KING AND QUEEN ESCAPE 3RD NAZI PALACE BOMBING

One Crashes Through Rooms of the Queen
PLANE IS DOWNED

LONDON, Sept. 15 (CP)—German bombs hit Buckingham Palace today for the third time in eight days damaging private apartments of Queen Elizabeth who, with the King, was absent from the Royal residence.

Two heavy delayed-action or dud bombs and a number of smaller incendiary missiles were showered on the Palace and surrounding grounds by a lone German raider. One of the big bombs hurtled through the Queen's quarters.

The German bomber was shot to pieces a moment later, eye witnesses declared, and the attacking British pilot himself was forced to bail out of his damaged plane, parachuting down to the acclaim of spectators.

There were no casualties among the skeleton staff at the Palace. The incendiary bombs started fires on the lawn but were extinguished quickly by air raid precautions squads and police.

Details of the damage to the Queen's quarters were not disclosed immediately. The heaviest previous damage was inflicted Friday when bombs wrecked the Royal Chapel and damaged the South wing.

The first bomb fell on the Royal residence last Sunday and exploded Tuesday, wrecking the swimming pool used by Princess Elizabeth and Margaret Rose. Another delayed-action explosive, dropped Friday week off Saturday, damaging the great iron fence enclosing the Palace grounds.

The sergeant-pilot who downed the Nazi raider today landed unhurt in the backyard of a nearby residence, shook off his parachute harness and reported by telephone to his airframe.

The pilot emerged from the house to the cheers of a great crowd which quickly assembled and his parachute was torn to shreds by admiring souvenir hunters who called out "good work lad!" The aviator was rescued by soldiers.

Two Classes Are Called in Russia

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, Sept. 15 (AP)—Two classes of Soviet recruits began trooping to the Red Army colors today amid press warnings that Russia must be ready for any emergency arising out of the war.

Youths aged 19 and 20 assembled at headquarters throughout Russia to be heroes for a day at Communist mass meetings and then entrain for army bases to do their regular two years of training. The enlistment will continue to October 15.

Gen. R. Tyuleneff, former commander of the Trans-Caucasian Military District, it was disclosed, has become Chief of the Moscow region succeeding Marshal Semen Budyenny, made First Vice Commissar of Defence in last month's High Command changes.

Pravda, the Communist Party newspaper, said:

"On the basis of instructions from our Government and from Comrade Stalin personally, the character and method of training Red Army units has undergone considerable reorganization in conformity to the experience of contemporary wars."

Moving Troops Bombed; Great Damage Done to Equipment; Italians Step Up Air War; Move Over "No Man's Land"

CAIRO, Sept. 15 (AP)—Italy's drive into Egypt and occupation of the Sollum area was answered today by the Royal Air Force with blasting attacks on Fascist forces throughout the region.

The R. A. F. announced its attacks were successful. Moving troops were bombed and great damage was done to expeditionary equipment. Many fires in Italian-held territory were started.

British authorities still awaited the main force of the spearhead Marshal Rodolfo Graziani's troops were attempting to drive into a Mediterranean coastal region of desert villages vacated by British troops.

There was no indication as to where the British would stiffen their resistance, but they described the first Italian advances as a march into desert wastes.

The Italians stepped up their operations in the air along with their land movements.

As the Italian troops proceeded farther into the territory of an Egypt with which Italy is not officially at war, young King Farouk issued an appeal to Moslems in Egypt and all the world for collective prayer for peace.

The monarch's message asked Mohammedans to implore Allah to "extend his mercy throughout the world and restore an era of peace and harmony, heal the wounds of humanity, to protect the Moslem countries from all misfortunes and resuscitate the prestige of Islam."

Squadrons of Italian bombers and fighter planes were reported to be attempting to protect the Italian advance and at the same time to avoid a direct clash with British planes which constantly soared over advancing mechanized units.

The Italians were moving most of their infantry in fast trucks, guarded by tanks, armored cars and motorcycle patrols.

One Italian air squadron attempted to bomb Marsa Matruh, about 150 miles from Alexandria. British anti-aircraft fire felled one raider and the others veered westward.

The Italian penetration is expected to extend shortly to Bugbug 225 miles from Alexandria, a point which British officials said has no military or strategic importance.

Turbaned and sandalled Libyans and Arabs equipped only with their rifles and water bottles, were reported leading the Italian movement, followed by Italian regulars.

Altogether, British officials appeared unimpressed by the Italian advance over what they termed "no-man's-land" and seemed content to have their planes and armored fighting vehicles inflict as many casualties on the advancing army as possible.

Pushing his thrust through sand wastes, Graziani left behind a large force in the village of Bir Noh, seven miles south of Sollum, port near the Egyptian-Libyan frontier, which, with the British-abandoned village of Musaid, was abandoned last night.

A British statement said "there is no anchorage at Sollum or other facilities and it has not been visited by any war vessel for many years."

Its occupation was regarded as unlikely to facilitate any Italian advance along the coast since the route suitable for military transport has been destroyed.

"Thus the Italian advance so far has netted only these villages and a strip of desert wasteland."

Violent Death Ends Friendship

HASTINGS-ON-HUDSON, N. Y., Sept. 15 (AP)—The 25-year friendship of two middle-aged spinsters ended in tragedy today when Miss Lottie Washington South, 50, a lawyer, was found bludgeoned to death in the mansion she had shared for 10 years with Miss Mary E. B. Jones, 44, listed in the New York social register.

Police booked Miss Jones on a charge of murder and committed her to the psychiatric ward of nearby Grasslands Hospital.

John J. Dunnigan, Chief of Police said that as nearly as he could gather from an eye-witness police report, Miss Jones' incoherent account, the shattered and blood-stained furnishings and other evidence, death came as a climax to a struggle between the two women—a fight marked by a mad fight and chase throughout the many rooms and alcoves of both floors of the house.

$242,000,000 in War Loan Sold

OTTAWA, Sept. 15 (CP)—Cash subscriptions to Canada's second war loan totalled $242,000,000 in the first week of the loan campaign. Before the objective is reached, $51,800,000 more must be subscribed.

To reach the objective, a large number of potential investors who have not yet subscribed must be impressed with the urgency of the situation, officials said.

The 12-year-bonds are available in units of $100 or more, bearing three per cent interest, which at the sale price of $98.75 means a yield of 3 1/4 per cent.

Subscribe Again and on Maximum Scale Hsley Asks of Canadians; Smaller Investors Are Shirking

Hon. J. L. Hsley, Minister of Finance, wired The Daily News requesting it to publish the following appeal to its readers:

"Last Monday we began the task of raising $300,000,000 to arm and equip Canada's fighting forces. That task is still uncompleted. I have therefore asked the Press of Canada for their cooperation in enabling me to make this serious appeal to all Canadians.

"Grave events transpire across the seas; grave events impend. In the ultimate issue, our all is at stake, Canada needs you to put your money behind your men, for airplanes, tanks, ships, guns, munitions. That is the reason you were asked to subscribe the second war loan. I urge all of you at home who have not yet subscribed, to hasten that important duty. Hearten your comrades. Delay can only hearten our foes.

"To those who have subscribed I say: 'Buy more bonds, unless your subscription really reflects your ability to lend.'"

TO GENERAL PUBLIC

"Especially do I direct this message to all those hundreds of thousands of men and women of moderate earnings and modest means. It is for them that the books are open.

"Their subscriptions, in vast numbers, not only register the nation's patriotic duty, but help ensure a wider and healthier war-time and post-war distribution of purchasing power in the form of earnings.

"Safe and income-earning investment though your subscription is, it is another sense the greatest, soundest investment opportunity you could seize; an investment in human freedom for you and your children.

RECRUIT OUR DOLLARS TO COLORS

"In this hour we fight to save all we have from destruction, ourselves from enslavement. We fight for the precious, priceless, right to live our lives in liberty. It is for this country, this freedom, that our men in arms are risking—giving—their lives, in the air, on the sea, and on the land. Those of us who do not bear arms must bear our dollars to the colors to support those of us who do not bear arms, must bear our dollars to the colors to support those who do. Large subscribers, institutions, corporations responded quickly and encouragingly—sure evidence of their sense of safe investment value as well as their sense of patriotic duty.

"To those of modest means, as to all Canadians, I stress this solemn appeal: recruit your earnings, your savings, quickly to the colors. Buy war loan bonds.

"Invest now in human freedom."

(Signed), J. L. Hsley,
Minister of Finance.

175 Nazi Planes Shot From Skies by British Guns

Southwest Town Draws Most Raiders; Nazis Believed Attempting to Smash Air Path to Invasion; More Thought Downed

By DOUGLAS AMARON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Sept. 16 (Monday)—(CP Cable)—Germany paid with 175 planes in a strenuous attempt to smash an air pathway to invasion Sunday, and a procession of German warplanes circling London last night and early today for nine hours and 28 minutes was held off by London's steel circle of anti-aircraft.

The sharp "ackack" fire reverberated through old London and illuminated an already moonlit sky.

The all-night alarm was the second longest of the war, exceeded only by the nine-hour, 40-minute raid of a week ago.

Sunday was started with "feeler" attacks, then the Germans came over in two great waves during the afternoon which saw some of the greatest air battles of the war in Britain's skies.

The all-clear came at dawn at 5:35 a.m. For three hours before it sounded there was comparative calm in London. Distant gunfire was heard, in the region of the Thames estuary and in the South, but little else.

A correspondent in a Southwest town said the German raiders there, however, were more numerous than usual, dropping clusters of incendiary bombs and some explosive bombs.

It was believed that when Sunday's final count is completed it might exceed that of the previous record day, Aug. 15, exactly a month ago when the Air Force brought down 180 raiders.

From Hammersmith in the West of London to Beachy Head in Sussex, the story was the same—British fighters in bitter dogfights with the raiders.

Thirty British planes were lost but 10 pilots were saved.

The German Sunday daylight raids on England were in two big waves of 350 to 400 planes. Some of the big Nazi bombers were brought down in the heart of London—one on Victoria Station, others in the Kensington and Streatham sections.

Then, as night came, the Germans shifted to the lone-raider technique, over London, over the Midlands and elsewhere in England.

They seemed rattled by the intense anti-aircraft fire over London to the extent that they dropped their bombs as soon as they arrived over the city and without the usual preliminary "runs" over a target.

Bombs fell over a wide area, not only in London but in the Midlands and Southeast and Northeast England.

One of London's oldest hospitals was struck, and a medical officer was injured.

Many of the Nazi planes were turned back as they came over Maidstone and Canterbury above the Medway and Thames estuary. Others attacked Southampton and Portland and Hastings.

A number of casualties were reported in Brighton, London's favorite seaside resort, in raids Saturday night.

The most important battles were fought over the Southeast area and London. Anti-aircraft joined the fighters in smashing the London raids and crowds in one street, drawn by the dog fights overhead, took chances with the falling splinters.

Robert B. Barker, special investigator for the committee, said he had searched such lockers as survived fire and explosion for evidence that any workers belonged to subversive groups. He declined to discuss his findings.

One R.A.F. pilot attacking Antwerp, set after a 5000-ton merchant ship and said he saw more than 300 barges in the harbor—possibly the dagger point of intended invasion.

Ostend, too, was found to have been greatly strengthened in the past week, and was hit hard. A fire was also started at Calais.

R.A.F. Bombers attacked ports all along the Nazi-held coast, Flushing in the Netherlands, Antwerp and Ostend in Belgium, and Dunkerque, Calais and Boulogne in France were heavily bombed.

Raiders also flew Eastward to attack supply depots at places throughout Belgium and Western Germany, including the supply depots at Osnabruck, Mannheim, Aachen, Hamm, Krefeld and Brussels.

In hitting at these centres through which the Germans are supplying the troops they have massed at the channel in preparation for a possible attempt at invasion, the R.A.F. also thins at rail communications at Rheinfelden, Ahaus, Sundern, Husen and West Hofen.

$25 for Fund "to Fight Antichrist"

"I wish you to accept my check for $25, toward the bombing fund; or, as I would prefer to call it, the war against Anti-Christ.

"God grant that our efforts may be multiplied to that end."

This was the message attached to his gift to the West Kootenay Bomber Fund by a donor who preferred to remain anonymous under the designation "Erickson".

The gift brought the total of the Bomber Fund to $2732.25.

Training, Team Spirit Lies Behind Successful Royal Air Force Work

OTTAWA—Men of the Royal Air Force do not doubt for a minute that they can withstand the savage assault of a numerically superior German air force, according to a high ranking officer of the R.A.F. now in Canada after 1½ months of active service as commander of a squadron of twin-engine bombers in the coastal command.

Morale of the British public is high despite incessant air raids, this British Officer, who declined to allow his name to be published, reported. When he was in London just a little more than a week ago, he was dubious about train service to the channel ports following a wave of 800 German bombers, so he asked the hotel porter to inquire of the railroad. The porter was astonished at the question. "Why wouldn't the train be running, Sir?" he asked. The train did run to schedule, and the officer saw no German planes as it puffed along the coast, nor did he see any physical evidence of damage from the German bombs.

"The success we have had has been due to crew training and the team spirit," he said. The Avro Anson and then the Lockheed Hudson twin-engine bombers were flown seven days out of the seven on patrol work ranging from Norway to beyond the Faroe Islands and the crew of four. They are two pilots, who alternate as navigators, and

There are two air gunners who alternate as wireless operators. "These crews are selected very carefully, trained as a smoothly-functioning unit, and they remain together. Each man has his own role to play, and each knows that the lives of his comrades lie in his hands, that laxity on his part might bring death to all.

"The pilots know how much depends on their flying skill. When they are navigating the aircraft over long stretches of sea with rarely a ship to be seen they know, as do all the others, just how important it is that their navigation is without error, for bad weather and a dwindling gasoline supply form formidable foes.

"The wireless operators know that they must listen carefully for messages and orders from other planes in the formation or from the home base, and that failure on their part would be dangerous for all concerned.

"The air gunner knows that he must be the eyes of the crew, alert at all times for signs of the enemy below and above. With the others intent on flying, navigating and receiving wireless messages, the air gunner is the guarantee that the crew will not fall victim to a surprise attack.

"When new air gunners reported to the squadron for duty, I used to tell them that they were the bravest men in the Air Force. They are singled out by gunners in attacking planes, and they fly for hours in cramped quarters surrounded by guns and ammunition belts, and in some cases are riding backwards through all the evolutions of a dogfight.

"Our pilots know they can depend upon their Air Gunners in any kind of a pinch, and with such large aircraft they have learned the folly of trying to do all the shooting themselves with their fixed guns in the wings. So they concern themselves mainly with putting the aircraft in good position for the gunner, to bring his weapons to bear. Very often one will hear the various guns go into action one after the other and the pilot brings first one and then another gunner a target to shoot at.

"All of our crews are well trained when they come to us, but the training goes on, for they must pull smoothly together for efficiency.

"A week or so ago a Heinkel bomber was brought down over Scotland and the commander of the plane, a young warrant officer of about 19 years old, was brought into my office for interrogation. He saluted smartly with that Hitler salute, but he told me he had had only 80 hours flying experience. Our pilots have at least 150 hours before they come to an active service squadron."

Cranbrook Man Is Baptist Speaker

Climaxing a day in which Frank Patch of Cranbrook occupied the pulpit of the First Baptist Church at Nelson, the ordinance of baptism was administered to five candidates at the Church on Sunday evening.

Mr. Patch gave a "chalk talk" for the Sunday School, and at the morning church service spoke on the theme "Mind Over Matter." He conducted an afternoon service at Shirley Hall, and in the evening spoke again at the First Baptist Church his subject being, "Sin and God in Our Hands."

Miss Margaret Walton was soloist at the morning service.

Former Nelson Minister Now Senior Chaplain at Dundurn

Hon. Maj. Mawhinney Directs Spiritual Work at Camp

(From Regina Leader-Post)

DUNDURN CAMP, Sask.—A soldier's best pal is his padre. No matter who he is, seasoned soldier or tyro, the trooper at one time or another finds himself against some problem and he has to confide his troubles to someone. His Colonel has enough worries, so he doesn't go to him. His wife isn't around, so he goes to the padre.

That's why Hon. Major the Rev. W. C. Mawhinney, of the Protestant faith, Senior Chaplain, and his associates are busy men at this Saskatchewan troop concentration centre.

That's why, too, that Major Mawhinney follows this creed, if created it could be called: "It is the life of a chaplain lives, as well as the creed he professes, that will count most in the service. He can be of the greatest possible value to the troops by creating and fostering a strong esprit de corps."

CHAPLAIN'S ASSOCIATES

With the troops practically since the outbreak of the war, Major Mawhinney today finds himself directing the spiritual work in a camp which assumes the size of a small Saskatchewan city. Associated with him in this important work are Hon. Major A. J. Barker, Saskatchewan, Roman Catholic padre; Hon. Captain F. V. C. Ward, Frenchman's Butte, Sask., Anglican; and Hon. Capt. G. Turpin, from British Columbia, both with the C.A.S.F., and Hon. Capt. F. Farber, Lloydminster, Padre of the Non-Permanent Active Militia camp.

Every Sunday morning the troops march to the parade ground where they form an open square, the padres taking their position at the open end beside flag-draped drums to conduct a service particularly impressive under a Summer sky. A regimental band provides accompaniment for the hymns and a public address system carries the voices of the ministers to the farthest corner of the huge square.

Every Sunday evening, too, there is a voluntary service in the chapel in the recreation building and each Sunday the response is gratifying. In addition, communion is administered to Church of England adherents three times a month, to other Protestant troops once a month.

VISIT HOSPITAL

But there are other duties, equally as important as the services, for these men who take the salute of the troops but walk arm-in-arm and shoulder-to-shoulder with them. An important phase of the camp work is regular visits to the men in the 90-bed hospital, interviewing and helping men who come for assistance in personal problems, officiating at marriages and baptisms. The chaplain service is an interesting and important phase of army work—many ex-service men remember the kind help and encouragement of their padres who went with them through shellfire—but nowhere, except perhaps in the Arctic, does a minister get so close to his men as he does in an army camp.

But he has to be a good minister to do that. He can't be squeamish about things. He is part of the army and to be successful he has to fall in with many ways and show a proper understanding of them.

MINE SWEEPERS BAG GERMAN PLANE

LONDON, Sept. 15 (CP)—Two mine sweeping trawlers teamed up to shoot down a German air raider over the English Channel today, the Admiralty announced.

An Admiralty communique issued late Sunday afternoon said:

"His Majesty's trawler Libra (Temporary Skipper A. R. Aughton, R.N.R.) and His Majesty's trawler Conquistador (Temporary Skipper J. Patterson) destroyed an enemy aircraft this morning. There were no casualties."

De Gaulle Sees Attack on Nazis

LONDON, Sept. 15 (CP)—Gen. Charles De Gaulle believes a military invasion of Nazi-occupied Europe is practicable for an offensive force possessing naval and air superiority sufficient to seize and hold a deep bridgehead and guarantee continuity of supply.

Large scale use of parachute troops would be "imperative," he says.

This statement by the head of the French National Committee appears in a book entitled "The Coming Invasion of Germany" by James Morrow, published today.

"Generally speaking, too, such operations are possible as soon as the enemy shows signs of becoming exhausted through the blockade or for other reasons," De Gaulle said.

Heavy Weekend Rain Reduces the Opening Toll of Grouse, Deer

Heavy rain Saturday, leaving unproductive heavy wet Sunday, minimized the toll on grouse as the season opened Sunday. Many hunters who ordinarily would have been in the hills Sunday stayed at home, and those who were out saw few birds.

The wet weather kept many deer hunters out of the hills on the opening day of the deer season.

Canadians in Thick of Dangerous Work of Air Patrol and Attacks

OTTAWA (CP)—Shoulder to shoulder as blood brothers of the Commonwealth, Canadians, Australians, New Zealanders, South Africans, Welshmen, Scots and Englishmen live, fly and fight together in a truly "Empire" squadron of the Royal Air Force Coastal Command "Somewhere in Scotland."

A tall spare Englishman who commanded this squadron up until a week ago told with enthusiasm of the splendid work "Slim" Avenel, "Tuffy" Tufford and other Canadians were carrying on, shoulder to shoulder with eager young men from other parts of the Empire. The erstwhile commander who was the D. S. O. and D. F. C. said that it was with real regret that he left the squadron to come to Canada on Royal Air Force business.

"All the boys are very keen, and they are doing important work in maintaining British control of the seas," he said. Seven days out of seven they go out in their United States made Lockheed Hudson twin-engine bombers to patrol the seas to reconnoitre enemy coastlines and bomb their harbours, and to provide an aerial escort for convoys of merchant ships.

Patrols go on in fair weather or foul. Despite rain, fog and bitter cold, the squadron makes long patrols from the Norwegian coast to beyond the Faroe Islands, swooping down to examine strange vessels, and reporting their position by radio to the navy.

U-boats lurking in British shipping lanes dive deep when a Coastal Command Hudson dromes over the horizon. This squadron has attacked 27 U-boats, and its bombs have accounted for quite a number. One underwater boat reared up in a whirl of foam and then slid down Davy Jones' locker tail first. Another turned upside down, exposing its ugly bottom before sinking with all hands. Others were trapped under the surface, the bomb explosions bringing a tell-tale smudge of oil.

At times the squadron interrupts the ceaseless vigilance over the seas lanes to take the offensive and strike hard at the foe. "Slim" Avenel has been on 11 raids.

One time, the squadron's commander recalled, word came that the German battleship Scharnhorst was cruising down the Norwegian coast. The commander of the Coastal Command squadron took six Hudsons heavily laden with bombs and set a course to intercept the German capital ship near Stavanger.

Warily, the bombers came to the Norwegian coast at 16,000 feet, for a large number of German planes were known to be based at Stavanger. A fleet cloud bank thousands of feet below hid the sea, but the commander knew the Scharnhorst was there. He did not attack immediately in a blind dive through the clouds because German fighters might be there. As they came over the edge of the cotton cloud mass, about 50 German Messerschmitt fighters twinkled in the sun in a protective screen over the battleship.

The first salvo of shells from the Scharnhorst's anti-aircraft batteries burst with a crack right in front of the leader's machine, and shrapnel rattled into the aircraft despite the fact it was 16,000 feet high. The commander carries a memento. Every aircraft in the formation was struck by the vicious anti-aircraft fire from the Scharnhorst, but all dropped their bombs and returned home safely.

TWO FRENCH SHIPS HIT MINEFIELDS AND SINK

VICHY, France, Sept. 15 (AP)—The Admiralty announced tonight that two French cargo ships, running between France and North Africa, had struck a minefield off the coast of Sardinia Friday and had sunk.

Three soldiers, among a number being transported back to France, were drowned. The rest of the passengers and crews were reported safe.

The ships were the Glaetie le Borgne and the Cassidant. A third ship, the Cap Touraine, was damaged, but kept afloat.

The general theme of the service was "Serving the Lord With Gladness," and Rev. Foster Hilliard, Pastor, told the several stories as illustrations in place of the regular sermon.

The Boys' Choir under the direction of Mrs. T. J. S. Ferguson sang several selections. Marjorie Jorgenson told a Bible Story, and Leonard Bushel read a psalm. J. H. Coventry read prayers. Sydney Horwill sang a solo. "Open the Gates of the Temple."

Previous to the rally service, the Sunday School met for organization and preparations were made for the regular annual promotions to be made next Sunday.

Advices Industry to Take on Men for War Vacancies

OTTAWA, Sept. 15 (CP)—Canadian industry being advised to take on additional men to be ready to fill, temporarily, the places of those called up for compulsory military training, and to provide for permanent vacancies which may be created by men voluntarily enlisting in the Canadian Active Service Force.

Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Minister of National War Services, said in an interview tonight that one of the immediate tasks of the business resources of his department, would be to cooperate with industry in meeting any skilled labor shortage resulting from the training program.

The Minister estimated Friday that one-tenth of the men called for training would want to stay in uniform and would join the Canadian Active Service Force. On the basis of 240,000 men called each year for training, this would be 30,000 joining the C.A.S.F. from this source.

A great volume of information on the skilled labor available in Canada is contained in the forms completed during national registration of all persons of 18 years or more completed last month.

This information will be collected, and classified for the use of the human resources branch which will be in a position to advise industry what men are available. The aim will be to make it unnecessary for any industry to become disrupted by absence of men in military training or on active service.

Cities' Wartime Problems to the Fore, Revelstoke

VANCOUVER, B.C., Sept. 15—Wartime problems of municipal administration and finance will be given attention at the convention of the Union of B.C. Municipalities at Revelstoke this week. While the long-awaited Storo report which was to be the basis of a new deal for B.C. municipalities is now a matter of public record, the hoped-for adjustment, it is expected, is destined to be stood over indefinitely in view of the necessity for devoting the country's attention and energy toward the winning of the war.

But there are municipal problems which must be dealt with especially in the realm of finance some consideration will have to be given the position of municipalities during the war period.

In view of this the decision was reached to proceed with the annual convention even though not directly concerned with the war effort. The question of meeting bond maturities is in some cases pressing and in others there is the problem of financing public works which can no longer be postponed. While prepared to concede that financing for the war effort must be given precedence municipal authorities point out that essential services such as education, roads, water supply and sanitation can not be neglected.

The Revelstoke meeting will act as a clearing-house for proposals aiming at smoothing the path for municipal administration in war time.

RUMANIA TO BE ON NAZI LINES

BUCHAREST, Sept. 15 (AP)—Rumania's new totalitarian Iron Guard State, formed by decree of Gen. Ion Antonescu, cheered today as Young King Michael brought his mother, Princess Helen, back from exile to the Palace his father, Carol, vacated a week ago.

The return of the Royal Matron, whom Rumanians are now calling "Regina Mama Helena," was arranged by Antonescu as the climax of his announcement of the transformation of the state along Nazi lines.

Mother and son rode together in an open coach drawn by six white horses followed in the flower-strewn streets, followed in another coach by Antonescu, who a few hours earlier had named himself leader of the National Iron Guard State and Chief of the Iron Guard Regime.

Antonescu, who came to power with German support but no political organization of his own, appeared to have won over the pro-Nazi Iron Guard by giving them a majority of the posts in his cabinet and naming their leader, Horia Sima as Vice-Premier.

Theory . . . An Old Appendix Fallacy Pops Up With a New Name

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

Does the appendix ever cause pain by having a spasm? Long ago when appendicitis was a new word the theory was widely held that the symptoms were due to a grape seed that had entered the appendix. When eating grapes we were admonished not to swallow the seeds—an extremely unpopular piece of advice because if you extract the seeds of a grape while the grape is in your mouth the result is a bitter taste which entirely spoils the pleasure of grape-eating. A more enlightened opinion later absolved grape seeds of the responsibility of causing appendicitis and pointed out that what the surgeons had been finding inside the appendices were not grape seeds but tiny intestinal stones. So grape-eating was resumed in the more civilized and only proper method of swallowing the entire grape.

A BEAUTIFUL THEORY

This ancient theory has now raised its head again under a new name—appendicitis. It means, so we are told, a pain or spasm, simulating acute appendicitis, but caused not by appendicitis but by an obstruction to the appendix. The muscular layer of the appendix atrophies to overcome this obstruction and causes the champing. The only trouble with this beautiful theory, which is certainly destined to be a great boon to amateur surgeons, is that the appendix has practically no muscles at all.

In our discussion of the advisability of extracting dead teeth in the column recently, we took the conservative point of view that such teeth should be removed only when there is definite proof that they are causing trouble—that they harbor actual infection. We are glad this week to see an article by Dr. Louis I. Grossman, which supports this point of view. Referring to pulpless teeth, Dr. Grossman says that the danger of the pulpless tooth as a source of infection can no longer be held valid. "Fifteen or twenty years ago," he writes, "in the heyday of the theory of focal infection, physicians were ordering patients to have their teeth removed for almost every kind of obscure complaint." Pulpless teeth were almost routinely removed. A pulpless tooth is not a dead tooth. It still has vital relationships with surrounding tissues. Clinical evidence shows that many people with pulpless teeth have no apparent systematic involvement.

I like two definitions I saw in an article in a medical magazine lately. "Depression divides the personality," cheerfully writes it. "And 'Manic' means a state of exuberant, the depressed think of 'inquest.'" That seems to me to sum up the object of modern psychotherapy and also, incidentally, it explains the war.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

M. E. M.—"I would like to know what the blood pressure of a woman 39 years old should be. I suffer with severe headaches and wonder if it could be coming from high blood pressure."
Answer—Blood pressure is systolic, which means when the heart is in contraction, is diastolic when the heart is relaxed. So there is a variation in blood pressure seven to two times a minute. Normally at 39-year of age the systolic should be from 110 to 120, and the diastolic 80 to 90. These variations occur in different perfectly normal individuals. High blood pressure undoubtedly causes a quite characteristic form of headache.

Burned by Fire but Acts Again

NEW YORK (CP)—Erlin O'Brien Moore is a red-headed Irish girl who lives in the Bronx, and who clung to her life and that love through a test of fire. At least she's half Irish. Her late father, a newspaper publisher, came to the U. S. as a boy from Tipperary; and inherited Irish grit helped her through five months of pain and searing burns which forced her to lie in one position.

The Broadway footlights never flickered out in the mind of Erlin; and now she's back, with her green eyes as lively as ever, with a role in "The Romantic Mr. Dickens" which has been in Summer try-out for presentation here this Fall, and acting at the same time in a daytime radio network serial, and sewing like mad in between times for British refugee children.

So now Erlin and Molly and Houlihan are happy. Houlihan and Molly Aron are black and white Japanese apples. They frisk around the living room of her apartment as merrily as they did before that January night when a lighted match, tossed in a restaurant, landed in Erlin's lap, and her light pink starched net evening gown burst into flames. Friends muffled her face in table linen, and beat the fire from the billowy yards of lace, but by that time there were deep burns on her back and along her left arm and leg.

Nervous and Sleepless

When you can't sleep it's from worry that poisons the nerves or anaemia which starves them. In either case digestion is poor, appetite flimsy and the blood is lacking in vitamin B, and the mineral substances from which nerve force is produced. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food supplies these essential ingredients, in condensed and easily assimilated form, so as to help quickly to restore the blood and nerves to health and vigor.

Test this new Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, with vitamin B, added, and see for yourself how soon you will be sleeping better, digesting your food more thoroughly, and enjoying full, beautiful living.

You don't worry and lose sleepless at night when the blood and nerves are in healthy condition.

Sheep Creek Bride Honored at Shower

SHEEP CREEK, B. C. — About 75 ladies gathered at the Service Club Hall in surprise miscellaneous shower for Mrs. Bob Roach, a recent bride.

The hall was beautifully decorated with flowers and paper streamers. A large white bell hung from the centre of the room. Between two pillars an alcove was formed with pink and white streamers and a large horse shoe, under which stood a cedar chest containing the gifts. At the far end of the hall a table was covered with a large white lace cloth over pink draperies. The table was centred by a four-tiered wedding cake flanked by white candles in silver holders, pink roses and anaparrago. Marjorie and Dorothy Roach assisted the bride in untying her gifts.

Living Alone . . . Mother of Three Finds Happiness

By CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Business, politics, love and religion are four subjects that inspire and lend eloquence to the masculine tongue. But there's another subject that inspires the oldish gal. She's at her best when lecturing on the joys of home — her home. Not surprising when you consider her home is a refuge, a becoming background, a base from which to deploy, a place to entertain, her children, grandchildren and her friends. Her home ministers to her pride of possession and insures her an established place in society. It also certifies her claim to independence and her right to privacy. But let her tell it:

Dear Miss Chatfield: Good horse sense rings in your advice to Mother who considers giving up her home and going to live with the children.

It may seem a strange sentiment from a mother with three nice daughters — as daughters go — but I would rather stick my head in a hornet's nest than detach myself from any roof that covered me and on which I paid the taxes. Those tax receipts are the open sesame to independence.

Being left a widow with three little girls, by the sweat of my brow and the skin of my teeth, I managed to give them all a good university education. Several years ago I inherited my old family home and took all available cash to buy security for my last lap. The girls are doing well and are generous with advice about what Mother should do with the rest of her life and what little money she has, all of which goes in one ear and out the other. I live alone and love it! The old house is quiet but it is never lonely. I have my friends, my books, my piano, there is always the radio and an occasional good movie for entertainment and improvement. In fact, I feel that I am enjoying a needed rest.

The home is always here for the children to come back to and find the fires burning. Their happiness and well being is the most vital concern in my life, but I have relieved them and their husbands of the responsibility of looking after me. This I consider a great boon to everybody concerned.

In one of our earlier articles there was one sentence I shall never forget. You said, "Always carry in your pocketbook the key to some place where your welcome can never wear out." If it is only one room." That, Miss Chatfield is wisdom.

Fall Clothes Give That "Narrow Look"

NEW YORK (AP)—A glimpse at the trumpet silhouette of Fall clothes is the signal for us to get that slim-and-narrow look. Otherwize our figures aren't going to fit the fashions. It's a hint that we slim our legs a bit, especially if skirts are playing short or going shorter. The Fall styles just simply focus attention on the legs.

I checked up with the Rockettes of the New York stage. They're girls whose beautiful, slim legs have to stay that way. A fatted calf is their biggest hobby.

Too much tap dancing or too much dancing on the balls of the feet tends to give them extra bulges in the calves, as high heels do for you and me. Limbering as well as stretching will give you the extra oomph in your trumpet frock at football games.

All elements of stretching, limbering are found in kicking, waist-high, chest high, eye high, overbent, backward (with the knees bent) or with a full back-ward-forward swing. That list can be your goal.

Start by holding to a chair or to the foot of your bed until you acquire balance.

Treatment . . . Keep Hair Free From Dandruff

By DONNA GRACE

There is nothing romantic about some of the beauty tips and the one we have in mind is dandruff. Nearly everyone may have this annoyance at some time or another and the remedy is what we need.

While dandruff may be associated with carelessness, even the most fastidious have had some acquaintance with it. It's just the dry fluffs of skin that are constantly shedding from the scalp. We note tiny flakes at times when the hair is washed but when the sebaceous glands of the scalp exude an unusual amount of oil, these little dry scales may become matted and form a disagreeable coating.

Even this is not a disease, as some seem to think, although to permit this accumulation on the scalp may invite minor infections and irritation.

The dry dandruff may be removed easily with frequent brushing and combing with the fine comb. Oily dandruff needs the same treatment and, in addition, good shampoos. Fresh air and sunshine helps to keep the hair healthy and this means there will be little indications of these scales. Good food such as fresh vegetables, salads, fruits and milk are ideal for keeping the hair in good condition.

All dry hair needs an occasional oil treatment. The scalp needs lubrication to stimulate the fluffing off of the scales. The brushing of dry hair will be improved with a bit of petrolatum touched to the scalp. A light film is all that is necessary. Scalp massage is very good for stimulating the circulation and refining the hair itself.

When brushing, part the hair in small sections and brush upward from the back of the neck. Lean the head forward for this. Stroke the brush to the ends but not with a whipping stroke as this is likely to break the fine ends and give them a rough appearance.

Avoid the extra long and extra coarse brushes. A firm bristle that moves easily through the hair is always best. Do not use wire brushes for heavy stroking as there is the possibility of scratching the scalp.

Vitamin A . . . Energy Foods for Growing Child

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

Fortunate the baby who, until a year of age at least, has his foods ordered for him by the doctor. And you and I can hardly feel happy over the prospect of a child who is available for every baby and his mother.

After babyhood, the child usually has the right food when his whole family is properly fed. The most important foods for children are: milk and milk products, vegetables and fruits, whole-grain cereals and bread, eggs, lean meat, fish or poultry, and cod-liver oil. These foods provide the essential vitamins, minerals, other building materials and energy.

THE RIGHT FOODS

Milk. One and one-half pints a day needed by the growing child, a quart by the expectant or nursing mother, at least a pint for others over one year of age.

Vegetables and fruits. Every member of the family needs fruit and vegetables daily that are rich in vitamin C, including such as oranges, grapefruit, tomatoes, greens, cabbage, turnips and rutabagas. Children under 4 especially need daily oranges, grapefruit or tomatoes, or their juice. Older children and adults need also one serving, at least every day of some food rich in Vitamin C.

Every member of the family needs, every day, a vegetable or fruit rich in vitamin A. All green vegetables, yellow fruits and ripe tomatoes have vitamin A in abundance. Rich in iron also are green leaves. Let us remember the value of such vegetables as turnip tops, beet tops, spinach, collards, broccoli, lettuce, dandelion, and other edible wild greens. Also the yellow vegetables as, carrots, yellow turnip, rutabagas, squash, pumpkin, sweet potatoes, apricots, and yellow peaches.

Moreover, the growing child needs potatoes or sweet potatoes every day.

Also good and inexpensive foods for daily choice are: apples, pears, bananas, prunes and other dried fruits; dried beans, dried peas, peanuts and peanut butter.

THE ENERGY FOODS

Eggs. For young children and expectant or nursing mothers, 4 or 5 eggs a week are desirable. Lean meat, fish, poultry. At least 4 servings a week desirable. All lean meats are rich in iron and have some of the vitamins and building materials.

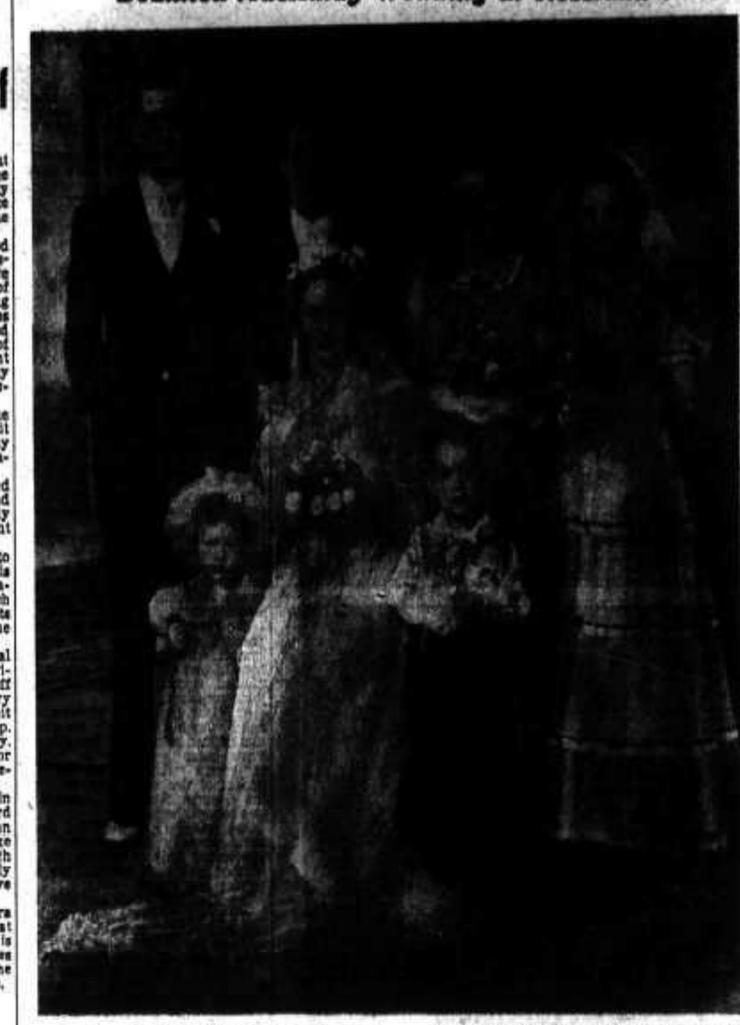

Cereals. A serving once a day, more if money is scarce. Bread is also necessary for building strong bones and sound teeth. For this reason many doctors recommend it as essential diet of expectant or nursing mothers.

I wish every parent reading this would get two post cards, addressing one to the Children's Bureau, Department of Labor, Washington, D. C. the other to the Bureau of Home Economics, Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. and ask each for a list of all the free bulletins available on foods and nutrition—a wealth of free information for any mother.

Serial Story . . . LOVE WITHOUT MUSIC

CHAPTER 44
Linda had to wait a long time before her call to Robert's club was answered. Finally a sleepy servant murmured the name of the association and waited.

The man did not give her a chance to say that she was not Billie Anne and in another moment she heard Robert's eager tones, calling her by the other girl's name.

She did not answer. She knew that her voice would break if she should try.

ABANDON APPEALS FOR 3 WHO ATTACKED R.C.A.F. MEMBER'S WIFE

TORONTO, Sept. 15 (CP). — Appeals in the case of three Toronto men who were convicted last Spring of an attack on the 26-year-old wife of an Ontario member of the Royal Canadian Air Force, were abandoned yesterday, legal officials said.

The appeals, including one by the prisoners against the imposition of lashes with their life and 18-year sentences, and by the crown on the ground that the men should have been sentenced to death, were to have been heard by the Ontario Appeal Court Monday.

Canadian Girls Make Hot Dogs for Soldiers in Britain

LONDON (CP). — Down in the South of England where public houses and hotels are aged in stories of the long-past, the bold sign "Hot Dogs" swings defiantly over Canadian Manor, a quaint little building that used to be a cobbler's shop.

The sign was stuck there on the orders of a bright little Canadian girl, Marion MacAulay, 19, who was working in London when she heard Canadian troops were quartered somewhere in South England. She found out where and then enlisted the aid of two of her roommates, Loretta and Maureen Hoey.

With a total capital of . . . 66.75 they leased the building and equipped it with whatever is necessary to prepare hot dogs and other recognized Canadian roadside delicacies.

For some time Marion had wanted to do some kind of war work so when she heard about the Canadians being quartered somewhere, she called her pals together to discuss the matter.

And as Marion handed out mustard coated hotdogs to bronzed Canadian troops she added: "So we hit on the idea of giving the boys from home some of the national dishes they miss here. They liked the idea so much that they gave us a hand in cleaning up and decorating the old cobbler's shop."

When you closed a door it was best to lock it forever. And throw away the key.

But during the days that followed, when she then she wondered why Billie Anne had called Robert twice that evening. There had been a call for Robert from her at police headquarters and another when he had been at the club later that night.

Quietly one evening Ronald and Sarah slipped away to be married and take a boat Southward. Linda read about it in the newspapers.

Hortense expressed startled indignation. "He's yours. You can't let that glamor wooest march him off. Why don't you do something?"

"He isn't mine," Linda answered. "That's all washed up. He and Sarah are right for each other."

"And what about you? Going to stay here and model clothes when you get a chance and answer the telephone and make out the bills the rest of the time? Thought about that?"

"Oh, I'll get along." (I'll get along without Robert. I'll get up every morning at eight o'clock, join the subway procession at half-past eight, and sit down at a desk at nine. And all of the time I'll be wondering why things didn't work on a better schedule. But I'll get along!)

Resume Frills When on Leave

LONDON (CP). — British women in uniform are allowed now to slip into feminine frills and fancies when they go on leave.

When the war started, girls of the Auxiliary Territorial Service, the Women's Auxiliary Air Force and the Women's Royal Naval Service were faced with different rulings of commanding officers as they moved from one duty station to another. Some women were obliged to wear their uniforms all the time and others enjoyed the luxury of clinging frocks and sheer stockings when off duty.

Now, regulations have been introduced to permit the temporary doffing of uniforms and it is the Navy which shows the readiest understanding of a women's liking for her own dainty dress.

The A. T. S. and W.A.A.F. ruling is that members must be in uniform on all occasions except when on leave of 24 hours or more. The wrens must wear uniforms to and from duty, on duty, within a naval or marine establishment even when not on duty, and on all official and semi-official occasions.

Canadlan Kids Foreign Legion

MEDICINE HAT, Alta. (CP). — The scene was a bramble-covered corner skating rink and on it troops of the "Canadian Kids Foreign Legion"—a group of 11 aged boys and headed by Vic Gray, 13, often consulted on matters of policy and program. Gray came third and the sergeants, corporals and privates followed. Youngest in the ranks was seven-year-old Maynard McNaughton.

"Now, let's get that slope arms right," bellowed "Major" Dick Haley the 11-year-old drill sergeant. "I'll do it for you again. One — two — three. See that? Do it smoothly. And keep still—you're at attention."

Down the ranks — a little uneven in height — but straight and sturdy — they went through the drill again and again, striving always for perfection.

Some members of the "battalion" were missing, but that was because they had to run errands for their mothers, and that was one excuse that brought them a quick dismissal from the ranks. Any one of their mother's voices showed the drill sergeant he was not in full command in their parade. Young McNaughton marched in front and immediately behind him came his second-in-command, Walter Gray, aged 13, often consulted on matters of policy and program. Gray came third and the sergeants, corporals and privates followed. Youngest in the ranks was seven-year-old Maynard McNaughton.

Communal Meals for Lonely Men

GREAT YARMOUTH, England (CP).—One of the problems of war—how to get on without your wife—is troubling civic officials of this coastal town.

Many wives have been evacuated. Many restaurants have been closed. Husbands have to cook their meals at home. The result is not entirely satisfactory in many cases.

To overcome this difficulty the Mayor is trying to introduce a scheme of communal meals on a non-profit basis. The plan is in the preliminary stage but officials hope to obtain a communal dining room and provide meals for the wifeless husbands.

These "grass widowers," still enjoying their experiments with the can-opener, haven't yet shown much interest in the scheme. The organizers believe a few more weeks of burnt beans and undercooked hamburger will soon bring them around.

Canada's Quilts Are Appreciated

LONDON (CP).—Cases of smart new clothes and of home-made quilts are arriving in Britain from Canada.

The clothes, most of them made by Canadian women, some of them bought, are being distributed to British soldiers and any others who need them. Some were given to the Czech relief fund, some to Norwegians, some went to children evacuated from the Channel Islands, who had no time to bring their own clothes.

The quilts are arriving because many Canadians in Britain wrote home describing the record-breaking cold spell of last winter. Women of the Dominion want to be sure their kinfolk in the fighting forces are going to be warm enough next winter.

Japanese Drop Test Bomb on Empress of Asia

TOKYO, Sept. 15 (AP) — The Japanese Admiralty announced Saturday night naval fliers accidentally dropped a test bomb on the Canadian liner Empress of Asia, injuring four Chinese crewmen.

The navy at once sent surgeons and official representatives aboard to give what assistance they could and express prompt apologies.

The announcement said there was no other damage. The incident occurred while a naval squadron was in bombing practice off Oshima Island.

The purser of the liner, which sailed tonight for a Canadian port, said there was no structural damage to the 16,800-ton ship. The Associated Press spoke to him by radio-telephone, but he would give no further details.

OTTAWA, Sept. 15 (CP) — Expressions of regret have been received by E. D. McGreer, Canadian Charge d'Affaires in Tokyo, from the Japanese Foreign Office, in regard to the bombing of the Canadian liner, Empress of Asia, it was announced by the External Affairs Department.

Mr. McGreer said the incident occurred when the Canadian ship was a short distance from Yokohama en route from Nagasaki. The test bomb was dropped from a naval plane participating in maneuvers off the Japanese coast.

Two of the four members of the Empress' crew injured were badly wounded, the External Affairs Department said, but the vessel herself sustained no major structural damage, although the bomb penetrated two decks.

The Canadian Charge d'Affaires will see Japanese Foreign Minister Y. Matsuzaka, the announcement stated.

Woman Doorman Knows Her Job

NEW YORK (CP). — Stroll down East 46th Street, just off Fifth Avenue, and you see her standing stately under the canopy in front of John Fredericks, Inc., creator of woman's hats, holding her job with all the dignity and skill of a man. She is Fredericks — New York's only woman doorman.

Over six feet tall, dark-haired, in a costume of the 1930's, with wide-brimmed hat and sweeping skirt, she commands your attention as she steps professionally to the curb to help customers alight from automobiles.

On rainy days she hoists a regulation-size doorman's umbrella to keep customers dry in the wet step between car and canopy.

Fredericks' real name is Frances Baker. She is unmarried, in her late 20's, and got her schooling at Girls' High in Brooklyn, N. Y. She still lives in Brooklyn.

Being a doorman takes stamina, and she spends two night a week at a gym, keeping in trim. On days off, she rides horseback and goes swimming. She modeled hats before taking her present job.

Choose Canadians to Model Furs in U.S.

LONDON, Sept. 15 (CP). — Canadian girls will be chosen as mannequins by representatives of the Fur Trade Export Group who will leave shortly for America in an effort to gain a section of the fur coat trade in Canada and the United States.

Philip G. Markham, deputy-chairman of the Group, formed last May as a move to "maintain London's position as the fur centre of the world," will leave shortly for New York with hundreds of sample coats. And while he is there, his assistant, J. A. Kennedy will go to Montreal to select mannequins to show off the British furs.

Officials said the plan was an experiment and if successful it would be repeated annually.

"FASTIDIOUS? Maybe I am. But I look at it this way — if packaging in "Cellophane" allows me to buy fresher and cleaner goods it's wise to take advantage of it. After all, why take unnecessary chances?"

"That's why I always look for lingerie, hosiery and other wearing apparel in "Cellophane" — I can see what I'm getting, yet I know, when I tear off the wrap that my hands are the first to touch the goods since they left the factory. "The same thing goes for sheets, towels and all other textiles. The transparency of "Cellophane" lets me see what I'm buying and I know that what I select hasn't been handled by other people."

THE ROMANCE OF THE WORM

Probably the ardent fisherman is more intimately acquainted with worms than the average person, but we'll wager even he will be surprised to learn that they are capable of emitting an audible sound, and that they have been credited with possessing a surprising amount of intelligence, says our romantic Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

Although most worms look alike to us, experts claim there are about 800 different species, only 90 of which are to be found in North America. The majority live in the soil, preferring land containing considerable organic matter and plenty of moisture. They swallow great quantities of earth and digest the organic matter, churning up the soil and mixing it with half decaying leaves and roots, thus maintaining the fertility of the land and stimulating plant growth.

The anatomy of a worm is interesting and is no doubt quite intriguing to a lover of bugs and grubs. Worms have no teeth, no eyes and no feet. Yet they can eat, are sensitive to light and vibrations, and make pretty fair time, all things considered. Their mouth consists of a simple sucking mechanism with powerful muscles. They crawl by means of the alternate expansion and contraction of the muscular rings encircling their bodies, aided by rows of short, stiff bristles along the sides.

Each earthworm is both male and female and produces eggs. The young emerge from the egg capsules fully formed, and mature in about three or four months. They often occur in such large numbers that they make the surface of the ground appear lumpy and uneven.

Besides the "early bird" domestic fowl, toads and moles relish earthworms, and it is not often that steps must be taken to control worms in the garden. However, if it is found that they are affecting the root systems of plants or marring the appearance of the lawn, a sprinkling of lime solution has been found very beneficial.

Thus we see that no matter how many mechanical contrivances man invents, there will always be a place for the common earthworm in the scheme of things.

The Bureau of Statistics does not give us a worm census, but it is interesting to recall that oldtimers in this district have claimed that worms were not indigenous here, and had to be "introduced."

Certain it is that in early days one could not be sure of cultivated land containing worms, as is now the case. The worm-fisherman of Nelson 30 years ago used to procure his bait at selected spots guaranteed to have worms; the vicinity of the slaughterhouse, for instance, an institution that some two decades ago passed out of existence.

One of the worries of American scientists at the time of the last great Mississippi floods, some 10 years ago, was lest the worms should drown owing to the extraordinarily long submergence of the land, and the land should lack for a time the valuable work of the worms in opening the ground to air circulation and in fertilizing it.

A Trail Reader has kindly supplied the words to the song "Twenty-One Years" requested by A Reader at Renata.

TWENTY-ONE YEARS

The Judge said "stand up boy, and dry off your tears.
You're sentenced to Nashville for twenty-one years."
So kiss me good-bye, babe, and say you'll be mine.
For twenty-one years, babe, is a mighty long time.
Oh, hear that train blow, babe, she'll be here on time.
To take me to Nashville to serve out my time.
Oh, look down that railroad, far as you can see.
And keep right on waving your farewell to me.

The steam from the whistle,
The smoke from the stack,
I know you'll be true blue until I get back.
So hold up your head, babe, and dry up your eyes,
For the best friends must part, babe, so must you and I.

Go to the governor, upon your sweet soul,
If you can't get a pardon, try get a parole;
If I had the governor where the governor's got me,
Before Tuesday morning that governor'd be free.
I've counted the days, babe,
I've counted the nights;
I've counted the minutes,
I've counted the lights;
I've counted the footsteps,
I've counted the stars;
I've counted a million of these prison bars.

Six months have gone by, babe,
I wish I were dead;
This dirty old jailhouse, the floor for my bed,
It's raining and hailing, the moon gives no light,
While I sit here and wonder, why you never write.
I've counted on you babe, to get me a break,
Have you forgotten, I'm here for your sake?
You know who is guilty, you know it too well,
But I'd die in this jailhouse, before I would tell.

Come all you young fellows with hearts brave and true,
Don't trust any woman, you'll grieve if you do.
Don't trust any woman, no matter what kind,
For twenty-one years, boys, is a mighty long time.

German Downed Friendly Plane

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, (CP).—A flying officer in a fighter command is grateful to a German pilot for doing his job for him.
He had just attacked, and seriously damaged, two Messerschmitts in a dog-fight over the channel. Then he turned his Spitfire to attack another enemy.
Here is his description of what happened:
"When about to attack a Messerschmitt 109 a second Messerschmitt 109 passed me and shot down the first 109. I am definite about the identity of both these aircraft."

London Using New Balloon Barrage

LONDON, Sept. 15 (CP).—The use in London of a balloon barrage of "improved design" which floats at considerably greater height than had been possible heretofore was disclosed yesterday by authoritative British sources.
The informants said it was these balloons that trapped a German bomber in a raid on the city early Friday. Previously it was announced merely a German plane was caught and destroyed by a barrage balloon.
Details of the new balloon were withheld. Coastal observers said the new type bags had been used successfully against dive-bombers before they were put up in London.

CAPITAL HAVING HOUSE SHORTAGE

OTTAWA (CP).—New houses here are sold "even before the walls are up," so acute is the housing situation these days. Real estate agents declare it will be even worse by the end of the month.
"Things are reaching a point where it is virtually impossible to find a client a place to live in," one agent said. "Few realize how serious the problem is."
A "biltkrieg" on real estate offices is expected as building has not kept pace with the increase in Ottawa's population since war started and residents of Summer cottages — there are thousands in the district — will be coming to the city for the winter. And on top of that, appointments to wartime jobs here continue.
Because they are liable to be transferred at a moment's notice, Royal Canadian Air Force men have the most trouble to find dwellings. Landlords prefer more permanent tenants than the nomadic airmen.

Canadians Signs for Uncle Sam

BOSTON, (CP).—Hundreds of Canadians in this area were among the aliens who registered under the new U. S. Federal regulation.
The period of registration, which is nation-wide, extends from Aug. 27 to Dec. 28 inclusive. For the most part, post offices are the designated places, and on the opening day here nearly 1000 aliens and their relatives crowded the corridors of the Postoffice Building.
Elderly men and women predominated in the first groups. After the review of the sample forms, the aliens were directed to the fingerprinting division where a staff of clerks transferred the prints of aliens' fingers and hands on fingerprint cards.
The final step in the procedure consisted in the administration of the oath by the registration officer, signing of the form by the alien and the imprinting of the right index finger on the form. About 25 minutes is required for the complete process.

Besides the usual questions for establishing identification, the alien is asked to tell how and when he entered the country, the method of transportation he used to get here and the name of the vessel, if any, on which he arrived. He is also asked to state the length of time he has been in this country and the length of time he expects to stay. He must describe any military or naval service he has had, and list the names of any organizations, clubs or societies in which he participates or holds membership.
This information will be kept confidential in the files of the Department of Justice. Law-abiding aliens are assured that they need have no fear that the records will be used in any way to their harm.

Affairs Institute Has Had Busy Year

TORONTO, (CP).—The most active year in its history is recorded by the Canadian Institute of International Affairs in the annual report for 1939-40.
President W. M. Birks of Montreal points out that in the crisis of war the organization's efforts in the field of public education had expanded, a series of popular publications launched and a new department of public information established. More exchange of speakers and regional conferences with various groups in the United States had also added considerably to the Institute's activities.

It is noted that certain points in Canada's policy had assumed a new appearance and became matters of urgency, such as Canada's defence policy and immigration and refugees, including "the King's wards and guest children." The work of the Institute had been adjusted to the changed situation and the national executive was maintaining contact with official services to carry out the most useful program in the present circumstances.

CONTRACT . . .

CROSS-RUFF EARLY
THERE IS one type of suit-play hand on which it is advisable to count up your winning tricks rather than your losers — the cross-ruff. The usual formula is to see how many top honor tricks are in sight, add to them the number of trumps which can be taken separately by ruffing and to them the number of tricks to be taken on trump leads which probably will be made by the defenders any time they get the lead. The total is the number you should take, but only if the ruffing is started as early in the hand as is feasible.

1. ♠ A 10 8 2 2. ♠ A 10 8 2
♥ 6 ♥ 6
♦ 7 5 4 ♦ 7 5 4 3 2

3. ♠ A 10 8 2 4. ♠ A 10 8 2

♣ K ♣ K J 5

South's Hand
♠ K Q J 9
♥ A 6 4 3
♣ A 8 6 5

Cross-ruff hands usually are identified as those in which there is a trump fit, but the side suits are non-fitting, short in one hand and long in the other, with no suit strong enough to furnish any number of discards. That is true of the situations shown above, the numbered hands being considered as dummies opposite South, who strives to make 4 spades against a lead of the heart K.

With No. 1 as dummy, the declarer can count three side aces, six tricks by ruffs—three in own hand and three in dummy—plus one trick on a trump lead to make his needed ten.

When No. 2 is dummy, there are two side aces and apparently a chance to ruff four tricks in the North hand and four in the South, to make ten. But, if the declarer lead a trump when they win a diamond trick, as they should, obliging declarer to use two trumps on one trick, only nine can be made thus. Hence a better chance is to try to ruff up the diamond suit at once, never wanting dummy's trumps on ruffs, but saving them to drop hostile trumps after the diamonds are established, which probably will require three rounds.

By Shepard Barclay

With No. 3 as dummy, game can be counted by cross-ruffing. The two club tops, heart A, three ruffs in each hand and one trick when the opponents lead trumps after taking a heart trick, will total ten. But be careful, after winning the heart A and club K, not to use two trumps on a trick by leading a trump for an entry to South; because of that trump lead and another when the opponents take a heart trick, your ruffs will be cut to four. After the heart A and club K, lead a heart at once.

With No. 4 as dummy, beware of an early club finesse. If you lose that after winning the heart A, the foe should lead trumps once; when you then lose a heart trick they will lead trumps again, and your game is cooked. Here you should after the heart A, embark on the cross-ruff at once and never take the club finesse, risking losing the lead twice.

Raids Speed Evacuation of School Children; East-Enders Hate to Leave

By HAROLD FAIR
(Canadian Press Staff Writer).
LONDON, Sept. 15 (CP Cable).—Stand along any street leading through Central London from the East and frequently you see a sight which brings home the stark tragedy of air raids—families evacuated after losing their homes through Hitler's air war against "military objectives."
These people huddle in the back of trucks with their pitiful collections of bags and boxes as they are taken to billets elsewhere in London or in the country.
Although the East End suffered heavily in recent raids, London County Council sources say there is no "mass evacuation." Strangely enough, they seem reluctant to move, a spokesman said.
A "fair amount" of private evacuation from the city is reported, but the main effect of the week's raids has been a speeding up of the evacuation of school children. About 1000 are registered daily now compared with the trickle of 200 or so before the intensification of the air war.
East-Enders whose homes were destroyed or closed up "delayed action bombs exploded have been given the opportunity of living elsewhere but generally accept temporary shelter for a day or two and then return to their familiar neighborhood. A spokesman said that often when a home is lost and the father is without a job, the usual comment is: "Oh, well, get a home somewhere else there and the old man will find another job."
Shortly after the outbreak of war about 250,000 school children were sent to safer parts of Britain. Last June another 161,000 were evacuated. They started returning to the city with the result that by the end of August only 108,000 were away.
L.C.C. were opened again but only around 250 a day registered to be taken away again. The past week, however, saw the total reach 3500. A peak was reached Thursday with a total of 1700. Evacuation follows about 48 hours after registration.

Fleeing Thieves Stop for 90 Cents Change

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 15 (AP).—Dignees would have liked Mendelson's story.
When a man gave him a dollar bill for a 10-cent cigar, the 62-year-old druggist handed over the stogie and turned around to get some change. Then the "customer's" companion flourished a gun and said:
"This is a holdup. Gimme your money."
The bandit ran with Mendelson after them, shouting "Hey, here's your change."
One of the men stopped, took the 90 cents and started running again. Mendelson returned to his store.

NAZIS CONTINUE BOMB ATTACKS

BERLIN, Sept. 15 (AP).—The text of Saturday's German High Command communique:
"The air force, despite unfavorable weather Friday, continued retaliatory attacks day and night on the British capital, scoring numerous hits on docks, storehouses, and factories. New fires started at several places. Furthermore, airports, industrial plants and railroads in Southeastern England were effectively bombed."
"The enemy made some short flights over Holland, Belgium and Northern France and dropped some bombs at several places without causing noteworthy damage."
"Because of heavy clouds there were only scattered air fights during the day. Eight enemy planes were bagged by fighters and anti-aircraft. Two of our own planes are missing."

More Knitting for Air Force

LONDON, Sept. 15 (CP).—Get those needles working faster, ladies, it's getting a lot colder up in the sky, especially on those prolonged night bombing trips.
The appeal to start knitting "on the double," is made in behalf of the Royal Air Force Comforts Committee which has sponsored formation of innumerable "knitting parties." And still more are needed.
The groups or parties are formed of 10 to more than 1000 women and have been providing huge quantities of knitted goods for air force men. With winter coming on, however, requirements are being doubled for sweaters and other heavy goods.

Air Service From Indo-China Stopped

HONG KONG, Sept. 15 (AP).—Chinese sources reported yesterday air transportation between Hanoi, French Indo-China, and Kunning, capital of the neighboring Chinese province of Yunnan, had been suspended since Friday.
"Earlier in the week a Chinese Army spokesman said in Chungking that Chinese troops had blown up the international bridge on the Hanoi-Kunning Railway to prevent Japanese from using it as an approach to China."
These sources quoted general Lung-Yun, Governor of Yunnan, as saying the French Government was "on the point of granting the Japanese the right to use Indo-China as a base of attack against China" and that the Chinese would take all necessary military measures.

Let Your Son be a Credit to His Father

Set your mind at ease — secure his education the Imperial Life way

WHEN he is ready to plunge into the burly-burly of competitive business or professional life, you may not be here. But even now, through Imperial Life, you can make certain that whatever happens, your son will be equipped to be a credit to you—educated to compete. And never has education been more essential to success.

You, alone, can decide whether your son's education will be haphazard and incomplete, or systematic and thorough. Many provident fathers, remembering the handicaps they had to overcome, have made certain that their children will have every advantage that education can give them, by taking out an Imperial Child's Thrift Policy. This provides that a sum of money, the amount you decide upon, will be paid your son at a given date.

The Imperial Child's Thrift Policy has this striking advantage—should you pass away prematurely the Imperial Life will pay the premiums until the child is 21 and able to continue the payments if any are still due. See an Imperial Life representative at your first convenience.

$1000 for Norman J. when he is 21

When the "unexpected happened" Norman J. was little more than a baby. With some other insurance, his father left an Imperial Life Child's Thrift Policy. Under its terms the Imperial Life will pay all premiums until Norman is 21. Then he will receive $1000—enough to give him a head start in life.

Norman's need will be all the greater because his father will not be here to guide him. Why not provide an Imperial Life Child's Thrift Policy for your boy—or girl!

Notice to Class Liable to Call

OTTAWA, Sept. 15 (CU). — A proclamation instructing single men and childless widowers of the ages 21 to 24 years inclusive to present themselves when called for medical examination and military training for a period of 30 days within Canada or the territorial waters thereof was made public yesterday by Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Minister of National War Services.

Men called for the first training period, scheduled for next Oct. 9, will be notified by registered letter to report for physical examination to one of the 10,500-odd doctors throughout Canada who have been appointed examining physicians under the National War Services Regulations.

The order-in-council, copies of which were distributed to the Press from Mr. Gardiner's office, advises "every male British subject who is or has been at any time subject to Sept. 1, 1939, ordinarily resident in Canada" aged 21 to 24 inclusive on July 1, 1940, and who was, on July 15, 1940 unmarried or a childless widower, that he will be called for training.

While the order-in-council declares "we do hereby call out the aforesaid classes of men," the Minister, earlier this week, announced that the proclamation is in effect a notice to the classes mentioned that they are liable to call.

The first training period opening Oct. 9 will require 27,750 men and registrars of the 13 administrative districts will notify the men to be called for this period on a printed form sent by registered letter.

The proclamation cites the National Resources Mobilization Act of 1940 which gave the Governor-in-Council extraordinary powers to require "persons to place themselves, their services and their property at the disposal of his Majesty in the right of Canada for use within Canada or the territorial waters thereof as may be deemed necessary or expedient for securing the public safety of Canada, the maintenance of public order, or the efficient prosecution of the war, or for maintaining supplies or services essential to the life of the community."

Conscription Is Approved in U.S.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 15 (AP). — Peacetime draft legislation, requiring registration of approximately 14,500,000 men 21 through 35 for military training, was finally approved by the United States Congress yesterday and dispatched to the White House.

The President's signature enacting it into law is expected to be affixed early next week, setting in motion machinery which will send the first 75,000 draftees to camps in November.

The House of Representatives took the final legislative step this morning when it approved a compromise between Senate and House versions of the conscription measure a short time after the Senate gave its assent by a 47 to 29 vote.

The roll call vote was announced as 232 to 124.

The final version included provision for the President to take over industrial plants, on a rental basis, when necessary to get defence orders filled expeditiously.

The Senate's action came after it had been sent the bill back to a joint Senate and House conference committee by a 37 to 33 vote last night with instructions to its conferees to insist on the adoption of a House-approved clause giving the Government power to commandeer industrial plants where the owners proved recalcitrant about accelerating or speeding up defence orders.

This provision, much more drastic than a compromise version previously written into the measure by the conferees, was adopted quickly by the joint committee and the measure returned to the Senate for action.

Report U.S. Bombers Will Go to Britain
WASHINGTON, Sept. 15 (AP). — Two "isolationist" Senators said in the Senate yesterday that a campaign is under way to transfer to Britain 25 of the United States army's biggest bombers.

Senator Rush Holt (Dem., West Virginia) joined Senator Bennett Champ Clark (Dem., Missouri) in criticism of President Roosevelt's trade of 50 destroyers for British naval bases in the Western Hemisphere with an assertion that a committee headed by William Allen White, Emporia, Kan., Editor, is seeking to obtain the transfer of the bombing planes.

White is head of the committee to defend America by aiding the Allies.

4 New Training Schools to Open

OTTAWA, Sept. 15 (AP). — Opening of instruction at four new training centres in Western Canada on Monday will bring the total number of schools now in operation in the Dominion to 33, the Royal Canadian Air Force announced yesterday.

Students from elementary flying training schools will report Monday for training at No. 4 service flying training school at Saskatoon and will have a week's experience under their belts before the official opening of the school Sept. 21, while No. 3 air observers school at Regina and No. 2 wireless school at Calgary will also become working parts of the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan.

Also at Calgary No. 11 equipment depot, a storehouse of aviation supplies and equipment for all R. C. A. F. training centres in that area, will be opened.

By the end of 1940, a total of 48 training schools will be in operation. At present 4500 men are in training in the Dominion as pilots, air observers or air gunners and 7500 are enrolled as service and maintenance men.

Actually engaged in the plan at present are 800 R.C.A.F. instructors and 4000 administrative staff, 1000 civilian flying instructors and 2000 civilian administrative staff.

Total strength of the R.C.A.F. at present is 23,000 airmen and 1800 officers. It is estimated 90 per cent of the present air force personnel will be required eventually for the training plan, which will employ a staff of 40,000, including 6000 civilians, by the time the complete plan is in force.

All Orientals Must Give Up Guns

VICTORIA, Sept. 15 (CP). — At- lorbri-General Gordon Wismer said yesterday no exceptions can be allowed to the policy of refusing registration of guns to Chinese and Japanese. All Orientals must surrender their weapons, he said.

"The fact that Chinese and Japanese will not be permitted registration of guns is no reflection on their nationality. It is simply a measure that is necessary because these two nations are at war. The policy was carefully considered and is required to meet the exigencies of conditions."

"NO ISOLATIONISM FOR THE CHRISTIAN"

WINNIPEG, Sept. 14 (CP). — There is no such thing as isolationism for the Christian, Rev. Dr. Henry Smith Leiper of New York declared before the ninth general council of the United Church of Canada at the morning session here today.

"In a forced regimentation, the atmosphere can be changed away from all that is brotherly or Christian. Voluntary cooperation is the only adequate answer to regimentation. The world is shouting literally to the Christian 'unite or perish.'"

Wheat Board to Renew Buying of 1939 Wheat Crop

WINNIPEG, Sept. 15 (CP).—The Wheat Board announced today it was empowered to renew buying of the 1939 crop wheat producers. This countermeasures regulations in effect since the end of the 1938 crop year, which prevented the Board from purchasing last year's crop. The Board said it was further empowered to allow storage in 1939.

Delivery at the elevator was before August 8, storage allowed to begin on August 8. Delivery was made after August 8, storage allowance will be made a date of delivery at the elevator, the announcement said.

It must be clearly understood all deliveries of 1939 wheat on and after August 8 shall be within the delivery quota allocations.

Several wheat delivery quotas in the West are now being held a seeded acre. At some of these delivery allowances have been increased to as much as 15 bushels of wheat for each acre sown.

INCOME TAX JOTS BOTHER BRITISH

LONDON (CP).—British taxpayers, now paying record high rates of income tax to meet war costs, find new problems to harass them in the form which the inland revenue department requires them to fill out for assessment purposes.

The British taxpayer has no advantage over the Canadian taxpayer—except if it's a minor one. The income tax authorities work out the amount the individual owes, based on his estimate of his annual income. In cases where the estimate differs from the actual income, the authorities adjust the assessment and the amount of tax payable.

But the British forms have always been complicated. Sundry cryptic abbreviations have made them still more difficult to follow.

One taxpayer, baffled by the abbreviations, got the Income Tax Payers' Society to explain them.

Here's what they told him:

CY means current year; PY means previous year. EIR earned income relief. In other words the exemption allowed on earned income. AS, allowance to a single person. DR, dependent relatives. RR, rate relief (that portion of the income chargeable at less than the standard rate).

Few Rails Gain in Slow New York Trade

NEW YORK, Sept. 15 (AP).—A few rail and industrial bonds climbed fractions in a slow market today.

Many issues held unchanged as traders continued to wait for a decisive turn in the battle of England to be fought in the air.

Canada's 4 of 1939 dropped nearly a point in the foreign list. Italy 7 1/2 were off a fraction.

Chemicals Join Steels and Rails in Wall St. Lift

NEW YORK, Sept. 15 (AP).—Chemicals joined steels and rails on Saturday in a lifting movement that steadied the stock market.

Small experimental orders early in the short session disclosed a fairly firm structure. Later trading in slightly increased volume brought gains of major fractions or more among leaders.

Transactions totalled about 150,000 shares.

On the advancing side were Dow Chemical, Union Carbide, Dupont, Westinghouse, American Can, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Great Northern preferred, Southern Railway, Southern Pacific, Boeing Douglas, American Telephone and Western Union.

Interest in steel shares was heightened by a trade estimate that the present steel inventory accumulation—the largest on record at the close of August—is "nearing completion."

In the Canadian section Dome Mines and McIntyre advanced slightly while Dieltiers Seagram lost 1/2 point.

Thousands Turn Out for Soccer Despite Alarms

LONDON, Sept. 18 (CP Cable)—A series of air raids disturbed English soccer games Saturday, but despite the danger thousands of fans turned out to cheer their respective teams up and down the country.

At least one Nazi bomb had a soccer ground for its target. A high explosive bomb damaged the terrace on the enclosure of an East London professional club but there was no report of casualties.

Civil defence requirements halted some matches. Where possible games interrupted by raids were resumed after the "all clear" signal was sounded. A number of clubs were forced to complete teams at the last moment with junior and other players.

Tottenham Hotspurs and Chelsea met in London with revised line-ups, no fewer than 10 changes being made in the teams. The Spurs had Field, a 16-year-old youngster, at centre-forward and won 3-2.

Although reduced to nine men through injuries, Manchester City smashed New Brighton 5-3, and Lincoln City walloped Sheffield United 9-2. In the London area Fulham was shut out by Arsenal 1-0 in a game that was interrupted four minutes by an air raid. Watford trimmed Aldershot 3-1 and Southampton United defeated Clapton Orient 2 to 1.

Woman Killed in Coast Shooting

PRINCE GEORGE, B. C., Sept. 18 (CP)—Provincial Police tonight held T. Krawchuk, Polish railway section hand, while they investigated a shooting affray which ended in the death of his wife and the wounding of a friend.

Rossland Set for Big Game Tonight

ROSSLAND, B. C., Sept. 18—All the boys are in good shape, and they are out to win the Kootenay championship tomorrow night," said Cecil Pitt, Rossland Redmen Manager, tonight. "We have a 60-50 chance of winning, but we have to play lacrosse to win, we're not forgetting that."

Pitt said that the Redmen were quite satisfied with the officiating by Johnny Gidinski and Len Wilson. In fact he went as far as to say he thought it has been as good refereeing as there ever has been in the district.

Carlson, Wilson, Allan, Watson in Nelson Golf Club Semi-Final Play

Mrs. Townshend Goes to Ladies' Final With Mrs. Lakes

Sunday saw the first two rounds of the Nelson Golf & Country Club championship play get under way. By evening all flights had narrowed down to the semi-finals and some down to the finals.

Carl Carlson, the defending champion of the Applegate Links Cup, was still in the hunt and next Sunday morning will meet the veteran T. R. Wilson in one semi-final match. Jimmy Allan and Bob Watson, two of the other highly-favored players, will clash in the other semi-final bracket. The finalists are scheduled to play for the title in the afternoon.

S. A. Maddocks, Elmer Carrothers, W. Blane and Don Clark survived the opening round of first flight play, and are paired in semi-final matches next Sunday, with the final in the afternoon.

HORTON WINS FLIGHT

R. E. Horton defeated Alex Allan in the final of the second flight to take that divisional title, and C. H. Stark took the honors in the third flight by beating W. T. Fotheringham.

In the ladies' play for the Ruth Armstrong Bets Bowl, Mrs. B. Townshend of Willow Point, defending title, and Mrs. Harold Lakes, are still in the running and will meet for the championship during the week. Mrs. John Cartmel took the consolation event.

In one of the day's best matches, T. R. Wilson defeated Elmer Carrothers on the eighteenth green in the championship flight after a dark morning. Each player had a two-hole lead at one time or another. Wilson was one up as they approached the eighteenth tee, but Carrothers "rimmed" the eighteenth hole, without making it, for a par four, giving him a half, and the match was over, Wilson the winner.

B. Townshend of Willow Point had tough luck when he was confined to bed during the weekend and had to default his games. Townshend proved a dark horse, and promised to make a good showing in the current tourney.

WATSON EXTENDED

Harold Lakes beat Bob Watson really extended himself to win a berth in the Labor Day tournament, and Lakes shot 24, one over par, to hold Watson even for nine holes. Watson surged ahead during the second, and the game finished on the seventeenth. Watson carded a 70 for 18 holes against Lakes' 73. Ron Andrews bowed out to T. R. Wilson, losing three and two on the sixteenth.

Carl Carlson defeated Gord Allan on the sixteenth hole to move into the semi-finals in a match in which neither player did credit to himself. Jimmy Allan earned his way into the semi against Carlson by defeating L. S. Bradley. Allan was taking no chances and blasted a 32—one under par during the first nine holes.

In winning the second flight, Horton let Allan gain an early lead, but he cut it down and established a one-hole lead at the turn. From then on Horton never lost his lead although Allan continued doggedly on his heels.

In the first flight, Blane turned the heat on Jack Stark with a first round score of 36 to gain a substantial lead, which he held throughout. Ladies' results follow:

Monetary System Depends on Outcome

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 18 (AP)—Dr. F. Cyril James, Vice-Chancellor and Principal of McGill University, declared today that an international monetary standard "based on gold" should be established after the current war if the democracies triumph.

If Germany wins, he said there will be a world of "regional" autarchies in which gold "will be useless except for economic decoration."

Dr. James addressed members of the American Bar Association, whose 63rd annual convention here ended yesterday, at a meeting arranged by the University of Pennsylvania in connection with its bi-centennial celebration.

Whether the United States' $21,000,000,000 gold hoard will prove "stupendous folly" or the most constructive contribution to the future welfare of the United States and all mankind depends on the war's outcome, he said.

England's Sons Beat Rest 110-105 in Cricket Thriller Tying Series

England took time out Sunday to indulge in a return cricket game with The Rest. The last meeting of these two Nelson elevens resulted in rather an easy win for those opposing England. This time, however, representatives of John Bull took revenge, and after an exceedingly close finish, were returned winners by a margin of five runs, the score being 110-105. The issue was in doubt all through, with the odds in favor of The Rest. They had 105 runs on the board with two wickets in hand. However, two exceptional catches by E. Boucher and Lieut. Harrison, off White's bowling, blasted the hopes of The Rest, the last two wickets falling for no additional score.

HARRISON PASSES 50
The feature of the English innings was the batting of Lieut. M. Harrison. Although out of practice, he displayed some superb strokes, and, once settled down, scored all round the wicket. It was only after he reached 50 that he took chances, being cleaned bowled by Tye. He was ably assisted in the early part of the inning by E. Boucher, and later by McKeerna. In the bowling E. Boucher was the mainstay. He bowled practically the entire inning and came out with the fine average of five wickets for 24 runs. He kept a beautiful length and had considerable spin on the ball. He finished The Rest in bowling by taking two wickets in succession.

The opening batsmen for The Rest all gave the English bowlers trouble, particularly Barwis. He set about the bowling in great style and lifted one clean over the grandstand. Other scorers were Malloy with 18, and Deacon 14. Later in the inning Bob Main tried to pull the game for his side, and looked like succeeding until he got his leg in front of a straight one from White, scoring a creditable 21, England finally winning by five runs.

Trains Late by Gilpin Washout; Repair Speedy

Saturday's Kettle Valley passenger trains, both Eastbound and Westbound, were held up for several hours by a washout, eight or nine miles this side of Grand Forks, between Billings and Gilpin.

A cloudburst about 2:30 or 3:40 p.m. resulted in such a volume of water pouring across the track at the point in question, that the earth fill was partly washed out.

Section crews of the locality repaired the track, and had it ready for operation in about five hours. The train from the Coast was held at Grand Forks until the line was open. It arrived at Nelson about 1 a.m. Sunday. The Westbound train from Nelson was not far from the site of the trouble when it occurred, and waited there while the repairs were being made.

MANCHESTER, (CP)—A Seychelles Island tortoise, weighing 200 pounds, reputed to be the largest of its kind in Europe, was brought here from the South of England.
