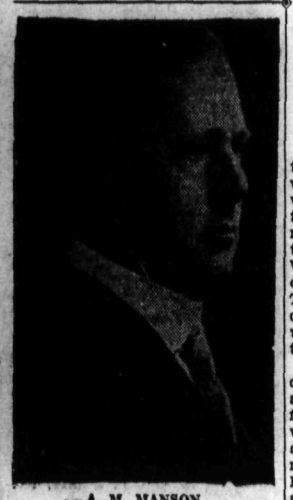
Alex Manson Tells of Mill Plans at Ymir - Goodenough



A. M. MANSON

100-Ton Mill Will Be Later Stepped to 400

Plans involving the early construction of a 100-ton mill equipment, with initial capacity of 50 tons, and with the ultimate expansion to a 400-ton plant at the Ymir-Goodenough mines were announced in Nelson yesterday by Alex M. Manson, K.C., of Vancouver, who is president of the company operating the properties. The Goodenough is a regular shipper of gold ore, with some silver and zinc values, to Tadanac. The mine is under the management of O. D. Frith.

It consists of the amalgamation of two properties, the Goodenough and the once famous Ymir mines, from which about $7,000,000 in gold was produced. This production occurred in the old days before modern metallurgical and milling practises had been developed. At that time only about 65 per cent of the values were obtained from the ore. Present-day milling and flotation practises will enable a saving of around 95 per cent to be attained, Mr. Manson mentioned.

Huge ore bodies of a lower grade than could be mined profitably in the early days are available in the Ymir mine as the original company simply took out the cream of the ore. To operate profitably these large bodies it is considered that a 400-ton mill will be required.

Involved in the plans for early construction of a 50-ton mill and looking toward the larger 400-ton a day operations is a large scheme of development, so as to ensure adequate supplies of ore for the mill. Mr. Manson believes that the major plan can be put into effect in two or three years.

He emphasized the immense differences in gold mining operations from a profit-making standpoint which had been brought about by two main factors—improvement in metallurgical and milling practises and the $34 an ounce premium on gold.

BOMBS ANSWER DOLLFUSS DEFY

Three Premises Are Bombed and Two Are Injured

VIENNA, July 19 (AP).—Bombers got busy today after the expiration of Chancellor Dollfuss' ultimatum requiring surrender of explosives under threat of the death penalty.

The five-day period of grace for terrorists—said by the government to be Nazis—ended at midnight, and three hours later a terrific blast wrecked the upper section of the Nordkitte cable railway, connecting Innsbruck with the mountain top.

The police riding school at Vienna was bombed, and two pedestrians were injured.

The Fatherland Front (government party) headquarters at Vorarlberg also were blasted.

FRENCH CABINET FATE UNKNOWN

PARIS, July 19 (AP).—A knock-down political fight between right and left members today brought the "truce government" of Premier Gaston Doumergue near a crisis.

The dead hand of Serge Stavisky stirred up a storm which threatened to split the ranks of the cabinet wide open.

Former Premier Andre Tardieu, who charged the party of his fellow-minister, Edouard Herriot, knew about the Stavisky swindles, was represented as insisting he will stay in the cabinet as long as Herriot does.

The Radical Socialists, Herriot's party, meanwhile, were demanding Tardieu be removed.

A special meeting of the cabinet was called for tomorrow.

TURKEY PROBES SHOOTING OF A BRITISH SAILOR

ANKARA, Turkey, July 19.—(CP-Havas)—The special commission of inquiry sent by the Turkish government to investigate the shooting by the Turkish sentry of the British naval officer, Lieut. J. W. Robinson, last Saturday, was on its way today to Judadasi to make an exhaustive examination into the shooting.

Robinson was fired at by a sentry while in a rowboat off the Turkish coast opposite the island of Samos. His body has not been found.

Four Intercity Games for Sunday

Woodbutchers to Meet Hume; Girls Game

Plans are under way for the Woodbutchers men's softball team of Trail to meet the local Hume Hotel nine for the intercity championship. If present plans are successful the Trail club will come to Nelson on Sunday evening, which will give local fans four intercity games in one day. The local ladies softball nine is playing a double-header with the combined Trail-Rossland team, and the Nelson seniors play the Colville, Washington, nine.

Due to the Savoy Hotel teams management stating that it is impossible to field a strong enough team for outside competition until late in August the Woodbutchers and Hume team have practically agreed to go ahead with a series and are agreeable to meeting any regular challenge after the present series should the Savoy team wish to meet the winners.

Tents Up for Annual Big Picnic of Trail Workers

PICNIC TENTS NOW ERECTED LAKESIDE PARK

Parks Committee Has Special Seating for Bands

CITY WHARF TO BE ROPED OFF

Four Special Trains to Carry Trail-Rossland Folk

While tents and booths arose at Lakeside park, erected by the advance party from Trail, which ended the day well ahead of its schedule, arrangements of all other parties in connection with the fourth annual picnic of employees of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company of Canada, to be held here Saturday, were reported Thursday to be complete to the last detail.

This applied to the Canadian Pacific, which will handle four trains between the Metal Cities and Nelson, each way; to the city's arrangements, which cover park service, policing, and street railway service; and to the board of trade committee which is organizing the guest-car service.

TENTS ERECTED

The Trail advance party, of the identical personnel that performed the same service last year, consists of Vice-Chairman Joe Hart, W. Savage, W. Wheat, J. Dawson, F. Buscumb, and "Rusty" O'Sullivan. It spent the afternoon at Lakeside park, and had the services of a Consolidated truck to bring over the tenting. Both committee and truck are here till the affair is over.

Two of the six tents brought over—a big brown marquee and a brown "A" tent—were newly purchased for the committee. Beside the six tents, which were erected, four booths, from which the free ice cream and soft drinks provided by the Trail committee will be dispensed to the picnic children by the ticket plan, were staked and framed. A watchman from Nelson is doing night guard at the tents.

Arrangements for the rest room will be made today by the Nelson Kinsmen's club.

PARK COMMITTEE BUSY

At a meeting of the parks committee, held Thursday afternoon at the city hall, under the chairmanship of Alderman T. W. Slader, with Alderman Ross Fleming and Mayor S. H. Smythe the others present, arrangements were made for 10 men from the city works department to do special service during the day—three on the street cars, to assist embarkation and debarkation; two to act on the hot water detail; three to assist in directing traffic; and two to be additional lifeguards.

The committee also arranged for special park seating, to accomodate the four bands, including three from the Metal Cities, that will be doing duty.

For check-room purposes, the entire upper story of the pavilion has been set apart; and extra shelving put in. The Nelson check-room will operate as at present, with Miss Vera Holiday on duty, and the rest of the room will be turned over to the Trail committee, which is to have three checkers working.

Three street cars will be operating throughout the day, the free tickets donated by the city of Nelson having been sent some time ago to the Trail committee, for distribution on the trains.

ROPE OFF WHARF

During the day the city wharf will be roped off, and only those admitted to it who hold tickets for the steamer excursions, which will be a feature of the afternoon.

Chief of Police Alex Stewart will have the use of 14 men Saturday—his own force of four, every man of whom will work two shifts, two constables from Tadanac municipality, one constable of the Trail city force, three officers to be loaned by the British Columbia police and four specials.

A check-up of board of trade arrangements Thursday by L. H. Choquette and D. L. Kerr, and President R. W. Hinton, composing the committee on guest-cars, showed a very large number promised. An endeavor is being made to allot the "periods of duty" so that there will not be a shortage at any time.

Mayor S. H. Smythe, in conference with Messrs. Hart and Savage Thursday night, suggested a "walking information service" for Saturday. This will be adopted, and a large number of Nelsonites—50 is the number talked of—will wear badges, to indi-

CANADIAN EXPORTS $12 MILLIONS, JUNE

Whiskey Exports Away Up; Wheat Movements Are Up; Expanding Needs of Empire Countries Contribute to the Gain

OTTAWA, July 19 (CP)—Canadian exports in June increased $12,000,000 over the same month a year ago, due largely to expanding requirements of British Empire countries markets, the Dominion bureau of statistics announced today.

Whiskey exports to the United Kingdom in June totalled $393,000 as compared with $24,000 in the same period a year ago. Total whiskey exports for the month were $436,000 as compared with $281,000 last year.

The value of wheat exports in June increased to $14,367,000 from $ .021,-000. Other increases in the total value of commodities exported during June, were:

Rubber, including tires and footwear, $1,029,000 from $539,000; vegetables, $322,000 from $231,000; fruits $206,000 from $150,000.

Cattle exports rose from $363,000 to $475,000, most of the animal going as usual to the United Kingdom.

FISH INDUSTRY BUSY

There was also a large increase in fish from $1,736,000 to $2,189,000, the United States and Great Britain being the large buyers. Meats increased from $1,148,000 to $2,053,000, almost all of this going to the British market; unmanufactured leather from $281,000 to $350,000; binder twine from $240,000 to $300,000, chiefly owing to larger requirement by Great Britain; cotton from $81,000 to $176,-000.

Quiet Reigns in Germany as Work of the Reorganization of Storm Troops Goes On Vacation Season Takes the Limelight But Nazi Party Active

BERLIN, July 19 (AP).—With the vacation season well under way and the weather extremely warm, the Nazi government today was observing a moratorium on public political activity.

Where two or three weeks ago one communique followed on the heels of another and one speech crowded the next, the press and meeting halls of Germany now have become void of political talk.

The government and the Nazi party are not inactive, however.

The government has a number of pressing problems, including the propects of dwindling food supplies, finances, unemployment relief and the various effects of the heat wave.

There are numerous intra-party conferences among Nazi leaders who are bending their efforts toward restoring the shattered reputation of the storm troopers.

There is also evidence considerable internal reorganization is taking place within the party.

Plans for the storm troop reorganization, it was stated on good authority, are being inspected by officers of the reichswehr (regular army) in order to guard against the Brown Shirt organization ever again attempting to usurp military functions, as allegedly was done in the "Roehm revolt."

When told of a report Chancellor Hitler was a virtual prisoner of the reichswehr, one official remarked in that case he is a "strange prisoner." He referred to the fact the chancellor received the salute of a cavalry regiment at Zoosen drill field.

Wedding Thwarted at Gretna Green Is Done in Real Style; All Are Happy

LONDON, July 19 (CP cable).—Wedding bells rang in two countries today for a couple who two years ago eloped to Gretna Green and failed on that occasion to tie the nutial knot.

The bride was Joan Eve, grand-daughter of Mr. Justice Eve, 18 years of age, and the groom Thomas Hanbury, son of Cecil Hanbury, M.P., who is only 19 years old.

They made a romantic dash to the famous old smithy but were told they could not get married that time because they had not lived in Scotland for the requisite three weeks. They moved to Glasgow. The groom's parents dashed by airplane to Scotland and brought the couple back.

Mrs. Hanbury called it "a piece of youthful folly." Young Hanbury was sent on a big game hunt.

Today however the couple were married in style at fashionable St. Margaret's church in Westminster, and Mr. Justice Eve gave the bride away.

DEAF AND DUMB WOMAN VICTIM OF A MURDERER

Found Face Down at Foot of Bed in Seattle Room

DEAD APPARENTLY FOR THREE DAYS

Man Rented Room for Her; Disappeared After Paying Rent

SEATTLE, July 19 (AP)—A deaf and dumb woman, who had been taken to an apartment house here last Monday afternoon by a man who rented a room for her, was found lying on the floor of the room tonight, brutally murdered.

The apartment house manager, Mrs. Theresa Albrecht, had become alarmed because she had neither seen nor heard from the guest.

She summoned police, and they found the body lying face down at the foot of the bed, they said. The woman had apparently been killed by several blows on the back of the head with a blunt instrument. Her hat was matted with blood.

Her coat was on, as if she had just entered or intended leaving the room.

Chief Deputy Coroner Dr. W. E. Corson said she had been dead about three days.

Mrs. Albrecht quoted the man who rented the room as saying to her:

"I'll pay the rent for one week. If she leaves in the meantime find out where she is going. I'll be back."

He paid the rent and talked to the woman in sign language. She nodded.

The man, about 50 years old, was dressed like a laborer, and gave the name "Hendricks," Mrs. Albrecht said.

STREET CAR MAY GIVE WAY TO BUS

Expect London, Ont., Company to Ask Permission Make Substitution

LONDON, Ont., July 19.—A proposal from London Street Railway officials to substitute busses for existing street car lines is expected in municipal circles when the franchise agreement comes before the City council next year for renewal. The present agreement will expire on March 31, 1935.

Leonard Tait, manager of the street railway, did not care to discuss this possibility at the present time but when asked if it would be considered with the renewal of the agreement he said: "It might be".

The reason for city officials believing that the L. S. R. management would eventually move to eliminate street cars altogether was due to the fact that the company has been spending little on the electric lines and equipment. New busses are being added each year leading to the opinion that an all-bus system might be expected.

Two Bodies to Work on Tourist Industry, Canada

OTTAWA, July 19 (CP).—No large expenditure on Canada's tourist attractions will be made this year, but from now until the new year active preparations will be made to engage in a campaign during 1935 for the purpose of stimulating tourist traffic in Canada.

Hon. R. J. Manion, minister of railways, under whose jurisdiction the new Dominion tourist bureau has been placed, announced today that two commissions would be set up. One would consist of civil servants and the other of representative Canadians. D. Leo Dolan, director of the New Brunswick provincial tourist bureau, has been appointed director of the Dominion bureau.

RAMSAY WILL NOT PLAY GOLF

Can't Follow Ball; Decries Talk of British Vote

By C. R. BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

QUEBEC, July 19 (CP)—Seeking health and relaxation in Canada's maritime provinces, Rt. Hon. J. Ramsay MacDonald and his daughter, Ishbel, arrived here today on the liner Duchess of Richmond, and told interviewers that talk of an immenent general election in Great Britain was "rubbish." He had divorced himself from political activities for two months, the prime minister said.

The 67-year-old prime minister appeared in excellent health and spirits as he greeted Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, prime minister of Canada.

"I have said on previous occasions," Mr. MacDonald said, "that Canada was very dear to me. Now I am proving to you I meant what I said." He left by motor for Sherbrooke where he will board a special car attached to the Saint John train, and will be in Digby, N.S., at noon tomorrow.

Mr. MacDonald was accompanied by a stalwart secret service man, Inspector Allum of Scotland Yard.

"I have not brought my golf clubs," Mr. MacDonald said, regretfully. "My eyes have been troubling me and I cannot follow the ball in its flight. I can see to hit it and that's all. There will be no golf."

He expects to visit Newfoundland and possibly to sail from there for home at the end of his holiday.

"How is your circulation?" Mr. MacDonald asked a reporter, "is it keeping up all right these times?" The reporter assured him the newspaper business was flourishing.

"One of the mysteries of life is how the people keep on buying newspapers," Mr. MacDonald observed. "But that is only a British observation," he added laughing.

"It's a Hell of a Governor" Shouts Labor Leader

WILL ATTEMPT TO OPEN UP HARBOR

General Strike Off in San Francisco; Men Return to Work

PORTLAND, Ore., July 19 (AP)—The Portland strike strategy committee tonight voted to call a general strike here if national guard troops at Camp Withycombe are moved onto the Portland waterfront.

PORTLAND, Ore., July 19 (AP)—Eleven hundred members of the Oregon national guard tonight were ordered mobilized to "prevent loss of life and bloodshed" in event disorders result when shippers carry out their announced intention of opening the strike-bound port of Portland to world commerce tomorrow.

Governor Julius L. Meier ordered the mobilization at the "urgent request," he said, of citizens of the state and of shippers and producers of lumber and grain.

Earlier in the day, labor leaders had pledged Senator Robert F. Wagner it would use its influence to postpone the calling of a general strike in Portland until he could present information he had gathered here to the federal mediation board in San Francisco. The pledge, however, was contingent upon troops not being called out. Wagner arrived here this week as a representative of the White House.

"It's a hell of a governor we have," shouted Ben Osborne, executive secretary of the Oregon federation of labor, as he was advised of Governor Meier's action.

Osborne said the troop mobilization order released labor from its promise to withhold general strike action here.

Conrad Negstad, secretary of the International Longshoremens association refused comment except to state that the general strike "strategy" com-

TORONTO GIRL'S DEATH MYSTERY

"Lilac Bush" Slaying Has Police Guessing; May Be Servant Girl

TORONTO, July 19 (CP).—The "lilac bush" mystery drew the attention of scores of police tonight as they sought the slayer of a pretty girl whose body was found today off Blyghwood road, in north Toronto.

The girl whose age was placed at 23 or 25 years was still unidentified.

Her face was crushed, her ravished body bore a number of bruises and her clothes were ripped and torn.

Dr. E. R. Frankish, medico-legal authority, said he believed the girl had been dead 14 hours before the body was found. This would place the time of death about 2 a.m.

Four young boys made the discovery when they entered the bush for shelter from a rainstorm.

A blood-smeared stone that fitted into a hole in the ground near the girl's body was found. A few feet away were the tracks of an automobile.

Kimberley Names School Trustees

Burdett Reelected; J. Holland New Member; Raise Teachers' Salaries

KIMBERLEY, July 19—The annual school meeting was held in the public school building. The room was packed and many stood throughout the session. The attendance was greater than the past three years together.

E. M. Hughes was appointed chairman with Stanley Norton as secretary. The report of the auditor was read, showing the finances to be in a satisfactory condition.

The election of two school trustees, one for a year to take the place of D. D. Chisholm, who had resigned and one to take the place of N. W. Burdett whose term expired at the end of June. J. Holland was elected to the one year term. N. W. Burdett was elected for the three-year term.

A lively discussion took place regarding the introduction of manual training here. Letters were read from the department of education, stating that they would pay $666 a year toward the instructor's salary and also half the cost of installing the necessary equipment. The meeting would have been strong for this but for the teacher's salaries being cut 15 per cent last year and many thought this should be given back, at least in part, before any new expenses were incurred. It was finally decided to have the trustees get a detailed account of the amount necessary and present it to a meeting of taxpayers later.

RAISE TEACHERS' SALARIES

Teachers' salaries were discussed at length and it was decided that those who now received less than $1000 per year should get a 5 per cent increase and those who now get over $1000 a year should get a 3 per cent increase. It was pointed out that there will likely be required one less teacher than last year. As one at Chapman Camp had resigned it would not be necessary to dismiss any.

Stanley Norton was appointed auditor for the year ending June 30, 1935.

A vote of thanks was accorded the retiring trustees and T. Summers, who audited the books last year.

The five silver services and the big cup won by Joe McLay's team at Fernie are on display here, and are attracting much attention. Kimberley is proud of this team and the good work it has done the last two years. A lot of credit has been given to the instructor, H. Parsons.

TORONTO ADOPTS STREET DANCING

Young Folks Enjoy Pavement Programs at Centennial Celebration

TORONTO, (CP)—The city's centennial festivities have given a great fillip to the streets as far as colorful ceremonies are concerned. While the "old folks" streamed out of the exhibition grounds, tired and ready for sleep, thousands of young people who were in the grounds flocked over for street dancing.

Earlier in the evening there had been some old time dancing, but this didn't turn out to be as popular as the modern music from modern musicians. Up on the steps of the building was perched an orchestra playing into loud speaker equipment which could be heard plainly all over the large area of pavement.

Street dancing, being the novelty it is, didn't take right away. A few of the more daring of the girls and boys and young men and young women began to dance immediately the orchestra began to play.

Then suddenly, everybody who had a partner was dancing. Nothing to it. Not exactly like highly polished hardwood floors, or a floor on springs, but great fun with everybody gay and the carnival spirit contagious.

During the opening dances there were many unattached young people standing by looking on. That didn't seem right. Questioning glances would be exchanged—with each as anxious as the other—and pretty soon there weren't so many unattched girls and boys. When the "Cinderella" was over, no one wanted to go home.

Girl in the Family

By BEATRICE BURTON

CHAPTTR XXXIII

Wallace, who had spent hours in Uncle Worthy's little office, going through his desk, said that there would be nothing for Lutie and Edna except the money that the bank would turn over to them from the sale of the house and the apartment building. Morris Brodericks would receive practically nothing for he had borrowed more than what would have been his share long ago, and actually owed the estate several thousand dollars. In a pigeon-hole of Uncle Worthy's roll top desk, Wallace had found note after note that Morris had given Uncle Worthy for sums ranging from a hundred to two or three thousand dollars each. Notes that he had never paid.

"If I were you," Wallace said to Aunt Edna and Lutie, "I'd sell the furnture and all the silver in this house, keeping out just the things that you'll want for your new home when you get one. I'd sell it right away and settle down in a flat somewhere. It must cost a fortune just to heat this big place."

Susan saw the two women exchange a swift glance, and then Lutie spoke up with something like a return of her girlish brightness and vivacity.

"We had an idea," she said, "that if we could lay our hands on any ready money, we'd go away for the rest of the winter. We've had so much housekeeping that we're sick and tired of it, and you know how sick we've both been for weeks. We'd like to go down to Florida or to California where it's warm. I thought if I could just lie on a beach and bake that rheumatism out of my knee—"

"If we could just borrow a little money on the strength of what's coming to us when the places are sold!" Aunt Edna quickly interrupted the indelicate conversation about the knee. "Or on the money that we'll get from the sale of the furniture and the silver—Unless we could sell the things right away—" She left the sentence hanging in the air, and her eyes questioned Wallace.

"That sounds like a fine idea to me," he replied. "Tomorrow when the appraiser comes to look over the house for the bank, why don't you ask him to tell you what you ought to get from the sale of the things in the house? He might be able to tell you where to sell them, too."

Wallace stayed for supper, eating cold roast beef and celery and toast with great appetite, and afterward he came out into the kitchen to help Susan with the dishes. He tried to catch hold of her hands as she piled the plates and cups in the wire basket on the drainboard and told her that she was his girl, and that he wasn't going to let her get away from him. Not by a long chalk.

She hated everything about him. The gloss on his hair, the slight fullness of his cheeks when he smiled at her, the odor of spearmint gum on his breath, the purple and white checks in his satin tie. She found out then what every normal woman finds out some time during her life—that when she loves one man, any other man who woos her becomes at once the most objectionable and loathsome creature under the sun, so far as she is concerned.

"Wallace, I wish you'd go in and talk to the aunts," she said to him, pulling her hands away from him and putting them under the hot water as she rinsed a plate. "They love you to talk to them."

"And you don't?"

"Not right now. Not — at any time."

He went away and then, after a moment, he came back. He stood beside her and put his face down close to hers.

"Let me get this straight . . . Have you been letting me break my neck lately, straightening out your family's affairs, because you thought I wanted to do it—enjoyed doing a lot of extra work?—You knew I was doing it for you! Doing it because I thought youd forgotten all that hooey you told me at lunch that day!"

In the crack-up of his romance Wallace's polish was rubbed off entirely.

"Doggone you, Susan, you can't do this to me! Turn to me when you want me, and when you don't kick me out of the way like a yellow dog—" That was what he said: "Like a yellow dog." He paced up and down, an elegant and impressive figure of a man, saying inelegant and unimpressive things, flinging out his arms like an orator as he went from one end of the big kitchen to the other.

"I thought you were just looking after your bank in this," said Susan, "and I still think so. After all, what are you or the bank doing but selling us out, paying yourselves what we owe you and handing the rest to Aunt Edna and Lutie? — You're doing just what you did to that nice young couple when you bought their house in cheaply because they couldn't pay off the mortgage or keep up the interest—"

"It's business," said Wallace, and he said it with a roar. "It's just as straight and honest as business can be! Every bank under heaven does it."

"Well, just don't try to tell me that you're doing the Brodericks a favor then," said Susan mildly and went on washing her dishes.

Presently Wallace went away and soon afterward she heard her aunts saying goodnight to him in the front hall.

The were talking him over when Susan rolled down her sleeves and joined them in the parlor. "He's a lovely person," Lutie declared. "You could go farther than Wallace and fare worse, Susan."

In spite of everything, they took it for granted that Susan was going to marry him. She wore no engagement ring, she had told them that she was in love with Allen, but that did not change their attitude in the least apparently . . . . They believed what they wanted to believe: Wallace and Susan were friends again and everything was as it should be, therefore.

BATHING BEAUTY

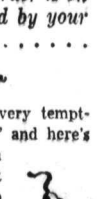
Oh, that cold, cold water. Cheer up, it's an excellent tonic and does wonders for your skin and complexion by stimulating and exhilarating the system. Here are a few tips to remember if you wish to get the most out of it. The middle of the morning is the best time, for then the body temperature has reached normal and the atmosphere has warmed up to a nice level. Never enter the water when overheated. Plunge in boldly and don't forget to duck your head or the blood will rush too suddenly to your brain. It is unwise to bathe in cold water just before or just after a meal. And don't stay too long in the water. "Quick in" and "quick out" is a good motto and certainly for those who suffer from blue lips and an after-the-swim chattering.

LILLY ANNE

From the Blue Ridge Mountains of Virginia come the gay, old-fashioned Candlewick bedspreads, relics of the old cabin craft embroidery preserved for generations by the descendants of Colonial times, and it is great good luck to be able to purchase one from the STANDARD FURNITURE COMPANY. In softest tints of every color, their beauty lies in the exquisite workmanship, authentic design, and their extreme usefullness, for they require no ironing. Wash them as you will, they are colour fast to light and laundry. You'll find the old pine tree, colonial bouquet, scroll and conventional designs. . . . . .

A pretty idea for a guest room blanket is to bind it with satin in a soft contrasting colour and embroider in matching silks a herbaceous border across one end. Fold it back so that the flower border is on top, well protected by your best sheets. . . . . .

A gay and exciting conclusion to a glorious picnic day will be the ROTARIAN DANCE AND CARNIVAL in the Eagle Hall on Saturday night in aid of the Crippled Children's Fund. That's the night to win the car, if you hold the lucky ticket, and such fun and frolic you certainly should not miss. . . . . .



Meals have to be very tempting these "dog days" and here's your chance to learn the newest and most appetising way to serve "Beef" that backbone of all our most enjoyable meals. Take a tip from me and attend the free talking picture presented by the WOOD, VALLANCE HARDWARE COMPANY today only, at 2:45 in the afternoon and 8 o'clock in the evening in the cool comfortable Silver Room. Get the latest wrinkles in making a round steak taste like sirloin, and complete your education in recognizing good meat in a butcher's window. Besides being keenly interested, you'll be highly entertained by this unusual and dramatic picture. . . . . .

This is the time when an attractive fire screen does much to a room that holds an empty fireplace. Making a screen in Grandmother's day meant months of patient stitching, but something quick and effective is more to our liking. The newest hand made screens are of parchment, painted in bright floral or conventional designs, mounted on stout wire that ends in inconspicuous feet. . . . . .

Why not just gingham? The crispness and freshness of it! Could anything be more refreshingly cool than the clear cut effects of this simple fabric in summer windows? It blends itself happily with any colour scheme and oh! how it washes and washes! . . . .

And so, until next week, Adieu.

SLANDERING GERMANY ONCE MORE

Denunciation of the foreign press has started again in Germany. Minister of Propaganda Goebbels says that it has been guilty, in dealing with what happened there a recent fateful Saturday, "of lies, slander and misrepresentation of the true facts such as are almost without parallel in journalism." So German people are warned against paying any attention to what they read in newspapers from other countries. At the same time June 30 is said to have "passed off without friction, without the slightest domestic tremor," while "a huge wave of confidence welled up in the entire nation for Adolph Hitler because of his heroic acts."

One cannot have any respect whatever for the mentality of those responsible for such a foolish combination of invective and laudation. There could be no object in misrepresenting conditions in Germany to the outside public and, with all the restrictions that have been placed upon the correspondents, the wonder is that they have kept us informed as well as they have in regard to recent events. Some confusion in the reports was inevitable under the circumstances. But, by comparison with the Germans themselves, foreigners have a very clear idea of what has been transpiring. Even the von Papen speech of a few weeks ago of which subsequent developments were largely the consequence, was kept out of the German newspapers and off the radio by Goebbels. Apparently it has not even yet been given to the public at large.

Enough, however, must be known by the mass of Germans of the drastic way in which Hitler dealt with the situation to make it impossible for them to be influenced by Goebbels' utterance, even though they may find it advisable to keep their opinions to themselves for the time being. Possibly, and even probably, the majority of them still regard Hitler's acts as "heroic." But they surely must have all learned enough about the killing off of Nazi leaders and of representatives of anti-Nazi elements to marvel at the denial of any important domestic disturbances.

MODERN GIRL VINDICATED

The modern girl is just as admirable a person as her mother was at the same age, and in some respects she is a good deal nicer. This is on the word of Sister Laurentine, director of nursing in St. Francis' Hospital, Pittsburgh.

Attending a convention of the Catholic Hospital Association of Canada and the United States, Sister Laurentine told how she has had direct supervision of more than 800 girls trained as nurses in the St. Francis training school.

"We get these girls at the flapper age," she said, "and they are as fine a lot of girls as anyone would want to meet. There is no reason to believe all the things said about modern girls. Some of them may have vices, but they are no worse than the girls of other generations.

This is what you might call expert testimony in the modern girl's favor.

The C.P.R. has three ways of getting news in now, the Crow's Nest, from the coast and from Spokane, but they all missed last night. Lest readers should worry about lack of fresh telegraphic news, it might be well to let them know the telegraph company will send in its bill at the end of the month just as if no breakdown had occurred."

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS

Today means beginning afresh;
With the blessing of dawn
Comes life, budding out like the east,
And the old things are gone.

The old things, forgotten, depart,
Be they bitter or sweet,
From out of the thought and the life
What is past must retreat.

Today bears a gift in its hands
That no other could bring,
An its light has fired torches of hope
Like the promise of spring.

In the past were there sorrows and cares?
Was there old tyranny?
Then look up and be glad and march on,
For today sets you free!

WHAT THE PRESS IS SAYING

WHAT WE OWE TO THE SERVICE

The false ideas about civil servants . . are all too prevalent. They are not a lot of idle persons, but discharge a most important function in the conduct of public affairs

The Ottawa Journal recently dealt at length with the lack of understanding throughout the country of how much depends upon the character of the Civil Service and of the manner in which it does its work.

It was emphasized in this article that the real administrative efficiency of a department rests with its permanent officials who go about their duties without any spotlight of publicity upon them, and too often without due recognition of what they are accomplishing. —Edmonton Journal.

Between You and Me

By J. B. C.

Well, tomorrow is the big day as far as the Trail picnic is concerned. And the advance crowd from Trail is here and already Lakeside park has taken on a holiday aspect. Tents and booths have been erected and the finishing touches will be put on today. Trail has a nice truck in charge of one of the sons of Erin by name of O'Sullivan is all decorated and wherever it goes it tells there must be something doing Saturday.

Walley Savage was there in his usual capacity closely flanked by Joe Hart. These are oldtimers on this picnic game and they very nearly know the name and number of each piece of two-by-four that is used in tent and booth construction. Jimmie Dawson is the boss carpenter and he is very careful because the carpenter shop boss in Trail told him to be sure and bring back to Trail any material that was not used. Jim was hammering straight but nearly hit the wrong nail, his fingernail, when driving spikes for the tent structure. Tim Buscumb, who someone told me is a plumber, was a hard worker all day then we had W. Wheat, who knows how tents should go up. All these boys with the trucker, whose machine doesn't eat half as much oil as does Charlie Watt's truck, were hard workers and if the picnic depends on them it is already assured of the success that it should be.

George Browne, who handles fruits, vegetables, peanuts, candies and what not, was around, looking the boys over. George was very congenial, had lifted some bananas and oranges and did they come in handy? Dr. Wilfrid Laishley even asked me for my carpenter's licence as he noticed me sawing off a one-by-three.

You see, folks, I know all these boys, because I attach myself to their committee every year. I am the foul guy who tells them where to go if they want 50 feet of rope, or a sledge hammer or even a cool drink when they are dumbfounded.

So good luck to the advance crew. Their work will be done tonight. Then new hands take over the job Saturday. It will be a big day and the weatherman seems to be behaving well if not too heatedly. There is more beach this year. There will be more park for a lot of land has been reclaimed. There will be more benches. There will be more accommodation for mothers and babes. In fact things, in the words of the circus man, look bigger and better than ever.

COMMUNISM TAUGHT IN THE CRADLE IN SOVIET RUSSIA, WRITER REVEALS

Red Flags Put Into Tiny Fists; Youth Under Constant Propaganda; Press Is Mouthpiece of Government; May Not Criticize System

By WILLIAM HENRY CHAMBERLAIN
(From the Christian Science Monitor)

Propaganda and repression are the twin pillars of the Soviet regime. It is only by the skillful, unremitting combination of these two potent instruments of government—and Soviet propaganda can scarcely be matched for intensity, just as Soviet repression cannot be equaled in ruthlessness—that one can understand the ability of the Communist leaders to keep themselves firmly in the saddle during a period when great sacrifices and deprivations were being imposed on the whole population and when whole classes were being literally crushed out of existence.

Communist propaganda alone would not be so effective if there were any means of voicing counter-propaganda. Repression alone would also in the long run fail to achieve its objective. But when both weapons are used simultaneously in dealing with a population of which more than half was illiterate before the Revolution, of which 10 per cent, at a liberal estimate, had any fixed or definite political convictions before the Soviets came into power, the effect, as one might reasonably expect, is very great.

The Soviet government is in an unrivaled position, so far as possibilities of molding the minds of its population are concerned. In one way or another, it controls every agency of entertainment and instruction: the school, the theater, the press, the radio, the lecture platform. It is the sole newspaper publisher, the sole book publisher. It is well nigh impossible for a word of dissent to be uttered publicly, much less be printed.

"RED" FROM BABYHOOD

And the Soviet regime makes full use of its opportunities. From the time when a child can toddle, a red flag is pushed into its hand; it learns new Soviet songs; it is taught to lisp Soviet slogans. The stream of propaganda, all directed to the purpose of making a new type of man and woman, entirely devoted to Soviet and Communist ideas, becomes intensified as the child grows older.

No one can visit a Soviet school without being impressed by the thorough manner in which the children are drilled in hatred of "capitalism," and of the "bourgeoise," and are brought up to regard the Soviet system as the best in the world. If one turns on the radio one is apt to hear, instead of a non-existent Russian "Amos 'n' Andy," a dissertation on the glories of collective farming or the amazing strides of the Soviet nonferrous metal industry.

The theater repertory abounds in plays which, with slight variations, adhere to one common plot formula: a new industrial plant built at record speed and triumphantly completed ahead of scheduled time, despite the machinations of a sabotaging engineer or a kulak who has sneaked in as a worker and plays the part of a wolf in sheep's clothing. Circus clowns have been ordered to give a proletarian twist to their jokes and their tumbling.

PROPAGANDA IS EVERYWHERE

If one walks the streets by day one can hardly miss seeing red streamers calling on everyone to subscribe to the new state loan, or to perfect his technical education, or to give some voluntary labor to Moscow's new subway. The same edifying slogans are blazoned forth in electrical signs at night. If one goes to a gallery of modern French painting one finds placards about the development of French capitalism foolishly and irrelevantly scattered among Gaugin's exotic paintings of the South Sea Islands.

If one goes to a concert one may hear an announcer interpret Mozart's music by saying that the composer could never make up his mind whether to cast in his lot with the decaying nobility or with the rising middle class of his time.

Every speech or public pronouncement by Stalin, every important new decree or resolution adopted by the Soviet government or by the Communist party central committee filters down to the masses through tried and well worn channels. First Stalin's speech is repeated in substance by his chief lieutenants, Kaganovitch in Moscow, Kirov in Leningrad, Kossior in Kharkov, at meetings of the Communist party leaders of local organizations. These in turn pass the word on to the branch secretaries, who must see to it that every member of the branch is thoroughly acquainted with the decision and is prepared to explain it and defend it in talks with his non-party fellow-workers or employees.

PRESS PLAYS PERTINENT PART

The Soviet press is naturally a very important cog in this well-oiled, high-powered propaganda machine. No newspaper in the Soviet Union is or could be privately owned or published; the entire press is an obedient mouthpiece of the party and the government, which can set every news-

WHAT DO YOU THINK?

MAKES AN APPEAL FOR AUDITORIUM

Editor Daily News,
Nelson, B.C.

Sir—I doubt many of your readers were, like the writer, much impressed and appreciative of your editorial remarks in a recent issue re auditorium, arena, community building or what else you like to call it. But the sad part of the matter is, that while many of our citizens realize the urgent need of such a building, we get no further than the same old matter of talk, talk, talk. In other words, "what's the matter with Nelson?"

In the same issue you have a news item which gives the glad news that there may be no Fall Fair this year owing to financial loss at the 1933 fair. Now, Mr. Editor, what ever may be said to the contrary, there is probably very little doubt the loss in this respect was solely due to the fact that, like every other event tried in our fair city, it was not held in a suitable building or location, because we have no building in which we can hold any event other than perhaps a "pink tea."

I believe some of our citizens (with an understanding of our situation as the district center) have given consderable thought to a sort of combination auditorum and sport center. Some practical schemes have been put forward and the claim is made we have an ideal site at our recreation grounds for such a building. No doubt, until we combine the varous needs that are lacking accommodation we will get none, as no doubt we cannot afford a straight auditorium or hall for meetings only. But we surely can afford a building that would cater to all the various activities, none of which we are able to hold in a manner becoming such a central point as the City of Nelson.

Such a building would naturally be capable of producing a very considerable revenue.

In conclusion, let's hear from some of you Nelsonites who are desirous of keeping Nelson on the map.

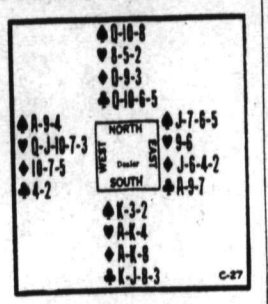
AUCTION AND CONTRACT BRIDGE

MILTON C. WORK

A SURPRISING RESULT

Often in duplicate there are hands which seem to be played normally and the contestants mutually agree that they have made the natural score. However, when the results of all the tables are reported, there is sometimes wide variation usually due to some fine point of play having been overlooked at several of the tables. The following hand is an illustration of this:

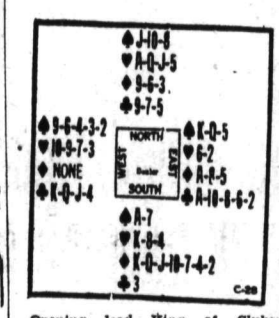


The bidding at most of the tables was South two No Trumps, West pass, and North three No Trumps.

In the play, West led the Queen of Hearts and at most tables, South won with the King and led a Club. East's Ace captured this trick and a Heart was returned which West won, and drove out the Declarer's final stopper in that suit. The three high Clubs were led and then two Diamonds were cashed, but after that, in order to make game, it was necessary to make up a Spade which could be done easily as the Declarer held the King in one hand and the Queen in the other. However, the danger hand (West) took the first Spade trick with the Ace, cashed his two established Hearts and defeated the contract by one trick.

The point in the hand, which only a few Declarers appreciated, was a specialized form of hold-up. Although the Declarer had both the Ace and King of the suit led, the hold-up was necessary in order to save the day and there was no way in which it could cost a trick. With the second Heart won instead of the first and a Club led, East, taking the Club with the Ace, had no Heart to lead and had to lead either a Diamond or a Spade. If a Spade, he took out West's vital entry; if a Diamond, the Declarer obtained a Spade trick before West established his Hearts. No matter what East did, the Declarer was bound to go game, his hold-up on the first trick, which robbed East of the last card of his partner's suit, insured it.

TOMORROW'S HAND



Opening lead King of Clubs; should South fulfill a five Diamond contract?

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

KEEPING COMFORTABLE DURING HOT WEATHER

When we read that the inhabitants of some countries stop work and rest or sleep from 11 o'clock in the morning till 3 in the afternoon we wonder if this resting is really necessary or whether these people are "lazy."

As a matter of fact, resting or getting away from the outdoor heat, is a necessity in hot countries.

The reason that sleeping or resting enables us to endure heat is because the body does not create as much heat within itself when we rest as when we are walking about. When the body does its ordinary work — breathing, digesting food, pumping blood, getting rid of wastes and other jobs—it creates heat and 80 per cent of the food eaten is used up by these body processes.

If, then, we lie at complete rest as in sleeping, practically no extra heat is manufactured to be gotten rid of by the body.

But in most countries, work goes on; stores, offices and factories cannot close down, and so when hot weather comes something must be done to enable the inhabitants to continue work despite the heat.

Naturally, as food makes heat in the body, the first thought might be the cutting down of the food intake, but as 80 per cent of the food goes towards maintaining the various processes of the body—breathing, circulation of blood, digestion and other processes—certainly at least per cent of the cold weather intake must be continued. And if the individual works or plays hard in the warm weather he is going to need nearly the same amount of food as during the cold weather.

Some foods are more "heating" than others and so fat meat, butter, sugar and potatoes might be cut down but little if at all.

Fruits and salads should be increased. The next thought aside from food is to try to keep the home, office, or factory as cool as possible. If any little draught can be maintained, without opening the doors and windows to the heat from pavements and buildings, it will remove the moist air away from the body and thus enable the body to get rid of more heat.

That is the reason that the electric fan, by breaking up the moist envelope of air that surrounds us, is so refreshing on a hot day.

Remember, keeping the intestine active is also helpful in enabling us to withstand the heat.

And finally, if at all possible, don't eat when hot or tired, as the digestive and protective juices are at a low ebb, and pain similar to ptomaine poisoning may result.

One disconcerning feature of every election campaign is the advent of speakers from Toronto who insist upon reviewing familiar issues in exhaustive detail, evidently with the benevolent idea that few persons in Oxford county ever see a newspaper.—Woodstock Review.

CANADA HAS A BIG DAY UPON RANGE

Wins McKinnon Cup in Team Shoot

CANADIAN TAKES BRONZE CROSS

Four Others Come Out at Top of Matches

BISLEY CAMP, July 19 (CP cable)—Canadian marksmen were well-nigh invincible today as the imperial meeting of the National Rifle association swept on with mounting drama toward Saturday's climax.

Here is the record of the day's renewal of historic shoots, fired at all distances over Bisley's far-spreading, rain-drenched ranges.

Canada won the MacKinnon challenge cup, junior of Bisley's two great team trophies, by seven points over England with Scotland defending, third place.

Pvt. P. J. Martinsen of La Tuque, Que., won the bronze cross for leadership of the first stage of the classic King's prize.

Sergt. James Borland of Toronto and four other marksmen at the top of the Prince of Wales prize shoot.

Capt. A. C. Lucas of Toronto tied three others at the top of the Daily Telegraph cup match, with a perfect score of 50.

Two more Canadians, Sergt. C. E. Diol of Calgary, and Lieut. R. A. Sweet of Hamilton, won their way into tomorrow's second stage of the King's prize in a shoot-off for remaining places.

IN SECOND STAGE

The Canadians go out tomorrow in an attempt to capture the Kolapore Cup, the senior team trophy, which they lost to the mother country last year. The Canadians also send 13 men into the second stage of the King's prize, seeking places among the 100 finalists on Saturday.

The Canadians were never headed in the arduous shoot for the 44-year-old MacKinnon cup, fired at the long ranges of 900 and 1000 yards. Teams of 12 competed.

Canada posted an aggregate of 1080 to win the MacKinnon for the eighth time in history, and the first time since 1930. England had 1073 points, third Scotland had 1062 with India, Wales, Ireland and the Channel Islands trailing.

Best of the individual Canadian scores in this big shoot was the mark of 93 out of a possible 100, reached by Lieut. Neal Dow of Saint John, King Lieut. Donald McLeod, his brother, and Private Martinsen.

PRINCE OF WALES PRIZE

The Prince of Wales prize, which carried a first award of $500, was fired at the 300 and 600 yards ranges. Scotland had 34 and 35 for a total of 69 out of a possible 70. He will shoot off for the first award with four marksmen who duplicated his achievement.

The Daily Telegraph cup was fired at the 300 yards match. Lucas' perfect score was equalled only by Sergt. J. Richison of the Scottish Borderers, and Sgt. S. Dixon of the Northumberland Fusiliers and E. MacCartney of the Bank of England brigade. They will shoot off for the cup.

The shootoff for the bronze cross for the King's first stage was between four men—Martinsen, Lieut. Neil Dow, Sergt. T. W. Henderson of Scotland and E. J. Rew, formerly of the Royal navy. All four had scored 104 out of a possible 105 in the first stage.

Martinsen won the shootoff, taking the cross and bronze medal.

The elder of the Waners hit four for four to add eight points to his average, remaining behind Terry only when the percentages were carried out to an extra decimal place. The Giants' manager failed to connect in three attempts, losing three points.

SPORT PUFFS

INFORMATION, PLEASE!

It seems I'm not the only one interested in Helen Ling. Since my comments the other day on Nelson's sensational lady softball pitcher, I've been plied with questions from many sources.

Of course, everything written in this department always does cause widespread comment and brings forth the maximum of response—of course, of course. But I've not been stopped on the street before to be asked for more dope on something I've written about, as I have been, not once, but several times in this case.

The odd part of it is that, although I distinctly said that I had never seen Mrs. Ling in action, meaning neither in sport nor social circles, readers have hurled questions at me of the sort that only an intimate friend of Helen's could answer.

Helen has become famous in these parts. There's no doubt of that. The list of things people want to know about her looks like a questionnaire prepared for presentation to a movie star, no foolin'.

JUST A FEW

Some of the questions I'm going to pass on to you just to illustrate, while others I'm keeping in reserve in case I ever meet her. Here are those you're allowed to see:

How old is Mrs. Ling? Is she good-looking? Does her husband know she's out? (Asked by men, of course).

The ladies want to know the answers to those, too, as well as these: Doesn't Mr. Ling object to his wife playing softball so much? Have they any children? What relationship is there between Mrs. Ling and the Misses Ling, who also play softball? Where has Mrs. Ling been that she was only discovered this year? How long has she been married? Does she believe married women in general should go in seriously for sport? How long has she been playing and where did she learn to pitch so well?

In short I gather the fans would like to have the life story of Mrs. Ling, revealing her loves and hates, her taste in clothes, her favorite recipe and so on, as well as her philosophy of life.

I guess the logical move now is for me to see about getting it for you.

NOT UNDESERVED

Such is fame. We have to admit, though, seriously, that there hasn't been for many a moon an individual who has stood out in sport here as Helen Ling has this year. Only a few weeks ago hardly any of us had heard her name. Now we know who she is the minute the name is mentioned, and apparently most of us want to know more than just that. Perhaps a big reason for her fame is that she is a "Mrs." Those who have always thought that marriage puts an end to women's sports activities have been shown in no uncertain manner that they've been wrong.

Maybe this will be just a beginning of a general pilgrimage from the kitchen to the playing field. Poor husbands!

"Big League" BASEBALL

By AL DEMAREE

The late John McGraw used to say that no batter could ever become a good or great hitter unless he hit the ball "out in front". Manager Bill Terry is of the same opinion. "It's all right to make a few preliminary waggles with the bat as the pitcher is winding up," says Bill, "but be sure that your bat is well back and can be swung quickly forward and meet a good fast ball 'out in front'." Don't let the pitcher pitch between the backward and forward swings of your bat. If your bat is out in front of you when the ball is coming towards the plate, you must jerk it back hurriedly and cannot bring it forward in time. The ball is past the plate before you meet it and usually results in a foul pop fly or an easy ground ball to the infield. "Keep your bat well back, watch the ball and not the pitcher's wind-up. Keep your hips and back in your swing and you'll get your share of base hits."

Al Demaree has prepared an illustrated leaflet called "The Art of Batting" which he will gladly send to any reader requesting it. Address Al Demaree in care of the paper and be sure to enclose a self-addressed stamped envelope.

MINNEAPOLIS WINS AT BALL

Beats All-Stars, and Hauser's Homers Are Big Help

MINNEAPOLIS, July 19 (AP)—A bombardment of base hits in the final innings, including Joe Hauser's second home run of the game, gave Minneapolis a 13-6 victory over the American association All-Stars in a benefit game before 7435 frenzied fans.

Trailing the Stars by one run at the first half of the sixth inning—after being stopped by a triple play in the fourth, Manager Donie Bush's league leading club scored three runs in their half to force ahead and then put the tilt on ice with three more in the seventh and four in the eighth.

The triple play came in the fourth inning after Trow had walked Arlett and Harris. Ganzel connected for a line drive into the hands of Storti, Milwaukee second baseman, he stepped on second to double Arlett, and completed the play by catching Harris at first.

Hauser's first home run, with Wright on base in the third inning, but the Millers ahead and his second in the seventh inning scored two mates. Wright also contributed a circuit blow for the victors in the eighth inning.

Proceeds of the game will be equally divided between the National and American association players benefit fund.

Trailite Roasts Nelson Ladies' Team and Coach

Sports Editor,
Nelson Daily News.

Sir—In your issue of July 17th I read that, though the coach of the Nelson Ladies' Softball Team did not wish to make any alibis, he'd make sure that they had a better chance to win next Sunday by picking their own umpires. I'd like to know when Nelson is going to stop making alibis and learn to lose like sports.

In Monday's issue their alibi was that Trail girls could stand the heat and dust better than the Nelson girls. I would suggest that if the Nelson girls can't stand a little thing like that they'd better go in for some milder sport—such as tiddlywinks. For real excitement they could take up knitting. This is recommended as a real clean game.

If the coach of the Nelson team can't lose bets any better than he did, he'd better consult a weather forecast before putting his money on the team again.

All that's hurting the Nelson ladies is that they came over to Trail with big heads expecting to win without a struggle and haven't recovered from the surprise they got when they found out they could be beaten.

Yours for a little less of blaming the umpire, the weather, the dust and a little more 'fessing up to your own errors,

AN INTERESTED FAN.

AUSSIES ALL SET FOR THE FOURTH TEST

England Has Troubles on Eve of Big Cricket

MATCH IS AT LEEDS GROUNDS

English Out to Beat Leeds Jinx Today

LEEDS, England, July 19 (CP cable)—Deadlocked to date England and Australia tomorrow open the fourth cricket test match of the season.

Australia won the first by 238 runs, England won the second by an inning and 38 runs when Hedley Verity collared 15 wickets for 104 runs. The third match was drawn, the bowlers having no chance against the batsmen.

Tomorrow England will go all out to defeat the famous 'Leeds Bogey", England has never won a test match here since Leeds was given test match status. The winner of the fourth also will obviously be in a favorable position to force a decision in the rubber of five matches for possession of the Mythical Ashes, captured in Australia on the last English tour.

With the exception of W. A. Oldfield and Clarry Grimmett, the Australians had a good practice today both teams are staying at Harrogate.

The wicket was damp today but is expected to dry out good and true for the match.

The Aussies are in good shape and ready for the fray. At Manchester during the third test, the visitors suffered from something like an epidemic of colds. Young E. A. Chipperfield and Alan Kippax, last of the victims, were out at practice today none the worse.

The English, however, have their troubles. The veteran Herbert Sutcliffe, Yorkshire's great opening bat, has been having many massage treatments for a muscle he pulled in the match against the Australians early this week. Then G. O. Allen, the fast bowler from Middlesex, was forced to declare himself out.

England's eleven will bt selected from the following players: R. E. S. Wyatt, Warwickshire, Captain; C. F. Walters, Worcestershire; Herbert Sutcliffe; Walter Hammond of Gloucester; Patsy Hendren of Middlesex; Maurice Leyland of Yorkshire; Leslie Ames of Kent; Hedley Verity of Yorkshire; T. B. Mitchell of Derby; William Bowes of Yorkshire; William Keeton of Notts; James Langridge of Sussex; M. S. Nichols, Essex, and Edward Paynter of Lancashire.

The latter four are newcomers, although Keeton and Langridge are the only players who have never met Australia in test cricket. Keeton has been doing some remarkable batting lately.

SECRETARY OF GYROS GREETED

"Ed" Kagy Welcomed at Gathering at Trail

TRAIL, B.C., July 19.—Gyro clubs of Nelson and Rossland were guests of the Trail Gyros in the Palm Grove of the Crown Point hotel Wednesday evening when the three clubs honored the visit of the Gyro international secretary "Ed" Kagy, one of the only two living members of the first Gyro club which was formed in Cleveland in 1912. In 1932 Mr. Kagy received the office which he now holds. The embryo of Gyro emanated from the getting together of three men whose mutual friends were scattered and their idea of forming the club was the keep their friends together and to add mutual friends to those friends, Mr. Kagy said. Two years later Cleveland and Chicago had groups of young men who wished to become Gyros and eventually Buffalo, Philadelphia and Cincinnati clubs made a group of five, from which an association was formed.

HAD 12 MEMBERS

The first club had but 12 members and had no constitution, the speaker pointed out, but one was adopted after the five clubs were united. "Any time an organization brings men together for friendship's sake, it is doing good to the world," said Mr. Kagy. "Gyro has no salesman to get members and never will have. There is no finer relationship than true friendship. The best service any organization can give a community is building up an "honest to God friendship" that will last all their lives, and to build such groups and to spread friendship to others." Of the nine districts, six have clubs on both sides of the line, making Gyro an international organization.

"Jack" Morris, lieutenant governor of district No. 8, introduced Mr. Kagy and gave an interesting talk. Referring to the recent convention at Calgary, he told the Gyros that of the eight clubs installed since the last report four were in district No. 8, one in district No. 4, one in London, England, and the other two in distant parts of Canada and the United States.

RADIATE GLRO

Comparing the individual members of the club to the leaves on a tree of which the trunk and branches were the Gyro organization, he said that as trees are judged by their leaves and are cut down when leaves wither, it was up to the individual member to carry on Gyro, live Gyro and take it outside to the business life. "Let us interpret and radiate the principles of Gyro at all times."

Other speakers of the evening were J. B. Gray, Nelson, Ed Jamieson, J. Urquhart, Rossland; Dr. H. H. McKenzie, vice-president of the Nelson club and R. D. Barnes, retiring lieutenant governor of district No. 8.

A motion that the Trail secretary be instructed to cable the London Gyro club to get in touch with Joe Haley of Trail when he reaches London, was unanimously passed by the gathering of 49 Gyros.

Trail Plays Cricket in Nelson Saturday

Will Be First Meeting of Two Teams; Prominent Trail Citizens Play

Trail's cricket team will be among the holiday guests in Nelson on Saturday and will meet the local team, the game being scheduled for 2 p.m. This will be the first meeting of these two teams this year, and the fans of both cities are looking forward to it with considerable interest.

Trail's lineup was unavailable on Thursday night, but it is rumored that several prominent citizens will be among the players to take the field at the Recreation park when the game is called.

Presentation Plans Go Slightly Astray

"The best laid schemes o' mice and men gang aft agley."

George Cady had a beautiful wreath made which he had intended to present to the Southpaws during the seventh inning of the Southpaw vs. Righthander game at the local Recreation grounds on Tuesday evening. As Cady had planned it the Righthanders would be so far ahead at that stage of the game that the wreath could be conveniently presented them to commemorate those valiant portsiders who had fallen.

As it happened, however, at that point of the game the Southpaws were ahead and Cady had to wait until the end of the game. Hence the reason that it was not given until some time during the banquet.

The wreath was made up of carrots and beets with their tops intact, horse radish, whisps of excelsior with a few onion stalks woven in to provide perfume. Since Tuesday night the wreath has disappeared and there are whispers that one of the lefthanders has been living on vegetable soup.

SCULLING RACES START AT 1:30

First Race on Saturday Afternoon Will Be a Doubles

The first race of the Nelson Rowing club on Saturday will start at 1:50 in the afternoon, stated Don Lucas Thursday night. There will be two sculling races, a doubles' race and a fours'.

In each case the race will commence at the city wharf and will finish at the park. The canoe races follow immediately after.

The fours' race wil start at 2:50, or just as soon as the Moyie has passed on one of its cruises up the lake.

The Rowing club members made it plain Thursday night that the course would have to be kept clear for the races, and that motorboats or other craft, dashing back and forth over the course and disturbing the water would entirely spoil the races.

Dr. Ray Shaw will be starter for the races.

POLITICAL FIRES FLARE IN DAKOTA

Langer Disappears; Farmer Supporters Reach City in Protest

BISMARCK, N.D., July 19 (AP).—North Dakota's chaotic political fires burned fiercely today as the state legislature assembled in special session under a cloud of legal doubt as to its right to convene, and national guardsmen lined the corridors of the new state house while Lieut.-Gov. Ole H. Olson took possession of the governor's office. William Langer, ousted governor, had disappeared with his friends and papers.

The situation was further complicated by arrival of a truck-load of Farmers' Holiday association members, avowedly supporters of Langer, removed from office by supreme court order, giving credence to reports that Langer sympathizers might concentrate here to demonstrate in behalf of the deposed governor.

Toronto Thrilled by Women's Drill

TORONTO, July 19, (CP.—Another spectacular triumph in the Toronto centennial celebration was the march of 800 women of fraternal societies at the Exhibition grounds. The highlight of the drill was the performance given by three Eastern Star corps.

In each corps a small group of women in pure white carried Union Jacks with two Canadian marine flags and one United States' flag. The loveliness of color and the unanimity of action in the drill exercises drew burst after burst of applause from the throng.

The first groups appearing on the stage comprised the Border Cities Drill Team wearing brilliant red capes lined with black, the Women of the Moose in purple dresses with all white accessories, and the Ancient Order of Foresters in red and green capes and caps.

To the tune of "O Canada" the Daughters of Scotland in mauve or green caps and Pierrot collars, the Canadian Daughters in red capes lined with green and gold tams, and the enter District of the Rebeccas in white, paraded on the stage. The final groups to appear included the Shrine of Jerusalem and the Macabbees Ladies Drill Corps and the veiled Taj Majhal Patrol, Ladies of the Orient.

Most unusual of the groups was the latter with their strange headdress, their red shoes and boleros, purple pantaloons and gold sashes. The entire drill of the group was done with the arms folded and the movements were slow and mystical.

ROWING RIPPLES

(Contributed)

The 'Night Hawks' are a persistent group of oarsmen, and when mountainous waves were to be seen everywhere one evening last week, it didn't deter them at all. The four got along very nicely until they neared Lakeside Park, when the waves increased in fury, and started splashing over the gunwales. Gordon Fleet, the bronzed bow, saw the prow of the boat starting to submerge, and when he saw rowing any more was useless, he waved to the vigilant life-guard at the swimming float. In the meantime the stroke seat was fairly free of water, and Don Lucas, unaware that the rest of the rest were around their waists in water, was stroking mightily, and wondering why the boat was making such slow progress. A big roller splashed over him, and the four were swimming in the cold waters, while Gib Goucher, the life-guard rowed over in a row boat, and towed them to shore.

Gordon Fleet is said to have a dry sense of humor, but it was hardly an apt phrase during the above episode, for as the boat sank, and the four members started swimming along with the boat, Gordon called out to the No. 2 and 3 men to keep in time with the stroke. Not exactly what we would have thought of in such circumstances.

Here is the lineup of the two crews, who have trained faithfully for about a month for the regatta of this coming Saturday:

Night Hawks—Stroke, Don Lucas, weight 158, height 5 feet 10½ inches; No. 3, Fred Fosset, weight 160, height 5 feet 9½ inches; No. 2, Herb George, weight 140, height 5 feet 10½ inches; bow, Gordon Fleet, weight 153, height 6 feet; average height 5 feet 10½ inches; average weight 153.

DIXON LOOKS AT HIGHWAYS

He Is Visiting the Three Western Ridings

Spending several days in this district inspecting the West Kootenay highways under his charge, Arthur Dixon of Cranbrook, district engineer of provincial public works for the Kootenay, has so far this week inspected the Kaslo-Slocan system and the Nelson-Creston highways, and Friday will give his attention to the Rossland-Trail riding.

Driving over from Cranbrook Monday night, and of course inspecting the through highway en route, Mr. Dixon spent Tuesday going through the Slocan, to Kaslo, accompanied by Walter Johnstone of New Denver, general road foreman for Kaslo-Slocan. Wednesday they went up to Lardo by the forestry launch piloted by Ranger George Pajethorpe, Mr. Johnstone going on to Gerrard by the railway gas-car, while Mr. Dixon returned to Kaslo and motored back to Nelson.

Thursday Mr. Dixon inspected the Nelson-Nelway highway, accompanied by Assistant Engineer G. G. Mackay, and had a look at the Dominion camps. At the Nelway camp, where two power shovels are operating, substantial progress was noted.

Mr. Dixon will leave Friday morning for Trail with Assistant Engineer W. A. Talbot, to go over the Rossland-Trail riding's highways.

He expects to return to Cranbrook Saturday.

BASEBALL GAME IN NELSON SATURDAY

Smith and Bogstie to Oppose One Another on Mound; Good Game Certain

The sequel to one of the finest games of baseball in the Kootenay in some time will be seen in Nelson Saturday, when Trail meets Nelson at the Recreation grounds with Bogstie pitching for the former city and Smith for the latter. When these two teams and pitchers met last it was at Trail in the big July 1 tournament and the game went 12 innings before Trail eked out a win 1-0. It was a game that will long be remembered by those who saw it.

The game is to start at 5:30, immediately after the Trail-Nelson cricket game is over.

Every game this year between Trail and Nelson has been worth seeing. Up until the last match the locals had been on the short end of the scoring each time but they won that 7-1 by going on a batting spurge near the end of the game.

Smith and Bogstie, both southpaw chuckers, are both good men to watch and they will provide plenty of stuff for the players to swing at. The lineups will be about the same as for the game here about two weeks ago.

TOURING LADIES GIVE LODGE WORK

A party of 32 ladies, mostly wives of engineers from Toronto, reached Nelson last night on their return trip to Toronto from Vancouver. The ladies who are associated with the G. I. A. to the B. of L. E., are giving instructions in lodge work at the various divisional points at which they stop.

The party travelled on the main line in going to the coast and have taken the southern route through British Columbia in returning. While in Nelson they met members of the B. of R. T.

"Lefty" Schumaker Has Clean Record

Played in Nelson Five Years and Has Yet to Make His First Error

Clarence "Lefty" Schumaker is getting near the end of his fifth year of baseball for the Nelson seniors and he has yet to make his first error in fielding, and his batting, although, it is not as high as when he was hitting around .480 and leading the Alberta league batters, is still remarkably good. "Lefty" has only struckout twice this year. The ball generally takes a ride when he comes to the plate even if it is fielded.

Before coming to Nelson "Lefty" played at Staveley, Alberta and he was also with Claresholm when Claresholm won the Brewery cup, beating out Fernie. They held it two years as they again won the cup the following year.

"Lefty" plays in center field when the Nelson team is not batting and he can cover ground with the best of them. Flies that come his way are nabbed and he can heave the ball too when a runner is trying to make a base after the ball is caught.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH

NANAIMO, B.C., July 19 (CP).—A verdict of accidental death with no blame attached to anyone has been returned by the coroner's jury which investigated the death of John Kerr, jr., killed at the B. and T. logging camp Wednesday.

FRUIT SHIPPING SLACKENS A BIT

Berries and Cherries About Finished in Creston District

CRESTON, July 19—The "in-between" season in fruit shipping has arrived. Strawberries and cherries are cleaned up and raspberries will finish in a day or two.

About 40 girls employed at the Exchange warehouse have been laid off. A car of Bings and Lamberts in four-basket crates for Winnipeg rolled at the first of the week, with a car of lug Bings for Montreal going the next day. Straight carload shipments of cherries from here will amount to about 9000 crates this year. About 3000 were from Boswell.

Raspberries will cease to move in volume by Sunday. On irrigated lands the crop held up unusually well. From Arrow creek comes the report that the last of the strawberries went out at the first of the week. An early May frost did considerable damage to the early varieties, but the latter ones were at least an average yield.

POOR PRICES

While prices on strawberries are likely to be up to expectations, the raspberry and cherry growers are not likely to be so fortunate. Many claims are coming in for raspberries that have not held up—a common fault with all British Columbia raspberries this year—and it seems certain now that the damage suffered by cherries from splitting is more serious than anticipated.

The unusually early season the province is having is emphasized with reports that Bartlett and Clapp's pears are this week moving out of southern Okanagan in carload lots, and all the other tree fruits are enjoying a proportionately early season.

The demand for cooking apples is light. Transparents are ready this week, and Duchess are showing abnormal size for mid-July. Peach plums will be coming in next week.

BUSINESS IS STILL ON THE UPWARD MOVE

Economic Index Shows Another Good Week

FREIGHT REVENUE STILL INCREASES

Manufacturing, Bonds Continue to Improve

The economic index, maintained by the Dominion bureau of statistics recorded a substantial gain in the week ended July 7 over the last week of June, a new high point being shown for the present year except for one other occasion. The excellent showing of the week was a continuance of the upward trend recorded by the index since the first of the year. Gains over the preceding week were shown in carloadings, bond prices and bank clearings, which are probably the most significant among the factors used in the compilation. Common stock prices and trading on the Canadian stock exchanges showed recession, and the advance in the economic index despite the decline in speculative factors indicates considerable improvement in other lines. The index was 95.3 in the week ended July 7 compared with 93.1 in the preceding week, a gain of 2.4 per cent.

FREIGHT HEAVIER

The revenue freight movement was heavier in the 26th week, reaching a new high point for the present year. Even after adjustment for seasonal tendencies, an excellent showing was made compared with the preceding week or the corresponding week of 1932 and 1933. During the first half of the present year carloadings numbered 1,094,000, a gain of 194,000 cars over the same period of 1933. Each of the 11 commodity groups except grain showed increases in this comparison. Miscellaneous commodities showed a gain of 64,700 cars while less than carload merchandise was up 24,000 cars.

The gain in the output of wheat flour in May was less than normal for the season, the total being 1,175,000 barrels compared with 1,090,000 in the preceding month. Production in May was greater than in any other month of the present year. The out during the first five months was 5,473,000 barrels compared with 5,056,000 in the same months of 1933, a gain of 8.2 per cent.

FOOTWEAR INCREASE

The boot and shoe industry continued active in May, the output of leather boots and shoes being 1,774,500 pairs compared with 1,631,000 in the same month of last year. Production since the first of the year has been greater than in the same months of 1933. The output of 7,133,000 pairs in the first five months of the present year compares with 6,360,000 in the same period of 1933. The gain of more than 12 per cent represents a considerable resumption of activity in one of the important industries of the Dominion.

Bond prices rallied in the week ended July 7, an index based on the bid quotations on four Dominion government refunding bonds showing a gain of 2.3 per cent over the preceding week, and an increase of nearly 18 per cent over the same week of last year. The quotation for the 1943 5 per cent refunding bond was as high as 109.50 and the 4½ per cent bonds were quoted at 106.25. The high level of government bond prices has been the main influence in raising the economic index during the last two months. Dominion bonds have been attractive to investors who are seeking outlet for surplus funds. The low yields now obtainable are an incentive to turn to other forms of investment resulting in the easing of the credit situation.

PRICES INCREASE

Wholesale prices moved up in June to equal the highest point of recent years. The index was 72.1, a full point higher in the preceding month. The same high point was shown in February, but apart from that month the standing in June was the highest since May, 1931. Each of the main groups in the official classification according to component materials, showed gains in June over the preceding month except non-ferrous metals. The index of 70 Canadian farm products moved up from 56.9 in May to 59.3 in June. A gain of 10 per cent was shown by the index of 23 grains, while flour and milled products were also 10 per cent higher. The index of meats and poultry moved up from 67.7 to 74.2. The price of upland middling raw cotton in New York averaged 12.1 cents per pound in Canadian funds during June compared with 11.4 cents in May.

The index of common stock prices showed recession for the second consecutive week, being 92.1 in the week of July 5 compared with 93 in the preceding week. With one exception each of the groups of the official classification showed recession in the latest week for which indexes were compiled.

A rapid advance was shown in common stock prices from the middle of April to July of last year. The high point of 1933 was consequently reached during July and the index stood at a somewhat higher level at that time than in the last few weeks, the index being 92.1 in the week ended July 5 last compared with 92.4 in the same week of 1933.

The economic index was 95.3 in the week under review compared with 89.8 in the same week of 1933, a gain of 6.1.

CREASE IN ZINC PRODUCTION ATTRIBUTED TO EMPIRE MARKET

wa Agreement Responsi- for Increased Output at Trail

in cause for the sharp increase roduction of zinc by Consolid- Mining and Smelting Co. dur- the first half of the current is attributed to the Empire agreements reached at Ot- two years ago.

roduction in the first two quar- of last year was less than 15,- tons. In the first quarter of output was 23,816 tons and the second quarter 27,072 tons, a year total of 50,072 tons, com- with 29,574 for the first half 933, an increase of over 70 per e Ottawa agreement established ity against lead and zinc from r than Empire sources on con- n that Canada, Australia and were able to provide for full irements of the British Em- Under ordinary conditions, uction would have been re- d, as has been the case with so far as a number of world were concerned. The sharp in zinc output as compar- with that of lead for Consolid- was due to the decline in pro- tion from the peak being very greater than was that of lead.

AND PRESENT OUTPUT

recovery in zinc production, h, in itself, added from $1,500,- to $1,750,000 to the value of ters output for the half-year, been very marked. The peak of ut for all time was in 1930, 239,000,000 pounds. From this was a decline to 202,000,000 931, to 130,000,000 in 1932, and ght advance in 1933 to 137,000,000 pounds. The 1932 level was only about 54 per cent of the 1930 peak.

Should output in the latter half of 1934 continue at the same level as the first half-year, zinc output will run around 203,000,000 pounds, or slightly more than the 1931 total, and about 80 per cent of the peak of 1930, and 30,000,000 pounds ahead even of 1929.

LEAD SITUATION

Lead, which since 1921 has been the largest single commodity produced by Consolidated Mining and Smelting, is a little different. Production of lead did not decline so sharply as that of zinc.

The peak of lead output was in 1928, with 318,000,000 pounds. In 1929, output was 300,000,000, and in 1930 about 303,000,000 pounds. The lowest point reached in the depression period was 253,000,000 pounds in 1932, with an increase of a little over 1,000,000 pounds in 1933.

At the low, lead output was still nearly 80 per cent of that of the peak as compared with only 54 per cent for zinc. Hence Consolidated Smelters, which was running at well over 80 per cent of capacity last year, could not show the same increase that zinc did to meet the increased demands, and gain in lead for the first half-year was up only 4,000 tons (60,236 tons to 64,271 tons), where there had been a gain of 21,000 tons in output of zinc.

The British Empire agreement also has been of material assistance to Smelters in providing a market for lead as well as for zinc. The results for the six months of this year viewed against the peak levels of 1928 to 1930, will appear highly encouraging from the figures presented above.—Winnipeg Tribune.

N.Y. MARKET STILL DULL

NEW YORK, July 19 (AP)— The stock market today continued to drag along the well-worn narrow path it has travelled in recent weeks.

Weakness in metal, sugar and aircraft shares failed to bring out much liquidation in other sections of the list. The downward drift cancelled about half the gains of the rally.

Volume of trade on the stock exchange increased to 604,100 shares.

OLD CLOCK ON JOB 135 YEARS

Fred Raper Has Timepiece Left by Great-grandfather; Still Runs

MEAFORD, Ont. (C.P)—Just 135 years old and still going strong is a grandfather's clock in the home of Fred J. Raper. It was brought from England many years ago and has been with the Raper family for a century.

Mr. Raper, who is about 80 years old, winds the clock personally every day. He regards the old time piece as one of his most valuable possessions. It was owned by his great-grandfather Joseph Raper, later by his grand father Thomas Raper of Newmarket. Then it passed to his father, J. S. Raper and brother Thomas Raper.

Fred is the only member of the family surviving.

6-MONTH COAL OUTPUT IS UP

10 Per Cent Increase Shown for B. C.

VICTORIA, July 19 (CP).—June coal production in British Columbia showed a marked increase over the figures for June, 1933, according to reports of the department of mines today. There were 106,787 tons produced last month as against 79,487 tons in the same period a year ago.

The output for Vancouver Island was 4200 tons greater than June last year, while East Kootenay produced nearly 25,000 tons more than in June a year ago. There was a drop of nearly 1500 tons in the Nicola Princeton district.

Coke production at Michel amounted to 1249 tons.

Increased use of coal by the railways and larger shipments from the eastern part of the province to Manitoba are the main reasons for the larger production, it was stated at the mines department.

The June output was 4000 tons higher than May.

Figures covering the first six months of the year reveal a net increase for the period of approximately 61,000 tons or slightly more than 10 per cent. The production for the half year was 655,439 tons against 591,019 tons last year.

IN THE BEYOND

Only about a year ago Dr. Hubble, of Mount Wilson observatory, was said to be satisfied with observing nebulae 150,000,000 light years away. But now he is talking in terms of a universe that is a sphere some 6,000,000,000 light years in diameter with 500,000,000,000 nebulae and stellar units 80,000,000 times brighter than our sun and 800,000,000 times as massive. Beyond this universe, there is an aching void.—Los Angeles Times.

NELSON PARTY HAS FINE TRIP

Travel Through Eight States; Go Distance of 4910 Miles

A party composed of Mr. and Mrs. William Brown, 704 Third street, and son William and George Wallach, returned Saturday night from a motor trip which covered a period of two weeks and during which they visited eight different states of the United States, including Utah, Arizona, Nevada, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, New Mexico and California. They also visited Mexico.

At Salt Lake City they visited the famous Mormon temple. When the party left that Saturday afternoon to start their long journey across the desert they drove steadily from 2:40 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. Sunday evening. They traversed 994 miles in that period and stopped at San Diego. Mr. Brown stated he did not mind the long journey, but the heat was terrific and they shed all the clothes they possibly could. At Las Vegas the temperature was 125 in the shade.

While driving over the desert the thing that struck Mr. Brown most was the hundreds of jack rabbits and rattle snakes that were killed along the highway. As they drove along there would be an occasional bump and the riders would know that another jackrabbit had bit the dust.

VISIT BOULDER DAM

The Boulder dam was also another place visited. It is about 32 miles from Las Vegas. When the dam is completed it will be 727 feet high and it will be 650 feet through at the base. The crest of the dam will be 1180 feet in length with a width of 45 feet. This will serve as a highway from Kingman, Arizona, to Boulder City. The reservoir back of the dam will extend 115 miles up stream. At capacity the power house will develop 1,835,000 h.p. Mr. Brown took several pictures of the work. He stated that it was a wonderful piece of engineering, there being nothing but solid rock to cut. Cable cars carry cement over the top and down to the bottom where the work is going on. There will be 12 turbines used. The bridge which will connect Arizona and Nevada is being built across the canyon and it will mean only a matter of a few seconds' travel to cross from one state to the other.

SEE GOLD ROOM

While in San Diego, Mr. Brown and party visited Mrs. Sam Brown's aunt, Mrs. W. J. Griffith. Leaving there for Mexico they visited Agua Caliente where one may see the famous gold room which contains about 400 pieces of dinner service, knives and forks and spoons, all made out of solid gold. Permission to go into the room is only given on certain occasions, but Mr. Brown stated it was a sight for sore eyes to see.

Mr. Brown said times were very quiet at Agua Caliente as they were at Tia Juana. The famous second largest bar in the world now uses only half its bar. Several bar owners at Tia Juana have opened bars at San Diego, and among them is Mr. Thomson, an old Nelsonite.

BIG CELEBRATION

Starting back the party arrived at Santa Monica on July 3 and learning that there was going to be a big time on July 4, Mr. Brown and party stayed to see it. There were over 50,000 people taking in the celebration and there were over 6000 dancing in a hall along the waterfront. Jackie Coogan, famous boy actor, was there having a real time, and there were also a number of other movie celebrities, but the travellers did not get a chance to make their acquaintance. The beach at this particular place is 20 miles in length and one could not see a bare spot on it. The giant fire crackers which were set off on all sides would nearly lift one into the air, said Mr. Brown.

GO AT OWN RISK

The party then left for San Francisco and were surprised to find everything there so quiet. Most of the trouble over the strike was on shore and cars were allowed to go into certain parts only at the riders' responsibility. After leaving San Francisco the party drove to Vancouver where three days were spent before returning to Nelson.

During the trip the party drove 4910 miles and the only car trouble encountered was one flat tire.

When the last ice age was at its height, approximately 12,000,000 square miles of the earth's surface was covered with ice, or about twice the area so covered now.

Free Talking Picture Presentation of Cooking Ideas Offered to Nelson and District Women

"Gentlemen Prefer Beef" is the title of a new and novel cooking demonstration which will be staged for the benefit of the women of Nelson and its vicinity today, Friday, July 20, 1934, in the Silver Room of the Hume Hotel with the compliments of the Wood, Vallance Hardware Company Limited.

This fascinating picture demonstration will be held once in the afternoon and again in the evening, in order that the anticipated large audience may be accommodated, officials of the company announce. Free to all who wish to attend, the demonstration will be jointly sponsored by the local firm and by the city's meat merchants.

The demonstrations will start promptly 2:45 in the afternoon and 8 o'clock in the evening.

"It is a new and highly entertaining and instructive presentation, profusely illustrated, of problems that constantly come up in the home of every woman who plans or prepares meals," said Mr. Roy Sharp of the Wood, Vallance Hardware Company Limited. "We chose beef for our subject because there are so many delicious ways to cook it and so many attractive ways to serve it. Another reason is that beef presents some of the most difficult cooking problems.

"The illustrated talk will bring our audience ideas and suggestions worked out by Mary Lee Gordon of Kelvinator of Canada Limited Science Department. Housewives will be shown how to order the cuts best suited for various purposes and how the cheaper cuts may be made tender and tasty if properly selected and cooked. They will be given new, proven recipes for beef dishes. How to buy the various cuts, where they come from and the uses to which each cut is best adapted will be illustrated in the demonstration.

Complimentary tickets of admission to this Cooking Show can be obtained now from the Wood Vallance Hardware Company Limited.

U.S. STRIKES

mittee and the advisory board of the Longshoremens association had called a meeting tonight to scuss a policy to be pursued.

United States Senator Wagner, advised of the latest development in the prolonged labor dispute, said, "I regret the governor felt it necessary to call out the militia at this time."

GENERAL STRIKE OFF

SAN FRANCISCO, July 19 (AP).—The general strike of San Francisco union labor was called off today.

The labor steering committee which engineered the mass walkout voted 191,174 recommending the immediate return to work of all unions that went on strike in sympathy with longshoremen and marine workers.

As soon as word of the committee's action was flashed, the trek back to work assumed almost the proportions of a stampede in the metropolitan areas of 1,300,000 persons.

Even before the strike was called off, both union and non-union men had been returning to work.

Industry that had been paralyzed for a time by the mass walk-out last Monday of nearly 100,000 workers was revolting against the decrees set up by the strike organization for the emergency conduct of its affairs.

In Portland, Ore., meanwhile, the strategy committee of the central labor council pledged Senator Robert F. Wagner it would use its influence to postpone calling of a general strike there until the senator could present to the federal mediation board at San Francisco the information he gathered in Portland.

TERMED A CRISIS

After "advising" all unions on sympathy strikes to resume work at once, the strike committee pledged "every resource, moral and financial, for the continued prosecution, and for the successfuly termination of the maritime workers and longshoremen's strike."

Its resolution referred to the situation as "a crisis threatening the community with disastrous results attendant upon the breaking down of civil government when superseded by martial law."

Referring to its previous action recommending that both shipping interests and the striking maritime unions submit the problem to arbitration by the federal longshoremen's strike board, the strike committee said it thus had proposed "a fair and equitable basis upon which this general strike may be ended at once."

JOHNSON STANDS BY WORD

Saying the longshoremen's board had "endorsed" the original proposal of the strike committee, it then reiterated the employers should submit to arbitration of the marine workers issues if their differences could not be settled by collective bargaining. It said the marine workers should submit also and call off their strike when both sides had laid their cases before the board.

General Hugh S. Johnson, NRA administrator and government spokesman in the negotiations here, immediately notified Edward Vandeleur, president of the strike committee, that he would carry out his promise to bring the central issues to arbitration "and I am going to uphold your end to the limit."

RETURN IN OAKLAND

OAKLAND, Calif., July 19 (AP).—Union labor voted tonight to return to work tomorrow, officially ending the mass walkout of 47,000 workers in Alameda county.

tailed explanation and discussion of affairs leading to reorganization of the Ontario council, Mr. Woodsworth was asked to explain the situation during discussion on the organization report. His explanation was accepted and the report adopted.

THE ONTARIO ROW

Mr. Woodsworth outlined the original set-up of the Ontario council. Friction which had first become evident in the Regina convention extended and new disputes developed which led to withdrawal of the United Farmers of Ontario. A deadlock then grew between Ontario labor conference and the associations of C.C.F. clubs, the remaining two units of the council.

Radicals had gained entrance to the loosely knit labor conference, he explained and were speaking on public platforms where the C. C. F. program was supposed to be interpreted. This led to confusion as to what the C. C. F. really sought. Discipline was defied, and the attention of the Ontario council was called to the situation.

When the deadlock developed, the national council was asked to act. Mr. Woodworth suspended the Ontario council called the new conference and re-organization was effected.

ROYALS TO MEET PRINCE ALBERT

WINNIPEG, July 19 (CP)— Sam Davidson, secretary of the Dominion Football association, tonight announced dates for the remaining playdowns for the Canadian soccer championships. Date of the final alone remained to be determined.

New Westminster Royals, champions of British Columbia and alberta, will meet Prince Albert City Reds, Saskatchewan winners, at Prince Albert on July 24 and at Saskatoon July 26. The winner of this series will advance to the Dominion final at Winnipeg.

United Weston of Winnipeg, Manitoba and Thunder Bay title-holders, will meet the winners of the eastern final between Verdun, Quebec champions, and Frood Mines, Ontario winners, here July 26 and 28 for the right to advance to the Canadian final.

paper from Archangel to Tiflis and from Minsk to Vladivostok roaring, denouncing or exhorting, all on one theme and in very much the same words, even though newspapers, in conformity with the Soviet policy of encouraging every people to use its own language, are printed in many different tongues.

There has been an enormous expansion of newspaper reading in Russia since the Revolution. Before the war there were 859 newspapers in Russia with a total circulation of 2,700,000 copies. Today there are officially reported to be 5400 newspapers with about 38,000,000 readers. It must, of course, be borne in mind, that a very large number of the present-day newspapers are extremely sketchy affairs—district organs which appear perhaps twice a week and factory newspapers which appear even more irregularly. But, whatever one may think of the quantity and quality of the news which is supplied to Soviet readers, there can be no doubt that it does reach far more people than was the case in Tsarist days.

PRESS UNDER SOVIET THUMB

The rules which govern Soviet journalism are in many ways the precise reverse of those which govern the conduct of newspapers in other countries which aim at mass circulation. Competition is, of course, non-existent; and Soviet editors do not vie with each other in "scoops" and "beats". Ordinary crime and scandal are rigidly barred from the columns of Soviet newspapers. One would also look in vain for household hints, fashion and society articles, crossword puzzles or stock exchange quotations, which, indeed, do not exist in the Soviet Union.

On the other hand, there is a very full reporting of important speeches and decrees. A fair proportion of foreign news, with a distinctly tendencious coloring, appears in the large newspapers. The Soviet press suffers from the chronic shortage of paper; even such leading organs as Izvestia, official publication of the government, and Pravda, the Communist party newspaper, are restricted to four large pages; provincial newspapers are even more meager.

The Soviet press devotes an extremely large part of its limited space to a description of industrial and agricultural developments. Every large new factory that is opened is described at great length as a victory on "industrial front"; every sowing and harvesting "campaign" commands innumerable columns of description, of praise for districts which are doing well and reproof of those which are lagging.

The Soviet press enjoys considerable freedom in exposing defects and shortcomings in the functioning of industrial plants and farms; in this respect it sometimes anticipates what the harshest foreign critics might say. But this freedom abruptly ceases as soon as any fundamental Communist idea or decision is touched.

MUST PROTECT SYSTEM

One may, as a Soviet journalist, describe frankly a bad collective farm. But one may not even hint that collective farming is a bad system. Such things as the famine, the wholesale arrests carried out by the Gay-Pay-O, the sufferings of forcibly deported peasants are barred subjects for the Soviet newspapers, which are taught to repeat, in parrot fashion, such demonstrable untruths as that there is no forced labor in Russia, that there is no persecution of religion, that there is no poverty, until the editors, and possibly some of the readers, may come to believe them.

Soviet propaganda, while it dubitably a powerful weapon, an invincible one. When the ec shoe is pinching too sharply well roll like water off a duck's An Ukrainian peasant who kno his brother and some of his perished during the famine w be impressed if he should re eloquent journalistic descripti how collectivization has improv lot. Few workers probably are enough to believe seriously the solemn farce when the gover announces that the workers of grad, Tula or some other plac "requested" the levying of a ne subscriptions to which are yi compulsory and are deducted fr wages and salaries of all worke employees.

Generally speaking the "sal sistance" to the gigantic Soviet aganda effort is greatest amon older and middle-aged peasant among members of the edu classes who remember pre-war ditions and who may in rare have access to foreign newsp The Soviet censorship organs it that very few non-Communi eign newspapers find their wa the hands of Soviet citizens propaganda is most effective young people who have no p standards of comparison, who never travelled abroad and who grown up entirely under Sovi fluence.

When propaganda fails, the government has other and h resources. These will be describ the next article.
