SECRET CONFAB AS PRICE OF SEPT. CORN AT CHICAGO GOES SKYWARD

'Squeeze' Threatens as Traders Scramble to Buy

SOME 'SHORTS' DO NOT JOIN BUYING

CHICAGO, Sept. 16 (AP) — Board of trade officials conferred secretly tonight on possible moves in a tight situation in September corn contracts which threatens a serious market "squeeze."

A scramble to buy corn to meet September contracts sent the price up five cents a bushel late in the trading session, but trading in other futures was not affected.

The board of trade's business* conduct committee went into session through the dinner hour, and was recalled after recess.

Meanwhile John H. MacMillan, jr., of Minneapolis, president of the Cargill Grain company—reportedly the largest trader on the "long" side in September futures—came here for conferences.

Observers said some of the principal "shorts"—those traders who agree to deliver corn to the "longs" or holders of contracts for September delivery—did not join in the day's buying rush, apparently in the belief the situation would be eased in some as yet unforeseen manner.

Because of the impending 'squeeze' September corn was quoted 36 cents higher than corn for October delivery, and 47 cents above the December delivery price.

September contracts, which must be filled chiefly with corn grown in 1936 and of which there was a decided shortage, finished the day at $1.10 to $1.10½ a bushel, up five cents from Wednesday's closing price.

THREE YEARS FOR FERNIE HOLD-UP

Mike Bossio to Serve With Hard Labor for Robbery

Pleading guilty to a charge of robbery with violence, Mike Bossio of Fernie, was sentenced to three years with hard labor by Judge W. A. Nisbet this afternoon. It was alleged that Bossio held up G. D. Fisher and family of Calgary, at a local tourist camp on the night of August 30, taking about $17, a wallet and a watch.

Smart police work resulted in Bossio's arrest within two hours. Bossio had the watch and wallet in his possession evidence indicated. The sentence is to run concurrent with two sentences of six months already received on other charges.

One of the two charges on which Bossio was found guilty and sentenced to six months was of theft of a club bag and contents from a tourist camp cabin occupied by Edward W. Borgens of Calgary; and the other was of retaining in his possession stolen goods, the goods being a watch, watch chains and fob belonging to A. B. King of Fernie. BOY BACK HOME FREED OF BLAME FOR KILLING HIS RANCHER FATHER

Five Minutes for Jury to Find Metcalf Lad Not Guilty

SHOT TO PROTECT MOTHER, SISTER

VANCOUVER, Sept. 16 (CP)—Seventeen-year-old Desmond Metcalf went back tonight to the log-cabin among the stumps and goat-pastures near Coquitlam where he shot his father to death with a .22-calibre rifle.

Desmond, held since his father died of a bullet wound last July 20, was free tonight. An assize court jury, after deliberating only five minutes, found him not guilty of a charge of manslaughter.

Foreman Andra Blygh delivered the verdict the jury had reached after considering the evidence of a two-day trial and Mr. Justice H. B. Robertson's instructions to find the boy innocent if they believed Desmond shot his father to prevent him from harming or possibly murdering his mother and sister.

EVIDENCE OF THREATS

The Judge had told the jurymen that there was evidence of continual threats on the part of the father and that he had told the children he would kill them.

After the verdict was read, Mr. Justice Robertson told the second-year-high school boy: "go with courage and be a comfort to your mother and sister."

Earlier the boy had stood in the witness stand and told the story of events leading up to the shooting.

Mr. Justice Robertson said in his instructions to the jury, that, if the boy, to prevent his mother from being seriously injured or murdered, shot his father, the accused was entitled to acquittal.

Of the father, Crown counsel Henry Castillou said: "The actions of this man are unexplainable and foreign to nature."

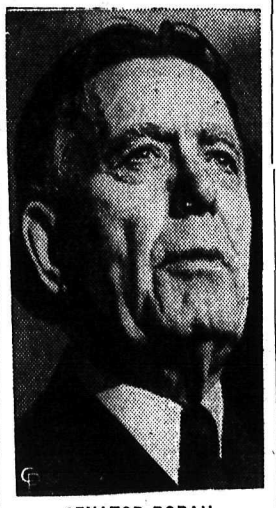
Meanwhile Britain and France pushes their naval concentrations to protect merchant shipping in the Mediterranean.

Takes Exception to German Statements



SENATOR BORAH

Senator Borah, (R-Ida), last night took exception to the statements emanating from Germany that emissaries from that country going to the U.S. to preach their doctrine "must be protected by" the U.S. government. He warned that they will have freedom of speech but if they break the law they will be put on trial, "not in the puppet courts of their homeland, but in independent courts."

Borah Warns the Nazis in the U. S.

Have Speech Freedom but If Break Law Go on Trial

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 (AP) — Senator Borah appealed tonight for the maintenance of "uncontrolled courts" as the only guarantee that traditional American liberties will be preserved.

In a speech commemorating the 150th anniversary of the signing of the constitution, he swung without preface into a discourse which carried his hearers back to the memorable battle of last winter over the administration proposal to revamp the Supreme Court.

He took exception to the recent statements emanating from Germany concerning the rights of Nazis abroad.

Without referring to Germany by name, Borah referred to a "high official of a foreign government" and declared that official had said "emissaries from his country coming here to teach their doctrine must be protected by our government, that they must enjoy, as it were, immunity in their efforts to sow the seeds of religious intolerance, race hatred, and arbitrary power among us."

Borah declared these emissaries will have liberty of expression, but if they break the law they will be put on trial "not in the puppet courts of their homeland, but in independent courts."

NEGRO CLAIMS DEFRAUDED IN HATFIELD CASE

OTTAWA, Sept. 16 (CP)—Intimation by Col. Warwick Beament, counsel for Captain Freeman Hatfield, that Senator Hance J. Logan had "short-changed" Alexander Allison, colored second mate of the Gypsum Queen, to the extent of $279.80, was made at today's hearing of the Nova Scotian Shipmaster's trial.

Hatfield is charged with obtaining $71,276.72 from the reparations commission by false pretences.

Acting for Hatfield in the reparations claim was Senator Logan, of Parrsboro, N.S.

Brought from Staten Island, N.Y., where he is now employed as a rigger, the negro seaman told of the transaction carried out in March, 1931, on the ferryboat crossing New York harbor.

He related how the senator and Hatfield had encountered him on the ferry on the way to Allison's home. Logan had with him a check awarded to the negro by the reparations commission for the loss of effects when the Gypsum Queen was abandoned.

"I have $500 in my pocket for you," the senator was quoted by Allison as saying. Logan then produced the check and, accoring to witness, presented him the reverse side, with the request: "Just sign this receipt."

Allison swore he did not know it was a check, and that it had been issued to him, for $779.80.

Italy Again Is Branded as Back of the 'Pirate' Subs

23 Powers to Be Asked to Consider Chinese Situation

GENEVA, Sept. 16 (CP-Havas) —The troubled paths of China and Spain crossed fleetingly today at a League of Nations council session which heard Spanish Premier Juan Negrin brand Italy as the "pirate" whose submarines have attacked Mediterranean shipping.

The council a little while before passed on the Chinese question by referring China's appeal against Japanese aggression to the 23-power consultative committee, created in February, 1933, with the United States as a member, after Tokyo's Manchurian conquest.

The council decided to invite the 23 nations of the original committee to reconvene. Hence the question of the United States' attitude toward further collaboration with the League on far eastern affairs became important to Geneva.

Japanese spokesmen indicated Japan would not send representatives to any meeting of the committee.

The council members were not rid so easily of the 15-month-old Spanish civil war, however. Negrin's speech was so emphatic against Italy that even the Soviet foreign commissar, Maxim Litvinoff, advised he "had nothing to add."

Negrin, after criticizing "limitations" of the nine-power Nyon accord, took the League itself to task for closing its eyes to "proof" that the "anonymous state whose warships have sought to create terrorism in the Mediterranean is Italy."

GO INTO PUBLIC LIFE, BEATTY ADVISES

VERNON, B. C., Sept. 16 — "Go into public lire, young man," was Sir Edward Beatty's exortation to the new generation in this country when he addressed the Men's and Women's Canadian Clubs of Vernon at a luncheon meeting today. He urged not only maintenance of Canada's present high standard of citizenship, but elevation and enlargement of the ideals now pursued.

That often maligned individual the "politician" found a champion in Sir Edward. The word that means "one versed in public affairs had come too often into disrepute, used sometimes even as a term of opprobrium, he said. The standard of public service in this country had been extraordinarily high, Sir Edward thought, and too little credit has been given in the past to countless leaders with unselfish aims.

New Electrical Device Makes the Heart Take X-Ray Picture of Self

(By Steven J. McDonough)
(Associated Press Science Writer)

CHICAGO, Sept. 16 (AP)—A new electrical device which makes the heart automatically take X-ray pictures of itself was shown today before the International Congress of Radiology.

With it physicians for the first time get accurate pictures of the size and shape of the heart in health and disease instead of an approximate image, according to its inventors, Dr. I. Seth Hirsch and Dr. Myron Schwarzchild of New York City.

In operation it combines three of science's newest tools — the electrocardiograph, which picks up the small electrical waves generated by the heart; the cathode ray tube which makes electrons dance visibly to show the electrical waves, the photo-electric cell or electric eye, which transfers light rays into electricity.

The electric waves from the heart are picked up from the surface of the body, amplified about 10,000 times, and passed into the cathode ray tub where they are made visible. As the heart reaches its maximum expansion it produces a characteristic long wave which is picked up by the photo-electric cell. The cell instantaneously closes a circuit to the X-ray tube which makes a quick snapshot of the heart at that point.

Old-Timer and Son Find Health By Using Wondro

Piles, Stomach Troubles and Twitching Disappear

For years this well-known Calgary old-timer suffered from piles and stomach trouble with no relief until he was advised to take Harris' Wondro. The results were so remarkable that Mr. Gordon writes to tell Mr. Harris that he has had no return of his former afflictions.

His son, too, was benefited to such an extent that he could take up heavy work again with no ill effects. Read Mr. Gordon's tribute to Harris' Wondro in the following letter:

"Dear Sir:—I suffered for years with piles and only those who have them know what it means. I also had ulceration of the stomach and would be in bed for days at a time and tried everything I could think of, but with no results whatever. I was advised by my physician to have an operation as I seemed to be getting worse.

"At last a friend advised me to try Harris' Wondro, and I am thankful to say that after I had given it a fair trial, my piles and ulcers had gone completely. I found the remedial effect of the treatment to be lasting as I have had no return of either complaint.

"My son suffered for seven years with frequent, periodic twitching attacks which would upset his whole system. He received medical treatment including special medicine from the States but was no better. He decided to try Harris' Wondro and the results were beyond our expectations. He is now stronger and looks better than he has for twenty years and is doing heavy work in the country with no ill effects, in fact, he has not had an attack for over four years since taking Harris' Wondro. I cannot praise your medicine enough, for it has sure been a God-send in our home.—Yours truly, James A. Gordon, 323 Third avenue northeast, Calgary, Phone H 3440"

What Harris' Wondro was able to do for Mr. Gordon, a Calgary old-timer of more than thirty years standing, it is able to do for you, too, because Harris' Wondro supplies needed elements to every part of the body, building up the blood and system and strengthening the stomach and digestive organs. Order a treatment for yourself, today!

Harris' Wondro is for sale at all drug stores and is obtainable also in boxed capsule form. A bottle of Harris' Laxico, a medicine for constipation, is included free with every purchase of Harris' Wondro. If your druggist cannot supply you, order direct from George Harris and Son, Herbalists, Calgary. Advt.

Corner Stone of New Trail Masonic Temple Laid by B.C. Grand Master

Trowel Used Made by Trail Artisans of Trail Silver

LARGE CROWD OF CITIZENS ATTENDS

TRAIL, B. C., Sept. 16 —Corner stone of the new Masonic temple, to be occupied by Fidelity lodge No. 32, A. F. & A. M. and Emulation lodge No. 25, was laid today by Rev. Dr. J. S. Henderson, grand master of the order of British Columbia. Assisting him were Dr. C. M. Kingston, deputy grand master, Grand Forks; W. R. Simpson, junior grand warden, Vancouver; H. Hughes, grand tyler, Vancouver, and W. F. Huffman, district deputy grand master, Grand Forks. O. H. Nelson, Trail, was director of ceremonies. The visiting officers of the grand lodge were assisted by local grand lodge members.

The Masonic order was well represented. Several attending from Rossland and Nelson lodges. Mayor Bruno Lerose and members of the city council, and Rev. F. G. St. Denis, president of the Trail ministerial association also attended officially. A large crowd of citizens witnessed the ceremony.

Headed by the Canadian Legion brass band, the Masons paraded from the I. O. O. F. hall to scene of the ceremony.

"On behalf of the city council and the citizens of Trail, may I congratulate the Masonic order on erecting such a grand building which is a credit to our city," said Mayor Bruno Lerose. "I extend to the grand master of the grand lodge, Dr. Henderson and party a hearty welcome and hope their visit here will be an enjoyable one."

"I feel may mission here an important one," replied Dr. Henderson, "and that the work we are putting a blessing on here today will be worth while to the city and citizens."

A. C. Williamson, Trail, past grand master, told his listeners that the temple was the fulfillment of a dream of a few years ago. The property was acquired in 1930 at which time a holding company was formed to provide ways and means to erect the temple. The temple, well under construction was the result of hard work on the part of those men appointed and by cooperation and faith in the city.

Mr. Henderson then received the silver trowel made out of Trail silver and by Trail artisans.

It was an ornament he would treasure and that would speak of work well done by the Masonic order in Trail, Dr. Henderson said. "I congratulate Trail on having such artists in its midst."

He then asked if a casket containing records and memorials of the period had been prepared. J. L. Webster, Trail acting grand secretary then read the list of documents and articles that had been enclosed in the casket. They included constitution and bylaws of the order, officers of the Trail lodge and grand lodges, names of the Trail mayor, council, city clerk and treasurer, names of the police commission, the chief of police, the school board, a photo of the C. M. & S. company's Tadanac plants, Canadian stamps and Canadian coins.

The corner stone was then laid and tested by the implements of masonry. These were returned to O. H. Nelson, by Dr. Henderson, along with the plans of the structure.

Dr. Henderson then delivered a brief oration on the significance of the implements of masonry and the order's purposes and objectives.

DISTRICT DRIVE FOR PUBLICITY TALK OF BOARD

Means of Organizing Will Be Probed by Junior Board

Proposals for a Kootenay-wide publicity campaign were placed before the Nelson junior board of trade Thursday night in an informal discussion following the board's dinner meeting, and steps were taken toward investigating and outlining the best methods of launching such a campaign.

The discussion developed when E. J. Goos, president, called for suggestions for a junior board of trade objective. Another proposal was that the board organize winter classes on public speaking, particularly for the benefit of young men seeking information, experience and training in this direction. Keener interest in civic affairs was also advanced as a matter for the attention of all members.

During the meeting the board heard Fred Leno, Nelson delegate, report on the convention of the Canadian junior chamber of commerce at Vancouver; indorsed the campaign to collect fruit and vegetables for drought-stricken prairie areas and nominated Gordon Burns to represent it on the Kootenay committee likely to be organized; accepted the duty of staging a monster dance in connection with the Nelson fall fair; and indorsed the efforts of the Nelson Rod & Gun club and board of trade to retain the Dominion fish hatchery here, a project which has been receiving district-wide backing.

Miss Tomlinson Wed at Erickson

ERICKSON, B.C.—Roses and cut flowers in profusion provided an attractive setting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard T. Leveque for the marriage of their niece, Miss Edith Dorothy Tomlinson, to Hugh Graham, at high noon Sunday, Sept. 12. The bride entered the living room to the strains of the wedding march, played by Mrs. A. H. Walker, and Rev. Andrew H. Walker was the officiating clergyman.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle and was attractively costumed in a blue suit, with grey accessories. The bridesmaid was Miss Esther Vasseur of Creston, who chose grey with navy blue. The best man was Alfred Burg of Edmonton.

During the signing of the register Mrs. Harold Langston sang "Because," with Mrs. Walker as accompanist. The newlyweds received the congratulations of the guests at a buffet luncheon and reception following the ceremony, and later in the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Graham left on a wedding trip to Nelson and points west. On their return they will reside in the new home the groom has erected on his ranch at Erickson.

After refreshments, dancing was enjoyed. Music was furnished by the Bentley brothers and Miss Winnie Norgrove. A. S. Read, president of the club, was chairman of the whist with Albert Smith floor manager for the evening.

C. B. C. Bantams Win in Fast Clean Game

Led by Prestley and Hunden in a scoring spree C. B. C. bantams tumbled the F. A. C. squad 10-7 in a bantam playoff fixture Thursday.

The pair scoring goal for goal ran up the C. B. C. count to eight, while Vulcano doubled to make the 10.

Fairview's Fleming twins, Art and Wallace, again were the sparkplugs of the F. A. C. attacks and between them ran up five Fairview markers, Wallace snagging the extra honor with three goals. Ioanin and Frank Christian singled to complete the Fairview scoring parade.

Only three minor penalties were dished out.

Road Questions to Be Taken Up With Minister

Special Committee to Delve Into Bill of Teachers

If Hon. F. M. MacPherson, minister of public works, accompanies Premier T. D. Pattullo on his trip to this district shortly, the Nelson board of trade will take up with him, through its roads and bridges committee, numerous matters, large or small, affecting the highways. One of these is the matter of telephone poles on the widened highway near the Harrop cutoff, raised by J. P. Fink; another is the matter of equipment parked on the north shore in a dangerous position, raised by Ven. Archdeacon Fred H. Graham.

Presumably also the matter of the Valentine corner, where the department is taking no action to widen the roadway though residents are ready to donate land, will be brought to the minister's notice. In this connection C. F. McHardy stated he had been incorrectly reported as saying the Valentine corner could be made 28 feet wide, whereas the figure he had given was 20 feet.

John Learmonth, chairman, said while he had not been in touch with O. G. Gallaher, engineer, department of public works, on the matter, he believed the promise of Arthur Dixon, chief engineer, at Victoria, to take up the speeding up of the work at Apex, with the contractor, had had results, as it was reported now that now two or more crews were working.

CONTROL OF SCHOOLS

Archdeacon Graham drew attention to the recent editorial in The Nelson Daily News on the subject of the bill said to be drafted by the Teachers federation, proposing to make it imposible for teachers to be employed in this province unless they were members of the organization, and said there was apparently a crisis facing the people of the province, on the point of whether the teachers, or their federation, or the provincial government, should be completely in control of education. If there was any possibility of education being taken out of the hands of the public and being put into the hands of the teachers or of the government, the archdeacon declared, it would seem to be a strongly fascist proceeding. He asked whether the board had any committee that could investigate this question.

J. R. Hunter pointed out that the board used to have a legislative committee, but of late years one had not been appointed.

On motion of Archdeacon Graham and R. D. Barnes, E. A. Mann, vice-president, who was in the chair, was requested by the council to appoint a committee to investigate the possibility of public control of the schools being lost, and report in due course. The chair appointed Archdeacon Graham, Dr. G. A. C. Walley, and H. H. Currie as the committee.

In this connection, Mr. Learmonth, who resides at Willow Point, said that for a number of years consolidated schools had been agitated on the West Arm and in other parts of the Nelson district, and he predicted that a consolidated school for the district within a 25-mile radius of Nelson would in a few years become a reality.

AYR, Ont., (CP). — When Mrs. Robert Elliott, 77, made a hooked mat for her son she had no idea it was going on display. Entered in the Canadian National exhibition, it took first prize.

Grower-Trucker Cause of Complaint to Creston Agencies

CRESTON, B.C.—The latest complaint of the prairie fruit wholesalers would indicate that the check up on truck shipments is lax in the matter of having the truck driver produce a certificate of inspection before being allowed to clear B.C.

A Lethbridge wholesaler Saturday notified Creston selling agencies that trucked Wealthys had been sold a retailer at Taber, Alta., in boxes that did not show the grower's or package name. All that was marked on the boxes was Wealthy No. 3 and Duchess No. 3.

The grower-trucker appears to be maintaining his price on these varieties as they had been sold at $1.20, which was the price on the shipment complained of at Cardston earlier in the month.

This price is too low for the jobber to meet and the firm registering the complaint advises that it was forced to bring into its Lethbridge warehouse part of a car that had been placed at Taber.

Board Proposes Motor Excursion to Crawford Bay

Committee to Work on One for Week After Nelson Fair

Instructions were given to the entertainment committee of the board of trade Thursday by the board council, to consider the possibility of a motor excursion to the Crawford Bay-Gray Creek district the week following the Nelson fall fair. For some future time, a grand excursion all around the main lake, probably by chartered steamer, was also talked, as a means of making friendly contacts with Kaslo, Ainsworth, and all districts down to Boswell, but for immediate purposes members advocated visiting the communities on the east side of the Outlet. Such a visit was declared to be timely, as the day when access will be made easier by the Kootenay Bay betterment is coming nearer, and the board has not for some years looked over the progressive communities on "the Bay".

Given fine weather, the excursion was regarded as assured, and members of the entertainment committee interpreted the council's resolution as instructions to proceed to arrange an excursion.

JUNIOR BOARD DELEGATION

J. J. McKay, representative of the junior board of trade on the council, said the junior board's two delegates to the Canadian Chamber of Commerce convention at Vancouver found they could not carry out their hope of speaking for the board of trade, as the junior convention proved to be entirely separate, but that the delegates, Gordon Burns and Fred Leno, did good work for Nelson in digging up pictures and in trying to induce some of the eastern business men to return east this way. He said the Nelson men found that there was a general interest in this district in connection with mining, but they were handicapped by Nelson's lack of mining literature.

Vice-president E. A. Mann, who was in the chair in the absence in Winnipeg of President W. B. Bamford, warmly thanked Mr. McKay for his report, as well as for the good offices of the junior delegates.

As the late G. H. Ferguson was a member of the council, the council supplemented the action taken by the board last week, by a further resolution proposed by Ven Archdeacon Fred H. Graham, paying a tribute to Mr. Ferguson's character and work.

PARIS, Sept. 16 (AP)—French stabilization funds were reported buying pounds and dollars today but profit-taking by speculators checked the franc's fall. NELSON'S SOUND FINANCIAL POSITION EXPLAINED TO NANAIMO COUNCIL BY A DELEGATE TO THE MUNICIPAL MEETING

NANAIMO, Sept. 15—The splendid financial condition of the city of Nelson, a city with no debts, owning its own utilities and a $275,000 civic centre, was the centre of interest in a brief speech by Ald. W. T. Grieves, during the report of delegates to the recent convention of the Union of B. C. Municipalities here last week, at Monday night's meeting of the Nanaimo city council.

"Just think of our sister city standing there in such a splendid position," he said, "and here we are so far in the hole that we don't know where our next dollar is coming from. I hope to see the same thing here some year."

ELECTRIC LIGHT PROFITS

Ald. Grieves told the councillors that last year Nelson made $60,000 on its electric light plant, and this year plans to be $100,000 ahead.

He closed his few remarks with a plea that the council endeavor to adopt some plan to "lessen the burden for our children to carry."

POOR READING VISION MAY GO WITH NORMAL EYES

Poor Vision . . .

Eye-Strain May Cause Child to Be Inattentive

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

Good vision does not necessarily mean healthy eyes. This is true in childhood. In middle age the converse may be said to be true—poor vision, at least for reading, goes with perfectly normal eyes.

The child in school is asked to read a chart and he reads the 20-20 line, which is the accepted standard for normal vision. Yet he may have to strain his eyes to achieve this normal vision. Sooner or later with the continual strain of achieving normal vision in school, he will begin to have symptoms—of headaches, or nervousness, or inattention.

The three optical faults which induce eyestrain are far-sightedness, near-sightedness and astigmatism.

Far-sightedness does not mean good vision in the distance. The eyes have to strain even when looking at a distance. Normal eyes focus distant objects with complete relaxation. Only when doing close work do they have to focus; but focusing in a normal eye is not the same as strain.

RESULT IS STRAIN

In far-sighted eyes the image falls too far back even when the eyes are looking at a distanc, and the retina does not receive a clear-cut image until the focusing muscle starts working and brings the image upon the retina. That means the focusing muscle never gets a rest.

This results in constant strain and leads to nervous symptoms of that strain. Such a child was one aged eight who at home was disobedient, irritable and nervous. At school he was indifferent to his work, backward, and his teacher called him lazy. No one for a while suspected his eyes might be the cause of the trouble, because he could always read the smallest line on the test chart, until finally one doctor suggested a "thorough" examination. This means a complete check of the physical health of the eyes and a determination of the total optical error.

STRAIN ON MUSCLE

These far-sighted children have just such a strain upon the focusing muscle that it is hypertrophied and much stronger than normal, so it is generally agreed among competent oculists that it must be put at rest with medicine before the exact amount of optical error can be measured.

One of the best text books on the eye says, "In every case of hyperapia (far-sightedness) occurring in children and young adults, the accommodation should be paralyzed and the total error estimated so as to serve as a prescription for glasses."

When this was done to the child whose case we have recounted, and proper glasses prescribed for him, his improvement was remarkable. He wasn't really lazy or indifferent, but you can't expect a young fellow to be full of pep when some of his muscles are always on a strain.

Neck Needs Care as Much as Face for True Beauty

By GLADYS GLAD

There are a surprising number of women who neglect their necks. They just seem automatically to cease operations when they hit the jawline. As a result, their necks become sallow, wrinkled and old-looking. Every woman should be just as lavish in the care of her neck as she is in the care of her face. The neck is just as prone as the face to lose its clearness and smoothness of texture, when exposed to heat, dirt and grime, unless given daily care.

Always give your neck a thorough cleansing when you cleanse your face. And, whether you use soap and water or a cold cream or both, use only an upward stroke in the cleansing process. The muscles of the face and neck are continuous, you know, and the beauty of your profile and the contour of your jaw depend upon the firmness of these muscles. If you use a downward stroke, you may stretch these delicate elastic face and neck muscles.

DON'T FORGET NECK

When bleaching your face be sure that you don't forget your neck, too. Generally, necks need bleaching treatments more frequently than faces, for the friction of collars and exposure to the elements tend to darken and discolor the skin. The truly well groomed woman does not forget her neck when using her cosmetics, either. If you wish to look naturally well groomed and lovely, you must make up your neck as well as your face. A powder base and a coating of powder should be applied to the neck both in front and in back, and should be blended

Marriage Not Failure . . .

Persons Who Complain of Marriage Probably Be the Same if Unmarried

By VIRGINIA LEE

An attractive young woman once told me that she knew of no happily married couples. The fact that her married friends seemed so unhappy and discontented was, she told me, one reason why she had not at that time married the man she loved.

However, she has since married him, and the last I heard she was radiantly happy.

It is the normal, human way to marry and make a home. Few marriages are ideal, but the people who complain bitterly about their mates and life with them, probably would do just as much complaining and be quite as inconsolable if they had not married.

And I'm not so sure that marriage, in the main, is a failure. I went on a boat trip recently. Many of the passengers were people who apparently had been married for quite some years. And I could not help remarking how happy they were, and how fond of each other. When I said as much to other passengers, they said they had noticed the same thing.

We all get discouraged with the number of divorces and with the fact that so many married couples seem to be ill-mated, but the majority of people still stay together through life and achieve a tried and true companionship, even though they may not seem to be the ideal mates who suggest a match made in heaven.

"Dear Virginia Lee: I have been going steady with a young man for about a year and a half. He has repeatedly told me he loves me and intends to marry me. He has never said when, however, or asked me to set the date. He begged me to go with no one else, and I don't.

"Now his brother's marriage has gone on the rocks, and he says his brother's troubles have made him wonder whether he ever will marry, although he says he loves me very much. He is very undecided.

"I have chances of dating other boys, but as I think more of this young man than I do anyone else, I haven't as yet. I'm 21 now, and sometimes think I should make the most of opportunities. Kindly tell me what you think best.

"PHYLIS ANNE."

That depends upon how you feel about the boy, Phylis Anne. If this young man is your idea of the type of husband you want, and you truly love him, it is up to you to show him that you and he can make a happy home together. Everyone has doubts sometimes about the wisdom of getting married. This is particularly so after learning of the troubles and failure of one who is near and dear to us. And when we feel that way we are quite likely to say so. We don't expect to be taken seriously, however, and I imagine neither does your boy friend.

If you feel, however, that you would like to go with other boys and have a little more experience before settling down, I think you should stop going with him exclusively and date other boys. It is up to you, my dear.

Sonnysayings

Instead ob eatin' it yerself, Baby, an' pretendin' Rag Anna dun it, why not let me gulp it down? It'd be more realistical!

Today's Recipes

Green beans with cheese sauce—One-half pound American cheese, one cup irradiated evaporated milk, one quart cooked or canned green beans, paprika Melt cheese in the milk over boiling water. Pour over hot beans and sprinkle with paprika. Makes six servings.

Rosettes

One of the most fascinating gadgets and tools that make household cooking a lot of fun is the rosette iron. The iron comes with two shapes—rosette, which is a fancy medallion, and a heart-shaped shell. You can fry a number of each at one time and have on hand the makings of many interesting desserts, for the shells retain their flavor and crispness indefinitely. Dusted lightly with confectioners' sugar, rosettes are a delightful tea cake. But for a really elegant dessert, try a rosette topped with a scoop of vanilla ice cream and a few luscious berries or crushed fresh peaches.

Following is the recipe: Rosettes—Two eggs, one and one-fourth cups irradiated evaporated milk, one cup flour, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one tablespoon sugar. Beat eggs slightly. Add milk. Sift flour, then measure. Resift with salt and sugar into the egg and milk mixture. Stir until batter is smooth. It should be about the consistency of heavy cream. Dip rosette iron in the hot fat to heat, then in the batter, and fry in hot fat (50 F.) until golden brown. Drain on absorbent paper.

SWEET CORN

Sweet corn is said to have been introduced as "papoon" corn by General Sullivan after his expedition against the Six Nations just after the Revolutino, says the New Jersey department of agriculture.

White spots on your furniture which are caused by heat may be removed by applying wood alcohol on a soft cloth and then rubbing the spots with furniture polish. However, if such spots are deep the only cure for them is refinishing.

EDGEWOOD FAIR BOARD PLEASED WITH QUALITY OF EXHIBITS, THE COMPETITION AND THE VISITORS

Judges Had Trouble in Awarding Several Aggregates

TENNIS TOURNEY, SPORTS, DANCING

EDGEWOOD, B. C. — The ninth annual agricultural fair of Edgewood and the Inonoaklin valley last week-end was held in the Edgewood hall as in former years.

There were 478 entries this year as against 564 last year; and, though there was a falling off in the quantity of exhibits, the quality was well maintained and in many cases improvements were noted upon by the judges. In one case, the fruit section, there were more exhibits this year and this notwithstanding the absence of Captain Forslund who has left the district, and who was always the largest exhibitor in this section in past years.

Competition was keen for the various challenge cups and other presentation trophies. The grand challenge cup for scoring most points in field produce, garden produce and flowers was somewhat easily won by H. Aalten of Nakusp, but there was a tie for the Dr. Yeld challenge cup, which is given for the winner of most points in the junior farmers' club section. The tie for this cup was between last year's winner, J. Pender, and Corrie deGans. When the fair board found that these two junior exhibitors had scored equal points they brought the judges back to work again and called upon them to decide as to whether the young man or the young lady should be awarded the cup. The cup is for most points in three classes—a beef calf handled according to calf club regulations, a pen of White Wyandottes, and a collection of vegetables. The judges made a decision in favor of Corrie deGans on the grounds that she had a slight lead when taking the three classes as one exhibit, instead of scoring the three classes separately.

A TIE

There was also a tie for the prize donated by J. Langille for most points in the fruit section, between E. Kendrick of Fauquier and G. Briggeman of Deer Park. The fair board decided in this case to ask Mr. Langille to divide the prize.

The Curlew silver trophy was won by L. J. deGans of the Inonoaklin Valley. This trophy is given for the best type of dairy cow in the fair.

The handsome Bank of Commerce tray for the exhibitor gaining the highest number of points in the domestic science section was deservedly won by Mrs. Alice Ford, whose home is at Bates Landing, north of Applegrove, on the east side of the lake.

The above mentioned cups and trophies were presented during the dance held at night. J. B. Gray of Nelson made the presentations.

Mr. and Mrs. Evans were judges. The former for field and garden produce and fruit. The latter the women's and children's sections. Also judging were Mr. Middleton for the Junior Calf club, and the cattle; W. Buchanan the poultry, and H. H. Jenne the butter and milk. Messrs. Middleton, Evans and Jenne cooperated in judging the eggs, dairy collections and junior poultry and vegetables.

The fair board expressed their appreciation of the trouble taken by all these gentlemen, and, of course, Mrs. Evans, in judging, which gave such general satisfaction, also to the creamery of Nelson for making the services of Messrs. Buchanan and Jenne available. They also thanked the many people of Nelson who had supported the Edgewood fair, both by their attendance and their donations, which in no small way contributed to the success of the fair.

The knitted sweater exhibit under the Women's institute section drew favorable comment from Mrs. Evans, the judge.

There were many district visitors, several carloads driving from Nelson. Included were C. F. McHardy, R. E. Allen, J. B. Gray, A. Baird, John Cartmel, Don Dallas of Trail, William Waldie of Castlegar, etc.

During the fair day there were many amusements going on.

A long sports program was carried out, included in which were races for boys and girls of different ages, sack races for boys and girls and for grown-ups; broad jump, high jump, hop, skip and jump, shoe kicking, novelty nail driving for anyone 18 years to 80 years of age; pie eating contest; costume race for men; pillow fight; and many other events too numerous to mention. In addition there was a tennis tournament organized by the Tennis club, in which the fair board assisted towards the prizes. This started at 10 o'clock in the morning and continued all day, and attracted many onlookers, especially before the sports began. The entries included 11 members of the local club, and six players from outside; there were also two entries from outside who failed to arrive. The most exciting match of the day was a preliminary heat of the mixed doubles, in which H. Coates of Edgewood with Mrs. Leila Haines of Ewing's Landing, Okanagan Lake, played against C. J. Talbot of Edgewood with Miss Charity Naylor of Buntzen Lake, Vancouver. The result was a win for the latter, 5-6, 6-5, 6-3. This couple eventually won the final against J. H. Naylor and Miss Naomi Naylor, which had to be decided in one set on account of the lateness of the hour and bad light and was a close contest, seven games to five. J. H. Naylor and Miss Naomi Naylor had also to play three sets in one of the preliminary heats against J. Burns and Miss M. Watson.

In the final of the men's doubles, W. Nesbitt and C. Talbot beat J. Burns and Jack McLeod. The final of the ladies' doubles was won by Miss Charity Naylor and Miss Naomi Naylor beating Miss Jessie Watson and Miss Margaret Watson.

There was a very large attendance at a dance the same night, with a seven-piece orchestra from Vernon.

Edgewood and Inonaoklin Valley Fair board—W. K. Esling, M.P., honorary president; C. S. Leary, M.L.A., honorary vice president; J. B. Munro, deputy minister of agriculture, honorary vice-president; William Boothby, president; L. J. deGans, vice-president; Mrs. M. E. Daly, secretary-treasurer; executive — Mesdames M. Donselaar, M. deGans, K. P. Coates and Messrs. W. J. Loughery, H. Hopp, F. Cooper and G. Cooper and W. Shipmaker.

F. K. Littlewood was auditor and decorator.

Board to Quiz Enforcement of Neglected Payroll Regulation

Application of Semi-Monthly Payroll Rule to Logging Operations Is Injurious, Says Rotter; Dead Letter Since 1924

Apparent intention of the minimum wage administration to enforce against logging operators the regulation for semi-monthly payment of wages, which has been a dead letter since 1924, the year of its enactment, as indicated by court action being taken against Frank Rotter, prominent Salmo operator, is to receive immediate study by the industrial committee of the Nelson board of trade.

ASK LEGISLATION ACTION?

Among suggestions made by members of the board of trade council after hearing Mr. Rotter Thursday, was a proposal to put the matter before Frank Putman, M.P.P. for Nelson-Creston, when he will be here meeting Premier Pattullo, and urge the government to secure delay of this action until the legislature convenes next month.

That the practice in East Kootenay has been for mills and plants to pay semi-monthly, while camps have been allowed to continue on the old monthly basis, was pointed out by J. P. Fink.

Mr. Rotter, who stated an inspector told him he was laying charges against him "after laying for him for a year," and who on contacting the other timber operators of the district found he was the only one being proceeded against, declared that there was a very good business ground for the camps being left on the monthly plan, and that was, the financing through the banks.

In his case, he was shipping 400 cars of pulpwood to Spokane, and he financed his payroll at the bank through the invoices, but he was able to draw on the American consignees only monthly. He said this system of financing was general, and that if camp operators were required to pay semi-monthly, it would mean some business disturbance, and probably in some cases diminished operations. To indicate what the logging industry meant, he said his own payroll last year was $62,501.69, and this year since May 1 to date it amounted to $31,606.91. In connection with last year's operations $14,244 worth of merchandize was bought in Nelson. Mr. Rotter said the other timber operators of the Nelson district, after hearing of the action taken against him, were all of the opinion it meant that general enforcement would follow.

Incidentally, he felt that the action taken against him, without notice being given the industry of intention to enforce this regulation after 13 years inaction, amounted to discrimination.

"DOGGED TO DEATH"

C. F. McHardy, in urging effective action by the board, said if there was one industry that had been dogged to death, it was the lumber industry. If this industry needed roads, it built them without public assistance. Its compensation rate had been increased from 1 to 10 per cent, and it was being burdened in every way.

Transient Found Unconscious by Road, Cranbrook

An unidentified transient found lying unconscious beside the highway near Lumberton is under the care of Dr. F. W. Green in Cranbrook hospital, state radio advices from Cranbrook to divisional headquarters at Nelson of the provincial police.

The man was found on the highway one mile west of Lumberton and was taken to Cranbrook hospital by Constables J. L. Jeeves and J. A. Henry of the provincial police.

Radio report to the divisional office stated that Dr. Green "was of the opinion the man was suffering from nervous collapse. . . . There is no sign of injuries." At the time the message was sent he was still unconscious.

"The only lead to possible identification," stated the radiogram, was "a letter found in his pack addressed to Fay des Lauriers, Hamel, Minn., from the collector of customs at North Portal, Sask." Police are continuing to investigate in the hope of identifying him.

LAUGHTER PROPOSED AS CURE FOR CRISES

Lord Beaverbrook has decided to end international crises by laughing at them. His editorial writer on the Daily Express will ridicule the recurring fears, and his cartoonist, Strube, will create a new character—"Major Crisis"—to be pictured as the moustached, blustering, ludicrous villain of world melodrama.

Readers of the Express will get their laughter. Strube is one of the world's cleverest cartoonists and his chief aim is to make mirth. The very lines of his drawings show a genial mind, and his political cartoons, always pointed, never leave a sting. In his hands Major Crisis will be a figure of fun, to be looked for and loved.

He will appear often enough, for crises cannot be laughed away. The world began by laughing at Mussolini. He, devoid of humor, let it laugh till it was time to give it the shivers. Then it tried the trick on Hitler, with the same result. These two have crises enough up their sleeves to keep the cartoonist and statesmen busy for a long time, and crises, like their creators, lack a sense of humor. The best to be said for Beaverbrook's idea is that, while the statesmen try to end each crisis as it comes, Strube will make it entertaining while it stays.

The editorial writer on the Express says: ". . . as we no longer fear the villain of the movies, who bound the girl in the mountain shack, we no longer fear Major Crisis. Only the city believes in him and goggles with fright at him." Of this it may be said that there are still villains abroad on mountains and elsewhere, where we fear them or laugh at them. It may be added that the gibe at the "city" seems ungrateful coming from a paper owned by one who is reputed to have made millions on the market. It is possible, however, that the effort of recurring crises on the market gave Beaverbrook his idea, and that his plan is intended to reassure the city and prevent future slumps. Whether even Strube can make the market laugh when war threatens remains to be seen.

BICYCLISTS TAKE MANY CHANCES

Every now and then one reads of a boy on a bicycle being killed or seriously injured on our highways. In many cases the accidents have occurred after dark when the bicyclist is travelling without lights. Bicycle riders are one of the main hazards of the road, particularly after dark. The average bicycle light is so dim it can be seen by the motorist at but a short distance.

In referring to bicycle riders we are not dealing with those youths in distant cities. Right on the streets of Nelson motorists, every day, have a heart flutter when a young bicycle rider suddenly darts in front of the auto. Only this week a Nelson motorist had to apply his brakes and swerve his auto, just the other side of the hospital corner, to miss a young lad on a bicycle. After the auto passed by the lad nonchalantly zig-zagged across the pavement, hands gripping a hammer and handlebars untouched. Such lads are only looking for trouble.

On city streets it is in the day time that young cyclists, most of whom have not developed traffic sense or consciousness of the dangers surrounding them, are the greatest worry. They dart in and out of motor traffic without regard to possible consequences. That more are not killed or injured is a matter of amazement. With increasing use of bicycles, however, the accident rate is bound to multiply.

There seems no remedy for this condition except it be a stricter parental supervision. A Halifax magistrate, after conducting an inquest on an 11-year-old girl cyclist who had been killed by an automobile, made the suggestion that there should be an age limit of 14, adding that to expect a young child on a bicycle to be safe in traffic was the equivalent to sending it out on the railway tracks and telling it to keep clear of trains.

In these days of fast driving, with a 30-mile speed allowance in most cities, the streets are certainly not a safe place for child cyclists. Even for adult riders, aware of the precautions that must be taken, there is a large element of danger.

ENGLAND LEADS

During recent years there has been an extraordinary house building boom in Great Britain. According to a statement published in "Industrial Britain" some twelve million people, or about 30 per cent of the population of England and Wales, have moved into newly built houses since the end of the Great War. The number of houses built since that time is now approaching three and a half million.

In the year ending March 31 last, a record number of 346,000 houses were built compared with 325,000 in 1935-36 and 329,000 in 1934-35. More than four houses out of every five were built by private enterprise and the remainder by local authorities. People report building enterprises all over England. Around London the city is extending in every direction.

The one industry in Canada which has lagged behind in recovery has been the building trade. This year the Home Improvement movement financed by the government and the banks has somewhat stimulated the industry, but even so rebuilding in this country seems to drag.

It is very apparent that we can take a lesson in home building from the Old Land.

It was very different for F. Records Regained

On land and water and in the air recently were provided breath-taking thrills, new records. While Britain slept, Flight-Lieutenant M. J. Adam, sharp-eyed, wavy-haired Scot aged 29 pulled on a clumsy looking outfit much like a diver's suit, had fitted over his head a vast glass-faced helmet with tube attached to an oxygen cylinder, and clambered into "Bristol 138", the R. A. F.'s experimental high-altitude craft.

From Farnborough, Hants. Pilot Adam zoomed into the sky, soon became a mere speck. Flying in a south-westerly direction, he reached 7,000 feet when cloud layers forced him to turn east. There the sun, very low at that hour, completely blinded him, made it impossible for him to see his instruments. Followed layer after layer of clouds. At 30,000 feet Pilot Adam caught his last glimpse of Rochester through a brief gap, says News Review.

At 35,000 feet Adam's motor was running smoothly. Soon the auxiliary supercharger cut in and at 38,000 slight frosting of the cabin's interior occurred. At 50,000 he had not seen the ground for half an hour and the rate of climb had decreased practically nothing. When he reached 53,000 feet there was a loud crack over his head. Pilot Adam peered up through his tall headgear, saw a split slowly widening in the roof. The transparent covering over his cockpit had fractured with the cold.

Switching off his engine, Flight-Lieutenant Adam began to descend, found the rate very slow, had to force the machine's nose down. Not knowing where he was, but guessing the vicinity to be Bristol, he suddenly discovered the Thames, made a good landing at his starting point.

Rushing to open Adam's cockpit, colleagues found his instruments had registered a height of 53,937 feet, 1137 feet more than ten miles. Pilot Adam had broken the world's altitude record, having risen 2575 feet higher than Italian aviator Mario Pezzi, the previous holder, who achieved that figure last month. Adam's flight was also 3993 feet better than Squadron-Leader F. R. D. Swain's last autumn's record-breaker.

This feat made Britain twice holder of the record.. France has gained it 21 times, the United States 11 times, Germany once. Said ex-Church student Adam replying to a reporter's question: "Like it? Its not a question of liking it. If I'm told to, I shall do it again. That's all."

FOUR RECORDS

One morning recently, housewives in backgardens along the L. M. S. Euston-Crewe line saw a blue-and-silver bullet go shrieking along the metals, disappear from sight in a split second. Crack Driver Tom Clarke, 64, was out on a record-breaking run with the new Coronation Scot. Newspapermen who, with L. M. S. Directors made up the passenger list declared that at 85 Coronation Scot seemed to be crawling. At 90 the kitchen staff steadily poured out soup and coffee. At 100 there was no sensation of speed.

Crowding out of their compartments delighted L. M. S. officials and newshawks found that Driver Clarke had touched 114 m.p.h. on his first trial run, had altogether broken four records:—

(1) For the highest speed yet achieved by a British steam train;

(2) For the world's longest stretch of sustained speed—158 miles Crewe to Euston, in one hour 59 minutes at an average of 80 m.p.h.

(3) For the fastest journey from Euston to Crewe—two hours, nine and three quarter minutes, at an average of 73 m.p.h.

(4) For the fastest journey from Crewe to Euston.

Running along the platform jubilant L. M. S. Vice-President Ernest J. H. Lemon slapped Driver Clarke heartily on the back, exclaimed: "Great work, Tom."

Modestly remarked grimy Driver Clarke: "She'll do more than that when she's run in."

Britain's continental rivals in the matter of train speeds are the steam-hauled, stream-lined trains between Berlin and Hamburg, the normal weight of which is slightly less than that of the L. N. E. R.'s Silver Jubilee, which previously held the British record with 113 m.p.h. on a falling gradient.

While rail records were thus being shattered, on Loch Lomond Sir Malcolm Campbell, the world's speed king on land took to the water in his Bluebird, raced up his prepared course and down again. Extricating his long legs from Bluebird's small shell at Luss, Sir Malcolm commented: "The visibility was appalling, but I was doing 85 m.p.h. on each run." Satisfied with these results the racing knight packed up, went home.

BENEFACTIONS AND SUCCESSION DUTIES

The University of Western Ontario will be exceedingly grateful for the bequest of some $10,500 from the estate of Sir Charles Saunders, who was also generous to the university in his native city during his lifetime.

The action of Sir Charles in donating $55,000, or almost half of his fortune to public institutions in the province is one which might well be followed by weathier people. There would be less agitation for high succession duties if more money was donated to public and charitable causes. — London Free Press.

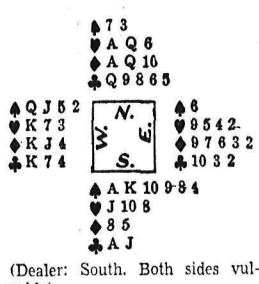
CONTRACT BRIDGE

As Written by SHEPARD BARCLAY

WHEN A JUMP IS WEAK

When either partner has made a bid which carries with it the implication of forcing the side to game, a jump in his own suit by either one conveys the natural meaning that the suit is splendid but the hand in general bad. It is a warning to the forcer not to go any farther except on his own responsibility. He should reach out for slam only if his hand is much bigger than necessary to have made the force he did.



(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable).

W. Howard Woolworth of Buffalo held the South cards on this deal and opened the bidding with one Spade. After his partner's response of 3 Clubs, Mr. Woolworth jumped to 4 Spades. His partner, who did not get the meaning of this bid, jumped to 6 Spades, which West doubled.

West, with his double stopper in trumps and the three kings of other suits, decided the best king to lead away from was the Club K, as the bidding would indicate this one was hopeless. He therefore led the Club 4, which was won in the South hand with the J. The Spade A and Club A were now cashed. The Heart J was now finessed and followed by the 10, which West covered, the A winning. The Heart Q was cashed and a Club ruffed. Mr. Woolworth now had a very accurate picture of West's holdings. As East followed once on trumps, West held four, and it was also evident that West held three Hearts and three Clubs, so that he also held three Diamonds.

After finessing the Diamond Q, cashing the Diamond A and ruffing the Diamond 10, South led the Spade 9 to West, who conceded the remaining tricks.

IMMORTALITY

The godless and the vicious man
The spendthrift and the rake
Would fain lie down when life is o'er
To sleep and never wake.
There is no God, the fool hath said,
There'll be no judgement day.
No trumpet call to wake the dead,
Just dreamless sleep for aye.

If crawling worm, and loathsome gent,
Can sleep a while and rise,
To float on ganzy wings above
It is our summer skies.
Will man whose mind can comprehend
The wondrous works of God,
Just step upon the threshold, but,
To rot beneath the sod!

Inspired he is to seek and ask
The how and why and when,
But he has just begun the task
At "three score years and ten."
A universe so vast,
Will God forbid his soul to roam
When earthly ties are past.

For man another day will dawn,
And fuller life will be,
Where mortal shall be "clothed upon"
With immortality.

GOOD BYE

Good bye and God bless you, till we meet again
May good health caress you, and with you remain
May sorrow and sadness from you fly away
May sun's brightest gladness shine all through your day.

Good bye and God bless you, it may be for years,
May no thought of sadness, dim your eye with tears
May fortune smile on you and bright your years be
From all care and sorrow, your future be free.

Good bye and God bless you, whatever betide
Over every obstruction may you safely ride.
May no cloud or shadow, e'er darken your way
And like snow in summer, all ills melt away.

Good bye and God bless you, your whole life long,
May life be a concert of gladness and song
And my prayer daily to heaven ascends,
Good bye and God bless you, my dearest of friends.

Good bye and God bless you, your joy be complete
A lawn of green velvet to cool your hot feet,
A garden of Eden, with heavenly showers
To strew in your pathway, a garland of flowers.

ourist Camp Receipts Increase; Decrease in Relief at Cranbrook

CRANBROOK, B. C.—Cranbrook ty council discussed renting of ngalows at the city tourist camp after the close up of the season and the application received to rent one for an indefinite period was refused.

Mr. McLean addressed the council regarding a cesspool on his property and was advised the matter would be given the consideration of the council.

The works committee reported that they had authorized the city superintendent to purchase approximately 1200 feet of four inch dipped and single wrapped pipe at $62.25 per 100 feet and that in addition to the asphalting program previously authorized the superintendent had been instructed to proceed with the asphalting for three blocks on Fenwick to Lumsden avenue.

The finance committee presented accounts amounting to $11,516.95.

The fire department reported no fire alarms were received during the month, making it the third successive month without fires. Fire loss for the eight months of the year is $267.50.

The police department reported three criminal complaints were received during the month, all being thefts amounting to $21. There were 20 prosecutions, $109.50 being collected in fines and costs.

The value of property lost or stolen was approximately $71 with no recoveries. Twenty-nine petty complaints were received and unlocked premises noted on patrols.

Nine bicycles were held at the police station as children were careless or had not the proper lights, and a warning was given to the parents before returning the bicycles.

There were two accidents in the city: a motorcycle and a bicycle collided, the bicycle being damaged and the owner injured; and an automobile and a bicycle collided, the bicycle being damaged and the rider injured. No serious injuries were sustained.

The works department reported 29 persons with 79 dependents and 13 single persons received relief totalling $888.05 of which the city's share is $177.61 against a total of $947.80 (city's share $178.56) for July. Four married persons with 15 dependents and one single man were issued with provincial government direct relief.

Nine service orders were attended to and four leaks repaired. One new service connection was installed. Supply conditions remain satisfactory, the surplus run-off at the city reservoir being approximately 1½ million gallons per day.

New asphalt and gravel surfacing has been laid on Edwards, Kains, Garden and Armstrong.

Repairs to asphalt pavements were carried out at the intersections of Baker and Garden and Edwards and Armstrong.

During the month there were two arrivals and departures from the city airport. Eight building permits were issued, the estimated value being $1600.

Tourist camp receipts to August 30 were $2115.35 against $1935.85 for 1936. On a comparative basis receipts for 1937 are lower than 1936.

The electric department reported the consumption was 96,400 K. W. H., against 87,360 K. W. H. for August 1936. The consumption for the year to date 716,240 K. W. H. against 655,800 K. W. H. for the same period 1936.

Twenty street lights were renewed. Three new sets of service leads were installed. Twenty-two services were connected and 26 cut off leaving a net gain of nine active services for the year to date. Four dual services were changed over to single meter services. The new extension to the Radio Beam station was completed during the month.

One hundred and eighty-three meters were taken out for annual test by government meter inspector; five meters were condemned as unserviceable. Wiring has been completed in the new bungalows at the tourist camp. Secondary leads at Slaterville and St. Eugene hospital were repaired. Two new poles were erected.

Nox Kidney Flushers Removes That Backache

To neglect the first symptom of Kidney trouble might lead to very serious results. Your kidneys contain thousands of little filters, each one having special work to perform. If some of these filters become clogged, poisons and Uric acid enters the blood stream. The result is a backache, a dead, heavy pain. The Uric acid deposits a fine granule in the joints, causing a pain known as Rheumatism. Nox Kidney Flushers really flush the kidneys, placing them in a healthy, sound condition. No more getting up at night—no more backache. That sallow complexion is replaced by a natural clear skin. Your eyes become bright and your headaches disappear. Monster Transmission Towers for Transcanada Radio Beacons Being Erected in Vicinity of Cranbrook

Four Towers Are Close to 150 Feet High and Are Held Without Guy Wires; Weight of Towers Between Five and Six Tons

CRANBROOK, B.C.—The erection of the four transmission towers near Cranbrook for the Department of Transport in connection with the chain of radio beacons across the continent, is nearing completion.

These towers have no guys, are 144½ feet above the cement abutment, and are placed about 400 feet apart. There are 20 feet bottom columns for each tower serving as a metal base. The lapp insulators come next, glass to prevent the signals sent out from the tower grounding. The glass is encased in a helmet cap to prevent damage from rain and weather. This carries the weight of the tower, between five and six tons. The remaining 120 odd feet are of angles and diagonal supports with a steel ladder from base to top.

Six expert steeplejacks, trained by George A. Dionne, contractor in charge, are engaged in the work of putting up the towers.

The Department of Transport officials visited Cranbrook recently to inspect the progress of the work and to test the civic airport as an emergency landing field.

HE ATE ALL-BRAN AND IMPROVED WONDERFULLY

Read this voluntary letter: "In regard to your ALL-BRAN, it is marked on the package 'best as a cereal, best for cooking,' and, as far as I am concerned, you might add best for health. Since I have begun to eat it, I have improved wonderfully."—Mr. H. E. Poole (address on request).

ALL-BRAN corrects common constipation, due to meals low in "bulk." Within the body, it absorbs water, and forms a soft mass, gently sponging out the system.

ALL-BRAN also supplies vitamin B to tone up the intestines, and iron for the blood. Isn't this food better than taking weakening pills and drugs?

Eat two tablespoonfuls daily, either as a cereal with milk or cream, or in recipes. In chronic cases, with each meal. Sold by all grocers. Made and gauranteed by Kellogg in London.

Carrier System Effective Here on November 1

District Increased to Five Manahan Is Advised

With the probability that the civil service commission will not have its list of qualified men from the recent carriers' examination in Nelson ready till some time in October, the postal department at Ottawa has now set back the date for the coming into force of carrier delivery in Nelson from October 1 to November 1, Postmaster R. M. Manahan has been advised.

As the box rentals are due October 1, box-holders will have an extra month to pay for before the transfer. On that date the rental will be advanced for those keeping lock-boxes, to the figure prevailing here for many years, of $1 per quarter.

It has now been decided, Mr. Manahan has been advised, that Nelson will have five carrier districts, instead of four, the number originally intended. This means that there will be five regular carriers, and one spare man as relief.

BOXES ON STREET

In the case of persons living slightly outside the carrier area, as in Rosemont, for instance, where the carrier route will be limited to the lower streets, locked mail boxes, marked with their street and number, may be placed on the last street served by the carrier. These mail boxes may be home-made, or otherwise, but must be large enough to hold papers.

To qualify for carrier delivery, a house must be equipped either with a slot in the front door, or with a mail box of some kind on the front of the house. "No mail receptacle, no mail," is the department's rule, Mr. Manahan stated Wednesday, pointing out that with 300 calls to make, or thereabout, a carrier could not possibly wait for the door to be answered.

WINDERMERE, B.C. — Fruits, flowers and vegetables, prize harvest of fruitful Windermere valley were viewed by nearly 400 persons at the twenty-sixth annual Windermere District Farmers' institute fair here, Friday and Saturday.

There were fewer entries in the livestock sections. Judges were G. L. Landon, district agriculturist of Grand Forks, R. G. Newton, superintendent of the Dominion Experimental farm and H. H. Peters of Athalmer. May Palmer of Wilmer took the cup for a heifer calf in the Junior class. T. Hawkes, Columbia Valley north, won the cup for the best pure bred dairy cow, the Stanchions prize for the highest number of points in cattle classes and the Windermere District Farmers' institute cup.

HE WAS ALWAYS TIRED AND ILL

Three Complaints Gave Him a Miserable Time

Suffering from three complaints—disordered kidneys, sciatica, and rheumatism, how could this man be anything else but always tired and ill? This is what he writes:—

"Up to a month or so ago, I had suffered continually from kidney disorder, sciatica, rheumatism, and generally felt off colour. I was constantly tired, and under medical supervision. I tried many remedies, but without effect until I gave Kruschen Salts a trial. In four weeks, Kruschen has brought about a complete transformation. I have a healthy appetite and once more feel that it is good to be alive." —S. V. N.

The kidneys are the filters of the human machine. If they become sluggish, impurities find their way into the blood-stream, and the seed of half-a-dozen common ailments is sown.

The scientific combination of salts in Kruschen quickly coaxes the kidneys back to healthy, normal action. Soon your ailments are relieved and life becomes a joy again.

TWO BEARS SHOT ON T. JOHNSTONE FARM PROPERTY

Attempt Made Lasso Third but Bear Climbs a Tree

Another chapter in the series of bear killings and amusing stories concerning bears that have been happening in the past few weeks occurred Monday nght at the residence of Thomas Johnstone across the lake. Johnstone and Max Ewart, game warden, had Mr. Ewart's two Dobermann-Pinscher dogs at Johnstone's home to round up bears that had been prowling around the orchard. Three bears were sighted, two of them were shot and the third hurriedly clambered into a tree, whence the two men attempted to lasso him. With the dogs barking and darkness coming on, the best that rewarded their efforts was the tangling up of the rope in the branches. Bruin remained in his lofty perch until men and dogs had retired, then went off.

Unfortunately a large percentage of arrivals from B. C. are running 84's and 90's. Plums and prunes are slow sale. Wealthy apples are showing fair color and moving fairly well. The tomato market is still unsettled with wholesale price ranging from 70c to 80c a crate. There is practically no wholesale movement of potatoes. A heavy crop is in prospect throughout central and southern Alberta. The onion crop in Medicine Hat and Lethbridge areas is now being harvested and shows excellent quality and grade. There will be between 25 and 30 cars to ship from these districts.

EDMONTON, Alta. — Business is good and promises to be better. Apples, crabapples, pears and peaches are moving well. B. C. Hale and Elberta peaches are arriving. MERCURY STAYS HIGH THURSDAY

Nelson's "heat wave" continued its march Thursday as the mercury again soared to 78, the same as Wednesday. Old Sol beamed down from a sky lightly sprinkled with white clouds for nine and one half hours.

Minimum mark held the spotlight as much as the maximum, for again it was one degree higher than the previous day, at 50.

Would Control Copper, Zinc and Lead Marketing

VANCOUVER, Sept 16 (CP) — North American producers of copper, zinc and lead should deny themselves the privilege of large "temporary profits" from their mines and submit to a voluntary long-term policy of marketing control, W. A Carrothers, chairman of the British Columbia Economic Council, told a convention of Canadian and United States mining men here today.

Dr. Carrothers was speaking to delegates at morning business sessions of the joint annual meeting being held here this week by the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy and the American Insitute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers.

"It would appear that the non-ferrous metals provide an admirable field for intelligent market control," Dr. Carrothers suggested.

"The likely use of these metals over a period may be estimated with reasonable accuracy but the possible supply of the metals is a less calcuable factor. Consequetly it would appear that an intelligent control of supply in relation to possible uses on these metals would be desirable."

N. W. T. RICH IN MINERALS, SAYS DR. C. CAMSELL

Undiscovered Deposits a Challenge to the Adventurous

VANCOUVER, Sept. 16 (CP) — The Northwest Territories, covering more than one-third of all Canada, has undiscovered mineral deposits to challenge the adventurous spirit of the explorer and the prospector for many years, Dr. Charles Camsell, deputy minister of mines and resources for Canada, said here tonight.

Dr. Camsell was addressing the joint convention here of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy and the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers.

He said the success of mining development already has to its credit in the area "must make us regard the Northwest Territories not as invested with snow and ice but rather as a plant that is burgeoning in the spring."

Dr. Camsell who is also commissioner of the Territories, said the airplane had greatly extended both the period and range of the mineral prospector's activities in the far north.

Topographical and geological mapping was speeded up when the 'plane broadened the prospector's field of activity, but as yet hardly any intensive prospecting has been done outside the western part of the Territories, except here and there along the Hudson's Bay coast and to some slight extent inland. Dr. Camsell said, however, minerals were known to occur.

A live shell was found on waste ground at Clapham.

New Denver Man Will Be Buried Coast Cemetery

Body of Clarence B. Smith, New Denver electrician, who was pinned alive under his overturned truck near New Denver for 24 hours, and who died shortly after being found, is en route for Vancouver, where interment will take place Saturday. It left Nelson Thursday on the morning train. Mrs. Smith accompanied the body.

Mr. Smith was found beneath his truck Tuesday morning by a search party, but died about half an hour later in the New Denver hospital. He left for Silverton about noon Monday to read light meters and near the "Bosun Line" a well-known landmark about two miles from New Denver, his truck plunged over a high embankment.

Besides his wife, he is survived by his mother and father, Major and Mrs. P. H. Smith, and a sister, Marjorie, all of Vancouver.

UNDRESS OKAY FOR BATH, BUT NOT IN PUBLIC

Three Transients Are Sent to Jail for It, Creston

Three transients who took their bath too publicly at Creston have solved the problem of bed and board at least for two weeks each.

The men—John Kemp, Mike Hollyhow and Rudolph Myres—arrived at Creston from the east via the box car pullman, and that method of travelling is not conductive to peaches and cream complexion.

So the travellers decided, for obvious reasons, that a bath was in order, and straightway proceeded to take one. Their mistake lay in choosing the Creston swimming pool for the ablutions, and in failing to take their swim suits along. It was a serious oversight, inasmuch as the pool was in full view of two houses and the public highway.

Informed that three men with Roman bath tastes were using the pool, provincial police took them under their wing and guided them before Col. E. Mallandaine, stipendiary magistrate at Creston, charging them with vagrancy. They pleaded guilty and now are inmates of the provincial jail at Nelson on two week sentences.

A CITY OF 250,000 WOULD RESULT IF ALL CANADA'S MINES IN ONE PLACE

Miners and Families Would Total 156,000; 17,000 Tradesmen Needed; Thousands of Others Needed for Various Work

(By John Dauphinee)
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

VANCOUVER, Sept. 16 (CP) — The Dominion bureau of statistics today grouped in fancy all persons directly concerned with Canada's mining industry—and made a city bigger than Vancouver.

The bureau's imaginary city was described in a paper read to the joint convention of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy and the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers by Dr. A. Wilson of the federal department of mines and resources.

"Minopolis" was made by lifting all the mines of Canada to a single spot, and bringing to that spot all workers in the business of mining and their dependents.

17,000 TRADESMEN NEEDED

The bureau said miners and their families in the new city would number about 156,000, and 17,000 tradesmen would be needed to supply them with food, clothing, shelter and amusement.

Personal service would include 2000 men and 4000 women; and clerical and miscellaneous workers would number 10,000.

Another 1400 men and women would be needed to handle insurance and financial matters, and representatives in professional work would lift the population to 236,000. Widows of miners, pensioners and other people not gainfully occupied would bring the total population of "Minopolis" to 250,000, "the third largest city in Canada."

(Vancouver's population at the last civic census was roughly 246,000.)

CELTIC-HEARTS GAME FEATURE

GLASGOW, Sept. 16 (CP Cable)—Dundee's spectacular thrust in the Scottish football was given an unexpected set-back this week when the Forfarshire club went under 3-2 against Clyde for its first defeat of the season in seven starts. Rangers now share leadership with the doughty squad from the Firth of Tay with 12 points, but the latter has a game in hand.

Dundee should at least hold parity with the Light Blues after Saturday's games. Queen's Park are visitors at Dundee and the amateurs cannot hope for much luck, while Rangers go to Ayr where the United, up from the secon division, are playing well in senior company.

The feature match of the day is likely to be staged in Glasgow, where Hearts meet Celtic at Parkhead. The Edinburgh team jumped into third place, one point ahead of the Celts, with a 4-0 victory over St. Mirren yesterday.

Rookie Lengthens Giants' Lead When Downs Pirates 3-0

Leaders Up Three and Half Games; Reds Lick Chicago

PITTSBURGH, Sept 16 (AP)—The New York Giants boosted their National league lead to 3½ games today by blanking their favorite stooges, the Pirates, 3-0, behind the six-hit pitching of rookie Cliff Melton.

The lanky left-hander, chalking up his 17th victory of the season, bested another freshman flinger, Jim Tobin, in a tight pitching duel, through the timely hitting efforts of his mates in their two scoring chances. It was Melton's first whitewashing accomplishment.

The win, coupled with the Cubs' defeat at the hands of the Boston Bees, added a full game to the Giants' lead in the pennant parade, and made it tougher than ever for the faltering Chicago outfit to catch up.

The game marked the end of the season series between the Giants and the Pirates, with the New Yorkers walking off with the lopsided margin of 16 victories to six.

TURNER SHUTS OUT CHICAGO CUBS 7-0

CHICAGO, Sept. 16 (AP)—The rapidly fading Chicago Cubs fell to their lowest position in the National league since May today as Jim Turner, one of Boston's young-old rookie stars, shut them out with seven hits while the Bees piled up 14 for a 7-0 victory.

The decision gave Turner his 18th win of the season, Boston the series, three games to one, and as the pace-setting New York Giants defeated Pittsburgh, put Chicago three and one-half games behind the league leaders with only 17 games to play.

Manager Charlie Grimm trotted out five pitchers in an effort to compensate for the Cubs' lack of punch in the pinches. The Bees scored on three of them

The Cubs stranded nine runners in the first six innings.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 (AP)—Lefty Gomez breezed in with his 19th victory of the year today, a three-hit shutout that gave the Yankees an 8-0 victory over the Cleveland Indians and eliminated the tribe from the pennant chase.

"El Goofo" gave up a single to Hal Trosky in the second, another to Bruce Campbell in the fifth and one to Frank Pytlak in the eighth. Outside of that, he was on top all the way. He fanned seven, gave up only one walk and allowed only one man to reach third.

CLAY BRYANT

By WALTER JOHNS
Central Press Canadian Sports Writer

The 'Frank Merriwell' of the minors, Claiborne Henry Bryant, is one of the big reasons the Chicago Cubs are in first place in the National league. Bryant, right-handed pitcher, is one of the league's leading slabmen, having tossed in seven victories against one defeat.

Bryant, who came up in mid-season two years ago, from New Orleans, not only did great work on the mound in the minors, but also at bat. In 1933 he pitched 10 wins for Zanesville against nine defeats, and played the outfield, batting a huge .378. One day against Dayton he socked three homers and two singles.

In 1934, against Little Rock, he pitched a scoreless duel for 11 innings and then poled a homer in the 11th to win th game.

Bryant, who stands nearly six feet three inches, and weighs 195 pounds, was born in Lynchburg, Va., in 1911. He started his minor league career with New Orleans, was shifted to Zanesville and then back to the Pelicans.

He pitched in 12 games with the Cubs last season and then was sent to Birmingham, where he participated in 22. He showed good form in the spring training session this season, and has proved he was worth the chance Charlie Grimm took.

Expect Sunderland and Arsenal to Put Up a Great Battle

LONDON, Sept. 16 (CP Cable)—Mid-week English football games have left Bolton Wanderers, Charlton Athletic and Wolverhampton Wanderers deadlocked for the league leadership. Each team has nine points and while Bolton has a superior goal average, Charlton has the distinction of being the only unbeaten league club.

A tough battle between old rivals is in prospect when Bolton plays host to Everton at the week-end, odds favoring the home team. The Athletic go to Birmingham and will finds the Midlanders hard to beat on their own ground while Wolverhampton may snatch both points from Brentford in view of the trouncing Blackpool gave the Bees in London today

A great match is expected at Highbury, where Arsenal meets Sunderland, the cup-holder, but the Gunners can hardly be expected to repeat last season's 4-1 victory over the Wearsiders. Manchester City, league champion, may defeat Derby County.

Men Bowlers Will Open a Tourney

Men's double championship of the C. P. R. Lawn Bowling club is the goal for members in a new competition slated to open immediately.

Singles competition is still under way, and will proceed unchanged by the new event.

Rinks have been divided into two sections, the winners of the section to play off in a final match.

Rinks in order of skips and leads follow:

Section A—J. Ball and E. Stangherlin, J. Simons and Fred Deacon, N. B. Bradley and F. Long, E. W. Penwill and W. Woods, E. L. Wright and J. Graham, ad F. E. Wheeler and A. T. Richards.

Section B—A. G. Lane and F. C. Davies, J. S. Goulding and David Laughton, H. H. Sutherland and C. I. Archibald, Jack Draper and Allan Bennett, and N. J. Lowes and C. F. McHardy.

SINGLES WITHDRAWN

Competition in B section of the men's singles bowling competition of the C. P. R. Lawn Bowling club dwindled slightly with the withdrawal of W. T. Calbick and F. Doodson from competitive play. Their withdrawal leaves five players remaining in the third's sub-section of section B and means ten less fewer games to be played.

By virtue of four straight triumphs J. S. Goulding heads the skips sub-section and will meet the winners of the other sections in the semi-finals.

NATAL, B.C.—First grizzly bear of the season to tumble before the gun of a Michel nimrod was brought in by W. Stevenson, who has returned from a hunt in the Flathead country with a party of three other men. He also shot a goat, the third to be brought in this season.

SPORTS ROUNDUP . . .

By EDDIE BRIETZ
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 (AP). — News: The Reds already have decided on their 1938 manager, but will not name him until after the world's series. . . . (Don't be surprised if he comes from the minors). . . . Chicago's stadium may get a Tommy Farr-John Henry Lewis match this winter . . . when the U.S.L.T.A.'s ranking committee sits itself down in December it likely will rate Don Budge, Bobby Riggs, Frankie Parker and Bryan Grant Jr., in that order. . . . Mrs. James J. Braddock doesn't want her Jim to fight Max Baer October 29 because one of Jim's ears, banked up in the Louis fight, isn't completely mended. . . . Believe-It-or-Not Dept.: umpire Mart Cleary of the New York-Penn league retains his amateur standing by working for nothing. . . . Every salary check is passed on to charity. . . . But when he has an off day the wolves give him the works just like they do the pros.

Comic page: James J. Johnston, soon to be aired at Madison Square Garden, will make his new fight club the 30th Century Athletic club "because it will be a thousand years ahead of the other crowd." . . . He could have called it the 21st Century Athletic club and still have been 100 years to the good. . . . If the Giants get into the world series, highest paid player will be Ed Madjeski, bull pen catcher. . . . Ed has caught only nine innings this season. . . . But on a basis of $5000 cut he would collect about $555.55 for each inning's work. . . . Joe McCarthy avers the Yanks are no better than even money in the world series, no matter who they meet, and solemnly adds: "—if we make it."

More news: Looks like a couple of guys named Joe—Medwick and DiMaggio—have the most valuable player awards sewed up this year.

Bottom of the barrel: Tommy Farr, off on an exhibition tour of Canada, saw his first wrestling match the other night and laughed his head off at the antics of the burpers. . . . Freddie Steele made the 13th defence of his title against Ken Overlin last week, but in Freddie's book it still is the 12th. . . . He thinks 13 is unlucky. . . . Mike Jacobs can look for competition from San Francisco, Seattle and mebbe Paris when he tries to book Freddie with the Fred Apostoli-Marcel Thil winner. . . . Mr. Referee, blow that whistle.

Boswell Growers Shipping Through Creston Exchange

CRESTON, B.C.—With the coming in of Gravenstein apples at Boswell, fruit trucks are on the move from that point to Creston. As in past years Boswell fruit growers are again selling through Creston Cooperative Fruit exchange and Gravensteins are coming in household pack for inclusion in exchange cars. A limited amount of this variety is being wrapped at the packing shed at Boswell.

In addition to apples Boswell has a small supply of plums which are also being trucked, and are moving as fast as they arrive. The Kootenay plum crop is short this year, and the demand better than in past seasons.

Boswell's big apple crop, however, is in Cox Orange and some Jonathans. Both of these are popular in the old country and as England's crop of late apples is smaller than usual, there is every reason to expect satisfactory prices on apples sold overseas.

smoothly into the makeup of the face.

The really beautiful neck must be firm, slender and shapely as well as clear and smooth-skinned. No ugly hollows or wads of fat must be permitted to mar its symmetry. And when you glimpse such a neck you may be sure that its fair owner knows—and practices—her neck exercises.

HEAD CARRIAGE IMPORTANT

Of course, the carriage of the head is a very important factor in the formation of the neck countours, too. The head should be held in a poised and graceful manner, and not allowed to droop disconsolately on the chest. If you keep your head well up and back you will discourage any underchin flabbiness or fatness.

To strengthen the supporting throat and chin muscles, however, exercise is essential, and you will find the following effective:

Clasp your hands behind your head, and pull forward with them while you force your head back, resisting the pull of your hands. This exercise will bring into play both your neck and shoulder muscles.

Stand erect, hands at the sides. Without turning your shoulders, look back over your left shoulder, turning your head as far as possible. Return to first position and repeat, looking over your right shoulder.

Lie on your back on a bed, with your head extended over the edge of the bed. Drop your head backward as far as possible, and then raise it forward up to your chest. Repeat this exercise for 15 counts.

Stand erect, hands at the sides. Bend your head back as far as possible, and then exercise your jaws, moving them in brisk chewing fashion. You will feel a decided pull on your neck and throat muscles during this exercise.

Reference Books

Many parents, indeed, could well afford to economize in other directions in order to provide the necessary tools for their children's best education.

There are several good magazines suited to children even before they enter school and up through the elementary grades. They are particularly good to stimulate the child to want to read and get practice at reading. Usually more interesting and more highly illustrated than the average reading text book, these children's magazines do much to make reading attractive to the young child. Besides, they encourage creative drawing, painting and construction by the child; with pencil, crayon, paints, paper, cardboard, cloth and wood. They nicely fit into the activity program of the modern school.

Parents need an encyclopedia to enable them to answer the questions of the young child as soon as he begins speech. After the child begins to read he likes to use a good children's encyclopeddia for browsing. Beyond the third or fourth grade the child in the modern school needs constantly to refer to an encyclopedia. There are available a number of very good ones, peculiarly adapted to the child's interest and vocabulary. Good public libraries have them.

Work With Children

Parents who cannot afford to own an encyclopedia for their children should take the trouble to go with the young children to the library to use an encyclopedia there, with the hope that these children later will use the encyclopedias of the library freely.

Every school child should have a school edition dictionary. By the time he enters the seventh grade he will need an unabridged edition.

A typewriter is valuable equipment, even for the child entering school; almost or entirely a necessity as he enters junior or senior high school. How a college student can get along without a typewriter is hard to understand.

Rustle of Silks

By MARIE BLIZARD

CHAPTER 31

Mark Sutherland had put into full operation his plans for Mari Barat to live up to her new glamorous reputation. And Larry Holk, the publicity man, was Mark's man on the job, putting over this and that.

"So that's the way it's done." Mari Barat, the girl whose name was on the lips of the dressmaking world if not known to the great buying fashion world, pushed a peanut across her desk with her nose.

Miss Letitia Higgins glanced at her employer with an incredulous expression. She flipped back the page of her copybook and read her notes;

"I owe my success to a playboy. He didn't have anything to do, so he thought he'd become a celebrity impresario. The way you do that is to engage a high-priced press agent. He, in turn, engages a house in which you rattle around like a single pea in a pod. He hires a butler who scares you to death, runs you ragged having your picture taken, tells you how to walk, how to talk, and even what to think . . ." she broke off into a meaningful silence.

"Did I dictate that?" Mari asked approvingly, well pleased with herself.

"You did!" Miss Higgins retorted disapprovingly.

"Amusing, don't you think?"

"Well . . ." Miss Higgins didn't know what to do or say.

"No reticences, please." Mari gave her secretary an amused glance, decided it was best not to carry a joke too far. "Tear it up or cross it off, Miss Higgins. I was merely being light for a change. I'm having to be so many people other than myself these days, I have to get a little relief. Now where were we before I got foolish?"

Relieved, Miss Higgins turned back her pages. "You had got onto the subject of your attitude about prints."

"Oh, yes, that was my 'first revolutionary move', Mr. Holk says. Oh, Letitia, this is ridiculous! How can I write my history when I have no history? And what do people want to read about me for? I'm in the clothes business, not the glamor game."

"Mr. Holk is right," Miss Higgins said unexpectedly. "Why it's only three weeks and just look at this scrapbook!"

"You look at it, it frightens me," Mari said and sighed. She picked up her appointment book. "Heavens only knows what's going to happen to my customers these days. My program gives me about an hour a day to sketch. I don't find time to do it any more when I have people here. Did you okay the plans for the sewing rooms?"

"They've been returned to the architect, Miss Barat. The plasterers will be in the new building next week. The walls are almost ready for them now. And about the jade dressng room, did you decide on rep or satin?"

"Rep," Mari answered automatically, and marveled that she was able to keep so many details in her mind.

"Then I don't believe there are any more questions to be answered today. This interview can't be let go until tomorrow. M. Choiseul is waiting to fit you to the chartreuse gown."

"Miss Letitia Higgins, don't you ever believe that a shoemaker hasn't shoes. Imagine a dressmaker spending three hours a day having clothes fitted for her. I feel like an absolute idiot! I have three street gowns, three to wear at the shop, a couple of good evening dresses and that ought to be enough. Oh, dear, these people are winding me around their little fingers. But I'm going to rebel."

"You're going to be at home at 5 o'clock. Mr. Holk is bringing the editor of Cinema Art, an American publication, to meet you. He says you are to wear the gray jersey and the large pearls."

"Are you sure that he didn't say what color I'm to have on my fingernails?" she asked sarcastically.

"Now, Miss Barat—Madame—you shouldn't take on that way."

Mari sighed. "I know, but . . . but what . . . why must I meet the editor of a movie magazine from America?"

"Because he will get movie actresses to be interested in posing in your clothes and everybody in America wants to look like the actresses."

"And Larry Holk will say that I can't agree to it and what good will that do?"

"Make 'em want you more," her secretary said wisely.

"Well, at least, it will be over shortly. As soon as the new shop is ready I can quit being a glamor girl and go back to being a dressmaker."

"And you're going to have a nice vacation before it opens. And you're going to visit a real viscountess. My, but it will be wonderful to be in England in April!"

Ellen Verlaine's letter was in Mari's purse.

At first when Mark said that he wanted her to run over to London to be the house guest of his viscountess sister, Mari had demurred. She had been a little suspicious of Mark's motives, pointed out that side trips were not yet part of her itinerary on the road to fame. But Mark had laughed off her suspicions.

And then Ellen's letter had arrived, written on the crested stationery in Ellen's firm stroke so unlike Mark's careless scrawl.

We'd like so much to have you for the last week of April if you can favor us," Ellen had written, and added, "Mark has made us feel that we already know you."

That was pretty nice of Mark, Mari decided. She was suffering from a combination of inferiority complex regarding her difference of social standing from Mark's, and some old-fashioned fear that, because Mark had made his intentions clear, he would think less of her. Mari was a girl who couldn't get used to the easy acceptance of changed standards in a world for which she had never been prepared.

If Mark looked down upon her in any way, it was hardly likely that he would have had his sister, the socially prominent wife of one of England's peers, invite her to her home.

She anticipated her visit with mingled feelings. She hoped she knew the right things to do and say, and added to her prayers the fervent petition that there would be neither hunting nor shooting offered her. She had vague pictures of English house parties members being constantly either in the saddle or in the field. And while she would have known how to sit on a horse, she had her doubts about guns.

"Mark, what will it really be like?" she asked him after she had written a note to Ellen, as carefully casual as she could make it.

"It will be very soignee and you'll be more so."

"How so?" she asked apprehensively.

"This, my dear, will mark the end of your careless girlhood, with your introduction to London, to lords and ladies—who, by the way, will not act like them so be sure to get your names straight—to a maharajah, an actress or two, several Americans and all the rest of them who'll think you're a novelty."

Mari sat back on her heels and her mouth set. "I'm not going to show off, Mark Sutherland. I'll be myself and . . ."

"If you've got the brains I think you have, ex-Mary Barrett, you will show off. You're a legend and you're expected to act like one. You won't talk about yourself, you'll smile mysteriously. You'll wear the most dazzling things you can design, beg or borrow. When there's something proposed that you can't do, riding for instance, you'll raise your eyes languidly and say you have some cables or writing to attend to. This is no pleasure jaunt! This is business. And you'll check Mary Barrett's personality at the airport."

Curiously enough, she did—forevermore.

POLAR STOPEITE

A LOW density, low velocity, ammonia dynamite especially made for underground work. In the past it was chiefly confined to stoping in the metaliferous mines. It is now being used with success in the blasting of burn cuts in drifts and cross-cuts and in some mines, for the whole driftround. It is well adapted for underground gypsum mining. Where the work is dry, Polar Stopeite will be found to be one of the most economical explosives for underground work. The strength of Polar Stopeite ranges from 20% to 60%.

Behind every stick of C-I-L Explosive, there are many years of constant chemical research and field tests to improve the product and enable the operator to secure maximum efficiency on all types of blasting operations.

Over a period of years the price of C-I-L Explosives has been gradually reduced due to savings effected in manufacturing and operating costs.

There is a type of C-I-L Explosive to meet every mining need. Our Technical Department is ready to offer advice regarding any problem relating to blasting operations.

W. D. Armstrong Purchases the Candy Box Store

Mr. W. D. Armstrong has purchased the business of Mr. A. Longman, known to Fairview residents as "Lakeside Service" or "The Candy Box" especially noted for its neatly kept gardens and lawn, a hobby of its former owner. Also its musical programs broadcasted during the day. Mr. Armstrong came over a year ago to Nelson from Prince Albert, Saskatchewan, taking over the old Wm. Batchelor Grocery Store, in recent years owned by Mrs. Peake, situated on Water Street. He sold this business a few weeks ago and was so impressed with Nelson as a lovely place to live decided to stay with his family and purchased Mr. Longman's popular store situated at the terminal of the car line in Fairview.

It is the intention of Mr. Armstrong to continue the policy of Mr. Longman in carrying a complete stock of English Candy, Ice Cream and general refreshments for the convenience of Lakeside Park visitors and Fairview residents. It is the purpose also of Mr. Armstrong to add a well assorted stock of general groceries and supplies. Gasoline and car service will remain an important feature of the business. ***

Board Will Ask Wismer Explain on Jurisdiction

Ascertain Hatchery Responsibility Next Step

In view of the disclaimer by the federal minister of fisheries, of any Dominion responsibility for sport fishing in British Columbia, the board of trade council Thursday decided that the next step in the campaign for reopening of the hatchery was to ascertain whether the province agreed with this view.

W. G. C. Lanskail, secretary, was instructed to write the attorney general and ask him if in future the game department had jurisdiction over the sport fishing.

If it is found that the province accepts this responsibility, the board will make its future representations in that quarter.

Members, however, expressed doubt as to whether the federal minister was speaking of a policy mutually agreed on by the Dominion and the province, or only giving the Dominion contention on a point still at issue.

FARR ILL AT EASE AS REFEREE IN MONTREAL

MONTREAL, Sept. 16 (CP) — While Tommy Farr tolled a count over him for the third time, Eddie Coderre's seconds tossed in a towel tonight and Andre Lenglet, huge French heavyweight, won a seventh-round technical knockout over the ambitious youngster.

Farr, making his first ring appearance since his recent unsuccessful bid for Joe Louis' world title, was evidently ill at ease as referee. He had to stop the fight twice to warn Lenglet for hitting while holding and his white shirt-front was splattered by blood from cuts over Coderre's eyes.

Work on Roads in Creston Area Now Is Nearly Finished

CRESTON, B. C.—Work of "black-topping" the highway west of Yahk from the Cranbrook-Nelson-Creston constituency boundary to just east of Mosquito creek should be completed in about two weeks. It is expected the crew will then similarly treat a couple of blocks of the Canyon street business section, Creston.

The new flats highway between Wynndel and Creston is also nearing completion. The approach from the Creston end was put in a year ago, but there is still some surfacing to do on the road.

A crew of twenty men commenced work last week on improvements to the Bayonne mine road. Clem Payette of Wynndel is in charge.

Trail-Rossland Boxla Tonight

Trail and Rossland will cross sticks tonight at Rossland in the second game of the West Kootenay boxla final.

Redmen won the opening game on the Trail floor earlier in the week, 16-14 and are favorites to cop the series. The cash customers recall, however, that Trail has several times turned the tables on the Redmen on the Rossland floor and are awaiting keenly the outcome of tonight's encounter.

The series is best of five, and a Kootenay winner must be declared by September 24, for the provincial finals.

came a graver peril to Shanghai's millions.

CONTINUE TO HARRY COASTS

Japanese warships and planes continued to harry the south China coasts, but the Chinese claimed—without independent confirmation—their airforce struck back with punishing effect, sinking one enemy cruiser and damaging other vessels. Japanese planes bombed Canton's airport.

According to Japanese, General Count Ju Chi Terauchi's command extended its advance south and southwest of Peiping, where the capture of Kuanhsien Wednesday split the Chinese lines.

Cavalry, tanks and infantry shared in the Japanese advance, which, wheeling westward from Kuanhsien, 30 miles south of Peiping, was approaching Chochow on the Peiping-Hankow railway, 40 miles below Peiping. Capture of Chochow would make the railway useless to the Chinese north of Paotingfu, their main base 80 miles southwest of Peiping and apparently the main objective of this Japanese drive.

60,000 JAPAN TROOPS

Sixty thousand Japanese were engaged in this operation against eight Chinese divisions, about 100,000 men. Commanding the retreating Chinese was General Wan Fu-Lin, who has been fighting—and retreating before—the Japanese intermittently since 1931, when Japan's invasion of Manchuria found him one of the chief Chinese warlords of that region.

Cholera spread in and around Shanghai. In the international settlement and French concession alone there were 740 cases, an increase of more than 100 overnight.

Military observers believe the German military training mission of some 60 officers under General Baron Alexander von Falkenhausen, Great War veteran, is the real general staff of the Chinese.

dependent of any political organization engaged in the effort to send representatives of the people to parliament, the provincial legislatures or other elective bodies of the country."

President P M. Draper ended the debate when he declared there appeared to be a misunderstanding of the congress stand regarding politics.

"Your executive council," he said, "believes every member should become an active member of the Labor party in his district and give it his active support. This resolution is patterned after what the British trade unions congress has done and is doing. It gives the right to all members in the provinces, in the cities and everywhere else to elect independent Labor candidates."

EXPLAINS STAND

Explaining the stand against direct political action, he said "This congress mgiht endorse a certain political party and that party might afterwards say: 'Mind your own business; we are going to run our own party.'

"This congress," he continued, "if it is going to serve the interests of the workers of this country, never could be a political party or a political machine."

Report of the committee on legislative action censured the government for failing to produce substitute legislation for the Bennett Reform bills on social insurance, weekly day of rest, minimum wages and limitation of hours, bills found unconstitutional by the supreme court of Canada and the privy council.
