Italians May Not Be First to Make Move

Official Warns British May Strike; Enemy Moves May Be Designed to Halt British Penetrations; Casualties High

By LARRY ALLEN—Associated Press Staff Writer

CAIRO, Sept. 13 (AP)—A British official statement said today that the Italian attack in the Middle East "may come at any time but we are well prepared for anything."

Giving a hint, however, that the British forces may attack first, a spokesman said: "It is surprising that it is so constantly assumed that only the Italians are preparing for an offensive."

The British Command in Egypt was stated to be fully ready in face of the reported "thickening up" of Italian forces on the Egypt-Libyan frontier.

The possibility was raised that Italy is tightening her Libyan forces against frequent British thrusts into Libya which "consistently have caused the enemy casualties in men and material."

The statement said:

"Certain enemy movements from a short distance inside Libya in an Easterly direction toward the Libyan frontier have been observed.

"These movements were of infantry with some armored fighting vehicles and a considerable amount of motor transport, constituting a general thickening up of enemy forces on the Libyan-Egypt frontier but they do not indicate the Italians have mounted their attack.

"The moving up of a unit which has been seen is a very different thing from collecting of effective for a direct attack. In fact these enemy concentrations may well be designed to prevent continued penetration of Italian territory by our own light units—penetration which might be described as a running sore—which has consistently caused the enemy casualties in men and material.

"In the Sudan similar movements and concentrations of enemy forces are reported from Kassala which they might use as a base for extension of their small penetration into the Sudan (from Eritrea)."

The statement also said there had been talk of a possible third Italian attack from the Southeast corner of Libya across 400 miles of Desert toward Wadi Halfa in the extreme North of the Sudan. Such an advance would, however, only be one of several possible diversionary movements which could be undertaken by minor enemy forces.

The Egyptian newspaper Almo Kattam predicted "sensational developements in North Africa" as a result of a reported French refusal to comply with Italian demands made at the armistice conference in Weisbaden, Germany.

(French Tunis, Algeria and Morocco are in North Africa).

This paper, in close touch with Syria, also reported great dissatisfaction among the French forces there, many of whom it said are ready to join in free French committee of Gen. Charles de Gaulle in London in order to prevent further cession of territory to Italy.

NAIROBI, Kenya Colony, Sept. 13 (CP).—The British communique issued Friday night:

"One of our detachments again attacked the enemy successfully at Wal Quaris and drove them from their positions, inflicting casualties and capturing prisoners. Our casualties were again slight."

Nazis Have Tried Invasion Already U.S. Doctor Claims

NEW YORK, Sept. 13 (CP)—The Associated Press today carried a dispatch from Jersey City, N.J., quoting Dr. Charles F. Bove, who was head surgeon of the American Hospital in Paris, as saying that the Germans already have attempted to invade England several times at different points and each time have failed.

The despatch added that Dr Bove said he knew of the invasion attempts from personal observation and talking to responsible sources. "I know it's true," he was quoted as saying.

Dr. Bove added that the Germans are practising "for invasion" all along the French coast, soldiers being sent out on ships and made to leap overboard and swim "considerable distances" with all their equipment, the despatch went on.

The dispatch quoted Dr. Bove as saying he had sighted "hundreds of German bodies in the waters near Cherbourg, France," but he could not explain this since Cherbourg is not near the scene of the reported troop manoeuvres.

LONDON, Sept. 13 (CP Cable)—A military source stated today that there has been "absolutely no attempt at invasion in any size, shape or form," in commenting upon a New York report in which Dr. Charles F. Bove was quoted as stating that the Germans had tried to invade Britain several times.

Late Flashes

BERLIN, Sept. 13 (AP). — Germany acknowledged tonight the receipt of notice from Russia that the Soviet would expect to participate hereafter in regulating matters concerning navigation of the Danube River.

BERLIN, Sept. 14 (Saturday)—(AP).—An authorized spokesman said early today German bombs dropped "in the vicinity of Buckingham Palace" yesterday were aimed at oil storage tanks.

(This statement was scoffed at abroad. The palace stands — a clear target—amid the beautiful acres of St. James' Park).

$58,000,000 Left to Complete Loan

OTTAWA, Sept. 13 (CP).—Cash subscriptions to Canada's second war loan amounted to $242,100,000 tonight, according to preliminary figures announced by loan headquarters. This leaves $57,900,000 to be obtained before the $300,000,000 objective is reached. The total on Thursday night was $223,129,600.

A special drive is continuing by investment dealers, banks and brokers to secure a greater proportion of subscriptions from individual subscribers.

In the first war loan last January, private subscribers took up 66.6 per cent of the $200,000,000 issue but total subscriptions from these sources represent less than 50 per cent of the subscriptions received in the second war loan, it is stated.

Brokers and dealers across the country continued to report many previous subscribers returning to increase their orders.

OTTAWA, Sept. 13 (CP). — Further contributions to the $300,000,000 Canadian second war loan announced tonight by the Bank of Canada included:

British Columbia: Island Mountain Mines Co. Ltd., Vancouver, $50,000; Pacific Nickel Mines Ltd., Vancouver, $25,000.

Rumania Faces Stiffer Decrees

BUCHAREST, Sept. 14 (Saturday)—(AP).—Premier Ion Antonescu, in decrees seen as intended to facilitate his announced determination to run Rumania without interference from any political group, provided today that State Commissioners of "ethnically pure" Rumania stock would supervise all commercial and industrial concerns.

Other decrees calling for an "economic national defence" provided severe punishment for "economic sabotage," for price increases or kindred acts.

A Hungarian broadcast received by the National Broadcasting Company in New York said Antonescu had uncovered a projected "putsch" by the Iron Guard and had freed various anti-Iron Guard extremists to work against it.

KOLOSZVAR, (Cluj), Hungary, Sept. 13 (AP).—Scattered disturbances in which shots were exchanged were reported today as the Hungarian army completed occupation of Rumanian-ceded Northern Transylvania.

Urges Churches to Maintain Activities

STRATFORD, Ont., Sept. 13 (CP)—A. H. Cuttle of Toronto said today in a speech before the general synod of the Church of England in Canada that for churches to lessen their activities during the present crisis would be similar to a hospital closing down in a time of epidemic.

Beaverbrook Praises Aircraft Employees

LONDON, Sept. 13 (CP Cable)—Devotion to the nation of the employees of aircraft factories and engine works who remained on their jobs despite air raid warnings during the last week will make a new and splendid chapter in the history of British courage," Lord Beaverbrook, Minister for Aircraft Production, declared in a statement tonight.

The Minister thanked the workers for their "remarkable demonstration of fortitude and endurance" and said his Ministry will continue its exertions to make factories safe and provide protection against bombs and blasts.

Nearly Two Inches of Rain in Cranbrook

CRANBROOK, B. C., Sept. 13 (CP).—Cranbrook has had almost two inches of rain since the first of the month, effectively ending the forest fire menace and promoting plant growth.

The third alfalfa crops are well up.

No frost has been recorded here although spot frosts have occurred in the district, and the nights are becoming colder.

Civilian Training Corps Will Be Formed in Nelson; Hoover Heads Committee to Plan Organization

Decision to form a civilian training corps in Nelson to provide preliminary military training, was made by a group of Nelson citizens meeting at the City Hall Friday night. To arrange details of organization and to outline the course to be taken, a committee of six was named consisting of G. A. Hoover, John Fleury, Robert Foxall, R. W. Dawson, F. T. Griffiths and Arthur Collinson. This committee subsequently named Mr. Hoover Chairman and Mr. Fleury Secretary.

Militia Unit Later Is Hope Expressed by Meeting

Executive officers of Nelson Branch of the Canadian Legion outlined their efforts to initiate some sort of military training, and several speakers emphasized their hope that a Non-Permanent Active Militia unit would be organized.

MEN WANT TRAINING

But the meeting generally was enthusiastically inclined toward a civilian group immediately, and ultimately a militia unit if possible. It was agreed that whether or not a militia unit was likely, there was nothing to prevent civilians getting together and drilling; and that there was an active demand in the city for something of this nature.

The enthusiasm and progress of Trail and Rossland civilian groups, their rapidly acquired smartness and their willingness to cooperate with Nelson, were described by members of the audience who recently visited these cities.

AFFILIATION POSSIBLE

It was also suggested that it might be possible to form a militi unit in association with established Coast or Interior Battalions, should this be found desirable.

Establishment of a militia unit at which men could train would eliminate the necessity of attending the 30-day compulsory training courses to begin next month, it was pointed out.

School teachers who took military training courses at the Coast this Summer in preparation for cadet work in schools offered their assistance in drilling men.

Rev. Freney Named Hospitals Director in Nelson Diocese

In his new post, Rev. Freney represents Most Rev Martin M Johnson, Bishop of Nelson, in the Catholic Hospitals Association of the United States and Canada and in the newly organized B. C. unit of the Association.

Gardiner Names New War Heads

OTTAWA, Sept. 13 (CP)—Describing further organization of his Department into four main divisions Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Minister of National War Services today announced appointment of Dr. Ernest William Stapleford of Victoria College, University of Toronto, as Director of Voluntary Services.

Mr. Gardiner also announced the appointment of Dr. Hugh Herbert Christie of Esterhazy, Sask., as supervisor of military training medical services. Dr. Christie is a past president of the Medical Association of Saskatchewan and representative for that Province on the Medical Council of Canada.

Lt. George R. G. Benoit, Secretary to Major General L. R. Lafleche, Associate Deputy Minister of the Department was appointed supervisor of recruiting for military training. He is former head translator in the Senate and accompanied Gen. Lafleche to Paris early in the war when the latter was military attache at the Canadian legation there.

There will be four main divisions in the Department, voluntary services, which will be headed by Dr Stapleford, material resources, human resources and publicity. Appointments to the other three will be announced shortly.

Heavy Firing Heard Across English Channel

LE HAVRE, GREAT HARBOR, BOMBED

DOVER, Sept. 14 (Saturday) (CP)—Continuous flashes of anti-aircraft fire rose early today from the German-occupied French coast across the English Channel, indicating a renewed British aerial bombardment of Nazi artillery emplacements.

The firing appeared particularly intense in the vicinity of Cap Gris Nez, from which German guns have repeatedly shelled the Dover area.

A brilliant pillar of flame shot high in the air.

LONDON, Sept. 14 (Saturday) (CP)—Le Havre, France's great harbor, once port of call of the world's greatest liners, was blasted Friday by Royal Air Force bombers, seeking out at their source German concentrations for a possible attempt to invade Britain.

Principal target at Le Havre was enemy shipping, and at least one tanker and a supply ship were hit.

A pillar of flame shot high in the air, indicating a British missile had found a target, possibly an ammunition dump. The German fire upon the British planes was particularly intense in the vicinity of Cap Gris Nez.

Earlier this week the bombers struck repeatedly at Boulogne, Calais and Dunkerque, Channel ports nearest to Britain, aiming particularly at dislocation of enemy ships and supplies in order to disorganize all invasion preparations.

Although an Air Ministry communication made no mention of a British raid on Essen, great munitions centre in Germany, the German communique acknowledged it had been raided. The German command claimed damage was minimum.

The Air Ministry told of raids on "key distribution centres" at Osnabruck, Hamm, Schwerte, Ehrang and Brussels.

Also raided were several German airdromes and the Norderney seaplane base.

Hit in these key centres, said the Ministry, was a network of railway junctions and freight yards in Western Germany "which must play an important part in any attempted invasion of Britain."

Docks, shipping and oil reservoirs at Emden and docks at Flushing in the Netherlands were raided and fires and explosions followed as the R.A.F. unloaded their bombs.

Referring to the key points bombed the Air Ministry said:

"Troops, reserves, equipment and supplies moving Westwards to the Channel ports from Germany must pass through one or the other of these key transportation points."

People's War, Anglicans Told

STRATFORD, Ont., Sept. 13 (CP)—Sir Henry Drayton, one time Federal Finance Minister, spoke as a lay delegate at the General Synod sessions of the Church of England in Canada here today in support of the second Canadian War Loan.

He said press reports indicate the bulk of the loan so far has been subscribed by large institutions but "this is a war of the people," for the people and for the continuance of our institutions."

Sir Henry said the general public had a duty to pay their share of the w expenses.

"Those of small means represent the great bulk of our people. But we represent also, by far, not only in numbers but in wealth, the greater part of the bank deposits which are more than $2,000,000,000."

GIRL LIVES AFTER THREE DAYS IN DEBRIS

LONDON, Sept. 13 (CP). — Buried three days in the debris of her bomb-blasted home, 14-year-old Mildred Castillo was reported recovering in a hospital today.

Three men passing the demolished home at 10 o'clock last night heard faint cries from the basement.

Tunnelling through the ruins they found the girl still alive. The girl's mother was believed dead in the wreckage.

CANADA TAKES UP PLANES BOUND FOR FRANCE

OTTAWA, Sept. 13 (CP) — Canada has taken over about two dozen second-hand fighting planes which the United States Army Air Corps originally released to France shortly before that country's fall, it was learned tonight.

The planes, obsolete as far as the U.S. Army Air Corps is concerned, will be used for advanced training under the Commonwealth Air Training Scheme.

Fail to Hit City Centre; No Serious Damage Reported

8½ Hour Attack Follows Day of Attacks on Palace and Government Buildings; Death Toll Rises to 1245

LONDON, Sept. 14 (Saturday)—(CP).—Massed German aircraft, attacking London in a night-long moonlight raid for the seventh consecutive night, ran up against a sky minefield of bursting anti-aircraft shells early today.

Returning to the attack after bombing the seat of Monarchy and Government yesterday, the Nazis opened the seventh consecutive night of heavy bombing at 9 p.m. last night. High explosive and incendiary bombs dropped in the Southwest and Western areas of the metropolis but it appeared the defenders' fire prevented most of the raiders from reaching the centre of the city.

There was no reports of serious or widespread damage.

Coming over London at about 15-minute intervals, the raiders ran into intense anti-aircraft fire.

Early today a lone plane attacked a Welsh town and hit a hotel. Four people were believed killed.

Two heavy salvoes of bombs were dropped in South London. Incendiary bombs started fires on the fringe of the centre of the city. Fire services sped into action.

The all clear sounded at 5:25 a.m. ending an all-night alarm that had been in effect for eight hours and 25 minutes.

At dawn there were no reports of serious or widespread damage.

Shortly before midnight, a single raider was heard to crash in the South, with shells exploding on its tail. Then there was a lull.

The Press Association reported that a bomb fell through two floors of a house in the same district, killing a woman seated in a chair and the cat she had in her lap.

It was the seventh successive night of bombing; a full week in which Londoners have spent all or part of each night in raid shelters. And it was the third night of the new air defence barrage in which anti-aircraft batteries pounded the skies unceasingly, amid diminished searchlight activity.

A revised toll showed that since Saturday 1245 Britons have been killed and 4810 injured not counting Thursday's and today's assaults.

Monday's attack was centered upon the greatest symbols of the Empire.

Buckingham Palace was hit by explosive bombs; Downing Street, the home of Prime inister Churchill, and the length of Whitehall, the Avenue of the Kingdom's Government, by fire bombs.

Authorities disclosed that an incendiary bomb—quickly smothered — had hit the House of Lords, in the South wing of the House of Parliament. They did not say exactly when this happened.

The Government accused the Nazis of "deliberate" attacks on "conspicuous buildings irrespective of their nature."

The raiders struck the city three times before tea-time. For the most part they operated in small groups, high in the clouds. Two or three of them would make a sudden rendezvous over a target, let go their bombs and roar upward at once. Their planes were half hidden in a grey camouflage coat almost the color of the dreary sky. Some of them were said to be using a new sort of incendiary machine-gun bullet which pierced and then burst a split second later.

It was for London the most violent series of daylight attacks yet made. The Nazis used fire bombs, explosive bombs, scream bombs, and there was an undetermined—but long—list of casualties.

Two London firms — a bakery and laundry were damaged, but all of the several hundred employees escaped without serious injury.

Other sections of England, including the industrial Midlands, likewise were under attack. Belfast reported that Nazi fire bombs had been dropped on Northern Ireland.

REVELSTOKE, B. C., Sept. 13 (CP)—Revelstoke City Council will act as hosts to visitors and delegates to the annual convention of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities which gets underway here Sept. 17 and 18.

DEATH TOLL OF EXPLOSION AT 41

KENVIL, N. J., Sept. 13 (AP). — Seven burned and mangled bodies were dug from the ruins of the explosion-wrecked Hercules Powder Plat today, bringing to 41 the number of known dead.

On the main street of this little industrial town black tarpaper—where windows had been shattered by the blast—hid the interiors of shops, the Post Office and stores.

Three shifts of about 50 men each reported for work at the plant as usual during the day. They were set to work digging for more bodies.

At nearby Dover General Hospital doctors and nurses still worked at top-speed to save the lives of 35 burned and mangled men.

The area surrounding the plant was a shambles. Trees were denuded of limbs, bark and foliage. Railroad tracks were torn loose from ties. Corrugated steel roofing was blasted and power house pipes were torn loose from boilers.

Beatty and Blaylock Confer on Plant

CALGARY, Sept. 13 (CP).—Construction of track and spur facilities to the new $20,000,000 ammonia plant in Alberta will be started within a few days, Sir Edward Beatty, President of the Canadian Pacific Railway, said in an interview here today.

The plant is being built by the Alberta Nitrogen Company, and Sir Edward was to confer today with S. G. Blaylock of Trail, B. C., President of the Company. They were to inspect the site of the plant.

Training to Be Given Yearly; Proclamation Goes Out Today

Eight Consecutive Training Periods Likely During 12 Months; 39 Camps Being Prepared for 30,000 Men

OTTAWA, Sept. 13 (CP)—All classes called for compulsory military training must put in their 30-day training period within 12 months of the summons but temporary exemption will be allowed in the case of those engaged on agriculture and other seasonal occupations. The average man will take his 30 days training immediately he is summoned to report.

This was made clear today by Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Minister of National War Services, at a Press conference.

First call for training will be issued in a few days following a proclamation which will be published tomorrow notifying all single men and childless widowers from the ages of 21 to 24 inclusive that they are liable to be called.

Mr. Gardiner said he believed it would be the aim of the defence department to see that those called for 30-day training in the first 12-month program, would be given a similar training period during each succeeding year.

This, he said, would depend upon facilities available and the circumstances existing at that time. At the moment his department was concentrating on provision of the men for whom training had been arranged in the first year but there were about 1,000,000 single men in Canada from 21 to 45 years available for call.

Mr. Gardiner said it was the intention to have eight consecutive training periods during the 12 months beginning with October. A training period is 30 days and the 39 camps now being prepared to accommodate a total of about 29,750 men.

This will mean that about 240,000 men will have had 30 days' training at the end of the 12-month period and, because of the allowance of 25 per cent rejections on grounds of physical unfitness, the total to be called for physical examination will be about 320,000

National registration revealed that there are about 400,000 men in the age classes of 21 to 24 years eligible for call and the proclamation to be issued tomorrow is expected to cover requirements for the first year's program.

The first proclamation will apply to those who were in the age class of 21 to 24 inclusive on July 1, 1940, Mr. Gardiner said. When the next proclamation is made, probably at the end of the first 12-month program, the men who have become 21 in the meantime will be included and the department will work up through the age classes as far as necessary to obtain the required number for training.

In view of the fact that a number of men called for military training might desire to remain in uniform and enlist in the Canadian Active Service Force, Mr. Gardiner said he thought industry should engage a number of new workers to be trained to take the place of those who will not return to their civilian occupations after training.

The Minister said the department believed a fair estimate of those who would elect to join the C.A.S.F. would be one-eighth of those in training.

Another $50 for the Bomber Fund

Another $50 check Friday sent the District Bomber Fund up again, the total reaching $2707.25.

Senator R. F. Green of Victoria, former West Kootenay Parliamentary Representative, and present Senator for Kootenay, was the donor of Friday's check.

It is understood City of Nelson employees have been contributing to a fund to be turned over to the Bomber Fund, and that other groups and bodies are considering contributions.

OTTAWA, Sept. 13 (CP).—The first 35 pilot graduates under the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan will receive their "wings" from Group Captain A. T. N. Cowley at Camp Borden, Ont., Monday, it was announced tonight.

The young pilots, however, will be required to take an advanced training course of five weeks and two weeks at a bombing and gunnery school after receiving the crested wings of a Royal Canadian Air Force pilot.

The R. C. A. F. has been turning out aircrew men at regular intervals for more than a year but the 35 who will graduate Monday will be the first to receive their "wings" as students of the training plan.

OTTAWA, Sept. 13 (CP). — First class of technical officers graduated today from the Royal Canadian Air Force School of Aeronautical Engineering at Montreal, R. C. A. F. headquarters here announced.

The 17 graduates will take places as engineer officers in R. C. A. F. formations and units of the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan across Canada.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13 (AP). — Reliable aviation sources disclosed tonight that Eastern Airline's entire fleet of 10 Douglas 14-passenger DC-2 airliners have been sold to British interests for a price estimated at more than $500,000.

Delivery will start immediately, and the planes will be replaced by an equal number of Douglas 21-passenger DC-3 airliners capable of landing and taking off from the smallest field now used by the line. Replacements will bring the DC-3 fleet to a total of 35 planes.

The planes, some as much as five years old, may be used for training in Canada or for patrol service in Australia, it was said.

Bayonne Production in August Is $39,000

VANCOUVER, B. C., Sept. 13—Output of $39,000 by the Bayonne Consolidated Gold Mines Ltd., in August compares with $33,150 in July. The August output is the highest since resumption of milling in April.

For a few days early in September men were withdrawn to fight forest fires.

All of the main buildings, including the mill and bunkhouses, were saved, but the office and assay office were destroyed. The loss was covered by insurance.

Heavy rains killed the fire hazard September 4, and the incident delayed operations for only a few days. The property has ore developed on the fourth, fifth and sixth levels and a cross-cut is being driven to the new vein on the eighth level.

J. E. Annable, Ex-Mayor of Nelson and a Community Founder, Passes

THE LATE J. E. ANNABLE

J. E. Annable, pioneer real estate and insurance agent, for a third of a century an active figure in Nelson's business and community life, and identified at some time or other with nearly every community activity, died Friday morning in Kootenay Lake General Hospital, after several months illness, aged 80 years. Retiring from active business several years ago, Mr. Annable nevertheless kept up his old habits, and daily appeared on the streets in spite of increasingly frail health, until he recently became gravely ill. He was a resident of Nelson for 43 years.

John Edward Annable was born in Winchester, Ont., in 1860.

He came West to Moose Jaw in 1883, in C.P.R. construction days, before the Second Riel Rebellion, but returned to Ontario, and was married in 1885 to Miss Mary Eliza Christie, daughter of Rev. I. J. Christie.

In 1889 Mr. Annable moved a second time to Moose Jaw, and for the next three years was city clerk of the young North-West Territories centre. He remained in Moose Jaw until he came to Nelson.

STARTED BUSINESS INCORPORATION YEAR

Arriving in Nelson in 1897, the year the young mining camp was incorporated, he started the insurance and real estate business with which he was to be identified for the rest of his business life. For many years George A. Lunter was his partner, the firm name during that period being Hunter & Annable.

In the course of a busy life, Mr. Annable served in practically every branch of public service in Nelson.

One of his earliest community efforts was in 1899, when he formed a company to build the Nelson Opera House, which was an important public facility for the next 36 years, until it was burned in April, 1935. He was President of the company for 10 years.

FOUNDED ORGANIZATIONS

Two years later he formed the Nelson Agricultural & Industrial Association, giving Nelson a fair. He was secretary-manager for the first three years, and President on various subsequent occasions.

Also in the early days he fathered the Nelson Farmers Institute, which remained in operation until after the Great War.

He was Chairman of the Chahko Mika celebration in 1914, the biggest event of its kind ever staged here, and which attracted visitors to Nelson from all over the country.

Over a period of 10 years Mr. Annable served five one-year terms on the City Council, the aldermanic term being then one year. He was an alderman for a straight three years from 1905 to 1907, he served as mayor in 1912, and was again mayor in 1917.

Much of Mr. Annable's most constructive community work was in connection with the Nelson Board of Trade, in a lifelong association. He served on the Board's council many times, at different periods, and was President in 1913.

INDUSTRIAL PROMOTION

But his most important Board of Trade work was as Chairman of the Industrial and Natural Resources Committee for a period of six years. In an effort to get a pulp mill for the District he paid visits to 13 mills, distributed from Portland to Vancouver, and enlisted the efforts of many agencies, including promoters. Although he failed to get a mill, information on the pulpwood resources tributary to Nelson, together with the hydro-electric power and other facilities was placed on file wherever such data could be of interest.

Another effort related to match manufacture.

He organized the British Columbia Veneer Works, Ltd., one of Nelson's permanent industries, and was its President in the formative days, the C.P.R. having been instrumental in the matter through introducing George Dvorjetz, whose experience was utilized as manager.

An active worker in the Conservative Party, Mr. Annable was President of the West Kootenay Conservative Association for eight years, and was campaign manager for all Conservative campaigns in Nelson for the first seven years after the Great War.

With the late J. Fred Hume he promoted the Nelson District Old-Timers Association, and served as the organization's President.

MISCELLANEOUS ACTIVITIES

Among other activities, he served as a licence commissioner, as police commissioner, as first President of the Nelson Improvement Association, which he helped to found, as school trustee, as President of the B.C. Chamber of Mines, President of the Nelson Fifteen Hundred Club, President of the Nelson Exhibition Pavilion Association, and President of the Nelson-Kootenay Land Company.

Mr. Anable was instrumental in bringing much settlement to the Arrow Lakes.

The Annable Block, which he built immediately preceding the war, perpetuates his name.

Mr. and Mrs. Annable celebrated their golden wedding in February, 1935, at their home on Hall Mines Road.

Mr. Annable is survived by his wife; five daughters, Mrs. John S. Haigh of Mission, Mrs. Reginald Hazarty of Nelson, Mrs. G. A. B. Hall of Nanaimo, Mrs. Richard S. Turner of Berkeley, Calif., and Mrs. Walter Brodie of Manteo, Calif.; his son, John Edward Annable of Nelson, and nine grandchildren; two sisters, Mrs. Andrew Sipes of Vancouver and Mrs. George McCulloch, of Navin, Ont.; and three brothers, Humphrey Annable of Taber, Alta., Joseph Annable of Calgary, and G. Malcolm Annable of Vancouver. The late G. M. Annable, formerly of Moose Jaw, and later with extensive interests in this District, was also a brother.

Pershing Thinks Britain to Stand

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP).—Gen. John J. Pershing said today on his 80th birthday that he thought Great Britain could hold out against the German onslaught. After being showered with congratulatory messages, decorated by President Roosevelt for an old deed of bravery in the Philippine Islands and after making a radio speech exhorting his fellow countrymen to "face the facts of an imminent danger of war," the United States "General of the Armies" held a Press conference.

Asked what he thought of the British fight against Nazi air raids, he said:

"I think they're living up pretty well to the British reputation for stability."

Speaking over the radio just after receiving the Distinguished Service Cross in a White House ceremony, Gen. Pershing said:

". . . . We must face the facts of today. Their warning call to America is shrill and imperative. The danger is imminent. . . ."

Need of Homeless Londoners Stressed

NEW YORK, Sept. 13 (CP).—In the opinion of Bertram Cruger, London representative of the Allied Relief Fund, the British "have this thing licked."

"This thing" is the intensity of Germany's night raids on the capital of the Empire. In a telephone call to New York today, he told fund officials that Britain's anti-aircraft fire and the general air defence have increased in effectiveness since last Saturday.

Cruger advised the fund there is a "tremendous need" among London's poor people made homeless by the indiscriminate bombings.

Attacks Conscription

NEW YORK, Sept. 13 (AP).—G. Willeim Kunze, National leader of the German-American Bund, today attacked the pending United States Conscription Bill as a "damnable, vicious . . . Congressional declaration of civil war upon all United States citizens of German origin."

The reason for his denunciation, Kunze explained in a letter he said he had sent to the Chairman of the Congressional Conference Committee, was that he had been "confidentially informed" that the measure would "exclude members of my organization from places of employment and a right to earn a living in the industries of the United States."

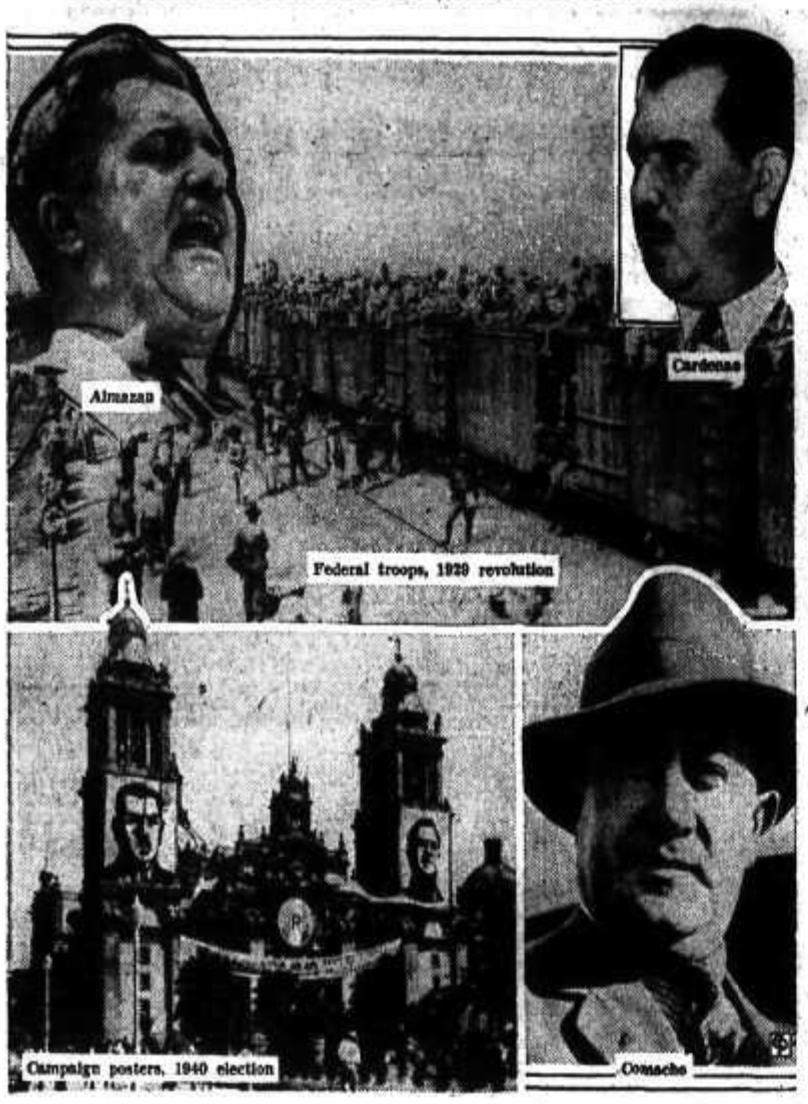
Mexican Government Seeks to Forestall Revolt



With followers of General Juan Andreu Almazan disgruntled by the announcement of the election of General Manuel Avila Comacho as president and threatening to make Almazan president anyway, the Mexican Government, headed by President Lazaro Cardenas took steps to prevent possible rebellion. The last Mexican revolution, staged in 1929, was short-lived. During the recent election Almazan followers protested in vain against the use of the esthedral, above, in Mexico City as background for a campaign poster of the P.R.M. (the Cardenas-Comacho Party).

Home guards rehearse a reception for Nazi tanks or armored cars which might approach their road barrier. ## Do's and Don'ts for Rounded Facial Contours

By DONNA GRACE

"If you have a round face, consider yourself lucky because you will look the coed for years to come." This comes from a Hollywood makeup expert. He cites the lovely Priscilla Lane as a perfect example of the round facial contour and if you are this type beauty, the following Do's and Don'ts will prove interesting.

Don't slick the hair back severely or arrange it in dips or round flat curls. And don't wear straight bangs.

Do wear your hair waved softly and dressed full above the ears to create the illusion of length.

Don't use a straight eyebrow line or make a thread line of your brows. This makes the features look heavy. Don't use eye shadow that contrasts with the coloring of your eyes.

Do arch the brows slightly in a natural-looking curve. Begin on a line directly above the inside corner of your eye.

Don't apply your rouge on the outer portion of the cheeks, blending it up toward the temple and down to shade the jaw very faintly. Use a deep tone. Light rouge accentuates fullness. Dark rouge creates shadows and reduces width.

Don't make up your mouth delicately but as wide as possible. Full width of the mouth will reduce the distance from the corners to the jawline.

While full rounded faces are youthful and pretty, there is no beauty in full chins or heavy necklines.

Ann Sheridan has two daily exercises which she claims will preserve the delicate contours of the throat and bosom. This is what you do:

Hold the arms akimbo, then forcibly press the fingertips together holding them as far away from the chest as possible.

Swing both arms in a complete circle.

Follow these exercises with a spray of ice-cold water over the neck, chest and shoulders. This firms the contours and refines the skin texture.

Vomiting . . .

When Baby Is an Air Swallower

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Frequent vomiting in babies and young children is a troublesome and worrisome condition. Perhaps it is not strange that in examining the histories of a series of such babies, Dr. Richard L. Nelson found that there had been frequent changes of food and formulae, and also frequent changes of doctors. He is inclined to believe, however, that the changes of food and doctors is more the cause of the spells of vomiting that the consequence. The type of food given is not as often the cause of frequent spells of vomiting as some other factors.

Treatment should be directed at the cause of the vomiting.

AIR SWALLOWING

Among common and simple, as well as often overlooked, causes is air swallowing. This is due to improper technic of feeding — improperly shaped nipples on the feeding bottles, or nipples with the holes too large or too small, failure to remove the nipple from the baby's mouth often enough, feeding in the supine position or pacifiers or finger-sucking. Breast-fed infants are subject to air-swallowing from flat or inverted nipples or sucking at empty breasts.

Too frequent feeding is another cause. Babies should not be fed oftener than every three hours.

Still another mistake is too much food. The baby may regurgitate or actually vomit simply because it is overloaded with food. The food of the vomiting baby, however, should not be diluted. It requires a more concentrated formula with less water.

TOO RICH FOOD

The faults that are found in the food formulae themselves are usually that they are too rich in cream. This invariably causes vomiting in some children. Spoilage of food due to improper refrigeration may have to be considered. Both of these problems may be met by changing to a dried milk preparation and preparation of individual feedings. "Curd tension" used to be considered at length by specialists in child feeding. Too tough curds is a more understandable term. It can generally be overcome by boiling the cow's milk formula or adding lactic acid to the formula, or by using evaporated milk.

Any general condition which affects the baby's health should have attention — obscure infections, etc. Of course, every physician is alert to the possibility of an obstruction to the outlet of the stomach which occurs in young children and causes persistent vomiting from birth. But this is a rare condition, and besides the vomiting is continuous, which is not exactly the problem we are considering here. Severe constipation may be a cause. It can be relieved by correcting the formula or by the use of mineral oil.

QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

R. C.: "Will you give us a talk on bran? Is it harmful for certain people? Good for others? If harmful, what would the symptoms be?"

Answer: Bran is not digested or changed in the intestines to any extent, and therefore acts as a foreign body. For those who have sluggish elimination this is a good thing. Many people, however, have intestines that are too sensitive to stand bran successfully. Bran irritates them and does them harm. The symptoms of this are abdominal discomfort, gas and diarrhea.

LOVE WITHOUT MUSIC

CHAPTER FORTY-THREE

The sight of Robert's trunks and bags, so recently packed, so ready to go, made Linda a little sick to her stomach. Robert had not said goodby, and not told her that he was leaving. Surely he could have done that!

After all, if you loved a girl, and were friends, even if you didn't expect her to love you, and somebody else had entered your life, you could let her know that you were going away.

Robert wasn't a coward. It must mean, then, that he had considered the matter so finished, so complete, that there was nothing more to say.

Linda heard her voice saying, "Are you sure that Mr. Barton has already left?"

"Yes, about 15 minutes ago. Seems he was wanted at the police headquarters, then he dashed in and right out."

"And his houseman . . . is he still upstairs?"

"No, he's gone, too. Did you want to see him? I've got an address somewhere." The janitor felt through his pockets. "Here it is . . . a telephone number to call if I want him."

"These trunks go to his club to wait for further orders, you know. Some life that lad leads. He's sailing away to South America one of these days and the stuff will follow him. Guess he has work to do on the bridge upstate first."

"Yes, I guess he has," she agreed dully. "I think I'll be giving up my apartment the first of next month, too. You might like to hang up a card advertising it so a new tenant will come in."

Not until this moment had she thought of this move. But all of a sudden, in a space as brief as a bright meteor falling or a singing of rain on a wide glass pane, she made up her mind. She did not want to live here. Robert was gone. Ronnie never would come again. Caroline was married.

There had been too much drama in the small apartment for her to live in it now in quietness, with the whisper of tall trees in the garden and the shining of a red candle on a monastary altar as her only companions.

"Gosh, Miss Avery, that's tough," the man answered. "Where you planning to live? Or are you being married to that young horn-player?"

"No, I'm not being married. I'm going to a club for girls."

Yes, that would be the answer. A club for women. There was one, up on Fifty-Seventh Street. Hundreds and hundreds of girls and women lived there, and there were roof gardens and long dining rooms and great living rooms and very small bedrooms furnished in maple and chintz.

And, oh yes, no man could come up unless he got a written permit from the desk, and then he couldn't stay very long. Yes, she would go there. There was a swimming pool and there was a gymnasium. And maybe in a strange new atmosphere where women lived when they wanted careers she could think of work only. Maybe she could concentrate on being an executive.

All of this went through her mind so swiftly that it was over in a second's fraction.

But all of the time she was saying that telephone number to herself, knowing that she would call it as soon as she gained the privacy of her own room. She must hear Rob's voice once more, must let him tell her that he was going away forever and forever.

"Nice girl, that Miss Trent," the talkative janitor persisted. "Met her a couple of times."

"Oh, she was down here? I met her, too. On an island." (On a sun-flooded, lush green island bound by swift blue water one morning when she came winging her way from the sky to carry Robert away!)

"Seems to be quite some girl, taking to trouble like a duck takes to water. Mr. Barton sure bit off a chunk when he took on her." The janitor was talkative tonight, and Linda wondered if he, too, felt a wanderlust in the sweet, wide wind, and knew the stars were shining up and down the street.

So even the janitor believed that Billie Anne had a legitimate claim on Robert. And she, only she—Linda Avery—was a dope. Yet, as she climbed the tall stairs, so steep and dark tonight, she thought of Billie Anne. She had looked smudged, sort of raveled at the edges, as though she had been kissed too much, and when she talked you knew she had said all of her words hundreds of times.

She was not good enough for Robert. He was clean and lean and strong.

But this was over. The book was closed as surely as though she had finished a tale and shut the covers. And maybe sometime Robert would be as dim as somebody she had known in the pages of a book.

She had fitted the key into her door before she saw a large square white envelope, halfway under the crevice. She picked it up, knowing at once from whom it was. Robert must have left it there before he went away. Whether he had placed it before he was called to police headquarters or immediately after she did not know. She realized that he might have thought she had found it, before coming to that crowded office for the final act in the Mina Nevins drama.

She closed the door, pulled the chain in a round rose lamp, and sat down on her studio couch to read the note.

"Dear Linda," Robert had written. "By the time you receive this I will be on the train heading for the bridge. For the next few weeks I'll be needed there, so I'm giving up the sublease. After that, it's South America. There was no chance to say goodby in that motley assemblage at headquarters tonight, but there is one thing I must tell you. I'll never stop being sorry I brought down Mina Nevins' wrath on your bright head (It is bright, Linda). Forgive my blundering and be awfully happy." ROBERT.

That was all. "Be awfully happy." Happy with Ronald, he meant, not even knowing that Ronald was just a paper cartoon now. As he had written that note he must have thought of the night, such a brief time ago, when he had seen her climbing into Ronald's waiting car so late at night.

He had not known that she was helping Ronald find Sarah. Why hadn't she gone running up the stairs after him? Maybe he wouldn't have cared any more, maybe Billie Anne was important to him even then, but anything would have been better than this slow torment. People said that time was a healer, that in the end all wounds grew better, and always there came a night when the moon was white and the wind was sweet and you could smile again.

But living until that night would be hard.

Robert had said that he would be on the train heading for the bridge by the time she received his note. But maybe he had stopped at his club on the way.

All of her life Linda had believed that a telephone was a one-way instrument when a man and a girl were concerned and that a girl belonged on the receiving end of it. She had been taught by her aunt that a girl should save her nickles and let a man spend his. But this was different.

She was grown up now and she loved a man who was going away. At least she must have the satisfaction of knowing whether he cared deeply, or no longer at all.

She dialed the number of his club.

Wife's Pluck Puts Husband on Top

By CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Dear Miss Chatfield:

The letter you printed from the girl who was saving up money for divorce before she got married was certainly one for the book and it leads me to make some observations. I believe the average girl gets married regarding her husband as a meal-ticket. Marriage is not a sacred institution any more; it's the open door to personal advantage, the back door left open for divorce if advantage doesn't materialize.

Our marriage ship sprang a leak a few years after the ceremony but I didn't desert the ship. My husband lost his job, couldn't get work and there we were across the continent from home base. I worked to pay our way back, arrived, pretending to our families that it was a second honeymoon trip. My husband was so proud to see his failure turned into a triumph that he got new heart, a good position and now I am a happy housewife. We own our home. We are happy because we worked, worked together in spite of setbacks.

A Happy Woman.

Answer:

Good news to hear of a wife who had the pluck to protect her husband's hurt pride and put him on the road to success. And isn't this one job that pays a wife a big bonus! While we can't agree that the average girl marries a meal ticket and throws it away when the meals get skimpy, we will agree that far too many girls approach the altar prayer books in one hand and mad money in the other. It stands to reason that unless we consider ourselves settled for keeps, whatever the job, we don't give our best to it, nor bother about the consequences of losing it.

Of course there are some sorry men who can't be inspired though their wives spoke with tongues of men and angels. But the average husband whose wife believes in him, pulls with him, protects his pride and is patient with him in adversity, usually goes over the top and takes her with him. It's fearful to contemplate the influence a woman has over the man who loves her. And her influence counts the most when his courage is lowest.

Seeing how everybody gets married with the hope of living happily ever after, you'd think that the couples who had the good times and the easy life would be the lucky ones who know nothing of divorce but what they read in the papers. On the contrary, we've seen it time and time again that the most married and most satisfied pairs are those that have had trials and tribulations, struggles and troubles, worked them out together and come through in triumph as a unit.

Sign Language . . .

Child Slow to Talk Is Helped by Playmates

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

Some bright babies who spend practically all their time with their parents (rarely with other little children) begin talking relatively late. With a sign language of his own so well obeyed by the parents, the youngster may have very little need of conventional speech.

"Dear Dr. Myers—My boy is a little past two years old. He has just started to talk, everyone tells me he should have been able to talk long before this, he says such words as mamma, dad, light and almost all food names. I know there is nothing wrong with his hearing, and my husband and I talk and try to make him understand what we are saying.

DON'T FORCE HIM

"When our boy has been around other children he learns to say things they do, for example, my nephew has only to ask my boy to say a word once and he'll remember that word forever, whereas I may repeat a word every day for a week and he does not repeat it of his own will.

"Could you advise me how I can speed up his talking. Or should I just go along, try to help him and he will be soon talking my leg off. A stamped, addressed envelope is enclosed."

My reply: "I have no doubt your child will soon be 'talking your leg off,' if you quit urging him, especially if he spends more time with other children. It is very significant that he remembers and repeats words he hears your nephew say. The nephew has no anxiety about your baby's talking; you have, and inevitably betray this emotion. Your very eagerness to have your baby talk hampers his speech development.

"Try to expose your baby to more children and read to him, you and Dad, every day. I can think of no better contribution to your baby's speech now and in the future than frequent reading to him."

SOLVING PARENT PROBLEMS

Q. My nine-year-old boy seems to have lost affection for me. He doesn't want to kiss me as he leaves for school, if other children are around.

A. He loves you just as much as ever, only he does not want to let other children think he is a baby. Give him a pat on the shoulder and he will accept that as conveying far more affection than a kiss.

Mother Writes Her Gratitude of Kindness and Open-Armed Welcome

LONDON (CP)—The reception given by the Canadians to evacuated British women and children is described by one mother as "kindness itself", and an "open-armed welcome to an extent that people at home cannot begin to realize."

Mrs. R. E. Woolgar, wife of the Clerk of Works at Grosvenor House here who reached Canada recently with her two small daughters, said in a letter to her husband that 'from the moment of disembarking these people over here were kindness itself their kindness only being equalled by their admiration for the way Britain is seeing the war through."

"Canadian soldiers were at the quayside helping us all," Mrs. Woolgar wrote. "They were marvellous—carting off our luggage, seeing it through the customs, and relieving us of all worries.

"We had a day to wait before going up country and a lady from a voluntary organization took us in hand, provided us with all our meals, drove us around, took us to the station, and even insisted on doing all our tipping.

"During the train journey everyone, on learning that we were three British refugees, was kindness itself, from the passengers who made a tremendous fuss over us, to the smiling negro carriage attendants who waited on us hand and food.

"We had to change trains 400 miles from our destination and there was no connection for 46 hours. Instead of having to put up at some hotel a man and his wife insisted on taking us into their home and treated us like members of the family.

"Canada's attitude to us is an open-armed welcome to an extent that people at home cannot begin to realize."

Mrs. Woolgar and her children are staying with a relative who is a member of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

Baked Potatoes
Egg Plant
Celery and Cabbage Salad
Apple Pie Cheese
Coffee

CORN STUFFING

One cup corn pulp, ten soda crackers, or half cup fine, dry bread crumbs, one teaspoon celery salt, two tablespoons minced green pepper, salt and pepper.

Combine corn, crackers or bread crumbs and seasonings. Mix well and stuff chops. Have pork chops cut double thickness, and a pocket cut into each chop from the side next to the bone. Be sure to have pocket cut from this side as the membrane here holds the edges together.

Fill the pockets with corn stuffing. Brown chops on both sides, then cover, and finish the cooking, in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) This will require about one hour.

BREADED EGGPLANT

One eggplant, one egg, bread crumbs, salt and pepper, one tablespoon water.

Pare eggplant and cut in half inch slices. Have ready a plate of bread crumbs and another with one egg beaten with one tablespoon water. First sprinkle eggplant with salt and pepper, then dip into egg, then into bread crumbs, and let stand a few minutes to dry. Fry slowly in melted butter, bacon or similar fat, turning as slices brown. Drain on soft paper and serve hot.

APPLE PIE

Pastry, apples, three quarter cup sugar, butter, cinnamon or nutmeg.

Sift two cups flour with half teaspoon baking powder and one teaspoon salt into mixing bowl. Add three quarter cup lard or preferred fat and mix through flour very thoroughly with knives, fork or immaculately clean hands. Add ice cold water a little at a time until you have a stiff dough, using just enough water to make ingredients stick together. Roll out and line pie tin with dough. Cover with quarter cup of flour and quarter cup sugar.

Slice apples into crust, on top of flour and sugar, top with remaining sugar, dot with butter and sprinkle with cinnamon or nutmeg or a mixture of both. Put on top crust, make slits for steam to escape and put into 400 degree oven. Bake at that temperature for 10 minutes, then lower heat to 350 degrees and bake for approximately 45 minutes altogether.

THE OLDEST YOUNG MAN IN B.C.

GOES FOR A WALK

C. C. Reynolds

Mr. C. C. Reynolds, 81 years of age, set out at 1.30 last Sunday morning to walk from Chilliwack to his farm in Matsqui, 16 miles away. He covered the distance in five hours without a stop, and felt fresh enough at the end of the journey to have gone another five miles. Feeling so fit and vigorous, which causes his many friends to marvel, instead of taking the train or bus he could not resist the pioneer urge to walk, in order to get a better view of the beautiful agricultural district he knows so well. Five years ago, at the age of 76, Mr. Reynolds was in such a critical state of health he could not walk up stairs, nor attempt even the mildest kind of exertion, due to a combination of the most serious ailments common to humanity. Here are Mr. Reynolds' own words in a letter he wrote a few weeks ago:

"While three score years and ten is the allotted span of life for man, I have entered upon my five score period—still enjoying the blessing of health and vigor, and feel like a man many years younger. I can safely say that I owe the last five years of my life, health and happiness to LANG'S MINERAL REMEDY. I was in such a critical state of health my condition was pronounced hopeless. Like a drowning man grasping at a straw I fortunately decided to try Lang's Mineral on the advice of some friends, which has meant a new lease of life to me,—with new hope and sound health taking the place of misery and despair."

Mr. Reynolds is one of those fine old Canadian pioneers whose word is as good as his bond, who as a young man was foreman in charge of some of the largest lumber camps in the Algoma district, and during later years farmer and pure-bred stock breeder in the Fraser Valley in which he is still interested.

ARTHRITIS

In Its Worst Form

Mrs. Richard Irvin writes:—"I was afflicted with Arthritis for over ten years which became so chronic I was in bed for over two years, unable to walk and could do nothing to help myself. My hands were so crippled I could not move a finger, and my body was like a marble slab. For over five years I was unable to come down stairs, all treatment having failed. A friend told me about LANG'S MINERAL REMEDY, and it was a fortunate day for me as it gave me back my health. I now walk anywhere and have regained the full normal use of my hands and legs, also do my own housework. I do thank God for the day I heard of this Mineral Remedy and how I wish others who suffer as I did could know about it. I am 74 years of age."

While many ordinary cases of Arthritis have fully responded to the healing qualities of Lang's Mineral Remedy we believe this is a record case where any man or woman of such advanced age who was so completely incapacitated with Arthritis for years finally got rid of the affliction and regained the normal use of hands and limbs, with renewed health and vitality. We will mail this woman's full statement giving her address to any interested parties. We do not pretend to claim that Lang's Mineral Remedy is any miracle worker or cure-all. It is simply a product of nature from the earth, and the only claim we make for it is that the Minerals it contains assists nature through the blood stream in eliminating weakness and disease and building new health, vigor and vitality as the blood stream is the basis of all health.

Lang's Mineral has been used for over half a century, and thousands of men and women gladly tell the same happy story today, who also found the blessing of renewed health and relief from physical suffering through the efficacy of this genuine blood and body builder—simple to use and inexpensive. Six months' treatment only $6.00, four months' treatment for $4.00 and one month $1.50. Several months' treatment is necessary to get complete results, as you cannot force or hurry nature. For those afflicted with Arthritis, Rheumatism, Stomach troubles, Kidneys, Nerves, Piles, Colitis, Eczema, Female Ailments, Weakness, Run-down, etc., we will gladly refer you to responsible men and women in all walks of life who have proven the remarkable merit of Lang's Mineral Remedy. Write us for free information, we don't ask you to buy anything. Keep this advertisement for future reference—some day it may prove more valuable to you than any amount of dollars.

"Let Your Intelligence Be Your Guide" C. M. & S. Employees Told

Harrison, Thompson Address Meeting in Trail

TRAIL, B. C., Sept. 13—"So far as I am aware, the present issue is the question of the rate of wages being paid to ordinary and to skilled labor," stated Fred Harrison, Western representative of the Dominion Department of Labor, to the mass meeting of Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company employees, he was addressing at the Trail Rink, Thursday night.

"I have met men employed in the different branches of your industry, and discussed matters of importance to them, sometimes addressing aggregations of three or four hundred and I am now telling you the same story I told them.

"I understand that some people think I may tell a different story today than I have told yesterday, or the day before, but I would not be loyal to labor if I carried out such a procedure."

EXPLAINS LAW

Mr. Harrison stated that under the Dominion Statutes, the employees had the right to ask for a board of conciliation. The procedure called for a strike vote, followed by an application to the government for the establishment of a conciliation board. One representative from the employees, one from the company, and a chairman, would complete the board. If the two parties did not agree on a chairman, the Minister of Labor had authority to make the appointment.

"I am not here to tell you what the pay rates should be, I am here solely for the purpose of trying to find out how to fix up the dispute on a mutually satisfactory basis," he explained.

"I understand that the ordinary pay rates for unskilled labor are 54, 55 and 56 cents an hour. If I am wrong, will someone please correct me?"

"As far as I am aware, the highest rate being paid in ordinary industry is 45 cents an hour, in which case this company is paying 4, 5 and 6 cents an hour higher than elsewhere.

"In negotiations between industrial employers and employees, the argument has been made that wages covering skilled crafts should be higher because of intermittent or lack of steady employment.

ADJUSTMENT PLAN

"There is an arrangement at the Pacific Coast, whereby labor rates shall be increased on the cost of living basis. In ship-building and other industries, no increase in wages is made unless the cost of living increases 5 per cent.

"From my information, your company has agreed to increase your wages if the cost of living increases 1 per cent, at the rate of 3 cents every decimal point. In that case you will be receiving a more advantageous arrangement than is prevailing throughout industry generally.

"I would like to leave the thought with you that this situation can be adjusted by mutual conference," he said at the end of his talk.

COMMITTEE CHAIRMAN SPEAKS

"For the past 1½ years, criticism has been levelled against myself and my committee by a paper which operates within the law in this community. When you believe the erroneous reports circulated around for you to read, the responsibility of the whole situation shifts from us to you," stated G. M. Thomson, Chairman of the Workmen's Committee.

"Remember that you have your homes and your livelihood here, and do not let your policy be guided by those who are here today and gone tomorrow, because they are not going to be here when the going gets tough."

"You have been told that it is not necessary to take a strike vote. But I can state from information received from the Government, that such action is absolutely necessary if you want a conciliation board."

"Another thing I want clearly understood before this goes on any farther, is that should the Labor Minister at Ottawa grant you the right to establish a conciliation board—and he has the right to refuse—and the report of the board is not satisfactory, the Workmen's Committee will have full authority to say whether you should strike or not."

"In the Spring of this year, the men demanded an increase of $1 a day on the basic rate. The Company refused, and when the matter was again taken up by the Workmen's Committee on Mr. Blaylock's return from the East, the Company offered a percentage increase on the cost of living basis.

"This was recently put to a vote. It may be that the employees didn't understand, but the offer was turned down."

"The present wage scale, as advocated by the Dominion Government, is based on prevailing wage rates during 1938, and any further wage adjustments are to be based only on the cost of living scale as from March 31, 1938.

U.M.W. CONTRAST

"The United Mine Workers of America have signed an agreement that no increase of wages will be asked for until the cost of living has increased 5 per cent. The cost of living in this case is based on 73½ per cent of the budget, whereas the Company's offer is based on 100 per cent."

J. H. Shields, Secretary of the Workmen's Committee, later explained that the above figures were based on a weekly budget, which, at March, 1938 was $12 per week, and that the Mine Workers Union employees would only obtain a raise when the cost of living reached $12.60 a week, and then only at the rate of 8½ cents an hour, compared to 18 cents an hour to which the Company employees would be entitled, under the Consolidated agreement.

"A situation similar to this arose in 1917," Mr. Thomson continued. "Investigations at that time disclosed that less than 10 per cent of the men were responsible for the conditions, the larger percentage failing to take active participation in their own affairs. And that is the exact picture today."

"I want you to read between the lines of Mr. Harrison's speech, and let your intelligence be your guide."

RED CROSS News Notes

Aged Prospector Is Saving for Red Cross

"Scotty" Mitchell, a prospector of 93 Winters, has lived at Bear Lake, near Kaslo, for 47 years. For some time, while following the course of the war, he has been saving to add his donation to the Red Cross funds. The other day Mr. Mitchell met a party fishing in Bear Lake and seizing his opportunity asked them to bring his money to the Nelson Branch. His contribution was $10.65. Mr. Mitchell thus became the branch's most venerable contributor.

Great Variety of Goods on Shelves of Red Cross Shop

Nelson's unique method of raising money by means of the Red Cross Shop for Odds and Ends, is meeting with success from every angle.

Unlike other shops in the city, this novelty store reverses the most of the usual procedures of business. Its operating costs are nil and the money it takes in is pure profit. It does more advertising to procure its stock, than to sell it. Its delivery service is used more for collecting goods than for distributing them.

It has no limitations in price or wares, and it will sell anything from a cookie to a fur coat.

Not one of its salesmen is paid a cent, nor is the owner of the building in which they house their wares. The articles for sale are given to the shop, free, and right now the store is collecting a stock that will surprise the stranger within its doors.

GREAT VARIETY

There is a pottery and glass display, a book shelf, a knicknack table, a collection of silver, in fact, almost anything from a kimono to an electric stove or gramophone. The things which sell readily are toys, books, glass, silver, copper, brass, china, pictures, tools, ornaments, jewelry, plants, home cooking, jellies or jams.

EVERY STRATEGY HAS ITS ANSWER

New tactics in warfare are effective the first time they are used, but in time adequate counter-tactics are devised.

The never-ending struggle for mastery between the gun founders and the armor plate makers was dramatized by Jules Verne in his story, "A Journey to the Moon." One American constantly designed and made bigger cannons, and another constantly made tougher and thicker armor plate. As it happened, in this case there was a definite victory on one side, for the gun founder eventually cast the mammoth metal tube that shot a projectile to the moon—the first space ship in fiction.

In the Russo-Finnish war, the Russian tanks, specially devised for Winter work, looked good for two or three days, after which they became just playthings for the ski-shod Finnish.

The German magnetic mines, sprung as a surprise about the time of the Norwegian invasion, if recollection serves, got a few British and neutral ships, but only a few, for after that, British science produced the answer, and all ships were equipped with a repellent cable that neutralized the magnetic element in the mines.

Much has been made of the cleverness of the Germans in decentralizing their manufacture of airplanes and of other war equipment, and in decentralizing their airdromes. Scattered in a myriad of small units through the Black Forest, both plants and airdromes were supposed to be almost completely protected from attack, through their extreme dispersion.

This theory works well, so far as direct attack goes. But it is of less value when indirect attack is employed.

And the lighting of fires all through the Black Forest by means of incendiary bombs, and now of incendiary "leaves," is certainly an effective method of indirect attack.

A fire might originate from a bomb that fell miles from a plant or an airdrome, and yet constitute the gravest menace to it. In fact, with due cooperation from the weather, it might engulf the utility in question.

If Britain could contrive to burn the whole Black Forest, numberless essential manufacturing plants, and numberless airdromes, would be wiped out, their concealment failing to save them.

Hitler seems to be relying, in the invasion being prepared, on use of enormous numbers of small craft to get the greater part of his army of invasion across the English Channel.

But when it comes to mosquito fleets, it is doubtful whether any scale of building Hitler can employ can produce the numbers of small craft that Britain, a maritime country with innumerable bays, coves, estuaries, and protected waters, can command. And certain it is that on the day that the German army essays a crossing, the Channel waters will be swept by death in many forces, to send an appalling proportion of the invaders to the bottom.

We can have every confidence that, no matter what agents of maneuver and of destruction the Germans bring to bear from time to time, in their war with the British, they will find themselves presently as outmatched in ingenuity and effective power as they are in courage and in stubborn determination.

JAPAN AND ITS REAR

A Tokyo dispatch in Friday's Daily News quoted a Japanese paper as declaring that American-Japanese relations were "fraught with the danger of war," and as stating that in consequence Japan was making special efforts to "reach a rapprochement with Soviet Russia to guard its rear."

Soviet Russia undertook to guard Germany's rear, and do it better it took half of Poland, all of Estonia, all of Latvia, all of Lithuania, a substantial part of Finland, and the Bessarabian part of Rumania.

Uncle Joe Stalin would probably like to be invited by Japan to guard Japan's rear on similar terms, of grabbing all the rear.

Japan has plenty to keep it busy in China, without bristling up to the United States, with or without Russia supposedly keeping its rear safe. While the United States has been going through disillusionment as to its defences and sea-power, there is nothing in the record of Japan's four years "persuasive effort" with China to indicate that it would prove a formidable antagonist for the United States in a war of any length.

TODAY'S HOROSCOPE

A very eventful, and, on the whole, successful year, is in store for those celebrating birthdays on this day. Sudden gains and unexpected journeys often linked with romance, will make the year most interesting. Extravagances should be checked, however. Much inventive ability will be possessed by the child born on this date. Such a one will also have a fine mentality and be ingenious. If born early in the day such a child may be somewhat erratic.

HINTS ON ETIQUETTE

In speaking to a servant or someone in a similar position, a woman should refer to her husband as "Mr. Jones". To others she should say "My husband," or "John."

HOROSCOPE FOR SUNDAY

An exceedingly happy year favoring love, courtship and marriage, is promised to those who have birthdays today. Avoid disputes, and make no hasty decisions, however. The child born today will be generous, hospitable, spiritual, intuitive and much interested in the occult. He or she will be fortunate in the main, and popular.

CONTRACT . . . By Shepard Barclay

DON'T WASTE YOURS

IF YOU get along in the play of a hand to the point where one of the defenders holds the commanding trump, you naturally hope usually to keep him out of the lead, so he can't lay it down and make you play two trumps on it. You would prefer not to waste any of your own in making him use it, but would rather compel him to squander it on a trick which would be lost by you anyway, even if he didn't have the big trump. Once in a coon's age you get a chance to make something like that come about, if you are alert and far seeing.

When West led the diamond Q and the dummy went down, the situation looked full of possibilities, but as it developed, they would not have been realized except by a thinker with ability to look ahead. That is exactly who was on the job, Lee Hazen, brilliant New York attorney who is rapidly gaining a reputation as being one of the keenest cardsmen in the nation. Probing the possibilities, he took the diamond Q with the K and laid down the club K, planning a possible ruffing of the suit. Next he cashed the club A.

As the 7 fell from West on this trick, he decided to protect himself against any undue ruffing, so cashed the spade K and A, leaving the Q out. His guess of the club suit proved right, then, when he led the Q, West discarding. So he ruffed the club 3, put the club 9 on the heart A, ruffed a heart, cashed the diamond A, ruffed the diamond 2 with the spade 6, then led a heart. Since East, with the spade Q, had to play before him, Mr. Hazen, with a trump left, was assured one of the last two tricks and his contract. It was nice timing.

Nelson District Red Cross Raises $15,400 Year; Ladies Make Hospital Supplies

To The Editor of The Nelson Daily News.

Sir: In view of the fact that the Canadian Red Cross Society are commencing another drive for funds on September 23, the Nelson Branch have thought it only fair to their supporters and to the public generally, to advise them of the main activities of the Branch for the past 10 months. Nelson and District have raised $15,404.68, of this sum $9991.31 has been paid in by monthly subscribers. The cost of raising this sum has been $167.30 and we think you will agree we have kept expenses to a minimum. All officers gave their services free.

The Ladies' Work Committee have made 3287 pieces of hospital supplies, at a cost of $181.37 to this Branch, but this showing could have been easily doubled had they received sufficient materials to keep their workers employed.

The local committee hope this report will be received with satisfaction by the residents of Nelson and District, and that they will receive our canvassers kindly when they call for further subscriptions during the week commencing September 23. We have found monthly subscriptions paid through local banks or through employers by far the cheaper way of raising funds.

We trust that you will give this letter a prominent place in your paper. We also wish to take this opportunity in thanking you very sincerely for your very valuable help during the past 10 months.

Signed on behalf of the Canadian Red Cross Society, Nelson.

W. R. GRUBBE,
President.

Canada and U.S. 'Speak Same Tongue'

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 13 (AP). —The United States and Canada "speak the same language" and stand "shoulder to shoulder" as the bulwark of liberty against Totalitarian threats, a special wartime Canadian official told the American Bar Association.

In a speech to the annual dinner of the Association's Convention, Leonard W. Brockington, Ottawa barrister and special assistant to Prime Minister Mackenzie King, said:

"In philadelphia, this sanctuary of liberty, I say that I believe that some day the torque of your city bell will yet speak in harmony with Big Ben and with the carillon bell in Ottawa, and will yet ring out the knell of tyranny."

Palace Bombarded by Lone Raider; King and Queen Safe in Shelter

LONDON, Sept. 13 (CP).—Five German bombs crashed on historic Buckingham Palace and its precincts today in London's longest daylight raid of the war, but King George and Queen Elizabeth, at the Royal Residence during the bombardment, escaped injury.

Two of the bombs fell in the inner quadrangle of the Palace. A third hit the private chapel in the South Wing and the other two fell on a roadway between the Victoria Memorial and the Palace gates.

The deafening crash of the bombs came during an alarm lasting four hours and nine minutes and ending at 1:55 p.m. (4:55 a.m. PST.)

The first announcement of this — the second bombing of the stately building — did not say whether any members of the Palace staff had been injured.

The Ministry of Information communique, issued while London was still under alarm, said simply:

"In the course of this morning's raids bombs were dropped on Buckingham Palace and slight damage was done. Their Majesties, who were in the place, were unharmed."

Their Majesties were on tour on Tuesday when a delayed action bomb, dropped on Sunday, ripped a 15-foot-deep crater in the Palace grounds, next to the North front of the building, blasting an enclosed swimming pool, showering debris and shattering windows.

The court correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph, British News Agency, who had just left the Palace, witnessed today's attack. First he heard the roar of engines and then he saw a twin-engined bomber dive from the clouds.

As the plane came over the centre of the Palace the pilot appeared to cut his engines and the machine lost speed. Then came the whistle of bombs and explosions were heard in rapid succession.

Inside the Palace the King and Queen with members of the household staff already had gone to shelters underneath the Palace. They were there when one of the bombs crashed into the South wing, shattering the Royal Chapel, which is close to the Ambassadors' entrance.

The Exchange Telegraph correspondent was thrown to the ground by the pieces of stone and masonry which rained on Buckingham Palace Road. One piece smashed a street lamp near him.

Smoke shot into the air and a few passersby who had dared the alarm to remain outside shelter scrambled quickly to cover.

The attacking plane had gone out of his dive into a "dead stick" glide —motors silent. The bombs plummeted down from it before the engine coughed and re-started. With a fresh roar the attacker climbed into the clouds again and was lost to sight.

Other bombs, incendiaries, fell close to the Palace.

Soldiers from Wellington Barracks dashed across the Palace grounds with spades and other implements to control any blaze starting from the Palace bombardment. They were aided by the Auxiliary Fire Service.

Fires near the Palace were extinguished quickly by policemen and park keepers.

Shortly after the "all clear" signal sounded the King and Queen walked through the cellars of the Palace and talked with members of the staff.

Later it was learned that three members of the Palace staff and three plumbers who had been working there were slightly injured.

Princess Elizabeth and Margaret Rose were not in the Palace at the time, officials announced.

After the raid Their Majesties went to the ruined chapel to inspect the damage. Then they left the Palace on a tour of London areas which had been arranged yesterday.

The apartments of the King and Queen are in the North wing, on the opposite side of the Palace from the chapel.

The two bombs falling in the quadrangle dug out large craters. A water main burst and water geysered up. Many windows of the South wing were blown out and the walls were pitted by flying debris.

Two bombs which fell in the roadway outside the Palace close to the Victoria Memorial caused a fire.

A man walking by the Palace at the time of the bombing said he was thrown to the pavement by the "tremendous explosions."

This was the second bombing of the Palace.

In contrast to today's bombing, which found King George and the Queen Elizabeth at the Palace, the Tuesday explosion came while they were touring bombed areas to keep up the spirits of their people.

Buckingham Palace dates back to the first decade of the 18th century and has been a Royal residence for about 100 years.

OTTAWA, Sept. 13 (CP).—No enemy act could have so stirred the heart of every part of the British Commonwealth than the deliberate bombing of Buckingham Palace today by a Nazi airman, Prime Minister Mackenzie King said today in a message to King George VI and Queen Elizabeth.

KING GEORGE SPEAKS OF PERSONAL EXPERIENCE

LONDON, Sept. 13 (CP)—King George, replying to the war cabinet's congratulations on Their Majesties' escape when Buckingham Palace was bombed this morning, said:

"Like so many other people we now have had a personal experience of German barbarity which only strengthens the resolution of all of us to fight through to final victory."

DEADLINE FOR FIREARM REGISTRATION SEPT. 30

OTTAWA, Sept. 13 (CP). — Deadline for registration of all rifles and shotguns in Canada has been extended from Sept. 15 to Sept. 30, the Department of Justice announced today.

RESCUED FROM FLOODED SHELTER

LONDON, Sept. 13 (CP). — More than one Londoner, nursing bruises and minor injuries in the wake of massed German air attacks on the capital, counted himself lucky to be alive today. They have shown that a direct hit does not always mean death.

Among those were Mrs. Henry Cummings, her daughter Cecily and their maid, who were trapped in the cellar of their home when two bombs fell directly upon it.

Rescuers reached them as water from a broken main, rising steadily in the basement, was up to their chins. They were freed with slight injuries.

George Povey, his wife and dog were in a backyard shelter when a bomb fell nearby, lifted the top off the refuge and choked the entrance with debris. They crawled out unhurt.

An oil bomb scored a direct hit on a Nurses' Home in Southeast London and destroyed the top floor, but the nurses — who had sought refuge on lower floors — were uninjured.

Two policemen standing on a street corner were blown 20 yards away when an oil bomb burst nearby. They are still on duty.

Six-year-old Gordon Hooper was pinned under wreckage when six houses were demolished by a direct hit. A soldier crawled through the wreckage and brought him out only slightly injured.

British Cheered by Canada's Response

OTTAWA, Sept. 13 (CP). — The British people "are cheered and fortified to feel that Canada is with the Mother Country heart and soul," Prime Minister Churchill said in a cable to Prime Minister Mackenzie King today.

The cable, received in reply to one Mr. King sent the British Prime Minister on Wednesday expressing the loyal support of the Canadian people follows:

I am touched by the personal kindness of your telegram and all our people are cheered and fortified to feel that Canada is with the Mother Country heart and soul.

The fine Canadian divisions that are standing on guard with us will play a notable part should the enemy succeed in setting foot on our shores.

I am very glad to have this opportunity of thanking you personally for all you have done for the common cause and especially in the promoting of a harmony of sentiment throughout the world. This deep understand will be a dominant factor in the rescue of Europe from a relapse into the Dark Ages.

On behalf of the Government and people of the United Kingdom I send you heartfelt thanks for your memorable message.

HONG KONG, Sept. 13 (AP). — Chinese sources today reported the Governor General of French Indo-China privately had approached the British and United States Ambassadors at Chungking over possible support of their countries against Japan in the event he renounced the French regime at Vichy.

French consular officials said negotiations between Governor General Jean Decoux and Japanese representatives at Hanoi still were in progress and emphasized that no agreement had been reached. They denied the Chinese report.

Veterans Keep Tigers in Pennant Race

TOMMY BRIDGES

SCHOOLBOY ROWE

As the contending teams for the American League pennant go pounding down the stretch, much of the wise money is being laid on the Detroit Tigers. A variety of reasons back their choices—more notably Detroit's qualities as veterans of standing up under fire.

The schedule favors the Indians and the Tigers for the driving finish, but of these two clubs the Detroiters are less likely to crack. Generally they are a veteran aggregation who have seen a number of top-flight play. Several of the performers are holdovers from the pennant years of '34 and '35—Hank Greenberg, Charley Gehringer, Pete Fox and particularly Tommy Bridges and Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe.

Bridges and Rowe, along with Buck Newsom, form the nucleus staff, and gave the Tigers a big boost along the pennant trail by turning in victories yesterday and the day before respectively against the Yankees. Both men, especially Rowe, who has been relegated to Beaumont in the minors off and on since his hey-day, are in the process of staging comebacks. Bridges' shut-out win was his eleventh of the season against eight defeats, while Rowe posted victory No. 14 in the series opener.

Newsom didn't get an assignment in the last Detroit-New York series, but he is due to go to the mound today as the Tigers try for three straight. Bobo's record this season against the Yanks reads two victories and no defeats.

Fred Wood Wins Medal Play In Western Golf

CAPILANO GOLF AND COUNTRY CLUB, West Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 13 (CP).—Freddy Wood, blond professional star from the Fraser Club at Vancouver, today won first money in the Western Canada $1000 open golf championship. He carded 283 for the 72-hole medal competition.

Neil Christian, Yakima, Wash., professional, tied with Wood at the halfway mark yesterday, stroked his way to second place with a 284 while Kenny Black of Vancouver, Canadian amateur champion finished third with 285.

Wood, British Columbia and Alberta open champion, added a mediocre 74 this morning to his 137 total of yesterday, then came back this afternoon with a par 72. Christian added a 75-72 to his 137 of yesterday while Black shot 72-73 to add to his 140 36-hole total.

A storm last night made the course heavy and the players had trouble on nearly all the greens. Harry Givan, Seattle shotmaker and winner of the British Columbia amateur title here earlier this year, finished in fifth place behind Stan Leonard, Calgary professional, with 290.

He carded 148 yesterday and 69-83—142, today.

Leonard, formerly of Vancouver, who won the Canadian professional championship at Toronto last month, added a 75-69 to his 145 of yesterday for fourth place with 289.

Chuck Congdon of Tacoma, who finished in fourth spot at yesterday's half-way mark, dropped to sixth when play ended today with 293. He carded a 77-72 to add to his 144.

Emery Zimmerman of Portland, former Washington State open champion, Bob Connally of Seattle and Don Sutherland of Vancouver, were all tied for seventh place with 297's while Ken Tucker, Washington State champion from Tacoma was next with 153-74-74—301.

Don Thompson of Portland, recent winner of the Jasper National Park golf tournament was away out of the money with his 149-84-76—309.

Jimmy McLarnin, former world's welterweight boxing champion from Vancouver, who is now living in Hollywood, finished with 323.

Natal, Coleman Draw Baseball

NATAL, B. C.—The Natal-Michel Buffaloes, 1940 Crow's Nest Pass Baseball champions journeyed to Coleman Wednesday to play the Coleman Pucksters, who are playing in the finals of the Alberta intermediate baseball championship with Stavely, in an exhibition game. The game resulted in a 5-5 tie, play being called at the end of the seventh because of darkness.

The Buffaloes took a one-run lead in the first inning and scored three more in the third to increase their lead to 4-2, holding Coleman to single runs in the second and third. The lead was increased a run in the fifth but Coleman came from behind in the sixth to tie the score with three runs off Halko who had relieved Little in the third. T. Krall came to the rescue to retire the side with the potential winning run left on second.

For Coleman Martin started but was relieved by Kanik in the fifth after allowing four runs. The latter allowed one walk and a run while striking out five batters in the three innings that he worked.

Coleman outhit the Buffaloes 13-9, Gus Peters of the Buffaloes poling out two of the longest hits seen on the new Coleman diamond for ground-rule two-base hits. Kemp led the Coleman attack with three hits and a walk for a perfect day.

The game was umpired by J. Kapalka of Coleman and A. Koshman of Natal.

Nelson to Open W. K. Softball Finals in Trail

HAROLD MAYO

"We're going to play young Mayo in centre field when we open the West Kootenay Softball finals in Trail Sunday," said Coach Louis Aurelio as he announced the lineup of his Nelson Reps for the opening doubleheader of a best of five series in Trail Sunday with Crown Points, Trail City champions and conquerors of Castlegar. Games start at 1:30 and 4 p.m.

"I want a fast and hard-hitting club, and that's why I am putting Harold in the lineup. Jack Fisher's going to start on the mound, and behind the plate will be Denis Ball, his regular Savoy partner," Aurelio went on. "Art Ross will play third for that game, and in the second contest, Ross will pitch with Pete Kuntz catching, and Ball on third base."

The third, game, and fourth if necessary, will be played in Nelson the following Sunday, and if still a fifth is needed a coin will be tossed to decide where it will be played.

Nelson players to make the trip will be Denis Ball, Sid Ball, Al Emerby, Ernie Beland, Sid Ball, Carl Locatelli, Pete Kuntz, Captain Jesse Seaby, Jack Fisher, Art Ross, Len Bicknell and Phil Kuntz. They will leave at 10:30 a.m.

Mayo, a fine leadoff man in the batting order, has not been playing much softball this Summer because of conflict with the senior lacrosse schedule, but now that the Maples Leafs are out of it, he is available for softball.

Chapman Drives to Amateur Final

By BILL BONI
Associated Press Sports Writer

MAMARONECK, N. Y., Sept. 13 (AP).—One of the strongest comebacks in the history of the United States amateur golf championship today carried Dick Chapman into the final of the 1940 tournament against Warrenton Bannerman McCullough, Jr., of Philadelphia.

Chapman was five down to Wilford Wehrle of Chicago after the first nine holes of their 36-hole semi-final match.

But he choked off what had all the earmarks of a frightful blowup right there. From the 10th to the 18th Wehrle didn't win a hole, and Chapman won six to go one up.

In the afternoon Chapman kept to a steady par pace and came in the winner by 3 and 2.

McCullough, a 100-to-1 shot when match play started, gained the title bracket by beating Ray Billows of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., a finalist two of the last three years, 5 and 3.

Tigers Unload 16-hit Blast for 8-0 Win Over Yanks; Indians Win Again

By The Canadian Press

Detroit Tigers, baseball's hottest team in the September pennant drive, all but chased New York Yankees out of Briggs Stadium yesterday with a 16-hit fusillade that brought an 8-0 victory over the world champions.

Tommy Bridges, the 33-year-old Tennesseean, limited the Yankees to six singles.

It was Detroit's eighth victory in the last nine games and kept them a half game up on the Indians who shut out Boston. The Tigers now are three full games ahead of the Yankees.

Young Jim Bagby threw a sterling two-hit performance at the pennant-hungry Cleveland Indians this Friday the 13th and still dropped a 1-0 decision. The reason was Al Milnar. The big Cleveland southpaw granted Boston Red Sox only three singles to give the Indians their third straight triumph.

Big Bill Trotter, ordinarily a relief pitcher, went the route for the Browns for the first time this season and earned a 7-3 victory over Washington Senators.

Chicago White Sox swept their second straight doubleheader with Philadelphia Athletics 6-2 and 8-4 to run their victory string to five games. The Sox now are in sole possession of fourth place, a game and a half ahead of the Red Sox and 2½ behind the third-place Yankees.

The Giants lost a 5-2 decision to the National League leading Cincinnati Reds. The once mighty Carl Hubbell was touched for the loss, his 10th of the season as against 11 won.

The Dodgers, paced by the fine pitching of Rookie Ed Head who chalked up his first major league victory made it three straight over Pittsburgh Pirates with an 8-2 victory.

St. Louis Cardinals regained some of their lost ground by hammering three of four Boston Bees' pitchers for 11 hits and a 9-3 victory.

Kirby Higbe pitched the Phils to a 6-1 victory over Chicago Cubs, for his 13th triumph of the season. He limited Chicago to four hits.

First Games of World Ball Go to National Park

CHICAGO, Sept. 13 (AP).—As all baseball watched the closest pennant battle in the American League's 40-year history, the opening date of the 1940 World Series was fixed today as Wednesday, October 2, in the home park of the team winning the National League flag.

This was decided at a meeting before Baseball Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis attended by representatives of five American League clubs and two from the National circuit.

The first two games of the series will be played in the National League city, with the scene shifting to the American League park for the third, fourth and, if necessary, fifth contests. If the last two games of the four-out-of-seven series are necessary, they will be played in the home park of the National Leaguers.

All games will start at 10:30 a.m. P. S. T.

Should either New York Yankees or Boston represent the American League against Cincinnati — which has a big lead in the National League race — one day will be allowed for travel between the second and third games. No travel days will be required provided Detroit, Cleveland or Chicago are the American League representative.

New Seattle Hockey Club Owners Plan Brand New Setup

SEATTLE, Sept. 13 (AP)—The Seattle Hockey Club of the Pacific Coast League was sold today by President Phil Lycette to two Seattleites—Folger Peabody, oil man, and Jerry O'Neill, florist, for an undisclosed sum.

Dickering with U. C. Purcell of Los Angeles, who also was bidding for the club, fell through.

Peabody and O'Neill said "we're going to clean house—have a new manager and a lot of new players."

The Seattle club finished last in the three-team league last Winter under the management of Connie King.

Plans are for a larger league this year, with Spokane a possible entry.

Hockey, Skating to Go on as Usual in Civic Arena 1940-41

In spite of all rumors to the contrary, regular activities, such as hockey and skating, will be conducted in the Nelson Civic Centre Arena this Winter, Denis StDenis, Manager of the Civic Centre, said Friday.

Nor do officials see any reason why the West Kootenay Hockey League shouldn't operate with the same membership and as successfully as last season.

Londoners Faced With Deadly Peril Boast About New Barrage

By J. P. SANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Sept. 13 (CP Cable). — I returned to London today after three weeks in the country and found this air-beleaguered metropolis wounded and scarred but unconquered and unafraid.

I found houses demolished, buildings wrecked and gutted, and streets blocked, but that was only the bricks and mortar of this ancient city which the Romans laid out along the Thames. The real London, the London of flesh and blood, of valiant men and courageous women, was still defiant and still unbroken despite all the fury of Hitler's Air Force.

The tough fibre of these people must be seen to be believed. With wreckage all around them, thousands of them homeless, and with the German army massed across the Channel awaiting the word of High Command to invade their country, they spend the gravest hour of their history — perhaps in the history of the world — in boasting about the power, intensity and ferocity of London's air barrage.

I had not been in London five minutes before a taxi driver was telling me all about it, how powerful the guns were, and how successful they were in dispersing the sky raiders by sustained fire.

The guns have brought confidence to Londoners. The people are now convinced that their city is not just an area where German bombs may be dropped but one section of the world's surface where bombers are held and turned back by a vast, crackling furnace of destruction.

For the last two nights German bombers have encountered the heaviest barrage in world history when they flew over London. And Londoners settling down to air-raid shelters had a smile of satisfaction on their faces, satisfied that a few more bricks and mortar might be dislodged but that London would never be conquered from the air.

The people of London have suffered in the past two weeks. You can see that from their drawn and tired faces. Their nerves are worn but their spirits are still unconquered. Faith in their cause is undimmed and confidence in their power and strength is unslacked. They see their city shot to pieces, but not their history.

The fence of exploding steel in the sky that has ringed London the last two nights is based on new methods of prediction. It is a new weapon in the war and has had devastating effect on formations of bombers. Its object is to scatter the bombers and force them to attempt to break through singly.

It was estimated today by a gunfire expert that at least half the crews of German bombers that flew over London the last two nights were wounded by blast splinters and that half the raiders were damaged.

"Very few Boche planes got back to their bases without some parts of them being shot away and damaged," this expert declared.

One of the secrets of the new barrage is how the gunners can fire accurately at planes 20,000 feet high without searchlights. The new predictor has a super-sensitive ear that picks up the sound of the raider miles away.

The apparatus, rather like an adding machine, then produces automatically a complete series of altitudes and locations which an enemy plan must traverse if it keeps its course. Those areas are then shelled enclosing the plane in a certain of fire and forcing it either to turn back or risk destruction.

Somerset House Comes Under Fire

LONDON, Sept. 13 (CP)—Somerset House, historic building in the Strand now occupied by numerous government offices, the Picadilly Hotel and eight churches were listed by the Press Association today as being among London's buildings affected by recent German air raids.

Announcing it was now possible to disclose for the first time the identity of some of the structures damaged, the Press Association said:

"Among the buildings concerned are Somerset House, and the churches of St. Magnus the Martyr, St. Swithin's, Cannon Street, St. Mary-at-Hill, St. Dunstan's in-the-East; St. Mary Woolnoth; St. Clement's, East Cheap; St. Augustine's, Watling Street, and St. Giles Cripplegate.

"Rotten Row and Berkeley Square also were the affected, and among the places which have suffered were the Ford showrooms, the Picadilly Hotel and the premises occupied before the war by the Italian tourist company."

Rotten Row is the famous bridle path in the Hyde Park area frequented by London society and Berkeley Square is a well-known old residential section.

Japan Seeks Pact With Soviet Russia to Safeguard Rear

TOKYO, Sept. 13 (AP). — The newspaper Kokumin, often a spokesman for the army, asserted today the Japanese Government was making special efforts to reach an understanding with Soviet Russia on the ground the United States' preparedness program is directed at Japan.

A rapprochement is being sought in order to safeguard Japan's rear because, the Newspaper said, relations between the United States and Japan are "fraught with the danger of war."

The United States, the article continued, is offering severe strategic, economic and political opposition to Japan, indicating "deadly preparedness and definite plans."

As evidence, the newspaper cited appropriations for a two-ocean navy, and contended leasing of British territories in the Atlantic for naval bases would be followed by similar moves in the Pacific.

Ralston Visits Wakesiah Camp

NANAIMO, B. C., Sept. 13 (CP). —Hon. J. L. Ralston, Minister of National Defence, told 1600 men of the Non-Permanent Active Militia during an inspection of Wakesiah Camp near here today that they were "ready to help in Canada's job to beat Hitler."

The Minister congratulated the officers and men for their fine discipline, which he said "measured up" to the standards of the N. P. A. M., at Sarcee Camp near Calgary and Heals Camp near Victoria.

The Minister was accompanied by Co. A. A. McGee, Senior Executive Assistant; Lt. Alan Chambers, M. P., Brig.-Gen. C. V. Stockwell, D.O.C.; and Lt. Col. J. H. Jenkins, G.S.O.

Food Costs Slightly Up in U. S. Since War

CHICAGO, Sept. 13 (AP)—Feeding the United States family takes a bit more cash now than it did just before the war began a year ago, Commodity Market statistics indicated today, but there has been no hint of wartime skyrocketing of food prices.

Food costs prior to last September's sharp upturn, resulting from a speculative and hoarding rush to buy commodities, were the lowest in five years. Now the average is approximately three per cent higher but still two per cent below the peak reached two weeks after the war began.

Statisticians based their figures on wholesale rather than retail markets, regarding the former as better barometers of food costs in general because retail prices usually reflect varying conditions in different localities.

French Warships Pass Gibraltar

GIBRALTAR, Sept. 13 (CP) — British naval authorities announced last night three French cruisers and three destroyers had passed Gibraltar Wednesday Westbound into the Atlantic, but did not disclose destination of the vessels.

The destroyers were listed as the L'Audacieux, Le Malin and Le Fantesque, and the cruisers as Gloire, Montcalm and Georges Leygus.

(Dispatches Wednesday from Ceuta, Morocco, directly across from Gibraltar, said three destroyers and three cruisers flying the French flag had passed Westward through the straits that day unmolested by British batteries. The report could not be confirmed.)

This gave rise to speculation that French naval units which have been tied up at the Toulon naval base since the French-German armistice might have fled to join the British fleet.

Measles Outbreak at Shilo Brings C.B. to 500 Artillerymen

SHILO CAMP, Man., Sept. 13 (CP)—More than 500 artillerymen in training here were confined to barracks today following an outbreak of measles among several of the men. The sick men were in isolation in the camp hospital while two huts on the outskirts of the encampment were being prepared for isolation if further cases develop.

Meanwhile, the men exposed to the disease were held under guard in their huts.

Shilo camp is 120 miles West of Winnipeg.

Raider Flies Over Northern Ireland

BELFAST, Sept. 13 (AP)— A German plane dropped a number of incendiary bombs on Northern Ireland today. Fighter planes went after the raider and followed it out to sea. An auctioneer's premises, a public house and a private home were set afire. Two bombs fell in the main street near an air raid shelter.

Fire Destroys Nine Years' Labor in Church; Londoners Take Water Bus

LONDON, Sept. 13 (CP Cable) — A petroleum cannister hit a Roman Catholic church in West London during the night and started a fire which burned out the inside of the building.

"We had not long ago finished renovations which had taken us nine years to complete and the church was destroyed within four hours," one of the priests told the British Press Association.

"We had a new roof and a new electric organ installed, and now only the walls stand. We saved what really mattered to us—the sacraments. I was there within a few minutes but found even then the building was ablaze."

Two houses a few doors away also were badly damaged by incendiary bombs.

This first daylight raid alarm had found many of London's streets crowded with traffic, and early risers on their way to work carried on for the most part without changing pace.

A steady stream of buses and pedestrians was crossing the Thames bridges as anti-aircraft batteries in Southwest London opened up at a low flying plane which appeared shortly after the alarm sounded and drove it off in a Northerly direction.

Despite the morning alarm Londoners took with enthusiasm to the new Thames "water-bus" service and hundreds turned up when the first boats began plying between Westminster and Woolwich.

One Cockney passenger remarked jokingly to a ferryman:

"Hi, mate, ain't we got a convoy?"

McNaughton Tells of Plans for New Canadian Corps

SOMEWHERE IN SOUTHERN ENGLAND, Sept. 13 (CP Cable).—Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, inaugurating a series of weekly education talks to officers' training units, today unfolded his plans for building a new Canadian Corps to carry the war to enemy territory.

He said the 1940 edition of the corps was faster, and harder hitting than the famous Canadian Corps of the last war because of modern mechanization.

Speaking from a stage of the garrison theatre he said Canada had a larger proportion of engineers than any other country in the world and full use would be made of this asset. Both in numbers and equipment engineers in the new Canadian Corps would be exceptionally strong to "clear the way for these forces which are being developed here at the moment for defence, but later, in our own good time, to carry the war abroad."

He said the structure in general of this new corps would follow the British War Office specifications, but that there would be certain differences to make the fullest use of special Canadian qualities and qualifications.

French Trawlers Tied Up at Islands Await British Order

ST. PIERRE ET MIQUELON, Sept. 13 (CP). — Twelve French fishing trawlers, their home markets cut off by the British blockade of the European coast, are riding at anchor in these small French possessions off the South coast of Newfoundland.

Since the French capitulation, France has been added to the territories blockaded by the Royal Navy, to ensure that foodstuffs or other commodities do not fall into the hands of Germany or Italy.

There was some speculation recently that the catches of the French trawlers might be taken to the French West Indies possessions of Guadeloupe and Martinique.

Meanwhile, the 12 trawlers, loaded down with catches of fish, are tied up here pending clarification by the Canadian and British Governments of the status of these Islands.

(Four French trawlers, with their catches, put in at an East coast Canadian port after the French signed the armistice with Germany and Italy and they were taken over by the Canadian Government.)

Germans Make First Report on Essen Bombing

BERLIN, Sept. 13 (AP). — The British planes bombed Germany's principal industrial city of Essen, seat of the Krupp Munitions Works, last night, authorized sources said today.

Casualties and damage were not reported.

It was the first report from German sources of a British bombing of the great sprawling industrial city. (British communiques have announced numerous attacks on Essen.)

The German High Command communique admitted that R. A. F. planes had entered Northern and Western Germany.

NEWSMAN TAKES OVER INFORMATION SECTION

LONDON, Sept. 13 (CP). — Douglas Williams, former New York correspondent for the Daily Telegraph, took over direction today of the American section of the Ministry of Information. He succeeds Sir Frederick Whyte, who resigned.

First Great War Pensioners Praised

SAINT JOHN, N. B., Sept. 13 (CP) — Canada's War Pensioners of 1914-18, who have gone through life under physical handicaps resulting from their services to the Empire, have set a notable example to their fellow citizens of the Dominion in the present conflict, Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Minister of Pensions and National Health, said in an interview here today.

The first Great War Pensioners have shown the way to all Canada in doing their bit to help the National War Effort, the Minister said. These men — who with advancing years are more and more dependent on their comparatively small pension cheques — have been making "a touching and heroic sacrifice for the cause of liberty." More than 8000 war pensioners have written to Ottawa asking that portion of their pensions be deducted monthly from their cheques and made available to Canada's war chest.

The total subscription to War Saving Certificates made by our pensioners is now $732,000 a year — and new subscriptions are pouring in with every mail," Mr. Mackenzie said.

"In an amazing number of cases the pensioners have made straight donations of their pensions to the country. The total of these outright gifts now exceed $1000 a month."

Export Business Fails to Arouse Buying Interest

WINNIPEG, Sept. 12 (CP). — Export business involving approximately 2,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat and flour, believed to be for deferred shipment to the United Kingdom, was reported on Winnipeg Grain Exchange today. It failed to arouse buying interest in the wheat pit, however, and prices closed at fixed minimum levels of 73⅝ cents a bushel for the October future and 74⅜ cents a bushel for December.

Cash wheat traders reported an excellent demand for all grades of wheat, specially lower grades which were quoted at slightly better spreads. Trade was restricted by light offerings.

Prices were firm in the coarse grain pit. Maltsters were purchasing barley and Eastern domestic interests showed interest in oats. Trade was thin in the other grains.

General Business Improves in Canada

WINNIPEG, Sept. 13 (CP).—Improvement in the general trend of trade in most lines of Canadian business was noted in the weekly report of the Canadian Credit Men's Trust Association.

Continued activity in the building trades with consequent good movement of supplies in allied trades was a feature of reports from all parts of the Dominion.

Government contracts accounted for much of the activity, although real estate and business construction were reported ahead of last year in Montreal.

Dry goods wholesalers in most parts reported improvements in sales.

Collections varied from slow to fair.

C. P. R. was one of the most active of the interlisted group and it firmed a fraction. Senior oils held steady.

The retreat in golds carried Hollinger, Pickle Crow, Teck-Hughes, Wright-Hargreaves, East Malartic and Hard Rock down by 5 to 15 cents and soft spots in the penny list involved Delnite, God's Lake, Naybob and Malartic Gold Fields.

Nickel, Noranda and Smelters eased off and losses of 5 to 8 cents were netted by Sudbury Basin, Steep Rock and Waite-Amulet.

Home Oil declined 5 cents and smaller losses came through for Calgary and Edmonton and Fothills. Royalite lost 2 points for broken lots. Slightly higher prices ruled for Pacalta and Vermilata.

New cottages will be built and with an excellent water supply a larger light plant installed and in every way the camp will be modernly developed. For the past two years the place has been on lease to E. G. Timmons, who has the post office.

War news has the sole criterion of operations, and the war news only disclosed that Britain is resisting all attacks.

Many Farm Youths Join N.P.A.M. Units

LONDON, Sept. 13 (CP)—Gunner Ernest Hudson of the 53th Battery Royal Canadian Artillery, is typical of the scores of farm youths who joined non-permanent active militia units in Western Ontario prior to Aug. 13, deadline, and who are coming to town two nights weekly for training.

He lives with his mother on a small farm about four miles from London. Each training night he walks to the city and home again. He even managed to attend a two-week's camp at Thames Valley, although it cost him money.

It is difficult to estimate the number of farmers' sons who have joined the N.P.A.M. units in this territory during the past six weeks but one officer said it is a considerable number. The dozen-odd units with headquarters in London are believed to have at least 150 farm boys on their strength.

Britain May Be Using Infra-Red Detector

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP) — Reports of London's intensified and increasingly effective anti-aircraft barrage caused conjecture and congressional circles today as to whether Britain had developed an infra-red ray plane detector like that possessed by the United States army.

Experiments with the apparatus in the United States were so successful army officials said it would lead to ultimate abandonment of the sound-detection method for locating enemy aircraft.

The new device, synchronized with anti-aircraft batteries, was described as designed to locate approaching aircraft by the infra-red rays in their engine exhaust, and thus is effective at night or in foggy weather.

One congressman said tests at Fort Bragg, N. C., demonstrated the equipment could spot approaching planes accurately at a distance of 14 miles.

East End Bombed 'Like a Ruddy Naval Base;' Spends 12th Night in Shelters

By DREW MIDDLETON
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Sept. 13 (AP)—The all-clear shrilled through the cold wet dawn in the populous and poverty-stricken East End, a district which in the words of its own citizens has been bombed "like a ruddy naval base" these past two weeks.

I came out of the shelter, stiff-jointed and bleary-eyed as were the 41 other persons who had been down there with me during a nine-hour Nazi air raid.

Down the street they straggled through the rain, some carrying mattresses balanced on their heads, others with bedclothes bundled under their arms.

"That makes 12 nights we been in there, Ma," a barefoot youngster called. The mother nodded wearily.

The men were restless. They'd put in nine hard hours on the docks, but they'd sleep only in spells, going out between naps to gaze at the sky.

I went out with one of them, an ox of a man about 55.

We lit our pipes and watched the anti-aircraft shells bursting. Bombs came screaming down.

"There's a noise I don't like," he said. "It fair gives you the shivers. I was at Mons. It thought I'd never get 'windy' again but, Lord, that gets me."

The guns broke out into a more deafening iron clamor.

"Listen at 'em," he beamed admiringly. "We're giving them what for tonight. Feels a little better with them guns firing though they do make a lot of noise."

He peered at the dripping skies for a moment in silence.

"We can't all sleep on them mattresses, ain't room," explained one man. "So let the women and tykes have them."

When I saw the surface of the shelter from the outside it looked imposingly solid. The concrete floor and brick walls appeared able to stop anything.

The air inside was damp, the rain spattered outside. The women and children seemed to sleep soundly. When the guns awoke the youngest, the mothers would cuddle them in their arms reassuringly and hush their cries.

It was a quarter of six. We'd been in the shelter since nine last night, a motley conflomeration of women, children and men—mostly dock workers and their families—and a few oldsters of both sexes.

"My mother won't come in here," one woman said. "She says if she's going to die she wants to die in bed like a Christian. She's that stubborn. I don't mind, though, for it's fair cold out there."

PROSPECT OF HEAVIER TAXES IN BRITAIN

LEEDS, Sept. 13 (CP)—The prospect of heavier taxes was seen today in a declaration by Sir Kingsley Wood, Chancellor of the Exchequer, that it is undesirable for the country to try to finance itself through the war mainly by treasury bills and other forms of unfounded debt.

Sir Kingsley, addressing the lord mayor's luncheon here said the large sums required to avoid inflation meant a strict reducing in consumption, heavy taxation and continuous saving and lending.

"It can not profit anyone to withhold a single penny," he said. "We have much to endure, much to suffer."

A resolution dealing with the maintaining of the Monashee Road for an all-Winter service was endorsed unanimously. ## Credit Balance for Scout, Cub Camps Reported

Association to Aim at Improvement of Hall

Nelson District Scout Association, resuming its meetings after a Summer recess, heard a report Thursday that the season's camps held at Camp Busk, Kokanee, had operated with a credit balance of $2.44 instead of a debit as in the past two or three years.

The financial statement for the Scout and Cub camps showed receipts totalling $324.04, of which $235.50 was in fees, $39.60 from the canteen, and the remainder donations. Expenses incurred were almost entirely for foodstuffs, the only major item other than foods being $30 for cook's wages, and $39.60 for the canteen.

CUB CAMP

H. L. Dee, Camp Cubmaster, reported a total attendance of 40, made up as follows: First Nelson Pack, 17, Second Nelson, 1; Third Nelson, 6; South Slocan Pack, 9; Kaslo Pack, 7.

Five assistant leaders attended, including a first aid man. Tenderpad tests were passed by Cubs and instruction was given for first and second stars. South Slocan won the tent inspection competition, and Edward Olson of South Slocan was adjudged best camper and all-round Cub. Attendance of visitors was good.

SCOUT CAMP

Scoutmaster L. P. Walton, reported 40 Scouts in attendance at the Scout Camp, made up as follows: Creston, 6; South Slocan-Bonnington, 2; First Nelson Troop, 13; Second Nelson Troop, 6; Third Nelson Troop, 13.

Five instructors were J. Holland, F. D. Oliver, E. Jorgenson, R. Thain and J. Weaver.

Second class work included: Semaphore, 1; first aid, 15; tracking, 18; Scout pace, 14; compass, 18; cooking and fire lighting, 14; month's service 1.

First class badge work: Swimming, 20; Morse signalling, 1; Semaphore signalling, 1; first aid, 11; cooking, 24; pioneer, 19; estimating 1; journey, 14.

Proficiency badge work: Rescuers, 2; cyclist, 1.

The camp was marked by freedom from accidents, a cut being the most serious.

WOULD DO OWN COOKING

Scoutmaster Walton suggested that at next year's camp the Scouts should do their own cooking. "They do it in other camps and we can do it also," he asserted.

In order to complete clearing up the camp and grounds a work party was planned for September 22, and several offers of assistance were accepted.

The Association decided to turn its endeavors now to the Scout Hall. The Property Committee announced its intention to build cupboards for the Ladies' Auxiliary, repair the sidewalks, and erect a flag pole. The latter was sorely needed, it was stated.
