SCORE DEAD AS GREEK SHIP HITS MINE

LABOR SEEMS CERTAIN TO HOLD REINS, LONDON COUNTY COUNCIL

TAKE 54 SEATS AS DAY'S COUNT COMES TO END

40 Go to Municipal Reform Party; 30 to Come

LITTLE CHANGE IN SEATS CONTESTED

Labor Gains Four From M.R.P. But Loses Three to It

LONDON, March 5 (Friday) (CP cable). — Labor appeared early today to have won another three-year term as the government of vast Greater London.

Returns in the London county council election of yesterday showed at 2 a.m. (6 p.m. P.S.T. Thursday) that Labor had taken 54 seats with 40 going to the Municipal Reform party made up of most of the groups opposing Labor.

The remaining 30 seats will be announced late today as counting was ended for the night. As little change took place in the 94 seats counted, it appeared certain the Labor administration headed by Herbert Morrison, so-called "prime minister of London" had achieved victory.

In 1934 Labor elected 69 councillors to 55 for Municipal Reform. Of the 124 seats, four were filled yesterday by acclamation of Municipal Reform candidates.

FOUR GAINS

Labor scored four gains, in Wadsworth Central, East Fulham and two in Stoke Newington, all from Municipal Reform. The reform party gained three, Fulham West and two in West Woolwich, from Labor.

Voting ran much heavier than in 1934 when approximately one-third of the electorate voted. Total registered voters are approximately 950,000 men and 1,100,000 women.

W. H. Webbe, leader of the Municipal Reform, conceded defeat for the party early today.

Among those elected were Earl Beatty, son of the late admiral of the fleet, who won a seat in Peckham. G. R. Strauss, Morrison's right hand man, also was reelected despite charges of "Communism" aimed at him by the opposition, based on his signing the "united front" manifesto of the Independent Labor party, the Socialist party and the Communist party.

Fascists were defeated in Bethnal Green, North East Shoreditch and Limehouse.

Lanigan Heads Coast Terminals

J. Warren Chairman of the Board of Directors

NEW WESTMINSTER, March 4 (CP).—W. B. Lanigan of Victoria was elected president of Pacific Coast Terminals Ltd., at the company's annual meeting here today.

Other officers include: G. M. Warren, Vancouver, vice-president; Norman Howard, Vancouver, secretary-treasurer.

J. J. Warren of Toronto was chairman of the board of directors which includes Hon. A. Wells Gray, minister of lands for British Columbia: G. M. Warren, Robert Bone, W. T. Moody, A. N. Skill and Mr. Lanigan.

Valentine Quinn, who recently tendered his resignation as managing director of the cold storage and docking company, will be retained in his position for the present at request of directors.

BLAST WRECKS CRUISER

SEATTLE, March 4 (AP).—An explosion today wrecked the 36-foot power cruiser Pandora, belonging to T. B. Morrison of Anacortes, and injured two persons as the craft was being fueled for its maiden voyage.

Mr. and Mrs. Morrison and A. E. Bean, mechanic, aboard the Pandora were uninjured. Flying glass from the superstructure struck Roy Chase, an attendant at the dock, and John Corbett, working on his boat a few yards away.

Preliminary investigation attributed the blast to gasoline fumes.

SUGGESTS WHEAT KING FOR THE SENATE

EDMONTON, March 4 (CP)—Herman Trelle, the Wembley, Alta., farmer who won the world wheat title five times, was suggested for the senate today. H. J. Ash, Social Credit member for Olds made the suggestion in the legislature today and he hoped it would be accepted quickly "before some hide-bound politician is sent down there."

URGES TECHNICAL ADVISER FOR THE ALBERTA GOV'T.

Social Credit Member Says Ministers Too Busy

By J. F. SANDERSON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

EDMONTON, March 4 (CP).—Appointment of a Social Credit technical expert to plan the new economic order for Alberta, was urged in the legislature today by A. L. Blue (S.C.-Ribstone).

"I believe the members of the cabinet," the Social Credit member said, "have too much work to do in their respective departments, to work out technical points in the plan for Social Credit and I suggest that the government secure, as soon as possible the services of a technical adviser with a council or committee of at least three Social Credit technical experts to confer with the government and be responsible to this assembly for results. I have always said and still think that it is necessary to have technical experts to help out the delicate problems that are involved. The sooner we do this, the better for all concerned."

The Ribstone member also criticized the government for considering sending Premier Aberhart to the coronation. He said Alberta should not spend money on the celebration while so much poverty existed here.

Gas Tax Boosted in Washington

OLYMPIA, Wash., March 4 (AP).—The senate late today passed a bill to add an extra half-cent to the gasoline tax for financing a $5,500,000 secondary road program.

The vote was 27 to 17 and came as a surprise, considering the house twice voted down bills to increase the gas tax one cent. The bill now goes to the house.

It was one of several measures dealing with highways which came before the legislature today. Other developments included:

The house passed a measure denying gasoline tax refunds to industrial tractors such as are used at Grand Coulee dam. Rep. Carl Devenish (Lincoln) explained $200,000 would be taken in under the measure.

The half cent extra gasoline tax would be paid by the distributor, according to terms of the bill, but senators declared it would mean the tax would be passed on to the consumer, "as usual."

RELIEFERS HAVE OWN HEALTH INSURANCE

NEW WESTMINSTER, March 4 (CP).—Relief recipients of Matsqui municipality, 30 miles east of New Westminster in the Fraser valley, enjoy the services of their own health insurance scheme.

All relief workers contribute $1 each of their monthly allowance to the scheme, Reeve George Cruickshanks told delegates of the Fraser Valley Reeves' association at a meeting here. Of this money, three-quarters goes to the doctor who serves the contributors, the other quarter for the purchase of medicine.

GETS DIVORCE AS HER HUSBAND IS BIBLE STUDENT

ALTONA, Germany, March 4 (AP)—Because her spouse was an "incorrigible International Bible Student", a court today granted a Nazi wife's plea for divorce after 33 years of married life. She said her husband persisted in associating with the forbidden religious group although he had been held repeatedly in concentration camps.

EXPECT WORD TODAY ON THE FRENCH FRANC

To Stabilize It at Its Present Parity in Britain, U.S.

HOPE TO LOOSEN HOARDED GOLD

Also Want to Bring Money Back to Country

PARIS, March 4 (AP).—Stabilization of the franc at its present parity with the pound sterling and the United States dollar is expected to be announced by the cabinet tomorrow, sources close to the ministry of finance said tonight.

The government, having sounded out the British and United States governments, they said, will fix the rate at about 21.50 francs to the dollar and 105.15 francs to the pound.

These sources added the cabinet also is expected to announce constitution of a technical committee under chairmanship of Prof. Charles Rist, economist and former vice-governor of the Bank of France, to work with the ministry of finance in coping with the economic and financial situation.

Vincent Auriol, minister of finance, conferred with the chairmen of the finance committees of the senate and the chamber of deputies on decrees to be approved at tomorrow's cabinet meeting.

Appointment of Professor Rist as head of the new technical committee, these sources asserted, was expected to improve confidence in financial quarters since he is recognized as an able financier.

Informed sources said Emile Labeyrie, governor of the reorganized Bank of France, would remain in his post.

Earlier, informed financiers said stabilization at about 22 francs to the dollar and removal of restrictions were to be the most important points in the government program.

Government securities jumped upward on reports of measures about to be taken.

The contemplated measures, it was said, would be aimed at restoring confidence, coaxing back an estimated $4,600,000,000 invested abroad, and loosening hoarded gold.

The government needs several billions of francs to meet end-of-month payments and hopes to borrow from money repatriated as a consequence of renewed confidence.

Woman Appointed Deputy Mining Recorder

VICTORIA, March 4 (CP).—Mrs. Annie A. Kynoch was appointed deputy mining recorder at Fort St. James by provincial order today, in place of Alec Kynoch. Twenty per cent of the fees collected were set aside as remuneration for the post.

T. P. Junkin, Editor, Dies in U. S.

LOGAN, W. Va., March 4 (AP)—Tom Parker Junkin, 67, veteran editor of mid-western newspapers, died today from pneumonia. His half century of newspaper work saw him as city editor of the Detroit (Mich.) Journal; managing editor of the Grand Rapids (Mich.) Herald; and owner and publisher of the Buffalo (Minn.) Journal.

PICKETS TO BE WITHDRAWN AT SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, March 4 (AP)—Threatened disruption of relations between employers and longshoremen was averted tonight when the Sailors' union announced pickets would be withdrawn from the Canadian steamer Rochelie, thus permitting stevedores to resume work tomorrow.

PRAYER BRINGS BACK HEARING AND SPEECH

INGERSOLL, Ont., March 4 (CP).—Shocked by lightning three years ago, James Gibbs lost his speech and hearing. He now has fully recovered after, he said, "I prayed and went to church" continuously during the past three weeks.

Alberta to Appeal Securities Act Verdict

EDMONTON, March 4 (CP). — The Alberta attorney-general's department today filed notice of appeal against the judgment of Mr Justice W. C. Ives declaring the Provincial Securities Interest act was unconstitutional.

The Alberta debt moratorium announced February 23 does not apply to mortgage debtors residing outside the province even in cases where the property is under cultivation of Alberta tenants, Mr. Justice T. M. Tweedie ruled in supreme court chambers today. He granted an order for forced sale of a property.

HAWKS DEFEAT CANADIENS, 5-3

MONTREAL, March 4 (CP)—Chicago Black Hawks, keeping alive the faintest of hopes for a National hockey playoff berth, defeated the section leading Montreal Canadiens 53 tonight for their thir victory in five days.

Before some 5000 fans, Johnny Gottselig ran up a two-goal first-period lead. The teams split four goals in the second period and two in the third.

Hawks skated Canadiens ragged most of the way, showing a classier brand of hockey than at any time in Montreal this season. George Mantha with the first of two goals, cut their lead once in the second period and Paul Haynes did it again eight minutes later after Wildor Larochelle and Paul Thompson had fired past goalie Wilf Cude. Pep Kelly and Mantha split the last pair.

Only Cude's brilliant work during the last half of the third period, when his defence left him alone almost all the time prevented Hawks running up a wide margin.

RAILWAYS LOSE $38,000,000 TO TRUCKS, BUSES

Such Is Annual Figure States Economist of C. N. R.

EQUAL TO 16 P.C. TOTAL TRAFFIC

Senate Committee on Railways Hears of Competition

OTTAWA, March 4 (CP).—Canadian railways lost $38,000,000 a year attributable to competition from trucks and busses, Bernard Allen, Canadian National railways economist, told the senate railways committee today as it strove to reach a decision on the transport bill.

Trucks competed with railways "up to hauls of 1088 and 2000 miles," Mr. Allen said. He specified shipments of frozen fish from Winnipeg to New York city.

The gross yearly loss represented a little more than 16 per cent of the total freight traffic and was from all highway traffic, provincial, inter-provincial and international.

He endorsed the clause of the transport bill which would give a federal body control over inter-provincial, Dominion and international highways traffic because he felt it would provide a uniformity of regulation.

The bill would authorize a new board of transport commissioners, set up in place of the present board of railway commissioners, to regulate certain forms of rail, air, water and highway traffic.

HOWE DEFENDS BILL

Transport Minister C. D. Howe defended his bill and said its object was to "obtain stabilization of the transport industry in Canada in the public interest as well as of those engaged in transportation."

Striking back at critics who have indicted the bill before the committee during the past two weeks, the minister said objections were based chiefly on "misconceptions of the results which might arise from application of regulation in all forms of transport."

He promised amendments to the bill which he would announce later but made one concession today. Coastal shipping on the Atlantic and Pacific would not be included under the regulatory powers of the board of transport commissioners, he said, but added shipping from St. John, N.B., and Halifax to Montreal or great lake ports would be controlled.

The suggestion water transport between the maritime provinces and some points on the St. Lawrence river and the great lakes should be free of regulation could not be accepted, Mr. Howe said.

With regard to transport by air, it was not the intention at present to make rate regulation apply in the case of irregular services in northern Canada such as those in mining areas, Mr. Howe said.

The committee adjourned until Tuesday.

CALL TENDERS FOR RADIO BEACON BUILDING, GRAND FORKS AIRPORT

GRAND FORKS, B.C., March 3.—Tenders are being called for a radio beacon building at Grand Forks by the department of transport, Ottawa, as part of the transcanada airway facilities here.

Construction is to be completed by May 15. Federal appropriation for airway equipment here is $32,500 which is presumed to include four steel towers 125 feet high.

Recent news from Ottawa reflected a doubt in the possibility of inaugurating air mail service to the coast this year but demand for completion of radio beam here by the middle of May is taken as implying Ottawa's effort to have the service to go into effect on July 1 as originally announced by the transport minister.

LUISE RAINER AND PAUL MUNI GET AWARDS FOR BEST PERFORMANCES

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., March 4 (AP). — Luise Rainer tonight received the award of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences for the best performance by an actress in 1936, for her work in "The Great Ziegfeld."

Paul Muni was voted the award for the best performance by an actor, for his portrayal of the title role in "The Story of Louis Pasteur."

Awards for the best supporting actress and actor went to Gail Sondergaard for her work in "Anthony Adverse," and to Walter Brennan for his performance in "Come and Get It."

The best production was voted to have been "The Great Ziegfeld."

Frank Capra won the best direction award for his "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town."

Sheridan Gibney and Pierre Collings were double winners, taking the awards jointly for the best original story and the best screen play, "The Story of Louis Pasteur."

"Insulted" Hitler

MAYOR F. H. LA GUARDIA OF NEW YORK.

CHARGE HITLER IS INSULTED BY MAYOR OF N.Y.

Germany Protests to U. S.; Hull Hints "Regret"

WASHINGTON, March 4 (AP).—Germany complained to the United States today that Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia of New York had insulted Adolf Hitler.

A representative of the German embassy lodged a vigorous protest at the state department. Secretary Hull voiced an informal expression of regret.

ADOLF HITLER

Speaking yesterday to the women's division of the American-Jewish congress, Mayor La Guardia suggested a "chamber of horrors" at the 1939 New York world fair, to contain "a figure of that brown-shirted fanatic who is now menacing the peace of the world."

La Guardia said today of the protest: "They ought to protest. For I know of no artist or designer who can adequately paint or carve anything that will adequately depict either the personalities of the Nazi government, Hitler himself, or the type of government he is giving."

Secretary Hull promised an immediate investigation. He indicated a formal expression of regret would be conveyed after published accounts of the address are officially verified.

"Naturally," the secretary of state told newspapermen, "when any citizen of this country, no matter what he may think of the domestic policies of another country, engages in expressions and utterances reasonably calculated to be offensive to another government with which we have official relations it is a matter of regret to this government."

Red Wings Upset Rangers 2-1

DETROIT, March 4 (CP)—New York Rangers' drive to recapture second place in the National hockey league's United States division was stopped tonight. Detroit Red Wings turned them back 2-1 in their last appearance here this season.

Rangers hit a fast pace, only to be balked by Normie Smith's superb net minding. The Detroit goalie kicked out shot after shot during the third-period New York power plays.

Art Dillon put Rangers ahead at 4:09 of the first period. Bucko McDonald tied the score a minute and 32 seconds later, taking the puck from Wally Kilrea at the side of the New York goal to beat Dave Kerr.

Pete Kelly's third goal at 5:16 was Detroit's winning tally, climaxing a play in which Wally Kilrea passed to Goodfellow at left wing and Goodfellow fed it to Kelly in front of the nets.

QUITS C. N. E. BOARD

TORONTO, March 4 (CP)—Alderman Donald MacGregor today resigned from the board of directors of the Canadian National exhibition. He charged "chicanery and crookedness" in the election of the city council representative to the board.

TWO SURVIVORS OF TRIPLETS NAMED

NORTH BAY, Ont., March 4 (CP).—The two survivors of North Bay's triplets, born Monday, were named today by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan Brown. They will be called Elsie and Elaine.

Freighter Becomes a Floating Torch When Gasoline Takes Fire

Scene of Tragedy Off Spanish Coast Is Near Where British and French Freighters Struck Mines Within Past Week

VESSELS RUSH TO RESCUE, SEE CREW SEEKING ESCAPE FROM BLAZING CRAFT

Most of Crew of 24 Believed Dead; Two Bodies Washed Ashore; Rebel Shells Scream in Madrid Residential Areas

BARCELONA, March 4 (CP-Havas).—The Greek freighter Loukie was afire and sinking off the northeastern Spanish coast tonight after striking a submerged mine, which, it was believed, killed most of the crew of 24.

Some survivors were picked up, according to reports reaching here. Two bodies were washed ashore.

The tragedy occurred close to the spot where a British and a French freighter narrowly escaped the same fate within the past week. The explosion took place an hour after the 2143-ton freighter sailed from Port Veneres, a French port near the Spanish border.

RUSH TO RESCUE

Nearby vessels rushed to the rescue, attracted by the flames as the Loukie's cargo of 3000 tons of gasoline caught fire. The ship, which carried no wireless, was a floating torch by the time they arrived. Several of the crew could still be seen, seeking escape.

The French freighter Marie-Therese le Borgne hit a mine off Cape Creus, slightly to the north, last month. It put into Palamos under its own power, however. The British steamship Llandovery Castle, with 227 passengers aboard, struck a mine two miles southeast of Cape Creus on February 25. Her hull ripped open by the blast the ship limped the few miles to Port Vendres.

MADRID, March 4 (AP).—Insurgent shells screamed into Madrid's residential districts tonight, causing casualties among civilians.

Official reports said the government's southern army, trying to keep the insurgents away from the seaport of Almeria, had cut a road between Orgiva and Velez Benaudalla, lying just north of Motril and occupied by insurgents operating out of Granada.

Government soldiers also gained possession of heights dominating Orgiva and were pressing toward Velez Benaudalla in an effort to cut the main Oranada-Motril highway at that point, these reports said.

Insurgents suffered their severest blow in the University city suburb where one of their major redoubts—Clinic hospital—was damaged by explosion of a mine.

21 BELIEVED DEAD

PORT VENDRES, France, March 4 (CP).—Twenty-one crew members of the Greek tanker Loukia were believed drowned tonight after their vessel struck a mine and sank off Capo de Creus, easternmost point of the Spanish mainland.

Spanish fishermen found three badly burned sailors, the only known survivors of the 24-man crew, who swam ashore and collapsed on the beach.

A terrific explosion followed striking the mine and the 3000 tons of gasoline on board flared up.

Victoria Liberal Head Believed to Have Shot Self

VICTORIA, March 4 (CP).—Harold M. McGiverin, president of the Victoria Liberal association, died in his suburban Oak Bay home today from a bullet wound that police said apparently was self-inflicted.

A .44 calibre revolver was found beside the body.

PATTULLO AND HART ON WAY BACK TO B. C.

VICTORIA, March 4 (CP).—Hon. T. D. Pattullo, premier, and Hon. John Hart, have left Ottawa and are now en route back to the coast, provincial offices were advised today. Ben Hethey, the premier's secretary, has already returned.

The premier and Mr. Hart are expected at Vancouver Tuesday, though the possibility was held out that Mr. Pattullo might go to Prince Rupert first. By the middle of next week the entire cabinet of eight ministers is expected to assemble here with a number of important decisions to be made.

"RED" TROOPS IN WHITE

MOSCOW, March 4 (AP).—Red troops forming the outer line of defence for Moscow became today an army in white—the better to remain concealed from a hypothetical enemy in a week of war games.

Manoeuvres started in deep snow about 106 miles west of the capital. The soldiers were in white uniforms. Correspondents reported tanks, guns and airplanes were painted white.

PORT OF NEW WESTMINSTER RATED "OPEN"

SEATTLE, March 4 (AP).—The British Columbia port of New Westminster was declared "open" by officials of the Pacific Coast Maritime federation here tonight.

Informed sources indicated the decision might result in action by the Sailors' Union of the Pacific freeing the Canadian steamer Rochelie, tied up by pickets at San Francisco.

(The Rochelie, owned by the Kingsley Navigation company of Vancouver, B.C., was released from picket lines tonight).

Heretofore, all British Columbia ports have been considered "closed" by the International Longshoremen's union.

Matt Meehan, secretary-treasurer of the Pacific coast district of the I.L.A., said the action was an effort on the part of maritime workers to "avert another tieup" which he said was threatened by the Rochelie situation.

JOSEPH HOCKING, NOVELIST, DIES

LONDON, March 4 (CP Cable).—Joseph Hocking, novelist, died today at his Cornwall home.

A prolific writer, Hocking reached perhaps the height of his career with his war stories that achieved wide circulation, among them were "All for a Scrap of Paper," "Tommy" and "The Path of Glory."

He was a Nonconformist minister from 1884 to 1910 when he retired.

ALL QUIET ON "SPUD" FRONT

VANCOUVER, March 4 (CP)—All was quiet on the potato front tonight as white farmers picketing bridges elading from lower mainland farming communities to Vancouver reported no attempts had been made to break through their lines with "bootleg" produce for the metropolitan market.

The pickets, estimated to number between 100 and 200 men, were stationed at bridges from Richmond, Surrey and Delta municipalities to stop the alleged flow of orientalgrown potatoes in contravention of orders of the British Columbia Coast Vegetable marketing board.

Earlier today a summons was issued at Brighouse, Richmond municipality, charging Chung Chuck, Chinese, with intent to do bodily harm and wounding. Chung will appear March 10 before Magistrate C. L. Filmore at Brighouse.

BLAIRMORE HIGH STUDENTS ON STRIKE

Protest Expulsion of Editor of School Paper

BLAIRMORE, Alta., March 4 (CP).—An afternoon "stay-out" strike of Blairmore high school students from their class rooms brought quick reprisal from the school board today. Seventeen strikers, from grades 11 and 12, were expelled indefinitely.

The strike was called Wednesday afternoon when the editor of the school paper was expelled by Principal M McPherson after a dispute over placing a notice on the school bulletin board.

Music Teacher Praises Herbal Remedy Highly

Took Harris' Wondro —Now in the "Pink"

This well-known Vancouver music teacher obtained such benefits from Harris' Wondro that now he recommends it to all his friends when they're not up to the mark. Read his sincere praise for Harris Wondro in the letter to Mr. Harris, which is printed below.

Dear Sir:—Harris' Wondro is certainly all that it is claimed to be. I for one, would never be without it. I was troubled with my stomach a great deal in the past and rarely felt well. However, since taking Harris' Wondro I always feel in the pink of condition and give your medicine all the credit for bringing about this change. I recommend Harris' Wondro to any of my friends who I think need it and those who have given it a trial agree with me that it is an outstanding remedy.—Yours truly, Len Holland. Teacher of Piano Accordian, Violin, Saxaphone. 422 Richards Street, Vancouver, B.C. Phone Highland 1345L.

The healing properties of Harris' Wondro are assimilated in the blood and are thereby circulated throughout the body, supplying needed elements to every weakened, rundown part of the system. Harris' Wondro is a herbal tonic that tones up the digestive system and aids the stomach, bringing relief and new strength. Order a treatment of Harris' Wondro for yourself, today!

Calgary Team May Play Trail

TRAIL, B.C., March 4. — Trail Smoke Eaters worked out at the rink Thursday night in anticipation of a possible game with either of the Calgary senior teams, Rangers or Bronks. Definite word as to whether either team would come to Trail for an exhibition feature is expected by Friday morning.

ASTHMA

High powered advertisers keep people trying their "relief" remedies, but we get more and more of such cases as the merits of "Davis Asthma Remedy No. 7895" become known. $3.50 at any drug store. Davis, New Westminster.

Board Pays Silent Tribute to Memory of Mrs. Rutherford

After hearing a eulogy of the late Mrs. William Rutherford, by W. J. E. Biker, a neighbor for 25 years, including references to the great contribution she made to the life and fame of this district, and to seconding remarks by Ven. Archdeacon Fred H. Graham, who stated Mrs. Rutherford had become known to all Canada by her writings on gardening, the board of trade council Thursday stood in silent tribute to her memory, and gave instructions for letters of condolence to be sent to Mr. Rutherford, and to her daughter, Mrs. F. S. Willis of Trail.

B.C.-ALBERTA SERIES IS NOT SCHEDULED YET

Edmonton Is "Pulling" for Series States McDonald

That so far no assurance had been given that the first game of the B.C.-Alberta Allan cup playdowns would be scheduled for British Columbia ice was stated by A. W. McDonald of Trail, B.C.A.H.A. president, at the Nelson-Vancouver game Thursday night.

It had been suggested only, Mr. McDonald said, that the first game might be played in British Columbia, and March 10 had been offered as a possible date.

Edmonton Dominions, one of the Alberta finalists, were pulling for both games of the B.C.-Alberta series to be played in that city, he added. So far no announcement has been made as to where the series will be played.

The Nelson civic centre commission was recently asked by C.A.H.A. officials for terms upon which the Nelson arena might be used, and announcement was made locally at the time that the terms appeared acceptable to the Canadian hockey body. Announcement was made even as to admission prices.

Two Basketball Games Tonight

Two basketball games are scheduled for the civic recreation hall this evening. Starting at 8 o'clock the Candy Box Maple Leafs will meet the Gelinas Red Sox in a girls' league game, and at 9 p.m. the B.C. Telephone club will attempt to defeat the Grocers and retain a chance of tying for first place in the senior men's league. The Telephone quintet must win tonight, and also against the Fairview A. C. squad next week, to tie for top place with the Grocers.

MAYOR DENIES CITY TURNING DOWN REQUEST

Promise Board Answer on Publicity in Fortnight

BUT NECESSARY TO SCAN FUNDS

Arguing that it was a sound procedure for the council to be posted on the matter of available revenue before it decided what grant to make toward publicity work, Mayor J. P. Morgan told the council of the board of trade Thursday that the city fathers would be able to let the board know in a fortnight's time what it would be able to do on this matter.

Mayor Morgan, Aldermen Roy Sharp, T. W. Slader, A. G. Ritchie and P. G. Morey and City Clerk W. E. Wasson were guests of the board council at the semi-monthly luncheon, for the purpose of exchanging views on publicity.

The mayor, when called on by President W. B. Bamford, said the city council at its last meeting decided to leave the decision about the grant until the estimates were brought down and the council had knowledge from the city clerk of what revenue could be expected from the utilities and from taxes.

Stating he didn't think there was any idea of turning the board down, he suggested the board need be in no hurry, as the council would soon be in possession of the information needed.

SPECIAL CALLS

There were, however, some special calls on the city that must influence the estimates. For instance, there was going to be a mining convention, and there was talk of a civic grant being expected. The city would be holding a coronation fete, and fetes cost money. It was hinted that the city needed a new fire truck, which would possibly cost $10,000.

Apart from special calls, the council recently restored salaries and wages of civic employees to their former figure, a popular move, that however meant a $10,000 increase in the expenditures.

There was also the matter of the civic centre, for which $180,000 had been borrowed, but $285,000 spent, the difference being made up by robbing other departments.

Obviously, no one wanted to see the taxes increased, but the streets and other facilities and services must be kept up, and it was only reasonable that the council should know where the money was coming from before it made a grant. He estimated that in a couple of weeks the council could tell the board what it could do.

The mayor's statement was applauded.

McHARDY APPRECIATES

Following the mayor, C. F. McHardy expressed appreciation of the position taken by the mayor, and said what the board was desiring at this stage was the assurance of the city's sympathetic support.

He referred to the recent successful effort to bring district people to Nelson, 1500 visitors coming and leaving money here, and he asked the city fathers to believe that the board would not spend money on publicity unless it expected beneficial results.

At the opening of the session, President Bamford welcomed the civic visitors, declaring that the city fathers and the board of trade were both interested deeply in the welfare of Nelson, and that the board was glad to have them in conference, and to have them observe the board's business.

There are about a million and a half more motors vehicles in the United States now than in 1929.

Trail Cagers Play at Natal Tonight

TRAIL, B.C., March 4 —Trail Elephants, senior B. basketball champions of the province last year left the city Thursday for Natal where they will meet the Pirates of that city in an East-West Kootenay playoff match for the right to continue in the British Columbia playdowns.

Those on the team are: Earl LeRoy, Len Wilson, R. Battistella, Baker Merlo, Ralph Fraser and Booney Sammartino.

Curlers to Start Plugs and Colts Competition

The Colts and Plugs competition is on tap for the Nelson Curling club, opening with six games at the rink this evening. The competition will continue throughout next week.

This competition is a knockout event, in which each side, Plugs and Colts, play down to a winning rink, and the winning rink of each side meet in a final game.

For the new competition a complete redrawal of rinks took place, the new rinks being as follows, with skip, third, second and lead being named in that order in each rink:

Plugs—

R. Andrew, W. R. Dunwoody, J. M. Gordon, J. H. Allen.

W. T. Fotheringham, A. H. Whitehead, J. H. Long, G. W. Fleming.

W. J. E. Biker, F. H. Graham, E. E. L. Dewdney, H. MacKenzie.

A. Kraft, G. Dill, J. Dingwall, R. A. Peebles.

TRAIL'S FIREMEN BATTLE FLAMES NEARLY 3 HOURS

TRAIL, B.C., March 4.—Extensive damage was done to stock in the rear basement warehouse of Safeway Stores, Ltd., Cedar avenue, by fire early Thursday morning. City firemen worked feverishly for two hours and 40 minutes to extinguish the blaze. It was confined to the basement, badly charring wooden walls, joints and ceiling.

Attracted by the smell of smoke and the sound of crackling flames about 12:30 a.m., Ernest Hunt, proprietor of a nearby store, turned in the alarm.

Included in the loss are large quantities of potatoes, shortening, canned goods and a number of sacks of flour.

W. J. McCann, district supervisor of Safeway Stores, gave no estimate of the loss.

Origin of the fire could not be determined.

With Stane and Besom at Nelson

Playing 10 ends of a 7-7 draw in an inter-sectional playoff game of the Second City Schedule competition of the Nelson Curling club, the skips of the opposing rinks J. J. McEwan and William Vance, each threw one rock to decide supremacy and McEwan's rock halting nearest the button, the game went to his rink.

Final games in the inter-sectional playoffs will be curled Friday night the draws being as follows: Leo McKinnon vs J. B. Gray, Ald. A. G. Ritchie vs W. Fotheringham, J. Bell vs McEwan, and the winner of Gray-McKinnon game vs winner of Ritchie-Fotheringham game. The final game between the winning rink of the latter game and winner of the Bell-McEwan match will meet in the final game on Monday or Tuesday night.

FIVE DECISION BOUTS FEATURE FIGHT SHOW WITH BOURDON WIN OVER McDONALD AS HIGHLIGHT

Lots Action, Enough Claret, Good Crowd Make the Show

TRAIL BOXER ON RECEIVING END

Ferguson Pounds Him; Dalgas Explains Battery Aim

The card:

"Kid" Kline decision over Bev Cady.

Stan Castle decision over Joe Benger.

Vic Muir, Nelson, decision over Billy Vines, Creston.

Irvin Ferguson, Creston, decision over Ernie Schwartz, Trail.

Billy Bourdon, Creston, decision over Fred McDonald, Nelson.

Plenty of action, enough claret for color and a crowd that liked the show made a sparkling affair of the boxing program presented at the Armory Wednesday night by Promoter W. W. Fisher under auspices of the 111th Field Battery, R.C.A., the first public function of this body.

Five decision bouts featured the evening, with Billy Bourdon's six-round victory over Fred McDonald climaxing it.

Major A. E. Dalgas, M.C., officer commanding battery, introduced before the final bout, stated the purpose of the formation of a battery here was not militaristic but purely for home defence, to be prepared for defence of homes and firesides if necessary. The battery would promote sports, socials and so on, he stated, its members working on the basis of "one for all and all for one."

Bourdon and McDonald lost no time in going into action, but Bourdon lost points on a low blow. They got in a lot of punches in the second, McDonald's nose suffering the chief damage. Bourdon was steadier and took few chances. They were both contributing claret at the close of the third, a round marked by rushes and toe to toe mills. Milling again featured the fourth, with Bourdon's right uppercuts counting heavily at the end.

McDonald got through to Bourdon's head on a couple of rushes in the fifth but had to absorb rights to the body as Bourdon forced him near the end of the round. Bourdon let McDonald do the rushing while he shot over the points blows in the final round.

Irvin Ferguson's decision over Ernie Schwartz wasn't popular with everyone, but repeated fouls by the Trail lad in the final round, hitting as they came out of clinches, counted heavily against him.

Lots of heft but not much speed, marked the first round, both boys working on the body for the most part. Ferguson drew the claret to Schwartz' nose early, and putting on the heat in the second had Schwartz wobbly and bleeding. Schwartz came out stronger in the third and carried the fight to Ferguson, but he took heavy punishment before the round was over. They started the fourth toe to toe, pouring leather into each other. Schwartz, repeatedly hitting after the break, lost points all the way.

This bout, considering Ferguson's plaid shorts, and Schwartz' lavender silks, plus the claret, was the most colorful of the evening.

Vic Muir was handed a decision over Billy Vines of Creston amid a chorus of boos. Muir was the more experienced boxer, and besides forcing the pace most of the time tied Vines up effectively. He scored heavily on clean blows. Vines made Muir miss plenty and was way ahead of the Nelson boy when it came to infighting.

Joe Benger and Stan Castle promised to go to town when Benger snapped Castle at the handshake, but they slowed up. Benger came out for a quick finish in the second, ran into a barrage and went over on his back. It slowed him up. Castle's attack had Benger out on his feet, hanging on the ropes, but he failed to follow even after his opponent dropped to his knees in the corner to save himself and the opportunity was gone. Benger was still willing in the third but Castle had him on the go—if he had followed up. There wasn't any question of Castle's victory.

Kid Kline took a three-round decision over Bev Cady in the opening prelim by virtue of forcing the pace all the way and directing his punches to better effect than Cady. They put on a worthwhile show.

Promoter Fisher handled the preliminary bouts, and Joe Holland called the breaks in the semi-windup and final. Gene Gillott took care of the introductions. Chief of Police Alex Stewart and W. W. King rendered judges' verdicts.

ALBERTA AND MANITOBA RINKS TO PLAY-OFF IN THE BRIER CURLING

Edmonton Men Score Spectacular Win to Go Into Tie for Canadian Championship

TORONTO, March 4 (CP)—Cliff Manahan, 49-year-old grainman from Edmonton, wrote a brilliant page in Brier curling history tonight, qualifying with an extra-end triumph to duel with 27-year-old Jimmy Welsh of Winnipeg tomorrow for the Canadian championship.

Manahan came roaring out of nowhere to hang a 13-10 defeat on Hugh Ferguson's surprising Nova Scotians and finish the nine-round title series in a deadlock with Manitoba. A few minutes earlier, Welsh had completed a 10-8 conquest of Saskatchewan, skipped by Frank Smith of Moose Jaw.

Bonspiel officials announced the Welsh and Manahan rinks would decide the championship over 12 ends tomorrow afternoon, starting at 2 o'clock. Third place was won outright by Emmett Smith's Haileybury rink, representing northern Ontario.

Beaten only once in the competition that started Monday, the Manitoba and Alberta quartets struggled through three matches on the final day to bring their win totals to eight.

The Ferguson marksmen started the ninth with a lead of 7-3. Manahan got two points back at the ninth but dropped another at the 10th.

In this situation the Edmonton rink pulled itself together and scored five on a daring shot by Manahan that meant the difference between victory and defeat. Alberta lay two shots and Manahan could draw his final shot for three. That would tie the score.

But Nova Scotia would have the advantage of last shot on the last end. Manahan figured he needed more than three. He called a conference of his rink—Wes Robinson, 22-year-old George Manahan, son of the skip and Lloyd McIntyre. The parley decided Skip Manahan would take the long chance.

So he endangered the position of his counters to get at the only Nova Scotia stone in the house. The final shot circled a guard, narrowly missed two Alberta rocks and wicked the Maritime stone out of the circle. There were just five Alberta stones left.

Judge C. R. Barry's New Brunswick team scored its only win of the series in the last draw, beating Prince Edward Island 13-6. British Columbia defeated Quebec 19-4 in the other night game.

STOP AND GO DRIVING IS COSTLY

Every time you start up from a normal traffic stop, you can waste enough gasoline to drive a third of a mile!

To cut down the high cost of today's stop-and-go driving in village, town, and city, Shell engineers developed a way to "balance" gasoline.

This balancing process rearranges the entire chemical structure of gasoline—makes it "digestible" for your engine—just as cooking makes food digestible for you.

Your motor gets the full benefit of Super-Shell's high energy content.

Super-Shell—the "MOTOR-DIGESTIBLE" gasoline is sold from coast to coast.

There's a Shell station in your neighborhood. Stop there "next time."

Visitors Have Fun at a Show Cranbrook High

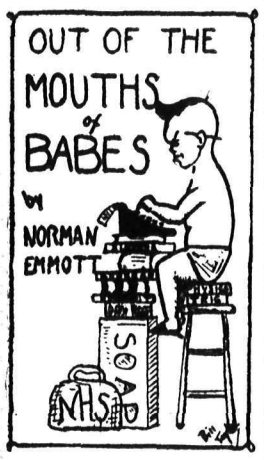
CRANBROOK, B.C.—Visitors' day at the high school saw more than 60 guests watching classes throughout the school for the first hour. Later they were guests at a concert presented by the pupils.

The Glee club, a recent development in the high school, with 25 members, conducted by E. Davies, opened the program with three songs. Accompanist was Miss Mae Voisey.

A sketch, written by Margaret Brien, entitled "Jack Benny and His Stars," was presented by the first and second year classes. It centred about an NBC microphone. Doug McKay, Jack Walsh, Mike Provenzano, Eleanor McKowan, Ken Carver, Bob Philips, Betty Carroll, Gordon Finley, Edith Slye, and Mary Philpott took part in the play.

The school orchestra played two numbers, "Dance of the Crickets" and "Poem."

The final item was a skit, "In Case It's Ever Necessary," with Nan McLeary playing the student of target teaching and Jack McLaren the teacher.



On Thursday the pupils were treated to a period of entertainment upstairs in the auditorium by various pupils and were the recipients of a talk by H. W. Laferre. A number of the pupils' parents were present and the boys and girls were naturally on their best behavior.

Bill MacCracken and Joe Gallicano were showing much interest in Bob Morris's doings. Bob was the master of ceremonies, and introduced speakers and performers, and cracked jokes in about equal proportions. The lads at the back complained the jokes were too deep for them, but then they would no doubt have caught the point if they hadn't been so occupied in carrying on a conversation.

Part of the time Bill MacCracken was talking out of the side of his mouth to Ken MacBride, but it may just have been a fellow feeling due to the fact that both have black hair and blue eyes. They were talking mainly about Jim Allan's choice of badminton shorts. George Russell, who was sitting in the same pew with Ken, Jim, Bill and Joe was the quietest fellow of the bunch. This is a pleasant change from his usual behavior, although he always tries to cooperate in order to help any school activity in any way he can. He never causes much of a commotion that would be likely to disturb others while entertainment is going on.

That Bill Twist is not a patriotic Scotchman is easy to see, because he took no interest in the tartan tie of J. B. Gray Jr., although Ralph Myers seemed to think the tie was just what the well-dressed young man should wear. Art Gusgott is another one who is blossoming out in Scotch neckwear, having a muffler and tie of the MacPherson tartan. Art had a big smile on his face when he was whistling "Love's Old Sweet Song" but that was mainly because everyone else was smiling also and smiling is infectious.

Stewie MacIntosh was parked next to Howie Campbell, proving that these Scotchmen stick together. Probably Howie owed Stewie some money.

Gordon Lindskog had his arm along the back of three chairs, proving that he doesn't keep to himself much. Henry Hartridge was behaving in his customary quiet manner and didn't turn around once in the whole period, even when Gordon had his chin draped over the back of his seat.

The community singing was popular although only every tenth person knew the words of any particular song. "Home on the Range" brought back sweet memories of his prairie farm home to Frank Swerydo, and he was weeping on Alex Manning's shoulder about it. Alex showed little interest but then one has to be raised on the plains to appreciate their delightfulness as a place to live.

PIANO MUSIC

George Russell was leaning on Jim Allan's shoulder in a very contented and comfortable position. This is rather a surprise because George had just found a sample letter in his composition text-book addressed to "Mrs. George Russell" and by rights he should have been looking worried. Perhaps it was just the sweet music of Billie Wallace and Daisy Norris were pounding out of the piano. It must have been very charming because Albert Bate was looking more human than usual. Cecil Maloney, beside him, had a reflective or introspective look on his face, probably because of the soothing effect of Bate's proximity. Billie Wallace appeared as usual with a wide smile.

Keith Younger was sitting in an aisle seat beside Ken Smith. I believe Ken was there to protect Keith from Helen Morrison, who occupied the next seat. Helen made so much fuss that Jack Gray asked me who she was. If she does that without moving and without saying a word we wonder what will happen if she tried to do something positive.

When Gary Bowell was singing in costume he was in the uniform of a petty officer of a ship. Knowing Gary's qualifications and attributes we wouldn't want him to start at the bottom as an ordinary seaman. I believe, however, that if he did start at the bottom while in the navy he'd be entirely out of luck. Clare Jewett was technical director of the production, he knowing how to draw pictures of Popeye the sailor.

SOOTHING MELODY

The powerful manner in which Frances Linville pounds the piano was convincingly demonstrated when Cece Maloney's reflective mein was noticed. It even had the power to soothe the savage Bate, who was unusually quiet although not absolutely without motion, as would have been the case if it had been a shorthand lesson. Frances' music was so sweet it even put a sentimental look on Edna Nelson's face. It is truly said that Miss Linville can play the piano.

Eric Lindgren played the piano some of the time, and the lad can really swing it. He didn't have much of a chance to show his wares that trip but on other occasions he has showed us the powers of the California sun in raising piano players.

Jerry Wallace was looking rather cool and collected but later explained the fact by saying he was sitting in a draught.

BADMINTON
(By Isabel Dawson)

Interest has waned in the High School badminton club this year but last Wednesday evening there was an unusually large turnout of players. The commencement of a tournament, in which a large number of entries was received, accounted for this fact.

Highlights of the evening—Brian Gore found it too troublesome to have fees in the form of pennies, nickels and dimes jingling about in his pocket when he was energetically running to swat the bird, so he turned over the whole lot to Kay Gallaher, our secretary, while all looked on enviously. Brian was also heard to be muttering some words indistinctly after he had carefully aimed for the bird and completely missed it—he was facing the pale green wall against which, it must be admitted, it is hard to see the bird, so we don't blame you, "Gubby," for misjudging your shot. Ken McBride and Jim Allan were the only males having enough courage to turn out in shorts—and no doubt this freedom helped a great deal in winning their games yet at the same time keeping cool. Betty MacDonald and Monty Strudwicke were playing a stiff exciting game against Edna McKenzie and Jim Allan, but they finally lost out. Jeannette Winlaw and Brownie Schupe began the evening with the resolution to win all the laurels, but their hopes were dashed to the ground after the first round. Don Wilson, an ex-high school student, filled the position of referee in an efficient and seemingly important manner. Bill McCracken was using a jack-knife to shave down to a splinter Frances Lincoln's pencil which she had been using to put down scores. Thelma Bird seemed to have a hard job in standing on her feet. Perhaps the reason for continually dusting the floor was that she was trying harder for the bird than the other girls. Kay Gallaher was having a terrible time trying to remember and jot down the names of all those who had paid entry fees that day, whilst getting all the more confused when various students would rush up to her with more coppers, nickels and dimes.

At the end of the evening Jean Gibson was looking high and low for her gum-boot—it was later discovered that Peter Pearce had it neatly cached away somewhere.

WOMEN'S CORNER

The latest in stylish bootwear among the girls seems to be spiked boots and "waders." We've even seen a pair of mocassins. The owner? Barbara Fink.

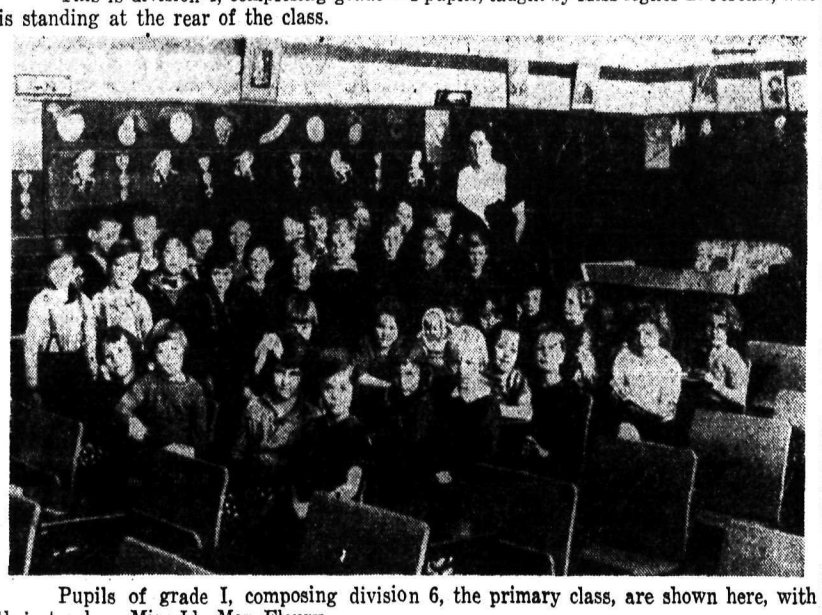
Have you noticed?—Isabel Dawson's purple tie—Brownie Schupe's signet ring—Naida Perrier's tri-colored gloves, blue, red and yellow—all the foolscap Betty MacDonald uses in writing "letters" to people in other classes.

Did you know that?—Elizabeth Thompson is left-handed—Jessie Lutes has an interest in the senior hockey team—Peggy Manahan changes her coiffure daily—Joy Ferguson is a horse chaser—Violet Wagstaff is worried; she wants a permanent but she can't have curls for the male part she's taking in one of the plays.

Hume Pupils Learn History From Play

Here is the cast of "Westward Ho!" a play given by grade V, taught by Miss Constance Smith: Top row, left to right, Bill Wetterhuus, Gordon Nelson, Robina Day, Jack Greer, Henry LeMoyne; third row, Leslie Stilwell, Teddy Hendricks, Ronald Felty, Leslie Horlick, Joe Crosby, Madge Kennedy, Earl Kline; second row, Bobbie Hendricks, David Lester, Bert Musfelt, Mary Leeming, Lorraine Frederickson, Chrissie Habegard, Myrtle Scott, Phyllis Percival; front row, Robert Kuhn, Rosalie Triggs, Ellen Watson, Carrie Langill, Bernard McNicol.

This is division 4, comprising grade III pupils, taught by Miss Agnes E. Jerome, who is standing at the rear of the class.



Pupils of grade I, composing division 6, the primary class, are shown here, with their teacher, Miss Ida May Fleury.

REFUSE UNLOAD SHIP AT COAST

Demand Work Done by I.L.A. Men

VANCOUVER, March 4 (CP).—United States maritime disputes crossed the international boundary into Canada waters today, halting unloading of the American-owned steamship West Ira as Vancouver members of the International Longshoremen's association and Inland Boatmen of the Pacific picketed the vessel on her arrival here.

Crew of the West Ira, owned by McCormick Steamship company of San Francisco, refused to provide steam for the ship's winches after conference with the pickets. About 100 tons of the ship's 550 tons of cargo had been unloaded when work stopped.

Union spokesmen said the West Ira's crew had communicated with Seattle offices of their organization, the Sailors' Union of the Pacific, and had been advised to refuse steam unless unloading was done by the Vancouver local of the I.L.A.

ENCOURAGE JUVENILE CRIME

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP). — Junk dealers who buy scrap iron from boys encourage them in crime, Magistrate David Brodie declares. Five boys were charged in a recent epidemic of metal thefts. A city bylaw prohibiting purchase of scrap from persons under 18 was being disregarded, the bench believed.

CHANCELLOR UNKNOWN TO MANY

TORONTO (CP).—All students at University of Toronto knew Rev. H. J. Cody is president, but 59 per cent did not know Sir William Mulock was chancellor, according to a Varsity, college paper, test. One thought the university motto "Velut Arbo Aevo" meant "Only God can make a tree."

300,000 AIR RAID WARDENS TO BE RECRUITED IN THE BRITISH ISLES

One Warden to Every 500 Inhabitants in All Residential Sections to Advise and Aid Before, During and After Air Raids

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, March 4 (CP Cable)—Three hundred thousand "air raid wardens" are to be recruited. They will be part of Britain's precautions against war from the skies.

Air raid wardens will be recruited by local authorities. Their duty will be to advise their fellow citizens on officially recommended precautions against air raids, assist in the distribution of civilian respirators and, in the event of war, play an active part in helping the public both during and after an air raid.

The wardens will operate from fixed posts and each will be responsible for a defined group of streets or a sector. During times of air raid each post will be manned by two or perhaps three wardens.

One air warden post will be established to every 500 inhabitants in residential districts and one to every quarter mile in industrial and business areas. Women as well as men may be recruited as wardens. They will be given full anti-gas training.

Details of the scheme are now being worked out for the distribution of civilian respirators.

In the air warden scheme the government is harking back to the days of the Napoleonic wars. Then street captains were appointed in coastal towns to organize the civilians' resistance, to invasion.

Heavy freight, such as mining machinery, is now carried at high altitudes up to 12,500 feet by planes in Peru.

NEW ELECTRIC STORE OPENS

Redden, McRory to Operate It as Partnership

Keenly Interested in Recreation, Sport Facilities Here

With the Nelson Electric company opening its doors Saturday a new business house is established in Nelson, John Redden and Ken McRory, late of Vancouver, operating it on a partnership basis.

Newcomers to the city, Mr. McRory and Mr. Redden have been deeply impressed with the sport and recreational facilities afforded in Nelson, and hope to take an active part in the activities of the community. Mr. McRory is especially interested in box lacrosse, having been closely connected with the activities of the Richmond club. Mr. Redden is well known in coast English rugby, in which he engaged with several teams, notably the Barbarians, and Occasionals. He is hopeful that the game may become popular in this district.

The new business house opens Saturday. Theirs is not a new association, for they were together for a time in Vancouver.

Mr. Redden had two years' sales experience at the coast in household and commercial lines of the electrical business. He took a course of a year and a half in England—a factory course in electrical equipment—which has given him an excellent background for his present venture.

Mr. McRory has for several years emphasized household and commercial electrical equipment and has specialized in electrical refrigeration. He gained his experience in sales and service work and benefitting by the General Electric company's training facilities. He was also employed in the electrical business in Kelowna. Mr. McRory is establishing his permanent business headquarters in Nelson, and expects his family to arrive shortly.

The new business will carry a full line of electrical products.

BOSWELL FOLK HEAR OF FIRST SCHOOL HOUSE

K Wallace Tells of the Pioneer Days in Community

BOSWELL, B.C.—In observance of Education week in Boswell a program was presented by the school children, the items being taken from their school work. A large number of parents and friends attended.

The visitors were welcomed by the teacher, Miss Walker.

Following was the program:

Essay, "Canadian Industry and Commerce," Kenneth Schaub.

Story and play, "The Shepherd Singer," story read by Marguerite van Koughnett, play acted by Arnold Cummings, Margaret Dodman, Dorothy Bingham, Mable Holden, Trafford Ascott, Ralph Shell and Jack Smith.

Essay, "Education, Yesterday and Today," Geraldine Dodman.

Talk, "Boswell's Pioneer Days," K. Wallace.

Play, "Hansel and Gretel," Jack Smith, Margaret Dodman, Marguerite van Koughnett, Trafford Ascott, Mable Holden, Albert van Koughnett, Blanche Boyd, Joan Bainbridge and Patsy Bainbridge.

"PIONEER DAYS"

K. Wallace, who spoke on "Boswell's Pioneer Days," has resided here as long or longer probably than any other. After describing the narrow, winding trails which, except for the lake provided the only means of transportation in the "early days," the speaker gave an account of the founding of the school.

The first school meeting was held at "Agokay," now the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Allen, and practically the whole adult population attended. It was decided that a school must be built and G. H. Bartley, W. Tangye and D. Davidson were elected trustees, with Mr Davidson as secretary. W. Tangye moved from Boswell shortly afterwards and Mr. Quinn succeeded him as trustee.

The site for the building was given by the late James Johnstone of Nelson. The school was built by voluntary labor under the leadership of the late G. H. Bartley, logs from the building site and from land nearby being used in the construction of the building.

In February, 1912, a social and dance was held, and the new building was formally opened by James Johnstone.

As one looked round the building on this occasion, Mr. Wallace said, it seemed difficult to believe that at that first social, as well as at many later ones, three sets of "Lancers" were on the floor. For many years, indeed, until the erection of the Memorial hall after the war, the school was the social centre of the settlement.

It opened its door to pupils in August, 1912, with Miss L. E. Symonds as teacher. Ten pupils were enrolled. In 1925 the teacherage was built by contract, the first occupant being Miss Elsie Frey.

From time to time fears have been entertained that there would not be enough pupils to keep the school open, but it had managed to keep going, and now, with 18 pupils on the roll, there seemed no danger of its having to close.

Mr. Wallace pointed out that the old building was becoming dilapidated and that a new school would become necessary before long.

Mrs. I. Lewis, H. L. Bingham, Clyde Bingham and Miss Margaret Bingham visited Creston.

Mrs. J. Kirkpatrick was a visitor to Creston.

Young People Have Hard Time Social

"Hard-Times" social was participated in by St. Paul's Young Peoples' society at St. Paul's church Tuesday evening. The literary group, convened by Miss Nettie Pickard, had charge of the entertainment. Various games and contests were held and later refreshments were served.

The literary group consists of Miss Margaret Findlater, Miss Jean Fisher, Miss Barbara McDonald, Miss Myrtle Thompson, Miss Lillian Bennett, Miss Edith Waterer and Gordon Stewart.

Bunker's Ranch at Balfour Is Sold to Dodman

C. F. McHardy Wednesday reported the sale of the Alfred Bunker fruit ranch at Balfour to Thomas Dodman of Creston, who will take possession almost at once, in order to get an early start with his spring work. Mr. Dodman has a wife and three grown daughters.

Mr. Bunker, who before the war lived in Nelson, has operated the ranch for the last 20 years or so. Its 10 acres are all under cultivation, eight being in orchard.

This ranch sale is the first to be reported for some time, Mr. McHardy stated, and is significant of the interest now being turned on fruit ranching, which is the subject of many inquiries.

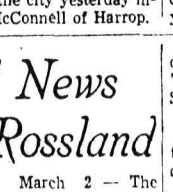
MENUS RECIPES and HINTS — By Mrs. Mary Morton



MENU HINT

Tomato Juice
Meat Cake
Canned Green Beans
Cabbage, Celery and Apple Salad
Brown Sugar Cake Tea or Coffee

This wouldn't be a bad menu for a Sunday night supper, and if you use it for that you can omit the beans, for instance, and maybe the tomato juice, and add hot rolls or baking powder biscuits.

TODAY'S RECIPES

Meat Cake—One pound raw pork sausage, three cups hot mashed potato, four onions, two cups bread crumbs, two eggs, well beaten; one tablespoon salt, one-half teaspoon pepper, one-half teaspoon baking powder. Mix and bake one hour in 400-degree oven. Nice for Sunday evening supper.

Brown Sugar Cake — One-third cup butter, one cup light brown sugar, one egg, two-thirds cup milk, one and one-half cups pastry flour, three teaspoons baking powder, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon cinnamon, one-fourth cup nut meats, one teaspoon vanilla, one-half teaspoon lemon extract. Cream butter, add sugar gradually, add egg, well beaten. Mix and sift flour, baking powder, salt and cinnamon, add alternately with milk to first mixture. Add flavoring and nuts, bake in eight-by-eight-inch pan and top with sea-foam frosting.

DELICIOUS SNACK

Sliced tomatoes dipped in grated cheese, placed on toast and browned in a moderate oven are delicious snacks to serve with coffee.

REMOVING RUST

Rust stains may be removed from washable materials by: (1) Rinsing the soiled garments in cold water; (2) sprinkling the stains with lemon juice; (3) then covering the stained area with a thin layer of salt, and (4) letting the garment or material lie out in the sun for two days before it is washed again. Grass stains may be removed with alcohol.

Worth calling for!

TODAY the call is for Shredded Wheat. In every golden grain of whole wheat Nature has stored vital elements which promote energy and resistance to disease, and bran to regulate the system. No food is more popular—light, digestible, nourishing, ready-to-serve in a variety of tempting ways. For the will to work and the zest to play—serve Shredded Wheat for breakfast every day.

Write what you think might be Johnny's "answer" to his dad's question. Read and follow the simple rules printed beside the picture and you may win one of the 62 cash prizes, also the $500.00 Grand Prize.

There will be 5 contests in all, each with a different picture. You can send as many "answers" as you wish, provided you comply with Rule No. 2.

Also packed in bags of various sizes.

A treat in store

Get a package of Ogilvie Oats from your dealer today. Have some for breakfast every morning. You'll soon begin to be stimulated by their health-giving properties, and you'll know what kind of an "answer" to write for Johnny. Ogilvie "Minute" Oats are small flake — light, creamy, nourishing, quick-cooking. "Ogilvie Oats" are large flake — easily prepared, a breakfast food favourite for years. Both are appetizing, delicious, satisfying and of superior flavour.

FOLLOW THESE SIMPLE RULES:

All you have to do is write what you think Johnny's "answer" might be. Prizes are awarded for the most appropriate and original "answers". Read the rules:

1 Fill in the coupon giving your answer, or use a separate sheet if you prefer.

2 Attach to each entry the small leaflet found in every package of Ogilvie Oats, or the name OGILVIE cut from the package (or a reasonably accurate copy of either).

3 Contestants may submit as many "answers" as they wish, but each must be accompanied by the leaflet, or the name cut from package as stated in rule 2 above.

4 This contest (No. 2) will close on March 11, 1937. Entries bearing a later postmark than this date will not be eligible.

5 Address your entry to Ogilvie "Missing Answer" No. 2, The Ogilvie Flour Mills Co., Limited, and mail it to the nearest office listed.

6 ONLY RESIDENTS OF CANADA may compete in these contests. Employees of The Ogilvie Flour Mills Co., Limited, and their families are not eligible.

7 In case of a tie the prize money will be equally divided. The committee of judges is composed of three independent, disinterested persons in no way connected with The Ogilvie Flour Mills Co., Limited, and their decisions will be final. No correspondence will be entered into and all entries will become the property of The Ogilvie Flour Mills Co., Limited.

RETAILERS: You share in this, too. The retailers named by the first-prize winners in each of the five individual contests will receive $25.00. The retailer named by the winner of the Grand Prize will receive $100.00.

TWENTY-ONE CENTENARIANS

Encyclopaedists and guide-book compilers treat Barga in the Italian province of Lucca with too little respect. They record its existence, but ignore its distinction. Who would not have been present when on the last day of its carnival celebration it distinguished, honored and entertained its twenty-one centenarians. With high appropriateness the band played Giovinezza. Four hundred and five children and grandchildren of the guests paid to them filial tribute and shared with them the pleasures of the day.

Barga has cause to be happy, reason to be proud, of the durability of its people. But let it also be on guard. Its fame brings perils. Its hostelries are likely to be overcrowded by those whose ambition is to last a long time. Its healthfulness is bound to attract the scientist. The chemist will tear to bits its air, its wine, its cheese, the water of its fountains. The secret of longevity will be sought within its borders by the spoil sports of practicability, and when they have done their work, no centenarians will wish to survive.

THE DRIVE FOR FITNESS

There is a new scheme for making Britain a fitter nation. A White Paper has been published sketching the proposals, under which £2,000,000 is to be spent during the next three years. National advisory councils composed of young men and women who understand the feelings as well as the needs of youth will be established. A college of physical training will be established, and grants will be made to local authorities and to existing organizations to build more gymnasia, playing fields and swimming pools.

There was at one time a suggestion that physical training might be made compulsory, but this was rejected as alien to the national temper and traditions. Indeed the prospect of a national movement of this sort being necessary is in itself rather a shock to the traditional Englishman, who complacently accepted his innate superiority, physical as well as mental, to all foreigners.

Recently a number of things have happened to jolt this complacency. British sportsmen were shocked at the poor showing made by their representatives at the recent Olympic games. They put it down to the fact that the Briton is more intent on playing the game than on winning, but it left its mark. An extensive survey of the people showed that malnutrition and poor housing was having an alarming effect on the race, particularly on the children. It was shown that about half the population was seriously undernourished. Then when efforts were made to secure recruits for the army under the new rearmament plan it was found that a grat number of those applying for enlistment were unfit.

At last the government has awakened to the necessity of doing something to counteract the effects of generations of slum dwelling and undernourishment. The great housing scheme has been directed to improve the surroundings in which the people live. Now the "keep fit" drive is aimed to start young people out with strong and active bodies.

With all its defects the Nazi government has done a great deal in promoting fitness among its people. Of course this may be directed to making them more efficient soldiers, but its immediate effects are admirable.

In Canada the physical training in the schools, and the growing emphasis on games, is valuable, although there ave been complaints that competitive games, in which comparatively few were able to take part, have been overemphasized. But there is comparatively little done for the young men and women just starting out to earn their livings. Physical training is a comparatively new thing in this country, as it only becomes necessary in urban communities. Those who live and work in the country usually get quite enough exercise without the necessity for outside assistance.

AN ANSWER TO SIMPLE SAM

As a relative spry of K.M.I.
I am answering you Simple Sam:
If you go on a spree with your Model T
You may find yourself in a jam.

On promises wild, I've acquired a child
That may give you quite a time;
'Twixt you and me, it's a flying flee,
And to catch it you'll have to climb.

With my little plane, I'll give you a pain
When you start on a jamboree,
And you'll never get back, for your tires 'll crack
If you play with my familee.

My flying flee will be packed sirge!
With presents quite a few;
There'll be rusty nails, and bits of tin pails,
And I'll empty 'em all on you.

With broken crocks, and the works of clocks
I'll mix my devils brew,
And I'll give you the works, with sundry jerks
Of my joy stick up in the blue.

Now Simple Sam, I may be a ham,
But this I'll say with a sigh:
I won't give you fits if you'll cry
quits,
For I really don't want to fly.

AND HERE COMES SIMPLE SAM

Our private little gambling
Has kicked up quite a dust,
And in letters long and rambling
Has widely been discussed.

If our four-bit sweepstakes raffled
Both law and morals strain,
Of church and state are baffled
Then we may chance to gain.

I will perhaps set people thinking,
Perhaps bring a flood of light,
Until no longer shrinking,
We do what's wise and right.

Our scattered population
Spread far from shore to shore
And from our neighbor nation
To polar ice floes hoar.

Throughout this mighty region,
Wherever men may live,
The sick and sore are legion
And few who help can give.

We say of the sick and ailing,
Their friends will give them care.
Of the aged who are faint and failing
Let their children, the burdens bear.

We fail to see in our blindness,
That the nation has lost what is lost,
Though one alone in his kindness
Has suffered and borne the cost.

Manufacturers by mass production
Have cut their costs in twain,
Can we not see the deduction
Mass care would be national gain.

We Canadians think we are knowing
We think we are eminently sane.
Yet hither and hence we are blowing
Like dry bloated windbags, inane.

We would set up some petty insurance,
With rotten sticks propped, for a goal,
Till we've passed the final endurance
Of a nation that is seeking its soul.

Politicians we have in abundance
On swarms they come at a call,
Noisy with vocal redundance,
But never a statesman at all.

'Tis time our whole population
To this common sense slogan should stick,
"The sick are part of the nation,
So the nation should care for the sick."

TRAIL'S COUNCIL

They're working on the budget, our council men of Trail.
They speak of thousands, hundreds,
in voice which does not quail.
They slice a hundred off of this; they add a hunded here.
They say, "We'll make it balance, the budget for this year."
They'll put a tax on music; the market fees they'll raise.
Yet still they seek a thousand—their minds now all a'daze.
They won't go to conventions they'll buy less postage too.
Yet still it will not balance, no matter what they do.
Then spoke a trusty alderman—
"The scales will balance things."
They weighed the matter carefully and care took on bright wings.

The bylaw now is coming up. The engineer is there,
To say a word when Mayor Lerose gets settled in his chair.
They mean to ask the folks who pay
the corporation taxes,
To pass a bylaw, one and all, and bury all their axes.
They wish to build a market place,
garage and workshop too.
They really must have money if this grand thing they'd do.
They talk of this, consider that;
then make their last decision,
So they may send the bylaw out without one small revision.
The mayor remarks, "That's over now. I know now where to turn."
And someone said, "That's right and so I move we all adjourn."

THE DOCTOR SAYS . . .

LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

PREVENTING AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENTS

American law enforcement tends to be spasmodic. In the field of motor car accidents some shocking event may cause an epidemic of sudden drastic rules, with the law breathing out threats against everyone who commits even the most minor infraction.

Such railings have little effect, for before long the situation eases and things are allowed to go along in the same slack way as formerly. What is needed is to get to the root of the matter.

A physical examination of all applicants for driving licences is obviously fundamental. But as Dr Lowell S. Selling of Detroit points out very sensibly, most of this loses its effectiveness because it is, in most communities, in the hands of the police or similar authorities, whereas it should be in the hand of physicians. The police, who make eye tests and simple muscular co-ordination tests, are interested only in elimination of drivers. Whereas a physician could be expected to be interested in correction.

Americans believe that if they are able to see, hear and move, they have a right to drive their own motor cars, and any infringement on that right is resented. So a cursory examination which reveals some physical disability, sufficient to be cause for refusing a licence, but which has never handicapped the applicant, is disregarded and the driver drives anyhow—at least until he gets caught. Many physical disabilities are only temporary, due to nervousness or a passing emotional state, or can be corrected, and when this is in prospect rather than the revocation of his licence, the driver is much more willing to co-operate.

DISEASED HEART CAUSE OF ACCIDENTS

A man, for instance, with even so serious a disability as two artificial legs, but whose mental attitude is careful and considerate, and who picks the kind of traffic highways which are suitable to him, is a safer driver than a harum-scarum and reckless irresponsible who has four perfectly sound members.

People with heart disease of the type which may cause unconsciousness or sudden syncope, have been known to lose control of the car and crash into safety zones. Those with debilitating diseases, such as tuberculosis, should not drive on long journeys; they are soon fatigued and their alertness lost. People subject to convulsive states should be denied driving privileges until satisfactory treatment has been instituted. Many who are subject to petit attacks are entirely unaware of that fact.

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT

There is no guarantee that abolition of capital punishment will end controversy. The state of Michigan provides some of the most gruesome murders of any state of the union, and its murderers are given life imprisonment. There is a very strong advocacy in that state for the resumption of the capital penalty. What many believe would be a great improvement in Ontario would be the removal of convicted murderers to a central place of execution, where an execution would not be a harrowing experience to sensitive and young people in the respective communities. When Woodstock had the hanging of a woman not so long back, the effect was very bad in that community.—St. Catharines Standard.

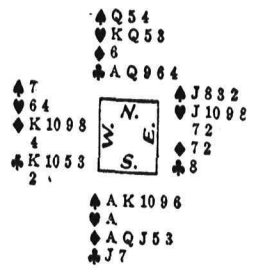
GRAND SLAM AGAINST ANY DEFENCE

An inquirer asks if it is true, as he has been told, that South can make a grand slam at spades, against any defence. As the inquirer does not bar double-dummy play, the answer to his question is, Yes. It would require a very able or very lucky player to make more than a small slam unless he played double-dummy.



We know nothing of how bidding went, or whether bidding ended at game or a slam. We are not informed what opening lead West made.

We can, however, see that a grand slam should be made, as there are visible 13 tricks: 5 in spades, 3 in hearts, 2 in diamonds and 3 in clubs. One method of making a grand slam is by squeezing West, but there also is a very much simpler way. The five tricks in spades may be made by winning a trick with dummy's Q, followed by a low trump from dummy. Play the lowest card from declarer's hand which will win the second trump trick. South then will be able to pick up East's two remaining spades, merely by laying down two winners. The three heart tricks require no explanation. Nobody can well miss them.

It is a very simple matter to pick up three tricks in clubs. Lead declarer's J. Unless West covers with the K the next lead of clubs by declarer must win two added tricks with dummy's Ace and Q. In case West covers the J with his K, win with dummy's Ace. Come back to declarer's hand, then lead through the 7. West's 10-5 cannot prevent dummy's Q-9 from winning two club tricks. If West is foolish enough to cover the 7 with his 10, dummy will win three, instead of two tricks in the suit, on the last come through.

By playing diamonds before dummy's last trump is taken, declarer easily may win two diamond tricks, by means of a backwards finesse. He must lead off his Ace of diamonds, followed by the Q or J. Unless West covers with the K, the two leads of diamonds will suffice. If West covers the Q or J with the K, dummy will ruff, thereby establishing a second diamond trick in declarer's hand. Declarer can discard three diamonds on two good hearts and one good club in dummy. An opening lead of either minor suit makes the play of that suit very simple. The harder task comes in case an opening lead of a major suit is made.

Win either major suit opening lead in declarer's hand. Lead off the Ace and small diamond first. Pull trumps before leading clubs. The grand slam is a simple matter.

CRITIC OFFERS IMPROVEMENT IN POETRY WRITING

To the Editor:

Sir—It is sincerely to be hoped that Mr. D. V. West of Boswell whose poem appeared in this column will not take amiss a few suggestions for his encouragment and improvement in the poetic art. May I take the liberty of reproducing his quatrain:

"The untold sufferings you have relieved,
The hopes and fortunes you have retrieved;
Were I so perfect that my light
would shine,
I could not condemn this act of thine."

In appraising any poetic production the following points should be considered:

(1) Does the subject matter belong to the realm of poetry or would it be better to deal with it in prose? Higoment science, entomology, etc., belong properly to the realm of prose.

(2) Are the rhymes, — if rhyme is used,—perfect or faulty?

(3) Is rhythmn or recurrence of stress properly observed? Are the metric feet iambic, trochaic, dactylic, etc.?

(4) Are the separte lines consistently of the same measure—trimeter, tetrameter, pentameter, etc.?

(5) Does the author use poetic diction or is he prosy?

(6) Is his language noble as befitting poetry or does he introduce slang and slipshod vulgarisms.

(7) Allowing for poetic license, does he observe the laws of English grammar?

(8) Does his poem embody some great moral truth or are his moral deductions unsound?

Now to return to Mr. West's quatrain, I fear that an argument about the property of raising money for the hospital by sweepstakes lies wholly outside the domain of poetry. In trying to produce poetry out of this subject, Mr. West is like the man who tried to make a silk purse out a pig's ear. Consider the tremendous advantage of the man who chose a really poetic subject and wrote:

"Mid pleasures and palaces though we may roam,
Be it ever so humble, there's no place like home."

Mr. West is unfortunate in the rhyming of his first couplet, "relieved" and "retrieved" are to much alike. They are words of three syllables with the initial and final sounds alike. The only difference is the "l" sound in one and the "tr" sound in the other.

I find difficulty in scanning the lines for poetic feet. For example: "The untold" seems like and anapest. "Sufferings" seems like a dactyl. "You have" seems like an iamb. "Relieved" seems like and iamb. And as this line has four poetic feet we would be compelled to classify it as: Ana-pestic, Dactylic, iambic, tetrameter. The third line is better and consists of five perfect iambs and hence could be called, iambic, pentameter. Line two is a difficulty. "The hopes" seems like an iamb, "and fortunes" seems like an amphibrach, "you have retrieved", seem like two iambs. So line two is: Iambic, amphibrachic, tetrameter. Shall we let line four go by saying it seems to consist of an anapest, a spondee and two iambs and hence is: Anapestic, spondaic, iambic tetrameter.

In really good poetry the rhythmn is regular and all lines contain the same number of feet. For example:

"And so the Word had flesh and wrought,
With human hands the creed of creeds."

The accent here regularly falls on the second syllable with four feet in each line and hence is recognized instantly as: Iambic tetrameter.

We call this real poetry but one is at loss for the correct designation of a jumble of iambs, trochees, anapests, etc., making sometimes a tetrameter and sometimes a pentameter.

Mr West's language is far too classical, to generic—to rank as good poetic diction. One can cull a long list of words from his quatrain that a poet of first rank like Kipling, Tennyson or Longfellow would certainly avoid. A few of the offending words are: "sufferings, relieved, fortunes, retrieved, condemn." Compare these words with the language of Kipling's immortal "Recessional":

"God of our fathers, known of old,
Lord of our far flung battle line,
Beneath whose awful hand we hold
Dominion over palm and pine."

A single word like "fortunes" sufferings," etc.—thrown into the "Recessional" would blight and ruin one of the finest poems in the language.

Mr. West's poem is addressed to the directors of the hospital and hence he very properly addresses them with the plural "you" in the beginning of his quatrain. How then does he make them singular in the last line by reffering to "this act of thine." May I also point out that "sufferings" are used as subjects without any corresponding predicates.

But the crowning defect of the quatrain is that its reasoning is unsound. No amount of charity, self-sacrifice, or piety can justify the slightest deviation from the path of righteousness. The purest and most fragrant honey cannot sweeten the dead flies within it. Rather they render it loathsome. Nor can all the good done by the Nelson hospital justify an act questionable in itself.

ASKS FURTHER INQUIRY INTO WATER SITUATION

To the Editor:

Sir—I have read with a great deal of interest the letters appearing in your columns recently from a "Resident Taxpayer" regarding our present water supply and the proposed new reservoir.

I feel, as he does, that what Nelson's citizens primarily interested in at the present time is an adequate water supply twelve months in the year, which, according to a report made by the city engineer to the city council recently stated, we have not got.

Is the proposed reservoir in a dry year going to allow citizens unlimited springling in the peak of the summer? Emphatically, no! Is this something we want? Emphatically, yes!

The suggestion made by "Resident Taxpayer" that Cottonwood lake is an ideal reservoir, (which incidentally, many cities would pay untold gold for) that the water filters from the lake for some distance before appearing in the creek, offers the soloution for an abundant supply for all citizens the year round. It should be seriously considered by the city council.

Practical men have informed me that the estimated cost of the proposed reservoir would more than cover the cost of a pipline to Cottonwood, clean the lake and fence it.

Trusting our good mayor and council, who we all know have the best interests of Nelson at heart, will get more information before expending the monies raised by our recent bylaw. With this in view I believe it would be good business to delay any expenditure on the present scheme until a complete investigation has been made.

Thanking you, sir, in advance for the publicity I trust you will give this letter.

Apiarist Thinks Public Is Tired Harris' Debating

To the Editor:

Sir—The letter of our esteemed friend, Mr. J. C. Harris, appearing in this column on February 19th in which he hurls a challenge against "Amateur Apiarist" and at the same time lays down certain limitations of debate reminds me of an old story. In the days of dueling, a challenge to shoot it out with pistols was accepted on condition that at all times the challengee was to be fifteen paces farther away from the challenger than the challenger was from the challengee. Now if we examine Mr. Harris' challenge and limitations we will find similar impossible conditions. The challenging paragraph reads as follows:

"The point at issue: Has Nature in the higher forms of life demonstrated that she has abondoned communism or socialism? The question of the number of drones is quite unimportant in comparison. Also the question whether mankind can draw useful lessons from the humbler creation. Please leave these matters out of your reply. Show us that Nature repudiates the philosophy upon which socialism is based and you will certainly have done quite enough for a very long letter."

Now, in all conscience, what is the use of discussiing this matter at all unless we first decide whether or not useful lessons can be drawn from the humbler creation. By ruling this out, Mr. Harris makes the whole discussion meaningless. Personally, I incline to the view—that a being divinely endowed with reason should not copy too slavishly the political economy of a creature whose every action is simply an automatic reflex to an external stimulus. If we are to say no more about the number of drones because this matter is quite unimportant, why did Mr. Harris himself devote nearly a full column to this matter in the first place? Mr. Harris by this reservation convicts himself of having wasted time and space over a very trival matter.

But what is the task Mr. Harris has finally reserved for me to perform:

"Show us that Nature repudiates the philosophy upon which socialism is based."

Now before we can discuss this matter, Mr. Harris must first tell us just what the philosophy is upon which socialism is based. It has never seemed anything more to me than an unsubstantial nothing built upon an idle dream. No man has ever been able to tell me just what socialism is. All advocates of socialism describe something different from all others. There can be no underlying principle to a thing that takes a different shape in the mind of every one who attempts to describe it. Did not someone writing in this column describe socialism as a device for removing a hypothetical evil by an imaginary remedy.

I could say more but I must tell Mr. Harris a little secret. Writing under a nom de plume with my identity concealed, I have been able to learn something about the public reaction to our little controversy and, Mr. Harris, I think the public is tired of both of us. Having revealed this much I ought to add that the scribe of New Denver appears to be considered more endurable than "Amateur Apiarist." Personally, I think the public has heard all it cares to hear of Mr. Harris' socialism or of my individualism.

SIRDAR, B. C.—Herman Oftner of Wynndel was a visitor to Albara Saturday.

A new filer is being installed at the mill at the Bayonne mine to step up production a considerable extent.

Sydney Rodgers has left to resume school as sickness has lessened among his scholars.

Deer are coming down to lower levels now and those observed seemed to be in splendid condition. Coyotes are still numerous here and are quite bold.

Hay hauling from Atbara to the various ranches is nearly completed.

Sydney Rodgers was a guest of Frank Hamilton at Kootenay Landing.

Art Rutledge, James Passcuzzo, Hank Godderis and Charles Lombardo spent Sunday at Kootenay Landing, guests of Frank Hamilton.

Ice conditions round the gauge at Slough bridge have temporarily rendered the gauge ineffective.

Vito Carnevelli of Kootenay Landing was a visitor to Creston at the week-end.

Norman Husband of Creston, who is now on a place near Twin Bays, was a Sirdar visitor.

J. S. Wilson was a Creston visitor Thursday and Friday attending a K. P. lodge meeting.

Mrs. Thachuk is still on the sick list. One of the children is also confined to bed.

Despite the snowy weather, activities at the Bayonne mine are progressing, without hindrance, in all departments.

One of Clarence Wilson's trucks driven by Fred Hagen of Wynndel was engaged this week hauling wood from Twin Bays to Sirdar.

Charles Lombardo is now employed at the Cherbo property where clearing and cultivating work on a large scale will be undertaken this spring.

Tony Lombardo was in Creston.

The weather in 1936 left the United States with a deficit in rain and snowfall over most of the interior of the country.

"TELEPHONE BURGLAR"

EDMONTON, (CP)—Police are on the trail of a "telephone burglar," blamed for an epidemic of some 50 housebreakings. His method is to telephone a prospective victim; hang up if someone answers or "go to work" if there is no reply.

Community Party Held, Kingsgate

Mrs. Hugh Hannah Is Hostess; Deer Are Tame, Plentiful

KINGSGATE, B.C., — March has not lived up to its usual lion like arrival, dull grey skies and very mild weather has heralded the first few days of the 'hungry month'. The roads are running water and in many places down to the clean hard surface.

Wm. Dunbar, Miss Isobel Burnett and a number of the younger fry took advantage of what seems to be the last of the snow on Sunday and made a ski hike up to Paul Perry's place on the Little Movie. The going was pretty tough but all the skiers made the journey in safety. They looked quite a picturesque party crossing the bridge and heading away up the white slopes of the hill and with red cap and a variety of other colored clothing.

Mr. and Mrs. Blair of Hazel creek were visiting on Sunday with Corp. and Mrs. Christianson.

Mrs. Russel Denham of Porthill has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Walter.

Mr. Ford has been appointed registrar of voters in the Kingsgate district.

Mrs. H. R. Graham and Mrs. Paul Thom were joint hostesses at the Community party held last Wednesday. There were eight tables of bridge in play and the winners were Mrs. Dudly Carter and Max Welton, both of whom had high scores above the average.

Mr. and Mrs. Blair, of Cranbrook, who are old time residents of Kingsgate, broke their journey from California on Friday to visit friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Blaf, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Appel, Mr. and Mrs. Mauldin, Mr. and Mrs. Walter and Mrs. Ray Thomason drove over to Porthill and were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Macnamara and Mr. and Mrs. Denham.

Mrs. H. Hanke and Marcia spent the week-end in Spokane. Marcia was celebrating her 12th birthday anniversary.

Mrs. Hugh Hannah was hostess to the Ladies' Study club at their meeting. Mrs. Harry Hogg and Mrs. Ray Thomason gave interesting talks on 'Flags' and 'the Great American Pilgrimage'. Mrs. S. E. Gunn deputised for Mrs. Hall in leading the choral session and some novel effects in chorus singing were introduced. Mrs. Christian, Miss Nina Roy and Miss Isobel Burnett were guests.

Wm. Guthrie of Cranbrook was a business visitor in town.

The deep snow and inclement weather has made the deer extremely tame these days and numbers of them can be seen close to the road side. At Jock Wardrope's place close to Yahk they come right to the back door each evening to be fed, but are not in such poor condition as might be expected.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fitch and family are leaving for Potlatch, Ida., where they will be located in future, they have been residents here for the past six months coming from the Peace River country.

Convenors Named at Passmore

PASSMORE, B.C.—The Slocan Valley Women's Institute met with the president, Mrs. W. Young, in the chair. The conveners appointed were: Mrs. P. A. Smith, home industries; Miss B. Perry, agriculture; Mrs. W. R. Perry, home economics. Mrs. P. A. Smith exhibited a scarf woven on her loom.

A. Levy of New Denver, G. McKeen of Appledale and C. Newcomen were visitors here Friday.

Mr. Jeffery, who resides in the Jamieson house, had a narrow escape Saturday when the steam shovel he was working on the road under construction at Vallican, was damaged by a cave-in.

Miss Evelyn Forbes spent Saturday at her home here, returning to Perry Siding Monday.

Miss B. Perry was a visitor to Vallican Monday. She was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. G. Ward.

J. Watson of Nelson is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. Young.

W. R. Perry visited Nelson for a few days, a guest of R. M. Burgess.

Mrs. N. Sukin arrived from Castlegar Sunday to join her family here.

G. A. Forbes was a Nelson visitor Thursday.

SAINT JOHN, N. B., (CP) — A "foot clinic" where the deserving poor may go for relief from minor foot ills, either without charge or for the mere cost of materials used, has been established here.

EDUCATION FOR FARMER URGED BY DR. CLEMENT

Export Trade Basis for Progress in the Dominion

CRANBROOK, B.C.—The first lecturer of the 1936-37 university extension series invited to speak in Cranbrook was Dr. Clement, dean of the faculty of agriculture at U.B.C., who came at the invitation of Farmers' institute and spoke on Monday. The subject was "Economics of Agriculture."

He advocated education along sane economic lines for the farmers of Canada, with a view to the solution of their great problem of unstable and declining prices. When a new gadget was invented, he said, it was immediately applied wherever it could be used and progress resulted, but when a new economic or sociological theory was advocated suspicion and ridicule were the first reactions. The broad educational plans of the province in particular were attempting to eradicate this attitude.

Progress and business in Canada were based on export trade, primarily to Britain, and broadly to all foreign countries. In 1931 when Britain's free trade policy was abandoned for a protective tariff policy a profound reaction was felt in all world markets. Until that time Britain was almost exclusively a consumer, taking for example, with 3 per cent of the world's population, 99 per cent of the world's exports in ham and bacon.

HOME INDUSTRY

Her imports from abroad decreased, but her imports from the dominions increased. The basis of the measure, however, was fostering home industry. Beef cattle finishing, was subsidized to the extent of 3,000,000 pounds sterling, in order that a profit might be garnered by the farmer so engaged, to encourage him to further efforts. The same process applied to sugar beet growers and wheat farmers.

The result was a tremendous increase in interest in home products, and an increase in actual amounts, which in turn decreased imports.

THREE STRONG POINTS

France, Germany and Italy, although varying widely in general policy, had three strong common points in their economic policy. All three aimed primarily at becoming self-supporting in their food produce, at settling a large proportion of their population on farm land, and at increasing their population. France alone had achieved the first, with exports in food chalked up one year.

The years had thoroughly disproved the Malthusian theory that population would always be more or less stabilized because it would always run in excess of food production. In late years food supplies in actual quantities had far outrun population, yet population had failed to increase in the anticipated proportions. In the past decades only three European countries had increased their population, Bulgaria, Italy and Portugal, but even these three showed a declining birth rate.

The reasons for this ominous decline were fourfold, the economic necessity of the individual, increasing proportion of sterility in marriage, the low marriage rate, and increasing indication of war which would involve children born now.

From this point Dean Clement moved to a defence of food destruction which has aroused public condemnation in the past few years. He mentioned specifically the destruction of pigs in the United States, coffee in Brazil, and lambs in New Zealand. The sale value of a commodity was necessary before a market functioned. The value root, once numbered in cattle and bushels of wheat, was now in dollars, necessitated by the economic system.

Falling prices in industry during the depression were met by a deliberate falling of production, which resulted in maintaining industrial prices at 80 per cent, while production fell to 40 per cent. Agriculture took an opposite policy in this emergency, creating a broken equilibrium, when farmers endeavored to increase their production, which resulted in a steady decrease in prices until a 100 per cent production maintained showed 40 per cent average in prices.

NOT ECONOMIC COMMODITY

The price of wheat, he said, was once regarded as an economic portent. Wheat was no longer an economic commodity, it had now become a political commodity and, as such, its price may be maintained by individual governments, though the government may take heavy losses. Once the world market of wheat was 800 million bushels, now it was 500 million bushels and continued to decline because of fostering of home wheat growing and because, curiously, wheat consumption varies inversely with the standards of living.

More and more, government policies show a deliberate effort to feed the same number of people better, rather than to feed more people. Instead of the minimum number of calories per person the aim is to produce the optimum of health and vigor. Statistics taken in Great Britain showed that 10 per cent of the population were undernourished, 50 per cent did not have the optimum. Classification by income showed a corresponding classification by stature, where the small income people were inches shorter and pounds lighter than the large income people.

The National Health Movement in Great Britain strove to overcome this by subsidizing the production of foods which the low income people were unable to buy, and by creating pools where this low income group could obtain these foods at a price less than the market price. Twenty-six million gallons of milk, one of these principal foods, were distributed through the schools of Great Britain in 1936, at less than market price, with the government taking half the loss. This was made possible by a national pool. Bonus distribution was the second method of fostering production of these commodities.

ROSSLAND HIGH STUDENTS GIVE IDEA OF STUDY

ROSSLAND, B.C.—The students of Rossland high school held open house Friday afternoon. A large number of visitors inspected the work in various grades and much favorable comment was heard. Tea was served in the auditorium which had been prettily decorated for the occasion, the predominating note in the color scheme being yellow. Mrs. R. J. Clegg and Mrs. H. Christian poured, and the girl students acted as serviteurs. During the tea hour short speeches were made by R. J. Clegg, Wesley McKenzie and H. Christian, while the students put on a nice program of skits, songs, songs, etc.

MEATS IN JANUARY

The exports of meats in January amounted to $3,380,729 compared with $2,184,948 last year. The amount to the United Kingdom was $2,844,876, of which the value of bacon and ham was $2,561,801. The imports of meats was $36,750, the largest item being canned beef at $16,150 from Argentina.

Imports of milk and its products in January amounted to $20,723 as against $16,746 a year ago, cheese accounting for $15,374 and butter $1687.

Terrible Eczema Goes Quickly

Strong, Powerful Yet Safe, Healing Oil Has Astonished Sufferers

Nelson Beats Vancouver, 5-1, in First of Title Games

COAST BOYS PUT UP GAME FIGHT TO HOLD NELSON SCORELESS IN THE SECOND AND THIRD PERIODS

HOCKEY SIDELIGHTS

The tempo of the game was set early as Maple Leafs forced the visitors back and seldom permitted them to get past the Nelson blue line. The forcing tactics brought first blood as Nick Smith picked the puck off a defending stick in the coast zone and went in, passing out to Euerby, who slapped the disk in.

Vancouver was playing for the breaks, packing its defence and getting away fast as Nelson shots were blocked by defencemen or cleared by Tyrrell. A lot of it, attack and defence on both sides, was plain scramble.

Paterson and Carr worked together for Nelson's second, Carr taking it from Paterson at the blue line and passing ahead, then following up when Stewie was checked to pass to the opposite side of the net, where Paterson made it good. The time was 11 minutes.

Leading a Vancouver attack, Bonneville lost his feet and slid in behind McKay. Paterson almost repeated on the return attack and Carr was going in too fast to pick up the puck as it came out.

ATWELL GETS HIS

Going in and battling after Tyrrell dropped a rebound a few feet out in front, Leo Atwell made it three as he brought the puck back off the board and joined in a general mill for it.

Gar Ritchie, checking Smith when Nick chased a puck in, hoisted Nick's stick and caught it over the nose. He left the ice with blood streaming down his face.

Carrying the puck up and passing to Carr, then receiving it back again at the goal mouth via Culley, Bicknell made it four.

Less than a minute later Culley went in on Paterson's rebound and as he and Tyrrell went down in the goal mouth, battled with him till he filled the hemp. Tyrrell was being drawn out of his net repeatedly as his defence let the Nelson boys in.

Vancouver failed to penetrate effectively during this period.

VANCOUVER PRESSES

Hamlin and Bonneville produced the strongest Vancouver threat of the game so far as Harmer carried the puck and Pete took his pass to shoot and hit the side of the net early in the second.

Nelson's gang attacks and the visitors' breaks gave the coast lads their first taste of gore five minutes along the way in the second. Shimman carried the puck and Bonneville picked the corner.

Fighting for every chance, Canadians continued to battle in, and with a little more finish at the net might have collected. Whitlam caught Bicknell's stick on the face as he fell coming out of the Nelson area. The scrappy coast lads were shattering Nelson pass attacks and play became ragged and slow. The crowd gave Brick Davidson a hand on his long shot from Stevens' pass.

Breaking from a slow mill in centre ice, Bonneville and Whitlam went in together and gave McKay something to think about as they scrambled for it. Bonneville was continuing to battle into the Nelson zone as the period closed.

Maple Leafs got through plenty in this canto, but the coast boys were marking their men around the net and between Tyrrell's fast work and the scrappy defence they held the locals scoreless. Nelson had the edge on the play throughout the period.

TYRRELL COVERS

Coming out with more drive in the third, Vancouver held Nelson out in the early part and played a forward passing game that gave the coast forwards the puck at Nelson's blue line. But they didn't go much farther. Atwell got clear with Smith with only Hamlin to defend and beat him but Tyrrell covered Leo and the puck slid past.

Rhodes made a great stop with a diving poke check when Culley and Carr broke away behind a four-man rush with Rhodes the only man in front of Tyrrell.

Davidson drew the first penalty of the game when he sent Carr sprawling in mid-ice. The fans would just as soon the ref had let it go. Davidson came back to play a little baseball as he batted down the rebound of Bonneville's shot and McKay caught it. McPhee drew two for boarding Bonneville and Vancouver moved in. McPhee came back to join Duckworth in a passing spree at the goal mouth.

With one minute to go Davidson tripped Carr behind the play and drew a second penalty. Nelson scored with the final bell, but the timekeepers ruled it out as having been beaten by the clock.

Again Nelson dominated the period all the way.

Packed Defence Has the Maple Leafs Tied Up

CARR'S ASSISTS LEAD SCORING

Goals One to a Man; Clock Beats Bicknell at Close

Vancouver Canadians just were not in it when they took the ice at the civic centre arena Thursday night. They took a 5-1 trimming when Nelson Maple Leafs went to town in the first period of the provincial senior hockey playoff opener, and though the visitors put up a scrappy fight in the second and third cantos and held Leafs scoreless, there still wasn't any doubt about it.

Coming off the train less than three hours before the game, Canadians obviously were not in their best shape when the game opened. They were skating better in the second stanza, however, and held a faster pace in the third.

But their attacks seldom got through to the goal, and when they did McKay had little difficulty in handling the shots.

Maple Leafs didn't look anything like the Kootenay champions after the first period, but they showed what they could do in it. The packed defence put up by the coast boys had them tied up, after and when they did get in Goalie Tyrrell handled everything that came his way. He wasn't pulled out as easily as in the first canto.

ALMOST SIXTH COUNTER

A couple of split seconds separated the Maple Leafs from a sixth goal. With Davidson off in the final minute of his second penalty of the game, Nelson moved in on a power play and Bicknell found the net in a scramble at the goal mouth as the bell rang. But the timekeepers ruled the clock had beaten the puck and there was no counter.

Nelson's scoring was divided five ways, with Carr the only player officially credited with two points. He got both of his on assists. The official record showed Euerby, Paterson, Atwell, Bicknell and Culley as the scorers for Nelson, with Bonneville chalking up Vancouver's lone counter on Shimman's assist.

The unofficial summary showed Smith as contributing to Euerby's goal and Culley in on Bicknell's as intermediary between Carr and Bicknell.

THREE PENALTIES

There were only three penalties, all in the last half of the last period, and there was nothing serious about any of them. Davidson, ex-Rosslander, drew two, the first when he tripped Carr in mid-ice and the second when he spilled Carr again behind the play, thereby halting a Vancouver break. McPhee was the only Nelson offender, his penalty being for boarding Bonneville during a Canadian attack. The boarding was more noisy than painful.

Vancouver was outspeeded, outskated and outsmarted, but the boys were in there fighting all the way and with a rest over today they should be in a whole lot better shape for the series Saturday night.

Bonneville, Rhodes and Harmer provided most of the punch for the visitors, with Pete showing Canadians a clean pair of heels as far as continually boring in was concerned. Rhodes similarly put all he had into his attacks, but as a defence man he had fewer opportunities than Bonneville.

James Cherrington and William Brown won from Gunn and Dr. Maurer 15-9, from Mills and Tye 17-14, and from Phillips and German 15-8. A. Mills and D. Tye won from Gunn and Maurer 17-14, and from Phillips and German 15-1.

SKIERS CONVERGE ON BANFF FOR TITLE TOURNEY OPENING TODAY

BANFF, Alta., March 4 (CP) — Picturesque Banff, encircled by the lowering snow-capped Rockies, tonight was the "mountain home" of skiers from four nations, ready for the opening of the Dominion and Alberta ski championships here tomorrow.

In the colorful dress of the ski devotees, hundreds of visitors mingled with the stars from eastern and western Canada, the United States, Switzerland and Norway who will compete on the high slopes of Mount Norquay.

First casualty was Conrad Delisle, of the club Sportif de la Voirie, Quebec. During a practice run on the downhill course, the Quebec star crashed into a tree. He suffered serious leg injuries and has withdrawn from all competition.

OPENS AT NOON

The tournament, under the direction of the Canadian Amateur Ski association, opens at noon Friday with the Dominion championship kilometres cross country race, followed by the western Canada championship ladies' slalom. The Dominion championship ski jumping event will be held Sunday. Last of the Dominion events will be at 11 a.m. Monday, the running of the downhill race.

International champions of the wooden-blades will be in action.

Walter Prager, Swiss coach of the Dartmouth winter outing club from Swiss universities. A four-man has entered along with six skiers team is coming from Dartmouth headed by Warren Chivers, captain of the college's ski team, and Dick Durrance, the top-ranking skier in the United States.

Norway, the country noted for its jumpers, will be represented by two of its best, Sverre Kolterud and Sigmund Ruud, a brother of the famous Birger Ruud who captured the jumping title at the last two Olympics.

ARSENAL STILL FAVORITE AS CUP QUARTER-FINAL PLAY APPROACHES

LONDON, March 4 (CP Cable)—Londoners are hoping the capital will have three representatives—Arsenal, Tottenham Hotspurs and Millwall—in the semi-finals for the English football cup after Saturday's games, but the wagering on the teams hardly supports their optimism.

As eight clubs prepare for the sixth round, Arsenal is established favorite to lift the trophy at odds of 11-4. Manchester City is quoted at 4-1. Wolverhampton Wanderers 9-2, Sunderland 7-1, Preston North End and West Bromwich Albion 9-1, Tottenham Hotspurs 10-1 and Millwall 20-1.

The gunners, cup-winners last year, are training at Brighton for their match at West Bromwich. Ted Drake, their sharpshooting centre-forward is not likely to play through a knee injury, but the crack London squad is expected to win. It will be a tough battle as the Albion is a great cup-fighting team and has reached the semi-finals in the competition on 12 occasions.

Wolverhampton Wanderers are at home to Sunderland and a record crowd is expected.

The Wanderers' ground record has been broken twice this season. At dawn this morning scores were in line for tickets and when the box office opened the queues were so long police were called on to keep order.

White Hart Lane, home of the Spurs, is sold out for the cup-tie with Preston North End. The Londoners will field the team that has proved so successful in previous rounds. Lancashire's representatives have spent this week training at Hastings and are confident of winning.

Millwall, dubbed "giant-killers" after victories over Chelsea and Derby County, major leaguers are happy. The Londoners will play in red against Manchester City, another top-notcher, owing to the similarity in the colors of the two clubs. The city players will don white shirts and the third division squad's optimism is caused by the fact that all its cup victims this season have worn white.

KIMBERLEY BEATEN 7-2 BY THE HARRINGAY RACERS IN LONDON

Is First Loss for the Dynamiters on Tour

LONDON, March 4 (CP Cable).—Kimberley Dynamiters, Allan cup holders, suffered their first defeat on their European tour tonight, Harringay Racers beating them 7-2. Racers have one of the strongest teams in the National hockey league.

Bert Peer of Oakville, Ont., Steve Latoski of Winnipeg and Kashner divided scoring honors, each getting two for Racers. Fan Heximer of Niagara Falls, Ont., scored the other goal. Puffy Kemp tallied for Kimberley in the first period and Gordon Wilson got their second in the middle session.

Racers were always in command of the game, leading 4-1 at the end of the first period and 6-2 when the second was through.

The word "and" is used 5513 times in the Old Testament.

Horse Sets New Jump Record of 8 Feet, 3 Inches

Lookout Breaks Own Mark of 8 Feet, 1½ Inches

TENTERFIELD, N. South Wales, March 4 (CP cable)—Lookout, a grey gelding, today jumped eight feet, three inches at the Diamond Jubilee show here. Officials stated it was a new high jumping record for a horse, breaking the previous record held jointly by Lookout and Barra Lad, a Canadian horse, at eight feet 1½ inches. Barra lad, they said, hung up the mark in 1925.

Frank Menke's All Sports record book lists the official record at eight feet 13-16 inches, almost three inches under the Australian horse's new mark. That record was established in 1923 by Greatheart, owned by Mrs. Stuyvesant Peabody of Chicago. The book does not mention the performances of Lookout and Barra Lad but lists as a great jump the eight feet ½ inch cleared in 1912 by Confidence, owned by the late sir Clifford Sifton of Winnipeg.

Expenditures of Golf Club Down, Revenues Better

Greens Fees Show an Upward Trend in Past Year

At the annual general meeting of the Nelson Golf & Country Club, limited, in the council chamber in the city hall, the following were elected: Honorary president, W. B. Bamford; directors, Dr. H. H MacKenzie, Dr. T. H. Bourque, W. Blane, W. M. Cunliffe, Roy Pollard, John Cartmel, L. A. McPhail, W. Fotheringham, Paul Lincoln and John Fraser.

The president's report follows:

"Your directors in presenting the financial statements for the year ended December 31, 1936, for your consideration are able to report a slight improvement over those of the previous year: Before taking any depreciation into account a net increase of $376.80 is revealed. This is due to a net increase of $142.94 in expenses and a net increase of $233.86 in revenue. For 1935, after taking depreciation into account, there was a deficit of $275.18.

"The figures for 1936 show an excess of revenue over expenditure amounting to $152.69. The year ended with bank loan paid off and current assets of $95.92 against current liabilities of $30.45.

"We are pleased to note an upward trend in green fees and hope that this source of revenue will continue to improve. Subscriptions show an increase of $221.50, which

DICK METZ TO FORE IN GOLF

Leads With 132 Half Through Hollywood Open Tourney

HOLLYWOOD, Fla., March 4 (AP).—Dick Metz of Chicago sailed around a windy golf course today in 63 strokes to force to the front of the Hollywood open field.

His card was seven strokes under par. With an initial 69, it gave young Metz 132 for the halfway mark.

Ky Laffoon of Chicago turned in a 64. That gave him a 36-hole total of 136 and a tie for second place with Johnny Farrell and Jimmy Hines of New York.

Johnny Revolta of Chicago, the opening round leader with 66, slipped to 72 today and tied with 138 with Walter Scheiber of New York, who had 71 and 67. Byron Nelson of Reading, Pa., and Jack Patroni of Shawnee, Pa., stood next at 139.

Bobby Dunkelberger of Sedgefield, N.C., and Frank Strafaci of New York, former public links champion, led the amateurs with 143.

The qualifying score was 150.

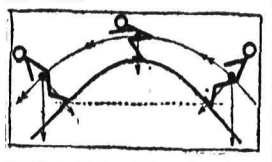
41.—HOW TO CROSS A RIDGE

On approaching an elevation the erect position is taken. As the top is approached the body is lowered to the low crouch which is attained as the highest part is crossed and the erect position is again assumed on the descent. As in the case of a depression, the more abrupt the elevation the later and quicker is the change to the low crouch and vice versa.



Positions Taken When Crossing a Ridge

The same procedure is followed in running from the level to an up grade.

The purpose of the change in body position is to ensure that the centre of gravity of the body travels in as straight a line as possible instead of following the curve of shorter radius travelled by the feet. If the depression or elevation is not too pronounced it may be sufficient to take the half crouch position only, but the low crouch should be practiced diligently. On an icy surface the feet may be held somewhat apart, but keep them together if possible. In loose snow the lunging position may be used instead of the crouch and here again the angle of the knees is dependent on the surface contour and snow condition.

TWO SCRATCHED FROM GRAND NATIONAL

Rain Washes Out the Cheltenham Gold Cup Race

LONDON, March 4 (CP Cable).—The list of probable starters for the Grand National, to be renewed at Aintree March 19, was cut to 39 today with the scratching of two entries and a trainer's recommendation that a third be removed from the race.

Lady Lindsay's Blue Prince, a nine-year-old gelding who ran second in the 1935 race and fell last year, and L. de Paula Machados' eight-year-old French-bred Thieffry were scratched.

Ivor Anthony, who has been conditioning Paul Mellon's Drinmore Lad, announced he had cabled the horse's American owner suggesting the eight-year-old be withdrawn from all engagements for the current jumping season. Earlier in the season, Drinmore Lad, stablemate of the favorite Royal Mail, had drawn considerable public support.

Rain today caused postponement of the Cheltenham Gold Cup, in which three former Grand National winners were to compete. The race was put back to March 11.

QUEEN OF SOUTH HOPES TO TAKE RANGERS AS SEASON END NEARS

Hope to Repeat Trick They Pulled in Cup Play

GLASGOW, March 4 (CP Cable)—The end of the Scottish football league is in sight and the annual problems of relegation and leadership are causing not a few entries some worry. This week's lineup doesn't seem particularly bright for the low-placed teams.

Queen of South, just clear of the relegation zone, is out to make it two straight over Glasgow Rangers, leaders of the circuit by two points. The Dumfries squad crossed would-be critics in the cup competition when they scored a spectacular win over the cup-holders in the first round. In their first league meeting at Dumfries Oct. 24, the Rangers were held to a 1-1 draw.

Perched on the 17th rung of the championship ladder, Hibernians entertain the dangerous Celtic team Saturday, while the bottom-placed Dunfermline eleven go to Dundee, placed well up in the standing. Pregame dope gives the Celts and Dundee the edge.

Perhaps the best-played game on the card will be staged at St. Johnstone with Aberdeen providing the opposition. The Aberdonians, two points behind Rangers and still in the hunt for the coveted cup, will unloose their bag of tricks in a determined effort to at least hold the runner-up spot.

The only team in the loop to take full points from Glasgow Rangers in league play this year, Hearts have an away game against Kilmarnock. They trail Aberdeen by one point and hold the same margin over Celtic. The Edinburgh team is favored to win.

Two Glasgow games bring together Clyde and Albion Rovers and Partick Thistle and Third Lanark. In remaining encounters, Falkirk should defeat St. Mirren at Falkirk and Motherwell is given the advantage over Arbroath.

Leader of the second division by seven points, Ayr United goes to Alloa this week-end while Morton, next in line, has a tough assignment against Airdrieonians. The third-place St. Bernards entertain East Fife.

JIMMY FOXX IS SIGNED UP

might be regarded as disappointing in view of the fact that rates were reduced in 1936 in order to popularize the game.

"In order to keep the course in the best possible shape with the means at our disposal we had to incur a capital expenditure of $270.93 in the purchase of five gang mowers, tractor and engine. These were paid for out of the revenue for the year.

"We consider it might not be out of place to point out for the guidance of the incoming board that in our opinion the time has arrived when the matter of replacement of mats will have to be considered. Those in use were purchased in May, 1930, and consequently have been in use for seven years. It is also desirable that we should have a better type of mower for our greens.

"We have to tender our sincere thanks to the Ladies' auxiliary for the splendid work accomplished during the year under review. Without the efforts of the ladies any success we may have attained could not have been so fully achieved.

"Special thanks are also due to Mr. L. A. McPhail, captain, and Mr. C. H. Hamilton, vice-captain, and members of the match committee and to Dr. T. H. Bourque and members of the grounds committee.

"We have further to thank our honorary president, Mr. W. B. Bamford, for his continued interest in and kindly help to the club.

"In closing, we think it fitting that we should express our sorrow at the removal by death of Mrs. Roy Pollard, one of our leading lady members. Up to the time of her last illness she took a keen interest in the activities of the club. Her husband has donated a cup for a ladies' competition in her memory."

PITTSBURGH IS WINNER

PITTSBURGH, March 4 (AP)—Pittsburgh Hornets defeated Springfield Indians 3-1 tonight in an international-American league hockey game.

The Hornets, eight games remaining on their schedule, could lose half of those and still lead their only western-division rivals, Cleveland Falcons, by a half game, even if the Falcons won their eight scheduled contests.

Mad Joss Wins at Santa Anita

LOS ANGELES, March 4 (AP).—Major R. C. Woodruff's Mad Joss, four-year-old chestnut filly, romped off with the Constitution handicap today, the feature race at Santa Anita Park for a purse of $1200 added.

Billie Bane ran second, Colonel Ed third.

The winner's time was 1:11.1 for the six-furlong sprint.

Mad Joss paid $9.80, $5.60 and $3.40 across the board, Billie Bane $5 and $3.40 and Colonel Ed $3.20.

Across the Billiard Table

No. 7—Peterson Gives Beginner His Cue.

By CHARLES C. PETERSON
World's Champion Fancy Shot Star

Now that we have discussed some of the history and brackground of games played on a billiard table, let's get down to fundamentals. We will go into more detail later.

One of the first things to learn, of course, is how to hold the cue. Hold it lightly with the fore-finger and thumb of the striking hand. Hold it not at the butt end but at the "balance". In other words, hold it so that the cue will balance perfectly when it is not supported by your other hand.

BRIDGE MUST BE FIRM

In forming the bridge, place the forefinger around the cue near its point. The second finger is folded underneath the thumb, with the third and fourth fingers spread out, forming a tripod. The heel of the hand should rest on the table. The bridge must be firm, with no excess space between the forefinger and the thumb, else the cue will not be guided accurately. Firmness and solidity in the bridge are of great importance in accurate stroking.

Fully as important as any other fundamental is that of stance. Face your shot squarely, then turn half way to the right. This places you correctly at the table, with the forearm and wrist away from the body, giving you free and easy cue motion. No one can play the cue close to the body.

In cueing the ball, never strike it more than one-half to the right, left, top or bottom of centre. Refrain as much as possible from the use of "English". Playing too far to one side or the other creates miscues and faulty plays. Hoppe, Schaefer and most of the stars I have observed through a long career play near the centre of the cue ball.

Ease of stance, freedom of stroke, firmness of bridge are important fundamentals demonstrated here by Charles Peterson.

The "follow through" is of great importance. Bear in mind that on every stroke the cue must finish at least one or two inches beyond where the cue ball was struck. That is true regardless of what the play was—whether a follow shot, draw shot, around-the-table shot or even a masse. There should be no pulling or checking of the cue. The player must keep this in mind—to leave his cue on the line of aim.

In aiming, select the spot on the object ball which you wish to hit and the spot on the cue ball, then concentrate on this line of aim. Make sure that the tip of your cue is aimed at the correct spot on the cue ball, then give your attention to the object ball rather than the cue ball. This will take a good deal of concentration which is one of the reasons why billiards is grand relaxation.

One of the most enthusiastic amateur billiard players in my memory was Samuel Clemens (Mark Twain), greatest of American writers. He loved the game and played it in his home because of the great relaxation it afforded after hours of writing.

B.C. STARS ADVANCE IN WOMEN'S NET PLAY; EASTERN MEN SCORE

Only Dick Birch Left to Uphold the West in Singles

By LOCKLEY JONES
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER, Mar. 4 (CP)—British Columbians turned loose their heavy artillery in quarter-finals of the women's singles event of the Canadian Badminton championship tournament here today. Only Defending Champion Mrs. W. R. Walton of Toronto survived the barrage to carry the east-threat into the semis.

Blond-haired Daphne Fernie of Kamloops, B. C., upset Ottawa's Ruth Robertson—twice holder of the Canadian singles title in former years—in straight sets, 13-11 and 11-3 and Ottawa's favored Isobel Bryson fell before the steady play of Kelowna's Margaret Taylor, 11-8, 11-6.

Mrs. Gordon Pirt, Winnipeg, ranked No. 4 in Canada, bowed out to fast-stroking Mrs. Anna Kier Patrick of Vancouver, 11-3, 11-5. Mrs. Patrick's return placement shots had the Winnipegger baffled.

Mrs. Walton had little trouble in eliminating Margaret Robertson, other half of the Robertson sister combination from Ottawa, 11-1, 11-3.

Miss Taylor will meet Mrs. Patrick and Miss Fernie faces Mrs. Walton in semi-finals tomorrow.

EASTERN MEN WIN

But as the easterners were bombed out of the picture in women's play, Toronto's triple threat for the undefended men's singles throne—Jack Storey, Joe Zaharko and Jack Forsythe—toppled their western opponents and advanced the east colors into semi-finals of the men's singles.

Only Vancouver's Dick Birch, Canada's ranked No. 2 player, was left to uphold the west.

In semi-finals tomorrow, Zaharko will meet Storey and Forsythe will play Birch.

In play this afternoon, Forsythe beat Eric Leney, Duncan, 15-10, 15-12; Zaharko defeated Emsley Long, Winnipeg, 12-15, 15-3, 15-7; and Storey took Jack Underhill, Vancouver, 15-5, 15-9. Birch advanced when he beat Bob Pentland, Calgary, 15-7, 15-5.

The Robertson sisters, Ruth and Margaret, of Ottawa, defending women's doubles team, advanced into the semi-finals of that event when Mrs. J. V. Carter and Mrs. A. J. Peel of Vancouver defaulted after Mrs. Carter sprained an ankle. Mrs. Carter was forced to retire from further competition.

The east-west threat, Mrs. W. R. Walton of Toronto and Ulrica Norie, Duncan, scored a 15-12, 15-2 win over Kelowna's Margaret Taylor and Jocelyn Pease of Vancouver, and Mrs. Anna Kier Patrick and Vess O'Shea, Vancouver, downed Daphne and Mary Fernie of Kamloops 15-7, 15-13.

Ottawa's Isobel Bryson and Betty Snell occupied the other semi-bracket with a 15-9, 15-7 win over the Edmonton - Calgary combination, Doreen Calpperton and Betty Mitchell.

The DAY THAT I FORGET

By MARIE BLIZARD

In my heart of December, the fears of June shall fret,
The day that you remember, the day that I forget.—Salisbury

COPYRIGHT—RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

READ THIS FIRST:

In Hollywood following an ingenious maneuver on the part of his young wife, Janet Joel Paynter, second-rate Broadway actor, begins work under a short term contract. Meanwhile Janet makes a point of cultivating the right people, joins a tennis club and meets Vernon Chester, an important director. Chester asks her to play tennis and have lunch with him. Chester likes Janet and learns inadvertently that she and Joel have been reading a best-seller about to be screened by Chester. Chester selects Joel for an important character role in his new picture and Janet virtually dictates the terms of an attractive new contract and option. Joel makes screen history in "The Dance Was Long" and the Paynters find fame and fortune at their feet within eight months.

Now Go on With the Story

CHAPTER 17

Janet looked up from the letter she was reading. The view that spread itself before her eyes was less entrancing than the one the letter brought to her mind. The rolling lawns where Toki was running an electric lawnmower faded from her view. The colorful flowers had too long been colorful in the unending bright light of the sun. That same sun drenched the terrace with its wicker furniture and boxed hedges as it had done day in and day out.

The leaves were beginning to turn, Martha had written. Janet saw the peaceful countryside of the New England village of Chester. She saw the riot of red and yellow and last-turning green. She thought she smelled the pungent odor of burning leaves sending a feathery plume high, to dissolve against a graying sky.

There would be the smell of late asters and the cidery scent of apples on the air. Ther would be wood smoke rising from the chimneys of the little white houses. And within there would be good things simmering on the stove— peppery chili and jellies and jams.

Janet wondered if she still remembered how to pickle grapes. She thought if she drove through the maket that day she would buy some and try her old recipe.

Then she sighed, lying there in her expensive pajamas on a chaise lounge. Cook wouldn't like it if she mussed up the kitchen.

She could, of course, muss it up all she pleased. But it really wouldn't be any fun because she didn't feel that the kitchen belonged to her anyway and cook would probably leave. Cooks were always leaving and taking the serving maid with them.

"Now a butler would really run the place," Joel had said when she had protested that it was ridiculous for them to have a butler.

"But I want to run it," she had said rather pathetically.

Joel had laughed. "Why, you goose? Just keep yourself pretty for me and help me do my entertaining. You ought to be glad we aren't living baek on the west side in New York."

"But I have nothing to do," she had persisted.

"You are a lily of the field now," he answered and that was that.

Another day Lucien Doyle's wife —Dot was another lily of the field, in fact so were the other two girls at Janet's table at the charity bridge —said, "Janet, don't you ever get bored with Hollywood? I think this is a ghastly place for a girl without a job. We never have anything to talk about. I've forgotten what the girls used to talk about back home."

Linda Appleby said, "Instead of talking about what picture so-and-so is making, they talk about the new dress they saw or what Mrs. You-know-who said at the forum meeting last week and whose husband got drunk at the country club party on Saturday night."

Grace Tucker sighed, "Our husband can't even get drunk because it's against the rules! Sometimes I think it would be a good idea if we could talk about those things but new dresses are no novelty in our lives. What do you say, Janet?"

Janet said, "I don't really know, girls, about wives back east, but I guess wives are the same everywhere. They want to talk about their husbands and children and I guess it could be just as dull to talk about the coal business or Wall Street.

"Who's talking about Wall Street?" Harriet Casey said as she strolled toward their table. Harriet was a newspaper woman, west coast representative of a string of newspapers.

"Oh, we're just talking about our husbands and children for a change," Dot Doyle said.

"Well, well, girls!" Harriet exclaimed brightly. "Do I scent news? Who has any children here?"

"Well, if we haven't, we're going to have," Janet said idly. "Who bid three hearts?"

Janet was dummy. She was glad she didn't have to concentrate. The conversation had somehow made her feel depressed. She thought of the busy, stimulating years when she had had a job. And she had had one when she and Joel first came to Hollywood. Joel had been her job and she had done it well, but now he had no further need of those services he hadn't even known about.

Harriet Casey leaned over to her and whispered, "I want to talk to you, Mrs. Paynter. Did you mean what you said?"

Jane said, "Excuse me, Linda, but didn't you play a club on that last trick? You did have a heart in your hand . . ." she turned back to Harriet who had said something to her. "Yes," she answered not remembering what the question had been.

Someone called to Harriet then and she left giving Janet a little pat on the back. Janet said, "This gives us the rubber, partner."

She thought no more about the conversation.

The next afternoon Joel had asked her to meet him at his tailor's. They were going from there straight to dinner at a restaurant and to view a picture at one of the smaller houses.

Janet liked those "dates". Joel had made a little game of calling her on the phone and asking her, if she didn't have a date, if he could have one with her.

Those were the little things about Joel that delighted Janet. He was her "beau" and she was his "best girl."

"But beaux don't give their girls ermine capes. At least, not in Chester, darling," she had said on that occasion and Joel had gotten in the car and driven to a dusty drug store where he had bought her a large box of stale chocolates wich he presented to her with a flourish. "I'm not to be outdone by the beaux in Chester," he said.

He made a wonderful beau and a very good husband, she thought, even if she had never felt like a wife. What was that Martha had said to her years ago about the "good, quite years"? She knew well enough and she hoped that some day they would come even though she couldn't put her finger on what was wrong with their marriage.

"There is nothing wrong with our marriage!" She protested stoutly and thought that the only thing that was wrong with it was that she wasn't contented. And because she wasn't contented, she was an ungrateful girl. There was Joel to give her the moon if she asked for it.

And therein was her trouble. She didn't want the moon. She wanted a little home. She wanted to go to market in the morning and chatter with other women. She wanted to know what was in her ice box. She actually wanted to clean out that ice box.

Sometimes, seeing other girls like —and yet not like—herself in the market, she thought: Marriage is an estate and that is what I haven't got. It's a nameless feeling of being enclosed in that state. That's why it is called an estate. It's something that you don't see but you feel it when you are building something with another person. It's the feeling of being Mrs. to somebody's Mr. It's a feeling of being part of a man's life. I know—oh, I know I am part of Joel's but I'm not necessary to him or to anyone else."

To do Janet justice, it must be said that she did not think these things too often. She wasn't thinking of anything unhappy or disquieting when her chauffeur drew up before the English Tailoring House.

Joel saw her the moment she entered the door. His face was pale and his eyes were angry as he came up to her.

He thrust a newspaper into her hands.

"Read that, Janet, and explain it please," he said.

"Darling," she said, "You look terribly upset!"

"I am," he answered, "I'd like to know why you didn't consult me about this!"

"Th's what?" Janet answered calmly and started to read.

For southern wear is this tweed sports jacket worn with linen or tropical cloth trousers.

Beaverdell Mine Nets $48,526

Annual report of Highland-Bell Ltd., operating mines at Beaverdell, showed that for an investment of $52,679.25 a net profit of $48,526.67 resulted, not taking into consideration approximately $2000 worth of ore at the Trail smelter.

The company paid $14,803.38 in dividends and has over $20,000 in cash on hand, according to the report presented to shareholders by President F. V. Staples of Creston. The mine is described as having the distinction of showing a steady yearly operating profit for the last 20 years.

The potato originated along the Pacific coast of South America and was introduced to Europe by the Spaniards.

CHICAGO HIGHER

CHICAGO, March 4 (AP).—Predictions of fair weather for United States winter wheat areas, whereas additional moisture would benefit crops, did much today to make wheat prices average higher.

Wheat closed unchanged to ⅜ higher, corn ½ off to ⅛ up, oats unchanged to ⅜ advanced and rye ¼-½ down.

Domestic farm reserve stock of wheat, unofficially estimated at about 87,000,000 bushels, made a somewhat stimulating exhibit, being in contrast with 121,000,000 bushels a year ago.

The crocodile lives to be 100 years old, the tortoise more than 100, and the elephant between 150 and 200.

DEPARTMENT OF MINES

Synopses of Mining Laws

MINERAL ACT

Free Miners' Certificates

Any person over the age of eighteen, and any Joint Stock Company is entitled to enter upon all waste lands of the Crown and upon any other lands whereon the minerals other than coal are reserved to the Crown and its licensees with specific reservations, for the purpose of prospecting for minerals, locating claims, and mining. The fee to an individual for a Free Miners' Certificate is $5.00 for one year. To a Joint Stock Company having a capital of $100,000.00 or less the fee for a year is $50.00; if capitalized beyond this the fee is $100.00. The Free Miners' Certificates run from date of issue and expire on the 31st of May next after its date or some subsequent 31st of May. Certificates may be obtained for any part of a year terminating on 31st of May for a proportionately less fee. (Free Miners' Certificates are also applicable to the Placer Mining Act.)

Mineral Claims

Size: 51.65 acres.

Recording fee: $2.50 per claim.

Representation: Assessment work to the extent of $100.00 must be done each year and recorded on or before the anniversary date of record of the claim. Cash in the sum of $100.00 may be paid in lieu of such assessment work. Fee for recording assessment work, $2.50. If the required assessment work has been performed within the year, but not recorded within that time, a free miner may within thirty days thereafter record such assessment work upon payment of an additional fee of $10.00. The actual cost of the survey of a mineral claim to an amount not exceeding $100.00 may also be recorded as assessment work. As soon as assessment work to the extent of $500.00 (or cash paid of a like amount) is recorded and a survey made of the claim, the owner of such claim is entitled to a Crown Grant on payment of a fee of $25.00, and giving the necessary notices required by the Act.

PLACER MINING ACT

Four types of placer claims:

Creek diggings; bar diggings; dry diggings; and precious stone diggings. (For details see Part II. Placer Mining Act.)

Representation: A placer claim must be worked by the owner or someone on his behalf continuously as far as practicable during working hours. Lay-overs and leaves of absence may be declared by the Gold Commissioner under certain conditions. To hold a placer claim for more than one year it must be re-recorded before the expiration of the record or re-record.

Placer Mining Leases

Size and method of staking, etc.

Eighty acres in extent, staked along a "location line" not more than one-half mile in length. In this line one bend or change of direction is permitted. Where a straight line is followed two posts only are necessary, i.e., an "initial post" and a "final post." Where there is a change of direction a legal post must be placed to mark the point of the said change. The leasehold is allowed a width not in excess of one-quarter mile. The locator is required within thirty days after the date of the location to post a notice in the office of the Mining Recorder setting out the name of the applicant; the number of his free miner's certificate; the date of location; the number of feet lying to the right and left of the location line; and the approximate area or size of the ground.

Dredging leases on rivers for five miles below low-water mark are also granted.

Fees: Annual rental on placer mining lease, $30.00; annual development work required to be expended, $250.00; annual rental on dredging lease, $25.00 per mile; annual development work required to be expended, $1,000.00 per mile; the value of any new plant or machinery employed to count as money expended in development. Fee for recording certificate of work, $2.50. Lease fee, $5.00.

Provisional Free Miners' Certificates, (Placer) Act

Department of Mines Act

Among other things, these Acts provide for the staking and representing of placer claims without payment of fees, and assistance to prospectors by free assays, etc.

A detailed synopsis of the above Acts; also the "Mines Development Act"; "Mineral Survey and Development Act"; "Iron and Steel Bounties Act"; and "Phosphate-mining Act"; are available at the Department of Mines, Victoria. Complete copies of the Acts may be obtained from the King's Printer, Victoria.

WINNIPEG PRICES LITTLE BETTER

Unchanged to 1-4 Up; Only Minor Buys for Export

WINNIPEG, March 4 (CP)—Lack of outside interest on the Winnipeg grain exchange left prices unchanged to ¼ cent higher today. May ended at $1.27, July $1.22⅞-$1.23 and October $1.11⅜.

Trading moved within a one-cent range. Only minor purchases were credited to export interests, with no estimate on export business.

Liverpool futures closed ⅝-1d lower. Buenos Aires wheat moved independently and at noon showed gains of ⅞-⅜ cent.

Cash wheat and coarse grain markets were neglected.

N.Y. STUMBLES

NEW YORK, March 4 (AP).—The stock market stumbled over profit selling today and many leaders suffered sizeable losses.

An assortment of issues, including mail orders, farm implements, utilities and specialties managed to press forward; but declines of fractions to 3 or more points predominated at the close.

Ability of the power and light company shares to pick up in the face of liquidation elsewhere was heartening.

Rails got off to a good start on estimates weekly carloadings would reach the 800,000 mark before the spring movement is passed. The majority retreated later.

Waite-Amulet Mines to Resume Work

TORONTO, March 4 (CP)—Directors of Waite-Amulet Mines Limited decided to resume operations at their mines, following a long close-down because of a drop in metal prices. Production will be started first at the Amulet property by June.

Waite-Amulet Mines Limited is controlled by Noranda Mines Limited and James Y. Murdoch is president of both companies.

Siscoe Net Profit $1,030,099 in 1936

TORONTO, March 4 (CP)—Net profit of $1,030,099 for 1936 was reported today by Siscoe Gold Mines. This was equal to 22 cents a share compared with net profit of $1,062,551 equal to 23 cents a share the previous year.

CANADIAN DOLLAR UNCHANGED AT PAR

NEW YORK, March 4 (AP).—Fears of further French monetary devaluation caused heavy offering of the franc and the pound sterling today. The pound was off 9-16 of a cent at $4.88⅜, while francs were .00½ of a cent lower at 4.64⅝. Swiss francs, on the other hand, added .01½ of a cent. The Canadian dollar was unchanged at par.

BOND PRICES UNEVEN

NEW YORK, March 4 (AP).—Bond prices were uneven today. Interest continued to centre in the domestic corporate list. Foreign bonds worked higher but the improvement was fractionally uniform. The Associated Press compilation for 10 of these bonds improved .2 of a point to 73.

SILVER FUTURES ERRATIC

MONTREAL, March 4 (CP). — Silver futures moved erratically on Canadian commodity exchange today but closed steady, five points lower to 20 points higher. Trading increased to 14 contracts with six March, six May, one July and one September future changing hands. Closing bids for the traded months were March 45.50; May 45.50; July 45.40; Sept. 45.20.

NEW YORK, March 4 (AP).—The price of foreign-mined silver moved up ½ cent to 45¼ cents an ounce today, following a similar price rise in London caused by heavy demand from India. The Indian buying, it was said started from fears aroused by posting of higher war risk insurance premiums. Today's price was only ¼ cent an ounce under the year's high level of 45½ cents, touched January 7. In 1936 silver's high was 49¾ cents and the low 44¾ cents.

Incorporation Is Debated at Board Meet, Kimberley

KIMBERLEY, B.C.—At the annual meeting of the board of trade officers elected were: President, C. Swan; vice-president, Charles Morrison; secretary-treasurer, M. J. Halpin; executive council, F. A. Fortier, T. M. Anderson, C. W. Crisford, S. W. Forteath, E. Moss, R. B. McLeod, N. Thomason and F. W. Slade; auditor, Stanley Norton.

The matter of heavily loaded trucks using the Kimberley-Cranbrook highway during the soft spring weather brought forth a resolution to the department of public works suggesting they place a load limit for the next few weeks.

The secretary was instructed to ask C.P.R. officials to remove snow at the railroad crossing on Wallanger avenue.

The executive of the Kimberley Taxpayers' association was introduced. A discussion took place on incorporation. E. M. Hughes stated that he was one of the committee that interviewed S. G. Blaylock, vice-president and general manager of the C.M. & S., regarding the position of the company on incorporation. Mr. Blaylock had told them that the McDougall Townsite property could not be included, but that all other company property in the town could go in. On no condition would the company turn over their water rights but would continue to supply the town as at present. While not committing himself he thought it possible that by some agreement the town might purchase the existing light system.

A. Lauzon said no action could be taken without a large majority of ratepayers being in favor. It was planned to have a statement drawn up making public the facts and figures and information gathered by Mr. Lauzon.

At the close a civic committee was appointed to work together for the general betterment of the town.

Hon. Frank MacPherson Becomes a 'Blood Brother' of an Indian Tribe

Taken for Ride in Canoe Across Ballroom Floor by "Chieftainess" at Victoria

VICTORIA, B.C. Mar. 4 — Hon. Frank MacPherson, minister of public works for British Columbia, became blood brother to a tribe of unnamed Indians last night when Socialite Mrs. Charles E. Wilson, chieftainess of a comely band of social register "Aborigines" bestowed on him a feathered headdress and took him canoeing over the ballroom floor of the Empress hotel.

It was an unrehearsed effect of a crowded dinner dance program at the mid-week cabaret dance as part of the social side of the ninth annual Empress Winter Golf tournament, in progress at the Oak Bay links.

The minister went through initiation ceremonies and responded to the plaudits of the laughing, cheering crowd with stoical calm and good humor, saluted Sun, Moon and Stars in dramatic imitation of the "chieftainess" and paddled away with her surrounded by the maidens of the tribe.

His Honor, Eric W. Hamber, lieutenant-governor of British Columbia and Mrs. Hamber were among the guests.
