KING GEORGE OPENS NATIONS' PROSPERITY CONFAB TO GET WHEELS OF TRADE MOVING

PLAN TO NAME THE MONETARY BODY TUESDAY

Tension in Atmosphere as 66 Nations Await Opening

KING'S SPEECH TO BE BROADCAST

Currency Stabilization Is Important Feature of Meet

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, June 11 (CP cable)—Before a silver and gold microphone the King tomorrow afternoon formally inaugurates the greatest prosperity conference in history. Wireless waves will carry his words to the furthermost recesses of the earth. Special wires will transmit it for speedy reproduction by gramophone records.

Standing before his majesty in the conference hall will be representatives of 66 nations.

Thirty million workers are unemployed. More shipping lies rusting in port than was sunk during the great war. Scarcely a national budget balances. Government has vied with government in high and higher tariffs. More than 40 countries have exchange restrictions limiting purchases of their nationals abroad. International trade has fallen more since 1929 than it has ever fallen before.

GET WHEELS OF TRADE MOVING

The task of the conference is by monetary and economic policies to set the wheels of trade revolving again. It will consider currencies, prices, establishment of a new international gold standard, removal of exchange restrictions, general lowering of tariffs. Over the nature of the main problem to be solved there is little difference of opinion among the various delegations. The difficulties will come when the remedies are proposed. Sellers are many and buyers few.

TENSION IN THE AIR

The conference opens in an atmosphere of tension. Germany has repudiated her debt payments abroad. President Roosevelt has not secured from congress the tariff-negotiating authority he sought. As a sequel to the Moscow espionage trials Soviet Russian and Great Britain maintain mutual trade embargoes. Japan talks of trade reprisals because India has imposed extra duties on cottons. Even Holland, her shipping threatened with virtual extinction, talks of high protection—if the conference fails.

Monday's opening session is expected to include only the speech by the King, followed by an address by Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, chairman of the conference. The next steps include selection of a steering committee and two principal committees, one to consider monetary problems, the other to deal with tariffs and other trade barriers. It is hoped these committees will be completely formed by Tuesday.

Currency stabilization is an important point for consideration by the conference and secret meetings over the weekend of representatives of the Bank of England, the Bank of France, and the New York Federal Reserve, were regarded as indicating an effort to perfect a plan to limit fluctuations until definite steps toward stabilization can be agreed upon.

France and other countries still on the gold standard are expected to demand the early restoration of the pound sterling and United States dollar to the gold basis at the highest possible levels.

The British are expected to insist that war debts and other problems must be settled before a return to gold. The Americans are fearful that any dollar stabilization will be likely to depress American prices and thus hamper execution of their internal program.

Despite difficulties in the way of a monetary agreement, experts point out that some degree of stabilization seemingly must be achieved before adjustment to tariffs and removal of trade barriers can be considered, owing to uncertainty over price levels and resulting fluctuation currencies.

PLAN OF CHEAP CREDIT

Determined to push the plan for lifting price levels, delegates of the United States were ready tonight to plunge into the deliberations for a mighty effort to improve the world's business and financial condition.

The American group, led by Cordell Hull, secretary of state, will crusade for the international adoption of a program of cheap credit and public works expenditures, while fighting for removal of unnecessary barriers to trade between nations.

The Americans were described as determined to resist any deflationary currency stabilization.

Today's Odd News Breaks

Texas Child to Get Food via the Air

DALLAS, Tex., June 11. (AP).—The 14-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Neuhoff gets flying service on her meals. For the next three months the child's food will be prepared here by a specialist and sent by air express to Galveston, Tex., 300 miles to the south, where the baby will spend the summer. TOLEDO, Ore., June 11. (AP).—Cows will be used instead of lawn mowers on the Union high school grounds here this summer. School authorities granted Lloyd Commons permission to pasture his dairy herd on the grounds for the summer, explaining that thereby they would be under no expense in keeping the grass down.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 11 (AP).—A victim of his own experiments in the use of x-rays, Col. Eugene G. Northington, 53, of the United States army, was dead today of infection from x-ray burns. He died Saturday at a hospital where he had been a patient for nine months, while surgeons operated 154 times in an effort to save his life.

500 Chicks Are Victims of Dynamite

You Cannot Pamper Gold Fish

CHICAGO, June 11 (AP).—You folks who pamper goldfish — it's getting you nowhere.

For there is nothing as coldblooded, as unappreciative as a fish, said William H. Brunskill today. Brunskill is somewhat of an authority on fish emotions, having just returned from the south seas where he and his four aides collected 1200 species for the John G. Shedd aquarium.

"Fish," he said, "keep that aloof air even when eating and they are just as happy to be fed by a stranger as by their owner."

VERIGIN GOES BEFORE COURT

WINNIPEG, June 11 (CP).—Leader of Canada's 16,000 Doukhobors, Peter Verigin will be produced in court here tomorrow by immigration authorities who arrested him Friday on a warrant issued by the deputy minister of immigration and were holding him tonight for deportation.

Pending outcome of an appeal by Verigin's lawyers to Hon. Wesley A. Gordon, minister of immigration, Mr. Justice R. A. Robson yesterday issued a summons to Commissioner of Immigration C. E. S. Smith to appear tomorrow and show reason why a writ of habeas corpus should not be issued for the Doukhobor chieftain.

VILLAGES IN PATH OF FOREST FIRES

Women and Children Evacuated by Fire Fighters

VAL ALAIN, Que., June 11 (CP).—Forest fires still threatened Val Alain and nearby Lotbiniere county villages tonight. Volunteer fire fighters joined with forest rangers and firemen had to yield one house on the outskirts of Val Alain to the flames but were confident of holding the fire to the edge of the village. All women and children have been evacuated to Laurier and Villery.

OLD OGOPOGO IS SPORTY AGAIN ON OKANAGAN WATERS

PENTICTON, June 11 (CP)—Ogopogo, famous Okanagan lake serpent, is reported seen again.

In between ball games at Summerland Frank Phipps, Dick Hammond, Penticton chief hurler and Ernest Baulkham Jr. made a hurried trip to Penticton. Returning to the experimental station, about three miles from the south end of the lake, they saw the black-coiled monster of the water disporting himself playfully.

They did not get much of a view of this sea animal, but it was in sight long enough for them to see three large coils slipping slowly back into the depths. A large amount of water was displaced by this action, they claim.

An afterthought to this preamble is that Dick Hammond went back and, after a couple of shaky innings, settled down and only allowed four scattered hits, beating Oroville 4-2.

THREE YOUTHS ARE KILLED BY TRAIN AS SLEPT ON TRACK

RED DEER, Alta., June 11 (CP).—Preparations were being made tonight for the inquest into the deaths of three Regina youths, crushed and horribly mangled beneath the wheels of a freight train one mile north of here Saturday. The three boys, it is believed, were decapitated while they slept on the tracks, unaware of the train's approach.

The victims: Edward Zimmer, 15; Henry Greilach 16; and Arthur Milcvanov, 19, all Regina residents.

DROWNINGS IN THE EAST ARE WEEKEND TOLL

Highway Accidents and Storms Account for 12 Lives

CHILD TRAPPED IN SUBMERGED AUTO

Police Dog Makes Double Rescue at Elora, Ontario

TORONTO, June 11 (CP).—Storm, heat, highway accidents and suicide today brought death to 15 persons in Ontario and Quebec, eight in Quebec and nine in Ontario. The majority of the fatalities were drownings.

Five persons were drowned in Quebec, three of them together at Ecureuils, on the St. Lawrence, when swells of a passing steamer swept two non-swimmers beyond their depth. Their companion died trying to rescue them. A youth and a four-year-old girl were drowned at Shiek's Island, Ont., near Cornwall. The child was trapped in an automobile which plunged down an embankment into 15 feet of water.

A student airplane pilot, John W. Kendall, was killed here when a brief but furious wind storm caught his plane and broke it in the air as he tried to land. He fell about 1000 feet. The same storm endangered many in the Toronto district. Life savers along the waterfront made 32 rescues in 20 minutes as persons caught on Lake Ontario in canoes and small boats were swept out by the offshore gal. Some damage was done in the city, but no casualties were reported.

The storm swept western Ontario, causing many boating accidents, but all victims were rescued. Reports of damage were lacking.

Two men, one in Quebec and one in Ontario, died of heart failure while attending church services.

A police dog at Elora, Ont., rescued two girls from drowning after they had lapsed into unconsciousness. The dog swam out into the Grand river, towed the girls to shore and attracted passersby to the scene by his barking.

Late reports said considerable damage had been done communication lines north of Goderich, Ont., by wind. Large trees were down across highways and many points were cut off from telephonic and telegraphic touch with the outside.

The dead:

John W. Kendall, 20, Ontario, airplane crash.

John Schell, 38, West Ferris, drowned.

Henri Blais, 19, Cornwall, drowned.

Jennie Crowder, 4, drowned.

Norman Taylor, 22, Delaware, drowned.

Adrien Paquet, 20, Donnacona, drowned.

Georges Martel, 22, Donnacona, drowned.

Alfred Lalonde, 55, Montreal, killed by automobile.

Michel Quinn, 56, Montreal, suicide by poisoning.

Patrick Murphy, 64, Montreal, died as he knelt at mass.

A. Desrosiers, 19, Quebec, drowned.

CATHOLICS IN MUNICH BRUNT NAZI ATTACKS

Solemn High Mass Broken Up by the Storm Troopers

CATHOLIC PRIESTS THROWN FROM BEDS

Orange Colored Shirts Is One of Causes of the Trouble

MUNICH, Germany, June 11 (AP).—Menacing storm troopers prevented Cardinal Faulhaber from holding solemn high mass today after severe clashes between Nazis and Catholics at the meeting of the Catholic journeymen's convention.

As a result of the disturbances, the government put a premature end to the meetings.

Railway stations of Munich were packed with thousands of persons including many delegates making a hurried exit from the city. It was reliably reported leading members of the congress were assaulted by storm troopers who tore badges off the delegates and beat them up, even using truncheons.

Herr Theo Baldi, leader of the Swiss delegation, had his badge ripped off, then was taken to the police station, but he was released later. He lodged a protest with the Bavarian government and the Swiss counsel in pursuing the matter.

According to eye-witnesses, Catholic priests were not immune from attack and it was reported last night that several hundred uniformed Nazis appeared at an hotel where Catholic apprentices were staying and dragged them out of bed. Two of the Catholics were sent to a hospital.

The official version of the affair attributes the disorder to a provocative attitude by attendants at the convention and their wearing of orange colored shirts, considered by the Nazis to be a by-play on the brown shirt.

500 RETURN TO SMELTER WORK

Tacoma Plant to Assume Steady Operation Again

TACOMA, June 11. — The Tacoma smelter which has practically closed since April will reopen July 1, Manager E. A. White announced Saturday. White said about 500 men will return to work and that he looks for continuous operations the rest of the year. Henry A. Lyddon, manager of the North Pacific shops in south Tacoma, also announced today that the 600 men working there will get 15-days of work in June, the most in the past 18 months.

Smelter operations are made possible by heavy receipts of gold and silver ore. The smelter will receive in the next 10 days 1000 tons of gold and silver ore from Hudson Bay and shipments are also coming from other ports.

Stevens Says "No"—

Will Not Quit Federal Politics to Lead B. C. Tories

VICTORIA, June 11 (CP)—Hon. H. H. Stevens, federal minister of trade and commerce, will not consider the leadership of the Conservative party in British Columbia he told the British Columbia executive Saturday.

"I have not given consideration to abandoning the federal field for provincial politics," Mr. Stevens said. "No intimation that I would do so has come from me and anything printed to that effect has been without my authorization, but I would be glad to help bring back harmony in the party.

"A schism in any party works toward confusion. A party can serve the people best under one leader. A union that does not unite cannot be very effective. If there were a possibility of coalescing all forces it would be desirable. However, when that fails there is no reason for union."

PLAIN SPEAKING AT VICTORIA AS TWIGG DEPOSED, CHARGES HE WAS WORKING FOR TOLMIE

Conservative Executive Decides Against Convention; Associations Given Free Hand; Pass Vote of Confidence in Stevens

VICTORIA, June 11 (CP).—The office of organizer for the provincial Conservative party, held by H. Despard Twigg, M.L.A. for Victoria, was abolished at Saturday's deliberations of the Conservative executive.

While this was not disclosed in the interview given to the press by Colonel W. W. Foster, president of the British Columbia Conservative association, after the adjournment, members present at both sessions confirmed the rumor today.

Some members, it was said, took the stand that as Mr. Twigg was working ostensibly for the Unionist party of Premier S. F. Tolmie, and as the executive had gone on record against taking an active part in the forthcoming campaign, there was no need for an organizer. The office was therefore abolished.

Some plain speaking was indulged in at the all-day session, it was learned, with Hon. S. L. Howe, provincial secretary and minister of mines, coming out strongly for support of the Tolmie Unionist movement, and Reginald Hayward, senior member for Victoria, equally insistent that a convention be called to clarify the situation now existing in the party.

PREMIER TOLMIE ILL

Colonel Foster told newspapermen he had called at the Tolmie home Friday evening, finding the premier in bed with a chill, contracted at the Lake Hill Unionist gathering Thursday evening. Hon. H. H. Stevens, federal minister of trade and commerce, was said to have visited Dr. Tolmie at his home Saturday evening, but nothing has been disclosed as to what transpired.

Reaffirming the stand adopted at a meeting in Vancouver several weeks ago, the executive of the British Columbia Conservative association Saturday announced that no provincial convention of the party would be held before the election this year.

ASSOCIATIONS FREED

This leaves Conservative associations throughout the province free to endorse any candidate they wish.

"There was a crystallization of opinion that no useful purpose would be served by calling a convention at the present time," stated Col. W. W. Foster.

"Fully 75 per cent of the replies to questionnaires sent out asking for opinions as to a convention were against such a proposal and many of the others were half-heartedly in favor of one." The meeting passed a vote of confidence in Hon. H. H. Stevens, federal minister of trade and commerce, and Prime Minister R. B. Bennett in appreciation of the manner in which their duties were discharged.

In the afternoon session organization and public committees met and conferred with federal members about Dominion organization. Mr. Stevens spoke on activities of his department and financial problems of the federal government and measures taken to meet them.

Other federal members attending included Senators G. H. Barnard and R. F. Green; C. H. Dickie, member for Nanaimo; Grote Stirling, Yale; H. J. Barber, Fraser Valley, and D. B. Plunkett, Victoria.

Hon. R. W. Bruhn, minister of public works, Hon. S. L. Howe, provincial secretary and minister of mines, and Hon. J. W. Jones, minister of finance. Reg. Hayward, senior member for Victoria, and H. D. Twigg, were in attendance as members of the organization. Hon. J. Hinchliffe, minister of education and lands, was not present.

A vote of condolence was passed to Premier S. F. Tolmie for illness which prevented his attendance.

Many Aid Daughters of Empire in Queen Alexandra Rose Day Sale

Assisted by an army of young ladies, members of Kokanee chapter I.O.D.E. Saturday realized the handsome sum of $220.06 through their annual Queen Alexandra rose day. The young ladies sold roses from early in the morning until evening, and the members of the chapter supervised from their headquarters in the Hume hotel.

Since the beginning of the distribution of milk at Hume and Central schools, the Kokanee chapter has provided five and a half gallons daily. This week as the teachers are busy with exams, the distribution of milk has been cut down to three days a week. Other organizations also contribute to the milk fund. CRUDE OIL SHOWS AT KELOWNA WELL

H. McKenzie, barrister, director and secretary-treasurer of the Okanagan Oil & Gas Co. Ltd., at Kelowna, is a visitor in Nelson and is stopping at the Savoy.

Mr. McKenzie interviewed in connection with oil well being drilled by his firm near the city of Kelowna, stated that a deph of 2700 feet has been attained, and that at said depth and for some considerable time past, a pronounced showing of crude oil has been continuous.

Julius Rickert, M.E.F.R.G.S., discoverer of the Turner Valley oil field in Alberta, is the geologist in charge, said Mr. McKenzie. It was upon his geological report, after having spent several months in the district, that drilling operations were proceeded with. He is a man with 50 years of practical experience, and he is convinced that the present well is but the beginning of a large oil field in the Okanagan Valley.

Speaking of the fruit situation in the Kelowna district Mr. McKenzie stated that there was a wonderful bloom and that everything pointed to a good crop. "But," he emphasized, "prices were what the orchardists needed most."

Salmo Ball Nine Trims Senators

Salmo-Nelson Baseball league standing:

Salmo	2	1	.667
Maulers	3	2	.600
Fairview A. C.	2	2	.500
Senators	2	2	.500
Young Liberals	1	3	.250

Presenting a greatly strengthened line-up over the one that suffered a 16-1 defeat at the hands of the Young Liberals the previous week, Salmo defeated the visiting Senators 23-12 in a free hitting game played on the Salmo diamond Sunday afternoon.

Slamming the offerings of Biddlecombe, R. Gibbons and Culley all over the lot in the first five innings, Salmo ran up a 22-5. lead.

At the start of the sixth, Walter Gillett entered the box for the Senators and Howard Moore went behind the plate. From then on the Salmo team was unable to add more than one run to their total. Had Gillett taken up the pitching duties earlier the result might have been different. McIsaac, Gille and Payton were the heavy hitters for the winners, Gillett, Moore and Culley starred at bat for the Senators. Salmo will make their first appearance on a Nelson diamond on June 25, playing a double-header against two local teams. The games were originally scheduled for June 18.

Primo Carnera, Italian heavy who will fight Jack Sharkey for the title in June, has fought 76 fights, winning 58 by knockouts.

MERCURY DROPS NEAR FREEZING

A break in the damp weather Saturday night had the effect of precipitating the temperature to within one degree of freezing at Nelson. Saturday's extremes were 33 and 66 degrees. Rain recorded for the 24 hours was .10 inch.

MOTORS HERE FROM TORONTO

Traveller for Barber's Supplies Likes Area

Seeing the Southern Scenic highway for the first time, A. E. Vance, motoring out from Toronto, and since Lethbridge "working" the territory for barber's supplies, stated Sunday that after he completed the present trip he meant to come back and enjoy some of the holiday features of Nelson and district.

He was three days on the road from Toronto to Winnipeg, and then diverged to Saskatoon, where he left his wife. In crossing the prairie to his starting point for the sales trip, Mr. Vance stated, he found less depression talk in the districts that had been worst hit by poor harvests than in those that had suffered least.

From the point of view of business activity in his territory so far, Mr. Vance found Coleman, Alta., Kimberley, and Nelson showing up strongly, with Nelson his choice so far as he has seen in this province. He will be three weeks on the road between here and the coast.

NEW DENVER WINS BALL FROM TRAIL

TRAIL, B.C., June 11.—The New Denver ball team left Trail Sunday night with a victory over the Trail juniors to their credit, having won by a score of 8-7 in a game at Butler park in the afternoon. At the end of the sixth inning the locals were in the lead, the score being 3-0, but in the seventh inning New Denver scored seven runs, largely on errors made by the Trail team.

At the end of the ninth the juniors managed to tie the score so another inning was played and New Denver sneaked in the winning run, Trail not being able to score.

Broadhurst pitched good ball for the locals, but received poor support. New Denver used Sanderson in the box until the end of the ninth and put Kelly in for the extra inning.

Batteries: Trail, Broadhurst and Buckna; New Denver, Sanderson, Kelly and McDonald.

NEW GRAND CUBS LOSE FIRST GAME

The Trail juveniles failed to arrive for their scheduled game with the local New Grand Hotel Cubs on Sunday afternoon and rather than disappoint the large crowd of fans who stayed after the senior game, a pickup team was hurriedly organized to play the New Grand team.

The pickups composed of players comprising the Fairview juveniles and Yo Yos, assisted by Roy Anderson catcher, defeated the otherwise undefeated New Grand team 7-5 in a snappy exhibition of ball.

The pickups scored once in the first inning and retired the New Grand team in succession. In the second the Cubs scored three times and added two more in the third. The pickups were unable to score in the second and third, but in the fourth Chuck French slammed one over the fence for a home run with the bases full to tie the score.

Gallicano, who walked five in the second and one in the third, was relieved by Pete Lutkwitch, who held the New Grand team scoreless during the last four innings. He struck out seven, and walked none. In the last inning he struck out three batters in succession.

The pickups scored once in the sixth and seventh innings.

Pitts not later than June 28 and will be judged by the photographers of the city on July 1.

Three prizes will be given for the kiddies up to 14 years. Snaps will be retained by the bugle band.

TRINITY SUNDAY OBSERVED, TRAIL

TRAIL, B.C., June 11.—At the morning service at St. Andrew's church, a Trinity Sunday service was conducted by the rector, Rev. L. A. Morrant. Trinity Sunday is set apart for the study of the Diety in His three-fold relationship to man, yet His Diety being one, namely, His work in creation, His work in redemption and His work in sanctification. Trinity Sunday, is a comparatively recent institution, but it is suggested at a very early date that the doctrine of the Holy Trinity had special prominence assigned to it in services for this day. The appointment of Trinity Sunday as kept in the western church goes back to 1260, but it was not universally kept until 1334. The term Trinity was first applied to the godhead Theophilus, about 170 A.D. The main purpose of the festival seems to have been to offset the Arian heresy. So today, acknowledging glory of the eternal Trinity, men worship Father, Son, and Holy Sprit as one God, of one substance, power and majesty, equally concerned in their redemption.

"The Dangers of the Height," was the subject of Mr. Morrant's address from the text Revelations, 1, 4:. "Come up hither." The speaker's object was to show that if men were not fitted for height, they were apt to have a serious fall. But to save men in these dangers, God, through His Eternal Son translated Himself in terms which men could understand, heights to which they might climb, and grace by which they might attain safety.

Rev. W. J. Silverwood conducted the evening service.

HOLD OPEN AIR SERVICE, TRAIL

TRAIL, B.C., June 11.—A good crowd gathered about the city band stand tonight to attend the open air service, after the regular evening church services, the service being called for the purpose of intercession for the world economic conference opening in London Monday.

The service was under the auspices of the Ministerial association and was conducted by Rev. W. F. Price, of the Baptist church. Scriptures were read by Rev. C. E. Motte of the East Trail United. Rev. F. G. St. Denis of First Presbyterian church gave the prayers of invocation and confession. The prayer of intercession was led by Rev. Bryce Wallace, Knox United. To music supplied by the city band, the following hymns were sung: "O God Our Help in Ages Past," and "Soldiers of Christ Arise."

Rev. W. J. Silverwood of the Church of the Redeemer in Nelson, addressed the crowd, speaking on the conference.

The service ended with the singing of "God Save the King."

SPENCER HERE BY SEA-PLANE

Coast Financier Comes by C.H.-A.L.X.; Sees Reno

Just 17 days after the big gray metal seven-passenger sea-plane, C.F.—A.L.X., belonging to the Spencer & Smith mining house of Vancouver, roared over Nelson for the first time, to drop here Duke Harris, the firm's chief mining scout, it repeated the visit Sunday, bringing this time Lieut.-Col. Victor Spencer, one of the principals.

It was almost exactly 10 in the forenoon when the big sea-plane, with the black pontoons, appeared over Nelson, and circled to land on the lake at Lakeside park. Just four hours 50 minutes after it took off from Vancouver, Pilot W. R. McCluskey of Vernon was again at the controls, with F. M. Staines as mechanic.

VISITS RENO

While the airmen stayed in town, Colonel Spencer and David Sloan, who accompanied him, were taken out to the Reno gold mine, the famous gold producer, of the Sheep Creek camp, by Managing Director O. C. Thompson, for the purpose, it is said, of the Vancouver financier seeing for himself the latest rich strike in the deep work in the Reno.

Interviewed after his return to Nelson Sunday night, Colonel Spencer was noncommittal respecting his trip.

Speaking on general conditions, however, he asserted that things were looking up pretty much all over the province, and declared that mining was doing "a tremendous lot" for British Columbia, in particular by bringing in British, American and eastern capital for development, and would continue to perform this service.

The party will take off for Vancouver Monday morning.

On the sea-plane's previous trip here, Duke Havris made an examination of the Euphrates gold property just south of Nelson.

LES PATRICK MEMORY LANE

Recalls Happy Days Here in Answering Letter of Roy Sharp

Lester Patrick, manager of the New York Rangers, Stanley cup winners, and vice-president of the Madison Square Garden corporation, has a warm place in his heart for Nelson, where he and his brother Frank were in the Nelson team when it won the provincial championship in 1908-09, as a reply he has made to the letter of felicitation written him by Roy Sharp, in connection with the family reunion of the old folks. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Patrick at Victoria, shows. Lester did not receive Mr. Sharp's letter at once, as he was back in New York for a time, but it caught him on his second trip to Victoria. His reply, received a few days ago by Mr. Sharp, was as follows:

"TROLL INTO PAST

"My Dear Roy—I was quite thrilled to receive your very kind letter of May 11, and the kind thoughts that you saw fit to record and direct to me and mine were very much appreciated. It sure was like taking a stroll down deep in Memory lane, to be reminded of friends back in Nelson, B. C. Your letter indeed brought back fond memories of very happy years spent in the Queen City of the Kootenays.

"Father and Mother had their day on May 7, and they were just as happy as could be. The day was Sunday, and they had all of their children and grandchildren as well as the in-laws on hand, and the day was a full one for the old folks. The next day their friends made merry. I was forced to leave on the afternoon boat of the 8th May to go back to New York, and I returned to Victoria yesterday. This will explain why I have apparently neglected to reply to your letter.

"I let Lynn (the oldest boy) read your letter, and he got quite a kick out of it. Yes, indeed, it is sure hard to realize that he is the same kid. He is now 21, and is 6 feet, 1 inch tall, and weighs 192. The youngest lad is to be 18 on the 28th of this month, and he is 6 feet 2 inches tall and weighs 178. They both play all games fairly well, Roy, and neither one of the boys smokes, which in itself is quite a stunt in this cake-eating era.

"Yep—you are right. The old hair is getting pretty grey, and time marches on. Gee, I guess we would all like to turn back the pages of time and go back to the good old days, Eh, what?

"Thanks ever so much for your kind references to the past season success of the Rangers. We had a very good crowd-pleasing and colorful team, and they happened to be hot when the showdown came in the spring, and this, coupled with the breaks, gave us the verdict. The Maple Leafs are a powerful club, and so was the Boston club.

"Have no local news for you. As a matter of fact, I am next door to being a stranger here myself."

Rev. Mr. Springett Speaks Up Arm

Addresses Longbeach Audience on "British Israel Truth"

LONGBEACH, B. C., June 11—A meeting was held at "Craigend", Longbeach, the residence of Commander and Mrs. B. A. Smith, to hear an address by the Rev. Mr. E. J. Springett on "British Israel Truth."

Over 50 people attended, coming from Procter, Sunshine Bay, Harrop, Longbeach, and Crescent.

A most instructive address was heard.

On leaving, several expressed their intention of making further study of this most engrossing subject.

After the speaker had explained what the B. I. World Federation was, and what were its aims, he analysed the present world wide depression and pointed out its causes, and then showed that the only remedy was to get back to the system of life as laid down in the bible, and that until this was done all man-made efforts by statesmen, captains of industry, and scientists were doomed to failure.

Mr. Springett then sketched the history and wanderings of the Israelites from Abraham to the present time, and showed that the duties for which God chose the Israelites would still have to be carried out by their descendants.

Canadian Legion Bugle Band Has a Dozen Committees

A dozen committees named by the Canadian Legion Bugle band, to handle different duties in connection with the big Dominion Day celebration, have been notified of their appointment, and are starting work. NELSON MERCHANT: "Do you do all your buying in Nelson?"

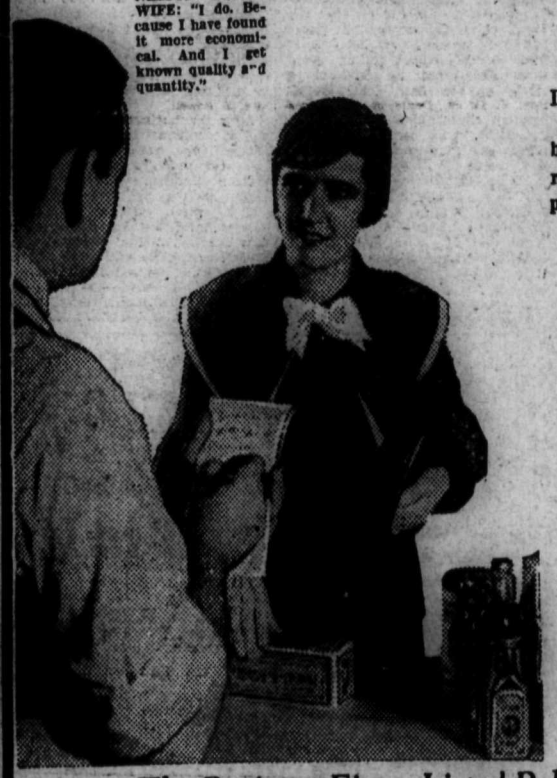
NELSON HOUSEWIFE: "I do. Because I have found it more economical. And I get known quality and quantity."



Are You Robbing Yourself?

Unsound Buying Means Just That!

Dear Mrs. Nelson Housewife:

If you are in the habit of doing your buying through mail-order houses, just make this thought-provoking test of the possible results to you that this may mean.

You are under the impression that great savings are made in regular trade with these outside stores. This is because the one feature "PRICE" has been flaunted before your eyes to the exclusion of all other thought. You EXPECT great economy. But have you ever honestly proved to your complete satisfaction that such is the case? Have you tried to reason how a mail-order house could possibly effect tremendous savings for you, while a similarly efficient Nelson store could not?

Have you noticed the prevalence of brands in outside stores with which you are unfamiliar? Are they the same quality? Or the same size? Perhaps the similarity of size misleads you as to quantity. Perhaps, to make the price attractive, and to allow it to compare with other like articles, that item was produced "to a price" not "to a quality"! Perhaps the measurements of weights are planned differently. Perhaps certain wanted qualities are omitted.

We want you to find these things out for yourself, and to discover of your own accord that actual economy is not available through "low prices" only. But rather through the efficient economies that Nelson merchants are able to give you on goods of KNOWN quantity, KNOWN quality and KNOWN reliability.

Start today to thinking and comparing the actual benefits of Nelson store and outside store buying, on any basis . . . price, service, convenience, quantity and quality. The Nelson merchant does not fear, but rather invites such comparison.

DABBLERS BEWARE

Booms and depressions may have their origin in a natural business cycle, but their extremes are caused by dabblers and suckers.

The big bull market of 1929 was made by dabblers and suckers—amateurs, sometimes called by the old-fashioned and misleading name of lambs. It was the big run of lambs in 1929 that pushed security prices out of all relation to their earning power.

Luring dabblers into the market is a highly lucrative business. Hundreds of men who got a taste of lamb's blood in 1928-29 haven't forgotten the tricks of the trade, and are opening brokers' offices on the slightest provocation or none at all.

Warnings to dabblers cannot be too sternly or too frequently repeated. They ruin themselves and they ruin business.

Some stocks are selling at bargain prices, considering the resources and potential earning power they represent. But the dabbler's idea is that every stock on the board is a bargain, that he can't go wrong, that everything is bound to go up, that prosperity is just around the corner. In reality, the boards are riddled with stocks whose companies have been so badly crippled by the depression that only a miracle can save them.

Further, new companies are sprouting up like mushrooms.

Basic economic conditions have not yet reached such a healthy condition that a very large volume of speculation can be sustained. Rushing into the market without careful study, without thorough analysis, not only of the general situation but also the individual security one is planning to buy, is asking for trouble. There are investment opportunities but they must be looked for with open eyes.

BUILD TO PILOT BAY

The J. A. Irving proposal that the Board of Trade should urge the Provincial and Federal governments to complete by relief camp labor the road between Grey Creek and Pilot Bay deals with a matter of very great importance to this district. The long ferry trip between Fraser's Landing and Grey Creek is a serious barrier to traffic between East and West Kootenay for two reasons. One reason is the length of time taken in the trip, and the other is the fact that in an eight hour shift it is impossible to make more than three round trips a day.

Once the road is constructed through to Pilot Bay, not only could more frequent ferry trips be made, but the length of time occupied in each trip would be shorter, and the cost of operating from shore to shore would be less, which might pave the way to a reduction in ferry charges for automobiles.

The Provincial Public Works department has always recognized and admitted the importance of the completion of the road to Pilot Bay. It is very definitely a part of the provincial program affecting the trans-provincial highway. If the Board of Trade through its council thought fit to endorse the Irving resolution, it is virtually certain that Victoria would gladly recommend to Ottawa that the work be carried out.

The Board of Trade council should act on the matter without delay.

Last winter's experience in putting jig-saw puzzles together should prove valuable to the man who is now trying to fit the window screens to their proper windows.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By JAMES W. BARTON M.D.

WARM WEATHER A GOOD TIME TO BE EXAMINED

Although the popular time to get a complete examination by your family physician is at the beginning of the year, or on your birthday, anytime of the year is a good time, and perhaps the very best time is during the warm weather.

If the examination is made during the cold weather, there may be conditions found that require operation—infected teeth, infected tonsils, sinus inflammation, gall bladder infection or other troubles that should be corrected.

During the cool or cold weather there is not the same opportunity for the outdoors after the operation. There is less warmth and sunlight in the winter and spring months, thus more chance of colds, bronchitis, or even pneumonia. With warm bright weather there should be no complications arise and recovery should be rapid.

Of course, if the condition is such as to require operation it should be done regardless of the weather, but where choice can be made, the warm weather is the best time.

Very often a little holiday is needed after an operation however slight, and the warm weather is the time when most benefit can be obtained.

Where parents have been advised to have youngsters tonsils or infected teeth removed, they should wait a few days after school closes for the summer vacation and the youngster has got over the annual school examinations, before having the operation done. Thus the youngster has all the warm bright weather of summer in which to get built up before school opens again in September.

So, if you think you have something that is not just right in that body of yours, or even if you think you are all right, let your doctor check you over at this time. There are a great many people who feel well. There are a great many more people who do not feel so well—feel tired and lazy—but continue their work. There are other people who are suffering with pains and aches that they know are due to bad teeth, bad tonsils, sluggish liver, or constipation, but hesitate to go to a doctor because it may mean removal of the teeth and tonsils, or a change in their diet or other daily habits.

Now whether you feel well or not, there may be some condition in the body that is slowly gathering force and by the time you feel an ache or a pain, considerable damage has been done to that body of yours. Don't wait for this ache or pain to warn you but get your doctor to check you over at least once a year.

Ainsworth was the destination and we were singing, "There's a Long, Long Trail a Winding" or some other such song. Breezing along nicely the road narrowed just beyond Crescent Bay. We eased on the brake but the car hit for the bank. Up she went and down she came. Then things happened and we were a jumbled mass of humanity. Bruises were plentiful, there were some cuts, but luckily no one was badly injured.

• • •

Then came the long walk of about a mile and a half to the telephone. A call to the police, a call for aid from the wrecker. And then came willing hands from Crescent Bay. A Mr. Smith and a Mr. Wemsley walked out with hot tea and we sat on the bank after righting the old bus and drank tea. And was it good for shaken nerves. Accidents will happen they say. It might have been worse. We did not reach Ainsworth where the temperature might have been warmer. Here we are again. This column might have been draped in black today, but the gods were with us. The shock has been terrible, but the Old Bus is in far worse shape than the occupants.

Many thanks Crescent Bay folks for generosity and proferred help.

"But, mother," protested the girl, "I have heard that you flirted yourself, and you've never been punished."

The older woman frowned.

I had a dream. I heard St. Peter say: "That's a queer shaped harp that new woman-angel is carrying around." "That isn't a harp," answered Gabriel, "that's a radio set. She's listening in on her husband's bowls from Station L."

The picture faded. I heard some one ask my father how his son got along in college. "He did well in languages," said the old man. "I remember three items I paid for—$10 for Latin, $10 for Greek and $100 for Scotch."

The question of languages started me on an international tour. I heard a man say, "I vant some pepper." So I asked, "What kind—red, black or white?" "Na," he says, "I vant writing pepper."

I drifted down south. A kindly old squire said: "Bless my soul, Mirandy, where did you get that awful bruise on your cheek." "We-all had a pahty last evenin'," said Mirandy, "and ah was kicked in the face by a gentleman friend."

It was Christmas eve. We snuggled in the sofa before the hearth fire. I had been talking without saying anything. I suspected that she thought me slower than the mail man on Christmas morning. "Do you notice," says I inanely, "how the fire reddens?" "Yes," she sighed, "but I'm sure it's not because of anything we've done."

I was back in school again. Said the teacher to one of the boys: "What does 'note' mean?" "It means twins," said the boy. "What makes you think that?" asked the teacher, in surprise "Well, the other day the nurse comes in and says to pa, 'It's twins,' and pa says "That's a hell of a note'."

Things were getting interesting until I went up in an airplane and fell out—of bed.

WHAT DO YOU THINK?

"20 CANAL STREET" HAS LOT TO SAY TO "RATIONALIST"

To the Editor:

Sir: To the Rationalist correspondent's letters appearing in Nelson News of May 27, that Atheism is the belief of conceit—that is my honest opinion. It has no genuine believers. That is impossible, for its advocates arrogate to themselves more knowledge than was possessed by all those that have gone before them.

The effects of Omnipotent power are all around them, but they will not admit the existence of its cause. Ask them, "whence came the beginning?" and they will tell you, "there was no beginning." Point to the stars, as Napoleon did on his way to St. Helena, "who made it all, it made itself. It just happened. It is the result of its fortuitous concourse of atoms."

Men develop their religious systems as they do their political systems. You have tyranny and terror in savage government and terror and cruelty in savage religions.

The primitive man makes God in his own image. It was truly said if a camel had a God, its God woud have four legs and a hump. Ancient religion's writers imagined a God, vengeful, cruel, creating helpless human beings and then burning them alive, forever and ever, inflicting such cruelty as no savage could imagine.

The ruler of the universe was portrayed as a "jealous God," visiting the sins of fathers upon the children, into the third and fouth generation, all this is part of human savagery—the weakness of imperfect human beings expressed in their conceptions of supreme power.

But religion and the deity are not bound or limited by such conception. The character and power of a father, are not limited by the idea that his two-year-old child has of him. The fact that he cannot conceive God as he is, is no proof even for the most foolish, that God does not exist.

Birds by the railroad tracks cannot imagine an engineer directing the thundering train, but the engineers exist, and the inventor genius that created the locomotive and passengers travelling to their destination with a plan and a purpose, as we travel—passengers on this earth.

Atheism is cold and stupid, for it is merely negation, denying in the darkness without knowledge.

In every direction proofs abound of creative force, justice and kindness. The seasons return with their fruitfulness. The earth travels safely through millions of years in its spiral journey around the moving sun. The sun keeps its place safely among millions of other suns in our corner of the universe. There are proofs by the millions of a "plan," of a power that directs and preserves.

There is no proof except dull self-conceit for a theory that everything happens accidentally, that there is "nothing to hope for but annihilation", when these few years are past Take away the life and the light of the soul, the faith that sees immortality beyond death, and you take away all that is worth while, and that would make this earth a floating iceberg of cold doubt As for myself I would sooner have death than be cast adrift on the sea of eternity with cold atheism as a companion.

I do admit to Rationalist that I know nothing and I am nearing dotage, but Rationalist my mother is nature, the ever immaculate virgin, who presented me to my father the infinite spiritual principle, to be transformed into a God. I do not say you are no good, Rationalist Some day you will know that I am correct. When the male sun, Rationalist, co-habits with the female moon in the water of truth then I will be reborn and my name will not be "20 Canal Street", it will be "Wisdom." Write and ask the Rationalist Press association what I mean They will tell you.

RE-INCARNATION

Nature exhibits a marvelous plan, Rationalist, you are a part of it, are important, responsible, and are so held.

Any atom in the universe is necessary to uphold the structure as a whole. The plan of the universe is vast and to finite minds, terrible in the immensity, and that when only some of the smaller details are seen.

Look closely about you, note the great number of intelligent lives manifesting as consciousness, expanding gradually from snail to man, and below the semi-conscious vegetable world, and the still lower mineral, which science has found reacts to electrical impulses. Think! rationalist, is man the last word in consciousness? Think! Reason! Can the snail apprehend man? Can the vegetable know the anatomy of the snail, or the mineral that of the vegetable? Can man become conscious of the grade higher than himself? Can he bridge this vast gulf, and how? What is his purpose here in the world, and why is he a responsible agent apparently against his wishes? Why is he continually dashing here and there in search of what? Why does material wealth fail to make him happy? Why is there such difference in human intelligence? Why is one born diseased and another whole? Think! Contemplate! Calm deliberate thought persisted in, brings self-illumination. Think, Rationalist!

Men know that throughout the universe there are two mighty forces in opposition. Think for yourself! There is a tremendous opposition to the plan of evolution! This opposition is far reaching, insiduous and subtle. Its most able helper and ally is ignorance, which takes on the form of dogma, bigotry, intolerance, narrowness, egoism, selfishness, vanity, greed, cruelty, and lust, etc.

To apprehend truth, we must have open minds, consult none, listen to all. Accept that which appears reasonable to us, for a temporary period only. We must be ready to change our opinion at any time, in orded to grow. Growth is change!

Intuition is that little used faculty which tells us what to believe and how to act. Listen to it. Cultivate it by using it. Learn to depend upon it. It is your best friend. Think! investigate, but hold no traffic with unknown forces. Pay no money for knowledge or teaching. Seek to know. Direct the mind. Competent teachers await your sincere investigation of the mystery of your own being, and the generally little known laws governing all things. Plentiful books upon the subject are to be had for the seeking.

I sowed trees of acacia, whence shall I eat raisins? (old proverb).

How can we account for the inequality in intelligence unless we admit re-incarnation as a fact? How can our sense of justice be satisfied otherwise? we have out-grown the childish explanation of the after-death state, that very well suited our growth and understanding of yesterday, and are now ready for a more rational explanation, one that will satisfy an expanding consciousness. Re-incarnation accounts rationally for all life in the world, including ourselves. The majority of earth's humanity accepts this truth today, it is a fact in nature as sure as life itself. When realized, it destroys the fear of death, consoles us in adversity, and administers to us with a love and justice that is wanting in this life otherwise. It is a magic key that unlocks the door that leads to the road to happiness

Intelligence is the sum total of individual efforts and experience, covering vast periods of time!

We are busy today growing or standing still and it is a fact that the majority of us are dead, as regards real life. Tomorrow the solemn processions winds slowly to the plot of green, and loved ones mourn the passing of their beloved. Gone, they know not where. Most likely there are visions of a materialistic heaven of golden streets and what not? Think! and know that he returns in due time reaping the result of action and thoughts, both good and bad and know that he comes again and again, until all is paid Until he learns to align himself with the law, instead of breaking his body against it. Until he knows that he suffers of himself through ignorance

Think! the great law of cause and effect governs this and all material things are subject to its beneficient rule. It administers unerring and faultless justice to all material things in our universe, from world's to atoms Think! break the chains! you are not a rationalist, in my opinion you are an acorn. You will never develop into a big oak until you cease to hate them who disagree with you.

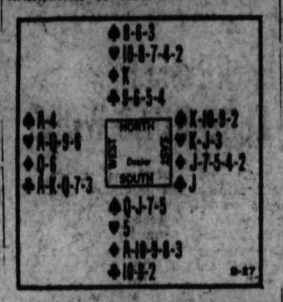
Auction and Contract Bridge

By the World's Leading Authority, MILTON C. WORK

A BANKER'S BREAK

There are some apparently hopeless situations at the Bridge table in which a skillful Declarer, aided by the breaks of the hand and by his clever manipulation of the cards, is able to produce an ultimate victory. The following hand is an illustration of this:



It was played in a tournament of the American Institute of Bankers and East was the Declarer with the far from modest contract of six No Trumps. It is indeed rare that with the Ace and King of the adverse long suit held against the Declarer, six No Trumps is made; but in this instance the Declarer, Mr. Ralph Morrison, was aided by the break of having the King of the suit a singleton and consequent inability on the part of the partner to return it.

South's opening lead was a Diamond which North's singleton King won, and great was the Declarer's relief when a Diamond was not turned. North led the Eight of Spades, closed hand played the Nine, South the Jack and West won with the Ace. West led a small Club, East's singleton Jack taking the trick. Then in rapid order the Declarer led the King, Jack and Trey of Hearts from East, winning the third round of Hearts with West's Ace and the fourth with his Queen. West then resumed his Clubs, leading the Ace, King and Queen, and when they drew the adverse Clubs, the thirteener was cashed.

The combination of the Heart and Club leads forced South to discard five times. It was easy for him to part with one Spade and three Diamonds, but on trick 11 when he had to make his fifth discard, he was placed in an embarrassing position. He held the Ace of Diamonds and the guarded Queen of Spades; if he parted with the Ace of Diamonds, it would make West's Queen a winner, so he had to discard a Spade, winning with East's King, which dropped the Queen and made the Ten a winner for the thirteenth trick which fulfilled Declarer's contract.

South's defence would have been more deceptive if he had played the Queen of Spades (trick 2) covering East's nine, and then bared down to the Ace of Diamonds and Jack of Spades in the hope that East would finesse a Spade on trick 12. What the Declarer would have done under such circumstances no one will ever know, but the chances are that the hand was so plainly marked that even this effort would have failed.

AUNT HET

"These girls like Mabel that claim the right to act like men don't seem to know no men except ornery ones."

"SHARLIE"

By BEATRICE BURTON

CHAPTER XXI Continued

She stopped and held her head to one side, listening. "I muffled that telephone, but I believe I hear it making some kind of noise," she murmured. "Oh, dear——" She dropped the cheese and the knife that she held and hurried out of the kitchen.

"It was Norman," she said when she came back a minute later. "He's on his way home from some place or other, and he just wanted to pop in and say goodnight to me . . . . I told him I'd been in bed for three hours." She laughed.

Norman . . . That was the name of the handsome blond man who was Dodie's and Maud's great friend, thought Sharlie. Could Marjorie's Norman be the same one?

"Oh, of course not," Sharlie told herself. There must be hundreds of men named Norman in town. It was a common name.

"Who's Norman, Marjorie?" she asked.

"Man I know," Marjorie answered briefly and began to stir the white of egg into the rarebit.

It might have been ten minutes afterward that a bell pealed long and loudly in front of the flat.

"That's Norman. Ringing the doorbell this time!" Marjorie threw her fork down upon the kitchen table with a clatter. "Well, I'm not going to let him come up! . . . Do you suppose he's seen your car parked down there, Caddy?"

Caddy nodded. "Sure, he's seen it," he answered. "But as it looks exactly like seventeen million other cars in the world, I don't imagine he knows it's mine."

The bell rang through the flat once more.

"I'd better go and find out if it is Norman," Marjorie decided and started for the little living room with Sharlie at her heels.

Down in Fifth Street, just across the road from the building where Marjorie lived, stood the big cream colored roadster that Sharlie had seen standing in front of Maud Hansberry's apartment house only a few days before. There was no mistaking it.

As Sharlie stood looking down at it the bell began to ring again.

"Oh dear, I may as well let him come up or he'll ring the whole building down," Marjorie said. "He's seen the lights on up here, of course." She crossed the room and pressed a button near the front door of the flat.

Sharlie stood beside her, waiting. There was a sound of someone running quickly up the stairs. Then a blond head came into the shaft of light from the doorway and Sharlie saw that this Norman was the man whom her mother and Maud Hansberry knew so well. He was smiling, his teeth very white in his tanned face. In the brilliance of the little room Sharlie saw that he was older than she had judged him. Fine lines sprayed out from the corners of his blue eyes as he grinned down at Marjorie.

"So this is the little liar who told me she had gone to bed at ten o'clock and had fallen asleep reading a magazine," he said to her in an amused indulgent tone, as if he were scolding a naughty but adorable child.

Marjorie smiled back at him brazenly. "And this is the big Swede who's been riding a blond around in his roadster," she said. "And don't bother to deny it, because I saw you, darling—and if you don't play square with me I won't play square with you. Those are the rules, you know."

"Are they?" The man laughed. "Well, I'll admit I've been riding a blond around a bit lately, honey, but she was a married blond—and——"

Marjorie stopped him with the air of a person who had heard explanations of that sort from him before. "That's all right, Norm," she said. "I know you're married, and I haven't any right to be jealous. Look here, I want you to meet Miss Barnum." And that was all she ever said in the way of introducing Sharlie to the tall blond man.

They all started for the kitchen. "Caddy and Al Green are out here making a Welsh rarebit," Marjorie said. "They started out to give Miss Barnum a good time, and they picked me up as a chaperon."

How they all juggled the truth, thought Sharlie, listening . . . But then, she had juggled the truth a little herself when she had told Caddy that her name was Sharlie Barnum.

CAN YOU VISUALIZE WHAT THIS MEANS?

$3,000,000,000!

Pyramid the sum! Analyze it.

Count it. You cannot visualize so vast an amount, nor could you count it within a period of years, if you went at it a dollar at a time.

It means a fortune of $1000 for each of three million people.

Then it means a debt of $330 for each and every person who lives in Canada.

That is the staggering pile of debt which the one railway system we own has cost Canada. And Canadians owe that money. Some day they must pay it to the creditors of the Canadian National railway.

Think of what would have happened to the men who led us into this chasm if they had told the truth instead of recited fairy tales to people who knew enough only to be envious and jealous of others who had saved a portion of their earnings each year.

When you see a man "putting on the dog" with expensive equipage and extravagant households, you may be envious until you find that he is a big borrower and a deep worrier who camouflages, but who has courage.

The C.N.R. still owes us billions, and we are the people who own it, who must pay the deficits, and who must go with but one lump of sugar until part of the $2,754,000,000 is paid? For on top of that there is owing the public treasury millions of dollars of unpaid interest, bringing the railway debt to around three billions.

Staggering, if we could only conceive that vast sum.

Yet our legislators lack the courage to grapple with it whilst they might get away with a loss of one billion of dollars.

They wait until we will be wiped out, all of us. Cowardly, is it not. For the only reason advanced so far is political expediency. They fear what the other fellows will say, not knowing that 90 per cent of the people favor a present disposal of the railways, and a complete severance from public ownership and tax extortions.—Sperbrooke Record.

LINCOLN FINDS EAST OPTIMISM

Noble Five Gold Operation Still in Ore; Start Athabasca

Optimism is general in the Atlantic states, and wherever one goes, he finds people of all classes talking that the turn has been made, Paul Lincoln, president and manager of Noble Five Mines, limited, remarked Saturday, discussing a three weeks' visit to Massachusetts, made for personal reasons.

Considerable interest in this western mining country was being evinced by the easterners, Mr. Lincoln found.

During Mr. Lincoln's absence in the east, Foreman George Allan has been carrying on work steadily on the Noble Five's gold properties at Nelson, continuing the drift on No. 2 level of the Juno and disclosing every day further persistence of the shoot.

This drift has been in ore for 120 feet, the shoot having an average width of 30 inches, while the ore averages about $20 a ton.

TRACE ATHABASCA VEIN

With the surface now clear for prospecting, surface work has been started on the Athabasca, and starting from the portal of the lowest tunnel, which is a drift, men are tracing the Athabasca vein down the hill. On this continuation of the vein, a deep tunnel will be started, between 200 and 300 feet below the lowest Athabasca working.

WEST KOOTENAY BUYS PROPERTY

Will Have Store and Offices at Creston

CRESTON, June 11.—A notable sale of business property was negotiated here when West Kootenay Power & Light Company, Limited, who are developing hydro-power at Goat river canyon, four miles east of town, purchased the building at Canyon street now occupied by the Imperial Groceteria from S. A. Speers, at a price that indicates realty values in the business section are at least holding their own.

It was announced that the power company will utilize the store as a retail depot for ranges, heaters, washing machines, and every known electrical appliance, and will also serve as office quarters.

Upon completing the sale of the property Mr. Speers at once consulted contractors, and has plans under way for a new building he will erect alongside the property just sold, and which will be the new home of the groceteria, which Mr. Speers opened at the old stand just about a year ago.

WHEAT AND OAT PRICES SOAR

Destructive Agents Felt in Some Sections

By JOHN P. BOUGHAN
Associated Press Market Editor

CHICAGO, June 11 (AP)—Swift soaring of prices took wheat and oats Saturday to above any peaks which future deliveries have heretofore reached since May 1930.

The big renewal of public speculative buying followed official reports that indicated 36,500,000 bushels destruction of winter wheat in the United States in the past 30 days, with spring wheat now facing its critical period and showing a condition below a 10-year average. Giving brisk further impetus to buyers were advices of widespread intense heat causing wheat firing in Illinois and the Ohio valley, areas that up to this time have been regarded as in the best condition of any in the United States.

Despite huge selling to take profits wheat closed strong at virtually the day's top point, 1¼ to 1⅝ above Friday's finish, oats 1 to 1⅞ up, corn ⅛ to ½ advanced, and provisions unchanged to a rise of seven cents.

With only scant hopes of immediate relief from destructive high temperatures and absence of moisture, trade anxiety became acute regarding wheat and oats crops in eastern sections of the grain belt. Meanwhile, hot winds and dry weather in the southwest were reported as having delivered a final knockout of wheat prospects for that region. One despatch said shifting of soil because of high winds had resulted in mounds on wheat fields all the way from Amarillo, Texas, to Sublette and Revel, Kansas, and that it would take three years to get the land back into normal production.

WHEAT FUTURES UP NEARLY TWO

WINNIPEG, June 11 (CP).—Firmness at Liverpool and continued strength at Chicago added further fractional gains to wheat futures prices on the grain exchange here Saturday to leave them nearly 2c up in two days at the close of the short week-end session.

Futures were ¼c to ⅜c higher at the close, July at 64¼, October at 66⅝ and December at 67¾.

No export business of any account was uncovered and the advance appeared to be based on crop news from the United States southwest where scorching heat has dried up crops in the past week.

Pit trade was not heavy at any time and operations revealed investment buying only here and some fair support from United States traders, presumably of a speculative nature.

Demand for top grades of cash wheat remained good, but spreads on other grades were generally unchanged. Cash interest in coarse grains was dormant.

Sales Volume Is Heavy at Toronto

TORONTO, June 77 (CP)—Fireworks were lacking in Saturday's short session of the Standard mining exchange, the list on the whole maintaining a fairly even pace with special buying interests concentrated in a few stocks of the secondary gold group.

Senior gold issues were irregular within narrow limits, and both losses and gains were recorded at the close while base metal and silver shares were steady and practically unchanged. Volume was heavy for a Saturday market, nearly 1,500,000 shares, but much of the turnover was in cheap issues.

McIntyre featured big golds, closing at a new all-time peak of 36.25, for a gain of 50 cents. Dome Mines dropped 50 cents to $36. Lake Shore gained 25 cents to 44.25. Hollinger was unchanged to 10.00. Pioneer was unchanged at 16.05. Teck was unchanged at 6.90 and Wright-Hargreaves up five at 6.85. Bralorne dropped 10 to 8.25.

Leaders in base metals, Nickel and Noranda were off color slightly, the former dropping 35 and the latter 40 cents.

Active trading appeared in silver stocks but leaders were unable to make headway on the upside. Mining Corporation lost five, Eldorado one while Premier and Castle gained about a cent.

BONDS LOWER

NEW YORK, June 11 (AP)—Profit-taking in semi-speculative issues brought an irregularly lower drift to the bond market Saturday.

The market for government, municipal and state bonds was somewhat disorganized as the result of the senate's action in voting to cancel tax exemption privileges. United States listed securities, however, were only fractionally lower.

German loans rallied moderately. Other foreign issues were quiet and slightly irregular.

Utilities' Shares Reach New Ground

By JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, June 11 (AP)—Markets were most vigorous in commodity departments Saturday though stocks came through ripples of weekend profit-taking with a small average net advance.

Wheat was a sturdy mover. Oats was better than corn; cotton was helped by expectations of acreage curtailment. Silver and hides strengthened.

On the stock exchange, utility shares made the best group showing, their composite going well into high ground. American Telephone, after touching the new top of 124½, lost its gain.

Rails reacted moderately notwithstanding cheerful freight loading statistics.

Traffic last week, it seems, was 13.5 per cent above a year ago, the best percentage gain since 1929, because of Memorial day's intervention the total was under the previous week. Affairs of the steel industry assumed a prominent place in the day's business news, but the 100 per cent boost in National Steel's dividend rate—from 12½ cents to 25 cents—as well as an upturn of 65,241 tons in U.S. Steel's May 31 backlog had undoubtedly been discounted.

Volume of shares dropped to 2,736,440 shares.

BRAZILIAN BUSY MONTREAL ISSUE

MONTREAL, June 11 (CP)—While Brazilian Traction was soaring to a new high in heavy turnover, the balance of Montreal stock exchange listings barely managed to present an improved front Saturday.

Brazilian provided nearly half of the session's volume, approximately 22,500 shares changing hands. It rose to 16⅞, a new peak price for the year, then a ripple of profit-taking forced it back to 16⅝ where it closed with a gain of 1½ points.

International Nickel lost 45 cents at 19.50 while Consolidated Smelters lost 1¾ points to 128. Hollinger gained 10 cents at 10.60. Canadian Pacific railway and Montreal Power were fractionally higher.

General Steel Wares advanced 1½ points while Hamilton Bridge touched a new high at nine.

Dominion Textile lost 1¼ points while Canadian Hydro-Electric preferred and Bank of Montreal were each off a point.

Sales 46,200; bonds $14,950.

RENO CLIMBS TO $2.70 MARK

Production Report Felt on the Coast Market

VANCOUVER, June 11 (CP). — Heavy buying in Reno gold following the report that May production will be substantially higher than the previous month, sent that issue to a new high on the Vancouver stock exchange and provided a bright spot in an otherwise featureless market Saturday.

Active issues generally opened firm and rose one to four points in early trading but the list turned reactionary near the close of the short session and gains were cut down or turned into losses.

Reno, opening firm at 2.55, slipped off three points before starting its climb to a new high of 2.70, closing a point below that figure for a net advance of 14. Bridge River Consolidated halved a four point gain to close at 48 after dipping to 45. Morning Star was up two at 28, two below its top of the day. Pend Oreille at 1.48 and Big Missouri at 28 were each up one.

Bralorne opened higher at 8.20 but turned heavy, slipping 30 to 7.85.

Bridge River Exploration, another firm opener, dipped from 64 to 60, a net loss of three from the previous close. Meridian eased from an opening at 79 to 73, recovering to close at 75, down three while Kootenay Belle at 46 was down a like amount. Cariboo lost 10 to 3.40.

Silver issues were firm. Silvercrest at eight was up a half while National at 9½ was fractionally higher.

Oils were lightly traded. Home lost two at 93, C and E Corporation one to 76, Royalite was down 75 to 13.25 while Mayland gained three to 80.

Butter and Cheese Surge Upward

MONTREAL, June 11. (CP).—With the advance of the season, butter and cheese offerings on Montreal dairy and produce market surged upwards while egg receipts were off considerably last week.

Cheese receipts for last week, 30,320 boxes, were almost double the previous week's figures of 16,561 boxes, but prices continued to hold firm. Current Ontario colored cheese closed at 10½—¾ cents a pound.

Butter finished the week with a slight gain at 18¼ cents a pound of No. 1 regraded. Receipts for the week were 19,968 boxes compared with 17,816 boxes the previous week.

On the egg market, extras registered a fractional advance at 16½—17 cents a dozen in carlot or less. Firsts and seconds were unchanged at 14½—¾ cents and 12½—¾ cents, respectively. Offerings totalled 15,732 boxes compared with 19,897 boxes the previous week.

DOLLAR RISES

NEW YORK, June 11 (AP)—The Canadian dollar appears to be advancing at the rate of about a cent per week. Saturday the Dominion's currency closed at 90¾ cents, equal to its high for the year established Thursday.

At 90¾ the Canadian dollar was up 1¾ cents in a week. In the two previous weeks it had gained an even cent. Strength in Canadian funds followed abandonment of the gold standard by the United States and in recent weeks the Canadian dollar has shown a decided tendency to move with sterling rather than share the buffeting the American dollar has been receiving in world money markets.

Sterling Saturday gained 2½ cents to close at $4.14½, the highest point touched since the United Kingdom suspended the gold standard in 1931.

CHURCH OF TODAY VASTLY DIFFERENT TO IDEA OF JESUS

SOUTH SLOCAN, B. C., June 11—Service was held in St. Matthew's church an Whit Sunday at 3 p.m. by Rev. W. J. Silverwood, vicar.

Appropriate hymns were sung and sermon preached from Acts 21. "And they were all with one accord in one place."

During the course of his address the speaker said that the church as known is today vastly unlike anything that Jesus had in mind.

It was typical of the early church and there were no denominational bickerings and wranglings such as seen in present day religion.

Because of these many differences the work of God's kingdom suffered more than people could ever estimate.

Indians of Latin America, taking long pilgrimages to their shrines crying, "Adios, adios, Christos," which means "farwell, farewell O Christ" meant that they had left Christ behind in some sacred place. All too often Christian people left their Christ in some sacred place of worship and then plunged into secular life with a secular spirit, bidding farewell to Christ.

Christ was born in a manger, and the Christian church was borne in a home and found its center there, said the speaker.

"Wherever the spirit of Jesus Christ was found" wer must see to it that we quench not that spirit," he concluded.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Paddon and family accompanied Mr. Silverwood from Nelson.

FORKS GIRL AND TRAIL MAN WED

GRAND FORKS, B. C., June 11—A quiet but pretty wedding and one of interest throughout the Boundary took place on Saturday when Kathleen Birnie Randall, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Kerby, became the bride of John Leedham Helliwell, only son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Helliwell of Vancouver. The ceremony took place at noon in Holy Trinity Anglican church, Rev. T. Scott, officiating. The bride who was given in marriage by her father, looked lovely in a gown of ecru suede lace with smart jacquette. Her hat was blue and she carried a shower bouquet of tiny pink roses and forget-me-nots.

Miss Marion Kerby, sister of the bride, was a charming bridesmaid. She was attired in a pale green jacquette costume of crepe melba with hat to match, and she carried a bouquet of pink roses and maiden hair fern. Eric Randall of Trail supported the groom. During the signing of the register, Mrs. E. S. Reynolds played a violin selection accompanied by James Grisdale.

The bride's travelling costume was of deep blue silk crepe with grey hat and grey accessories.

After the wedding a reception was held on the spacious lawns of the bride's home, only a few intimate friends being present.

The young couple left by motor for the coast. They will make their home in Vancouver.

BASEBALL'S BIG SIX

By the Associated Press

Ben Chapman, Pepper Martin and Al Simmons did some heavy hitting yesterday in a trio of double-headers and Fred Schulte did enough clouting in one game for Washington to win a place in the big six. Chapman made four hits in six times up to add 12 points to his average; Martin gained 11 points with five hits in nine trips to the plate while Simmons, making four hits in a row in the first game, gained only three points when he failed to connect in five tries in the second. Schulte took third place in the American league, replacing Sam West, as he hit three out of five.

ACES WIN CLOSE SOFTBALL GAME

In a women's softball game, the Aces aggregation won their fifth straight game of the season, by staging a last minute rally to defeat the Fairview A.C. 17-16.

Due to illness the Aces played with only eight players.

The score stood three-all at the end of the third. For the next three innings the Fairview girls held a slight lead the score standing 11-9 at the start of the seventh. In the seventh the Fairview girls crossed the plate five times, but the Aces replied with six in their half of the seventh. In the eighth the Aces tied the score at 16-16 after holding the Fairview girls scoreless. In the first of the ninth only one Fairview player reached first, and was called out by Umpire Anderson for allegedly leaving her base ahead of the pitch. With one down Eva Smith crossed the plate for the winning run to keep the Aces' slate clean. The Fairview team played their best game of the season, Martha Allen, Dorothy Titsworth, Isobel Oughtred and Shirley Donaldson forming an airtight infield, Eileen Fletcher was on the mound with Georgie Read behind the plate. Virginia Hayes, Florence Maundrell and Nellie Leslie composed the outfield.

Lillian Wardell, Eva Smith, Jean Bell, Gladness Horstead and Clara Talberg played bangup ball for the winners, but the whole team played snappy ball all the way.

Arla Saare and Berna Kline composed the battery. Hilda Talberg was the other player.

Gabby's Version Has Silver Lining

Alex Cunningham, professional at the North Shore Golf club where the National Open championship took place tells this one.

"An old golf professional connected with a club near Edinburgh, Scotland, received a telegram from a rich relative. "Am planning to leave you a hundred thousand pounds in my will. Will you accept it? Wire answer."

"The old Scotch pro immediately wired his 'yes' and sent the message collect."

"Gabby" Harnett, great catcher of the Chicago Cubs, claims there are no dubb golfers.

"Dubbs are dubbs, not positively, but only in relations to some golfer who is better," explains Gabby. "Every player, whether he shoots a course in even birdies or takes 200 strokes, mentally defines a "dubb" as a worse player than himself. So, no matter how rotten you are, somewhere in the world there is one still rottener, and he's a dubb, but you're not."

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

June 12, 1913—The Federal League announced that if tampering with their players by the National and American leagues is persisted in that they will retaliate with a lure of gold that will grab many of the majors' brightest stars.

Fairview Athletic club and Young Liberals meet in an intermediate league baseball game tonight. Having gone into a tie with the Senators for first place by virtue of Saturday's win over the Maulers the Fairview team will be out in full force to try and take undisputed possession of the top place.

Harold Chapman will start on the mound for the Fairview team, with Steve Smith being held in reserve. Bill Vance who made such a good showing in Saturday's game will be behind the plate.

Having four chuckers, "Jay" Brennan is undecided as to his starting choice. Chuck Smith will catch.

Three women's softball games are scheduled for this week. Anthony Scanlan's snappy Red Sox meet the Young Liberals tonight. On Wednesday the league leading Aces will play the Huskies who are at present in second place. Friday evening Fairview Athletic club meets the Young Liberals.

Fairview Athletic club went into a first place tie with the Senators by defeating the Maulers 11-1 in an intermediate baseball game played Saturday evening.

Steve Smith was on the mound for the winners, and retired 10 Maulers by the strikeout route. He walked three and allowed only two hits. Smith would have had a shutout except for Waterer's error in the first inning. Anderson first man up reached first on the error, stole second and third, scoring on a fielder's choice. Bill Vance was behind the plate and gave Smith splendid assistance in every way.

In the sixth inning Scotty Notman slammed one over the fence for a home run with two men on bases.

Lorne Duff Stewart was on the mound for the Maulers. He had eight strikeouts to his credit but walked six. Stewart allowed only six hits, but ragged support allowed most of the Fairview runs.

George Stewart, regular catcher for the Maulers, was unable to play. Roy Anderson subbing for him caught a nice game and although badly hurt in the fourth inning he pluckily carried on.

Johnny Wallace and the battery worked hard for the losers.

Tony Arcure and Allan McLean pulled off a snappy double play in the third inning.

Gordon Roynon and Hughie Horswill umpired the game.

50 NEWSPAPER WRITERS SIT IN ON THE MORGAN INQUIRY

Over Half-Million Words Written in a Single Day

WASHINGTON, D.C., June 11.—J. Pierpont Morgan, the world's biggest banker, whose terse public utterances have been hitherto notable by reason of their infrequency, supplied the nation's press with upwards of half a million words of copy in one day as the Senate banking and currency committee put him under the microscopic scrutiny at a hearing that proably never has had an equal in Washington from the standpoint of press coverage.

The financier has shunned publicity and the public eye all his life, but under the kleig lights of the senate investigation, all his taciturnity was swept aside and more than 50 crack Washington correspondents listened avidly and wrote feverishly as he admitted he paid no income tax for three years, although he is reputed to be one of the world's richest men.

Veteran scribes could not recall a congressional committee hearing that has attracted such detailed attention of the press. Marshalling their forces for two days prior to the time Morgan took the stand, Washington press bureau prepared elaborately for the sensational hearing.

WIRES TO SCENE

Wires were stretched to within a few feet of the committee room doors and the clicking of telegraph instruments resounded all day above the clamor of a restless crowd of onlookers who packed the corridors of the senate office building in an effort to catch a glimpse of the renowned banker and his associates in the House of Morgan. These wires burned with the bulletins of press associations that sent 42,500 words over them in eight hours.

The drama in the hearing room as Morgan was forced to divulge the innermost details of his institution's operations had an equally impressive counterpart in the scurrying of messenger boys outside and the attempts of newspapermen, legislators and dignitaries to battle their way into the conference.

Not even the inauguration of President Roosevelt commanded greater activity on the part of the press in Washington. Western Union officials said more than 300,000 words were filed in one day and Morgan's appearance before the senate committee, while the inauguration filing was approximately the same.

Normally press messages require no more than 100,000 words daily on Western Union wires.

In addition Postal Telegraph handled 50,000 words on the hearing.

The Associated Press, United Press, Universal Service, and International News Service used the temporary wires outside the hearing room. The Wall Street Journal also had a wire direct to New York, while Central News used a telephone for its ticker service. Not in the recollection of old timers in the Washington newspaper field, have wires been installed especially for committee hearings.

SPECIAL SEATING

Writers could speak of the hearing today only in terms of news superlatives. Probably no congressional hearing ever brought such a turnout of correspondents.

To accommodate them, six long tables were placed on either side of the glistening, mahogany table at which Morgan and members of the senate committee were seated. With arrangements in charge of Joe Wills and Howell Beckley, of the Senate Press gallery staff, placards were used to reserve seats for 45 writers who asked for places in advance.

This was the only thing which was responsible for a semblance of order among the men assigned to the story. Even some of these, however, encountered difficulty in persuading capitol police to admit them to the hearing room.

Crowds of spectators had begun arriving long before the hearing was scheduled to get under way at 10 o'clock and by this hour the available seats were gone. Standing space filled rapidly, and fashionably gowned society women were forced to perch unsteadily on window ledges.

KEPT OUTSIDE

Finally, in desperation, committee members issued a declaration that no more persons could be admitted unless they were fortunate enough to be members of the senate. Though the hearing was listed as an opening meeting, guards stationed outside seemed a bit overzealous in carrying out orders, for newspapermen who had to leave the hearing for a moment, were forbidden to return.

Others trying to get in for the first time were likewise turned back. Membership cards in the press galleries were ignored. Members of congress were forced to retreat also as the capital police cleared the area around the entrance to the conference quarters. Irate members of the press finally invoked the assistance of Chesley W. Jurney, sergeant of arms of the senate, and broke the police barrier.

It was conceded that the unprecedent crowd seeking to attend the hearing required more measure of control, but the correspondents were of the opinion that the guards should have used more discrimination to maintain order.

As Lewis Wood, of the New York Times remarked to Henry Suydam of the Brooklyn Daily Eagle, who was one of the scribes assigned to a press table seat and one of those retained by the police, "It certainly would be a hell of an alibi to tell an editor who assigned you to a story, that you couldn't get in the hall."

The hearing must certainly have been distasteful to the head of the house of Morgan, who always regarded the affairs of the banking institution as strictly private, and who personally has always avoided statements that might get into print.

Nevertheless, the eminent banker was affable and appeared enjoying himself to some degree during the greater part of the time he was testifying and while he had no direct contact with the press, he smiled willingly for photographers who forced him to run a gauntlet of popping flash light bulbs as he left the hearing.

A prepared statement started the Morgan testimony. The press had no advances on the document and a mad scramble for telephones was precipitated.

Under the grilling of Ferdinand Pecora, the persistent counsel for the committee, Morgan answered questions for four hours. At times speaking in a low voice which even nearby committee members found barely audible, the financier compelled writers to lean forward or stand up as they endeavored to catch every word.

Pencils scratched busily as he described the set-up of J. P. Morgan & Co., and they raced when he disclosed he paid no income taxes in 1930, 1931, and 1932, that the assets of the Morgan company to the penny were $424,708,095.56, at the end of the last year, and that the firm has $33,800,000 in cash and $224,000,000 in government securities back of its $340,000,000 in deposits.

Probably the news highlight of the hearing was supplied not by the financial wizard himself, but by Leonard A. Keyes, general manager of the Morgan house, who said the group of 20 financial potentates paid no income taxes in 1932, none in 1931, and only $48,000 in 1930. Morgan said he had no personal knowledge of the income tax matters of the firm.

Trunk lines of the press association were held open virtually all day for the Morgan appearance although the wind-up of the testimony in the impeachment trial of Judge Harold Louderback in the senate came in for some attention.

Press associations carried from 10,000 to 15,000 words daily on the hearing.

The McBride brothers, Leigh and Ken, over the weekend won the championship and consolation flights of the boys' tournament at the Nelson Golf and Country club.

Leigh won the championship flight and the cup that goes with the honor after a close battle with Graeme Steed, two up. It was a close game all the way and at the end of the first nine holes they were all square. The game went to the 18th hole before the match was decided. Both boys played good golf. On the 15th hole Leigh McBride sunk a 15-foot putt to halve the hole and on the 17th Graeme Steed made a putt of the same length. He also halved the hole on the putt.

The tournament brought out real lively interest and the boys are anxious to see more competition.

Other results were:

Saturday's cup play—Jim Allan beat Ken McBride, Graeme Steed beat Harry McKenzie, Leigh McBride beat John Morey, Blake Allan beat Hampton Gray.

Sunday morning semi-final of championship flight—Graeme Steed beat Jim Allan and Leigh McBride beat Blake Allan. Consolation—Ken McBride beat John Morey; and Harry McKenzie won by default from Hampton Gray.

REV. ST. DENIS VISITS NELSON

TRAIL, B.C., June 11—Rev. F. G. St. Denis, First Presbyterian church, attended service of the same church in Nelson but returned to Trail to conduct the evening service. The topic of his address was "Distance Lends Enchantment," the text being "The eyes of a fool are in the ends of the earth." Nucleus of his sermon was that it is a foolish idea to be putting off religion until old age, stressing the necessity of a call to early surrender to the Christian life.

Both junior and senior choirs attended the evening service and the anthems, "Touch the Hem of His Garment" and "The Hour of Prayer" were given.

DISCUSSES WORLD GATHERING, TRAIL

TRAIL, B. C., June 11—In his evening church service address Rev. W. F. Price, Baptist church, dealt largely with the world economic conference. He stressed the importance of the occasion and its importance in the history of the world saying its result would affect all nations. He pointed out the various problems the conference has to solve, such as war debts, liberation of world tariffs between nations, manufacturing rivalries, world peace and disarmament. All problems are extremely difficult, there being no individual who can see the way out. Rev. Mr. Price said the guidance of God is required in such problems, involving duty of prayer to have them settled. There is the necessity of human lives being in subjection to God. He told of need for prayer; by those who believed in prayer.

SHOULD SPRAY, CODLING MOT
The first cover spray for the control of codling moth should be completed by June 14 according to information received by E. C. Hunt, district agriculturist, from Max Ruhmann, entomologist for the provincial department of agriculture at Vernon.
Mr. Ruhmann states, in a letter written to Mr. Hunt, on June 6 that the moths are in strong flight and oviposition is taking place. Growers are advised to get this cover spray on as soon as possible in the areas affected in the Kootenay and Boundary. Owing to cooler weather most of last week egg laying should have been slowed up considerably. Growers have a few days longer to complete the spray, but it is advisable to have it completed not later than June 17.
One pound of arsenate of lead to 40 gallons of water is the mixture advised in spraying for codling moth.
