JAPANESE PAPER HINTS AT FORCE TO OBTAIN OIL

Oil Agreement With Indies Deemed Poor

TOKYO, Oct. 23 (Wednesday)—(AP)—The Japanese newspaper Asahi indicated today that negotiations to obtain oil from the Netherlands East Indies had failed and suggested, "we must resort to armed force."
Although details of an oil agreement which the Japanese said was concluded with the Netherlands East Indies Saturday (and which officials at Batavia denied only yesterday) were not disclosed, the Japanese press seemed to believe the matter was still unsatisfactory.
Failure was attributed to "British and American machinations," and London's reiteration that Britain had contracted for the Indies' high-grade gasoline heightened this sentiment.
Asahi criticized the return to Tokyo of the Japanese Commerce Minister, Ichio Kobayashi, who has been negotiating in Batavia, and said:
"To bring the East Indies over to our side we either must show them it is clearly against their interests to rely on Britain and the United States or we must resort to armed force and make them comply."
The newspaper Yomiuri scoffed at the British reports that Britain had contracted for the Indies' gasoline but asserted "a firmer front by Japan against Britain is now considered inevitable."
Meanwhile, Domei Japanese news agency reported that Capt. Agnical Torigoe, naval attaché of the Japanese legation at Bangkok, Thailand, and (Siam) had been ordered home by plane. No reason was given.
At the Japanese foreign office, Yekichiro Suma, the spokesman, claimed there had been no hitch in Japan's oil negotiations with the Netherlands East Indies, that talks were continuing, and that Kobayashi would return to Batavia.

Driven Ashore, Blown Up by British Torpedo

ITALIANS HAD RAIDED CONVOY

LONDON, Oct. 23 (CP)—One of Britain's newest destroyers, the 1690-ton Kimberley, completed since war began, engaged Italian destroyers in the Red Sea between Africa and Asia, early Monday, the Admiralty announced tonight, trapping the 1958-ton Italian destroyer, Francesco Nullo, driving it ashore and blowing it up.
The Kimberley went into action when Italian destroyers attacked a British convoy.
It was the fourth Italian destroyer accounted for in the quickening war in the Mediterranean during the last 10 days. In the previous action the cruiser Ajax sank two enemy destroyers and damaged a third which was later finished off by the cruiser York.
The Admiralty said that during last Sunday night and early Monday morning a British convoy in the Red Sea was attacked by two Italian destroyers which fired torpedoes at the escorting vessels and began to shell the convoy.
The escorting vessels lost no time in opening fire on the enemy and a chase ensued.
In the dark preceding the dawn contact was temporarily lost, but the Kimberley, under Lt. Comdr. J. S. M. Richardson, R.N., engaged the Francesco Nullo.
There followed 50 minutes of intense action in which the Italian destroyer, badly damaged, ran aground. A torpedo fired from the Kimberley blew her up.
The Kimberley's action was carried out despite the fact that the destroyer was under fire from shore batteries as well as from the guns of the ship with which she was battling.
The shore guns scored one hit, the Admiralty said, a steamship being damaged by splinters and thus speed was reduced. Returning the fire of these guns, the Kimberley silenced two out of the three in action.
The Admiralty said that three aboard the Kimberley were wounded. No other ship was damaged.
Another Admiralty bulletin announced two patrol vessels, the 36 and the 37, formerly French, commanded respectively by Lieut. W. B. P. Galbraith, R.N., and Sub-Lt. G. A. Gabbettmulliken, were sunk by light enemy craft. There is reason to believe a number of the crews have been made prisoners, the bulletin said. Details of locality of this action were not announced.
Official reports from Cairo said Royal Air Force planes intercepted an Italian bomber in the Red Sea battle and pursued it 30 miles before they saw it plunge rapidly with thick smoke pouring from it.
Other British planes scored a direct hit on the stern of one Italian destroyer.

Interned Mayor Houde to Run for Reelection

MONTREAL, Oct. 23 (CP)—Mme. Camille Houde, wife of Montreal's Mayor, today confirmed reports her husband would seek reelection in the Dec. 9 municipal elections.
Other sources interested in Houde candidature said nomination papers would be forwarded to the Mayor at the Internment camp where he was sent following his arrest Aug. 6 under the War Measures Act. From there the papers would be forwarded to the City Clerk after being signed by Houde.
These sources said that if Houde's followers were not permitted to enter his nomination in that manner, "some other means will be found." The campaign would be conducted by the Houde organization in the City.
Houde was interned after he denounced plans for national registration in a statement published early in August.

"Over There Lies Rumania and German Troops"

Odesa military district of the U.S.S.R. is only a stone's throw from Rumania into which Germany has poured thousands of troops. Although Germany and the Soviet Union still live up to the letter of their trade pact, it is no accident that one of the top military men in Russia, the deputy people's Commissar of Defence, Marshal S. Budenny (moustache), is keeping a watchful eye on his neighbor. With him at the observation post are Lieut.-General Kurdimov and Battalion Commander Captain P. Pavluchenko.

Rumors France to Side With Nazis Follow Conference

Laval Received by Hitler; Indicate French Warships Are Wanted; Baudoin Urges Post-War Collaboration With Nazis

BERLIN, Oct. 23 (AP)—Hitler received Vice-Premier Pierre Laval of France somewhere in the French territory today, it was announced tonight, climaxing indications in Berlin circles of a developing attempt to mass the surviving French warships with those of Germany and Italy for a showdown with the British fleet.
No details of the Hitler-Laval conference were disclosed, save that it was attended also by Foreign Minister Ribbentrop, already reported assigned to the job of seeking to get France to enter the war against her old ally.

VICHY, Oct. 23 (AP)—Reports published abroad that France may go to war at Germany's side were met tonight with a statement by a foreign office spokesman here that there is "absolutely no question of France negotiating with a view to fighting Britain or any other country."
Foreign Minister Paul Baudouin earlier expressed the hope that France would engage in "frank and total" post-war collaboration with Germany—because, he said, any other course would be "imbecile, insane and absurd."
Baudouin mentioned his hopes in connection with a peace to be signed in a matter of "months."

The meeting presumably was held in German-occupied France. Laval has made several trips to Paris as the emissary of the Vichy Govern-

Hamburg Left Flaming Mass by Violent British Attack

Fires Rage in Oil Refinery, Railway Yards and Airdrome; Cargo Ships Attacked; London Attacks "Flea Bites"

LONDON, Oct. 23 (CP)—In one of the mightiest attacks yet made upon a single Nazi area, the Air Ministry reported 1000 British fire bombs and vast loads of explosives have been dropped upon Hamburg, where German warships are under construction.
This violent assault, illustrating the rising tempo of a counter-offensive which Britain's leaders expect to maintain through the winter in the hope of seizing the initiative next Spring, left a chain of fires which eventually came together in "one great flaming mass."
The attack was carried out last night along with others on Germany's industrial Ruhr through a heavy ground haze, the Ministry said, which forced the raiding British formations to break up into individual hunting crews.
For 10 minutes, it added, an oil refinery at Reinholz, near Düsseldorf, was bombarded from the air and 14 separate fires were raging as the Royal Air Force planes headed for home.
Explosions and fires were set off in the Düsseldorf-Derendorf Railway yards and at an airdrome at Stade, Germany.
This night bombing followed Monday daylight attacks along the Nazi-held French coast. The most spectacular success reported in that series was the bombing of a convoy of from 12 to 16 German cargo ships off Dunkerque.

LONDON, Oct. 23 (Wednesday)—(CP)—A dead gray haze and an alert fighter squadron which routed a big formation of German warplanes over the Southeast coast combined last night, and early today to save London from all but mere "flea-bite attacks" and gave the city one of its lightest nights since the beginning of the long air siege.
The nightly alarm came just after dusk and by midnight the all-clear had sounded. It was but a brief period of quiet, however, for in the early morning the Nazis appeared again to renew the assault. This second assault was over soon and no bombs were heard.
Four Nazi planes were unofficially reported downed in the great evening battle over the Kenian cliffs, but the night Air Ministry bulletin mentioned only three destroyed against Britain's loss of six.
The only detonations heard in the London area after midnight were those of the anti-aircraft guns and the occasional explosion of light bombs. No big bombs fell.
The Southeast coast engagement involved more than 100 planes, according to estimates of ground watchers.
The attacking force included a formation of German bombers escorted by numerous fighter-bombers and was split into many small and struggling units which then fled.
Other Nazis were over the Northwest coast. From one town in the Southeast came reports that raiders had machine-gunned a bus.
During the day, there had been only two alarms in London—both in the afternoon—and in the main part of the city at least not a single bomb was reported dropped.
As nearly always, the Southeast coast was not so fortunate. A town in that area was bombed and there were several casualties.

R.A.F. HARASSES ITALIAN TROOPS

CAIRO, Oct. 23 (CP)—This capital of non-belligerent Egypt underwent a 30-minute air raid alarm today, its third in two days. No enemy planes appeared, however.
In Western Egypt where the Italians have driven a 60-mile coastal wedge into Egypt, the Royal Air Force continued to harass Fascist forces attempting to consolidate their gains. A counter-attack by Fascist airmen on Alexandria, the big British naval base, resulted in "very slight material damage" and injury to one person, an official bulletin said.
In Nairobi, the British command said one of its patrols successfully attacked an Italian post at Dukama, 12 miles inside Kenya from the Italian Ethiopian frontier, and forced the Fascists to withdraw, leaving five dead and some equipment and camels.
On the same frontier a plane belonging to the South African Air Force shot down an Italian Caproni plane.

Fire Insurance Rates in Nelson Are Reduced 13 to 22 Per Cent as Result of Improvements in Fire Protection

Fire Underwriters Urge New Piece of Apparatus

Reductions ranging from 13 to 22 per cent have been made in Nelson fire insurance rates.
Mayor N. C. Stibbs has been advised by F. L. B. Diplock, Secretary of the British Columbia Underwriters' Association that the reduction follows the City Council's efforts to improve fire protection in Nelson. Further improvements are urged by the Underwriters.
Mr. Diplock said in his letter:
THE REDUCTIONS
... the following average reductions have been put into effect:
Annual risks—
Brick mercantile properties 13pc
Frame mercantile properties 22pc
Tri-annual risks—
Brick construction 11pc
Frame construction 22pc
Private dwellings 3c per $100
As mentioned above, these figures represent an average over all the risks affected. In other words,

Individual properties may in some instances receive larger reductions than the figures named, and in other cases not quite so much.
EFFORTS RECOGNIZED
"It will no doubt be gratifying to you and your Council to know that the efforts made in improving the fire protection of the City have received recognition, and we would like to take this opportunity of again bringing to your attention our recommendation of the purchase of a new piece of apparatus together with an increase in department personnel and improvements in the fire alarm system.
"We would also be interested to learn if any progress has been made in the revision of the Building Bylaw and also if steps have as yet been taken to adopt a new Fire Prevention Bylaw modelled on that which was submitted for your consideration earlier in the year.
"Progress thus far made in the improvement of protection facilities in the City of Nelson is appreciated but it is felt that this further advance can well be made in this direction in the general interests of the City."

Gardiner's Work in Britain Worthwhile

OTTAWA, Oct. 23 (CP)—Present negotiations between Agriculture Minister J. G. Gardiner and British Supply Ministries are "very much worthwhile and distinctly helpful," Prime Minister Mackenzie King said at a Press conference tonight.
Mr. King added that Mr. Gardiner, who also holds the portfolio of Minister of National War Services, will return to Canada in time for the meeting of Parliament Nov. 5.
To the suggestion that Mr. King might be announcing a new Minister of Agriculture soon he replied that he certainly would not be making such an announcement during Mr. Gardiner's absence, whatever might happen later on.

Some Soldiers to Take Up Skiing

OTTAWA, Oct. 23 (CP)—Some Canadian soldiers will take to skis this winter but the extent to which the Canadian army will advance toward establishment of ski units such as operated so successfully for Finland against the Russians in the war of last winter is as yet undecided.
From a high Defence Department source it was learned today about 6000 pairs of skis have been ordered for the Canadian army. They will be used by the Canadian Active Service Force and some or all of them will be issued to units of the 3rd Division which will do garrison duty in the Atlantic army command during the coming winter.

Police have discovered 18 centres in Paris alone for the secret printing and distributing of pamphlets, the BBC continued. At least 615 persons already had been arrested.

Australia Names National Council

CANBERRA, Oct. 23 (Wednesday)—(AP)—Australia will name an advisory national council today representing all factions in Parliament and presided over by Prime Minister Robert Menzies.
Formation of this compromise body, resulting from refusal by the Labor Party to participate in a national Government, was announced last night.
It will be composed of four cabinet ministers, three members of the Labor Party and one dissident Labor member.
Political observers expressed relief an agreement had been reached enabling the newly-elected Parliament, in which the various parties are virtually deadlocked, to get to work. At the same time, Government sources were frankly disappointed at the limited success of inter-party negotiations.
Labor has steadfastly refused to join a national Government.

Parliament to Assemble Nov. 5, Prorogue; New Session on Nov. 7

By R. K. CARNEGIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA, Oct. 23 (CP)—Parliament will assemble Nov. 5, prorogue the same day and a new session will begin Nov. 7 when ample opportunity will be given Members to discuss fully the international situation, the war effort and any of her matters they may wish to bring up, Prime Minister Mackenzie King told a Press conference tonight.

calling the new session in January a debate would have at once intervened on the motion leading to adjournment. That debate might have lasted several days. When the new session started much of the debate would have been repeated.
The Government decided it would be preferable to have the debate all at one time and with the decision to start the new session Nov. 7 there would be no debate preceding prorogation.
"The Government has never desired to avoid a free discussion," the Prime Minister said. "The Members will have full opportunity to discuss international affairs, the war effort and such other matters as they may wish to bring up."
The Government has no pressing legislation that cannot wait until January, Mr. King said and it was likely that as soon as the debate on the address is completed and some estimates have been brought down, Parliament will adjourn over Christmas.
"I cannot say how long Parliament will sit before Christmas," Mr. King said. "It will all depend on the length of the debate on the address."

Factories Soon Recover From Heavy Air Raids

LONDON, Oct. 22 (CP). — The German Air Force has left a great mark of death and destruction on this vast city, but London carries on and each additional bomb after seven weeks of intensive air attacks raises by another degree the courage and steadfastness of the Londoner.

Trail Red Cross Ladies Told of Windermere Feat

TRAIL, B. C., Oct. 22.—A delightfully local version of "bringing coals to Cardiff," which was in itself a compliment to the splendid work being done by the Trail Red Cross Society, a tale of a woman in the Windermere Valley, who has, from February 1, to October 14 knit 107 pairs of socks in an effort to beat a previously established record of 100 pairs in one year, and a comprehensive picture of the wonderful response of the women of Canada to the urgent need of the present war, was brought to those who listened to Mrs. H. A. Ramsden, Chairman of the Provincial Committee of the Canadian Red Cross Society, at the Trail Red Cross rooms today evening.

In a quiet voice, this essentially practical little grey-headed lady caught her listeners up in the inspired series of idealism, linked with service to such a cause, as she outlined the problems of the national organization, the Provincial committee, the societies, and the individual members, and made them incomparable to the terrible need of the men, women and children whom they were privileged to serve.

London Balloons No Longer Butts of Jokers, Nazis

LONDON, Oct. 22 (AP). — London's big balloons were a joke a year ago—"expensive toys, theatrical props of a nation playing war, bound to come down in the first shower of machine-gun fire."

After weeks of day-and-night raiding and many showers of lead, the balloons are still there. Last year's jokers now respect them as sentinels in silver, a menace to bombers.

The Air Ministry gives them credit for doing their job. The job is to rule out dive-bombing and keep the enemy at a distance, high enough for anti-aircraft guns and fighter planes to get at them.

They're nothing but big bags of carefully sewed and gummed Egyptian cotton fabric filled with hydrogen, but Londoners are delighted to dole on their animal ways.

They look like circus elephants, or well-fed guppies in a fish bowl. They are stubborn as mules, and in a wind they are as playful as kittens.

The Nazis might have called them silly-looking gas bags in the long months before the battle, but one of the earliest "all out" raids on this country was aimed at balloons alone.

They've had their bad moments. A few have been shot down. Some have snapped their cables and gone traipsing over power lines as far off as Finland. Others have snagged enemy planes.

They've had unexpected good moments, too. One balloon was a nice cushion for an airman descending by parachute near Hyde Park. He and the balloon were hauled down safely.

They have been doubled since the war started; more are coming, and will keep on coming until every vulnerable area is covered.

U. S. Will Have More Pacific Naval Bases

NEW YORK, Oct. 22 (AP).—Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox said today the United States would obtain additional naval bases in the Pacific and asserted that "events now in the making" would determine "how far along these bases must be."
He did not detail what negotiations or plans the navy might be pursuing for the additional bases, saying "we have Pacific bases—the greatest and most invulnerable of them all in Pearl Harbor, in the Hawaiian Islands; but we need more—and we will have them."
Knox, discussing "progress of American rearmament" in an address prepared for the annual New York Herald Tribune forum, preceded his statement with the declaration that "the acquisition of eight new bases (by lease from Great Britain in return for 50 destroyers) added tremendously to our naval strength in the Atlantic—the equivalent of many ships—and these, with those already held, make our Atlantic defence well-nigh impregnable."
Describing the United States Navy as "the most powerful fleet afloat" Knox said "on short notice, the fleet can take its station and dominate the sea lanes." Then he added: "That grip, however, may not be strong enough. We waited far too long to begin reinforcing it to the limit of our capacity, we must drive steadily to overcome the handicap of wasted years."
"We now have 15 battleships. We will have 22." He continued. "We now have 37 cruisers; we will have 55. We now have 8 aircraft carriers; we will have 18. We now have 159 destroyers; we will have 235. We now have 104 submarines; we will have 165. We now have 1200 transport planes; we will have over 3000. That is our long distance objective."
He opposed separation of the Air Arm of the navy from the fleet, contending, "only a reckless ignorance of the first principles of successful warfare would separate surface ships from the air arm of the fleet. Unity of command is vital. No one would suggest separate command for the submarine element of the fleet."

Leary Tells Kaslo Banqueters of Road Inspections

KASLO, B. C.—Public Works Minister, Hon. C. S. Leary, spent a few hours in Kaslo Saturday, entertaining Kaslo business men, and others, at luncheon in the King George Hotel. His guests were J. Butlin and W. R. Workman of New Denver, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Latham, Mayor F. E. Archer, James Speirs, Ronald Hewat, Dr. Besecker, J. A. Biddell, A. L. MacPhee, G. S. Baker, C. W. Webster, F. S. Rouleau, John MacPherson and W. F. Gordon. J. Speirs was Master of Ceremonies.

Capt. Leary spoke on his recent tour of the Province when he inspected roads, bridges, trails, etc. He was particularly pleased with the new and substantial bridge over Coffee Creek and the good condition of roads in this district. Insofar as finances will allow, Capt. Leary said he would do everything possible to further road and mining trail work and the building of new bridges which, like the one at Coffee Creek, would last for untold years. He also spoke of the satisfaction felt by the construction of the "Y" at Frasers Landing after repeated requests that this work should be done.

He was enthusiastic in his praise of the spirit of Kasloites in furthering the Kaslo fish hatchery project which was a credit, not only to Kaslo but, to the Province.
He would try to be impartial in responding to the many requests from all parts of the Province but attention would be given to immediate needs, in all cases, and maintenance work would be carried on.
Mayor Archer thanked Capt. Leary for his address and also expressed the thanks of the community for the attention given Kaslo needs, particularly the bridge over Kaslo River on the approach to the city. He hoped that finances would be available for further improvements on district roads.
Ronald Hewat also spoke in appreciation of the work being done. After a trip over the Big Bend Highway and the Monashee Pass he was surprised in finding the majority of all roads he travelled in excellent condition.
A. L. MacPhee, President of the Kaslo Board of Trade and of the Rod and Gun Club, expressed appreciation for the good work being done by the Minister, for his interest in the fish propagation venture and for the A. Avenue high level bridge as well as the good roads.

Lupescu May Be Forced to Face Trial in Rumania

MADRID, Oct. 22 (AP). — The newspaper Arriba, organ of the Falanga, Spain's Fascist Party, hinted today that Mme. Magda Lupescu and Ernest Urdareanu, former Rumanian Minister of State, might be compelled to return to Bucharest to face trial.

Despatches from Lisbon indicated that former King Carol himself might be asked to go back for investigation.

An editorial in Arriba accused Carol's two companions in exile at Seville with complicity in the assassination of a former chief of the Rumanian Iron Guard.

(Reports from Bucharest have quoted Rumanian officials as saying that the Government has decided to ask Spain for the extradition of Mme. Lupescu and Urdareanu.)

Road to Style Can Be Made Very Easy

By DONNA GRACE

One day during the Summer we were sitting next to a woman of 46 while we watched the younger members of the family go through their jitters and antics. The mother sighed and said: "I used to be able to do those things a few years ago. Now look at me. I get all tired out if I walk even a block."

She was fat and would be good looking if she just lost about 30 pounds and brought some elasticity back to the stiff muscles. She said she was in the best of health and ate like—well, you know what.

She had to have a long nap every afternoon and never thought of getting up before nine o'clock. Finally she promised she would try a few simple exercises before the day was out, get up at seven in the morning, then repeat the exercises and add others. After a glass of fruit juice at ten she walked a mile and rested a bit before lunch. This lunch was light—thin soup, salad, wafers and hot tea.

There was no siesta that day, nor none since and so far she has lost eight pounds. She has no appetite for the rich foods she thought so necessary and is so delighted to find she can move about and exercise as she did some years ago.

She has joined a gym class. This class work is better for some as they need encouragement and the competitive spirit keeps them interested and willing to work.

Before the Blitzkrieg

By RUPERT GRAYSON

SERIAL STORY . . .

Tommy fell into profanity, but presently stopped and stared at Gun with a dismayed expression.

"I say, it's going to be hell without a smoke—or a drink!"

Gun nodded.

"The fellow's a bit of a genius. In his way," he commented, with some admiration. "He knows how to pile on the agony! You see, if one's up against it—short of food and other comforts, one takes lack of a drink or smoke more or less as a matter of course—part of the game, as it were. But when you're well fed and comfortable, and all the rest of it, the desire to smoke and drink becomes doubly strong, if only from association of ideas."

Tommy nodded thoughtfully.

"I think I see what you mean. In the same way as if you have a chop or steak, you don't need any trills—but if you have a real meal, then coffee and liqueurs become almost a necessity."

"Exactly," said Gun. "But will make the best of it. Here, come on to the lawn!"

"In the centre of the lawn, secure from eavesdropping, Gun asked: "How many have you got in your case, Tommy?"

Tommy produced a large "service" cigarette case.

"Thank goodness I filled it last night, and it holds twenty. I've seventeen left," he announced.

"Mine only holds fifteen, and I've thirteen left," said Gun. He lowered his voice: "And about seventy I've got hidden away. With strict rationing, say five a day each, we'll last for a week or so before we go crackers!"

Tommy gave him an admiring "I say, Gun, you're a downy old bird, you know, I suppose you saw this coming."

"I guessed it might," Gun admitted modestly.

When, later on, Trent came in, they were both smoking cigars. Trent said with a smile: "So you filled your cases last night, eh? Well, I'm afraid they won't last long! Have you anything to say to me, Hazeldene?"

"I have not!" growled Tommy.

"Except to ask just what the little game is? I mean, stopping our supplies like this?"

Trent smiled complacently.

"Oh, it's a little invention of my own, you know. I call it 'torment by elimination.' One by one the victim is deprived of all the amenities of life—until he ceases to be recalcitrant. It is surprising how much—shall we say discomfort! can be caused this way!"

"And how far do you propose to carry it?" demanded Tommy.

"Oh, quite a long way! You will have yourself a great deal of discomfort by doing what we want you to do right away—then you can

Indecision . . . Making the Child Silky to Choice

By Garry Cleveland Myers, Ph.D.

A child or adult's chronic indecision not only makes him unhappy but causes other people a deal of annoyance.

A mother writes: "Dear Dr. Myers: Although we have three children, five eleven and thirteen years of age, we have not any serious problems. They are healthy, smart and amenable to reason. My husband and I, by cooperating, have been able to avert many seemingly potential problems."

IRRITATING TRAIT
"But we do have one problem that has not vanished. Our eldest daughter is a victim of indecision. This trait, besides making her unhappy, upsets the whole family at times. I have tried to help her by letting her select her own gifts, shoes, dresses, books or anything in which she might have a preference. "When the belt of a favorite dress was torn she had the money with which to buy a new one, and made three trips to town before she could decide what style to buy; all the while bemoaning the fact that she could not wear that particular dress."

I am not sure my answer to this mother helped her much, but suspect, as I wrote her, that some items in this child's experience must have caused this painful habit of indecision. No doubt, too, she feels that the younger children and parents conspire against her. I urged the mother not to rebuke this child for her indecisions, but to try being patient with her and help her to be satisfied, even happy, over her selections, once they are made.

HONOR CHOICE
To parents of younger children: Give them opportunity to choose but once they have chosen try to hold them to their choice. The lot of three says he wants bread with butter and jam on it. When you have it prepared he decides he wants jelly instead of jam, let him take the bread with butter and jam or none.

Fur for Accessories

New accessories are crumming the shops . . . and costumes. Fur, bejeweled, is the most novel and most exciting of the various furs so used. Below is sketched a set of leopard pretties—earrings and cuff bracelets—barbarically set with gold color metal and carbon cut stones. Persian lamb is used the same way, also various neutral shaded cowskins. Some of the most fascinating new dresses use combinations of fur and jewels for the trim that makes them smartly sophisticated.

F. Hayes, Mrs. C. Murrell and the President.

Pituitary . . . Medical Science Controls Growth

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

The young lady in the experimental laboratory lifted a tiny rat hardly any bigger than the ball of your thumb from its cage and gently placed it under the ether cone. With all the consideration she would give a human patient, she induced anaesthesia and then placed it on an operating table and after surgical preparation of the field of operation she went in through the floor of the mouth and exposed the base of the skull. With a small dental drill she opened a hole just under the pituitary body and after loosening it from its stalk, she applied a little glass pipette and by suction, removed the entire gland.

No member of the Harvey Cushing Society (brain surgeons all) could possibly have done a neater or quicker job. She closed the incision and gently placed the patient in the convalescent cage. The whole procedure which I timed, took four minutes. Three minutes later, to show that perhaps we prolong our human operative periods too long, the little fellow was sitting up pulling his whiskers and looking around for somewhere to go.

Love . . . Modern Daughters Apt to Understate and Over Simplify

By CAROLINE CHATFIELD

There's something about the modern gal that's easy enough to discern but fearfully hard to define. For instance, a reporter recently interviewed some of the damsels on the subject of love. "Love," said one "is nothing but a chemical reaction that sets up when boy meets girl." "Love," said another "is a sort of inebriated friendship." "Love," said the third, "is an illusion of mortal mind."

Now these youngsters weren't deceiving anybody; not even themselves. All three were more concerned with love than with any other subject in the world, yet they were bent on minimizing what they thought and felt.

Another illustration of the same attitude: Recently I saw a young miss flushed with excitement over a date with a boy several years older than she. She watched the clock and well ahead of date time began to primp and preen herself before the mirror. We were impressed with the fineness of the whole operation.

After a half hour of this titivating she walked over to her closet, took out a not too fresh cotton blouse and gingham skirt and put them on. "Does this blouse look soiled?" she asked. "Yes," said her mother, "it does, why don't you wear one of your silk dresses?" "Huh," she snorted, "I wouldn't be caught on a date with a silk dress."

Apparently the modern gal delights to understate, underdress, over simplify, take the silk, sentiment and formality out of existence. And she disclaims and discards what the oldsters thought essential. Well, at least she's consistent, for she follows through in costumes, conversation and general demeanor.

Luck to you, girls, and may you find the Love that's not illusory!

Use just a few drops of concentrated relish

ADDING large quantities of weak-favoured catsups or sauces soon uses up a bottle and runs up expense. From the viewpoint of economy and for your own enjoyment of the flavour, you will be wise to use a concentrated relish such as H. P. Sauce. Many people claim this is the most savoury sauce in the world: It has such rich, fruity goodness.

Prove the value of H. P. Sauce yourself. Try it in soups, stews, meat pies, salads, macaroni and cheese dishes. Use it with steaks, chops, tenderloin, fish, fowl and other things. H. P. adds a pungent, reliable flavour to all foods. A little goes a long way.

National Defence All Important in American Life

WASHINGTON, D.C., Oct. 22 (AP). — Describing the United States' armament program as "planning for our national security," Assistant Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson today envisioned "by March of 1942... an army fit to meet any challenge."

In an address prepared for the annual New York Herald Tribune forum Patterson described national defence as "the paramount issue in American life today."

"Everything else must be subordinated to it," he said. "There can be no exception. We must put aside individual and group objectives and think and act in terms of national safety."

"I am not rattling the sabre," he continued. "It is not a question of going to war—war may come to us." Although he conceded that "we are not in shape today to defend ourselves on land... by next September... we shall be ready to maintain in the field a basic force equipped with the finest armament the world can produce, a force trained to the limit."

Petain Gov't Bans Churchill Speech

VICHY, France, Oct. 22 (AP). — Prime Minister Churchill's speech to the French people, broadcast from London yesterday, has not been published in newspapers in territory controlled by the Petain-Laval Government.

Spokesmen for the regime professed to be not particularly concerned about the speech since no direct reference was made to the Vichy Government.

Britain's Food Supply Improves

LONDON, Oct. 22 (CP).—R. S. Hudson, Minister of Agriculture, told the House of Commons today that Britain's food position had been rapidly improving and that British agriculture is "in a well balanced condition to meet the demands which the next year's campaign will make."

Total production of foodstuffs and reserves of meat on the hoof have been materially increased, he declared.

The Minister, nevertheless, said a rigid economy is necessary because "I cannot foretell the shipping position this winter."

Sidelights on Air Raids

By DOUGLAS AMARON — Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Oct. 22 (CP).— Bomb splinters from the Battle of Britain. The aging woman stuck out six weeks of constant bombing, had to evacuate one home and put out 43 incendiaries near another. Finally she decided to go to Gloucester for a quiet weekend. She came back the next day on a stretcher. A cow kicked her.

Nazi Airman Franz von Werra, after escaping from a prisoners' camp in Northwest England, swam two rivers attempting to reach the coast. Shepherds found him hiding among tall rushes on the moors. "I am a soldier and it is the duty of a soldier to rejoin his unit," he said in surrendering.

A ring made from a shell picked up on the beach at Dunkerque was used at the wedding of Irene Fauset, 23, of Liverpool, and Alime Boistelle, 33, officer of the Free French Army, Boistelle, an evacuee from Dunkerque and Miss Fauset became engaged in an air raid shelter.

Damage estimated at £70,000 or $211,500, was caused by bombing of The Temple, the library tower, parts of Goldsmith building, Elm Court, Essex Court and Crown Office Row. None of the damage is beyond repair but renovation will not begin until after the war.

Many Unnecessary Operations Performed

By HOWARD W. BLAKEBLEE Associated Press Science Editor

CHICAGO, Oct. 22 (AP). — A charge that hundreds of unnecessary surgical operations are performed daily in the United States was made to the American College of Surgeons Hospital Standardization conference today by Dr. Harold L. Foss, Surgeon-in-Chief of the Geisinger Memorial Hospital, Danville, Penna.

He said that the public is becoming aware of the condition and that state or federal Governments may have to step in. The trouble, he said, applies mostly to small, unregulated hospitals.

He charged that for every well-trained surgeon there are probably 20 who do the incompetent work.

Maintain Vigil on Pacific Coast

By EVERETT GRAENE Canadian Press Staff Writer

A WEST COAST CANADIAN PORT, Oct. 22 (CP).—Alert for any suspicious craft, planes of the Royal Canadian Air Force drone daily over the Pacific coast and its countless islands.

They are the flying boats that keep Canada's Western coast under watch, dropping swiftly to scan some unfamiliar vessel and then zooming into the blue again when the craft's identity has been established.

These are but routine duties of the R.C.A.F.'s Western command, under direction of Air Commodore Earl Godfrey. It is being welded into a hard-hitting weapon to smash at any attempted invasion.

In case of invasion, these squadrons of flying boats, based from Patricia Bay on Vancouver Island to Prince Rupert on the North coast, would operate in a capacity similar to that of the Royal Navy's fleet air arm over the North Sea. They are the eyes of the coastal batteries and naval vessels and they would be ready themselves to strike effective blows.

Workmen are rushing to completion buildings at bases on the coast where bomber and torpedo-carrying planes would be stationed along with fighter craft in time of need. Generally flying boats are best for coastal patrol work.

Salvation Army Does Great Work Air Raid Relief

Air raid Relief is now the daily work of the Salvation Army in all stricken cities of England, and especially in the City of London. The Army is a great force covering the whole London area.

Slum districts, especially devastated, have attention, because the Salvation Army has its slum posts everywhere for service to those in need.

During a 10-day period, 1,000 persons were helped at the Hoxton Goodwill Centre. Forty-three of these slum goodwill centres of the Salvation Army were damaged by bombs.

Several Social Service Hostels, both for men and women, have been damaged but work in them continues unflagging. Few facilities have occurred among the Salvation Army personnel, and no headquarters building, of which there are many, has been directly struck. One—the Trade and Supplies Headquarters, however, was damaged by a blast, many windows being smashed.

The Salvation Army Hostel for Canadian troops, called The West Central Hotel" at 101 Southampton Row, was rocked by a blast and many windows broken, but the work goes on without ceasing and hundreds of Canadian troops stay at the Hotel when on leave in London. They say it is "a bit of Canada right in the heart of London."

British Cruiser Sunk In Red Sea

The High Command in its communique claimed that only one Italian torpedo boat was damaged in the reported action.

It was the cruiser Sydney, of the Royal Australian Navy, which sank the Italian cruiser Bartolomeo Colleoni in the Mediterranean in July.

THE FATE HITLER PLANNED FOR THE UNITED STATES

It may be hard for readers of The Daily News to believe that possession of the United States by Germany, by conquest or by revolution, and within a stated time—will dream that it appears to anyone who is sane—actually has existence in the fevered brains of Hitler, Goering, Goebbels, et al. But two pieces of news in the last few days point to this incredible conception being a fact.

A couple of years ago the late Douglas Fairbanks, veteran film actor, was present at some cosmopolitan gathering in Berlin, a cafe group or something of the kind, when Goebbels, the German Propaganda Minister, boasted to him, and others, of what Germany would do to those countries that incurred its displeasure, and particularly of what would be the fate of Britain. The story was revealed a few days ago by Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., to whom his father told it.

"And the United States?" someone queried of the boasting German Minister.

There was a sudden deep silence, which Goebbels broke with the deliberate and astounding answer, addressed to Fairbanks: "I'll meet you there in 18 months."

Read with this some of the testimony of an ex-German-American Bund member in Washington a few days ago, before the Dies Committee, regarding "the Day" to which the Bund looked forward. Here is the Associated Press report:

"A former member of the German-American Bund told the Dies Committee today that the Bund in New York City had been trained for 'the day' when a Government similar to that of Germany would take over the United States.

"Richard Werner, 36 years old, a soft-spoken New York chef, related in detail that he and other Bund storm troopers were taught military exercises and the use of rifles.

"Why were you trained in these military manoeuvres?" Representative Starnes of Alabama asked.

"Our leaders told us many, many times how we must be prepared—must be fit for a certain day—that day that was coming," Werner replied.

"What did you understand 'that day' to mean?"

"The overthrow of this Government and establishment of a Government like they have in Nazi Germany," Werner replied.

"Under questioning he testified that New York storm troopers were told by their leaders to prepare for the time when blood will flow in the streets of the United States.

"The troopers planned, he said, to march to Wall Street and 'get some big workers'—among them 'Morgan' and 'Kuhn & Loeb'.

"We were going to hang them up to the nearest post or tree," Werner declared, adding that the time of the Wall Street march would be set by the highest leaders. He said this could mean that Adolf Hitler himself might set the date, Werner said he resigned from the Bund last February."

The leaders of the New York Bund were franker than their counterparts elsewhere, but there is little question of the part that this organization, directed and in part financed by Germany, was scheduled for, in the minds of the Berlin leadership.

That Hitler should plan for the streets of United States to flow with blood, however, should not be an overwhelming surprise, seeing that he planned for streets of many nearer and strictly neutral countries to so flow—and realized his plans. The surprise should be only at his folly in believing seizure of the United States in this manner possible.

BASEBALL A CANADIAN GAME

With the World Series over, and the baseball writers now carrying out their mail balloting for the "most valuable player" awards, it is in order to comment on Canada's universal interest in this event, one of the greatest sporting dramas in the world.

In the first place, baseball is certainly nearer to being the national summer sport of Canada than any other game, judged by number of participants. Equipment to play it costs little, and any nearly level field will do. Where a large enough field for baseball cannot be found, "scrub" ball can be played, using only first base and home plate, and the whole team in the field opposing the two batters. Scrub ball is the feeder to baseball, and the form that the average Canadian boy begins with. There is no school ground, urban or rural, too small for scrub ball. Any vacant level ground can be utilized.

While softball has made inroads upon baseball in the matter of numbers playing the parent game, it has added new hosts of ball fans, in the shape of the girls teams. Consequently, never has baseball fandom been larger than it is today.

Besides the universal amateur playing of baseball and softball in this country today, by every grade from small boys, up to senior teams, Canada today has a participating interest in five professional leagues, four of them international. Baseball is just over a century old—its centenary was celebrated last year with the dedication of the Hall of Fame—and Canada has had professional baseball for around half of that century.

In the 90's, if not earlier, Montreal and Toronto teams played in the old Eastern League, now known as the International, and they still do. The champion of this league plays the champion of the American Association in the "Little World Series."

At the start of the present century, Winnipeg was a fixture in the Northern League, otherwise made up

The silent service. —Humorist.

THE SIXTH COLUMN

By JUDITH ROBINSON in Canadian Veteran

"Being members of one and the selfsame commonwealth and embarked in the like common danger with others... we are therefore to remember and advisedly to weigh with ourselves what dutiful forwardness against those extraordinary imminent dangers is expected at our hands for the defence of our gracious Sovereign, ourselves, our families and country... the stirring up of those which otherwise are, but slow to further such service and the discouraging of the common enemy—"

The advice is old but good. As good as when Archbishop Whitgift offered it to certain of the smug and comfortable among our forefathers 353 years ago next July.

In England in 1588 there was a tendency to let Drake do it. There were those who talked, even while the Armada assembled and the Duke of Parma gathered his forces for the blow, as though the defence of freedom were no immediate concern of safe and well-fed islanders. Leave all that to London and Plymouth, the trained bands and the common sailors. If they could not deal with Spain... Whitgift heard and wrote:

"Being members of one and the selfsame commonwealth and embarked in the like common danger with others..."

The old words came back to fit themselves to the sights and sounds of an Autumn night in Toronto when flames lighted the last disk and, to cheers of a few thousand Canadians, the first of the Canadian Corps watchfires burned up a few thousand Canadian war savings stamps.

"... we are therefore to remember and advisedly to weigh with ourselves what dutiful forwardness against these extraordinary imminent danger is expected at our hands..."

Some, watching the flames rise there, thought of other fires that have lighted the path of freedom down the centuries; the fires free men have kindled and the fires free men have dared. Not for any material good that a man might call his own or for any gain he might count to himself, but for an idea only.

Master Hugh Letimer had it once and its strength carried him smiling to die in the fires of Smithfield. "Erbert 'Awkins of Limehouse has it now, and it brings him up, scared but undaunted, from the underside of a charge of high explosive and sets him digging in the smoking ruins of the slum that was his home to save the family canary at risk of his own life.

It's quite a simple idea: that a free spirit is the one possession each man must guard for himself and give into no other man's keeping.

"Be of good comfort, Master Ridley, and pay the man; we shall this day light such a candle by God's grace in England as (I trust) shall never be put out."

In which Hugh Letimer went to the stake was well founded. The candle is safe with the canary in the grimy "Erbert 'Awkins' thumbs are up.

Flame doesn't take long to burn up a few thousand Canadian war savings stamps. Let, lighted and tended with the dutiful forwardness old Whitgift recommended, the flames of such watchfires as the Canadian Corps might burn on as other flames have burned to consume other things than war savings stamps. Some of the little-ness that shackles, a few of the stupidities and dishonesties that have too long and too often betrayed us in our fight for freedom, could be burned up, and no loss at all. As Bishop Whitgift saw and said, "a cross-Canada cordon of such watchfires as the Corps could do a lot at the moment 'for the defence of our gracious Sovereign, ourselves, our families and country, and the stirring up of those which otherwise are but slow to further such service."

Especially the stirring up.

But it isn't going to be enough to light the fires and burn some war savings stamps and let the fires die. While the flames burn across England to mark the way the German bomb takes, tarrying his loads of death, it isn't going to be nearly enough. Australia has already sent a gift of a million dollars to the homeless of Dakota and Minnesota towns and cities. In some years the Northern and Copper Country Leagues would coalesce, with Duluth being Winnipeg's only rival in population. While Brandon is not at present in the league, it won the playoffs in 1935.

The Western Canada League was launched in the expansive days of 1907, and embraced Alberta's four principal centres, Edmonton, Calgary, Lethbridge and Medicine Hat. It lasted in that form just a year, and then was revamped to include Saskatchewan and Manitoba cities as well. It died with the depression of that time, however.

Before the Great War, Vancouver and Victoria had teams playing in the Northwest League, against Spokane, Aberdeen, Bellingham and Everett. This League today is known as the Western International, with Vancouver Canada's only representative, and it is still a six-team league.

In 1936 and 1937 two more professional leagues affecting Canada were born—the Canada-American League of eight teams, in which Ottawa and Cornwall represent Canada; and the four-team Cape Breton Colliery League, the only exclusively Canadian professional baseball league.

A development of the last three years in baseball is the rising of the semi-professional leagues, already almost innumerable. Their membership consists of employed men, who, however, are remunerated for their baseball services. There is a great annual tournament in Kansas, where the scheme originated, the champion "semi-pro" teams of all the United States and Canada taking part. This means more "playing for business."

In the Great War, Canadian units kept up their baseball while "resting," and the championships went right up the line to the Canadian Corps championship.

Right now, from end to end of Canada, Canadians in khaki are playing baseball, and there is no reason to suppose that the First and Second Divisions overseas are forgetting it in their periods of recreation.

CONTRACT ... By Shepard Barclay

CARELESSNESS COSTLY UNSOUND reasoning costs plenty of tricks, but nothing like so many as carelessness. Practically all players guard themselves against dangers which seem probable, but the better ones also are willing to go out of their way to protect themselves against the most remote risks. As a consequence, they make a larger proportion of their contracts, and are just as well off relatively as if they held better cards.

With this kind of situation, especially when holding the 10 in addition to the A and Q, the declarer's job is to use his A on the first round of the suit. If it drops either the K or J, there is no remaining chance to lose more than one trick in the suit. If both players put on small cards, the declarer then can lead a small one from the dummy. If East follows suit at all, the contract is safe, regardless of whether his card is the J or the K. As it happens in this case, correct play would have kept the defender from any trump tricks, and would have produced an overtrick.

Dealer: East. Both sides vulnerable. East South West North Pass 1 Pass 3 Pass 4

South's analysis, after West led the club Q, showed that he had one loser in each minor suit and a possible loser in hearts if the finesse failed. Even then, he could discard one of his minor suit losers on the dummy's third heart, leaving only one minor loser and one in hearts. He could therefore afford a single loser in trumps, but not two.

After this study, the declarer took the opening trick in the dummy and promptly led a small spade. East played low, South put on the Q and the K won. After that there was no certain way to prevent East from winning a second trump trick with his J. The entire contract then depended upon whether the heart finesse was favorable. It was not, and so the loss of a trick there, plus one in the minors, beat South.

Tomorrow's Problem

Dealer: West. Neither side vulnerable. If East had made suicidal bids first of clubs and later spades along the way, but South nevertheless gets into 6-No Trumps, West leading the spade 10, how should South plan his play?

Answers to the problem are given in the next issue.

Adolf and Benito at Brenner Pass

(By H. I. Phillips, Sun Dial Columnist of New York Sun)

Mussolini—Hell, Hitler!

Hitler—Hell, Mussolini! Well, I'm worrying how things are going with you.

Mussolini—I'm worrying about the same thing.

Hitler—You're very slow in taking the Suez Canal.

Mussolini—You're no speed demon at taking England, if I may say so.

Hitler—I have a distinct feeling we have got to have more speed, more punch.

Mussolini—Don't be downhearted. I'm on your side.

Hitler—That's what bothers me!

Mussolini—Even Napoleon bogged down at times. You've heard of Napoleon, I assume?

Hitler—That's just the trouble; both of us heard of him. (Looking around.) It's a nice pass you have here.

Mussolini—It's pretty good as passes go.

Hitler—I love the sensation of being high up in the mountains looking down on the whole world.

Mussolini—Think of it! It all belongs to us!

Hitler—Not so fast. That's what we're here to talk about. We've got to spring something new, we've got to keep the world scared.

Mussolini—We certainly pulled a good one getting Japan with us. I guess that frightened the United States all right.

Hitler—Bah! The United States doesn't count.

Mussolini—You can be franker than that with me, Adolf.

Hitler—We must pull another surprise. What would you suggest?

Mussolini—I can't think of a bigger surprise than if you invaded England after all this talk.

Hitler—And, boy, would I be surprised if I heard you had taken Suez!

Mussolini—We're getting nowhere exchanging sarcasms. What should we do next? What new plans have you? How can we make the world's hair stand on end again? Canada Dr. gives $10 if you answer correctly. All questions become the property of the Axis. In case more than one person asks the same question...

Hitler—In my opinion, you must take Suez and Gibraltar.

Mussolini—Who? ME? And if so how?

Hitler—Stop acting as if this was another quiz program.

Mussolini—I've got an idea. Why not get Russia in on our side?

Hitler—Russia has been in on our side all along.

Mussolini—Can I keep track of everything?

Hitler (after some deep thinking)—Maybe I could get Italy in on my side.

Mussolini—Italy's been on your side for months.

Hitler—I'd hardly know it.

M. B. Kimberley—Would you kindly give me the location of York Island? I believe it is somewhere along the B. C. coast but have been unable to locate it on any map.

York Island is in Johnstone Strait, Between Vancouver Island and the Mainland Coast.

H. R. Invermore—How can I make buckskin? What is the tanning process?

Make the following solution: 3 pounds unslaked lime, 1 gallon water. Leave the skin in this solution from 6 weeks to 3 months and do not change the solution. Place it in a tanning solution, prepared with one ounce sulphuric acid, 5 pounds saltpetre, 1 gallon soft water, leave the skin in this solution for 3 or 4 weeks then remove and place flesh side up on floor or table and with a hacksaw blade break up the flesh and remove surplus fat, etc. Wash in warm soapy water and dress both sides with warm neatfoot oil. These solutions will produce a white buckskin; if you wish the brown tone do not use the lime but soak in clear water for the first six or eight weeks. Lamb skins must be slaughtered. One tanning solution will do for 20 to 30 hides. These solutions will not harm the hands.

M. E. H. Rosland—I have been told that if you send butter, tea or sugar to the British Isles now, the amount is cut off the rations of the person receiving the parcel. Could you tell me if this is correct or if you do not know, could you suggest where I can get this information.

Recruiting for unskilled workers in the B. C. A. has been temporarily suspended. Write Employment Service of Canada, 411 Dunsmuir Street, Vancouver, B. C.

Gilmour, to Coach Nelson Leafs, Was Pro With Pacific, Amerk Association

Johnny Gilmour, who is to coach the Nelson Maple Leafs comes to Nelson with a colorful career in professional hockey behind him. A 200-pound husky, Gilmour broke to professional ranks about seven years ago. After starting with Bobby Ross, owner-manager of Portland (then known as the Portland Americans), he had a whirl in the American Association League, and later had a tryout for the Montreal Canadiens.

When that circuit folded up he went back to Portland where he played until last season, when he was sold to Seattle. He played with Seattle until Christmas, when he was released and went home to Calgary.

The transaction with Gilmour to coach the Leafs, brings not only a new coach, but a new player for the green and white, for after January 1 Gilmour will again be eligible for amateur play. He will then likely take his place on the ice as a playing coach. It was said Gilmour also plans to bring another defenseman with him from his Calgary home to try out for the Leafs.

ST. HYACINTHE, Que., Oct. 22 (CP)—Paradoxical as it may sound, little Gerard Cote became a marathon champion because he wanted to be a boxer.

The well-knit French-Canadian, who won the North American title in the Boston Athletic Club's annual 26-mile grind, is in training at St. Hyacinthe now for the United States national championships at Yonkers, N. Y. His whole racing career dates back to the time when he decided to be a boxer.

The accident occurred while Doran and Red Heron, leaf centre, were battling for the puck during a rugged practice session. Doran fell and his leg came in contact with Heron's skate.

Goalies Impressive as Hawks Test Them

HIBBING, Min., Oct. 22 (CP)—Manager Paul Thompson divided Chicago Black Hawks into two squads today and sent them through a full time game for the first time. The final score was 5-5. Goalies Paul Goodman and Sam Lo Presti were impressive despite the large score, making about 40 stops apiece. Hard checking and other strenuous defence measures were prohibited, leaving the forwards a good chance to swarm on the goalies.

The Hawks play their first exhibition game Sunday with St. Paul Saints, champions of the American Association.

BUFFALO, N.Y., Oct. 22 (AP)—Latest reports have good old Bing Crosby dickering for the Boston Bees. . . . CRESTON GIRLS LOSE AT FERNIE

CRESTON, B. C.—Creston High School girls basketball team, champions of the 1929 season, got off to a disastrous start by losing two games at the weekend. The boys who were runners up a year ago, fared better, getting an even break on two engagements.

Both squads lost at Fernie, where they played Friday night, the girls by a margin of 23-17, and the boys a 22-23 count. At Michel, Saturday night, the boys won 28-20 while the girls were losing 31-14.

Neither quintette has any allie to offer but the much smaller playing floor at the two places visited was not at all helpful to Creston. Fred Martello was in charge of the girls, and Ben Crawford handled the boys, with George Crosson going along as referee.

The girls' team is much the same as last year, and includes L. Johnson, A. LaBelle, L. Butterfield, L. Hendren, E. Ostendorf, M. Staples, L. Hare, H. McCreath, N. Bundy and C. Wilks.

Four of last year's first string talent was missing on the men's team on which was L. Bell, J. Skelly, Flore Rota, Frank Rota, A. Ingham, W. Macdonald, D. Cole, K. Kollhammer, C. Hess, W. Turk.

Dermers Again Tries Pro Hockey

By JACK MITCHELL

ST. HYACINTHE, Que., Oct. 22 (CP)—The best way to describe Tony Dermers, the "Little Hercules" of Montreal Canadiens, is to say that he would rather play hockey than eat.

Tony, who looks like the "after" picture of a muscle-building advertisement, is making his second jump from amateur to N. H. L. ranks. He missed on the first when a broken leg marred his first season but he's back for another try after two years with the amateurs.

"It isn't the money because a fellow can do pretty well in the amateur ranks these days," the 23-year-old Dermers described his ambition at the Canadiens' St. Hyacinthe training camp. "It's just that ever since I was a kid I wanted to play with the pros. When they gave me another chance, I snatched at it."

The bulging muscles that help him peak 190 pounds in his five foot seven-inch frame have given Dermers one of his best assets. It's a blazing shot that Coach Dick Irvin compares with that of Charlie Conacher, whom he coached on the famous "kid line" of Toronto Maple Leafs.

Hamill and Reardon Assigned Numbers on Boston Bruins

HERSHEY, Pa., Oct. 22 (AP)—Robert (Red) Hamill and Winnipeg's Terry Reardon were assigned numbers today, indicating that both are still very much in the running for berths with the Boston Bruin National Hockey League squad.

Hamill was an aggressive and capable performer most of last season with the Bruins, switching between a wing and defence post. Reardon was called up from Hershey for the final Stanley Cup game with the Rangers and was brilliant throughout the heroically-contested battle which knocked the Bruins out of the running.

Sportsman Wants to Pilot Donated Plane

LONDON (CP)—J. D. Burrows, 30, of Leicester, who represented Yorkshire County in rugby and tennis, sent Lord Beaverbrook, Minister of Aircraft Production, a check for £2,000 ($22,500) for a Spitfire and offered his services as pilot of the machine. Burrows is head of a company engaged in vital production and is on the reserved list.

Joe Benoit Pitches for Forwards When Puckers Play Softball

ST. HYACINTHE, Que., Oct. 22 (CP)—Montreal Canadiens spent 2 1/2 hours on the ice today in a practice that Coach Dick Irvin called the "best yet" for the National Hockey League squad.

Left Winger Jack Adams, formerly of Vancouver Lions of the Pacific Coast League, was a casualty, needing four stitches to close a gash in his lip after a collision with Big Cliff Goupille, red-headed Canadian's defenceman.

Louis Trudel, a left winger from Edmonton, and defenceman Alex Singbrush, two others who have been on the casualty list through injured knees, returned to action today.

A softball game was played in the morning. One of the teams was made up of the nine defencemen in the camp while the other was made up of forwards. The defencemen, with Conny Tudin pitching, won 7-4 over the forwards, who had Joe Benoit of Edmonton and Trail, B. C. doing the hurling.

Serious Bouts Halted by War

LONDON (CP)—Eric Boon, British lightweight boxing champion, has retired from serious competition until the end of the war. Boon, recently beaten by Ernie Roderick, welterweight champion, said, however, he would box in exhibition bouts for Spitfire or war funds.

WHITBURN, England (CP)—Thomas Kell Dobson, 39, captain for several years of the Durham County Cricket Club, is dead. On his first appearance at Lords, playing against the West Indies, Dobson scored a century.

Anti-Nazi Feeling Growing in France

LONDON, Oct. 22 (CP).—Fresh evidence is coming to hand of anti-German feeling in France, the British Broadcasting Corporation said in a news broadcast today.
"There are growing hopes of British victory," the BBC said, "and the most revealing news is contained in an article in the newspaper L'Oeuvre by a Pro-German journalist which was quoted by the German-controlled Paris radio today."
The BBC broadcaster said French cinema audiences for weeks now have been applauding films showing damage in Germany caused by British air raids and he quoted the writer of the L'Oeuvre article as saying, "I don't admire these French people who demonstrate in cinemas."
The article, the BBC added, said it had been necessary to advance the curfew by one or two hours in certain Paris suburbs and that those who imagine there still remains a chance of fighting against Germany were false patriots.
"Scope of these underground activities against the Germans can be gathered from the fact that in Paris alone the police have found 18 centres for the secret printing and distributing of Anti-German pamphlets and 615 persons have been arrested," the BBC said.

POLISH LEADER WAS MURDERED BY GESTAPO

LONDON, Oct. 22 (CP Cable).—
The Polish Telegraphing Agency reported today that it has now become known that Macej Rajaj, Polish political leader and patriot, was "outrageously murdered" in May by the Gestapo (German Secret Police) at Warsaw.
The Agency said the official German version claimed that Rajaj died of a heart attack while testifying at Gestapo headquarters.

MANCHESTER (CP).—Five tons of scenery, properties, dresses, music and musical instruments failed to arrive and for the first time in 35 years the Manchester Hippodrome was forced to cancel a performance recently.

Britain Looking Forward to Land Offensive on Front

LONDON, Oct. 22 (CP).—Lord
Croft, Under-Secretary for War, declared in a speech today that Britain looks forward to undertaking a land offensive in some theatre and added, "the war can never be won without a military decision,
East or West, or on both fronts."
"That is why we are building up a great army," he added. "It must be an army of superior efficiency."
Speaking to a group of film industrialists, Lord Croft said the Government plans to use motion pictures extensively to show British soldiers "the weak points in the army against whom they have to fight."
An authorized spokesman made a statement earlier today foreshadowing an increased use of air power in land operations apparently referring to expected large-scale fighting in the Near East.

R.A.F. Hits Italian Working Parties on Egypt Coast

LONDON, Oct. 22 (CP).—A series of low-flying attacks by British bombers on Italian working parties and transport columns along the Egyptian coast yesterday caused extensive damage, the Air Ministry announced tonight.

The attacks were made between Salum and Bahig, in the narrow wedge the Italians have thrust into Egypt, the Ministry said, and a number of motor vehicles were destroyed by fire and others severely damaged.

In Italian Eritrea several raids were reported carried out by the RAF on Asmara and Gura, with hits on oil tanks, workshops and other buildings which caught fire.

Two raids were made against Bahar Dar, on Lake Tana, in Italian East Africa. Three explosions were said to have resulted from bomb hits on the wharf and two large sheds there.

GRYNSPAN SENT TO BERLIN FOR JUDGMENT

VICHY, France, Oct. 22 (AP).—
Herschel Grynszpan, young Polish Jew, serving a 20-year sentence for the 1928 shooting of the Counsellor of the German Embassy in Paris, has been transferred to Berlin for new judgment, according to dispatches arriving here today.

J. S. Senator Pittman Sees a Bright Future for Silver, Supplementing Gold, in Post-War Monetary System

Parity of Canadian and American Silver Dollars Possible; Would Lead to Ultimate Price of $1.29

Foreseeing a bright future for silver with the end of war and the return of sound money based upon gold, Senator Key Pittman, Chairman of the United States Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, declared in a letter to the American Mining Congress that "the monetary outlook for both gold and silver was never brighter."

Senator Pittman's letter said: "I may say to you that the monetary outlook for both gold and silver was never brighter. After the war economic and commercial readjustment must take place throughout the world. It has been clearly demonstrated by experience during several years that there can not be a readjustment of commerce until there has been established in all commercial countries a sound financial system. There is only one sound financial system and that must be based upon gold and silver."

During the past few years many countries, by reason of lack of gold, have been compelled to establish temporary monetary systems based upon managed currencies. I challenge anyone to deny, however, that the exchange values of these managed currencies have, in every case except Germany, been based upon their relation to gold. The British pound sterling has today its exchange value based upon its relation to gold. The same is true of the exchange of every commercial country in the world.

Wheat Sale Not Reflected in Pitt

WINNIPEG, Oct. 22 (CP)—More than 200,000 bushels of Canadian wheat were reported sold for deferred shipment to the United Kingdom during today's session of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. The business did not appear to be reflected in the wheat pit and prices closed 1/2 cent higher to unchanged with the October future at 79 1/2 cents a bushel, December at 77 1/2 and May at 75 1/2.

Purchases by mills were believed to be connected with domestic flour sales as there were no indications of export flour business. Trading was confined to the opening and closing stages of the session.

Stocks Recover Earlier Losses

TORONTO, Oct. 22 (CP)—Stocks were inclined to recovery in the late action today.

Preston Gold recovered most of an early loss of 17 and the close was up for Little Long Lac, Sigmis, Lamoque, Chesterville, Perron, MacLeod-Cockshutt and Hard Rock.

Senior oils were steady. Minor changes involved recessions for Home Oil and Vulcan and gains for Anglo-Canadian and Calgary Edmonton.

B. C. Power Earnings for Class A Stock Off

TORONTO, Oct. 22 (CP)—British Columbia Power Corporation Ltd., Vancouver, reported here today balance of earnings in September available to class "A" stock of $189,859 compared with $171,400 for the like 1939 period. Gross revenues was $1,408,316 against $1,213,859 and net after expenses $337,166 compared with $360,065.

Loggers May Apply for Exemptions

CALGARY, Oct. 22 (CP)—Trade continued dull on Calgary Stock Exchange today with prices unchanged. Transfers 2,500 shares.
