Hull Views on Grave Situation Spur the Pan-American Parley

He Sees American Nations Defending Principles

NO STAND UNTIL DISCUSSION ENDS

By ANDRUE BERDING

LIMA, Dec. 13 (AP)—Nations of the western hemisphere, spurred by what Cordel Hull, United States secretary of state, called a "grave world situation", took first steps today to organize for peace in the new world and protection from the old.

Putting aside what Mr. Hull termed "excessive and shortsighted nationalism" the nations plunged into discussions of far-reaching projects before the committee on organization of peace.

In a broadcast at the end of the day's sessions of the 21-nation pan-American conference, Mr. Hull declared American nations were "keenly aware of the threat to their principles and institutions which has arisen elsewhere in nations holding alien ideas which they seek to impose by force or extend by deception.

Stiffer Foreign Policy by Britain Is Inskip Warning

LONDON, Dec. 13 (CP-Havas) — Sir Thomas Inskip, defence coordination minister, sounded warning tonight that Great Britain might soon be ready to stiffen its foreign policy.

"We have a formidable system of world wide defence of which too little notice taken in estimating our security," he said in an address at the annual meeting of the British Empire League here.

"We are completing our defences at home and in other parts of the empire so that no longer may it be necessary for us to refrain from appropriate action, so that no longer may our foreign secretary or the prime minister in this or any other country be hampered by the consideration of weakness or default on our part."

Arrest of Drug Company Head Is Ordered by Gov't.

NEW YORK, Dec. 13 (AP)—The United States goverment ordered today the arrest of F. Donald Coster, president of McKesson & Robbins, Inc., and two other men, as four separate investigations went deeper into the mystery of the drug corporation's apparent loss of $18,000,000 in listed assets.

Warrants charged Coster, George S. Dietrich, assistant treasurer, and George Vernard, Montreal representative of W. W. Smith & Co., English agent for the firm, with violation of the United States Securities act of 1934.

Samuel Rich, counsel for Coster and Dietrich, said they would surrender in Bridgeport, Conn., tomorrow. The board of McKesson and Robbins called for resignation of the two men.

Gales Hold Back Aid for Keepers of Lighthouses

LONDON, Dec. 13 (CP Cable)—Wild Atlantic gales prevented aid from reaching two sick men in separate lighthouses off England's stormswept southwest coast tonight.

The keeper of the Longship lighthouse, three miles off Land's End, flashed word to shore that Assistant Keeper W. J. Griffith is unconscious and food is running short.

Six days ago a request for aid from the Eddystone light marking the reef outside Plymouth Sound said William Jordan, principal keeper of the light, is suffering a severe hernia.

Two physicians stood on the shore at Land's End tonight and signalled with lamps the treatment they prescribed for Griffiths who is seriously ill after a long period of restricted rations.

Nanaimo Physicians Get Two Parking Spaces

NANAIMO, B. C., Dec. 13 (CP). — A Nanaimo doctor's forgetfulness has made parking easier for all the city's physicians.

Alderman George Muir told the council the doctor received an emergency call but it took him 10 minutes to answer it because he had forgotten where he parked his car.

The council decided to allow each doctor two parking spaces in front of his office so it wouldn't happen again.

Ruth's Arranger Shows His Wound

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 13 (AP)—Myrl Alderman, 30-year-old music arranger and accompanist for singer Ruth Etting, unbuttoned his shirt in court today and showed a jury the bullet wound he said Martin Snyder inflicted last Oct. 15.

Alderman said Snyder, former husband of the singer, accosted him just as he finished his work and said he wanted to have a talk about Miss Etting.

"He said he had reports Miss Etting and I were married," Alderman testified. "I told him that wasn't true."

Alderman said Snyder took a pistol from his pocket and told him: "If you make a move it will be the last you'll ever make."

Alderman said he drove to his home, got out and that Snyder marched behind him, the pistol shoved into his back.

Alderman's story of the shooting followed closely those of Miss Etting and Snyder's 21-year-old daughter, Edith, who said she fired at her father after he shot Alderman.

Convict Death in Sing Sing Sequel to Mistake Murder

OSSINING, N. Y., Dec. 13 (AP).—Gangland vengeance that reached even inside the walls of Sing Sing prison wrote a sequel today to the "mistake murder" of John F. O'Hara, 26, New York financial investigator, who was slain by near-sighted underworld executioners last Nov. 18.

Detectives said the killers never meant to "get" O'Hara. His slaying was a blunder. The intended target was Matthew J. Kane, 41, an ex-convict, who "knew too much."

Kane died today in the prison hospital from infection caused by a jagged fragment of knife-blade imbedded in his neck. He was stabbed in a mysterious assault last Sunday, authorities disclosed. Five convicts were placed in solitary confinement in connection with the case.

Twice marked for death, Kane escaped to live briefly on borrowed time through the error of his would-be slayers — and paradoxically, the act that saved his life also sent him back to prison to his doom.

Edmonton "P.R." May Be Abolished

EDMONTON, Dec. 13 (CP) — Abolition of the proportional representation system of voting in provincial elections in Edmonton will be effected if a proposal presented to the electoral committee of the Alberta legislature at its first public hearing today is adopted.

Under the proposal, made by John Guild, president of the Edmonton Social Credit Constituency association, the city would be divided into four electoral wards, with one member elected in each ward.

The plan also would reduce Edmonton's representation in the legislature by two members. At present the capital city is represented by six members, elected under proportional representation.

German Papers Fail to Say Officials Missed Speech

BERLIN Dec. 14 (Wednesday) (AP) — Berlin's morning newspapers today displayed prominently accounts of Prime Minister Chamberlain's speech in London last night, but failed to mention the fact the German ambassador and German press representatives decided to hear it.

Lokalanzeigler in commenting on the speech criticized Mr. Chamberlain's "two alternatives." The paper said Mr. Chamberlain's emphasis on Britain's will for quick rearmament was "most startling after Munich."

JEWS ALLOWED ONLY PERSONAL PROPERTY WHEN LEAVE GERMANY

Might Take German Goods Too Under Schacht Plan

FOREIGN LOANS TO PAY FOR THE GOODS

Berlin, Dec. 13 (AP)—The economics ministry decreed today that German or stateless Jews leaving Germany after Jan. 1 may take with them only property sufficient for their direct personal needs.

Authoritative sources, however, were quick to state Jews would be able to obtain special permits to take such goods as might benefit German exports under the reported Schacht Plan of coupling exports with Jewish emigration — a plan still in its formative stages.

It was pointed out machinery had been especially considered as goods which Jews take with them under the plan attributed to Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the Reichsbank.

The goods would be paid for in advance in foreign exchange loans from benefactors abroad. Today's issue of the Jewish information sheet suggested the loans might be granted without interest and redeemed later by emigrants "from the yields of their labor."

DALADIER SPEEDS BILL INCREASING EXPENSE; HALF IS FOR ARMAMENTS

German "Push" to East Creates Uneasiness

HUGE DEFICIT IS TO BE ENLARGED

PARIS, Dec. 13 (AP)—Premier Daladier speeded toward final action today a $2,460,406,000 budget bill providing a 36 per cent increase in expenditures next year. Half the increase would go for armaments.

The debate starts Thursday on the foreign ministry budget and was expected to produce a general discussion of the foreign policy for which the government has been drawing increasing criticism since the four-power Munich pact and the French-German friendship accord.

There is uneasiness over Germany's "push to the east" and especially over the future of the Memel territory.

The government informed the chamber of deputies the deficit in this year's operating expenses, as of Oct. 31, was more than 6,000,000,000 francs ($157,800,000).

It was estimated the deficit would be swelled another 1,000,000,000 francs before the year end, raising the total national debt to 570,000,000,000 francs $14,991,000,000).

The total of the ordinary budget, which is to be met by taxation and other revenues, and the extraordinary budget, to be met through borrowing, was placed at 94,631,000,000 francs ($2,460,406,000) as compared with 88,970,000,000 francs ($1,793,220,000) last year.

Of a total 38,790,000,000 ($1,008,340,000) francs in arms expenditures projected for next year, 14,190,000,000 francs war in the ordinary budget. The proposed total represents an increase of 12,938,144,144 francs ($336,688,000) over last year.

GABLE TO MARRY CAROLE LOMBARD?

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 13 (AP)—Clark Gable said tonight his estranged wife, Mrs. Rhea Gable, probably would file suit for divorce as soon as the courts legally interpret their property settlement that was effected three years ago.

The property settlement is scheduled to be heard tomorrow.

Under terms of the settlement, it was understood, Gable has paid Mrs. Gable, his second wife, approximately $286,000.

Gable would not comment on reports that he intended to marry film actress Carol Lombard.

B. C. MINISTER TO STUDY HEALTH INSURANCE SCHEMES ON PRAIRIES

VICTORIA, Dec. 13 (CP)—E. H. Bridgman, deputy minister of municipalities for British Columbia, will soon begin a study of municipal health insurance schemes now operating successfully on the prairies.

Government spokesmen said even after British Columbia's provincial health insurance scheme is brought into effect, some rural schemes will still be needed because the Provincial act makes no provision for benefits to farmers and other rural workers.

Rural areas on the prairies now have their own health insurance schemes, and Mr. Bridgman will study them in relation to their application under British Columbia conditions.

A Health Insurance act was passed at the 1936 session of the British Columbia legislature, but it has not been put in effect because of opposition in several quarters.

Last week it was announced a special committee of doctors will meet with the provincial health insurance commission in an endeavor to bring the delayed scheme into effect soon.

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., Dec. 13 (CP)—The man who fired the first shot of the Riel Rebellion of 1885, Joseph (Gentleman Joe) McKay, 83, veteran of the Royal North West Mounted Police, died here today.

After the rebellion McKay remained in the police force. He was present at the last stand of Almighty Voice, renegade Indian, killed by police after a career of murder which terrorized the countryside.

Mrs. McKay, nine children, 45 grandchildren and five great grandchildren survive. William of Jeffrey, B.C., is a son.

ROOSEVELT AND EDEN QUIET ON HALF-HOUR TALK

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP) — President Roosevelt and Anthony Eden, the man who would like to see world democracy adopt a firm attitude toward dictatorship, discussed international problems at a half-hour session today but left the world to guess just what had happened between them.

The United States president and the former foreign secretary of Great Britain met in Mr. Roosevelt's study. The meeting was informal, but this failed to dispel wholly some belief here that the conversation was fraught with significance for Anglo-American friendship.

The consensus in informed quarters was that no commitments were discussed or made, but that both men used the opportunity to review democratic problems in a world disturbed by power politics of totalitarian states.

California Men Charged as Spys

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 13 (AP) — Two men, one the manager of a Russian travel agency and the other a former California police officer, were held tonight on separate floors of the county jail following their arraignment on espionage charges accusing them of sending documents of the United States Naval Intelligence bureau to the U. S. S. R.

Federal Bureau of Investigation agents and representatives of the United States attorney's office declined any comment on the nature of the charges against the men, Mikhail Gorin, 34, Pacific coast manager of Intourist, Inc., the travel bureau, and Hafis Salich, a clerk of the agency who formerly was a member of the Berkeley, Calif., police department.

Cable Kink May Have Sent Miners to Doom in Cage

SYDNEY MINES, N.S., Dec. 13 (CP) — Investigators probing the Princess Colliery disaster heard a rope-splicer suggest today a kink in the haulage rope caused the break which sent a string of cars smashing into the pit depths last Tuesday. Twenty-one of the 250 men aboard died in Cape Breton's worst mining accident since 1917.

The inquiry focussed its attention closely on the 1⅛ inch strand of steel cable controlling decent of the train which miners call a "rake".

Leo Sutherland, the rope-splicer, said the broken end of the cable appeared to have been "kinked". He blamed the kink on slackness in the cable.

Nine witnesses were examined today before the inquiry adjourned until Thursday.

GARDINER, CHOICE OF HEPBURN TO SUCCEED KING, TOLD PREMIER OF ONTARIO HE WOULD SUPPORT KING

Gardiner Statement Only Official Comment From Government After Cabinet Council on Quarrel

OTTAWA, Dec. 13 (CP)—Hon. J. G. Gardiner, federal agriculture minister, now revealed as one of the choices of Premier Hepburn of Ontario as a successor to Prime Minister Mackenzie King, issued a statement tonight declaring his two visits to the Ontario premier last month were at the latter's invitation.

In a statement earlier today Mr. Hepburn said Mr. Gardiner had called on him twice seeking his cooperation with the federal administration and offering "certain concessions".

M. Gardiner said he called on Mr. Hepburn Nov. 17 at the latter's request to discuss matters not related to the present controversy but that political questions arose during the conversation. He went back again Nov. 25, also at the request of Mr. Hepburn.

In an interview published by the Toronto Daily Star today Mr. Hepburn was quoted as saying "I did not approach Mr. Gardiner—He approached me."

(See Page Seven for Details)

Mr. Gardiner said Mr. Hepburn told him at the Nov. 17 meeting he would not support Mr. Mackenzie King but would support a satisfactory nominee to succeed the prime minister and intimated "he would support me under those circumstances."

The agriculture minister said his reply was that "while I appreciated the compliment I had always been a strong supporter of Mr. Mackenzie King and would continue to support him 100 per cent so long as he desired to remain leader of the Liberal party."

The statement was the only official comment from the government after today's cabinet council, on the quarrel now raging openly between the Ontario premier and the federal administration — a quarrel which finds both leaders claiming solid support of their cabinet followers.

Council was believed to have been devoted largely to discussion of the feud which broke into the open Saturday night at Port Arthur when Hon. Norman Rogers, minister of labor, speaking at a nomination meeting for Hon. C. D. Howe, minister of transport, charged Mr. Hepburn with sponsoring a conspiracy to remove Mr. Mackenzie King.

No comment has so far come from Mr. Duplessis but in his statement tonight Mr. Gardiner said that the Quebec Premier was not involved in his discussions with Mr. Hepburn.

Earlier today Mr. Rogers issued a brief statement in reply to reported demands of Mr. Hepburn that the Port Arthur charges be substantiated.

"As to a conspiracy against the prime minister he (Hepburn) had already convicted himself out of his own mouth," Mr. Rogers declared. Of a reported declaration by Mr. Hepburn that he would vote for Hon. Dr. R. J. Manion, Conservative leader, in preference to Mr. Mackenzie King, Mr. Rogers said "that is the crowning confirmation of his whole attitude."

Mr. Gardiner said his first call at Mr. Hepburn's office Nov. 17 was prompted by the latter's request, during the Royal Winter fair, to talk about Mr. Hepburn's exhibit of prize winning horses. Discussion of the political situation developed.

A former premier of Saskatchewan and an able debater in the house of commons, Mr. Gardiner has often been rumored as a possible federal leader of the Liberal party if Mr. Mackenzie King retired. Mr. Hepburn's offer to support him as leader caused no surprise among observers here.

Newspaper Carrier Montreal Alderman

MONTREAL, Dec. 13 (CP) — When Montreal's new city council convenes, a newspaper carrier will occupy one of the aldermanic benches. Joseph Hormisdas Delisle, elected yesterday for St. Henry ward, has delivered copies of La Presse for 17 years and the Gazette for 15 years. The 42-year-old alderman-elect said he would retain his carrier jobs.

HON. J. G. GARDINER

Radio Inspector at Kamloops to Serve Kootenay

A permanent inspector of the radio branch, department of transport, had been stationed at Kamloops and it was expected better service to the Kootenays would result than from Vancouver, stated W. J. Bowerman, acting district superintendent, Victoria, in a letter received by the city council Tuesday night. The letter said the inspector had been stationed in the interior with that purpose in view.

The council questioned whether an inspector at Kamloops would be able to give proper service to Fernie and East Kootenay points, and decided to point this out in continuing to press for a permanent inspector at Nelson.

Cuban Officials Duel With Sabres

HAVANA, Cuba, Dec. 13 (AP).—A high Cuban official hacked out his niche in the hall of "Gentlemen of honor" with a military sabre today but was unable to announce it because of a Cuban law forbidding duels.

Aurelio Fernandez Concheso, former minister to Berlin and secretary of education in President Laredo Bru's cabinet, challenged Aurelio Alvarez for derogatory public utterances.

Alvarez—leader of the revolutionary political party — refused to apologize and intimated he had not half spoken his mind about the secretary in a recent discourse.

The met at dawn in an outlying pasture.

The duel ended when Concheso broke through his opponents guard, gashing his sword arm.

WHEAT CONFERENCE AGREED WEST WITH BIG CARRYOVER TO NEED HELP

By CARL REINKE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG, Dec. 13 (CP)—National assistance for western wheat growers in a time of world wheat crisis loomed large in discussions at the prairie markets conference today as attention centred on what was happening to wheat in the other major wheat exporting and importing countries.

The fact wheat constituted one-quarter of Canada's total exports—and sometimes as much as one-third—was enough in itself to entitle the wheat growing industry to consideration in distress Paul Bredt, president of the Manitoba wheat pool, suggested.

"There is no organization or individual in Western Canada who does not conscientiously think there must be adequate support for the western farmer as long as present national and international conditions continue," asserted L. W. Brockington, Winnipeg, counsel for the Northwest Grain Dealers association.

Undermining of Lithuanian Gov't. Charged Foreigners; 9 Are Arrested

KAUNAS, Lithuania, Dec. 13 (AP) The semi-dictatorship of President Smetona, struggling to stand firm in the eastern shadow of Germany, charged today foreign conspirators were trying to undermine it and arrested nine political foes at home.

An official statement declared anti-government pamphlets circulated here were printed abroad. It accused foreign circles of fomenting disturbances which accompanied the Nazi victory in Memel Diet elections on Sunday.

The arrests hit at persons and organizations which the Nationalist regime labelled "Rightist." Those arrested included Bistras Dielininkaitis, a leader of the young Catholic organization, and friends of former Premier Augustine Waldemaras, once leader of the Fascist "Iron Wolf" group.

There were reports Germany was pressing for inclusion of Waldermaras in the government. He is believed to be in France after his release from prison several years ago. (The Iron leader was sentenced to 12 years at hard labor, June 18, 1934, for an attempt to overthrow the government).

The Lithuanian opposition movement harassed the government at the precise moment when the former German seaport of Memel, now under Lithuanian sovereignty seethed with a "back to the Reich" movement.

Leafs Come Through With 5-3 Victory Over the Trail Blazers

Count Is Tied Three Times; Teams Now Even

HAMMOND, NEIL IN LIVELY SESSION

TRAIL, B. C., Dec. 13 — After a scoreless first period, Nelson Maple Leafs gained a one goal margin early in the second and increased it to two in the third to defeat Trail Blazers 5-3 in a game of the West Kootenay Hockey league before one thousand keen fans here tonight and chalk up their first victory of the loop this season.

Nelson and Trail are back where they started, each having won a game and tied twice.

Blazers came through to equalize the the count twice in the second period, Nelson starting the third canto, still one up.

Again in the opening of the final chapter, Trail tied. Leafs then beat Polson twice in succession to establish a stronger margin which Blazers were unable to pare down.

LEAFS HAVE EDGE

Nelson Leafs opened the first period with their usual energetic attack and had the edge in shooting on goal in about a 9 to 5 comparison. Polson handled them all without difficulty. Bicknell gave the fans a thrill when he missed a wide opening which Polson left for him to shoot at.

The second canto was under way only a few minutes when Johnny Smith was penalized two minutes. He had no sooner entered the penalty box when he was followed by Euerby for another minor infraction. Blazers swarmed around the Nelson net. The fans clamored for a goal. Pile-up after pile-up in front of the net resulted as Blazers kept the puck in the Leafs defending zone. Seaby saved repeatedly until his squad regained full strength.

Referee Wheatley had to stop the play several times to locate the puck swamped by Seaby but it was never found over the goal line.

CARR SCORED

While there was a lull in the play, Leafs skated easily around the Trail net. Kilpatrick, gently passed to Carr who squeezed the puck past Polson's left side through a small opening

About three minutes later Calles tied the count when he whammed Andersons rebound against the hemp behind Seaby. Polson displayed disgust, as he let a shot by Bicknell in the same hole Carr had put it. Johnnie Smith assisted Bicknell on the counter. Bob Marshall, alone, beat Seaby as he drove a hot shot between his legs to again tie up the count, this time 2-2.

Less than a minute later Leafs again took the lead when Nick Smith scored on another assist by Kilpatrick. Several offside plays by Blazers were called back by Annable the Nelson linesman's whistle being responded to by lusty boos from the crowd.

HAMMOND, NEIL TANGLE

When Hammond boarded Neil at the Trail blue line, a dozen fans were on hand for a ringside seat the opening bout. Referee Wheatley blew his whistle and rushed to the spot as did many players. There was much bumping and pushing. Hammond led off with a nice left. The pair exchanged a few blows and the full squads milled around.

It was soon broken up. Hammond was given seven minutes and Neil five. Play was just resumed when the period ended. Coming in front of the net from one side Appleton surprised Seaby as he picked Marshall's rebound to score and tie the count 3-3.

Leafs again took the lead when Johnnie Smith slipped through to beat Polson.

Red Carr upset Cowland in the centre zone to reduce Nelson by another player.

Fans gave Seaby a big hand as he desperately held Blazers at bay.

Carr had no soon returned to the ice when Hammond beat Polson on an easy shot to give the visitors a two goal margin, 5-3.

With Neil and Hammond out of the hoosegow, the squads continued at full strength Leafs were keenly on the defensive, Blazers striving for a goal.

NEARLY 6-3

Occasionally a Nelson player broke away when an opportunity was presented, but back-checking hard, Trail Blazers quickly returned to continue hammering at Seaby. As the puck was labelled for a goal off J. Smith's stick while Polson was out of the net, Anderson dived after the rubber to push it clear.

Hammond bodied Wade after the whistle had been blown for an offside and when they were far from the play.

Hammond was waved off by Wheatley. Leafs strength weakened, Blazers engineered a power attack which was not fruitful.

City Receipts Near Estimates

Electric Light Will Be Down; Others Are Up

Statement of receipts and expenditures of the city for 11 months ending November 30, a "cash" statement, showed that receipts in most cases would exceed estimates, the city council learned Tuesday night. The council expressed the opinion the city should continue its drive to collect arrears of light, water, power, gas, licence and other payments.

Nelson's Water Licence, River, in Good Stead

No Danger of Losing Rights, Potter States

STREET CARS NOT SCRAPPED AS YET

City of Nelson water licence on the Kootenay river, site of the city's hydro-electric plant, expires in November next year, but the city stands in no danger of losing its rights, stated R. E. Potter, city engineer, in reply to questions by Alderman C. W. Tyler at the city council meeting Tuesday night.

Sixty days before expiration of the licence the government would officially notify the city of the expiration date and would ask if the water was being used. Mr. Potter stated His queries to the lands department brought the assurance that the city's licence was in good standing. The city had prior rights on the river.

USE HALF WATER

At the present time the Nelson city plant was using about half the water to which it was entitled. Eventually, with added construction, it would use all of it.

Citizens did not need to doubt for a minute that the city's interests would be forgotten, Mayor N. C. Stibbs commented.

Alderman T. H. Waters regretted talk was being circulated in the city that the council had decided to scrap the street car system. So far, he said, the council had gone no further than consideration of what was to be done with municipal transportation in Nelson, and to prepare a report on its findings.

Vimy Ridge Is Re-Enacted by 111th Battery

Rotarians, Visitors See Realistic "Show"

MEN URGED MAKE MOST OF TRAINING

Presenting a relaistic display before the Nelson Rotary club and a number of guests, the 111th Battery, R. C. A., reenacted the first stage of the Battle of Vimy Ridge in miniature at the armory Tuesday night.

Again using the 18-pounder guns firing .22 calibre bullets, the gun crews provided a fine "show" for the visitors. The guns were sent into position, communication lines were established and then the battery went into action. An observation balloon directing fire against them was destroyed, the main ammunition dump of the opposing force was blown up, and at the conclusion the battery stood ready for the second stage of the battle, awaiting orders.

MANY COMPLIMENTS

Compliments were freely extended upon the excellent marksmanship by speakers at the refreshment table following the "show."

A. J. Cornish complimented the 111th on its efficiency and asserted the instruction members were receiving would be invaluable to them throughout life.

"Forget there was ever a war or that there is likely to be one," he counselled, "but stay with your guns, work hard, and get the most out of the education you can obtain here."

W. J. Waters declared the exhibition was a "revelation," for "I never saw anything like it." B. N. Barker, associated with similar work in the old country, was "much impressed" by the efficiency of the battery.

H. H. Hiniitt found "many happy memories" were brought back through being with "the boys", and declared "the battery is a wonderful means of teaching young men to use scientific instruments."

Robert Clerihew was impressed, and J. C. Chambers said the display was "wonderful". Sergeant G. P. Cooper of the 109th (Trail-Rossland) Battery, stated the exhibition was an eye-opener.

Efficiency of the average man in the battery, so that the whole unit might be efficient, was the objective of the 111th, said Major A. E. Dalgas, presiding. He was not concerned with a crack gun crew, he asserted, but with high standing for every member of the battery.

Religion Can Be Weapon of the Mind, Mr. Donnell Tells Kinsmen

Had Its Beginning in Primitive Times He Says

"Religion is not just a refuge for weak minds, but it can be the weapon of a mind that wants to be strong," declared Rev. J. A. Donnell, addressing the Kinsmen club at its supper meeting in the Hume hotel Silver room Tuesday night. "Some say religion is a damnable thing, but on the other hand it has strengthened the souls of men in 10,000,000 crises."

Going back into the evolutionary period "of about 100,000 years or so," Mr. Donnell said he believed religion had perhaps got its beginning through the fear of primitive man, who was scared by some such force as lightning. Perhaps the lightning had shattered a tree near the man, and as he did not want to be "shattered" like the tree, he made a peace offering to the strange force and sought its favor. That was only one version of how religion had originated, the speaker said.

NOT OUTWORN SUPERSTITION

"If there is any man here tonight who thinks religion is just an outworn superstition, let me tell you you have another think coming, Mr. Donnell said. Religion was not to lessen life, but to make life more abundant.

Mr. Donnell related how a man in Saskatchewan had asked him if he really believed in God. "I can't prove there is a God, but I strongly believe there is one," Mr. Donnell had told him. The man retorted: "You are spending your whole life on a mere assumption."

But after all, there were many things in life that were mere assumptions, the speaker said. A mining claim, that had promise of ore, but had no values showing, was a mere assumption.

UNIVERSE IS PLANNED

"We can examine this universe of ours," said Mr. Donnell. "One conception of the universe is that it is a mechanism. But another conception is that it is a mechanism-plus. I believe it is a planned thing, so that there must be a planner. And that planner is God."

PICTURES SHOWN

Interesting moving pictures, showing wild life in Africa and how "you can see the world without leaving the United States," were shown by Robert Borden and John Learmonth through the courtesy of the Greyhound Lines. The United States circle tour showed many beautiful and well known scenes and places of interest throughout the country.

The club stood in a minute's silence in memory of Gordon Roynon, one of the original Kinsmen club members in Nelson. A letter was read from Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Roynon, thanking the club for its acts of kindness during their bereavement.

A letter was received from the Christmas Cheer association asking the club's aid. It was left to the finance committee to decide what contribution would be made.

Harold Brown, absent from the city for some time, was welcomed back to the club. He presided at the piano for several songs.

Russell Neil, district secretary of Kinsmen, of Vernon, and Kenneth McKenzie of Vancouver were guests.

RED SOX HIT FORM AFTER LONG LAYOFF AS EDGE OUT ROOKIES 8-7; CROCKS SCORE OVER F.A.C.

Red Sox cagettes were back in the win column Monday night after a month's absence from the Nelson Basketball associations coveted list, and they made it by just one point over the F.A.C. Lanky Jim Cherrington showing the way the Old Crocks blazed forth in their usual form as, with every member scoring, they chalked up 27 points. High-scoring Jim put in four of the Crocks' baskets.

Burglar Asks Bicycle Rider to Have Own Drinks

NEW YORK, Dec. 13 (AP)—Alfred Letourneur, the French six-day bicycle rider, was sleeping in his hotel room this morning, he told police, when a stranger shook him and said, "Come on, get up and have a drink."

Sleepily, Letourneur noted the man was holding a bottle of whisky—all but empty—and it was Letourneur's bottle. Then he noticed the stranger was puffing away on a choice cigar he had left on the table and was wearing one of his suits.

Letourneur was very wide awake by the time he figured out that the intruder wore not one, but four of his suits and six neckties. There also was a matter of $200 in cash he had left in one of the trouser pockets, and Letourneur's sense of hospitality rebelled. He knocked the stranger down and called police.

The intruder was booked as Robert Richardson, 25, an unemployed counterman, on a burglary charge.

Rossland "Gym" Classes Give Fine Display

ROSSLAND, B.C., Dec. 13—The Rossland armory Monday night looked like an acrobatic section of a circus big-top, as 18 ladies and 25 men, members of the Rossland Centre of recreational and physical education staged amazing stunts and performances in every department of gymnastics. This display was held in support of the Rossland community chest, to which was a silver collection, amounting to $12 was turned over. Some 150 were present.

Conducted by Trygve (Trig) Nora, and his assistant, Miss Eileen Macdonald, the two classes gave demonstrations in fundamental gymnastics and calisthanics, bench work, pyramid buiding, "horse" work, ring performances, parallel bar stunts, advanced gymnastics, and spring board displays, and, completing the evening, the classes combined in a brief physical exercise, instructed by Mr. Nora.

STARTS WITH DRILL

At the beginning of the display the classes joined forces and were drilled in fundamentals by Mr. Nora Following that, the ladies' class took the floor, and was directed by Miss Macdonald in a physical exercise. The men were then drilled by the instructor in another department of gymnastics.

While one group of ladies gave tumbling displays, the other group, under Miss Macdonald, presented bench work. This was followed by pyramid construction by the tumblers.

Divided into three groups, the men thrilled the crowd with a half-hour show consisting of more tumbling, parallel bar tricks, and ring work, acting simultaneously.

The ladies then gave a pleasing performance in advanced calisthenics. A brief spring board display was given by the male class.

Concluding the evening, Mr. Nora addressed the audience, saying that the object of the Rossland Centre was to promote a cooperative feeling and not to make star performers.

A supper was served the members of the Centre in the lower room of the Armory after the display. Mrs. "Trig" Nora, Mrs. E. E. Perkins and Mrs. W. A. Darby were active on the refreshment committee.

Life Term for Mrs. Smith, 73

SEATTLE, Dec. 13 (AP)—A jury decreed life imprisonment today for Mary Eleanor Smith, 73, shortly after she pleaded guilty to the first degree murder of James Eugene Bassett, who disappeared here 10 years ago.

They followed the recommendation of prosecution and defence attorneys and that of Bassett's widowed mother, Mrs. Marion Bassett, Annapolis, Md., and Society Hill, S. C., who took the witness stand and testified she did not want the death penalty inflicted.

Mrs. Smith cried that her slaying confession last spring was not made voluntarily and "it was such a terrible thing to my son"—and co-defendant, Decasto Early Mayer, 44, habitual criminal who killed himself Sunday in the county jail.

Bassett's body never was found, but the court held that proof of death, in a homicide case, can be established by testimony tending to corroborate the confession of the accused.

Mrs. Smith and Mayer were brought to trial after she confessed last spring, shortly before completing a five to eight year sentence for larceny of Bassett's car.

Mother and son were arrested with the car and Bassett's watch in Oakland, Calif., shortly after Bassett disapeared here Sept. 5, 1928. Mayer was sentenced to life imprisonment as an habitual criminal—for having three felony convictions on his record.

Quebec Cardinal May Be New Pope

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 13 (CP—Havas).—The names of Rodrique Cardinal Villeneuve, archbishop of Quebec, George Cardinal Mundelein, archbishop of Chicago, and Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli, papal secretary of state, have been brought to the fore in guarded speculation on which cardinal may be named successor to Pope Pius XI.

Although the pontiff recovered from his heart attack of recent weeks, he is constantly under the threat of death due to his grave heart condition and advanced age.

At present the church is waging a struggle against the pagan doctrines that have taken root in Germany and the racial credo in Italy. Therefore, it is thought the sacred college will have to consider nomination of a pope endowed with great energy.

The choice might fall on a foreign prelate in order to maintain the church's independence toward various questions, including the Fascist regime.

Parents Job Is To Train Child In Safety Habits

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph. D.

In some places where this column is read many children have never seen a sled. But they may use wagons, tricycles and bicycles. Whether they slide or go on wheels, they frequently face dangers. Some, alas! lose their precious lives or are left cripples, and for most of these accidents parents are responsible.

We parents owe it to our children to provide for them more play places that are safe. If we really cared, we would create a community spirit which would guarantee these rights to our children and our neighbors' children.

CHALLENGES HIM

Yet, we need to remember that however abundant these safe playgrounds are, many children will play in dangerous places, even right in sight of the best play spaces. Something challenging to the child about facing perils and our very warnings and anxieties often renders him more ready to take risks.

If we are to make our children relatively safe, we must spend considerable thought, effort and time at training them in safety habits, beginning about as soon as the tot can toddle. And we cannot trust alone to reason and persuasion. Wishing to save the child's life, we shall train him to avoid specific known dangers long before he clearly sees and feels the reason why.

Neither shall we trust to nature to do the training. Nature is too costly and too inefficient. Nature will punish the child who coasts his wagon into the street in front of a moving car. The punishment may be the youngster's life.

MORE HUMANE

We can be more humane than nature and more efficient. Nature may let the child escape ever so often, enticing him to venture more and more. We can, if we will, be consistent. Therefore, beginning with the tot, we can provide him with immediate, safe but effective physical pain every time he rushes into the street or other perilous places clearly known to him to be such.

Parents who care will take time enough, be consistent enough and persistent enough to make sure the child learns very early not to coast into the unprotected street with his tricycle, wagon or sled, or to hook onto another vehicle.

Though I have said repeatedly that I hoped all corporal punishment might be abandoned by the time the child is four or five, I believe that parent whose child even at ten or twelve defiantly and deliberately coasts in forbidden places, owes it to this child to resort effectively to the razor strop or paddle. For some children it is a choice between such stern measures and death. Which shall the parent choose for him?

Not Family's Duty To Support Man Who Won't Work

By CAROLINE CHATFIELD

The family Tsukalos of Brooklyn has set a style that should be followed by a lot of families throughout the land. Papa and two sisters Tsukalos got sick and tired of supporting a worthless brother who sat around the house all day playing the radio while they sweated for their daily bread and his. So they hauled him into court and ordered him to show the magistrate why he shouldn't work or get out. He whined that he had no job and no place to go, which didn't move the magistrate much; since he believed that those who brought home the bacon should have the say so as to who should eat it. Young Mr. Tsukalos, age 34, was given three days to move his carcass and his suitcase.

Judging from my correspondence there is a perfect plague in the land of lazy loafing men folks who let their families pay the freight while they deadhead through life. And there's never been a time it was so easy for a do-less deadheader to find face for himself. He just points to unemployment figures and whinnies and whines that there isn't enough work to go around and he's one of the left-overs.

Oftener than otherwise it falls to the lot of widowed mothers, unmarried sisters and doting aunts to feed him, clothe him, house him and furnish the music for his leisure hours. Oftener than otherwise he isn't even polite to them but treats them with the contempt that we are all likely to feel for those who permit us to misuse and abuse them.

Mr. Henry Ford said recently that any man who hasn't a job these days doesn't deserve one which is an exaggeration, of course.

He hasn't any manhood to be compromised by doing the woman's work in the house. He could sweep floors, make beds, wash dishes and do up the laundry too; which might justify his sitting at the table with the family that has bought the bread and butter.

Usually he sleeps late, dresses up in clothes that were bought for him, rides around in the family car, touches his women folks and any other that will be touched, for spending money, spreads sweetness and light on those he meets (he's usually suave and Chesterfieldian on the outside) and then comes home to plague his long-suffering clan with his ill humors.

There's no such thing as a self-respecting man who's idle. He may be temporarily out of a job through no fault of his own; he may be a long time unemployed; but he will find something to occupy his mind and his hands while he's resting his feet from padding the pavements looking for work. And so I say the family Tsukalos has set a style that should be followed by many families that are cursed with do-less deadheaders; giving the loafers a final chance to show why they shouldn't go to work or get out.

Most Sensitive Part of the Body Is the Tongue

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

If you lay your hand on some kind of an object, you can report that it is hard, sharp and hot. All these sensations are the result of nerve endings in the skin which carry impulses to the sensory area of the brain. They all seem to be mixed up together — that is, you feel hardness, sharpness and heat all at the same time, but they can be dissociated because heat and cold spots are entirely separate from plain feeling.

These heat and cold spots can be mapped out. On the back of the hand, for instance, a fine hot needle point may not be felt at all on one area of the skin, but within a very short distance will be felt distinctly.

PHYSICIAN'S CASE

A physician in one of our prominent medical schools has described his own case. He has a cervical rib, an extra rib in the neck, which presses on the plexus of nerves which are distributed through his arms. As a result of this, there is a region in the arm lackin in the pressure and temperature senses pertaining to a sense of pain. Other cases have been described in which the pressure sense alone remains, dissociating the pain and temperature senses.

There is another difference between the ordinary nerves of sensation, which is that there is superficial and deep sensibility. In other words, if all the nerves to a given area of skin are cut, the individuals will still be able to feel pressure and movements due to nerves that are deeper than those in the skin.

So far as superficial sensation is concerned, the most sensitive part of the body is the tip of the tongue. This, of course, accounts for the feelings that occur when one has a sharp tooth or a grain of raspberry seed inside the mouth. They feel out of all proportion to their size, sharpness or hardness. Next comes the tip of the forefinger, then the palm, then the bottom of the feet. Least sensitive is the skin along the spine and in the middle of the neck or back.

The pain sense is the most mysterious of all. One of the most astonishing things is that physicians constantly are dealing with pain and yet haven't the slightest idea as to exactly what it is. They know a good deal but they don't know its nature. For instance, pain in the intestines is a daily experience in every doctor's lift. Yet, it is possible for a surgeon to handle and cut the intestines of a patient who is not anaesthetized without causing any pain whatever. The theory is that intestinal pain is due to cramps or peristaltic movements which are excessive, but that still remains purely theory.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

E. M.: "There are several preparations of wheat germ on the market. Is this advisable to take over any length of time? Isn't the calcium as found in milk and cracked wheat bread better? What if any harm can come of adding the wheat germ to the daily menu?"

Answer: Wheat germ concentrates contain vitamin B and are useful in cases of vitamin B deficiency. They have nothing to do with calcium replacement. They are recommended in paralysis and neuritis due to starvation and monotonous diet, alcoholic neuritis, gout, anemia and general rundown condition in middle age. I know of no report which indicates that the prolonged use does harm.

LOUGHBOROUGH England (CP) —Speaking at the Modern Churchmen's Conference Miss O. M. Willis of Newbury said many people, especially girls, thought there was great unreality in church services because so much of what was in the prayer book was not really believed by the clergy.

Hints for Housewives

By BETSY NEWMAN

TODAY'S MENU

Ham and Scalloped Potatoes
Squash Spinach
Cabbage and Apple Salad
Carrot Pudding Coffee

Ham and Scalloped Potatoes

Use one slice smoked ham and potatoes enough to fill the casserole. Peel potatoes and slice thin. Arrange in layers in buttered casserole with alternate layers of ham cut in small pieces. Season with pepper and salt, and fill dish with scalded milk in which has been melted a heaping tablespoon butter.

Top with crumbs or flakes, sprinkle a little grated cheese on top and bake for three-quarters of an hour.

Carrot Pudding—One cup raw carrots (grated), one cup raw potatoes (grated), one cup beef suet (cut fine), one cup brown sugar, one cup currants, one cup raisins, one-half teaspoon ginger, one-half teaspoon allspice, one-fourth teaspoon nutmeg, one teaspoon soda, one and one-half cups flour, some candied or grated lemon peel and one-half teaspoon salt are required.

Steam two and one-half or three hours. Serve with hard sauce.

Luncheon Salad

One envelope of plain, unflavored gelatine, one-quarter cup cold water, one-half teaspoon salt, one-quarter cup vinegar, one-half cup stuffed olives (chopped), also one-quarter cup green pepper (chopped), one-third cup cream or evaporated milk (whipped), and one and one-half cups grated American cheese.

Soften gelatine in cold water. Add hot water and stir until dissolved. Add salt and vinegar, cool, and when mixture begins to thicken, beat until frothy. Fold in cheese, olives, celery, pepper and whipped cream or evaporated milk.

Turn into mold that has been rinsed in cold water and chill. Unmold on lettuce and serve with mayonnaise or a boiled salad dressing. It makes six portions.

Tuna Fish Salad

Tuna fish salad is always nice and this recipe is especially nice.

One envelope plain, unflavored gelatine, one-quarter cup cold water, one cup tuna fish, one-half cup celery (chopped), one-half green pepper (finely chopped), few grains cayenne, two tablespoons olives (chopped), three-quarters cup cooked salad dressing or mayonnaise, one-half teaspoon salt, one-quarter teaspoon mild vinegar will make six portions.

Soften gelatine in cold water. Set bowl over hot water and stir until gelatine is dissolved. Cool, and add salad dressing, fish separated into flakes, celery, pepper (from which seeds have been removed), olives, salt, vinegar, paprika and cayenne. Turn into individual molds that have been rinsed in cold water and chill.

Move to nests of lettuce and garnish with stuffed olive slices, diamond shape pieces of green pepper, celery tips and watercress.

Date and Nut Bars

Mix and sift one-half teaspoon baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt and three-quarters cup flour. Mix one-half package pasteurized dates (sliced) and one-half cup nutmeats (chopped) through flour with finger tips.

Beat two eggs until light; beat in one cup brown sugar gradually. Stir in dry ingredients, nuts and dates. Spread mixture evenly over shadow pan which has been oiled.

Bake in moderate oven (350 F.) for 30 minutes or until surface will spring back when pressed lightly with the forefinger. When cool, cut into strips four inches long by one inch wide.

ROMANCE INC.

By OREN ARNOLD

A good sleep and a good meal are two of the greatest miracle workers known to mankind.

Thornton Holgate slept until 11:30 that Sunday. He did not regret missing church, for once. He got up and bathed and felt very refreshed, then ate a hearty lunch in the Rice Commons, read The Chronicle and The Post, and saw it was a lovely Sunday afternoon. After that he felt a little ashamed of his actions the night before; it occurred to him that he had acted almost like a freshman; he, a mature man.

After all, it had been a Saturday night, a dance night. And Peaches Pomeroy was five or six years younger than he, young enough to be a little bit careless. She had been drunk, apparently; but then, other people drank. In fact, some people seemed to get drunk often and still retain a semblance of respectability. Dr. Holgate felt that Peaches was perhaps just in the wrong crowd, under a bad influence.

With that thought he began to chide himself.

"If I had been more attentive, had sought her earlier and offered her wholesome entertainment, she would not have succumbed to unworthy companionships," he told himself. He did not realize that he was just another young man in love, trying to rationalize his lady's irrational actions. Many another lover had thus unwittingly tried to deceive himself.

He saw a group of faculty men walking toward the Rice tennis courts, some in tennis dress, others obviously going just as spectators.

"Join us Holgate?" one of them invited. "Beautiful afternon."

"Thank you, I will," he answered. Companionship was welcome now.

Some of these were older men, but one or two were nearer his own age, junior instructors or fellows. Some he knew had been at the freshman dance.

"Mathematics all week, dance all Saturday night, sleep all day Sunday, eh Holgate?" one of them kidded him a little. "I saw you there last night, but didn't get a chance to speak. Wanted you to meet my wife, too."

"So sorry. Did you both enjoy yourselves?"

"Well, yes. I had some duties, and so didn't dance very much, really. Part of the chaperonage fell to me, you know."

Thornton hadn't known, but he nodded. "Very orderly assembly," he ventured.

"Most of the time. Some messy clean-up work toward the end. Always a handful that have to be watched."

"Doubtless," agreed Thornton. "Was it, er—disagreeable?"

"No. Routine. Same old offenders, mostly, as last year. Drinking. Necking."

"Ah—necking?"

"Yep. Both go together. Some young people come to a college with a moral sense, some are born without one and never acquire it. I don't know why. You'd think decency would dawn on them some day. But the word doesn't exist for such as Bane and Templeton and McGonigle and the Pomeroy girl."

"The Pom — Miss Pomeroy?" Thornton was deeply interested, of course.

"Yep. She wanted the party to continue until dawn. We found her and the three boys in a private room shaking dice. They were paying off in dollars, she with kisses. She managed to lose rather consistently, or they managed it for her. All intoxicated, of course."

"She was—kissing—the young men?" Thornton Holgate's interest could have been just professional, to a casual observer. His fellow instructor took it as such.

"Oh, yes," the spokesman went on. "You are new here, of course, so you don't remember the scrapes the Pomeroy girl has been into in past years. The implication, of course, always is that it's worse than kissing, but I tend to discount such things. Faculty folk are too prone to be dictatorial, or suspicious. One thing I like about Rice is its liberality, its assumption in most instances that the students are adults, capable of managing their individual and group affairs. The freshmen, of course, need a bit of early guidance, but as a rule the—"

Dr. Holgate was not interested in a professional discussion. He made excuse to go away, declining to play tennis.

The hurt of the previous night had come back to him. He had tried to be generous in judging Peaches Pomeroy. He had felt himself rather acutely in love with her. The pain of finding her imperfect—despite her physical appearance—was indeed stinging. It had hurt doubly to have other faculty men, unacquainted with his personal interest, add to the information he himself had gathered.

He walked from the men's tennis courts across the wide green pasture toward the bayou, the sluggish, ornamental stream that separates the dormitory area from the athletic field house and stadium. He sat on the bank of the Spanish moss hung in festoons from the huge trees there; all the ground growth was lush. The place naturally was beautiful and restful.

Some boys came by and saw him. Comradely fellows, they sat down near him uninvited.

"Saw you at the dance, Dr. Holgate," one of them said. "Say, it's great to have the professors mix with us that way. I always thought college professors were high and mighty, kind of." He was obviously a freshman.

"Oh, no," Dr. Holgate forced a friendly manner. "Not at all. We are—ah, human, you know. Do I appear to have horns? That is—well, we enjoy sociability with the students. You must never think of faculty members as anything but your friends. We try not to intrude on you, but we like your company."

"Say, that's all right, Dr. Holgate! Say, you—say, can I come up to your room and visit some time? My Dad said I would get to rub elbows with some distinguished men at Rice. That's why I wanted to do that, some night, if it would be all right. I'm studying engineering. I'm in one of your classes, sir. I was telling Mrs. Davis yesterday. She knows you. Say, she likes you, too. I mean, she said you were a brilliant mathematician and all, and I think Mrs. Davis is pretty good at sizing people up. She's had—"

The garrulous young fellow did a lot more talking. But he was likeable. Open and earnest and bubbling. He and his fellows asked Dr. Holgate to go and have a malted milk with them, at the soda fountain place across from the field house. He went along. The company cheered him; freshmen ebullience often is contagious to a degree.

"Want to walk on up the boulevard?" they invited, after drinks.

He didn't mind. He liked the company now. It got his mind away from Peaches Pomeroy and her actions. At least, he thought it would.

But it didn't.

He kept comparing her with the ideal of her that had formed previously in his mind. He tried to bring the two images together, to straighten them out and make one pretty one, much as modern cameras are focused to make one sharp image of two hazy ones. The matter occupied him as he walked northward with the young men.

Then all at once a car was honking behind them. It drew to a stop alongside the professor and the three freshmen boys.

"Hello, Thornton!"

Dr. Holgate turned—and his mouth dropped open in surprise.

"Hello," Peaches Pomeroy repeated. "We just happened to see you. Won't all of you pile in? We'll go for a spin somewhere."

The freshmen needed no further invitation. They instantly became a human octopus—legs and arms flailing everywhere in the scramble for the back seat. The front seat of the car was occupied by three girls, Peaches at the wheel. The other two, as beautifully dressed as Peaches, and almost as pretty, were laughing at the freshmen and being generally gay.

Dr. Holgate made no reply. He was too astonished. He just stared at Peaches, highly confused.

"Get in stupe!" she commanded, as if in exasperation, laughing. "We are not going to bite you. Get in the front; Barbara can sit on your lap. Get in!"

"Say!" began the talkative freshman, "this is swell! Say—"

Nellie McQuade Now 97 Years Has Memories of Theatre Days

SYRACUSE—(CP). — Nellie McQuade, who made her debut as a chorus girl in American civil war days, is still "stage-struck," she acknowledged on her 97th birthday this month.

Although years have passed since she played before an audience, the heart of a trouper still beats in the breast of the bright-eyed little lady who at 19 ran away from home to begin a career on the stage.

"I'm sure I don't know what I would have to think about now if it weren't for my memories of the theatre," said Miss McQuade with a smile. To her those early years, when floodlights were crude lamps and the theatre considered a daring profession for women, were full of glamor.

Her first appearance on the stage was as a member of the chorus in "The Bohemian Girl." For two years Miss McQuade remained with the troupe, touring the principal cities of the East during the '60's.

One of the members of the troupe was William H. Crane, who later won fame for his characterization of the title role in "Davy Harum." Later Miss McQuade tried her hand at "straight drama." Memorable to this day was the scene in "The Wandering Jew" in which she was required to jump from a burning building.

"I guess I got a little nervous when it came time to jump," she said, "for I nearly jumped into the audience."

A reminiscent smile crinkled her eyes as she looked back down the years: "It was all very wonderful, and all too short."

An Art . . .

Skating Develops Balance and Grace; Costumes are Graceful

By DONNA GACE

The zigzagging temperature may have us wondering these days, but it is comforting to know there is nothing wrong with the sports calendar. It goes merrily along, and again 'tis skating season.

For the past few years this particular form of exercise has been arousing unusual interest, and the young debbies are taking to it with enthusiasm. They are keen for all out-of-door sports and this is something that calls for skill as well as the hazards it offers, so, that's all the modern girl wants of any sport. Besides, the costumes are so flattering with the short skirts rippling around youthful knees, the silken clad legs, funny little hats, glistening silver skates, rosy cheeks and sparkling eyes.

Just skating without any of the fancy tricks, is fun, but when you begin to glide along without the fear of falling you will want to learn figure skating. Even a few falls are not so bad if you learn how to do them. It's an art, so we are told, and by no less an authority than the former amateur figure skating champion of the United States—Frederick Lewis.

Mr. Lewis, in his recent book on figure skating, says when a fall is inevitable, you just relax and your hands and arms will be the shock absorbers and the fall will be something to laugh off. He advises the hockey player and speed skater to practice figure skating, as it will give a definite advantage in muscle development and the crossing of feet in turns. It also develops good balance, grace and quick thinking.

Of course, there are thousands of skaters who keep at it the year around on some of the indoor rinks and they are the ones who appear "out-of-the-nowhere, into-the-here," like the angels who know no fear.

You should begin to brush up on your spread eagles, serpentines, and figure eights, and there are some good exercises you can do at home that will be a great help.

The arabesque is one: Stand erect, lift right knee, then extend foot even with the waist, toe pointed. Move the leg in this position out to the side and around to point toward the back. Alternate and do a lot of them, then practice with arms outstretched.

The squats and knee bends, Russian style, are necessary for strength and balance. Be sure you have the right equipment and shoes that are not too large.

Irving's application for letters of administration, with the will annexed, was granted by His Honor Judge W. A. Nisbet in supreme court chambers subject to posting of a bond for $500.

Esling Tells Robson About Public Affairs

ROBSON, B. C.—W. K. Esling, M. P., gave an address in Robson hall Friday night. The speaker was introduced by O. B. Ballard, who spoke of Mr. Esling's fine work and the high regard held for him by the people of the district.

In opening, Mr. Esling paid tribute to the late J. H. Schofield, saying he was a real gentleman.

The speaker stressed the important part the youth of today will play in the next election, stating that 800,000 will be casting their ballots for the first time. Adults, he said, must educate the young people to realize the power they will have, and should strive to see they learn the fundamentals of good government.

He spoke of R. B. Bennett's great service to Canada and his generosity. He doubted if the people would ever realize fully his value to the country. Dr. R. J. Manion, he felt, was well trained for the leadership of the Conservative party.

Mr. Esling explained the new Elections act and how the voters' list will be compiled.

The trade treaties of 1938 are to cement the three great countries more closely together, he said, and he stated that Mr. Bennett had rendered a great service to Canada in getting the Ottawa agreements, which were the beginning of these treaties, that have proved such a benefit to Canada. The voters were told of the effect the recent agreements with the United States would have on the lumber and apple business.

It was explained how a private members bill, such as the lottery and divorce bills, were so easily defeated, also about the radio situation.

He told with justifiable pride, of the passing of the amendment to the Copyright act after three efforts, and explained its purpose.

Mr. Esling spoke of the curious view of the government in the matter of the wharves. He said he had resisted it vigorously but with no success. The government's belief that enough revenue can be received for the upkeep of the wharves is just amusing to the Kootenay people, he said.

Hospital Costs Up, Grants Down Says Miss Eidt

The association had indorsed state health insurance; asked the government to revise its 300-day limit on indigent patients; offered to cooperate with the provincial secretary's department in revision of the Hospital act; asked for increased aid for hospitals; and recommended the institution of an eight-hour day for nurses where and when possible.

CRANBROOK COUNCIL MAY TAKE OVER GYRO CLUB SWIMMING POOL

CRANBROOK, B. C. — At the regular meeting of the Cranbrook city council Mayor T. M. Roberts reported that at a meeting of the works committee, a delegation from the Cranbrook Gyro club asked for an expression of the members of the council as to a proposal from the Gyro club to turn the swimming pool over to the council, the official presentation to be made about the time of opening the pool next year.

The delegation had stated that the Gyro members felt they would like to adopt some further objective and that this could best be done after they had been released from further responsibility in connection with their pool. They expressed the opinion that the Gyro club, before turning over the pool, would like to place a memorial of some kind at the pool to commemorate the work accomplished by the club.

The mayor advised the delegation that on receipt of a definite proposal as to a memorial he had no doubt the council would be glad to cooperate.

Accounts amounting to $14,000.56 were approved for payment.

MEMBER OF THE CANADIAN PRESS AND THE AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 14, 1938.

"SILENT CIRCULATION" VERSUS HONKING

Mussolini lost his temper on the afternoon of December 14, 1934. It was a lucky thing, because he not only silenced the nerve-wracking clamor of motorcar horns in Italian cities, but incidentally discovered a way to reduce motorcar accidents. The incident in Rome may yet have its effect on motorists in America, writes Jerome Beatty in Public Safety, publication of the United States national safety council.

On that momentous day Mussolini was deep in matters of state. Through his open windows poured the inimitable uproar of an Italian street—horns barking resentfully or blaring in full, rich triumph at every crisis. The uproar "got" Il Duce. He rang a bell.

"There shall be," he declared, "no more automobile horns blown in Rome."

Later he explained that he meant only that he would like a little less noise. But the edict was in effect. For the first week, a policeman would stop a tooting driver and explain "the silent circulation of automobiles." Thereafter the law was enforced. Citizens began to enjoy a silence they never had believed possible. Tourists are fined $2.50 per toot, Italians more, depending on the toot's volume. Some offenders lose their licences for a month.

"I was in Rome for two weeks and never heard a single honk," Beatty writes. Impulsive drivers who can't trust themselves have switches on their horns, and when in Rome turn off the current. The improvement is incredible. Moreover, in all Italian cities now, night tooting is forbidden. In most, a tiny honk is permitted in an emergency. Taxis are allowed only bulb horns, which squeak a faint, pleading note.

For three years Italy watched the experiment. To make the cities quiet was fine, but not if accident rates went up. Miraculously, they went down. Today Italy is one of the few countries where accidents are decreasing. From 1935 to 1936 Italy reduced accidents in which people were killed or injured from 39,997 to 34,905. Rome followed the same marked trend in those years—5259 to 4389.

After a thorough investigation, the Royal Automobile club now states officially that "silent circulation" is there to stay, that it has cut the accident rate.

Havana forbids horns between midnight and five in the morning. Bombay prohibits the sounding of horns on stationary vehicles—a singularly wise idea.

Bucharest outlaws horns at all times. The habit is spreading around the world; yet in the United States, New York alone has made a feeble gesture toward it. Commissioner Valentine announced that his men had issued 20,163 summonses and 292,500 warnings for promiscuous noise-making while the anti-noise drive was on in 1937. But the drive didn't "take."

The greatest obstacle is the mistaken belief that the use of the horn is an aid to efficient driving.

Listen to Dr. Miller McClintock, director of the Yale university bureau for street traffic research: "Many of the best drivers I know," he says, "don't use their horns more than a half dozen times a year. If you go blasting your way along the road, you identify yourself as a second-class driver. The essence of good driving is to foresee difficulties far enough ahead so that you prepare for them calmly and evade them smoothly. In passing another moving car you may be justified in blowing, but many times if you feel you have to give a warning signal, you shouldn't pass at all.

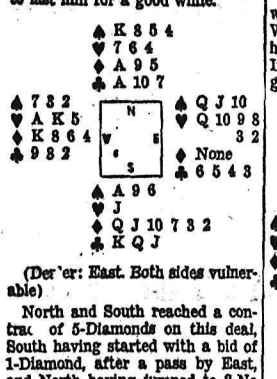
Contract Bridge

Shepard Barclay Tells How to Bid and Play

THE SMOTHER PLAY

ONE OF THE prettiest, yet least understood, maneuvers in the game is that which has become known as the "smother play." It is a device to prevent a trump trick by an opponent who seems offhand to have a secondary honor so thoroughly guarded that he is sure of a trick. Opportunities for the play are rare, but its execution brings enough satisfaction to the real bridge artist to last him for a good while.



(Dealer: East. Both sides vulnerable)

North and South reached a contract of 5-Diamonds on this deal, South having started with a bid of 1-Diamond, after a pass by East, and North having jumped to 2-No Trump. South went to 3-Diamonds, North 4-Diamonds and South 5-Diamonds.

The heart K was cashed by West, who followed with the Heart A. South ruffed with the diamond 2 and played the diamond Q, which held. Next came a diamond to the 9 and when it seemed certain that West was bound to win the diamond K, South discontinued that suit. He next played three rounds of clubs and two of spades, and ruffed a heart. Then a losing spade was offered with the hope that East would have to take it. When he did, he was in the position where he could return only a heart or a club.

His selection was a heart, on which South played the diamond 10. West was in the position where he had to under-ruff or put on his King. In either event declarer makes game.

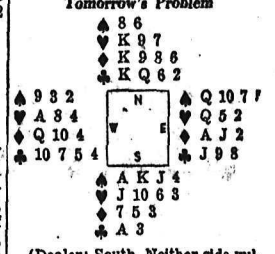
Tomorrow's Problem



(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable)

How should West defend South's 3-No Trump contract, the original lead having been the club 4, if declarer tries to set up hearts?

You Can Make a 'Jumble' Book

Clever Gift Volume of Clippings Includes Puzzles and Paper Doll

By Marie Baumann Warren

Did you ever hear of a Jumble Book? Its purpose is to make somebody happy. In it are pictures, puzzles, paper dolls, or poems, things that you have found in magazines and newspapers, which have amused you and which you would like to pass on. Jumble Books make good presents for friends and brothers and sisters.

Construction paper sheets are fine for making the book, because you can use exactly the number of pages which you can fill with interesting material. To carry out the name of the book, use a different color for every page. The small brass brads that come from the ten cent store are neatest and most efficient for holding the book together.

For the cover, either find a very colorful and jolly picture and print the title of the book beneath it, or cut the letters in "Jumble Book" from squares of various colors. Then paste these letters in hit-or-miss fashion on the outside.

On the flyleaf write, print or have someone typewrite for you this little verse:

This is a Jumble Book for you.
On the pages are things to do,
Things to cut and stories to read,
I hope that you'll have fun indeed!

Sign your name and paste a tiny elephant, clown, dog or other symbol above or below the verse.

SOMETHING TO COLOR

On the next page you might paste a large outlined picture from some magazine or perhaps from your own coloring book. Do not color it. Leave that for your friend to do. On the sheet facing this, a little story about an animal or children to fit in with the picture would be appropriate.

Be sure that this story is one you enjoyed yourself. Paste it down flat on the paper, as it is hard to look at a book which has pages folded over and over. If the story is printed on both sides, of the sheet, cut a hole in the construction page as large as the part on the back of the sheet. Then when the page is turned the reader can read the story easily.

Perhaps on the following page you would like to paste in some funny, merry little poems you have found. If these bring vivid pictures to your mind, they will bring them to the receiver also. On the next page, which you can leave blank, print: "Draw a picture for (title of poem)." Eugene Fields "The Duel" about the gingham dog and the calico cat is a great favorite, and not hard to find.

A jig-saw puzzle is easily made. If the picture is not on stiff paper, paste it firmly on construction paper first. Then cut it into pieces not too small. Be sure that each puzzle is not too difficult to put together. Try it yourself first. Then put the parts into an envelope and paste the envelope, with the flap up, firmly to one page of the book. Under it print "puzzle your head over this a while."

DOLLS TO CUT OUT

Another page may have an envelope containing paper dolls which have been taken from a funny paper or magazine, still uncut around the outlines.

Still another idea is to print or write a poem, leaving spaces for tiny pictures which you can cut from a magazine or draw yourself. Here is a sample with the words in parentheses to be pictured:

Her mouth was like a (rose) bud
He bent upon his (knee)
As he spoke, his (heart) began to thud—
"Oh, will you marry me?"
Her laugh was like a silver (bell),
She gazed up at the (stars)
And then she said, "I will if— (well)
If we can have two (cars)."

Between the pages on which there is something to do, you can, of course, have several sheets of pictures if you wish. These should, by all means, be really beautiful or amusing colored sketches. On the last page another little verse like the following will make a good ending:

I hope you liked the Jumble Book
And thought that it was fun,
Someone else might like to look
So why don't you make one?

Haste Brings Defeat to Team When You Stage a Bean Relay

To play "Bean Relay", the players are divided into two groups of equal number. They sit facing each other and each person holds a spoon in his mouth with the bowl extended, the handle between his teeth.

An equal number of beans is placed in the spoon of the person at the head of each line. The first player empties the beans into the spoon of the next player without touching his spoon with his hands. The next player does the same, until the beans are in the last player's spoon.

While as much speed as possible is urged upon the struggling players, they soon find that the one who is hasty is the one who "spills the beans" and loses the game for his side. The object of the relay is to see which side can pass the beans down the line and lose the fewest. The side which can count the most beans at the end is the winner.

Baffling Example of Dinner Table Magic Makes Knife Vanish

BY THOMAS, THE MAGICIAN

If you like to do tricks at the dinner table, our effect this week will be just your type. I've used it several times recently, and found it a real sensation.

EFFECT: The magician picks up one of the table knives and carefully wraps it in his napkin. All of a sudden he crushes the napkin in his hands and the knife has completely vanished!

EXPLANATION: When you roll the knife in the napkin, have the handle pointing toward you.

Be sure to roll the napkin loosely around the knife and when it is all rolled up, tilt the handle end toward the floor and let it fall out in your lap. (Be sure to keep your legs close together, so the knife won't roll on down to the floor).

NAPKIN HOLDS ITS SHAPE

The napkin will still hold its shape, and if you have carefully let the knife slip down into your lap, no one will know but what it is still inside the folded napkin.

Explain that you can make the knife vanish by merely pronouncing the magic words, "Ali-Baba!"

Hold the rolled napkin up, shout "Ali-Baba," and crush the bundle.

The knife will seemingly vanish in mid-air and your audience will be immensely mystified.

It should then be a simple matter to get rid of the knife in your lap by merely slipping it in your pocket, unnoticed, until after dinner.

BUT don't forget to return it to the table later on, as I did the other night, being forced to return it to the host or hostess at a later date. It's quite embarrassing and calls for some rather painful explanations!

POSERS

You probably won't be able to answer everyone of these questions, but be sure to look up those that baffle you. In that way, you'll learn at least one or two new things, and that's what we all want to do, isn't not?

1. What river flows through the Grand Canyon?
2. What is the capital of Alaska?
3. What British writer wrote many poems about British soldiers?
4. Of what is brass made?
5. What states bound Colorado?
6. What are the Antipodes?
7. What European country exports a great many safety matches.
8. What islands are famous for their pineapple production.

"Well, the train in front was behind, and this train was behind before besides."

Chamberlain Tells Correspondents Changes in Forms of Government Inevitable—Nazi Envoy Stays Away

LONDON Dec. 13 (AP)—After reading an advance copy of the speech Prime Minister Chamberlain was to make at tonight's dinner of the foreign press association, the German ambassador, Herbert Von Dirksen, made it known he would not attend.

Other officials of the German embassy also said they would stay away. Germans said certain sentences in the Prime Minister's prepared speech made it "rather difficult" for them to attend.

By J. F. SANDERSON

LONDON, Dec. 13 (CP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain renewed his pledge to a world wide audience tonight "never to leave off trying" to bring peace to troubled Europe.

To the foreign press association, the world's No. 1 peace salesman recounted his successes and difficulties of the past year and suggested there should be general satisfaction at the results attained and hope for future triumphs.

The Prime Minister denied his policy of working in harmony with Germany and Italy meant he favored Nazism or Fascism for Great Britain.

ARMS TO SUPPORT TREATIES

He announced Britain's rearmament policy had progressed to a state where the country could fulfil its obligations to the people at home and in the empire, and to countries to which it was bound by treaties.

Only once did he fall into a critical mood. He deplored "the present tone of the German press, which in one case has not scrupled to pour out its vituperation upon the most respected of our statesmen, not himself but the late prime minister of this country (Earl Baldwin) and in few cases shows any sign of a desire to understand our point of view."

"GUTTERSNIPE"

(The German attack—in which one newspaper called the former prime minister a "guttersnipe"—followed a speech Earl Baldwin gave Dec. 8, which opened an appeal for contributions to a refugee fund and in which he said he spoke as "an ordinary Englishman shocked and distressed" at the plight of victims of "an explosion of man's inhumanity to man.")

The prime minister emphasized two lessons drawn from the long pages of history—that "attempts at domination are never long successful and have never added to the happiness of the nations which have attempted it," and that forms of government are ephemeral and changeable.

"History teaches us," he observed, "that no form of government ever remains the same. The change may come by slow degrees or it may come suddenly like an explosion. But change, in one form or another, is inevitable and it would seem to follow, therefore, that we should be careful not to shut ourselves off from contact with any country on account of a system which in the course of time may well undergo such modifications as render it very different from what it is today."

HAD TWO CHOICES

The prime minister said he faced two alternatives when relations between Great Britain and the Rome-Bedlin axis were deteriorating rapidly. One was to make up his mind that war was inevitable and throw the whole energies of the nation into preparation for it. The other was the one he adopted—"to make a prolonged and determined effort to eradicate the possible cause of war and try out methods of personal contact and discussion while at the same time proceeding steadily with such rearmament as was necessary to rest or the power of defence which he had voluntarily abandoned for a period of many years."

Mr. Chamberlain said he never had expected to reach his goal in a twinkling of an eye or without checks and disappointments. There had been reverses, "but I am neither disheartened nor deterred by these passing phases.  as long as I am where I am I will never leave off trying."

He said he was astonished at the pessimism of his critics when reviewing the past year. He pointed to the "milestones to mark our progress as the year has gone by"—the Anglo-Eire agreement, the Anglo-Italian agreement, the Munich agreement, and the Anglo-German "no more war" declaration, which had led to a complementary Franco-German declaration.

ANGLO-U. S. TREATY SYMBOLIC

To these accomplishments, each of which closed a breach between nations, he added the Anglo-American trade treaty, because "while it primarily is a commercial treaty, I regard that agreement as symbolic of the good relations happily existing between the United States and ourselves."

That meant five major international agreements in 12 months, three between democratic and totalitarian states. "Surely that is an achievement which calls for satisfaction rather than pessimism and one which should encourage us to persist in a policy which has given such remarkable results," he declared.

The prime minister appealed to all nations to realize that happiness is attainable only "if we are willing to lay aside suspicion and prejudice and cease looking for points of difference and search instead for points of agreement."

Not many generations ago Great Britain and the United States were at war. But today such conflict is unthinkable. Similarly a conflict with France is almost remote. "In fact our relations with France are so close as to pass beyond mere legal obligations since they are founded on identity of interest."

"If," he asked, "we have succeeded in reducing the field of possible wars thus far is there any reason why we should not carry it further until we can attain such a general sense of security that all of us can lay aside our weapons and devote ourselves to the benefit of the human race.

"For my part, great as may be the obstacles and discouraging as may appear the outlook in certain respects, I believed possible to attain our goal, provided we can keep our purpose firm, our courage undaunted, our faith untarnished."

Rescue Lost Tots Miles From Home

By HAROLD FAIR

LAKESIDE, N. S., Dec. 13 (AP)—A search party that included Royal Canadian Mounted and Halifax city police as well as a score of district residents today rescued three young children, missing since yesterday.

The three, Doris White, 10, Clyde White, 8, children of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence White, and Billy Gilfoy, 7, son of Mrs. Edith Gilfoy, all of this Halifax county district, left home late in the afternoon to set a rabbit snare at the edge of the woods.

When the search party came across them about three miles from their home, the little girl was asleep. All three were slumped down on the ground, tired, wet and cold. They were taken home and then to hospital in Halifax.

"The girl just woke up when I hollered and said 'Uh,' " Bates, of the rescue party said. The two boys were sleeping. Peggy, a little brown and white spaniel, lay across the Gilfoy boy's knee."

Ruth Testifies at Snyder Trial

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 13 (AP)—Torch singer Ruth Etting, who signed herself "Nutsy" in a telegram to pianist Myrl Alderman, faced cross-examination today on her accusation that Martin Snyder shot Alderman at the musician's Hollywood Hills home last Octt. 15.

In the same throaty voice which brought her fame as a blues singer, she charged Snyder, her husband and manager for 17 years, with threatening her life and with wounding Alderman in the abdomen as he sat on a piano bench in the music room of his residence.

She divulged how at the time of her divorce she gave Snyder stocks and securities valued at $75,000, a half-interest in her Beverly Hills home and paid off $50,000 of his gambling debts. Since then, she said, he had tried to obtain more money from her.

She painted a picture of a cursing Snyder forcing Alderman at gunpoint into the home where she and Snyder's daughter, Edith, were preparing dinner, and announcing "he had us all where he wanted us."

"Waiving a pistol," Miss Etting testified, "he forced us into the music room and told us this was the end of all three of us."

"Then," she declared, "Myrl opened his mouth and Snyder shot—twice—and then the light went out. Mr. Alderman fell off the piano bench on his face. I screamed.

"Then Mr. Snyder said: 'I've had my revenge. Now you can call the police.' "

Would Vote for Manion, Rather Than King, Says Hepburn in Attack on "Inaction", "Neglect"

TORONTO, Dec. 13 (CP).—The Toronto Daily Star in a newspage story today quoted Premier Hepburn as saying Dominion government authorities tried to make peace with him in the present dispute between the premier's supporters and those of Prime Minister MacKenzie King by sending Hon. J. G Gardiner, minister of agriculture, to offer "certain concessions."

In an interview obtained by Mr. Hepburn's farm home near St. Thomas, the Star quoted the premier as saying:

"I was told I could have some say in Ontario appointments, that I could name one cabinet minister, not two, as has been rumored, and that I could pass on Ontario senators. I rejected the whole proposal flatly, saying I would have nothing to do with federal patronage if Mr. King stayed."

Hostility between the two Liberal leaders broke wide open last weekend when two federal cabinet ministers charged at Port Arthur Mr. Hepburn, in an "unnatural political alliance" with Premier Duplessis of Quebec, sought to remove Mr. King. Mr. Hepburn declared he would fight the prime minister in the next election.

The Star quoted Premier Hepburn as adding in the interview:

"Mr. Gardiner went back to Ottawa, saw Mr. King and returned to Toronto for a second conference. He said that the answer was that Mr. King had decided to lead the party in another general election."

DID NOT APPROACH GARDINER

"I did not approach Mr. Gardiner. He approached me. I told him plainly I was prepared to support any new progressive leader with a constructive platform who might be chosen by the Liberal party in Canada. But I said 'if I have to reconcile myself to another five years of the same kind of government we have had since Mr. King's return to power, I cannot and will not support Mr. King.'

"I informed Mr. Gardiner that I would seriously consider withdrawing from public life rather than disrupt the Liberal party under such circumstances; but that I could not stretch my conscience to support King. No mention was made of Mr. Duplessis or any conspiracy. I have not talked politics with Mr. Duplessis for many months. Certainly there has never been any thought of any conspiracy."

Mr. Hepburn, questioned concerning rumors Mr. Gardiner had been proposed to succeed Mr. King as prime minister replied:

THEN THE BATTLE OPENS

"Mr. Gardiner came as a peacemaker. His efforts were entirely conciliatory. There was no mention of Mr. Gardiner's succeeding Mr. King. No one would expect Mr. Gardiner, as a member of the King cabinet, to be disloyal enough to discuss himself as a successor with anyone while still under Mr. King's leadership."

The premier said he told the agricultural minister he was prepared to support the nominee of the Liberal party "when he came before the people with a progressive policy." The two men then parted. Mr. Hepburn said the next thing he heard was the Saturday night attack upon him in Port Arthur by Transport Minister Howe and Labor Minister Norman Rogers.

The Star then quoted the premier:

"I had nothing to do with Mr. Howe's nomination meeting; I did not know it was being held. But since he has asked for it I will see to it that the influence I have will be directed against him — though I spoke at his nomination meeting in 1935.

"My last word to Mr. Gardiner, for whom I have a great regard, was that I would quit rather than break up the Liberal party— because that is the obvious fate, after such an attack. King will lose for the Liberals, whether I am with him or against him, but in these circumstances his defeat will be the more complete.

"What is all this nonsense, issuing statements that members of Mr. King's cabinet are supporting him? Isn't that to be expected? If a man announces he is against his leader he couples that with his resignation. I could say the same thing about my cabinet ministers. Hon. Harry Nixon (provincial secretary) just called me to tell me all the boys are with me and not to budge.

KING INACTION TOO MUCH

"Rather than submit to another five years of such apathetic rule, and callous indifference to the needs of the people of Ontario, I would support another party, but I would not lead a third party. If Mr. King leads I will vote as an independent and support some other with a policy to suit me. King inaction is too much for me. He is living in another generation."

Premier Hepburn said he believed a federal general election will be held shortly after next summer's visit of King and Queen to Canada so that "Mr. King can capitalize on the visit of Their Majesties."

AT LEAST MANION IS HUMAN

Asked whether, as a voter, he had to choose between Mr. King and Dr. R. J. Manion, National Conservative leader, the premier aid he would "vote for Bob Manion—at least he's human."

Premier Hepburn's "major complaints" against the prime minister were that he is "not cognizant of the unemployment situation or of the extent of unrest in the country;" he has ignored his election promises; he refused to assist Ontario when the Congress of Industrial Organizations was an issue in provincial politics in 1937; refusal to assist Ontario at the time of its power settlements with Quebec power companies and refusal to aid in the export of power to the United States.

Mr. Hepburn added:

"In a nutshell, Mr. King's whole attitude has been one of hostility to Ontario since he enunciated his 'not-a-five-cent-piece' policy in 1930. I am convinced that Mr. King literally hates Ontario for the personal defeats he has suffered in his native Waterloo and North York, which compelled him to go to the north part of Saskatchewan for a seat in order to enter parliament. He has never forgiven Ontario for that."

Kootenay Lake General hospital has written to Lord Nuffield, philanthropist of Great Britain, asking that it be considered should published reports be correct that he plans to give "iron lungs" to hospitals. H. M. Whimster, president, told the directors of the hospital at their meeting Monday night that the application had been forwarded.

Japanese Ambassador Guarantees "Open Door" Policy in China

SEATTLE, Dec. 13 (AP)—Seattle businessmen had the assurance from Kensuke Horinouchi, Japan's new ambassador to the United States, that his country intends to pursue the "open door" policy in China.

The ambassador recieved a varied reception during his visit yesterday upon disembarking from the liner Heian Maru. He was guest of honor at a chamber of commerce luncheon, his hotel was picketed by members of the Workers Alliance and he was waited on by a delegation from the Washington Commonwealth Federation protesting the Sino-Jap war.

He said in his banquet address his nation's objective in China is an era of "economic cooperation" in which all export nations will share.

In voicing assurance the "open door" policy would be continued he said development of China will require vast investment of foreign capital.

French Saw Themselves Without Military Aid if Backed Czechs

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

PARIS, Dec. 13 (AP).—This is the French side of the story of the hotly debated French position in the events which had their denouement in the four-power conference of Munich.

It gives a new complexion to France's failure to go to the aid of Czechoslovakia in the face of Nazi threat to resort to force.

I was present at the Munich conference and those of Berchtesgaden and Godesberg as well. The explanation of the democracies—that they were impelled to maintain peace—lacked something which observers couldn't quite put their fingers on. It was unsatisfactory in that it didn't seem the whole truth.

Here is the French viewpoint:

The French at the outset were prepared to fight over the Czechoslovak issue, not only because the two countries were allies but because Paris felt it was time the democracies made a stand. That is, France was ready to fight if she got the support of her friends. So she started inquiries, with this result:

The only military assistance Great Britain would be able to give for a long time, according to my sources, would be about two division of troops—say 30,000 men—and maybe some fighting airplanes. This was apart from naval aid, of course.

Russia couldn't do more than send war planes to Czechoslovakia by Polish and Rumanian territory.

Rumania could offer no military aid. In other words, the Little Entente—Czechoslovakia, Rumania and Yugoslavia—which France has fostered as a bulwark against possible German aggression, blew up in her hands.

But there still was Poland with one of Europe's crack armies. However, Poland not only declined to oppose Germany but the French got the distinct impression their former close friend might even give support to the reich in the event of hostilities. That was a shock.

The United States is said to have been sounded out. I understand the answer was that the United States would be unable to furnish any military asistance and couldn't even promise to provide supplies.

WHEAT MEET

"It is unbelievable that any government would not continue at least the same support as is being given this year."

Mr. Bredt agreed the west would certainly need help next year, with one of the biggest world carryovers on record facing the industry. There was no early prospect of improvement.

For many years western farmers had "subsidized" society by selling wheat at less than cost, as had been the case several years since 1930, Mr. Bredt said. When the reverse was the case, the farmers were only getting back a little of what they had given.

The conference heard, in a series of papers, of the direct and indirect aid given wheat growers in other countries, of direct subsidies and exchange control to help farmers in Australia and Argentine, of direct subsidies and bonuses in the United States.

HIGH PRICES IN EUROPE

It heard of the high prices wheat producers in Germany, Italy and France were getting under government programs which restricted imports, of the guaranteed price to British producers. In Germany and Italy farmers were receiving $2 or more a bushel, while in France the price was $1.50 at present exchange.

While no hope was held out by experts that markets in those countries which formerly imported large quantities of world wheat could be reopened in the near future, on the bright side of the ledger it was submitted there was an actual need for more and better foods in many European countries, which would undoubtedly have an effect in renewed demand in time.

It was also suggested by Mr. Brockington that in a declining market Canada would likely furnish a greater than usual proportion of whatever exports were sold in the world markets because of the quality of Canadian wheat.

"In other words, is the picture brighter for us than for the United States?" he asked L. A. Wheeler, chief of the foreign agricultural service of the United States department of agriculture.

"Yes, I think Canada will ship more because of the type of wheat raised than would otherwise be the case," said Dr. Whetler. "But you won't be able to ship as much as you wish."

JEWISH PLAN

The foreign loans, according to the still incomplete "Schacht Plan," would be granted to groups of four or five Jews with one wealthy Jew to each group. If a loan were granted, it was said, the wealthy group leader could obtain permission from the economics ministry to take with him, say, machinery equivalent to the amount of the loan.

EQUAL TO FORTUNE

The loan, in the first place, would have been for an amount equal to the Jew's fortune after he had met the capital flight tax, the 20 per cent punitive fine for the murder of a German diplomat in Paris and the approximately 15 per cent levy for the relief of poor Jews.

A Jew with a gross fortune of 100,000 marks—nominally $40,000—after paying all obligations to the state would have a net fortune of 40,000 marks—$16,000. To take his capital out of Germany he would have to convert it into an equivalent in foreign exchange of about 32,000 marks—$1280.

But under the export plan some foreign benefactor would advance the full par equivalent of the 40,000 marks on condition a certain share of it go to three or four impecunious Jews who would make up the emigrating group.

The economics ministry then would agree to refund the full 40,000 marks in machinery or other German products to be taken out of the country by the departing group or to be credited to that group.

It was emphasized such "generosity" depended on how the plan would be accepted by other nations.

It was said to have been based on a realization of a more conservative section of the Nazi party that Germany could not merely dump penniless Jews on other countries but must make "a real contribution."

MAJOR BALL LEAGUES READY TO AGREE ON UNIFORM BALL FOR '39

By SID FEDER

NEW YORK, Dec. 13 (AP) — A uniform baseball for both major leagues, or something close to it, appeared in the cards for the 1939 season tonight after the National and American loops wound up opening sessions of their three-day annual meeting.

Trade talk continued to run all over the place, but only one actual swap was made. First-Sacker Buddy Hassett of Brooklyn, along with Jim Outlaw, an outfielder with Syracuse last year, went to Boston Bees in exchange for Gene Moore, outfielder, and Pitcher Ira Hutchinson.

Dodgers obtained Outlaw for the transaction from St. Louis Cardinals, by sending a bundle of cash and Pitcher Lew Krausse, up from Elmira, to the gas-house gang.

Connie Mack, venerable leader of Philadelphia Athletics, was appointed to manage the American league's all-star team for the inter-league game in 1939, which celebrates baseball's centennial.

The National league approved an increase of from 23 to 25 in the player limit for each club, but the American league voted to hold to the present 23 standard, with each club permitted a "disability list" of two players. This list would make it possible for disabled players to be retained on the roster instead of placing them on the voluntary retired list.

The National league, at its meeting, voted retention of its so-called "dead ball." The American league, willing to compromise on the matter, didn't arrive at a vote, but its discussion seemed to favor adoption of a uniform ball. The junior circuit appeared ready to grant permission to raise the seam on its horsehide, chief difference between the two balls now, and will continue talking it over tomorrow.

Will Harridge was reelected president of the American league for a 10-year term, with the jobs of secretary and treasurer tossed in. Harridge wouldn't discuss with writers a question concerning an increase in salary, but said "the pay is highly satisfactory."

Manager Con Smythe Takes Over Coach Irvin's Job

TORONTO, Dec. 13 (CP)—Manager Conny Smythe of the Toronto Maple Leafs blew the dust off his skates today and directed the practice of his National Hockey league champions. Goaler Turk Broda fanned on several of canny Conny's drives with other players accusing the Turk of being a diplomat.

Smythe took the place of Coach Dick Irvin in the short session. Irvin has been looking over the Syracuse Stars, Leaf farm team, since Sunday and will return tomorrow with Jack Church, defenceman, and an unnamed forward to bolster the club in a game at Chicago Thursday.

Sports Equipment a Major Industry

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP)—The United States census bureau offered proof today of the rise of sports as a major industry.

Figures compiled from the recent biennial census of manufacturers show manufacturers of athletic goods in the United States exclusive of clothing or guns and ammunition turned out $44,460,525 worth of equipment in 1937—a gain of 27.5 per cent over $34,863,730 reported in 1935.

Wage earners in the industry increased from 9665 to 11,393, and wages went up from $9,018,063 to $11,730,185.

Most money is spent for golf, $13,760,337. Balls cost $4,000,000.

ROOKIES' SHUTOUT RECORD FALLS WHEN BRUINS WHIP CANADIENS 3-2

BOSTON, Dec. 13 (CP)—Rookie Frank Brimsek goaled Boston Bruins to a 3-2 win over Montreal Canadiens tonight, but the victory saw the little netminder's spectacular shutout streak ended after 231 minutes and 54 seconds of scoreless National League hockey.

The young goalie, shooting for his fourth straight shutout in just his fifth game as an N. H. L. regular, had his goalless run shattered when the Habitants' Herbie Cain drilled a close-up shot past him with less than a minute of the second period remaining. He was then a little more than seven minutes ahead of the best mark of his predecessor, Tiny Thompson, 224 minutes and 47 seconds.

Patty Berg Is U.S. No. 1 Woman Athlete

By HERBERT W. BARKER

NEW YORK, Dec. 13 (AP) — Freckle-faced Patty Berg is the overwhelming choice of United States sports experts as the No. 1 woman athlete of 1938.

Forty-five of 67 sports critics who participatetd in the eighth annual Associated Press poll selected Miss Berg as their first choice on the basis of a sensational golf campaign that led the young Minneapolis girl to the United States championship.

It wasn't a race at any stage. With the addition of second and third place ballots, Miss Berg rolled up 164 points to leave her closest competitors, Helen Wills Moody and Katherine Rawls Thompson, far behind.

Mrs. Moody, whose dramatic tennis comeback was climaxed by victory over Helen Jacobs in the all-England finals at Wimbledon, finished in a tie with Mrs. Thompson, unquestionably the country's greatest all-around swimmer.

The order of finish: Patty Berg, golf; Helen Wills Moody, tennis; Katherine Rawls Thompson, swimming; Allice Marble, tennis; Helen Jacobs, tennis; Sonja Henie, skating; Mrs. Lela Hall, trapshooting; Stella Walsh, track; Mildred Babe Didrikson, all-around.

DISCUSS SEWAGE AND WATER PLANTS FOR CRESTON VILLAGE

CRESTON, B. C.—About two dozen property owners were out Friday night for the ratepayers' meeting called by the village council, to hear the report of 1938 municipal operations, prior to nomination day December 12. James Cook was elected chairman. Reeve Mallandaine and councillors W. J. Craig and George Nichols were present.

The reeve presented the balance sheet to the end of October which showed a cash balance of $632. Current and arrears of taxes had been uniformly well paid but trade licenses had not been liquidated on a standard with other years.

The big expenditure has been on Park Road bridge which has been rebuilt at a cost of almost $1500, $532 had been spent on road maintenance, $573 on gravelling, $378 on sidewalks and $765 on salaries. The cemetery had been taken over by the village and was being well maintained out of funds turned over by the cemetery company.

Counc. Nichols spoke of the harmony that had prevailed in council deliberation and reviewed the year's operations for the roads and streets committee. Among other things the village truck had hauled 470 loads of gravel, 89 of earth and 40 of garbage. Payments had been made for land to take Vancouver street through to the hospital, and to widen Park road at the bridge. Mr. Nichols expressed his approval of installing a sewer system, but was in favor of buying the waterworks prior to installing sewage.

Councillor Craig confined his talk largely to the waterworks purchase and sewer installation. His stand had always been that the village could not finance oth the sewers and the waterworks and he was all in favor of sewage. With the new $85,000 high school to be financed it was out of the question for the village to also take on a $40,000 waterworks purchase and a $20,000 sewer system.

Mr. Craig read correspondence council had had with the authorities at Victoria and amongst other things had been advised there was little hope of Creston getting in on the two per cent money Ottawa was supplying municipalities. The validity of this information was later questioned by Charles Murrell, who advised the Ratepayers' Association had letters from Hon. H. H. Stevens and W. K. Esling, federal members for East and West Kootenay, both of whom were quite confident such money could be had.

The reeve produced the sewer by-law, to borrow $20,000 and outlined the yearly payments that would be entailed if the project was proceded with, showing that on a 20 year loan the sewer would eventually cost $28,000.

Several present took a hand in the sewer discussion, most of which had to do with the style of system. Would it be cellar depth or would it be the kind that would require a pump, with one ratepayer wanting to know who would buy the pumps.

It was disclosed that there are 360 water connections in the village and that about 150 sewer connections might be looked for at the commencement. Financing was viewed both from a frontage tax and monthly rental. It was asserted that connection with the sewer was matter largely in the hands of the medical health officer.

The reeve announced that the Village act had been amended so that the poor and indigent were not a charge on a municipality collecting less than $7500 of taxes. Previously the amount was $5000, which would render Creston liable under the new assessment.

Reeve Mallandaine announced he was standing for reelection.

Canada Stronger Economically as Production More Mixed—Logan

TORONTO, Dec. 13 (CP)—A remarkable transformation of Canadian economy has given the Dominion greater strength than ever before to withstand depressing influences and has added materially to its recuperative powers, President S. H. Logan said today at the annual meeting here of the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

"Within the last decade Canada has shifted from a predominantly agricultural economy to one based on a combination of agriculture, mining and manufacturing," he said adding, however, that agriculture still supported directly the country's largest single occupational group.

"While we should by no means regard agriculture as at all eclipsed in importance, we have to recognize the fact that new types of economic enterprise have come into being in recent years and that Canadian economy as a whole has shifted to a more highly industrialized plane."

Resistance shown by Canada to serious external disturbances and her ability to regain some of the ground lost during the past year were attributed by Mr. Logan to the change in the country's national economy. The large-scale reorganization of business, opening new sources of income and avenues of employment for Canadians in peaceful pursuits, had taken place when the world was subjected to rigid economic regulations.

Stores Expect Christmas Rush

(By The Canadian Press)

The signs pointed today to an exceptionally hectic Dominion-wide spurt of last-minute Christmas shopping this year. For the weather across the country has been so unseasonably mild this yuletide Canadians can't realize Santa Claus soon will be on the way.

Reports from most parts of Canada indicate Christmas buying hasn't yet reached its peak though most merchants say it's even "better than expected" considering the weather. They anticipate a brisk pick-up any day now as there are only 10 shopping days remaining.

The lag in retail sales of Christmas merchandise has been particularly noticeable in eastern Canada which this year experienced an open autumn and—so far—one of the mildest winters in years in the west, which produced a 324,000,000 bushel wheat crop this year, 165,000,000 bushels more than in 1937, sales in most centres have been almost up to last year's levels.

British Columbia merchants, reporting a slow start in holiday buying, look for a mid-month pick-up. Vancouver stores expect a business increase when loggers who have earned estimated $4,000,000 last few months, arrive in city for holidays.

Oils Lead Flurry Uncertain Session

TORONTO, Dec. 13 (CP).—Succeeding periods of weakness and strength kept the Toronto market in a state of uncertainty throughout today's exchange session. Heavy trading appeared in some western oils and a few penny mining stocks. Volume was comparatively heavy at about 750,000 shares.

Oils took the lead in an upward flurry in the second hour after the whole board had displayed listlessness in the opening stage. Home Oil pushed along to 2.14 but late profit-taking tilted the price back to around the 2.03 mark for a net loss of two.

Active trading at substantial gains developed in Bobjo, Madsen, Goldale, Jellicoe and Malartic Goldfields. Senior golds, McIntyre, Hollinger and Buffalo-Ankerite improved narrowly.

Of the interlisted leaders, Ford A, Distillers-Seagrams and British American Oil were holding gains at the close.

International Pete. Earnings Increase

TORONTO, Dec. 13 (CP) — Net earnings of $28,771,150 of $1.99 a share are reported by International Petroleum Co., Ltd., for the year ended June 30 last, compared with $26,316,088 or $1.81 a share in the previous year. Profit from operations totalled $34,750,971.

Gloomy Picture of Wheat Surplus

By CARL REINKE

WINNIPEG, Dec. 13 (CP) — If present wheat acreage is maintained by the exporting countries, those countries should reconcile themselves to producing at least 250,000,000 bushels more than there is prospect of the importing countries taking, L. A. Wheeler, chief of the foreign agricultural service of the United States department of agriculture, said today before the prairie markets conference.

If acreage were maintained anywhere near the 1939 level, the only thing that could prevent a great excess production would be the kind of droughts over extensive areas that occurred in North America from 1933 to 1937, he said.

Painting an admittedly gloomy picture of the future in a detailed analysis of the individual possible markets, Mr. Wheeler concluded that the exporting countries could not count on a return to the level of the 1920's in the European or world import requirements for wheat.

Buying in Rails Keeps Rally Going

NEW YORK, Dec. 13 (AP).—Most rail and other corporate bonds attracted enough buying today to keep a leisurely rally going. Corporate obligations showed gains ranging to around 2 points.

Among the gainers were Allegheny 5s of '49, "Big Four" General 4s of '93, Laclede Gas 5s, Nickel Plate 4½s and Southern Railway 4s.

Hudson's Bay Co. Dividend Announced

WINNIPEG, Dec. 13 (CP) — The board of the Hudson's Bay company, meeting in London today, authorized distribution January 1 of one-half year's preference dividends on the five per cent preference shares it was announced at the local offices tonight.

Market and Mining News

WHEAT SAGS AT CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Dec. 13 (AP).—Adversely affected by more than 2 cents a bushel downward slide of Liverpool quotations, wheat values here sagged fractionally today, with trade volume thin.

Generally good crop prospects in Europe were reported, and there was hedging pressure at Liverpool following large takings of Canadian wheat yesterday. There were also advices of heavy wet snowfalls in the Texas panhandle auspicies for wheat.

Wheat futures closed ⅛—½ cent lower compared with yesterday's finish, Dec. 63⅞—¾, May 66½—⅝, corn ⅜—⅞ down, Dec. 49⅝, May 52—51⅞, and oats ⅛ off to ⅜ up.

Sell for Taxes, Profit-Taking

NEW YORK, Dec. 13 (AP)—Stocks ran the gauntlet of further tax selling and profit taking in today's market and leading issues posted gains of fractions to 2 points at the best.

Prices enjoyed a bulge in the forenoon when the trading pace was moderately lively. A few aircrafts and others touched new high territory for the year. Transfers approximated 1,000,000 shares.

Besides the aviation section, motors, steel and specialties, along with selected rails and rubbers, attracted buying interest.

Peaks for 1938 were established by Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft and Sperry. In the rising van also were U. S. Steel, Youngstown, Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Rubber, Goodyear, Johns-Manville, Philip Morris, Bendix, Greyhound, Boeing, Canada Dry, Great Northern, Illinois Central and Southern Railway common and preferred.

Utilities held to a rather narrow trail, as did coppers, mail orders and oils.

Argentine Wheat Acreage Gain 8.6

OTTAWA, Dec. 13 (CP) — Dominion bureau of statistics today published a report from its crop correspondent in the Argentine which said the third, and presumably final estimate of the ministry of agriculture of areas planted with wheat is 20,859,000 acres, an increase of 8.6 per cent over last year.

The crop now is being harvested and private estimates of the probable yield of wheat averaged between 275,578,000 and 293,950,000 bushels. "Admittedly these are more or less guesses, as much may happen before the harvest is completed," the report said.

OILS LOSE

CALGARY, Dec. 13 (CP).—Profit-taking weakened stocks on Calgary stock exchange today.

Okalta dipped 5 to 1.30 and fractional losses were posted in Anaconda, Calmont, Highwood, Sunset and Vulcan.

Flour Exports Vital to Farmers

WINNIPEG, Dec. 13 (CP).—Importance of the maintenance of Empire markets, especially the United Kingdom—Canada's biggest customer for wheat and flour—was placed before the prairie markets conference by C. H. G. Short of Montreal here today. Mr. Short is general manager of the Lake of the Woods Milling company.

It is imperatively essential to the success of the Canadian flour milling industry as equally to the wheat producer, that Canada should retain as export flour markets Great Britain, the British West Indies and should be entitled to regard Newfoundland as a natural market, he declared.

Mr. Short said exclusion of Canadian flour from the United Kingdom market or any impediment to its free flow, would rebound to the serious impairment of the Canadian wheat producers' interest in that market.

"For 40 years or more Canadian flour has been the advance guard carrying the banner demonstrating the excellence and qualities of Canadian wheat," he said. "It has earned for Canadian wheat its premium value in relation to other wheats."

In the peak of 1923 Canada exported 4,697,745 barrels of flour to the United Kingdom compared with 2,336,630, in 1937, a decline of more than 40 per cent.

"The decline dates from 1924, a date which rightly or wrongly is set by many as marking the dawn of buyers' hostility or at least resistance to the Canadian wheat marketing policies," he said.

OREGON LUMBER TO BE LABELLED

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 13 (AP). —The Oregon-Washington council of American Federation of Labor lumber unions pledged itself today to a campaign to affix its label on lumber products to protect the industry.

"It is the only thing that will save lumber," said Kenneth Davie, secretary.

"Lumber was traded off by the federal government for the benefit of other American commodities in the recent reciprocal treaty with Canada and the United Kingdom.

"Carpenters and affiliated workmen in the building trades already have agreed to demand the label of our union. Our next move it to prevail on the operators of camps and mills to use the label."

Lebourdais Suggests Service Clubs Father Settlement on the Land

VANCOUVER, Dec. 13 (CP). — Louis LeBourdais, the Cariboo district's principal booster in the British Columbia legislature, outlined today a scheme whereby service clubs would help place selected settlers on farming lands in the interior of the province.

He said he had received assurance from Premier Pattullo that worthy settlers would be given free homesteads under the "LeBourdais plan," and from Labor Minister George Pearson that "probably" it would be possible to aid such settlers with money from relief funds while they were "arriving at a stage of self-sustenancy."

Mr. LeBourdais said Cariboo residents were "behind" the plan of Sir Henry Page Croft, British parliamentarian, to bring British settlers to the province, under a selective immigration scheme financed by British capital.

"But we think something should also be done for our own people," the Cariboo member said. "There are now 5000 families on relief in Vancouver and many single unemployed. Among these there must be a large number who are land-conscious—willing to go on the land and with past experience to make that venture a success."

He suggested that service clubs in the province sponsor families of their own selection, guaranteeing sufficient funds to set up such families on interior homesteads, provided free by the provincial government.

"This scheme will only work if settlers are properly selected," Mr. LeBourdais said. A plan started five years ago, whereby the municipalities, province and Dominion worked together to put 50 families on the land, was unsuccessful because many families in the group were poor settlers.

Will Cramp N.Z. Capital Exports

WELLINGTON, Dec. 13 (CP—Reuters).—Finance Minister Walter Nash today explained steps taken by the New Zealand government to conserve exchange were designed to ensure that funds will be available to meet commitments at the end of 1939.

He said the normal accumulation of sterling by sale of exports, plus available sterling, would be more than sufficient to meet requirements of traders and other importers for the next few months.

Over-importation, however, particularly last year, had made some regulation necessary to ensure that it does not extend through next year and that the funds required for the later months of 1939 will be available.

Sterling and other overseas funds for travelling expenses, reasonable remittances to relatives overseas and other remittances not involving importation of goods will be available under permit. The reasonable requirements of travellers will be provided.

Permits for payment of interest and dividends overseas will be available, as will permits for the transfer of capital accounts and legacies of those intending to reside abroad, but special arrangements may be necessary in cases of large amounts.

Capital transfers overseas by resident New Zealanders will not be met, the finance minister said.

This was a decrease of 57,719 tons for November production last year, which totalled 410,048 tons, according to the statement.

Webb Complains City Trespasses With Power Line

Complaint of A. M. Webb that the city's power line on the north shore, moved in conjunction with road improvements, was trespassing on his property at Kokanee lodge, was referred by the city council Tuesday night to the provincial department of public works. Mr. Webb claimed a stand of young timber on a promontory, intended for future development, had been destroyed in clearing right of way.

R. E. Potter, city engineer, stated the right of way had been cleared by government crews and the city had moved the line to that right of way in conformity with wishes of government officials when the road was being changed at that point.

HAPPINESS

FOR MANY A HOME

Christmas comes but once a year but always no matter how good the times may be, to some families it cannot come at all. To such families and with special thought for the happiness of the children the Nelson and District Christmas Cheer fund every year sends something designed to make for a happy Christmas home.

Every dollar sent in will bring many dollars worth of happiness to some family. Let us all do something to help.

Please send contributions to President John Draper, W. E. Wasson, City Clerk; The Royal Bank of Canada or the Daily News.
