HITLER TRIES TO FAN SERB-CROAT HATREDS

Will History Repeat?
Did the Marseillais Again Light a Flame Which Will Spread All Over France?
(See Page 3 for Story)
LA MARSELLAISE
Soldiers of France, the morn is breaking.
The day of glory dawns at last. See the tyrant's banner shaking. As it barely streams in the blast!
The hour of battle lies before you.
Fierce foemen advance in their pride,
Confusion spreading o'er and wide,
While for aid your children implore you.

Encouragement Is Sent King Peter by U. S. President

Germany Reported Sending 200,000 Troops Into Bulgaria While British Continue to Land Troops in Greece
WASHINGTON, March 28 (AP)—President Roosevelt gave full recognition tonight to the new Yugoslavian Government headed by the boy King, Peter II, and sent him a message encouraging him to resist Axis aggression.
"I extend the hope," the President said, "that the relations between your Government and the Government of the United States may be mutually beneficial in the support of those principles of liberty and tolerance cherished by the Yugoslav and the American peoples."

British and Greek Submarines Hit Italian Shipping

LONDON, March 28 (CP)—Hitting anew at Italian transports and supply ships in the Mediterranean, British and Greek submarines have accounted for three ships and damaged a fourth, it was announced today.
In London the Admiralty said the submarine Parthian had sunk a 6000-ton supply or troop ship, and a 10,000-ton tanker, in convoy South of Italy.
In Athens the Ministry of Marine announced that the 540-ton Italian supply ship Carina was destroyed March 23 by the Greek submarine Triton while being escorted in an Italian convoy. A smaller ship in convoy was damaged.

Salvage Campaign Begins April 14

OTTAWA, March 28 (CP)—The National War Services Department announced in a statement today Monday, April 14, has been chosen as opening day for the national salvage campaign to be conducted by the Department.
The statement quoted War Services Minister Gardiner as saying he realized spending public energy on a salvage campaign might not seem very wise use of such energy, but he added:
"This is not so. Literally millions of dollars worth of raw materials are lying around loose across Canada. Literally millions of dollars of other raw materials are thrown away annually by Canadians. To salvage both types of raw materials is a very direct contribution to winning the war.
We can save scrap to scrap Hitler.
The statement said experts estimated Canadians waste "something like $22,000,000 worth of usable material" every year.
This coast-to-coast drive to rescue metals from dump heaps, bones from kitchens, rags from garrets, waste paper from basements, glass from back sheds, old rubber tires from garages and a score of other discarded things... is part of Canada's great war effort," the department said.

Late Flashes

LONDON, March 28 (CP)—The British Broadcasting Corporation tonight announced that Prime Minister Churchill's broadcast speech, scheduled for Sunday night, has been postponed "for a few days." It gave no reason.
ISTANBUL, March 28 (Saturday)—An oil storage depot located outside Istanbul was reported on fire early today.
The fire's cause and its extent were not immediately known.
ZAGREB, Yugoslavia, March 28 (AP)—The statue of King Peter I was mysteriously bombed here today.
Peter, grandfather of King Peter II, was the last King of Serbia and technically the first King of the new nation of Yugoslavia, although he lived in retirement and let his son, King Alexander, run the Government. He died in 1921.

Veteran Railroaders Making Last Runs

VANCOUVER, March 28 (CP)—Two veteran Canadian Pacific railroaders today started their last runs.
Fred W. Crick, who has been handling engines on the British Columbia District since 1916, is making his last run to North Bend. He will return tonight. Train Baggage-man John Howard Stephenson is making his final run to Kamloops. He will return here Sunday morning.

Cut Car Production

OTTAWA, March 28 (CP)—Production of Canadian automobile plants which were not turning out cars before Dec. 2 last year has been limited under an order of the motor vehicle controller published tonight in the Canada Gazette.
The order says no person who was not manufacturing automobiles in Canada prior to that date may manufacture more automobiles of any one kind, type or model, than the number of that particular kind which would be imported under permit from the National Revenue Department.

Queen Inspects Camouflaged Gun Position

Queen Elizabeth is shown leaving a well camouflaged gun position at the Polish troop encampment somewhere in England, after a tour of inspection. General Sikorski, leader of the Free Polish forces, is lifting camouflaged netting to permit the Queen to pass through the lines of sandbags.

SERVICES DRIVE IS OVER $700,000 MARK

TORONTO, March 28 (CP)—National Campaign Headquarters of the Canadian War Services Fund announced tonight that total contributions to date are $708,024. The drive, with a $5,000,000 objective, started five days ago.
Officials said that one of the most encouraging features of the campaign to date is the spirit and enthusiasm shown by small subscribers.

Sleeping Tablet Out by Mistake

CHICAGO, March 28 (AP)—The American Medical Association announced tonight that a powerful sleeping tablet had accidentally been substituted for a new drug in the manufacture of 410,000 tablets of the drug.
The Association said the drug was sulphathiazole, prepared by a New York drug concern. The company, the A. M. A. said, had inadvertently contaminated sulphathiazole with phenobarbital. Sulphathiazole is used in the treatment of pneumonia and certain infections.
The concern immediately began to recall all orders from wholesalers and notified the Federal Food and Drug Administration, which has sent hundreds of inspectors into the field to trace the shipment.

Nazi Freighter Trying Blockade

SANTOS, Brazil, March 28 (AP)—The 5567-ton German freighter, Dresden with clearance papers for a voyage to Vladivostok, Russia, sailed tonight in an apparent attempt to run the British blockade.
Commanded by Capt. W. Jaeger, the vessel had a crew of 49 and had been in refuge here since Nov. 25, 1939.
British sources declined to state whether any ships in the South Atlantic patrol were on the lookout, but it was recalled that the big auxiliary British cruiser Asturias recently steamed out of Buenos Aires harbor. Others also may be in this vicinity inasmuch as the Dresden, three other German ships, and one Italian oil tanker have shown signs of leaving port.
The other Nazi ships are the Babington, anchored here, the Lech at Rio de Janeiro, the Norderny at Belem. The Italian vessel is the Franco Martelli at Recife.
The Dresden still had its original cargo of Argentine wheat.

Netherlander Fined for Wearing Badge; Many Badges Appear

AMSTERDAM, (via Berlin) March 28 (AP)—A German court at The Hague today fined a young Netherlander 40 guilders (nominally about $20) for wearing a small, orange-colored lion in his lapel, and the occupational authorities thus record their first formal objection to this growing form of demonstration by badge.
The judge held that the man in question displayed anti-Germanism because the lion comes from the royal coat of arms of the House of Orange, which is at war with the Reich.
Almost every Netherlander has been wearing a badge in recent days. There are any number of non-party label buttons of mysterious origin, such as the one which the court ruled upon today.

Huge Sums Sent to U.S. for Safekeeping

WASHINGTON, March 28 (AP)—The Treasury, disclosing some details of the huge movement of foreign money to the United States for safekeeping during 1940, said today that foreign short term banking accounts rose $721,827,000 to a total of $3,776,653,000.
France boosted its balance by $201,968,000. Switzerland increased its deposits $132,037,000. Scandinavia and Balkan countries jumped theirs $133,678,000.
Purchases of war materials reduced United Kingdom deposits by $82,753,000. Because of fears that the United States might "freeze" their funds, Germany withdrew $2,760,000 and Italy $20,596,000 from their known bank accounts.

Interior Firms to Bid on 4300 Army Tables

CRESTON, B.C., March 28—Two Nelson wood-working plants will have opportunity to submit bids for 4300 tables for prairie military training centres.
Following the recent inspection visit by W. Lloyd Craig, B.C. representative of the Bureau of Industrial and Trade Extension, Frank Putnam, M.L.A., was on Friday advised by Mr. Craig that Kootenay Sash & Door Works and T. H. Waters Co., Ltd. are to receive an invitation to tender on the construction of 2500 tables for Winnipeg, 1400 for Calgary and 400 for Saskatoon.
Mr. Craig pointed out that bids were being asked from other wood-working concerns in the Interior as well as at the coast, but their geographical location should place the Nelson firms in a favorable position.
The matter of machine shops, etc., will be gone into at the first available opportunity, said Mr. Craig, writing from Ottawa under date of March 25.

MAYOR ADVISED OF TENDERS

Invitational tenders on the manufacture of wooden tables for the Army will be forwarded by Ottawa to Interior wood-working factories.
Mayor N.C. Stibbs received a letter Friday from W. Lloyd Craig, B.C. Department of Trade and Industry Representative at Ottawa, stating he had been able to arrange for Interior firms, among them two Nelson factories, to bid on the equipment. A total of 4300 articles will be required.
Mr. Craig, who on a recent visit to Nelson inspected local shops and factories and received representations from other District points, was hopeful of obtaining work for other shops.

Trial Blackout Is Planned in Vancouver

VANCOUVER, March 28 (CP)—Greater Vancouver will hold a trial "blackout" about the middle of May, Mayor J. W. Cornell, Chairman of the city's Civilian Protection Committee, announced today, following a conference with Attorney-General Gordon S. Wismer.
One of the first groups of strikes turned over to the Defence Mobilization Board for settlement was lifted out of its hands tonight when a Congress of Industrial Organizations Committee and the management reached an agreement ending the five weeks' work stoppage at the Universal-Cyclops Steel Corporation, Bridgeville, Pa.
C. I. O. workers also ended their strike at one Bethlehem Steel Company plant, but walked out at another and began taking a vote on a strike at three of the company's shipyards in the New York City area.
The Mediation Board moved swiftly to try to adjust the other disputes, while in Congress reports circulated that the administration might seek sweeping new powers to deal with defence production stoppages.
As a first step, the Board ordered hearings in Washington tomorrow on strikes at the Vanadium Corporation, Bridgeville, Pa., and the Cornell-Dubiler Company, South Plainfield, N. J. A hearing on strikes in four plants of the International Harvester Company was called for Monday.
The Board also asked that work be resumed at all plants while its mediation efforts are under way.
International Harvester immediately announced that it would open its closed plants. More than 20,000 workers are employed in its four Illinois and Indiana plants.

Hanson Suggests New Wheat Price

OTTAWA, March 28 (CP)—Assurance that bonuses to Western farmers for growing coarse grains instead of wheat will not work to the disadvantage of Eastern farmers was given by Agriculture Minister Gardiner in the House of Commons today after Conservative House Leader Hanson offered an alternative to the Government's wheat acreage reduction program.
Mr. Gardiner said the Federal Government now was paying half the freight on Western coarse grains shipped into Ontario and this was just about equal on a per-bushel basis to the $2 an acre to be paid Western farmers who use wheat acreage for coarse grains.
He promised that if the acreage bonus aided Western farmers in livestock production Eastern farmers would be given a chance to buy Western grain at the same price as Western farmers.
Mr. Hanson urged the Government to drop the whole acreage bonus plan and instead pay Western farmers a higher price for their wheat on restricted deliveries.
"Let us raise the basic wheat price to the farmer to a point where it at least approaches the cost of production and approaches parity with the prices of other farm products and the cost of implements of production," he said.
He declined to say what the price should be on the ground that that was a matter for experts.

Fear Croatia May Bear Main Fury of German Attack

Axis Alliance Repudiated, "Compliance Impossible"; U.S. Formally Promises Full Aid to Any Resistance
BELGRADE, March 28 (AP)—Yugoslavia, today repudiated, in effect, the Axis Alliance and informed quarters close to the new Government predicted that Germany would withhold military assault at least momentarily while trying to break up the country from within.
Hitler would try to achieve this goal, it was suggested, by exploiting old Serb-Croat hatreds.
The Yugoslav Army, 1,200,000 strong, stood mobilized at the frontiers, ready for any military threat, but sharpened interest shifted to Zagreb, where the Croat leader, Vice Premier Vladimir Macek, debated with his lieutenants whether to remain in the new Cabinet.
Macek, a holdover from the government which was kicked out on Thursday, was said to fear that Croatia, the Northern part of the country, would bear the first fury of any German attack.
The Governor of Croatia was understood, however, to be negotiating with Macek and the new Premier, Gen. Dusan Simovic, for continued Croat representation in the Cabinet.
Aware of the situation, the new Government informed Germany that the pact signed last Tuesday at Vienna by the men who were overthrown two days later would be neither renewed nor ratified, but would be left dangling while Yugoslavia maintained "full and absolute" neutrality toward everyone.
This amounts to outright repudiation, and high diplomatic sources said the Germans had been told flatly that compliance was "impossible" because it would be contrary to the will of the Yugoslav people.
The German Minister, Viktor von Heeren, was reported authoritatively tonight to have delivered a two-point note protesting the breaking of Germans and demanding a satisfactory written declaration of the Yugoslav position, declaring that Germany considers the pact binding.

On the other hand, the United States Minister, Arthur Bliss Lane, delivered formally an American proffer of full aid to Yugoslavia in resisting aggression, and the young King Peter swore on the cross to "keep forever the unity of the nation" and its independence.
The Turkish Minister was reported to have proposed to Premier Simovic a mutual assistance pact.
The Germans were pelted as electing to reserve their military power as a last resort.
To the jubilant Belgrade public, the centre of the universe today was not in the council chambers of the frontier redoubts, but the altar of the Serb Orthodox Cathedral in Belgrade.
There 17-year-old King Peter stood in the bright uniform of a general of aviation.
The patriarch, in red and gold robes, presented a golden cross.
Peter reverently kissed it and solemnly intoned:
"Peter the Second, ascending to the throne of the Kingdom of Yugoslavia and taking over Royal power, swear by God the Almighty that I will keep forever the unity of the nation, the independence of the country, and the integrity of State territory."
Ronald Ian Campbell, the British Minister, and his United States colleagues, had to fend off good-naturedly the handshakes and kisses of the crowd when they entered the Cathedral for the ceremony.
Friends of Macek said he was fearful that Premier Simovic, King Peter and the Church might seek to abolish the agreement for Croat home rule, reached in 1938.
The weekly paper, Srpski Glas, banned a year ago because of anti-Croat articles, appeared again, and some Croats charged it was backed by the Orthodox Church.
The internal problem goes back to the founding of this state after the First Great War, with relations of the Serbs and Croats as the fundamental difficulty. The situation always has been complicated by religious and cultural differences, the Orthodox Serbs being antipathetic to the Roman Catholic Croats.
A source close to the Government said some Cabinet members held that "Yugoslavia should respect all outstanding agreements which are open and public."
This was possibly significant because the First Great War, with the Vienna ceremony that Yugoslavia had signed several secret clauses to the Axis Pact.
Meanwhile it was reported without official confirmation that all the old Cabinet members except former Premier Cvetkovic and former Foreign Minister Aleksandar Cincar-Markovic had been released.
A broadcast in Russian, purportedly from Moscow and heard here three times during the day, said that Russia regarded the change in government as "the normal over-

Story of Britain at War Sells Fast

LONDON, March 28 (CP Cable)—Britons, long familiar with a story of the Royal Air Force's defence of the islands' skies against Nazi raiders, still like to read about it.
The first printing of 500 copies of an Air Ministry pamphlet entitled "The Battle of Britain" sold out today less than 48 hours after going on sale.
A second printing of 300,000 was ordered and is in progress.
The 32-page 10,000-word pamphlet caught the fancy of the ill-minded British public; it has a vivid story to tell and tells it beautifully. The price, threepence about 25 cents is within the range of eye pocket. Wide publicity helped boost the sale.
Because of the newsprint shortage the Government preferred to print two fewer rather than too many copies. The demand is expected to be met by early next week. The name of the author has not been disclosed.
The booklet tells a story known to all, covering the 84 days from Aug. 7, 1940 into the Winter during which Britain withstood an air assault and dealt blow after blow against the Nazi raiders.
The booklet says that future historians may compare these air fights to Marathon, Trafalgar and the Battle of the Marne.

Soldier to Hang

LONDON, Ont., March 28 (CP)—Gen. James McGuffin was sentenced to death early tonight after a jury convicted him of the murder of Charles Kennedy in a London bar-parlor Feb. 24.
Although the jury considered the indictment involving Kennedy's murder, McGuffin was charged with the double slaying of Kennedy and George Stonehouse.

New Strikes on as Old Ones Halt

WASHINGTON, March 28 (AP)—One of the first groups of strikes turned over to the Defence Mobilization Board for settlement was lifted out of its hands tonight when a Congress of Industrial Organizations Committee and the management reached an agreement ending the five weeks' work stoppage at the Universal-Cyclops Steel Corporation, Bridgeville, Pa.

Big Shortage of Wheat in France

VICHY, March 28 (AP).—Despite a truce agreement with the occupied zone and imports from colonies, occupied France has a wheat shortage of 400,000 tons (16,333,333 bushels), Jean Achard, Secretary of food supply, claimed today.
This figure, Achard told United States newsmen, was presented to American Government during recent negotiations for experimental shipments of American grain and other foodstuffs to occupied France.
The hitherto little-publicized exchange agreement between the two zones had brought from Washington demand on Ambassador Admiral William D. Leahy for a full report. Preparations already had been made for a shipment of two Red

Little Glamour in Adventures of Crewmen of Merchant Ships in War

By DOUG HOW
Canadian Press Staff Writer
HALIFAX (CP)—Peasants of praise have fallen of late on the hardy and deserving crews of the merchant marine. Newspapers and magazines have sprung to the lap of this previously undisturbed reservoir of human interest.
Thousands of words have told the world of these so-called guardians of the lifelines of an Empire fighting for her very existence. And your average merchant seaman thinks it is all a lot of puff.
He likes to read these extolling epos, certainly; human beings are built that way. But the word "hero" is one he never takes into consideration in respect to himself.
In appearance, your average merchant seaman is no more of a magazine cover glamour boy than the birded hand down on your uncle's farm. He wears a blue uniform, has a beard, and the begrimed service station attendant at the next street or any other workaday personality.
Actually he is a hero, but to Joe Sailor himself his seafaring life is only a job and his monetary benefits are his first consideration. Essentially he's an individual and an adventurer, he probably went to sea to find the freedom that he'd never find in a factory or an office.
OF MANY LANDS
In his own, unglittering way, Joe Sailor is a colorful man. He might come from any one of dozens of lands. In this port city, you can find at any time Britons, Norwegians, Africans, Arabs, Rumanians, Chinese or you name them.
He lives a hard life and he's a leathery tough man. His hair is rufled, his hands gnarled, his language rich in the pungent phrases of his trade.
Your man might be Ernest May 22, of Chatham, N. B., a veteran of one pre-war voyage who has shipped on four vessels of three nationalities since.
May, like others of his kind, is continually shopping around for better ships and better pay. He has found that foreign ships pay more money than British and that's what puts him aboard the Greek freighter "Emmy" when she put out from an East Coast port some months ago.
Four hundred miles off Newfoundland, the "Emmy" started to founder in a heavy storm and her skipper put back into the port whence she sailed, leaving his deck cargo of pit-drops to the Atlantic.
A merchant seaman's pay would not entice a bank manager. For his peacetime voyage, May, a cook, drew about $33 a month. Aboard two Dutch ships, he made about $85 a month in their trips into war zone waters and while they were moored in Britain his employers gave him an extra pound a week.
British ships, by government order, give their men a five pound war bonus each month but an average ordinary seaman on an average British freighter would make little more than $70 a month in crossing an ocean where death is a constant menace. The pay goes up after the crewman has 18 months' experience, when he is classified as an able bodied seaman.
Your average mariner gets far less than that for living aboard a dingy vessel eating rationed food, facing all types of weather while always confronted by death.
His ship generally gives Joe a blanket, a sheet, a straw mattress and a pillow for his bed. If he wants more he gets it himself. If he works for some companies his pay stops when his ship is torpedoed and he is given a month's extra pay when he is landed ashore. Different firms have different arrangements.
Edward Pitcher, a 22-year-old Montrealer, for instance, was given $112 to replace his clothes and $125 in war risk money because he was aboard a torpedoed Norwegian liner.

Ten Thousand Marseillais Acclaim Serbs and Show French Hatred for Germans

MARSEILLE, France, March 28 (AP)—A shouting "long live Yugoslavia" crowd of 10,000 poured spontaneously into the place de la Bourse today where the late King Alexander of Yugoslavia was assassinated in 1934.

The unscheduled demonstration which grew in volume every hour, came after word was whispered through the city that a new anti-Axis Yugoslav Government had been formed.

Early this morning the people began to drop bouquets at the scene of Alexander's assassination and at the monument to the father of Yugoslavia's young King Peter II.

As the heaps of flowers mounted, 200 police were called out to halt the procedure and crowds began to gather.

In the Place de la Bourse the crowds sang the Marseillaise and applauded each time someone evaded the police cordon and succeeded in adding to the floral offerings.

A similar demonstration took place before the statue at the police prefecture.

The demonstration grew loudest when members of the Yugoslav colony here, accompanied by members of the "Poilus of the East Association," appeared to decorate the monument to Alexander.

When police lines kept the crowds from the plaques which mark the place of the assassination, the people boarded a trolley car and tossed their flowers from the doors and windows as it went past.

Children, whom the police were unable to control, slipped through and laid little bunches of flowers on the pile which almost covered the monument.

Germans Forced to Reorganize Balkan Policy

LONDON, March 28 (CP)—Military authorities declared today Yugoslavia's revolution would force Germany to revise its Balkan strategy.

"They will have to rearrange any plans they may have had," these circles said.

They declared the Yugoslav coup which set Gen. Dusan Simovic, a hardened soldier at the head of the Balkan country's government, has presented the German Army commanders with a set of difficulties which might hold up any definite moves for a short time.

"From a military standpoint whether the Yugoslavs adopt neutrality or not (reports from Belgrade said they would), the Germans have had such a setback that they will have to reorganize the whole of their plans and timetable."

It was pointed out communications generally ran North and South and it would not be easy for the Germans in Bulgaria to make a right-hand turn and attack Yugoslavia.

Bulgarian troops which have been placed along the Yugoslav Eastern frontier also would be in the way of German troops driving towards Yugoslavia.

Yugoslav Flag Flies at Masthead Again

SYDNEY, Australia, March 28 (CP Cable)—The Yugoslav Consulate in Sydney, which served in the Australian Imperial force in the First Great War and on Wednesday told his demonstrating countrymen that he intended to resign, issued a statement today saying he could now hold his head high with pride instead of bowing it in shame.

The Consulate flag, at half mast Thursday, was at the masthead today. The Consul was inundated with congratulations, the senders including the leader of the Free French Community in Australia and John Curtin, Federal Labor leader, who said "events in Yugoslavia confirm my belief that an aroused and determined people can halt and defeat Hitler."

Pattullo Pledges Gov't Cooperation to Alaska Road

WASHINGTON, March 28 (AP)—Assurances of British Columbia's desire to cooperate in constructing a 1,800-mile highway linking the United States and Alaska were given by Premier J. D. Pattullo of British Columbia to the Alaska International Highway Commission today.

The highway would be used to transport supplies to U. S. military bases in Alaska.

The Commission, of which Representative Magnuson (Dem., of Washington) is Chairman, went into a closed session to discuss possible routes and ways of financing the project which would cost an estimated $25,000,000.

A. A. Berle, Assistant Secretary of State, told the Commission in opening formalities that he hoped the conference would produce recommendations which the State Department might use in preparing a treaty.

Mr. Pattullo said he could assure the Commission that British Columbia was interested in the development and pledged the cooperation of his Government.

Charles Stewart, Chairman of the Canadian section of the Commission, was ill and unable to attend today's meeting.

After both Governments have agreed on the route and financing, a treaty would be drawn, Magnuson said.

Members of the Commission said two general routes were under consideration. Each would extend to Fairbanks, Alaska from the highway that now terminates at Fort St. James, B. C., one route would include Alton and White Horse. Another would run through Finlay and Dawson.

1000 Killed in Bremen Raids

LONDON, March 28 (CP)—The Air Ministry News Service declared tonight that in the recent series of Royal Air Force raids on Bremen 1000 persons were killed and 7000 injured. Bremen is a great seaport, in Northwest Germany, on the Weser River.

The casualty figures were contained in a statement of results of British bombing of Germany. Bremen has been attacked twice and again.

Exactly how the authorities obtained the casualty figures was not disclosed.

In Hanover on recent nights 250 persons were killed, 250 houses destroyed and 500 seriously damaged, the statement said.

In that city an area bounded by Schanelder, Stunder and Rebblock Streets has been laid waste as a result of high explosives and incendiary bombs, it added.

AUSTRALIA CENSOR ONLY REJECTS 12 FILMS

CANBERRA, March 28 (AP)—The Commonwealth chief film censor, W. Creswell O'Reilly, in his annual report today said 473 feature films from all countries had been examined during 1940.

Of these only 12 were rejected, 75 passed without eliminations and 75 were passed after consideration by the censors.

Clerk Sentenced for Showing Secret Gov't Documents

MELBOURNE, March 28 (AP)—George Samuel McHutchinson, formerly a temporary clerk at Defence Headquarters here was sentenced to four months in jail today for having shown secret documents to unauthorized persons. He was also convicted of wearing a military uniform without permission.

One of the documents was described in court as "the most secret document in the Commonwealth." It contained texts of communications between the Prime Minister and the Chief of the General Staff.

The magistrate in passing sentence said the evidence failed to disclose intention to assist the enemy and apparently McHutchinson's only motive was "to impress his friends with his own importance."

Australian Child-Endowment Plan May Start July 1

CANBERRA, March 28 (AP)—Legislation providing for Australia's Child Endowment Plan, said by Government members to be the first step in a National program for encouraging family life, was introduced today. It is proposed to put the plan into operation next July 1.

Under the scheme the Government will pay five shillings weekly towards each child after the first in each family. Labor Minister Holt said it is expected to benefit 1,000,000 children in 500,000 families. The plan is expected to involve a turnover of £1,500,000 (about $4,500,000) annually.

He said it is a profitable national investment and can reasonably mean reduced child mortality as well as improvement in general health. It will insure that exigencies of war will not deprive children of necessary food and clothing.

Says B. C. Machine Shops Should Instal New Tools

VANCOUVER, March 28 (CP)—British Columbia mechanics are as capable as any in Canada but the machine-shops of the Province should be modernized with new tools in the opinion of James Crone, technical adviser to the Federal Government on loan from the British Ministry of Supply.

Speaking to the Vancouver Board of Trade yesterday, Mr. Crone said he could not understand why machine firms had not seen fit to instal new tools.

"If you have to put your faith in handwork," he said, "up go your costs and you can't compete. You good mechanics should be in your tool rooms and machines should be doing 70 per cent of the work now being done by fitters."

Hanson Urges Outright Gift of Wheat to Britain as a Gesture of Goodwill

OTTAWA, March 28 (CP)—An outright gift of food from Canada to the people of Great Britain was urged by Conservative Leader Hanson in the House of Commons today.

He suggested 100,000,000 bushels of wheat might be sent as a gesture of goodwill and admiration.

Mr. Hanson spoke on the Government's wheat acreage reduction program under which farmers in the West are to be paid for taking land out of wheat growing.

He was opposed to these payments and suggested instead an increase in the initial price offered by the Wheat Board to something near the cost of production, along with a limitation on wheat deliveries to the Board.

Mr. Hanson said the Government's 1938 announcement that Canadian wheat would at all times be competitive on world markets notwithstanding the initial domestic price was fixed at 89 cents a bushel had been an invitation to world buyers to knock the price down.

This, he said, was the real immediate cause of the present wheat crisis.

"The Treasury of Canada can not be placed behind the unlimited production of wheat," said Mr. Hanson.

"To do so is to invite disaster for all concerned."

The Conservative Leader described a speech made by Agriculture Minister Gardiner last November as "high-powered propaganda." He said Mr. Gardiner forecast the disappearance of Canada's wheat surplus and a shortage of wheat in six years and remarked, "Houdini had nothing on our Minister of Agriculture."

The new wheat policy had pleased no one, said Mr. Hanson. It was "just another improvisation."

"For the first time in history producers were to be paid not to produce. This cost $75,000,000. There was no assurance the cost would be limited to the estimate of $35,000,000 before the House."

"The whole proposition is objectionable," he said. "An army of inspectors is to be appointed and the whole proposition may degenerate into a racket."

A point for an arslat was not given in the N.H.L. until the 1918-19 season.

Air Raids Kill 28,859 Civilians

LONDON, March 28 (CP)—Civilians killed in air raids on Britain since the war began total 28,859 and the seriously injured 40,160. It was announced today.

The figures were disclosed at Newcastle by Ellen Wilkinson, the Joint Parliamentary Secretary to the Ministry of Home Security.

She added that military air raid facilities in Britain were about one fifth of the civilian total.

Author Arrested

WASHINGTON, March 28 (AP)—The Justice Department said today Richard Julius Herman Krebs, who wrote the best seller "Out of the Night" under the name Jan Valtin, had been arrested in New York to face deportation proceedings.

Only last Wednesday night Krebs, or Valtin, introduced on the radio from "An Unnamed Spot in America," told of his experiences at the hands of the German Gestapo and said "there is hardly anyone in Germany now who does not have some horrible memory."

Woes...
Happiness Eludes
the Greedy Ones
By CAROLINE CHATFIELD
Dear Miss Chatfield:
I'll take the blame for my domestic troubles but that doesn't solve them. My husband lost his job and I felt it necessary to go to work as we were living with my family and had a child to support. Well, I worked hard all day and came home to hear him nag about my working.
I stood it as long as I could and then started divorce proceedings. In some careless way my lawyer didn't notify me when the case was coming up and one day my husband phoned me that we were divorced. I had really meant to call it off.

Then I met a fine fellow who also had a child. We were married and here I am with no money troubles but with every other sort. He married me for a haven, it seems, where he could bring his bottle and drink.
He's gotten worse and worse. No more shows and dinners and dances for me. He's not interested in anything but drinking.

My former employer has offered me my old position and I'm thinking of leaving my husband and going out on my own again. At least I would have peace. There's another thing that tugs at me. My first husband, though married again, has sent me several messages, showing he still has me in mind. I know now that I have always loved him and him only and that I can never be happy until we are together again.
Can you help me to come to a decision?

IN SUSPENSE.
ANSWER:
Sort of careless, aren't you, about marriage and divorce? Sort of indifferent to the woes and heart-aches of others, if you can only get yourself settled in peace and security? Well, my dear woman, with such an attitude the most you can expect is misery. Making a liberal allowance for the strain you underwent when you worked all day and came home to an evening of nagging, giving you benefit of doubt about the divorce that slipped up on you, there was nothing to keep you from remarriage your husband then, was there? Nothing except another man who had more money and promised you something.

But there is something now that keeps you from marrying your former husband and that something is his legally wedded wife. Were you to set out on a deliberate campaign to separate him from her you would have something on your conscience.
In coming to the decision whether to stay by the drinking mate or take your former position and support yourself, you shouldn't include the idea of taking another woman's husband, even though you once had him, didn't like him and let him go.

SKIN CARE...
Answers to Some Beauty Problems
By ALICE WADE ROBINSON
What's your personal beauty worry? Do your eyes show traces of crow's-feet? Are facial muscles starting to droop? Do you want a hairdo better adapted to your features?
Maybe you budge in odd places? Or you may be embarrassed by complexion flits?

AGONY COLUMN Question: What shall I do for pimples under the skin?
Answer: Be clean without and within. A daily soapy bath is advised. A bath in which you really scrub to cleanse and to stimulate the all glands to spread their flow evenly over the body. That stimulation will help prevent oil glands from concentrating flow on face and scalp. See that your intestinal tract is in topnotch working order.
Question: I seem suddenly to have acquired unwanted hair about the mouth and chin. Kindly advise me on ridding myself of it and on preventing further growth.
Answer: Electrolysis (under a competent operator) is the only permanent method of banishing superfluous hair. Waxes, pastes, depilatories in general — when from good manufacturers — do a creditable job at temporarily removing fuzz and such.

If they claim more, you may be sure they are too dangerous to use.
Electrolysis is a permanent help for such hair as now you have. But to prevent the oncoming of more belonging to the physician's province.
A glandular disarrangement may be the cause of that unwanted hair.
Ask your doctor's advice. He may suggest an endocrinologist (a physician specializing in glandular imbalance).

Woman Postle Is the Stuff of Which England's Heroic Women Are Made

By GLADYS ARNOLD
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)
OTTAWA (CP)—When the tap-stry called the Battle of Britain is finished, into its fabric will be woven an innumerable threads contributed by the humble and great—filling it with light and shadow, the flash of fire and the sparkle of tears, the glint of courage and the purples of sorrow and death.
Among the more lowly threads comes this story in a letter from a friend in Britain, of the courage of a postwoman in an English village.
The writer, evacuated to the village from London, discovered that the postwoman once visited Canada and there what impressed her most was the "beauty of the butcher shops."
"They were as clean as ice!" she said, still enthusiastic.
The letter tells this story of the postwoman:
"A short time ago she was living at home, occupied with the problems of her four children and one grandchild. Then the war came and her husband who delivered the mail on his motorcycle to the farms round about went off to other duties taking his motorcycle with him.
"She seemed frail for such work.
She had a cloud of dark hair and transparent ivory skin, but under that air of fragility apparently she had reserves of strength.

WOMAN POSTLE IS THE STUFF OF WHICH ENGLAND'S HEROIC WOMEN ARE MADE
"Then the winter rains set in. We insisted upon fitting her out with a pair of green corduroy trousers, a short leather coat and a dark blue tam and a pair of high rubber boots. For a day or two she was very conscious of her trousers.
"Every morning at seven she left the post office. Sometimes the van which brings the letters out from the town is late because a bomb drops frequently near or on the road it follows. An dwe are apt to blame our postwoman. She never takes offence. Dripping wet, stone cold, caked with mud, she comes cheerfully, saying it's Hitler's fault.
"HARD EARLY MORNINGS
"The only thing which troubles her is the darkness. She is on the road from 6:30 in the morning with some of the stars still out. The inky blackness in the lanes conceals the mud puddles into which she sometimes flounders. It is no easy job to push a loaded bike up our hills even in broad daylight. She rides many miles on her morning round and if there are many parcels she must make a second round. But she never complains.
"Her housework, she says, is done between three and five in the afternoon—and then she is free to go and see the new baby.
"It may be that we are going backward. But it is not so. We are making progress in friendliness and goodwill. When a bomb dropped the other night and killed three valuable horses sent here for safety it was our fragile-looking postwoman who rode six miles to fetch the vet to save the wounded fourth.
"She is the stuff of which England's heroic women are made.

...long pan and bake 15 minutes in a hot (400 degrees F.) oven. As soon as removed from oven, cut into bars about 1 by 2 inches, leaving in pan to cool. When cool, spread with white icing over the whole sheet of bars, then, while icing is still soft but not runny, remove bars from pan with broad spatula. The icing will become stiff, with dry finish, as it stands.

Beat egg white until stiff, gradually add confectioner's sugar, salt and lemon extract, continuing beating until smooth and glossy. This icing should be runny when spread on cookies. Do not add more sugar, as it stiffens as it stands.

Letters From "The Front" Bombs Commonplace to Ambulance Driving Daughter of Gray Creek Rancher; Some "Bad Incidents"

How a woman ambulance driver on Air Raid Precautions work stands the London "blitz", and has become blasé toward bombs is—she has seen so many of them—disclosed in a letter received by Thomas E. Peters of Gray Creek, from his daughter, Jocelyn, whose duties require her to convey casualties to hospital, her depot being in a Mayfair garage.

Writing from 91 Ebury Street, London, S. W. 1, 17th February, 1941, Mr. Peters' daughter says:

"My dear Dad—Please forgive me for not answering your two very nice letters before, I have been pretty busy and very tired and have just never got down to it. There has been no blitz lately, but the Ambulance job is very exhausting as we are working (or rather waiting) under the most appalling conditions.

"You want to know what the job is like so I will try to give you a picture of it. Our depot is in the heart of Mayfair in what was a garage. It is partitioned off and is very cold, draughty and completely airless and full of fumes from the cars. There is a Rescue Party, Stretcher Party, First Aid Post and Ambulance all together in the same dump. A very mixed lot from ex-gal birds to the aristocracy—that makes it rather fun. When I am on night duty I sign on at 3 p.m.; check over my ambulance or car and am then free till something happens. There is a pub at the entrance to the depot which we are allowed to go to if there is no raid on. I usually go there with a great friend of mine in the Stretcher Party for a drink.

"Until December the sirens always went between 5:30 and 7 p.m., and then we would hurry down to the depot. If my car or ambulance was first out, I would put my rubber boots on and collect my first aid kit and be all ready at a minute's notice. Usually nothing much would happen until about 10 p.m. Then a call would come through for a Rescue Party, Stretcher Party and Ambulance.

ONE BLITZY NIGHT "I will tell you about one particular night. I was in an ambulance with a very nice little man who had been a lorry driver before the war. We were out for four hours in the worst night of blitz we have had. So many bombs came down while we were out that it completely cured my fear of them.

"We first of all went to a street which was full of broken glass but completely deserted. After walking up and down, shouting, we decided there were no casualties, and were going back when a bomb came down in the next street. We stood in a doorway until we heard the explosion, and then went back to the depot to report. We were then sent out to a very bad incident and collected some casualties and took them to hospital. On the way back I wanted to go up a street which had a red lamp in the middle of the road. I asked a policeman if we could and he said "No". So I said we would have to go up—Street (I am not mentioning names as I don't want them to censor this letter and tear it up). He said we couldn't do that either. I said "Nonsense, we have just come down it," and he said, "Well, in that case, I suppose you can go up this one then." So we did. There was a lot of broken glass, but that is nothing unusual.

"When I got back to the depot, the first thing I saw was a notice saying that both these roads were blocked to traffic because of delayed action bombs. So I have a hearty contempt for them! We then went to another incident where a huge fire was blazing. That is always nasty, as the Germans use them as targets.

"COURAGE WONDERFUL"

"When I first started I was terrified, but soon got used to it and now am just excited by it. Luckily for me, when I am out it all seems completely unreal, and the horror of it only comes over me when I get terribly overtired. The courage of the people is absolutely wonderful. I took one woman to hospital who had been buried for 23 hours. She told me how kind we all were. I am afraid I would have been cursing and swearing.

"If there is no raid on or we are not busy, we can sleep. Or rather, the others can. I am never a very good sleeper, and being in a stuffy atmosphere surrounded by people is more than I can bear. So I find the life very exhausting.

"We have had no raids of any importance for some time until tonight. There is a lot of noise going on as I write but I am not on duty, so am going to bed in a few minutes. I sleep in my own bed on the first floor and feel as safe there as anywhere. I don't think it makes any difference where one is. I am a complete fatalist about it. . . . I am having a weekend off and am hitch-hiking down to stay with Rupert and Easter. One can't pay railway fares out of A. R. P. pay. I have a lovely black woolly dog that I got from the dog's home, that keeps me company when I am alone.

"Tony, as you probably know, is in America and is very happy and with a very nice family and at a good school. So the war has been good for him. . . ."

Only bus services will be affected, should the strike be called. Street car men and employees in the B.C. Electric company shops will continue to work.

Miss Clara Green, Toronto, Sister B.C. Pioneers, Passes

The funeral of Clara H. Green took place from Toronto to Little Lake Cemetery in Peterborough with Rev. H. L. Roberts of George Street United Church officiating at the graveside, on Tuesday afternoon.

In the death of Miss Green in Toronto on Saturday March 15, many residents of Peterborough and Belleville have lost a close friend and to them her passing has brought sincere feelings of regret.

The late Miss Green was Superintendent of the Belleville General Hospital during the years from 1905 to 1919 and filled the position with marked efficiency. During her tenure of office the hospital made steady advancement and many improvements were introduced in conducting the institution. She was held in high regard by the Board of Management and by the Medical Board. In the performance of her duties she was most conscientious and she set an example of service to the nurses in training under her care. She gave of herself freely in day or night, she was ready and anxious to serve those who needed her. She possessed many fine traits of character.

Miss Green was born in Peterborough, being the young daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Green. She entered the profession of nursing and graduated from the Toronto General Hospital. Surviving her are two brothers, Hon. Robert F. Green, Senator of Victoria, B. C., and Samuel H. Green, of Kaslo, B. C.—Peterborough, (Ont.), Examiner.

Response to War Services Appeal Is Good—Stibbs

Response to the appeal for the Canadian War Services Fund in Nelson District is good, but owing to the illness of a number of canvassers and officials it is slow to reach its full stride, stated Mayor N. C. Stibbs, Chairman, on Friday.

"The South Nelson Red Cross has sent in a donation, and other gifts are arriving in the mail," he continued. "We have had two or three gifts of $100 locally, two or three of $75, and several of $50. The Gyros have given $300. At one business house $200 was given in cash and a similar amount was pledged.

"We are not sure how we stand at the end of the first week of the campaign," Mayor Stibbs added. "because reports are incomplete and illness has caused several changes of personnel."

"It is difficult," he said, "to make a drive of this nature so soon after the splendid War Saving Certificate Campaign, but this district has always been generous in its response to appeals of this nature and we expect it will be again."

However threatening clouds darkened the sky on previous evenings during the week, and each day cleared before morning. Temperature extremes were 33 and 61 degrees.

?? Questions ??
 ANSWERS

Open to any reader. Names of persons asking questions will not be published.

A. R. Cranbrook—Would you please tell me if a submarine can shoot torpedoes while under water, or if they have to come to the surface before firing?

A submarine can, and usually does, fire when submerged, getting direction through periscope.

Reader, Nelson—What is the price of scrap brass?

From four to eight cents.

C. H. Erie—Would you please tell me how to clean creosote barrels?

It is practically impossible to clean creosote from barrels as it penetrates deeply into the wood.

What is creosote made from and is it a poison?

Creosote is an oily antiseptic liquid of burning, smoky taste. It is a distillation of wood tar, especially beechwood and a complex mixture of phenols and their ethers. It is a good antiseptic and deodorizer and is used to preserve wood, meat, etc. Smoked meats, such as ham owe their taste to the absorption of a small quantity of the smoke. It is also used in the treatment of tuberculosis and chronic bronchitis. It is not poisonous, but must be used with great care.

B. B. Kimberley—Could you please give me the names and addresses of some dressmaking and hairdressing schools at Vancouver?

Academy of Useful Arts, 815 West Pender Street, teaches designing, dressmaking, etc. Moler Hairdressing School, 303 West Hastings Street; Maxine's Beauty School, 1213 Bidwell Street, Vancouver.

W. M. Nelson—Will you please give me a good formula for grafting wax?

Melt together 1 part beeswax and 3 parts rosin. For use, remelt in a glue pot, the water jacket of which will retain it in a workable consistency for a considerable time and also prevent it from becoming overheated to a point dangerous to the tissues.

A formula for a tree wax that remains liquid in the cold is as follows: Pine rosin—70 parts; yellow cerasin, 7 parts; wood alcohol, 35-40 parts. Melt together the rosin and the cerasin and add the alcohol with proper precautions.

The Man Who Wrote
 "Out of the Night"

You can't call yourself a journalist these days unless you've interviewed Jan Valtin (only, of course, that's not his real name), the author (but some people doubt that he is the author) of "Out of the Night," the best-seller which describes (with wild inaccuracy, it has been charged) the secrets of Communist espionage and the routine of life in a Nazi concentration camp. From a recent issue of PM, we gathered that a man named Wellington Roe had appeared with the declaration that there is no such person as Jan Valtin, or, rather, no such person as the man who went by the name of Jan Valtin; that Mr. Ralph Ingersoll, the editor of PM, was inclined to believe there was no such person as Wellington Roe; and, further, that Roe and Valtin had been making small loans at exorbitant rates of interest—no, sorry, two pages got stuck together. Anyway, we resolved right then to call on Valtin (that is, the man who claims to be the man who calls himself Valtin) in the spirit of not giving a hoot who he was.

Next day l'affaire Valtin was still bubbling briskly, with the F.B.I. presumably active and PM printing an apology for having run a picture of Oliver La Farge's deceased uncle over a caption identifying him as having helped edit "Out of the Night". (As we understood this, PM thought it was a picture of Oliver La Farge). Withal, it was calm and peaceful in the office of The American Mercury, where we sat talking to Valtin, or a man whom we call Valtin. He was a tremendous, ham-handed, gap-toothed, likable fellow, with a certain rugged geniality. "People say Valtin doesn't exist," he said. "Well, here is Valtin." He hit his chest. "Hm," we said levelly. He spoke with an unmistakable German accent, but gave "Valtin" the French pronunciation, which made us think right away of Jean Valjean. "People say Valtin can't write!" he cried, showing under our nose a typescript covered with pencilled corrections. "All mine," he said. "Valtin writes his own stuff. While I was writing the book, I worked at the Delmonico Hotel as an interior decorator, fixing curtains and stuff. Then I went down to Far Rockaway, painting bungalows for a — at $25 a month, ten hours a day, seven days a week. She asked me to work Christmas Day and I quit. I lived in a shack with an old Ukrainian who threw shoes at me. He was a nice fellow, but he wanted to sleep, and I typed all night. All non-union jobs. There was one in a Summer hotel, 30 a month, and they fired me when I asked for more. Then I worked for a man who ran a wedding hall in the Bronx, carrying stop pails and ice. I fixed him—waited until he had three weddings scheduled, then quit. "Where's your loyalty?" he said. "Nuts," I said. "It's a free country, isn't it?" I was a porter at Yeshiva College, but they fired me because I fried bacon in the basement."

As to the present, Valtin told us that he is living in an eight-room house somewhere in Westchester with his second wife and three mean dogs. If you're thinking of liquidating him, there's no use trying the Fuller-Brushman gag or dressing up like the milkman; the OGPU and the Gestapo boys have already tried that. He spends the morning writing and the afternoon teaching the dogs to bite strangers. He's got an automatic rifle, too. Best thing to do is lay low until he gets to Hollywood, whither he is inevitably bound.—New Yorker.

Making Some Progress on Kootenay Militia Units

It looks as if Kootenay is making progress in the efforts which have been made by public bodies and individuals to bring about the reestablishment of the equivalent of militia in various centres in the district. Mr. Ian MacKenzie, in letters to Burns, M.P.P. and Frank Putnam, M.P.P., states that organization of militia units for the 24th (Kootenay) Field Brigade, R.C.A., is proceeding. Into these artillery units would be transferred men in reserve now attached to the Rocky Mountain Range headquarters at Kamloops. In addition to the reserves, who are men who have undergone one or four months' training, voluntary recruits are to be accepted. It is to be hoped that the proposed organization of the Kootenay Artillery units will be promptly carried out. Action is overdue.

Jugoslavs Take Possession of Their Government

Jugoslavia's betrayers have been ousted, and the people of that Balkan country have taken charge of their affairs. From the general rejoicing reported from all parts of the kingdom, as witnessed with the riots and demonstrations a day earlier, it can be taken in spite of the racial mixture in synthetic kingdom, there is an overwhelming consensus favorable to independence on Yugoslav independence, to standing off Hitler, whatever the cost. It is a favorable omen that the new government, which placed young King Peter on the throne in place of the deposed Regent Paul, had no difficulty in forming a union cabinet representative of all large elements in the nation.

Today's Horoscope

If your birthday is today, during the next year business will prosper, and money will be plentiful. You should, however, avoid undue extravagance. It will be a favorable year for dealings with property, writings, agencies and journeys. You should make the most of it. Born today, a child will be fortunate in most things. He or she will also be clever, industrious, poetical, philosophical, and literary. Such a one will, however, be somewhat impulsive and quick-tempered when aroused. Success would come as an agent, traveller, writer or osteopath, it is shown.

Words of Challenge

"Out of the gloom of the anomalies and paradoxes of the world situation there have shone several guiding beacons. The people of England stand the test with their tenacity and courage. Inspired no doubt by the retirement through Dunkirk"—Hon. Thane Campbell, Premier of Prince Edward Island.

Words of Wisdom

It is not what people eat, but what they digest, that makes them strong. It is not what they gain, but what they save, that makes them rich. It is not what they read, but what they remember, that makes them learned.

Irony of Fate

The story of the valiant little paper "La Libre Belgique" in the last war reads like fiction. The Germans, although they used numerous spies, were never able to catch the printers, and the paper appeared with clockwork regularity. But when the Nazis bombarded Brussels on May 10, 1940, the first bomb to fall on the city killed one of the last surviving printers, with his two sons. Thus, by the irony of fate, the Germans had their revenge after twenty-five long years. The paper's counterpart, "Libre Belgique", still appears!

Etiquette Hints

Be not correct for a sister or other relative of the bride-to-be to give a shower for the bride.

Dust of Gold

"Except ye be converted, and become as little children, ye shall not enter into the kingdom of heaven." Matt. 18:3.

"Let no man then deceive himself into thinking that he can enter the Heaven of Rest, nor even could he appreciate it, without having first come through a stormy sea of trouble. (Trouble caused by the struggle of Good against Evil). But the Christian possesses consolations attainable by a thorough heart-to-heart contact with the Almighty. We have to die alone. No human friend can accompany us across the bourne. God alone can go with us, and if we hope to enjoy His company then, we must get often alone with Him NOW, because what we accustom ourselves to here, we will have to endure for all eternity, and if we do not accustom ourselves now to the presence of God, we will be unfit to enter His presence during eternal ages."

JAMES B. STIRLING.

Press Comment

Some of our happiest hours were spent with the messes, we realized as we read that more than six hundred children in the city have been coming down with them every day for the past month or so. There is no form of escape quite like a disease which involves almost no suffering yet still calls for rigid quarantine, and it is a sad thing that few men are allowed to enjoy them more than once. We had ours when we were about 12 and away at boarding school. It was wonderful. The masters being potential carriers, couldn't get at us, and we weren't supposed to do any studying anyway, on the ground that it was bad for our eyes. Life, in fact, resolved itself into a dreamy sequence of food, sleep, and long, beautiful thoughts, beginning and ending nowhere. The pleasures of childhood, generally speaking, have been greatly overrated by writers (almost invariably nervous and unpopular children), but too much can't be said for the measles. If we could go back to anything in our past, it would be the quiet cot in the old infirmary, with our temperature at 99.2 degrees, spots on our stomach, and, outside the window, our less fortunate playmates slogging along to their classes in the thick March mud.—New Yorker.

BACK TO CHAOS

When it was announced that the Dominion would stop its aid for unemployment relief, the Vancouver Province remarked that there were no more emphatic passages in the Sirs Report than those which placed the responsibility for unemployment relief on Federal shoulders, and pointed out how the attempt to hold the local governments responsible had been productive of waste and contributed to the breakdown of the system of public finance. The logic of the situation, it said, was so overwhelmingly on the side of giving the Dominion responsibility for unemployment that the Commission went so far as to assume that, even if all its other recommendations went by the board, this one at least would be adopted. The Province concluded:

"Other commissions had reported in favor of this plan, and all the Provinces were in favor of adopting it. But Mr. Pattullo and his fellow conspirators had to have their way. The Sirs Report, which urged it, had to be discredited. Provincial pretensions had to be preserved. So, now, we go back to the old chaos. It means serious trouble for some of the Provinces now, and it will be chaos, in truth, for all of them when the war is over and unemployment returns as the greatest problem of the country.—Winnipeg Free Press.

THREE BRAVE MEN

Their names have a strange, unfamiliar ring—Curblivovic, Budisavlovic and Konstantinovic.

They are Serbians!

What their record is we do not know but today we salute them as brave men—as men who would rather "die as free men than live as slaves."

They are the three members of the Jugoslav Cabinet who resigned their Cabinet posts in protest at the decision of their Prince Regent to surrender to Hitler. They would not betray the Serbian dead of the last war—the men who defied the last of the Austrian Emperors and won for their country her rightful place in the sun.

Lesser men would have acknowledged their Regent's bidding without protest and with inward shame. But not these men.

To them the historic destiny of the great Serbian race which endured the black night of a hundred years of slavery under the Infidel and yet kept its Christian faith and nationalism meant more than positions and place—more perhaps than life itself.

No statesman of any country like Jugoslavia defies Hitler but at imminent peril to his life and family.

We ask you to salute these three patriots today and echo their battle cry—Long Live the Serbian People.—Vancouver News-Herald.

UNIQUE PROGRAMME ON CKLN SUNDAY

Scheduled for 2:30 p.m. tomorrow on CKLN is a short piano recital consisting of recordings made in England by the eminent Manchester pianist John Davies shortly before his death. Mr. Davies, who died March 27, 1940 at the early age of 30, was a musician of great promise. He had performed with the world famous Halle Orchestra on several occasions, and with the Liverpool Philharmonic as well as other fine Old Country orchestras. Hearing him play at the age of 11, Sir Hamilton Harty remarked: "That boy is a genius." The famous conductor's opinion, and his prophesy that his native city would be proud of him, was proved eminently correct.

The recordings to be heard tomorrow include two Etudes and a Waltz by Chopin, Godowsky's arrangement of the Tango in D by Albeniz, and "Gnomes" (Dance of the Gnomes) by Liszt. They were lent to the station for this special occasion by a listener.

R.A.F. Pound German Ports in Night Raids

LONDON, March 28 (CP).—The Royal Air Force pounded the German industrial centres of Cologne and Dusseldorf with "many heavy bombs" in overnight raids extending from the Rhineland to the invasion ports of Dunkerque, Brest and Calais on the West-held French coast, the Air Ministry announced today.

In the war at sea, the Admiralty announced the submarine Parthian had torpedoed a 9000-ton supply or troop ship and a 10,000-ton tanker in an Italian-escorted convoy South of Italy.

The R.A.F. night air assault, a communique said, followed up daylight bomb and machine-gun assaults on German naval and supply ships from the Frisian Islands to the coast of Brittany and produced "good results."

Despite a thick ground haze, pilots of the bomber command found their targets at Cologne and Dusseldorf, setting off fires and explosions among factories and the railroad yards.

Two especially large fires were observed at Cologne, returning pilots related, and at Dusseldorf the flashes from bursting bombs were declared "clearly visible in the factory area to the East of the Rhine and near the main railroad station."

Axis Threatens to Withhold Help to Japan Unless She Takes Action Now

BERLIN, March 26 (AP)—Japanese Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka here for talks with German leaders, must make up his mind whether Japan will enter actively into the fight against Britain or be left to face both her and the United States alone later, informed German political circles claimed today.

The taking of Singapore—key British naval base in the Far East—was mentioned specifically in connection with the subject of Japanese participation in the fight.

If Japan declines to enter the fray at present, Germany and Italy may later show indifference to Japan's plight, these circles threatened.

That Japan could realize her ambitions in the Far East only by running into British and American opposition was claimed as axiomatic.

Hence, it was asserted, if Japan is earnest about realising her far Eastern dreams, she must realize her place in the world as a partner, not as a silent partner but as an active member.

Satisfaction over Matsuoka's visit at a time of decisive battle against Britain was voiced by German Foreign Minister Ribbentrop last night at a reception for the Japanese statesman and his staff.

Declaring an ultimate German victory was assured, Ribbentrop told the assembled every Nazi henchman that Britain brings that island empire closer to destruction.

"Actually," he asserted, "this is our conviction—that England's fate is already sealed. We know today that the war is won for Germany

SIR HERBERT HOLT GIVES $250,000 FOR SPITFIRES

MONTREAL, March 26 (CP)—Officials of the "Wings for Britain" fund announced today the receipt of a $250,000 cheque from Sir Herbert Holt, Chairman of the Board of Royal Bank of Canada and former President.

In a brief letter accompanying the cheque, Sir Herbert said:

"Enclosed you will find my cheque for $250,000 to buy Spitfires. I am contributing this as a slight recognition of what Lord Beaverbrook has done for the nation and the flying service."

Veteran Fighter Yearns for Real Action in War

WITH THE R. C. A. F. SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND. (CP)—Alec Brown looks as though he can take care of himself. Stocky, tough and wiry, he admits he likes "this war business," and doesn't mind how soon the Germans try to invade Great Britain. "Maybe," he said, "I'll get a chance to do some fighting, and there's nothing I'd like better than to get a crack at a Hun."

Brown, who comes from Winnipeg, is a leading airman in a Royal Canadian Air Force Army Co-operation squadron. He was an infantryman in the last war, thinks he made a mistake this time joining the air force and claims that being a rigger-mechanic is a "hell of a life for a man of action."

"Yes, I've been around," Lac Brown said as he took an hour off from work to act as guide for a reporter visiting his squadron.

"I was a bit young for service when the last war started but came over to this side and talked my way into the Highland Light Infantry. I went to Palestine in February, 1915, and stayed there until 1919."

Brown fought at the Dardanelles—"there was some real fighting there"—and was in Jerusalem when Allenby marched in at the head of the victorious British forces. Brown, transferred before the war ended to the Royal Engineers Signal Corps, likes to tell of his stay in Jerusalem.

"I used to get into a lot of trouble," he said. One form of trouble was 14 days "CB" for pushing over Moslems as they knelt at prayer. "I was young then," he said with a grin, "and tried it once too often."

He was in Jerusalem when the Armistice was signed—"it was pouring rain that day"—and remained in the Middle East until he got his release from the Army.

After the war he returned to Canada and did placer mining in Northern British Columbia. There was a long succession of jobs after that and a brief period of service with the R.C.A.F. He was doing hard-rock mining several hundred miles North of Winnipeg when this war began and re-enlisted right away in the R.C.A.F.

Urges Revision of Pensions Act to Include Troops in Imperial Forces

OTTAWA, March 26 (CP)—Recommendations that all Canadians enlisted in Canada whether subsequently transferred to the Imperial Forces or not should come under the Canadian Pensions Act were made by Richard Hale, Chief Pensions Officer of the Canadian Legion, before the House Pension Committee today.

"We are anxious that the Canadian boys in this war will not have to face the same conditions of trying to make their claims stick with the British Minister of Pensions at a distance of 3000 miles and no right of access to documents dealing with their claims," said Mr. Hale.

Such revision of the Pensions Act would affect the agreement reached among the members of the Empire that all men trained under the Commonwealth Air Training plan once they leave their own shores automatically become part of the Royal

Offer Survivor in Hospital Tells Tragic Story of Ship Disaster at Sea

HALIFAX, March 26 (CP)—From a hospital bed, James Noade of Halifax told reporters today of the tragedy which wiped the name of the patrol vessel Otter off Canada's list of navy ships and took the lives of 19 of his shipmates.

Noade was taken aboard a rescue ship an hour and a half after he abandoned the flaming Otter and plunged into the heaving Atlantic off Halifax Wednesday.

The 24-year-old former merchant seaman said he was asleep when fire broke out and that he was awakened by a stoker. "I took a hose line into the engine room but it was no use. The fire was burning too fiercely and we were driven out. Then came the order to abandon ship."

"There were two lifeboats and a raft," he said. "I got into No. 1 lifeboat. There was a freighter in sight and we headed for it."

"Just as we were nearing her a wave caught us. The seas were terrific. After more than an hour's work we got the boat back on an even keel. I climbed in and helped pull some of the others in but some of the original occupants were not in sight. They had drowned."

"Those we pulled aboard were numbered with cold. Chief Officer A. M. Walker (Halifax) was weak and I held him. He murmured, 'Is there anything in sight?' and I said:

Italians Ask Peace Time to Bury Dead

LONDON, March 26 (CP)—The Italian army in Albania has been forced to ask Greece for an armistice in order to bury its dead," the British Broadcasting Corporation said in a news broadcast today.

The BBC said word of the request reached London last Sunday, at a time when Mussolini's personally-directed offensive in Albania was reported to have broken down completely, leaving the central battle sector "littered with Italian dead."

Meat and Dairy Products Lead British Needs

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)—British authorities here learned today, have placed dairy and meat products at the top of the list of agricultural commodities wanted under the British-aid bill.

Agriculture Secretary Claude Wickard gave his testimony at closed hearings of the Senate Appropriations Subcommittee that approved a record-breaking annual farm bill.

The Cabinet member said "first inquiries" from Britain after passage of the British-aid legislation were for cheese, evaporated milk, dried milk, eggs, pork, lard and vegetable fats.

There was a possibility, he reported, there might be a call for American tobacco because British supplies now were low. One United States difficulty, however, was said to be "getting tonnage and space on ships" for the bulky tobacco hogsheds.

The administration's farm chief saw little hope Britain would take some of the huge surpluses of cotton and wheat, major export crops which have been piling up in this country since the war.

"They have enough wheat in Canada at the present time to care for British needs for nearly three years without imports from any other sources," he said.

Internment Camp Fracas Starts After Visit Cancelled

PERPIGNAN, France. (Near the Spanish Frontier) March 26 (AP).—A protest demonstration at the Argeles-Sur-Mer Internment Camp as a result of a last-minute attempt to cancel a visit by a party of United States correspondents was disclosed today by a Government spokesman.

Two interned prisoners were injured in the disorders which began March 23 and which, the spokesman said, might still be continuing although he declared mobile guards and the situation under control.

The Argeles-Sur-Mer Camp was established on a barren sandy beach for the reception of thousands of Spanish refugees who fled across the border before Gen. Francisco Franco's successful campaign in the late Winter of 1938 and early in 1939.

Pacific Units Train Under New Plan to Insure Defence of Western Shores

By STUART UNDERHILL (Canadian Press Staff Writer).

VICTORIA, March 26 (CP)—Formation of a hardened fighting force capable of operating under the most difficult conditions either at home or overseas is envisaged in a new training program drawn up for units of the Canadian (Active) Army which comprise the Pacific Command.

The program is the work of Maj. Gen. R. O. Alexander, whose task is to co-ordinate defences of the Canadian West from the Pacific ocean to the wheatfields of Alberta, and Maj. A. G. Dobbie, General Staff Officer in charge of training.

It is a single but significant phase of measures taken for the defence of the West since Gen. Alexander assumed his newly-created post last Autumn. He sums up the general situation with the following statement:

"Since the formation of the Pacific Command, plans have been drawn up in detail to meet any potential danger which might accrue from external aggression or internal security."

Not only are the men under his command being trained to meet these threats, but consideration is being given to the possibility they may some day travel overseas to take an active part in the defence of Britain. Much of the new training schedule is based on experience gained in tests of defensive measures in the British Isles.

Gen. Alexander is seeking to match the toughness of the enemy by hardening the physique of his men and developing their individual initiative. Instead of the monotony of routine training the men will be confronted by situations resembling those they would meet in areas of actual combat.

Most of the standard training measures will be retained but with new aspects. Route-marching will cease to be the old "footlogging" procedure and on each march the men will have a definite task—a scheme for the defence of a village or construction of a road block. On their return to camp they may be confronted with another task instead of expected dismissal to train them to carry on indefinitely.

Eventually the troops must be ready to march 30 miles a day, to cover 80 miles in three days and to march 10 miles and attack at the end of the march.

Old-style P.T. (physical training) will be subordinated to learning to run in battle dress and expending the minimum of energy on overcoming obstacles so they are able to shoot steadily after exertion. It is also planned to train men to swim in battle dress, with rifles and Bren guns.

Squad drill will be retained because "experience in France bears out that the simple quality of good discipline is the mainstay of an army in the field." But short periods of intensive drill are now regarded as more valuable than long periods.

Some other phases of the new program are:

1. Night fighting.
2. Fieldcraft, so men may learn how to take advantage of terrain for concealment, lie motionless for

U.S. Naval Unit Leaves Australia

BRISBANE, March 26 (AP).—A United States training squadron of seven warships, which has been in Australian waters for the last eight days, left port today. The crews dressed ship as the cruiser Chicago passed down the stream flying the flag of Rear-Admiral Newton.

Five sailors were missing at sailing time and the ships sailed without them while shore authorities continued a search for them.

CANBERRA, March 26 (AP).—Lord Gowrie, Governor-General of Australia, sent a message today to Rear-Admiral Newton, commanding the United States naval squadron in Australian waters, expressing his pleasure at the visit of the seven American ships.

"By the conduct and the many little acts of kindness of your officers and men," the message said, "they have endeared themselves to the people of Australia and have worthily upheld the great traditions of the United States Navy. We hope that some day you will give us the pleasure of another and longer stay."

The Acting Prime Minister, A. W. Fadden, also sent a message to Rear-Admiral Newton expressing pleasure at the visit and promising

LEASE LEND BILL MAY RELEASE GASOLINE TO AUSTRALIA SUPPLY

BRISBANE, March 26 (AP).—At least one romance blossomed during the eight-day visit of a training squadron of American warships in Australian waters. The engagement of John (Speed) Sapp of Washington, Second-Class Engineer aboard the United States destroyer Downes, to Miss Mary Gill of Brisbane, was announced as the squadron sailed from port today.

CANBERRA, March 26 (AP).—The Minister of Supply, Senator P. A. McBride, said today it is uncertain yet whether supplies of gasoline will be more readily available from the United States as a result of the lease-lend bill. At present Australian supplies of gasoline are rationed.

MELBOURNE, March 26 (AP).—Herbert J. Voght, former member of the United States National Labor Relations Board, today urged the exchange of labor leaders between Australia and the United States as a means of bringing out new ideas and new methods of handling labor problems in both countries.

It's a Great Spring
... so live it and enjoy it

It's funny how all of a sudden Spring is here and every little gurgle of a stream or soft blossom-scented breeze becomes the prime interest of our lives. And have you noticed that with the coming of Spring you invariably adopt a complete new outlook and attitude? This proves that even though we're complicated, "multi-worried" humans we're still a part of Nature's plan... that we, too, blossom out under the caress of a luxuriously soft Spring sun.

Spring puts us in the mood for fundamentals... makes us more aware of the things that are close to us. We want to get out in the yard and play with the dog... have fun with the kids... we want to fix up the garden... we want to build things, do things... we want to put on fresh clothes and take long, slow walks through sun-flecked woods and sun-drenched meadows.

and Spring...

is that time of year when the Nelson stores are full of new things, the things that make life more enjoyable, new clothing, footwear, furniture, foodstuffs, etc. There are new cars to be seen in the Nelson garages, the Nelson builders have new ideas for your home, in fact Spring can be enjoyed to the utmost when you visit the shopping centre of the Interior.

When in Nelson dine where meals are really good and prices are moderate.

Smokie Sammy Saprunoff Producing While First Line Is Being Bottled Up

Centreman Paces All Smokies in Playoff Points

The Smoke Eaters' ace Smokie-Dame line starting home these goals again, really going to be tough to the three high-scoring stars managed only two goals in the four games, and as result the line, sparked by young Saprunoff, has had to carry the load to keep the Smokies as unbeaten string intact.

Yet, in six playoff games to the second string has gathered 18 points, compared to the 17 of going into tonight's at Calgary. Saprunoff himself counted for five goals and assists for the best record of the Smokies in the playoffs, and Hedley Marshall each picked up five points. Of the men, Cronie and Buckna have points each so far, and Dame to use Cronie and Dame as centre-men, so there didn't seem much hope for Saprunoff here. But he stayed in there playing, and in the first game of the League he found himself playing left wing beside Ab Cronie, with Hedley Marshall on the other side. In the next game Cronie and Dame were reunited, and Sammy played with Buckna and Duffy. Then came the Alberta tour, and Jimmy Morris, then playing right wing with Cronie, and Dame, couldn't make the trip, so Buckna moved in, and, as is well known, he was there to stay. That made it easier for Saprunoff. It seemed, but toward the end of the Alberta swing he came down with pleurisy and spent a month or so in Leithbridge hospital.

Shortly after he returned to Trail, it was announced that because of his sickness he was through for the year. But virtually coinciding with Morris' appointment as playing coach, Saprunoff made his return to the team for his sixth game of the season. One game later he bagged his first point—a goal, and an assist—to help considerably in a 4-2 victory over Calgary. He won the regular second pivot berth then, and he finished the season with two goals and four assists in 14 games.

He came into his own for the first time in the playoffs against Kimberley. Each member of his line secured four points in the Kootenay championship series. And it didn't take him long in the current series to give him more points in the playoffs—when they really count—than in all his 14 games in the League.

ALL THE WAY NOW!
Coming back to Monsieur Proulx, the hustling Frenchman, who will be playing Senior baseball here this Summer, says that he now falls to see why the Smokies can't go all the way again. He realizes that all the teams are tough once they get out of their own Province, but with Trail being able to depend on its second line, he figures they should go a long way.

A Trail victory or a tie tonight at Calgary will end the series with Leithbridge, but if the Smokies lose they will go back to Leithbridge for a fifth game Monday night. Still another loss would extend the series to six games.

Boston Favors Bruins to Win

BOSTON, March 28 (CP).—Boston fans, eager to attend 16,200 strong—that's all the Fire Department allows in Boston Garden—tonight established Cooney Weiland's Bruins 7-3 favorites to defeat Toronto Maple Leafs when they meet Saturday in the fifth game of their Stanley Cup semi-final now deadlocked at two victories each.

Both teams arrived during the day from Toronto where they divided a pair of games, Toronto winning 7-2 Tuesday and Boston taking last night's game 2-1. The series opened March 22, went to the Leafs, 5-3. Weiland and Manager Art Ross are resigned to doing without the injured center, Bill Cowley, for the rest of the season. Young Art Jacklin will take his place. The rest of the Bruins and all of the Leafs were in top shape when they arrived.

After Saturday's battle the teams plan to return to Toronto quickly and rest up for Tuesday's sixth game.

Hurt White-Tail Buck Downs, Arm

Maimed by a shot from a small-calibre gun such as a .22 rifle, which broke at the neck joint, a large white-tail buck came to his death when he tried to swim across the West Arm of Kootenay Lake from Fairview Wednesday.

Guy Mayo discovered the deer in his boat-house a short distance on the town-side of Lakeside Park, and the animal immediately ran outside into nearby bushes. Mr. Mayo notified Game Warden Max Ewart, but when Mr. Ewart arrived, the deer had swum out to the middle of the Arm and drowned.

The Game Warden borrowed a boat from the Walton Boat-houses to retrieve the deer, but it was already drowned.

Mr. Ewart estimated that the shot would have been made approximately 10 days previously. Shooting a deer with a .22 was against the law, and Mr. Ewart thought probably some person took a shot at the animal as his idea of fun.

BELLOISE TURNED DOWN

NEW YORK, March 28 (AP).—Mike Belloise, former featherweight boxing champion, was rejected by the army today when he failed to pass his medical examination.

Big Demand for Tickets to Trail Vs Leafs Tonight

CALGARY, March 28 (CP).—Both Trail Smoke Eaters and Leithbridge Maple Leafs indulged in light work-outs today in preparation for the fourth game of their Allan Cup inter-provincial series, scheduled at the Arena Saturday night.

Happy over victories at Leithbridge and Calgary after being held to a scoreless draw on their own ice, the British Columbia champions are hopeful that they will wind up the playoff Saturday, which would enable them to enjoy a few extra days rest before taking on the Regina Rangers or Port Arthur Beavers in the Western final.

Realizing that they got a couple of bad games out of their systems, Maple Leafs are bent on turning in a victory during the fourth game and forcing a fifth game on their own ice next Monday night.

The teams will perform before the usual Saturday night sell-out crowd as fans from all over Alberta and parts of British Columbia have been clamoring for tickets.

"Pro" Dingwall Plans Try Out in Coast Boxla

John (Pro) Dingwall will leave some time next month to try out with the West Vancouver Salmon Kings in the Coast Inter-city Boxla League, his cousin Ian Dingwall, said Thursday.

"Pro" well known in Nelson and Selmo Valley hockey and lacrosse, will be the second Kootenay player in as many years to make good with the Fishermen if he wins a position. Dingwall has played goal in hockey and as a forward in lacrosse with Second Relief Rams the past couple of years, leading both teams to Selmo Valley titles. He was also Coach of the Relief lacrosse team.

Pitcher Higbe Working Demon

TAMPA, Fla., March 28 (AP).—Brooklyn Dodgers have looked like one of the strongest all-around teams in these parts this Spring, and there is a growing suspicion they are going to make it interesting for the Champion Reds, or any other club.

The Dodger pitching outlook still is vague, as even a subdued Leo Durocher admitted. They will have a pitcher for every game, however, even if his name is Kirby Higbe, the graduate Cum Laude of the Phillips Higbe thrives on work, and would pitch in there every day if they would say the word.

Higbe has an unusual right arm, which may account for his endurance. The wing can be whirled around in his shoulder socket like an airplane propeller.

He won 14 and lost 19 for the Phils last year, and was in 41 games, but he never did get enough work.

That gives an idea of the kind of pitcher the Dodgers picked up last Winter for the bargain basement price of $100,000 plus. It is a safe bet that he will be the club's most valuable pitcher with 20 or more victories a strong possibility.

Boxlamen Set to Go Though Already Fans Have Sport Dead and Buried

he is now in business in the Okanagan town and is also awaiting his call from the R.C.A.F. His style of lacrosse was more methodical, his policy being to slow down the action to accommodate his deliberate passing game. That's not exciting lacrosse, but he bore results in two straight titles in as many tries.

So if Nelson is to have a boxla team, there is a coaching as well as a goaltending vacancy to be filled, with Dave Gibbons now in partnership with Walmesley at Vernon.

As for Coach, there are two or three possibilities. A number of fans have expressed a desire to see Buddy Hammond take over the coaching of both hockey and lacrosse but the retired star may not wish to get tied down too much. Pete Bonnevill has had experience as a hockey coach in the Selmo Valley and who has played with the Leafs for the past four Summers, would like to take over, it is said. Then there's Jack Reid, a sport enthusiast who has been mixed up in lacrosse and hockey as manager and coach. Several persons have suggested Reid, who made a good job of coaching the Nelson juniors this past Winter, but did it's also a question of whether Jack will accept.

Coach and Goaltender All That Nelson Team Needs

This is another in a series of articles dealing with the prospects of Summer sports in Nelson this season.

A year ago when the subject of Senior Lacrosse in the West Kootenay was brought up, most of the big-wigs in district sport shook their heads knowingly, and said that the game was destined to return to the bone-yard.

Well, in some respects they were not far wrong. Gates fell all around the circuit, Nelson Leafs virtually collapsed after two successive championship seasons. Interest was at a low ebb, and fans stayed away in droves. Trail Golden Bears were a winning team but could scarcely draw files. It took the new champs, Rossland Redmen, nearly the full season to get going. And most of all, color, which was mainly responsible for boxla's boom years, in the Kootenay, was definitely a minus.

This Spring fans are raising the question again; they say they're going to have to look somewhere else for their Summer's entertainment. They point to all sorts of reasons why lacrosse can't come back this season and admittedly there's a lot of logic behind their beliefs.

The sad situation of kid cross has produced no replacements to fill vacancies in this year's team is one of the greater problems. Also of prime importance is the draft. One player, Harold Mayo, is already serving his four month's of military training, and won't be back until a month before the playoffs.

And a number of others are decidedly likely to be called before the season is over.

When question concerning the possibility of Senior lacrosse this year, Mayor Sibbs, President of the Senior club for the past two years, said that "it's entirely up to the players themselves. They will likely have a meeting soon. And if the old-timer players wish to carry on even though they expect some of the others will be drafted, it's up to them."

Several of the players seem particularly anxious at this stage to form a team. In fact, Ian Dingwall, seems to think that Nelson might have one of its better teams this season—at least a team whose style of play will appeal to the fans.

Baseball Scribe Dreams Pennant Up for Dodgers

By GAYLE TALBOT (Associated Press Sports Writer)
TAMPA, Fla., March 28 (AP).—The really smart move at this point would be to take a run-out powder on the National League, planning illness from overwork and pointing out that the bill of rights as good as says that no man be forced to make a fool of himself.

Either that, or take the easy way and pick the Cincinnati Reds to win their third straight pennant behind one of the finest pitching staffs ever assembled. A fellow at least would be assured of some excellent company in the event the world champions did it.

Brooklyn is stronger at several spots than it was a year ago. Joe Medwick is hitting as of yore and young Pete Reiser looks like a sensation in centerfield. Peeewe Reiser is one of the game's greatest shortstops already.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 28 (AP).—Manager Bucky Harris isn't looking around any longer for a fourth starting pitcher for the Washington Senators. Steve Sundra, purchased yesterday from New York Yankees, is his man. "He's a better pitcher than any we've got except Dutch Leonard," Sid Hudson and Ken Chase" enthused Harris.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 28 (AP).—New York Giants are about ready to admit that the handwriting is on the wall for old Carl Hubbell, whose pitching has held the club together for more years than anybody remembers. In four exhibition games he has pitched 16 innings, given 17 hits and 11 runs.

Of last year's players still in Nelson, and available are Everett Kuhn, Bud Cooper, Bill Townsend, Frank Morrow, Ian Dingwall, Art Hill, Harold Espania, Bing Miller and Bonnevill. Other possibilities are Albert Hooker, Glen Price, Roy Mann, Gordon Strizaker, Art Matheson, G. Milne, Jim Eccles, Ernie Defoe, Stan Hill, Harold Mayo (when he returns).

The goaltending vacancy might present a problem but Miller played a couple of games in goal for the Leafs last year when Gibbons was holidaying at the coast. Then another source believes that Jim Heaton, who has shown marvellous blocking ability in goal in N.A.H.A. circles, could be developed into a capable netminder.

Then if there were a couple of players like Bert Bryant and John Eilly brought back from the coast to add some color and additional drive to the team, lacrosse might be restored to its old-time glory in Nelson.

Mayor Sibbs stated there has been no definite word to his own knowledge of preparations for the season in Trail and Rossland. However, as the Redmen learn that the lacrosse is being again in Nelson, they will probably begin to organize immediately.

District Fishery Officers Attending Meeting at Coast

C. H. Robinson, Supervisor of Game Fish Culture for the Interior, Edward Hunter, Superintendent of the Provincial Fish Hatchery at Nelson, and "Bud" Thompson of the Vancouver fish cultural convention at Vancouver this week. Most of the fishery officers are attending the meeting, at which Province-wide problems are being discussed.

Ten game wardens of the Kootenay-Boundary District or "B" division will meet in Nelson on April 7 and 8. Game Commissioner J. G. Cunningham of Vancouver will also be present.

Thoms and Carse May Save Hawks

CHICAGO, March 28 (CP).—It will be a last-ditch stand for Chicago's Black Hawks here Sunday night when they take on Detroit Red Wings in the second game of their best of three Stanley Cup semi-final series.

One game down, and one game away from elimination, the Hawks are counting heavily on the return of two injured players—Bill Thoms and Bill Carse—to strengthen their lineup in the game that may end their hockey for the season.

The Black Hawk fans are hopeful that the home ice, plus the return of Thoms and Carse, will swing the trick and send the series into a third game back at Detroit Tuesday. In four playoff games so far, the Hawks have won both home contests against Canadiens, and lost both away games, one against Canadiens and the other against Detroit.

The Red Wings will be at full strength for the Sunday tilt. The team that has blossomed a comeback since its collapse in 1938 after two successive championships, will be shooting for a win that would finish the semi-final and give it a few day's rest before tackling the winners of the Toronto-Boston series in the Stanley Cup final.

Hogan's Golf Not So Good, but He Takes Match Lead

ASHEVILLE, N. C., March 28 (CP).—Ben Hogan didn't play very good golf today but he did put together one of the most incredible rounds of his career and took a four-stroke lead in the first round of the $5000 "Lord of the Sky" open golf tournament with a four-under-par 67.

If this should seem a paradoxical statement, consider the fact that Hitting Benjamin missed four greens to the right or left, was short on another with his second shot, and overcut yet another. That is not the kind of golf which, under average conditions, will make a man's score outstanding.

But what Hogan did wrong with his approach is more than corrected with his putter. On the last but also lucky greens of the Billmore Forest Country Club, Henry got down in one putt 10 times, with nine of his one-putters in the last 11 holes and six successive one-putt greens at the end of his round.

Great Hogan came in, one of the last to finish it looked as if this would be the first PGA-sponsored tourney in years in which par was not broken or tied at least once.

But in the same threesome with him was Open Champion Lawson Little, who matched par with a 71, and a few minutes later was tied for second place with Sammy Byrd, the former Yankee outfielder.

Ky. Lattin's 72 was good for next place, a shot ahead of Ray Montgomery of Oakland, Pa., and Leonard Dawson of Kansas City, who sank a 30-footer on the 18th to win about $100 in side bets. The 74 bracket was very popular, taking in PGA Champion Byron Nelson, Horton Smith, Jimmy Thompson and Ralph Guldahl, runner-up to Hogan here a year ago.

Preparing Seed Beds in the Garden

By DEAN HALLIDAY

The soil which is used for seed planting in flats, or other containers indoors, should be friable. This means soil which will not cake or pack on top, a procedure that makes it difficult for the sprouts to break through. An ideal mixture consists of equal parts of good garden loam, peat moss and coarse sand. This provides a good planting soil which will not pack and is sufficiently rich in plant food.

Whatever type of container is used it must have good drainage. Seedflats should have holes drilled four inches apart each way.

As illustrated in the Garden-Graph, spread a bottom layer of coarse material, such as small pieces of broken flower pots, small stones or gravel, to assure adequate drainage.

Sun-Tan Frock With Bolero

Marian Martin

An indispensable double-duty style for now and on-into-Summer is Pattern 9686 by Marian Martin. For with its matching or contrasting bolero, this outfit is fine for street wear, for shopping, for going to the movies. Take off its jacket and you have a sun-tan or sports frock. You'll love the lean-and-lithe look given by the wide front-pointed waistband. Big handbag pockets add novelty to the slim, gently flared skirt which may be street length or in action-free knee length for active sports. The sleeveless bodice is soft and gathered, with a low pointed neckline and a rounded back yoke that buttons. Any number of summery fabrics are smart for this style.

CONTRACT ...

By Shepard Barclay

REVISE THE OLD RULE

A GOOD revision of the old Whist rule to "cover an honor with an honor" was once put forth by the veteran genius of auction bridge, Wilbur C. Whitehead. He made it read: "Cover an honor with an honor whenever doing so promises to build a trick in your own hand or your partner's." Failure to do this can cost your side plenty of tricks, just as covering an honor blindly, when the rule does not fit, can prove expensive and wasteful.

Part of South's optimism was due to the weak pair against him. It proved justified, for West began with the terrible lead of the spade 5, though almost anything else would have been better to open than that. The dummy's 6 won this. Followed two club tops, the heart K, three more clubs for spade discards—still shooting play—and then the diamond J. East ducked, and the J won. Then the 6 was led to the Q and the diamond A dropped the K. Two more diamonds and the heart A took the rest of the tricks.

If East, following Whitehead's rule, had covered the diamond J with his K, in the hope of building up a 10 for West, he would have accomplished just that and would have stopped the run of the suit. South then could not possibly have taken over ten tricks, and would have been set two.

Your Week-End Lesson

In planning the play for your contract, before putting a card on the first trick, what is the principal difference in your method between suit contracts and No Trump ones?
