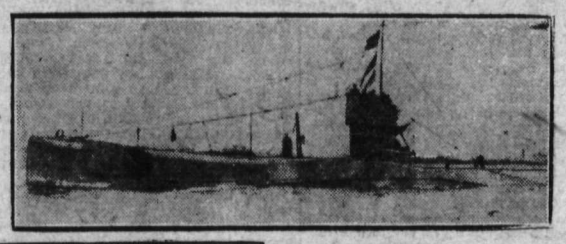
British Submarine Lost Off Wales; 22 Seamen Aboard



Map showing where disaster of sinking of British submarine H-47 took place.

Twenty-two lives were lost when the British submarine L-12 rammed and sank the H-47, another British under-sea boat, in St. George's channel, off the coast of Pembrokeshire, in the admiralty said there were only three survivors from the H-47, whose complement was 23 men. Only one man was lost of those aboard the L-12, which had a complement of 41. The L-12 did not sink following the collision but the H-47 went down in 45 fathoms—270 feet—of water, a depth which would make diving operations extremely difficult. Photo shows H-47.

'Untin' Bowler Is Lost on Ice Pack; Flyers Escape; the Plane Drifts Out to Ocean

Chicago-Berlin Flight Fails Near Burwell

OTTAWA, July 14.—The "Untin' Bowler," attempting a flight from Chicago across the top of the world, was lost near Port Burwell last night when it drifted out to sea. No lives were lost.

A message received by the radio branch of the department of marine here from their station at Port Burwell in the Hudson straits was as follows:

"Weather, July 14, barometer 29. 27; wind south 8 miles per hour. Plane 'Untin' Bowler was lost last night in moderate gale when ice to which she was moored broke up and drifted out to sea. Plane when last seen from shore was surrounded by closely packed ice with bow in the air. No lives were lost."

DAMAGED FRIDAY

CHICAGO, July 14.—Loss of the Chicago Tribune's plane, the 'Untin' Bowler prevents completion of the flight which began in Chicago July 3 and which sought to chart a new commercial air route from this city to Berlin.

Floating amid ice cakes in a narrow river, the plane was slightly damaged by the floes Friday night, but the damage was repaired and with a southeast wind clearing the ice away, the crew had expected to be able to get away today.

Failure of Pilot Cramer to complete the trip over the roof of the world from Chicago to Berlin is his second failure on the proposed northern air route. Last year he succeeded in reaching Greenland before his plane was wrecked.

PAPER COMPANY BURNS AT COAST

Westminster Has Million and Quarter Fire; Industrial Section Threatened

NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C., July 14.—Loss of $1,250,000 was caused by a fire here Saturday afternoon which destroyed the plant of the Westminster Paper Company, limited, with a loss of one million dollars and spread to a part of the plant of the Triangle Chemical company causing another quarter of a million dollars damage there. The entire west end industrial section was threatened for a time. Three firemen were overcome by fumes from sulphur and other chemicals, but later recovered. The fire started in the boiler room of the paper company. The chemical company is owned by eastern interests.

A second fire at about 6 o'clock this morning wiped out the exhibition grounds' buildings.

When the exhibition buildings' fire was discovered at 6:30 this morning flames were already shooting high into the air from the agricultural building. Within an hour this building and the women's, manufacturers', industrial, and poultry buildings and the arena were a mass of ruins. Only the stadium and a number of stock buildings escaped. The buildings were insured under a blanket policy held by the city of New Westminster. The loss is about $500,000.

SLOCAN CITY BOY DROWNS IN THE LAKE

Gordon Mosher Jumps From Drifting Raft; Body Is Not Recovered

DIVER UNSUCCESSFUL IN TWO ATTEMPTS

Boy Is Son of Slocan City Alderman; Dragging Operations Failure

Gordon Mosher, eight-year-old son of Alderman and Mrs. Terrance Mosher of Slocan City was drowned in Slocan lake at the mouth of Springer creek at 11 o'clock yesterday morning and despite dragging and driving operations carried on until dark the body was not recovered. Diving will continue at daybreak today.

The Mosher boy was playing on a raft with the 10-year-old son of Mr and Mrs. McKenzie of Rossland, who are holidaying at Slocan City. The raft began to drift from shore and both boys jumped overboard, one on each side of the raft. The McKenzie lad made shore safely and went at once for help for the Mosher boy.

DIVER ARRIVES

Mr. Mosher was at the scene within a few minutes but the body could not be seen. A rescue party was organized and Mr. Mosher sent a message to Kaslo to James Moore, a diver working on the repairs to the slip of the Kaslo wharf. Until the arrival of Mr. Moore, at 7 p. m., four sets of grappling irons were in constant use in dragging operations without success.

The diver went into the lake 150 feet from shore and went down to a depth of 65 feet. He made two unsuccessful trips before dark. He will continue diving today.

Dragging operations were under the direction of Constable W. H. Laird of the provincial police at New Denver.

Mr. Mosher is a returned soldier and is retired. He has lived at Slocan City for about 10 years.

The drowned by is survived, besides his parents, by one brother about three years old.

Russia Delivers Ultimatum to the Chinese People

Give Them Three Days to Assent to Conference on Railways

MOSCOW, July 14.—The Russian government late Saturday night addressed to the Manchurian government and the Chinese national government an ultimatum giving the Chinese three days to assent to a conference for regulating the conflict over the Chinese eastern railway, recently seized by Manchurian authorities. The note was couched in police terms.

Failing agreement of the Chinese to hold a conference, the Russian government said it would be compelled to resort to "other means of defence of the legal rights of the Soviet union."

Vast demonstrations occurred throughout Russia Saturday night against the action of the Chinese, Mowcow alone remaining calm.

CHINESE FREED FROM JAIL AND ARE RE-ARRESTED

Served Njne Months on Narcotic Charge; Released On Appeal

WILL BE DEPORTED FROM VANCOUVER

Taken in Charge by Immigration Men as Step From Jail

Two local Chinese, Quong Wong and Sing Lee, who have been imprisoned in the provincial penitentiary here for the past nine months for an alleged infraction of the opium and narcotic statute of 1913 were released at 9 a. m. on Saturday morning according to an order received from the appeal court of British Columbia, which gave out the ruling that the two men had been convicted in Nelson under an act which had at the time been repealed. Issuing from the gate of the jail, apparently free men, the Chinamen no sooner got outside the gate, than they were rearrested by M. G. R. Reid, provincial immigration official, who was sent under orders from the minister of immigration at Victoria to bring them down to Vancouver where they would be summarily deported.

Although Mr. Reid refused to talk on the matter at all, it is gathered from the excited talk of local Chinese, that Mr. Reid came equipped with a warrant for the deportation of the two men.

Mr. Reid would also give no inkling of the grounds on which the Chinamen are to be deported, but it is thought that they are open to this action for two reasons. First, that, while the were successful in their appeal tried by Justice Fisher in the provincial court of appeals, they were successful only because of a legal technicality, and had, after all, pleaded guilty to the charge of having opium in their possession when the case was tried by Magistrate William Brown here last November. And, second, that there is a clause in the Dominion Immigration act which provides for the immediate deportation of any alien who has been an inmate of a penitentiary if it is considered that he is an undesirable.

It is thus argued that as the Chinese pleaded guilty, they are open to conviction under the Immigration act clause.

FIGHT DEPORTATION

Wong Jim Good, a Chinaman, who is acting for the two arrested men, stated before leaving for Vancouver on the Saturday night train, that he was going down to the coast to make arrangements with Vancouver lawyers to fight the deportation order. He did not know on what grounds the fight would be made, but was confident that his two friends would not in the end be deported.

Gale Bucks Aviators; Poles Crash in Making Landing on Azores

Costes Bucks Storm and Then Returns to French Soil

HAD BEEN IN AIR FOR 28 HOURS

Never Left Controls; He Says He Will Try It Again Soon

VILLA COUBLAY, France, July 14.—Dejected, but undaunted, France's premier airman, returned to his homeland today, landing here at 9:27 a. m. (3:27 a. m. E. S. time) after a brave but futile attempt to cross the Atlantic to New York. Although the morale of the conqueror of the South Atlantic visibly was shaken, he showed not the slightest trace of his nearly 24-hour battle with the elements, during which time he not once took his hands from his plane's controls.

A stone wall westerley wind which he met just west of the Azores, causing an excessive consumption of gas and slow progress were the determining factors in his decision to turn back, when it was almost as near to the American Atlantic seaboard as to France.

"We will try again," Captain Coste said, as he stepped from his plane. "But we will pick our own time, we must have a maximum of chances in our favor on this side. It is a colossal bone to chew."

EXPRESSES SORROW

He turned to the small group which, warned by radio reports he had landed at Villa Coublay, who had gathered about. "Don't cheer boys, there is nothing to cheer about. We just missed out, that's all."

"Where are the Poles?" he asked. He was given information of reports of disaster.

His face darkened and he remarked: "They met the same stone wall we did."

It was exactly 6:18 p. m., apparently 1:18 p. m. E. S. time, Coste said, when he ran into the "stone wall" and had to turn tail and run. He had travelled nearly 1500 miles from Lebourget.

The pilot said he tried every altitude to circumvent the wind wall.

"I knew that crossing from east to west was very difficult but never in my most pessimistic visitations could I imagine anything like this.

"But we will try again, we are not tired."

B. C. INDUSTRIES PAY MORE CASH TO EMPLOYEES

Annual Report of Labor Department Made; Asiatic Employment Drops

VICTORIA, July 14.—British Columbia industries paid more than $183,000,000 to their employees in 1928, a gain of five and one-half million dollars over 1927, it is revealed in figures in the annual report of the provincial department of labor.

Of all workers in the province more than 69 per cent were British-born, while Canadian-born workers constituted more than 38 per cent, both these figures showing an increase over those of the previous year.

The ratio of siatics employed dropped from 10.20 per cent to 9.71 per cent.

The average industrial wage for all adult male employees last year was $26.96 a week, the highest rate since of the peak year of 1920 when it was $31.51.

The province last year had 254 firms with pay rolls of more than $100,000 annually.

The report is based on returns from 4846 industrial employers. Public authorities, dominion, provincial or municipal, transcontinental railways, wholesale or retail merchants, or deep sea shipping are not included.

Polish Plane Completely Destroyed in an Explosion

DEAD AVIATOR IS BURIED ON AZORES

Companion Is Seriously Hurt; Plane Became Lost in Storm

HORTA, Azores, July 14.—The attempt of two Polish aviators, Major Idzikowski and Major Kubala to cross the Atlantic in their land airplane, the Marshall Pilsudski, has ended in disaster—death to one of them, serious injury to another and complete destruction of their plane.

The Poles' transatlantic plane buffeted by hurricane winds, but within sight of safety early last night, crashed near the Isle of Graciosa, about 35 miles northeast of here. Major Idzikowski, according to meagre reports reaching here, was killed in an explosion which occurred as the plane struck the water, demolishing the craft and injuring Kubala.

Radio reports received here stated that the body of Major Idzikowski was being interred at Graciosa at 3 p.m. today. Major Kubala was in a hospital his condition undetermined. The Polish battleship Iskra, upon receipt of news of the disaster left here at 5 p.m. to go to the island to do what it could.

Horta was in a state of excited expentancy all last night, when at 9 p.m. the last wireless message was received from the Poles saying that they would land at this city shortly. It was believed they were practically safe. There is no landing field here but an improvised airdrome was made at the football grounds for their expected descent.

Finally at 9:30 p.m. (5:30 p.m. E.S. time) an S. O. S. message, indicating motor trouble, was received from the Marshall Pilsudski and all communications ceased. The populace at Horata did not suspect anything had happened in the nature of disaster and for hours waited the plane's arrival.

SENT IN SEARCH

In the absence of further news, the authorities grew anxious and the iskra, which happened to be in the harbor at the time, was ordered out to skirt the islands in search of the plane at midnight.

The danger was obvious to the island authorities but the islanders themselves seemed unable to grasp the situation. When finally today well in the afternoon news was received of the plane's disaster, it struck consternation among the inhabitants.

Pending establishment of a more complete communication with the Isle of Graciosa, one of the five islands of the central group, it was necessary to piece together the story of the disaster from reports which were current here.

ENGINE TROUBLE

It appeared the aviators, who had wireless, at that they would attempt to land at Horta after 9 p.m., were compelled to abandon their flight because of engine trouble and the same hurricane—like an adverse wind, which caused Captain Coste to return.

It was believed that as they approached the Archipelago they became lost and finally, in desperation, sought a landing at Graciosa. There were conflicting reports as to what happened. An explosion wrecked the plane as it crashed, killing Idzikowski.

Major Idzikowski and Major Kubala set out from Le Bourget field, near Paris at 4:47 Saturday morning, (10:47 p.m. Friday, E.S. time) intending to fly to New York. If their disaster occurred, as seemed likely shortly after 9:30 p.m. Azores time (5:30 p.m. E.S. time) Saturday, they were in the air approximately 18 hours and had flown probably 1800 miles, or more, since their departure.

THE CRASH

An eye witness to the tragic ending of the flight said that the airplane suddenly rolled as the pilot attempted to gain the largest field on the island where he hoped to find a haven after a long struggle with adverse winds under the handicap of a faulty motor.

This observer saw Major Kubala hurtle from the plane as it neared the ground. The plane crashed and almost instantly there was a strong explosion in which Major Idzikowski met his death. The major was buried this evening on the island that marked the end of his hopes and plans.

Boy Scout Doings

In the Kootenay and Boundary Districts

This column is open to all Scout organizations in the Kootenay and Boundary districts. Scout news must be in the editorial department by Saturday night at the latest.

CRAWFORD BAY AND DISTRICT.

In order to fill a long felt want among the boys of the district a local association was formed eairy in June with the object of starting a troop of Scouts and Wolf Cub pack. While the number of boys is limited the lead has been received with great enthusiasm, and every boy who is eligible in the district, has attended the meetings.

W. Fraser, who was connected with 59th West Edinburgh troop for several years has been appointed scoutmaster and L. H. Dee formerly a troop leader at Buxton, England, has been appointed as cubmaster.

The first meetings were taken up with preparation for tenderfoot and scouting games. The majority of the boys have now qualified and are working on their second class tests.

AMBITIOUS PROGRAM.

An ambitious program of work for the summer has been prepared. The troop and pack meet each Saturday afternoon at 2 p. m., at the headquarters which have been lent for the purpose by Mr. Fisher. The afternoons are spent in test work or games, while each alternate Saturday a hike has been planned to some suitable spot where the boys can camp. They return home on Sunday evening.

FIRST HIKE.

The first hike was to McWhinings beach opposite Ainsworth and 17 boys were present. Everyone brought his share of the rations, blankets, etc., and although the first hike was more or less an experiment, it turned out to be most successful.

The camp site was ideal with a wonderful sandy beach for bathing. Time was spent with various scout games, tests and bathing. The boys enjoyed a camp fire and sing-song on Saturday night. On the way to the camp the scouts were divided into two parties going by different routes with instructions to make a sketch map of their journey, and lists of birds and trees observed. Most of the boys have been at work for local farmers thinning apples and picking strawberries, and have already earned sufficient to get their uniforms.

Mitchell, Ont.—"I had little twin babies and for quite a while after I was so weak I could not do my work because of pains all the way up my legs at the back. I have taken three bottles and I am fine, do my work without trouble and am gaining in weight and strength. I will gladly recommend the Vegetable Compound to anyone."—MRS. F. Staff of Creston Telephone System To Be Unchanged

B. C. Telephone Company, Purchaser, May Build New Office There

CRESTON, B.C., July 12.—H. A. Nicholson, district manager of the British Columbia Telephone company, which recently purchased the Creston telephone lines, who was here following the announcement of the purchase, stated that Miss Nora Payne had been appointed agent and that Miss Payne and Miss Jean Craigie would continue in their positions, on the staff. The business will be carried on under the name of Kootenay Telephone company, which is the same firm names for the systems at Cranbrook and Fernie which the British Columbia company owns.

MAY BUILD

Some weeks ago the British Columbia Telephone company secured an option on a lot on Barton avenue just off the business section, and it is thought likely the company will erect a fully modern new central building thereon, and if this is done work will be commenced within a couple of weeks An overhaul has been made of the present switchboard and subscribers already given service betterments.

The original Creston Power, Light & Telephone Company, limited, was incorporated about 20 years ago, and started off with about half a dozen phones in town. It served the district north to the Guy Constable ranch at its inception. Since them it has spread out until now it serves Wynndel, Alice Siding, Erickson, Canyon, Camp Lister and Porthill as well as Creston village.

The purchase by the British Columbia Telephone company was made from the Kootenay Power & Development Company, limited, which in February this year acquired the telephone franchise of the Creston Power, Light & Telephone Company, limited, a majority of the stock and had acted ed, in which T. J. Crawford had held as managing director for years.

BRUCE IS HERE TO INSPECT HIS POLE INTERESTS

Besides Company Operations There Are Many Contracts

LULL IN MARKET AT PRESENT TIME

Prairie Expansion Will Restore Vigor; Pine Pole Competes

That the pole market is at the moment experiencing a lull, one of the fluctuations common to the trade, was stated at the end of the week by M. L. Bruce, the big pole operator, who arrived Friday night from south of the line to look over some of the principal operations here of the M. L. Bruce company.

Though orders are not of large volume at present, nevertheless business has been fair. Mr. Bruce stated he was not aware of any large projects requiring poles coming up in the immediate future.

He looks, however, for the general expansion of the Canadian prairie, coincident with the big crops, to restore the pole market to vigor, if it does not earlier pick up from other causes.

PINE POLE HERE TO STAY

Mr. Bruce confirmed the general impression here that cedar poles may expect to have pine poles as permanent competitors. The small southern pine pole, creosoted for its entire length, has been widening its territory for several years past, and is now a factor in the Canadian market. The Canadian Pacific railway is not meeting more than five per cent of its requirements with cedar poles, he states.

BIG OPERATIONS

The Bruce operations extend all over the southern portion of west Kootenay. The large operations at Thrums and Boswell are in full swing. Beside the company operations, the Bruce interests are behind numerous contract operations from the Lower Arrow lake south, and on Kootenay lake from Kaslo south, and in the intervening territory.

A large portion of the output of the Bruce company on both sides of the line is marketed east of Chicago.

CRESTON DECIDES CONSULT RAMSAY ABOUT HIGHWAY

Want North, South Highway Put in Shape; Will Repair Canyon Street

CRESTON, B. C., July 14.—Chairman F. H. Jackson was in charge of the July meeting of Creston village council, with Commissioners A. Comfort and James Cherrington in attendance. Accounts ordered paid were the lightest in many months, totalling less than $120.

The session was very largely taken up with highway matters, and the most important development in this connection was instructions given the clerk to write District Public Works Engineer William Ramsay at Nelson, asking that immediate action be taken to put the north and south highway in shape. This subject was introduced by the chairman, who pointed out that he had made enquiry in this connection and the information supplied him indicated that the road was in very poor shape. In this view Commissioners Comfort and Cherrington concurred.

TO REPAIR CANYON STREET

Now that the public works department is making repairs to the hard surface roads in the district, it was decided to have repairs made to Canyon street from Victoria avenue to Vancouver street. This was last year gazetted a primary highway and 75 per cent of the cost of repairs will be paid by the department.

James Cook headed a delegation to interview the council concerning improvements made at the north end of Canyon street that had left the sidewalk at Christ church about three feet higher than the road level, causing great inconvenience to motorists attending church. His request for a seat of steps at both the church and the rectory was granted.

The council authorized the clerk to communicate with the city clerk at Nelson as to just how effective calcium chloride is at abating the dust nuisance. If Nelson has found it satisfactory, Creston will try it out in the business section.

B. Cripps' appointment as poundkeeper was confirmed and it was decided to buy a water supply for the pound at a rate of 25 cents per animal, rather than the usual rate of $1 per month.

Instructions were given the clerk to enforce the bylaw regarding poll tax. So far this year only one employer of labor has been heard from in this connection.

EASTERN EDUCATOR WHO PASSES IS MR. STUBBS' SON-IN-LAW

Principal Horatio Loucks Honored in Death; Was Known Here

William Stubbs was recently advised of the death, at the age of 58, of Horatio Loucks, a son-in-law, at his home at Morewood, Ont., where he was principal of the high school. His wife, who survives him, was formerly Miss Ethel Stubbs, Mr. Stubbs' third daughter.

Mr. Loucks was a vital force in educational affairs of Morewood, and was principal of the Morewood continuation school for 29 years consecutively, except for a year spent as the first principal of the new Nepean high school at Westboro'.

Regarding him the Morrisburg Courier reports:

"Mr. Loucks was born in Williamsburg township 58 years ago. He received his early education at Williamsburg, and later attended Morrisburg collegiate, from which he graduated with a first class certificate. From there he went to the faculty of education at Hamilton, where he received his teacher's certificate. After receiving this certificate, he taught one year at Bethune Bush, two years at Farrans Point, and one year at Aultsville before coming to Morewood.

A PUBLIC MAN

"For the past 29 years Mr. Loucks has taught in Morewood, holding with great distinction the principalship of the public school, but being anxious that Morewood should have better educational facilities, he started a continuation school, of which he was also principal, and eventually was the means of having the present high school established, which stands as a memorial to his untiring efforts in the cause of education. Always anxious that his pupils should have the best, he took extra-mural work from Queens university, and received his B. A. degree.

"The funeral, which was largely attended by people from all walks of life, was held from the United church, Morewood. A touching feature was the marching of the pupils of the high school to the church, where they formed a body-guard from the street to the church."

WIFE MAY MOVE HERE

He is survived by his wife, also three sons, Hugh H., principal of Woodvale public school; Dean H., principal of Bear Brook public school; Merrill at home, and five daughters, Norma E., teaching at Westboro,; Nona, who has been nursing at Metcalfe, and Alta V., Blanche L., and Dora T., at home. Besides his own family, he leaves his aged mother, Mrs. Alta V. Loucks, in the old home at Williamsburg; also four brothers and one sister. This is in addition to his wife's wide family connection, inclusive of her brothers, Joseph Stubbs and C. C. Stubbs, of Morrisburg, who were at the funeral.

It is stated that Mr. Loucks was under consideration by one of Nelson's school boards for a principalship here. It is possible that Mrs. Loucks will move, with the junior members of her family, to Nelson.

THRILLS GALORE WHEN BIG PLANE LANDS AT TRAIL

Aviator Tells of Landing Upon His Arrival in Spokane

SPOKANE, Wash., July 14.—Sitting down on the landing field at Trail, B. C. is an adventure for a plane of the Stinson-Detroiter's dimensions said James D. Campbell, sales manager of the Stinson Aircraft company, Detroit, Mich. He was telling about it Saturday on Felts field, to which he flew with his wife, their young son and Leonard Carothers, pilot.

"Informed that the Trail field, which is on a mountain top, was 1600 feet long, we proceeded with confidence from Calgary," said Mr. Campbell. "The 1600 feet would be none too great but we believed it would be sufficient. It was only 1200 feet long.

"An end of the field is crossed by a pipe line, so we could not begin to settle until it had been passed. Conflicing air currents, common to the mountains, added difficulties. We were half the length of the feet before we touched and caution was advisable as the field had been ploughed recently to smooth it.

FENCE LOOMED AHEAD

"The ship was on points and still going strong when a board fence loomed ahead. Beyond the fence was a drop estimated at 500 to 600 feet, bristling with telegraph poles. It seemed that we must go into the fence before out momentum had subsided. A resident airman stood tense at a side of the field. He said afterward that he would not have given two-bits for our chance.

"In aviation there is a slogan against taking a chance. But the pilot, Mr. Carothers, took one, so we are here to tell the tale. When almost up to the fence, he swung the ship around at a right angle. The swing was as long as the conditions permitted but it raised a wheel from the ground. A little less curve and a little less breaking power and we would have crashed on our back. The pilot is an artist. But we had to unload to get off.

"This is no criticism of the field. Trail has done almost the best it could with what nature has provided, and the people were amiable and hospitable. We violated a precedent in flying direct from Calgary to Trail. Albertans said it was not done and indicated a route of four corners. I am on a 15,000-mile tour west of the Mississippi river and have been out five weeks."

The ship made complimentary hops here and took off in the afternoon for Portland.

Government May Dispose of Sumas Land in a Block

VICTORIA, July 14.—Disposal of the entire government holdings in Sumas, amounting to 8700 acres to a single purchaser is under consideration by the government. The sale would contain a provision that the land must be developed. The government has been worried by its inability to sell the Sumas lands in smaller blocks direct to the farmers.

MONTREAL PARTY PASSES THROUGH NELSON SATURDAY

Taken by Nelson Car-Owners About City; Trip On Lake

About 100 members of the trans-Canada excursion from Montreal college passed through the city on Saturday afternoon arriving at the C. P. R. wharf about 3 p. m. About 25 Nelson car-owners were waiting at the dock to take the party to all points of interest about the town, mong the places visited were the links of the Nelson Golf and Country club, Gyro park Lakeside park, and up around the hill section of the town. All members of the party expressed their admiration of the city in general.

Before docking at Nelson, the excursion party was taken for a cruise on the main lake. From Kootenay Landing the party was taken down the lake to Ainsworth. Turning there the boat returned and docked at Procter where a stop of an hour was made. Here, in the absence of Mayor R. D. Barnes, L. H. Choquette delivered an address of welcome to the excursionists and turned over the keys of the city of Nelson to M. Laurez, who was in charge of the party. Mr. Laurez replied appropriately. After singing a number of French-Canadian chansons which included the national anthem sung in French, the party embarked once more and came directly into Nelson.

Those who took the party in their cars about the city included: L. H. Choquette, P. E. Poulin, E. Horton, A. G. Gelinas, H. Pitts, R. Barnes, F. Murphy, R. Fleming, H. Ferguson, D. Mathews, W. Deny Protests From Canada on U. S. A. Tariffs

WASHINGTON, July 14.—Canada's attitude toward the United States tariff held the attention of official Washington over the week-end. Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson denied that the Dominion through Vincent Massey, her minister here, had protested against the rates proposed in the house tariff bill. Senator William Borah, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, issued a statement in which he declared the secretary's announcement had "clarified" the atmosphere. "I thought all along," he said, "that these supposed protests from Canada originated in the United States."

The secretary's statement said the "Canadian government has been most scrupulously correct and careful in respect to any comment on our tariff or tariff making."

VISITING SHRINERS LEAVE FOR STATES

Excursion Will Be Annual Affair From Now On; Much Golf Played

After a week-end of fishing, golfing, swimming and pleasure in general, about 50 members of the visiting Idaho and Washington Shrine club returned to their homes by car yesterday about noon. According to the statement of the leader of the party, H. P. Glindeman of Coeur d'Alene, the Shrine club have spent one of the most enjoyable holidays they have yet experienced and intend making the trip to Nelson an annual event. "Expect us back next year about this time," Mr. Glindeman said.

Most of the party spent Saturday on the links of the Nelson Golf and Country club. They were entertained at lunch in the club house.

Trail Boy Scouts at Sunshine Bay Not Quarantined

TRAIL, B. C., July 14.—Reports that the Trail Boy Scout camp at Sunshine Bay was quarantined because of mumps were refuted Saturday in a long distance telephone conversation with camp officials.

Rumors here were that 45 of the 75 boys in camp had mumps. This was denied, and it was stated that the two or three who were afflicted are much better and are running about in good health now.

Excursionists Ask Information Auto Club Bureau Here

Among the week-end inquirers after information at the bureau of the British Columbia Automobile club, in the rotunda of the Savoy hotel, were five members of the Montreal college excursion which passed through the city on Saturday afternoon. They were anxious to know of road routes and conditions in the district with a view to driving through this district in the near future. The four French-Canadians were Professor F. Wegine, J. M. Gagnon, P. E. Grothe of Montreal and M. Gagni of Victoriaville.

Others signing the register over the week-end were: P. Bant, Penticton; Miss E. A. Cockle, Vancouver; Miss E. M. Galan, Kaslo; K. Orion, Vernon.

Rossland Boy Dies After a Short Illness

ROSSLAND, B. C., July 14.—Alexander McCulloch, aged 15 years and five months, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. McCulloch, Georgia street, died yesterday afternoon following an illness of six weeks. Brain fever was the cause of death.

The boy, who was one of the brightest students of the Rossland high school and a favorite with everyone, was a native of Vernon and came to Rossland about eight years ago. He is survived by his parents and one brother, William.

MURDER HEADLINES

TORONTO, Ont., July 12.—Many apprehensive people will sympathize with the individual who notified the police that, while in a telephone booth, he overheard a man shouting over the phone to his wife that he was going home to kill her! The police were told that the man jumped into a grey car and drove north on Bay street. Motorcycles were despatched in search of the grey-clored car. Speed cars also took up the chase in other directions. But there were no murder headlines in the paper next day, even if the car was not found.

246 HOURS IN THE AIR

Mendell and Reinhart with a record of 246 hours in the air without stopping have a wonderful performance to their credit.

Pounding away, hour after hour, with never a breathing spell for engines or other machinery, taking on fuel in the air, the two airmen with their secondhand machine, have established a record which may not be beaten for some time.

The value of such performances is not that of mere "stunting"; it proves the endurance power of the airplane engine, the endurance qualities of the airplane itself and emphasizes the safety of air travel.

ARMS AND POLICEMEN

Commissioner Starnes of the R. C. M. P., at the gathering of police chiefs in Calgary, stressed the fact that the modern bandit is well armed and highly skilled in the use of his weapons; from which he argued that policemen must also be armed, alike for their own safety and that of the public. This is perhaps a reaction from the debate in the Senate a few weeks ago, as to whether policemen should be allowed to carry arms. It presents the other side of the picture; the side that is apparent to the man who is sworn to defend society against criminals, and who knows that he may at any moment have to risk his life in doing it.

As between the two views there cannot be much doubt which will have the support of the great majority of lawabiding people. Those who grew up under other conditions may not be able to disabuse themselves of the notion that the bandit is a melodramatic character who only carries a gun for appearance sake. People who take their information from the newspapers of today, and not from their fading memories of bygone times, are under no such delusions. They know the armed robber for a potential murderer; and one who is quite willing to become a murderer in fact if his victims do not hand over on demand. Against such, an unarmed policeman can do nothing more than an unarmed civilian.

What the Press Is Saying

BRITAIN AND RUSSIA

The governments of the dominions have been notified that the Macdonald Government intends to re-establish diplomatic relations between Britain and Soviet Russia. Premier Macdonald evidently feels that his proposal might gain moral support in Britain if the dominions took the same course. In any case he is acting in accord with the principle that the governments of the Empire should keep each other posted as to their dealings with foreign countries.

It is scarcely probable that Ottawa will invite the Soviet to send another representative to Canada. The last 'Red' agent was not kicked out because of what happened in London, but because he used his position to disseminate revolutionary propaganda in Canada. Since he departed there has been little evidence that Moscow has found other effective means for carrying on disruptive tactics here. And Canadians are much less interested in the Russian market than are the manufacturing interests in Great Britain.—Edmonton Bulletin.

That Body of Yours

FRUIT SOMETIMES CAUSES PAIN

When we were youngsters it was not unusual for us to have attacks of colic from eating fruit that was not ripe or perhaps overripe. It was thought that as long as the fruit was just ripe that no trouble could arise even if large quantities were eaten.

This is a mistaken idea because even good fruit, eaten in large quantities especially if followed by the drinking of much water, can create great distension of the intestine, causing almost paralysis.

And so when the fruit season comes along it is not unusual for you to read in the daily papers of cases of severe illness and even death has followed the overindulgence in raw fruits.

Experiments have shown that cherries and gooseberries, which swell most in water, are the most dangerous.

There is first an irritation of the lining of the stomach and small intestine, then fermentation, the stomach and also portions of the small intestine become distended.

Sometimes paralysis occurs and it is necessary to open the abdomen. In such cases the intestine often resembles the inner tube of a motor tire with a weak spot in the rubber; that is some portions of the intestine will be distented to a tremendous size and the other parts are nearly flat.

Now the above are extreme cases and often call for surgical interference.

However with most of us who have indulged ourselves in raw fruits, emptying the stomach and intestine and thus getting rid of the gas distension is the first thought.

Putting the finger down the throat or taking a little mustard in water to induce vomiting should relieve the stomach.

The gas distension in the intestine can usually be relievel by an enema or injection.

Wherever there is pain in the abdomen due to distension, the enewa is the simplest and most effective remedy.

Remember fruit is good food but often causes distress.

Paris says evening colors must compliment the sun-tanned skin, hence white, black and the Capucine shades are favorite there.

NEW DISHES THIS WEEK

Liver with Vegetables—Into a sausepan put one cup of sliced and peeled raw onions, one cup of diced and scraped raw carrots, one-half cup of diced celery, and one quart of small potatoes, pared. Cover this vegetable mixture with boiling water, and let boil for 20 minutes. Now put the vegetables, with the liquid, into a baking dish. Add one tablespoon of flour mixed to a paste in one-fourth cup of cold water. Cover all with two pounds of sliced beef liver previously seared in a frying pan in hot fat. Put on dish cover and bake one hour in a moderate oven at 300 degrees F. Serve in the same dish.

Bran Nut Bread—Sift two cups of bread flour with two teaspoons of baking powder, one-half teaspoon of baking soda, and a pinch of salt. Add two-thirds of a cup of brown sugar, two-thirds of a cup of bran, one-half cup of broken walnut meats, one well beaten egg, one cup of cold, sweet milk and one cup of butter, melted. Turn the mixture into a greased loaf pan and let stand 20 minutes, before baking in a slow oven for one hour, 350 degrees F. (If desired, one cup of chopped, stoned dates may be added to this recipe.)

Onion Souffle—Peel and cook six or eight onions in boiling water till tender, then drain, chop finely, and measure; you will need one cupful chopped. Season this with salt and pepper to suit individual taste, and add three egg yolks slightly beaten. Over the fire, melt two tablespoons of butter and into this fat rub two tablespoons of flour; add two-thirds of a cup of sweet milk and stir constantly till it thickens. Combine this sauce with the egg onion mixture, fold in the stiffly whipped whites of three eggs, and turn the mixture into a greased baking dish. Set the dish in a shallow pan containing a little hot water and slip all into a moderate oven (about 375 degrees F.) to bake for half an hour. When done, the souffle should be firm in the center and delicately brown. Serve quickly, before it falls.

Duncan River Is Most Suited for Good Highway

July 14, 1929.

Editor The Daily News.

Sir: Re an article written by G. O. Buchanan in which he recommends the building of a wagon road by way of Hammil creek and Toby creek as being most suitable outlet for this country. Will say no doubt this route would open up some good country, but as a road that would be of service to the people as a whole it does not seem to me to be the proper route for a through connection which we are badly in need of.

In my opinion it does not compare with a through connection being made by the way of the Duncan river and Beaver Pass. It is a much more direct line and would bring us in touch with the prairie markets, Calgary being a natural distributing center.

This being the case it would be of great benefit to the fruit growers of this valley.

I will say the grade all through this route would not exceed 2 per cent, which must be considered an excellent grade. The scenery along this route is the best than can be had.

In crossing from the head of the Duncan river to the Beaver there is a beautiful pass. To the east of the pass there is a larger glacier and it extends far above the pass.

The Duncan river valley which is about an average of one mile wide, is covered in most places with a beautiful stand of timber; white pine, hemlock and cedar and all vergin timber. It stands just as nature left it. This is an exceptional thing to see at this age. Below Foley's landing there is a good stand of wild hay.

Kaslo Boats Carried On Truck; States That Nelson Slights Kaslo

Editor Daily News:

Sir—I noticed a short article which was printed in your paper, concerning the transportation of racing boats from Kaslo to Sandpoint regatta. It was stated in this article that three boats were carried on trailers behind their owners' cars. I would like to know where you obtained this information, as it does not contain one atom of truth. As a matter of fact, all five boats which represented Kaslo at Sandpoint regatta were transported there on a truck and I helped to load them. They returned in the same way and I helped unload them.

There is another subject which I wish to mention at this time. Visitors to Kaslo inform us that when inquiries were made as to what manner of town Kaslo might be, since she could send five boats and three prize winners to Sandpoint, certain citizens of Nelson immediately depreciated Kaslo' merits, telling inquirers that we have not much of a place here, not worth anyone's while to visit it. Surely this is a most unsportsmanlike thing to do. The true sportsman never depreciates a rival. I am not going to enunciat Kaslo's merits, I would simply point out that we were represented at Sandpoint by five boats, two of whose owners were prize winners, whilst Nelson—where was she? Not on any deck at all.

Yours truly,

UNPREJUDICED.

Writer Gives Some Experiences in Home Buying Vs. U. S. A.

Editor of The Daily News,

Sir: I have read with interest the articles which you have published from time to time about the United States tariffs and the advice you give to what action Canadians should take about the matter, and I thought if I gave our experience upon certain lines it might help to clear the matter up at home and then we would be better prepared to deal with the question of our neighbor's tariffs.

The writer's firm is in the mining line and we have been purchasing supplies from Vancouver jobbers until the prices got so high (only a little less than the local retail stores) that it was necessary for us to find other markets. This we were able to do, purchasing several consignments from the coast cities in the United States but this coming to the Vancouver jobbers they used all their influence to prevent us getting further supplies from those sources.

We then tried to purchase from a large Canadian combine but were told that we could either buy from their local retail branch or from the Vancouver jobbers previously mentioned. This drove us to purchasing from eastern and central United States houses, but even paying the very high freight rates we were able to make a saving of from 35 per cent to 50 per cent upon the Vancouver prices.

When the agitation regarding the United States tariffs came on we thought that we should see if it was not possible to purchase supplies somewhere else in Canada or in the old country and so we wrote wholesalers in England about the matter with the result that our letters were sent to other importers in Western Canada and their representatives called upon us and accepted the orders given.

However to our great surprise, when ordering approximately half a ton of materials only one item of about a hundred pounds was of English manufacture, the remainder coming from Philadelphia (300 lbs.), San Francisco (200 lbs.), Nevada (100 lbs.), and from Canadian sources (300 lbs.). In placing a further order for about five hundred pounds of supplies the whole shipment came from Denver, Colorado.

With such experiences as given in our efforts to find a decent home market and in the lack of that a market within the Empire, can anyone be blamed for going across the line and purchasing goods at the best market available. One cannot blame the Vancouver jobbers for wanting a fair profit, but when they ask excessive prices and then use all their buying power to prevent smaller firms buying in reasonable quantities from similar sources, then it is time some other action should be taken. Just what that action should be, and how to prevent our home markets from taking a worse advantage than they are already trying to impose upon us requires very careful thought, but placing a high tariff as a retaliation against our American friends would make the situation pretty nearly unbearable.

Before concluding, I might mention the fact that the writer has before him a statement from the Vancouver jobbers for some material charged at 15c a pound where we are buying in quantities of 200 pounds or more at 2½c a pound. It is hardly conceivable that any retailer would charge such exhorbitant profits that the jobbers are doing.

It would be interesting if other firms would give experiences, and it is with this hope in view that this letter is sent.

Yours truly,

MINING.

Kootenay Bay Man Disagrees With the Procter Road Petition

To Editor Daily News.

Sir:

In the issue of your paper of July 11, is published a copy of a petition for a roadway between Harrop and Nelson.

Had the writer of this petition confined himself to this road, all might have been well. But after explaining how they have been hampered and inconvienced, in access to markets, by difficulties and delay, he promptly suggests difficulties and delays for those settlements upon the eastern shore of the Kootenay Lake, by not building the Crawford Bay-Kootenay Bay road.

This petition is so full of inaccurate and misleading statements, that it cannot be allowed to pass unchallenged and it is to be regretted that they did not have someone draw up this petition, who knew whereof he wrote.

In the first place, to the writer's knowledge, there is no Government wharf at Pilot Bay, nor any wharf where steamers load or unload motor cars, nor any roadway to such wharf. In the second place I would like to state, that the road between Crawford Bay and Kootenay Bay, is already built, in fact has been built for over twenty years, and there has been motor traffic over it for the past ten years, and today there is considerable traffic over it every day.

I must take exception to the statement that the landing at Kootenay Bay is difficult and dangerous, this wharf is not touched by either north or south wind, and there has been a floating wharf here for twenty years, held only by two wire ropes ashore, not even a pile to tie to, and given a wharf such as the Proctor wharf, there could be no trouble whatever.

In regard to the ferry route, I have always understood that it should be placed between the shortest practicable points, which in this case would be from Kootenay Bay to Queens Bay, as the great trouble and delay, when the traffic becomes great, and it will become great, will be the wait for the ferry at each side.

A. J. WATSON,

July 14, 1929. Kootenay Bay, B. C.

Urges Improvement North Shore Road Instead of New Route

Editor Daily News:

Sir—Our friends at Procter, Harrop and Sunshine Bay are indeed hard to please. Did they not, a few years back, petition with residents of this side for a ferry at Harrop or Procter? It is true that Procter residents would have preferred the ferry at their end, but the Harrop location was considered most suitable to serve the greatest number of people.

It has been proved that the Nelson ferry is inadequate to serve the ever-increasing traffic; why divert the traffic to annother ferry up at Procter, which would also become congested? Surely our friends at Procter, Harrop and Sunshine Bay do not think that they keep the Nelson ferry going and congest it.

In these days of auto one can travel quite fast enough from Harrop to Nelson at an average speed of 20 miles per hour, even if they have to wait five minutes for a ferry.

Why duplicate a good road already in existence on the north shore by building one in a difficult location on the other side, the C. P. R. already having their railroad on the best ground? Far better improve the north shore road, as is being done, and let the government get on with the bridge when ready.

It is also a fact that winter conditions on that almost sunless side would be a large obstacle to be overcome and upkeep would cost more.

Will not the regular train service, brought about by the new link that the C. P. R. is building, solve in a large measure any marketing and transport difficulties now experienced?

NORTHSHORITE.

R. R. No. 1, Nelson, July 11.

POLICE FIND STILL, GRAND FORKS RANCH

Pay Surprise Visit; Jules Bosquet Fined $200 for Making "Moonshine"

GRAND FORKS, B. C., July 14.—For making "moonshine" against the regulations of the Revenue act, Jules Bosquet was hailed before Magistrate Crowe and fined $200 with the alternate of six months in Nelson jail. The fine was paid.

It was just when Jules had something more than 40 gallons ready to bottle and go on its way rejoicing, that Constables McKay and Vickers with Revenue Officers Gilpin and Cook took a sudden notion to visit his ranch east of town and discovered the plant.

The still and product, which left little argument as to what had been Jules' principal occupation during his active moments, were taken by the officers and , confronted in court, Bosquet made the case snappy by pleading guilty.

Yokohoma Grows Through Efforts of Active Mayor

VANCOUVER, B. C., July 13.—Reconstruction of a new city, commencing immediately after the disastrous effects of the world-felt Japanese earthquake, to house half a million in less than six years, was told by C. E. Marshall Martin, C.B.E., British resident of Yokohama, upon his arrival here from the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Russia.

The better city which has been constructed since the disaster is partly due to the constructive genius of Mayor Ariyoshi Chiuichi of that city, who with the lease holders and land owners committee of which Mr. Martin is honorary chairman, have raised from a waste land, where only 25 houses escaped damage, a city and seaport that equals any in the world.

Coolidge Dislikes Writing as Career

NEW YORK, N. Y., July 13.—Calvin Coolidge in an interview published in the New York World discloses that writing as a career has no appeal to him.

Mr. Coolidge, who was in New York to attend a meeting of the board of directors of the New York Life Insurance company, was asked whether he liked to write.

"I don't," he said. "Oh, I don't find it so difficult to sit and write about something that I know very well, such as my own life, but a career of writing"—and he left the sentence unfinished.

The former president also disclosed that all his writing is done in longhand.

He said he had heard of persons who couldn't write a word unless they sat at their typewriters.

"They always said that President Wilson had that habit," he added. "He would use just two or three fingers at his own machine. At least that was the story about Washington, I don't know whether it was true or not."

Mr. Coolidge carried his left hand bound in a black silk handkerchief as a result of a sprain he suffered while on a fishing trip.

CRANBROOK TO MOVE LINE ON AIRPORT SITE

Will Expend $1960 to Divert Power Line; Decide Against Tourist Cabins

CRANBROOK, B. C., July 14.—The regular meeting of the Cranbrook city council was held in the council chambers Thursday evening, acting Mayor MacPherson in the chair. Aldermen Flowers, Jackson, Attridge and Cillier were present.

A letter from H. C. Pearson of Chapman camp, secretary of the Chapman camp band, was read. The letter asked permission for the band to put on a concert in the playground park some Saturday evening soon. Acting Mayor MacPherson advised the council that he had replied to the letter giving the requested permission and, on motion, the action of the acting mayor was sustained.

A card of thanks from Mrs. Philpot was read, thanking the mayor and council for their wedding gift and expression of good wishes.

Acting Mayor MacPherson reported that the committee appointed by the council had attended the meeting of the railway commission at the court house, and had gone with the members of the commission to inspect the hospital crossing. He expressed the hope that the desired results would be obtained.

NO CABINS

Alderman Jackson reported that the works committee had considered the application of C. B. Garrett, caretaker of the city tourist park, for permission to erect portable cabins in the park, and stated that the works committee had decided not to authorize this construction.

The finance committee presented accounts amounting to $19,627.28, which were ordered paid. Reports from the light, fire works and health committees were read and ordered filed, also that of the dairy inspector.

With regard to health and relief, Alderman Collier reported that he had been in touch with the secretary of the Cranbrook relief board regarding cases requiring assistance and stated that no payments from the city were required at the present time.

TO MOVE LINE

A delegation from the board of trade, consisting of W. R. Grubbe and A. J. Schell arrived and Mr. Grubbe addressed the council in connection with the matter of the removal of the power line clear of the landing field. Mr. Grubbe presented a letter from the East Kootenay Power company which was read by the city clerk and stressed the importance of having the line removed during the present summer. He asked the council if it would be possible for the city to arrange to take care of the expenditure.

It was decided, on motion of Aldermen Jackson and Collier that the city assume an expenditure of not more than $1960 to take care of the diversion of the power line from the airport site landing field, providing the proposed diversion meets with the approval of the Ottawa authorities.

The tender of G. W. Patmore for plumbing and fixtures for the new fire hall was referred to. It was decided to accept Mr. Patmore's tender for the necessary plumbing, amounting to $498. The acting mayor and city clerk were authorized to contract with Mr. Patmore for the plumbing and also with A. E. Jones for the general building contract.

A letter was read from Chief Constable Halcrow regarding the use of the corner in front of the Y. M. C. A. as a parking stand by drivers of taxicabs, but no action was taken on it at the meeting. The matter of irregular parking was referred to and the city superintendant was instructed to have parking lines painted afresh on the more important business streets.

Alderman Jackson gave notice of motion that at the next regular meeting of the council he intends introducing a bylaw to amend the fire law and building bylaw to remove that portion of block 88 between south Baker lane and Louis street, and between east Norbury lane and Fenwick from the second class fire limits.

BULLS SWITCH TO RAIL ISSUES

Score of Carrier Stocks Soar to Record High Levels Under Full Steam

NEW YORK, July 14.—The bull party switched its operations to the rails in Saturday's two-hour session of the stock market and sent nearly a score of the carrier stocks under full steam to record high levels.

The market was somewhat unsettled by another bear drive on the coppers, and there was a marked tendency to take profits in many utilities and industrials, but losses were mostly moderate. Extreme gains in the rails ranged to a mximum of nearly 16 points in New York Central, and the Associated Press index of 20 leading issues in this group rose 5 points to the highest level yet recorded.

The profit-taking in other sections of the list was swelled by the feeling that Friday's violent upturn may have resulted in an overbought condition.

New York Central, after rising nearly 16 points to 235, closed at 232. Union Pacific was a close second, mounting nearly 13 points to a peak price at 265. Chesapeake & Ohio and Atchison climbed more than 8 points each and Pennsylvania, Rock Island, Colorado & Southern, Delaware & Hudson, Great Northern preferred, Katy, Frisco, Southern Pacific, Nickel Plate and Alleghany corporation were others reaching record prices with wide gains.

Mining Chatter From the East

Noranda's neighbors, enthused by general developments on the high-grade leader, are apparently stealing some of the thunder from the Horne property as far as news goes. Noranda has been expectedly silent with any official remarks lately, so it follows that rumor should assume some importance from other sources of Rouyn activity.

The Pontiac-Rouyn property, also northwest of Noranda, and adjoining Powell and Brownlee, is having a geological survey now conducted by a well known geologist.

All these developments enhance the possibilities of what is known as Rouyn's twelve mile copper break, established pretty well as running from Noranda to the north and northwest where Waite-Montgomery has been meeting widely discussed new success from diamond drilling, and where a shaft is being rushed to depth.

News from the camp has it that Waite has actually four new finds. Extending along the break either in whole or portion, are several large and small-sized properties, the success upon any of which might bring joy to mining and the mining market.

McDougall, one of the Lindsley enterprises, selling marketwise almost principally through its holding of somewhat over 150,000 shares of Sherritt-Gordon, is only one of the mining efforts carrying interest in view of the surrounding effort.

McDougall is going to be worked before next winter, if Rouyn talk means anything. McDougall is given interest by the fact that the Lindsleys have acquired the Norrie Towers property, which is north of the Pontiac and east of the Area, and has a small boundary connection with the present McDougall property.

Graham Bousquet is diamond drilling from the 500-foot level, and while having intersected several breaks of medium are possibilities, there are later to be explored laterally.

Newbec has definitely located ore on the 250-foot level, but it is believed not yet in the main zone. The situation is reported very favorable by a Toronto mining man who visited the property over the holiday, and who brought back word the main ore body would be entered on its dip any hour Specimens of ore brought south show clean massive chalcopyrite.

Seven Troughs, a Nevada operation, with bulk stock held in Quebec, has decided to erect a 100-ton mill. Additional ground is being acquired, and shareholders on July 11th, are called to meet to consider increasing capital from four to six million shares, with one million shares going to shareholders as stock dividend.

Lake shore is reported to have purchased 14 mineral claims on the left bank of Blanche river at Nipissing Central Railway crossing for back-filling their stopes. The claims comprise a long ridge desired of sand and gravel about 12 miles from Lake Shore.

Sylvanite's new shaft on the northwest corner has reached 200-foot depth and head-frame will be completed within a week. On the 2000-foot level of the main workings, conditions are reported improving, over the 1750-foot level, and while ore is spotty, the vein is more vertical than recently, when it tended to flatten out. The mill is treating 200 tons daily of $10 grade.

THE OILS

That it might be a good stroke of business for certain large groups of investors to engage expert oil geologists to make careful study of the various Alberta fields and company possibilities is an expression from one prominent financier.

Chemical Research, receiving attention on the Standard exchange, has a New York financial group reported as being linked up with it, that includes such names as the Hayden Stone and Newmont and other such.

Hargal's No. 1 well, adjoining Home and approximately 450 feet east of the latter's big producing No. 1 well has a program marked out, and drilling will soon start under Imperial Oil. Hargal mill later announce plans for its 3500 acres in Wainwright, formerly the old British Petroleums holdings.

Home oil expects No. 2 well will have produced enough by August to pay back to Imperial Oil the funds expended on drilling the well and from then on Home's earnings are reported as being directed to the treasury.

A contract has been let to a California drilling company to drill ten new wells in the Wainwright field. One derrick is already erected close to the sub-division to be worked by Toralto Oils. Contractors from Oklahoma are also on the field, and five other outfits and crews are en route.

Developments at Bear's Den field on the border between the United States and Canada, according to western advice, confirms opinion that the petrolific zone extends from Montana clear to Wainwright, Alberta.

Shareholders of Meridan Hanlon seem the mine rise and then fall from flank attacks set afterward when a lot of north buying struck the market and the current again that something is developing.

Consolidated Smelters now hold 52 per cent of the George Copper, having acquired shares of the George family and several other smaller blocks, advises the west. Quite an extensive diamond drill campaign has been conducted on the property at Portland Canal.

Chibougamau district is staked solid for thirty miles north-east from the Chibougamac Prospectors' property. A party from the field says the biggest mining companies in Canada and the U. S. have representatives in there, most of them working under cover. The groups compose crews of anywhere from six to 25 men. The story is that a crew of 23 men are working for the Lindsley interests.

Chibougamau Mining company has sent out samples from its property assaying hundreds to the ton. A number of Quebec government officials are reported behind this company.

An English syndicate bought a small block of claims in Chibougamau the other day for $350,000. Other small groups of claims that were obtainable on $15,000 to $20,000 option of a few months ago have suddenly leaped in the estimate of the owners, who who are looking for several times that and all in cash.

THE OILS

Associated is making a new hole in the limestone and is definitely on its way to the production horizon.

Wainwell Oils is preparing to place No. 4 well on pump, the well now being rated at around 150 barrels daily which is estimated to mean a gross revenue of around $54,750 yearly.

Okalta is reported making satisfactory progress at five well sites south of the McLeod lease, while sites south No. 6 well will be chosen shortly.

East Crest is drilling in brown sandstone underlying the Dalhousie oil sands and expects to cut limestone in about another 200 feet.

...e Larkspur Is Champion of U. S. A. Horses

...HICAGO, July 14.—Blue Larkspur, Col. E. R. Bradley's great colt, the son of Black Servant-Blossom Time, reigns supreme as three-year-old champion of the United States turf.

With 50,000 spectators cheering him to victory this beautiful sleek-coated thoroughbred won the $60,000 American classic at Arlington park on Saturday, defeating the greatest field of three-year-olds brought together in one race in the last decade. The race, a mile and quarter, was run over a heavy, difficult track in the slow time of 2:14 1-5.

Blue Larkspur won by five lengths, with Live Oak, which raced in the colors of the Rosedale stable, second. H. P. Gardner's Clyde Van Dusen, the son of Man o'War, which triumphed in the Kentucky derby, was third, three lengths back of Live Oak. Rose of Sharon, former Senator J. N. Camden's colt, heavily played favorite, pulled up 13th in a field of 14 starters.

Blue Larkspur rewarded his backers with $7.40 straight, $4.74 to place and $4.30 to show.

GERMANY PUTS ENGLISH DAVIS PLAYERS OUT

Gain Right by 3-2 Win to Meet U. S. in Inter-Zone Finals

BERLIN, July 14.—Germany conquered England, three matches to two, in the final round of the European zone play for the Davis cup, completed today. Germany thus gained the right to meet the United States, American zone winners, in the interzone finals at Paris, July 19.

It was the collapse of H. W. "Bunny" Austin, considered the ace of the British team, that permitted the Teutons to triumph. With the scores tied at two victories each, an attack of cramps forced Austin to quit in the fifth and deciding set of his match with Dr. H. Prehn, German national champion.

Austin had taken the first set at 6-4, dropped the second at 2-6 and the third at 4-6 and squared the match by winning the fourth, 6-4. In the fifth set, Dr. Prehn had run up a total of five games to one, within a game of victory, when Austin was forced to retire.

CUSICK BEATS HUME BY 7-3 IN BASEBALL

Visitors Play Almost Errorless Ball; Many Visitors Attend

Playing almost errorless ball, the visiting Cusick baseball team backed its pitcher, Binkley, to the limit and earned a 7-3 victory over the Hume Hotel in an exhibition game at the Recreation grounds here yesterday afternoon. The visitors had a tough job on their hands, scoring one run in each of five innings and adding two in the final frame to cinch matters.

It was an interesting game to watch and there were plenty of supporters for each team, many visitors from across the line being in evidence. About half the cars inside the grounds bore either Washington or Idaho licence plates.

HUME RALLY FAILS

Hume staged a rally in the fifth inning, scoring two runs. The rally was cut short with the second man put out, when Langill, thinking it was the third man out, deserted second base to be tagged. Jeffs was on first at the time and Vance coming to bat.

For the Humes Vance collected a two-bagger and Gillett a three-base hit. Bowen slammed a three-bagger; Haynesl two doubles and Haley a double for the visitors.

PITCHERS GOOD

Binkley, on the mound for Cusick, struck out 11 and allowed seven hits. Although the visitors got only 11 hits, seven of the singles, off Gillett, they proved adept at stealing extra bases to get in a position to score. Gillett struck out 13 batters and gave five bases on balls.

Cusick played errorless ball until the ninth inning when the second man up for the Hume got on first base on Rulfes' error. Hume players made six errors, divided between three players.

FIRST SCORE ON STEAL

The first score of the game was made in the third inning when the visitors engineered a double steal after two men had got on by singles. W. Sheridan drew Richardson to throw to third and then came home, knocking the ball out of Richardson's hand as he received it back from third. During the play B. Sheridan stole third.

In the fourth inning Richardson got the ball in the left thumb and had to retire. The ball split open a new wound along side of one that was bandaged. Vance filled in for him.

In the eighth inning Benwell retired in favor of Pitts.

One Subject Taboo With Judge Landis

By AL DEMAREE
(Former Pitcher New York Giants)

Outside of a ball game, Judge K. M. Landis, the high commissioner of baseball loves to play golf.

At the slightest excuse, he will change the subject at hand, to bring up his favorite topic and reminisce on his golf triumphs and defeats.

Once I was consulting with him on something I considered of great importance to myself. He listened solemnly and patiently while I was telling him my story and then, when I expected words of wisdom and understanding to flow forth from his lips in answer to my questions he dreamily said:

"Say, Demaree—did you ever try using a niblick for approaches to the green from distances of a hundred yards or nearer?"

But the judge is a real golfer and subject to a golfer's psychology.

One day when playing with George Ade and all being even on the 17th hole, Ade remarked casually, "Have you seen your friend Ban Johnson lately?"

Needless to say Ade finished one up!

'The Foolish Virgin'

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

Chapter VI. Continued.

"Why, but what would my mother think—what would everyone think? Everyone knows it's my club—everyone knows that I'm in everything the Cinderellas do—the Mardi Gras and the theatricals and the Hospital Fund!" Pamela stammered. "I couldn't explain—and besides, whatever the appearances were, I didn't do anything wrong, Mrs. Broome."

Silence. Mrs. Broome continued to regard her throughtfully dispassionately.

"Appearances matter, don't they, Pamela? It doesn't concern you and me what people do, does it?—but it does concern us what they seem to do. And girls—girls must respect themselves, or how can any of the rest of us respect them? Even on your own account, Pamela, was that a fine thing—was that an admirable thing to do last night?

"Now, my dear, you must make up your mind that the simplest way out, and the quite way out, is to resign from the Cinderellas," she went on, as Pamela, dazed was still. "That means that there will be no discussion and no split. Jessy told me frankly this morning that some of the older crowd, the married set, have been pretty well disgusted with the way some of the Carterbridge girls and boys have been acting. She said to me that she would not tolerate certain things in the club. 'Even if he is my own cousin,' she said, 'Chester Hilliard cannot introduce immorality into Carterbridge.'"

"That," Pamela protested, scarlet-cheeked, "that is absolutely unfair! He's a stranger here—he didn't know anybody about Hatter's—he only got here last Wednesday——"

"I'm afraid that you don't make a very good case for yourself there, Pamela. You did know about Hatter's, didn't you? But the whole case is this: We cannot—Doctor and I and Jessy and some of the others—if they knew—we cannot overlook this episode. We wouldn't be the right sort of fathers and mothers if we did. We cannot say that you didn't mean anything wrong and that it was a harmless escapade—no, it's too much. If things of this kind are to be tolerated, then there's nothing left of honour or decensy at all.

"I don't wan't to be hard on you. Jessy herself said that there was no need for publicity, or discussion—nobody but ourselves need know. But you must resign from the Cinderellas."

It was a nightmare. She couldn't be awake, Pamela felt, here in the familiar Broome sitting room, listening to this.

She wet her dry lips, looked up from a study of the rug.

"What reason could I give, Mrs. Broome?"

"That your mother couldn't afford it, for one thing," the older woman said readily, unexpectedly.

The proud fair head went up again and Pamela's eyes shone black.

"My mother is glad to pay that twenty dollars a year—she wants us to have everything."

She felt her throat thicken and her eyes sting; she was going to add the last triumph to this merciless woman's conquest by crying like a baby before her.

"But your mother is a poor woman, my dear child. How much older are you going to be before you realize that?" asked Mrs. Broome compassionately. "Several of us, Mrs. Beaver and Mrs. Catherwood and myself, have been watching you for years, watching you spend your mother's little income for clothes like the other girls, pleasures and extravagances far, far beyond your means! Haven't you ever thought of helping her, Pamela, like a woman, instead of trying to hold your own with the few girls in this town whose fathers can afford to give them everything? There are fine things about you, my dear——"

To get out of this room. To get out of this room. To get home, to her quiet room, and lie there until she died . . .

"Maisie and you were little-girl chums, and she loves you dearly,' pursued the modulated, admonitory voice, "but even Maisie has said to me sometimes, 'Mumsie, if I were in Pam's place, I think I'd help you—I wouldn't want to see you worried——' "

"I don't believe it!" Pamela interrupted fiercely.

"Don't—how do you mean?" Mrs. Broome asked, bewildered and incredulous. "Don't believe me?"

"You must have misunderstood Maisie. She's loyal," Pam said desperately.

"She does love you, my dear, as we all did—no, Ill say as we all do," said the other, a little touched in spite of herself. "It's only that we want you to live up to the possibilities of your own fine nature, Pam. And now is your chance. Resign from the Cinderellas, get a a good position downtown, stand by your dear little mother, who has had so much trouble! And Carter, too—Doctor always says that there is a great deal that is good in that boy ——"

"I don't know anyone who thinks there isn't!' Pamela said, with a surprised and resentful laugh.

"'I meant—about being expelled from the Cinderella club," Mrs. Broome said delicately.

The girl flung up her head, looked at her with dilated eyes. There was a moment of silence.

"Carter! Why—why, what are you talking about?" Pamela said bluntly, too stunned to remember her manners.

"You knew that. Pamela?"

"Knew what?"

"That Carter—why, that was three weeks ago!" exclaimed Mrs. Broome, hearing, in the back of her own mind, her own sympathetic voice retailing these details to the doctor, later on.

Pamela, scarlet, was staring at her with a thinly veiled hatred in her eyes. The girl was breathing hard, her one conscious impulse was to say furiously, "It's a lie."

"Carter has been drinking disgracefully, Pamela," Mrs. Broome said gently, regretfully, "and in a special meeting of the directors this was decided on some time ago."

The girl took the shock bravely, swallowing once with a dry throat, raising her chin proudly, facing the other woman with a haggard, desperate young face.

"I'm sorry, I didn't know," she said briefly. She got to her feet, bowed jerkily, as a child might bow, and turned toward the door. "One thing more,' she said, in a hard, resentful voice, "If I resign, there's no reason why my mother should hear any gosip—there won't be any talk?"

"Not unless you force it by making the club ask for your resignation, Pamela," Mrs. Broome said, cheerfully, rising also. "Some day, my dear," she added, You may see this as a turning point in your life. You may see——"

Will Explore Mine Resources in Arctic Ocean

VANCOUVER, July 12.—Mineral resources of the Coronation Gulf area of the Arctic ocean will be explored this summer by airplane, according to Lieut. Col. J. K. Cornwall, noted Arctic adventurer, who has completed arrangements here for the expedition.

It is planned to establish an airplane base on the Arctic, and a series of stations on Coronation Gulf. Wireless communication will be maintained with the aircraft and the prospecting will be carried out from nearly a dozen points in the vast country, which is believed to hold tremendous wealth in base and precious metals.

The survey will continue for some seasons, it is said. A large store of supplies will be loaded on the Hudson's Bay company's steamer Baychimo and sent to Herchel island via Point Barrow, Alaska. Colonel Gornwall will meet the ship there and superintend the disposal of the stores to stations hundreds of miles to the east of Coronation Gulf.

The party of 20 which Colonel Cornwall will lead into the north will consist of engineers, mineralogists and a staff of Eskimo helpers.

Dominion Department to Increase Its Staff of Fruit Inspectors Through B.C.

R. G. L. Clarke, Inspector for B. C., Is in District; Reduce Cost Car Lot Inspections; Okanagan Ships Cherries to Montreal; Inspectors Meet

An excellent service for car load inspections for fruit growers in British Columbia was announced here Saturday by R. G. L. Clark, district fruit and vegetable inspector for the province of British Columbia. Mr. Clarke is with the Dominion government horticultural branch. He was in the city Saturday in company with B. M. White, supervising inspector for the province.

In past years stated Mr. Clarke, it had been the practise to inspect car load lots of apples only at request of the growers. Under new rulings the department can order inspections made. In order that cars of fruit may roll, it will be necessary that the grower have an inspection certificate or a release order. In the latter case the car can be traced and any complaints, checked up stated the inspector.

INCREASED STAFF

This new schedule will mean increasing the number of inspectors throughout the province, stated Mr. Clarke. In the whole province there will be about 67 inspectors under the Dominion department of agriculture. Car inspection costs will also be reduced, he announced, from $5 to $3. This charge he stated will not near pay for the cost of inspection. Inspection will work in the packing houses.

Nelson and district will be covered by five inspectors, stated Mr. Clarke, who is on his way to Creston where a school of inspectors will be held immediately. The inspectors will work towards the stabilizing and standardization of the fruit pack in regard to apples, pears and plums.

DISTRICT INSPECTORS

Mr. Clarke announced that Fred Dean with headquarters at Castlegar, had been appointed inspector for the Arrow Lakes district. Mr. Dean was in Nelson Saturday with the officials. Walter Jackson will be inspector at Creston with an assistant. A. McLFletcher of Nelson will be in charge of inspections along Kootenay lake. An inspector has yet to be appointed in the Grand Forks district. He will be appointed shortly, stated Mr. Clarke. Applications for the position had been made but the appointment awaited a report by the civil service commission, said Mr. Clarke.

Mr. Clarke and Mr. White arrived in Nelson Friday night from the Okanagan, having driven from Vernon to Edgewood by motor.

All indications point to a good crop this year they stated.

Mr. Clarke is of the opinion that while not as large as usual the fruit crop will be of good quality. The cherry crop in the Okanagan is good, stated the inspector. Four cars of Okanagan cherries were being prepared for shipment to eastern markets. These car loads are all pre-cooled at Penticton before rolling to Montreal.

PRE-COOLER WORKING

Mr. Clarke stated that the new precooling plant at Penticton was working to capacity. It handles about seven car loads of stone fruits per day, that is in eight to 10 hours. He reports the canning factory at Penticton to be working at capacity on all kinds of fruits. At Vernon cold storage facilities were being enlarged by one-third.

Mr. Clarke was of the opinion that the measures to affect scab control throughout the fruit growing districts this spring were showing results. Along the Arrow Lakes in particular, he stated, the scab had disappeared where growers had used the sprays as suggested at the right time.

After visiting the Kootenay lake and Creston fruit districts Mr. Clarke and Mr. White will return to Nelson. They will then go through the Doukobor district and on to Grand Forks.

KNOW WHAT IS BEST

HOLIDAYS

By GERALD S. REES

"Beyond the east the sunrise,
Beyond the west the sea
"And east and west the wanderlust
That will not let us be.

Hollidays—A magic word. Holidays nowadays compass a far greater area of our terrestrial orb than in olden days, and the process of world communication has greatly quickened its pace since the days of Hengist and Horsa. We have, in a sense, fulfilled the words of the seer "Enlarge the place of thy tent, and let them stretch forth the curtain of thine habitations". We have become great travelers; it is said in gentle sarcasm that the Englishman leaves home to adventure on foreign shores because he tires of the English climate, the monotony of endless suburbia, the eternal hot joints on Sundays, with the same joint cold, and washing day on Mondays. The Scot, of course, forsakes his burns and braes—and his heather, that he may spoil the Egyptians elsewhere; the Irishman because no vacancies offer in the local constabulary, and Taffy goes abroad to learn to speak an understandable English!

We all have, or should have, "the wandering foot of the world's eternal gipsy breed."

"For to admire and for to see
"For to be'old the world so wide.

The onward march of physical science has annihilated distance. Speed is Time. Time is Money and Money it seems is everything. The instinctive lure of the wide open spaces and the farthest skyline aided and abetted through the propaganda of cunning transportation chieftains.

"Through all the seas of all Thy world".

They examine world maps through magnifying glasses to discover new ports at which to land their globe trotting couriers—"Male and Female created He them" who have a pardonable curiosity to see the other nations of the earth under their own vine and fig tree, meanwhile complaining of the lack of bathrooms in Luxor, the vile coffee in Bloomsbury, and the general "queerness" of all "furriners" and their idiotic languages.

"OR WHAT HAVE YOU?"

Ha! Ejeculate the world-tour constructors, let us include the Galopagos Islands in the next tour, or the Desert of Igidi, or the Hudson Bay, or even the ancient Wilderness of Sin. Compared with our forefathers, we are indeed a much traveled race. Kipling speaks of the world-end habit as now being superimposed on the week-end habit. The British week-end is almost an obsession; economists attribute her commercial decline in part to this pleasant but rather costly and extended play time. No use to put the "rec" in recreation!

The exodus from all over the world steadily increases responding to the super high pressure advertising, which caters lavishly to our dreams, for

"We are dreamers, dreaming greatly
"In the man stifled towns
"We yearn beyond the sky line
"Where the strange roads go down.

Hail! The white collar steerage, the cabin and the first classers. Hail again! Travel lifts the veil of ignorance, makes for a wholesome goodwill and peace between peoples and nations, and constitutes a first step towards learning to love our neighbors as ourselves; at present some of the imported customers of Trans—Atlantic rather strain the "Hands across the Wabash" feeling, even as the wandering Briton on the European continent in many cases make "L'Etente Cordiale" an idle phrase.

There is food for thought in what one writer sets forth, that if we lived at the heart of things, we should not need to wander the world to ascertain the needs and aspirations of the human race. It is true that we can get about now so quickly with comparative small effort that we may resemble the eagle which without an effort soars over the mountains, sees the liviest things in the world, the heights and the depths of the plains, the sun, the sea and the flowers, and yet in a sense, sees nothing.

And perhaps some travelers too journey coastwards or prairie-wards, or even across the blue seas, and sees so little . . . . .

LABEL COLLECTORS

Not so long ago, the globe trotter was "rara avis," and his postcards from ports of call created envious excitement; you know well the type of postcard "Me and my rickshaw in Durban"; "Me and my donkey (marked with a cross) at the Great Pyramid of Gizeh on the trail of the Israelites"; "Me on hotel steps of Grand Magnifique at Luserne"; they incited one to homicidal intent.

A LA PATHE GAZETTE

But now, poo-poo and tut-tut, this time next week, we expect ourselves to be heading for the Happy Valley of Hong Kong, or the Temple of the Sleeping Buddah in Bankok; shopping in Bond street or the Rue de Paix a week or so later, or in Stoke Poges churchyard with Gray's Elegy, or at Chalfont St. Giles with the blind poet of "Paradise Lost."

Well, anyway, to make the Grand Tour of the costal cities in the trail of happy honeymooning coupics—and take the children along too!

Yes, yes, yes, the world highways are crowded with "trippers", and "mass touring" is the order of the day. As the train guard in La Belle France gesticulates "Messieurs et Mesdames, les voyageurs, toujours, en route!"

SALVATIONIST PASSES

TORONTO, Ont., July 12—Forty years an officer in the Salvation army, rendering splendid service in England and Canada, Sara Wright, wife of Col. W. J. Morehen field secretary of the army in eastern Canada, died in her 65th year, following a brief illness, at the residence in this city. She was held in the highest esteem by all ranks. She is survived by her husband, one son and one daughter.

Creston Expects Use of Irrigation Before End of This Year at Latest

Will Open Tenders for Main Pipe July 17; Engineer On Job

CRESTON, B. C., July 14.—A. L. McCulloch of Nelson, has spent most of the week here taking care of several parties of contractors who are looking over the route and plans and specifications of the East Creston Irrigation district which on July 17 opens tenders for the construction of the big 20 inch reinforced concrete main pipe line as well as the steel laterals.

By a vote of 53 to 5 the landowners within the district decided to authorize the trustees to make application for a loan of $150,000 from the conservation fund to complete the work.

The district comprises about 2000 acres and takes in all the lands east of Creston village and all in the Erickson district, with the exception of about 300 acres which are in the Erickson Community Water Users system, which was put in some ten years ago, and gets its supply from Sullivan creek. It is just possible this latter system will amalgamate with the bigger project.

What is now known as the East Creston Irrigation district is what was formerly known as the Arrow Creek irrigation district, a project that was fathered by the Creston board of trade, which had the preliminary survey made about ten years ago, and who turned over all their plans, etc., later to an irrigation committee on which the board and the farming community were for several years represented.

About 1925 temporary trustees were elected for the now East Creston Irrigation district and they have kept the undertaking much alive, although it was not until May that assurance was received that the necessary loan was likely to be available this year.

The permanent board of management is made up of R. J. Long, president; L. T. Leveque, secretary and treasurer, and C. O. Rodgers the third member of the board.

If the work is got on with as fast as the trustees plan it is quite certain the water will be available for use before the end of this year.

CRANBROOK LAD FOUND DROWNED NEAR THE CITY

Leslie Bridges, 9, Found in Shallow Water at Green Bay, Friday

CRANBROOK, B. C., July 14.—One of the most tragic fatalities in Cranbrook's history occurred on Friday afternoon when Leslie, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Atlee Bridges of this city was drowned at Green Bay. The little lad, who was nine years of age, was last seen by Mrs. F. Dezall when he came in with Gordon Dezall from riding their horses at about 4 o'clock in the afternoon. She watched him take his saddle on his shoulder and go down the hill from the Dezall summer place toward the houseboat where the rest of his family were staying. The saddle was in its place, but the boy was not noticed about the houseboat and was not missed until the supper hour.

No great alarm was felt at his non-appearance it being thought that he had gone for a ramble and would come in at any minute. It was also thought that he might have gone round to the main beach where an Orangemen's picnic was being held. Search was not general until an hour or two later when the family were ready to come into town.

When alarm began to be felt the child's grandfather, J. F. Bridges, who owns the house boat and colony at the bay, walked along the wharf and discovered the child's body, lying in fairly shallow water not a great distance from the shore. It is supposed that the little fellow, who could not swim, had been reaching for suckers in the water and had overbalanced.

He was a bright, lovable child who was a favorite with all who knew him. Besides his parents two older sisters survive him. He was the only male grandchild of the Bridges name.

Cranbrook Tories Elect Dr. Rutledge As the President

CRANBROOK, B. C., July 14.—The annual meeting of the Cranbrook city Conservative association was held on Friday evening when officers for the coming year were elected. Dr. Rutledge was elected president of the association with A. J. Balment and Mrs. J. T. Sarvis as vice presidents. Alan Graham is to be the secretary and F. H. Dezall treasurer.

The city executive will consist of: J. Young, W. Johns, Mrs. Norgrove, Mrs. Clapp, T. Stewart, B. Gillis, A. C. Bowness and J. A. Arnold.

Your summer evening gown will be smartest if made of flat crepe in cameo shell with your chic "backward".

MEMORIAL SERVICE OF PYTHIANS HELD NELSON CEMETERY

Service Conducted by L. McCandlish; Flowers Laid on Graves

Annual pilgrimage of the Knights of Pythias and Pythian sisters to the Nelson cemetery to attend a memorial service and to lay flowers on the graves of members buried there was held yesterday evening about 7 p. m. About 30 members of the lodge were taken up to the cemetery in cars.

Service, which was according to the special Pythian ritual, was conducted by L. McCandlish, chancellor commander assisted by H. Logan, prelate, and N. Houston, vice-chancellor. It consisted of prayers and the singing of two well-known hymns. At the conclusion of the service the different members laid flowers on the graves of the departed.

Following the ceremony the members returned to the city and disbanded.

CHURCHILL GOT ITS NAME IN 1686

Terminus of Hudson Bay Railway Known by Other Names.

CHURCHILL, July 13.—Churchill, the terminus of the Hudson Bay railway at the mouth of Churchill river, first appears on a map in the collection of the geographic board of Canada as "Port de Munck." The map is that of the French mapmaker Sanson published 1650. The reference as to Jens Munck, the Danish naval officer who wintered there in 1619-20 with the loss of all the members of his crew except himself and three others. The tragedy so impressed the natives that they called the river Manoteousibi or Strangers' river. Hence also the name Danish river used during the French regime on Hudson bay. Both names are mentioned by the Canadian, Jeremie, who resided 20 years on the bay and published an account of it in 1720. Seven years before Munck landed at Churchill, Sir Thomas Button had sailed down the coast and Captain Luke Foxe's map of 1635 applies one of Button's names "Houbart's Hope" to Churchill bay. The oldest Indian name of the river is Missinipi or Big river, a name that is found in the York Factory Journal for 1714. The river received another name in 1775, when Joseph Frobisher from Montreal reached its upper waters and intercepted Indians bound with furs for the "English" post (Churchill) on the bay and called it English river.

The application of the name Churchill is due to the Hudson's Bay company, for whom Captain John Abraham established a post and river after John, Lord Churchill, afterwards Duke of Marlborough, who had been elected governor of the company in the previous year. The post was destroyed by fire about 1689 and because of wars with France which lasted till 1713, Churchill was not visited again by the company until 1717, when governor Knight proceeded to it from York factory and chose a site for a new post.

HIGH TEMPERATURE EQUALLED, NELSON

Mercury Soars to 89 Under Hot Sun; Many at Lakeside Park

Highest temperature for the year to date was equalled yesterday for the first time since it was set on Dominion day when the mercury soared to a maximum of 89 under the influence of a bright sun shining from a blue sky fringed with clouds. Occassionally during the afternoon, clouds covered the sun, giving baseball fans at the Recreation grounds and holiday makers at Lakeside park short relief from the hot sun.

Crowds swarmed to Lakeside park over the week-end, especially yesterday when about the largest crowd of the season turned out.

HIGH MINIMUM

During Saturday night after 5 o'clock and the early hours of the morning, the temperature did not drop to below 57. That was the minimum temperature recorded.

Saturday the temperature made a valiant effort to equal the high mark but the mercury got only as far as 87. The sky was clear practically all day. The minimum temperature Saturday, recorded during the early hours of the morning, was 43.

The humidity reached the danger point only once over the week-end when it was 27 at 2 p.m. Saturday. The morning reading Saturday, taken at 8 o'clock, was 72 and the reading at 5 p.m. was 58.

The humidity readings yesterday were: 48 at 8 a.m.; 38 at 2 p.m., and 50 at 5 p.m.

Trail Wins Tennis Tournament 7-2 In Hard Matches Here

Malahoff Stars in First Tournament Play; Three Sets Matches Feature

Trail Memorial Tennis club defeated the Nelson club 7-2 in tournament played here yesterday afternoon.

The matches were exceedingly close, all but two going to three sets in spite of the blistering sun that poured down on the courts.

This defeat puts the Nelson club definitely out of the running as far as the Kootenay championship is concerned.

Tommy Malahoff, teamed with Dick Renwick in the doubles, played brilliant tennis in this, his debut in tournament play. Though Malahoff is only 15 years old he played a brand of tennis that markes him as a rising star.

Playing a rock-bottom game Dick Renwick beat Demidoff in three hard sets after having lost the first set.

In another three set match of excellent tennis Misses Isabel and Margery Benson defeated Miss Ritchie and Miss Barron, who are both players of long experience.

Teh results were:

MEN'S SINGLES

R. Renwick beat D. Demidoff, 4-6, 6-1; 6-3; J. Benson lost to G. Hamson, 3-6, 2-6; L. Simpson lost to S. Atkinson, 6-4, 5-7, 2-6.

MEN'S DOUBLES

J. Benson and L. Simpson lost to W. Hunter and H. McInnes, 6-1, 6-3; R. Renwick and T. Malahoff lost to T. Yolland and C. Yolland, 6-4, 3-6, 5-7.

MIXED DOUBLES

A. Stringer and Miss I. Benson lost to S. Atkinson and Miss D. Anthony, 6-3, 6-4; A. Stringer and Miss M. Sandercock lost to M. McInnes and Miss Barron.

WOMEN'S DOUBLES

Miss Isabel Benson and Miss Margery Benson beat Miss Ritchie and Miss Barron, 6-4, 1-6, 6-3; Miss Marjorie Benson and Miss M. Sandercock lost to Miss D. Anthony and Miss Ritchie, 8-6, 6-4, 6-4.

Baseball Umpires Are Only Human

Either Nelson fans are tolerant, not sufficiently interested in the game, or the umpires here are exceptionally efficient. Possibly the fans are broad-minded and know that an umpire is only human and just as liable to make a mistake as anyone.

At any rate so far this season there has been little or no "crabbing" from the grandstand or the side-lines about the decisions of the umpires. This is a credit to Nelson for the lot of an umpire is a hard one.

Andy Lytle in the Vancouver Sun says:

A FIGHTING WORD

Mr. Stan Riddle, the quiet spoken gentleman now calling them at Athletic park, almost lost his temper on Monday night when a thoughtless young man in a box seat insisted on referring to him in a loud and penetrating voice as a fool. That isn't "cricket," it's not even "baseball."

Baseball umpires are schooled to stand for a lot from the fans and, occasionally, from players as well. But a man out there on a diamond is entitled to a certain measure of protection by league officials, or he is not to be blamed if he takes it upon himself to administer needed correction.

What brand of sportsmanship is it that impels a man, sitting in smug security behind a wire netting, to flay an umpire with an ungoverned tongue? Suppose Riddle booted one. Who hasn't?

It is the expressed belief of some, I know, that, in order to ensure the regular reappearance of your paying customer, you must permit him great latitude in the way of speech, at a baseball game.

But if that privilege is to be extended to permission for a fan to deride an umpire as a fool because he does not call them to suit the individual, it will not be long before there will be No Umpires whatever willing to work at Athletic park!

Don Moe Wins Golf Title, Kansas

KANSAS CITY, July 14.—Don Moe, Portland, Ore., on the western Amateur Golf championship Saturday afternoon, defeating Gilbert Carter, Nevada, Mo., one up on the 37th green.

Moe beat back a determined rally by his opponent to end the match on the 37th green after Carter's dazzling afternoon round had outclassed any golf he had played through the entire week.

DR. AULD SPEAKS ABOUT CHINA AT BAPTIST CHURCH

Only One Christian in 1000 People; Chinese Shaping Policy

That the effect of political revolutions in China on the development of Christian work in that country was that a Chinese church was coming into being and that the shaping of the policy of Christian work was falling into Chinese hands were statements made by Dr. F. M. Auld in an address on "Missions and the New Regime in China", before a large congregation at the First Baptist church here yesterday morning. Doctor Auld was formerly a medical missionary in China.

This did not mean that the missionaries' work was completed, the doctor asserted, for the Chinese leaders were anxious that the Christion workers from the west continue their work They were needed as much now as ever.

The Christian population of China was about one to every 1000 non-Christian people. In comparison Dr. Auld took as an example Nelson, stating that on such a basis there would be only about six Christian people here.

In spite of this, the influence of Christianity in China was of far greater proportion in national affairs. Many of the outstanding characters were also outstanding Christian workers.

Turning to the need of doctors and nurses in that country, Doctor Auld said that there was one doctor to every 400,000 people. This would be like having only two doctors in the whole of British Columbia or only one for the city of greater Vancouver.

The country was poorly equipped with hospitals. There was one hospital bed for every 45,000 people, which would be similar to one hospital with 15 hospital beds for the province of British Columbia, or eight hospital beds for the whole of greater Vancouver.

AUTO HORN IS SAILORS' WORRY

Superstition of the Sea Is Recalled; Was Only Stowaway.

VANCOUVER, B. C., July 12.—Sea superstition as exemplified by the sea-dog of sailing ship days has passed out to a considerable extent, but the average sailor today still treats extraordinary events at sea with due respect. This was illustrated recently when the Hamburg-American line motorship Seattle arrived in port and her crew told of a strange occurence in the middle of the Atlantic, nine days out from port.

The ship was proceeding under favorable weather conditions when suddenly the sound of an automobile horn rang clear and strong. The deck officers looked around, saw nothing and judged they must have been in error. Then came the blast again. Thinking their vessle might have run down a small fishing vessel, the officers peered over the ship's side, but saw nothing. Again the horn honked. The chief officer crossed himself and the captain took a firmer grip on his perfect conviction that there was nothing supernatural on land or sea or in the air, but again the horn honked.

The mate swallowed his Adam's apple, and the skipper again cast an eagle eye on the horizon, sea and water.

"We have an automobile in No. 2 hold," hazarded the mate but he spoke doubtfully.

"Look at it," commanded the captain.

The hatches were ordered opened and members of the crew went below with electric torches in hopes that they would find a short circuit had been causing the unexplainable phenomena. It was not a short circuit. It was a stowaway who had grown weary of living in the dark on bread and water and decided to make use of the automobile horn to attract attention to his plight.

Mayor and City Clerk Try Two Cases in Court

Mayor R. D. Barnes and W. E. Wason, city clerk, tried two cases in the city police court on Saturday in the absence of Magistrate William Brown, who is at present holidaying in Spokane.

First case was against S. Leno of this city, on a charge of driving to the common danger. Leno ran into a car at the intersection of Railway and Baker streets. As the collision was the result more of accident than carelessness, Leno was let off with a fine of only $2. Mayor Barnes recommended to him that he be more careful in future.

Second case was brought against W. Jones, local hotel owner, for having liquor in his possession illegally. Jones pleaded guilty and was fined $75.
