TEXAN FEUD IS FATAL FOR TWO

Two Shot and Third Is Stabbed at Rally of Politicians

RIO GRANDE CITY, Texas, May 30 (AP)—Two men were killed, a deputy sheriff stabbed and five others struck by bullets in a gun and knife fight at a political meeting here today which reopened a feud dormant for 26 years.

Davil Gomez and Pablo Solis, residents of the ranching community of La Grulla and believed to be American citizens, were killed by pistol bullets. Deputy sheriff Ivario Elizondo, stabbed, was taken to a hospital. Five others received minor bullet wounds.

The fight occurred as speakers opposed to the Guerra regime, Starr county political rulers for the past 26 years, spoke before a crowd of several hundred persons including a large group of school children.

WILLIAM CURRIE, A PROMINENT N.B. MAN, PASSES IN THE EAST

"Conspiracy of the Most Diabolical Kind"—Magistrate

'UNDERCOVER' MEN FLAYED BY COURT

Alleged to Have Sold Liquor to Chinese to Make Arrest

BRIGHOUSE, B.C., May 30 (CP)—"I think the whole thing is a conspiracy of the most diabolical kind," Magistrate O. E. Darling declared in police court here today in commenting on an action brought by the excise branch of the Royal Canadian Mounted police against Wong Sam, Chinese cafe proprietor of Steveston, B.C.

"I consider it outrageous that anybody of reputable police officers should bring such a case," Magistrate Darling added. "It is a conspiracy to obtain the moiety.

"UNDER-COVER MEN"

"I must say I am prejudiced in favor of the accused for I have already heard evidence in this court against two 'under-cover' men concerned in the charge.

"If these are the facts as brought out in this court it would be an absolute outrage to attempt to proceed with this charge. If police operatives are allowed to sell liquor, then turn around and report the sale to the R.C.M.P. who arrest the buyer, it would not be justice.

USED FOUR RELIEF CARDS AT COAST

VANCOUVER, May 30 (CP)—William W. Rhodes was convicted in police court today by Magistrate W. M. McKay of swindling the provincial relief department of $34. He was remanded to Friday for sentence.

"The case is one that calls for exemplary punishment," said Magistrate McKay in convicting the prisoner.

Evidence showed that Rhodes had relief cards for four persons and had drawn relief on each card. He was well-dressed and arresting officers declared that his room contained other good clothes and he had money in his possession when taken into custody.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 30 (AP)—Screaming women and shouting men were clubbed down by police in a waterfront riot that developed here today as an offshoot of the already turmoil-scarred strike of Pacific coast longshoremen.

Twenty-three were injured in the battle, which began when several hundred women and men described by police as Communists staged a march on the waterfront as a gesture of sympathy toward the striking marine workers. Few, if any, longshoremen were involved, officers said.

AN INDIAN HAD OFFICER'S KEY

Key to the Grisborne Auto Located; No Trace of Carr

VICTORIA, May 30 (CP)—British Columbia provincial police at Merritt today reported to headquarters here the finding of an automobile key and some papers belonging to Frank Gisborne, slain Indian department constable, in possession of one of three Indians charged with the murder of Gisborne and Provincial Constable Percy Carr last Wednesday.

The report indicated the articles were found in bloodstained coat and said to belong to the Indian.

Enos, Richardson and Alex. George, brothers of the Canford reservation, are charged with the murder. Another brother, Joseph, is in a serious condition in the Indian hospital and a murder charge is ready to be laid against him when his condition permits.

Police officials said today an inquest into Gisborne's death would be held Monday. His body was found last Saturday in the Nicola river, about five miles below where it was believed to have been thrown in. Carr's body has not been recovered.

Woman's "Racket" Pays at Coast

VANCOUVER, May 30 (CP)—Special complaints have been received by police regarding an unidentified woman reported victimizing housewives in different sections of Vancouver with a profitable "racket."

The woman has apparently obtained information about a district and learned the names of the different families. She has then gone to various homes and told the women there that neighbors, generally close friends, have ordered goods and would she kindly take them in and pay for them as the neighbors were not at home.

In most cases, the ruse has worked successfully and the women who have paid for the merchandise have found that their friends had never ordered any. Left with the goods, they have found that the prices paid have been far beyond the actual value.

TO PROBE THE BURNS PEOPLE

Refinancing Scheme of Packing Firm on the Spot

OTTAWA, May 30 (CP).—The $14,000,000 refinancing of the huge packing business of Burns and Co., will be aired before the parliamentary price spreads probe Friday.

The Dominion Securities Corporation, Ltd., who handled the refinancing, are being requested tonight to have a witness on hand on Friday for questioning on the sale of $6,900,000 preferred shares. John Burns, Calgary, nephew of Senator Pat Burns, who controlled the company before the refinancing in 1928, will be another witness.

"I have received a number of complaints from Toronto in reference to these preferred shares," Sam Factor (Lib., Toronto West Center) stated when an auditor's report of the Burns company was read by committee counsel.

RELIEF WORKERS SAVE THEIR PAL

Dive Into Water to Make Rescue Then Bring Victim to Life

VANCOUVER, May 30 (CP)—Bruce Barley, 18, owed his life today to two fellow workers at Point Gray relief camp here. J. C. Geddes, 20, and J. E. Davidson, 22, missed Barley as they swam in the Fraser river yesterday and, by repeated diving at the point where they figured he had gone down, they found him and brought him to shore in an unconscious condition.

Through their knowledge of first aid, Geddes and Davidson resuscitated their young companion. Eyewitnesses estimated Barley had been under water three minutes before he was rescued.

CHILLIWACK, B.C., May 30 (CP)—A verdict of accidental death has been returned by the coroner's jury at the inquest into the death of Lawrence F. Beattie, former Winnipeg athlete, and James Drysdale, killed Monday when a truck carrying relief camp workers plunged down an embankment near Hope, B.C.

The verdict stated the accident was due to "faulty brakes."

Evidence presented at the inquest indicated Drysdale's real name was James Harvey and all his relatives are believed to be in England.

Beattie's body will be sent to Winnipeg for burial.

SEATTLE, May 30 (AP)—After flat rejections of the proposed Pacific coast longshoremen's strike settlement by the locals both here and at Everett today, Joseph P. Ryan, of New York, international president of the Longshoremen's association, declared tonight he saw no hope that the compromise would be accepted on the coast.

DRUMHELLER CLAIMS "OLD SOLDIER" HONOR

DRUMHELLER, Alta., May 30—(CP)—Drumheller is not to be denied the "oldest soldier in Canada" title.

The first claimant here lost out when George White of Amherstburg, N.S., laid claim to the honor, but today A. M. Charters, 86, who came to Drumheller district in an ox cart, put in his bid.

Charters enlisted with the Canadian forces in 1862 at the age of 14, and in 1866 served in the Fenian raid and was awarded a medal for his services. The newest "oldest soldier" was born in Norfolk county, Ontario.

CARIBOO GOLD HOPES TO PAY OUT DIVIDEND

Will Increase Mill Tonnage to 125 Per Day

British Engineer Is on Property to Make Examination

VANCOUVER, May 30 (CP).—An increase in the milling capacity from 100 tons to 125 tons daily and possibility of payment of a substantial dividend within the next eight months was the report contained in the annual statement to shareholders of Cariboo Gold Quartz Ltd., of British Columbia here today.

Dr. W. B. Burnett, president, told the meeting that the additional machinery to increase the milling capacity had been ordered and that ore should be going through the enlarged plant within three months. Based on the present price of gold the ore would have a value of from $15 to $17 per ton.

P. R. Rose, general superintendent of the mine, stated that 30 or more true fissure veins had been uncovered, ranging from a width of two inches to 20 feet, all of which showed gold values worth milling.

The entire slate of officers was re-

PEACE RIVER MAN MURDERED

Body of M. Smith Is Found in Trunk on New Farm

PEACE RIVER, Alta., May 30 (CP)—His head badly battered by some blunt instrument, body of Matt Smith, recent arrival from Saskatchewan, was found in a trunk in his shack, 10 miles west of here by R.C.M.P. officers Tuesday. It is believed that the man was murdered two or three days ago.

Smith, a man of about 35, came to Peace River only two weeks ago in an automobile.

He purchased a farm two miles north of the Fairview-Grande Prairie highway a few days after his arrival.

Circumstances which led to the discovery of the body have not been divulged by the police but it is rumored that the dead man was in possession of a considerable amount of money when he arrived here.

An undertaker assisted the police to bring the remains to Peace River Wednesday and an inquest has been tentatively set for this afternoon or evening.

Inspector E. Radcliffe, in command of the Peace River detatchment is in charge of investigations and a district-wide search is being conducted under his direction for clues.

Pleads to Be Sent to "The Big House" But Goes to Oakalla

VANCOUVER, May 30 (CP)—Sentenced to 15 months in jail by Magistrate W. M. McKay in police court today, for obtaining goods and money by false pretences, R. Harrisone, alias Harmon, alias Elnick, asked for a longer sentence.

"Give me two years, I would rather go to the big house (penitentiary) than go to Oakalla jail," he asked when sentence was passed. His request was not granted.

According to evidence, Harrisone obtained $54 worth of good and $6 in cash on a worthless cheque from the British Columbia Barber Supply and Sundries company, Ltd., by representing himself as a barber. After obtaining the goods and money he left for Calgary where he was arrested and returned here for trial.

German Reaction Is Looked For; Geneva Meeting Wobbles

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

GENEVA, May 30 (CP cable).—France today just about administered the finishing stroke to a dying world disarament conference.

A vigorous British plea that the conference get down to brass tacks, or else quit making speeches and hindering other efforts at solving the troublesome arms question, ran smack into a French stone wall.

OPPOSE REARMAMENT

In caustic phrase the veteran French parliamentarian Louis Barthou, foreign secretary, made it plain that France will not consent to any rearmament of Germany—"regarded as the keystone of a disarmament agreement—on any conditions.

Predictions that the conference had only a remote chance of salvation were heard tonight.

Furthermore, an unpleasant reaction from Germany is inevitable. Dele-

COLUMBIA AT A HIGH MARK

Only 14 Inches Under High Mark of '28; Roads Flooded

REVELSTOKE, B.C., May 30 (CP)—Following several days of warm weather at the week-end when the thermometer reached a high of 92 in the shade, and heavy thunder storms during the past 24 hours, the Columbia river tonight had reached the highest point in six years and was only 14 inches below the high water mark of 1928.

Between Revelstoke and Arrowhead, the highway was covered with water at several places, while it was judged that some 50 acres of land were inundated. Many of these had crops on them, particularly in the vicinity of Mount Cartier, seven miles south of here.

Although creeks and rivers are high west of here, they are not sufficiently so to interfere with the Okanagan-Revelstoke highway.

In view of an abnormally heavy run-off in April induced by record hot weather for that time of the year, the present rise was unlooked for. The Columbia river was still rising tonight although its tributary the Illecillewaet, showed a slight drop.

Building Contracts Increase by 167 P.C.

TORONTO, May 30 (CP)—McLean building reports tonight estimated the total value of contracts awarded in Canada during May at $17,383,100, compared with $6,514,100 in May last year, an increase of 167 per cent.

The reports said today value of contracts for the first five months of 1934 was $48,707,800, compared with $24,826,100 in the corresponding period of 1933.

The May futures for 1934 compared with an April total of $11,569,200, an increase of 51 per cent.

TALK OF ELIMINATING "THE DOLE" IN B.C. IN AUGUST TERMED "PREMATURE"

STEEL STRIKE LOOMS

No Set Policy Is Agreed on Yet Declares Premier Pattullo

VICTORIA, May 30 (CP)—Rumors to the effect that British Columbia's new relief policy to be instituted on August 1 would practically eliminate direct relief in "dole" form, were described today as "premature" by Premier T. D. Pattullo.

The premier stated no set policy had been agreed upon in connection with the handling of unemployment relief after August 1 and would neither confirm nor deny that the principle of demanding work in exchange for relief allowances would be followed in all cases except those of medical unfitness.

Premier Pattullo announced yesterday that all relief lists would be terminated August 1 with reregistration to follow. He said administration of relief had become a "racket." It was expected that cancellation and reregistration would delete thousands of persons from the lists. The premier added that no one would be allowed to suffer for want of the necessities of life. So far as was possible within the resources of the province, necessary work would be carried on. Reregistration would be under rules and regulations formulated and administered by the provincial minister of labor.

In the past large centers in the province have adopted different methods of administering relief. Some cities demand two or three days work every week or two, while others pay cash with no work obligations.

MONTREAL, May 30 (CP)— A world-famed 9000-mile journey by motor through darkest Africa behind him, the lust of adventure remains unrequited in Charles E. The House Was "Haunted," Even the Cop on the Beat Wondered—Find Lions and Wolves

VANCOUVER, May 30 (CP).—Police solved the mystery of a "haunted house" in Vancouver's east end early today.

Residents of the district and the officer patrolling the beat had reported there was something "sinister" about the place. Weird noises came from it and its occupants seemed most active at night.

Detectives raided the house. There was a sudden "woof" as an officer stepped cautiously into the dark, the click of animal jaws and hot breath on his hand as snapping teeth narrowly missed.

"It's a lion," gasped another detective as his flashlight penetrated the darkness.

It was indeed a lion—but caged. Before the bars, two dogs crouched. In a corner, a number of prairie wolves were penned in a small compartment.

"Who are you?" queried a voice from the floor behind the detectives. The flashlights picked out a man wrapped in blankets on the floor.

"What are you doing here?" was the counter-query.

"Oh, I wrestle with the lion," drawled the man and explained he was the proprietor of a small animal show.

"You know, in this police game the mental hazard is often the greatest," Detective E. Pettit commented as the squad returned to headquarters.

Demand Code for Domestic Workers

VICTORIA, May 30 (CP)—Demand for a code governing the employment of domestic service in British Columbia homes will be made to Hon. George Pearson, minister of labor, as a result of action taken at a meeting of the legislative committee of the trades and labor council under Chairman C. Chivers with the 24 delegates from the women's service and business clubs of Victoria.

Compulsory registration of all domestic employees by employers is the first move sought under the resolutions passed by the meeting. Other resolutions covered the features of the proposed code based on rates of wages and hours of work that would be fair taking into consideration present conditions.

Gain Strength Hourly; Effort Being Made Have Young Mothers Feed the Tots

CORBEIL, Ont., May 30 (CP)—More than 80 hours old, the Dionne quintuplets were still gaining strength tonight and setting up a record for longevity that doctors who had predicted they would die soon could not understand.

Coming to the aid of Dr. A. R. Dafoe and a staff of helpers in their efforts to keep the tiny baby girls alive is an old-fashioned incubator into which the tiny infants will be moved from the basket they now occupy.

Donated by a Chicago newspaper, the incubator is expected to arrive here tonight. Modern electric incubator would be useless in the Dionne home where there is no power. The 30-year-old machine, operated with hot water, was found after a search through Chicago supply houses.

YOUNG MOTHER MAY AID

Dr. Dafoe said an effort was being made to have young mothers in the district feed the Dionne babies. He

LITTLE LIKELIHOOD OF NELSON AND TRAIL POST OFFICES CHANGING OVER

Consider Change to Come Under Civil Service Act; Nelson Sales Heavy

OTTAWA, Ont., May 30—The case of employees of Nelson and Trail post offices was presented to the select committee on the Civil Service act today by the west Kootenay member W. K. Esling, who asked that they be given the status of civil servants and enjoy the benefits of superannuation.

The Nelson employees were given this status in 1925, but it continued for one month only, and they then reverted to the status of a revenue post office.

In a revenue office the postmaster is paid a commission on the sale of stamps and money orders. He hires his own help and pays the salary of his employees out of his commissions.

In the case of Nelson and Trail this condition was changed a few years back and both offices were given the title of grade 2B offices, under which the postmaster alone is a civil servant, and while he engages his own help the salaries are fixed and paid by the department at Ottawa.

Had the Nelson office remained under the civil service the employees would have had 10 years superannuation to their credit next year.

The post office department is adverse to making any change at the present owing to the increased expense which would obtain if the employees were brought under the Civil Service act, but Mr. Esling was assured that a general review would be made after the revenue of the past year had been determined and this will not be until the end of June.

The sale of stamps in the Nelson office for the fiscal year ended March 31st last exceeded that of Trail by $13,000.

EXTRACTS FROM HANSARD OUTLINE THE INTENT OF THE FEDERAL MARKET BILL

The Editor,
Dear Sir,—

Ever since it was announced from Ottawa that the Dominion government was preparing to enact a measure to control the marketing of natural products, the question of whether the exercise of such control would be in the hands of producers, shippers, or a combination of both has been the cause of much discussion.

It is true that the bill provides that "a representative number of persons engaged in the production and marketing, or the production or marketing, of a natural product, may petition the Governor in Council to approve a scheme". From this it has been assumed by some that a system of joint control was contemplated by the sponsors of the bill.

Now the best place to look in order to find what was actually intended is undoubtedly the debates in the house, where arguments on all angles of the bill, both for and against, were discussed fully. A perusal of Hansard from the time of the introduction of the bill up to the time of its passing the second reading shows that all speakers who referred in any way to the composition of the local boards were emphatic in stating that control should be in the hands of the producers themselves. I have looked carefully for arguments to the contrary and failed to find one.

It occured to me that your readers would be interested in seeing how this question was dealt with in the house, and am enclosing a few extracts from Hansard which should, I believe, furnish conclusive evidence as to the intent of the bill in this connection.

KELOWNA, B. C. Yours truly,
G. A. BARRAT

EXTRACTS FROM HANSARD

MARCH 26th

Mr. Weir (Melfort): Some of the fundamental principles of this Bill are, first, principles that are embodied in the British Marketing act, that if a representative number of products of any commodity have a scheme which they think will be in the interests of the marketing of their products and feel that their numbers are sufficiently representative, they approach the marketing board or the minister designated to administer the act, and submit their scheme.

APRIL 17th

Mr. Grote Stirling (Yale): Under section five of the bill the producers may join together in the preparation of a scheme which is submitted to the minister for his approval.

If and when a scheme has been accepted, it is referred to the Governor in Council, and it may be set up by order in council. It then begins to operate as a scheme chosen by the farmer and put into operation by him. It is almost certain that any scheme will contain the idea of a board selected by the producers to be in charge of the fruit or whatever commodity it may be which they have to handle. The principle behind it all—it is the principle with which we are chiefly concerned at this stage of the proceedings—is that the producers should produce in an orderly fashion, and this cannot be done until there is a majority rule of the minority.

APRIL 18th

Mr. Brown: I am prepared to go a certain distance to meet a situation such as has developed in British Columbia in connection with fruit. Recognizing as I do the right of majority control, I am prepared to go some distance in that regard, though I do not like to interfere with personal liberty. In view of the situation which has developed in that province, if by a large majority the fruit growers are willing to do certain things and they obtain the sanction of the provincial government, as a member of this House of Commons I would be willing to go as far as our Constitution will allow to give them the right to handle their produce in the manner they themselves have decided it should be handled. I am willing to go that far. Then, if a majority of the farmers on the prairies decide to adopt some kind of board to control their livestock or dairy produce, while as a citizen of Manitoba, I might, and undoubtedly in some cases would, object, as a member of this house, I should feel obligated under the circumstances I have described to give them the right to do so.

Mr. Pickel: At the present time the packers and the commission men have absolute control of the marketing of the farmers' products in the east, and anything that can be done to take control out of their hands I am willing and glad to support.

APRIL 19th

Mr. McKenzie King: Take any group, whether they be tobacco growers, hog raisers, or other producers. Let that group come together and let a representative number of them petition that the affairs of their trade as far as production, sale and the rest of it is concerned, are to be managed in such and such a way; in accordance with some scheme they have devised; if the board, the minister, and the Governor in Council approve of that scheme, it then becomes law.

Mr. Stevens: These products are now largely processed in the great centers now and are marketed in large quantities, leaving the control not with the producer but with the processing element which handles them. The Bill now under consideration is designed to give some opportunity to the producers of agricultural and other products to get a fair chance in the markets, instead of placing them under the control of the great marketing institutions which have grown up.

APRIL 24th

Mr. Loucks: I do not think we should become fearful of the set-up of the boards. I have no doubt that the local boards will consist of men drawn from agriculture. There is no doubt about that.

Mr. W. G. Weir (McDonald): If I interpret that clause aright it means that a representative number of producers—it does not say how many or what the basis of their representation will or should be—may petition the minister who by order in council can bring them under a marketing scheme.

Mr. J. H. Myers (Queens): Further than that, the legislation that may be passed by the different legislatures cannot itself become operative until the producers of a specific product get together and say to themselves, "We want to take advantage of the provisions of this bill."

APRIL 25th

Mr. Willis: It is a radical move to aid the producers, and that is what is needed. We have heard a great deal about the liberty of this parliament, but what we desire is the liberty of the producer to control his product.

Mr. E. E. Perley (Qu'Appelle): Under this measure, when the Minister is satisfied that a reasonable majority of producers of any one product have signified their intention of being organized and brought under this measure, the minister can provide for the set-up of a board.

APRIL 26th

Mr. Onesime Gagnon (Dorchester): The act possesses a very important feature, inasmuch as it provides the opportunity for the producers of any commodity to become thoroughly organized, to gain complete control of the marketing of their product, and have a voice in trade policies governing that product.

MAY 1st

Mr. Thomas Reid (New Westminster): In these days control is necessary. Farmers should not always leave it to others to market their goods, but every effort on the part of farmers to combine for the betterment of themselves and their class has been bitterly opposed by combines and interests concerned.

MAY 2nd

Hon. Robert Weir (Minister of Agriculture): I hope, more clearly than I evidently did when I last spoke—namely, to put the power for the regulation of the marketing of the products of the primary producers into the hands of the primary producers themselves, in so far as they give evidence that they are anxious to have that power to handle the regulation of the marketing of their own products, as shown by the extent to which they are prepared to organize to do this.

The basis of this bill is that a representative body of producers will submit a scheme that they have carefully thought out, and in which they are interested in a way that no one else is, for the marketing of their primary products.

Further, it has been left open in order that bodies of producers may meet their provincial government, submit their scheme to them, and if the provincial government thinks well of the scheme and allows them to form a local board with the powers given in this bill, or perhaps with different powers, we can if necessary use that board as our agent under the Dominion marketing act. The basis of the bill is to put power into the hands of the producers themselves, in so far as they indicate through their own organization that they wish it, and thus there will be no conflict with provincial rights.

That is, the group of producers in their scheme must state the nature of the board that is to handle the scheme that they propose. I know that in some branches of the industry they feel that the board should consist entirely of producers; others are very decided that there should be producer representation; and representation from the trade that is vitally interested in the marketing of that product, and also that consumers should be represented. But the primary object of this bill is to give power to the producers even to the extent of recommending and setting out the manner in which the board is to be appointed.

Mr. Turnbull: Moreover, the producers themselves will present that plan and they will be the ones who will initiate it. Their opportunities to be heard are there. This is only an enabling bill to make it possible for certain machinery to be set up, and to adopt recommendations that may be made by producer organizations with regard to the boards to handle the marketing of their products.

Mr. Weir (Melfort): . . the producers, whether of agricultural commodities, or of the products of sea, lake or forest, will themselves put froward a scheme which they regard as satisfactory, and no other scheme will be forced upon them.

● THE TIRE SURPRISE OF YOUR LIFE is waiting for you—Goodyear's new Pathfinder. When you are shown this new tire you will conclude you are looking at the most expensive tire made. You'll see a centre-tread pattern never equalled for firm traction—a flatter tread and broader non-skid shoulders—thicker rubber to give 25% more tread wear than formerly—a tire oversize in all dimensions—the handsomest and by all odds the best tire in its price class!

But what you see is only half the story. The inner carcass of the Pathfinder is actually heavier and stronger than most top-price tires of other makes. Goodyear's exclusive Supertwist cords put sinewy toughness into the Pathfinder which yields greater mileage. Two cord breaker-strips under the tread—sometimes called "extra plies."

Prices on the new Pathfinder are not higher, but 10% to 15% lower than the prices of so-called "standard" tires . . . in fact they are very little higher than the prices of risky "bargain" tires.

Crawford Bay Has a Lightning Fire

Only One Reported as Due to Storm; Probably Out

Although lightning was playing freely in the storm that passed over this district Tuesday afternoon and night, only one resulting forest fire has been reported to the forest branch here so far, a small one in the Crawford Bay area, which broke out Tuesday afternoon, in timber on Hooker creek, a tributary of Crawford creek, about six miles back from the lake, and was believed last night to be out.

About a quarter acre in extent, it was reported well in hand Wednesday forenoon, and was expected to be extinguished in the course of the day.

The problems confronting the cheese industry in Quebec are quite similar to those in Ontario. In both provinces, declining volume of output has had a tendency to raise production costs per unit of product manufacture.—The Economic Annalist.

BUSINESS CONDITIONS TAKEN INTO ACCOUNT IN ASSESSMENT FINDING BY JUDGE THOMPSON

Fernie Brewery Improvements Over Inactive Value Scaled Down a Quarter From Assessor Robertson's Figure

REPLACEMENT VALUE IS NOT ONLY FACTOR JUDGE THOMPSON STATES

Permanent Changes to Be Considered He Says; Finds Industry in the Fernie Area Mostly at a Low Ebb

That approximately permanent changes in business conditions are factors to be considered in setting assessments for taxation purpose is the outstanding finding of Judge G. H. Thompson of Cranbrook, in a recent assessment judgment, in which he reduced the assessment on the premises of the Fernie Brewing company by one-fourth the excess of the assessed value over the physical value of an inactive plant, on the ground of reduced business opportunity.

His honor found that the depression in coal mining and lumbering, and the incipient stage of the farming in that district, were probably to continue for a long period, and so far as the value of the Fernie company's plant was concerned, were practically permanent. Other business factors he considered were the world depression, the conditions imposed by the Liquor Control act, and the agreements in the brewing trade as to allotments of sales territory. Balancing loss of business opportunity in the Fernie district owing to depresed industries, against the gains through the metalliferous mining ascendancy, and taking into consideration the other factors, his honor scaled down the assessment on improvements by $15,500 from the figure set by Assessor A. A. Robertson.

As no appeal was taken by the minister of finance, Hon. John Hart, through Assessor Robertson, from the judgment, his honor's judgment now stands, and will be the guide for assessors in the future.

Judge Thompson set forth his "reasons for judgment" as follows:

At the appeal hearing, Sherwood Hirchmer, K. C. and D.M. Mitchell appeared for the company concerned and F. C. Lowe for Assessor Robertson.

FAIR REPLACEMENT ONLY

"This is an appeal from the assessment of A. A. Robertson, Esq., assessor for the Fort Steel assessment district in the province of British Columbia, whereby the appellant, the Fernie Brewing company, limited, was assessed, for part of the brewery premises, in the sum of $500 for land, and $82,000 for improvements. There is no appeal so far as the assessment of land is concerned. The appeal is against the assessment of the improvements.

"Were the appeal based solely upon replacement value I would have no hesitancy in confirming the assessment. Prior to 1931 the assessment was $93,500; in 1931 the was reduced to $85,000, and in 1932 to the present assessment. It seems to me that there has been ample reduction in the assessment to cover depreciation were I considering only replacement value. I am, however, of the opinion that the assessor in making his valuation was moved only by the replacement value. He has not taken into his consideration any other factor that that of replacement.

VALUE IN EXCHANGE

"The tendency of the decisions for some years has been to hold that in arriving at a valuation of lands and improvements, regard should be had, not only to replacement value, but to its actual value in exchange; to that intangible value which affects property by reason of surrounding conditions, and the particular use to which the building may be put.

"The act itself, R. S. B. C. 1924 chap. 254, sec. 30, directs the assessor how the assessment shall be made, namely, at its actual cash value in money, and directs that the 'true cash value of land shall be that value at which the land would be generally taken in payment of a just debt from a solvent debtor.' Obviously that cannot mean replacement value. There must be included many other considerations which would move a creditor to accept the land in payment of a just debt from a solvent debtor. I do not thing I need elaborate upon this phase of the appeal. The law has been settled in the cases which have been cited to me. In re Municipal Clauses act and J. O. Dunsmuir (1898) 8 B. C. R. 361; In re Municipal act, Gates' case (1918) 2 W. W. R. 930; Pearce vs. Calgary (1915) 9 W. W. R. 668; The Bishop of Victoria vs. City of Victoria, 47 B. C. R. 264; Grampian Realties company vs. Montreal East (1932) 1 D. L. R. 705.

"There are several elements which have to be taken into consideration in dealing with the value of land in and about the district of East Kootenay, and especially the district of Fernie; also in dealing with the brewing business or any business concerned with the sale of intoxicating liquor. The following elements in particular have to be taken into consideration:

BUSINESS FACTORS

"1. The general depression which has existed throughout the world since 1929.

"2. The particular depression which has existed in the district of East Kootenay due to the abandonment of, or lessening of output in, the fundamental industries of the district.

"In this regard it is essential to consider whether or not the lessening of business volume is temporary or permanent.

"3. The effect of legislation upon the particular business in which the appellant company is concerned:

"a. In limiting the sales area.

"b. In providing that there shall be but one customer.

"c. In the elimination of all personal accounts whether they be good or bad.

OPERATION MUCH REDUCED

"In considering these points I have first come to the following conclusions as to the volume of business and the profit derived from the business during the past 10 or 12 years. I find from the evidence the following figures as to gallonage and value of sales:

Year	Gallonage	Value
1925	195,858	$242,512.85
1926	208,732	237,107.65
1927	141,491	150,546.35
1928	163,487	181,855.87
1929	205,115	234,665.56
1930	190,828	198,786.41
1931	157,211	149,084.57
1932	117,936	191,151.68
1933	100,004	68,387.48

"This shows that prior to 1930 the average gallonage was about 183,000; and the average value of sales $209,000. For the next four years the average gallonage was 142,000, with value of sales $134,000. There has been, however, a steadily decreasing gallonage and value of sales: from a gallonage of 191,000 in 1930 to 100,000 in 1933, and in the value of sales from $99,000 in 1930 to $66,000 in 1933.

"The average annual operating profit for the period 1922 to 1932 inclusive has been, until the end of 1930, about $28,000. Since that date there has been a steadily decreasing operating profit: in 1930 over $28,000; in 1932, somewhere in the neighborhood of $16,000. For 1933, Mr. Cox, manager of the appellant company, estimates a loss for the first three months, but a probable profit of only 2½ per cent. The exact figures were not given to me as the financial year will not be completed until the end of March this year. I find therefore that since 1930 there has been a rapid reduction in the volume of business and the value of sales, as well as a corresponding reduction in operating profit.

"It is now my duty to revert to the conditions which prevail throughout the district or area of sale at the present time. Under former conditions there was no restriction as to area of sale. Today, by the action of the province through the liquor control board the area has been confined practically to the district of East Kootenay, with permission to sell bottled goods in one or two localities in West Kootenay.

WORLD DEPRESSION

"Coming to the conditions which prevail at the present time, there is undoubtedly a general depression in business existing throughout the world. This undoubtedly is a great factor in determining the value of land in the year 1934, used in a particular line of business. Reading from the judgment of Mr. Justice Iddington in Pearce vs. Calgary (uni. sup.), he says: 'I presume that this general depression should be taken into consideration, and perhaps is one of the great determining factors in arriving at a valuation.' On the other hand, business conditions are now on a distinctly upgrade so far as the world at large is concerned. It is impossible to say what world conditions may exist even six months from now, nor do I think this factor is capable of being reduced to dollars and cents in arriving at a valuation; nor is it essential for me to arrive at a conclusion of the percentage of depreciation due to this factor, in the case of the district and business which I have under consideration, except to say that generally the world-wide conditions have been a great determining factor in bringing about the peculiar conditions which exist in the district under consideration.

EAST KOOTENAY CONDITIONS

"The condition of business in East Kootenay is a peculiar one unto itself. The industries of East Kootenay have consisted of coal mining, lumbering, farming, fruit raising, and metalliferous mining. The coal industry is confined to the eastern portion. The output of coal and coke today is approximately one-third of what it was 10 years ago. To my mind every indication points to a permanency in the present condition. The withdrawal by the Great Northern railway from its operations in the district has been a serious blow. Nor do I see any chance of an increase in the mining of coal, but rather a decrease.

"Lumbering: At the present time there are practically no operations in this industry. In the past the method of the lumbermen throughout the whole district has been extravagant and wasteful. Nor has there been much attempt towards reforestation. However there are still some extensive timber lands within the district, which sooner or later will be worked, but I cannot see that there will be any revival in the lumber industry to amount to a great deal for some time to come, and then, only to a limited extent unless some means are adopted to renew the supply.

"Farming: This industry in East Kootenay is as yet in an experimental stage. I believe the industry will improve and become a great economic factor in time to come, but not for many years.

"Fruit raising: The future of the fruit raising is of course problematical. Creston, within the selling area of the appellant company, will continue to advance, but, while it is within the selling area, the sales are confined to bottled beer.

"Metalliferous mining: This industry is undoubtedly going ahead by leaps and bounds at the present time. The great center is Kimberley. There the population is increasing, and there is every indication of large business being conducted. The market in Kimberley is open, but according to the evidence of Mr. Cox the sale of beer has been restricted by the action of the hotelkeepers. I will speak of this condition later on.

SOUTH WITHOUT INDUSTRY

"In surveying the whole of the district where the sales of the appellant company are made, I find that within the immediate vicinity of Fernie there is a steady decrease in business. Fernie is dependent almost entirely upon coal. The population has decreased. The working hours in the mines in the immediate vicinity of Fernie are only a fraction of what they were five years ago. Nor do I see any hope at present of this condition being improved. The tendency to my mind is the other way. The whole of the country lying south of the Crows Nest Pass ranch of the Canadian Pacific railway, namely around Waldo and Baynes Lake, is practially today without industry, nor do I see much chance of the lumber industry, upon which those communities heretofore depended, being revived.

"Michel is dependent entirely upon coal mining. Conditions in Michel are not as bad as they are in Fernie, but the outlook is not bright. There may be improvement, but such improvement will not take place for some time to come.

"The sales of the appellant company in what is known as the upper country, around Invermere and Golden, are practially negligible. The future of that district depends upon farming and mining. The latter, however, is still, as far as I can see, in the initial stage.

"On the whole, therefore, I can see nothing which would indicate any increase in the appellant company's business for some time to come; rather the reverse.

LEGISLATIVE RESULTS

"The effect of legislation upon the brewery business: The restriction of the area of sale, and the fact that that restriction may be lessened or tightened from time to time undoubtedly has a great influence upon the volume of business of the appellant company. Added to this is the fact that the only customer the brewery has, the liquor control board, practically fixed the price at which beer may be bought from the brewery. On the one hand it has the effect of reducing the volume of business. On the other hand, however, this restriction entirely eliminates bad accounts. In endeavoring to arrive at a valuation of property, both these considerations must have weight.

GENERAL BUSINESS LOW EBB

"To sum up my findings upon the conditions, therefore—I find that business conditions throughout the real area of sale of the appellant company are at a lower ebb than they have been for many years. And I find that those conditions show every indication of continuing at all events for such a long period that they might be called permanent in so far as coal mining, lumbering and farming are concerned.

"The one bright spot is the industry of metalliferous mining.

"The manager of the appellant company, however, says that he has no market in Kimberley. I cannot take that into consideration in arriving at a valuation of the appellant company's property. The market is open. I do not know why he has no market, but I should judge it is because the Cranbrook and Kimberley markets have been handed over to the subsidiary of the appellant company, namely, the Cranbrook Brewing company, Ltd.

PERMANENT LOSS A FOURTH

"On the whole state of the case, however, I find that there is a company well managed, with equipment and facilities for doing a large business. Its business has fallen off until now it amounts to four-sevenths of what it was. The cause of that falling off I find to be the prevailing condition within the area of sale. These facts must be taken into consideration in the assessing the value of its premises. On the figures furnished to me, I find that the gallonage, the volume of sales and the operating profits have suffered a reduction of three-sevenths, but in view of the market which is open in Kimberley, and the extension of the area to Golden I am inclined to reduce the percentage of permanent loss to one-fourth.

"The assessed value of the improvements as settled by the assessor is $82,000. Mr. Cox, manager of the appellant company, says that the value of the buildings as a nonactive concern would be in the neighborhood of $20,000. In my opinion the assessment should be reduced by 25 per cent of the balance, which amounts to $15,500, leaving an assessment of the land, $500, on the improvement $66,500.

"I find, therefore, that the assessment should be altered as follows:

"Land $500, improvements $66,500. Total $67,000."

LIBRARY TO CLOSE HALF HOUR EARLIER

9:30 Hour for the Summer Months; New Books Are Added

Earlier closing of the municipal library for the hot weather months, when outdoor activities diminish the demands on the library, has been ordered by the library board, and will go into force June 1. The hours for the summer will be from 2 to 9:30 p.m., instead of 10 p.m. The experience of the past year, it is stated, has been that the circulation of books ceased at 9:30, and it is figured that the earlier closing will not appreciably curtail the library's service.

A good many books of considerable interest have been added this spring to the collection, and others are in process of arriving. A few individual titles are annotated below:

"Native's Return, by Adamic. An American immigrant returns to Yugoslavia and discovers his Old Country. (Book of the Month club selection).

"Within This Present", by Margaret Ayer Barnes. A panorama of the American scene. It has a generous sweep and a wealth of living portraits that makes it an historical document as well as excellent entertainment.

"When Yellow Leaves", by Ethel Boileau. Against the background of the English countryside is shown the conflict of the old order against the complexities of modern life.

"Big Fight", by F. and K. Drake. A story of present-day flying, conveying the relentless discipline and taut situations in the life of a transport pilot.

"Unharbored Heaths", by Katharine Goetsch-Trevelyan. Fresh and outspoken. An unconventional pilgrimage across Canada.

"Magnus Merriman", by Eric Linklater. Sophisticated comedy of a high order.

"Fire Brigade", by Raymond Otis. Rising terror and excitement as fires increase in a New Mexico town.

Plea for Aid for Small Radio Plants

But Commission Paid $9000 Last Year Take Programs Into Kelowna

OTTAWA, May 30 (CP)—Difficulties of the British Columbia radio stations were brought before the parliamentary committee of radio today with H. J. Barber (Cons., Fraser Valley) and Grote Stirling (Cons., Yale) presenting some of the problems of the Pacific coast. The commission, said Mr. Barber, had forced upon the smaller stations many onerous regulations which demanded expenditure of large sums of money. As a result many of them would be put out of business.

It was suggested, said Mr. Barber, that a monthly grant of $200 from the commission to the small stations would permit them to operate and would ensure a proper broadcast of the commission's programs.

Station CKOB in the Okanagan valley was of great use to the fruit-growers, said Mr. Stirling. It had experienced many difficulties over a period of years in connection with wave lengths and interference. He supported the plea of Mr. Barber for a small grant to enable the station to continue broadcasting the commission's programs.

Hector Charlesworth, radio commission chairman, said it cost the commission $9000 last year to lease wires in order to bring commission programs from Kamloops to CKOB at Kelowna.

EXCESS FAT DUE TO RHEUMATISM

One Remedy for the Two Troubles

Having rheumatism so badly that she could scarcely walk, this woman began to put on a load of superfluous flesh. In a letter just received, she writes:

"I had a severe attack of rheumatism in both knees. It was so bad that for three weeks I could not put my feet to the ground. I was also getting terribly fat—through not getting my usual exercise. I started taking Kruschen, and persevered. The first thing I noticed was the tonic effect it had; the next that my rheumatism went, and—better than anything—I have lost that wretched fat. I am a woman of 50 and when I tell you I do exactly the same work as women half my age without the least difficulty, I think you will understand why I swear by Kruschen Salts and recommend them wherever I go."—M. E.

The six salts of Kruschen assist the internal organs to throw off each day the wastage and poisons that encumber the system. Then, little by little, that ugly fat goes—slowly, yes—but surely. The rheumatism and headaches disappear. You feel wonderfully healthy, youthful and energetic—more so than ever before in your life. ***

VICTORIA, May 30 (CP)—Dr. Allen Harris, M.L.A., South Okanagan, a research chemist who visualizes British Columbia lumber being split into thousands of by-products instead of timber, and coal into sweet perfume and many other things, instead of soot, is urging the provincial government, of which he is a supporter, to create a provincial research institute.

The institute would investigate modern and especially by-product trends in all industry and attempt to develop outlets for primary products.

He suggests a modest beginning at the University of British Columbia, the findings to be the property for a time, of the industry which puts forth the problem, later to pass freely to public use.

Artificial silk is one by-product of lumber which he cites.

PLYMOUTH sales are gaining by leaps and bounds. Registrations of new Plymouth cars in Canada for the month of March were over three times the sales of March last year.

There can be only one answer to this—Plymouth owners are talking to their friends. They are enthusiastic about the way Plymouth performs, proud of its appearance and satisfied that they bought the best car in the lowest priced field.

HYDRAULIC BRAKES are one of the sources of their delight in driving a Plymouth car. They stop the car quickly, smoothly and they never become unequalized—never cause swerving. Hydraulic brakes are the simplest type of brakes and require no lubrication—seldom require adjusting. They are the safest brakes made.

THE PLYMOUTH ALL-STEEL BODY is the greatest motoring protection you can give yourself and your family. It is all steel reinforced with steel... all the parts electrically fused into one shock-resisting whole... it does not rattle... cannot rot.

FLOATING POWER ENGINE MOUNTINGS banish engine vibration—one of the greatest sources of driving fatigue. The Plymouth motor is cradled in its two rubber mountings which are scientifically placed so that the engine absorbs its own vibration. No engine vibration can reach the passengers.

INDIVIDUAL FRONT WHEEL SPRINGING is found in even the lowest priced Plymouth. Plymouth is the only car in the lowest priced field that gives you individual front wheel springs. It is the same type of springing that is used in some of the world's highest priced cars.

The moderator of Presbytery, Rev. James Bell of Cranbrook, preached the ordination sermon, from Paul's letter to Timothy giving the duties of bishops and deacons. Dr. Thompson of Creston conducted the devotional exercises. The address to the minister was given by Dr. R. J. Douglas, Synodical missionary,

"Though we often consider ourselves vessels of gold or silver most of us are earthen vessels, imperfect and stained, yet God can use and does use such vessels to His glory."

Dr. Douglas had been 35 years in the ministry and had never found a better field than his first. "Do not be anxious to seek greener field. Everywhere you will find the same difficulties and it is a great advantage to know your people. The longer you stay with them the better you will be able to serve them."

Rev. Fred St. Denis of Trail gave the address to the congregation, commending to them their young minister, full of high hopes and enthusiasm. To make these fine gifts effective there must be team work on the part of the people. Their loyalty of heart and spirit must be his. They must work with and pray for him and keep close to him in sympathy and friendliness.

Then surrounding the new candidate the ministers in prayer inducted him into his first church.

This is the first ordination and induction service held in this church for years. At the close of the service the Ladies Aid served refreshments. The visiting ministers were entertained by Mrs. Gold and Mrs. Shea. Mrs. Thompson of Creston and Mrs. St. Denis of Trail were present.

Girl in the Family

By BEATRICE BURTON

There was a sudden rat-tat-tat of feet on the stairs and Susan's Aunt Nell came into the room. "I thought I heard Susie's voice," she cried in a rich contralto with warm motherly tones in it. "Why didn't you girls tell me she was here?—How are you Susie?" She was a short woman, plump but not over-large, and although she was the sort of woman who is called an old-fashioned mother, there was nothing in the least old-fashioned about her appearance. Her gray hair was carefully waved and drawn into a flat knot at the back of her head, her housedress of crisp gingham was well cut and there were no basting threads on it to indicate that she had just left the sewing room downstairs, as she had.

"Well, well, well! Will you just look at this!" she exclaimed when Susan showed her the ring. She made a clucking sound of admiration. "Did you ever see anything more magnificent in your life!—It's a little loose on your finger, isn't it, Susie? And it's so easy to lose a valuable thing like this. When are you going to bring your young man here to let me congratulate him?"

"Oh, very soon," Susan answered her. The one and only time she had brought Wallace to call on the Cullens still stood out in her memory as the longest and most painful evening of her life. He had been stiff and frankly bored with them and all of their works. With their jigsaw puzzles and anagrams, their singing of song hits at the piano, their mid-evening refreshments of cider and doughnuts. Afterwards he had insisted that he had enjoyed himself, but he had never suggested a second visit or even mentioned the Cullens again.

"I could get up a nice little dinner some night and you could bring him over," said Aunt Nell, smiling, hospitable as she always was. "You just set the date, Susie." When she smiled all the lines in her face slanted upward, as lines do in the faces of middle-aged people who have always laughed a great deal and been mentally alert.

She always said that she never had done much worrying in her life except about the children. When they were little she had worried about scarlet fever and rusty nails, croup and teeth coming in crooked. Later on she had worried over the kind of education that each of them should have. Now she worried about the girls when they stayed out too late, about Howard's fast driving and his girl friends and the occasional smell of cigarettes that hung about his clothes.

She spoke her mind about these things, but she did not nag. Instead, she kept the children under her eye, making the house a place where their friends could gather, sure of a welcome, sure of a good time, always. Her genius for making the people around her comfortable was reflected in the house with its deep chairs, its fat white beds, its kitchen smells of freshly-ironed linen and things baking in the oven or simmering on the back of the stove. The very tones of her voice were soothing, and there was something in her smile and her eyes that set people at ease. She would never have believed it of herself, but the fact remained that she was a perfect hostess.

The room that Mary and Sara shared was at the back of the house. Its three windows that looked out into the bare snow-encrusted branches of a maple tree were framed with pale green chints curtains. On one side of the room, which was an unusually large one, stood Sara's three-quarter size bed, her dressing table and her pale green arm chair. There were books on a hanging shelf above the bed and on the wall above the dressing table was a single picture. A snow scene done in black and white.

The other side of the room belonged to Mary, and it was crowded with her possessions and overlaid with her personality. There were snapshots of her men friends and her girl friends all over the wall. There were green silk mules, edged with gold kid, under the bed and her armchair was piled with small green and yellow silk pillows. The glass top of the dressing table was covered with ivory brushes and combs, with toilet bottles filled with perfume and "skin freshener," with lipsticks in bright little metal cases, with big jars of cold cream and little jars of no-shine nose cream and blue eye shadow. A lamp with a frivolous, frilly green silk shade stood on the bedside table, and beside it lay a volume of snappy story which Mary was reading for her own pleasure, and two volumes of Marcel Proust which the head librarian at the North Side Branch had asked her to look over before Monday.

Somehow, during her busy weekend, Mary would manage to do it. Hers was the quick eye that picks up a whole paragraph of reading matter at a glance or two and takes it in.

LONE PINE IS WATER GUAGE

Water Level Holds at Over 14 Feet for Solid Month

If the lone pine tree, whose gnarled trunk juts out as a monument high above Procter, tells a true story, and it has never failed yet according to the Indians and steamboat captains, the West Arm level is now on its last upward spurt for the season and will soon start to slip back.

According to a legend which appears to ring true, when the snow commences to leave the vicinity around the lofty perch of the tree, the water level has reached its peak for the year. This tree is watched religiously by the residents of the outlet points. Douglas Male who reads the government water gauge at Nelson and who was up the lake Tuesday states that the snow has begun to spot around the tree.

While the level has not reached an unusually high point so far this year, something of a record has been set in the spring runoff. For a solid month the lake level has been maintained at over 14 feet and on Wednesday, after a spurt of eight and three-eighths inches, the level was taken at 16.10 feet above zero.

The dopesters who picked the peak for the season after drops occurred following cold damp spells, have been upset in their beliefs on three separate occasions.

On May 3 the lake level was recorded at 14.78 feet by the automatic and on the following day when it started to slip back the peak appeared to have been reached for the season. The runoff, even at that period, had been great. It dropped back to 14.08 feet and then started to jump again. On May 21 the climb was halted at 15.15 feet and receeded to 14.70 feet on the twenty-fifth. For the past two or three days the jump has been surprisingly large. On Tuesday morning at 7.30 a.m. the level was recorded at 15.60 and at noon Wednesday, 16.10.

CANADA'S CREDIT IS GOOD

Canada's credit stands high in the eyes of the world today. In fact there probably never was a time when it stood higher. Proof of this can be shown by the ready way in which the Dominion loan of $50,000,000 was taken in London on Monday. It bears interest at 3 1-4 per cent and will sell at a figure to yield the investor 3.48 per cent. The loan was oversubscribed within an hour and one half of the opening.

The new Dominion loan represents the cheapest financing of this kind in the London market during the past year and compares with the four per cent bond issue floated by Canada in the London market last August. The new loan carrying four per cent coupons is now selling at 108½, a real testimony of the financial status of Canada.

When Londoners scramble for a Canadian loan of such high proportions, and a loan that was thrown out rather unexpectedly, to the extent that only 17 per cent of the offerings of subscriptions were filled, there is little to worry about as far as Canada's credit is concerned.

TOGO, NAVAL CHIEF, PHILOSOPHER

Admiral Count Heihachiro Togo, naval hero of the Japanese in the Russo-Japanese war, is dead. He has passed at a ripe old age after serving his country well. The Japanese hope to raise a shrine in honor of this once mighty chief. Togo rose from the ranks in the Japanese navy to its commander and much of his ability and cunning was acquired through knowledge learned while stationed with the British navy in the late 80s or early 90s.

Lord Nelson was Britain's outstanding naval hero. Togo held a similar place in the hearts of the Japanese. It was Nelson at Trafalgar who ran up his famous signal "England expects every man to do his duty". It was Togo at the deciding battle of the Russo-Japanese naval war in the Korean straits who ran up the signal, "The fate of the empire depends upon this effort and the men must do their utmost".

Togo's life spanned the emergence of Japan from seclusion to a status in world power. He joined the Japanese navy when it was but eight years old and served through the troubles between the clans of the Japanese sea forces. Having served his apprenticeship he was sent to England where he studied the naval ideas as taught there. Upon his return he saw Japan acquire its first iron-clad ships. His rise was rapid and in 1894 he was a captain in charge of a cruiser. The navy had grown to 27 cruisers and two dozen torpedo boats and Togo helped in the crushing of the Chinese fleet.

Within a decade the Japanese fleet was modernized and Togo became a vice-admiral. He fired the opening shots in the Russo-Japanese war in a night attack upon Port Arthur by torpedo boat. This was in February 1904 and in August he smashed the Russian fleet as it sailed from Port Arthur in an attempt to return to Vladivostok.

Having been bottled up by the Japanese fleet the Russians sent a squadron from the Baltic to the Orient and again Togo acted quickly and decisively and on May 27, 1905, the famed officer engaged and sank or captured the pride of the Czar's sea forces.

While Togo was a great naval hero and will always be worshipped by his Japanese followers, he was also a philosopher. They may erect a religious shrine in his name in Japan but his famous battle code will long be remembered and read. This code, applicable to his young naval officers, can also be applied to any other calling in life. He said:

"Don't be worried if the enemy's guns are of greater range than yours. If your adversary's sword is longer than yours, close with him.

"Once the fight is joined cease to worry about victory or defeat. Simply do your best. He who fears defeat is already beaten by his own nervousness.

"If you would command, do it from a post in the thick of the fight. I always fought with my flagship leading the battleline. Unless you are on the spot it is impossible to seize the opportunities of the moment, to respond quickly to the demands of the situation.

"To command is not to scold or to irritate. The real leader must inspire the whole fleet by his demeanor."

Between You and Me

By J. B. C.

Whether Robert Burns ever paid for the tombstone he erected in Canongate churchyard in memory of Fergusen, the poet, has been settled.

In Currie's "Life of Burns" it is stated that the monument cost Burns £30, and was erected by J. & R. Burn, marble cutters, Leith Walk.

The money, it is now shown, was paid through Peter Hill, an Edinburgh bookseller, to whom Burns wrote:

"I send you by the bearer, Mr. Clarke, a particular friend of mine, six pounds and a shilling which you will dispose of as follows: Five pounds ten shillings per account I owe Mr. R. Burn, architect, for erecting the stone over the grave of poor Fergusen.

"He was two years erecting it after I had commissioned him for it, and I have been two years in paying him after he sent me his account; so he and I are quits.

"He had the hardiesse to ask me interest on the sum; but considering that the money was due by one poet for putting a tombstone over another he may with grateful surprise thank Heaven that he ever saw a farthing of it."

Here and there—Jesse Sanders discussing the Ross-McLarnin bout—and recalling some of the big fights he had seen—and Jesse has seen a lot of boys, Fitzsimmons, Corbett and a lot of the old-time lighter weights—Jesse was sorry to see McLarnin lose—But believes Ross is the better battler—He says that although the Irish claim to have good battlers—There never has been a real great Irish fighter—The majority of Irishmen who got anywhere were bruisers—and not boxers—Ross is a Jew—and Jesse says that we have to go a long way to beat a good Jewish battler—Well Jesse must know—I don't—And down the street Gene Gillott and Robert Clerihew were wondering if a champion, once dethroned, had ever come back to win the title again—This seems to have been an argument all over the city—They put me on the spot—How was I to know about champions coming back—I'm only a newspaperman—But some champions have come back to take the title after losing it and the boys around Nelson must be pulling for Jimmy McLarnin to return and beat Ross—Many think Jimmy carried Ross to long — and being weak through getting down to agreed weight—did not have the staying power—However, about these fellows who lost and came back—Back in 1908 in the middleweight class Stan Ketchell who claimed the title was beaten by Papke for the title—That was in September and in November he met Papke again and regained the middle crown—In the welterweight ranks Rube Ferns won the title in 1900 on a foul from Mysterious Billy Smith in the 21st round—Ferns lost his title in 1900 to Matty Matthews in 15 rounds—They met again in 1901 for the title and Ferns regained it by a kayo—In this same class Ted Lewis beat Jack Britton in 1915 for the title—and Britton came back in 1919 to become champ again by kayoing Lewis in nine rounds—Then we get to the junior lightweight class—In 1922 Johnny Dundee beat George Chaney for the crown—He lost it in 1923 to Jack Bernstein by decision in 15 rounds—And in the same year Dundee came back to beat Bernstein and regain the title in a 15-round decision—Then in the featherweight division Brooklyn Tommy Sullivan won the title in 1904 on a foul from Abe Attell—and Abe four years later kayoed Sullican in four rounds to regain the crown—In the bantam class in 1917 Pete Herman beat Williams to lift the crown and lost it to Joe Lynch in 1920—and then Herman came back in 1921 to regain the title by decisioning Lynch—Herman lost it to Buff in 1921—and Joe Lynch staged a comeback to take the title again in 1922—And that's about all I know about these champs losing and coming back—There may have been others—But I haven't time—They want copy in the composing room.

"There are six mistakes of life that many of us make," said a famous English author recently. Then he gave the following list: "The delusion that individual advancement is made by crushing others down. The tendency to worry about things that cannot be changed or corrected. Insisting that a thing is impossible because we ourselves cannot accomplish it. Refusing to set aside trivial preferences, in order that important things may be accomplished. Neglecting development and refinement of the mind by not acquiring the habit of reading. Attempting to compel other persons to believe and live as we do."

WHAT DO YOU THINK?

Doukhobors, the Vote, Exemptions and Their Beliefs

To the Editor:

Sir:—On the 29th of May appeared an article, with explanations that the Doukhobors without exception are deprived of the right of voting, for the election of the government.

Personally I think that for the Doukhobors, this exclusiveness would not surprise, because they are; for 34 years in Canada were many times in exclusive position. Despite the fact that the first representative, in respect to transportation of the Doukhobors from Russia to Canada were: Mr. Mood and Prince Hilkoff and others, were promised lots of exemptions, for example, Doukhobors on the land could settle as they wish, and how its best suitable.

Naturalization is not requisite, not necessary to go to soldiers, would not be prosecuted, and free religion. Thus were the promises of the government to the benefit of the Doukhobors, but its pity the government of Canada had changed this promises. The documents of the past confirmed the conversation between Mr. Oliver, premier at that time, and P. B. Verigin, with the following fact: Mr. Oliver said: "All this arrant truth, that was promised for the Doukhobors," but its regretful he couldn't fulfil this. P. B. Verigin asked, "Why?" Mr. Oliver answered thus, "That he isn't against the Doukhobors but he doesn't like their idea, and the Doukhobors would be outside of law

After this, all the improved homesteads by the Doukhobors were confiscated and were granted or sold for others who were not concerned with these farms.

Of course the Doukhobors didn't lose their heads; took land in British Columbia for payment, with great toil and various restraint, however, they improved the wild land. Clearing it from timber and rocks had changed it into blooming fruit orchard and farms. Of course, I think every country should like this toilers. The government taxation, and all others, they payed and are paying fully, don't participate in politics. Main thing is this -- they believe into humanity teachings of Christ, and they deny all the assassination direct and indirect, because this is the law of the Almighty God. You have the life given from Beyond and therefore you cannot take it from the others. I think that the Doukhobors should be grateful to the government, that it had placed it into publicness, that it had made known they are outside the law. I wouldn't bother to know, how they had merited from the government—unsatisfaction.

Doukhobors were efforting to fulful the demandment of the government, which had not gone opposite to the teachings of the Christ. I would like to attract your sincere attention and ask you, "What had the Great War given us? Here is her consequences: people lost—killed, as much as there is in Canada alive. The most young and healthy people. How much were wounded and poisoned by various gases; suffering from nervous breaks? We meet this people universally everywhere. In addition to that, we had won the unpayable debts and taxation, and had created many hundreds of world millionaires, that was all that was won by the toilers of the world, by this past terrible war. How could you explain the world crisis? Its wonderful that for every war, money is found, and all other means. Its pity that we can't resolve the problem of war and crises in peaceful way. Isn't there a way out? I also don't think that for Canada to hold an army of unemployed and spend on it great sums of money for the unemployed have very slight benefit, for acceptance of certain minority. Its necessary to notice that the future of these unemployed is sorrowful. They would be left behind; morally and technically, especially the young folks. I desire very much to attract all of your wealthy authority, attention; the problems of present time. Concerning detestation, suppression, violence, restriction, false patriotism, detestation of foreign nation, etc., this attention cannot make people loyal, and patriotic for the good of the country. These facts were alleged long ago by great men of all the world. We very well comprehend that in Canada, people are collected from all countries, and also know that the people generally learn on their own errors. I think that the government is good, when it refers like father to its children, and it should prudently point out to our mistakes; just then would result, a healthy and great family of Canada.

Ainsworth Pleased With the Nelson Symphony Orchestra

Looks Forward to Completion of the Longbeach Link

To the Editor:

Sir:—In trying to minimize what I said in my last letter, Mr. Vernon Chapman has so far strayed from the facts of that letter, that I suggest he should in future read more carefully and keep to the point.

Mr. Chapman openly says that he does not profess to know anything; on this point I heartily agree with him.

He also states that my ranch is not on the new road and that it faces the old road. My slender knowledge of my own property is that we are very much on the new road, facing it as well as the lake; or we must be distinctly cross-eyed.

Mr. Chapman, himself, recorded in your paper from time to time the number of men who had left for other jobs. I maintain that when the strength of any camp is reduced to half of normal, it is more economical to join forces with some other camp and that the government knows best which camps to close. It has always been understood that this road was suitable for winter work.

We are looking forward to the completion of the new cut-off as much as anyone as it will benefit us in several ways.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS

ZENITH

We have eluded our pursuers now
Which one hour since pressed hotly on our trail;
Here only singing leaf and bending bough
Can see our kisses, heed our love's sweet tale.
Care's leaden feet can never climb so high,
Nor can the voice of sorrow pierce this wood.
Today earth spins for us, with you and I
Its rulers in this windy solitude.

And from the tree-clad crest of this steep hill
Which after arduous climbing we have gained,
The world falls back; here strong-winged Time stands still.
The zenith of our love is now attained;
Henceforth the dream will never shine so bright,
In love we reach once only to this height.

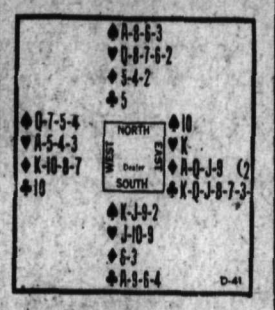
Auction and Contract Bridge

By the World's Leading Authority
MILTON C. WORK

DEPENDING ON PARTNER

Partnership confidence is essential. Each partner should depend implicitly upon the other and each partner should give the other all possible information. The importance of this was shown by the following hand which was played in a rubber game:

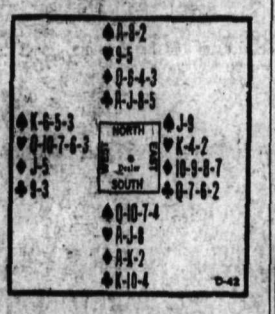


After three passes, East bid one Club, West answered with one No Trump, and East bid two Diamonds, West responded with two No Trumps, and East chanced the weak majors bidding three No rumps. With two singletons, the No Trump raise by East was inexcusable; the hand would produce an easy game if played at either Diamonds or Clubs.

In the play, North led the fourth best Heart, the Heart suit containing five cards and the Spade suit only four. Dummy's singleton King won and a small Club was led up to closed hand's Ten. When that card won, South holding up the Ace, West led a Diamond which East won and led the King of Clubs. South, realizing that if he held up his Ace of Clubs a second time, the suit would be continued, won with the Ace and returned his partner's suit, leading the Jack of Hearts. North's original lead having been the Six of Hearts, dummy having held the Jack-10-9, there could only be one card higher than the Six not in the North hand. West won with the Ace of Hearts, put East in with another Diamond and ran the entire Club suit, so the Declarer took twelve tricks.

The result, however, should have been very different. If the adversaries had been canny and had partnership confidence, South would not have taken the second round of Clubs. He would have held up the Ace until the third round so that North by a discard could show which suit he desired led. North on the third Club would have discarded the Deuce of Hearts, which would have been clear evidence that he did not wish that suit continued. Consequently, South, winning the third Club trick, would have led the King of Spades, dropping dummy's singleton Ten, and when the King won, the Jack of Spades to make possible the capture of the Queen if West held that card. This play would enable the adversaries to take four Spades and one Club and to defeat the contract.

TOMORROW'S HAND



How many tricks should South take playing a contract of three No Trumps?

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

LOCAL ANAESTHETIC FOR HERNIA OPERATIONS

As rupture or hernia is very common it may be that you or one of your family must undergo the operation for this condition.

The first though should be that you are not sick when you go into hospital; there is no hurry about the operation because there is no pus formation or anything that would endanger life if you delayed the operation for any length of time.

But the time has come when the truss you are wearing, despite careful manufacture and accurate fitting, simply will not hold the hernia in place and you cannot stand the annoyance and pain any longer.

However, for various reasons — heart or lungs—it is not thought advisable to use a general anaesthetic—putting you to sleep—and so a local anaesthetic is now sometimes used.

Dr. J. C. O. Bradbury, Victoria hospital, Folkstone, recounts his own experience undergoing an operation for hernia under a local anaesthetic.

His operation was fixed for 2 p.m. At 1 o'clock a hypodermic injection of a quieting drug was given which in 20 minutes gave him confidence with a feeling of drowsiness. The surgeon then started injecting the local anaesthetic with a tiny needle into the skin, then used a large needle to go into the deep muscles of the abdomen. The full time taken to give this local anaesthetic was less than ten minutes. One or two twinges was all the pain he felt.

He was able to lie quite still while the whole operation was performed.

He didn't watch the operation and was surprised when he was told the operation was about over and that the outer cut into the skin was about to be closed.

He had little or no pain in the wound except when he coughed.

It is certainly interesting to read of a doctor giving his impressions of undergoing an operation for hernia under a local anaesthetic.

The thought of course is not that everybody should have this operation performed under the local, because the general anaesthetic has many advantages in its favor.

However there are times when the local is the ideal method and there are patients who do not wish to undergo a general anaesthetic. It is for these latter patients that Dr. Bradbury says, "Possibly this account of my operation may persuade others who are now enduring an ill-fitting truss to undergo the radical cure for hernia."

HOW LEAGUES SPLIT "GATE"

By AL DEMAREE

Major league cabaret—the fans are always interested in how the "gate" is split up between the home and visiting teams. It is not split fifty-fifty, as so many imagine.

In the National league, the visitors get 22½ per cent of the gate receipts. They do it somewhat differently in the American league by letting loose of 30 per cent of the grandstand and pavilion receipts and 20 per cent of the bleacher receipts to the lowly visitors—The throwing arm of Angie Galan of the Chicago Cubs is shorter than his left because of having broken it when a boy. Al Simmons gives much of the credit for his baseball success to the prayers of his mother. During one world series game, Al's mother made 15 trips from the radio to her private room to pray—Jonathan Stone, new outfielder of the Senators, so it is rumored, loves a fast ball but doesn't like a curve outside—who does?

NEW WORLD TITLE

Andrew Sandham and Robert Gregory, enjoying themselves against the best Australian trundlers, set up a new world's record for a second wicket partnership—242 runs. This was 51 runs better than the old record set by F Hearne and M. Read for South England at Gravesend back in 1886.

When play ended for the day Sandham had reached 201 not out, Gregory having been dismissed for 116. Sandham's innings was magnificent, a fine mixture of caution and aggressiveness. He hit all around the wicket and garnered one six and 21 fours in his five and a half hours at bat.

Gregory proved a great partner during his much briefer time at bat—three hours. He handled all styles of bowling capably, hitting out 16 fours.

Colombo Favored to Win; Over Score Horses Are in LONDON, May 30 (CP Cable).—The old derby fever began to mount again tonight as more than a score of horses were left in the list of final acceptances for the blue riband of the turf, to be run next Wednesday.

Lord Glanely's unbeaten colt Colombo will probably start odds-on favorite at the shortest odds in a great many years but lots of support is forthcoming for some strong opponents, including foreign-bred threats.

Lord Woolavington will start Easton, French-bred colt who was second to Colombo in the classic two thousand guineas a month ago.

Admiral Drake is another French-bred contender arousing some favor among those looking for a horse to beat the redoubtable Colombo, hailed as the best English-bred in 40 years.

William Woodward's Bondsman will carry United States hopes, and the Irish-owned Rathmore is also attracting attention. Colombo will be sent to the post for the 154th running of the great race over the mile and a half course at Epsom downs in the pink of condition.

One of the most likely-looking of Colombo's English opponents is the Aga Khan's Umidwar. The Aga Khan has three entries but of the trio Umidwar is the chief threat.

Admiral Drake, second in the French two thousand guineas, will carry a lot of French money in the Epsom classic.

Owing to the dry hot weather the course is as hard as iron. It is likely to provide the hardest going in the history of the race when the horses step on the track a week hence.

BEDAUX WILL CHART NORTH ROCKY PASSES

To Tackle Wilderness in North of the Province

TO CROSS CHASMS BY WIRE CAMBLES

Proceed Above Timber Line; 30 People in Party

FORT ST. JOHN, B.C. (CP).—The grey ghosts of Samuel Hearne, Sir Alexander Mackenzie and others who penetrated the uncharted wilderness of the Canadian northwest, looked down from their Valhalla with awe today as preparations went forward for launching the most unorthodox exploration trip ever to attack this Dominion's virgin country.

With two advance parties from Edmonton already on the trail, the towering terraced ranges of the Canadian Rockies, with their swirling streams and bottomless chasms, were ready to accept the challenge of Charles Bedaux, intrepid French-born naturalized American explorer and adventurer.

TRACTORS FOR PEAKS

The Bedaux expedition, comprises 30 persons, many of them handpicked from Canadians most suited to conditions to be encountered. Three women are included in the party which, at a cost of between $150,000 and $200,000 will tackle the rigid Rockies' peaks and passes with five especially constructed caterpillar tractors, capable of climbing a 40 per cent grade and surmounting a three-foot perpendicular rise.

Bedaux will lead his main party out from Edmonton about July 1, driving to Fort St. John, 350 miles to the northwest. From here an attempt will be made to get through the mountains to Telegraph Creek, B.C., via the Sifton pass and Prophet river, a distance of 1100 air miles.

The man who won his spurs as an adventurer and explorer by crossing Africa by automobile, has named the Canadian expedition "The White Cruise." This is to distinguish it from similar ventures conducted in Africa and Asia known as the "Black Cruise" and the "Yellow Cruise."

Natural features of the northern regions through which the expedition will pass are to be thoroughly examined. Records will be compiled and made available to the federal and British Columbia governments.

PONTOON RAFTS

Skirting the timber-line, Bedaux will keep his party in the high altitude to avoid thick undergrowth of the lower plateaus. In the bridgeless region the expedition will cross gorges and canyons by means of a cable system coupled with a light and powerful hoist. This is the brain child of Bedaux himself. When lakes or streams must be forded, log rafts, buoyed up by pontoons, will be used as ferries.

In the quaking muskegs of the north, the expedition leader has little to fear. The tractors exert a pressure of only three pounds per square inch whereas a pack-horse exerts a pressure of 20 pounds.

B. Bocock, St. Albert geologist, second in command, is in charge of arrangements at Edmonton. He has dispatched two trail blazer parties and will shortly send out an aerial reconnaissance flight over the proposed route.

Thomas Wilde, former Canadian champion broncho-buster, at present is widening the pack trail from Fort St. John to Prophet river so it will be navigable for tractors. Five trail cutters, all residents of Fort St. John, are with him. The party left their base on April 17.

Under E. C. W. Lamarque, a second party left Edmonton April 30. Two Edmontonians are included, E. T. Cushing and A. D. Paul. This group has passed the Wilde party and is now engaged in selecting the most feasible route through the main range of the Rockies and doing what they can to open the way.

BIG PACK TRAIN

A pack-train of 45 horses in charge of five men is scheduled to take gasoline and food supplies out of Fort St. John for Sifton Pass, and four tons of supplies will shortly be freighted to White Water, on the Finlay river, from Prince George. They are destined for a point in Sifton pass.

The main party will leave Fort St. John about July 15, travelling 175 miles to Prophet river and on to Sifton pass, 150 miles northwest where the expedition will be united about August 15. The schedule calls for completion of the trip by October 15.

On the 150-mile stretch from Sifton pass to Dease lake the unmapped leg of the journey starts. There, the towering heights of the Stikine mountains rear their peaks 8000 feet above sea level and gorges and streams must be crossed. From Dease lake to Telegraph Creek, by comparison, conditions are quite fair. Fair pack trails exist over the 60-odd miles.

The three women in the party are Mme. Bedaux, Mme. Alberta Chiesa, wife of the famous Cannes and Paris sportsman, and their personal maid.

C. Bralourdet, technical caterpillar tractor expert, will service the expedition's five machines. Frank Swannell, of Victoria, is a member of the main party, and Bruce C. McCallum, Vancouver, will be the radio operator. Almost without exception, other members of the party have been selected from Alberta and British Columbia.

Over 50 manuscripts on paper, wood, and parchment, written in the little-known Sogdian language, were recently found in a ruined castle in Russia.

HOTSPURS HOLD THISTLES TO TIE

TRAIL, May 30 — Hotspurs and Thistles fought to a 2-2 draw in a City Soccer league game that started as a walkaway for the Thistles, unbeaten since the league opened this season.

At the beginning of the game, however, Tommy Routledge, Hotspur goalie, was not on the field and Wish Milburn, full back, stood between the pipes. During the latter's short time there, Cruickshank scored on him. Milburn saved a hot shot, but the goal came from the rebound. The other Thistle counter came in the first half when Routledge was drawn out.

The Spurs nicked their points on penalty shots in the second half. Baillie easily cleared Wish Milburn's shot, but Morris copped the goal on the rebound. The second one was a sizzler which Milburn kicked directly over the goalie's head, the shot proving too hot to handle.

Corlett appeared for the first time this season and displayed good football.

Lineups:

Hotspurs—Routledge; Milburn and West; Jarrett, Laurie and Page; Cook, Morris, Zuk, Groom and Corlett.

Thistles—A. Baillie; Smith, and Stewart; Crichton, Barr and McVie; Jest, Ferguson, T. Laurie, Cruickshank and C. Swanson.

Dave Minton refereed.

HORSES MIXED UP NAMES CHANGED

British Racing Calendar Makes Belated Correction on 1933 Events

LONDON, (CP).—Horses racing in the wrong names is not a new thing in the United Kingdom, yet the disclosure by the Racing Calendar that two race horses have been running under wrong names has aroused considerable interest.

The horse which ran as Blytheway at the Pontefract spring meeting, Ripon spring meeting, Haydock Park May meeting and Thirsk Autumn meeting, 1933, was Old Jack, a bay gelding by Polyphontes out of Spendthrift.

The horses which ran as Old Jack at the Doncaster Summer meeting, York autumn meeting and Stockton autumn meeting, 1933, and Lincoln spring meeting last March, was Blytheway, a bay gelding by Sicyon, out of Vermena. As yearlings the two horses and another were sent to W. Pollock, the Malton trainer, and owing to confusion Old Jack and Blytheway got mixed up. They are both bay geldings and both belong to H. J. Brueton.

As neither horse was even placed in a race no stake money was involved.

In 1927 the stewards of the Jockey Club had a case before them in which Ayot had been running as Faiza, and vice versa. Ayot had been sold and had won a race for her new owner under the name of Faiza.

When the mistake was discovered, the owners of both fillies refunded the stakes and the stewards, although satisfied that there had been only a misunderstanding, ordered both horses disqualified for the races won under wrong names.

Emperor Attacked With Typhus Germ

Illness May Be Due to the Activities of His Political Foes

SHANGHAI, May 30 (AP).—Widespread discussion of the possibility that political enemies had attacked Emperor Kang Teh of Manchukuo with typhoid germs was heard in Shanghai today as Chinese reports that the ruler is seriously ill remained unconfirmed.

The Japanese legation discounted the reports, stating that its advices are that the emperor, formerly Pu-Yi, is in good health. Direct, authentic information from the Japanese-sponsored empire was not available.

The Chinese dispatches related that after being stricken with typhoid, the emperor rejected western-trained physicians and called in a Chinese herb doctor, despite Japanese objections.

It was recalled here that the Japanese have guarded the emperor carefully in his capital, Hsinking, and comment was to effect that assassins might have attempted to take his life through the medium of germs.

FUTURES TAKE SLIDE IN PIT

Hot Weather, Showers in Alberta Felt at Winnipeg

WINNIPEG, May 30 (CP)—Showers in Alberta and threat of more to come in all three prairie provinces took the steam out of the wheat market here today. Longs were quick to realize profits in anticipation of a break in the drought and pushed Winnipeg grain exchange futures figures down ½ to 2¾ cents.

There was a slight recovery from bottom levels, but support was never strong enough to effectively halt the decline, which stopped only when selling had run its course. May wheat closed at 76, July at 77 to 77¼ and October at 79 to 79¼ cents. Export business was light.

Meantime weather in western Canada continued extremely hot, the mercury hovering around the 100 above mark at several points. Unsettled conditions were expected to spread eastward from Alberta, however.

Liverpool not only reflected North American strength but confirmed purchases for Russian account, and closed ½ to ¾d higher. Argentine wheat prices gained over night and Chicago was closed for Memorial day holiday.

Cash grains were dull, while coarse grains encountered profit-taking and dropped sharply.

Study Effects of Oil on B.C. Coal

Economic Council May Suggest Raising of Fuel Oil Tax

VICTORIA, May 30 (CP). — The British Columbia Economic council moved today to make a complete study of the competition between coal and oil for fuel purposes, the resultant effects on the coal industry within the province and the possibility of an increase in the tax on fuel oil.

Reports on the coal situation in the Nanaimo and Fernie districts have been heard by the council and have indicated a steady decline in demand for coal and a consequent decrease in employment at the mines. Later, the council expects to hear representations from coal producers and fuel oil consumers on the question of production and consumption costs, efficiency and suitability of the respective fuels.

Delegations from coal mining districts have urged the oil tax should be raised from ½ cent per gallon to at least two cents per gallon. Coal producers claim such a tax would raise the price of oil so coal would be able to compete with it as a fuel.

Timber Licence Extension Runs Out on June 30

VICTORIA, May 30 (CP)—Timber licence holders in British Columbia who were granted an extension of three months for payment of their fees this year must observe June 30 as the final date for payment, it was announced by Premier Pattullo today after a conference with Hon. A. Wells Gray, minister of lands, and Hon. John Hart, minister of finance.

The extension from March 31 was granted in the first place by the legislature and there appeared to be an impression that it might be carried over further after June 30 the premier pointed out. This was not correct as the government would not extend the period past this date.

MONTREAL, May 30 (CP)—Securities on the Montreal stock exchange gave an encouraging performance during today's session.

MAKE ADVANCE IN MEAT, EGGS

Expect Berries From Wynndel on Monday

Bacon, eggs and fresh meats advanced slightly on the wholesale market during the past week. Bacon has been marked up a cent, lamb 2 cents a pound and eggs 2 cents a dozen. The volume of meat sales continues to grow with a general pick-up of all wholesale lines.

For the past week Vancouver has been supplying the local market with strawberries and next Monday the first of the Wynndel crop will be handled. From now on the berries will be plentiful. Prices have been dropping steadily and with an early season will be somewhat below last year.

Water melons and cantaloupes have been on the market for two weeks. Orange and lemon prices are firmer. Head lettuce, cauliflower, tomatoes and cucumbers are all being supplied from the coast. Bunch carrots, beets and celery, however, are still coming from California. New potatoes are on sale here from the coast and prices are much more reasonable for this time of the season than last year.

Rolled oats, barley and flour all showed an advance. Wholesale grocers received two cars of sugar and one of groceries during the week.

Extend Workings at the Queen Mine

Diamond Drill Cores Show Nice Gold Values

Development wor at Sheep Creek Gold Mines Ltd., at Sheep Creek, during the period May 1 to May 16, was concentrated on the east workings of the Queen mine on No. 7 level, according to Henry E. Doelle, engineer in charge.

This level was extended 30 feet east. The two-compartment raise, which is being driven from No. 7 level to No 6 level, is now up over 20 feet, with ore averaging .41 ounces gold per ton. One compartment of this two compartment shaft is to be used as a manway and the other as an orepass for future development and mining on No. 6 level.

During the first two weeks of May the bunk house and boarding house were reconditioned and an assay shop erected and put into operation.

The core from the diamond drill hole, put down below the No. 7 level east workings, on being re-classified, showed that a two foot section 15 feet below No. 7 level carried 24 ounces gold. This is stated by Mr. Doelle to be about a 16 inch vein width.

Preparatory work on the Alexandria property adjoining the Queen mine consisted of laying track and timbering the No. 3 adit previous to drifting.

ARGUE AGAINST USE OF RECORDS

Radio Commission Is Asked Recognize Firms' Work

OTTAWA, May 30 (CP).—A brief presented before the house radio committee today urged recognition and appreciation of the service rendered in the development of national broadcasting by the two great wire communication companies of Canada, the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific.

It was a joint presentation by the two companies, reviewing the development of chain broadcasting since the inception of radio, and emphasizing the heavy investment, large payroll and value to the community at large of the vast network of wires that provided facilities to bring the voice of radio into every hamlet of the Dominion.

C. L. Howard, Montreal, represented the companies before the committee.

RECORDINGS MAY INJURE CAUSE

Recent evidence before the committee on behalf of companies manufacturing program records for broadcasting purposes mainly prompted the brief, it was explained. Apprehensions were expressed that use of recordings might, if carried to extremes, not only prejudice the interests of the communications companies, but also prove detrimental to the general success of broadcasting.

Coast-to-coast broadcasting, initiated in Canada in 1927, could never have developed to the high state of efficiency it has reached, the brief stated, without the cooperation of the wire companies. These companies had been content to make their facilities available at a low revenue and at times free of charge, in the belief that a more adequate return would be possible when the industry became completely organized.

LARGE INVESTMENT

In the meantime, realizing the necessity of keeping well ahead of the progress of radio development, the companies were maintaining a network of facilities comparable to any in the world, representing an investment of more than $3,000,000, employing a full time staff of 70 highly trained men and an annual payroll of $120,000.

Development of radio recordings came after the wire companies had played their part in broadcasting and, the brief maintained, was not initiated as a superior substitute for the use of wires but as an offer to the commercial advertisers of an inferior but more economical product.

A technical description of the difference of tone values of radio as between recordings and direct wire transmission was given, with the conclusion that the latter was more true to the original.

Another argument against recordings was that such reproductions generally reflected the activities of a small group of artists and did not offer the same opportunity for artistic developments in all parts of the country as would be the case with the increasing use of wire facilities.

A FIGHT FOR EVERY SEAT IS ONT. PROSPECT

TORONTO, (CP)—Nomination day in the Ontario general election will see no quarter given by either of the major political parties. It is conceded there will be no acclamations in the 90 ridings redistributed from the 112 comprising the last legislature. Official nominations will be held June 12.

Premier George S. Henry, Conservative government leader, and Mitchell F. Hepburn, the Liberal chieftain, have promised to place candidates in every constituency. If there is any doubt about it anywhere the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation or one of the minor groups will make sure of the battle of ballots. Graham Spry, C.C.F. provincial vice-president, has announced his party will nominate between 30 and 40 candidates.

United Fronters, Communists and sundry Independents have taken the hustings in various constituencies and made known they choose to run. It is expected more than 225 candidates will be nominated for the 90 seats. Three cornered—even four cornered—contests are already assured in some ridings.

Premier Henry's election manifesto pledged the government to maintain the "prestige, stability and services" of the province and continue a retrenchment policy. It also promised to implement "a six-point program of aid to the people" namely:

Provision for the bonusing of old settlers—as well as new—on crown lands.

HIGHWAY CLAUSE

Assumption by the province of 90 per cent of the cost of main provincial highways, an increase of 10 per cent, the balance being paid by the counties along the road.

Reducation from 5½ to 5 per cent in the government interest rates on agricultural loans.

Widening scope of mothers' allowance act to embrace more cases.

Zoning system for the hydro-electric power commission to readjust spread in cost between rural and urban consumers.

Advancement of policy of unemployment insurance with immediate conferences with Dominion and Quebec authorities.

The premier has also brought out the government's record. With the exception of the post-war period from 1919 to 1923, when the Farmer-Labor coalition was in the driver's seat, the Conservatives have been in power in Queen's Park since 1905. Henry points to the development of the province in the 26 years of Conservative rule, particularly to public ownership of light and power under the hydro-electric commission and government control of liquor by the provincial board. These and other achievements, he submits, entitle the government to a renewal of public confidence.

OPPOSITION PRESENTS CASE

Mr. Hepburn, Liberal leader, declared the very fact provincial election dates in Saskatchewan and Ontario were set for the same day—June 19—was an indication the premier of Ontario saw his government headed for defeat. "The main issues of the campaign," he added, "are the every-increasing debt, increased taxation, dissipation of the natural resources of the province and mismanagement of hydro." The Liberals, he said, have "no inferiority complex" and were entering the campaign with the belief victory would be theirs because "the present government has outlived its usefulness."

Described as "tollgate charges," allegations were made by Mr. Hepburn of "a racket that has been going on for years" involving liquor purchases through agents, by the Ontario liquor control board. The Liberals also condemned the government's "lack of provision for reduction of the highways debt, now amounting to $186,369,000."

NOTHING TO CHANCE

Candidates of the C.C.F. deprecated the government's social legislation and criticized the silence of the Liberal opposition in regard to such measures. No mention had been made of unemployment insurance or reducing the minimum age for old age pensions, in the last legislature. The C.C.F. promised a constructive and orderly economic planning, rather than leaving "everything to chance or the caprices of the financiers."

Much discussed previous to the dissolution of the last legislature, the beer and wine question faded as a major election issue, after the campaign closed. The legislature had adopted the government's amendment for the sale of beer and wine by the glass in approved hotels and restaurants. Mr. Hepburn pledged his party to the proclamation of the amendment, if elected to power.

Several candidates of various parties and groups in the course of the campaign expressed their personal opposition to the beer and wine measure. In some cases Independent candidates will be nominated on the platform of no further extension of liquor sale without a plebiscite and the majority approval of the electorate.

MAYS AWARDED THE DAYBREAK

Seven Mineral Claims and Kaslo Lots in the Award

VANCOUVER, May 30 (CP) — Judgment by Justice D. A. McDonald was handed down in supreme court today in favor of Mrs. Minnie Mead May, Vancouver, and her husband, D. K. May, Thompson Falls, Mont., after a seven day hearing, in her suit on behalf of shareholders of the Gibson Mining Co., Ltd.

Mr. Justice McDonald, in handing down his decision awarded seven mineral claims, including the Gibson mine, and two lots at Kaslo, B. C., to Mrs. May and her husband.

The case culminates 15 years of litigation in the courts of British Columbia, Washington, and Oregon. On April 2, 1932, Mr. Justice Denis Murphy handed down a judgment dismissing the case but this judgment was set aside by Mr. Justice McDonald on the grounds that it had been procured under perjured evidence.

On that occasion Mr. Justice Murphy decided that the claim of Mrs. May failed on the ground that innocent shareholders had taken over the mine and invested $200,000 in it while the Mays stood by for more than four years after they knew that Joseph C. Roberts, retired broker of Portland, Ore., had transferred the property to another company.

gates who are incontestably well informed, predict it is now only a question of time before Germany openly announces her refusal to be bound any longer by the disarmament clauses of the Treaty of Versailles.

GERMANY REARMING

The French contend that Germany has been actually rearming anyway, in defiance of the treaty. Barthou, who said Sir John Simon's speech reminded him of his own long-ago "ardent youth," and thereby aroused some laughter, declared Germany had publicly increased her military budget some weeks ago even while Britain and France were seriously discussing the question of guarantees, which might have solved the disarmament plan problem.

A BRITISH BREAK?

The outline of the French viewpoint was so uncompromising, coming on the heels of Sir John Simon's speech, that some journalists hastened to report it would strain relations between Britain and France.

While it was admittedly received with deep regret in British circles here, the Canadian Press was authoritatively informed that suggestions it would lead to a breach of the present good relations between Britain and France could be dismissed.

"There is no ground whatever for any such assumption," the authority said.

Barthou's speech was plainly interpreted as meaning France now does not want any disarmament agreement. Under no circumstances will the French government ever make an agreement, whatever else it contains —security provisions or otherwise—that would permit immediate rearmament of Germany in any degree.

SIR JOHN WILL NOT REPL.

Sir John, speaking privately after the session, admitted the day's "developments" increased the difficulties of reaching any agreement. He indicated he would not reply to Barthou in the conference, but pointed out several inaccuracies in the French minister's speech.

Barthou said for instance that there was complete agreement among the powers on a disarmament plan to be submitted Germany at the time Germany broke from the conference on October 14. The United States and Italy did not consider it as an agreement, said Sir John.

The Frenchman seemed particularly aroused by Sir John's stand for conciliation with Germany as a necessary foundation for an arms pact—on the basis of the British plan—and Sir John's frank declarations that if the conference cannot see its way to achieving anything it had better shut up shop.

Referring to the British suggestion that a bridge should be found on the basis of the British plan between France and Germany, the Frenchman declared:

HIDDEN TRAPS

"We are perfectly willing to cross the British bridge. But first we want to make sure that the planks are sound. We will take care not to fall through hidden traps into the stream beneath."

Sir John earlier stressed, "The time is long past when we can delude ourselves into imagining that by a pius expression of our desire to reach an agreement we are promoting an agreement."

The British spokesman incidentally flatly turned down the Russian proposal for turning the conference into a permanent peace conference, and likewise rejected the Russian proposal for new security pacts.

The worth of security pacts depends entirely on the willingness of the signatories to take positive action if the need arises, Sir John said.

WHY NOT PROTOCOLS?

Sir John said something could be done right now in the shape of fixing up protocols for immediate signature of those problems on which agreement has been secured. He listed abolition of chemical warfare, publication of budgetary expenditures, and establishment of a permanent disarmament commission.

Barthou, who claimed Germany was openly confessing violation of the Versailles treaty by publishing a military budget plainly indicating rearmament, refused to adopt an attitude of complancency and keep silent "in face of this grave sequence" of Germany's bolt from the conference and the league. That withdrawal clearly meant that Germany was not bound by regulations binding other nations, he said.

WHO MENACES GERMANY?

Barthou demanded, "Who is menacing Germany? Not France," he insisted that every speaker, including Chairman Arthur Henderson whose untiring efforts had been lauded by Sir John, realized that political security was necessary for any disarmament.

He praised Germany as a country which had produced geniuses like Kant, Goethe, Beethoven and Wagner, but protested against what he called the Prussian spirit. Describing it, Mirabeau had said, "War is the national industry," he added.

Significantly, Mr. Henderson announced that several delegations had requested more time to consider the present position, and therefore postponed the next meeting from Thursday to Friday afternoon.

SIMON'S THOUGHTS CONDENSED

Sir John Simon in his speech said in part:

The British draft of January 29 will afford the best chance of an arms agreement. It contemplated an army of 200,000 for Germany, later memorandum compromised and placed figure at 300,000. Some pact of security should be developed.

Britain is willing to continue efforts for a pact. Time for talking is over. Action needed for a general agreement. International agreement on arms greatest contribution for peace. Britain realized gravity of not reaching result. Britain will not lend itself to an indefinite continuance of vague and inconclusive discussion.

BARTHOU'S PLEA FOR PLAN

Louis Barthou, French foreign minister, said in part:

Existence of council and league of nations at stake. Only hope to avoid a race in aviation is by immediate international accord. France adheres to protests against war against civilians should air race ensue. Conference must take precautions also against race on land and sea. He advocated agreement on control of manufacture and trade in arms.

Germany gained her complete liberty in leaving the league of nations and had provided a large military budget. Must we give in because there is no possible means of agreeing with Germany? Who contemplates attacking Germany? Not France. France does not threaten anyone. We tell you there must be reduction of armaments—parallel and progressive reduction. But reduction must be accompanied by necessary guarantees, guarantees of security.

LIQUOR CASE

and I convict this man, I would feel I had been a party to the conspiracy," the magistrate concluded.

Wong is charged with having in his possession on April 6 last a quart of unlawfully manufactured liquor which he stated he bought from two alleged R.C.M.P. operatives, Eddie Kemp and Herbert Handley.

Kemp and Handley were convicted prior to Wong's trial, on charges of keeping liquor for sale at Steveston on various dates between February and April. They were each fined $500.

HAD TRIED SELL BOOZE

During their trial they were identified as men who had attempted to sell liquor to Japanese and Chinese store and restaurant proprietors.

Wong testified that after repeated visits to his restaurant by Kemp and Handley he bought a gallon of alleged rum for $10 on March 26. On April 6 he stated he purchased a bottle of whiskey from Kemp and Handley.

The next day officers of the R.C.M.P. entered his restaurant, Wong said, and seized the whisky.

TURNED OVER TO POLICE

Later, Wong declared, he took slips of paper he had received from Kemp and Handley and the bottles which had contained the rum and whisky and turned them over to Constable Harry Timms of Richmond police and Major H. Johnson, inspector of the British Columbia liquor control board.

Constable Timms told the court that when he arrested Handley in Vancouver on May 7 last, the latter said: "You are wasting your time. I know you have already arrested Kemp and I have been in touch with the department. We are working for the R.C.M.P."

Magistrate Darling today adjourned the case against Wong for eight days to give the department time to decide if the charge would be proceeded with.

Frank Raine, prosecution counsel, contended that the case against Kemp and Handley and that against Wong were distinct and different charges.

He held that the bottle procured by the prosecution in the Kemp-Handley trial had not been identified with the bottle in Wong's case. He saw no reason why the charge against Wong should not be proceeded with, as it was under a different act.

"It is a different act," J. R. Nicholson, defence counsel, said, "but the same liquor—liquor sold to the accused by an informer and within 24 hours seized by the R.C.M.P. to enable the informers to get a share of the moiety."

Raines intimated that the conviction of Kemp and Handley may be appealed.

Brighouse is about five miles south of the southern boundary of Vancouver.

Army Commander Pays Nelson Official Visit

Brigadier Albert E. Dalziel, divisional commander of the Salvation Army for British Columbia, who is in the city following a tour of the province, states that conditions seem brighter at practically every point he has visited.

A true indication that conditions are improving, he stated, is that the self denial appeals have been $1000 better in the past four months than during the same period last year. There has also been a fine forward movement in the Sunday schools, some 500 new pupils having been added to the rolls during the first three months of the year. Another 350 Scouts and Guides have also been signed up in the program to increase membership.

Brigadier Dalziel has covered the province from Prince Rupert to Corbin and Fernie and Wednesday night held a gospel meeting at the local barracks. Today he visits in Trail and tomorrow in Rossland.

believed they will gain strength sooner with natural feeding and if it can be arranged the new diet will start within a day or so.

Dr. Bundesen, head of the Chicago city medical department, advised Dr. Dafoe by phone today he was forwarding a quantity of human milk as nourishment for the five babies. The milk, with other supplies for the quintuplets, will be carried by air mail to Toronto and from there forwarded to Callander, near Corbell, by train.

GET THEIR NAMES

The tiny girls were named Cecile, Yvonne, Marie, Emily and Annette today and tagged so they can be told apart. They had already been baptized by the parish priest and the ceremony will be repeated in public if they survive.

The babies continued to accept their milk, corn syrup and water through an eye-dropper today and it was a full-time job for one of their attendants. It takes so long to feed them by that method that when the last is finished the first is hungry again.

Mrs. Dionne was well enough today to receive newspaper men in the bedroom of their simple farm home and show them the first present she received after the children's birth, a pink blanket from Dr. J. R. Hurtubrise, of Sudbury.

Soon she will be able to add the $45 Premier George Henry has sent the children and the $10 donation by Mitchell F. Hepburn, Ontario Liberal leader.

No one knows now which of the babies was the first born or the order in which the others arrived. They were not tagged after birth and when someone thought of doing it they were all in the same basket and no one could tell them apart.

LADIES TO BE ENTERTAINED

Tea at Institute Room Joint Guests Dinner and Theater

First delegates were arriving in Nelson Wednesday night for the annual meeting of the West Kootenay Central Farmers' institute, whose sessions will be held in the city council chamber today. O. B. Appleton of Sunshine Bay, chairman of the provincial advisory board, President O. B. Ballard, from Robson, and G. L. Landon, district agriculturist for the Boundary, who drove over with his wife, were the first in town, but others came in during the evening. F. [illegible] Laing, secretary of the minister of agriculture, Hon. K. C. McDonald, will represent the government, and has been here since Tuesday night.

A special feature of the convention will be the presence in town of the delegates' ladies, and particularly of the Robson ladies, who have been extending hospitality to the annual central institute for the best five conventions. A reception committee from the Women's institute will meet the visiting ladies, who will probably make the institute rooms on Victoria street their headquarters, and a tea will be served there for them at 3 o'clock.

At 6:30 o'clock both the delegates and the visiting ladies will be guests of the board of trade at a luncheon at the Hume, and later at the Capitol theater.

The convention is being held here at the invitation of the board of trade.

the International Longshoremen's headquarters, where leaders exhorted a score of idle strikers to join them. Immediately 12 mounted policemen dashed through the crowd and seized a shouting leader. He fought back and an officer struck him with a club.

Infuriated, the manifestants pried cobblestones from the street and hurled them at the officers, who then resorted to tear gas bombs.

POLICE IN PURSUIT

The demonstrators broke and ran, with mounted officers in hot pursuit. From doorway shops and other quickly chosen hiding places the fleeing men and women were pulled by bluecoats and scattered.

Nearly every window in the international longhoremen's headquarters building was shattered in the violence.

Frank Fisher, 42, who carried a longshoremen's card, was the most seriously injured. Emergency hospital physicians said his skull was apparently fractured and that his condition was critically. Leonard Pressel, a youth from Oregon City, Ore., who said he was only a bystander, also received a severe head injury.

STRIKERS PROTEST

The longshoremen's strike committee issued a statement declaring a protest had been sent to Lieut.-Governor Frank F. Merriam of California against what it termed "police brutality."

Across the bay in Oakland, Herbert Smith, 24, and James Haynes, were attacked by five men whom they described as strikers. Smith's jaw was broken and Haynes received a scalp injury.

While the violence was raging, indications grew that the local unions would reject the proposal recently offered by employers for settlement of the strike.

GENERAL STRIKE LOOMS

Rumors continued that a general strike would be called on the Pacific coast, but Edward Vandeleur, president of the San Francisco labor council, discounted them.

Preliminary organization of a Pacific coast waterfront federation was started in Seattle. The federation, it was said, would act as a clearing house and centralize future working policies of longshoremen, sailors, firemen and other allied marine workers. At Seattle members of the longshoremen's press committee said a complete blockade had been declared against all waterborne freight movements, applicable for the first time to Puget sound shipping as well as ocean going commerce.

Sailing from San Pedro of the Grace liner Santa Lucia was cancelled after engineers refused to take the vessel to sea because nonunion substitutes for strikers were included in the crew.

Trail From Day To Day

BY A. R. J.

In Sunday's baseball game in Rossland, between the Golden City and Trail, rejuvenated that inter-city rivalry that died down some years ago. The same old spirit of days gone by came to life again last winter when Rossland entered a team in the West Kootenay league, here is an old saying about Rossland that when any sport's team invades the city to play its team, it has the whole town to fight.

And sure enough, 'tis true. But not only that, some of its citizens go to a lot of trouble just to get the goats of certain players. But last Sunday one young budding youth, evidently had one to give away. For there, close to the diamond, he had on the end of a 30-foot rope, a young goat.

Broad minded people take it that this young fellow was told to pasture the goat, but as he probably wanted to see the ball game, took it along, for the park provides plenty of grass and green herbs that the goat apparently greatly enjoyed. For who can imagine any boy delighting in holding a rope tied to a goat, and just watching the animal eat?

Or was it the Golden City ball team's mascot?

A little chatter at a baseball game aids considerably to the spirit of friendly combat, but some youngsters bellow out personal remarks to individual players that they wouldn't dare say to them elsewhere. And what it disturbs them. But that is the razz—that's their lookout. But during a game these home town supporters should remember that all ball players are probably not built as they. Some players take these things to heart and befalls them after the game—well, zer's purpose, which they surely attained last Sunday.

But if investigation were made, these youths who bellow, blurt and boo at visiting teams, probably are the sort that when father tells them to bring in some wood or mow the lawn, tell him to 'go to grass' and enter the ball park, dropping a couple of coppers into the hat; or a few buttons, for—what they think—fun.

Ar Sam Is Fined on Common Danger

Ar Sam, Chinese truck gardener of the north shore, pleaded guilty in police court Tuesday morning to a charge of driving to the common danger.

In view of special circumstances pointed out to the court by C. H. Hamilton, counsel for Ar Sam, Magistrate William Brown imposed a fine of $17.50, somewhat under the usual figure.

The Chinese was hurrying to catch the ferry at the noon hour, with his truck, and nearly had an accident on Nelson avenue, just past the High street fill.

SHOULD PAY DIVIDENDS

During the past year Cariboo Gold Quarts had aimed at development and the property had been operated without any idea of making an immediate profit, President Burnett declared. Now, however, the mine had been proved and the objective would be to make money, and in view of the amount of money in the treasury he felt that as soon as the mill began to make profits those profits should be handed on to the shareholders.

"I, personally, will be disappointed," he added, "if at the end of the present year, we are not able to pay a substantial dividend."

Dr. Burnett, in answer to a shareholder, stated that no offer had ever been made by the Newmont corporation to take over management of the property, as had been rumored.

J. N. Winn, engineer for McCready and Bunns, London, Eng., had been on the property for a week, Dr. Burnett stated, and had asked for another five weeks to make a complete examination. Winn will take samples of ore to London to be assayed by his firm, which assays the gold bricks for the Bank of England.

Winn had been appointed to make the examination by the Cariboo Gold Quarts directors, Dr. Burnett explained, so that they might go on record as having had the best engineer available to examine the property.

The president declared that the geological formation of the property made it difficult to block out large bodies of ore, instancing a mine in Grass valley, California, which has not a large tonnage of ore blocked out but produces more than $1,000,000 in gold per year and has done so for a number of years.

At present, Dr. Burnett concluded, it was estimated there was between 50,000 to 150,000 tons of ore available at Cariboo Quarts.

ILLEGAL HONK BRINGS A FINE

Police Prosecute for First Time Under Bylaw Clause

First prosecution in Nelson history for illegal sounding of an automobile horn, so far as the records show, was brought by the city police Tuesday, against Wilfred Latta, who pleaded guilty, and was fined $2.50 by Magistrate William Brown.

Until this case, the police have only cautioned offenders, pointing out that the city bylaws forbade this nuisance.

In the present instance, Latta with his car, stopped in front of P. J. Sheran's rooming house in the 700 block on Baker street, between 12 and 1 o'clock Saturday morning, honked vigorously to call out a friend. Constable H E. G. Penny heard the honking from Ward street, and proceeded toward the noise until he got to the car, th honking being kept up meanwhile, with a staccato rhythm on the rat-a-tat-tat order.

As the case was a thoroughly representative one of night honking, Chief of Police Alex. Stewart had the offender summonsed.

THE SECTION

The prosecution was under section 44 of bylaw 482, which reads as follows:

"It shall be unlawful for any person driving or in charge of any vehicle or carriage as the driver to blow or sound any horn or instrument attached to such vehicle or permit such horn or instrument to be blown or sounded except when such vehicle is in motion or about to be put in motion, nor shall such person or any person blow such horn or sound any such instrument or permit such horn or instrument to be blown or sounded except for the purpose of warning persons of the approach of such vehicle or of warning other persons who may be approaching him or such vehicle."

"Tools" Machinery for Making Still?

Such Is Contention of Coast Authorities in Case of Smuggling

NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C., May 30 (CP)—Three men pleaded not guilty in district court today to charges of unlawfully importing into Canada on May 9 a large quantity of tools described by police as "a portable machine shop for the possible manufacture of illicit stills."

Police reported that the materials, of United States make and valued at $1000, were consigned to Calgary. They were seized by Royal Canadian mounted police near the international boundary and George Schmidt, 50, Joseph Fox, 22, and Lawrence Fox, 18, were arrested on the smuggling charges.

The tools and a quantity of sheet copper were contained in four wooden chests on a truck which police allege was owned by Schmidt and which was seized just north of the boundary on May 9.

Police claim another truck, owned by N. W. Cardin of Vancouver, was scheduled to meet Schmidt's truck that night. They allege the cargo was to be transferred to Cardin's truck and transported to Vancouver.

The report continued, "Cardin was not involved in the smuggling plot as he was ignorant of the contents of the wooden chest." Cardin was guided to the meeting place by a third car, alleged to have been driven by Joseph Fox.

The report stated the equipment was first brought across the border by a "Jack Robinson" over a rough trail and on a sled drawn by a mule.

The Fox brothers stated they had the equipment in their possession but declared they did not know it had been manufactured in the United States. They said they had received instructions from a man named Isaacson who lived in Blaine, Wash.

The trial is proceeding.
