TURN DOWN PLAN TO BUILD AN OIL PIPE BY SPRING

If Built Later, Steel Plates Should Not Be Used

PIPE LINE VITAL STATES OFFICIAL

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9 (AP)—The Supply Priorities and Allocations Board rejected tonight a proposal to construct a $600,000,000 pipeline by next Spring to carry petroleum products from the Gulf area to the Eastern United States.

Board officials emphasized that the Board did not pass finally on the question of ultimately constructing such a line. They said the Board did not act on that question because Harold L. Jokes, the Petroleum Administrator who had advocated the line, was not present at the meeting.

Board officials said that if the line should be built it would not be constructed of steel plates. There has been a shortage of steel plates which are used in ship construction and the Board determined if priorities should be granted steel for the pipeline.

Earlier in the day, Ralph K. Davies, Acting Petroleum Coordinator, insisted that present curtailment of retail gasoline sales must continue and demanded construction of the pipeline as "a matter of national defence just as vital as warships and planes."

However, Chairman Francis Maloney of the Senate Committee investigating the Eastern petroleum situation contended that the "oil shortage is over."

"Instead of a shortage of 174,000 barrels of petroleum products, we seem to have a surplus of some 80,000 barrels based on testimony and evidence before this committee," Maloney observed. Davies was a witness before the committee.

If the line is built of steel tubes, the Board decided, the tubes can be supplied at a sufficiently slow rate as not to interfere with the manufacture of bomb casings.

No Sabotage in Arvida Strike

CHICOUTIMI, Que., Sept. 9 (CP)—Charles A. Cannon, counsel for the Quebec Attorney-General's Department, told a Royal Commission today that it had been proved beyond doubt that rumors of sabotage in the five-day aluminum strike at nearby Arvida two months ago were unfounded.

Mr. Cannon made his statement before a Royal Commission investigating the cause of the walk-out, which occurred at the Arvida plant of the Aluminum Company of Canada. A few hours later the Commission ended its sittings, which began Aug. 25.

Royal Canadian Mounted Police officers, who were on hand to guard against any possible outbreak of sabotage, said they found no proof of outside influence or of enemy action, direct or indirect, in the strike, said Mr. Cannon, summing up evidence presented before the Royal Commission.

Interpreting The War News

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON—Associated Press Staff Writer

Whatever else can be read into Prime Minister Churchill's first war progress report to Parliament in more than a month—and it was definitely cheering in British ears for several reasons—it helped set the stage for President Roosevelt's forthcoming pronouncement, deferred because of his mother's death.

VICTORIA, Sept. 9 (CP)—The Court of Appeal opened its Fall sittings in the Victoria Court House today with a personal tribute from Chief Justice M. A. MacDermid to the memory of his predecessor, the late Hon. Archer Martin.

Farewell Given Canada by Duke

QUEBEC, Sept. 9 (CP)—The Duke of Kent, in a farewell address to Canada, said tonight that the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan "is to play one of the major roles in the ultimate victory of free people over tyranny."

Speaking over the national network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, his Royal Highness said that he had been "impressed and inspired by the excellent personnel I have found everywhere associated with the air force." With the Air Training Plan "there is to be found manhood, the equal of which is not surpassed anywhere in the world."

Throughout his tour of air force schools, the Duke said, "I have found everywhere an admirable spirit of comradeship, a deep concern of the safety of the crew, and an eagerness to get on with the job to see it through no matter what personal sacrifice it may entail." He paid tribute to airmen training from all parts of the British Empire and to "a countless number of fighters for freedom from the United States of America and South America."

His Royal Highness thanked all classes of people for the reception given him, and said that when he returned to Britain he would be able to tell the people there of "many things which have seen here with my own eyes."

CHILDREN UNDER 16 NOT NEEDED IN WAR INDUSTRY

OTTAWA, Sept. 9 (CP)—Children under 16 years of age are not needed in war industries, Labor Minister McLarty said today in a statement emphasizing importance of young people continuing at school as long as possible and "as long as they can profit from such attendance."

"Our most pressing concern is, of course, to further war production but we must not lose sight of the problems that are bound to arise after the war and among these will be some measure of unemployment due to an inevitable dislocation in industry. Workers with the least education and the least training are sure to be among the first to be left out and the last to be taken on."

Compensation Is Provided A.R.P.

OTTAWA, Sept. 9 (CP)—Compensation workers or their dependents when death or injury results from their service was provided by an order-in-council approved today.

A statement issued by Pension Minister Mackenzie who has jurisdiction over A.R.P. work in Canada said the order-in-council applies "in those centres which have been designated as liable to enemy aerial attack or bombardment."

Scale of allowances and pensions payable under the order is comparable with prevailing workmen's compensation rates. The Minister said. Maximum permanent pension for a disabled man or woman is $600 a year and for a widow in case of death $480 a year with "appropriate additional allowances for dependents."

Mr. Mackenzie's statement did not list the places which have been designated liable to attack or bombardment. The protection in event of death or injury covered voluntary A.R.P. workers registered by a duly approved body organized for A.R.P. purposes.

Must Realize Labor Important—Pearson

VICTORIA, Sept. 9 (CP)—The main problems of workmen would be overcome if employers in private industries would realize that labor was as important to them as their capital, said Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Labor, in an address to a service club today.

"You can't have capital if you haven't got labor," Mr. Pearson said, but few directors of labor realize this.

Mr. Pearson said private industry would be controlled more and more by the Government if it did not find a way to provide workmen with the things they deserved.

CANADIANS SET GREAT FIRES IN WRECKING MINES

400,000 Tons of Coal, 125,000 Gallons of Oil Fired MACHINERY TAKEN

By ROSS MUNRO LONDON, Sept. 9 (CP.Cable)—Royal Canadian Engineers in the Canadian raid on Spitzbergen wrecked the island's coal mines and set fire to vast coal and oil dumps, starting the greatest fires this correspondent has ever seen.

Rich mining properties were damaged so badly they were rendered useless. They were wrecked to remove any possibility that they would be of value later to the German war effort.

In the spectacular fires, 400,000 tons of coal were destroyed as well as 125,000 gallons of fuel oil, five mining properties were put out of action.

Many months of intense work and expenditures of considerable money would be necessary to make the mines useful again. The Canadian Engineers removed millions of dollars worth of essential machinery and equipment.

One of the most spectacular conflagrations of the whole expedition roared for four hours when a fuel dump containing 75,000 gallons of fuel oil was fired.

Barrels were pickaxed and the stream of oil set afire. Then there were great explosions as the flames raced to the dump which burned like a great blow torch.

These fires, the greatest I have seen in my life, were greater even than those caused by German bombs in London.

In a few seconds the whole place was an inferno of scarlet flames, leaping through black smoke, which curled into the Arctic sky, a mile above a fjord.

Entrances to mines were destroyed and workings deep in the ground turned into shambles. Capt. J. C. Byrn of Vancouver, the Sappers' second in command, said the coal fires will burn for years.

The largest coal dump contained 150,000 tons. Four hundred small fires were lit around the base of this mammoth pile. Gasoline was sprinkled over piles of tinders wood. The Sappers used a long torch to start the fire.

It was Arctic midnight and broad daylight. When the sun poked over the mountain tops two hours later the entire fjord was blanketed with fog and smoke.

A destroyer leaving the fjord had to navigate by compass. Demolition of mining property was carried out methodically and scientifically.

One of the mines I entered before the Sappers had finished their work ran 18 miles through a mountain. It was equipped with every modern device and turned out vast quantities of coal.

The Norwegian miners had left the town. The only persons watching the fantastic sight besides a group of Canadian soldiers were the mine manager, the chief engineer and myself.

Rout of 100,000 Men Causes Wave of Victory Hopes

150 Square Miles of Territory, 50 Villages Retaken in Two Days; 71 Nazi Planes Downed; Rain, Cold Sets in

By HENRY C. CASSIDY—Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, Sept. 10 (Wednesday) (AP)—The Red Army's biggest victory of the war, on the central front where shattered remnants of a 100,000-man Nazi force are reported in disordered retreat, drew from an official Soviet spokesman today the declaration that "the impending rout of all the German armies can already be discerned."

In confident and expansive mood, S. A. Lozovsky, Assistant Foreign Commissar who serves as liaison with the foreign press, said this vast operation, plus the unending counter-attacks by the Russians before Odessa and the determined stand of Leningrad's defenders, are "signs of growing Red Army resistance."

"Our confidence in final victory is growing," he added. The Soviet Information Bureau, reporting on yesterday's fighting fell back on its usual brief statement that stubborn battles still raged along the entire front.

It emphasized the fury of the air war with the announcement that on Sunday 71 German planes were destroyed in combat and on the ground against 24 Russian losses. Two Nazi reconnaissance planes were reported downed near Moscow in daylight yesterday.

The victorious Soviet forces on the central front, under the personal direction of Marshal Semenov, Timoshenko, were declared in hot pursuit of survivors of the German forces. Here the Russians were reported officially to have reconquered 150 square miles of territory and 50 villages in two days.

Rain and cold which already has set in on the Northern Front, Lozovsky said, "is only a contributing factor" to the defeat of the Germans.

"The main thing is," he added, "that the might of the Red Army, the unity of the Soviet people, reserves of manpower and industry are great potentialities not only for resistance but also for counter-attacks."

The blow delivered against the German thrusting toward Moscow from the Smolensk sector was not a local one, he asserted, and added that "the space of action is limited but it is hard-felt by the entire German Army."

Lozovsky described the whole front as "not continuous, but a zig-zag line." "The Germans are trying to wedge in," he went on, "and we are trying to wedge their wedge and cut it off."

"Along the entire front there is incessant fighting of unprecedented intensity. This is the reason for the great losses of the Germans and their exhaustion, moral and physical and in equipment."

In the fighting around Odessa he said 16 Rumanian divisions originally were thrown into the struggle and that now more than half of them have been shattered.

Counter-attacks continued in the approaches to Leningrad, said Red Star, the Army newspaper. It reported a unit broke up a German advance on the point "P" by attacking first, routing the Nazis and taking 217 prisoners.

Another dispatch said the Germans attacked the area around the city of "N" for five days without breaking through, and that when the civilians brought up thousands of gasoline-filled bottles which were used to repulse the German tank columns.

Empty Rosemont House Is Razed in Morning Fire

News Cameraman Has Trouble Getting Pictures of Fliers

SPOKANE, Wash., Sept. 9 (AP)—Arrival in Spokane of the Russian aviation mission which flew to the United States last week resulted yesterday in another photographer "incident" in which Charles Sheely, Spokane Chronicle cameraman, was temporarily detained by police for attempting to take pictures of the delegation.

In Seattle last week a Press boat was stopped by a pistol shot fired by a Navy guard and cameraman's equipment temporarily confiscated when the boat sailed within the 100-yard zone of Sand Point Naval Air Station while pictures were being taken of the Russians' arrival.

An empty four-roomed house on the 101st links road, Rosemont, was completely destroyed by fire about 4 a.m. Tuesday. Cause of the fire was not known.

Fire Chief G. A. McDonald stated he had been informed the house was purchased fairly recently by J. Kosianic of Crescent Valley, but had not been able to confirm this.

The fire was well advanced when the Nelson Fire Department arrived, and since the house was too far away from the nearest hydrant for hose to be laid, the efforts of the fire department were confined to using the booster pump and water carried on the fire truck. Outbuildings were saved.

Loss was estimated at $1200, partially covered by insurance. The alarm was turned in by Gordon Ferguson, who saw the glow of the fire from the Nelson business section and phoned the Fire Department.

McLarty Warns Against Strike

OTTAWA, Sept. 9 (CP)—Labor Minister McLarty tonight sent a warning to a union representative that any strike at the McKinnon Industries Ltd. plant in St. Catharines, Ont., would be considered "a deliberate attempt on the part of the union leaders to undermine the wage policy adopted by the Dominion Government in the interests of all the people of Canada."

Any strike action would be a challenge to a measure "which is the law of this country," the Minister said in his telegram to Robert S. Stacey, international representative of the United Automobile Workers Association, at St. Catharines.

Mr. McLarty said McKinnon Industries is paying as high wages as can be granted within the provisions of Government's order-in-council P. C. 7440, plus the cost of living bonus.

In this engagement our infantry destroyed five German companies."

Canadians Today to Reconsecrate Efforts to Task

OTTAWA, Sept. 9 (CP)—In anticipation of trials and sacrifice yet to come, Canadians tonight prepared to reconsecrate themselves, their efforts and their belongings to the great task of achieving victory over the armed forces of evil.

By order of the Government of Canada the week beginning Wednesday has been designated "Reconsecration Week." It coincides with the start of the third year of war, the first two years of which so far as Canada is concerned have been devoted to preparing for struggles yet to come.

In asking Canadians to reconsecrate themselves to the cause of victory in a solemn pledge, the Government draws attention to the perils confronting the country.

"At this time of peril for my country, in this fight against the evil powers that threaten to engulf the earth, conscious of my duty toward Canada and my fellow man, I solemnly pledge before Almighty God that I shall do all that lies within my power, and deem no sacrifice too great to bring about the victory of our arms, that right may triumph, that justice may prevail and that a righteous peace may reign throughout the world," runs the pledge.

It ends with the words: "To this end I reconsecrate myself, with faith, with courage and with the knowledge that, though the path be hard and the day be dark, our efforts can not fail."

CAIRO, Sept. 9 (AP)—In a new burst of activity along the North African coast the Royal Air Force Middle East Command reported raids by the South African Air Force today on the Libyan ports of Derna and Bardia and Fort Capuzzo, just across the Egyptian border.

Giving details of a Sunday night raid on Palermo, Sicily, where the Italians claimed 16 civilians killed and 25 injured, the R.A.F. communiqué said tremendous fires and explosions were started in the harbor area.

Heavy R.A.F. bombers returning from this assault were said to have strafed the coast guard station and railway sheds at Licata. No plane was lost in the North African or Sicilian attacks.

Rossland Wins in Lacrosse Protest; Takes Game 17-9

Nelson's Opening Semi-Final Victory Thrown Out on Ineligibility Ruling; Compromise Leaves Scuby, Emery in Uniform

TRAIL, B. C., Sept. 9.—The decision of the West Kootenay Lacrosse League Executive, ruling out the first game of the semi-finals between Nelson Maple Leafs and Rossland Redmen played in Nelson Saturday night with the Leafs winning 15-8, made the hard fought 17-9 victory of the Redmen at Trail tonight the first of a three series.

Rossland played Saturday's game under protest, basing the protest on the ineligibility of certain players. Although details were not divulged apart from the fact that Scuby's previous record in the Coast league this year apparently barred the Nelson goalie from the West Kootenay playdowns under the Provincial ruling, Dan McNaughton, Secretary of the Kootenay executive, stated that a compromise stipulating that the game be played during half time tonight resulted in a compromise. Rossland consented to allow Scuby and Emery to remain in the semi-final series provided Alrth, Hunden, Jardine and Andrew were not played, and that Saturday's game was disallowed.

The second game will be played at Nelson next Saturday and if a third game is necessary will be played on neutral ground, the travelling expenses of both teams to be paid and the gate split 50-50.

A total of one hour and nine minutes was handed out in Tuesday's game. Nelson drew 37 and Rossland 32 minutes, in an exhibition of terrific speed in attack which was climaxed by a confusion of penalties in the third period. Five majors were handed out, Glen Price and Al Simms getting five each in the fourth frame for the only fight of the game. Kuhn, Bryant and Jim Laface also got five.

The only time Nelson led was in the first when Bishop and Dngwall scored the first two goals. Jack Laface closed the lead, and after Art Hill scored Nelson's third, the two Redmen followed up with two more goals. Carkner scored Rossland's fourth.

In the second frame, Rossland stretched her lead to 8-6. Individual attacks rather than teamwork still predominated in the third, in which the penalty parade and gang attacks were featured. Rossland boosted its lead to 14-8.

The fourth period was comparatively mild apart from the Simms-Price fight. Nelson added one goal and Rossland three.

Rossland August Fires Are $78.50; Much Work Done

ROSSLAND, B. C., Sept. 9.—Total police court fines collected during August were $77.50 and costs $3, according to the monthly report submitted to the Council Monday evening from the local Provincial Police office. There were only two convictions during August, both of which resulted in $25 fines with court costs of $3 assessed in one case. The apparent discrepancy in figures is accounted for by the fact that the $77.50 referred to also included a conviction made in July, but which was not paid until August. Only one motor vehicle accident was reported during the month. No one was injured in this accident, and property damage amounted to only $8.

Warnings were again given to persons who had failed to purchase 1941 dog licences. Assistance was given to Dr. E. E. Topfiff, local Medical Health Officer, in the posting of quarantine notices on homes where it was known that children had recently arrived from the Prairie Provinces.

Examination of 86 School Beginners Leads Nelson Health Officer to Urge Pre-School Clinic in the City Next Year

Follow Baby Clinic; 50 Disease Cases in City

Recommendation that the City budget next year for a pre-school clinic, to follow up from babyhood to school age the health work initiated in the Women's Institute Baby Clinic, was placed before the City Council Tuesday night by Dr. F. P. Sparks, Medical Health Officer. The recommendation was contained in the Health Officer's report for the past three months.

"During the latter part of August some 86 beginners and new pupils were examined prior to entering our schools. The conditions found in some of these pupils indicates that a regularly organized pre-school clinic to follow the work of the baby clinic would be of great value in preventing conditions which materially hinder the child during his school life. I would urge that provision be made for such a clinic in 1942," Dr. Sparks said in his report.

Nixie! Nixie!! You wouldn't buy Chops by the Bunch

Thick lamb chops thin ones nice ones... others not so nice gathered in bunches and priced by the bunch!

No blind woman, even, would fall for that. Ever stop to think that maybe buying beets and carrots and turnips by the bunch isn't so much different from buying a bunch of chops? No two beets are alike. No two carrots. More important, bunches in one store are a different size from bunches in another store. But a pound of carrots — each carrot picked out by you and weighed with the tops cut off — is the same amount of good eating every time you buy it.

That's why we at Safeway now price all our fruits and vegetables this full-value way. We price all produce by weight... rather than by the piece, the bunch, or the dozen. There are many advantages to you in buying green food and fruits by weight. Come in to your Safeway's produce department and make your own comparisons. Then you'll see why we call it the FULL-VALUE WAY to buy.

Many prominent women tell us they would like every store in town to price all fruits and vegetables by weight. Then you could get just the amount you want, just the sizes you like, and full value for your money every time. Wherever you trade, why don't you ask your store man about it?

Churchill Expresses Wish U. S. Atlantic Patrol Might Be of Greater Aid to Britain

Paints Brighter Picture of Atlantic Battle, Says Nazis Using Acoustic Mines, Makes Reference to Spitzbergen

LONDON, Sept. 9 (AP)—The text, in part, of Prime Minister Churchill's statement in the House of Commons today follows:

Late in July I learned that the President of the United States would welcome a meeting with me to survey the entire world position in relation to the several and common interests of our respective countries.

Important conclusions were reached on four main topics. First of all there was the eight-point declaration of broad principles and aims which guide and govern the action of the British and American Governments and peoples amid the many dangers by which they are beset in these times.

Secondly, that measures should be taken to help Russia resist the hideous onslaught Hitler has made upon her. Thirdly, the policy to be pursued towards Japan in order, if possible, to put a stop to further encroachments in the Far East likely to endanger the safety and interests of the United States, and by timely action to prevent spread of the war to the Pacific Ocean.

Also there were a large number of purely technical matters dealt with and a close personal relationship established between high naval, military and air attaches of both countries.

I have, as the House knows, hitherto consistently deprecated formulation of peace aims or war aims, however you put it, by His Majesty's Government at this stage, and I deprecate it at this time when the end of the war is not in sight and when the conflict swings to and fro with alternating fortunes and while conditions and associations at the end of the war are unforeseeable, but the joint declaration by Great Britain and the U.S.A. is an event of a totally different nature.

Although the principles in the declaration have long been familiar to the British and American democracies, the fact that it is a united declaration sets up a milestone or monument which needs only the stroke of victory to become a permanent part of the history of human progress.

First, the joint declaration does not try to explain how the principles proclaimed by it are to be applied to each and every case which will have to be dealt with when the war is ended. It would not be wise for us at this moment to be drawn into laborious discussion as to how it is to fit all the manifold problems with which we shall be faced after the war.

Secondly, the joint declaration does not qualify in any way the various statements of policy which have been made from time to time about development of constitutional government in India, Burma, or any other parts of the British Empire.

We are pledged by the declaration of August 1940 to help India obtain free and equal partnership in the British Commonwealth with ourselves, subject of course to fulfilment of obligations arising from our long connection with India and our responsibilities to its creeds and interests.

Burma is also covered by our considered policy of establishing Burmese self government and by measures already in progress.

We had in mind primarily restoration of the sovereignty and national life of the States and nations of Europe now under Nazi yoke, and the principles which would govern any alterations in the territorial boundaries of countries that may have to be made.

The Battle of the Atlantic has been going on unceasingly. In his attempt to blockade and starve out these islands by U-boat and air attack the enemy continually changes his tactics. Driven from one beat to the next, chased from home waters and driven from the approaches to the island, he proceeds to the other side of the Atlantic. Increasingly hampered by United States patrols in the North Atlantic, he develops his maines in the South and we follow hard upon his track and sometimes we anticipate his tactics.

But it is undesirable to give him too precise or, above all, too early information of the success or failure of each of his various manoeuvres. It was therefore decided that publication of our shipping losses at regular monthly intervals must cease.

The public, and indeed the whole world, have however derived the impression that things have got much better these two months. I cannot deny that this is so.

Improvement in the sea war manifests itself in two directions. In the first place there is a very great falling off in sinkings of British and Allied shipping and a corresponding increase in the tonnage of valuable cargoes safely landed on our shores. . . . The second improvement is the extraordinary rise in the last three months in the destruction of German and Italian shipping which has been achieved very largely by the development of new and brilliant tactics by the coastal command and RAF bombing squadrons acting with the coastal command.

To the exploits of the air force must be added those of our submarines, destruction of enemy shipping by both forms of attacks has been enormous in fact I may say, and I would like the House to pay attention to this statement because it is really an extraordinary statement for anyone to be able to make:

I may say that sinkings of British and allied shipping by enemy action in July and August added together do not amount to much more than one third of German and Italian tonnage we have sunk by our aircraft and our submarine.

How remarkable that statement is may be judged when we remember that we present perhaps 10, or 11 might be 20 times the target to hostile attacks upon the seas as is presented to us by the shipping of the enemy.

I have often looked for an opportunity of paying tribute to an opportunity of paying tribute to our submarines. There is no branch of His Majesty's forces which in this war has suffered the same proportion of fatal losses as our submarine service. It is the most dangerous of all services.

That is perhaps the reason why the first lord tells me that entry into it is keenly sought by officers and men. I feel sure the House would wish to testify its gratitude and admiration to their skill and devotion, which have proved of inestimable value to the life of our country.

During 1941 British submarines have sunk or seriously damaged 17 enemy warships—in 1941 one—some of them U-boats and besides warships 105 supply ships have fallen to their torpedoes. This average is 15 per month, or one every two days.

There are other perils which have been overcome and other labors of splendid quality which have been performed unknown.

The first deals with the anti-mining service. We don't hear much about the mining menace now. Yet almost every night 30 or 40 enemy airplanes are casting these destructive engines, with all their ingenious variations, in the most likely spots where our mine fields are.

The attack which began in November, 1939, indeed when the war opened, with the ordinary moored mine laid by night in the approaches to our harbors was succeeded before the end of 1939 by the magnetic mine with all its mysterious terrors and now the warred continues by the acoustic mine as well as the magnetic mine.

We don't hear much about all this now because by the resources of British science and organization it has been largely mastered. We don't hear much about it because 20,000 men and 100 ships are toiling ceaselessly to clear the approaches to ports every morning of the deadly deposits of the night.

It is going on night after night and day after day and it may well be imagined, as the service has to be performed in all weather conditions, under the attack of the enemy how excellent is the service rendered by the faithful men engaged in it.

It is done in secret and in silence and we live on. It is taken as a matter of course, like the salvage service, to which I must also refer since the war began, from the beginning of the war upwards of one million tons of shipping which would otherwise have been cast away.

Although there has been very great improvement in our losses at sea in July and August, it would be very foolish and a great mistake to assume that the grave dangers which threaten us are at an end. The enemy is employing a greater number of U-boats and long-range aircraft than ever before and we must expect further increases.

We, for our part have made prodigious exertions and our resources are continually increasing.

It must be remembered also that the Germans are much hampered on the American part of the Atlantic by fear of trouble with the powerful American naval forces which ceaselessly patrol the approaches to the western coast of America. This has been a help to us but I could wish it might be a greater help.

The enemy's tactics may change. No doubt Hitler would rather finish off Russia and Britain before coming to close quarters with the United States.

Hitler has, however, also the greatest possible need to prevent precious munition supplies now streaming across the Atlantic in pursuance of the policy of the United States Government from reaching our shores. Should he do so the area of danger zones will again become ocean-wide. Meanwhile, let us hear no vain talk of the Battle of the Atlantic having been won.

It was with great pleasure that on my homeward voyage I visited Iceland. We were received with the utmost cordiality by the Government and the people.

I had the honor to review large numbers of strong British and U.S. forces which no doubt for performance of entirely different and separate duties happen to be engaged jointly in defending this important island, a stepping stone across the Atlantic, from Nazi intrusion and attack.

Very considerable United States and British naval and air forces are assembled in Iceland.

Spacious airfields which we have constructed and are expanding there and in Newfoundland will play an ever-increasing part not only in control of the broad waters but in the continued flow of the ever-broadening stream of heavy bombers now acting against Germany night after night, which will play a decisive part, or one of the decisive parts, in final victory. . . . Occupation of Syria by the Army of the Nile carried with it the means of security and safety of Cyprus which until then had been in great danger. All this part of the Levant then came into a more satisfactory condition. Our naval and air control over the Eastern end of the Mediterranean became effective, and we got into direct contact with our Turkish friends and secured control of the pipeline and other resources. . . .

We are in Syria only to the end of the war. However, we must make it quite clear that our policy and that of our Free French Allies is that Syria is to be handed back to the Syrians who will assume as soon as possible their independent sovereign rights. . . .

We do not propose at this point to create an independent Syrian Government or Governments, which must wait until the end of the war, but we propose they should take a constantly increasing part in administration. There is no question of France maintaining the same position which she exercised in Syria before the war and which the French Government had realized must come to an end.

On the other hand we recognize that among all these nations of Europe the position of France in Syria is one of special privilege and that in so far as any country will have special influence there that France will be pre-eminent.

Powerful reinforcements have reached the Army of the Nile and I now feel constrained to consider that we shall be able to defend Egypt successfully from German invasion across the Western Desert. . . .

Magnificent resistance of the Russian armies and the successful manner in which their vast front is being withdrawn in the teeth of the Nazi invasion makes it certain Hitler's hopes of a short war with Russia will be dispelled. Already in three months he has lost more German blood than was shed in any single year of the last war.

Already he faces the certainty of having to maintain his armies spread out from the Arctic to the Black Sea with precarious lines of communication through all the severities of the Russian winter and vigorous counter-strokes that may be expected from the Russian army.

From the moment, now nearly 80 days ago, when Russia was invaded we have cast about for every means to give with utmost speed effective help to our new ally. . . . The need is urgent and the scale is heavy because a considerable part of the munitions industry and the iron and steel production of Russia has fallen into the hands of the enemy.

We must be prepared for serious sacrifices in the munitions field in order to meet the needs of Russia. The utmost exertions and energy

Ex-Danish Ship, Flying Panamanian Flag, Torpedoed En Route to Iceland; Twenty-four of Crew Presumed Lost

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9 (AP)—The United States State Department reported today that 24 crew members, including one American were "presumed lost" in the torpedoing of a former Danish ship flying the Panamanian flag Aug. 17 about 300 miles southwest of Iceland.

News of the sinking, in which only three men aboard survived, came close on the heels of the sinking of the American freighter Steel Seafarer in Red Sea waters by an aerial bomb. British sources at Cairo blamed a German bomber based in Greece.

The former Danish vessel—the Sessa, although of Panamanian registry, was being operated by the Marine Operating Company of New York City under the authority of the Maritime Commission. She sailed from New York Aug. 7, the Maritime Commission said, and should have reached Iceland about 12 days later.

The State Department's announcement on the torpedoed ex-Danish ship said:

"The State Department has been informed by the Navy Department that on Saturday morning, Sept. 6, the Navy picked up three surviving members of the crew of the S.S. Sessa about 300 miles southwest of Iceland.

"The State Department is informed that the survivors stated that the ship had been sunk by a torpedo on Aug. 17. Twenty-four members of the crew are unreported and presumed lost.

"There was one American member of the crew. His name is lacking and he is not one of the survivors.

"The Sessa was a former Danish ship which was acquired from the Danish Government under the authority of the recent law permitting the taking over of idle foreign flag ships in American waters.

"The vessel was under Panamanian registry and was transporting supplies for the Government of Iceland and owned by that Government.

(Officials explained this meant the supplies were owned by the Iceland Government.)

Japan Sends Ships for Nationals to Return From Britain and Dominions

TOKYO, Sept. 9 (AP)—Japan is sending ships to Great Britain and British Dominions to help Japanese nationals, the Foreign Office announced today.

Three ships will be dispatched, one to Malaya, one to the Middle East and East Africa, and one to Europe.

The route of the vessel bound for Europe was not disclosed, but presumably it was around Cape Horn. It is to carry diplomatic replacements to Europe and likely also will afford transportation to Central America or Mexico for Kanama Wakasugi, Japanese Minister to the United States, who recently returned to Tokyo to make a report.

The announcement did not mention Japanese in the United States, Canada, Australia or South Africa, but said the ships would be sent to help Japanese nationals because of a "radical increase" in the number of Japanese residing in the British Empire who desire to return to Japan.

Domei, Japanese news agency, reported Japanese residents in Malaya total 700, India 200, the Middle East 60, East Africa 40, and the British Isles 600. The last figure includes those in Ireland.

The British Embassy in Tokyo announced Aug. 30 that arrangements had been completed for a British ship to come to Japan to remove Britons wishing to depart.

OTTAWA, Sept. 9 (CP)—A report from Tokyo that Japanese ships were being sent to evacuate Nationals of that country from Britain and the British Dominions brought a declaration from the External Affairs Department here that no arrangements had been made with the Japanese Government along that line.

Seiji Yoshizawa, Japanese Minister to Canada, said he had received no information from his home office on the subject.

will therefore be required from all concerned in production in order not only to help Russia but in order to fill the gaps which must now be opened in our own longed for and at last arriving supply. . . .

The flow of our own production in this country and in our Empire is still rising. It will reach the full flood in the third year of the war when our factories are completed and come into bearing.

If the United States are to fulfil the task they are setting themselves, large installations will have to be set up or converted and there will have to be a further curtailment of civilian consumption over there.

We must ourselves expect definite reduction in the importation of supplies from America upon which we had counted. Within certain limits we are prepared to accept those facts and their consequences. . . .

Only three routes to Russia are open. The Arctic route via Archangel, which may be hampered by a winter ice, the Far Eastern route via Vladivostok, which is scowled upon by the Japanese and operates only over 7000 miles of railway line, and finally there is the route across Persia, which leads over a 500 miles stretch from the Persian Gulf into that great inland sea, the Caspian, upon which Russia maintains strong naval forces and which gives us access to the heart of Russia, the Volga basin.

We must have control and maintenance of the through communications from the warm water port of Basra to the Caspian Sea. It is from this point particularly that American supplies can be carried into the centre of Russia in an ever-widening flow and British supplies as well. . . .

The Allied front now runs in an enormous crescent from Spitzbergen in the Arctic Ocean region to Tobruk in the Western Desert and our section of this front will be held by British and Empire armies with their growing strength, feet and equipped by sea borne supplies from Great Britain, the United States, India and Australia, and I am glad to say that adequate naval power will be at hand, both in the Atlantic and Indian Oceans, to secure these seas against all attacks. . . .

The mood of Great Britain is widely and rightly averse from every form of shallow or premature exultation. This is not the time for boasting or glowing prophecies, but there is this: A year ago our position looked forlorn and well might despatch to all eyes but our own. Today we may say aloud before an awe-struck world: "We still are masters of our fate. We still are captains of our soul!"

British Attack Nazi Convoy, Several Ships Damaged

LONDON, Sept. 9 (CP)—British and Norwegian patrols in the English Channel in a running fight last night and this morning sank one German supply ship of 4000 tons, probably sank another of 3500 tons, set afire an armed trawler and probably destroyed a Nazi torpedo boat, the Admiralty announced today.

The Admiralty said four Britons were wounded. None of the British ships were damaged.

The convoy, strongly escorted, was attacked first just before midnight, then shadowed and attacked again, torpedoes accounting for both the supply ships.

Italians Admit Esperia Is Sunk

ROME, Sept. 9 (AP)—The Italian High Command acknowledged today that a British submarine had sunk the 1,300-ton Italian steamer ship Esperia in the central Mediterranean but said almost all of those aboard had been rescued by escorting warships.

Willkie Charges Disunity Result of Nye Policy

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9 (AP)—Wendell L. Willkie charged today, at the opening of a Senate Committee inquiry into war propaganda, Senator Gerald Nye (Rep., North Dakota) was seeking to "divide the American people into discordant racial and religious groups in order to disunite them over the United States foreign policy."

Willkie, representing the motion picture industry at the hearing, made these charges in a formal statement handed to the Press shortly after Nye began testifying on a resolution, by Nye and Senator Bennett Champ Clark (Dem., Missouri), proposing an investigation into propaganda.

Nye, appearing under oath after Chairman D. Worth Clark (Dem., Idaho) had ruled that Willkie could not cross-examine witnesses, asserted four or five movie magnates held the power to feed propaganda to the American people.

Denied the right to interrupt, Willkie passed reporters sitting nearby by mimeographed statement by way of reply to testimony given by Nye in a lengthy prepared statement the North Dakota Senator was reading.

Luxurious fabrics fashioned and styled on simple lines is the formula devised by many designers when creating important frocks for their youthful clientele. Cobina Wright Jr. wears a delightful dinner dress designed by Travis Benton. The fabric is a rich, stiff, rustling metal cloth in stripes or iridescent blue-green and silver. The ruffle peplum breaks the simple line of the moulded bodice and fairly full skirt. The double-strand necklace is made from large wooden beads covered with the metal fabric.

Form a Club... Tall People Get Along Well With Others Own Size

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Ours is a great country for clubs with unique membership requirements. In Manhattan, one of the newest is the Stratoliner Club. To belong the girls must be six feet or over without shoes, and somewhere between 18 and 35 years old. The masculine members must be at least six feet two, and between 20 and 32. The sky is the limit on height. The tallest member so far is a lad who towers six feet six.

The club is only four months old and already has 50 tall members. They are very strict about maintaining their high standards and no little girl of five eleven can get by in high heels.

LIKE 'EM TALL

The main purpose of the club is to get together and have fun. There are parties each week. In Summer, they swim, take boat rides, and trips, and in Winter, they roller skate, ice skate, and go for sleigh rides. They also bowl and get in lots of dancing. How they enjoy dancing together! The girls say it is wonderful not to have to go into a half crouch, all bowed out behind, to dance with short fellows. And the men say it's no pain in the neck to dance with tall girls.

The organizer and President, Gladys Brody, who is an even six feet, tells me the club has worked miracles of self-confidence with its members. They all have more poise and better posture. For the first time in their lives, they are holding their heads up. Belonging to a tall group encourages them to be natural and they are beginning to believe that it is a distinct advantage to be taller than average.

The girls wear high heels, their favorite gay colors, and perky hats instead of trying to camouflage their height with somber colors and conservative styles. They trade shopping tips on where to buy clothes or have them made and which shoes are most flattering. They meet like to get together and talk about shoes and long-sleeved shirts. All in all the club is considered a great success.

I got so many letters from tall girls who feel that their height is blighting their lives that I wanted to tell you about this club. Why not send out a call for the tall people in your community? You can set your own height requirements and age limits. The way to get started is to round up two or three tall people to help plan. Then make the announcement to your newspaper. That is how the Manhattan Stratoliner was started.

All the Answers... Book Tells of Nursing Career

By LOAN CLENDENING, M.D.

I am in receipt of a book which should be of interest to any young woman contemplating entering the profession of nursing—"Your Career in Nursing," by Cecilia L. Schmitz, N.A. (McGraw-Hill Book Company, publishers).

This answers questions that every doctor is constantly asked by candidates for the nursing profession. It reminds us, to begin with, that the profession of nursing in America is not much more than 50 years old; "Fifty years ago nice girls didn't bread-and-butter," it says.

It also emphasizes the fact that the work of nursing is not very much like the fictional or movie accounts of it, and warns the candidate that it is work, and hard work.

Chapter Three is on Nursing Schools, of which there are 1200 in the United States. The course consists mostly of the practical work in the hospital wards, beginning with bedside instruction. But every good nursing school should have laboratory or classroom work in anatomy, physiology, chemistry, bacteriology and nutrition and cookery, besides lectures on medical, surgical, obstetrical, child and psychiatric nursing.

After detailed amounts of daily life of a nurse in training and in practice, there is a chapter of questions, some of which I quote:

QUESTIONS ON NURSING

"Why do nurses wear caps?"

"The origin of the professional nurse's cap may be laid to Florence Nightingale, the mother of modern secular nursing, probably wore a cap because no well dressed English lady of the Victorian period felt properly groomed without an elegant head decoration, indoors or out."

"What are the chances of employment of the graduate nurse who marries and wishes to continue her practice?"

"Airline hostesses, Army and Navy nurses must be single to qualify for their positions; some hospitals and some patients employing resident nurses prefer to engage unmarried women. However, the majority of organizations and individuals employing nurses do not discriminate against those who marry."

LENGTH OF PROFESSIONAL LIFE

"Does the strenuous routine involved in a nursing career limit the length of a nurse's professional life?"

"The average professional life of a graduate nurse is 17.34 years."

"How well is the average nurse paid?"

"A survey recently made by the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs showed that among different groups of members—teachers, librarians, nurses, office managers, secretaries and stenographers—nurses had the highest median salary. Half of them earned more than $1640 a year."

"Are hospital nurses, because of the nature of their work, more subject to illness than women engaged in other fields?"

"A study made in 1937-38 shows that the annual average of illness among graduate staff nurses numbered 6.6 days. Compare these figures with the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company's report of 1935, which sets the annual average days of illness among its employees at 5.3—and you'll see that the general health hazard of hospital nursing isn't starting."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

E.W.—"Are there any objections to the daily use of mineral oil over a long period of time? Does it absorb Vitamins A and D in the system? Would its daily use affect the eyes?"

Answer—In my opinion mineral oil is the best preparation to use for chronic constipation. I do not believe it absorbs any vitamins or prevents their leaving the system, nor does its use affect the eyes."

Death at the Switch

By RICHARD HOUGHTON

CHAPTER THIRTY (Continued)

Consternation crossed the face of the young farmer for a fleeting instant. He did his best to conceal it. "You've been misinformed! I didn't get along any worse with him than the other members did."

"We don't be here for fun tonight," Hans declared.

"Hans and I are here as investigators, not as railroad fans," Laurence explained. "We aren't satisfied with the police theory of the crime."

"You have a theory of your own?"

"Not exactly. We admit Ives was shot by one of the persons here Wednesday night, but we don't think the police are looking for him in the right way. They've already quit searching this room. We say the secret to the murder must be right here!"

"You mean a hidden entrance to the room where he was killed?"

"That was my first idea."

"But not mine," said Hans.

"I'm convinced now there can't be any way into that room except through the regular doorway."

"Were still going to investigate," Hans' idea that a gun might have been controlled electrically and pulled out of the room by a string after it went off."

"Or carried out on one of the trains," Richard suggested.

Hans nodded. "We think of that, too, but no trains go into that room."

Laurence agreed. "That's a little too fantastic. But we do think the killer in some way took advantage of the peculiar setting and the equipment here. Somewhere in this miniature world is the answer!"

"It's a good theory," Henry admitted. "I think, though, that the police must have gone over everything expertly, because the same theory would occur to them."

"Expertly?" exclaimed Laurence. "What do the police know about operation of miniature trains?"

"Probably not much. You think your special knowledge may help you discover something the police overlooked?"

"That's our hope."

"But how can either of you be sure that the other is not the murderer, trying to destroy evidence rather than uncover it?"

Laurence flushed. "Good Lord, Henry! Why don't you come right out and say it! Which one of us do you think killed Ives—and Basbe?"

"I'm not accusing either of you. You have just as much right to suspect me. What I'm trying to say is that no member of the model railroad club can be sure of anyone but himself."

Laurence looked at Hans. Hans looked at Laurence. "By golly, you be right!" Hans said.

The face of Laurence Harkness paled, then reddened again. "You're destroying our confidence in each other!"

"It should be destroyed," Henry insisted. "If we put any man—or woman—above suspicion we may be helping the murderer."

"Keep the women out of it," Laurence told him. "You've got no right to cast reflections on a lovely girl like Susan Baker!"

"Oh, so it is true?"

"Never mind," Henry turned to his son. "Richard, I think it's time you and I started for home. You've got to be up early for school."

"Tomorrow's Saturday."

Henry frowned. "So it is—but that doesn't mean you can stay in bed any later than usual."

"Aw, gee! Can't I see the trains run again? You promised..."

Laurence looked at Henry coldly. "So that's why you came here tonight! You came to play with the trains. And after that remark you made to us..."

"It wasn't my doings," explained Henry hastily. "If you had a 15-year-old son, you'd know how it was!"

Hans laughed. "By golly! You like our trains! Ay, knew you would!"

"Nothing of the kind!" Henry denied angrily. Nevertheless he felt a guilty flush on his face as he went out the door.

Kinsmen Preparing Radio Auctions to Help Send Milk to British Children

Nelson Kinsmen are preparing for another radio auction campaign, this time to raise funds to send powdered milk to children in Britain. The auctions are scheduled to begin October 7 and to continue at weekly intervals.

Freight-Free Milk to Cross the Atlantic

The milk will cross the Atlantic freight-free through arrangements with the British Government. It will be distributed by the Women's Voluntary Services, an organization of 800,000 women working under the direction of Lady Reading. The organization has developed a system of special transport and distributing facilities which will be utilized in the work.

Evidence of the Need

Evidence of the need for the Kinsmen-sponsored plan may be gathered from figures released by British Ministry of Food which show that in pre-war years Britain used 1190 million gallons of milk annually. Of the 253 million gallons of dried milk consumed, over 90 per cent was imported. Standards set by medical authorities list four quarts of milk weekly as the minimum need for a growing child. The shortage of milk products and fresh vegetables, with the almost complete disappearance of raw fruits from the British diet, has increased the need for milk for British children if the health of the generation is to be maintained through the many disruptions of normal life.

Gave Dental Clinic

The milk campaign will run for the duration and while the need remains. It is not the first contribution the association has made to the war effort. The club equipped and donated the first mobile dental clinic to be used by any army in the field. This unit is now on active service with the Third Canadian Division and its practical use has influenced the Government to supply additional units of the kind.

Other auxiliary war services of the Kinsmen include the furnishing of thousands of magazines for the merchant marine, playing cards for the C.A.S.F. and the establishment of hostess butts at Canadian training centres.

Born of the last war through a desire among ex-servicemen to continue associations formed during the army years, the Kinsmen Clubs of Canada have just recently attained maturity, being now 21 years in existence. The founder, Harold G. Rogers of Toronto, is now National Chairman of the War Services Committee. Over 500 members are serving in Canada's armed forces.

Spitzbergen Invasion Gives Canucks Long-Sought Action Western Regiments Included

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

LONDON, Sept. 9 (CP Cable). — A Canadian Army force has delivered one of Canada's heaviest blows of the war against the Germans and deprived the Nazis of the rich coal deposits of the bleak Spitzbergen Islands.

The expedition to the islands 500 miles north of Norway in the Arctic was led by Brig. Arthur E. Potts of Saskatoon. The Canadians included a detachment from Albert Potts' regiment from Saskatchewan, a regiment of Royal Canadian Engineers, a field company from Eastern Ontario and signal and medical units.

After two years of patient waiting behind Britain's bustling ramparts, the hand-picked Canadian force seized the Archipelago in a brilliant operation which deprived the Nazis of millions of dollars worth of fuel they had planned to use to feed their war machine.

(London authorities, "for reasons of security, refused to divulge whether the entire raiding party returned to Britain or whether a garrison was left in Spitzbergen.)

The only casualty was a soldier injured in an accident. He is rapidly recovering.

Apart from this casualty a medical officer had to operate on another soldier for appendicitis.

Members of the staff which helped direct the dangerous operation included Maj. Scott Murdoch of Ontario and Lieut. Bob Proctor of Edmonton. Maj. Bill Bury of Edmonton commanded the Alberta detachment with Capt. Dick Carter of Edmonton second in command.

The Engineers were under Maj. Geoffrey Walsh of Oakville, Ont., second in command was Capt. J. C. Byrn of Vancouver. Capt. Peter Wilson led the Signallers and the Saskatchewan detachment was under Capt. Bert Thompson and Capt. G. F. Bradbrooke, both of Saskatoon.

Walter Archie Donald of Edmonton was officer commanding the troops aboard ship and the ship's adjutant was Capt. Len Dawes of Edmonton. The medical unit was commanded by a Lieutenant Colonel from Hamilton, Ont., and the other two doctors were Lt. Col. J. G. Davidson of Charlottetown, P.E.I., and Capt. Don Young of Ottawa, a former McGill University football star.

Other officers included Capt. Perry Hall of Vancouver and Port Arthur, and Lieut. Des Barrett, of Vancouver. The other two doctors were Lieut. Col. J. G. Davidson of Charlottetown, P.E.I., and Capt. Don Young of Ottawa, a former McGill University football star.

LONDON, Sept. 9 (CP Cable). — The Canadians used as a main base during their occupation of Spitzbergen the virtually deserted Russian mining town of Barentsburg, sprawled at the foot of jagged mountains in a fjord on the West coast of the Arctic island.

The Canadians took over the town and ran the regular services of the community, with farmers-soldiers who had come prepared to fight going back to peacetime chores of their farm jobs.

Csm. Jim Stone of Blueberry Mountain, Alta., was "Commissioner" of the desolate town with wooden shacks lining the irregular streets.

Pte. Bill Brown of Edmonton got a lively barn going and the Canadians drove around on their jobs, using horse-drawn vehicles commandeered in the settlement.

The community butchers were Sgt. Dan Smith of Edmonton, Pte. Bill Purves of Grande Prairie, Alta., and Pte. Leo Shabacko, of Medicine Hat, Alta. They used ingenious methods. Slaughtered pigs were dipped in bathe and then the only difficulty arose when a soldier with little farm experience fed sawdust to porkers for mash.

An air rail alarm squadron was formed. Lighting went by the boards. Pte. Bud Crane of Camrose, Alta., remarking that "Old Sal looks after that" in the land of the midnight sun.

The troops fished the fjords for cod and haddock and a barge was used to travel.

An officers' mess was located in the Commissar's old house where superb meals were turned out by Sgt. William Swain of Nelson, B. C., a veteran of three wars.

The tanks ate in their own messes in a school and theatre. What little spare time the men had was spent around a billiard table found in the town. The soldiers had difficulty playing with the oversized Russian balls.

At a big Russian settlement a detachment that provided protection for the brigadier in charge of the expedition in his first landing was commanded by Maj. Bury, the commander of the Alberta detachment which included Cpl. Joe Flynn and Ptes. Don Russell and Larry Ryan, all of Edmonton, George Taylor, Coronation, Alf Whitford, Fort Saskatchewan, Alf Toussaint, Grand Prairie, Colin White, Spirit River, and Ed Beaudry, Bonnyville.

Three Canadians familiar with the Russian language were a great help in this settlement. They were Ptes. K. Sobkiw and H. Shatzko of Edmonton and Sapper George Wovok of Lethbridge, Alta., who acted as interpreters.

At the Norwegian settlement Lieut. Cromb led his Alberta men ashore. Among them were Sgt. Bunny Allen and Cpl. Don Gower of Edmonton, Lt. Cpl. Jim Hamill of Vancouver and Pte. Andy Erickson of Camrose.

Saskatchewan regiment troops who followed Capt. Thompson ashore at the same place were Sgt. Nick Nicholson of Saskatoon, Lt. Judge McKay of Prince Albert, Pte. Curly Holmer of Toronto, Sgt. Jack Pollock of Melfort, and Pte. Jim Paul, Indian of Duck Lake.

Lieut. Smith landed on the beach at a small Russian settlement. Soldiers with him included Sgt. S. Masters of Edmonton, Pte. G. J. Allen of Hillside, N. J., one of the few Americans in the force, Pte. J. T. A. Miller of Bulwark, Alta., and Pte. D. Trimble of Slave Lake, Alta.

Commanding another landing party at a Soviet town at the foot of a mountain was Lieut. Couch. Among the Alberta regiment troops included Sgt. Len Matheson, Prince Albert, and Ptes. S. Chenko, Kelvington, J. L. Walton, Fort Fraser, B. C., J. D. Huber, Moose Jaw, and W. J. Duckworth, Saskatoon.

Practical Suggestions for Getting More Tourist Business

R. D. Barnes is absolutely right in advocating to the Nelson Board of Trade that Nelson should place advertising in Calgary, Lethbridge and Edmonton papers in an effort to bring more Prairie business to the Kootenay District.

Already we are making substantial progress in developing tourist and Summer home visitors from the Prairie Provinces. Everywhere in the Prairie Provinces Kootenay tourists run into Prairie people who are loud in their praise of the beauties and attractions of the Kootenay Lake district. It is true that they combine this praise of our local attractions with heartfelt pleas for better roads and a better ferry connection over Kootenay Lake but the fact is that they like this district and they want to come here in increasing numbers.

There is no better way of getting more Prairie people to this district than to advertise in the more important of the Prairie centres. Money for this purpose would be well spent.

There is a great deal of merit in the suggestion of W. B. Bamford that the Board should, in addition to its beautiful 60c booklet, get out a large quantity of cheaper publicity matter. Wider distribution of smaller folders or something of that sort is very badly needed. It would get our story before many more people than it is possible to reach with the more expensive publication.

There is practical merit also in the suggestion of W. J. E. Biker that the Nelson Board of Trade should inform newspapers in the Prairie Provinces, and for that matter in the United States and other places from which we draw tourists, of the names of their home town residents who are visiting this district. Such publicity is of value. It has the effect of making other people in the towns where such newspapers publish such items become more Kootenay conscious and suggests that they themselves should make a trip to this district.

We can get a lot more tourist business if we keep on going after it and at the same time never let up on the campaign for better highway and ferry communication through the Southeastern section of British Columbia.

War Savings Must Be Kept Up

It was no doubt to be expected that, once the fervor of the campaign had worn off, there would be a decrease in the purchase of War Savings Certificates. This has begun to make itself evident. There is need for the people to renew the enthusiasm with which, a few months ago, they made pledges which assured the objective of $10,000,000 in subscriptions each month.

Canadians should remember that, when they bought a certificate during the campaign, they had not done their full duty. This form of war savings is a continuing thing. It is to go on throughout the war, and the Government looks to these certificates as an important part of the war financing. They can be truly successful only if a constant monthly volume of purchases is maintained.

Those who pledged such regular investment did so in good faith. It is easy, however, to let such things slide, to decide that, when some unexpected call on finances comes, it will be all right to skip a month. Gradually, the habit of monthly buying is dropped.

Don't forget that the sale of these certificates is of vital importance in our conduct of the war. It is just as necessary today as it was when the canvassers called on you. If you have let your pledge lapse, renew it. See if you cannot increase your monthly purchase. Be a good soldier on the economic front.

Etiquette Hints

In a moving picture house, rising from your seat to let others pass obscures part of the picture to those sitting behind you. If possible, sit in your legs sideways instead of it can be done without tripping those who pass you.

Questions? ANSWERS

Open to any reader. Names of persons asking questions will not be published.

Reader, Nelson—What other costs are there under the Dominion Housing plan other than the equity in the house?

There is a legal fee for registration, etc., and the cost of the plans, both varying according to the value of the building. An inspection charge of about $12 is made and a deposit for sewer connections is required.

A. B. Procter—Would you kindly publish a recipe for cantaloup jam?

Suggested recipe is as follows: 6 cups diced cantaloup, 5 cups sugar, 1 orange, juice and rind, 1 lemon, juice and rind. Combine cantaloup, sugar, orange and lemon juice and rind. Cook slowly until mixture is thick and clear. Pour into sterilized jars and cover with hot paraffin.

K. R. Nelson—How can I prevent my white clothes from turning yellow?

Borax added to the water will bleach clothes and also prevent them from turning yellow.

F. E. Cranbrook—What does the name "Kiwanis" mean?

Kiwanis is a coined word derived from the Cherokee phrase meaning "we trade."

D. N. Trail—What days did the following dates fall on: August 23, 1904, and June 27, 1927? August 23, 1904, fell on a Tuesday; June 27, 1927, on a Monday.

Six Sedate Smokers Suck Six Months Seeking Solace

Six men sat in London for six months smoking pipes made from strange new woods.

They were in search of a successor to the traditional briere, popularly known as briar. It grew in Algiers, and, after being conditioned in France was shipped to England to be made into pipes.

When the fortune of war cut off supplies, some new material had to be found, so the six smokers of London smoked steadily ahead, seeking the wood which seemed to their expert tongues to be worthy to take the place of briar. After trying out woods from many quarters of the globe they have found in England one with all the qualities of briar yet completely different in appearance. It is non-porous. It resists heat. It is tough and tasteless.

A new method of curing the wood, known as the cherry cure, has been worked out in practical manufacturing detail and already this "cherry cure" pipe is being exported to many parts of the world and in particular to Canada, South Africa and the United States; in fact the limit of supply is set only by the allocation of essential materials such as vulcanite, which is imported, and is also in big demand for war work.

FEWER CONVENIENCES

Some Canadians may be somewhat frightened by the prospect held out by industrial control authorities of a curtailment in the manufacture and use of certain modern conveniences. To go back to walking, to using brooms and ice instead of vacuum cleaners and electric refrigerators, will appeal to many as dire hardship.

If this represents the sum total of our sacrifices, we shall be fortunate indeed. The most ominous threat yet made is that there will have to be a curtailment of production of automobiles, certain electrical appliances and a few such conveniences of modern living. In short, we are warned that we may have to live as our grandparents lived.

Those people of a generation or so ago managed to get along very well without the labor-saving devices which we have come to look on as necessities. They bred a hardy race, while we have degenerated to the point where we complain because we are called on to slice our own bread.

Such sacrifices as now threaten will not only help to win the war. They should make of us a sturdier and more self-reliant race. The curtailment of conveniences can form a beneficial circle, by hardening us to the point where we can eventually do without many of the things that have made us soft. —Windsor Daily Star.

HAVEN'T BEGUN TO WIN

Colonel Ralston says that we have not begun to win the war, and that is exactly the case. Even a casual review of the two years of fighting reveals that we have been almost entirely on the defensive, except in some minor campaigns which can be considered nothing more than side-issues. No war has ever yet been won by defending armies.

Many people do not like to hear speeches like the one Colonel Ralston made. They dislike being discouraged, but some healthy discouragement is the only way in which the requisite spirit for victory can be maintained.

Those who are thinking that we are near victory base their belief on the theory that we can win by negotiation. They believe so because they seem to feel it is hopeless ever to take the offensive and beat down our enemies. If it were hopeless, then we would be beaten right now, but it is not. We can win in the way we should, but only by giving everything to this struggle, only by performing miracles. Those miracles can come about if we realize they are necessary and determine that we are going to perform them. —Windsor Daily Star.

4000 to 6000 New Officers Will Be Trained Annually

Officers' Training Centres are tangible evidence of Canada's determination to pay unflinching attention to the selection, training and supply of junior officers throughout the present war.

Men who would be leaders must be able to do everything they will require of their subordinates, and the training centres see that they are able to do it—and well.

Formation of the O.T.C.'s eliminated an unsatisfactory method of commissioning new officers through the district depots spotted across Canada from Cape Breton to Vancouver Island. It also permits careful selection of instructional staffs, the institution of a controlled course of examinations leading to a uniform high standard of efficiency in the graduate and centralized supervision of the flow of officer reinforcements.

MUST HAVE PRIOR SERVICE

Before becoming eligible for recommendation for a commission in the active army, the prospective officer must first serve four months in an active formation or one annual training with a reserve unit. The only exceptions are for candidates with science, medical or detail degrees, chartered accountants or those with special training or knowledge.

The O. T. C.'s will eventually train between 4000 and 6000 new officers per year who are men recommended for promotion to commissioned rank by their officers commanding.

They may be either non-commissioned officers and men who have shown merit in an active service unit, or they can be chosen from the ranks of the training centres. The third group in attendance at the O.T.C.'s are reserve army junior officers, members of C.O.T.C.'s or N.C.O.'s of reserve units obtaining active service qualification.

The candidates for commissions in the active service take a course of 12 weeks. If successful, the candidates become Second Lieutenants and proceed to one of 21 advanced training centres to qualify for lieutenant. The advanced course varies with the arm—from four weeks for infantry (rifle) and eight weeks for the artillery, to twelve weeks for the signal corps.

Establishment of O.T.C.'s at Brockville, Ont., and Victoria, B. C., resulted from the adoption of the rigid regulation that a candidate for a commission must first serve in the ranks. This is continuing a 1914-1918 innovation which proved itself in the stress of action.

TRAIN FOR LIGHTNING WAR

In the new lightning warfare in which the Canadian army is being trained, the conditions of the last war when lines of communication remained fairly intact no longer obtain. Men waging war today have no time to wait for long detailed orders from superiors—they must act quickly. Their training, for this reason, is more intensive.

As Col. J. K. Lawson, Director of Military Training, said in a recent address: "There is now no idea of continuous lines, either in attack or defence, such that each unit could, so to speak, shake hands at all times with its neighbors. They must be prepared to fight their own battle. From the division downward, orders are generally given out verbally, as brief as possible. This leaves a great deal to the initiative of the junior leader, and he must be trained to use that initiative along sound lines."

The young men who will lead their platoons into action in this war are receiving their intensive training at Officers' Training Centres. They do all the work and training that they will expect their men to do when they are in action.

On entering an O.T.C. the future officers, and those who already hold commissions, relinquish their authority and "join the ranks." Through a system of mutual instruction, and by lectures and practical work under skilled specialists in training, they learn their basic work thoroughly.

The candidates in training need no reminder of the value of coming up from the ranks. They have two shining examples overseas at the present time—Major-General R. G. Pearkes, V.C., D.S.O., M.C., who now commands the 1st Canadian Division and who left Canada in 1915 as a Lance Corporal with the 2nd Canadian Mounted Rifles, and Major-General C. B. Price, D.S.O., D.C.M., V.D., who now commands the 3rd Canadian Division and who went overseas in 1914 as a Company Sergeant-Major with the 14th Battalion.

TWO YEARS OF WAR BRING ENCIRCLEMENT OF AXIS POWERS

The start of the third year of World War II finds the powers of the Tripartite Axis—Germany and Italy in the West and Japan in the East—completely encircled by the forces of democracy. And this has taken place despite the amazing unbroken series of military victories by the great German war machine. This Central Press Canadian map shows how the iron rings of anti-Axis nations have isolated the Axis powers from the rest of the world, forcing them to depend on the resources of their own and conquered lands.

Dom DiMaggio's Bat Big Aid as Sox Blank Detroit; Feller Wins His 23rd

By The Canadian Press

Little Dom DiMaggio provided more batting support than Dick Newsome needed yesterday as the Boston Red Sox rookie right-hander shut out Detroit Tigers 6-0 for his 17th victory of the season.

The youngest of the baseball DiMaggios tripled and scored on an infield out in the first inning, then came up in the second with the bases loaded and drilled the first pitch over the left field barrier for his seventh home run. He added a double his next time up. Newsome, a 31-year-old major league freshman, restricted Detroit to four hits.

New York Yankees jabbed St. Louis Browns 1-0 with Tommy Henrich's 28th home run of the year breaking up a pitching duel between Spud Chandler and Bob Harris. For seven innings the two mound rivals pitched shutout ball and then with one out in the Yankee half of the eighth Henrich drove a sizzling liner into the stands to decide the game.

Joe DiMaggio returned to the Yankees lineup for the first time since he sprained an ankle at Detroit Aug. 19 and contributed one single in three times at bat. Bob Feller chalked up victory No. 23 with little difficulty as Cleveland Indians coupled 13 hits and four walks with five Philadelphia errors to trounce the Athletics, 13-7. Feller allowed nine hits, but hurled two-hit shutout ball until the seventh inning. Lou Bourdeau, Jeff Heath and Rookie Jimmy Hogan contributed home runs to the Indians' cause.

Rookie Arnold Anderson was tough with runners on the bases in a night game and as a result Washington Senators defeated Chicago White Sox 7-2 and got out of the American League cellar.

CHICAGO, Sept. 9 (CP)—Draft officials moved Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis closer to the Army today.

Local Selective Service Board No. 84 announced that the title holder had been reclassified tentatively in Class 1-A, available for immediate military service.

A spokesman for the Cook County (Chicago) draft headquarters reported that Louis—now training for about with Lou Nova in New York Sept. 29—would not be inducted before October under any circumstances.

Moreover, he need not don a uniform then if he decides to contest the listing and convinces his draft board that he should not have been placed in the 1-A bracket.

Louis, who reached the age of 27 on May 13, was not consulted about his reclassification. He has 10 days in which to request a hearing on the new order, and, if a decision is returned against him, he has an additional 10 days to file an appeal.

Last January the champion was put in Class 3-A, the group of men deferred because of dependents. At that time he listed as dependents his wife, his mother, a niece, a sister and his father-in-law.

GREENWOOD LAKE, N. Y., Sept. 9 (AP)—Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis, notified today that his draft classification had been changed to 1-A, said he would not ask the Chicago Board for reconsideration.

Durocher Fined

CHICAGO, Sept. 9 (AP)—Manager Leo Durocher of Brooklyn Dodgers today received word from President Ford Frick of the National League that he had been fined $50 for arguing with Umpire Tom Dunn during the second game of Sunday's doubleheader with the Giants.

Durocher protested when Dunn called out Dolph Camilli on strikes in the fifth inning. Leo was ejected from the game but did not leave the Brooklyn bench promptly.

Thornton Lee Is Having Best Year

CHICAGO—Thornton Lee, White Sox pitcher, started his baseball career in Salt Lake City, one of the lowest points in the United States, but has since risen to a high place in the sports picture. Lee, in the final month of the season, is proud possessor of his best record in nine years in the majors.

Rated one of the few pitchers who can hold his own with the Yankees, Lee's lifetime record against the New Yorkers is 17 won against 23 lost. And that's not bad when you consider Bob Feller is no better than .500 against the Yankees with 13 won and 12 lost.

Rated one of the trickiest hurlers in the business, Lee is a past master at mixing up his motions as well as his pitches. He throws overhand, sidearm and occasionally underhand. Thornton spent six years in the minors before coming up with the Cleveland Indians in '33. He wasn't much of a success with the Tribe over a four-year span and was used mostly in relief.

Lee finally hit his stride in '37 after being traded to the White Sox. In four full seasons as a regular starter for Chicago he has 52 victories against 46 losses.

Ward to Meet Black

VANCOUVER, Sept. 9 (CP)—Bud Ward of Spokane, recently crowned United States amateur golf champion, and Kenny Black, Vancouver's Canadian amateur title, will meet in an exhibition golf match for Sept. 28.

The match will be a replay of an exhibition here which Ward won one-up last year when more than $1000 was realized for the war fund.

Betty Jameson Ousted From Golf

BROOKLINE, Mass., Sept. 9 (AP)—Defending Champion Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Texas, putted herself out of her dream of becoming the fifth three-in-a-row women's United States golf winner today when she lost a heart-breaking first-round match to Janet Youngker of White Plains, N.Y., by a single hole.

The attractive Texan, probably the most deliberate competitor in the starting field of 116, thus joined the 10 other three non-medalists on the sidelines of the Women's National Golf Championship Tournament.

All those who shared the qualifying round's honors with Miss Jameson wound up on the short end of 3-and-2 matches—Mrs. Reinert Torgerson of Great Neck, N.Y., defeated Grace Amory of Lucust Valley, N.Y.; Louise Suggs of Atlanta, the Southern artist, bested Jean Baer of Providence; and Mrs. Sylvia Annenberg Lechner of Poughing, N.Y., put out 21-year-old Alice Belanger from nearby Beverly.

Canada's only entrant, Grace Sears of Toronto, advanced to the second round with a one-up victory over Mrs. Dewitt E. Untermyer of Deal, N.J. Miss Sears tomorrow will meet Estelle Page of Greensboro, N.C.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr., Associated Press Sports Writer NEW YORK, Sept. 9 (AP)—Dope book on the National League race shows that in 25 years no club has clinched the pennant before Sept. 18 and in 1934 the Cards on the final day after being seven games behind on Sept. 6. So that every out in St. Lou won't settle everything.

RUMOR MARKET

If Gabby Hartnett believes everything he hears, he sure must be wondering where he'll land next. Current stories have him (1) managing the Giants next year while Bill Terry moves to the front office, and (2) managing Jersey City. The Phils haven't said anything, but the baseball writers think D. Prothro is out and Hans Lobert will be manager next year. Local report is that it cost the Dodgers his full year's pay and a bonus to persuade Babe Phils to retire so they could take on another man in his place.

ONE-MINUTE SPORT PAGE

Ben Jones shipped Whirlaway to Narragansett to run in the $25,000 special Saturday Wanta buy a ball club? Gerry Nugent says you can have the Phils if you pay $550,000 on the line and take over some of the club's debts. Old satchel Paige, who has been pitching regularly, Winter and Summer, for 17 years, thinks he'll take this Winter off and rest. "I ain't pitching that tires me," says Satch. "It's this hitting, hitting all the time hitting."

Frank McCormick Is Iron Man for Reds

CINCINNATI — It is only when some ball-field crisis threatens to stop Frank McCormick's endurance record that you appreciate just how hard it is to be in there every day and to stay in there uninterruptedly for even one complete season. The Cincinnati Reds' tall first baseman hasn't missed a National League game since he took over the varsity first base post on opening day, 1938. The second longest streak in the league belongs to First Baseman Norman Babe Young, Giants' first-sacker, who hasn't missed one since Aug. 22 of last year.

JOCKEY SHORTAGE FACED

LONDON, (CJ)—This year's national hunt season is faced with a shortage of horses and jockeys. Horses in training will be limited to about 650, with only a few stable running more than a dozen. Most of the steeplechase and hurdle race jockeys are in the services, several of them overseas.

Weatherman Stalls Race Between Dodgers-Cards; Games Washed Out

CHICAGO, Sept. 9 (AP)—The rains twice came with a vengeance to Wrigley Field today finally washing out the Chicago-Brooklyn opener in the second inning to postpone Brooklyn's start of a Western swing during which the pace-making Dodgers hope to clinch the National League pennant.

A heavy storm delayed the start of the day's battle almost 50 minutes, but it finally got under way despite a sloppy outfield. Then, with the Dodgers leading 1-0 after an inning and a half, another storm broke loose to force a doubleheader program for tomorrow.

In this important twin bill, Manager Leo Durocher announced he would start Kirby Higbe in the opener, following with either Newell Kimball or Luke Hamlin. Manager Jim Wilson of Chicago said he would come back with Claude Passeau, his starter today, and follow up with young Paul Erickson. Since the Dodgers have 19 games remaining on their schedule and the secondplace St. Louis Cardinals have 21 including the Philadelphia game postponed today, the weather may play an important part in the flag fight—with the Cardinals hoping the Dodgers have to play every game on their string.

The weather prediction for Chicago tomorrow was rain. The Cubs, who last Thursday swept a double bill from St. Louis to knock the Cardinals into second place, could make it a hot Cardinal-Dodger battle with a twin-killing tomorrow. On the other hand, should Brooklyn take two games they definitely would hold the whip hand when they open their series Thursday at St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 9 (AP)—The weatherman may take a staggering walk at St. Louis Cardinals' National League pennant hopes if he doesn't come up with something besides rain for tomorrow's doubleheader with the eighth-place Philadelphia Phillies. A persistent rain, beginning at noon with a windstorm, washed out today's contest between the two teams and a twin bill was automatically scheduled for their last meeting of the season.

Showers and cooler weather have been forecast for tomorrow, making the outlook none too optimistic.

WASHINGTON, Pa.—Sammy Angott, 135, Washington, Pa., stopped Pete Galiano, 137, Baltimore (6). WINSTON-SALEM, N.C.—Ken Overlin, 162, Washington, D.C., stopped young Crawford, 168, Augusta, Ga. (3). NEWARK, N.J.—Coco Kid, 146, New Haven, Conn., outpointed Vinnie Vines, 150, Schenectady, N.Y. (10). BALTIMORE — Slugger White, 137½, Baltimore, outpointed Mike Evans, 137½, Philadelphia (12).

Reds, Braves Win Box Score Title

CINCINNATI — First prize for most initials in a Big League box score belongs to the Cincinnati Reds when they play Boston. Besides their own F. McCormick and M. McCormick, they list L. Warner to distinguish him from brother Paul of the Braves, also R. West because of Boston's Max.

By shifting Dick West to the outfield and using the brother battery of E. Riddle and J. Riddle, the Reds could have six out of nine initials named in their starting lineup, maybe a record. They could squeeze in seven initials with L. Moore, shortstop, regardless of who wins the game, with Picher White Moore at shortstop to match the Braves' outfielder Gene Moore.

Del Baker will manage Detroit Tigers again next year for his fourth complete season. Len Warneke, of the Cardinals, has pitched four one-hit games.

IN U.S. NATIONAL RIFLE MATCHES

Helen Jenkins, 21, of Columbus, Ohio, former Eastern Junior champion, is cleaning her rifle during the National Rifle matches at Camp Perry, Ohio.

Newark, Buffalo Opening Victors

MONTREAL, Sept. 9 (CP)—Freddy Hutchinson, Detroit's $50,000 beauty who won 26 games for Buffalo during the regular International League season, sent the Bigs winging away into a one-game lead in their Governors' Cup series with Montreal Royals here tonight, pitching the herd to a 4-0 victory.

Hutchinson gave up only three scattered blows and walked but one in earning the triumph in the opening game of a best-of-seven semifinal series played before 7500 fans. Buffalo 4 0 3 1 Montreal 0 0 0 0 Hutchinson and Parsons; Pearce, Macon (4) and Rachunok (9) and Howell.

Phils Are Chronic Last-Place Squad

NEW YORK — Branch Rickey denies that he is interested in the Phillies, which makes it practically unanimous. Nobody seems interested in the Phillies except the Phillies, and sometimes there is doubt about that.

Rickey's interest, however, was supposed to be more than that of the good neighbor who is concerned about the folks next door when he notices that they aren't eating regularly. It was reported that he was interested in buying them, the assumption being first, that they are for sale, and second, that anyone would want them.

Klein and Zoboroski Lined Up for Hockey Season in Coast Play

NANAIMO, B.C., Sept. 9 (CP)—Looking fit and ready for a top-notch season in the newly formed Pacific Coast Intermediate Amateur League, Richard (Toad) Klein, star center-forward of last year's Yorkton Terriers, Saskatchewan Senior finalists, arrived here today to join Nanaimo Clippers.

Klein, rated one of the smartest center-men in the Saskatchewan Amateur loop, together with Busier Zoboroski, former Swift Current defenceman, mark the first Clippers imports. Nanaimo Coach Bill Phillips has lined up.

Phillips has hopes Nanaimo's 1941-42 puck machine will be as successful as last season, when in its first year of competition it swept through the coast and inter-provincial final to take the B.C.-Alberta Intermediate title.

Givan Again Winner

SEATTLE, Sept. 9 (AP)—For the fourth time in five years the name of Harry Givan will be inscribed as a co-winner on the mammoth Ralph Whaley Bowl awarded annually to the winner of the Pacific Northwest Pro-Amateur golf tournament.

Yesterday Harry, former U.S. Walker Cupper from Seattle, did it again. Paired with Bob Connolly, handsome young Wayne Golf Club professional, they turned in a best ball of 67-65-132 over the long and exacting Seattle Golf Club layout—14 strokes under par.

Charlie Smith, CJAT Announcer, Moves to Victoria

TRAIL, B.C., Sept. 9 — Charlie Smith, popular radio announcer and program manager at CJAT station leaves Thursday for Victoria to take over duties as program manager at Station CFCT.

Mr. Smith came to Trail from Vancouver March 2, 1935, and has been on the Trail station staff since that time. Three years ago, when the activities of the station merited an official program director, Charlie fell heir to the job. Previous to his experience in the Smelter City, he was on the staff of CKMO, Vancouver, making his debut in the radio business as a member of that station 11 years ago.

During the sports season of last Winter, Charlie took over the job of hockey announcer, and accompanied the Trail Smoke Eaters to Calgary and Lethbridge in the Dominion playdowns.

George Lawrence, who came to CJAT from Regina Station CKCK six months ago, is succeeding Mr. Smith as program manager.

Joe DiMaggio's room-mate is Lefty Gomez.

DR. G. A. C. WALLEY, WIDELY ACTIVE NELSONITE, AND FAMILY TO LEAVE FOR THE COAST; TO PRACTISE THERE

Organizer of School Dental Clinic; Dr. and Mrs. Walley Active in Many Organizations

Dr. G. A. C. Walley, widely active native resident and dentist here, plans to leave Nelson at the first of October for Vancouver, where he will continue in the general practice of dentistry and the specialty of orthodontia. His wife, who has also been active in Nelson women's circles, and two children, Billy, 12, and Donna Mae, 9, will accompany him.

A graduate of the Royal College of Dental Surgeons of Toronto University, Dr. Walley has conducted his practice here since 1924. Five years ago, under the sponsorship of the School Board, he organized the school dental clinic and has directed the clinic since.

SPECIALIZES

Immediately after graduating from the College in 1923 he practised for a short while in Revelstoke, and returned to Nelson from there. After conducting a general practice here for 10 years, in 1934 he and his family went to Chicago, where Dr. Walley took a year's graduate course in the specialty of orthodontia at Northwestern University. There he obtained the Master of Science and Dentistry Degree.

Outside of his professional activity, membership in the Gyro Club, Board of Trade, Red Cross Society, Refugee Committee, the League of Nations Society, Fortnightly Club, Canadian Club, Rod and Gun Club, and Canadian League, as well as outdoor hobbies and intellectual pursuits have claimed his attention. He has served on the executive of most of these organizations, and is currently Chairman of the Refugee Committee, a member of the Red Cross executive, and Chairman of the Public Services Committee of the Board of Trade.

A member of Trinity United Church, he served for a number of years on the Church Board. He is also a member of the Masonic Order.

Politically, Dr. Walley was active at the inception of the C.C.F. Party, and at that time ran as party candidate in the Provincial election.

His hobbies include fishing and hunting, and his intellectual pursuits the study of economics, international affairs, and allied subjects. He has given addresses on international affairs before service organizations.

Dr. Walley is a veteran of over four years service overseas during the First Great War, and was decorated overseas with the Military Medal. He enlisted in the Western Front, and served in the Canadian Expeditionary Force in 1916 on leaving Nelson High School. It was on his return to Canada that he entered the Royal College of Dental Surgeons, Toronto.

ACTIVE CLUB WOMAN

Mrs. Walley's activities have centered in music and study groups and Trinity Church Circles. For many years she has been a member of the Nelson Women's Music Club, and is a Past President of that organization. She is also a member of the Nelson Branch, League of Nations Society, and the Canadian Club, and was at one time on the executive of the latter. She is a Past President of Trinity Service Club. Dr. Walley was born in Nelson, and attended Nelson schools. His mother resides at Vancouver, his father, A. T. Walley, having died after retirement from business several years ago. Mrs. Walley was formerly Miss Alice Philbrick of Spokane.

Cost-of-Living Takes Big Jump

OTTAWA, Sept. 9 (CP).—A jump in Canada's cost-of-living index from 111.9 at July 2 to 113.1 at August 1, was announced today by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

This increase, the largest recorded since the outbreak of war, means an increase of 12.9 per cent in the cost-of-living in the Dominion, as calculated by the Statistics Bureau, since the war started.

The sharp rise between July 2 and August 1 was due mainly to higher food prices, the Bureau said. Today's announcement was of particular import because it is the Dominion's cost-of-living index which forms the basis for cost-of-living bonus principle outlined by the Government in P. C. 7440.

Under this order-in-council the Government suggests wage adjustments to meet rising costs of living should be made at the rate of 25 cents a week per worker for every one point rise in the Dominion Bureau of Statistics cost-of-living index over immediate pre-war levels.

At the outbreak of war the index stood at 100.8.

The rise in the Bureau's index from June 1 to July 2 was 1.4 points, and from May 1 to June 1 was 1.1 points. At that time the Bureau described the advance as an "unusual increase."

The Bureau said the food index advanced 4.7 points to 121.3 between July 2 and August 1 and this alone would have been sufficient to increase the general index by 1.5 points.

The Bureau added: "Residual increases in clothing, home furnishings, and the miscellaneous groups combined to add a further 0.3 point to the general increase of 1.8 points."

"In the food section, lower prices for vegetables were over-balanced by advances in all other sub-group indexes. The most important increases were recorded for dairy products, meats and eggs."

"Group indexes for July 2 and August 1, 1941, were as follows: Foods 116.6 and 121.3, clothing 115.1 and 115.7, home furnishings and services 113 and 114.3, miscellaneous items 105.6 and 106.1. The rent and fuel index were unchanged at 109.7 and 110.5 respectively."

Nazi Cadet Ship Sunk in North After Short Fight

BERLIN, Sept. 9 (AP).—The German High Command announced today that the German cadet ship Bremse after a short and fierce fight with British units in Northern waters.

The 1400-ton warship was on convoy duty, supplying German troops in the extreme North, a communique said.

She was taken by surprise by a British cruiser and two destroyers off Northern Norway while visibility was poor.

"Protecting a convoy, the Bremse accepted the fight against the superior enemy forces and was lost after a short, fierce fight," the communique continued.

She received several torpedo hits. "All the ships of the convoy, because of the courageous operation of the Bremse, reached their destination undamaged. Part of the crew (of the Bremse) was saved."

STEAMSHIP SURVIVORS LANDED NEAR SUEZ

CAIRO, Sept. 9 (AP).—The survivors of the United States merchant steamship Steel Seafarer, sunk in the Red Sea, were landed today on the Western coast of the Gulf of Suez.

They had been picked up by a British warship. All aboard were saved.

Reliable British sources said a long-range German bomber operating from Greece sank the vessel.

Orators' Still Speak Freely in Hyde Park

By R. K. CARNEGIE (Canadian Press Staff Writer).

OTTAWA, Sept. 9 (CP).—Despite the war the soap-box orators in London, Hyde Park are going strong. Nightly they tell the crowds how to improve their lot in particular and the world in general and the British Government has recognized these talkfests, so often sneered at or joked about by visitors, as an institution.

On an evening last week I went from crowd to crowd in Hyde Park, listening to the arguments between the speakers (they call them chairmen) and the audience. Most arguments were on religious subjects and each group contained many ready and anxious to dispute the words of the speaker who stood on the chair.

The largest group, however, was about a chair from which hung a sign "Ministry of Information."

This great organization whose building towers over London thinks these little gatherings in Hyde Park are of sufficient importance to have representatives there nightly.

Iran Accepts Anglo-Russian Terms of Peace

TEHERAN, Sept. 9 (AP)—Iran today accepted Anglo-Russian peace terms, agreeing to expel German, Italian, Hungarian and Rumanian Legations here and to deliver Axis nationals to British and Soviet authorities.

The terms provide also for a British zone of occupation comprising the Southwestern corner of Iran, an area about 400 miles long and 100 miles wide in which the country's rich oil fields lie, and a Russian zone about 500 miles long, varying in width from 50 to 150 miles deep, lying across the Northern portion of Iran just North of Teheran, the capital.

Iran still is trying to persuade Britain and Russia to reduce these zones of occupation, but a Government spokesman told Parliament, Iran had no choice except to submit. Parliament approved the agreement.

(Acceptance of the peace terms by Iran also was announced by the British Foreign Office).

McNaughton Well Satisfied With Canadian Units

By DOUGLAS AMARON (Canadian Press Staff Writer)

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, Sept. 9 (CP)—Well satisfied with what he saw in a day-long inspection of 3rd Canadian Division units, Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, Canadian Corps Commander, predicted that the latest troops to arrive from Canada will soon be ready to take their place beside units of the 1st and 2nd Divisions.

The General, accompanied by Maj.-Gen. C. B. Price, Divisional Commander, spent a morning with two infantry brigades and the afternoon with divisional signallers, two Maritime field ambulances, two field regiments of Royal Canadian Artillery and the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps.

Purpose of the inspection, he said, "was to satisfy myself that the basic training we planned for the division in Canada had worked out as we hoped."

"I was most anxious that facilities available in Canada and not available here had been used. We wanted to concentrate on our own methods and felt that if we could get this done in Canada we could get the superstructure on in England very quickly indeed."

Kokanee Charter Turns Over $250 to Spitfire Fund, $10 Queen's Fund

A donation of $250 to the National Chapter I. O. D. E. Spitfire Fund, and $10 to the Queen's Canadian Fund, were deposited upon at the Kokanee Charter meeting, Tuesday afternoon. The $250 for the Spitfire Fund makes a total of $500. The Chapter having donated the same amount earlier in the year.

BLANKETS SHOWN Blankets made from old woollens, to be used in bomb shelters, were on display. Several types of blankets have been made, but colored pastels and heather mixtures, in both large and small sizes. About 125 blankets have already been received and sent to Provincial Headquarters to be shipped overseas. Over 800 pounds of the woollens have been sent to the factory, and more blankets are expected shortly. The Chapter has been allowed several blanket premiums for the great number being made, and it was decided to raffie five pairs of the green blankets to help defray the expenses. The blankets to be raffied will be on display in a downtown store at a near date. Mrs. Burns will be in charge of the raffie, assisted by a committee of Mrs. A. L. Creech, Mrs. T. Chester, Mrs. L. J. Maurer and Mrs. Robert Thompson.

The collecting of old woollens is still being carried on, and any donations will be welcomed by the Chapter. Mrs. Jack McDonald stated in making her report. Mrs. E. Marsden was appointed to take charge of this work in the rooms.

An appeal for members to increase their efforts in making supplies was contained in a letter from the Provincial War Work Convener, which was read by Mrs. E. C. Wragge. The members were also asked to make supplies for the Women's services overseas.

Six families were receiving milk through the Chapter's fund, and one new family had been added to the list during the month. Mrs. Leo Gansner, Welfare Work Convener, reported.

Pythians Direct the Funeral of Edward Shannon

Funeral services for Edward M. Shannon, New Denver pioneer who died suddenly August 29 in his seventy-seventh year, were held at the Presbyterian Church, New Denver, Rev. Mr. Wycherly officiating, and at the New Denver cemetery. He was buried beside his wife, who predeceased him by six years.

Funeral arrangements were under the auspices of the K. P. Lodge, of which Mr. Shannon was life member. The impressive Pythian burial service was read by Henry Kelsall of Silverton, and the pallbearers were Mr. Kelsall, H. V. Lewis and Martin Kennedy of Silverton; A. Jacobson, Harvey Woolley and William Jeffery of New Denver.

Surviving are two sons, Denver of New Denver and Mervin in the Canadian army at Vancouver; two daughters, Mrs. F. M. Deater of Pentlton and Mrs. E. D. Simes of Big Creek, Calif.; two sisters, Mrs. T. Avison of New Denver and Mrs. J. Grant of Vancouver; and three brothers, Richard of Lulu Island and James and Lewis in Manitoba.

ON C. P. R. CONSTRUCTION

Mr. Shannon was born in Perth, Ont., in 1865 and with his father and family moved to Manitoba in the late seventies. In his youth he learned the baker's trade and during construction of the C. P. R. he cooked in some of the grading camps.

At the age of 18 he filed on a homestead near Fort Qu'Appelle but shortly after the rails of the C. P. R. were joined at Craighellachie he travelled West to Seattle. He cooked in hotels and lumber camps on the Coast for a year or two, then moved back to Birtle, Man., where in 1902 he married Janet Todd. Shortly after his marriage he brought his bride West, this time locating at Brandon with the intention of taking up land and raising fruit.

But the Silvery Slocan was calling. Early Spring of '33 found the young man and his bride at Nakusp. From Nakusp they travelled by horseback and pack mules to the head of Slocan Lake, then by row-boat to what is now New Denver. Late in the year of '33 Mr. Shannon was prospecting the hills around Slocan Lake. Early in 1894 he and his partner located what is known now as the Neepawa Group on Ten Mile Creek.

That year saw him in possession of the 48th consecutive free miner's licence, a record few prospectors have attained in this district.

He was a kindly, humorous Irishman whose ready wit and engaging manner made many friends wherever he went.

F.B.I. Works Under Direction From Hamburg Radio

NEW YORK, Sept. 9 (AP)—As a means of counter-espionage the Federal Bureau of Investigation for a year and a half has been acting on German espionage instructions from Hamburg as received through a specially built radio station on Long Island, it was testified today in the trial of 16 men charged with spying for the Reich.

William G. Seboid, German-born Government informer, said that the F.B.I. station—erected after he received from Hamburg the instructions ordering it to be built—had cleared between 200 and 300 messages to and from a German spy centre in Hamburg.

Earlier Seboid testified that a German espionage agent in Hamburg told him in January, 1940, that the Reich already had America's treasured Norden bombsight. Under threat of death, he said, he had agreed to cooperate with the German secret police.

AIRMEN GRATEFUL Mrs. George Lambert, as a representative of the Citizens Committee for Visiting Airmen, told the members that many letters had been received from the airmen who had visited Nelson, stating how much they had enjoyed the privilege of staying in a "home," and voicing their intention and hopes of being able to return again. Although the visits have been suspended, due to the epidemics in the Prairie Provinces, they will be started again when the quarantine is lifted, and Mrs. Lambert asked that any members wishing to entertain them either before or during the Christmas holiday should get in touch with Mrs. George Hoover, who is in charge of the billeting.

Mrs. Cartmel, Regent, also spoke a few words on the scheme, and asked the members to back the effort.

Members were saddened to hear that Mrs. H. H. MacKenzie, former Regent, is gravely ill in Vancouver General Hospital. Flowers will be sent from the Chapter.

Mrs. W. K. Clark, who is leaving Nelson shortly, said a few words in bidding the members farewell.

Mrs. L. J. Maurer was the hostess, and was assisted by Mrs. Jack McDonald, Mrs. N. McLeod, Mrs. W. H. Smedley, Mrs. J. McGregg, Mrs. W. J. McLean, Mrs. H. Robertson, Mrs. H. D. Thain and Miss Mae McFarlane.

It was decided that the Chapter would take part in the Reconciliation services to be held throughout Canada starting today.

British Navy Sinks 3 Nazi Ships in Arctic

LONDON, Sept. 9 (CP)—British naval forces in the Arctic have sunk three German ships supplying troops on the Russian Arctic front and in addition probably have sunk the German warship Bremse, the Admiralty announced tonight.

(The German High Command acknowledged that the Bremse, described as a 1400-ton artillery cadet ship on convoy duty, had been lost after a short and fierce fight.)

The three vessels sunk were a destroyer, an armed trawler and another ship, the Admiralty said. The Bremse, described here as a light cruiser, "is believed to have been sunk," a communique said.

Still other ships probably were damaged in the action, which occurred near Murmansk, the Admiralty said.
