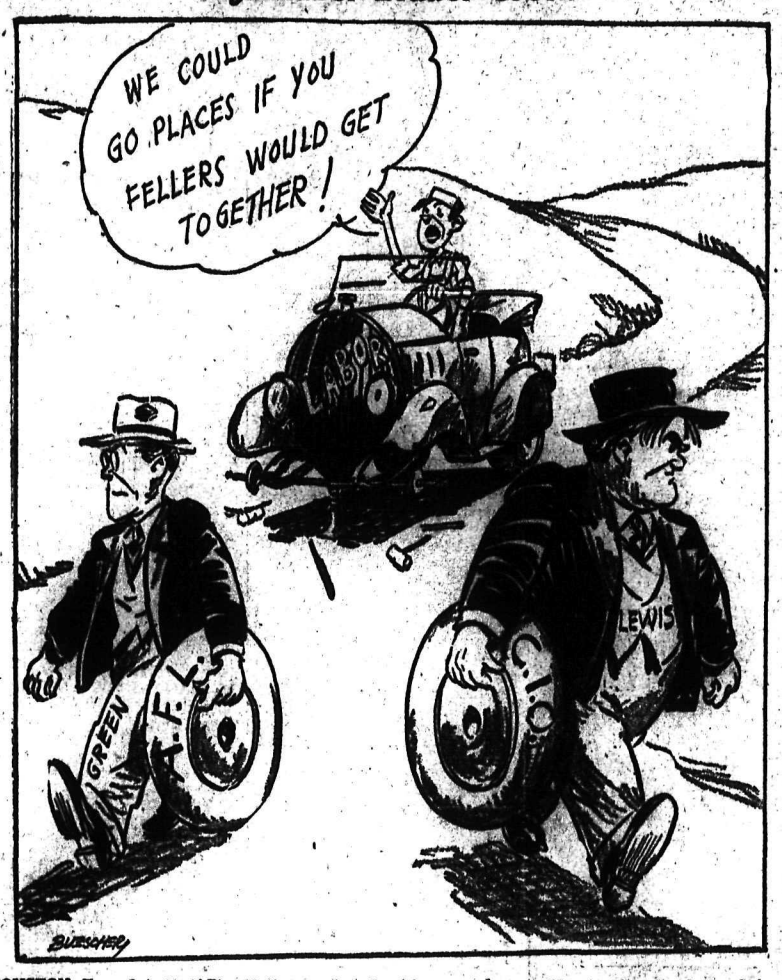
Lewis' Offer to Resign as C.I.O. Head a "Fraud" Says Labor Leader Green



HOUSTON, Tex., Oct. 11 (AP)—President William Green of the American Federation of Labor tonight placed his future as head of the federation in the hands of 5,000,000 workmen. He called John L. Lewis' offer to resign as committee for industrial organization chairman, if Green would step down as A. F. of L. president "an attempted fraud on the public." "It is obvious," Green said, "that even if he (Lewis) resigned as chairman of C. I. O. he still would remain its dictator."

Green, as yet unopposed, is up for reelection Friday. In Washington, today Lewis offered to retire as C. I. O. chieftain if Green would relinquish the A. F. L. presidency. Lewis' offer came after the A. F. L. convention yesterday adopted a resolution saying Lewis' removal or resignation would help to bring labor peace.

"The presidency of the American Federation of Labor is an elective office," Green said. "The chairmanship of the C. I. O. is an entirely different proposition. The officers of the C. I. O. are not elected by the workers they presume to represent. They are self-constituted, self-appointed, self-perpetuating.

"I conceive it to be my duty as president of the A. F. L. to be the spokesman for the majority of the 5,000,000 workers who rule the federation. In every statement in every act of the A. F. L. I have sought earnestly and honestly to present the majority viewpoint.

"On the other hand, the chairman of the C. I. O., as everyone knows, is the dictator of the C. I. O. He has not once even consulted the membership of the C. I. O. during his regime.

"It is obvious that even if he resigned as chairman of the C. I. O. he would still remain its dictator behind the scenes. Because he would remain as president and dictator of the United Mine Workers of America, the union which is the financial angel of the C. I. O. and whose funds are being wantonly wasted in a vain effort to keep the C. I. O. alive."

Green said the federation workers, through their delegates, would decide whether it is in the interest of organized labor "to reelect me or to retire me from the office I have held for 14 consecutive terms."

GAS PRICES ARE TO BE REDUCED IN TEN DAYS; MAY BE FOUR CENTS

New Price May Be Decided on This Week

OIL COMPANIES SAY INCREDIBLE

VICTORIA, Oct. 11 (CP)—The price of gasoline in British Columbia will be reduced by government order within 10 days.

This became known today after Dr. W. A. Carrothers, chairman of the Coal and Petroleum Products Control board, had spent a week in Vancouver discussing price-fixing plans with oil company representatives, distributors and retailers of petroleum products.

How much the reduction will be is not revealed, but one report says it may three or four cents.

Dr. Carrothers said today a decision as to the new price of gas probably will be reached sometime this week.

The price-fixing regulations can then be drafted in a week or 10 days.

Benes Invited to Be Candidate for University Rector

Story of Acceptance Is Denied by Legation

GLASGOW, Oc. 11 (AP)—Members of the Scottish Nationalist association who earlier today announced former President Edouard Benes of Czechoslovakia had agreed to be their candidate for the rectorship of Glasgow university, tonight decided they had been made the victims of a hoax.

The Czechoslovak legation in London denied that the earlier announcement Dr. Benes had agreed to be a candidate for the honorary post, saying he had "not even considered the invitation yet."

The Nationalists issued a statement saying they received a telegram from London, which they accepted in good faith. It said the former president had agreed to be their candidate.

The Nationalists still are hoping Dr. Benes will give his acceptance. Names for the position will be lodged at noon tomorrow.

It was believed other candidates would retire from the field if Dr. Benes accepted. Sir Archibald Sinclair, leader of the Liberal opposition in the house of commons, sent a telegram to the University Liberal association in which he said he would be delighted to retire in favor of Benes.

BRITISH ESCAPE DEATH IN HOLY LAND STRIFE AS AUTO IS BOMBED

Keith-Roach Unhurt When Four Bombs Thrown

TROOPS CALLED TO BATTLE ARAB BAND

JERUSALEM, Oct. 11 (CP)—An attempt to assassinate the British district commissioner of Jerusalem and a fight against Arab outposts marked the bitter dispute today among Arabs, Jews and British authorities attempting to restore order.

Four bombs were hurled at Edward Keith-Roach's auto from the old city walls in front of the Rockefeller museum. Mr. Keith-Roach, in office since 1931, escaped injury as did occupants of two military escort cars and a police car which accompanied him.

Reinforcements of British troops were called out in northern Palestine to assist police in battling an Arab band near Mount Carmel where in biblical times Elijah offered sacrifices.

Throughout the night British forces engaged the band which was strengthened by addition of many Arab villagers. Airforce planes were sent up to illumine the scene with parachute flares.

Troops dispersed the Arabs at dawn taking five prisoners and confiscating rifles and ammunition.

Almost immediately after their arrival from India yesterday, the Royal Scots' Greys, one of the last remaining horse regiments in the British army, was called to help in the fight near Mount Carmel.

The Greys formed part of 2400 troops arriving on three troopships

Publishers Back Author Strachey

NEW YORK, Oct. 11 (AP)— The plight of John Strachey, British author and lecturer barred from the United States, received sympathetic attention of a group of American book publishers today.

Twenty-one officials of various book publishing houses wired State Secretary Hull and Labor Secretary Perkins:

"As publishers, we vigorously protest cancelling John Strachey's visa. The preservation of American democratic tradition depends on the freedom of the people to hear any point of view. The use of a technicality in cancelling the visa is particularly dangerous to democratic procedure. We ask that this visa be restored immediately."

Fire on a 50-Mile Front Battled in Ontario and Minnesota Timberlands

Settlers' Homes, Timber and Thousands of Cords of Cut Pulpwood Razed; Ten in Hospital With Burns

FORT FRANCES, Ont., Oct. 11 (CP)—Flaming timberlands along the international boundary in northwestern Ontario and on the northern rim of Minnesota left a death toll of 17 persons tonight while harassed firefighting forces battled outbreaks along a 50-mile front.

Searchers scanned the blackened stretches for 30 persons who have not been located and it was feared the toll might be added to before dawn unless these people found haven in the fire zone.

Two women and 10 young children died in the fires which also claimed lives of two men as they raged all day yesterday and today, razing timber and settlers' homes and destroying thousands of cords of cut pulpwood. Ten others were in hospital in Fort Frances, suffering serious burns.

The dead in Ontario:

Mrs. Violetta LaBelle, 33, wife of William LaBelle, and her five children, Abigail, two, Robert, four, Arthur, six, Violetta, eight, and Margaret, 11; Mrs. Sadie Labelle, 27, wife of Noah LaBelle, and her four children, Florence, two months, Calvin, three years, Walter, five, Charles, six; Maxine LaBelle, 11, daughter of Frank LaBelle; Ben Fults, 60, and an unidentified man.

Three men lost their lives across the border in the Minnesota flames. They were Fred Service, 60, Orville Williams, and Joe Dardin, 65.

Doctors and nurses, summoned to Fort Frances, cared for Noah LaBelle and two children; Mr. and Mrs. Frank LaBelle and their two children; Robert Peterson, 52, Nat LaVergne, 44, and an unidentified elderly man.

CHILDREN RESCUED

The LaBelle brothers were fighting the flames when informed their families had been lost in the inferno which reached its peak between one and two o'clock yesterday afternoon. They rushed to the spot where their cabin homes once stood and succeeded in getting Frank's children to safety but Maxine was so badly burned she died at Fort Frances.

Main district of the conflagration was in Dance township, 50 miles northwest of Fort Frances where the LaBelles were homesteading and where weary officers and fire crews searched tonight for another family reported isolated.

Police and forestry department officials ordered all residents out of the fire area and rushed additional crews into the fighting lines extending westward from Fort Frances to near Rainy River. A strong south wind continued to hinder the struggle but last nights heavy rains retarded the flames.

JAPANESE MOVE FOR A DRIVE ON COASTAL CITY;

Rail Communication With Hankow Is Reported Cut

SHANGHAI, Oct. 12 (Wednesday). (AP)—The Japanese forces in China were reported to have cut the northern railway communication with Hankow today, and simultaneously to have landed troops in South China in preparation for a drive on Canton, China's last big coastal city.

The Japanese army and navy in a joint communique officially announced their combined forces made a landing "somewhere in South China early this morning." No details were given, but usually reliable sources in Hong Kong stated the landing was made at Hachung, in Bias Bay, a few miles north of Hong Kong and about 20 miles east of the Kowloon-Canton railway.

Almost simultaneously Domei (Japanese News Agency) announced from the front that Japanese troops long pushing westward north of the Yangtse finally had captured Sinyang, Peiping-Hankow railway town 100 miles north of Hankow and a key objective of the Central China drive.

Significance of the two reported manoeuvres lay in the fact that a landing in South China long had been expected to coincide with the final assault against Hankow.

COURT VISITS REPUTED SITE OF SLAYING OF MRS. LAURA GREEN

Chief Justice Morrison, Jury and Counsel View Taghum After First Day of Ostlund Trial; Eight Heard

Chief Justice Morrison of the supreme court; the trial jury; the accused, Seth Olov Daniel Ostlund; Crown Prosecutor E. P. Dawson, Defence Counsel Robert D. Macaulay, Court reporter F. G. Perry, Sheriff M. E. Harper, and other court officers; and a number of witnesses, all drove out to Taghum Tuesday afternoon, at the end of the first day's trial of Ostlund on the charge of murder, and viewed the site where the battered and dishevelled body of Mrs. Laura Green was found on the morning of July 15.

More than an hour was spent by the court personnel on the scene, including the spot from which the body was supposedly dragged, and witnesses made brief statements identifying marks which had arisen in court evidence.

Eight witnesses were heard during the day, after Ostlund had pleaded not guilty, and a jury had been selected, composed of J. B. Gray, foreman; Eugene Muraro, Robert B. Morris, Alfonso Gelinas, Ernest Collinson, Wilfred Lauritz, C. E. Madden, S. A. Spiers, H. J. Carlin, Donald Broster, Robert S. Cholmley and J. A. Riddell.

IDENTIFIES CLOTHES

Ronald W. Somers, undertaker, identified the blood-stained clothes hat and shoes, which were on Mrs. Green's body when he took it to the undertaking parlor, and testified that he had delivered them to Corp. C. W. A. Barwis on July 17.

Dr. W. K. Blair, who had performed the autopsy, gave as the cause of death, compound fracture of the skull and subdural hemorrhage of the brain. In cross-examination, Dr. Blair was asked if the victim could have received the same marks if a motor car had hit her. He said he did not know.

Daniel McAdin, C.P.R. fireman, testified that he was on a westbound freight train which left Nelson at 4:45 a.m. When the train was about four poles west of the railway bridge he saw a hat on the south side of the track. After the train had got some distance past the spot, he looked back and saw a body lying at the side of the track, about three feet from the rail. He told the engineer, who stopped the train.

He stated to Mr. Macaulay that he did not look at the front of his engine for possible marks, as he knew the train had not hit anything.

Gerry Donovan, conductor on the freight testified that after finding that the body was cold, he notified the dispatcher, and proceeded with the train to Tadanac.

Bulgaria and Britain Near New Agreement

It was predicted Great Britain would grant Bulgaria a credit of £2,000,000 ($10,000,000) instead of £6,000,000 as previously predicted. With these funds Bulgaria is expected to buy war materials and railroad material to permit development of mineral deposits now not easily accessible.

CONSTABLE RESCUES GIRL AFTER SHE HANGS OVER CLIFF 9 HOURS

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., Oct. 11 (CP)—Story of a 16-year-old girl who clung to a dead tree overhanging a 400-foot precipice for nine hours and her rescue yesterday by Constable A. Francis of the Royal Canadian Mounted police was told here today.

Doris Cockburn and Rita Pape, both 16 years old, narrowly escaped death during the weekend when they lost their way while descending from the 900-foot summit of Mount McKay, three miles from Fort William.

Miss Cockburn, trying to reach a ledge, found herself unable to get either up or down. Her companion told her to hang onto a dead tree while she went for assistance.

Miss Page left here companion at 8 o'clock Sunday night and after a harrowing two-hours in descending the mountain she reached an Indian mission at midnight and brought a rescue party.

By the aid of flashlights, police from the foot of the mountain were able to locate the position of the girl and directed the workers up the mountainside, Constable Francis was lowered 150-feet by a rope from the first ledge of the mountain. Four constables held him as he pulled Miss Cockburn to safety.

Occupation of Czechoslovakian Towns Completed by Hungarians

PRAGUE, Oct. 11 (AP)— Hungarian troops today completed symbolic occupation of two former Czechoslovak border towns — Ipolysag and Satoralja Ujhely— pending complete settlement of Hungary's territorial and minority demands in a conference at Komarom.

The Prague government wrestled with problems arising from German occupation of Sudetenland, particularly the presence in Czechoslovakia of 10,000 refugees from Sudetenland.

The Bohemian provincial government appointed a committee of 10 former residents of Sudetenland to investigate registration lists and determine which refugees could be sent back to their homes without personal danger.

More than 4000 residents of Ipolysag, near the border 50 miles north of Budapest, sang and danced to Hungarian music as the Hungarian troops took over at 1:20 p.m. today.

Occupation of the Czechoslovak part of the border town of Satoralja Ujhely was completed last night.

TROOPS WELCOMED

Hungarian troops which had been arrayed at the border for forceful occupation, if necessary, were jubilantly welcomed in the name of about 1,000,000 Hungarians, the minority dwelling in an area of more than 6000 square miles demanded by Budapest.

Prague authorities have indicated they consider the demand excessive but the matter had been placed in

Farmers Appear More Favorable to 6-Foot Kootenay Lake Level

Commission Members Meet at Creston Today

BONNERS FERRY, Idaho, Oct. 11 (AP)—An international joint commission concluded here today its Idaho phase of a hearing on a West Kootenay Power & Light company proposal to raise the winter level of Kootenay lake six feet for power purposes.

The hearing will be continued tomorrow at 10 a.m. at Creston, B.C., and the following day at Nelson, B.C.

Landowners and engineers testified today to probable benefits of the company's proposed joint program of increased water for power and increased channel at the lake's outlet for relieving the flood threat during the annual spring high water stage.

Concluding testimony today appeared more favorable to the company's project than yesterday. Land owners yesterday proposed only a four-foot increase in the lake level for a trial period, with the extra two-foot lift later if no damage resulted.

General Manager L. A. Campbell said flatly the company wanted the six-foot rise or nothing.

The company project also would include the deepening of the outlet at Grohman narrows by the removal of 250,000 yards of lake bottom and gravel at a cost of $300,000. The narrows development would relieve the spring flood peril by allowing speedier run-off when high water threatened to back up from the lake.

A majority of landowners today showed an inclination to accept the narrows development benefits as a good exchange for the in-

TWO DIE FROM INFANTILE PARALYSIS

STAMFORD, Lincolnshire, Eng., Oct. 11 (CP-Havas) — Two deaths from infantile paralysis were registered here today. Authorities said there was no immediate threat of an epidemic.

TYPHOID OUTBREAK AT MERRITT IS 'UNDER CONTROL'; DEATH TOLL ONE

VICTORIA, Oct. 11 (CP) — Dr. H. E. Young, secretary of the British Columbia board of health, said today a health department officer sent from Vancouver to Merritt, B. C., to investigate a typhoid outbreak there had reported the threatened epidemic "under control."

Dr. Kenneth F. Brandon of Vancouver, provincial epidemiologist, reported from Merritt there had been 28 cases and one death from the contagion in the Kamloops district town, Dr. Young said. He added Dr. Brandon expected some more cases would be reported.

Investigations by Dr. Brandon disclosed the cases were all among families using milk from one dairy dispensing raw milk there, Dr. Young said. The dairy had been ordered closed and residents advised to boil all milk and water.

Dr. Brandon reported there was a sufficient supply of vaccine available and no danger of an epidemic.

The situation was first reported to the provincial health department by Dr. J. J. Gillis of Merritt, member of the British Columbia legislature for Yale.

Dr. Brandon was then asked to go to the scene. Dr. Stewart Murray, medical health officer in Vancouver, also was informed of the Merritt situation and advised citizens who had visited the interior city recently to consult physicians as a precautionary measure.

$36,000 ESTATE LEFT BY FAMOUS YUKON INDIAN SAFE FROM TAXES

Needy Indians to Benefit From Money

VANCOUVER, Oct. 11 (CP) — The British Columbia succession tax collector won't be able to take a slice of the $36,000 estate left by James (Skookum Jim) Mason to his Yukon Indian tribesman, according to a decision handed down in supreme court chambers today by Mr. Justice A. M. Manson.

The supreme court justice issued a declaration the government was not entitled to any part of the estate which grew from a $20,000 trust fund invested by the Stick tribe chieftain in British Columbia in 1905. Mason was one of the discoverers of the Yukon gold field.

Skookum Jim, so-called because of his prodigious strength—Skookum is the Indian word meaning husky—had provided in his will that upon the death of his daughter, Daisy Mason, the major portion of the estate should be used for helping needy Yukon Indians and providing medical services for his tribesmen. He died in 1916 and his daughter died about a fortnight ago.

The declaration was applied for by Right Rev. W. A. Geddes, Anglican bishop of the Yukon, and granted on the grounds it was a Yukon estate, left for the benefit of Yukoners. Mr. Justice Manson declared action of authorities in seeking to collect succession duties from it was "unconscionable."

Mason was known throughout the Yukon during the roaring days of its gold rush.

LONDON, Oct. 11 (AP)—A telephone operator, William Wood, 26, was committed for trial at Leeds today on a charge of public mischief —specifically, telephoning a secret code warning of an "air raid" in the recent international crisis. Thousands of defence workers piled out of bed around midnight that night at 69 air raid precautions centres, police stations and fire departments of west Yorkshire prepared for action. The summons was a hoax.

MORE ABOUT VISIT SCENE

lordship pointed out was an important witness, told of driving Mrs. Green to Taghum, leaving Nelson at about 1:55 a.m. When they arrived at the top of Taghum hill, he said, Mrs. Green asked him if he saw any lights, meaning car lights. He left Mrs. Green at the gas station at Taghum, and noticing no one around, and everything in darkness, asked if she would be all right.

Mrs. Green had replied "yes", because she was to meet some friends. The taxi man told of letting his other passenger, the Doukhobor, out about a mile this side of Taghum.

On the way out they stopped three or four miles out of Nelson near a car that had a flat tire, and enquired if any aid could be given. Two young men and two young women were in the other car, he said. On returning to Nelson he stopped to help repair the flat tire.

He told the defence lawyer he did not know the people, and that Ostlund was not among them.

John Chernenkoff, the Doukhobor testified he had delivered some wood to Mrs. Green about four months previous and on this morning had gained her consent to ride out with her in the taxi. He got out of the car at the bottom of Taghum hill and walked home, which was about a mile from the road.

In cross-examination Cherenkoff stated that he had been in the taxi office in the Queen's hotel talking for about an hour; that he had been on the street all evening; and that he had come to town about 12 o'clock noon.

WITNESS' HABITS

Asked if he drank much, Cherenkoff answered in the negative.

"You've been drinking quite a lot since the body was found, haven't you?"

"No," Cherenkoff replied.

Mr. Macaulay then asked Chernenkoff if he was convicted on August 15, in Nelson city police court, of being in a state of intoxication and also if he was convicted on August 16, in the same court, of assaulting Mary Ollison. He replied "yes' to both questions.

Before he replied to the latter, Chief Justice Morrison interjected to Mr. Macaulay: "It is not necessary to ask that, you already having that information." This was apparently an allusion to papers from which the lawyer was reading. His lordship, apparently relenting, added he did not suppose, however, that these facts would affect Chernenkoff's social standing.

WARNING OF OSTLUND DEFICIENT

Inspector C. G. Barber testified that on arriving at the scene of the tragedy he found Mrs. Green's body lying on the bank at the side of the railway cut. The head was on the upper side of the bank with the feet pointing toward the rails. He identified the clothing worn by Mrs. Green, and at the request of the jury demonstrated how the coat she was wearing was up over her head.

Inspector Barber told the court that on Saturday, July 23, he was called by Ostlund to his cell, and that he had warned him that anything he would say would be used as evidence at his trial, but he did not give this warning not until Ostlund had told him that he wished to give a statement about an iron bar.

His lordship asked jury to retire from the court room, and then pointed out the importance of warning a prisoner. He stated that Inspector Barber should not have permitted Ostlund to say anything before warning him, and that the prisoner did not have to say anything unless he wished to.

FOOTPRINTS MEASURED

Corporal J. G. M. Lock, testified he had found footprints near where Mrs. Green's body was found at Taghum, and he identified twigs which were presented in court, which he had used to measure the width and breadth of the footprints. Mr. Garland produced a pair of shoes, which the witness stated were similar to the ones he had taken to Taghum on July 16, and which fitted in the footprints. He also identified an ear-ring which he had found near the river's edge. He identified a strip of boiler plate which had been found by Constable J. L. Smith, while he was with him at the scene of the tragedy on July 18.

When asked by Mr. Macaulay if it had been suggested to him that the formation of the rock near where Mrs. Green's body was found was of mica, Corporal Lock replied: "No." He admitted he had seen such a mica formation in other places. He admitted Ostlund was charged on the afternoon of July 18 after Constable Smith had found the iron bar.

HEARD NO CRITICISM OF POLICE

Referring to the Lajeunesse case and pointing out that the Ymir baby was lost June 6 and her body found on July 12, Mr. Macaulay asked: "Did you hear any criticisms of the B. C. provincial police relevant to this case?" "No," replied Corporal Locke.

The same question was asked of Corporal Lack regarding the Catonni case at Taghum on June 25, and the officer replied that he was not there.

When Chief Justice Morrison pointed out the irrelevancy of the questions concerning the police, Mr. Macaulay stated that he had his reasons for asking the questions.

"See that they are good reasons," his lordship replied.

GYROS CELEBRATE FOUNDERS DAY; SELECT A CANDIDATE FOR QUEEN

Nelson Gyros, at Tuesday's deferred weekly luncheon, adopted Miss Madge Postlethwaite as their candidate for queen of the hockey club carnival.

REVIEW ORIGIN OF ORDER

It was "Founders Day" in the Gyro calendar, and Chairman John Cartmel, in an address explained the origin of the name "Gyro", and of the club itself. It was in April, 1912, in Clevalnd, Ohio, that the first club was launched. Within the next few years Chicago, Buffalo, Cincinnati, and Philadelphia had followed suit. These five cities in 1916 formed the International Gyro Federation of which the Nelson club is a member.

Reading the Gyro constitution for the benefit of new members, Mr. Cartmel made clear that Gyro meant friendship. There was always an emphasis on friendship as a duty towards citizenship, he said; social affairs predominated and business was always second.

Charles Morris read an article on "What Makes a Club" from a 1933 number of the Gyroscope, the Gyro magazine.

Mr. Morris stated that "light-mindedness" and cooperation were the principles of the club. To effect some great objective together, gave the members a common enthusiasm, which brought about friendship. It turned out that the article Mr. Morris was reading was taken from the Nelson Gyrometer, by the Gyroscope.

EARLY DAYS OF NELSON CLUB

R. D. Barnes then addressed the members on the origin and progress of the Nelson club. It has been in operation for 15 years, and W. M. Myers was the first president and the nucleus of the organization. Other men who helped him were Duff Matthew, Harry Ferguson, W. A. Curran, Dr. E. G. Smith, and the speaker.

Among the different objectives was the assistance given to the Nelson fair, and the development of Gyro park on Houston Bluff from the profits of their various ventures. The club was installed in March, 1923 with the first secretary being W. A. Curran.

R. E. Crerar gave a short talk in which he mentioned that he has cultivated many valuable friendships in different cities through the Gyro organization.

Among guests were Elmer Swanson and Ernest Low of Spokane, and Dr. Byrne, a provincial pathologist of Vancouver.

Club songs topped off the program.

The agency advised the idea of a visit to the United States has not been ruled out in court circles where it is thought a visit to Washington and the New York world's fair may be arranged. The invitation normally would be forwarded through the British embassy at Washington, it was pointed out.

Arthur Evans Gone to Victoria Regard to Truck Burning

TRAIL, B.C., Oct. 11—Arthur H. Evans, International Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers union organizer, was reported today to have left for Victoria to place details of the burning of his truck before the attorney-general's department.

The organizer, who had charged lack of cooperation between Tadanac and Trail police in investigating the incident, had previously expressed himself as not satisfied with the wired instructions from E. Peplar, deputy attorney-general, to police to "kindly take necessary steps to investigate the case."

Before leaving, it was reported, Mr. Evans wired the deputy official that it was "imperative that I present certain information to you personally and will arrive at Victoria, accompanied by a delegation, Wednesday, 12th."

He said hte regarded the federal government's promise as another step toward the accomplishment of the Alaska road. Appointment of a commission would be recognition of the worth of the project.

"We took up numerous other matters at Ottawa," the premier said, "but as we happened to be there just at the time of the international crisis it was difficult to arrive at any finality."

"I discussed the general road policy at length but we cannot make any announcement on that yet."

Hon. G. M. Weir, provincial secretary also returned to Victoria today.

Farmer Neglected in Defence Plans

LONDON, Oct. 11 (CP-Havas)—The National Farmers' union tonight issued a statement declaring the farmer had been neglected in British defence plans.

"Not a single farmer throughout the length and breadth of England and Wales knows what would be expected of him if war broke out," the statement said.

"Whatever may be the risk to be faced, from whatever quarter or quarters they come, it would be suicidal policy and prejudicial to the morale of the nation to permit any further crippling of the productive capacity of home agriculture.

"Not a penny has been voted under the rearmament program for maintenance, let alone expansion, of our fourth line of defence (food production)."

Coast Orientals Refused Licences

VANCOUVER, Oct. 11 (CP)—The city council today refused trade licence applications from five Orientals.

The applications were voted down despite the warning of Corporation Counsel D. E. McTaggart that the city's request to the British Columbia legislature for power to impose an Oriental trade licence quota, might be jeopardized by such action.

The action of the council, sitting as a civic licence committee, came after Alderman H. D. Wilson said 18 per cent of trade licences issued since last March have been to Orientals.

He also claimed a number of wholesale firms have been forced to employ Oriental salesmen to obtain orders from Japanese and Chinese.

Hospital Board to Redraft Parts of Hospital Insurance Contract

After hearing short reports by C. H. Hamilton, chairman of the Hospital Insurance Plan committee, and Dr. F. M. Auld, speaking on behalf of the Kootenay Lake General hospital medical staff, the hospital board Tuesday night decided to redraft parts of the insurance contract, and submit the whole contract to a special meeting. It was also decided to send a copy of the contract to Percy Ward, inspector of hospitals, who was in charge of the department of hospital service, Vancouver, for his advice on the matter.

Miss Vera B. Eidt, superintendent of the hospital, and H. M. Whimster, president of the hospital board, were made delegates to the British Columbia Hospitals association convention to be held at Victoria November 8, 9 and 10.

Heading a list of donors of money for furnishing wards in the new wing, a man who signed himself "A Kootenay Citizen", had given a check for $500, it was reported. In his honor, a ward will be called "A Kootenay Citizen" ward. The Rotary club had given a check for $100 and the Soroptimist club had added $56.55 as a further donation to the children's ward. They had previously given money.

P. C. Richards, reporting on the recent district drive for fruits and vegetables, said the total value of this year's drive was $238, compared with $266 last year. He believed there were two reasons for the decline. They were, the war scare that prevailed at the time of the drive, and because the drive had been made about 10 days too early.

A vote of thanks was given the city of Nelson for its help and support in the drive.

Mr. Richards, also reporting for the Iron Lung committee, said about $35 had been realized at the Kootenay District fair. Schools were doing their share for the machine, he said. J. R. McLennan reported $208 of the necessary $750 on hand at present.

SEPTEMBER DEFICIT

Harry Burns stated receipts for September were $6096.76, and expenditures were $7850.70, making a deficit of $1253.94. Fewer hospital days was the cause of the deficit, he believed.

Miss Eidt, in her report for September, said patients remaining in the hospital at the end of the month numbered 42, making the lowest number of any month in the year. Other statistics were:

Patients carried into September, 61; admissions, 168; discharges, 187; daily average of patients, 58.4; deaths, 4; out patients treated, 25; infectious cases, 2; X-ray patients, 40; laboratory tests, 524; operations, 76; and obstetrical cases, 14.

A letter was read from Frank Putnam, M.P.P., regretting he would be unable to attend the opening of the new wing today. He congratulated the board on completing it.

PAINFUL TO BEND A JOINT

Hospital Case of Rheumatism

The value of perseverance with Kruschen, in the treatment of some cases of rheumatism, is proved by this man's experience. He says:—

"I was abroad for over seven years. When I returned I began to suffer from rheumatic pains—particularly in the feet and arms, and I was eventually taken into hospital, unable to move without groaning with pain. When I left the hospital after two months, I was somewhat better. I was recommended to take Kruschen Salts, have taken them continuously, and until now I am entirely free from pains. I would not be without my Kruschen Salts for anything."—M.B.

Two of the salts in Kruschen are effectual solvents of uric acid, the excess of which is decidedly injurious. They swiftly dull the sharp edges of the painful crystals—the cause of pain and stiffness—and convert them into a harmless solution, which is then expelled through the natural channels. (Advt.)

Propaganda Must Be Combatted by Education, Buchanan Tells Rotary

Professor Says Freedom of Press and Academic Freedom Both Needed; Democracy Undermined

Buy or Sell With a Want Ad.

"In the present day we must combat propaganda by counter-propaganda, and that counter-propaganda is education," declared Prof. Daniel Buchanan, dean of the faculty of arts of the University of British Columbia, speaking to the Rotary club at the Hume Tuesday. "Some years ago the great plague was cured by sunshine and fresh air. In the same way propaganda must be cured by sunshine and fresh air in the form of education."

Two ways to combat propaganda were by freedom of the press, and academic freedom, he stated. Years ago the press had complete freedom, and great work was done in editorials against propaganda. But today that editorial freedom had been greatly lessened and condensed. The press' influence, therefore, was not in the editorials, but in the headlines.

PROPAGANDA IN THE GREAT WAR

Propaganda was "as old as the ages," Dean Buchanan said. It achieved its greatest success in the Great War. It was used by Germany to influence great nations, first of all the United States, in their decisions, and was later used to separate the allies. In turn, the allies used it to bring about revolutionary measures in Germany. It had been used extensively since the War. Wars were sometimes fought, not with shot and shell, bombs and poison gas, but with pen and ink, and common lies.

Propaganda was used in a scheme by Germany to get part of a large wheat crop given to them during the Great War, and was used to teach German children of the cruelty and wickedness of the allies.

Academic freedom, Dean Buchanan explained, meant "anyone could investigate anything", and after he had investigated it, he should be able to put it before everyone.

UNDERSTANDING BETWEEN NATIONS

Another solution to the problem of propaganda was a better and farther reaching understanding of nations. Countries should have an appreciation of the art, music and many other things of other countries, and become really familiar with them.

"We need to fight forces that are at work to undermine the democracies,' Dean Buchanan said. "We must develop a patriotism along the lines that there is a patriotism in peace, as well as in war."

Dr. F. P. Sparks thanked Dean Buchanan on behalf of the club.

Dean Buchanan was introduced by C. B. Huyck, a guest of the Rotary club, who had been his next door neighbor at Vancouver.

Miss Georgina Williscroft, whom the Rotary club is sponsoring in the hockey carnival queen contest, October 26 and 27, sang two soprano solos. She was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. G. M. Williscroft.

J. J. Campbell, Willow Point, and W. Sharp, Chilliwack, were other guests. J. P. Fink was in the chair in the absence of Dr. D. W. McKay, the president.

MORE ABOUT GASOLINE

An order-in-council by the provincial cabinet is necessary to bring it into effect.

The present price of gasoline in Victoria is 28 cents a gallon for standard and 30 cents for ethyl.

Besides fixing the price the regulations will probably cover trade practices in the sale and distribution of gasoline, including such items as rebates to retailers, bonuses on sales and similar matters.

CARRIES OUT PLEDGE

The regulations to be drafted will carry out the pledge made by Premier Pattullo at the Liberal convention in Kelowna of a "substantial reduction" in the price of gas.

The fixing of gas prices, probably the most important step ever taken by a government in British Columbia to deal with commodity trade, is an outcome of the three year investigation conducted by Mr. Justice M. A. MacDonald of the appeal court into the coal and petroleum industries.

Two sections of this report were tabled a year ago and a further section showing the relative economic values of coal and petroleum is now being prepared.

In his report Mr. Justice MacDonald recommended sizable cuts in gas prices, claiming the system of distribution was uneconomic.

Oil companies are reported objecting to any reduction claiming they show no profit at present prices. A suggestion is that at least part of the cut will be at the expense of retailers.

The control board has the power to fix not only the maximum sale price, but also to determine the spread between wholesaler and retailer.

COMPANIES CONCERNED

VANCOUVER, Oct. 11 (CP)—Officials of two oil companies operating in British Columbia today expressed concern over the announcement in Victoria by Dr. W. A. Carrothers, provincial government economic adviser, that the price of gasoline will be reduced in British Columbia within 10 days.

R. F. Pidgeon, provincial manager of Imperial Oil limited, termed the announcement "incredible."

L. J. Martin, sales manager for Home Oil Distributors limited, said the proposed price reduction would be a "drastic hardship."

"The statement attributed to Dr. Carrothers that the price of gasoline will arbitrarily be reduced within the next 10 days seems incredible," said Mr. Pidgeon, explaining his comments were of a personal character rather than representative of the views of his company.

"This is so particularly because evidence was presented to Dr. Carrothers indicating that the industry is already losing money on its operations in B. C., and also Dr. Carrothers only concluded hearing of the evidence on Saturday last, and would not have time to study the testimony. * * *

"A reduction such as indicated is of dangerous importance because, even at prevailing prices, the industry has not been able to earn a return for its services, although extensive economies have been made in its operations during the past two or three years.

"The industry can not control its costs for crude oil, for taxes, for freight, etc., and so there remains only its purchases of materials and supplies in B. C. and its large wage rolls here in which it will be possible to effect any saving.

"Economies along these lines would appear to be inescapable if the price is reduced, because naturally no industry can continue to do business at ever-increasing losses.

"Action of a kind indicated in the news dispatch from Victoria becomes more than merely a question about the price of a commodity. It involves the issue whether present unemployment is to be further aggravated and whether industry will be discouraged from operating in B. C."

MORE ABOUT FIRES

The rains checked advance of the fire on Rainy River where residents today were unable to see the flames which at one time advanced to within half a mile of the town. They also roared through the forest land to within a mile of Fort Frances yesterday.

Police officers and firefighters were rushed from Port Arthur, Dryden, Kenora and Sioux Lookout. Officers sped through blackened, charred districts seeking persons unreported. One report said about 30 were yet to be located near Rainy River.

WORST SINCE 1922

Forestry department records showed that not since 1922 has the timber country suffered such an attack. Sixteen years ago flames roared over Haileybury, North Cobalt, New Liskeard, Thornloe, Englehart and Carleton, claiming 75 lives and leaving 8000 homeless, with property damage estimated at $5,000,000.

Over the same area in 1916 fire raged for 1200 miles, killing 250 persons and five years before that 70 persons died in the Cochrane area and $3,000,000 damage was inflicted.

Estimate of the damage wrought yesterday and today could not be reached. Homes and outbuildings are charred ruins. Livestock, piles of pulpwood and cordwood were burned to ashes, school buildings were destroyed.

Warm weather and lack of rain since early September presented the flames with tinder dry material two weeks ago. Since then the fire ate through bush and grass until yesterday when a south wind whipped the menace through the Rainy River section.

MOTHER SHIELDS BABIES

Bodies of the LaBelle women and children were brought to Fort Frances. They were found strewn along the road leading from their blazing homes with the mothers' bodies resting over their two infants as if to shield them from the fiery death.

Placed in a Fort Frances mortuary the charred remains could hardly be identified by other members of the family. Coroner W. D. Boyle examined the bodies but no decision as to an inquest was made immediately.

Several automobiles and trucks were destroyed while rescuers bravely fought the fire to reach the LaBelle dwellings. Constable David Hamilton of the Ontario provincial police said when they arrived at the scene 11 bodies were scattered over the road.

Doctors were kept busy treating burned hands and faces as residents struggled to save once beautiful farm homes. Communication with various points was cut off with bridges burned and telephone and telegraph lines cut by the searing heat.

Flames roared through Miscampbell, Burriss and Dance townships driving streams of refugees into Fort Frances. The thick smoke prevented use of planes to ascertain extent of the holocaust and fate of other farmers and settlers.

Trains continued moving through the district and so far the towns of Sleemans, Pinewood, Stratton, Barwick and Emo, near the fire centre, escaped damage because the south wind drove burning embers northward. Telephone service was disrupted to a certain extent east and west of Fort Frances but it was possible to communicate via Winnipeg.

MACKENZIE KING EXPRESSES SYMPATHY

NEW YORK, Oct. 11 (CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King tonight expressed "deepest sympathy with the relatives and friends of those who lost their lives" in the fires sweeping the timberlands of northwestern Ontario.

The prime minister was preparing to sail on a West Indies cruise when informed at least 14 persons had met death in the fires northwest of Fort Frances.

He was deeply shocked and asked that his sympathy be extended "to those who have sustained this most lamentable and irreparable loss."

TWO DIE IN U.S.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 11 (CP)—Joseph Dardis, 67, of International Falls, Minn., died of a heart attack today while aiding in rescue work necessitated by forest fires in northern Minnesota.

At Park Rapids, Minn., a Civilian Conservation Corps youth was killed in the crash of two forestry service fire trucks and a fire fighter suffocated near International Falls.

Advises Parents . . .

Don't Teach Tot To Be Stubborn By Driving Him

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph. D.

Some parents are mule-drivers. They drive their children into being mules and then discover later that these mules can't be driven. Now most farmers grow to be very skillful with four-legged mules, though these same farmers will often prove to be exceedingly stupid in their efforts to handle young children whom they have already rendered mulish.

Many children have been taught to be stubborn, taught by their parents before the age of three. Of course no parent teaches stubbornness on purpose; she teaches it unawares. Perhaps we should say HE teaches it; for the average father expects his child to go when he says, "Go," and to come when he says "Come," and to do so quickly. The mother is more prone to exercise a little patience, since she can be with the child longer to see the matter through, and since from experience she has learned that patience pays.

What most parents overlook is that whereas a little child, just like a cat, can be made to stop doing something very quickly, that by a spank he can be taught rather easily to desist from certain objects and from doing certain things, provided every time he does that forbidden thing he gets immediate pain, this same little child cannot, like the cat, be made to do things you want him to do by commanding, by yelling or by spanking. You may beat a cat to death without compelling it to lick its paw; so you also may beat a little child to death without forcing him to pick up the ball he has thrown down in rage.

In case you really wished to get the cat to lick its paw, you would plan to spend a lot of time and enormous patience. You would try to make it feel comfortable and to like you—try in some way, without any annoyance to the cat, to induce it to want to lick its paw.

If you wish to keep the cat from the pudding, effective punishment will also do the trick. A few good lusty slaps with your bare hand on the bare bottom of a baby just beginning to toddle will teach him to stay out of the street or highway or not to play in the fire—to save his life. But if you want to get the cat or the little child to do something for you, don't be so foolish as to use force.

Being kind to the cat, be no less kind to the baby. Take all the time necessary to get him to do happily what you want him to do — and you have a thousand resources as you work with him. When he reaches the age of five or six it will be time enough to command him to do things. Even then you rarely should make positive commands if you wish to have a happy and obedient child.

In case you should have an older child whom you have already trained in stubborness, just use as much intelligence and skill in dealing with him as you would use in successfully dealing with the mule.

Does Hair Belong To Mother or to One Who Grows It

By CAROLINE CHATFIELD

As far as the memory of woman runneth the bitterest battleground of mother-vs-daughter has been daughter's hair. Immemorially mother has recognized her right to get in it; but she has never recognized daughter's right to get in her own hair; in fact she's slow to recognize that daughter has any hair of her own. Here it is that daughter begins her fight for independence, not with the sword but with sharp words, curling implements and scissors.

Can any woman recall her youth without recalling innumerable arguments she had with her mother on the question of whether hair should be long or short, up or down, curled or straight, banged or pompadoured? Many years ago I saw a blue-eyed curly-haired playmate snip off a few front strands to make some bangs and just because I agreed with her that it was her hair which she had a perfect right to cut, I found myself in the embarrassing position of sharing punishment for "the rape of the lock." Worse than the punishment was having to witness the mother's tearful grief at the sight of her shorn lamb and her shock at the thought that her darling dared lay hands on what wasn't hers.

Verily history repeats itself. In the morning's mail there's a letter from a young miss in her early teens, bemoaning her mother's lack of sympathy and understanding. "Why," she says, "I cut myself some bangs and when mother saw them she told father and they raised such a row you would have thought I had committed a crime. Father would never have seen the bangs if she hadn't told him about them; and besides whose hair is it anyhow?"

Whose hair is it, anyhow? There's the crux of the matter. Mother thinks it's hers because daughter belongs to her; but when she tries to tell daughter that daughter's hair belongs to mother, daughter begins to suspect that there are some subjects about which mother doesn't know best — nor even know anything.

Why hair should be the subject that makes the crack that widens into the gulf that separates the generation of mothers from the generation of their daughters is a mystery but all signs point to the fact that it is. Long before mother and daughter disagree on clothes, companions and social customs, they've gone a round or two on hair. Long before they part company on the question of boy friends, dates and nocturnal amusements, they've been splitting hairs, pulling hair and getting in one another's hair on the subject of whose hair it is anyhow.

Asking me, I'll say it belongs to the gal that grows it.

Tired, Strained Eyes Handicap to Anyone's Beauty

By DONNA GRACE

There is a world of beauty in every healthy eye, whether the color is blue or brown, and the important point in all eye beauty is to avoid eye strain. Tired, strained eyes are just as handicapped as weary leg and arm muscles and will lose their brilliancy when fatigued.

At the slightest indication of eye trouble see the eye specialist, and be advised what to do. In the meantime avoid injuring or impairing eye strength by using common sense care.

We all know lighting is something that has so much to do with the comfort and well-being of the eyes. Never read or work in a dim light; on the other hand, be sure the room or desk lighting is not too glaring. Do not work facing a strong light. Do not read with the light reflecting on highly glossed paper. Do not read in a moving car or on trains. We do find it necessary to read when taking a long train ride. In such case shut out the moving effect of the outside or it will interfere with the focus of the sight.

When you look at an object, think of it at the same time and there will be less strain on the eyes. When there is a strain, close the eyes and rest them for a few moments, and while they are closed try to picture in your mind a dot of the same size or a bit smaller than the print you are reading. Hold this impression for a few moments and when you open your eyes you will read the print with ease.

Harmless exercises that are so good for the eyes can be done frequently during the day. If you warm the eyes before all exercise there will be less strain. This can be done by sitting close to a light with closed eyes. Open the eyes, look up, then down, to the sides and rotate the eyes as if following an imaginary circle. Or if you wish, hold a pencil or an object in the hand and as you move it up and down in circles, follow it with the eyes.

Tularemia . . .

Tells of Disease Of Hunting Season And Its Avoidance

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

With the advent of the hunting season, warning should be posted again of the danger of rabbit fever, as it has been nicknamed. It is technically called tularemia and that is a better term than rabbit fever because it can be caught from a number of wild animals — squirrels, muskrats, woodchucks, opossums and many game birds, including doves and quail. It can also spread through the bite of flies, ticks and mites. Still, most of the cases are traced to rabbits.

The germ of the disease lives in the bodies of one of these animals and is spread from one to another by the fly or tick. In man the infection is usually direct from contact with the animal.

It results mostly from dressing an infected animal. What happens is that a healthy looking and active rabbit is shot, and the hunter brings it home and proceeds to dress it with his bare hands. The rabbit, in spite of its healthy appearance, may be just saturated with the tularemia germ. It is in the muscles just under the skin and in the blood of those muscles and of the skin itself.

The rabbit skinner has a small scratch on his hand and the germs get into this. Then a few days later an ulcer develops on this spot, and a lymph node enlarges somewhere up the arm. Maybe it will affest two or three lymph nodes. There is fever and a general feeling of fatigue.

WEAR RUBBER GLOVES

It can all be prevented by wearing rubber gloves while dressing rabbits for the table. The gloves form an effective barrier between the germs and the skin.

This was definitely proved in one of our big markets in an eastern city. It had a widespread epidemic, almost all confined to market employees. When the cause became known, they were all required to wear rubber gloves and the epidemic ceased. So far as I know, this applies only to wild rabbits.

The condition usually wears itself out and the patient recovers. But they are really sick and uncomfortable while it is going on.

The form in which it starts in the finger and runs up the arm is the usual form, but it may also appear on the eye, probably from rubbing the eye with the finger. It may also appear as a pneumonia.

It is easy to determine positively in the laboratory whether a suspected case is tularemia by a blood agglutination test.

Hints for Housewives

By ALICE LYNN BARRY

All prunes are plums, and some plums are prunes, but prune salad with nuts is something.

PRUNE SALAD

Prune salad with nuts is a good luncheon salad. When we have it we generally serve it with a toasted cheese sandwich and a beverage and find it nourishing and adequate.

For six servings, we use a cup of hopped prunes, two cups chopped carrots, one large orange, diced; one-quarter cup chopped nuts and one-quarter cup cooked salad dressing.

Wash prunes and soak over night in just enough water to cover. Prunes should be tender enough to pit. If not, stew gently until tender.

Toss prunes lightly altogether with the carrots, orange and enough salad dressing to moisten. Serve on lettuce or with a sprig of parsley.

RAISIN RECIPE

It isn't such a big jump from prunes to raisins, so we'll give the next recipe without any misgivings. It is for raisins cooked with spices, healthful, nourishing and just about the best thing we have sampled in a long while.

Spiced raisins calls for one cup raisins, one cup water, one-quarter teaspoon nutmeg, half teaspoon of ground ginger, one and one-half cups granulated sugar, one teaspoon cinnamon and half teaspoon ground cloves.

Place the sugar, water and spices in a saucepan and cook, stirring until the sugar is dissolved. Continue cooking until the candy reaches the soft ball stage when tested in cold water.

Add raisins and cook slowly for about seven minutes, stirring only enough to separate the raisins and keep the syrup from scorching. Remove saucepan from fire and place in another pan of boiling water. Take a few raisins at the time from the syrup, drain and drop into granulated sugar.

Separate at once, and roll each raisin until coated well with sugar. If the mixture of raisins and syrup becomes sugary before all are dripped out, add about one-quarter cup of water and recook. Heat slowly until sugar is dissolved, then cook for about five minutes until the syrup is thickened.

Serial Story . . .

AFRAID TO MARRY

By HELEN WELSHIMER

CHAPTER 15

In that moment that she heard her name spoken in the lobby, as she left Mary Banner's apartment, Judy thought that Craig had said it. She did not want to see him—not until she had adjusted a mask over her face so he would not see the hurt wonderment in her eyes.

It was not Craig who had spoken. It was Ronald Birrell. In her relief she smiled. He was so strong, so tall, so dependable. She did not even ask why he had come. He told her, though.

"I telephoned Marjorie, searching for you, and she knew you were coming here. Is everything all right?" He asked it almost timidly.

"Everything is lovely!" Everything, but I'm crying way down inside. Maybe I'll never stop. Just cry on and on for years, she was telling herself.

"Judy, you are grand." He said it solemnly, worshipfully. The tone reminded her of something. Ah, now she knew. Craig's voice when he mentioned Mary. But Ronald must not think of her in that way. She was finished with love, forever and forever.

He did not ask her if she were free. He led her to his car and was quiet until they had driven a few blocks. Then he put an irrelevant question to her.

"Do you like to fish?"

"I used to like to, when I was little. Sometimes my father took me with him. That was before he married Sarita. It's been years since I tried."

"I know of a fishing lodge up in Connecticut where I go sometimes.

Game Played With Wooden Disks Is a Test of Your Tossing Skill

By RAY J. MARRAN

For a good tossing game, draw a diagram similar to the sketch on the sidewalk with chalk. Number each compartment, 5, 10, 20 or 100, so that a score may be easily totaled.

Furnish each player with 2-inch disks of wood cut from the thin box material with a scroll saw. Pennies, iron washers, or the tin covers of jelly glasses may also be used.

Each player stands off about six feet and tosses his disks at the center circle in the diagram. The disks will bounce or roll, and come to rest in one of the numbered squares. The number of this square is added to the player's score. Any number of players may compete, and each player tosses five disks.

This is a fast playing game, so the final winner should be determined by playing a certain number of sets, say ten or twenty. The player scoring the highest number of games out of a set wins the contest.

RIGHT EFFECT

"I suppose, Henry," said the old gentleman to his new son-in-law, "that you are aware that the check for fifty thousand dollars I put among your wedding presents was merely for effect."

"Oh, yes, sir," responded the cheerful Henry, "and the effect was excellent. The bank cashed it this morning."

POSERS

2. Where was Shakespeare born?
3. In what state are the Sierra Nevada mountains?
4. Where is the Bay of Fundy?
5. Name the five Great Lakes.
6. Who was Emile Zola?
7. What and where are the Dardanelles?
8. What was the pen name of Samuel Langhorne Clemens?

How Columbus Did It

We all know why Christopher Columbus is famous—because he discovered America. And most of us, if we stop to think, know WHY he discovered America. It was really an accident, you remember. Columbus didn't expect to discover a new continent. He was looking for a new ship route to the Indies.

An accident, yes, and perhaps we might call it luck. But don't forget this: Columbus would never have discovered America, never even have sailed, if he had not had boundless courage, and unlimited faith in himself.

Other people, the wise men of the time, laughed at his idea that the world was round, but Columbus knew he was right, and refused to let others talk him out of it. He persisted in the face of the greatest obstacles, and even when he had almost reached America, he had to put down a mutiny of his sailors, who did not have his courage and faith.

That's the real reason why Columbus accomplished something. It wasn't luck. It was just the fact that he refused to be beaten.

The Kitchenette

FRUIT COCKTAIL

If mother is giving a dinner party or just having a tempting Indian-summer dinner for the family, you might pitch in and help a bit by making a fruit cocktail and putting it on ice to chill before dinner. It makes a very cool and refreshing start for a dinner at this time of year.

Cut up apples, bananas, oranges and grapefruit in small pieces and mix them thoroughly together with a little sugar. Of course, you peel them first and save the juice that drips out of them as you cut. Put the mixed fruit in individual compotes and pour the juices over the fruit. Add a little sugar and put in the icebox to chill. You might sprinkle a little shredded coconut over the top to make it look very dainty.

If you make this for dinner some night real soon, I am sure mother will be very proud of you.

DOGGY DRAMAS PRESENT — A New Thriller

More Points for Tony

By W. BOYCE MORGAN

(INSTALLMENT 6)

But Coach Frankhouse had heard the conversation. He called Tony aside in a voice that had an edge to it.

"Look, Tony," he said shortly, "I don't think it's such a hot idea for you to be talking about your individual point total. After all, you're supposed to be out there trying to win games for Jefferson high school, and not just running up points for yourself. And don't forget that there are ten other men out there, working just as hard as you are. It won't go down so well with them to have you paying more attention to your personal glory than you do to the team."

Tony's face flushed angrily. "But who I score touchdowns, doesn't that help the team?" he demanded.

"Sure," said the coach quickly. "But don't forget that the team helps score the touchdowns. If a couple of men in that line started lying down, or if Hank Palmer wasn't about the best high school blocking back in the business, those other teams would be nailing you before you even got started."

The coach turned on his heel, and Tony gazed after him angrily.

"Oh, yeah?" he muttered to himself. "Well, if I started lying down, you wouldn't have any touchdowns. And they're still paying off on touchdowns."

But after that, the spirit of the Jefferson team took a sudden turn for the worse. Once or twice, when Tony left the locker room, he thought he heard snickers following him. And one day Charlie Shayne, the other halfback, handed him a short clipping from a New York paper.

"It's about you," he said, his face perfectly sober. "I thought you might like to add it to your collection."

The other fellows were watching him, and nobody even smiled. But as Tony took the clipping with a muttered word of thanks, he could almost feel the scornful laughter that lurked behind that circle of faces.

On the following Saturday Jefferson played St. Joseph's, one of the best teams in the whole metropolitan area. Tony knew that he was going to be up against a big, rough team, and that they would all be "laying" for him. But he was grimly determined not to be stopped.

There was a huge crowd at the game, equally divided between Jefferson and St. Joe supporters. From the opening kickoff it was a hard, bruising struggle. At the end of the first quarter the score was tied 0-0, and Tony hadn't made a gain of more than 10 yards.

One reason for his lack of success was a big, red-haired end on the St. Joseph team. Every time Tony carried the ball, that end seemed to be in on the tackle. And every chance he got, he poured gibes and insults into Tony's ear.

"You aren't so hot," he would say. "You don't look good against a real team." Or, "We're primed for you, fella. You won't make a point today."

Then, in the second quarter, Tony finally broke loose for one of his copyrighted runs. He dodged and fought his way 47 yards to the goal, only to have the big red-headed end catch him there and bring him down just after he crossed the line. The tackle was vicious, and Tony was sure that the other player intentionally twisted his knee as they lay on the ground.

"Watch that," Tony cried as he scrambled to his feet, "or you'll get hurt."

"Who'll get hurt?" the end inquired. "Don't worry, Mister. That's your last run of the day."

Tony thought the words were a threat, and a few minutes later he was sure of it. With the ball in mid-field, he smashed off tackle, broke clear for a moment, and then was brought down by a smashing tackle from the rear. As he hit the ground, he felt a sharp twinge of pain in his knee.

Blind with rage, he leaped to his feet. The red-headed player was slower, and Tony was on him before he could straighten up. Slugging with all his might, Tony drove three hard blows into the St. Joseph player's face, sending him sagging back to the ground.

In an instant the field was in an uproar. For a while it looked as though the fighting would become general, but the officials finally separated the teams. Then the referee grimly penalized Jefferson half the distance to its goal line and banished Tony from the game.

Coach Frankhouse never even looked at him as he limped to the bench. And Tony sat, with hardly a word from his teammates, to watch St. Joe take the ball a moment later and eventually drive to the touchdown that tied the score. The game ended in a 6-6 tie, and Tony knew he was in disgrace!

STOP, LOOK, LISTEN

A dear elderly lady and her granddaughter came down to the railway station. Evidently the old lady was not used to travelling. She looked anxiously about the station, and then walked up to the ticket office and inquired:

"When does the next train go to town, please?"

"The next train, madam," said the agent, looking at his watch, "goes at exactly 4 o'clock."

"Will that be the first train?"

"Yes, madam, the first train."

"Are there any freight trains?"

"No madam."

"Is there a special?"

"If there happened to be a special, would you be aware of it?"

"Yes, madam."

"Well, I'm very glad—very glad," said the lady. "Now, Susan you and I may cross thetracks."

A new member, Mrs. D. G. Beatty, was welcomed.

The sum of $25 was voted towards the fund being collected for the purchase of an "iron lung."

It was decided to hold the annual meeting in January instead of March, future.

More Witnesses Testify in the Trial of Good

Three more prosecution witnesses were heard Tuesday in the trial of Andrew H. Good, on a charge of driving in a manner dangerous to the public, arising out of the crash between his car and a car driven by Mrs. G. A. C. Walley at the hospital corner on High street September 12.

Lawrence Simpson, who drove past Good, and later heard a crash and went back to investigate, was one of the witnesses. Mrs. Edward Jackman, who was close on the scene of the accident, and Mrs. Roy Freeman, a passenger in the Walley car, were the other witnesses.

Magistrate William Brown adjourned the case to next Monday.

FLAME-COLORED BOULEVARDS

A very few flame-colored rock or sugar maples, a few cut-leaved maples, and a few purple-leaved maples are to be found on Nelson's boulevards, but together they probably do not equal 1 per cent of Nelson's shade tree planting, the undesirable Norway maple, with its rapid growth, profuse seeding and universal germination and aggressive spreading, preempting the ground. Those familiar with the sugar maple, which produces Canada's national emblem, would like to see it universally adopted, for it would add a rich color in the fall to any landscape, and any Kootenay centre that went to the special trouble necessary to procure it would be repaid by results.

This view seems also to be taken by the Dominion Experimental Farms branch, which suggests in the following news release avoidance of the Norway maple, and preference of the sugar maple:

While many persons may think of the maple as one of Canada's national emblems and a sugar maker, this tree is only one member of a large family of trees and shrubs which fill a wide range of usefulness in Canadian landscape planting, states R. W. Oliver, horticultural division, Dominion department of agriculture.

Wherever it is hardy, the native white hard or sugar maple is the best of trees for shade or street planting. Its well balanced shape and tough wood stand up in rough weather. The foliage is excellent throughout the summer and a glorious riot of color in the fall, when its scarlet and gold may be heightened by the additional crimson of the swamp red maple.

The hard maple has the drawback of being a slow grower, and this fault has caused too frequent planting of its weaker cousin, the Norway maple. The latter tree, while growing more rapidly, and having a fairly pleasing shape, has a much shorter life due to two bad habits: it has ascending branches which form bad crotches, and has a tendency to split with the frost. Both faults permit the easy entry of decay fungi which cause damage and early death. For these reasons the Norway maple should not be recommended except where one of the red or purple-leaved varieties, such as Schwedleri or Reitenbachi, is to be used as a lawn specimen, where the foliage is most attractive.

The silver or soft maple makes an attractive shade tree on a large lawn. At maturity its tall spreading form rivals the elm. The foliage is light in color on the underside which gives the appearance of life in a breeze. Wier's cut-leaved variety is a useful tree as a smaller lawn specimen, as its weeping habit breaks the monotony of average round-headed trees. The characteristic fall color of the soft maple is yellow, that of Wier's variety, silver grey.

Most of the maple unfortunately feed near the surface of the soil, so that they frequently damage lawns more than trees which root deeply. This can usually be overcome by liberal watering and fertilizing so that the ground can support both tree and grass.

The Manitoba maple or box elder is the hardiest and most rapid grower of the family. But it should have no place in any planting scheme in a section of the country where good trees can be grown. The planter gets quick results, but it is a case of plant in haste and repent at leisure, as this tree rapidly becomes a weed.

Then there are the smaller forms. The Tartarian and Amur maples are useful small trees or shrubs for large shrubbery masses where their neat summer foliage is attractive and their crimson and scarlet blaze a fall spectacle. The Japanese maple has many forms with cut and varicolored foliage. Many of them are attractive shrubs as lawn specimens, but unfortunately they can only be grown in very limited areas where the climate is lenient.

The great hope of society is individual character.—Channing.

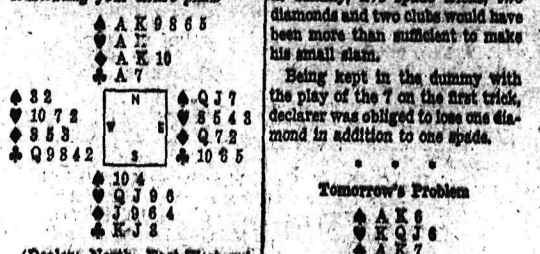
Contract Bridge

Shepard Barclay Tells How to Bid and Play

BEWARE CHEAP TRICKS

BEFORE YOU DECIDE to take a trick with some low card, take a good look at the entry situation. Perhaps it will then become manifest that the cheap trick is really expensive. It may result in blocking communication between one hand and the opposite holding, thus frustrating your entire plans



(Dealer: North. East-West vulnerable)

North's original bid on this deal was 2-Spades, to which South responded with 2-No Trump. After 3-Spades by North and 3-No Trump by South, North jumped to 5-No Trump, which South took to 6-No Trump.

When the club 4 was led by West, South took the trick with the 3 and from that moment on his contract was doomed. He failed to realize that spades had to be run to make the contract and that one sure trick had to be lost there so that every other trick had to be won.

The club A should have been played to the first trick and even though that meant forfeiting one club trick, the play provided an entry to the South hand to cash two good hearts, which with the two in dummy, five spade tricks, two diamonds and two clubs would have been more than sufficient to make his small slam.

Being kept in the dummy with the play of the 7 on the first trick, declarer was obliged to lose one diamond in addition to one spade.

?? Questions ?? ANSWERS

This column of questions and answers is open to any reader of the Nelson Daily News. In no case will the name of the person asking the question be published.

N. B., Thrums—Who won the first four prizes in the General Motors contest which was held last July, for writing the best slogan on safety driving?

Winner of the first prize, was Walter George Benton, Prince Albert, who wrote "Know the rules, drive with care, observe the road signs everywhere." Edmund J. Jelinski, Regina, Sask., won second prize with, "Don't drive in haste, or reckless ways, remember always, safety pays' ". Third prize winner was Paul Bergstrom, Newton, B. C., with, "When you drive a car or truck mind your job, don't crowd your luck." Mrs. S. G. Andrews, Regina, won fourth prize with, "Drive sanely for safety."

C. K., Trail—What is a Martello tower?

A round masonry tower designed to form a part of coast defence is called a Martello tower, being so named for its inventor. The original Martello tower was situated in the Gulf of San Florenzo, Corsica. These became popular about 1800, but their use has in most cases been discontinued long ago as they were found to be of little practical value.

F. N., Nelson—How did the Fiat automobile get its name?

F. I. A. T. as the name of the car was originally written at the time of the organization of the company, represented Fabrica Italiana Automobile Torino, which, in plan English, means Italian Automobile Factory at Turin. Custom soon ignored the pronunciation of the separate letters and called the automobile simply Fiat, so that finally the directors of the company abandoned the periods between the letters.

C. E. S., Rossland—I was told that yawning is good for a person. Can you tell me if there is benefit to be derived from it?

Yawning restores the equilibrium of the air pressure between the middle ear and the outside ear. The result is often a feeling of relaxation.

A. M. M., Nelson—What causes paint to peel and what can be done about it?

Peeling and blistering of paint may be caused by dirt, dampness, grease or foreign matter in the oil of the paint. Where such a condition arises, it is necessary to scrape and repaint.

Curious, Grand Forks—How is the gross tonnage of a ship, such as the Queen Mary or Elizabeth, figured.

It is done by measuring the interior of the ship to ascertain its internal volume, and then dividing the total by 100 to obtain the tonnage. One hundred cubic feet is figured, according to this system of measuring, as being equal to one ton.

Panorama

Whisky

Whisky is Scotland's oldest industry, having been exported since the 16th century. The flavor of whisky is partly due to the soft stream water which flows over moss and heather, and to the peat which is used in drying the barley. . . . All parachutists leaving airplanes at great heights delay their drops until within measurable distance of the ground. The reason for this is that they thus quickly escape from the bitter cold of the upper air.

Walk and Be Well

He who acquires the habit of doing some walking every day, regardless of the weather, will gradually become so inured that he has no difficulty in adjusting himself to climatic variations.

To keep healthy in these days of sitting and riding, let us declare war on our indolence and—walk!—Aertzlicher Wegweiser, Germany.

Was With Him in Spirit

Two Indiana manufacturers, former buddies n the World War, went to New York, where they were successful in raising money to expand their plant.

Going back to the Waldorf Bill said: "Jim, this is the first time we have been in New York since we came back from France. Let's make a night of it, like we did 19 years ago."

The next morning Bill awakened with his legs in a plaster cast, his right arm in a splint, and his head bandaged. "Where am I?" he weakly inquired.

"In a hospital," answered the nurse.

"Where's Jim?"

"Here I am, Bill," said Jim.

"What happened?" asked Bill.

"Well," explained Jim, "you remember we agreed last night to do the town. We returned to the hotel about three o'clock and you opened the window and said, 'Wouldn't it be wonderful to soar like a bird out over this man's town, up and around the Empire State tower over there?"

"I remember that," said Bill, "what happened then?"

"Well, you said, 'I believe I can do it,' and you stepped out of the window."

"Jim, why in hell didn't you stop me?" exclaimed Bill.

"Looking back to then," answered Jim, "I now can see that I should have—but at the time I thought you sure could make it."

Serial Story . . . Afraid to Marry

I have some friends, another lawyer and his wife, who like it there. It's late for fishing, I know, but I like to sit in a boat, under a gray sky, and think. Would you go this weekend?"

"Yes, I'd like to."

As simply as that it was settled. Judy's rent was more than a week overdue, and her wardrobe had lost one dress and one hat, sold for money with which to buy food. Resolutely she put aside these worries. She would take them up when she came back Sunday night.

It was wholesome and merry and happy in the woods and on the lake. She lay awake the first night hearing the night sounds, watching the play of long moonlight on the water, breathing deeply of cold, sharp air. In the other bunk in the alcove Mrs. Thomas, the lawyer's wife, slept quietly. From the lower floor, where the two men still sat by the fire, came the low accents of their voices.

The bands that had been clutching her heart relaxed. For the first time in many days Craig didn't matter. Judy fell asleep, happy and contented.

The spell held all through Saturday and Sunday. A pleasant companionship developed naturally. Ronald displayed a protective attitude toward her that was comforting after the weeks of battling employment offices.

They were headed for the city on Sunday evening when he asked her about her job hunting.

"No good," she answered. "But this is a new week, a better week. I know I'll find something.

"Are you free Thursday night?" he asked.

Thursday! That was four days away. He wasn't in any hurry to see more of her. Well, she wouldn't let him know that she cared.

"Sorry, not Thursday. But Friday is open."

"I can't make it Friday." He said it regretfully. "What about Saturday?"

"That will be fine."

"I wish I could make it sooner—a week's such a long time to wait—but the Bolings are having a shindig tomorrow night and I'm taking Abbey to the theatre Wednesday. I have to work Tuesday — that's the way it goes."

"Yes, isn't it?" Judy asked too quietly. Never let yourself get excited again, Judy Rogers, she was reciting inwardly. You've had all sorts of lessons. Abbey Boling has what you haven't — money. Good old coin of the realm. Men like it. Abbey has yellow hair, too. Men go ga-ga over that. Don't be forgetting.

Then she remembered that kiss, and the words that Ronald had told Marjorie about the one girl, a brown-haired girl, he could marry, and the reverence in his tone. It was too complicated. Thank fortune she wouldn't have time to think. She must get a job.

Ronald did not go with Judy into the hotel. There was no parking place and it was late. She was glad that he had not, a few moments later. If he had, she might have lingered, talking to him, and the clerk at the desk might have spoken to her in his presence. As it was, she went directly to her room. Her key did not seem to fit. She examined it carefully. It bore her room number. She inserted it in the lock again. It would not move.

Realization came slowly. She was locked out! Her possessions were locked in. They would be held until she paid her rent. She began to laugh. She leaned against the door of the room and shook until her stomach ached, her head throbbed, her throat hurt.

Finally she went downstairs. She approached the cashier.

"I'm sorry, Miss Rogers, but you are late with your rent," he said. "Until it is paid, I can't let you in."

"It wasn't such a pleasant room anyway," Judy answered, summoning a smile from somewhere. "I'll be giving it up tomorrow when I pay you."

She walked to the door, holding her bag. In it were sports clothes, and one evening outfit, taken along in case there was a country club where the party might dine on Saturday night. There had not been, and she was glad.

She was standing in the doorway when the honking of a car attracted her attention. It was Ronald. Her first instinct was to run. Her second was to face it. She walked to the side of the car. He held out a small black leather purse.

"You dropped it," he said. "It must have fallen out of your bag when you reached for a powder puff or lipstick."

"Thanks." It held 35 cents. She hoped he hadn't looked inside. "Mind giving me a lift to the nearest subway?"

"I'll do better than that. I'll take you. Where are you going?"

"Either the Grand Central Station or Marjorie's. I didn't want to accept favors, even when they were thrust upon me, and now I'm asking them. Maybe a bench wouldn't be hard if I strolled around often enough. . . ."

He came directly to the point.

"Locked out?"

"Until I pay up my rent."

Ronald said something softly under his breath. Then he faced her. "Judy, let me make you a loan. It's purely business."

"No." Her head came up proudly, the eyebrows, the smile, the whole contour winging, singing upward. "I appreciate it. But I can't do it. I'll get a job. I'm designing more clothes all the time."

"The market is filled with ambitious young designers, but I'm proud of you. You'll make the grade, Judy. You have to!"

"Why?" she asked curiously.

He hesitated. "Well — just because I want you to."

DEBATE WHETHER WIFE U.S. PRESIDENT SHOULD CURTSY TO THE QUEEN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11 (AP).—Although there has not been so much as an official murmur that King George VI and Queen Elizabeth will cross the border into the United States during their visit to Canada next summer, Washington social arbiters are debating whether the wife of the United States president should curtsy to their Majesties if they call at the White House.

Asked what she would do if their Majesties came, Mrs. Roosevelt smilingly replied: "I shall be told by the state department exactly what to do and do exactly as I am told."

The consensus in social circles was that the customary American forms of social greeting would be the thing, rather than the curtsy.

Three Burned Death

COLUMBUS, Kas., Oct. 11 (AP).—Converted into human torches by flaming gasoline, three men burned to death and a fourth was injured critically after a Frisco passenger train and a gasoline truck collided near here last night.

Explosion of 400 gallons of gasoline in the truck blew the two trainmen out of the engine and the two truckers from their car. The engineer was burned seriously. The fireman and truckmen were killed. Automatic brakes stopped the train. No passengers were endangered.

Old-Time Sourdough Disappointed in North "Isn't the Same Now"

VANCOUVER, Oct. 11 (CP).—Sam McGee, the old-time sourdough Robert Service immortalized with his "Cremation" poem, was back in Vancouver today after his first visit to Alaska and the Yukon since prospecting days—and he was sad.

"The country isn't the same now," he moaned as his memory strayed back to the days between 1898 and 1909 when he mushed through the north country on his hunt for gold.

"They're using airplanes up there instead of dog teams," he complained. "There are planes leaving every hour of the day to take supples all over the Northland."

Old Sam, wizened and stooped by the years, spent the summer in the north, just searching around for familiar sights and old friends. He found most of the things he wanted to see had disappeared.

Proud Mother of Yankee Star

Mrs. Louise Gordon looks up from one of her numerous pictures of her son, Joe, the whirlwind New York Yankee second baseman. She made the trip from Portland, Ore., where the Gordon homestead is located, to the world series to see her hard-hitting, brilliant-fielding son in action against the Cubs.

New Faces Will Be Seen on 1938 Chicago Lineup

CHICAGO, Oct. 11 (AP)—New faces, plenty of them, will be around when Chicago Cubs take the field next year, says Manager Gabby Hartnett.

There is little doubt the Cubs would like to have Joe (Ducky) Medwick, a power in the St. Louis Cardinal attack and rumors already were out that the Cubs would make a serious bid for the slugging outfielder.

"Winning a pennant doesn't mean anything unless you can put a powerful club against the Yankees," said Hartnett as he returned from World Series wars in which the Yanks riddled the Cubs in four straight games.

"It's bad enough when a team doesn't get base hits with men on the bases," he declared. "It's worse when you can't get even a fly ball wth a man on third waiting to score.

Hartnett wasn't sure of how or where he would get that power, but he was desperate enough to cry "I'll trade anybody except Stan Hack, Bill Lee, Clay Bryant and Dizzy Dean."

"I'm keeping Dean," Hartnett said, "because I believe the big fellow can come back."

McLean's Egyptian Queen — were scratched today from the Cambridgeshire, to be run here tomorrow. James Rank's Michoumy, the favorite, was withdrawn yesterday.

CHARLIE CONACHER TO TRY OUT FOR BERTH WITH DETROIT WINGS

High Cash Figure Involved Says Adams

DETROIT, Oct. 11 (CP) — The steep comeback trail to hockey stardom drew another candidate today as Manager Jack Adams of Detroit Red Wings announced Charlie Conacher will attempt to win a berth this season with the former world champions.

Once the most feared right winger in the National league, Conacher was purchased from Toronto Maple Leafs for a "very high cash figure", Adams said. He will report to Red Wings to begin training at the end of the week.

Announcement of the big bomber's return to the N.H.L. was made less than 10 months after Conacher himself said he was through for all time. His retirement was announced last January 19 when Conacher was advised further play might result in permanent injury to his health.

At that time Manager Conny Smythe of Leafs, with whom Conacher played for eight and a half seasons, said: "Charlie won't play next season or the season after and we don't expect a miracle."

HEALTH INVOLVED

Though exact details of the contract Conacher will sign were not made public, Adams said one of the many factors governing it will be in regard to the burly winger's health. He did not amplify the statement.

A star from the time he stepped from junior ranks straight into big-time hockey, Conacher had a kidney removed shortly before the opening of his first professional season in 1929-30. The strain of eight full campaigns finally told after he was hurt in an early-season game in Montreal last year and Dr. J. W. Rush, club physician, advised Conacher his remaining kidney was not functioning properly.

Advised to take a long rest in a warm climate, Conacher spent most of last winter in Florida.

Didn't take Joe Gould and Tommy Farr long to jump the Philadelphia promoters once Mike Jacobs started shaking those $1 bills under their noses. Members of the Kansas City Blues voted Ted Williams of Minneapolis a better hitter than Charley Keller of Newark who is supposed to burn up the American League for the Yanks next season. . . Gabby Hartnett, who plans a new Cub team next season, will start operating on the outfield.

Colonel Ruppert Snorts at Rumor New York Yankees Might Break Up

NEW YORK, Oct. 11 (CP)—Baseball men laughed today at rumors Colonel Jacob Ruppert would break up his great New York Yankee team to give other clubs a chance and the good Colonel himself merely snorted when told of the reports.

The Colonel is a sick man these days—so sick he couldn't watch his champion Yankees topple Chicago Cubs in the World Serises—but not so sick that he'd break up such a great machine just to help somebody who never helped him.

At all such reports the good Colonel stiffens and barks: "Why should I? What did they ever do for me when I was trying to build a ball club?"

And the Colonel is right. Years ago Chicago White Sox ruled and New York Yankees were nothing. Baseball's "Old Roman", Charles A. Comiskey, refused to help Colonel Ruppert, then interested in building the hopeless Yanks to a money-making team and a winner.

Most of the other clubs, riding high, also turned Ruppert down and, in his rage, the old brewer vowed he'd make them all sorry.

How he succeeded is baseball history. Since he and the late Colonel T. L. Huston purchased the Yanks for $400,000 in 1915, the club has won 10 American league flags and seven world titles beginning with 1921 when Babe Ruth, one of the heroes he was able to pry away from a rival club, started paying dividends.

HOME DESTROYED

At Lydda, Palestine's main railway junction, 21 Arab homes were destroyed by British troops because of recent attacks on military police.

A death toll of five was reported after 20 separate incidents of killing, sabotage, arson, robbery and sniping in the last 24 hours.

One Arab was killed and one Jew seriously wounded in two incidents in this city. At Ramleh, an Arab band raided the treasury office and escaped with £65 ($325). South of Tel Aviv, four British policemen and one Jewish colonist were wounded in a battle with terrorists. Two of the latter were killed.

The Jewish press featured an "ultimatum" issued by the Arab committee for the defence of Palestine threatening "dire calamities", to Jews in the Holy land so long as the fight against the Arabs continued.

BERLIN, Oct. 11 (CP-Havas)—The German press turned attention tonight to Palestine, reporting the disorders there under such headlines as "England Completely Overwhelmed!" and "Arab Revolution!"

D.N.B., official reich news agency, reported in a dispatch from Cairo a National Arab government had been established in the Holy land, with a "Free Corps" of 15,000 at its disposal. This underground government was credited in the dispatch with having brought three-fourths of the country under its sway.

Schooner Contest Stalled as Breezes Fail; Skippers Irate

By TOM HORGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Oct. 11 (AP)—Crews of Captain Angus Walters' Bluenose, Canadian defender of the International Fishermen's trophy, and Captain Ben Pine's Gloucester challenger, Gertrude L. Thebaud, fought a losing battle against time today and the contest was finally called off.

Long before the contest was called and with the big banker from Lunenburg, N.S., ahead by nearly a mile, it became apparent there was no possibility of a finish within the six-hour time limit.

Both captains were irate tonight over what they regarded as unnecessary punishment for their men, who were on deck at 6 a.m. and who did not get their vessels tied up until after dark.

The southeasterly breeze at the start was only four miles an hour and Captain Pine voiced his displeasure over sailing under such conditions by calling across the glassy sea: "Hey, Angus, you haven't a canoe aboard, have you?"

The race was the second of a three of five series for the trophy now held by Bluenose and donated by Senator W. H. Dennis, Halifax publisher. Thebaud won the first race Sunday over an 18-mile twice-around triangular course.

The schooners required nearly four hours to negotiate the first 12-mile leg of a 36-mile triangular course. After confused starting signals, the two schooners drifted along, beam to beam, so close together a member of Bluenose's crew reached out and patted Thebaud's main boom.

Mooney Places His Case Before Calif. Voters

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 11 (AP).—Tom Mooney, turned down by the United States supreme court in his fight for freedom, placed his case before the voters of California today.

The convicted San Francisco Preparedness Day bomber serving life in nearby San Quentin prison, last night dropped further appeal to the highest United States tribunal and demanded Governor Frank F. Merriam give him an immediate pardon hearing.

Five governors have denied pardon applications during the 22 years Mooney has fought for freedom from conviction on what he called "framed" testimony.

He declared yesterday he would wait for the coming gubernatorial election, hoping for the success of the Democratic candidate, State Senator Culbert L. Olson, who led efforts in the senate recently to obtain a pardon for Mooney.

Critics Disagree About New Play

NEW YORK, Oct. 11 (CP).—The drama critic of the Herald Tribune today greeted the "Oscar Wilde" wrought for the stage by Leslie and Sewell stokes as "the most impressive drama of the new season," while the New York Times critic found nothing to alter his wish that Wilde and the story of his undoing be allowed to rest in peace.

On one thing the critics were agreed. Both found Robert Morley's work in the title role of the highest quality.

Although the play is filled with a great compassion for its hero, it makes no attempt to whitewash him.

The new water supply boomed into the mains, the faucets, the homes. Disney suffered a flood.

Warns Dangers Of Common Cold

OTTAWA, Oct. 11 — Canadian should be on the alert to combat that scourge of every man and respecter of none—the common cold—which becomes increasingly prevalent during the changeable fall season and cold winter months, the Hon. C. G. Power, minister of pensions and national health, warns in a memorandum issued by the department at Ottawa.

Few major diseases leave such a widespread toll of discomfort and economic loss in their train as does this so-called simple infection, states Major Power in urging people to keep away from crowds when colds are prevalent and to practice good hygienic habits in order to build up resistance. The common cold is the chief cause of lost time in industry.

"If the total amount of suffering, inconvenience, complications and economic loss arising from the common cold could be computed, there is no doubt it would rank among the serious diseases," he declares.

The common cold is not caught by exposure to drafts or sudden changes in temperature, as is popularly supposed, but is the result of germ infection through either direct or indirect contact with those suffering from a cold. Drafts, exposure to wet and cold, overwork, improper food and local pathological conditions may, however, lower the body's vitality and allow the infection to gain headway.

In order to stay clear of colds, two general rules should be stringently followed: (1) Avoid contact with those who have a cold, and (2) adopt proper sanitary habits to strengthen resistance to the infection. In following the first, it is necessary to stay away from crowded and poorly ventilated places while colds are going the rounds. To build up resistance, a proper diet, sufficient rest, plenty of sunshine and fresh air, and cleanliness and care of the mouth, nose, throat and teeth are essential.

The Minister warns of the serious complications, such as bronchitis, pneumonia, sinusitis and a depressed vitality favoring other infections, which are apt to be the result of the common cold if proper precautions are not taken. Persons with colds should go to bed and stay there for three days or until convalescent. Only in this way can the spread of the infection be prevented and possible serious complications avoided.

SPEED OF MOBILIZATION SURPASSES EXPECTATIONS

LONDON, Oct. 11 (CP Havas).—The speed with which mobilization of the Royal navy was carried out surpassed all expectations the press association reported today on the basis of information from authoritative naval sources.

Speed with which reservists of all categories answered the mobilization order drew particular praise. A total of 29,000 men presented themselves for service. Of these, 16,000 were former naval officers and sailors with a record of from seven to 12 years' service in the Royal navy. The balance included volunteers and merchant marine reservists.

Former "Bubble Dancer" Socked Jack Doyle After He Broke Date With Her

NEW YORK, Oct. 11 (AP) — "Boy, I hit him with everything I had!"

Pretty, hazel-eyed Elinore Troy, 22-year-old former Hollywood movie actress and one-time "bubble dancer" thus described how she biffed Jack Doyle, prize-fighting songster, sometimes called "the Irish thrush", in the Midnight Sun night club early today.

Miss Troy said she walked into the club after Doyle had broken a date with her—"and here we'd only been engaged for two days," —to find him sitting with Michi Taka, a Japanese dancer in the club's floor show.

"I probably hurt that pretty face of his but he had it coming," she said. "I asked him if he remembered our date and he started to stammer and said, 'Yes, darling, but —' and then I let him have it, smack on the nose."

Miss Troy said she put every ounce of her five feet 11½ inches behind the punch that becrimsoned Doyle's nose and sent him reeling.

"I've known Jack two years, and some day I'll probably marry him—if my temper holds out," she said. "He's worth fighting for."

Asked why Doyle fascinated women, Miss Troy said:

"He's got everything. Not just a fast line. He doesn't need one.

"Even if I did sock him, he's one in a million.

"I said I'd get him yet, and I will."

Market and Mining News

Prices Irregular On Wall Street

NEW YORK, Oct. 11 (AP)—Stocks put on numerous quick-change acts in today's market and generally convinced traders the hand was faster than the eye so far as confusing trends were concerned.

Dips and rallies were so frequent the customers no more than took a position on one side of the market than prices pointed in an entirely opposite direction.

While strong spots were in evidence here and there, along with an assortment of new highs for the year, minus signs were plentiful throughout and closing quotations highly irregular.

Aircrafts did rather well from the start, but were not particularly buoyant. Loft, the speediest performer of Monday, shot up 2⅝ to a new top at 9 on the heaviest turnover of any single stock in months, then suddenly went into reverse and gave up about all of the advance. Utilities tried to repeat yesterday's upswing, but met resistance. Electrical equipments exhibited strength. The rails did virtually nothing.

The ticker tape picked up momentum occasionally, but was content to jog for the most part. Transfers approximated 1,500,000 shares.

Agriculture Secretary Prepares Program to Quiet Dissatisfaction

WASHINGTON, Oc. 11 (AP). — Henry Wallace, United States secretary of agriculture, and his aides are completing a four-point program designed to quiet rumblings of dissatisfaction over heavy crop surpluses and low farm prices.

This program includes.

1. Continuation of the existing United States crop control law, with referenda on marketing quotas to keep next year's cotton, tobacco, rice and wheat crops in line with expected needs.

2. A recommendation to congress that it revive processing taxes invalidated by the supreme court in 1936. Funds raised by the taxes would supplement present farm subsidies.

3. Greater emphasis on expanding domestic markets for surplus farm products.

4. Reorganization of the agriculture department, announced a few days ago, for greater efficiency in serving farmers.

TO DEVISE AND PRESENT NEW WAGE-HOUR LAW

HOUSTON, Oct. 11 (AP)—Delegates to the American Federation of Labor convention voted today to give their executive council blanket authority to devise and present to the United States congress amendments to the federal wage-hour law.

The report pointed to the need for revising sections of the law which it said provided for more than a single minimum wage rate. It also objected to the absence from the statute of any definition for the terms "apprentice" and "learner."

Source of Mysterious Gasoline Well Found

DETROIT, Oct. 11 (CP).—Howard Crane would like to forget the whole affair of the mysterious gasoline "well" he found near his service station. City experts, worried over the danger of an explosion, sought the source of the gasoline. They found it was leaking from Crane's own storage tanks, and had been for six months.

Slight Decline Chicago Wheat

CHICAGO, Oct. 11 (AP). — Preholiday conditions, with traders inclined to go slow, resulted in Chicago wheat prices going a bit lower late today after a series of slight fluctuations.

December delivery of corn equalled the year's low price record.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures were unchanged to ⅜ down compared with yesterday's finish, Dec. 64¼—⅜, May 65¼—⅜, corn unchanged to ½ lower, Dec. 44⅝—•, May 48—48..., and oats at ....—¼ decline.

Cost of Wheat to Date Comparatively Little

WINNIPEG, Oct. 11 (CP).—Wheat has cost the treasury of Canada comparatively little up to date, Hon. J. J. Gardiner, Dominion minister of agriculture, said in an address today before the Winnipeg Canadian club.

Wheat was first marketed by the government of Canada at the end of the war, but it was done to keep the price down to the farmer and not to increase the price and no loss was taken by the government.

"In recent years," the speaker said, "the government has again been involved in the marketing of wheat but up to date there has been no considerable loss in the transaction. It is true that if a settlement had to be made today there would be a considerable loss, but that loss would be scarcely greater than the average amount which has been taken out of the Canadian treasury to promote the livestock activities during the past 10 years."

Canadian export sales during the long week-end were small, estimated below 100,000 bushels. Liverpool closed ¼d higher to ⅛ lower, Buenos Aires was up ¼ cent at noon and Chicago continued steady.

World wheat shipments last week totalled 10,754,000 bushels, slightly below the previous week and same week year ago. North American shipments were 5,469,000 bushels, about the same as the previous week.

Some No. 3 Northern changed hands in the cash market at unchanged spreads but millers and exporters generally were unable to buy more than a few odd carloads of wheat.

Coarse grain quotations moved similar to wheat in one of the quietest in weeks.

ECONOMIC PROBLEMS OF MARITIMES CAN BE SOLVED—TURNBULL

SYDNEY, N. S., Oct. 11 (CP). — The economic problems of the Maritimes are not impossible of solution, President D. R. Turnbull of the transportation commission of the Maritime board of trade told that organization's annual meeting today.

One of the major problems that faces almost all the principal industries in the Maritimes is that of freight rate differentials, he said in his annual report.

Soil chemists have been trying a hundred years to develop quick chemical tests to determine fertilizer needs of different soils, but Dr. Richard Bradfield of Cornell, says such tests "have not yet reached the stage where an untrained person can apply them generally with even a reasonable degree of accuracy."

Ban on Production of Documents in Bren Gun Contract Inquiry Lifted

OTTAWA, Oct. 11 (CP)—Lifting the ban imposed by the British government on the production of evidence and documents relating to the Bren gun contracts was announced when the inquiry before Mr. Justice H. H. Davis resumed today.

"They rely on undertaking of Canadian government as suggested in your telegram October 8, No. 55, not to disclose information relating to Enfield capacity and production schedule, or to any other matter which it would be prejudicial to national security to disclose," said the British cable.

Major General LaFleche, deputy minister of national defence, resumed the witness stand with L. A. Forsyth, K. C., associated commission counsel, examining. When he was in the stand last week General LaFleche told of a report to Hon. Ian Mackenzie, minister of defence, dated December 5, 1936, from Major J. E. Hahn, head of the Inglis company covering his Bren gun investigation in England. Original copy of the report could not be located, the witness said last week.

REPORT IS FOUND

This morning General LaFleche said he had instructed his officials to renew their search for the report "and it was discovered in the ordnance branch where it had been kept under lock and key."

A letter, dated November 6, 1936, from the high commissioner, Hon. Vincent Massey, to the secretary of state for war stating the defence department at Ottawa was desirous of having Bren guns manufactured in Canada was filed. It followed along the lines of a message sent by defence deportment which was produced last week. The letter further said the Canadian department would have to consider manufacture in non-government-owned plants, such as those controlled by Major James E. Hahn, "a former officer of the Canadian expeditionary force, representing a reliable group which controls certain manufacturing plants capable of manufacturing armaments and munitions located in a large industrial centre where the labor and material factor is stable and favorable."

PLAN REPORTED

Major Hahn's plan reported to Hon. Ian Mackenzie was to establish a plant capable of "complete assembly, manufacture of main component parts." Contracts would be let out for minor components.

The plan would, at full capacity, be capable of turning out 6000 Bren guns or 30,000 Enfield rifles annually.

"I am sure we can provide you with an effective unit, in an intelligently and well-conducted plant. As soon as you will indicate your intentions I shall return to Canada and review the matter with our minister of defence and carry the matter through to finality as quickly as possible," Major Hahn concluded.

General LaFleche said the report was passed along to the ordnance branch for "very careful study."

OCCUPATION

the hands of a delegation headed by the prime minister of newly autonomous Slovakia, Dr. Joseph Tiso, for settlement at Komarom. The Slovak part of Czechoslovakia was principally involved in Hungarian demands.

Khaki-clad troops occupied Ipolysag at 1:20 p.m. greeted by fiery Hungarian music and a tremendous turnout of Hungarians.

For hours before the troops passed the international barrier at noon thousands of peasants gathered and lined the highway for 10 miles into Ipolysag. They sang and danced. Scores of peasant girls ran up to the vanguard of troops and kissed the officers.

The Hungarian force of occupation was estimated at 10,000. The occupation was carried out in orderly fashion.

SINYANG CAPTURED

The Japanese were reported to have captured Sinyang in a surprise attack from nearby Wulitien.

Capture of the vitally important town would definitely sever the Peiping-Hankow railway, previously reported cut south of Sinyang by an advance guard, and cut off Hankow's communication with the Chinese communist army stronghold at Sian in Shensi province.

It would place the Japanese in a strong position for a final thrust southward against Hankow.

The landing in South China was made after the mainland and nearby Bias Bay islands were shelled heavily. A report at least 35,000 men were aboard 17 Japanese transport ships in the bay waiting orders to land.

CHINESE DISRUPT RAIL SERVICE

PEIPING, Oct. 11 (AP)—Chinese guerrilla warriors celebrated the 27th anniversary of the Chinese Republican revolution Monday by disrupting service on the Tientsin-Peiping railway for 12 hours.

Chinese sources said the guerrillas attacked three principal towns between Tientsin and Peiping, forcing the Japanese to rush troops and planes from Peiping area.

The Japanese acknowledged traffic was interrupted from midnight to noon yesterday by a mine explosion under a bridge near Tientsin.

TRAIL SOCIAL

By MRS. H. S. ALLEN

TRAIL, B.C., Oct. 11—Lilies, gladioli and chrysanthemums artistically arranged decorated St. Andrew's church Thanksgiving morning at 11 o'clock for the lovely wedding of Hilda Mary, younger daughter of Mrs. M. L. Barnes, 1185 Bay avenue, and the late William Barnes of Trail, and Michael Frank Ozelle of Nelson, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Ozelle of Butte, Mont. Rev. L. A. Morrant officiated. Entering the church on the arm of her brother, John G. Barnes, the petite bride was a charming picture in her wedding gown of white georgette, the skirt of which was fashioned with a full flare and was floor-length. Rows of shirring marked the square necked bodice, and self covered buttons fastened the back of the frock from neckline to below the waist. Short gathered sleeves and a narrow half belt were added features. An embroidered cap from which cascaded her long net veil edged with lace, was embellished with clusters of orange blossoms on each side. Long white gloves and white kid shoes completed her attire, and she carried a bouquet of red Briarcliffe roses. The matron of honor was Mrs. John Williamson, sister of the bride, who was becomingly attired in a frock of hyacinth sheer, which featured a draped bodice, V-neck and long flared skirt, and was topped with a short jacquette. Her nose-length veil of dark blue net with chenille dots was held in place by a spray of cream chrysanthemums. She wore accessories and carried cream 'mums. Miss Marion Lightbody, as bridesmaid, chose a silk organza of yellow molded on the same lines. Her cap was of organza petals, and she carried bronze 'mums. Ray Crahan of Nelson supported the groom, and John Williamson acted as usher. Later a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, where gladioli and chrysanthemums in pastel tones were used as decorations about the reception rooms. Mrs. Barnes, choosing a black and white floral sheer afternoon frock with hat to match, and a corsage of Rapture roses, assisted in receiving the guests, who included immediate friends and relatives of the bride and groom. A triple-tiered wedding cake embedded in white tulle and flanked with red gladioli and lighted with ivory tapers centered the bride's table. Mrs. J. Hart, Mrs. W. Houston of Castlegar, Miss Nora Hart and Miss Alice Houston assisted in serving. Mr. and Mrs. Ozelle left later for Spokane, where they will spend their honeymoon. On their return they will take up residence in Nelson. For travelling the bride was smartly attired in a black frock of sheer which was daintily appliqued in white, black felt hat and matching accessories, and her corsage was of red roses. A swagger coat of paddy green completed her costume.

Mrs. A. B. Crocker and two little sons, who have spent the past month at Saskatoon, where they were the guests of Mrs. Crocker's parents, returned to their home here Saturday.

Mrs. Irene Hill has as her guest her mother, Mrs. J. Beech of Cranbrook.

Miss Joy Kemp, who spent the long week-end at Spokane, has returned.

Mrs. B. Strachan, Topping street, had as her guests over Thanksgiving Mrs. J. A. McDonald and daughter, Miss Mary McDonald of Nelson.

Mrs. G. A. M. Young, who has been a visitor to Trail, the guest of her son, Jack Young, has returned to her home in Creston.

J. M. Spowart, after spending the long week-end at Vancouver, returned to the city Tuesday noon.

Frank Cartwright and Joe Goldsmith were recent visitors to Nelson, making the trip by car.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Crawford have returned from Medicine Hat, where they spent a couple of weeks visiting relatives.

Mrs. Palmer Rutledge spent the holiday week-end in Nelson, the guest of her mother, Mrs. Simpson.

Mss Rose Shimell, a popular bride-elect of this month, was honored recently when Miss Margaret Smith entertained at a delightful miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. D. Gillis, 1050 Green avenue. Chrysanthemums in all their lovely fall shades, made effective decorations, and the many lovely and useful gifts were presented to the honored guest in a carriage, prettily decorated in pink and white. A pleasant evening spent in playing games and engaging in contests, of which Miss Connie Green and Pauline Milne were winners, was climaxed after a delicious late supper was served by the hostess. The guest list included Mrs. D. Shaw of Rossland, Mrs. Dobbs, Mrs. Gallamore, Mrs. Gillis, Miss Anne Wilson, Miss Pauline Milne, Miss Mildred Merry, Mrs. Gladys Owen, Miss Jessie Langille, Miss Veva Shimell, Miss Barbara Robb, Miss Connie Green, Miss Mattie Young, Miss Josephine McLaughlin, Miss Violet Andrews, Miss Nellie McGregor, Miss Peggy Dahl, Miss Bessie Doig, Miss Margaret Crawford, Miss Kay Starchuk and the guest of honor.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Dougan, Short street, had as their guests over the Thanksgiving week-end, the latter's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Bolton H. Pearson and son William of Nelson.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Leaper were recent visitors to Nelson. They were accompanied by the former's mother, Mrs. Leaper of Prince Rupert, who is their house guest for a couple of months.

Mrs. E. R. Bennett, Topping street, who underwent an operation in the Trail-Tadanac hospital recently, is progressing satisfactorily.

Mrs. Charles Armstrong spent the week-end in Nelson, the guest of Mr. Armstrong's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Armstrong.

Mrs. Gordon McLeod and two little daughters, Peggy and Joyce, who have spent the past month visiting Mrs. McLeod's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hemmerling at Landis, Sask., returned to their home in Rossland Friday.

Mrs. M. Kemp, after being the guest of relatives at Medicine Hat for the past month has returned. She was accompanied on her trip by her daughter, Daunine.

Mrs. Norman Mitchell, who spent the past six weeks visiting relatives and friends at Brandon and Winnipeg, returned to her home here Tuesday.

Mrs. Ernest Hopwood, Third avenue, was hostess to the Trail Women's institute when its October meeting was held Thursday evening. Arrangements were made for a bake sale, and it was decided to compile a cook book for selling purposes. Reports from the baby clinic and pre-natal clinic were read, the former showing that an average of 35 babies were examined during September. The hospital report recorded that 15 visits were made during the month. Refreshments were served at the close of business. Members present numbered 10 with two visitors.

Glen Quayle was a visitor to Nelson Friday, and on his return was accompanied by his daughter, Eleanor (Jackie) Quayle, who spent the long holiday week-end here with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Quayle, Columbia avenue. Eleanor returned to Nelson Monday to resume her studies at St. Joseph's academy, where she is a resident pupil.

LAKE LEVEL

creased winter storage. Several said they would not object to the full six-foot increase while others continued to stand for a four-foot lift for a one-year trial. Most of today's testimony was by landowners.

LEAVE FOR CRESTON

The Canadian and American members of the joint commission left for Creston by automobile. They travelled through the region where Idaho and British Columbia drainage districts will be affected by any action relative to Kootenay lake. Thousands of acres of the diked areas were flooded last spring in high water that approached the devastating level of the 1933 inundation.

Attaches at the hearing said it was understood testimony would be offered either at Creston or Nelson by the Idaho department of reclamation and the United States geological survey. The opinion was expressed that members of the commission and many of the witnesses would visit the power company's Corra Linn plant after conclusion of the Nelson hearing.

The lake area is 170 square miles and engineers estimated the added storage by a six-foot increase would be 652,000 acre-feet.

J. D. Ross, Bonneville dam administrator, interjected a new note into the situation by testifying both the Grand Coulee and Bonneville dam projects would benefit by increased Kootenay lake storage. He said the lower elevation would mean a six-fold benefit to Bonneville. Kootenay lake feeds the Columbia.

The Reconstruction Finance corporation and the Farm Security administration are United States government agencies with a direct interest in the hearings because of financial commitments on land in the region. The R.F.C. loaned approximately $500,000 in refinancing drainage bonds after the disastrous 1933 flood.
