Churchill–Roosevelt Message to Stalin

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP).—The text of the State Department announcement of the Churchill-Roosevelt message to Joseph Stalin:

"We have taken the opportunity afforded by the consideration of the report of Mr. Harry Hopkins on his return from Moscow to consult together as to how best our two countries can help your country in the splendid defence that you are making against the Nazi attack. We are at the moment cooperating to provide you with the very maximum of supplies that you most urgently need. Already many shiploads have left our shores and more will leave in the immediate future.

"We must now turn our minds to the consideration of a more long term policy, since there is still a long and hard path to be traversed before there can be won that complete victory without which our efforts and sacrifices would be wasted.

"The war goes on upon many fronts and before it is over there may be further fighting fronts that will be developed. Our resources though immense are limited, and it must become a question as to where and when those resources can best be used to further the greatest extent our common effort. This applies equally to manufactured war supplies and to raw materials.

"The needs and demands of your and our armed services can only be determined in the light of the full knowledge of the many factors which must be taken into consideration in the decisions that we make. In order that all of us may be in a position to arrive at speedy decisions as to the apportionment of our joint resources, we suggest that we prepare for a meeting to be held at Moscow, to which we would send high representatives who could discuss these matters directly with you. If this conference appeals to you, we want you to know that pending the decisions of that conference we shall continue to send supplies and material as rapidly as possible.

"We realize fully how vitally important to the defeat of Hitlerism is the brave and steadfast resistance of the Soviet Union and we feel therefore that we must not in any circumstances fail to act quickly and immediately in this matter of planning the program for the future allocation of our joint resources.

"(Signed) FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT
"(Signed) WINSTON S. CHURCHILL."

NAZI BOMBER RAMMED BY SOVIET AIR HERO

A Red army trooper looking over the wreckage of the German bombing plane which was rammed and brought down while attempting to raid Moscow on the night of Aug. 6, according to the Russian caption. The name of the Soviet hero credited with destruction of the bomber is given as Fighter Pilot Viktor Talalikhin, who gets the title of "Hero of the Soviet Union". The caption does not state if Talalikhin survived his feat. One report said he 'chuted to safety.

War Supplies to Help in Fighting Nazis Are Vital

Conference Would Discuss Allocation of War Materials; Mention of Other Fronts May Be Warning to Japan

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt followed up their historic sea conference tonight with a joint proposal to Premier Joseph Stalin that high British and American representatives meet with him in Moscow to discuss the allocation of war supplies to the Soviet Union.

The message made public here tonight was delivered to Stalin by the British and Unied States Ambassadors in Moscow during the afternoon.

The Prime Minister and President decided on the message to Stalin after a study of the report of Harry Hopkins, the President's Lease-Lend Administrator, on his talks in Moscow with Stalin and other Soviet leaders.

The message said the Prime Minister and the President, after considering the Hopkins report, had consulted together as to "how best our two countries can help your country in the splendid defence that you are making against the Nazi attack."

The message to Stalin constituted the first concrete move disclosed by the President and Prime Minister to put into action quickly the program they formulated at sea to achieve "the final destruction of the Nazi tyranny."

In their statement accompanying the eight-point joint declaration of aims yesterday, the two announced they had examined the problem of the supply of war munitions to "those countries actively engaged in resisting aggression." This, they said, included the supply problems of the Soviet Union.

The message to Stalin clearly showed the urgency with which they consider the question of getting war materials to Russia, now hard pressed to hold back the advancing German armies.

The statement in the message that "further fighting fronts" may develop was considered here to be a reference directly to the tense Far Eastern situation.

It was regarded in some quarters as a warning to Japan that the President and Prime Minister had discussed that possibility and agreed when and how Anglo-American military resistance would be offered to any further Japanese expansion in the Southwest Pacific.

A Japanese attack on the Siberian provinces of Russia also appeared to be envisaged as a possible new front.

Russia has had a military purchasing mission in the United States for several weeks and a British military mission has been in Russia but the message to Stalin indicated that closer coordination and more concrete information on Russian military needs are considered necessary.

The message also appeared to reflect confidence of Mr. Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt in Russia's ability to continue the fight against Germany and a belief that a large-scale diversion of supplies intended for Britain should be made to the Soviet Union.

The United States already has placed Russian orders here on a priority basis, promised unlimited licences for exports of available supplies and "favorable consideration" of Russian requests for American shipping facilities to expedite delivery.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull, meanwhile, indicated confidence that Russia would subscribe to the eight-point set of principles enunciated by the President and Prime Minister as the basis of their hopes "for a better future for the world."

Asked whether Russian endorsement would be welcomed, Hull said he hoped and expected that all peaceful and civilized nations—outside of those bent on a mission of destruction—would give their support to the Anglo-American principles.

Beaverbrook and Hopkins Suggested as Leading Representatives to Go to Proposed Conference With Stalin

Supplies and Post-War Relations Likely to Be Discussed

LONDON, Aug. 16 - (Saturday) (AP). — Lord Beaverbrook, Minister of Supply, and the United States Lend-Lease Administrator, Harry Hopkins, were mentioned by informed commentators today as the leading British-American representatives to meet Joseph Stalin, Premier of the Russians, at a threepower conference to discuss problems of war supply and strategy.

It was taken as a foregone conclusion that Stalin would accept the suggestion of President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill last night that the two English-speaking countries should send high ranking representatives to a meeting at the Russian capital.

Lord Beaverbrook, a key figure in the War Cabinet, now is in Washington where he went directly from the historic sea conference between Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill to speed up deliveries of United States war supplies.

Hopkins, a recent visitor to both London and Moscow, likewise was at the conference and, it was said, would be a logical choice for a return visit to the Kremlin.

With the Red armies reported withdrawing across the Dnieper River in a series of bitter rearguard actions and the German invaders now dominating about half the Ukraine's rich industrial regions, the need for supplies is drastically increased.

Russia's position in the post-war world also is reported likely to be studied, with hope of some agreement in advance on spheres of influence and the future political ideology of Western Europe.

The military position as well as the material situation is expected to be discussed fully at the prospective conference.

The fall of the Western Ukraine and the German threat to the East and to the oil fields of the Caucasus make speed essential if the Russian forces in the field are to be supplied until snows shroud the battlefields.

In any event, while the Germans undoubtedly have overrun important areas in the Ukraine, Soviet sources here said "the real (industrial) development of the Ukraine begins East of the Dnieper River."

They admitted that the great power dam near Dnieperopetrovsk would be taken if the city should fall, but declared there remained sufficient industries East of the river to keep Marshal Semeon Budenny's forces supplied in many important items of war.

Many informed quarters in London also were keeping an eye on the Far East against the possibility of Japan's deciding on an offensive into Siberia rather than expanding farther Southward.

The Churchill-Roosevelt joint declaration of Thursday was believed to have had the effect of switching the Japanese away from the South Pacific.

A drive against Siberia would prevent the Russian Far Eastern army of about 1,000,000 men from helping the Soviet forces in the West and could close off Vladivostok as a receiving point for American aid.

The Moscow conference is expected to review the Siberian situation.

Stimson Warns U.S. of Dangers of Axis Attack

Even Greater Danger Would Be Defeat of Britain

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP).—War Secretary Henry Stimson declared tonight that the United States army was being trained to defend the United States at any point from which an attack might be launched, and he described the present area of greatest danger as being central and South America.

"If, by combining an air attack with a fifth column revolution," he said in an address prepared for broadcasting over the Mutual network, "an Axis power should succeed in making a lodgement upon the coast of South America, we should have a real task indeed, for it would not be difficult for an enemy lodged there to get within easy bombing distance of the Panama Canal."

Already, he said, some of the most significant symptoms which "invariably forecast the coming of an Axis attack" are discernible in South America. He mentioned "unrest and excitement" in various Latin republics "which are being attributed by the governments of those republics to the machinations of foreign secret agents."

With these developments he linked the fact that Germany might take over Dakar, West Africa, from the Vichy Government of France and he said "the distance from Dakar to the easternmost point of Brazil can easily be traversed either by air or sea."

Stimson directed his address specifically ot "soldiers of the army of the United States" and said he was making it because he wanted the men in uniform to understand why it was necessary for the government to hold them in service beyond the year for which most of them were called.

Mentioning Pacific bases, he said those in Alaska and the Aleutian Islands were especially important because "Japanese newspapers are already beginning to tell us the trouble we may expect to have in Alaska if Germany conquers Russia.

All these military preparations, he emhpasized, were solely for defence.

"American soldiers are already standing guard on the east from Iceland to British Guiana and on the West from Alaska to Panama," he said.

His brief reference to Iceland constituted the first announcement that United States soldiers actually had been sent to strengthen the garrison of marines originally dispatched to that island.

But even more dangerous for the United States than an attack on one of its own outposts, Stimson said, would be a defeat of Britain by Germany, which he declared would give the Axis nations sea power superior to that of United States.

The standard of military efficiency which the Nazis have set, he declared, is one "which we must excel."

"We must be ready to meet such a force as this on any of the many and varied terrains which surround our country from which an attack may come."

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (CP)—The Canadian Trade Mission headed by Trade Minister James A. MacKinnon, sailed today from New York for South America where the party will spend more than eight weeks in visiting the largest countries.

Mr. MacKinnon said the mission would discuss with the South American governments interchange of trade.

300 Planes Stage Raid on Germany; Big Fires Are Set

LONDON, Aug. 15 (CP). — The Air Ministry, hitherto chary of revealing the number of planes participating in raids on Germany, announced today that more than 300 Royal Air Force bombers had flown over Germany last night in heavy moonlight attacks on Hanover, Brunswick and Magdeburg.

The Air Ministry News Service followed up this statement with the declaration that Britain's biggest and newest planes — four-motored Halifaxes and Stirlings and twin-motored Manchesters— had rained heavy bombs on Germany.

Especially large fires were started at Hanover, an Air Ministry communique said. Loss of 12 R. A. F. planes was announced.

Besides the attacks on Germany there were raids on the docks at Rotterdam and Boulogne, and during yesterday an Axis supply ship was set afire off the Dutch coast.

It was announced that German planes caused slight damage and a few casualties in bombings of Northeastern and Eastern Scotland. Fourteen German planes were shot down and five British were missing after Thursday's daylight operations.

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C., Aug. 15 (CP)—Police today were attempting to identify the body of a white man found earlier on a boom of logs near Lulu Island. The body was described as that of a man of about 50. It had been in the water some time.

Ferry Pilot's Wife Happiest Woman as Told Husband Lives

MONTREAL, Aug. 15 (CP).—So overjoyed she hardly could speak, Mrs. Joseph Mackey heard late today the news that her husband, a United States bomber ferry pilot, had not been killed in the crash of a Transatlantic plane, as previously reported.

"I'm thrilled; I'm happy — you'll never know how much," said Mrs Mackey "There isn't another person in the world as happy as I am right now. I'll never be able to thank you enough for this telephone call."

Before hanging up to advise relatives of "this wonderful news," Mrs. Mackey said she had "had an idea" that her husband had been planning to return to this continent by Clipper plane.

Mackey's name had been included in a list of 22 persons announced by the Royal Air Force Ferry Command as killed in the crash. A London dispatch late today said it was learned that Mackey was not aboard the plane, which carried however, a Canadian radio officer named G. W. McKay of Toronto.

Missing Plane Is Located; No Sign of Life Around It

CALGARY, Aug. 15 (CP).—Royal Canadian Air Force ground crews tonight were breaking their way through heavy brush in the Rocky Mountain foothills 35 miles Southwest of here in an effort to reach a grounded Avro-Anson training plane and to learn the fate of its three-man crew.

The big plane, which disappeared during a training flight yesterday, was spotted by searching aircraft today, but observers were unable to tell whether the machine was wrecked. They said they could see no sign of life around it.

The missing men are:

Flying Officer I. M. S. Brown of Vancouver.

Leading Aircraftman F. W. Greenfield of Maidstone, Sask.

Leading Aircraftman A. M. R. McGruther of Edmonton.

Flying Officer Brown is the son of Brigadier Sutherland Brown of Vancouver. Names of the next of kin of the other two airmen were not immediately available.

Canadian Production of Motor Vehicles Is Ahead of Last Year

Gasoline to Be Rationed Eastern U.S.

Supplies to the Filling Stations to Be Reduced

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—A sweeping gasoline rationing system for the Eastern United States, meaning a cut of about 20 per cent in the fuel available for automobiles used for pleasure or "non-essential" purposes, was set up today by the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply, effective immediately.

The action, unprecedented in the United States in peacetime, did not involve the issuance of ration cards to individual automobile operators, but slashed by 10 per cent the supplies delivered to service stations.

However, it was estimated the cut would be about 20 per cent as applied to "non-essential" motor cars because it was announced that the supplies for fire department vehicles, ambulances, commercial and agricultural activities and other essential services would not be reduced at all.

States affected by the action would include Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, the District of Columbia and a portion of Florida.

CANADA MAY FOLLOW

TORONTO, Aug. 15 (CP)—Rationing of gasoline supplies to filling stations in the Eastern United States, announced at Washington tonight, will "likely" result in similar action in Canada, G. R. Cottrelle, Federal Oil Controller, said in a brief statement here tonight.

"We will likely do the same thing but to what extent as yet we do not know," the statement said.

"In any event it will be as much or more. As a matter of fact, because of a reduction in sales, deliveries have already been reduced."

Germans Driving on Leningrad From Three Directions; Black Sea Ports Under Heavier Pressure Say Nazis

Reds Claim Defence Forces Holding in Ukraine

MOSCOW, Aug. 16 (Saturday) (AP)With the fourth grand German offensive striking heavily toward Leningrad and the Red Army defences pictured unofficially as holding in the critical Ukraine sector, the Soviets tersely announced today that fierce fighting is continuing on the long front.

The Russian communique reverted to the broadcast of generalities and for the third time this week failed to mention a specific sector.

The German drive on Leningrad was from three directions, from the North on the Karelian Isthmus, from the South around Staraya Russia, and from Estonia on the West.

Of the Ukrainian theatre, where the Germans have made their deepest gains since the invasion began June 22, and where the Russians previously acknowledged withdrawals from Kirovograd and Pervomaisk, the Soviet Command made no mention either in its communiques of Thursday afternon or of today.

But other Russian sources insisted that the loss of the two towns admitted, lying about 100 to 115 miles above the Black Sea port of Nikolaev, implied no disaster.

Actually, they said, these and other retirements were occasioned by a Nazi offensive which has been checked with enormous losses for the invaders and today was relatively inactive.

The Communist Party newspaper Pravda said that the Germans started the war with a total of 70 divisions, including 60 mobile units of which 25 were tank divisions. In the first six weeks of battle, the paper calculated, the Germans lost 15 tank divisions.

The Red Air Fleet was reported in strong offensive action.

(In Helsinki, it was reported that the drive on Leningrad had been launched in earnest, with the towns of Kirvu and Elinsenvaara captured and the Red Army in retreat).

Commander German Paratroops Is Killed

BERLIN, Aug. 15 (AP)—German military reports tonight described increasing German pressure on Odessa and Nikolaev, with greater use of the air force and the closing of "numerous pincers" in the great struggle for the Russian Ukraine.

The Nazi Air Force was portrayed in a daul role, harassing Red army troops with whom the Germans were in contact and ranging far ahead to destroy communications and delay Russian retreat.

The withdrawal which the German Air Force is seeking to anticipate includes the possibility of escape by ships on the Black Sea.

Bombers claimed extensive damage to a Russian destroyer which was assumed to be preparing to convoy transports off Odessa.

Other concentrated air attacks were reported at North Nikolaev on the estuary of the Bug, where the Germans said tons of bombs wrecked rail lines on both sides of six Soviet troop trains, marooning them.

Dienst Aus Deutschland, authoritative Nazi commentary, claimed all the Ukraine West of the broad Dneiper River was one vast zone of encirclement in which large sections of the Southern Red Army appeared effectively trapped.

The German High Command would give no details of the campaign however.

Elsewhere on the broad German-Russian front, Nazi military reports indicated a livening of activity in the Leningrad sector, with the air force again active.

GENERAL KILLED

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP)—A Rome radio broadcast picked up by NBC said tonight that Berlin had announced the death in action of Lieut. Gen. Sultzman identified by the Rome radio as commander of Germany's parachute troops.

Japan Believed Be Preparing to Attack Siberia

SHANGHAI, Aug. 16 (Saturday) (AP)—Japan is getting set as fast as she can to attack Russian Siberia and the blow—if it comes—will be within the next two or three weeks, it was agreed today in high Japanese, German and neutral quarters here.

Foreign military informants said they believe Tokyo's final decision will depend on the course of fighting in European Russia between the Red Army and the Germans.

A German victory, it was held by these sources, would be regarded by Japanese Army leaders as providing an opportunity for Japan to realize her half-century-old ambitions regarding Siberia.

A high Japanese officer said he did not anticipate major Japanese-Russian hostilities "within the immediate future". Asked how long that covered, he replied, "It is somewhat longer than one week."

"As for the more remote future," he added, "I can make no guarantee there won't be any major fighting."

Military experts agree that the weather conditions in Siberia make it essential that Japan strike before the end of September or postpone action until Spring.

Late Flashes

BERLIN, Aug. 16 - (Saturday) - (AP)—Red Air Fleet bombers sent residents of Berlin to shelters last night during an air attack on the capital of the Reich and communities in Northeastern and Eastern Germany.

Plenty of anti-aircraft fire was heard in Berlin during the alarm but there was no sound of bomb explosions in the centre of the city.

MOSCOW, Aug. 16 - (Saturday) (AP).—German planes attempted to raid Moscow during the night but an official announcement said all craft of the small attacking force were dispersed and prevented from reaching the city.

Instalment Payments for 1941 Income Begin Next Month; Many Using Plan

OTTAWA, Aug. 15 (CP) — Everything is in readiness to begin collection next month of initial instalments of 1941 income tax and tonight Revenue Minister Gibson expressed confidence an increasing number of taxpayers would take advantage of the voluntary instalment payment inaugurated this year.

As Finance Minister Ilsley explained in his budget speech last April the tax on 1941 income may be divided into 12 monthly instalments. The first of these should be sent in before Sept. 30 and the last by Aug. 31, 1942.

In this way the taxpayer who finds it inconvenient to meet the entire burden by March 31, 1942, will be able to spread it over the entire 12 months, avoiding the five per cent interest penalty that otherwise would apply on the unpaid balance from April 1 next.

For payments of 1940 income the impost was divided into eight instalments starting at the beginning of this year and terminating at the end of this month.

"I am very pleased at the large number of people who have been paying in instalments," the revenue minister said. "I feel they realize they are not only assisting the government but are helping themselves by following the easy-payment plan."

Departmental officials explained that those who engage in the new instalment plan should estimate their entire 1941 income on the basis of the amount earned so far. At the beginning of next year when the full 1941 income is known they should readjust the final eight instalments to make them fit.

Golden Bears Beat Rossland 21-15 in Best Game of Year

TRAIL, B. C., Aug. 9—In what was easily the most interesting game of the senior lacrosse season yet played in Trail, the Golden Bears defeated the Rossland Redmen 21-15 Friday night.

The play kept up a steady and speedy tempo through all four periods, and though it rose to dangerous heights that at times threatened possible fights, officials Curly Wheatley and Len Wilson kept everything under control.

Nick Turik was handed a major for fighting when he turned on Ken McGuire in the last session, but Curly Wheatley stepped between the two before serious complications arose. Turik was given five and McGuire two minutes. The only other major went to George Russell in the first when his readiness to play to the gallery carried him too far when he smashed his stick on the floor as he walked off a two-minute stretch. Wilson added another three minutes for bad manners.

GIVES FOUR ASSISTS

Louis Moro, Trail goalie, came to the front with four assists.

Two casualties halted the play, the first when Ken McGuire was accidentally knocked in the face by his teammate Orald Neil. McGuire, after being knocked out for a minute, came back to the floor before the game ended. Jim Scott tripped and turned a complete somersault on a sprint in the fourth period past the Trail goal. He hit his head with a bang that could be heard across the rink. He was revived, but did not come back on again.

The Rossland team was reminiscent of old home night with veterans Ken McGuire, Al Simm, Ernie Carkner, Gordon Ezart and Orald Neil on the lineup.

Bears were suffering from a man shortage but this was certainly not evident in their play. Chuck Casey, Al McFadzen and Booney Sammartino were away on holidays and Jim Kendall is recovering from a dislocated shoulder.

At no time did a Trail win look a cinch, both teams matching attacks and defence tactics evenly. The Rossland vets added stamina to the lightning-like moves of the Scotts and Lafaces.

The home team held its lead all through the game, however, and the only time the visitors came within reach was on a 3-all score at the end of the first. Second period ended 7-6, and the Trail lead was lifted to 13-8 in the third.

Four goals by Carl Gallicano, two from Hood, and one apiece from Baker Merlo and Marcus Smith ended the Trail score at 21. Jim Scott registered three, Simm, Carkner and Ezart one each to make Rossland's final count 15.

Axis Conference in Late August Likely

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (CP). — The Moscow radio said tonight that a joint meeting of Germany, Italy, Finland and the German-controlled Balkan countries is to be held in Vienna late in August to discuss "preparations for joint action against the United States by the countries of the three-power pact."

The broadcast heard here by CBS, said the conference will discuss Bulgaria's formal entry into the war and formal adherence of Finland to the Axis.

Government Will Act to Assure Full Output of Nova Scotia Coal; Royal Commission to Probe Arvida Dispute

OTTAWA, Aug. 15 (CP) — Warning was issued today by Labor Minister McLarty to coal miners in the Cape Breton fields of Nova Scotia that unless their slowdown policy is terminated promptly the Government will take action to see that full production is restored.

The minister announced at a press conference that he has sent a wire to Senator William Sneed now at Sydney, N.S., representing the executive of United Mine Workers of America, to this effect.

McLarty declined to state what measures the Government has in mind to enforce its position if the men persist in the slowdown.

In another labor problem, that which resulted in a strike at the Arvida, Que., plant of the Aluminum Company of America, Justice Minister Lapointe announced establishment of a Royal Commission to "investigate all matters concerning the dispute."

TO CARRY ON

GLACE BAY, N.S., Aug. 15 (CP)—D. J. McDonald, chairman of the Miners' Convention that started the Cape Breton coal mining slowdown, said tonight the convention delegates were "determined to carry on because they feel they have legitimate grievances which must be straightened out."

SYDNEY, N.S., Aug. 15 (CP)—Recognition of "our contractual responsibility is now under consideration," William Sneed, representative of the international office of the United Mine Workers of America, told Labor Minister McLarty tonight in a telegram dealing with the Cape Breton coal mining slowdown.

Jackman's Home Is One Threatened in Blaze at Nanaimo

NANAIMO, B.C., Aug. 15 (CP)—A bush fire two and a half miles North of here was believed under control late today after 100 men from the military training camp at Nanaimo had joined a forestry crew in fighting the flames.

The home of Tom Sing, Chinese, was destroyed and the homes of Neil Jamieson, Cy Jackman and J. Salmon, were threatened before the blaze was controlled.

Fanned by high winds the flames swept speedily through grass and sage.

E. W. Cowle, Forest Ranger, said the blaze would remain under control unless wind drove it over the East Wellington Road.

Cy Jackman, mentioned above, formerly resided in Nelson. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Jackman, are here.

VICTORIA, Aug. 16 (CP)—While no election writ has yet been issued, British Columbia appointments in connection with the taking of a widely scattered vote in military and other camps across Canada were announced today at the Legislative Buildings.

Four Victorians were included in the appointments, three men as supervising Deputy Returning Officers, and one as an Official Counter of this section of the absentee poll expected in October.

The Victorians included J. A. Neary, supervising Deputy in Military District No. 2; George Butcher, the same in District 12; William Childs, to a like post in District 13; and J. R. Stewart, Official Counter at Toronto. Toronto, Halifax and Regina, meanwhile, were designated as centres where the final count of ballots will proceed as a result of the absentee vote in camps.

Additional posts remain to be filled; the choice going to ex-servicemen where possible.

In Great Britain, Acting Agent General W. A. McAdam will be made General Supervisor of the polling, with deputies to be selected among British Columbia service units there. Ballot boxes will be borrowed from the Dominion, and also in Great Britain, electoral officials said.

Medical Appeal Suggested, Aid In Compensation

VANCOUVER, Aug. 15 (CP). — Percy Bengough, Secretary of the Vancouver, New Westminster and District Trades and Labor Council, testifying before a Commission inquiry into operations of the Workmen's Compensation Board, replied in the negative today when Mr. Justice Gordon Sloan asked if the Council would object to the setting up of an independent Medical Appeal Board if the jurisdiction of such a Board were limited to hearing appeals from the Compensation Board's refusal to pay compensation on medical grounds.

"We would not object, providing it was kept strictly within the confines of your question," Bengough replied.

Harold J. Pritchett, representing the Island, Vancouver and Prince Rupert Labor Councils and the International Woodworkers of America, was asked the same question by Mr. Justice Sloan.

He said it was his personal opinion that such a tribunal would be acceptable if it were strictly a medical appeal dealing entirely with medical questions and available only to the victims of industrial accidents. He said he would canvass the membership of the organizations he represented for their opinions.

Recommendations submitted earlier by both Bengough and Pritchett on behalf of their organizations were opposed to an Appeal Board.

Dr. Charles H. Vrooman, referee for the Compensation Board in silicosis cases, told the Commissioner today that silicosis was "a curious disease and full of contradictions," and that it produced entire disability over a period of years.

He said there was a good deal of misapprehension about the disease and that it was not necessarily fatal. He added that if a known silicotic died of tuberculosis or pneumonia, Compensation Board would accept silicosis as the primary cause of death.

Roosevelt Returns to the U.S. Today

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., Aug. 15 (AP).—President Roosevelt will land at Rockland, Me. some time tomorrow afternoon, completing a cruise during which he held historic conferences with Winston Churchill, Prime Minister of Great Britain.

This disclosure gave rise to the possibility that in a Press conference the President might define for the United States the bounds of America's part in the eight-point program agreed upon at the Roosevelt-Churchill meeting, a program which spoke of the "final destruction of the Nazi tyranny."

Little is known of the high seas conference beyond the eight principles upon which the leaders of the two greatest democracies based their "hopes for a better future for the world."

Cloudburst Floods Nelson Streets, Some Cellars; Power Off Briefly

Flooded basements, gutters, drains, basins, and streets, and a brief interruption in electric light and power supply resulted from a cloudburst that poured .44 inch of rain on Nelson and vicinity in a half-hour downpour Friday.

Great flashes of lightning lit the sky and thunder cracked and rolled overhead like high explosives. Following one of the worst flashes City electrical power and light was interrupted for eight minutes, from 5:24 to 5:32 p.m. This was attributed to a "flash-over" of lightning over two insulators at the sub-station. Several local transformers were put out of service temporarily, but the trouble was quickly remedied by City Electrical Department crews.

Miniature streams roared down gutters and roadsides, and built up ponds on the lower streets of the business section in the brief fall that started shortly after 5:00 p.m. Water came over the curb on some parts of Baker Street, and one store owner reported "you could paddle a canoe across the street" near the Ward Street intersection. At that spot water came up over sidewalks and almost in through store doors. Roof top gutters poured gallons of water down onto streets and alleys, and many basins were reported partly flooded.

City crews went quickly to work after the storm clearing out catch basins and gutters, and shovelling silt, twigs and leaves, borne down by the water, off the main streets.

Such streams poured down the sloping streets that citizens in various parts turned out to look for broken mains, and did valuable volunteer work in keeping the water in its proper channels.

Germans Report 'With Biting Scorn' on Historic Meeting of Allies at Sea

BERLIN, Aug. 15 (AP)— The meeting of Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt was described today by German spokesmen as "100 per cent flop."

The meeting these sources claimed gave Germany "the most favorable diplomatic position possible."

"The President of the United States and the British Prime Minister are in a bad situation," they said. "Ever since Sumner Welles formulated ideas concerning a new post-war order including a new League of Nations and British Foreign Secretary Eden replied with a demand for one authoritative power to police Europe, we have noticed a discrepancy between the aims of the two countries, but we didn't dream the divergence was so great as has now been revealed."

These spokesmen claimed it was significant the British kept emphasizing it was President Roosevelt who took the initiative for the meeting.

"It is an old accepted fact that when the battle is won everybody claims the credit, but when it is lost one looks for a goat. It would be undignified even to discuss the Churchill-Roosevelt eight points. We know but one offensive and that is military. We have but one aim and that is the annihilation of the enemy. We have but one task and that is victory. If the so-called democracies want Germany disarmed, let them come and get our arms."

All Germany "and indeed all of Europe," these sources said, are interested in an answer by President Roosevelt to the following questions:

"1. Is there to be freedom of the seas for all nations large or small?

"2. Are you ready to give up your military bases and raze your fortresses?

"3. Will you give up your program of a two-ocean fleet?

"4. Will you and Churchill renounce your monopoly on the raw materials of the earth?

"5. Will you restore their colonies to the peoples of Europe who have the rightful title to them?

"6. Do you propose to revalidate the Monroe Doctrine and do you recognize a Monroe Doctrine for others?

"7. What are you prepared to do against the Bolshevik danger threatening Europe?

"8. Are you prepared to put an end to the blockade war and to strangling economic measures?"

When asked whether the strictures on the Churchill-Roosevelt meeting were to be regarded as criticism of the eight-point program, the spokesman replied: "No, they are biting scorn."

MELBOURNE, Aug. 15 (AP)— The press and public of Australia today acclaimed the Roosevelt-Churchill statement as a new charter of democracy and a modern declaration of rights.

"The German Government," he said, "cannot help but note the significance of such a declaration by a nation at war with one which is neutral."

U.S. ALREADY AT WAR

ROME, Aug. 15 (AP) — Fascist spokesmen said today they accepted the joint declaration by Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt as indicating the President considers the United States already in the war "whatever may be the opinion of the American people and Congress."

TOKYO, Aug. 15 (AP)—Domei, Japanese News Agency, claimed today that joint military action against Japan was one of the basic topics discussed by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill. Domei quoted political observers as its source.

These same observers, Domei said, suggested it was imperative Japan "proceed with her established policy and not allow herself to be played into the hands of the British-American camp."

Germans Make Shipping Claims

BERLIN, Aug. 15 (CP) — The German high command communique today claimed the Nazi air force destroyed a 5000 - ton freighter and damaged another large merchantman off the Scottish East Coast.

The Germans claimed other combat planes sank two merchantmen totalling 15,000 tons from convoys East of Cromer and Great Yarmouth, set two freighters afire and damaged an additional two merchantmen.

The communique further claimed combat planes scored a direct bomb hit on a British destroyer North of Sidi Barrani in North Africa."

"Chasers and anti-aircraft yesterday brought down nine British pursuit ships on the channel coast," the communique said.

Five British planes were lost London said, against 14 German planes destroyed.)

It was claimed 10 British bombers were downed over Germany.

STRANDED SHIP FREED AT HIGH TIDE

SEATTLE, Aug. 15 (AP). — The steamship Aleutian was pulled free at high tide last night from the sands of West Point Beach, off Fort Lawton, after a large part of her cargo had been unloaded to lighten the ship. The ship was undamaged and proceeded to Seattle where her 363 passengers had been taken earlier by ferryboat.

Street Fighting in Paris Brings Stiff Penalties

VICHY, Aug. 15 (AP).—German authorities warned the entire population of Occupied France today that it would be held responsible as a whole for outbreaks such as occurred in Paris this week, and ordered the death penalty for persons who support "in any manner whatsoever" Communist activity.

Acting swiftly after shooting and fighting in the streets of the German-occupied capital disclosed in its press yesterday, the General commanding the German armed forces in France, Heinrich von Stuelpnagel, issued this decree:

"The French Communist party having been dissolved, all Communist activity in France is forbidden.

"Any persons who carries out Communist activity, who carries out propaganda or who tries to, in brief anyone who supports in any manner whatsoever Communist activity, is an enemy of Germany.

"Those guilty are subject to the penalty of death, which will be pronounced by a German court martial.

"Any person finding himself in possession of an anti-German tract must hand it over immediately to the nearest German military service. Violators will be punished by a penalty up to 15 years at forced labor.

"I count on the wisdom and good sense of the population for everyone to contribute to preventing irresponsible elements from supporting the enemies of Germany. I warn you against the grave results which follow the hostile attitude of Communist circles, not only for the guilty themselves but also for the entire population of the occupied territories."

The German authorities took steps to halt armed demonstrations similar to those which occurred at the Porte St. Denis and the Gare St. Lazare earlier this week. They established a Germany military court to try the demonstrators and assess the death penalty.

(The German decision to hold the entire occupied population responsible for the acts of demonstrators probably means the levying of a collective fine on the zone. This has been done in the Netherlands and in other occupied countries.)

The Germans also ordered the reporting of all property by persons who ever lived in Soviet Russia, and established German control over a large proportion of released French prisoners of war. They will have to report to Reich authorities every three months.

Atlantic Battle Picture Brighter

LONDON, Aug. 15 (CP). — Britain's position in the Battle of the Atlantic is "very much better" than in the early Summer because of widening operations against German submarines and "most valuable" United States assistance, authoritative sources declared today.

Although the scale of attacks has remained about the same and, in fact, has increased in some areas, these sources said British aircraft and surface units have "done very well in recent weeks" in the struggle to retain mastery of the sea lanes.

The Axis, simultaneously, has 'suffered very heavily" in the Mediterranean, they added, with the British there reversing the Atlantic situation and attacking German and Italian convoys successfully with light forces.

Publisher to Appeal Order to Testify at F.C.C. Investigation

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP). — Judge James Morris of the United States District Court today directed James G. Stahlman, former President of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, to testify before the Federal Communitions Commission in its investigation of newspaper ownership of radio stations.

Stahlman, publisher of the Nashville, Tenn., Banner, did not appear to answer to an FCC subpoena, upon advice of Elisha Hanson, ANPA general counsel, who contended the investigation was "illegal."

Hanson said he would appeal the decision, "to test out whether the commission has the authority to conduct this fishing expedition into the newspaper business."

LONDON, Aug. 15 (CP).—The Foreign Office News Department today released a copy of a letter which Capt. Oliver Lyttleton wrote to Gen. Order Your Coal Now

It's a Serious Situation!

The Following Letter Is From the Fuel Administrator at Ottawa

OFFICE OF THE COAL ADMINISTRATOR,
238 Sparks Street,
OTTAWA, Ontario.
June 21, 1941.

Dear Sirs:

In previous years little difficulty has been experienced by Western coal dealers in meeting consumers' requirements, save for an occasional interruption in transportation caused by adverse weather conditions.

In the coming heating season, however, there will be several new factors requiring consideration. Among these I would mention the increased demand caused by the erection of new Air Force and Military establishments, the necessity for increased shipments to Ontario, and war requirements generally. At the same time, the railway systems will be under heavy pressure because of wartime activity and due to Winter conditions, the usual movement of coal may be somewhat restricted.

I consider it my duty to call your attention to this condition at the present time and would most earnestly request your cooperation in promoting the movement of the maximum quantity of coal during the Summer months.

In order to assist in carrying out such a movement I propose to issue publicity stating the facts and requesting all coal consumers to plan now for their Winter supply both for their own protection and because an orderly and planned campaign of early buying and stocking will be of advantage to the miners, the railwaymen and the country as a whole.

I trust I may count on your cooperation in this matter and would suggest that, as a means of advising your customers, you might consider it helpful to display this letter prominently in your place of business.

Yours very truly,
J. McG. STEWART,
Coal Administrator.

British Wreck Corinth Canal

CAIRO, Aug. 15 (AP).—British bombing planes in two recent attacks have wrecked the Corinth Canal, strategic waterway between the Peloponnessus and the mainland of Greece, the Royal Air Force Middle East Command announced today.

Examination of photographs of the attacks on the German-controlled canal show "considerable landslides on the banks . . . sufficient to prevent passage of enemy shipping for some considerable time."

It was announced also that the air arm of the British fleet had attacked the Axis submarine base at Augusta, Sicily, and started fires in a raid on the Sicilian city of Syracuse.

Roosevelt Yacht Called at Nova Scotia

HALIFAX, Aug. 15 (CP).—President Roosevelt's yacht Potomac arrived off Shelburne, N.S., last Friday evening for a five-day stay, it was learned here.

Reports said the President had not been aboard the yacht since Saturday.

A coastguard cutter was said to have accompanied the Potomac and a United States cruiser was seen in the vicinity.

Whereabouts of the yacht was unknown publicly today.

Shelburn is on the South shore of Nova Scotia about 100 miles Southwest of Halifax.

Axis Garrison at Tobruk Wiped Out

CAIRO, Aug. 15 (AP)—A whole Axis garrison on the siege ring around Tobruk has been wiped out by a British fighting patrol from the Libyan port, British middle East headquarters announced today.

The strong point on the siege line was surprised by the sortie Wednesday night, the communique said, the patrol then striking further into the Axis positions to attack "strong working parties" with grenades and light machine guns.

British patrols again were active yesterday in the Egyptian-Libyan frontier area and artillery fire struck effectively two Axis working parties in the desert although heavy dust storms hampered forays out of Tobruk, the communique said.

CHINESE CLAIM 2054 PLANES DESTROYED

CHUNGKING, Aug. 15 (AP).—An official Chinese statement claimed today that 2054 Japanese planes had been shot down or destroyed on the ground since the Chinese-Japanese war started July 7, 1937. The statement said 2650 Japanese airmen were killed or taken prisoner.

Saving Energy While Doing the Household Tasks

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Beauty writers frequently extol the value of scientifically performed housework for streamlining measurements—and I should think you homemakers would resent it! There they sit, typing merrily and losing their figures by the day, and imagining that if they only did housework it would be all the exercise they needed.

True, there is a right and a wrong way to do household tasks. The right way affords exercise of a sort and the wrong way is tiring and every smart homemaker should take the trouble to learn the mechanically efficient working positions for those two reasons.

About all the streamlining you can get out of housework can be credited to the cumulative effect of working in good posture. The more you practise good posture, the better your figure is. But the common everyday jobs of doing the dishes three times a day, cooking, cleaning, etc., certainly do not help a woman's figure—and I challenge any beauty writer to prove they do.

The saving that can be effected in energy, however, is considerable. It takes less energy to sit down and do your work than it does to stand up and do it. Sit on a high stool when you wash and dry the dishes and iron, and have a low, comfortable chair to sit in when you prepare the vegetables.

In the long run it takes less energy to hold your back in a nice straight line than to slump, so try to keep your back straight as you go about your work. When you dust and pick up objects from the floor, hold your back straight and bend at the hips and knees. In that way you save your energy and keep your joints supple.

I am all for making housework as easy as possible. Then you will have enough energy left over to do a few calisthenics that will ward off the middle-age spread. That's your only chance of escaping it.

The odd jobs that comprise housework afford plenty of exercise to the small muscles of the hands, forearms, feet and legs, and practically none for the powerful trunk muscles which control your figure. It is on these muscles that you should concentrate. The result would be not only a better figure and a naturally more erect posture, but a higher level of energy. Here are two good ones:

1. Lie on back on floor with left knee flexed and foot on floor near buttocks, right leg straight down on floor. Flex right knee to chest and push small of back down against floor. Extend and flex leg rhythmically 20 times. Then perform with other leg.

2. From same position, keep left foot on floor with knee flexed and swing extended right leg up to right angle with trunk. Raise and lower 10 times. Relax, and repeat with right knee flexed and foot on floor, left leg straight.

If you hope to keep streamline, you'll make a point of ge. .g exercises to tone the midsection muscles. This is a good one. First you sit on the floor with one leg straight out, other knee flexed and hands clasped about it. Then, holding that position, roll backward on floor.

Authority . . .

Age Eighteen Asks Privileges

By CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Dear Miss Chatfield—I'm eighteen and have no normal pleasures that a girl of my age should have. My father is a successful business man whose work takes him away from home most of the week. When he's away from home I have to stay at home. He's strict and getting worse. I am not allowed to leave the house after dark. Any date I have must come and sit in the living room where mother can get her ear to the keyhole. My boy friends say it isn't much fun to come over and have mother hear all conversation. What can I do to improve the situation?
EIGHTEEN.

Answer—You can do several things and refrain from doing several others. First, don't let your natural irritation with the state of affairs make you a temperish and disagreeable house companion. You will never get any concessions from your parents on your proposition while you are uncooperative with them on other scores. Second, do not harp on the same old subject every time you sit down to talk. Old wives haven't the corner on nagging. I've seen some pretty nagging done by teenage youngsters. But it all works the same way on the parties that are being nagged, whoever is doing the nagging.

On the affirmative side, remember that, however unreasonable your parents may appear to be, they have but one motive: your protection and your ultimate happiness. Remember too that they are paying the bills, putting the food in your mouth, the clothes on your back and furnishing the chairs, love seats, electric lights, the canned music and the ping-pong table, or whatever it is that helps you entertain the dates. Remember that a mother with one chick lives, moves and has her being in that chick, all the more so when her husband is away from home. Thus it happens that the chaperonage, the snoopings that you resent may be ascribed to a too keen interest in you rather than to voracious curiosity.

Age eighteen is entitled to liberty but unless age eighteen can demonstrate her ability to use her liberty without abusing it, strict parents won't give it to her. Then at the proper time and place present your arguments, bolster them with a good record and serve notice that you expect some relaxing of rules that are unreasonable, rules not made in other homes, rules which in time will leave you high and dry without dates and without the friendship of other girls whose parents have a heart for their young daughters.

Many parents look on their children as children merely, until one fine day the upstarts serve notice that they have wills of their own, ideas of their own, and plans of their own which they intend to execute. Then the parents blink and back off.

One Person in Ten a Hayfever Victim

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

The victim of hay fever this time of year sings a doleful wail, "Why should it be me?" It is estimated that those subject to hay fever constitute about 10 per cent of the population. I think in the Middle West, where the ragweed flourishes, the proportion is higher, but at any rate there is some point in the victim's wail because why should nine be entirely free from symptoms, and only one suffer? From all my readings of the latest treatises on the subject, I am not sure that there is any satisfactory answer.

We know certain external facts, but we do not know the explanation of them.

The observed facts are: the 10 per cent referred to are known as allergic. This means that they are sensitive to the pollen of certain plants, so that their body cells, particularly in the eyes, nose, throat and bronchial tubes, respond with a violent inflammatory reaction at the presence of these pollens.

HAYFEVER HEREDITARY

We know that the condition is hereditary, and the peculiar reaction of these cells is transmitted from one generation to another. Another fact is that at this season of the year, the chances are all in favor of the cause being the wild plant known as ragweed. This is a non-flowering plant which throws out an enormous amount of fine pollen grains. It is non-flowering because it depends upon the wind rather than insects to distribute its pollen for fertilization purposes.

CAN IDENTIFY RAGWEED VICTIMS

We know also that the victims of ragweed hay fever can be recognibed and identified by injecting a week solution of pollens in salt water under the skin that reacts with a large red wheal at the site of injection. Some of them can be treated successfully by hypodermic injections of a vaccine made from the pollens, but we will take this up in a later article.

The explanation of why these body cells react in this way is certainly not satisfactory. The investigators say that it is the opposite of immunity—anaphylaxis instead of prophylaxis, and yet they say that vaccines of successful strength will prevent. It is easy to see why weak vaccines will cause an immunity in body cells, because they gradually cause the cells to create anti-bodies, but it is not easy to understand why cells which become sensitive to the slightest amount of pollen can be desensitized by injecting more and more pollen into the body.

Teach Your Child That No Means No

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

Speaking not long ago before a group of parents, public school teachers and university professors, I said that I considered the "A" of the alphabet of character education to be the training of the tot, about as soon as he can toddle, in the unambiguous meaning of "No"; the foundation of regard for the rights of others and respect for constituted authority.

Then I added that, as a rule, the best way to teach the young child the meaning of "No" is by physical pain, such as a good old-fashioned spanking with the parent's flat hand on the youngster's bare fat thighs; that if this be done intelligently—therefore rarely but effectively and consistently, in immediate connection with the few acts or objects to be permanently avoided — other modes of punishment, such as sitting in a chair doing nothing for exactly 20 minutes, say, can be substituted.

STOP SPANKINGS EARLY

Physical punishment can well be abandoned by the time the child is three, four or five, I pointed out, provided he has clearly learned the meaning of "No" by that time.

Then I reminded the audience that many young children of today, especially from the so-called better homes, don't have much regard for the rights of anybody else, or much respect for authority, and said I believed the chief cause of this condition is the fact that so many parents among the better-educated have supposed they never should spank a child to restrain him.

"My quarrel," I continued, "is not with these parents. As a rule they are doing as they suppose they should do; as they have been told by many so-called experts. My quarrel is with those who have given this advice. They are responsible, to a large degree, for the do-as-you-pleaseness of thousands of youngsters who make life miserable for their parents, their teachers, their adult neighbors, their playmates and themselves.

After my talk, a professor of psychology arose. He gave the usual line: "Any parent who spanks a child admits that he has failed to guide the child intelligently." Let me add here that not many professors of psychology now say this; not many ever did, just a few.

That professor and I carried on a dialogue from which it turned out that we agreed that some pain is necessary for establishing control of the young child. The difference was that I was for causing localized pain by means of spanking, and he for giving the youngster pain all over by means of a shrieking voice or stern look.

DANGEROUS WEAPONS

Any parent who teaches the young child the meaning of "No" without using corporal punishment employs what seems to me a more dangerous weapon—a "dirty" look or loud, shrill voice. Now I ask you, is it not more humane to smack a tot of two or three, than to shriek at him or look daggers at him? Is it not less damaging to his tender personality to spank him, than to lacerate his soul and body with a poisoned tongue or to stab him with a piercing eye?

Make your choice. Mrs. Myers and I deliberately made ours when our children were little. We spanked them for certain acts we had agreed on beforehand. We wanted to reserve our tongue and eyes for tenderness and joyousness; not to associate these agents of affection with pain.

Girls Find Three Day Bivouac Under Military Discipline Good Practice

By MARIENNE IZSAK

TORONTO (CP). — Officers and girls of the Transport Section, Toronto unit, Canadian Women's Service Force, had their first experience of life-in-the-open under military discipline and army conditions, with a three-day bivouac beside the Nottawasaga River, not far from Camp Borden.

A bivouac, they learned, is a military encampment without tents or huts. Three nights sleeping in their blankets under the stars gave them a practical demonstration of the word's meaning.

The girls were subject to self-imposed military rule. They were not allowed out of camp without a pass. Sentries were posted at the entrance and halted all comers to the camp. The pass word was changed at midnight and no one was permitted in camp unless on official business.

CHALLENGED THE ARMY

The drivers of two military trucks of the Canadian Active Army on the way to the neighboring Camp Borden were startled to find two girl guards jump on their running boards and halt them, demanding their business. They sheepishly confessed to having lost their way and were summarily told to turn around back to the highway. "We want no men in this camp," they were told.

There was one rifle in the C. W. S. F. camp. It was stood beside the Transport Officer's cot. The guards had only heavy clubs. They did not find it necessary to use them.

The girls chopped their own wood for the fires and prepared their own meals under the direction of one of the members who had taken commissariat classes and showed her training to good advantage. Fatigue duties were detailed to each girl.

Four girls found it did not pay to infringe on military law, no matter how slight. They were made to do double fatigue duty and double guard duty for absence without leave for one hour.

THE BLACK CAT

The only male allowed in the camp was the mascot, Peter, a black cat from a nearby farmhouse who came marching across the field regularly at every meal time. Peter also attended the church service on Sunday morning when one of the officers conducted a brief worship period.

On Sunday afternoon the girls marched into Camp Borden where they were the guests of the Sergeant's Mess of the R.C.A.S.C. They reciprocated by inviting the men for a weiner roast and a sing-song in the evening.

On their last evening of camp, the girls were guests of honor at a military dance in Angus, on the outskirts of Camp Borden.

Authorities estimate there are 162,000 children, many under five, still in London.

The queen, impressed by improvement of London's air raid shelters said after an inspection tour: "We have to be very thankful that this lull in bombing has given us a chance to prepare for what ever is coming."

Britain's "Shadow Larder" Is Ready

LONDON, Aug. 15 (CP).—Food Minister Lord Woolton announced today Britain's "shadow larder," is ready.

He said Prime Minister Churchill had instructed him to have all emergency arrangements ready by Sept. 1, the date the Prime Minister has given as the zero hour for a possible invasion attempt by the Germans.

He said the arrangements included creation of a hundred "water-tight" food areas throughout the country, each independent of outside help as regards supplies; the setting up of cooking depots outside large towns, and plans for protection of food from gas.

Twenty-two convoys of mobile canteens of the Queen's messenger service are the first line of defence in event of intense raids, the Food Minister added.

SERIAL STORY - - - By RICHARD HOUGHTON

Death at the Switch

CHAPTER TWENTY

"SKIPPED OUT on us!" Henry gasped at his son, who had invaded their boarder's room. "But why would he do that?"

"Maybe he's a crook. I think he's after Mr. Ives' insurance money!"

"What do you know about Ives' insurance?"

"N-nothing. But here's a book all about insurance."

From behind Henry in the hall came the startling "Harumph!" of a man clearing his throat. Henry jumped, and spun around to face a scowling Mr. Jones.

"Do you make a habit of prying into your boarders' affairs?" inquired the big man coldly.

Richard slammed the dresser drawer shut.

Henry stammered. "It was all a m-mistake! Richard here—ha! ha—thought you had run out on us without paying your rent, and he. . ."

"He saw me pay my rent—in advance."

"Aw, gee, it wasn't nothin', Mr. Jones. I came in to ask you about the model trains this morning. You weren't here. I thought. . ."

"Never mind!" Mr. Jones' face was stony and inscrutable again. "We'll forget the whole thing. And now, if you don't mind, I'd like to talk with your father—alone."

"Y-yes, sir!" Richard ducked past him out of the door.

John Jones turned to Henry as though nothing out of the ordinary had occurred. "I went to the hospital this morning," he reported.

"So-so early?" Henry was flabbergasted.

"I couldn't sleep," explained the big man. There was a worried expression on his face as he sat down on the edge of the bed. "What happened last night didn't fit in with my theory of the case at all. I wanted to know if Spinelli had recovered consciousness and told anything more."

"But you wouldn't be able to see him so early."

"I know. I talked with the detective who stayed with him through the night. Professor Bisbee had nothing to do with the stabbing!"

"W-what?"

Mr. Jones drew a cigar out of his pocket, made as though to light it, then changed his mind and slipped it back. "No, Spinelli was walking away from the lodge last night, he said, when something struck him from behind. He remembers that Professor Bisbee was some distance in front of him, and that he called to Bisbee for help. That's all he does remember."

"Oh-h. Then it was a cry for help. Not a. . ."

"No, not an accusation."

"They've let the professor out of jail, of course."

"About an hour after the newspaper went to press."

"He'll be as mad as a hornet," said Henry. "He'll sue the police for false arrest."

John Jones sucked his lips doubtfully. "Maybe. But Professor Bisbee has disappeared."

Henry clutched the door handle. "Disappeared? You don't mean—"

"I don't know what to think. My theory is ruined by now."

"What is your theory?"

Jones shook his head. "Never mind theories. We've got to find Bisbee! From what you told me about his attitude toward the case, I think he knows something the rest of us don't know. He may be in danger!"

"You mean the killer. . ."

Referring to his sudden and tragic death, S. G. Blaylock, President of the Consolidated Company, issued the following statement:

"Word has just reached us of the tragic death of Mr. Arthur Blaikie Purvis in a plane crash in England. Mr. Purvis was born in London in 1890. His father was Scottish and his mother English.

Regina Girls From Auxiliary to Supply Comforts to Unit

REGINA (CP)—Sixteen Regina girls have formed a ladies' auxiliary to supply field comforts for the Saskatchewan Horse Unit, commanded by Lt.-Col. W. Van Allen of Shaunavon, Sask.

The auxiliary, headed by Miss Margaret Addie, decided that the unit was at a great disadvantage because the wives, mothers, sisters and sweethearts of the personnel are so widely scattered in Canada.

Already the Regina girls have written 900 individual letters to persons whose names were supplied by the men of the regiment asking each to help in the work.

• Clusters of vivid-toned gladioli and pews marked with colonial bouquets of Summer flowers enhanced Grandview Baptist Church August 1 when the marriage was solemnized of Elizabeth Maude (Betty), only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clement S. McCormick of Vancouver, formerly of Nelson, and Donald Grant McIntosh, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. McIntosh. Rev. A. C. Bingham was the officiating clergyman, and Mrs. J. S. Carter sang, accompanied by Mrs. G. H. P. Goodhew. Clouds of lace, net and diaphanous fabrics went into the making of the lovely white gowns worn by the bride and her trio of attendants. The double net skirt of the net and lace bridal gown featured two panels of lace, front and back, the latter panel joining with the net and extending into a train. The draped bodice sponsored a sweetheart neckline and showed long fitted sleeves. A heart-shaped headdress of net and orange blossoms held her embroidered veil in place and she carried a bouquet of swainsonia, gladioli and Talisman roses. Encrusted with lace was the white sheer frock worn by the maid of honor, Miss Faye Burnham. It was fashioned on lines similar to the brides'. The bridesmaids, Miss Evaline Morton and Miss Mae McQueen, chose companion frocks of white sheer bodices posed above lace skirts. All three attendants were wearing chapel veils caught to their heads with flowers duplicated in their colorful summer bouquets. J. S. McIntosh, twin brother of the groom, was best man. The ushers were W. C. Warren, M. B. Hansen, W. C. Wilkin and R. Goodman. At the reception in the York Room of Hotel Georgia the mothers of the principals were assisted in receiving by the bride's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson. Crisp pastel checked organdie was allied with pique in the dress chosen by the bride's mother. She wore a leghorn hat. The groom's mother was attired in poudre blue sheer complemented by a black picture hat. Brown and beige accessories were effectively worn by the bride with a dusty pink angora cloth frock and orchid corsage when leaving on a brief trip to Vancouver Island. Navy Minister Relates Heroic Action of Rating

By HAROLD FAIR
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SOMEWHERE ON THE SOUTH COAST OF ENGLAND, Aug. 15 (CP Cable)—Canada's Navy Minister, Angus L. MacDonald, yesterday thrilled British and Canadian naval forces soon to join the ships of the Royal Navy with the story of a young Canadian rating, who did not live to see England but who died after a fire on H.M.C.S. Otter with the words "there'll always be an England on his lips.

He later identified the youth as Alex Day, of Belleville, Ont., the rating died of exposure soon after he was rescued from icy waters into which he had fallen from a raft.

As he was dying he murmured the words of the song.

He had acquired, said Mr. MacDonald in a few short weeks the spirit of the Navy—a spirit that actuates the people of the Empire, a spirit which will win the war."

Mr. MacDonald spoke in a crowded mess hall after a three hour tour of naval establishments where he was shown many aspects of training. He said he was tremendously impressed.

WOLVERHAMPTON, England, (CP). — Failing to get soldiers or Italian prisoners to replace his farm labor, a Staffordshire farmer appealed for female help and 300 nurses, teachers, housewives and other volunteers hoed acres of beets to save them from ruin.

The combined pre-war area of France, Germany and Spain was about 2600 square miles less than the area of Quebec.

Noticeably Less Gas Is Used Say Nelson Dealers

Nelson garage and service station owners Friday stated there had been noticeable reductions in the sale of gasoline, especially to out-of-town motorists and tourists. While not prepared to give definite figures, they said it was quite evident car owners were making a "real attempt to cooperate in the war effort by saving gas."

One garage worker claimed a neighbor was using a bike, dug out from his basement where it had been stored for years, for most of his travel. His car was used only when he took his family out during bad weather.

One result of the drive to save gas, it was pointed out, was a slight reduction in garage work, for with cars being used less and driven slower, there was less wear and tear and fewer minor collisions.

Sports and Visitors' Days Are Highlights

Between showers the braves at Camp Koolaree enjoyed many sport competitions, the winning tribe being the Suwanees. The prowess of the Shawano tribe, which came second, was almost as great as that of the Suwanees. The Blackfeet and Shoshones followed close behind in third and fourth places.

First competition was the scavenger hunt and the Suwanee tribe is still looking for "a stone white, smooth, and the size of a 25-cent piece". The various relays caused much amusement and keen competition. Among the races was a pan on the head relay, an elephant race, a mixed-up shoe race, a lifesaver relay, and many others.

Wednesday was Visitors' Day and although the morning was dull and murky with low-hanging clouds, the afternoon came clear and sunshiny so that the braves had an excellent chance to greet their many visitors. Evelyn provided delicious buns and the girls served tea during the afternoon. Among the guests were Dr. W. B. Steed, Miss D. H. Dawson, Kathleen Radcliffe, Miss Barbara McLennan, Miss Margaret McLennan, Mrs. J. R. McLennan, Mrs. C. M. Young, Miss Violet Young, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Mann, Mrs. Radcliffe, Rev. G. S. Boothroyd, Stewart Irving, Miss Muriel Freeman and George Campion, all of Nelson; Mrs. Clark, Calgary; and Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Minto of Trail.

Campfire in the evening was conducted by the Suwanee tribe which assisted by their Chief Suwanee, Miss Margaret Campion, presented the Cavalcade of Koolaree. This depicted scenes in the 10-year history of Koolaree.

Interest is high in the intertribe softball tournament. Wednesday night's game was won by the Shoshone tribe.

WATER SPORTS

Water sports occupied most of Thursday afternoon. The first race was a chariot race where the swimmers linked arms. This was won by the Shawanos. Following this the Shoshone tribe pushed their dish pan to victory. The rope relay was won by the Shawano tribe. The Suwanees were the champion plate retrievers while the Blackfeet carried the lifesaver on a spoon to victory. Final honors were as follows: First, Shawano tribe; second, Blackfeet; third, Shoshones; and fourth, Suwanees. Most outstanding event of the meet was an impromptu dive by Chief Wampi, hat and all.

Thursday's storm arrived just at supper time and washed the braves out of the dining hall into the kitchen. Campfire in the evening was held in the lodge with a background of drying blankets. A skit by the Shawanos was much enjoyed, also the games directed by the Shoshones. "Fuzz", Florence MacIntyre, conducted the sing song.

The Camp Sorority girls led by their President, Claire Jamieson, conducted evening vespers Thursday. The choir sang "And Did Those Feet in Ancient Times". Claire's topic was "World Fellowship".

"A Trade Era Ends"

"A Trade Era Ends", announces the Vancouver Sun, in discussing the severance of commercial relations with Japan, with special reference to British Columbia's port cities.

In a way, this event must have been poignant to the Sun, for it carried on for nearly two decades a special drive for Canadian attention to the Orient, and particulalry Japan, and two of its chiefs, the late John Nelson and the Robert Cromie, made themselves familiar with Japan and the Japanese trade question and were perpetual advocates of closer relations with Japan.

So the Sun, though not making any parade of its relationship now, is peculiarly entitled to make a pertinent comment on this event, which has special significance for British Columbia, whatever may follow.

The Sun says:

A Trade Era Ends:

"The news that the Canadian Pacific has closed its offices in Japan brings the tense situation in the Far East home to British Columbia as few events could. Japan is Canada's nearest neighbor to the west, and during practically the whole of its history Vancouver has been in intimate touch with this neighbor through the Canadian Pacific steamships. Vancouver and Victoria were the ports on the one side, Yokohama and Kobe on the other.

"It is just a little over half a century since the white Empresses began plying between the two countries. The Empresses of China, Japan and India were the first — graceful ships that made history on the Pacific and played a notable part in the romance of the silk trade.

"The Empresses of Russia, Asia, Canada and Japan, followed with short periods of service by the Empress of Australia and the Empress of France, and the record made by the original ships was maintained and bettered.

"In the meantime the Canadian-Japanese trade, which the Empresses fostered, grew to very great proportions, and Japan became Canada's third best customer.

"Now the great trade built up during two generations has vanished. There is no silk coming eastward, there is no grain or metals or forest products going westward. Commerce and finance and intercourse have been frozen by the chill breath of war. The Empresses have vanished from the Pacific and, last act in the drama, the Canadian Pacific orders its people to come home. A notable era has closed."

As Willkie Sees Hitler

The issues of today are amazingly simple, as Mr. Willkie reasons them. Briefly this is his analysis:

Adolf Hitler has built a force which can live only by expanding. Everything in its way must go. Christianity, the churches, liberty and individuality of men and women, the British Empire and the United States of America. If Hitler is to maintain himself in power, the United States must disintegrate. With such a malicious, destructive force in the world, can the United States remain calmly aside and wait for its turn? No! It must anticipate every Nazi move and plan its own moves ahead of Hitler's. Bases must be established wherever military and naval technicians think necessary. Moves must be quick and sudden. The Navy must be used to insure that American-made goods, manufactured for the express purpose of defating Hitlerism, are delivered without loss.

"It is better to keep war out of America than Americans out of war," Mr. Willkie declared, adding that it was his "deliberate conviction" that fewer American lives would be lost in action to defeat Hitler than in waiting within America's shores merely in defense.

A. R., Procter—Will you please tell me how beans are salted down for Winter use?

Choose young, small and tender beans. String but don't slice runners, and salt stringless beans whole. Put a layer of salt in the bottom of an earthenware or glass jar, and cover with a layer of beans. Cover with salt, then another layer of beans. Make certain each layer of beans is completely covered with salt. When full cover with a clean cloth and a plate and weight down. Leave for 24 hours when a brine should have formed. If beans are not covered with brine, add more salt and cover and weight down again. Examine occasionally to make sure that they are completely covered, and add more salt if and when necessary.

Curious, Nelson—How are snails propagated?

Snails are propagated by eggs, and all types, including slugs, are hermaphroditic, though the structure of the complex genital organs varies greatly.

Curious, Rossland—Can you advise me if there is a provincial policeman stationed in or regularly covering the Trout Lake District?

The Trout Lake District is policed from Revelstoke, B Division, Provincial Police. The southern part of the lake is policed from Kaslo.

F. R., Grand Forks—Will you please tell me if Christmas and birthday gifts are admitted to residents of Canada duty free this year?

Birthday and Christmas gifts up to the value of $5 have been allowed into Canada as usual. A charge of 10 per cent exchange tax is made on the value of the gift.

J. H. M., Nelson—Would you please tell me how to bleach flour sacks?

Make a strong solution of chloride of lime (hypochlorite of lime—bleaching powder) in water and allow to settle, and draw off the clear liquid. Rinse the goods in clear water containing about 5 per cent sulphuric acid, and then pass them slowly through the bleaching solution. They should then be well rinsed in water containing a litle carbonate of soda. If the color is not removed it may be necessary to leave them for a short time in the bath.

THE STAB OF INTOLERANCE

The Council Against Intolerance in America makes the ominous statement that it possesses "evidence that divisive propaganda is being used by the Nazis to disrupt morale in the camps." To help counter these efforts it has just issued a program handbook, "Calling All Americans," for use by group leaders working with the troops.

There are passages in this booklet that ought to make any soldier think: "Let's take a look at ourselves. When you were a youngster, what kind of people did you family dislike? Did you hear talk at home against the Jews or the Negroes or the Catholics or the Methodists or the Chinese? Did you hate city people or Bostonians or Southerners, or those who didn't speak English very well?"

To think a prejudice through to its sources is sometimes to get rid of it. A soldier in battle isn't likely to ask the religion or racial origin of the man at his side. He wants to know will he stand or run, will he help a man when he's hurt, will he share his water or his rations when there isn't enough. . . .

In this war we are all soldiers. A sneer, an unworthy discrimination, may be a blow struck for Hitler, may strike down a loyal comrade at our side.—New York Times.

TOBRUK

After the war, a book may be written on the amazing siege of Tobruk. It has held out against 937 air-raids (up to July 25) and for all the Axis fliers accomplished "they might as well have stayed home."

Originally the Italians built a series of forts 40 miles out from Tobruk. Since Aug. 1, the British, in a series of forays have driven the enemy away beyond these. That, for the present garrison, is far enough. The Italians "run screaming" whenever the British appear.

Axis troops would probably not relinquish Libya without a real struggle. If the British could drive them out, it might be a jumping-off place for an invasion of Italy. The present crisis at Vichy concerns the French Empire in Africa. The Germans have a dream of initiating a joint New Order for Europe and North Africa under the title of "Atlantropa". The idea is to get cheap labor and cheap natural products from Africa for the great manufacturing centres of Continental Europe. The Germans will not easily give up that plan.—Vancouver Sun.

SPEED LACKING

There is evidently something to be desired in the speed of organizing defence production. One would think that by this time there would be facilities organized for employing almost any available labor force in the service of supply. Certainly the cry from the training camps and manoeuvre grounds has been one for equipment — actual guns, planes, and tanks with which to practice.

Each day, gratifyingly, brings accounts of new factories made ready for production and of long lists of army and navy contracts let. Yet almost every day, too, brings disturbing reports of administrative tangles in Washington, of delay and confusion in getting decisions, and of red tape where there should be prompt action.—Christian Science Monitor.

THE JOHN ANTLE

Unless further assistance is forthcoming during the present year, the Columbia Coast Mission ship John Antle will have to be laid up and the work of this fine humanitarian agency will be suspended. Approximately $7,400 a year is required to operate this floating hospital and the Victoria Community Chest—with a donation of $2000—and the Vancouver Welfare Association have been its principal financial mainstays. By the end of this year, however, the ledger will show a deficit of about $3000.—Victoria Daily Times.

NON-COOPERATION

The Russians voluntarily adopted three different names for the city Peter the Great founded in 1703—St. Petersburg, Petrograd, Leningrad. One name they evidently do not intend to adopt however, is Hitlersburg.

25,000 Air Cadets in Training by End of Year

Editorial in Lethbridge Herald

Air Minister Power made it plain in his address to the nation Sunday evening that Canada is going to find all the men needed for her air force, and to keep the Commonwealth Air Training Plan operating full steam ahead.

Among other methods of keeping a steady stream of Canadian youth moving into the Air Force training fields, he mentioned the Air Cadet League of Canada. We doubt if the people of Canada as a whole yet appreciate what the Air Cadets can be made to mean to the development of the Empire's air fighting arm, but there is full appreciation of the possibilities in Ottawa and in R.C.A.F. circles.

Why Air Cadets, and why should they be organized under civilian auspices? The answer is that the Air Force needs trained young men who, on reaching the age of 18, can proceed into training with a good knowledge of the job they are undertaking. Youths cannot sign on the Air Force until they are 18. The Government and the R.C.A.F. have a full-time job training them after they sign up. So it is a civilian job to take the youngsters —who canot be signed on strength until they are 18—and give them training which will enable them to master their problems after they do sign up that much more readily. Air-minded young Canada has been clamoring for a chance to train before they are old enough to enter the R.C.A.F., and the Air Cadet League will give them an opportunity to hasten the day when they will be able to fight in the air for King and Empire.

So the Air Cadet League, of which his excellency the Governor-General is patron, is not just another organization. It is an essential undertaking which Air Minister Power and the R. C. A. F. authorities across Canada are asking civilian bodies to take up and foster. How important it is may be gathered from the fact that the objective is 25,000 Air Cadets in training across Canada by the end of this year.

Shortly in Alberta branches of the Air Cadet League will be asking the public for support to get the flights and squadrons in training. Instructors will be needed, and money will be needed to equip the youngsters so that they may carry on their training and their studies in the various phases to make them qualified airmen. When the appeal is made for support for this most worth cause, be ready to help.

Nazi Technique for Cleaning Greece of Goods

By GEORGE WELLER
Athens Correspondent of Chicago Daily News

The mechanics are simple. They consist of two hooded German army trucks, backed up together so that the combined printing plant operates in a line. The supply of money, that is, army purchasing power, is limited only by the supply of paper and ink. The Germans fix the rate of the new currency—Reichskreditkassenscheine, national treasury notes of credit, at any exchange rate which seems convenient. Because the supply is unlimited, the rate does not matter. In Greece the exchange happens to be 50 drachmas per occupation mark, as the notes are usually called.

Besides his salary, every soldier on leave in Athens was given 100 such marks, or about 5000 drachmas, the equivalent of a month's salary for a Greek civil employee of the middle class. (A parachutist earns 250 marks monthly). Large illustrated posters appeared in all banks and shop windows by German order, showing the marks and their Greek equivalents, from one mark to 5000.

The soldiers quickly spent their allotment—worth approximately $40 if the currency were not being simultaneously inflated —for clothing, soap, pyjamas, silk stockings for German womenfolk, all the many things in which Germany is deficient and which Greece has stored by. Multiplied by an army that from soberest neutral estimates numbered at least 350,000 men, the mass purchases swept Greek shops clean of the few things left over from the war. Tailor shops, particularly, were left bare.

The mass purchases would have been serious in peacetime, but in war, with Greece totally cut off from the import of either finished or raw materials of any kind, they were disastrous. Neutral correspondents who had seen the same thing in Poland, Norway, France, Denmark and Holland summarized the situation by saying:

"The Greeks have been cleaned out faster than any nation yet."

The German inflation has reduced to penury all persons dependent upon fixed civil salaries, pensions, insurance, savings accounts on remittances from abroad, and thus many members of the middle classes have been forced down to the semi-starvation of the working classes.

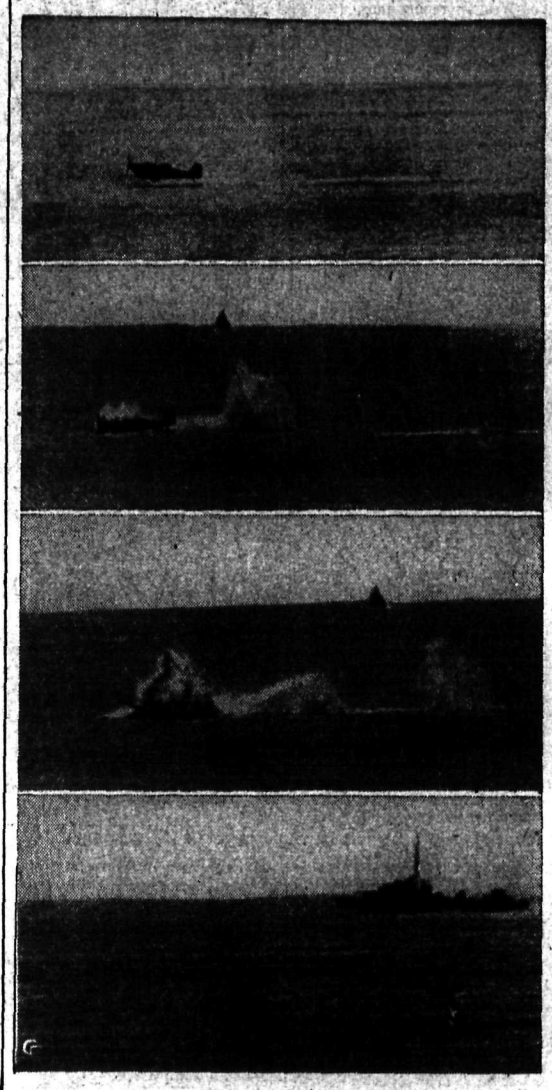
END OF A FASCIST PLANE



When a British convoy was attacked by Italian aircraft in the Mediterranean recently, this enemy plane didn't return to its base. Trying to make the crash landing as painless as possible, the pilot skims the surface of the water for a moment and then hits, only to bounce before meeting the water again head-on. The Italian planes made five attacks on the convoy, which got through safely with the exception of the destroyer Fearless. Struck by an enemy torpedo, the Fearless had to be abandoned and was sunk by gunfire from the British ships.

Senior Baseball Returns to Nelson Sunday With Rossland-Nelson Game

Scott Opposes Ewing on Mound Duty

Senior baseball, with emphasis on youth, returns to Nelson on Sunday when a strengthened band of Lakeside ball players organized by Austin Brennan takes on Rossland Pirates in a game at the Recreation Grounds at 5 o'clock sharp on Sunday.

From the beginning of the season the Juniors have been stuggling along, paying their own way to make ends meet. Eventually they got Brennan to coach them and also to play. But like the Seniors, who folded up before a game was played this year because players had enlisted and left town for other reasons, the Juniors fund themselves in difficulties as regards fielding a team.

Without a pitcher, they recently signed Steve Scott, a southpaw who has shown a lot of promise but somehow has failed to bloom as expected. But Brennan expects big things from Scott this year, and will send him to the mound for Sunday's game against the crack Rossland Senior outfit, which is bossed by Russell Jones.

TOMMY McINNES
. . . third base star, who returns to action Sunday.

EX-SENIORS

Brennan, who is an ex-Senior himself, has now drafted Carl Locatelli, Tommy McInnes and Jesse Seaby into the lineup. Locatelli and McInnes are two former Lethbridge buddies, who made Nelson their home after coming here to play ball. Seaby, an all-around player, will likely be used in the infield also.

As for the Pirates, they are led by the strong right arm of Dave Ewing. Ewing, who served with Trail Cardinals in the West Kootenay League, has been hurling great ball this year, only last Sunday letting the Nelson boys down with a two-hit shutout job. He hurled a masterpiece, but his task will be a lot tougher tomorrow, with Seaby, Locatelli and McInnes new faces in the Nelson lineup.

Catching for the Pirates is the peppery little Mush Anselmo, a treat for any fan. And the rest of the lineup shows a formidable array of talent. Among the others are Vern Davidson, Ross Jackson, Joe Morasco, Pie Laface, Ira Page, Mike Densky, Johnny Harry, Lawrence Paul and Gordie Ezart.

Reds Beat Cubs and Tie Pirates in Third Spot; Three Games Rained Out

By the Canadian Press

Johnny Vander Meer's twelfth victory of the year and his fourth in succession sent Cincinnati into a third-place tie with the idle Pittsburgh Pirates Friday as the Reds, held to five hits, defeated Chicago 3-1.

It was the only National contest not rained out.

In the American League at Washington, Alejando Carrasquel, the towering Venezuelan who until a few weeks ago wasn't entrusted with a starting pitching assignment, won his sixth victory of the year against no defeats for the Washington Senators by turning back the Boston Red Sox, 6-3.

The game was called in the eighth after 40 minutes' delay due to rain. Manager Joe Cronin of the Red Sox said that he would protest the contest because the field was not covered during the rain. He said play could have been resumed had canvas been spread.

In a night game at Chicago, the White Sox climbed to within a half game of third place in the American League by defeating Cleveland, 5-2, before 34,879. It was their twelfth victory in 16 games.

At St. Louis, rookie Bob Muncrief checked the Detroit Tigers on six hits while the St. Louis Browns made a like number of blows good enough for a 6-1 triumph, largely because of outfielder Joe Grace's third-inning homer with two on base.

The scores:

Greenwood Is Laying Plans for Labor Day

Greenwood is again laying plans for a big Labor Day celebration.

R. B. Wallace, Chairman, has an energetic committee working with him to make the celebration an even bigger success than last year's, and arrangements are well in hand.

Among other war-assisting efforts will be sale of tickets on War Savings, two prizes of $50 and $25 in Certificates being posted.

VANCOUVER, Aug. 15 (CP) — The Intercity Lacrosse Leagues two strongest teams — Richmond and Burrards—staged what was probably a preview of the championship playoff finals tonight and the Vancouver club tripped the Richmond Farmers 15-12.

Richmond, far ahead of other teams in the league, have cinched a bye into the finals. Burrards are in second place.

Clements of Fernie Among Winners in Second Division Track and Field

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, Aug. 15 (CP)—Piling up 25 points, athletes of a Western Infantry Brigade won the 2nd Canadian Division track and field championship before several thousand spectators, including Maj.-Gen. Victor Odlum and every Brigadier and Colonel in the Division.

A Quebec Infantry Brigade was second with 21 points, the Royal Canadian Artillery third with 20 points and an Ontario Infantry Brigade fourth with 19 points. Divisional troops trailed with 14.

Star of the meet was Lieut. W. L. Craig of Sarnia, Ont., who won the 100-yard dash, ran a dead heat with Sgm. "Red" Louden of Winnipeg for first place in the 200-yard, and was second in the running broad jump. Sgmn. Louden was a member of the winning 440-yard relay team and was third in the century sprint.

Gnr. A. Clements, Fernie, was among the winners, placing third in the standing broad jump.

Trail Girl Reps Beaten at Salmo In Softball Game

SALMO, B.C., Aug. 15 — Salmo Devils sprung a big surprise on the Trail Reps, who will compete against Nelson in the West Kootenay girls' softball playoffs soon, when they blasted the offerings of Evelyn Davies and Margaret (Mandy) Smith for a 17-11 victory here Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Smith was the starting pitcher, but she was relieved in the sixth. Meanwhile Olive Anderson, hurled a steady game for Salmo, and once her team had taken the lead in the middle innings, she kept the Trail girls in check. She recorded only two strikeouts, but Trail failed to hit her hard. She walked three. Mandy Smith walked seven and struck out seven, and Evelyn Davies walked two and fanned one.

Sadie Hamberg and Naomi Lindstrom, shortstop and catcher respectively, provided most of the Salmo girls' punch, each getting four hits. Each was up six times, and Sadie drew a walk on one of her other trips to the plate. She scored four runs to lead in that department. Naomi had a home run in her collection, and scored three runs. Babe Evans, cleanup hitter, had three singles.

For Trail J. Kendall banged out a home run and two singles. Hazel Weir, Mary Cronie and D. Miller each hammered out doubles.

ONE DOUBLE PLAY

In the ninth inning Sadie Hamberg and Doreen Gibbon combined for the game's only double play, the former taking Mandy Smith's drive and throwing to first to double up Evelyn Davies.

Score by innings:

Movietown Annual Baseball Burlesque

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 15 (AP).—Movietown staged its annual baseball burlesque last night, but there were two guys, Dennis Morgan and Preston Foster, definitely out of place. They actually can play baseball.

Morgan supplied the Babe Ruth touch. Foster pitched himself out of a hundred gags—and back into them.

Twenty-five thousand spectators packed Wrigley Field for this charity festival, while half the actors in Hollywood, plus a sprinkling of glamor gals, put on the show.

The rival comedian and leading men's teams rode into the park in huge wagons, which brought this from the Master of Ceremonies Red Skelton:

"Did you see those eight big horses pulling the leading men's wagon? Well, it takes that many to haul that load of ham."

Morgan stunned the crowd with one two-bagger smack, but it was nothing to what happened later. He was catching and became slightly disgusted when a batter couldn't even touch one of Foster's slow balls. He grabbed the bat and hammered the first pitch into the bleachers. Morgan probably won't be permitted to play next year.

The best baseball gag came when two decrepit looking gentlemen stepped from a car at home plate. One had a crutch, the other wore dark glasses and was led by a dog. "The umpires," said Skelton.

One of Germany's war prisoners is Lou Barry, former champion sculler of England.

TO ASK TRAIL, KIMBERLEY FOR HELP

Officers and executive of the Nelson Senior Hockey Club formally resigned en bloc Friday night, and made preparations to turn the reins over to the Nelson Civic Centre Commission. Mayor N. C. Stibbs, A. A. Gilker and W. M. Young were appointed a committee representing the old hockey executive to interview the Commission as regards continuing senior hockey in Nelson.

H. M. Whimster, President for the past two seasons, said he was sorry that last Winter finished as it did when the Club lost $1800 on the season's operations, but that he didn't want to go in any deeper.

Although it was not an expensive season, he pointed out that the Club failed in its gamble to make second place and a probable spot in the playoff finals, and as a result incurred the deficit. The previous year two big playoff games with Trail brought the Leafs well into the clear. If the Leafs had got into the series again with Trail, the financial report would have been much more favorable. The Club has a number of assets, including equipment, but faces no liabilities.

Regarding the setup with the Alberta League last year, Mr. Whimster said that those games produced great hockey for the fans, and actually did not cost the Nelson Club any money at all in making the Alberta swing.

IMPORTS BAD LOT

But what did run the Leafs into the red was the unlucky acquisition of imports who simply would not work. Consequently when the imports were paid salaries by the Club, it merely served to breed discontent among the other players, and resulted in no split at the end of the season for any of them.

Asked what he thought of the import proposition, Jesse Seaby, Leafs' goaltender who was brought in from Drumheller for the 1937-38 season, told the executive that "if he doesn't work, let him go home. Every day that he doesn't work, I figure it as a dollar I don't get. That should have been done years ago, for that's what has put us in such a state today. The story that the Club couldn't afford to let any of the players go is bunk, for you'd see if one or two of the players were fired the first day they didn't go to work, you wouldn't have any trouble from the rest of them. And I believe that a hockey club would be allowed replacements for these players, as the C. A. H. A. should like to see this nuisance eliminated."

So next Winter senior hockey in Nelson will apparently have no room for "hockey bums". If they won't work at the jobs provided for them, they will be given their releases, with no ado.

But because Nelson will have to furnish Allan Cup hockey so as to compete against Trail and Kimberley in a balanced league, the meeting made clear that if the Smoke Eaters and Dynamiters wanted the Leafs in the League, they would have to provide some assistance or concessions. With that idea in view, it will be suggested to the Civic Centre Commission that it appoint representatives to the West Kootenay Hockey Association meeting, which has been postponed from tomorrow to September 7, at Kimberley, and explain the situation of the Nelson Club. Nelson during war conditions will not be able to operate without help from the League.

KEEP HOCKEY GOING

Mayor Stibbs stated, however, that under no circumstances should senior hockey be allowed to fold up in Nelson during the war, even for one year.

"It will be a hard thing to get going again," His Worship said, "and above all, it will kill the initiative of all our kid players. Without the seniors to look up to, or an eventual senior berth to aim at, the boys will lose heart, and within a year or so all Winter activities at the Civic Centre will come to an end. We see now what has happened to boxla in the lower divisions, when they became neglected."

Carpenter Makes His Debut With Capilanos but Loses in the Tenth

VANCOUVER, Aug. 15 — Jack Carpenter, Nelson policeman who is playing for Vancouver Capilanos during his vacation here, made his debut tonight against the Spokane Indians when he was given a relief job.

Vancouver was beaten in ten innings 7-5, and Carpenter was charged with the loss. He relieved the faltering Tex Goldman in the seventh with the score 5-2, and shut out the Indians in the eighth and ninth frames, while the Caps were tying up the score to force the game into overtime. Carpenter allowed two runs in the tenth, the only ones scored off him, and Vancouver was blanked in its half.

Ted Williams Sure He Will Bat .400 Mark This Year

By DICK CRESAP
Associated Press Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 15 (AP) —Boston's cocky Ted Williams isn't at all surprised he's leading the major league hitters with a gaudy .406. In fact, he's a little disappointed his average isn't heavier.

But now that the Red Sox shrinking violet is on his way, he wants the baseball public to know there's no question about him winding up the American League season as the circuit's first player in 18 years to top the .400 mark.

"Sure I will," roared the fly chaser as he sprawled on a dressing room table after yesterday's Sox-Athletics doubleheader. "It's going to be a cinch. All it takes is luck, confidence and good hitting—and boy, I've got all three."

"I was out of 14 or 15 games this Summer with a hurt leg. If I'd been up as many times as some of the others I might have done better. And look at the times I've been walked. Nearly 100. That does not cut your average down but it robs you of a chance to get hits."

Clouting baseihts at a .400 clip is really very simple, to hear Ted tell it, even though .327 and .344 is the best he's been able to do in his two previous years in the majors.

"You've gotta have luck," declared the 22-year-old thin man.

"Of course," he added, seriously, "luck isn't everything. You have to be a reasonably good hitter, too."

If young Mr. Williams continues his amazing work at the plate, he'll be the first .400 hitter in the American League since Harry Heilman batted .403 for Detroit in 1923. Bill Terry of the New York Giants was the last National League player to win the honor. He batted .401 in 1930.

Morasco Gathering Rossland Softball Squad for Playoffs

ROSSLAND, B. C., Aug. 15—Despite the fact that no softball league has functioned here this Summer, Joe Morasco is endeavoring to get a team together to enter the West Kootenay softball playoffs which it is expected will get under way soon. At least four teams will participate this year, Nelson, Trail, Castlegar and Rossland, while one may also be entered from Salmo.

What Do Yankees Talk About When Not Playing Ball? Here Is Answer

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sport Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP).—Title—Rainy day with the Yankees, or what do the next American League champions talk about when they're not talking baseball?

Scene—Dugout at Yankee Stadium as showers fall freely on free ladies' day customers for Philadelphia Athletics' game (practically no paid admissions).

Cast—Wait and see:

Phil Rizzuto: Hey, Suder, come in out of the rain. Hey, Pete, you're a smart guy but you don't know enough to get out of the rain. Hey, Suder, it's raining, go home!

Charley (King Kong) Keller: Watch me, boys, I'm going to pitch. I feel like I've got my stuff today. (Goes out to warm-up mound near home plate and starts throwing elaborately to Gerry Priddy).

Manager Joe McCarthy: Hey, Keller, you sure are giving the girls a thrill. Listen to 'em holler.

Joe DiMaggio: Watch him look as if he's going to pick somebody off first base. Ain't it awful?

Coach Earl Combs: Hey, Rizzuto, do you know anything about doodlebugs?

Rizzuto: What ase doodlebugs?

Combs: They're little insects that live in little mounds down in the South. You go up and stick a lighted match down their hole and then cup your hands close to the ground and sing "Doodlebug, doodlebug run away. Your house is on fire, come some other day." Then the doodlebug comes out and runs away.

Rizzuto: Aw, you're kiddin' me. Do they really do that? We used to say something like that about ladybugs when I was a kid.

Joe Gordon: Did it fly?

Rizzuto: No, we flipped it off with our fingers.

Voice from other end of dugout, game's off fellows, get the hell out.

(Yankees march off in a chain gang lock step, right hand on left shoulder of man in front. If this sounds cockeyed you know how it feels to be 15½ games ahead of everybody else on the way to the World Series).

PLAYOFF SOFTBALL GAME RAINED OUT

Rain washed out the third and deciding game of the Pucksters-C. Y. O. men's softball game Friday evening, and the game is rescheduled for Tuesday. The winner of this series will take on the Savoys who ousted the Bombers in a similar semi-final by two wins against one default.

The final series will get away next Friday.

How Giants Were "Shadowed" to Pennant in 1917

By Jack Ryan in Chicago
Daily News

A nostalgic stirring moved John Hans Lobert to stroll down Michigan Avenue in the late dusk the other day for a visit to the Auditorium Hotel. The acting manager of the Philadelphia Phillies had heard the building was being eyed by the wreckers and he wanted just one more look to sharpen the memory of the days of New York greatness under John McGraw, when the Giants stopped at the Auditorium. Particularly he wanted to savor anew the memory of late September, 1917, when the Giants were battling for the National League pennant and his role was to stand guard over the wayward hurler, Rube Benton.

"Jess Burkett and myself were the 'policemen' of the club," the jutnosed, red-faced Hans recalled. "I got my appointment to keep tabs on Benton here at the Auditorium in '17. Burkett had the year-'round job of watching over Phil Douglas. Why, even when we were in New York, Burkett couldn't live with his family. He had to watch over Douglas. When we came into Chicago this particular time, Mr. McGraw told me, 'We can cinch the pennant on this Western swing if we keep these pitchers in condition. You're to stay with that Benton and NEVER let him out of your sight.'"

Ferdie Schupp pitched and won the first game at the Cubs' park. Back at the hotel, after riding in by tallyho amid the hoots and catcalls of the partisan Chicagoans, Benton professed to be sleepy. "I'm going up to bed," yawned the hurler, "And I," spoke up Lobert "am going with you."

So to bed they went, Benton crawling into the one near the window, Lobert stationing himself in the bed near the door.

FOILS HIM

"I thought there was something funny about Benton going to bed at 9 o'clock in the evening," Lobert explained. "That just didn't make sense. The light from Michigan boul—eee—vard (Lobert's pronunciation) outlined Benton's figure in the bed. I was in the shadow where he couldn't tell I was watching him. It must have been 45 minutes we lay there before I saw him, in the light from Michigan boul—eee—vard, sitting up in bed. He got out and dressed. I let him get right to the door before I lounged and brought him to the floor with a flying tackle."

Benton missed the gayety and the late hours of the cafes that night but the next day he pitched and won to move the Giants within reaching distance of the pennant.

It wasn't until several days later in St. Louis that the Giants did cinch the National League championship. When they did, the usually firm disciplinarian, McGraw, let down all the rules. "There's just one thing," McGraw cautioned. "Do anything you want short of getting thrown into jail."

And then McGraw turned to Lobert and said: "You don't have to watch Benton tonight. You're going with me."

First stop for McGraw was a country club and his first order was "Two bottles of champagne, waiter." Lobert is hazy on the exact course of events thereafter. He knows that around 11 o'clock he and McGraw got back to the Giants' hotel for dinner. And he recalls with amazement that Benton was in his room and in bed, when by reputation and inclination he was a 100-to-1 shot to be painting the town and it's rowdier cafes.

McGraw kept Lobert out until 8 o'clock that morning. And then, just before the next afternoon's game, McGraw beckoned to Lobert. "Hans," he said, "you're playing third base this afternoon."

"Imagine that?" Lobert exploded at the recollection, "me, 36 years old, groggy from lack of sleep and McGraw's pal. Well, I had to play but, golly, I thought I'd never make it."

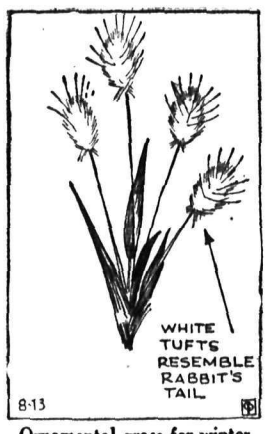
Ornamental Grass Is Easy to Grow



Ornamental grass for winter bouquets

By DEAN HALLIDAY

Ornamental grasses are valuable for dried Winter bouquets either used by themselves or as fillers.

One especially lovely grass is hagurus ovatus, better known as hare's-tail or rabbit-tail grass. As illustrated in the Garden-Graph, the white downy tufts actually do resemble a rabbitt's tail.

This grass is easy to grow and frequently is grown in pots for its attractive, long-lasting flower clusters. Rabbit-tail grass is a hardy annual growing from one to two feet high. The narrow grass-like leaves are soft hairy and the white woolly heads are one to two inches long.

The tufts should be cut when a fine, yellow pollen appears on their silken-soft blooms.

CONTRACT . . . By Shepard Barclay

TRY TO BE DIFFERENT

IN A DUPLICATE tournament, with match-point scoring, unless you figure you are probably ahead of your opposition and wish to be as conservative as possible to protect your lead, it is well to look for "different" ways of playing the hands. By that is meant methods which probably are not used by your chief rivals in the game. If you see a combination of cards which can be played in either of two ways, one of them practically as sound as the other, the procedure to follow, when you are seeking top scores, is the one you think your rivals are the less likely to adopt.

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	Pass	1 ♥
Pass	2 ♣	Pass	3 ♥
Pass	4 ♣	Pass	5 ♥
Pass	6 ♥

That 5-Heart bid, after the earlier jump to 3-Hearts, was a mighty powerful call, almost a force to small slam if North had anything besides the minimum he had shown. He had, with his heart K, so went to 6-Hearts, that same bidding exactly coming at three tables of a duplicate game. All three of these declarers got the same opening lead, the spade 2, East playing his J, but two of the three failed to make the contract, those who thought they already had a good score. The other, reaching out for tops to make up lost ground, not only made the contract, but an extra trick as well.

Where the contract was beaten, each declarer, after taking the first trick with the spade A, led to the heart K and brought back the 10, covering it with the J. West won the finesse with his Q, then decided the spade suit was not hopeful, as finding East with the J, Q and K originally was unlikely. So each West decided upon a switch to the diamond 10, and the A won, setting the contract.

The "shooter" at the remaining 6-Hearts table studied a bit after winning the first spade trick. He reckoned that his rivals would take the heart K and finesse the J, so he chose to do differently. He led the J from his hand. West refused to cover, so the J rode through. The heart K, club A and heart A cleared trumps. Thus two spades were scored, six heart tricks and five clubs, 13 in all, one more than needed.

Your Week-End Lesson

Why is it sound to count a singleton in your hand as of some value when you consider making an opening bid? Is it because you are in position to trump the second round of the suit? Is it because possession of the singleton obviously causes some other suit to be longer than if you had a doubleton instead of a singleton? Is it because of a combination of these? Can you set up a hand in which the difference between a doubleton and a singleton in the original bidder's hand really counts?

Buying Strong on Winnipeg Mkt.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 15 (CP).—Good buying by Canadian mills continued today in the wheat futures pit on Winnipeg Grain Exchange, and despite late heavier hedging, prices closed unchanged to ⅛ higher, with October at 75⅝; December 77¼—⅜, and May 81⅛ cents a bushel.

It was estimated that Canadian mills have taken more than 5,000,000 bushels of wheat out of the pit since last Saturday's close. Except for small exports early this week to Newfoundland, Manila and the West Indies, the entire amount was in connection with domestic flour sales.

In the coarse grain pit, mills were offering fairly good support in oats, while maltsters and shippers made small purchases in barley. There was a minor crusher interest in flax, but rye was almost entirely neglected. Offerings were generally light, contributing to upturns.

Cash wheat market trading was slow, with shippers interested in Nos. 1 and 2 Northern, mills in No. 4 and United States buyers in No. 5, but only a negligible amount of business was reported, with spreads about unchanged.

DETROIT, Aug. 15 (AP). — A walkout of 250 employees in the press shop of the Briggs Manufacturing Company closed the Mack Avenue plant today. The management sent home 4500 employees and an hour later operations of Chrysler Corporation's Plymouth division were halted for lack of parts, affecting 5000 workers. The men complained about discharge of a shop steward.

War Expenses in July $108,000,000

QUEBEC, Aug. 15 (CP).—Finance Minister Isley revealed today that Canada's total war expenditures in July, "reached the record figure of about $108,000,000' and warned Canadians against over-confidence which might result from the present "rising tide of optimism in this country and in England."

Addressing a luncheon gathering at the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association convention, Mr. Ilsley said Canada's war expenditures now are running "at a rate of $3,000,000 to $4,000,0000 a day."

Those figures, he said, have not been published before.

He appealed for public support of "two campaigns which are now of national importance." The first called for "drastic restrictions in the use of gasoline for pleasure purposes" and the second for a curtailment of instalment credit sales.

Referring to credit sales, he warned that any "widespread mortgaging of the future will aggravate post-war difficulties" and urged business interests to impose conservative credit terms by increasing the required down payment and shortening the period over which payments may run.

Chicago Wheat Closes on Gains

CHICAGO, Aug. 15 (AP).—Wheat prices fluctuated nervously today, dipping at one time almost a cent below yesterday's close, but finishing with small nets gains.

Late mill buying and short covering caused wheat to close ½—⅞ cent higher than yesterday, September $1.12⅛—¼, December $1.15⅞—1.16. Corn was ⅜—¾ up, September 78⅛, December 81⅝—¾; oats ⅛—½ higher.

Light Selling Scatters Losses In Wall St. Stocks

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP). — Yesterday's feeble stock market rally, the first on average since July 28, quickly fizzed today under a light selling shower. There were scattered losses of a point or so at the close but declines generally were in fractions.

Moderately improved most of the session were Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, Glen Martin and Climax Molybdenum.

Toronto Stocks Pick Up Losses

TORONTO, Aug. 15 (CP).—The stock market turned about in the afternoon trading today and in a mild rally erased early losses and in many instances, posted minor net gains in the industrial and mining divisions. The balance of charges over the board was on the up side at the close.

O'Brien had one of its biggest days, trading 30,000 shares or more on a price advance of 20 cents to 1.60. Teck Hughes firmed 15 cents to 2.90, Sheep Creek 6 cents to 98.

Preston dropped to 3.20, off 5 cents and the close was down a few cents for other golds.

In the base metals, Hudson Bay and Nickel weakened ⅛ to ¾.

Gains predominated in the food, senior oil and miscellaneous industrial groups. Carnation Milk pfd. advanced ½, to a new high for the year at 119½. Simpson added a point and Massey-Harris pfd. ½. Losses of ⅛ to ⅞ were netted by Distillers-Seagrams and Canadian Breweries pfd.

Dalhousie and Anglo-Canadian were Western oil gainers and Okalta was down 4 to 54.

Interpreting the War News . . .

Climatic Effort to Crush Russians May Be Hitler's Answer to War Aims

Time Before Snow to Make Supreme Attempt

By EDWARD E. BOMAR
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

There are indications that Hitler may make a climatic effort to crush Russia quickly as an answer to the "Atlantic charter" drafted by Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt.

At least one more supreme attempt to roll up the Red armies in the North and take Moscow and Leningrad is clearly within the power of the Nazi war machine before snow flies, and the day's news suggests it may already be taking form.

The 10 days that have elapsed since the main offensive was shifted Southward to the Ukraine is sufficient for a formidable gathering of forces for another attempt to effect a decisive break-through in the direction of Moscow or Leningrad. The signs appear to point to another transfer of emphasis.

With the extent of the German triumphs in the Ukraine uncertain and the next offensive move a question, it is pertinent to recall that at the start of the invasion the most expert neutral military opinion held that the drive directly toward Moscow was of primary importance.

What took place on the flanks, in the judgment of an outstanding American official analyst, was in the nature of a diversion.

The axis of the drive to destroy Russia's main field forces was foreseen as the Brest-Litovsk-Moscow line, and events bore out the prediction.

A Berlin calculation was upset by the promptness with which President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill accepted Soviet Russia as a recruit in the struggle to curb Nazi aggression, thus spiking the attempt to make the invasion a world crusade against Bolshevism.

Then there was the widespread expectation that Berlin soon would undertake a peace offensive. The Red army's stubbornness has postponed any such coup. Now it may be that the declaration of British and American war aims has headed it off entirely.

Australian Troops Land at Singapore

SINGAPORE, Aug. 15 (CP). — Slouch-hated Australian fighting men marched singing and cheering from the piers of this Gibraltar of the East today after their arrival in the largest convoy to reach Malaya since the war began.

Some of the Imperial reinforcements were transported immediately to posts in the Singapore area and some to other stations on the Malay Peninsula.

The large Aussie contingent represented all branches of Army service. Much of their heavy equipment such as tanks and artillery arrived ahead of them from Britain and Australia.

Watching the disembarkation of these thousands of men were Air Chief Marshal Sir Robert Brooke-Popham, Commander in Chief of Far East Forces, and Maj.-Gen. H. Gordon Bennett, Commander of Australian Forces in Malaya.

Canada to Redeem $138,000,000 Bonds to Assist Britain

LONDON, Aug. 15 (CP.-Cable)—Transfer of further Canadian sterling securities to the Treasury in full agreement with the Government of Canada was announced officially tonight.

The transaction involves about $138,000,000 in Canadian funds.

The besting order calls for delivery to the Treasury of three Dominion Government issues and two Province of Ontario, for subsequent redemption by the Canadian Governments concerned.

The object of the move is to assist in financing the war effort both in the Empire and elsewhere.

HELP PAY FOR WAR

OTTAWA, Aug. 15 (CP).—Forthcoming redemption by the Dominion and Ontario Governments of about $138,000,000 worth of Canadian securities held in the United Kingdom will help pay for British war purchases in Canada, Finance Minister Ilsley said tonight.

"This liquidation of debt before maturity forms part of the general arrangements under which Canada makes available to the United Kingdom Canadian dollars for British purchases of munitions of war, raw materials and foodstuffs in Canada."

Officials said the repatriation of Canadian securities amounts to paying debts before they fall due. In addition to repatriation, the Dominion is aiding British war financing in Canada by accumulating sterling balances.

It has been estimated that during the current fiscal year ending next March 31 the total required for Canada's financial aid to Britain will be between $800,000,000 and $900,000,000.

Awards to Creston Review for Best Editorial Page Triumph for Owner

CRESTON, B. C., Aug. 15—Awards won by The Creston Review in competitions staged by the Candian Weekly Newspapers Association are bringing many congratulatory messages to H. K. Legg, proprietor.

Mr. Legg, formerly of Calgary, acquired The Review two years go. The awards are to a considerable extent a personal triumph as along with taking all round charge as editor Mr. Legg also gives considerable time to mechanical supervision, as well as the business office.

The Review on Thursday was advised that it had won the John W. Edy Memorial Trophy for the best editorial page of all weekly newspapers in Canada with a circulation of 1000 or less. The editorial page scored 93 out of 100 points possible, and in making their award the judges pointed out that this was the first time in the history of the Association that any paper was able to top all competitors in the four categories on which the cup was awarded.

The Review was adjudged sixth best all round weekly newspaper in its class in all Canada, and was first for local advertising in relation to circulation. It tied for second place in all Canada for best district news coverage.

In the 1000-or-less circulation group in competition open to British Columbia, The Review won first place for editorial page, district news, local advertising and classified advertising. It was adjudged the second best all round weekly in B. C., had second best front page; and won recognition for layout, presswork, national advertising and general appearance. The Review front page was first in news value, typography, presswork and local illustration.
