Four Nazi Planes Downed in Raids

Nazi Bombers Damage Old British Ship in Raids on Navy; Seen on Coast

Six and Possibly Nine German Bombers Are Brought Down in Two Days of Attacks; Churchill Says 13 U-Boats Sunk

By J. F. SANDERSON

LONDON, Oct. 17 (CP Cable).—Two German warplanes were destroyed and another damaged when the Nazi fleet struck twice today, at Scapa Flow, the British naval base on the Orkney Islands, North of Scotland.

Two more were brought down by Royal Air Force fighters in an unsuccessful attack upon an unnamed part of the East coast.

A certain amount of damage was done to the gallant old ship Iron Duke, Jellicoe's flagship at Jutland and now used as a training vessel at the heavily-defended Scapa Flow base of the North Sea fleet. But otherwise the German attacks were unsuccessful.

German aircraft were reported intermittently along the East coast of England and Scotland, touching off air raid sirens in many towns and villages.

In the first air raid four Nazi bombers swept over Scapa Flow and dropped two bombs near the Iron Duke. There were no British casualties. Prime Minister Chamberlain later told the House of Commons "one (German) aircraft was shot down in flames by the fire of either ship or shore guns and another was probably damaged."

MORE ATTACKS

Two hours later six bombers attacked the Orkneys and another two hours later four other bombers were sighted. The Admiralty announced "no damage was done and no casualties were sustained. One German aircraft is reported to have been destroyed."

It was the second successive day the German air force struck at British naval depots. Yesterday 12 or 14 planes made a series of raids on the Firth of Forth inflicting superficial damage on the cruisers Southampton and Edinburgh and the destroyer Mohawk but each of these ships is ready to take to sea again.

Seventeen naval men were killed in yesterday's attacks and 43 were injured.

SIX BOMBERS LOST

Net result of the raids on the two naval stations was loss of at least six and perhaps nine German bombers with negligible damage to three British warships. And the attack upon the East coast late today cost the Germans two more aircraft while the British fighters returned safely to their bases. The crew of one of the German planes was rescued.

The Iron Duke which was damaged most of the three ships is a demilitarized battleship, a toothless veteran ending its memorable career shorn of armor and guns.

ALARMS SOUNDED

Air raid alarms sounded over a broad coastal area shortly after the Scapa Flow attack. Warnings were sounded as far North as the Firth of Forth area around Edinburgh and as close to London as the Chatham naval base, only 20 miles down the Thames.

During the morning the vessel St. Olga was attacked near the Scapa Flow area of the Orkneys but not hit. German airplanes also were reported to have dropped bombs near a Belgian trawler between the mainland of Scotland and the Orkneys but the trawler was not hit.

PAYS TRIBUTE

Winston Churchill paid ready tribute in the House of Commons to the Germans for their courage, but quickly made it clear the Allies had achieved more than their share of victories against the enemy forces.

After admitting that U-boat warfare, which for a fortnight had been vainly directed against neutrals, was again making inroads on British and French shipping, Mr. Churchill continued:

"On Friday last, for instance, four U-boats were certainly destroyed, including two of the largest ocean-going U-boats in the German navy. Nothing like this rate of destruction was attained at any moment in the last war.

"* In the sixth week of the war, seven U-boats were sunk. If we look back over the whole period of six weeks since the war has begun, we may estimate that 13 U-boats have been sunk, that five have been seriously damaged and possibly sunk, and several others damaged. These figures are probably an understatement.

"Besides this, two-thirds of the U-boats which have been out raiding have suffered attack from depth charges."

He estimated something from a third to a quarter of the total U-boat fleet of 60 has been destroyed, and the gaps made in skilled officers and crews cannot be speedily replaced. On the other hand the British mercantile marine of 21,000,000 tons had lost 156,000 tons by U-boat action, to which may be added 18,000 tons by mines or accidents—a total of 174,000 tons.

During the same period the Allies captured 29,000 tons and have been "freshed" by arrival of new ships amounting to 104,000 tons.

"It will be seen therefore that while our merchantile marine remains practically unaffected by the U-boat warfare, losses have been inflicted upon the enemy which, if continued, could certainly not be endured."

Prime Minister Chamberlain, explaining in the commons the failure to sound the air raid alarms yesterday—a fact strongly criticized by the Edinburgh Press—said:

"As the attack was local and appeared to be developing only on a small scale, and as four defences were fully ready, it was not considered appropriate in this particular instance to issue an air raid warning, which would have caused dislocation and inconvenience over a wide area."

The ministry announced warnings in the Lincolnshire and Yorkshire regions followed reports from observation units that enemy reconnaissance planes had been sighted. One of these German scouts was pursued out to sea by British fighting craft.

SEEK SUBSCRIPTIONS FOR NEW DESTROYER

PORT ELIZABETH, South Africa, Oct. 17 (CP.-Reuters) — The Mayor of Port Elizabeth today sent letters to 18 Municipalities, asking for cooperation of all local authorities in raising subscriptions for a new destroyer to be known as "South Africa." The sum of £300,000 is being sought.

GERMANS CLAIM RAIDS TO BREAK UP RESISTANCE

Blows at Sea Power to Make British Weary of War

By MELVIN K. WHITELEATHER

BERLIN, Oct. 17 (AP)—German raids on the important British naval base at Scapa Flow—by warplanes today and by submarine Saturday—were described by German officials tonight as part of a lightning campaign to break British resistance.

The German news agency said that German raiders in the attack on Scapa Flow today bombed a battleship, shot down a plane and escaped from heavy fire with the loss of one machine.

The D.N.B. announcement read: "On Oct. 17 German air force units advanced to Scapa Flow. Vessels of the British battle fleet lying in the harbor were attacked with success. Among others a battleship was struck by bombs of heavy and medium calibre.

"In the air battle which followed one enemy pursuit plane was shot down by four bombers. Despite the heavy enemy anti-aircraft fire all German planes with the exception of one machine, managed to return undamaged to their home harbors."

Frequent hammering at British sea power, informed quarters said, is felt by German leaders to be the most effective means of making British weary of the war.

PLAN CONFERENCE

On the diplomatic front the commentary Dienst aus Deutschland said a railway conference among Germany, Soviet Russia and the Baltic States would be held soon in order to reorganize transportation facilities in Eastern Europe.

"After a week or 10 days of this uninterrupted attacking Britain will see what is left of her fleet," said one highly-placed official.

Newspaper headlines said "England's prestige is hard hit" and "Germany has taught England it no longer is an island."

Officials stressed what they termed Great Britain's inability to cope with German submarines and planes They pointed out that only two German submarines succeeded in entering Scapa Flow Bay during the first Great war.

Germans found further cause for rejoicing in a high command claim that "five enemy planes, among which were two British", had been shot down and that French troops had withdrawn from the "greatest part of German territory" on the Western front.

(French dispatches asserted a stiff Nazi offensive had been halted by French fire in the Saar River Region).

A sailors' song of the last war, "When We Sail for England", was being popularized again and played over the radio after each news broadcast.

REPUBLICANS ENDORSE TAFT FOR NOMINATION

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 17 (AP).—Ohio's Republican State Central Committee today unanimously endorsed Senator Robert A. Taft for the Republican Presidential nomination.

Nazi Armies Reported Massing for Lightning Attack

Convinced his peace offensive has failed, Hitler is reported to have massed 300,000 to 500,000 German troops at each of four strategic points for a lightning attack on France. Arrows indicate expected lines of attack. The first field army headquarters is at Cologne (A); the second at Coblenz (B); the third at Bingen (C), where it is believed Hitler and Goering will take command; and the fourth at Stuttgart (D). Cross-hatched area is that seized by the Allies to date. Stippled portion indicates area into which Germany is pouring reinforcements from the Eastern front.

Nazis Halted Western Front

Fierce French Fire Blocks Push

By ROY PORTER

PARIS, Oct. 17 (AP)—The French general staff reported tonight there were "sharp infantry engagements at certain points" and "local activity on the whole (Western) front," although the fighting failed to bring any change in positions.

The communique added that "a German merchant ship had been captured by our Atlantic patrol," but gave no details.

Reference to infantry fighting was taken by military observers to mean that small groups of both French and German troops were continuing activity of purely localized character following the French repulse of two German attacks yesterday.

Military informants said the first French lines of defence, supported by artillery from the rear, caused the Germans to halt their localized thrusts abruptly.

Fierce, constant fire, it was said, held the Germans back so that they could not get near enough to toss hand grenades. The only thing left for the Germans to do, the French said, was to dig in and wait for new orders.

The general staff's assertion that the front remained without change would establish the German lines at the same place where fighting ended late Monday, observers said.

These positions were known in at least one sector where the French said the Germans were forced to retire North of the Lorraine village of Apach after penetrating into French territory. Authorities said the fighting was the bitterest of the war.

EXACT HEAVY TOLL

The French claimed to have exacted a heavy toll among the German forces as waves of Nazi infantry struck out in the twilight yesterday across No-Man's land.

French advance guards sent rockets hissing skyward to warn the main line of defence to the rear of the attack. Then the French artillery opened fire on advancing German divisions while the French allied advance guard slowly retired. Fire from the second lines of defence over the heads of the advance guard halted the attack. French reports declared.

BROCKINGTON IS RETIRING, C.B.C.

OTTAWA, Oct. 17 (CP).—Retirement of L. W. Brockington, Winnipeg lawyer, as board chairman of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation was announced tonight by Prime Minister Mackenzie King in the release of an exchange of correspondence between Mr. Brockington and himself. Mr. Brockington's three-year term expires the end of October.

The correspondence expresses Mr. Brockington's appreciation of the Prime Minister's support of the principles which the C.B.C. board of governors sought to enforce.

The Prime Minister expressed his gratitude from Mr. Brockington's "devoted service" to the corporation in its formative years and the concern shown by the board under his leadership to the public domain and development of appreciation of many aspects of national life.

It is possible the Government will name a successor to Mr. Brockington before Nov. 1 when a term for a new governor would normally start. The chairman received an honorarium of $1500 a year.

DOUHOBOR MILL BURNS AT FORKS

GRAND FORKS, B. C., Oct. 17—The Doukhobor sawmill at Spencer, six miles West of town, was destroyed by fire late this afternoon together with about a million feet of lumber. Fire fighting equipment from Grand Forks and from the Forestry Department was rushed to the scene but too late to save the mill, though succeeding in saving about a million feet of lumber. The plant had been operated for years by the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood but in recent months has been inactive.

No person was working at the plant at time of the fire. Value of the plant and buildings destroyed is estimated at $30,000, but is controlled by a finance company.

LONDON, Oct. 17 (CP). — The Labor Minister announced today there were 99,236 more unemployed persons mostly women, in Great Britain September 11 than Aug. 14.

Demands Contrary to Security Says Premier of Turkey

Definite Agreements With Britain, France to Be Signed Shortly; Russia Opens Repatriation Talks With Nazis

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Oct. 17 (AP).—Prime Minister Refik Saydam, in an official communique tonight, said the negotiations with Soviet Russia had failed because the Soviet demands were contrary to Turkish security.

It was reported reliably definite agreements with Great Britain and France will be signed in Ankara this week, probably Thursday or Friday.

The official communique said the Prime Minister, in a statement to a parliamentary group of the Republican peoples party, declared the Soviet Government had suggested to Turkey proposals entirely different from those previously agreed upon.

The Prime Minister said the Soviet demands were incompatible with the Turkish policy regarding the Dardanelles, proved incompatible with Turkey's engagements which the Soviet Government knew had been assumed toward Britain and France, were contrary to Turkish security and the guarantees offered did not compensate for the obligations which Turkey was asked to undertake.

He said, however, that although it had been impossible this time to conclude an agreement with Soviet Russia, relations between the two countries were still friendly.

LEAVES FOR TURKEY

MOSCOW, Oct. 17 (Wednesday) (AP)—Foreign Minister Sukru Saracoglu of Turkey left for home early today to the blaring of bands and well wishes of high Soviet officials who turned to a series of diplomatic consultations with Germany.

Vice-Commissar of Foreign Affairs Vladimir Potemkin headed Soviet officials bidding farewell to Saracoglu at the flag-bedecked station in an imposing send-off which contrasted sharply to the departure Saturday night of a Finnish delegation. Not a Kremlin official was there to see the Finns off.

Saracoglu had been here almost a month negotiating with Soviet officials and there were reports that efforts to reach a Soviet-Turkish agreement had bogged down temporarily.

There was one confirmed report here that the Turkish mission had refused point blank to a Soviet demand that Russian warships be the only ones permitted to enter the Black Sea, "Russia's back door," through the Turkish-owned Dardanelles.

TALK REPATRIATION

With the Soviet-Turkish negotiations halted, for the present at least, the Moscow government opened negotiations with Germany on repatriation of German minorities in the Baltic states and former Polish terirtory.

A German delegation headed by a foreign office official flew here from Berlin to begin the consultations on Hitler's plans to bring back to Germany all Germans living abroad. Hitler as started negotiations with the separate Baltic States.

Germany now has two missions in Moscow. A second delegation has been here for the past nine days conferring with Soviet trade experts on problems in connection with the German-Russian trade and credit agreement announced Aug. 20.

WOUNDED IN DISPUTE

VICTORIA, Oct. 17 (CP).—British Columbia Police said today Chester Elroy Olsen of Willow Valley, B. C., in the Peace River District is in hospital at Dawson Creek with a gunshot wound in the groin, following a dispute between neighbors over a horse. His condition was reported as fair.

Suggests Allies Give Possessions In West to U. S.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 (CP)—The senate heard today, during debate on the administration's proposed repeal of the arms embargo, a suggestion from Senator John Danaher that Great Britain and France cede to the United States their Western hemisphere island possessions.

The Connecticut Republican, violently opposing Neutrality Act re*vision to make American arms* available to all belligerents, based his suggestion only on the assumption congress would insist on repealing the embargo.

He termed the Allies' island possessions in the Western hemisphere "the first step toward our own protection."

"We should demand that Great Britain and France cede us in advance all their islands which might be used in attacks against us by an enemy country," he said. "This would also remove the possibility or necessity of this country having to use our forces to defend these possessions against attack under the Monroe Doctrine.

"If we remove that possibility in advance we might establish a quid pro quo just as Great Britain does before committing herself to any foreign venture."

Support for the repeal group came from Senator Francis Maloney (Dem. Connecticut) who believed repeal was "the shortest path to peace."

NO NEWS FROM CABINET

OTTAWA, Oct. 17 (CP)—Cabinet met today but the 2½ hour session produced no statement. It was assumed, however, the im*mediate organization of the* Empire air training scheme in Canada was given attention. Lord Riverdale, head of the British air mission here to assist in that organization, was a visitor at the office of Prime Minister Mackenzie King before cabinet met.

NANAIMO MINER KILLED

HITLER ALONE MADE WAR DECISION SAYS HENDERSON "FINAL REPORT"

LONDON, Oct. 17 (CP.—Britain made public tonight the "final report" of Sir Nevile Henerson on his Ambassadorship to Berlin in which he recounted in picturesque phrases the last days of peace, the "tragedy" of Adolf Hitler and sidelights of "yes men" around the Fuehrer.

The 12,000-word white paper stressed repeatedly that Hitler alone made the decision to go to war. Sir Nevile wrote that "though he spoke of his artistic tastes and his longing to satisfy them, I derived the impression that the corporal of the last war was even more anxious to prove what he could do as a conquering generalissimo in the next."

Of Hitler's personality, he asserted "geniuses are strange creatures and Herr Hitler, among other paradoxes, is a mixture of long-headed calculation and violent and arrogant impulse provoked by resentment."

Referring to the "bombshell" of the German non-aggression pact with Soviet Russia, Sir Neville said:

"It is to be devoutly hoped that it may prove a pyrrhic as are most diplomatic victories."

"I have some reason to believe—though I can not confirm it—that the order for the German army to advance into Poland was actually issued for the night of August 25-26," the former Ambassador asserted. He added that his flying trip to Hitler's chalet at Berchtesgaden "may after all have postponed the disaster for a week."

Sir Nevile continued that it might well have been Prime Minister Chamberlain's letter which gave Hitler "one last hesitation" and caused him to countermand the orders to his army to march.

"But it was not the horrors of war which determined him," he asserted "His hesitation was due rather to one final effort to detach Britain from Poland."

"In view of what has been reported to the contrary, I desire to bear witness here to the fact that throughout the whole of these anxious weeks neither I nor my staff received anything but the utmost courtesy and civility from all Germans, except on one occasion"—his final interview with German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop whom he described as showing "intense hostility."

Baker, Ward Street Intersection Is Being Repaired, Dawson's Report

Improvements Being Made to Kootenay Falls Streets

Work had begun on the Baker and Ward Street intersection to relieve the problem of water settling there; and improvements were being made to Latimer and Falls Streets near the approach to Rosemont, stated the report of H. D. Dawson, Acting City Engineer, on behalf of the Public Works Department, for the week ending October 17, to the City Council Tuesday night. Many other improvements were also being made.

The report follows:

STREETS

Silica Street, West from Stanley—Asphalting has been continued on this street and will be completed by Thursday, weather permitting.

Kootenay Street, between Vernon and Baker—Backfilling on this section of street with crushed rock and rolling has been carried out. A new catch basin has been constructed at the lower end on the West side and the trimming between the road and the Eperson building has been completed.

Radio Avenue—Crushed rock has been hauled on to this avenue as conditions at the crusher plant required.

Victoria Street, 800 Block—At the lower side of Victoria Street, immediately East from Hendryx Street a concrete curb has been constructed to retain the storm surface waters and prevent them from washing over the sidewalks and boulevards. A permanent catch basin has been constructed at the intersection.

Rosemont Gravel Pit—In order to obtain further supplies of the more suitable gravel, the connecting road from the North end of McQuarrie Avenue to certain residences situated above the Granite Road was required to be moved. This necessitated some filling in an old portion of the gravel pit, and fill was obtained by lowering the grade higher up. There is now a good road from the end of McQuarrie Avenue to the above residences.

Baker and Ward Streets Intersection—The concrete pavement and sidewalk has been settling at the Northwest corner of the intersection, thus forming a pocket for surface waters to collect. We are breaking a narrow slab of the surface concrete here and are making a suitable channel and drain down Ward Street.

LATIMER STREET RAMP

Latimer and Falls Street Intersection—A number of residences built on Falls Street below the Latimer Street intersection have been virtually isolated during Winter months owing to difficulties of snow plowing down the ramp from the Latimer Street level to the Falls Street level. We have removed the sidewalk and steps from this ramp, and are replacing it on the West side of Falls Street, continuing the existing steps up Falls Street and connecting by further steps up on to Latimer Street level, then along Latimer Street a sidewalk is being constructed in order to better safeguard pedestrians. The sidewalk on Latimer Street will extend from the end of the concrete walk near Kootenay Street as far as the Cottonwood bridge. The ramp roadway will require to be somewhat built up at the lower end, and when the garage near the lower end has been moved it will be possible to plow out this portion of roadway and thus make it passable for trucks, delivery rigs, etc. to travel up and down.

Street Cleaning — Our regular number of street cleaners is now being augmented considerably owing to falling leaves.

DRAINAGE

An easement has been obtained through Lot 33, Block 11, Subdivision 96, Plan 284 B for the purpose of constructing a sewer from High Street to the row of lots on the lower side of Union Street in that block, and the sewer is now being constructed.

Surveys have been commenced in connection with the Douglas Road sewerage scheme, the tile for which is now on hand.

WATER WORKS

Five-Mile Intake—Up to 2½ inches of water has flowed over the spillway at the Five-Mile intake, thus showing an ample supply for the City's needs.

The new service to the Maber residence on Kootenay Street has been completed, and one meter installed to the Stirling Hotel.

Two Plumbing Permits have been issued and two inspections made.

Three building permits have been taken out, to the value of $1231.

He was arrested last night two miles from Parry Sound, by Provincial police who reported he bore bruises and that his clothing was wet. He is alleged to have admitted taking the plane.

Conkin Fined at Castlegar, Lack Windshield Wiper

TRAIL, B.C., Oct. 17—William Conkin, whose truck was involved in an accident October 5, pleaded guilty to a charge of driving a motor vehicle without a windshield wiper and was fined $2 when he appeared before Magistrate Joseph Speakman at Castlegar Monday.

Constable John Henry, B.C. Police Hihgway Patrol, who prosecuted, explained to the court that the driver of a car not having a windshield wiper ordinarily would be given a "check-up" slip, but the charge was laid in this case, as the accident in which Conkin was involved occurred at night, when it was raining, and he considered the absence of the wiper a contributing factor to the accident.

Southworth Tells Trail Rotarians of Credit Control

TRAIL, B. C., Oct. 17—The word credit, declared J. D. Southworth, Canadian division chairman of the National Retail Credit Association, speaking to the Trail Rotary Club today on "Credit and Credit Bureaus", was derived from the Latin "credo," meaning "I believe," and it was used with that meaning today, the merchant extending credit because he believed in the person's ability to pay.

Earliest records of credit transactions, he said, were from clay tablets excavated in ancient Babylon. Credit transactions were not common, 2000 years before the birth of Christ, but today 95 per cent of the world's business was transacted by means of credit.

Referring to the braking devices on mechanical equipment, Mr. Southworth asked: "Is it not logical then to have effective control devices on the machine about which revolves 95 per cent of the world's business?"

The speaker traced the history of the consumer credit bureau from its inception in London, England, in 1803, to the present day.

An impartial central clearing house of all central information was absolutely essential to the safe conduct of business in the consumer credit field.

"Your local bureau," he said, "records an average of 65,000 credit facts a year on its 9000 master records. Merchants are calling for reports at about the rate of 7767 per year, so you see it is being used."

It was announced that approximately 12 Rotarians have signified their intentions to attend the intercity Rotary meet in Spokane, October 19.

JAPANESE BOOTS CAUSE REVERSES

By JAMES STEWART

WITH THE CHINESE ARMY AT NANYO, Hunan Province, China, Oct. 17 (AP). — Japanese troops slogging up and down the rough Chinese mountains, can blame their heavy boots for recent reverses in Hunan, the defending Chinese General Chien Cheng told foreign newspapermen today.

Chinese soldiers, shod only in straw sandals, can negotiate the tricky terrain with much less effort, he said.

Japanese inability to use mechanized forces and heavy modern artillery also contributed to what the Chinese reported as the repulse of a long campaign against Hunan and its capital, Changsha, Chien Cheng declared.

Canada's Defence Operating-Rogers

OTTAWA, Oct. 17 (CP). — The Canadian people entered the war against Nazi Germany because they wished to save for themselves, their children and for other countries the benefit of self-government, Hon. Norman Rogers, Defence Minister, said tonight as he opened a series of weekly radio talks on Canada's war effort.

The address was delivered by a "spokesman" for the Department of National Defence and broadcast over the national network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

"As one means of bringing into clear view the power of a Democracy in wartime it is essential that the people be informed of the national aims, and of the way by which it is intended these aims shall be achieved," said Mr. Rogers.

Whether the war lasts months or years, he said he was sure the faith in the final outcome would sustain the Canadian people.

Despite Canada's favorable geographic position there was a definite problem of local defence, said the departmental spokesman. Aircraft had already flown twice the width of the Atlantic non-stop and Canadians could not overlook the report that an enemy warship, equipped with aircraft was on the high seas.

To meet the attacks to which Canada was exposed a joint defence plan had been drawn up by the three fighting services, and since the war the services operated in accordance with that plan.

Smith Must Move Garage in Spring

That he must move his newly erected garage, but that he did not have to do it until Spring, was an answer given by the City Council Tuesday night to a claim by William Smith, 621 Gore Street, that it was not up to him to move the garage. A report from Acting City Engineer H. D. Dawson stated the garage did not conform with the City Zoning Bylaw.

When his mother, Mrs. R. G. Smith, had applied for a building permit last April, R. E. Potter, then City Engineer, had not given her a written permit but merely told her to go ahead with erection of the garage, and did not inspect the site, or mention zoning bylaws, Mr. Smith said. Mr. Dawson two weeks ago inspected the garage.

Aldermen felt that there must have been some misunderstanding regarding the issuing of the permit, for they said Mr. Potter would not have granted permission to build without first giving his approval and gaining the approval of the City Fire Chief and two fire wardens.

Permission for Mr. Smith to leave the garage on its present site until Spring was given, as he could work on it only in the afternoons after he finished work at other employment. As days darkened so rapidly in the Winter months, he would not have time to work on it, he said.

The City would repair any part of the lane so as to make it possible for Mr. Smith to park his car in the garage in its new location, Mayor Stibbs stated.

Northern Rulers to Confer Today

By WADE WERNER

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 17 (AP) — Heads of four Northern States whose neutrality has been menaced by swift developments and complications in the European conflict will sit down together tomorrow and talk things over.

Emphasizing the importance of this meeting between Kings Haakon of Norway, Christian of Denmark, Gustaf of Sweden and President Kyoesti Kallio of Finland was the situation in Finland, where residents were leaving cities and troops were held in readiness in the face of Soviet Russian demands, as yet unpublished.

Despite the urgency of Finland's plight, however, official quarters here were discouraging the idea that tomorrow's meeting had any military significance. It asserted that the heads of the four Northern countries and their foreign ministers were gathering to discuss neutrality problems arising from the war, but that the deliberations would be dominated by "the Lodestar of Neutrality."

On the eve of the conference the Swedish National League of Youth submitted to King Gustaf a petition urging him to invite the heads of the great powers to "take the initiative" which could bring those at war to a conference table.

TRAIL GYRO CLUB LAUDED FOR PARK

TRAIL, B. C., Oct. 17— "The Gyroscope, from which the name Gyro was derived, when set in motion has a remarkable resistance to any force, and in Gyro it may be expressed as the power of organized friendship, the poise of friendship which is maintained in the face of every distraction: and the persistent purpose of a friendship which is selected, but all embracing in its ideal of unselfishness," A. W. Shackleford, Governor of Gyro District 8, stated in an address to the Trail Gyro Club Tuesday night.

Speaking of the enduring friendship between the United States and Canada, Mr. Shackleford pointed out that the President of Gyro International was a Canadian, Rege Spence of Halifax. Also two vice-presidents were Canadians.

Stating that a Gyro Club should have one major activity to bind its members together, the speaker lauded the Trail Gyro Club for its enterprise in developing Gyro Park.

"I am sure that this town is proud of its Gyro Park," he affirmed.

B.C. Pastoral Conference Here of Lutherans Declares Loyalty

The British Columbia Pastoral Conference of the Lutheran Church of the Missouri Synod opened its semi-annual convention yesterday in St. John's Lutheran Church, the sessions to last two days.

In opening, the chairman, Rev. C. C. Janzow of Vernon, formerly pastor here, stated: "We are assembled here at a time when the forces of evil are seeking the overthrow of civil government, and sinister influences are at work threatening to destroy the Christian church."

Rev. A. H. Haake of New Westminster delivered, in the morning, a special sermon on "The Blessing of Civil Government." Having reminded the pastors of the fact that "the spirit of riot rebellion and revolution apparent today in many parts of the world is a divine announcement of the impending Day of Judgment," the speaker asserted on the basis of Paul's statement to the Roman church: "God Himself has instituted civil government. The incumbents are men. Those by whom they obtain their office are also men. But the office which they fill is a divine office. The command by which they rule is that of the great God. The Ruler whose place they fill is the King of Kings."

DIVINITY OF GOVERNMENT

He further stated that "established government, like all divine institutions, is praiseworthy, honorable and glorious. It serves the welmind that the powers of the civil authorities of the Dominion of Canada and of the British Empire have been given them from above. Let us regard and respect them as ordained of God; Let us teach our people to do the same. Let us be truly grateful that the men in whose hands our government is, are not persecuting the Christian Church, but faithfully protecting and preserving for us our religious freedom as well as our civil rights."

The day's sessions essays were read by Rev. F. W. Doeling, Rev. R. F. Holtzen, of Chilliwack, and the Rev. H. Merklinger of North Vancouver, treating respectively "Biblical Interpretation of Philippians Chapter I," "Doctrinal and Evangelistic Preaching," and "The Duties of the Church."

PROPOSE LUTHERAN CHAPLAINS

A special committee consisting of Revs. Haake and Holtzen presented a resolution providing for the appointment of Lutheran army and navy chaplains. At the suggestion of this committee the following resolution was also adopted:

"The B. C. Pastoral Conference of the Lutheran Church of the Missouri Synod, in convention assembled at Nelson, B. C., October 17-19, especially in these critical times reaffirm and pledges its loyalty and support to His Majesty the King, and the Government of Canada."

The sessions will continue today.

ARE YOU AGEING BEFORE YOUR TIME?

Why Not Study the Matter!

Some men and women, though no longer young, still preserve much of the overflowing vitality of their youth. There are examples of it among your own circle of friends. Others have a different outlook; they seem to grow old before their time.

Let us examine briefly a state of affairs that too often exists among people in every walk of life. Look at it frankly, with an open mind. Most people agree that many of the common ailments — listlessness, headaches, pains of rheumatism and lumbago — are chiefly caused by constipation. And the minute you mention the word "constipation" they deny they suffer from it because they are "regular" every day. What foolishness! You can be "regular" every day and still be constipated!

Take off the mask of premature age

Unless your body gets rid of poisons thoroughly and regularly you will have to "pay the piper". If you are fortunate you will escape severe pain and discomfort; more than likely you will "slow up", suffer the mental misery of incomplete rest at nights; you become irritable.

Throughout the years Kruschen Salts has imparted untold benefits to mankind in almost every country in the world. For Kruschen contains several valuable, highly-refined mineral salts your body requires in some form, to help keep you feeling at your best.

The Kruschen habit is such a simple, convenient, inexpensive way. You take just "the little daily dose"—tasteless in tea, coffee—or in a glass of water. No product in the stores today is more "modern", none more carefully prepared.

Why not start right away. Give Kruschen a real trial during the next few months. Prove it for yourself. At all drug counters 25c, 45c, 75c.

Athenia Carried Guns, Says Survivor

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 (AP) — An affidavit saying the liner Athenia, sunk Sept. 3 en route to Montreal, carried coast defence guns for Canada and was to be outfitted as a raider after completing the trip, has been filed at the State Department by Gustav A. Anderson, of Evanston, Ill., a travel bureau operator. He was a passenger on the Athenia.

The affidavit was drawn on the basis of questions by three United States congressmen: Francis H. Case (Rep-South Dakota) Overton Brooks (Dem-Louisiana) and Walter M. Pierce (Dem-Oregon).

Anderson's statements were based on purported information from Chief Officer Copeland of the Athenia that there were "plenty" of guns on the ship for coast defence at Halifax and Quebec.

(Stephen Early, Secretary to President Roosevelt, said at the time of the sinking that the Athenia apparently was not carrying munitions.

("I'd like to point out," he said, "that according to official information the ship had come from Glasgow to Liverpool and was bound for Canada bringing refugees. I point this out to show that there was no possibility, according to official information, that the ship was carrying any munitions, or anything of that kind."

(Secretary Hull said at his press conference that Anderson's affidavit was the first intimation he had that there were guns aboard the Athenia.)

Repeal Might Bring War to U.S.-Walsh

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 (AP) — Senator Walsh (Dem.-Mass.) said today repeal of the arms embargo might bring the European war "right to our front door" with submarines and warplanes operating off the United States coast to sink munitions laden ships.

"Instead of spending time and energy adopting legislation, which will mark us as unneutral and partisan before the world, destroy our moral influence as neutrals, and ultimately surely involve us," he declared, "we should be giving our attention to building up strong impregnable defence, an army, air force and navy, greater than any in the world, a system of national defence embodying an enlarged army and navy, adequate coastal fortifications, anti-aircraft that will compel respect from all nations and insure complete protection against eventuality which develops out of the chaos and disorder of Europe, and Asia."

New British Navy Patrol System Is Controlled From London by Wire

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 (AP).—A new patrol system for the protection of allied merchant shipping—apparently much faster than the old convoy service and described by a British skipper as "like going from lamp post to lamp post"—has been put in operation by the Royal Navy.

British war vessels lie in watchful clusters, serving like policemen in a relatively circumscribed "beat," and the directions for substantially every mile of the way come from the admiralty's wireless towers in London.

This new service was cautiously described yesterday by a British skipper when he brought his ship safely into port here.

There was no convoy, he said, but the admiralty kept him constantly advised by radio of the position of the patrol boats—destroyers and light cruisers which form a broken, dotted line across the Atlantic from continent to continent.

In a two-way conservation, he added, he kept the admiralty posted on his own whereabouts. There was no zig-zagging, he reported—only a steady, uneventful course plotted wholly by London which took him from one patrol area to another.

"There was a patrol watching us off the North Coast of Ireland," he explained, "and when we lost that the radio told us when we could contact another, still another and still another until we arrived off the coast of Canada.

"I prefer not to tell you the exact spot where we found our patrol or where we were contacted off the Canadian coast. This might give information to the enemy. However, we had plenty of company all the way across."

The convoy system, as perfected near the end of the last war sharply restricted the use and movements of individual ships, since it was necessary to wait until a number of them were prepared to sail simultaneously. They started out under the protection usually of a cruiser until they reached a rendezvous with a convoy of destroyers, which took them on the rest of the way.

Air Raid Statement Read In House

LONDON, Oct. 17 (CP)—The text of a statement on air raids made by Lord Chatfield and prime Minister Chamberlain in Parliament today follows:

The house will wish to have an account of the series of air raids which took place in the Firth of Forth area yesterday afternoon in the light of the information now available.

The air raid was carried out by 12 or possibly more aircraft in waves of two or three at a time. Two civilians were slightly injured by shell fragments. Damage to civilian property was negligible. Naval casualties were caused on H.M.S. Southampton, Edinburgh and Mohawk.

I regret to say that altogether three officers and 13 ratings were killed or died of wounds, that two officers were slightly injured, that 11 ratings were seriously injured and 31 slightly injured.

The damage to H.M.S. Southampton and H.M.S. Edinburgh was slight and both vessels are ready for sea. The damage to H.M.S. Mohawk is superficial. The enemy were at once engaged by our fighter squadrons and by anti-aircraft fire. Four enemy bombers were brought down, of which one was shot down by gunfire. In addition a number of other enemy aircraft were heavily engaged and some of these may not have been able to reach home.

As the attack was local and appeared to be developing only on a small scale and as our defences were fully ready, it was not considered appropriate in this particular instance to issue an air raid warning which would have caused dislocation and inconvenience over a wide area.

The responsibility for issuing air raid warnings must be left to the competent authorities but the circumstances in which warnings should be issued will be carefully reviewed in the light of experience gained.

At 10:30 a.m. today an air raid took place on Scapa Flow. The attack was made by about four machines. Two bombs fell very near H.M.S. Iron Duke and the ship sustained certain damages. No casualties occurred.

H.M.S. Iron Duke is an old battleship which, it will be recollected, was demilitarized under a London naval treaty of 1930 and had all her armor removed. She has since been used for depot and training purposes.

One aircraft was shot down in flames by the fire of either ship or shore guns and another probably damaged.

Manning Finland's Borders

Pictured during manoeuvres a short time ago, a machine-gun crew of Finland's small but efficient army is shown in action near the Soviet Russian border. Today, while diplomats in Moscow are trying to avoid an open break, the Finnish army is standing ready to fight if it must to preserve the country's independence.

Senate Leaders Seek to Alter U. S. Neutrality Bill to Cut Short Debate

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 (CP)—Administration leaders, anxious for quick removal of the embargo on United States arms sales to belligerents, today sought to eliminate controversial material from the revised neutrality bill.

In an effort to cut short the senate debate on the bill which already has lasted more than two weeks, administration supporters prepared to make alterations in the legislation:

1. Removal of the provision that belligerents purchasing American arms could use normal 90-day credits and substitution of a "spot cash" requirement.

2. Modification of stringent provisions in the present bill which would keep American ocean-going merchant shipping out of war zone waters.

Administration ranks believed that two clauses offered more material for debate than any other. The two changes, they said, should eliminate such speechmaking and bring the bill to a vote in the senate not later than Oct. 28. It then would go to the House of Representatives.

The United States Maritime Commission was reported authoritatively to have submitted an amendment under which American ships could travel into any war zones declared safe by the President. These zones could be re-defined from time to time.

The legislation was originally drafted and would prohibit American ships and citizens from visiting warring nations and their possessions. There have been protests that such a restriction would curtail sharply the operations of the American Merchant Marine.

Administration followers contended that removal of the 90-day credit allowance would not materially affect the bill.

On the political side, Robert Taft, Ohio, Republican, and Walter George, Georgia Democrat, said that enactment of the bill would eliminate the arms embargo as an issue in the 1940 United States Presidential election campaign.

Taft, put forward by friends for the Republican Presidential nomination, said if congress carried out President Roosevelt's recommendation to repeal the embargo, "there certainly would be no attempt to reinstate it by either of the major parties."

If repeal should fail, he declared, an energetic fight might be made in either the Republican or the Democratic convention to obtain a plank pledging repeal.

George, agreeing that the arms embargo would not be a national issue in 1940 if it is repealed now, said that it nevertheless might be a major factor in some congressional and senatorial campaigns.

Creston Brigade to Be Reorganized

CRESTON, B. C.—Considerable headway was made in the matter of providing Creston with a more efficient fire fighting force and equipment, at the conference on Thursday night at the Town Hall, with Reeve Col Mallandaine and Councillors W. J. Craig and George Nichols representing the municipality and President A. W. Dickinson, Charles Murrell, Henry B. Johnson, M. R. Joyce and James Cook, as the Municipal Committee of the Creston Board of Trade with the latter designated spokesman for the delegation.

As at the October Council Meeting the village authorities appeared to be of the opinion the proper procedure would be for the Board of Trade to fully organize the brigade and come to the council with details of the organization and, together, work out a plan for the brigade's operation.

The Committee, however, were not of that opinion.

They maintained fire protection was a municipal affair but the committee was prepared to discuss an outline of organization, along with certain matters that had been brought to the attention of the Board of Fire Underwriters, who was here a month ago and made a survey of the situation.

The discussion was a friendly one throughout, and as a result of the committee-council talk the committee was given assurance that the municipality would reorganize the brigade, and as fast as funds permitted the equipment would be enlarged and modernized.

At the committee's suggestion, the council appointed M. R. Joyce as fire chief, and would endeavor to have him given the standing of a Deputy Provincial Fire Marshal.

It was understood the chief and the council would confer and mutually agree upon the number of firemen to enroll, to fix remuneration, more particularly the carrying of casualty insurance on the fire fighters.

The council will at once provide sleeping quarters for a member of the brigade at the firehall, and will have a telephone installed in his quarters. If possible council will arrange with the telephone company to have direct connection with the fire siren from the telephone office.

Reeve Mallandaine repeated his offer to explain to the chief and brigade members a fire map of the village which shows the location of each of the 23 hydrants and to explain their operation. Additional hydrants will have to be installed to give protection to new buildings and more standard hose ought to be purchased. At present the supply is only 650 feet.

Mutual satisfaction as to the outcome of the meet was expressed by both the committee and the council. After the former had withdrawn the council was in conference for some time with Brigade Chief Elect, M. R. Joyce.

Protest Firing On Netherland Planes

THE HAGUE, Oct. 17 (AP).—The Government announced Netherlands planes were fired upon today by Germany anti-aircraft guns near the German port of Emden shortly after reports came from the frontier areas of an attempted British air raid on Emden.

The Government announced it was protesting to Berlin.

The announcement, which said the planes were not hit, followed upon reports from villages in Northeastern Netherlands that heavy firing had been heard around Emden.

Villagers along the bay said they saw a plane that appeared to be British flying toward Emden.

Informed sources said the Netherlands planes were fired upon when they flew in the vicinity of Emden at 11:15 a.m., (2:15 a.m. PST). Artillery fire from the direction of Emden was heard first at about 7 a.m., and again at 11. It became so heavy at the latter hour that windows in Netherlands villages rattled.

The Government communique said:

"This morning at 11:15 a.m., there was shooting from the direction of Emden by anti-aircraft guns on Netherlands planes which flew along the border. The planes were not hit. The Netherlands Government is making a protest at Berlin."

SURVIVORS OF FRENCH SHIP LAND, BRITAIN

LONDON, Oct. 17 (CP).—Forty-three survivors of the crew of the 5186-ton French ship Vermont were landed today at a South England port by a British warship which rescued them in the Atlantic.

Two seamen were lost in the sinking of the vessel and four of the survivors were injured. The survivors said a submarine sank their ship.

NEWSPAPER MAN DIES

MONTREAL, Oct. 17 (CP) — Death has ended more than a half-century's newspaper work for Albert Richardson Carman whose brilliant writings were known far more widely than his name.

Mr. Carman, editor-in-chief of the Montreal Daily Star, died at his home last night after a brief illness. He was 74 years old, and two years ago celebrated the golden jubilee of his entry in the journalistic field.

Hypodermic Cure for Sprained Ankles

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 17 (AP) —A quick hypodermic cure for a sprained ankle or knee was reported to the American College of Surgeons.

Novocaine is injected close to the site of the sprain. It relieves the pain of moving the point and at the same time helps injured tissues to recover quickly.

The sprained part is bandaged tightly and, instead of being ordered to bed to rest, the patient is told to get up and walk around.

Surgeons who discussed this treatment said that if ligaments are torn they prefer the old rest treatment. The use of novocaine for sprains originated in France.

Edinburgh Painter Hit by Stray Bullet

LONDON, Oct. 17 (CP) — The wounding of an Edinburgh civilian by a stray bullet during the German air raid yesterday was related today by a companion in an account approved for publication.

The wounded man, Joseph MacLusky, was engaged in painting a house with Francis Flynn when the bombers suddenly appeared.

"I was at the top of some stairs and MacLusky was at the bottom step when we heard the sound of aircraft and a big German plane went past the house lower than the church steeple opposite," Flynn related.

"Just then my pal said, 'Something has hit me,' and the next minute he crumpled up.

"I went down the stairs and saw blood coming from his waistcoat. He had been wounded in the stomach. So far as I could see a bullet must have passed me to hit him."

As head of the newest nation whose independence is threatened by Soviet Russia's program of aggrandizement, President Kallio is faced with the problem that has faced the heads of other Baltic states that recently were drawn under the Red wing. Present indications are that Finland will not submit to Soviet demands without a struggle.

ROYAL OAK SUNK IN SCAPA FLOW

LONDON, Oct. 17 (CP).—Lord Chatfield, Minister for Coordination of Defence, told the House of Lords today that the battleship Royal Oak, in which nearly 800 men were lost, was sunk by a U-boat at anchor in Scapa Flow at 1:30 a.m. Oct. 14.

Lord Chatfield said it was still a matter of conjecture how the U-boat penetrated the defences of the harbor. He said the entry of the U-boat must be considered a remarkable exploit of professional skill and daring. A board of inquiry is now sitting at Scapa Flow.

Lord Chatfield said it appeared that the U-boat fired two starboard torpedoes at the Royal Oak, of which only one hit the bow. The muffled explosion was first attributed to internal causes and the ship's store of inflammables was flooded on the basis of the first conjecture.

Lord Chatfield added that 20 minutes later the U-boat fired three or four torpedoes and these, striking in quick succession, caused the ship to capsize and sink.

Lord Chatfield said the Royal Oak was lying at the extreme end of the harbor and therefore many officers and men were drowned before the rescue could be organized.

Parents Should Take Time Out to Think on Problems

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

Undoubtedly you believe, as I do, that giving serious thought to our family problems does enable us to solve many of these problems and prevent certain others from arising.

It is possible for you and me to stand off, in our imagination, and look at ourselves as if we were another person doing the observing. Sometimes we can do this better if we can have the help of someone well versed in child guidance and family relationships.

Now and then, during the years I have taught classes of parents, a parent would report, after several weeks of discussion in class, that some of the serious problems she thought she had, appeared to be solving themselves. When asked what she did to effect the solution, she would often reply that she did nothing at all. Later, some would add, "Maybe I have changed myself; I do know that I have learned to look at my problems more calmly and objectively."

We parents do best when we sit down together, calm and serene, with the children absent, and try to see our problems through, withholding blame of each other, and playing up each other's successes with the child.

Most of our problems are of the kind that continue over a long period of time. Some of them we can see before they arise, even finding ways to prevent them or lessen their seriousness by planning ahead of time.

DANGEROUS PRACTICE

Nothing is so disastrous to family happiness and cooperation as the practice of disagreeing over a problem involving a child in his presence. Many a child, even below the teens, has written or asked me personally in school groups, what to do when one parent tells him to do or not to do something, and the other parent tells him to do the opposite. It is hard to answer this child.

Our success as parents requires that we act with integrity toward each other. Even though one parent might not voice his disagreement before the child, he or she can betray this disagreement in all sorts of ways. The worst practice of all, of course, is when one parent works in an underhanded way on the child's emotions to turn him against the other parent. This is common after parents are divorced, or while a divorce is pending. Indeed, it has caused many a divorce.

In a family where love and happiness prevail, both parents are considerate of each other's views in problems relating to the child.

If you would like to have a selected list of books on child rearing and family relationship, write me in care of this paper, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it.

SOLVING PARENT PROBLEMS

Q.—My daughter, 7 years old, will get her little brother to do bad things and then run and tell me about it. What should I do?

A.—Quit paying your daughter for tattling. She gets pleasure seeing him get into trouble, since she probably is a little jealous of him. Next time she tattles on her little brother, listen calmly but do nothing. Henceforth keep your ears and eyes open. When you catch her in one of the ugly schemes punish her effectively. Don't punish one child tattled on by another; then tattling will cease.

SERIAL STORY . . . By Oren Arnold

PHANTOM RANCH

CHAPTER FORTY-SEVEN

"Quickest way" Shot Rogers was addressing his Scouts after the excitement of his return was over, "is to ride right up the dry fork of the Ghost, where we ought to have looked days ago and didn't. You'll see where the cattle were turned out of it and headed South. Their trail leads right to Escobar's camp."

"I'm riding with them, Shot," George Brazee stated. "How far from the forks would you say it is?"

"Ten, maybe eight miles. Awful rough part way, too. Better take some extra horses for fresh mounts. Mr. Brazee, your stock'll be scattered now. But so will Escobar's soldiers, and you won't likely face any resistance from them. They're all scum. Criminals, thugs, anything Escobar could gather in his bandit army. They would have made a few raids trying to start a revolution pretty soon, like many other insurrectos have done in Mexico. They'd have raided a few banks, town treasuries, stores and such; stolen a lot of cows and horses, and women. It's not new over there. But you can round up your stock and bring them home, I think."

"Shot, the Mexican Government'll thank you for breaking up Escobar's band" George Brazee declared. "It's a good deed from their viewpoint, too."

"They'll have to thank Lorena."

"Um. What about Escobar himself? You say you left him tied to a tree? Where's that at?"

"You couldn't find him if you hunted a week." Shot managed a grin in spite of his extreme weariness. "Let me wrap myself around some of Miss Sally's grub and get about a half hour of sleep. I'll ride after you and meet you over there somewhere—you stick with the cattle trail—and we'll call on friend Escobar socially, so to speak."

The mounted men departed then without another word save a few "so longs," Shot's ten men, all picked scouts, were there, and in addition, every cowboy who claimed the Phantom for his home was in the cavalcade, including crippled and aging old Jasper Peters. Shot watched them go with longing eyes.

"Shot, you come in here now and eat and lie down," Mrs. Brazee commanded. "No need of a body killing themself! You can ride later. You're as exhausted as Lorena, and she's already been put to bed."

Shot protested at being "babied," but his hostess made him behave. She informed him, with considerable truth, that he looked like he had been through a long siege in an Indian war. His clothing was torn, his hair disheveled, his eyes bloodshot from lack of sleep, and his whiskers bristly. He did manage to wash his face, but they wouldn't let him shave and bathe until after he had slept.

Lorena had expected to sleep through the remainder of that day and all night as well, but she awoke at the end of about four hours. So much of interest and excitement was going on that she had to get up. She wanted to be on hand when Uncle George and the riders returned. She wanted to see Shot. Being young, she had recuperated rapidly and felt good now, so that she didn't want to miss anything. She wondered if Shot were awake by now, too.

She came out to learn that Shot had slept two hours, then gotten up and ridden off to join the other men as promised. But Jerry Dale was still there. He greeted her in the big Brazee living room, alone, when she started to go out of the house.

"I brought you something," Jerry announced, smiling.

"No thanks." She tried to walk on by him.

"Hey, don't act like that! The trouble's all over now, kid. Look! When I went in to Blanco I shot the works. Here!"

He forced her to take a large package, but she just stood there holding it and looking at him. She did not smile. Some of the suffering that she had undergone back in the hills with him still showed in her eyes.

"I'd rather not open it," she said. "I don't believe I want it at all, I—I'm not in the mood. Please, I just want to be let alone."

"Aw nuts, Lorena! You don't have to be sore at me. What have I done to make you mad? Look, kid, I'm crazy about you—that's what I'm trying to tell you! Look!"

He took the package and opened it for her, and she had no recourse but to stand there. She wished Aunt Sally or somebody would come in and give her an excuse for ending the interview with Jerry, but she was stuck.

Inside the large package were three smaller ones. He opened the largest of the three first. It contained a gorgeously colored Indian jacket, a woolen thing hand-woven by squaws and of fine workmanship. He held it up to her shoulders! Obviously it would be a perfect fit or very nearly so. He had guaged her size well.

"It's for outdoor wear," he said. "You'd look like a million in it. Say on a honeymoon!"

She looked at it disinterestedly. "It is quite pretty," she admitted.

"Wait!" He opened a second package, much smaller. Embedded there in white tissue and cotton were four silver bracelets, also Indian made. Two of them were studded with the finest cut turquoise stones that could well be imagined, exquisite mountings done by Navaho silversmiths. The other two were similarly ornamented with polished petrified wood.

In spite of herself Lorena had to admire them.

"Wait!" said he then with boyish enthusiasm.

He opened the third package and took out a belt. It was made of tan leather pieces about the size of her hand perhaps a bit narrower, linked together with two strong green leather thongs. Each of the pieces had a silver concho, hand tooled, mounted in its center, and around that were burned numerous ranch brands.

The two pieces that would be in front showed prominently the Phantom brand of George Brazee—the storied skull and cross-bones which Lorena had seen lately on all the Phantom horses and cows, on the Phantom automobiles, saddles, gate posts, barn doors, etched in rock over the Brazee living room fireplace, painted even on the Phantom windmill.

"There's no denying they are beautiful, Jerry," Lorena admitted. "But as I told you—"

"Lorena, I've got something else, too! I told you a while back I had a big chance to make money. Well, it's better than ever now!" He had begun to whisper confidentially, excitedly. "I've been testing new ranch for two years. I've got one that's revolutionary! It's so good that the university scientists are all hopped up over it. It'll mean millions to the cattle industry and I'm going to patent it in my own name. I can sell the rights everywhere for big dough!"

She looked up at his face, which was flushed with eagerness now. The hurt still shone in her blue eyes.

"But Jerry—wouldn't it be — public property? I thought — your peole, and Uncle George and the university folk—had made your experiments possible at a good salary, for whatever good you could do for all the cattlemen of the West. That's what Uncle George said. He's very loyal to you. He backs you heartily, I know, and—"

"Nuts to that! I can sell this formula for $10,000! I've already shown the certified feeding records to a big manufacturer in Denver, and got an offer from them. I'd get a royalty in addition to that!

"But Jerry!"

"No buts, Lorena! You and I are going to set ourselves up with that dough. You're a sweet piece, kid, and you and I are heading out of here at once for Los Angeles on a rip-roaring honeymoon! I've got one more package and it's a diamond ring!"

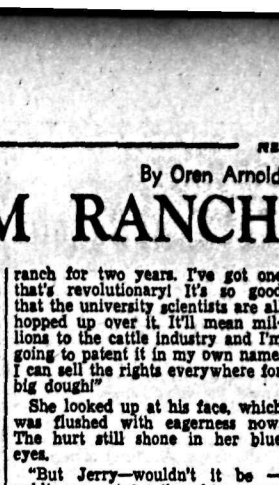
Perennials Need Winter Care

By DEAN HALLIDAY

Certain bulbs and perennials, including Sweet William, candytuft, and Madonna lilies, carry their evergreen foliage over winter, but these plants need to have their foliage protected with a light covering of straw, excelsior or hay.



Protecting plants that hate "wet feet"

Another group of perennials including fox gloves, campanulas and delphinium, are sensitive to water standing around their crowns. In other words, they hate "wet feet" A method of preventing this condition is shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph. Scrape away a half inch of soil around each plant, then hill up the plant with coal ashes or sand, as illustrated.

This procedure prevents water from standing about the crown of the plant and assures adequate surface drainage. After the ground has frozen over, a mulch of straw can be placed over the mound of ashes.

ELINOR GLYN IS 75

LONDON, Oct. 17 (CP)—Elinor Glyn, the novelist, is 75 years old today.

Still surprisingly youthful, the writer is living quietly in a flat in Mayfair, far removed from the days when shopgirls devoured her romances in print and on the screen.

A Few Tips . . .

Bright Clear Eyes Require Special Everyday Care

By DONNA GRACE

When acting under the brilliant Klieg lights of Hollywood, the stars find it necessary to give their eyes special attention. Their beauty as well as their health must be protected. The dark, large and lustrous eyes of Gale Page are so perfect that whenever a composite picture is made of the ideal screen star, she furnishes the eyes. Here are her rules for keeping them lovely.

Have at least eight hours sleep, and if any bright light shines into the room, wear "blinkers". Close the eyes frequently during the day while counting to 100, then open them and focus them on some distant object for another count of 100. It's one of the best eye exercises.

Before going out at night, relax the eyes and apply warm compresses, followed with cold astringent-soaked pads. Be sure to cleanse the eyes with a good eye-wash at least twice a day.

In making up, Gale's first thought is to the skin about the eyes. Before applying powder base or powder below the eyes, she pulls the skin taut to assure its going on smoothly.

Mascara is stroked on both lashes and brows, but the brows are done in short, hairline strokes for a natural effect.

After removing the mascara with cream at night, Gale brushes her brows and lashes with warm white vaseline. The fine lash combs are suitable for this.

Severely plucked brows are no longer fashionable. The brow line should conform with the contour of the mouth, and for this season, bizarre, exotic effects are not flattering or in harmony with the face.

The space between the brows above the nose should be approximately the width of the eye. Then let the brow follow its natural curve, plucking only the stray hairs beneath the arch to insure a clean-cut effect. An eyebrow pencil may be used to extend the line at the outer edges for an illusion of largeness.

JUNIOR RED CROSS OF HARROP STAGES SALE

HARROP, B. C. — A rummage sale and tea was held by the Junior Red Cross in the Harrop School building Saturday afternoon. The many articles to be sold were grouped on desks or arranged along the walls for inspection and the sale opened promptly at 3 o'clock. Articles not sold were later auctioned, the teacher, Mrs. E. Piper, in charge. Tea was in the hands of Mrs. J. Berry.

Miss L. Grant won 10 pounds of sugar.

Proceeds amounted to $20.28, and after deducting a small amount for local Junior Red Cross needs, the balance will be divided and forwarded to the Queen Alexandra Solarium for Crippled Children and the West Arm Auxiliary of the Nelson Branch of the Canadian Red Cross.

SHOWER IS GIVEN TO NEW DENVER BRIDE

NEW DENVER, B. C. — A miscellaneous shower was held Saturday evening in the Legion rooms, complimenting Mrs. R. K. Livingston, a recent bride.

The rooms were tastefully decorated with streamers and bows of purple, mauve and yellow as was the guest of honor's chair.

The gifts were presented in a large basket decorated in the same colors as the rooms.

Mrs. A. D. Trickett and Mrs. Charles Kennett assisted the honor guest in unwrapping the gifts. Mrs. Livingston, in a few well chosen words, thanked her friends.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Not Many Men Ruled by Wives

By CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Mr. Brisbane used to say that every woman thinks she wants a master in the person of a husband and every man thinks he wants a slave in the person of a wife; but when the tale is finally told the wife is usually master and the husband slave. What did he mean, slave?

If he meant that some papas are good, tend to their business when mamas are looking and straightaway do some looking on their own accounts when mamas' backs are turned, he's right about one class of husbands.

He might have had in mind a few weak and incompetent brothers, married to mean, strong women who henpeck, browbeat and bullyrag their men until the poor wretches hang their heads in abject humility, take what's put upon them and ask no quarter.

Or, conceivably, he might have referred to a very small and select company of gentlemen who love their wives to distraction and never get over it, husbands who work like Trojans to give their wives every luxury that money can buy and have their chief pride and pleasure in satisfying every whim of the women they worship.

Outside these three classes, I haven't observed any slave husbands. It should be said that marriage didn't get these men down but rather the fact that they were born scared or incompetent, or born to be great lovers.

For the rest of the lordly creatures, it is their wives who quickly learn the sound of the master's voice, the approach of his footstep, the snapping of his purse. And the majority of these wives are satisfied with the status quo, if only their vanity is protected before the public. Which is to say that so long as a woman can convince herself and her public that her husband loves her, that she comes first with him, she's contented for him to be master in the state of matrimony.

Pants-wearing, whip - popping wives are a favorite topic for masculine jokes. Amazing how these jokes multiply and replenish the stock of wit and humor. Well, you know when we see a person slip on a banana peeling, we have the instant impulse to laugh uproariously at him. There's a misfortune that might have happened to us but didn't. So, when the benedicts see an occasional mishap in the shape of a man whose wife has him down, they laugh; such a misfortune might have happened to him, but didn't. And there's room for some more jesting.

Eating Your Way to a Long Life

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Of all the methods which have been assumed to be conducive to longevity, diet has always played a most prominent part. From the earliest record to the latest fads, the insistence has been on rules of eating as a means to longevity. More persistent than anything has been the idea that the use of milk is conducive to health and long life.

Marco Polo lived in the thirteenth century among the tartars of Central Asia. He wrote of them, "They are capable of enduring every kind of privation, and when there is a necessity for it, can live for a month on the milk of their mares, and on such wild animals as they may chance to catch. They subsist for the most part on milk."

Another ancient author, Herodotus, says of the Ethiopians that they "ate boiled flesh and had for their drink nothing but milk," and that "most of them lived to be one hundred and twenty years old." But, as everyone knows, Herodotus exaggerated most of the time.

LIVED WITHOUT SALT

In Prescott's History of the Conquest of Mexico he refers to an Indian tribe named the Tlascalans. "In this connection it is interesting to note how healthy and vigorous were the inland dwelling pastoral nomads, who could not always get salt in abundance. And pertinent to this discussion is the case of the Tlascalans. The Indian tribe of the Tlascalans lived in the interior of Mexico; and as their territory was surrounded on all sides by the territory of the hostile Aztec empire, they were cut off from access to the sea and salt."

Prescott further says, "For more than a century they had neither cocao or salt. Indeed, their taste had been so affected by long abstinence from these articles that it required the lapse of several generations after the conquest to reconcile them to the use of salt with their meals." Notwithstanding this deprivation of salt to add to their food, they were better fighters than their liberal salt-eating neighbors; they successfully resisted the powerful Aztec empire.

The most famous book on how to attain old age is by Luigi Cornaro, a Venetian. When he was between 30 and 40 years old, he described himself as being afflicted with pains in the stomach, gout, slow fever and a perpetual thirst. On the advice of his physicians he began to use only such food as is prescribed for sick persons, and that sparingly. In less than a year he found himself entirely free from his complaints, so he decided that if this temperate diet would cure his grievous disorders, it would have the power to preserve him in health, so he continued in the same way of eating. He reached an old age, vigorous and alert. His sight and hearing were so keen at 84 that he said he never knew the world was so beautiful until he reached old age. He died in 1566, aged 100.

Unquestionably, the use of simple foods and temperate eating tends to make possible a placid mind and good health. But the best groundwork for long life is the soil, or the constitution of the body which you have inherited.

Bryant of Jumping Pound, Alta., became the bride of Carl Kimmel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kimmel of Torrington, Alta. Rev. J. L. Clerihue, officiated. NO RESTRICTIONS ON U. S. CITIZENS WISHING TO INVEST IN CANADA

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 (AP)—Grant Johnston, chairman of the Montreal Stock Exchange, said today that under foreign exchange control board regulations there are practically no restrictions upon citizens of the United States who wish to invest in Canada.

"Canadian brokers may execute orders to buy Canadian domestic securities for the account of Americans without any permit, whether the American pays in Canadian funds or in foreign funds," Johnston said.

"While it is true that the foreigner cannot readily take cash out of Canada at the present time, all income from capital, such as interest and dividends, may be freely exported, and it is hoped that this will continue. The board is now also prepared to permit the export of all securities purchased prior to Sept. 15."

EMPIRE AIR FORCE PROJECT SHOWS EMPIRE MEANS BUSINESS

(Toronto Telegram)

No news that has yet come out of the war can compare in heartening effect with the announcement of the scheme for training and supplying an Empire air force in Canada. There is in this project something that dazzles the imagination. It is not only that it will furnish a sure and ever increasing flow of men and machines. It is such a concrete evidence of the unity of the Empire as even the last war did not furnish. It witnesses to the world the resolve of the Dominions and the Motherland that this war shall be won, and that to win it all the resources of a mighty Empire are to be marshalled. With such a resolve and with such resources there can be no thought of defeat.

For Canadians the news is especially heartening, in that it gives Canada the chance to make a contribution that will be worthy of her and that will be in the field she would choose. The preparation for production of airplanes will take some time, but on the spot, and waiting for the word, is a plentiful supply of the best flying material in the world. Kipling's McAndrew said, in some such words: "I hae no doot for the machine, but what aboot the man?" In Canada, as far as flying is concerned, there is no doubt about the men. All they need is the machines.

The project, as the initiative must have come from London, is evidence of the shrewdness, farsightedness and determination of the British Government. At the same time it bears witness to the wisdom of that government's procedure in time of peace. Such an undertaking, the small part of an immense whole, gives Canada concrete proof of the enormous burdens that are being assumed, burdens of which Britain must bear by far the greatest share. Such burdens could only be borne by a nation with a sound economy and it is the soundness of Britain's peacetime economy and it is the soundness of Britain's peacetime well for Canadians to realize that the government saddled with the major responsibility is fitted for its task and deserving of confidence.

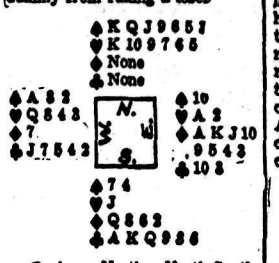
CONTRACT - - - - - - By Shepard Barclay

PICK THE RIGHT SPOT

KNOWING when to lead trumps is one of the salient characteristics of good defensive play. Many a hand can be beaten by thus destroying communication between the declarer's hand and the dummy, or by preventing the dummy from ruffing a loser.



(Dealer: North. North-South vulnerable.)

The same sharp spectacular bidding occurred on this deal at two tables of a duplicate game, with North calling 1-Spade, East the queer bid of 5-Diamonds, South doubling, North taking out to 5-Hearts, South 5-Spades and West doubling. In each case East led the diamond K, which North ruffed, and the latter then led the spade K to the A. Then came the variations.

One West returned the spade 8 to the Q. Declarer took the spade J, led the heart 5 to the J and Q and then lost to the heart A, being down one.

At the other table, when West took the second trick with his spade A, he decided to try for a club ruff by his partner. The declarer won this in the dummy and led a second club, discarding a heart. He then brought through the heart J to the A. East could return only a diamond, which was ruffed. A heart ruff enabled North to reach dummy and lead a third club for another heart discard. As a consequence the defenders could get no more tricks and the contract was made.

What sound bidding will steer North and South into the correct contract on this deal?

G. M., Nelson—What is the origin of the Lithuanians?

The Lithuanians are of Indo-European origin. Little is known concerning their early history and nothing of the exact time of their appearance in the country they now inhabit. They are mentioned by Ptolemy.

H. C., Trail—In what battle of the Great War was the artillery fire the heaviest?

In the Battle of St. Mihiel, the artillery fired more than 1,000,000 shells in four hours. This is the most intense concentration of artillery fire in history.

H. T., Trail—Can you tell me how to make plastic modelling clay?

A permanently plastic clay can be made by first mixing it with glycerine, turpentine or similar bodies, and then adding vaseline or petroleum residues rich in vaseline. The proportion of clay to the vaseline varies according to the desired consistency of the product, the admixture of vaseline varying from 10 to 50 per cent. It is obvious that the hardness of the material decreases with the amount of vaseline added, so that the one richest in vaseline will be softest. By the use of various varieties of clay and the suitable choice of admixtures, the plasticity, as well as the color of the mass, may be varied.

A. N., Nelson—A short time ago you published an article on how to unfelt woollen garments, would you please repeat this?

Put the garment in a fairly strong and warm alkali bath made by adding two ounces of powdered borax, to five gallons of water, rinsing to remove the soap and 'felting' effect caused by it.

M. M., Fruitvale—What is the best way to treat linoleum to make it last?

Waxing will help to make linoleum last a long time. Wash with steaming hot water and apply wax while the linoleum is warm. Apply after each washing.

J. D., Salmo—What is a Cape Foot?

A Cape Foot is a South African unit of measure equal to 1.033 English feet.

Doctor in East Kootenay Writes Book on Cures

Dr. Rolf Alexander at Fairmont Hot Springs in East Kootenay, has demonstrated in some sixty odd cases that many considered "incurable diseases" can be arrested, and that the lot of apparently "hopelessly crippled" victims of even such diseases as arthritis and paralytic stroke can be very radically improved.

He has published a book, "Your Unknown Doctor," written originally for his own patients, which gives a strikingly different approach, not only to the problem of self help in sickness, but to the problems of life as a whole.

Some 25 years ago a young physician in New Zealand, Dr. Alexander became convinced that the tendency was to treat the effects of disease rather than the causes, so he resolved to devote his life to tracking down the many unseen causes which lay beyond the invasion of germs and the disfunctioning of organs. The search led him to India, Tibet, Lourdes, the West Indies and many other parts of the world, and the results are summed up in his book in a simple conversational style which carries the reader eagerly from chapter to chapter.

Dr. Alexander's book, "Your Unknown Doctor" has been produced in the commercial printing department of The Cranbrook Courier. It contains about 180 pages, is approximately 5⅛" by 7¾" in size, and finished with neat cloth binding. The type used in printing is of large size and open, clear design.

for the BOYS and GIRLS

Most Valuable Player

By W. BOYCE MORGAN

A few blocks beyond the high school they began to climb a rather steep hill which led up to Howard Street. A grammar school was located at the top of the hill, and behind it was the school playground. Dot saw that a group of boys were playing with a football on the playground, and she noticed that Bob's eyes kept flitting across the street to watch them.

One of the boys kicked the ball. It arched over a 10-foot fire fence which surrounded the playground, dropped down over a high retaining wall into the street, and bounced down the steep grade.

"Hey!" the young boys yelled, running to the fence. "Get that ball, will you?"

Bob Leonard glanced quickly up at them. He saw that they would have to run clear back to a gate at the other end of the playground, around the corner, and down the hill to retrieve the ball. By that time it would have rolled farther and farther away. With a laughing word of agreement, he handed Dot's books to her, and leaped after the ball.

Dot saw him running with panther-like speed and grace after the crazily bounding ball. Then suddenly he bent over and with a deft motion scooped it up. He checked his speed, turned, and took a couple of steps back up the hill.

By this time he was perhaps forty yards away from the retaining wall and the fence on top of it. It was a barrier some 30 feet high altogether, and located diagonally up a steep hill from where he stood. Dot naturally expected him to come back up the hill and toss the ball to the boys. But instead he stopped, held the ball before him, and yelled, "Here she comes. Catch!"

Dot watched with round eyes as he took a step, dropped the ball from his outstretched hands, and swung his right leg in a long, graceful arc. She heard the thud as his street shoe struck the pigskin. The ball soared upward, cleared the fence by a good five feet, and dropped into the arms of one of the boys.

"Wow!" the youngsters cried. "Some kick! Thanks a lot."

Bob grinned and waved a hand in reply. Then suddenly a strange look passed over his face—a look of pain, and something like terror. He quickly dropped his eyes and walked back up the hill. When he reached Dot his face was expressionless, but it seemed a little pale.

Dot was still amazed at the kick she had just seen. She stared at Bob and blurted. "Where in the world did you learn to kick a football like that?"

"Me?" he said. "Oh, I guess that was just lucky."

"Lucky!" Dot exclaimed. "Why, that kick was 40 yards if it was an inch, up a steep hill and over that high fence. And you didn't even seem to be trying."

Bob Leonard didn't look at her. "I used to play a little," he said in a flat voice. "But I don't play any more."

Dot almost blurted another question, but she held her tongue. He said hardly a word from that moment until he left her in front of her house. But Dot gazed after him from a front window as he walked on up the street, and shook her head in bewilderment.

"I don't get it," she murmured. "But just wait until I tell Ed what his little sister saw today! Rushton could certainly use a fellow that can kick like that on its football team."

SELLING COOKIES

Making and selling cookies financed a seven weeks' vacation trip last Summer for two girls, Georgia Phillips and Nina Forbes.

They report that for many weeks they devoted their Saturday mornings to making "Old Fashioned Tea Cookies." Early in the morning they called their friends and customers to take orders. One week they would work at Georgia's home. The following week they would move to Nina's kitchen.

After the cookies were made, they were delivered on Saturday after noon, usually by bicycle. While Georgia and Nina say it was work as well as fun, they enjoyed the whole thing immensely.

The money they made on the venture was used for a vacation trip.

FANCY CLOTHES PINS

"A few years ago I made quite a bit of money in a very easy way," says Stuart D. Gamber, 15 years old.

"I bought boxes of clothes pins and tiny cans of enamel. Then I bound the pins together with rubber bands in bundles of six. The heads were dipped half-way down into the different cans of enamel, and fastened upside down on a wire line to dry.

"When the enamel got low in the cans, I mixed the contents of two cans together and got many interesting colors to work with. Those pins were easy to sell. Wouldn't you call that pin money?"

3. In what city was the first newspaper printed?

The Right Start

Last year when the school bell first rang, you started off with such good intentions! No bad habbits, no tardiness, no shirking of lessons, no sliding through recitations, hoping you wouldn't be called on.

But as the months passed, possibly you fell down on your resolutions. You let things slip a little—a problem here, a Latin verb there, a difficult spelling assignment put aside. And you were disappointed at the grades you received. So were your mother and your father.

You are in luck now because you can make all that different this year. It's not too late to resolve to master each day as it comes along. One day's lessons are simple enough to take alone, and when the good days pass into weeks, and then into months, you soon find you are taking home reports of which your family can be proud.

Piping Hot "Eats" Add More Fun to an Autumn Picnic

By KATHERINE HOUISON

These crisp Autumn days are ideal for picnics, but the crowd wants hot eats, not the cold specialties we've been using all Summer. And that means different equipment, as well as different food.

Take along your wire corn popper to cook hamburgers, weiners, or even small steaks and chops, particularly if you're going where there are no fireplaces. It's the handiest way to cook these over an open fire, and the popper is much easier to clean than a frying pan.

Here's a grand hot dish you can take along in cans and cook quickly in the frying pan whenever you're hungry. The quantities will depend on the size of the crowd, but take plenty — repeat orders are sure to follow the first platefull!

Heat one large can prepared spaghetti, add one medium can of corn, 1 medium can of tomatoes, ½ pound grated cheese, season with salt and pepper. Serve with toasted buns and a green salad carried in individual Dixie cups. Top this off with hot coffee or cocoa, and you have a hot meal everyone will enjoy without any fuss or long waiting. Cookies or fruit will make a good dessert.

If there are no stoves at your favorite picnic spot, try this idea. Build a small fire, then put four stones in a square around it, and rest a grate from the oven over these to hold the coffee pot, frying pan, etc.

COURAGEOUS CARDINALS

Since the Trail Cardinals tied up the West Kootenay Baseball League finals with Rossland Miners, I can't help thinking of those Sundays, wending my way homeward from Butler Park, when the odd remark floated betwixt yours truly and various members of that gallant band of youngsters who last season, were nothing more than a bunch of bantams.

As the genial Gordon Kelly of the Trail Times and I ankled along Riverside toward Trail Centre, half of the team would overtake us "a la bicyclette" and they would apply the coaster brake to enter into conversation.

The Rossland Miners took the first two games in Trail and going homeward from those games, the Cardinals were so down hearted the best cheer leader on the Continent couldn't have made them feel different. They lamented about their own mistakes; reviewed what they could have done; should have done; and lots more. But they expressed high hopes for the next game.

WHOOPEE!

But that doesn't matter now for last Sunday, with Cliff Bogstie again in the box, they came back to tie the series 3-3, to force into play the seventh of the best of seven game series.

It has been said by many a baseball fan, and by many a ball-player, that Cliff Bogstie is a losing chucker; that he can't fight an uphill battle. But my dear fans of the Diamond, the fact that he lost the first two games, then dug in and brought his club up on a par with the adversary, explodes that theory.

While the Rossland Miners are veterans at the game, and probably exceed the Cardinals in experience, I have a hunch there will be a lot of young happy hearts after next Sunday. That win will give them the West Kootenay senior baseball championship. From bantam baseball to a senior title, that's a real hop!

HERE TODAY . . .

There are drooping hearts in Trail since Joe Benoit, that super-man of the Trail Smoke Eaters, left for Montreal, where he will join the club of Les Canadiens. There are a few things I could never understand about Joe. He let us scribes of the Kootenays go on calling him "Benoit" because he was known as "Benoit" in Edmonton. Then some bright announcer—Gail Egan, I believe—buttonholed Joe and dragged out of him that his name was pronounced "Benwah". Never will I forget the night I asked Joe confirmation of the pronounciation and his lips moved, without a sound: "Benwah."

Joe always let on that he could not speak French at all, but I'm sure if someone from the West crept up behind him in Montreal and asked: "Comment ce va?" Joe would reply: "Ce va bien. Et vous?" And if you were of the fairer sex he might say: "Et tu?"

A FRESH START

Pat Haley, that brilliant sprinter of Trail is now at the Washington State College in Pullman, Wash. For many weeks, after getting the call, Pat hung around Trail, made uncertain trips to Vancouver to obtain a visa, and finally, we hear with the help of "Torchy" Peden of Victoria, made the hop over the 49th parallel.

Pat's athletic ability has won him a five-year course in law. We hope he makes good, not only on the track, but at his studies as well. A hope is a rather mild attitude. We know he'll make good at both.

DENIES IMMATURE FISH ARE CAUGHT

NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C., Oct. 17 (CP).—Major J. A. Motherwell, Chief Supervisor of Fisheries for Western Canada, today told a Royal Commission here that suggestions immature fish are caught by purse seine nets and fish trap operators at Sooke, B. C., are incorrect.

"Jack Spring salmon are often taken for immature fish because of their size," Major Motherwell told Mr. Justice Gordon Sloan, Chairman of the Commission which is investigating purse seine and fish trap operations. "This is wrong as the Jack Spring is a three-year-old fish. Also they are caught by trollers, seiners, gillnetters and in fish-traps."

Three other bombers, Greg Kabat, Wayne Sheley and Jeff Nicklin hold the next three positions with 31 points each while Howard Cleveland's two touchdowns for Regina Saturday gave him the sixth spot with 26.

Toar Springstein of Regina has 23 while Fritz Hanson climbed into the first 10 Saturday as he scored all three touchdowns when Bombers beat Edmonton Eskimos 18-1. Hanson is tied at 20 with Bob Fritz of Edmonton.

Spokane Players to Go to Seattle

SEATTLE, Oct. 17 (AP).—Phil Lycette, owner of the Seattle team in the Pacific Coast Hockey League, announced today he had taken an option on the Spokane Club's players and expected to transfer several of them to his Seahawk roster.

Lycette said at the same time he would protest the sale of Connie King, high scoring ace of the Spokane lineup, to Tulsa Oilers.

Lycette said Pat Gilkey and Roy Hotchkiss, operators las season of the Spokane club, had no right to sell any member of the team after having previously anounced they would not back the club during the 1939-40 season.

"By that action the players reverted to the league, or at least couldn't be sold outside this organization without the consent of the league governors," the Seattle attorney-owner declared.

REMEMBER WHEN?

By The Canadian Press

Detroit Tigers' playing-manager Gordon (Mickey) Cochrane, was named the most valuable player in the American Baseball League five years ago today. He piloted the Tigers to their first league pennant in 25 years in 1934. Detroit won again in 1935 under Cochrane and beat Chicago Cubs in the world series.

Wallers Named Most Valuable National Player

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 (AP).—Corralling 302 of a possible 336 points, William Henry (Bucky) Walters, the prodigious pitching star of the Cincinnati Reds, today was named the most valuable player in the National Baseball League.

His selection was made by a committee of the Baseball Writers' Association of America and entitled him to a trophy offered by the Sporting News.

The 29-year-old righthander, whose talent for years was buried under a bushel while he masqueraded as an infielder, led both major leagues in victories with 27 during the regular campaign and was instrumental in lifting the Reds to a pennant in his first full season with the club.

He appeared in 39 games, starting and finishing 31 of them and losing only 11.

MIZE SECOND

Second place went to Johny Mize, St. Louis Cardinals, slugging first baseman who won the hitting championship. He received 178 points, including one first-place nomination.

Four points behind him was Paul Derringer, Cincinnati's strong-armed veteran who pitched the Reds to 25 victories and lost but seven during the red-hot senior circuit race. Another Cincinnati hero, Frank (Buck) McCormick, the durable first baseman who led the league in runs batted in, rated 159 points and fourth place.

Cambridgeshire to Be Run in 2 Divisions

NEWMARKET, England, Oct. 17 (CP.-Cable) — Sixty-two entries today were named probable starters in the Cambridgeshire Handicap at 1¼ miles to be run here tomorrow under Britain's curtailed racing schedule.

Because of the large field the race will be run in two divisions. Originally scheduled for Oct. 11, the historic handicap was cancelled following the outbreak of war and then reinstated. There was no opportunity for the usual acceptance regulations which whittle down the field.

In last year's race, won by the French-owned Helleniqua, a 50 to 1 shot, only 29 faced the barrier.

The Calgary smoothie took more hard work today when the Leafs were called from bed at seven a.m., and were out for a walk 15 minutes later. An hour of physical training was scheduled after breakfast.

"Once we had physical training with the Americans," Schriner recalled. "But all the players just stood around laughing."

ICE WILL BE READY ABOUT NOVEMBER 15

Nelson Maple Leafs will open their training grind for the 1939-40 hockey season on or about November 15, Denis StDenis, Manager of the Nelson Civic Centre, said Tuesday.

It will be practically impossible to have ice any earlier, Mr. StDenis explained, for the Hockey Club carnival was to be held on the floor November 4 and 5. There would have to be one day to clean up the floor after the carnival, and then the taking up of the floor and storing it in the Recreation Grounds grandstand would take 2½ days.

Then preparing for ice-making and the actual ice-making would bring the date to about the 15th before ice would be ready.

On The Air

One of the most popular of CBC programmes in recent years has been "Canada's National Singsong", conducted by George Young. . . . This year, the programme "Canada Sings" has replaced the former series, and the fourth stanza will be heard this afternoon at 5:00 p.m. The Royal Canadian Air Force will lift their voices in song in this broadcast, which will be conducted, as usual, by the genial George. The Army and the Navy have already been heard from. Next week, it will be back again.

• • • • • • •

The first in a series of six discussions on "Labor and Co-operation" will be heard on the CBC at 6:00 p.m. (CKLN & CJAT), presented by the Workers' Educational Association. Subject of the opening broadcast will be "Labor and the Church", with Rev. A. J. Wilson, Editor-in-Chief of the "United Church Observer" as the principal speaker. Chairman will be Drummond Wren, General Secretary of the Dominion-wide organization.

• • • • • • •

The Little Theatre Association of Nelson makes it air debut tonight, when several members will be heard in portions of Scenes I & II, Act. II, of "Julius Caesar". The broadcast will be aired at 8:30 p.m. from the studios of CKLN. Those taking part include (in order of entrance) Alex Leew as "Brutus", Gib Goucher as "Lucius", Larry McPhail as "Cassius" Albert Smith as "Decius", Leslie Craufurd as "Caesar", and Mrs. Leslie Craufurd as "Calpurnia". Direction and narration by Gretchen Gibson. The programme also marks CKLN's first venture in dramatic productions, and is being looked forward to with great interest by many ligteners. It is hoped to "stage" a number of such shows through the Fall and Winter in the local station's studios, in which many local dramatic aspirants will be asked to take part.

ermany Faces Deadly Factor In Loss f Trade; Blockade Effective Weapon

More Decisive Than Armies American Experts Say

NEW YORK, (CP)—Great Britain and France will bring Germany to her knees by economic strangulation, in the opinion of United States Government economists.

In a Washington despatch Nicholas Gregory, Herald Tribune correspondent, said the consensus is that "the Allies' war against the Reich's commerce and trade will prove more potent than arms in deciding the conflict.

Germany's $2,250,000,000 export trade is facing ruin as the Allies swing into action with every economic and financial weapon in their power, the despatch said. It added:

Gerany started the war behind ratch economically. Weakened by e heavy burden of recent extraordinary military expenditure, the eich is poor in gold and foreign xchange. Her funded and floating ebt is estimated at between 15,-00,000,000 and 20,000,000,000 marks normally about $6,000,000,044 to $8,-00,000).

UT OFF SOUTH AMERICA

The Allies' naval blockade is radually wrecking Germany's barer trade with South America, cutting off from the Reich vital supplies of raw materials.

Germany's growing war needs in rmaments, reducing the amount of rms and munitions she can export, s undermining the structure of her greements in the Balkans. She is radually losing her barter unit for ugoslavian wheat, corn, lead and re and she must look elsewhere for il, wheat and timber she got from umania. Neutral Italy is now conesting Germany's position in the alkan markets.

The following tables show Germany's trade with principal countries in Latin America and the Balkans for 1938:

LATIN AMERICA

	Imports	Exports
Mexico	$ 25,973,000	$ 18,865,000
Argentina	90,407,000	61,431,000
Brazil	88,205,000	65,549,000
Chile	38,796,000	24,419,000
Total	$249,381,000	$170,064,000

THE BALKANS

Bulgaria	$ 38,417,000	$ 24,718,000
Greece	40,567,000	48,689,000
Rumania	71,397,000	67,734,000
Turkey	50,198,000	62,257,000
Yugoslavia	69,140,000	58,081,000
Total	$279,709,000	$361,479,000

With these markets closed to the Reich, it will have to look elsewhere to meet its raw material needs. However, two factors enter the situation. First, Germany lacks substantial amounts of gold or foreign exchange to purchase materials for cash; second, a large number of nations have placed wartime embargoes on the export of essential raw materials and products.

AGREEMENT WITH RUSSIA

In order to prepare against such a situation, Germany has made an agreement with Soviet Russia. Russia has been to Germany an important source of lumber, pulpwood, gasoline and lubricants, barley, cooking oils and fats, furs, flax hemp, jute and butter. Her imports of copper, zinc ore, lead ore, phosphates and other minerals have been very small.

United States trade experts do not believe that Russia could fulfill Germany's needs for raw materials and minerals. They say Russia has difficulty in filling her domestic needs, despite fabulous resources.

Rehabilitation of Poland from an industrial standpoint will take some time, while agricultural production is not expected to return to anywhere near normal for at least a year.

Britain to Buy Canadian Wheat

OTTAWA, Oct. 17 (CP)—British buying of Canadian wheat, lacking since the war started, will be resumed as a result of a new understanding between the British Cereal Authority and the Canadian Wheat Board and between the two governments, it was reported here today.

Hon. W. D. Euler, Trade Minister, declined to comment on such developments but well informed observers believed Canadian wheat would begin moving again almost at once to the United Kingdom, Canada's chief wheat market.

In the past few weeks a major crisis had developed in the Canadian wheat market because of the disappearance of British demand since the outbreak of war, while the country had a bumper crop and a near-record carryover from last year on its hands.

A variety of theories explaining the apparent British indifference to Canadian wheat in the last six weeks has been advanced but it is public information that the United Kingdom has been buying elsewhere in that time. International political considerations may have been responsible or the question of price alone may have been the determining factor.

If price was the key to the situation, it is suggested that Canadian wheat was perhaps at a bargaining disatvantage from the time a central buying authority was created in Britain after the outbreak of war, because the Canadian Wheat Board has continued to dispose of its holdings through the ordinary market channels.

However, it is understood now a working agreement has been reached, either between the two governments or directly between the Canadian selling and British buying authorities. Support for this is seen in the fact that the chairman of the Canadian Wheat Board, George McIvor, in Ottawa all last week, returned to Winnipeg over the weekend.

Normal Trade Brit. Govt. Bonds Restored

LONDON, Oct. 17 (AP).—Normal dealings in British Government bonds appeared to have been restored in the stock market today. Fresh advances were accompanied by heavily increased turnover. Improvement in the gilt-edged section stimulated buying elsewhere, especially of industrial leaders. Oils came back after early listlessness and most other commodity stocks quietly shifted forward. International shares, however, were lifeless.

Sales of Sugar Curtailed to 60 Per Cent, Nelson

Sales of sugar to Nelson wholesalers have been curtailed to about 60 per cent of sales in September by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

The move was brought about by Ottawa headquarters because of hoarding of Canada's sugar supply by some buyers across the country. The headquarters pointed out in a statement that would production was estimated at 29,642,000 tons of sugar in the crop year ended August 31, 1939, whereas when the First Great War began, the world's sugar production was estimated at about 18,500,000 tons.

With an increase of well over 50 per cent it was stated that no acute shortage as in the last war was in view or was possible, but sales of sugar would have to be restricted so as to "provide for a sane and equitable distribution," if some of the Canadian public continue to hoard sugar.

While the sugar situation in Nelson was somewhat more eased there were still no abundant supplies on hand, it was stated Tuesday.

Expect to Settle Zeballos Trouble

VICTORIA, Oct. 17 (CP). — A labor dispute in one British Columbia gold mine may be settled shortly, and in another the Government may step in with legal proceedings, it appeared today as the Department of Labor collected full reports on the two incidents.

Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Labor, said he hoped the trouble at Privateer Mine, Zeballos, where 79 men were discharged by the company, would be "cleaned up" shortly.

The men have requested conciliation and arbitration proceedings under the Government's Disputes Act but whether this will be necessary is undecided. The Department is in touch with company officials regarding the possibility of rehiring some of the men and developments are expected after the arrival here of W. M. Murray, the mine Manager.

In the Pioneer strike, Mr. Pearson said, the legal department is examining the status of the dispute and when this is completed the Government will decide its course of action.

War Stocks Boom

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 (AP).—The stock market's war infants leaped from their cradles today and put on a rallying sprint of 1 to more than 4 points.

The list got off to a quiet start, but bidders for steels, aircrafts, rails and specialties soon became insistent and quotations and volume mounted. There were subsequent slow-downs on profit realizing, but top marks in virtually all departments were posted in the final hour.

While the ticker tape managed to keep up with dealings, even in rush moments, the turnover of around 1,800,000 shares was the largest in about three weeks.

Prominent shares on the upswing were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Douglas Aircraft, Sperry, United Aircraft, Glenn Martin, Westinghouse, Du Pont, U. S. Gypsum, Anaconda, Western Union, Allied Chemical, Standard Oil of N. J., Santa Fe, Great Northern, U. S. Rubber and Sears Roebuck.

Granby May Set Up Smelter, B.C.

VANCOUVER, Oct. 17 (CP) — Granby Consolidated Mining, Smelting & Power Company is considering establishment of a copper smelter in British Columbia, according to A. S. Baillie, Vice-President and general manager of the company.

Tests have been carried on in connection with the company's ore for several weeks, Baillie said, with the idea of launching a smelting enterprise.

Location of the suggested plant would probably be close to the company's mines and concentrator at Allenby in the Princeton District, mining men suggested.

Baillie said that Granby decided not to enter into the deal between the British Ministry of Supply and Canadian base metal producers because Britain needs only refined copper now and Granby has only concentrates available.

Wheat Price Up

WINNIPEG, Oct. 17 (CP). — Strength at Chicago encouraged good buying by Southern and export interests on Winnipeg Grain Exchange today and boosted wheat futures prices more than a cent. Gains were scored in spasmodic flurries and quotations closed 1⅛—⅞ cent up, October at 72⅛, November 72⅛, December 73⅝ and May 78⅝.

To Close Pioneer Company Houses

VANCOUVER, Oct. 17 (CP).—Tenants of company houses at Pioneer Mine, B.C., 125 miles North of Vancouver, have been given notices to vacate and bunkhouses and cookhouses at the strike-closed mine are being closed, according to a statement issued here today by Howard T. James, Managing Director of Pioneer Gold Mines of British Columbia, Limited.

Yesterday company officials said that salaried employees of the company had been given 30-day notices of dismissal and that the mine would be closed for an indefinite period.

"As the men will not be on the payroll and will have no credits for wages in the second half of October, they cannot continue to receive the privileges of employees," James' statement read.

Spain, Neutral, Gains From War as Cash and Carry Refugees Aid Boom

Reconstruction Under Way; "Rivers of Gold" Flow

MADRID, (CP) — Neutral Spain is reaping a golden harvest from the war in Europe. "Rivers of gold" are flowing over her frontiers.

Many Canadians, Americans, Germans, English and French citizens who lived in Southern France during the Spanish civil war are seeking refuge in Spain. Refugees daily are crowding the frontier at Irun, and bringing with them huge stocks of currency that are swelling the banks of Spain.

Some are en route to the Southern part of Spain, Seville and Gibraltar, or bound for Lisbon hoping to board ships back to their homelands.

San Sebastian, first big city from the French frontier, is enjoying a full wartime boom. Every hotel and pension is packed, and daily scores of would-be guests are forced to seek a place to sleep and eat in villages farther South.

FLOOD FOREIGN MONEY

In San Sebastian alone, in the first three days after France and England declared war against Germany, the banks handled a flood of 24,000,000 French francs, 25,000 dollars and 6000 pounds sterling. The average exchange for francs alone has been 8,000,000,000 daily.

Refugees crossing the Irun frontier from Hendaye, France, express themselves as "amazed and surprised at the peace and tranquility of Spain and the apparent abundance of food."

Spain has made a remarkable comeback after 32 months of the bloodiest civil strife Europe has ever known. The harvest of wheat, potatoes, rice and lentils, in addition to fruits and vegetables, has been excellent.

FOOD FOR NEEDS

Government agriculture experts say Spain should have enough food without importations, to meet normal demands this Winter. Already there have been large exports of olive oils and fruits to England, Holland, Germany, Italy, and the Americas.

Food prices are still above the prewar levels, some items costing 100 to 300 per cent more. The government constantly is waging a campaign to stamp out food profiteering, imposing fines as high as $30,000. With her immediate food problems apparently nearly solved, neutral Spain is pushing ahead with her own reconstruction with every Spaniard enjoined by General Franco to maintain the "strictest neutrality" in the European war.

Chicago Wheat Prices Jump

CHICAGO, Oct. 17 (AP). — Increasing intensity of figting in Europe caused another rush to buy wheat futures here today and prices shot up about two cents a bushel to the best levels in a month.

Strength in securities and the Southwestern drought were additional factors that encouraged buying of grains.

Advancing at the close, wheat was 1⅞—2¼ cents higher than yesterday at the final bell, December 86⅛—⅜, May 85¼—⅝; corn 1¼—2 higher, December 51—51⅛, May 54—54⅛; oats 1⅝—1⅞ higher.

German Internal Trouble Only Thing to Make Short War, Dalgas Tells Kin

Internal trouble in Germany was the only thing that could save the war from going at least two or three years, Major A. E. Dalgas, commanding the 111th Field Battery, Nelson, told the Nelson Kinsmen Club at a dinner meeting in the Hume Hotel Tuesday evening. Major Dalgas and four officers of the Battery were guests of the Club.

The German war machine wasn't one to be beaten overnight, Major Dalgas said. "Prepare for lots of disappointments," the speaker said, emphatically adding, "but don't get pessimistic." Britain didn't advertise what she was doing as the Germans boasted of their accomplishments.

There were three classes of people in Germany. There were the "old diehards", the officials, who thought only in the bounds of their own Empire, thinking theirs was the only worthy Empire. Then there were the "miserables" who saw defeat in the other war in France, and knew all the sorrows of that one. In the back of their minds was the thought of revenge against the French and the British. Finally there was the third generation, the present army of Hitler's today. They fitted in perfectly with the 'revenge business," and along came Hitler to train them to their present efficiency.

DALGAS ADVISES CALMNESS

"Don't do anything foolish," Major Dalgas told his listeners. "Carry on with your business as you have been doing. You are not needed yet." The Nelson Battery would go overseas with the First Canadian Division to carry on its part against Germany in an efficient and intelligent manner.

Then when the time came for the rest of the Canadians to go, he said he knew that every one that wanted "Peace on earth and good will to all", would willingly do his share in "this war against aggression."

The other guests, Captain A. W. Parker, Second Lieutenant E. M. Gillott, Second Lieutenant A. R. Johnson and Second Lieutenant A. M. Parker, were introduced to the Kinsmen by Major Dalgas and called upon to say a few words.

JOHNSON WOULD PETITION GERMANY

Lieutenant Johnson said that this was not a Second Great War, but a continuation of the first. There had been an Armistice and a peace treaty, but everybody knew then that it was an unfinished war. For while Germany existed, there had to be war. The training had been going on for a long time, even before the Franco-Prussian War in 1871. Germany had to be crushed completely.

There would be peace for 60 or 80 years if Germany was diminished to a number of independent states, but it had to be divided among the other nations to ensure permanent peace.

Men who went through the first war all wanted to get back into the present one to finish it up, Lieutenant Johnson said.

The rest of the meeting was spent in a sing-song, led by Arthur Stringer, and George Shorthouse, with Harold Brown at the piano.

Tommy McGovern was guest of Murray Clark.

He also worked for nine years at the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company plant at Tadanac, but was forced to give up his work seven years ago on account of ill health.

"I mixed all the cement for the river wall at Trail," said Mr. Wright, commenting on his employment with the Consolidated.

"Repairs coming along but not completed. Will call again in six hours and inform."

The Djambi left Vancouver, B.C., on the "Great Circle" route Thursday after a crew had been recruited to replace the 18 Dutch sailors who walked off the motorship here, demanding 50 per cent "war zone" bonuses for continuing to the Orient with a cargo which they said would include dynamite. TRAIL SOCIAL

By MRS. H. S. ALLEN

TRAIL, B. C., Oct. 17—A wedding of much interest to Trail and Robson took place at the home of the groom's parents at Robson Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock when Eira Millicent, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Davies, Tamarac Avenue, exchanged nuptial vows with Albert J. Martin, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Martin of Robson. The ceremony, which was performed by Dr. A. P. McDiarmid of Robson, took place beneath a cascade of white streamers and wedding bells. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was becomingly attired in an ensemble of navy blue, her hat and accessories were en tone, and she carried a shower bouquet of bronze chrysanthemums. Mrs. Paul S. Jones, the bride's sister, was matron of honor, and she chose an attractive afternoon frock of mulberry crepe. Her hat was matching, as were her accessories. Cream chrysanthemums comprised her bouquet. Donald M. Rust of Trail was best man. Later a delicious wedding supper was served, the guests who numbered 12, including only immediate friends and relatives of the principals. A lovely three-tier wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, graced the centre of the bride's table, which was tastefully decorated with white and blue flowers. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Davies wore a green ensemble, which was trimmed with touches of mauve. Her hat and accessories were matching. Mrs. Martin was attired in a wine afternoon dress, and her hat and accessories en tone. Both wore corsages of white carnations. After a short honeymoon, which will be spent in the Arrow Lakes District, Mr. and Mrs. Martin will reside at Robson.

Mrs. E. Pringle, Warfield Subdivision, has as her guests Mrs. B. B. Sill, Miss Jean Hunt and Victor Sill, all of Macleod.

Edmonstone were charming hostesses Saturday afternoon when they entertained jointly at the tea hour at the former's home on Buckna Street in honor of Mrs. Albert Martin, who before her marriage Monday was Miss Eira Davies. Fall flowers in all their rich tones graced the rooms, while the lace covered tea table, at which Mrs. Ira Minion had been asked to preside, was centred with a lovely bouquet of pink and white asters and chrysanthemums in a silver flower basket. Tall green tapers in silver holders cast a soft glow over the table appointments. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses, who were assisted in serving by Mrs. A. T. Smith. During the afternoon Mrs. M. L. Barnes, on behalf of the assembled guests, presented the guest of honor with a handsome table lamp. Other guests invited included Mrs. James Rigney, Mrs. John Keszler, Mrs. W. J. Davies, Mrs. H. S. Allen, Mrs. Sarah Young, Mrs. E. J. Chandler, Mrs. Philip Coris, Mrs. Joe Hart, Mrs. Frank Wilby, Mrs. Charles Middleton, Mrs. Paul Jones and Mrs. H. Marshall.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Duffus, Daniel Street, was the scene of a lovely home wedding Saturday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, when their niece Ellen Russell, youngest daughter of W. G. Williamson of Trail and the late Mrs. Williamson, became the bride of William Burrows Waddell, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Waddell of Beausejour, Man. Rev. F. G. St. Denis, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, officiated. The ceremony was solemnized beneath an arch decorated with white streamers and a large wedding bell. Baskets of delphiniums and white chrysanthemums decorated the rooms. The petite bride was lovely in her becoming teal blue afternoon frock, which was trimmed with costume jewelry. Her accessories were wine, and her corsage of pale mauve gladioli and Sweetheart roses Miss Joan Snell was bridesmaid, and wore a dress of navy blue with accents of floral material. Her accessories were black and her corsage of deep pink gladioli. The groom was supported by his twin brother, Jack Waddell.
