APPLES LOSE THIRD OF BRITISH PREFERENCES

CANADA—IN TRADE AGREEMENTS

OTTAWA, Nov. 17 (CP).—Highlights of Canada's new trading position as affected by the treaties signed in Washington today between Canada and the United States and the United Kingdom and the United States:

The six-cents-a-bushel duty on foreign wheat entering the U. K. market is removed, putting U. S. and Canadian wheat on equal footing with respect to duty rates.

United Kingdom has made a seasonal reduction in the raw apple duty from four shillings, six pence a hundred-weight to three shillings. Canadian apples will continue to enjoy a substantial reference.

Entry is provided into the United Kingdom market of those kinds of lumber of which the U. S. is an important supplier of U. K. requirements on terms as favorable as those on which Canadian lumber is admitted into the U. S. market.

There are 202 items and sub-items in the U. S. tariff affected covering 83 per cent of Canadian exports to the U. S. in 1937 and valued at $327,504,484.

Practically every kind of fish produced by the Canadian fisheries is represented in the list of U. S. concessions. Reduction is made in tariff on both seed and table stock potatoes below the level prevailing since 1921.

Maximum reduction is made in the U. S. duty on lumber, the tariff quota on Douglas fir and western hemlock is abolished, lumber is exempted from requirements of marking and more favorable treatment is accorded red cedar shingles.

There are 447 items on the Canadian tariff affected, with duty on 238 items reduced and 146 bound at the previous rate. In the fiscal year ending last March 31, value of imports from the U. S. under the 447 items was about $280,000,000 or about 58 per cent of the total value of imports from that country.

Canada undertakes to remove the special excise tax of three per cent at present levied on duty paid value of all imports into Canada under tariff other than the British preference.

Concessions by Canada on agricultural and fisheries products parallel important reductions in U. S. duties on Canadian exports of natural products.

Reduction in Canada duties on canned fruit and vegetables, canned fruit juices, glass tableware, cotton fabrics and various types of silk and woolen clothing materials is made.

Confectionary, tobacco and spirituous liquor tariffs are reduced and other reductions are made on pulp, paper and books, chemical drugs and paints; various metals and their products.

C. I. O. Threatens to Treat Ford Co. Products, "Unfair"

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 17 (AP). — The congress of industrial organizations declared today that if the Ford Motor company "persists in its refusal to bargain collectively" with the United Auto Workers the C. I. O. would treat the company's products as "unfair."

The resolution adopted charged the Ford company had exercised every means of destroying "all semblance of bona fide labor organization" within its plants and "is deemed an unfair competitor in the manufacture of automobiles."

NOT REPRESENTATIVE

DETROIT, Nov. 17 (AP).—Harry Bennett, personal director of the Ford Motor Co., informed today of a threatened boycott of Ford products by the congress of industrial organizations, asserted that United Automobile Workers union was "not representative" in the Ford plants.

"We'll iron out difficulties with them (U.A.W.) wherever they are representative in our plants," he said, "but they'll have to show us first that they have the right to speak for our workers."

DAUPHIN, Man., Nov. 17 (CP). —Constable L. A. Atkins of Royal Canadian Mounted police, testifying here at the trials of Dan Prytula, William Kanuka and Peter Korzenowski, all charged with the murder of Mrs. Anna Cottick, 81, last May 12, said he found three revolvers in stone piles near the homes of Kanuka and Korzenowski. The three men live in the Gilbert Plains district near this northwestern Manitoba centre.

Goalie Smith of Detroit Demoted and Fined $150

DETROIT, Nov. 17 (AP). — Demotion of Normie Smith, veteran goal tender of Detroit Red Wings, to Pittsburgh Hornets of the International-American league was disclosed tonight by Louis J. Giffels, general manager of the Detroit club.

DONCASTER SEAT WON BY LABOR

LONDON, Nov. 17 (CP Cable)—Labor retained the Doncaster seat in the house of commons in today's byelection, increasing its majority by nearly 4000 votes as compared with the 1935 general election.

John Morgan was the successful candidate, polling 31,735 votes to 20,027 for Alexander Monteith, National Liberal.

Worst Grasshopper Season Is Expected

BRANDON, Man., Nov. 17 (CP) —Dr. R. D. Bird, head of the Dominion entomological laboratory, said in an address here today he thought Manitoba would experience its worst grasshopper season since 1934, next summer. Dr. Bird believed at least twice last year's acreage of 1,700,000 acres would be infected.

Consideration of Independent Oil Companies asked of Alberta Board

EDMONTON, Nov. 17 (CP) — Pleas for consideration of independent refineries and independent producers in the conservation program of the Alberta Oil and Gas Conservation Board were made as the agricultural committee of the Alberta legislature today heard representations regarding the new Oil and Gas act.

After W. F. Knode, chairman of the Alberta Oil and Gas Conservation Board, had revised plans of the board, the committee heard L. L. Plotkins, Harvey S. Price, and Robert Wilkinson, all of Calgary, make submissions. The committee will meet again tomorrow.

Mr. Plotkins urged consideration by the board of the position of independent refineries. Legislation in the past several years had been favorable to the large oil companies who had consolidated their hold on Turner Valley field, he declared.

Proration might prevent further development of the field for some time and cause unemployment, said Mr. Plotkins. Higher prices for products could be expected.

Representing the East Crest Oil company, Mr. Price declared any misunderstanding between the board and independent operators should be cleared up to remove the belief that the independent producers were not receiving sufficient consideration in the conservation program.

Independent producers felt that proration should be on the basis of most efficient production basis rather than the amounts required by distributing agencies. He was not complaining against conservation, but believed the soundest and fairest method should be put into effect.

Mr. Wilkinson, speaking on behalf of a group of independent producers, warned against any steps that would mean the elimination of independent oil companies.

LIBERAL MOVE FOR MINISTRY SUPPLY BEATEN IN BRITISH HOUSE

Advisory Committee to Hear Contract Complaints

DEFENCE CLAIMED 12 MONTHS BEHIND

By J. F. SANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Nov. 17 (CP Cable). —A business man's committee as a court of appeal in the government's rearmament program was announced by Prime Minister Chamberlain tonight in the house of commons.

The prime minister again turned down appeals for creation of a ministry of supply, because he could not see where it would add to efficiency or production in Great Britain's race to rearm. Winston Churchill claimed the defence program was 12 months behind schedule.

The house backed up the prime minister when it defeated by a vote of 326 to 130 a Liberal motion to commit the government to establish a supply ministry. The motion was made as an amendment to the address in reply to the speech from the throne and when it was defeated the address itself was approved without division.

Churchill voted against the government with Conservatives Harold MacMillan and Brendan Bracken.

A new advisory committee will be set up to hear complaints from manufacturers concerning delays on government contracts.

Alfred Duff Cooper, former first lord of the admiralty, told the house the "calamity of Munich" was not due to lack of preparations, adding Britain was better prepared for war in 1938 than in 1914.

Lions Tie Bucs

PORTLAND, Nov. 17 (CP) —The cellar dwelling Vancouver Lions halted the consecutive winning streak of Portland's league leading Buckaroos but failed to humble them as they battled to a 3-3 overtime tie in a Pacific Coast Hockey league fixture here tonight.

Ray Wood, Lions centre, scored the only goal of the first period and Tip O'Neill snared the second late in the middle period after Aubrey Webster and Glenn Vickers had counted for Bucs. Bill Hutton put Vancouver ahead again in the third but Vickers snapped in what proved the tieing goal as neither team was able to score in the extra session.

Voters Driven to Athabasca Polls Affidavit Says

EDMONTON, Nov. 17 (CP). — J. H. Tremblay (Lib.-Grouard) today read an affidavit to the Alberta legislature declaring George Myers, identified as a government employee, had driven voters to the polls in the Athabasca provincial byelection Nov. 7 when C. H. Tade, Social Credit, was elected.

At the request of Mr. Tremblay, Mr. Speaker Dawson asked the chairman of the committee on privilege, H. J. Ash (S.C.-Olds) to take cognizance of the statement.

The affidavit was made by Charles M. Bissell of the town of Athabaska taken before M. W. Hitchins, a commissioner for oaths.

Okanagan Growers Disappointed Pact

KELOWNA, B.C., Nov. 17 (CP)— Okanagan valley apple exporters said tonight that as a result of the new Canada-United States and United Kingdom-United States trade agreements the future for their industry seemed less bright than before the agreements were signed, but most said they did not think the industry would suffer to any great extent.

"We cannot say we are pleased for we are disappointed," A. K. Loyd, president of the British Columbia Fruit Growers association, commented when informed the four shilling six pence tariff on United States apples sold on the British market had been reduced to three shillings.

Queen Maud of Norway Stricken

LONDON, Nov. 17 (AP)—Queen Maud of Norway, who underwent an abdominal operation yesterday, had a "fair" night and her physicians said today her general condition was "as satisfactory as can be expected."

Queen Maud, sister of the late King George V, was stricken on her annual visit here.

Boy, 13, Acquitted of Murder Charge

LONDON, Nov. 17 (CP Havas). —An Old Bailey jury today acquitted a 13-year-old boy whose identity was not revealed of a charge of murdering four-year-old Beryl Osborne.

After the verdict was returned the court dismissed the murder indictment but turned the youth over to juvenile authorities to provide for his care and protection in the future.

Beryl's body was found last month hidden in the corner of a shed near her home. She had been strangled.

Trail Votes Its School Extension to Be Completed

TRAIL, B. C., Nov. 17 — The extension to the Trail-Tadanac and district high school on which $150,000 already has been expended will be completed. An authorization and debenture bylaw for an additional $70,000 today was passed by a 66 vote majority over the three-fifths required.

Votes in favor totalled 404; against 159. At the Trail poll 506 ballots were cast. There were 337 in favor, 158 against and 10 rejected. Of the 68 votes cast at the Tadanac poll, only one opposed the bylaw.

Rossland Police Seizing Sleighs Street Coasters

ROSSLAND, B. C., Nov. 17 — A statement prohibiting sleighriding on Rossland streets and lanes was made earlier this week by Corporal Gordon Lennox in charge of provincial police here. The warning had a good effect on coasters, yet there are some who continue to sleighride. Under a city bylaw it is unlawful to use city streets for coasting purposes.

Disobedience of this bylaw may result in a tragedy, or near-tragedy as was the case with a small lad here a week ago.

Children who insist on sleighriding are in danger of losing their sleds. The police force here has already seized several sleds and bobs.

C. I. O. Meeting Jeers Mention of Martin Dies

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 17 (AP). — The congress of industrial organizations conventions today jeered the name of Martin Dies, chairman of the United States congressional committee investigating unamerican activities, when a delegate introduced a motion calling for an "investigation of the unamerican activities of the Dies committee."

J. E. Crossland, of the industrial union council of Texas, Dies home state, offered the resolution and said of Dies:

"He looked young and bright and they thought he would be another Huey Long and not another Hitler. . . ."

Then, Crossland said: "we are apologizing for him. But we don't want this convention to go on record as condemning him, but we want to read into the record our sentiments."

The convention took no action upon Crossland's resolution, but adopted a resolution advocating creation of a permanent independent bureau in the federal government to be responsible for conducting investigations into all major instances in which "employees have conspired among themselves . . . to deprive labor of its rights."

Rossland Streets Need No Plowing; Heaped Ditches

ROSSLAND, B. C., Nov. 17 — Though motorists become stuck occasionally in snow-filled ditches on Rossland streets here, there is not yet sufficient snow to warrant plowing.

Motion Asking Appeal Costs to Alta. Defeated

EDMONTON, Nov. 17 (CP)— A motion by J. W. Hugill (Ind., Calgary) asking for a return on legal costs to Alberta of references to the supreme court of Canada or appeals to the privy council was defeated in the Alberta legislature today. Premier Aberhart said the information was not immediately available.

Mr. Hugill sought legal costs on court references on the right of disallowance, the right of a lieutenant-governor to withhold assent and the constitutional validity of all legislative enactments in either the supreme court of Canada or privy council since Sept. 1, 1937. He also asked details of the expenditures in counsel fees, etc.

Gov't. Encroaching on Field Set for Dominion

INTERFERES WITH TRADE, COMMERCE

VANCOUVER, Nov. 17 (CP)— Senator J. W. de B. Farris contended in British Columbia court of appeal today there was "grave reason" to believe the provincial Coal and Petroleum Products Control Board act is ultra vires.

The senator, counsel for nine gasoline distributing firms, was replying to arguments of Attorney-General Wismer who is presenting the crown's appeal from a supreme court injunction restraining the British Columbia fuel board from putting into effect a reduction it ordered in the retail price of gasoline.

Among Senator Farris' arguments the act is invalid were these:

1—The province is attempting to interfere with trade and commerce, thus encroaching on a field set in the British North America act as one for Dominion government jurisdiction.

2—It is endeavoring to put into effect legislation directed against a business international in scope and hence outside its jurisdiction.

3—Its purpose is to pass the reduction in gasoline prices on to California companies which produce crude oil used in British Columbia refineries. The refineries are operated for the most part by companies subsidiary to the California concerns.

During the morning court session, Mr. Wismer contended the act was not an effort to interfere with trade and commerce, but rather dealt solely with property and civil rights within the province, a provincial responsibility under the B.N.A. act.

He claimed the Fuel Control act was identical with provincial marketing legislation recently declared valid by the judicial committee of the privy council.

Rossland School Addition Ready Middle February

ROSSLAND, B. C., Nov. 17 — With the roof of the addition to the Rossland high school completed, the carpenters are now laying shiplap on the walls in the halls. Over the shiplap will be placed boards of gyproc and over that a coat of plaster. In the classrooms, workmen will start lathing this week. It is expected the plasterers will start at the end of the month.

Windows for the building arrived today and with the installation of the boiler, there will be heat in the school before long.

It will be impossible to have the school completed by January 1, Charles Gibbard, contractor, said. It will be about the middle of February before it will be able to accommodate the students, he said.

New Democracy Is Proclaimed, Czechoslovakia

PRAGUE, Nov. 17 (AP). — A new national party, a coalition with a powerful bloc in parliament, issued a proclamation today declaring a state of "authoritarian democracy" in Czechoslovakia, and parliament reassembled after three months in which the nation has been dismembered.

Premier Jan Syrovy, addressing the legislators, asserted "we are sincerely desirous to live in peace with all states, especially with our great neighbor, the German reich."

The future official title of this nation will be the Czech-Slovak Republic, the hyphen being used to emphasize Slovak autonomy.

United Kingdom Makes Seasonal Cut in Duty on Apples From U. S.; Three-Way Lumber Agreements; Zinc Ore Reduction

Concessions by Canada Broad

By C. R. BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Nov. 16 (CP) — A broadened and smoother highway for Canadian products moving into the United States market was opened today but at the cost of the Dominion's wheat preference in the United Kingdom and a lessening of other preferences including that on apples, in favor of the United States.

This was revealed when details of the new Canada-United States trade agreement, signed in Washington, were made public in Ottawa, accompanied by an explanation of Canada's part in the Anglo-American trade agreement, signed at the same time.

Canadian concessions to United States were also on a broad line, lowering or preserving the rates on some 447 items in the tariff structure and promising early removal of the three per cent excise tax on duty paid value of United States imports.

Virtually every kind of fish caught in Canada will enter United States at a lowered duty rate, in many instances the reduction amounting to the maximum of 50 per cent below the 1930 rate which is the limit President Roosevelt is empowered by congress to lower tariffs.

Lumber, agricultural products and some minerals benefit. The much opposed "marking" clause which required Canadian lumber, entering United States to be marked to identify its origin, was removed and quotas increased or abolished.

Livestock quotas were increased, potatoes given the maximum tariff reductions either for table or seed use, with seasonal provisions and quotas, and the maximum reduction effected on fresh or chilled pork, with lesser reductions on bacon and other hog products.

The new agreement superceded that which was concluded Nov. 15, 1935, and made effective Jan. 1, 1936. That agreement expires at the end of the current year.

NEW CONCESSIONS

All concessions obtained in the 1935 agreement were retained and a much greater number of new concessions added.

To facilitate negotiation of the Anglo-American agreement Canada, in common with other members of the British Commonwealth, sacrificed certain preferences on the United Kingdom market.

The preference of six cents a bushel on wheat was removed, so far as the United States was concerned. The preference of four and a half shillings a hundredweight on raw apples was reduced to three shillings covering the period Aug. 16 to April 15, and the same applies to pears.

Preferences were also lowered on preserved apples, honey, timber, chilled or frozen salmon and patent leather.

Sacrifice of the preferences holds good only for the duration of the Anglo-American trade agreement, which like the Canada-United States agreement, runs for a period of three years from Jan. 1 next.

Should the Anglo-American agreement be terminated for any reason the former preferential rates, obtained at the Ottawa conference of 1932, and retained when the Canada-United Kingdom trade agreement was revised in 1937, would be restored.

Canada was not alone in making sacrifices to facilitate the three-way negotiations. The United Kingdom waived preferential rates, in varying degrees, on a considerable list of their goods entering Canada, including chemicals, iron and steel in various forms, diesel engines, motorcycles, trawls and other fishermen's necessities, aircraft parts and dental instruments.

South Africa also sacrificed a measure of her preferences in Canada on Indian corn and fruits.

United States concessions to Canada cover 202 items and subitems in the United States tariff schedule. Products listed under these headings formed $327,500,000 or 83 per cent of the total imports from Canada in 1937.

Farmhand Sought in Prairie Murder

REGINA, Nov. 17 (CP)— Royal Canadian Mounted police today announced they were seeking Henry (Harry) Heipel, Arcola district farm hand, on a warrant charging him with the murder of J. A. Kaeser, Moosomin farmer.

Kaeser, believed slain by a hitchhiker Nov. 9, was found dead in a slough Monday morning near Sintaluta, 50 miles east of Regina. Four bullets were found in his body and police expressed the belief robbery was the motive for the slaying.

Slide on Nelway Road at "Black Bluffs" is Cleared for Traffic

Slide on the "black bluffs" section of the Nelway road, between Salmo and the boundary, was cleared up Thursday morning and traffic was able to use the road through the day, public works officials reported Thursday night.

A slide of loose material blocked the road Wednesday necessitating use of a detour.

Many Mutual Reductions in Manufactured Articles; 6-Cent Duty on Foreign Wheat Entering U. K. Removed

OTTAWA, Nov. 17 (AP). — The new Canada-United States trade agreement will technically become operative from the date on which effect is given by presidential proclamation to the provision of article IX exempting Canadian lumber from compliance with the restrictive marketing requirements. Provisional effect will be given to the tariff treatment provided for United States and Canadian goods entering the other country under the terms of schedules 1 and 11 of the new agreement, respectively, from the 1st of January, 1939, the date on which the tariff changes provided for under the United Kingdom-United States agreement also come into force.

In the period while the tariff reductions of the agreement are in force provisionally, the corresponding provisions of the existing agreement will be inoperative and when the new agreement has been ratified by His Majesty the King, after approval by the parliament of Canada, the King's ratification being formally exchanged for the president's proclamation, the new agreement will come definitely into force and the existing agreement will terminate.

FLASHES FROM TRADE PACT

By The Canadian Press

The signatories — Canada, United Kingdom and the United States.

The provisions — United Kingdom granted tariff cuts or other concessions on about 450 United States products; United States gave concessions on 150 British products. Canada conceded on 1489 United States products and got 400 concessions from the United States in return.

Kind of products affected—Speaking generally, United Kingdom cut duties on certain United States farm products while Canada reduced duties on number of United States factory goods. The United States, in return, will take British manufactured goods at lower duty rates, and will allow Canadian raw products into the United States cheaper.

Effective date—Both pacts become operative Jan. 1, 1939 to run three years, and indefinitely thereafter until after six months' notice of termination.

Escape clauses — These provide, among other things, for scrapping the pacts if currency fluctuation tends to defeat their purpose.

Purpose of the pacts—State Secretary Hull says that lowering barriers to the flow of commerce helps preserve peace and increase world well-being.

Lumber Industry of B. C. Pleased With Agreement

VANCOUVER, Nov. 17 (CP)—The British Columbia Lumber industry is "extremely pleased by the conclusions that have been reached" in the Canadian-United States and British-American trade agreements signed today, J. G. Robson, president of the British Columbia lumber and Shingle Manufacturers association said tonight.

FREIGHTER ARRIVES

BARCELONA, Nov. 17 (AP) — The United States freighter Erica Reed arrived at Barcelona from New York today bringing a $300,000 cargo of wheat, medicines and clothing sent to government Spain by the "North American committee to aid Spanish democracy". Canadians contributed a considerable portion of the cargo.

RELIEF TO MUNICIPALITIES AND FARMERS C.C.F. MEMBER'S URGE

VICTORIA, Nov. 17 (CP) —Interior highway construction and relief to municipalities and farmers were urged by government and opposition speakers in the British Columbia legislature today.

When debate on the budget adjourned for the day it was indicated night sessions might be ordered to start next week.

Survey and location of right of way for a new highway connecting Kamloops with Jasper, Alta., was suggested by R. H. Carson, Lib., Kamloops. Such a route has already been surveyed but alignment and grades are not in keeping with present requirements the Kamloops member said.

A four-point program designed to relieve municipalities and farmers of some of their burdens was advanced by L. A. Shepherd, Cooperative Commonwealth Federationist for Delta.

His points were:

1. Remove educational costs from the land—giving municipalities and farmers a breathing spell.

2. Examine the spread between producer and consumer — he felt this should bring higher prices to the former and lower prices to the householder.

3. A plan of public works expenditures with regard to the human needs in various parts of the province.

4. Reduce automobile licence fees by 50 per cent —such reduction would probably cause gasoline consumption to double with consequently higher revenue through gasoline taxes accruing to the government.

Dodge-DeSoto Representatives And Dealers Meet

At a banquet and presentation of the 1939 Dodge Custom and DeSoto Deluxe models, held in the Hume, Friday night, Nelson and Trail dealers were guests of James E. Dye, Wholesale manager, Begg Brothers, Vancouver, B. C., distributors for Dodge and DeSoto and F. C. Patterson, district representative for Dodge-DeSoto division of the Chrysler Corporation also of Vancouver.

Mr. Dye and Mr. Patterson as well as the dealers were enthusiastic over the new car sales outlook for the ensuing twelve months and state both Dodge and DeSoto this year offer greater car value at lower prices than ever before. Some of the outstanding features for the 1939 Dodge Custom series are:

A complete new body, restyled in the airflow manner and mounted on a new frame with independently sprung front wheels.

The gearshift lever is now on the steering column giving front seat passengers an unobstructed floor and making it convenient for the driver to get out of the car on the curb side.

In the new Dodge independent front wheel springing, road vibration is leveled out by rust-proofed coil springs of tough and resilient Amola steel. Each wheel is free to move up or down in conformity with the road surface, independent of the opposite wheel.

The V-type windshield also is of entirely new design. It is wider and higher. The long wiper arms—there are two of them—are electrically operated at constant speed, regardless of engine speed.

The old-time slam has been taken out of the doors by equipping them with new-style rotary, self-tightening, locks.

In keeping with other features of streamlining, the head lamps of the new Dodge Custom are recessed in the forward curves of the front fenders, flush with the surface. The arrangement results in several advantages; one of these is that the driving lights, being 18 inches farther apart, illuminate the entire width of the road; another advantage is that the lamps are closer to the ground where they give safer road illumination in hazy or foggy weather.

The most intriguing feature of the instrument panel is the Dodge "Safety Signal" speedometer. For speeds up to 30 miles an hour, the color of an "eye" in the needle bead is green; from 30 to 50 miles an hour the color of the "eye" changes to amber, for speeds above 50 miles the "eye" becomes red.

The smooth flowing contours of DeSoto's new streamline styling sweep back in one unbroken line from the gleaming, chromium radiator grille to a completely concealed luggage locker in the rear.

New "Handy Control" Gear Shift, a simpler easier way to shift gears; mounted right on the steering column, leaving the front compartment floor free of all obstructions.

DeSoto's new Dual Power Transmission now brings all of the advantages of overdrive and in addition the driver can instantly drop back into conventional gear at any speed by simply pushing the accelerator pedal to the floor.

New non-slam doors with rotary door locks which close with fingertip pressure.

New rain-trap in the cowl ventilator which permits driving in rain with cowl vent open; also facilitates installation of new fresh-air attachment available on heaters.

Luxurious interior styling with all new hardware, beautiful oriental walnut finish, and rich fabric upholstery.

A new innovation with both this year's Dodge Custom and DeSoto Deluxe series is the addition of a four passenger all-purpose coupe.

Sowerby-Cuthbert Limited, local dealers extend a hearty invitation to Nelson and district people to view these new 1939 models now on display at their showrooms corner Baker and Kootenay streets. * * *

Miss Gwen Hamaluk Weds Gunnar Edlund

CRANBROOK, B.C. — A quiet wedding was solemnized on Saturday afternoon in the United church manse when Rev. Mr. Hardy married Gwendoline Rose Hamaluk of Cranbrook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Hamaluk of Hillcrest, and Eric Gunnar Edlund, Cranbrook, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Edlund of Canal Flats.

The bride wore a floor length gown of Alice blue net over matching blue satin. The dress was princess style, fastened at the waist with pink ribbon sash, and the short jacket had short puff sleeves. She wore a veil of matching blue net fastened at the head with a wreath of orange blossoms. Her shoes were white sandles, and she carried white roses and lily-of-the-valley.

The bridesmaid, Miss Christina Edlund, chose a floor length gown of pink taffeta, with a full skirt fastened at the waist with a matching sash, and a matching jacket with frilled sleeves. She wore a corsage of blue flowers at the throat. Her hat was of matching pink silk, and her shoes silver.

Miss Dolly Hamaluk was flower girl, and she wore a short dress of dotted pink net, over pink satin. The dress was belted with matching material, and had short full sleeves. She wore a wreath of flowers in her hair.

G. F. Edlund was gromsman.

A reception was held at the home of the groom's sister, Mrs. Erickson, when only relatives were present. The rooms were beautifully decorated with streamers of pink and blue and silver bells, and pink and white roses. Funeral services were conducted at St. Stephen's Presbyterian church, Rev. W. E. Smyth officiating and interment was in Creston cemetery. Pallbearers were J. S. and Charles Wilson and Charles Nelson of Sirdar; W. H. Cartwright, S. A. Speers and H. A. Powell of Creston.

Creston Women to Aid Iron Lung

CRESTON, B. C. — Participation in community activities and an Armistice address featured the November session of Creston and District Women's institute at the Legion hall, Friday afternoon. The president, Mrs. R. Stevens, was in charge of proceedings, and there was a turnout of 18 members and one visitor.

It was unanimously agreed to make a donation of $10 to help with the purchase of iron lung for Kootenay Lake General hospital at Nelson. There was equal unanimity on a letter from the Canadian National Blind association asking that members give preference to the blind when buying articles of a kind they manufactured.

The consolidated school district wrote that the serving of refreshments at the opening of the new high school would be taken care of by the teaching staff, who are in need of funds to promote various activities among the students.

Arrangements are completed for the brightening up of the lettering of the names on the cenotaph. Power for the purpose will be secured from a nearby garage and the work will be undertaken at the first favorable opportunity.

Chances for Creston having the short course in domestic science and agriculture offered by the provincial youth training organization are not good. Every local organization written to favors the work, but none has named a representative to act on a central committee the institute hoped to have formed.

Mrs. Maxwell and her helpers have completed making of a quilt which is to be raffled for institute benefit. A wreath was placed on the cenotaph at the exercises Armistice morning. The president thanked all who had helped with the recent birthday party.

Mrs. Howard gave a recitation. Rev. H. J. Armitage spoke on peace, and how it can best be accomplished.

WAR BRINGS GREAT SOCIAL CHANGES TO CHINESE WOMEN

Spanking . . .

Method to Cure Child Who Runs Away Repeatedly

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

BOLIVAR, two years old last Easter, has been playing on the lawn, and you are busy in the kitchen. Suddenly you think of little Bolivar. You look out, but no baby can be seen. You rush through the door and still Bolivar is not in sight. You inquire excitedly of a neighbor, who tells you that Bolivar went down the street. You guess he went down to Aunt Emma's house. Off you run and, sure enough, you find him there having a good time. He had often gone there before without permission, and you now make up your mind to give the chap a good, sound spanking. So you do and bring him home.

Next day the same thing happens again, and within a week young Bolivar has run away to Aunt Emma's half a dozen times. Always you have been tremendously upset, for you know he had to cross a dangerous street. And every time poor Bolivar was spanked. Of course, you worry about the matter and conclude the spanking has been futile—and it has.

SHOULD BE OUTDOORS

Yet, you want the baby to play out-of-doors, and you are too busy to be right by his side always (and it isn't good for him for you to be). You cannot afford to hire someone to watch him. You haven't the funds to build a fence; anyway, some older person might forget and leave the gate open.

You might tie him, but that isn't a good solution.

Why did not the spankings cure Bolivar? It's not very hard to understand. They always happened long after the running-off occurred. In the meanwhile he had always got a good deal of enjoyment following the escape. He was punished, as it seemed to him, only for being found and not for leaving his home unaccompanied.

Make it very clear to Bolivar the bounds beyond which he must never go without permission — a tree, stone or some clear mark on the pavement. Tell him he must not cross the limit. Then so plan your program that you are near at hand the moment he first steps beyond the limit unpermitted. Immediately, then and there, give him a sound spanking low on his bare, fat thighs. Make it hurt. In the fewest possible words remind him of the mark beyond which he must not go. Thereafter, always be on hand so that he may never go beyond that limit without suffering immediate physical pain.

By following such a program to the letter for a week or two, Bolivar will be permanently made safe in this respect, and you and he will be freed forever of a great deal of vexation.

Hands Depend On Beauly Treatment And Circulation

By DONNA GRACE

The fall and winter days and the first chill will always affect the sensitive person and while there may be no change in the complexion except a too ruddy glow, the hands are likely to show the lack of warmth and nervous tension.

We know there are some fine lotions and creams that do help so much and one must depend on them, but for the high strung type with the "red and blue little claws" we need to do something to stimulate a good normal circulation, and this may be done through diet and exercise. These luscious sweets and desserts may be irresistible, but we need the substantial foods in the variety to assure a good balanced diet and all the necessary vitamins.

Cold showers are fine when the reaction is good, but those who do not glow with vigor after these frigid ablutions must avoid them until they are robust and healthy.

When the hands are washed, be sure the skin is thoroughly cleansed, and for this, do not spare the soap and warm water. Rinse well and take time to dry well. When the hands are dry and warm, massage well with cream, or rub on your favorite lotion.

Your nails too will react just as the skin does, so cover them with plenty of lubrication. If the water is hard, use a softener or borax.

There are some good packs to bleach and lubricate the skin. The egg pack is one of those and if you like to use it at home, beat the white and yolk of one egg. Add a teaspoonful of olive oil and half teaspoonful of tincture of benzoin, then whip in enough Kaolin powder to make a thin paste. Spread it over the hands and arms and leave it on for five minutes. Remove with tepid water and then massage.

When the hands are chapped put on a good tissue cream and wear gloves at night. Powdered kaolin is sold in drug stores.

Your Sons' Future Should Be First Consideration

By CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Dear Miss Chatfield:

At the age of 22 I married a 17-year-old girl. We were in love and happy in spite of the fact that we had a very small income. A year later a boy came and in two years another, after which my wife never seemed the same. She was worried at having to look after two babies and blamed me for the state of affairs. At last that awful time came when she stepped out on me. She told me all about it and came back promising that I would never have another heartache over her. But I have had nothing else. I don't trust her. I am always in the shadow of doubt. Realizing that the boys are dependent upon both of us, I have done my best to forget the past without success. Will it ever work out or should I quit now, take the boys and start a new life.

ANSWER—

How hard for us to forgive a dear one who has wounded us to the quick, though we can stand off and without a qualm advise the other person to forgive and forget!

Friend, you've had an inkling of what happened to your wife and it frequently happens to young girls who get married, believing that life will be a lovely lark. Then think it through and give the mother of your boys a break. At 17 she was gay and pleasure-loving and she hadn't had her fill of fun. In a few short months she was saddled with responsibilities too heavy for her slight shoulders. In a few more months she found herself with two babies on her hands.

Night and day, day and night she warmed bottles, quieted a crying infant, washed little garments, wiped little noses, all the while trying desperately to stretch a very small income to cover an increasing family. Life was no lark as she expected. It was a deadly grind with all work and no play. Then one day something inside her snapped and, like the child she was, she broke and ran without counting the consequences.

Can you forgive her and forget that past? Yes, if you will count the consequences of separating the little sons from their mother. What would you say to them when they cried for her and asked you why she'd left them? Where could you find a woman to love them and bring them up as their own mother would?

Indeed we can forget the past but not until we quit mulling over the mistreatment we've endured. This business of forgiving and forgetting is like a climb up a rope ladder. We must go slowly, one rung at a time, looking up at the next rung not down at the last one. And we must expect the ladder to sway every time we take a new grasp.

A Gown of Crisp Black Taffeta

This youthful formal costume of black taffeta is the choice of Priscilla Lane. The dress has a camisole top fashioned of the soft folds of the fabric held in place with a bias fold laced with turquoise blue velvet ribbon. The narrow shoulder straps are of the same ribbon. The jacket shows a tuxedo front and the fabric is embroidered in the same shade of blue. The high-waisted skirt is cut in four gores with a fish-tail back.

Chemicals . . .

Regulation of the Involuntary Nervous System is Discussed

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

The question arises as to how this involuntary nervous system itself is controlled. The answer is probably that different chemicals are formed in the body in response to its needs and that these act on the involuntary nervous system.

Many of these chemicals arise in the secretion of the ductless glands. Of the glands, the adrenal bodies probably exert the most continuous effect. The adrenal bodies, indeed, are partly made up of nervous tissue of the same kind as the involuntary nervous system itself. And these very nerve cells secrete a substance which modify their own action.

We know that the adrenal medulla secretes adrenalin. Adrenalin can be manufactured synthetically outside the body and is one of the most powerful acting drugs we have in medicine. Applied to a mucous membrane, like the inside of the cheek, it will contract the blood vessels and blanch the part. It does the same thing probably from minute to minute inside the body. If the stomach is full of a meal and needs plenty of blood to digest it, that is arranged by blood being taken from another organ which does not need blood so badly.

Adrenalin affects the eyes, heart, intestinal movements, muscular movement, blood pressure and other parts of the body. The way it makes adjustments is illustrated in Dr. Cannon's now well-known account of fear. Fear may be nothing more than an extra amount of adrenalin in the blood, for that produces all the phenomena of fear. It makes the muscles very receptive to movement so that you can run away easily. It makes the heart pound, the breath come short, the eyes bulge out and causes emotional excitement.

We know of a number of other drugs whose action is selective on the autonomic nervous system—atropine and pilocarpine, physostigmine and muscarine, for instance. Many of the drugs which people take regularly — tobacco, alcohol, coffee, etc. — exert their effects on the involuntary nervous system.

In fact, it is not too much to say that as we learn more about it, we may learn how to regulate the processes of life far better than we do now.

Young Chinese Girl Organizes Guerilla Unions For War Work

NORTHEAST SHANSI, China (CP)—A comely 22-year-old coed is leader of 6,000,000 farm women who are assisting husbands and sons in the guerilla armies of North China. A year ago Miss Liu Kuang Yun was a junior at China College in Peiping.

Seen by a correspondent, Miss Liu was dressed in drab cotton slacks, a loose-fitting shirt, and a pair of straw sandals. "Not much life the high heels and silk gowns I wore in Peiping," she laughed.

"Our Women's National Salvation Association undertakes many kinds of war work," she explained. "We make stockings and shoes for the soldiers, serve as sentries on the roads, and prepare bandages for the wounded. Sometimes we even help in the fighting."

The co-ed pointed to huge wall maps on which are marked the 8000 villages of North China in which women's unions have already been organized.

"The best story I can tell you about our work is the contest we held this spring along the Peiping-Hankow railway to see which woman could cut down the most Japanese telephone poles in one night. The prize had to be divided between two 17-year-old girls who sawed down 36 poles each and carried back the copper wire for use in our own guerilla telephone system."

War work is only one emergency activity of the National Salvation Association, Miss Liu said. In the border area of Shansi-Chahar-Hopai provinces, about 200,000 women now are enrolled in classes for literacy, after only six months of organizing, she claims. "We hope to enrol everyone of the 6,000,000 women in this district by the end of next year," she says.

"Our women's unions have already helped to direct the village elections in this district, in which women voted equally with men. Many villages have elected women to the post of assistant headman, and in some county governments women have been appointed department chiefs. Such activities for Chinese women are evidence of the social revolution this war is fostering.

"We sometimes have mass meetings to denounce the cruel treatment which some husbands give their wives. We hope that day will soon be past."

Temples Are Link Australia, Egypt

DARWIN, Australia (CP-Reuters) —An ancient "Stonehenge", with caves containing remarkable primitive paintings and grisly relics, has been found in the Australian bush, about 300 miles from Darwin.

The discovery was made by a Northern Territory expedition, led by Hugh Stuart, collecting material for projected exhibitions showing wealth and early history of North Australia. It may support the theory of the "Children of the Sun," said to have gone from Egypt to all quarters of the globe.

On a grassy plateau the party found an extraordinary group of cave temples. Towering abruptly above the long white grass was a group of majestic sandstone outcrops ranged in a wide ampitheatre about a mile in circumference. The rocks, almost black with age, rose in a series of individual masses 30 to 50 feet high.

Most dominating of the group has several large protruding overhanks like huge cowls. Each cowl covered a cave in which were found a series of brilliant paintings, believed to be hundreds of years old. Two enormous figures in red, yellow, white and black, clearly representing a king and queen, were the most important of a varied and interesting collection which includes kangaroos, serpents, fishes, crocodiles, boomerangs and phallic symbols.

Stuart wrote: "The royal pair are elaborately clothed from head to foot and the king has a magnificent sun-like headdress suggesting eastern influence. A notable fact is that the sign of the cross appears upon the breast of each figure."

Further investigation of the caves showed that they were full of symbolism and ghastly relics, including two shinbones and smaller human remains, some painted red.

AFRAID TO MARRY

By HELEN WELSHIMER

CHAPTER 47

Sunday afternoon Judy went to tea at her father's penthouse. Sarita had telephoned inviting her. Ordinarily she would have given an excuse. Today she wanted to go.

Brushing her hair, Judy admitted to the candid eyes in her dressing table mirror that she had a reason. Somebody might have news of Ronald and the law firm.

In the excitement of seeing him the night before, she had forgotten to ask him the outcome of his resignation. He had not offered the information. But of course the resignation would be rejected.

And yet—the proud old legal firm hated publicity. It did not deal with sensationalism. Its clients were solid, reputable houses with a dislike for notoriety.

The long drawing room at the penthouse had not changed. The tea table with its silver stood near the white fireplace. Sarita, in a red dress, sat on a white leather chair as she poured tea. All that was part of yesterday.

Judy felt strange and formal. Six months ago this was home. Her own room had been down the hall. She wondered how it looked with her possessions removed from it. She slipped away to the room.

Sarita had refurnished it, copying her bookshelves, tables, lamps, chairs, even the bed, as closely as possible. If her own prints had been there Judy could have believed she had stepped over the threshold to yesterday.

"Your father did it." Judy did not know Sarita had followed her until her stepmother spoke at her shoulder.

"My father?"

"He still believes that some day you will come home. When you do, he wants everything waiting for you just as it was."

"No one uses it now?" Judy asked.

"No one, my darling! It's your room."

Judy went to the chest of drawers, opened the top one.

"Why, Sarita!" she exclaimed. There were piles of cobwebby underthings in it.

Sarita smiled. "I did that, Judy. You'll need things, you know!"

Judy laughed, half provoked. "You're a pair of darlings and I love you both for it, but don't you believe I can take care of myself? I'm doing it—I'm saving money every week."

Yet she was touched. Her father did want her. He had not banned her in his heart or he would not have made ready for her when she would choose to return. Sarita was kind, too.

When Sarita and Judy returned to the drawing room they found more guests. Mr. Heaton and Mrs. Heaton were there. They greeted Judy warmly.

At the first opportunity she spoke to Mr. Heaton. "Have you seen Ronald?"

The man put down his tea cup. "No. I haven't, and I've been trying everywhere to reach him. Can you help me?"

"I saw him last night. If his apartment doesn't answer, I would not know where he is."

Around them voices rose, fell, punctuated with laughter. Life followed a casual pattern, gay and charming. It had returned to its former routine.

Yet Judy sat apart, having no interest in the scene except as the lawyer's words concerned Ronald.

"We didn't accept the boy's resignation," Mr. Heaton continued. "The young fool doesn't know it. Can't reach him to tell him so." The attorney chuckled. "I've sent him two telegrams—no reply to either of them. I think I'll have to send out a search warrant so I can apologize and congratulate him."

"Mr. Heaton, you're splendid!" Judy exclaimed, not knowing her eyes were starry, her voice tremulous.

The lawyer patted her hand as he rose to move away. "The lad's real stuff, Judy. Stick to him."

When the girl looked into the lawyer's face, startled wonder on her own, the man sat down again.

"Ronald is dependable, Judy. Especially as husband material. I never would have known that it was his innate chivalry in helping Miss Boland that got him into this trouble of his own if I had depended on getting the reason from him. Mr. Boland explained to me. He's sorry about it all—but he thinks Ronald would be an asset as a son-in-law."

Judy nodded mutely.

"What do you think about Ronald and Abbey?" the man asked her almost sharply.

"I hope they'll be happy," Judy said, and wandered off to join the group by the tea table.

It was no use consoling herself with the erroneous idea that loyalty alone had held Ronald to Abbey. An engagement was an engagement, and while the glittering Abbey might not want Ronald as a husband, she would retain him as a fiance until she found another count, prince, duke, heir to a soap flakes fortune, or someone else with some kind of a publicity bid.

As for herself, she had her work. She would give her time to it, and become so successful that some day people would wear gowns by Judy Rogers. They would not be gowns designed merely for the debutantes and dowagers who wrote checks with careless hands. They would be simple, attractive, and in a price range low enough that Coralee and her friends could afford some of them.

She gave herself up to the dream, there in the firelight, scarcely knowing when someone asked her a question, and she embroidered the edge of the conversation with an unimportant word in answer.

Mr. Heaton, hat in hand, strolled back from the library.

"I located the young scallawag. He's on his way into town. Been out at the Bolands! Abbey wanted to stage some kind of shindig in celebration of truth prevailing and I take it he walked out. But the party's still on the books. I'm going to his apartment to waylay him now."

Judy got her hat and coat and pocketbook, thanked her stepmother for the tea, and started home. She decided to walk for awhile. Fifth avenue was cold and bare and the clothes for the Florida resorts and cruises to Bermuda had been removed from the windows of the shops. Some were presenting the more sedate things for early spring. Other windows were covered with canvas or silken curtains while the artists prepared them. A raw wind was blowing. She hailed a taxicab and leaned against the slippery leather cushions while it raced down Fifth avenue, green lights with it.

Marjorie was gone. Craig had been gone a long time. Now Ronald was going. That was life.

She must remember that all that mattered was to build your own life securely, on a firm basis of accomplishment. Then winds might blow, waters rise, floods come, and lesser houses go to sea, but you would stand, strong as a citadel on a rocky hill.

Work—it stayed with you. But could it comfort you forever and forever?

She sat up and dabbed at her eyes with a scrap of lace.

"Judy Rogers, snap out of it! You don't want a man who doesn't want you! You don't want anyone! You've been so afraid of marriage. Don't be forgetting!"

She turned the radio low in her apartment, and piled wood on the fire while a swing band, far away, gathered its music and sent it over the world. She had discarded program after program until she found something as impersonal as swing. Today she would be gay. Why were Sunday programs so fraught with sentiment?

She slipped into some velvet lounging pajamas that were the warm brown of her hair, and found their matching mules. She had not worn them for a long time. She turned on a lamp and sat down to read the Sunday papers.

At twelve o'clock Ronald had not called. She admitted to herself, then, that she had been waiting for his voice on the telephone or speaking through the tube above her doorbell ever since Mr. Heaton had telephoned the Boland estate and been told that Ronald was leaving.

She was an undulated, simple fool!

She repeated the words with more vehemence when she saw the morning newspapers. Was she always to get her news of Ronald from the press—always to catch her breath at his name leaping out in scarry black letters?

THE TRANSFORMATION OF TOMMY

"READ HOW IT HAPPENED"

"My Boy Gained Weight—Eats Better—Has More Pep—" Writes Mrs. William Freeman, Toronto

"My boy, Billy, was always restless and tired—wouldn't eat—and at 12 years weighed only 60 pounds; I started him on Ovaltine, and he loves it! Now he's 13 and goes around 110 pounds. He is never tired—but always full of pep! I can't give him enough to eat! . . . Thanks to Ovaltine!"

This excerpt from Mrs. Freeman's letter covers, of course, only one individual. We do not claim similar results will occur in every case when Ovaltine is used. But so many mothers have reported remarkable results, we do feel a thorough trial of Ovaltine is justified in similar cases of underweight.

Ovaltine is a delicious pure food concentrate, approved by thousands of doctors. For the sake of your child—try Ovaltine! Simply give it mixed with milk, hot or cold—and children love its delicious taste! Get a tin at your drug or grocery store today—and accept special offer at right!

A FREE PRESS OR A MOUTHPIECE PRESS?

One of the stock charges that Hitler and Mussolini have brought against the democracies is the fact that the press is accorded a considerable degree of freedom of comment in the lands where dictatorship does not prevail. They declare that this leads to international bad feeling.

Recent events have shown that the exact opposite is true. In Britain and its dominions, France and the United States the press has given utterance to a wide variety of opinions and views on the rapidly changing situation. But on the whole the tone of comment has been much more sensible and reserved than that of the officially-inspired German press. There has been no bandying of obscene epithets. There has been no attempt to stir men's hearts to rage.

Even where opinions contrary to the views of governments were expressed, as they have been, there has been remarkable constraint and consideration. There has been little extreme denunciation even of rulers whose opinions and acts arouse the most violent abhorrence.

On the whole there has been a remarkable feeling that every possible sacrifice likely to serve the ends of peace should be made. In the dictatorial lands, on the other hand, the press has been completely subservient to the government. No suggestion of compromise is even mentioned. Every effort is made to whip up hatred and to implant the idea that the leader is invincible and above error.

The people are deliberately kept in ignorance of the facts and not permitted to pass judgment on them themselves. They are expected to accept blindly what they are told. Indeed it is reported that in Germany preparations are complete to dispense with the press entirely and rely on radio broadcasts to make sure that the people only hear what is intended for their ears.

This may be a good way to lead a people into a war but it is a poor way to preserve peace. It is also full of peril to those who practice it. Should war come, in spite of recent developments, it must be a great disillusionment to the people, for in Germany at least they have been led to believe that Hitler can get anything he wants by merely asking for it. If the leader meets a disastrous check in the future it is hard to tell what will happen. Certainly the blind obedience and trust can hardly continue.

A free press has certain disadvantages from the viewpoint of the dictator. But it has shown its worth to the people in the democratic lands during the recent crisis. Like the democratic regime itself it has demonstrated that it is safer than any system which entrusts supreme power to any one man.

BRITISH AIR PROGRAM

A $400,000,000 boost in air defence expenditures supplements with realism Premier Chamberlain's appeasement policy. It not only speaks the language of the dictators, but it holds the answer to German and Italian criticism. More than ever it throws the responsibility for a practical concession to peace on Berlin and Rome. And it may be a sign of the times that in neither capitals have the protests been allowed to interfere with the conversations with London.

In this light Sir Kingsley Wood's belief that a billion-dollar air program is a step which may lead to "limitation or armaments by agreement" is not just a flight of fancy. Britain's determination to build a "balanced defence system" clearly explains her interest in the Hitler proposals for ration disarmament in the air. The emphasis is on the word "balanced," and should not require any elucidation.

But, great as the new program is, and influential as itmay prove to be, the mere voting of $1,000,000,000 does not mean air power. The secretary for air warned against misjudging actual stength by the number of "first-line" planes. No nation advertises its reserves, nor its ability to produce them. Estimates vary from four reserves to one first-line plane in the case of bombers, to nine-to-one in the fighter types. But Sir Kingsley might also have warned that money will not guarantee superiority.

Recent revelations in the British house of commons imply that Britain has not been getting as much value as she could expect for her money. The admissions demonstrated the fundamental necessity of absolute cooperation on the part of every one involved in arms and munitions production—manufacturer, labor, and producer alike. Indeed, it is in this important particular that the dictators have a decided advantage. Not discounting the premiums they must pay for raw materials because of their trading policies, they possibly can produce a plane for two-thirds the cost in Britain, the United States or Canada.

They are not concerned with standards of living and wage schedules. These are subordinate to the national need. Hours of work are determined by available labor and production requirements; pay by the state of the treasury. Profits, if any, likewise can be controlled. For some one to blunder is not just a regrettable mistake. It costs that some one his head. The will to live, even under these restricted conditions, is a great aid to cooperation. Responsibility under such circumstances can attain great heights of efficiency.

Yet there is no reason why the same efficiency cannot be had under a voluntary system. Private enterprise does not have to take any lessons from the totalitarian system. It boils down to a matter of organization, and a willingness to serve. These are the essentials which must be applied in Canada if this country is to cooperate as it should and can in the British program and in the development of our own defences. There can be no thought of "gravy" contracts, of "rooking" the governments. It must be the most value for every dollar.

Industry's stake in this bid for peace is as great as the individual's, if indeed not greater. Certainly its responsibility is greater, and on the basis of defence costs business can best serve itself by helping to keep them as low as is compatible with national security. The alternative is regulation and supervision. And heaven knows armaments are uneconomic enough without governments having to resort to "conscription."

Legion Would Move Fountain Retain Memorial

To the Editor

Sir—I have been instructed by a general meeting of the Canadian Legion B.E.S.L. to write this letter in order that the general public in this district may be informed of the Legion's attitude towards the proposed removal of the Arrow Lakes War Memorial to another site.

We realize that under present conditions, there is a certan amount of danger to children who drink at the fountain, and play around the base of the memorial, therefore we suggest the removal of the water fountain, and the placing of a suitable chain guard around the base of the memorial would overcome this hazard, and also improve the general appearance of the structure.

The passing of time and Remembrance day services have hallowed this site in the minds of many of our citizens and we think our suggestion would remove the present grounds for complaint without transgressing the sentiments of those who feel deeply in this matter.

Manion a Past Talker

Words—words—words. Thousands of them, millions of them, pouring in spate on Parliament Hill. Cabinet ministers, senators, back benchers, talking, discussing, questioning, arguing.

Down in the centre aisle a shorthand reporter's pen races across the ruled pages; a flip and another page, line after line, page after page. There's an international crisis to be recorded; there's a debate about unemployment; there's a spot of oratory aroused by the firing of the postmaster at Ticklepenny Creek. Great words, little words, sentence, paragraph and page, they go down in shorthand, for this is the permanent record of the doings of the Canadian house of commons. The average speed is about 150 words a minute, but with the return of the Hon. R. J. Manion to parliament, the reporters must speed up to, and pass, 200.—T. W. Wayling in C.I.L. Oval.

Hore-Belisha, Britain's Man of Action

Hore-Belisha is sometimes flashy. He likes applause. But he is a worker. He followed his crashing debut among the hoary traditions of the War Office with His Army Estimates, which are the best estimates since the palmy days of Haldane. For the last ten days during their compilation Belisha scarely left his room at the War Office. He had with him up to four and five in the morning the pick of the Army's brains — new men he had raised to the higher commands. He nearly killed his staff, but he made a new Army, fit to meet the new conditions smacked onto the face of Europe today by German aims.—B. L. Jacot.

?? Questions ?? ANSWERS

A. P., Grand Forks—Would you please tell me the names of some companies who sell ginseng seed?

Ginseng seed can be obtained from Mr. Joe Romer, Lochdale P. O., B. C., also from Mr. J. D. Honsberger, Vernon, B. C.

F. G., Nelson — Are domestic animals, such as dogs and cats potential carriers of disease?

Yes, but the dangers from any reasonably well cared animal is probably so small as to be almost negligible. This does not mean that baby should be allowed to drink from the same bowl as the cat. Exercise reasonable precautions and your family will get much enjoyment from home pets.

T. O. D., Cranbrook — Would you please tell me how ground cherries grow? Is there any way of cooking them and what are they used for when they are cooked?

Presume you refer to what is commonly known as the "Strawberry tomato" or "husk tomato," also sometimes called dwarf Cape gooseberry and ground cherry. This is a low annual trailing plant very often grown in gardens for the sake of the fruit which it produces which is borne on the branches of the plant in husks. The fruit is rather pleasant, slightly acid and is often used for preserves and the making of jam. When ripe it may also be eaten raw as it has rather a pleasant flavor.

Contract Bridge

WORTH REPETITION

NOTHING CONNECTED with bridge is more worthy of repetition than the basic idea that you should not "give up the ship" so long as it is not yet sunk. If your only possible chance to make your contract is to find a particular card right where you want it, play exactly as if you know the card is there.

(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

The bidding on this deal was 1-Spade by South, 2-Hearts by West, 2-Spades by South, 3-Diamonds by West, 3-Spades by South, 4-Diamonds by West, 4-Spades by South, 5-Diamonds by West and 5-Spades by South.

West cashed the heart K and continued with the suit, playing the Q. South ruffed this with the spade 2 and laid down the spade A. Declarer then put East in the lead with the spade K.

Instead of leading diamonds in response to his partner's bids of that suit, East decided to return a club. South, having lost two tricks and figuring from the lead that the K was held by West, went in with his ace and was set one trick.

In view of the fact that the club was led by East and realizing the contract was doomed in any event if West held the K, South should have ducked the lead.

NOTES ON Canadian Birds

By G. H. RICHARDSON

While there have been ducks of a number of species around since August, their movements have been gaining momentum chiefly in the last two weeks.

In the river duck group, there are Black, Mallard, Baldpate, Pintail and Green-winged Teal making up the bulk with others in smaller numbers.

The Mallard and Black hold much the same position in the west and east, the Mallard being the western bird.

The Black and Mallard are among the best table ducks both for their large size and flavor. As its name implies, the first appears black at a distance, the most pronounced mark being the white under wing surface, which is noticeable when the bird is flying. Seen up close, it shows brown feather edges which break up the even tone. Female Mallards look much like this, but are paler, more buffy in general color, with a dull yellow instead of olive-green bill; and white borders to the speculum (that area of the wing at the bend, on the after edge, which in ducks is almost always irridescent.)

Drake Mallard

The drake Mallard is not confusable with anything else. It is the bird from which the familiar barnyard variety is derived, the one with green head, white collar, rusty breast, and curled feathers above the tail. These ducks belong to that group which resort to shallow water to feed, "tipping up", the tail out of water and feet paddling frantically to maintain position.

The other group, the diving or sea ducks, dive 20 or 30 feet down to get the food of their choice. In this group are the Scaup (Bluebills), Redhead, Canvas-back, Buffle-head (Butterball) and others. The Scaups are the commonest of these now, since of late years there has been a drastic reduction in the numbers of the Redhead and Canvas-back which nest in the prairies where the drought has been so severe.

SNOW BUNTINGS

Perhaps while we are gazing out over some lake or bay at sea ducks, a flock of small birds flies by with undulating flight, showing flashes of black and white on the wings. We notice that when alight, they run rather than hop, from weed to weed in search of seeds; sometimes reaching and stretching high, giving the occasional flutter to keep balance. These are Snow Buntings and come to us from the Arctic tundra, where they nest among rocks. Their summer home being treeless, they seem to usually stick to the ground while south, and it is a rare sight to see one perched on a branch or telephone wire.

Lesser Scaup (duck, top; drake, below)

Snow Bunting (winter plumage)

While with us, they frequent sand beaches and open fields, a flock slowly moving along as it feeds; for those in the rear having denuded the plants where they are, rise up over the heads of the others to start feeding in front. This goes on and on.

In summer, their dress is black and white. In winter they change to a plumage of rust and white, with a few black markings.

WHAT THE PRESS IS SAYING

ABERHART'S RECORD

Instead of showing any practical sympathy for my poor suffering people he (Premier Aberhart) has increased taxation to pay increased indemnities to all the M.L.A.'s and instead of paying $25 dividends has pocked about $25,000 himself in three years. Poor suffering people, indeed. Instead of presenting the brief to the Rowell commission at no cost, he spent $20,000 of the taxpayers' money in publishing it in book form. Little sums like $100,000 for a bunch of amateurs to squander and $200,000 for jobs for others to experiment with baby banks, are specimens of his political jugglery, besides the scores of thousands wasted with unconstitutional legislation in legal battles and appeals. The courts have had to protect the people's rights and even the farmer against a seven per cent tax on all his produce.
—Athabaska Echo.

WHEAT POOL

While the volume of wheat handled by the Pool on a voluntary basis is naturally considerably smaller than the amount under the contract system, this year's share of the Alberta crop was large and the number of farmers taking advantage of the elevator system they own themselves is steadily increasing. Today the Alberta Wheat Pool owns and operates 429 country elevators, and a 5,000,000-bushel terminal elevator at Vancouver. It also operates under lease from the federal government a 1,650,000 bushel terminal at Vancouver. It is a big business and its continued successful operation is due to its skilled staff, its chairman and directors, and the increasing support of the farmers of Alberta. It is a real asset to this province.—Red Deer Advocate.

ROYALTY FUNCTIONS

Canadians are looking forward to the coming of Their Majesties next year. Australians appear to welcome the thought of the Duke and Duchess of Kent as representatives of the throne in their midst. The British Empire has been functioning for a long time, and it is such acts of imagination and sense of the fitting that help in its perpetuation.—Regina Leader-Post.

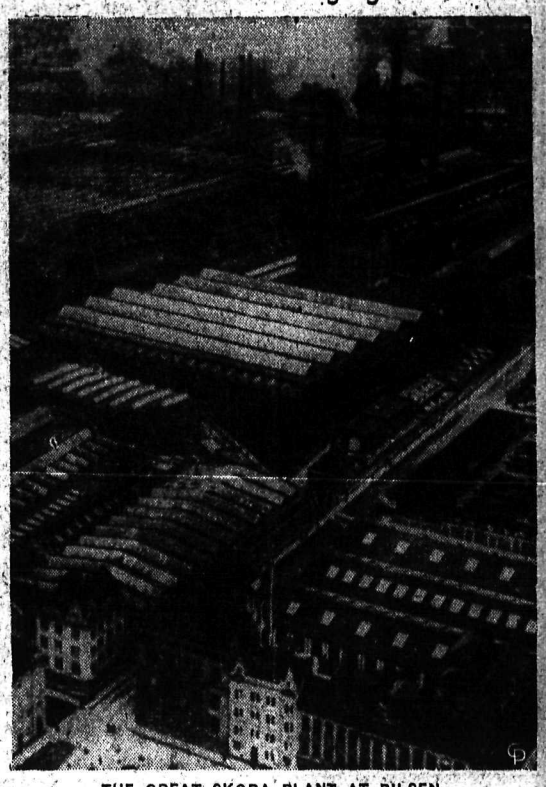
ANIMALS MAROONED

Scientific explorers have just returned from the wilds of Venezuela to report what they found on a high plateau. The plateau is isolated by high rocky precipitous sides. On it ant-eaters, oppossums and rats have been marooned for thousands of years, and the object of the expedition sent there by the American Museum of Natural History was to examine how these animals differed from their modern representatives.—Eastern Chronicle.

The HUMAN SIDE OF THE NEWS

BY EDWIN C. HILL

Munition Manufacturers Had Their Four-Power Pact Long Ago



THE GREAT SKODA PLANT AT PILSEN

At this writing, it is in doubt whether Hitler will get his coveted control of the great Skoda armament works at Pilsen, Czechoslovakia. News of the status of the weirdly complicated ownership of the plant is meagre, but there are persistent reports that the firm has been still further "internationalized" and that Germany will be a preferred customer for tanks, rolling stock, armored cars, and the new machine-gun on which the Czechs placed so much reliance when they expected to fight.

It is said to have a range of about 7000 feet, shooting 680 shots a minute, operated by one man, and weighing about 17 pounds. A former military engineer of my acquaintance, recently in Europe, told me other machine-guns were toys compared to this one, unless it be the recently developed German S2-606 which is another quite hellish weapon.

The armament competition resumed swiftly after the peace of Munich. There probably is no field of European news so hard to cover by newspaper correspondents as the doings of the munitions-makers and their undercover deals around the world. News sources are plugged. There is just a tiny trickle of news and frequent rumors, although the main outlines of the story have been revealed by diligent research in the last two or three years.

The great Skoda works, employing 38,000 men, was presumably controlled by the Schneider-Creusot company of France. It has been working seven days a week, 24 hours a day, 365 days a year, exporting $30,000,000 worth of arms annually, or 14.3 per cent of the world production. All efforts definitely to establish ownership and control have shaded off into a jungle of international interests, with the bewildering undercover ramifications of the vast, interlacing European steel and muntions cartels.

It was in April, 1920, that the French Bank de L'Union Parisienne organized the European Industrial and Financial Union, a bit mysterious in its take-off, but soon revealed as out to get control of various Central European munitions outfits, including Skoda. Heading the enterprise was the historic Schneider-Creusot Company, back and forth across various European boundaries for many decades, dealing killing tools to all owners.

Ordinarily, among the munition-makers, there is a flow of fraternal good will and understanding, and of good business, as unhindered as the free flux of their own blast furnaces. But in these post-war years, there was competition which really did cross boundary lines. Schneider-Creusot and their ally, De Wendel, were deep in the Continental Steel Cartel, and within the general frame work of this cartel, the Comite des Forges rallied a group of munitioneers to take on the great German Thyssen and Krupp outfits for a sure-enough rock-and-sock battle. Usually the fix was in these encounters, but this was a fight.

Try to run this down and right at the start you run up against the Niederoesterreichische Escompete Gesellschaft, which seemed to be working in the dark of the moon with Ougree-Marihaye. They are all as tough as they sound, and quite as bewildering, but out of it all it is fairly clear that the great German steelmonger, Thyssen, was licked by the European cartel.

But here's an interesting twist: In 1928, Thyssen had rallied the steel kings of the Ruhr, bankrolled Hitler and put him over. But after Hitler gained power, smacking down possible competitors, he eased Thyssen out and Thyssen went to Brazil. And with Thyssen gone, evidence began to show that Hitler had been more or less "declared in" by the cartel. The politicians were several years behind in rigging their four-power pact. The arm-dealers already had theirs.

Life Sentence In Chicago For Debt Faces Him

CHICAGO, Nov. 17 (AP) — Raymond Prochnow, once a wealthy investment broker, faced the dismal prospect today of life imprisonment for debt.

Known as the "forgotten man" of the county jail, he already has served three years in debtors' prison although never convicted of crime.

Two years ago Prochnow was freed by a judge who opined he had been sufficiently punished. Yesterday the state supreme court ordered him recommitted.

Prochnow, who is 41 and the father of two small children, owes $35,282 to the estate of William Garnet. It represents the value of securities obtained from Garnett and pledged for a bank loan. The former broker contended the bank disposed of them in liquidating the loan.

When ordered to pay the debt Prochnow said he was penniless. He was sent to jail for contempt. Attorney Thomas Vent, counsel for Garnett's daughter, said Prochnow was prosecuted under the Citation act which requires a person who fraudulently appropriates funds to remain in jail until he pays. "Prochnow," said Attorney Vent, "will stay in jail forever — unless he pays."

Anglo-American Pact Marks New Era International Relations

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (CP) — The United States, the United Kingdom, two of the dominions [illegible] and Canada and the United States today signed reciprocal trade agreements establishing new economic ties.

In a momentous ceremony in the mirrored, gilded east room of the White House, Prime Minister Mackenzie King signed for Canada, Secretary of State Cordell Hull for the United States and the British ambassador, Sir Ronald Lindsay, and Arnold Overton, second secretary of the British board of trade, for the United Kingdom, Northern Ireland, Newfoundland and the Empire colonies.

The official statement issued following the signing ceremonies said the two agreements were "important in relation to the system of British imperial preferences, which has been in long existence, but was greatly expanded by the Ottawa agreements of 1932."

While the two agreements are separate instruments, the statement said they should be considered together, and added:

"In such cases the full significance of these agreements cannot be judged without considering them both together, and considering their full coverage, including, in the case of the agreement with the United Kingdom, the concessions relating to trade with Newfoundland and the British colonial Empire."

MACKENZIE KING PLEASED

In a brief address at the ceremony, the Canadian prime minister said it was "no exaggeration" to say relations between the Dominion and the United States have never been happier than since they signed their first trade agreement in 1935.

That agreement expires this Dec. 31.

Mr. Hull said the signing of the broad pacts was of historic significance and that they "furnish concrete and powerful support for a future trend of world developments along the lines of increasing understanding and cooperation among nations."

President Roosevelt, attending the ceremony as an "interested observer," sat at the centre of a long table facing the lobby of the executive mansion.

The British ambassador said he shared fully Mr. Hull's sentiments "as to the promise for improvement in relations among nations which grows out of international negotiations of the kind which have been so happily concluded."

Mr. Mackenzie King expressed "genuine satisfaction" that the United States and Great Britain, "with whose fortunes those of Canada are so closely linked, have effectively strengthened the friendly relations which have long prevailed."

It must be increasingly apparent," the prime minister added, that the stability of the civilization we cherish depends more than ever on the friendly association of the Great English-speaking nations of the old world and the new."

NEW VITALITY

Secretary Hull commented that the three nations "have applied a new vitality to the basic principles of a civilized world order, the acceptance and application of which are indispensable to economic well-being and social security within nations, to peaceful relations between nations, and, therefore, to the continued advancement and progress of mankind."

Mr. Hull said the two agreements "not only  provide an instrument for an expansion of valuable commerce between the countries concerned, but they constitute an expression of determination on the part of three of the world's largest commercial nations to maintain and strengthen a sound and healthy basis of international trade.

REVERSES BRITISH POLICY

The United Kingdom agreement, the state department said, "is particularly important from the standpoint of agriculture. That country is by far the largest foreign market for American products, taking normally about one-third of the total exports."

The department added that the agreement also marks reversal of Great Britain's trend toward protectionalism.

"Although for decades that country maintained substantial freedom of trade, its few duties being intended either for revenue only or to protect certain key industries necessary for military safety," the department said, "the Import Duties act of 1932 marked the abandonment of this historic policy so far as countries outside the British Empire were concerned.

"In some of its trade agreements with other coutnries, the United Kingdom has modified its protective and preferential policy, and this agreement with the United States represents a further marked modification of that policy."

The tariff concessions made under the Canadian and United Kingdom agreements go into effect Jan. 1, 1939. The agreements have initial terms of three years and may continue in force indefinitely thereafter, subject to termination by either government on six months' notice.

Egypt's Monarchs Have a Daughter

CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 17 (AP)—A daughter was born today to King Farouk and Queen Farida.

Since the child was a girl the heir apparent to the throne will continue to be Prince Mohammed Aly, Farouk's elderly cousin, who was prince regent during the king's minority.

Seventeen-year-old Queen Farida and King Farouk were married last Jan. 20.

Canada-Built Bombers Will Be Out of Date, British House Is Told

LONDON, Nov. 17 (CP) — Criticism of the agreement between the British government and Canadian aircraft manufacturers for an initial order of long-range bombers was voiced in the house of commons today by Sir Hugh Seely in moving an opposition Liberal amendment.

He said he could not believe the decision announced yesterday was one which the house wished to accept.

"We know the air secretary is buying 400 machines in the United States," Sir Hugh declared. "He has also said he is setting up Lord Duffield's factory for Spitfires, which is to produce 1000 machines.

"But when it comes to this Canadian order he says it would not be in the public interest to disclose figures. It has been said they are going to manufacture Hampdens, but the Hampden is outdated now and will not be the machine you will need in 1940."

Referring to the inclusion of Handley Page, an aircraft manufacturer, on the committee which was responsible for recommending the agreement, Sir Hugh doubted if it was wise to ask a man to go out to report on building something which was going to compete against him.

"His patriotism, you may say, is sufficient in regard to that," he continued, "but it is very largely due to his views that you only get this very unsatisfactory result in the matter of Canadian production. You cannot produce a few machines between the present time and 1940 and, when you need production for war, extend it then."

The Liberal amendment regretted that although deficiencies in military and civil defences were admitted by His Majesty's ministers, no mention was made in the speech from the throne of creation of a ministry of supply to "secure efficiency and prevent waste and profiteering."

Sir Thomas said "Canada fortunately is beyond the practical range of any bombers from a hostile country."

"If we can establish there," he added, "a wealth of experience both in management of labor, that can build machines that can fly here in increasing numbers, we will have established a reserve of power for which we shall be very grateful in the event of necessity.

TINY CREWS BRING BIG SALT CARGO

LUNENBURG, N. S., Nov. 17—(CP) — The 194-ton three-masted schooner E. P. Theriault arrived in port last night from Turks Island with a cargo of 11,000 bushels of salt — and people of this seagoing town believed the voyage constituted some kind of a record.

The vessel was handled during the 15 days at sea by only Captain George Corkum, his mate, William Snow, and Arthur Burns, a young boy making his first trip to sea.

When the E. P. Theriault arrived at Turks Island, all of the crew, with exception of the mate and the boy, deserted.

"I had to get the salt home and with no other men available, hat could I do but bring the ship with what I had," said Captain Corkum.

RIOT IN PARIS

PARIS, Nov. 17 (AP) — A group of about 2000 persons, who police said were mostly Communists, today staged the first demonstration against Premier Daladier's decree laws.

Strong forces of police broke up the demonstration in Place D'Italie, in the heart of the Paris workers' district, without difficulty. Seven persons were arrested charged with obstructing traffic.

EXECUTE BANDIT

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., Nov. 17—(AP)—A spurt of current through the electric chair at state prison here soon after midnight tonight wiped out the last man of the Al Brady gang—three farmer boys who turned mobmen to loot and kill through the United States midwest.

James Dalhover of Madison, 32-year-old trigger man of the gang, was put to death for the slaying of State Policeman Paul Minneman of Longansport May 25, 1937, after the $2500 robbery of the Goodland state bank.

Dalhover was captured and his pals, Alfred Brady and Clarence Lee Shaffer Jr. of Indianapolis, were shot to death by federal agents Oct. 12, 1937, in Bangor, Me.

$100,000,000 Loan For Rumania?

LONDON, Nov. 17 (CP-Havas)—The Bucharest correspondent of the Daily Herald reported today he understood King George and Queen Elizabeth would visit Rumania next autumn to return the current visit to London of King Carol.

Their majesties, the correspondent said, would go to a Rumanian Black sea port abboard a warship and stop at Istanbul, Turkey, on their way home. The king and Queen already have announced plans for visiting Canada and the United States early next summer.

In connection with King Carol's visit here, the Financial News reported the British government and Rumanian experts are now negotiating extension of 20,000,000 ($100,000,000) in commercial credits to Rumania. Part of this would be made up of export credits and the rest would be a loan for the purchase of armaments.

NO INCREASE IN ALTA. LEGISLATURE

EDMONTON, Nov. 17 (CP) — Appointment of a committe of seven to make a report on redistribution of electoral constituencies is provided in a motion placed on the order paper of the Alberta legislature today by Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public works.

The resolution introduced by Mr. Fallow asks that the committee be appointed to consider changing electoral constituencies and that in the redistribution recommended the membership of the legislature be not more than the present 63 or less than 56.

ELECTION DATE DARK SAYS GROTE STIRLING

KELOWNA, BC., Nov. 17 (CP)—Hon. Grote Stirling, M.P., Yale, last night told a Kelowna and District Conservative association meeting here that the date of the next federal election was "more dark than ever before so soon before a forthcoming election."

Association members generally conceded that Hon. Mr. Stirling would be the unanimous choice as Conservative party representative.

British and Japanese Admirals Try Establish Friendlier Feelings

HONG KONG, Nov. 17 (AP)—Japanese and British naval commanders are trying to establish a friendlier feeling between the two navies.

Vice-Admiral Shiozawa, commander of the Japanese fleet in South China, and Vive-Admiral Sir Percy Noble, commander of British forces in Hong Kong, conferred today on "the betterment of Anglo-Japanese naval relations," a Japanese communique said.

Admiral Schiozawa arrived aboard the cruiser Myoko to repay a visit to Canton by the British admiral last week. The warship was the second of the Japanese fleet to enter Hong King since the arrest of two British sailors at Keelung, Formosa, causing considerable resentment in October, 1936.

The sailors took photographs of fortifications, for which the British consul at Keelung apologized.

Admiral Shiozawa declined to say when the Pearl river, main waterway to Canton, would be reopened to commerce, but promised when commercial traffic was permitted all nations would have equal rights.

He said his conferences with Sir Percy had been "very ratisfactory and friendly."

House 'B' Opens Program Series at High School

Nelson High school's annual house program series — with the best entertainers giving their House the highest number of points for the yearly House aggregate — got away to a big start Wednesday afternoon when House "B" presented a rousing program of dances, songs, orchestra numbers, and a laughable skit.

The competition is held annually between houses "A", "B", "C" and "D". House "D" won the contest last year, with a minstrel show. Teachers who are not house sponsors are judges of the four-way contest. Judges are Robert Smillie, Gerald Lee, D. H. Tye and Miss Patricia Campbell.

Helen Stout, dressed as a sailor lad, opened the program with "The Sailors' Hornpipe." She was accompanied by Marjorie Jorgenson.

The High school orchestra, natty in new black and white jackets, and with new music stands, fronted with "N. H. S." flags, mixed "swythm" in their waltzes and fox trots.

Kay (Eleanor Powell) Maber, the "Cigarette girl," mixed her steps in fancy style in her tap dance. She was accompanied by John Huyck at the piano.

Stuart MacIntosh, as he "gazed into the eyes of this multitude gathered before me," got exactly nowhere in his laugh-a-minute speech, after choosing and discarding numerous topics. He attempted to choose a topic that would please the "madam chairman, entertainers, teachers, ladies and gentlemen, students, pupils and what have you," and finally decided on "Speeches and Speakers." But as there were "very long, long, not-so-long and short speeches," and he could give none of these, he gave it all up as a bad job.

Highlight of the whole program was the vocal work of Annie Busk, who has delighted many other audiences in Nelson. She sang "Still as the Night," and her fellow students clamored until she came back with "'Tis My Friend." She was accompanied by Mrs. C. W. Tyler.

Iris Johansson was program chairman.

The orchestra was comprised of Donald Hunter, piano; Frank Oliver, drums and piccolo; Ernie Defeo, trombone; Leo Foster, Sousaphone and bull fiddle; Donald Watts, saxaphone and clarinet; and Allan Barton, trumpet.

Three Employees C. M. & S. Retire

TRAIL, B. C., Nov. 17—William Thomson, Joe Vulcano and Chris Eaton, whose service with the company averaged 23 years, recently were retired on superannuation by the C. M. & S. company.

Mr. Thomson is a pioneer resident of Trail, coming here from Kimberley in 1908 after entering the employ of the company in the East Kootenay mining camp the previous year. He first worked in the smelting department, being employed in the silver refinery since 1917. He is the father of Alderman William Thomson.

Mr. Vulcano has been 22 years with the Consolidated, working in the refinery, smelting and the zinc plants.

Shortly after his return from overseas, Mr. Eaton entered the employ of the C. M. & S. company, beginning at the company farm in 1920. He later moved to the refining and smelting departments. He was appointed a gateman seven or eight years ago.

Pearl White Left a Quarter Million

LONDON, Nov. 17 (AP).—Pearl White, heroine of the old silent movie thrillers who died in Paris Aug. 4, was disclosed today to have left an English estate valued at £50,000 (about $237,350). Death taxes will amount to £7,560 ($35,500). Her will named relatives, friends and charities as chief beneficiaries.

Boy Farmer Wins Oats Award

TORONTO, Nov. 17 (CP)—William Justyn Rigby, 20, a junior farmer from Wembley, Alta., today won the Canadian grand championship in oats, at the Royal Winter Fair, displaying a victory variety. Runner up was Victor Watson, Airdrie, Alta., also with victory.

C.I.O. May Back Roosevelt For A Third Term

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 17 (AP)—The C.I.O. convention, grinding out a policy program for liberal labor legislation, indicated today it would take action on proposals endorsing the New Deal and calling for a third term for President Roosevelt.

George Bucher, of Philadelphia, a delegate of the United Furniture Workers union, endeavored to obtain passage of a resolution lauding the New Deal's program and putting the CIO convention on record for a third term for the Roosevelt administration.

CIO general counsel Lee Pressman interrupted Bucher's motion with the explanation the resolutions committee still had under consideration several resolutions calling for blanket endorsement of the Roosevelt administration and a third term for the White House incumbent. At Preeman's request, Bucher deferred his motion until the resolutions committee brings in its report.

The 500 delegates a few minutes later went on record as approving a social security program, which Harvey Fremming, chairman of the committee on social security said meant a "tremendous expansion of the program put into effect under President Roosevelt."

The resolutions established a committee on social security, endorsed adequate care for the aged, needy, blind and widows, approved the president's national health committee's activities and ordered a survey of the health cooperative field.

Nelson Board to Take No Action Fixed Gas Price

Since government fixing of gasoline prices was now "before the courts," the industrial committee of the Nelson board of trade was of the opinion the board should not take action at this time, and a recommendation to that effect was indorsed by the council of the board at its luncheon Thursday at the Hume. The committee has expressed opposition, however, to the principle of government-fixed prices.

The committee's report followed consideration of a telegram from Petroleum Industries of British Columbia urging opposition to government-fixed prices.

Nakusp Men Are Guests of Board

Three members of the Nakusp board of trade—Hunter Gardner, president, Frank Rushton and John Dolman—were guests at the luncheon of the Nelson board council at the Hume Thursday.

Robert Foxall, president of the Nelson junior board, was also a guest.

G. K. Burns, newly-named representative of the junior board to the senior board, was introduced in that capacity.

Paterson Cut-Off Opened to Traffic

ROSSLAND, B. C., Nov. 17—Regarded as one of the finest pieces of road in the district, the new section of Rossland-Paterson highway which eliminates the steep hill from the Great Northern roadbed to Sheep Creek was opened to traffic Wednesday.

The new three-quarters of a mile of 30-foot highway leaves the old road grade a short distance from the top of the hill and continues on a straight, even grade to connect with the old road again below the switchback.

Three months of work have eliminated the steep hill and switchbacks.

December 4 Last Date Christmas Mail to Britain

Christmas mail for Great Britain and easily-reached European countries must leave the Kootenays by December 4 to assure delivery in time for Christmas, R. M. Manahan, postmaster at Nelson, has been advised.

The Duchess of Bedford, sailing December 10, is the last boat on which postal authorities will guarantee delivery of mail before Christmas. Any going later than that may not be delivered until after Christmas.

Mail for countries to which delivery takes longer should be moving from this district now, Mr. Manahan said.

'Milk Fund' Will Benefit by $235 Proceeds Cabaret

I. O. D. E. Milk Fund will benefit to the sum of $235, net proceeds from the recent cabaret it was disclosed at a special business meeting of the Kokanee chapter, I. O. D. E. held in the Legion hall Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. G. S. MacIntosh, treasurer, reported that gross receipts amounted to $426.73, and, deducting expenses, the chapter would realize approximately $235.

It was voted that letters of thanks be sent to non-members who had helped to make the evening a success.

Mrs. H. H. MacKenzie, regent, was in the chair.

Nelson Silent on Castlegar Ferry

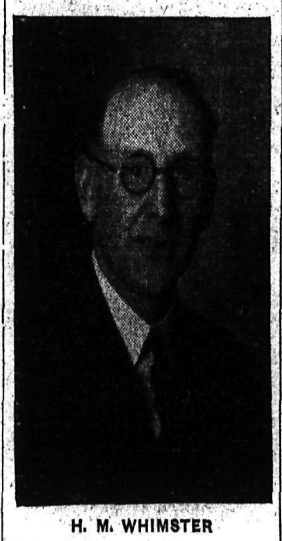
Recommendation from the roads and bridges committee that the Nelson board of trade should take no action on proposal for 24-hour ferry service at Castlegar the year around, was indorsed by the Nelson board council at its luncheon Thursday.

The Trail junior board urged that present traffic and future traffic would warrant the extra expense of continuous service throughout the year. Trail senior board, however, considered the traffic was not sufficient at this time.

C. F. McHardy explained that since the ferry was in Rossland-Trail riding, the committee felt it would be presumptious for the Nelson board to go "over the head" of the Trail senior board.

NELWAY ROAD TO BE MAJOR ROAD PROJECT WHIMSTER TELLS BOARD

Reports on Victoria Visit; Given "Fine Reception"



H. M. WHIMSTER

"From now on, we are assured, the Ymir road will be the No. 1 project in Nelson-Creston riding, which means the bulk of road work in the district will be carried out on that road until it is in good shape," H. M. Whimster told the council of the Nelson board of trade Thursday as he reported on the visit of a Salmo-Nelson delegation to Victoria. M. C. Donaldson, president of the Salmo Valley and District board and Mayor N. C. Stibbs of Nelson, with Mr. Whimster, comprised the delegation which carried a district petition to Victoria to ask for improvement of the road.

Mr. Whimster stated the three received "a very fine reception." In addition to the petition bearing 2977 names, a second petition drawn by the mayor and city council of Nelson was presented.

"Mayor Stibbs put up some very strong arguments, and any success we had is largely due to him," Mr. Whimster reported. The mayor refused to be drawn from any of his points.

The delegation asked for 13 miles of blacktop, but found afterward that this was probably excessive, since three miles the trio believed to be finished and ready for surfacing was not advanced that far as yet.

Mayor Stibbs and Mr. Donaldson had occupied seats on the floor of the house at one session, Mr. Whimster stated.

High School Students Get an Unlooked for Break From Studies

Nelson high school students Thursday morning got an unexpected dash outdoors into the sunshine—only to find it was all for nothing.

A girl taking physical education class upstairs in the school gymnasium, fell against the fire alarm system, causing the gong to ring, and sending the students scuttling outside.

Sun Again Appears, Shines for 2 Hours

For the first time since November 6 when the sun shone for one hour, Nelsonites enjoyed two hours of bright sunshine Thursday morning after the sky finally cleared after two weeks of dull rainy weather. Clouds again began to gather about noon and once more obscured the sun for most of the rest of the day.

During the 24 hours ending at 5 p.m. Thursday .07 inch of rain fell in the city, most of which was recorded Wednesday night after Wednesday's readings had terminated.

Yesterday's maximum temperature was 42 degrees while the day's low was 33 degrees, both readings being exactly the same as official figures of Wednesday.

Joe Bush Retires to California After Running 20 Years on Yahk Line

KINGSGATE, B. C. — Forty-one years of railroading and 20 of them spent on the line between Bonners Ferry and Yahk came to an end Nov. 12 when Joe Bush signed off for the last time and said goodbye to the caboose to head out for California to spend the rest of his days and enjoy his pension in the sunny south. Big, genial happy Joe Bush, with his pipe everlastingly in the corner of his mouth, has been a well known and well liked figure all along the line for two decades.

On Armistice night a number of his friends gathered at his apartment where his room mates and colleagues on the train served up a fine oyster stew supper with all the usual accompaniments. It was quite a surprise to Mr. Bush, who was not expecting anything of the kind. P. M. Crawford, agent at Eastport who with Hughie Hannah, Hollis Tritt, Gordon Worley and Harry Hogg had motored down from the border to be present during the evening handed Mr. Bush a splendid meerschaum pipe as a remembrance from friends. Mr. Bush said that when he was sitting beneath an acacia tree on his little ranch he would smoke his pipe and think of the donors plunging around freight trains in 20 below and 4 feet of snow.

B.C. Gov't. Relieves Cities of $140,000 in Annual Jobless Expense

VICTORIA, B.C., Nov. 17 (CP)—Municipalities of British Columbia will be relieved of unemployment relief costs amounting to $140,000 a year by a new arrangement of costs announced today by Premier T. D. Pattullo.

The government, the premier said, has agreed to pay 60 per cent of the cost of relief for unemployable persons. Cities nd municipalities will pay the other 40 per cent.

Up to now the government has paid 40 per cent and the cities 60 per cent.

On a total bill of $700,000 a year for relief of unemployable persons the province will thus increase its contribution from $280,000 to $420,000 and the municipalities will save accordingly.

Today's announcement marked another step in the long dispute between the municipalities and the government over the charges for relief.

When unemployables and employables were segregated in the relief lists, cities were called upon to pay the full cost of assistance to unemployables. They protested they could not pay this charge and the government agreed to meet 40 per cent.

Subsequent representations by civic leaders culminated in today's announcement that this contribution will be raised to 60 per cent.

On ordinary relief of employable persons the government pays 80 per cent and the cities 20 per cent.

Germans Ready to "Sacrifice Everything" For Hitler Says Von Ribbentrop at Von Rath Funeral

DUESSELDORF, Germany, Nov. 17 (AP).—Nazi leaders in the presence of Chancellor Hitler today paid tribute to Ernst Von Rath, whose slaying in Paris touched off a sweeping anti-Jewish campaign, as the newest martyr of National Socialism.

Funeral services for the young embassy attache were held in Duesseldorf's swastika-draped Rhineland hall, bestowing honors rarely accorded a civilian official.

The reichsfuehrer entered the hall at noon, gave the Nazi salute while an orchestra played Beethoven's Eroica, and then heard his aides eulogize Von Rath as the "eighth martyr" abroad.

Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentropp declared that lies and calumnies, persecution and murder are the means employed by international Jewdom and other destructive powers which would like to block Germany's road into the future.

"Their last victim was Party Comrade Von Rath.

FEEL WAVE OF HATE

"If now a new wave of hate strikes out at us in the world, if an attempt is made to descreate the sacrifice of our deceased party comrade by new lies and calumnies, a storm of indignation rises throughout our nation.

"Its determination at all times to sacrifice everything for the fuehrer and the reich becomes all the firmer."

Von Rath was shot a week ago Monday by Herschel Grynszpan, 17-year-old Polish Jew, and died of his wounds Thursday.

State Secretary Ernst Bohle, head of the organization for Germans living abroad, hailed Von Rath as the "eighth martyr for Germany among Germans abroad."

The other seven, he said, were Wilhelm Gustloff, Nazi organizer in Switzerland who was killed February 4, 1936, by a Yugoslav student, and six Germans killed in Barcelona. (A group of Germans were reported to have been executed by Barcelona leftists in August, 1936.)

"Germans everywhere abroad are the marks for international scoundrels who see they no longer can do harm to Germans within the reich."

As the services closed with the national anthem, Hitler walked over to Von Rath's parents to extend his condolences.

He then stepped before the bier, saluted once more and left the hall.

Institute at South Slocan to Assist At Christmas Tree

$14 From Whist to Be Given for 'Iron Lung'

SOUTH SLOCAN, B. C. — At the regular monthly meeting of the Bonnington and South Slocan Women's institute much helpful social service work was arranged.

The institute has from its inception cooperated with the public school in the Christmas entertainment, in particular by taking charge of the collecting and buying of the gifts for the tree. A letter from R. T. Edwards asked that the same kind of spirit would prevail this year, as there were so many more children to bring Christmas cheer to. The meeting voted to carry it through.

Committee elected for collecting: Mrs. H. Horn, Mrs. P. O. Bird, Mrs. W. P. Rogers, Mrs. J. Lawrie and Mrs. E. Dengler. For buying: Mrs. John Murray, Mrs. P. O. Bird, and Mrs. O. W. Humphry; Mrs. Jones, making candy bags and Mrs. James decorating the tree.

The secretary was instructed to write a letter of sympathy to Mrs. Whiteley, a patient in the Kootenay Lake General hospital, and of thanks for her contribution to the military whist.

Mrs. Motley, who presided, thanked all who had helped with the military whist, which realized $14. This amount was to be forwarded to the Iron Lung fund.

It was voted to advance $10 to a local man, suffering from blindness. It was also arranged to have a benefit military whist and dance in the hall on his behalf. It was moved that a letter of sympathy be sent to Mrs. H. H. Pitts, provincial treasurer on the loss of her father.

It was arranged to have the annual Christmas gift sale at the December meeting when each member is asked to bring a gift. The education committee will take charge of the program.

A motion was passed "that 'iron lungs' be provided at certain centres in the province ready for use in emergency," and "that the district institutes be consulted as to the advisability of taking this matter up with the government."

Mrs. M. Kelsey, convener of Institute work and method, gave a talk on the subject, citing that new comers be looked up and welcomed in the community and social activities such as gym classes for men, women and children, and quilting bees be considered as pastimes for the winter months.

The hostesses for tea were Mrs. C. Grayson and Mrs. H. Strand.

Pearson Defines "Unemployables"

VICTORIA, Nov. 17 (CP)—An explanation of the British Columbia government's policy in determining who are employables and who are unemployables among relief cases was given today by Hon. George S. Pearson, minister of labor, in reply to questions in the legislature.

Mr. Pearson said the employment service of Canada has the responsibility of deciding in which class relief applicants are placed.

"Unemployable persons" are those who are more or less permanently precluded from seeking or accepting gainful occupation by reason of physical defect, mental defect, infirmity due to age, habitual alcoholism, etc., and in the cases of women those who are widows or are separated from their husbands or are unmarried mothers whose full time is required to care properly for dependents," he said. "Prior employment and physical history and personal contact, are used in determining a person's employability or otherwise."

Children over the age of 16 still attending school are classed as unemployables.

Jilted, Rejected Man Dies Violently

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 17 (AP)—Into the coroner's drab record book today went another tragic story of a rejected suitor, who died violently beside the woman he said he loved "more than life itself."

Flaming gasoline and a wrecked car figured in the deaths of Peter Pellin, 35-year-old Bulgarian cafe owner, and pretty Alberta Viola Cobb, 27, a department store clerk. The car she was driving plunged through a guard rail on Grand View avenue yesterday and crashed onto a vacant lot 10 feet below.

In the car's wreckage and in Pellin's rooms were found notes indicating the man planned it all deliberately. Deputy Coroner M. J. Brown reported the infatuated suitor apparently shot the girl twice in the body. Pellins crushed and burned body was dragged from the wreckage.

In Pellin's room, beside a volume of Schopenhauer's "Studies in Pessimism," was a note, which said:

"I'm killing Alberta Cobb,—killing myself also. Please don't blame anybody else for it. Reason,—we went together for more than four months, then she gave me up."

Mark Moulton, Republican of Kennewick, defeated D. W. Neff, Pasco Democrat, in the 16th district.

Keep Out of Ukraine, Warns Soviet to Hitler

MOSCOW, Nov. 17 (AP).—Soviet newspapers warned Nazi Germany today, the 20th anniversary of the ejection of German troops from the Ukraine, that any new attempt to conquer that territory would end in disaster.

The army paper Red Star said German militarists had forgotten everything they should have learned and "are howling again, 'to the east!'"

"But they do not realize that the potentialities and inexhaustible reserves of the Soviet Union exceed anything that could be grasped by the bourgeois mind," the Red Star continued.

"At the very moment the Fascists dare touch us, the Red army will cross the border of the hostile country. Like an avalanche of steel it will rush upon territory of the war incendiaries. The imperialist beast will be crushed in its den."

EDMONTON, Nov. 17 (CP)—King George VI and Queen Elizabeth will see the world champion Edmonton Grads in an international women's basketball match next May if plans of a special committee appointed last night are successful.

A game with Harry Wilson's Chicago All-Stars likely will be arranged if a Grad game is put on the itinerary of their majesties tour of Canada.

May Amend U. S. Immigration Laws to Admit Refugees

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (AP).—A new, large-scale attempt by Jewish and other European minorities to find homes in the United States may lead to a resurvey of American immigration laws by the next congress.

Outbreaks of anti-semitism in Germany and elsewhere have caused many more thousands of central Europeans to seek admittance to the United States than is possible under existing laws.

B. C. SPENDS ON PRESS AND RADIO ADVERTISING

VICTORIA, B. C., Nov. 17 (CP). Stewart-MacIntosh advertising agency of Vancouver was paid a total of $19,631 by the provincial government last year, the public accounts committee of the legislature was told today.

Major Gordon Smith, director of the provincial department of information, said the government advertised through an agency with no additional cost, newspapers paying the agency 15 per cent of the total advertising bill.

R. L. Maitland, Conservative opposition leader, noted a voucher for $312.72, the cost of a half hour radio speech by Premier Pattullo in April, 1937.

Better Home For Ducal Pair In Australia

CANBERRA, ov. 12 (CP-Reuters).—Additional or improved accommodation for the Duke and Duchess of Kent when the duke comes here next year as governor general of Australia will be considered soon by the federal government.

Prime Minister Joseph Lyons told interviewers considerable expenditure would be necessary to provide suitable residential facilities. Extensive alterations and additions will be necesary at 'Yarralumla," the governor general's residence in Canberra, and at Admiralty House, Sydney.

It is believed a suitable residence must be bought or leased in Melbourne, where at present there is no vice-regal residence. Provision of a Melbourne residence is strongly favored by ministers from Victoria.

Anglo-American Deals Cover Third Of World's Total International Trade

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (AP).—A summary issued by the United States state department on the United Kingdom and Canadian trade agreements says these are the two most important agreements thus far concluded under the Trade Agreements act of 1934. The agreement with the United Kingdom covers not only trade with that country but also trade with Newfoundland and a large and important group of British colonies. Australia, New Zealand, the Union of South Africa, Ireland, India, Burma, and Southern Rhodesia are not included in the agreement with the United Kingdom.

However, the trade of the areas which are included in these two agreements, with each other and with the rest of the world, accounts for over one-third of the world's total international trade. Moreover, the United States carries on about one-third of its own total foreign trade with the areas covered in these two agreements.

U. S. LARGEST MARKETS

In most years the United Kingdom is the largest market for American exports, and Canada the second, although Canada occasionally has ranked first. Conversely, Canada is ordinarily the largest source of imports into the United States, and the United Kingdom second or third.

The United States supplies well over half of Canada's imports and takes about two-fifths of Canada's exports; the United States is also one of the largest markets for exports from the United Kingdom, and the United Kingdom imports more goods from the United States than from any other country, whether within the British Empire or not. The trade of the United States with several of the overseas areas of the British Empire included in the agreement is very large.

RELATION TO BRITISH PREFERENCES

The two agreements are likewise important in relation to the system of British Imperial preferences, which has been long in existence, but was greatly expanded by the Ottawa agreements of 1932. On many commodities many of the British countries apply to imports from other British countries lower import duties than on imports from the United States or other non-British countries; often the British goods enter free. Various of the concessions made by the United Kingdom and Canada involve modifications of these preferences. In the case of the colonies covered by the United Kingdom agreement the concessions pertain particularly to the extent of the preferences.

These agreements are of great importance not only with respect to the trade directly benefiting from them but also from the point of view of the general commercial policies of the countries parties to the agreements and to the world as a whole. Following the previous agreements made by the United States under the act of 1934, their conclusion represents a long additional step in that liberalization of trade which began with the trade agreements act of 1934.

BRITISH CHANGES AT OTTAWA

The agreement, moreover, marks a most important step in the development of the commercial policy of the United Kingdom. Although for decades that country maintained substantial freedom of trade, its few duties being intended either for revenue only or to protect certain key industries necessary for military safety, the Import Duties act of 1932 marked the abandonment of this historic policy so far as countries outside the British Empire were concerned. In some of its trade agreements with other countries, the United Kingdom had modified its protective and preferential policy, and this agreement with the United States represents a further marked modification of that policy.

Since the trade policies of the United States and of the countries of the British Empire have wide influence in the world, the Liberal spirit shown in this trade agreement should have an important bearing on the commercial policies of many other countries, quite apart from the fact that, under the most-favored-nation practice of both the United Kingdom and the United States, most countries will benefit directly from the concessions provided in it.

The tariff concessions provided by these agreements will enter into effect on Jan. 1, 1939. The agreements will have initial terms of three years and may continue in force indefinitely thereafter, subject to termination by either government on six months' notice. Full details of both agreements will be available for publication in the morning papers of Friday, Nov. 18.

AFFECTS ALL WORLD TRADE

The United States tariff advisory council, composed of American importers and exporters and others interested in foreign commerce, asserted: "None of the agreements now in operation has presented so many difficulties in negotiation as that with Great Britain; none offers such favorable possibilities for a general advance in international trade."

Expressing the belief the treaty would benefit more than Anglo-American trade alone, the council said: "The national foreign trade council regards as of extreme importance the effects which this agreement . . . will have, not only in the regulations and expansion of trade upon mutually agreeable terms, but also its favorable effects, through generalization of concessions, upon international trade in general.

"This agreement denotes a closer alignment in economic theory and practice between two leading trading nations, which together represent 40 per cent of the entire foreign commerce of the world.

"An alignment that improves and renders more stable and permanent the trade relations between two countries which between them buy 28 per cent of the world's total imports and sell 24 per cent of the total exports, justifies the confidence placed in the trade agreement program of the United States, as the most effective instrument yet devised for the removal of excessive restraints upon the normal development and growth of world commerce.

TO HELP U.S. EXPORTS

"To United States exporters the agreement is of considerable consequence as the opening of the door of opportunity to renewed American enterprise in United Kingdom and British colonial markets.

"A main cause of the relative decline in American exports to Great Britain between 1929 and 1937 — amounting to about $200,000,000— was the transformation wrought by England's departure from her traditional free trade policy.

"Great Britain was slow to recognize the advantages of the American trade policy, as an alternative to British policies which tended to divert, rather than to increase, her trade with non-Empire countries.

"The reasons that prompted Britain's changed attitude to the trade agreement policy of the United States were the Canadian-American trade agreement, the Canadian-United Kingdom trade agreement which further liberalized Canada's relations with the United States, and growing dissatisfaction of British manufacturers with the results of the Ottawa agreements of 1932, establishing British preferential tariffs and quotas for the amount of goods imported into Great Britain.

HIT BY QUOTA

"The disabilities under which American exporters, agricultural and industrial, have suffered most in trade with the United Kingdom are due not so much to the preferential tariff as to the quota system.

"This rigid and arbitrary control of the quantities of certain imports . . . has affected most adversely the opportunities of American exporters in British Empire markets. . . . A comprehensive adjustment of trade relations between the United States and the entire British Empire is one from which the United States should receive considerable advantages."

CANADA GETS ORDER FOR FIRST $1,000,000 WORTH RADIUM

TORONTO, Nov. 17 (CP). — Eleven grams of radium, valued at $1,000,000 have been sold to the British government, officials of the Eldorado Gold Mines Ltd. said today. The radium is part of a $2,500,000 purchase being made under the British cancer treatment plan.

It will take 11 months to produce the required amount. At present 500 milligrams or less are refined every four days.

British Columbia $39 Million to Good on Exports and Imports

VICTORIA, Nov. 17 (CP)—British Columbia's favorable balance of trade increased in 1937 to $39,554,942 from the 1936 figure of $20,090,316, the provincial bureau of economics and statistics said today.

The bureau said the province had an adverse trade balance with other Canadian provinces of $44,572,757 last year, which was $4,525,958 more than in 1936. But this unfavorable trade position was counterbalanced by an increase in the favorable balance with other regions.

The favorable trade balance with these regions increased from $60,137,115 to $84,127,199, up $23,990,584.

Total estimated trade of the province, including both imports and exports, was $280,890,772 in 1937, compared with $237,123,782 in the preceding 12 months.

EMPIRE TRADE SOARS

Import and export trade with the British Empire, exclusive of other Canadian provinces, rose from $60,704,185 to $75,977,001, while total trade with foreign countries increased from $73,508,329 to $92,495,343 in the same period, the bureau estimated.

The bureau said total trade with other Canadian provinces jumped from $102,059,365 in 1936 to $111,161,615 last year.

British Columbia's best customers in 1937 were the United States with imports of $14,988,484 and exports of $43,184,498 and the United Kingdom, with imports of $12,319,276 and exports of $42,998,691.

Next in order came other Canadian provinces, imports $77,867,186, exports $33,294,429; Japan, imports $1,249,373, exports $12,542,048; Australia, imports $685,705, exports $8,713,549; Belgium, imports $400,026, exports $3,801,571; China, imports $1,455,037, exports $2,942,355; and South Africa, imports $701,407, exports $2,318,381.

BUYS HEAVILY IN EAST

British Columbia's chief source of supply was eastern Canada. Followed in order by the United States, the prairie provinces and the United Kingdom.

Among British Columbia exports, forestry products showed the largest gain in 1937. Lead provided the second largest increase, with copper concentrates and zinc showing important gains in third position. Smaller increases occurred in canned salmon, pulp and paper, zinc concentrates, apples and silver. Shingles showed a slight decrease.

British Columbia sold Germany goods valued at $1,225,937 and bought commodities valued at $219,999; France bought $1,752,662 worth of British Columbia products and sold goods here to the value of $315,165.

Exports to New Zealand totalled $736,131 while imports were $93,482. West Indies trade showed an adverse balance, exports being $416,486 while imports totalled $1,986,174.

The Hawaiian Islands took commodities valued at $907,802 and exported to this province goods valued at $94,222.

For the crop year ending April 3, 1937, the United Kingdom bought British Columbia apples valued at $2,147,670, while United States purchases amounted to $34,018; and other fruit and fruit products valued at $280,796 were shipped to Great Britain while the United States took none.

Figures for other farm products, however, showed the United States buying to the value of $934,232 with the United Kingdom next with $426,918. This makes a total value of all farm products shipped to Great Britain of $2,838,411 against United States imports of $969,209.

LUMBER TO BRITAIN

Fishery products exports to the United Kingdom in 1936 were valued at $4,667,523, and to the United States $82,261. Great Britain took lumber valued at $11,992,902 in 1936 and a total of all wood, wood products and paper valued at $14,859,60, while the United States purchased $4,317,218 worth of lumber and a total of $18,370,154 for all wood products. The latter included $6,042,526 worth of shingles and pulp and paper worth $6,379,795. Another item was $1,008,199 for poles and piling.

Great Britain also bought $2,560,966 worth of doors in 1936. The report said that for the crop year ending April 30 this year Great Britain imported apples valued at $2,777,003 while the United States took $8591 worth. Total farm products exports to Great Britain were $3,282,114 and to the United States $590,254. Fishery products to Britain in 1937 were valued at $5,819,805, and to the United States $648,609.

Lumber exports to the United Kingdom in 1937 totalled $12,805,189; those to the United States $6,454,824. The United States took logs valued at $1,339,438; shingles $5,760,874; poles and piling $2,050,027 and pulp and paper $7,972,029 for a total of $23,703,482 for all wood products. Doors shipped to Britain were valued at $2,657,744.

TO INCREASE BENEFITS PAID UNDER B.C. COMPENSATION ACT

VICTORIA, B. C., Nav. 17 (CP)—Important changes in the Workmen's Compensation act of British Columbia will be submitted to the legislature shortly.

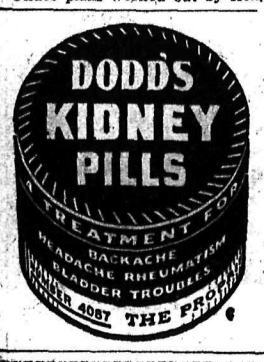
Under plans worked out by Hon. George S. Pearson, minister of labor, with compensation board officials benefits for workmen will be increased in several respects.

The most striking change will be to increase from 62½ per cent to 66 2-3 per cent of average wages the amount of compensation allowed. This will bring compensation in British Columbia in line with compensation paid in other provinces and will cost the employers about $50,000 a year.

Another alteration will increase funeral benefits from $100 to $125.

Allowances for widows will be raised from $35 to $40 a month by rearranging the distribution of a surplus built up in the allowances for dependents of men killed in industry who live in foreign countries.

A further change will increase the responsibility of employers in seeing that safety regulations are carried out.



Berlin Refuses to Accept British Protest Against Attacks in Press

LONDON, Nov. 17 (CP)—Germany's reply to the British protest over an attack on British statesmen in the German press had been noted but not accepted, Reuters News Agency reported in a Berlin dispatch today.

The protest was based on publication of photographs of Winston Churchill, Anthony Eden and Alfred Duff Cooper, former first lord of the admiralty, in Der Angriff, organ of propaganda minister Joseph Geobbles, with a caption implying that the British statesmen were linked with the assassination of Ernst von Rath, German embassy secretary at Paris.

Sir George Ogilvie-Forbes, British Charge d'affaires, delivered the protest to the Wilhelmstrasse Monday. It referred specifically to the Nov. 8 issue of Der Angriff which published the photographs of the British statesmen under pictures of the assassins of von Rath and Wilhelm Gutsloff, murdered in Switzerland two years ago. The caption was: "To assassins and war mongers."

The Reuters dispatch from Berlin said:

"The fact that the version of the Reuters interview published in Germany did not contain Geobbles's assurance that the affair would be looked into has been particularly noted.

(Geobbles, in an interview with Reuters earlier in the week, was quoted as saying he did not approve publication of Der Angriff's statements and that he would "have the mistake immediately cleared up.")

"Cases of British Jews in business in Germany, whose property and stock have been damaged during the anti-Semitic disturbances, are still being investigated. Great Britain reserved the right to lodge claims for compensation and if such claims are warranted it is assumed that they will be formally conveyed to the German government."

NELSON JUNIOR BOARD PROPOSAL OF DISTRICT COUNCIL UPON ROADS GOES ROADS, BRIDGES COMMITTEE

Foxall States United Opinion Welcome Victoria

ASSOCIATED IS CAPABLE—HUNTER

Proposal of the Nelson junior board of trade that Kootenay boards form a general committee to collect information on the district to substantiate requests to the government for road work, was referred by the Nelson senior board council Thursday to its roads and bridges committee for consideration. The decision to refer the proposal to the committee came after Robert Foxall, president of the junior board, explained its purpose and after several members of the council expressed varying views. E. A. Mann, vice-president, was in the chair.

A letter from the junior board suggested two members of each Kootenay board form a joint committee which would gather statistics and prepare the way for concrete proposals to be drawn and submitted to the government.

The letter expressed the belief that a coalesced opinion would be welcomed by government officers, and that greater strength could be obtained in a unified request.

Mr. Foxall stated that "roads invariably came up" when the various boards of the district held get-together meetings, and while each time the boards said "we must get together," nothing was done. With that in mind, and wholly in a spirit of cooperation, the Nelson junior board had suggested formation of a joint committee.

WEIGHT TO REQUESTS

By combining the whole district, instead of presenting individual road requests, and backing them with accurate statistics, the Kootenay could give weight to its requests. Such information as the total number of vehicles, revenue from licences, from gas taxes and other sources, traffic on the roads, should be obtained, and co-related to give a district picture.

Such statistics would show whether the feeling was justified that other parts of the province, owing to weight of population, were getting more than their share of the work.

"A desire for cooperation has been shown throughout the district," said Mr. Foxall. "It is not our desire to break away from Associated Boards procedure but rather to make it easier for the Associated to make its representations," for the information available would be invaluable to that body. It would enable conflicting requests to be related before the Associated was asked to act upon them.

VICTORIA WOULD WELCOME

"Various members of our board have received the assurance that such a plan would be welcomed by the provincial authorities," Mr. Foxall declared.

C. F. McHardy welcomed "the energy and ability of the junior board," and expressed the belief there should be "cooperation but not duplication." The proposed committee seemed to him "very much like the Associated Boards," but at the same time, "it should not be turned down." He believed the Associated should consider amending its constitution to include junior boards.

Ven. Archdeacon Fred H. Graham indorsed the junior board proposal. Recalling an article on how the state of Nebraska had lifted itself from near-bankruptcy to solvency, he stated it had been brought about by an organization formed for one purpose —to improve the position of an overtaxed state. As a result of its efforts taxes have been cut 33 1-3 per cent. This was the effect of cooperative work.

"The suggestion of the junior board is along a similar line" he said. "Here is the opportunity for the organization of a cooperative body to help all boards." The Associated Boards had a "hundred purposes" but the proposed committee would have only one.

He urged that the senior board "consider the possibility of an organization" taking this work as its one specific purpose. Boards of the district would then be able "to speak from a complete knowledge of the facts."

COUNT ON CARS

Capt. H. A. Peason said Mr. Foxall was incorrect in stating information was lacking. Last year for the first time a count was taken of cars from outside B. C. on the main lake ferry, showing the amount of this traffic, and figures were available showing the number of tourists in Canada and the amount of their expenditure. Figures showing traffic through the 12 ports of entry to the district were given.

He suggested that figures for this year, when available in January, should be given to the roads and bridges committee to study, and should be available to the junior board also. He proposed that the junior board plan be given to the committee to study.

Mr. Foxall suggested the figures should be available to other boards than the two in Nelson.

J. R. Hunter, secretary-treasurer of the Associated Boards, expressed the opinion that the executive of that body, consisting of the presidents of the various individual boards, was "quite capable of looking after the business of the interior."

He read part of a letter from W. G. Ternan of Rossland, president of the Associated Boards, stating that in Rossland the junior board had agreed to confine itself to purely local problems, and that it was filling a great need. Trail senior and junior boards planned a harmonious discussion of coordinating their work. The majority of junior board members wanted to get into public service work, and Mr. Ternan was of the opinion that when they desired to extend their work beyond the local sphere they should become members of the senior boards.

Mr. Hunter also read part of a letter from Rossland to the Nelson junior board suggesting it should leave its project to the senior boards and the Associated.

To Relieve Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness and Head Noises

Persons suffering from catarrhal deafness, or who are growing hard of hearing and have head noises will be glad to know that this distressing affliction can usually be successfully treated at home by an internal medicine that in many instances has effected complete relief after other treatments have failed. Sufferers who could scarcely hear have had their hearing restored to such an extent that the tick of a watch was plainly audible seven or eight inches away from either ear. Therefore, if you know of someone who is troubled with head noises or catarrhal deafness, cut out this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. The prescription can be prepared at home and is made as follows:

Secure from your druggist one ounce of Parmint (Double Strength). Take this home and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

Parmint is used in this way not only to reduce by tonic action the inflammation and swelling in the Eustachian Tubes, and thus to equalize the air pressure on the drum, but to correct any excess of secretions in the middle ear, and the results it gives are nearly always quick and effective.

Every person who has catarrh in any form, or distressing, rumbling, hissing sounds in their ears, should give this recipe a trial. (Advt.)

Compliments for their manner of handling the district boards of trade dinner at Nelson were voiced by the board council extended by the board council Thursday to E. A. Mann, vice-president, who presided, and the entertainment committee.

MORE ABOUT AGREEMENT

The new arrangement respecting the importation of red cedar shingles into the United States will be effective with the definitive entry into force of the whole trade agreement. * * *

The new agreement applies for a fixed term of three years from the date of its first coming into force and thereafter will be terminable by either country on six months notice. The formal provision of the Canada-United States agreement and of the United Kingdom-United States agreement in respect of provisional entry into force, duration and notice of termination are substantially identical * * *

EVERY ADVANTAGE RETAINED

The new agreement, which incorporates and continues every advantage secured for Canada in the trade agreement of 1935, provides wider and more favorable export opportunities for both Canada and the United States.

The two countries have endeavored to work out a commercial settlement which should enable the industries of both to expand on sounder economic line than was ever possible when high and frequently prohibitive tariffs stood on the statute books of both countries.

It is, of course, impossible to measure with any kind of precision the extent to which Canada and the United States have reduced the general level of their tariff applicable to each other's products. On the whole, however, it may be safely said that the proportion by which the United States has reduced its duties by the two trade agreements is very similar to that by which the Canadian tariff has been reduced.

REVISION EMPIRE PACTS INVOLVED

The scope of the negotiations in 1935, and consequently the value of the tariff concessions which Canada could expect to secure from the United States, was necessarily limited by certain restrictive features of trade agreements with other Empire countries. If Canada were to secure the opportunities she needed for an expanding export trade with the United States of America, and were to take full advantage of the reversal of the trend of United States tariff policy, some revision of the Canada-United Kingdom trade agreement of 1932 was imperative.

That revision has now been effected in two stages—firstly in the new agreement with the United Kingdom of February 23, 1937, and finally, by the exchange of notes effected in Ottawa this week under which the United Kingdom agreed to waive such of her guaranteed margins of preference in Canada as stood in the way of a successful conclusion of an agreement with the United States.

From the standpoint of the United Kingdom, also, a complementary revision of her agreement with Canada was a necessary prior condition to mutually satisfactory negotiations with the United States.

INTER-EMPIRE RIGHTS

It will be noted from the terms of the exchange of letters between Canada and the United Kihgdom regarding the requisite modification of their trade agreement of 1937, that each country has retained its right to preferential treatment in the markets of the other, that the agreed modification of Canadian margins in the United Kingdom has been for the term of the new United Kingdom-United States agreement, and that the modification of United Kingdom margins in Canada has been for the term of the Canada-United States agreement, so that if, by any mischance, either agreement with the United States were terminated, the full preferential rates modified to permit of the conclusion of that agreement would be automatically restored. * * *

In the case of wheat, Canada and Australia have agreed to the removal of the duty of 2s per quarter that has been levied on imports of foreign wheat into the United Kingdom since 1932. The economic effects of this duty have always been a matter of argument.

In normal years the Empire as a whole produced a good deal more wheat that is consumes; and so long as it remains on an export basis it has been difficult, if not impossible, for a United Kingdom preferential duty on wheat to have any ascertainable effect on the prices received by overseas wheat producers. Wheat prices are much more responsive to chances in the general supply and demand position than to tariff preferences.

The United Kingdom has made a seasonal reduction in the duty on apples imported from the United States from 4s, 6d to 3s per cwt, it will be noted that Canadian apples will still enjoy a very substantial preference; United States apples imported into the United Kingdom will have to pay a duty of 3s per cwt; while Canadian apples will continue to enter free of duty. * * *

THREE-WAY LUMBER DEAL

*The tariff treatment to be applic*able as from January 1, 1939, to United States lumber imported into the United Kingdom * * * provides for the entry into the United Kingdom of those kinds of lumber of which the United States is an important supplier of United Kingdom requirements, on terms as favorable to those on which Canadian lumber is admitted into the United States market. * * *

Lumber concessions to the United States are in two stages—immediate and ultimate. Concessions in the immediate stage are to take effect with the coming into force of the United Kingdom-United States trade agreement Jan. 1, 1939. Concessions in the ultimate stages will only be operative when and for so long as the import excise tax of $1.50 per thousand feet board measure ceases to apply to Canadian lumber imported into the United States. * * *

It has been possible to confine the concessions to lumber of certain values and certain widths and thus confer definite benefits on United States lumber without increasing the competition which the Canadian industry experiences from other foreign countries supplying lumber in substantial quantities to the United Kingdom market. In the ultimate stage there is also a length limitation which further restricts the scope of the concession. * * *

GIVE AND TAKE ON MANUFACTURES

The agreement between the United Kingdom and the United States provides for reductions, for the most part moderate in extent, on a wide range of manufactured articles, on practically all of which Canada has no bound margin of preference.

In the lines of manufactured goods which Canadian exporters send to the United Kingdom, they will continue to receive a preferential advantage over their United States competitors which in almost every case is exactly equal to the protection which United Kingdom manufacturers of such goods receive against foreign competition.

Canadian export trade in many lines will benefit from extension to Canada of the lower rates of duty accorded by the United States of America to a wide range of British goods. Under article 1 of the Canada-United States trade agreement the United States agrees to give to Canadian exporters the *lowest rates of duty accorded to sim*ilar goods imported from any foreign country. * * *

In the new United Kingdom trade agreement the United States has reduced its duties or confirmed free entry on many products of which the British colonial empire was the chief supplier of the American market. In return it has received the benefit of a lessening of the margin of Imperial preference on a number of articles of which it has been the chief foreign supplier of colonial imports. From a Canadian standpoint the most substantial concession in this category is automobiles, on which in a number of colonies the margin of preference will hereafter be 15 per cent instead of 20 per cent. * * *

In Newfoundland, where Canadian goods have never received preferential treatment, they will benefit directly from a number of tariff reductions accorded to similar goods imported from United States. * * *

U. S. CUTS ON 83 PER CENT CANADIAN SALES

The concessions in the new trade agreement relate to 202 items and sub-items of the United States tariff, and total value of the imports from Canada in the year 1937 under these items and sub-items amounted to $327,505,484 out of a total importation from Canada in that year valued at $394,240,823. Concessions, therefore, cover 83 per cent of Canadian sales to the United States in 1937.

Whereas the 1935 trade agreement provided for reductions in United States duties affecting 63 items and sub-items of the United States tariff, the concessions in the new trade agreement include 129 new reductions in rates of duty on items and sub-items which represent a trade valued in 1937 at $72,981,492.

In addition there are 41 bindings of existing United States rates of duty, including 32 rates reduced in the 1935 trade agreement, total trade represented by these bindings of existing rates being valued in 1937 at $51,643,682. Finally, existing free entry is bound in respect to 32 items and sub-items, the total trade under which in 1937 was valued at $202,680,310. * * *

50 PER CENT CUT FROM 1930

Included among the Canadian products for which a 50 per cent reduction in the duty established by the Tariff act of 1930 has been obtained by virtue of the conclusion of the 1935 trade agreement and the new trade agreement are lumber, cattle, cream, milk, potatoes, maple sugar, maple syrup, hay, turnips, horses, hogs, fresh pork, eggs, live poultry, honey, oats, feed wheat, bran, shorts and other by-product feeds, screenings of grain, mixed feeds, cereal breakfast foods, oatmeal, frozen blueberries, clover and grass seeds, pickled or salted cod, haddock, etc., smoked whole cod, haddock, etc., fresh or frozen halibut, salmon, swordfish, fresh mackerel, sturgeon, eels, pickled or salted salmon, whiskey, pulpboard in rolls, tissue paper, crepe paper, Christmas trees, cadmium, feldspar, ground nepheline syenite, talc, crushed limestone and lime, fire brick, low grade ferrosilicon, acetic acid, vinyl acetate, calcium acetate, cobalt oxide, acetylene black, patent leather, pipe organs and yachts.

ZINC CUTS

In addition to the above products on which United States duties have been reduced by 50 per cent, valuable reduction in United States duties have been secured on a variety of other important Canadian products, including barley, rye, buckwheat, cheese, bacon and other prepared pork, calves, silver fox furs, dead poultry, apples, fresh berries, cider, fresh or frozen whole cod, haddock, etc., fresh or frozen fillets of cod, haddock, etc., smoked fillets of cod, haddock, etc., boneless salted cod, haddock, etc., pickled or salted herrings, frozen mackerel, freshwater fish, uncoated printing paper, hanging paper, various articles of wood, aluminum, nickel, zinc ores, zinc metal, ferro-manganese, hollow drill steel, deadburned dolomite, certain forms of mica, salt, brick, ice skates, harness leather, workmen's gloves and miscellaneous waste products. * * *

Most important of the agricultural concessions are those relating to live cattle. Western Canada is particularly interested in the United States duty on heavy cattle weighing 700 pounds or more each. On this type Canada is to receive the maximum reduction in duty or a rate of 1½ cents per pound as compared with two cents per pound under the 1935 trade agreement and three cents per pound under the Tariff act o 1930.

Whereas the number of cattle to be imported at the reduced rate of duty was limited under the 1935 trade agreement to a total of 155,799 head in any one calendar year, the new agreement provides the maximum reduction in duty shall apply to 225,000 head imported in any one calendar year, of which not more than 60,000 head shall be imported during any one quarter of the calendar year. * * *

On calves the new agreement provides for continuation of the reduced rate of 1½ cents per pound accorded in the 1935 trade agreement as compared with the tariff rate of 2½ cents per pound, but the tariff quota to which this reduced rate applies is increased from 51,933 head to 100,000 head in any one calendar year. The weight bracket to which the reduced rate applies is also increased from 175 to 200 pounds.

On dairy cows the concession in the 1935 trade agreement of the maximum reduction to 1½ cents per pound is continued in the new trade agreement, but the quota limitation of 20,000 head in any one calendar year is abolished. The new trade agreement also provides for the binding of the free entry of bulls, cows, hogs and sheep, imported into the United States for breeding purposes.

In the 1935 trade agreement the United States duty on cream was reduced to 35 cents per gallon on a tariff quota of 1,500,000 gallons per annum. The new trade agreement provides for the maximum reduction to 28 3-10 cents per gallon, the same quantity to be imported at the reduced rate of duty in any one calendar year.

There was no concession on milk in 1935. The new agreement provides for the maximum reduction in duty to 3¼ cents per gallon, the quantity of milk to be admitted at the reduced rate to be 3,000,000 gallons in any one calendar year.

Extends to Berries

The 1935 agreement reduced the duty on fresh strawberries from 1¼ cents to ¾ cent per pound. This reduction is confirmed in the new agreement and extended to all other fresh berries not covered by the former agreement. Duty on frozen berries is reduced to 1½ per cent ad valorem.

Maximum reduction granted fresh cherries in 1935 is confirmed. Duty on fresh apples was reduced in 1935 from 25 cents to 15 cents per bushel. This is confirmed and there is also a new concession on cider, reduced from five cents to three cents per gallon.

Practically every kind of fish produced by the Canadian fisheries is represented in the list of concessions.

LUMBER

The new agreement confirms the maximum reduction in the duty and import excise tax on lumber secured in the 1935 trade agreement. It also contains provision that sawed lumber and timbers; telephone, trolley, electric-light, and telegraph poles of wood; and bundles of shingles, shall not be required to be marked to indicate their country of origin.

The 1935 agreement reduced both duty and tax by half, making the combined rate on lumber of the species fir, spruce, pine, hemlock and larch amount to $2.00 per 1000 board feet and the tax on lumber of other species $1.50 per 1000 board feet. At the last session of congress the Revenue act was amended to exempt lumber of the species northern white pine, Norway pine and the western white spruce from the import excise tax, so lumber of these species has been only paying the reduced duty at the rate of 50 cents per 1000 board feet.

The 1935 agreement provided that the reduced rate of duty and tax should apply to lumber of Douglas first and western hemlock imports up to a total quantity of 250,000,000 board feet in any one calendar year, but there was no quantitative limi*tation to lumber of other species* imported from Canada.

The new agreement continues concessions on lumber contained in the 1935 agreement and removes the discriminating quota on Douglas fir and western hemlock.

The agreement between the United Kingdom and the United States provides for a reduction in the United Kingdom duty to the equivalent of $2.00 per thousand board feet on certain classes of lumber, of which the United States is an important foreign source of supply of imports into the United Kingdom.

It is provided, however, that these classes of lumber shall be free of duty on importation into the United Kingdom when and for so long as the import excise tax on Canadian lumber imported into the United States is abolished. If this should take place the total duty on Canadian lumber of fir, spruce, pine, hemlock or larch, will amount to 50 cents per 1000 board feet and lumber of other species will be free of duty.

The United States import excise tax on lumber comes up for renewal next year and if not renewed expires in June, 1939. * * *

FREE ENTRY, SHINGLES

The new agreement binds free entry of red cedar shingles for a quantity imported in any calendar year equivalent to 30 per cent of the average annual domestic consumption in the United States during the three preceding calendar years. On imports in excess of this quantity the United States reserves the right to impose a duty or tax not exceeding 25 cents per square. * * *

No restriction is placed on the quantity of shingles other than red cedar shingles which can be imported into the United States free of duty.

Free entry is bound as in the 1935 agreement for logs; unmanufactured round timber; pulp woods; firewood; handle bolts; shingle bolts; laths; posts, railroad ties; telephone, trolley, electric lights and telegraph poles; pickets; palings; hoops and staves.

The concession of the maximum reduction from eight to four per cent ad valorem in the duty on maple, birch and beech flooring, which was secured in 1935 is confirmed.

New maximum reductions are provided on veneers of birch and maple from 20 to 10 per cent ad valorem; on hubs for wheels, heading bolts, stave bolts, last blocks, wagon blocks, heading blocks, match blocks, sticks, etc., from 10 to 5 per cent ad valorem; and on cask, barrels (other than beer barrels), and hogsheads from 15 to 7½ per cent ad valorem.

HOCKEY STICKS

In 1935 the duty on ice-hockey sticks was reduced from 33 1-3 to 20 per cent ad valorem. This concession is confirmed and the same reduction is extended to a number of other manufacturers of wood, including carriages, trucks, and other horse-drawn vehicles of wood. * * *

The binding of free entry on pulp is broadened to cover all kinds of mechanical and chemical wood pulps shipped from Canada to the United States. Free entry of standard newsprint paper is rebound and this covers the largest single item of trade between the two countries.

A new concession is a reduction in duty on uncoated printing paper from ⅛ cent per pound plus 10 per cent ad valorem to 1-5 cent per pound plus five per cent ad valorem.

WALLPAPER

Another concession is a reduction in the United States duty on hanging paper, raw material for wallpaper, from 10 to 7½ per cent ad valorem. Maximum reductions are also accorded on certain classes of tissue papers and crepe paper.

Maximum reductions in duties on pulpboard in rolls for use in the manufacture of wallboard from 10 to five per cent ad valorem in the case of unfinished board and from 30 to 15 per cent ad valorem in the case of finished board were secured in 1935 and are confirmed.

SALT REDUCED

The new agreement reduces the rate on packaged salt from 11 cents to seven cents per 100 pounds and on bulk salt from seven cents to four cents per 100 pounds. On ground or crushed stone the maximum reduction to 15 per cent ad valorem is accorded.

A variety of miscellaneous manufactured goods, which Canada has been exporting to the United States, is covered by the new trade agreement. In this category come the concessions on such products as whisky, patent leather, harness leather, skating boots, gloves made from horsehides or cowhides, hose and tubing of rubber, hose of vegetable fibre, pipe organs, lacrosse sticks, ice skates, woven-wire cloth, axles, cast-iron fittings for cast-iron pipe, iron castings, moulders' patterns, chains, electric washing machines, electric stoves, and motor boats and yachts. The free entry of agricultural implements is rebound in the new trade agreement.

WHISKY HALVED

The 1935 agreement reduced the United States duty on whisky from $5.00 to $2.50 per gallon on all types of whisky aged in wooden containers for at least four years. The same reduction is accorded in the trade agreement on a correspondingly broad definition.

LACROSSE STICKS

The 1935 agreement reduced the duty on lacrosse sticks from 30 to 25 per cent ad valorem and that on ice skates and parts thereof from 20 to 15 per cent ad valorem. These concessions are confirmed and in addition the duty on McKay sewn boots and shoes attached to ice skates is reduced by the maximum from 30 to 15 per cent ad valorem, thereby making the same rate of duty apply to both the skate and the boot when imported in sets the one attached to the other.

Concessions by Canada

The more important concessions by Canada in the new agreement may be summarized as follows:—

In a number of instances the two countries have arrived at identical rates of duty on agricultural products, as, for example, reciprocal rates on barley, of 15 cents a bushel; on oats, of eight cents a bushel; on eggs, of five cents a dozen; and on honey, of 1½ cents a pound.

*On the great variety of fresh vege*tables enumerated under several items of the tariff, the basic ad valorem rate is reduced from 15 to 10 per cent; similarly—but with seasonal application in several instances—the basic ad valorem rate on most fresh fruits is reduced to the same level.

The existing Canadian duties on cigarettes ($4.10 a pound plus 24 per cent ad valorem) are reduced to $3.00 plus 15 per cent.

Under the new agreement, Canada agrees to reduce the duty on whisky from $10 to $6 per proof gallon. The rate on barley malt is reduced from 50 cents to 40 cents a 100 pounds.

Various items provide for reductions in the Canadian rates on paper and paper products.

The agreement binds against increase of the present rate of 17½ per cent on automobiles and provides for reduction of the rate on motorcycles from 20 per cent to 17½ per cent.

Other reductions apply to guns or rifles of a class not made in Canada and fishing tackle.

Existing free entry into Canada of logs and unmanufactured round timber and of the partially manufactured wood products and lumber covered by items 502, 403, and 504, is bound. The rate on dressed lumber, N.O.P. (item 505) is reduced from 20 per cent to 10 per cent, while that on hard-wood flooring (item 505A) is reduced from 20 per cent to 17½ per cent.

Plowing Cascade Road Suggested

Experimental Work to Christmas Proposed to Nelson Board

Roads and bridges committee of the Nelson board of trade was requested by the board council on Thursday to investigate the possibility of keeping the Cascade road open until after Christmas as an experiment.

The road was now plowed from the Grand Forks side to the limit of the Grand Forks-Greenwood riding, it was pointed out, and traffic was still getting over the road between Grand Forks and Rossland, but plowing on the section to Rossland would assist materially.

Suggestion was made that the committee also investigate the possibility of having logs placed on the outside edge of the blacktop on the hill just west of the Nelson city limits. It was pointed out the surface of the blacktop was smooth and might be dangerous during the winter as cars would skid on the smooth surface.

CRISIS PAST

It has happened. Basketball at Trail has recovered.

Wednesday night, along with a splendid gallery of live fans, we saw the classy Rossland Royals meet their first defeat this season. It was the Sheiks who did it. It was not a measly win by a dubious margin, but by the magnificent score of 56 to 30.

We don't claim that the hoop game has recovered because Royals were beaten, but because of the type of game which was played. Sheiks won by such a margin because they were "dead-eyed" in their shooting, and members of the visiting team didn't climb all over the Sheiks' backs when they were shooting, which means a foul, a stop in the game, a lot of arguing, and something not pleasing to the fans. We have seen the Sheiks play many games, but not in the manner they encountered Royals.

If you recall the fine brand of basketball you hoop fans witnessed here a few years ago, when Rossland had a crack team, it was Rossland then which provided that polish to the loop, and the incentive for Trail teams to play better basketball. This year, from what we've seen of the Royals, they are lifting up the game to that fine standard.

COMBINATION

It is the old old story. Fans highly enjoy watching a machine play the opposition by means of that great necessity of team work, combination. When one team plays that way, the other must do the same in combat, and we must say that Sheiks certainly excelled at it Wednesday night.

The rough and tumble stuff isn't enjoyed. One difficulty is that it has no end. Even in rugby, which is considered the roughest game of all, it isn't the tackling or blocking that appeals to the fans, it's the smart passing to a player who seems to appear from nowhere, snag the ball out of the air, and high-tails it for a touch-down.

THEY CARRY ROSSLAND'S TORCH IN '38-'39 KOOTENAY BASKETBALL

Here are the basketball men who will carry Rossland Royal's colors in the 1938-39 intercity league play with Trail and, — they hope — into the West Kootenay championship finals. The Royals won the title last term. Individual statistics follow:

Father Cox Free on Lottery, Fraud

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 17 (AP).—Father James Cox, who once led a "hunger" march on Washington, was freed today on mail fraud and lottery charges growing out of a $25,000 prize contest to select a name for the monastery gardens of his church.

Father Cox contended the contest was operated for the benefit of a relief fund from which he fed as many as 3000 persons daily during the depression. Postal agents charged many of the prizes were distributed to relatives and friends of contest workers under assumed names.

Great Artesian Body Comforts The Forest City

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—The Public Utilities Commission of this Western Ontario city of 80,000 persons today looked forward with confidence to an uninterrupted water supply for many years to come. London is the largest city in Canada dependent entirely upon underground supplies for its water.

Twenty well turn out 10,000,000 gallons a day to give the city a pure and plentiful supply, but only a few weeks ago the utilities commission was worried over a possible water shortage. Test drilling was started at likely spots and a lucky strike brought in three wells close together and giving a total of 3,000,000 gallons.

"That takes care of our worries for many years to come," General Manager E. V. Buchanan commented. "If these new wells stand up—and we believe they will — our present supply will be adequate until the city's population reaches around 100,000."

Thirty years and more ago London, the "Forest City," was faced with the alternative of searching for underground water or putting in a costly system of mains and filtration plant to bring in water from Lake Erie, 26 miles away, or Lake Huron, 40 miles to the north.

Near Springbank Park, a civic playground centre, artesian wells with water of exceptional purity were found. They were named for Sir Adam Beck, the late hydro knight who played a prominent part in the city's life.

It was then discovered the district, through ancient glacial drift, was spotted with many underground reservoirs—large supplies of water that seeped through gravel deposits 60 to 150 feet deep and were held in surrounding rock.

BOTH TYPES

The newly-discovered wells tap just such a supply and are within a mile or so of the original Beck wells. Unlike the first wells, however, the new ones are of the deep well variety, while the Beck artesian supply comes from what are known as 'flowing wells." The water springs to the surface and is collected in a series of basins and stored in a large reservoir atop Reservoir Hill, one of the show places of the district.

The Beck well system originally modern methods more water is taken from just four wells. This is through the use of centrifugal pumps that allow the drawing of a tremendous amount of water through a 12-inch pipe. Now, 1,000,000 gallons a day can be taken from a well, while 150,000 gallons was considered exceptional in days gone by.

While maintenance of pumping equipment in deep wells is high, the water having filtered through gravel, is free of bacteria, thus requiring little or no treatment necessary in the use of surface water supplies from lakes or rivers.

Other cities in western Ontario likewise get their water from underground sources. Among them are Kitchener and Stratford. In some places throughout the Dominion wells are used as a supplementary supply, but no other city as large as London is so fortunately situated in the matter of water.

NELSON JUNIOR HOCKEY PLAYERS PLAN TO FORM OWN ASSOCIATION TO FINANCE OWN LEAGUE ENTRIES

Stibbs, Pritchard, McKay Named Commission to Aid in Government; Plan Membership Drive

Nelson's junior hockey "orphans" have a wing to crawl under now— and it's their own. Thursday night a representative gathering learned the junior hockey players' situation in a nutshell—that they would have to fend for themselves—and cast a decision to form their own association, finance it themselves, and govern it with the advice of three commissioners, Mayor N. C. Stibbs, F. R. Pritchard and J. B. McKay. Intermediates will also be included in the organization.

A name for the body will be decided upon at the next meeting.

AFTER 50 MEMBERS

Led in their endeavors by Jack Reid, junior sports supporter, the young fellows prepared committees to launch a membership campaign and drive for membership fees. December 1 was set as the deadline for the collection of fees, and next Monday for the body's first meeting to learn the result of the membership drive. An objective of 50 members was decided upon.

The membership committee comprises Jack Gray, chairman; Joe Gallicano, George Bishop and Harold Mayo; while Howie Campbell, chairman, Jack Taylor and George Russell form the fees committee.

FINANCE SELVES

Chief supporters of the Nelson junior hockey Pete Kapak, sponsor of the 1937-38 Tiger juniors, and the Fairview Athletic club were unable to organize junior teams this season. Jack Reid explained to the gathering of 31. With their support gone, the juniors would have to fend for themselves or leave the sport for a season. Plans would have to be made to raise finances for equipment and uniforms, and the greater part of organization and operation work of the association would have to be borne by the player members themselves, he stated.

Bastable, Sawchuk Win, Eagle Whist

With a score of 39, Leslie Bastable and Harry Sawchuk won the partner whist held in the Eagle hall under the auspices of the F. O. E. Albert Lindsay and Eddie Jacques finished second with a score of 38. Twenty-five tables were in play. Eagles' newly-named orchestra, The Swingaroos, played for the dance.

LADY CURLERS OPEN SEASON

Thursday saw the curling season here gain momentum as the ladies added their play to that of the men's, which began Wednesday.

A large crowd of members and prospective members for the ladies' club turned out on the sheets and every indication of a fine season to follow was given. A complimentary tea by the executive members followed the scratch games.

Cholera Remains India's Tragedy

SIMLA, India (CP -Reuters) — India still earns its reputation as an important world "reservoir" of cholera infection, which takes a huge annual death toll—160,000 in a total mortality of 6,400,000 in a single year.

A report on the situation by the public health commissioner explains the reason for the comparative failure to effect satisfactory control of the disease is that large areas of the country possess no local public health staffs, while in others personnel is often inadequate to cope with the large population entrusted to their care.

Another difficulty is the absence of safe water supplies in a number of small villages and the lack of an efficient conservancy system.

Despite the handicaps, however, public health staffs have done good work and in recent years sanitary control has been effected over numerous fairs and religious festivals all over the country.

While previously it was common for explosive outbreaks of cholera to occur at these centres and to be followed by widespread infection, the elaborate precautionary measures now generally in force have largely been effective in preventing the spread of the disease from these dangerous foci.

Try a New Way Salvage Gold On Ocean Floor

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (CP)—An attempt will be made soon to salvage the Grosvenor, one of the ships of the East Indian Company wrecked near Port St. John, on the southeast coast of Africa in 1782. She carried gold and silver bars and precious stones.

A company with a capital of £75,000 ($361,500) has been formed to salvage the wreck. Its prospectus estimates the value of the cargo, according to present day prices, at £5,000,000 ($24,100,000).

None of the cargo was saved at the time of the wreck nor was anything subsequently recovered in spite of several attempts.

The company proposes to proceed on entirely different lines from any of the previous ventures. It intends to work on experience gained since then on works of reclamation undertaken on the Zuider Zee, in Holland.

It is planned to build a breakwater 1300 feet long around the gully in which the wreck lies, says the prospectus. Between 400 and 500 feet of the breakwater will be built into the sea and the remainder on the rocks forming the sides of the gully.

Inside the breakwater there will be a watertight dyke about 400 feet long and similar in construction to the dykes on the Zuider Zee. When these works are complete it is proposed to pump the water out of the gully and then proceed with the actual work of salvaging.

It is estimated the operations will take about 12 months to complete and will cost £35,000 ($167,700).

High School Students Remodel Their School Parliament, House Executives

Grade X Students Are to Have Bigger Hand in Activities

A completely revamped school parliament, giving grade X students a larger hand in school government, and new house governing bodies were formed Thursday afternoon when students of Nelson High school reelected officers for the remainder of the school year.

Heretofore, only the executive of each house, three officers, were admitted to parliament, and grade X students who had not been in the school long and perhaps were not so well known in the student body, usually had little or no hand in school government. A feeling ran through the school that the younger students should not be neglected, and it was decided to reconstitute the parliament and give them a wider hand in its activities.

5 FROM EACH HOUSE

Accordingly, it was decided to elect five students from each house to the parliament, and a ruling was made that at least one of the parliament members from each house must be a grade X student.

Howard Campbell, junior matriculation student, and captain of the Blue Bombers basketball team, was formerly president of the parliament, but under the revised form of government, a new president must be elected. The president will choose his own cabinet ministers.

Included in the new constitution is a provision that all athletes, literary and debate, and publications representatives to parliament must be reelected.

A boy and a girl will be allowed from each house as athletics representatives. Only house "C" elected its representatives Thursday.

HOUSE OFFICERS ELECTED

A new slate of officers, comprising chairman, vice-chairman and secretary, for each house was also elected.

Miss Ethel Ross is sponsor of house "A", William Grey of house "B", J. A. Fraser of house "C", and Miss Gertrude M. Hudson of house "D".

Parliament representatives from each house elected were: House "A" —Ward Redshaw, grade X, Audrey Emery, George Russell, Arne Henrickson and Bill MacEwan; house "B"—Marjorie Jorgenson, grade X, John Huyck, Frank Oliver, Georgina Williscroft and Allan Barton; house "C", Dean Shepard, grade X, Barbara Carlisle, Doreen Long, Leo Foster and Gordon Allan; house "D", Jessie Heath, grade X, Howard Campbell, Connie Hamson, Iris Moore and Harold Mayo.

Club representatives from house "C" elected to parliament were:

Athletics—Deanie Wallace and Wilbur Bentz.

Literary and Debate—Irma Arlt.

Publications—Margaret Thain.

Officers elected to govern house activities were:

House "A"—Allan Emmott, chairman; Marjorie Todd, vice-chairman; Philip Brewer, secretary.

House "B" — Stuart MacIntosh, chairman; Peggy Dunnett, vice-chairman; Annie Busk, secretary.

House "C"—Genevieve Grizzelle, chairman; Ingeborg Martschinke, secretary.

House "D" — Clarence Cawley, chairman; Delma Robertson, vice-chairman; Bill Affleck, secretary.

2400 SEE SMOKE EATERS FALL BEFORE SASKATOON ATTACK, 2-1

SASKATOON, Nov. 17 (CP).— Saskatoon Quakers defeated Trail Smoke Eaters, 1937-38 Dominion senior champions, 2-1 in an exhibition hockey game here tonight before 2400 fans.

Smoke Eaters leave here tomorrow for Flin Flon where they play Saturday and Sunday. Before meeting the Quakers they broke even with Lethbridge Maple Leafs in two games, defeated Calgary Stampeders and tied Edmonton Eskimos.

FARMER SCORES WINNER

Dunc Farmer scored the winning goal for Quakers after "Bunny" Dame had tied the score at 1-1 in the same session on a pass from Ab Cronie, Trail playing coach. Ab Welsh accounted for the only goal of the first period to send the home club into the lead. The third period was scoreless.

"Duke" Scodellaro, Trail's brilliant goalie, was the outstanding player in the game. Time after time he came out of his net to outguess Quaker forwards after his defence had faltered.

Trail's passing attack lacked the timing which featured the club's drive to the Allan cup playdowns last spring.

NELSON MAPLE LEAFS GET FIRST TEST OF PUCK SEASON TONIGHT WHEN THEY TAKE ON LETHBRIDGE

City Pucksters Will Face Calgary on Saturday

CULLEY NAMES LINEUP FOR TOUR

Nelson's 1938-39 Maple Leafs hockey machine gets its first test tonight when the lakeside puck chasers pull into Lethbridge. It'll be Maple Leafs against Maple Leafs, Nelson's West Kootenay Hockey league entry against Lethbridge's Alberta Hockey league entry, in the exhibition that has all the promise of a real battle.

The foothill battlers, fresh from a victory over Trail Smoke Eaters, Canadian amateur champs, are eager to again test the opposition from a league that has produced a world championship and two Dominion championship squads in three seasons. While the Nelson boys are no less eager to match strides with the Albertans.

MEET STAMPEDERS

Saturday the West Kootenay hockeyists will attack the Calgary hockey fort, engaging the senior Stampeders, Coach Davie Duchak's team. The Stampeders fell 6-2 to the Allan cup champs in an exhibition Monday.

This lineup does not comprise the 1938-39 squad, Coach Culley said, but is made up of those best able to make the trip at the present time.

Royals Trounced 56-30 by Sheiks, Trail Basketball

TRAIL, B. C., Nov. 17—Rossland Royals, just back from a triumphant tour of the Okanagan valley, and considered the best hoop aggregation in the interior, suffered their first defeat of the season at Memorial hall Wednesday when they were trounced 56-30 by Sheiks in a game of the Trail Basketball league.

The Trail boys were given round after round of rousing cheers as a local gallery urged them on to be the first to take the Rossland Yellow Jackets into camp.

The game was a nice display of basketball, both teams seemingly aware of the fact that basketball is a non-contact game, playing their best. Sheiks were exceptionally accurate from any position they chose to shoot.

From the outset the contest progressed on an even basis, Sheik's gradually building up a small margin without permitting the visitors to shorten the spread. By half time Sheiks stretched their lead to seven points.

It was in that second half that the orange-sweatered Sheiks deftly romped off to pile up the huge margin. Geno Pagnan, recent graduate from intermediate ranks, led his team after the interval with five field baskets. Lanky Bob Kirby found the hoop with three baskets in the first half and four in the second for 14 points. Teams and scores follow:

Rossland Royals—McConnell 10, Ross 2, Saundry 2, Carkner, Scott 1, Neal 11, and Williamson 4.

Trail Sheiks—Strachan 11, Pagnan 12, Kirby 14, Turik 8, Kulai 4, and Salsiccioli 10

Apostoli, Corbett to Meet Tonight

NEW YORK, Nov. 17 (AP)—The middleweight championship of New York state will be fought out at the Garden tomorrow night between a couple of California Italians, Fred Apostoli and Young Corbett III.

The reason a more extensive title will not be at stake in the 15-round battle is the fact the National Boxing association, which rules the game in 47 other states and the district of Columbia, regards Solly Krieger of New York as the 160-pound king.

Corbett, a 33-year-old southpaw, won a close 10 round decision over Apostoli in San Francisco last February.

Apostoli however, has been made a 5 to 9 choice to whip Corbett this time.

Potent Front Line With Boston Bruins

By PAUL MICKELSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 17 (AP)—Battling Pistone, our wrestling editor simply because nobody else will have any truck with the mysterious business, today tried to peddle his job. Even Pistone couldn't endure the modern trend in the grunt industry when he discovered the "world heavyweight wrestling championship" will be defended in seven different cities tomorrow night.

This is the program that caused Pistone's surrender:

At St. Louis: "World Heavyweight Champion" Crusher Casey vs Ali Baba.

At Houston, Texas: "World Heavyweight Champion" Leo Daniel Boone Savage vs Elmer Wiggins.

It is doubtful if Battling Pistone will be on hand to see whether he really called his champions correctly. He was going home. Then he learned they had billed "King Kong" Cox of Yuma, Ariz., "world champion" to grun with Nick Lutze in Toronto tonight. Bat was carried out to the elevator.

INJURIES CAST SHADOW OF GLOOM ON ENGLISH FOOTBALL SITUATION

LONDON, Nov. 17 (CP Cable)—A formidable list of injured players is proving quite a handicap for English football club managers. No fewer than 40 men on the rosters of teams in the four divisions of the league will be unable to play in week-end fixtures and third division officials are particularly anxious with English cup matches carded for next week.

Most squads have reached mid-season form and challengers for the championship were encouraged last Saturday when Derby County and Everton, runaway leaders, both suffered unexpected reverses.

WANDERERS HOPEFUL

Outstanding in Saturday's list of games is the battle at Derby where Bolton Wanderers hope to inflict the fourth defeat of the season on the pace-setting Midlanders. The county holds top berth in the first division with 22 points, two more than Everton and four more than the third-place Leeds United eleven.

GOALIE BREEN HURT

Everton is favored to take maximum points from Manchester United whose Irish international goalkeeper, Breen, is among the injured. Return of Gordon Hodgson as leader of Leeds' attack last week paved the way for the Yorkshiremen's 3-2 triumph of Brentford. The United encounters tough opposition at Blackpool.

Recent losses in second division warfare have toppled Millwall from the runner-up position to eighth place and the Londoners signed two new players this week in an effort to get back in the promotion race.

BLACKBURN TOUTED

BUYS NORRIE MANN

NEW YORK, Nov. 17 (CP) — Manager Conny Smythe of Toronto Maple Leafs said today that Normie Mann had been bought from New York Rangers for $4,000. Mann was obtained from Syracuse of the International-American league on a four-game option after Gordon Drillon was injured.

OVERSPENT RECEIPTS

FORT WILLIAM, Nov. 17 (CP)—Amateur Athletic union of Canada disbursements in the fiscal year ended Oct. 15, 1938 totalled $2135 and receipts from dues and fees $1197, the report of Treasurer Claude Robinson showed today.

Cash on hand at Oct. 15, 1937, was $1,719 and last Oct. 15, $781.

HIBERNIANS CATCH CRITICS' EYES AS STRONG SCOTTISH CHALLENGERS

GLASGOW, Nov. 17 (CP Cable)—Early-season drives of Clyde and Queen of the South that for a time threatened supremacy of Rangers and Celtic in Scottish league football appear to be fading. Now critics have their eyes on the green-shirted Hibernians of Edinburgh who have spurted into a challenging position for the first time in many years.

Manager William McCartney's squad has obtained 14 out of 18 points played for in the past two months and now shares third place in the first division table with Hearts, rival team in the Scottish capital, and Queen of the South. The trio have 19 points three less than the Celts who trail the leading Rangers by two points.

TO PLAY THISTLES

Thirty-five years ago Hibbs won the league title but during the past decade they have finished in the lower half of the standing and spent a couple of seasons in the second division. Unbeaten at their master road stronghold since Sept. 14, the Irishmen have Partick Thistle as visitors at the week-end and are picked to capture maximum points.

Hearts and Queen of the South are not so fortunate. The former is away to Albion Rovers, unexpected victors last week over Queen of the South who may fail again at Hamilton against the erratic Academicals.

RANGERS VS CLYDE

Rangers and Clyde will measure their strength at Ibrox Park and a big crowd is expected at Parhead where Celtic clashes with the 10th place Motherwell eleven. Clyde's rock-like defence may hold the Ranger sharpshooters but the Fir Parkers will have to show improved form to take a point from Celtic.

A.A.U. TO ACCEPT INTERNATIONAL BODIES' DEFINITION OF 'AMATEUR'

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., Nov. 17 (CP)—The Amateur Athletic Union of Canada in 51st annual meeting tonight approved by a show of hands a constitutional amendment recognizing the amateur definition of each international governing body of sport recognized by the International olympic committee.

Sydney Halter of Winnipeg, second vice-president who sponsored the resolution, seconded by Fred Cameron, Fort William, said previously he believed the amendment would pave the way for return to the union of Dominion bodies governing hockey and basketball. They withdrew over a dispute concerning the amateur definition.

The Halter amendment was defeated in the 1937 annual meeting in Montreal, lacking the necessary two-thirds majority although it received a favorable vote of 90-53.

The amendment reads: "No one shall lose his amateur status by reason of any matter or action occurring in connection with a sport, the recognized international body of which permits such matter or action, notwithstanding that such matter or action constitutes an infringemen of the definition of amateur or the amateur rules hereinbefore or hereinafter set forth.

GIVES EXPLANATION

Asked for an explanation of the resolution Halter said:

"In effect, the A.A.U. of C. now officially recognized the amateur definition of each international governing body of sport which is so recognized by the international olympic committee.

"For example, under the A.A.U. code at the present moment an amateur cannot compete against a professional. However, in hockey, he can do so under some circumstances, as the amateur code of the International Ice Hockey association which is the international governing body recognized by the I.O.C. as controlling hockey permits this. Consequently, if the amateur plays against the professional in hockey, under circumstances permitted by the Canadian Amateur Hockey association and International Ice Hockey association, he will not jeopardize his amateur standing with the A.A.U."

A. A. A. of Canada In Serious Shape

FORT WILLIAM, Nov. 17 (CP)—J. W. Hamilton of Regina, in his presidential address opening the 1st annual meeting of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada here today, urged delegates to remould the constitution to meet new ideas and ideals.

"I believe the success or the reverse—the oblivion of this union—will be decided at this meeting," he said.

Mr. Hamilton referred to withdrawal from the union of national associations governing hockey, lacrosse and basketball and said, "falling finances have dealt us a severe blow."

"If the existing two schools of thought in our organization can get together on a compromised basis the future is as bright as it ever was."

The union had for some years been ruled by a minority. At the last annual meeting in Montreal a move for broadening of the amateur definition had been favored by a vote of 90-53, failing to get the necessary two-thirds majority.

Secretary John Leslie of Edmonton reported an invitation had been received from the New Zealand Amateur Athletic association for participation by a Canadian track team of two to four men in the New Zealand centennial celebration, November 1939, to April 1940.

Invitations also had been received for a Canadian team to enter the world's amateur baseball championship either in Cuba or New York, probably next August, and for participation in an international gymnastic meet at Stockholm, Sweden, next year.

The international amateur basketball federation had notified the union it would not recognize any Canadian national federation for basketball uending receipt of evidence of eligibles. The union forwarded a statement of elegibility last June 5 but it had not been acknowledged.

Mr. Leslie has since learned the international body lists the Canadian Amateur Basketball federation as the Canadian member pending decision of the international federation's ORP congress.

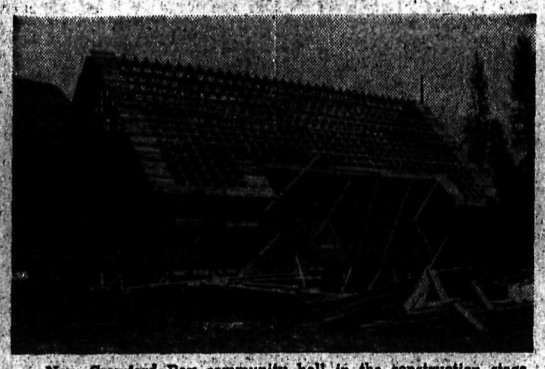
Anticipation and Realization at Crawford Bay



New Crawford Bay community hall in the construction stage. Much of the labor was donated. This picture, taken by William Fraser of Kootenay Bay, hall secretary, shows carpenter work in active progress.

At the grand opening of the hall November 4, Mrs. A. J. Watson of Kootenay Bay, president of the Crawford Bay Women's institute, is seen thanking all who helped in building the hall—practically everyone in the surrounding district—and all who helped in the opening function. Seated, left to right, Mrs. Henry Hincks; J. E. Brown, inspector of schools, Cranbrook; Captain Henry Hincks, chairman—behind Mrs. Watson's elbow; and James Richardson, active in building the hall.

Lay Wreaths at Michel Armistice

NATAL, B. C. — The 20th anniversary celebration of the Armistice took place at Natal-Michel November 11 with a parade headed by Const. Shepherd and followed by the returned soldiers and the Boy Scout troop of Michel, under Scout Master J. Terrion. At Natal the parade was joined by the two Natal Italian lodges, the Duke O'Asto and the Emmanuele Filiberto. The parade went to the Michel Legion hall where services took place. The service was officially opened by Chairman J. Lyne, president of the Michel-Natal Legion, No. 81. The scripture reading and an address were given by A. Huntley of Michel and Rev. Burns of Natal. During the two minutes silence the "Last Post" followed by the "Reveille" were played by Trumpeter Herbert Hughes of Natal.

At the cenotaph wreaths were placed by the Michel-Natal Legion, No. 81, the U. M. W. of America, Boy Scouts, Duke O'Casto A'osto, Emmanuelle Filiberto and many others.

$40,000 Price Placed On Creston Water System; Village May Buy

CRESTON, B.C.—Matters of finance were much to the fore at the November meeting of the village council Monday night, which was in charge of Reeve Mallandaine, with Councillors Craig and Nichols in attendance.

No time has been lost in the negotiations for the prospective purchase of the local waterworks system by the village. In response to an enquiry from Couns. Nichols and Craig, C. B. Garland, for Goat Mountain Waterworks company, wrote stating that the system complete could be had for $40,000 of which $15,000 must be paid in cash, and the balance in village bonds.

The letter stated that $63,000 had been spent by the company on the system, and it was intimated that if the regulation charges were made for water the system would produce a revenue of about $6000 a year. The offer was laid on the table for later consideration, and will likely come before the annual meeting of ratepayers about the middle of December.

Mr. Garland intimated that he did not think it would be possible for the village to get a two per cent federal loan from the Municipal Improvement Assistance act, and the same opinion was expressed by the B.C. deputy minister of municipalities.

PLANS FOR SEWERS

The reeve stated the sewer by-law was now completed and this is also likely to be featured at the December ratepayers' meeting. The initial unit of the system will cost $20,000. A system of installation cost had been obtained in the putting in of the system that serves the new high school.

Accounts passed for payment totalled $1530, and to assist with financing it was agreed to borrow $900 from a sinking fund of $1050, which had accumulated this year from payments of arrears of taxes. Rebuilding of the bridge on Park road had cost $1456.

One hundred and fifty dollars was passed for payment to H. S. McCreath for the strip of property secured to widen the approach to Park road bridge. For the same purpose $40 will be paid Alex Mirabelli, the amount to be applied on taxes.

Trade licences are in arrears to the extent of $700, and a special collector will be employed on a commission basis to collect before Dec. 31. Due to financial stringency the council had to refuse a grant to the Salvation Army for welfare work.

PAY FOR CLEAN-UP

The handyman turned in a list of those who had had garbage removed on clean-up day earlier in the month. There were about 40 of them, and a charge of 25 cents will be made. Most have already paid.

The council is meeting in special session Thursday night to meet representatives from the Badminton club and commercial basketball league to make a new arrangement in connection with the use of Park pavilion, which will likely include the services of a janitor.

The sidewalk on Canyon street is to be extended from the Sinclair hardware beyond the new Tivoli theatre to the Paulson building at Creston avenue. The curlers were given permission to take out the end of the curling rink to expedite the dumping of gravel for the cement bases that are to be put in for the two sheets of ice. If the town truck can be spared it will be made available for one day to assist with the improvements the curling club proposes to make.

CRESTON MASONS DECIDE TO BUILD LARGE LODGE HALL

CRESTON, B. C. — A building for its own exclusive use is under construction by Creston Masonic lodge, No. 54, on a site in the semi-residential section at the corner of Victoria avenue and Vancouver street.

Decision to build was reached at a special meeting when plans were approved and a building committee named. The lodge hall will be of stucco, 34 by 65 feet, with entrance from Vancouver street.

It will be one-story edifice with basement, the latter providing a spacious banquet hall and adequate space for any social activities the lodge may promote.

Construction work will be rushed as occupancy is desired early in the year.

Masonry has had a considerable increase in membership the past two years, hence the need for improved quarters. It is likely the lodge room will be made available to Kootenay Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, which was organized in Creston early in May.

HEAVY EXPORT BUSINESS SENDS WHEAT PRICE UPWARD

WINIPEG, Nov. 17 (CP).—An export business of 750,000 bushels influenced a firm trend in today's Winnipeg wheat market and values closed ⅛—⅜ higher. November 60, December 59⅝, May 62¼ and July 63.

Wheat was reported to have been shipped out of both coasts and a cargo left Vancouver for the United Kingdom.

Commission house selling was believed due to firmness at Chicago caused by reports the 6 cent preferential duty on wheat entering the United Kingdom will be removed under the United Kingdom-United States trade agreement.

Liverpool closed ⅛d higher to ⅛d lower and Buenos Aires dropped 2¼—¼ cents at noon.

Cash wheat trade was slow. Pit trade in coarse grain brought out interest in barley.

NEW YORK IN QUIET RALLY

NEW YORK, Nov. 17 (AP).—The stock market, after three declining sessions, put on a quiet rally today that lifted industrial favorites fractions to more than 2 points.

The rather sluggish nature of the day's proceedings — transfers were in the neighborhood of 1,000,000 shares—was attributed partly to the desire of Wall Street to await details of the new Anglo-American trade treaty which was due to be signed late in the afternoon.

Steels, motors, aircrafts, rails and an assortment of specialties were in the front ranks. Utilities and coppers held moderate gains.

GOLDS ADVANCE

VANCOUVER, Nov. 17 (CP) — Gold issues posted minor gains on Vancouver stock exchange today after late trading wiped out the majority of early losses. Base metals and oils were quiet and transactions totalled 131,785 shares.

Dentonia Gold entered into active play and advanced 2¼ cents at 8¾ after 64,200 shares had changed hands. Grull Wihskne closed 2¼ cents higher than Wednesday's closing bid at 4¼.

Anglo-Canadian Oil and Okalta each closed at 1.08, two cents lower.

Nicola at 4½ and Grandview at 7½ were down fractions.

$10,900,600 Deficit to New Zealand If Peg Dairy Products

WELLINGTON, N. Z. (CP) — A basic guaranteed purchase price of 14.89 pence (23 4-5 cents) a pound for butter and one of 8.42 pence (13 2-5 cents) a pound for cheese were announced by Minister of Marketing W. Nash in the house of representatives when presenting the report of the guaranteed prices advisory committee.

The committee had recommended 15.6 pence (25 cents) a pound for butter and 8.7 pence (14 2-5 cents) a pound for cheese.

Mr. Nash said that giving effect to this recommendation would result in a deficit of £2,824,000 ($10,900,000) and on the government's prices the deficit will be £1,535,000 ($5,925,100) if last year's realizations are maintained. If the estimated surplus from last season of £600,000 ($2,316,000) is deducted, Mr. Nash estimates a net deficiency at the end of the 1938-39 season of £935,000 ($3,609,100). He said the government was prepared to take this responsibility for the sake of giving the farmer a sure return, and to maintain the stability of the industry. Sales on the local market are to be adjusted so that realizations will equal the export price, and prices are to be permanent for the season, no reduction whatever being made.

New Zealand has disposed of 125,800 tons of butter and 69,700 tons of cheese at average London market prices during the 1937-38 season.

Butter Export Depends Upon Domestic Price

"Judging from the results of past efforts," he said, "there seems to be little doubt that the removal of considerable quantities of butter from Canada is impracticable unless the domestic price level is down to export party and funds are available to compensate for loss on export if the domestic price is above export parity."

One Car Contains 100 Boxes for Christmas Presents

Twenty-six carloads of apples grown in the Kootenay-Arrow lakes district have been shipped by Nelson sub-central of the Associated Growers since the first of November, the bulk of them between November 1 and 12. Eight of the cars were exported and 26 went to domestic markets.

Business has followed a quieter trend for the past few days, Robert Foxall, manage: of the subcentral, stated Thursday. It was anticipated movement would be slowed down during the next few weeks as Christmas novelties began to take the spotlight.

"Shipment of export apples is expected to be finished by the end of next week," Mr. Foxall said. There were still about five export cars to go from the district.

A feature of this week's business was the shipment on Wednesday from Nelson of a car containing over 100 boxes of apples going to Great Britain as Christmas presents for relatives of Kootenay residents. These were boxes packed by growers who wished their relatives to have fruit from their own orchards.

Another feature of this week was the taking of orders for specially wrapped and packed apples to be delivered in the old country for Christmas. These are presents from Kootenay residents who do not own orchards, but wish their relatives to enjoy B.C. apples.
