"PAGE DIOGENES," FOR THE HONEST MAN HAS COME

VANCOUVER, Nov. 12—Diogenes, the lanterned searcher for an honest man, can find him in Vancouver.

He is A. Walkinar, who has been out of work for months, and "up against it" generally.

Walkinar found a woman's handbag in Stanley park. It contained $24 in cash and diamonds valued at $1500.

ORIENT TROUBLE HELPS BRITISH TEXTILE WORKER

Chinese Boycott Has Virtually Stopped Chinese Import From Japan

MANCHESTER, Eng., Nov. 12 (AP)—The conflict between Japan and China in Manchuria has eased the plight of Lancashire textile workers. It has been the largest factor in providing 40,000 mill workers with jobs and in putting 500,000 others on full time instead of part time.

These benefits have resulted from the fact the Chinese boycott has virtually stopped importations of cotton into China from Japan.

The upswing in the textile district has lead the way for the rest of Great Britain. Unemployment has decreased steadily since early last month, largely because of the revival of cotton.

Reports are that cotton sales have jumped 100 per cent.

Mills running at 40 per cent capacity in August and September now are operating 75 per cent or better. At least 20 mills, some of which have been closed four years, are running again.

11 SEAMEN ARE RESCUED AFTER SCHOONER SINKS

Owners of the Costa Rican Vessel Go Down With Their Craft

BALBOA, Canal Zone, Nov. 12—(AP)—Copyright, 1931, by the Associated Press)—Bearing a tale of disaster and heroism the master and 10 men of the Costa Rican schooner Baden Baden were snatched from the waters of the Carribean today and were bound back toward Cristobal tonight aboard the U. S. S. Minesweeper Swan. The captain of the Swan wirelessed here that the seamen had been rescued from an open lifeboat off the coast of Colombia and would be landed at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning. Five of the complement had been lost, he reported, and Capt. Hewitt Watler of Mobile, Ala., was suffering from contusions to his back and possibly internal injuries.

The vessel foundered Monday afternoon in heavy seas and the crew took to lifeboats and life rafts with the exception of the two owners, Hans J. Lau of Punta Arenas, Costa Rica, and Adolph Schonek of Hamburg, Germany, who refused to leave the sinking ship and went down. How the others met their deaths was not revealed.

MISS LILA MALKIN TO BE MARRIED

VANCOUVER, B. C., Nov. 11.—Mr. and Mrs. William Harold Malkin announce the engagement of their daughter, Lila, to Captain Harold Eledale Molson, eldest son of the late Major John Elsdale Molson, R.A.M.C., M.D., J.P., T.D., of Goring hall, Worthing, England, and of Mrs. Molson of the Pound House, Angmering, Sussex, England. The wedding will take place shortly in England.

Seldom has an engagement of equally wide interest been announced here, for Miss Malkin has a wide circle of friends, being a well-known and popular member of younger social circles across Canada. She left with her mother a short time ago for an extended trip abroad.

SILVER RALLIES OVER A CENT

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (CP)—The Canadian dollar closed ⅛ cent weaker at 90⅛ cents on local foreign exchanges today, and the pound sterling ended the day at $3.77⅛ for cable transfers, ⅛ cent lower than the previous close.

The dollar unchanged at 90¼ cents, maintained this price until mid-afternoon when it sagged ⅛ cent to 90⅛ cents, closing at that figure.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12—Bullishness in silver futures rose today to a new pitch on the national metal exchange, where prices rallied one to 1⅛ cents, and the turnover set a new high record at 9,195,000 ounces. This silver market was established only last June.

Eight "Red" Leaders Are Guilty; Sentenced Today

TOLMIE'S TRADE PROPOSALS MADE FOR ALL EMPIRE

Made in Interest of B. C., but Applicable to All Nations

VICTORIA, Nov. 12 (CP)—Proposals for the development of inter-Empire trade made to Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, secretary for the dominions in the British cabinet during his visit to Canada in 1929, by Premier S. F. Tolmie of British Columbia, and which Dr. Tolmie announced Wednesday he would re-submit to the British government, while made in the interest of British Columbia, were appreciable to the whole Empire.

When the British Columbia premier met Mr. Thomas in Toronto two years ago, he pointed out in his proposal that the United Kingdom at that time imported from countries outside of the Empire the huge total of £564,000,000 worth of products that could be produced in British Columbia. If the government of Great Britain could direct but 10 per cent of this great purchasing power of its people to British Columbia, thus assuring a market for the products of the province, employment could be provided directly and secondary, for 200,000 workers.

HARVEY HADDEN'S ESTATE GOES TO VANCOUVER CITY

VANCOUVER, Nov. 12—Under the will of Harvey Hadden of London, who died in February, the city of Vancouver is a beneficiary of his estate.

During his life time the deceased generously purchased for the parks board property at Kitsilano beach. He resided in North Vancouver many years ago, and once owned much valuable improved property in the business district of Vancouver. He built the Hadden block, northeast corner of Hastings and Granville, where the Royal Bank stands today. In death, as in life, he remains the city's benefactor.

The bequest was disclosed when the will came before Mr. Justice Clauson, chancery division, high court of justice, in London, for interpretation.

Declares Communism Can Not Be Crushed by Court Decision

TORONTO, Nov. 12 (By Jack Hambleton, Canadian Press staff writer)—Striking a blow at the heart of Communism in Canada, a jury in county of York fail assizes tonight returned a verdict of guilty against eight acknowledged leaders of the party and brought an historical trial to end. The eight men are to be sentenced by Mr. Justice Wright tomorrow morning, and at the same time crown counsel, will ask for confiscation of all property of the party, and deportation for those who can be deported.

Those found guilty are Tim Buck, Tom Ewen, John Boychuk, Amos T. Hill, Malcolm L. Bruce, Samuel Cohen, Mathew Popovitch and Thomas Cacie. A ninth charge, Mike Golinski, was discharged Tuesday when the crown stated it had not sufficient evidence to link him up with the ramifications of the party.

Charging as it did that the men were members of an unlawful association, acted as members of such an association, and were parties to a seditious conspiracy, the trial established a precedent in Canada. Only one other country, Japan, has taken such action against the Communist party.

CANNOT BE CRUSHED

WINNIPEG, Nov. 12 (CP)—"Communism cannot be crushed by a court decision," stated ex-Alderman W. N. Kolisnyk. For four years Communist member of Winnipeg's city council, commenting tonight on the Toronto jury finding against eight members of the Communist Party of Canada. Mr. Kolisnyk stated he was a member of the party.

EDMONTON, Alta., Nov. 12 — Threats of property confiscation and of deportation of members of the Canadian Communist party, don't mean a great deal to Jan Lakeman, Edmonton Communist leader, he informed the Canadian Press on Thursday night.

"In the first place we have no property," said Mr. Lakeman, "and further than that we have no funds. As a matter of fact, since yesterdays' elections, when I was defeated, we have today more bills than anything else. "There are about 70 members of the Edmonton Communist league and the most of them are naturalized Canadians. I personally don't believe there is one member who could be deported," concluded Mr. Lakeman.

TORONTO HIGH SCHOOL HONORS WAR DEAD

TORONTO, Nov. 12 (CP)—Photographs of 74 former students of Harbord collegiate who fell in the great war, and a tablet to their memory, were unveiled at the school today by General Sir Arthur Currie, war-time commander of the Canadian forces.

A guard of honor composed of school cadets received Sir Arthur, and following their inspection, he placed a wreath on the monument erected in memory of the members on the staff who died in battle.

STORR SOLE TEMPORARY RULER IN CYPRUS

LONDON, Nov. 12 (CPC)—Sir Philip Cunliffe-Lister today announced the legislative council of Cyprus will be abolished by letters patent which will grant the governor, Sir Ronald Storr, legislative powers, pending review of the constitutional future of Cyprus growing out of recent disorders connected with a movement for union with Greece.

ATTEMPT MADE TO BREAK UP BANK CONTROL

McGeer Sees Reason for Lifting Gold Standard

GREAT STEP IN AID OF POOR

Believes Britain Will Show World How to Recover

VANCOUVER, B. C., Nov. 12.—Picturing Britain's departure from the gold standard as a deliberate national effort to break away from "bankocrat" control and as the first step in a new and intelligent move toward the conquest of poverty, G. G. McGeer, K.C., addressing the Kiwanis club today, added another chapter to his advocacy of monetary reform.

"Britain's departure from the gold standard is the first real step toward the intelligent creation and control of money," he said. "It is probably the first great step that has been taken toward the emancipation of the poor. It is possibly a step that will add to the achievements of this civilization the conquest of starvation, pestilence and poverty."

Quoting Sir Josiah Stamp as authority for the statement that "the main function of the gold standard is to set an outside limit on the control of money," Mr. McGeer declared that the real significance of the Hoover-Laval conference was a determination to retain that standard, a decision which the Philadelphia Record affirmed held out no hope of relieving the world-wide depression.

BANKERS WAGING WAR

Behind the scenes bankers and financiers had been waging a terrific and ruthless battle for supremacy. Britain was forced off the gold standard because France and the United States refused further gold credits. But France and the United States, with a corner on gold, were not happy. The United States, with $50,000,000,000 of gold, had 7,000,000 unemployed.

The point was that ability and integrity had been the basis of Britain's financial supremacy, not gold. Claims of the United States to have wrested the world financial supremacy were premature, suggested Mr. McGeer, although they illustrated the nature of the crisis which Britain had organized to meet.

The United States had not learned how to create prosperity with gold, but Britain was about to give the world a demonstration of how to create prosperity without it. Britain still had her ability and integrity.

Snow Disrupts Wire Service of The Nelson Daily News

After 10 o'clock last night The Nelson Daily News was without Canadian Press wire service, either from the east or west. This condition was brought about by heavy snows on the main line, which completely disrupted all wires between Calgary and Vancouver.

The leased wire of The Daily News, running through southern British Columbia, was the only wire left in operation. After all other wires were down the leased wire was cut into the Pacific cable circuit, which has right-of-way over all services in the Dominion.

Until a late hour this morning no other wires were available in southern British Columbia. However, for the protection of the readers of The Daily News, telephonic communication was kept with the Associated Press office in Spokane.

Lead and Zinc Are Significant, Canada

TORONTO, Nov. 12—The recent rise in silver prices of more than 40 per cent and the 20 per cent advance in lead and zinc have already added several millions to Canada's mineral output value, according to the Weekly Mining Journal, Northern Miner, today.

"In the expressed opinion of the head of one of Canada's largest base metal producers 'the winter is about over' for metal miners, who have been confronted with the lowest prices on record," the paper stated.

"Gold and silver, because of their connection with world monetary systems, have monopolized the spotlight and because of this little attention has been paid to the steady advance in lead and zinc quotations. Yet the fraction of a cent advance in lead and zinc, from the standpoint of addition to the value of mineral output, has greater significance than the more spectacular silver advance.

"This is explained by the fact that while Canada's silver output last year was 26,000,000 ounces, 330,000,000 pounds of lead and 267,000,000 pounds of zinc were produced, from which the value of even a cent a pound to the mines directly and to the country as a whole can be readily calculated."

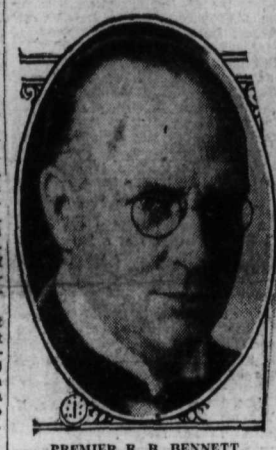
Minorities Question Makes Step Forward

LONDON, Nov. 12 (AP)—The vexatious minorities question, which has been holding up the work of the Indian round table conference, came a step nearer solution tonight with the announcement that agreement had been reached by those minorities which are classified as Moslems, depressed classes, Indian Christians, Anglo-Indians and Europeans.

These groups have joined in a memorandum headed "claims of the minority communities" which has been circulated among the members of the minorities committee of the conference.

While the main disagreement between Hindus and Moslems remains unaffected by the agreement it was hailed in conference circles at a happy augury of the ultimate success of efforts to solve the principal minority problem.

On Way to England



PREMIER R. B. BENNETT

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 12. (CP)—Rt. Hon R. B. Bennett left the capital this evening on a holiday. The prime minister will arrive in New York tomorrow morning and will sail early Saturday morning for Europe aboard the Aquitania.

Mr. Bennett will be away for three weeks or possibly a little longer. The liner proceeds to Cherbourg and Southampton, and while the prime minister has made no appointments the likelihood is that he will visit London late next week or the following week. In his probable visit to London in the course of his trip the prime minister will likely discuss with leaders of the National government preparations for the coming Imperial economic conference.

Mr. Bennett became indisposed several weeks ago, and his visit to Europe will provide his first holiday since actively taking over the leadership of the Conservative party following the 1927 Winnipeg convention.

NELSON MERCHANTS STOCKING UP BIGGER AND BETTER THAN EVER FOR THE CHRISTMAS SHOPPERS

Practically All Merchants Putting in Bigger Stocks; Prices Are Down

Christmas is just 42 days around the corner. The weather has taken on a Christmassy appearance and Old Santa will silently slide down numerous district chimneys in a few short weeks.

Already Nelson merchants are beginning to talk and think about Christmas. During the past few weeks Christmas goods have been rolling continuously into Nelson and will be on display soon.

Nelson merchants yesterday declared that within a week or so their Christmas goods will be on display. Christmas windows will appear and the rush will soon be on.

"Our Christmas stock will be larger than ever this year." Such was the declaration of Nelson ready-to-wear merchants and those dealing principally in ladies' and children's wear. Merchants state that while the stocks will be larger the Christmas goods to be shown this season will be more practical and they will be cheaper.

Hardware firms have a larger stock of Christmas goods this year than they displayed last year. The range in this line will be wider and prices are down a great deal over last Christmas season.

In the men's wear shops ties, gloves, shirts, and other lines usually much sought by the Christmas trade, are being unpacked and will soon be on show. The early shoppers will get the choice.

Drug stores and others are planning a wider variety of novelties and toys than have been shown in Nelson for years. There will be more toys and a much wider range.

Grocerymen are stocking up with Christmas goodies. Already cranberries are on display, forerunners of the Christmas trade. In a week or so Christmas candies, bon bons and whatnots will make their appearance. And prices, merchants state, are away below those of last Christmas.

Jewellers in Nelson have a particularly wide variety of Christmas gifts this year. The displays will be catching the eye soon. Boots and shoes, slippers and other foot toggery is being unpacked. Christmas shoppers will be able to buy more for less money this year, state the leaders in the shoe business.

Butcher shops, while not handling Christmas stocks as yet are preparing their orders for Christmas. Turkeys, ducks and poultry will soon be going to the block in the various districts supplying the local market and then the rush will be on. Christmas poultry will be cheaper this Christmas.

Furniture dealers, music dealers, and electrical firms are at present bustling huge packing cases into their establishments. The contents have not been divulged but the merchants state that Nelson and district shoppers can buy these lines at better prices than last Christmas.

And so on down through Baker street the Nelson merchant is optimistic. The Christmas trade they believe, will be bigger and better than last season. And the people who will derive the greatest benefit this Christmas will be the buyers. But they urge buyers to get out and start the Christmas shopping as soon as possible. The last minute shopper, declare merchants, will, as usual, have to be contented with what has been picked over.

MAN WELL KNOWN TO ANGLERS DIES

Tom Osburn, Colorful Coast Character, Passes at Age of 85

VANCOUVER, Nov. 12—Tom Osburn, one of the most colorful characters of the British Columbia coast, died on Monday at Powell River after a brief illness. He was aged 85. His wife survives. For more than a score of years he entertained fishing parties at his lodge on Goat river, Powell lake.

He was well known to Vancouver anglers, his hospitality and love of anecdote making him a favorite with all those who visited Powell lake. Born in Kentucky, his early life was a succession of adventures. He was a miner and prospector and in the course of wanderings in United States took part in many exciting events.

He walked into British Columbia 25 years ago from the south and eventually built his home on the shores of Goat river. He was noted for vivid stories he related of the old days in western mining towns and of the grizzly bear hunting expeditions in which he took part.

"Goat Lodge" was the deceased's only source of income. He had become so popular with fishermen, however, that it was well patronized.

RECOMMEND THAT MONTAGU NORMAN BE RE-ELECTED

LONDON, Nov. 12 (AP)—The court of directors of the Bank of England have agreed, it was announced tonight, to recommend to the proprietors next April that Montagu Norman, present governor of the bank, be re-elected for the ensuing year and that Sir Ernest Musgrave Harvey, deputy governor, be re-elected to that post.

Chinese Delegate Makes an Urgent Appeal to League to Stop a Major Conflict

More Japanese Troops Rushed Into the Danger Zone; War Office at Tokio Believes Russians Are "Planning Something"

League Secretariat Immediately Tries to Get Action

GENEVA, Nov. 12 (AP)—(By F. I: Lipsey, Jr., Associated Press staff correspondent)—Dr. Alfred Sze, Chinese delegate to the League of Nations, made an urgent appeal to the League council tonight to prevent the Japanese from marching upon Tsitsihar and precipitating a major military conflict.

The League secretariat immediately got in touch by telephone with Aristide Briand, council chairman, with the view of obtaining immediate action on the Chinese request.

Dr. Sze declared the Japanese had ordered General Mah Chan-Shan to evacuate Tsitsihar but he remained in his positions. Dr. Sze also declared that a Japanese detachment of 50 soldiers, armed with machine guns had seized the Fuchowan coal mine operated by the Northeast Mining corporation near Dairen.

NO DELAY

"I beg of yau to be good enough to request the president of the council to intervene without delay with the Japanese government in view of the very serious developments threatened by the following information just received from Tsitsihar," Dr. Sze said in his note.

"Japanese troops will take Thitsihar along the Taonan-Anganchi railway. The Chinese troops have retreated to San Chine Fange Sze, which is 17 miles from the Tahsin station.

"The latter is now in the hands of Japanese. If the Japanese carry out their announced intention, it is probable that there will be serious fighting at any moment."

Japanese Offensive Operations Start at Tsitsihar

TOKYO, Nov. 12 (AP) (By James P. Howe, copyright, 1931, by the A. P.)—The war office today received reports that 15 carloads of Russian arms and ammunition and 2000 members of an "International Communist army" have arrived in the Nonni river district in Manchuria, where Japan expects fighting to be renewed momentarily.

Japanese officials declared on the basis of reports from the field that simultaneous drives by the Chinese were looked for at Mukden, which is occupied by Japanese troops, and on the Nonni, where Japanese pioneers are making bridge repairs behind a curtain of infantry trenches. The two fronts are 400 miles apart.

FRESH TROOPS

The war office mobilized fresh troops to ship to Manchuria. The number of reinforcements was not made public, but it was understood to be about 10,000, which would put the total strength of Japan in Manchuria around 16,000. The new contingent will leave Hirosaki Saturday.

War office information, described as being based on "fairly reliable evidence," was that the supported Chan-Shan, Chinese commander of Russian arms went to Gen. Mah the Nonni area. The 15 carloads, the military intelligence, reported, were transported by the Chinese Eastern railway, jointly owned by China and Russia.

"The Russians apparently are planning something," the war office said.

LONDON, Nov. 12 (AP)—A Harbin dispatch to the London Daily Mail tonight reported fighting between Japanese and Chinese began today in the Tsitsihar zone in Manchuria.

The dispatch reported the arrival of two Japanese regiments and heavy artillery at Tahsin in preparation for a new offensive on a large scale and said Chinese expected Soviet interference shortly.

ENCIRCLING MOVEMENT

HARBIN, Manchuria, Nov. 12 (AP)—Chinese authorities said today that the Japanese are making what appears to be an encircling movement against Tsitsihar. They expected Japanese offensive operations to start immediately.

A squadron of Japanese cavalry crossed the railway 20 miles west of Anganchi, the Chinese reported, and several units of Japanese troops were on the march northwest of Tsitsihar.

TIEN TSIN, China, Nov. 12 (By W. V. Pennell, copyright, 1931, by the A. P.)—All Americans at the Methodist Mission hospital and school were asked to seek places of safety in the foreign areas of Tien Tsin today after they had spent a night dodging bullets.

FOREIGN LOANS POOR PRACTICE THINKS BANKER

Corporation Floating of Bond Issues Imposes Burden During Depression

MONTREAL, Nov. 12— Canadian economic conditions, dealing more particularly with the banking world, industry and commerce, passed in review today before the annual meeting of the Canadian Bankers' association, as Beaudry Leman, general manager of the Banque Canadienne Nationale, and retiring president of the association, delivered his annual address.

Mr. Leman in his address deplored the practice of Canadian corporations doing a large part of their borrowing abroad in the flotation of bond issues. This tendency, he pointed out, had grown during the period of prosperity and imposed a burden in time such as the present.

Dealing with gold, Mr. Leman pointed out that as Canada was a debtor country, the shipping of gold to maintain currency jeopardized the position of the currency and should not be done.

Sentenced to Wear Ball and Chain for Period of 15 Days

CAMAS, Wash., Nov. 12 (AP)—Sentenced to wear a ball and chain for 15 days, Howard Hancore, 22, has found a way to alleviate the situation.

Justice E. C. Duncan passed sentence at 10 a.m. today and at 10:25 a.m. Hancore had been assigned to work on the city streets. The 25-pound ball, attached to a long chain, rested in the bucket of a street cleaning push cart and Hancore walked behind it, to the accompaniment of the clanking chain.

Hancore was sentenced after pleading guilty to driving while drunk. He was assessed costs of $6.

INCOME OF NEW ZEALAND DOWN 150 MILLIONS

WELLINGTON, N.Z., Nov. 12.—(Canadian Press Cable via Reuters)—A manifesto issued on behalf of the National government by Prime Minister G. W. Forbes and Rt. Hon. J. G. Coates, minister of unemployment, today said the National income of New Zealand had shrunk by $150,000,000 during the past two years.

DESERTED CABIN HAS NO CLUE OF MISSING BROWN

Searchers in Pitt Lake District See Nothing of Veteran Prospector

VANCOUVER, B. C., Nov. 12. (CP)—A deserted cabin in the Pitt lake district, and no trace of its owner, R. A. "Volcanic" Brown, 86-year-old prospector, was reported today by searchers for the aged man, who has been unreported since August 17. A search party is proceeding 20 miles north from Brown's cabin toward a glacier where Brown told friends in August he intended prospecting.

No report of the progress of the party endeavoring to locate Miss Mary Warburton, 60-year-old nurse, missing in the mountains between Squamish and Indian river, has been received. The party is expected to reach North Vancouver Saturday.

EXPECT NATIONAL GOVERNMENT WILL HAMMER DUMPING

LONDON, Nov. 12 (AP)—It was confidently asserted tonight by observers of all political leanings that the government is to move immediately to assume drastic powers against dumping of goods in Great Britain in anticipation of a tariff.

Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald is expected to make a statement on this matter in the house of commons on Monday, and it is expected the government will introduce a bill giving it emergency power to act by "orders-in-council."

CLOTHING STORES AND FOOTWEAR MEN GET BUSINESS

People Rush to Do Winter Outfitting; Sleds in Show-Windows

There was almost a "Christmas rush" all day Thursday at the clothing stores and the shoe stores as a consequence of the snowfall and the semblance of winter.

Merchants in both lines did a record day's business, in winter apparel, and in footwear.

Hardware stores placed children's sleds in their show windows, and did some pre-season business.

Kiddies were out with sleds on the sidewalks, and put in all their free time during the day with the snow.

BOARD PLANS A SPOKANE JAUNT TO CONVENTIONS

Committee named to Work Up Delegation; for Hard Surfacing

ARCHDEACON GETS PETITION SIGNED

Will Press for Enlargement and Students Fares; Want Facts on Sandon

Nelson board of trade will endeavor to send a delegation to Spokane when the western division of the Chambers of Commerce of the United States holds its sessions, on December 4 and 5. On the same dates the Northwest Mining association meets. This was decided upon by the board at its monthly meeting, held Thursday, President H. M. Whimster naming a committee, consisting of D. L. Kerr, B. T. O'Grady, and John Burns, to work up the matter.

HARD SURFACING

The board endorsed "in principle" a resolution from the Cranbrook board of trade addressed to the minister of public works, recommending the hard surfacing of the transprovincial highway through the East Kootenay and West Kootenay.

This action was taken after a short discussion in which members, while approving the general idea, stipulated that the board should not name any particular type of hard surfacing as desirable, and that it should not be construed as urging this for immediate consummation.

Approval was also given to the action of the council in naming Ven. Archdeacon Fred H. Graham as the board's representative to act with other organizations in forwarding the signing of the disarmament petition that is being circulated in Nelson, for submission as part of the Canadian petition to the League of Nations.

Archdeacon Graham reported that he had already taken action, and placed copies in circulation with a large number of organizations, and there was reasonable assurance that Nelson would present proportionately one of the best signed petitions from this province.

The petition, he stated, urged disarmament by agreement, which was the only feasible way. Among advocates of the Canadian petition he mentioned Premier Bennett, Sir Robert Borden, and Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King.

SEEK FARE REDUCTION

On the motion of Archdeacon Graham the board decided to press the Canadian Passenger association for an enlargement of the recently granted holiday fare for students, to the half-fare in force before the war, and for making it applicable to all students' trips between home and school, instead of only for the holiday periods.

A recommendation from the council for endorsement of a Slocan resolution asking for two mails weekly for Sandon was referred back to the council to get further information. H. B. Gore throwing doubt on the facts as submitted, stating he had recently been assured that Sandon received a mail from Nelson weekly by way of Kaslo, in addition to the one by way of New Denver.

YOUNG LUTHERANS GATHER IN RALLY REMEMBRANCE DAY

District Young People Meet Under Auspices of Walther League

Young Lutherans from Creston, Camp Lister, Trail, Makinson, Renata, Cascade and Grand Forks met in Nelson for a rally on Remembrance day under the auspices and hospitality of the Walther League of the local St. John's Lutheran church.

After a brief inspirational service in the morning, Rev. E. A. Biberdorf of Trail addressed the convention on "Efficient Young Missionaries." He asserted that God has ordained three fundamental institutions in society; the family, the government and the church. He argued three things are essential for efficient and intelligent work, not only in the home and state, but especially also in the church, namely through indoctrination, sufficient information on the respective needs and a proper system.

In the afternoon Rev. C. Baase of Creston spoke on the significance of Remembrance day to Christians. He declared, "It would be shameful indeed if we forgot those who risked their lives for their country, and if we forgot God, who blessed the nation with peace."

He said in part: "Christians respect and obey their government in times of peace and of war as ordained by God, With regard to wars, we must humbly admit they are a punishment of a righteous God because of our sins. Christians are the true peace-makers; by faith in Christ they are at peace with God and men. They have the only true, efficient means of causing people to think in terms of peace; the gospel of peace in Christ.

"The ideal of permanent peace cannot be realized before judgment day, because scripture declares there will be wars and rumors of war until the end comes, and because the imagination of man's heart is evil from his youth and the majority rejects the gospel."

The convention resolved to thank both speakers for their splendid addresses and to endorse their principles.

The rally was concluded with a banquet in the evening and social enjoyments. Teacher F. Hamann of St. John's Lutheran school presided during the day as chairman and in the evening as toastmaster.

ORDER TO MOVE NELWAY SHOVEL NOW CANCELLED

Presumed to Be Result of Representations From Board of Trade

That since forwarding of the resolution authorized a week ago, urging the minister of public works to carry out the projected improvement work on the Nelson-Nelway section even if putting into force a general curtailment of the government's road relief program, a wire had been received by Distict Engineer William Ramsay cancelling an order to return a rented gasoline shovel that is at the new camp at Nelway, was reported to the board of trade Thursday by R. W. Hinton, chairman of the roads and bridges committee.

The district engineer, Mr. Hinton stated, had been instructed at the time of the general stoppage of road work, to turn in all rented equipment, this including several rented shovels, and by arrangement with the General Construction company he was about to move the shovel at Nelway to Salmo, to be stored or shipped at the company's order.

While no direct reply has been received to the representations of the roads and bridges committee, made on instructions received from the council last Thursday, the cancellation of the removal order as affecting the Nelway shovel is considered a highly favorable indication.

Clear Street Crossings; Snow Halts Concret Work Temporarily

Eight men were busy all day on this work, about half of them being regulars on the city force, and the rest from the week's relief roster.

No special men were taken on for the purpose.

BUSINESS ON UP TREND SAYS PIANO OFFICIAL

Robert A. Willis Optimistic; Sees Progress in Nelson

"I believe business is on the upward trend, particularly is this noticeable at Vancouver and on Vancouver island." So declared Robert A. Willis, head of the Montreal piano firm who is visiting in Nelson en route east after an extensive trip through the west.
Mr. Willis, who is a brother of F. S. Willis, of Trail, declared he was particularly pleased with the conditions in Nelson. The citizens seemed optimistic and Nelson was growing. He noticed particularly the new buildings. What better signs of progress could be found, he stated.
Particularly after the British elections has Mr. Willis noticed a business pickup. The old country voting has caused a great deal of confidence, even this far from the old country. If felt in the west similar conditions must be apparent in the east, he said.
In the piano business, he declared, there was a decided up trend at present which was fairly indicative of business conditions in general.
While west Mr. Willis went into the Peace River country. "That is a wonderful piece of land with great possibilities," stated the Montreal man.

TEAM HIRE RATE AT CRESTON DOWN

CRESTON, B. C., Nov. 12.—At the council meeting on Monday night consent was given to a reduction in the rates of pay to common labor and team hire. The former has been reduced from 40 cents to 35 cents per hour, and the man with team has been reduced from $8 to $7 per day. The reduced pay is still much higher than the government has been paying on relief work, but the reduction is not at all welcomed by the day laborer. In handling street improvement work this fall the council is making every endeavor to spread the work over all who are really requiring it.

Masquerade

By Faith Baldwin

SYNOPSIS

Lovely Fanchon Meredith is wanted by the San Francisco police in connection with a murder committed by her sweetheart, Tony. Fanchon did not know he was a gunman. She escapes by airplane under the name of "Smith." Aboard is Evelyn Howard whom Fanchon had met on a voyage from Hawaii. Evelyn is going to New York to live with her aunt, the wealthy Mrs. Carstairs, whom she has never seen. The plane crashes and Fanchon is the only survivor. To get away from Tony and the past she goes to the Carstair's home as "Evelyn." A strong bond of affection grows between Mrs. Carstairs and her "niece." Collin Carstairs, the son, is at first antagonistic because of his cousin's Hawaiian affairs, and her self-righteous attitude when his mother offered aid, but Fanchon's sincerity overcomes his objections. They fall in love. After a happy summer in Southampton they return to New York where Fanchon makes her debut. Collin, though realizing their relationship is a barrier, cannot resist professing his love. Fanchon cannot acknowledge hers without revealing her identity. Later, a threatening note comes from Tony. She visits him and repulses his advances. Tony informs Fanchon that Evelyn is alive but has lost her memory. He threatens to expose Fanchon unless she introduces him to Mrs. Carstairs as "Cesare Gilli." Although claiming he has Evelyn in his apartment, Tony refuses to let Fanchon see her. Two days later he calls at the Carstairs' home.

CHAPTER XXII

Collin Carstairs postponed his sailing. It was perfectly evident to him that quietly, almost obtrusively and, as if it were naturally, Cesare Gilli had become an intimate of the Carstairs' household. He was rather a silent young man who spoke of his past Florentine existence rarely, and then with a deep, melancholy which his hearers, not in the least understanding, still respected. He had excellent manners, good looks and a great deal of charm. Mrs. Carstairs found herself liking him, without reservations. The reservations had to do with her niece. She found that, for some curious reason, the girl was not herself when Gilli was around. Had it not been for this strange effect upon his "old friend" Jennie Carstairs would have liked him better. But as it was, her long experience of Europe and Europeans created a little intangible doubt of this almost too correct, and sometimes quite evasive young man, in her mind. It was nothing she could lay her finger on, and something she kept to herself, even when Collin losing no time in expressing his disapproval, informed his mother, in no uncertain terms, that there was something decidedly "fishy" about their new acquaintance. He, too, had noticed Gilli's effect upon the girl he loved. He said to Jennie: "She's afraid of him."

"But," said Mrs. Carstairs, "that is nonsense! It's your imagination."

"No, it is not. She is always on her guard when she talks to him, when any of us are there. Several times when they have been alone together I have come into the room suddenly. I've heard them arguing. . . ah, not loudly, but still, none to pleasantly, that was obvious." He was silent, remembering that on one occasion he had heard Gilli say, under his breath, "You'll play the game my way or not at all." Whatever it meant it was pretty high-handed and Collin grew more and more to dislike the intruder.

Fanchon, tactfully questioned upon her knowledge of him, said evasively that she had met him some years ago, and that he had turned up in San Francisco and had been very kind to her there. She had not attempted to establish the fiction that her friendship with him dated from Hawaiian experiences. Tony, she knew, had never been to Hawaii and there was no use in making things more difficult than they already were.

Evelyn and her present plight, was very much on her mind and heart. On several occasions she had conquered her fear and horror of seeing the girl and had begged Tony to let her do so, but he had refused.

"You will only upset yourself—and her," he had said. "there is nothing really to be gained."

She was forced to agree with him. She lived in a constant state of fear concerning his unknown next move. For the present, he seemed content to drop in for tea,, to join them at dinner, to go with them to the opera or at a theatre or at a supper club. To be introduced to various members of the Carstairs' circle, with whom he had become very popular. He was new. He was to all appearances vouched for; and he was—he must be—elegible. He dressed well, appeared to have money, and now and then returned the invitations given to him by small, correct, little parties. The girls found him a "knockout," the men agreed that he was a good sport.

But Fanchon knew he was marking time.

One day in early winter she had a letter from him. She read it with sinking heart and read the few lines it contained.

"I must see you alone," it began without preamble. "Please arrange a time. I spoke the other day of wishing to visit the Metropolitan museum. Unless I hear from you I will call for you tomorrow at three."

He had moved to a small, good hotel in New York and was living there for the time being. To Fanchon's inquiries. . . . "Evelyn—? he answered carelessly, that she was still in Brooklyn and was cared for; he saw her often.

On the following day he called for Fanchon and they walked the short distance from the apartment to the museum together. They went into one of the less frequented rooms, empty as it happened on that occasion, save for the incurious guard near the door. Leaning his arm on a case containing ancient Japanese swords, Tony came to the point.

"There is to be a masquerade ball," he said, "at Mrs. Van Suydam's. In two weeks. I have read it. You will get me an invitation. You will persuade Mrs. Carstairs to wear the emeralds she keeps, so wisely, in a safe deposit vault."

"Tony, what are you planning?" Fanchon whispered, white.

"You need not know," he said, "need have no further responsibility."

She said, flatly: "I won't do it."

"I think you will. After this, if I am successful you will not be troubled with me any longer. Unless you care to be. You would be wiser if you decided to care. To come with me. I doubt very much if we would ever be found. And perhaps we will not be looked for, Fanchon, after all, the Carstairs would not care to make a scandal in their own family. Yes, I think you would be very wise to come away with me. Otherwise you may be questioned, closely. Otherwise a number of unpleasant things might happen."

She realized that, though he was apparently giving her a choice, he was in reality leaving her none. There was much unspoken threat in his words. If she did not go away with him, it would mean—exposure, and it would mean perhaps something dreadful happening to Evelyn.

The Beauty Box

by Helen Follett

Wrinkles send word that they are coming. Tiny faint hair-lines first appear. That's the time to start a war against them. Facial muscles must become tranquil, no grimaces, frowns, squints. A heavy tissue cream must be applied faithfully every night with brisk slapping and hammering with the finger ends. After the cream is put on, apply ice. That hardens the emollient, makes friction more effective, hands the blood streams an order to attend to the business of restoring tone and resiliency to skin and tissues.

Those dollies who think they have to have highly colored finger nails are matching nail varnish to lipstick. And, naturally, the lipstick should be friendly with the factory blushes that ornament the female face divine—or otherwise. What with perfumes for certain moods, and make-up for certain frocks, and coiffures to match hats a woman's appearance has become as complicated as a jig-saw puzzle.

Vegetable and fruit stains on the hands give up the ghost if lemon juice is applied immediately. No sense waiting to do it; stains get a foothold in a few hour's time. Keep a half lemon on the shelf above the kitchen sink and plunge the finger tips into it. If left to dry on, it does quicker work than if rinsed away.

Getting a haircut for the new coiffure is something to think about it. Chances are that Pa's barber will make a mess of it. Go to a first class hairdresser, settle on a certain pattern or arrangement of your tresslocks, have them cut to conform with the design.

There are various means of removing moles—the electric needle, the X-ray and the freezing process. It is a rare circumstance for a mole to develop into a malignant growth, but since that sometimes happens it is best to have it removed by a medical man who has the scientific eye.

Mrs. Y—"My little girl recently stained her dress with vaseline, and I foolishly set the stain permanently by boiling. Now I have learned that I should have removed it before washing by saturating the stain with turpentine and letting it stand 30 minutes to an hour before laundering. A neighbor told me this and I thought I ought to pass it on to other women."

Miss W.—"I used to have trouble with my bureau drawers which stuck badly. Then I discovered that I could get rid of the trouble by rubbing a little paste floor wax on the sides and also on the lower edges of the drawers themselves, and polishing well. For, unless vigorously rubbed after being applied, wax will work a sticky coating instead of the hard smooth finish needed for easy slidin drawers. A bar of hard yellow soap may be used in the same way, but is not always as successful as wax."

Young Reader—"I have decided to make dustless dusters for my friends as Christmas gifts, as we have limited ourselves to presents under 25 cents. I shall use black cheesecloth, either cross-stitched or worked in some pretty way around the edge in coloring yarns, and have found the following method fine, in preparing dusters: Into a quart size empty preserve jar put one tablespoon of good liquid furniture polish or one table spoon of kerosene oil and one tablespoon of typewriter oil or paraffin oil. Turn and tip the jar until it is well coated with this liquid inside, then invert to let surplus oils drain out, before you put the square of cheesecloth into it. Cover and let stand with clean cheesecith inside it, and during this time the cloth will absorb the oily substance and will be fine to take up dust and also polish whatever surface it touches. I plan to give these gifts in small flat holly boxes, bought at any five and ten cent store, first wrapped in waxed paper, so that the box will not become oily. I'm going to write on a card for each box: "This dustless dustre brings Christmas cheer and warmest good wishes for all the year." Mybe someone else will be able to use this idea too?"

Add two tablespoons finely grated orange rind to the apple sauce for a change. Particularly nice when serving it with roast duck.

Three Balloons—A Symbol

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

An Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

"I insisted that my third wedding anniversary be celebrated at a cabaret instead of at home as before. I thought my husband, Adolph might humor me instead of looking so sorry for himself, though he did try to be gay at first. The trouble with Adolph and me is that he is foreign, and always doing something that made me feel conspicuous and ashamed of him.

"He'd stop a nurse maid, or some dowdy woman with a baby in a carriage, and make a fool of himself. Most always he carried toys for children in his pockets and sometimes he would stop and play with kids on the street. I never liked it, Miss aFirfax, because I don't like children.

"I thought he acted this way because he is a foreigner. He is a chef and makes very good wages, and I must say he was always generous to me about money. So when we left the cabaret after our third wedding anniversary, he went up to a toy balloon man, bought three toy balloons and released them, repeating: "One—two—three". It made me mad, so while he was watching the silly balloons I got into a cab and went home. He didn't follow and I haven't seen him since.

"In the pantry closet I found a lovely cake, iced beautifully. It is still there. All his clothes are here but he left the hotel where he worked for seven years. Sometimes I think I'll give him fits if he comes back—put him in his place. And then I cry and think, if he ever comes back, I'll never be hateful to him again; that if we have no children I'll adopt one. Sometimes I cry from anger, and then from grief. What do you think of our case?

Kitty L.

My dear child, you'd better make up your mind whether you're glad or sorry you are alone? And while you are coming to a decision, ask yourself—Am I ready to go to work? What did I ever give my husband, anyhow? Would I be different with anyone else, less self-centered, less sure my way of looking at things was the only way?

Make up your mind about these questions and don't be slow about it. If you decide you want him to come back, his return will be only temporary unless you give him more than it appears, from your own account, he has got out of his marriage with you. Maybe it was your idea to change Adolph, to make him over. He may have thought you wanted a real home with children. The incident of the baby carriages would suggest that.

Adolph seems to be generous, kindly, industrious. As for admiring babies in their carriages, I must plead guilty to that myself. Make up your mind, today, whether you want this husband of yours to go him back. If the latter, take the out of your life, or try to get iniative, seek out his friends, tell him—and mean it—what you will contribute toward the home.

You've covered three years, so go in for the remaining forty-seven. Good luck to you both, and may happines attend your golden wedding celebration.

Growing Deaf With Head Noises? Try This

If you are growing hard of hearing, and fear catarrhal deafness, or if you have roaring, rumbling hissing noises in your ears, go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmint (double strength) and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises, Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy, and the muscous stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to take. Anyone who is threatened with catarrhal deafness or who has head noises should give this prescription a trial.

Mix together 3 cups finely minced boiled codfish, 4 cups mashed potatoes and a large lump of butter. When well mixed add 2 well-beaten eggs, salt and pepper. Shape into croquettes, dip n egg and breadcrumbs and fry in deep fat.

More than the usual number of prairie people are here this month expressing a desire to winter here if suitable homes are to be had, which is out of the question as houses to rent are very scarce.

Science finds new reasons for KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN

MILLIONS have found Kellogg's ALL-BRAN a safe way to overcome common constipation. Now science shows this delicious cereal brings three benefits to the diet: "Bulk." Vitamin B. Iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like the "bulk" in lettuce—only it is concentrated in a more convenient form to relieve constipation. It absorbs moisture, forms a soft mass, which gently clears out the wastes.

Vitamin B tones the intestines, and promotes regular habits. Iron builds blood, and aids health generally.

No wonder ALL-BRAN is considered far more natural than pills and drugs — so often habit-forming. Try two tablespoonfuls daily. If you suffer from intestinal trouble not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Serve ALL-BRAN as a cereal or use in cooking. Recipes on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

SUNSHINE BAY AND HARROP GUESTS AT BOARD'S LUNCHEON

New Policy of Entertaining Districts in Effect; Four Delegates

O. B. APPLETON AND H. FAIRBANK SPEAK

Visit Gives Rise to Suggestion That Organizations Join Board

Harrop and Sunshine Bay districts were entertained through their representatives, by the Nelson board of trade at its monthly luncheon Thursday, when the new plan of entertaining some district delegation each month was in effect for the first time.

O. B. Appleton and G. D. G. Barwis were present from the Sunshine Bay Cooperative, and H. Fairbank and B. C. Creasey from the Harrop Cooperative, those being the organizations invited by the council, which is charged with looking after this feature, to arrange their local delegations. The visitors were warmly welcomed by President H. M. Whimster, and their introduction was heartily applauded.

APPLETON APPLAUDS MOVE

Speaking on behalf of Sunshine Bay, Mr. Appleton expressed warm approval of the board's departure in the line of inviting district delegations to its meetings as a means of getting better acquainted and of getting light on problems of the different sections. He said he was told by a friendly observer at the coast that the failure of the Fraser Valley milk producers to obtain desired legislation was largely due to lack of acquaintance, and to the Vancouver representatives failing to appreciate the producers' viewpoint. "After you put your feet under the table with a man, it is hard to quarrel with him," he summarized.

He suggested that when in the course of time the board of trade had worked through all the districts and run out of material of guests, it could possibly apply the same principle in Nelson, and invite groups of young men to its deliberations, to start them on the road to consideration of the community's problems, and to a broad outlook.

FAIRBANK SEES POSSIBILITIES

Mr. Fairbank, speaking for Harrop, spoke of the material advantage of meeting in this way, and said it made for friendship with the country as well. "You depend a little on the country," he reminded his hearers.

He said he rather liked the idea of institutes belonging to the board of trade, referring to the negotiations from the West Kootenay Central Farmers' institute regarding joining. Quite often the rural districts had problems which outside assistance would help to solve. Their problems in connection with fruit or with the farm generally, could generally get action through the higher channels of their own organizations, but when it came to community matters, such for instance as roads, the localities could benefit by assistance from outside themselves.

Two points on which assistance could be of service were mentioned by Mr. Fairbank.

RAISES TWO PROBLEMS

One was the matter of the main lake ferry-steamer passing Procter without call, except for the first outward trip of the day, thus compelling car-owners of that locality driving around to Fraser's Landing, or returning that way. He did not suggest that Procter should have regular calls, but he did think it should be a flag point for the ferry.

Another was the matter of the way the railway company handled the main lake fruit consignments brought in by the ferry and landed on the Procter wharf after it was through its trips for the day. The cases were loaded on springless C. P. R. trucks, which were hitched behind a truck and waltzed up to the depot. In the case of cherries, which Boswell shipped heavily, the consignments were damaged by this rough treatment, to the loss of the growers.

WHIMSTER WELCOMES IDEA

President Whimster took note of the two matters mentioned, and intimated that the Nelson board would be pleased to have local organizations in the different districts join as rural members if they so desired. In such case it could be arranged that the organization concerned could be represented by different delegates, as its convenience should dictate.

Relief and Christmas Cheer

In the United States, the President's Organization of Unemployment Relief has been carrying on a very interesting campaign to raise money for relief purposes during the winter season. It has been publishing a series of advertisements, which are stimulating, in that they lack the usual sob-stuff, and yet at the same time, have a most compelling appeal, and undoubtedly will result in the raising of many millions of dollars.

One advertisement reads as follows:

They tell me there's five or six millions of us—out of jobs.

I know that's not your fault, any more than it is mine.

But that doesn't change the fact that some of us right now are in a pretty rough spot—with families to worry about—and a workless winter ahead.

Understand, we're not begging. We'd rather have a job than anything else you can give us.

We're not scared, either. If you think the good old U.S.A. is in a bad way more than temporarily, just try to figure out some other place you'd rather be.

But, until times do loosen up, we've got to have a little help.

So I'm asking YOU to give us a lift, just as I would give one to you if I stood in your shoes and you in mine.

Now don't send me any money—that isn't the idea. Don't even send any to the Committee which signs this appeal.

The best way to help us is to give as generously as you can to your local welfare and charity organizations, your community chest or your emergency relief committee, if you have one.

That's my story, the rest is up to you.

I'll see it through—if YOU will!

—Unemployed, 1931.

In Canada we are carrying on a great deal of governmental relief, both in the way of direct relief and by means of public works, which after all is the only really satisfactory way of giving relief, as no self-respecting man wishes to obtain relief without working for it. We nevertheless must face the situation that during the coming winter an unusually large amount of money will be required for special cases where relief is needed and cannot be given through the ordinary sources, and for such funds as the Christmas Cheer fund.

Mayor Morgan of Nelson is taking the right course in this city by pressing the formation of a joint committee to raise funds and administer Christmas Cheer and other relief. This is a step in the direction of a Community Chest, to which we in Nelson should give serious consideration.

Russians Must Eat

Soviet officials in Berlin have been in a hurry—perhaps in too great a hurry—to deny the report made by the soviet ambassador to France that Russia will export no wheat this year or next. That the soviet government will greatly curtail its wheat exports and refrain from any further dumping seems to be a warrantable conclusion to draw, from a survey of crop conditions generally in the big wheat-growing countries and from the present upward trend of the wheat market.

Last year the soviet union exported a full 110,000,000 bushels. This was necessary, according to Ambassador Dovgalevsky, to establish Russian credits for the purchase of the machinery required for building up the industrial system to carry out Stalin's five-year plan. At the same time the Ambassador admitted that the entire Russian people had been put on short rations to make this wheat export possible.

Actual conditions in Russia are difficult to gauge under the strict censorship exercised by the Moscow authorities. But one thing is certain. Russians must eat, even if not much. Dictator Stalin cannot afford to starve his industrial army entirely to death. The time may well have arrived when sufficient bread for the workers at home is more imperative for the success of his five-year plan than establishing further Russian credits abroad. If the Soviets have purchased all the machinery they need for present industrial purposes, they may well have decided to pay a little more attention to the human element for the next two years.

An industrial experiment forced through to completion on half-famished and disgruntled millions might prove something worse for Dictator Stalin than the loss of his foreign markets. Unless he can raise the standard of living for the Russian workers, so that it compares favorably with that of other nations, his five-year-plan will be rated a failure by his own people, no matter how much modern and up-to-date machinery he succeeds in installing.

What the Press Is Saying

TO SPEND OR NOT TO SPEND

To spend or not to spend is the question which the average Canadian citizen is hearing most these days. One group of economists urges him to buy while prices are low, to spend his money not wastefully, but carefully, although freely. Another group of the same gentlemen advises him to save every dollar he can, that thrift is the watchword by which prosperity will be restored and that the accumulated savings of the whole will start and keep the wheels of industry turning. On this question the Toronto Star says:

"It is not easy to know what to do when expert advice is so conflicting. The savings deposits of the Canadian people increase by millions each month. Ordinarily this would be all right and greatly to the good because money in savings deposit isn't money withdrawn from circulation. It is money of the multitude placed in small amounts at centers where the total of it aggregates a great deal, and is available for use in large and profitable enterprises. It is not idle money. It is at work, and it earns more than is paid to the modest depositor. His little deposit cannot do much but 10,000 deposits like his form a lump of capital which can accomplish something.

"The difficulty at present is that the savings deposits grow larger and larger and the enterprises which should be using this capital do not seem to be using it. There ought to be a freer lending of money to competent business men entering upon promising undertakings."

The average citizen listening to both sides no doubt will buy what he needs when he needs it providing he has the money wherewith to buy. And in any case those who have refrained from buying since the depression started are arriving at the time when replacements are becoming necessary. While it cannot be positively stated that commodity prices have definitely and permanently turned upward there are indications that such is the case. If so, buying will be more profitable than buying a few months hence. —The Saskatoon Phoenix-Star.

Swish, swush, swish, swush,
Do you hear the merry song?
Swish, swush, swish, swush,
He heard it all day long.
Just what's it all about, you say?
This swish and all the fuss
Why it's the rain and snow at play.
It's more commonly known as slush.

The snow fell slowly and finely. It increased its onrush and by morning six or seven inches had piled up. Bill Smith rose from his bed and proceeded to search around the the alley for his automobile. After some effort he found it. It was hiding behind a few snowflakes. Taking a broom and shovel he soon unearthed his car. Who is Bill Smith? Why, that's just a fictitious name. Bill Smith was any Nelsonite on Thursday morning.

Thursday was the nearest day we have had to that memorable Christmas eve of a year ago. People who were in Nelson at that time did not feel at all uncomfortable yesterday. How thrilling it was to step off the sidewalk into about a foot of slush or water. How exciting to plow down the street and hear the moisture underfoot "scramming" to get free. But it is odd what a little snow can do. Shoemen displayed and sold a lot of rubbers. Clothing merchants filled their windows with winter underwear and heavy sox. Spats were on display and the radio agent, believing the advance notice of winter was a good sign stepped out to sell a few radios so that Nelsonites would not find the winter evenings too boresome. It's an ill wind, etc., etc.

It was a toss-up yesterday between the city workmen who were keeping the traffic lanes open, and the salesmen of rubbers. Both declared, around six o'clock, that they had been the busiest men in town.

I do know that William Fotheringham was glad to see the day come to an end—I saw Thomas Brown buying some tobacco—And Art Bush appeared to be sporting some new rubbers—And was carrying a package which resembled a pair of shoes—James Will was loading up with his favorite tobacco—And said it aught to last him until Christmas—Sergeant Alex Stewart was carrying something over his arm that resembled a folded pair of trousers or a coat—W. W. Ferguson bought his winter gloves—He does not like lined gloves—R. Andrew was seen headed in the direction of the Hume hotel—Bill Taylor can't understand the weather—Alex Leith was getting a few pointers while the boys were playing "pan"—Paddy George was out for his afternoon walk—And was being greeted by friends—And a lot of automobile drivers enjoyed themselves adjusting chains—Those who did not put on chains had the fun of d[illegible] their cars in a direction they [illegible]n did not aim at—But it was [illegible]ay.

There is a little town so quaintly named in Norway, not many miles from the seaport Trondhjem. Beyond the piquancy of its name there is little to attract a visitor, but the railroad that operates between Trondhjem and Hell does a thriving business in sale of tickets to tourists, who generally do not avail themselves of the opportunity to make the journey, whether from a desire not to precipitate destiny or just the lack of time.

A third-class one way ticket from Trondhjem to Hell costs 60 cents, but the English-speaking tourists feel the expenditure is worth while for the profane puns to which they can treat the folks at home on their return.

What Do You Think?

Would Apply the Intelligence Tests to Teachers First

To the Editor of the Nelson Daily News:

Sir—An article appearing in a recent issue of the Literary Digest entitled "Phychic Hocus Pocus" has interested me very much. I have always suspected that psycho-analysis and intelligence tests with their intelligence quotients and their emotional quotients were somewhat akin to the hocus-pocus of the mediaeval ages but I have carefully concealed my distrust of these things lest I should be considered hoplessly stupid, re-actionary and old fashioned but I seem to gain a little self-esteem when a periodical of the literary eminence of the Digest dares to print in bold headlines what I have been afraid even to think.

A practical illustration is given of the experience of a "problem boy" in one of the schools.

A visiting teacher, a psychiatric social worker, referred the boy to a psychiatric clinic, which was telling the world what it was doing for "child guidance."

They spent weeks, yes, months "testing" the boys, circling all around the mulberry bush, while an honest-to-goodness old fashioned doctor or oculist would have hit the lad's trouble within five minutes after the lad had climbed into his chair.

Here is what they did:

First—Lengthy oral examination of boy and recording of his statements.

Second—Investigation of his school history.

Third—Investigation of family history.

Fourth—Search of records of social service exchange for "contacts with other agencies" and communication with those agencies.

Fifth—Intelligence test to establish his "I. Q." or intelligence quotient.

Sixth—Emotional test to establish his "E. Q." or emotional quotient.

Seventh—Test of his reflexes.

And finally, eighth—Physical examination, when they made the discovery that—he needed glasses.

The article goes on to speak of the real harm done to the boy by all this testing, reflexing and elaborate technical questioning. One really wonders how a normal boy could endure all this and retain his reason. Had the boy been delivered over to the inmates of a lunatic asylum he could not have fared worse.

There is a fundamental principle that is overlooked by those responsible for intelligence and emotional tests. It is this: No child in the presence of either teachers, parents or superiors reacts naturally or normally to tests of any kind. In the presence of teachers and parents children are actuated mainly by a desire to conceal their real feelings and emotions, to hide their ignorance and to win approbation. When this is fully realized we shall give up trying to set down in percentages the intelligence, the emotional qualities and the aesthetic perception of our children. We shall take them as God gave them to us and be thankful that He did not make them exact copies of ourselves.

But if intelligence tests must be applies by all means let them be applied first to the teachers and school supervisors who are exercising some sort of moulding influence on the rising generation. We can never hope that the children of our schools will be bright, wide-awake and intelligent unless the teachers and school supervisors whom they meet daily have some of these qualities. The only way to awaken the slumbering intelligence of the child is by contact with intelligent people at home or at school. Emotional qualities such as love, sympathy, pity, etc., can only be developed in the child by contact with parents and teachers, who react to these emotions. Only life can beget life. Contact with dull, prosy people, however much they may discourse of psycho-analysis and intelligence quotients, can produce nothing in the child but dullness and stupidity.

I once heard a retired teacher who had been principal of a school for many years remark that what amazed him most was the general mental inertia of teachers and lack of interest in the subjects they were supposed to teach. "Not one teacher out of a hundred," he said, "cares to talk about history, geography, biology, or literature. And that is not all," he continued, "Not one teacher in a hundred could pass the simplest examination in the elements of any one of these subjects."

When I ventured to suggest that perhaps he was a little severe, in his judgment he said, "If you doubt me ask any teacher to show you how to extract the cube root, to add mixed circulating decimals, to explain to you the difference between bank discount and true discount and see how quickly he will politely turn the subject or find that he has pressing engagement elsewhere. Then when he is gone send him a letter through the mail and offer him $5 for solutions within 24 hours of the following questions:

1. If the cost had been eight per cent less the gain would have been 10 per cent more. Find gain per cent (arithmetical solution.)

2. A boy hired with a farmer for one hundred dollars per year and a suit of clothes. At the end of seven months he received $50 and the suit of clothes. Find the value of the suit (arithmetical solution).

3. A room is 30 feet long, 24 feet wide and 12 feet high. On the middle of one end wall one foot from the ceiling is a spider. On the middle of the opposite end wall one foot from the floor is a fly. What is the shortest distance by which the spider crawling on the walls, floor, or ceiling in a continuous unbroken line can reach the fly? (Answer, 40 feet.)

4. The diagonal of the base of a square pyramid is 476 feet. Each of its slant sides is an isosceles triangle whose base is one half of one of its equal sides. Find the perpendicular height of the pyramid.

I thought Mr. Retired Teacher was getting a little hyper-critical and I ventured to suggest that a teacher might know considerable arithmetic and not be able to explain any of the things he suggested or solve any one of the trick problems he had enunciated.

"It is even worse in literature," he began. But I did not care to hear any more destructive criticism of my friends the teachers, so I discovered that I had an important engagement and hastily bid the retired teacher good night.

But my! My! If the teachers have no real interest in the subjects they teach—if they have only a fragmentary knowledge of these subjects, is it any wonder they resort to hocus-pocus in order to hide the grand farce that is being staged under the name of education.

Growing Mushrooms at Home

By G. L. LANDON, Grand Forks, B. C.
(From an article published in The Country Gentleman)

Mushrooms are grown in caves, in sheds that are free from drafts and excessive moisture, in cellars where the temperature is kept at from 55 to 60 degrees. The cellar where the heater is situated is a first-class place. There will be no danger of the temperature falling too low, and should it exceed 60 degrees—which is unlikely—ventilation, by opening the windows, will bring it down. When ventilation is necessary, see that no direct cold draft strikes the mushrooms. This is a good time to prepare a bed.

The bed is made on the cellar floor, all that is required being rough 12-inch wide boards, fixed rigidly, and of any length to suit requirements. The bed should be four feet wide, the wall forming one side. If space is limited additional beds are made in tiers one above the other, allowing three feet between each. Such shelf beds must be built strongly to support the weight of the manure and soil. The beginner will be wise to start with one solid floor bed, even if it be small. From a bed 12 feet long and four feet wide at least 100 pounds of mushrooms should be gathered from one spawning.

Horse manure from stables where straw is used for bedding is absolutely necessary. Those who own horses should carefully gather the fresh droppings every day. As each barrowful is put aside add about the same weight—this will be rather less than one-third in bulk—of fresh loam from a pasture. The droppings and soil are mixed together day by day as collected. Of course, if the requisite quantity can be procured at once proceedings are hastened. The heap must be turned every day, thus preventing it from heating violently, until enough has been accumulated to make up a bed of the dimensions desired. During this time the manure must be kept where it is not exposed to rains.

The prepared compost is placed in the bed in layers, each layer being firmly tramped with a brick or a wooden block. It is impossible to pack the compost too tightly. When the last layer has been tamped and levelled as smooth as possible it should be three inches lower than the wooden sides. Thus the bed will be about nine inches deep. A hotbed thermometer is now plunged into the bed. In a day or two the temperature may rise above 100 degrees. When the temperature falls to 86 degrees the bed is ready for spawning. The proper temperature is usually attained in the course of 10 to 12 days.

BE SURE TO GET FRESH SPAWN

Insist upon getting fresh stock; spawn kept too long loses its vitality. It must be on hand before the bed is made so that it will be ready to use immediately the heat has declined to the proper temperature. Until required the spawn must be kept in a cool place, but just before breaking it into the desired sizes wrap the bricks in a wet piece of burlap for a few hours.

With a stout dibble make holes three to four inches deep, spacing the holes 10 to 12 inches apart each way. Into each hole press a piece of spawn, roughly about the size of a hen's egg. Fill the hole up with the compost.

When the bed is being made be careful that the compost is nicely moist but not really wet. It should be kept, as nearly as possible, in that condition from then until the crop is finished.

WATER SPRINKLING

After spawning is completed and the holes filled in the surface of the bed is again tamped and smoothed; and if it shows indications of being dry give it a sprinkling of tepid water. In 10 to 12 days the spawn should have run through the entire bed, and it must then be covered with a layer of fresh loam, the layer being from one to two inches deep; no more. Firm the soil down with the back of a spade quite smoothly, sprinkle with tepid water and cover with three or four inches of clean hay or straw. Little further action is necessary, except watering, until the mushrooms appear, six to nine weeks after spawning.

No part of mushroom culture is more important than moisture. If too much water be given it will cause the spawn to rot; if the bed be kept too dry the crop is seriously retarded, though not not necessarily injured. If the temperature of the cellar can be kept around 60 degrees this will be ideal, but if it gets below 40 degrees the bed will become very cool and so delay the crop. Unless the atmosphere of the cellar is unusually dry, mushrooms may appear before there is any necessity for further watering, but the bed must be examined regularly, and should the surface show indications of drying out give it a gentle sprinkling of water heated to about 100 degrees; not over that figure.

HEATED WATER A NECESSITY

The straw covering on the bed tends to keep it moist, but it must be removed when the heated water is given, then replaced. To avoid to some extent the necessity of having to water the bed, sprinkle the floor around it every day if the air in the cellar is very dry. But as it is absolutely desirable that the surface should never become quite dry, the straw should be removed every second day, dampening any dry spots that may be showing.

When the mushrooms appear the bed must be given daily attention. It may require more water now—always use it heated—but only so far as to keep the surface nicely moist.

When the mushrooms are growing singly they should be taken up by gently twisting them from the bed, but not until the veil under the cap, or top, of the mushroom is broken. When they are growing quite thickly together carefully cut off the matured ones so that the smaller may be left to develop.

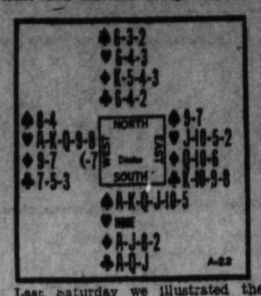
After the first crop is finished the bed is allowed to become slightly dry, when the holes are filled up and the entire surface is given a light dressing of fresh soil to a depth of about half an inch, beating this down with a spade. It is then sprinkled with tepid water, and a second crop may be gathered in the course of a few weeks. The second crop is often much better than the first. A properly made bed will sometimes produce for quite three months, and an average crop from first to last picking, may yield in all one pound of mushrooms to the square foot.

Many experienced growers follow a slightly different method in the preparation of their beds, eliminating the use of soil from the manure and using it only as a cover.

Auction and Contract Bridge

By the World's Leading Authority,
MILTON C. WORK

This article is intended for the Contract and Auction Bridge Beginner



Last Saturday we illustrated the important subject of how to ferret out hidden entries in dummy and we showed one method; that of making a high ruff in closed hand. Today we give another illustration of that, as well as another method.

With South playing a Spade contract and West leading a Heart, Declarer desires to lead Diamonds, and Clubs from dummy toward the closed hand; if the Club finesse should succeed, he may want to lead Clubs twice. One dummy entry is apparent—the King of Diamonds—but the other two needed do not seem to be there.

With the five trump honors it can do no harm to ruff the first trick with one of them, as all four of the adverse trumps can be drawn even if they are in one hand. If they are divided, a trump entry can be made in dummy by closed hand's high ruff.

Thus far we have a repetition of the case cited last week. Declarer ruffs trick one with an honor and then leads two trump honors; and as he is fortunate enough to draw all the adverse trumps, he leaves dummy's Six a winner over closed hand's Five. That much accomplished, two entries in dummy are assured; but Declarer may need another.

Leading the Diamonds to trick 4 and putting dummy in with the King so as to return the lead for the Ace-Jack Diamond finesse, South should lead the Eight, not the Deuce. If the adverse Diamonds are divided 4-1, the Eight will not be of any more value than the Deuce on the fourth round; if they are divided 3-2 (the probable division), leading the Eight will make an extra entry of one of dummy's small Diamonds.

With the Eight led and the King winning trick 4, dummy returns the Trey of Diamonds and South finesses the Jack (trick 5); South then leads the Diamond Ace and dummy plays the Four to trick 6. This exhausts all adverse Diamonds and South leads the Diamond Deuce to trick 7, dummy winning with the Five. To trick 8 dummy leads a Club and South finesses when East does not play the King. Another Club finesse being needed, South finesses when dummy is put in with the trump entry to lead the second Club and due to the creation of extra entries in dummy Declarer takes 13 tricks.

That Body of Yours

HOW HEALING OCCURS

You will meet a man on whom a scratch, cut, bruise or other injury will heal up very rapidly, while there will be another in whom the slightest scratch or cut takes a long time to heal. Both will tell you that it is because of the good or bad condition of the skin.

As a matter of fact wher the cut or other injury happens in the same way or under the same circumstances it is really the condition of the blood, and the power or condition of the heart, that really means a slow or quick healing.

It is really the white corpuscles in the blood that keep the cut or other injury to heal. They kill harmful organisms.

Of course where the wound is dirty or gets some harmful organisms in it, cleaning it well, or applying solutions that kill harmful organisms, enables Nature to do her work properly and promptly. Nature simply sends more of these white corpuscles to this particular spot for the time being.

Dr. Burr Ferguson, Birmingham, Ala., investigating this method Nature uses in healing, discovered that the number of white corpuscles in the blood taken from the margin of an injured ear was one seventh more than the blood taken from the tip of the finger.

As the injury had occurred three weeks before and there had been no improvement for two weeks, Dr Ferguson took it for granted that if it took one seventh more white blood corpuscles to prevent the injury getting worse, more corpuscles would bring about complete healing. Accordingly he injected a weak solution of hydrochloric acid into a vein which increased the number of white corpuscles and four days later the ear was much improved and the white corpuscles were now reduced in number as there was not the same need for them.

What is the lesson?

That you and I can help the healing of wounds, can help every part of the body to ward off ailments and fight them more successfully if our blood is in good condition and being pumped well all over the body. And the simplest way to do this is to eat an all round diet, exercise some daily in the open air to help burn up waste products, and to see that the rest of the waste is removed daily from the intestine.

Schmeling's Manager Would Fight Bout in Los Angeles Unless Madison Square Garden Comes Through With More Money

Jacobs Contends That the Garden Has No Hold on Heavyweight Champ

NEW YORK, Nov. 13 (AP) (By Edward J. Neil)—Madison Square Garden must compete with a $200,000 offer from Los Angeles for Max Schmeling's services as heavyweight champion if it is to retain its legendary control of boxing's big business asset.

So spake Joe Jacobs, manager of the black-browed Teuton, as he sailed into port today after a visit of several months in Germany. Furthermore, he has much more to say, all of it indicating there may be stirring times ahead for the heavyweight division, either in the prize rings of the nation of the law courts.

CLEARS UP TIES

With one lingual blast Jacobs cleared Schmeling of all ties with Madison Square Garden, which, through an Illinois subsidiary, nurses a contract it believes binding the heavyweight champion's services until July 15, 1931. The Garden even went so far as to issue a statement today warning Schmeling that any attempt to fight for anyone selse before fulfilling his contract would be accomplished only over the bodies of the "600 millionaires" legal staffs.

But Jacobs read aloud for the press the opinion of his own lawyers that the Garden contract expired the night Schmeling scored a technical knockout over Young Stribling in Cleveland last July. Then Jacobs went on to paint fantastic pictures of the future.

Jacobs said he had a cable from Jack Dempsey while in Berlin saying the old mauler would fight again and would be ready for a match with Schmeling only in June. This duel, bringing together the old Dempsey and the youngster who looks enough like him in ring clothes to be a brother, will revive the $2,000,000 gates of the golden Tex Rickard era, Jacobs maintained, and is open to the highest bidder, the Garden included.

But in the meantime—and Jacobs said he expected to converse with Dempsey by phone within 24 hours, the little fellow with the big cigar is leaning strongly toward the proposition a half dozen Los Angeles newspaper publishers have made him for a match with Mickey Walker there February 22. The guarantee of $200,000 plus an offer of $50,000 in Schmeling will train in Agua Caliente, pleases Schmeling no end, but the boxing laws in California form a stumbling block. Schmeling will fight no one 10 rounds for the title, the championship bout limit in California, and he fears the people might not be interested in the 12-round no-decision contests permitted there. But Schmeling is willing to meet Walker in Los Angeles for 12 rounds unless the Garden betters the coast offer.

Schmeling is due here early in December and will embark immediately upon an exhibition tour lasting two months and ending in Los Angeles.

Jacobs said Schmeling was in perfect condition.

KIMBERLEY BEATS TRAIL HOOP FIVE

Kimberley High School Girls Beat Cranbrook in Preliminary Game

KIMBERLEY, B. C., Nov. 12—Overcoming Trail's classy display of basketball of the first 10 minutes, the Kimberley representative team took hold of play and dominated the rest of the game to gain a 24-20 victory. Except for the first few minutes of the game Kimberley checked closely and at half time were leading 16-8.

With the resumption of play, Kimberley continued to hold the major portion of play.

THE LINEUPS WERE AS FOLLOWS

Kimberley—J. McGowan 9; A. Oliver 4; A Mackie 6; J. Livingstone, T. McVicar 2; Beck 2; D. Foubister 1; A. Nicholson, E. Dupuis, I. Douglas.

Trail Sheiks—J. Burrows 2; J. Rothery 2; W. Milburn 4; J. Morris 3; E. Baillie, K. Sammons 3; K. Chandler 6.

In the preliminary game the Kimberley high school girls defeated the high school from Cranbrook by a score of 18-12, after an interesting game.

OXFORD BEATEN

LONDON, Nov. 12. (CP cable)—The touring South African rugby team today overwhelmed an Oxford university fifteen. The match, which was played at Oxford, was won by South Africa by 24 points to 3.

"On the Spot" in Sport

(By "O.J.W.S.")

Officials of the Western Canada Rugby Union have decided that there should be some amendments made to the Official Code in Canada. They are good suggestions, too. The rule prohibiting hurdling the line feet first is a particularly brainy thought for, every year numbers of rugby players are injured this way. To be tackled while flying through the air is an excellent way to insure collecting accident insurance. If there is a penalty for this sort of thing it is less liable to happen for only in cases of extreme necessity will a player dive over the opposing line. Even if he does, he is not liable to kick an opponent in the head as he flies by. Officials want to increase the penalty for rough play to a loss of yards in addition to the present time penalty. A good idea.

That Regina Roughrider aggregation must be a powerful brute of a team the way it walloped the Calgary Altomah-Tigers, 26-2. After the fray was over the Roughriders had their sixth successive western Canada title under their belts, and the right to meet the Eastern champs, the Winged Wheelers of Montreal. Calgary had a tough break right at the start of the game when Hall, their star kicker, and the man who made most of the points against V. A. C. team was carried off the field. The Wheelers better put in their strongest dynamite to stop the men from the west who are, in realty, "Roughriders."

Wonder how many ladies in the crowd fainted (if any) when Roxborough lost his pants in the English rugby game at the coast the other afternoon? Instead of becoming embarassed at the loss of his clothing, this hardy individual kept right on—pants or no pants—and scored his point. Had that happened in a game down in the States, Roxborough, immediately and go right on and score without the slightest embarrassment . . ."—Whoops.

after the game would have been besieged by underwear salesmen endeavoring to find out if it was their particular brand of garment that had saved the situation — for "Roxby" went right on playing in his "undies"

In the next issue of such-and-such a magazine there would appear a testimonial advertisement running something like this. "Until I were Never-Ravel underwear on the playing field, I lived in constant dread of losing my pants. But now I find, thanks to Never-Ravel, that I can have my shorts ripped from my hips

TORONTO LEAFS GO DOWN BEFORE THE HAWKS, 2-1

First Game Is Played in the New Arena of the Toronto Club

TORONTO, Nov. 12 (CP)—Superior condition and more deadly marksmanship gave Chicago Black Hawks a 2 to 1 victory over Toronto Maple Leafs in the opening game of the National Hockey league season here tonight before a crowd of 13,500 spectators.

Official ceremonies opening the new $2,000,000 home of the Leafs delayed the start of the game more than half an hour and the huge crowd was disappointed when the Leafs failed in their first start. Incidentally it is the first time the Hawks have won a regularly scheduled league game from the Leafs, though they ousted the Toronto club from the play-offs last season.

TRAIL'S HOCKEY TEAM PRACTICES FOR FIRST TIME

TRAIL, B. C., Nov. 12—Warming up in preparation for the season-opening, Trail Smokeaters had their first hockey practice at the rink last night. They showed up well, considering it was their first time on the ice, and it appeared to club officials that Trail might "go places" in this year's hockey.

The boys showing up included Hornquist and Dupuis, goalies; Murdock, Jordon and Reddick, defence men; Hazzard, Harry Brown, Wheatley, Thorarinson, Brennan and Sarnec; and Buckna and Fred Brown of the juniors.

TEMPORARY STEPS TRAVERSE SWAMP AT HIGH SCHOOL

At last, the hazardous swamp adjacent to the fire escape at the high school has been replaced by a fine set of steps. These steps are the result of unselfishness on the part of J. E. Hamson, janitor of the school, who gave up a hunting trip in order that the fans would not have to traverse this terrible mire. Several fans who would have liked to attend basketball games at the high school recently did not, on account of having to traverse the swamp. It is hoped that the temporary steps will be replaced by a cement structure next year.

KIMBERLEY, B. C., Nov. 12—Kimberley is putting itself directly in line for a good season of basketball this year. On Saturday night of this week two teams from the Athalmer-Invermere district will play at McDougall hall, the ladies' teachers team to tackle one team and the Falcon Intermediates the other.

VENICE, Italy, Nov. 12 (AP)—Prince Carlo Ruspoli, driving the speedboat Nanette, a six-litre craft, today did 63.7 miles per hour on a straightaway run.

There is no recognized mark for six litre boats but the record for the nearest class in America, boats of 340 cubic inches, is 50.99 miles per hour set at Houston, Texas, July 2, 1927, by Richard Loynes, in Miss California.

CRESTON CLUB TO USE PAVILION

Council Gives Sanction Providing Property Will Be Taken Care of

CRESTON, B. C., Nov. 12.—Busines coming before the November meetings of the village council on Monday night was disposed of with neatness and dispatch. Reeve E. H. Jackson presided, and Councillor Edmondson was the only other member of the board present.

The feature of the gathering was the receiving of a delegation from Creston Athletic club, who were asking for the free use of the park pavilion for the winter months for gymnasium and indoor sport purposes. The case was ably presented by W. J. Truscott and George H. Kelly. The use of the building for three nights was asked, and the council will concede the request provided that good care will be taken of the property.

Among the correspondence was a letter from Creston Power & Light company assuring that they will stand all the expense of the proposed power plebiscite. C. H. Hare wrote asking for a street light at Alder street and the public road at the north end of town, but the request was not favorably entertained. Neither was the letter from Charles Moore who is willing to accept $37.50 for a ten-foot-deep strip of the frontage of his lot on Canyon street. The clerk will advise Mr. Moore that they will pay only their original offer of $25.

The accounts for the month, totalling $796, were ordered paid. In this is $278 for the improvements on Wilson avenue, and when this was reached C. F. Hayes, on behalf of the property owners interested, expressed appreciation of the practical consideration given their request for this work and assured the commissioners that excellent value had been obtained for the amount expended.

Councillor Edmondson reported that the Chevrolet truck recently purchased has been fitted up as a fire truck and is ready for use.

It is agreed to spend $150 for wiring the park pavilion, the work to start immediately.

ARMISTICE PROGRAM AT CRESTON IS AN IMPRESSIVE AFFAIR

CRESTON, B. C., Nov. 12,—Ideal weather prevailed here throughout the day and the usual Armistice exercises were carried out in impressive fashion. The turnout of veterans was the largest ever seen at an affair of the sort at Creston, but the holiday did not have the same happy effect on the citizenship.

The returned men, in charge of Sergt. Major R. T. Millner, marched off promptly from their assembling place, reaching the monument just prior to 11 a. m., with the exercises starting with two minutes' silence.

Bugler G. H. Kelly sounded the "Last Post," and this was followed by the placing of wreaths on the monument, all the organizations in the village paying their respects in this fashion. Rev. A. Walker had an appropriate invocation and a timely address was given by Rev. T. Scott, who based his remarks on the text: "To what purpose is this waste."

During the exercises, " O Canada," and "O God Our Help in Ages Past," were rendered, and at the close came the "Reveille," and "God Save the King," after which the parade moved off to Creston cemetery where the graves of fallen veterans were decorated.

At 12:30 the veterans sat down at the usual Armistice day dinner at the King George hotel, and at evening the Armistice day dance was held in the park pavilion.

Daly; Nicodemus, Gordon Sommerville, Jarulus' daughter, Miss Gardiner; Mary Magdalene, Miss Josephine Roscorla; Judas, D. MacNaughton; Phillip, Monty Graham; Leper, Eric Blackwell. The Scripture setting was read by Miss Elsie Roscorla.

NEW YORK LIST LOSES HEART IN ACTIVE TRADING

Closing Prices Are Irregular; Silver Bullion Recovers Nearly a Cent

NEW YORK, Nov. 13 (AP)—Stocks managed to disregard the weakness of grains during much of today's session, but lost heart in the trading, or just after the day's best rally. Closing prices were irregular, with the balance, as measured by the averages, favoring the downside by a narrow margin.

The market was even quieter than yesterday, sales totalling 1,450,482 shares.

Silver bullion recovered almost a cent of yesterday's loss.

In a last minute break New York Central was off 4 points net. Union Pacific sagged after thte regular dividend had been voted.

Most leading carriers closed lower.

U. S. Steel, American Telephone, American Can and Case closed from a fraction to about a point off. Allied Chemical, General Motors, American Tobacco, McKeesport, Tin Plate and Continental Can returned gains. Radio was weak in sympathy with Radio Keith Orpheum's decline, while Westinghouse and General Electric, both large holders of Radio, eased a point. Homestake boomed 9 points but fell back 3 from the top.

The monetary gold stock was up $35,000,000.

Foreign exchanges were rather heavy. French francs sagged half a point for cables, and sterling closed slightly lower.

German marks, however, firmed, and so did the Japanese yen. Shanghai taels and Mexican dollars recovered with silver.

The bond market wavered irregularly today, and trading, although more active than on Wednesday, continued quiet.

Foreign loans provided many of the widest fluctuations.

Saskatchewan is cutting grants to schools and the provincial university.

TORONTO STOCKS DROP A LITTLE

Most of Losses Caused by Normal Profit-Taking; Nickel Is Off

TORONTO, Ont., Nov. 12.—(By the Canadian Press)—With commodities and securities generally reactionary on principal North American markets today, prices on the Toronto stock exchange showed fractional recessions throughout most of the list. Most of the losses were in the nature of normal profit-taking. Aggregate sales were 34,045 shares. Of the 76 issues traded, 12 were up at the close against 39 off and 25 unchanged.

International Nickel had a net loss of ¾ at 12½. Smelters was off 2½ to 84.

Canadian Pacific finished the day with a gain of ¼ at 19¾. Brazilian was off ½, and Montreal Power was off ¾ at 39¾.

Page-Hersey was up 1 to 75 and Steel of Canada off ¼. Ford of Canada was off ½ to 17. Abitibi was down ¾ to 4¾.

British American oil was off ½ to 11⅞. Imperial lost to 19¾ and International Petroleum was off ¾ at 12½.

In the beverage group, Canadian Industrial Alcohol was off a point to close at 1, new low.

MONTREAL CURB PRICES LOWER

MONTREAL, Que., Nov. 12.—Prices were lower on the Montreal curb market today. WHEAT PRICES IN CHICAGO FALL TO NEW LOW LEVELS

Surprise Appearance of Russia on Market Causes Markets to Plunge

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 12.—(AP)—Confronted by a surprise reappearance of Russia's Will-o'-the-Wisp export shipments of wheat and rye the world's grain markets plunged downward anew today. Russian wheat exports this week, announced as totalling 2,480,000 bushels with Russian rye exports 2,555,000 bushels, demoralized Liverpool prices, and led to heavy stop loss selling here. Chicago wheat quotations tumbled to more than 7 cents under their recent high point, and rye to about 8 cents off.

Wheat closed unstable, at the day's bottom figures, 2⅛—2¼ cents lower than Tuesday's finish, corn 1⅛—2 down, oats ¼—1 off, and provisions unchanged to 10 cents decline.

In as much as Russia has popularly been regarded as having been almost effaced as an exporter of breadstuffs this season, the posting of her shipments for this week at an aggregate over twice as large as the week previous struck a blow under which wheat values reeled throughout the day.

OAKES FAMILY KEPT FAITH IN THE LAKE SHORE

Papers Rejected His Advertising When He Wished to Sell Shares

TORONTO, Nov. 11.—In these days of reconstruction it is of singular interest that the source of "Canada's largest personal income" should have once been banned from the columns of the press as a "wildcat." And yet, that is exactly what occurred when Harry Oakes, a prospector dreaming his dreams in the wilds of Northern Ontario, stumbled upon what, outside of the Rand, is the world's largest gold mine. His advertisement offering stock was refused by two Toronto newspapers. He was balked at every turn, ridiculed and scorned. "Forty cents a share" his rejected advertisement read. A pitiful sum it was but if fortune smiled along the paths that lead to "ready money" he hoped it would result in sufficient to build the very necessary mill.

Miners in the know scraped and schemed. Harry Oakes refused to accept defeat. Nineteen seventeen saw the foundation of the Lake Shore Mines. The project was a reality.

INCOME $2,000,000 YEAR

And what of the Oakes family? Had their interests met the fate of so many of those who fight the prospecting game only to win and then sacrifice their reward to others in order that the money to finance might be realized? While everyone who has had anything to do with mining realizes that it is rare indeed, the Oakes family retained about one half of the stock. Harry Oakes is president of the company and runs the mine. His annual income is around $2,000,000, the largest individual income in Canada.

Miners and others who were able to rake together the money could purchase 2800 shares in 1917 for $1000. Up to and including December 31st of this year if the original purchaser has retained his interest, dividends and bonuses on this speculation will have totalled $5 a share of $20,000. Profits, including dividends will have amounted to $81,500 or 8150 per cent. Today Canadian mining enthusiasts recall the fact that the original money invested did not total more than three-quarters of a million dollars. Lake Shore will, in December, pay one single quarterly dividend of $2,000,000. In the coming year, it is reported, Lake Shore will distribute at least $6,000,000. Indications point to at least 10 to 20 years at this rate.

LAKE SHORE'S REPORT

Lake Shore's annual report is still the subject of discussion here. While no definite estimate is made the mine is already reported to have proved anywhere from $125,000,000 to $150,000,000 ore as far as depth has gone.

The climb to success has not been easy. For years the mine was not producing more than 50 tons of ore a day. Suddenly deposits blossomed out at depth giving Lake Shore what is declared here to be the biggest gold ore reserve in the Western Hemisphere. One of its ore bodies averages 45 feet wide for 1000 feet of length and runs $20 a ton. Nothing like this has previously been known in this country.

Mines located in the East, in Northern Manitoba and Saskatchewan, in British Columbia and in the great Northland, the rich mineral areas of Canada, will, it is pointed out, more or less repeat what Lake Shore has done and contribute in no small measure to the success and progress of Canada in general.

VANCOUVER LIST LOSES GROUND

Pend Oreille and Premier Gold Lose the Most in Session

VANCOUVER, B. C., Nov. 12.—The usual holiday reaction set in on the Vancouver Stock exchange today and as a result about a dozen issues which had been prominent in the recent upturn during the past week, closed with losses ranging from 1 to 10 points. Activity, while decreased from the high set Monday when over 500,000 shares changed hands was still large enough to encourage traders that speculative interest has not abated to any great extent. Sales volume totalled 315,095 shares.

Pend Oreille and Premier Gold showed the widest losses the former closing off 13 at 1.20 and the latter down 10 to 75 cents. Pioneer Gold lost 8 cents to 2.55. Big Missouri closed off 3 at 20.

Other mines issues were off from fractions to a point or more. Golconda went contrary to the general trend advancing 1 cent to 31 cents.

In the oils division C. and E. Corp. showed the widest loss dipping 5 points to 50 cents. Fabyan was of 1 one 1 cents Mercury and A. P. Con. were former, both gaining a point to 13 cents each.

WINNIPEG WHEAT MARKET IS LOWER

July Suffers Largest Setback; Foreign News Sends Values Down

WINNIPEG, Man., Nov. 12.—(By the Canadian Press)—Heavy selling, culminating in a frenzied last half-hour, sent prices drifting to still lower levels on Winnipeg grain exchange today. Final quotations were from 1⅞ to 2¼ lower. Support of any sort was lacking and attempted rallies were met by fresh selling.

Weak Liverpool cables and unexpected shipments from Black Sea ports, mainly from Russia, helped to drive values downward in one of the biggest "breaks" since the market started upward more than a month ago. Although some export business of little significance was believed to have been worked overnight, no figure was available.

July option suffered the biggest setback, dropping 2¼ to 2⅛ at 70⅛ to 70¾, with November a close second at 65⅛, down 2⅛. December lost 1⅞ to 2 at 65½ and May 2 to 2⅛ at 69⅛.

Cash wheat prices closed slightly higher, a fair demand being shown for top grades. Main interest in coarse grain futures was centered in oats and barley.

MONTREAL LIST IS REACTIONARY

Erratic Movements in Silver Are Causes of the Decline on Board

MONTREAL, Que., Nov. 11.—(By the Canadian Press)—Trading turned reactionary today, the decline in exchange today, the decline in wheat prices proving a bearish factor. Other causes of the decline were erratic movements in silver, and the failure of copper leaders to arrive at an agreement. Most of the declines, however, were limited to fractions and price movements were generally narrow.

Losses exceeded gains by 15 to 2. The opening was fairly steady but later trading in the morning brought forth lower prices. A moderate rally sufficient to pull most issues above their lows for the day, occured in the afternoon.

The largest decline on the exchange was shown by Consolidated Smelters which closed at 84, down 2. Other changes included Abitibi off ¾ at 4; B. C. BOARD WON'T GIVE GOVERNMENT IDEAS UPON RETRENCHING

Turns Down Council's Proposal for Committee to Make a Survey

HOLDS THAT DETAILS UP TO GOVERMENT

Instructs Council, However, to Consider Over-Representation

A recommendenation from the council of the board of trade, sponsored by Dr. E. C. Arthur and W. R. Grubbe, for endorsement of a Socan board of trade resolution urging the provincial government to apdoty a policy of retrenchment and proposing the appointment of a committee of three to sugest points at which the government might retrench, was turned down by the board at its monthly meeting Thursday.

Dr. Arthur said his immediate inspiration for the proposal for a committee was that on that morning The Nelson Daily News had a dispatch quoting Premier Tolmie as stating he did not propose to reduce the personnel of the liquor control board. Dr. Arthur said in his opinion a board of three highly paid men was unnecessary, and that one man was sufficient. He expressed the opinion that the country was greatly over-governed and that it was time an effort should be made to reduce this excessive personnel whereever possible.

ONE MORE GRIT NEEDED

If he might make a suggestion as to the composition of the committee, he would suggest W. R. Grubbe, Alex. Leith, R. W. Hinton, George Dill, A. D. Emory—. "I want another good Grit. Who will volunteer?. he finished.

Mr. Leith said he objected to serve on such a committee for two reasons. In the first place, he didn't think the committee would be any good, and in the second place he was not "a good Grit."

Mr. Hinton said he also objected to serving on the committee, but not for Mr. Leith's reasons. He didn't believe anyone in Nelson—at any rate, not more than one or or two—was qualified to make a sweeping survey of the expenditure of the province and say where it ought to be pruned. Any such survey should be by a committee of experts, and should take at least six months.

HINTON EVOKES LAUGH

The trouble with appointing a committee, Mr. Hinton said, was that after the nature of such committees, it would probably call a hasty meeting just before the board meeting, and after about 15 minutes work would adopt some half-digested resolution, proposing, for instance, that the medical health officer be fired.

Shouts of laughter, continuing for a couple of minutes, drowned Mr. Hinton's further remarks.

J. A. Irving said one of the principles of the board of trade was that it barred politics, and this proposal was political. He did not think it was the function of the board to dictate to the government as to whom it should hire and fire, but should press its views by general resolutions, leaving it to the government to apply them. Further, he could recall that when Dr. Arthur was a school trustee, anyone who made a suggestion to him as to who should be employed would be told to go to a certain place.

GRUBBE URGES MOVE

Mr. Brubbe protested that the resolution was not one of politics but of the general economy, such as the board ought to feel competent to take up.

In the matter of legislators, for instance, the East Kootenay had three members in the house and the West Kootenay had five, where one would be sufficient in each case. Two should be sufficient for Vancouver.

He believed the board should feel free to suggest economies in any government quarter. or instance, municipalities could effect substantial savings by arranging for the provincial police to take the place of the municipal police. Cranbrook, he said, was saving $3000 to $4000 a year in this way.

"We want to cut down our provincial debt, instead of seeing it increase from year to year as it is doing," he concluded.

Mayor J. P. Morgan said he didn't know anything as to the proposal to reduce the number of members in the house, but regarding the proposal to have the provincial police do the police work in the city of Nelson, the city council had gone very thoroughly into that question, and established that there would be no saving.

Dr. Arthur said his idea in suggesting a committee of both sides of politics was that it would produce more suggestions. No one party was responsible for the mess the province was in, he said. Nothing was further from his mind then to introduce politics into the discussions of the board.

FOR VOUNTARY COMMITTEE

Ven. Archdeacon Fred H. Graham lined up against an appointed committee, not because of his political affiliations, but because such a committee was apt to be a casual affair, but he saw no objection to a voluntary committee working on this matter taking plenty of time to make and extended survey. To propose only one or two casual economies was not a sufficient basis on which the board should make a submission to the government, which was probably considering the entire question and certainly knew as much about what was necessary as the members of the board.

"If we send an undigested resolution, we only stultify ourselves," he commented.

This discussion started from the point of the liquor board. A. J. Dunnett pointed out. All there was to this business was the buying of a certain quantiyt of liquor on one hand, and the selling of it on the other. Surely that did not require three very highly paid men.

A. D. McLeod said if the suggested committee was appointed, the other members of the board who had ideas on the subject could convey them to the committee, and thus increase the effectiveness of the survey

MOTION LOST

A vote was then taken, and the motion for endorsing the Slocan resolution and for appointment of the committee was declared lost.

Mr. McLeod then pointed out that the result of the vote need not prevent the board from taking up the matter of over-representation.

He moved, seconded by H. B. Gore, that this question be referred to the council.

This motion carried practically by consent, two or three hands being raised in its favor, and none against.

Insane Doukhobor Who Made Scene Rossland Ceremony Goes Coast

A Doukhobor who went insane witnessing the ceremony of "opening" the new Rossland pavement Monday afternoon, left for the coast Wednesday night in the care of Provincial Constable J. A. Henry, of the Nelson detachment, to be placed in an institution.

The man, John Faminoff, who is in his twenties, created a scene when he went insane, and it took three men to subdue him and put him on a truck to be taken to the police cells.

Wednesday Magistrate R. E. Plewman of Rossland, after hearing medical evidence, signed an order committing him to the asylum.

B. C. Police Search for Chinese Slayers

WINNIPEG, Nov. 12—Police of British Columbia are cooperating with local police in a search for the slayer of Wong Sam, local Chinese business man who was shot here by two unknown gunmen. Local officials now believe the slayers have left the city and are hiding somewhere on the Pacific coast.

An additional reward of $1000 offered by the Chinese Nationalist league brings the total money offered for the slayers to $2000. In addition to police activity Vancouver headquarters of the Won Wun Sun association, to which Wong Sam belonged, are in communication with the local branch in pursuing a search.

Australian Trade Agreement Furthered

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 12.—Considerable progress is reported to have been made in the negotiations of a trade agreement between Canada and South Africa. It is understood that South Africa is willing to conclude an agreement. Negotiations have not, however, reached a point where an announcement can be made.

South Africa, it is understood, holds that the Imperial economic conference next year need not interfere with the conclusion of an agreement which would be similar to the treaty between Canada and Australia.

WAR INSURANCE RATES QUOTED ON SHIPPING

VANCOUVER, B. C., Nov. 12.—War insurance rates are now being quoted by companies dealing with Pacific shipping, it is announced.

Although the war clause has been in all insurance policies, it has been inactive since the end of the Great War. When that conflict broke out the war risk rate to the Orient was as high as 2½ per cent, owing to the presence on the Pacific of German raiders. This rate was slowly reduced, until toward the end of the war it was only 1 per cent.

Today the insurance companies announce that war insurance will be applied on cargo from Hong Kong northward, the scale increasing in proportin to the rate of possible risk.

COPPER MAGNATES DISAGREE OVER SALES CLAUSE

NEW YORK, Nov. 12. (CP)—Another point of difference has arisen between Canadian, British, European and United States copper producers, it has become known.

The copper magnates Wednesday resumed their informal conferences in a last-minute effort to agree on a basis of curtailment satisfactory to all interests. Today it was reported in informed quarters that the producers had split not over curtailment, but over the matter of sales of metal by custom smelters.

European countries, it is said, are urging copper sales through the use of futures on regulated exchanges, while Canadian and United States companies are in favor of continuing the present practice here of selling direct to the consumers.

STREETS BECOME SLUSHY AS SNOW FALLS AT NELSON

Nearly Five Inches Registered; Telephone and Telegraph Trouble

With nearly five inches of snow falling between midnight Wednesday and 8 a.m., and enough of it melting to make it sloppy underfoot, Nelson found itself subjected to anything but pleasant weather Thursday. The snow, which continued to fall all day, gave way to a light rain about dark, but changed back to snow during the night. No evidence was given of it letting up.

Streets in the business section were covered with slush and water, and cars skidded dangerously. Motorists found the hills anything but good travelling and pursued a wary course.

Trouble was experienced by the telephone company getting long distance calls through, and the Canadian Pacific railway telegraphs found trouble in keeping a through wire open.

Temperature dropped to 29 Wednesday night before the snow started to fall and rose to a high of 34 for Thursday.

Between four and five inches of snow were registered by J. S. Goulding, meteorological observer.

Great Plane From New York Lands at City of Vancouver

Mr. Hopkins will be married Saturday to Miss Marian Robertson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold B. Robertson of Vancouver. The party will take off for Santa Barbara on Sunday.

E. Jones of Westport, N.Y., is pilot and H. A. Davis, engineer of the machine, which has a wing spread of 72 feet. Mrs. Jones, wife of the pilot, was on board.
