Sylt Bombed, Nazi Raiders Attacked; Scapa Flow Raided

Ships and Batteries Drive Off Scapa Flow Raiders and No Ship Hit Says Ministry; Convoy Raiders Also Driven Off

BRITISH WIN BATTLES IN FRANCE

By PAT USSHER — Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 2 (CP Cable). — British and German Air Forces fought brisk give and take exchanges across the North Sea today, the Germans dropping bombs in a new raid on the naval anchorage at Scapa Flow and attacking a British convoy, while the Royal Air Force let fall a new shower of bombs about patrol boats off Germany's Sylt base and attacked numerous raiders.

Air raid sirens howled when the bombers came over the Orkney Islands at dusk. The all-clear signal was sounded 45 minutes later.

For about five minutes civilians living near Scapa Flow heard heavy anti-aircraft fire, then the explosions of bombs.

British fighter planes went up in pursuit of the raiders, which made off quickly.

The manager of a public works project said he saw one of the German planes spiral downward toward the sea.

Another spectator saw the flashes of five or six bombs as they splashed in the sea.

The Air Ministry, in announcing the raid at dusk on Scapa Flow, said anti-aircraft fire from ships and shore batteries drove off the bombers with no warships hit or damaged. One German plane was believed to have been shot down.

The raid apparently was not as big as that of March 16 when German aircraft attacked Scapa Flow and suffered a reprisal blow by the Royal Air Force on the Island of Sylt, where bombs rained for seven hours on the German seaplane base.

The Ministry announced: "German aircraft carried out an attack on Scapa Flow at dusk. They were driven off by the fire of ships and batteries. Bombs were dropped, one of which fell on the shore. No ship was hit or damaged. One German aircraft is believed to have been brought down by gunfire."

Earlier in the day a German air raid on North Sea convoys was beaten off with no British losses. Airmen of the R.A.F. also fought a brilliant engagement against a brood of 3 to 1 over the Western Front where mighty armies are mobilized.

Three Hurricanes tackled nine Messerschmitt 110's and were believed to have bagged one apiece. The ME's were sighted Monday during a Western Front patrol at 20,000 feet and promptly split into three groups.

One of the German craft crashed into a wood with flames issuing from its port wing. The pursuing Flying Officer nearly hit the wood himself in his eagerness to get to his foe and saw the German trenches before he swerved upward to safety.

Another Briton—a Pilot Officer—got a hail of bullets from an opponent but saw smoke pouring from both the German plane's engines as it went down with the fuselage riddled with holes.

BRITON WOUNDED
The third British Hurricane engaged a Messerschmitt in a head-on duel despite the fact the pilot suffered a wound in the face. He continued firing until his ammunition was exhausted and his quarry was spinning down, out of control.

One Junkers plane was shot down and one R.A.F. plane was missing after the bombing of German patrol boats off Sylt Monday.

Three young Hurricane pilots engaged in their first fight in a "before breakfast" patrol of the North Sea today.

After a fierce duel sometimes only 20 feet over the water, they chased off two Heinkels. A young Pilot Officer wounded slightly in the leg decided to land his Hurricane immediately. He crossed the coast instead of flying to his home airport. He made what a by-stander called "a miraculous landing" in a Norfolk field.

Canadians Chase Sunday Blues by Going to Church

Churches Are Filled by Soldiers; Many Meet in Open

NO COMPULSION

By EDWIN S. JOHNSON Canadian Press Staff Writer

ALDERSHOT, Eng., April 2 (CP)—Canada's overseas soldiers have chased away those "Sunday blues" by going to church.

Every Sunday finds the churches of all denominations in the Canadian Active Service Force training area crowded to overflowing. In some parts of the camp recreation huts frequently are converted into temporary houses of worship, while thousands of others observe their devotional exercises in the open spaces of the parade ground.

Sunday is the one day of the week when the grim tasks of war training generally are laid aside, although those who would rather drill may do so.

"There is no compulsion about church parades," one commanding officer remarked. "The men come of their own free will." He said he had put the issue to a test within his own unit.

"We invited all those who didn't want to attend church parade either to remain in the huts or to muster with their arms," he said. "Not a man stayed in his billet and only one turned up with his rifle. We later learned that he professed to the Jewish faith. There was no synagogue in the immediate neighborhood, but we soon put that straight by transporting him to his own house of worship in a nearby town."

Where services are conducted indoors, choirs, lay readers, and ushers have been enlisted from the ranks of officers and men. In the open, amplifiers usually are rigged up to carry the padre's voice across the broad squares.

A few units, such as the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, Edmonton Regiment and the Army Service Corps, have brass bands of their own to lead the singing and supply the music for the ceremonial parade at the close of the service. Most units, however, rely on unaided lungpower.

Administering the spiritual needs of the Canadians are 26 chaplains, under the supervision of Lieut.-Col. H. A. Kent of Kingston, Ont. By denominations they are distributed as follows: Roman Catholic, eight; Church of England, seven; United Church, six; Presbyterian, four; Baptist, one.

Apparently the man and woman attempted to rescue the children but failed when overcome by smoke only a few steps from safety.

"Sapper Henry" Draws Sentence of Indefinite 'C.B.'

By EDWIN S. JOHNSON Canadian Press Staff Writer

ALDERSHOT, Eng., April 2 (CP)—"Sapper Henry," regimental No. D18999A, most popular member of the 4th Field Company, Royal Canadian Engineers, Montreal, has seen a clean crime sheet wrecked beyond recall almost overnight all because of prowling cats.

But just to put things straight, "Sapper Henry" is the company mascot, an English Bull Terrier, winner of a number of prizes in United Kingdom exhibition rings. He boasts a pedigree as long as your arm, with a price on his head about $500.

Somehow, "everything goes black" whenever he sees a feline, with the result that half a dozen barrack mousers have fallen prey to his wrath within recent weeks. Found guilty of the charge, he has drawn a sentence of indefinite "C.B." (confined to barracks) and a stern rebuke from his commanding officer, Major H. F. Seymour.

The "Sapper" was given to the 4th Field Company by Capt. C. Baker, an officer in the imperial army. He heard the Montreal unit had been refused permission to bring over its own mascot from Canada, and unable to take care of his pet himself, offered him as a gift to Major Seymour.

"Sapper Henry" is normally the friendliest fellow under the sun and daily follows his Company colleagues wherever training exercises take them. But show him a cat and he is off on a war of his own. The scars he carries show that he can also "take it."

The engineers hope permission will be granted for "Sapper" to accompany the unit to the front and that ultimately he will return with them to Canada with more honorable stripes of battle.

German Gramophone First Army Prize

WITH THE B. E. F. IN FRANCE, April 2 (CP-Reuters)—First Territorial Army prize of war is a German gramophone, captured by a patrol of a battalion of the Northamptonshire Regiment—first Territorial unit to have been in direct contact with the enemy.

The men entered a certain French village that stands deserted in No Man's Land. They surrounded a cottage and went inside, finding signs of recent German intrusion. The Germans had departed in haste, leaving behind a radio set and an ancient German gramophone with a total of 22 German records, one of them "Romeo and Juliet." The men took the gramophone but when they returned the next night the radio was gone.

Tight Blockade Aimed at Germans by Allies

Chamberlain Outlines Steps to Choke Off German Supplies and Tells of Trade Exchanges With Neutral Countries

LONDON, April 2 (CP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain disclosed to the House of Commons today a series of trade agreements with neutral nations surrounding Germany and warned that the Allies are "determined to prosecute the economic war to the utmost of their power."

The Prime Minister outlined steps to choke off German supplies and said he looked forward to an "intensification" of the blockade against Germany and of British trade exchanges with neutral countries.

The Allies are determined to "continue and intensify the blockade in every possible way," Mr. Chamberlain said.

The Prime Minister declared the neutral nations concerned in the trade agreements "must realize that we cannot agree to make available to them products drawn from Empire sources unless in return they are prepared to give us guarantees of the limitation of their future trade with Germany."

Before beginning his statement on the conduct of the war, Mr. Chamberlain in answer to a question said that German-Russian cooperation appeared to be "most marked" by the economic sphere.

Then in his statement the Prime Minister said Germany was intimidating neutral nations with threats to make them conform to what he called the German "double standard of neutrality."

As for the prospective tightening of the blockade against Germany, Mr. Chamberlain said "His Majesty's ships have already taken certain practical steps to interfere with the unimpeded passage of German cargo ships from Scandinavia," the Prime Minister said.

His Majesty's ships have recently stopped in Far Eastern waters Soviet ships suspected of carrying contraband destined for Germany via Vladivostok," Mr. Chamberlain said.

Dealing with the possibility that Germany may have increased supplies by land routes hitherto hardly used, he declared "We intend to take suitable measures."

Sir John Simon, Chancellor of the Exchequer, said Britain's defence expenditures between April 1 and August 31, 1939, were £237,000,000 ($1,054,000,000) but added that details of such expenditures since the war started are being kept secret.

Sir John Denied reports he plans an "attack" on small wage earners in his budget statement to be made April 23.

The Parliamentary spokesman for the Ministry of Mines said he hoped the restriction of individual coal purchases to 200 pounds at a time, due to shortage of supplies, will be removed soon.

Mr. Attlee, expressing gratification over Anglo-French collaboration, said: "I am glad to note that that collaboration is going on. Much of the trouble we are suffering from today arises from the misunderstandings between Britain and France after victory had been gained in the last war."

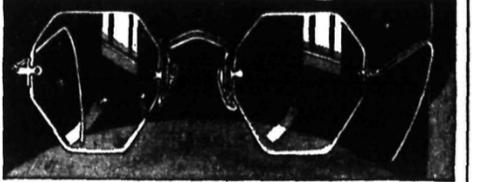

He voiced the conviction that neutral countries are "knowing perfectly well that we are fighting their battle," and continued:

"It is abundantly clear that we must make economic warfare effective and that we must stop leaks in the blockade."

"Nothing short of complete victory," he said, "would justify the sacrifices that Great Britain, France and the British Commonwealth are prepared to make in order to make that sacrifice effective."

Colonel Josiah Wedgwood, Labor, said he proposed purchases of goods in certain neutral countries would not greatly change the situation. The only way to prevent Germany making purchases in neutral countries is to keep her from paying for these goods by stopping her exports, he said.

WOMEN ENGINEER EXPERTS OFFER SERVICES TO MINISTER

Marvels at Immense Field Opened for Many British Women Engineers

By DILYS THOMAS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Immense field for women workers in the present war effort was emphasized by Ernest Brown, Minister of Labor, at the 21st birthday celebration of the Women's Engineering Society here in March.

This society—only one of its kind in existence—was founded in 1919 by Lady Parsons, wife of Sir Charles Parsons, the great engineer, to safeguard interests of women who started in engineering during the last war.

Miss Caroline Haslett, President of the Society, began her career in a boiler-maker's office—"because she was a failure at every normal feminine job." She is a member of the Institute of Electrical Engineers and has been awarded the C. B. E. Miss Haslett ended her address at the birthday luncheon with a plea to Mr. Brown to accept women engineers' services now so that their work could be fitted into the national scheme.

"Take our service, skill, and determination to win the war," she said, "and accept them as a great democracy should accept the free-will gift of the people who live in it."

Mr. Brown replied: "I would make a sober statement and say that there will be an immense field for women in the present war effort, but the precise extent of the figures will be determined by industry in the light of actual requirements."

Among members of the Society are Miss Amy Johnson, aviator, who was president for four years; Miss Pauline Gower, head of the women's section of the Air Transport Auxiliary; Miss Monica Maurice, manager of a big lamp-making company in Sheffield; Mrs. C. H. Douglas, wife of Major Douglas of Social Credit fame; and Mrs. Laura Willson, director of a big machine tool factory in Yorkshire.

IN TOUGH SPOTS

Miss Gower described how she and her 10 colleagues delivered 158 open airplanes from factory to airfield in bitter weather which coated the wings with ice. "We are called the A.T.A.—Always Terrified Air-Women—but we're going to answer that by just quietly going on with the job," she said.

Miss Maurice told how she spends her time in depths of coal mines studying how to improve mine-lighting. Mrs. Douglas was for many years director of her own shipyard at Swanwick, near Southampton, while Mrs. Willson began as a half-timer in a textile mill at the age of 10.

The Queen sent a message which said: "The first hand knowledge which all women possess of domestic matters should give the members of the Women's Engineering Society aptitude for applying science to the problems of better house-keeping and home making."

President's Wife Gives Third Term Opinion

LOS ANGELES, April 2 (AP).—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt offers for what it is worth her answers to a question—will President Roosevelt be a third term Presidential candidate?

"My own personal opinion—and not as the wife of a President—is that except in extraordinary circumstances, we should stick to our tradition."

"Only when people believe that conditions are extraordinary should we depart from our tradition."

Her statement, without further explanation, was in reply to a question during an open forum following an address she made here last night.

Reasons . . . Find Out Why the Child Plays Sick

By GARRY C. MYERS Ph.D.

On several occasions in this column I have proposed a corrective program for the child who plays sick in order to stay home from school. I have advised that if the child says he is sick, you should take his temperature and call the doctor if he has a fever; that if his temperature is normal, you should still take the youngster at his word, put him to bed and make him remain there all day, with not too much attention or good food.

I shall continue to give this advice. But questions from my class at the university recently and from a service club I address to not long ago have prompted me to add something I want to urge the parent to try to find out why the child wants to escape school, and then remove the cause, if possible.

The child may dislike the teacher. He may be failing in one or more studies; learning at school may be hard for him and he may have had humiliating experiences over it. He may have had unhappy experiences with other children. More likely than not, it is a bully he fears.

In case it is the teacher, he probably has told you about it. If you hurry off in a rage to see this teacher, abuse her to the child or show emotions in any other way over the matter, you will make things worse. First try to pose, self-control and wisdom. There may be traits about the teacher which you can't change in spite of the fact, but you can use wisdom you can exercise. Then, unless your child can be sent to another school, which probably wouldn't be wise, you will want to help the child adapt himself to this teacher.

If your child's feelings have been hurt by one or several other children at school, the trouble soon may disappear and be forgotten. Nevertheless, it may suggest to you the need of helping your child find more satisfaction in mingling with other children at home. To this end you will need to discover ways and means, during the coming weeks and months, to set the stage and to motivate your child to gain more play skills and spend more time at fun with other children of his own age.

If it is fear of one or more bullies, the problem may be very big indeed. Sometimes several of these bullies will gang up against a boy, making his life miserable, especially on the way from school. In this event a conference with the teacher will be desirable. Occasionally the teacher will hold the chronic bullies at school until the smaller, weaker and more timid children have arrived home. While this may work well at times, the bully will often "get even" with your child and you in the neighborhood.

Try to get into the good graces of the bully. Working with the school, you might discover ways of helping the bully find satisfactions through wholesome outlets.

You might help your child through boxing lessons, so he may be more ready to defend himself when attacked. Even though he might not have the strength and courage to withstand these bullies, he might gradually gain the fortitude for self-defence against other bullies later.

Treatment . . . Poor Hair Often Due to Ill Health

By DONNA GRACE

Although the tendency to lose more than the normal amount of hair may not mean more than a temporary arrested growth through some physical disturbance, it will always be an alarming experience for anyone.

The fact is that many persons do lose their hair and become bald, so one can hardly be calm at the thought of the prospect. Falling hair, however, continues gradually through life and specialists claim the life of any hair is only from two to six years. The healthy growth should continue and all hair will be replaced so long as the root is functioning as it should.

The obvious cause of falling hair is illness, nervousness and lack of care and proper foods, but we can't tell you why the root should stop its natural function when one is in normal health.

The old idea of shaving the head at the first sign of falling hair seems to have very little effect, and so far as we know, has never improved the condition.

Specialists condemn the practice of exposing the head to the cold as a means of restoring the growth. A moderate amount of sun is good for the hair and skin, but constant exposure is said to do more harm than good.

There are treatments to restore the health of the hair, and, in many cases, a fine normal growth will be the result. The first step is thorough cleanliness and general stimulation of the scalp. Then one should have enough calcium in the diet to promote growth. Milk is the food for this and the fresh leafy salads will improve digestion.

It is a fact that nervousness and lack of rest may affect the roots of the hair, and for this reason one should be sure to have periods of relaxation away from mental work. Head massage and the application of hot oil will frequently correct the trouble.

Dandruff, while not a disease, is frequently thought to be a natural annoyance with which one must bear. It can be destructive to the health of the hair and never should be neglected. It can be easily corrected.

Pocket enthusiasts or not, it's pocket that all of us will appreciate the pocket editions for beach and play wear this Summer. Unlike the pockets on our street frocks and suit jackets, these are meant to be used, even jammed if we like. Just for the fun of it, the majority button on in the manner shown. This denim jacket has matching little blue shorts. Belts with button-on pockets are popular accessories for golf and tennis fans. In particular, but give a tricky touch to spectator sports skirts and frocks as well. Also, there's the belt with button-on handbag which is competing with the shoulder bag.

Competition . . . A Modern Girl Must Be Awake

By CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Some sage once said that a letter of condolence should begin with an expression of friendly sympathy, include some diverting thought and end on a high note of hope and encouragement. Here then is a letter of condolence to a big crowd of gals who write that they have good families, good looks, good clothes, good morals and manners; everything but good times which is tantamount to saying they haven't any boy friends, and don't know how to get them.

There are a lot of parents who are inclined to make light of young yearnings and to ignore the S.O.S. signals their heart-sick lassies are sending out! Shame on them! The mental anguish of a young girl who sees her friends dance off with the boys while she sits at home and sucks her thumb is something to reckon with. Only a hard-hearted or stupid parent would refuse to come to her rescue. The probability is that if that mother had been on her job when the child was growing up, things would never have got to this pass. Yet there is plenty to be done even yet if daughter will get to work and mama will cooperate.

The young people of this generation are restless and on the go. Even the gals that are "broke out" with personality can't keep the boy friend entertained with conversation. They plunge into games and sports, for the swimming pool, the tennis courts, golf courses and the dance floors are the clover patches where boys are to be found. Here their roving eyes and fancies may be fastened. The mother of a couple of "populars" says it isn't unusual for the youngsters and their dates to swim, dance, play table tennis, cards, take a moonlight spin and wind up in the kitchen to cook late supper, all in one evening. Naturally, the wallflower who can't do anything but look pretty and pass the time of day hasn't a chance in competition with

Serial Story . . . Paradise Is Here

By Alma Sioux Scarberry

CHAPTER 46

The day after Christmas Cholly received a special delivery letter from her mother. Her father had returned on Christmas Eve, as gay and nonchalant as though he had no conception of the enormity of his act in walking out and leaving her alone with a large family of children for almost six months.

Mrs. O'Neill had, of course, taken him back into the bosom of the family, as she always had done before. It had been the loveliest Christmas they had ever had, in so far as luxuries and necessities were concerned because Cholly had played Santa Claus with a lavish hand. But they had missed her. The father had said to tell her he was very proud of her and would come to Chicago to see her soon.

Cholly smiled wistfully, sighing. Pop was a no good idler! But it was worth anything he might cost her—and she knew he would make plenty of demands—just to have him around to keep Mom and the kids cheered up. Nothing would change him. But she felt he wouldn't leave again, since she was able to take all the responsibility away from him. Pop would stay as long as he was in the middle of it.

A call from the television committee in the middle of the week informed Cholly that the race for Miss Television had narrowed down to a sprint between her and Myra Noyes. Myra's accident had been the cause of a sudden spur of votes being mailed in for her.

Cissie had insisted that Baxter Tree spend the holiday week with them in the country, since his quarters already were vacated. He had at first demurred, but finally consented. Brent had a particularly busy week of broadcasting, and it was Romany and Bax, Dover and Cholly who went sleighing and hiking, and drove back and forth to town for radio performances.

Twice daily Cholly telephoned the office and inquired about Terry. She received encouraging news until Thursday, when a nurse informed her Mr. O'Rourke had responded to blood transfusions and had regained consciousness.

Thursday afternoon Cholly was informed that she should hold herself in readiness on Saturday for pictures and interviews, as there was little doubt she was to be named Miss Television. But victory was like ashes in her mouth.

Seymour Kent, managing editor of the Globe, was chairman of the committee. He was amazed in the late afternoon when Charlotte called and asked him to withdraw her name in favor of Myra Noyes. Myra was desperately ill, and if she were told she had won the title her heart had been set on, Cholly was convinced it might help her.

But Kent was adamant. "Much as I admire your spirit, Miss O'Neill," he said firmly, "we cannot do it. It wouldn't be fair. You've won an amazing victory for a newcomer to radio, and your dear public must be allowed the pleasure of seeing you crowned Miss Television."

"I've had a call from Henrietta," she told Charlotte hastily. "Myra wants to see me. She's been asking for me for two days."

"Oh! Charlotte gasped. "You must let me go with you. Maybe I can see Terry."

They hurried to Romany's car and sped back to Chicago. Cholly sat down in the lobby nervously, while Romany went upstairs. At the door of Myra's room she squared her shoulders and knocked softly. The nurse opened the door.

Romany whispered: "Miss Noyes wants to see me?"

"Yes," Nurse Brown stepped back. "Won't you come in?"

A bandaged figure lay inertly on the bed.

"Miss Haile is here, Miss Noyes," the nurse said softly and Myra

these slight of hand and light of foot lasses.

Not long ago a questionnaire was sent out to college boys inviting them to express their opinions as to what of girls they liked the best. Don't think they included any of the old-fashioned virtues that their dads adored. No—they were calling for vitality, activity, efficiency, things that made the girls good companions and playmates. Sweet dispositions, domestic turns of mind, soft voices and mild manners didn't play any part in their dream of fair woman. They wanted girl friends who could compete with them, not play second fiddle to them; that is until after marriage.

It is often said that we can get pretty much what we want in this life provided we know what we want, work at it intelligently and keep a it until it is ours. Steam up gals, and don't let the first disappointments down you.

Balance Trees' Roots, Branches

By DEAN HALLIDAY

When purchasing a shade tree, or trees, give careful consideration to the size, shade and root area of it when full grown. Trees such as the beech, horse chestnut and weeping willow should only be used on large lawns.

Unless the tree is one that has already been root pruned, and is then grafted with an extra large ball of earth, many of the fine feeding roots will be cut off when it is dug, as shown in the accompanying sketch. If this should happen it is important to restore the balance between the branches and the reduced root system by cutting away about one-fourth of the top growth. Unless this type of top pruning is resorted to, the branches are apt to make too heavy a drain upon the remaining root system before the latter has the opportunity to send out new feeding roots.

Trees moved with a good-sized ball of earth about the roots need less pruning than those moved with bare roots.

Partial Eclipse of Sun May Be Seen at Nelson Sunday; Sunspots Likely to Be Visible; Smoked Glass Needed

By W. G. C. LANSKAIL

The sun, which for some days has been providing trouble in abundance for radio broadcasting and telegraphic communication, is about to stage the spectacle of an annular, or ring, eclipse on Sunday. This will be visible, always provided clear weather at Nelson, as a partial eclipse.

The moon will be at apogee, farthest from the earth, two days before, so that on Sunday it will appear not quite large enough to completely cover the disk of the sun at time of mid-eclipse.

The eclipse first comes on the earth far out in the Pacific Ocean, near the international date line and close to the equator. The path of the annular phase then travels in an Easterly direction, tending Northward to reach the Pacific coast of North America, crossing the Lower California Peninsula, Mexico, Texas, the Gulf states, thence out into the Atlantic Ocean, where it ends. Along this comparatively narrow path the annular phase will last about six minutes for observers centrally located, these six minutes being preceded and succeeded by the partial phases. Nelson being far North of the central line will see a partial eclipse only, beginning about 11:30 a.m. or shortly after, and lasting about three hours to 2:30 or 3 p.m. Smoked glasses should be used to protect the eyes, or a strip of smoked glass fastened across the eyes, or a pair of special field glasses.

As sunspots have been prevalent of late and as these may persist over Sunday a view of the eclipse may present these added features of interest.

Maximum solar activity, sun spot cycle, for the current eleven-year cycle was reached about a year ago, and minimum will likely be reached about the year 1945, to be followed by the next maximum about 1950. These cycles are somewhat irregular as to time and as to number, size and intensity of disturbances, but it will be noted that the duration of subsidence from maximum to minimum is greater than the time occupied by the succeeding rise from minimum to maximum, the former taking about six and a half years and the latter about four and a half years.

Variable stars of short period, from a few days to a few months, act similarly. Our sun thus appears to be a variable star of very long period and very small amount of variability.

TRAIL SOCIAL

By MRS. H. S. ALLEN

TRAIL, B. C., April 2—St. Francis Xavier Church was the scene of a quiet but lovely wedding this morning at 8 o'clock, when Helen Siemianowski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Siemianowski became the bride of Edward Levesque, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Levesque. Rev. D. O'Carroll celebrated the nuptials, and the ceremony was performed in the sanctuary. The bride entered the church, which was beautifully decorated with deep pink tulips and daffodils, on the arm of her brother, Alfonso Siemianowski, who also acted as groomsmen. She was becomingly attired in a Molyneux two-piece afternoon model of dusky rose ribbed crepe with wide border of cutwork around the edge and sleeves of the jacket. Small round crystal buttons enlivened the skirt and the skirt was slightly flared. Long elbow-length gloves matched her gown and her straw turban trimmed with a veil, and other accessories were navy. Her old-fashioned nosegay was of gardenias and lilies-of-the-valley. Miss Jeanne Levesque, sister of the groom was the bride's only attendant. She wore a lovely gown of wing blue tulle with a gold ornament trimmed the V-neckline, the skirt was lightly flared, and shirring trimmed the bracelet-length sleeves. A wine straw sailor with light blue veiling and wine accessories completed her costume. Her bouquet was of pink sweet peas. For the occasion the groom's mother chose a dress of navy blue with shirred bodice, gored skirt and pearl tips at each side of the square neck. She also wore a beautiful double silver foil, navy straw and red rose corsage. Throughout the ceremony the Junior Choir was in attendance. The wedding breakfast was attended by only the bridal party and the groom's parents. A handsome cloth of drawn-thread work made by the groom's mother covered the bride's table which was centered with a triple-tiered wedding cake topped with lilies-of-the-valley and sweet peas and embedded in tulle. Mr. and Mrs. Levesque left on a wedding trip to Spokane and on their return will reside in the Arlington Hotel. For travelling the bride changed to a three-piece navy wool suit. The jacket in dressmaker style was trimmed with a white pique collar and the coat was loose fitting. Her accessories were navy.

Little Rhone Page, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Page was a dainty little hostess Saturday afternoon at a gay Easter party. Easter motifs artistically decorated the rooms and Easter baskets and multi-colored toy balloons graced the table where pretty Easter favors were used as place cards. After a happy afternoon, during which games and races were enjoyed, the little guests partook of a delicious supper. Mrs. E. R. Humphries, Mrs. W. Owen and Mrs. H. Elvin assisted Mrs. Page in serving. Little playmates invited were: Mary Owen, Tillie and Nellie McIntyre, Shirley Lyon, Shirley and Barbara Humphries, Elaine Elvin, Jean Anderson, Rita Kilpatrick, Netta Owen, Ruth Humphries, Richard Owen and Richie Elvin.

Miss Shirley Hill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Hill, Victoria Street, has returned from Cranbrook, where she spent the holiday, the guest of her grandmother, Mrs. James Beech.

Miss Fanny Cavasin, whose marriage takes place April 6, was honored Friday when Miss Rita Lazzerotto, Miss Elsie and Miss Lida Dalla Lana entertained at a delightful miscellaneous shower in her honor. The affair took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Dalla Lana, Cedar Avenue, and games and contests were enjoyed until midnight, when a delicious late lunch was served. The bride-to-be was the recipient of many lovely gifts. Invited guests were Miss Nice Forte, Miss Mary DiPasquale, Miss Jenny Evans, Miss Rita Cutler, Miss Mary Borsetto, Miss Carmen DeFonzo, Miss Rose Filippelli, Miss Lena Comazzetto, Miss Armando Cavasin, Miss Mary Cantarutti, Miss Patty Merry, Miss Elizabeth Merry and Mrs. A. Parisotto.

Miss Dorothy Willis is spending the week here, the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Willis, Tadara. Miss Willis attends Washington State College at Pullman.

Kaslo-N. Denver Highway Is Open

The Kaslo-New Denver Road, blocked by snow and slides most of the winter, was opened Monday. Provincial Department of Public Works officials at Nelson were notified by John Taylor, Road Foreman at New Denver, by telephone Tuesday morning. This is believed to be a record early opening as the road is not usually open until May. The road was open to light traffic about two weeks ago but a new slide blocked it. A crew tackled the slide and the road was opened on Monday. The road from Three Forks to Sandon has been kept clear all winter.

It is also hoped the Monashee Pass on the Edgewood-Vernon Highway will be cleared within a short time. The road is usually open about May 24 or the first of June.

Fighter Spirit Keen in Spring

SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE, (CP) — Spring is in France and the crews of hundreds of Royal Air Force bombers and fighters await with confidence the days to come. Ever since arriving at their "battle stations" Sept. 2 they have been ready for action and daily the air arm grows stronger.

When the men took off from England six months ago they expected that within a few hours of landing they would be ordered to give the Allies' emphatic answer to the expected Nazi blitzkrieg. The order was never given.

Twice there have been periods of emergency—in December and January when the neutrality of the Low Countries appeared threatened. Crews were ready for action but the crisis passed. Nevertheless the half-year spell of quiet has not been wasted. The air corps has grown in size and power as fast as production and the needs of home defence allowed.

In operations which have become more fierce, British aircraft have learned much about the German machines. Supremacy has not been proved in combat so far because the Germans have been almost entirely protected by bombers and fighters. The Allies claim to have brought down 47 German bombers over France and claim to have "bagged" more bombers than the enemy.

Cooperation with the sturdy French air force improves daily and the Allies are completely confident of gaining eventual mastery of the air on the Western Front.

ROOKIE ROSTER

Makes Up for Goal He Pushed in for Toronto

By SYDNEY GRUSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, April 2 (CP). — Young Alf Pike of Winnipeg, the 15th or spare man, came out for his turn on the Rangers' third line just in time tonight, driving home the goal that gave the New Yorkers a 2-1 victory over Toronto Maple Leafs after 15 1/2 minutes overtime in the first game of the Stanley Cup final.

Pike, playing his first season in the National Hockey League broke it up just as the crowd of 12,437, several thousand short of Madison Square Garden's capacity, had begun to settle down for a long spell of overtime. The club were playing tight, careful hockey, seemingly ready to continue it any length of time when Pike made his move.

He gave the puck to Lynn Patrick just over the Leaf blue line, skated in front of the net and took Lynn's return in perfect position, 15 feet off. He fired so hard that Goaler Walter Broda only could make a weak move with his left arm as the puck went into a top corner.

The second game of the best-of-seven final will be played here tomorrow night, with the teams going to Toronto for the remainder of the series. Third game is scheduled there for Saturday night.

If the Rangers had lost—and they were 2-1 favorites in the pre-game betting—the 22-year-old Pike would have been the "goat" for he had knocked the puck into his own net for Toronto's only goal. He made that up, and a bit more when he fired the winner.

Rangers opened the scoring at 9:09 of the first period when Art Coulter, their Captain and ace defenceman, took a passout started by Neil Colville behind the Toronto net, and flipped a short shot past Broda.

Less than two minutes later, Dave Schreiner passed forward through the Ranger defence to Red Heron who was beaten to the puck by Dave Kerr in the Ranger nets. But Pike was coming up fast to check Heron, and he didn't stop from barging into Kerr's leg pads.

Louis Seems to Be Out of New Fight Victims

By WHITNEY MARTIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 2 (AP). — The heavyweight boxing situation has reached a pretty pass when the champion, to keep active, must adopt the Shaughnessy system in defending his title and take two out of three from the challengers before they are eliminated.

That's just about what has happened, with three men already one down to Joe Louis rated as the outstanding contenders, to use the word in the broad sense. They are Bob Pastor, Tony Galento and Arturo Godoy.

Pastor already should be out according to the Shaughnessy rules, as he has twice been defeated, but one of the defeats came during the regular season, or before Louis was champion.

Louis has defended his title 10 times against 10 different opponents, but at last seems to be fresh out of new victims. In fact, he was fresh out before last Friday night, but nobody knew that Johnny Paycheck's knees would do his only hitting, although many suspected it.

Billy Conn might swell up into a heavyweight, and he is convinced he can beat Louis, although with just what nobody knows. There's a promising looking lad at Little Rock named Bob Sikes, but he's being brought along slowly.

Lee Savold still is a possibility, despite his recent defeat. He returned to action too soon after a battle with the "Mu, and dropped the decision to one Art Whitters, a tough 220-pounder. And we still have hopes for Pat Comiskey, the Paterson, N. J. lad who hit so hard his last time out he broke his hands. He's only about 20 years old.

Hume Hotel to Have Top-Notch Softball Squad

Judging from the lineup that the Hume Hotel will field when it is time for the cry of "play ball," the Hume will again march along as one of the top-ranking teams in softball in the district.

Approximately 15 players will be carried on the roster this Summer, just about the same lineup as carried the Hume banner when they were in the league a few years back. They will be headed by the lanky speed-ball pitcher, Len Bicknell, last year with the Pucksters, and his battery-mate will probably be Freddy Romano.

Other players who will be turning out are Allan McLean, "Lefty" Mydansky, Tanny Romano, Tony Arcure, Scrub Bialkowski, Aid. G. M. Benwell, Johnny Hamson, Louie Aurelio and Johnny Aurelio.

Bill Freno will be coach, Mr. Benwell manager, and mascots will be Billy Benwell and Jack Hamson.

Oakland and L. A. Other Pacific Ball Winners

SAN DIEGO, Calif., April 2 (AP). — Dick Newsome pitched shutout ball today as the Padres remained at the top of the Pacific Coast League race by blanking the Hollywood Stars, 5-0.

Newsome limited the visitors to six scattered hits, while the Padres connected safely at opportune moments to take advantage of Hollywood errors.

Montreal Royals Win Quebec Title

VERDUN, Que., April 2 (CP). — Montreal Royals won the Quebec Hockey championship tonight and gained a berth in the Eastern Canada senior finals, whipping Joliette Cyclones, Provincial intermediate titleholders, 10-3 in the second game of a best of three series.

ROYALS won the first game 8-2. A crowd of about 4000 watched the wild and woolly contest.

Centreman Buddy O'Connor with three goals led the attack for the champions of the Quebec Senior Hockey League, while Johnny Acheson picked up a pair of tallies.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. — Thanks to the series in Cuba, Joe Oregno has just about landed a job with the St. Louis Cardinals.

100 Hopefuls Aim for Long Climb to Chi White Sox

CHICAGO, April 2 (AP). — No less than 100 boys from the bushes have a chance to begin the climb toward professional baseball success through the rehabilitation program of the Chicago White Sox.

Farm Boss Billy Webb has collected this horde of young ball players from near and far for a shot at the pro game, most of them are from the sandlots of the Middle West.

Webb will assemble his young hopefuls at Jonesboro, Ark., between April 4 and 11 and begin drills. The best 70 players of the lot will be given jobs with White Sox-owned clubs or with clubs working with the American League.

Former Smokies Star as Kirkland Lake Ties Sydney

OTTAWA, April 2 (CP). — Kirkland Lake Blue Devils and Sydney Millionaires played a 3-3 overtime draw tonight in the second game of their best of three Eastern Canada Senior Hockey semi-final. The Ontario champions won the first game 6-3.

Outplayed and outscored by two goals in the first period Sydney came back with two counters in the second frame, added another in the third and saw the game go into scoreless overtime when Johnny McCree, former Trail puckman, notched a goal at 15:17 of the third period.

Tony Graboski kept Sydney in the running with the second period goal that knotted the count at 14-14. Then in the third period he set up the play for Doug Fritz to put the Millionaires ahead for some five minutes.

The largest crowd ever to see two out of town teams play in Ottawa watched the game — 8228 paying customers — and it was the fifth largest crowd ever to see hockey in the auditorium.

First period — 1 Kirkland Lake, Kowcinak (Bellinger) 5:33; 2 Kirkland Lake, Cooper (Kowcinak) at 15:41.

Second period — 3 Sydney, Jack Fritz (Doug Fritz, Achison) 14:48. Penalty — Achison.

Third period — 5 Sydney, Doug Fritz (Graboski) 10:03; 6 Kirkland Lake, McCree (Kowcinak, and Cooper) 15:17.

BASEBALL CAMP GOSSIP

LAKEBAND, Fla. — The Detroit Tigers, facing a long slow journey home to Briggs Stadium, are planning even more extensive travels next Spring. They are considering adding an exhibition in Havana to the usual "Grapefruit League" program. The Tigers wind up their stay here today.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — Although it's a well known fact that the rookies who look so good in the Spring look equally bad in mid-season, it appears that young Johnny Rucker is going to be hard to oust from the centre field spot with the New York Giants. Rucker, who is hitting .372 for the last seven exhibitions, stole the fielding spotlight in a recent exhibition with the Cleveland Indians with a dazzling catch of one of Ken Keltner's swats.

EL PASO, Tex. — Chicago's White Sox are giving two rookie infielders, Third Baseman Bob Kennedy and Second Baseman Don Killoway a thorough test in their cross-country exhibition series with the Cubs.

Both may be in the starting lineup if Eric McNair's arm fails to improve and Jackie Hayes' eye fails to respond to treatment. They're doing pretty well so far, too, for the Sox and Cubs have won five games apiece.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. — Thanks to the series in Cuba, Joe Oregno has just about landed a job with the St. Louis Cardinals.

A star shortstop with Sacramento last season, Oregno was tried at third and second with the Cards and didn't come through afield or bat. Manager Ray Blades gave him a final trial at third in Havana, and Joe fielded sensationally.

DALLAS, Tex. — Here's another warning to the New York Yankees' American League rivals: Babe Dahlgren, the "light hitting" first baseman, now is leading the Yankees in home-run clouting with four — three in the last seven games — and Joe DiMaggio hasn't hit a single in four days. They're all extra-base flows.

Of the 2,000,000 colors and shades distinguishable to the human eye, only 7044 of them have been tabulated. M. Rea Paul told a gathering of physicists and opticians in New York.

Providence Reds Defeat Pittsburgh

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 2 (AP). — Exerting their superiority over Pittsburgh Hornets in playoff hockey just as they did through the International-American League season, Providence Reds tonight scored a 4-3 victory in the first game of the Calder Cup series for the circuit champions.

However, it was not until young Eddie Ambois deflected home a shot by Johnny Chad with less than three minutes to go that Providence gained the victory.

Friendly Happy Atmosphere Prevails as Over 200 Curlers Complete Season

Writing fits to the 1939-40 season of the "grand old roarin' game" in the same atmosphere of merriment, good will and fraternal spirit that was reflected in their play all season, well over 200 members of the Nelson Curling Club sat down to the annual banquet at the Canadian Legion Thursday night.

"I am proud of the friendship of the people of Nelson," said Most Rev. Martin M. Johnson, Bishop of Nelson, and Chaplain of the Club, as he gave his observations and reflections of the "Dogs-Protectors" games each Saturday afternoon. "Nelson has an enviable reputation for its friendship, a byword among people who have ever been in this city, and I don't think anything has contributed more to it than curling, friendship being the very nature of the game."

The things that he liked best about the game was that before each game the players were introduced to each other, and that helped to create that splendid atmosphere, and after each game the handshaking, which was the highest token of true friendship and gratitude, delighted him.

DOGANS LOSE AGAIN
"The Dogans lost again this year," Bishop Johnson admitted, "for about the tenth time in succession, but since I am only a comparative beginner, all the blame can't be placed on my shoulders. We established a brain trust, and we thought we had the enemy out-manoeuvred, even to the extent of trying to talk the opposition out of it, but we lost a couple of important games that decided the issue through P. E. Poulin and Doug Cummins, who proceeded in humorous vein."

Pinch-hitting for Art Wallace, the high power of the Protestants, Thomas McGovern made a presentation on behalf of the club to the "finest sportsman in Nelson"—Bishop Johnson—a fellow, as he was to us all, who would never miss a Saturday afternoon if he could help it."

In proposing the toast to the "roarin' game," Skip W. M. Myers said an axiom that the beginner would be advised to follow was not to be in too much of a hurry to be a skip, "if he wanted to keep his youth. Use your broom, and not your mouth."

Apparently a player became a skip when he approached his second childhood, suffering both mental and physical deficiencies. Skip-ping requires three main requisites—concentration, balance and consistency. The spirit of forgiveness was a virtue imbued in the game, as he proposed the toast.

THE TIMID LEADS
Constable R. A. Lees, answering for the leads, gave his observations of his first night curling, when he reluctantly acceded to a request to take up curling.

"I opened the rink door timidly, and at one end of the room I saw in conversation a group of men—rather corpulent, I would say—and in another corner was a larger group comprising leads, seconds and thirds as I later learned—thin, tire-looking men leaning with all their weight on their brooms. In a subdued voice one of the advised me that they were waiting for a skip, when a lurching old fellow entered the room, hobbled over to his locker, hung up his cane, and got ready to start.

SKIP HAD TO BE ENDURED
"Our opponents were in the same boat as we were. They were beginners, who were doing admirably well, but they had a skip too." Constable Lees continued, as he explained how when it came the skip's turn to deliver after his men had put at least four rocks in the house, he would after due ceremony accomplish just the opposite to what was wanted, and wound up by cleaning house on his last rock, a situation which was finally settled when the flying curls settled and the leads and seconds clambered down out of the rafters.

"I am a good judge of speed," Constable Lees pointed out, "and I'd say that rock went by at a rate of 43 miles an hour."

"It was the first time in 15 years that I ever got something for nothing," stated President J. B. Gray whose side were guests of J. J. (Mickey) McGovern's Vice-Presidents for the annual banquet. "That's what I call a Scotchman's paradise."

"They claim we chiselled to win. Well, if we did, who's to blame us? They were a cold-blooded outfit, and it serves them right if they lost. But I know the generous, open-hearted way in which they have paid for our banquet, for I did it for 14 out of 15 years.

"I will tell you, though, that it was Tom Wilson who threw you down, and if Tom is the sportsman I think he is, he will pay for it all," he concluded. Mr. Wilson has been on the losing side for 22 years out of the past 24.

"Had it been a foursome of golf, we might have won," Mr. Wilson consoled himself.

Mr. McEwen, who was Chairman for the evening, said that "we can curl in the winter, but we can't curl in spring," and "we shouldn't let those fellows run the club another year. There has been too much skulduggery, and they're having a hard time trying to convince me it was all above board."

ENTERTAINING MUSIC
Music, a mixture embracing both that of the highest quality and amusing and novel songs that had the listeners nodding their sides, added to the happy atmosphere, as the curlers prepared to forget the curling for another season. The curlers' orchestra, led by Violinist Ted Swanson, and completed by Hal Brown, pianist Clarence Wilson, saxophone; Jack Connick, cornet,

Bobby Jones Hits Old Golf Stride

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 2 (AP). — The master of Augusta still is the master of every shot. Before the biggest and most enthusiastic gallery in golf history, Bobby Jones shot a six-under-par 66 today to bring back vivid memories of the Jones of old.

Almost shunted to the sidelines of his own tournament by a back ailment in recent weeks, Bobby has bounced up again and is hitting the ball as handsomely as he ever did. When he completed today's round over the course he designed himself, he had played his last 27 holes in an even 100 strokes, and was eight under par for that distance.

He teamed up with Charley Yates, the lad who once looked like his successor, against Horton Smith and Bud Ward, the national amateur champion. This latter was the combine that had won the St. Augustine pro-amateur tournament. But this time they were up against more than they could handle as Yates backed Bobby's 66 with a 68 of his own to bring in a 4 and 3 victory.

Soldiers Vote Favors National Government

No Seats Changed by C.A.S.F. Vote; 50 P.C. Support N.G.; 41 Per Cent Liberal and Remainder C.C.F.

OTTAWA, April 2 (CP)—Without causing a single turnover across the country, the votes of Canada's soldiers, sailors, and airmen in the General Election were added today to civilian totals in 244 seats. Results were announced here by Jules Castonguay, Chief Electoral Officer. The Active Service vote favored the National Government candidates of Hon. R. J. Manion but took nothing from the sweeping triumph scored by the Liberals whose return to power was conceded on the basis of the civilian vote a few hours after the polls closed a week ago.

The army, navy, and air force, at home and overseas, polled a total of 56,942 votes. About 90,000 members of the Canadian Active Service Force were eligible to vote. Apparently many stationed in their home constituencies voted as civilians.

Supporters of Conservative Leader Manion, among the National Government candidates, polled 28,385 votes—just 50 per cent of the total. Liberal candidates polled 41 per cent, 23,372 votes. Bulk of the remainder went to C.C.F. candidates with a total of 3,032 or 5.3 per cent.

In 132 of the 224 constituencies the Active Service vote favored National Government candidates. Liberals were given a majority in 99, C.C.F. candidates in two, Independent Liberals in two and representatives of other groups in six. There were three ties.

But the general election result was unchanged with Prime Minister Mackenzie King's following in the House of Commons the largest in history. With the result in one constituency—Acadia in Alberta—still doubtful, the Liberals had 177 members conceded election.

The National Government total remained at 39, C.C.F. 8, New Democracy 9, Liberal-Progressive 3, Independent Liberal 3, Independent 1, Independent Conservative 1, Unity 1. Election in Three Rivers was deferred and the death yesterday of Rev. W. G. Brown, United Reform member-elect for Saskatoon City, created the first vacancy in the new House.

The situation in still-doubtful Acadia became more acute than ever. With four of the 203 polls unreported, A. M. Day, Liberal, with 3736 had a lead of one over Victor Quetch, New Democracy. In third place George B. Smith, CCF, had 780.

The service vote took away Quetch's slender lead, obtained on the basis of reports from 188 civilian polls. The vote was: Day, 17, Quetch 14, Smith 12. There were other close finishes, notably in Winnipeg North Centre where J. S. Woodsworth, veteran CCF leader, scraped under the wire with a plurality of 125 over A. R. Macdonnell, Liberal.

The complete civilian vote had given Woodsworth a lead of 153 and he had expressed doubt that it would survive the active service ballot. Final count gave Woodsworth 11,324, Macdonnell 11,199 and B. Stefanson, National Government, 5412.

The National Government vote outnumbered the Liberal vote in Prince Edward Island, New Brunswick, Ontario, Manitoba and British Columbia. The advantage was two-to-one in Ontario. In Quebec and Saskatchewan the Liberal margin was three-to-two.

Party leaders made a good showing. Dr. Manion, defeated in Fort William constituency by Dan McIvor, Liberal, obtained 111 active service votes to 58 for the winner while Garfield Anderson, CCF candidate, got only four.

In Prince Albert, where he won, Prim Minister King's soldier vote was 55 to 49 for R. R. Manville, National Unity; 10 for Pete Strelve, CCF, and three for A. C. Campbell, Communist.

Only two CCF candidates in the country benefitted by the active service vote and one of these was Mr. J. Coldwell, first lieutenant of M. Woodsworth, who slightly increased his winning margin in Rosetown-Biggar. In Wood Mountain, N. L. Buchanan, CCF, headed the military poll but was beaten in the seat by T. F. Donnelly, Liberal.

British Columbia's military majorities were divided pretty evenly. Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Minister of Pensions, was behind in Vancouver Centre.

Swiss Soldiers Recalled to Duty

BERNE, Switzerland, April 2 (AP)—The Swiss general staff today called up tens of thousands of soldiers for April 15 and 22, putting the confederation close to general mobilization.

The order said the various units recalled for duty had been summoned to replace others recently demobilized. It was noted, however, few units had been released and a total of 41 units of varying size had been recalled.

The High Command said it was determined to keep the Swiss military strength as nearly as possible on a par with the number of troops which any one belligerent had stationed near the frontier.

It has been reported in Switzerland that the Germans now have between 12 and 18 divisions in the Baden and Württemberg areas. Most of the Swiss border, Swiss officials said, however, their presence "give no immediate cause for alarm."

Coast Soldiers Arrive in Calgary

CALGARY, April 2 (CP)—A detachment of four officers and 88 men from Vancouver and Victoria arrived in Calgary at noon today and immediately took up residence at the infantry training centre at Currie Barracks.

The men will be trained here as reinforcements for the Seaford Highlanders, an infantry battalion now in England with the First Canadian Division.

Entrance to Alley Is Being Widened

Work of widening the end of the alley between Silica and Victoria Streets where it intersects Falls Street is being undertaken by the City. The alley entrance is regarded as hazardous at present for large trucks as they are in danger either of striking a garage on the corner or coming near the bank and going down on to lower Falls Street.

Labor Body Approves Wagner Act Amendments

WASHINGTON, April 2 (AP)—The House of Representatives Labor Committee approved today two amendments to the Wagner Act intended to protect American Federation of Labor craft unions and to give employers the right to ask the Labor Board for collective bargaining elections.

Fight Against War Gossipers

LONDON (CP)—Secret agents on Britain's home front are campaigning against war talk in a new drive to prevent German spies sending valuable information to the enemy. Hotels, dance halls, and other public places frequented by soldiers and airmen on leave are cooperating with the government by attempting to stop men who might become "too expansive."

If there is any tendency towards unwarlike disclosures, a member of the staff discreetly butts in and turns the trend of conversation; the manager of a London dance hall that attracts 10,000 patrons a week said:

"We have received no home-of-ice instructions on the matter. We are just using common sense in trying to play our part."

Officers in the army and air force hold frequent anti-gossip parades to warn their men against careless talk in public.

COASTS HAVEN FOR SAILORMEN
VANCOUVER (CP)— Deep sea sailormen from foreign ports need never feel lonely in Vancouver— not while the Vancouver Sailors' Home of the British Sailors' Society is in operation.

The full activities of this institution—which provides rooms, hot meals and the recreations of a club—was fully revealed in the recent report of its superintendent—James Johnston. He said that during 1939, a total of 8792 sailormen visited the Home. They attended concerts and house parties arranged by the Home, and took part in soccer and other outside games, as well as the many recreations to be found within the Club—such as an extensive library, radios and various games.

March Building and Plumbing Shows Nelson Citizens' Confidence in the Future Comments Mayor at Council

Report by Engineer Reveals Permits as March Record

"Our citizens are certainly showing faith in the future as far as building is concerned," commented Mayor N. C. Stibbs at Tuesday night's Council meeting when the report of H. D. Dawson, City Engineer, showed that the building total in March, $25,131, was a record for this month over the past 10 years, and that the number of plumbing permits, 15, was also a 10-year high for March.
The engineer's report for the two weeks ending April 2 follows:

STREETS
Work of street cleaning has been carried on with increased crews. There has been an average of seven men employed on this work daily, the actual numbers varying from four to 10 daily.
We have cleaned up loose and dead brush, large rock and rubbish from the area surrounding the street car loop at the North end of Nelson Avenue.

STREET GRADING
Alley in Block 13, D. L. 150—The alley allowance extending Northward from Robinson Street through Block 13 has been opened up and gravelled, giving access to a new house recently constructed.
Throughout the City a considerable amount of crushed rock has been hauled to give temporary relief from extreme mud conditions occasioned by the Spring breakup and the current wet weather. Several lanes have been so treated. The heavy rains occasioned considerable cutting of the roadway of High Street near Douglas Road, and this has received suitable attention.

That portion of Falls Street extending from Victoria Street to the lane to the South, and which has been in a poor condition owing to narrowness, is now being improved. We are building a curb consisting of concrete blocks along the lane from Kootenay Street which will give about three feet extra width and make the corner easier to negotiate, particularly for large trucks. The road surface will be built up a matter of 12 inches, this also making the turn easier, and the storm waters will be confined on the East side and will drain into the catch basin in Victoria Street, thus eliminating the danger from storm waters cutting the bank down into the lower portion of Falls Street.

ROCK WALLS
Carb-nate Street East of Josephine—The rock wall to support the sidewalk and grade in this block has been continued. The rock has been cut on City owned property bordering the Ymir Road. One large boulder on Vancouver Street is also being cut for the same purpose.
A low stone retaining wall in the lane East of Hendryx Street, South of Victoria Street, undermined by running water, has been repaired and also a wall on High Street.

GRAVEL PIT
Operations at the gravel pit have been continued steadily except for a shutdown on Saturday in order to better line up some of the bearings recently babbitted. The continued wet weather has made classifying of the sand and pea gravel difficult.

DRAINAGE
Douglas Road Sewer—Municipal Project No. 41—The work on the Douglas Road sewer is now nearing its close. The whole of the sewer on Douglas Road itself is completed and that portion designed to catch the considerable stream crossing near A derson Street is also nearing completion. A branch extension up Union Street is being laid and will be completed shortly.
A sewer connection to the Tupper house on Union Street has been laid, and a sewer connection to the new Irwin house on the Hall-Hoover intersection is now being laid. There is a great deal of seepage water and quicksands in this latter area and our ditch is required to close lagged.

Nelson Revenue Loan Is $75,000

Revenue anticipation loan bylaw, to authorize borrowing of $75,000 by the City until taxes are paid, was given two readings by the City Council Tuesday night.
Four other bylaws as yet incomplete, to establish tax rates for 1940, were also read twice in order that their passage later might not be delayed. Mill rates have yet to be determined with the exception of that for the Municipal Library, which is set at 1.1 mills to raise $4315.98.
The Penalties Bylaw to establish penalties for non-payment of taxes, local improvement taxes and sewer rentals, also received two readings. This sets a penalty of 5 per cent on sums owing August 1, and a further 5 per cent on sums owing at December 15.
Mountain lions and leopards have been crossed successfully.
