FEAR BAD WEATHER FOR THE CROWNING

Courtesy and Tradition Demand That Flags Be Properly Flown

Union Jack Surrounded by Tradition and Steeped in Honor; Commands Respect and Admiration

Flying a flag isn't just a matter of tying it to a rope or tacking it to a flagpole, particularly if the flag happens to be the Union Jack. Surrounded with tradition and steeped in the richest brews of honor, the Union Jack is a standard that commands the respect of everyone and everything British; and demands and receives the respect and admiration of everyone and everything non-British.

Courtesy and tradition compel that the Union Jack be flown properly. The booklet "Our Flag," by Charles P. Band and Emilie L. Stovel, in which the composition of the flag and the proper methods of employing it are detailed, contains the following as to its use; and it is of extreme interest at this coronation time:

"In street decoration when the Union Jack and other flags are displayed together on one line stretched from one building to another opposite, the Union Jack should fly to the north on streets running east and west, and to the east on streets running north and south.

"When flags are displayed in churches the Union Jack should always be placed on the right of the congregation.

"The flag should never be used as a covering for a table, chair, lounge, balcony railing, or in any position where anything can be placed on it, except when used as an altar covering, the Bible only to rest upon it.

"When the flag is used for decorative purposes, use bunting or cloth for draping, but not the flag. It may, however, be used by being caught up in some artistic way forming a central or distinctive feature by itself in connection with bunting or colored cloth.

"The flag should never be used as part of a costume.

"If flags, other than the Union Jack, are carried by any marching organizations, the Jack should be placed at the right of all others."

NOTICES ORDER DOUKHOBORS TO LEAVE DISTRICT

"30 Days" Are Given by Anonymous Signs at Castlegar

Signs have been posted on Doukhobor premises in the Castlegar area reading: "All Doukhobors must be out of Kootenays within 30 days", and "BEWARE". Who was responsible provincial police did not know yesterday, and while they were not inclined to dismiss the notices as a practical joke, they did not believe them to be the work of responsible persons. The notices are anonymous.

The signs were brought to the attention of police when a Doukhobor tore down one of them and took it to Constable Lawrence Smith at Castlegar.

Some significance is attached to the "30 days" mentioned in the notices, for the thirtieth day after their posting is June 8, the day set for the hearing of the appeal of Peter Verigin, Doukhobor leader, from a vagrancy conviction on which he was sentenced to serve three months in jail and to pay a fine of $50.

While anti-Doukhobor feeling in the district is less severe, it is still in evidence. In the Castlegar area, residents say, Doukhobors are seldom seen out at night. Similiarly in the Slocan valley, while feeling is not as hostile, it is still bitter.

MRS. NORTON TO BE YEAR IN JAIL

LOS ANGELES, May 10 (AP).—Mrs. Violet Wells Norton of Winnipeg, who claimed Clark Gable, film star, was the father of her illegitimate child, was sentenced today to serve one year in jail.

She was convicted of mail fraud.

Federal Judge George Cosgrave directed federal immigration authorities take charge of Mrs. Norton's case after she is released. She is an Englishwoman. Assistant United States District Attorney Jack Powell said she probably would be deported to Canada when she had served her term.

The government charged Mrs. Norton wrote letters to Gable, Mae West and other movie colony figures, asserting Gable was the father of her 13-year-old daughter, Gwendoline.

Charge "Spy Ring" Operating in U. S. on Behalf of the Spanish Insurgents

ONCE OFFICIALS OF THE SPANISH EMBASSY NAMED

Franco's Men Press Ring Tighter on Bilbao

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP).—Senate and house heard charges today that a "spy ring" is operating in the United States in behalf of the Spanish insurgents.

Senator Nye (R—ND) and Representative Bernard (FL—Minn) both named former Ambassador Juan Francisco de Cardenas and other one-time officials of the Spanish embassy as involved.

Nye told reporters he would introduce a resolution for a senatorial inquiry into "all subversive influences."

The chairman of the old munitions investigation committee expressed belief that "strong sentiment" existed for such an inquiry.

PROBE BOARD SEES MOVIES OF ZEP BLAST

Witness Suggests the Cause Was Within Giant Ship

LAKEHURST, N.J. May 10 (AP)—The Hindenburg's flaming dive to destruction was described graphically to a United States commerce department investigating board today by two expert eye-witnesses, but neither was able to offer a conclusion as to the mysterious cause of the dirigible disaster which claimed 35 lives.

One of the witnesses, Comdr. Charles E. Roesndahl, leading American lighter-than-air authority, intimated strongly, however, that in his opinion natural causes, such as static electricity or lightning, were not responsible and the secret of the disaster lay within the great ship.

William F. von Meister, executive vice-president of the American Zeppelin Transport Company, agent here for the German operating firm, confined his testimony to what he observed when flames suddenly engulfed the ship with a safe landing seconds away.

Von Meinster's witness stand account of beholding a "very strong light in the upper fin" before he saw any flames excited considerable speculation at first that the light might have been a reflection from a hydrogen fire already raging within the hull before any signs of it appeared on the envelope.

He explained later, however, that he meant the light was visible on the overcast sky at the fin and was probably due to flames on the top of the envelope which he could not see from his position on the ground.

Rosendahl definitely placed the outbreak of the hydrogen fire on the upper aft surface of the 800-foot-long silver envelope.

After hearing th (two witnesses, the three-man investigating board and its staff of technical advisors inspected the heavily-guarded wreckage of the Hindenburg, then studied the moving pictures and adjourned until Wednesday.

PREMIER KING TO BE ROYAL GUEST

LONDON, May 10 (CP cable).—During the present week, it was announced today, Prime Minister Mackenzie King of Canada will be a royal guest at his West End hotel.

The royal hospitality will last until Sunday.

Visiting foreign princes, the dominion prime ministers and some of the foreign statesmen attending the coronation are guests of Their Majesties, but as accommodation is limited at Buckingham palace, space has been reserved at prominent West End hotels for a number of delegates.

Tweedsmuir and Lapointe Become Privy Councillors

Are Only Canadians in the King's Coronation Honors List; Duke of Kent Also Now a Member of the Privy Council

OTTAWA, May 10 (CP).—Appointment to the Imperial privy council of Lord Tweedsmuir, governor general of Canada, and Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Dominion minister of justice, provided the only awards in the King's coronation honors list of particular interest to Canada.

This is in keeping with the policy of the Liberal government which has been against the award of titles to Canadians, a practice adopted nearly 20 years ago. Titles were revived briefly while Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett was prime minister.

Tweedsmuir

Lapointe

Mr. Lapointe joins the long list of distinguished Canadians summoned to what is officially designated "His Majesty's most honorable privy council." It carried with it the title of "right honorable" during the life of the recipient.

Summons to the Imperial privy council has long been a natural attribute to the office of prime minister of Canada and is extended also to distinguished jurists and those whose services to the Dominion or Empire has been outstanding.

Customarily the prime minister of Canada is made a member of the Imperial privy council on the occasion of his first visit to London after attaining office although this is not always the case. Sir Robert Borden was summoned in February, 1912, but was not sworn in until July of that year.

In Canada every minister of the crown of every succeeding government is made a member of the King's privy council for the Dominion as distinguished from the Imperial privy council, and he remains a member for life with the title of "honorable." Thus there are now over 100 members of this body living.

OCEAN FLIERS ARRIVE LONDON

CROYDON AIRDROME, England, May 10 (AP).—Dick Merrill and Jack Lambie, flying the Atlantic "just to break the monotony" of life, arrived tonight on the first half of their round-trip flight from New York to London.

Their silver, twin-engined plane, its radio apparatus damaged, first landed at North Weald airdrome, 15 miles north of London. Ten minutes later they were in the air again, and at 6:35 p.m. (9:35 a.m. PST) they came in at Croydon, 20 hours and 59 minutes after leaving New York.

Their immediate reward was kisses by two enthusiastic girls who rushed through the big crowd at the airdrome.

Merrill said, "We flew blind the entire way, it was a pretty rough trip." Both insisted they were in fine condition, however, and expected to be back in New York Thursday, to deliver coronation pictures.

CROWDED CITY SWELLED BY ARRIVAL OF 206,000 FROM LINERS, PROVINCES

Coronation Spirit Grips Throngs Around the Palace; Auto of Queen Mary Jammed in Crowds; State Banquet Brilliant

By PAT USSHER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, May 10 (CP Cable)—A gala atmosphere pervaded London tonight from the glitter of the West End to the slum districts of the East where the most colorful arrays of flags and bunting hid the poverty of the slums.

The coronation spirit manifested itself in the crowds thronging around Buckingham palace and almost mobbing royalty arriving for a brilliant state banquet.

An automobile containing Queen Mary and the Queen of Norway, driving from Queen Mary's home, Marlborough House, was surrounded and hemmed in by pedestrians. Some women jumped on the running-board shouting and cheering. Police with difficulty forced the car through the palace gates. The car with the Duke and Duchess of Gloucester occasioned a similar demonstration.

All members of the royal family attended the dinner except the aged Duke of Connaught, great uncle of the King. Celebrities from the Dominions, India and the colonies were invited guests, including Prime Minister Mackenzie King and other empire premiers.

BIGGEST DINNER SINCE 1911

With 450 guests including many of foreign royal houses the dinner was the biggest affair of its kind since the coronation of the King's father in 1911.

The King, wearing the full dress uniform of admiral of the fleet, presided at a head central table in the white and gold ballroom. Queen Elizabeth, in a gown of gold brocade with an embroidered leaf design, and wearing a tiara of diamonds and rubies, was hostess in the blue supper room.

The guests were served on the famous Garter china service while the palace gold plate was on display. Food was carried from the royal kitchens by liveried footmen.

The last full rehearsal of Wednesday's impressive ceremony was held during the day with the young Duke of Norfolk, earl marshal, acting as "understudy"

$4000 Bail for Two Hedley Men; R. H. Stewart to Operate Property

VANCOUVER, May 10 (CP) — Magistrate H. S. Wood in police court here today set bail at $4000 each for William Cox and Jack Fraser, charged with conspiring to defraud in their actions as officials of Hedley Amalgamated Gold Mines, Ltd.

Cox, superintendent at the company's mining property at Hedley, B. C., and Fraser, mine foreman, were brought to Vancouver over the week-end from Penticton, B. C., to where they were removed by British Columbia police after their arrest at Hedley.

They appeared in police court here today and were remanded until tomorrow morning.

VANCOUVER, May 10 (CP)—The Vancouver stock exchange, in a statement signed by President Frank E. Hall, said today the Britchange members and the public genficials will have "ready cooperation from the exchange" in discussing "various possible changes in governmental or exchange laws which will be practicable in protecting the investing public."

The statement, issued after "a brief perusal of the report and comments on Hedley Amalgamated," said in part:

"It must be obvious to those who study the findings of Commissioner G. L. Fraser and R. H. Stewart, his technical adviser, that responsibility for the Hedley Amalgamated stock boom and crash does not rest upon the Vancouver stock exchange.

" the whole incident revolves around technical and circumstances over which the exchange could not conceivably have had control. Exish Columbia government and its ferally were misled by erroneous technical statements."

STEWART TO OPERATE

VANCOUVER, May 10 (CP) — Directors of Hedley Amalgamated Gold Mines Ltd., in a statement issued today from the offices of Secretary Frank Parsons, said R. H. Stewart had agreed to take over control of operations at the Hedley property and act as consulting engineer.

Mr. Stewart was technical adviser to commissioner G. L. Fraser who investigated affairs of the mining company for the British Columbia government.

The directors' statement today said Mr. Stewart will have the same powers as the former managing director.

HEDLEY STOCK PRICE DROPS TO LESS THAN 7 CENTS AS REPORTS OF "SALTING" ARE MADE PUBLIC

Six Reports Released Cover Nearly Score of Aspects of Collapse; Ore Sent to the Assayers "Doctored" Expert Finds

VANCOUVER, May 10 (CP).—Shares of Hedley Amalgamated Gold Mines, in an over-the-counter trade of 23,700 shares, today dropped to a fraction over 6 cents as a report was released by the government disclosing that ore in the mine had been "salted" to show higher values than really existed.

Disclosure that ore sent from the mine to assayers had been tampered with to give it exaggerated value was made in an exhaustive report by Commissioner G. L. Fraser, appointed by the government to probe the property and collapse of its shares on the Vancouver exchange last February 23.

Delisted from the exchange last February after the stock plummetted shares continued to trade in "un-from a high of $1.05 to 32 cents, the listed" dealings, hitting 6½ cents when the market closed today.

Shares of other mines in the Hedley district reacted to a lesser extent following release of a welter of six reports, the principal of which was Fraser's brief.

HIGHLIGHTS OF REPORTS

The reports which were made public today covered nearly a score of aspects of the Hedley collapse. Among them were:

The report of Commissioner Fraser showing values from two diamond drill samples were obtained entirely by "salting" and values from four others were obtained partially at least by tampering;

Fraser also termed as "regrettable" the failure of the government to publish a year ago the report on the Hedley property by A. M. Richmond, made public today. The Richmond report, presented to the government in April, 1936, suggested the danger of salting at the mine and said the ore samples there had to be "treated with suspicion."

The government brief by Dr. J. F. Walker, deputy mines minister, who said the government had not published the Richmond report earlier because it aroused suspicions which the government could not substantiate;

The report of R. H. Stewart, Fraser's technical adviser, who made the inspections at the mine which convinced the commissioner that deliberate salting had been done by "some person unknown";

A statement prepared by Frank Parker, secretary-treasurer of Hedley Amalgamated gold mine announcing Stewart had been engaged by the company with powers of managing-director and that there was still $150,000 in the company's treasury;

A statement by the Vancouver stock exchange promising the government full cooperation in carrying out government moves to prevent recurrence of misleading mining information reaching the public.

"FALSE INFORMATION"

While Fraser did not place responsibility for the ore-salting, he did comment that it appeared those in charge of financing for the company "were not adverse to spreading false and misleading information" which was furnished by persons at the mine.

He referred to Richmond's earlier investigation, ordered following published reports of $500,000 ore deposits at the mine, and said "fantastic" was too mild a word to describe that estimate. Richmond had found no backing for the estimate in his probe of the workings.

Results of the investigation, showed that diamond drill cores from at least six shafts had been tampered with to make the ore appear more valuable than it really was.

The commissioner, in a list of conclusions, declares the investigation "disclosed the disastrous consequences that follow when the mine management of a company's properties is placed in the hands of an incompetent and irresponsible person such as William Cox." Cox was credited by Fraser with inspiring the exaggerated ore tonnage reports.

The ore tonnage estimates originally were included in a progress report by W. S. Bacon, company engineer, and "prepared or inspired by William Cox," Mr. Fraser refers to them as "fantastic and grossly misrepresenting the facts."

DOLMAGE "FIRED"

Mr. Fraser further found that Dr. Victor Dolmage had been engaged by the company prior to Cox's engagement as consultant engineer, and that his services "were no longer required" after he had objected to his name being associated with statements about the mine which he branded as false and misleading.

"The progress reports issued by officials of the Hedley company and delivered to shareholders and appearing in the press were false and misleading," the Fraser report states.

A separate report written by R. H. Stewart, engaged by Fraser to carry out investigations at the mine property, revealed that the "results of drilling show clearly in the case of two holes at least that the values obtained were obtained entirely by salting". All commercial values obtained in drill hole No. 7 and drill hole No. 3 "were due to foreign material of high grade introduced into the samples."

Coronation Day Program Nelson Fully Arranged

Platforms, Seats for 1100 Children at Civic Arena

Everything is in readiness for Nelson's Coronation day exercises. This was the verdict of the general committee in charge following a meeting Monday night at which chairmen of sub-committees reported. Alderman H. B. Lindsay, chairman, presided. Final arrangements complete at the meeting indicated the day would be one of the biggest patriotic celebrations in the history of Nelson.

Seating capacity at the arena has been increased and platforms have been built for 1100 children who will take part in the Pageant of Empire, and details have been arranged for handling the monster crowd expected. It was stated there would be no charge made for entrance to the arena.

Special accommodation is being reserved for veterans of wars during the past 50 years who have served in the Empire's land, sea or air services. It was felt these veterans should be given prominence because it was through their efforts the Commonwealth had been built up.

Arrangements have been made to distribute ice cream to children taking part in the pageant, G. E. Sparkes, principal of Central school, having charge.

Major A. E. Dalgas, in charge of parades, stated these were completely organized. All entering floats and decorated cars or trucks had been given their positions. Three bands would participate in the parade, he said.

David Rees, first aid, announced eight men would be on duty throughout the day, wearing red cross insignia.

Ven. Archdeacon Fred H. Graham, Leslie Craufurd and W. S. King were appointed judges of floats, cars and bicycles entered in the parade.

The celebration will wind up with a grand display of fireworks at Gyro park commencing at 9:15 and a dance in the civic centre.

TORN LIVER CAUSE OF DEATH TOLD IN MANSLAUGHTER TRIAL

Brawn Case Makes Slow Progress at Assizes; Mr. Justice Manson Supervises Marking of Map; Prior Collision Described

Trial of Nickolaus Brawn of Slocan City for manslaughter, the charge arising from the death of Leon Perry the night of October 18 last when Brawn's truck went over the bank between Bonnington and South Slocan, opened at the assizes here Monday forenoon before Mr. Justice Manson and a jury. The case made slow progress, the cross-examination of the third witness not yet being finished. Its conclusion Tuesday is doubtful.

The three crown witnesses who reached the stand were, Dr. H. H. MacKenzie, W. L. Affleck, and Norman McLeod, E. P. Dawson, crown prosecutor, establishing the primary facts of the case from them. The trend of the exhaustive cross-examinations conducted by Parker Williams of Trail, counsel for the defence, suggested that doubt may be cast on identity of the tracks claimed by crown witnesses to have been made by Brawn's vehicle.

DR. MacKENZIE TELLS OF BREATH

Dr. MacKenzie, who was called first in order that he might leave for Vancouver, described being called to the site of the accident about 6:30 on the Sunday evening, arriving just after the police car, and described finding Perry and Brawn both stretched out down the bank, and covered with blankets, it being dark enough for him to require his flashlight. Perry was in a bad state of shock, he said, and was pale, with irregular pulse and respiration, and he sent for hot water and administered a hypodermic.

Perry was taken to the Kootenay Lake General hospital in the ambulance, while Brawn, who was also suffering, and to whom he gave brandy, followed in the police patrol car.

There was an odor of alcohol on Brawn's breath, he told the court, when specifically asked.

LIVER DEATH CAUSE

In a dying condition when received at the hospital, Perry died about 10 that night, and the following day Dr. MacKenzie performed an autopsy, finding the man's chest had been crushed, that his liver was ruptured, its right lobe being so crushed one portion was almost torn off, and that the chest cavity contained blood. There was no doubt, he said, that Perry died from injury to his liver caused by a crushing blow.

Under cross-examination Dr. MacKenzie admitted that both injured men had alcohol breaths. Asked by Mr. Williams to state the intensity of Brawn's alcohol breath, he described it as a "stale beer breath." When he saw Brawn in hospital two hours later, he was perfectly sober.

A shock might have a sobering effect, he admitted to Mr. Dawson.

W. L. Affleck, of the public works department, was on the stand both morning and afternoon, in connection with a map he drew of the section of roadway where the accident occurred, as pointed out to him by Norman McLeod.

JUDGE SUPERVISES MAP

Mr. Justice Manson insisted on the greatest care in marking of the map, which was to be shown the jury, and leaving the bench, he supervised its marking according to the instructions of Mr. Dawson.

Later his lordship had the jury assemble at one end of the jury box, some members being before the rail with himself and the lawyers, while Mr. Affleck, as directed by Mr. Dawson, explained the marking in detail, F. G. Perry, the court stenographer, being moved up to the registrar's desk for his note-taking during this period. The section shown was over 500 feet long, and Mr. Affleck at 25-foot intervals cross-sectioned the road for safe width, which varied from under 18 feet up to 23, the most of the readings being around 19 feet.

The third crown witness, Norman McLeod, a public works foreman, described his collision with the Brawn truck, when he was homebound from Champion Creek where he had been to look over road damage requiring repair.

McLEOD DESCRIBES COLLISION

Coming east, Mr. McLeod said, he was passed by a car, and then saw behind it the reflection of the lights of another. Dropping to second gear, he slowed down so as not to pass the other car on the curve, and remained far on the outside, giving himself only a foot margin from the edge. But in spite of his being so far over, the other driver, who turned out to be Brawn, came so close that the hubcaps scraped. He immediately stopped, in less than a car-length, but found the other car down the bank, and the tracks showed that after Brawn had gone straight past him, he turned sharply to the left, which took him over the bank.

He described in detail getting assistance, sending a message by the bus driver via Pop Inn, and later helping with sending the injured men to Nelson.

Mr. William's exhaustive examination of Mr. McLeod, which dealt partly with his driving experience and partly with road measurements, and with possible obliteration of tracks by the many cars and pedestrians, was not concluded when court adjourned at 4:30.

The case will be resumed at 11 this morning.

A. Krisby Dead; No Inquest, Coroner Decides

CRESTON, B.C., May 10.—An inquest was deemed unnecessary by Col. E. Mallandaine, coroner, in the case of Alexander Krisby, aged 52 years, who was found hanged at a late hour Saturday night at his farm at Camp Lister.

It would appear that Mr. Krisby left the house about 10 o'clock and not returning by shortly after 11, Mrs. Krisby and young son went in search for him and found his lifeless body hanging in the cow barn.

Mr. Krisby seemingly had mounted a ladder, tied the rope over a rafter, then kicked the ladder from under him and swung out into space, his feet being a couple of feet from the floor.

Provincial police were immediately notified by telephone and in company with the coroner and Dr. J. V. Murray, the scene of the tragedy was visited and after careful examination and close questioning of Mrs. Krisby and her son, it was though no inquest would be necessary.

Mr. Krisby left no word to account for his act, but it is presumed the poor circumstances in which he found himself and little prospect of betterment had undermined an otherwise rugged constitution.

The family came to Camp Lister about two years ago from Big Valley, Alta., and he had been on relief almost since his arrival. Burial took place in Creston cemetery this afternoon, Rev. Andrew H. Walker, pastor of Trinity United church conducting the service.

for the King in being crowned with a pasteboard imitation in the crowded Abbey.

Tonight the only big problem remaining was what Wednesday's weather will be like.

OUTLOOK UNSETTLED

Weather experts of the air ministry were not exactly hopeful. They said the outlook was unsettled, issuing the official forecast as "a complex low pressure system covers the British Isles and southwest Europe." It did not afford grounds for optimism. Cloudy weather, with occasional rain, was forecast for tomorrow.

But regardless of the weather, the great show is going on in all its pomp. It was stated officially at Buckingham palace that whatever the weather, all processions to and from the Abbey will take place without any modification.

Crowded London, swelled again with 6000 debarking from 10 liners at Southampton and 200,000 arriving at Victoria and Charing Cross railway terminals from the provinces, devoted itself to enjoyment without any worry over whether the sun shines or not.

Details of the elaborate pageantry in Westminster Abbey during the two hours prior to the arrival of Their Majesties were issued tonight in the full, official "ceremonial" of the coronation issued by the earl marshal.

South African Vets Will Be Unit No. 7

Thomas Brown, who has been arranging for the South African War veterans unit in the Coronation day parades, was notified Monday the unit will be No. 7. Veterans of all wars earlier than the Great War will be welcomed in that unit, he says, and should fall in on marker No. 7.

HIS LORDSHIP WELCOMED BY KOOTENAY BAR

Mr. Justice Manson Congratulated on Elevation

Felicitation of Mr. Justice Manson by the Kootenay bar, at his first appearance on the supreme bench in the Kootenay, marked the opening of the Nelson spring assizes Monday morning, when Donald MacDonald of Trail welcomed and congratulated his lordship.

NO STRANGER, MacDONALD SAYS

"Your Lordship," said Mr. MacDonald, as soon as Sheriff M. E. Harper, as court crier, had finished summoning all who had business with the court to draw near, "on behalf of the Kootenay bar it gives me great pleasure to welcome you on your first appearance in this district as judge, and to congratulate you on your appointment to the supreme court bench."

Pointing out that his lordship was no stranger to this part of the province, the spokesman of the bar expressed the opinion that his lordship's experience in public life would be of service to him in the high duties to which he had been called.

Reiterating the welcome by the district bar, and its congratulations on his elevation to the supreme bench, Mr. MacDonald assured his lordship the bar of the district would cooperate with him to the fullest extent, as it always did with all the judges.

STILL SNIFFS BATTLE

Thanking Mr. MacDonald for the congratulations conveyed on behalf of the bench, Mr. Justice Manson, obviously referring to his past as attorney general of the province, remarked that he had left the old life behind for over a year, and had exchanged the rough-and-tumble for the quietude of the bench, and found it a great change. "At any rate, it is a change for me," he observed. But still there was no denying that in the smoke of battle he sometimes felt like the old fire-horse, that wanted to respond to the call.

On the other hand, in the new atmosphere, he already found that his thinking was detached.

Referring to the bench in Canada, modelled on that of the Mother country, with its great traditions, his lordship remarked that the administration of justice in Canada was one of the things of which Canadians could be proud. Long before he came to the bench he had a keen realization of those traditions.

KEEP CANADA RESPECTED

To be called to the bench was one of the finest things that could happen to one, he said, and it would be his aim to live up to the high traditions of the past, to temper justice with mercy, and to keep Canada respected among the nations for her law and order.

His relations with the bar, Mr. Justice Manson said, had been of the best. "I am one of you still," he reminded the assembled bar. He expressed the hope that if he should long be spared, his pleasant relations with the bar would continue indefinitely, and he expressed the conviction they would be characterized by friendliness.

Tis completed the exchange of felicities, and the court's business proceeded.

In arranging the calendar for the assizes, his lordship stated he did not believe in keeping court in session extra hours, and would not do so unless a special object was to be served, or counsel requested it.

SETS CALENDAR

He tentatively fixed Thursday for the six divorce cases from other centres, and asked Nelson counsel with divorce cases to keep in touch with the progress of the criminal case, so as to utilize any time that might be available Tuesday afternoon. A civil case transferred from Grand Forks will not be called until the divorce hearings are completed.

John Cartmel, deputy registrar, is acting in place of Registrar W. J. Sturgeon, who lately has been able to give only part time to his duties through physical disability. Fred J. Perry of Fernie is court reporter.

Will Riding Have Five Candidates! Today Will Tell

Whether Nelson-Creston riding will have five candidates for legislative honors, or a lesser number, will be known at 1 o'clock this afternoon when W. E. Coles, returning officer, will close nominations for the riding at the courthouse, and announce the necessary poll.

In the order in which they have been nominated, or have announced themselves, the five candidates in sight are A. . Horswill, Conservative; Frank Putnam, M.P.P., Liberal; J. W. Mulholland, Independent; H. C. Howe, Social Credit; and R. F. Bayliss, C.C.F.

Town Planning Proposal, Trail Is Turned Down

TRAIL, B.C., May 10.—Suggestion that Trail have a town planning act regulating the type of residence to be erected in different sections of the city received considerable opposition at a meeting of the city council tonight. Alderman J. R. Anderson felt that such a restriction would discourage young married folk hoping to become property owners as allowing temporary buildings to be erected enabled them to save to later erect permanent homes.

"This is not a Shaughnessy Heights," Alderman Anderson said, "it's a working man's town."

Mayor Bruno Lerose stated that some time ago there were 250 families living in basements in Trail and that the number was sure to be larger now. He told of one instance where a man was paying $25 a month rent for a basement apartment and was ordered to pay $50 a month or get out.

A new building bylaw was given three readings.

FERNIE JOBLESS NOT TO RETURN TO RELIEF WORK

FERNIE, B.C., May 10 (CP).—Unemployment relief workers of this East Kootenay city today repudiated a verbal agreement they gave to British Columbia relief authorities Saturday to end a month-old strike for increased relief allowances and said they would picket government relief projects.

The repudiation was announced after a mass meeting of several hundred relief strikers who claimed their return-to-work agreement Saturday had been made under duress.

Relief allowances issued Saturday covered only women and children, amounts due male heads of families being deducted where required work had not been done. The men protested to Victoria and the government agreed to refund the deductions provided the men promised to return to work. Their verbal promise given the men received their refunds.

HOW THE HEDLEY PROBE STARTED

Company Officials in Conference With Government

VICTORIA, May 10 (CP). — The way in which the "salting" of ore samples at Hedley Amalgamated gold mine affected the market activity of its stock was told today in the report of Commissioner G. G. Fraser who investigated the mine following a spectacular rise and fall in the price of the shares.

Mr. Fraser found:

That drill cores taken from the Hedley property last January by Dr. M. S. Hedley, government resident engineer, sent in for the express purpose of checking suspicions against the mine management, were definitely salted.

Dr. Hedley wrote to Russell E. Barker, then president of Hedley, on January 30, telling him that his assays closely checked with those of the company assayer.

Information emanating from the government engineer constituted a bullish factor in the market, and real investment buying resulted from this confirmation of the company's assay figures.

Dr. Hedley's ore bags were salted before the samples were put in them ore the salting occurred after he placed his samples in them.

J. H. Williams, company assayer, found his results did not check with Dr. Hedley's, so he rechecked his ore samples with results that satisfied him they were salted. He communicated his findings to the company who in turn interviewed government officials. Shortly afterwards, on February 23, trading in the stock was suspended on the Vancouver exchange.

Former Nelson Pastor Honored Silver Jubilee

Silver jubilee of Rev. C. C. Janzow, formerly pastor of St. John's Lutheran church at Nelson, was celebrated at his present charge, St. John's Lutheran church at Vernon, the Vernon News states.

A graduate of Concordia seminary, St. Louis, in 1912, Mr. Janzow first went to the parish of Granum-Claresholm, in Alberta. Subsequently he served the Leduc-Nisko parish in the same province, and then took over the Lutheran work in Nelson and district. The majority of his 25 years of service were spent in Nelson. He conducted a day school also in Nelson. He went to Vernon in the fall of 1935.

MELBOURNE, Australia (CP)—Among numerous excuses sent by parents to explain absence of children from school, the following were selected as unique: "Please excuse Cecil being absent as he has to go to the doctor with his face. He has had it a long time and it is spreading." Another wrote: "Plees teechur; Bill as beliac."

YEAR-OLD REPORT TOLD OF FEAR OF "SALTED" SAMPLES AT HEDLEY

Was Not Made Public Because No Proof Could Be Found That Core Had Been Tampered With, Government Official Said

VICTORIA, May 10 (CP).—A report presented to the British Columbia department of mines a year ago advising that ore samples at Hedley Amalgamated gold mine "had to be treated with suspicion" was made public today.

The report, written by Resident Engineer A. M. Richmond, who investigated the property after exaggerated reports of its ore deposits had been published, was accompanied by a statement by Deputy Mines Minister J. F. Walker, who said his department had not previously published Richmond's findings because it could not raise suspicions in the public mind which it could not substantiate.

Commissioner Fraser said the government took the position it could not publish the Richmond report, which suggested the possibility that ore samples at Hedley had been "salted," because it was not prepared to stand back of it. Richmond, he said, could not submit any proof that the core had been tampered with "and none could be found in Victoria."

The Fraser report shows that after Richmond presented his findings he wrote to the deputy minister of mines saying he had not seen any mention of them in the press and "as the company engineers indulged in some rather weird estimates of ore and values, and gave their information to the public, it might be that the public would like to know the true facts about this property."

Concluding a discussion of he Richmond report, Mr. Fraser says: "It was regrettable that the facts as reported upon by Mr. Richmond and later by Dr. M. S. Hedley (Richmond's successor as resident engineer) to the department of mines were not published. There might have been some justification for not publishing the Richmond report in toto but the gross misrepresentations contained in the report (of half a million tons of ore at the mine by W. S. Bacon, company engineer) should have been dealt with."

Trail Public Observes Coronation With Mass Service in Rink Sunday

Rev. L. A. Morrant, Legion Chaplain Gives Sermon

TRAIL, B.C., May 10.—The rink building which houses usually large crowds of excited fans vociferously applauding indoor sports was enshrowded with a much different atmosphere today when a mass religious civic service in celebration of the coronation of King George VI and Queen Elizabeth was attended by a crowd that surpassed the audience of many sports there. The service was held under the auspices of the Trail Ministerial association.

Rev. L. A. Morrant, chaplain of Canadian Legion, Trail Branch No. 11, who gave the sermon, first reviewed the solemn rite of the coronation.

"The King sitting down in King Edward's chair, the archbishop puts the crown upon his head. The people with loud and repeated shouts cry 'God Save the King.' The peers and kings of arms put on their coronets, the trumpets sound, and by a signal given the guns of the tower fire a salute; similarly later on in the service the Queen is crowned and the peeresses put on their coronets also.

REPRESENTATIVE OF PEOPLE

"This simultaneous sharing in the act of coronation proclaims that the King is crowned as the accepted representative of the people, in whom his sovereignty resides.

"It is a point of the coronation we do well to emphasize today. We live in an age when in many countries of the world the doctrine of the sovereignty of man is repudiated, and state absolutism is the order of the day.

"Totalitarianism, as it is called whether it takes the form of Bolshevism in Russia, fascism in Italy or Nazi-ism in Germany, is as one in its essential principle.

"It denies the liberties for which the common folk have struggled for centuries, and sets up a new force of tyranny in the name of the state.

NEW FORM OF SOCIETY

"It is more than a tyranny. It is a new form of society with many of the characteristics of religion And when we call it new, we must remember it is only a throwback to the pre-christian conception of human society.

"It is a return to the denial of the sovereign rights of the individual man, for totalitarianism means just this:

"The endowment of the state with a life and purpose of its own to which all else, even God Himself, is subordinate.

BEHOLD DIFFERENCE

"Behold the difference; when the King takes a solemn oath to govern the people according to the statutes of parliament, and the laws and customs of the realm; when he is anointed and crowned by the church as himself the liege servant of the King of Kings; the peers by putting on their coronets, and all the people, by acclaiming the King, assert at once their recognition of his kingship and their share in his sovereignty an entirely different conception of the state is set forth before the eyes of men.

"It is conception which regards the state as existing to preserve the rights of the citizen, instead of the citizen existing to preserve the rights of the state.

PRESERVES RIGHTS OF PEOPLE

"The King is crowned, God bless him, and the representative of his people to preserve the people's kingly rights, not to abuse or infringe them.

"That is the doctrine of democracy as opposed to state absolutism, and it is the christian doctrine of man, as opposed to paganism.

"My dear fellow citizens, be sure of this: the Christian basis of national life is set forth in the solemn sacring of the King. He cannot rightly come alone to that sacring.

"We are here today witnessing to the fact that we believe that the King must not come alone to his hallowing; that we as citizens and part of a great Empire, have a definite part in his coronation, so that the coronation of his majesty is in no mean sense the coronation of everyman.

WHAT IS BEST METHOD?

"What then is the best method of combating the prevailing modern tendency to treat man as existing for the state, to standardize his life, to mechanize his mind, to crush his individuality? In other words, to do his thinking for him . . . a situation which affects the masses who must be guided rightly or wrongly . . . for masses of people by their mass characteristics . . . will follow something.

"Only I believe by reviving and reasserting the doctrine of the sovereignty of man, persuade him if you can, but at all costs, do not compel him. Win him, but do not coerce him.

"God has taught us the value of our human nature, by making it His own in Jesus Christ. God's estimate of the value of the individual is to be found in the Parables and teachings of Jesus, and supremely in the fact that Jesus laid down His life for each one of us. The prodigal son, the lost sheep, the joy in heaven over one sinner that repenteth, the all supreme teaching on the value God sets upon the individual. In face of this shall we sacrifice such sacred values to godless states and methods of government?

CHRISTIAN DOCTRINE

"Let us rather see, then, in the crowning of the King in whom the whole Empire as individuals is personified, the assertion of the Christian doctrine of the sovereignty of man. Lost through sin, regained in Jesus Christ. For if it be true that the King's regal robe symbolizes the Christlike character of righteousness, so also is it true that the King crowning symbolizes that crown of man which is God's gift to him, the crowning gift, man's individuality.

IMPORTANT FACTOR

"One of the most important factors of the Father's home; to safeguard that which we have, the crown of individuality, yet to wear that crown as leige servants of the King of kings, is to obey the Vision glorious, the great revelation of the Divine to 'hold that fast which thou hast, that no man take thy crown.'

"The King at his hallowing comes not to it alone. The individuality of his people is symbolized in his crowning, so that again we may say, the coronation of the King is the coronation of everyman. God save the people, God save the King."

MUSICAL PRELUDE

A concert program was rendered by the Maple Leaf band, under the baton of Prof. Tito Allega, as a prelude to the service.

To the music of the Canadian Legion band, conducted by E. W Halsey, the massed choir, conducted by Mrs. S. S. McDiarmid, led the huge congregation in song.

The service opened with the hymn "Before Jehovah's Awful Throne."

The invocation was given by Rev. F. G. St. Denis.

Then followed the hymn, "God of Our Fathers."

A prayer was offered by Rev. M. W. Lees, after which the anthem, "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name" was rendered by the choir.

A lesson from the scriptures was read by Rev. W. Sadler, followed by the national anthem.

Another prayer was offered by Rev. M. W. Lees, followed by the hymn, "O God, Our Help in Ages Past."

Rev. Mr. Morrant delivered the sermon, the hymn "From Ocean Unto Ocean" then being sung.

Rev. A. P. McDiarmid of Robson pronounced the benediction, concluding the service.

Those who attended the service in a body were: The Orange lodge, Girl Guides, I.O.D.E., Rebekahs, and the Trail city council.

Amounting to 641,205 metric tons, Canadian imports of wheat into Belgium in 1936 were five times as much as those of Argentina. Formerly Argentina was the main source of wheat imports into Belgium. In Holland also, Canadian wheat imports (260,253 metric tons) climbed to the top, furnishing approximately 55.8 per cent of the total requirements, as against 9.3 per cent from Argentina. In 1935 the position was reversed. The Argentine supplied 59.8 per cent and Canada 18.3 per cent.

Choral Society Entertainment Richly Enjoyed

Presenting a concert program rich in musical entertainment, the Nelson Choral society occupied the stage at the Capitol theatre Sunday evening. Mixed and ladies' choir numbers, ladies' choir selections, vocal and instrumental solos, and an instrumental trio provided a great variety of music that was thoroughly enjoyable. Ven. Archdeacon Fred H. Graham acted as chairman.

F. E. Wheeler directed the Choral society mixed choir, and Mrs. J. T. Andrews conducted the ladies' choir. Mrs. Nelson Ball, Miss Gwendolen Lowery and Mr. Wheeler were accompanists.

The program follows: Mixed choir, "Lullaby of Life," "Goin' Home" and "The Lord's Prayer"; William Coleman, vocal solos, "Forgotten" and "The Barefoot Trail"; Vincent Fink, violin, andante from "Lalo" and "Ave Maria"; ladies' choir, "Follow Me Down to Carlow" and "Lullaby"; Mrs. G. Wady, vocal solos, "There Is a Land" and "Caro Mio Ben"; trio, Vincent Fink, R. E. Stretton and Miss Gwendolen Lowery, violin, cello and piano, Hayden's Trio No. 6; ladies' choir, "To Music" and "Soft White Snow"; Nelson Ball, vocal solos, "Our Yesterdays" and "Deep River"; mixed choir, "Still as the Night" and "Come Where the Lilies Bloom."

Kimberley Plans Coronation Day

KIMBERLEY, B.C.—Kimberley is to have a great coronation celebration. Plans have been perfected and committees are working hard. Nothing has been overlooked to make the celebration as impressive, colorful and attractive as possible.

The children will be given a day to remember all their lives. From the time the parade starts until the last of the fireworks there will not be a dull moment. It will be a day of merriment and rejoicing in honor of King George VI and Queen Elizabeth.

F. S. Sutherland has been elected chairman of the ceremonies. The flag raising ceremony will be performed by a member of the Boy Scout troop. Medals will be presented to the children before the parade starts.

Fraternal organizations, in full regalia, will march in the parade led by the Kimberley district band. Decorated cars will add color and a float will bear the juvenile king, queen and their attendants.

Permanent Greens in Use First Time at Nelson Course

Both Saturday afternoon and Sunday saw a good crowd of enthusiasts on the links of the Nelson Golf and Country club, when for the first time this season some of the permanent greens were in use. Five greens are new conditioned and were played on over the week-end. It is hoped that two more will be ready by Coronation day, May 12, and the remainder by the week-end.

Sunday, although dull, was ideal golf weather and the course was well dotted with golfers.

Of interest to Nelson hockey fans was the presence of Jack Forsey, formerly of the famed Kimberley Dynamiters, at the club. Jack golfed both in the morning and afternoon and was enthused over the game. He expressed the hope to get in plenty of golf in the Kootenays this season.

Sunday brought forth many of last year's players who had not put in their appearance previously this season and many appeared in fine fettle for so early in the season. From this it was evident that "to bring home the bacon" from club and district tournaments this year will be some feat.

The first ladies luncheon of the year is planned for Thursday, it was announced.

MENU HINT

Creamed Chicken Boiled Potatoes
Toast Mashed Turnips
Banana Salad
Strawberry Ice Cream
Yellow Cake Tea or Coffee

The ice cream and cake recipes make this a party menu. It is in honor of someone's birthday. You can use strained canned berries for it if you cannot afford or cannot get fresh ones, and you can use any other kind of berry instead of strawberries.

Today's Recipes

STRAWBERRY ICE CREAM.—One pint strawberries, one-half to three-fourths cup sugar, one teaspoon gelatin, one tablespoon cold water, one egg white, one and one-half cups cream (light or whipping). Wash berries, drain well and hull, save out a few of the perfect ones for garnish. Mash others with sugar. Chill thoroughly. Soak gelatin five minutes in cold water. Dissolve by holding over hot water or over a low heat. Add a small amount of the strawberry mixture tirring it in well. Let stand until the mixture starts to congeal. Beat egg white until stiff. Fold into strawberry mixture. Whip cream and fold it in. Turn into freezing tray and freeze, stirring occasionally. This amount will serve eight generously.

YELLOW CAKE.—Two and one-fourth cups cake flour, three teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, one-half cup butter or similar fat, one and one-half cups sugar, one cup thin milk, one teaspoon vanilla, one teaspoon lemon extract, three eggs. Prepare two eight-inch layer cake pans or one loaf pan. Grease it well, line bottom with greased paper. A moderate oven, 350 regrees Fahrenheit, is needed. Sift flour, measure and sift with baking powder and salt. Cream fat, add sugar gradually, creaming the white. Add a portion of dry ingredients, beat them in. Add a portion of the milk, beat it in. Add flavoring. Continue alternating dry ingredients and liquids until all have been used. Add eggs one at a time, beat each one in vigorously each time before adding the next. Turn into uans and bake, allow 30 to 35 minutes for the layer pans and an hour for the loaf pan.

The Consumers' Guide to Quality

More than a century of service to the public has made the advertising columns of the daily newspapers the accepted source of commodity news in two million Canadian homes.

News of goods and services is necessary to every household. Comfort and economy depend on it. The success of every enterprise is determined in the home where the relative values of products or services are analysed and their claims for preferential treatment supported or disproved. Sales volume for any product is the sum of all these individual preferences.

The confidence consumers feel toward advertised goods is the result of personal experience. They realize that advertising reflects the integrity of the manufacturer and the merchant's belief in the value of the goods he thus publicly offers for sale.

Consequently, the advertisements in the daily newspapers are not only news, they are recognized guarantees of quality.

Today, Canadian consumers everywhere from coast to coast read their local daily newspapers for the latest information regarding the commodities and services they need. The advertisements are their guides to quality and their aids to thrift.

CORONATION IS EMPHASIZED IN ROTARY SONGS

Horswill and Potter Report District Conference

Emphasizing the advent of the coronation, Nelson Rotary club at its luncheon Wednesday sang and heard songs with a patriotic surge in them. The club chose for its songs "Rule Britannia" and "The Maple Leaf Forever"; and A. A. Pagdin sang Kipling's famous "Recessional". Mr. Pagdin also sang "Friend O' Mine" and "The Open Road".

Reports on the district conference at Spokane by A. T. Horswill, president-elect, and R. E. Potter, president, marked the meeting.

Mr. Horswill emphasized the impression made upon him and other Rotarians by a talk on the education of children in which it was stated this continent today was educating the younger generation to take the boss' chair without first teaching it how to work.

He also was impressed by another speaker who had made a trip around the world, visiting 23 countries, and who anticipated 2000 Rotary clubs in China and 2000 in India. This speaker described the great influence being exerted by Rotary in the international field.

Mr. Potter paid tribute to a number of fine speakers at the conference, and dealt briefly with the postponing of the proposed division of District No. 1.

The president stated he had made a bid for the annual presidents and secretaries meeting to be held in Nelson this year and had been told it was proposed to divide the district into three divisions for these meetings, and that Nelson would certainly be given consideration for one of them.

The club named Mr. Horswill, Dr. D. W. McKay and A. B. Gilker to work with a committee of the junior board of trade and other service clubs in urging the opening of a gymnasium at the Civic Centre. The junior board committee consists of E. J. Goos, president, Murray Clark and J. Thom.

Guests included W. A. Dobson of Vancouver; Donald MacDonald of Trail, nominee for the Canadian advisory council of Rotary International.

NEW UNDERSEA COLLIERY

A new colliery to work the undersea coalfield lying to the west of the Moss Bay, Cumberland, iron and steel plant is to be sunk by the United Steel companies. There are six square miles of undersea coal which it is intended to develop, and the reserves are believed to be large.

The colliery is to be entirely electrically operated and mechanical methods of mining will be applied as far as possible. When completed, it is expected that there will be work for over 1500 men in the colliery.

The Oxford University Appeal Fund has reached a third of the million-pound objective.

THE FAVORITE BEAUTY SOAP OF CANADA'S YOUNGER SET

"Palmolive's GENTLE BEAUTY CARE KEEPS MY SKIN FRESH AND LOVELY... ALL OVER" SAYS Peggy Oliver

Popular Montreal Society Girl

"Palmolive is the only soap that really cleanses my skin," continues Miss Oliver. "It's smooth lather seems to go right into the pores, leaving my skin so refreshed."

And this lovely young lady is correct. Costly Olive Oil gives Palmolive its mild penetrating lather. It goes gently, deep into the pores, floats out cosmetic particles and other impurities, lets your skin breathe and funtion properly. And as Palmolive cleanses, it soothes and refreshes your skin, leaves it soft . . . lovely all over.

Why don't you try this simple Palmolive Beauty Treatment? For your face, throat and shoulders, and for your bath, gently massage into your skin a warm, rich Palmolive lather. Cleanse the pores thoroughly. Rinse with warm water, then with cold. Easy, isn't it? Yet there is no surer way to real, all-over skin beauty.

SKYSCRAPERS MAY BE SAFETY ZONES IN WAR

Before the Spanish civil war the prediction was frequently made that in any future armed conflict skyscrapers would afford most vulnerable targets for bombs and shells. These lofty structures, it was feared, would become the tombs of thousands of human beings. Fortunately, the prophets appear to be wrong. At least that is the conclusion to be drawn from the experience of Madrid's lone skyscraper, the 13-storey steel and stone telephone building, which sticks out like a sore thumb in the downtown district of the city, a perfect target.

This building has gone through all the months of war practically unscathed. That has not been due to poor marksmanship, for it has been hit on numerous occasions both by aerial bombs and by shells from siege guns. These hits, however, have done little damage and business in the offices has proceeded almost as usual.

For more than two weeks in April Madrid was subjected to a terrific bombardment. Ordinary buildings in the down town area were reduced to debris, hundreds of persons being killed and still more hundreds wounded. There were no casualties in the telephone skyscraper, however. Next to the subway, it proved to be the safest place of refuge in the city. The basement was in use as a first aid station and on an upper floor Associated Press newspapermen worked without interruption in compiling the news of the bombardment.

So that it would appear that the resistance of skyscrapers to shot and shell has been underestimated. Their number in the capitals of Europe is likely to be greatly increased in future years as a result of the Madrid lesson.

LOOKING BACKWARD

Human ingenuity is practically limitless. A counterpart to the well-known "prison whisper"—talking under the breath from a corner of the mouth—has been invented in Nazi Germany. It is spoken of as the "spy monocle." It is described as looking like an ordinary monocle, but containing a mirror which enables the wearer to see for himself if he is being too closely watched from the rear.

Such an invention must be a great convenience to the garrulous individual who, in the midst of his choicest bit of political gossip, is forced to glance over his shoulder to see if a Brown Shirt is listening. Of course, it will probably result in an order prohibiting altogether the wearing of monocles in Germany, or, at the very least, an order that all wearers must carry a permit for inspection on demand by Nazi police. In the meantime however, the "spy monocle" has given temporary relief to much dammed-up conversation in Germany, and at the same time reminded the rest of us of the trend of life under dictatorship.

Russian scientists are said to have made a successful attempt to flatten waves in Sebastopol harbor. Most interesting experiment of the kind, however, is the alleged effort of tax-collectors to flatten waves of prosperity.

ANOTHER VERSE

Simple Sam comes to my aid once again.

Spring Styles

Do not be surprised if some fine day this spring
Your wife comes marching home with proud, triumphant tread
And you see a strange contraption
—a wierdly wondrous thing,
Perched marvellously askew upon her pretty curly head.

Don't think it an illusion or doubt what the eye sees,
Nor hit for the tall timber in a
two and forty race,
'Tis not a daylight nightmare nor incipient D.T.s,
Nor yet has she been drinking and brought to you disgrace.

And as you stand astounded in a wild, befuddled daze
You see her still approaching with ingratiating smile,
You hear her give an answer to your apprehensive gaze:
"Why John, don't you see it is the very latest style?"

Of course you'd not for anything
her tender feelings hurt
But still you are dubfounded and wondering where you're at
And trembling with embarrassment
inadvertently you blurt:
"For the love of great Jemima, do you call that thing a hat?"

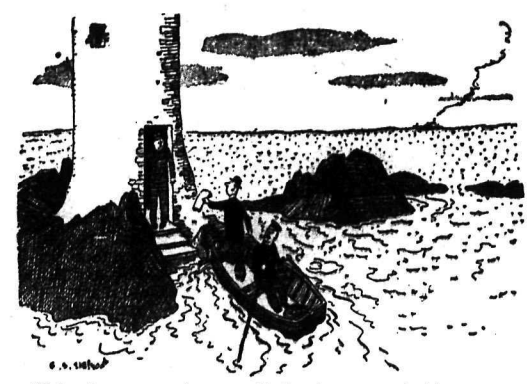
WATCHING SYD HORSWILL

Nelsonites who are wondering what is happening among the 300 school students who are guests at the Coronation may get some enlightenment from the following from London. This will give an idea of just what Syd Horswill of Nelson will be doing across there:

Plans are complete for entertainment of Canada's 300 school children chosen to attend the Coronation as representatives of the younger generation. They will see the Coronation procession from their own stand in Hyde Park. Before they left Canada the children signed a promise that their behavior in England will be of the best "realizing as I do that I represent not only my school, but the Province and Dominion of Canada, I shall do my utmost to leave behind nothing but the best of impressions of Canada's youth."

After the Coronation they will be scattered over England in groups from two to 20 as guests of outstanding schools, where they will take part in lessons, games, and outings of regular students' life. Host schools are Rugby, Wellington, Malvern, Cheltenham Ladies' college, Shrewsbury, and others equally important.



"It has been so rough we couldn't get near you, but here are your last week's 'Mid-day Racing Special'."—London Opinion.

IT IS SIMPLER TO CURE SICK SOILS THAN SICK PEOPLE

The article by Rex Beach in the Cosmopolitan magazine entitled "Build Your Health From the Ground Up" draws attention to one of the most important problems facing the civilized world today, and the time is past due for serious consideration of a matter so important to human health.

Continuing depletion of the limited reserves of minerals (which constitute the food of plants) in our cultivated soils by constant cropping has already seriously affected the composition of crops of all kinds, and they no longer have the mineral content, and therefore the nutritive value, they are supposed to contain. This deficiency is generally recognized by dairy farmers and poultrymen among whom it is common practice and recognized as a necessity, to bolster up the natural feeds with so-called "mineral supplements" in an effort to maintain the health and vigor of their flocks and herds. Minerals, in the forms usually compounded in these artificial "supplements", are useless for the purpose intended as unfortunately there is no provision in the animal's anatomy for their assimilation. It is a provision of nature that the minerals must be taken up from the soil by plants and in them transformed into other conditions suitable for assimilation by animals. Needless to say attempts to short-cut the provisions of nature usually and ultimately in disaster.

The same laws of nutrition apply equally to human beings. We must obtain the minerals so vital to our well-being from the same source, either through vegetables, fruits and grains which have taken and transformed them from the soil or more indirectly from meats, eggs and milk. These minerals cannot be in our farm products if they are not in the soils in which our crops are grown.

Practically every element known to science is found in varying proportions in the human body and they must all be present in the correct amounts or disturbances will ensue. The deterioration in the mineral content of our foods due to soil depletion is now being recognized by leaders in the medical profession as the basic cause of many of our ills and the seriousness of the situation is rapidly becoming accentuated as new lands to bring under the plough are becoming scarcer.

The problem of rebuilding the virgin fertility of our soils has become pressing indeed. Fortunately science is at last pointing the way to a solution and the work of such men as Dr. Northen of Alabama, so ably described by Rex Beach in the beforementioned article, can well be described as epochal and of inestimable benefit to mankind.

It will be a matter of pride to British Columbians to know that men of this province are well in the van of the march of progress. Work has quietly been going on for some considerable time past in our own Fraser valley experimenting and proving the feasibility and practicability of rebuilding on a commercial scale our worn out soils. The cost per acre has been shown to be no greater than the old methods of so-called "fertilization" and the increase in the mineral content of crops, improvement in nutritive value, flavor and quality in general of fruits and vegetables have been most marked.

The total mineral content of fruit juices has been increased by as much as 56 per cent; run-down Cuthbert raspberry plants have been brought back almost to normal in one season; strawberry plants are thriving in soils where previously they refused to grow; vegetables and fruits have better flavor and quality; chickens and cows fed on the produce from scientifically re-built soil have been fortunate enough to be able to live on the produce from these scientifically treated soils have experienced a remarkable improvement in health and well-being.

This sounds almost like a fairy tale, but it is true, every word of it, and in the words of Rex Beach "Happily we're on our way to better health by returning to the soil the things we have stolen from it". The public can hasten the change by demanding quality in food: The growers will quickly respond. They can put back those minerals almost overnight."

Says Dr. E. P. Armstrong, president, Association of British Chemical Manufacturers:

"We have only recently learned that life depends upon the concurrent balanced interactions of a considerable number of material agents in the food, some of them substances directly derived from the soil, others formed in the plant, all indispensable in some as yet unknown way to health."

Says Dr. Frank McCoy:

"In the earliest days of food science these extremely valuable mineral salts were collectively grouped under the unimportant sounding title of 'ash' and it is only within recent years that scientists have come to realize that this ash contains a great variety of mineral substances which are the building stones of the cell structure and without which life would not exist at all.

"The vital minerals are present in many natural foods, which foods have absorbed them from 'the dust of the ground,' but unfortunately man has learned to refine and devitalize his foods in order to make them keep better and look better. Unquestionably a person living chiefly on refined foods will not secure enough minerals. However, those minerals are obtained without difficulty by the one using sufficient raw salads, cooked vegetables and fruits.

"Although man considers himself king of the earth, it is true that he could not be king for very long without the help of these food minerals which, although they are needed in very small amounts, perform so necessary a work in human nutrition and human health."

After three weeks' schooling, with no end-of-term exams to face, the young Canadians will go to the seaside. The boys will be quartered in Folkestone, where every morning they are to be given an illustrated lecture on some part of the Empire.

The girls will go to Eastbourne and will be given a course in English literature as a vacation task, with hikes over the downs and sea bathing to vary the program.

The Canadian children will wear uniforms, the boys navy double-breasted suits with navy caps with the Overseas Educational league crest in front, and deep crimson blazers with "Canada" in gold embroidered on the breast pocket. The girls will have white wool sweaters with polo collars and long sleeves, navy skirts and wear berets with a round silver badge of the silver ship of knowledge. Both are to have navy ties with crimson crowns and G.R. in tiny brocaded design.

An easy road for the declarer can be made difficult sometimes if one defender has the nerve to toss off his honors with apparent abandon and thereby make an entry for his partner, who holds the setup remainders of his suit. If the declarer, however, is a "game fish that swims upstream," he may thwart the wily opponent by using similar tactics himself.

Three South players in a duplicate played this deal at 3-No Trumps an deach one handled the situation differently.

In response to East's 2-Clubs overcall, after North's spade bid, the West players led the club Ace and returned the club J. South ducked this, but won the third round of clubs.

At one table the heart 2 was now led and the Q finessed, then the heart Ace laid down and a third heart, which West won with the heart K. West returned a diamond, which South won with the K, cashed his thirteenth heart and led another diamond to the Q. After the spade Ace was cashed a diamond was led to the South hand and two diamonds cashed, making the contract.

At the second table, when the heart 2 was led, West, visualizing what was about to happen, tossed the heart K and declarer won with the heart Ace. When the heart Q was led, West played the heart J, so that the third heart trick was won by East, who cashed his remaining clubs and set the contract two.

At the third table, the West player also tossed his heart K on the first heart lead, but this declarer, Merwin D. Maier of New York, allowed him to hold the trick, playing the heart 7, so that East never got into the lead until after the contract was made.

THE DOCTOR SAYS . . .

LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

DWARF IS EXCEPTION TO NORMAL HUMAN

The fact that the papers have been full of descriptions of the Alton giant recently reminds us of another form of human exception, equally embarrassing to the owner unless he happens to want to go into the show business.

There are two forms of dwarfs. One is called achondroplastic. These are seen frequently on the streets of any large city. The head and trunk are normal in size; the arms and legs are short. "Achondroplasia" means change in the cartilage of the joints, and in these individuals the normal growth of the cartilage in the long bones is checked. The fingers and toes are flat and stumpy. Dachshunds and Pekingese dogs have been bred to be achondroplastic dwarfs in the dog kingdom.

These dwarfs have nothing the matter with the thyroid gland, and probably nothing the matter with the pituitary gland, although the latter is the seat of the growth hormone. They are intelligent and capable of reproducing normal children. Probably nothing could be done to increase their growth even by the use of the growth hormone and even if begun early in life.

The other form of dwarfs, called ateleiotic, are simply small all over and perfectly proportioned. There is no unnatural size of the head or trunk. They are usually not capable of reproducing children. They are also usually intelligent, however. On account of their generally well proportioned diminutive features and because their tiny faces and hands are quite handsome, they are the ones that are chosen for circuses and side-shows.

CAN ANYTHING BE DONE?

Whether anything will be able to be done with these latter patients when the growth substance of the pituitary gland is perfected is problematical. There is one case on record of a perfectly proportioned little girl who stopped growing early in childhood, and under the influence of the growth hormone gained consistently in height. And Professor Evans, of the University of California, who has done so much work on the growth hormone, told me that when he used it on Pekingese and dachshund puppies he did not make them any taller, he just made them more like dachshunds and Pekingese.

The smallest dwarf on record measured by the naturalist Buffon was 16 inches in height.

The stories of famous dwarfs are legion. Geoffrey Hudson was presented to Charles I in a pie. He fought several duels, one with a turkey cock. The original Tom Thumb is supposed to have lived in King Arthur's court. His prototype, the one exhibited by Barnum, was born in 1832 in Bridgeport, Conn. His principal stunt, on which he prided himself, was his expertness in kissing ladies. In England alone he claimed to have kissed a million. He married a dwarf and had one child, who died at the age of six months.

The pygmy races, mostly described in Africa, are not true dwarfs, having an average height of four and one-half feet. Their diminutive size is undoubtedly due to heredity, and they have many other hereditary stigmata, such as extra toes and fingers.

The Duke of Kent has accepted the presidency of the Overseas League.

FROM SHIP AT QUEBEC HORSWILL WRITES OF CROSS-CANADA TRIP

B. C. Coronation Boys "Great Guys"; Man Minus Togs

Following is an account of Syd Horswill's trip from Nelson to Quebec en route to the Coronation as representative of the Kootenay high schools:

Following that exuberant send-off given to me by my school mates and supporters in Nelson, I found myself concentrating on several aspects of the wonderful organization that so successfull, completed the Coronation fund program. Towards the members who, through work and generous feeling, organized the fund, I feel very grateful, and towards those magnanimous people who gave so liberally of their financial support I feel equally thankful. Accordingly my mind was filled with a mixture of gratefulness, joy, happiness and pride. I knew then, as I had felt previously, that I was to represent a citizen body, a city and a district of which I might be extremely proud, and of which others might be justly jealous.

So it was with that feeling of pride and extreme joy in the possession of the people of Nelson's confidence that I started on what to me is to be the most momentous and educationally interesting trip that it will ever be my pleasure to take.

After a very appetizing breakfast in "the diner", I joined some newly acquired and very interesting friends to enjoy the scenery of my home Rockies. However, we very soon had to pass from their towaring majesty on to the rolling scenery of the foothills in Alberta.

My interest in the drifted piles of soil in all the gullies was satisfied when it was explained to me that the dirty snow piles were known as "drift soil", and that the series of closely-built fences were "drift fences". A rather insignificant but singularly striking source of interest was provided by the half-acre plots of wild crocuses whose beauty was enhanced by contrast with the drab brown of the prairie.

PRAIRIE SUNSET

To a native of a mountain district, this everlasting horizon was rather monotonous, but later in the evening, on the train for Calgary, I saw the delightful prairie sunset, and enjoyed the sensation of wonder just as some of my ex-prairie friends had told me I would. Naturally they may use the prevailing "I told you so," but even that is bearable after having seen such a sight as that orange-colored sun sitting on the edge of the horizon presents. It is indeed a wonderful sight.

A greater part of my day in Calgary was spent in catching up on my lost sleep. However, after breakfast I took a stroll down to St. George's Island and inspected the menagerie there, which contains a spread-tailed peacock, a timber wolf, cougar, and a lion.

That night, with Rev. Mr. Roe, who is in charge of the tour, I met the Vancouver train, and the boys with whom I have enjoyed the greater part of my trans-Canada trip. That night the sleeping car was occupied by the B. C. representatives only. These were Edward Brady, Pacific coast light-heavyweight boxing champion, Tage Wickstrom, Wallace Gillespie, and Bill Oughton, representing Vancouver; New Westminster and Steveston were represented very capably by Terrance (Terry) G. Parsons, and Yutaka (Cobic) Kobayashi, respectively. Chilliwack's representative, Jim Scott, and myself completed the B. C. delegation. Putting two and two together, and exercising such prerogatives as I have now, I can quite sincerely say, "They are all great guys."

As we neared the "Peg" we noticed considerable snow still remaining. For this reason those boys who made use of the 45-minute stop to fill up their empty stomachs at a non-C.P.R. dining hall had to don their overcoats.

UNFORTUNATE PELTMAN

At 6:45 p. m. we left the station with everything looking more or less "rosy", but suddenly the usual happy expression on "Peltman's" face gave way to a decidedly blank and unmistakably sick one when he realized that the car he had so disinterestedly watched being disengaged from our train at Winnipeg had contained all his baggege. Such is life. And it seemed even more worthless for that unfortunate gent when a good intentioned telegraph official informed him that the lost articles would catch him at London about 10 days from the time of the "miscalculation". So now "our" Peltman is parading the decks with one of Ed Brady's shirts and an odd pair of socks, and a coat that he bought on the fly at Montreal.

The scenic beauties of the Great Lakes district compare very favorably with those of British Columbia except that its hills are little more than excuses for that classification. However, the irregular shores of the Great Lakes, with their many bays, promontories and coves, are very beautiful and interesting. Each cove seems to have its own settlement of fishers, and their squat but sturdy cabins, banked with rocks, are very picturesque.

We passed through the famed mining city of Sudbury at night, also Fort William, so failed to see them.

Since this letter must be mailed at Quebec, and the whistle for boat drill is scheduled to go in five minutes, I am forced to conclude this running account with the promise that the next will come to you as soon as it can be returned.

WILD FLOWERS ARE IN BLOOM

Wild flowers are blooming in profusion alongside highway and railway between Trail and Nelson. Great yellow daisies making whole hillsides radiant, big patches of Oregon grape with the distinctive yellow flowers in bloom, and many other varieties of wild flowers are at their best, to say nothing of myriads of dandelion. The flowers seem to be considerably more advanced between Castlegar and Trail than between Castlegar and Nelson.

Fruit trees are also beginning to blossom, though there are not as yet the familiar whole orchards of white flowers.

THE Royal Road TO THE CORONATION

Their Majesties and Princess Elizabeth Attend the Richmond Agricultural Fair.

Today's picture of the King and Queen places them in the setting that many an Englishman far from the "tight little isle" loves to recall. It is rural England. Not that anything in this little group suggests green fields and gently rolling meadowlands perhaps, but the occasion is an agricultural fair which their majesties, accompanied by Princess Elizabeth, are attending. It serves also to show once again the great variety of interests that draw their majesties attention.

We have seen them in the last few weeks in many greatly divergent places, in mines and industrial centres, touring their vast empire, enjoying the sports and the everyday existence of their subjects, all part of the training a king and queen need to become the constitutional monarchs that Britain and the Empire demand. In every case no question can be raised as to the fitting manner in which they filled their positions, and today's picture illustrates just as surely their ability to fit it into any setting in which they may be placed.

That his majesty is enjoying the reception or perhaps the surroundings of the rural fair which he is attending is obvious; many times he and his beloved consort have appeared thus and every time England's stalwart sons and daughters have greeted him with respect and enthusiasm and with a deep appreciation of his interest in their welfare.

They have schooled themselves thus in the things that affect the people of the realm, from the highest to the lowest all through the years that have led up to this year, when England and her empire acclaim them as King and Queen; they are better rulers for the schooling.

Haskins Again Urges Growers to Advertise

"Your domestic market is declining, your production is going up and the strength of competition is constantly increasing," W. E. Haskins, B. C. Fruit Board member, told a growers' meeting at Penticton, the Penticton Herald reports. "In view of these facts there is only one answer, and that is advertising and merchandising."

Mr. Haskins in his talk emphasized the need for not only for an advertising and merchandising campaign, but also for greater interest on the part of the growers themselves in their own problems.

Coronation Plans Interrupt Those for School Meet

With preparations for the Nelson coronation celebrations filling the time of teacher and student alike little has been done in anticipation of the annual spring track meet of Nelson schools slated for May 22.

However, the matter is not being wholly neglected and during the week the young athletes may be seen on the Recreation grounds training for the event.

As usual the junior high and high school will be well represented while the other schools also plan a good representation.

Teachers in charge of training the sportsters are Derek Tye, high school; Douglas Chamberlain and P. C. Richards, junior high; George Wallach, Hume school; and Montey Morley, Central.

GIRL SOFTBALL TEAMS WORK OUT

The Maple Leafs and Aces girls' softball clubs which are entered in the local league this season, have set an unusual procedure in their workouts, by practicing together. While they now have 11 players lined up for the seasons activities, the Aces, who will be managed by Jim Cherrington, are not fully organized. So far this season the two clubs have held five or six workouts together, but it is expected that from now on the teams will hold separate workouts with fielding practice getting plenty of attention.

Both clubs have plenty of batting strength especially the Maple Leafs, who also appear strong in battery strength, with Hazel Spiers, starting her fourth season, and Annie Busk and Iris Johansson, as pitchers, and Alice Gillett, and Jean Spiers as catchers. Gertie Whitehead, will do the pitching for the Aces with Carmel Delpuppo behind the plate.

If the Maple Leafs can line up a fair infield, they will be hard to beat. The infield is also the question mark of the Aces, although Elvera Matheson and Isabel Donovan are again available.

The Nelson girls' league will start next Sunday afternoon, with the Maple Leafs meeting either the Red Sox or the Aces.

Pauline Stangherlin will be out for practice with the Maple Leafs.

Interior Lacrosse League Is Formed

VERNON, B.C., May 9 (CP) — Plans for formation of a six-team interior lacrosse league this year were laid at a week-end meeting here attended by representatives of lacrosse clubs in Kelowna, Vernon, Lumby, Armstrong, Salmon Arm and Kamloops.

An interior association was formed with R. F. Parkinson, of Kelowna, president.

Other officers are Joe Hall, Kamloops, vice-president; and Dr. Lloyd Day Kelonwa, secretary-treasurer. Instead of an executive committee, the organization decided to have each club name one member from its own members to act as a special committee to settle any disputes, to pass on all player transfers and to handle other work of a similar nature.

A 68-year-old taxi-driver, who has been driving for 25 years, has been warned he is too old to drive in London streets.

STEELE DEFENDS CROWN TONIGHT

SEATTLE, May 10 (AP).—Freddie Steele of Tacoma, who once was refused permission to fight in Seattle because he was too skinny, will risk his middleweight title for the third time in the civic auditorium here tomorrow night when he clashes with Frankie Battalia of Winnipeg in a 15-round bout.

Ten years ago when Freddie was 14 he came to Seattle to box a preliminary. The examining physician took one look at him and told him to go home and "grow up."

And Steele did a fair-sized job of growing. He became a six-footer and won the middleweight crown from Eddie (Babe) Risko last July.

Tomorrow night, before a near-capacity crowd of some 9000 fans, Steele will give Battaglia, a knockout specialist, a crack at the crown for a purse of $17,500 or an option of 50 per cent of the gate which might total $40,000.

Bob Feller Given Welcome Home

DES MOINES, Ia., May 10 (AP)—The home folk gave Bob Feller a booming welcome back to Iowa late today.

Returning to receive his diploma from Van Meter high school Friday night, the 18-year-old Cleveland pitching sensation was greeted at the municipal airport by 600 cheering persons.

Among the first to reach the strapping youngster, whose fast ball has been compared to the once burning speed of Walter Johnson, were the bashful, smiling parents, Mr. and Mrs. Will Feller, Van Meter, Ia., farmers.

"Gosh, It's good to see you, mom," said Bob as he gave her a big hug and kiss.

Cubs, Maroons Winners Trail Ball Fixtures

TRAIL, B. C., May 9 — At the end of the fifth inning when Cubs had 16 runs and Giants one, and a few drops of rain were felt, a fixture of the Trail men's softball league was called off here today.

In a game of the ladies' league Maroons walloped Traders 22-7.

Latham, hurling for Giants, was hit severely at the opening of the tilt and was replaced in the first inning by Gilling while bases were loaded. The latter allowed only four hits, but lack of control meant several wide pitches during which steals were made. Jones poled out the biggest hit of the day to deep right field. The commanding lead established by Cubs made them indifferent towards scoring more runs.

In the ladies' game, Traders were weak on pitching and although making a splendid effort in the seventh, blew up in the subsequent inning, letting in 10 runs. Eliza Edwards received the ball in her face while catching behind the second batter, and was forced to retire. She was relieved by Lily Gripich of the Jimmies.

Home runs were plentiful, Maroons nabbing five, two of them wiping clean, loaded bases.

Old man weather necessitated postponing of the Merco-Pirates men's game to May 16.

BATH, Me., May 10 (AP).—Tide waters on the Kennebec river beckoned tonight to Ranger, America's cup contender, ready for launching here.

VOLLEY BALL IS POPULAR WITH JUNIOR SPORTS

A new pastime has found favor with Nelson junior sportsters, volley ball, a sport that had seemingly died in favor of the youngsters is showing flourishing signs.

Throughout the winter the game was popular in the gym classes at some Nelson schools, especially at the junior high. Now members of one of Nelson's sporting clubs, the Skookum-Tillicums, are showing interest in the sport. One court of their tennis grounds on Fall street has been prepared and laid aside for practice of the game. It is reported that the juniors of the club are enthusiastic and finding great pleasure in volley ball.

SUDBURY LINE IS BROKEN UP

SUDBURY, Ont., May 10 (CP).—At least two important cogs in the Sudbury Tiger hockey machine which recently won the Allan cup, emblematic of the Canadian senior amateur championship, will be missing when the titleholders assemble for practice again next fall.

Today Don Grosso, first string left winger, and George Hastie, shifty centre ice star, announced they would play for Falconbridge Falcons, Tigers' chief northern rivals, next season. Grosso's departure breaks up the powerful front line combination of Dewey, Hill and Grosso.

Hastie centred Sudbury's second line with Erwin Chamberlain and Jules Cholette on the wings. Cholette, who is leaving for his Hull, Que., home in a few days, may remain there next season and play for Volants in the Ottawa and District league.

RECALL HENRICH

Boxla Hopefuls Are Driving to Get Into Shape

Fairview Squad Gives Senior Candidates Heavy Workout

With the big floor of the civic arena taken up with preparations for the Pageant of Empire feature of Coronation day, Nelson senior boxla hopefuls turned out with the Fairview laddies at the Recreation grounds Sunday morning and went through a heavy workout. The seniors are driving to attain top condition before the opening of West Kootenay league hostilities in which they will defend the West Kootenay championship.

Pete Bonneville, spark of last year's attack, made his first appearance at practices and set at rest rumors he had gone to Trail. Several newcomers are turning out, and it appears likely some of the new material will add a good deal to the strength of the squad.

Bob StDenis, former Nelsonite who has returned to the city, and who is well known in soccer and rugby circles, is turning out with a defence berth in mind, and may be of considerable value to the team.

Fairview Awaits Collegiate Team

The Fairview intermediate boxla squad, first on the field of action this season and full of fire with its annual game against Washington State college at Pullman, Wash., tucked away, is keeping in top shape for another game with the W. S. C. boys. They are expected to appear in Nelson in a return game this month.

In the May Queen vote at W.S.C., Marie Schreck, representing lacrosse, won top honors and was placed on a throne of roses to be crowned by Miss Lulu Holmes, dean of women.

CHAPTER 26

"She's not to know. You're not going to have the chance of telling her. Until she's safely married you won't be seeing her again. I arranged that at lunch today. Jacqueline is to retire to some quiet retreat, and the wedding is to take place—you'd like to know where, Charles, wouldn't you? But I'm the only one who knows that at present. Even Jim and Jacqueline haven't been told yet. And Mrs. Smith quite agrees that Jacqueline shouldn't see you again; she thinks you're a bad influence."

The solicitor was silent for some moments, frowning. Then his hands clenched and he faced Lutman again with a dangerous look in his eyes.

"Lutman," he said, "don't doubt that what you've said is true. I've discovered that about you: if you say you'll do a thing you always do it."

Lutman, with a cynical smile on his lips, made a deep bow.

"You say you're going to hide Jacqueline and keep her away from all chance of hearing the truth until she's married, and I don't doubt you can do it. But she's not going to marry Jim Asson, and I'll give you one more chance. Give me that deed."

Lutman turned and took a step toward the door, but Charles reached first and planted himself with his back against it.

The Colonel raised his eyebrows.

"I'm in rather a hurry," he said. "I came by boat, you know, and I want to catch the tide."

"Cut out the talk, Lutman. I want that deed."

Lutman's eyes narrowed.

"If you're not a darned fool, Charles, you'll stand clear of that door."

The solicitor did not move.

"Jacqueline is not marrying Jim Asson," he said, "and you don't leave here until you've handed over the deed."

"For heaven's sake, stop playing the fool!" exclaimed Lutman angrily. "Jim's going to marry the girl."

"No!"

Charles stood blocking the door of his office, not permitting Lutman to go out.

"If you can imagine you can back out now and butt in and upset everything — you can't," Lutman told Charles heatedly. "The marriage is going through — it's got to go through. There's a matter of $1,500,000 at stake, and if it came to the point I'd marry her to a drunken sailor to get away with it. Now come away from that door. You're not getting the deed. . . ."

Suddenly Charles sprang. His hands found Lutman's throat, and the Colonel, with Charles on top of him, crashed backward onto the floor. For perhaps a half-minute they struggled furiously, and then, with a tremendous effort, Lutman wrenched himself free, and the next instant Charles, springing to his feet, found himself staring at the muzzle of a revolver.

"Stay where you are," snapped Lutman, "or I'll kill you stone dead."

Charles stood still, but his hands were clenched and he was crouching slightly as if he were about to spring at Lutman again.

"You lunatic" exclaimed Lutman. "Do you want the river police in? No—don't move. You're as near death now, Charles, as you'll ever be."

His hand went to his breast pocket and he gave a nod of satisfaction.

"Still there," he said. "There seems no object in prolonging the interview."

With his gun still in his hand he backed to the door, found the handle, turned it, and pushed the door open.

"Good night, Charles," he smiled, slipped into the outer office, and closed the door.

The next instant, however, the door was opened again and Lutman's head appeared for a moment through the opening.

"If you'd thought for a couple of seconds, Charles," he said, "you'd have realized that I shouldn't have dared to risk shooting."

Mrs. Smith evidently had the good night's rest which she had anticipated. She was still fast asleep at 10 o'clock the next morning when Jacqueline, looking rather as though she had not slept at all, peeped into her room. She noiselessly closed the door again and went into the sitting room to breakfast off a cup of tea and a cigaret. She told herself that to wake her mother then and blurt out the unpleasant news as a morning greeting would be a heartless sort of thing to do — rather like waking a prisoner to announce to him that it was the morning of his execution.

It was 11 o'clock before Mrs. Smith put in an appearance, demanded a cup of tea, and, as she drank it, began to chatter.

"Such a happy day ahead, Jacqueline," she began. "Shopping. You must have something respectable to take away with you. You must certainly have some new underclothes. So important. We don't want Jim to think we're quite pauper."

"Mother, there is no need . . ." began Jacqueline, but Mrs. Smith cup her short.

"My dear, I know what a girl needs when she's going to get married, and you must leave it to me. I've been married and you haven't. Of course, we can't pay for anything, but if we mention Colonel Lutman's name I'm sure they'll give us all the credit we want. And of course, dear, I'm going to give you a present — a really good present. I can afford it now. At least, I shall be able to afford it very soon. If there's anything you especially want. . . ."

"There's nothing, mother, thanks And there's no need to go shopping." She hesitated a moment, then: "Mother, listen." she said. "I'm dreadfully sorry—I know it will disappoint you terribly—but there's going to be no wedding."

"Jacqueline"

The girl, seeing the look on her mother's face, reminded herself that this was going to be a battle and that any softness would mean defeat.

"There's going to be no wedding," she repeated. "Not with Jim Asson, anyway. If you want to get me off your hands mother, you've got to find someone better than Jim Asson. I'm not too particular, but even I have limits."

"But my dear, you promised — and everything's arranged"

"Sorry, mother, but everything's disarranged."

But I don't understand, Jacqueline. You told me that you'd signed the deed."

"So I have. But the deed means nothing until I'm married, and in any case I didn't find out until afterward. About Jim, I mean. I'm afraid it's a blow to you, mother, but the marriage with Jim Asson is definitely off."

"But, Jacqueline, why? If you haven't taken leave of your senses. . . ."

10,888 Tons Added in the First Week of May

Aggregating 10,888 tons in the first week of May, receipts of ore and concentrates at the Tadanac plant of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting company since January 1 reached 190,574 tons on May 7.

The week's total of 10,888 was made up of 10,472 tons from company operations and 416 tons of custom ore and concentrates. The total to date for company mines reached 184,445; and for custom shippers, 6129 tons.

The week's custom tonnages were: Ores—Boulder City, Boulder Spur, 88; California, Nelson, 3; Hewitt No. 7, Silverton, 50; Highland Bell, Beaverdell, 49; I.X.L., Rossland, 28; Lucky Thought, Silverton, 36. Total, 254.

LEADERS LOWER

NEW YORK, May 10 (AP). — Light selling sideswiped the stock market today and leading issues were ditched for declines of 1 to 4 or more points.

Searching the news for possible causes of the setback, analysts found nothing particularly depressing although, at the same time, little of an especially stimulating nature was discernible.

U.S. Steel touched off the slide and eventually broke 100. It closed at 99½, off 4¼ net. Other steel losers were Bethlehem at 84, Republic 36, National 83, Youngstown Sheet & Tube 85⅞ and American Rolling Mill 34¾.

Transfers totalled 779,430 shares compared with 817,240 last Friday

LONDON EASIER

LONDON, May 10 (AP).—Price movements in the stock market today were narrow, the forthcoming coronation and Whitsuntide holidays restricting public interest. The tone was easier at the close due mainly to liquidation in Kaffirs and oil shares. Transatlantics were quiet while German bonds moved higher. The industrial group was mixed with tobacco issues in supply and home rails heavy.

Wesko Returns for April Are $28,000

Wesko Mines limited mill at Ymir "operated 28½ days and returned smelter value in gold, silver and lead of $28,000" in April it is reported by a Vancouver broker. The broker's bulletin adds: "Ore development at the 569 level to the northeast and at the sublevels to the southwest progressed satisfactorily, reports a director."

TORONTO LOWER

TORONTO, May 10 (CP).—Volume expanded on declining prices today on the Toronto stock exchange. The golds and base metals were sold actively in spots and all groups lost three to three and three-quarter points in the exchange index.

International Nickel fell back to 59¾ to show a net drop of 1⅞ while Brazilian Traction drooped 1¾, C. P.R. ⅞, Ford A ½ and the big oils weakened ⅛ to ½. International Petroleum and Imperial slipped back ⅝ to ½.

Noranda and Hudson Bay dropped ⅝ to ½ each and Falconbridge Coast Copper, Pend Oreille, Ventures and Sherritt weakened 10 to 25 cents each. Silver stocks held steady.

Lake Shore traded 29,400 shares on a decline of ¾ to 52⅝ and Teck Hughes declined 25 cents. O'Brien dropped 40 cents to 8.25, closing at the bottom.

Recommendations of G. L. Fraser in the Hedley Investigation

VICTORIA, May 10 (CP)—G. L. Fraser, whose investigation of the collapse of Hedley Amalgamated gold mine stock disclosed ore had been "salted" and erroneous progress reports had been published, today presented to the government a series of recommendations designed to prevent misleading of the public through circulation of "irresponsible information" as follows:

1—Serious attention should be given to company's financing being controlled by any person or corporation actively directing the operations of the company whose shares are being underwritten.

2—It is highly debatable point as to whether or not a broker interested in the financing of a company should be permitted to sit on its board of directors. This subject merits further consideration.

(An earlier report by Mr. Fraser showed four officers of Hedley Amalgamated also were officers of the Burrard Stock and Bond Company).

3—In view of irresponsible information having done much damage on occasions in misleading the public, it should be the duty of every directorate to prevent unauthorized or ill-advised news reports or statements being issued and where possible such information should be authorized by the board of directors. At the same time it is desirable that correct informaiton should be available to the public at frequent intervals duly authorized and signed by the responsible representative of the company. I have in mind that information respecting ore tonnage, etc., should be certified by the company's consulting engineer, when one is acting.

4—Brokers and dealers: It should be the obligation of every company which has granted options on shares listed on the Vancouver stock exchange to file a written statement twice weekly with the exchange showing the position of the option the number of shares actually taken up, and what is the number still outstanding, and the exchange should thereupon publish such information.

5—It brokers are to be permitted to trade for their own accounts, the government and the exchange should discuss together the drafting of regulations for the further protection of the public.

6—The Vancouver stock exchange should be granted greater power to make effective by way of penalty or otherwise reforms as have been indicated.

7—The Securities act should be strengthened, where necessary, to make the above recommendations effective.

CHICAGO LOSES

Wheat and Corn Are Down; Rye Follows the Trend

CHICAGO, May 10 (AP).—Unwarranted misgivings that the newest official forecast of United States domestic winter wheat production would show an increase did much to make wheat prices average lower today.

Instead of an increase, however, the United States government crop report issued late this afternoon pointed to a probable decrease of 1,724,000 bushels from the total indicated a month ago. Downturns of wheat prices were at times as much as 2½ cents a bushel.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures were unchanged to 1 cent down, May $1.25⅛-¼, corn ⅝-2¾ off, Sept. $1.07¾-⅞, oats unchanged to ⅞ lower, and rye unchanged to 1⅜ decline.

Prices of corn futures fell sharply, in some cases off 3¼ cents from Saturday's finish. Rye sympathized with downturns of other grains.

The Winnipeg grain exchange was closed for Arbor day.

Sheep Creek Mine Output Is Record

Production of the Sheep Creek Gold Mines limited property at Sheep creek in April reached a new all-time high of $60,680, states a Vancouver broker's news bulletin, ascribing increased production to "much higher grade of ore being mined in the lower levels."

The bulletin compares April production with the figure of $35,031 in March, and with the previous record of $58,374 in August of last year.

MORE ABOUT

Canadian Honors

Thirteen peerages, 13 privy councillors, seven baronetcies and almost 100 knights, with columns of promotions and appointments in the various orders, figure in the long list of those whom the King honors on the occasion of his coronation.

Again, among the dominions, no titles go to Canada, South Africa or the Irish Free State. Lord Tweedsmuir, governor-general, and Ernest Lapointe, Canadian minister of justice, however, are made "right honorable" by appointment to the privy council. The Earl of Bessborough, governor-general of Canada 1930-35, who holds an Irish peerage, is created an earl in the peerage of the United Kingdom.

As never before, perhaps, the coronation honors cut a cross-section of life in the United Kingdom. Members of the royal family, statesmen, businessmen, writers, artists, musicians all appear in the list.

The rare honor of the Royal Victorian Chain is conferred on the Queen and Queen Mary. For the first time women are admitted to the Royal Victorian order. The Queen of Norway, the Princess Royal, the Duchess of Argyll and Princess Beatrice are made Dames Grand Cross of the Royal Victorian order. The Duchess of Kent and the Countess of Athlone are made Dames Grand Cross of the Order of the British Empire. The Duke of Kent is made a privy councillor.

Queen Elizabeth was also named a Lady of the Order of the Thistle.

George Skeet, who died at Burnham Market recently, was 104 years of age, it has been definitely established.

MORE ABOUT

Among new commanders of the Order of the Bath are the president of the Cooperative Congress, a chief engineer of Cunard-White Star line, the general secretary of the National Union of Seamen, and the woman founder and sceretary of the Friends of Canterbury Cathedral.

The medal of the order of the British Empire goes, among others, to a London bus driver, a London bus conductor, the head gardener of the Imperial war graves in France, the 'bosun of a New Zealand ship, and a consulate clerk in Ethiopia.

Sir Hubert Gough was awarded the Grand Cross of the Order of the Bath. There had been predictions in recent months that the commander of the Fifth army in France would be raised to the peerage but it was understood tonight the government considered the vindication of the calibre of his war services since the publication of wartime Premier Lloyd George's latest volume of memoirs was sufficient without a peerage.

A number of women were recognized for distinguished work in connection with social welfare and overseas settlement. They included Edith Muriel Lady Anderson for services in Newfoundland and New South Wales, created a D.B.E.

Miss Celia MacDonald of The Isles received a C.B.E. for services in connection with extending hospitality to Dominion students in London.

The C.B.E. was also conferred upon Gladys Sydney Pott for services in connection with the settlement overseas of British women.

Louisa Kathleen Haldane received the O.B.E. for outstanding work on behalf of Dominion students in Oxford and the M.B.E. was given to Helen Marina, Canadian manager of the Scottish Aid society and Eleanor Sarah Nicholas, secretary of the Society for Overseas Settlement of British Women.

Rev. R. A. MacDonnell, Canadian manager of the Scottish Immigrant Aid society, received an M.B.E.

Norman Archer, former secretary of the British high commissioner's office at Ottawa, became an officer of the Order of the Bath.
