Join Efforts Secure a Three-Power Talk on Locarno

BRITAIN REFUSES CHANGE ITS STAND

Want No Conference Without Germany and Italy

PARIS, July 15 (AP)—France and Belgium joined efforts tonight to induce Great Britain to attend a Locarno conference without Germany or Italy.

Both powers were agreed, authorized sources said, Great Britain must be called upon to fulfil the terms of the Locarno accord of March 19 now that efforts at conciliation with Germany have "broken down".

The March 19 accord followed London conversations between Great Britain, France, Belgium and Italy concerning Germany's remilitarization of the Rhineland. The powers proposed an international security and economic conference to consider Chancellor Hitler's peace proposals, made at the time of the Rhineland "coup".

The accord also included mutual assistance guarantees in the event

ROME, July 15 (AP).—Premier Mussolini, addressing an enthusiastic crowd in the Piaza Venezia, said tonight: "The white flag has been hoisted today on sanctionist bastions."

Lifting of sanctions against Italy, effective today by League of Nations oder, "represents the surrender of those who would deny us victory," he declared.

Smiling and gay, Il Duce asserted the "economic victory" was due to the Italian people, who, he said, were ready for every sacrifice.

The crowd responded en masse: "No, to you!"

$2,000,000 Worth of Finest Pine Lost in One Area

TWO BIG FIRES IN 20 SQ. MILES

Heat Wave Comes to End But Still No Rains

TORONTO, July 15 (CP).—Damage to Ontario's northern forests was estimated in the millions of dollars tonight as nearly 3000 smoke-begrimed fire rangers and volunteers fought desperately to check flames that raged along a 700-mile front.

In the Algoma district a lone fire that still raced through some of Ontario's finest pine country was said to have devoured timber worth more than $2,000,000.

Two big fires, each of which covered eight square miles joined forces and were sweeping through 20 square miles of Algoma bush tonight.

In the Sudbury area 53 active fires, several of which were said to be "out of control," made forestry officials continue to work at fever pitch. Eleven new fires started today and 850 men were scattered

'Mr. Polly Moran' Makes Him Mad!

Comedienne's Hubby Goes on Rampage; Faces Trial

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP).—Toward dawn Wednesday somebody called Polly Moran's husband, "Mr. Polly Moran," and shortly thereafter the chunky, apple-cheeked movie comedienne, Polly herself, was looking down the cold blue nose of an automatic pistol and "screamin' bloody murder."

She said her husband, Martin Malone, athletic young lawyer, was holding the gun. He pulled the trigger, the gun jammed. She says she's going to divorce him.

"That 'Mr. Polly Moran' stuff was fightin' talk, all right," said the actress. "But Marty didn't have to fight with me."

But he did fight with her, the police blotter showed today. He also fought with two policemen, one of whom unintentionally made matters worse by using the same title.

Malone was arraigned before Justice Cecil Holland, of Beverly Hills, on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. He went free on $500 bail, and will appear for preliminary hearing July 29.

KIMBERLEY, B.C., July 15.—Kimberley held its annual school meeting, one of the largest of its kind ever known here. E. M. Hughes and A. A. Watkins were chairman and secretary of the meeting.

The election of trustees followed. It was A. A. Watkins' turn to retire. N. W. Burdette, who has been the leading member of the school board for 25 years, resigned though his term still had a year to run. Several members requested that he reconsider his decision and the whole meeting asked him to complete his term and he consented. G. J. Knighton and A. A. Watkins were nominated for the vacancy and Mr. Watkins was re-elected by a margin of 24 to 23 votes.

Mrs. and Miss Lehto came here from Bay Center, Wash.

CELEBRATE ARRIVAL

TORONTO, July 15 (CP).—With music, songs and an impromptu parade, 100 Italian fruit merchants today celebrated the arrival of five carloads of lemons, the first to reach Toronto from Italy since sanctions were imposed last fall. They paraded through crowded market districts singing "God Save the King," "O Canada," and Italian airs.

SANCTIONS COST BRITAIN JUST $20,000,000 IN LOST EXPORTS

World Trade as Whole Is Better, With a Big Jump in Imports and Lesser Gain in Exports, Runciman Reports

LONDON, July 15 (CP cable).—Sanctions cost Great Britain £4,000,000 ($20,000,000) worth of exports to Italy during the first half of the year, Walter Runciman, president of the board of trade, told the house of commons today.

Reviewing Britain's trade position for the past year, the minister said that British exporters' hopes would, for some time, be centered on expansion of trade with the Empire and with the rest of the sterling area. World trade as a whole however, revealed encouraging features.

Runciman said he hoped the lost British seaport trade with Italy would be regained and told the house steps were being taken to get in close touch with the authorities in Rome in order that obstacles might be removed as soon as possible.

INDUSTRIES IMPROVE

"There has been a year of marked progress in nearly all the principal industries, with the notable exceptions of coal and cotton. Progress has been especially good in those industries which supply the home market."

Improvement has been widespread and is best illustrated by the unemployment figures, he continued. Railway receipts were nearly £2,000,000 ($10,000,000) higher in the first quarter of 1936, despite road and sea competition. Besides this, he said, there was an increase in the postal receipts of £4,000,000 ($20,000,000).

Exports had increased during the period by £2,000,000 ($10,000,000) but imports had increased to an even greater degree, Runciman told the members.

There was no cause for alarm, he said, at the speed at which imports increased, provided that year by year they could be absorbed without undue strain on the exchanges and the goods were required for industries. The increased imports required to be watched with great care, however.

Asked whether Britain could afford the additional imports demanded by the home market, Runciman said, "We can afford them at present. Taking into account the invisible items, there is no reason to anticipate any serious adverse balance this year."

66 New Fires in B.C., 31 of Them Nelson District

VICTORIA, July 15 (CP)—Seven small forest fires was last week's toll in the Vancouver forest area, the big lumbering district of the province, which includes Vancouver Island, according to provincial forest branch reports today.

Total for the province was 66 fires, of which 31 were in the Nelson district.

To date this year the Vancouver district has had 85 fires against 179 last year. The province as a whole has had 583 compared with 402 but losses have not been large.

Calgarian Finds Business Better

But Drought Causing Concern Southern Prairies

A. J. Johnson of Calgary, Palm Dairies executive, here for the opening of the new creamery plant on Baker street, finds business conditions generally improved, though the drought situation in the south portion of the prairies is causing a great deal of concern.

Mr. Johnson stated Nelson during the worst of the depression was a "bright spot" as far as his company was concerned. Business here had held up well in comparison with other points.

Although the southern prairies were not suffering as much this year from grasshoppers, probably due to spring moisture killing the grubs, there were still places where "hoppers" were numerous. They were not widespread, however.

Conditions in the past week had intensified loss through drought, the Calgary man stated.

Mr. Johnson will leave Nelson after the new plant is in operation for Sudbury, Ontario, where the company is also building a new creamery. He said the Nelson plant would be one of the finest of its kind in British Columbia.

FIVE WOMEN ESCAPE

VANCOUVER, July 15 (CP).—Five Vancouver women today were at their homes recovering from minor injuries suffered yesterday when their automobile crashed into a ditch about seven miles east of Abbotsford and burst into flames.

D. S. Fraser, Ottawa, Wins Bronze Medal, First Stage, King's Prize

13 Other Canadians Go Into Second Stage With 15th Possible After Shoot-off

BISLEY CAMP, Surrey, July 15 CP cable).—Canada's bid to capture the King's prize—most highly valued award of the National Rifle association's Empire meeting—began today in promising fashion as Guardsman D. S. Fraser of Ottawa won the bronze medal for the highest score in the first stage.

Guardsman Fraser of the governor-general's footguards scored 103, only two under perfect figures, over distances of 200, 500 and 600 yards. The qualifying stage calls for seven shots at each of those distances.

In addition to Fraser, 13 Canadian marksmen go outright into the second stage of competition, to be shot Friday. The Canadian qualifiers may total 15, as Sergt. R. S. Potter of Hamilton will shoot off with a number of others who had 95 to determine the last 19 among the field of 300 who continue.

The ranges were sodden by an all-night rain but Fraser scored 34s, one short of perfect figures, at the 200 and 500 yard distances and finished with seven bull's eyes in a row at 600 yards.

Second to Guardsman Fraser was Captain Halley of the South African team with 102.

The second best Canadian was chalked up by Capt. L. J. Stiver of Ottawa. He had a 32 at 200 yards and was only one short of possible at the 500 and 600-yard distances.

Sergt. Jimmy Kier of Vancouver, the only airman on the team, had a 35 at 500 yards, the only Canadian besides Fraser to register a possible at any distance.

WEST'S PLAINS ARE STILL BEING BURNED

Mid-West Gets Cool Air, Scattered Storms

13TH DAY OF 100 PLUS WEATHER

CHICAGO, July 15 (AP)—A refrigerant air mass from the Hudson Bay region routed the heat wave on a wide midwestern and great lake front today but drought maintained its sway on western plains.

From northern Illinois as far east as New York, living and working conditions were more tolerable as the cool air, aided by scattered thundershowers, got in its welcome work.

But another day was chalked up for the record stay of higher than 100-degree heat—its 13th—breezes failed to penetrate. Fatalities ascribed to the torrid spell, though their rate was reduced somewhat, passed 3500 for the period.

Early in the afternoon, Quincy on central Illinois' western boundary, reported a 113-degree maximum. Other "hot spots" were Indianapolis, 102.9; Clarendon, Tex., 110; Wellington, As., 112; Fall City, Neb., 106; Kansas City, Mo., 104; and Ponca City, Okla., 108.

TEMPERATURES UP TO 83 DEGREES

Nelson experienced another hot, sultry day Wednesday when the temperature rose to 83 degrees by official report. The few people who had to be on Baker street sweltered in the heat, most others taking to cooler places such as Lakeside park. A cool breeze prevailed most of the morning but died down in the afternoon to a breathless heat.

Lowest point recorded during the 24 hours ending at 5 p.m. Wednesday was 49 degrees.

TORONTO (CP).—Alfred Scadding came home to Toronto Wednesday night with a cheery grin on his face and a "Golly, it's great to be back again," on his lips. He came back to a mother who flung her arms around him and then cried as she saw his bandaged feet; to a group of overjoyed relatives and friends crowding around his stretcher and to a Dr. D. E. Robertson, too flustered to hide his emotion.

STATE OF ALARM IS EXTENDED 30 DAYS FOR SPAIN

Rival Factions Seem Ready for War to Hilt

CORTES DESERTED BY THE ROYALISTS

MADRID, July 15 CP-Havas).—Spanish rightist and leftist factions tonight were believed preparing for a war to the hilt, if necessary, as the mounting tide of political violence steeped the country in further bloodshed.

Warning blasts and counterblasts by political leaders heightened tension in the capital. The government extended the nationwide state of alarm for 30 days. Angry royalists bolted the cortes, charging Spain is in the grip of "utter anarchy."

The eighth killing in two days took place at San Sebastian tonight during services in memory of the monarchist. Leftist youths attacked a parade of his Fascist followers. In the ensuing struggle shots were exchanged, killing one and wounding two others. Assault guards rushed to the scene and reestablished order.

In a blunt warning to rightist factions, widely printed in the leftist press, Indalecio Prieto, one of the Socialist leaders and a former cabinet minister, declared the "proletariat would raise a human barrier" to stop any rightist attempt to seize government control.

"This will be a battle to the death, for each party knows that its adversary will show no mercy if it triumphs," he said.

NELSON BOYS TO GET INTERVIEWS FOR ENTERING ROYAL AIR FORCE

Frank Morgan and Bill McEwan Go to London October; Medical Exams Passed; They Want Short Service Commissions

Two letters from the secretary of the British air ministry in London, received at the Nelson post office Wednesday, brought to two Nelson boys, Frank H. Morgan and William G. McEwan, the welcome news that if they can make it convenient to report in London the first week in October, they will be granted interviews, with reference to their application to be commissioned in the Royal Air Force.

Frank Morgan is the son of Mayor J. P. Morgan, and Bill McEwan is the son of Fred McEwan, and both have grown up in Nelson, gone through its schools, and finished off their schooling here with a three-year course in automotive engineering at the Alberta Institute of Technology and Art at Calgary.

"The Scroll of Valor"

By W. W. MURRAY, Canadian Press Staff Writer

THE SOMME

When the Canadian pilgrims who embarked at Montreal today for their visit to the battlefields and cemeteries of France and Belgium reach the former "fighting-front" hundreds of them will survey the old battlegrounds of the Somme. From Albert they will travel for less than five miles north-east along the Bapaume Road, when they will be within an area instinct with Canadian memory, a place where deeds of great valor were wrought.

Acting Sergeant Leo Clarke, 2nd (East Ontario) Battalion was the first Canadian to be awarded the Victoria Cross on the Somme. The Second attacked in the afternoon of Sept. 9, 1916, on Pozieres Ridge and captured the German position. Uncertainty prevailed on the left of the new line, however, and there the young hero, who was a bomber, took charge. Himself repelling several attacks, and with rifle, bayonet and bomb wreaking havoc among his assailants, the youth killed many of the enemy, and was himself wounded. Two weeks later he was killed; but died in the knowledge he had been recommended for the V.C.

A week later, the day after the capture of Courcelette, Pte. J. C. Kerr, 49th (Edmonton) Battalion was awarded the badge of supreme valor when, swarming along the parados of a trench west of Courcelette during a violent attack, he fought in full sight of the clustering Germans, directing the bombing of his comrades and battling with a bravery that knew no limit. He was wounded, but nothing deterred him. His aggressiveness brought 62 prisoners as a "bag" for his battalion.

How Piper James Richardson of the 16th (Canadian Scottish) Battalion stimulated his comrades during the terrific fighting at the Regina Trench is an epic of Canada's history. Amid a hail of bullets and bombs, the indomitable piper strode up and down the length of the impassible wire, the war-like airs of the Highland clans streaming from his bagpipes. The Battalion swept forward, and their position was won

HONG KONG, July 15 (AP). — Stubborn southwestern Chinese flouting central government "discipline", pressed an Anti-Japanese crusade on two fronts tonight.

Both young fellows have played the game hard in various sports all their lives, both in Nelson and Calgary—hockey, rugby, basketball, and in the case of Nelson, soccer—and recently passed successfully the medical examination for the Royal Air Force given them at Calgary by the department of national defence, by arrangement with London.

Greatly elated with the information that they are now facing the last hurdle, young McEwan and Morgan were last night laying their plans for complying with the conditions laid down to obtain the interviews which may admit them to training for army fliers.

U. S. Drought at End, Says Man Who Last Christmas Forecast Its Arrival

CHICAGO, July 15 (AP).—An immediate end to the drought, with its crop ruin and threats of rising food prices, was forecast tonight by the man who predicted the hot, dry weather six months before it arrived.

There would be "no more damage from drought" after tomorrow, he asserted, although it might take the country 10 days to accept the fact. By July 26, he added, there would be so much rain that "everyone is going to see that the drought danger is ended."

The man was Selby Maxwell, astronomer-meteorologist, who said he read the good news in the wobblings of the moon.

Maxwell predicted the drought's end with the same air of confidence with which he warned of its coming around Christmas time in 1935. At that time, he glanced at his long range forecasting charts—based on the distances the moon wobbles in its orbit—and predicted:

That January and February would have heavy snow, and that drought would develop March, April and May and do its worst in June and July.

All that came to pass.

MORE ABOUT IL DUCE BOASTS

Premier Mussolini concluded by saying: "Justice and civilization triumphed in Africa and Europe."

Amid a flag-waving ceremony to mark the end of sanctions, Mussolini moved into a period of intense collaboration with an Adriatic neighbor he once treated cooly—King Zog of Albania.

Of the action of Albania and other nations which refrained from sanctions, Il Duce's Popolo d'Italia said: "The Italian people will not forget this."

Taught by the Ethiopian war and its resultant sanctions the necessity of developing Albania's oil resources to the utmost, Italy has given King Zog five loans totalling about 30,000,000 gold francs.

The Albanian dictator has given Italy a big oil concession, various political promises and a better port at Durazzo for future use.

OUTLINE OF PROGRAM FOR VIMY MEMORIAL UNVEILING RELEASED

King Edward to Present Leading Canadian Representatives to French President

OTTAWA, July 15 (CP)—An outline of the program for the Vimy memorial unveiling in France, July 26, was released today by the national defence department.

While 6000 Canadian war veterans look on, King Edward will arrive at Vimy shortly after 2 p.m. He will be greeted by a royal salute and will inspect the guard of honor.

Another royal salute will greet the president of France who will accompany the King to a raised dias. This will be followed by a service conducted by three war-time chaplains, Rev. C. C. Owen, Rev. G. O. Fallis and Bishop E. A. Deschamps.

Premier Mackenzie King then will speak by trans-Atlantic telephone, to be followed by Minister of Justice Lapointe and Defence Minister MacKenzie.

King Edward then will speak and unveil the memorial. This will be followed by the sounding of the Last Post, a two-minute period of silence and then reveille.

The president of France then will speak the ceremony coming to an end with the King presenting the leading Canadian representatives to the president.

The program will be broadcast from Vimy by the British Broadcasting Corporation and the Canadian Radio Broadcasting Commission.

BOUNTIES PAID AT NELSON ON THREE COUGAR

Average Six Coyotes a Month; Expect to Pay More

Bounties have been paid on three cougar and an average of six coyotes a month at the government offices at Nelson to date this year, and with the doubling of the cougar bounty it is expected the total paid out this season will be greater than since 1934.

From 1922 to 1931 the British Columbia government paid out $397,542,800 in bounties on 3116 wolves, 59,453 coyotes, and 3598 cougar. In 1932 the government suspended bounties, and in 1933, 1934 and 1935 paid low bounties. This year the cougar bounty of $10 was doubled and figures of $2 for coyotes and $10 for timber wolves were set.

The problem of paying bounties for predatory animals is one which has exercised western provinces and states at different times for many years, and opinion is still about equally divided as to the benefit or otherwise of the bounty system. It is apparently about a standoff whether to hire hunters or to pay bounties. British Columbia takes a middle course, paying moderate bounties and employing two hunters.

BURNT ORANGE 'SAFEST' COLOR

Experiments Show It's Most Quickly Seen in Woods

Burnt orange is the "safest" color to wear in the woods, accoring to a report of the B.C. game branch.

Experiments with various colors and combinations of colors to determine which would most readily be seen in the woods, and so provide maximum safety during the hunting season, established that burnt orange was the color most quickly seen by the human eye. White was next, then red. The report comments that wearing of khaki in the woods should be prohibited.

Noted European To Lecture at Students' Camp

Plans for Big Western Camp S.C.M. Well Under Way

Plans for the Student Christian Movement camp to be held at Koolaree camp August 13 to 27 are getting well under way.

Letters from Elliott Birdsall of Winnipeg, official director of the camp, are optimistic toward this year's venture at Koolaree. Last year's S.C.M. camp was held at Invermere. That is no longer available and Nelson has been chosen as the most central point for S.C.M. representatives from the western provinces and states.

The camp is limited to 60 delegates, most of these coming from the western Canada and United States universities. In addition to these delegates, however, arrangements are being made whereby local university graduates may also attend. The camp is the western seminar for all university graduates interested in the Student Christian Movement. Teachers and any others of adequate scholastic standing may also register.

Dr. Fritz Kunkel, M.D., eminent professor from Europe, has this year been secured by the S.C.M. as special lecturer. He is giving two courses of lectures in Canada, one in the eastern states and one in the west at Koolaree. He is also lecturing at three S.C.M. camps in the United States.

Scheibler Pen Is Holding Own

Fast Laying Offset to Opponents' Heavy Eggs

At the rate the W. J. Scheibler pen is shelling out eggs, their inferior weight compared to that of the eggs produced by the three next nearest pens, seemingly the only possible challengers, is more than made up, and the Scheibler birds are not only holding their own in points but increasing their lead, at the end of the 35th week of the Agassiz laying contest. While the A. W. Schofield pen, in second place, laid 54 eggs, to produce 60.6 points, the M. H. Ruttledge pen, in fourth, 51 eggs for 60.7 points, the Scheibler birds came through with 61 eggs, which were good enought to yield 63.8 points.

Though gaining 80 points or so recently by the substitution of a reserve bird, the Schofield pen has dropped 40 points in three weeks on current eggs with reference to the Scheibler pen, which it now trails by 51.4 points. The four leaders stand: Scheibler 1972.8, Schofield 1921.4, Ruttledge 1904.3, and Sangster 1884.1. Between Sangster and the next pens, those of the B. C. Lands Operating company, and the University of British Columbia, there is an interval of 135.7 and 135.8 points respectively. The university pen is Barred Plymouth Rocks, the others named are all S.C. White Leghorns.

Following is the current table for the 45 pens, except for day-by-day records and the week's eggs:

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of calomel but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. 26.

Extra Street Car Excites Conjecture

When an extra street car made a special trip to Lakeside park Wednesday afternoon, taking down children of St. Saviour's Sunday school for the annual picnic, various citizens wondered if the plan of a three-car service for Wednesday, Saturday and Sunday afternoons, that was in effect for two or three summers a few years ago, was being given a new trial.

English Motorists Put Lights on 10:40

To give mountain dwellers an idea of the relatively limited daylight enjoyed by them compared for instance with England, where twilight time is a recognized feature of the summer months, it is noted in an old country paper just received that "lighting up time" is fixed at that particular date as 10:40 p.m. for motorists and cyclists. Vehicular traffic is immune from police interest in this respect till that time, but woe unto any driver or rider that does not flick on his lights at the stated time. But imagine, 20 minutes to 11 at night before "lights on" are necessary! — Contributed.

FUN IS REALLY FUN KOOLAREE: DAYS SPEED BY

Campfire Gatherings a Feature; Plenty of Talent

KOOLAREE CAMP JOTTINGS
By SYD HORSWILL

Days speed by at Koolaree; days of instructive lessons, handicraft groups, swimming, games and delightful evening campfires. These campfires serve as an intermediate step between the restless activity of the day and the restful period of sleep. It is at these camp gatherings that the spirit of good fellowship, mutual appreciation of effort and inter-tribal competitions are given most vivid expression. Here the individual coordinates his abilities with the group and the group in turn shows its appreciation of the efforts of the individual, even though those efforts may be good, bad or indifferent.

It is in such an atmosphere of mutual respect and assistance that the boys realize the example from which they shall draw those personal characteristics so necessary to the development of their natures in a manner to make them an asset rather than a liability to the communities in which they are to live.

Fun at camp is really fun. If you don't believe me, just ask Jerry Jerram. Big Chief Brian Gore had made the statement that a certain platform would hold an elephant. The braves were rather dubious at first but when, with some outside assistance, "Baby Elephant" Jerry was shoved on and nothing untoward happened, their doubts were expelled and our little friend became the proud and much-envied possessor of one of the cooks' swell cinnamon rolls as a reward for his efforts to prove "Gubby" correct.

When the Hochelaga tribe put on the campire it was good. Believe me, friends, there's plenty of A-1 talent out here at camp. First the tribe chairman announced the advent of the talking news reporter and who walked in but Martin McLellan, and what did he do but give an almost perfect take-off of Jack Kelly. Next on this program of fun came Roddy (Schnozzle) MacKenzie with a well-known "hotcha hotcha" story. Then the exceptionally gifted Henry Johnson of Procter gave several solos on his piano-accordion. The program ended with a very interesting story read by Great Chief Lloyd Magar. Following this came "Taps" and after a cheery "Thanks for the day, comrades," the braves separated and went to their respective cabins for a much-needed sleep.

Custom Shippers Have an Off Week

Only Five Mines Ship; But Trail Receipts 10,835 Tons

Only five custom shippers appear on the statement of ore receipts issued by the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company of Canada for the second week in July, the smallest number for any week since the spring increased the number of operations, though the same figure was recorded twice in January and twice in April. They were credited with 263 tons of smelter feed, 167 being the output of three mills, while 96 was crude ore shipped by two mines.

The company's own product, however, ran to 10,572 tons, bringing the week's receipts to 10,835 tons.

With these figures incorporated, the 1936 total of Trail receipts to date is 285,944 tons, wet weight, of which 276,839 is from company sources, and 9,105 tons is of custom origin.

New Helicopter at the Coast

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C., July 15 (CP).—A new type of helicopter, said to be the first successful type for all practical purposes, and which can be lifted or lowered vertically, is undergoing final tests here by its inventors and manufacturers, John Hess and Sons.

These trials will bring to a close 15 years of study and experiments which have been financed by several business men here. A total of $30,000 is said to have been spent in experiments and building.

NELSON BOARD TAKES RIGHT STEP

Nelson board of trade has launched a publicity drive to direct tourists from the east through the West Kootenay district. The move is commendable and the only regret is the plan was not thought about sooner. However, the tourist season has not yet reached its peak and the board's efforts should bring good results. The plan is to place a man in Cranbrook to direct traffic westward via the main lake highway, a highway unsurpassed for its scenic grandeur.

Even though Nelson board has taken this step at such a late time the experience gained and the benefits to accrue this year will form a basis for further extensive work in this direction in years to come.

THE KOOTENAYS AND THE EAST

Ontario is going through the hottest spell within 100 years.

The Kootenay country is enjoying agreeable summer weather.

A toll of 550 dead is in the wake of Ontario's heat wave.

Seldom if ever is death caused by excessive heat in the Kootenays.

Crops in the Ontario section are dried up and wasted.

Kootenay crops have suffered some but not from lack of moisture.

Offices have been closed because of the heat in the east

Business goes on as usual in the Kootenays.

In other words the whole equilibrium of portions of the east has been thrown off balance by the heat wave.

In the Kootenays warm weather with showers has been the experience in the past few weeks. Ideal growing weather exists. We are indeed fortunate in our situation among the mountains of British Columbia.

Windsor Star parliamentary expert writes that Ottawa's latest was "a very ordinary session that will not be remembered for any outstanding feature." Nonsense. Didn't they pick the 10 most handsome?

MY SERMON

Frank Becker says this column is getting lousy.

He says it is good one day and lousy the next.

I do not like the expression "lousy".

While it hints of inactivity on the part of the one who is lousy, it also bespeaks much activity if one is to attempt to halt that lousy feeling.

To infer the column is lousy means it is infested with lice.

Now a louse is a small flat insect, wingless, that feeds on the bodies of animals or men.

Probably the column is lousy but I can't imagine it getting a good feed off anyone who might criticize it.

Anyway I'd sooner have a lousy column than none at all.

So thus ends another lousy column.

If it isn't lousy I'll eat my shirt.

That would be difficult at this time, for I seldom wear a shirt in the summer.

There you are, Mr. Printer, take it away.

I am so mad I won't even tell the folks who read this column a good joke.

Phooey—Phooey.

Canadian troops at the front are being rearmed with the new British Enfield rifle. This rifle which is now being manufactured both in Great Britain and in the United States by the hundreds of thousands, has been adopted as the uniform service rifle of all the British troops. The Ross rifle, about which there has been so much criticism, will be gradually discarded for all Canadian troops as a service rifle and the new rifle substituted as it becomes available.

At this moment at least three great fires are raging in the Salmon valley—the Pend d'Oreille fire, which wiped out the Red Bird mine buildings before crossing partly on to the American side; the Meadows-Erie-Salmo fire, which is now known to have destroyed Dindsley Brothers Canadian company's upper camp and also camp No. 3 of the Kootenay Shingle company; and the big fire in the Hall Siding area, 10 miles south of Nelson, in which Severino Dalpra, a Nelson firefighter, lost his life yesterday.

WHERE FOUND

PHYSICAL FEATURES

Forty inches high, 56 inches long; resembles a small horse, but striped from head to hoof. Color—White and dense black or chocolate brown, according to locality.

SPAN OF LIFE

Ten years.

FOOD

OFFSPRING

TODAY'S DRAWING LESSON

The zebra is a sociable creature who runs in small herds, often feeding with ostriches, when not on the mountain heights. The latter can scan the horizon better than the zebra and give warning at the approach of a foe. The zebra is fleet and enduring and the lion is his principal enemy. Easily tamed, he sometimes lives as long as 20 years in captivity. Zebra troops are noisy in their native country and the stallions fight continually. The zebra is usually found not far from water which it drinks twice a day.

WHAT THE PRESS IS SAYING

REPAIR FOR MUNICIPAL FINANCE

The story of how in 1919 Grand Forks, B. C., rescued itself from the brink of insolvency, was told by Mayor T. A. Love at the recent annual meeting of the Investment Dealers' Association of Canada. By the efforts of its own citizens, the town has cut its debt and taxes, increased its assets and raised the value of its bonds. The methods were the well-tested ones of economy and efficiency, possible because the necessity of action was explained to the citizens. Deficits were turned into surpluses despite falling revenues.

The moral is important in relation to the huge municipal bankruptcies in Canada. Debt adjustments may give temporary relief to defaulting municipalities, but ultimately the repair of civic finance rests in the hands of the citizenry. That repairs can be effected to the advantage of municipality, taxpayer and bondholder is illustrated by the Grand Forks example. It leaves no room for doubt that even where there has been a bankruptcy, municipal finances are capable of complete repair.—Financial Post.

The debt which governments owe to experts in the civil service was generously acknowledged in the debate on the United States agreement, Hon. H. H. Stevens, who was Minister of Trade and Commerce when the negotiations with the United States were first initiated, observed:

"I say from experience and from intimate contact with these and other officials that no Minister could possibly discharge his duties in a matter of this kind without having at his elbow these splendid officials, and Canada can well be proud of its permanent civil service."

Mr. Stevens singled out Hector McKinnon, Commissioner of Tariffs, for special mention, describing him as "one of the ablest officials that we have in the Government of Canada in tariff matters."

Hector McKinnon was on the editorial staff of the Globe, Toronto, before he entered the civil service to become secretary of the Advisory Tariff Board. There appears to be something of peculiar value in the training which a newspaper gives to the right type of man or woman. Here and there throughout the civil service at Ottawa are key officials who have served their apprenticeship in newspaper work.

Dr. R. H. Coats, Dominion statistician, served on the Toronto Globe staff for years before he came to Ottawa. So did George Simpson, editor of Hansard. The chairman of the Canadian Radio Commission, Hector Charlesworth, spent all his earlier life in journalism.

The list could be extended at length. Sydney Roe, editor of the National Revenue Review and censor of imported books, is an old Gallery man. H. E. M. Chisholm, chief of the publicity branch of the Trade and Commerce Department, was on the staff of the Winnipeg Free Press for many years. James Muir, editor of the Daily Bulletin issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, once owned the Almonte Gazette and was previously on the staff of Ottawa papers. Gerald H. Brown, Assistant Deputy Minister of Labor, is an old newspaperman. So is H. F. S. Paisley, of the Fisheries Department. Fred James of the Agriculture Department; J. R. MacGregor, present secretary of the Tariff Board, all served their apprenticeship on the staff of newspapers.

If one might venture a guess as to the secret of the success of these men in Government posts, it is the initiative, resourcefulness, fairness, aversion to red tape, and capacity for going into a new field and rapidly getting the essential facts, which training in newspaper work develops in men and women who have the necessary ability and stamina.—Lethbridge Herald.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

GLAUCOMA DISEASE OF MIDDLE-AGED

"What is glaucoma?"

This question, so frequently asked by middle-aged people, involves one of the most serious diseases of the eye. I abstract the information below from The Sight-Saving Review, published by the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, as being their idea of what the public should know about the condition.

Glaucoma is a serious problem because other eye ailments may make themselves known to the patient or to any casual observer, may last a few days and be forgotten, or even if serious, may not lead to such suspense and dread as involves glaucoma.

Glaucoma may come on gradually—in fact, it usually does—making itself known very gently, or not at all, to the patient, and reach a stage where it is difficult to give relief, before the seriousness of the problem is realized. The condition should always be treated, as neglect hastens the possibility of serious visual defect which might otherwise be completely checked or slowed in its downhill progress.

HARDENING OF EYEBALL

Glaucoma is an abnormally increased hardening of the eyeball, brought about when the fluid, normally circulating there, becomes blocked and imprisoned and cannot escape. A congestion and high tension in the eyeball results, which increases as more fluid setps in, and the high pressure does damage to the optic nerve and retina, sometimes causing intence pain.

It is for this reason that the oculist, in examining your eyes, always tests the tension with his fingers over the closed lids. If there is any marked or even moderate glaucoma, his fingers will not decieve him. In milder or earlier cases an instrument called the "tonometer", applied to the eyeball, will indicate the exact pressure.

The condition is almost entirely confined to people of middle age, and the complaint is usually not about the eye, but severe headache.

If the eyes do give symptoms there are peculiar disturbances of vision consisting of coloration rings and halos of different colored lights about external objects. Sometimes the patient feels as if he were looking down a gun barrel.

The treatment consists in giving something which will reopen the microscopically fine passages in the eyeball and flush out the clogged fluid, thereby reducing the hardness. Sometimes eye drops, under careful control of the oculist, are successful. In other cases, operation is required.

The most important lesson for the average person is that after the age of 35 you should consult your oculist as regularly as you do your dentist, in order to check up on the general health of your eyes.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS

N. D.: "It is necessary that I maintain a low protein diet. In one of your articles you stated a man weighing 150 pounds needs about 53 grams per day and half this amount would be contained in an ordinary lamb chop. Will you please answer the following questions: (1) Approximately how many grams of protein in a quart of sweet milk? (2) In a half pound of cottage cheese? (3) In an egg?"

Answer: There is about 4 per cent protein in milk. An average glass of milk contains six ounces or 180 grams. Therefore, a glass of milk contains about seven grams of protein. A half pound of cottage cheese is about 180 grams and contains 20 grams.

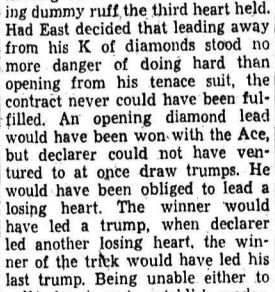
MUST KILL DUMMY.

It's odd how frequently the defenders fail to kill entry to a long establishable suit in dummy, just as East failed with the holdings shown today. The hand offers an interesting example of the necessity of at once removing an Ace, even if a defender must lead his K to do so, when he has no idea where the Q and J lie.



Bidding went: South, 1-Spade; West passed, whereas had he put in a weak bid of 2-Diamonds, showing partner what best to lead, opponents never would have had an opportunity to go game, even if they dared venture 5-odd in the other minor suit; North, 2-Clubs; East, 2-Hearts; South, 2-Spades; North, 4-Clubs; South, 5-Clubs, unwillingly.

East frankly was puzzled over the best opening lead. As a matter of fact, an opening lead of either black suit would have given declarer an easy small slam, by establishing dummy's long spade suit at once, giving him 7 tricks in trumps, 1 in diamonds and 4 in spades East knew better than to lead either a spade or a club, but he did not want to open from his major tenace in hearts, nor away from his K in the other red suit. Finally East led his Ace of hearts, to view dummy before making his second lead, but that single lead was fatal.

East immediately led his K of diamonds to remove the reentry whereby declarer could establish dummy's long suit. Dummy's Ace won the trick. Declarer ruffed a diamond. A heart was given the defenders. West led a trump. Declarer won the trick. He led his last heart and dummy ruffed, then declarer proceeded to pull trumps. Following that, North led one of his low spades, won the finesse with dummy's Q, led off the Ace and went game, losing only two heart tricks.

The mischief came when East made the preliminary heart lead, as then defenders could not lead trumps twice, so North had to lose nothing but two heart tricks, having dummy ruff the third heart held. Had East decided that leading away from his K of diamonds stood no more danger of doing hard than opening from his tenace suit, the contract never could have been fulfilled. An opening diamond lead would have been won with the Ace, but declarer could not have ventured to at once draw trumps. He would have been obliged to lead a losing heart. The winner would have led a trump, when declarer led another losing heart, the winner of the trick would have led his last trump. Being unable either to ruff a heart, or to establish spades, defenders would have won a third heart trick.

AQUATIC VACATION FOR CALLA LILIES

If you have the Godfrey variety of white calla lily, do not put it to rest for the summer, but repot now and place it in the shade, water along the edge of your pot where it will grow happily.

When repotting, use a rich soil mixture of equal parts of leafmold, garden loam, and sand. The neck of the rhizome is above the soil level as shown in the above Garden Graph.

Be sure to bring the lilies indoors before the first frost.

MICKEY COCHRANE BACK

NEW YORK, July 15 (AP).—The league-leading Yankees and second-place Detroit Tigers divided honors today in the doubleheader opener to their "crucial" series, as Mickey Cochrane returned to his job as manager of the world's champions.

Goose Goslin's homer with two mates on base, and Schoolboy Rowe's seven-hit pitching gave the Tigers the first game, 5-1, but the Yanks came back to score early in the second game, and behind Pat Malone's tight relief pitching pulled out a 7-4 decision.

The split left the Yanks' league lead at nine games, despite their recent slump.

A crowd of 50,000 turned out.

ROWING RIPPLES

By DANNY McKAY

With two weeks of practice in the four shell, Bud Greenwood, Al Bush, Art Godfrey and Ed Wheeler are making the boat step along at a merry clip. They received an invitation to compete at Vancouver's Jubilee regatta but declined in favor of the Kelowna races. Now even the Kelowna affair seems out of the question because of finances needed.

I don't mind rowing in the punt so very much, but when two passengers jump in for a joy ride, that's carrying things too far. The other evening I was leaving the float for a good stiff workout when Chubby Greenwood decided to be captain, Tom Alexander the rudder, with me as the engine. At best I managed to catch a few "crabs" and spray them with water.

Jerry Whitfield is stroking a promising crew of John Money, Al Jeffreys and Art Boyce. They all have the weight and should give a good account of themselves in any competition.

NOTICED AT THE CLUB

Ed and Art singing gaily,
Underneath the shower,
Keeping Chubby waiting,
For nearly half an hour.

Jeffreys struggling with the punt,
Rowing round and 'round.
Every stroke you hear him grunt,
"I'll bet I've lost a pound.

Whitfield greasing up the locks,
Calling, "What's the holdup, Art?"
Another struggling with his socks
Shouts, "I'll be ready at the start."

Gordon heaving in the bow,
Pulling hard on every stroke,
Sweat just rolling from his brow
As another blister broke.

Come on, Rowers, bring a number,
Can't you hear the call?
Rowing hard until September,
And the races in the fall.

Heat Cancels Big League Ball Game

CINCINNATI, July 15 (AP)—For the first time within the memory of the oldest fan, hot weather caused postponement today of a scheduled major league baseball game—that between the Cincinnati Reds and the Brooklyn Dodgers tomorrow.

General Manager Larry S. MacPhail of the Reds said after a conference with John Gorman of the Brooklyn team that because of the heat, and the night game tonight, the scheduled contest would be played as part of a double-header here Friday, August 28.

GOLF

by ALEX MORRISON

Every day incoming questions include something about the stance. Position of the feet is important but stance can be successfully treated only after other things have been considered.

The feet should be placed in the proper relation to the ball, the line of play and the hips. Of these three items, the hips are more important because any arrangement of the feet that does not afford smooth, easy hip action cannot help your swing.

You can place your feet in approximately the correct position in relation to your hips, the ball as well as the line of play, by following the right order of movement in taking your stance.

1—First place your hands on the club. Take your grip while the club head is on the ground away from the ball.

2—Then place the club head on the ground just back of the ball with the clubface at right angles to the line of play.

3—While the clubhead rests on the ground back of the ball, place your left foot so that the ball is about opposite the heel of this foot.

4—Place your right foot in a comfortable position.

COLORED GIANTS GET REVENGE WHEN THEY BEAT STEVE SMITH

But Game Is Nip and Tuck With Nelson Rally in Ninth

Putting in their ace twirler, Red Knuckles, when things began to look bad in the ninth inning, the Detroit Colored Giants checked a last minute Nelson rally and nosed out the Nelson senior baseball team 4-3 at the Recreation grounds Wednesday evening. It was revenge for the visitors who were beaten their last trip to Nelson by excellent hurling on behalf of Steve Smith of Nelson.

With two out and two men on base in the last half of the ninth and Steve Smith coming to bat, the Giants decided to take no chances and pulled Parnell who had done the hurling up to that point, to put in Knuckles. After fouling several good ones, Smith finally put up a high foul which Parnell, who had been moved to third base, gathered in and the game was over.

The highlight of the game came in the sixth inning, when, with one man on first base, Big Bill Smith, the towering colored shortstop, came to bat. With a Babe Ruth swing he caught the first ball pitched right on the nose and hit a terrific two-base hit far over the left-field fence. The ball cleared the trees beyond the fence and landed in Front street in front of the Wood, Vallance warehouse. The hit was only good for two bases because of the local ground rule although it was a longer wallop than his home run deep in right field in the fourth inning.

Nelson leading hitter was Catcher Gordon Richardson, who garnered three hits, two singles and a double in four official trips to the plate. Andy Anderson, who came over from Trail to play for Nelson made two hits in four official times at bat.

The game was witnessed by one of the largest crowds of the season and the fans had a lot of fun good-naturedly kidding the visitors who showed lots of pep and snap but not as much showmanship as have several visiting teams of their calibre. Smith at short for the Giants was a giant with a foghorn voice that caused much merriment while the first-sacker was a talker all through the game.

CHAPTER 26

Mounting excitement was no indication of love. But it was lots of fun and if anticipation of seeing Donald could affect her that way on a second date, Joan hoped that her heart and her head could get together for once and that Donald would answer the need in her life.

Donald was a very satisfactory person to fit into that need. That is, as much of Donald as she knew. She realized suddenly that she really knew nothing at all about him.

That night they went to the movies but that night he didn't ask her if she wanted to dance. He didn't ask her what she wanted to do. He simply gave his address to their taxi driver.

"I'm beginning to feel at home here," she said, sinking again into the corner of one of the big lounges.

"I told you that you looked as though you belonged here."

"Oh, backgammon!" Joan was not completely at ease with Donald on this occasion and her eye lighted with relief on the backgammon board.

She kept up an animated chatter when first they began to play. She told him about Blakeville and searched her memory for anecdotes that she thought might amuse him. She felt like anyone but Joan Spencer.

Donald knew it.

"Joan, what's come over you?"

Joan shook the dice busily. "Nothing that I know of. Why?"

"Bad move," he said. "I'm afraid I'll have to tie you up." He moved his marker. "You seem to be warding me off."

"Would I have any reason to ward you off?"

"Yes," he said surprisingly, "I'm crazy about you."

"I hadn't noticed it." She made a great show of studying her next move. Strange, how easily a girl could take over complete command of a situation given such a small start as Donald's remark.

Donald smiled. He knew that she was referring to his slence of the last month.

He picked up all the markers and folded the board.

"I knew I wasn't very good but is that sporting?" Joan inquired.

"I know a better game to play," he answered. "We don't really want to go on with this."

Joan knew perfectly well that when he had put the board away he was going to come back and sit beside her. She felt herself go completely jittery inside but she couldn't move. She didn't want to. Yet when he came and took her in his arms, she struggled against him.

"What's the matter, darling? Don't you like me?" He forced her head back until she had to look at him. She was very pretty then. Bright color burned in her cheeks. Her mouth parted but she didn't speak. So he kissed her.

"Yes, I do." She had to admit it. "I thought you did." He pressed her head to his shoulder and stroked her head gently.

"Do you like me?" What silly things people said to each other at times like that.

"No," he said fiercely and crushed her so that her ribs ached but she didn't want to protest.

Thinking of that night later she couldn't remember what they talked about for hours. Vaguely she remembered Donald told her about dogs and horses and hunting and his tailor and his Aunt-something and she talked too, but mostly there were silences. Silences filled with things that stirred her as she had never been stirred.

The hour struck twice in a distant clock.

"Is it really two?" Joan jumped to her feet. "I've got to go."

"Why?" Donald seemed genuinely surprised.

"Because it's really terribly late. Did I leave my hat with my gloves?"

"Sit down, Joan, you're not going."

"Not going!" She looked at him in complete amazement.

"Unless you have to report to your employer." Joan didn't want to believe what she heard or thought about that remark.

"Donald, I can't have understood you correctly. You mean that you want me to stay a little longer, don't you?"

"I mean that I want you to stay. There is lots of room here. You can have a room to yourself. It just doesn't seem sensible to go home at this hour."

"What would people think?"

"No one would think anything because no one would know anything about it."

"I would," she said shortly. "If you mean what I think you do, I can't . . . I can't understand it at all."

"Joan, you are a most surprising person. You allow me to make love to you, you admit that you like me, I've told you that I am crazy about you. Then you go completely schoolgirlish and I don't know where I am myself."

"In that case, Donald, let's forget the whole thing. Please take me home."

"Joan," he said at her door, "you know that sort of thing is really all right. I don't want you to be down on me because I . . . well, because I asked you to stay. I just don't think there is anything wrong in it. You'll find that most people don't. But will you forget I asked you and will you see me again?"

Donald had given her a lot to think about, had disappointed her gravely, but Donald, standing with his hand outstretched, with his slow bright smile, was still the Donald she had kissed an hour before.

"I'm learning," she said, taking his hand, "very slowly. I know the words but I haven't gotten the idea quite clear. I guess I'm going to be a stupid pupil. Of course, I'll see you again. Good night, Donald."

What women want and what women get are two different things.

Nobody thinks that sort of thing is wrong.

Small wonder that thinking over these two remarks from two different people, Joan found herself in a labyrinth of thought from which there seemed to be no clear way out. Surely she couldn't be the only person out of step in modern thought. Perhaps she just didn't belong to her own generation. Not that she had ever thought of herself as an oldfashioned girl before.

"Joan, I've got the opening line of the second act," Julian said a few days later. "Now, then . . . Lady Clifford arrives at Blagdon. She meets Cynthia who is in riding clothes . . . 'Cynthia, dearest, you must come to Sir Joseph's. . . .'

"But she wouldn't say that! Mr. Sloane, Lady Clifford knows that Cynthia had spent the night with Ronald!"

"Of course, she does. But why wouldn't she say it?"

"Lady Clifford wouldn't condone it, would she?"

"Certainly she would. She's a woman of the world. She knows that Cynthia is in love with Ronald. Let's get on with it."

Joan couldn't get on with it. Even Julian . . .

"Please, Mr. Sloane, just a minute. Do you mean that you would think it all right for a woman to spend the night with a man she wasn't married to? The kind of a woman the world calls 'nice'?"

Julian took off his working glasses. He studied Joan's disturbed countenance for a moment before he answered gently:

"I wouldn't want you to Joan. The way I think of you. . . ."

Joan waited with a curious feeling that her heart had stopped beating for his to finish telling her about the way he thought of her.

He didn't.

KOOLAREE LADS LAUGH AT RAIN AND USE LODGE

But With Sun's Return Sports Program Away

SIX BOYS HAVE LEARNED SWIM

Number Parents Visit Camp; Contests Keen

By SYD HORSWILL

Since Thursday at 12 o'clock the gods that rule the weather have given liberally of all types: Rain, mist, rain and sun, and finally sun alone. Discouraging though this weather might have been to some campers, it had no such effect on the members of the junior boys' camp. You see, though it succeeded in finding holes in one tent, the rain was unable to reach the boys or their beds because the whole tribe was moved into the large lodge. Here, their beds were made around the sparkling fireplace, their spirits not in the least dampened, and their hearts set on having the good time that they had expected, the happy young braves were able to laugh the rain to scorn.

In such manner the boys were able to remain dry and continue their well-organized program of bible study, chapel service and games during the two days of rainy weather.

But all that is past. The sun is out, the skies are clear, the birds are singing, the ball field is dry and accordingly the sports program has swung into step with the remainder of the program.

Sunday, though not the official visitors' day, witnessed the crossing of several parents and friends to our beautifully-situated camp. Those of the 59 campers whose parents did not arrive amused themselves by going on a short hike that afternoon. Some, of course, stormed the beach and enjoyed an hour of delightful swimming.

There were about a dozen boys who, before coming to camp, were unable to swin a stroke. However, at least six of them can now swim several yards with no outside assistance.

Fortunately the boys have taken a great interest in the swimming lessons, life saving, first aid, morse code and campcraft classes, and accordingly the teaching of these "young hopefuls" is made much more of a pleasure than of a task.

Inter-tribal competition is exceedingly keen and the marks for tent and table inspection are quite even. The boys take great enjoyment out of improving and clearing up their cabins to the extent that their marks are slightly higher than those of some other tribe. Their joys and pride are even more evident and deep-rooted, however, when they obtain the carved Indian head which goes to the tribe winning tent and table inspection, and for this reason their chests swell a little larger, their smiles get a little wider, and their determination to win again becomes a driving force to them.

Such is the attitude of the youthful campers: To help the other fellow; to have a good time; but at the same time to do their bit in making their tribe the proud winner.

Government support of a campaign to secure the Olympic games for Australia is being sought.

Action Scene From Camden Strike

After the serious riting in Camden, N.J., in which half a dozen persons were injured, police guards have been increased at the Victor division plant of the R.C.A. Manufacturing company. This picture was made during a minor disturbance, when a policeman and a strike sympathizer came to grips. Union leaders and company officials are negotiating. Supreme Court Justice Lloyd directed the Camden grand jury to try to fix responsibility for the disturbances which have marked the strike and which have placed at least 40 cases of disorderly conduct in the Camden courts.

GRAINS JUMP ON THREE MARKETS

Chicago, Winnipeg, Kansas City Gain

WINNIPEG, July 15 (CP).—Wheat futures prices advanced today on drought reports that inspired good buying credited to United States mills and investment demand from southern houses on the Winnipeg grain exchange today.

Values closed 1¾ to 2⅛ cents higher, with July at 93¼, October 92¾ and December 92⅝.

Prairie weather conditions brought heaviest influence to the market. Precipitation was negligible in the west overnight.

Export business was estimated at 600,000 bushels.

U.S. MARKETS JUMP

CHICAGO, July 15 (CP). — Excited price jumps ran wheat aloft the maximum permissible limit five cents, at Kansas City today and 4¼ here, with corn up virtually four cents.

Simultaneous with the extreme rise were reports that milling interests were buying all the wheat offered in Kansas City, and that the Canadian wheat crop was deteriorating at a rapid rate.

Soaring of the corn market to almost the topmost extent allowed for any one day resulted from practical immediate failure of predictions of relief from drought and heat in the corn belt.

Wheat closed nervous, 2 cents to 2¾ cents above yesterday's finish, July 104¾, Sept. 104⅝—⅞, Dec. 105¾—⅞, corn 2¼—3⅛ up, July 85, Sept. 82⅞—83, Dec. 77¼—⅜, oats 1⅛—1½ advanced, Sept. 38⅜—½, and rye showing 2⅝ bulge, Sept. 71⅝. In provisions, the result was unchanged to 20 cents higher.

Cheap Golds Gain

TORONTO, July 15 (CP). — Strength in lower-priced gold stocks featured the mining section of the Toronto stock exchange today.

O'Brien gained 22 cents to a new top of 3.30. Sullivan and Red Lake were up about 8 each to peaks for the year of 1.70 and 2.16. Central Patricia improved 16 and Anglo-Huronian tacked 29 more on to Tuesday's big gain.

Siscoe closed 20 better but Wright-Hargreaves and Pioneer were moderately lower. Lamaque Contact and Howey made new best prices.

TOMATO SUPPLY RUNNING SHORT

Field Crop Not Moving Apricots About Finished

Materials for fruit preserving continue to move fast on the wholesale market at Nelson, with some lines of supplies running short. Jars and accessories are moving much faster than dealers anticipated, and pint jars will shortly be out the hand of the dealers.

A few strawberries for jam are still coming in but the volume is small. The cherry supply is limited, due to the heavy loss in recent rains, over half of the crop being ruined. Few raspberries have arrived so far and no heavy movement is anticipated, due to heavy winter kill.

TOMATOES SHORT

With hothouse tomatoes nearly over and the Okanagan field crop barely beginning to come on the market, a shortage is reported. Field tomatoes are not coming in fast enough at this stage to meet the demand.

Cucumbers are plentiful and the price is described as reasonable. The Okanagan is beginning to ship cantaloupe and a few peppers though not in volume as yet. The Washington apricot crop is about finished and there are so few apricots offering in the Okanagan it is doubtful whether any will be shipped to this district. Peaches are beginning to come in from Washington.

BRAN, SHORTS UP

Flour, advancing 10 cents and dropping back the same amount, remained where it was a week ago. Rolled oats advanced 10 cents per 80-pound sack. Bran and shorts advanced sharply, the former being up $5.50 and the latter $3, with middlings similarly up. The new crop of hay is expected to start moving shortly.

Beef advanced a cent a pound and butter made two advances, each of one cent a pound, during the week.

The lemon market is up sharply, heat causing a shortage, and the orange market is fairly steady.

Of chief interest among carlot arrivals in the week were two cars of salt and two of sugar.

McDonald Jam Co., Ltd., started operation Wednesday of a new, modern bottle washing machine designed to clean 75 cases of soft drink bottles an hour. The bottles, on an endless carrier, are passed through a chemical solution and through boiling water, with a cold rinsing spray as the final touch before they reach the bottling machine. The washer weighs 3½ tons.

INDUSTRIALS UP

TORONTO, July 15 (CP). — Industrial stocks moved higher on the Toronto stock exchange today but increases were mostly fractional and many issues varied from the trend.

International Nickel traded at a slightly reduced price but Consolidated Smelters, Brazilian Traction and C.P.R. were up a little and Ford A gained ½ to finish at 20¼.

British American Oil firmed ⅛ but International Petroleum and the McColl stocks slipped. Imperial Oil was steady at 20⅞. B.C. Power A added ¾ to close at 30¼.

BAR GOLD UP TWO

MONTREAL, July 15 (CP).—Bar gold in London up two cents at $34.96 an ounce in Canadian funds; 138s in British funds. The fixed $35 Washington price amounted to $35.03 in Canadian.

PROFITS TAKEN AT NEW YORK

NEW YORK, July 15 (AP).—The stock market was bounced about by profit taking squalls today but managed to make the home port with most of its rigging intact.

Earnings and high dividend hopes lent support to many issues, a number of which closed up 1 to 2 or more points at new 5-year peaks.

Realizing failed to chill bullish sentiment to any appreciable extent in the commission houses. The recent sharp advance, it was said, tended to induce the lightening of commitments here and there.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks edged up .1 of a point to 66.5, another new peak since July 6, 1931. It was the seventh day's consecutive advance of this average. Transfers totalled 1,987,244 shares, the largest since April 30, last. Yesterday's aggregate was 1,659,630.

Exchange Rates

NEW YORK, July 15 (CP)—Sterling exchange steady at $5.01 13-16 for 60-day bills and at $5.02⅞ for demand.

The Philadelphia hospital has the only bronchoscope in the world. MANY VISITORS KOOLAREE CAMP

Go by Car and Launch; Also Sports Day for Boys

Population of Koolaree camp was doubled Wednesday afternoon. It was visitors' day and there were as many "oldsters" on hand to spend the afternoon with the youngsters as there were boys in camp. Some of the visitors travelled to McDonald's Landing by car and were ferried across the lake, while others went to Koolaree by launch.

It was also the camp sports day, and the young fellows made a real day of it.

The junior boys vacate the camp Saturday, and girls' camp will open then.

A mulch of lawn clippings and straw can be put around the plants now. This will preserve the moisture, a necessity at this time of the year, and keep the ground cool for growing crops.

RADIO REPLACES B. C. TELEGRAPH

HAZELTON, B.C., July 15 (CP).—Four hundred miles of telegraph line from here to Telegraph Creek, B.C., which was broken in many places by flood waters during the spring freshets, may never be repaired again.

Preparations for repair gangs to take the field have been cancelled and the season's supplies will be sold. Men who have already gone out on the line have been called in.

When the line was put out of order by the floods Dominion government telegraphs substituted short-wave radio and the business between here and the north is now being carried on this new system. Stations have been built at Stewart and Kyuquot and a new one is being established at Finlay Forks.

Ramsden in Hospital Shows Improvement

Brought to Nelson by ambulance Tuesday evening from Ainsworth, where he intended to spend the summer, W. H. Ramsden was admitted to Kootenay Lake General hospital for treatment. He was reported Wednesday to be improved.

ONTARIO FIRES

throughout the district struggling to vanquish the flames.

Smoke and flames spurted dangerously from bush fires in the Geraldton area with the situation reported "definitely bad." Citizens prepared to leave the threatened community on a moment's notice. There were no signs of alarm.

ONTARIO HEAT ENDED

TORONTO, July 15 (CP).—Farmers throughout Ontario turned anxiously to the weatherman tonight for a promise of rain to aid parched crops and in some cases to prevent their almost complete destruction as lowered temperatures told of the passing of the worst heat wave the province had ever recorded.

Freed from heat that shot thermometers past the 100-degree mark for days, crops revived slightly but cool, life-giving rain was badly needed to restore them.

As the heat-wave, with its estimated toll of 550 lives, directly or in part attributed to the torrid temperatures, passed into history, a tale of wilting crops and parched pastures was recorded throughout the province.

TEMPERATURES HIGH IN WEST

WINNIPEG, July 15 (CP).—Western Canadians considered pessimistically today a return to temperatures on or near the century-mark and wondered if weather prognosticators, both amateur and expert, were not wrong in predicting the heat-wave was broken.

Although the mercury was generally lower than the all-time high marks reached a week ago, temperatures of 100 degrees were recorded today in Medicine Hat, Alta., and in Battleford, Swift Current and Prince Albert in Saskatchewan.

RAISE ALL SALARIES

Discussion took place regarding the teachers' salaries and it was decided to raise all salaries to the same amounts that were being paid prior to the general 15 per cent cut. This will mean an increase of five per cent in some cases and seven per cent in others, requiring about $1500 extra for the year.

A lengthy discussion took place regarding the crowded condition of the public school, classes being held in basement rooms under artificial lighting. The building of a junior high school was considered also, introducing manual training and domestic science, but the discussion centred on the junior high and became heated. It was finally decided to call another meeting of ratepayers the first day that mine and mill were idle to settle the question.

M. Burdett, secretary of the school board, stated that $28,500 would be needed for next year, with an additional amount should a new building be required. He thought this amount could be raised with a 12 mill tax.

Stanley Norton was re-elected auditor and a vote of thanks was extended him for his past work. A hearty vote of thanks was also accorded the board.

TALK INCORPORATION

After the school business was completed another meeting was called to discuss incorporation. The town needs a sewage system and many other things need to be dealt with which could be settled if we were incorporated. A committee was appointed to obtain details regarding expense, etc.: E. M. Hughes, F. Summers, A. A. Watkins, J. Boardman and M. J. Halpin.

NELSON BOARD PLANS A DRIVE FOR TOURISTS

Seek Financial Aid to Station Publicity Man, Cranbrook

Nelson board of trade is of the opinion the West Kootenay district is not getting its fair share of the tourist traffic from the east owing to wrong information handed out in the eastern portion of the province. Traffic is being diverted south of the line and the board has decided to station a publicity man at Cranbrook for the next two months to publicize the scenic attractions of West Kootenay and to direct traffic through the City of Nelson.

While tourist traffic has picked up considerably through East Kootenay it has not picked up to any appreciable extent through West Kootenay. Nelson board believes this condition can be remedied, but to accomplish this will cost money and it is appealing to Nelson business men for financial support in its tourist campaign.

On Friday morning next a strong committee of Nelson business men composed of garage men, hotel men, restaurant men and other business men will make a canvass of the business houses with the object of raising the sum of $500 to help defray expenses in directing traffic from the east through West Kootenay and Nelson. No section of the province has better scenery to offer tourists than the West Kootenay, declare board members who are asking the support of all business men.

Those on the committee which will start its financial drive Friday morning are: Walter Hendricks, chairman, H. B. Gore, J. Madden, C. F. McHardy, D. L. Kerr, George Benwell, N. Cassios and P. J. Gazley.

Link in Atlantic Plane Service Is Planned for Fall

LONDON, July 15 (CP Cable).—Preparations are under way looking to establishment of an air mail and passenger service between Bermuda and the United States this autumn, the air ministry announced today.

The announcement said it was planned to establish a weekly airplane service for passengers, mail and freight.

A subsidy will be paid by the colonial office to meet the cost of a flying boat for the service.

The projected service eventually would become a link in the planned trans-Atlantic airplane service concerning which representatives of Great Britain, the United States, Canada, the Irish Free State and the Newfoundland conferred last autumn in Ottawa and Washington.
