BENNETT ASKS IF FEDERAL GOV'T. IS TRANSFERRED TO SASK. FIELD

Lapointe Suggests It Is Alberta Gov't. Transferred

TORY LEADER IS SARCASTIC

OTTAWA, June 3 (CP)—Suggestion the government of Alberta has been "transferred" to Saskatchewan where a general election campaign is in progress, was contained in an answer given by Hon. Ernest Lapointe, justice minister, to a question from Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett in the house of commons today.

It was presumed Mr. Lapointe, who smiled as he said it, was referring to activities of the Social Credit party of Alberta in placing candidates in most of the Saskatchewan ridings where election takes place June 8.

Mr. Bennett, at question time, referred to announcement of a proposed $50,000,000 housing program contained in a campaign speech in Saskatchewan by Agriculture Minister J. G. Gardiner.

"I should like to ask the government," Mr. Bennett said, "whether or not we have transferred the seat of government from this parliament house in Ottawa to the province of Saskatchewan."

"VERY SERIOUSLY"
"I mean that very seriously for the British North America act provides that no money votes shall be dealt with until the approval of the governor-general shall have been given and by message to the house of commons in which they must originate."

"Last evening in Saskatchewan it was announced by the minister of agriculture that $50,000,000 was to be appropriated by this parliament for housing matters, and that it would be passed by parliament this session."

"In view of the provisions of the B. N. A. act and knowing as I do the ability of this government to undertake almost anything that is unconstitutional, I was desirous of knowing whether or not the government had been transferred to Saskatchewan during the evening in order that the announcement might thus be made."

"My second question is whether or not his excellency the governor-general has given his approval to such statement being made on the hustings in Saskatchewan rather than in the house of commons as provided by the constitution."

SALMO AND ERIE CAPTURE MAJOR AWARDS IN FIRST SCHOOLS TRACK MEET IN SOUTH KOOTENAY VALLEY

Splendid Meet Staged as Seven Schools Compete

BLAINE, MAUDIE STEWART LEADERS

First annual South Kootenay Valley track and field meet, staged cooperatively by seven schools between Ymir and Fruitvale at Salmo Friday, was an unequalled success in every department—competition, performance, organization, the weather and everything that goes to make an outstanding meet. At the close of the day, revealing their work an dit effect, the teachers were already talking of next year's meet and means of improving the program and schedule.

Salmo carried off the Knights of Pythias shield for larger schools, with a margin of 84 points over the strong Fruitvale squad; and Erie took the major honors and association cup for one-room schools. Ymir shone in the boys' events, carrying off three of four individual aggregate medals, while Salmo snatched three out of four girls' medals and one of the boys. Erie broke into the medal class also when Mona McDonald led the junior girls in points.

Throughout the morning it was neck and neck in the race for the K. P. shield, but at noon Salmo crept into a lead and after the lunch intermission stepped out with a series of double point winners to leave Ymir and Fruitvale in a tussle for second place. The second place struggle was not decided until late in the day, relay events counting heavily in the final Fruitvale total.

Feature individual performance of the meet was that of tall Jim Blaine of Ymir, high school student, who placed first in the five events he entered for a total of 28 points. Maudie Stewart of Salmo was right on his heels for high individual points, compiling 23 in the senior girls' division on four firsts and a second; and Vernon Chrysler of Ymir chalked up four firsts for 20 points. Erie's medalists, Mona McDonald, made 18 points and the four remaining aggregate leaders 14 each.

The performances of Erie and Sheep Creek were outstanding among the single room schools, being interest in these two centres being evident in the number of entries and in the stirring competition they provided.

Another feature of the day was the splendid organization of the meet throughout. A new organization handling its first meet, and faced with the necessity of completing events between train times, it ran close to schedule all the way and gave the travelling athletes plenty of time to catch the train. The teachers responsible were assisted by a number of volunteers.

Officials and results follow:

Potato Beetle Menace to Kootenay Crops - Growers Get Arsenate Free This Is Deadly Potato Beetle

The Colorado potato beetle, deadly foe of potato crops, is about one-half inch long, broadly oval in shape and striped lengthwise down the back with 10 broad pale yellow stripes alternating with narrow dark brown or black ones. The underside is a uniform reddish orange. It is capable of flight.

Usually it hibernates among rubbish or in the ground or sometimes among stored potatoes.

The adult feeds to a certain extent on potato foliage, but this is not as destructive as the larva. The eggs are a bright orange color and hatch in about a week. One female lays between 500 and 2000 eggs. Grubs from a batch of eggs gradually spread over the plant and strip it. The grub is soft and fat with a peculiar hump back appearance. It varies in color but usually is some shade of orange or red, most frequently a bright brick red.

The Colorado potato beetle is a threat to Kootenay potato growers. The first appearance of the insect in Kootenay and Boundary was in 1937, states E. C. Hunt, district horticulturist. It then appeared in three widely separated sections—Salmo, Thrums and Grand Forks.

The Grand Forks infestation was found early enough in the season last year to undertake considerable control measures and indications are that the beetles will be considerably less there this coming year. The Salmo and Thrums outbreaks were reported late in the season and little if any control work could be carried out at that time, other than hand picking of the adult beetles.

The handpicking is a very effective method of control when the infestations are light and only cover a small area states Mr. Hunt.

The adult beetles, winter stage, are above ground now and were found on the early potato top at Thrums on Wednesday, June 1. So egg-laying will be on soon.

"If the advance of this pest into new areas is to be slowed down, it is important that every grower take steps to control it. If you are not sure of any 'bug' that may be eating your potato foliage it should be sent to your nearest district agriculturalist or horticulturist, who, for this area, are located at Creston, Grand Forks and Nelson."

CONTROL BY DUSTING
Control of the insect for the past several years has been by dusting the potato tops with calcium arsenate. This method is much quicker than spraying and is very effective. From 4 to 5 lbs. of calcium arsenate are required per acre for each application. This is when the plants are 3 or 4 inches high. The straight calcium arsenate is used for the adults but for the larvae, the feeding stage of the insect, one lb. calcium arsenate mixed with 8 lbs. of hydrated lime is used.

When the plants are 6 to 8 inches high, requirement will be 8 to 10 pounds of the calcium arsenate and hydrated lime mixture. Full grown plants may require from 20 to 30 lbs. per acre. From two to three dustings will be required depending on the degree of the infestation.

The calcium-arsenate and hydrated lime mixture for dusting is free to growers having the potato beetle, and a supply is on hand at Nelson, Grand Forks and Creston as well as for the East Kootenay potato growing areas.

CAUFIELD ASKS FOR MORE TOLERANCE, LESS BICKERING IN COAL DISPUTES

FERNIE, B. C.—The final sessions of the Fernie hearings of the Mine Conciliation board were held in the Fernie court house on Thursday evening. B. Caufield, superintendent of Michel mines, who earlier in the day had charged the U. M. W. A. with inefficiency was again on the witness stand and upon being asked by Robert Livett, president of District 18 of the U. M. W. A. and the miners' representative on the board to give a definition of efficiency stated that it was the obtaining of results toward a striven objective.

Mr. Livett remarked that a labor union whose function it was to obtain increase in wages necessary for its members' requirements and which had obtained increases in wages from $2.25 for ten hours work in 1905 to $6.50 for eight hours work in 1919 could hardly be called inefficient.

Asked by Mr. Justice McGillivray, Mr. Caufield was unable to state whether the mine operators had ever attempted a unified policy such as a Central selling agency to eliminate costly competition and lower operating costs other than by cutting the men's wages. The witness also admitted that with a surplus of coal, mines and men the customer was enabled to dictate to a certain extent the price he would pay for the product. Mr. Caufield agreed with His Honor Justice McGillivray, that the customer would very likely take advantage of the suggested ten per cent reduction in wages to make a cut in the prices offered for the company's product.

In giving his personal views of the wage dispute, Mr. Caufield outlined the following:

1. All parties concerned should be more tolerant and trustful.
2. Each side should stop bolstering its case and should present the facts before the other.

BUTCHER CATTLE TRADE IS STRONG

OTTAWA, June 3 (CP)—Strong trade on practically all classes of butcher cattle featured livestock markets this week, the Dominion department of agriculture said today in its review.

Shippers "would exercise good judgment by liquidating grass cattle cautiously," it said.

Cattle prices at Toronto were 15 higher on butchers with weighty steers ranging up to $7.50. At Winnipeg choice handweights made $7.50; grain-feds at Calgary were $7.25 and Edmonton $7. Choice heavy steers made $6 at Prince Albert, Moose Jaw $7 and Regina at $7.25.

Exports to United States were at a minimum. Shipments totalled 306 beef cattle, 187 dairy and bringing the total to date to 21,523 beef, 3802 dairy, 21,811 calves and 44 hogs, against 78,135 beef, 5148 dairy, 43,679 calves and 31,441 hogs in the same period last year.

Exports to Great Britain totalled 1096 head bringing the total to 17,779 against 2818.

So Bad With Nerves Would Lie Down and Cry

It is generally admitted that nerve troubles are more frequent than formerly and growing more so every day.

Wherever there are people whose health is poor, and their nerves shattered, they will find in Milburn's Health and Nerve Pills a tonic that will help to restore the deranged centres, and bring the nervous system back to its old time condition.

Mrs. K. M. HARVEY, Bramber, N.S., writes:—"I got so bad with my nerves I would lie down on the bed and cry. Most of the time it just seemed I could not help it and would not know what I was crying for. I used to feel as if I was going crazy I was so bad."

I tried several different medicines, but received no relief. I then took Milburn's Health and Nerve Pills, four boxes of them, and started to feel better after the first few doses. Now I feel better in every way."

BRITISH WOMEN MUSTER FOR WAR WORK IN AIR CORPS

Seek Safety . . . Warns of Perils of Auto Travel With Youngsters

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.

Thousands of whole families travel long distances by automobile. Safety ought to be the first consideration. Older children need to be cautioned against drinking water whose purity is not guaranteed. When in doubt, boil the drinking water. Pure water can be carried along.

You will want to be sure the milk used is certified or pasteurized. If visiting on a farm, you can pasteurize the milk with a double boiler. Heat the water in the outer container until it has boiled for half an hour. Then let it cool. While traveling, evaporated or condensed milk is desirable. And for the baby and young child away from home, the standard strained or chopped foods will further assure safety.

Going to a strange place with a toddler or runabout, especially on the farm, be right with the child especially during the first several hours until after he has explored and investigated the interesting places. Go about to learn of such dangers as open springs, well or cisterns, and places where the child might be liable to get into a well or a pond. Young children unaccustomed to the farm need to be trained to stay away from the heels of horses and quills, and not to tamper with the farm machinery.

For the baby, a hanging basket or adjustable bed in the back of the car can promote comfort. The toddler and runabout should be allowed to get out and move about every now and then to avoid excessive weariness. Haste in traveling increases irritation in everybody. Of course, we parents shall prove to be good citizens as we travel, being very careful not to litter the roadside with paper and the like, or to throw anything from the car window.

QAMP EXPERIENCE VALUABLE

Summer camp experience is valuable to children over twelve or fourteen, as a rule. But those children who have many playmates at home and get along well on the home and school playground may gain more profit from a few weeks of traveling with their parents than by being in a camp. There is great value in the family togetherness.

From Paris comes word that the hair barrette is being revived. They are wearing barrette clips or pins at either side near the neck to hold up the very short hairs, now that the hair is being worn brushed up at the back.

Ready to Go Places . . . Hurry-Up Beauty Treatments Make You Feel Refreshed and Relaxed

By JULIET SHELBY

The modern woman just hasn't the time for an elaborate beauty program every evening before she goes out. This is definitely true if you are a career woman, or a busy housewife.

Go in for a hurry-up beauty routine. There are lots of things that you can do in 15 minutes that will make you look as though you'd just stepped out of a band-box.

First take a hot foot bath and put on some clean stockings and a different pair of shoes, even if there isn't time to change any of the rest of your costume.

Second, lie down for 10 minutes with your head high, and then your head so that the blood can flow back into your tired face.

TEA GOOD PICK-UP

Third, sip a hot cup of tea slowly. This is a real pick up.

Fourth, apply hot and cold eye pads, alternately, for about five minutes.

Fifth, give yourself a five-minute scalp massage and a vigorous hair brushing. Remember to brush your hair up.

Sixth, lie on your bed for five or ten minutes. Gently wiggle your toes and fingers as if you were doing a relaxing exercise. Get a feeling of utter spineslessness through your entire body.

Seventh, take a shock treatment for your face. Rub it briskly for a minute or two with a piece of ice wrapped in a towel. When doing this be careful of the sensitive areas just under your eyes where little veins make their first appearance. A

Serial Story . . . FIESTA

By OREN ARNOLD

READ THIS FIRST:

Having saved the life of Ellen Dale, screen star, with a lucky parachute jump after his plane had run out of fuel in a terrific storm, Bill Baron and his lone passenger finally arrive at a ranch house across the Mexican border, unharmed but fatigued. Here they are warmly received by Don Julio Montoya, wealthy Mexican, and extended every courtesy.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY:

CHAPTER 3

Ellen Dale was a trifle bleary-eyed at breakfast next morning. She had done considerable crying, mainly because she was a somewhat lonely little girl in spite of her amazing screen career. You can't exist on $15 a week until you are age 19, he suddenly snatched to fortune and fame, without having something drastic done to your emotions. And you can't have an extremely adventurous escapade from death with- out changing still more. A human soul is as impressionable as a human body, or more so.

Ellen's head responded to shock in a manner that would have surprised and alarmed her Hollywood producers and press agents. The song-and-dance lady? The pep-and-personality girl? Cinema's darling? America would never have recognized her this morning, down here in old Mexico. Except for her cool but changing still more. A human soul is as impressionable as a human body, or more so.

But while crying Ellen had done a deal of thinking, too. The terror of that moment in the clouds, when Bill Baron had jerked her out of the plane, repeatedly came back to her. And the subsequent black, blinding walk in the cold rain. Her very spirit seemed to have frozen there, and even though it was under the warm hospitality of the Montoyas, she knew she would never be quite the same. You can't meet death face to face and come away feeling base and saucy. Ellen knew, somehow, that her career as a dancing girl had come to an end.

"Well, shall we make plans this morning?" Bill Baron rumbled at her after breakfast. His voice all ways seemed to boom from some great depth. "Do you feel sufficiently rested now?"

She did not match his bright mood. She did not even smile. "I suppose so," she answered.

He stared down at her.

"You will want me to arrange transportation on to California, I presume. Probably we can hire an automobile. We are in Sonora, you know, about 50 miles south of the Arizona line. I will go as far as Tucson with you, then head back for San Antonio."

The girl did not answer. She was gazing abstractly out a window. He waited a full minute in silence.

Wants to Know . . . Can Mother Hate Her Own Child? Asks Young Girl

By VIRGINIA LEE

"My Dear Miss Lee: Do you really think that a mother can hate her own child? That is only one of the problems that face me."

So begins a letter from a 16-year-old girl who pours out her heart in a long typewritten letter.

She is a sophomore in high school and has very few friends, only one close one whom she only sees at school.

MISTREATED GINGER, as she calls herself, has four sisters, all away from home. She is a "perfect angel on earth," and a younger brother of 12, who is a "perfect devil," according to her. He is impertinent, slaps her face and even throws things at her, such as a knife. Her parents will not correct him.

She does most of the housework, and tries hard to please her mother, often buying gifts for her, but nothing she does seems to suit. She feels her mother would rather she quit school and go to work, but Ginger is bound to get an education, although she feels no one at home cares enough about the grades she makes to see her report card, so she doesn't bring it home.

DESCRIBES SELF

This is her description of herself, and if it is a true picture, I cannot say why she isn't the belle of the ball, can you?

"First of all I am not good looking. I walk with head up, chest out and toes pointing straight ahead. I dress neatly, have pretty natural curly hair, am bright, can sing and dance, am a very good speaker, have not the least bit of bashfulness in me. I can get up and speak before my class with ease, and have a fine sense of humor. I can make people laugh. I am also capable of keeping the conversational ball rolling, and do not act silly, as some girls do. I watch my posture and dress most of all."

It is possible that all these gifts of yours are envied by the other girls who are not so talented, and that is why they think you high hat, Ginger. Maybe they have decided you are a little too conscious of your virtues and abilities.

I think most of it is just youth. You are at a sensitive age and unconsciously envy your troubles. All young people you know do. Your young brother is right at the present.

Pass Same Tests as Men Pilots and Prepare Under Amy Johnson

By MOLLIE McGEE

Canadian Press Correspondent

LONDON, (CP)—Organization of the National Women's Air Reserve, new branch of the Women's Legion in England, for work in peace or war, is proceeding apace under the leadership of Amy Johnson whose record as an Empire pilot is a typical achievement of British womanhood.

For the N. W. A. R. 100 women are to be picked from the 350 fliers who hold the certificate of the Royal Aero club and the many others who have the usual flying certificates and are available as pilots for the women's army.

Flying—as a sport or as a career—has come in since women won equal suffrage, so officials in the government departments of civil aviation are unable to tell how many women have actually passed the required tests. "Women take exactly the same exams as the men so we do not bother to divide the sexes in our reports and statistics. Why should we?" one official questioned.

Miss Ursula Waldron, 21-year-old niece of the Marchioness of Townshend, is one of the prime movers in this R. A. F. auxiliary unit. She is busily engaged making arrangements so that the closest contact possible can be kept with the women "territorials" who now are being recruited and instructed by Lady Londonderry's competent staff. Miss Waldron is but one of hundreds of equally enthusiastic young women who hold pilots' licenses of several years standing.

Women in England are also to be found in other branches of the "flying game." Thanks to the ingenuity of one woman meals on the planes that journey to Africa and Australia are as good as they are. Miss M. Mundy has the job of providing full restaurant meals on air-liners on which no actual cooking can be carried out. Not only that, she trains and directs the staff providing the food on the flying boats on the Empire routes to Africa, India and Singapore.

Has Check-Up . . . Doctor Decides Health Audit Is 'Not Very Human'

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

My old friend, Dr. Adrian Gibbs, has just returned from one of the large medical centers in the east, where he persuaded him to have a thorough examination of himself by all departments of the diagnostic staff.

"A health audit! That's what they call it," he said.

"I dunno why I ever fell for it. You'd think I was old enough to know better."

"They told me that old one to begin with—about how an annual physical examination is not just going to your family doctor and have him ask a few questions and listen to you with a stethoscope, and examine your urine and take your blood pressure, and then pat you on the back and tell you, you are all right. No, they said this is to be a thorough up-to-date scientific health audit with all the resources of the laboratory and the X-ray room and the different kinds of machines. They did it. Yes, sir, they used every machine but the human brain on me."

"Still, I dunno, I believe if — if I mind you—I ever have another one I will take the old-family-doctor-slap-on-the-back variety. These machines just find more things that nobody can cure, and you lie awake nights worrying about it. It's a machine age product and not very human."

"It would have been nice if they had taken a history of me—asked me if I felt bad and if so, where."

X-RAY ROOM FIRST

"They sent me down to the X-ray room first thing — without any breakfast, of course—and put a nightgown that tied up the back exposing everything that a person has any pride in concealing, on me, and a lot of young women ordered em around so that I was photographed in every position known to the classic sculptors, and some they were too proud to sculpt. One young lady came in and said, 'now, I am going to X-ray your sinuses. Which side hurts the most?'"

"I said, 'Neither side hurts at all. I never had any sinus trouble. I can breathe through both sides of my nose perfectly. I haven't had a cold in 15 years. I have no secretions. If anybody had ever taken a history of me they would have known that and these sinus pictures would not have to be taken.'"

"But she went right ahead. She took plenty pictures of my perfectly normal sinuses—with my chin down, and my forehead down and sideways, and once on my poor bare old knees on a hard table, bending over with my nose in a triangular slot in a plate-holder, which my poor inefficient brain told me they would."

It is predicted that fuchsia is going to be one of the fall high-style colors.

Cube Steaks

There is no better meat than tender cube steaks, broiled not too much, about ten minutes, on a medium hot griddle, five minutes a side. And isn't it wonderful how we find occasionally that we have been going smugly along for years cherishing a delusion? For instance, I was sure the word "rarebit" was correct, and "rabbit" permissible, but not quite right. Now, after a gentle argument with a dietitian friend, I found she was right, and the dish is "Welsh rabbit," an erroneously called Welsh rarebit. Imagine my embarrassment! Anyway, a "rarebit" is a good luncheon dish. The asparagus sauce and pie recipes must be credited to Edith Barber, New York dietitian.

TODAY'S RECIPES

WELSH RABBIT — One tablespoon butter, melt it, add two tablespoons flour and mix the two smooth. Gradually add one cup milk, stirring it all the while over heat so that it is smooth and free from lumps. If you are afraid it will lump, take it off the fire and add the milk, then return to blaze when it is well mixed. When hot, season with half a teaspoon salt and one-quarter teaspoon paprika, then add one-half cup grated or finely cut American cheese, sharp if you like it, or mild if you don't. Continue stirring until the cheese is melted, an deserve it over slices of hot toasted bread.

SAUCE FOR ASPARAGUS. — Three tablespoons butter, two tablespoons flour, one cup hot water, one-half teaspoon salt, cayenne, one tablespoon lemon juice, two egg yolks. Melt butter in top of double boiler, over hot water. Add flour and blend well together. Add the hot water gradually and stir constantly until thickened. Season with salt, cayenne and lemon juice. Leave the sauce in double boiler over low heat until serving time. Pour it over the well-beaten egg yolks, stir thoroughly, reheat quickly and serve at once.

CHOCOLATE CHIFFON PIE. — One tablespoon granulated gelatin, one-fourth cup cold water, one-half cup sugar, two squares melted chocolate, one cup hot milk, one-half teaspoon salt, one teaspoon vanilla, one cup cream, whipped. Soak the gelatin in the water five minutes. Make a syrup of the sugar, chocolate, hot milk and salt. Add the softened gelatin to this mixture, stirring thoroughly. Allow to cool, add the vanilla and as the mixture begins to thicken, fold in the whipped cream. Fill a baked pie shell with this mixture and chill. Before serving, garnish with whipped cream.

Hints From Screen Stars

A cake shouldn't have a brown, ruffy edge on its surface—and if yours have that tendency, let Sally Eilers put you on the right track. She says the whole trouble is an over-dose of fat, either in the recipe or in the pan's greasing, so just try cutting down on the shortening.

This will refresh your almost as much as a cold shower. Then give your hair a quick arranging with your comb. Spend the last ten minutes on your make-up. The half hour treatment is more leisurely. Give your hair a quick, invigorating brushing, and if there are any stray ends roll them up. Dampen them only slightly, so they will dry quickly. STEVENS, OTHERS BLOCK CHANGES IN INDIAN ACT

OTTAWA, June 3 (CP) — Amendments to the Indian act received second reading in the house of commons today but criticism in committee of the whole led Hon. T. A. Crerar, minister of resources, to suggest they stand for revision and possible incorporation of suggestions made by opposition members.

The amending bill contains two sections, one designed to permit granting of mining leases on Indian lands and the other to authorize government loans to Indians and Indian bands to assist them in agricultural and other pursuits.

Mr. Crerar was urged to redraft the first section. It was charged the government was forgetting it was trustee of the Indians' welfare and was too much concerned with possible operators of mineral developments.

Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, A. W. Neill (Ind., Comox-Alberni), Grote Stirling (Con., Yale), Hon. H. H. Stevens (Recon., Kootenay East), and J. S. Taylor (Ind., Nanaimo), questioned the minister closely as to how the leases would actually be granted, if it would be necessary for the Indians to surrender their right before a prospecting licence was issued, and what return they would receive.

Mr. Crerar said it would be difficult to draft an act stating definitely what return would accrue to the Indians if paying developments resulted from prospecting. But he agreed to have the section stand over for reconsideration.

U. S. TO PROBE TRADE UNION ACT, BRITAIN

WASHINGTON, June 3 (AP). — President Roosevelt announced today a special presidential commission would be sent to England this summer to study workings of the British Trade Union act.

VANCOUVER, June 3 (CP) — William Sawchuck, police dry squad operative, was in hospital today with fractured ribs suffered when he was attacked last night on a downtown street. Jack Thompson was arrested on a charge of assault.

Angered at Globe-Mail's Attack Roebuck Asks Probe Press Merger

TORONTO, June 3 (CP)—Arthur W. Roebuck, former attorney-general and hydro commissioner, suggested to a special legislative committee today it might "perform a public service" if it investigated the 1936 purchase of the Toronto Mail and Empire by C. George McCullach, then publisher of the Globe and now of the Globe and Mail.

Mr. Roebuck made a heated reply to a statement by Mr. McCullach published in today's Globe and Mail that the Toronto publisher had considered Mr. Roebuck "unfit to hold public office."

The former attorney-general read the following part of the McCullach statement:

"I did tell Premier Hepburn on many occasions that, due to Mr. Roebuck's distorted views of right and wrong and his utter lack of respect for the judiciary, he was an unfit man to hold the position of attorney-general and, due to his lack of honor and principle in dealing with public questions, I regarded him as a menace to public life."

Yesterday Mr. Roebuck told the committee, appointed at the last session to inquire into affairs of the Ontario Hydro-Electric commission, that his dismissal from office was demanded of Premier Hepburn by Mr. McCullach in December, 1936. He was not asked by the premier to resign until April, 1937.

In his published reply, Mr. McCullach denied the charge that Mr. Roebuck's resignation was "made the price of the Globe and Mail's support of the government.

At the opening of today's sitting Mr. Roebuck said he wished to "object to the trial by newspaper which I see in this morning's paper." He took serious objection to "an improper besmirching and vilification of a witness while he is in the box."

"Is that worse than the besmirching and vilification of someone who is not witness by a witness?" demanded J. H. Clark, Liberal member for Windsor-Sandwich and a member of the committee.

Mr. Roebuck asserted what he had said "was the truth under oath."

"I need no lessons from the Globe and Mail in the matter of honesty, but I don't measure my principles by my bank account and how they affect it," he added.

"The Globe and Mail has not replied to my statements regarding its being the mouthpiece of private interests which are trying to destroy public ownership."

"This committee might perform a public service if it inquired into the agreement or arrangement or understanding with regard to Beauharnois or other power which accompanied the transfer of the Mail to the Globe, and determining whether there was any understanding when Mr. McCullach purchased this paper from one of the power magnates that she should carry on the job."

"This is not the place for that," interjected Attorney-General Gordon Conant, committee chairman.

that distinction. The principal was also able to certify that the regulations concerning time allotments, study periods, and health and physical education have been carefully observed. 'A' standing means excellent or outstanding; 'B', very good; 'C' plus, high average.

"In a large high school which is accredited, only about 40 per cent of the pupils taking a final course in a subject required for university entrance will pass in that subject without taking the June or August examination conducted by the provincial board of examiners. All others must write the final examination.

"Approximately 50 per cent of the high schools now in operation in the province have been accorded the status of an accredited high school for 1938. Accrediting is for the period of one year, and annual application for a renewal of that status must be made by high schools desiring to receive such distinction."

Dr. Weir Outlines Accrediting High Schools Practice

Position of the department of education with respect to accrediting high schools is set forth in the following statement forwarded to the Daily News by Hon. W. G. Weir, minister of education:

"The question of the desirability of accrediting high schools, which has been under consideration for some time, has been settled for this year. The department of education and the senate of the University of British Columbia have decided to adopt the following plan for the school year ending in June, 1938:

"In the case of a senior high school (Grades X to XII) having a staff of three or more teachers holding the academic certificates, and in the case of a high school (Grades IX to XII) having a staff of four or more teachers with similar qualifications, a pupil who is certified by the principal to have completed the final course in a subject prescribed for university entrance and who has obtained on the year's work at school a final standing of 'A' or 'B' or 'C' plus in this subject, may be given university entrance standing in that subject. Provision is made also whereby a high school with only three teachers may be accredited if, by reason of the outstanding merit of the staff, it is adjudged worthy of

Chancellor Objects to Promotion Without Examination, He Says

VANCOUVER, June 3 (CP) — Chancellor R. E. McKechnie of the University of British Columbia said today he was not in favor of the British Columbia government's scheme for permitting high school students to qualify for university entrance without writing examinations.

Chancellor McKechnie said the scheme for promotions on basis of the student's work through the year "leaves the way open for favoritism."

Miss A. B. Jamieson, member of the city school board and of the U. B. C. board of governors, said she was "heartily in approval" of the new promotion policy.

"Examinations have developed largely into a matter of cramming," she said. "Under the system of recommendation announced yesterday by Dr. Weir (Hon. G. M. Weir, provincial education minister) a student will have to maintain a fairly high standard throughout the year. But it will require careful supervision until it is well established."

PREMIER KING AND "NEUTRALITY"

Premier King has been at pains to point out that Australia is Australia, that New Zealand is New Zealand and that Canada is Canada. He has declared the time has come to cease speaking of the "Dominions" as if they were some peculiar half-fledged type of community, and all alike in their interests and views, comments the Toronto Telegram.

"It is regrettable that the premier of Canada, choosing this moment for a statement of the foreign policy of his government, should emphasize the differences between different parts of the British Commonwealth instead of stressing those important features where their interests and outlook coincide. They have all expressed devotion to democratic ideals, and they are all alike in relying, for the protection of their ocean-borne trade, if not of their soil, upon the British navy. They are all, also, in the position of not being able to expect that any nation with which Britain may be at war will regard them as neutral, nor, whatever may be the inclination of their several governments, is it to be supposed that their populations will unanimously submit to the adoption of a neutral role for themselves if Britain is at war.

"The suggestion of the possibility of a neutral role for Canada should have brought from the Canadian premier a more vigorous repudiation than the milk-and-water statement that for Canada to declare neutrality in any future conflict would be to tie the hands of parliament and be an unwise encouragement to potential aggressors. It would have been better for Mr. King to have remained silent than to have expressed the doubts contained in his statement that while we have worked out a completely logical solution of the relations between the several members of the Commonwealth in peacetime, we have not yet worked out a completely logical solution of the position in war time.

"Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett puts the situation cogently when he asks how, if the United Kingdom went to war, this country could remain neutral and remain in free association in the British Commonwealth of Nations. It is impossible for Canada to be in the Commonwealth in peacetime and out of it in time of war. If war should be forced upon Britain, it would be forced upon Canada. It would be for parliament then to say to what extent Canada should participate in the united operations of the Commonwealth.

"It is unfortunate that, at a time when British strength is particularly the bulwark of peace, the premier of Canada should insist on reminding the world that he was 'born in Berlin, not Kitchener,' and that Canada is not much more than an adjunct to the Rockefeller Foundation."

There is only one proof of ability—action.—Marie Ebner-Eschenbach.

THE PEACEFUL REDS

Much interesting information about the aims and the activities of the Russian Comintern is given in an article by the Riga correspondent of the London Times. The Comintern is the body whose object is to cause revolution outside Russia. In its official organ it calls itself the "General Staff of World Revolution". It has been trying since 1919, by various methods, to provoke civil war all over the globe.

In 1928 it reached the peak of open audacity. The program of that year, drawn up by Bukharin, concluded with the words: "Let the dominating classes tremble." Later Stalin concentrated the direction of its affairs in his own hands, and there was a change in method, accompanying and consequent on the change in the methods of Soviet diplomacy. Russia protected by an "invincible" Red army, was to be a fortress from which the Comintern could create and control revolutions elsewhere. The attack was, however, to be insidious rather than bold.

When Russia entered the League of Nations, the Comintern decided to mask its activities fully. At its congress that year it was directed to substitute the word "peace" for "war" on its program; to use the phrases "Fight for Peace" and "United Front" on its banners, and to drop the words "Communism" and "Bolshevism", replacing them with the innocuous term, "Socialism". It was explained that the slogan, "Fight for Peace" would be the most effective weapon for "turning war into civil war against the bourgeoisie."

The plan was explained to non-Russian Communists who went to Moscow for instructions. Fascism was the great enemy, but the campaign was to be centered in the democratic countries, where there was more chance of success. The first task was to work for a "united front" in the various democracies. When that was achieved in France, the civil war was engineered in Spain. Spaniards were brought to Moscow, kept, trained and sent back to carry out the Comintern program. Their efforts and success were recorded in the Comintern journal in 1936. Meanwhile the work was going on in France and the Comintern central committee claims that, with the "Front Populaire", the Socialist movement in France is rapidly becoming a Communist movement, under the control of Moscow. It points out that since 1936 France has been kept in constant turmoil. China, India and Arab countries are also considered fruitful fields and there is hope that, if the Japanese are checked in China, there will be an opportunity in Japan also.

Since the new policy was adopted, both luke-warm leaders and extremists have been purged. A great many Russian Communists, including leaders of the army and navy as well as civilians, had turned their back on world revolution and were concentrating on Russia. They were

Actress-Princess, Austria, Nazis, Bills

An actress, especially an actress in Europe, needs vast quantities of chic lingerie. For unpaid underwear bills totalling $265 former actress Nora Gregor, now the Princess Ruediger, von Sternberg, was successfully sued in Vienna, apparently at the instance of Nazi Commissioner Busarckel.

Dashing Prince Ernst von Sternberg was once the swashbuckling leader of the Austrian Heimwehr with a private army of his own, had at least a dozen ancient castles in his native land and is descended from a family whose records date back 800 years. On ex-Chancellor Schuschnigg's orders he disbanded his following, married beautiful actress Gregor a few months ago, and bolted with her over the border just before the Nazi hammerblow fell last March. Revealed by the Vienna court order he is living in Arosa, Switzerland, the Prince was cited as having promised to pay his wife's lingerie bills "after I have checked them over."

At all tables in a duplicate the final contract on this deal was 3-No Trumps. The South players opened with 1-Club, North responded with 1-Diamond, South 1-Heart, North 1-Spade, South 2-No Trumps and North three. The contract was made with two overtricks at some tables and defeated at others, all depending upon how the South players handled the club suit. The heart 6 was the opening lead, which was won with the A. The diamond K was allowed to hold, and West won with the heart K the return lead of that suit. He followed with a heart to the J. Now the club finesse was tried and lost to West, who led another heart to South's 10. Those who failed to make the contract entered dummy with the spade Q and took another club finesse which lost to West, who cashed another heart and led a diamond to East's A.

The contract was made by those who on the seventh trick laid down the club A, figuring they could afford to lose a club trick to East but not to West. Played in that way, only two tricks were lost.

G. L. F. Trail—Where is the largest organ in the world?

In the May 11 issue it was stated that one of the largest organs in the world was in the Royal Albert Hall, London. Since then a reader has kindly volunteered the following information: "The largest organ in the world was erected recently in the new Liverpool Cathedral and was first heard officially at the dedication. The pipes are three feet, one inch in diameter and weigh more than a ton. There are five rows of keys, 188 stops and 10,934 pipes. The extent of the instrument is such that there are 17 telephones from various parts of the instrument for workmen to communicate with the assistant when tuning."

Y. Z. Boswell—What kind of fish is hake?

The hake is the cousin of the cod and pollock but is characterized by having one long back fin that runs down to the tail, as distinct from the other cods that have three back fins. A very similar fish is the cusk.

ADVANCE WEATHER BULLETIN

For Western and Central Canada, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, embracing British Columbia, Alberta and Ontario.

Monday, June 6, 1938.—Colder than normal for this time of the year and about central provinces cloudy, with light rains; Pacific slope fairly clear.

Tuesday, June 7.—Quite cool but turning warmer; on Pacific slope and in most of west clear, but some clouds and light, scattering rains in central and northern sections of central provinces.

Wednesday, June 8.—Warmer nearly everywhere and in central regions somewhat cloudy, with few light rains, but for country in general clearing weather.

Thursday, June 9.—Generally clearer and warmer, though in central and southern sections probably some clouds and light raining, in spots.

Friday, June 10.—Clear, warm weather in most parts of the country, but about southeast of central provinces and along the southern borders cloudy and in a few places light rains.

Saturday, June 11.—Turns cooler in west and becomes unsettled, cloudy, with light rains in central regions, but fairly clear and cool on the Pacific slope.

Sunday, June 12.—A cool or cold wave comes on in central provinces as weather clears up about the west, though cloudy and some rain in southeastern sections.

Week of June 6 to 12, 1938, in central provinces begins with rather cool weather, which soon changes to much warmer, though around end of week suddenly much colder. Not very much rain is to be expected and while it is probable there will be cloudy conditions in central provinces most of the time, the raining is indicated as showery, light, scattering, with considerable clearing spaces between disturbances. Just at end of week a cold spell, and this is expected to be the last very cold weather of this season.

Somewhere around the 6th or 12th of June this year is indicated as the last of the cold nights of the season in these regions, as the Sun is now below the horizon only about six and half hours out of the 24 in latitude 52. At Calgary the mean minimum temperature for June is 43, at Qu'Appelle 60, Winnipeg 62, therefore only on very rare occasions is the weather in these regions really cold at this time of year, or if a cold spell does come on it never lasts more than a few hours. It is true that in sections north of 52 or in the plateau regions there are sometimes light frosts as late as middle of June, but this year the heated term sets in early and practically all frost danger will be past June 15.

put out of the way. The purge was drastic and dangerously weakening, but it was essential to pursuance of the policy.

All this agrees perfectly with the evidence furnished by the Communists working outside Russia. In Britain there was recently born a movement for a "united front". In both Britain and Canada the Communists have changed their tone. They talk now not of revolution but of fighting for peace. They pose, not as the foes of the bourgeoisie, but as the friends of democracy. They talk of peace instead of war. It is significant that in Toronto their friends now call them Socialists instead of Communists. There is a change in tactics, visible to the naked eye, but there is abundant evidence that there is no change in purpose.

Man Might Well Follow the Example of the Beaver's Life

The Industrious Beavers Rebuild Land and Prevent Erosion by Means of Their Painstakingly Constructed Dams

Score one for the beaver as a builder and conservationist, as against all these stories of dust-bowls, depression and continental wreckage. Officials of the Palisades Inter-state park report that since they became tenants of the Bear Mountain park 18 years ago, the beavers have restored the land of the 42,000-acre park, saved the water table and made the area a haven for wild life.

The dams not only prevent erosion, but they rebuild top soil, and as the beavers later move on to establish another colony, there is left an area of rich, restored soil. The water is saved and the entire region takes on the organic character of inter-related soil and vegetable and animal life, which is inherent and necessary in the balance of nature.

Many old-timers along the Labrador and Newfoundland coasts will never kill beavers. "Them aren't beasts; them's human," they say. They have much good ground for their opinion. While, taking homo sapiens as it is, the beavers may not regard it as a compliment, they are one-up on our species in many ways—not only in their wise and sensible use of their resources, but in many of their ways of life.

For instance—and this is no nature fake—if a beaver has ever been trapped in any particular colony, it is almost impossible to trap one again. One of the elders of the tribe is always looking for traps. When he finds one, he picks up a stick, creeps up cautiously, and springs the trap.

And in the same edition of the paper which tells about the Bear Mountain beavers, there is a story of a fisherman who caught a fish that was very similar to the cusk.

NELSONITES TAKE TRAIL LACROSSE SQUAD OVERTIME

Tie Count at 15-15 in Last Seconds, Five in Added Session

TRAIL LEADING TILL NEAR END

TRAIL, B. C., June 3—Despite suffering 26 minutes in penalties compared to 12 by Smoke Eaters, Nelson Maple Leafs came from behind to tie the count in the last quarter, rifle home five goals in overtime, and win their fourth straight victory of the West Kootenay boxla league 20-15 before a mediocre attendance at the rink here tonight. The triumph gave Nelson added strength to its hold on top place of the league standing. Trail having only one win to date and Rossland none.

As the fixture got under way there was every indication that Smoke Eaters were going to establish their first victory over the lakesiders. At the end of the first quarter Trail led 7-3. Nelson held their own in the second frame by chalking up four goals, the same number being tallied by the home club.

It was in the third stanza that Maple Leafs opened up with a vengeance. Play zoomed to playoff fixture pitch as Nelson gradually climbed upward. Checking was rough, but no fighting broke out. Nelson tied the count in the third stanza but the locals were up 13-12 when it ended.

The fourth quarter was a battle royal, the Leafs tying the score and Trail regaining the lead repeatedly until Coach Walmesley of Nelson tied the game 15-15 with only seconds left before full time.

Pioneer of Trail Who First Rode in Revisits Scenes

TRAIL, B. C., June 3—W. O. Sanford, accompanied by his wife, arrived here today by travel much more comfortable than when he first came to the city in 1895 by horse and saddle over the Dewdney trail.

He came from the Okanagan this time over the Cascade highway by car and chose that route to reach Trail in hopes of running across portions of the old Dewdney trail. Mr. Sanford, now 71 years of age, worked on construction of the original smelter at Trail, and he and Bill Flora built the first brewery in town. His son, LeRoy, named after the Rossland mine, was born on December 8, 1895 and is said to have been the first white boy born in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Sanford are residents of Seattle.

CHAMPS PARADE AT COAST "FEED"

He referred not only to the champions of sport, but to the Beaux Arts Drama society of Victoria which won the Bessborough trophy at the recent Dominion drama festival, and the Kitilano boys' band under Conductor Arthur Delamont of Vancouver, junior world's champions.

Scouts Are Hosts Camp Fund Dance

Pushing along the campaign to finance an international Boy Scout camp at Camp Bute, Kootenay, July 13 to 30, Nelson Scouts entertained a large crowd at a dance at the Armory Friday night.

Speaking of the drive, A. T. Horswill spoke of the excellent trip the Nelson Scouts had to Pullman two years ago. It would require $500 to finance an international camp to return that hospitality, he said.

Some 75 to 100 Scouts and officers were expected from Pullman, Wash., and district, and a great deal of work had to be done, especially by the mothers and fathers of the boys, the Scout association and Scout leaders.

He spoke also of the fine accommodation at Camp Bute—a dining hall to seat 200, two sleeping huts, a first aid hut, and so on.

Trail May Utilize Dominion Loan for Pump Station

TRAIL, B. C., June 3—"Any money which would come to Trail from the Dominion loan will be used for the extension of waterworks to East Trail in the form of a pumping station which will also supply the lower end of Trail and hill sides," Mayor E. L. Groutage said this morning when interviewed on the proposed Dominion 2 per cent loan to municipalities.

"At the present time East Trail is in a hazardous position as they are only two six-inch lines from the city to East Trail. If anything should happen to those lines then the other side of the river would be without water.

"As it is now, these lines are inadequate to supply needs over there and consequently, with a pumping station in operation the situation would be eased considerably," he said.

The Nakusp contract will be for $3977 and the Nelson contract for $2000.

In addition to these undertakings, wharf repairs will be carried out on the Kootenay and Arrow lakes by day labor. Mr. McLean having been advised that expenditures have been allocated as follows:

Fruit Growers

HAVE YOU SIGNED THE Growers' Contract

If Not, Why Not?

The contract has been prepared by growers to protect growers' interests, and should be signed by every grower desirous of obtaining maximum returns for his fruit.

The only person to consult regarding the signing of the contract is yourself; it is your business. Do you want Grower Control of your business?

Do not rely on the uncertainty of legislation. You may, or you may not have a Marketing Act under which marketing may be regulated. Sign the contract and thereby enable your representatives to give you more efficient control than you have had in the past.

The time is short. The matter is urgent. Do not delay, but SIGN NOW and return the three copies to

Koolenay Men Attend Meeting Fruit Growers Haskins, Hembling, Barrat Relected to Office

COMPLETION OF CONTRACTS URGED

Koolenay-Boundary delegates to the annual meeting of grower delegates to elect the British Columbia Fruit Board were Archie Lawson of Grand Forks, C. S. Squires of Nelson and J. M. Craigie of Creston.

E. Haskins, O. W. Hembling and G. A. Barrat were re-elected to their offices as members of the board, parties being fixed as last year at $3000 each.

Excerpts from the report of the meeting follow: Mr. Haskins reviewed the cost of operating the board. He said that the board alone cost a little more than half a cent a box.

NEED STRONG BODY

Mr. Haskins warned that the strongest possible type of organization was needed by the growers inasmuch as the B. C. Marketing act was being submitted to the privy council in June and if its decision was adverse there would be chaos, unless the growers had a competent organization. The standard contract was the only salvation—Mr. Haskins urged the delegates to impress fellow growers in their district with the vital importance of signing the contract immediately and sending these in to the fruit board office.

Mr. Watson asked whether the cost of statistics gathered, compiled and distributed by the board justified the cost. Mr. Barrat said most decidedly this information was necessary and was far more value than the comparatively low cost involved. For instance, these figures are valuable knowledge as to grades, sizes, etc. which the various markets, domestic and export, absorbed most readily. Mr. Coe supported Mr. Barrat's statements. He said the chairman of the locals had asked that these reports be sent to them as they found them most useful and instructive to the growers.

Mr. Barrat reported that 907 signed standard contracts had been received by the board as at May 25 out of a total of about 2500 growers, of whom 1890 were in the Okanagan valley. The Associated Growers had sent in 600 signed contracts, the balance being distributed among growers dealing through independent shippers.

GROWERS' CONTRACT

Mr. Coe asked how many shippers were in favor of the contract not against it. Mr. Haskins replied that the shippers had not been asked to sign. This was a growers' contract. They had no certain knowledge as to what shippers were working against it but they only knew of one shipper who was actively supporting it. He did not think that any shipper would sign the contract unless the growers forced him to sign it. Mr. Coe said that some growers were going to their shippers regarding the contract. If the shippers are not advising the growers not to sign, they are undoubtedly influencing the growers not to sign by advising them to be careful. He recommended personal contact with growers to secure early signatures. Mr. Haskins returned to the financial statement. He said there was a surplus of $10,000 in the last year's operations which would probably have been rebated had it not been for the difficult situation which at present faced the growers. With the act threatened it was necessary that the growers take steps to ensure protection of their interests in the event of a crisis. If things cleared there would likely be a substantial rebate. At present time there was a reserve of $35,000 and possibly there could be a rebate next year. Annually the board had spent less money than it had collected. One year there had been a rebate of three quarters of a cent. Now it had to have a reserve. This was not earning money as the board was not authorized to invest its funds.

TO PROBE INFANT AND MATERNAL MORTALITY IN SOME COMMUNITIES

OTTAWA, June 3 (CP)—Why babies have more chance of being born alive in some parts of Canada than in others and why motherhood is safer in some cities than others are questions puzzling the child and maternal hygiene division of the department of pensions and national health at Ottawa.

In a scientific inquiry, designed to make child-bearing less dangerous for Canadian mothers, the division found great differences in infant and maternal mortality as between individual communities. Why this should be doctors don't know. Dr. Ernest Vouture, chief of the division, will seek to run the facts to ground by examining death certificates of every mother and child whose life has been lost recently in a maritime community. He expects to visit the city itself to determine if possible why maternity cases "imported" from country districts stand a better chance than city cases.

SCHOOLBOY ROBBED OF HIS FARE HOME

SEATTLE, June 3 (AP)—Wilfred LeBoe, Canadian youth en route to his home, B.C., from school, last night reported to police a matching swindler stole $35, his fare home, at the bus depot. The buncos man interested him in a matching game, he said, but didn't wait to swindle him. When he opened his purse they grabbed the money and ran.

Policeman Dies When Partner's Gun Explodes in Struggle With Burglar

NEW YORK, June 3 (AP)—In the darkness of a Brooklyn candy store, two policemen fought with a man who was slashing at them with a hunting knife early today. Cornered the suspected burglar struggled furiously as Patrolman John Deaver, 37, gun in hand, withheld his fire and closed in—heedless of the flashing blade. "I'll get him from behind!" shouted Patrolman James D. Fisher, 53. Both officers lunged. The suspect's knife slashed across Deaver's gun hand. The pistol exploded. Deaver

LAST RITES FOR FIRE VICTIMS

VANCOUVER, June 3 (CP)—The flame-scoured bodies of three Japanese children were cremated here today, four days after the east end tenement fire which took their lives.

The cremation took place in an Occidental crematorium after a two-hour Oriental funeral service in Kompa Buddhist temple, conducted by Japanese priests and arranged by a Canadian undertaker. By noon Japanese residents of Vancouver and the Fraser valley farming district began to gather, although the ceremony did not start until 1:30 p.m. They explained a Japanese funeral was an "occasion," and all who could—even those who had never heard of the bereaved families—came miles to attend.

Hundreds were crowded into the wooden temple, many bringing with them small donations to help pay funeral costs, for the parents of Taizo Isotani, 14, George Taniguchi, 11, and Yoshikazu Ono, 7, are poor. Wealthy members of the Japanese community here paid most of the expenses.

John Jaeggli of Edgewater was a Kaslo visitor Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. Noel Bacchus of Birchdale were city visitors Thursday. Coming in by launch, Mr. Bacchus landed an 18-pound salmon.

Charles O. Rodgers and son, H. Rodgers, of Creston were Wednesday visitors to Kaslo. Mr. and Mrs. John Burns and son of Ainsworth were visitors in the city Wednesday.

Interested everyone. On Saturday, May 29, the company hiked down to the beach of the Captain, Mrs. J. E. Holt, and cooked lunch at the bonfire on the beach. During rest hour, campfire singing and storytelling was much enjoyed. Then Patrol Leader Betty Holt laid a trail up the orchard, and this led to a hidden treasure. After every girl found the candy intended for herself, the trail proceeded to the top, where, after a rest, staking games were played. On returning down to the garden, the dances to be given at the garden party were rehearsed, and after light refreshment the meeting closed with "Taps."

With the Girl Guides and Brownies

SOUTH SLOCAN

At a recent meeting Thelma Nyman was enrolled as a member of the First South Slocan Guide company. This meeting was held at the home of Dorothy James. After the enrollment ceremony, an impromptu program of recitations, songs and dancing was put on by the Guides. Guide work was done, and a delightful supper served by Mrs. James. During the Easter holidays, the Guides were invited to the home of Mrs. A. F. McDonald. Instruction on needlework was given by Mrs. McDonald, games were played, and tea was served.

On a Saturday morning recently, a hike was enjoyed by the Guides. Tests in tracking and fire lighting were given. Mrs. H. Nixon is assisting Miss Motley, Brown Owl, in carrying on the Brownie work. The following tests have recently been passed: Nature, Laura Myhre; Nurse Laura Myhre; Fire lighting, Thelma Nyman, Gwen Jones, Grace McDonald; Mollie Murray has passed her tests for dancing and Dairy Workers badges. Four Guides are working for basketry badges.

Instruction in needlework is being given by Mrs. A. F. McDonald. WILLOW POINT

During May the First Willow Point Guide company has held two indoor and two outdoor meetings. On May 14 the company under the leadership of Lieutenant Miss M. Horrigan hiked a considerable distance over the Six-Mile road. On this occasion four Guides took the first class hiking test, cooking lunch, and entertaining other Guides. After lunch and rest hour, Guide games were played and nature talks

Meteor Appeared Low Gray Creek

James Burge writes to The Daily News from Gray Creek, to state that the meteor seen here and at Trail, and in Washington and Idaho, gave out a hissing sound that was heard at Gray Creek, and that he got the impression that the visitor from space was travelling below the clouds. In this impression Mr. Burge was of course mistaken, for unless it travelled in a high arc, it could not have been seen by such a wide territory.

MONTREAL GAZETTE IS 160 YEARS OLD

MONTREAL, June 3 (CP)—The Gazette, Montreal's first newspaper and one of the oldest on the continent, celebrated its 160th birthday today. A special edition reviewed its long history from the time of its founding June 3, 1778, by Fleury Mesplet.

With a tiny wooden press, Mesplet started the paper off as a weekly called "Gazette du Commerce et Lettrairre pour la Ville et District de Montreal." It became a semi-weekly in 1829 and a full-fledged daily in 1853.

Canon Hedley Dies in East; Victim of Smoke, Bush Fire

PETERBOROUGH, Ont., June 3 (CP)—Believed victim of smoke from a bush fire several days ago, the body of Rev. Canon G. W. Hedley, 72, dean of the Anglican Theological college at the University of British Columbia, was found late last night near his vacation cottage at Stoney lake.

The body was clad in pyjamas and slippers, over which the clergyman had drawn a pair of trousers and a sweater coat in a hurried attempt to extinguish the blaze. He had evidently prepared to retire when he first noticed the blaze. Both legs and one arm were found badly burned.

The body of Canon Hedley had fallen against a huge rock which may have barred his retreat from the flames. One arm was bent protectively over the eyes.

NEW OPERA IS SUCCESS

HAMBURG, Germany, June 3 (AP)—An opera based on Nathaniel Hawthorne's "Scarlet Letter" was produced last night at the State Opera house with Dusolina Giannini in the leading role. It was called "Das Brandmal" (Brand of Shame), and was the work of Vittorio Giannini. A distinguished audience which filled the house to capacity demanded 30 curtain calls.

ANNOUNCE APPOINTMENT

EDMONTON, June 3 (CP)—Appointment of J. R. Sweeney, Alberta dairy commissioner since 1934, as deputy minister of agriculture was announced today by Hon. D. B. McMullen, minister of agriculture. Mr. Sweeney succeeds H. A. Craig who was retired about two weeks ago.

Windsors Spend First Anniversary In Working at Their New Home

ANTIBES, France, June 3 (AP)—The Duke and Duchess of Windsor celebrated their first wedding anniversary today, working together on their first real home. They were so engrossed in getting the chateau de la Croe ready to live in that they planned no formal celebration. The Duke and Duchess, living at the Grand hotel while work on their home is being completed, drive their car a mile and a half each day to the chateau, carrying with them a picnic lunch. The couple are seeing only a few old friends here, sticking to the "simple life" of the Riviera. So far, the only servant they have engaged is the gardener of Sir Pomeroy Burton, whose chateau it is that they have leased.

Imitation Cream Puffs Are Banned

MADISON, Wis., June 3 (AP)—Attorney General S. Loomis has ruled that a cream puff without cream is no cream puff. So all imitation cream puffs must be taken off the market. "Since cream, either whipped or as part of the filling," is a necessary ingredient of a cream puff," Loomis ruled, "the so-called cream puffs are being sold in imitation of another article."

Nelson's Growth Impresses Goetz

After an absence from Nelson of between three and four years, Harry Goetz, now one of the leaders in the brewing industry in the Pacific Northwest, was astonished yesterday with improvements made in the city. He was particularly impressed with the improvement in the streets, the new Civic Centre building and by a large number of new business blocks and residences, and those which had been remodelled, improved by stuccoing or in other ways.

He was accompanied by Mrs. Goetz, who is manager of the Coeur d'Alene hotel at Spokane and the Ponderay hotel at Sandpoint, and by Miss Marybelle McDonald, catering manager of the Coeur d'Alene hotel.

FAULT WITH PACKERS

Captain Porteous said the maturity committee was doing good work. Any breakdown largely lay in the packing house, suggesting that the directors impress on the packing houses the necessity for proper grading and packing. Mr. Coe recommended that a system should be worked out whereby the individual grower would be required to stand behind his own pack. Instructions as to picking dates should be part of the policy. Any breakdown should come back to the grower and not on the pack. He would like to see this matter brought to the attention of the packing houses. Captain Porteous said that a special committee of the Associated was investigating this matter to see if a feasible plan could be developed.

The directors were instructed to apply to the provincial branch of the Dominion department of agriculture, at the same time seeking the cooperation of the provincial department of agriculture for a cost of distribution survey, similar to that made in Nova Scotia.

Squires, Robson, Is Director of Fruit Growers

Lawson of Grand Forks Takes Okanagan Men to Task, Apricots

C. S. Squires of Robson is Kootenay-Creston director on the executive of the British Columbia Fruit Growers' association, having been elected to this office at a directors' meeting at Kelowna, A. K. Lloyd of Rutland continues as president and besides Mr. Squires and Mr. Lloyd the directors are Capt. D. M. Balfour of Salmon Arm, main line; P. E. French of Vernon, North Okanagan; and Capt. H. A. Porteous of Oliver, South Okanagan.

Excerpts from the minutes of the meeting follow: Archie Lawson of Grand Forks reintroduced the subject of apricots. In his district, Grand Forks, apricots were not grown. They were brought in from the Okanagan or the United States. He charged that a large shipment from the Okanagan was marked with a "disgrace". He said there were three or four distinct grades of greenness or ripeness in any given container. He knew of five cases returned to the merchant in one morning. The next shipment came from Oroville and every apricot was perfect. The Okanagan cons were marked No. 1. Mr. Ramsay recalled a similar experience at Kamloops last year.

Mr. Coe recommended that a system should be worked out whereby the individual grower would be required to stand behind his own pack. Instructions as to picking dates should be part of the policy. Any breakdown should come back to the grower and not on the pack. He would like to see this matter brought to the attention of the packing houses. Six Inning Pitcher

By W. BOYCE MORGAN

Gordon Locke is a good pitcher for the Burnham high school baseball team, but because of his slight build, he always weakens in the late innings. Usually he is relieved by big, handsome Hal Robinson, who also pitches and wins his own share of the team's games. In a game against Lincoln, Gordon has a three-run lead going into the seventh, but he suffers a couple of tough breaks and is again taken out for Hal. To make it worse, Mary Widener, sister of Catcher Red Widener, is in the stands to see Gordon's humiliation. Gordon expects to ride home with Mary, but Hal joins them and Gordon is pushed into the back-ground. When he gets home he reports the result of the game to his father, remarking that he has the reputation of being a "six-inning pitcher." Mr. Locke tells Gordon that some people, like Hal Robinson, seem to have an abundance of everything they need—ability, strength, money, etc.—while others have much less. These people must, therefore, learn to make the most of what they have. Gordon is puzzled, but Mr. Locke explains that his problem is to use his brains to make up for the physical power which he lacks. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

INSTALLMENT 4 Gordon thought a great deal about what his father had said to him. And on the following day he repeated it, as accurately as he could, to Red Widener.

"Little deep, but it certainly sounds like smart talk," Red commented. "Hal is so big and husky; that he can burn 'em in all after a while without worrying about himself. But you've got to try to save yourself, and make your strength count."

"I guess I've tried to save myself, without thinking much about it," Gordon agreed. "But maybe I could do it still more."

"Sure," Red said eagerly. "When you're working we'll try to get every batter on the fewest possible number of pitches. We'll forget about the strikeouts, and make them too easy grounders to the infield, or lift harmless pop flies. You've got the control to do it."

Gordon didn't get a chance to test the system in a real game for a week. Hal pitched on Saturday, and won. And on the following Tuesday, Coach Graham started Gus Pernak in the box against Wellsville. Gus was a junior, and the coach wanted him to get experience against the weak Wellsville team.

Burnham went to work on the opposing pitcher and bled up nine runs in five innings. Gus Pernak was hit rather freely, but the coach left him in the game until the eighth, when Gordon went in and finished up. With a safe lead, he had a good chance to experiment with the idea of throwing as few pitches

THE BOYS AND GIRLS PAGE

Sam West Tells What It Takes to Be an Outfielder

By SAMMY WEST

Veteran centre fielder of the St. Louis Browns, and a member of every America league all-star team, Sammy West has been recognized as one of the greatest defensive players in baseball.

"You can hit, you're a fast runner and you know how to catch a fly ball? Okay, young fellow, maybe we can make an outfielder out of you. Those are some of the important requirements, but there are a lot more."

In the first place, you'll have to be a really good hitter, not just a fair one, to make the grade. So study up on those batting pointers that Cecil Travis gave you, and put a lot of time on hitting practice. Then, you may be a Glenn Cunningham, or if you run the wrong way or start too late when a ball comes your way, you won't do either.

Let's go into that a little farther. The minute a ball is hit, an outfielder "breaks" toward the spot where he thinks it is going. Judging the direction of a hit is a matter of long practice. There's a secret about it: a fielder just guesses where the ball will land, then starts running. After a time, he finds he can guess pretty well by the length of the batter's swing, and the rise or drop of the ball as it leaves the bat; but for the beginner, practice is the thing.

DON'T BE FANCY

Always keep the ball in front of you. Never mind those one-armed leaping catches and other "circus" stunts. If the ball is flying high, go back far enough to make an ordinary, two-handed catch. Better to have the ball fall in front of you than to get a hand on it. If you watch the big leaguers, you will see that whenever possible they play each ball safely. That's what makes their catches look easy.

You'll chase more flies than anything else, but you'll get your share of grounders and liners, too. Practice up on catching everything you can get a hand on. You will find it easy to get a friend to hit them to you—everyone likes to bat.

In games, don't try to catch every ball that comes into the outfield. Remember the man playing beside you is just as good a player as yourself. Be sure that your fellow outfielders know how much ground you can cover and that you know their limits. Back them up whenever possible, but only when a ball is near your own territory. When a hit comes directly between you and another fielder, let your teammate know if you think you can catch it —just yell to him. If you can't reach it, then he will get it on the first bounce. Of course, if he calls for the ball, let him have it and back him up.

SIZE ISN'T IMPORTANT

Getting down to more general points, your size doesn't matter a great deal. Several small men have become major leaguers are just a little over average size. Take especially good care of your eyes. By all means wear smoked glasses if you have to look into the sun. It takes only a short time to get used to them. Your legs are important, too. Running and walking will strengthen them. Except for a brief jog, though, never try any exercises just before a game. Save your energy for the last few innings.

To sum up, get plenty of practice; learn to break every time a ball is hit; make each catch as easy as possible by running for the fall, and take care of your eyes and legs. It will help you, to see a really good outfielder play. If possible, get a few looks at fellows like Joe DiMaggio, Ben Chapman, Mel Almada, Paul Waner, Joe Medwick, Mel Ott and the rest of your favorites. And when they make a catch look easy, remember they are just playing it safe.

Jobs are Increasing, But Worker Needs Skill, Training to Get One

By JIM EMMETT

Aviation is distinctly a young man's game. Not only in the air and about flying fields and hangars, but out in the plane building plants, which have sprung up like magic all over the land, one finds few gray hairs. Running almost night and day on orders from transoceanic airlines, transport companies, and the different governments, this new industry is finding it extremely difficult to secure trained workers. Polytechnic school graduates are much in demand, also young men with an aptitude for fine work in wood and metal, and those trained for the specialized jobs peculiar to airplane building.

Here is an industry in which opportunities will continue to increase. Keep your eye on it. Technical schools and colleges are giving more attention to the study of aerodynamics, and make a course in aviation engineering optional.

Studying magazines devoted to aviation will help you keep abreast of new developments and improved construction methods, while proficiency in manual training will be a decided asset. Keen observation about the larger municipal airports will also give you some practical knowledge of the mammoth air lines, the construction of which now constitutes such a large part of the plane factories' building programs.

There is a far broader and a more practical field for young men in plane designing and building than in actual flying, as well as a definite thrill in knowing you, too, are playing a part in making it possible to cruise easily and safely in the air.

THE ENGINEERING DEPARTMENT

The engineering department is the backbone of any modern plane plant. In single large factories as many as 250 men work at drafting boards and in the laboratory. Young men in important positions here usually hold degrees in aviation engineering, a new course among technical colleges based on the study of aerodynamics, which has its roots in mechanical, marine, and civil engineering. Plans are drawn for all building and a constant search goes on for the new and improved designs. In the laboratory, usually housed in the same building, samples of all raw materials are tested before using.

Unlike the automobile industry, with its standardized production methods, there is little actual machine work in a plane factory. In one corner, perhaps, a battery of lathes may turn out small parts in quantities, but the dies over which the mechanical fingers trace were first of all made, largely by skilled hand labor, back in the large toolroom. A pair of giant jams and a press may cut huge sheets of metal and turn them out in streamlined shapes, but the noise prevailing throughout the place is the tapping of skillfully wielded hand hammers and the hiss of small welding torches.

Many framework parts are made of small tubes of metal alloys, welded together into units to be finally assembled and braced into tight skeletons. At "forming benches" young men who are real craftsmen beat sheet metal into forms about wooden dies, such work being all hand done because a single design is never followed long enough to make the use of machinery practical.

NO PLACE FOR CARELESSNESS

One is struck by the interest taken about these plants in making every thing doubly strong. There is no room for a careless worker; each man knows lives depend on some

Start Perennials With Tiny Plants Instead of Seeds

By G. Russell Steinelinger

In addition to the annual flowers, you should get to know some of the perennials. These are plants that die down each winter, but come up again in the spring and keep blooming over the years. There are many perennials, and quite a few of them you know by other names, such as delphiniums, hardy phlox, Oriental poppies and—in the woods—jacks-in-the-pulpits. Wallflowers and lavender are old-time perennial favorites in the south. Many of these flowers can be raised from seed but some need a great deal of care. If you would be easier for you in your first garden to put in young plants. Some of the perennials spread rapidly. Coreopsis is one of them. It may be that you can get a few plants from the garden of your mother and father. Others can be bought from a nurseryman.

When planting, be sure that the roots are well covered with earth and are not surrounded by air pockets. In order to avoid this, wash down the soil with water. The roots should not be damaged or cramped. If a part of the root is broken accidentally, cut it off cleanly. The tips of the roots—the fine root hairs—should be surrounded by good, light earth. It is by means of these root hairs that the plant anchors itself, and it is only with difficulty that they can force their way through a hard, clay soil. Then, too, all the food which a plant gets from the earth is through the root hairs. When you plant, dig a hole much larger than the root itself. This does away with hard or packed earth close to the root, hairs because you refill the hole with fine, loose soil.

After planting, water well and keep the surface of the ground moist until the plant begins to grow again. You will know when this happens by the appearance of the leaves. They will no longer look wilted but will be fresh and sprightly.

Only a motor is needed now.

In the final assembly room the sleek machines receive their engines and still another check over, then are wheeled outside for a ground test. Trained mechanics work the throttle, their ears attuned for every engine sound, while others outside watch the action of the propeller and its wash against the wings and body.

Many of the planes built by the larger factories are exported to foreign countries. This entails not only ground testing, but a series of fast flights under the eagle eye of a trained customer's representative, who has probably been at the plant all the time the plane was being built. Not only has he checked and inspected every step of construction, but he is now fully capable of reassembling the machine at its final destination. When all is satisfactory, the plane is torn down again and packed in huge cases for shipment

RECORDS CRASH AS HOUSE B WINS TOP PLACE IN JUNIOR HIGH MEET

Six Records Go by Boards Senior Boys' Classes

BUD EMERY SETS THREE NEW MARKS

FINAL STANDING House B, 81 points; House A, 69 1/2 points; House D, 49 points; House C, 39 1/2 points.

Records were battered as the Buccaneers of House B amassed 81 points Friday afternoon to garner top place in Nelson Junior High school's annual meet at the Recreation grounds.

Six senior boys' records fell Bud Emery flashed down the track to tie the Kootenay-Boundary record of 10 4/5 seconds in the 100 yard dash; clipped four seconds off the school 200 yard dash record to set a new mark of 23 1/5 seconds; jumped 17 feet, 3/4 inches to break the old mark of 16 feet, 8 inches in the broad jump; and spurred his House B mates to a win and a new record of 80 seconds flat in the 440 yard relay.

NEW SHOT MARK

Ken Soles, House A, heaved the eight pound shot to a new mark of 42 feet 6 1/2 inches, shattering the old record of 39 feet 11 1/2 inches.

Elmer Tattie, another House A lad, hopped, stepped and jumped his way to a new record of 33 feet 3 inches in this event. The old record was 32 feet 8 inches.

Frank Kennedy of House D soared four inches over the old height of 4 feet 2 inches in the junior boys' high jump to establish a new record. He also claimed a new mark in the junior boys' hop, step and jump, leaping 29 feet 10 1/2 inches. The old mark was 28 feet 7 3/4 inches.

Walter Uchaz, House A, clipped two seconds off the old record of 29 4/5 seconds in the 220 yard dash; and heaved the eight-pound shot to 35 feet 4 1/2 inches to a new record. The old record was 32 feet 9 inches.

Elva Kidd of House B, threw the horseshoe to a new record of 183 feet 10 inches, over the old mark of 175 feet 11 inches in the open baseball throw for girls.

SPEEDY DASH

Eleanor Simpson, House C, clipped 4-5 of a second off the old record of 7 4-5 seconds in the junior girls' 50 yard dash.

In senior girls' competition Margaret Dawson of House D jumped 14 feet, half an inch in the broad jump, beating the old record of 12 feet 7 inches and Evelyn Hammer of House A soared five inches over the old record of 3 feet 10 inches in the high jump, to set a new record.

Among the intermediate girls Isabel Del Puppo, House B entrant, jumped 14 feet in the broad jump, beating the old record of 13 feet 2 1/2 inches. Isabel Kay of House A set a new mark of 29 feet 10 inches in the hop, step and jump. The old record was 27 feet half an inch. Evelyn Ball, also of House B, tied the intermediate girls' mark of 4 feet in the high jump.

Lusty house yells rent the air as practically the whole school gathered in four cheering sections in the grand stand with parents and friends to cheer their house favorites to victory.

Miss Nancy Dunn, school health nurse, was on hand with her "field hospital," just in case the heat or over-exertion should get the athletes.

CINCINNATI-ST. LOUIS GAME IS TO BE REPLAYED

NEW YORK, June 3 (AP)—Ford Frick, president of the National League, today ordered a replay of the disputed Cincinnati-St. Louis game of May 14. The game will be replayed as part of a doubleheader St. Louis Aug. 20.

The game has been in the books as a 7-6 victory in 10 innings for St. Louis, but Frick decided the protest in favor of the Reds.

The dispute arose when dusty Cooke drove a long hit, which struck a beam just below the pavilion roof in Sportsman's park and dropped back into the playing field. If the ball had struck inches higher or inches lower, it would have gone into the stands for a homer. Umpire Lee Ballantrik ruled it a triple, however, and Cooke "died" on third.

He had been allowed a homer, as the Reds claimed. Cincinnati would have won 6-5 in nine innings.

ROCKFEL WINS OAKS CLASSIC

EPsom, England, June 3 (CP Reuters)—Sir Hugo Cunliffe-Owen's Rockfel, by Felstead from Rockliffe, today won the 16th running of the Oaks, premier classic for fillies, duplicating her victory in April in the one thousand guineas.

Miss Dorothy Page's Radiant was second and Sir Alfred Butt's Solar Flower third in the field of 14.

Rockfel, starting as favorite at 3 to 1, beat Radiant by four lengths over the 1 1/2 mile-Derby course to duplicate last year's feat of Sir Victor Sassoon's Exhibitionist who also won both the one thousand guineas and the Oaks.

The King and Queen and a large crowd watched the classic run in brilliant weather.

SPORTS ROUNDUP ... 13 CANDIDATES FOR TEST TEAM

NEW YORK, June 3 (AP)—Sad news from the bookies: Mr. Art Rooney, the "Pittsburgh plunger," is reported heading east for the aqueduct meeting next week and expects to have $15,000 guarantee for "Whizzer" White in his pocket before the start of the fourth race on opening day.

Ed Fournier, Laney captain of Michigan's state golf team, irons out those greens with No. 13 shoes. Harry Long, pro at Cherry Hills club, Denver, where the United States National open will be played, thinks the course is made to order for Harry Cooper.

Long says the par 4, 470-yard 14th hole will give the boys the most trouble. Joe Jacobs has been at Max Schmeling's spectacular camp so long he can hardly read by electric light on his infrequent visits to Broadway.

Thirteen candidates for test cricket honors, a careful blending of seasoned players and youngsters who have shown international calibre in recent matches, were named by the England selection committee today. Eleven of them will oppose Australia in the initial test at Nottingham June 10.

Three amateurs and 10 professionals make up the list with Wally Hammond, Gloucestershire star who regained amateur status six months ago, as Captain.

Kenneth Farnes, Essex, and J. C. Clay, Glamorgan, complete the amateur trio, the remaining players being Hedley Verity, Leonard Hutton, Yorkshire; Leslie Ames, Douglas Wright, Kent; William Edrich, Denis Compton, Middlesex; C. J. Barnett, Gloucestershire; Joseph Hardstaff, Nottinghamshire; Edward Fyfe, Lancashire and George Poynter, Derbyshire.

Of the 13, seven have played against Australia in previous tests. Their average age is 28 with John Clay the oldest at 40 and Denis Compton the "baby" at 20.

Giants Slide as Pittsburgh Wins

Owen's Single Gives Cards Win Over Phillies

By the Canadian Press A single by Mickey Owen, St. Louis Cardinal's catcher, in the eleventh inning with the bases full, gave the Cardinals a decision 8-7 yesterday, and a clean sweep in their three game National league series with Philadelphia.

Terry Moore crossed the plate to break the tie with only one more out-needed to run the game into a third extra frame.

The Giants' hold on first place in the league was further weakened today as they dropped a 6-5 decision to Pittsburgh Pirates. The New Yorkers, in a hitting slump, have dropped four games in a row. Pirates collected all their runs in the second inning, batting Giant pitchers all over the lot while their rookie Bob Klinger went the route for the first time this season and posted his second victory.

SHUTOUT FOR LEE Bill Lee of the second place Chicago Cubs neared the National league record for consecutive shutouts as he blanked Boston Bees 4-0 and shut them out only three hits. It was his third straight shutout and his fourth in five games.

Brooklyn Dodgers overcame a four-run handicap boarded by Cincinnati Reds in the first inning and finished the game with a 5-4 win. Cleveland Indians took top spot in American league performances with another batting spree and finished with a 10-5 win over Philadelphia Athletics. They piled up six of their runs in the eighth inning after being down 5-3 to the Athletics. Johnny Allen went the route for Indians and marked up his seventh win of the season.

Red Ruffing also marked up his seventh victory of the season when he pitched New York Yankees to a 5-1 win over Detroit Tigers. Joe DiMaggio played his part in the victory with his seventh homer of the year and a single.

Chicago White Sox continued in the losing column, dropping their ninth game. Wes Ferrell pitched the Washington Senators to a 5-1 decision over the White Sox.

Rain cancelled the other American league game between St. Louis and Boston at St. Louis.

Waterbabies Going Strong at Rossland

ROSSLAND, B.C., June 3—Rege Belanger's Waterbabies, a troupe of four youngsters who are making a name for themselves in the Kootenay area, have resumed daily practices at the local pool. Coach Belanger reports that the boys are getting into shape again, and before long will be able to perform before audiences of Kootenay cities.

The troupe consists of Herbie (Oli) Oving, aged 9; Junior Ring, 11; Tommy Hamm, 11; Roy Scott, 14.

JAMES AGAIN IS RIDER OF FIVE WINNERS IN DAY

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3 (AP)—Basil James, champion American Jockey in 1936, continued his sensational riding performances today at Tanforan track by bringing Air Chute home for an easy win in the feature race. The time for the six furlongs was 1:11 3-5.

It was the fifth victory of the day for the Sunnyside Wash, youth, previously he brought in Easter Doll, Count Pan, Step by and Has-san. He rode five winners yesterday.

British Lead 2-1, Walker Cup Golf

By SCOTTY RESTON Associated Press Sports Writer ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, June 3 (AP)—Great Britain's Walker cup golfers solved the secret of the lightning-fast greens of old St. Andrews with greater consistency today than their United States rivals.

As a result, the end of the opening day's Scotch foursomes match found Britain leading the trophy defenders, two matches to one, and looking forward with fresh confidence to her first victory in the international series.

The all-Scottish combination of Hector Thomson and Gordon Peters turned back U. S. Amateur champion Johnny Goodman and Marvin Ward, 4 and 2, and the all-England duo of Leonard Crawley and Frank Penning triumphed 2 and 1 over Fred Haas, jr., and Reynolds Smith.

Of the four United States combinations, only British Amateur Champion Charley Yates and Ray Billows came through. They had to hang on for dear life to beat Charles Stowe and Alex Kyle, 3 and 2, after being seven up with nine to go and then dormie six.

In the other match between Jim Bruen, 18-year-old Irish sensation, and Harry Bentley, Scottish veteran, finished all square at the end of 36 holes with the U. S. No. 1 pair of Johnny Fischer and Charles Kocsis, after the Americans had been three up at 18 holes and two up at 27.

Belmont Stakes Is on Tap Today

NEW YORK, June 3 (AP)—The Belmont stakes, oldest of the American turf's spring classics for three-year-olds, will be run for the 70th time at Belmont park tomorrow with William Dupont, jr.'s Dauber standing out above five mediocre rivals.

Dauber's easy triumph in the muddy Preakness and his fast closing seconds back of Lawrin in the Kentucky derby and Stagehand in the Santa Anita derby indicates the chestnut son of Pennant should have little trouble winning tomorrow's rich mile and a half race.

Neither Lawrin or Stagehand are eligible for the stake, which will gross close to $46,500. A victory would give Dauber two of the three stakes comprising the "triple crown."

COPENHAGEN (CP)—Ragnhild Hveger, 17-year-old Danish girl swimmer, who already holds 20 world records, recently lowered her own 500-metre record of six minutes 45.7 seconds to six minutes, 39.1 seconds.

USE YOUR MEMORY One of the biggest handicaps the average player has to fight against is the fact that he does not play often enough to remember how he played the last time.

For example, if the player can get out only on Saturdays or Sundays and seven or eight days go by before he gets a club in his hand, he is pretty much at sea about the feel of his swing, the width of his stance, the position of his hands on the clubs, and many other things that are necessary to success.

Even when playing almost daily the position of the hands and feet will vary somewhat, and it is only the extreme familiarity of regular play that enables one to overcome this variance. However, a great deal of the handicap of the irregular player can be overcome in a very simple way. It doesn't take much more than the handling of a club to refresh your mind about the things to do on the course.

Some time ago I suggested keeping a club handy at home or back of the door in the office so that it would be easy to reach when an opportunity presented itself for a little practice. I don't mean to encourage the neglect of work or business for golf, but there are minutes during the day when a little relaxation is in order and you can combine this diversion with some constructive work about your game.

Try picking up a club at least once a week during the week-end. I'm sure you'll feel more at home when you do get out on the course.

Wheat Higher on Winnipeg Market

WINNIPEG, June 3 (CP).—Serious rust-damage reports from sections of the United States winter wheat belt today caused a good buying rally on Winnipeg grain exchange. Lifting wheat futures higher for the fifth consecutive session. At the final bell prices were 1½-2½ cents higher, July 1.02½, October 79 and December 77½ cents.

Temporary lack of southern demand for July wheat allowed that future to slip more than two today after it had scored advances of more than 13 cents earlier in the week.

July late climbed more than five from bottom levels while October and December advanced more than two.

Private reports from Oklahoma stated rust damage would reduce yield per acre. These reports coupled with unexpected higher Liverpool prices aided Chicago in scoring gains of more than a cent.

Liverpool closed 1½d higher. Buenos Aires at noon was 1-1½ cents off.

Cash wheat demand lagged and spreads on hard red springs, based on the July future, eased three. Nos. 1, 2 and 3 Northern were 18, 14 and 5 premium above July, respectively.

Coarse grains recovered early weakness and in routine dealings moved sympathetic with wheat.

Calgary Livestock

CALGARY, June 3 (CP).—Receipts to noon today: Cattle 12; calves 5; hogs 10; sheep 192.

Cattle trade slow. Medium to good off-grass cows 3.00-3.50; common 2.50-2.75; there were not sufficient sales in other classes to establish a market.

No hog sales to noon. Thursday's prices: Selects 9.75; bacon 9.25; butchers 8.75 off trucks.

Coast Jobless Are Not to Be Ousted

OTTAWA, June 3 (CP)—Hon. Ian Mackenzie, minister of national defence, denied tonight he had ever said the demonstration of single unemployed men in Vancouver "cannot be tolerated any longer." A Vancouver dispatch said C. Aubrey Peck, secretary of the British Columbia Liberal association, quoted the minister as having made such a statement to him over the telephone.

"I am informed Mr. Peck has issued a denial," the minister added. "I had a telephone conversation with Mr. Peck today and told him, while as minister from British Columbia I was greatly interested in the situation there, any decision had to be made by the cabinet as a whole, not by one minister. I told him there was no change in the policy of the government from that previously announced and restated by Mr. Rogers in a telegram sent tonight to John Mats of the committee of unemployed in Vancouver."

TO LAUNCH FEDERAL HOUSING PROJECT

OTTAWA, June 3 (CP)—The federal government's $80,000,000 low-cost, low-rental housing project, mentioned last night by Hon. J. G. In a general review of work-creating projects planned by the federal administration, Hon. Norman Rogers, minister of labor, said that legislation would be introduced to provide additional encouragement for low-cost, low-rental housing and also for low-interest loans to municipalities for self-liquidating projects.
