There's Nothing Like the Air Force, Declares Aircraftman Miles Riddle

Nelson Student Pilot Has 55 Hours in Air So Far

Leading Aircraftman Miles Riddle believes there's nothing like the Royal Canadian Air Force. In Nelson on an unexpected furlough, the student pilot, son of Mrs. Richard Whitehead, was in fine trim and enjoying life to the full. His furlough was cut short by orders to report to the Dauphin, Man., flying school for the next stage of his training. This required leaving earlier than he anticipated, since he expected to be assigned to Calgary.

He read the Daily News story which Sgt.-Gen. J. B. Gray, graduate wireless-gunner, declared "all over again" and would "do all over again" if necessary.

"By gosh," said Linc. Riddle, "that's about sums it up. We all feel that way about it. Some of us who will have a lot of work ahead before we qualify feel a bit envious of the boys who have graduated and are going overseas, but we'll get there too."

Riddle met the Daily News "night rider" the men who work until a small morning hour, as he called it in a Nelson cafe for a cup of coffee. He ran into a barrage of questions, and with a grin a mile wide he answered them all with vivid descriptions of the life of a rookie aircraftman going up against something completely strange to him and liking it more and more as it became less strange.

"There's one thing about the training that he would be quite willing to pass up—'D. T.' the physical training period in the early, chilly morning. But even though he can't think of more pleasant things, Riddle admits that "physical jerks" are great for putting a man on his feet."

"Hours in Air" Riddle has completed 55 hours in air. Following the normal course of student pilots under the Commonwealth Air Training Plan, he will continue as a student pilot in Canada in progressively faster planes and will complete his course in fast service planes, probably overseas. He hopes to return to Nelson again upon completion of the next stage of his training.

"There's nothing like the Air Force," Riddle declared. "I don't know enough words to say how a fellow feels when he first goes up, and the bigger thrill when he solos, and the feeling that sweeps over him when he tries his first aerobatics. There's something new all the time."

"But you have to work. It isn't a cluck at any time."

Leading Aircraftman Riddle is just like thousands of other young men of the British Empire. If he had to lead "do it all over again, and with no regrets."

Record Number of Consolidated Men on Hospitalization Contracts Says Clark in Annual Report of Hospital

Revenue Exceeds Expenditure by $564

TRAIL, B. C., March 2—Annual report of the Trail-Tadema Hospital Society, showed a record number of Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company employees on hospitalization contracts.

Revenue for the year amounted to $122,867.23 comprising grants, patients' fees, donations and miscellaneous receipts. Expenditures were $124,262.30, leaving an excess of revenue over expenditure of $564.97.

Chief expenses were: administration $5,701.82, stores, kitchen and housekeeping $32,374.41, heating and lighting $11,519.11, laundry $41,300.24, nurses home $28,249.39, buildings and grounds $29,866.82, miscellaneous $3,832.77, bad and doubtful accounts $401.43. Provision for depreciation was $10,752.89.

"The purchase of an X-ray timer was thought necessary to insure safety in deep therapy treatment and to help the radiologists. This additional facility to the X-ray department involved the hospital in an expense of $850 which has been paid.

In addition to this amount a further $700 was spent on new equipment, some of which helped to furnish the new wing of the nurses home.

Debt in the effect on the finances of the hospital was the drop in the proportion of Trail patients with the development of the residential districts outside the city. The hospital does not collect 70 cents per day for these patients as in the case of the City of Trail patients.

The Acting President explained since 1935 the proportion of Trail patients has changed from 70.62 per cent to 84.52 per cent.

Mr. Clark in his report thanked the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company for its continued donations of light, power and water and unlimited supplies of oxygen which, he said, have helped the hospital to maintain its good record in the treatment of pneumonia and other diseases.

During the year 3757 patients were admitted to the hospital, the report of Miss Lois Humber, Superintendent, disclosed. This was an increase of 153 over the previous year. Patients were listed as follows: Medical 1086, surgical 1276, obstetrical 501, tubercular 273, infectious 19.

During the year 383 babies were born.

"The increase of four in the staff over last year became necessary because of an exceptionally busy period after midsummer. In addition the board has endeavored to conform with industrial regulations regarding working hours, which have necessitated the additional staff," Miss Humber said in her report.

"We have had our difficulties during the year with changes in personnel. The war has affected us considerably in obtaining specially trained nurses and orderlies. So far we have been able to maintain our standards."

TRIPLE KAYO BY MEASLES Measles kayoed three of the prospective fighters, Onofrio Pittao and Fred Keeler of Trail, and Roy Gartner of Creston.

Bert Sawyer of Creston substituted for Gartner in the lightweight bout against Alphonse Bendramini. Gartner was dropped for the count on the first round. Bendramini won the five-round decision.

Larry McDonald, Creston, scheduled to meet Pittao, fought an exhibition with Murdoch Morrison of Trail. Morrison showed himself a far more experienced fighter.

Keeler's illness cancelled a scheduled exhibition bout with Tommy Tompkins of Trail.

First event was a lightweight bout between Bill Dussus and Bill Brownlee, both of Trail. Brownlee won an easy decision in three rounds, knocking Dussus down for an eight count in the second.

C.B.C. Tells All Canada About the Trail 'Dime-a-Chime' Program Using Ship's Bell to Aid Bombing Victims

An illustration of the program opened with a supposed conversation between two sailors on H.M.C.S. City of Trail, discussing the ship's bell presented to the corvette by the City of Trail. Following through was a sketch describing the origin of the "Dime-a-Chime" program by members of the staff of Radio Station CJAT, a pictorialization of the program itself, and the concluding remarks of the two sailors.

Millions of Parasites Produced for Job of Killing Pests in Canada

BELLEVILLE (CP)—Little glass vials, the breeding place of parasites to fight insect pests, are bought in lots of 20,000 by the Dominion Parasite Laboratory here.

Dr. A. B. Baird, entomologist in charge, tells how the insects increase.

A major factor in controlling the European spruce sawfly menace to Canadian forests is the parasite microproton, brought from Europe and released from the laboratory to fight the pest.

After propagation had been carried out for two years, 20,000,000 individuals were liberated from the constant temperature rooms of the laboratory where doors like those of a battleship seal sections of the building where insects are studied.

The parasite was propagated on sawfly cocoons collected from infested regions of Gaspé Peninsula. In 1938 over 2,000,000 cocoons were used, 30 men being employed in collection work.

The laboratory technique is simple but exact. Cocoons are submerged in warm water to paralyze the larvae within, then placed in a glass vial with a female microproton. The vial is plugged with cotton and placed in a room with temperature of 78 degrees and 75 per cent relative humidity.

The parasites lay their complete eggs in the cocoons within a day or two, these hatch and develop and in 15 days a new generation of microproton adults emerge usually over 25 per vial.

Teams Ask Residents to Pledge Regular Purchases

Nelson's War Savings Certificate campaign will be in full swing today.

This is the week set by the War Savings Committee, headed by Ald. E. A. Mann, for canvassers to pledge Nelson residents to buy War Savings Certificates regularly and habitually so as to assist the Dominion Government in financing Canada's war effort.

Already some of the canvassers are at work. Keen on their job and anxious to make Nelson's participation in the campaign as widespread as possible, a number of teams started their work last week. Women who are conducting the house-to-house canvass were the first to start.

Today both men and women canvassers will swing into full action. Every house and every business place in the City will be called on. Canvassers have been instructed to give an interim report of their progress on Wednesday.

A. H. Hodson, Chairman of the Committee in charge of the War Savings "Stampad" at the Civic Centre Hall Friday night, stated Sunday that gross receipts approximated $275. He expected to be able to report the net receipts by mid-week, when all bills would be in. The net will be used to purchase War Certificates, and the Certificates will be forwarded to Ottawa for cancellation.

Beaver in Canada Staging Comeback

OTTAWA (CP)—Booming business at beaver bulwarks is the answer of Canada's busiest beast to rumors his day was done and that he would soon be as dead as the dodo.

Mines and Resources reports showed that the beaver is making a strong comeback and in his restored vigor is contributing to the welfare of his eternal neighbor—the Indian. All the beaver needed was a little encouragement. Preserves in the James Bay area today have more than 8000 beaver compared with 230 in 1933.

STUDENT TRAFFIC PATROLS TO BE INSTITUTED AT HUME SCHOOL TODAY

School traffic patrols, a unique system to make both pupils and drivers traffic-conscious and to draw added attention to school zones, is to be instituted in Nelson today. The patrols will be started at the Hume School and within three weeks will be established at three elementary schools, Hume, Central and St. Joseph's Academy.

Uniforms consisting of Sam Browne belts, caps and caps will be provided for the young patrolmen chosen from among the older students. The caps and belts are already on hand, and the coats will also be equipped with disc stop signs.

The patrols will go on duty in the morning, in noon and when school is dismissed each day when dinner is in the school zones is heavy.

Mike Patrick Wants Reunion With His Duds

Mike Patrick, one of the Kimberley Dynamiters' star puck-carriers, of the younger variety, is short some shirts and other duds, which he had with him on his last trip to Nelson.

Somewhere in the process of getting out of Nelson, after the last Dynamiter clash with the Maple Leafs—which the Leafs won, Mike's travelling bag lost direction and travelled elsewhere in some manner that has not been determined.

Presumably some visitor, or possibly returning citizen, mistook it for his own, and did not immediately discover his mistake. Patrick is hoping there will be a reunion between him and the travelling bag when he returns here Tuesday or Wednesday for the first of the play-downs between the Dynamiters and the Leafs.

Variety, Thrills Surprises Greet Fight Fans, Trail

TRAIL, B. C., March 2—Trail-Creston boxing card, staged at the Elks' Hall Friday night, provided plenty of variety, thrills and not a few surprises for 250 fans.

Highlight of the match was a surprise technical knockout, when Theo Wood, 100-pound Crestonite, downed Donald McDonald, 153 pounds. Trail, McDonald went down the count of four, the bell saving him. He was helped to the corner by his seconds but was able to come out for the third round.

Gordon McClellan, Creston, featured in a round featherweight bout against George Paterson of Trail. At least three inches shorter than his opponent, Gordon was a small little fighter and well able to hold his own, ducking under Paterson's guard and capitalizing with a straight left. Decision was given Paterson for more accurate punching... but it found little favor with the crowd.

Measles kayoed three of the prospective fighters, Onofrio Pittao and Fred Keeler of Trail, and Roy Gartner of Creston.

Bert Sawyer of Creston substituted for Gartner in the lightweight bout against Alphonse Bendramini. Gartner was dropped for the count on the first round. Bendramini won the five-round decision.

Refugees Prepare Island Settlement

NEW YORK (CP)—A hardy band of pioneering European refugees—300 men and women driven from their homes by political and religious persecution—are the central figures in an experiment in settlement on a tropical island, which has completed—successfully—its first year.

They are the pioneers of the Souza Colony, 78,000 acres on the Northwest coast of the Dominican Republic in the Caribbean, which was set up under sponsorship of the Dominican Republic Settlement Association, representing the United States, Great Britain and 30 other nations.

James Rosenberg of New York, Association President, told a recent meeting of the committee at Ciudad Trujillo that the colony's operations were successful and that its program for producing native products for a ready cash market in the United States was bringing results.

The 300 settlers have built 10 miles of road, constructed 24 buildings, and put up houses on individual homesteads. The settlers get their own homesteads after some training in tropical agriculture.

LIFE IN SHELTER BREEDS RICKETS

LONDON (CP)—Danger of children living in underground shelters contracting deficiency diseases such as scurvy and rickets was sounded at a London conference on Air Raid Precaution problems.

"One has only to look at the appearance of children in the tubercular areas," said Dr. Joan Michael, an assistant medical officer. "They are pale, drawn, worried looking and obviously not getting sufficient fresh air and sunlight."

Canadian Drivers' Reputation Good

LONDON (CP)—Canadian military sources believe truck and motorcycle drivers with the Dominion forces in Britain show a better safety record than British army drivers.

Daily accident rate among Canadian drivers is only 15—and this includes such minor mishaps as scratched fenders. True, Canada has not nearly the number of vehicle strength, the Canadian rate is smaller.

Military sources said an additional reason for satisfaction with Canadian drivers in Britain was that until they came here few of the Dominion's drivers had any experience in driving on the left-hand side of the road. They are only 44 Canadian vehicles built like those in Canada with a steering wheel on the left side of the car. When these are used, the driver is always accompanied with an observer to watch the road.

British Antiques Exported to U.S.

More than one hundred antique dealers are now cooperating in Britain's export drive.

Already the trade crossing the Atlantic to U.S.A. runs well into six figures. The amount cannot be exactly given. The increasing interest of Americans in English antiques is said to be due in part to their belief that the number of antiques in existence may be reduced by bombing. Moreover, the purchaser pays no import duty on anything made before 1930.

The present preference is definitely for the work of English craftsmen. Georgian furniture, silver and Sheffield plate are in biggest demand, with fine Georgian textiles, including hand embroidery and needlework of all kinds a close second.

Porcelain of the famous Chelsea, Worcester, Crown Derby and other factories, including early Wedgwood with the classic Flaxman designs and bone china boxes are also being exported. So a certain quantity of the finest pewter and brassware.

QUEEN ACCEPTS OFFER OF CANADIAN GIFTS FOR WOMEN

RED CROSS TO SEND SUPPLIES FOR WOMEN'S VOLUNTARY SERVICES

Her Majesty the Queen has cabled the Canadian Red Cross Society that she herself will be "happy to accept" the great quantities of supplies and comforts which the women of Canada have been making since Christmas to be distributed among the women's voluntary services in England. The cable, sent by a lady in waiting at Buckingham Palace, said the Queen deeply touched and happy to accept the generous offer contained in your letter.

This last reference was to a communication sent to Her Majesty—signed by Mrs. H. P. Plumptre, Chairman of Red Cross War Activities and Mrs. Wallace Campbell, Chairman of National Red Cross Women's War Work Committees. Their letter informed the Queen that women across Canada had begun to make special supplies of equipment, woolen comforts, clothing, toilet essentials and personal comforts for British women volunteers whose devotion to duty since the outbreak of war meant bitter hardship and suffering. The Red Cross requested Her Majesty to accept the Canadian supplies which would be placed at her disposal by the Overseas Committee in London, and to distribute them wherever they were needed most.

The Queen has on more than one occasion expressed concern for the plight of some million and a half women volunteers who have been exposed to the full force of the Battle of Britain. As a disciplined and courageous army constantly in the line of fire, they have received almost less acclaim than any branch of the fighting services. Under Lady Reading's Women's Voluntary Service for Civil Defense there are a million women enrolled in a wide diversity of jobs. They serve as fire fighters, transport drivers, ARP Wardens, ambulance drivers, canteen workers, first aid nurses. They are to be seen on rooftops all over England as fireposts and they stand watch steadfastly in cold and wet, through the day and night. Corps of them have been specially trained to shepherd evacuee children to new homes and to segregate the bewildered refugees from Europe who have found shelter in England's air raids from even worse brutalities in Europe. Women volunteers have stood unflinchingly in the worst of the bombings and afterwards they have shown even greater courage by working shoulder to shoulder with the men digging dismembered limbs and lifeless bodies from the rubble and debris of shattered buildings.

The army, air force and navy also have their official women's auxiliaries and these are now well known by their abbreviations: WACS, with a membership of 80,000 WAAFs and WRENS. Another famous auxiliary unit of the last war, the first aid nursing yeomanry, is giving such distinguished service in this present conflict that the affectionate nickname of FANY is known almost round the globe. These women also serve long hours and suffer acute discomforts. Many of them are mobile and are rushed to distressed areas with no personal belongings but the clothes they wear. They often sleep in tents and often still go without any sleep at all. They work at signalling, gas drill, telegraph, coding; they shuttle planes to airbases, cook for the men's units and fill a dozen other posts, many of them tedious or dangerous, so that men may be released for other duties. Their director is Dame Helen Gwynne-Vaughan, OBE, of the British War Office.

Another branch of volunteer service is found in the women's land army, which is supervised by the Department of Agriculture. Its women offer themselves for duty anywhere in England to carry on the work of farmers that England may have as much food as possible stored away for future use.

Women workers of the Canadian Red Cross have, as it were, taken under their wing in addition to the sailors, flyers, soldiers and refugees, the countless women volunteers in Britain and are supplying them with ample quantities of knitted garments, laundry bags, small pillows, bed socks, and personal comforts. Shipments have come overseas since Christmas and henceforth will be distributed at the discretion of the Queen to those centres where the need is greatest.

Human Nature... of Failures Traced to Laxity

LOGAN GLENDENING, M. D. says very once in a while, "said a patient whom I had not seen for some time, and I was astonished to find that he or she had stayed on a diet I prescribed five or six years before. I don't know what surprises me most in these encounters—the constancy of this example of human nature or the excellent results that have been obtained by persistency."

There is no other condition where in all dietetic treatment more necessary to impress the patient than in the management of overweight by a reducing diet.

It is probably no condition to which medical men pay their attention that records a percentage of failures than treatment of obesity.

There is no other condition which good results can be obtained with such certainty and exact precision.

STICK TO IT

We must assume that the fault in cases like this is the laxity of weak human nature. The doctor arranges a good diet for his patient and who is diligent in following it, knows that it is lying. He doesn't have to know.

It is, of course, a very reliable percentage of cases that the matter seriously enough to follow a doctor's advice and follow the advice long enough to lose a considerable amount of weight.

They are unwilling to stay on a diet, and failure is because after a short time the patient wears them and the rapidly shows a return to the larger figures than in the beginning.

As common a cause of failure in reducing as lack of stickiness or lack of intelligence. One to reduce intelligently you have to study the caloric value of foods. You do not have to know the calories, but you have to know them in a general way.

It is not to lose fat, not mustn't lose strength. So take exercise and take daily production on orange juice alone healthy.

Attitude... Relax to Gain Extra Pounds

By ALICE WADE ROBINSON

"Beanpole," "string bean," "scarecrow," rightly are fighting words to those of you who cannot seem to add weight. I shall not ask you to turn the other cheek when you hear such taunts tossed at you in your smart new evening gown. Instead, let's try out this quaint of ideas to woo those elusive pounds:

I.—Hygiene

Give up being heroic by taking a cold shower every morning. Copy the self-indulgence of the pump; go in for bath-dawdling in warm, sudsy water at night when you can take all the time in the world for it. Grow drowsy in the moist fragrant warm air of the bathroom. So drowsy that you will go to sleep as soon as you touch the pillow. And every other night get nine hours sleep—more over the weekend.

II.—Attitude

Forget you are gaunt. See yourself the richer by 10 pounds. Keep that goal before you—and before you are through, you may have to reduce a bit. It's physically true that once you start to gain the margin of five pounds, it's easier to gain five more.

III.—DISPOSITION

Be merrier. Easier to live with. And give up telling everybody how lean you are. It's embarrassing and boring when other folk cannot flatter you by denying your scrawliness. Eat more slowly. Masticate your food well but slowly. That way it will not be burned up so swiftly. It will build you up. Incidentally, it will also make you less edgy.

IV.—HOBBIES

Take to non-competitive sports: walking for fun with a friend who likes to stroll rather than to sprint; figure skating as against speed skating; snow shoeing rather than skiing; croquet with easy-minded players; swimming breast stroke or upon the back or floating as against the Australian crawl. Indoors, take your mind off yourself by collecting stamps, by becoming an amateur painter or sculptor or by writing (almost everyone knows she has something to say if only she had the time). Slow down. Adopt a leisurely tempo—so the ounces that tentatively consider coming will take the plunge. Slow down again—so that these flirtations ounces will become steady pounds.

An Art... Favoring the Good Listener

By CAROLINE CHATFIELD

But you never read an article on How to Be Popular, or on How to Cultivate the Pleasant Personality, or on How to Make Friends, that didn't include a line or two on the value of listening. Listening is a little art that few of us master because it takes so many of our powers.

Another thing that trips us: our ears, as our eyes, take in only what is of interest to us and we must have versatile interests to see all, or hear all. If we know nothing about the other fellow's specialty, it's a terrible strain to listen to his lecture. Or, if his specialty happens to be our own, in our eagerness we frequently think we know more about it than our would-be-informant and we can't wait to get in our bit of superior knowledge.

But—have you ever thought about attentive listening as a device for softening criticism, for answering complaints, for getting the best of your adversary and for selling your bill of goods? If you are a woman, it's probably out of the question to try the experiment. But I know several gals who are adept at it.

The manager of a sizeable business who employs a great many young people and therefore expects beseechments from every side, on every subject, says "I from long experience he has discovered the listening ear is the answer to most questions. Somebody comes in his office with a complaint. He listens. The storm of talk is over. He looks and listens. The complaints are repeated in a much milder form. He looks and listens and still says nothing. After which the visitor continues to talk from sheer embarrassment and finally bows himself out, glad to get away.

A man who is known in his city as a topnotch salesman says that his only claim to success is a listening ear. He goes in to the customer, states his case and in this way leaves the man to talk while he, the salesman, listens and listens and listens. "The still tongue makes a wise head." Add to this the listening ear and the combination is unbeatable.

Women Workers to Stay on Job

LONDON (CP)—Women engaged in work of national importance are not generally allowed to volunteer for the Women's Auxiliary Territorial Service or similar auxiliary services. "There is a special schedule for women engaged on work of national importance," a labor ministry official said, "and in many branches women are not allowed to volunteer for women's forces. It would generally disorganize labor if they were permitted to quit their employment at will."

Opportunity... Taking School to the Home Shut-ins

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

While lecturing in Iowa I learned about a new venture in public education. In that state the school goes to children who can't go to school. A child in Iowa, with bones broken by accident, limbs withered by infantile paralysis, or a heart that is crippled, is able to use his head but not his entire body for weeks, months or years, can have the classroom come to him. It would come over a leased-wire hookup. This happens in at least 16 school districts.

A boxlike instrument resembling a radio set is placed in the child's room. Another just like it is on the teacher's desk.

While in his bed or chair at home the shut-in child recites at school. The teacher says "Good Morning." He answers them "Good Morning." The child feels himself a part of the class. He can ask questions of the teacher or answer questions which she asks. While he is at home his voice can be in the classroom. While the teacher and pupils are in the classroom their voice can be in the absent pupil's home.

British Explorer's Mother Is Used to Waiting for Letter

DALLINGTON, England (CP)—When you fail to receive that weekly letter from your absent son or husband consider the plight of Mrs. T. E. Manning, whose son wanders off for a couple of years at a time to places where mail is considered annually.

Mrs. Manning is the mother of Thomas Manning, 29-year-old Harrow and Cambridge explorer whom she last saw five years ago. But lack of mail, or other word from him does not cause her undue worry.

In a matter-of-fact voice Mrs. Manning told of strange experiences and of narrow escapes of her son; how he had spent time in a Soviet jail for trespassing on Russian territory during Arctic exploration; how he had fought with wolves and trapped in an open whaleboat in Northern ice.

Do You Know? War Certificates Are Federal Debt; Sound Investment

"What are War Savings Certificates?" "Who can buy War Savings Certificates?" These are two questions which have been directed many times in the past month to members of the Nelson War Savings Committee. To answer them Aid. E. A. Mann, Chairman, prepared the following:

They are the safest investment you can make—a direct obligation of the Dominion of Canada. Sold in convenient denominations—$3 to $500—they provide a good return of 3 per cent interest compounded half-yearly. War Savings Certificates are repayable 7 1/2 years after issue, but may be redeemed after six months from issue date at an established scale of values. The holder is completely protected as War Savings Certificates are fully registered.

Who can buy War Savings Certificates? Any individual, whether adult or child, as well as non-profit-making organizations, may become a registered owner of War Savings Certificates. Non-profit-making organizations are defined as follows: "Incorporated or unincorporated bodies organized for the purpose of carrying on, without pecuniary gain to their members, objects of a national, municipal, patriotic, religious, educational, charitable, professional, social or sporting character or the like including service clubs, labor and fraternal organizations, excepting those acting primarily as insurance or benefit societies."

Kimberley Recruit Tells of Desires for Canadian Victuals

VANCOUVER, March 2 (CP)—Vancouver Business Girls' Club organized last Saturday by 200 office workers to collect funds for cigarettes for Canadian soldiers overseas, decided their efforts were being crowned by success as letters of thanks came back from recipients of their gifts.

Typical was the letter of Gunner R. M. Hatfield of an artillery unit recruited around Kimberley, B. C. He wrote to Miss Eleanor Young, Vancouver badminton and tennis star:

"When we first came over we talked of Canadian scenery and Canadian girls but now we talk of Canadian food. You should hear us grow lyrical about good things to eat—impossible to get here—such as venison, salmon, trout, partridge, fresh crab, oysters. Others which we can no longer buy are eggs, butter, canned cream, figs, raisins, oranges, dates, and peanut butter, an unheard of, so is a real breakfast. "English cigarettes are prohibitive in price which emphasizes our gratitude for parcels from home."

Many Attempts Made on Life of Dashing, Courageous King Alfonso

By Associated Press

Personal courage, made plain when numerous attempts were made to assassinate him, plus unyielding insistence on his royal prerogative, marked Alfonso XIII both as ruler of Spain and as an exile.

Alfonso played the role of King in the dashing, courageous style calculated to appeal to the volatile temperament of his people. He worked hard and played hard and always insisted upon getting some sort of exercise every day, if only setting-up routines in his room.

As a small boy he learned polo, the super-handball game of the Basques and one of the most strenuous sports known, but in later years gave it up for polo, motor racing, tennis, yachting, shooting and swimming. He found golf too placid.

He was fond of dancing and on his incognito visits to London, Paris and other social centres, which he made once or twice a year, he took pains to learn the latest steps.

He enjoyed bullfights and on the first Sunday after his wedding took his bride to a gala fight in the great Madrid ring. Once as a child he slipped off to the Royal stable yard and played bullfighting with a small calf, to the amusement of the attendants but the great indignation of his mother.

And once as a man he faced a real bull and had a narrow escape from injury. He was watching bulls being tried out in the ring of one of the great ranches where the animals make rope trained, and suddenly leaped into the arena, waving his cloak. He dodged the first charge of the beast by an inch, but the animal wheeled, bellowed and charged again. A rifle cracked and the ball fell, a bullet in his brain, almost at the King's feet. The trainer, whose marksmanship saved Alfonso, wore afterwards a fine diamond ring.

'KING' ARRESTED FOR SPEEDING Motoring was a favorite pastime and he had a mania for speed. At his seven palaces he kept upwards of 40 of the fastest cars built and he loved to drive them himself at breakneck speed. The royal stable yard is a good roads advocate and late in his reign there was completed a system of modern highways over much of Spain.

Once, when driving 60 miles an hour, he was halted by a new rural traffic policeman.

"You mustn't drive so fast. Only the King may do that on this road," said the officer.

"I am the King," said Alfonso smiling.

"That's funny," retorted the policeman. "There are seven other Kings at the police station where you are going, and all of them were driving as fast as you."

Alfonso, enjoying the affair hugely, went meekly to the officer, established his identity and ordered the release of the other "Kings" on another occasion, while motoring alone, he came upon a peasant whose cart was in a ditch and helped the man pull it out. They sat by the roadside and talked and the peasant expressed a strong dislike for Kings. He said Spain needed somebody to help her out of the ditch, just as he had been aided.

November 7, 1908—Cartridges exploded near the Royal pew in the Church of San Pedro, Madrid, while the King was attending services.

July 8, 1908—A bomb was hurled at the King in Barcelona. He had been advised not to visit that hotbed of anti-monarchical elements, but had replied: "I am the King of all Spain; when I become afraid to visit any part of my country, it will be time for me to quit."

January 8, 1911—Explosion of a bomb in a crowd surrounding the King at Malaga killed and wounded a number of persons, but Alfonso was unharmed.

The pallbearer is so called from the fact that originally he was required to hold up the corners and edges of the pall covering the coffin. The word "pall" is derived from the Latin pallium meaning a coverlet. It occurs in the English language as early as about 1440.

Would Put More B.C. Shops to Work

Howard C. Green, M.P. for Vancouver South, and a son of S. H. Green of Kaslo, is putting up a great fight at Ottawa for recognition of British Columbia's potentialities as a producer of munitions. The following is from Hansard of Feb. 21:

Mr. Green: Will the minister tell us what is in British Columbia?

Mr. Howe: A good deal of war work is being done there. There is a large chemical industry at Trail, put there at government expense. There are large buildings because power is available there.

Mr. Cruickshank: Does the minister say there is a shortage of power there?

Mr. Howe: No.

Mr. Green: I was referring to the question of power in British Columbia.

Mr. Howe: There is power there, it is true, but there is no steel. Steel has to be brought from a great distance and some types of manufacturing will not stand the cost of transporting steel back and forth across the Rocky Mountains.

Mr. Green: Does the minister think it is fair that the manufacturing industry of British Columbia should be penalized by that fact? Are we to be prevented from taking part in the manufacturing of war equipment because we are so far away?

The situation is no laughing matter for the Pacific coast. I should like the minister to confirm the impression he left a minute ago, that the reason we are not getting more plants at the coast is that we are so far away and that it costs too much to transport the steel. He told me last November that it was lack of power. I want to know what the reason is so that something can be done to remedy the situation in our province.

Mr. Howe: We are establishing in the hon. member's province the type of work the province is best able to do. We put in a great deal of machine tool work. Every machine shop in British Columbia is at present engaged in the making of lathes, shapers and machine tools. That is a type of work that does not involve the transportation of heavy steel back and forth. We are building a large plant for naval guns.

Mr. Green: Certain work could be divided up among small plants. I am told that this could be done at the coast, that one plant could do a certain job, another plant could do another job and then the product could be assembled. It might prove considerably cheaper to do it that way than to erect these huge plants. I am asking the minister to take this under consideration. Perhaps at the moment he cannot let us know what can be done, but I feel confident that if this change were made he would get rid of many of his problems.

Mr. Howe: I know of no small plant which has not more business than it can do at the moment. The smaller plants take subcontracts from the larger plants. Our aircraft industry is concentrated in seven or eight large centres, but the work is spread out in practically every town and village in the country. Almost every smaller machine shop can get all the work it wants to do.

Mr. Green: The minister told the committee that all these plants were working to capacity. I know that some machine shops in Vancouver are not working to capacity, even on an eight-hour shift, let alone on two or three shifts.

Questions If Live Bait Detrimental to Fishing

To the Editor:
Sir—In today's issue of Nelson Daily News I see an article about fishing regulations for 1941. The paragraph on ground baiting is all to the good as that kind of practice is very unsportsmanlike.

Mr. Robinson is credited with stating that the use of live bait has resulted in the waters being infested with undesirable minnows and coarse fish.

I should like Mr. Robinson to qualify that statement. The minnows and coarse fish referred to are natural denizens of the river and I venture to challenge Mr. Robinson to prove that live bait fishing has any effect on their numbers.

Harris Writes on Plight of Farmer

To the Editor of The Nelson Daily News:
Sir—"A farmer writes to his son."
Under this heading on Page 20 of its March 1st issue, Maclean's Magazine publishes a most illuminating article on the desperate plight of the Canadian farmer. It simply sets forth the ghastly truth about Canada's leading industry without any fuss or cheap sob stuff.

No particular province or locality is hinted at. It states what is happening throughout Canada; it would apply equally to farming in the U. S. A. Possibly conditions in the Southern States might be a little worse, I gather, after listening in to a very interesting discussion from America's Town Hall program on the Southern States.

Our legislators throughout this continent have been tinkering with the farming problems for well over a century. High tariff, low tariff, bonuses, unlimited advice, and sob stuff, crop reductions, crop expansions, quotas and statistics. Final result, continent wide. A busted and disheartened farm population, with "The White Man" steadily quitting.

What is Canada's future if this rapid deterioration of our population continues? With the desperate sons and daughters of our farmers crowding into our cities, will the feeble barriers raised by our trades unionists hold? There are so many effective ways of lowering wages under competition, and the "iron law of wages" must prevail.

We have boasted about our liberty on this continent and now, if that enormous statue to Liberty, which dignifies the approach to New York, were able to turn around and face West, instead of East, I think that she would also raise her right hand and gently place the tip of her thumb to the tip of her nose and remark in a voice that could be heard across the continent at least: "You Americans have placed me before DUTY. You have richly deserved the plight that you are in. Turn honest. Make every citizen do useful work and pay for work done. Then I will remove my thumb from my nose and we all will have grand times together."

SOUTHERN HIGHWAY IS THE MOST IMPORTANT

At last there seems to be some prospect of the main highway through this district being greatly improved early this year. It is the hope that sufficient money will be spent on it to enable us to advertise the fact that there is now a standard highway from Yahk West to the Kootenay Lake points and thus remove the stigma and unfavorable publicity the "Kitchen" Road has received for many years past.

According to a dispatch from Victoria two million dollars will be spent on the Provincial highway system and the Trans-Canada Highway and that the Nelson-Yahk portion of the Southern highway will receive its share. We appreciate what the Government has done to the highway between here and Kitchener of late, and it is only natural that we in this district are concerned with expenditures on the Trans-Canada Highway. While we do not wish to take a selfish attitude it does seem, as has been stated on previous occasions, that with the short season the Trans-Canada Highway is open for travel all efforts should be concentrated on Southern highway construction and only the minimum amount of money spent on the Northern road. The Southern part of the Province is where the population is greatest, and not only that, many tourists from the United States do not have sufficient time at their disposal to take extended trips into the central and Northern parts of the Province. So does it not appear logical that the Southern highway should be fully constructed immediately and all efforts bent towards that end?

FUTURE TOURISTS

For centuries to come Londoners will lead foreign visitors down Fleet Street to the city. "Here on the right was the Temple. Here was St. Bride's, whose spire was called 'a madrigal in stone'. Here was the medieval Guildhall, here once stood the house of Samuel Johnson. Over there was St. Paul's."

Not too sure of their history, the visitors will ask: "Let's see—when were these things destroyed? Was it Attila, the Vandals, the Great Fire, the Conqueror, or perhaps Bonaparte who wrecked them?" No, a worse scourge than any of these, the Londoner will be compelled to answer.—New York Sun.

FURTHER IMPROVEMENT TO BAD BIT OF HIGHWAY

The announcement that the Government intends to spend ten times last year's $5000 on reconstruction of the Trans-Canada Highway between Cache Creek and Kamloops is good news, for it indicates substantial progress will be made, as it was in 1938 and 1939, in eliminating the stretch of road that takes all the pleasure out of the Kamloops-Vancouver drive.—Kamloops Sentinel.

Smoke Eaters Close League by Beating Leafs in Overtime

by Marshall Scores Twice in Overtime to Give Trail 6-5 Win; Leafs Caught Twice by Late Trail Rallies

Somebody got his signals crossed, and Trail Smoke Eaters and Nelson Leafs put on a show when Nelson Saturday night more like a real contest than a final League game that had no bearing at all on the standings.

After a bruising in-and-out game, the Smoke Eaters put on one of their extra-special finishes and came out with a 6-5 overtime victory over the Leafs. Trail had the lead three times during the game and Nelson, in the odd time turned the victory over to Trail, and gave the Leafs their series with the Leafs six wins to four. Two other games ended in ties.

Trail took a 1-0 lead in the first period when Cronie and Buckna came from a Nelson power play. Leafs, scoring four goals, three from Trail men grazing the ally bench, swung into high gear in the second period, and led 4-1 at the end. The most noteworthy reversal that came was the 1-0 goal for Buddy Hammond in the home out of retirement in game six.

Trail's fierce gangling attacks had the Leafs on the ropes in the third period. Halfway through Buckna figured in two scoring plays 50 seconds apart to tie the game up once more. Buckna was Christensen's per on the first one, and then he climaxed a three-way play with Dams and Cronie.

Over time Algar scored on a power play to put Leafs behind in the dying minutes. Bob Scodellaro beat Seaby twice to bring the tie to the front once again. Algie Mann was the highest pointer of the night with four assists; his fellow-winger, Bus Algar, had three goals; and Kilpatrick, defenseman, scored once and had two assists. Buckna led Trail with two goals and an assist. Bobby Scodellaro, defenseman, had two goals and an assist. Bobby Scodellaro, defenseman, had two goals and an assist.

Scodellaro's pass inside the Trail blue line was intercepted by Cronie who broke away with Buckna. Bothman was the only Nelson man able to scramble back, but Cronie drew him over nicely, and laid the puck on Buckna's stick. Mike went in close and fired behind Seaby's pads for the first goal.

Trail seemed on another great evening when Haight drew Seaby and passed over to Hedley Marshall, but the Smoke missed the completely. Then Sturk passed a good one when he took Proulx out, but before he could get a shot away, Scodellaro stabbed at with his stick and cleared the net.

Just after Christensen had got into action after serving an eight-second penalty for missing Seaby, Jack Kilpatrick passed a pass to Mann and at a low one into the open net. Scodellaro elsewhere.

That tied the score, but two minutes later Haight soloed down right wing and drilled a hard one past Seaby. The goal judge hesitated as he held up his hand, and play went on for several seconds before Seaby smothered the puck on another Smoke Eater try. Then it was discovered that the puck had slipped through a hole in the side of the net, and Haight's scoring shot was allowed.

Haight boarded Proulx in front of the Nelson players' box just as play was resumed, and while he was off, the Leafs tied the score. Algar accepted the puck from Kilpatrick, and deposited the puck into the net.

Trail kept going on pressure, and was rewarded 80 seconds later, when Buckna was left completely unchecked in front of Seaby, and Mike accepted a double relay from Dams and Cronie to square the numerical once again.

With less than three minutes to go in regulation time, Bothman got a nod to the hoosegow for tripping Hedley Marshall, but the Leafs held on again.

After 30 seconds of the overtime period, Hedley Marshall scored the winning goal.

Trail's victory was a real one, and it seems virtually impossible to stave them off. It's amazing the number of games they have pulled out of the fire with Frank Merriwell finishes, and Saturday night's, of course, was no exception.

It was Bunny Dams's twelfth straight game in which he has got a point, easily the longest streak for any player in the League this season. During this stretch, last year's scoring champion picked up nine goals and 13 assists for 22 points.

This is the second straight season that the Smoke Eaters have carried an unbeaten streak into the playoffs. Their current streak now has reached eight straight. Last Spring it was extended to 19 before the Leafs turned in a win midway through the final playoff series.

Kimberley Juves Capture Kootenay Hockey Crown

Nelson Beaten on Terrible Ice 3-2 to Lose Total-Goal Series 8-7; Hystead Sets Up Winning Goal With Kuhn in Hoosegow

KIMBERLEY, B. C., March 2—Kimberley Juves captured the Kootenay Hockey crown with a 4-3 victory that gave them a two-game total-goal series by an 8-7 score for the Kootenay Juvenile hockey title. The two teams played a 5-5 draw in the first game Friday night.

The ice for tonight's game was heavy, water showing in numerous spots and it was impossible for either team to rely on a passing attack. Both teams resorted to shooting the puck into the other's defensive zone and tearing in after it in an attempt to set up a play for a goal.

The Spitfires camped on the trail of Lemmie Hystead who sniped four of Kimberley's five goals in the Friday night encounter, and although they made a good job of tagging the Elk net, he set up the play for the winning goal. The final score of 3-2 prevailed at the end of the second period, and the Spitfires tossed plenty of power at the Elks in the final period, but the East Kootenay club turned in a smart defensive game to hold the Spitfires out and win the hard-fought contest.

The Spitfires threatened throughout the entire third period but the Elks, sparked by Leith, covered up well to keep the West Kootenay club from coming through with the tying marker.

And any man who can take a horse which has been kicked around from pillar to post and which was bought for a mere $1000—and see him win the richest horse race in the world—be's the lucky one.

Charlie (Lucky) Howard, San Francisco automobile magnate, saw his crack Mioland beaten by Peller's unsung, unnoticed and previously unsought after Bay View in the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap Saturday.

In 1937 Howard's Seabiscuit, the hottest thing in the betting ring, was beaten by a head in the "Hundred Grand" by Rosemont.

In 1938 Seabiscuit again lost by a head—this time to Staghound, and Saturday it was Mioland, by a neck. The winner's share of $50,000 of the big purse, and the glory, went to Bay View.

Bay View took a quick lead, held it against 15 of the toughest rivals in the handicap division and then ran the favored Mioland into the ground in the last furlong.

He paid off at the largest price in the handicap record—$115.00, $26.20 and $9.80. Mioland paid $3 and $2.50. and Bollingbrook, a rank outsider, finished third to pay $6.40. The great Chalcedon finished 14th.

Nelson at Trail in Junior Hockey Contest Tonight

Nelson Juniors, promising the score will be much closer than it was in the teams' first meeting in Nelson a couple of weeks ago, will play a return game in a series with Trail tonight in the Smelter City contest. The score in the opener was 6-0.

The Nelsonites will be considerably stronger than they were in the first game, although they will be without the services of Stan Morris, defenseman who was injured in that game.

The defence, in front of Earl Jorgenson in goal, will be Jack Arpke, Stuart Peterson and Cliff Wanless. The forward lines have been revamped, with George Milne pivoting one string, and Don Porteous, who has just returned from the Coast, centering the other. Art Matheson will play right wing and Ernie DeJong left wing with Milne, while Porteous will be flanked by Jack Young and Carl Locatelli.

Seaby Had Best Goal Record in Alberta Hockey

In a recent column in the Calgary Herald, Bob Mann reviews the Alberta Senior Hockey League season in brief, as follows:

The sharpshooting eyes of Eddie Oakes, Dick Cairns, Cam Burke, and Ken Stewart, on many teams helped the Alberta senior clubs to score in almost every game they played.

King of the goaltenders in both goals scored per game and shutouts, was Rice-Jones. The Stampeders were blanked once at Lethbridge and were held to lone tallies on four occasions, twice at Edmonton, once at Lethbridge when they whipped the Valley 1-0, and once at Calgary playing the Flyers.

The greatest exhibition of shutout goaltending seen in the league was not by any Alberta goalie. The longest stretch of shutouts was the act put on by Jesse Seaby of Nelson Maple Leafs, who went a total of 13 minutes and 34 seconds without being interrupted by the flash of red light over his shoulder. That occurred on Jan. 29, 1940, when he blanked the Calgary Tigers 1-0.

Penalty: Magliani. Lineups: Kimberley—Allen Bell goal; Bill Muir, Wannie Swann, defense; Edgar Lindsay, Mike Dietrich, Hugh Lewis, Louis Albertson, Bill Leith, Arnold O'Leary, Stan Memrows, Larry Musser, George Smith.

Trail Young Smokies tallied a 21-5 score in a two-game final series by defeating the Kimberley Midgets 10-5 in the second game at the Trail rink Saturday night to win the Kootenay Midget hockey championship. Scores in the first game Friday night was 11-0 for Trail.

LONDON HAS 489 ALARMS SINCE START OF WAR

LONDON, March 2 (CP) — German planes flew up the Thames estuary today apparently trying to reach London, but they were driven off by anti-aircraft fire before they could reach the capital. London had 31 air raid warnings totalling 44 hours in duration during February, as compared with 41 alerts totalling 81 hours in January. Since the beginning of the war the capital has had 489 alarms aggregating 1312 hours, or nearly 55 days. Thick mists and high winds over the English Channel kept air attack to a minimum last night. Some bombs were dropped in the home counties around London and in East Anglia, causing a few casualties. London had an alarm soon after dark but the all clear was sounded before midnight.

Predicts Shipyards to Be Working 24 Hour Shift Soon

VANCOUVER, March 2 (CP) — The time is coming when British Columbia's shipyards will be working 24 hours a day with war orders, W. C. Woodward, executive assistant to Munitions Minister Howe, predicted yesterday when he arrived here from Ottawa for a two-week visit. Mr. Woodward said British Columbia ranks third in the volume of war orders placed by the Dominion, and urged that the Province appoint a technical expert who would serve as liaison officer in Ottawa, advising the Federal Government of the wartime tasks that can be handled best by British Columbia industries. He also disclosed that a British Columbia plant is being given a $2,000,000 order for a type of machine tool formerly made in England and never before manufactured here.

Fighting Services Agree to Reduce Their Food Ration

LONDON, March 2 (CP) — The Food Ministry announced yesterday that the three fighting services had agreed to reduce the rations of soldiers, sailors and airmen "as a contribution to the national food and shipping situation." The food reductions automatically apply to Canadian troops stationed in the United Kingdom.

Flying Boat Crew Act as Ballast to Prevent Capsizing

LONDON, March 2 (CP) — The Air Ministry News Service told yesterday how crewmen of a big Sunderland flying boat acted as human ballast to keep the plane from capsizing when it alighted at sea after a bombing trip to Norway. The airmen attacked German barracks, a truck convoy and a parade of goose-stepping Nazis, they said, but were forced down at sea en route home. To balance the damaged plane, the crew climbed out on one wing while the pilot taxied six miles through choppy snowswept waters until rescued by a Royal Air Force launch and Home Guardmen.

LONDON (CP) — London evacuee children have learned how to milk cows, repair shoes, make baskets, and have converted a village forge into a handicraft centre.

CONTRACT ...

By Shepard Barclay

DON'T FOOL YOUR MATE
JUST BECAUSE your hand is bad, and you don't expect to take any tricks against the declarer, is no excuse for playing your cards carelessly. In a spot like that, you should bear in mind that your partner may have cards which will defeat the contract if he plays them to the best advantage. Your job then is to help him play them right, by giving him correct information about your own hand, thus, by indirection, telling him something about the cards held by the declarer. The only time you can safely false-card all over the place is when you are sure you hold the only important cards yourself, and can therefore mislead the declarer to the limit without worrying about your partner.

only one remote chance to make the contract—to lure his opponents into a very terrible combination of defensive mistakes, since the diamond lead made it very likely East had the Q. If he could only make East take his club A on a first round of that suit, and then lead a diamond, he would be home safely.

So South won the diamond 7 with the A, playing the 4 from his own hand, and immediately led the club 8. East studied the situation. He decided South might well have a singleton club, so played his A. Analyzing the diamonds, he saw that the 7 led by his partner must be either a singleton or a fourth-best, in which event he would have to hold also the J, 10 and 9. So he returned his diamond 2. That gave South his contract. If West had led the diamond 9, East would have played differently, and would have beaten the contract postively.

King Returns U. S. Gesture by Greeting New Envoy at Station

LONDON, March 2 (CP) — With a warm "I'm glad to welcome you," the King greeted John Winant, the new United States Ambassador Saturday on a windy railroad station platform between Bristol and London. Wearing the uniform of a field marshal, the King reached for Mr. Winant's hand and turned them to greet Benjamin Cohen, the envoy's assistant. The King's gesture was described by diplomatic sources as reciprocation for the reception President Roosevelt gave Viscount Halifax, British Ambassador in Washington.

BRITISH TAKE 9000 ITALIAN PRISONERS

CAIRO, Egypt, March 2 (AP) — British General Headquarters announced today 9000 prisoners had been taken in the British offensive in Italian Somaliland. The daily communique also announced British occupation of Bardera, an important road junction 130 miles North of Galla and on the Juba River. As for Libya, Eritrea and Ethiopia, the communique said, there was "nothing of importance to report."

Urges Gov't Consider Existing Tax Set-Up

TORONTO, March 2 (CP) — James S. Duncan, President of the Toronto Board of Trade and former Deputy Defence Minister for Air, said in an address here Friday night that speaking as an industrialist he would urge the Federal Government to consider that taxation might defeat its purpose by weakening the economic structure of the nation. Mr. Duncan was speaking in appreciation of an address delivered by C. Fraser Elliott of Ottawa, Dominion Commissioner of Income Tax, at the annual banquet of the Institute of Chartered Accountants of Ontario. Mr. Elliott described the existing tax set up and said war and taxes are the main topics of conversation at the present time.
