RUSS SMASH NAZI ATTEMPT TO BUILD LINE

U. S. CIVILIANS TREATED POORLY BY JAP CAPTORS

Discriminate Against All White People .. of Manila

NEW PRESSURE ON LAND FRONT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4 (AP).—Gunners in the besieged fortress of Corregidor shot down four of a squadron of 21 Japanese bombers which hammered again today at the heavily fortified island in the mouth of Manila Bay. The Japanese gave up the attack after half an hour.

This information was contained in a radio report from Gen. Douglas MacArthur to the United States War Department, a communique which also accused the Japanese captors of Manila of giving "especially harsh" treatment to American civilians in the city.

Moreover, said the communique, the Japanese were "discriminating against all white residents of Manila," including the nationals of Japan's Axis allies, Germany and Italy.

North of Manila Bay, in Pampanga Province which is defended by MacArthur's American-Philippine forces ,the Japanese resumed pressure on the defence lines and made air attacks the communique said.

Berlin reports claimed large troop transports were moving from Lingayen Bay, where the Japanese landed earlier in the campaign, toward the South apparently for an attack on American forces in the Corregidor and Olongapo areas. Olongapo is a secondary naval base for the United States.

The navy categorically denied during the day a claim by Domei, the Japanese news and propaganda agency, that 43 United States warships were lost in Manila Bay.

The navy, in announcing the evacuation last week, said all ships and personnel had been removed.

In its statement today, the navy commented "the American people should not be confused by enemy propaganda emanating from Berlin, Tokyo and Rome, the obvious purpose of which is to undermine public confidence in our armed forces."

MacArthur's report of conditions in the city of Manila said the occupying troops had ordered that all whites, irrespective of nationality, must remain indoors or risk being shot.

He said the instructions to remain indoors implied it was planned to intern the city's white population without regard to citizenship.

Germans, Italians, and Spaniards were said to be included in the "general discrimination against the white race."

The destruction of four bombers in today's raid raised to at least 11 the number of enemy planes destroyed in attacks on Corregidor.

At least four bombers were destroyed and others damaged in the three-hour attack of Dec. 29 and at least three more destroyed in Saturday's five-hour onslaught by 60 or more raiders.

On nearby Bataan Peninsula and upon the approaches to it, the Japanese slowed their attacks American and Filipino troops consolidated themselves in new positions from which they were enabled to intensify their resistance.

The announcement used such definite language that many presumed MacArthur's men had established a strong line from which they could prolong the fighting for a considerable period.

OFFENSIVE FROM BURMA IS HINTED

RANGOON, Burma, Jan. 4 (CP).—In view of the gathering of large allied forces in British Burma and intense air activity, the possibility of an offensive based on this flank of Japan's Southward drive was widely discussed tonight.

An unspecified number of Chinese troops joined British Empire forces in Burma last week.

BRITISH FORCES WITHDRAW ON MALAYAN FRONT

Take New Positions; Attempted Pursuit Is Stood Off

MORE JAPS GAIN BORNEO LANDING

SINGAPORE, Jan. 4 (CP) — British authorities said today their forces in the Perak River jungle region some 200 miles North of Singapore withdrew to new positions Saturday night under heavy Japanese pressure, but stood off an attempted pursuit by Japanese motorized forces.

At the same time, they said, the Japanese made progress in their attack on Borneo by effecting a landing Saturday at Weston, 100 miles Northeast of Brunnei on the Northwest coast.

The new landing in North Borneo follows two others at Miri and Kuching in Sarawak.

There was no hint here as to the extent of the British withdrawal, except that some Japanese activity was reported even in Southern Perak. At its closest point Perak border is about 240 miles from Singapore.

Heavy casualties were exacted from the attackers, British authorities declared. The R.A.F. made heavy night attacks on Japanese vessels off the Western Malayan coast but the results were not observed.

Previously the British defences had been stretched in an almost North-South line behind the Perak River which enters Malacca Strait about 200 miles from Singapore.

The British Command had reported the repulse of many Japanese attempting to cross this river in rafts and small boats for a flank attack on British positions farther North.

Authorities were silent concerning Kuantan, the Japanese were reported in the outskirts of that place, on the East coast.

Twenty-four Japanese planes roared over Singapore Saturday night dropping bombs, but damage and casualties were reported light.

In return British and American aircraft from Burma attacked a Japanese airport at Rahentak in Thailand, 200 miles from Rangoon and without loss to themselves destroyed two Japanese fighting planes in the air and four on the ground.

On the West coast British bombers smashed the second Jap attempt in two days to get ashore behind the defence lines, smashing barges to bits and setting a steamship ablaze.

EDEN DECLARES TIES WITH RUSSIA DRAWING CLOSER

Identity of Views on All Questions Absolute

PRAISES ARMY

LONDON, Jan. 4 (CP).—Great Britain and Soviet Russia have been drawn closer in trust and common effort than at any time since the First Great War and still closer ties are in prospect, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden broadcast today, informing the world of his recent talks in the Kremlin.

Of his talks with Joseph Stalin and Soviet Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov Mr. Eden declared:

"When our communique states our identity of views on all questions relating to the conduct of the war, those words are not mere diplomatic jargon; they tell the literal and absolute truth."

The Foreign Secretary referred to his previous visit to Russia in 1935 when he had reached the conclusion that despite many obvious differences, our everlasting purpose was the same."

At that time, he declared, "We both wished to maintain the peace. Well, we have lost that peace. But we are determined not to lose this war or the peace that will follow."

Mr. Eden, who toured behind the Russian lines during his visit to the Soviet Union, praised the Red Army's defence of its homeland and the industrial machine backing it.

He declared Hitler had blundered by invading Russia and drawing on his armies the might of a united Soviet.

"The experience of my visit and talks that I had with Stalin and Molotov have convinced me that closer political collaboration between us can and will be realized," Mr. Eden said.

"We have to get rid of the legacy of suspicion on both sides.

"There is a contrast in the forms of government, but I will never accept that this need divide us.

"What matters in foreign affairs is not the form of the internal government of any nation but its international behavior.

"The trouble with Hitler, for instance, was not that he was a Nazi at home. The trouble with him was that he would not stay at home."

Mr. Eden bitterly added that "no free nation will be secure as long as he lives and the German military power is unbroken."

Then he cited the unity of Britain and the U.S.S.R. and expressed the conviction the Allies would gain "a lasting peace for all peoples."

He dwelt on the calibre of Russia's stand against the Nazi invasion, relating how flying conditions were so bad on his wintry arrival in Russia that he went by train to Moscow.

One stretch of our journey," he said, "was over a section of railway which Goebbels has told you has been cut.

"I can tell you from practical experience that Goebbels is wrong.

"The railway is intact, undamaged and working smoothly and well."

Mr. Eden pronounced the spirit of the Russia troops as "magnificent," their morale "higher than ever" and declared they are hammering without respite at the retreating Germans.

"We drove along the Moscow-Leningrad road to Klin and some miles beyond," he related.

"There were plenty of signs of the fighting by the roadside—shell-torn trees, derelict guns, shattered homes. . .

"Hitler has always liked a war of movement. He is getting it now."

Mr. Eden said he had not doubt that the harmony achieved between the Allies on all war matters alone would have more than justified his trip but that "personally I attach as much importance to the discussions which we had upon the organization of peace and security after the war."

"Intimate consultations with the governments of the Dominions, with the United States and with our allies will be necessary in the months that lie ahead."

Of the situation ahead Mr. Eden referred to the German-Russian front and said "The Russians know very well how formidable is the German military machine but they believe they have now the measure of their foe."

New Outbreak in Paris; Incident at Brest Serious

VICHY, Jan. 4 (AP)—A new "terroristic" outbreak in Paris resulted today in the imposition of a 5 p.m. curfew by the German occupation authorities while a "serious incident" in the occupied French seaport of Brest led to the suspension of the entire city council.

(These new anti-German incidents coincide with an apparent worsening of German-Vichy relations. Stockholm reported these relations now are the worst since signing of the armistice a year and a half ago.)

Advices from Brest, the Atlantic port at the tip of Brittany, tonight reported the incident there involved the entire council, from the mayor down.

Although the nature of the incident was unspecified, it was said to have occurred during an inaugural ceremony for the council, which had just taken office. The mayor reported suspended with his aides was Senator Legorgeu.

German authorities were reported to have ordered the new Paris curfew for cafes and other public places as a result of undisclosed "terrorist" activities of yesterday.

(The Berlin radio said the Paris order was issued as a result of a "bomb outrage" in a restaurant frequented by Germans. This attack, Saturday night, was said to have caused no casualties and only slight damage.)

BODY OF YOUNG WOMAN FOUND AT VANCOUVER

NAPLES, TRIPOLI AND AXIS ROUTE BLASTED BY RAF

Agedabia Fighting Is Kept to Gunfire and Thrusts

ATTACK BIG SHIP

CAIRO, Jan. 4 (AP)—Royal Air Force bombers, striking at both sides of the Mediterranean, blasted Naples and Tripoli in weekend attacks while fighter planes and bombers swept over the chief Libyan battleground and harried the Axis supply route, it was announced today.

British Headquarters reported that fighting on the Agedabia front was restricted chiefly to artillery fire and thrusts by mobile columns against German Gen. Erwin Rommel's Axis army "on a wide front" but the R.A.F. told of the following widespread operations:

"At Naples, 800 miles across the sea from the most advanced British position in Libya, bombers scored hits on a railway station and an aircraft plant.

One stick of high explosive bombs "hit the railway station and two more exploded close to it," in the Naples raid. Several fires were started in the city by incendiary bombs.

Reconnaissance flights over the Italian seaport had revealed "extensive damage to military and industrial objectives, with half the Royal Arsenal "devastated," oil tanks, factories and warehouses "gutted," and a torpedo factory "damaged seriously."

In the attack on Tripoli, main Axis supply port more than 400 miles West of the Agedabia area, British bombs started a large fire near the radio station and exploded on the main quay and power plant.

Off the Coast of Tripolitania torpedo planes attacked a 5,000-ton merchant ship, but could not check the effect of their blows because of intense anti-aircraft fire from a protecting warship.

Fighter planes sweeping the Libyan battle zone damaged a number of Messerschmitts in dogfights, and bombers destroyed a number of Axis fuel trucks in raids on a transport column on the coast between El Agheila and Sirte.

An authoritative British source said the apparent lull in the Libyan land fighting was due directly to the "race for supplies" in which both the British and German commands are straining every effort toward reinforcing their troops. Both sides, however, are being hampered by heavy rains.

In London Reuters quoted the Rome correspondent of the Swedish newspaper Stockholm Tidningen as declaring that the Italians fully expect a heavy Allied attack on Tripolitania. The Italians, according to this dispatch, are aware the British command has made every preparation for such a drive but are waiting only until bases are in complete readiness.

British Headquarters boosted the total of prisoners taken in the capture of Bardia from 5000 to 7000.

Orientals Committee Called to Ottawa to Discuss Proposals

VANCOUVER, Jan. 4 (CP)—The standing committee on Orientals, which since its appointment in January, 1941, has made an exhaustive study of the Japanese situation in British Columbia, was summoned to Ottawa Saturday to discuss its recommendations with Prime Minister Mackenzie King and other authorities.

The committee, although appointed by the Dominion Government has no power to act beyond submitting recommendations to Federal authorities. Its chairman is Mayor Fred J. Hume of New Westminster, B.C.

Announcement the committee would travel to Ottawa was made after it issued a statement in which it said it had submitted proposals to Ottawa for "utilization" of the Japanese fishing fleet in British Columbia, immobilized since Dec. 7, and for the employment of Japanese deprived of their livelihood.

Investigation indicated the potion was administered by the woman without escort's knowledge.

30,000 JAPANESE CASUALTIES AT CHANGSHA FIGHT

Chinese Report Japs in Disordered Retreat

CASUALTIES IN 3 DAYS ARE 52,000

CHUNGKING, Jan. 5 (Monday) (AP)—The Chinese High Command announced today 30,000 Japanese were killed and wounded at Changsha yesterday in a battle in which the Japanese offensive against that Hunan Province capital was turned into "a catastrophic debacle."

This makes a total of 52,000 Japanese casualties in three days before Changsha in a slaughter all but eclipsing anything witnessed heretofore in the nearly 4½ years of fighting in China.

The announcement said the Japanese were in general and disordered retreat after yesterday's decisive action when the invader's 6th division was virtually wiped out.

Other invaders, it said, were mowed down when they tried to break through a Chinese ring of steel thrown around Changsha.

Several high Japanese officers were reported killed in this third and costly attempt by the Nipponese to take and hold the provincial capital.

Buildings of the Yale-in-China University were burned, including the hospital—possibly the finest in central China—the university medical school and the homes of the staff.

Although encircled, Japanese troops yesterday morning continued to attack the city from the North, the South and the East. As the battle raged, Chinese reinforments arrived and occupied three Japanese outposts and threatened the Japanese left flank.

The Japanese then transferred troops from the Southern suburbs to relieve the left flank, but as the reinforcements moved they were subjected to a murderous assault by Chinese artillery fire, which wiped out several thousand of them.

After the collapse at the South, Japanese troops attacking on the East were compelled to withdraw to the North. The Japanese tried to cross the Liuyang and Latao rivers, but Chinese troops penetrated the Japanese rear and frustrated every attempt while the Chinese artillery poured shells into the Japanese concentrations with calamitous effect, according to the Chinese account.

The Chinese announced the recapture of Kaoan and Wuning both important Japanese strongholds.

With the trapped Japanese being cut to pieces, the Chinese announced their forces had gained control of all vital positions along the nearby Milo and Sinchung rivers, and added the position of the invaders now "must be considered critical."

Chinese forces which cut in behind the Japanese lines were said to have cut off the Japanese line of retreat on the Southern bank of the Milo River.

"This is in addition to defence contracts heretofore awarded to this industry amounting to over $4,000,000,000," the statement said.

Tell of Mightier Air Force Rising for 1942 Offensive

Great Bombers, Faster Planes to Bring New Supremacy; Borovsk Recaptured in New Onslaught Before Moscow

By HENRY CASSIDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, Jan. 4 (AP)—The town of Borovsk, an important position for the security of German-held Mozhaisk, was captured today by the Red Army in a new onslaught against the Nazi forces before Moscow.

The Soviet Information Bureau's night communique announced the recapture of Borovsk, 50 miles Southwest of the Soviet Capital and 25 miles Southeast of Mozhaisk, a key to the main Moscow-Smolensk highway and said the Germans had failed to consolidate themselves in new positions and had suffered heavily in losses of men and arms.

Both day and night war bulletins told of new positions retaken by the counter-driving Russian armies and of progress on all fronts. Except for Borovsk, however, there was no mention of specific places or distances.

The account of Germany's steadily receding front in Russia, shoved back from one of its farthest approaches to Moscow and confronted with the threat of a a Mozhaisk pocket, coincided with an authoritative picture of a new and mightier Red Air Force rising to replace the airpower lost in more than half a year of war.

An indication the Germans already may have been driving back beyond an intended Winter liner at one point on the Southern end of the front was contained in a report in Pravda, the Communist party newspaper.

Soviet troops and tanks, it said, fell upon an "intermediate line" the Germans had prepared and fortified in that area, destroying it and holding it against tank-supported Nazi counter-thrusts.

Telling of the successive entry into several towns identified only by cryptic initials, the dispatch cited one villaged defended by the Germans dispirately for days. It said the Germans had to be driven at bayonet point, house by house, but ultimately were forced out after they had lost 400 officers and men.

Another 300 Germans were killed, the Moscow radio said, by one Red Army unit which recaptured several towns on the front South of Moscow.

Not only will the Russians come back in the air with faster and mightier planes and with bombers able to carry heavier bomb loads greater distance during 1942, declared Maj.-Gen. Scherbakov of the Red Air Force, but they also will hold the upper hand during the Winter months because of advance preparations.

Gen. Scherbakov declared the Red Air Force had forced the Germans to move in small units rather that in long columns and wrecked careful Nazi plans for air assaults on Moscow.

"In the past few months," he added, "we have received still better fighter planes. The German Army calls them 'Black death.'

"The year 1942 will bring us new successes in the struggle for air supremacy. . ."

The Russian High Command Saturday night reported virtual destruction of a division of Spanish volunteers.

In a supplement to its regular evening communique, the Red Army announced that a prisoner from the Spanish Blue Division had disclosed that more than 8000 of its members had been killed.

At the same time Izvestia sounded the keynote of a new Russian determination—to "force the Germans to retreat until Germany becomes a battlefield."

In the same tone as Izvestia the Moscow radio said: "At the present moment the most important task is not to give the enemy a breathing space. The Red Army must drive the enemy back until the last Nazi has been cleared from Russian soil."

Major General Golubev, who led Russian troops in the retaplure of the important rail line city of Malyaroslavets, 85 miles Southwest of Moscow, said that task was well under way.

He said an average of 2000 Germans a day had died in the path of that advance from December 21 to 31.

Daring Daylight Raid Made on Germany by RAF

LONDON, Jan. 4 (CP)—R.A.F. fliers made a bold daylight raid on Northwest Germany today, penetrating Germany anti-aircraft defences to strike at railway communications and other objectives.

Such raids by daylight are rare and may indicate the Germans are so occupied in Russia and have had their air power so severly diminished that they are unable to maintain adequate defence at home.

Tonight radio listeners reported that certain German stations and the Nazi-controlled Paris radio stations went off the air at 9 p.m. the usual time of sending news bulletins. This ordinarily is a sign of R.A.F. activity over Germany and the occupied territories.

Flying singly, the British planes in the daylight raid used both bombs and machine-gun fire, swooping down close to the ground to pepper their targets.

Northern French objectives also were attacked.

Six Die as Car and Train Collide

OTTAWA, Jan. 4 (CP). — Six persons were killed and two injured early today when their automobile was in collision with a Canadian Pacific Railway passenger train in suburban Westboro.

Dr. J. S. Nelson, coroner for Carleton County, listed the dead as Roger Champagne, 21, of nearby Orleans, driver of the automobile, Sgt. Yves J. Nadon of the Royal Canadian Air Force, his wife Genevieve and Brother Lac Gilles Nadon, of Ottawa, Sylvio Boyer, 31, Ottawa and Celina Barnett, 27, of suburban Eastview.

Witnesses said the nine people were driving in the Champagne automobile after a family reunion in Westboro. They gave a push to a stalled car and then apparently lacked sufficient momentum to make the slight grade at the icy level crossing. The other car got across safely under its own power.

"WAR WORRY" LEADS TO BIG TRAFFIC TOLL

VANCOUVER, Jan. 4 (CP)—"War worry" was blamed Saturday by Alderman G. H. Worthington, civic traffic chairman, for the fact that Vancouver's 1941 traffic toll of 47 lives and 3230 accidents was the heaviest in history.

He said he believed the war had so disturbed the average motorist that he became absent-minded and disregarded traffic signals.

Wavell Predicts Defeat for Japs

By WITT HANCOCK
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW DELHI, Jan. 4 (AP) — With soldierly reserve but with quiet confidence an frank recognition of the problems—even the possible reserves—that lie ahead, Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell, the newly-named Supreme A.B.C.D. Commander in the Southwest Pacific, only ultimate defeat.

cific, predicted today Japan faces

"The situation may become worse until the tide turns," said the British General at a farewell interview, "but turn it will with inexorable strength when the time comes."

Naturally, he did not disclose where he will establish his new headquarters or who will succeed him as Britain's Commander-in-Chief in India.

"I would like to take this opportunity to convey to the people of the United States, Britain, the Dominions and their Allies how deeply sensible I am of the honor done me and the confidence reposed in me by ther Governments in appointing me Supreme Commander in the Southwest," he said.

He made no effort to conceal, and, rather emphasized that it will not be possible to reverse the situation with on blow.

But, he declared, "We can throw these Japanese freebooters from the places they have temporarily seized."

Referring lightly to the magnitude of his assignment he said, "It looks like quadruplets this time . . . I shall do my best to look after them and bring them up the way they should go."

He said the first phase, in some ways, was parallel with the situation which confronted Britain in the Middle East in 1940 after the collapse of France.

"We must hold on with what we have until we can collect our forces for the return blow," he said.

Production of New U.S. Interceptor Plane Planned Soon

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4 (AP)—Quantity production will begin soon on a new, hitherto secret interceptor plane, heavily armed with large guns early today and hurtled from the United States army to be the world's fastest single-engined airplane.

This was disclosed Saturday by the Office of Emergency Management which said the new ship, designated the "P-47," has made 680 miles an hour in power dive tests and more than 490 miles an hour in level flight.

It is powered by a 2000-horsepower engine turning a four-bladed propeller more than 12 feet in diameter, weighs as much as the two-engined Lockheed P-38 and twice as much as the Bell Airacobra.

Explosion, Planes Give Tacoma Jitters

TACOMA, Jan. 4—Tacoma had a good case of the war jitters over a water front explosion that sent some persons scurrying for their basements in fear of bombing attacks.

The blast was one probably set off at the Henry Mill and Timber company, police said. Mill company officials said a small piece of concrete had been blasted at about the same time.

Coupled with unusual aerial activity over the city, the explosion scared the daylights out of North end residents. At about the same time the explosion was heard a squadron of airplanes passed over the city.

High-ranking Army officers said they considered the possibility of an aerial bomb dropped accidentally into Puget Sound and bomb racks of planes at McChord field were being checked as a routine measure.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4 (AP). — An "invasion" of Turkey by German troops A.W.L. from convalescence centres in Bulgaria was reported by the BBC today in a German-language broadcast. Pedens Hold Lead

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 4 (AP). — Five teams were tied in mileage as Milwaukee's six-day bicycle race passed the 48-hour mark tonight. He was out of the race an hour and 20 minutes after he ran into a trainer on the track during a jam.

Snaps Collar Bone in a Hockey Game

Ian Currie, of Nelson, when taking part Sunday afternoon in a hockey game at South Slocan between South Slocan and Slocan Park, suffered a broken collar bone. Given expert first aid treatment he returned to Nelson by bus, and Dr. R. B. Shaw set the broken bone in Kootenay Lake General Hospital. A member of the M.R.K. Juvenile hockey team and of the Juvenile Rep squad, young Currie is probably through with competitive playing for the season, but should soon be carrying on again coaching the Dodger Bantams and the Bantam Pool.

San Francisco Has Blackout as Planes Heard Out at Sea

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 4 (AP) — The roar of unidentified planes 80 miles West of the Golden Gate, picked up by an air raid listening post, gave the San Francisco bay district a 44-minute blackout.

The sound later faded, and when it was not heard again for 15 minutes the all-clear signal was sounded.

It was San Francisco's first blackout since December 12.

"Two definite sound tracks from about 80 miles at sea were traced into the filter station here, and that was the reason for the alarm," the Army said.

"The sound of the planes came from two directions, and then veered away. When it was not heard for 15 minutes, the all-clear signal was given."

Deny Jap Claims of Capture of Warships

LONDON, Jan. 4 (CP)—The Admiralty categorically denied today Tokyo claims a large number of British warships had been captured by Japanese forces at Hong Kong.

"It has been noted," said an Admiralty press notice, "that statements made by the enemy claim that a large number of British warships were destroyed or fell into Japanese hands at the surrender of Hong Kong.

"These enemy claims vary considerably and are quite irresponsible.

"Our naval losses in Hong Kong were confined to a few small vessels, mostly auxiliaries."

Road Behavior in Britain Deteriorates

LONDON (CP)—A Ministry of War Transport White Paper attributes a "serious deterioration" in road behaviour by all classes of British road users to the "wartime mentality of living dangerously." Carelessness, however, remained the main cause of accidents as in peacetime but the results were accentuated by blackout conditions.

In the first 12 months of the war, 8,358 persons were killed on the roads, a 16 per cent increase over the average for the years 1935-38. In the second 12 months of war the number of deaths rose another 20 per cent to 10,073.

Probable factors in accidents were listed as war strain, anxiety to "beat the blackout" and exasperation due to delays caused by war conditions.

LONDON (CP) — The Cross of Liberation, instituted by the Free French for its bravest fighting men, has been pinned on more than 150 soldiers, sailors and airmen. It carries the automatic award of the Croix de Guerre with palm.

The inception of the chain store was in 1859 when a tea merchant decided to retail his cargo of tea rather than pass it through the middlemen.

India Heads Ask for Bold Stroke

NEW DELHI, Jan. 4 (CP) — A group of 15 Indian leaders appealed directly to Prime Minister Churchill today for "some bold stroke of farsighted statesmanship without delay" to avert a political crisis in India and insure her full cooperation in Britain's war effort.

The plea was placed above Indian party politics, for none of the signers are now active in the Congress Party or Moslem League—the two dominant political factions.

The signers, representing some of the influential, but less vocal, moderate and liberal circles in Indian opinion, asked the Prime Minister to declare at once that:

"India will no longer be treated as a dependency to be ruled from Whitehall an dhencefoth her constitutional position and powers will be identical with those of other units in the British Commonwealth."

Admiralty Breaks Rule of Silence on Action in Atlantic

LONDON, Jan. 4 (CP)—Destruction of at least six Axis submarines and two large long range bombers by British naval action in the Mediterranean and the Atlantic was made known yesterday as the Admiralty, breaking its long-standing rule of silence, told the British people something of the price Germany is paying for its attacks on allied convoys.

Four British warships were lost, a cruiser, two destroyers and a fleet auxiliary.

In the Atlantic action, which accounted for three of the U-boats and both long range bombers, the Germans sank two warships and two of more than 30 freighters in the convoy. Together these freighters lost, aggregated only 6185 tons, contrasted with German claims of having sunk 37,000 tons.

In the Mediterranean the 7175-ton cruiser Neptune and the destroyer Kandahar were sunk by mines. Announcement of these losses came a few hours after it had been disclosed that the destroyers Farndale, Kipling, Hasty and Hotspur of the Mediterranean fleet had accounted for one Italian and two German U-boats.

The Atlantic battle was cited as an instance of the defence of the Empire's lines of communication over which vital supplies are brought to Britain week after week.

"It is known that at least three of the attacking U-boats were sunk, since prisoners of war from these U-boats were taken," the Admiralty said. "Two of the German long-range Focke-Wulf aircraft were shot down into the sea and a third was so severely damaged it may not have regained its base."

The convoy consisted of more than 30 merchant ships led by Vice Admiral Raymond Fitzmaurice, a veteran commodore of convoys who was named a knight of the British Empire in the King's new year's honors list.

"The attack on the convoy developed Dec. 17 and before noon that day the first U-boat was sunk," the Admiralty said. "The U-boat was sighted on the surface and sunk by gunfire from ships of the escort.

"Prisoners taken from this U-boat stated it had been forced to the surface by damage inflicted in depth charge attacks earlier in the day."

Two German bombers attacked in the afternoon, but were driven off by the Admiralty's gunners, and another U-boat was sent to the bottom the following day in an action in which the former American destroyer Stanley participated, the Admiralty said.

Some hours later the Stanley herself was torpedoed and sunk. Other escort vessels countered with heavy depth charges and another U-boat was forced to the surface.

"It was rammed and sunk by H.M.S. Stork, some prisoners being taken," the official count went on.

Two Focke-Wulf aircraft were shot down into the sea Dec. 19 and a third was badly damaged and driven off by the Audacity, and the Germans carried on the attack with submarines.

The Audacity was torpedoed and sunk in the hunt for the surviving U-boats, who last attacked Dec. 21.

An American-built Liberator aircraft of the coastal command of the R.A.F. joined the convoy at this stage," the Admiralty said, "and played a conspicuous part in the final series of counter-attacks that eventually freed the convoy from further pursuit.

"Although no prisoners were taken, as a result of many depth charges carried out during the last two days of the attack, it is possible to say the achieved further successes against the enemy [illegible]."

The Admiralty said, German communiques laid great stress on the scale and [illegible] of the attack made on this convoy."

They claimed nine merchant ship of 37,000 tons were sunk out of this convoy in addition to naval units sunk and two more merchant ships damaged. This claim of the enemy was an exaggeration of over 600 per cent.

The auxiliary warship Audacity was officially identified as the 5537 ton former German merchant ship Hannover, taken prize by a naval patrol in March, 1940. It said the Germans had first said this naval vessel was an aircraft carrier of the 23,000-ton formidable class.

OTTAWA, Jan. 4 (CP)—Sinking of the Auxiliary warship Audacity reported from London yesterday recalled a brilliant feat of seamanship on the part of officers and crew of the Canadian flotilla leader Assiniboine in March, 1940.

The Audacity was formerly the German merchant ship Hanover which was captured by the Assiniboine and a British warship off the Dominion coast while trying to escape Central American waters.

In accordance with the usual German practice at that time the crew of the Hanover tried to scuttle their ship when it was overhauled by the British warship in the darkness of early morning. When the Assiniboine arrived on the scene in answer to a signal from the British warship the prize was ablaze and drifting toward a neutral coast.

The Assiniboine put a cable on the prize and towed it while the British vessel made a patrol to hunt German sailors who had escaped in small boats. A prize crew from the Assiniboine went aboard the Hanover and struggled to put out the fire but found the windlasses jammed, the steering gear broken and the anchors gone.

With a freshening wind the flame mounted higher and the problem of towing the ship, now turned over to the British vessel, became more difficult. Meanwhile the Assiniboine kept running alongside with hoses playing on the flames.

For five days the Canadian destroyer and the British warship had struggled with their disabled prize which plunged and veered wildly on the tow because of its damaged condition.

It was finally brought safely to Jamaica and subsequently repaired and outfitted as an auxiliary war ship.

ROME, Jan. 4 (Italian broadcast recorded by AP)—The Italian radio quoted a survivor of the British cruiser Neptune yesterday as saying the sunken warship's commander, Capt. Roy O'Conor, died after four days in an open boat.

Predict British to Open 'Third Front' In Spring

LONDON, Jan. 4 (CP)—A British offensive in Western Europe timed to strike when the Germans attempt a new drive in Russia was predicted today by observers as a likely development next Spring.

They pointed out that British and Russian strategy are closely integrated and that some parts of Nazi-occupied France possess these four characteristics deemed necessary for creating a "third front."

1. A friendly civilian population to harass the Nazi rear withsabotage and guerilla attacks;
2. Accessibility for combined naval and air operations supporting invasion forces;
3. Nearness to Britain for economy of shipping anr naval power;
4. Limited transport facilities available to the defence.

Nazi Leader and 5000 Prisoners Taken at Bardia

CAIRO, Jan. 4 (AP)—Maj.-Gen. Schmidt, chief administrative staff officer of the Nazi "Panzer Gruppe Afrika", and more than 5,000 other Axis prisoners were captured at Bardia, it was announced officially Saturday.

British losses in occupation of the port, a communique declared, were 90 killed and 300 wounded.

It said 1,130 British prisoners held by the Axis were freed.

So fast was the British charge, it said, that the defenders were unable to "carry out any substantial demolitions" but there was as yet no estimate of the British booty.

Wavell Named Supreme Commander of United Anti-Axis Forces in Pacific

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3 (AP)—The White House announced today unification of all Anti-Axis sea, land and air forces in the Southwest Pacific area under General Sir Archibald Wavell as supreme commander.

Major General George H. Brett, Chief of the United States Army Air Corps, was named deputy supreme commander for that region.

Under the direction of Gen. Wavell, Admiral Thomas C. Hart Commander of the American Asiatic fleet, will be in charge of all naval forces in the area and Gen. Sir Henry Pownall, the new British Commander at Singapore, will be Chief of Staff to Gen. Wavell, who will take over his unified command in the near future.

Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek had accepted the supreme command over all land and air forces of the 26 "united nations" which are now or may in the future be operating in the Chinese theatre, including "initially such portions of Indo-China and Thailand as may become available to troops of the united nations."

There was no precise definition of the Southwest Pacific area where Gen. Wavell will be "supreme commander," but it was authoritatively said to include the general region of Singapore, Malaya, the Netherlands East Indies, and the Philippines where Gen. Douglas MacArthur is leading American-Filipino troops in a dogged battle against the Japanese.

Gen. Brett, a Deputy Chief of the United States Army Staff, has been in the Far East for some time. A few days ago a military council was created in Chungking, China, composed of Wavell, Chiang Kai-Shek and Brett.

The man who LOST THE WAR

Above our heads, in the bright Canadian sunshine, the Stukas drone. Down our fair streets come German tanks. Squads of square-helmeted soldiers strut about.

● Yes, this war can be lost—it can't be won without a supreme effort. If we lose, here is the man to blame:

● He is not a Quisling, or a fifth columnist; just a patriotic Canadian who is now quite certain that everything will come out alright.

● He cherishes those ideals we hold most dear. He is proud to live in a free country, pleased with the high standard of living we enjoy. But he is so satisfied with the way things are going that he says, "Let George do it!"

● His heart goes out to conquered peoples, to the women and children whose cities have been bombed. He has no fear that next year a bomb might rip his home in pieces. He is sure everything will come out alright.

● You couldn't call him selfish. He pays his taxes, buys War Savings Certificates. But he just can't believe that if we don't gain the upper hand quickly "George" might not be able to do it after all.

Could this man be you?

Your country appeals to you to forget self, and comfort, and money, and enjoyment and to pitch in and do your part till this one big job is done. Make this your sacred pledge: "BRAVE MEN SHALL NOT DIE BECAUSE I FALTERED"

Girl's Parents Turn Against Him

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Dear Miss Fairfax—I'm 30 years of age have my own business, an automobile of sorts, but very little cash. I'm deeply in love with a girl who is about 25 and of a good family. I've known her family for three years, and they've always treated me so well that I thought they liked me.

Lately they've been acting rather strange, they don't want the girl to see me. They've just recently become acquainted with a certain professional man, and are anxious that their daughter fall in love with him. I know that the girl loves me just the same, and I love her and will do anything to win her. Please tell me how to handle this.

R.

If the girl loves you, that's more than half the battle, isn't it? And the parents will have a hard time marrying the young lady to anybody, especially as she loves you. But like most parents, they think a marriage of the professional type is desirable for their daughter.

My advise would be that you continue to be agreeable to the girl's parents, and bide your time.

NAKUSP CHILDREN ARE GIVEN A PARTY

Progress . . .

Happy Children Learn Quickest

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

The learning of speech by the little child is a task which you and I are hardly capable of appreciating. When your baby uttered his first word he did not then begin his speech. He really had begun at birth with his first cry. During the first weeks his cries varied more and more, babbling evolved, and in a way so gradual that the keenest observer wasn't able to discover, he acquired ability to speak in the language of adults.

Every mother eagerly looks and listens for the first response of her baby. It comes after a month or two and with the first smile, or following it, comes the happy little throat sound.

The notes I kept on my second child record this sound first on the 50th day. Not until after 90 more days were there two or more such sounds in succession. By and by, as you must have observed, there come rhythmic cooing for 15 or 20-minute periods. Cooing always was an obvious expression of happiness, even while the infant was alone.

From my notes of day 108 (3½ months) I read: "Increased vocalization when happy. Squealing, cooing, warbling most often following the first morning meal. Happy as a lark then, keeping all the family awake. Nothing quite like it at any other time of day."

IMPROVE WHEN HAPPY

Each of my three children I watched carefully for new words and new successes in balancing and walking, and I never found them while the child was out of sorts. I think you will observe the same in your child. When, for instance, he begins to walk, he makes new ventures while good-natured, but when out of sorts he may sit and howl.

Furthermore, all inventions and creations seem to arise only during comfortable, happy states.

SOLVING PARENT PROBLEMS

Q. How should I punish my three-year-old child to make him go to bed?

A. Don't punish him for this purpose. Patiently lure him off to bed. Failing to do so, pick him up and take him, talking on the way about what is so interesting to him that his resistance will melt and shift to happy cooperation very soon. This is not mere theory. It worked on my children. It works with my two-year-old grandchild.

RESORT SUIT

Some of the smartest fashions being readied for Southern wear now, and for Spring wear later, are trig, American clothes manufactured of choice British fabrics. Here is one result of this interesting alliance. It indicates the important suit trend such as the extremely long jacket, the three patch pockets and the inverted action pleats on the skirt. The fabric is a lightweight gabardine with a silky finish.

Airmen Attend New Year Dance, Nakusp

NAKUSP, B.C.— Streamers brought together by a centrepiece of holly and bells, evergreen hangings and miniature Christmas trees, decorated the Legion Hall for the Annual New Year's Eve ball in Nakusp. The attendance was large, many from out of town points being present.

Ten British airmen, who are being entertained in Nakusp for several days, were guests of the Legion. They were welcomed and introduced by the Legion President F. Rushton. P. Young sang as a vocal solo "Wings Over Britain", with Mrs. Young playing the accompaniment.

Assisting with the music were Mrs. H. Murphy, W. Vinall, C. Picard and F. Ross. C. B. Hambling acted as master of ceremonies.

LONDON (CP)—Courses in clothing economy to help Britons make the best of rationing of materials are planned both for children and grown-ups.

SERIAL STORY . . . By LORENA CARLETON

Castle of Contentment

CHAPTER THIRTY-TWO

Instead of rushing pellmell to toss herself into her mother's lap with shrieking joy, Carlyle behaved more as an adult does during a gripping moment. Seemingly unable to believe her eyes, she stopped and stared. Ylena dared not move, either. Then slowly, her face gravely puzzled, the child walked toward her mother. Not once did she look at her grandmother or nurse. They simply were not there. As she drew nearer, Ylena put out a hand and soon Carlyle put out hers also. They touched, clung and then were in each other's arms.

Gone was Ylena's grief and loneliness, melted in that caress. Not so Carlyle's. The control she had exhibited up to the moment of actually being held in her mother's arms, now deserted her and she began to sob wildly. She buried her face in Ylena's lap, then slid to the floor, her head against her mother's knee, and gave vent to her heart-broken past unhappiness, a savage, uncontrollable weeping for something she didn't fully understand.

Across her blond head Ylena looked through tears at the old lady Vincent's black-beaded eyes, so intent on this reunion, then drew a deep breath to steady herself. Her hands, comforting but not fussy, were on the little girl's head. In turn, chubby curled fingers grasped Ylena's knees.

"Carlyle," the grandmother's remonstrance broke into that sad moment. "Don't cry any more, dear. You won't look pretty when you go to lunch with your mother."

That stopped the tears. Carlyle lifted her face to Ylena, then got up and approached her grandmother's huge antique bed. "Am I really going with her, grandmother?"

"Yes, you and Uncle Vernon." She put out a gnarled hand and gently pulled the child toward her. "And someday, if you'll just be patient with your old grandmother," she said shakily, "you can go to live with her in the West." A repetition of Ylena's dreaming came to her lips. "You'll have a pony and a Mexican silver saddle and a lily pool full of goldfish—you'd like that, wouldn't you?" The little girl nodded. Defeated, and totally conscious of her defeat, Mrs. Vincent begged, "Promise me you'll never forget your grandmother!"

"I won't," Carlyle promised. "I'll think about you every day like I think about my mother every day."

"That's a good girl. Now go to Mamie and get dressed."

There was nothing doubtful about Carlyle's manner now. She started in a brisk walk, pausing to give her mother a brief kiss. Outside, in the hallway, she instantly broke into the sort of quiet trot a child uses who is scolded for running in the house.

In her autocratic manner, Mrs. Vincent said, "You may have her until 3 o'clock. Then make your preparations to leave New York. If I find out you've been slipping around to see her again, your chances are in great peril. So if you value your future happiness, do as I say." She stopped the girl as she made a start toward her bed. "Don't come near me, and don't keep standing there. What are you waiting for? What do you want now? Haven't I done enough?" With strange gruff pride, she said, "The Vincents never admit their mistakes." Thereby admitting her own, intentionally, Ylena knew that. The old woman said, "Go on. Get out. Join Carlyle and Vernon. I don't want to see you again."

At luncheon there was no reserve, none of that quiet, demanded in the old Vincent mansion. Carlyle was a chattering, thrilled enthusiast, drinking in every word her mother told her about the West. Vernon Stone said nothing, but his eyes constantly flitted back and forth from Ylena to her child.

"We'll go to rodeos up on Scott Hamilton's ranch. There'll be racing and bulldogging and bronco riding." In detail she explained each trick to the ardently interested child. "You'll like the cowboys. They are so brave. And Scott is the bravest of all."

The expression in Carlyle's gray-green eyes was serious. "It doesn't sound very safe. Aren't you afraid he'll get hurt?"

Crisis . . .

Personal Worries Forgotten in War

BY IDA JEAN KAIN

One thing about a national crisis, it gives you a better perspective on your private worries. You can't be bothered with routine cares when there is a war to be won.

Certainly this has proved true in England where in the face of constant bombarment and the ever-hanging threat of invasion, the people simply forgot about their chronic neuroses. Dr. Robert Gillespie, British psychiatric specialist, reported recently that there has been a sharp drop in the percentage of neurotic women. The reason is, they are no longer idle.

But don't substitute tension for worry. If you find yourself getting tied up in knots from listening to the news broadcasts, ration your listening. This is no time to get yourself into a state. It would be better to turn off the radio and get out and walk in the fresh air. Try to stay out for a full hour and walk briskly.

Under pressure, we are inclined to go at too hectic a pace. Haste is the quickest way to build up tension. Besides, it is disorganizing. The tension that finally wears you down is the leaving yourself too little time to keep an appointment and having to rush; going against red lights and dodging traffic; bolting your meals and rushing off to do something else. At the end of such a hectic day you are exhausted nervously and you can not relax and get your rest.

This is the time to take yourself in hand. When you do have to move fast, make it a rule not to hurry inwardly. That gets you nowhere. Allow more time for keeping appointments and walk to some of them. This will give you the exercise needed to keep you in condition. And, above all, relax at mealtime.

And do your part in the defense program. This will give you a sense of personal satisfaction. There is enough to be done now to keep every woman busy and when you are doing all you can you do not worry.

Ac2 M. Major returned to Toronto after visiting his mother, Mrs. A. C. Major.

Used Cars May Be Put Under Price Control

OTTAWA, Jan. 4 (CP).—Weather-beaten automobiles resting on the used car lots of Canada took on a new importance today with the possibilit price ceiling provisions would be applied to them by the War-time Prices and Trade Board.

An increasing demand for used cars was expected to develop as a result of the decision virtually to discontinue manufacture of new vehicles at March 31, to allow industry to concentrate almost entirely on war production.

The Prices Board has admitted the difficulty of establishing a price ceiling over second-hand articles of any kind as no basic prices have been available for use in setting standards.

Already price ceiling provisions apply to new repair parts and repair services.

GAY MOTHER-AND-DAUGHTER JUMPERS FROM TWO MARIAN MARTIN PATTERNS

Patterns 9853 and 9875

Here's smart "double-talk" in mother and-daughter jumpers that will make people exclaim, "but you look just like sisters!" Both styles are created by Marian Martin, director of the Daily News popular pattern feature. Notice how perkily the wide skirts are gathered at the waist, giving a dirndl effect. Buttons go down the back of each jumper in true pinafore style. The jumpers are made of colorful spun rayon challis, the blouses are of dainty white batiste, and sturdy buttfast thread is used throughout for durability and to avoid fuzzy, faded seams after laundering.

The larger style, Pattern 9853, is available in sizes 11 to 17, 12, to 18. The smaller style, Pattern 9875, is available in sizes 2 to 10. Watch for other smart Marian Martin patterns featured regularly by the Daily News.

Price of patterns 20c each.

British Women Refuse Uniform Leisure Clothes

LONDON (CP)—British women who gladly renounced frills and flounces for service uniforms and war-factory smocks have won their battle to indulge in individual tastes in dress during leisure hours.

Fears a government scheme to "control" of clothes would result in standardization brought hurried declarations that British women would never submit to uniform apparel. The government took heed and although fabrics, prices and durability have been standardized manufacturers were permitted to model fashions in any color, pattern, shape or form.

Before placing the latest styles on the market the Board of Trade invited leading designers to a fashion parade presided over by Capt. C. Waterhouse, Parliamentary Secretary, to prove that the government's scheme had not resulted in standard styles.

MAINTAIN VARIETY

"We don't want people dressed alike—men or women," Captain Waterhouse said. "We want no luxurious state clothes for British women. All we have done has been to knock our fripperies and maintain variety.

"We want to see women smartly dressed, but the needs of the forces come first. We don't want to shut down anything which need not be shut down, but we need the skilled labor for war purposes and dire necessity must direct it where it is most needed."

KIMBERLEY

KIMBERLEY, B.C.—A wedding was solemnized in United Church Dec. 30, when Hazel, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Blezard, of Kimberley, became the bride of Gordon, son of Mr. and Mrs. U. S. Rutledge of North Bay, Ont.

Rev. S. T. Galbraith officiated.

Mrs. W. K. Walker played the wedding March and Miss Dylias Jones sang "Because" during the signing of the register.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was charming in an afternoon frock of blue angora wool with three sleeve jacket, with wine accessories, and a corsage of sweet heart roses. Mrs. Paul Demert was matron of honor and chose a dress of Air Force Blue with wine accessories and a corsage of roses.

Roy Blezard, brother of the bride, supported the groom.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The room was tastefully decorated in pink and white. A three-tiered wedding cake graced the centre of the table. The bride's mother chose an Air Force blue gown with black accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Rutledge will make their home at Macleod, Alta., where the groom is in the R.C.A.F.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Schorlemer of Christina Lake were guests of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Schorlemer for the holidays.

Miss Eva Lundberg returned to her home at Waldo last week.

Mr. and Mrs. N. Michaely of Rossland and Miss M. Michaely of Vancouver returned to their homes after spending Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. M. Garden.

Miss Molly Kirkpatrick of Nelson is a guest of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. G. Edmonds.

Charles Greenland of the R.C.A.F. at Rivers, Man., is home on leave.

Mrs. Austin of Kelowna and Miss Joyce Austin of Sheep Creek are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Mellor.

WINTER TWEED

Above is shown the back view of a distinctive coat of diagonal tweed in a brownish tone, with gathers held in at the waist by a leather belt. The front has classic revers, large pockets and buttons to the waist.

DEMURELY APRONED

In the dress above, the fullness appears in the form of an apron which falls in cascading folds down the front. This gives an interesting effect of contrast when used in connection with the extremely simple short-sleeved top, cut surplice fashion, and the straight, narrow skirt.

Miss Millar, Nakusp, Weds Prairie Man in Trail Ceremony

NAKUSP, B.C.—Of interest to Nakusp and district was the marriage which took place in St. Andrew's Anglican Church, Trail, December 24, when Helen Mary, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Millar of Nakusp, became the bride of Ernest Claud Larmour, son of Mr. and Mrs. Larmour of Battleford, Sask. Rev. A. C. Smith officiated.

The bride, who wore a street-length dress of cinnamon Ramanda crepe with dark brown accessories, was given in marriage by her father. Miss Irene Millar, her sister's only attendant chose a gown of moss crepe. The groomsman was Melvin Johnson of Trail.

Mr. and Mrs. Larmour will reside in Trail.

Cold Snap Midway Through 2nd Week

The cold snap which is now midway through its second week continued over the weekend which saw the mercury dip to three degrees above zero Sunday morning, the second coldest temperature of the season. Last Thursday the thermometer read one above at one time, the coldest it has been since the Winter of 1938-39.

On Saturday the mercury varied between nine and 20. Sunday's maximum was 19.

The barometer has risen again after dropping late slightly last week to cause the weatherman to predict that snow was quite possible. However, cloudiness passed again without any snow falling.

The Metals Will Flow If We Can Get Ores and Smelters Together

In a review of mining in British Columbia during 1941, Hon. Herbert Anscomb, Minister of Mines, refers to war needs of base metals and to this Province's capacity for producing more of them. He is quoted:

> Mr. Anscomb points to the new prominence of base metals and strategic minerals with which B. C. is well supplied, but ability to produce ore and concentrates is dependent not only on reserves but on smelting capacity and mining machinery and equipment. Mines producing the metals most needed will be favored most by the equipment priorities.

What the Minister says applies with especial force to the base metal resources of the Slocan and other Kootenay areas. We have the base metal ores, but we lack the necessary additional smelting capacity. The United States has the smelting capacity.

If Washington can be persuaded to suspend the tariffs on lead and zinc ores then ores and smelters can be brought together, with resultant flow of refined lead and zinc for munitions.

Japan's War Not Improvised

Japan's attack on the United States and Great Britain was not the result of a sudden access of despair or of a momentary impulse. It was the realization of a scheme of which Japan's naval extremists had dreamed for years, for the execution of which they had drafted the most detailed plans, explains The Christian Science Monitor.

One of Japan's foremost writers on naval affairs is Admiral Gumpei Sekine, of the Navy General Staff. Early this year he published in the Japanese magazine Total Riku an exposition of Japanese naval strategy which should have attracted more attention in the United States. What Admiral Sekine outlined, with the hard-clipped logic that is typical of the Japanese, as of the Prussian military mind, was the project for a two-ocean squeeze play against the Anglo-Saxon Powers.

The Japanese naval spokesman starts out with the assumption that America's present strength is not sufficient for a two-ocean war. Should America concentrate on the Atlantic struggle, it could not oppose a Japanese Southward drive in the Pacific. Should it concentrate all its naval forces in the Pacific, the position of Britain would be imperiled and the European Axis Powers would be able to launch raids against the Americas.

The key to the Pacific situation, according to Admiral Sekine, is Singapore; and Japan must aim its main blow against this British stronghold. The Philippines he believed of minor importance; and that Cavite could not handle ten-thousand-ton cruisers, to say nothing of larger capital ships. Facilities for oil storage there, he held, are inadequate. He summed up his appeal for aggressive action in the following terms:

"We should not look furtively to the right or to the left, but go South without hesitation. To go South is the solution of all our problems, — in respect to the United States, the Soviet Union, China, Europe and the domestic situation; we can kill five birds with one stone."

As far back as 1936 Admiral Sankichi Takahashi, Commander of the Japanese Combined Fleet, was openly demanding that "the cruising radius of the Japanese Navy be expanded as far as New Guinea, Borneo and Celebes," while a retired naval officer, Tota Ishimaru, published a book with the suggestive title, "Japan Must Fight Britain," where he outlined in detail plans for attacking Singapore and Hong Kong and for annexing Australia and New Zealand. It is clear now that America should have paid more, not less, attention to the plans of Japan's navalists.

H.M., Creston—Will you please publish a recipe for cider pie?

Boiled Cider Pie—One third cup, rich boiled cider, one third cup grated maple sugar, two eggs, one half teaspoon nutmeg, one half cup seeded raisins, one teaspoon butter, two egg whites and two tablespoons powdered sugar, if meringue is desired. Boil sugar in cider until dissolved. Add beaten eggs slowly and stir until thickened. Add butter, raisins and nutmeg. Turn into a pan lined with crust. Cover with top crust and bake in a very hot oven (450 degrees Fahrenheit) for 10 minutes, then reduce the heat slightly to 425 degrees Fahrenheit and continue cooking for about 30 minutes longer. If you prefer, omit the top crust, bake for 10 minutes at 450 degrees, then reduce the heat to 325 and bake for 30 minutes longer. Remove from the oven, cover with a meringue made of the egg whites and powdered sugar, and return to a slow oven, 300 to 350 to brown.

G. K., Trail—What days did January 14, 1910, and January 25, 1917, fall on?

January 14, 1910 was a Friday and January 25, 1917 was a Thursday.

B. L., Nelson—Was the suspension bridge at Tacoma blown down last year or the year before?

The Tacoma Narrows suspension bridge was broken dow nin a gale, November 7, 1940.

H. K., Trail—How is the calibre of a naval gun measured?

The calibre of a naval gun is the diameter of its bore, but in describing the length of the gun the same term is used in a different meaning. The 14 inch gun of 45 calibres length mean that the bore diameter is 14 inches and that the length of the tube of the gun is 45 times the 14 inches. As the length of the breech mechanism (in rear of the tube) is about one calibre, the total length of the gun from the breech to muzzle would be 45 by 14 inches plus 14 inches, equals 644 inches.

THE BOY NEXT DOOR

The young man from next door is out in the middle of the Pacific in an inferno of death and destruction.

About him we are beginning to have that understanding which Winston Churchill phrased as "Never . . . has a nation owed so much to so few."

The young man from next door is a part of the thing we feared so much it hardly seemed real. Now that it has become real the young man from next door seems less real—a figure standing in the glow of all the fires of patriotism, tradition and national will power.

It is hard to realize that he is under gunfire on far islands, that he is flinging a torpedo plane into the face of battle ship fire, that he may die.

Because this was the boy from next door, and we knew him when he was a little shaver standing only up to our knees.

And suddenly we realize how important it was that this boy not be sent Out There until there was no other way out.—Enquirer and News, Battle Creek, Mich.

EVERY MAN A COP

The 13 traffic policemen of Harvey, Ill., being sorely needed to guard defense plants, Police Chief Albert Roll has taken them off traffic duty and put motorists on their honor to report themselves to court for violations. One simply trots into court, accuses himself of doing 50 at an intersection, denies it, cries "Perjury" and pays up.

The idea has merit. Why not every citizen, returning to his fireside of evening, report himself to himself for the day's sins of omission and commission? The "dialogue" might run something like this:

"Jones, you didn't buy any defense bonds this week."

"Well, no—I—"

"And you sat there at lunch and blasted the United States navy—about which you know next to nothing—for inefficiency; did it occur to you that enemies of the country might be listening?"

"Well, I—"

"That's enough. Guilty. I fine you ten cigars, the cost of which you can translate into defense stamps on your way to work tomorrow."—Chicago Sun.

TRIP TO MOON

Given the present state of the world, the problem of the return trip probably won't discourage those researchers who insist that a one-way voyage to the moon is now scientifically possible.—Des Moines Register.

Words of Challenge

"We must prepare to face the Winter of gloom which may lie ahead of us. I am not under the delusion that this war will end soon. We have a hard road ahead of us. But a great reward lies at the end."—Hon. J. Arthur Mathewson.

Test Yourself

1. What is a marine in the navy?
2. How are large naval guns made?
3. How many watches are there on ship board?

TEST ANSWERS

1. A member of the marine corps of the navy, a separate organization under the Navy Department. Marines on board ship are employed in police duties, as sentries, orderlies, and they also man guns, usually those of smaller calibre.

2. By the built up system in which the parts of the gun are shrunk one over the other. From the inside, these parts are: the liner, the tube, the gun hoops and locking rings. The liner is rifled with grooves that give the shell a twisting motion, keeping the point toward the target and preventing the shell from tumbling.

3. Seven, five four-hour, and two two-hour (dog) watches.

First Aid Classes in Our Village

By Country Subscriber.

Lanterns bobbing and an occasional flashlight down the country roads to the hall show members are gathering for the weekly class of the St. John's Ambulance.

In the warm brought hall the instructor greets us, a group of middle aged men and women with the exception of young Bert and two girls, but we are all one in our desire "to be ready and adequate for any eventuality that may occur" as our A.R.P. manuals put it. These lectures are our first step in that direction.

A car from the next village drives up with members who so kindly share our class.

This commences with the instructor reading a chapter from the well known little black book, explaining his points from the large charts hanging before us. "The human body is moulded upon a bony frame work—the skelton—which serves" etc.

We gaze and consider how much easier to conquer the enemy than learn the names and numbers of the bony frame work confronting us.

To test our attention, little slips are drawn with a question printed on it from a previous lecture. The answers vary and show interest.

The young English evacuee sails over her fence with inches to spare as she "traces the blood from the heart to the finger tips" correctly.

A fisherman's answer to how fast the pulse of a man might be brings the surprising answer that it's affected by whom he's sitting by! The postmaster is asked what he would do if the cartoid artery were severed. "Die," he stated briefly.

Questions about circulation, the respiratory system, insensibility, poisons, their treatments and antidotes cause our spirits to ebb as low as the patients in need of "first?aid". A good psychologist, the instructor now invites questions and explains why some people are drowned when falling into the lake and others can be resuscitated, but always use artificial respiration—Schafers method and . . .

The Major inquires about the strange feeling that follows a blow in the solar plexus!

Now splints and bandages are distributed and we find each other up in fractures of the skull, arm, leg and even fracture of the spine. The major has a broad bandage about his body injury? Must be that blow he was asking about!

Very active is the commander as he "sets" young Bert's fractured femur. The team completes this interesting work and the patient with light bandages and two splints (long) is lifted cautiously and fearfully by the men of the class on to the stretcher and transferred to a bed. The ladies now do this after choosing the lightest (avoir du pois) members of the group.

The results seem fairly even. The men were superior, but the ladies tied better knots and used less time.

A car is waiting to take the instructor back to town, nothing else could stop our activity; we thank him, promise to practice our bandaging every night and to meet next Thursday at the same time.

Today's Horoscope

Varied fortunes attend today's birthday children during the next year. They will benefit in varying ways, oftentimes unexpectedly, but domestic sorrow is threatened. They should safeguard their health and that of their households. In character they are kind, true, with a deep love for children. Their homes mean much to them. Championing truth, they are rather inclined to be biased and should develop tolerance. Born on this date, a child will have many ups and downs in life. The augurs are most auspicious for those born in the morning. For afternoon births loss and sharp disappointments are probable, also some ill-health. Success will come through uncommon pursuits.

Words of Wisdom

If religion does nothing for your temper it has done nothing for your soul.—Clayton.

The shaping of our own life is our own work. It is a thing of beauty, or a thing of shame, as we ourselves make it. We lay the corner and add joint to joint, we give the proportion, we set the finish. It may be a thing of beauty and of joy forever. God forgive us if we pervert our life from putting on its appointed glory!—Ware.

Etiquette Hints

If you are entertaining for a male guest, even if he is a "Big Shot", do not introduce your women guests to him, but present him to the ladies.

Busher Jackson Sold to Bruins

NEW YORK, Jan. 4 (CP). — Brooklyn Americans announced tonight that Harvey (Busher) Jackson, veteran of National Hockey League warfare, has been sold to Boston Bruins for $7500. The deal was a straight cash sale.

Jackson, a holdout with the Americans this season, had been with the team for three years. He turned professional in 1929-30 with Toronto Maple Leafs.

Jackson did not play this season. Reporting to Port Arthur, Ont., for Fall practice in excellent condition, he was understood to have demanded more money from Manager Red Dutton. When this was refused, he declined to play in the regular season.

Jackson in recent weeks has been practising secretly on a Toronto rink to keep in condition and this factor was said by team officials to have influenced Boston's purchase.

Players Called Up

NEW YORK, Jan. 4 (AP).—Johnny Sturm, New York Yankees' first baseman, Saturday notified President Ed Barrow from his home in St. Louis that he has been ordered to report for induction into the United States Army, Feb. 2.

His induction will leave the world champions with two first base possibilities—Tommy Henrich, an outfielder who has filled in several times, and Buddy Hassett, recently obtained from Boston in the deal that sent Tommy Holmes of Newark to the Braves.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4 (CP)—Mrs. Babe Ruth said today her husband, who was taken ill and hurried to a hospital early Saturday morning, "was getting along just fine."

Ruth, who escaped injury in an automobile crash during the holidays, was taken to an unnamed hospital for rest. His physician said part of the former home run king's nervous condition was due to his heavy dieting in which the slugger lost 37 pounds in a few weeks as preparation for a movie role.

Mrs. Ruth said Babe also was suffering from a heavy cold.

East and West All-Stars Draw

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 4 (AP). — The Eastern stars and their powerful line exactly balanced the West's jinx and passing attack Saturday as the all-star college football teams battled to a thrilling 6-6 tie in slick mud before a shivering crowd of 35,000.

The game, transferred here from San Francisco because of the war, was a ding-dong battle all the way. The clubs battled up and down the field and constantly threatened each others' goal line.

Bill Dudley of Virginia, the country's highest scorer last season, proved himself a great score-preventer. He intercepted four passes, two deep in the East team's territory.

The smashing play of the Eastern line dominated the scene for three quarters. But in the final period Indian Jack Jacobs of Oklahoma began passing and running to gain a tie and come close to victory in the final minutes.

Theo Dubois Wins Marsh Memorial Cup

TORONTO, Jan 4 (CP) — Winnipeg's burly Belgian oarsman, Theo Dubois, was announced today to be winner of the Lou Marsh Memorial Trophy for outstanding achievement among Canadian athletes during 1941.

The Canadian and United States singles championships fell before Dubois' thick, powerful frame last Summer, and within the last two weeks he has figured prominently in annual Canadian Press year-end polls. He was named with Bill Cowley of Boston Bruins as co-choice in the voting for best individual Thompson at Los Angeles, Jan. 27. . . . New York writers propose that athletic achievement of the year and ran third to Tony Golab of Ottawa Rough Riders, and Cowley, for the Canadian male athlete of the year award.

Dubois won out by one vote over Lieut. Ralph McCreath, Toronto figure skater who won the North American singles championship, when five judges voted to decide disposition of the award. The trophy was donated six years ago by Charles E. King, Toronto sportsman, in commemoration of the late Lou Marsh, well known Toronto Star Sports Editor.

Dubois had three first and one second; McCreath two first, one second, Dave Castilleux, Montreal boxer, drew two seconds and Mary Rose Thacker, Winnipeg figure skater, three thirds.

Teams Resume Series at Trail Tonight and Tuesday

KIMBERLEY, B.C., Jan. 4 (CP) Kimberley Dynamiters turned the tables on Trail Smoke Eaters here last night to win a 4-2 decision and even their first "all British Columbia" series in the ABC Senior Amateur Hockey League at a game each. Trail won 9-2 in the opener Friday night.

Curly Hunt, Sam Calles, Lee Kavanaugh and Gordie Wilson scored for Dynamiters while Scoop Bentley and Ab Cronie counted for Trail.

The teams will play again in Trail Monday and Tuesday.

Dynamiters went to the front early as Hunt soloed through at 4:10 for the first score. Bentley followed at 14:06 to tie the score for Trail but in the last two minutes Calles took Benny Redisky's passout to put the East Kootenay club ahead again.

With Bobrosky serving a penalty in the second Kavanaugh whistled a fast one past Duke Scodellaro in the Trail to put Dynamiters still farther ahead. Then Cronie came through for Trail while Lyall Swaney and Bentley were cooling their heels in the penalty box.

SCODELLARO STARS

Maurice Duffy went off for Trail and Dynamiters bombarded Scodellaro with pucks from all angles but the Trail netminder turned back everything with a great display of goal tending.

Wilson potted the final goal early in the third period, sifting through the Trail defence to give Scodellaro no chance to save.

Near the end of the period Smoke Eaters had a chance to cut down the Kimberley margin when Carl Sorenson and Swaney drew penalties in succession but the Smelter City players were unable to take advantage of the opportunity.

Kimberley—Nash; Swaney, Johnson; Redisky, Calles, Sullivan. Subs, Wilson, Kavanaugh, Hunt, Barker, Sorenson.

Trail—Scodellaro; Dewar, Wade; Crone, Buckna, Duffy. Subs, Stanton, Kwong, Bentley, Bobrosky, Roberts.

Big Scores Mark British Soccer

LONDON, Jan. 4 (CP Cable) — Three football league games produced scores totalling double figures Saturday. Cardiff upset Sotuhampton 9-1 with Perker scoring four goals. Crystal Palace thrashed Brighton 10-1 and in an exciting league cup game Wrexham and West Bromwich drew 5-5.

Bill Reay Has to Go Montreal Pats

MIDLAND, Ont., Jan. 4 (CP) — George Dudley of Midland, President of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, said today that Bill Reay, Winnipeg former winger for Tulsa Oilers of the American Association recently reinstated to amateur ratus, has been awarded to Montreal Pats of the Quebec Senior Hockey League.

Dudley said the decision came after a dispute between Sydney Millionaires of the Cape Breton Senior League and Quebec Aces and Montreal Pats of the Q.S.H.L. Reay at present is acting Coach of the Sydney club.

According to well-founded rumors, this is the last season of football for Duquesne University of Pittsburgh. A few years ago the Dukes, Pitt and Carnegie Tech were among the best in the land. Tech and Pitt are only shadows of their former gridiron selves.

Chicago Bears Beat All-Stars

NEW YORK, Jan. 4 (AP)—Chicago Bears, scourge of the National Professional Football League, rolled goalward for three touchdowns in the second period and an advantage that they needed to defeat the circuit's All-Stars 35-24 at them Polo Grounds today.

The Bears' second-quarter drive, typical of their parade to the league title, gave them a 21-3 advantage at the half but they needed every bit of it as the All-Stars struck back on the arm of slingin' Sammy Baugh of Washington Red Skins.

Baugh's heaves, one to Perry Schwartz of Brooklyn Dodgers and the other to Bill Dewell of Chicago's Cardinals, gave the All-Stars two quick touchdowns in the third period. Many of the 17,725 spectators had lost so much interest after the Bears' second-period spree that they spent the time during the intermission in a snow-ball battle.

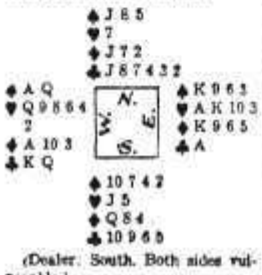
CONTRACT . . . By Shepard Barclay

THEY ALL COUNT ALIKE

TRICKS TAKEN by your partner's hand are just as valuable to your side as those taken by your own hand. That is such an obviously accurate statement that it can't help sounding like an absurdity to state it at all. It is not, though, to some players, who are dazzled by the trick takers they can see and mistrustful about those about which their partners tell them with their bids. They are the kind who will refuse to bid a grand slam unless it is cold in their own hands. But, if some slam convention or other bidding has made it positive that the side cannot lose a trick, then they are merely foolish not to bid it.



(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
Pass	1 ♥	Pass	3 ♥
Pass	4 NT	Pass	5 ♥
Pass	5 NT	Pass	6 ♠
Pass	7 NT

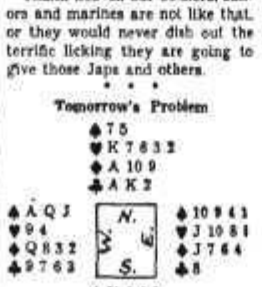
This deal was in a match point duplicate game. One very fine player, who has a crazy fetish against bidding a grand slam, actually refused to do it in the West position, even though the bidding went exactly the same as given above, with East's responses to the Blackwood convention identical. Instead of 7-No Trumps, he bid only 6-Hearts. Needless to say, his pair got bottom score on the deal, as everybody else bid 7-No Trumps.

If West can depend on his partner's bids, he can tell that East has the missing two aces and all three of the missing kings. That should enable him to count three tricks in spades, six in hearts, two in diamonds and three in clubs—a total of 14, unless some of those tricks were untakable through lack of sufficient guards to the honors in the East hand. An example of such a thing is in the club suit, where there are three top trick takers, but only two tricks can be taken. That left 13 sure tricks anyway, but West explained after the deal that, if this occurred in two suits there would have been only 12.

Thank heaven our soldiers, sailors and marines are not like that, or they would never dish out the terrific licking they are going to give those Japs and others.

* * *

Tomorrow's Problem



(Dealer: North. North-South vulnerable.)

If the order of tricks taken by South, playing at 3 No Trumps in this deal, is a club, two hearts, another club, another heart, three more clubs, the diamond K and the diamond 5 toward the A, what should West discard on the third heart, what on the last club, and what should he play on the second diamond lead, and why?

Canadians May Join Commandos

By ROSS MUNRO

(Canadian Press War Correspondent)

LONDON, Jan. 4 (CP Cable)—Especially selected Canadian troops may join the British Commandos.

Some military observers believe Canadians stand a good chance of getting a call to share in expeditions with Britain's crack raiding troops.

More than 100 Canadian officers representing infantry battalion in the corps have taken Commando training and the lessons they have learned are now being taught their units.

In some quarters the belief is held that Norway would be a natural theatre of war for the Canadians when a full-fledged European invasion is launched. In this case raids would be a valuable rehearsal, giving certain shock troops first hand knowledge of the problems with which the Canadians would be confronted.

But training has been such in the corps during the past few months that raid troops could be selected from practically any regiment in the infantry divisions.

Sees Life Insurance as Victory Barometer

MONTREAL, Jan. 4—Always a barometer of economic affairs, life insurance in wartime continues to reflect individual and national stability as it did in times of peace. More truly than any periodic public poll, the continued growth of life insurance in wartime testifies to the fundamental conviction of victory that animates the Canadian people.

"In the present struggle life insurance is successfully meeting every test, thus repeating the experience of the last war," George W. Bourke, President of The Canadian Life Insurance Officers Association, and Chief Actuary of the Sun Life Assurance Company, declared today.

"Despite unprecedented taxation, despite demands of war loans, war savings, war services and war charities, despite higher living costs, the total amount of life insurance in force in Canada at the end of 1941 reached a new all-time high of almost seven and a half billion dollars. New sales were 10 per cent above those of 1940 and represent the first important increase in four years. Of even more significance is the encouraging decrease in the number of policies being lapsed or surrendered. It is also gratifying to note the decline in policy loans, which have shown a steady decrease in the last three years."

Cariboo Gold Quartz Net Profit $254,000

VANCOUVER, Jan. 4 (CP).—R. R. Hose, Managing Director of Cariboo Gold Quartz Mining Co., reports in a statement net profit of the company for the nine months ending Oct. 31, 1941, amounted to $254,018 and earnings per share were 19 cents.

ANTI-AIRCRAFT GUNS ALLOTED TO VANCOUVER

VANCOUVER, Jan. 4 (CP)—An army spokesman said today a number of anti-aircraft guns have been allotted to the Vancouver defence area and on their arrival here within the next few weeks will be mounted at strategic points through the district. Anti-aircraft guns were tested in the Victoria district earlier this week.

Wall St. Stocks Take Big Jump During Week

NEW YORK, Jan. 3 (AP).—The New Year's recovery in the stock exchange this week gave stock prices their best upswing in more than two years.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks finished today at $38.50, up 50 cents from Friday, and $3.80 from a week ago, biggest rise for any week since September, 1939, when markets rose briskly for a time in expectation of a war "boom."

Much of the selling of last month, after the initial shock of Pearl Harbor, was attributed to transactions to establish losses for income tax purposes. As soon as tax selling was completed, prices moved upward last week and trading slackened.

On the day before war broke out in Europe in 1939, the average was at $46.30. It reached a "war boom" peak of $58.590 in October. On June 10, 1940, the average reached a low of $37.

Market Trends . . .

NEW YORK, Jan. 4 (AP)—Reinvestment demand in Saturday's stock market again more than offset cloudy war news from the Far East and leading issues added fractions to more than a point.

TORONTO—Price changes were narrow and trading in fair volume on Toronto Exchange in the closing session of the week.
Smelters advanced ⅛ to 3.

MONTREAL — Metals held the centre of the stage in mid-day transactions today on the stock exchange.
Noranda pushed up a point, International Nickel firmed a major fraction and Consolidated Smelters was harder, though down a little from its opening quotation.

VANCOUVER — Prices closed slightly stronger during light trading on the Vancouver Stock Exchange yesterday.
Premier gold at 80 advanced 2 from previous bid and Golconda closed fractionally higher at 6.

WINNIPEG — Activity increased on Winnipeg Grain Exchange after the dull holiday season. Wheat futures closed ⅛-¼ higher with May finishing at 78⅝B cents a bushel and July at 79⅛B.

CHICAGO — Renewed buying lifted wheat more than a cent a bushel, rye fractions to more than 2 cents and other grains fractionally as the market continued to reflect revived investment and commercial buying associated with advancement of legislation providing for comparatively high minimum ceilings for cereal prices.

Chinese Prepared for Big Offensive Against Thailand

CHUNGKING, China, Jan. 4 (AP)—Hailing the presence of a Chinese Expeditionary Force beside the British Imperials in Burma, the Chinese press predicted yesterday a big Allied offensive in the near future against Thailand and the Japanese-occupied section of Malaya.

The independent Chungking paper, Ta Kung Pao, said the Chinese troops in Burma "are all veteran fighters and thoroughly disciplined."

An army spokesman said yesterday the Chinese force is under the command of Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell, commander in chief for India and Burma.

Produce Scarce at City Market

Only a few stalls of vegetables were on hand at the Farmer's Public Market Saturday and sales were low. Nothing new was added to the produce but horse radish and Savoy cabbage were removed. The only price change was that of endive, lowering from 10 cents each to two for five. Plants and flowers have been absent from the market for several weeks. Fruits, meats, dairy produce and eggs remained the same.

Slocan's Future Looms Brightly in the Light of Former Output of $100 Million Against Big Odds

By SIDNEY NORMAN

Looking backward cannot be recommended as a remunerative occupation, especially in times when the world is upside-down, but in view of the possibility that some degree of life may be injected into the Slocan district by the insistent war demand for lead and zinc, it may not be wholly unremunerative to give the old camp's past the once-over, and thereby perhaps glean some inkling of what may happen if, happily, tariffs are swept away and base metals seek even higher levels.

But, let's not fool ourselves. There will be no repetition of the hectic scenes that followed Eli Carpenter's epochal discovery on Payne Mountain, just fifty years ago last September 9. It was seriously whispered then that the richness and unlimited supply of Slocan ores would likely cause demonetization of silver. Whether or not that had anything to do with it is not mentioned in history, but nevertheless, silver was finally demonetized in 1893 with repeal of the Sherman Silver Purchase Act, causing a lull in the activity around Kootenay Lake and a period in Kaslo's history when a good silver dollar looked as big as a cart wheel to the hundreds stranded in a busted Eldorado, whence walking was not so good and passage by steamer beyond the bankrolls of the cluttered tenderfeet.

Those were the days the old-timer still talks about. When five thousand men and a sparse sprinkling of women were dumped down from nowhere and everywhere on a sandy spit of Kootenay's shore; when the peace of God's loviest scenery was turned into a vortex of raucous, humming activity; when saloons did a land office business, day and night, on every corner and in between; when mining deals up into the thousands were made by the dozen as nonchalantly as the high-toned gamblers of the West shoved their stacks into fabulous pots; when ore wagons with their linguistic drivers clattered through the one main street that led downstream from Eldorado; when packtrains wound their ways up tortuous and hastily-made trails to the mines in Jackson Basin, at the head of 16-Mile Creek, McGuigan Basin, Idaho-Alamo Basin and up the steep declivities on both sides of Carpenter Creek, North, South and West, and when that magnet of highhat social life, the Theatre Comique, of somewhat odoriferous memory, broke every rule of the terpsichorean and musical arts with utter and cheerful abandon.

No, those days will never come back. They have gone forever, with those who made them possible, not only here, but in every other part of the American continent. There is a fair chance now, however, that the old camp will once more ring with the crack of surface blast and dull roll of underground shots; the hoarse, sulphuric whoops and endearing admonishments of the packer as he prods his charges up trails that stand on end; the whiz of ore buckets on aerial tramways from the heights; the roar of crushers and ball mills and, most blessed sound, the toot of locomotives and wailing screech of tortured wheels as they round sharp curves of steel. All that, and more, too, may come to pass, making glad the hearts of the loyal, who have never said die, as a renewed stream of ore passes on way to nearby mills or smelters on the outside, bringing back good sound dollars to chase desolation and relief away in the sunlight of prosperity from mines.

In the half-century of Slocan's life there have been three major periods of prosperity. The first, from 1893, when the newly-located mines began to hit their strides in spite of the drop in silver and when a high production mark of $3,260,886 was reached, to 1906, the second, from 1912 to 1919, embracing the First World War, when a new high of $8,575,191 was chalked up, as lead rose to a high of 12.25 cents, zinc to as high as 27 cents and silver to 137.5 cents an ounce in 1919; and, third and last, from 1925 to 1929, when lead for a brief period reached 10.8 cents, zinc 8.9 cents and silver 72.37 cents.

And then, in October, 1929, came the grand market smash that shook the world and ushered in the most devastating, longest and deepest depression of modern history. In 1932 lead hit the sub-cellar at 2.65 cents, zinc kept it company at a low of 2.30 cents and silver subsided to its all-time low of 27.89 cents.

Only now, under stress of war demand, are base metals once more coming into their own. Lead is at 5.85 cents, New York, and may soon be given a new ceiling at 7 cents or 7½ cents; zinc is at 6.25 cents, St. Louis, and may be allowed to climb higher as demand continues far in excess of supply, while silver stands stationary at around 35 cents, the world price, compared with domestic price of 77.4 cents in United States.

Talking of silver, it is a strange and anomolous fact that one ounce mined in the Slocan district may be sold to United States for say 34.75 cents, placed in the treasury of that country, with a book entry of $1.29, a piece of paper marked "$1" issued against it and perhaps that paper dollar finds its way back to Canada and commands a price of $1.10 Canadian funds, by government order. Someone with a very keen understanding of "finance as is" must explain that. It is beyond the ordinary student of economics, whose mind may have been fed upon horse-sense.

Thus, out of fifty years of life, Slocan mines have enjoyed but twenty-six years of reasonable prosperity. The other twenty-four have been one continuous struggle against greater odds than any other camp on the continent has been called upon to face. Floods, fires, low metal prices, uncertain sniveling conditions, two severe visitations of flu in 1918 and 1921; lack of adequate funds for systematic development, resulting in much "gophering" and fruitless work; poor recoveries in earlier milling plants and heavy import duties upon machinery and supplies that had to be imported from originating sources across the line. Add to all that the destructive meddling of politicians and the foolish legislation that has classified promoters among potential malefactors, and it can be readily understood that Slocan and other districts in British Columbia have done fairly well on their own, and in spite of nature, the elements and man.

In the full period of Slocan's history approximately one hundred million dollars worth of new wealth has been mined and there exists no doubt in the minds of those best acquainted with the district that many more millions await the touch of capital and initiative. It will not be easy to bring the old camp back, but it can and must be done if the communities of West Kootenay are to prosper once more. In the time that has elapsed since the general shutdown occurred, workings have caved, buildings have collapsed and mills have rusted and become outmoded. Capital will be needed to rehabilitate mines and plants and more of it for development. In a general way, it will take six months, under the best of conditions, to do the preliminary work. But lead and zinc are becoming scarcer every day and demand for both exceeds all possible visible supplies on this continent, or elsewhere in the world whence they can be brought to this continent for war purposes, with the single exception of Mexico. This is the situation that the mines of West Kootenay face now and yet it carries more promise of better times than since that fell day when the markets of the world crashed over twelve years ago.

Custom ores and concentrates received at the Tadanac plant of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company during 1941 totalled 37,542 tons. This compared with 44,688 tons in 1940. These tonnages are wet weight and will be lower when final figures are announced. They represent only the ores and concentrates shipped by private operators to the big smelting, refining and chemical plant. Company mine tonnages have not been announced since the start of the war.

The total was made up of 36,376 tons of ores and 1166 tons of concentrates. In 1940 ores received totalled 39,092 tons and concentrates 5596 tons.

December custom receipts consisted of 2314 tons of ores and 159 tons of concentrates, totalling 2473 tons.

Thirty-seven customers were listed for December. Thirty-one shipped ores, five shipped concentrates and one shipped both.

Among the concentrate shippers was the Euphrates at Hall, appearing in this listing for the first time, with 29 tons to its credit in two shipments of 27 and two tons. The Euphrates is operated by the Gold-Silver,Tungsten Mining & Milling Company, a Spokane corporation which in 1940 completed installation of a mill.

Interpreting
The War News

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
(Associated Press War Analyst)

Four weeks from Japan's surprise attack in the Pacific there is little of immediate cheer for Anglo-American war partners and their Filipino, Netherlands and Chinese Allies in the China sea theatre of action.

Britain has lost the Hong Kong defence pivot in a gallant but losing stand. Manila and the Cavite naval base have been yielded to the foe, but Gen. Douglas MacArthur's outnumbered army still dominates Manila Bay against Japanese use.

The Luzon pivot still functions from Corregidor and the Bataan Peninsula to lessen the strain on Singapore, most vital Allied bastion in the China Sea. That American-Filipino toe-hold on Luzon is a segment of the Battle of Singapore, still thwarting effective Japanese exploitation of their capture of Manila.

Nor can it be emphasized too often that time is what counts for the Allies, time to mobilize the vast resources in man and industrial power. That is the silver lining to the otherwise clouded China Sea outlook.

It is worth while to look over the estimates of those ultimate resources. At this moment, due to Germany's huge war effort, there is little Allied advantage in numbers of men under arms, all too little for the world-wide fronts to be maintained.

Most authorities place the probable aggregate Axis Armies as between 12,000,000 and 13,000,000 men, including 8,000,000 Germans. That could be a little more than doubled if every resource in the Axis camp were tapped.

Against that the indicated present army strength of the Anti-Axis Allies is placed usually at around 15,000,000. That includes the United States, Britain and the Dominions, Russia, China and the Netherlands East Indies, the Free French, Polish forces and various other contingents.

The potential Anti-Axis man power strength, however, runs into staggering figures. It is conservatively placed at more than 160,000,000 men or a ratio of about 7 to 1 over Axis potential manpower.

That potential manpower disparity graphically indicates the basis of London and Washington insistence that it is the long view of the war that must shape Anti-Axis planning and strategic conceptions. The economic resources in raw materials, fabricating skills and the like are no less overwhelmingly weighted against the Axis mates.

Given the grim determination to bring all this to bear, only time is lacking to insure utter disaster for the war aggressors in Europe and Asia.

B.C. Enlistments Lead All Canada

VICTORIA, Jan. 4 (CP). — British Columbia still stands in the lead of all Canada in the percentage of enlistments for the army in relation to population according to figures from headquarters, M.D. No. 11, Victoria.

Since war began 24,760 men have been enlisted for active service in the army alone in this province, Lt. Col. H. E. Goodman, district recruiting officer announced. In 1941 the number of men attested was 6765.

This showing, representing about 10 per cent of total army enlistments in Canada, comes from a province with only 6.7 per cent of the Canadian population. In other words, if every province had done as well the Canadian army (active) today would exceed 360,000.

These figures do not take into consideration the great number of young men enlisted in the Royal Canadian Air Force or for the Royal Canadian navy. It is probable that with the addition of these figures, the total number of men volunteering for active service to date is higher than the total voluntary enlistments from British Columbia during the whole period of the first Great War.

It must also be borne in mind, Col. Goodman said, that British Columbia's population average has become much older than during 1914-18. Actually when this war broke out the number of males between 19 and 45 was less by 20,000 than at the beginning of the first Great War. This is attributed, by authorities on vital statistics, to two main reasons; an increasing number of elderly persons retiring in British Columbia and to declining birth rates in the last three decades.

Yunnan Province, through which runs the greater part of the 726-mile Burma Road, is the second largest province of China proper.

"God" Theme of Lesson-Sermon

The Christian Science Churches all over the world had for the subject of their Lesson-Sermon on Sunday "God."

The Golden Text was: "To the only wise God our Saviour, be glory and majesty, dominion and power, both now and ever" (Jude 1: 25).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Hearken unto me, ye that know righteousness, the people in whose heaert is my law; fear ye not the reproach of men, neither be ye afraid of their revilings" (Isaiah 51: 7).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "One infinite God, good, unifies men and nations; constitutes the brotherhood of man; ends wars; fulfils the Scripture, 'Live thy neighbor as thyself,' annihilates pagan and Christian idolatry—whatever is wrong in social, civil, criminal, political, and religious codes; equalizes the sexes; annuls the curse on man, and leaves nothing that can sin, suffer, be punished or destroyed."

Australasian Station to Be U.S. Navy Base; Japs Near Australia

CANBERRA, Jan. 4 (CP) — Prime Minister John Curtin announced today that under the united nations stategy, the United States Navy will operate from an Australasian station.

Declaring that Australia's strategic position is vitally important in the plan of Britain, the United States, Netherlands East Indies and Australia to fight and work together, Mr. Curtin said.

"The part which American forces will play gives great encouragement, and we vividly recall the statement of the Commander of the United States naval squadron which recently visited Australia, 'You talk like us and fight like us.' That United States naval units will operate in an Australasian station is a natural sequel to that declaration."

(The term Australasia is a loose term which might include New Zealand, the Netherlands East Indies, the Malay Archipelago and the numerous surrounding archipelagos as well as Australia.)

Almost simultaneously with Mr. Curtin's announcement, Japanese bombers extended their forays to within 800 miles of Australia, twice bombing the Australian Air Force airdrome at Rabaul on the island of New Britain in the Bismarck Archipelago.

In the first attack, a communique said, a few bombs were dropped. an dsome damage was done to installations at the field and a few natives in the vicinity were killed or wounded.

In the second 11 bombers participated.

The first attack, made by long-range bombers which presumably flew from Japanese-mandated islands, evidently was the result of Japanese curiosity as to the activities taking place in the Archipelago for the communique said they were on a reconnaissance flight.

An attempt was made to intercept them after the attack, but they scattered widely an dmade pursuit impractical.

The Japanese previously have reported reconnaissance flights in the direction of Australia and they have bombed Ocean Island, 1200 miles East of Rabaul.

Mr. Curtin said the Australian people were greatly heartened by developments in the Washington strategy conferences and said the appointment of Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell as Supreme Allied Commander in the Southwest Pacific affects "our Commonwealth as no previous alignment of great powers has ever done."

"It represents a policy of concerted Pacific strategy which the Australian Government has advocated, and amply justifies all that has been said as part of that advocacy."

"In this country there will be a feeling that the defensive interdependence of the United States and Australia has become a tangible thing. Among the democracies the people whose fate is involved will face the foe knowing that Britain, the United States, the Netherlands East Indies and Australia are fighting and working together to a common plan with common execution of that plan assured.

"Australia has now obtained the closest association and cooperation with America."

Murray Hilton Hits Head When Tripped by Root

Tripping on a root or similar obstruction, as he was leaving the lake shore for his home after enjoying skating on one of the fine sheets of ice on the waterfront, early Sunday afternoon, Murray Hilton pitched forward on his face, and his forehead received a violent blow that rendered him unconscious.

Called by spectators, Dr. F. M. Auld found Mr. Hilton recovering consciousness, and gave him treatment in Kootenay Lake General Hospital, where he will remain for observation as to possible concussion.

The accident occurred on the foreshore East of the old Western Box & Shingle mill site.

Mr. Hilton is the second member of his family to be receiving hospital care at present, his wife being in another ward receiving treatment for illness.

U.S. Price Control Measure Goes to Senate This Week

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4 (AP)—A flexible wartime price control measure--designed to save the United States Government billions of dollars and protect the public from soaring living costs--was ready yesterday for the Senate.

Congress reconvenes Monday, but leaders indicated Senate debate on the measure would not begin before Wednesday to enable lawmakers to study and digest it.

Senator P. M. Brown (Dem-Michigan) said the Banking Committee had decided "four major issues" and enumerated them in this order:-

1. Administration by a single price administrator.

2. Price limits could not be set on a farm product until its pricehad reached 110 per cent parity or the average market price last Oct. 4, whichever was higher. (Parity is a level which would afford the producer a return equivalent to that in a stipulated previous period, usually 1909-14.

3. Licensing of all buyers and sellers affected, except farmers.

4. Rejection of attempts to control wages, salaries or incomes.

WINTER LIKELY TO KEEP HUNS OUT OF TURKEY

LONDON, Jan. 4 (CP)—A military commentator said yesterday that a German attempt to drive through Turkey this winter is "extremely unlikely."

He said the territory through which the Germans would have to operate to attack Turkey was "very soft in winter," with extremely poor transportation facilities.

LONDON (CP)—Joan Fieldgate, who volunteered last year to assist in the government scheme for convoying children to Australia and was captured when a Nazi raider sunk a ship in the Pacific, has died in a German hospital.
