title with Engen was injured on a trial leap of 215 feet and was forced to withdraw.

NELSON JUMPERS TREATED ROYALLY AT SKI TOURNEY

Roy MacKay and Danny McKay Bring Trophies From Eastport Tournament

DANNY RECEIVES KISS FROM GIRL

Much Credit Is Due to Mr. Hulls for Conscientious Coaching Say Boys

"We were treated royally," stated Roy MacKay and Danny McKay as they stepped from the westbound train which brought them back from the international skiing tournament at Eastport, Wash., last Saturday and Sunday, the two boys "breaking in" the Eastport skiing hill. Roy exhibited a beautiful cup and Danny a handsome pair of ski poles.

"It was a wonderful time. We liked the jumps, we liked the people and we liked their hospitality and I hope to go again next year," continued Roy.

"I enjoyed every bit of it, and still think that our jump out in Fairview classes up with each and every other one on which we have jumped." Danny said exuberantly.

T. Hulls, the boys' coach and manager, told of the enthusiasm of the crowd and then pulled the following gag on Danny, who stood by blushing as he listened, "One of the many spectators—a pretty young girl saw Danny come hurtling off the jump—his second, and then went up to him, put her arm around his left shoulder and kissed him with 'Gee, you're doing well, kid'."

"The enthusiasm of the crowd was astounding, each spectator trying to outdo the other with their yell in appreciation of the style of jumping furnished by the exhibitors. When we left this morning I had the promise of every individual there that if we were to stage a tourney here next winter, that each and every one of them would come and attend," concluded Mr. Hulls.

Continuing the boys said that a great deal of credit was due to Mr. Hulls for his conscientious work in the capacity of coach and manager, "He looked after everything," they said emphatically.

In a conversation after the jumping two active members of the Spokane Ski club said that they hoped to hold a tournament next year and that they wanted both Roy and Danny to be right on deck.

Should the fall of snow stay on until next Sunday the High School Ski club will put on their final exhibition of the year at the jump in Fairview.

SHORTY RUSSICK LEADS THREE-DAY DOG DERBY RACE

QUEBEC, Feb. 22 (CP)—Shorty Russick, of Flin Flon, Man., a veteran of the northwest, today showed the way to a number of competitors who were still interested in toys when he began to guide huskies and malemutes and won the first strenuous lap of the three-day eastern international dog derby.

Russick covered the gruelling 40-mile lap from Quebec northward to Stoneham and back in three hours, 29 minutes and 15 seconds, beating by exactly 30 seconds the time of Emil St. Goddard, of The Pas, Man., four times winner of the event.

Leonhard Seppala, of Nome, Alaska, hero of the serum dash of a few years ago, placed third, in three hours, 33 minutes and 39 seconds. G. Girard, Dupuis and Chevretts, all of Quebec, followed him across the finish line in that order.

The race will continue tomorrow with the 14 competitors and their dog teams covering the same distance. On Wednesday a circuit of the same course will decide the winner, total elapsed time for the three days settling who takes the major share of the prize money.

CANADIAN TOURING RUGBY TEAM BACK FROM JAPAN TRIP

VICTORIA, Feb. 22. (CP)—Averaging eight pounds more per member than when they left Victoria on January 2, surfeited with entertainment and rugby, and happy to be back after what all agreed was a marvelous trip, Canada's all-star English rugby team arrived in Victoria today aboard the steamship Empress of Asia. The six local members of the squad left the ship for their homes, after warm greetings by local officials and fans, while the remainder of the team continued on to Vancouver.

Japan will invade Canadian rugby fields again, leaders of the touring party said. It is understood they will appear here some time in 1934. A crack four-oared crew may also accompany the ruggers to take part in exhibition rowing races, J. Fyfe-Smith, president of the Canadian Rugby union and leader of the tour, stated.

17-Year-Old Musher Scores Sensational Victory in Dog Race

ASHTON, Idaho, Feb., 22.—(A.P.)—Don Cordingly, 17-year-old musher of Ashton, scored one of the most sensational victories in western dog racing here today in nosing out Delbert Groom of Rigby, by a second in the 16th annual American dog derby.

Cordingly finished second last year. The race today was his third.

When Groom and Cordingly began the last 8 1-3 mile lap of the 25-mile grind, Groom was leading by 32 seconds. The youthful Ashton musher sprinted the last 200 yards with his dogs in hot pursuit He was clocked in one hour 59 minutes and 18 seconds The record is one hour 53 minutes 32 seconds, established last year by Roy Stover of McCall

Two Indoor Records Are Broken, Third Is Equalled Twice

HEENEY LOSES TO MAX BAER AFTER IMPRESSIVE START

Rousing Battle All Through; Second Meeting of the Pair

SEALS STADIUM, San Francisco, Feb. 22 (AP)—Finishing with a great 10-round rally, Max Baer, the former Livermore "butcher boy," pounded out a 10-round decision over old Tom Heeney of New Zealand, here today.

It was a rousing battle from start to finish, with the veteran Heeney putting up unexpected opposition to force his younger opponent to the utmost.

Unimpressive in the training and on the short end of 3 to 1 odds as they went into the ring, Heeney bored in steadily, and in the early stages had all the better of the battling. He battered Baer steadily at close range with jolting uppercuts and made good use of a 12 and a half pound weight advantage. Baer found the range after the third and banged his stocky opponent around the ring with lusty rights to the jaw.

In the fifth round the Californian clipped his opponent with a right to the jaw just before the end of the session, and Heeney was groggy as he walked to his corner.

It was the second meeting of the pair, Baer winning in three rounds last year in New York, when Heeney landed outside the ropes and failed to get back on his feet before the count.

Baer weighted 188 pounds and Heeney 211. A crowd of approximately 7000 attended, with gate receipts estimated at $12,000.

POINT-MAKERS ARE STILL HEADED BY MONTREAL PLAYER

"Hooley" Smith Has Point Advantage Although Out of Play Altogether

MONTREAL, Que., Feb. 22.—(CP)—Although out of play "Hooley" Smith, of Montreal Maroons, still leads the point makers of the Canadian section of the national hockey league with 38, according to statistics issued tonight. Just one behind is Harvey Jackson, Toronto Leaf's left winger. His team-mate Joe Primeau, has 35 points, one better than Dave Trottier of Marcons.

During the week four Marcon players added five points each to their totals. They are Trottier, Northcott, Siebert and Ward. In addition Trottier leads the entire league in penalties, having served 80 minutes, while Johnson of the Rangers is close behind with 78.

Bill Cook of the New York Rangers, continues to lead the United States division in point making with 33, only two in front of his team-mate, Cecil Dillon, while Dit Clapper of the Bruins is close on the latter's heels with 30 points.

Wild Cats Beat Telephone Belles

The hockey game between the Wildcats and the Telephone Belles on Sunday, February 21, was won by the Wildcats by the score of 1-0. Berna Kline scored the lone marker on a pass from Nellie Leslie directly in front of the goal. Both teams played well and with a little more practise would soon become accustomed to using the stick for propelling the puck only, instead of using it as something to lean on to keep from falling.

On the Wildcats Grace Hall and Flo Maundrell played good defence and Lena Young stopped many shots in goal. The forward line worked hard and it was through their well directed efforts that they won.

For the Telephone Belles Babe Rhodes played well in goal but it would be hard to pick an individual star among the rest of the players. Mrs. Jessie McIvor and Edna Maundrell were inclined to rough it a bit but escaped the eyes of the referee, Scotty Notman, who being a married man knew well enough to keep out of a quarrel where ladies are concerned.

Line-ups were:

Wildcats: Lena Young, Flo Maundrell, Grace Hall, Rose Jeffreys, Edna Maundrell, Nellie Leslie and Berna Kline.

Telephone Belles: Babe Rhodes, Isa Leslie, Jean Coles, Marge Scanlan, Muriel Maundrell, Mildrel Martin, Mrs. McIvor, Grace Miller, and Sylvia Price.

"Big League" BOWLING

By AL DEMAREE

Many bowlers have a tendency to deliver a ball that "skids" half the distance to the pins before it apparently starts revolving. A ball of this type is a poor pin getter, so the man rolling it has no idea just which way it will break when it does start rotating.

The ideal type of ball is a ball that starts revolving immediately when it leaves the hand and gains momentum as it reaches the pins. Turn the wrist and hand to the left and at the same time pull the thumb downward. This will give the ball not only overhead follow through "English", but also a right-to-left tendency that will make it break into and through the pins and not "back up" and drift to the right after it has hit the head pin.

Al Demaree has prepared an illustrated leaflet on "Improving Bowling Delivery" which he will gladly send to any reader requesting it. Address Al Demaree in care of this paper and be sure to enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Prince George Hockey Team Downs Maccabees

MERRITT, B. C., Feb. 22.—Following up their smashing victory over Merritt on Thursday, Prince George puckchasers downed Vancouver MacCabees here on Saturday in the first game of the B. C. intermediate playdowns by a 5-2 score.

The Vancouver squad were completely "at sea" in the smaller ice sheet, with plenty of speed and tricky combination. It was quite evident that they felt crowded, and the bullet shots of Franks and Drake went wide of their mark. At the same time Prince George are a real snappy aggregation and a team to be reckoned with on any ice.

Jamaica Cricketers Make Game History

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Feb. 22. (AP)—Cricket history was written here today when the team of the Colony of Jamaica scored 702 runs for the loss of only five wickets against a powerful team of English cricketers, and declared their first innings closed at that point.

The Englishmen, a collection of county and international players, gathered for the trip under the captaincy of Lord Tennyson, responded with 185 runs for the loss of three wickets before darkness ended play for the day. The match will continue until Wednesday evening. The Englishmen found themselves facing the disgrace of a first innings defeat unless they solved the bowling of their hosts tomorrow and Wednesday.

Married Hockey Players Would Play Single Men

Believing that they can take the measure of the single men in the city the married men are issuing a challenge to them at a hockey battle before ice finally gives way to spring's sunshine.

Ed Neff is handling the affairs of the married men and if the single men have a team he will bring arrangements to a head.

RED UNIONS TO ORGANIZE FOR WORLD FIGHT

Moscow's Second Task Is to Array Labor Everywhere Against Middle Classes

MOSCOW, Feb. 22.—Most of the talk in Soviet Russia is about internal problems—questions of industry, agriculture and the like. But there is also another trend—how to unite workers all over the world in the struggle against what they call the bourgeois ruling classes.

The annual meeting of the profintern, or International Union of Red Trade Unions, has just come to a close and has adopted a set of resolutions as to how this should be brought about.

At the meeting were representatives from "Red Trade Unions" in Japan, China, America, Germany, and other big countries.

They were told that they must never slacken their efforts for a moment in organizing the working masses of their respective countries along the lines set forth for them by the parent organization in Moscow.

The parent organization, sometimes referred to as "The Red Hand of Moscow" in the European and American Press, outlined 12 major problems, or working rules, for the branch organizations.

The resolution said that the chief problem is to mobilize the working masses against the bourgeoisie; to unite them for a struggle for improvided living conditions and eventually a struggle for Communism. The chief tools of this struggle, the resolution states, will be mass political strikes to undermine the "bourgeois governments."

The resolution goes on that the primary work of the Profintern sections should be a systematic and continuous struggle to prevent any lowering in the conditions of the workers, which includes the prevention of wage cuts. Thus, it says, because if the confidence of the workers is not gained the Profintern cannot hope to prepare them for the overthrow of Capitalism.

The second point says that the Profintern sections must impress the workers with the fact that if they do not struggle their situations will grow steadily worse.

The third says that the vast army of unemployed must be organized into a solid unit and not be allowed to remain a loose mass of separate individuals. This, the resolution states, is one of the most pressing of the immediate problems.

The fourth point has to do with work in factories. It says that often revolutionary workers are chased out of factories by spies and police and for that reason tend to seek easier fields to sow their propaganda. But, it continues, "Factories are forts to be stormed by the working class . . . this was, is, and will be the most important problem in all countries, whether Red Union are legal, half-legal, or illegal."

Further points deal with the organization of more Red Unions, enlistment of women and youth, education of members, and close contact with the parent union here.

88 SQUADRONS FORM BRITISH FORCE IN AIR

New Day Bombers Added; Force Small But Most Efficient

LONDON, Feb. 22.—(CP)—Two new Royal Air Force squadrons equipped with the Hawker "Hart" day bombers which set new standards of speed, rate of climb and general flying performance when they were first supplied to the service, will be added to the British Air fleet during this first quarter of 1932. Stationed respectively at Upper Heyford, Oxfordshire, and Netheravon, Wiltshire the new units, which began to form last October, have been allotted the numbers 18 and 57, reviving the identity the drastic reduction of the Royal Air Force soon after the war.

These two units will bring the total strength of the Royal Air Force up to 88 squadrons, including cooperation squadrons and flying boat units, and 13 Auxiliary Air Force and "cadre" (or skeleton) squadrons that properly cannot be counted with the first line formations.

Eight squadrons are serving in India, five in Egypt and the Sudan, four in Iraq, one in Transjordan and Palestine, one at Aden, and one at Singapore. The strength of Britain's home defence air fleet is, with the new additions, only 42 squadrons—10 less than scheme of 1924 In numbers of first-line aircraft the British fleet is far below the air arms of other leading powers, though much of the numerical deficiency is undoubtedly counter-balanced by the skill of the British fighting pilot and the unrivalled efficiency of his equipment.

LADY SPIES IN WORLD WAR HAD LOTS OF NERVE

Used Many Methods for Getting News Through to Own People

MONTREAL, Que., Feb. 22.—(CP) The popular myth of Mata Hari, as a woman of superior intelligence was exploded by Major Coulson, late of the Royal Irish Rifles who did espionage work during the war, when he addressed the People's Forum here recently.

The title of "Queen of Spies" should go to the German Maria Ann Lessor. She had huge success before the war during which she directed the espionage system for the Fatherland, but ended up a drug addict and was now in an asylum in Switzerland. Mme. Grenadier was one of the best spies working for the Germens. It was noticed, he said, that she adopted many French boys as godsons but no two of them were in the same sector. Examination of their letters showed she was getting information but it could not be discovered by the French how she was getting it out of the country or how her instructions came in. Finally a woman, who is still alive and whom the speaker called Emma, noticed that the barber who did Mme. Grenadier's hair once a month put his tongs through a lighted candle before putting them away. They became smudged and the woman scratched on them with a pin. This was a method which no man could ever have unearthed, the speaker pointed out.

The greatest girl spy in the war Louise de Bettignies, a native of Lille, who found herself behind the German lines when they advanced beyond that city. It was decided that communication must be established with friends beyond and Louise volunteered to get letters through. She wore a voluminous underskirt on which three hundred letters were written in invisible ink. She was detected by the British as a spy and it was suggested that she join the British secret service as an excuse to keep in touch with her. She agreed and soon turned out to be one of the most valuable agents. She become so contemptuous of the German officials that she carried documents in her handbag and often in her hands. They never thought of looking in such places. She was eventually caught for having six identity cards and was sentenced to death. This was commuted to life imprisonment with the offer of a pardon and internment in Switzerland if she would undertake to cease her spy work. This she refused and was imprisoned in Germany. She died three days before the armistice was signed. In Cologne, later, an army Chaplain found her grave. Her body was disinterred and given full military honors. On the cushion which rode behind the hearse, were the Distinguished Service Order, the Military Cross an the Cross of the Legion of Honor, Major Coulson said.

He who laughs last is usually the dumbest.

ENEFITS FOR LL SHOULD BE IM AT OTTAWA

homas Asks That Hagling Spirit Be Replaced by Cooperation

TTAWA MEET MAY BE TURNING POINT

athan's Amendment Is Regarded as an Insult to Dominions

LONDON, Feb. 23 (C P cable)—on't let us go to Ottawa in a ggling spirit, but let us go and e what we can throw in the mmonspool for the benefit of l, was the appeal made by Rt. on. J. H. Thomas, secretary for he dominions, in the house of ommons this afternoon.

The house in committee was dissing the government's new tariff ll, and the minister reproached ajor R. L. Nathan, free-trade beral and secretary of the Cobden ub, for the terms of an amendnt which he moved.

Major Nathan's amendment would ovide that the 10 per cent imrial preference should only be ven to the dominions, India and uthern Rhodesia provided they admitted goods of the United Kingdom e of duty. The government's bill empts empire produce from the neral 10 per cent duty until after e imperial conference.

Rt. Hon. Mr. Thomas said it was finals to suggest the dominions ould be treated the same way as reign countries. It was out of the estion to ask the dominions to regard their own industries, he clared.

The secretary for the dominions ntinued to criticise the amendnt until Major Nathan arose and nted that he had insulted the doniens. He was thinking of Briin first, he said.

Outside those associated with Maj- Nathan's amendment, Mr. Thomsepilled, everyone looked forward the Ottawa conference as perhaps turning point in imperial policy. ody would minimize the difficies, but if everyone believed in e conference as vital to the future the empire, they should surely do erything possible to create a good mosphere.

WOOL PROTECTION URGE FOLLOWED BY LONG DEBATE

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb 22.(C.P.)—A duty on raw wool that would reasonably protect the Canadian wool growers was urged in the House of Commons in a resolution introduced today by J. B. Swanston, (Cons., Maple Creek.) The resolution brought on a debate which was still in progress when the house rose at six o'clock. Several Conservative members from Alberta and one United Farmer, (William Irvine of Wetaskwin,) supported the proposal while it was opposed by Miss Agnes MacPhail, (U. F. C., Grey South East.)

Lack of Guiding Influence and Minimum Price Adjustments, Factors

CANADIAN EXPORTS TO BRITAIN INCREASE

LONDON, Feb. 23 (C P cable)—British imports of Canadian canned and bottled tomatoes increased from 726 hundredweight in 1927 to 5960 hundredweight in 1931, declared Malcolm MacDonald, under-secretary for the dominions today in the house of commons. The empire marketing board, he added, will continue to do everything in its power to encourage the sale of these and similar products of home and empire origin.

PASS FOUR MORE CLAUSES ON THE NEW TRADE BILL

Liberals Attack; Duty to Dominion Not Due Until After Conference

LONDON, Feb. 22.—(CP Cable)—Despite attacks from the free trade Liberals, the house of commons in committee this afternoon urged without division to four more clauses of the government's new trade bill.

These were clause four, which provides the new 10 per cent duty is not applicable to goods from the dominions until after the Ottawa imperial conference; clause five giving similar preference to the colonies; clause six and clause seven, exempting certain foreign goods.

Rt. Hon. Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, repeated the governments pledge not to conclude any negotiations with foreign countries before the Imperial conference.

BUSINESS QUIET UPON PRAIRIES

Egg Market Stiffens; Combing Goes on in Fraser Valley

VICTORIA, Feb. 22.—The district agriculturist in the Fraser valley reports that lambing is general in that district and has been going on since the first of the month. Good percentages are reported, and while the weather is cold, it is dry and warm during the day time. This is about six weeks earlier than formerly and shows that the breeders are making a definite effort to produce earlier lambs, realizing the importance of having their lambs ready to market before the lambs from the ranges and prairie provinces come on the market. This is in line with the definite policy and program as advocated by the markets branch and the live stock branch during the past two seasons.

VANCOUVER — There are no changes of any account in the fruit and vegetable list from last week. Potatoes continue to move to Oriental ports. Some lots grade No. 1, but most shipments are No. 2. A shipment of onions was made to Manila this week. Carrots continue to move to Southern California points. The hay and feed list remains unchanged for the past several weeks. The egg market continues to stiffen.

CALGARY—Business is quiet. The weather is clear and mild. Local supplies of cabbage and carrots are cleaned up. Calgary jobbers are drawing heavily from Edmonton district of these commodities, and the shipping point price has advanced to $15 per ton. A fine car of Stayman Winesaps in bulk, from Salmon Arm, was unloaded this week. Further cars of Rome Beauty in bulk are due to arrive. The bulk movement is having a disastrous effect on wrapped apples.

SASKATOON — Weather moderating and considerable shipping is being done to country points. Business is fair to good, with all commodities moving fairly freely, especially vegetables. B. C. arrivals consist of one car each of Rome Beauty, in open boxes, and cold storage fancy McIntosh also a car of onions. The car of McIntosh arrived in very good condition and was shipped without heat. The great care taken in loading the car was well repaid by good condition on arrival and the saving in heating charges. The wholesale price of B. C. forced rhubarb has been lowered and the demand is increasing.

SEATTLE—The arrival of a car of Imperial valley spinach has relieved the scarcity today. The quality is fair and demand moderate at $3.75. California bunched carrot supplies are moderate with demand good at $4.25 for best stock. Local sacked carrots are quoted at $1 and washed carrots in apple boxes at 75c to $1. The onion market is firmer. Oregon onions are selling at $5 to $5.25, and the Yakima product at $4.50. It is estimated that 120 cars of onions are left in Oregon, with light supplies held in Yakima. Cabbage prices are higher.

DUTY ON RAW WOOL FAVORED BY COMMONS

Resolution Passed Calling for Reasonable Protection

B.C. INTERESTED IN WOOL INDUSTRY

Sterling Believes Industry Is Capable of Expansion if Helped

OTTAWA, Feb. 22 (CP)—The house of commons favors a duty on raw wool entering Canada. Climaxing a day-long debate, a resolution was passed tonight, 77 to 32, calling for a tariff "that would reasonably protect the Canadian wool growers."

Conservatives as a whole voted for the resolution. It found a measure of support also from the other parties and groups. F. G. Sanderson, Perth south and Dr. F. W. Gershaw, Medicine Hat, two Liberals, endorsed it, disregarding the dominant party vote. Three members of the "ginger group" William Irvine, Wetaskiwin; Michael Luchkovitch, Vegreville, and D. M. Kennedy, Peace River, supported the proposal for a duty. A. W. Neil, Independent from Comox-Alberni also voted for it.

Conditions in the wool industry in Canada were at a low ebb, succeeding government supporters declared. Duty against raw wool they contended, would raise prices and place the industry on its feet.

A duty on raw wool, contended Liberals, would result in over-production because every farmer would rush into sheep raising. Falling prices would result and the industry eventually would be in worse condition than today.

B. C. INTERESTED

OTTAWA, Feb. 22 (CP)—British Columbia was much interested in the wool industry and he was prepared to give his support to any move that would protect it, J. A. Fraser, (Cons. Cariboo) stated on resuming the debate after the dinner recess.

Of the 1,103,000 pounds of wool produced in British Columbia last year, 65 per cent had to be exported to Great Britain, he said. It was processed there and doubtless a great deal of the cloth shipped back to Canada, while the manufacturers here were importing the same grade of raw material from other countries.

NO PLANTS IN CANADA

There were no scouring or combing plants in Canada, said Mr. Fraser, and he believed that a tariff on raw wool would result in more of the product being fabricated in this country.

Wool had been imported into Canada to the extent of $33,000,000 worth last year, and in much great quantities in previous years, said Mr. Fraser. The home producers should supply a great deal of that demand.

Support for the resolution came from Grote Sterling (Cons. Yale-Cariboo). No industry existed in Canada which was so capable of expansion as the sheep-raising industry. He believed, however, that until something was done for the wool grower, the industry would languish.

"Officher I'm looking for a parkin' plache," said the stew on foot.

"But you've got no car."

"Oh, yeah I have; it's in the parkin' plache I'm lookin' for."

MONTREAL CURB TURNS IRREGULAR

MONTREAL, Feb. 22.—Prices on the Montreal curb market turned irregular today. In the miscellaneous section three gains and three losses were recorded, and with one exception all were fractional. Trading was fairly active. Losses were general in the mining division.

Imperial Oil, the active leader, gained ⅛ at 10, as did Distillers-Seagram at 7. Hiram Walker was up ⅛ at 31¾. Catelli Macaroni "A" preferred lost a point at 10, while Imperial Tobacco at 7⅛ was off ⅛. Beauharnois Power eased ⅛ at 1⅞.

In the mining section Noranda lost 15 cents at $16.35; Siscoe dropped a cent at 60 cents; while Moss at 39 cents and Sullivan at 9¼ cents were both down ½ cent.

WHEAT UPSWING CARRIED ON IN WINNIPEG TRADE

Stimulus Supplied by Reports of Vancouver Export; Market Is Quiet

WINNIPEG, Feb. 22. (CP)—Aided by moderate export, wheat prices easily absorbed some light profit-taking on the grain market here today to retain early advances, and close another session of unswing. Values at the finish of a rather quiet market were ⅛ to ¾ cent above Saturday's close.

In a market curtailed by the holiday in the United States, May and July futures each advanced ⅝ cent at 67⅜ and 69¼ to 69¼, respectively. October delivery gained ⅝ to ¾ cent at 71⅛ to 71¼.

Reports of some export business worked at Vancouver supplied the stimulus for the uprising. Advices from Broomhall indicated Italy had raised its foreign wheat quota sharply. This was not officially confirmed, however.

Cash grains continued their independent trends of past weeks, and though some spreads were fractionally higher, closing differences were generally unchanged. Coarse grain futures lacked feature and prices followed the action of wheat in a dull market.

Coffee, Cheese, Fish, Alcoholic Beverage Imports Are Down

OTTAWA, Feb. 22 (CP)—An encouraging feature of the imports last month, as revealed by the summary for January, issued by the Dominion bureau of statistics, was the increase noted in some raw products. Raw silk increased from $532,000 in January, 1931, to $768,000 last month. Woollen yarn from $389,000 to $412,000, crude petroleum from $2,131,000 to $2,336,000, fertilizers from $95,000 to $117,000 Manila and sisal grass from $150,000 to $207,000.

Importation of butter dropped from $154,000 to $4000, cheese from $25,000 to $21,000, fish from $249,000 to $122,000, alcoholic beverages from $2,340,000 to $1,406,000, coffee from $343,000 to $324,000, fruit from $1,110,000 to $862,00, the chief decline being in fruit from the United States which fell from $946,00 to $822,000.

B.C. PIONEER DIES AT VANCOUVER

VANCOUVER, Feb. 22 (CP)—British Columbia lost another of her pioneer residents late Sunday night in the death of William Henry Wall, aged 74, at his home on Harwood street.

Sixty-eight years ago the deceased landed at Victoria. The voyage from his native town of Staffordshire, England, in the square rigger Knight Bruce extended over a period of six months.

Australia, pound	3.1356
France, franc	.0447
Great Britain, pound	3.9313
Italy, lire	.0591

VANCOUVER LIST TRADE CONFINED TO SIX STOCKS

VANCOUVER, Feb. 22. (CP)—Trading was confined to a half dozen issues on the Vancouver stock exchange today in the dullest session this year, Lorne Gold, with a turnover of 3640 shares, was responsible for half of the 16,800 shares transacted during the session, and showed a fractional gain to 14½ cents.

Sherrit Gordon, up 1 at 50 cents, was the only active issue to show a change in price level.

Reno Gold, next to Lorne in point of activity, sold up to 20 cents but eased to 18 at the close, unchanged.

MONTREAL HAS QUIET SESSION

Bell Telephone Drops 9 Points and Dominion Textile 8 1-4 From Their "Pegs"

MONTREAL, Feb. 22 (CP)—Removal of "pegged" or minimum prices today on a number of issues on the Montreal stock exchange, and lowering of minimum prices on others, brought out two chief points of interest.

Bell Telephone slumped sharply to 107½ in free trading and rallied to close at 110, off 9 points from its "peg," while Dominion Textile dropped to a low of 84 and a close at 85, off 8¼ points. Otherwise the list was quiet with British Columbia Power, Steel of Canada and Montreal Steel Car, newly restored to the free list, showing fractional losses.

Canadian Pacific and Brazilian Traction held unchanged while International Nickel climbed ⅛ at 9⅛.

Four gains and seven losses were shown on the total trading of 3366 shares.

Other losses were: Consolidated Smelter, off 1 at 69; McColl-Frontenac, off ⅛ at 9¾; National Steel Car, off ⅛ at 9⅛ and Steel of Canada, off ⅜ at 21¼.

Cement preferred, up ⅛ at 84. Dominion Steel and Coal "B" up ⅛ at 3½ and Canadian Industrial Alcohol, up ⅛ at 7⅛, were issues to gain ground.

Tourist (having looked over historic castle, to butler)—"We've made a stupid mistake. I tipped his lordship instead of you."

Butler—"That's awkward. I'll never get it now."

Many a self-made man quit work too soon.

Build Up Your Business with NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING

Selling Ice to Eskimos!

Advertising should serve two purposes—sell something for the advertiser, and give the public news about something that will be of value to it. Advertising that does this must be measured to fit exact requirements. It must be planned, prepared and displayed in such a way that it will be seen by the people who constitute the most suitable prospects for sales.

The first requisite in preparing such advertising is a thorough knowledge of the product or service to be advertised; the second, a thorough knowledge of the requirements of the people to whom the advertising is to be directed.

There is little profit in trying to sell ice to Eskimos, diamonds to beggars, shoddy bargains to millionaires.

Slipshod advertising, prepared in the happy-go-lucky spirit of "Let's get out an ad," usually records a sad, sad tale on the sales sheet.

VERNON ENTERS B. C. FINALS BY WIN OVER TRAIL

Trail Wins Second Game 3-2 But Vernon's Lead in First Game Tells

STICKY ICE TO TRAIL LIKING

Trail Excels in One-Man Rushes; Vernon Combination Fails

VERNON, B. C., Feb. 22—Vernon enters the finals against Prince George by reason of a victory over Trail this evening which makes hockey history. A one goal lead was all that Vernon could manage and this in overtime, with less than a minute to play. Trail won the game 3-2 but Vernon's 4-2 victory on Saturday night gave them a 6-5 lead on the round and the right to meet Prince George on Wednesday night.

The ice was hard but very sticky. Sticky ice was Trail's advantage and the Smokeaters were not slow in demonstrating that they excel in one-man rushes. Vernons' beautiful combination plays failed to materialize and in the first period overskating the puck was the feature.

In their report there was only one change suggested, that is in the case of more than one to three families on one water service. It was suggested that a new rate be $2.50 per year for one family, an additional $1 for the second family and 75 cents for the third family on the same service, or a total of $4.25 all told.

Under the old system the rate was $2.50 for each family.

ROSSLAND SCHOOL BOAR DSUBMITS 1932 ESTIMATES

This Year's Estimates Over $1000 Less Than Those of Last Year

ROSSLAND, B. C., Feb. 22.—School board estimates for 1932 were presented to the council this evening, and included the following items: Teachers' salaries, $23,100; janitors' salaries, $2800; incidentals, $5270. This year's estimate was over $1000 less than that of 1931. These will be considered by the council and reported on at the first meeting in March.

The question as to whether the employees of the city should be included in the 10 per cent wage cut will be reconsidered by the board of works and a recommendation brought in at the next meeting.

A brokerage firm at the coast wrote offering British Columbia bonds at an attractive figure, and the finance committee will consider investing some of the $20,000 which the city has in its sinking fund.

The council endorsed a resolution from the city of Cranbrook asking that managers of banks be authorized to reveal the financial standing of applicants for direct relief. City Clerk J. A. McLeod stated that up to now there had been very little call for direct relief from Rossland, but that a number of applications were now coming in. Council instructed the clerk to inquire how such cases were being handled in Trail, and to make inquiries from the department of the provincial secretary.

OIL COMPANY'S PROFITS ARE UP FOR YEAR

A. L. Ellsworth, president, told shareholders the regular quarterly dividend of 10 cents a share for the first three months of 1932 would be paid on April 1.

Yearly Physical Examination for Nurses Suggested

VANCOUVER, B. C., Feb. 22.—Physical examination of nurses at least twice a year was suggested by Dr. G. M. Weir of the University of British Columbia, in addressing the opening session of the refresher course for institutional nurses, being held under auspices of the Graduate Nurses' Association of B. C., here today.

"Physical welfare of the nurse has often been given little consideration, and, although 60 per cent of them in Canada are healthy all the time, many become victims of tuberculosis," he said.

General Moratorium Is Not Contemplated States R. H. Pooley

Amending Legislation to Give Relief in Certain Cases Made

VICTORIA, Feb. 22. — While no reference has been made in the house yet as to the proposed moratorium legislation at this session, Attorney-general Pooley has explained that no blanket powers would be sought, and that nothing in the nature of a general morotorium was contemplated.

Discussion, said Mr. Pooley, had been given to the proposals that amending legislation be put forward to give relief in certain cases, but through a full disclosure of all attendant circumstances to a judge in the courts, and only at his discretion. This, it is argued, would meet the case of those who through special circumstances were unable to meet principal payments, though able to pay interest and keep up taxes on the property involved. Where bona fides could be established to the satisfaction of the courts, discretion powers might apply to a postponement of principal payments for a year, with adequate safeguards against abuse.

Mr. Pooley is expected to develop the proposal more fully when he speaks to it in the house. His present purpose, he said, was to deny that any general moratorium was being considered.

TRAIL-TADANAC HOSPITAL GRANT INCREASED $6000

COMMENT IS MADE BY PASSENGERS OF STRIFE IN ORIENT

Tell of Bombing of the Woosung Fort; Would Not Have Missed It

VICTORIA, B. C., Feb. 22.—(CP)—Passengers arriving here today in the Empress of Asia told of passing within a few hundred yards of the forts of Woosung as the bombing of that place was in progress on February 7. The planes came very low and after dropping their loads of explosives on the forts, zoomed up over the masts of the passenger liner. It was a thrilling trip down the river, but judging from the passengers' comments, none of them would have missed the experience.

The Empress of Russia, bound from Vancouver and Victoria to Hong Kong, loaded hundreds of Chinese at Shanghai, Asia passengers reported. Both Chinese and Japanese refugees were fleeing, the Japanese residents of Hongkew having completely evacuated that section by the time heavy fighting started. The Japanese residents swarmed aboard passenger steamers plying between Shanghai and Nagasaki and the steamer Dairan Maru was also pressed into service to carry Japanese nationals back to Japan.
