Macneil Denounces Bren Deal as Rankest Foisted on Public

To Yet Prove Most Humiliating Experience in Career of Ian Mackenzie; Attacks Defence Department

OTTAWA, Jan. 26 (CP).—Climaxing the most bitter denunciation a government department has been dealt this session, C. Grant Macneil (C. C. F. Vancouver North) today demanded a house of commons inquiry into the facts cited in the Davis report on the Bren gun contract and reorganization of the national defence department.

Applauded by all parties in the Opposition group and speaking before a thin attendance of government supporters, the young Vancouver war veteran predicted in the house the Bren gun contract would "yet prove the most humiliating experience in the career of Ian Mackenzie, minister of defence."

"It was one of the rankest and most bare-faced political patronage deals ever foisted upon a long-suffering public," he declared. "The minister was not in his seat but Hugh Plaxton (Lib.-Toronto-Trinity) who was mentioned in evidence at the Royal commission probe of the Bren contract by Mr. Justice H. H. Davis, was present."

Mr. Macneil spoke in the address debate and devoted his entire time to attacks on the defence department which he described as "most wasteful and inefficient."

A request for nationalization of armament manufacture was coupled with Mr. Macneil's demand for a commons Bren gun inquiry and reorganization of the department "to accomplish greater efficiency and co-ordination."

"It is now evident something more than huge appropriations are needed to guarantee defence against external dangers," he declared. Between 1918 and 1937 about $300,000,000 was expended on defence yet in 1937 the minister had declared it had been so neglected Canada was without any defence.

"Apparently the trifling sum of $300,000,000 entrusted to the general staff has gone with the wind. No one can understand where the money is going. The sums voted over in the last three years approximating $90,000,000, should have made evident some effective measures of coastal defence."

"Must we conclude the clue to the mystery is to be found in the recent judicial inquiry into the Bren machine gun contract? One contract out of many was subjected to a searching inquiry and the most amazing circumstances have been disclosed."

"We have good cause to ask if the additional millions requested from parliament are actually for the defence of Canada or for the defence of the profits of a privileged ring of armament contractors."

"We now discover departmental officials have shown the most arrogant disregard of policies enunciated in parliament. It now rests with parliament to determine whether or not there has been a gross betrayal of public trust."

The report of Mr. Justice Davis had placed the evidence before parliament to decide. Mr. Macneil reviewed the testimony which disclosed the manner in which Major J. E. Hahn, head of John Inglis Co. of Toronto, had been assisted by the department in obtaining a British war office order of 500 guns to complement the Canadian order for 7000.

"It was a gift-ged guarantee of certain profits for one favored contractor," Mr. Macneil declared. "In the light of the evidence the house should hear from the minister the reasons why he did not call for competitive bids."

Down the palm-lined boulevards of the Mediterranean port metropolis the victorious insurgents marched and rode—thousands of white-robed Moroccans, the mountain fighters of Navarre and Italians of the Littorio division. Housekeeper and Father of Slain 'Peg Child Held WINNIPEG, Jan. 26 (CP).—After nearly two days investigation into the death of six-year-old Rose Mary Eiler, police today announced they were holding the father of the girl and his housekeeper on coroner's warrants pending an inquest. Those held are Stephen Eiler, 40, and Kay Rykynyk, 24.

In making the announcement, Police Chief George Smith said no charges had been laid. The chief's statement said in part: "For the present police have stopped the search for the man in the brown camel pile coat, described by the housekeeper as being out in the country now working on an angle of the case. Police believe the solution will be found shortly."

"Meanwhile the housekeeper is held on a coroner's warrant and this afternoon a coroner's warrant will be applied for in the case of Stephen Eiler."

The young Eiler girl was found suffocated in her bed Tuesday night. The housekeeper was found bound and gagged.

Miss Rykynyk told police a man had entered the Eiler home, bound and gagged her, tied little Rose Mary's underwear over the child's face and fled with "some divorce papers" and money.

Eiler explained to police at the time that he had started divorce proceedings against his wife with whom he had not lived for three years.

Other casualties were passengers in the two rear cars of a train overtaken and struck by another on the Great Western Railway line.

Teachers would be paid a minimum salary of $1000 a year under another measure introduced by Reps. Robert S. Farrell, jr., and Harvey Wells, both Portland Republicans.

A bill which would force the heaviest transport trucks to pay fees seven times the rate charged against light trucks also went into the house.

Britain and Empire Can Never Be Defeated

HOARE CALLS FOR DEFENCE RESPONSE

SWANSEA, Wales, Jan. 26 (CP Cable).—Sir Samuel Hoare, home secretary, tonight proclaimed the "invincibility of Great Britain and the British Empire" and denounced European political "jitterbugs" who were "waiting helplessly for the crash that according to them will destroy us all."

He called for a national response to the country's defence preparations and asserted: "This great country and this great empire can never be defeated."

Britain's economic and financial position and the Royal navy are her two greatest assets, he said. The financial and economic system had proved through years of trial it "is the most stable in the world."

The fleet had adapted itself to new war technique, declared Sir Samuel, a former first lord of the admiralty. "The proper use of its air force by the navy itself will extend rather than diminish British sea power."

He denounced timid panic-mongers who are asking themselves when a world war is going to start, as "a" (Continued on Page Three)

EPIDEMIC FEAR MAY CAUSE CITY EVACUATION IN TRAIN OF QUAKE

Estimates of Death Toll Ranges 4000 to 12,000

50,000 OR MORE SAID HOMELESS

SANTIAGO, Jan. 26 (AP).—Mounts of unburied dead which brought a fear of epidemics in the train of Tuesday night's earthquake in south central Chile, caused the government tonight to consider complete evacuation of the disaster-stricken city of Chillan.

Estimates of the toll of dead in the region centering 200 miles south of Santiago ranged from 4000 to 12,000 with conservative estimates placing casualties in Chillan at 500 alone. In Concepcion at 2000 and in other cities at 1000.

Not less than 50,000 were homeless, it was believed, and probably many thousands more.

Barcelona Fall Hailed in Italy

"Tunisia", "Corsica" 50,000 Shout to Il Duce

ROME, Jan. 26 (AP).—Premier Mussolini tonight hailed the fall of Barcelona as a defeat for Fascism's enemies and evoked shouts of "Tunisia" and "Corsica" from a boisterous crowd of 50,000.

Il Duce smiled broadly from his balcony as the crowd, standing in a driving rain, called him back repeatedly after he spoke briefly. Each time the people renewed the clamor for French territory raised Nov. 30 in the chamber of deputies.

The calls for Tunisia, French North African protectorate, and Corsica, island department of France, continued in steady chants for some minutes after his address.

There were also a few isolated shouts of "on to Paris" but this cry did not appear to come from organized Fascist groups.

At the first cries, Il Duce spread his hands in an attitude of surprise. Then he beamed broadly and gave the Fascist salute.

City Traffic Too Much for Wolves

SUBURRY, Ont., Jan. 26 (CP).—Experiences continue to pile up for the trained timber wolves of Gogama Joe LaFlamme. Scarcely 24 hours out of the silent north after a 75-mile airplane ride from Gogama, the animals were munched through Suburby's snow-covered streets today.

A crowd estimated at 5000 persons lined along the city's main streets. Eight of Joe's 11 timber wolves came charging out of a barn to the crack of a 24-foot moose-skin whip.

Their speed was chiefly confined to the take-off, however, and when the wolves sighted street traffic for the first time, they became tangled in their tracks.

GROWING DEAF WITH HEAD NOISES? TRY THIS

If you are growing hard of hearing and fear Catarrhal Deafness or if you have roaring, rumbling, hissing noises in your ears go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmit (double strength), and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who is threatened with Catarrhal Deafness or who has head noises should give this prescription a trial. (Advt.)

TAKE THE LEAD OUT OF YOUR LEGS

Get Oxygen in Your Blood and You'll Get the Pep that Sends You Bounding Up the Stairs

People who smother to death die because oxygen has been completely cut off from them. Just as surely you are slowly smothering if your blood lacks red corpuscles. Red corpuscles are your oxygen-carriers. They carry the oxygen you breathe in to every part of your system. Without enough oxygen-carrying corpuscles, your kidneys, liver, stomach and bowels slow down. Your skin gets pale, flabby, often pimply. Your nerves may become jittery—you tire quickly—feel depressed.

What you need is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These world-famous pills help make more and better red corpuscles and thus increase the oxygen-carrying power of your blood. B.C. PRODUCERS TO BE MOBILIZED TO SEEK MARKETS IN GOV'T. PLAN

VICTORIA, Jan. 26 (CP).—Plans to mobilize industrial and other producers in a search for new markets, and to coordinate the various trade promotion facilities of government and private organizations to the same end were announced today by Hon. W. J. Assestine, minister of trade and industry.

The minister said that under R. S. O'Meara, newly appointed officer of the bureau of industrial and trade extension, a start has been made toward establishing a central point of contact for industrial and export problems of the province.

Cooperation from manufacturers, board of trade and shipping groups, foreign consuls and Canadian trade commissioners in all parts of the world has been promised, he said.

"Our objective is one of increased cooperation at the producing end," Mr. Assestine declared.

"We are not paralleling the work of the federal trade department. We desire to use existing facilities ourselves, and make them increasingly available to others in a way that will move a larger volume of export and domestic trade and encourage the establishment and extension of industries."

A direct contact will be effected with federal trade commissioners in the markets in which British Columbia is specially interested.

"I think the new program will have practical results," the minister said.

Encouragement of new industries is part of the plan. Some have already approached the bureau with their troubles.

Red Cedar Shingle Mill Heads Protest Canada Trade Pact

OLYMPIA, Wash., Jan. 26 (AP).—President Roosevelt would be petitioned to grant a hearing to Washington red cedar shingle manufacturers regarding the new reciprocal trade agreement made with Canada, if a joint memorandum introduced in the state house of representatives today by three Grays Harbor county Democrats is passed.

The trio—Representatives A. A. Mackie, George Twidwell and John Pearsall—point out removal of import restrictions on red cedar shingles has brought "severe curtailment in operation of our mills with attendant unemployment of our men."

"Many of our shingle mill employers and employees have been brought on the verge of ruin by the adverse effect of the loss in import restriction," the memorial said. "Employers and employees in this industry hope that definite remedial action will be taken to effectively terminate this disastrous situation. It appears intervention by the President of the United States can bring about the necessary relief."

CONSERVATIVE ORGANIZER PAYS GOODWILL VISIT TO KOOTENAY

M. Macintosh, M.P.P., to Be in Nelson Over Weekend

That the Conservative party will make great strides this year under the vigorous leadership of R. L. (Pat) Maitland was declared yesterday by Macintosh, M.P.P. of Vancouver, M.P.P. for the Islands in the Gulf of Georgia from Vancouver to Victoria. Mr. Macintosh arrived in Nelson Wednesday night, and after spending most of the day in the city, left late in the afternoon for Trail.

He stated that it was his present intention to make a visit to each provincial riding in the southern interior, contacting on his tour leading Conservatives and other prominent citizens who were interested in good government. Mr. Macintosh is the son-in-law of the illustrious late Sir Richard McBride, one of the outstanding premiers of British Columbia.

Mr. Macintosh, who was appointed Conservative organizer, will join Mr. Maitland, Herbert Anson of Victoria, and R. W. Bruhn of Salmon Arm, who will arrive in Nelson from the coast Sunday night.

A public meeting will be held here Monday evening, after which they will go to Trail, a women's meeting being scheduled in a smaller city Tuesday afternoon and a public meeting in the evening.

Early in April the leader of the Conservative party, accompanied by Mr. Macintosh, will commence a speaking tour during which he will cover the whole province.

Mr. Maitland feels that the people of British Columbia are ready for a change in government and is strongly of the opinion that the revitalized Conservative party can provide a strong government with forward-looking policies, in which the people can be confident, the organizer stated.

Mr. Maitland has outlined the attention of the Conservative party towards unemployment in the following phrase: "What the people of this province want is not the dole but payrolls and prosperity."

Mr. Macintosh will again be in Nelson over the week-end after meeting prominent Trail residents. He leaves next week to visit Cranbrook and Fernie in his goodwill trip.

TRAIL SOCIAL

By MRS. H. S. ALLEN

TRAIL, B. C., Jan. 26.—Mrs. F. E. Dockerill will visit Nelson Friday on Girl Guide business.

Mrs. T. Dawson, who has been visiting friends in the city for some time, has returned to her home at Burton City.

The Society of Our Lady of Perpetual Help met Tuesday afternoon in East Trail parish hall, when plans were decided for a card party. It was decided to hold a banquet in honor of the men who donated so generously of their time and efforts in the building of the new East Trail church. The banquet will be followed by a grand opening of the church and a social evening. Twenty-four members were in attendance.

The Ladies' Service club of First Presbyterian church entertained at a most successful "at home" in the church hall Thursday afternoon. Well over 60 guests were received by Mrs. A. J. Edmonstone, the club's president. Early spring flowers of pink snapdragons and stately daffodils in profuse disposals decorated the hall. The tea table, at which Mrs. J. C. Alexander and Mrs. F. G. St. Denis had been asked to preside, was covered with a gleaming yellow silk cloth, over which was spread a handsome lace cloth. The spray vase of silver filled with the same lovely flowers, and flanked with lighted yellow tapers in crystal holders, centered the table which was beautifully appointed with gleaming silver. During the afternoon a program was enjoyed, the artists taking part included, Mrs. O. H. Wilson, pianoforte selections, Mrs. Ralph Cook, vocal solos, Mrs. McLuckie, humorous readings, Mrs. St. Denis gave the address of welcome and then introduced the new president, Mrs. A. J. Edmonstone, who responded fittingly. Mrs. A. B. Clark, Mrs. J. C. Minter, Mrs. A. McLuckie, Mrs. Dan McDonald and Mrs. J. T. Newman were tea aides for the afternoon, and Mrs. D. Duffus and Mrs. A. Jackson were in charge of culinary arrangements.

After spending the past month here the guest of Mr. and Mrs. G. Cumming, Green avenue, Miss Alice Peterson returned to her home at Hawarden, Sask., Tuesday evening.

Trail Catholic Young People's Extension club met in St. Francis Xavier parish hall Wednesday evening for a social evening. A short business meeting was held prior to the entertainment during which it was decided to postpone a projected dance until after Lent. The new date will be announced later. Edbert Corrigan, secretary of the organization, was bade farewell by the club. Mr. Corrigan leaves in the near future to make his home in Nelson.

MORE ABOUT "JITTERBUGS"

public nuisance." Appealing for protection against political "jitterbugs" he said:

"I am told that in the United States of America there is a class of people who sit listening in hysterical excitement to what is called hot music and waiting for the final crash.

"Americans in their forcible language call them jitterbugs.

"There are many people in Europe today who seem to be behaving in just the same way. They sit listening to all hot music of scares and alarms, waiting helplessly for the crash that according to them will destroy us all."

That, he said, "is not the way to meet danger." He asked for domestic political unity and preparedness based upon "the strength of democracy."

No inevitability of war exists, Sir Samuel went on.

He praised Prime Minister Chamberlain as the "lifebuoy of Europe" and denied any suggestion that British prestige has "sunk to the lowest possible depths and that the Prime Minister is either a guileless old man always taken in by the dictators' cunning or a Fascist in disguise, ready to sacrifice British interests for Fascist favors."

In a European war, Sir Samuel declared, aviation would not be able immediately to strike a mortal blow.

"No country can afford to send more than a part of its air force on raiding expeditions, and it is not to be supposed that any enemy air force would be left free to attack these shores.

"The modern fighter (pursuit plane) is a very formidable instrument of defence compared to the fighters in the great war, and apart from actual defence, there is always the great effect of the counter attack, the forcing of air warfare in which we have always excelled."

Brushing Helps Tresses Must Reflected Care To Be Lovely

By DONNA GRACE

The old adage of a hundred strokes a day for the hair is being ignored and relegated to the limbo of other old beauty theories. New methods are more adaptable to our needs and our mode of life as there are few modern girls who take the time for the homely, although beneficial, treatments. We all have finger waves and we all hesitate to disturb the wave, but all finger waves should be done so that brushing will improve them.

Well brushed hair shows its care and it will be smooth and fluffy instead of the drab dull type we see all too often. Do not feel that frequent shampooing will injure the hair. Clean hair usually is lovely healthy hair and unless you are having a course of treatments where oils and lotions are left on, the weekly shampoo is the rule.

The hair is fibrous and of the same classification as the nails, both designed by nature as a protection. We may think of it as an inanimate thing but it is none the less quite sensitive, as we have observed when one is subject to shock or illness.

REFLECTS GENERAL HEALTH

The physical condition is always reflected in the hair so we realize the importance of a balanced diet, fresh air, regular exercise and everything necessary for our general health.

There are good dandruff treatments on the market that will eliminate this condition, but it will make a practice of having some special oil packs and other tonic treatments from time to time, the hair will be clean and healthy.

When there is dandruff it usually can be removed permanently with one or two good special treatments such as the sulphur ointment, followed by thorough soap and water shampoos.

The vinegar rinse used so much years ago is no longer the popular rinse. It is still used by some, though, as they seem to feel the diluted vinegar separates the hair and prevents snarls. The lemon rinse may be used instead, if necessary, and many of the better shops prefer a spray of brilliantine or a light application of pomade. The pomade is ideal for dry or bleached hair and the toilet water rinse will remove tangles. We all object to the odor of vinegar, which remains after being under the heat of the dryer.

Itching Old People Often Bothered by Skin

By LOGAN GLENDENING, M. D.

Old people are frequently tortured by itching, especially in the winter time. No eruption can be seen, but on elderly skin it is a regular thing to find the excoriations and sores of scratching marks. The only reason for this is the atrophy of the skin tissues.

This leaves a thin parchment-like skin. It is dry because the glands which ordinarily furnish lubrication to the skin have atrophied. Perspiration is also uncommon in the aged.

The condition is worse in places where the skin is in folds, where one surface touches another. It is worse in the winter time because of our dry, close houses.

Worst of all is too much soap and water for old skin. In fact, this applies to middle-aged and even young skin, where we have made a fetish of daily bathing and thrice daily washing. The soap takes all the lubrication off the skin and leaves it dry and hard.

FEWER BATHS

I once brought an old friend of mine as a patient to a skin specialist on account of itching. The dermatologist told him to reduce the number of his baths to once a week. The old fellow returned to me a few months later greatly pleased with the results and said he had cured an entire encampment of the G. A. R. by giving them this advice.

If these simple measures do not stop itching, a diet which removes sugars, vegetables and fruits from the menu for a while may be efficacious. Local applications of camphor ice or camphor and menthol ointment may give relief, and sometimes it is necessary to use an application of cocaine.

Another very troublesome senile change is bronchitis. The tissues of the lung after the age of 60 are very liable to deteriorate steadily, producing a complicated situation in which infection is very liable to occur, running into chronic bronchitis and asthma. Cough mixtures containing quill are favorites with old people and medicated vapors are also valuable in these conditions.

The digestion and state of the bowels should be very carefully controlled.

"ASTHMA"

The asthma may be simply a form of breathlessness and can be treated in the same way as the chronic bronchitis. Trousseau, the great French clinician, after he was 60 years old, woke up every morning at 3 o'clock with an attack of asthma. He would wake with a sense of oppression in breathing, and just as he was fully awake, he stated, the clock struck three.

The asthma remedies used in younger and stronger people are too drastic in these cases, and perhaps the best treatment is the smoking of stramonium leaves and inhalation of medicated vapors.

TWEEDSMUIR BIRTHDAY MESSAGE TO WOMAN, 101

CALGARY, Jan. 26 (CP)—Miss Elizabeth LePage of Calgary has received congratulatory messages from Lord Tweedsmuir, governor-general of Canada, Prime Minister Mackenzie King, and relatives of Charlottetown, P.E.I., her native home. She celebrated her 101st birthday yesterday.

Advice for Parents Child's Misdeeds To Be Forgotten

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph. D.

Although we parents are tempted after punishing the infant to turn about to caress him, doing him much harm, there gradually comes a change in our attitude toward him after punishment, as he grows older. Instead of being tempted to caress him then, we are inclined to allow our annoyed feelings to continue toward him for some while after the punishment presumably had ended.

To quote: "For the child it is terrible to continue in disgrace long after he has been punished for some act. We cannot justify any punishment except as a means to make the child avoid doing in the future the kind of thing for which he was punished. When, therefore, the punishment has ended, therefore, talk and act entirely as if nothing had happened."

ing extraordinary had occurred. Forget the child's misdeeds, remove the stain from your mind as far as the east is from the west and remember them against him no more.

DAD—READ THIS:

Suppose you, Dad, have caught your Mack in some sex delinquency or suppose he has led you or stolen an hour has passed and you are sitting at the dinner table. You look at Mack and think of his offense. His eyes droop; for on your face he reads signs of your remembering his bad deed. Every time Mack meets his mother's eyes she looks melancholy. Even his little brother seems to sense that Mack is not in good standing. They don't laugh, smile and tell jokes as usual. Mack does not have the courage to speak up. Something like a pall hangs over him. Even for the next few hours or days he sees his loved ones acting differently towards him. And he is not deceived, for almost surely they must think of his wrong doing when they look at him. Probably someone will bring the matter up when he had hoped it was entirely forgotten.

But this is the very time he needs more than usual, tell more jokes, engage him more frequently in conversation, encourage him to tell more about his deepest interests, help him to enjoy more successes and earn more approval; and we shall be liberal with worthy praise.

Show Sympathy A Proud Nature Finds Poverty Very Degrading

Dear Miss Chatfield: I have tried to be the friend in need to an old acquaintance who is a widow on relief. I have plenty and feel it a privilege to help her but she makes it very hard. She won't come to my house except under the cover of darkness and she never accepts a gift of money without begging me not to tell anybody that she taken it. For some reason she doesn't want any of her friends to know that I help her at all. I don't want any broadcasting of what I do but I get very tired of her efforts to keep everything a dark secret. My family says I do entirely too much. Yet I had rather spend on one who needs it than on friends who have as much as I. Can you understand why she behaves as she does?

Elren B.

ANSWER: Well, my friend, I am afraid that with all your generosity, your gifts of money and other tangibles, you are withholding from your friend the one thing that would be quite as precious as the gifts themselves—sympathy with and understanding of her poverty-humbled pride. We argue very glibly that a person is entitled to as much pride as he can support, that when he is reduced in purse the pride he had in plenty is no longer becoming. This listens well

Serial Story DEATH AT THE MANOR

By M. E. CORNE

READ THIS FIRST:

Elsie Ritter, a beauty shop operator, taking the place of her friend, Kitty, for a week in the private salon of Mrs. Horace Witherspoon, is disturbed by queer things she finds and odd people she meets at the Manor, the luxurious Witherspoon home. She finds her employer is an eccentric old woman with sadly misplaced vanity. She meets her granddaughter, Daphne; her daughter-in-law, Della Craig, an actress, who is a house guest, and the various servants of the household. Elsie overhears a violent argument between Daphne and her mother, during which the girl criticizes her grandmother. After meeting some of the other guests, Elsie gives a mania to Mrs. Witherspoon's sister, who converses in riddles. While Mrs. Witherspoon, Sr., is under one of the four hair driers, Elsie's friend, drops in to see her and telephones from downstairs. Elsie goes down to see him. When Elsie returns to the salon, she faints when she finds that the old lady has died while under the drier. After being revived, Elsie, the maid, according to Mrs. Witherspoon's emeralds, which are missing. She succeeds in convincing Horace Witherspoon that she knows nothing of the missing jewels.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER ELEVEN

"Were you absent from the salon—a long time? Mr. Witherspoon asked me. There was a sharpness to his tone that startled me. I glanced quickly at him. But he looked so uncertain and uncomfortable in his role of interrogator that I decided I must have been mistaken in what I had heard.

"Thirty minutes," I confessed, miserably, "I give anything but credit to her; but I didn't know!" I broke off unable to continue.

"Naturally not, Miss Ritter, naturally not. You mustn't condemn yourself." Awkwardly he patted my shoulder. "It was her time to go and she—she went. You couldn't have saved her."

"You are very kind. Very. I shouldn't have left her; I realize that now. Perhaps she called to me when she felt herself—going! Perhaps."

"Please, Miss Ritter! You'll make yourself ill! Her trouble such as mother had is incurable. We knew all of us, that she would die suddenly and without warning. It happened to her. She—she just closed her eyes and slept! That knowledge Miss Ritter, comforts me greatly."

"Oh, I do hope you are right!" I said fervently. "I do hope so!"

"I am right!" he said positively, and his dull, colorless eyes lighted strangely. "Years ago I studied medicine; I was going to be a great doctor, a great scientist!"

"But you gave it up?" Curiosity on my part got the better of discretion.

"I gave it up, yes." The light died and something incredibly sad and bitter took its place. "Butter," said Mr. Horace, slowly. "I putter about upstairs in my laboratory."

For some unknown reason I felt embarrassed, as though I had stumbled onto a secret, long hidden, and now, under stress, impudently to look upon a soul so naked. Loath to look upon a soul so naked.

"Mr. Witherspoon!" I burst forth presently.

"Yes?"

"If Mrs. Witherspoon died while I was in the pantry, I couldn't have stolen the emeralds!"

"You couldn't?" Plainly he did not follow me.

"No! Don't you see? They were on the table when I left the room; they were gone when I returned! Someone must have entered the salon and— I clapped my hand to my mouth, my eyes widening in dawning horror.

"—and stolen them after my mother was dead," he concluded for me.

"Oh, I don't mean to accuse anyone!"

"Quite all right, Miss Ritter." He smiled faintly.

"Of course," I added hastily, "it is possible that they have been mislaid."

"Yes, it is possible," he agreed, rising. His shoulders sagged limply. "I shouldn't worry, my dear girl. In the morning we will discuss the matter further. I—I must go and notify the others and call the doctor."

"The doctor?"

"The doctor's law of some sort which requires certification of the body."

"Oh!" The body—that was the flowered bundle in the anteroom. "She is still—there?"

"Yes."

"But you aren't going to leave her there overnight?"

"I thought then he would put me in the way," he said. "Arrangements will be made for removal, Miss Ritter."

I breathed in relief. "May I go to bed now, please?"

"Of course. You must be tired. You won't be needed until morning."

"Thank you—and good night." I crossed the lobby and stepped out into the corridor. A man rushed past me and came to a halt a few feet away. It was the count and he was in a great state of agitation. His breath was labored—and his brow damp and perspiring.

"Have you seen Madame Witherspoon?" he demanded. "Everywhere I look and nowhere she is!"

"Who is there?" Mr. Horace peered over my shoulder.

"Let see I Count Orsini!" ex-

POTATO SOUP

Three small potatoes, one pint milk, one teaspoon onion, one stalk celery, one-half teaspoon celery salt, small amount of pepper, one-half tablespoon flour, one tablespoon butter. Boil potatoes in boiling water until soft, drain and mash. Cook celery and onion in milk, add to mashed potatoes rub through strainer, boil again, then thicken with flour and butter creamed together and season. Boil five minutes and serve, adding more milk if too thick. This may be made in a double boiler.

BUTTERMILK BISCUITS

Three-quarters cup buttermilk, one-half cup all-bran, one and one-half cups flour, one teaspoon baking powder, one-half teaspoon soda, one teaspoon salt, one-third cup shortening.

Soak bran in buttermilk. Sift flour, baking powder, soda and salt together. Cut in shortening until mixture is like coarse cornmeal. Add soaked all-bran; stir until dough follows fork around bowl. Turn onto floured board; knead lightly a few seconds.

Roll or pat to one-half inch thickness and cut with floured cutter. Bake in lightly greased pan in hot oven (450 F.) about 12 minutes.

There is something friendly about the making of toast and the fragrant aroma is a grand inducement to have a snack, even if one isn't very hungry. Toasting changes the color and the flavor of bread, but not its food value. The caloric value (68-85 calories per slice), the carbohydrate, fat and protein content are approximately unchanged.

Just plain toast is good in itself but it can be varied in any number of grand ways.

Cinnamon toast is delightful, as are also honey butter toast or fruited toast.

Savory toast is nice with vegetables and sea foods, while hot milk toast makes a perfect light meal.

CREAMED SALMON AND PEAS

And for a quick one-dish meal, ladies we give you a dish made with toasted rings with canned salmon and peas.

The recipe calls for 3 tablespoons each butter and flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 1 1/2 cups milk, one cup canned salmon, flaked, one cup cooked peas, 6 slices of bread and grated cheese.

OVER LOW HEAT

Melt butter, add flour, salt and pepper, stirring until smoothly blended. Add milk and cook over low heat, stirring until slightly thickened. Add the salmon and the peas. Butter a baking dish and pour the creamed mixture into it. Cut bread with a doughnut cutter and toast.

Place the toasted rings on top of the salmon and peas. Sprinkle with grated cheese. Place in a moderate oven (375 F.) until cheese is melted.

FRENCH TOASTED SANDWICHES

Make sandwiches the usual way. Cheese, peanut, jam, sandwich spreads, devilled ham make especially good fillings for this type of sandwich. Dip each sandwich into an egg and milk mixture made by beating one egg and adding to it 1/4 teaspoon salt and one cup milk. Fry sandwiches in butter until the bread has become a golden brown.

Serve hot, accompanied by fruit, jelly or jam. Peanut butter sandwiches, fixed this way, and served with a garnish of apricot halves and broiled sausages, make a good supper dish.

BANANA FRENCH TOAST

Two eggs, 1/2 cup mashed bananas, 1/4 cup milk, 1/4 cup sugar and 6 slices bread. Beat eggs slightly, add mashed banana, salt and milk. Dip bread into batter. Brown on both sides on a hot, lightly greased griddle or table stove. Sprinkle lightly with powdered sugar, and serve hot.

"Good baking," says Purity Maid, "is an art That's bred in the bone and learned slowly by heart. But the reason my bread fills our folks with delight Is that Purity Flour makes it turn out just right!"

WHITTE BREAD (Straight Dough or 4 1/2 hour Method) (4 loaves)
 2 compressed yeast cakes
 4 cups water
 3 tablespoons white sugar
 Method—Dissolve yeast in 1/4 cup lukewarm water. In the remaining liquid (which should not be above 100 degrees) dissolve the sugar and salt; then add yeast. Mix in sufficient flour to make a soft batter; add shortening and beat well. Stir in sufficient flour to produce a dough soft enough to handle conveniently, but not sticky. Turn out on floured board and knead until soft and elastic. Place in a greased bowl, cover and let rise until it is double the original bulk; then punch down. Let rise again and, after punching down once more, divide into pieces which will fill half-doll baking pans. Bake in hot oven of 400 to 425 degrees for 35 to 40 minutes, depending on size of loaves.

A Challenge to Health-minded People

Give Dr. Jackson Meal this 30-day Breakfast Test.

Then try again the cereal you had been using and SEE you GLAD YOU ARE TO GET BACK TO DR. JACKSON MEAL.

Why am I so confident?

I challenge you to make your next 30 breakfasts of Dr. Jackson Meal and fruit—and drink only Kofy-Sub, my alkali-forming, iron-rich beverage. Do this for 30 mornings—and take stock of your general health. THEN go back to your former cereal for a few weeks—and again check up.

Why do I make this challenge with so much confidence? Here's why: Dr. Jackson Meal is not a sweet, highly processed, denatured food that people taste and say "Nice"! This cereal is scientifically designed to give the human system what it needs. It must be chewed—that starts the saliva flowing to digest the starch element in food. It contains whole rye and wheat for vitality, and bran which supplies the needed roughage for bowel activity. In addition, it contains Flax-o-Lin and rice polishings which no other cereal has, rich in nerve-building mineral salts and vitalizing germs, and acting as a natural laxative.

This is the food that enables me and thousands of others to enjoy a full life of boundless strength and energy, and resistance to colds and disease. Because I am so confident it will do wonders for you I issue this challenge—30 breakfasts of Dr. Jackson Meal (or my similar cereals, Liasus or Bekus-Puddy) and fruit if you want it, drinking only Kofy-Sub—the richest alkali-forming mineralized drink that I know of. Do this and you will feel so "different", so full of pep and purpose, that never again will you be content with "nice" soft and denatured foods.

Accept my challenge. See for yourself if I'm not right!

At 60 years of age Dr. Jackson was a complete physical wreck, given but a few months to live, by the great Sir Wm. Osler. He was rapidly going blind and crippled. It was then Dr. Jackson invented Roman Meal (now Dr. Jackson Meal) to see if a complete change of eating and living habits would rejuvenate his body. He lived entirely upon Roman Meal for months taking systematic exercise in the fresh air. Today in his 81st year, Dr. Jackson has the strength, stamina and resistance of a trained young athlete and challenges physical degeneration, old age and sickness to attack him.

Read his challenge to you in this advertisement.

MORE ABOUT PROUD NATURE

but it doesn't altogether cover the case.

A proud, sensitive nature doesn't easily adjust itself to abject dependence. Dependence is galling, and it takes a lot of grit to grin and bear it gallantly. Perhaps it is this margin of pride that keeps some very poor people from becoming pauperized even though they are forced to accept charity. And surely we should be sympathetic with the struggle that goes on inside the sensitive soul that's reduced to charity.

You might follow the example of a friend of mine who sends a monthly sum to an organization that is expended on a neighbor who is too proud to accept money from a personal friend. If you don't want credit, but merely want to share your wealth with an old acquaintance who is in need, this will be a fine way out for you. She will then have the comforts your money buys without that embarrassment of accepting your gifts and without the fear that mutual friends may learn the facts.

There are all sorts of ways of sharing what we have with the unfortunate and it takes just as much tact and delicacy to give graciously as it does to accept graciously. I shall never forget hearing a reduced lady say that a certain person had been very generous toward her but that she was made to feel like a beggar and a pauper with every gift; not that the friend didn't mean well but that her patronizing manner was offensive. And of course the generous one was patting herself on the back all the while and probab-

WELFARE COUNCIL URGES CONFERENCE ON PLIGHT OF MIGRANTS IN CANADA

OTTAWA, Jan. 26 (CP)—A Dominion-provincial conference to draft a cooperative program for dealing with the problem of destitute non-residents and migrants was urged upon the Dominion government today by a broadly representative committee of the Canadian welfare council which has just completed a two-day study of the situation.

Keynote of the submission was the committee's insistence that no person with established residence in any province or local area should lose that residence until he had established residence elsewhere. The principle was held fundamental to any assistance plan in a federal state.

PITY THE POOR GANGSTER

In contemplating the gang conditions in Toronto, and probably more particularly the "rubbing out" of a gangster, presumably by decree of a rival gang, the Toronto Globe and Mail moralizes on the ultimate fate of gang leaders, and finds it in its heart to wipe away a tear for dear old Al Capone.

Its little homily is as follows:

"Gang operations in Toronto recall the fate of Al Capone, Chicago's former underworld master mind, a man who ruled supreme from 1925 till his overthrow and conviction in 1931. Then the man accustomed to ruling by terrorism, who had accumulated great wealth, became merely a numbered inmate of a penitentiary.

"For good behavior, and on payment of the final $20,000 of a $50,000 fine, Capone may be released in November of this year; but what's the use? Knowledge that enemies await his reappearance as a free man has preyed on his mind so constantly and to such an extent that he is reported to be on the verge of complete insanity. Fear has hastened the progress of paresis, and he is partially paralyzed physically.

"This is a pitiful picture of a once-dominant figure among Chicago's criminals. Capone's rule was merciless, and his rivals in gangster methods have not forgotten that. The first objective of the gang when 'double-crossed' is to get even, and none knows that better than the former swaggering 'Scarface.'

"Al Capone's offenses were great, but so has been his physical and mental punishment. Now freedom has no charm for him. Embryo gangsters and those embarking on any kind of crime should dwell a while on the fate of Al Capone. They will find in it a solemn lesson—the old warning that crime doesn't pay.

The trouble with the moral drawn by the Globe and Mail is that its facts are wrong.

Al Capone's detention in prison was not in punishment for his life of crime.

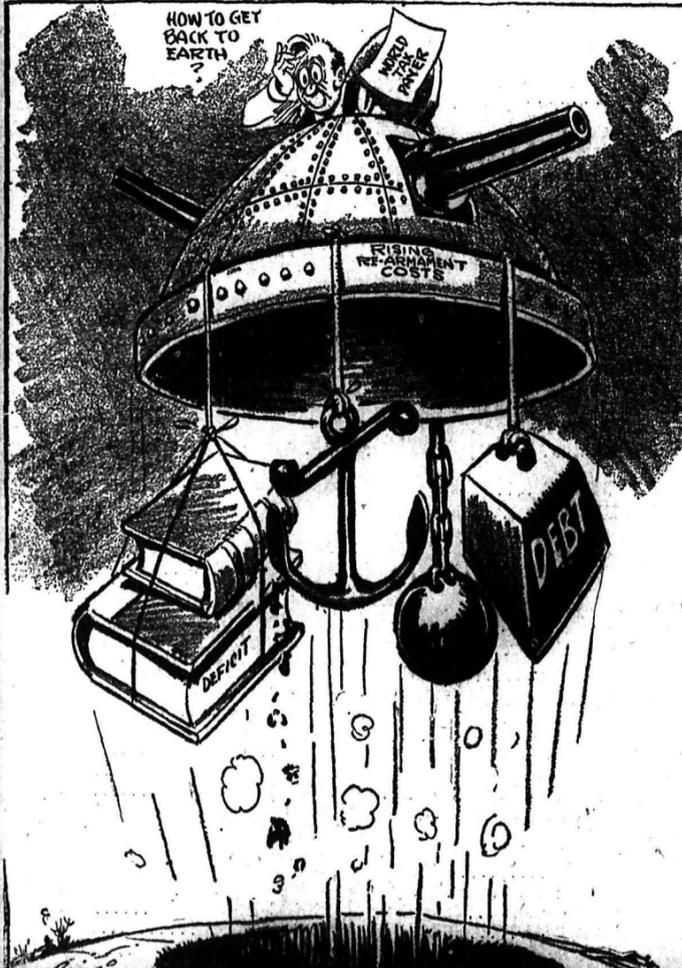

It is generally accepted that many men were slain at his orders, yet he was never brought into court for murder.

He was a boss racketeer—the boss of them all—but his crimes of violence against property and persons, against the rights of others, did not land him in court.

He was brought into court because his statements of income, which he had paid the best experts to make out for him, did not satisfy the United States treasury department, and his technical violation of the federal income tax law was seized on to retire him from circulation. In that respect he had lots of company.

With the efforts of the good Toronto paper to rid Toronto of gangsters, everyone will have sympathy. But it would seem to be sheer sentimentalism to shudder at the mental terror suffered by a gangster who has given other gangsters reason to hate him, and overlook the mental terror suffered by the innumerable victims of his lawless depredations, often enforced with violence of the most despicable kind.

Those who differ most from the opinions of their fellow-men are the most confident of the truth of their own.—Mackintosh.

Contract Bridge

Shepard Barclay Tells How to Bid and Play

TAKE A DEEP BREATH ABOUT KINGS. South next bid 5-No trump to ask about kings. West interrupted this with 6-Spades, whereupon North revealed two kings with 7-Clubs, as 6-No trump would have shown one and a pass none. South then chose 7-No trump as the contract. The spade lead was won by the 9. South then ran five diamonds and led to the heart K. West's bidding had indicated six spades and five clubs, and he had shown two aces. East therefore held all the other hearts. So the heart 6 was finessed successfully when East failed to cover, and the contract was made, with four tricks in hearts, three in spades, five in diamonds and one in clubs.

Here was one time that a player gave too accurate a count of his hand during the bidding. After South's 3-Diamond, West bid 1-Spade, North 2-Hearts, South 3-Hearts, West 4-Clubs, North 4-Diamonds and South now invited slam with the Blackwood convention bid of 4-No trump, asking his partner about aces. West cut in with 5-Clubs, but North managed to show his two aces with 6-Hearts, since 5-Diamonds would have shown one and a pass would have shown none.

"We Pew-Owners Can't Be Sinners"
A good story told by the late Rev. Dr. Elwood Worcester, for many years beloved rector of Emmanuel Church, Boston, dated back to the time when he was in charge of the fashionable church of St. Stephens, Philadelphia. One Sunday morning, soon after he went to St. Stephens, Dr. Worcester preached on sin.
"After the service," related Dr. Worcester, "an elderly lady, one of the pillars of Philadelphia society, entered my study very indignant and angry.
"She said, 'I hope that as long as you are in this church you will never preach on that subject again.' I asked her why not, and she said, 'you have lived in Philadelphia only a short time and you can't be expected to know everything, but I want you to understand that the members of St. Stephens are not sinners.' She must have seen me smile, for she added in an appreciative manner, 'Of course, I mean the regular pew owners.'"

When the Viceroxy Enjoyed a Penny Bun

In days gone by, long before the World War, John Buchanan, Lord Tweedsmuir, was one of the editors of that famous English weekly, the "Spectator."
"If you look up the brain of the nation by Charles Graves, you will find among the witty and humorous poems in that volume a complete biography of Buchanan in neat and lively verse, telling how he came up to London from Oxford, went to South Africa as Lord Milner's private secretary, returned to England and became a familiar figure in the Spectator's old offices in Wellington Street,—just off London's Strand.

"Every Tuesday morn careering Up the stairs with flying feet, You'd burst in upon us, cheering Wellington's funeral street...
Pundit, publicist and jurist; Statistician and divine; Mystic, mountaineer, and purist In the high financial line; Prince of journalists sprinters—Swiftest that I ever knew— Never did you keep the printers Longer than an hour or two.

Then, too, when the final stages Of our weekly task drew nigh, You would come and pass the pages With a magisterial eye, Seldon pausing, save to smoke a Cigarette at half past one. When you quaffed a cup of Mocha And devoured a penny bun."

A Story and a Moral, but No End
A very bad habit of many salesmen—including myself—is breaking in on what their prospect is saying, either to refute something said, or to help him. They want to take an oar from the hand of the oarsman, rather than let him do all the rowing himself. The right idea is to let the prospect say what he wants to say—until he begins repeating himself or begins to get away from the subject.

All this is a preface to this story. I met a friend on the street and we interchanged compliments on our healthful appearance. This led to an exchange of information about our sleeping habits. Harry said that for 25 years he had been trying to persuade himself that two swigs of Scotch just before going to bed was a sleep inducer. I interjected, "I hope that you have not discontinued the habit!" and Harry went on, and again I interrupted, "Probably you are trying to finish the experiment?" Then Harry said, with heat, "I am trying to finish the 3—d— sentence." Thus rebuked I remained silent until the end.—John C. Kirkwood in Marketing.

And were you thinking so much of what you wanted to say that you did not hear the conclusion of the story. Hundreds of readers want to know, and hopefully, if the medicine should be so taken.

TWEED, Ont. (CP)—One farmer lost 24 sheep in the raid of a wolf pack that has worried the flocks of many of the farmers of this eastern

What the Press is Saying

ANALYSIS NEEDED
The public is so used by now to the dire warnings about "millions and billions" in Canada, for example that they lose significance; the national debt is almost an abstraction to the majority. Nor have some of the revelations made of outrageous extravagance caused more than a temporary political stir. Governments naturally like to maintain this condition. They like to use the "millions and billions" in loose talk about what they are going to do to balance the budget, and in denunciations of the financial orgies of their opponents. It was a good game at one time—like other effective bromides of the hustings—but what is needed now is more of the searchlight in analysis.—Hamilton Spectator.

SENATE IMPORTANT
We regard it as vitally important for the preservation of democracy in Canada that the senate should not only perform its share of the task of legislation, but should also enjoy its share of the prestige properly belonging to a legislative body.—Toronto Saturday Night.

10,000 Ducks to Pass South Through the Port of Kingsgate

By H. J. HOGG, Customs Officer

During a year strange and varied are the cargoes that pass through a customs port. (It is strange how the tang of the sea persists in clinging to customs work) although this Eastport-Kingsgate port lies deep in a gap in the mountains and the sea is the thing about farthest from ones thoughts, yet the words, port and entry, cargo and manifest, landing and shipment are every day words of speech. But to return to our cargoes.

Hides and live cattle, cattle of all kinds for slaughter, prize thoroughbred cattle for breeding purposes, from their summer haunts flying to the sunny waters of the south.

FIRST SHIPMENT ON WAY
This winter owing to exceptionally mild weather the birds lingered on and on until the season of the migratory urge was passed, and they settled down for the winter. A real sudden below zero snap froze the lakes, marshes and sloughs, and the bewildered birds were deprived of all means of food and water. While it would, with great effort be possible to feed the thousands of birds, there is no means of providing them with the necessary water, and they were doomed to death by starvation and thirst, and so the ducks are being captured in wire cages and will be shipped through the port here en route for Seattle. There is already a shipment of 500 under way.

DUCKS, UNLIMITED
Their funds however were not available for Canada, where around 85 per cent of the breeding grounds are, so a company called "Ducks Unlimited" was formed, and funds to the amount of $200,000 raised by hunters in the United States and Canada. This company has stations in 38 states, with Lewis H. Egan, St. Louis, as president; E. Herrick Low, New York, secretary; and Fred H. Ecker as treasurer. The Canadian branch has its headquarters in Winnipeg, and is known as "Ducks Unlimited (Canada)". Thomas C. Main of that city is general manager. As Mr. Main explains, "The draining of small lakes and marsh lands about 20 years ago during the wheat boom had gradually destroyed the duck farrier and farther north into the waste lands. This year when the ducks did not migrate at the usual time, they seemed to lose all sense of direction, and began to scatter, mostly westward. Unless they can be taken south, thousands upon thousands will be wiped out. Our greatest difficulty is in providing transportation, but it can be done."
So this year, instead of seeing the great V-shaped flights of ducks heading through the mountain passes for the sunlit open waters of the south, there will be truck after truck roaring over the ice-encrusted roads, each with its load of wire cages and hardy mallards or when the deep green and mangled earth.
Warm cherished every flower's birth
And joy and music pouring forth
In every grove.
I saw thee seek the sounding shore,
Delighted with the dashing roar,
Or when the north his fleecy store
Drove through the sky.
When the deep green and mangled earth
Warm cherished every flower's birth
And joy and music pouring forth
In every grove.
With boundless love.

BURNS AS APPRAISED BY STAFFORD BROOKE

Burns was essentially the creator of his own lands. With regard to the poetry of Nature he only carried on in a more vivid and tender way, and on precisely the same sort of natural description which had been worked by the Scottish poets from the time they began to write. He restored passion to our poetry. It had not belonged to it for a long period, so when the fire broke out again in Burns, it was like a new revelation and since his time our poetry has not only been the poetry of man and of Nature, but also of passion, and it sprang clean and clear out of the natural soil of a wild heart, not out of a cultivated garden.

Being himself poor, following his plough along the mountainside and having in him a heart to enjoy and love all beauty and being insensibly influenced by the spirit of the time, he threw into tender and humorous song, the sorrows and affections of his own class, the religion and the passions, the amusements and the toil, and all the world laughed and wept with the Ayshire ploughman. His tender heart felt the sensations of the life of the poor not only brought the rich and comfortable near to the poor and struggling, and brought both on the common platform of humanity, but it also made the poor themselves contented and in love with life by bringing out the nobility and beauty of the simple human passion, and of the common working life of man.

He preached a crusade against the selfishness of the rich, but he did not wish the poor to become as the rich. "Keep to your own life" he said to them, learn to live it, to live it truly and honestly, to recognize in it the dignity of man, to rejoice in its hardy independence, in its simple but deep emotions.

EQUALITY OF MAN
Nor was all this without a religious basis. It was connected in the mind of Burns with the thought of God as the father of the poor of God as ever the universal Father, before whom each man stood, stripped of wealth, of rank, of outward show. And this God, in the poet's mind, was love and the source of all love was in Him. On the other hand, God's love for man would make Him indignant with those who oppressed the weak or injured the poor.
And the poems of Burns are full of this indignation. Not all the rage of wind and bitter frost are more unkind, he says, than the miseries that heaven illumined man on brother man bestows.
But there was another human element in his poetry—his strong nationality. He kept himself throughout to Scottish subjects; his scenery is entirely Scottish, his love of liberty concentrates itself round Scottish struggles, his music is wholly untravelled. Nor have we any reason to regret it, for if Burns had been more universal, we should have lost him. He could not have built a loftier rhyme than his own rustic national one, and he knew that well.
Passing on to his nature poetry we find intense love of Nature, and accuracy of description; milk white thorn, cornfields, running rivers, condition of the sea, with a special love for spring and winter. Within this range his writing is exquisitely true and tender. The sentiment of it is perfect. Never exaggerated, it is the natural and

ROSSLAND SKI SLANTS

By "SNOW FLEURY"

ROSSLAND, B. C., Jan. 26.—Far into the night, the big exhibition in skiing, jumping and slalom continued Wednesday as 200 skiers from Trail and Rossland hummed and milled around the foot-hill field of the Rossland Ski club in the Rossland reservoir area . . .

This was the largest affair of its kind held at the cabin this season and it is expected more will follow . . . The club property was thrown open to the public and the numbers that turned out to see the exhibitionists were encouraging . . .

Jumpers from both cities made away with the big and little jumps. Bill Forrest, Neil Mattson, Osborne Parker, Trig Norton, Johnson and Egar Jensen of Rossland pleased the crowd with exhibition jumps. Distances jumped ranged around 75 feet . . .

Bob Smith of Trail and Garth Beley of Rossland majored on the slalom hill . . . The evening was concluded with dining in the cabin. Music was furnished by Allan Duclos and Bud Piper. Hot dogs and coffee were sold . . .

CURLERS PUNCTUATE DINNER AND TOAST LIST WITH SONG "HAIL, HAIL"

Raffers Ring Annual Banquet; Greetings Are Extended

Curlers attending the B. C. Curling association banquet and a small army of well wishers made the night of the civic centre hall ring with merriment Thursday night at the banquet accompanying the B. C. bonspiel, "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here," sung with and without bagpipe accompaniment, punctuated the dinner and the toast list. Alderman Roy Sharp of Nelson, president of the B. C. association for the past year, was chairman . . .

Highlight of the evening was the presentation to L. F. (Link) Tyson, veteran Trail curler who in 28 years has missed only one of the B. C. curling events, a broom painted in Trail colors and gaily "hatted" and "kilted" in plaid. In making the presentation Chairman Sharp stated it was from Mr. Tyson's third in an endeavor to assure that the skip would have a broom and be able to get the broom. Mr. Tyson's reply was told in stories and in recollections of curlers of earlier days who had "gone on." F. J. Glover is his third . . .

Nelson string orchestra, directed by Mrs. G. Webb Foster, provided musical background for the banquet . . .

Mirth provoking tap dances were offered by Brian Horstead and Gilbert Goucher, impersonating male and female negro dancers . . .

SEND GREETINGS

George Horstead, secretary, read a telegram from William Lindsay of Kimberley, B.C., president of the curlers to miss the bonspiel at Kimberley next year, for they would "certainly have a good time there." . . .

"The B. C. Curling association" was proposed by Alderman A. G. Ritchie in a poem by Robert Main, "So Here's to the Game." The association was vital to the progress of the game in British Columbia, he asserted . . .

INVITATION TO KIMBERLEY

H. R. Banks of Kimberley, responding, brought the good wishes of the new president, "Bonspiel" was from two words, the French "bon," and the German "spielen," meaning "good" and "to play." Those taking part in such sports as curling were doing more for the world, he declared, than those "making a living out of shot and shell." . . .

Receipts Nelson Street Railway $15,941 in Past Year; Operating Cost $25,995; Replacement Vital

Continues Repairs Extensive Potter Reports

LOWEST REVENUE KNOWN, CANADA

Receipts aggregating $15,941.85, and operating costs totaling $25,995.51 are shown in the annual report of the Nelson street railway department, now before the city council for consideration. Operating costs were $23,955.55 under the 1937 figure, and receipts were down $4,045.50.

Reaction in operation costs went to keeping maintenance down, pending a decision by the city council on the future of the system. Substitution of buses has been proposed.

Presenting the report to the city council, R. E. Potter, city engineer, stated 1938 receipts represented a passenger revenue of 4.27 cents, lower than any other street railway in Canada.

The report follows: "During the year 1938 a continual study of the transportation problem of the city was carried on. The problem presents itself in the form of an income of approximately $16,000 per year and an operation cost of $22,500 per year, not including electric power worth $6,000 at one cent per kilowatt hour, or interest and sinking fund on any of the investment, nor replacement allowances.

REPLACEMENT NECESSARY "While these same conditions have been present for years, we have at last reached the point where a great deal of the steel rail has to be replaced. This study culminated in a report by the transportation committee—recommending that a gasoline bus service be substituted for the present service; at least for the next six years, or the life of one set of buses, when a re-survey of conditions might indicate that trolley buses would be desirable. It was the opinion of the committee that the street car was not the best solution for transportation in Nelson.

During 1938 the total passengers carried were 378,730 and the total revenue $15,941.85, showing a passenger revenue of 4.27 cents. This is much lower than any other street railway revenue in Canada. A comparison of some is as follows:

Brantford	5.4
B. C. Electric	6.57
Calgary	7.5
Cape Breton Trams	7
Edmonton	5.28
Halifax	5.5
Hamilton	6.17
Winnipeg	6.87

We believe this passenger fare is too low, and that a readjustment should take place. The present school tickets lead to the abuse of everyone up to young adults using a 2 1/2 cent ticket any time of the day.

The present power plant and substation are working at full capacity and the year's program cannot be laid out unless the question of the future of the street railway is settled.

REPLACE OR REBUILD "If the City of Nelson retains the street car system indefinitely, the cars should be rebuilt or replaced with modern one-man cars, and the whole system rebuilt to a good standard. The existing track should be located in the centre of the loop on Vernon and Josephine streets, or farther east if the track is extended to serve the Civic Centre.

To replace the worn steel on the curves and Nelson avenue, and the frogs and switches of the turnout, this will require $11,000 of material during this year, with an additional $60,000 for the estimate for the year $71,000, not including salaries.

The year's operations were generally satisfactory. The foreman, Mr. Hall, is to be commended for the excellent care taken of the equipment and the fine record of the system in spite of the general age and condition of much of the equipment. Each car and the swapper have been overhauled and a complete report on their maintenance is attached to the office copy of this report.

Industrials and Metals Take Big Decline—Toronto

TORONTO, Jan. 26 (CP).—The Toronto stock market worried itself into another wide decline today and at early afternoon there was no indication of a rally on the horizon. Losses of more than three points in the indices were showing at noon for the industrial and both mining groups. Western oils were down nearly two points.

Reasons for the nervous selling could be found only in the anxiety felt over the situation in Europe with the Gulf between France and Italy widening. Losses up to $4 were boarded among industrials and in the base metal group, Noranda and Smelters led the decline with losses of $3 to $3.50 and Nickel trailed with a drop of $2.

Calgary, Edmonton and Okalta were off 5 to 1 cent. Massey-Harris pfd. and National Car declined $3.00 to $4.

Selling Continues as Stocks Slip TORONTO, Jan. 26 (CP).—Disturbing nature of European news brought out selling that knocked down stock values on Toronto exchange today. A few issues came back slightly from their lows.

Page-Hersey Steel at 96 was down 6. National Steel Car and Steel of Canada had losses of 3 at 50 1/2 and 68. Massey-Harris preferred lost 2 1/2 to 42. Losses in the big oils ranged to 4 for International Pet.

Smelters moved down 4 1/2 to 46 1/2 and Noranda slipped 4 1/2 to 70 1/2. Nickel ended 1 1/2 to 40 1/2. Spikes 60, Hudson Bay, Bend Orella, Sherritt Gordon, Sudbury Basin and Ventures lost ground. Eldorado Silver was 6 lower at 1.69 but mining corporation firmed 4 to 1.74.

WHEAT PRICE SLIPS CHICAGO, Jan. 26 (AP).—The wheat market demonstrated again today its inability to hold a price upward much above 70 cents a bushel for grain deliverable early in the summer.

A 1/2 cent upturn that put quotations close to their best level in almost six months attracted increased selling after mid-session. Prices slid a full cent from early highs and closed at small fractional net losses.

Weakness in securities as well as profit taking resulted in some liquidation by discouraged owners. Wheat closed unchanged to 1/2 lower than yesterday, May and July 68 1/2 to 1/2; corn unchanged to 1/2 down, May 5 1/2; July 5 1/2; oats 1/2 to 1/4 lower.

Second Hour Sales Wave, Wall Street

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 (AP).—Stocks attracted late support in today's market, after taking a bad beating in the early part of the proceedings, but again turned downward at the close.

The list was swept by a selling wave in the second hour that toppled leaders 1 to 5 points. At the worst the Associated Press average broke to the lowest levels since last September. Transfers were around 1,600,000 shares.

Extension of the reverse slide was attributed by Wall Street partly to "an accumulation of speculative uneasiness over foreign happenings and more doubts regarding the course of domestic business and the congressional program."

Aircraft, buoyed by thoughts by larger overseas orders for war planes, on which there is a much wider margin of profit than on domestic army and navy contracts, had their rallying moments, but most failed to hold.

Among conspicuous share losers were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, Western Union, American Smelting, Westinghouse, Du Pont, Allied Chemical, Johns-Manville, Santa Fe, Great Northern, Air-Reduction and Texas Corp.

Bonds retreated with stocks and most commodities were in arrears. The Holland guilder was under pressure in terms of the dollar, but sterling and the French franc were about even, the former at $4.87 1/2 and the latter at 2.64 cents.

Prices Reach Last Fall Low Record MONTREAL, Jan. 26 (CP).—Prices tumbled rapidly today in the heaviest stock market selling since the collapse of last September.

Noranda fell 3 1/2 to around 7 1/2 while Smelters showed a two-point drop around 68. Nickel lost more than a point while Hudson Bay gave up 1/2.

McCull Frontenac oil worked a bit higher while Imperial and International Pet gave ground.

Shawinigan W. & P. Revenues Off 1938 MONTREAL, Jan. 26 (CP).—Decrease of $381,143 was reported today by Shawinigan Water & Power company in gross revenues of $14,388,000 for the year ended last Dec. 31, compared with $14,769,143 in the preceding fiscal year. Net profits were equivalent to $1.21 a share compared with $1.34 in 1937.

Siscoe Gold Profit $946,691 for 1938 OTTAWA, Jan. 26 (CP).—A preliminary profit and loss account of Siscoe Gold Mines, limited, for the fiscal year ended Dec. 31, 1938, today showed profit of $946,691, 20 cents a share, compared with $1,288,802, or 27 cents a share in 1937.

MORE ABOUT EARTHQUAKE
Broken communications systems and the immensity of the catastrophe prevented accurate and comprehensive compilations of the death and destruction which reached from Valparaiso, north of Santiago, to Valdivia, 250 miles south.
In Chillan, a city of 40,000 where the disaster was worst of all, many bodies remained to be disposed of, though efforts at hurried burial had been made by workers digging trenches in several streets about the town plaza. The town was almost destroyed.
Lack of doctors, medical supplies and sanitary facilities increased the danger of disease.

PRESIDENT AT SCENE
President Pedro Aguirre Cerda, who took office only a month ago as the first Popular Front president in South America, personally visited the scene today and sought to organize relief measures.
Two trainloads of trucks, motor cars and tractors were sent to the quake area, while 100 doctors, with nurses, food, medical supplies and sanitary equipment were rushed forward on a third relief train.
Authorities in the stricken zone requisitioned automobiles and trucks to clear away debris, and to convey the dead and the injured.
Seven hundred carabinieri were sent from Santiago to do police duty. The army began installing a special radio station at Concepcion.
Aviators and others who visited the area, flying in doctors, supplies and officials, returned with stories of indescribable havoc, especially at Chillan.
In Santiago an endless stream of men, women and children visited radio stations all day and night inquiring for friends and relatives in the quake district.

MORE ABOUT SPANISH WAR
Many among Barcelona's war-weary population of nearly 1,500,000 persons cheered the insurgents' victory in the semi-circular siege lines on the inland side of Barcelona had cut off retreat during the two days the insurgents maneuvered for a mass penetration of the city.
Peace of a sort came to Barcelona, but the war still raged along the edge of the northeastern Catalan zone where the government had chosen to defend.
FUGUERAS BOMBED
FUGUERAS, some 60 miles northwest of Barcelona, new seat of several of the government ministries, was moved when the insurgents laid siege to Barcelona.
As pictured by insurgent dispatches reaching the French border, the occupation of Barcelona had a companion highlight in the distribution of large stores of food which had been transported in the wake of the offensive across Catalonia.
Barcelona had been on war rations for months.
But the occupation of the city brought little pause in the offensive which Franco started across Catalonia from a line 80 miles inland on Dec. 23.
The generalissimo sent the bulk of his armies in pursuit of the government troops.
They had chosen to relinquish their capital and greatest industrial centre without the hand-to-hand struggle threatened at the 11th hour by the government radio station.
Battered by bomb and shell, Barcelona fell sally. At noon the last chunk in Franco's arc of siege had been filled and the command was given for the besiegers to converge on the heart of the city.
The metropolis was gay with the red and gold banners of insurgent Spain when the insurgents took over. The flag, the old monarchical colors, had been hastily hung from windows and balconies.
The troops took their posts throughout the city. An insurgent government took office. The high command ordered all workers to return to their regular employment tomorrow.
Gas, electricity and water services shut off or curtailed several days ago were being restored.
Insurgent supply trucks brought about 1,765,000 pounds of bananas, 600 cases of condensed milk and 200,000 portions of meat, said advices from the captured city.

Public Will Select Little Theatre Play for Drama Festival
The Nelson Little Theatre has in rehearsal four one-act plays, and from these one will be chosen to represent the association at the coming Drama Festival. It would be very difficult for judges chosen from the Little Theatre to select one play out of the four, so the Little Theatre has called on the general public to act as adjudicators and to choose the play, the actor and the actress they like best and to make additional comments about each production. Special forms have been printed for this purpose.
Tonight two of the four plays will be presented at the junior high school auditorium free of charge for all who are interested. Later, in the early part of February the other two will be put on in the same place. A good attendance is expected at both performances.
The four plays are widely varied in theme and each offers something different in dramatic entertainment. They range from light comedy to stirring tragedy, and the performances should be well worth attending.
