UNITED CHURCH COUNCIL VOTES ADMIT WOMEN

First Canadian Church to Allow Women Ministers

REV. G. A. SISCO TO BE SECRETARY

Agree to Unite With Other Churches if Possible

By GUY E. RHOADES
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Oct. 1 (CP)—The United church today became the first church in Canada to admit women to ordination as ministers, voting almost unanimously to give effect to such action by amending the basis on which church union was consummated in 1925.

The council adopted a recommendation brought down by the law and legislation committee and moved by Miss Ann Fountain of Vancouver. Miss Fountain said she felt the historic importance of the move the church was making "as a further step in the forward movement of women in our church."

She declared the action was the first of its kind taken by a church in Canada, although allied churches in other countries, that is churches growing out of missions founded by the United church, had permitted women to become ministers for some time.

STUDIED FOR YEARS

The subject of ordination of women has been studied almost continuously since church union. It was made the subject of a remit to Presbyteries by the last general council in 1934. The Presbyteries returned an overwhelmingly favorable vote.

Decisions to admit women came at a session which saw election of Rev. Gordon A. Sisco of Toronto to be secretary to the General council, succeeding the veteran Rev. Dr. T. Albert Moore of Toronto who is retiring.

Dr. J. C. Cochrane of North Bay was nominated for the office of associate secretary of the board of home missions but was defeated by Rev. Dr. George Dorey of Regina on a single ballot. Rev. Bruce G. Gray of Vancouver was named assistant secretary of the same board over Rev. Bruce Miller of Timmins, Ont.

The council decided to legislate that only ordained ministers may conduct marriage ceremonies within the framework of the church, except in some cases when it may issue special permits with the understanding such an issue is an exception.

The council adopted the recommendation of its committee on negotiations with other churches reaffirming the desire and purpose to cooperate and "wherever possible and practical unite with any other Christian church on such terms in harmony with the protestant heritage as might be found mutually acceptable." A standing committee was asked to continue study of possibilities for further union.

The council elected Rev. J. R. Mutchmore of Winnipeg by acclamation as associate secretary of the boards of evangelism and social service.

Queen Mary Quits Buckingham Palace

LONDON, Oct. 1 (AP).—Emotion struggled between tears and a faint wistful smile as Queen Mary, after 25 years as mistress of Buckingham palace, moved today into her new home at Marlborough house.

Proudly erect, a stately figure in black, the Queen turned once to look back at the huge grey-stone palace where for more than a quarter of a century she had reigned as consort to the late King George V.

Then, with a wave of her gloved hand at the small group of onlookers, she stepped into the big maroon-colored royal limousine, followed by her son, King Edward VIII, and drove the short distance to Marlborough house, traditional residence of Britain's widowed queens.

King Edward remained with his mother for some time after her personal standard had been broken from the flagstaff at Marlborough house—the first time a queen's standard has flown there since the death of Queen Alexandra, widow of K' g Edward VII.

Then Edward returned to his desk at Buckingham palac:—lone master of his household destiny.

TWO KILLED AS PLANE CRASHES IN N. RHODESIA

CARRY OFF THE $50,000 PRIZE

Findlay and Wireless Operator Morgan Die in Crash

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, Oct. 1 (CP Cable).—Only two planes remained in the running tonight in the Portsmouth-Johannesburg air derby after C. W. A. Scott and Giles Guthrie had won the race and a fatal accident had eliminated the Ken Waller-Max Findlay entry.

Still trying to reach Johannesburg before the time limit of 120 hours expired were A. E. Clouston and Victor Smith. The former was in second place, waiting for necessary repairs at Khartoum in the Sudan before continuing. Smith, true to his nickname of "Unlucky Victor", still was held up near Saloniki, Greece, after a forced landing.

Findlay and Wireless Operator A. H. Morgan were killed when the Waller-Findlay plane crashed in a take-off from Abercorn, Northern Rhodesia, at the south end of Lake Tanganyika. Waller and a passenger, C. D. Peachey, escaped hurt, except for shock.

Scott and Guthrie were greeted by a crowd of 2000 when they brought their plane down at 10:34 a.m. (GMT) (2:34 a.m. PST). A high wind which blew up a dust storm had reduced the crowd considerably.

Their victory gave them the first prize of $20,000 in the $50,000 awards donated for the race by I. W. Schlesinger, South African millionaire.

Accidents put the remaining starters of the original nine planes out of the competition. Flying Officer David Llewellyn and C. F. Hughesdon crashed near Mpulungu, Lake Tanganyika. Their plane was wrecked but they escaped unhurt.

Capt. S. S. Halse crashed near Salisbury, Southern Rhodesia, only 680 miles from his goal.

The other four starters were forced out Tuesday, the first day.

ROOSEVELT SEES BALANCED BUDGET

FORBES FIELD, Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 1 (AP).—President Roosevelt tonight told an audience of thousands that if national income continued to rise as it has been rising, the government's annual budget could be balanced "within a year or two" without additional taxes.

He dwelt at length on the national debt in the second major address in his campaign for reelection and assured his listeners in the jammed ball park of the Pittsburgh Pirates that the deficit was not going to be met by "oppressive taxes on future generations."

Levelling off at his Republican opposition, he said he cast aside a "do-nothing or a wait-and-see policy" and "reversed the policy of the previous administration."

Why Czechoslovakia Fears Herr Hitler

Czechoslovakia, prosperous, middle-European republic, fears that Adolf Hitler's threats against Russia may mean that she first will feel the Nazi fist. They fear that Der Fuehrer may seek to make Czechoslovakia a Fascist state dominated by Germany—either by peaceful or other means—in order to have a clear avenue for an attack upon the Soviet. The relation of Czechoslovakia to Germany and to Russia is shown by the map.—Central Press Canadian Photo.

23-YEAR-OLD FORMER EDMONTON YOUTH, FLYING SOLO, IN DEATH PLUNGE INTO FOG-BOUND RIVER

FISHERMEN TAKE BODY TO SHORE

Carter Guest States Official Enquiry to Be Held

VANCOUVER, Oct. 1 (CP). — Wilson Edwards, 23-year-old Vancouver student pilot who came here from Edmonton about five years ago, was killed today when an airplane in which he was flying solo crashed into the Fraser river near the Vancouver civic airport, Lulu Island, 12 miles south of here.

It was believed by airport officials that Edwards had become confused while flying through low clouds and lost control of the machine which nose-dived into the water with a terrific crash, according to witnesses.

Two Japanese fishermen, M. Ito and Frank Yamashi, were the first to arrive on the scene and found the plane in about eight feet of water on a sand bar off the end of Sea island. Only the tail of the machine was above the water.

The fishermen managed to extricate Edwards' body, strapped in the cockpit of the machine, and brought it ashore.

Edwards took off from the airport in the aero club's training plane shortly after noon and was seen flying over the middle arm of the Fraser river for a time before he disappeared in the light fog.

Carter Guest, resident director of civil aviation in Vancouver, said tonight a court of inquiry will probably be held on the accident tomorrow.

Edwards was born and educated in Edmonton. He had been employed in the circulation department of a Vancouver newspaper since his arrival here.

He is survived by his mother and a married sister here. His father died several years ago.

FRENCH BILL ON DEVALUATION OF FRANC IS PASSED

Blum Wins a 'Clipped' Victory in Tangle With Senate

PRICE FIXING IS NOT INCLUDED

50 Per Cent Tax on Profits on Franc Speculation

By JOHN LLOYD
(Associated Press Foreign Staff).

PARIS, Oct. 1 (AP).—France's devalued franc bore the final stamp of parliamentary approval tonight, ending one of the gravest threats to the stability of the Blum ministry.

Three days of wrangling between the senate and chamber of deputies ended in a "clipped" victory for Premier Blum.

He won authority to reduce the gold content of money. He lost the free hand he sought to fight price rises and attendant social disturbances.

The senate refused to give him the unbridled decree power he asked. He had to be content with a mandate to issue decrees subject to approval by the national economic council.

Parliament adjourned after the senate accepted a chamber provision for a 50 per cent tax on speculators' profits based on anticipation of devaluation. The lower house had refused to accept the senate's proposal for an 80 per cent tax and it re-passed its original 50 per cent plan, in which the senate finally concurred.

Officials indicated the government will not attempt immediately to fix a definite value for the franc. They will let it find its own level in world exchange values within the limits of 43 to 49 milligrams gold content provided under the devaluation law. This would give it the possibility of fluctuation between the values of 20.15 and 22.96 francs to the dollar.

How to Relieve Catarrhal Deafness Or Head Noises.

If you have catarrh, catarrhal deafness or head noises caused by catarrh, or if phlegm drops in your throat and has caused catarrh of the stomach or bowels, you will be glad to know that these distressing symptoms may be entirely overcome in many instances by the following treatment which you can easily prepare in your own home at little cost. Secure from your druggist a 1 oz. bottle of Parmint (Double Strength). Take this home and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. An improvement is sometimes noted after the first day's treatment. Breathing should become easy, while the distressing head noises, headaches, dullness, cloudy thinking, etc., should gradually disappear under the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell, taste, defective hearing and mucous dropping in the back of the throat are other symptoms which suggest the presence of catarrh and which may often be overcome by this efficacious treatment. If nearly ninety per cent of all ear troubles are caused by catarrh, there must be many people whose hearing may be restored by this simple home treatment.

TRAIL POLICE PROTEST TRAIL PAPER COMMENT

Criticism About the Comfort Station Questioned

TRAIL, B. C., Oct. 1—Trail Daily Times editorial of Wednesday, September 30, entitled "Law and Order," dealing with the padlocking of the Cedar avenue comfort station, and allegedly reflecting on the efficiency of the city police force, came in for scathing denunciation by Commissioners Balfour and Brady at a specially-called session of the police commission at noon Thursday to deal with what Commissioner Brady termed a "piece of impudence" on the part of the editor.

After consideration of every phase of the question Mayor Bruno Lerose, chairman of the police commission, pointed out that if the commissioners did not consider the editorial justified it was their privilege to take whatever steps they considered advisable. He emphasized that the police department had no connection with the operation of the comfort station, which came under the city engineer's department, but at the same time appealed to the force to "work just a little harder" so that complaining citizens would in future have no grounds for criticism. "Work harder," he advised the mayor in conclusion. "Make it tough for all offenders. Satisfy the public."

SAYS EDITORIAL MISLEADING

"Did you read this editorial?" demanded Commissioner Balfour of the meeting after Mayor Lerose had introduced the subject by stating that he understood the meeting had been called to consider certain statements made by the editor of Trail Daily Times. Producing a copy of the issue in which it had appeared and of a previous issues containing a news story account of City Engineer S. S. McDiarmid's report to city council in which he was quoted as advising the council to close the comfort station since hodlum element in the city was "beyond our control entirely," Commissioner Balfour complained bitterly that the editorial was misleading. "The police commission and city police have not been advised that there has been any trouble at the comfort station," he charged. "When the matter was under discussion at the last council meeting there was not a word said about the responsibility of the police or the commission."

"No, certainly not! Not a word! agreed the mayor. We could find no solution so asked Mr. McDiarmid to close the place for the time being, until its importance is more fully realized."

WHAT'S THE IDEA?

"I want to know what idea the editor had in publishing the editorial," challenged Commissioner Brady. "If there was anything wrong at the comfort station why wasn't the police department informed? You can't expect an officer to hang around there all day. I think it's a piece of impudence. He can print what he likes, but on what grounds does he do it?"

"My only objection to the editorial is that it singles out the police department and throws the blame on them," declared Chief of Police John Laurie.

"If you want another policeman to look after the place, we'll put one on," volunteered Commissioner Brady.

"Yes," added the mayor. "The council can hire a watchman; it can't expect to have a policeman there all the time. The comfort station has nothing to do with the police force. They are not expected to watch it. They have more important things to do. Still, I ask the police to pay a little more attention, if they see any disorders there, look into the matter."

"Well, that's the natural thing, anyway," contributed Commissioner Brady.

"Have there been any complaints," asked Chief Laurie. The engineer has never said anything to me; nobody has."

"The engineer has no authority to complain to the police," the mayor pointed out.

"The janitors are responsible to the city engineer, why blame the police?" Commissioner Balfour wanted to know.

"Well you know how it is," conciliated the mayor, "People go to the newspapers to complain, for they are in the news business. These people may know what they are talking about or they may not."

CONSIDER IT UNJUST

"The whole editorial is directed at the police department. I consider it most unjust," said Chief Laurie.

"For myself I didn't care; but the police force has been falsely accused" asserted Commissioner Brady.

"We must work hard, force the people to observe the Canadian Criminal code and civic bylaws," the mayor advised, in reply to Commissioner Balfour's assertion that "there are people in this town trying to discredit the police." "Personally," continued the mayor, "I don't listen to all the people say. I am satisfied with what I do. I work with all my heart for the city, all the time. And so far as I am concerned I am satisfied with the police department. But we can tighten up still further if the people wish."

"The citizens, the people who own this city, we can't be too hard on them," said Chief Laurie. "We can't be making arrests for every little thing."

The mayor agreed that it could be overdone.

FAN INTEREST BOXLA BATTLE AT HIGH PITCH

Record Attendance Is Likely; May Be End Series

With interest at fever pitch, another record attendance figure is anticipated when Nelson and Rossland boxla teams go into the fourth game of the Kootenay final series at the Civic Centre arena tonight.

Rossland now leads the final series two games to one, having won each of the two games played at home, and lost one at Nelson. Forecasts are being freely offered that Nelson will win again tonight and that a fifth and deciding game will be necessary. Venue of the fifth game has not been decided, but fans generally expect it to be scheduled for the Trail rink.

Rossland would take the league title if it won tonight.

A good deal of fan interest in tonight's game is centered about the condition of the players of both teams. There has been considerable criticism of the league executive for scheduling three games in one week, with only a day's rest between them.

Many Nelson fans in conversation with Daily News reporters Thursday expressed the hope that officials in charge of tonight's game would at the outset, check the boys on carrying their sticks high, to minimize the risk of injury to both Rossland and Nelson players.

SHE DREADED GOING UPSTAIRS

Woman's Fear of Rheumatic Pains

One of the many troubles that afflict rheumatic sufferers is the difficulty of getting up and down stairs. Such was the case with this woman, before she started taking Kruschen, but now she finds it no trouble. Read what she says:—

"I have been taking Kruschen now for over 12 months, a half-teaspoonful in hot water first thing in the morning, and I feel a new woman. I had very painful rheumatism in my knees and back and also my head was getting very bad. I used to dread walking upstairs, now I am very thankful to say it is no trouble at all and I scarcely have any pains. I feel beter in health than I have done for years."—(Mrs.) G.M.

Two of the ingredients of Kruschen Salts are notable for their work in dissolving uric acid. Other ingredients of Kruschen assist Nature to expel the dissolved acid from the system. ***

With the well spread tables decorated with autumn foliage, the Sunday school hall of St. Andrew's United church presented a very attractive appearance Tuesday afternoon, the occasion being the annual luncheon of the Women's Friendly Circle. When the tasty viands had disappeared as if by magic, the president, Mrs. Robert Clelland, called the gathering to order, and in a few cordial words extended a welcome to the new minister and his wife, Rev. and Mrs. T. W. Reed. Mrs. Clelland explained that the Friendly Circle had been planned primarily for the younger mothers of the church, so that they might get together once a month for a social hour, bringing the little children with them, and the Circle was filling a big place in the life of the community. Rev. Mr. Reed expressed appreciation of the way in which Mrs. Reed and he had been welcomed to Rossland. He further stated that in all his ministry this was the first time he had come across an organization which had been deliberately planned to care for the needs of the little children together with their mothers. He pledged his best efforts to assist in every way. W. K. Esling, M.P., who was a guest at the luncheon, expressed his pleasure at being present, and thought the aims of the Circle were decidedly worthwhile. A solo by Mrs. Ernest Morris was much enjoyed. The affair concluded with a "white elephant party" which created a lot of fun for youngsters and grownups alike.

Diesel Opportunities

Never before has any field offered such opportunities to the mechanically inclined young man as does the Diesel. Diesel sales have increased several hundred percent during the past three years and Diesel is now fully established as the most economical prime mover in existence. Railroads, Busses, Trucks, Tractors, Utility and Industrial Plants, Marine, Aviation, etc., are all turning to Diesel power.

Naturally, this mammoth industry requires competent mechanics and operators. We have been successfully training men in Diesel for five years and the number of our graduates now established in Diesel work is ample proof of our training methods.

This school is equipped with the largest assembly of Diesel Engines in Canada for training purposes and our training is endorsed by the Diesel industry.

Kingsgate Ladies Hear of Big Fire

KINGSGATE, B.C.,—The Ladies' Study club met at the home of Mrs. Thomson, who acted as hostess.

Mrs. W. E. Hall spoke on the big fire at Cloquet, Minn., in 1918. Mrs. Hall at that time was teaching school there. She gave a most graphic account of how practically the whole of that thriving little community was wiped out in a matter of a few hours.

Mrs. Walters and Mrs. Appel sponsored a "Major Bowes hour" when each member had to speak for two minutes on a given subject. The subjects ranged from "squeaking bed springs" to "toothpicks" and those almost forgotten articles "corset laces". Mrs. J. W. Mauldin was prize winner on a vote for her clever dissertation "noses," the prize being the right to go further into the subject.

MOOSE SEEN

The number of moose seen in this district, where they were not previously known is of keen interest to the hunting fraternity. Several have been reported in the Boundary country on the United States side, and one was shot there recently. A big bull has now appeared on the Canadian side, between Rykerts and Creston. It was seen on the road by Constable Ashby of the R.C.M.P. while on patrol. Constable Ashby thought at first that it was a horse crossing the road and slowed up to let it past. It stood for a moment in the full glare of the headlights and there was no mistaking the wide sweeping horns and ungainly gait as it lurched off into the brush.

It would seem as if there were more hunters coming into Canada this year than before. Hardly a day since the opening of the season has passed without one of more parties bound for the stamping grounds of the deer and duck.

West Arm School Bus Is Proposed

Sleeper Solves Case of Connections With East

Recommendation by the committee on freight, transportation and communications that the department of education be asked to provide a school bus to bring high school pupils to Nelson from Willow Point, Harrop, Procter, Balfour, Queen's Bay, and intermediate points, was endorsed by the board of trade council Thursday, and will be before the full board next week for final action. The committee arrived at its recommendation after conference with H. Fairbank of Harrop, who had raised the matter when a guest at the last meeting of the council.

With respect to the question of better through connections with the east at contacts with the main line, referred to the committee at the instance of W. M. Cunliffe, the committee advised that beginning last Sunday, the Canadian Pacific was providing a through sleeper from Lethbridge to Regina except on Saturdays, and in view of this and other modifications in the timetable it recommended proceeding no further with this matter. In this recommendation also the council concurred.

Regarding the matter of a Nakusp bus service that would give shopping time in Nelson, the committee advised withholding action until further information was available.

Banbury Tarts — Tea or Coffee

"Ride a cock horse to Banbury cross to see a fine lady ride on a white horse," says the nursery song. The Banbury tarts in today's recipes, however, have nothing to do with the Banbury cross, but they are very good nevertheless, and are standbys for dessert in many good families.

Banbury Tarts—One double rule pastry, using two cups flour; one cup raisins, chopped; one-fourth cup sugar, one lemon, juice and grated rind; one egg, beaten; three tablespoons cracker crumbs, one-eighth teaspoon salt. Prepare pastry, cover and put in the refrigerator to chill. Combine remaining ingredients. Cook over hot water until thickened. Roll out pastry, cut in large circles, put a spoonful of the raisin mixture in the center, fold pastry over, prick the tops or cut slots. Bake in a hot oven, 425 degrees, until a golden brown, about 20 minutes. This makes 12 tarts.

When you are expecting guests make a list of the necessary things to be placed in the guest room for their comfort, and check them off to be sure you have everything. Here are some suggestions:

Keep the bed made up fresh, ready to turn down at a moment's notice. It's not usually convenient to have to struggle with clean sheets after your guest has arrived.

Empty dresser drawers and line them with flowered wallpaper. Empty the closet, too, and be sure there are plenty of hangers, shoe bags or racks. If there's time, you might wallpaper the closet and get some new gadgets. They always impress guests.

See that there are the essentials on the dressing table: a new toothbrush in a cellophane package and a guest size tube of tooth paste. A guest size box of powder, rouge, lipstick, cold cream, perfume, facial tissues, powder puffs, straight pins, safety pins, hairpins. Guests are supposed to bring their own, but they're always forgetting something. There should be a good light here, too. Water pitcher and glass for the bedside table. A lamp, a good book or two and a magazine. A desk if possible, but most important—paper, envelopes and stamps, a pen that will write and an ink bottle with ink in it.

A comfortable chair, if possible, should be kept in the guest room, and everything should be crisp and fresh, especially the curtains, with flowers, maybe, in a simple bowl or vase.

Today's GOLDEN RECIPE

OLD-FASHIONED MOLASSES CANDY

½ teaspoonful carbonate of soda, 1 quart Rogers' Golden Syrup. Pour the Golden Syrup into a kettle of at least 4-quart size. Boil over slow fire for half an hour. When a little dropped into water becomes hard and snaps like a pipe-stem, add a half teaspoonful carbonate of soda, free from lumps. Stir quickly and pour on a greased platter to cool. Turn in the edges as they cool. When cool enough to handle, pull on a hook until the candy becomes of a beautiful golden color.

KEEP YOUR EYES ON PALESTINE

With the Spanish revolt still holding the center of international interest the scene will, no doubt, within the next few days center upon Palestine where Wednesday, it was expected, martial law would be enforced within 24 hours by Great Britain. In Palestine Britain is building up a great armed force. At the middle of September there were 11 battalions, two cavalry regiments and a light tank corps. Since that period 12,000 troops have been ordered to the Palestine sector. It seems, at this distance, this is a monster force of men to send to an area no larger than Wales to quell the sharpshooting of a few Arabs working in ambush.

The real fact, says News Review, a London publication, is that Arabs do not worry the British unduly just yet. The dream of a United States of Arabia which lies behind their banditry is still a dream. Far more real is the advance of Italian imperialism, which recently led military pundits to assert that the extra 12,000 men will join the Palestinian forces to lay the foundation of a strong Near Eastern army. Naval and air bases will be firmly established, all in the name of quelling Arab revolt. Then, with Turkey's willing assistance, the eastern end of the Mediterranean could be blocked, while Britain's strong fleet and naval and air bases at Gibraltar could close the other end. By such tactics the Mediterranean would become a lake with no outlet for ambitious Benito Mussolini. The move which succeeded with the German fleet during the war would thus be tried once again.

Supreme command of the British Palestine forces has been passed to Lieutenant-General John Greer Dill.

Burdened with the Near East's biggest job, General Dill was born on Christmas Day, 1881, and so nears his fifty-fifth birthday. Passionately devoted to his profession, he gives it 100 per cent of his energy and is regarded by military men as the best example of the post-war military product, the first "combined" commander bearing the hall-mark of the Imperial Defence college.

The Arab Higher Committee still wavers between its desire to call off the strike and its fear of Fawzi Koukdji's terrorists, who are making elaborate plans for resistance.

Another sign of expansion in the Kootenays is the fact that building permits in the cities of Trail and Nelson, up to the end of September this year, have totalled well over a quarter of a million dollars. Permits issued in Trail total $189,810 and in Nelson $107,599, or a grand total of $297,409.

Andy Paul, manager of the North Shore Indians of North Vancouver, western boxla champions, says there will not be much competition from prairie teams until they change their style of play. Calgary and Winnipeg, he says, play boxla in hockey style. But he continues this style will never be effective.

With Coleman, Alta., rumored to be replacing Kimberley in the Kootenay senior hockey group, some real inter-provincial competition can be expected.

Maple smashing time has arrived in the district.

TIMES CHANGE

The seasons are changing. Yesterday I took particular notice of the mountainsides. They are assuming their fall colors of yellow, red and brown. Down Baker street people were hustling as evening set in declaring the nights were getting colder. There are fewer swimmers taking their daily dip—and many have hung up their bathing suits for the year. Trucks fly by loaded with apples for packing and shipping. Store windows are displaying overcoats and other winter clothing. It won't be long until windows are full of rubbers and winter shoes. Down on the recreation grounds there are signs of changes. Some of the summer diehards are still playing softball. Others athletically inclined are practicing running and jumping for the fall meet. But at the grounds the real sign of fall is the appearance of the rugby football. So as the seasons change so do the habits of the people of Nelson, which are synonymous with conditions elsewhere in the district.

OTHER SIGNS

Other signs of fall—people looking at heating stoves—others having their chimneys swept in anticipation of colder weather — snow plows being overhauled—improvements being made at the Civic Centre rink—last winter's hockey sweaters taking the place of softball sweaters—boats being hoisted out of the water down among the boathouses—the disappearance of a lot of vegetables we have been in the habit of using through the past few months—garden flowers being dug or transplanted—and there are many more—figure them out for yourselves.

FOR GOLFERS ONLY

In the New York Sun in a column conducted by H. I. Phillips I came across the following:

SHUDDER SONG

("Stymie Rule May Be Killed."—Headline.)

Pestilence and civil wars,
Floods and earthquakes are a curse;
Cyclones are an awful bore—
But I think a stymie's worse!

All adversity is tough,
Midnight detours me appal;
I hate icebergs quite enough,
But a stymie beats 'em all!

Haunted houses make me cry,
I hate chills and fevers hot;
Germs quite deadly make me fly,
But a stymie tops the lot!

Ihate Greek and Higher Math;
Ghosts will shake me, head to toes;
I dislike an ice-cold bath—
But a stymie's worse than those.

Smallpox is an awful blight,
Jungle fever's bad they say,
But I'll get a greater fright
From a stymie any day!

Fire scares me to the heels;
I hate dreams that I'm unclad;
I detest all Chinese meals,
But a stymie's twice as bad.

Pythons in my path . . . Oh, gee!
Make me shiver, drive me mad;
Avalanches frighten me,
But a stymie's worse, egad!

Lethal poisons I detest,
Lions fill me full of fear;
I hate scorpions at best,
But a stymie! . . . Omidear!

Cops or felons in my path,
Blizzards, storms and like of that
Stir me to the fiercest wrath . . .
But a stymie! Quick! My gat!

• • •

Listen, Alf, and listen, Frank:
To you both I'll give the air
'Til you come out with a plank
Killing stymies as unfair.

TODAY'S HUMOR

The padre, who had not been feeling well, called in his friend the doctor. The latter vetted him thoroughly, and then said: "Well, old chap, your lungs are not in good shape. You'll have to spend six months in Switzerland."

"But I can't afford the time."

"Well, that's up to you. It's either Switzerland or heaven."

The padre thought for a long time, and then growled: "Oh, all right then—"

THE DOCTOR SAYS

LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

ESSENTIAL HYGIENE OF THE MOUTH

The hygiene of the mouth includes not only the health of the teeth, but also the gums, tongue, salivary glands and tonsils. The tongue and salivary glands should be omitted, because there is no procedure that can be carried out to keep them healthy; although they may contribute to the general contamination of a mouth cavity and add to the unfortunate condition of bad health, they respond only to the general measures of cleanliness advocated below. The tongue, especially after the age of 50, should be watched for any open spot or denudation of the mucous membrane.

The other structures suffer from two handicaps which determine all their many troubles—first, from youth to age the teeth, gums and tonsils tend to degenerate and atrophy; second, they are constantly exposed to infection.

The atrophy the dentist has to fight all our lives. We can help prevent it by using a good protective diet—with milk, eggs, green vegetables and fruits—but that is a subject we will discuss at greater length tomorrow.

These infections work in various ways. They are introduced by the food, in the air which is constantly going in and out of our mouths, by the many things that both infants and adults put into their mouths. They are augmented by nests of food particles which get between the teeth and act as culture media for germs.

They are also augmented by the tendency of the gums in some mouths to recede from the teeth and make a pocket for germs, aspecially those called "Vincent's organisms," or trench mouth. These organisms are present in all mouths, but do no harm until they begin to attack the receding gum margins, where they create a spongy condition which bleeds easily, and is evidenced by a blood-tinged accumulation of debris in the morning. Eventually this leads to pyorrhea, which is more destructive to teeth than dental decay itself.

QUESTION OF CLEANLINESS

The question of cleanliness, then, is paramount in mouth hygiene. Absolute cleanliness in the bacteriological sense of sterility is impossible, and the incessant use of mouthwashes and antiseptics may do more harm than good. But the removal of food particles and of debris in general around the gum margins and between the teeth will bring about a large measure of order, and as a useful by-product the manipulations will toughen the gums.

This brings us to the ancient habit of tooth brushing and its proper technique. If the brush is to remove all dirt and food debris the bristles must penetrate into the spaces between the teeth. The tooth brush is generally considered by authorities the best instrument for cleaning—better than toothpicks or dental floss.

The tooth brush should have widely spaced bristles trimmed so each group comes to an apex. The brush should be placed so that it rests entirely on the teeth—not on the teeth and gum tissue. Pressure is then made so the bristles will slide off the prominent parts of the teeth and penetrate into the spaces between them.

A softer brush can be used on gums and gum margins.

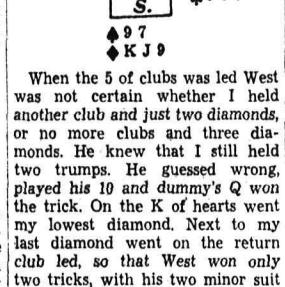
CONTRACT BRIDGE

By E. V. SHEPARD

"Teacher of Teachers"

PRE-EMPTION PROVED BEST

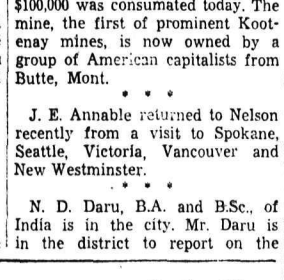
In the long run probable ability to win within two tricks of game, in case little defensive or supporting strength is held, call for opening game bids. South held such a hand on the deal shown, with South the dealer. The deal came in the second session of play for the Sir Derrick J. Wernher trophy, open only to members of the Knickerbocker Whist club, with 16 pairs contesting.



I happened to be one of two players sitting South who made opening bids of 4-Spades and tied for top score, by making one trick over his contract. Two South bidders of 3-Spades, left at that call, tied for bottom score. The remaining players bid and made just 4-odd, losing to the adversely held Aces.

West, who had hesitated whether or not to double my 4-Spades, had a tough opening lead to make. Finally he led his lowest trumps. There followed three rounds of winning spades. I led my only heart. West played low. Dummy's Q won. Had I led back a diamond I must have lost three tricks at once, besides a club trick, and that would have defeated the contract. Instead a low heart was led and ruffed.

The 7 of clubs was led. Again West hesitated, then played low. Dummy's J took the trick. At the seventh trick dummy's 10 of hearts was led back and ruffed. West's Ace fell, leaving the good K in dummy. My last club was led at the eighth trick. The six cards left in the three remaining hands were as shown.



When the 5 of clubs was led West was not certain whether I held another club and just two diamonds, or no more clubs and three diamonds. He knew that I still held two trumps. He guessed wrong, played his 10 and dummy's Q won the trick. On the K of hearts went my lowest diamond. Next to my last diamond went on the return club led, so that West won only two tricks, with his two minor suit Aces. To save a trick West could have won with his Ace of clubs, then led back his Q of diamonds, giving me a trick in that suit but winning two for himself. I took desperate measures to try for five-odd. Squeezing West would have won only four-odd.

Love isn't Important

CHAPTER 43

One of Gay's compensations for living in the girmy flat on Erskine street, was the comparative nearness of the Fisher Tower. To her it was always a thing of beauty. In daylight, a friendly mass of gray stone, gold-topped against the sky. At night, a glowing mother-of-pearl campanile reaching to the stars. Especially in the blur of rain, it had for her the quality of indescribable mystery.

Sometimes, late on her free afternoons—more often, since her last quarrel with Wayne—she walked toward the boulevard for a sight of the tower in the amethystine colors of the sunset. The solidity of the tower seemed to lend her strength, like the clasp of a friendly hand. Now that everything between her and Wayne was so irrevocably over, she often felt she needed to borrow strength.

So, on a hot evening in late August, Gay rode on a bus up John R. street, to hold a rendezvous with the tower, in the brief and magic moments of the sun's after-glow. The sky still held the delicate hues of a flower; palest yellows, mauves, faint greens.

Dismounting at an opposite corner, she stood and gazed, motionless, while the feeling of loneliness that often overwhelms one in the midst of a crowd, suddenly pressed down upon her. All around, the swirl of people talking, laughing, elbowing each other; lines of cars streaming past in all directions. Everyone busy and pre-occupied, ignoring her completely.

Detroit had been a wilderness, Gay was thinking, since that night when she had almost "thrown her bonnet over the windmill," and had left Wayne's apartment, determined never to enter it again.

The weight of unhappiness and loneliness that had settled upon her, then, had been deepened both by the departure of Marian Wilson for a month's visit to her father, a doctor in a small Vermont village, and the steaming away of Tim Keenan's yacht ,the Rankeela, with Dr. Wilson, Christian Scott, Breck, Charlie Pennell and Wayne aboard.

Gay knew that all the men had accepted with alacrity Tim's cabled offer of the use of his yacht for a six weeks' fishing trip. All except Wayne. He had refused at first, because of the vitally important work on his experimental motor; but Dr. Wilson as his physician had overruled and fairly shanghaied him.

So the Pontchartrain club had seemed to Gay a painful void, in the absence of those members who had played such an important part in her life since that memorable Wilson dinner.

There was one bright spot in her monotonous days: a weekly box of flowers, with Christian Scott's compliments. Gay realized the significance of those frequent reminders of Christian's devotion. To be sure, he had not formally proposed as yet, but she felt serenely confident that he would, when he returned to Detroit. And the complete break with Wayne had crystallized her determination to become Mrs. Christian Scott.

As the days wore along, she had tried desperately to forget Wayne. She told herself that she had been swept off her feet by his striking good looks and the tender restraint of his love-making. But it was the worst kind of foolishness to carry about within her, a wounded aching place instead of a heart, all because a man who had deliberately warned her he was a permanent bachelor.

She frowned impatiently at herself, as she gazed up at the sunset colors that flamed about the golden tower. Why must she love Wayne in this helpless, idiotic way? Ridiculous to give him another thought! Probably it was only because she was bored, and life seemed uninteresting, that her mind kept turning to him all the time. But when Christian got back to town—

A disreputable coupe swerved suddenly to the curb close beside her, a man leaped out, an excited voice cried, "Hello there, Gay!" and she found herself shaking hands with Mark Vance, and repeating happily, "I'm so glad to see you!"

He had seated her in the battered coupe, and was heading south again, before she could realize what had happened.

"You're the very girl I'm looking for,' 'he was saying, with unusual eagerness. "It came to me all of a sudden, playing backgammon — heaven forgive me—with some of Charlotte's swanky friends at Bar Harbor. Why not dash back to Detroit, work like the devil finishing up some things I started last winter, do a portrait of you, and give an exhibition early this fall!"

"A portrait of me? How too divine!" Gay sat back against the worn leather cushions, in deep content. She'd always liked Mark; found him a truly delightful person, critical but kindly. Detroit wasn't such a half-bad place, after all. It would be fun posing again for Mark.

His laugh cut off her thoughts. "How do you like my limousine? I picked it up for a few dollars. Charlotte almost forced her Cadillac down my throat. But I'm through letting her fill in the gaps from her own cheque book. Lord knows, there have been plenty of black financial gaps during our ..arried life. Whata wife she's been! But that's neither here nor there, is it Gay?" He looked at her with the familiar grimace of his ugly, fascinating face that she remembered so well. "Tell me about yourself, pretty one, and your gay adventures!"

She told him the little there was to tell.

He hardly listened, he was so intent on himself and the idea of an exhibition.

"You'll have to work hard too, Gay—"

"I'll like that. There's been nothing to do, lately, and no one to do it with. I told you, everyone's out of town. Jean and I are seldom off duty together ,and besides, she's got a new boy friend—" Gay's shrug was expressive.

"This won't be fun. It'll mean slaving early and late, sometimes all night. Posing for a portrait is no joke. The time's so bloomin' short. Are you game? But I know you are. You worked like a good soldier for those 'Metropolis' illustrations.

"While I think of it—have you seen the copy of the Vivien Bennett story? Illustrations reproduced pretty well, didn't they?"

Gay nodded. "I liked them. It seemed funny to see my own face smiling out of the pages of a magazine!"

"I'm warning you, that job wasn't one-two-three beside this portrait. Doing anything tonight? Fine! I'll run you over to your flat. Get that blue dress you wore at Ad's party—that's what I want to paint you in—and we'll dive off the deep end right away. I'm always restless as the devil when a fresh idea hits me."

When Gay ran down the front steps of her apartment house, suitcase in hand, she saw Mark pacing to and fro on the sidewalk with nervous impatience. While they drove to the studio he talked incessantly, in jerky outbursts, of the illness and recovery of Charlotte's mother; of his own dull-as-ditch-water month among rich idlers; of his sudden grim resolve to paint a name for himself in Detroit.

But when Gay was sitting in a high-backed chair on the model's platform, a Chinese wall-hanging of deep blue behind her, he was deeply silent, or gave directions in curt monosyllables.

He worked on and on, and Gay, tired in every muscle, realized he had no idea of time. When she thought she would scream if she had to hold the pose a moment longer, he announced: "That'll be all for tonight. Change your dress and I'll run you home.

When she sat for him the next evening, his unshaven face and haggard appearance made her wonder whether he had stopped to eat or sleep. By the end of the week he looked ghastly.

"You won't be inviting Detroit to an exhibition, Mark," she told him during a rest period. "It will be to your funeral!" She laughed, but her voice had an undertone of earnestness.

Brush in hand, he stood back, studying the unfinished portrait intently. "Eh, what? I seem to be deaf, dumb and blind to everything but this blasted picture. Why, in heaven's name, aren't there more hours in the days and nights—"

"Hasn't it ever occurred to you, Mark, you need sleep once in a while? And your beard—"

He darted her an amazed look. "Beard?" He rubbed his chin, then shouted with laughter. "Bet I look like the wild man from Borneo. You're right, Gay. I do need a shave, and sleep, and food. Usually Charlotte looks after me. . . . But this thing has got me—or rather, I haven't got it. You seem to have a dozen different personalities, and when I decide I've collected them at last, I find some new quality—an odd expression in your eyes—a wistfulness around your mouth—"

He drew an angry breath, gazed at the canvas with narrowed eyes, then twisted his face in that amused grimace. "One more hour, then we'll quit for tonight. What say we celebrate like a regular working gal and her boy friend. Are you up to it? Eat in some cheap but clean joint, and ride around Belle Isle for excitment!"

"Simply too lovely!" Gay agreed. "And a swim, to make it a real party!"

It was well along to 10 o'clock when Mark called a halt on work, and drove Gay to her flat for her bathing suit.

Surprised, she found a letter for "Miss Gay Elwell," in the mail box she shared with Jean. She didn't get many letters. Irregularly, Aunt Sophie wrote, or some school friend. But this queer, old-fashioned handwriting! Who in the world—

Gay ripped open the envelope. She'd only skim through the letter; Mark detested waiting.

Blown by the winds of many emotions, gratified vanity, humility, a genuine feeling of friendliness and respect for Christian Scott, Gay read his formal proposal of marriage. It was written aboard the Rankeela and posted somewhere in eastern Canada.

Expect Better Weather for World Series Today; Roosevelt Is to Attend

Rain, Blocked Drains Cause Postponement of Series Game First Time in Eight Years; Odds Still 4-5, "Take Your Pick"

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Oct. 1 (AP).—The combination of two days of increasingly heavy rain and an unusually high tide, blocking the drainage facilities of the near sea-level diamond at the Polo grounds, brought a postponement today of the second game of the world series.

President Roosevelt will view the game at the Polo grounds tomorrow, instead of the third contest at the Yankee stadium, as he originally had planned. It was the first postponement of a world series game in eight years.

The delay appeared to fortify the pitching advantage already gained by the Giants as a result of Carl Hubbell's masterful triumph over the Yankees in the mud and rain of yesterday's opening game.

Three hours before today's scheduled starting time for the second game, Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis poked his walking stick into the soggy surface of the Polo grounds, examined mud that was fetlock-deep around the basepaths, and agreed with rival managers that the grounds were in no condition for play.

With prospects of better and much warmer weather for the rest of the week, the warring clans hope to resume the battle tomorrow under vastly improved conditions.

President Roosevelt will arrive in New York in time for luncheon tomorrow and motor to the ball park around 1 o'clock, a half-hour before game-time.

Today's postponement, while generally considered to strengthen the Giants' position, caused no change in the betting odds. Jack Doyle, Broadway commissioner, said it was still "4 to 5 and take your pick," for the series.

Redskins All Set for Orillia

Hope to Be the First All-Indian Team to Take Title

TORONTO, Oct. 1 (CP).—The Indians played lacrosse first, Andy Paull of the Squamish tribe conceded today in a swift survey of Mann cup history, and after all these years the Indians are ready to win a Canadian championship. Strange as it seems, no team composed entirely of Redskins ever achieved supremacy in the amateur field.

The chunky Paull, coach of Vancouver's North Shore Indians, western champions, figures his band has a good chance to upset Orillia Terriers here tomorrow night in the first game of intersection finals, and go on to win the best-of-five series.

Himself a full-blooded Indian—and a hereditary chief at that—Paull brought his tribesmen into town today, held council, and then staged a practice on the concrete floor of Maple Leaf Gardens for a full hour.

The 15 braves believe they will be able to show more speed than they have all season—and that's plenty.

Nelson's Veteran Oarsman Celebrates His 71st Anniversary With a Long Pull up Lake

Shortly after this picture of T. D. "Deb" DesBrisay was taken, the Nelson Rowing club coach was away for another workout on the West Arm waters. This day, Monday, Sept. 28, assumed particular import, however, as the veteran's coach's 71st birthday anniversary and he celebrated with a six-mile pull in the double sculls boat with Art Gibbon in bow seat. Several weeks ago, "Deb" tested his condition by bringing the shell single from Willow Point wharf without stopping for a breather.

DERBY MAY ADD TO LEAD

LONDON, Oct. 1 (CP Cable)—Derby County has a good opportunity this week to consolidate its position at the top of the English football league. The Midlanders have the advantage of a home game while two of its three rivals play on "foreign" soil.

Brentford, holder of seventh place in the league table visits Derby, but the pace-setting squad is at the top of its form and should capture both points. In second place with 10 points, one behind the county, are Everton, Portsmouth and Stoke City. Everton will provide an upset if it lowers the colors of Sunderland, last season's champion team and Portsmouth is in for a tight game against Chelsea at Stamford Bridge. Stoke City entertains Manchester City but is by no means sure of victory.

Double Bill for Sunday Softball

Girls' Series Goes On; Trail Men's Team Likely

Officials of the Gelinas Red Sox and Toronto Star girls softball clubs announced Thursday evening the second game of the Nelson girls softball finals would be played Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

The girl's game will be preceded by a men's game, probaably featuring Tonelli's Aces of Trail against a pickup Nelson team.

Last Sunday the Red Sox furnished their second surprise in as many weeks when they nosed out the Toronto Star club 13-12 in a 10-inning thriller in the first game of a three game final series, and local fans are looking forward to seeing these two evenly matched teams in action again, and many hope to see the Stars tie up the series if for no other reason than it will force a third game.

TWO STRONG TEAMS

The Red Sox will be at full strength, fielding the same team that they had during the entire league season, while the Toronto Star team will have several regulars missing, but will be stronger than in the last two games against the Red Sox. Pat Leask, although still having her injured finger in splints, stated Thursday evening that she will have the splints removed before Sunday, and will definitely start in Sunday's game. Officials of the club confirmed the statement that Pat will play Sunday, although it is unlikely that she will start behind the plate, and as she has displayed a rare ability in her few appearances that has made fans predict a great future for her, the Stars chances of tying up the series Sunday will be much stronger. Pat attended a practice Wednesday, but will do no more practicing before Sunday's game.

In practice Thursday evening, Hazel Spiers again displayed her burning fast ball that but for rare occasions was missing last Sunday, and if she shows the same speed, hits will likely be fewer.

In their last two games, the Red Sox have displayed some of the greatest fielding ever seen on the local diamond, and although some fans have declared that the breaks of the game had considerable to do with the result of the last two games, if the Red Sox continue to display the same form, the Toronto Star club will have a hard fight on their hands to tie up the series, despite the acknowledged stronger battery strength.

SCOTTISH LEAD NOT IN DANGER

GLASGOW, Oct. 1 (CP Cable)—Leadership in the Scottish football league will be in no danger as clubs in the circuit go into Saturday's games. The pace-setting Aberdeen eleven jumpel into a clear three-point lead over Rangers during the week with a 2-1 victory over Queen's Park after a tight game.

The Dons, however, are in danger of losing their unbeaten record when they meet last year's champions, Celtic, at Parkhead. It will be the Celts' third hard game in eight days. Last Saturday they blanked Hearts 1-0 and during the week lost a close 2-1 decision to Rangers in the Glasgow City cup competition. Aberdeen will also be playing its third game since last Saturday.

Sowerby Shares in Game Bag

One of a party of four travelling to the Windermere-Golden district for early-season hunting, Tom Sowerby of Nelson shared in a bag of eight geese, two dozen ducks and a number of fine fish. The party included his father, T. L. Sowerby of Wasa, near Cranbrook, H. Donald of Longbeach and C. M. Edwards of Canal Flats.

"It's a great country," Tom said Thursday, "but you've got to know where to go. There are hundreds of sloughs and they all look alike, but some of them are good while others are decidedly not."

Flight shooting provided their chief sport.

Students of High to Compete, Track

High school track meet will be held a week today, October 9, with competition between Nelson High students featured.

Efforts were made to obtain another afternoon next week to avoid clashing with the Trail indoor track meet, but the big-league ball game scheduled for Wednesday next, or Thursday if the weather should not be suitable Wednesday, left only Friday for the school.

Bus Haugh, quarter back with the Vancouver Athletic club team, is also a softball player and the Softball association has been outlawed by the Athletic Union.

The Varsity team has been warned that if they play against Haugh in the Big Four they will automatically be banned from taking part in track and field meets held under sanction of the A.A.U. of C.

FINE BATTERY KOOTENAY NINE COMING BATTLE

Vernon Kennedy Will Pitch, Sewell Catch

Vernon Kennedy, who will pitch for the Kootenay all-stars against Earl Mack's big-time ball team at Nelson next week, has one of the greatest records of any young pitcher in base ball. He was highly instrumental in assisting the Chicago White Sox in their climb to second place in the American league.

Kennedy is, comparatively speaking, the leader of the American league in pitching, considering the difference in the percentages of the Yankees and the White Sox, according to the boys who figure those things. He is exceptionally fast, a good hitter, and in general a fine all-round athlete. He won the decathlon trials for the American Olympic team eight years ago but failed to compete in the Olympics.

Luke Sewell, who will be his battery mate, went directly from the University of Alabama, where he played football, to baseball's big time. He never displayed his wares in the minors.

Sewell is the veteran active catcher of eight of the big leagues, this having been his sixteenth successive year. He has played with Cleveland, Washington and the White Sox. During most of these years he caught over 100 games, including this year. He is considered one of the grainiest catchers in baseball, and has been another major factor in the climb of the White Sox.

Only three bases were stolen off Sewell this year, a remarkable record. While his hitting average is not as high as some of the other players, he has been walked many times to get a player of a much higher average.

A. H. GRACEY OF EARLY DAY HERE DIES IN SOUTH

Engineer for Many Kootenay Gold Operations

HAD ATHABASCA SOUTH OF CITY

At Later Period His Interests Were in South

An early day mining engineer once of great prominence in this district, A. H. Gracey, for many years a resident of Nelson, died on Monday at Markleville, Calif., after an illness of three years, according to word received in Nelson Thursday. The funeral takes place at Markleville.

Mr. Gracey was a native of Ontario, and according to the recollection of oldtimers, first came to this district about 1902, being then identified with the Eva gold property at Cambourne, now embraced in the Meridian.

SHEEP CREEK OPERATION

He was active in the Sheep Creek camp at another period, operating the Motherlode property prior to its taking over by the late John McMartin of Cobalt fame. Later he was also interested in the Nugget, then a prospect, now included, with the Motherlode, in the Reno holdings.

His principal association with Nelson was in connection with the Athabasca and the Juno properties, overlooking Nelson, which were under his operation for a number of years preceding the war. When the Athabasca closed down before the war, his principal interests were in the south.

Mrs. Gracey, who also was from Ontario, and one daughter, Nancy, now married and living in England, survive him.

Religion Faces Sheer Paganism States Webber

Lord's Day Alliance Speaker Heard in Nelson

Describing the religious warfare of today as between religion as a whole and sheer paganism, Rev. George Webber, secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance for western Canada, spoke in the First Presbyterian church parlors Thursday evening to an audience representing various congregations. Rev. James M. Ritchie, Presbyterian pastor, was chairman, welcoming the congregation, and introducing the speaker.

Mr. Webber told of the difficulty and opposition experienced by the members of the Christian church in the spreading of religion in these days of confusion and intellectual and scientific advance. "The conflict in the world today is not like that in the earlier days of Christian advance, between different classes of religion, but between religion as a whole and sheer paganism", he stated. "More and more," he went on, "the youth of the world are drifting away from the church into a state of semi-atheism."

He was convinced that a person's attitude towards Sunday was coordinate with his attitude towards spiritual things, and a person who did not keep Sunday as a day of rest, and firms that operated on the Sabbath when there is no need to, were in his opinion, anti-Christian.

"The church is directly challenged by Communism and other nearly pagan organizations," he told his listeners, "and unless every true Christian tries by word and influence to win back those who had strayed from the church, and to combat all organizations that are in any way anti-Christian, their descendants will forever suffer for their neglect."

He concluded his address with a plea to his audience for its help in combating these anti-Christian movements.

October Ushers Autumn Colors

October's first day was marked by warm, clear weather in Nelson. Although not as warm as the same day last year, when the temperature was recorded at a high of 76, the day was comfortably warm and the mercury rose to a maximum temperature of 61 degrees. With the lowering temperatures comes the first real signs of fall—leaves are noticed to be changing color, and the pines and firs are already beginning to lay their protecting blanket of needles on the ground.

THANKS RAIN ON BOARD OF TRADE NELSON

Premier, Britisher, Seminar Party All Write

Thanks of Premier Pattullo, of a member of the British inspectional tour party, and of the Student Christian Movement, for courtesies extended by the Nelson board of trade were read to the council of the board Thursday. In the case of the Student Christian Movement, repitition next year of the seminar at Kootenay was indicated, subject to consent of the camp authorities.

The premier wrote:

"I want to thank you and the members of the board of trade for the courtesy extended to me at Nelson. I enjoyed my visit to the southern interior very much."

M. I. Ritchie, the British tourist, wrote from Toronto to President W. B. Bamford:

"Before leaving Canada I wish on behalf of my niece, Miss Mackenzie, and myself, to thank the Nelson board of trade for its wonderful hospitality to us during our visit with the British Columbia inspectional tour. We shall do all we can to further the interests of British Columbia at home."

Writing from Toronto, Beverly L. Oaten, general secretary of the Student Christian Movement, said:

SEMINAR VOTES REPEAT

"It is a pleasure to assure you that the western seminar of the Student Christian Movement of Canada, held at Koolaree in August, voted unanimously to return to this camp site next year, provided a suitable arrangement can be made with the religious education council.

"Our group were delighted with the country-side, and with the many acts of courtesy extended to our seminar by the people of the district. They were grateful also for the souvenir booklets which you presented to them, and I am confident that their total impressions of the Kootenays will result in favorable publicity to the area throughout the colleges and communities of western Canada and the adjacent States.

"Permit me to personally thank you for the reception which was accorded our group on the conference grounds, and to express the hope that you may continue to find ways and means of assisting in maintaining these excellent facilities for the young people of your district and for our seminar."

No Truth Rumor Kimberley Will Play Kootenays

Financial Suicide to Get Together Team Is Opinion

TRAIL, B.C., Oct. 1.—Rumor recently circulating in the city that Kimberley would muster another hockey team besides the Allan cup winners and enter the West Kootenay Hockey league was shattered on the return of P. F. McIntyre, president of the Trail hockey club, who has been visiting in the mining city.

Mr. McIntyre stated he talked with members of the Kimberley hockey club executive and was told that to even think of such a venture would mean financial suicide as they considered it an utter impossibility to get together an entirely new team of calibre that could provide competition in the loop.

"Unless the Kimberley executive changes their minds, I am quite sure they will not enter a team in the league," Mr. McIntyre concluded.

Franc 4.76 cents.
Italy 7.80 cents.

NEW HIGH MARKS AT MONTREAL

MONTREAL, Oct. 1 (CP).—Bursts of selling shook the stock market today but there still was enough buying power to send selected issues to new highs. Volume decreased.

Foundation jumped 3½ to 23 while Building Products, Gypsum Lime and Dominion Bridge ruled steady to a bit higher.

National Steel Car lost all but a point to 20¾ while Canadian Car Common and C.P.R. declined narrowly.

Distillers-Seagrams slipped more than a point to 23½. Other liquors held steady. Shawinigan gained a point to 22½ and Lake of the Woods 1⅜. Papers generally were quiet.

NEW YORK GAINS

NEW YORK, Oct. 1 (AP)—Buyers ignored the usual stock market favorites today and roamed through the list picking up a wide assortment of industrial specialties and some merchandise, farm implement and rail equipment shares.

Transactions dropped to 1,107,170 shares from 1,356,125 the day before. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was one-tenth of a point higher at 67.7. Thus the narrow range it settled into after a spurt last Saturday on the franc devaluation move was prolonged.

WINNIPEG GAINS

WINNIPEG, Oct. 1 (CP).—Heavy deliveries of wheat against maturing October contracts failed today to halt a quiet advance in futures prices on the Winnipeg grain exchange.

Net gains of ⅞—⅞ cent were registered, October closing at $1.07⅝, November $1.07¾, December $1.05⅞ and May $1.07⅞.

Wheat delivered against the October future totalled 9,492,000 bushels, made up of No. 1 northern and No. 1 Garnet grades. The deliveries were heavier than expected.

Export sales of more than 500,000 bushels of Canadian wheat proved sufficient to take care of the light selling that filtered into the pit and hold prices at levels above the previous close throughout the session.
