HEPBURN MASSES POLICE IN STRIKE

$30,000 to $40,000 Concentrator to Be Built at Granite, Four Miles From City

ENGLISH MONEY ALREADY HERE FOR THE PLANT

Crew on Ground Now Clearing Brush Away

G. M. GRIMWOOD TELLS OF PLAN

30 to 50 Ton Capacity; Employ Nine; May Be Increased

Announcement was made on Thursday by G. H. Grimwood of Nelson, Kootenay representative of Messrs. Ayrton-Cohen Co. Ltd. of London, England, that a custom concentrator costing $30,000 to $40,000 will be constructed to handle Kootenay custom ore at Granite Siding, four miles west of Nelson. A crew is already on the ground, slashing brush and preparing for construction to begin at the earliest possible time. It is expected the mill will be in operation about June 15.

Concentrates produced at the mill will be shipped to Europe for smelting.

Mr. Grimwood stated the British capital represented by this company had made searching examinations and metallurgical tests during a careful survey lasting two years and that the careful survey convinced his principals there was a definite need for a custom mill in this district, and that in line with his principals' interest in the Slocan it was felt such a mill, near Nelson, was a logical development. In this location, it was felt, it would be ideally situated to handle ore from the Slocan, Ainsworth and Nelson mining divisions.

MONEY ON HAND

Between $30,000 and $40,000 has been forwarded to Nelson for construction of the mill. Decision to go ahead immediately followed the visit to the Kootenays in February of Richard Ayrton of London, chairman of the board of Ayrton-Cohen, and Leon Lubett, the company's mining engineer. Mr. Lubett will arrive in Nelson within a few days to assist in carrying out the program planned.

Capacity of 30 to 50 tons daily is planned in the initial program, and the mill will be so designed as to permit readily of extension, Mr Grimwood stated.

It will be a modern plant in every respect, using the conventional mill equipment — crushers, sampling plant, flotation machines, filters and so on. Denver Equipment company has the contract for the machinery. West Kootenay Power & Light company power will be used.

SLASHING UNDER WAY

A crew of five is now on the ground, slashing, and this will be increased up to 20 when construction starts. Eight or nine men will be steadily employed in operation of the mill.

Denver Equipment company has the contract for machinery, and plans are being made from Denver designs by J. P. Coates, associate member of the Engineering Institute of Canada, in conjunction with J. H. Bailey, engineer for the Denver company.

The company last year built a crude ore sampling plant at the city wharf, Nelson, to test crude ore.

OTTAWA, April 8 (CP).—In a final drive toward prorogation the house of commons will sit all day Saturday. Prime Minister Mackenzie King gave notice today that his motion the prime minister takes reference only to the one Saturday, lending weight to the belief that the session will end before another week.

Nelson Civic Leaders Have Their Troubles

INSPECTING PARTY GETS STUCK

Spring weather is causing trouble on some streets in Nelson. Stanley, between Hall Mines road and Observatory, is a bad spot. There is no bottom and, apparently, there's a spring. Several cars have been stuck here and, when the mayor and some aldermen went to inspect the scene they got stuck, too. Coming down the grade their car was deeply mired and had to be hauled out. Those in the snapshot are Mayor J. P. Morgan, Ald N. C. Stibbs, Ald. T. W. Slader, Ald. Alick Ritchie, City Engineer R. E. Potter. Pointing to a cause of trouble is Paul Lincoln, a nearby resident.

DIRECTORS OF HEDLEY UNLOADED STOCK DAY IT CRASHED ON COAST MARKET, INVESTIGATION REVEALS

Four Directors Members of Stock and Bond Company; One Sold Under Assumed Name; Reports of Tonnage Falsified

VANCOUVER, April 8 (CP)—Commissioner G. L. Fraser, in a 30-page report made public today, characterized certain members of Hedley Amalgamated Gold Mines field staff as "strange" and branded as "unbusinesslike" the records of stock transactions kept by Presidnt R. E. Barker.

The commissioner, appointed under the securities act to investigate collapse of Hedley Amalgamated stock on the Vancouver exchange last February 23, included these findings in his report:

That William Cox, "mine superintendent", was frequently intoxicated and unable to attend to his duties.

That W. S. Bacon signed reports which "he admits were untruthful" and in one of these reports stated the company had half a million tons of commercial ore. The commissioner adds such a statement was "absolutely false".

That an account was established with D. A. Hamilton and company and that it was the intention the company should create favorable publicity and support the market

LOCAL UNITS TO BE USED IN THE COAST DEFENCE

To Draw on Personnel of Non-permanent Militia

OTTAWA, April 8 (CP)—The increase in personnel necessary to man Canada's expanded coastal defences, which are stressed in the government's present defence policy, will be drawn mainly from the non-permanent militia, Hon. Ian Mackenzie, minister of defence, disclosed today.

After October 1, manning the fortresses at Halifax and Esquimalt will become the responsibility of local militia units instead of the permanent force as at present. Provisional instructions preparatory to the change have already gone out to the district commanding officers, the minister stated.

The permanent force, which is now manning those defences and also providing instruction to the non-permanent militia, will become more exclusively instructional as the coastal defences are increased, he added. It will continue to look after maintenace of forts and of equipment.

Rebels Apologize to Britain

LONDON, April 8 (AP) — Two British warships collected a speedy apology today from Spanish insurgents for two air attacks against the destroyer Gallant.

Insurgent air commanders and port authorities at Palma, Mallorca, one of the Balearic islands, told officers of the British vessels "it was conceivable we made an unfortunate mistake."

The destroyer Garland and the cruiser Shropshire anchored in Palma harbor while their officers called upon the insurgents.

Insurgent authorities explained that prior to the attack against the Gallant Tuesday they had received reports Spanish government destroyers were in the waters through which the Gallant was passing, off the east coast of Spain.

HEAVY FIGHTING AT MADRID

MADRID, April 8 (AP)—Heaviest fighting in months broke out on the outskirts of Madrid tonight.

The fighting seemed to be in the war-scarred University City district on the northwestern edge of Madrid, or in the Carabanchel region to the south, or in both. It began at 8:30 p.m. and had started to die down at 10 p.m.

The new battling around Madrid came just after the government achieved a success in southern Spain with the union of two main columns some 70 miles north of the highly important insurgent-held city of Seville.

BENNETT TO ANNOUNCE DECISION ON RETIRING AFTER CORONATION

Leader Tells Tory Caucus He Will Give It Ample Notice If He Decides to Quit; to Return From Europe Early

OTTAWA, April 8 (CP)—Conservative members of parliament were informed in caucus today by Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett that he would give them ample notice should he decide to relinquish the leadership of the party. This was the last caucus before prorogation.

The Conservative leader's statement is presumed to have been prompted by reports through the country that he was giving consideration to retiring.

He expected to return from a trip to European countries following the coronation at a reasonably early date and would then be ready to make known his decision.

Members of the party tonight said they had not given up hope Mr. Bennet would see his way clear to continue as leader following the heart to heart talk he had with them as to his own and the party's future.

SOCIAL CREDIT IN NEW ACT IS UP IN ALBERTA HOUSE

Approved in Caucus by Insurgent Social Crediters

REDUCES INTEREST RATES BY 50 P.C.

Administration to Be by Commission in New Set-Up

By GEORGE FINLAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON, April 8 (CP)—A new Social Credit act, a consolidation of various governmental legislation, was introduced in the Alberta legislature today.

Approved in caucus by insurgent Social Crediters and supporters of Premier Aberhart, the new act calls for appointment of a commission, free from political control, to formulate and administer a Social Credit program in Alberta.

The house adopted new legislation to reduce interest rates by 50 per cent on provincial securities or debentures guaranteed by the province.

The legislation also provides no action may be started in the courts by security holders without permission of the lieutenant-governor-in-council.

The new Social Credit act incorporates the Social Credit measures act and the Credit House act, adopted at the last session of the legislature, and a bill, introduced by Premier Aberhart, for appointment of the commission of technical experts.

The main change is the commission feature. It will be selected by a board of house members, of which G. L. MacLachlan (S.C., Coronation) has been nominated chairman, and will change administration of Social Credit acts from order-in-council to the commission plan.

The board, or any designated member of it, may make a world-wide search for technical experts for the commission if it deems necessary.

"The board may go any place in the world?" asked Gerald O'Connor (Liberal-Edmonton).

"Yes," replied Mr. Lowe.

"Or elsewhere?" continued the Liberal member.

BUTTER PRICES SOAR IN CANADA

Butter prices are soaring. Wholesale prices have advanced three times in the past week.

They rose Friday, Monday and again yesterday, with corresponding effect on retail prices.

Low spring production and, probably increased consumption, have caused a big drop in the available supplies on hand.

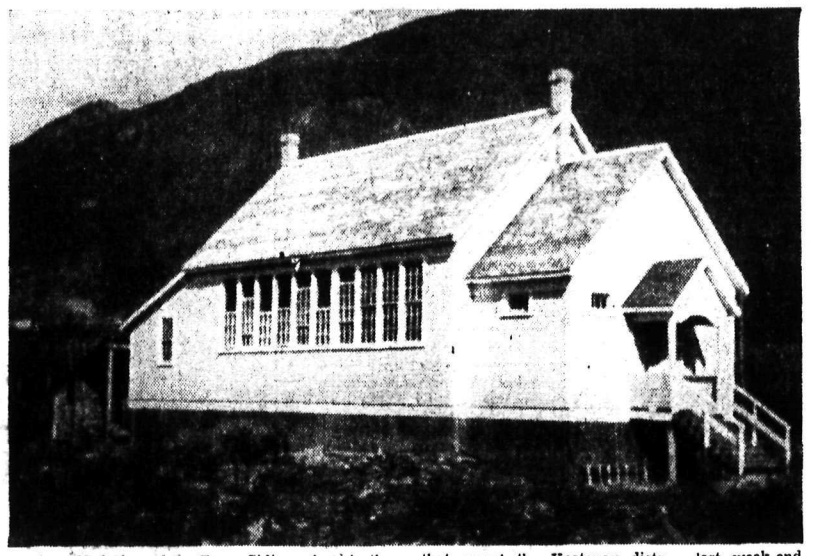
Wholesalers are having difficulties in securing supplies.

Butterfat prices to farmers in this district have been advanced as butter has gone up.

SOLLOWAY ORDERED TO PAY $3,296,591

TORONTO, April 8 (CP) —Isaac W. C. Solloway, head of the former brokerage firm of Solloway, Mills & Co. Ltd. (Dominion company) was ordered today in a judgment by Mr. Justice J. A. Makins to pay $3,296,591.35 to G. T. Clarkson, liquidator of the company. The judgment was given on an appeal by Solloway against a report of the assistant master of the Ontario supreme court and referee in proceedings on a misfeasance summons issued against the former broker under a section of the Winding Up act.

Pretty Perry Siding School Burned to Ground in Last Week-End's Wave of Incendiarism



A general view of the Perry Siding school in the Slocan valley as it appeared last week. Now nothing remains but a couple of standing chimneys and heaps of ashes and charred wood. The school was one of the victims in the wholesale wave of incendiarism that swept the Kootenay district last week-end when 10 halls and schools were attacked by fire and a school by a bomb. Photo of the Perry's school is by courtesy of H. Nixon. The picture was taken shortly after its completion and before spacious grounds were levelled and put into use.

NEW GAUGE WILL BE PLACED AT KUSKANOOK

OTTAWA, April 8.—The Dominion water and power bureau has for the past 23 years maintained and operated an automatic gauge on the landing pier of the Canadian Pacific railway at Kootenay Landing.

The railway company has now abandoned this pier and the federal government today brought down in supplementary estimates an item of $3000 for the construction of a new gauge at Kuskanook.

FORSLUND HOME ARROW LAKE IS RAZED BY FIRE

EDGEWOOD, B.C., April 8—Fire of unknown origin completely destroyed the beautiful home of Capt. A. Forslund on the shore of the Arrow lake, midway between Edgewood and Needles.

Mrs. Forslund and a maid were in the house, while Captain Forslund was at work in the orchard with his man. Twenty minutes after the fire was discovered the house was in ruins with everything in it. Nothing was saved.

The 10-room, two-storey house was as well known in the Arrow Lakes district as Captain Forslund. It was a beautiful place, fitted with every modern convenience. The loss is estimated at $5500 to $6000.

BISHOP OF LONDON GOES TO A MOVIE IN HOLY WEEK

LONDON, April 8 (CP).—After a London newspaper had headlined his visit to a cinema following the Maundy Thursday service at St Paul's, the Bishop of London, 79-year-old Dr. A. F. Winnington-Ingram, declared:

"I know it is Holy Week, but it is the end of Lent and I thought I would have a little relaxation. I did it partly to please my godchild."

He entered the cinema theatre wearing his four-cornered purple velvet hat.

WOMAN KILLED AT COAST

VANCOUVER, April 8 (CP).—Mrs. A. Haseldon, about 50, was almost instantly killed and Percy H. Edge, automobile salesman, was seriously injured when a demonstator car the woman was learning to drive crashed through a heavy railing on Marine drive near the University of British Columbia campus and plunged almost 300 feet to the rocky beach below.

20 Years Ago Today, Vimy Taken by Canadians

By the Canadian Press

Canadian war veterans today recall once more that achievement which 20 years ago rang through the world as one of the most brilliant of the Great War—the storming and capture of Vimy ridge.

Second only to the Armistice in the calendar of remembrance, the battle which transferred that rampart to Canadian hands was fought April 9, 1917, and succeeding days. Its importance was further emphasized last July 26, when Canada's national memorial atop the ridge was dedicated.

For these and other reasons, Canada's ex-servicemen will foregather in city, town and hamlet to relive the old days and recall old comradeships. Vimy banquets are scheduled to take place everywhere.

In many respects the battle of Vimy ridge takes precedence over even Ypres and those bitter engagements fought during the last 100 days of the war. It marked the only occasion when the four divisions of the Canadian corps fought in lines, at the same time and on the same day. The unity of Canada was signalized in that operation.

SLAYERS STILL ELUSIVE

CHEHALIS, April 8 (AP)—First degree murder charges were filed here tonight against Claud (Cy) Ryan and Walter Seelert, paroled convicts named by witness as the bandit-killers who robbed a woman and shot to death a sheriff's deputy near here Wednesday.

While Pros. James E. Sareault filed the murder complaint, officers directing a coastwise search predicted eventual capture of the fugitives.

SHOWDOWN IS NEAR; 3700 MEN AT OSHAWA IDLE

Oshawa Mayor Asserts He'll Block R.C.M.P. and Provincials

200 MOUNTIES READY TO ACT?

Strike Grows Out of U. S. Activities of the C. I. O.

OSHAWA, Ont., April 8 (CP)—Mayor Alex Hall tonight told more than 2500 cheering strikers of General Motors of Canada, Ltd., he would not allow the Canadian or Ontario governments to send militia or police here to intercede in the strike.

"Enforcement of law and order is the duty of the municipality," said Mayor Hall. "We have our own police force to look after our own troubles here. Neither the police chief (Owen D. Friend) nor I have requested any assistance to enforce law and order.

"So far there has been no indication of wholesale lawbreaking and no reason to believe there may be."

TORONTO, April 8 (CP)—Premier Mitchell Hepburn lined his Ontario government besides General Motors of Canada today to fight the "domination of professional labor profiteers" from the United States who, he said, organized the Oshawa strike of automobile workers today.

A "showdown" was imminent, declared the premier, asserting "the entire resources of this province will be utilized, if necessary, to prevent anything in this country resembling that which is taking place at the present time across the line, due to failure on the part of constituted authority to take adequate action."

While the premier merely said "sufficient police to maintain law and order" would be available, it was learned 200 Royal Canadian Mounted police had been placed at disposal of the Ontario government. It was believed the Mounties would be stationed in Toronto, 35 miles from the strike scene.

In addition about 65 officers of the Ontario provincial police were mobilized in Toronto.

3700 STRIKE

- OSHAWA, Ont., April 8 (CP)—Oshawa's 3700 automobile workers clung tonight to the new and militant labor structure of John L. Lewis. At the command of Lewis lieutenants they walked from General Motors of Canada plants here this morning, demanding recognition of the United Automobile Workers of America.

GERMAN-MADE MACHINES FOR BRITISH ARMY

Orders Placed Total Over $1,000,000 So Far

LONDON, April 8 (CP Cable).—Since January 1 British defence departments have placed orders with German firms through British agents amounting to about £62,000 ($310,000). In addition orders of approximately £168,000 ($840,000) have been placed in Germany for the so-called shadow factories

It is explained that the machines ordered from Germany by the government are of a special class which could be delivered at an earlier date than could be obtained from firms in the United Kingdom.

Wage Officer Leaves Today for Fernie Over Mine Strike Threat

VANCOUVER, April 8 (CP)—F. E. Harrison, Dominion fair wage officer, said tonight he would leave for Fernie, B.C., tomorrow night to act as mediator between officials of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal company and some 1000 mine workers who have threatened to strike next Monday midnight unless their demands for higher wages, better working conditions and union recognition are met.

The Fernie-Michel locals of the United Mine Workers of America to which the men belong, set the deadline last Tuesday after a deadlocked week-end conference. The union said company officials had been presented with an ultimatum saying unless the men were granted union recognition, the main point of the dispute, operations at the Michel, Fernie and Coal Creek colleries would cease.

Mr. Harrison said as far as he knew negotiations had not been reopened but he hoped to bring company and union officials together on arrival at the Crow's Nest Pass town.

The Fernie Unemployed association has announced it will support the men should they strike.

VENEER WORKS BUSINESS SHOWS IMPROVEMENT TO RESUME SOON

Nearly All of Crew Is to Return to Work at the Plant

Considerable improvement in business so far this year as compared with the last few is already shown by B.C. Veneer Works limited, and arrangements are being made by George Dvorjetz, manager, to resume operations as soon as the level of the West Arm has risen 18 inches or so. Nearly all of last year's crew will be back at the lakefront plant, which is now being tuned up in preparation for reopening.

Canadian business has already shown marked improvement, and is described by Mr. Dvorjetz as "good, and likely to be better." This applies to local business as well as carlot shipments. Operation of the Home Improvement Plan is considered likely to benefit the Nelson plant this season.

A quantity of cottonwood logs brought in during the winter and unloaded at the city wharf will be floated shortly and towed to the veneer factory. Quantities are expected to arrive by rail through the season and by water when the lake level rises.

NELSON BOARD PRESSES HIGHWAY PROGRAM ON ASSOCIATED BOARD

Asks Highway Program, Highway Commission, Pound Areas on Arterial Highways, More Fire Money; Defers Acting Rails and Police

Laying on the table for further consideration two resolutions out of six submitted to it by its resolutions committee, the Nelson board of trade Thursday adopted for submission to the Associated Boards of Trade of Eastern British Columbia resolutions calling for a broad highway program for this territory, for setting up of a provincial highway commission, for empowering the minister of public works to establish pound areas on the arterial highways, and for wider provision for fighting harmful forest fires.

The two resolutions laid over proposed respectively unification of the two transcontinental railway systems, and amalgamation of the British Columbia police with the Royal Canadian Mounted.

HIGHWAY PROGRAM

Approved without comment, the resolution on highway program read:

"Resolved that the Associated Boards of Trade of Eastern Britisn Columbia in convention at Rossland, while expressing their thanks and appreciation for the excellent road work performed by the public works department of the province, in eastern British Columbia during the year 1936, particularly that part from Trail to Castlegar, respectfully call attention to the great need for further improvement of the roads, and we urgently request of the provincial public works department that during the season of 1937 it will complete the hard surfacing of the road from Castlegar to Fraser's Landing and will standardize the recognized feeders to the southern transprovincial highway."

REFER RAILS TO COUNCIL

Wording of the railway unification resolution, as submitted by the resolutions committee, was as follows:

"Whereas we view with alarm the continued delay in dealing effectively with the railway problem, entailing as it does the addition annually of many millions of dollars to the country's enormous national debt, through the failure of the Canadian National Railways to meet their expenses; and

"Whereas the present policy of the Dominion government if persisted in will soon create an intolerable financial situation; and

"Whereas the only effective solution of the problem appears to be entering politics, to pass this resolution as drawn was suggested by Ven. Archdeacon Fred H. Graham, who pointed out that the railway problem seemed deeply immersed in politics. As to the matter of unification, if the systems were to be unified under government control, it might easily be that the position of the country would become worse. On the other hand, if they were unified under the Canadian Pacific, a monopoly would be established, and in the long run a monopoly might not be found desirable by the Canadian people.

It was Archdeacon Graham's motion that this resolution should be laid on the table for further consideration, E. C. Wragge seconding it. L. H. Choquette observed that the judgment of laymen would not be very valuable. The suggestion was added that the resolution should be referred to the council for a recommendation, and the motion was adopted in that form.

DEFER ACTION ON POLICE

The police amalgamation resolution read as follows:

"Whereas the policing of British Columbia is presently being carried the unification of the two great railway systems of the country, as outlined by economists of the highest standing;

"Resolved that the Associated Board of Trade of Eastern British Columbia petition the Dominion government to take immediate steps to unify the two great railway systems, in order that the yearly losses due to the present duplication of services may be minimized."

That it would be treading on difficult ground, if not in fact frankly on by the provincial police and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, resulting in unwarranted expense, duplication and confusion;

"Resolved that the Associated Boards of Trade of Eastern British Columbia petition the provincial government, at its next session of the legislature, to arrange for the combination of the two police organizations, so as to effect reduction of expense and increased efficiency."

After a brief discussion, in which H. H. Currie and H. B. Gore questioned the advisability of the proposal, and J. P. Fink, of the resolutions committee, urged it, giving Cranbrook's beneficial experience from handing its policing over to the provincial authorities, an amendment, offered by Mr. Gore, and Capt. P. Hartridge of Balfour, to lay the resolution on the table for further discussion, was declared carried.

ASK HIGHWAY COMMISSION

On the highway commission resolution, everyone was in favor of the principle, but Archdeacon Graham suggested that the convention ought not to dictate to the government as to the number of commissioners. Mr. Fink argued for retention of this provision, however, contending that three men would be ample. Mr. Gore, pointing out that the Associated Boards had declared for a highway commission many times, and that both political parties had accepted the principle, suggested the words "at an early date' should be added.

It was adopted unchanged, however, in the following form:

"Whereas there is precedent in the matter of construction, maintenance and betterment of highways in several provinces of Canada for the placing of highways under the control of a commission; and

"Whereas in these provinces during recent years highways have been standardized and are fast being made to conform to the prescribed standard, with highly beneficial results;

"Resolved that the Associated Boards of Trade of Eastern British Columbia strongly recommend to the provincial government the wisdom of placing the control and management of construction maintenance and betterment of highways of British Columbia in the hands of three commissioners, to be appointed by and be responsible to the provincial legislature."

The pound area proposal has also been advanced by successive conventions, and Archdeacon Graham in seconding the motion for its adoption stated it had the approval of the ranchers generally. It was endorsed, reading:

"Whereas the practice, prevalent in many districts of the province, of permitting live stock to roam at large on public highways is a great source of danger to life and property; and

"Whereas under present legislation motorists are not only liable for the damage sustained to life and property, but also for the live stock causing damage;

"Resolved that the Associated Boards of Trade of Eastern British Columbia urge upon the provincial government that legislation be brought down at the next session of the legislature empowering the minister of public works to declare any section or sections of the arterial highways as pound areas, thereby placing the liability for accidents on the owners of the live stock that has been the cause of the accident."

NO CRAMPING OF FIRE FIGHTING

While A. H. Noakes of Balfour, regarding the forest fire resolution, stated the policy of the department had been changed, and that now the forest branch regularly fought all forest fires to which there was reasonable access, the board took the view that it was wise to insist on the principle, and adopted the resolution, as follows:

"Whereas many forest fires in southern British Columbia destroy timber and vegetation of scenic value, and watersheds which are becoming of increasing importance, and in some cases seriously endanger other property; and

"Whereas it is understood that the policy of the forest branch of the department of lands does not provide for expenditures for the fighting of fires which are not destroying or threatening to destroy timber of commercial value; and

"Whereas said fires sometimes lead to the destruction of valuable timber and other property;

"Resolved that the government of British Columbia be urged to make provision for fighting any harmful forest fire to which reasonable access can be had."

A seventh resolution, dealing with crown-granted mineral claims that had reverted to the crown for non-payment of taxes, was not submitted to the board, as it has not yet been considered by the committee on mining and natural resources.

It began to dawn on Jacqueline that her predicament was a serious one. She hated Colonel Lutman, she knew he was unscrupulous. Yet she had come to his apartment of her own volition. Now, as she headed for the doorway, he barred her way. And the smouldering light in Lutman's eye offered the girl no consolation! MENUS RECIPES and HINTS — Good Housekeeping — By Mrs. Mary Morton

MENU HINT

Vegetable Plate
Fruit Salad—Oranges, Apples, Grapefruit
Tropical Upside-Down Cake
Tea or Coffee

Here is the recipe for a different upside-down cake — made with grapefruit. Vegetables for the plate may, of course, vary with what you can get in the market at reasonable prices just now, and what canned vegetables you have on your shelves. Potatoes, cauliflower, carrots and cannot peas, beans or corn, make a nice combination. Tomatoes or beets add color.

TODAY'S RECIPES

TROPICAL UPSIDE-DOWN CAKE—One-half cup brown sugar firmly packed, two large grapefruit, sectioned; one-third cup of shortening, one-fourth teaspoon salt, three-fourts cup sugar, one egg, one and one-half cups sifted cake flour, two teaspoons baking powder, one-half cup grapefruit juice. Butter thickly an 8x8x2-in. cake pan and cover bottom with brown sugar and grapefruit sections. Cream shortening with salt. Add sugar gradually, then unbeaten egg, beating till light and fluffy. Sift together flour and baking powder. Add alternately with grapefruit juice a little at a time, beating after each addition till smooth. Pour over mixture in pan and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees Fahrenheit) 50 to 60 minutes. Serve with whipped cream.

ROSSLAND MAN LOSES FATHER

Angus MacAulay Dies in 91st Year, Prince Edward Island

Angus MacAulay, father of Angus MacAulay of Rossland, died and was laid to rest at hie home at Tracadie, P. E. I. He had many friends in the west who came from the Island and made many more during a visit he made to friends and relatives in Nelson and Silverton in 1926.

"Though he was in his ninety-first year he had suffered little from the infirmities of old age and had even taken his accustomed walk out of doors the day before he died," it was reported by the Charlottetown Guardian, which described him as a "patriarchal figure, one of those truly admirable Christian fathers." His wife, Anastasia, predeceased him by 22 years.

One of his sons, Francis, is now serving as parish priest at St. Ann's, Winnipeg. Two daughters became nuns. THE DAY THAT I FORGET

The rose leaves of December, the frosts of June shall fret.
The days that you remember, the days that I forget.—Swinburne

by MARIE BLIZARD

COPYRIGHT—RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

CHAPTER 47

"Maybe you'd better go, darling. Martha's a strong minded woman. But come back and say good night to me."

"Even Martha couldn't stop me from doing that. Before I go, you'd better hear the news that I'm to have the spare room three nights a week."

When he had gone, Janet closed her eyes. Her lips moved gently. "Oh Lord," she said. "I thank You. I thank You for sending me this illness and making me see the wrong I was doing. I thank You for giving Joel back to me. Please give me the strength and vision to cherish wisely this precious gift from You."

When Joel came back to kiss her goodby, he held her in his arms with a strong tenderness and said, "Janet, I want to ask you a question. Do you love me?"

"I do love you, Joel."

"Are you in love with me?"

"Terribly, my darling. I always have been."

"Forgive me, Janet, I have doubted for a long time that you were. My heart has been sore with jealousy and the knowledge of my own inferiority."

She pressed him closer to her and could not find the words to tell him what she was feeling or the things that his words made her see. She knew then, for the first time, that her friendship with Russell Bede, her social independence, had been in a large measure the cause of the widening distance between them and she resolved that from that day hence she would never give him cause to be unhappy.

Her strength came back to her quickly after that visit. It was more than Martha's loving care that mended her. Her heart was well again. She had Joel back again.

April slipped sweetly into May and the roses long absent from her cheeks blossomed with their roundness. Her step was firm and she felt like a new person. She began to look forward to returning to her apartment in town albeit she was reluctant to end the happy routine of her days in Chester.

She had never been so happy as she was then. Joel stayed in town on Tuesday and Saturday nights. The other nights he hurried out to the country after the theater and stayed with Janet until late the next afternoon. They went walking and one day they had a fishing trip. Another day they had a picnic.

"Happy?" Joel asked and watched with delight the joy that Janet showed when she found a bird's nest.

"Too happy," she said. "But I will always have this happiness to remember. We've got to start thinking of the future, Joel. Do you think we'll go back to California in the autumn?"

Joel didn't answer her. He averted his face and made some comment about weeding the garden before supper time.

Janet sprinkled moth powder on her sweaters, folded her tweed skirts and her old polo coat and handed them to Martha.

"I don't think I'll need these shoes either," she said, picking up her sturdy boots and looking at them with a fond farewell glance. She was packing away the things that she had worn the last enchanted weeks.

"I'll keep them right here in this closet, Janet and they'll always be there. It isn't as though you were going far away. At least not yet."

Janet sat down in the small rocker. "Martha, sometimes I don't think I'm the same girl I used to be at all. Here I am just living for today without a thought of tomorrow. Somehow it doesn't seem right."

"It seems all right to me. What have you got to worry about?"

Janet shook her head. "Nothing and yet everything. I'm healthy and happy and we'll always have enough money to take care of us from the income of the trust fund. But I'm thinking of Joel without plans. The play is closing next month, on the tenth of June to be exact, and I don't know what we're going to do then. Once or twice I've started to ask Joel what he plans to do about going back to the coast but he has been so interested in getting a worm on a fishline or weeding the garden, that he hasn't even heard me."

"Maybe, he won't want to go back to the coast," Martha said from the closet.

"Won't want to! Of course, he will. The truth is, Martha, that Joel is not a great actor. We haven't talked about it and I don't believe that Joel actually knows he isn't, but I do. I'm glad that he will want to go back to California because it will give him a chance to make lots more money. This time I'll see that he saves lots more. Then, maybe we'll go around the world some day and do other wonderful things. We're really not old. Joel is only 35 and I'm not yet 30."

"Humph!" Martha grunted noncommitally.

"We haven't saved very much this winter. Joel was only getting half what he did on the coast and our bills have been tremendous. I'd like to sub-let the apartment and live out here for part of the summer and go to the Cape for another part of it. Joel has never even seen our little theater at Grannis."

"Then why don't you?" Martha asked reasonably.

"Oh, we'll have to be in New York so that Joel can be where things are going on. Then, I'll have lots of things to do also."

Martha stood arms akimbo. "I hope, young lady, that you're not planning to go back to work."

"Not this summer, of course, but if Joel stays in the east, I expect I will in the autumn. Russell has been pretty fine about it." Russell had been pretty fine about everything, sending her flowers and books and writing her cheery little notes, telephoning frequently and offering his services for anything they might be put to. "Joel understands about my job. He knows that I need something to keep me occupied."

"There'd be nothing like a small Paynter to keep you occupied?" Martha contributed.

Janet didn't answer until she said, "It's almost noon, darling, and Joel will be here for lunch. I want to be all packed before he comes. He simply loathes last minute packing."

"Janet Paynter, you stop thinking of Joel and think of yourself for once."

But Janet could no more have stopped thinking of Joel and started thinking of herself than she could have changed the color of her eyes.

She was thinking of him when Russell Bede came to her and made an offer that was to be the triumph of her business life.

He told her that he had been waiting for her recovery to tell her the important news that he was opening a shop in New York, that the financial results of her work and help had been so great that it was only fair to offer her a partnership in the New York shop and a salary of $25,000 a year to run it.

He didn't want to burden her while she was ill but he wanted her to consider it during the summer and plan to start in the autumn with the opening. He had planned an imposing, four-floor shop on East Fifty-seventh street.

When Janet realized what it meant, it was what that security would mean to Joel if he were to stay in the east in the theater and not her triumph that filled her mind.

She told Russell how happy he had made her and said that she would have to talk it over with Joel.

Joel's show was closing a few days after that conversation and Joel was moody. She decided to wait until he had a new show or made a professional move, before she broached the subject.

Nevertheless, she cherished the idea. The honor for Janet Paynter to have quietly carved a career on her own, to have achieved the distinction of being offered a partnership in a shop destined for great success, was a nobler accomplishment than she had ever dreamed in those far off days when she had been an assistant buyer in a department store.

How proud of her her father would have been! And Martha. And Joel?

Joel who didn't believe women should have careers; Joel who had been a gigolo in a cocktail bar so that he could support his wife; Joel who had despised men who allowed their wives to earn their joint livelihood.

But . . .

Already she began to dread that little word, knowing the weakness of any argument she might have.

One afternoon she ordered her car and told the chauffeur to take her to Dick Hyman's office. Hyman was Joel's agent in New York.

"I'm a very curious woman, Mr. Hyman," she said with a pretty smile. "I'm wondering what you have up your sleeve for Joel. I happened to be passing and thought this would be a good time to drop in and have a little visit with you."

"I'm glad you did, Mrs. Paynter." He sighed. "I can't make that boy out any more. You may be able to put me straight."

Janet felt herself shiver. This wasn't the way Hyman had talked a few months before.

"What's the matter with him?" he shot at her.

"Suppose you tell me what you think it is?" she countered.

He shrugged his shoulders. "I might call it temperament, but it ain't! Of course, you know he's washed up in A pictures."

"Washed up!" Janet could feel herself bristle. "Why, Joel is one of the top-notch box office draws."

"Was," he corrected. "You have to face these things, Mrs. Paynter. I can get Joel a good contract in Hollywood but is ain't as good as he had. The public forgets and when the hold on the box office slips, the contract slips. But he won't even talk about a contract. He can work up again but he don't say anything when I ask him about what he wants me to do. He oughta know he can't get another play this season. One play was as much as his public'll take. Maybe you can talk to him."

"I'll try," she said and got up. She was completely disconcerted, too astonished and frightened to have the agent say anything more.

She didn't talk about it to Joel for several days and then, when she asked him what he wanted to do, he got up, walked over to the mantle and put his head on his arms.

"I'm washed up, Janet. I don't want to go back to pictures. I don't know what I want. I only know that I'm a ham and I'm scared! Does that mean anything to you? It isn't the lesser salary I'd get on the coast, it's that I can't go back."

Sun Disperses All Signs April Rains

April's mild assault on the district with nearly a week of rain and cloudy weather was evidently quelled by the brilliant sunshine of Thursday and for nearly the whole day not a cloud marred the sky.

For eight hours the sun blazed unhampered and brought a real spring day to Nelson. The mercury soared to a high of 57 to equal the highest temperature of the year to date. While the day was pleasingly warm the previous night had been chilly and the red showed a minimum temperature for the 24 hours ending at 5 p.m. Thursday of 29 degrees.

HIGHWAY NEGLECT IN THE PAST COSTLY TO US TODAY

Under the headings "More Cars Outward Than Inward—More People Left Canada for Touring," the following paragraphs are given prominence as the first item in the latest issue of The National Revenue Review, published by the Canadian department of national revenue:

At sixteen frontier points in the Dominion, mostly in the west, the number of Canadian motor cars reported outwards last year exceeded the total of United States cars entered, in several cases by substantial numbers. Twelve of the sixteen were in British Columbia, two in Quebec and one each in New Brunswick and Alberta.

"The most marked difference shown in totals was at the Pacific highway, B.C., where the number of Canadian cars outwards exceeded United States cars entered by 36,730. At Boundary Bay the difference was 18,283 cars; at Huntingdon, B. C., 13,017; at Osoyoos, 8774; at Silver Heights, 6604; at Paterson, 3278. At the outport of Lacolle, Quebec, the number of Canadian cars reported outwards exceeded the number of United States cars entered inwards by just 109. . . .

"The Dominion's busiest point of departure for motor traffic was Pacific Highway, B.C."

These figures, says the Victoria Times, indicate something in the nature of a stampede on the part of Canadian motorists in British Columbia to get out of their own country. At the same time they indicate no corresponding rush on the part of Americans to get out of their country into British Columbia. This is a situation in contrast with that of the rest of Canada, where, except at four minor ports of entry, three of which are in the west, the impouring of United States cars far exceeded the traffic of Canadian cars outbound.

CLEARING-HOUSE FOR CANCER INFORMATION

The American Society for the Control of Cancer has established a Cancer Council of seven members to act as a clearing-house for information on various aspects of the subject and to represent the major organizations in the United States for the purpose of integration and coordination of different activities.

The vast increase in the public interest in Cancer will be well served by an unprejudiced national body representative of the major groups in cancer. By means of this body it should be possible to prevent abuse of public confidence by a sane evaluation of current and future developments in the various phases of the cancer problem. It is time that the public mind should no longer be disturbed by the broadcasting of reckless information regarding this or that untried but well-advertised cure. To such a body claims of successful treatments or cures may be referred for prompt and authentic criticism. There is need for a similar council in Canada.

DICTATORS

Europe is facing a new "crisis" because one man's pride has been hurt. Such is the effect of Mussolini's reaction to the defeat of Italian troops by the Spanish government forces.

Italian "volunteers" went to Spain, if not at Mussolini's orders at least with his blessing. Everything went well until they were defeated in their first real battle. Which has left Il Duce with a very red face, the one thing that a dictator cannot stand. So Mussolini warns that dreadful things will happen if the British press does not stop making fun of him. He summons his ambassadors from all over Europe to find out how the public pulse is beating, and there are rumors he will scrap all kinds of agreements in order to show his disapproval of everything.

Wars come from many poor reasons. There could not be a poorer reason than the fact that one swelled-headed individual had been made to look foolish. But this is nothing new in the history of Europe. In Napoleon's day the world was at the mercy of one man's whims. A great many men had to die and much misery had to be loosed on the world before that dictator could be crushed. There is satisfaction, however, in the fact that he was crushed.

Napoleon simply represented one step in France's transition from feudalism to democracy. Neither he nor the government he stood for was permanent. It will be the same for all those other dictators today, sprouting like weeds all across the fair fields of Europe. They are not permanent, nor is the kind of government they represent. As with France in Napoleon's time, some of the nations of Europe are going through a state of transition. Held back by old-world prejudices bred on centuries of feudalism they are trying to give birth to something that will enable men to live together with more comfort and less friction. For the moment dictators are figuring in the scheme, but sooner or later they will vanish.

The problem now is for the rest of the world to put up with these angry, dictatorial men as best we can until their own fellow-countrymen wake up and put them where they can no longer endanger the rest of us.

Rebellion among rebels, as in the Spanish trouble, seems to be in the nature of an amendment to the amendment.

BETWEEN YOU and ME By J.B.C.

Thursday was an ideal spring day and I spent a portion of it on my front lawn with rake and snips in hand—truly I leaned on the rake a greater part of the time—but it was with pleasure that I looked upon my accomplishments after a couple of hours of leaning, raking, soliloquising and chatting with neighbors or passers by—While doing this work, I was busy about two hours—I sat down to watch the C.P.R. switching crew pick up a crane and string of G.N. box cars—I wondered how the brakemen kept their balance as they stood atop swaying cars—then I raked a little—and then halted to watch a section crew pull out a few ties and install some new ones—a freight pulled by, bound eastward, and I halted to watch a couple transients hop it for free transportation east—I lit a small bonfire—and took time off to kid Jake Rothery who drove by with his team—Jakie, meanwhile, perched upon a lengthy stick of timber which he referred to as a flag pole—I continued my raking for a moment or so and then leaned upon it to discuss the relative merits of burning rubbish, vs, packing it into pails and dumping it over the Vernon street bank—I certainly was accomplishing a lot—Stood for a time gazing at Bob Moffatt who was raking up wood at the jam factory and doing other off jobs—looked out over the flats for a time and saw some of Elmer Horton's men busy repairing the fence around the property—which is used at high water time to keep the sawdust from getting into the west arm of the lake—Noticed a lot of smoke down the C.P. railway and several rip-track workers repairing box cars—wondered to myself what a box car could tell about life, were it able to talk—gloried in the warmth of old man sunshine—and wondered who had invented rakes and spades and shears and other garden implements—Followed with my eye the trail of ashes that was left after taking them from the cellar during the winter months—Gazed at the rose bushes and noticed they had weathered the cold weather okay—Cursed mildly at the hundreds of shoots protruding around the lilac bushes which are bursting into leaf—pulled a couple of the neighbor's kiddies out of range around the small bonfire—looked at the time—and decided I had accomplished a lot in one day—but the lawn is not fully raked—the leafs are still pretty thick—there is a lot of pruning to be done—but anyway I made a start—maybe if I keep this up the gardener will not have so much to do when I call on him to put the yard in shape.

AND SO UP TOWN

And so up town to see what was going on—and there I noticed a lot of people on the street—if they were not actually shopping they were doing a lot of window shopping—W. S. King was glancing at his garden—and I noticed some of the beds have been dug up—and up on Victoria street "Scotty" Bird, who punches tickets between Trail and Nelson for the C.P.R.—was using a hammer and saw and punching nails into a new fence fronting his property—Walter Fisher was limping about holding his side—after having cracked a couple ribs in the morning—Leslie Bealby received my congratulations upon his recent wedding—and he was talking about buildings and housing loans—the ranch and his recent trip to Vancouver—when he saw more of the coast city than he had ever seen before—Captain Fitzsimmons left for the Slocan—and had been talking with me about early steamboating on the Kootenay, Slocan and Arrow Lakes—Frank Phillips was strolling down the street—and Bob StDenis, standing on a corner, said he was on a holiday—Sid Matheson had been talking to me about Eli Johnson the other night — and we wondered where Eli had gone—but I saw him on the street corner yesterday—Stan Horswill looked well despite attaining his 21st birthday on Wednesday—They gave him a half day off because it was Wednesday and a legal half holiday—Stanley must have a drag with, Pattullo—And Gene Poulin was strolling with his family—Frank Moore was struggling with a load of mail—Tom Brown scratched his nose as he crossed Baker street and I noticed Carl Mohr and Bob Bell alighting from an auto and Carl was looking for a telegram which at that time had not arrived—and the other day Stan Jepson introduced me to Roy Hebden, a member of a pioneer family of plumbers who built the block where Jack Smith works on Baker street—away back in 1902 or whereabouts—and I think that is about all for now—

Castlegar Razing Felt Irreparable Loss by Citizens

To the Editor:

Sir—We, the English speaking people of Castlegar, are a community of peace loving citizens. As such, we, with great personal sacrifice, erected a creditable community hall so that we might enjoy the social activities participated in by British people everywhere. Today this hall lies a mass of debris and ashes and we find ourselves the victims of a mad incendiarism perpetrated by an organization of alien fanatics. It is doubtful if we can ever replace the hall, for the spirit that initiated it and that stood behind every nail that went into its construction, lied with the last wisp of smoke from the ruins. If it were physically and financially possible to rebuild it we would be faced with futility in the knowledge that 10 days after its completion it might again become a mass of blackened ashes.

To us this hall symbolized our freedom as Canadian citizens. This freedom we can now no longer enjoy under the shadow of mob violence.

We are not only incensed at the loss of our hall, but for the utter disregard of life and property showed by the offenders, for the village was showered with burning shingles that might have been kindled into a holocaust but for damp weather conditions.

With the present heavy influx of Doukhobors from Saskatchewan and their continual encroachment on the farming and industrial activities of the West Kootenay, the menace of their fanaticism is more serious than most of us care to admit.

With this most recent outbreak the government should come under severe censure if they do not drop their passive attitude of years long standing, the highlight of which was the Piers Island fiasco.

The laws of deportation were instituted for the removal of undesirable aliens and many a man has been deported for a far minor offence than arson.

When we consider that in their native country fanatics of this type would be placed before a firing squad, our feelings run high.

Yours truly,

"SUFFERERS".

Ban Doukhobors From Mines, Camps Railroads, He Urges

To the Editor:

Sir—The resolution of Mr. Jones of Winlaw, as reported in your paper that the Doukhobors be boycotted is, I believe, an excellent one. I would like to suggest that the resolution should be made stronger by asking that legislation be enacted prohibiting the employment of Doukhobors by railways or any companies whose operations deal with our natural resources, such as mining and lumbering. The effect of this would be immediately felt by the Doukhobors and it would not be long before some of them would be willing to assist the police in bringing the guilty before the courts.

Between Castlegar and Grand Forks there are large sections of the C.P.R. roadbed which are maintained by Doukhobor foremen, and crews composed entirely of Doukhobors. Can the public be expected to ride with confidence on trains knowing that Doukhobors are responsible for the maintainance of the track they are riding on, particularly when a large number were killed in a coach which was blown up, including Peter Veregin? During the last epidemic of bombing and burning in 1932 at least four attempts were made to wreck trains.

The large companies in this district, such as the Canadian Pacific railway, Consolidated Mining & Smelting, and West Kootenay Power could take the initiative and get rid of this type of employee. These people are "Doukhobor first" and the interest of their employers is secondary.

For reasons which will be obvious to the editor I must request that my name be with-held, and with apologies to the Canadian Pacific railway, I will borrow their slogan—

SCIENCE VERSUS CRIME

So certain were some sections of the British press that Stalin's O.G.P.U. had used the "truth serum" in the Moscow trials that special correspondents were deputed to try it out for themselves. Came an authoritative account of the drug, technically known as scopolamine, from Henry Morton Robinson American criminologist, in Science versus Crime. With this, asserts the author, a detective "gets the whole story, and gets it straight."

"Scopolamine," he explains, "is a drug made from henbane and a very peculiar drug it is, too. Dr. R. E. House of Texas discovered while using it on an obstetrical case that scopolamine has the strange power of submerging certain inhibitory areas of the brain, yet at the same time leaving intact the patient's memory, hearing and powers of speech.

"Further investigation proved that the brain area submerged by scopolamine was the part normaly used in fabricating self-protecting stories—in plain language, lies. And so it was established that a person under the influence of scopolamine is in full possession of all his senses, but deprived of the power of inventing falsehoods."

Splendid practical results were obtained with the drug in Alabama, where 25 axe murders occurred in one year. Attorneys rounded up 12 suspects, administered the truth serum to all and got the whole complicated story within two or three days. By working on clues thus unearthed they were able to produce legitimate evidence and convictions.

DANGEROUS

That the drug is not more widely used Mr. Robinson ascribes to its dangers; unless administered by skilful physicians, scopolamine may easily lead to death. In America all but the most enterprising attorneys shrink from using it.

In the war against crime, the truth serum is only the latest contribution of the laboratories. Best-known of all scientific methods of identification is the fingerprint. Precisely why ridge and furrow designs appear on all fingertips is more than criminologists can say.

George Bernard Shaw last week discovered that he had a perfectly smooth, unlined thumb. "If I had known earlier," he jested, "I might have chosen another profession." But not if he had followed the later chapters of Mr. Robinson's book.

Thumb lines are an important part of the body's cooling system. On the crests of the ridges a microscope shows millions of tiny pores which exude sweat, 99 per cent water, one per cent fatty acid. When a fountain pen, glass tumbler or piece of paper is picked up the pores leave an oily mark behind; the more emotional the person the heavier the deposit. When committing a crime the criminal's fingertips pour out cataracts of acid perspiration which engrave his fingerprints.

Fingerprints are unchangeable; the chances of a fingerprint of one man's hand resembling that of another man's are one in 64 million. When two impressions are obtained the odds of their resembling another two are so small as to be negligible.

To illustrate methods of classification the author cites Al Capone's right thumbprint as 29; L/L; I/I; U/U. 101-10; 6-10. This indicates that 29 ridges intervene between the thumb's core and the first delta, that both thumbs carry a larger than average ridge number; that no fingerprints having a whorl value appear among the 10; that both index fingers are Ulnar Loop pattern; that there are 101 ridges between core and delta in index, middle and ring fingers of each hand; and that the ridges on the loop formations on the little fingers number six on one hand, 10 on the other.

PERFECTED BY "YARD"

Although the system, brought to perfection by Sir E. R Henry, one-time chief of Scotland Yard, appears complicated, the Yard or America's department of justice can turn up any particular fingerprint in five minutes.

Once "that swollen Caesar of gangsters," John Dillinger, boasted that a crooked surgeon had altered his fingerprints out of recognition. After his death "G-men" examined his "new" fingerprints, discovered 300 points of identity with the old ones, or 25 times the number required for a conviction.

FORGERY

Also dealt with by Mr. Robinson are the activities of handwriting experts who have come into the category of scientific investigators of crime because the U. S. loses 100 million dollars a year through forgery.

Penmen have three ways of going to work. The "ground-glass workers" place a genuine signature over a table of ground glass under which a powerful light is shining, and trace the signature clearly outlined by the illumination.

"Carbon-makers" rub a soft-lead pencil over the back of a signed cheque, directly behind the signature, then place the cheque face-up over another and trace the signature with a hard-lead pencil. Over the carbon outline of the tracing the pen is run. Both forgeries are easily detectable by microscope.

Most difficult to detect is the "free-hand artist" forger who first perfects his work by practice, then runs the signature off.

But in the Lindbergh Baby Case experts decided that the man who wrote the ransom notes was a German mechanic of 35 or so, long before Bruno Hauptmann was arrested

CONTRACT BRIDGE

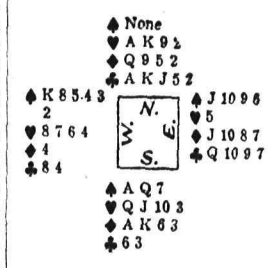
CAN NORTH MAKE A GRAND SLAM?

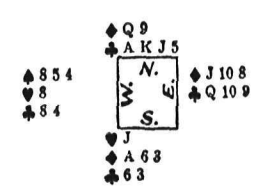
At the club where this hand was dealt, North and South finally arrived at a call of 7 Hearts. The opening lead was the J of Spades. Declarer went down a trick. No Club member has been able to make a grand slam. One of them asked if it is possible to fulfill that contract, against perfect defence.



Probably the failure to fulfill contract came from trying to establish declarer's Clubs. He cannot accomplish that against perfect defence without losing a trick in either trumps or Diamonds.

Play the hand backwards, as described here. Win the opening Spade lead with dummy's Ace. Discard declarer's lowest Diamond. Lead dummy's Q of Spades. West must cover or declarer need not trump. Suppose the cover is made. Ruff with declarer's 2.

Lead the 5 of Diamonds, before West can discard his lone card of that suit. Lead dummy's last Spade. Ruff with the K to avoid a block and loss of a trick. Lead the Ace of Hearts. Lead the 9 of Hearts. Overtake with dummy's tricks. Lead the Q of Hearts. To guard both minor suits East must let go his last Spade. The six cards left in each hand will be as shown below.



Lead dummy's last Heart. West will play his last trump. Discard North's lowest Club. What shall East let go? West holds no Diamonds and his two low Clubs must fall on the first two leads of Clubs. If East lets go a Club, the last five tricks will consist of three Club and two Diamond tricks. If East discards a Diamond and holds his three Clubs, the last five tricks will consist of two Club and three Diamond tricks. Since the opening lead the backward play of the hand has rendered powerless both defenders. Their play has been perfect.

In considering the play of a high contract declarer sometimes has to consider whether to play a problem hand forward or backward, as we had to do with this hand. Played with cards unseen no declarer is to blame for failure to fulfil as difficult a contract as North had.

WHAT THE PRESS IS SAYING

DICTATORS OUT-DICTATORED

"England's $7,500,000,000 rearmament scheme lands on Europe's solar plexus. Today the powers are staggering back from the impact, their general reaction indicating that they are in a mood to reconsider their former aggressiveness," says Christian Science Monitor.

"Having failed to impress Europe with conciliatory tactics, Great Britain has out-dictatored the dictators with a program so tremendous that with the exception of the United States, any country that tried to emulate it would land in the hands of the receivers."

BETWEEN THE LINES

"The British know they themselves have no aggressive intentions. They believe that if they are strong enough they can keep within the bounds of peace the aggressive intentions of others," remarks the New York Times.

"Continental optimism is at present confined to diplomatic circles, because it is these only that are really informed of the actual situation. Yet the milder tone in dictated newspapers is illuminating to any one who knows how to read between the lines."

NEAT ANKLES STILL ADMIRED

By GLADYS GLAD

"America's Most Famous Beauty"

Back in the days when women minced along in ridiculously tight skirts, I am told, many of the daring young bloods about town would stand on street corners in the hope of seeing some comely belle try to step up into a horse-drawn street car. In those days, you see, skirts were so long and so tightly hobbled that legs were unknown quantities. The lad who could catch a glimpse of a well-turned ankle considered himself quite the sophisticated man of the world!

Of course, what with the post-war era of extremely short skirts, and our present-day slit skirts and one-piece bathing suits, legs no longer are hidden, but a well-turned ankle is still considered an object for admiration.

Any girl who possesses thick ankles and does nothing in regard to them is very foolish, for they are ruinous to leg shapeliness.

EXERCISES ESSENTIAL

Exercise is the first essential for slenderizing and shaping thick ankles. The following are effective, if practiced vigorously and faithfully every day:

Sit well back in a chair and hold the muscles of your knees taut. Cross your left knee over your right, with the right foot in tiptoe position and the toes of your left foot pointed downward, then describe imaginary circles with your left foot, twisting the foot at the ankle. Repeat, pointing your left foot, and circling with your right one.

Stand erect, hands on hips, right foot advanced forwards. Rise on tiptoes, and rock back and forth ten times. Then advance your left foot and repeat the exercise for the same count.

Bend your right knee, while standing, and raise the leg backward. Grasp the ankle of this leg with your right hand, and then, standing erect, hop ten times on your left foot. Reverse position, and repeat the exercise hopping on your right foot.

Stand erect, legs together, knees stiff. Then raise your right knee, grasping it with your hands, and pull it as close to your body as you can. In this position, and keeping your left knee stiff, rotate your raised right food at the ankle. Repeat this exercise with the left leg.

THE DOCTOR SAYS . . .

LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

ON MEETING CHILDREN'S MINOR ILLS

Beginning mothers and fathers are to be pitied because they suffer so much unnecessary agony. The baby sems to them an infinitesimally small, delicate, highly destructible object, and every once in a while it does something which appears to one with its interests at heart as if it had deliberately attempted to suspend the process of life.

One of these things is breath-holding. It looks, indeed, terrifying but, as a matter of fact, it never did any harm. No human being on earth can voluntarily hold his breath to the point of suffocation, because even if it goes so far that he loses consciousness, as soon as this occurs, the automatic processes of life take over and start the regular function of respiration.

The children who are subject to breath-holding spells usually are nervous and easily affected by sudden shock or fright, or by a fall or hurt. These children rapidly learn to prolong the agony when they find that it brings them extra favors or attention. They quickly learn to hold their breath at will and the condition gradually increases, especially if they find that they can get their own way by doing so. If the spells are not from habit, dashing cold water in the face helps the child regain its breath. When the spells are from habit, the best treatment is to leave the room and let the child enjoy its special performance without an audience. If this is done, the little one will soon cease putting on a show.

CRYING ANOTHER PROBLEM

Similar to breath-holding is crying. My friend, Dr. M. C. Overton, of Lubbock, Tex., in an excellent little book for mothers called, "Your Baby and Child", says: "The rather usual remark that I make in my office is that a crying baby hurts the mother worse than it hurts the baby. Particularly is this true of a mother with her first child, because the young mother is greatly disturbed if her baby cries very much."

The commonest cause of excessive crying in the first few months of a baby's life is hunger. Sometimes an overfed baby will cry from distress and gas. Crying is the only voice a little baby has, and it is good for it to develop normal use of its voice. Good lung expansion follows crying and it exercises the muscles. Dr. Overton also says that it is especially desirable that an infant be awakened from 15 to 30 minutes before each feeding and cry. It develops a good appetite for its coming meal. Of course, we assume that nobody has coupled a safety pin into the baby's skin. Short of these things, the best thing to do is to let the baby cry it out.

W. W. P.—"Two months ago I dressed a rabbit which had tularemia or rabbit fever and I became afflicted with the disease. I am feeling perfectly well now except for large lumps in the glands on my left arm. I would be very grateful if you would tell me what to do."

Answer—Tularemia is an infectious disease which afflicts wild rabbits and other game and may be transmitted to humans if they skin these animals without wearing rubber gloves. There is no specific treatment for it. The glands in the arm always disappear in the course of time, in my experience.

THE Royal Road TO THE CORONATION

With Queen Mary at Balmoral in 1924

In our last article the visit of Queen Mary to Glamis castle, in Scotland, along with her second son, was mentioned. It was this visit perhaps more than anything else that confirmed, in the eyes of Britain, the coming engagement and wedding of the prince and his Scottish sweetheart.

To-day we present the royal lovers in Scotland again, and again with them Her Majesty Queen Mary. Not Glamis with its grim and historic surroundings is the scene for this stroll however, but Balmoral, seat of the royal family in Scotland and often a retreat for the late monarch when cares of state made rest and relaxation a necessity.

Both the then King and Queen gave their whole-hearted approval to the marriage which Prince Albert sought, and when Lady Elizabeth entered the royal family as Duchess of York she was welcomed warmly and unaffectedly by their majesties and by the brothers and sisters of the duke. One of the most touching pictures ever taken of the late King was secured by press photographers who "covered" the wedding and who photographed the monarch bidding farewell to his new daughter-in-law as she left for her honeymoon.

Thus to-day's picture provides a very human scene in a most beautiful setting. As was the custom of the royal family while in Scotland, the duke wears the kilts of the country. Strolling together through Balmoral's beautiful grounds, perhaps Queen Mary visualized to some extent, the burdens that would fall upon this young couple, though even she, whom all the Empire has come to respect with a heartfelt admiration for her strength and courage in the months of trial that have led up to this coronation, could hardly see all the dramatic climaxes that were to come in her beloved son's life.

SAW ILL OMENS AT CORONATION OF CHARLES I

Sceptre Was Broken, Bishop's Address Criticized

Following is another of a series of eight articles on distinctive features of previous coronations. It deals with Charles I.

LONDON, April 8 (CP).—Of all the prophetic incidents associated with English coronations, one of the best known is that of the crowning of Charles I, in 1625, when the left wing of the dove on the sceptre broke off during there ceremony. It was hardly surprising that in this mishap the superstitious saw an omen of the King's fate at the block 24 years later.

This was perhaps the most dismal coronation ceremony in English history. Everything seemed to go wrong and each unfortunate event was taken as a warning of coming disaster.

At first there could be no coronation because of the Great Plague in London. Then the King's barge was run aground. There was feud raging within the Chapel of Westminster, an unseemly struggle between Archbishop Laud and Dean Williams as to who would officiate, the former carrying the day.

When the wing of the dove on the Confessor's sceptre was broken another of gold was substituted unknown to the King, and this was the first infringement of the old regalia.

The text selected by the Bishop of Carlisle who preached the coronation sermon—he died soon afterwards of jaundice—was regarded by many as more appropriate for a funeral. "I will give thee a crown of life." The critics of the day had much to say about it.

During the solemnity of the coronation earthquake shocks were felt. Finally the King changed the royal mantle of cloth of gold for one of white satin, which earned him the title of the "white King." But it was not according to form.

Charles I had been created Prince of Wales about his 16th birthday in 1616, and his coronation shortly followed his accession to the throne on the death of his father, James I, in 1625.

Two civil wars, bitter religious strife and the most acrimonious dispute between King and parliament ended in the beheading of the ill-fated monarch Jan. 30, 1649, and the inauguration of the Commonwealth under Oliver Cromwell.

The peccary, or wild pig, ranges over all of old Mexico, especially on mountains less than 10,000 feet in height.

SIMPLE HOME TREATMENT FOR VARICOSE VEINS

Swollen veins may become dangerous and sometimes break. Before resorting to operations or injections sufferers are advised to get an original bottle of Emerald Oil at Mann, Rutherford Co., or any pharmacist and start to reduce the veins and bunches at once. A small bottle will last a long time, because it is very concentrated and a little goes a long way. Apply night and morning with a soft brush or the finger tips as directed until the swelling is reduced.

So effective is Emerald Oil that it is highly useful in reducing troublesome simple swellings due to strain and hastens their disappearance.

CHANGE OF PACE BAFFLES THE BOYS OF BATTLEFORD

High-Scoring Beavers Blanked Till Near Game's End

SHORT-PASSING WINNING STUNT

Is First Game of Best of Five Series for Allan Cup

by LORNE BRUCE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

CALGARY, April 8 (CP)—Sudbury Tigers featuring a baffling change of pace trounced North Battleford Beavers 4-1 here tonight in the first game of the best-of-five Allan cup hockey finals.

Bewildering the North Battleford defence as they mixed up blazing drives from the blue line with short-passing sorties that finished in front of the goalmouth, the classy Eastern Canada champions scored the only goal of the first period, added three more in the second and laid down a tight defence in the third to coast to victory.

Close to 5000 fans watching the first Canadian senior amateur final contest ever played in Calgary saw a great Sudbury machine allow only one goal to a hockey outfit noted for high scoring. That tally came at the three-quarter mark of the third period from the stick of Joe Schwab, Beaver utility man.

Doukhobors and Board of Trade

Chanter Introduces Topic; Referred to Council

On motion of F. H. W. Chanter of Longbeach and P. E. Poulin, the Nelson board of trade Thursday referred to its council the drafting and forwarding to the proper authorities, of a resolution on the situation created by last Sunday's widespread incendiarism in settlements populated in whole or in part by Doukhobors, including Slocan valley communities.

This action by the board was the final one of the meeting, the agenda being finished when Mr. Chanter rose.

"I think the board should take some action regarding the Doukhobor business," he said. "We should make the authorities do something.

"The Nelson board has always been strong for publicity, and occurrences of this kind are bad publicity for the district.

"If this board can't do anything, then something might be done by the Associated Boards, representing the whole territory."

Mr. Poulin moved to refer the matter to the council with power to act, pointing out that time was not available for a proper discussion then.

The motion carried without further comment.

Fairview Tennis Club Organizes

R. B. (Jack) Morris will head the Fairview Tennis club for the coming season. At an enthusiastic meeting Thursday night, when over 30 attended, he was named president with H. H. Hinitt, vice-president and A. Hodson, secretary. Executive is made up of Mrs. Eric Sowerby, Miss Doretta Norris, Albert Smith and Jack Burgess.

Mr. Hodson outlined plans for the season and the chair was occupied by Mr. Hinitt. Routine work will start on the courts immediately and they will be thrown open as soon as weather permits.

Plans call for changing the courts so as to give more back space and to do away with east and west courts which made playing in the glare of the sun difficult.

There will in future be three double courts, two facing north and south and one east and west. With the change there will be 23 feet of space at the back lines and 11 or 12 feet between the courts. Additional committees will be named shortly.

STONELAKE, Wis., April 8 (AP)—James J. Braddock, world's heavyweight champion, engaged in his first gymnasium workout today in preparation for his 15-round battle with Joe Louis in Chicago June 22.

With a sudden switch in his plans, due to a pair of raw blistered hands, Braddock decided to work out equivalent to six rounds of boxing.

Jr. High Basket Title at Stake in Play Tonight

Wynndel Girls to Play in Doubleheader Plan Banquet

Tonight is planned as a banner night at the Nelson junior high with the school basketball championship at stake between the House "A" boys team and the Junior High Basketball club team, and a game between the Wynndel and Junior High girls basketball teams, with a fine banquet after, all on the books.

The basketball battles will take place in the school gym both under the watchful eye of Referee George Wallach of the Hume school. Play opens about 7 o'clock.

Fred Martello, former well-known Trail sprinter, who is principal of the Wynndel school and coach of the girls' team, has through his sporting efforts, virtually turned the Creston valley into a basketball "hot-bed" and his girls have captured three of the valley's four basketball cups. With an aggregation like this things will be hot for the junior high girls, who have been under the guidance of Derek Tye. In spite of their 15-10 defeat at the hands of the Wynndel team it will be a scrap all the way tonight.

The banquet as a windup to the school basketball season is also in return of the splendid time shown the Nelsonites on their trip to Wynndel recently.

MORE ABOUT HEDLEY

by timely buying and selling to create a public demand for the stock and thus liquidate certain blocks which were under call from President Barker.

In a supplement accompanying the report H. G. Garrett, superintendent of brokers, refers to the position of President Barker as "somewhat peculiar". Of the 450,000 shares which went to Barker, he held only 264,000 at the time the report was made and of the shares he bought for cash he kept only 4000.

Four members of the Hedley company were also directors of the Burrard Stock and Bond company, the report says, and Hugh Davis, another director of the Burrard company, ordered his broker to sell his holdings of 72,700 shares on the day the stock crashed. Mr. Davis is quoted by the commissioner as saying he did not put in his sell order on receipt of any inside information but on street rumors. He also disclaimed responsibility for use of the name "Mrs. Borrie" in his transactions that day.

Between February 11 and February 22 inclusive nearly 20 per cent of all sales were on brokers'-house accounts, Mr. Fraser found, and the commissioner comments that the Vancouver stock exchange did not seem to appreciate the "abuses" that arise from such practice.

During the same period Frank Parsons, a director of Hedley Amalgamated, disposed of 5000 shares and the S.S. syndicate, comprising President Barker and his associates, disposed of 3000. The D. A Hamilton company sold 61,400 shares.

SALMO VALLEY BOARD OF TRADE IS GIVEN NELSON'S BLESSING

Donaldson Assured of Cooperation When He Explains Position; Sub-Committee Is Handling Board's New Booklet

Projected formation of a district board of trade for the Salmo valley was given the blessing of the Nelson board of trade Thursday, when M. C. Donaldson of Salmo, who presided at the Salmo meeting Monday night, was warmly welcomed by W. B. Bamford, president, at Thursday's luncheon, and was assured of Nelson's good will.

Mr. Donaldson said the Salmo meeting was of representative business men from all parts of the valley, and met to discuss ways and means of furthering various matters of local interest, great enthusiasm being shown.

The first idea, he said, was the formation of an association, working in close relations with the Nelson board of trade, but later the plan was advanced of the valley having a board of trade of its own, and a committee was appointed to investigate the possibilities in that direction. He said the committee had ascertained that there was a sufficient population in that area to qualify the area to have a board, and at the meeting itself there were present enough eligible business men to meet the requirements of the act in regard to membership.

ASSISTANCE PLEDGED

He asked that the Nelson board offer no opposition to the Salmo valley's application for a charter covering the territory from Nelson to Nelway, and to Park Siding westerly.

While it had been suggested, he said, that perhaps it would be best for the valley to stay with the Nelson board, which was large and powerful, and had done wonderful work, the final feeling was that the valley had many small matters strictly local to it, which it could hardly bring before the Nelson board, and in regard to its general interests, "You know a small dog sometimes makes a lot of noise," he commented.

On motion of H. A. Pearson and L. H. Choquette, the board extended its best wishes to the business men of the Salmo valley communities, and promised to assist in realization of the objective sought.

BOOKLET UNDER WAY

Announcement of plans regarding the new edition of the gift book, "The Kootenay and the City of Nelson", was made by H. A. Pearson, chairman of the tourist and publicity committee, who reported the formation of a sub-committee to handle it, this consisting of Ven. Archdeacon Fred H. Graham, F. F. Payne, Arthur Baird and himself, in addition to W. B. Bamford, president, and W. G. C. Lanskail, secretary. There would be an edition of 5000 copies, the book not being changed in size, but the cuts being increased to 80 from 52, and the reading matter being cut to about one-third. Owing to the old cuts being available, the cost would be less than was incurred for the first edition.

Mr. Pearson asked firms with stocks of the first edition to turn them back to the board, which found it did not have a sufficient supply for presentation copies for the delegates expected in Nelson this season.

He stated Spokane Mountaineers, Inc., who were coming to Kokanee Glacier park for an outing August 15, had been furnished with excellent reports prepared by H. M. Whimster and Ross Fleming respectively.

Mine managers of the district would be meeting in Nelson April 19, he stated, in connection with the silicosis question.

He reported the Nelson Travel Hour broadcast from station CJAT, Trail, for April, would be April 21, at 7 p.m., by St. Paul's Boys Choir.

POSTAL OFFICIAL DUE

A letter from W. K. Esling, M.P., advised that E. J. Underwood, chief superintendent of postal services, would visit Nelson and Trail April 27 and 28, when he would be available for discussion of local matters.

Dr. F. M. Auld, Kootenay representative on the Cancer Foundation of British Columbia, gave developments by the trustees of the George V. Jubilee Cancer Fund, who, with the Canadian Medical society, were formulating plans for a Dominion-wide coordination of effort for cancer control, in which the British Columbia organization would have a place.

He mentioned the drive for the provincial fund being put on by the United Commercial Travellers in Vancouver, with coronation banquets and radio broadcasts.

APPRECIATION FOR VANCE

Resignation of W. M. Vance as chairman of the agricultural committee, in consequence of his removal to Penticton, was accepted "with regret", and the board left it with the committee to choose a new chairman.

On motion of Archdeacon Graham and P. E. Poulin, the board put on record that it extend the very best wishes to Mr. Vance for his success in his new field.

Four new members were elected, Thomas Heise of Balfour, and Major A. E. Dalgas, J. P. McLaren, new agent of the Canadian Pacific Express company, and R. T. Simson, new manager of the National Fruit company.

Those of the number present were warmly welcomed by President Bamford.

FORECASTS POSSIBLE

"I believe your plan would be advantageous," wrote W. A. Thorn, acting superintendent of the Dominion meteorological service from the observatory at Gonzales Heights, Victoria, regarding the board's request for an early morning broadcast by CJAT of weather forecasts for the Kootenay. "When some necessary inquiries have been made, I will write you further," he advised.

It was decided to send copies of this letter to the Creston Farmer's institute, which had asked the board to take up this question, and to station CJAT.

MIAMI, Fla., April 8 (AP)—Bert S. Michell, trainer for Mrs. Emil Denemark of Chicago, was ruled off the Florida turf by the state racing commission today in connection with the use of narcotics.

The commission said saliva tests showed the Denemark horse "All Around," which finished eighth in the third race at Tropical Park March 23, had been given a narcotic.

INSPECTOR GOES TO COAST OVER DISTRICT FIRES

No Developments in Probe of School Burnings

No new developments were reported Thursday in the provincial police investigation of the incendiary outbreak of Sunday in which a fanatic torch was directed at 11 Kootenay buildings, destroying four schools and three halls, and damaging others.

Investigations continued throughout the district, still with but a narrow chance of success.

Inspector John Macdonald, officer commanding B division, left on Thursday for the coast to go into conference with government officials.

An additional school guard was posted at Robson, there being now a total of 22 schools thus guarded. Guards will also be posted when rebuilding is completed at the three Slocan Valley schools destroyed on Sunday, at Winlaw, Appledale and Perry Siding.

Feeling throughout the district against Doukhobors remains intense. In some instances in Nelson Doukhobor peddlers have been ordered off the property of English-speaking residents, and the situation remained tense in the rural sections which suffered in the latest outbreak.

REESE KNOCKS OUT BOURDON IN THE THIRD

Creston Boy Takes 10 Count After Going to His Knee

ROLPH-SWARTZ GO IS POPULAR

Sloan and Muir Hoist Speed Flag; Paris in Limelight

The winners:

Gordie Nelson, decision over Allan Kalstrom.

Gunner "Ace" Bailey, decision over Tim Paris.

George Barnett, Ymir, decision over Billy Wyatt, Trail.

Gunner Vic Muir, Nelson, decision over "Kid" Sloan, Spokane.

Ernie Swartz, Trail, decision over Lloyd Rolph, Spokane.

Jim Reese, Spokane, K.O. over Billy Bourdon, Creston, in third round.

Providing a sour anti-climax to an otherwise action-filled card, Billy Bourdon of Creston went down on his knee to be counted out in the third round of his headline bout with Jim Reese, Spokane, in the 111th Battery boxing show at the armory Thursday night. The Spokane boy had the measure of Bourdon and was pouring right hooks into him regularly, and it was on one of these he folded.

Both boys had offended the canons of boxing, Bourdon by hitting low in both the first and the second, and Reese by hitting as they came out of a clinch.

Going into the ring the favorite, Bourdon rapidly lost favor. Reese took everything and at the finish of the round was forcing it. Bourdon's right eye was damaged in the second, in which both boys got plenty of action into it, with Reese's attack giving him the edge. Reese got through with rights to the head as he forced Bourdon to the ropes in the third and the Creston boy dropped to one knee—and stayed there to be counted out.

LOTS OF SPEED, ACTION

Otherwise it was a fully satisfactory program as far as speed and willingness to mill was concerned.

Ernie Swartz, Trail, carried the battle to Lloyd Rolph, Spokane, in the speedy opener of the first half of the double main event, but failed to get in much damage as Rolph covered his head. Later in the round his body punches were more effective. Swartz opened fast again in the second but ran into a series of left-right barrages that slowed him up. Rolph contributed a bit of claret.

Rolph forced the pace at the start of the third and toward the end got through to the body, also drawing blood to Swartz' mouth. Both boys were tiring in the fourth and it was fairly even, though Rolph's punches were landing more regularly. His nose was adding considerable color. Neither did much retreating in the fast fifth, though both were tired. Swartz made Rolph miss a lot. The decision given Swartz was highly unpopular, ringsiders calling for a draw.

MAKE IT INTERESTING

A bundle of fireworks tied up behind two never-idle fists, and a clever boxer, "Kid" Sloan of Spokane made it interesting for Gunner Vic Muir from the start of their fast mill. The visitor looked good in the first, but Muir measured up to him in the second and carried the fight to him in the third though he absorbed a lot of punishment in doing it. Sloan forced the pace at the start of the fourth, but found that Muir wasn't doing much retreating, and that at the end the Nelson boy was doing the forcing. Muir's decision found favor.

In the opener Allan Kalstrom and Gordie Nelson put up a fast mill, with Nelson's experience earning him the judges' decision. Each was willing.

Tim Paris, the sparkplug of years of Nelson boxing, and "Ace" Bailey, heavy boy of the 111th, started to go to town in their first round and each bumped the other on the canvas three times. At the close of the round Tim showered the spectators on one side of the ring as he footballed a sponge clear across the hall after his second doused his back with cold water. Tim was the only one who bumped the canvas in the second, and he retaliated by bringing the claret to Bailey's nose. The third was not so lively, with Tim doing a Tunney. But Paris was in the spotlight as, with the crowd booing the decision in Bailey's favor, he argued with the judges. He claimed at least a draw. It was a popular bout.

NOT EXCITING

Billy Wyatt, Trail, and George Barnett, Ymir, were not at all exciting in their first round. Nor were they in their second. They milled a bit in the third and Wyatt drew the ire of judges and fans as he smacked Barnett coming out of clinches. Sitting down three-quarters of the way through the fourth, Wyatt accepted a seven count, Barnett's aggressiveness won the verdict, a popular one with the fans.

WAR CANCELS FRANCE-ITALY FOOTBALL TILT

ROME, April 8 (AP)—An international football game between France and Italy, scheduled for Sunday, was called off suddenly tonight amid increased Italian press charges of French and Russian intervention in the Spanish Civil war.

No reason was given for the cancellation of the match, which was to have been played at Paris, but informed persons said the motive was "political". The game was cancelled while the Italian team was practicing at Turin.

for negotiation fell through and company officials reiterated their refusal to recognize the U.A.W.A., affiliated with the Lewis-led committee for industrial organization which staged sit-down strikes last month in Detroit motor car factories.

There was no violence, little cheering and considerable precision as the auto workers entered the plants at 7 o'clock, punched the time-clocks and marched out again. Picket lines were set up immediately, only the administrative office building being open to executives and office employees.

Hugh Thompson, C.I.O. organizer, said General Motors would not build another car in Canada until an agreement was signed with the International union. If an attempt was made to import cars manufactured in General Motors plants in the United States, workers in U.S. plants would be called out.

TWO NEW STRIKES AT EDMONTON

EDMONTON, April 8 (CP)—Two new sit-down strikes broke out in Edmonton today, complicating labor problems in the Alberta capital.

Seventy-five employees of the new Method Laundry and Dry Cleaners "sat-down" at 7:30 a.m.

Approximately 100 workers in the packing plant of Gainers' Ltd. laid down their tools and started a sit-down at 9:00 a.m.

Ten boys employed by a parcel delivery firm "sat-down" yesterday.

Sit-down strikers at the Swift plant converted their ranks into picket lines, insisting they will maintain their vigil until their demands are granted. Pickets continued to patrol entrances to plant today.

2000 BACK TO WORK AT HERSHEY

HERSHEY, Pa., April 8 (AP)—Nearly 2000 employes of the Hershey Chocolate Corporation returned to work today in the closely-guarded factory where a crowd of farmers and "loyal" workers yesterday drove out hundreds of sit-down strikers. More than a score of deputy sheriffs and members of the American Legion paced back and forth in front of the ivy-clad stone building.

HUDSON STRIKE ENDED

LANSING, Mich., April 8 (AP)—Governor Frank Murphy of Michigan tonight announced signing of an agreement between the Hudson Motor Car Company and the United Automobile workers of America, ending a month-long strike affecting 11,000 employees at Detroit.

Settlement of the last major automobile dispute in Michigan was reached in terms substantially the same as those of the Chrysler strike agreement of Tuesday and the Reo strike settlement Wednesday.

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, said today he would call a special meeting of the Federation's executive council soon to consider expulsion of John L. Lewis' unions.

NO PROBE OF STRIKES

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—The United States house of representatives after hours of vitriolic debate, surprised even its own leaders today by refusing to vote an investigation of sit-down strikers. Without even a record vote, it tabled the investigation resolution at the end of an uproarious day. Only last night some Democratic leaders had predicted that the inquiry would be ordered.

DETROIT SCORES THREE TIMES IN OPENING PERIOD

Has Four-Goal Lead in Second Before the Rangers Open

KERR BLOWS UP AFTER "FREAK"

Teams Fail to Score in the Final Stanza

DETROIT, April 8 (AP). — The champion Detroit Red Wings skated back into the Stanley cup picture tonight, whipping New York's amazing Rangers 4-2 to even the five-game series at one victory apiece before 13,491 paid customers.

Again the speedy, smooth team that won the National hockey league championship from Les Canadiens of Montreal, the Red Wings fired three goals in 4½ minutes past Davie Kerr, sensational New York netminder, in the first period. Kerr had been scored on but twice in 313 minutes of playoff hockey before tonight's game.

The defeat ended the Rangers' inspired winning streak that had given them straight-game victories over Toronto and the Montreal Maroons before they defeated Detroit 5-1 at New York in the final series-opener Tuesday.

PATRICK PENALIZED

A high-stick penalty on Lynn Patrick midway of the first period started the Red Wings to victory. With the son of the Ranger manager in the box, Johnny Sorrell got a freak goal with a hard drive from far out on left wing that bounced against Murray Murdoch and trickled into the nets as Herbie Lewis swung wildly at it.

The goal gave the Red Wings the lead for the first time in the series, and they immediately turned on the heat. Modere Bruneteu drove home Syd Howe's rebound at 12:07 and Johnny Gallagher added the third goal at 13:31, skating in for a hard 25-foot drive from left wing.

Lewis, climaxing a beautiful passing rush with Howe and Goodfellow, put Detroit four goals ahead midway of the second period with a sharp angle shot from left wing that found a far corner of the net, and the Red Wing scoring was over.

Detroit was forced to the defence as the Rangers rushed five men down the ice, but the poke-checking and body checking of the Red Wings at the blue line, combined with some brilliant work in the nets by Earl Robertson substituting for the injured Normie Smith, saved the game.

PRATT FINALLY SCORES

Babe Pratt finally broke the scoring ice for the Rangers at 15:06 of the second period with a 15-foot drive on passes from both Neil and Mac Colville, and Butch Keeling, standing at a corner of the nets, poked the puck between Robertson's skates at 18:18 on Art Coulter's rebound, to end the scoring.

The teams meet here again Sunday and Tuesday in the best three-of-five series.

Former Cripple Now Plays Tennis

Rheumatism in Feet Relieved

Here is a story of a young man who had almost given up hope of taking part in active sports with his fellows again. He tells how he tried one remedy after another and how finally a former sufferer put him on the way to recovery:—

"Two years ago I started with pains in the feet which gradually got worse. I tried 'everything under the sun' but to no effect. Whilst waiting for treatment one evening, another patient advised me to try Kruschen Salts. That was twelve months ago; the relief was not sudden, but the pain and swelling gradually left my feet, and in six months I amazed my friends by taking long walks into the country. This year I have played a good deal of tennis, a thing which I had begun to think I should never do again."—C.W.

Rheumatic pain and swelling is frequently caused by excess uric acid accumulating in the body. Kruschen contains two ingredients which are notable for their work in dissolving uric acid deposits. Other ingredients in Kruschen assist the internal organs to expel this dissolved acid from the system. (Advt.)

Relief Arlington Gold Production 10,096 Ounces '36

Directors Are Named; Conditions Said Be Improved

Directors of Relief Arlington Mines limited, a subsidiary of Premier, were named at the annual meeting as follows: Bert F. Green, F. J. Rowlands, D. N. Hossie, K.C. K. G. Nairn and T. K. Grey, the first three representing Premier Gold Mining Co. Ltd., it is reported by the Vancouver Province

Report to the annual meeting stated conditions at Relief Arlington had improved greatly during the past year. The newspaper states:

"In the report of Bert F Smith president and managing director, it is stated that encouraging results were obtained in two shallow shafts sunk on a vein found in 1935 parallel to the main vein and lying approximately 1400 feet northwest of it.

"Ore reserves at the end of 1936 were approximately the same as the previous year. Broken reserves are estimated at 10,360 tons averaging .29 ounces gold to the ton, and assured the probable ore, unbroken, at 93,255 tons, averaging probably .33 ounces. No ore has been opened below the seventh level. The company's second property the Arlington, has again been leased to R. O Oscarson, profits being divided. Or March 31, 1936, the company purchased J. E. Read's half interest in the Ida D. claim.

"Relief Arlington production in 1936 amounted to 10,096 ounces gold and 3.183 ounces silver."

Results Vary on Gold Belt Drift

One hundred feet of drifting on the 8000 level west at the Gold Belt has revealed varying results, according to Mike O'Donnell who is in charge of operations at the Sheep Creek property for North American Mines of Boston, Mass., reports the Vancouver Sun.

The paper says:

"While the first 50 feet were somewhat shattered and replaced, the more recent half opened up, was looking good. Assaying from 455 to 494 footage gave values in gold of 1.27 ounces per ton, across 2.5 feet."

Reno Production in March $70,100

Obtain 2003 Ounces of Gold From 3288 Tons Ore

Production of 2003 ounces of gold, giving Reno Gold Mines limited Sheep Creek, $70,100.75 from 3727 tons of $18.81 ore during March, is reported by the Vancouver Sun, which states:

"This compares with $76,045 in February, recovered from 2001 ounces gold from 3288 tons milled, valued at $21.30 per ton.

"The value of production in March is only $56 more than in February and the tonnage is 439 tons more, but the grade of ore is $2.49 per ton less. The tonnage was increased to take care of development ore which reduced the heads

"The average value of the ore per month for the first quarter of 1937 of $20.76 is $1.77 per ton less than the average for the whole year 1936, of $22.53.

"Total production of Reno Gold Mines to March 31 since milling commenced is $3,294,386."

PRICES TUMBLE AT WINNIPEG

Earlier Gains Wiped Out in Spite of Export Sales

Urges Highway Body and Reduction in Legislature

WINNIPEG, April 8 (CP)—Wheat prices slumped more than four cents below the high points on the Winnipeg grain exchange today, wiping out early gains. At the close futures were 2⅝-3⅛ cents lower with May at $1.45, July $1.39⅝-$1.39⅞ and October $1.23½.

Good export purchases estimated at 1,000,000 bushels failed to rally wheat values in the face of weakness at Chicago Lower quotations in copper and other commodities together with excellent conditions in the southwest winter wheat belt were the major factors which induced heavy selling today.

Synopsis of Land Act

PRE-EMPTIONS

VACANT, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation and improvement.

Full information concerning Pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C.; Bureau of Provincial Information, Victoria, or any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes within reasonable distance of road, school and marketing facilities and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre east of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre west of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division in which the land applied for is situated, on printed forms obtained from the Commissioner.

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

Pre-emptions carrying part time conditions of occupation are also granted.

PURCHASE OR LEASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes. Minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land, $2.50 per acre. Further information is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

As a partial relief measure, reverted lands may be acquired by purchase in ten equal instalments, with the first payment suspended for two years, provided taxes are paid when due and improvements are made during the first two years of not less than 10% of the appraised value.

Mill, factory or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtained after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under grazing regulations amended from time to time to meet varying conditions. Annual grazing permits are issued based on certain monthly rates per head of stock. Priority in grazing privileges is given to resident stock owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free or partially free permits available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

WALL STREET IS STILL NERVOUS

Selling Wave Trims Opening Upsurge in Prices

NEW YORK, April 8 (AP)—The stock market unlimbered some of its rallying artillery today but its marksmanship was effective only in selected instances.

Speculative forces still seemed to be suffering slightly from the shock of yesterday's relapse although tension created by rumors of a shift in the treasury's gold buying appeared to have lessened somewhat.

The day's proceedings were of a highly nervous character, with an opening upsurge of fractions to 3 points quickly blighted by a selling wave that cancelled most gains.

The excitement soon died down and a number of steels, coppers rails, oils, rubbers and specialties got back on the recovery route. Favored stocks finished with gains of fractions to a point or so, but few were able to hold their day's best levels.

CHICAGO WHEAT PLUNGES DOWN

CHICAGO, April 8 (AP)—Disturbed by persistent rumors of impending dollar devaluation and by stock market unsettlement, wheat prices plunged downward today.

At the close, wheat was 1⅞-2¾ cents lower, corn 1⅞ down to ¼ up, oats ⅞-1⅜ off, and rye ½-2¾ off.

MINE STOCKS AT TORONTO SKID

Gilt-edged securities maintained a firm tone as sellers of stocks transferred their funds into less speculative issues. Transatlantic stocks remained quiet. There was considerable liquidation in the commodity sections.

U.S. BONDS OFF

NEW YORK, April 8 (AP). — United States government obligations bowed to renewed selling today and many corporate bonds followed the retreat of the treasury list. Abitibi Paper & Power 5s spurted 2 points at one time but most foreign bonds lagged with the domestic list.

MAPLE SYRUP SHORT

OTTAWA (CP) — This season's maple syrup crop will be the leanest in famed Ottawa valley for years. Lack of snow, sunshine and night frost slowed the flow of sap to a low point, resulting in heavy loss.

Government scientists who studied Turkish towels found that thick and heavy towels generally wear longest but the light-weight towels dry the skin faster.

B.C. Conservatives Demand Ottawa Return to B. C. Field of Income Tax

PENTICTON, B.C., April 8—"The Conservatives demand that the Dominion immediately return to the provinces the field of income tax usurped by the Dominion some years ago," said Dr. Frank P. Patterson, leader of the Conservative party in British Columbia, at a meeting of his supporters held at Penticton Thursday.

"Today the provincial minister of finance wrings from an overburdened tax-paying public a sum of about five millions on account of provincial income tax. If he could add to it the amount collected in British Columbia on account of federal income tax, some six or seven millions this year, he would not have to go hat in hand to Ottawa every month begging them for relief and he would not have to borrow three millions from a Toronto syndicate."

Referring to this "election loan," Dr. Patterson said that Premier Pattullo at the last session of the legislature had asked for and received a blanket order to borrow up to five millions and with three millions of this sum at his disposal he is able to spend large sums in the ridings where they will do the most good without first receiving the sanction of the representatives of the people.

"This is a sample of the autocratic manner adopted by Mr. Pattullo since he assumed the reins of government. It is the very negation of the British ideal of democratic government."

Dr. Patterson said that 25 years ago there had been sufficient money in the provincial treasury to retire the entire debt of the province and leave a small credit balance. Today he said the net debt of the province has risen to approximately $150,000,000, or at an average rate of six million dollars a year.

"This amounts to $20,000 for every working day of the 300 days in the year or $853 for every hour of the 24 hours in those 300 days."

Condemning the wasteful policy of having a haphazard program of highway construction every year instead of planning for a period of from five to seven years through the appointment of a highway commission with experts and engineers instead of political friends and Liberal partisans dictating what roads should be built, he said that out of capital and current revenue about $75,000,000 had been spent on roads in this province and only those who used them knew what flagrant waste there must have been.

"For this sum you could have built 3750 miles of the finest hard-surfaced roads," he said, "forming a network throughout the province at the rate of $20,000 a mile including grading, rock cutting, draining and surfacing."

Dr. Patterson reiterated his plea made previously for a reduction in the number of members of the legislature and for the immediate establishment of a highway commission.

Bishop Johnson, Archdeacon Will Talk Coronation

Program for Nelson's Reflection of Day Is Arranged

Most Rev. Martin M. Johnson, D.D., Bishop of Nelson, and Ven. Archdeacon Fred H. Graham will be the speakers at the morning parade to the cenotaph, Vernon street, marking the opening of Nelson's coronation day exercises, it has been announced.

In the afternoon a mass parade will be held from the Canadian Legion to the civic centre arena with the Nelson City band and Canadian Legion Bugle band providing marching music, and with floats war veterans and the 111th battery R.C.A., in formation. Patriotic exercises by school pupils and massed choirs, with Kokanee chapter, I.O. D.E., participating, will mark the program there at the arena.

A grand display of fireworks and a monster community dance are planned for the evening.

INCREASE BARBERS' MINIMUM WAGE

VICTORIA, April 8 (CP)—British Columbia's board of industrial relations issued an order today, effective June 14, raising the weekly minimum wage for barbers in the province from $15 to $18. The minimum for part-time barbers—those who work less than 40 hours a week—will be raised from 40 to 45 cents an hour, and they will be guaranteed a minimum of four hours' work daily. J. A Green, secretary of the Barbers' union, said the union would now consider increasing haircut prices from about 35 cents to 50 cents.

Nelson Nurses' Delegate Back

Miss Leslie's Report on Meeting Is to Be Heard

Miss N. J. Leslie, delegate of the Nelson Registered Nurses' association to the British Columbia registered nurses' convention held in Vancouver April 2 and 3, returned to Nelson Wednesday night.

It being the twenty-fifth annual convention of this kind, it was made an especially gala event in the silver jubilee celebrations, according to Miss Leslie, and it was one of the largest and most successful, there being representatives from every association in the province present, besides visiting nurses from South Africa and New Zealand.

Miss Leslie took an active part in the procedures and will present a full report at the Nelson Registered Nurses' meeting Monday.
