Council Talking Over Post-War Work Proposals

Nelson City Council is drafting an outline of work suggestions to be placed before the Provincial Government for consideration in a post-war rehabilitation program.

The invitation to submit suggestions came to the Council from the Union of British Columbia Municipalities.

"We already have quite a number of suggestions," Mayor Stubbs said, "and we expect to have still more. We'd like to offer something practical and substantial, something that will be of real benefit not only to the men engaged but also to the City and District."

The Council, he indicated, will discuss the proposals at length before making submissions.

July Recruits to Likely Include 21 Year Olds Only

OTTAWA, July 2 (CP).—With more than 350,000 single men in the age classes 21, 22, 23 and 24 already notified by proclamation that they may be called or recalled for military duty under the National Resources Mobilization Act officials of the National Defence Department are busy preparing their requisition of men for July.

It is not expected, however, that the number required for the class entering army training centres this month will necessitate calling men outside the 21-year-old class from which recent quotas have been drawn.

Progress of the recruiting campaign now under way in which 32,000 men are sought for overseas service will influence the number of new men to be called up into the reserve army for training and eventual duty in Canada.

The capacity of the basic training centres operated by the Department of National Defence is 40,000. Under present arrangements a new class of 10,000 enters each month for the four-month basic training course and another class of 10,000 leaves each month.

Some of the new men who volunteer for active service may be trained with active army units outside the training centres but many of them will go through the centres. Some of those who volunteer for overseas service will be men who are already in or have passed through the basic training centres on being called up under the Mobilization Act.

In any case the number of new men to be called in July will be the number the training centres can handle after making provision for new volunteers to the active army who require basic training.

Reinforcements, Air and Navy Men, Nurses, 1200-Bed Hospital and Lumbermen Go; Thousands of Tank Brigade Men

By ROSS MUNRO—Canadian Press War Correspondent

A BRITISH PORT, July 2 (CP Cable).—Canada's battle-primed overseas fighting forces have been strengthened by the largest contingent of troops to arrive in the United Kingdom in this war.

Headed by rugged men of the First Canadian Army Tank Brigade, the men streamed ashore in thousands from a huge convoy, brought safely across the Atlantic in a mighty naval escort which proved anew Britain's mastery of the seas.

Fittest and gayest troops to land this year, they poured off their grim, grey ships whistling and laughing at the end of the crossing.

The convoy, sent on its way by Canadian warships, made a rapid, uneventful crossing in pleasant weather. Only incident occurred a few days out when one of the escort ships dumped depth charges overboard, but it was not made known whether a submarine had been lurking in the vicinity.

The troops came ashore in tenders, lustily cheering the Royal Navy as they passed units lying about the harbor. They piled their kit in baggage cars of the "funny" English trains which chugged from the station to carry the new arrivals to camps on Britain's battle lines.

The contingent included a complete 1200-bed hospital from Montreal with more than 80 nursing sisters; lumbermen—soldiers to complete the Canadian Forestry Corps operating in Scotland, and several small units and some headquarters officers of the 3rd Division.

There were reinforcements for the infantry, artillery and the Royal Canadian army service corps, reconnaissance battalions and other units as well as a large number of airmen and Canadian naval personnel.

First and largest group to land were thousands of black-belted Canadians of the Tank Brigade, first armored formation ever raised and sent overseas by Canada.

Officers and men of Central Ontario, Alberta and Quebec battalions crowding the docks were welcomed by Geoffrey Shakespeare, Dominion Under Secretary, Brig. F. F. Worthington, Commander of the Armored Brigade who came to England in advance, and Gordon B. Johnson, Canadian Government Trade Commissioner for Scotland, who represented Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian High Commissioner.

Mr. Shakespeare, standing atop a pile of trunks, said: "The British Government and the whole country is glad to receive this fine reinforcement of fighting men from Canada."

It marks an historic occasion for it is the first time tank formations have come from Canada and shows how far-seeing are the Canadian Government and military in realizing that not only men but machines are needed in this war.

The war has shown it is aircraft and tanks that are important and vital."

Mr. Shakespeare said that if Germany cleans up Russia it will be our turn next.

"In that case the only obstruction in the path of the Nazis will be the embattled force of the Empire," he added. "We are determined that our free way of life will prevail and that we will rid the world of this pestilence and plague known as Hitler's New Order."

"The inhabitants of England will sleep much better now that this brigade of cheerful, handsome and healthy Canadian tankmen is here."

The brigade, which will be commanded by Brig. Worthington, was led overseas by Brig. Major John Andrews of St. Thomas, Ont.

Aboard transport ships served as liners, peace-time, the tank troops crowded the decks and passageways as word was flashed around to move ashore.

There were trappers and hunters from the Northern outposts of the Dominion, farmers, tractor drivers and mechanics and men from the cities, all seeking action in their big cruiser tanks.

The brigade was complete with its workshop, signals, army service corps and medical sections.

VANCOUVER, July 2 (CP).—Announcement will be made shortly of more Royal Canadian Air Force squadrons operating in England as such, Prime Minister Mackenzie King said today in a speech opening No. 18 Elementary Flying School at Boundary Bay, near here.

Mr. King made a motor circle of the Fraser River Delta district, leaving Vancouver at noon and returning to his private car this evening to leave for Edmonton the next scheduled stop in his Western tour.

Mrs. Arthur Wills of Trail Drowns in St. Mary's River in Holiday Tragedy

Her Body Is Still Not Recovered After Search

KIMBERLEY, B. C., July 2.—Mrs. Alice Wills of Trail, aged 30 years, was a holiday victim of a drowning tragedy late Dominion Day afternoon five miles North of Marysville when she lost her footing on a big flat rock, known as Klee's Rock, and fell into the swift and deep water of the swollen St. Mary's River. Her body has not yet been recovered. Her husband, Arthur Wills, arrived here this morning.

The accident happened at 3:15 p.m. and Police were called immediately to the scene of the accident. Search parties were out till 9:30 p.m. and again today along an eight-mile front, under the direction of Constable Ring of Cranbrook and Constables Sweeney and Elphick of Kimberley.

Mrs. Wills was on a Dominion Day picnic with a party consisting of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Kenneman of Kimberley, and Mrs. N. Bachynski. They were just finishing supper, and Mrs. Wills left the party to go out on the rock. She slipped into the water, and then called for help. Her brother made two attempts to reach her, but the current kept taking her further out and finally drawing her under. He went up to his waist after her, but the current was too strong. He then returned to the shore, and tried to catch up to her, but was again unsuccessful.

Mrs. Wills had been visiting here for the past two months with her sister, Mrs. Harry Walkley, and her two brothers, William and Merton Kenneman.

Besides her husband, she is also survived by her parents at Kimberley, Sask.

His head and chest were found 125 yards away to the right, and his legs 33 feet to the left of the hole.

Five children and his wife are at home. A son is in the army. An inquest is under way.

QUOTES POET IN WELCOMING CANUCKS

A BRITISH PORT, July 2 (CP-Cable).—Geoffrey Shakespeare, Dominion Under Secretary, quoted the poet Shakespeare to the Canadian Tank Brigade when Canada's first tank troops landed at this port.

"My namesake once wrote, 'Thrice is he armed that hath his quarrel just,'" said the Under Secretary, quoting Henry VI, Part 88.

"But I say to you: 'Four times is he armed that gets his tanks in fust.'"

A. G. Desbriay, Penticton, informed the meeting that Mr. Loyd did not feel that a member of a shipping firm should accept nomination for the Fruit Board, and that if he did he would be breaking faith with the growers.

Mr. Barrat was chosen chairman of the Fruit Board at a salary of $3000 per year while Mr. French and Mr. Huddleston will receive $500 each plus out of pocket expenses when called by the chairman to attend board business sessions.

Warns Nazis Are in White Russia and the Ukraine

Enemy Not Invincible He Declares; Russia Had Signed Pact With Nazis Because No Peaceful Nation Could Refuse Accord

CALLS ON PEOPLE FOR GREAT EFFORT

MOSCOW, July 3 (Thursday) (AP).—Joseph Stalin, Soviet Premier, in a broadcast today warned his people that Nazi troops are inside White Russia and the Ukraine, but promised that "Hitler's army will be beaten like those of Napoleon and Kaiser Wilhelm."

He said German troops have occupied Lithuania, the greater part of Latvia and the Western parts of White Russia and the Ukraine.

A communique earlier said German and Russian troops were fighting fiercely near Barisov, less than 400 miles from the Soviet capital.

The Soviet leader said:

"The enemy continues to push ahead, sending fresh forces to the front—despite the heroic resistance of the Red Army and despite the fact that the enemy's best divisions and best units of his air force have already been crushed and found their grave on the field of battle."

"Hitlerian troops succeeded in invading Lithuania, the greater part of Latvia, and the Western parts of White Russia and the Ukraine."

"Fascist aviation has enlarged its field of action, bombarding Murmansk, Orsha, Mogilev, Smolensk, Kiev, Odessa and Sevastopol."

"A grave danger menaces our country."

"How could it happen that our glorious Red Army abandons a number of villages and regions to the Fascist troops? Are they really as invincible as Fascist boasters and propagandists claim unceasingly? Of course not!"

"History shows that invincible armies do not exist and never have existed. The army of Napoleon was considered invincible but he was defeated finally by Russian, English and German troops. The German army of Wilhelm II also was considered invincible during the first imperialist war. Nevertheless it submitted several times to defeats inflicted by Russian and Anglo-French troops and finally was crushed by Anglo-French troops."

Stalin answered the question of why Russia ever signed its now shattered non-aggression pact with Germany by saying:

"No peaceful nation could refuse a peace accord with a neighboring power even if such monsters and cannibals as Hitler and Ribbentrop were found at its head."

He said Germany in breaking the pact by invading Russia had gained temporary military advantage but now was marked "in the eyes of the entire world as a bloody aggressor."

"That is why," he said, "all our valiant army, navy, air force and people—the best men of Europe, America and Asia, and even all the better people in Germany brand as perfidious the actions of the German Fascists."

"Our cause is just. The enemy must be crushed. We must win. Because of the war forced upon us our country has entered into a battle to the death with the most ferocious and perfidious enemy—our troops are fighting heroically against an enemy armed to the teeth—thousands of Soviet tanks and airplanes are in action."

He declared a Germany victory meant restoration of great landed estates such as existed under the Czar, "slaves of German princes and barons," and said therefore "it is necessary that Soviet citizens understand" what is at stake.

He called for a ruthless campaign against defeatists, saboteurs, and spies, and appealed for revitalized munitions and factory output and better transport organization.

"Our cause is just and the enemy will be beaten," Stalin said. "Everything must be subordinated to the interests of the front and the task of crushing the enemy."

"We must produce more guns, rifles, machine guns, shells. We must organize for a ruthless struggle against panic-mongers, saboteurs and spies."

"We must mobilize all our means of transport."

"This war is a great war of the peoples of the Soviet Union against the forces of German Fascism."

"It is a war of the fatherland. It is also a war for the liberation of all peoples enslaved by Germany and of the German people."

MOSCOW, July 3 (Thursday) (AP).—The Red army today reported violent battles with the Germans ranging all the way from Murmansk in the Arctic to the Luck region of Southeastern Poland, marked by the fiercest fighting, stubborn resistance and strong counter-attack.

The Russians acknowledged for the first time a German penetration beyond Minsk, communications centre on the highway to every point of view to see two fine fast teams giving everything they were worth. Considering the type of play which combined all the roughness the fans could possibly ask for, with blinding speed, it was to the credit of both teams that only one fight resulted. That one came in the second period when Jim Laface and Joe Gallicano tangled in a short-lived punching exhibition that caused little damage to either would-be pugilist.

MANY STARS

It was difficult to say where or why more credit should be given one team over the other. Certain it was that Bert Bryant, Jack Bishop, Glen Price, Joe Gallicano and Bud Cooper carried the Nelson attack in admirable fashion. Bert got three goals and three assists for six points for the night. Jim Scott's play for the Redmen was sensational, and netted good results in the six goals. One assist was credited to him without a single penalty to mark his record. The work of Ken McGuire, Ralph Scott and Ross Saundry was very effective also.

If Russia Falls Just 2500 Miles to Trail Says at First Recruiting Rally

TRAIL, B. C., July 2—Trail's first recruiting rally of the second Great War attracted a large mass of citizens to the corner of Spokane Street and Bay Avenue Tuesday evening.

Heralded by three parades, the Trail Veterans Guard, led by the Trail pipe band, coming from East Trail; the Trail Canadian Legion, branches 11 and 132, coming from the Memorial Hall and led by the Canadian Legion band; and the ex-service men of the Tadanac police force, which marched down the Smelter Hill behind the Maple Band; the rally focussed at the platform mounted on a C. M. & S. Company truck, from which Horace Simpson, Chairman, E. L. Hodge, Capt. A. H. Huggill, and R. Burns, M.L.A., issued urgent appeals for volunteers, stressing the necessity for immediate enlistment in Canada's fighting forces.

MUST MAN MACHINES

Referring to the veterans of the last war who were "only too willing, but unfit to serve in the present conflict," the first speaker pointed out that any man not willing to serve his country could think up excuses galore, but that no man could fool his own conscience. Canada's response to the Victory Loan, Mr. Simpson stated, was that of glowing enthusiasm and money was raised to purchase planes, tanks and guns, but they had to be manned and manned immediately.

The progress of democracy was like a strong flowing river, fed by small streams and springs, and the effort to preserve that democracy would always have to be contributed by the small springs and streams, which symbolized the small people "such as you and I," he said.

At the quiet ceremony the bride presented a charming picture when she chose for her wedding attire a floor length gown of white sheer with a full bodice and wide waistband. Her white jacket was trimmed with gold braid and her chapel veil was held in place with a wreath of white roses. She wore white lace gloves and carried a bouquet of American beauty roses.

Japanese Cabinet Keeps Secret Decision on Policy in East Asia

TOKYO, July 2 (AP)—The Japanese Government announced today it had chosen a policy for coping with the situation arising from the Russian-German War and Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka told the nation that "A super-emergency of a very grave nature is developing before our eyes in East Asia."

The nature of the Government's decision, even its general trend, remained undisclosed despite statements issued by the Cabinet, and Matsuoka after a morning conference at the Imperial Palace in which generals and admirals of the High Command met with key members of the Cabinet in the presence of Emperor Hirohito.

Domei, Japanese news agency, declared that "quarters close to the Government" indicated the Empire's course would be disclosed by action rather than words.

"While maintaining secrecy externally the Government intends to pursue its policy internally to translate into action whatever decisions were taken at the Imperial Conference," Domei said.

The Cabinet statement said merely that "A decision was taken at an Imperial Conference held this morning on important national policies to meet the current international situation."

Matsuoka offered this amplification:

"It goes without saying that the situation arising from the German-Soviet War can not be met with such a simple idea as to think of it as the outbreak of a war between Germany and the Soviet."

"We therefore intend to watch the development of the situation with the greatest care and preparations in which we can place our confidence as well as with firm determination. We must at the same time pay constant attention not only to developments surrounding the war but to the situation over the world as well as the trend of individual powers and the state of affairs among them."

"I feel that a really grave state of emergency is developing before our eyes throughout the world, particularly in East Asia, with direct concern to our country."

"The more serious the situation the more calm and composed must our nation be and with the unity of all classes they must, in response to the august will of His Majesty, endeavor not to make even the slightest mistake in the direction of the path of our country."

Both Russia and Japan's Axis partners sought clarification of the Government announcement. German Ambassador Eugen Ott and Italian Ambassador Mario Indelli called on Matsuoka immediately after the statement was issued. They were followed by Russian Ambassador Constantin G. Emetsanin.

In an authoritative outline of what emergency sources said may be regarded as Japan's course, the Diplomatic Review today stressed efforts to settle the conflict with China, the strengthening of an East Asia "sphere of co-prosperity," and observance of both Japan's Axis alliance and her neutrality pact with Soviet Russia.

The Diplomatic Review, a bi-monthly publication supported by the Japanese Foreign Office, said "Japan's purpose in maintaining a military alliance with Italy and Germany as well as neutrality with Soviet Russia is to establish a new order which will be corresponding in Europe and Asia."

"Japan does not wish the European war to be enlarged further," the paper added. "It depends on Japan to complete establishment of a new order in East Asia before she steps into any other affair."

Combat Says Knox

WASHINGTON, July 2 (AP)—Navy Secretary Frank Knox flatly stated today that no American vessels on Atlantic patrols had engaged in combat, had become involved in combat, had suffered any loss of life in their crews or any loss of equipment.

The question of patrol operation was raised at a press conference at which the Navy chief was interrogated about criticism in Congress of his demand this week that the United States seize on the present moment to sweep "the German menace" from the Atlantic.

Senator Burton Wheeler (Dem.-Montana) said yesterday that Knox should be removed from office for making such a speech.

VICTORIA, July 2 (CP)—The motor accident toll in British Columbia has risen sharply this year, the Provincial Police Motor Vehicle Branch announced today.

Property damage caused by accidents was $263,405, an increase of 27.5 per cent.

In the same period the number of cars registered increased by 8.5 per cent to 114,931.

Churchill Declines Statement on

Changes in Middle East Command

LONDON, July 2 (CP)—Prime Minister Churchill declined to make a statement in the House of Commons today on the changes in the Middle East Command, involving the transfer of Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell to India.

Replying to Leslie Hore-Belisha, Liberal National, Mr. Churchill said "I do not see any advantage in adding to the information already given at the present time."

The official announcement from 10 Downing Street said Gen. Wavell, Commander in Chief of the Middle East since early in the war, and Gen. Sir Claude Auchinleck, Commander in Chief for India, would exchange commands.

From Australian sources in London today it was learned that the attitude of Prime Minister R. G. Menzies of Australia was an important contributory factor to Gen. Wavell's shift.

Australian staff officers, these sources said, advised Gen. Wavell against his defensive disposition after his army overran Cireneica Gen. Wavell was reported to have replied that 300 miles of desert between his army and Axis troops in Tripoli would hold any enemy advance to small units.

The same sources said that as a result of holding this view the Western defences of Cireneica were reduced to send troops to Greece and that when the Germans hit the British screen and penetrated they swept the British forces out of positions and won territory the taking of which had "cost hundreds of Australian lives."

In the House Mr. Hore-Belisha also brought up the appointment of Oliver Lyttelton as member of the War Cabinet with headquarters in the Middle East. As Minister of State, Mr. Hore-Belisha said, Mr. Lyttelton is "constitutionally responsible to parliament" and gave notice he would "ask some questions elucidating the meaning of these

Russia Civilians Conscripted for Home Defence

MOSCOW, July 2 (AP)—The Soviet Russian Cabinet ordered general compulsory training of civilians today for air and gas defence.

The order applied to all men between the ages of 16 and 60 and women from 18 to 50 years old.

The civilians were summoned for training in factories, schools and homes under supervision of the Air Raid Defence Society, Osoavimhim, and the local air raid defence section of the NKVD, the Russian state police.

Special training is to be provided for children from eight to 16 years old.

An editorial in Pravda, the Communist party organ, called "every enterprise and every house a stronghold of defence."

It called the decree for air raid defence behind the lines a measure to support the Red army at the front and pointed out that construction of shelters, digging of trenches and firefighting preparations would minimize the effects of bombardment.

Pravda also urged civilian support of the army through training of nurses, study of military techniques and blood donors.

Britain Approves U. S. Shipment to French Africa

LONDON, July 2 (CP)—Prime Minister Churchill said today Britain had permitted passage of a United States tanker to Vichy-controlled French North Africa because it was Britain's advantage for the United States to keep contact with Vichy territory.

Mr. Churchill stopped House of Commons discussion of whether oil from the tanker, the Scheherazade, might reach Axis hands by declaring: "I am convinced that it is an advantage for the United States to have contracts which in our case no longer exist."

Members saw in the statement an indication Britain hopes to keep the good will of Gen. Maxime Weygand, North African Commander.

"Any action of this kind that may be taken by the United States is conceived only in a sincere desire to aid the war effort of this country," Mr. Churchill said.

When asked if it were sure that "goods we required in this country are being sent to what is, in effect, enemy territory," Mr. Churchill said:

"I think we must, in these important matters, be guided to a very large extent by the opinion of our great and friendly country whose assistance is indispensable to us in our war effort."

Britain Retains Relations With Finland, Sweden

LONDON, July 2 (CP)—The British Government announced today that it still is maintaining diplomatic relations with Finland and that relations with Sweden "remain normal."

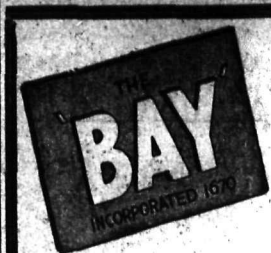

Foreign Secretary Eden told the House of Commons that Sweden had declared its intention to remain neutral despite granting passage of one German division across Sweden to Finland.

Mr. Eden's statement that relations with Finland were being maintained was his only answer to a question on whether the Government regarded Finland as neutral since her entry into the Russian-German war.

The Post Office said that postal service between Britain, Sweden and Finland had been suspended because of interruption in communications.

51 U. S. Marines in Britain to Take Over Guard Duty

LONDON, July 2 (CP)—Fifty-one American marines were reported authoritatively today to have reached Britain to take over guard duties at the United States Embassy and an apartment building across the square where attaches and observers have been quartered. The Embassy has been guarded by armed London Police.

It was said that the contingent, led by two officers, did not include the marine survivors of the former Netherlands steamship which was sunk while taking marines and American Red Cross nurses to Britain.

The U. S. Red Cross said today it was reported "unofficially" to their headquarters that six nurses from the ship had been landed in Iceland.

The Red Cross said their information was that there were 17 nurses on the way to London, but that it did not know how many were on the torpedoed ship adding that perhaps there were only six.

It was also learned from a reliable U. S. source that some marines had landed in Iceland.

WASHINGTON, July 2 (AP)—The American Red Cross announced today it had "definite word" that 11 Red Cross nurses missing since their ship was torpedoed last week are all safe on land.

Previously six American Red Cross nurses on the same boat, a "foreign flag ship," were known to have reached land. The others were believed to have been picked up by other rescue ships.

This belief has just been confirmed, Red Cross officials said, but they did not say at what port the nurses had landed.

The 17 nurses were part of a staff going to England to operate the American Red Cross-Harvard Hospital. Nineteen other American Red Cross nurses are known to have reached England safely.

The Red Cross also reported today that of $17,818,465 in relief items sent to Britain since war began $1,446,197 had been lost on land and sea, as of May 31.

SOVIET SATISFIED WITH U. S. STAND ON WAR

MOSCOW, July 2 (AP)—The Soviet Government expressed satisfaction and gratitude to the United States today for recent American Government statements of its stand on the Russian-German War.

S. A. Lozovsky, Vice-Commissioner of Foreign Affairs, acting as spokesman for the Kremlin, told a Press conference that acknowledgement of declarations by President Roosevelt, Navy Secretary Frank Knox and Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles would be made both at Moscow and Washington.

CAIRO (CP)—British prisoners liberated in Italian Somaliland said that seamen captured by a German raider on the Indian Ocean quenched their thirst by licking condensation off steam pipes in the hold of the ship.

AUSTRALIA PLANS TO BUILD BEST PLANES

CANBERRA, July 2 (AP)—The Australian Minister of Aircraft Production, Senator J. W. Lockie, announced today that Australia intends to build the world's largest and best fighter planes. He said the new planes will be better than Hurricanes or Spitfires but that the exact type has not been definitely decided.

It is understood that a new aircraft factory will be built, permitting production next year.

MELBOURNE TO RAFFLE MODEL AIRPLANE

MELBOURNE, July 2 (AP)—The Lord Mayor of Melbourne, Frank Beaurepaire, found difficulty in disposing of a Messerschmitt plane cowl sent by members of the Royal Australian Air Force.

However, he decided to turn it over to a model airplane manufacturer who is making it into a large scale model. The model will be raffled to assist the Empire bombing victims.

AUSTRALIANS USE CATALINA FLYING BOATS

CANBERRA, July 2 (AP)—Air Minister John McEwan said today that the Royal Australian Air Force is using giant Catalina flying boats on daily reconnaissance flights of the shipping routes.

Mr. McEwan said the planes were purchased from the United States and ferried to Australia by Australian pilots. He said they maintain a constant watch for enemy raiders, aircraft and mines.

BELFAST (CP)—The Ministry of Agriculture announced potato factories for production of flour and meal for livestock will be estab- lished in Northern Ireland.

GERMANS MAKE CLAIMS AGAINST SHIPPING

BERLIN, July 2 (AP)—The German High Command claimed today that German submarines have sunk seven British merchant ships totaling 40,200 tons off West Africa and in the North Atlantic and that the German Air Force has destroyed three more vessels totalling 11,500 tons in waters around England.

(These claims lack British confirmation.)

Questions Arise on Australia's Industry Shake-up

CANBERRA, July 2 (AP)—The wartime reorganization of industry which Prime Minister Robert Menzies announced recently has been the subject of questions in Parliament and the newspapers.

The Morning Herald says there is an uneasiness among those whose livelihoods are vanishing without Government announcement of plans for their transfer to war industries.

John Beasley, a member of Parliament and the War Council, said it is pointless in putting men out of work unless they can be diverted to useful war work.

Prime Minister Menzies denied that there had been a large number of dismissals and announced that the Labor Minister is investigating the positions of employees displaced particularly in the automobile and newspaper industries. At present severe gasoline and newsprint rationing is in effect.

Federation Reviews War Efforts During Year at Coast Convention

VICTORIA, July 2 (CP). — The Canadian Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, after 11 years of existence, needs to take stock of its aims to ensure its being in line with modern tendencies, and to ensure that it did not develop into another war service auxiliary, said Miss Margaret Clay, Victoria, National President, in her address at the opening session of the biennial convention here today.

"We hear much about the new world that is to emerge from the welter of blood, destruction and human misery of today," said Miss Clay. "We hear that class distinction, privilege and economic inequality have gone forever from the Old Country and that a new socialist Britain will arise. I am not a prophet, but I do know that such a world will not come without planning — and that must be parallel with our war effort — or the struggle will be in vain, regardless of the outcome. It is in this I believe our Federation can make the greatest contribution, greater even than in the more obvious war activities. We are going to discuss our Federation, how we can strengthen it so it will be of greater service to our own women, to the women of the world, and this means the cause of true freedom and democracy throughout the world."

The Federation's war activities included purchase of an ambulance for the Red Cross at a cost of $1750.

Summer Ills... First Aid for Sun Stroke or Heat Exhaustion

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

Any day now about this time of year the man in the street may be called on to perform emergency treatment for somebody who is overcome with heat exhaustion or sunstroke.

Undoubtedly many deaths reported during hot weather as being due to heat stroke are really the result of apoplexy or heart attacks. In cold weather they are ascribed to their proper cause, but in hot weather everything is blamed on the sun and the humidity. Excessive heat also is not borne well by those with high blood pressure and undoubtedly many apoplexies are brought on by the state of the weather.

A distinction is made between heat exhaustion and sunstroke or heat stroke. In heat exhaustion there is a condition of shock, lowered temperature, cold clammy skin, profuse perspiration, weakness and dizziness, but rarely loss of consciousness.

HEAT STROKE

In heat stroke, or sun stroke the essential feature is a complete upset of the temperature regulating mechanism of the body. Whatever centres in the brain control perspiration and the other factors in this mechanism become paralyzed and the body temperature rises to astonishing heights—as much as 100 degrees Fahrenheit. The skin is flushed, hot and dry, and unconsciousness is the rule.

Premortuary symptoms are nausea and dizziness and anyone who feels these symptoms on a hot day should apply ice or cold water to the skin and get in the shade and lie down.

Treatment will depend upon which type of heat depression you are dealing with. There is nothing very complicated about it—simply common sense. If a person is cold, clammy, weak and obviously shocked he should be treated by rest and warmth to overcome the shock. If he is thirsty give him water, a little at a time, not too cold. If there is some salt handy put that in the water.

PROFESSIONAL TREATMENT

The doctor will give him fluids by vein when he gets him to the hospital and also sodium bicarbonate to overcome his acidosis, so it's not imperative to get fluids into him, but give him plenty of rest and protect him from the per-purchase of War Loan Bonds totaling $1500, formation of a Service Musical Instrument Fund which supplied instruments of every type to soldiers who lost theirs at Dunkerque, forwarding of clothing to bombed victims and cash donations to the Lord Mayor's Fund, Red Cross and I.O.D.E.

Clubs also have provided entertainment and food for men in the services in their districts.

Dealing with the refugee question, Miss N. Ethel Thornton, the National Secretary, reported that at Board meetings in Winnipeg the several opinions were summed up in the following resolution:

"That while we have every sympathy for these refugees, we are of opinion that the fundamental need is not so much financial assistance as help to adjust themselves emotionally to environment. Towards this end, financial assistance should be gradually decreased while at the same time they be dealt with firmly, scientifically and persistently, so that they may emerge as unified, self-supporting personalities, and further, we feel there is a general principle involved, applicable to all adult refugees who come to this country, that continued financial support may only aggravate the problem, unless, in addition, psychiatric case work is done with each individual."

Miss Della A. Jones, Calgary, Treasurer, reported $2,064.44 in savings account on April 30.

son who comes along and who knows just what to do—such as raise his head, or roll him over, or raise his arms up and down.

The person whose skin is hot and dry to the touch, who is unconscious and who has a bounding pulse should be treated by ice and water doused on the body. Never mind about getting his clothes off. Throw a bucket of water over him with a good deal of force. The impact of the water does as much good as the water itself.

After the body is wet fan him. The evaporation of one gram of water produces seven times as much cooling as the use of one gram of ice rubbed on the skin. The great indication is to reduce the temperature.

Complaint... A Step Mother's Side of Problem

By CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Dear Miss Chatfield:

Do all step-mothers begin their letters by telling how hard they tried to make the step-children love them? That's the way I'll begin. The day we were married I promised my husband that I would do all in my power to win his children, make them love me as a real mother. I think I could have succeeded but for him. Right away he began to question them as to what had happened during the day, as to find out if I had been neglecting them. Right away they sensed their power and began to report little things that didn't amount to much except in the way they told their tales.

Long ago I left off any attempt at discipline. This didn't mend matters to any extent but at least it relieved me of their open resentment.

I'm at the end of my rope and as you can well imagine I'm not in a very happy frame of mind. My husband and I love each other and would be very happy and contented were the step-children not between us every hour in the day. If you can make any suggestions I will follow them.

STEP-MOTHER

Answer: Take stock, step-mother. Admit to yourself that somewhere your performance wasn't as good as your intention. Try to comprehend the hard position of a man who is trying desperately hard to make his wife happy, be happy himself, and gather his children into the warm circle with him. Try to appreciate the terrible temptation that comes to children to test their power with a parent they love against the power of a woman who has taken their mother's place.

Nothing is more galling to a wife than the realization that her husband isn't backing her up one hundred per cent against everybody and everything—even when she's wrong. And when she's extended herself in an effort to be kind and fair to his children yet has had no visible appreciation from him, that's bitterness on top of bitterness.

When a woman no longer has the comforting sense of her husband's backing (the best thing in marriage to a wife) she no longer feels the same toward him. She's sort of torn between pity for herself and indignation with him for cheating her. She loses her emotional equilibrium. She can't be a good wife or step-mother.

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Letters unsuitable for publication will be answered personally provided they contain stamped, self-addressed envelopes. All names are held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, in care of this newspaper.

Death at the Switch

By RICHARD HOUGHTON

CHAPTER ONE

"Silly!" said Mrs. Potter. "I never heard of a sillier thing in my life. Grown men playing with trains!"

Henry elevated his newspaper still higher in front of him. "I only mentioned it in passing," he mumbled.

"Another form of male insanity," Mrs. Potter emphasized, rattling the supper dishes in the sink.

Mr. Potter knew she also was referring to his penchant for checker playing.

"I suppose Laurence Harkness will spend money on toys now instead of buying his wife the new clothes she needs," the ruler of the house continued. "Goodness knows they have little enough!"

Mr. Potter shrank down in his chair. "Good Lord!" he whispered to himself. "I've started her against me!"

"What was that?" Mrs. Potter asked sharply.

"Nothing, my dear. Nothing at all."

He had a feeling that he had utterly ruined his chances for a pleasant evening. He should have had sense enough not to mention what Hans Svenson told him about the model railroad club—but it had seemed so amusing at the time.

"Speaking of toys," observed Mrs. Potter, "that son of yours left his toy train on the living room floor."

"Um-m," said Henry.

"Well, don't you intend to do something about it?"

"The boys in bed. Nobody will fall over his train tonight. I'll remind him about it at breakfast."

"Henry Potter!"

"Yes, my dear." Henry sighed and laid the paper down. He fumbled around the floor under his legs for his slippers, put them on and shuffled into the living room.

He had hoped that by informing his wife that bankers and business men were taking up model railroading Mrs. Potter might be more charitable toward the Leisure Hour Club. But apparently he had just given her another proof of the weakness of mankind—as compared to womankind.

Mr. Potter went to the living room window, opened the lower half and stuck his head out. Rain was pouring and splashing on the cement walk below. That was another thing his wife would soon be upbraiding him about. She had told him at lunch that the eaves needed cleaning. How was he to have known it would start raining so soon?

The night was black. The wind was blowing. Henry shivered, and lowered the window again. A nice night to stay home, but judging from his wife's mood he might have a more enjoyable time with his checkers at the Leisure Hour Club.

Of course he would have to walk almost a mile through the rain, but he had an umbrella.

He started to push the toy train track under the sofa, but the rails came apart. He decided he might damage the top, so he moved the sofa over it.

"There! No one can step on it," he decided. "I'll tell Richard to put it away first thing in the morning."

His wife called from the kitchen, "Henry! What are you mumbling to yourself about?"

"Nothing my dear, nothing." He returned to the kitchen and sat down temporarily. Instead of picking up his paper he took off his slippers and began putting on his shoes. "Guess I'll be getting down to the club," he announced.

"On a night like this? Henry Potter, you're a fool!"

Henry winced. "The boys will be expecting me," he said. He stood up. "Where's my umbrella, Martha?"

"How should I know? Where you left it, I suppose."

He found the umbrella on the porch, turned his coat collar up and started off. Just in time he remembered to come back and put on his rubbers.

Lightning Causes 15 Forest Fires; Only One Burning

Lightning accounted for the majority, probably all, of the forest fires reported in Kootenay-Boundary during the week ending Wednesday. Thirteen of the fires were in East Kootenay and two in West Kootenay. The Boundary which has had only one fire so far this season, remained free.

At the end of the week reports showed only one fire was burning, and this was small and probably was out by nightfall. It was in the Invermere.

The week's statistics follow:

East Kootenay	13	39
West Kootenay	2	0

Installation of New Road Signs Nearly Complete

With the addition of 15-minute parking signs at the Post Office and no-parking signs on the pavement near Kootenay Lake General Hospital, the City's 1941 program of installing new traffic signs will be complete. These have yet to arrive from the manufacturer.

The new markers are of metal with inset glass "flashers" which reflect the lights of cars. They show up brilliantly.

Mayor N. C. Stibbs stated Wednesday that the City has outlined a program of installing "a dozen or so" each year until all the signs desired are in place.

Most of the new signs are replacing old-type wooden boards, but some, notably the 15-minute parking signs at the Post Office, are in new locations.

Mayor Stibbs explained that the City Council and Police Commission were jointly responsible for the program. While the Council designated the points at which signs were to be placed or replaced, many of the new ones were located in accord with Police Commission recommendations.

Forget-me-nots, violas, candytufts and many other small edging and border plants will be encouraged to make new growth and another crop of flowers if they are cut back rather severely as soon as they finish their first blooming period.

Suspicious spots in the lawn should be investigated and chinch bugs looked for. This insect, which can be found only during hot, dry days, should be attacked at once by the use of tobacco dust, a nicotine sulfate or rotenone dust spray.

Forestry Radio Station Is Now Nearly Complete

Now near completion, the new Forestry Branch short wave radio station at Nelson is proving a great improvement over the former station and is functioning splendidly, officials of the Branch stated Wednesday.

The new station is on land on the C.P.R. Flats leased from the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Two 90-foot towers carry the aerial, with a lead-in dropping directly down to the radio "shack" where short wave receiving and transmitting equipment is installed. Power and phone lines are carried on poles to a point 400 feet from the "shack," and underground from there.

A feature of the new setup is the telephone hookup to the Forest Branch office in the Court House. When a forest ranger or lookout at any point in the district wishes to talk to one of the officials in the office, he gets in touch with the Nelson receiving station and the operator simply calls the office and "plugs in." Then the ranger and the official talk to each other as if over direct telephone lines.

This feature is expected to prove of inestimable value during the fire season. Fire crews carrying portable radio sets may keep the head office fully informed without the necessity of sending a messenger to the nearest telephone and losing a time interval.

The new location provides greatly improved reception compared with the old station in the Forest Branch warehouse on Lake Street. Interference was bad at the latter point, but causes little inconvenience at the new site.

LaFrance Creek Pupils Are Planning for Their Future

Country School Gives Visitor Glimpse of Their Vision

By Rev. Cecil M. Lancaster

We are accustomed to regret the spectacular characters of Canadian life and history, as the "Makers of Canada." While these men and women have played a very important part in our national life, we are apt to regard that personality of men and women as now extinct.

But a part, and a very vital part, that class of the benefactors of our Dominion, is very much alive and very actively engaged this very day in carrying on this most important work—the teaching in our schools.

Away on the lonely prairies, in sparsely settled regions of this Dominion and of this Province, we have young men and young women actively and successfully engaged in instructing the youth who will be the men and women of the very near future, and who will carry on, for weal or for woe, the affairs of Canada in all their diverse forms.

We paid a surprise visit to a rural school at La France Creek, near Bowell, on the beautiful eastern shore of Kootenay Lake. An excellent situation, just below the highway from Gray Creek to Creston and the great beyond.

BRIGHT AND CLEAN

The log school house was clean and bright as a new pin. Efforts are being made to grow flowers around the exterior of the building; a fast running creek as clear as pure as crystal, flows close by; the clean sandy lake shore for a playground, shelving gradually to the water, but a safe enough locality for the exercise of youthful vigors; a pretty belt of trees provides a shelter from the cold winds from the South.

While the exterior and surroundings are attractive, the interior is most interesting.

We were met by the teacher—a young lady, Miss Christine P. Miller, who began her teaching career while still in her teens, with a bright smile of welcome, though perhaps there was a hint of curiosity at this visit. In a very short time we were placed at our desks and after a few minutes the interior with critical eyes and pronouncing, inwardly, all very good, we were asked to address the pupils and this we did briefly.

Micmacs Lead but They Are Under Fire

The camp was "invaded" by visitors July 1. Invasion boats operated by Admiral Jerry Jerram brought the guests across the lake from MacDonald Landing. Visitors included: Mr. and Mrs. L. Tyson and Clifford of Trail, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Emory, Betty Emory, Bob Emory, Mr. and Mrs. R. Temple, Mrs. W. C. Kettlewell, Donald Kettlewell, Miss Amelia Hanna, Miss Stevenson, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Hoover, Mrs. A. E. Truitt, Miss Edna Steed, Thomas Padgin, Mrs. J. Stube, J. C. Neale, Elder, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Paddon, and daughters, Miss Dorothy Todd, Miss Verna Blackwell, Miss Boyce, Miss A. Storb and Teddy Storb of Nelson.

SPORTS A FEATURE

The camp schedule was altered in order that the traditional Dominion Day sports could be held. The afternoon program consisted of racing, softball throwing, a log sawing contest, and last but not least, a potato peeling contest. The meet was run with the assistance of all the camp staff, members of which acted as starter, announcer, score-keeper, and judges.

Competition in the track meet was divided into three classes: Junior, 14 years and under; intermediate, 15 years; senior, 16 years and over.

The winners were: Junior 75 yard dash—Jim Moynes, first; Angus McLeod, second; Leslie Rogers, third.

Intermediate 100 yard dash—Howard Malmid, first; Alan Gill, second; Gordon Harris, third.

Senior 100 yards dash—Garth Barnes, first; Bill Affleck, second; Martin McLennan, third.

Wheel barrow race, open—Garth Barnes and Hugh McIntyre, first; Ron Smith and Don Newton, second; Gordon Harris and Hawkshaw Powell, third.

Junior softball throw—Leslie Rogers, first; Doug Wetmore, second; Angus McLeod, third.

Intermediate softball throw—Archie McTeer, first; Jack McDonald, second; Howard Malmid, third.

Senior softball throw—Garth Barnes, first; Martin McLennan, second; Frank Paddon, third.

Junior obstacle race—Leslie Rogers, first; Bill Humphries, second; Jimmy Kirker, third.

Intermediate obstacle race—Howard Malmid, first; Alan Gill, second; Don Newton, third.

Senior obstacle race—Garth Barnes, first; Martin McLennan, second; Hawkshaw Powell, third.

In three events teams were entered from each cabin. The cabin relay was won by Cabin 1, the Apaches; while Cabin 3, the Micmacs, came second; and Cabin 2, the Kootenais, came third.

The log sawing and splitting contest was won by the Sioneys, with the Micmacs, and the Kootenais, took 70 seconds to saw and chop the cedar log. The Kootenai team consisting of Bill (Alfalfa) Affleck and Jack Steed took 55 seconds. The Micmac contestants, Barney Barnes and Ron Smith were able to do their stuff in 42 seconds. The Sioneys team consisting of Little Chief Gordon Harris and Art Willie, came first with a time of 41 seconds.

The visiting ladies were greatly

Pupils of La France Creek school. Children holding the cups are Frederick Simpson, extreme left, and Ruth Miller, who won them for highest totals in a recent interschool track meet at Sanca.

La France Creek School

As we began we noticed the bearing of the pupils, all attention, their deportment convincing us that persuasion and tact, and not compulsion, were the ruling principles of this school. We advised the pupils to put aside, if they entertained it, the idea that all the education they had to meet the future of their lives was a public school education; but urged them to get the very best and highest education possible. It is very easily carried around and is useful at all times.

PLANNING FOR FUTURE

On inquiry we found that most of the old pupils had already some plan for their lives when this period was over. The lesson impressed was the making of lives, and not the making of money, as the goal of their attainments.

entertained by the potato peeling match. Mrs. Kettlewell, Mrs. Tyson, Mrs. Emory, and the camp cook, Miss Evelyn Carlson, were the judges. The winning Sioneys team consisted of Gordon Harris, Art Walde, Hawkshaw Powell and Alan Gill.

TEA FOR VISITORS

While the braves went for a dip to cool themselves, the guests visited the dining hall for a delicious tea prepared by Miss Carlson and presided over by our nurse, Mrs. William Dovey of Salmo.

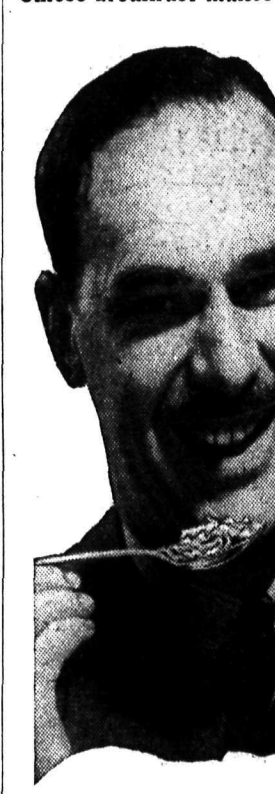

CABIN STANDING

In the evening a large group of fellows crowded around the notice board. The object of so much interest was the score of the marks gained by each cabin to date. The Micmac tribe with Little Chief Garth Barnes in command, leads with 232 points. The other standings are: Apaches, 230; Sioneys, 214; Kootenais, 211½.

Each of the latter three cabins is determined to surpass the leading Micmacs before the end of camp, so from now on the Micmacs will have to work even harder.

Unless the garden roses are lightly cultivated or mulched, and sprayed or dusted, at least once a week, and thoroughly watered whenever a week or ten days goes by without a good rainfall, they are very likely to stop growing and blooming.

Unless breakfast makes you think ...

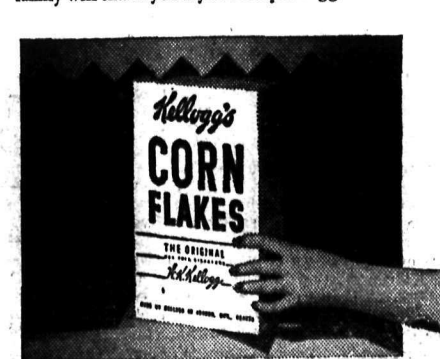

THIS WAKES
A HE-MAN
APPETITE!

... you are NOT getting the sort of breakfast you need!

After all, why shouldn't you enjoy breakfast? It's better for you! The right kind of appetite really does help digestion, and that's the kind of appetite Kellogg's rich, mellow flavour and delicious crispness gives.

Yes, flavour is the explanation of Kellogg's enormous popularity, the reason why a vast majority of housewives say Kellogg's Corn Flakes is their family's favourite cereal. We know, because 4 out of 5 told investigators they personally prefer its taste. Your family will thank you if you serve Kellogg's tomorrow.

Flavour experts agree. Year after year, housewives have voted Kellogg's tops for flavour. But the experts, men and women with trained palates, unhesitatingly pick Kellogg's, too. Always keep Kellogg's Corn Flakes in the house! And when you eat out, ask for the triple-wrapped individual package.

Money saving, too! Kellogg's—the "30-second breakfast," comes in two convenient sizes, only costs a few pennies for a family meal. Made by Kellogg's in London, Canada.

Couple United in Marriage at Camp Lister

CAMP LISTER, B.C.—A pretty wedding took place in All Saints Anglican Church June 29, when Alice, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Wellspring became the bride of Charles Montgomery, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Montgomery. The Church was decorated with pink peonies and blue canterbury bells and the ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Partington of Creston. The wedding march was played by Mrs. C. H. Fleck. The bride who entered the church on the arm of her father was becomingly gowned in a white silk dress, white hat and accessories and carried a bouquet of pink roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Kitty Beard, wore a sheer blue dress with white accessories and carried a bouquet of red roses. Albert Montgomery, brother of the groom was best man. During the signing of the register, Mrs. Fleck sang "The Words That Breathed O'er Eden" and "Love Divine, All Love Excelling." Following the ceremony a reception for relatives and close friends was held at the home of the bride's parents. The bride's table was centered with a three tier wedding cake. The happy couple left for a honeymoon at Ainsworth. They will reside in Trail.

Japan Enters on Fifth Year of "Chinese Non-Cooperation"

Yes, apparently Japan has not had enough of it.

While she is considering repudiating her signature on the non-aggression pact she signed recently with Russia, and entering upon a new war, the fifth year of her undeclared war with China opens.

Without much doubt Japan signed the non-aggression pact chiefly for her own security in further prosecuting her war with China. She expected a free hand from Russia in warring on China; she counted on Russia living up to the pact.

Now the military and naval party, which is in the ascendant in Japan, calls for repudiation of the pact, and throwing over of Mutsuoka, the Foreign Minister who attached Japan's signature to it with the approval of his Government.

The advantage of the pact to Japan having gone, with Russia fully occupied in standing off Germany, Japan is wavering on the brink of declaring war on the neighbor who is in trouble.

As practised by the Axis countries, under Germany's leadership, a non-aggression pact is a useful maneuver that ties the other fellow's hands, till you choose to fall upon him.

Not one country that Hitler has invaded, that did not have its pact of friendship and non-aggression with the signature of Von Ribbentrop on it.

If Japan invades Russian territory, it will be merely repeating history as made by the Germans many times in the last three years.

Meanwhile the fact that China has held off Japan for four complete years, and that Japan has had generally a sad time of it in her crusade "to bring happiness to China,"—as she phrases her war against her immediate neighbor—should give Japan pause.

Today's Horoscope

If you have a birthday today, you will experience some little domestic disappointment or heavier expenditure during the year just starting, which, however, will be offset by unexpected good fortune. This latter will come probably through elders, or land or property deals. Born on this date a child will be successful in business and popular with the opposite sex. He or she will also possess much artistic, musical and literary ability. It is foreseen.

Quietly Confident

Best antidote for war pessimism, in our experience at any rate, is to talk to an Englishman, says an Ottawa Journal writer. An Englishman just out from England.
We talked to one this week. He was a business man. He had been torpedoed once. He had experienced many bombings. But he spoke of all these things in such a low, matter-of-fact voice that he made us almost ashamed. We asked him if he thought England could be defeated by prolonged bombings. His reply, spoken softly as though he thought we were being a bit ridiculous but was too polite to say so. In other words, he made us feel we were talking nonsense and that he was surprised we should be doing so.
We came away from this Englishman feeling a lot stouter. Certainly he convinced us that 40,000,000 people of his kind, so quietly confident without being at all boastful, could not be made to quit if the bombs kept raining upon them. The thing just wouldn't occur to them.

X. N. Nelson—Has the Bagdad railway been completed?
The last section of the railway connecting Turkey with Iraq was completed July 16, 1940. British engineers continued it, Nisibin, on the frontier of Syria, Turkey and Iraq, is linked with Mosul and Maji. The newly constructed track is 198 miles in length and cost £3,250,000.

Ten Steps Up From the Jungle

"Only within the past century has it become the fashion to say, 'Of course, progress is real,'" declares Will Durant, famous philosopher and author, in the Rotarian Magazine recently. "In the midst of the wealth and power of the 19th Century, some of the wisest of men raised a question mark over the idea of progress."

William Morris—inventor of the Morris chair—John Ruskin, and Tolstoy were among those who questioned if the accumulation of comfort and wealth were really progress as long as men suffered from poverty and ill nourishment. "An increase in mechanisms is not necessarily progress," Arthur Durant points out. "Science is but a committee on ways and means, and it is always reporting progress, but the human heart is the committee on resolutions and platforms. It decides what we shall want to do with these tremendous instrumentalities, and it is always humbly reporting that it has the same basic desires it had 50,000 years ago."

Yet Philosopher Durant believes that man has made 10 steps up from the jungle: ten steps which once made were never lost. These are the coming of speech, the conquest of the animal, the conquest of fire and light, the coming of agriculture, the coming of social organization, the coming of morality, the developing of the ethic sense, the development of science, the coming of means of communication, and, last, education.

These steps, Dr. Durant declares, are the basic ones that even war and hunger have not been able to abolish. One by one, from the coming of speech to the development of systems for handing knowledge on to the next generation, they have meant the progress of man from a jungle beast to whatever he may be today. These are the signs of real progress. "Do I have no doubts for the future?" writes Dr. Durant. "Yes. Certainly, we shall pass through misery and terror. But I envy our children."

Crown Jewels

Surely, nothing to be found in the pages of Oppenheim is wilder than the Case of the Spanish Jewels and their flight to the New World, as described currently in The Nation, states The Detroit News. The jewels are fabulous necklaces, tiaras and the like, dating from the sea-roving sixteenth century and the Golconda, and picked up lately by the Loyalists from ransacked Spanish palaces, mansions and secret caches of the nobility.

As the war in 1938 pushed toward Barcelona, the treasure (given a nominal value of 50 million dollars) was moved to France and from one cellar to another, the last in Deauville. Then, as the tide turned unmistakably against the Loyalists cause, a yacht picked up the precious cargo one night and lit out for Mexico. There, instead of being delivered to the keeping of Cardenas, a friend of the Loyalist cause, it fell by a series of misadventures into the hands of the deposed Loyalist Minister of War, Prieto, who had settled in Mexico City.

It had been intended that the treasure constitute a financial cornerstone of a revived Republic of Spain. Instead, it may be liquidated and the money used by Prieto to assist Spanish refugees, like himself. This he may do, for the Mexican Government disclaims any legal control over it. So the jewels, once more brought to Spain contribute to its wealth and emphasize its glory, may be the means of enabling hundreds to escape an inhospitable and impoverished land. It is a touch of irony a little beyond the Oppenheims and others who have to do, vicariously, with priceless gems, stealthy intrigue and skulduggery in the grand manner.

Words of Wisdom

Making the World Safe for Hitler

(From Empire Information, Toronto)

FEDERATED EUROPE—GLOWING GERMAN VERSION

The Nazis have made the New Order their battlecry. It is their justification for war by armed aggression against a series of small but independent nations. The Nazis paint a dazzling picture of post war Europe, strong, well-organized, and united. Its chief drawback to Europeans is that it is to be Europe dictated to by Hitler for the benefit of Germany alone.

"This war will bring liberation to all those who work. Through the inflexible will of the Fuehrer a New Order known as 'Social Justice' will be established." (German home broadcast, February 20, 1941).

THE GIGANTIC SWINDLE

This picture is nothing but counterfeited. The Nazi New Order conceals a plan by which Germany not only gains world domination, but takes from the conquered countries all hope of a renaissance such as Germany achieved after the Treaty of Versailles. With this end in view Germany intends to rob her victims:

(a) Of their heavy industries—
"Above all the Comité d'Organisation has created pre-conditions for a considerable change in the placing of contracts which has put French industry at the disposal of German industry." (Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung, March 28, 1941).

(b) Their means of self defence and independence—
"The requirements of great powers who are responsible for the security of Europe must be considered. Small states obtain this fortunate advantage, that they need no longer employ a large part of their national income maintaining an over-sized army." (Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung, April 27, 1941).

(c) Of their accustomed standard of living—
"By lowering actual wages, and thus standard living conditions necessary for the incorporation of Norway in the European economic system will be created." (Deutsche Schiffs Zeitschrift Neuse, November 12, 1940).

(d) Of their political rights—
"In the case of the Balkan States not one of them dates back as far as a hundred years. Consequently the independence they may perhaps be sacrificing by becoming part of the New Europe is not one they have had very long." (German broadcast to America, November 28, 1940).

THE SELF-APPOINTED MASTER
Armed and surrounded by helpless dependencies Germany can impose her will, and she intends to make full use of her powers: "If the Netherlands declare themselves under pressure of want and circumstances, they must not expect to be treated as a free and equal partner of the great community of German peoples." (Deutsche Zeitung in der Niederlande, April 13, 1941).

"The Fuehrer alone will decide after England has been defeated what form of constitution Belgium will have and what her relations with the Reich will be." (Koelnische Zeitung March 3, 1941).

"Though political malaise prevails in Belgium, Holland and Norway, this causes no disquiet in Berlin, where it is held that it is only worms that crawl." (German broadcast in French Feb. 16, 1941).

GERMANY'S PLAN FOR THE FUTURE

The Nazis are determined to insure permanent security for themselves and their new order.

"Where the Reich arrives in tanks it will live peacefully for two generations." (Das Reich April 20, 1941).

"The responsibility for Europe now assured by the Reich makes it necessary to keep the military striking power of the Reich permanently in action. This will require the maintenance not only of a good but also of a strong army wherever the Reich is faced with tasks of leadership." (Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung Sept. 2, 1940).

MR. DAY HAS HIS DAY

Stephen A. Day of Illinois achieved last November the ambition of two decades. Six times, since 1920, he had run for congressman at large, without success. On the seventh occasion, running on a ticket headed by Wendell Willkie and Dwight Green, and with the endorsement of The Daily News, he was elected.

Last Sunday night Congressman Day, in a radio speech, attacked the defence program of the United States. He attacked and misrepresented the foreign policy of the United States.

The Daily News, when it endorsed Mr. Day, assumed he was in agreement with Gov. Green and with Mr. Willkie on the subject of national defence and of loyalty to the government in the world crisis. We were mistaken. Mr. Day could not have spoken otherwise last Sunday night had he actually been a member of the America First Committee. We apologize to such of our readers as may have been influenced by our endorsement to vote for Mr. Day. We misled them because we were ourselves misled. And so far as we are concerned, where Mr. Day is concerned, it will not happen again.—Chicago Daily News.

TIME TO PROVE LOYALTY

Canada's war needs are many and the most urgent at the present moment are men for the fighting forces. Every young Canadian who values this country will, we feel sure, answer this call. So far the Government has favored a voluntary system of enlistment for overseas service. This system was and is probably desirable in the interests of Canadian unity, but let our young people see to it that this system does not break down. A time has come when we have to prove our loyalty by deeds. Britain is now encircled by enemies who are steadily increasing their pressure. In this critical moment, even the slightest complacency among our young people would be out of place if they value the freedom they enjoy on this free Canadian soil.—Kanadiyski Farmer (Canadian Farmer). Ukrainian weekly, Winnipeg.

WHAT IS MEANT?

The Department of National War Services is promoting and advertising a campaign of saving, asking that all waste paper, metal, bones and rags be held for use supplementing the war effort. Some day someone is going to realize that there is a $200,000,000 per year waste in Canada that neither the Government nor anyone else, apart from a few individuals is doing anything about, but which some, actually some in the Dominion Government service, too, are increasing and promoting.—Port Arthur News-Chronicle.

Propaganda Minister Goebbels Stretches Imagination

This photo, released by the German censor, is described by the German caption as an oil tank burning after German bombardment of a Soviet town. If you look closely you will see the word "Shell" on the side of the building. As the Shell Company is Dutch, you may wonder what it is doing in Soviet territory, where all oil wells, refineries and storage tanks are the property of the Soviet Government. It would appear from this photograph that Nazi Propaganda Minister Goebbels is attempting to turn the effects of R.A.F. raids on Nazi-occupied Holland into German propaganda for use in their current attack on the Soviet.

High Standard Is Set in High School Annual

Again setting a high standard, the 1941 edition of the Mountaineer, Nelson High School annual, is the eighth published. It is a 98-page book replete with the work of students, with photographs and drawings providing many illustrations. The editorial staff consisted of: Margery Fraser, Editor-in-Chief; Neena McClelland, Assistant Editor; Robert Thain, Art Editor; Marie Drozda, Assistant Art Editor; Gerald Lee, Advisory Editor; Stanley Lyon, Business Manager; Susan Barry, Secretary; Pat Nicholson, Senior Class Editor; Jessie Patterson, Junior Class Editor; Paul Hloockoff, Picture Editor; Eric Holmgren, Circulation; Edward Affleck, Literary Editor; Coral Sahara, Athletic Editor; Einar Domell, Assistant Athletic Editor; Evelyn Gunn, Social Editor; Michael Lake, Editor; Willie McClelland, Alumni Editor; Lyle Corbett, Administration Editor; Lindsay Holt, Candid Camera Editor; June Kennedy, Donella Edwards, Mary Zelnick and Lily Edwards, Printing Staff.

Junior, Senior High Girls Turn in Fine Children's Clothing

By The Work Room Reporter
Red Cross workers got a delightful surprise when Red Cross Groups from the Junior and Senior High Schools turned in their work for the year. The girls of both schools had devoted their efforts almost exclusively to garments for children in bombed-out areas in Britain. These groups raised their own money with which to purchase wool and materials, so that the articles handed in were entirely donated. Besides this, since January the Nelson Red Cross has received $81.75 from the Junior High School and $15 from the Senior High School.

The parcel from the Junior High contained one lap robe and a bundle of extra knitted squares which will go toward another; three pairs of booties, two pairs of socks, one baby's shirt, two bonnets, three jackets, two red flannel skirts and one crib cover.

From the Senior High School there was also a lap robe with extra knitted squares, and one boy's sweater, one baby's sweater, two pairs of socks, six pairs mittens, two bonnets, one baby's dress, five children's sweaters, nine wash cloths, two parkas, one helmet, one wool toy and a small boy's suit.

In addition to making and donating these articles the girls have worked with Red Cross woools and socks and sweaters for children have been turned in from time to time. The ladies praised the workmanship of the garments and commended not only the students whose enthusiasm and industry has been evident throughout the year, but the teachers whose patient supervision was in a large measure responsible.

'Call to Arms' Will Be Made Across Canada Today

OTTAWA, July 2 (CP).—Proclamations urging men of military age to enlist in the Canadian Active Army will be read from the steps of city and town halls across Canada Thursday and Friday, National Defence Headquarters announced today.

The proclamations will be delivered by military couriers to civic officials throughout the Dominion "in an up-to-date adaptation of an old-time custom," the announcement from Defence Headquarters said.

Military dispatch riders mounted on motorcycles will deliver the proclamations to Mayors and Reeves of all cities, towns and villages in Canada.

"In Canada's early days when freedom was threatened the system of calling the citizenry to the defence of their homes was for a horseman to gallop to the outlying districts with an official proclamation that was to be read to the public from the town hall steps," the announcement said.

"Today, when Canada's freedom is again being threatened," the same system is being used, but with a modern twist.

Terming the proclamations a modern "call to arms," the announcement said great cities had replaced pioneer settlements and modern military vehicles had replaced men and the urgency of the situation remained.

"With that view in mind," it continued, "National Defence Headquarters has issued a modern proclamation calling Canadians to arms."

The proclamations will be written in Old English on parchment paper and will be tied with red ribbons.

Health... Stars Keep Trim on Balanced Diet

By ALICE WADE ROBINSON
When the movie powers encourage the girls to add curves, that's news.

The girls who meet the screen's specifications are not only beautiful but they exude health. Plenty of vitality seems to go with such perfect weight distribution and on their light-footed way to the top of the ladder they are running circles around the actresses who keep themselves as thin as a blade of grass.

In a recent contest to discover who currently has the best figure in Hollywood the nominees read like a list of success story heroines. They are either "the most likely to succeed" or, having arrived, they are sure to hold their own. Betty Grable came in first, but running her close race were Ann Sheridan, Paulette Goddard and Ginger Rogers, all with a pleasing assortment of curves and plenty of energy.

But here are a few of the film's favorite figures, and you can make your own estimate:

Betty Grable, height 5 ft. 4 in.; weight, 122 lbs.; bust, 34½ in.; waist, 24 in.; hips, 36 in.

Paulette Goddard, height 5 ft. 4 in.; weight, 110 lbs.; bust, 34 in.; waist, 24½ in.; hips, 36 in.

Ann Sheridan, height 5 ft. 6 in.; weight, 120 lbs.; bust, 35 in.; waist, 26 in.; hips, 36 in.

Ginger Rogers, height 5 ft. 4 in.; weight, 108 lbs.; bust, 33½ in.; waist, 23 in.; hips, 33 in.

Susan Hayward, height 5 ft. 4 in.; weight, 107 lbs.; bust, 34 in.; waist, 24½ in.; hips, 35 in.

Glance down the line of figures, and you'll agree that even though the film trend is toward higher weight, the stars and starlets still average less weight than women in any other career. But compare their proportions with the average and you'll find the rule is a scantier bust measurement with weight gravitating toward waist and hips.

The movie beauties have worked out a system. They have found it a good thing to keep an eye on the calories, but that they get best results by a combination of calorie-cutting and building-up. So, although they watch the scales, they see to it that there's plenty of nourishment in their diets, and that they get outdoor exercise for sun and air, and, when needed, specific exercises.

Gov't. Favors Cost of Living Bonus for Railway Workers

OTTAWA, July 2 (CP).—The Dominion Government takes the view all railway workers in Canada should receive a cost of living bonus of $1.93 a week, Labor Minister McLarty announced at a Press conference today.

The Minister expressed the hope that cost of living bonuses would be general and not only apply to the railway workers and those in war industry but to all the workers in Canada totalling some $,000,000.

The Minister also announced the Government has amended its cost of living bonus order in council (No. 7440) to make it certain that when a bonus is decided upon for the employees of a company or industry the bonus shall apply to all the employees concerned regardless of their wages or salaries.

Thus the bonus must be the same for workers with low wages as for those with higher wages.

The order in council is an instruction to Boards of Conciliation which are set up where disputes occur between employers and employees. When an application for a bonus is made by employees it is usually made by a union representing or claiming to represent all workers in the industry or the trade concerned.

The changed order in council does not automatically bring the cost of living bonus to workers. They may ask their employers for a bonus and if it is refused, may apply for a Board of Conciliation. This Board will be governed by the order in council and will be required, if it grants a bonus, to make it apply uniformly to all persons in that group that asked for the Board.

The Minister anticipated there would be only "remote" cases where the employer would not cooperate in the bonus policy.

The bonus, effective when the Writer Speculates on Reactions of Moscow Residents Should Hitler's Forces Break Through to Capital

(Wade Werner, who pictures here how Moscow residents might react to Nazi raids, has had unusual opportunity to judge the military and psychological factors on both sides of the Russian-German conflict. He was in Germany when Hitler first began to make headway in his rise to power, later was stationed in Moscow, and was in Finland when Soviet forces invaded that country in 1939.)

By WADE WERNER
NEW YORK, July 2 (AP).—Now that Hitler has launched Germany on the great gamble that wrecked Napoleon—an invasion of Russia—what will happen in Moscow if his troops enter the city which his predecessor also entered only to see it go up in smoke?

Will the Russians again burn Moscow to frustrate a would-be conqueror? Will a conqueror this time, too, find his victorious armies stranded in the midst of a Russian Winter?

When Napoleon crossed the Niemen River in 1812 at the beginning of his gamble it was the 24th of June. Hitler's troops entered Soviet territory June 22.

Napoleon's soldiers entered Moscow Sept. 24. They had to walk, and Hitler's men move on wings and wheels; but it is not yet apparent that he will beat Napoleon's schedule. That, of course, depends largely on the effectiveness of the Red Army.

But supposing German troops actually arrive at the gates of the Soviet capital about Aug. 1? What will happen then?

It can be assumed that most of Moscow's population will remain on the job as long as possible. Moscow is the capital, crowded with the many officers of a vast bureaucracy and many important factories—including one of the biggest Soviet automobile plants—are there or nearby.

This, of course, is a far different war from the war of Napoleon's day. It is possible that Moscow might be laid in ruins by Nazi bombing squadrons long before any armored columns could penetrate within 100 miles of the city.

Moscow's people, however, are no strangers to hardship and danger. They have seen civil strife and famine and endured the nerve-grawing strain of successive political purges in which high and low were liquidated and no man could feel exempt from the peril of death or imprisonment or exile.

It would be most astonishing if these stolid inhabitants of Moscow, with their background of endurance through war, revolution, civil war and famine, suddenly should melt around in panic under the stress of this new war.

If the Government should decide to evacuate Moscow, or at least evacuate most of its civilian inhabitants, it is safe to assume they would trudge away in the assigned direction with little more excitement than if they were parading on a big day of ceremony.

If, under air bombardment, they do not put up as brave a show, in their own way, as the inhabitants of indomitable London, they will certainly surprise many foreigners who have lived in their city at one time or another.

Many years ago Soviet leaders began preparing for the possibility that their outer defenses might be broken. Many of the new strategic factories had been built deep in the armed forces supplied with tanks and planes and ammunition were built 700 miles or more East of Moscow, some of them behind the mountain barrier of the Ural.

Near these mountains, too, Soviet engineers have been developing new oil fields and refineries to insure a full supply for the army and air force in case the oil fields of the Caucasus have to be abandoned.

The Government policy regarding war wages of workers.

The Labor Minister said the Province had been consulted as to their cooperation in the bonus policy and support has been indicated. His department would bring the matter before them again in developing a similar policy throughout the country in all cases where the bonuses is granted upon application of workers.

"The payment of the bonus is not mandatory," Mr. McLarty said. "We lay down the basis under which any Board must apply its payment."

As further industries become engaged in production of war requirements, Federal Labor policies and the cost of living bonus—where approved—will become applicable in these plants.

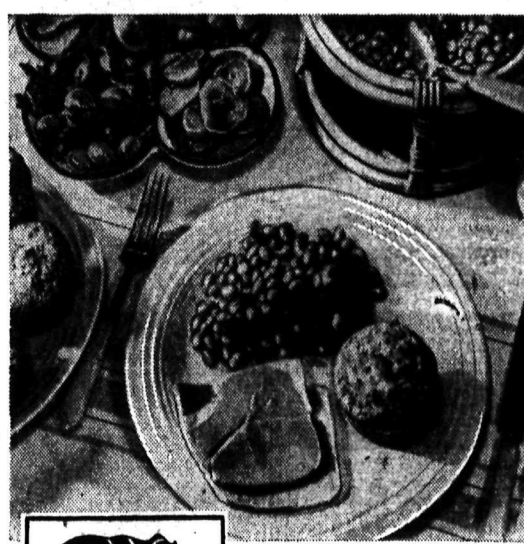

Mr. McLarty said that it was estimated an increase of 25 cents a week in the bonus payment was sufficient to meet an increase of one per cent in the cost of living index.

London, to defend deserving cases of Canadian soldiers in British Criminal Courts were called to the bar today and admitted to the historic Inns of Court.

Lieut.-Col. W. A. L. Anglin of Saint John, N.B., was enrolled in Gray's Inn, Maj. N. F. Macdonald of Brantford, Ont., in the Inner Temple, Maj. J. R. Roche of Montreal in Lincoln's Inn, and Maj. A. W. Embury of Saskatoon in the Middle Temple.

The action was made possible through the assistance of Viscount Caldecott, Lord Chief Justice, and Sir Donald Somerville, Attorney General, after Gen. Montague's request had been conveyed by High Commissioner Vincent Massey.

It was stressed that the Canadian Government will not assume at public expense the defence of its soldiers contravening the criminal law but any officer or many deserving legal assistance will be defended by a countryman.

Officer-lawyers appearing in court will wear service dress with Sam Browne belt or arms instead of the traditional wig and gown. Their admission to the bar makes legal history. The Inns of Court, which control admission, passed a special wartime regulation enabling these five Canadian lawyers of five years standing to be called temporarily to the bar without examination or payment of fees.

Int. Labor Office Issues Report on War Conditions

MONTREAL, July 2 (CP).—Modern warfare requires the whole of the human and material resources of any country engaged in conflict or preparing to defend itself against the menace of war, the International Labor Office says in a report issued today on "Labor Supply and National Defence."

The report notes that a policy of labor supply for defence or war means, for individuals, a restriction of their freedom of movement or an obligation to change their employment, occupation or residence; often at a heavy sacrifice. But it advocates cooperation among Government, employer and employee groups even when the executive authority has been given sweeping powers.

Today's release is a 245-page volume prepared by Pierre Waelbroeck, a Belgian citizen who is chief of the employment and labor conditions section, assisted by Miss Elizabeth Mayer of New York. Both are attached to the I.L.O., which moved here last year from Geneva.

Their work is an analysis of the various problems of labor supply followed by notes which describe factually the measures adopted by Australia, Canada, France, Germany, Great Britain, Japan, New Zealand, the Union of South Africa and the United States.

Creston High School Cadets Have Made Splendid Progress

Win Commendation of Major Critchley
at Inspection

By C. F. HAYES

"Eyes right on taking the salute was the smartest I have seen on my inspections to date." This was the appreciated tribute passed to Creston High School Cadet Corps, Unit 1746, by Major W. B. Critchley who, with Sergt. Major C. S. Henry, both of headquarters at Victoria, inspected the cadets.

He was impressed with the enthusiasm displayed by both men and officers. Battalion drill and manoeuvres were pleasing as well as the physical training, notably the tumbling, in which Harry Skelly was rated as "equaling the best." Major Critchley had seen on his tour.

The tribute was particularly gratifying since this unit did not commence to function until February, 1941. It was under the direction of Benjamin Crawford, B.A. arts and physical training instructor at the school who, while familiar with what might be termed the former-day cadet work, had to resort to much reading and some correspondence to get a working acquaintance with the present day drill.

Likewise the corps officers were equally uniformed. That in four months they were able to win this commendation from the inspecting officer on their official parade spoke of the enthusiasm and ability of the instructor and the cadet rank and file.

CORPS OFFICERS
Officers of the Corps are:
Officer Commanding—Lieut. Col. Allan Macdonald.
Adjutant—Major Harry Skelly.
Battalion Sergt. Major—Ray Dewar.

Battalion Quarter Master—Arnold Pudifin.
A Company Commander, Capt. George Goodwin; Sergeant Major, George Nedelec; Quarter Master, Sergeant, Melvin Hoodenpyl; Orderly Sergeant, Terry Davidge.

A Company Platoons:
No. 7—Commander Lieut. Gordon Skerik, Sergeant, Bill Bohmer.
No. 8—Commander, Lieut. Albert Ingham, Sergeant, Jack Goodwin.
No. 9—Commander, Lieut. Arthur Sutcliffe, Sergeant Charlie Tompkins.
B Company—Commander, Capt. Bob Weir; Sergeant Major, Ken Kolthammer; Quarter Master, Sergeant, Bill Constable; Orderly Sergeant, Hawkshaw Powell.

B Company Platoons:
No. 10—Commander, Lieut. Joe Pelt, Sergeant Douglas Cole.
No. 11—Commander, Lieut. Linden Bell, Sergeant Dick Hale.
No. 12—Commander, Lieut. John Walker, Sergeant John Jackson.

PROGRESSIVE STEPS
As soon as the officers were selected drill was begun. Two periods a week were set aside during which the whole corps drilled, as well as the usual physical training period, during which squad drill was taken. When the whole battalion had mastered squad and platoon drill, company drill was the next step, and finally battalion drill.

Other work of as great importance as the drill was undertaken. Four British Service Army target rifles and 12,000 rounds of ammunition were sent to the Corps from headquarters; and target practice under the supervision of H. A. C. Thicke was carried out. Several good scores were set up with D. Cole and A. Sutcliffe outstanding.

Constable H. Giles of the R.C.M.P., assisted by taking classes in the "Parts and Care of the Rifle." Later tests were given to see how well the cadets had learned their work. The results were excellent. A Signal Corps was organized, composed of 15 cadets, with Robert MacLaren as Sergeant Instructor in Semaphore, and John Richardson as Sergeant Instructor in Morse. All participating were enthusiastic. Proficiency of 15 words a minute was reached.

33rd ARREST IN U.S. SPY CLEANUP

NEW YORK, July 2 (AP).—Federal agents today made their 33rd arrest in a counter-espionage clean-up started Sunday by taking into custody William Gustav Kaercher, 45, of Westwood, N. J., on a charge of conspiracy to violate the Federal Code.

Kaercher, described as being of German nativity but a naturalized U. S. citizen, was employed by the American Gas and Electric Company as a draftsman for power plants.

Kaercher pleaded innocent and two others arrested earlier—Adolphe Henry Walischewsky, a steward aboard the liner Uruguay, and Conrad Otto Doid, a steward of the liner Excalibur, pleaded guilty to charges of transmitting information concerning the United States to a foreign power.

Renee Nezenen, 36, Clipper steward, at the same time changed his plea of innocent to guilty.

All four were held in $25,000 bail.

ABOUT HALF U.S. YEAR EXPENSES ON DEFENCE

WASHINGTON, July 2 (AP).—The United States Treasury announced today it spent $12,710,000,000, including $6,048,000,000 for defence, in the last fiscal year. The expenditures were $5,103,000,000 above income.

An official review of the fiscal year which ended Monday night showed huge increases in both expenditures and revenues over the preceding year, but made no mention of the program for the new year which includes $22,269,000,000 of anticipated spending as a result of the defence program.

organized into a First Aid Corps. Forty-eight senior certificates and fifty-seven junior certificates were granted.

L. S. Smith held classes in map making, a subject essential to field training. Pamphlets were handed to all cadets showing the conventional signs used on maps.

An activity of special note was the gymnastic work under the supervision of Mr. MacLaren. A number of the cadets take part in this and are now quite proficient.

An organization that must appear in all military operations is the band. John Barrigan, Bandmaster of the High School Band organized from its members a Drum and Bugle Corps. This band contributed in marked degree to the life and snap of the cadets on route marches and parades.

Three Canadians Ferry Bombers

By DOUGLAS AMARON
Canadian Press Staff Writer
LONDON, July 2 (CP).—Three Canadians share the distinction of being the first fliers "posted" to the Trans-Atlantic ferry service so they might get to England in a hurry to complete their courses as night fighter pilots.

Squadron Leaders N. B. Peterson of Winnipeg and P. Y. Davoud of Kingston, Ont., and Flt.-Lt. M. Lipton of Halifax were at the central flying school at Trenton, Ont., when orders came for them to proceed to England. The orders added that each would fly a bomber across the Atlantic.

The bombers were United States-built Hudsons for the coastal command and after 10 days "embarkation" leave, the three pilots reported to Montreal from where, after a few days training to become accustomed to the planes, they took off for the base from which the crossing was made.

Urges Building of St. Lawrence Seaway to Aid Defence

WASHINGTON, July 2 (AP).—William S. Knudsen, Director General of the Office of Production Management, urged immediate construction of the St. Lawrence seaway today to eliminate a "bottle-neck" in Great Lakes transportation which he said hampered defence production.

Warning that "we don't know how long the emergency will last," Knudsen told the House of Representatives Rivers and Harbors Committee that the United States must lose no time in developing all its resources and production.

"We cannot afford to gamble with time," he said.

Navy Men Killed When Plymouth Express Crashes

LONDON, July 2 (CP).—Five persons were killed and 23 injured today when the Plymouth Express of the Great Western Railway crashed into a freight train outside Slough, 20 miles from London.

Three sailors were among those killed. Most of the injured were navy men on leave.

Rescue squads required more than five hours to extricate the victims from the wreckage of the first two coaches of the Express.

A Canadian petty officer, A. A. Chambers, escaped when a compartment he occupied with two Free Belgian ratings was crushed.

"The two Belgians and I were half asleep when we were awakened by a terrific jolt," said Chambers. "Then there was a crash. We were flung out of the compartment onto the line."

The attacks were pressed home in the face of heavy opposition from ground defences and a large number of enemy fighters were beaten off with heavy losses," it continued.

"Reports so far received show that 17 enemy aircraft were destroyed, of which 10 were shot down by our bombers. Three of the enemy fighters destroyed were shot down by the Eagle Squadron."

Waves of planes, often so high they could only be heard, swept in and out over the coast and the distant rumble of explosions indicated that targets were well inland.

The opposite shore could not be seen, however, because of a heat

American Eagle Squadron Bags Three Enemy Planes.

LONDON, July 2 (CP).—Seven German planes were destroyed by the Royal Air Force today in a series of daylight raids on Northern France. Three of the enemy craft were bagged by the American Eagle Squadron.

Strong forces smashed across the Channel late this morning and squadrons of fighters and bombers still were streaking over Northern France during the afternoon, following up a night attack in which British bombs straddled the dock of a German battleship at Brest.

The R. A. F. acknowledged that two bombers and seven fighters were lost in the daylight sweeps, the first large scale offensive against Occupied France in which the American Eagle Squadron had taken part.

An airdrome at Merville, near Lille, and a railway junction South-east of Lille were bombed by Blenheims guarded by a strong fighter escort. Bombs burst on runways and buildings and among dispersed aircraft.

"The attacks were pressed home in the face of heavy opposition from ground defences and a large number of enemy fighters were beaten off with heavy losses," it continued.

"Reports so far received show that 17 enemy aircraft were destroyed, of which 10 were shot down by our bombers. Three of the enemy fighters destroyed were shot down by the Eagle Squadron."

Waves of planes, often so high they could only be heard, swept in and out over the coast and the distant rumble of explosions indicated that targets were well inland.

The opposite shore could not be seen, however, because of a heat wave which limited visibility to about five miles.

As the flights continued into the afternoon without let-up, observers said the R. A. F. apparently was sending increasingly large numbers of planes into the aerial offensive.

Old Order Changeth, as Big League Bosses Set New Longevity Records

By Rumll in Boston Christian Science Monitor

The 1941 major league baseball season brings to mind the fact that the recent Winter was an easy one on Managers, for most of them remained secure in their jobs. Changes were made on only two clubs, with Gabby Hartnett being dropped by the Chicago Cubs and Oscar Vitt by the Cleveland Indians. Both, however, stepped into comfortable berths—Hartnett as Catcher-Coach for the New York Giants and Vitt as Manager of Portland in the Coast League. Their successors are not newcomers in the managerial field, Jimmy Wilson of the Cubs having served at the helm of the Phillies and Roger Peckinpaugh having been in a previous term with the Indians.

As a result of the small turnover, some longevity records are being established or extended. For every year that Connie Mack sits on the bench waving a scorecard at his Philadelphia Athletics, another year is added to the virtually unattainable number for any other skipper. The 1941 season is his 41st as pilot of the A's and he had seven of the previous record of six held by Jimmy Collins, and giving Cronin a total of 10 years as a Major League Manager.

Jimmy Dykes is Chicago's veteran of veterans, in his eighth campaign as pilot of the White Sox. Bucky Harris, starting his 12th season with the Senators, over two decades, is adding to the record he already holds at Washington. This is Harris' 18th year as a major league manager, ranking him next to Mack for consecutive service, although Bill McKechnie surpasses Bucky in total by two, the Deacon being in his 20th season as a team director in the majors and minors, his fourth with the Reds.

10th FOR MCCARTHY
Joe McCarthy also is a patriarch, in his 10th season and his 11th with the Yankees, needing only one more to tie the best consecutive record on the New York team, that of Miller Huggins. Bill Terry, although in his 10th with the Giants, still has a long way to go to catch up with the record of John J. McGraw in 1930, who coached the Giants for 30 consecutive years.

Roger Peckinpaugh, returning to Cleveland after an interval, for his seventh season, is in his second term there, and as he previously had managed the Highlanders for one year, 1941 is his eighth season as a leader.

Although this is Jimmy Wilson's initial season with the Cubs, he has five years of service with the Phillies behind him to make 1941 his sixth. Other terms are: Frankie Frisch's second with Pittsburgh, but eighth as a pilot, counting six at St. Louis; Casey Stengel's fourth at Boston, and seventh in the majors, including three at Brooklyn; Del Baker's fourth with Detroit; the third for Doc Prothro at Philadelphia, Leo Durocher at Brooklyn, and Billy Southworth with the Cardinals, although the latter's service at St. Louis has been split up.

Fred Honey of St. Louis Browns was recently released after two years of service.

The long service of the 1941 bosses disproves a popular belief that the life of a manager in the majors is short. Each season, of course, sees a small turnover, but the changes are not as numerous as in earlier years, when as many as half of the clubs sometimes came up with new leaders. It is evident that a greater premium is now placed upon experience, with less of a tendency to put sole blame on the skipper for losing team. Whether this is due to lack of suitable material or unwillingness to take a chance on untried men is not certain, but we have an idea that both factors have their influence.

BOXER DIES OF INJURY

Louis has been under technical custody pending an investigation.

Over 2000 Picnickers Enjoy First Dominion Day Program at Castlegar

CASTLEGAR, B. C., July 2—Castlegar's first annual Dominion Day celebration proved a great success with an approximate crowd of over 2000 attending. The picnickers arrived by car, bus and train from all points in the West Kootenay.

Under cloudy skies, throngs of happy people, young and old, enjoyed themselves playing games of chance, swimming and joining in the races and sports of the day.

Red Deer Going Ahead With Plans of Senior Hockey

RED DEER, Alta., July 2 (CP).—Plans are now being formulated for Red Deer to have a long-awaited hockey club this coming season in the Alberta Senior Hockey League.

Frank Coulson, well-known Alberta hockey coach, who has coached the Olds Elks and Lethbridge Maple Leafs, will handle the assignment of starting a senior club in this central Alberta city.

A meeting was held Monday at which Syd Silverman, Red Deer hockey player, presided. A contract has been drawn up between the Red Deer Arena Company and Mr. Coulson, whereby the Arena Company will rent the rink for a period of four years.

The rink will seat 2300 fans. The senior club will be called the Buffaloes and the sweaters will be maroon with silver trimmings.

Yank Scouts Made a Bad Slip When Passed Up Herman

CHICAGO—Billy Herman, great second baseman traded to Brooklyn Dodgers, might never have become a Chicago Cub had the New York Yankees scouts not made one of their few mistakes.

In 1931 Herman and Jack Saltzgeber were the talk of the American League and all minor league circles too, as rival scouts from Chicago and St. Paul, The rich Yankees, planning to move Tony Lazzeri to third base, had their choice of either Herman or Saltzgeber. Bob Connery, former Yankee scout and then President of the St. Paul club, persuaded the Ruppert organization to buy Saltzgeber. Bob argued the pair were equally fine fielders and logically pointed to Jack's harder punch at the plate—that 1931 season he made 19 homers to Bill's seven, 13 triples to three, 37 doubles to 24.

So the Yanks bought Saltzgeber for a reported $50,000 and three players. And that left the way open for the Cubs to get Herman.

From opening day, 1932, until the early morning trade, May 6, he was the Cubs' regular second baseman. He helped them to a pennant in '32 and '33 and '34 and '35 and '36 and '37 and '38. He had a 300 batting average through nine club campaigns and has long been ranked in a class by himself in the field.

And what of Saltzgeber? The kid who ranks above Herman in '31. He never hit over .300 in the majors, he never was a regular. After several seasons as an inconsequential, little-used cog in the Yank machines of the mid-thirties, he was shipped back to the minors.

Today he's utility infielder with Kansas City in the A.A. He's batting .231 with three hits in 13 times at bat.

Zivic Gives Davis Artistic Beating and Wins Easy Bout in Tenth Round

NEW YORK, July 2 (AP).—Fritz Zivic was strictly on his feet tonight in his fight with Al (Bummy) Davis and gave Al a picture all over Bummy's hide as he won one of the easiest victories of his career.

The world welterweight champion did everything but paint a picture all over Bummy's hide as he won one of the easiest victories of his career.

He floored Davis for a seventh count just before the end of the first round and from there on never got his hair mussed until Referee Arthur Donovan stopped the proceedings at 1:12 of the tenth round when Bummy hollered "uncle" after receiving a particularly solid shot flush in the stomach.

Only a slim crowd was on hand, but those who were there were treated to an artist at work.

Zivic had Davis bleeding from the nose as early as the third round, gashed Bummy on the lower lip in the eighth, staggered him half a dozen times during the bout and generally had just an easy workout.

At the finish, the Associated Press score card showed Zivic won eight of the nine completed rounds and Davis took just one—the fifth, when he changed in and shook Fritz with four hard left hooks to the head.

Thus Zivic settled any doubt as to whether Davis might have been any match for him in their first fight. On that occasion, last November, Bummy fouled out in the second round when the referee disqualified him for tossing half-a-dozen punches South of the legal border. Since then Davis has been under suspicion here and has joined the army. He was in a fight from Camp Hulen, Texas, for tonight's tussle.

In one of the main preliminaries, Ray Robinson, New York Negro lightweight contender, stopped Pete Lello of Chicago in the fourth round of a scheduled eight-rounder. Robinson, weighing 137½, floored Lello once in the first round and twice in the fourth before Referee Arthur Donovan halted the proceedings at 1:48 of the fourth. Lello scaled 135.

King's Horses Win Double Event at Ascot Opening

NEWMARKET, England, July 2 (CP).—The wartime Ascot—minus frills, frocks and big crowds—got off today with Sir Hugo Coffer-Owen's fine winning the gold cup. Orthodoxy taking the St. James's stakes, and His Majesty's Big Game galloping home in front to capture the Coventry stakes.

Turf goes said it was the dullist Ascot opening within memory. There was virtually no display of clothes as in years past when the famous stakes were run as Ascot and the crowds vied with milday for the spotlight.

The Ascot crowd was estimated at 15,000.

The King made it a double for the day when his Sun Chariot won the Queen Mary stakes for two-year-old fillies.

Joe Louis Sued by Wife for Divorce

CHICAGO, July 2 (AP).—Marva Trotter Louis sued the World Heavyweight Boxing Champion, Joe Louis, for divorce in Superior Court here today, charging cruelty.

Mrs. Louis, who filed the action under her husband's real name, Barrow, charged that the Negro boxing champion struck her first on Jan. 2, 1941, and again on April 18 of this year.

The bill said she separated from him on the latter date.

They were married in New York City on Sept. 24, 1935. There are no children.

The Heavyweight Champion, playing golf in Detroit when informed of his wife's action, appeared stunned.

"I don't believe it," he said. "I absolutely know nothing about it."

He denied he had struck his wife and said he would not contest the divorce.

"If she doesn't want to live with me," he said, "what can I do about it?"

He said he and his wife had some differences and added, "I thought they were all settled."

He said the difference arose over his wife's insistence that the accompany him to training camps and on exhibition tours.

Louis said he had been giving his wife a weekly allowance.

Sports Roundup
By EDDIE BRIETZ
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, July 2 (AP).—Eighty per cent of the telephone calls to the sports department of a Pittsburgh newspaper the other night concerned Joe DiMaggio's hitting streak—The Dodgers have had five players beamed since the start of last season and if that isn't a modern record for one club, sue us—Ted Williams, who aspired to be a fireman, is doing even better—he's a ball of fire, himself.

Did you know that Willie Keeler, whose consecutive hitting streak Joe DiMaggio has beaten, once beat out five infield hits in one game, all of them to short.

Since his illness, Joe Medwick has been using a lighter bat and the dividends are rolling in—The heat must be terrible in Washington. They say "Old Fox" Griffith actually offered Dick Wakefield, the Michigan star, 40 grand to autograph a Senator contract—Frankie Kovacs, the clown prince of tennis, registered for the draft yesterday and may be on his way soon.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR
Francis Sargent, Lowell (Mass.) Sun: "No wonder the army turned Johnny Rigney down for ear trouble—after all, he didn't get next to Jimmy Dykes on the White Sox bench all those years for nothing. (By the same token, the Dodgers and Pirates who have to listen to Durocher and Frisch have little cause for draft worries)."

MUNGER FANS MOST BATTERED IN PACIFIC
LOS ANGELES, July 2 (AP).—The honor of having fanned more batters in Pacific Coast League games through Tuesday rested on the shoulders of big George Munger of the Sacramento Solons, with 83 strikeouts to his credit.

Executive officers are: West, George Wilson, Winnipeg, and East, R. E. MacKenzie, Montreal.

Savoys Swamp the Bombers to Move Further in Front

Giving Ernie Colman, ailing with a sore arm after pitching his first baseball game the day before, his worst shelling of the year, the Savoys defended first place in the Nelson Men's Softball League by swamping the lowly High School Bombers 22-6 at the Recreation Grounds Monday evening.

Colman retired the hard-hitting Savoys in order in the first inning, but he was troubled all the way after that. In the fifth he exchanged places with Bob Collinson, the catcher, who made the last two outs. But Colman came back to finish the game.

Jack Fisher did the hurrying for Savoys, and allowed only three hits. Four of the runs came in the fifth inning when he eased up after getting a big lead. He fanned 10 batters but issued seven walks. The only extra-base hit off him was a triple by Douglin Wilaw in the fourth, with one on, and he continued right on home through an error.

Fisher also excelled at the bat, driving out two line home runs and a double in his first three times up to bat in five runs. Sid Ball also batted in five runs with a homer, triple and a single. George Russell, a catcher, plated three runs on two triples, a double and a single in five chances. Austin Brennan had a double and a single.

Trail Cards Are Beaten at Natal

NATAL, B. C.—The Natal-Michel Buffaloes kept their undefeated home record intact by defeating the touring Trail Cardinals, former West Kootenay Senior Baseball champions, by a 6-4 score at the Natal ball park on Sunday.

The Buffaloes used three pitchers who combined to hold the hard-hitting Trail team to six scattered hits while getting a total of 11 hits off the combined hurling of Slivers Decembrini and Louis Demore. The last came in the eighth inning to allow three hits while striking out four batters.

Little, the Buffalo starting pitcher, allowed not a single run in the four innings that he worked while striking out six batters. He was relieved by Halko, who in turn was succeeded by T. Krall who finished the game. Not a single Trail player was able to get more than a single hit, while for the Buffaloes, Weaver was the big noise with four solid blows, including a triple in the sixth inning. The winning runs came in the fifth inning when Chila tripled with two on to break the tie.

The game was umpired by A. Krall of Natal and T. Servello of Fernie.

PITCHER REPORTED TO BE IN GAMBLING, SUSPENDED
DURHAM, N. C., July 2 (AP).—William G. Fish Story Grows en Route to Britain

LONDON, July 2 (CP Cable).—This fish story is true to tradition! J. P. Bickell, returning to Britain after a fortnight's trip to Ottawa and Washington on behalf of the British Air Ministry, dropped in at the Royal Canadian Air Force officers' mess in Newfoundland Monday afternoon.

An inviting array of freshly caught brook trout caught his eye and he thought it would be a good idea to take along a few. An obliging officer packed some in a tin before the take-off a couple of hours later.

Yesterday morning the Canadian mining man's bomber alighted at a British airport at about the same time Canadian Air Minister C. G. Power arrived in another big machine.

Mr. Bickell produced the tin and the cook in the Royal Air Force officers' mess prepared a tasty dish, which was shared among the passengers of both aircraft. Needless to say all the fish disappeared.

It was long before reports were current the King had breakfasted on salmon flown to Britain from Canada, but Buckingham Palace said "We know nothing at all about it."

Mr. Bickell, who spent two days at the airport, was doing a fishing trip, commented, "The one certainly grew fast and it's the first time I've heard trout change into salmon."

DiMaggio's Homer in Fifth Inning Gives Him All-Time Hitting Record; Boston Wilts; Dodgers Beat Phillies

By The Canadian Press

Joe DiMaggio smashed a fifth-inning home run Wednesday that brought him an all-time major league record for hitting in 43 consecutive games, and helped New York Yankees to an 8-4 American League victory over Boston Red Sox.

The great Yankee centre fielder permitted no doubt as to his right to the record which Wee Willie Keeler of Baltimore Orioles set in 1897, when fouls were not counted as strikes.

Facing Hober (Dick) Newsome, the rookie knuckle baller, DiMaggio failed to hit in his first two times up. Then in the fifth he looked at two wide balls, clouted a high foul into the third tier of Yankee Stadium, and finally blasted a mighty fly into the lower stands in left field for his 16th home run of the year.

This blow came after Johnny Sturn had walked, stolen second, and scored on a double by Red Rolfe. It caused Newsome to be replaced by Jack Wilson and so up set the Red Sox that they allowed Yanks to score six times on three hits in that one inning.

After his homer, DiMaggio lined out to Ted Williams in left and grounded to short for a force play. His streak started May 15 against Chicago White Sox and since that time he has made 67 hits in 179 times at bat. Keeler's record included 83 hits in 201 times at bat.

Wednesday's triumph was the Yankees' 20th victory in 24 games. Charley Keller homered in the second.

Bob Johnson's home run in the 10th inning—his 17th of the season—gave the Athletics a 7-6 victory over Washington Senators in another American League game at Philadelphia.

The Athletics three-run outburst in the ninth tied the score. In a night game at Chicago Buck Newsome pitched a brilliant three-hit game tonight to give Detroit Tigers a 1-0 victory over Chicago White Sox and the rubber game of the three-game series. The Tigers made only five hits off Bill Dietrich.

A pair of four-hit pitching jobs gave New York Giants and Boston Braves an even break in a National League doubleheader, the Braves winning the opener 5-4 and the second 4-3.

Proper Cutting of Rose Blooms

Never allow roses to wither or go back to seed on the bush. Remove the spent blooms, cutting back to the second set of leaves.

Two-for-one pruning of roses

As illustrated in the Garden-Graph, cut rose blooms with long stems, leaving two sets of leaves on the remaining branch. Two new shoots will grow out from the eyes near these leaves, as indicated by the dotted lines. The result will be two blooms to replace the one cut.

For indoor decoration, roses should be cut at the proper period in their development, not when fully opened. Cut barely open buds if the variety is a full-double type. Cut at the tight bud stage if a single or semi-double type. Cut the stems with a long slanting cut to enable them to absorb plenty of water. Cutting off any immersed thorns allows them to take in additional moisture.

CONTRACT . . .

EXTENDED BATH COUP

PRACTICALLY all players are familiar with the maneuver called the "Bath Coup," whereby a declarer holding the ace-jack and at least one other card plays low on a lead of the king from king-queen of the suit, so that a repeat of the suit will give him a trick he could not win otherwise. Few of us have seen the principle of the play extended to one level lower, and used against a lead of the queen from queen-jack. It won't work except in the rarest circumstances, when conditions are just right for it.

Pass Pass 3 NT

Just imagine yourself holding the West hand against this. What would you lead? The one favored by most players would be the opening actually made by the man who sat there after the queer abrupt bid by that South-player in the duplicate tournament in which he was shooting for tops. It was the diamond Q.

Suppose the dummy then went down, and the 3 was played from it, your partner put on the 7 and the declarer played the 8.

Wouldn't you then think your partner was giving you an encouraging, high card, asking you to repeat the suit, especially since neither the 5 nor the 2 had been played? So you would offer the diamond Q or 4 to the second trick, depending on how you read your partner's probable holding. If you did, the declarer would promptly run nine tricks, five in diamonds, two in spades and his two other aces.

Notice what would have happened if the declarer had not played as he did to the first trick. If he won it and then tried for game any way he might contrive, he could not possibly get more than four tricks in diamonds, plus four other tricks, being down one. But, having read West as holding four to the Q-J-9 and East for a singleton, he made the play calculated to win, better than either the 5 or 2, to keep those out of sight and make West think East had them both plus one, or more of the higher cards in the suit.

(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)
How would you play for 6 Spades on this deal against a lead of the club 7?

AGE LIMIT NARROWED YEAR IN U.S. DRAFT

WASHINGTON, July 2 (AP).—Selective Service narrowed its age limits today with the blanket deferment of all men 28 years of age or older not now in training.

The effect of the order was to make only those from 21 through 27 liable to a year's duty with the army in future, and it increased the likelihood of an early call for many of the 750,000 young men who registered yesterday.
